City Races Add Spice • To a Dull Campaign

Tuesday's Vote May Be Lower Than Average

In marked contrast to the hectic May primary, next Tuesday's general election may suffer from the blahs except in incorporated towns of the county where city races are creating some

This situation arises from the fact that few Democratic nominees are opposed, although write-in campaigns are being waged in Magisterial Districts 2 and 4.

The heaviest vote is expected from precincts in Prestonsburg and Martin where the interest centers on candidates for council.

The so-called Succession amendment to the state constitution has drawn considerable discussion, mostly of a negative nature in this county, but it can't be counted on to get out the

Another amendment (Amendment No. 2), which provides a $6,500 exemption on the assessment of the residence of any person classified as totally disabled and receiving disability benefits, is also on the ballot. It has attracted little attention but is believed to have a better chance of passage than the Succession amendment

The ballot does not bear the name of any Republican nominee for countywide office, but in Magisterial District 1 the Democratic nominee, Gerald DeRossett, is opposed by Leo Music Republican; in District 3, Edward Caudill, Democratic inclumbent, by Eddie Chafin, Republican; in District 4, Lowell Sammons, Democrat, by Doyle G. Meade, Republican For the office of constable in District 1 the Democratic nominee, Willie Hale, is opposed by Linden Elliott, Republican, and Bill Hinton, Independent. In District 4 the Democratic incumbent, Paul Stilton, is opposed by Corbit Hall, Republican.

Judge Dismisses Roberts' Motion Against Write-In

The petition of Kenneth Roberts, incumbent Democratic candidate for Magistrate in District 2, asking that Birchell Duff, his defeated primary opponent, be enjoined from opposing him for election as a write-in candidate, was dismissed Tuesday morning by Circuit Judge W. B. Hazelrigg of the Martin circuit court

Roberts had sought the injunction on the grounds that Duff had violated the Corrupt Practices Act during the primary campaign by advertising that ne would reduce the salary paid magistrates in this county. His attorneys, Damron & Caudill, argued that this promise constituted violation of the Corrupt Practices Act and that

The time draws near for the Last Hurrah for the 1981 fishing season.

My own valedictory for the year may have been last Thursday when I left Dewey Lake, mumbling in my beard. My No. 3 son and I had just drawn another blank.

It pains me to say it, but fishing Dewey is, for me, no longer fishing. I've gone so long without a strike that all the anticipation any fisherman must have to enjoy the sport is missing. I simply heave a plug and reel it back, expecting nothing-and in that expectation I'm seldom disappointed.

You perhaps are aware of these little sticker strips folks have printed to use for their return addresses on envelopes. One such sticker showed up here from Pike county this week. It

Accused Slayer Of Five Claims Memory Lapse

William O. (Okie) Bevins, the 70-year-old Printer man who is held as the slayer of five men in a brief shooting orgy at Allen, Oct. 16, will apparently get one wish.

He was quoted as saying last week at the Laurel county jail, London, where he is held for safekeeping, that he would like for Lester Burns, wellknown criminal lawyer, to defend him.

Burns announced at Somerset last Sunday that he is resigning as commonwealth's attorney for Pulaski and Rockcastle counties and that his first case after resigning will be the defense

"There are elements in the Bevins case that appeal to me," the sometimes controversial Burns was quoted as saying. "I go for the ones that other people don't want, or can't get. They're the ones I enjoy most."

Interviewed at the jail by newspaper reporters, Bevins said his plea will be not guilty. He added that he was injured in 1963 in a dynamite explosion and that since that time he has suffered lapses of memory

In that interview Bevins said he went to his mailbox, the morning of Oct. 16, to get his morning paper and that something struck him on his hand as he reached into the mailbox. "I was sitting on my front porch when they (the state police) came and got me," he was quoted as saying. "I don't remember nothing until after I got to the court-

He said he asked District Judge Harold Stumbo why he was being held and was told he was charged with five counts of murder. "I laughed at it," he added. "I am innocent. Everybody knows that... if you're not guilty, people ought to know it.

Chief of Police At Martin Fired

Martin's police chief was fired Thursday, the latest move in a protracted dispute between the lawman and the city's mayor

Charging Police Chief Hershel Lester with "insubordination," Mayor Larry B. Hall dismissed him without notice, gave him and his family a month to vacate the apartment they occupy above city hall, and ordered Martin's two police cars impounded.

Lester said this week he does not know what his alleged insubordination refers to and Hall said he would not elaborate on the charge for fear of jeopardizing the city's position in a wage suit brought by Lester against the city and still pending.

However, the mayor noted that, in response to his posting new night hours for the police officer last week, Lester had taken an "unauthorized" vacation. He had also neglected to turn in to the city council a log of his work hours and was unwilling to contribute gasoline for the city police car during the Red, White and Blue Day celebration, Hall

Councilman Ken Peters this week questioned the validity of the mayor's action, noting that Lester had the right to a hearing. "The way he (Hall) went about it, it will never stand up," Peters opined. The councilman also questioned the prudence of leaving the city

Halloween mischief-makers may have to contend with the law, according to a policy announced by Mayor Harold Cooley at a meeting of Prestonsburg city council Monday.

Cooley said he was concerned at early reports of the "egging" of automobiles and would instruct Police Chief Keith Lawson to make enquiries of local grocers regarding unusual egg purchases, with a view to curbing the

'We need to enforce the law on vandalism." said Councilman Estill Lee Carter, whose auto dealership has sometimes been the target of Halloween revelers. "We need to bust some

U.S. 23 will be widened and a turning lane added between Prestonsburg high school and the community college, the council was told. The work is scheduled for next spring, at a cost of $500,000.

Ironically, the council members, who have long pressed state transportation officials on the road project, were not on hand when the announcement was made. Neither the mayor nor council members were invited to attend a press conference at Prestonsburg Community College Thursday where the project was unveiled by Deputy Transportation Secretary Clair R. Nichols.

If Cablentertainment, Inc. wishes to raise viewer rates or offer a more expensive service, the company will need to make a formal request to that effect, the council decided. City Manager David Evans earlier reported that most of those responding to a viewer poll on the subject favored retention of the existing service and rate rather than the more costly services proposed by the company.

Of 227 respondents, 184 favored continuing the existing system, 25 voted for the proposed $9.75 service, and 18 favored the $10.75 service, he said.

Ron Beaver, Cablentertainment manager, said yesterday that the company's offer to expand its service was merely a response to an earlier request by council for information. In view of customer opposition, the company has no plans to alter its present service, he said. Nor is any rate change being considered, he said.

"Since the use of speed bumps is not authorized on public streets, the city cannot use them no matter how many persons petition the city and request that they be installed," Attorney General Steven Beshear wrote recently in response to a council enquiry.

In reference to a suggestion raised here by Central Avenue residents several weeks ago, Beshear noted that, since the traffic bumps are not authorized, the posting of signs warning that they are in use would make the

EPA Agrees To Settle Its Suit Against Martin, with 'Conditions'

The federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) agreed last week to settle its 11-month-old suit against the city of Martin and the city water commission, under certain conditions.

Attorneys for the city and the state of Kentucky, also named as defendant in the suit, agreed to the settlement in U.S. District Court. The city water commission, which has never responded to the government complaint, was held in default and will also be bound by the agreement.

The federal environmental agency filed suit last November, charging the city with dumping raw sewage into Beaver Creek since the rupture of a sewer line in 1977. The break has since been repaired.

According to last week's agreement, Martin and its water commission will:

-operate two pumps alternately at the sewage system's main pumping station;

-maintain a spare pump and replacement parts for the other four pump stations; -install chlorination equipment and repair any plant component which is not in good working order: -submit plans to EPA for sludge

-keep a log of all plant operations and report to EPA on the operating condition of the plant; and

-clean and paint rusted plant com-

After Five Months . . .

Waste Disposal System Gaining But Finances May Be a Problem

After five months in business, the efficiency of the county garbage collection system is "improving by leaps and bounds," according to the director of the operation.

But there are still many fences to be cleared before the venture can be termed a success, he concedes. And perhaps the biggest barrier of all is the resistance in some parts of the community to the whole idea of a mandatory garbage pickup.

The office of Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc., the agency that manages the service, is still receiving irate phone calls, according to a worker there. Some complain of being overlooked by the trash collectors, she said, but others are angry at being asked to pay a $6 monthly fee for a service they say they never asked for. The problem of missed pickups is being ironed out, according to David Cooley, director of the agency, as drivers become familiar with their routes and as residents learn to deposit their garbage by the roadside for have had their own way of getting rid of their trash," he said. "You're not going to change that overnight. It will take a long education.

The problem of community resistance will not be as easily resolved, he recognizes.

And there are those who welcome the new system, Cooley points out, "Most people in the county can see a marked improvement in their communities since the pickup began," he said.

Cooley takes pride in the fact that Floyd is one of the few counties in the nation to operate its own collection system as well as a landfill. A $495,000 government grant and a $1.5 million bond sale financed the project.

If only to pay back the bonds, Floyd's innovative garbage project must succeed, Cooley argues. But success is by no means guaranteed.

More of the county's residents will have to accept the pickup service, and more of those who use the service will have to pay for it, if the system is to become economically viable, Cooley

About 13,000 residential customers are presently on the agency's rolls. That is thought to be about 60 percent of those who ought to be using the service. Moreover, of those using the service, only about 40 percent are paying for it. Collections last month amounted to $53,000, while expenses ran to

According to one estimate, the agency needs to collect about $85,000 a month to be able to pay its debts. That will mean identifying all potential customers and raising the collection rate to at least 80 percent, one agency worker said.

In the next few months, legal remedies may be employed to help close the gap, Cooley warned. The county ordinance establishing the solid waste system provides for stiff penalties for those failing to use it.

But, in the meantime, Cooley is hopeful that "better communication" will make the system work. Pickup crews are on Left Beaver Mondays, Right Beaver Tuesdays, Middle Creek Wednesdays, the Jenny Wiley area Thursdays, and the fourth magisterial district Fridays, he said, adding that anyone needing service should call the landfill office at 285-5133.

"If we make it work, we'll be a model for the nation," he said.

Center Turn Lane Slated for US 23

Deputy Transportation Secretary Clair R. Nichols (left) announced here last week that US 23 will be widened to include a center turn lane between Prestonsburg High School and Prestonsburg Community College.

Nichols said the 0.7-mile project will cost about $500,000 and will involve widening the highway from its current 24-foot width to 33 feet and removing the existing traffic islands. No additional right of way is needed for the improvements. The project will begin next spring.

ROLE OF THE CLERGY AT TIME OF DEATH.

The minister, priest, or rabbi can help greatly in properly consoling and assisting the bereaved-if he is contacted early after the death of the loved one. He can define the differences between the physical (body of the deceased) and the soul (spirit of the deceased). He can further ease the family through the first steps of the grief process.

It is far healthier, emotionally, to allow the minister to help the family work through their grief openly than to permit their sadness to be repressed or conceal-

Clergymen have been trained to assist in times of stress. Their experiences through study and from real life-and-death situations make them invaluable to you-and us. Their many sources of comfort and aid, especially in grief-counseling, can be very beneficial. They are especially anxious to serve their congregations at such times. They would also like to be contacted early so they can be of assistance as soon as it is possible for them to do so.

We welcome your questions-in private or publicly through this column.

* Cancer Hopeline

Q. Our child has cancer. In addition to medicine, are there ways we can relieve his pain?

There are several comfort measures parents can provide that will decrease his pain or awareness of pain. Changes in your child's surroundings and something to divert his attention might be helpful if the pain is mild or if you are waiting for pain medication to

Such changes could include heat, partial or total body massage, change in the room temperature or number of blankets, diversion with games, television, reading a book together, storybook records, visits from friends, playing, making up or telling stories, music, and recollections of family fun.

Muscle relaxation techniques may help an older child. Tell the child to tense a muscle and then relax it so that he knows the feeling for both conditions. Practice this on muscles in various parts of the body until, on command, the child can relax all the major areas, (face, arms, legs, stomach). Then help determine which muscles are near the pain for they are usually tensed in reaction to the pain which increases discomfort.

Learning muscle relaxation takes some practice as parents of Lamazedelivered babies know, but there are benefits: (1) Pain is decreased in the affected area; (2) tension in the whole body is eased; and, (3) the techniques give you and your child something positive to do that will help when there is mild to moderate pain.

Parents who are tense and may feel emotional and physical exhaustion when caring for a seriously ill child will find these relaxation techniques helpful, too. They are excellent ways to promote sleep.

These comfort measures offered as a courtesy of hospice nurses may also be applied to adults who are in pain. If you are caring for a loved one who is in pain, check with the doctor frequently: he needs to know what works and what

To Whom It May Concern:

MARVIN CRIDER. Prestonsburg, Ky 10-28-21

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

This coming election day, our present governor is asking the people of Kentucky to change their constitution as it has existed since the 1800's. He is asking that you amend your constitution to give to him a right that no governor heretofore has enjoyed, that he may seek a second term, if he so chooses.

We believe that our current system already affords more than enough power upon one individual in the governor's office and that the option of a second term is one that will expose all to the abuse and intimidation only an incumbent governor can have.

The governor answers these charges by saying he doesn't have that kind of power, and that four years is not enough time to accomplish his goals.

As to his power, we say simply look to where roads are built and where roads are cancelled; look to where blacktop is spread, and where it is spared; look to who is hired and who is eliminated from state employment and tell us who has power over these things?

As to whether four years is enough time to accomplish his goals, we simply observe that four years was enough time for every governor before our present one, including Bert Combs, who found time to accomplish or secure the construction of the Mountain Parkway, the development of Jenny Wiley State Park and the Prestonsburg Community College. In fact, our present Governor has found that two years has been enough time to restrict benefits for Workmen's Compensation for our coal miners; to eliminate road construction projects for Eastern Kentucky; to close the Juvenile Detention Center in Prestonsburg; to freeze the hiring of additional law officers for our safety; to reduce funding for our teachers' pay and retirement, and our childrens' education; to make massive layoffs of state workers; as well as reduce benefits and programs for our needy and disabled.

The sheer weight of what our present Governor has "accomplished" in two years is the best evidence of the power and potential abuse he or any successor could demonstrate in a race for re-election, while already in the Governor's office.

The present arrangement has served you and your forefathers for over 90 years. Why change it now, simply because it is not in keeping with our present Governor's personal desires or ambitions? The Constitution of Kentucky and the office of Governor is bigger and more important than any particular individual who may hold it at any given time. Should we allow it to be manipulated by any incumbent, term to term, as he may wish?

Mock Disaster Readies Staff

"Be prepared" was more than just a motto to the many HRMC employees and local Boy Scouts who recently participated in a mock disaster drill. Diagnosing and treating the injuries of 13 football players involved in a bus accident was the simulated crisis. It provided a realistic rehearsal of the hospital disaster plan.

The accident victims, with injuries ranging from cuts and broken limbs to internal injuries, were rushed to the hospital by P & B Ambulance Service. Dr. Robert Roe initially examined the victims in the triage area, and medical records personnel pinned the tentative diagnosis on each patient. They were then quickly transported to the proper service area such as X-ray, E.R. or surgery, as they would have been in the real situation.

"The mock disaster was relatively smooth," said J.Y. Goble, coordinator of the disaster plan. "Those participating learned some things that could help save lives if we ever do need to put this plan into effect."

NO FRILLS, NO GIMMICKS,

TAX FREE INCOME INCOME MAKES GOOD FINANCIAL SENSE

"All Savers Certificates", offering Tax-Free income, are available as of October 1st, 1981 through December 31st, 1982. These certificates have a one year maturity and provide a once-in-a-life-time maximum tax exemption on interest earned up to $1,000 for individuals and $2,000 for married persons filing a joint return.

The interest rate paid on your "All Savers Certificate" is equal to 70% of the average yield on the most recent auction of one-year U.S. Treasury Bills. Important! Unlike Cash Management funds, the interest rate on your "All Savers Certificate" is fixed for a one year term... and there is no risk because your investment is insured to $1000,000 by the FDIC (Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation).

You can participate in The Bank Josephine's "All Savers Certificate" program for a minimum deposit of $500. However, we strongly suggest you consult with a Bank Josephine advisor to help to determine the benefits of these Tax-Free certificates as it applies to your specific financial position.

Important! "All Savers Certificates" are subject to penalty for early withdrawal just like regular time certificates of deposit.* In addition, any interest earned prior to early withdrawal will be considered taxable income by Federal law.

The Bank Josephine offers no frills, and no gimmicks. We're simply offering a chance, for many of us, to "catch up a little" on inflation.

*You have contracted to keep your funds on deposit for the stated maturity: in the event of early withdrawal, Federal Regulations require that you shall forfeit three months interest on the amount withdrawn at the nominal rate being paid on the certificate.

Money Market Certificate Conversion to "ALL SAVERS"

If you currently hold a Bank Josephine Money Market Certificate, you can convert it to a Bank Josephine "ALL SAVERS" with no penalty for early withdrawal. Converting to an "ALL SAVERS" Tax Free certificate could provide improved after tax earnings. Ask your Bank Josephine advisor for a conversion evaluation.

This situation has prevailed for a city no less liable for any injury or long time now, and postal workers have asked that something be done. The Postal Service has done inspection jobs, but apparently is too busy raising the price of stamps, printing new and fancier stamps at the taxpayers' expense and working on a new and bigger deficit, to have time to do a simple job of repairing a roof.

One good thing already has come out of the mess. It has showed that some of the guys and gals who work there have retained their sense of humor. Monday morning, while the rain pitterpattered, a large barrel stood in the postoffice lobby, and above it was a hand-lettered sign which read:

WARNING-FALLING MATERIALS-HARD HAT ZONE

THE LONG WAY AROUND

Old Jake was oiling and cleaning his rifle, and the family knew that boded ill for his longtime enemy, who lived across the mountain.

Word had come to Jake that this man had laughed about the trouble Jake was having in his efforts to operate a sawmill and make ends meet. And it hurt. He had had saws to hammer, boiler flues to repair, workers to pay, the price of lumber to drop-everything to torture body and soul. Now his worst enemy was laughing.

Silently, in the shadows of the big room, where the only light came from a feeble blaze in the grate, he worked on the rifle. His wife dared not interrupt; his grown sons could only fear what was about to happen: a resumption of the feud that had flared up in violence, a quarter-century earlier, and even during the periods of uneasy peace filled the family with dread.

Finally, one of the sons had an idea, and he ventured into the room to speak to his father. "Pa," said he, "that old sawmill that's breakin' you up and killin' you-why don't you get even with Old Sol Give him the derned thing!

Old Jake surprised them all by listening to the proposal. After long minutes pondering the suggestion, he replied, "Son, I aim to do jest that. You boys haul it over thar in the mornin'. But if that old varmint won't take it, guess there'll have to be some other way of settlin' our accounts," and he fondled the old rifle again.

NOTE: That's one way of filling a column. It could have been said in one sentence, as it has often been said in this section of Kentucky: "If you want to get even with your worst enemy, give him a sawmill."

any person guilty of such violation is ineligible to be a candidate at the general election.

Not represented by legal counsel, Duff contended that what happened in the primary campaign belonged to the primary and that if he had been nominated he could have been a contest defendant then but not now.

Judge Hazelrigg remarked that he had no record of a defeated candidate for office being named in a contest action. He was quoted as saying however, that in the event of Duff's election he would be subject to to removal from office, since the penalty for violating of the Act, as it now exists, is removal.

Rain Gives Respite, But Threat Of Fire Likely To Continue

"The fire season hasn't been real bad." said Carter Conley, Division of Forestry public information officer, but he warned that the worst of the season may lie ahead.

"The rain of the past few days is good news at this time of year," commented Conley, who pointed out that only a handful of forest blazes had been reported during the fall fire season thus far, despite dry conditions, "but we're still six inches behind on a yearly rainfall average. Conley said although the rainfall is helpful, "people tend to develop a sense of false security-a feeling that there's no danger of fire for a long time." In fact, Conley pointed out, "two days of a good, steady rain will only give about a day's reprieve." At this time of year, according to Conley, fire risk increases as more and more leaves fall to the ground. "Moisture that was collecting on leaves and dripping to the ground is no longer wetting the ground cover in the same way. Add a good, stiff breeze to these conditions and you get a real rapid drying," he commented.

The current fire season ends December 15. Until then the Forestry Division office here stresses, no burning is allowed until after 1:30 p.m. or within 150 feet of combustible material which may lead to timberland

Ask Parent Involvement

We called the school administration concerning problems we wished to bring before the board. We were placed on the agenda with no questions asked. The problems we presented we did not consider petty but were important because they concerned our children's educational welfare.

What are Board of Education meetings, if not for problems? What problems do we as parents take to them concerning our schools? These questions go through many people's minds but are never asked. Are we afraid to ask simple questions concerning our children's education or don't we care anymore?

The Floyd County Board of Education policy states: The Board of Education shall grant an audience to any individual or group desiring to appear before them if they first discuss the matter with the superintendent or appropriate member of the administrative staff.

The school administration is there to serve Floyd county. Therefore, we urge every one of you that have children in Floyd County schools to get involved in your school and attend Board of Education meetings.

Corrects 'Shopping Aisle'

I'd like to correct some misinformation which appeared in the "Shopping Aisle" column of October 7, about 'Besting Ma Bell.'

Recent regulations approved by the Kentucky Public Service Commission now give South Central Bell customers the option of providing their own inside telephone wiring. They may do it themselves, or hire an electrician or contractor familiar with wiring. Any selfinstalled wiring must meet certain standards of quality, workmanship and safety, and it then will be maintained by South Central Bell. A booklet detailing the standards and codes which must be met is available at any of our PhoneCenter stores.

Secondly, South Central Bell customers may now purchase phone sets which they own completely. Although standard telephone sets and Trimline phones are still leased from us, the Design Line phones and other decorator styles belong entirely to the people who buy them.

In fact, our PhoneCenter stores are now offering a new complete line of low-priced phones for residential and business customers.

I appreciate the opportunity to keep the TIMES and its readers up-to-date with our procedures and services.

Mysterious Mansion Creatures "Ready" For Last Two Nights

The Mysterious Mansion Haunted House, the yearly Halloween season fright fest which was begun a few years ago by the Prestonsburg Fire Department for the enjoyment of area children, is again being held this year by the firefighters along with WPRT

Generally a fund-raiser for the denartment, this year's haunted house is being conducted with the aim of helping the Floyd County Humane Society reopen its animal shelter near here and all proceeds will go toward that end.

The Mysterious Mansion may be one of the scariest anywhere, offering frightful fun to all who dare enter its dark corridors. Being held at the pavilion at Archer Park, the haunted house features a set right out of Transylvania complete with brooding trees, a running stream that must be crossed and cages containing products of unspeakable evil distributed along the way. Visitors are greeted by less than amiable representatives of the undead and everyone's favorite monsters are present with the sole aim of raising goose bumps on all who disturb their dank domain.

Friday and Saturday will be the final two nights of the haunted house with the "fun" getting under way around 6:30 p.m. or whenever Count Dracula thinks it's OK to come out of the pine box, whichever comes first.

Thanks Fund Workers

So many times we all forget to thank those who, busy as they are, come through with a favor, a smile, or a volunteer effort.

During the 1981 Cystic Fibrosis fund drive, we had great support from the Job Corps boys, Boys, thank you for rising so early, even though the fog was so bad we could hardly see. But you were there, helping as usual, putting your best efforts forth.

And the Teens Who Care gave us their warmth and caring support, answering the telephone at WDOC-AM and WQHY-FM. What would this county have done without you?

On behalf of the drive against cystic fibrosis, the No. 1 genetic killer of children and young adults, I salute you for your support. Over $55,000 was raised statewide during the fund drive, making this year's drive the best yet. We couldn't have done it without your

'Not Always Helpful'

A hospital is people taking care of people. There is no magic involved but only the trained dedication of many individuals in caring for the patient who

Unfortunately, when a relative or friend is sick, a feeling of helplessness can overshadow what others are doing. We want to be near. We want to show support. We want to extend our hands.

But visitors are not always helpful. They can prevent the patient from sleeping; they can make too much noise; they can get in the way.

Our Lady of the Way Hospital welcomes visitors during visiting hours-1 p.m. to 8 p.m. only. Visitors before or after these hours prevent the hospital people from taking care of the patients. The hospital cautions people who have colds, who smoke, who bring children, who visit the patient in large numbers, and who bring in food and drink, that they do not help the patient to get well. They also make it difficult for those assigned to care for the patient to have the time to care and cure.

The Martin Hospital cares for you but it asks that you care for patients in the most helpful way.

Program To Discuss Over-Counter Drugs

Most people are increasingly aware of the coming cold and flu season, especially parents whose children suffer the seemingly inevitable sore throats, coughs, and upset stomachs. Many will be wondering about the medicines available to relieve the discomfort of their children, as well as their own ills, the numerous over-thecounter drugs prescribed by doctors, recommended by friends, and advertised on television.

Answers to many questions will be given during an informative program entitled "Over-the-Counter Drugs-What Parents Should Know, being given by Ann Whitt, pharmacist from Our Lady of the Way Hospital. She will comment on such aspects as effectiveness, side effects, and hazards of common remedies, and how long to give them.

The program is being sponsored by the Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association, and will be held in Room 216, Pike Building, Prestonsburg Community College, at 7 p.m. on Nov. 4. Babysitting will be provided by Teens Who Care.

Kentucky Listed Among 15 Eastern States Said 'Extremely Vulnerable' to Acid Rain

Federation has determined that 15 of the 26 states east of the Mississippi River including Kentucky, are "extremely vulnerable" to the harmful effects of acid rain. Another ten states are "moderately vulnerable," according to the conservation group, and one-Florida-is only "slightly vulnerable.

The ratings are contained in a report by NWF researchers who studied each state's rainfall acidity, geology, soils, and water chemistry to estimate the potential for acid rain damage to fisheries, soils, crop foliage, and marble and limestone structures within the Acid rain forms when sulfur and nitrogen oxide emissions, mainly generated by coal-burning power plants, combine with rain or snow. The acid is often blown hundreds of miles from its actual source before it falls to earth. More than 90 lakes in the Adirondack Mountains are now fishless because acidic conditions have inhibited reproduction.

The NWF study listed Connecticut, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Vermont, West Virginia, and Wisconsin as the states that are extremely vulnerable to damage from acid precipitation. Those states found to be moderately vulnerable are Alabama, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Ohio, Tennessee, and Virginia. Louisiana could not be fully evaluated due to a lack of data.

Massachusetts had the strongest acid rain and Florida the least acid of the 26 states studied.

In addition to analyzing vulnerability, the study evaluated each state's visibility impairment-as indicated by sulfate and nitrogen oxide concentrations found in the air.

Twenty states were found to have a degree of visibility impairment, while five-Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Vermont-had a moderate degree of impairment, Only Maine and New Hampshire got low visibility impairment evaluations

Burglars Take Safe At Western Sizzlin'

Burglars who found opening the safe of the Western Sizzlin' Steak House here difficult Sunday night resorted to a simple expedient. They took the safe, Exact amount of money in the safe had not been determined Tuesday, but it was estimated to be "close to $2,000." State Police are investigating the burglary, but clues are lacking. Because of the weight of the safe-about 500 pounds-, it is believed that at least two, perhaps more, were involved in the theft. Entrance was effected through a rear door. It was the second incident at the steak house within the last two years. Those involved in a holdup there earlier were later arrested.

Our vets tried to save him, but we were too late. Red's owner just let him starve to death. The society was alerted to this tragedy by a neighbor. Winter and its cold weather brings us more strays, more abandoned animals, more starving and sick animals, some left at door steps, but many more just wandering the streets to fend for themselves. We cannot help them all but we want to help as many as we can. We, the Prestonsburg Fire Department and WPRT Radio are doing the very best we can. Won't you please help? A dollar or fifty cents goes a long way. We need your help in trying to eliminate some of the suffering. Please. The animals need your help! We realize we cannot do much for world problems, but can't we change what is happening in our own city? Please, look at this animal and let your heart

Until Oct. 31, The Prestonsburg Fire Dept. and WPRT Radio are sponsoring a Mysterious Mansion Haunted House. It's only 50' per person. Stop by and go through it. It will be open only one more weekend. This is the best ever, Your money will go to a good cause. Let's open that animal shelter and give these dogs and cats a home where they will not end their lives like "Red"...in starvation. These "stray" dogs and cats were brought into this world by someone's loved pet. If you own a pet that you love, it isn't asking much to say.. Stop by the Prestonsburg Fire Dept. and WPRT Radio's Mysterious Mansion and enjoy yourself while at the same time giving to a very worthy cause, Jenny Wiley Fishing Tourney— Is It the Ultimate Challenge?

The Jenny Wiley Fishing Tournament, held Friday through Sunday at Dewey Lake, should stand as a challenge to the likes of big-time professional tournament fishermen such as Tom Mann, Bill Dance, Roland Martin and others who always seem to demonstrate their angling skills on famous reservoirs that are lousy with fish to start with. At lakes like Kerr, Toledo Bend and Guntersville 30-lb. strings of bass are not unusual for tourney winners and oftentimes fish under two pounds are regarded as hardly worth throwing in the live well.

The Jenny Wiley tourney, sponsored by the state resort park of the same name, is a completely different ball

Consider, for example, the fact that the largest bass taken in three days of fishing on Dewey was the 1-lb. 11 oz. "hawg" of Donald Collins, of Prestonsburg. Collins won $50 and a trophy for the catch. Or dwell for a moment on the fact that the trophy for the heaviest string of bass went to Larry Collins for his eatch which weighed out a total of 2-lbs. 6-ozs. Kenneth Gibson's string of crappie won the

Man Wounded Here Shy on Information During Police Quiz

A man walked into the municipal building here Monday afternoon, told police he had been shot in the abdomen as he was about to enter his home and showed police the wound but otherwise declined to reveal any information about the incident and would accept no medical assistance, police said.

Prestonsburg policeman John Wright said the man, later identified as Charles Fleck, 35, of 61A Arnold Avenue, appeared at the police station around 4:15 p.m. suffering from a gunshot wound in his left side. Wright said Fleck told police that, as he walked up to the front door of his home earlier that afternoon, a man appeared from inside the house and, after a brief verbal exchange, shot him.

After turning down offers of assistance and refusing to answer questions about the incident, the man drove to Highlands Regional Medical Center, where his condition was later described as stable.

Police theorized that the incident may have stemmed from a domestic argument.

Fleck's identification was traced through the automobile he was driving, which was registered in the name of his wife, Kendia, in Charleston, West Virginia.

HAZEL ROBINSON FOR CITY COUNCIL

The City of Martin needs an Independent person to serve on the City council. As an independent, she will work for the people, not a ticket. Hazel Robinson will be directly accessible and accountable to all the citizens and will not hide behind a party ticket. As a member of the City council, I pledge to do the follow-

1. There will be better police protection. Members of the United Party are currently spreading untrue rumors that I intend to have Joe Wheeler Lewis hired to replace Hershel Lester. I will take this opportunity to inform the citizens of Martin, as well as the misinformed United Party, that the most competent and qualified person who applies for the job will be selected. There will be a preference given to applicants who live within the City because it is in the best interests of the City to have a resident Police Chief. I will recommend that the selected officer either have completed basic police training or agree to attend training sessions. I will gather input from each and every citizen concerning their opinion as to the applicant being selected. The person selected will be on duty at night and will answer calls, as well as provide constant

2. There will be better water and sewage service provided to the citizens of Martin. That is, there will be both a quality water and sewage service that works on a full-time basis, not as in the past. 3. There will be efforts made to lower the present high utility bills.

4. There will be a working relationship with Mayor Hall for programs which I believe to be in the best interests of the City of Martin. The present bickering that goes on at council meetings must stop and duly elected servants of the people must be willing to work together for the betterment of Martin. 5. There will be support for improvements for the daily lives of our Senior citizens. There are many activities that need the support of the administration that will benefit our Senior citizens.

6. There will be a street cleaning services provided for all of our streets and not just in front of certain stores, as with past administrations

7. All citizens will be treated equally. It is very shameful that citizens that are currently residing in our Housing Projects are afraid to vote the "wrong way" and must always express views that are favorable to certain people. A person should be able to vote and express the views as they honestly believe.

8. There will be an effort made to do whatever is necessary to help our vastly improved Volunteer Fire Department. I am proud of the effort that these gentlemen gave during the recent Red. White and Blue parade. They proved that they could more than adequately function with the co-operation of some people. The time for a change is now. We must put the best interests of the city first. Vote for someone who only wants to make Martin a better place to live. We need police, fire, adequate water and sewage systems, road repairs and officials working together and not only for their own personal benefits

In Memoriam

In memory of Eugene McKinney, age 48, who passed away one year ago, October 19, 1980:

His family wishes to thank all who stood by them at that time and throughout the past year. You know who you are and we know that you care, especially the Floyd Funeral Home who really cared.

He'd been ill since 1962 and God only knows the pain he went through. So many times I heard him say, "Why do I have to suffer this way?"

Oh, how well I remember that weary day when God came and called him away. As I rushed him to the hospital that night, we all put up such a hard fight, just hoping and praying we could save him. But when the doctor came out of the emergency room that night, he just kneeled down with grief and fright. He said, "I'm sorry but he didn't make it this time."

I couldn't believe it, so he repeated it one more time. I couldn't believe it, it just seemed minutes before he had looked out at me through the emergency room door. So pitiful he was to see, but he just looked, he wasn't able to

I couldn't believe it was real, I had to go in and see and just feel. Oh, how awful the sight to see him lying there and not able to breathe. I bent over and said, "Eugene," and as I kissed him on the cheek, I could hear Sister Marie saying, "God bless her," like an angel's voice. She was so kind, she held her hand-in-mine. It was like Eugene holding mine when we said our wedding vows, twenty-five years behind.

He left here a true wife and six children, four boys and two girls to mourn him in this world, a father-inlaw so gentle and kind, and a dear, sweet mother who has visions of him from time to time. So many relatives and friends he leaves behind but, Eugene, we know we have nothing to mind. And yet, as I sat by your grave tonight, it's so hard to bear but a beautiful sight to know you're lying there so peaceful and quiet in God's care this cold, October night. God called you home so you could rest, he knew you had done your best. Although you're gone from our home, your love and sweet memory will always live on.

Written by your lonely wife, PHYLLIS (HUNTER) MCKINNEY

Grand Jury Date Changed

The scheduled convening of the Floyd County Grand Jury, which was set for Monday, Nov. 2, has been changed to Wednesday, Nov. 11 at 9 a.m.

Joining The Club

Are airline clubs worth the membership fee? If you have never seen the private facilities at major airports, you may wonder what all the fuss is about

Most of the major airlines offer membership in private clubs for a fee under $100. The primary advantage of being a member is that you are allowed to enter private rooms at airports which have lounges, bars, televisions, phones, conference rooms, and services such as reservations and seat assignments.

If you fly regularly, especially if you fly for your job or your own business, it's probably a good idea to join. If you know you'll be flying on business for at least the next ten years, teonsider getting a life membership if the airline offers it—you'll come out ahead.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

1. In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Bailey Mining Co. Inc., P.O. Box 177, Paintsville, Ky. 41240, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 21.0 acres located southeast of Weeksbury in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 1.5 miles southeast of State Route 466's junction with Caleb Creek road, and located east of Elisha Fork, latitude 37°19'04", longitude 82°40'50". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Collins and Mayo Colliers. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: surface disturbance for deep mine. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. Copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 036-5153. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. 2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS

350 that the proposed post mining land use does not constitute a change from the premining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

Tough Black Lung Rules May Become Yet Tougher

Coal miners applying for benefits under the federal black-lung program have found it tough sledding under eligibility rules which were revised last year and are likely to find the going even harder if the rules are again revised according to a proposal announced recently by the Reagan administration.

Since permanent regulations were adopted in March last year, the success rate for applicants for monthly black lung benefits in this county has fallen from 33 percent to 15 percent, according to John Griffith, program representative here.

The dropoff in the success rate here reflects a state and national trend, and is mainly attributable to tighter medical criteria for eligibility, Griffith said.

Under the Reagan proposal, presently under consideration by Congress, eligibility rules would be even tighter

Arrests Listed

There follows a listing of those booked at the county jail during the past week, charges against them, and arresting officers:

and the coal operators' tax, which finances much of the program, would be doubled.

As a measure of the program's economic impact here, almost $11 million was paid out to Floyd county's 2971 monthly beneficiaries between October, 1980 and July, 1981. Nearly $1 million was paid out here in August alone.

But the black-lung trust fund, which is administered by the federal Department of Labor, is in economic trouble. The fund is burdened by a growing deficit, presently estimated at $1 billion.

The trust fund, which is supported by the coal tax, pays benefits to blacklung victims for whom no responsible coal operator can be found. To boost the fund's revenues, the administration is proposing that the present tax rate be doubled—to $1 a ton for deepmined coal and 50 cents a ton for stripmined coal.

In determining eligibility, the administration wants to eliminate three "presumptions" that may work in the applicant's favor: the presumption that a miner with 10 years in the mines who died of a respiratory disease died as a result of black lung; the presumption that a miner with 15 years in the mines and has some evidence of respiratory impairment has black lung; and the presumption that a miner who died after working in the mines for 25 years and met certain other conditions died of black lung.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Parker & Parker Mining Company, P.O. Box 2885, Pikeville, Kentucky, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 4.80 acres located southeast of Osborn in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 2.2 miles southeast of State Route 1426's junction with Left Fork of Toler Creek Road and located south and east of Osborn, latitude 27°28'22.1" longitude 82°35'41.8". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Etta and Alta Osborn, Route No. 1, Harold, Kentucky. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: underground mining and augering. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Regional Office, South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described underground mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the writtion. The objection or re for a hearing will reference application number 036-5158. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224,081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601

Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13(d)(10) and KRS 350 that the proposed post mining land use does not constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

Women's Groups Will Discuss Budget Cuts

Women from organizations across Kentucky and from Commissions on Women in six southeastern states will meet in Lexington Nov. 4 and 5 for a conference geared to discovering solutions to the impact of the federal budget cuts.

Called "Survival Strategies: A New Agenda for Fighting Back," the conference is a regional meeting of women's commissions from Alabama, Florida, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee. The conference is also open to the public, according to Jessica Schikler, executive director of the Kentucky Commission on Women

"We have invited state officials, key community and government leaders, representatives from women's organizations and human needs groups as well as concerned individuals to attend," she said. The Kentucky Commission on Women is co-sponsoring the conference with the southeastern regional office of the Women's Bureau, a division of the U.S. Department of

Ms. Schikler said the conference is slated at a particularly critical time. "We are just now beginning to feel the effects of the federal budget cuts which will have a serious impact on women and their children," she said. "We hope the conference will provide a forum for not only communication between the southeastern commissions but for an exchange of ideas and information among concerned Kentuckians as well.

The conference, held at the Carnahan House Newtown Pike, includes workshops, speakers and panel discussions on the current status of affirmative action, day care for children of working women, caucuses for domestic violence centers throughout the state, and techniques and ideas for successful fund-raising

Barbara Smith, executive assistant of the Kentucky Commission on Women, said nationally known speakers will be on the agenda including Delores Crockett, regional director of the Women's Bureau in Atlanta; Beverly Propes, a business and child care consultant from Minnesota, and Joyce Yu, director of the Ms. Foundation, New York.

The conference runs from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and from 9 a.m. to noon on Thursday. Cost is $10 and includes lunch on Wednesday and an in-Jormation packet.

"We also have a limited number of paid scholarships for the conference which were donated by one of our commission members," Ms. Schikler said. Persons interested in the scholarships or in registration should write Kentucky Commission on Women, 614A Shelby St., Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or call (502) 564-6643 before Oct. 30.

Airport Express

What's the cheapest way to get to the airport? Depends on where you are, how many of you are going, and how long you will be gone.

In the city, especially large cities, the airport bus can beat cab fares by up to 75 percent.

In the suburbs, compare the cost of using the family car to get to the airport and parking in the long-term parking lot with the cost of a local cab or private limousine service. Compare those prices with the per-person cost of an airport jitney service, if one is available.

As a general rule, the family car is least expensive for a large group—three or more—for a short time. If you're going to be away for wo or more weeks, the local cab or limo will almost always cost you less than the long-term parking. For single travelers, jitney services usually work out the best.

Nothing, however, will beat a teenager in the neighborhood who is willing to deliver and pick you up. You can always return the favor.

When you arrive at your destination, see if the hotel you are staying at offers courtesy bus service to and from the airport. Your travel agent should be able to advise you on courtesy buses; charters usually include free transfers at arrivals and departures abroad.

John E. Sparks, Floyd county extension agent, was honored recently in Ithaca, New York for his efforts in youth career guidance.

He was one of nine winners from across the nation recognized by his peers in the National Association of County Agricultural Agents at its annual meeting at Cornell University, Ithaca, NY. Sperry-New Holland of New Holland, Pa., sponsor of the program, provided plaques to each state winner and an expense-paid trip to each of the nine regional winners to the NACAA annual meeting.

Mr. Sparks' plan has been to make all 1,950 4-H'ers in Floyd county aware of the importance of beginning to think, early in life, of possible careers. A program on "Careers" was presented in the 92 4-H Clubs with their 2,950 members. Career materials were presented to 450 Day Campers as a part of the Day Camping Program, 70 high school seniors from Floyd and adjoining counties heard programs on 'Choosing a Career in Agriculture," by Mike Ritchie at the University of Kentucky, and in cooperation with guidance counselors and vocational agriculture teachers information on

Floyd County Towns Received $386,394 Last Year, Claim

Local governments in Floyd county received $386,394 for road improvements last year; the allocation under the new motor fuels tax system initiated in July, 1980 were an increase of $155,362 over the funds the county was allotted the previous year, 201

State Transportation Secretary Frank Metts said the increase resulted, even though the state's motor fuels tax receipts were four percent below the previous year's level.

City and county governments throughout Kentucky received $38.5 million for road programs in fiscal year 1980-81. Under the old county and municipal road aid programs, only $26.9 million would have been distributed.

During the 1980 session of the Kentucky General Assembly, the Brown Administration supported House Bill 973, which returned responsibility for local roads to local governments and increased the percentage of funds received by cities and counties.

Counties now receive 15.6 percent of the motor fuels tax receipts and cities get 6.7 percent. Under the previous road aid programs, only 10 percent and 5.6 percent were returned to counties and cities, respectively. In addition, 12 percent of the allocations withheld by the state Transportation Department for administration and emergencies was eliminated under the new law.

"Because we changed the funding procedures when we did, city and county governments have not been hit as hard by the road fund shortages. Instead of facing cuts in their road operations, they are receiving more money from the program than before," Metts

Floyd county received $337,819 under the county road aid program. The muncipal road aid program provided funds to Allen, $4,802; Burton, $6,105; Lackey, $1,950; Martin, $5,213; Prestonsburg, $22,698; Wayland, $2,547; and Wheelwright, $5,260.

Mark Fraser and Dr. Richard Wright recently conducted a management seminar for the supervisors of Our Lady of the Way Hospital.

Mr. Fraser and Dr. Wright are part of the management corporate office of the Alexian Brothers Health System. The Martin hospital has used their services for the past two years. Topics for the workshop were Wage and Salary Program, Discipline, Motivation, Job Satisfaction and Communication. The latest personnel techniques were reviewed and personal skills upgraded.

Participants in the two-day seminar were: Robert R. Rigel, administrator; Sr. Marilyn Hoffman, assistant/administrator, Susan Stewart, R.N., director of Nursing Service; Margaret Hoover, director of personnel; Moonyean Morgan, R.N., Ruth Shelton, Ann Whitt, Debi Caudill, Lyda Ward, Annette Vannucci, Rex Music, Jim Osborne, Toby Bingham, Charles Frye, Faye Shepherd, Helen Bradley, Naewana Nickles, R.N., Mary Martin, R.N., Sheilah Akers, R.N., and Janice

Banner Coal Firm Gets SOAP Grant

L.T.&R. Land and Coal Co., of Banner, has been awarded a $39,683 grant from the Small Operators Assistance Program, known as SOAP.

The grant, announced by Jackie Swigart, secretary of the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, is from a federally funded program designed to help small coal operators gather data required for permit application.

Grant funds provide for the gathering of background information on ground and surface waters, stream life and geological strata in the areas to be mined. Grant payments are made directly to the engineering firms selected to gather the data, program manager Bob Trimble said.

Work on the Floyd county site will be done by Dames and Moore and Commonwealth Technology, both of Lexington.

Kentucky coal operators mining 100,000 tons or less of coal a year are eligible for assistance under the program, Trimble said.

SOAP has provided more than $3 million in services to Kentucky coal operators since its establishment in October 1979.

Further information on the program can be obtained by writing SOAP, Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, 3rd Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or calling (502) 564-2356.

TO SING HERE SUNDAY

"The Redemptions" will sing at the 11 o'clock Sunday morning services at the Tom Moore Free Will Baptist Church, it is announced.

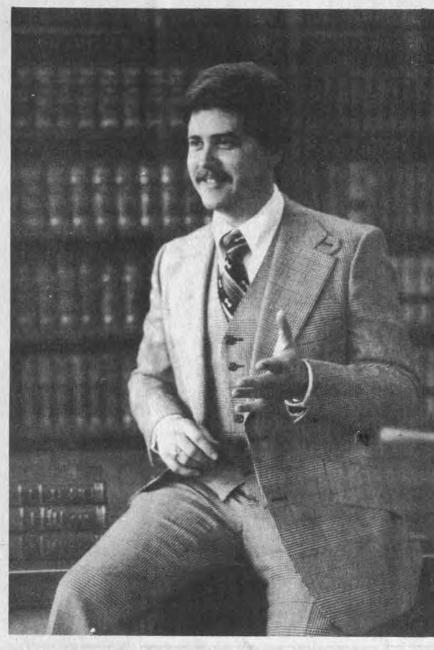

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY, FROM

GREG STUMBO

DEMOCRAT CANDIDATE FOR

STATE REPRESENTATIVE 95TH DISTRICT

Friends.

I wish to take this opportunity to ask each of you to vote for me for State Representative of the 95th Legislative District and to vote and support the entire Democratic Ticket. Even though many races are uncontested, it is still important to exercise our right to vote.

As most of you know there are two Constitutional Amendments to be considered by the voters. Amendment No. 1 deals with allowing the Governor, Sheriff and other constitutional officers to succeed themselves. In Kentucky our Governor has broad power, and once the Legislature is over he alone manages the State Government and budget until the next General Assembly, which doesn't meet until nearly 2 years later. I could have supported this measure had it not been applicable to this Governor, or had Governor Brown committed to support legislation in the 1982 General Assembly that would equalize the imbalance of power between the Executive and Legislative branches of government. As it now stands I firmly believe passage of this amendment would create a dictatorship in the Governor's office and I therefore urge each of you to vote NO for Amendment No. 1.

Amendment No. 2 is a bill which I sponsored that extends the "Homestead Exemption" to disabled Kentuckians. We all have friends and neighbors who are disabled and must live on fixed incomes and passage of this measure would give those people tax relief from property taxes. I support this Amendment and would ask each of you to vote for its passage.

Remember: (1)Vote straight Democratic

(2)Amendment No. 1 NO

(3) Amendment No. 2 YES

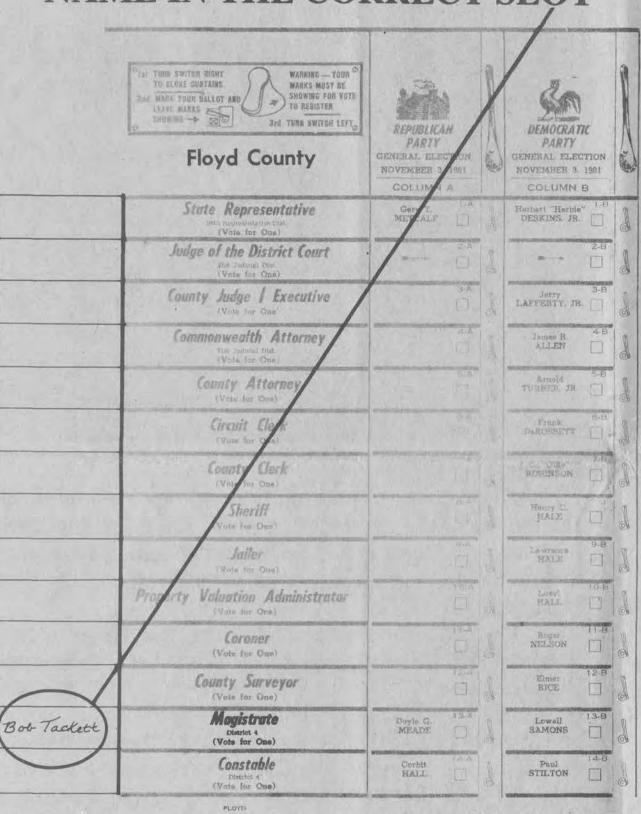

Many thanks for your vote and support.

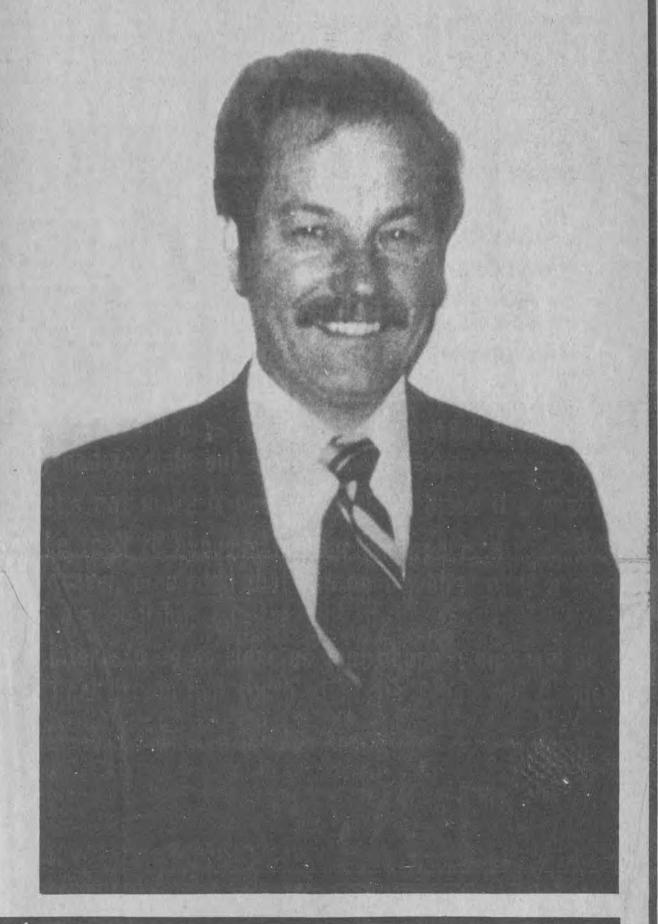

Sincerely yours, Greg Stumbo

BOB TACKETT MAGISTRATE DISTRICT 4

BE CONCERNED. WRITE-IN MY NAME IN THE CORRECT SLOT

TO VOTE FOR A WRITE-IN CANDIDATE, JUST WRITE THE NAME YOU WANT NEXT TO THE CORRECT OFFICE IN THE SPACE PROVIDED TO THE LEFT. THE NAME YOU WRITE WILL DISAPPEAR WHEN YOU OPEN THE CURTAIN.

Hello Again,

I'm Bob Tackett and I hope everyone knows by now that I'm running as a "write-in" candidate for Magistrate in District 4.

Here are some of the things I plan to do if I'm elected:

1. I'm going to establish a committee with at least one person representing each precinct who will in turn inform me of their community's needs.

2. I would like the people in our district to work with me. Before each Fiscal court session, I will hold a public meeting so you, the people, can have an opportunity to inform me of your desires and needs.

I will personally be working with the equipment. I will notify the community well in advance of the dates the equipment will be in their vicinity so they can inform me of their needs beforehand. I intend to stay in that community until the work is finished.

The worst will be finished first.

After the next four years, won't it be nice when our children, while sitting in a warm safe school bus can talk about the "old days" when the roads were so bad that they had to walk out of their hollows?

Let's not make it our dream, let's make it a reality.

The road to success for our children is a road they can travel, or a road that can be travelled or is a road that a school bus can travel.

I intend to be as close as your phone, which will be a local call if you live south of Prater Creek and Banner.

DHR To Fund In-Home Services For the Elderly, Stumbo Says

The Department for Human Resources will provide funding for more community-based in-home services to help Kentucky's elderly live independently. Dr. Grady Stumbo, department secretary, made the announcement at a news conference Oct. 21 in Frankfort.

Stumbo hopes to increase the inhome services provided by community agencies across the state by targeting funds from federal block grants into services that would help older persons stay in their homes

The services will include help with housekeeping, meal preparation, shopping, paying utility bills and home weatherization, as well as preventive health services. "An estimated 30 percent of current nursing home residents would have been able to remain at home if in-home services had been available when they made the decision to move," Stumbo said.

In addition, Stumbo is reviewing legislation to give tax breaks to families who care for their elder members. "Our intent is to support, not replace, these efforts made by Kentucky families," he said. Legislation proposed to give families the opportunity to contribute to part of the state's cost in caring for older persons will be supported by Human Resources, Stumbo added.

The success of this plan, according to Stumbo, depends on coordination of volunteer efforts with those of community and state agencies. He stressed that community support needs to be generated and planned with state agen-

Part of the funds for these services are from federal block grants. "We made the decision to accept the block grants so we could target the money where it is needed most," Stumbo said.

Nine percent of state funds from the Home Energy Assistance Program block grant, approximately $1.6 million, will be transferred to Human Resources' Bureau for Social Services for homemaker and home health aide services, home-delivered meals, chore services, and transportation and escort

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

By JANE BOND Health Educator

A two-day consultative and diagnostic heart clinic for medically indigent patients will be held in the Floyd County Health Department on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 3

Physicians from the departments of Medicine and Pediatrics at the University of Kentucky Medical Center will conduct the clinic.

The clinic is co-sponsored by the Bureau for Health Services and the county health departments. The clinic offers a diagnostic service for the patient along with recommendations for treatment and management of the Necessary expenses of the clinic are being underwritten by the Bureau for Health Services. Clinic personnel as well as space and equipment will be provided by the Floyd County Health Department and the Bureau for Health

The clinic is set up so that adults will be seen on Tuesday, October 3, and children will be seen on Wednesday, October 4. Only those patients who have been referred by a physician will be admitted to the clinic. This regional clinic serves Pike, Johnson, Floyd, Martin, and Magoffin counties.

Another one percent, about $170,000. will be transferred from this block grant to the Bureau for Health Services for the Neighborhood Health Worker program, which trains low-income, unemployed women to perform some chore and health services in the homes of older persons. The program has already trained 20 women in eastern Kentucky as community health aides. A demonstration project initiated by the Health Services Bureau will employ these aides to provide respite care for families caring for their own elder members.

About 15 percent, or $2.5 million, of the Home Energy Assistance block grant will be earmarked to weatherize approximately 2,000 homes. Stumbo said priority will be given to the homes of the elderly. The state's remaining funds from this block grant will be used to help low-income citizens pay winter heating costs. About 60 percent of these funds will be targeted to households with at least one member over 60 years

Approximately $4 million of the state's funds are earmarked for services for the elderly.

CITIZENS OF MARTIN YOUR UNITED PARTY PRESENTS

ABOUT MAYOR HALL AND HIS PEOPLE'S PARTY

THEFACTS

- FACTS ABOUT POLICE PROTECTION

Mayor Hall claims he wants a 2 man Police Dept. HOW? Who would work for him? Jan. 27, 1981 Police Chief Lester had to get a court order before Mayor Hall would issue the over due salary check for December 1980. Then Oct. 22, 1981 he fired the only policeman we have. He promises 2 but gives us none! Martin is fair game for thieves, rapists, and other outlaws. PARENTS your children have no police protection mornings and afternoons at Martin Grade School thanks to Mayor Hall firing Police Chief Lester.

- FACTS ON FLOOD CONTROL

June 14, 1980 Carl Perkins came from Washington, DC for an important meeting at Allen Central gym on this vital issue. Also there was Senator Benny Ray Bailey, County Judge Bill Wells, Rep. Greg Stumbo. Everyone except Mayor Hall!

Of the 2 important public meetings held in 1980 on flood control Mayor Hall, David Chafin and Jr. Key missed them both!

FACTS ON GARBAGE PICKUP

June 18, 1981, David Chafin and Jr. Key both voted against a 10 year solution to Martin's trash and garbage problem.

FACTS ABOUT CITY RECORDS

Law states that all records are to be kept in City Hall, open to public inspection. Not in your private home, Mayor Hall.

▶ FACTS ABOUT GRANTS

Jan. 8, 1981 special meeting. Jr. Key voted against $830,000 from Farmer's Home Administration, $500,00 from the Economic Development Administration and $100,000 from State Flood Damage Abatement Fund. David Chafin and Mayor Larry Hall refused to attend.

FACTS ABOUT CITY EMPLOYEES

Why has Martin had 3 City Clerks, 4 night policemen and 3 City Attorneys? Could it be lack of prompt salary payment? Could it be that Mayor Hall, David Chafin and Jr. Key are hard to work for? In 18 months it took 10 people to fill just 2 jobs. This is not a record to be proud of!

FACTS ABOUT THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

How can Mayor Hall claim support for the Fire Dept. when he refuses to pay its members the $300.00 he owes them for attending fire school last spring? How many grants have we lost due to you, Mayor?

□ FACTS ABOUT STREET REPAIR

April 13, 1981 Mayor Hall signed contract for road work with R&L Paving, agreeing to pay for work done each week. The first check for over $6000 Mayor Hall issued. He had payment stopped 30 minutes after. A second check for $12,000 Mayor Hall issued but refused to sign. June 3, 1981 R&L Paving had to bring an attorney to council meeting demanding payment.

Ice Plant Hollow was the last place R&L Paving worked before they quit due to non-payment by Mayor Hall.

FACTS ON WATER QUALITY

- 1. Is the water and water service any better now under present water commissioners? You be the judge!
- 2. The sewage system is now in operation and Mr. Dave Blair, Eastern District Supervisor of Sewage Operations for the Commonwealth of Kentucky says, "Improvements in the sewage plant and system since the lift stations became operational are amazing."
- The Martin water and sewage systems are in complete compliance with ALL state and federal water and sewage regulations.
- 4. The Martin water and sewage systems are under the supervision of a state-approved operator.
- Congressman Carl Perkins visited our water and sewage plants on 10/17/81, and states that he was very much impressed with our operations, considering the facilities we have to work with.
- 6. The Martin Water Commission in absolutely opposed to the purchase of water from other sources on a permanent basis as Mayor Hall has proposed. This would result in your water bill being doubled.
- 7. The commission will continue to make efforts to improve the water and sewage systems as long as we continue to serve as your commission.
- 8. Based on a Kentucky Court of Appeals ruling, the Martin Water Commission is legal in its setup and operation and cannot be "abolished" as Mayor Hall would lead you to believe, due to purely political reasons.

FACT: THIS IS BUT A SMALL SAMPLE OF THE DAMAGE MAYOR HALL, J. R. KEY, DAVID CHAFIN AND THEIR PEOPLE'S PARTY HAVE INFLICTED ON THE CITIZENS OF MARTIN.

CLOSED SEASON

The period from Nov. 1 through the third Wednesday in November is "closed season" in Kentucky's woods and

During this time, most hunting is prohibited, even for species such as groundhog, coyote and gray fox that otherwise have no closed season.

The reason for this "no guns" rule is to allow wildlife law enforcement officers to detect more easily those gun hunters who just can't seem to wait for the third Thursday in November, the opening day of small game season.

The only exceptions to this general no hunting rule are the woodcocks and snipe seasons (Oct. 3-Dec. 6); the goose, rail and gallinule season (Nov. 12-Jan. 20); and archery deer hunting (opened Oct. 1). The gun deer season (Nov. 7-16) also falls during this time.

The "shake-out" season for raccoons is also open during this period, but raccoon hunters may not carry firearms of any kind during this season.

Another exception is granted to those who hunt with hawks. Falconry season opens Nov. 1 and continues through the regular season for the species hunted.

But just because you can't go hunting is no reason to stay indoors in front of the television during this time. There are several pre-season activities which can make your hunting more enjoyable and productive when the Nov. 19 opening day finally does roll around.

If you spend most of your days behind a desk, start taking brisk walks at least three times a week and you'll be in much better shape for opening day. You'll be able to hunt longer without fatique and you could possibly prevent problems ranging from sore feet to a heart attack brought on by too much exertion after a long layoff.

And your shooting reflexes also probably need to be sharpened up. A few sessions with some clay pigeons (no closed seasons or bag limits on these birds) should get you swinging smoothly again. And while you're at it, better check the sights or the scope on your deer rifle to make sure it's shooting where you aim it

Early November is a good time to do some scouting for new places to hunt. Remember that you must have permission to hunt on private lands (written permission if you hunt with a rifle of 240 caliber or larger). A couple of afternoons driving through the countryside and talking to landowners could widen your hunting horizons considerably.

Or if there's a youngster in your family or among your acquaintances, you might want to spend the first part of November teaching him or her the basics of hunting-how to handle firearms safely and responsibly, how to shoot accurately, how to be a conscientious and responsible hunter and Giving someone else a proper introduction to the fine and honorable sport of hunting could turn out to be on of the best things you could do with your time this November, both for you and for the youngster.

Group Will Consider Block Grant Needs

The Floyd County Rural Development Committee has been selected by the Governor's Balanced Economic Growth Council as the agent for assessing needs and setting priorities to help determine funds provided through the new system of block grants. Chairman John Sparks has announced a meeting of all individuals and agency representatives who desire to assist in assessing needs and setting priorities. This meeting will take place at 6:30 p.m., Monday, November 9, at the Floyd County Library. The primary purpose for this meeting is to broaden the base of input into local and district planning which will be coordinated with assessments made by the Big Sandy Area Development District.

CONSUMER ALERT

Mail Orders

Shopping by mail can be very convenient. However, when your order arrives six months late or does not arrive at all, it can be very inconvenient.

Many Kentucky consumers have had problems with mail-order companies. In fact, Attorney General Steven L. Beshear says, "My consumer protection division gets more complaints concerning mail order problems than almost any other subject. If you shop by mail, you should be aware of your rights as a mail-order customer.

When you order merchandise through the mail, you have the right to know when you can expect your merchandise to be sent to you. If a mailorder company's advertisement or brochure states you will receive your order within a certain period, you must be sent the merchandise within that period. If no period of time is specified, the merchandise must be shipped to you within 30 days.

If a seller does not ship your merchandise within the proper period, you have the right to cancel your order, Beshear said. The seller must then return your money within seven days after you have canceled your purchase. When a sale is made on credit, the seller has one billing cycle to adjust your account.

There are exceptions to rights of cancellation. The cancellation rule does not apply to services like photo-finishing, magazine subscriptions, seeds and plants, or negative option plans—that is, shipments which come automatically with club memberships.

When ordering products by mail, smart customers take precautions, the attorney general said. It is always a good idea to read the product description several times. Never rely on pictures only. Make note of the delivery time given and allow plenty of time before holidays or birthdays so you will not be disappointed by a late delivery.

"Mail order companies vary in their policies regarding returns. Consumers should always find out what the company's return policy is before they order." Beshear advised.

Consumers should also keep good records of mail order sales just as they should for other sales. You should keep a copy of any order blank you fill out and save canceled checks and charge account records, Beshear added.

If you have any questions or complaints concerning mail-order buying or any other consumer problem, write to the Office of The Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

TO THE PEOPLE OF DISTRICT TWO

Mr. Roberts made a statement in the Floyd County Times that, if any one of the other candidates had gotten the nomination, they would have had to put up with Mr. Duff's running against them as a write-in, and with his hassling. No, Mr. Roberts, there would have been no need, but personally I think they would have had to put up with Mr. Roberts' hassling and law suits as my husband has in this election.

Mr. Roberts also made the statement in the Floyd County Times that he had done everything he could with the money he had to work with. Mr. Roberts, I think the people of Dist. 2 should have a break-down of the money you had and what it went for.

Now, Mr. Roberts, you have opened the door, you are so proud of your record for the past eight years, I think the people of District 2 would like to see the facts and figures. You said that if anyone was interested they could check, so this is one of the items that came from Book No. 11, Page 2—Jan., 1981: "BIDS ON TRUCK

"On motion of Ed Caudill and second by Kenneth Roberts, it is hereby moved by the court to accept the bid of $825.00 from Anthony Castle, this being the only bid that was filed, and to accept the repair bill against the truck in this amount of $825.00."

Bid $825.00 Repair $825.00 Balance $000.00

Now I ask you, the people of District No. 2, to go out to the polls Nov. 3 and exercise your constitutional rights.

Allen Central Concert To Feature Miss Hart

Sparkle Hart, McDowell-born singerdancer-songwriter, will appear at Allen Central High School, Saturday, Nov. 7, at 8 p.m. in a concert sponsored by the Red, White & Blue Day Commit-

A daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Grigsby, of Lexington, Miss Hart began performing professionally little more than a year ago, although her career has included guest appearances on the syndicated Bob Braun Show, numerous performances throughout Kentucky, and a successful single, "Wait a Little Longer." She has also appeared in Dick Clark's America Bandstand six times.

Her show combines a variety of musical styles-country to popular-along with song and dance numbers.

The night's entertainment will also feature The Gum Branch Heartbreakers who will provide yet another musical style in the form of traditional Bluegrass and mountain music. The Heartbreakers consist of Denzil Ray and Mike Hall, of Allen, and Chuck Tackett and Paul Neil Allen, of Prestonsburg.

Tickets are on sale at Allen Central High School during school hours or at the door

Wildlife Group Calls on EPA To Ban Use of Toxic Pesticide

The National Wildlife Federation has called on the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to ban any use or export of the toxic pesticide endrin. The call from the nation's largest conservation group came two weeks after the Montana wildlife agency announced that it had found high levels of pesticide in ducks and geese

Last spring endrin was legally sprayed on at least 120,000 acres of wheat in Montana to combat an outbreak of Army cutworms. Thousands of acres were also sprayed in Colorado, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Montana officials began testing migratory waterfowl after the Montana Wildlife Federation, and NWF affiliate, reported fish and other wildlife kills in that state.

Against the advice of the state health department, the Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks Commission voted in September to allow a duck and goose season this fall. However, the Commission cautioned hunters to strip birds of skin and body fat, to eat no more than one bird a week, and no more than six per year. The Commission also recommended that pregnant women avoid eating any waterfowl.

The NWF statement follow:

"The recent discovery of endrin contamination of waterfowl in Montana is more than just a wildlife problem. It is also a human, economic, and agricultural concern. And, it affects states other than Montana. Because the contaminated waterfowl are migratory, every state in the central and Pacific flyways must be on the alert. Although only ducks and geese have been tested for endrin contamination, it is clear that other wildlife species will also be affected, including such endangered species as the whooping crane, bald eagle, and peregrine falcon

"Obviously, there is a need for pesticides. However, the use of endrin, which is more toxic than the outlawed pesticide DDT, is simply unnecessary.

The availablility of less toxic but effective pesticides and new integrated pest management techniques make endrin an archaic choice.

"It is clear that a change in the regulation is called for. EPA must act swiftly to ban all use of endrin in the country, and since we do not want to export our environmental problems, the ban should cover export of this deadly pesticide as well as its domestic

The Montana Wildlife Federation joined NWF in calling for the ban.

AREA HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Northeast Area annual Home-

makers' meeting was hosted by the Magoffin County Homemakers at Magoffin County High School Saturday. The guest speaker was Dr. Pauline Fix, of Pikeville, who discussed "Cancer in Women." There were cultural arts displays by homemakers of the 10 counties represented at the meeting. Mrs. Mary Sue Moore, president of the Prestonsburg Day Homemakers, was second-place winner for her handmade bag, which qualified her to compete in the forthcoming state Homemakers' meeting. Mrs. Frances Pitts, Floyd county home economist, and the following Homemakers represented the clubs from this county: Dorothy Harris, Eleanor Horn, Becky Short, Carma Sturgill, Otelia Smiley, Stella Spurlock, Arnita Snavely, Ethel Ratliff, Grace Conley, Sharon Sparr, Mary Sue Moore, Lucy Regan, Sylvia Allen, Maudie Hill, Helen Boyd, Alda Gibson, Mildred Halbert, Opal Dingus, Virginia Goble, Norma Stepp, Dorothy Stover, and Peg Hewlett.

The first state laws establishing Labor Day as a holiday was enacted in Oregon in 1887, similar Legislation was passed in Colorado and New York later that year, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

A REPRINT OF AN EDITORIAL IN THE HAZARD HERALD-VOICE, OCTOBER 22, 1981.

Vote November 3...

YES ON SUCCESSION

Some people seem to think it is a sign of having political "smarts" to say that the Succession Amendment on the November ballot is going to be a test of Governor John Y. Brown Jr.'s popularity.

But the really smart thing would be for voters to judge the question on its merits.

The Succession Amendment would change the Kentucky Constitution to remove the current ban on serving a second term for the governor and other elected state officials, and for local sheriffs.

Supporters of the amendment stress the fact that voters would have greater freedom of choice if it passes. "Succession will allow continuity and provide the citizens of Kentucky the opportunity to allow a good governor to continue his program," says former U.S. Senator Marlow Cook.

Former Governor Ned Breathitt puts it this way: "The succession amendment does not give more power to the governor, it gives more power to the people. The only question is whether we trust Kentucky voters to make their own choice."

Breathitt also points out that Kentucky is one of only four states that do not now permit succession. And another supporter, Ed Prichard, Chairman of the Kentucky Council on Higher Education, adds, "Legislators, mayors, county judges, the Congress and the President can succeed themselves. Why can't the Governor?"

The same question can be asked about our sheriffs.

We wonder whether opponents of succession are not the ones responsible for turning the amendment into a political club to try to beat on Gov. Brown with. Republican National Committeeman Larry Forgy's recent remarks on the subject in the Lexington Herald, for example, have much more rhetoric than reason in them.

Forgy says the amendment would make the governor an "uncrowned king" in an "absolute monarchy." But he fails to back this inflated claim with any convincing evidence.

For example, Forgy says succession "would make any sitting governor unbeatable at the polls." But if we look at recent trends in Presidential elections, we see that voters are now very impatient with their leaders and are all too ready to turn them out quickly if they don't work miracles.

Forgy also alludes to "little yellow trucks." and the governor's potential power to build a patronage network with state employees. But even Democrats have been upset by Gov. Brown's rejection of the traditional use of the Department of Transportation to build a political machine with. The "little yellow truck" argument just doesn't hold water.

Forgy's debating points seem to us to be built on a lack of respect for both voters and legislators, whom he describes as "totally subservient" to the Governor. Until opponents of the succession come up with some better reasons to vote against it, we join with Carl Perkins, Harry Caudill, Benny Bailey, and other succession supporters in saying, "Yes. We want to have a choice. We can handle it."

"The Body Human: The Loving Process—Women," a new two-part infor-mational special with Linda Gray of "Dallas" as informal host and participant, concludes WEDNESDAY, NOV-EMBER 4 on CBS-TV. The special explores feelings about female sexuality, addresses the question of what sex-uality is and the role it plays in women's lives, and explores the unique phenomenon we know as sexual pleasure.

Part two continues Linda Gray's growing involvement with three women-one married, one divorced and one single—in Santa Fe, New Mexico in a program that is concerned with the physiology of what occurs dur-ing sexual pleasure. The program's narration complements the women's candid and emotional conversations.

HILL STREET BLUES

Captain Furillo (Daniel J. Travanti) tries to recover from his recent break up with Joyce Davenport (Veronica Hamel) by concentrating on the slaying of a prostitute, a rash of cab robberies and the ominous intentions of an exgang leader (Danny Glover) in the "Blood Money" episode of NBC-TV's "Hill Street Blues," THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5.

Detective Washington does a slow burn when he is misled by a well-paid snitch concerning the prostitute's slaying. Meanwhile, when a huge cache of arms is stolen, Furillo continues to keep a vigilant eye on Jesse John Hudson's veiled strong-arm tactics, as the former war lord of the feared Black Arrow gang maneuvers to regain control under the innocuous guise of community involvement.

ALLEN CHEERLEADERS HONORED

The Allen A Team Cheerleaders recently attended camp at the University of Kentucky. All squads were observed at work and competition during the week by the NCA staff. The squad was awarded two excellent ribbons, one superior ribbon and one super squad ribbon. On the last day of camp only the best squads were selected to participate in the Award of Excellence Run-Off. Out of the approximate 120 squads attending camp, Allen A Team was one of the two junior high school squads chosen by NCA staff to participate. The squad was presented a certificate denoting their cheerleading excellence. They were sponsored at camp by Charlotte Stumbo and Lula Ratliff. They were also visited by Glenda Blackburn.

The squad also had the honor of cheering at the Floyd County All-Star football game held at Prestonsburg High School October 15. Other members of the squad cheering at this event were: Renée Kinzer, Jessica Porter and Regina Hughes.

McDowell High School students will once again have the opportunity to investigate the workings of the federal government through participation in the Washington, D.C. CLOSE UP government studies program.

The announcement was made by Gary Frazier, assistant principal at the school, who will be organizing the program and accompanying the students on the program.

This is the first year that McDowell High School has been invited to participate in the program. The group will be traveling to Washington during the week of March 28—April 3 next year.

"CLOSE UP is a nonprofit, nonpartisan government studies program which takes the students out of the traditional classroom and puts them in the classroom of Washington.

"After a full day of interviews and discussions with some of the top names and 'behind the scenes' people in government, the students will continue in small discussion groups run by members of the CLOSE UP staff," Mr.

Frazier said.

He said that the students would also have some time for independent study in congressional hearings and that several social events were also scheduled.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO MINE

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350-055, notice is hereby given that: D.F.D. Co. Inc., of Rt. 850, Box 133, Hippo, Ky., intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 1.98 acres located North of Hueysville in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 1/2 mile north of State Route 80's junction with State Route 850, and located east of Right Beaver Creek, latitude 37º 31" 09", longitude 82° 49' 18". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Floyd Dean Davis. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is a construction permit involving two acres or less. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 036-0087. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS 350 that the proposed post mining land use does constitute a change from the premining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

THANK YOU, VOTERS

Due to my recent illness and a serious injury in my family I have not been able to visit with all of you as I had planned. I hope you will understand and continue to support my candidacy for City Council.

I continue to believe an independent voice is needed on our City Council. I believe there are many available federal programs that could help our community and that my background in municipal government and legal training could be put to good use in this area.

I believe in and support continued progress and good government for Prestonsburg and hope you will vote for and support me to achieve these goals.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO OWNERS OF RENTAL HOUSING

The Floyd County Housing Authority is administering a Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Program in Floyd County using funds provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Under this program, owners will rehabilitate rental units which are now substandard or have major building systems or components requiring repair or replacement. The cost of this work, which must total at least $1000 per unit, may be financed by a local lending institution, by the owner, or by any other source available to the owner. The agency does not make rehabilitation loans or grants, but will assist owners to obtain financing.

After required rehabilitation work has been completed, the agency and the owner will execute a contract which establishes a rent for the unit(s) that will cover rehabilitation costs, meet monthly operating expenses, and allow a reasonable profit on the owner's investment. For a fifteen year period, the owner will rent the rehabilitated unit(s) to eligible lower income tenants, who will pay approximately 25 percent of their income toward the rent. the agency will pay the remainder of the rent directly to the owner. The initial occupant of a rehabilitated unit may be the owner's present eligible tenant.

After rehabilitation the rent(including utilities) cannot exceed the following Maximum Rents:

> BEDROOM SIZE 319 282 206 244

The agency's current funds will allow rehabilitation of 35 units of rental housing as follows:

> 2 BR 3 BR 4 BR 1 BR 18 7 2 8

No unit will be assisted which results in the permanent displacement of a current tenant

Proposals from owners will be received by the Housing Authority until further notice.

Owners who wish to submit a proposal must obtain an application form from:

> Floyd County Housing Authority Housing Office Green Acres Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653

Telephone No. 886-2717 Office Hours: 8:30-12:00 and 1:00-4:30

Application forms and proposal packets may be requested by phone, mail, or in person. Information and assistance is also available at the above office.

Small Stores Still Surviving

store near your home may stay in business-despite the growing dominance of supermarkets and retail chain grocery stores in the past few decades.

But to survive, says economist Robert E. Frye of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the store will probably affiliate with a large wholesaler or grocery association or, rather than even compete with supermarket chains, resign itself to serving its customers' "fill-in" needs.

Whatever the outcome, the step will be one more in the evolution of the food retailing business, which has gone through several distinct phases during this century, says

"The mom and pop store dominated the grocery scene at the turn of the century," he says. "From 1910 to 1930, chain-type operations appeared with their efficiencies of vertical integration, standardization and lower prices. Supermarkets brought perishable products and self-service into the grocery store and flourished in the 1930s.'

While some small independents and chains withstood competition of large chain stores, many failed, says Frye. Grocery stores reached a peak of about 387,000 in 1939, and dwindled to about half that number by the early '70s.

With more people to feed and higher per capita incomes than 40 years ago, today's shoppers are buying more-not less-food, despite fewer markets. Total grocery store sales soared from $7.7 billion to $93.3 billion in less than 35 years-the largest gross sales of any industry.

About 68 percent of total grocery store sales occur in supermarkets with annual sales of $1 million or more," says Frye, "but that's also because stores become larger. In 1953, the average new supermarket had 13,600 square feet; but 20 years later, it had 26,000."

Meanwhile, the variety of stock items available grew from 867 different items a half century ago to 9,000 by 1974.

"Stores set an accompanying trend toward greater nonfood sales, such as clothing and drugs. The

The independently-owned grocery percentage of sales of food from 91 to 85 percent," Frye says.

"The advent of food chainsfirms with 11 or more stores-is largely a 20th century event. In 1930, chains operated 45,000 stores compared to 2,000 in 1910-and controlled a third of the industry's business. By the 1970s, they operated percent of all stores and controlled more than half of all grocery store sales." Other major developments include a "no frills" approach by some stores, Frye says, offering staple products in cut-open shipping cases to minimize overhead and labor costs and to permit low gross margins and prices. Also, some are adopting the universal product code identification system, a code readable by electronic scanners. "Though store owners are slow to install the expensive equipment many recognize the market intelligence and operational control it gives them."

The major chains-those with more than 100 stores-account for nearly 40 percent of sales but only 13 percent of all stores.

While national chains are prominent in metropolitan markets, there's still room for smaller rivals, Frye says. In 27 cities, one or more of the four top firms in gross sales operated only one store in the whole country. One or more of the four largest firms in 60 cities operated 2-4 stores and in 62 cities, one or more of the top four firms ran only 5-10 grocery

A factor in the survival of small grocery stores dropped from about chains and independents is their growing tendency to affiliate with large wholesaling firms or to cooperate with other retailers in wholesaling, says Frye.

Labels And Nonlabels

"Many chains find the use of private labels advantageous. They contract with food processors to package products with their own label at a price below that of leading food manufacturers, which gives the chain a higher gross margin. It also offers customers lower priced substitutes to national brands," says

Some retailers in recent years have begun to offer a nonlabel line of food and other products called

Labels on generic brands generally carry only the name of the product and required information on contents. "The products appear to be of lower grade than national or firstline private brands and their prices are well below regular brand prices."

Larger chains gain another advantage, says Frye, by manufacturing product lines such as dairy, bakery, canned, bottled and prepared foods. "That gives them a controlled supply of private-label products as well as profits from manufacturing functions."

Economics Of Scale

equal, direct operating costs in large stores are substantially cheaper per unit of dry groceries than in small stores. Supermarkets four times larger than typical operate at direct per-unit costs of 11 percent less for dry groceries. Stores 13 times larger save 16 percent, he says.

"Payroll advantages are significant, too. Based on data for 145 of the nation's largest metropolitan areas, payroll expenses were more than 10 percent lower among stores with annual sales of $4 million than among those of $1-2 million."

"But," says Frye, "large chains are bigger targets for labor unions and public pressures regarding prices, profits and other issues.

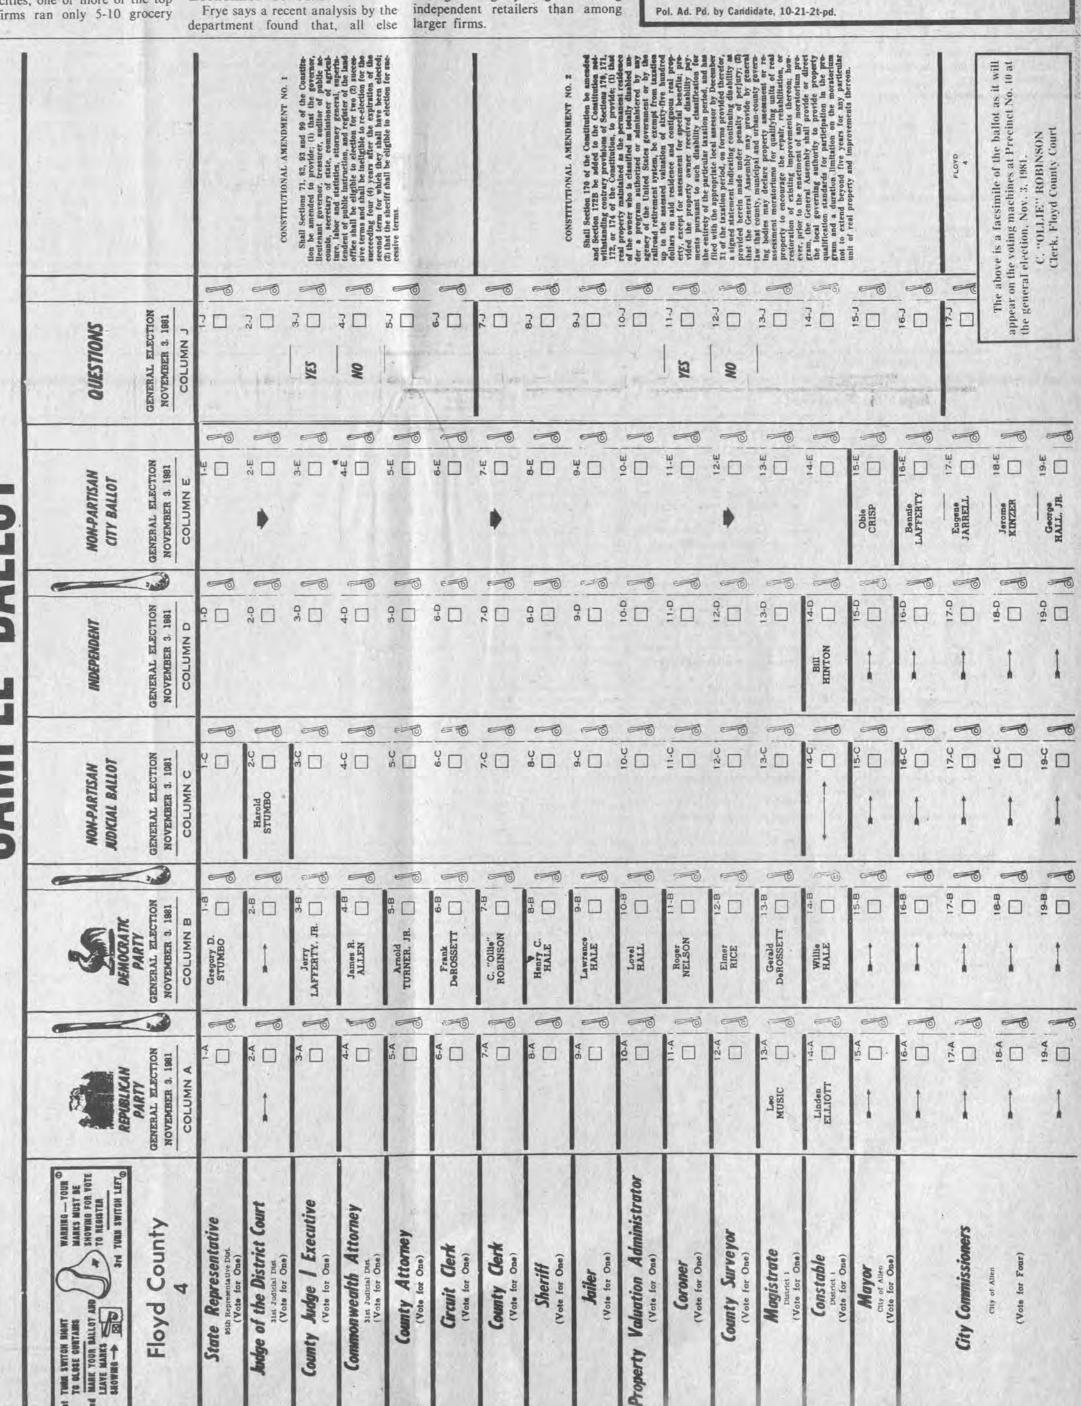

There is concern that large food chains possess the strength to eliminate retail competitors. Food chains also are accused of using their great buying power to hold down prices they pay to farmers and small manufacturers.

But one thing small chains and stores may be able to exploit in competing with large rivals is the flexibility they have meeting the demands of particular customers.

And at the bottom lineprofits-smaller stores and chains don't do all that badly, says Frye. 'Small firms' profits vary more but while the traditional grocery retailer profit margin of 1 percent of sales after taxes fluctuated widely in recent years, profit rates have averaged slightly higher among

Food Facts

Detect And Treat Food Allergies

Food allergies are becoming increasingly hard to trace because of food additives and hidden ingredients contained in many prepared foods. Weeding out the symptoms of a food allergy and tracing their cause can be difficult, even for professional food allergists.

But for the over 10 million people in this country who suffer from one or more food allergies, the task is essential.

"Some people are so sensitive to certain foods that the mere odor of them cooking can trigger an asthma attack, hives, or itching eczema, says Dr. Robert Stratbucker, the medical director of Dorsey Laboratories in Lincoln, Nebraska

"Of particular danger," says Dr. Stratbucker, "are the immediate reactions which involve the throat and respiratory passages, as they may cause shock and suffocation." Even migraine headaches, he says, can be directly attributed to food allergy.

Some people's allergic reaction is so severe that the windpipe closes. This unusually explosive response is especially true of people who are allergic to eggs, nuts and shellfish (lobster, shrimp, etc.)—the major culprits. Other foods notorious for causing allergic reactions and rashes: chocolate, seafood, and acidic fruits such as strawberries. Pork, corn, legumes (green peas, lima beans and peanuts) and milk are also apt to cause reactions.

Since eggs are a common ingredient in many prepared foods, you may find it hard to eliminate them or even discover their presence in your diet. Eggs are contained in puddings, ice cream, and candies. The whites of eggs are brushed on rolls, breads and pretzels to provide a glazed appearance.

If you have, or suspect that you have, an allergic reaction to a particular food, you can get relief from the symptoms of the allergy by taking an antihistamine (such as Tavist, the newest antihistamine on the market). Long-acting antihistamines effective in treating food allergy symptoms can be bought over the counter (or with a prescription from your doctor); however, the best way to deal with the problem is to avoid contact with the food that is giving you the trouble.

Certainly there is no guarantee that taking an antihistamine before eating will give you protection from a food allergy-in fact, that can be very dangerous, considering how violent some allergic reactions can be. Keep the antihistamine on hand for use only after the symptoms (if mild) have appeared.

To prevent the allergic reaction, keep a food diary, Dr. Stratbucker suggests. List "good day" and "bad day" foods. Suspected items can be checked by omitting them from the diet for approximately one week and then consuming them in excess to determine which one produces the reaction.

A number of cookbooks are available for food allergy sufferers. The following recipe is offered for persons allergic to eggs.

Do Your Own Diet Drinks

To keep the pounds off your waistline, and the extra cost off your food budget, make your own low calorie drinks using unsweetened fruit juice and club soda. The homemade diet drink will add up to 25 or 35 calories, and will supply you with good nutrition.

Club soda contains zero calories, and adds the fizzy quality to natural fruit juices that you look for in a bottled soft drink. Here's a few recipes with their calories.

- · 6 ounces club soda mixed with 2 ounces of pineapple juice (28
- · 6 ounces of club soda and 2 ounces of cranberry juice (33 calories).
- · 8 ounces club soda and 2 t. lemon or lime juice concentrate with 1 t. honey or sugar (25 calories).
- · 7 ounces of club soda and 2 ounces of unsweetened grapefruit juice; add 1 tsp. sugar if it's too bitter for you. (27 calories).

- I cup light brown sugar
- 1-1/4 cups water 2/3 cup rve flour
- 2/3 cup rice flour
- 2/3 cup cornmeal
- 1/2 cup shortening I cup raisins
- 2 t. baking powder 1 t. cinnamon
- 1/2 t. salt 1/2 t. nutmeg

Mix sugar, water, raisins and shortening in a saucepan. Bring to a boil while stirring, and then boil for an additional three minutes. While allowing this mixture to cool, sift rye and rice flour separately before measuring. Resift with cornmeal, baking powder, salt and spices. Othello "Chico" Renfroe, former Negro League player and now sports director for WIGO Radio in Atlanta. Georgia, narrates the one-hour documentary which features interviews with Thomas' stories present a view of what it was like being a black athlete during the 1920s and 30s-his participation in exhibition games against major league competition and the prejudices he encountered.

Thomas played centerfield for twenty years in the Negro League compiling a lifetime average of around .350. slamming an average of 25 homeruns a season: and his defensive abilities were legendary in Negro baseball. For years he was centerfielder for the New York Black Yankees, the first black team to play in Yankee Stadium. In Negro Baseball, Clint Thomas came to be known as "The Hawk." Ideal Gas Container Features The price of a gallon container with many safety features is at least $8-not too much to spend for a lifesaving investment. A good fivegallon container runs around $23.

Since the gasoline shortage, more people are storing a few gallons of gasoline at home for emergencies or, at serious peril, carrying extra fuel in their cars. Flimsy containers on sale as gasoline cans are aggravating the risks

One-gallon metal cans selling for about $1.50 have been severely criticized as unsafe. The National Fire Protection Association, a nonprofit clearing-house of information in Boston, says the seams of such cans are often practically "pasted together," giving no protection against the internal buildup of pressure from expanding and vaporizing gasoline. As temperatures rise, the can becomes a veritable bomb, ignitable by the smallest spark. One gallon of fully vaporized gasoline in a small room is equivalent to the explosive charge of 14 sticks of dynamite, according to the National Safety Council.

Cheap plastic containers are hazardous too. Says usually Oregon's State Fire Marshall, Clyde Centers: "Most containers in retail stores are made of plastic with seams and thin walls that rupture when

An ideal gasoline container—one meeting industrial requirements set by the U.S. Department of Labor and the federal Hazardous Substances Act., as well as embodying other common-sense features does not exist, as far as we know.

The most important feature of a safe container is its ability to vent accumulating vapors and thus prevent the time-bomb effect. Some models have separate pressure valves, but more often venting is adequately controlled with a spring operated lid. Because of the flammable vapors, it is imperative to store gasoline in a properly ventilated area outside the house-in a garage or tool shed, for example. Except when venting, the lid should be sealed with a gasket, and the gasket should be easily replaceable.

Projecting into the container from each opening should be a device called a flame arrester to prevent fire outside the container from following the vapors inside. Flame arresters absorb and dissipate heat by means of a phenomenon discovered by the 19th century British scientist Sir Humphry Davy: a flame won't pass through two concentric perforated cylinders. As further protection, the spout should be made of brass, which doesn't easily strike

A single spout is preferable. Although a second spout to let in air will help liquid flow better, the extra opening increases the chance of leakage. A squat shape gives stability and helps right a container if it is accidentally tipped. The container should be red with yellow markings and should carry the seal of approval of Factory Mutual Research Corp. (FM) or Underwriters Laboratories (UL).

A label should say "Danger gasoline" and warn about keeping it away from children and not inducing vomiting if gasoline is swallowed.

The container should have a seamless, one-piece bottom to ward off corrosion. A seam is a collection point for sediment, especially when located in the bottom of the can. The bottom should also be protected by a rim that keeps it from scraping against the ground.

The container's capacity should be on the label, and the container should not be underfilled. Underfilling allows room for too much vapor to form.

In Tire Change

If your car hasn't experienced a flat tire, chances are you aren't aware of the workings of your car's jack.

The time to learn about it is before you need it on the roadside. Give the tire-changing process a 'dry run" in the garage or on the

Knowing where the jack is and how it works will eliminate the need for the motorist to try his luck while stopped along the road, possibly in the rain or at night.

Each owner's manual contains detailed instructions for the jack and its operation and tells how to change

The spares include the conventional tire which can be put on a car for regular use; the collapsible spare which has to be inflated by a special canister, and the already inflated mini-spare.

Jacks include those which fit into slots in the bumper and those which fit under the door sill. They require different methods of operation. Know which one you have and how it operates; again, consult the Changing a tire is a relatively simple procedure but it should be done with some caution. The gear selector should be in the park position and the parking brake should be set. Place an object to block the wheel which is diagonally opposite the wheel being changed. Only then should you remove the jack and tire-wheel combination from the trunk of the car.

Flat tires no longer occur with any frequency, especially if the tires have a moderate amount of tread, but they always seem to happen at an inappropriate time. That's why a practice session will save a lot of mental wear and tear should the need to change a tire arise.

TO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT 2:

VOTE AND SUPPORT KENNETH ROBERTS

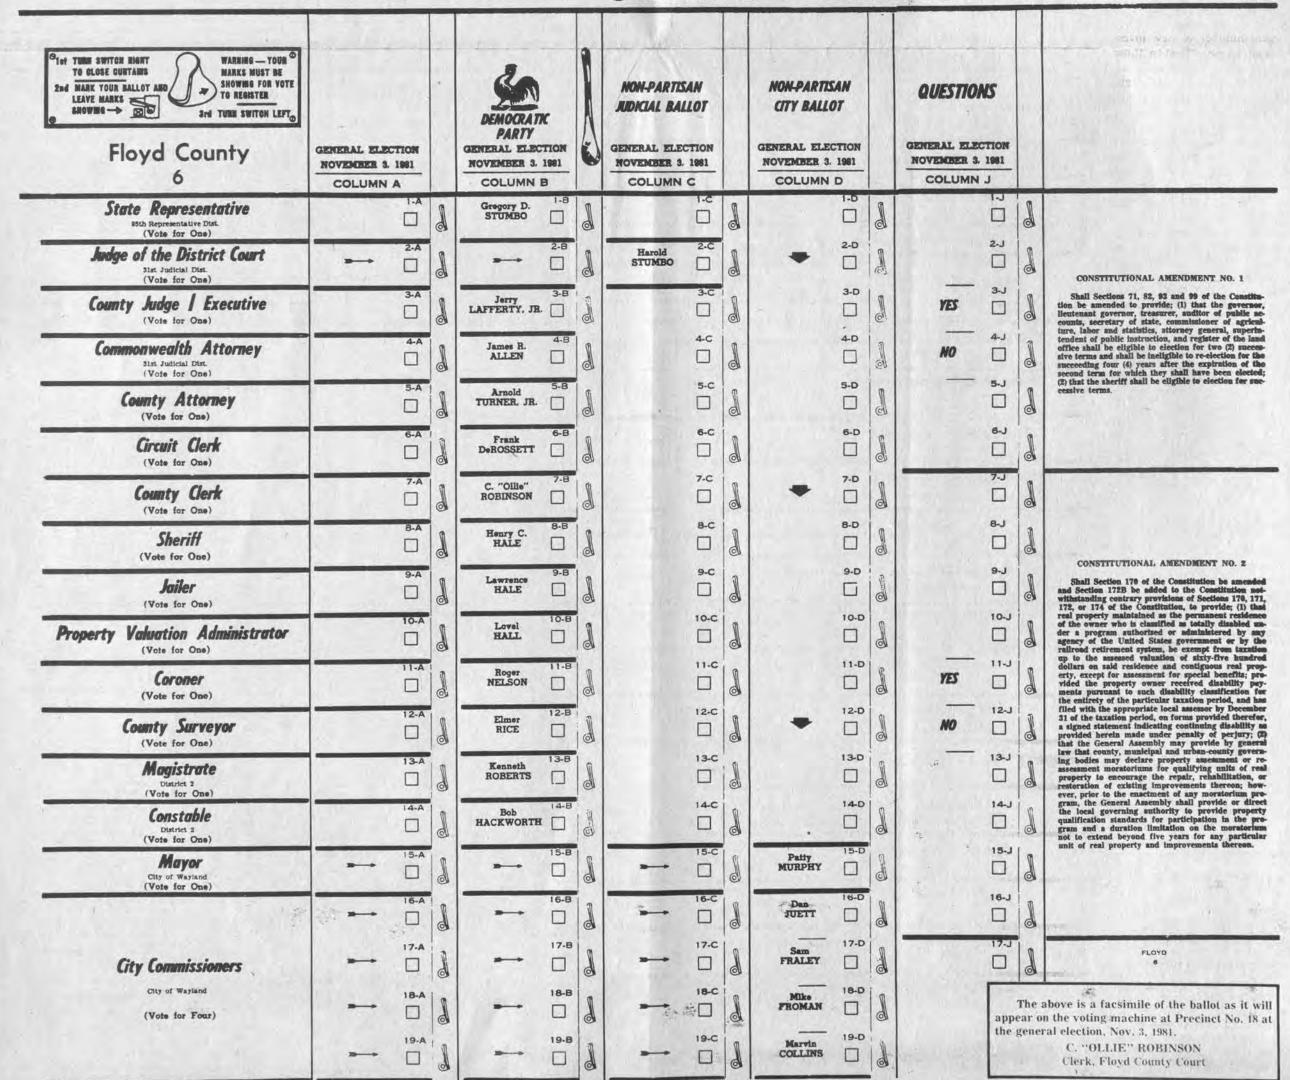

MAGISTRATE, DIST. 2

My opponent, Birchell Duff, who I defeated in the Democratic primary, and who is now running as a write-in, is asking people if they want four more years like the last eight years. I really don't see why they wouldn't, since I've done more in the last eight years than was done in the 16 years before me. I'll agree with Mr. Duff that I did defeat in the primary several good men who were opposing me as candidates, but if any one of them had got the nomination, they would still have had to put up with Mr. Duff's running against them as a write-in, and with his hassling. Personally, I believe in the two-party system. If you, the voters, have any doubts about what I've done for you during my terms in office, I ask you to simply go down to the courthouse and check the records for yourselves. Too, for more firsthand proof-not just what somebody says-go out and travel and check the roads in District 2. I have done everything I could with the money I had to work with.

Money Matters

See The Pyramids: Look But Don't Touch

A variation on the old chain-letter type of get-rich-quick scheme is sweeping the nation, especially the West Coast and the Midwest, bilking countless thousands of unsuspecting investors of millions of dollars.

Pyramid schemes may take many forms, but they can be recognized by three clear warning signals: total reliance on funds from new investors, need for an inexhaustible supply of new investors, and the absence of a profitable product or productive work. In addition, the plans are invariably touted as the chance to "get in on the ground floor" of a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to obtain a very high yield and quick return on an investment opportunity.

In a typical pyramid club, 32 people are asked to buy slots on the bottom row of a pyramid-shaped chart having 16 slots on the second tier, eight on the third, four on the fourth, two on the fifth, and one at the top. Each of the 32 newcomers pay half of the "investment fee" to the person at the top and the other half to one of the 16 players directly above him on the second tier. If the fee is $500, the person on top receives 32 times $250, or $8,000. But 64 more "investors" must be found before the next two people each can collect the same amount.

Some games are played for much higher stakes. In one case in Ohio, organizers boasted that each individual would receive $204,800 through participation, a mathematical impossibility. In order for one person to receive that amount, 4,096 people would have to pay $50 and in some of the rural counties where the scheme has proliferated, only five of those 4,096 people could ever conceivably receive the promised amount.

Pyramid clubs flourished because most people do not comprehend the astronomical number of new investors required to pay off even those who have reached the second tier. Indeed, in a hypothetical case where a promoter induces six people to join such a club, each of whom brings in an additional six investors per month, by the tenth month the number of players would exceed the population of the United States, and by the thirteenth month would more than triple the population of the entire world!

By contrast, there are multi-level selling plans which are not pyramid buying clubs. Some door-to-door companies sell distributorships and provide employment to people who sell products. Reputable firms in this category stress that the only way to success is to sell the products, establish repeat business, and provide the kind of service that keeps customers happy. Pyramid plans, however, use the pretext of selling products to engage in a pyramid or Chain distribution approach which concentrates on bringing people into the organization rather than on the sale of a product. Their promoters conduct "opportunity meetings" to convince friends, neighbors and business associates how easy it is to realize fabulous profits by recruiting others, who in turn recruit others, and so on.

Once money has changed hands in a pyramid transaction, there is virtually no chance of getting it back. But a person who feels he or she has been defrauded should report the experience to the local Better Business Bureau.

Mobile Home • Test For Quality

"What's underneath counts when shopping for a mobile home." Suzi Holder, Extension housing and interior design specialist at Oklahoma State University, warns that attractive interiors and flashy designs often hide poor construction.

As housing costs and mortgage costs rise more than 10 million persons have chosen mobile homes as a housing alternative. A mobile home may solve many of your housing problems if you shop before making the carefully purchase.

"Reputable mobile home manufacturers furnish specification information with the home," Mrs. Holden says. "If the 'spec sheet' is really specific, it can help you evaluate some hidden qualities in the mobile home."

The things to check to get your money's worth in housing are:

· Before buying a new mobile home, try checking the floor inside the used model by the same manufacturer. Can you trace the seams of the subfloor showing through the kitchen tile?

Is the tile buckling? Do you hear squeaks when you walk from end to end? If you do, you may encounter the same problems if you choose a home with a shoddily built bottom.

A sound floor is usually built with 6- to 8-inch joists crisscrossed with shiplap or tongue and groove subflooring 5/8- to 3/4-inch thick.

· Look underneath the mobile home and check the lag bolts, the I-beams and the axles.

· With your hand or elbow, push against the walls and ceilings. The amount of give denotes the difference between sturdy and poor construction.

A slight degree of springiness does not mean the wall is flimsy. Since a mobile home is built for mobility, some resiliency is needed or the home would break up when moved.

Better mobile homes have wall studs every 16 inches, using regular 2 x 4 inch studs at least in the outer

· The ceilings should have no molding strips, no rosettes, no obvious nails and no visible means of support. Press at random places to see how solid the ceiling feels. Make sure the truss rafters are placed 16 inches apart, not just over the living areas but throughout the house.

· To check the trussing, ask to climb on the roof. If the dealer says "No," chances are the roof is not well trussed.

· Whether your heaviest energy costs are for heating or air conditioning, insulation can help cut costs. In most homes, you can find a chart of insulation values.

· Check finishing touches for quality construction. Place a yardstick along the bottom or top row of cabinet doors to check if they are hung evenly. Make sure the doors are of solid wood with reinforcement against warping.

· Check that the countertop and its edge will not wear.

· Drawers should move on roller glides. Run a finger along the edges of drawers to check for splinters or proughness.

· Closets should be at least 22 inches deep and fitted with sturdy rods and shelves.

· All interior doors should be at least 1-3/8 inches thick if they have a hollow core. Even if exterior doors have attractive wood finishes the doors should be made of metal unless sheltered.

· Look under the kitchen sink, bath lavatories and other places where water pipes protrude through the floor. A plate should be sealed to the floor around each pipe to cover spaces that let in drafts, rodents and insects.

Mrs. Holder says, "Better-built mobile homes are well caulked and weatherstripped around windows and doors. These homes are sealed seainst roof leaks and they have dequate guttering."

NOTICE OF

INTENTION TO MINE 1. In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby giventhat: G & L Coal Company, 151 Walnut Avenue, Paintsville, Ky., 41240, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 13.0 acres, located east of Printer in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 1 mile southeast of State Route Ky 122's junction with Spurlock Branch Road, and located northeast of Spurlock Branch, latitude 37" 31' 51", longitude 83° 43' 42". The surface area to be mined is owned by: Keathley Heirs. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: surface disturbance of underground mining. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Prestonsburg Area Office, 431 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal adminstrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 036-5057. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081. (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS 350 that the proposed post mining land use does not constitute a change from the premining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

Money Matters

Giving Students Credit

Students are paying more attention to establishing credit, and credit card distributors are paying more attention to them.

Melanie Stockdell, director of the Consumer Relations Board at Kansas State University, says that many students seek advice on credit. And Evelyn Fox of Oklahoma State University's Consumer Action Council says her group is preparing a student guide to establishing Naturally, most companies in the multi-billion dollar industry have noticed this trend. Spokesmen for major firms say there are sound investment reasons for designing credit programs for the college market that ignore youthful finance drawbacks such as no property, no income and no credit history.

"We like the Jesuit concept of 'get 'em while they're young' because the college student of today is the consumer of tomorrow," says Kenneth V. Larkin, senior vice-president of the Bank of America, the country's largest commercial bank.

John Lockwood, director of the International Consumer Credit Association, adds: "Students are more charge card oriented nowadays. They are brought up needing charge cards." The St. Louis-based ICCA is a trade association for credit card companies.

Industry statistics show the entire country is becoming more credit card oriented. The Nilson Report, a trade newsletter, reports that if every plastic credit card holder was to spend up to his credit limit on each card, the total debt would be over $260 billion. By 1985, the figure is expected to reach $500 billion.

But even with this growth, hassles still exist for college credit applicants.

"The problem for students has been being educated enough to know how to go about establishing credit-knowing where to go," says KSU's Stockdell.

Mary Alice Minney, director of education for ICCA, suggests to students that, "The last thing you should go after is a major credit card, because that is the last thing you're going to get."

She suggests starting "small": opening an account at a local department store, returning mailed applications of established companies, and joining a credit union at

Taking out a small loan even when it is not necessary and paying it back promptly is also a good start for a credit rating, Minney says.

If an Oklahoma State student is denied credit, Fox suggests he go back and find out why. "The first thing that I emphasize to people is the Fair Credit Reporting Act, passed in 1971. You have to be told the reason why you were turned down for credit-if it's legitimate, that information could help in the

It may take some planning and persistence to start getting credit, but some companies are eager to help out. One reason is that a college student is expected to work in a higher salary bracket after graduation and receive pay increases at a faster rate than people without a college education says Bob Arietta, of Atlantic Richfield Oil Co.

Sometimes students exhibit an above-average loyalty to a company if they get their credit card into the student's hands early, says Irwin Penner, chairman of Gracious Lady Services. GLS is the parent company for College Credit Card Corp., which promotes its clients' credit cards on many college campuses.

"Students feel that the company who first extended credit gave them a chance when they really didn't have the credit background to go anywhere else."

"Selectivity" is the key to choosing the right college market, Penner concludes. Credit companies run the gamut from extreme selectivity to none at all.

D.H. Holmes Co., a New Orleansbased department store chain, sends students at "selected" colleges "invitations" to establish credit. A student returns, the application and is automatically extended a $200 credit limit. A "selected" college would be predominantly white, upper class, and private, says Charlotte Tillman, the credit promotion manager.

Students who have not been solicited for credit card applications have to apply in person at the store and undergo a personal evaluation by the store manager, Tillman says.

Swiss Cut Travel Cost

With more tour operators offering ski packages to Switzerland for the 1980-81 season, the cost of skiing Switzerland is more reasonably priced than it has been in recent years. The APEX midweek round-trip fare to Switzerland is $430 on Swissair.

Low inflation in Switzerland and the gain of the U.S. dollar against the Swiss franc since October 1978 have also brought down the cost of a vacation in this European country.

Other travel incentives for tourists that help to make an affordable vacation:

 Swiss Holiday Card—provides unlimited transportation throughout the country at attractive rates.

 Half-fare travel cards—entitles you to purchase tickets locally at a 50 percent discount for a small initial fee.

Senior citizens—pay only $50 for half-fare travel cards, valid for one full year. You are also entitled to sizeable discounts in approximately 400 hotels (show your passport).

• Cheap food—"Tagesmenu" (daily special) or "Tellerservice" (one-plate meal) are between $5-$7 including tips and taxes.

Besides the low midweek air fares now available, the Swiss are making a real effort to promote tourism. "Don't Miss the Swiss," a program conducted by the Zurich Tourist Office, provides visitors with an opportunity to dine with Swiss people who have similar interests and backgrounds. It is advisable to write in advance requesting arrangements (Zurich Tourist Office, Bahnhofplatz 15, CH-8000 Zurich, Switzerland.)

When you land at the International Airport, train service will whisk you directly into the main railway station in Zurich, or you can make a train connection to any part of the country. When you are ready to fly home, you can check your bags at many railway stations straight through to your airport destination back home.

Vacation Vaccination

The risk of contracting a disease remains high in many parts of the world. You may need immunization, especially if you are planning to visit tropical and underdeveloped countries.

Legal requirements for entry and epidemic conditions in different countries vary from time to time, often unpredictably. Probably the most important disease that travelers need to be protected against is malaria.

Other diseases that travelers may need immunization against include polio, tetanus, diphtheria, hepatitis, yellow fever and typhoid. Some younger travelers may need to be immunized against measles.

The chills and fever of malaria can strike down the unwary tourist who journey to such destinations as Africa, Inc 1, Thailand, Yemen, Turkey, N aragua, Brazil and Columbia. I many countries, the chances of 1 ntracting malaria are greatest out de large cities and in areas remove from the usual tourist routes.

Adults as children traveling to high-risk me aria areas should take antimalaria sedication once a week beginning ce week before arrival. This once-a veek dosage should be continued for six weeks after leaving the high-ris area.

Travelers not previously immunized against polio should receive immunization. Those who have had polio vaccine, but who plan to visit rural or remote areas of tropical or developing countries, should receive an additional dose of polio vaccine.

Because of the success of the measles vaccination program, many adolescents and young adults in this country have not had measles. For this reason, persons born after 1957 who have not had measles vaccine or the disease should be vaccinated before starting their trip.

Smallpox, Cholera Risks Low

There is no longer any indication for use of smallpox vaccine, but many countries still require evidence of vaccination as a condition of entry. Conditions that would preclude smallpox immunization, include pregnancy and skin disorders (eczema or dermatitis). In most countries requiring vaccination, a note from a physician explaining the contraindication will be accepted as a substitute for a vaccination.

The risk of cholera to tourists is very low and cholera vaccines have limited effectiveness—but some countries require cholera vaccination for entry of travelers from infected areas.

A.G. Moves To Block Power Co. Purchase

Attorney General Steve Beshear has announced that his office filed a complaint and requested injunctive relief in Franklin Circuit Court Oct. 15 concerning an order of the Public Service Commission issued Sept. 28. In its order, the PSC granted Kentucky Power Co. the authority to purchase a 15 percent in a power plant being built in Indiana.

"Our suit contends that the granting of the certificate allowing purchase of the 15 percent interest is unlawful in that the evidence presented to the commission is totally lacking as to alleged benefits which would inure to the Kentucky ratepayer," said Beshear.

Also of concern to the attorney general is the fact that Indiana does not require certificates of convenience and necessity regarding power plant construction, while Kentucky statutes require regulatory permission before construction may begin.

We feel the PSC, which has publicly indicated its concern regarding unnecessary construction expenditures, has not followed its own lead in this particular case and has failed to sufficiently scrutinize Kentucky Power's application," said Beshear.

The Energy Regulatory Commission, statutory predecessor of the Public Service Commission, refused on previous occasions to grant the requested certificate. The attorney general feels no evidence has been presented in the current case which would materially change circumstances and make necessary this alteration of regulatory policy on this

The Public Service Commission has failed to quantify alleged benefits to the Kentucky consumer in its order and has failed to find that the construction is in the public interest. For these reasons, we are seeking relief from the order issued by the PSC," Beshear

It's common knowledge that illicit drugs are big business. How big? The October Reader's Digest calculates that if all suppliers of cocaine were to form a single corporation, it would probably be the nation's seventh largest.

Study Shows No Irregularity

April that the engineering firm of Riley, Park, Hayden & Associates Inc. was investigating the road-building program and that the investigation included the letting of paving bids on KY the department's own engineers. The Herald's story identified the contracts under investigation as five contracts totaling $39.9 million awarded to a joint venture of Hinkle Contracting Corp. of Paris and East Kentucky Paving Inc. of Grayson.

State Transportation Secretary Frank Metts said that the investigation had found no evidence of such irregularities and that he knew of none.

'No, absolutely not, I know of no improprieties involving those bids." Metts said. The Herald story quoted a source close to the investigation as saying that the bids on KY 80 paving contracts ranged from 16 percent to 42 percent above engineers' estimates

Most of us are careful about keeping obvious poisons out of the reach of children. However, there are some items commonly found around the house that are seemingly not dangerous, items such as after-shave lotion, cologne or perfume which can cause serious damage if swallowed. If your child has swallowed any of these things, medical attention is required. In the interim, have the child swallow a glass of milk. Induce vomiting by inserting two fingers in the throat and then give the child two teaspoons of bicarbonate of soda in a glass of water.

The pharmacists at COOLEY APOTHECARY INC treat you like people. We don't simply offer push-button service. We make sure you understand all the terms of your medication. We are also always happy to advise about proper medication and dosages for children. We're small enough to know you and large enough to serve you. HANDY HINT:

If a poison victim is unconscious, do not give liquids or induce vomiting. Just keep the victim warm until medical help arrives.

Do you have a workaholic in your family? He comes home late from the office every evening, is usually tied up on the telephone during the weekend, and resists the idea of a vacation doing nothing.

Our society has encouraged such people because of the work ethic and the idea that a man who works so hard is doing it for his fan.ily. Many workaholics use this excuse.

But today there is greater awareness that all work and no play can be unhealthy for the overworked person and for his or her family.

Although the stereotyped workaholic is a man, women are increasingly becoming overly dedicated to their work as they move into positions that are demanding and high-pressured. In addition, women who stay at home can become obsessed with work around the house

One such woman-who ultimately sought counseling to resolve her marriage problems-found that she and her husband often quarreled when he came home from work and saw her cleaning out a closet or baking bread well into the evening. Her obsessiveness about housekeeping took away time they could have spent together.

Keeping Tabs On Your Stockbroker

Many investors wonder how they can be sure that their stockbrokers actually carry out a transaction as instructed.

Under the securities laws, a broker-dealer is required to send an investor a written notification whenever a transaction has been executed for the customer's account. These written confirmations provide investors with certain valuable information about their securities transactions. A confirmation must include such information as the date of the transaction; the identity of the security purchased or sold; the price received or paid for such security: and the number of shares, units or principal amount of such security. The confirmation must also reflect the time the customer's order was executed, or it must advise the customer that such information will be provided upon written request.

A broker-dealer must also disclose the cost of the actual transaction to the customer. For example, a confirmation must reflect the amount of commission or other similar remuneration that the broker has charged the customer for executing the transaction.

marriage are workaholics. Since each person has similar dedications to work, and expectations about leisure time, this type of marriage may be less frustrating than the situation where only one spouse is a workaholic: Nonetheless, with so little time together, the marriage may begin to deteriorate.

Helping the workaholic relinquish some of the feelings he or she has about work is extremely difficult. There are no easy answers, and generally, a long process of therapy is necessary to effect any change. Even so, most workaholics do not change unless social and personal relationships are considered as gratifying as work and success.

1. The Constitutional amendment to be on the ballot in this election would allow a governor to succeed himself in office. In Kentucky, the governor already has far too much power vested in a single individual, while the legislature has comparatively little. The governor's powers should not be additionally strengthened, as they would be by passage of the amendment.

2. This amendment would apply to the governor now in office as well as all other elected state officeholders. Without going into any personalities involved, this amendment would give them a personal stake in its approval, and thus could easily boil down to a popularity contest.

Arsenic Case Trial Set In Johnson Circuit Court

The murder trial of Lynn Marie Giswold Holbrook was scheduled to begin Tuesday on a change of venue in Martin circuit court in Inez.

Mrs. Holbrook is accused of using arsenic in December, 1980 to poison her husband, William Holbrook, 30, a major in the Paintsville Police Depart-

Since Holbrook's death on Dec. 13, 1980, state investigators have twice had his body exhumed from a family cemetery near Sitka in Johnson coun-

In a news conference in December 1980, police said Mrs. Holbrook admitted in a taped statement that she administered an industrial pesticide containing arsenic.

She told police in that statement that she took the pesticide from a Salyersville grocery where she had been working.

An autopsy performed immediately after Holbrook's death and subsequent tests did not indicate how long poison had been in Holbrook's body, according to Johnson County Coroner Bill Phelps.

That fact led to the second exhumation two weeks ago, he said.

As the trial begins, the question of how long the poison had been in Holbrook's body is important.

The state, according to Deaton, maintains that it was administered over a "length of time" and was therefore premeditated.

Defense attorney Gary Johnson, of Prestonsburg, says his client suffered from "the battered-wife syndrome" and will attempt to show that the poison was administered in one dose and was not premeditated.

"We're pleading self-defense," said attorney Steve Owens of Paintsville, who is assisting Johnson in the case. Holbrook and his wife lived with their small son, Scott, in a trailer on property owned by his mother, Elizabeth Adams, on VanHoose Branch at Sitka on KY 201.

Deaton said Mrs. Holbrook, in three different confessions, admitted putting arsenic into Holbrook's soda pop.

But Johnson says that only one of the three documents was a confession and that he will attempt to have it declared inadmissible because the confession was signed after Mrs. Holbrook had been alone in an automobile for several hours with law officers.

Spears said last week that all three statements were given after Mrs. Holbrook had been advised of her rights. "There was no duress, no coercion," he said, holding his palm up. 'No anything on that.'

In her first statement, police said Mrs. Holbrook admitted giving arsenic to her husband on Dec. 3. He died 10 days later

During Holbrook's illness, his wife reportedly drove him to Paintsville Hospital in West Virginia and finally to Highlands Regional Medical Center here where he died Dec. 13.

Mrs. Holbrook was arrested and charged with murder after a report was issued by the state medical examiner's office.

The body was first exhumed for examination in January this year.

Mrs. Holbrook was released from custody in January after her bail bond was reduced from $100,000 to $20,000.

In May, she received what police called "superficial wounds to the hip" during a shooting incident at the Sitka trailer.

Kentucky State Police Trooper Steve Bradley said that Holbrook's mother, Mrs. Adams, attacked her late son's wife when she and her attorney, Gary Johnson, arrived at the trailer to "inventory the estate.

Bradley said Holbrook's mother began beating Lynn Holbrook and allegedly held her as the patrolman's uncle, Carmie Holbrook, fired a single shot from a .12-gauge shotgun that struck Mrs. Holbrook in the hip.

Mrs. Holbrook was treated and released from Paintsville Hospital.

Carmie Holbrook was charged with first-degree assault while his sister was indicted on a charge of criminal facilitation to commit first-degree

Homemakers Clubs

If you agree that learning is a lifetime delight, then consider joining or forming a Homemakers Club, says Jack M. Friar, county extension agent for 4-H.

You can participate in many types of learning situations and volunteer activities. Homemakers Clubs deal with ways to make members homes more attractive, their families happier and their communities better places to live, according to Friar.

There are two types of Homemakers members. The regular Homemakers program in which members participate actively in a club group. Dues for this group is $1.25 a year. The other type of Homemaker is known as the Homemakers at Large Member. The latter receives the information by way of the mail in newsletter and leaflet form. Dues for this group is $2.00 per year.

If you are interested in being a Homemaker in Floyd county, please contact one of the seventeen Homemakers Clubs or call the County Extension Office 886-2668 for more information.

Bible Conference

Date Corrected

The beginning of the Spurlock Bible Church Fall Bible Conference was incorrectly reported in last week's Times. The conference will begin at 11 a.m. Sunday, October 25, and will run through Sunday, November 1. Services will be held nightly at 7 p.m. For information, call Pastor Dan Heintzelman, 285-3444.

REPORT SUCCESSFUL "OCTOBERFEST"

The Prestonsburg Elementary PTA held an "Octoberfest" October 10.

The booth making the most money was the "Old-Fashioned Country Store" which sold homemade and home-canned items. Second was the "pie throwing contest." Mr. Ralph Dingus and Mr. Onda Lowe Hunt volunteered to be the targets, and this was undoubtedly the favorite booth among the older students.

Another new attraction this year that proved very successful was having pictures made with Miss Piggy and friends in a hot air balloon.

The climax of the evening was the crowning of the Royal Family.

Jennifer Carroll and Jody Wallen were crowned princess and prince, and Nicole Weinstein and Chris Collins were crowned queen and king.

Approximately $2500 was made at the festival and will be used for improvements for the school.

NAME THE TRAIL CONTEST

Jenny Wiley State Park has recently completed a new trail that joins the Jenny Wiley Trail in the campground with the Lodge area. The new trail is 3.8 miles long, and is considered a strenuous walk. The official opening of the new trail will be Saturday, Nov. 7, but we need a name! A $25 Passport to Pleasure (State Parks gift certificate) will be awarded to the person with the best name for the Trail. All interested persons are invited to walk the new trail to help them in a name selection. Send your entry to:

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY ONCE MORE RESPONDS TO THE GROSSLY MISINFORMED BAD AND UGLY AND FISTFULL OF DOLLARS PARTY

As members of the People's Party, we are once more placed in a position in which we must respond to more outright and outrageous lies and we will once again set the record straight.

1. The opposition party is currently maintaining that the People's Party intends to replace recently fired Police Chief Hershel Lester with former Chief of Police A. J. Reed and former Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis. The point is that the opposing party has either a very vivid imagination or a gross disregard for the truth.

How can these gentlemen ever claim to be responsible Council members when they continuously tell the tales that they do? Most parties run campaigns that are reasonably calculated to inform the voters of their platform or stance upon the basic issues. However, these SNAKES IN THE GRASS never address issues. They only spread their outrageous reports which are never supported by any kind of facts.

We must ask the voters to consider the source of these statements and weigh them against the truth which is adequately supported by facts which the People's Party is informing you of.

The stance that the People's Party is taking on the hiring of two competent policemen is that all applicants will be screened and the two most qualified applicants will be selected. We welcome any input by concerned citizens of Martin in the selection process.

2. Once again the opposition party states that the former chief of police has not been paid. The record must be set straight that Mr. Lester's overtime claim was for the years 1974 through 1979. It must be noted that this was an administration in which Mr. Halbert and Mr. Everage served upon along with former mayor E. P. Grigsby, Sr. THIS IS ANOTHER PROBLEM CAUSED BY THESE GENTLEMEN AND INHERITED BY MAYOR HALL.

It must be noted that Mr. Lester's attorney offered to negotiate a settlement of this dispute at the last regularly scheduled council meeting. However, Mr. Whicker and Mr. Everage failed to show up for the meeting. These two gentlemen constantly ignore their civic responsibility. In addition, Mr. Lester has recently informed Mayor Hall that he would not settle for the amount that he previously authorized his attorney to settle for. It is quite obvious that Mr. Lester wants to keep this hanging over the City's head as long as possible.

In addition, because of the current dispute with Mr. Lester, which could potentially bankrupt the City of Martin, Federal agencies are withholding grant money until this dispute is settled. If Mr. Whicker and Mr. Everage are so concerned for the betterment of Martin, why is it that these two gentlemen fail to carry out their duly elected civic responsibilities?

Furthermore, Mayor Hall has paid, and has documented evidence which duly verifies this, that overtime which Mr. Lester claimed that he worked during the recent June flooding. It would appear that the opposing party should seek facts rather than make up these outright lies.

3. The opposition party states that Mayor Hall would not buy gas for Mr. Lester. Let's take some time and review the following facts:

a. Mr. Lester continuously refuses to issue traffic citations within the City limits. His excuse is that Floyd County Court refuses to levy fines and it renders his efforts useless. This argument by Mr. Lester would probably carry more weight if he had actually issued a single citation and given the court a chance to impose the fine. Why not at least give the court an opportunity to perform its duties before refusing to carry out his own duties?

b. Mr. Lester transports his grandson to Allen Central High School each school morning in the Martin police cruiser. The taxpayers should not be paying for this transportation when there are school buses readily available.

c. Mr. Lester drives to Bucks Branch to feed his livestock every day and uses the City's police cruiser in order to do this. Again, this is a personal usage of the City's police vehicle and our taxpayers should not bear this liability.

d. Mr. Lester drives almost daily to a restaurant in Garrett, Kentucky where he parks the City's police cruiser and sits for hours at a time. Should the taxpayers bear both the salary paid to Mr. Lester and the cost of the gasoline for this excursion?

e. Any personal business that Mr. Lester conducts which involves automobile travel has been done in the City's police cruiser at a cost which is absorbed by our taxpayers.

The thought must enter one's mind that perhaps the safe might not have been stolen from Druthers if Mr. Lester had been fulfilling his duties and patrolling the City. If he is going to claim overtime, then he should be held accountable for crimes which could be prevented with reasonable patrols.

Mayor Hall had no choice but to utilize the executive order to curtail Mr. Lester's usage of the police vehicle to run personal errands. Apparently, it is Mr. Lester's goal to drain the City's treasury. Besides, Mr. Lester failed to request the gasoline as directed by the order. How can there be a refusal when there was no request? This is just one more example of Mr. Lester's constant insubordination which the opposing party pulls the strings for Mr. Lester.

4. While we are discussing the topic of draining the City's treasury, we must ask Mr. Halbert and Mr. Everage why so many supplies were ordered from a company which a friend represented? These orders took place after the November 1979 election and before the Mayor took office in January of 1980. A review of the invoices which were presented to Mayor Hall readily indicates several cost discrepancies for the same item. Sometimes the item would cost $587.00, and, at other times, the same item was $637.00. One must wonder how could these supplies have been used so fast.

5. Is it not a well-known fact that when E. P. Grigsby was mayor, and Mr. Halbert and Mr. Everage were council members, that a garbage pick-up service contract was entered into with a company owned by Mr. Roy Ratliff and Mr. E. P. Grigsby, Jr.? We are positive that the citizens of Martin will recall the service which was provided and the garbage never picked up. However, we also recall that this administration took no action against this company. Once again, the citizens of Martin were made to suffer.

It would appear that Mr. Halbert and Mr. Everage always reward their friends at the expense and suffering of Martin's citizens. Are these the type of people that you want to represent you?

Once again we urge the citizens of Martin to learn from the past mistakes of Mr. Halbert, Mr. Whicker, and Mr. Evcrage. These gentlemen's record speaks for itself. Here is a golden opportunity to elect honest and capable council members who will work for the betterment of the City of Martin. All that we ask is a chance to show what can be done with proper leadership.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY RELIES UPON FACTS, NOT OUTRIGHT LIES.

Reports on Alcohol, Health

Violence, accidental or intentional, constitutes a substantial part of all mortality, illness, and impairment in the United States, playing an especially prominent role in death and injury among younger age groups.

Traffic accidents are the major cause of violent death. Between 35 and 64 percent of the drivers in fatal accidents had been drinking prior to the accident. Between 45 and 60 percent of all fatal crashes involving a young driver are alcohol related. In 1975, as many as 22,926 traffic deaths involved alcohol.

As many as 83 percent of offenders in prison report alcohol involvement in their crimes. While drinking often has been thought to be associated more with crimes against persons than against property, drunkenness is just as frequent in both.

Most studies show that 40 to 60 percent of homicide victims and up to 86 percent of offenders had been drinking when murder was committed.

ranges as high as 50 percent in sex offenders and 31 percent in rape victims. The most extensive American study on the subject found that in 63 percent of rapes where alcohol was involved at all, both victim and offender had been drinking.

Estimates of alcohol involvement in

Estimates of alcohol involvement in reported assaults range up to 72 percent of offenders and 79 percent of victims.

One study estimates alcohol involvement as high as 72 percent in robbery offenders.

The largest American study reported that 38 percent of child abusing parents had drinking problems, and other studies have shown that up to 65 percent of child abuse cases are alcohol related. One study reported that 52 percent of violent husbands had histories of problem drinking or alcoholism.

One researcher estimates an annual toll of 18,000 deaths and 10 million injuries from industrial accidents. Up to 47 percent of non fatal industrial accidents and up to 40 percent of fatal industrial accidents are alcohol related.

Alcohol use is associated with up to 69 percent of drownings. Boating accidents could be caused by poor judgment, faulty coordination, and lack of attention associated with alcohol. Swimmers may take more risks.

It is estimated that as many as 10,000 of suicides in 1975 were related to alcohol. Between 15 and 64 percent of attempts at suicide and up to 70 percent of suicides had been drinking at the time. The risk of suicide for alcoholics is as much as 30 times greater than for the general population.

Up to 83 percent of all fire fatalities and 62 percent of all burns involved alcohol use at the time of the accident, 53 percent of the fatalities and 23 percent of the burn victims were alcoholics. Alcohol is involved in nearly three times as many deaths from cigarette caused fires as in deaths in fires resulting from other causes.

Alcohol has been found to be involved in up to 70 percent of all deaths and 63 percent of all injuries from falls.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAYS

Scott C. and Jennifer Kay Hall celebrated birthdays last month. Scott turned 10 on September 8 and Jennifer six on Sept. 13. They were entertained with parties at their home in Wise, Va., by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Carlos Hall. Their grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carlos L. Hall, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Odis Ousley, of Martin.

Re-Elect

HAROLD STUMBO FOR DISTRICT JUDGE

I wish to express my appreciation to the voters of Floyd County for not having any opposition for the office of District Judge. I am of the opinion that I should thank the citizens of this county for this confidence.

This is probably the most difficult job I have ever encountered. As you know, state officials have attacked me time after time and they have interfered constantly in the operation of this office. The voters of this county and this Judicial District should determine whether a local official is doing his job. I cannot express my disappointment enough with certain officials in Frankfort, but in the end the voters should be able to determine their elected officials without the approval of

I have done my very best with a very difficult and complex office, and I believe that I could have done a better job if I had not received this state interference. I have had four years of experience now and with that four years behind me, I feel sure that I can do a better job. Beware of power being transferred to Frankfort, because the more power Frankfort has, the less freedom you and I have.

My name is not under the Democratic Party of the Republican Party on the ballot but is located on the ballot separately. If you intend to vote for me, you must pull the lever adjacent to my name on the ballot.

I have the power of many with your support, but without your support, I do not have any power. Every person in the county should know me and I will try to do my job as in the past. Let the word go forth throughout this county that I am the same man that I have been in the past. I believe that there should be strong law enforcement as to major violations of the law but I agree with Oliver Wendell Holmes, (Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court) that if every technical law was enforced strongly, the law would be intolerable and we could not live with it. Justice for all tempered with mercy. VOTE AND ELECT HAROLD STUMBO,

HAROLD STUMBO

Better Tax Base To UK Homecoming

Is Roads Need Addressing the State Highway Advisory Committee at Lexington Wednesday, Transportation Secretary Frank Metts said, "We've got to find a more stable foundation for the road fund. We're taxing a vanishing com-Metts said the motor fuels tax, which produces 45 percent of the state's road fund, is a decaying base under Kentucky's transportation system. "We need a broader based user-pay system, not just the motorist and trucker. Everyone needs a dependable highway system," he said.

"They're looking at artichokes for fuel in California. There will be electric cars on the road next year. How are you going to tax artichokes and electricity to build roads?" Metts asked the committee.

The State Highway Advisory Committee is a 45-member citizens group representing various interests and regions of the Commonwealth formed by Metts in September. The Committee intends to develop a package of legislative proposals to present to the 1982 General Assembly that will bolster the state's sagging road fund which has not kept pace with rising construction and maintenance costs.

State officials told the committee that the Transportation Department faces a revenue shortfall of $255 million in 1983, which may grow to $550 million

"At this rate, we will not be able to maintain the roads we have," said A.R. Romine, assistant state highway

Committee members discussed funding proposals ranging from increasing registration fees and removing the sales tax exemption on gasoline to seeking a percentage of the state's general fund.

The next meeting of the advisory committee has been tentatively scheduled for Nov. 19 at Elizabethtown.

Mrs. Bailey Discusses Red, White and Blue Day

On an early morning television program, Jim Bakker had 80-year-old Mrs. Cornelia Bakker as his guest for an interview. She lived in Holland. She and her husband were concerned about helping the Jews who were being persecuted and put to death. Mrs. Bakker said that in 1938 life was very peaceful and good but things became worse. She and her husband felt it was their duty to help others. They made preparations for the people to live underground from February 1943-October 1944 and then they were discovered. All were shot to death.

Think about this, fellow Americans. I sat there and listened to Cornelia Bakker and cried. Anyone who has a heart could not help but shed tears.

Jim Bakker asked her, "What would you tell the world?'

She replied, "They should live peacefully together.'

"Live peacefully together," how true. We had better take time out from our fast pace and slow down, live and have a little more love and concern and lend a helping hand to our fellowman. Seems like anymore, everyone is out for themselves; maybe not everyone. God doesn't want this way of life. He, like Cornelia, wants every person in this world to be good to one another. That's about all we have left. If we will let Him, He will put that love in our

Announces Retirement

The First Commonwealth Bank of Prestonsburg has announced the retirement of C. E. Brewer as executive vice-president, effective October 9. Brewer has been with First Commonwealth since February 24,

A native of Pikeville, Brewer attended Pikeville Junior College and Bowling Green Business University before accepting his first banking position at The First National Bank of Pikeville in April, 1944. By 1952, he was controller and vice-president of the Pikeville bank. In March of that year he joined Citizens Bank of Pikeville as vicepresident and controller and remained there until 1959

After seven months service at Lexington's Central Bank as vicepresident, Brewer joined The Island Bank of Holmes Beach, Florida in 1960. He served there for more than ten years, until 1971 when he left his position as director and president of the Florida bank to join the Clinch Valley Bank, Richlands, Va., where he became executive vice-president and director. He returned to Florida in 1972 where he became president and a director of Ellis National Bank of Dade City, positions which he held until 1974.

Active in civic affairs, Mr. Brewer served as vice-chairman of the Anna Maria Youth Center from January 1962 until December 1963, as president of the Anna Maria Island Chamber of Commerce from 1964-66, and on the Committee of 100 from 1964-71 while in Holmes Beach, Florida

Honored at a dinner given by First Commonwealth, September 26, Mr. Brewer and his wife, Reba have moved to their Bradenton, Fla. residence.

KIWANIANNES MEET

The monthly luncheon meeting of the Prestonsburg Kiwaniannes was held at May Lodge last Thursday at noon with the president, Mrs. Carolyn Ford, presiding. Cards were signed to be sent to members, Mrs. Ella Tankersley and Mrs. Olga Latta, who have been ill. Mrs. Vera Ford, secretary, read a copy of a letter she had sent to Calvin Gray and the Woodmen of the World, thanking them for furnishing the American Flag for the Floyd county courthouse. a project which was sponsored by the Kiwaniannes. The president discussed the heart clinic to be held at the Floyd County Health Department, Mrs. Ortha Meece served as chairman of the serving of sandwiches, cookies and soft drinks, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Kiwaniannes, and several other members volunteered their services during this time.

It was decided that due to the Thanksgiving holidays, the next meeting would be held Thursday, November 19, rather than the regularly scheduled meeting later in the month, and that the Christmas luncheon would also be earlier than the usual fourth Thursday

The installation of officers was conducted by Mrs. Carolyn Ford, who had served as the club's president for the past two years. Officers installed were Mrs. Thelma Wallen, president, and Mrs. Vera Ford, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Garnett Fairchild, the newly elected vice president, was not present. Mrs. Wallen, on behalf of the club, presented Mrs. Carolyn Ford a gift of gold candlesticks in appreciation of services rendered during her tenure of office.

Present for the meeting and the luncheon were Mesdames Carolyn Ford, Thelma Wallen, Vera Ford, Ortha Meece, Jenny Bottoms, Nancy Webb, Stella Spurlock, Myrtie Davis, Docia Woods, Mary Lou Layne, Lillian Rimmer, Thelma Music, Angeline Chaloupka, Lucy Regan, Opal Dingus. and Myrtle Allen.

Blackcats Come from Behind To Defeat Pikeville, 20 to 14

The Prestonsburg Blackeats won their seventh game in a row Friday night away from home, coming from behind to down the Pikeville Panthers,

The game was the typical, hardhitting contest between the two teams and by the time it was over had everybody in the stadium on their feet.

Prestonsburg received the opening kickoff and returned it to the 32. From there the Cats methodically moved to the Panther goal line, with the big play coming on a burst up the middle by John Gilliam for 28 yards to the

Grid Homecoming Set For Prestonsburg Hi At Friday Halftime

Prestonsburg High School football homecoming will be held Friday when the Blackcats play the Hazard

The week's activities will include a bonfire at the Archer Park horse arena at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, and a parade through Prestonsburg Friday afternoon at 4. Any group wishing to participate in the parade should contact the high school and meet other participants at the rear of the Prestonsburg Grade School at 3:30 Friday afternoon.

The homecoming queen will be crowned during halftime of the ball game which will begin at 8 p.m. Friday. Homecoming queen candidates are Mary Burchett, Beth Garrell, Beth Holbrook, Kim Hughes, Donna Merrit, Tia Music and Janie Rice.

After an exchange of punts, Pikeville began its own scoring drive from its 46. After reaching the Cats' 48, Chris Ratliff broke off tackle on a 48-yard spring for Pikeville's first t.d. Randy Richards kicked the extra point, and the game was tied at 7-all as the first quarter ended.

In the second quarter defense took over for both teams. Prestonsburg maintained good position for most of the period but couldn't reach pay-dirt. With less than two minutes left in the half, Steve Rice's halfback pass was intercepted on the Pikeville 22. The Panthers immediately went to Ratliff on the option, and he responded by racing 78 yards for the score. Richards' kick was again good, and Pikeville at halftime led, 14-7.

The second half began with both team fired up on defense. After two exchanges of punts and an exchange of fumbles, the Blackcats began a drive from their 45. The game moved into the final quarter as Prestonsburg moved to the Pikeville 32. At that juncture Blackcat quarterback Todd Nairn threw a perfect strike to Brad Hughes for Prestonsburg's second touchdown. Sturgill's kick tied the game at 14-14.

After Pikeville then moved for a first down, the Prestonsburg defense stiffened and John Anderson intercepted an errant pass, returning the ball to the Pikeville 40. After one first down Rice broke off the left side of the line to the Pikeville 10. It was third down and six yet to go when Nairn on the option dove across for the touchdown. The extra point attempt failed, and the Cats led,

With little more than four minutes to go, Prestonsburg's John DeRossett intercepted his third Pikeville pass of the evening. The Cats ran the clock down to a minute to go before punting, then held on to thwart Pikeville as time ran

"It was a great win," said Phillip Haywood, head coach for Prestonsburg. "Our kids really played hard, though we made some silly mistakes. The defense was outstanding. We hit and pursued well and made things happen.

The Cat defense created seven turnovers-three interceptions by DeRossett, one by Anderson, and a fumble recovery by Ray Marcum, Joe Frazier and Jeff Wells. The defensive efforts of the front line, Sturgill, Wells, John Burchett, Jim Webb and Frazier, linebackers Gilliam, Marcum and Bryan Pace, with the secondary of Anderson, DeRossett, Dennis Flanagan and Rice held the Panthers to 226 yards total offense, with 126 of these yards on Rathii's two long gainers.

Coach Haywood added: "Our special teams played well, and our offense had a couple of good drives and came up with the big play when we needed it. It was an overall team win. Our kids showed a lot of class and character, coming from behind as they did in the final quarter. Pikeville has an excellent team, but our coaches and players worked hard for this one."

Haywood also had a word for the fans who accompanied the team to Pikeville. "They're something else.

Our players said they could really hear them, especially in that fourth quarter, and that certainly helped.

The statistics:

Total yards-Prestonsburg, 227; Pikeville, 226. Rushing-Prestonsburg, 195 in 45 attempts, losing one fumble; Pikeville, 182 yards in 34 rushes, lost three fumbles. Passes completed-Prestonsburg, one touchdown, one intercepted; Pikeville, four of 11 completed, four interceptions. First downs-Prestonsburg, seven; Pikeville, six.

Rice picked up 65 yards rushing, Midgette had 61, Gilliam 41 and Nairn 28. Prestonsburg raised its record to 7-2 while Pikeville dropped to 8-2.

The Cats will be host to the Hazard Bulldogs Friday night, which is Blackcat homecoming and parents' night. Pikeville played Betsy Layne last night (Tuesday)

Gary Bevins, 18, a junior at the Kentucky School for the Deaf at Danville, is playing halfback for the school this season. With five games played so far, the team has a 4-1 record.

How Parents Can Help Child To Be What He or She Wants To Be

day, the journal of the National PTA, Dean L. Hummel, career eduction expert, outlines, "how parents can help their child plan for a satisfying

Since an individual's identity is tied very closely to the work he or she does, career planning is vitally important in a child's development. "I believe parents are the greatest potential helpers in their children's career planning-if and when they know how to help," says Hummel, a professor of counselor education at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University and author of a book and numerous articles on career planning.

Career development experts say children progress through three phases in their career development. In the fantasy phase (prior to age 11) the child thinks he can do anything and does. He has no concept of reality. He can become a cowboy, an astronaut or a movie star. Parents should listen to the child's expression of dreams and engage in the child's games as he acts out various jobs. In the tentative phase (age 11-17) when children are trying out their decision-making skills, parents should accept their child as a growing person with strengths and weaknesses. For example, a child may want to join the French club while his parents want him to join Junior Achievement; they should be supportive of his decision. During the realistic phase (age 17-young adulthood) when the young person makes choices based on reality factors (available education, job requirements) and his own capabilities, parents should be aware that the idea of traditional male/female occupations is disappearing. Girls can become medical doctors; boys-nurses.

"The three phases are consistent with the modern school's attempt to provide career learning activities for students," says Hummel. Schools offer career awareness at the elementary level, career exploration at the mid-dle/junior high level and career preparation in senior high. The formal career learning activity is the "prevocational" course such as industrial arts, home economics and introductory courses in agriculture and business Side-by-side with the regular curriculum, schools often provide other activities and clubs where students can develop their interests and skills. Clubs like the Future Teachers of America or the chess, drama and debate clubs provide students with the opportunity to develop leadership and "people" skills which will be useful in their later

Plane Cures For Ear Popping

During the early days of air travel, the stewardess (now known as the flight attendant) would give each passenger some chewing gum as the airplane began its descent for landing. The chewing gum helped ease ear "popping," a minor distraction for some, a major problem leading to severe earaches for Ear popping is less of a problem now, largely because airplane cabin pressure is better controlled. For some, it can still be a considerable annoyance.

As the plane descends from a high altitude, the atmospheric pressure on your body, and on your eardrums, increases. The difference in air pressure inside and outside the eardrum causes the pop.

The American Council of Otolaryngology-Ear, Nose and Throat specialists—says the key to ear popping is the Eustachian tube, which replenishes the middle ear with air. If it becomes blocked, the air already in the middle ear is absorbed, a vacuum develops, and the eardrum is sucked inward. It pops.

To keep air flowing into the Eustachian tube, consistent swallowing is a good idea because it activates the muscle that opens the tube. Yawning is even better because it activates that muscle even more. Chewing the gum does the same thing.

If your ears still pop, try this: pinch your nostrils shut, take a mouthful of air and try to force the air into the back of your nose; in effect, try to blow your fingers off your nose.

Use just the pressure of your cheeks and throat muscles. Don't force air from the diaphragm or chest; that causes too much pressure.

You may look a bit silly, but it's better than spending the first few hours of your vacation with an

The specialists also say a decongestant, taken an hour before the plane's descent, can help shrink the nearby membranes, making it easier for the ears to pop.

One other airplane health notestay away from the liquor. In addition to keeping the cabin pressure more stable, modern jetliners also keep the cabin air very dry. With the humidity low, any alcohol is absorbed very quickly into the blood, or in layman's terms, it takes a lot less to get you (pardon the expression) high.
