

Jury Indicts Bevins On 5 Murder Counts

A special grand jury session late Monday afternoon resulted in eight indictments against William O. (Okie) Bevins, 70-year-old Printer man who last Friday shot to death five men at Allen and wounded three others.

The capital offense of murder, which could carry the death penalty on conviction, was alleged in five of the indictments. Each of these counts was for the slayings of Michael Halbert, Rufus Hamilton, Roger Dale Click, Jarvey Hamilton and Roger Hatfield.

Three indictments accused him of first degree assault for the shooting and wounding of Dale Wright, Ronnie Bryant and Anderson Newsome.

(Floyd circuit court records show that an Okie Bevins was indicted on a murder charge in 1929 for the slaying of a man named Music in this county. It had not been definitely established Tuesday, however, that he and the man accused of the Allen slayings are the same individuals.)

An unconfirmed newspaper report says William O. Bevins was taken from this county to the Laurel county jail at London, Ky. for safekeeping last Friday.

Seaton Tells ADD Board To Expect Reduced Funds

Funds that have traditionally financed water, sewerage and housing projects in the mountains will be sharply reduced and eligibility rules will be tighter, Big Sandy Area Development District board members were told Monday.

Kendall Seaton, newly appointed state director of the Farmers Home Administration, said that, even without further cuts in the federal budget, there will be only about $19 million in FmHA funds to be distributed in Kentucky this year, compared to $32 million last year.

Moreover, credit will be tighter, especially for individuals seeking FmHA housing loans, Seaton said.

"There is a feeling that credit has been too liberal" and delinquency, especially on rural housing loans, has risen to 35 percent in some parts of the state, Seaton said.

Even though it is unclear whether they will qualify under tougher eligibility rules or whether funds will be available for them, a number of water projects for which FmHA funds are sought were ranked by the ADD board at Monday's meeting.

Listed, in order of urgency, are water treatment plant expansions in Elkhorn City, Wheelwright, Martin county, and the Beaver-Elkhorn water district, installation of water storage facilities in Johnson county, and a water distribution system in the Johns Creek water district.

Juvenile Center Reopening Here Expected Soon

Reopening of the juvenile detention center here is expected within the next two weeks.

The center was closed last June in a spending cutback, and since that time most courts in the area which it serves have been obliged to turn free juvenile offenders because they cannot be kept in jail, in sight or sound of adult prisoners.

Floyd, Johnson, Lawrence, Martin and Magoffin counties by last week-end had agreed to share the counties' part of the cost of operating the center, and Blaine Hopkins, representing County Judge-Executive Bill Wells, said Knott county officials would soon be contacted for commitment.

Overall budget of the juvenile center for the next 12 months is placed at $177,000. The participating counties will share in $100,000 of that amount after the Department for Human Resources has contributed about $77,000.

The facility here can accommodate a maximum of 25 juvenile offenders. Any county in the area may refuse to contribute to operating cost of the facility and still have their juvenile prisoners housed here but they will be charged $100 per juvenile per day, Hopkins said.

Last year, its peak year, the center, located in the Courthouse Annex building here, housed 295. Since its opening its average annual occupancy has been 218.

Water plant projects were financed out of FmHA funds in Salyersville and Pikeville last year.

Other projects seeking FmHA funds, and receiving the ADD board's recommendation Monday, include a 24-unit housing facility, known as the Hawk Howard Heights project, for which the David Community Development Corporation is requesting an $862,800 loan; a 40-unit housing project at Thelma, for which the Johnson county fiscal court seeks $125,000; and a 16-unit apartment complex in South Williamson, for which Nu-Tech Housing Services, of Reynoldsburg, Ohio, is asking $555,866.

Concern about tighter federal money and the ranking of projects for funding dominated the meeting, Paintsville banker O. T. Dorton giving a guarded endorsement to President Reagan's fiscal policies and Earl Campbell, of the Governor's office, outlining procedures for tapping federal funds coming to the state in the form of block grants.

Campbell said that Mac Colliver, a community development specialist with the County Extension Service in Ashland, will be responsible for setting up county committees to receive local suggestions as to the distribution of block grant monies.

It is anticipated that all federal funds for social services, health, housing, economic development and transportation will in the future be channeled to the states in the form of block grants.

Since the money will not be tied by the federal government to specific projects, local suggestions as to how it is distributed will be increasingly important, Campbell said.

Gunman Kills Five at Allen Store

BYSTANDERS awaited identification of the five shooting victims still inside the Mountain Truck Parts building at Allen early Friday afternoon. State police investigated the bloody scene inside for several hours before ordering the bodies removed.

70-Year-Old Man Held as Slayer; Three Wounded

A 70-year-old man armed with an automatic rifle killed five men and wounded three others shortly before noon Friday at an Allen parts store in what is regarded as the worst crime of its kind in this county's sometimes sanguinary history.

William Okie Bevins, of Printer, has been transferred from the Floyd county jail to another prison for safekeeping, and Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen said the grand jury would be called here for a special session, to indict him on five counts of murder.

"The death penalty will be asked," Allen said, and it was indicated trial as early as possible will be given.

Dead are: Michael Halbert, 28, of Martin, part owner of the Mountain Truck Parts where the massacre took place; Roger Dale Click, 28, of Allen; Rufus Hamilton, of Ligon; Jarvey Hamilton, Grethel, and Roger Hatfield, Mohawk, West Virginia.

All state and county law enforcement personnel in the area were alerted to their attention on the matter immediately after the shooting was reported, and a complete investigation this week was ordered by State Detective Division.

The mass slayings were reported from an area reportedly took place

Helping Haul Roads Is Weight Bill Aim

State Representative Greg Stumbo has prefiled a bill for consideration by the next General Assembly session which is considered a realistic approach to the coal truck weight limit problem, and which has received an encouraging response from the Governor's Task Force in its study of the problem.

Present law restricts coal trucks to loads of not more than 60,000 pounds. Truckers complain that strict compliance hampers coal production and marketing and makes profitable operation of their trucks impossible. Enforcement, generally, is lax.

Briefly, Stumbo's bill would provide the issuance of permits allowing greater weights over state and county roads connecting a coal mine to a coal processing or handling facility. For such a permit the permittee would be required to pay one-half of one percent of the wholesale selling price of the coal transported—and the fund thus created would be applied to the road in use under terms of the permit to construct, reconstruct, repair and maintain that road.

The weight limit under the proposed act would be 80,000 pounds. No permit would be issued in any county without prior agreement between the fiscal court of the county and the Department of Transportation.

Inspection of such coal recovery routes would be required every 60 days and on request of an affected party more often but not more than every 30 days. An exemption of further payment of the tax could be granted to the permit holder upon determination by the Department of Transportation that funds already collected are sufficient for the maintenance of the road to which it is subjected.

When it is determined that further maintenance is required, the proposed regulation would enjoin the Department of Transportation to reinstitute the license fee.

Representative Stumbo maintains that his bill would create funds especially earmarked for each road used by coal trucks and would not go into any other fund for use elsewhere.

Supreme Court Review Slated In Floyd Case

The U.S. Supreme Court will review a case decided earlier this year in favor of the widows of two former Floyd miners, it was announced recently.

The two women, Gracie Robinson and Juanita Hager, were improperly barred from receiving health care coverage under UMWA health and retirement funds, a U.S. appeals court held last winter.

Trustees of the funds sought the Supreme Court review of the case, arguing that, since the rules governing eligibility of persons for health care coverage were worked out in collective bargaining between coal operators and the UMWA, they were not properly subject to review by the appeals court.

Attorneys for the two women, arguing against review by the Supreme Court, contended that the case was subject to appeals court review since even the terms of contracts negotiated by collective bargaining must conform to federal law.

According to eligibility rules spelled out under a 1974 wage agreement, permanent health care coverage was to be afforded the spouses and dependents of miners who had died previously and were receiving pensions under a previous agreement.

Red, White and Blue Day Draws Martin's Biggest Crowd Ever

The weatherman smiled on the 12th annual Red, White and Blue Day celebration at Martin last Saturday, just as he had done all of the previous years since the patriotic event was begun here.

In fact, said Mrs. Marcella Bailey, of Eastern, founder of the celebration, everything was near-perfect, even though the slaying of five men, including one from Martin, on the preceding day had cast a pall of gloom over the entire county.

The parade of floats, festival queens, bands, school children, military units and plain citizens was described as "the biggest ever."

Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr. was there to help cut the "world's biggest" Freedom cake and take part in the proceedings, and he was joined by Congressman Carl D. Perkins and other public figures. Uncle Sam, 16 feet tall, had the governor and all others, great and lowly, looking up to him.

The traffic snarl that had been feared did not materialize; in fact, there was none. Most of the huge throng (estimated at 8000) parked their autos along new KY 80 and were transported by shuttle bus to the center of town.

"It was the best organized, smoothest parade I've worked with," said State Trooper Pennington.

Red, White and Blue Day was preceded by various events, including the naming of Tiny Miss, Little Miss and Miss Red, White and Blue. It closed with a square dance in the old-fashion way.

The parade marshal, Mrs. Hlene Thompson, was as pleased as anybody with the preparations made for handling the biggest gathering ever to assemble in the history of the town, as well as with the colorful parade itself.

And there were many who won awards. The Martin Grade School won first prize for the best float in its category, with the Martin Day Care Center second. In high school float competition the McDowell Hospital Teens Who Care won the top award, and in the vocational school and college category the Mayo Vocational School was first with the best float and also for the most creative float.

The log cabin with its bonneted woman at her churn won first prize among the floats entered by businesses and churches. Faith Bible Church and the Church of Christ, both of Martin, finished in a tie for second-place honors. Salyersville also won the Heritage trophy, with the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital second.

The Eastern Kentucky Cultural Award was won by the Morris Isaac family, of Martin. June's Dress Shop won the award for the most patriotic window. All participating bands received "Thank-You" awards.

Featured during the day were several antique autos dating back to the T-model.

The 1982 Red, White and Blue Day has already been scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 16. To raise funds Sparkle Hart will give a concert at 8 p.m. Nov. 7 at the Allen Central High School.

UNCLE SAM, towering on stilts above the crowd which filled the streets of Martin during Saturday's Red, White and Blue Day celebration, seemed an appropriate object of much attention during day, a day dedicated to patriotism and things American.

Mayor-Police Rift Widened

The dispute simmering for more than a year between Martin's mayor and police chief erupted again this week, the mayor specifying the police chief's night patrol duty and at the same time sharply curbing the chief's ability to buy gasoline.

In an executive order signed last Friday, Mayor Larry B. Hall asserted that the city would no longer be responsible for purchases made by Police Chief Hershel Lester. The order directed owners of gas stations in the city to "call the mayor," if Lester bought gas for the city police vehicle.

In another order Tuesday, the mayor specified night patrol hours for the police chief, instructed Lester to log his mileage and report it to every regular meeting of the city council, again noted that gas could be purchased only with the mayor's authorization, and added that failure to comply with the order "constitutes automatic removal from office."

Monday Night Classes On Understanding Retarded

An on-going series of classes, entitled, "Understanding the Mentally Retarded," is being given by Eileen Schepers, of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center's Developmental Disability-Mental Retardation Unit at Prestonsburg Community College in Room 114, Pike Building, on Monday nights from 7 to 9.

The series began with the definition of mental retardation and its various levels. The second session was on causes and characteristics.

Last week, Ms. Schepers introduced normalization, the dignity of risk, and the rights of the mentally retarded. She stressed the fact that people who work with the mentally retarded are often afraid to try things for fear it will be the wrong action because the person is mentally handicapped. "But they need to be disciplined, guided and taught, just like any normal person," she emphasized.

This week's session was conducted by Vicky Archer and Leo Weddle, and dealt with how people learn and if the mentally retarded learn differently.

The two final sessions will be on behavior management, "shaping the behavior of the mentally retarded so that it is socially acceptable and culturally normal."

The series is aimed at the parent, the person who has contact with and works with the mentally retarded but who has no formal education in this area.

We're glad you asked!

DO VETERANS RECEIVE SPECIAL BENEFITS AT TIME OF DEATH?

Yes, there are certain death benefits for which veterans may be eligible. These benefits are less substantial than they used to be, but they are still worth investigating as to the amount of eligibility. The regulations may change from time-to-time on Veteran and Social Security benefits so you may wish to check these out with these government agencies or with us.

October 1, 1981, Veteran death allowances are as follows:
• Payment of $300 for funeral and burial expenses only for those receiving V.A. compensation.
• Allowance for eligible veterans not being buried in a national cemetery.
• Allowance of up to $1100 when a veteran dies of a service-connected disability.
• Burial allowance, currently at $59.

These benefits are not forwarded automatically. Forms must be filled out and applied for.

These claims for you or will help you contact the V.A. directly. Feel free to call for benefits for which survivors may be entitled.

TO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT TWO

To what extremes will a person go to hold an office? Kenneth Roberts has filed suit against my husband, Birchell Duff, trying to keep him from being a write-in candidate in the upcoming election, Nov. 3.

Does he have the right to say who the people can choose as a write-in? This is one of the rights that we as free people still have to vote our choice on who we want to represent us. To me, this is a violation of our constitutional rights.

In an article Mr. Roberts had published in the Floyd County Times before the May primary he stated that if "one of his opponents was elected, his wife would run the office of magistrate." Speaking on my behalf, I don't try to run my husband's business, because I have my own profession as a nurse to pursue which I don't believe would coincide with running a magistrate's office, but I do think that a woman could qualify to perform the duties that a magistrate is supposed to do.

In last week's Floyd County Times Mr. Roberts made the statement that my husband stated in the May primary that he would reduce the magistrate's salary if elected. This is untrue. The statement made by my husband was that he would make a motion to reduce the magistrate's salary which would have to be voted on by the other three magistrates and the county judge.

I'm asking you the people of District Two to stand up for the rights that we have left.

Daniel Boone Forest Has Estimated $202,817 Due For Fiscal 1981

Forty states and Puerto Rico will receive a total of more than $171 million as an interim payment of their share of national forest receipts for fiscal year 1981, according to a recent announcement by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block.

The checks represent about 75 percent of the total amounts due the states as their share of receipts collected by the Department of Agriculture's Forest Service for the use of national forest products and services during the fiscal year. Block said the remainder of the funds due the states will be paid in early December, when the actual receipts for the fiscal year have been computed.

Forest Supervisor Richard H. Wengert, Daniel Boone National Forest, Winchester, announced that Kentucky received an interim payment on October 1 of $152,112.89 and that the estimated total due Kentucky for fiscal year 1981 is $202,817.18. The Daniel Boone National Forest contains about 667,000 acres located in portions of 22 eastern Kentucky counties. The Jefferson National Forest, most of which is located in Virginia, has 961 acres located in Letcher and Pike counties.

In a dispute which is still unsettled, Lester last year sued the city for back wages he says are due to him. According to the complaint filed on Lester's behalf by Eugene F. Land, commissioner of the state Department of Labor, the city owes the police chief $25,000 in unpaid wages.

Following a pre-trial conference last month, Lester's attorney offered to settle for $16,000 paid immediately or $18,000 paid over two years. The offer was scheduled for consideration at an October 7 meeting of the city council, but the meeting is said to have lacked a quorum.

Lester claims he has been employed by the city as a law officer and firefighter since 1971, for most of that time as the city's only patrolman. He has routinely answered calls both day and night, he said, but has never been paid overtime.

The present suit, filed in circuit court here last December, cites only the months since December, 1974 as the period in dispute.

According to Lester, complaints to the present and previous city administrations have been fruitless. The present council appeared unwilling to discuss the issue and had made no offer of a settlement, he said last year.

Mayor Hall's Tuesday order stipulated that Lester would patrol the city from midnight to 6 a.m. weekdays and from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. on weekends.

Floyd Robinson died in 1967 after working 25 years in mines at David and Martin. Paul C. Hager died in 1971. He had worked 24 years in mines at David and Auxier.

While both men were eligible for pensions, they had not applied for them since they were still working at the time of their deaths.

In fact, Robinson died only five days after he turned 55 and became eligible for a pension. Hager had retired for a short time in 1968 but went back to work because his pension was insufficient to support himself and his family.

Since the men were not receiving nor had they applied for retirement payments at the time of death, their widows were denied permanent health coverage under the 1974 agreement.

The widows contested the ruling in district court, charging that health and retirement funds trustees had arbitrarily excluded them from the health coverage plan.

The court upheld the rules, arguing they were not arbitrary since they had been worked out as part of a conscious, rational deal in the course of labor negotiations.

However, the Appeals Court reversed the lower court decision, arguing that rules granting benefits to the survivors of miners who had worked a relatively short time for companies contributing to the benefits funds could not reasonably exclude survivors of miners who had worked for longer periods.

As long as the rules qualified widows of miners employed by the companies for as little as a year, the court held, they ought to qualify the widows of those who had worked more than 20 years.

The widows' case is being argued by attorneys Larry F. Sword and John Rosenberg, of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund. It is expected to come before the Supreme Court in January.

Methodists Gather For "Day Of Singing"

Folk from the Beaver Valleys United Methodist Churches and from Trimble Chapel United Methodist Church on Bull Creek met at Maytown United Methodist Church for a "Great Day of Singing," Sunday afternoon, October 18. Featured were musical groups including the Christian Additions from Trimble Chapel, the Reflections from Allen, soloist Mrs. Mary V. Elswick from Martin, a trio from Maytown, a duet from Salisbury, and a duet from Allen.

After an opening prayer by Somerset evangelist Allen Moran, Rev. Charles Ketchum, pastor of the Maytown church, led the congregation in singing. Next followed the reading of the Scripture and a prayer by Rev. Charles Elswick, pastor of Martin and Dwale churches. Rev. Ketchum then gave a short devotional talk.

Following the singing, Rev. Kenneth Lemaster, pastor of the Allen congregation, brought the entire program to a close with an invitation to Christian discipleship.

The Maytown church women served refreshments in the fellowship hall of the church.

Ten Years Ago

(October 21, 1971)

Harry Laviers, Jr., of Paintsville, flew home from Washington last Friday with two checks totalling $8,907,000 representing settlement by the United Mine Workers of America and the Consolidation Coal Co. of the judgement awarded against them in U. S. District Court on an anti-trust action filed by the South-East Coal Company, headed by Laviers and his father, Harry Laviers, Sr., also of Paintsville. Sheriff Frank Leslie said Tuesday morning he had been notified by Pikeville Post, Kentucky State Police, that its personnel was on a standby basis after having received a report that a group of Ohioans was enroute to Eastern Kentucky, presumably bent on closing down non-union mines. Hearing by the Public Service Commission of the protest filed by residents of Rock Fork Creek, near Garrett, to suspension of natural gas service to their homes has been continued from last Wednesday to next Tuesday. Phil G. Scott became manager of the Paintsville-Prestonsburg operation of the South Central Bell Telephone Company, effective Oct. 15. He succeeds Bill Gibson, who resigned recently. 1,946 horses were vaccinated in Floyd county for VEE (horse sleeping sickness) ending Oct. 12. The program appears to have been very successful, it was said. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Grigsby, of Martin, a daughter, Susannah Leigh, Oct. 9 at Methodist hospital, Pikeville; to Mr. and Mrs. Grant Derossett, a daughter, Gretchen Sue, Oct. 2. There died: Taylor Watson, of Wheelwright, at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; Bill Smith, 83, of Prestonsburg, at Mountain Manor here; Ira Edward Stephens, 55, of Langley; Mrs. Bell Dora Tackett, 84, of East McDowell, at Mountain Manor; Mrs. Hazel Music Wyatt, 56, of West Prestonsburg, at Prestonsburg General hospital; Jud Rice, 83, of East Point; Mrs. Maggie Hunt Lewis, 80, at her home at Stanville; Ballard Hicks, 84, Dema; Charles Breeding, 81, of Kite, at Martin; Mrs. Ruth Levera Branham Faine, 42, at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital, Penn Fitzpatrick, 84, of Middle Creek, at Lexington; Asa Howell, 66, of Teaberry, at Lexington.

Governor Bert Combs' office announced this week that he and his staff will make Prestonsburg the seat of state government next week in a continuance of his program of taking state government to the people. A limited poll made by The Times this week showed almost unanimous support here of the plan to build fallout shelters. One such shelter has already been completed. Caney Junior College at Pippa Passes has had a "partial" walkout of students this week after three teachers resigned. Ground was broken Saturday for a new elementary school at Grethel. John W. Elliott, native of Beaver, this county, died at the age of 103 last Wednesday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Annie Stumbo, of Whitesburg. A former teacher and merchant in this county, he was perhaps the oldest Eastern Kentuckian. One of his outstanding recollections was that of having seen President Lincoln. Others who died: Lawrence Newsome, 70, Friday at his home at Melvin; Mrs. Minnie M. Friend, 78, of Prestonsburg, Friday at a hospital here; Mrs. Dora B. Cole, 79, Sunday at Drift; Charles F. Stapleton, 79, of Harold, Tuesday, last week, at a Pikeville hospital; Thomas Lowe, Sr., 78, Friday at Pikeville, burial at Manton.

Thirty Years Ago

(October 18, 1951)

Last Tuesday's blood contributions by Floyd counties to the bloodmobile brought to 1000 pints the total given since last April. E. R. (Jack) Price, general superintendent of the Inland Steel Co. at Wheelwright, has been named head of the committee to raise funds for building a Boy Scout camp on Dewey Lake. Councilman Carl H. Corbin said at last Monday night's meeting of the City Council that the bootlegging situation in Prestonsburg is disgraceful and demanded that a cleanup be started immediately. The Floyd County Fish and Game Club this week posted a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons guilty of contributing to the recent fish loss in Right Beaver Creek. Conservation officer Bernard Baldrige reported that fish are dying in the stream, all the way from Bosco to Maytown. Bids on the Raccoon road connecting Magoffin county to KY 7 on Salt Lick Creek have been asked. Plans to extend KY 7 on to Yellow Mountain and eventually to Hindman are talked. Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co. has begun operation at its office here of the first of eight transmitters that it will use in a radio communications system. There died: Martin Luther Frazier, for 25 years postmaster at Cracker, at his home Monday; Tavis Jarrell, 12, Monday at his parents' home at Dana; Thomas Raymond Powell, 36, killed in a railway mishap Friday at Ward, W. Va., buried at Tram; Smalley Sexton, 71, Oct. 12, at Emma; John D. Crace, 71, brother of Mrs. Florence Craft, of Prestonsburg, last Thursday at Salyersville; Mrs. Rosie Burchett Layne, 78, Sunday at her home at Harold.

Forty Years Ago

(October 16, 1941)

From July 1, 1935 to July 1, this year, WPA workers have built 124 miles of roads in this county, it was pointed out here this week. Floyd county coal mines led the Big Sandy division in coal shipped last month with 530,000 tons. The Mayo Trail will be completed this year in Johnson county, it is predicted. Two new typhoid cases and one death were reported this week in the Bypro section. There died: "Uncle" Jeff Sizemore, 99, veteran of the Union Army, Wednesday at his home near here; William Aldridge, 73, Oct. 4 at the Stumbo Hospital, Lackey; Martin Risner, of Bypro, Saturday at a Martin hospital; Ballan Gearheart, 66, native of Hueysville, Oct. 3 at Palisade, Colorado.

Seniors End 14-Day Tour

Patsy Evans, director of the Archer Park Senior Citizens Center, and 39 senior citizens, disembarked here at 1:30 a.m. last Wednesday from their tour bus which had taken them on a 14-day tour of the Eastern seaboard and all the way to Halifax, Nova Scotia. The tour touched 13 states as well as Washington D.C. and Nova Scotia. Highlights of the trip included tours of Washington's Valley Forge encampment area, the Pennsylvania Dutch countryside, Boston and Salem, Massachusetts historical sites, the ocean trip to and from Nova Scotia and entertainment, enroute, by tour member and harmonica player, Maude Stone.

Lauds Band Support

Prestonsburg High Marching Blackcats and Boosters held their first annual Marching Band Festival on October 10. It was our first try at putting together a band competition, and it was an effort of which we can be proud. It was a huge success.

The competition could not have taken place without the help of many people—our band members, our boosters, but most of all, the generous support of those in our community.

Thank you, one and all, from everyone who works with and is part of the Marching Blackcat organization.

Says Lake Hidden

We visited relatives in Floyd county some time ago. They took us on a ride to see Dewey Lake. What a huge disappointment that was! I am sure the lake is beautiful, but it is surely hidden from view! During the entire ride, we saw little of the lake. It was completely hidden by a thick growth of trees, every mile of the way.

Why? Your hills are filled with trees. Can't you see that none are along the drive around the lake? Why not have green lawn—flowers—low-growing bushes, anything but those tall trees to block the view of a truly beautiful lake? Not much sense in having the drive around the lake, to see the lake, when the lake is hidden from view.

I suggest you begin a drive to remedy this situation. Take a drive around Jenny Wiley and see what I am talking about. Then get busy and get someone to do something about it.

Thank you for reading my complaint. Hope it helps.

Crum Takes Blame For Raiders' Find

Mrs. Ida Mae Crum and her son, Bobby Gene, were arrested Tuesday at her home at Tram by Deputy Sheriff Gillis Conn and a narcotics agent after a search of the home had uncovered narcotics, marijuana and a variety of intoxicants.

Bobby Gene Crum exonerated his mother of the narcotics charge, claiming ownership of the six bags of marijuana, six marijuana plants that were drying inside the house, seven Endo 135 tablets and a quantity of unidentified black capsules.

Mrs. Crum was booked for possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale. Intoxicants confiscated were listed as 19 1/2 cases of beer, 16 half-pints of vodka, 10 half-pints of whiskey and a half-gallon of gin.

Two Ohioans were arrested at McDowell Sunday night by Deputy Sheriff Conn and one of the two, Ted D. Groves, was reported by Florida authorities as a parole violator. He remains in jail, awaiting a decision by Florida officials. The other, Kenneth Alexander, of Wooster, O., was released Tuesday after having been fined $115 on a charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon. He was placed under probation for one year.

Roy Smith was arrested Monday night at Halo by Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnson, who booked him on a transporting charge. The officer said he found 15 cases of beer in Smith's vehicle.

HISTORIANS TO MEET

The regular fall meeting of the Big Sandy Valley Historical Society will be held at the Christian Church, Louisa, Saturday, Nov. 7, at noon. The main speaker will be Mrs. Ben Fuson, whose topics will be "The Peddler" and "The Lawrence County McClures and Chapmans and Related Families." Members wishing to make reservations should call Darlene Young at 638-4926, after 5 p.m., or write her at Box 381, Louisa, Kentucky, 41230, by Nov. 2.

The first milk bottles were introduced by the Echo Farms Dairy Co. of New York in 1879.

Ohio Man Relates Auxier Family's Needs

I have, on many occasions, read with interest articles published in the newspaper that are informative and deal with human interest. I am a native of Floyd county; however, due to the lack of industry in eastern Kentucky, I, along with many other young men, was forced to relocate in a major industrial complex. I would like to share with you and through you to the people of Floyd county some problems that one such couple has experienced. Their names are Billie Jo and Bobby Wireman of Auxier.

Billie and Bobby were married in 1958. They were blessed with a family of four children; the oldest is Brian Keith, then Timothy, Tammy, and Barry. There were problems with childhood illnesses; however, when Brian Keith was nine years old, he became ill. After two years of tests, in and out of hospitals, the illness was diagnosed as acute glomerulonephritis, which is the inflammation of the kidney.

Brian Keith had to get the type of education that would not require a great deal of physical exertion. He became a disc-jockey. His first job was at WLSI in Pikeville, Kentucky. This was truly a relief for him because of his sickness which made it difficult for him to get a job. The job was short-lived, however, as he became so ill it was required that he return to Cleveland where he could receive treatment.

After a lot of testing and planning, it was determined that Billie Jo was the best choice to give Brian a kidney. Plans were made, and the operation was performed—mother giving son one of her kidneys. Within a month, Brian was home, and it appeared that after twelve years of disappointment he had a kidney that was functioning, and he appeared healthy.

It seemed that the sun would shine again until Billie Jo and Bobby's youngest son, 10-year-old Barry Thomas, got a sore throat. After tests were conducted, it was determined that Barry had cancer of the lymph nodes (non-Hodgkins).

After radiation and chemotherapy, Barry is doing better. However, he has 14 more months of chemotherapy, and Brian is experiencing problems with blood pressure. Since the transplant, Brian has undergone two operations to clear an artery to the new kidney.

In summary, this communication is to advise that during the course of events the Strongsville Baptist Church has established a "Barry and Keith Fund" to assist the needy family. Should there be people in Floyd county who would like to contribute, it is requested that checks be made payable to "Strongsville Baptist Church"—earmarked "Barry and Keith Fund." Mail checks to: Strongsville Baptist Church, 19543 Lunn Road, Strongsville, O., 44136.

Protests Firing

I write this letter in protest of being fired or dismissed by the C & O Ry. Company, a scheme cooked by two officials on the railroad. To put it in short terms, I and all the men were arguing over a misunderstanding over signing a job procedure paper. This involved the Martin section, the Allen section and the yard gang, about 35 or 40 men. I was picked out of the bunch and fired.

The so-called board by the C & O Ry. is kangaroo-style—two men were judge and executioner.

I am not afraid to make this statement, because I have the true transcript, the witnesses and a lawyer who believe I was discriminated against and done totally unjustly.

If possible, gentlemen, I will have my day in court, because the punishment does not fit the crime. My freedom and rights as a citizen and labor union member have been violated, and I challenge these men in question and the C & O Ry. on this issue.

Wells Is Named, Replacing Land As Labor Chief

John Calhoun Wells, an Auxier native, is Kentucky's new labor commissioner, Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr. announced Sunday.

Wells, 36, has been commissioner of the Human Resources Department's bureau for manpower services since December, 1979, with responsibility for job training and job placement programs.

He succeeds Eugene F. Land as labor commissioner. Land resigned the office following his September 28 conviction on a misdemeanor charge for filing a false travel-expense voucher.

The son of the late John C. Wells, former teacher here, Wells said he put himself through college as a member of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union.

"I have been fed and clothed, by a union paycheck," Wells said in a prepared statement. "I understand labor, and I will be an activist labor commissioner."

He went on to say that labor and management must work together.

Wells is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and received master's and doctoral degrees from Rutgers University. He taught 3½ years and did graduate work at Rutgers in Appalachian Studies as a Rockefeller Foundation fellow.

He later did post-graduate work in Appalachian Studies at the University of Kentucky under a fellowship from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Paintings On Display At County Library

Dlynn Hall, of Price, is exhibiting a collection of her oil paintings at the Floyd County Library. A small collection of handmade jewelry is also included in the exhibition.

A keen hunter, Miss Hall's feel for the outdoors and for wildlife is reflected in her work, which will be on display this week and next.

Miss Hall majored in art at Berea College and is currently working toward a master's degree in art at Radford College, Virginia.

Pharmacy Footnotes
 by HAROLD COOLEY

It is important that your home first aid supplies include bandages, gauze pads and adhesive tape. Cuts are frequent and these materials are then often needed. Wash a minor cut thoroughly with soap and water, then cover with a sterile gauze pad or compress bandage. Clean a deep cut quickly, then cover the wound and the area around it with a sterile gauze pad and bandage securely. If bleeding does not stop within a reasonable time period, control it by direct pressure with fingers or your hand.

For all the items necessary for a complete home first aid kit or medicine cabinet, come to COOLEY APOTHECARY, INC. We pride ourselves on maintaining a complete supply of home health aids, as well as prescription items. We're your one-stop pharmacy, dispensing only the very best quality ingredients available for the money. See us at 2 Town Center Bldg., Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-5. 886-8106.

HANDY HINT:
 Clean and bandage a puncture wound, control bleeding if any, and take the victim to a doctor.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

Many hunters consider the wild turkey the most difficult of all North American game to bag. And most hunters would also agree that bow hunting is right up at the top of the list of difficult hunting methods.

So when a hunter takes a turkey with a bow, it's just got to be the hunting thrill of a lifetime, particularly when it represents an important "first".

Leroy Zaring, a Prospect, Kentucky archer, was bow hunting at Land Between the Lakes, the Tennessee Valley Authority's public recreation area in West Kentucky and Tennessee, when he bagged a 17-pound turkey gobbler October 8.

This is, as far as we know, the first turkey taken by bow in Kentucky since some nameless Indian last crept close enough to take one with his primitive weapon. By that time, both the turkeys and the Indians were probably rapidly disappearing from the state.

The only remaining native flock of wild turkeys in Kentucky exists in Land Between the Lakes and many turkeys in other parts of the state were stocked from this "original" source. But as the stocking program have expanded in recent years, other sources of turkeys have been found. Now a Kentucky turkey can trace its ancestry back to Missouri, for example, or Virginia, or Mississippi.

LBL is the only place in Kentucky where autumn turkey hunting is permitted. On this area, archers with turkey permits may hunt turkeys during the bow season for deer—as long as they haven't taken a deer. There was one turkey taken in the Tennessee portion of LBL a few years back, so Zaring's bird represents only the second by archery in LBL and, as we've said before, the first in modern history in Kentucky.

Turkey hunting in other open areas of the state takes place in April. Definite season dates and other regulations are set by the Fish and Wildlife Commission in early December of each year.

As biologists continue to expand the turkey stocking program, more and more hunters around Kentucky will have an opportunity to hunt for this fine game bird. Turkeys require fairly extensive tracts of unpeopled woodlands, so suitable habitat will always be limited.

The goal of the Wildlife Division of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is to identify and stock the areas of the state that are suitable for these birds. A turkey permit (next year's will cost $6.50) is required of all turkey hunters and helps pay the costs of the stocking program.

So congratulations to Leroy Zaring on his significant "first." And with the increase in turkeys and of turkey hunting in Kentucky, it shouldn't be as long before another bow hunter with the right combination of skill and luck comes along and gets to be number two on the list.

Betsy Layne PTA Meets

The Betsy Layne Parent Teacher Association met for its first regularly scheduled meeting October 5. Officers elected were: Dennis Ballard, president; Tim McClannahan, vice president; Karen Hamilton, secretary; Drema Harris, treasurer; Rhonda Blackburn and Doris Leedy, publicity chairmen.

The Betsy Layne PTA will meet on the first Monday of each month at 7:00. Parents and teachers are encouraged to attend.

Open Dates Help Shoppers
Choose Quality Products

Until a few years ago, food processors used codes to date their products. Now, many foods have dates stamped on them. Unlike the code system, shoppers can understand these dates. This explains the industry's name for them, which is open dates.

There are no federal regulations on open dating, but many states require freshness dates. Dating food products is voluntary in Kentucky, except for milk and milk products. State law requires that a sell-by-date, which indicates the last day a product should remain on the grocer's shelf, be stamped or embossed on dairy packages and containers.

During a recent—September 8, 1981—survey, conducted in a Lexington supermarket, these products and sell-by dates were spotted: Natural cheese, Dec 13, 1981; milk, Sept 14; processed cheese, Mar 9, '82; yogurt, Oct 8.

In addition, foods other than dairy products had dates stamped on them.

In addition, foods other than dairy products had dates stamped on them. Stores and food processors provide dates on these items voluntarily to aid shoppers and store personnel. In most cases, these are sell-by dates: Potato chips, Oct 4; bread, Sept 10; eggs, Sept 19; bologna, Oct 20; chicken, Sept 10; ready-to-eat cereal, Aug 1, '82 ground beef, Sept 9.

Many consumers are confused as to the safety of a food product bearing a sell-by-date, especially if the product will become stale or unsafe if not eaten immediately.

Generally, foods are of acceptable quality for a period after the sell-by date. For example, milk if properly refrigerated will stay sweet five to six days beyond the open date on the carton. The date on packaged bologna is five to six weeks, on breakfast cereal, almost 12 months, and on processed cheese, six months.

It's good idea to think of these dates as "best used by" dates. Quality assurance dates are estimates at best. Storage and handling conditions in the store and in your home will influence product quality.

For example, an opened package of breakfast cereal is not likely to retain optimum quality for 12 months. It will lose flavor, pick up moisture, and lose crispness. It may even get bugs.

Closing the inner wrapper and storing the package in a cool, dry place will help to retain the quality of breakfast cereals, but its best not to keep opened cereal for 12 months.

Bologna and processed cheese once opened will deteriorate more quickly than the date stamped on the package. Common modes of deterioration for these products are rancidity, mold growth and drying out.

Utilize open dates to check the freshness of products and to determine if you will use them up before quality deteriorates. And remember that proper food storage in the home is important for maintaining quality, safety and nutritive value.

• COMPLETE WEIGHT REDUCING PROGRAM •

WEIGHT PROGRAM INFORMATION

- (1) As everybody has different reasons for gaining weight, we work on an individual basis. For this reason there are no fixed rules to follow. We do use the following: (A) Principles of nutrition; (B) Exercises; (C) Hypnosis; (D) Behaviour modification; (E) Psychotherapy; (F) Medications. (Depending on your choice and our judgements.)
- (2) For your first office visit we obtain your complete history on weight, culture, family personality structure, etc.
- (3) During your second office visit the following procedures are performed: (A) Complete physical examination; (B) Complete blood work test (To insure no disorders of the liver, kidney, thyroid, diabetes, etc.); (C) Cardiogram (Heart tracing). After completion of the test each patient is given a diet sheet and instructions to follow.
- (4) On the third day you are ready to start your diet. We will then check you again after five days and once or twice a week thereafter, depending upon your individual requirements.
- (5) You don't need any will power on our program.
- (6) On this program most patients don't feel weak, dizzy, tired, starved or sick in any way.
- (7) When you are losing weight we try to make you realize how you gained the weight and last, but most important: TEACH YOU TO KEEP YOUR WEIGHT WHERE YOU WANT!!!!

Glenn Miller Orchestra To Appear

Glenn Miller created a musical trademark that is indelibly associated not only with him but with an era. The world may have changed, but the desire to hear Glenn Miller's music has hardly diminished.

The early 1940's were the Big Band Age and the Glenn Miller Orchestra rode the crest of that wave. Today, many years later, the authentic Glenn Miller sound is still very much alive and heard throughout the United States and the rest of the world the year round. Recordings of the original band are still among the best-selling discs and the present Glenn Miller Orchestra led by Larry O'Brien is one of the most sought after musical organizations in the world for concerts, dances, appearances at military installations and private functions.

"The band is one the road at least 48 weeks of the year," says Larry O'Brien. "If it were possible, we would play 60 weeks. Nobody seems to tire of hearing our authentic music and the orchestra is developing a whole new generation of fans."

"At the style of any concert, the moment the band hits the first notes of our theme, 'Moonlight Serenade,' there's an outcry of joy and excitement from both young and old in audience." "While the Miller brand of music holds a lot of nostalgia for the older people," continued Larry O'Brien, "we are also attracting great numbers of teenagers and college students. They all know the repertoire and want to hear the classics such as 'At Last', 'Little Brown Jug', 'Tuxedo Junction',

LARRY O'BRIEN
Director of
The Glenn Miller Orchestra

'Chattanooga Choo-Choo', 'Serenade in Blue' and 'String of Pearls' as much as all the newer tunes we do."

"What's more interesting is that the youngsters are dancing at our performances, not just looking and they're holding on to each other, not standing apart like they do at rock dances. To a bandleader, this is very refreshing."

The Glenn Miller Orchestra will appear Oct. 27 at Prestonsburg High School.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

The family of Harold Layne surprised him with a birthday dinner Sunday at his home. Enjoying the occasion with him were his wife, Virginia, his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Morrison and Jenny, sons David Keith Layne and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Layne, Crystal and Scott. Later in the evening, ice cream and cake was served while the party watched the football.

SAFETY DIRECTOR

Kenzie Jones, president of Island Creek Division of Island Creek Coal Co., announced that Carl Smith, Jr. has been hired as director of safety. Smith was previously employed by Coal Arbed as safety director. He was also employed with National Steel as safety trainer, inspector and supervisor; and was with Eastern Associated Coal. He and his wife, Patsy, and children, Bryan and Neil, reside at Paintsville.

Computer Will Help Diagnosis

During a brief ceremony Saturday, Oct. 10, members of the local Knights of Columbus chapter presented $5,000 to Pikeville College officials for partial funding of a diagnostic center at the college. Present for the presentation were from left, Ed Love and Jerry Kanney, of the local Knights of Columbus Chapter; Dr. Jerry Nelson, director of the clinic; Michael Hickman, Kentucky Mental Retardation Foundation; Jackson O. Hall, Pikeville College president; and Gordon Bramer of the foundation.

A special children's clinic at Pikeville College that uses computers to aid the mentally handicapped got a boost Saturday, October 10 with a $5,000 donation, from the Knights of Columbus Kentucky Mental Retardation Foundation.

The $5,000 will go toward continuing a special diagnostic computer center developed by Dr. Jerry Nelson.

The center provides computer assistance for: diagnosing mentally retarded and mentally handicapped citizens; developing learning programs for children and older people who have learning disabilities; and evaluation services for multihandicapped people.

And the unique service provided by the center doesn't stop there, Nelson says. The center also offers computerized testing, reports and studies of a citizen's responsiveness.

While the use of computers may connote great expense, the program uses a relatively inexpensive Radio Shack TRS-80 model 3 computer which is readily available on the market. "For $600 we can provide a great educational program," Nelson stressed.

Parents and potential clients may contact Nelson at the college by calling 432-9347.

Three Accused In Restaurant Break

State police arrested a Martin man and two juveniles Saturday in connection with an Oct. 15 break-in at Druthers Restaurant there, according to Trooper Phil Tucker of the Pikeville post.

Charles Douglas Sexton, 23, was charged with knowingly receiving stolen property. He posted $2,000 bond and was released from the Floyd county jail, Tucker said.

Two 17-year old boys were released to the custody of their parents after they were apprehended, he said.

Burglars took a safe containing $6,000 from Druthers Restaurant in the middle of the night Thursday.

They were caught trying to blow torch the safe in a field on Saturday, Tucker said.

To Assist Veterans

A D.A.V. state service officer will be at the old Pikeville city hall from 9 till 12 noon Friday, Oct. 23, to assist veterans and their families in filing claims for V.A. benefits. This is a free service of D.A.V. Chapter 134.

Magoffin Sheriff Cites "Politics," Denies Assault

Magoffin county Sheriff Skip Salyers has denied charges that he shot into a car in which a 12-year-old girl was allegedly shot in the arm Friday evening.

Salyers is free on $5,000 bond after being arrested Saturday by Kentucky state police and charged with first-degree assault in the incident.

Salyers said he appeared before District Court Trial Commissioner Glen Salyers and posted bond. He said no hearing or trial date has been set.

Salyers is accused of shooting Rhonda Sue Walters of Salyersville in the right arm about 8 p.m. Friday. She was a passenger in a car driven by Harry Tom Holbrook, also of Salyersville. The girl was treated at Highlands Regional Medical center and released.

According to Salyers, the charges against him were lodged by Judy Walters, the girl's mother.

Salyers said he is charged with firing several shots at the Holbrook car as it was traveling on U.S. 460 near the Galaxie Skating Rink in Salyersville.

Holbrook and Judy Walters were not injured.

"I didn't chase any car," Salyers said.

Salyers, who described Holbrook as a "political enemy" of his, said "it's all a political deal" and added that he was nowhere around the scene of the alleged incident Friday night.

"I've got proof of where I was. This is part of the same deal that tried to frame me in federal court," Salyers said.

Salyers, who is a Republican candidate for county judge-executive in the Nov. 3 election, was tried in September in Pikeville Federal District Court on two counts of obstruction of justice, 25 counts of mail fraud involving absentee ballots, and one count of conspiracy.

He said, "The trial lasted six days and the jury deliberated 11½ hours. I was found innocent on the obstruction charges and a mistrial was declared in the other 26 charges."

"It's all been part of a plot to ruin my political career," the sheriff said.

The first city-wide strike took place in Seattle in 1919, when approximately 60,000 workers refused to go to work support of striking metal trades' workers seeking a wage increase, according to a U.S. Department of Labor publication, "Labor Firsts in America."

To The Voters of Magisterial District 2

There will be an important election held on November 3, 1981. It is very important to the people of Magisterial District 2. The magistrate's race was close in the primary election between Mr. Roberts and Mr. Duff.

I ask all my good friends and relatives to join together in a strong write-in campaign for my brother. May the voters in the Right Beaver Creek section go to the polls on election day and write-in the name, BIRCHELL DUFF, for Magistrate, District 2.

Your support in this important election will be highly appreciated.

Red, White & Blue Day Activities, 1981

Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr., one of several state and local officials who attended Saturday's festivities, tries on a Red, White & Blue Day jersey presented by Thomasine Wicker on behalf of the festival committee and the town of Martin.

"Doc" and Loretta Hutchinson, well-known Martin area residents, were king and queen of this year's Red, White & Blue Day.

The sound of fiddles and banjos was heard during the day from several groups and individuals who came to town for the big parade.

Veterans groups played an active role during Saturday's activities and McDowell-born singer-dancer Sparkle Hart was on hand to present awards to vet representatives.

George Barnett's vintage Oldsmobile took first place among a fine display of old-time cars which was a feature of the day.

Carolyn Likens, owner of June's Dress Shop at Martin, displays the trophy she received for the most creative window display.

Lisa Hall, a Wheelwright High School student, was parade queen during Saturday's procession.

'Mommy' Hall Honored

Mrs. Millie Hall, of Orkney, recently observed her 85th birthday. She is the daughter of the late Richard and Darcus Gayheart and was born September 30, 1896, in the immediate vicinity when it was known only as Spewing Camp Branch.

Mrs. Hall was honored by family and friends with an early birthday dinner, and church service Sunday, Sept. 20. The dinner was sponsored by her children and grandchildren; however, several lifelong friends and neighbors helped with the preparation. Four generations of "Mommy" Hall family were responsible for the striking similarity to the oldtime "Sunday meetin's and dinner on the grounds."

Mrs. Hall is the widow of Elisha Hall. Their surviving children include Mrs. Edith Lawson and Melvin Ray Hall, Prestonsburg, Elmer Hall and Mrs. Dee (Ruthine) Howell, Jr., McDowell, Mrs. Leonard (Ruby) Hobson and Haskell Hall, of Orkney.

She has been a member of the Old Regular Baptist Church for many years. Since the birthday celebration has become an annual event, it was appropriate that her request for church services be honored.

Elder Paul Dye, of Orkney, opened the services and offered prayer. He was followed by Rev. Woody Pack, of McDowell, who honored her a special request with the solo "How Deep Does A Mother's Love Go." The services were concluded by Rev. Clinton Dean Moore. All sermons concerned the religious aspect of family life, with emphasis on the "Mother's Love" because she has been Mommy Hall to so many.

There were approximately 100 guests in addition to the family. Mrs. Hall received many nice gifts. Although she expressed her appreciation for them, she wanted it known that being surrounded by family and friends on such a special day provided the greatest joy and most cherished gift of all.

Mrs. Hall is the folklore collector's delight. Her stories of "the good, old days when times were bad" are delightful because of her ability and remarkable recall. She provides factual accounts of events ranging from mountain feuds to the naming of Spewing Camp. Several of her stories are in the folklore collections of Pikeville college and Morehead State University.

In conclusion—I recall two birthday cakes—both white.

DAY HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Prestonsburg Day Homemakers met Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 13, at 1 o'clock, at Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church here, with the president, Mrs. Mary Sue Moore, presiding. The devotions were given by Mrs. M. Robert Regan. The lesson on "Meatless Meals and Stir-Fried Foods" was presented by Mrs. Becky Short and Mrs. Eleanor Horn. Two casseroles, from recipes taken from the Homemakers' pamphlet on "How to go Meatless in Family Meals" were prepared during the demonstration.

It was decided that a Christmas (pot-luck) luncheon would be held at 12 noon on the regular December meeting date at the church. Mrs. Frances Pitts announced that a Christmas wreath workshop would be held early in December, and gave dates for workshops at the Kentucky Power Company. Mrs. Pitts reminded members of the Homemakers' area annual meeting at Magoffin County High School, Oct. 24. Mrs. Dorothy Stover read a letter from Miss Jane Pitts, thanking the group for the monetary gift to her, prior to her enrollment this year at Transylvania University, Lexington. The hostesses, Mrs. Mary Sue Moore, Mrs. Dorothy Stover and Mrs. Ruth Moore, served refreshments to Mesdames Frances Pitts, May K. Roberts, Mabel Donahoe, Stella Spurlock, Phyllis Herrick, Docia Woods, Eva Collins, Eleanor Horn, Mary Jane Brown, Beatrice Collins, Gladys Howard, Lucy Regan, Opal Dingus, Dorothy Osborne, Becky Snort and Dorothy Burke.

The next meeting will be Nov. 10, at 1 o'clock, with Mesdames Mabel Donahoe, Phyllis Herrick and Ruth Francis as hostesses. The leaders for the lesson on Christmas decorations will be Mrs. Ruth Moore and Mrs. Dorothy Stover.

Enterprise Association Has Annual Meeting

Enterprise Association of Southern Baptist churches from Magoffin, Johnson, Martin and Floyd counties met at the Martin Baptist Church last Friday. The congregation was composed of pastors and messengers from the churches of these counties.

The Rev. Dean Pack, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Prestonsburg, presided. The welcome address was given by the pastor of the host church, the Rev. Wayne Gullion. The Rev. Bob Young, minister of music at the Paintsville First Baptist Church, led the music program.

The Rev. Don McGuire, associational director, Mrs. McGuire, and their children were introduced by the Rev. Lloyd Senters, now pastor of a Baptist church near Royalton.

The speaker for the afternoon was the Rev. Houston Lanier, Director of Mountain Missions, who spoke on "Evangelism."

During the evening session reports were given concerning the work of various church organizations. The Rev. William Spradlin, pastor of the West Van Lear Baptist Church, brought the evening message.

Officers elected for the year were: moderator, the Rev. Paul Granger, pastor of the McDowell Baptist Church; assistant moderator, the Rev. William Spradlin, pastor of the West Van Lear church; clerk, Mrs. Judy Short, of the Martin church; assistant clerk, LaFaye Hughes, of the Garrett church; treasurer, Bob Young, of Paintsville First Baptist; auditor, George Robinson.

Dinner was served by the women of the Martin Baptist Church. Representing Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church here were the Rev. Dean Pack, Mrs. Lucy Regan, Mrs. Melinda Conley, Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, Mrs. Vivian Fraley, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Petrey, Robin Childers and Lee Carter.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Former Secretary of State, George Glenn Hatcher, who was a patient for a time at Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, and at Cardinal Hill Hospital there, is now at his home in Frankfort, where his condition is showing improvement.

CONDITION IMPROVES

Mrs. Josephine Fields, who underwent surgery at the Highlands Regional Medical Center last Thursday, is improving nicely. Members of her family have been with her during her hospitalization.

FELLOWSHIP DINNER

The Horn's Chapel United Methodist Church had a fellowship dinner Sunday. Marietta Crager read a history of the church and the Rev. Ewell Sammons, pastor, discussed the future of the church.

HAS GUESTS

Mrs. Jenny Crager, of Morehead, and Mrs. Arlene Tackett, of Cynthia, were overnight guests of Mrs. Marietta Crager, Friday night. Miss Barbara Crager, a student at Morehead College, accompanied them home.

HUNT IN WOLFE COUNTY

Stuart Stephens, Wendell Wells and Randy Polk spent Saturday in Wolfe county, squirrel hunting. The reports of the number of squirrels brought back start with 10, and the "count-down" (seemingly due to the lack of numbers) finally stops at 1.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Willia Mae Branham was honored with a birthday dinner, October 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Branham, of Cliff. Attending were Mrs. Will Bingham, Mrs. Goldie Rorrer, and Melissa and Christina Crider.

NAME OMITTED

Unintentionally omitted from the list of those who participated in the United Methodist Women's ninth annual Ashland district meeting, October 10, at the First United Methodist Church was the name of Mrs. Betty Stephens, who, accompanied by Mrs. Dianne Williams, sang "It Took a Miracle." By request, Mrs. Stephens and Mrs. Williams gave the same presentation there during church services, on the following day.

REPRESENT RETIRED TEACHERS

Mrs. Norma Stepp, Mrs. May K. Roberts, Mrs. Opal May and Mrs. Virginia Goble represented the Floyd County Retired Teachers' organization at the K.R.T.A. meeting of the Eastern district at Morehead State University, Friday, and also attended the luncheon there. Mrs. Goble was elected vice-president of the Eastern district for 1981-'82, and Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Stepp were chosen as alternates to the K.R.T.A. convention to be held in Louisville next April.

Officers, other than Mrs. Goble, elected during the meeting were: President, Mrs. Marguerite Del Vecchio, of Ashland, who succeeds Russell Boyd, of Paintsville, and Miss Grace Crosthwaite, of Morehead, who will continue in the capacity of secretary-treasurer.

TO LEAD REVIVAL

The Rev. W. D. Jagers, former pastor of the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church here, and presently pastor of the Cynthia Baptist Church, will conduct a revival at the Paintsville First Baptist Church, from Sunday, November 1 through Friday, November 6. The services are scheduled to begin each evening at 7:30. The pastor of the host church, the Rev. Charles Milam, extends an invitation to persons throughout this area to attend.

Social Events

DOCIA B. WOODS, SOCIETY EDITOR

Memorial Planned

A memorial service honoring the late Laura Belle Lafferty Ellis will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 1 at the Trimble Methodist Chapel near the Water Gap intersection of US 23 and KY 80. All relatives and friends are invited.

RETURN HOME

Mrs. Mary Mann, Maribeth Mann and Brett Lee returned home last Wednesday after a few days' visit with her sister, Mrs. Hardy Kelley at West Union, Ohio, and a nephew John Milton Caudill, and family at Louisa.

HERE FOR VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Fannin and little daughter, Jenna, of Lexington, were here during the weekend for a visit with Mrs. Fannin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Winston Ford, Jr., and family. While they were here, Jenna's grandparents honored her with a party at their home in celebration of her third birthday. Family members present were Mrs. Ford's sister, Mrs. Tipton Baker, and children, Kara and Ronnie, and her niece, Mrs. Jane Hall, and baby son, Bradley, all of Harlan; her aunt, Mrs. Arlie Wright, of Pikeville; her sisters, Mrs. Ray Boley, Mr. Boley, and children, Tammy, Keith and Michael, of Paintsville, and Mrs. Noble Wright, of Ft. Myers, Fla.; the honoree's great-grandfather, Gene Fannin, and great-grandmother, Mrs. Vera Ford, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Winston Ford, Jr., their daughter, Kelli, and son, Winn, who hosted the party. Jenna received many gifts from her family. Decorated doll cake and other refreshments were served.

REPRESENT REBEKAHS

Mrs. Mabel Jean LeMaster and Mrs. Otelia Smiley were in Lexington, October 12, representing Miriam Rebekah Lodge at the Rebekah state assembly, which convened at the Continental Inn there.

MISSION RALLY SET

The Ashland district Methodist fall mission rally will be held October 30, at 7 p.m., at the Paintsville First United Methodist Church. Methodists throughout this area are urged to attend.

LUNCHEON GUESTS

Misses Sarah Cannell and Remea Disque, and H. C. (Huck) Francis were the luncheon guests Friday of Mrs. Joe Buchanan and Kris Cross. Misses Cannell and Disque represented the Meistergram Monogramming Corp., and were here to train Mrs. Buchanan and Mr. Cross for Mr. Francis' new business, H and A Monogramming.

ABBOTT HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Abbott Homemakers met Tuesday evening, October 13, at the church annex building, with the president, Mrs. Sharon Sparr, presiding. Mrs. Ruby Frasure presented the devotionals. Each member made a donation to buy "get-well" and "sympathy" cards for the club's use whenever these may be needed. Names were drawn for "Secret Sisters" for the coming year. It was decided that the Homemakers, along with the Abbott Development Club, will hold their Christmas covered-dish dinner at the church annex, Tuesday evening, December 8, at 6 o'clock. Mrs. Frances Pitts announced that the workshop for the making of Christmas ornaments would be held at the Kentucky Power Company, here, Oct. 27, at 10 a.m., and a special lesson on the making of place-mats, on Nov. 3 at the same time and location, and that the president, Mrs. Sparr, would be attending a lesson there on candy making on Nov. 5.

The lesson on "Meatless Meals and Stir-Fried Foods" was presented by Floyd county home economist, Mrs. Pitts, and the hostess, Mrs. Muriel Hill, served an egg and vegetable casserole to Mesdames Frances Pitts, Sharon Sparr, Cynthia Frasure, Ruby Frasure, Eukie Merritt, Grace Conley, Janet Cotterill, and Mrs. Muriel Hill's granddaughters, Jane and Rebecca Howard.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 7 p.m., at the same location, with Mrs. Sparr and Mrs. Cotterill as co-hostesses. The lesson will be on Christmas tree ornaments.

THREE HONORED

Flowers were placed on the altar of the First United Methodist Church Sunday by Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, honoring her grandson, Jay McClellan, on his fourth birthday, and by the family of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Messer in commemoration of their 39th wedding anniversary.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Patton announce the birth of a son, Brett Alexander, October 2 at Highlands Regional Medical Center. Grandparents are Mrs. Bessie Patton, of Manton, and Mrs. Margaret Hyden, of Prestonsburg.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. Leva Clark entertained as her guest, Thursday, Mrs. Evelyn Goebel, with a dinner at Captain Dee's restaurant. The occasion was Mrs. Goebel's 80th birthday and a surprise dessert of birthday cake and ice cream was served at Mrs. Clark's home.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

John G. Heinze, Sr. underwent surgery last Tuesday at Jewish Hospital, Louisville. His condition is good. Mrs. Heinze will remain in Louisville with him until his return home.

VACATION IN FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Hall, of Prestonsburg, and niece, Miss Elissa Lee Hatcher, of Frankfort, have returned to their homes following a week's vacation spent in Clearwater Beach, Fla. While there, they visited the Sunken Garden at St. Petersburg, Cypress Gardens at Orlando, and other points of interest, and went on a boat excursion to view the Biltmore Hotel and the Bel Air homes nearby.

RETURN FROM FLORIDA

District Judge and Mrs. Harold Stumbo returned last week to their home here after a two-week vacation in Florida.

HAS GUESTS

Mrs. May K. Roberts had as her guests, Sunday, Miss Frances Wildey and Mrs. Roberta Wendle, both of Moscow, Ohio, Mrs. Beulah Goodman, New Richmond, Ohio, and Mrs. Daisy Stambaugh, of Paintsville. On the following day she was joined by Mrs. Faye Wilson, of Inez, for a visit and lunch at the home of Mrs. Roberts' daughter, Mrs. William J. Baird, III, Mr. Baird and daughters, at their home in Pikeville.

HERE FROM LEXINGTON

KIWANIANNES TO MEET

Mrs. Carolyn Ford, president of the Prestonsburg Kiwanianes, announces that the regular, monthly luncheon-meeting of this group will be held at May Lodge, Thursday, October 22, at noon. The installation of officers for the coming year will take place at that time. All members are urged to be present.

Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Calhoun, of Lancer-Water Gap road, celebrated their 25th anniversary with a pig roast at their home, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun were married September 29, 1956 at Prestonsburg by Brother Paris Music.

Attending were their three children, Randell and Gregory Calhoun and Sharon Kay Doyle, all of Warsaw, Indiana, and a number of other relatives and friends who presented gifts.

Mr. Calhoun is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dode Calhoun, of Water Gap, and Mrs. Calhoun (Doris) is the daughter of Tom and Pearl Clark, of Endicott.

DISTRICT MEET SCHEDULED

Members of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club are reminded by the president, Mrs. Carolyn Traut, that the seventh district fall meeting and luncheon, hosted by the local club, will be held at May Lodge, Saturday, Oct. 24, with registration beginning at 9 a.m. Miss Ruby Akers, of the Drift Woman's Club, serves as governor, and Mrs. Maxine Bierman, of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club, as vice-governor, of this district. Members wishing to make reservations for the luncheon should call Mrs. John Leake (886-1343) or Mrs. D. L. Brown (886-6184).

YOUTH RALLY SLATED

The youth rally for Ashland district Methodist churches is scheduled to be held at the Louisa United Methodist Church, Sunday, Nov. 7. Young people throughout the area are urged to attend.

SEVENTH DIS. MEMBERS ATTEND GFWC-KFWC MEET

GFWC-KFWC Seventh district members attended the fall board meeting and conference held at the Executive West in Louisville recently. The theme, was "Confronting Our Changing World."

Guest speakers were Steven Beshear, State Attorney General, speaking on "Shoplifting Prevention" and the Honorable Bert T. Combs, former Governor and Judge of the United States Court of Appeals, whose topic was "The Future of Higher Education in Kentucky."

Members attending were: Miss Ruby Akers, GFWC-KFWC seventh district governor; Mrs. Clarence Fraum, president of Prestonsburg Woman's Club; Miss Debbie Slusher, seventh district junior director, and Miss Mary Oldfield, president, Paintsville Junior Woman's Club.

The 63rd annual meeting of the GFWC-KFWC Seventh District will be held at the May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, October 24. The president will be guest speaker and the theme will be "The Ladder to Success—Believe, Begin, Build." State, district officers, and chairmen will be on the agenda!

NAME OMITTED

The name of James Carroll, of Prestonsburg, father of Jennifer Lynn Carroll, princess at Prestonsburg Grade School's Octoberfest was omitted from an article on the event in last week's Times.

How To Stem The "Junk" Mail Tide

On any given day, you can go to your mailbox and probably find more "junk" mail. Many people wonder how the senders get their names and addresses, and even more importantly, how they can stop having this literature sent to them.

Phone books, mail order files and membership lists of various organizations are among the many sources of names and addresses used to create mailing lists. These lists are utilized by companies to send catalogs, product samples, sweepstakes tickets, magazine subscriptions, pornographic literature and fund-raising requests. This material, termed third-class mail by the U.S. Post Office, is direct mail advertising.

Attorney General Steven L. Beshear wants Kentuckians to know they can do something about it. He points out three specific methods you can use to reduce the amount of "junk" mail which ends up in your mailbox.

—Write each company that sends you "junk" mail and ask to be removed from its lists. Most companies consider this good public relations and will cooperate with your request.

—The Direct Mail-Marketing Association is responsible for 70 percent of consumer third-class mailing lists. If you would like to have your name deleted from their list, write Direct Mail-Marketing Association Inc., 6 East 43rd St., New York, N.Y. 10017. Also, if you would like to receive this advertising by mail, they will add your name to their mailing lists.

—If the material is pornographic in nature, contact your local post office. The U.S. Post Office has a list of consumers to whom companies must not send this kind of third-class literature. Every company mailing this material is required to purchase this list and use it. If they continue to send you this material, report it to the post office at once: the company will be subject to a fine.

"Remember, when receiving offers and advertising through the mail, check all the facts before signing a form or spending your money," says Beshear.

If you have a consumer problem, please write to the Office of The Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

The season's first major snowstorm blocked Columbus Day travelers in the northern Rockies and contributed to at least one death, while waist-deep floodwaters surged through the streets of some towns in soggy Texas.

25th Reunion for Martin High Class

Frazier's Restaurant at Martin was the place for tears and smiles September 5 when the 1956 class of Martin High School had its 25th class reunion. Pictured above are: First row—Florence Blackburn Burchett, Maysville; Delores Flanery Dingus, Martin; Peggy Sexton Murphy, Hazard; Anna Berniece Osborne, Fairview, Ohio; Cassie Justice, Martin; Annette Coleman Satterfield, Marietta, Ga.; Eula Mayo ReFalo, Frankfort.; June Dingus White, Columbus, Ohio; Shelby Hampton Spradlin, Martin.; Barbara Raliff Tackett, Allen; Shelby Calton Reed, Drift; second row—Bobby Calton, Melbourne, Fla.; Robert L. Clark, Pemberville, Ohio; Rodney Hutchinson, Martin.; Billy Griffith, Prestonsburg.; Paul B. Spencer, Allen.; Clyde Hampton, Columbus, Ohio; Jimmy Martin, Bedford, Ky.; Johnny Skeans, Martin.; Bobby Joe Click, West Manchester, Ohio; Virgil Halbert, Langley; David Crisp, Martin.; Bert Layne, Garrett; third row—Grover M. Collins, Lawrenceburg.; Stanley B. Coleman, Macedonia, Ohio and Walter Clyde Dingus, Zenia, Ohio. Absent when the picture was made were Mary M. Hughes Hayes, of Martin, and Vernon S. Salisbury, of Hunter.

Billy Griffith acted as master of ceremonies and the evening's program opened with prayer led by Grover Collins. The class was called to order by the class sponsor, Mrs. Libby Ree Flanery, and a minute of silent prayer was held for deceased classmates, Bobby Ward, James B. Hamilton, and Donald Ray Robinson, and for the most respected principal of the class, James W. Salisbury. Two other former teachers were also present, Denzil "Hoss" Halbert, "the greatest coach in the 58th region," and James O. Dingus, "the best math teacher in the county."

Other guests present were Mrs. Paul Spencer, Mrs. David Crisp, Thomas Osborne, Don Murphy, Mrs. Bert Layne, Mrs. Robert L. Clark, Bud White, Mrs. Clyde Hampton, Marvin Tackett, Charles Justice, Mrs. Bobby J. Click, Mrs. Bill Griffith, Mrs. Rodney Hutchinson, James L. Reed, Roger Burcham, Mrs. Virgil Halbert, Jackie Osborne, and Charles D. Dingus.

After the dinner, a dance was held in the Martin gym. Plans were made for the 1986 reunion.

Save A Species

As of last year, 725 animals and plants were in danger of extinction. Unlike the dinosaur, which died out by natural processes, if these species become extinct, it will be from human exploitation, habitat alteration or destruction, pollution, or the introduction of a new species into the environment.

But "endangered" means there is still time. There are things everyone can do:

- Find out what species in your area are endangered from the state fish and game or conservation department, and write to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Washington, D.C. 20240) for a list of protected species.
- Visit one of the 400 National Wildlife Refuges and help out in one of the special projects.
- Learn how to rehabilitate oiled birds from the regional office of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Hats Off To Houston

Born of rough-riding cowboys and nurtured by oil roughnecks, the city of Houston has not mellowed a lick since it was founded about the time Texas was winning independence from Mexico. Mellowed, no, but it has added a great deal of elegance and sophistication, and—befitting a Texas city—size.

Houston is now the fifth largest city in the United States (population 2.7 million) and possibly the fastest growing area in the country. At 532 square miles, Houston covers more land than Los Angeles, and thanks to open-zoning, it continues to grow as fast as it needs.

Houston has millionaires by the thousands, and an even larger number of beautiful millionaire daughters. It has the lowest unemployment rate of any major U.S. city, thanks to its booming energy, shipping, real estate and manufacturing concerns. And because of its unique mixture of old time cowboy and 21st Century commerce, it is fast becoming a tourist mecca, both for domestic and international travelers.

Whether it's culture, shopping, sports or food, Houston has something to offer just about everyone. The Houston Museum of Fine Arts, the Contemporary Arts Museum, the Rice Museum, the Burke Baker Planetarium, the Miller Outdoor Theater and the Garden Center confirm Houston as the intellectual center of the Southwest.

For the classically minded, the Houston Ballet now has a national reputation; the Houston Symphony is not far behind in stature: Leopold Stokowski and Andre Previn are former directors. The Houston Grand Opera is in its 25th year, and the Alley Theater provides consistently excellent entertainment for resident and visitor alike.

Houston's Astrodome was the first domed stadium in the world, and although others have followed, it's dubbed the eighth wonder of the world by the locals. It's home for college and pro football, soccer and the occasional extravaganza. Bobby Riggs lost to Billie Jean King at the Astrodome. The Houston Zoo is one of the best in the world. Astroworld claims to have the scariest roller coaster in the world. And if you are in Houston in February, you could get branded for the annual Livestock Show and Rodeo.

If touring means shopping, there isn't much that you can miss at the Galleria. The enclosed mall has 230 different shops on four different levels connected with two luxury hotels, eight restaurants, an ice skating rink, two swimming pools, and a few other goodies. In Houston, they like to do things big; they also like to do them right.

As for food, Texas vittles usually brings to mind thick steaks and hefty barbecues. You'll find plenty of both in Houston, but within the last 15 years, the city has developed a distinguished and international palate.

Maxim's is famous for its French fare, while Brennan's (of New Orleans fame) specializes in Creole cooking. Tony's Magic Circle heads for the Gulf of Mexico for its specialties, featuring seafood and 400 selections of wine that reach $9,500. Ninfa's is said to be the most popular Mexican restaurant in town and even Chinese food now has a place in Houston. China Garden claims 120 dishes on its menu.

The Houston visitor needs a source of transportation. Public transit is virtually non-existent. Everyone travels by car or limousine. Another drawback can be the weather. It can get unmercifully hot and humid in the summertime which seems to last from March to November. Luckily, the city is virtually air-conditioned, including the Astrodome.

- Never buy wildlife products. The commercial demand can endanger a species of animals.
- Before traveling overseas, write to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Publications unit for a copy of "Facts About Federal Wildlife Laws," which explains what cannot be imported.
- Report all violations of wildlife laws to the local game warden. For more information on saving endangered wildlife, some literature is available.

"Endangered Means There's Still Time," Publications Unit, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington, D.C. 20240.

McDowell Regional Hospital To Sponsor Bloodmobile

The McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital will sponsor a bloodmobile Friday, this week, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Library.

Groups who are helping with the drive are the First Baptist Church in McDowell, the Drift Woman's Club, area miners, the Left Beaver Rescue Squad and employees at the hospital. Anyone wishing to establish blood assurance for themselves and their families, or wishing to replace blood that has been used, is urged to attend. Contact Mrs. Mary Anderson or Don Damron at 377-2411 for an appointment or further information.

Observe Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Patton, of Hueysville, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, Sept. 19, at the Hueysville Church of Christ recreation room.

The anniversary party was given by their family, and a large number of friends and relatives joined them for the occasion. Many gifts were received. Mr. and Mrs. Patton were married at Estill, Ky., Sept. 15, 1931 and have resided at Hueysville for the past 44 years. They have two sons.

CHURCHWOMEN MEET

The Local Churchwomen met at the First United Methodist Church, Friday morning at 10:30, with the president, Mrs. Mary Lou Layne, presiding. Mrs. Fannie Rannels conducted the devotionals. The president reminded the members that Friday was World Food Day, and gave a brief discussion regarding the meaning of this day. It was announced that in lieu of individual dues by members, offerings on behalf of the churches represented should be made to the Local Churchwomen's group. Members agreed to pay the remaining $75 of the $100 previously set aside by this organization for use by the Drug and Alcohol Abuse program here. Mrs. Eleanor Robinson suggested that books such as "The Jesus Factor," and "The Cross and the Switchblade" be purchased for local libraries.

Mrs. Mary Lou Layne, who has served as president of this organization for the past two years, thanked the other officers and members for their cooperation during this time. Mrs. Julia Curtis, on behalf of the group, expressed appreciation to Mrs. Layne for her dedicated services.

The secretary, Mrs. Vera Ford, read copies of letters she had written State Representative Greg Stumbo and State Senator Bennie Ray Bailey, expressing the group's concern regarding alleged activities at a local place of entertainment, and also read their replies of possible support in the matter. The president read a letter, written by Mrs. Ford, which recently appeared in the Floyd County Times. In this letter, Mrs. Ford, on behalf of the organization, urged local citizens to become concerned regarding the providing of wholesome activities for the young people of this community.

Mrs. Layne, the out-going president, presented Mrs. Mabel Brown, chairman of the Nominating committee, who, in turn, introduced the following officers for 1981-83: President, Mrs. Eleanor Robinson; first vice-president, Mrs. Julia Curtis; second vice-president, Mrs. Judy Biggs; third vice-president, Mrs. Eva Collins; secretary, Mrs. Eileen Burchett; treasurer, Miss Christine Spradlin. The installation of officers was under the direction of Mrs. Layne.

The incoming president, Mrs. Robinson, responded to the request to talk with the group, by saying, "He will give those who ask him, His Holy Spirit," and told of some of the objectives of the Local Churchwomen for the next two years, with a plea to the members to help in the club's endeavors.

The next meeting will be held at St. James Episcopal Church, here, Friday morning, December 11, at 10:30.

Members of the host church, Mesdames Vera Ford, Fannie Rannels and Mabel Brown, served refreshments to their pastor, the Rev. Ted Nicholas, and members from these churches: Mrs. Mary Lou Layne, First Presbyterian; Mrs. Eleanor Robinson and Mrs. Jean Burke, Community United Methodist; Miss Christine Spradlin, First Christian; Mrs. Becky Short, St. James Episcopal; Mrs. Sandy Burchett, St. Theodore's Catholic; and Mrs. Lucy Regan, Mrs. Opal Dingus, Mrs. Docia Woods and Mrs. Julia Curtis, Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist.

Gospel Sing Scheduled

The Community United Methodist Church, Burke Ave., will feature "The Trinitarians," of Lenoir City, Tenn., the Harbormen, of Paintsville, and the Christian Edition, formerly the Trimbleaires, of Prestonsburg, at a gospel sing scheduled for October 24 at 7 p.m. and October 25, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. A fellowship dinner in the basement of the church will follow Sunday morning services.

Pastor Taylor Biggs invites everyone to attend.

Rev. Senters Assumes Salyersville Pastorate

The Rev. Lloyd Senters has resigned the pastorate of the Lancer Baptist Church to become pastor of the Licking River Baptist Church at Salyersville.

The Lancer church is being served by an interim pastor from the Clear Creek Baptist School at Pineville until a fulltime pastor is named.

The Rev. Senters has been pastor of the Lancer church the last four years after having served as pastor of churches in Clay and Pike counties and at London and Barbourville, Ky., and Aberdeen, Ohio. He is a graduate of the Clear Creek School. Both he and his wife are natives of Clay county.

D.A.R. CHAPTER MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held at the Emma Wells May Cultural Center, Tuesday evening, October 13, at 7 o'clock, with the regent, Mrs. Victor Hale, presiding. Mrs. Opal S. May conducted the ritualistic service. The Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag was led by Mrs. Hale. Mrs. Olga Preston gave the President-General's message, and the National Defense program was presented by Mrs. James B. Goble.

The regent discussed with the members the annual homecoming at Duncan Tavern, near Paris, Ky., to be held Friday and Saturday, October 30-31, and urged them to attend. Members are asked to contribute items, such as jellies, pickles and handwork, for the bazaar, and food for the luncheon to be held during that time. The chapter was happy to learn it had won first place in the Kentucky-sponsored contest on "The Conservation of Printing Funds," for the most economically printed yearbook. The chapter received from the National D.A.R. Society the D.A.R. Continental Congress Award certificate. This was presented to the regent at the district meeting recently in Morehead. When Mrs. Hale presented this certificate to the John Graham Chapter, she thanked all the members who had assisted with the yearbook, and gave special thanks to Mrs. Ray Brackett, Mrs. Brackett's daughter, Miss Laura Brackett, and Mrs. James B. Goble, for the time and effort they spent on this cause.

The librarian of the local chapter, Mrs. Frank Preston, read an announcement from the Librarian General, NSDAR, stating that Mrs. Virginia S. Goble had presented the Goble (Goble) family genealogy, by James Sargeant Goble, copyrighted March, 1981, to the NSDAR Library, in Washington, D.C., and also to the John Fox, Jr. Library, at Duncan Tavern, Paris, Kentucky. Mrs. Preston added that contributions had been made by John Graham Chapter to the two libraries.

The leader, Miss Alice Harris, presented the speaker for the evening, Mrs. Olga Auxier Preston, formerly of Allen, now of Ulysses, a member and past regent of the chapter, and who for the past three years was the sixth district press chairman. Mrs. Preston is a retired librarian of the Floyd county school system. Her topic was "A Tour of the Kentucky State Capital." Following the program, the hostess, Mrs. Ray Collins, served cake and apple cider to Miss Alice Harris and Mesdames Victor Hale, Edith James, Olga Preston, Frances Brackett, Opal S. May, Mae S. Kendrick, Virginia S. Goble, and Norma S. Stepp.

The next meeting of the chapter will be held Tuesday evening, November 10, at the same location, with Mrs. Leatha Kendrick as speaker. Mrs. Kendrick's topic will be "Family Life... Past and Present." The leader will be Mrs. J. G. Stepp, and the hostess will be Mrs. Carl Horn.

"Death and Dying" Symposium Cut Short by Real-Life Carnage

From left—David Jones, administrator of the state medical examiner's program; Clara Garrett, assistant professor of nursing at Prestonsburg Community College; Pat Tyson, of the McDowell Cancer network; Dr. David Wolfe, state forensic anthropologist; Dr. George Nicholls, chief state medical examiner; Dr. Richard Comfort, professor of sociology at Marshall University; Prof. Leo Weddle; conference coordinator, and asst. prof. Vicky Archer, both of Prestonsburg Community College.

A conference sponsored here Friday by the Prestonsburg Community College Office of Community Service and Continuing Education and coordinated by Leo Weddle, Professor of Psychology and Vicky Archer, Assistant Professor of Sociology, entitled "Death and Dying: An American Dilemma" was held Friday in Pike Auditorium. Participants included Dr. Richard Comfort, professor of sociology at Marshall University; James Carter, director of Carter Brothers Funeral Home; Dr. Mary Fox, Pike county health officer; Clara Garrett, assistant professor of nursing at Prestonsburg Community College; David Jones, administrator of the State Medical Examiner's Program; Dr. George Nicholls, state forensic pathologist, and David Wolfe, forensic anthropologist.

The conference participants were welcomed by Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of the college. Dr. Mary Fox gave the keynote address outlining various ethical problems and dilemmas. She also stressed the importance of the spiritual orientation of the dying person and his or her family, especially the comfort that can be drawn from belief in life after death.

Dr. Comfort spoke on "Counseling of the Terminally Ill and Emotional Support for the Bereaved Family." He emphasized the importance of the aid and support of friends, also discussed the emotional needs of the dying patient and how family members and hospital staff could best help the patient through his difficult time.

Mr. Carter brought his many years of experience, both as a coroner and as a funeral director, to bear on the topic of "The Role of the Funeral Director and Funeral Home in Today's Society." He discussed the history of funerals and embalming, and described many of the creative changes brought to funerals in this area.

Clara Garrett presented a discussion of "The Hospice Concept" for care of terminally ill patients: the advantages of this type of care, in terms of pain control, family involvement in patient care, and lowered costs were described. During the question-and-answer period, the audience indicated lively interest in starting a hospice program in this area.

Beginning the afternoon session, David Jones outlined "The Coroner-Medical Examiner Program in the State of Kentucky." With an accompanying slide show, he demonstrated some of the difficulties encountered when trying to determine the cause of death, the manner of death and the identity of the victim.

Dr. Nicholls followed with "The Role of the Forensic Pathologist in the Medical-Legal Death Investigation." He discussed the types of death which would call for bringing in the coroner, the importance of the autopsy in any suspicious death or in any case in which death was caused by trauma.

Dr. Wolfe ended the afternoon with "The Role of the Forensic Anthropologist in the Medical-Legal Death Investigation." His work is with bodies which have decomposed past recognition. He stressed the importance of leaving the scene undisturbed when such a body is discovered.

The conference came to an early close when Dr. Nicholls, Dr. Wolfe and Mr. Jones were called away to help in the investigation of the shooting deaths at Allen.

Actress Honored

Actress Lillian Gish will be the guest of honor at a luncheon Friday, Oct. 23, at Cave Hill, the Lexington residence of Gov. and Mrs. John Y. Brown Jr. The luncheon, hosted by John Y. Brown Sr., will be sponsored by the Kentucky Film Foundation.

She will be in Lexington Oct. 23, for the 7 p.m. grand opening of the newly remodeled Kentucky Theater. The Theater will be showing the 1919 D.W. Griffith film "Broken Blossoms," which features Miss Gish. A reception will follow.

Proposition 13 is working fine in California, the October Reader's Digest declares. State and local government jobs were pared by 103,000—largely through attrition—and there were 552,000 new private-sector jobs to pick up the slack.

Health Line

Cigarettes, once a symbol of women's emancipation, are now a leading cause of women's death.

According to a 400-page report of the Surgeon General, the number of women who die from lung cancer has tripled since the 1960s. The disease now claims the lives of 25,000 women every year.

Surgeon General Julius Richmond says lung cancer among women has reached epidemic proportions, and he predicts that lung cancer will surpass breast cancer as the gravest cancer threat to women within three years.

The report dispels a myth that women are more immune than men to the risks of cigarette smoking. Since women generally did not take up smoking until World War II, much later than most men, the harmful effects of smoking did not appear until recently.

Pregnant women who smoke apparently encounter more problems with childbirth. These women, the report said, run a greater risk than non-smoking women of spontaneous abortion. Smokers' children tend to weigh less. Their child's intellectual growth and physical development may be affected as well.

The publicity stressing the dangers of cigarette smoking is having an affect. Tar and nicotine consumption has been cut 80 percent since the first health warnings about cigarette smoking hazards were made public.

The tobacco industry is reacting to the public's concern over the dangers of smoking. The number of cigarette brands with low tar and nicotine levels has soared. Unheard of several years ago, low-tar brands now number 103.

But some researchers claim switching to low-tar cigarettes may not decrease the danger of cigarette smoking. In fact, they say, low-tar cigarettes may increase the chance of disease.

Dr. Stanley Schachter, professor of social psychology at Columbia University, claims smokers who change to low-tar cigarettes smoke more cigarettes and puff harder to maintain nicotine levels in their blood system. This, in turn, may raise the smoker's intake of carbon monoxide and other chemicals which are linked with heart and lung disease.

Despite such warnings, some 60 million Americans continue to smoke, and some scientists are taking a closer look at the smoking habit itself. Smoking behavior is puzzling. For example, there are addicted smokers who never inhale and who have no nicotine in their blood. There are also orthodox Jews who chainsmoke during the week, but quit without suffering on Saturdays when their religion prohibits cigarettes.

Nor does quitting smoking mean the end of the habit. Recidivism is widespread.

One promising area of research is the brain. Dr. Avram Goldstein, a California researcher, is trying to locate the site in the brain that controls cigarette addiction.

"We need to find the specific places that produce the message, 'Good, good, do it again,'" he said. "If we knew about those, we might find a way to block them."

Meanwhile, non-smokers are becoming more militant. Non-smokers have used tactics like pocket fans and garlic breath to let smokers know how they feel. More than 20 states have passed anti-smoking laws in the last few years.

The courts are standing behind the rights of non-smokers. A doctor, who sprayed the contents of an aerosol can on a cigarette a receptionist was smoking, was exonerated of assault and disorderly conduct charges. The jury found he had acted in self-defense.

Chinese Expert Heads Clinic Here

Chinese expert, (left) watches players at table tennis clinic here. On October 6, The Prestonsburg Community College's Tennis and Table Tennis Club and the Big Sandy Table Tennis Club hosted a table tennis clinic in the Martin Student Center, the night of Oct. 6. Instructor for the clinic was Ai Ligu, from China, and 25 area players attended. "Mr. Ai" won world acclaim in table tennis as a player on the 1961 world championship Chinese team. Recently, he has coached the Chinese team back into being World Champions in almost every area of competition. He is now a guest in this country through the efforts of two Chicago-based table tennis equipment companies, is serving as a consultant to these companies, the U.S. Table Tennis Association and several of the top U.S. players. Mr. Ai is also conducting clinics for players and coaches across the country.

The Big Sandy Table Tennis Club is open to anyone in the area and meets each Tuesday night from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the Martin Student Center at PCC. For more information on the club, call Ken Fuller at 886-3863, Extension 241.

Black Cats Win Sixth in Row; Trojans Winners over Mullins

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON
The Prestonsburg Blackcats won their sixth straight game last Friday night, defeating Knott County Central, 33 to 0; Wheelwright downed Mullins, 52-44, while Betsy Layne was losing to Johns Creek, 56-22, Thursday night.

Prestonsburg scored quick in the first quarter at Knott Central. Steve Rice scored on a one-yard rush and Todd Nairn passed to Dennis Flanagan on a 47-yard pass play for a second marker. Rice has now scored 14 touchdowns for a total of 84 points.

In the second quarter Nairn connected on another touchdown pass to Brad Hughes. Hughes caught six passes from Nairn during the game for a total of 92 yards. At halftime the Cats led, 26-0. Neither team scored in the third quarter. In the final period Chris Hooker scored on a 2-yard run to give him his second touchdown of the season. Robert Midgette led the Blackcats in rushing with 129 yards on 13 carries. Steve Rice had 58 yards on eight. Coach Haywood substituted freely throughout the game. The Blackcat defense was extremely sharp. B.J. Sturgill kicked four extra points for the night and now has a total of 27 points for the season.

The Betsy Layne Bobcats, improving with each game, battled the Johns Creek Bearcats Thursday night at Johns Creek and were defeated, 56 to 22. Senior halfback Tom Maynard scored five touchdowns and Greg Howard had two. Coach John Clark's Bobcats are now 1 and 5. James Hall scored two touchdowns, one on a 95-yard return and the other on a 13-yard dash. Steve Case scored on a 48-yard run in the fourth quarter to close out the scoring for both teams. Elmer Hamilton and Steve Case each had a 2-point conversions. The Betsy Layne defense in the second half held Johns Creek to one touchdown, outscoring the Creekers, 8 to 6, in that part of the contest.

Prestonsburg has a big game coming up this week when the Cats travel to Pikeville to meet the Panthers, a team which last week downed Paintsville, 27-24.

Floyd Class A All-Stars Win

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON
The fourth annual Floyd county elementary all-star football game was won by Class A All-Stars, 18 to 16. The All-Stars were led by Shag Branham, D.D. Nunnery and quarterback John Goble, and included players from Clark, Martin and Prestonsburg schools. The Class B All-Stars were led by Dave Hall, Phillip Lewis and quarterback Herbie LeMaster. Team members were from Osborne, John M. Stumbo and Betsy Layne.

Both teams went scoreless in the first quarter. In the second quarter several fine runs by B.D. Nunnery and Shag Branham set up the first touchdown and Branham, of Prestonsburg, scored on a six-yard run. The run for extra points failed. With five minutes remaining in the first half, David Hall of Osborne scored on a 68-yard run. The run for the two-point conversion was good and the Class B All Stars led, 8 to 6. Just before halftime, several fine runs by Nunnery, Jeff Patrick and Branham set up the second Class A touchdown with Nunnery scooping over for the touchdown. Again the run was short and Class A led, 12 to 8 at the end of the half.

In the second half again the running of David Hall, Jackie Hall, and Phillip Lewis moved the ball deep into Class A territory and Phillip Lewis scored the touchdown. David Hall ran for the two-point conversion and Class B was leading, 16 to 12. In the fourth quarter Branham ripped off a 58-yard run but a penalty voided the fine run; however, the A All Stars again moved the ball and Branham scored to put Class A out in front, 18 to 16. But in the closing minute the Class B Stars started their move. David Hall had two fine runs, but a pass interception by Branham halted the Class B All-Stars drive. After that, quarterback John Goble ran out the clock and the fourth annual All Star game was won by Class A. In the second half the Class A All-Stars were led on defense by Bryan Griffith who had several key tackles.

Pre-Game Dinner To Help Student Exchange Program

Prestonsburg High School football fans are invited to a gourmet cuisine international dinner prior to the Prestonsburg-Pikeville football game for the benefit of the AFS student exchange program that has brought high school students from Norway, Germany, Australia and other patron to Pikeville High School for six months to a year.

The dinner will be at 5:30 p.m. Friday, October 23, in the Pikeville High School dining area. Favorite recipes from Mexico, Italy, the Philippines, Greece, Germany, Sri Lanka, India, Australia, Spain and other countries will be available for sampling. The food will be sold at 50 cents per serving. For people buying tickets in advance the cost is $5 for 12 servings.

The funds raised will go toward the $975 annual dues the AFS Club of Pikeville must raise in order to participate in this international student exchange program. All the food and beverages are donated by area residents who specialize in cooking these international recipes and who support the AFS student exchange program.

Attorneys Sued For Malpractice

Four Lexington lawyers have been sued in federal court for $5 million in a dispute involving a 1977 land purchase in eastern Kentucky.

Two corporations, the Hanover Group of Roslyn, N.Y., and the St. Clair Energy Corp. of Detroit, said in a suit filed Friday that the attorneys were negligent in examining records of 46,000 acres in seven eastern Kentucky counties.

Named as defendants in the legal-malpractice suit were Jerry Anderson, John W. Oakley, Theodore Berry and Charles P. Gore III, all of whom were law partners in 1977.

The suit charges that Anderson made false statements about "certain acreage and title deficiencies" and that the corporations relied on them in buying the land and mineral rights.

Anderson said yesterday that he was not negligent and had not made any false statements.

"There was no misrepresentation on my part," Anderson said. "I think they'll be thrown out of court."
The lawyers were hired by Titus Frederick of West Liberty and his companies, the suit says, to conduct a legal examination of the land. The suit claims that the two corporations paid $2 million for the land and mineral rights and have spent another $3 million "in attempting to mine and operate" the property.

Attend Quarterly Board Meet

(BY JOHN SPARKS)

During the past week club leaders of the Community Development Clubs attended the quarterly board meeting of N.E.K.R.C.D.A. at Hitchens.

James "Dee" Caudill of Auxier gave a brief presentation on the history of the Auxier Development Club and their achievements this year to the 12 county members of N.E.K.R.C.D.A.

Special guests were the 19 foreign diplomats who were visiting Community Development Clubs in the area to pick up techniques for working on community projects in their own countries. In addition to the diplomats' talks about their countries, a special new category was added this year. This new category, Service Organization, will be in addition to the Farm, Rural Non-Farm and Village categories that have been successful for 19 years.

This new category will be open to any service organizations (civic clubs) in the 12 county area that are involved in community service activities.

Judging procedures and requirements would be the same as those currently existing for Community Development Clubs.

Organization will be in incorporated places with a population under 2,500, and all unincorporated places would be eligible. Those civic clubs who would like more information or would like to enter, call the County Extension Office, 886-2668 or Mac Collier, Area Extension Specialist, Ashland, 325-7646.

I would like to thank the community clubs of Auxier, David and Weeksbury for the enthusiasm and community spirit they showed the foreign leaders who visited their clubs. These leaders were very impressed with the communities they visited for the way they were working together on community problems. They were also very impressed with the hospitality and the excellent food that was provided by each club, as they listened to each development club's story of its community.

Citizens of Martin!

MAYOR HALL WANTS TO ABOLISH THE WATER SYSTEM. WHY?

Facts Concerning the Water and Sewage System in Martin:

1. Is the water and water service any better now under present water commissioners? You be the judge!
2. The sewage system is now in operation and Mr. Dave Blair, Eastern District Supervisor of Sewage Operations for the Commonwealth of Kentucky says, "Improvements in the sewage plant and system since the lift stations became operational are amazing."
3. The Martin water and sewage systems are in complete compliance with ALL state and federal water and sewage regulations.
4. The Martin water and sewage systems are under the supervision of a state-approved operator.
5. Congressman Carl Perkins visited our water and sewage plants on 10/17/81, and states that he was very much impressed with our operations, considering the facilities we have to work with.
6. The Martin Water Commission in absolutely opposed to the purchase of water from other sources on a permanent basis as Mayor Hall has proposed. This would result in your water bill being doubled.
7. The commission will continue to make efforts to improve the water and sewage systems as long as we continue to serve as your commission.
8. Based on a Kentucky Court of Appeals ruling, the Martin Water Commission is legal in its setup and operation and cannot be "abolished" as Mayor Hall would lead you to believe, due to purely political reasons.

NO FRILLS, NO GIMMICKS, TAX FREE INCOME MAKES GOOD FINANCIAL SENSE

"All Savers Certificates", offering Tax-Free income, are available as of October 1st, 1981 through December 31st, 1982. These certificates have a one year maturity and provide a once-in-a-life-time maximum tax exemption on interest earned up to $1,000 for individuals and $2,000 for married persons filing a joint return.

The interest rate paid on your "All Savers Certificate" is equal to 70% of the average yield on the most recent auction of one-year U.S. Treasury Bills. Important! Unlike Cash Management funds, the interest rate on your "All Savers Certificate" is fixed for a one year term... and there is no risk because your investment is insured to $1000,000 by the FDIC (Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation).

You can participate in The Bank Josephine's "All Savers Certificate" program for a minimum deposit of $500. However, we strongly suggest you consult with a Bank Josephine advisor to help to determine the benefits of these Tax-Free certificates as it applies to your specific financial position.

Important! "All Savers Certificates" are subject to penalty for early withdrawal just like regular time certificates of deposit.* In addition, any interest earned prior to early withdrawal will be considered taxable income by Federal law.

The Bank Josephine offers no frills, and no gimmicks. We're simply offering a chance, for many of us, to "catch up a little" on inflation.

*You have contracted to keep your funds on deposit for the stated maturity: in the event of early withdrawal, Federal Regulations require that you shall forfeit three months interest on the amount withdrawn at the nominal rate being paid on the certificate.

Money Market Certificate Conversion to "ALL SAVERS"

If you currently hold a Bank Josephine Money Market Certificate, you can convert it to a Bank Josephine "ALL SAVERS" with no penalty for early withdrawal. Converting to an "ALL SAVERS" Tax Free certificate could provide improved after tax earnings. Ask your Bank Josephine advisor for a conversion evaluation.

Rufus Hamilton

Rufus Hamilton, 42, of Ligon, died Friday in Allen at the Mountain Auto Parts Store. Born October 26, 1938 at Teaberry, he was a son of the late E. L. and Lacy Hamilton, and was a disabled miner, formerly employed by the Bailey Coal Company.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Carmalene Pennington Hamilton; three brothers, Henry Hamilton, of Teaberry, David Hamilton, of Grethel, and Millis Hamilton, of Beaver; two sisters, Mrs. Beatrice Reynolds, of Hi Hat, and Mrs. Barbara Hamilton, of Romulus, Michigan.

Services were conducted Monday at 11 a.m. at the Hall Funeral Home chapel by Revs. Hershell Hamilton and Leonard Kiser. Burial was made in the Buckingham cemetery.

Pallbearers were Smitty Joe Mitchell, Clarence Mullins, Ralph Howell, Crit Mitchell, Floyd Johnson and Henry Bailey.

★ Cancer Hopeline

Q. Our eight-year-old son has cancer. We are worried about our usually mature other son, age 12, who has begun to act up and sometimes is babyish. Do you have any suggestions?

A. Often the young brother or sister of a cancer patient feels left out whether he really is or not: the sick one is getting all the attention. The well child may really understand why the parents need to spend more time with the sick child, and he still feels jealous. He may feel guilty for the jealousy and sometimes even for being healthy. Such confused feelings can lead to the behavior patterns described.

The first few weeks are the most difficult for everyone. Maintaining as normal a routine as possible will help everyone adjust. Do strive to be flexible, however, for blow-ups over little things can occur. Talking out such events and identifying them for what they are—the reaction to worry and stress—can minimize their impact.

Whenever possible, plan to spend extra time with your well child. If he can count on these special times alone with one or both parents, he will be able to cope much better with the times when he must take a backseat to his sick brother. These are also good times for the expression of feelings.

It is important that you talk together as a family about how each of you feels. If the sharing of feelings is not a usual thing in your family, this can be hard at the beginning, and do try.

You as parents could start by saying that one's feelings are good or bad: they just are. You might continue that since cancer invaded your lives, you have had confusing feelings. You love your children very much and often are frustrated because you can't be with both of them all the time. You could add that you need to continue working, too, and even though it's necessary, you'd rather be together as a family. Such honesty may help the others express their feelings so you can be in touch with the emotions of both your children.

"When Your Brother or Sister Has Cancer" is a booklet written especially for boys and girls from grade school age to early adolescence. It can be a help to parents, too, and it's available free from the Cancer Hopeline. Call 1-800-432-9321 from 9-9 Monday through Thursday or 9-5 Friday. You also may write us for a copy at 915 South Limestone Street, Lexington 40536.

Happy Birthday

★ CONSUMER ALERT ★

Moving Co. Settles

Attorney General Steve Beshear and North American Van Lines have entered into an agreed order to settle the state's case concerning alleged misrepresentations by North American Van Lines in its advertising and recruitment for truck drivers.

"The agreed order involves a negotiated settlement of the case in which the moving company agrees to pay $90,000 to the commonwealth of Kentucky," said Beshear. "The state will distribute the money to certain Kentucky citizens who are former drivers for the company. The former drivers who are eligible for the distribution are alleged victims of the misrepresentations who have participated in the attorney general's prosecution of the lawsuit."

The attorney general's consumer protection division filed the suit against North American Van Lines in 1977. The suit alleged that in its advertising for and recruitment of owner-operators (truck drivers), the company had made misrepresentations as to the amount of income and number of loads to haul that could be expected. The consumer protection division received complaints from former owner-operators indicating that, despite the representation by the company's recruiters, they did not receive as many load assignments as they needed and their income was so low they had to quit as owner-operators for the moving company.

The attorney general sought refunds for the former owner-operators of the out-of-pocket losses resulting from such expenses as tractor payments, training fees and on-the-road expenses. The $90,000 obtained in the settlement is to be used for reimbursing the owner-operators for their losses.

The case was scheduled for trial in 1978, but at that time Jefferson Circuit Court Judge George Ryan gave the moving company a summary judgment, finding that the attorney general did not have authority to bring this

1981 Tax Bills Mailed From Sheriff's Office

Some 30,000 tax bills were being mailed this week by Sheriff Henry C. Hale's office to owners of Floyd county property.

Taxpayers have until Nov. 19 to pay their taxes and benefit from the 2 percent discount, although the tax bills give the date as Nov. 1. The extended time, Lovel Hall, property valuation administrator, said, results from a provision of law which allows the payment with discount of a tax bill 30 days after its mailing.

Mr. Hall also pointed out that, because of a Department of Revenue regulation, separate bills are being mailed on each motor vehicle; for example, the owner of four automobiles and a house will receive five tax bills, one for each piece of property.

Taxpayers who do not receive their bills by Nov. 1 should call 886-8159, Hall said. When paying taxes by mail, the taxpayer should include self-addressed stamped envelop for the return of receipt.

type of action. The circuit court ruled that, although the attorney general may prosecute "unfair, false, misleading or deceptive" trade practices involving consumer transactions, he may not prosecute misleading "business opportunities."

On appeal, the circuit court's ruling was reversed, as the Court of Appeals found the attorney general does have authority to prosecute any misleading trade practice, including alleged misrepresentations made in the sale of business opportunities.

Trial was once again scheduled, this time to begin in late October of this year. However, because of the settlement, the trial will not be held.

In agreed order, North American Van Lines agrees not to misrepresent to any prospective owner-operator any projected income or profit which he or she might be expected to earn as an owner-operator for the company. In addition, the company permanently agrees not to misrepresent the number or availability of load assignments for owner-operators or the nature, terms or conditions of the warranty offered on used tractors sold by the company.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Phoebe Jane Tackett wishes to express appreciation to all who sent food and flowers during this time of sorrow. Thanks to the Mare Creek Church of Christ, to the ministers for their comforting words and to the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

"Dogwood," Watercolor by Gary Akers

AQUEOUS '81, the fourth national open watercolor show sponsored by the Kentucky Watercolor Society, had its premiere Saturday at the Old State Capitol Museum, Frankfort, with a gala reception jointly sponsored by KWS and the Kentucky Historical Society. The show will run through November 19. It features 120 paintings chosen by juror Irving Shapiro, of Chicago from more than 600 submitted.

Gary Akers, of Union, Ky., formerly of Floyd county, who is regional director of the Kentucky Watercolor Society, had two paintings in the exhibition, "Dogwood" and "Reflections." He and his wife, Lynn, attended the premier showing and awards dinner.

What You Don't Know Can Hurt You!

Playing outdoors?

Don't fly kites and model airplanes near overhead lines.

Use string — not metal wire or metallic string — for your kites.

Never climb utility poles.

If your kite or airplane tangles in an overhead line, don't pull on the string or try to retrieve it. Either forget it, or call our nearest office.

Stay out of any trees that have overhead lines running through or near them.

Working around the house or yard?

Keep ladders or long-handled tools well away from overhead lines.

Don't try to use electric tools outside if it's rainy or damp.

Make sure your outdoor power tools are properly grounded and that their wiring is in good condition.

Protect your outdoor outlets and wiring from moisture.

Don't dig near buried electric lines.

THE PRINCESS AND THE CABBIE

Valerie Bertinelli stars with Robert Desiderio (pictured) in "The Princess and the Cabbie," a poignant new motion picture-for-television depicting the strong relationship that develops between an insecure young woman who suffers from dyslexia and a feisty, self-taught cabbie who helps to educate her. The drama will be broadcast on "The CBS Tuesday Night Movies," TUESDAY, OCTOBER 27.

Miss Bertinelli portrays Joanna James, a 20-year-old who suffers from dyslexia, a disorder which impairs her ability to read and write. Her wealthy, over-protective father, Edward (Peter Donat), leads her to believe that she is totally incapable of learning. He hides her away from society and smothers her with care.

AMERICAN BANDSTAND

The longest continuous running series in the history of ABC-TV will celebrate another milestone when a star-studded, nostalgic "American Bandstand's 30th Anniversary Special," hosted by Dick Clark, airs as a three-hour, prime time event on ABC-TV, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 30.

A "Who's Who" of entertainment stars of the past 30 years—more than 100 in all—will perform on the special, either "live on tape" or via film clips; the latter either recent or vintage.

Included among those appearing "live" will be The Beach Boys, Kim Carnes, Connie Francis, Frankie Laine, Barry Manilow, The Oak Ridge Boys, Rod Stewart and Stevie Wonder. In addition, Bill Medley and Bobby Hatfield will reunite to perform on this evening only as The Righteous Brothers.

Halloween originated, in part, from a Druid festival to honor the sun god in thanksgiving for the fall harvest. When these people became Christians, the early church fathers of Britain gave the festival a new association—to commemorate all saints.

Get A Sound Value

The simple pleasure of music may no longer seem so simple when you go out looking for a new stereo. Salesmen buffet you with facts and figures that would baffle an electrician while you're still trying to figure out the difference between a woofer and a tweeter. Stereo magazines, directed towards a core audience of enthusiasts, are often confusing to the lay music lover. Salesmen, magazines, ads, brochures, numbers and specifications get piled higher and higher without ever really answering the basic questions: What exactly do you need, and how much is it going to cost?

First, the bad news: any stereo system worth having will probably run you at least $300. The good news is there's not much reason to spend more than that, and you don't have to be a disc jockey's son to tell a good stereo from a bad one. Nowadays, you don't have to hunt from store to store to find the perfect speakers to go with the perfect transistor to complement the ultimate turntable.

Many good systems by name manufacturers—Sony, Pioneer, Panasonic—now come in single compact units. These compacts are cheaper than sprawling component systems. They are convenient and capable of delighting all but the hardcore audiophile. Here's how to find a good compact stereo:

• reading of 20 kHz. The lower the Hz number and the higher the kHz, the more sound you'll be able to hear.

• The harmonic distortion. This tells you what percentage of the sound will lose fidelity when the set is played at high volume. This number should never exceed three percent. When the neighbors or downstairs tenants complain about the loudness of your stereo, it's really the harmonic distortion that's bothering them. Distortion makes the walls buzz and the floors thump.

• Don't be lured into buying unneeded frills and accessories. These help the salesman's commission more than anything else. After you've checked the manufacturer's specifications, go through the system element by element, to make sure it meets your specifications.

• Receivers are the heart of your system. You don't need one with as many knobs and tuners on it as the Batmobile, but you will require the basic controls: volume, balance, treble and bass. Make sure that the tuner for the AM-FM radio is easy to read.

• Turntables on less expensive sets almost always come from BSR, a reliable English company. You do have a choice of cartridges though: either magnetic or ceramic. Make sure that you get a magnetic cartridge, since they reproduce sound better and wear down records.

• Look for the specifications. These are the vital statistics of stereos, and the numbers that often seem so bewildering and misleading to many consumers. To clear up the confusion, the Federal Trade Commission requires a stereo manufacturer to state his product's specifications clearly and simply if they are going to be stated at all. Faced with a call for this sort of honesty, many manufacturers preferred not to rate their sets at all. Don't be fooled by any claims that aren't backed by specifications; reliable manufacturers give the numbers for even their cheapest sets.

These are the numbers to look for:

• The number of watts per channel. This tells you the raw power of the system.

• The band width. This tells you how much of the audible spectrum the stereo can actually reproduce, from a bottom low of 20 Hz to a top less quickly. You can't tell one cartridge from the other simply by looking, though, so you'll have to consult the specifications.

• Speakers are what you hear. If you have any extra money to spend, use it for them. The thing to look for is good, solid construction. If a speaker box has an open back, or a flimsy cardboard one, it's junk. Size doesn't really matter—to test a speaker, turn it up to the highest volume you'd ever think of playing it at. If the sound is still sharp and clear, buy it.

• Test speakers with one of your own records. Listening to the radio isn't enough, since the sound may vary from store to store. Turn the treble and bass to center, make certain the salesman doesn't plug in more or better speakers, and then test how it sounds at various volumes. Finally, go by your ears. Stereos are judged by their sound.

Legislative Summary

More Liquor Licenses

A regulation allowing more package and by-the-drink liquor licenses was reluctantly approved by the Administrative Regulations Review Subcommittee.

Members of the subcommittee said they were not particularly in favor of the regulation, but the Alcoholic Beverage Control was within its statutory authority in making the changes. The subcommittee reviews proposed administrative regulations only to determine if they conform to an agency's statutory authority or with legislative intent.

The regulation reduces the required number of county residents per package license to 2,300. It also eliminates the quota requirement for restaurants seating 100 or more people and earning 60 percent or more of their total revenue from the sale of food.

Suggestions Heard

Coroners, medical examiners from Louisville, Tennessee and North Carolina, and Justice Department officials told the Interim Joint Committee on Counties and Special Districts that Kentucky's coroner system needs revision. An "ideal system," they said, would be to replace them with physician-medical examiners.

However, the participants agreed that Kentucky may not be ready for that.

The legislators appeared receptive to a state coroners association proposal to require coroners to order autopsies under certain conditions.

The Special Advisory Commission of Senior Citizens will meet Nov. 5 and 6 at the Capitol Annex in Frankfort. The commission will approve recommendations for the 1982 General Assembly.

The commission is composed of 100 senior citizens from across the state. It was established by the Legislative Research Commission in 1977. Its purpose is to provide a forum through which the knowledge and experiences of senior citizens may be utilized in dealing with problems affecting senior citizens and all Kentuckians.

The commission has four subcommittees: health and human services, consumer affairs, transportation and taxation.

The budget review subcommittee on human resources of the Interim Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue will meet Thursday, Oct. 22, 10 a.m., in Room 109 of the Capitol Annex to hear plans for the use of six federal block grants.

The Department for Human Resources decided to accept six block grants after the state lost about $14 million in the human services area due to the federal distribution of funds.

Persons wishing to testify at the hearing should contact Vinson Straub, Jim Daniels or Diana McClure, LRC, Capitol Building, Frankfort, Ky. 40601; 502/564-8100.

Pre-Filed Bill Correction

Please note that the summary for BR 244 (Legislative Summary 10/5/81) was incorrectly reported (the summary that appeared actually was for BR 242). The correct measure appears below.

BR 244—Rep. Virgil Pearman, D-Radcliff (9/25/81)

Amend KRS 211.180 to authorize the department for human resources to regulate public and semi-public water supplies, water purification and treatment plants, water distribution systems, operator certification and swimming pools; amend KRS 224.032 to delete such authority from the department for natural resources and environmental protection; amend various sections of KRS Chapter 223 to comply; create a new section of KRS Chapter 211 to provide for necessary transfer of personnel, funds, equipment and regulations.

Draft Congressional Redistricting Plan Unveiled

The Legislature's first "on paper" attempt to redraw Congressional districts in Kentucky was unveiled to the subcommittee on redistricting.

The tentative plan was drafted without input from the congressmen, who did not respond to an inquiry by the panel. The Washington, D.C. lawmakers did ask that the legislators delay any final decisions as long as possible. But subcommittee co-chairman Lloyd Clapp, D-Wingo, said that the districts should be redrawn by the General Assembly as soon as possible—the Legislature convenes Jan. 5, 1982—so that potential challengers will know where they stand.

The lines of the 4th District are the only ones significantly changed by the draft plan. Currently divided between the 4th and 6th districts, Kenton and Campbell would be combined with Bracken, Grant, Mason and Pendleton counties to make up a new 4th District.

Jefferson County would be split into two districts because of its population. The plan keeps the seven districts within 1 percent of the ideal size of 523,062 people.

Members of the subcommittee stressed that the plan is only a first proposal and that public ideas and the thoughts of the congressmen will be incorporated in any revision of the plan.

Thinks Many More Energy-Conscious Than They Reveal

Many Americans may be as reluctant to express positive attitudes toward energy conservation as they are to talk about their religious beliefs.

And this, says a researcher at the Pennsylvania State University, may mean that Americans are more concerned about energy conservation than is commonly thought.

"Just as most Americans do not air their religious beliefs in public, it appears many may also be keeping their desire to conserve energy to themselves," says Robert L. Shrigley, professor of education.

Dr. Shrigley bases his observation on findings included in a doctoral dissertation by Thomas Koballa, now an assistant professor of education at Pikeville College.

Under Dr. Shrigley's supervision, Dr. Koballa last winter developed an "Energy Conservation Attitude Scale," seeking responses to some 60 statements about energy conservation. The results are included in his August, 1981, dissertation, which deals with persuasive communication and attitude change.

Dr. Koballa found that although a group of 93 juniors and senior education majors had highly positive attitudes toward energy conservation, many were reluctant to share their attitudes with their peers.

"For example," Dr. Shrigley notes, "99 percent of the students agreed with the statement, 'When I see a dripping hot water faucet, I turn the handle in an effort to stop the water loss,' but only 45 percent agreed with the statement, 'I encourage others to model my conservation practices.'"

Dr. Shrigley, who is refining and condensing the attitude scale, observes that "making personal attitudes public is a very big step."

Based on the survey results, he believes, many of the future teachers quietly practice energy conservation while refraining from imposing their views on their friends.

"I'm very pleased that this group of future teachers has such positive attitudes toward energy conservation—I'm sure their personal convictions will set positive examples in the classroom, even if they do not discuss them with their peers."

Most of the future teachers, Dr. Shrigley says, put more faith in taking personal action to save energy than in social legislation, with 84 percent agreeing to sleep in a bedroom with a temperature below 72 degrees Fahrenheit and only 27 percent agreeing that people who drive large automobiles should pay a higher license fee.

The most popular social legislation, he notes, was that drivers should conserve energy by obeying posted speed limits, with 80 percent of the students agreeing.

"The survey results clearly show that conserving energy is very important to the students, but in a very personal way," Dr. Shrigley says.

He observes that 96 percent of the students agreed with the statement, "Conserving energy is important to me"; 94 percent with, "There is a real need for Americans to conserve energy"; and 89 percent with, "Conserving energy should be important to everyone."

While only 30 percent of the students agreed that "refusing to save energy is anti-American," 82 percent agreed that "the nation's economic survival depends on our willingness to conserve energy," and 79 percent agreed that "the strength of America as a world leader depends on our ability to use energy wisely."

"It's also significant," Dr. Shrigley says, "that 84 percent of the students dismissed the notion that 'future energy discoveries will make energy conservation unnecessary,' indicating that they think the energy problem is going to be one of a long-term nature."

Finally, Dr. Shrigley notes that most of the students were not concerned about personal gain through energy conservation: only 41 percent said they were motivated to conserve energy in order to save money.

You and Your Car

A 35 mile per hour crash in a 1979 model car is potentially fatal 50 percent of the time.

That conclusion was drawn from the interim report of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) on government sponsored crash tests. While the findings point to an obvious need for safety improvements, Secretary of Transportation Neil Goldschmidt termed some of the results encouraging and maintained that they provided "a clear indication that it is possible to build safer small cars."

The mini and subcompact models in fact performed as well as the standard and full size units tested. While the size of the vehicle cannot predict its crashworthiness, there is a wide disparity between different models. The most pronounced disparity was between American made and foreign produced small cars.

All three imports inspected—the Datsun 210, Volkswagen Rabbit and Toyota Celica—failed the occupant protection test; a 35 mph crash in the 1979 version of any of these cars could be fatal. The results replicate a Highway Loss Data Institute finding for 1978 model cars which showed the highest rate of injury claims for small imported vehicles.

The NHTSA tests were designed to evaluate the crashworthiness of the autos in four areas: passenger safety, windshield retention, the ability of the windshield to prevent intrusion and the capacity of the fuel system to prevent leakage upon impact.

The test cars were crashed into a solid barrier at the 35 mph study speed. They were also struck from the rear by a 4,000 pound object. Occupant safety data were generated from meters affixed to the head, chest and thighs of two adult sized dummies strapped into the front seats with standard safety belts. A child sized dummy sat in the rear seat.

All of the cars tested demonstrated adequate windshield intrusion protection and only the Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme, Pontiac Grand Prix and Chevrolet Chevette failed to retain their windshields.

The fuel systems were all capable of withstanding a frontal crash, but several of the models showed leakage upon rear impact. The most distressing results were in the area of occupant protection. Thirteen of 20 models failed this test.

The vehicles which passed all of the tests were Plymouth Horizon, Chevrolet Citation, Ford Mustang, Buick Riviera, Dodge Magnum and Chrysler Cordoba. (The Mustang and Riviera are yet to be tested on rear impact.) Vehicles which failed more than one test were the Volkswagen Rabbit, Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme and 98, Pontiac

Driver and passenger safety depends on the vehicle's safety belt system. Without correct use of shoulder and lap belts, the crash protection demonstrated in the NHTSA tests disappears. The experimenters report that some of the models were structurally sufficient to withstand the impact tested, but failed to meet safety criteria because the safety belts did not prevent the dummies from striking the windshield, steering wheel or dashboard with potentially fatal force. The researchers declined to identify the models sporting inadequate belt systems.

The ongoing impact testing is part of a larger effort by the Department of Transportation (DOT) to develop and disseminate crash-worthiness ratings. It is hoped that such a system would aid the car-buying public in making intelligent purchasing choices while fostering a competition between automakers that would result in the production of safer vehicles. The 1972 Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act called for a system of crash safety ratings as well as development of listings that will provide an indication of different vehicles' damagability and repairability.

KENNETH ROBERTS

Democratic Nominee For

MAGISTRATE, DIST. 2

My opponent, Birchell Duff, who I defeated in the Democratic primary, and who is now running as a write-in, is asking people if they want four more years like the last eight years. I really don't see why they wouldn't, since I've done more in the last eight years than was done in the 16 years before me. I'll agree with Mr. Duff that I did defeat in the primary several good men who were opposing me as candidates, but if any one of them had got the nomination, they would still have had to put up with Mr. Duff's running against them as a write-in, and with his hassling. Personally, I believe in the two-party system. If you, the voters, have any doubts about what I've done for you during my terms in office, I ask you to simply go down to the courthouse and check the records for yourselves. Too, for more first-hand proof—not just what somebody says—go out and travel and check the roads in District 2. I have done everything I could with the money I had to work with.

HALLOWEEN
With Halloween just around the corner, children are anticipating a night full of ghosts, witches, goblins and especially "trick or treats."
In recent years, there have been alarming reports of candies and fruits which contain drugs or dangerous objects and of children being molested or kidnapped during the Halloween festivities.

To ensure your family of a safe celebration, Attorney General Steven L. Beshear strongly suggests you take a few minutes and prepare your children for "trick or treating." Here are several safety tips to remember:

WHERE TO GO: Small children should be accompanied by adults. It is preferable to remain in your own neighborhood.

Most everyone knows if his neighborhood has a "grouch" or someone who does not enjoy children. Skip that house on your rounds.

Cross the street only at intersections, and carry flashlight when walking after dark.

WHAT TO WEAR: Have your children wear bright, flame-resistant costumes. Add reflector tape to the front and back of costumes.

Make sure hemlines are several inches off the ground as children may trip on long garments. Avoid voluminous skirts, long sashes and scarves as anything that can catch on bushes or brush near flames is potentially dangerous.

Carry a white shopping bag to collect treats. This will add to the visibility of the child and also free arms for movement.

CHECKING THE TREATS: Do not allow children to eat anything until they return home.

Discard anything unpackaged or with wrappings that seem to be undone or torn. Wash and cut fruit into small pieces. Unwrap packaged candies and inspect each piece. Call the police if you find any suspicious candy.

COMPLETES TRAINING

Pvt. Nelson Akers, son of Alice Akers of Banner, has completed One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning Ga. OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

Hallowe'en Notice

The Board of Trustees of the Town of Wayland has set the day of October 30 to be the one day for the children of the community to observe "Trick or Treat." The time is set for 6 until 9 p.m. for ages under 18.

MAGISTRATE, DIST. 4
VOTE STRAIGHT DEMOCRAT
NOVEMBER 3

Pol. Ad. Pd. by Candidate, 10-21-2t-pd.

PEOPLE'S PARTY RESPONDS TO THE BAD AND UGLY
AND A FISTFUL OF DOLLARS

As members of the People's Party, it was our most sincere desire to conduct a "clean" campaign in a gentlemanly manner. However, since some outright and outrageous lies have been published by our opponents, we will set the record straight and ascertain the real truth.

1. The opposition party states that they are willing to work with the Mayor for the betterment of Martin. However, this statement is strictly conditional upon the Mayor to be their puppet. We must ask these gentlemen which bills are they referring to? All duly documented and verified bills have been paid. In addition, which companies have threatened to discontinue services?

The opposing party wrongfully alleges that Mayor Hall has failed to pay city employees without court orders. If they are referring to Police Chief Hershel Lester, the laws of the Commonwealth of Kentucky sets forth criteria governing the compensation of a city's police officer. Pursuant to KRS 95.720(4), which states as follows:

"in cities of the fourth and fifth classes the city legislative body may, by ordinance pay the chief of police a salary in lieu of fees. In cities of the fourth class the salary must be fixed by ordinance enacted prior to the election or appointment of the chief."

In addition, the Office of the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, in OAG 73-25, has rendered an opinion which interprets KRS 95.720(4) as follows:

"Chief of police is not entitled to overtime pay; he must be paid on a fixed monthly basis or be permitted to receive fees fixed by statute or a combination of both."

Although, as Mayor Hall has so responsibly done, the Court is appropriate forum to resolve this dispute, it should be noted that: (a) there exists a bona fide question as to whether this overtime was actually worked or not; and (b) Mr. Lester has refused to sign for registered mail which contain his monthly pay checks.

As to honoring the contracts that he has signed for the City, we must ask which contract are these misled gentlemen referring to? Every contract signed by Mayor Hall has been honored.

While we are discussing this topic of co-operation, we would like to take this opportunity to ask these gentlemen these questions:

(a) Why does a Martin City Council meeting resemble a circus if so much co-operation will be pledged? The United Party's past actions belie their present words. The bickering that goes on resembles that of very immature and selfish children. How can these gentlemen be for the betterment of the City of Martin?

(b) Why is it that Mr. Whicker and Mr. Everage fail to attend regularly scheduled council meetings? It would appear that duly elected councilmen would carry out their civic responsibilities by at least attending meetings. When there is no quorum present, city business cannot be conducted.

(c) How can these gentlemen state that they will co-operate with Mayor Hall when they know in their own minds that they do not intend to do so?

2. The opposing party states that all City records should be kept in City Hall. During the previous administration, which Mr. Halbert and Mr. Everage served, minutes and ordinances had a habit of disappearing. This same event took place on several occasions during the early months of Mayor Hall's term. It is difficult to examine records which conveniently disappear. However, since Mayor Hall has taken charge of the books, none have disappeared. It must also be noted that no one has ever been denied access to City records during Mayor Hall's term.

3. Mayor Hall has been accused of acting as clerk, tax collector and bookkeeper. If Mr. Whicker and Mr. Everage would do their jobs and help select competent personnel, Mayor Hall would not be forced to do these jobs. Someone had to take charge and surprisingly enough, Mr. Whicker nor Mr. Everage voiced an opinion as to whether they would do the job. Mayor Hall should be highly commended for the job which he has done.

4. The opposing party states that it will work with all county, state and federal agencies for the advancement of Martin. We would respond to this statement by asking the following:

(a) Why is it that, when Mr. Halbert and Mr. Everage previously served as council members, the City of Martin lost grant money to have Beaver Creek re-channeled? We seem to recall this every time that Martin gets flooded.

(b) It is not a fact that when Mr. Halbert and Mr. Everage previously served as councilmen and Mr. Halbert on the Water and Sewage Commission, raw sewage freely flowed into Beaver Creek? This sewage system is still inadequate and does not comport to Environmental Protection Agency standards. Mayor Hall has inherited this problem and has made many tireless efforts to solve the problem without any co-operation from the present Water and Sewage Commission.

(c) Why was the City of Martin handed a bill of $136,000.00 for relocation of water and sewer lines when this matter was supposedly had been taken care of by the previous administration? Mr. Halbert and Mr. Everage were again members of the same administration.

5. The opposing party states that it will conduct city business according to law and above board and open to the public. How can they state this when the present Water and Sewage Commission refuses to show records or be audited or give information concerning copies of rates? Mr. Halbert, Mr. Whicker, and Mr. Everage, how can you state this in light of your past records? Yet, there has not been a single instance where Mayor Hall has denied anyone access to records.

6. The opposing party states that all citizens will be treated fair and equally. Is it not a fact that the United Party has caused the Housing Authority to evict certain residents solely because of political activities for supporting the People's Party? This is not only a violation of civil rights, but constitutional rights as well. How can they justify this? Perhaps the truth should be told that anyone who supports the United Party will be treated fairly and equally.

7. The opposing party states that all members of the fire department are welcome to council meetings. The present council is made up by a majority of the United Party. Does this mean that members of the fire department are not welcome at present council meetings?

8. The opposing party states that upgrading of water and sewage facilities is a must and that Martin has its best water supply than it has had in years, thanks to the present commission. This is the same commission that permitted raw sewage to run into Beaver Creek. Anyone can drive or walk through Martin and smell the obnoxious sewage odors. We believe that less than three short weeks ago, raw sewage readily flowed into the streets around the Triangle area. The only attempts to upgrade the systems have been after fines and lawsuits threatened by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Only the tireless efforts of Mayor Hall have avoided costing the City of Martin additional monies. Although the courtroom battles have just begun, the present commission publishes an erroneous article in the local paper stating what a great job they have done.

For a long time, Martin's water was a big joke throughout Floyd County. It was difficult to drink, bathe, cook or do laundry in muddy water. Our Lady of the Way Hospital had to import its own water from other sources. Mayor Hall inherited these problems from a previous administration which Mr. Halbert and Mr. Everage were members.

In addition, this same commission refuses to show Mayor Hall or the council its books. How can this commission be so above the law and refuse to do this? For the past sixteen years the citizens of Martin have paid outrageous water and sewage rates, yet this commission as well as all members of the United Party believe that it should not be held accountable for the money that it receives or pays out.

We must learn from the past mistakes of previously elected council members such as Mr. Halbert, Mr. Whicker, and Mr. Everage. The time has come for responsible people to come forward and to work for the betterment of the City of Martin and not act as mere puppets of Raymond Griffith.

The City of Martin is at a crossroads where, with the proper leadership, it can grow into a self-supporting city. This past Saturday's Red, White and Blue Day parade is only a small example of what Mayor Hall and the People's Party can do for the City of Martin.

3-D Photography Returns
 Since the beginning of photography, men have dreamed of creating the perfect mirror of nature, an image that would exactly reproduce the world as seen by the human eye. However finely ground their lenses, or sensitive their film, the pioneers of photography were continually thwarted by the single, central limitation of their cameras—their images were flat. The three dimensional world around them mocked the two dimensional copies of their photographs.

An early attempt to remedy this flatness was stereoscopy. Two photographs were taken of the same object, but with the position of the camera shifted slightly between shots. In this way, the one lens of the camera was made to approximate the two eyes of a person. The two finished photographs were placed side by side in a viewer called a stereoscope, something like an opera glass gone mad. A person looking through the stereoscope would unconsciously combine the two pictures into a single image with a remarkable illusion of depth.

Stereoscopic viewers and pictures can still be found in antique stores, and they can be a good deal of fun.

The effect is something like looking at one of those old 3-D movies you saw in the theatres with special glasses—except, of course, that with the stereoscope the pictures stay still.

Stereoscopes lost their popularity with the rise of amateur cameras, like Brownies and Instamatics, that made taking family snapshots a quick and easy process for anyone. With the new easy-to-use cameras and realistic color film, stereoscopes began to seem clumsy and quaint. Soon they found their ways to garage shelves and attic drawers.

For a while, 3-D photography seemed to have been forgotten, but never entirely. The idea of cheap, easy 3-D snapshots lingered in the minds of some technicians and photographers.

Nimslo Technology, an Atlanta based research company, has joined the Timex Corporation in marketing what they claim to be the world's first genuine three dimensional photographic system. Nimslo, under the guidance of its founder, Dr. Jerry Nims, has spent the last nine years developing a workable three dimensional printing system.

Timex, though of course better known for its watches, has also been the world's largest manufacturer of instant cameras. From 1952 to 1979, Timex factories turned out over 40 million cameras for the Polaroid Corporation. With the meeting of Nimslo's expertise and Timex's productive capabilities, the new 3-D camera is expected to be test marketed by 1981.

The Nimslo camera works on the same essential principle as the old stereoscopes, except that the different views and perspectives are combined into a single snapshot print. Each Nimslo camera will have four lenses that will simultaneously expose four half-frames of standard 35-mm film to produce a stereoscopic view. Then, through a printing process that is currently being kept very secret, the four views are combined into a single image.

The Nimslo camera will be produced at Timex plants such as the one in Scotland; Timex says they can turn out whatever number of cameras the market demands. The first showing of the camera will be in September at the prestigious Photokina Exhibition in Cologne, West Germany, the world's largest international photographic market exhibit.

When the Nimslo camera does come on the market, it will, thanks to Timex's legendary efficiency, come cheaply. With the help of Timex engineers, Nims has already trimmed the number of parts in his camera from 330 to 146. Correspondingly, the numbers on the price tag are expected to be cut from over $400 to just $80. With the mass market thus opened to him, Nims is predicting sales of over $50 million in the next year alone. A professional portrait and commercial camera is planned for the near future, along with an entire family of amateur cameras, accessories and photo products.

Land Sales Frauds

To thousands of consumers, the offers seemed irresistible: cheap land in such desirable places as Albuquerque, New Mexico or Tucson, Arizona. Although the land was undeveloped, it seemed to have unlimited investment potential. At least, that's what the land sellers claimed.

These offers flooded the mails and came over the telephone, beginning in the late 1960's, so the land sellers' names are probably familiar to you: they include Horizon Corp. and AMREP (selling Rio Rancho Estates, among others).

The Federal Trade Commission has recently taken a good look at these land sales. Their review shows that the offers were deceptive and the claims fraudulent. As a result, land buyers may have lost millions of dollars. If you're among these buyers, you will certainly be interested in what the FTC found.

First of all, the government disapproves of the way the land sellers got people to buy. They used high-pressure techniques which did not give consumers a fair chance to decide whether or not to invest. For example, the land was sold mainly at free dinner parties: salesmen persuaded buyers to sign while they were in a state of high emotional excitement.

Although customers got an option to cancel before six months (after seeing the land), most did not, despite what they saw. This was because customers were shown their land on group tours where, once again, high-pressure sales practices persuaded them to stick to their contracts.

In addition, the FTC says, the land sellers were deceptive: they misrepresented the land's worth. They exaggerated the potential of the land. For example, the sellers claimed that the areas surrounding the land sites would grow very quickly, driving up the price of the land. For to be selling a bargain in land, the actual value of most sites were far below what purchasers were asked to pay.

Furthermore, the contracts themselves were unfair in their terms. The AMREP contracts, for example, provided that if a buyer failed to make any installment payment, the buyer would lose all of the payments to date. One elderly New Jersey couple, for example, faced the loss of $31,000 when they could no longer make their monthly payments. A provision like this runs contrary to the laws protecting mortgagors in similar situations.

In addition, the contract provided that the land buyer gets no title to the land until the final payment is made (although the land buyer must pay interest on the unpaid portion until payments are finished). And the contract said that the buyer could not sell until the final payment was made.

The Federal Trade Commission may sue on behalf of land buyers, but in the meantime, it issued certain restrictions on the land sale companies. These restrictions include the following: (1) a 10-day "cooling off" period after signing the purchase agreement, during which the land buyer could cancel; (2) if the land buyer does not see the land before buying (the way most of these sales were made), he or she has six months to visit the land, and three days after the visit to cancel.

The land sale company can have no contact with the buyer during the three-day or ten-day period. In addition, the unfair aspects of the contracts would have to be eliminated. Finally, the FTC requires a warning to land buyers that the land is not offered as a financial investment.

If you are among the thousands of victims of these land frauds, you should follow the suggestions of INFORM, a non-profit research organization studying the land-sales industry. INFORM now offers a guide to certain strategies which it believes can help cut some of your losses.

Called The Insider's Guide to Owning Land in Subdivisions: How to Buy, Appraise and Get Rid of Your Lot, it is available for $2.50 from INFORM, 25 Broad Street, New York, New York 10004. The guide is based on several years of research, and includes specific recommendations for getting refunds, reselling, taking a tax loss, or other possible remedies.

In any case, it is likely that you will hear more about the land sale frauds.

Proposition 13 Not Ruinous As Expected

Three years after its overwhelming approval by California voters, Proposition 13 has confounded the doomsayers who predicted it would be ruinous.

Economist Tom Hazlett (of the California State University at Fullerton) writing in the October Reader's Digest says that despite some negatives—mainly in increased housing costs—Proposition 13 has achieved its major purpose of lowering property taxes, and has not forced cuts in essential public services.

"Overall, California property taxes plummeted from 62 percent above the national average to 11 percent below the norm," he writes. "Perhaps the most important result of Proposition 13 was that homeowners were no longer facing the threat of being forced out of their homes (by skyrocketing taxes)."

Oponents of the measure are admitting they were wrong, Hazlett notes. He quotes David Shulman, an economist at the U.C.L.A. Business Forecasting Project: "I was one who predicted that California would fall into the ocean when voters voted 'yes' on Proposition 13. I waited after the election for the earthquake, and it didn't happen."

To the contrary, California's economy is in robust health. In the first year after Proposition 13, 552,000 new private-sector jobs were created (compared with 103,000 state-and local-government jobs eliminated under the plan). Los Angeles city schools, which had warned teachers of probable layoffs if Proposition 13 passed, fired nobody and began hiring new teachers. San Diego increased its police force by 145 officers in the first year after passage. Oakland, which laid off a platoon of police officers immediately after passage, hired them all back in the next few weeks.

In all, says Hazlett, Proposition 13 has resulted in lowering California's roster of public employees, which stood at 1.5 million in 1978, by about 50,000. The state is now "about average" in terms of per-capita government spending. And more than offsetting the cut in public-sector jobs, there has been a net gain of nearly one million new jobs in the private sector over the past three years.

The lesson seems apparent, and also applicable to the nation as a whole. By cutting taxes, California has held inflation down, restrained governmental growth and provided a sunny economic climate.

Official Warns Fall May Be Bad For Fire

This fall's fire season could be as bad as Kentucky's two previous fire seasons, Donald A. Hamm, director of the Kentucky Division of Forestry, said today.

"Forest fires in Kentucky destroyed approximately 364,000 acres of valuable timberland last year," Hamm said. "We had 1,383 forest fires reported during the fall fire season alone. These fires caused destruction which will result in long-term losses for all Kentuckians."

Division of forestry officials remind Kentuckians that from Oct. 1 to Dec. 15 special burning regulations are in force throughout the commonwealth.

During the 11 weeks, designated as a "fire hazard season," it is illegal to burn anything outdoors before 4:30 p.m. at sites within 150 feet of a wooded area, forestry officials said.

"This is a critical fire season in Kentucky, and we advise hunters, campers and other people engaged in outdoor activities to use extreme care in setting or handling any fires," Hamm said. He added that debris-burning is consistently named as the main cause of outdoor fires in Kentucky.

Hamm said anyone found setting fire to flammable material on his own property without first taking proper precautions to assure containment of the fire is in violation of the state's forest-protection laws.

"If the fire does spread, regardless of the precautions taken or the time of day, the person responsible for setting the fire is subject to a fine plus all fire-suppression costs," he added.

"We depend on the support and assistance of each citizen to help reduce the number and severity of fires this fall," Hamm said.

You and Your Car

How To Rent A Car

Will your vacation involve renting a car? Which car you rent from whom will make a big difference in the cost.

The car rental business is one place where the fee paid does not determine the quality of service received. Consumer surveys show charges for the same model car ranging from $7-$14 per day and from 10-14¢ a mile. Not only do different companies charge different rates for the same cars, but different offices of the same firm sometimes list different deals.

In figuring the cost of the rentals you will most often be confronted with a base charge for use of the car (a daily, weekly or monthly rate), and a mileage fee. Figuring the cost necessitates an estimate of the mileage that will be accumulated. A lower mileage charge would benefit persons undertaking long trips. Some special offers include unlimited mileage or a fixed number of free miles. Check out the special promotions, such as weekend rates or "businessmen's specials."

The cost of renting a car may not stop with these fixed charges. Some companies add a fee for returning the vehicle at a different location. Liability, theft and fire insurance usually is provided, but collision and personal protection policies are extra. Damage insurance generally costs $1.50 per day and without it the user may be liable for up to $250 in damages.

Except for the occasional instance when the rental firm provides fuel, you will be paying for gas. From a purely economic standpoint it is best to rent the smallest possible car that will meet your space needs. Economy and compact cars are in great demand so make reservations early. Also, find out whether the company guarantees the type of car requested or whether they merely "try" to honor reservations.

The larger rent-a-car companies boast of some built in advantages.

Save On Your Car's A/C

Automobile air conditioners place an added burden upon a car's gas mileage, cooling system and battery. If you are unwilling to brave the summer without one, you can get a new gadget designed to relieve some of that burden.

An automatic air conditioning control is designed to cut off the air conditioning compressor when the engine accelerates. The device will take effect when climbing a steep hill, passing or making sudden starts.

The eight ounce unit can be connected into the air conditioning system by the owner. It adjusts to the size of the engine and can be transferred from one car to another.

The control is available for about $19.95.

They have more offices to rent from and more places to return the vehicles. Usually they keep longer business hours. A wider variety of cars is offered and the cars are often newer models.

Do not rule out a smaller concern however. These firms will sometimes make special arrangements that equal or surpass the conveniences provided by their larger competitors. The names of some companies imply a discounted rate. Their fees, however, do not always live up to their name.

Rent-a-car companies are credit card oriented. They do not like to be paid in cash, because a credit card allows the firm to screen their customers without having to do their own credit checking.

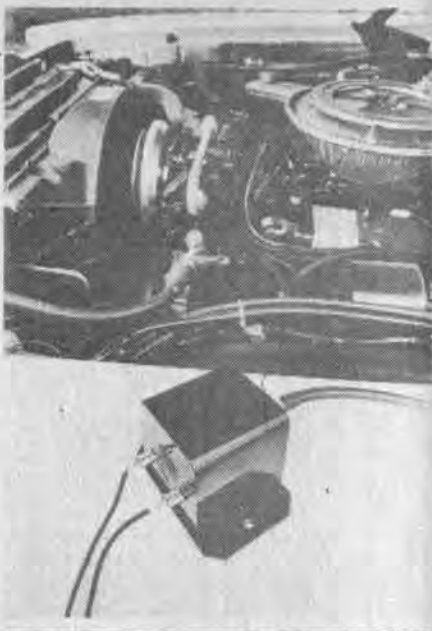

If you want to pay in cash, the best way to avoid a hassle is to notify the company in advance. Then they can run credit or reference checks before you pick up the car.

Cash payers will have to lay out a healthy advance sum. One major company requires a prepayment of the estimated total charge with an additional 20 percent.

Cars will not be rented without presentation of a valid driver's license. Young drivers should check the age limits before planning a rental. Many offices will not rent to persons under 25; however, some companies have a lower age limit for credit cardholders (18) than for cash paying customers.

Pageant Winners

Winners at the Red, White and Blue Pageant at Allen Central High School gym October 10 were: Miss Red, White and Blue: Lisa Hall, daughter of Glenn and Rosemary Hall, of Wheelwright; Junior Miss Red, White and Blue: Casandra Slone, daughter of Curtis and Judy Slone, of Wayland; and Little Miss Red, White and Blue: Krissy Hall, daughter of Roger Hall, of Prestonsburg, and Judy Hall, of Allen. The Allen Woman's Club, sponsor of the event, thanks Dale McKinney, Barry Branham, Max Roberts Music Co., Blossom Basket, Jan's Florist, the judges and others who helped with the pageant.

LANCER HOMEMAKERS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

The Lancer Homemakers Club met October 8, and elected the following officers for the year: president, Nancy Roberts; vice-president, Jenny Wallace; secretary, Gloria Sizemore; telephone chairman, Betty Wilson; devotional chairman, Mary Franklin.

The lesson for the day was on "Stenciling" with each member making a stencil pattern and transferring it to fabric.

The next meeting will be November 12th at the Lancer Baptist Church. New members are welcome.

GLENN MILLER ORCHESTRA

OCTOBER 27
8 P.M.

AT PRESTONSBURG
HIGH SCHOOL GYM

It was in the early forties of the 'Big Band Era' that Glenn Miller produced his unique musical sound. Today, some thirty years later, the authentic Glenn Miller sound is very much alive, well and heard throughout the United States and the rest of the world the year 'round.

Not only are recordings of the original band still among the best selling discs, but the present Glenn Miller Orchestra, led by Larry O'Brien, is one of the most sought after musical organizations for concerts, college dances, military installations and private functions.

GUITAR DUO

NOVEMBER 17
8 P.M.

PIKE AUDITORIUM
PRESTONSBURG
COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Paul Cox and John Myers joined their classic guitar duo in 1973. Since that time, they have performed throughout the United States. Their performances at various musical conventions and in concert have won them the respect of everyone who has heard them. Their well-rounded programs of music sometimes new to the guitar make their concerts a unique and enjoyable experience.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO OWNERS OF RENTAL HOUSING

The Floyd County Housing Authority is administering a Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Program in Floyd County using funds provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Under this program, owners will rehabilitate rental units which are now substandard or have major building systems or components requiring repair or replacement. The cost of this work, which must total at least $1000 per unit, may be financed by a local lending institution, by the owner, or by any other source available to the owner. The agency does not make rehabilitation loans or grants, but will assist owners to obtain financing.

After required rehabilitation work has been completed, the agency and the owner will execute a contract which establishes a rent for the unit(s) that will cover rehabilitation costs, meet monthly operating expenses, and allow a reasonable profit on the owner's investment. For a fifteen year period, the owner will rent the rehabilitated unit(s) to eligible lower income tenants, who will pay approximately 25 percent of their income toward the rent. The agency will pay the remainder of the rent directly to the owner. The initial occupant of a rehabilitated unit may be the owner's present eligible tenant. After rehabilitation the rent (including utilities) cannot exceed the following Maximum Rents:

BEDROOM SIZE
206	244	282	319

The agency's current funds will allow rehabilitation of 35 units of rental housing as follows:

1 BR	2 BR	3 BR	4 BR
8	18	7	2

No unit will be assisted which results in the permanent displacement of a current tenant. Proposals from owners will be received by the Housing Authority until further notice. Owners who wish to submit a proposal must obtain an application form from:

Floyd County Housing Authority
Housing Office
Green Acres
Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653
Telephone No. 886-2717
Office Hours: 8:30-12:00 and 1:00-4:30

Application forms and proposal packets may be requested by phone, mail, or in person. Information and assistance is also available at the above office.

Reclamation Symposium Slated At Lexington

Scientific and engineering studies of groundwater, sediment and reclamation on surface-mined lands will be covered in a national symposium in Lexington Dec. 7-11.

Engineers, educators and specialists from several universities, government agencies and industrial firms will participate in the program at the Hyatt Regency Hotel.

Participants from the University of Kentucky department of forestry will include professors Don Graves, Stan Carpenter and R.F. Wittwer. Graves is on leave from UK, serving as a legislative aide in the Washington office of Sen. Wendell H. Ford.

Topics of discussion and paper presentations at the symposium will include research results on re-vegetation of spoil banks, effects of sediment in streams and basins. Reports on comparison studies will be given.

NAME THE TRAIL CONTEST

Jenny Wiley State Park has recently completed a new trail that joins the Jenny Wiley Trail in the campground with the Lodge area. The new trail is 3.8 miles long, and is considered a strenuous walk. The official opening of the new trail will be Saturday, Nov. 7, but we need a name! A $25 Passport to Pleasure (State Parks gift certificate) will be awarded to the person with the best name for the Trail. All interested persons are invited to walk the new trail to help them in a name selection. Send your entry to:
