Water System Work Is Under Way Here

Work was begun June 1 toward the long-planned expansion of water plant facilities here and the extension of service to customers as far distant as Mare Creek. Capacity of the water plant will be doubled from the present 1.5 million gallons per day to 3 million gallons with the completion of a 350,000-gallon underground reservoir, (pictured at left) which is under construction near the present water treatment facilities at Lancer, and replacement of water tanks here and at Allen by larger capacity tanks. Adjacent to the excavation work pictured, construction was well under way this week on a new 60 X 100 office and maintenance building for the Prestonsburg City Utilities Commission (above photo).

Extension of line from near Allen to Mare Creek and installation of a 12-inch main from the utilities commission's office building to Court Street is part of the $4.2 million water expansion project which is being funded through money acquired through the Farmers Home Administration, Economic Development Administration, Appalachian Regional Commission and the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Water line extension is expected to be completed within 12 months while work on the water plant will be finished approximately two months later, according to City Utilities Commission Superintendent Bill H. Howard.

Prisoner Jailed Here, To Receive Psychiatric Test

Elisha Branham, Jr., 23-year-old Prater Creek man who at one time was feared a victim with Michael Dwayne Cline in the Allen service station robbery, has confessed that he was the 17-year-old Cline's slayer.

Branham signed the confession last Thursday, Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen said, before leaving Texas City, Texas, where he had been held as a suspect by police. Allen, State Detective Danny Stumbo and Commonwealth Detective Tom Halbert had flown there to return Branham to this county. They arrived here with the prisoner last Thursday night.

The confession detailed events of the night of July 9 when both Branham and Cline were reported missing, but Branham said he had no intention of killing young Cline when they left the service station at which the Emma youth was night attendant. He told of going to the service station, of talking to friends there and waiting till closing time when only he and Cline were there. Then, he said, he robbed the station at the point of a .22-calibre revolver which he had wrapped in a towel, and ordered Cline into his car with him. Before they left, he added, he acceded to Cline's request for permission to turn off the lights and gasoline pumps.

His statement, according to the prosecutor, told of driving KY 80 toward Hazard and of Cline's request for money to buy a bus ticket back home. When the youth took only $1 from the service station haul of $1344, he said he told him that was not enough money, to get $10, which Cline did. (That was the amount of money found in the victim's wallet after his body was discovered. See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Public Housing Curfew May Be Attacked Here

Can administrators of a public housing project legally impose a curfew on their tenants? That question may be tested in court here soon as a family facing eviction from the Cliffside housing project vows it will fight to stay or there.

Jerleen and Bill Conway were among the new project's first tenants when, with Mrs. Conway's four children, they moved into their four-bedroom apartment there in April this year. At the end of August they received a 30-day eviction notice claiming that their 15-year-old twin sons had repeatedly violated a curfew requiring that all tenants under 16 be indoors by 9 p.m.

Complaints had also been received from neighbors alleging that the boys had been drinking in public and cursing, wrote Chaddie Salisbury-Crider, deputy director of the Church Housing Association, which administers the 94-unit, federally subsidized housing facility.

The Conways say they believe the curfew is unconstitutional and that the housing administrators are discriminating against them. Other youngsters who have violated the curfew and some tenants guilty of worse conduct than that of which their sons are accused have not been threatened with eviction, they claim.

Four known drug dealers operate out of the housing project and sexual behavior is so open "you could make a pornographic movie" on the sidewalks there, Mrs. Conway said.

"We would like to find out why we're being railroaded," Mrs. Conway said, adding that they "only wish to be treated the same" as the housing project's other tenants.

Housing authorities deny that the family is being discriminated against and point out that they have an obligation to maintain the peace for the sake of the housing facility's other residents. The Conways have been repeatedly warned for violations of housing project regulations and neighbors' complaints of rowdy behavior have brought police to the family's apartment five times in recent months, they said last week. Sheriff Quits Office For Church Ministry; Hale May Be Named

Doug Lewis resigned the office of sheriff at the end of the day Monday, to devote his full time to the Christian ministry.

In effect, the county was without a sheriff Tuesday, pending the appointment of Lewis' successor by County Judge-Executive Bill Wells. Judge Wells, who has been hospitalized by illness, returned to his office Tuesday morning but said he does not expect to make an appointment till today (Wednesday). Meanwhile, the office was being kept open by clerical assistants, Mrs. Maggie Taylor and Miss Cathy Campbell.

Ex-Sheriff Lewis did not recommend any individual as his successor.

The former sheriff was converted, about two years after he became the state's youngest sheriff in 1978. He has been preaching for almost a year, and will be ordained as a Southern Baptist minister Sept. 12 at Benedict Chapel Baptist Church, of which he is pastor.

Discussing his decision to vacate his office, Ex-Sheriff Lewis spoke of his gratitude to the people of the county. "They have been good to me, and I felt a great responsibility to them," he said, "but God put the sheriff's office lower on my priority list."

He spoke of the difficult decision he had to make. He said he had first considered resigning as early as last January. "I had a feeling of guilt. I felt the call to preach, and I could not be the preacher I should be and still be sheriff. And as a preacher I couldn't be the sheriff I wanted to be. I have been praying about this for a long while now. It's the hardest decision I have ever had to make, but there comes a time when you've got to do what the Lord wants."

Then Lewis added: "I know this explanation will not satisfy some people. Unless you know God, you can't understand."

Judge Wells said he will appoint Henry C. Hale, of Blue River, a former Floyd sheriff, to serve the four months of the unexpired term, if the attorney general gives legal clearance. He has asked the attorney general if Hale's appointment now would conflict with the regular four-year term he is expected to begin Jan. 1. (Hale is the Democratic nominee for sheriff, without Republican opposition in the November election.) A written opinion is awaited and is expected today.

Wells pointed out that appointment of Hale rather than some other individual will save the county $5000 to $6000 in audit expenses. If another were appointed to the office, he said, an audit at that cost would be necessary at the beginning of Hale's term, but if Hale is appointed now, no audit would be necessary as he continues in office.

Floyd Jail Inmates Complain Of Overly Long Legal Delays

Several inmates in the Floyd county jail complained this week of waiting long periods for court appearances and even for the appointment of attorneys to represent them.

Their complaint comes as the state's economically-pinched public defender system is coming under mounting pressure to provide lawyers for indigent clients, lawyers the state Public Advocacy Office is increasingly hard put to provide.

Floyd county lost its public defender office in July when it was consolidated with the Pikeville office. Public Defender Rick Burmeister said at the time that the closing of the office here would mean an immediate cut in public defenders' services in Lawrence, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties and that probably no new clients would be accepted in this county.

Two Ohio men, Gary Cooper, 20, and Robert Dolt, 23, have been held here since March 16, awaiting trial on burglary charges. In June, they were further charged with promoting contraband, after Dolt was allegedly found with drugs and Cooper with hacksaw blades in his possession. They claim they have yet to see an attorney.

This Town...That World

Time being as precious as it is, it may be almost sacrilegious for one to feel about August as I do. But I must confess that on this first day of September I am quite happy to give the back of my hand to the month just past. Dog days?—they have been days not fit for a dog; heat and drought; scum on pools that once were clear; grass that was green, now hay-brown; flowers that blest, only a memory, and sounds that should cheer now mourning better days. The month, they tell us, was named to honor the emperor, Augustus. Welcome to it, Gus!

THE RAINMAKER

The Floyd County Fair starts today (Wednesday), and if that doesn't break the drought, start seeding the clouds and organizing rain dances.

AH, SEPTEMBER

This month is pretty well filled with "events" to go along with the days. Locally, there's the Floyd County Fair now in progress, with the Highlands Folk Festival coming up Sept. 11-13 at Jenny Wiley State Park. Next Monday is Labor Day, a holiday which we shall observe as they did before it was celebrated—by working. Then there will be Home Week, Sept. 13-20, a week that begins with (cheers!) Grandparents' Day. Native American Day on Sept. 25 will, we presume, salute the Noble Redskin, and the next day Hunting and Fishing Day will be observed in fairly sane fashion, mostly by the 100 Miles a Gallon . . .

Auto Inventor Says Unveiling To Be in Floyd

An automobile which, its inventor says, will run no less than 100 miles on one gallon of gasoline will have its premiere exhibit on the afternoon of Nov. 7 at the Melvin school which its designer once attended.

The automobile is now complete and ready for demonstration, its designer and builder, John Marvin Johnson, 47, of McGrawsville, Ind., said Monday. Its first public viewing will wait, however, till it is unveiled at the Floyd school. The first showing is scheduled for 1 p.m., with the second at 3 p.m.

Since patents are pending, Johnson did not release full details of the vehicle's construction. It is a two-door coupe, with 78 1/2-inch wheelbase, 122 inches in overall length, with two-coil front spring suspension and two-leaf rear suspension. The car will have no transmission; instead, will have a gear reduction box which will function as an "in and out" gear box. Connected from the secondary engine to the drive shaft, this will be the drive train.

County Agency Sues To Bar 'Independent'

Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc., the county's new trash collector, made another move this week in its effort to secure total control of solid waste collection and disposal here. The agency filed suit in circuit court Friday to block Paul Slone, an independent collector, from doing business in the county.

In its suit, the agency claims it has an exclusive agreement with the Floyd fiscal court to operate the landfill on Osborne Branch (also known as Garth Hollow) of Left Beaver Creek. The Osborne Branch landfill is the only one approved in this county by state environmental authorities, plaintiffs note.

Slone is collecting solid waste without a license and dumping it in places other than the approved landfill, it is claimed.

Also named as defendants in the suit are the board members and director of the Martin Housing Authority, who are accused of hiring Slone to collect garbage at two housing projects there, in violation of an exclusive franchise awarded to Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc. by the Martin city council in July.

Slone is also collecting garbage for the county's schools and the city of Allen and the solid waste agency's attorney has been instructed to write the Board of Education concerning the matter. Neither the school board nor the city of Allen is named defendant in the present suit, however.

Plaintiffs are asking for $10,000 in damages, an accounting of all fees collected by Slone in violation of their franchise rights, an injunction against Slone's collecting garbage in this county or dumping it in any unauthorized place, and an injunction against Martin Housing Authority's hiring unlicensed trash collectors.

A suit filed in court represents only one side of the issue in dispute.

Finds Lake To Its Liking

A GRACEFUL EGRET, a type of heron commonly associated with cypress swamps and tidal pools, seemed a bit out of place as it stood along a stretch of Dewey Lake shoreline, Sunday, placidly observing the busy weekend boat traffic. It is reported that the big bird has spent much of the summer at Dewey.

IS IT WRONG TO CRY?

When a friend or loved one dies, it is only natural for your emotions to give way to grief—and for you to cry.

Tears are therapeutic in more ways than many of us realize. They give us an emotional outlet, providing us with specific physical action we can perform. At the realization that the loved one is gone, tears may come easily for both adult and child—and this is good! Children may even be encouraged to let out their feelings of grief by crying.

Most do not need extra encouragement since it is so natural to weep in sorrow. It is not unmasculine to cry at the death of a loved one or a dear friend. It's a misconception that "big boys shouldn't cry." This is all a part of the early 20th Century training in the old school of the "stiff upper lip" and "grin and bear it." If there is an emotional hurt, then the pain should be recognized, acknowledged, and expressed—in this case, through tears.

Your questions and comments on this and other subjects are welcome—in private or publicly through this column.

E-Point Apple Butter Production Under Way

Apple butter making by the East Point Community Development Club has been under way for the past couple of weeks and already 600 quarts of the traditional delicacy have been canned.

Each year the club works several weekends before Johnson county's Apple Day in order to produce apple butter to sell at the festival. Anyone interested in buying some in advance, however, may contact any member of the development club, or come by any Saturday in coming weeks and watch the apple butter being made over a huge copper kettle in the old-fashion way. Visitors are welcome to come by and help peel apples and stir the boiling butter, or just observe.

Fire-Fighting Course Offered At Garrett

All interested citizens in the Garrett area are being urged to attend a 20-hour course in basic fire-fighting which is being sponsored by the Garrett Volunteer Fire Department. The course will begin at 7 p.m. Tuesday, September 8.

Gene Blair, of Hindman, will be instructor, and materials are being furnished by Region II, Hazard Vocational School.

Ward-Hayes Vows Spoken

Wedding vows of Belinda Lea Ward and Michael Patrick Hayes were solemnized in the Urbana (Ohio) United Methodist Church, July 25 at 1:30 p.m. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Carl Robinson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ward, 611 Maple Tree Lane, Urbana. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayes, 4309 W. 63rd St., Prairie Village, Kansas.

Prior to the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Gene Farley.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffonella featuring a fitted bodice and Queen Anne neckline. Silkened Venice lace covered the bodice, and accented the full Bishop sleeves and hemline. The full skirt flowed into a chapel-length train. Her waltz-length veil featured a half-moon cap and was highlighted with Venice lace and seed pearls. The bridal bouquet consisted of white sweetheart roses, baby's breath and stephanotis.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, and given in marriage by her parents.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Karen Anderson, of Urbana. Bridesmaids were Kathy Ward, Columbus, O., sister-in-law of the bride, and Diane Biehl, Cleveland, Ohio. Attendants carried baskets of silk flowers. Colors for the wedding were light blue, navy blue and white. Attending the guest book was Nancy Hayes, sister of the groom.

Performing the duties of best man was Tim Lee, Dayton, O., friend of the groom. Guests were seated by Charles Hayes, of California, brother of the groom, and Craig Talley, of Cleveland.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. Hostess were Sue Anderson, cousin of the bride, Martha Julaphongs, Shirley Gibbs, and Mildred Anderson, aunts of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to Lake of the Ozarks, Missouri, the couple will reside in Columbus.

The bride is a 1977 graduate of Urbana High School and a 1981 graduate of Ohio State University with a bachelor's degree in journalism. She is employed by Tri-Village Publishing Co. in Columbus.

The groom graduated from Wayne High School in Huber Heights in 1975, and from Ohio State University with a degree in computer science in 1979. He is employed at ITT North, Columbus, as a computer engineer.

The bride is a granddaughter of Rose Osborne, of Bevinville, Ky., and the late Troy (Ted) Osborne.

Parents Should Act Says National Board

The National PTA Board of Directors today called for parents and other community leaders to assume a major role in determining educational priorities and in influencing financial decisions that will be required by the dramatic changes in federal funding of education.

The Educational Improvement and Consolidation Act of 1981, signed into law last week, lumped federal educational programs into block grants and shifted educational decision-making from the federal to state and local levels. At the same time, Congress reduced funds for education by 25 percent.

According to the PTA Board, meeting in Chicago, this shift is both a potential opportunity to return control of education to local communities and states, and a possible threat to children whose needs may no longer be served. The PTA Board expressed concern that, faced with these changes, state and local communities will have to choose between cutting educational programs and services or increasing state and local funding for these programs.

The Act also calls for "systematic consultation with parents of children attending elementary and secondary schools" in each district, but does not specifically spell out what form "consultation" will take.

Said Mary Ann Leveridge, National PTA president, "It is ironic that this act, which is intended to return educational control to communities, could ultimately decrease the role of parents and local leaders in educational decision-making by eliminating the previous requirements for community and parental advice. The only way to prevent diminishing the parental role," said Leveridge, "is for parents to insist on legitimate participation and involvement in decision-making for educational planning, programs and funding."

"The best way for parents to assure that their wishes are known is for them to make this a matter of prime concern in their local PTA unit," said Leveridge.

"PTA unit members should educate themselves and their community about the change in government focus, suggest consultation procedures to be used in their local school district, request participation in all consultation and monitor school district action so that it complies with the needs of children as well as the intent of the law."

The National PTA—a six million member volunteer organization of parents, educators, students and others—is the largest child advocacy group in the world.

Martha Layne Collins NCLG Vice-Chairman

Lieut. Gov. Martha Layne Collins has been elected vice-chairman of the National Conference of Lieutenant Governors (NCLG) at the annual meeting in Philadelphia.

Governor Collins said, "Serving as Vice-Chairman is an achievement for all Kentuckians. I am proud of Kentucky and this is yet another opportunity to voice our accomplishments all across the nation."

Outgoing Chairman Lt. Governor Charles S. Robb, of Virginia, said that Governor Collins' election "represents the highest achievement for a woman lieutenant governor in the United States."

Lt. Gov. Collins succeeds Lt. Gov. Mike Curb, of California, who was elected to the chairmanship.

Election Returns Upset by Judge

The winner of the Democratic primary for Perry county sheriff says he will appeal a special judge's ruling invalidating his victory.

The candidate, V.G. Combs, polled 554 votes in the May 26 election.

Letcher Circuit Judge F. Byrd Hogg ruled last Thursday, however, that many of the votes were collected through "one of the most corrupt and sordid schemes of which Perry county has ever been the victim."

Hogg invalidated Combs' vote totals in four precincts and awarded the nomination to Robert Byrge by a margin of 195 votes.

Hogg handled the civil suit arising from a suit filed by Byrge after Perry Circuit Judge Calvin Manis stepped aside.

If Hogg's decision stands, Byrge, the county's chief deputy sheriff, will face Republican nominee Pearl Couch in the November election. But Combs said he will not give up.

"I really don't understand how he could have made a ruling like this," Combs said. "I'm badly disappointed."

More than 500 witnesses testified during a 10-day trial last month, and 365 admitted that their votes were illegal, Hogg said.

"The violations in the four disqualified precincts are so serious, so numerous and so tainted with fraud and conspiracy, and put the actual outcome in so much doubt that this court cannot in good conscience do anything other than invalidate them," Hogg said.

Combs had argued during the trial that any fraud that may have been committed was done so without his knowledge. But Hogg said that the fraud was so widespread and organized that he found Combs' claims "unbelievable."

Costly Detention

THE TIMES has always been sympathetic to the demand that juvenile offenders be separated from adult prisoners, but we cannot reconcile the plans of the Department for Human Resources for the juvenile detention center here with plain practicality.

A DHR staff report calls for the expansion of the detention center staff from 11 to 15 and sees an annual operating cost of around $200,000 if an average of 20 juveniles is detained there daily, as expected.

In no event could the center house more than 25, for that is its maximum capacity. This being so, it is difficult for us to understand why as many as 15 persons should be employed to operate the center and take care of its occupants.

If indeed so many are needed to take care of a center housing an average of 20 juveniles, it should be apparent to all that County Jailer Lawrence Hale, with two turnkeys for day and night duty, and only two cooks, is daily achieving a minor miracle with a "caseload" of 30 to 50, some of whom are held for murder.

We are aware that these youngsters to be detained here need guidance and, occasionally, psychiatric care—but 11, not to mention 15, to do the work?

Admittedly, juveniles who find themselves in trouble need many things—most of all, perhaps, the love which should come from home and parents. But the five counties involved in this detention center project cannot, even with state help, be all things to them.

A detention center is not, as we conceive it, to be a home away from home, for some young prisoners perhaps a better home than they had ever known. Herein lies a danger: the youngster who finds his crime, small or not so small, an occasion for special attention, plush surroundings, all the trimmings, may find it difficult, once he attains his majority, to remember that the joy-ride is over, that now the law is to be faced as an adult.

Court records indicate that Conway was arrested June 3 on charges of being drunk and disorderly and June 26 on drunkenness and criminal mischief charges. Mrs. Conway was charged June 3 with disorderly conduct.

Prestonsburg Police Chief Keith Lawson recently complained to the city council of the frequency of police calls from the housing facility, and city and housing officials met subsequently in an effort to resolve the problem.

The issue of the constitutionality of the curfew turns on the questions of whether the rule represents and unwarranted invasion of family privacy or violates the youngsters' First Amendment rights of free association. Housing Director Julia M. May said the curfew was imposed to curb damage being done to automobiles and thefts from automobiles parked at the project after dark.

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley said a pretrial conference for the two men has been set for September 10 and that he has asked a private attorney to represent them.

Cooper and Dolt are angry at what they say is an unjustifiable delay in disposing of their cases. His father has died since his incarceration here and he has a wife and son in Ohio, Dolt said, adding, "My rights have been violated very bad."

Clyde Gayheart, 21, of Knott county, jailed here since August 13, also on a burglary count, claims that he, too, has yet to see an attorney who will take his case.

Of the other prisoners who wrote The Times this week complaining of their difficulties in getting attorneys to represent them, court officials here said that either the men have attorneys or that, as federal prisoners, they are not the county's responsibility.

Fifteen indigent prisoners awaiting trial in Powell county filed a lawsuit last month demanding that they either be tried or released. On Monday, Powell Circuit Judge J. Douglas Graham ordered Kentucky Public Advocate Jack Farley to appoint a temporary public defender to represent them.

Congress voted last year not to continue funding the public advocacy program serving much of eastern Kentucky. Private attorneys are said to be reluctant to take on indigent clients because the state pays them too little for their services and they experience long delays in getting paid at all.

Meanwhile, one Floyd prisoner, Woodrow Shepherd, 38, who has served three months of a 12-month sentence for attempted reckless homicide, filed a writ of habeas corpus in his own behalf in circuit court this week, claiming that, since he was not convicted of the charge—attempted murder—of which he was originally accused and was unaware that he could appeal his sentence, the sentence should be overturned.

near the Daniel Boone Parkway in Perry county.)

Of the actual slaying, this statement says Branham first attempted to choke young Cline, using a T-shirt. Failing in this, he said he shot the other two times in his head. He said he did not recall shooting Cline in the leg, although an autopsy report says such a wound was inflicted.

No date has been set for Branham's arraignment. First, he will be given a psychiatric examination, Allen said.

The personable Branham has no previous criminal record, and many of his acquaintances were convinced that he, as well as Cline, had been murdered.

Officers had known, however, that he had been in Georgia subsequent to Aug. 15 when the victim's body was found.

Although the murder admittedly took place in Perry county, the commonwealth's attorney said the series of crimes—robbery, kidnapping, and, finally, murder—began in this county and that there may be legal grounds for the trial on the murder charge to be held in circuit court here if Perry county does not insist on jurisdiction.

The main engine, or initial power supply, will be an eight-horsepower lawn mower engine. The only gasoline used will be for this engine, which will run just above idle speed.

Until patent rights are procured, Johnson said, few details descriptive of the secondary engine will be released. He did say, however, that this secondary power plant "is no larger than a 2-lb., 7-oz. coffee can." It will, he added, deliver between 75 and 78 horsepower.

KET Provides Live Pacing Derby Coverage

The nation's top two-year-old pacers will vie for a purse of $250,000 in the fourth annual "Kentucky Pacing Derby" broadcast on KET live from Louisville Downs on Saturday, September 12 at 11 p.m.

This classic pacing event is the third jewel in the two-year-old pacer's Triple Crown. The Derby follows months of preliminary races as 148 contenders are reduced to a 12-horse field.

Outstanding horses and performances are a tradition at the Kentucky Pacing Derby. The 1979 winner, Niatross, became "Horse of the Year" and won over $600,000 while a two-year-old. The star pacers this year include Apollo's Way, Lon Todd Hanover, Ideal Society, Elitist, Force Majeure, Soaky's Atom, Temujin and Warren Hanover.

"Kentucky Pacing Derby" is produced by WKPC-TV, Louisville.

AN EXTRAORDINARY MAN

John Butler is the Perry county man who found the body of young Michael Dwayne Cline whose disappearance stirred so many recently. He was entitled to the $2000 reward offered by the missing boy's parents. The father went to Hazard, ready to pay the full amount offered.

But John Butler refused the reward. Instead, he insisted on giving $150 of his own money to the bereaved family.

"Who is this man Butler?" we asked. "He lives in the Walkertown section of Hazard—just an ordinary coal miner," we were told.

An ordinary coal miner. More an extraordinary human being.

Names Omitted Through Error

Names inadvertently omitted in last week's Times story of the wedding of Miss Carolyn Salisbury and Mr. Mickey M. Martin included that of the best man, Tommy Martin, of Richmond, brother of the groom; Benjie Stewart, of McDowell, Brian Turner, of McDowell, and Steve Reid, of Hi Hat, who served as ushers. We regret the omission of these names.

Jail Inmates Complain

We, inmates of the Floyd county jail, would like for the public to hear our side of the story of how we are treated in the Floyd county court and jail. Some of us have been held here for months without seeing a lawyer or judge, and we don't think the people of Floyd county would stand by and let such things go on. We would truly respect the public if they would see why the commonwealth attorney, judges, and jailers don't give us equal rights. We would be more than happy to answer any kind of questions the public might have.

Expression Of Thanks

The family of James Michael Cline would like to express deep gratitude to all the people of Floyd county who gave so generously of themselves during our time of grief. Thanks to the Floyd County Times; to the hundreds of volunteers, many of whom were strangers, who assisted the Floyd and Pike County Rescue Squads in searching for our son, we thank them all; to the law-enforcement agencies who looked for Mike, including the Kentucky State Police and Sheriff Doug Lewis, we thank them deeply; and to our friend, Rev. Bill Campbell, words cannot express our appreciation.

To all our friends who assisted us in so many ways, may God bless you all. MR. AND MRS. JAMES CLINE

Appeals To Parents

The Local Church Women, an organization striving for the betterment of our community, protests the activities of the young people at the Prestonsburg Drive-In Theatre and is appealing to all parents to be aware of where their children are—in other words, to be loving, responsible parents. We would also like to bring to all concerned attention to the great need for a community center, a place where young people can go for recreation and good, clean fun. Commends Book

It is not too often that one reads a book that seems like a "must" for everyone to read; but I have just finished such a book. It was sent to me by a friend in New Orleans, "Anatomy of An Illness," by Norman Cousins. Mr. Cousins is well-known; he is at present the editorial chairman of The Saturday Review.

"The Anatomy of Illness" is his story of his conquest over a severe illness. His doctor had told him, "You have one chance in five hundred to live." Mr. Cousins determined to be that one, and he was! Everyone should read this book, sharing it with his doctor. Every doctor should read it. It is an amazing true story, fascinating and thrilling to read. I had to share the knowledge of this book with all the readers of The Floyd County Times.

Preventing of Heart Attack

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles dealing with the Cardiac Rehabilitation Program at Highlands Regional Medical Center to help cardiac patients and their families adjust to life after a heart attack.)

Why don't people realize how much easier it is to prevent a heart attack than it is to treat it or live with its limitations? Lack of information was the conclusion of the medical and nursing staff involved in cardiac rehabilitation at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

In response to this need, patient and community education is now included in the Cardiac Rehabilitation program begun at HRMC in 1976. "We want to alert the community about the living habits and personal characteristics that may increase their chance of having a heart attack," said Zina Goble, R.N., cardiac rehab supervisor. The American Heart Association identifies some coronary risk factors as:

1. Cigarette smoking; 2. High blood pressure (hypertension); 3. High levels of cholesterol or other fatty substances in the blood (and high intake of animal fat); 4. Stresses and tensions; 5. Heredity (a family history of heart attack in middle age); 6.

- Diabetes; 7. Lack of exercise; 8. Overweight; 9. Male.

In order to reduce your chance of having a heart attack, you should reduce the number of risk factors in your lifestyle. "The majority of the heart attack patients I work with are overweight," said Mrs. Goble. "Learning new eating habits and diet control is not easy, but it is certainly worth it in helping to prevent a heart attack."

"One woman I worked with was in ideal physical condition," related Mrs. Goble. "She didn't smoke and had healthy eating habits. However, she had a very stressful job and this tension contributed to a heart attack." In the Cardiac Rehabilitation Program, patients learn to identify stress-provoking situations and to develop methods to cope with them.

"I can give information and support to help prevent the nation's major killer (heart attack) but it is up to each individual to choose and follow a healthy lifestyle," Mrs. Goble added. "I will gladly answer any questions (886-8511, ext. 137) and encourage any heart attack patients to discuss the Highlands Cardiac Rehab Program with their physician."

What could the Cardiac Rehab Program do for you? Next week's article will give all the details.

Health Line

You and Your Skin
By Dr. Fredric Haberman

Over the years, Madison Avenue advertising efforts have made the public aware of "dishpan hands." But advertising has not helped to alleviate the condition. The problem of red, irritated hands still exists and the causes are many and varied. Dermatitis of the hand is a frustrating problem for the patient and the doctor. Redness, itching and flaking of the skin can be caused by allergies, eczema, nervous tension, psoriasis and fungus and yeast infections.

The most common cause, however, is excessive exposure to drying and irritating agents coming into contact with the skin. One of the natural abilities of the skin is retention of water. Certain soaps and detergents break down the skin's water retention qualities, leading to the dryness that has become known as dishpan hands.

The hands come in contact with so many different objects each day that it is sometimes very difficult to discover the culprit causing the condition. Sometimes, through the pattern of a rash, the doctor can determine the causative agent. Patch tests are also helpful at times.

One of the first fears many patients have after discovering redness, discoloration, and itching is the possibility of psoriasis. But psoriasis is generally found on other parts of the body as well. It is not limited to the hands. Often, there is a family history of psoriasis.

Emotional upset accompanying the irritation can prolong the condition. See your doctor to determine cause and treatment and to remove anxiety as a causative factor. Excessive perspiration of the hands can, in some persons, bring on an intense itching and subsequent formation of small, deep-seated blisters on the sides of the fingers and palms.

Meanwhile, you can help yourself by avoiding handling and using substances of an allergic or irritating nature. Apply an oil-based hand cream to retain the natural moisture of the skin.

Sometimes prescription drugs are indicated to clear the condition. Although such treatment is effective in most cases, there can be a recurrence when the same irritants that caused the disorder are employed again. Attempt to avoid all irritants for a month after medical treatment and clearing of the skin.

Use thin white cotton gloves while handling dry, irritating substances. Wear cotton-lined rubber gloves when handling wet irritants. Change the gloves frequently enough to avoid perspiration. A sprinkling of mild talcum powder inside the gloves will increase the length of useful time.

If itching of the hands occurs, try soaking them in cold water to which some bath oil is added. Follow this treatment with the application of a hand cream containing cortisone, which your doctor may prescribe.

After the hands return to normal, continue the application of a cortisone-based hand cream for four to six weeks, on a decreasing basis. The hands will remain sensitive for some time after the rash clears, requiring avoidance of irritants and continued use of a hand cream. Your doctor can recommend a brand that will best serve your needs.

The Bank Josephine presents money market rates without money market risks.

Introducing our new 2 1/2-year, high-yield savings certificate.

Considering the high rates money market funds pay, it's no wonder they've become such a popular investment. But, the unfortunate thing is, no one knows what kind of rates will come up next week. Not to mention next month or next year.

That's why we're introducing a new savings certificate at Bank Josephine. So you can lock in today's high interest rates for years instead of weeks. With a minimum deposit of just $500.

Our new 2 1/2-year certificate pays 15.65%* and although issue rates are subject to daily change, the rate at which you buy your certificate is guaranteed for the full term of the certificate.

You'll also have the choice of having your interest paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, annually, or at maturity.

What's more, your deposit is insured up to $100,000 by the FDIC. And that's something no money market fund can offer.

To find out more about our new 2 1/2-year savings certificate, call or stop by your nearest Bank Josephine office today. Then start earning money market rates without the risks.

*Interest penalty required for early withdrawal.

An Eye For Construction

A garment's details can make the difference between enjoying it and burying it in the back of the closet. So when shopping for clothing, pay special attention to construction.

While certain flaws can be corrected, others should be a signal not to buy. The trick is to distinguish one from the other.

There are several factors to consider in deciding how well a garment is made.

Garments should be finished neatly and evenly at all edges, such as the neck, sleeves or armholes and bottom edge. Check facings, bindings, and hems.

Facings are pieces of fabric cut in the same shape as the edges they line. In well-made clothes, facings lie flat and are sewn down invisibly from the inside to prevent them from slipping out.

Bindings or narrow, stretchable strips of fabrics take the place of facing when some extra stretch is needed to let arms and head go easily through the openings. You will usually find them on T-shirts and pullovers. All bindings should lie flat; they should not pucker or sag.

The way a hem is turned under and fastened greatly affects the appearance of the garment. A plain hem should lie flat and be even all around, and the stitches should not be visible from the outside, but it is fairly simple to even out a hem.

Collars require careful construction to look attractive. Curved edges should be smooth, and the two sides should be matched evenly. If the collar stands up, it should have an inner lining to keep it firm and upright. Where the collar meets—usually center front—the ends must be the same width and evenly stitched.

It is often impossible to fix a poorly made collar. Since collars are frequently the center of attention on a shirt or dress, it might be wise to pass up a garment with a collar that looks bad.

Pockets are another feature to check. A pocket with strong stitches from top to bottom will hold objects. Outside pockets should match in size and shape. They also should be placed so the garment looks good and your hands can reach them comfortably.

Moving or straightening a pocket requires patience and experience, so avoid any garment with badly placed pockets. Also, the fabric may remain marked where the pocket was placed originally.

Make sure the waistband matches at the point where it meets. If one end of the band is higher than the other, there will be a bulge when you fasten the garment. This usually means that one side of the garment is longer than the other, which may be hard to fix.

All trimmings, including embroidery and ribbon, should be stitched securely and evenly. Trimmings also must be able to take the same kind of care as the clothes they decorate. A washable garment should have washable trimmings.

Examine fastenings. Most fastenings are decorative as well as useful. The wrong kind can damage a garment's look and its wearability.

Decide whether buttons go well with the garment. Are they right size, color, texture and weight. If they do not suit the garment, you can replace them.

Fastenings should be sewn on securely. And, they should be well-positioned so that there are no bulges or gaps. If the right type of fastener is attached properly, the closing of the garment will be smooth.

If you find a flaw in a garment that you like, determine whether you have the time and know-how to repair it. You may decide that such flaws aren't important to you if the price or style suits your needs.

Burchetts Host Senior Citizens

A part of the gathering of senior citizens at picnic.

One would have to go back to the Bonanza or Myrtle "foot-washings" of 40 or 50 years ago to find an ingathering to equal the some one hundred senior citizens who came Tuesday evening, August 25, as invited guests to the farmstead of Leven and Alka Burchett on Abbott Creek for an old-fashioned picnic. Patsy Evans, director of the Archer Senior Citizens Center, with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John David Evans, Jr., handling the charcoal grilles, saw to it that hamburgers and other foods and refreshments were served to those present. Watermelons grown on the farm were supplied by the hosts.

In 1938, the first federal labor relations law was enacted. It applied to railroads and provided for arbitration and Presidential boards of investigation, according to "Important Events in American Labor History, 1778-1978," a publication of the U. S. Department of Labor.

The Veterans Administration is reminding men and women recently discharged from the service to present carbon copy number four of their discharge certificate—not the original—when applying for VA benefits at the agency's regional offices.

Storytelling Is Theme
Of Louisville Fest

Some pretty tall tales will be coming out of Louisville Sept. 18-19 during the only festival in Kentucky that is devoted to storytelling—the Sixth Annual Corn Island Storytelling Festival.

Named in honor of Louisville's first settlement, Corn Island, this festival is only the second festival ever created in the United States for storytelling, according to festival organizer Lee Pennington of Louisville.

An evening of storytelling aboard the paddlewheeler "Bonnie Belle" will begin the festival Friday, Sept. 18. The boat will be docked in Jeffersonville, Ind., on the Ohio River and a number of well-known storytellers are scheduled. (Festival officials report, however, that all tickets for this particular event have been sold.)

Saturday, from noon until 6 p.m., a number of festival activities will be under way at the Jefferson Community College Southwest on East Pages Lane in Louisville. These activities include a "Whopper Contest" with representatives from area schools, a pie auction, an old-fashioned Kentucky dinner, a Kentucky arts and crafts display, and a lineup of storytellers. Among those scheduled to appear are: Marshall Dodge, Maine; Jackie Torrence, North Carolina; Michael Parent, Virginia; William Patteson, Indiana, and Tim Stivers and Lee Pennington, both of Louisville.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Tommy Spears, P.O. Box 116, Betsy Layne, Kentucky, 41605, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 1.81 acres located south of Betsy Layne in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 300 ft. east of Coldwater Road's junction with U.S. 23, and located north of Coldwater Creek, latitude 37° 32' 37", longitude 82° 37' 49". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Tommy Spears. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: contour strip for residential. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request must be reference application number 036-0075. Such objection or request must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS 350 that the proposed post mining land use does constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

TIPS FOR TROUT

A scientific study of trout habitat at Laurel River Lake in southeastern Kentucky has produced some findings which should help late summer and early fall fishermen catch more trout at Laurel and perhaps at similar trout lakes.

The four-year study, conducted by Fisheries Biologist Albert Jones, showed that the catch rate during August and September drops significantly and that many anglers quit fishing after July, probably assuming that "they just aren't biting anymore."

But the trout are still in the lake and still willing to bite. The problem is, Jones says, that suitable habitat exists only in certain sections of the lake and only at certain depths.

Both water temperature and oxygen levels determine where trout can survive, Jones says. But temperature seems to be the controlling factor. The trout were willing "to inhabit areas where dissolved oxygen (DO) content was low in order to be surrounded by preferred water temperatures."

Almost all the trout Jones found during August and September were in a layer of water where the temperature ranged between 54° and 61°. Sometimes this temperature preference confined the trout to a narrow band of water at a specific depth. In September 1979, for example, 72 of the 79 trout recorded were in a two-foot band of water between 24 and 26 feet deep.

During June and July of 1979, by contrast, the fish were "evenly distributed in a band of water from 20 to 40 feet deep." So it's not hard to see why trout are harder to catch late in the season—the angler's bait has to be at exactly the right depth or it won't be anywhere near the fish.

The proper combination of temperature and oxygen exists throughout the lake early in the season, but by August, September and October, trout habitat can be found only in the lower lake, in the vicinity of the dam, Jones said.

To catch trout in August and September takes some precise fishing. An accurate depth finder or graph recorder will be a big help and some kind of water temperature gauge is almost indispensable to find the layer of 54°-61° water where the trout should be.

The fisherman will also need some system to make sure his lure or bait is at the proper depth. Trolling with a downrigger is one way of achieving this precise depth control, but there are other methods that don't make as big a dent in the pocketbook.

Lines are available with different marking every five feet or so that will let you know how deep you're fishing. Or you can measure the distance between your reel and the first guide on your rod and use this as a gauge to strip off line as you lower your bait.

Now a word for you bass fishermen. Jones reports that during his vertical gill net studies on Laurel, he caught more Kentucky bass than any other species—129 bass as compared to 25 trout, for example. These nets, 8 feet wide and 150 feet deep, were set in open water, near the dam. One Kentucky bass was taken at 90 feet, the deepest of any fish taken during the study.

So the next time you're casting the shoreline and not catching any bass, ask yourself if you shouldn't be exploring some open-water, deep fishing techniques. Many Kentucky lakes have good populations of Kentucky bass, but a lot of fishermen don't connect with them because these fish don't live in the "bassy looking" shallows.

Pine Mountain Hosts Dulcimer Convention

The melodic sounds of traditional mountain music will be ringing from the hills of eastern Kentucky as one of the largest gatherings of dulcimer players and builders in the country takes place at Pine Mountain State Resort Park, Pineville, Sept. 25-27.

The fifth annual Great American Dulcimer Convention will host a variety of activities as well as concerts. The convention kicks off Friday, Sept. 25, with a concert at 8 p.m., with dulcimer players performing on two types of dulcimers.

The mountain, or "lap," dulcimer was brought into the mountains by pioneers from Europe and flourished in the isolated areas of the Appalachian Mountains. The hammer dulcimer, which will also be demonstrated, is an unrelated instrument that was developed in the Middle East some 2,000 years ago. It is played with small hammers and is one forerunner of the modern piano.

Another concert is scheduled for 8 p.m., Sept. 26, at Laurel Cove Amphitheater in Pine Mountain State Resort Park, and will feature such dulcimer and folk musicians as Jean Ritchie, John McCutcheon, Roger Nicolson, Dick and Anne Albin, Maddie McNeil, Nancy and Blake Barker, Rick and Lorraine Lee and Fred Meyer.

Activities are scheduled for all day Saturday and include dulcimer lessons, a nature walk, a folk dance with a live band, and an arts and crafts exhibition and demonstration. Mini-concerts with individual performers will carry on throughout the day. An informal concert is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 27.

Admission is $7 for adults, which will cover all activities for the entire weekend; $3.50 for a Friday or Saturday evening concert only; and children 15 and under will be admitted free to all activities and concerts.

Festival organizers report that the park's lodge rooms and cabins for the Great American Dulcimer Convention are sold out a year in advance. However, many local motels and hotels will still accept reservations in Pineville and Middlesboro. Camping sites are available at the park on a first-come, first-served basis.

Pine Mountain State Resort Park is off US-119 and US-25E a mile south of Pineville, 13 miles north of Middlesboro.

More information may be obtained by contacting Barry Howard, Pine Mountain State Resort Park, Pineville, KY 40977, or by calling (606) 337-3066.

RETIRED TEACHERS MEET

Members of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' organization met August 13 at the Western Sizzlin' Steak House, with the president, Mrs. Norma Stepp, presiding. The meeting was opened with the devotionals, which were brought by the Rev. Dean L. Pack, pastor of the First Baptist Church here. Mrs. May K. Roberts, chairman of the Membership committee, reported that prior to the meeting, she had contacted all Floyd county retired teachers, stressing the importance of the payment of dues, so that 100 percent membership might be realized. Miss Elsie Stephens, chairman of the Visiting committee, told of the number of retired teachers who were ill at the time of the meeting, and Mrs. Stepp asked that these members be remembered with prayer by others of the group.

Mrs. Virginia Goble thanked the group for the cards sent her husband, James B. Goble, during his recent hospitalization.

It was reported that donations had been made by the organization to the Community United Methodist Church, in memory of a member, Mrs. Fannie Stephens Jarrell, and to the Tom Moore Freewill Baptist Church, in memory of another member, Edgar Bingham.

The president announced that the annual workshop for N.R.T.A. and K.R.T.A. members would again be held at May Lodge, Tuesday, September 15, and urged that all members attend. Several new members were welcomed.

Mike Auxier, a member of the staff of the Kentucky Retired Teachers' office in Frankfort, who was vacationing at his home at Emma, was presented by the president. Mr. Auxier enlightened the group on current issues of interest to retired teachers, and conducted an interesting question-and-answer session.

The two guest speakers for this meeting, Mrs. Mary Preston, of Paintsville, a bond release specialist, and Mrs. Teresa Hall, of Martin, of the Mining Permit Program, both of whom are connected with the Eastern Kentucky Bureau of Mining Conservation, offered helpful suggestions and presented a film depicting strip mining, and the possible restoration of affected land for farming and building.

Mrs. Stepp announced that the next meeting will be held Thursday, November 12, at 10 a.m., and urged all members and prospective members to attend.

Following the meeting, a luncheon was served at the Steak House, and a social hour was enjoyed. Those present were guests, the Rev. Dean L. Pack, Mike Auxier, Mrs. Mary Preston, Mrs. Teresa Hall, Raymond B. Turner and Columbus Jacobs; and members, Norma S. Stepp, May K. Roberts, Goldia S. Williams, Minnie Grace Sutherland, Opal S. May, Docia B. Woods, Violet T. Moore, Frances A. Turner, Rhoda M. Howard, Lola P. Ousley, Ethel M. Ratliff, Grace Conley, Beatrice Collins, Alice Harris, Mildred R. Hall, Edith M. Hopkins, Ruby C. Osborne, Edna B. Frazier, Ruth T. Smith, Linda J. Stephens, Anne E. Tackett, Shirley S. Vanderpool, Marie D. Stumbo, Helen C. Stumbo, Oma P. Elkins, Ruby Akers, Wilma S. Salisbury, and Kelsa G. Elliott.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Greg Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Nelson, celebrated his sixth birthday Saturday, August 29, at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Josie Nelson, at Dwale. Decorated birthday cake, baked by Mrs. Sandy Nelson, and other refreshments were served. The honoree received many cards and gifts from friends and relatives.

O.E.S. FRIENDSHIP NIGHT

Adah Chapter No. 24, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its annual friendship night; Saturday, September 12 with dinner at 6:30 p.m., and a program will begin at 7:30 in the Masonic Hall. All Adah Chapter members are asked to bring two covered dishes each, desserts and salads along with ice and drinks. All O.E.S. chapters and their guests are cordially invited.

CALLED TO WEST VIRGINIA

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Davis, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Pruitt, of Van Lear, were called to West Virginia due to the death of Mrs. Florence Shupe on Saturday Aug. 22. She was the aunt of Mrs. Patterson and great-aunt of Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Pruitt.

CONCLUDE VISIT HERE

Thirteen-year-old Miss Jessica Wackerle, and 11-year old Reuben Woods Wackerle, who spent two weeks visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Carl Woods, and other relatives here, returned by plane from the Huntington Airport, Saturday morning, to their home in Bridgewater, Nova Scotia, in time to attend the opening of their school there on September 2. They were accompanied to Huntington by their grandmother and their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Stephens, and son Ray.

SHOWER FOR MRS. HICKS

Members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First United Methodist Church honored Mrs. Derek Hicks, the former Debby Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Davidson, Thursday evening of last week with a baby shower. Mrs. Rose Glenn conducted several contests during the evening, and prizes were awarded to the winners. Misses Kathy Harris and Anne Holbrook, former classmates of Mrs. Hicks, assisted in the opening of the many gifts received by the honoree from approximately 60 relatives and friends who called during the evening, and others who were unable to attend but sent gifts. The color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Miss Harris and Miss Holbrook assisted the women of the church in serving decorated cake, punch and other refreshments from a table covered with a white imported linen cloth, and having for its centerpiece an arrangement of mixed summer flowers, enhanced by candelabra holding tall, yellow candles.

HERE FOR WEEKEND

Mrs. Lillian Rimmer had as her guests during the past weekend her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Webb, III, of Lexington. While here, they attended at May Lodge the reunion of Mrs. Webb's Prestonsburg High School class.

VISITS PARENTS

Miss Mary Ann LeMaster, a student at the University of Kentucky, spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas LeMaster.

HONORS NIECE

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Goble entertained members of Mrs. Goble's family, honoring her niece, Mrs. Don House, of London, Ky., Saturday afternoon. Those attending beside Mrs. House were Mrs. Lucy Spears and granddaughter, Misty Dawn Spears of Kimper, Mrs. J.G. Stepp, Mrs. Mae Kendrick, Mrs. Opal May and Mr. and Mrs. William S. Kendrick and daughters, Leslie and Liza, of Prestonsburg.

HERE FROM ARIZONA

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Gearheart, of Mesa, Ariz., have been spending several days visiting their Haywood and Gearheart relatives in this county. They were overnight guests Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Haywood, at their home here.

ENTERTAIN AT PIKEVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. James Davis and son, Lee, of New Caanan, Conn., who were visiting relatives in the county last week, entertained Saturday with a dinner at the Log Cabin, Pikeville, having as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Clark, of Betsy Layne, Mrs. Melba Dyer, of Allen, and Mrs. Edgar Osborne, of Prestonsburg.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Winnie Merritt, who was a patient for about two weeks at the Highlands Regional Medical Center, is now improving nicely at her home.

HOMEMAKERS TO MEET

The Prestonsburg Day Homemakers will hold their first meeting of the current year at Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church, next Tuesday afternoon, with the new president, Mrs. Mary Sue Moore, presiding. The hostesses will be Mrs. Rebecca Vaughn, Mrs. May Kay Roberts and Mrs. Jane Wallace. All members and prospective members are urged to attend.

Presbyterian Church Marks Christian Education Sunday

The First Presbyterian Church observed Christian Education Sunday, August 30, with special services at the church. The ending of the summer quarter and beginning of the fall season of the Sunday church school was the occasion for recognizing teachers and leaders in the Sunday School. A dedication service was led by the Rev. Timothy Jessen, pastor, John Everly, chairman of Christian Education, and Drema Miller, superintendent. Special acknowledgement was made of a set of candlesticks which have been placed in the sanctuary in memory of May Ford Hyden. Mrs. Hyden was a faithful attendant at Sunday School and Church until her death in 1980. The gift was given in honor of her 93rd birth anniversary by family members, Ann Ford, Jane Verley, Vera Ford, and Winston Ford, Jr.

Following the special exercises, church school children and the congregation enjoyed a pot-luck dinner under the direction of Jane Bond and Beverly Goble.

Sunday evening, the Ecumenical Youth Club met at the church to get acquainted and make plans for the coming year.

CLUB TO MEET

Mrs. Carolyn Traum, president of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club, announces that the first meeting of the new club year will be held at the Emma Wells May Cultural Center tomorrow (Thursday) evening, at 7:30. The guest speaker will be Mrs. Gwen Heffner, who will present a program on "Ceramics." Mrs. Traum urges all club members to be present, and asks that the Executive Board meet at 7 o'clock, prior to the general meeting.

CHURCHWOMEN MEET

The Local Churchwomen met at St. Theodore's Catholic Church Friday morning, with the president, Mrs. Mary Lou Layne, presiding. The devotionals were given by Mrs. Sandy Burchett, who discussed "Courtesy and Kindness in Everyday Living." The president presented to the members copies of the pamphlet, "Newsletter Action Lives," published by the Regional Action Committee and covering a four-county area in Eastern Kentucky.

The Nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Mabel Brown, Mrs. Eileen Burchett, and Mrs. Eleanor Robinson, presented the list of officers for the coming year as follows: President, Mrs. Eleanor Robinson; first vice-president, Mrs. Julia Curtis; second vice-president, Mrs. Judy Biggs; third vice-president, Mrs. Eva Collins; secretary, Mrs. Eileen Burchett; treasurer, Miss Christine Spradlin.

The group decided that as representatives of the local churches, they would make an effort to help protect the community from programs that might be detrimental to persons here and throughout this area.

Women of the host church served refreshments to Mesdames Mary Lou Layne, Eileen Burchett, Sandy Burchett, Jean Burke, Mabel Brown, Becky Short, Mabel Donahoe, Lucy Regan, Opal Dingus, Garnett Fairchild, Eleanor Robinson, Pat Necessary, Vera Ford, Carolyn Ford and Miss Christine Spradlin.

The next meeting will be held at the First United Methodist Church, Friday morning, October 16. The installation of the new officers will be held at that time.

ANNUAL MEET SLATED

The annual Floyd County Homemakers' meeting will be held Wednesday, September 23, at the First United Methodist Church, here. Registration is scheduled from 10 to 10:30 a.m. The guest-speaker will be the Rev. Moultrie McIntosh, pastor of St. James Episcopal Church, whose topic will be "Pilgrimage to Israel." Each member is asked to bring a covered-dish and her prettiest item of crocheted, knitted, or other hand-made items for the cultural arts display. Each club should also bring a flower arrangement. Door prizes will be awarded.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN TO MEET

The Floyd County Democratic Women's Club will meet at noon today at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. No reservations are necessary for this luncheon meeting, and anyone interested in joining the club is urged to attend.

RECOVERS FROM SURGERY

Frank Arnett, of the Abbott road, is recuperating at home after eye surgery at an Ashland hospital, August 28. His doctor is very pleased with his progress. Mr. Arnett was very happy to receive the well-wishes and congratulations of friends and relatives who came calling on his birthday, Sunday, August 30.

TO NAME DEACONS

Four deacons (three to serve for three years, and another to fill an unexpired term) will be selected by the congregation during Sunday morning's services at the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church, September 13. All members of the church are urged to be present.

WMU CIRCLE TO MEET

Members of the Annie Allen Circle, WMU, will meet Monday evening, September 7, at the home of Mrs. Pat Minns. Mrs. Sarah Laven, president, urges all members and prospective members to be present for this meeting.

OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Josie Nelson celebrated her 66th birthday at her home, at Dwale, Saturday, August 29, with a dinner for relatives and friends. Those present for this occasion were Charlie and Opal Warrick, Sam and Missy Nelson and son, Roger, and Sandra Nelson and sons, Jack and Sharon Howard and children, Kermit and Elizabeth Howard, Dallas and Marcelline Freeman, Spence and Alice Fulks, Janell Steffey, Opal and Betty Lou Branham, Ezra and Opie Branham and family, Ollie and Shirley Johnson and family, Greenville and Carrie Branham and son, Ralph Nelson and Nancy Shepherd. The honoree received many gifts and phone calls in commemoration of her birthday. Following the dinner, a decorated birthday cake, made by Mrs. Roger Nelson, was served with other refreshments.

SUFFERS INJURY

Mrs. Jeanette Hubbard sustained a broken jaw in a fall at her home here, August 16. She later underwent surgery on the following Tuesday at Central Baptist Hospital, Lexington, where she was a patient for a week. Mrs. Hubbard's husband and her sister, Mrs. Emma Baldrige, of Winchester, were with her during surgery, and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Smith, have spent some time with her since her return to her home here, where she is improving nicely.

GUESTS AT MAYTOWN

Mrs. Arthur W. Haywood and Mrs. Harry Ranier were luncheon guests last Tuesday of Mrs. Frank Stewart at her home at Maytown.

Persons wishing to contribute Bibles, toys, (for preschool age), school supplies, toilet articles and other useful items are asked to bring them, unwrapped, to the church.

Marriage Solemnized, July 11th

The marriage of Viola Cooley and the Rev. Jack DeRossett was solemnized July 11 at the Community United Methodist Church here by the pastor, the Rev. Taylor Biggs.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Margaret Harris, and DeGarmo DeRossett, brother of the groom, served as best man. Piano selections were played by Kim Tackett, and the soloist was Cheryl Sexton.

Mrs. Cooley was escorted to the altar by her eldest son, Otis Hansel Cooley, followed by her other sons, Harry Vencil, Ronald Lamarr, Caleb Bernard and James William. Her grandsons, Hansel, Jr. and Tim, and the groom's nephews, Greg and John, served as ushers.

A reception followed in the fellowship hall of the church.

HOME AFTER SURGERY

Virgil Webb, who recently underwent heart surgery at a Lexington hospital, is showing improvement at his home here, and has been able recently to attend various social activities with Mrs. Webb.

GUEST AT PARSONAGE

Mrs. Margaret Nicholas, of Lancaster, is the houseguest of her son and daughter-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. Ted Nicholas, at the parsonage of the First United Methodist Church.

Italian Cooking Series Premieres on KET

Public television viewers will find a delectable and taste-tempting adventure on "The Romagnoli's Tale," a new 13-part classic Italian cooking series, premiering Sunday, September 6, on KET.

The half-hour lessons airing at 6:30 p.m. (ET), are hosted by Margaret and Franco Romagnoli who have been cooking together for almost 21 years. Italian-born Franco and American-born Margaret draw from a variety of Italian regions and traditions as they create quick snacks and full-scale dinners.

In the first episode, Franco and Margaret cook "tonnarelli alla burina" (pasta peasant style), "abbocchio alla cacciatora" (lamb, hunter style), and "bieta all'agro" (swiss chard with oil and lemon). Margaret shows how to make homemade egg pasta (tonnarelli) and cut it with a chitarra, the antique Italian stringed instrument. She also demonstrates how to use a modern pasta-making machine.

"The Romagnoli's Tale," is a production of WGBH, Boston. Recipes for the series are available for $2.00 by writing "The Romagnoli's Tale" c/o KET, 600 Cooper Drive, Lexington, Ky. 40502.

Nobody is truly double-jointed. Some people simply have looser ligaments than others.

To Join Festival Performers

Dan Brock and son, Zachary, of Lexington, will be among the numerous performers travelling to Jenny Wiley State Park, September 11, 12 and 13 to join local singers and dancers for the annual Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival. Founded 16 years ago by noted folklorist and collector Edith Fitzpatrick James, the festival will feature a night of traditional dance on Friday, while Saturday night's session will focus on the songs and music of Appalachia. Arts and crafts will be displayed for sale in the amphitheatre parking lot and workshops in clawhammer banjo, literature, dance, and genealogy will be held as well as a dulcimer demonstration, story-telling by Dr. Leonard Roberts and songs by Dan Zachary Brock during the day, Saturday. Sunday's performance, which will feature the various styles of religious music in the area will be free to the public.

Match Meeting Set Sept. 16-18 at Berea

The eighth annual meeting of the member groups of MATCH, Inc. is set here for September 16-18.

Representatives of low income craft cooperatives from seven Appalachian states will be present to discuss a year of activity and to plan for the future; new board members will be elected by state caucus, and the Board will select officers.

MATCH member groups are David Appalachian Crafts, Stanton Woodcraft, Red Bird Mission Crafts, Hill'n Hollow Crafts, Kentucky Hills Industry, and Grass Roots Craftsmen in Kentucky, others in Virginia, West Virginia, Georgia, Tennessee, North Carolina and Pennsylvania.

The Amazon Basin's immense tropical jungle is said to contain mankind's greatest reserve of natural resources.

Thieves Loot Homes, Take "Laughing Gas" In Storeroom Break

The Second street home here of Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., Director of Prestonsburg Community College, was looted of contents valued between $1500 and $2000, Sunday night, and the same night two cylinders of nitrous oxide ("laughing gas") were stolen from a storeroom at Highlands Medical Center.

Entrance to the Campbell residence was effected by use of a hatchet taken from the basement to chop open a rear door. The loot included jewelry, cutlery, a .25 automatic pistol, ammunition and other items.

City and State Police investigated the breaks.

The home of Fred Harris on Little Paint Creek was burglarized the morning of Aug. 22 and $50 cash was taken. Other theft attempts have been reported in that vicinity.

Floyd Native Moved After Ohio Tornado—Across the Street

Homer Johnson, formerly of the Blue River section, stopped by The Times office a couple of weeks ago to renew his yearly subscription which he has received in Ohio for a number of years.

"Same address in Cardington?" we inquired.

"Yes," he replied—"no, wait, better change that street address to 411 Washington instead of 412. We had to move across the street after the storm."

After a bit of questioning, it turned out that the "storm" to which he so casually referred was the tornado of June 13, this year, which devastated the town of Cardington and left four of its residents dead. And the reason for the change of address—412 Washington is no longer there. The home was literally blown away as Johnson and his wife, the former Millie Shepherd, native of Magoffin county, crouched in terror within the disintegrating structure.

The storm hit at about 3:23 that Saturday afternoon, just a short while after Mr. and Mrs. Johnson had returned to their home from the grocery. "We had heard some talk of storms and tornado warnings in surrounding areas, but none had been issued for Morrow county, our home county," Mr. Johnson said.

"It started getting dark and rainy but we didn't think much about it," Johnson recalled. "Then it darkened up real black looking and it hit all of a sudden."

"Right before it hit we heard a sound like metal ripping," said Johnson who added that he now believes the sound was that of nearby mobile homes tearing apart. "I went to the window to look out and the last thing I could see clearly was a big maple tree being twisted out of the ground. Then it sucked out the windows. The force of it picked me up and threw me on the floor of the living room," he remembered.

As Johnson lay on the floor of the living room, his wife waited out the brief but violent siege in a bedroom. "When it was over, we were inside the house looking up at the sky," Johnson said. "I never found the first piece of the roof."

Although they had been spared physical injury, their $50,000 home was totally ruined, every item of furniture was destroyed along with other household items, and even their clothing had been carried away. "My total wardrobe after the storm consisted of three pair of jeans and a shirt," Johnson said.

Though suddenly destitute, the Johnsons had been fortunate compared to some. A nearby neighbor, Maxine Danner, 63, died from internal injuries as the twister ripped open her mobile home and blew her approximately 200 yards. Another neighbor was swept into the air by the raging wind and awoke in the top of a tree with only slight injuries and, according to Johnson, he was unable to find "one stick" of his home.

Damage to the town was extensive. So widespread was the destruction that Ohio Governor James A. Rhodes called it "the worst damage, for a town this size, that I have ever witnessed. This is total devastation."

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are renting now, determined to recover from the ravages of the storm and stay in Cardington a few more years until Mr. Johnson can retire from the nearby manufacturing firm where he is employed. Later, they plan to return to this area. But the mental scars and memories of the trauma of June 13 linger, and even now, Johnson said, "I can see a black cloud and start felling real uneasy."

They haven't slept well since that day, either. "You look at 30 years' work go down the drain and you just don't sleep," Johnson commented.

Gospel Singing At Allen Slated

There will be a gospel singing service at the Allen United Methodist Church, Allen, Sunday, Sept. 6, at 7 p.m. Featured groups will be the Hamilton Singers from Pike county, The Reflections from Allen, the Allens, and Karen Marcum. Refreshments will be served following the service.

The spoon as we know it today, with its spatulate handle, dates from only the 18th century.

"Measured Service" Can Mean Savings, Phone Official Says

If you make a few telephone calls, a new local telephone service option could cut your home telephone bill by over $32 a year or your business phone expense by over $82 a year.

Known as local measured service, the new lower-priced option was recently approved for homes and businesses in the Prestonsburg area whose phone number begins with 886.

"Measured service is an important new telephone service that gives Prestonsburg area families and businesses who make few calls a way to save on their phone bill," said A. G. Willett, manager for South Central Bell.

"With measured service, you pay 25 percent less than the monthly flat-rate. Included in the measured service rate is an allowance of local calling," Willett said. Additional charges would apply only if the calling allowance were exceeded, he said.

"You can choose to drive a compact car or turn down your air conditioning to keep down expenses," Willett said. "Measured service offers the same option."

Monthly flat-rate service, with unlimited calling, is $10.82 for Prestonsburg home users. For business customers, the flat rate is $27.42.

With measured service, home users can pay $8.12 a month, including a local calling allowance of $3. Business subscribers to measured service pay $20.57 a month. The business rate includes a local calling allowance of $7.50.

Willett said the monthly service rates do not include a telephone set. As a result of recent regulatory rulings, Bell separates its monthly charges into access line and telephone set components. Monthly rates for Bell's phones start at $1 for a rotary-dial set.

For home telephone users, the $3 calling allowance covers an estimated 30 to 70 four-minute calls, depending on when the calls are made. For business customers, the $7.50 allowance covers 75 to 175 four-minute calls.

"Customers pay additional charges only if their calling exceeds the allowance," Willett said. He added that in Frankfort, where the service has been available since December, few customers have exceeded the allowance.

Local calling rates in the closest calling zone - the exchange from which a call is made and all exchanges bordering it - are four cents for the first minute of each call and two cents for each additional minute. All other calls within the local calling area are six cents for the first minute and four cents for each additional minute.

How a customer uses the monthly calling allowance depends on the number of calls made, the time they are made, the length of the calls and distance called.

As with long-distance service, substantial discounts apply for off-hour calling. Local calling charges are 35 percent lower for calls made between 5 p.m. and 11 p.m. Sunday through Friday. Charges are 60 percent lower for calls made between 11 p.m. Sunday through Friday. Charges are 60 percent lower for calls made between 11 p.m. and 8 a.m. weekdays, all day Saturday, and before 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Persons interested in the new service should call South Central Bell at the number listed on their phone bill.

Akers Family Reunion Scheduled, Saturday

The annual Akers family reunion is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 5 at the home of Carmel D. Akers, Branham's Creek, Grethel. The reunion will begin at 10 a.m. and continue through the day. All Akers kinfolks are urged to attend. A potluck dinner will be featured.

HOSTS TO REUNION GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Tom O. McGuire and son Mark, entertained with a cook-out dinner honoring out-of-town guests who were here attending the S.W. McGuire reunion, Aug. 15. Courthouse To Fly Flag Again

A flag will fly at the courthouse again, thanks to the Kiwanians. Carolyn Ford, president of the Prestonsburg service organization, said the flag had not been displayed regularly at the courthouse for as long as she could remember and that the county in fact had no flag until the Kiwanians persuaded the Woodmen of the World to donate one. Pictured are, from left, Dorothy Osborne, Mrs. Ford, and County Planner Dick Leslie, shortly before they raised the flag recently.

QUALIFY FOR NATIONAL MEET

Bertha Burchett, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Burchett, of Emma, and John Michael Burchett, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Burchett, of Ivel, have qualified to compete in the national motorcycle hillclimb championship in Bay City, Wisconsin, September 5-7.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

1. In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Bailey Mining Co. Inc., Box 177, Rypno, Kentucky intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 7.0 acres located south of Weeksbury in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 3/4 mile northeast of State Route Ky 466's junction with the Abe Fork Road, and located east of Left Fork Beaver Creek, latitude 37° 18' 25", longitude 82° 42' 05". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Bailey Mining Co., Inc., Collins & Mayo Colliers and Jim Johnson. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: Surface disturbance for underground mining. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 40653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 036-5147. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS:350 that the proposed postmining land use does not constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

SHOWER HONORS MRS. FOGLE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Davidson was the scene of a miscellaneous shower, Friday evening, August 21, honoring Mrs. John Cato Fogle, III, the former Miss Diana Lynn Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hicks. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. The house was decorated throughout with arrangements of pink roses and carnations, white baby's breath and mums, intertwined with greenery. The serving table was covered with a white imported Swiss, hand embroidered, linen cloth, and the centerpiece bouquet was flanked on either side with silver candelabra holding tall, pink candles. Other tables held gifts of silver, china, crystal, linens and other miscellaneous items from approximately 50 friends and relatives, who called during the evening. Several who could not attend sent gifts. Pink and white decorated cake, punch, and other refreshments were served, with Mrs. Joe Weddington presiding at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Everett Hackworth, aunt of the bride, serving. Cohostesses with Mrs. Davidson were: Mesdames Carl Watson, Joe Weddington, Jim Carter, Arnold Hicks, Jack Wells, W. C. Wohlford, Lloyd Stumbo, Chalmers Frazier, and Misses Bertha and Myrtle Ratliff.

Unemployment Insurance Hearing Scheduled Here

The Interim Joint Committee on Labor and Industry of the Kentucky General Assembly is conducting a statewide series of public hearings on unemployment insurance. A total of six hearings are to be conducted in August and September with a session scheduled for September 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Prestonsburg Community College auditorium.

These hearings, sponsored by the Labor and Industry Committee, will afford Kentuckians an opportunity to express their views directly to their state legislators on this topic of growing concern.

C. Of C. Cancels Meet

The regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, scheduled Sept. 7, has been cancelled. The board of directors will meet, however, at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 8 at May Lodge.

Groups Here Support Blood Donor Station

Several businesses and civic organizations in Floyd county have enrolled with the Central Kentucky Blood Center, joining the group blood program. If twenty percent of the group donates 1 pint once a year, everybody in the group and their families receives total assurance for all blood needs for one year.

The Center wishes to congratulate those groups for reaching their goals after belonging to the program for a year: Brown Produce Company, Department for Human Resources, First Commonwealth Bank, Francis Stores, Highlands Regional Medical Center, IGA Super Market (Prestonsburg), Kentucky National Guard, Floyd County Catholic Parishes, Floyd County Rescue Squads—McDowell and Prestonsburg, Prestonsburg City Employees, Prestonsburg Fire Department, Prestonsburg Job Corps, Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club and Price's Pic Pac Supermarket.

Many people from these groups donate on a regular basis, as often as five times a year. Last year the three medical facilities in Floyd county used 1168 pints of blood from CKBC and the donor station drew 922 units. The Lexington area hospitals also provided blood to our residents from the Lexington Center.

The donor station still needs a few more volunteer donors. Blood is a natural resource (it's harder to get than oil) and since it cannot be manufactured, it is our responsibility to our fellow human beings to donate it, according to a center official. Donations from our residents are credited to Floyd county residents who need them.

The donor station is located on the second floor of the Municipal Building in Prestonsburg. The hours are: Tuesdays, 10-6; Thursdays, noon-8; and Saturdays, 9-5.

Veteran's Rep. Visits

Bill Kilburn, a representative of the Kentucky Center for Veterans Affairs, will be in Prestonsburg, Friday, September 4 and Friday, September 18.

He will assist veterans and their families in filing benefits claims.

The office will be located in the Prestonsburg National Guard armory, U.S. 23 north. Office hours will be 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

GOD'S WORD SAYS IT — AND THAT SETTLES IT

By Town Hall, 5433 Ruby Place, Sarasota, Fla. 33581

1. In the beginning was God. Nobody knows where He came from; He was always there. He had an infinite mind, and He created the Heaven and the Earth. In reality our Great God "spoke" the Heaven and the Earth into existence — as well as the stars, sun, and moon, planets, galaxies, and everything else that was created.

But on the sixth day, God said, "LET US MAKE MAN, IN OUR IMAGE, AFTER OUR LIKENESS and let them have dominion over all the earth. Male and female created He them." Please note that God said, "Let us make man." This plainly tells us that Jesus, God's Son, and the Holy Spirit, were there with God in the beginning; and that all three — GOD THE FATHER — GOD THE SON, AND GOD THE HOLY SPIRIT, were all three involved in all creation. Thus we have a TRIUNE GOD, omniscient, omnipresent, and omnipotent, (Gen. Ch. 1 & 2).

And yet, there are people in our world WHO DENY THERE IS A GOD. But when we can look out our windows and see the trees, the grass and the growing crops, the sun and moon, the clouds and sky; when we can see the sun come up in the East every morning, and set in the West every evening, and when we have experienced winter, spring, summer and fall — God's Handiwork, we can dismiss all such spurious, atheistic denials, and pray that our God will show them the Light.

Moreover, let's not forget that God also created a Hell for the atheists, who do not repent before they die; for the Devil and his angels; including non-believers in Jesus, God's Son; and all those who reject, neglect, or ignore Jesus, Our Only Saviour and Lord. Furthermore, this Hell we have just mentioned BURNS WITH FIRE AND BRIMSTONE, WHERE THEIR WORM DIETH NOT, AND THE FIRE IS NOT QUENCHED, (Mark 9:43-48); (Rev. 14:10) God's Word — The Bible — says it, and that settles it!

2. God also created a Heaven, where all is peace, rest and happiness. Jesus, God's Son, and God Himself are in charge of Heaven. The Bible tells us that after Jesus was crucified, buried, and raised by God, His Father, on the third day, and after He appeared unto His disciples for forty days, He was received up into Heaven, and sat on the Right Hand of God, where He makes intercession for us, (Mark 16:19, 20). Jesus talking to His disciples said, "I will come again and receive you unto Myself, that where I am, there you may be also, (John 14:3). This scripture embraces all believers in Jesus.

After Adam & Eve sinned in the Garden of Eden, their offspring, including you and me, inherited their sin nature. God looked down through time and saw you, and you, and you, and me, and He knew all about us, even our names, altho we were born nearly two thousand years after Jesus rose from the grave, and went back to Heaven. God saw the whole world full of people — whites, blacks, reds, yellows, and mongoloids — all lost and with no chance to get to Heaven. GOD WAS SORRY FOR US ALL, AND HE WAS UNHAPPY

BECAUSE OF OUR SIN PLIGHT.

So, God sent us a Saviour and Lord — Jesus Himself, God's Only Begotten Son, who brought us God's Grace Covenant. In fact Jesus was God's Grace (Love) for us. God's plan of Salvation DID NOT force Jesus upon us, but God loved us, and He gave every individual in the whole world the ABSOLUTE CHOICE to ACCEPT this Saviour, Jesus, and repent of his sins, and go to Heaven where Jesus is; or to reject Jesus, or neglect Jesus, or ignore Jesus, and go to Hell, which burns with Fire and Brimstone. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life, (John 3:16).

3. In the beginning was the Word (Jesus), and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by Him, and without Him was not anything made that was made. (John 1:1-5)

There is no conflict between this scripture which says "All things were made by Jesus" and the Genesis account of Creation where God said, "Let us make man." Jesus Our Saviour was there with God, and was God from the beginning. Jesus became the God-Man, or God and man, when God sent Him to be born of the Virgin Mary in the Manger, God being His Father. On Calvary's Cross it was really God Himself Incarnate hanging there and dying for you and me. God's Word — The Bible — says it, and that settles it.

4. Why is Jesus so important to you and me today?

- (a) All Have sinned and come short of the Glory of God, and we desperately need Jesus and His Blood to redeem us, (Romans 3:23, 24). While we were yet sinners, Christ died for us, (Romans 5:8). God was in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself, (II Cor. 5:19-21).
- (b) Jesus, God's Son, is the Chief Cornerstone upon which Salvation rests and upon whom the Church itself is built, (Luke 20:17, 18). Peter, the Apostle who had healed an impotent man told his accusers that he had healed the man thru Jesus Christ, whom ye crucified, and whom God had raised from the dead, and who was set at naught by you builders, BUT WHO HAS NOW BECOME THE HEAD OF THE CORNER. Continuing, Peter said, "Neither is there Salvation in any other, for there is none other name under Heaven, given among men whereby we must be saved." (Acts 4:9-14).
- (c) Jesus Himself speaking in John 14:6 says boldly, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life. No man cometh to the Father but by me." This plainly tells us that the only way to stay out of Hell and get to Heaven is through Jesus, God's Son. Good deeds and good works won't get you there; being honest and helping the Red Cross is fine, but it won't get you into Heaven. "For By Grace (God's Love and Mercy) are ye saved through Faith (In Jesus) and that not of yourselves: It is the Gift of God, not of works lest any man should boast, (Ephesians 2:8, 9).

(d) Many church songs proclaim Jesus, God's Son, Our Only Saviour and Lord. A few words from some of these songs follow: His Blood can make the Foulest Clean — Amazing Grace How Sweet the Sound, That Saved a Wretch like me — What Can Wash Away My Sins? Nothing but The Blood of Jesus — There is a Fountain Filled with Blood, drawn from Immanuel's Veins — On Christ the Solid Rock I Stand — Jesus Himself says, "Behold I stand at the Door (of your heart) and Knock, If any man hear My Voice, and open the door, I will come in" (Rev. 3:20).

(e) It has been estimated that for every CHRISTIAN in our country today, there are possibly twenty-five persons lost, and on the Broad Road to Hell. Bro. Fran Picker, Pastor of Southside Baptist, said in a recent sermon, "God does not put a person's Soul in Hell. Man puts himself in Hell because he will not accept Jesus, God's Remedy for our Sins. At this point man leaves God no other choice." And the writer agrees with the preacher. "God sent NOT His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved." (John 3:17)

What will you do with Jesus, Friend? (1) Play it God's way, and receive Jesus into your heart, Believe on Him, and go to Heaven where Jesus is waiting; or (2) Reject Jesus, and neglect and ignore Jesus and send your own soul to Hell which burns with Fire and Brimstone. The choice is yours to make. Jesus is ready to save you today, if you will ask Him!! It's up to you!! It's your soul!!

God's Word — The Bible — says it, and that settles it!

Child's Dressing Up Is Self-Expression

The nursery school teacher smiled as she read the note.

"Lynn really does have other dresses," it said, "but she insists on the red corduroy every day. I can't get her to wear anything else."

Lynn's mother was embarrassed that her daughter wore the same favorite outfit every day for weeks, but the teacher knew better. The child was simply expressing herself.

Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, notes that children don't really have "bad taste." Like adults, they just like to dress to express how they feel inside. Unfortunately, sometimes we think it looks horrendous on the outside.

A child who insists on mismatched colors, pants that are too short, tacky costume jewelry, or a favorite item that gets worn and worn—and worn—can exasperate and sometimes embarrass parents.

But we should remember that adults, too, dress to express how they feel inside. We feel prettier in bright colors, more comfortable in well-worn jeans, braver in boots. Through years of experience, we know how to put things together to make a "look" that becomes us.

Children need time to develop that sense. Rather than fight it, parents can help the child along by finding out just what it is the child likes about a certain piece of apparel—and working from there.

You may be surprised to find that there's one specific feature that your child is attached to. Lynn, for instance, liked the way the red dress fit—no buttons, no snaps, no belts, no buckles. So her mother made her a half dozen jumpers in all colors and they both were happier.

Ask your child why he likes something. It might be the big shiny zipper on that old windbreaker. Or the ladybug applique on those too-short overalls. Or the sparkle of rhinestones in that gaudy costume jewelry.

Maybe it's how the piece of clothing fits. Stretch pants that don't bind, for instance, or velvety fabrics that are soft. Find out, and make use of his preferences.

Transfer the applique to a new pair of overalls. Get a small barette with rhinestones. Buy a new velour shirt. Together, you can "put together" a look that you're both comfortable with.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information on the social and physical development of children from birth to six years old, write to Growing Child, PO Box 620N, Lafayette, IN 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing. A year's subscription to the newsletter costs $11.95.

Pre-Blast Seminar Slated Here, Sept. 24

A seminar for coal operators and engineers on conducting pre-blast surveys will be held Thursday, Sept. 24, at Prestonsburg Community College.

The course is being sponsored by the University of Kentucky's Institute for Mining and Minerals Research with funding from the Kentucky Department of Energy. Course instructors will include representatives from private industry and the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals.

Successful completion of the course qualifies participants to receive a certificate and continuing education units from the University of Kentucky, College of Engineering, Office of Continuing Education.

There is a registration fee, and enrollment is limited. Interested persons should contact the institute's Office for Informational Services and Technical Liaison by calling 606-252-5535.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 0360074

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: 3-M Development Company, Box 266, Robinson Creek, Kentucky intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 15.7 acres located northwest of Thomas in Floyd county. Health Dept. Display Features Free Services

The Floyd County Fair starts Wednesday, September 2, and nurses from the Floyd County Health Department will be there giving free blood pressures each day and evening. The health department will also be doing heights and weights and offering nutrition information, and there will be pamphlets on various subjects which will be free to the public.

Everyone is urged to support the fair and stop by the Floyd County Health Department display.

The health department will be closed Monday, September 7, in observance of the Labor Day holiday. Regular business hours will resume on Tuesday, September 8.

August Fuel Cost Report

The average price per gallon for gasoline in Kentucky dropped one cent at full-service pumps since the middle of July and increased one cent at self-service pumps, the Blue Grass Automobile Club-AAA announced last week.

AAA's August Fuel Gauge survey of stations along Kentucky's major highways shows the average price per gallon at full-service pumps is now $1.37 for regular; $1.42 for no-lead; and $1.47 for premium no-lead. The average price per gallon for diesel fuel is $1.41. Self-service prices range from 3 to 10 cents lower than full-service and are now $1.27 for regular; $1.34 for no-lead; and $1.44 for premium no-lead.

The availability of gasoline for the coming Labor Day holiday is outstanding, with 92% of the stations contacted to be open. Almost 65% of the stations will be open all day Sunday; 71% will be open past 6 p.m. on Saturdays, and 66% will be open past 8 p.m. on weekdays.

Need Credit To Be Insured

Before any Social Security benefits can be paid, a worker must have enough credit for work covered by Social Security to be insured, Jim Kelly, Social Security district director for the Big Sandy area, said recently. Social Security credits are measured in units called "quarters of coverage." Both wage earners and self-employed people earn these credits based on their total annual earnings. A wage earner's earnings are generally covered from the first dollar earned during the year up to the maximum that counts for Social Security, $29,700 in 1981. A self-employed person's earnings are covered, however, only if his or her net earnings amount to $400 or more. If net earnings are at least $400, then total earnings are covered up to the Social Security maximum. In 1981, a person earns one quarter of coverage for each $310 of covered annual earnings. If 1981 annual earnings amount to $1,240 or more, the person earns four quarters of coverage. No more than four quarters can be earned in a year. The general rule is that to be insured a person needs one quarter of coverage for each year after 1950, or after the year a person reaches age 22; if later, up to the year he or she reaches 62, becomes disabled, or dies. For example, a person reaching 62 in 1981 needs

30 quarters of coverage to be insured for retirement benefits. No one ever needs more than 40 quarters to be insured. And, a person cannot be insured with fewer than six quarters. Persons planning to file for Social Security should always bring their W-2 forms and tax returns for the past two years, Kelly said. More information about Social Security credits can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security Office. A free leaflet, "How you earn Social Security credits," is available there. The office is located on U.S. 23 between Paintsville and Prestonsburg, and the telephone number is 886-8525.

Will Publish Youths Signed Up for Draft

The names of Kentucky men born in 1962 and first three months of 1963 who are registered with Selective Service have been forwarded to county clerks in their home counties.

These lists of names will be posted in a public place in compliance with the law, according to officials with the federal Selective Service System. Lists of registrants born in 1960 and 1961 will be posted when complete.

Making these lists available to the public is not aimed at encouraging people to seek out young men who haven't complied with the law, explained retired Air Force Brig. Gen. Taylor L. Davidson. Davidson is state director of Selective Service for Kentucky.

The purpose is to fulfill posting requirements of the Military Selective Service Act, he said. However, the publicity surrounding posting of the lists will probably help to make young men aware of their obligation and encourage them to register at their post offices, said Davidson.

The military has not drafted young men for several years, and revitalization of the Selective Service System and registration does not signal a return to the draft, according to a Selective Service news release. President Reagan is "firmly committed to making the all-volunteer force a success," the news release stated.

But peacetime registration will enable the government to have the names of men born in 1960 and later years on a computer. The men could be contacted quickly if Congress declares a national emergency and authorizes a draft. Otherwise, it could take at least four weeks to mobilize U.S. manpower in an emergency.

All men born since Dec. 31, 1959, must register. Men born in 1963 and later should register at their post offices within 30 days before or after their 18th birthday.

Registration is a simple process, according to Selective Service officials. Within 30 days before or after his 18th birthday, a young man must go to a U.S. post office and fill out a registration form which asks for his name, address, phone number, social security number and birthdate.

The public lists will include his name, birthdate and Selective Service number but his address and other information won't be included because of the Privacy Act.

There may be some registrants who are not included because of error but most who signed up will be listed, said Brayton Harris, Selective Service deputy director in Washington, D.C.

To date, nearly 6 million men have registered. Failure to register is a felony, punishable by a maximum penalty of $10,000 and/or five years in prison.

In addition to the registration of young men, the local draft boards are being reinstated.

In Kentucky there will be 37 boards organized under 10 area offices. These replace the 125 boards that existed in the 1960s and early 1970s. The process of choosing representative local board members for nomination to President Reagan is nearing completion.

Wins Superior Plus

Fall Tree Planting Applications Due

ASCS will be accepting applications for tree planting under the Forestry Incentives Program now September 15 1981. Under FIP, ASCS will pay 65 percent of the cost of land preparation, tree seedlings, and the planting of the seedlings. Applications for cost-sharing must be filed with the County Committee prior to beginning the practice for the applicant to be eligible. Contact the Floyd County ASCS office at 886-2802 for further details.

STRONGER THAN STEEL

A thread of spider's silk is stronger than a steel thread of the same thickness, says the National Wildlife Federation. It would take 4,000 threads lying side by side to be as wide as one human hair, yet it is one of the strongest natural materials in the world.

Air Force Volunteer

Duane E. Terry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herby Terry, of Hueysville, enlisted in the United States Air Force on August 11, according to TSgt Jim Brooks, Air Force recruiter.

A graduate of Allen Central High School, Terry is scheduled to report for active duty on January 15, 1982. Upon graduation from the Air Force's six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, he will receive technical training as a security specialist.

To Collect Tax At the Tipple

In an effort to collect severance taxes on coal mined without a permit, the state Revenue Department is preparing legislation that would require tippie operators to collect the tax.

The severance tax—4 1/2 percent of the sale price of the coal—is now collected from licensed operators by the state.

Revenue Commissioner Robert Allphin said the state now has little chance of collecting taxes on bootleg coal.

"It's a difficult situation," he said. "A lot of that coal moves at night or on weekends. You have to follow trucks back to the mine to find out where it's coming from, and that's a chancy business."

Alex Rose, an attorney for the Revenue Department, said that it is "extremely difficult" to estimate the amount of tax money the state might be losing. He said it may be "in the low millions."

Officials of the Revenue Department and of the state Department of Mines and Minerals are drafting the proposed legislation, Allphin said.

Rose said only preliminary work has been done. He said the proposal has not been discussed with anyone from Gov. John Y. Brown Jr.'s office.

"It won't be proposed (to the 1982 General Assembly) without approval from the administration," Rose said.

One problem with having taxes collected at the tippie is determining where the coal was mined, Rose said.

The state keeps the first $177.6 million in severance-tax collections, and returns half of the remainder to the counties in which the coal is produced.

PUBLIC NOTICE
TAX RATE DECREASE
FLOYD COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

To the citizens of Floyd County:
The Public Hearing to be held Wednesday, September 2, 1981 at 6:00 P.M. in the Floyd County Board of Education Meeting Room is to discuss a decrease in a proposed General Fund Tax Rate from 18.4¢ to 18.3¢. The decrease in taxes to be discussed at this hearing is required by law.

The General Fund Tax Rate levied in 1980-81 was 18.4¢ and produced a revenue of $648,678.11. The proposed General Fund Tax Rate of 18.3¢ is expected to produce $681,772.97 for Fiscal Year 1981-82.

Conley-Shepherd Vows Said

The lawn of Edd Campbell, of the Middle Road, was the scene at 7 o'clock, the evening of July 24, of the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Kimberly Rae Conley and Mr. Donald Ray Shepherd.

Mrs. Steve Boyd, of Dana, Ky. Chester Shepherd, of Prestonsburg, served his brother as best man. Eddie Joe Sammons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Sammons, of Prestonsburg, was ringbearer.

Mrs. Conley chose for her daughter's wedding a street-length light blue polyester dress. The groom's mother also chose a street-length polyester dress of light blue. Both wore carnation corsages.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the scene of the wedding. The three tier wedding cake was served by Mrs. Lynn Boyce, with Steve Boyd assisting at the punch bowl.

The couple left immediately for a short wedding trip. The groom is employed by Parkway Interiors. They will reside in Prestonsburg.

Miss Sharon Kay Shortridge, of Prestonsburg, served her cousin as maid-of-honor. She wore a light blue nylon polyester dress, with matching jacket. Miss Donna Ann Patton, of Dana, also a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a medium blue dress of polyester and cotton. Both carried bouquets of white carnations tinted in blue with matching ribbon. Serving as flower girl was Miss Geneva Boyd, daughter of Mr. and

Memorial Meeting A Tradition

(Photo by Willie Elliott)

Friends and relatives renew old acquaintances at the recent memorial service at Sizemore Gap in the Left Beaver section. The service, which has been held for more than fifty years, carries on a tradition which, in years past, was a common practice in the mountains. Ministers of the True Baptist Church of Mullins Branch delivered the message during the day.

Group Offers Views On Power Co. Rates

A group of Floyd countians was in Frankfort recently to offer their views on how electricity rates should be fixed, and further hearings on the matter have been set for next week.

Hearings on rate-setting by the Kentucky Power Company will be held in the Public Service Commission offices, Tuesday and Wednesday next week.

Members of the Floyd County Citizens Association appeared at a hearing in the series last month to urge adoption of a "lifeline" rate for the needy. Under the proposal, a minimum amount of electricity—perhaps 250 or 500 kilowatt hours a month—would be supplied at or below cost to the poor and elderly.

Next week's hearing will consider such questions as whether a customer's rates should decrease or increase as power consumption goes up, and whether the rate should vary with the time of day and the season.

The Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, a legal services agency here, has solicited expert testimony from Energy Systems Research Group, Inc., a Boston-based consulting firm, for presentation at the hearings. Public input is also encouraged, said Rich Born, legal services attorney.

In arguing for a "lifeline" rate, Thomas D. Austin, one of the Boston consultants, pointed out that, under the existing "declining block" rate, large consumers pay less per unit of electricity than do small consumers.

Poor persons spend about 3.5 times as much of their income for energy as the average customer does, he said.

Arrests Listed

There follows a listing of those booked at the county jail during the past week, charges against them, and arresting officers:

Michael Goble, Jr., 34, drunk driving (DUI), no operator's license, by Prestonsburg policeman J. W. Laferly, Jr.; Charles Lewis, 24, DUI, driving on suspended license, resisting arrest, by State Troopers Weddington and Stephens; Elisha Branham, 23, robbery, kidnapping, by Dets. D. Stumbo and T. Daytime Series Set For Classroom, Home

KET goes back to school this fall with Kentucky students and teachers. The statewide network resumes broadcast of its daytime schedule of educational programs beginning Monday, August 31 from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. The schedule continues Monday through Friday while school is in session.

Programs and series are designed primarily for use in Kentucky elementary and secondary classrooms, explains KET Director of Instructional Television Harry Hinkle, but viewers at home can receive this educational and instructional programming also. Interested parties can write to Hinkle, c/o KET, 600 Cooper Drive, Lexington, KY 40502 for a free copy of KET's daytime schedule.

KET offers a wide range of educational programs during the school year, 99 in all, covering every subject from learning how laws are made ("Lawmaking In Kentucky") to enjoying some of the world's best literature ("Cover To Cover") to exploring new trends in technology ("Fast Forward"). The programs are anywhere from five to 30 minutes in length.

According to a recent survey of Kentucky elementary and secondary teachers conducted by the KET Instructional TV staff, 416,555 Kentucky school students used KET in the classroom sometime during the 1980-81 school year. The report also indicated a significant increase in the number of junior and senior public high schools that used KET—up from 74 percent in 1979-80 to 88 percent in 1980-81. The figures are especially noteworthy, says Hinkle, when one considers that use of KET programs in the classroom is voluntary.

Three series produced by KET—"Kentucky History," "Math Country," and "Word Feathers,"—ranked among the 15-most viewed series, according to the report.

Hinkle attributes the high figures to a number of factors including a comprehensive program selection and a review process that incorporates feedback from teachers across the state, the Department of Education, as well as KET staff; and, the School Equipment Project, funded by the Kentucky Legislature, which provided matching funds to school districts to purchase additional video taping equipment, antenna systems and classroom receivers.

In addition to the wide range of programming available on KET's daytime schedule, the network also offers workshops, presentations and consultations on the effective use of KET's instructional programming conducted by the Instructional Television staff.

Technical services concerning equipment questions and problems are offered by KET's Field Services Division upon request. A new service offered by this team of engineers and technicians will be a low-fee, maintenance-repair service for schools in areas where obtaining repair service has been difficult.

Homecoming To Climax Martin Church Revival

The revival which will begin Sept. 13 at the Martin Church of Christ will be climaxed Sept. 20 by a homecoming. During the revival, which will be at 7:30 nightly, Louis Hall will be the evangelist. Special singing will feature each service.

The pastor, Roger L. Madden, said the homecoming dinner and fellowship will be followed by an afternoon "sing." Pastor and congregation invite the public to attend all these service.

Square-Dancing Set At Natural Bridge

For the 16th straight year, western square dancing will be the focus of attention at Natural Bridge State Resort Park on Labor Day Weekend.

The park's Western Square Dance Festival attracts dancers from Kentucky and several nearby states. This year's festival will be held Sept. 4-6. The fun begins each evening at about 7:30. A nominal admission will be charged.

Further information may be obtained by phoning Natural Bridge in Slade at (606) 663-2214.

To Honor Holcomb

Roscoe Holcomb died recently in a Hazard nursing home. On Tuesday night, September 8, at 7:30, Headwaters television show will feature a tribute to this nationally known banjo picker from Perry county. Over the many years of his career, films of Roscoe's life and music were made. Clips of these films were gathered for the tribute to the musician.

Headwaters is a production of Appalshop, of Whitesburg, and airs each week on WKYH, channel 57.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Toler Creek Processing, Betsy Layne, Kentucky 41605 intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 11.8 acres located south of Amba in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 2 miles south of State Route 979's junction with KY 1426, and located southeast of Gayheart Branch, latitude 37° 30' 00", longitude 82° 38' 23". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Millard Hamilton. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: surface disturbance for underground mining. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, 431 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objection and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 036-5129. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS 350 that the proposed post mining land use does not constitute a change from the premining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

1. In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Branham & Baker Coal Company, 328 North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, KY 41653 intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 17 acres located northwest of David in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 2 miles northeast of State Route 7 and located north of Howard Branch of Licking River, latitude 37° 36' 17", longitude 82° 54' 17". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: David Community Development Corporation, Lula Lockwood, Kenny Carpenter. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: contour strip with hollowfill. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 077-0110. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081. (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS:350 that the proposed postmining land use does not constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE WITHIN 100 FEET OF A PUBLIC ROAD

Pursuant to 405 KAR 1:050 The Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection may conduct a public hearing to review the application of Triple Elkhorn Mining Co. (application number 036-0071) who proposed to conduct mining operations within 100 feet of public highway Prater Creek road at Spurlock Fork location. Any interested person may request that the hearing be held by written request to that effect sent to Ralph Waddle, Division of Permits, Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Sixth Floor, Capitol Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601 and received by him within 20 days of the date of notice.

Floyd Juniors Win Three Titles

The Floyd county junior 4-H poultry judging team won three of the first five places in the state contest at the Kentucky State Fair. Junior state champion was Richard Maggard, 13, of Hippo, who scored 878 of 1000 possible points. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Maggard. Third place winner was Rondell Martin with 864 points. He is the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Martin, of Langley. Scott Tackett, was the fifth place winner. He is the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Tackett, of Banner. Other junior judges from this County were Chris Hall, Betsy Layne, 10th, and Shawn Johnson, Stanville, 11th.

TV Cable System Changes Hands

Cableentertainment, Inc., a regional operator of cable television systems, acquired all 21 cable systems previously owned by the Midwest Corporation, effective August 6, 1981. The systems are located in West Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky and Ohio. The Midwest systems operated under the name Better Vision Cable TV, Point View Cable TV and Flanery and Dingus Cable Company. All 21 systems will change their name to "Cableentertainment". Cableentertainment's operational headquarters are located in Zanesville, Ohio and their financial and marketing offices are in New York City. The Midwest acquisition brings the total number of basic cable subscribers managed by Cableentertainment to 70,000, making Cableentertainment one of the "top 50" cable system operators in the United States.

A new office is planned in Clarksburg, West Virginia. The Clarksburg office will be the headquarters for the northern West Virginia systems which will include the systems located in Shinnston, Farmington, Salem, West Milford, Phillipi, Pennsboro, Pine Grove, and Cairo. Intra-state toll free numbers will be provided for Cableentertainment's subscribers. The Point Pleasant office will remain the headquarters for the southern systems. Additional Cableentertainment system offices also remain in White Sulphur Springs, Mount Hope, Madison and Buckhannon WV, Oakland MD and Prestonsburg, KY.

A new premium channel will be offered starting late September in systems that currently have satellite service. The programming chosen is Cinemax, a 24-hour movie channel designed to complement the current premium service, Home Box Office.

HEARING FLOYD COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Floyd County Board of Education will hold a Public Hearing in the Floyd County Board of Education Meeting Room on Sept. 2, 1981 at 6:00 p.m. for the purpose of hearing public comments on a proposed General Fund Tax Rate of 18.3%.

The General Fund Tax Rate levied in 1980-81 was 18.4% and produced a revenue of $648,678.11. The proposed General Fund Tax Rate of 18.3% is expected to produce $681,772.97 for Fiscal Year 1981-82. $14,946.53 of this amount is from new property. The compensating General Fund Tax in 1981-82 is 17.6% with revenue expected to be $655,694.23.

The general areas to which revenue in excess of 1980-81 revenue is to be allocated is as follows: cost of collections, exonerations, discounts and delinquents: $3,394. pupil transportation $15,000; operation of plant $10,000.; maintenance of plant $5,000.

The General Assembly has required publication of this advertisement and the information contained herein.

★ CONSUMER ALERT ★

Since more and more consumers today are paying for goods and services by check rather than with cash, Attorney General Steve Beshear wants Kentucky consumers to be informed about procedures to follow if it is ever necessary to stop payment on a check. Stopping payment on a personal check can be a valuable tool when you have lost an endorsed check or have paid for an item or service that is unsatisfactory. For example, suppose you have a stereo fixed, and then, intending to pay the bill, give the repairman a personal check written on an account containing more than enough money to cover it. When you take the stereo home, it does not work properly. The repairman disclaims all responsibility, saying the stereo was working properly when it left the shop. You then begin to consider stopping payment on the check. To stop payment, first call your bank and ask about procedures to follow. A verbal stop-payment order is usually binding for 14 days. A written order is valid for six months, unless it is renewed in writing. If the bank does not follow a valid order to stop payment, it is up to you to establish this fact and any resultant loss. To avoid this, you should always follow the exact procedures set forth by your bank.

When you stop payment on a check, you should write to the business or individual involved immediately and state why payment has been stopped. This should be done even when the party has been verbally advised about the stop-payment order. The written notice should be sent by certified mail and you should keep a copy for future reference, in case trouble arises. You should return any merchandise you have received. Some businesses may attempt to prosecute you for passing a "cold check" when payment is stopped and the company cannot collect its money. This prosecution and harassment will be unsuccessful if you can show you had sufficient funds in your account to cover the check, and therefore, you did intend to pay the bill, the attorney general said. Your certified letter of notice will show you informed the business of your reasons for stopping payment.

In any situation involving a demand for a cashier's or certified check, you should check with your bank before obtaining and purchasing goods and services with such a check. It is very difficult to stop payment on a cashier's or certified check. Therefore, such a check should never be used when you have any question about the integrity of the transaction for which the check will be used, Beshear said. Before taking any action, always contact the company and give it a chance to resolve the problem. If you then decide to stop payment on a check, consult with your local bank. Remember, stopping payment on a check involves a rather serious undertaking, so do not use this method for minor complaints or what may very well be a simple misunderstanding. If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

In the first large "sitdown" strike in 1936, the United Rubber Workers (CIO) won recognition at Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., according to the U.S. Department of Labor's "Important Events in American Labor History."

Environment Will Be Topic Of Conference

"Federal/State: The Changing Role" will be the theme of the sixth annual Kentucky Environmental Conference Sept. 30-Oct. 2 at the Holiday Inn Convention Center in Louisville.

The conference, sponsored by the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, will examine changes in environmental responsibilities and goals during the 1980's.

More than 500 persons—including environmentalists, industry representatives and officials from local, state and federal agencies—are expected to attend the three-day meeting.

Program plans include panel discussions on a number of environmental issues, a keynote address and two awards luncheons. Panel topics will include: new energy resources in Kentucky, flood control, farmland erosion and sedimentation control, surface-mining primacy, solid and hazardous waste programs and emergency responses to environmental crisis.

The awards luncheons will be held at 12:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 1, and Friday, Oct. 2. Awards presented will honor individuals, groups and industries for their efforts to improve the environmental conditions of the commonwealth.

All citizens interested in environmental issues are invited to attend the conference. Registration forms and further information can be obtained by calling Edna Beard, Assistant Conference Coordinator, Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Fifth Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, telephone (502) 564-2041.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

1. In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: W & S Mining Company (Mine No. 1), Teaberry, Kentucky, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 3.5 acres located south of Teaberry in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately .5 mile south of State Route 979's junction with Red Morg Branch Road, and located south of south of Red Morg Branch, latitude 37° 23' 18", longitude 82° 41' 02". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Sterling Hamilton. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: surface disturbance for underground mining. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 036-5122. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081. (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS:350 that the proposed postmining land use does not constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

★ CONSUMER ALERT ★

Repossession . . .

Attorney General Steven L. Beshear is urging consumers to "be sure you can meet the obligations of a credit contract before signing it in order to avoid repossession."

Many times when you purchase a consumer item on credit, you sign a credit contract and agree to make payments of money to the seller or lender. A credit contract lists the number of payments you must make, the amount of each payment, and when each payment is due.

The lender or seller has the right to repossess the item upon default. Default means you miss or are late with a payment due. Until all the payments are made, the purchase itself is the creditor's assurance that the debt will be paid—if not from you in cash payments, then with the repossessed item.

Your credit contract can even require you to assemble the property and take it to a designated place for repossession.

According to Kentucky law, upon default the lender or seller may take possession of the property without going to court first if the property can be obtained without a "breach of the peace." This means that your property cannot be taken by force against your will, and that no locks can be broken or property destroyed in an attempt to repossess the item.

If a repossession cannot be made peacefully, you may be taken to court in order to get a court order for repossession of your property. However, if you have indeed violated your contract, you property will not only be repossessed, but you will be ordered to pay for the court costs.

The seller or lender who repossesses your property has the right to sell your property. This sale may be a public or private sale, but it must be commercially reasonable, and you must receive notification of the time of the intended sale. You have to pay for the reasonable expenses of the repossession and costs of conducting the sale.

After your property is repossessed and sold, you might still owe money.

For example, if you sign a loan for $500 to buy a new television and still owe $350 on your loan when your television is repossessed, and your television is resold for $250 and the cost of repossession is $50, then only $200 is applied against your loan. You still owe the lender $150 even after the repossession. You are liable for any deficiency between the amount you owe plus the cost of repossession and what the goods sold for after repossession.

On the other hand, if your television sold for $400, that would be $50 more than what you owe, and you are entitled to that surplus money.

If your property has been repossessed, you have the right to get your property back any time before it is sold. In order to get your property back, you must pay the repossession all of the money you owe plus all of the repossession cost. However, you do not have this right at all if the contract you signed says that you cannot get your property back after it is repossessed.

If someone repossesses your property and has not complied with the law, such as not giving you notice of the sale or not conducting a proper sale of the property, you may be entitled to the loss caused by this failure to comply if you can establish it.

"In order to avoid problems and possible repossession when buying items on credit, be sure everything in your contract is clear before you sign. Make sure that the contract states what happens if you are late or miss a payment, and never sign a contract with blank spaces in it," advises the attorney general.

If you are unsure whether you can meet the conditions of a credit contract you have already signed, you will probably be better off selling the item outright and paying off the loan immediately. In this way, you can avoid the problems of possible repossession and your credit rating will not be affected.

If you have questions about credit contracts, repossessions, and other consumer matters, please write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

In 1931, the first Employment Stabilization Act creating a board to advise the President on the economy and to collect data on the economy was passed, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO OWNERS OF RENTAL HOUSING

The Floyd County Housing Authority is administering a Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Program in Floyd County using funds provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Under this program, owners will rehabilitate rental units which are now substandard or have major building systems or components requiring repair or replacement. The cost of this work, which must total at least $1000 per unit, may be financed by a local lending institution, by the owner, or by any other source available to the owner. The agency does not make rehabilitation loans or grants, but will assist owners to obtain financing.

After required rehabilitation work has been completed, the agency and the owner will execute a contract which establishes a rent for the unit(s) that will cover rehabilitation costs, meet monthly operating expenses, and allow a reasonable profit on the owner's investment. For a fifteen year period, the owner will rent the rehabilitated unit(s) to eligible lower income tenants, who will pay approximately 25 percent of their income toward the rent. The agency will pay the remainder of the rent directly to the owner. The initial occupant of a rehabilitated unit may be the owner's present eligible tenant. After rehabilitation the rent (including utilities) cannot exceed the following Maximum Rents:

BEDROOM SIZE
1	2	3	4
206	244	282	319

The agency's current funds will allow rehabilitation of 35 units of rental housing as follows:

1 BR	2 BR	3 BR	4 BR
8	18	7	2

No unit will be assisted which results in the permanent displacement of a current tenant.

Proposals from owners will be received by the Housing Authority until further notice.

Owners who wish to submit a proposal must obtain an application form from:

Floyd County Housing Authority
Housing Office

Job Corps Electricians Praised

GEORGE P. ARCHER
SENIOR CITIZENS CENTER

The Prestonsburg Job Corps electricity class recently completed a badly needed rewiring project at the George P. Archer Senior Citizens Center. Job Corps members, under the direction of their instructor, Tom Nichols, a local electrician, totally revamped the electrical system at the center by installing new service entrances, wire, and conduit throughout.

"I'm very proud of these young men and the job they've done here," commented Nichols concerning the project. "As a class, we were glad to be of service to the senior citizens."

Since its beginning in February of this year, the electricity class has graduated four—Tony Kieth, Hiram Hamilton, David Molton and Tim Shelton. Two electricians are preparing for fall classes at Morehead—Willie Adkins and Tim Muncy. Fourteen more electricity students are slated to complete the course at different intervals over the next six months.

"These are good kids working for a chance to make it on their own," said Nichols. "They'll be good helpers for electricians in their areas. None of these guys has to be here nor do they have to work as hard as they do, since Job Corps is a totally voluntary program. This indicates to me that they have a sincere desire to better themselves."

CB Means Help Is Near

Emphasizing the important highway safety role that citizen band radios can play, the U.S. Department of Transportation has a program that communities can use to train CB owners to report roadway emergencies.

The department's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration developed the model training course as part of its National Emergency Aid Radio Program (NEAR). The course provides a complete guide for teaching volunteers and public safety personnel how to use their CB radios effectively to report accidents, breakdowns and other emergency situations where help is needed.

Participants are organized into CB monitoring networks which operate 24 hours a day. Each operator covers an assigned area, listening for calls on CB channel 9, the channel set aside for motorist aid and emergencies. Requests for help are relayed quickly to medical, police, fire and other emergency services.

NHTSA Administrator Joan Claybrook, said, "The NEAR program permits individual citizens to become actively involved in community safety. CBers who summon help to the scene of an accident or other emergency are providing a critical, life-saving service."

"CB radio is the only practical means of monitoring virtually every mile of highway in the country," Claybrook noted. "The NEAR slogan, 'Help is NEAR,' is a constant reminder that CB operators are a vital link between citizens who need help and those who can provide the help."

The NHTSA training course includes a 34-minute color film which shows simulated CB monitoring activities. Students are taught to use their CBs to report information quickly, accurately and in a proper emergency communications format. Other materials include an instructors' guide, a lesson plan and a student study guide.

Keep Vinyl Top Clean

Just like the paint finish on your car, the vinyl top needs periodic cleaning and waxing to preserve its like-new appearance.

But, do not use regular car-paint cleaners or wax. Specially formulated coatings for vinyl are available at auto dealerships and auto-supply centers.

Almost half of all new cars sold in recent model years have vinyl tops, many of which are the object of neglect.

Many car owners neglect the vinyl top because they believe it needs no attention. Not so.

Car owners are advised to apply a dress coating when the car is fairly new, before dirt and grime settle into the top's texture.

It also should be washed regularly.

The vinyl top should be re-coated whenever water fails to "bead up" on the surface, just as the car should be waxed under the same circumstances. Old wax should be removed with a vinyl cleaner before a new coat is applied.

If neglected, the top will have to be cleaned with a soft brush while using the cleaner.

Do not use abrasive materials such as kitchen cleansers, which can remove the protective vinyl surface coating.

Neglect can cause fading and cracking.

Without proper protection, the aging process of a vinyl top can be quite rapid because, being on top of the car, it is exposed to the full effects of sun, rain, snow, ice and dirt.

Quilt Organization Sets Fall Meeting

In an "old Kentucky home" warmed only by a potbellied stove or a fireplace, quilts were very serviceable items. Often a quilt was an object of beauty as well, treasured long after outliving its practical use.

Some of these treasures are displayed at the Kentucky History Museum, and the Kentucky Heritage Quilt Society will hold its fall meeting there this year so all its members can see the museum collection.

The three-day Heritage Quilt Society meeting will be Sept. 15-17 at the museum which is located in the Old Capitol.

On Tuesday, Sept. 15, Laurel Horton will conduct an all-day quilt documentation workshop beginning at 9 a.m. for members interested in being trained in archival data collection.

Horton, a Jeffersontown native now living in North Carolina, holds a master's degree from the University of North Carolina. Her master's thesis was on quilts, and she will share her research and findings with the group.

Wednesday, Sept. 16, the fall membership meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in the House chamber on the second floor of the Old Capitol in downtown Frankfort. Following the meeting, there will be a program.

A slide-lecture by Horton on tracing pre-Civil War quilts, "Transplanted Roots in Rowan County, North Carolina" will be presented at 11 a.m.

At 1 p.m. after a lunch break, members will see a film, "Quilts in Women's Lives," which describes how important quilts became to seven women.

Also Wednesday afternoon, Elizabeth Perkins, history museum curator, and Kathy Zwyer, assistant curator, will present quilts from the museum collection.

On Thursday, Sept. 17, the curator and her assistant will conduct a workshop from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on the care and conservation of quilts. The workshop will cover preservation, care, storage, cleaning, restoration and repair of quilts. It will also describe how to handle fragile old quilts. The workshop fee, payable at the door, is $2.50.

The workshop will be repeated at various places in the state. These workshops are sponsored and funded by the Kentucky Heritage Quilt Society.

Anyone interested in attending the workshop and/or the three-day meeting should write the Kentucky Heritage Quilt Society, 2211 Cherokee Parkway, Louisville, Ky. 40204, or phone (502) 451-4679.

Bids Let To Reclaim "Orphan" Land Here

Bids are being let for reclamation of abandoned or "orphaned" land in Floyd, Magoffin, Martin, Pike, Greenup, Lawrence, Boyd, Carter and Johnson counties.

The work involves applying limestone, seeding, planting seedlings, and spreading limestone and fertilizer. The soil must be disced with a rome disc and graded with a tractor with minimum weight of 50,000 lbs. without the blade, according to project requirements.

Only qualified excavator-reclamation contractors are being asked to bid on the contracts.

The bid deadline on the projects is Tuesday, Sept. 15, at 10 a.m. The request numbers are ES-96-82, Group III 1981 (for various permits in Floyd, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties) and ES-97-82, Group IV 1981 (for some permits in Greenup, Lawrence, Boyd, Carter and Johnson counties).

Contractors may contact C.F. Dugan or Debbie Wells, Finance Department, Division of Contracting and Administration, Room 145, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. The phone number is 1-502-564-3649.

The Federal Social Security Act was approved on Aug. 14, 1935, according to "Important Events in American Labor History."

Children's Vision: Signs to Watch For

The weeks between the first day of school and the first report card are a good time for parents to look for symptoms of vision problems in their children, says the president of the Kentucky Optometric Association.

Dr. Robert E. Mackey says a child's behavior and posture while doing schoolwork often give clues signaling the need for a complete vision exam. "The symptoms parents spot help us determine the need for special tests to uncover vision perception problems not easily diagnosed with a routine vision examination."

Symptoms parents should look for include frequent clumsiness; difficulty in reading or doing other close work; a short attention span for the child's age; frequent blinking; complaints of nausea, dizziness or headaches after reading or doing other close work; a tense position when looking at objects far away or close up; tilting the head noticeably to one side when reading; holding books close to the eyes; frowning or scowling; and continued avoidance of reading and close work in favor of outside activities.

"All children probably show one or more of these symptoms occasionally but the child who exhibits them continually is the one who may need professional vision care," Dr. Mackey said.

He added that parents should not wait for a child to complain about not seeing well, since most children do not know they have a vision problem. They assume everyone sees the way they do.

Dr. Mackey also advised not to rely totally on school vision screening test results. Generally, the school screening checks only the ability to see clearly at a distance. Vision skills needed for reading, for example, may not be checked.

For good preventive vision care, parents would do well to have their child's vision examined annually.

For further information, write the Kentucky Optometric Association at P.O. Box 572, Frankfort, Ky. 40602 for a free brochure, "Facts You Should Know About Vision and School Achievement."

The Years Ahead

Focus on Food
 If you are over the age of 65, you face special problems. These include adjustment to retirement, age discrimination if you wish to continue to work and handling inflation on a fixed income. Even if you are under the age of 65, you face these problems. Very likely, there is someone in your family already over the age of 65—a favored aunt, grandparent, or parent.
 One of the special problems of older adults, and one which is now receiving special study and attention, is diet. Because many older persons live on a fixed income, their food purchasing power is reduced. This raises obvious questions: are nutritional needs of the elderly being met? and just what are the nutritional needs of older persons?
 The food purchasing patterns of older persons reveal that they spend a higher proportion of their income on food than the rest of the population. These figures do not, of course, indicate that the elderly enjoy better nutrition than the general population. On the contrary, since the median income for families whose head is 65 or over averages much less than that of other families, it is inevitable that a greater portion of that income is spent on basic necessities, such as food.

at providing adequate nutrition for the elderly was established by the Older Americans Act of 1965. This Act provides for nutrition programs throughout the country which provide at least one hot meal a day, 5 days a week, to people over 60 and their spouses (regardless of age) in a communal setting. The meal must provide at least one-third of the Recommended Dietary Allowances.
 In addition, the program provides an opportunity to socialize, which was also a purpose of the Act. Recipients of the hot meal pay only if they feel they have the means to do so. Therefore, the program offers a wholesome environment as well as a nutritious meal, and without the stigma which some people attach to welfare programs.

While older persons spend more of their income on food eaten at home, they spend much less on food eaten away from home. This difference is also consistent with lower income; eating out becomes a real luxury.
 Studies also indicate that the 65-and-over age group spend less on red meats and prepared foods than does the general population, and more on fresh fruits and vegetables. This pattern also seems to be a consequence of lesser income, because red meat and prepared foods are among the most expensive items at the food market. However, in this respect, older persons may be deriving a slight benefit; they are avoiding rich foods and processed foods in which the general population has over-indulged. On the other hand, a diet that is exclusively fruits and vegetables would have certain deficiencies.
 The nutritional needs of the elderly are basically those of younger adults. Generally, the elderly require fewer calories, but this requirement varies with the activity level of each person. The elderly should seek foods high in protein, and rich in minerals and vitamins. In particular, older persons should guard against calcium deficiencies by consuming more milk and cheese. Vitamin C is also important; therefore, the diet should be rich in citrus fruits.

This kind of diet is difficult to maintain on a low income. Public pressure exists to provide the public assistance programs to help ease the burden for low income elderly people, in the form of cash grants or in-kind assistance. One such program, available to the general public, is obviously also available to the elderly population: the food stamp program.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, however, families with heads of household 65 and over receive only about 16 percent of the total food stamp caseload; by way of comparison, those under 35 receive 43 percent of the total (of course, it should be mentioned that the elderly comprise about 12 percent of the population, while the distribution of those under 35 is 30 percent).
 A more dramatic survey, conducted by a Washington State University professor for the Food and Nutrition Service, indicates that there is a much higher degree of nonparticipation in the food stamp program by the elderly. It was estimated that about 40 percent of the eligible nonparticipants were over the age of 65.

The survey did not determine the reasons for this high percentage of nonparticipation in the food stamp program by the elderly, but possible explanations are suggested by the nature of the program itself.
 It is administered as a welfare program, and for many people, particularly the elderly, carries a stigma.
 Because it is administered by issuing special stamps for the purchase of food, the use of food stamps is public notice of the user's participation in the program. An older person who has developed a certain standing in the community over the years, and who enjoys a relationship with the local grocer may be reluctant to purchase food with the stamps.

About the House

Cut Your Closet Confusion

If you're having a difficult time closing drawers or closets, it probably means something. It means that you are not using your storage space efficiently.

With drawers, the obvious solution is to fold things and put dividers in the drawers for neat separation. Closets can also be put to better use, but their remodeling involves some more planning. Used effectively, closets can be your most valuable storage center, giving quick access to frequently-used items and optimum storage for out-of-season belongings.

Shelving and dividers can put your Grand Central Station confusion onto organized tracks. When adding shelving, use the top area for blankets and other lesser-used items, and the lower shelves for every-day articles.

Vertical dividers can separate your full-length clothes from shirts, skirts and jackets. They also make hanging things easier; you won't find yourself clanging into over-crowded hangers and winter coats.

Use lower shelves for boots and shoes, although they don't have to be stored at ground level. You might find it a blessing to sort out that rubble of shoes and slippers at the bottom of your closet and put it into organized pairs higher up. Not only will it be easier to find missing pairs, but your back will appreciate not having to double-over for a stray leftie.

Another major feature of remodeling your closet is lining the walls, floor and ceiling with aromatic red cedar. This is not a useless extravagance.

Your closet, more than your dining room, can use this wood paneling. Red cedar's pleasant aroma keeps closets smelling fresh and clean, and moths hate it.

Moth larvae are paralyzed by the wood's fragrance, so they starve before they can feed on your costly woollens and furs. And because red cedar is the most moisture-resistant of all woods, you don't have to worry about dampness or mildew.

Cedar lining is easy to use. The wood is 3/8 of an inch thick, four inches wide, and comes in lengths of up to four feet with interlocking tongue-in-groove parts for quick installation. Just paste the panels right over the closet's existing walls.

It's a good idea also to cover the floor and ceiling so that the red cedar can work to its best advantage. Don't finish the interior with paint or stain, or you'll ruin the wood's aromatic qualities and your closet will return to its former condition of moth motel.

Car Fumes Poison Children

Eating chips of lead-based paint can lead to lead poisoning in children; but it is not the only cause of lead poisoning.

A seven-year Illinois study shows strong circumstantial evidence that automobile exhaust is the source of lead poisoning in some children, according to Dr. Kiturah Reinbold at the University of Illinois, Champaign.

Apparently, automotive exhaust leaves tons of lead on roads each year. The lead also settles on nearby houses and lawns. Children who live and play in areas with heavy road traffic can poison themselves by placing their dirty fingers in their mouths, according to the study.

Cases range from serious to low-grade lead poisoning. The most serious poisoning can lead to brain damage, and low grade cases can result in anemia, says Dr. Reinbold. Symptoms include complaints of headaches, tiredness and irritability. The level of lead in the blood can be determined by a simple blood test given by a physician.

If you have children and live in a densely trafficked area, Dr. Reinbold offers the following advice:

- Try to keep the dust down in the house by cleaning frequently.
- Watch where the children play. Try to keep them away from the street. Curbstone gutters are the worst places, as they have a high concentration of lead-laden dirt and dust.

Outdoor Elegance

Patio and pool-side furniture that can stand up to summer squalls and look good enough to winter in the living room or den is not an impossible dream. Beylerian Limited's folding armchair is living proof. Featuring red and yellow polypropylene frames with off-white, water-repellent cotton covers, this chair is sturdy, but light-weight, and weather-proof. Handsome enough to move into any informal and contemporary room, this is one indoor/outdoor chair that won't spend the winter in the garage.

The chair also comes in an even more elegant version with a natural linen cover on a kahlua-brown frame. It can move outdoors, too, at the drop of a hat. But since it is so elegant, your living room or dining room will probably look "naked" without it.

Spend A Day With The Blinds

Now that summer is approaching, why not spend a pleasant, sunny day cleaning your Venetian blinds? It's really not that dreary and it will brighten up the rooms. It is also one of the few cleaning jobs that can be done outside.

Choose a sunny day and take the blinds down, noting carefully where each one goes after you have finished the job. A good idea is to tie a different colored thread to each blind, writing down the color key for where each blind goes. Try not to break the threads while you're doing the washing.

Take the blinds outside and lay them out flat on a plastic sheet, or hang them over a sturdy clothesline. Use a bucket of hot, sudsy water and a brush and sponge, or a cloth. Wash each slat separately and go over the tapes with a well-lathered stiff brush. Run down the pull cords with a sponge or cloth that has a heavy dose of undiluted liquid detergent on it.

Don't let the blinds dry before they have been rinsed—the soap and soil will dry on them before you begin the rinsing. The quickest way to rinse Venetian blinds outside is with a garden hose.

Indoors, a good way to clean the blinds is in a bathtub. Protect the tub from scratches and other possible damage by lining the bottom and sides with a bath sheet or a couple of large towels. Bath mats with suction cups can also be used.

Don't submerge the cord mechanism in the tub, but scrub the blinds well using a brush. After washing, fill the tub with clean water to rinse. You can wipe the blind and leave it in an open position to dry by itself.

Venetian blinds can also be cleaned while still on the window. This saves the time of dismantling them and putting them back up, but care must be taken not to dirty up the rest of the room in the process. Protect the window frame by tacking or taping up clean towels. Put newspapers or towels on the floor to catch any drips. Dust the blinds and wash each slat separately with a sudsy cloth or sponge.

You can also clean the blinds by wearing clean absorbent cotton gloves. Just dip your hands into the sudsy solution and wash the slats with your gloves. Scrub the tapes with a brush and rinse with a clean, damp sponge or cloth. Don't forget the pull cords. Keep the blinds extended and the slats open until they are dry. Keep the tapes stretched smooth.

IN MEMORIAM

(In loving memory of Frank Crisp, born August 9, 1893, died August 28, 1980)

The following should have been published the week of Aug. 26 but, because of an error its publication was delayed.

We lost you just a year ago, How much we all still miss you, No one will ever know, Your life had been full and long.

You did so much for others, and always, You were kind gentle, but so strong When you talked, we all listened closely;

Because you kept quiet unless you had something to say, You were always watched to see the things you did, For you did only things that needed doing.

Your life and days were an open book To those around you to take a close look. If only the world, and all of us who loved you,

Could live and love life as you did, We'll always remember you, and the man you were For we loved you so very much.

Though you are gone from this mortal earth, Those of us who loved you, will always feel your touch.

Sadly Missed WIFE AND FAMILY

It.

Lung Disease Issue At Park Conference

Following a three-day conference at Jenny Wiley State Park last week, groups concerned with occupational lung diseases issued a statement calling for better compensation for lung disease victims, expanded research in the disease, and legislation which would require industry to provide safer workplaces.

The group criticized policies of the Reagan administration, claiming they will wipe out gains already made in curbing lung diseases originating in the workplace and environment.

Represented at the meeting were local and national Black Lung Associations, the Brown Lung Association, and the White Lung Association—representing coal miners, cotton mill workers and asbestos workers, respectively—legal aid organizations, the Cabin Creek Medical Center, the TRAIN Institute, the Center for Law and Social Policy, Kentucky Miners' Health Care, Asbestos Workers Local 80, and the American Lung Association of West Virginia.

Club Presents Scholarships

Mrs. Elsie Leake, center, treasurer of the East Point Area Development Club, presents $500 scholarship checks to Miss Mary Elizabeth Bumgardner, left, who will enter the nursing program at Prestonsburg Community College, and to Miss Debbie Wilcox, Christian Education major at Kentucky Christian College. The presentation was made to the girls, both residents of East Point, at the club's August monthly meeting.

In the houses we build, a little energy goes a long, long way.

The time is rapidly approaching when utility bills may surpass your mortgage payment. At Continental Homes, we build your home with many energy saving innovations. One example is a special optional insulation package developed by Continental's engineers, in conjunction with Owens-Corning. It's proved to offer a much higher degree of energy efficiency. Because we build your home inside our huge plants, bad weather, labor availability and material shortages are not a problem. So we also save you considerably in construction cost and time. At Continental Homes, we build your home to save energy. And a lot more.

Ordination of Sheriff As Minister Set Sept. 12

Ex-Sheriff Doug Lewis will be ordained a Southern Baptist minister in a service at Benedict Baptist Chapel on Slick Rock Fork of Cow Creek, Saturday, Sept. 12.

Until he stepped down from that office Monday, Sheriff Lewis, who has been named pastor of Benedict Chapel following the recent resignation of the Rev. Gordon Fitch, was believed to be the only sheriff in the nation who was an active preacher.

The Rev. Cohen Campbell, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Betsy Layne, and the Rev. Wayne Gullion, pastor of First Baptist Church, Martin, will be the ordination speakers. The service will begin at 5 p.m., and will be followed by a dinner.

The public is invited to attend.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank each and everyone who helped in any way during the illness and passing of our loved one, Oakra Haywood. We thank the hospital staff for being so helpful, those who sent flowers and food, and all the ministers for their consoling words. We especially thank the Hall Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Bebe Coal Corporation, P.O. Box 183, Ivel, Kentucky, 41642, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 4.7 acres located west of Amba in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 2.25 miles north of State Route 979's junction with Parsons Branch Road, and located west of Mud Creek, latitude 37° 31' 46", longitude 82° 39' 10". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Irmina Martin. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: surface disturbance for deep mine (amendment to permit number 036-5117). The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, 431 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 036-5117. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2) and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS:350 that the proposed post mining land use does not constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

New Enrollment In Schools Near Last Year Mark

The county's school enrollment has pretty well held its own with that of last school year, data released by the office of Supt. Pete Grigsby, Jr. indicates.

High schools and elementary schools had a loss of 20 pupils on the fifth day of school this year as compared with the previous year's totals, but a gain of 33 in kindergarten enrollment better than offset that.

The total enrollment of grade and high school pupils on the fifth day of school this year was 9240, 20 less than the same day last year. The kindergarten enrollment this year is 570, up from 537 at the same time in the 1980-'81 school year.

High school enrollment had a net loss of 34, with only two of the five in the county showing gains. Betsy Layne High had a gain of 5 and McDowell High gained 19. Losing enrollment were Allen Central, 27; Wheelwright, 20, and Prestonsburg, 11. The enrollments for these schools this year are:

Allen Central, 613; Betsy Layne, 652; McDowell, 340; Prestonsburg, 788; Wheelwright, 286.

The comparative enrollments in grade schools of the county follow:

	1980-'81	1981-'82
Bonanza	66	74
Daniels Cr.	18	14
Drift	47	43
Home Br.	57	48

No Finger Salads

Warning: Careless use of food processors can really let your fingers do the walking. The machines can shred, slice, chop and dice anything from carrots and celery to thumbs and pinkies.

A spokesman for the emergency ward at George Washington University Medical Center in Washington, D.C. told the Health Insurance Institute recently that "we're seeing an increasing number of finger injuries involving food processors."

Most of the accidents, he said, occur not in the home, but on-the-job in fast-food delis and sandwich shops. People who work with these machines are often in a hurry and get careless.

This is not to say, however, that household chefs are any less likely to slice their hands. Anyone using these appliances should be careful.

Safety when using the machines can be easily observed. Never use your fingers to push food down or pull food up from the processors when it is on. Before cleaning the parts, always make sure the machine is unplugged. Even when the processor is turned off, the blades are razor-sharp. Always use the item slowly and carefully.

Immanuel Baptist Church of Pikeville was the scene of the marriage ceremony that united Theresa Ann Akers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Winston Akers, of Grethel, and Stephen Ray Tackett, son of Gloria J. Tackett, of Harold, and the late Clyde Tackett.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized at 2 p.m. on June 20 by the Rev. Cohen Campbell.

A program of contemporary wedding music was given prior to the ceremony. Brian Akers, the bride's brother, and Melody Conn sang and were accompanied by Dena Gibson at the piano.

The bride wore a gown trimmed in chantilly lace, fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline, empire waist, full sleeves with lace cuff, all with seeded pearl trim, and a cathedral length train. The matching fingertip veil was trimmed in chantilly lace with seeded pearl trim secured to a camelot cape covered in matching lace and seeded pearl trim with attached blusher veil.

Kathy Dillon was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Missy Akers, the bride's sister, Jan Hall and Vickie Tackett, cousin of the groom. Sara Young, was flower girl. All wore matching pastel blue pleated gowns with picture hats.

Akers-Tackett Marriage Solemnized

Serving as best man was Stanley James, Jr. Groomsmen and ushers were Greg Tackett and Clyde Tackett, Jr., brothers of the groom, and Tim Hall. Jodie Akers was the ringbearer.

Kaye Hall was the bride's lady-in-waiting, and Kathy Jo Roop, the groom's cousin, was at the register.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given in the church social hall. The serving table was centered with the three-tier wedding cake which was created by Sue Akers, the bride's aunt.

Mrs. Akers wore a cranberry dress with matching trim for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Tackett wore a sky-blue hand embroidery dress with matching accessories.

The church was decorated with white bows, greenery and candelabra. Center-pieces, bouquets and corsages were made of fresh spring flower arrangements.

Following their honeymoon in Myrtle Beach, S.C., the couple is now residing at Harold, Kentucky.

The bride is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School. She is presently employed by Hylton Homes, Inc., at Ivel. The groom is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School and the University of Kentucky. He is presently employed by Big "D" Excavating at Betsy Layne.

Make Mine Murder

Quick—what are ten fun things you can do with arsenic? Who really was Jack the Ripper?

For a mere $1,580 a person, answers to these and other questions entertained passengers on a 15-day murder/mystery cruise from Port Everglades to Genoa, Italy, the first of its kind, which set sail April 19.

The murder/mystery activities were in addition to other regularly scheduled shipboard activities, spicing up Norwegian American Line's transatlantic cruise. Spending two weeks on a ship isn't boring when you're solving a murder or listening to Dilys Winn, author and founder of Murder Ink book store; mystery writer P.D. James; or Donald Rumbelow, a London bobby and former president of the English Crime Writers Association. Rumbelow is an expert on Jack the Ripper, and claims to know who Jack really was and who he did in.

Also on hand for mystery were New York Private Investigator Anthony Spiesman, former FBI agent Thomas McDade, and former CIA Bureau Chief George O'Toole.

If you have to cross the ocean, what better way than with a variety of capers and sleuth projects such as "Self Defense Tips for Clumsy People," murder/mystery movies and the "Tattletale Clue"—a locked room puzzle to be solved for a prize?

In 1870, the first written contract between coal miners and operators was signed, providing a sliding scale of pay based on the price of coal, according to "Important Events in American Labor History, 1778-1978," published by the U.S. Department of Labor.

Blackcats Lose Early Lead, Wright Downs Fleming-Neon

By C. OLLIE ROBINSON
The Prestonsburg Blackcats opened their 1981 football season last Friday night with a loss to Estill county and the Wheelwright Trojans evened their record at 1 and 1 with an upset win over Fleming-Neon.

Prestonsburg raced to a 13-0 first quarter lead, but couldn't hold off a tough Estill County team and lost, 22 to 13, at Irvine. Blackcat Steve Rice scored one touchdown. The kick for extra point was wide. Jack Midgette raced 8 yards for the second touchdown. B. J. Sturgill kicked the extra point and the Cats led at the end of the first quarter, 13-0.

But Estill county scored 16 points in the second quarter and led at halftime, 16 to 13, then scored 6 points in the fourth quarter to make it 22-13.

The Blackcats will entertain the Paintsville Tigers, Friday night. The Tigers opened last week with a 19 to 14 win over Lewis County.

The Wheelwright Trojans were upset in their opener against Virgie, but last Friday night at Wheelwright they took it out against Fleming-Neon and romped to a 58 to 22 win over the Pirates. Wheelwright will travel to Pikeville Friday to take on the Pikeville Panthers. (0-1).

Coach John (Wimpy) Clark's Betsy Layne Bobcats will open their season Friday night at Virgie (1-1).

One of Prestonsburg's district future opponents won their game last week when Morgan County shut out Raceland 27-0. Another district opponent, Lawrence County, lost at Mason County, 28 to 0. Louisa and Morgan County will meet this weekend in an important game at West Liberty.

The Belfry Pirates, a perennial power in high school football, will open their season at home, entertaining Lexington Bates Creek. Johnson Central (1-1) will play its first district game Friday at Russell. Both won last weekend, Johnson Central defeating Boyd County, 8 to 6, and Russell sweeping Sheldon Clark in a district game, 33 to 0.

Friday Scores

Estil Co. 22, Prestonsburg 13; Wheelwright 58, Fleming-Neon 22; Johnson Central 8, Boyd Co. 6; Paintsville 19, Lewis Co. 14; Morgan Co. 27, Raceland 0; Johns Creek 26, Virgie 6; Phelps 8, Mullins 6; Russell 33, Sheldon Clark 0; Middleboro 26, Whitesburg 7; Lexington Lafayette 35, Breathitt Co. 0; Corbin 60, Hazard 0, Mason Co. 28, Lawrence Co. 0.

THIS WEEK'S SCHEDULE

Wheelwright (1-1) at Pikeville (0-1) Paintsville (1-0) at Prestonsburg (0-1) Betsy Layne (0-0) at Virgie (1-1) Johnson Central (1-1) at Russell (1-0) Sheldon Clark (0-2) at West Carter Bates Creek at Belfry Phelps (1-1) at Johns Creek (1-1) Lawrence Co. Win Honors at Summer Camps

The Prestonsburg High School varsity cheerleaders, accompanied by their coach, Mrs. Sharon Sammons, attended two cheerleading camps over the past summer where they earned a number of distinctions. At the National Cheerleading Association's camp at the University of Kentucky, July 19-23, they received five superior ribbons, a super star squad ribbon and a spirit stick. August 3-6, the girls attended the Universal Cheerleading camp at Morehead State University where they were awarded one excellent and four superior ribbons, as well as a spirit stick.

Fisheries Study Shows Dewey At Worst Better than Fishtrap

The Division of Fisheries' official report of its finding last year after studies of Kentucky lakes and streams has been released and it indicates that the Dewey Lake situation is far from ideal.

But, if it's any comfort, Dewey's plight is not the worst in Eastern Kentucky. Fishtrap Reservoir in Pike county holds that dubious honor with a game fish population (bass, tiger musky and crappie) of only 4.7 percent of its total population, and forage fish, mainly gizzard shad, representing 93 percent of its population of 10,226 fish per acre.

The studies made at Dewey Lake last year showed, according to the report, a standing crop of 3,635 fish per acre, with game fish representing 29.8 percent of this total and among these were 2.24 tiger musky per acre. Panfish accounted for 15.5 percent of the total; commercial fish (mainly catfish), 1 percent, and forage fish, 54.1 percent.

Efforts made last fall to sample the tiger musky population at Dewey resulted in four being taken by electro-fishing. These ranged from 12 to 28 inches. Three days of gill netting produced four musky ranging from 24 to 27 inches.

Last year's creel census indicated that sport fishing at the lake was poor. (Currently, bass fishing there is from fair to good along weed beds.)

Buckhorn Lake showed 6,170 fish per acre, with panfish supplying a predominant 81 percent of that total. Game fish represented only 8.4 percent and forage fish showed a low 9.8 percent.

A four-acre study of Carr Fork Lake in Knott county showed a standing crop of only 559 fish per acre, with 36.5 percent of these being gamefish, 38.9 percent panfish and 21.6 percent forage fish.

The catch of rainbow trout at Combs Lake, Campton, was so small after stocking that the Division of Fisheries announced its intention of discontinuing the stocking program there.

Another Big Musky From Dewey Lake

Gary Wells, of Leander (Magoffin county), is pictured with the 33 1/2-inch tiger-musky he caught while fishing a buzz-type spinner bait in the lower section of Dewey Lake, Sunday morning. The fish, which was measured and photographed at Terry's Boat Dock, was later weighed on scales at a local supermarket at 8.64 pounds.

Computerized Camping

Why not computerize your summer campground reservations this year? It's easy, and a sure way to save the gas often wasted searching for a place to sleep.

In an effort to expand the reservation system, and "increase the level of public service to thousands of campers using some of the nation's most popular national parks," National Park Service Director William J. Whalen recently announced the availability of computerized campground reservations at the following parks: Yosemite National Park and Sequoia-Kings Canyon National Park, both in California; Grand Canyon National Park in Arizona; Rocky Mountain National Park in Colorado; Shenandoah National Park in Virginia; Great Smoky Mountains National Park in Tennessee and North Carolina; and Cape Hatteras National Seashore in North Carolina.

Slone Mtn. Squirrel Fest To Be Held September 13

The second annual Slone Mountain Squirrel Festival will be held Sunday, September 13, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. There will be live entertainment and activities for the whole family, and everyone is asked to bring their own picnic basket and a blanket to sit on.

A spokesman for the festival said there will be squirrel, squirrel gravy, roast pig, and ground hog, as long as it lasts, and there is no admission fee. The only requirement is one of omission, and that is that absolutely no alcoholic beverages or drugs will be allowed on the premises which are on the Minnie-Wayland Road, Rt. 1086.

For more information, those interested may call 377-2286.

Economize on Your Vacation

High prices and the fuel crunch need not rule out your vacation. Travel experts say an enjoyable summer vacation is still possible with some careful planning before leaving.

A "destination" rather than a "touring" vacation is encouraged. If you select a destination with comfortable facilities and enjoyable activities, you won't mind staying put and just relaxing. You'll also reduce your fuel consumption substantially.

Don't travel very far. Discover some interesting places closer to home this year. Keeping within a 200-400 mile radius of home will limit your gas usage to around a tank and a half in each direction. When making reservations to avoid aimless searching, also find out what the local gas situation is like. Be careful not to succumb to the temptation to take a scenic route when the most direct route would be wiser economically.

Make sure you have an up-dated road map with you, pre-marked for the most efficient route. Be strict and disciplined about holding to a pre-planned budget. If you do splurge with a fancy meal, compensate the next day with an inexpensive lunch. If possible, avoid traveling on weekends and holidays. Rates are cheaper and driving is better.

As usual, it's worth the investment to have your car thoroughly checked and tuned up. Once you're on the road, remember to drive at a steady, moderate pace. Eliminate the need for air-conditioning by driving in the cooler parts of the day. Keeping windows closed or only slightly open reduces drag and increases mileage.

DESPERATE WOMEN

Dan Haggerty, as a laconic ex-hired gun in the Old West who rescues three beautiful but scrappy female prisoners abandoned in the desert, stars with Susan Saint James (pictured), Ronee Blakely and Ann Dusenberry in "Desperate Women," a World Premiere comedy-adventure on NBC-TV's "The Sunday Big Event," SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 6.

When Ben Ward (Haggerty) stumbles upon the three Tucson-bound convicts (Saint James, Blakely, Dusenberry)—each sentenced despite extenuating circumstances surrounding her crime—he agrees to lead the stranded women out of the barren wilderness in their prison transport wagon. As they proceed, Ward adopts other misfits, including two orphaned children and a shaky Army deserter.

MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL

Fran Tarkenton, the fourth member of the "Monday Night Football" announcing team, is scheduled to join Cosell and Gifford for some regular season telecasts as well.

Tonight San Diego's high flying Chargers invade Municipal Stadium to take on the "Cardiac Kids" — the Cleveland Browns.

CHECK LISTINGS FOR EXACT TIME.

Receives Award for Kiwanis District

H.C. "Huck" Francis, of Prestonsburg (center), immediate past governor of the Kentucky-Tennessee Kiwanis District, as he accepted a plaque denoting his district to be a winner in the 1979-80 Kiwanis International District Administrative Excellence Awards Program. Making the presentation was Mark A. Smith, Jr. (right), North Dekalb, Georgia, immediate past president of Kiwanis International. At left is William A. Thacher, Leesburg, Fla., of the Kiwanis International Committee on Achievement.

There were a winning district and two honorable mention districts in each of five size categories. Districts were graded on their performance in each of seven phases of administration. Points were given for each phase. A total of 1000 points could be achieved.

The Kentucky-Tennessee district was one of the three best in the category having from 160 to 200 clubs.

The awards were presented on the stage of New Orleans' Superdome during the 66th annual convention of Kiwanis International in New Orleans.

Money For College

How much will college cost, and how can you pay for it? If these two questions are on your mind this season, The College Cost Book can answer them.

The book lists tuition and average living expenses for 3,200 two- and four-year public, private and proprietary institutions. Since the application process is time consuming, and often requires a fee, it's smart to eliminate choices by comparison shopping at home.

The book outlines the types of aid available to students and their families. Suggestions on application procedures for self-supporting and handicapped students and for students whose parents are divorced, separated, or deceased are also included. Samples of the Financial Aid Form and Student Eligibility Report from the Basic Grants program, and a bibliography of aid sources are also in the book.

While some of the colleges listed charge tuition ranging from $300 to $700 a year, many of the institutions require ten times that amount. Such high tuition and fees make financial aid necessary for most students. To understand the mystery behind financial aid forms and grants, it's probably worth the $7.50 to buy The College Book. Then you'll know exactly where you can apply for financial aid, and how and when to do it correctly.

Apple A Day Costs Same Today

Johnny Applesseed would have been proud of the 1980 apple crop, expected to be the largest ever, with as many as 200 million bushels harvested.

There's still more good news. "In addition to plenty of apples, with no variety in short supply, the quality will be very good to excellent this year," says Warren Stiles, of Cornell University.

The best news is for customers: An apple a day won't cost any more today. The large crop will offset this past year's rate of inflation, and consumers can expect apple and cider prices to remain at 1979 levels.

This year's output should be three percent higher than last year's record crops, both in New York State and the nation, according to Stiles, an associate professor of pomology (fruit growing) in the New York State College of Agriculture and Life Sciences at Cornell. The 1979 crops were 23.8 and 196 million bushels, respectively.

The 1980 estimate predicted harvests from individual orchards, and was reported at a recent annual crop prediction meeting.

"The primary reason for the record crop is the intensification and expansion of the industry," Stiles says.

Small Is Better

Over the past decade, he explained, growers have been replacing older, larger trees with younger ones which have specially developed root stocks to produce "dwarfed" trees.

Much of the early work in testing size-controlled trees was carried out by the pomology department of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell and its Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva. These studies led to the development of the trees currently being used by the apple industry.

Ten years ago, the average orchard contained approximately 35 trees per acre. Today's commercial orchards are being planted with 100 to as many as 400 trees per acre.

Although the "dwarf" trees tend to yield fewer bushels per tree, the output per acre has been more than doubled as a result of the denser plantings. For example, in New York, the second ranking apple producing state in the nation (Washington is first), 400 bushels per acre was the expected average in 1970. Today, 800 to 1,000 bushels of apples are produced by an acre of size-controlled trees.

Consequently, increased production is possible on less acreage. In 1966, 74,000 acres in New York were devoted to apple production, while in 1975 the acreage had decreased about ten percent, to 67,000 acres. The number of trees, however, increased almost 25 percent, from 2.9 to 3.5 million trees.

Nationally, from 1969 to 1974, about three percent fewer acres were in use by the end of the period, but the remaining 500,000 acres supported almost 20 percent more trees, an increase of 6.5 million trees in five years.

In 1967, the 38 states that sustained commercial orchards yielded 135 million bushels. The denser plantings, which began in 1970, started to result in larger crops in 1975 when 189 million bushels were produced, a 40 percent increase in eight years. Since 1975, the crop has been increased about three percent annually.

In addition to higher yield per acre, the smaller trees utilize light better by permitting it to penetrate to the inner branches and fruit. The trees are also easier to prune, spray, and harvest, thereby allowing more efficient use of labor.

Dwarf trees also begin bearing fruit in three to five years rather than the ten to 15 years it takes large, standard trees. Another advantage is the life span of the smaller trees, which is comparable to the standard.

Apple production can continue to increase as long as growers have enough capital available to replace their older, larger trees, Stiles commented. It costs about $3,000 to develop or replace an acre of apple trees.

This year, if the estimated 200 million bushels are harvested, there will be enough apples in the U.S. for two per person per week.

Although modern planting methods can continue to increase annual production for years to come, Stiles notes, the saturation level for marketing the crop is uncertain.

Color Not Quality

This year, although there will be plenty of rosy, red apples, consumers should remember that the attractive color is visually appealing only, and does not reflect upon the sweetness or flavor of the apple.

"The quality of red and green apples is so similar," says the Cornell pomologist, "that in experiments where apples of both colors were peeled and fed to subjects, the difference between a red or green apple could not be determined."

The coloring of this year's apples was delayed, however, by the dry, hot summer weather. The conditions necessary to turn green apples to red—cool night temperatures coupled with bright sunshine—were not prevalent until recently. Many apples on the inside of trees never turn red due to lack of exposure to bright sunshine.

For the budget-minded, it is wise to remember that green apples do not differ in taste from their rosier sisters.

Nonbruised, red apples, which are more costly, are packaged and graded either extra fancy or fancy. The lesser expensive US #1 and utility grades are less red, and may have more external defects—either small bruises or rough skins in certain spots.

The expected 200 million bushels this year will consist of basically five varieties: Delicious, Golden Delicious, McIntosh, Jonathan, and Rome. New Yorkers can expect about 25 million bushels marketed from their state, consisting primarily of Delicious, Golden Delicious, McIntosh, Cortland, and Rome, and Rhode Island Greening which is used for processing purposes only.

Reviving An Old Craft

Early American restorations throughout the land offer a feast of ideas for using apples in arts and crafts. Drying apple slices, for example, is becoming popular. Solar energy is the natural way to remove water from fruits and it is practiced with considerable success in many parts of the world. In our country, however, we have such variables in temperature and humidity, the most practical way to dehydrate apples appears to be by low temperature oven drying or using the food dehydrators.

Drying preserves apples and other fruits by removing enough of the moisture to prevent spoilage. One delicious confection called "Apple Leather" (Fruit Rolls and Fruit Taffies in some parts of the country) is a revival from Colonial days.

The texture resembles leather; it's chewy, pliable, slightly sweet and offers a nutritious alternative to the vast array of high calorie snack foods we consume. It's easy to store, keeps well and is very light in weight. The following recipe is a practical procedure for making it:

Apple Leather

8 medium size apples
 1/4 cup honey or light corn syrup
 2 T. lemon or lime juice
 1/4 t. ground ginger
 1/4 t. ground cinnamon

The best varieties of apples for making this recipe are Golden Delicious, Winesap, Jonathan, Northern Spy, Newtown Pippin, Stayman. Peel, core and cut the apples in 8 to 10 pieces.

In a blender or food processor, combine corn syrup or honey, lemon juice, ginger, cinnamon and half the apples. Cover and blend until mixture is the consistency of applesauce. Add remaining apples and blend again. (You should have between 4 to 5 cups of apple puree.)

Line trays or jelly roll pans with waxed paper or plastic wrap, building up the sides to prevent spillage of the puree.

Transfer the puree from blender or processor to the paper, tilting to spread evenly. Don't use a spatula or knife as that might puncture the paper. When all spaces are covered the puree is ready for drying.

Dehydrator Drying

Follow manufacturer's directions for your model of dehydrator. Generally the temperature control is set at 140° F., and drying will require somewhat over 5 hours. Once the leather has solidified, pick up the waxed paper by the ends and flip it over onto the tray. Peel off the paper or wrap and continue drying until the puree feels leathery.

Oven Drying

Set oven control at lowest setting (140° F.). Place the trays in the oven and leave the oven door open slightly about 2 to 4 inches. Check the trays every 2 to 3 hours and reverse positions for uniform dehydration. Continue as advised for dehydrator drying outlined above.

How to test for dryness: Dried apple leather should be slightly sticky to the touch. It will peel away from plastic wrap or waxed paper. If it doesn't peel readily, let it dry longer, but remember it should be slightly sticky and pliable.

Pharmacy Footnotes

by HAROLD COOLEY

There are seven basic signs of cancer. Do not panic or self-diagnose if you notice any of these symptoms, but do have a medical exam. The signals are: 1) change of bowel or bladder habits. 2) sore throat that does not heal. 3) unusual bleeding or discharge. 4) thickening or lump in the breast or elsewhere. 5) indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. 6) obvious change in a wart or mole. and 7) nagging cough or hoarseness.
