

Rate Boost Study Made At Meeting

PSC Gas Firm Rate Control Is Hoped

Prestonsburg and Hazard city and water system officials met at May Lodge last week in a study of the gas rate situation which has brought rate increases since last May 1 which total 146 per cent.

They looked particularly at gathering lines used by the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, apparently with the hope of eventually getting that company's gas under the state Public Service Commission rather than with the Federal Regulatory Commission.

Bill Harvey Howard, Prestonsburg gas and water system superintendent, said Kentucky West Virginia has admitted it has no transmission lines going out-of-state. He added that the company's gas that is sold interstate goes into a Columbia Transmission line in this county. City and water officials also contend that no gas purchased locally from the company comes from other states but is produced from Eastern Kentucky wells.

With Federal Regulatory Commission approval, the company supplies natural gas to municipal and independently-owned distribution systems at $4.50 per thousand cubic feet. Much of the same gas is purchased by the company from producers for prices in the 35-40-cent range.

Officials are still hopeful that Kentucky West Virginia may be removed from its interstate status and returned to the jurisdiction of the state Public Service Commission, but not in time to avoid the deep bite into pocketbooks this winter.

The new rate will be reflected in suppliers' billing to customers in early December for gas used during November.

Park Plans Christmas for Kids

Children will be able to receive a call from Santa, trim a tree, hear a story, sing a song, watch a play, or win a bike, thanks to an ambitious program of Christmas activities to be offered this month at Archer Park.

With the aid of the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club, Teens Who Care, and local merchants, the park staff will be conducting a six-day program for the youngsters Dec. 13-18, said Myra Walker, park administrator, pictured here adding finishing touches to one of many decorations that will brighten the playground.

Events listed include, Dec. 13 and 14, calls from Santa for children up to 8; Dec. 15, at 7 p.m., tree trimming, with children to bring ornaments, free refreshments provided and a performance by the Fitzpatrick First Baptist Church youth choir; Dec. 16 and 17, between 6 and 9 p.m., visits to Santa's house and playland, with a bicycle to be won; and Dec. 18, at 7 p.m., a Christmas finale in the gym, including a skit, story, singalong, clowns, free prizes, candy and balloons, and a visit from Santa.

This Town...That World

There are three topics, we are told, on which one may write and be assured of readership—cooking, health and the weather, though not necessarily in that order. Thanksgiving barely behind us, and having slurped our way through, we report the cooking was great, the weather mild enough to suit a rather limited wardrobe, and the health only to'able, despite liberal dosages of bicarbonate.

ONE MAN'S PLEA

I have a feeling that those gas bills we're going to get within the next few days may make the pre-Christmas season less "merry and bright" than would normally be expected.

It may be with some such idea that a Martin man, paying his gas bill recently, appended this little note to the gas company office:

"Howdy, friends! Take it easy this winter. I can't walk, can't work but could freeze."

Audit Summary Leads to Probe By County Atty.

"Highly unethical and a breach of the public trust," is how County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. characterized irregularities disclosed by a recent audit of the county's financial records.

Moreover, there were more irregular transactions under the previous county government than were suggested by an audit summary released three weeks ago, he said this week.

Some members of the administration of former judge-executive Bill Wells appear to be civilly liable for wrongful payments and the question of criminal liability is being investigated, the county attorney said.

According to a letter accompanying the audit prepared by Prestonsburg accountants Burchett and Bottoms, some county employees were paid two salaries, others received illegal payments for expenses, and a firm was awarded a contract without competitive bidding.

The audit was expected to be presented to the fiscal court at a special meeting held Monday but the issue was not brought up. Turner said after the meeting that questions raised by the audit were complex and that his office is still studying them.

Of various payments deemed improper by the auditors, some were authorized by the fiscal court, others by executive order, and yet others apparently lacked authorization, he said, noting that the question of responsibility varied with the circumstances.

Floyd Jury Awards Man $325,000 Verdict

In a judgment regarded by some observers as unusually high for a personal injury case in this area, a Circuit Court jury reckoned Monday that a Harold firm should pay an Ashland businessman $325,000 for injuries he sustained in an auto accident near here last year.

Robert Cleary, 65, had sued Big Sandy Wholesale, Inc. and one of its drivers, Arnold Hamilton, for a total of $2,100,000 as a result of the accident—$1 million for "pain and suffering," another million for loss of earnings, and $100,000 for future medical expenses.

After deliberating for 1½ hours at the end of a day of testimony, the jury found that Hamilton was not liable but that Big Sandy Wholesale should pay Cleary $150,000 for his pain and suffering, $150,000 for loss of earnings, and $20,000 for future medical expenses.

Cleary was a passenger in a pickup traveling north on U.S. 23 at Auxier around 3 p.m. on April 30 last year. A cost estimator for large excavation projects, he was returning from an inspection of the Pikeville airport site.

Hamilton had just completed his last delivery of the day, to an Auxier market, and was traveling south when a front wheel collapsed and his truck veered across the road, colliding with the Cleary vehicle and pinning it against the Jenny Wiley State Park entrance sign.

Cleary said his hip and several calcified ligaments on his spine were broken. Since the accident, he has not been able to work and must spend much of his time in bed, he said.

Dr. Ben Kibler, a Lexington orthopedic surgeon who treated Cleary testified by video deposition that his patient suffered a 15 percent disability as a result of the accident. Also testifying by means of a videotaped interview was Ashland engineer Robert Areni, who confirmed that the accident resulted from the failure of a kingpin—the rod that attaches the wheel to the axle of a vehicle.

Cleary was represented by John Y. Brown, Sr. and Robert Walker, III, of the Lexington firm of Brown, Sledd and McCann; Big Sandy Wholesale by Ronnie G. Dunnigan of Johnson, Dunnigan and Martin, of Ashland; and Hamilton by Prestonsburg attorney David Barber.

In his closing argument, Brown, the father of Kentucky Governor John Y. Brown, Jr., quoted a poem by Robert

$13,000 Missing At Martin Store

State and Martin city police were investigating this week the theft of $13,000 from Maloney's Store at Martin last Saturday.

A young man who was questioned by officers soon after the money was found to be missing later left Martin and is being sought, police said. Store officials declined to make a statement.

Police were told that a female employee of the store had been counting cash receipts and had placed the bills in stacks on a table, preparatory to transferring them to a safe, when she was interrupted and called to another part of the building. When she returned, the money was gone.

A warrant for the arrest of the suspect was requested but was not issued when no witness who had actually seen the theft could be found. Officers said, however, that there are two or three who told them they saw the young man go into the room where the money was being counted.

The case is being investigated by State Trooper James Rederick and Martin Chief of Police Hershel Lester.

Revenue Bonds for Housing In Floyd and Johnson Seen

Hopes were high this week—though some reservations surfaced, too—that a revenue bond issue that would make relatively low-interest housing loans available here may be arranged before the Dec. 31 deadline set by law.

In order to offer a bond package large enough to interest bond brokers, Floyd and Johnson counties are cooperating in the venture. Together the two counties will offer for sale bonds worth $15¼ million if the deal materializes.

Under a federal program, Kentucky was allowed to issue $200 million in the home mortgage revenue bonds, which are designed to stimulate construction jobs and to allow more people to own a home. The $15,250,000 allocated to the two counties by Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr. is regarded by some as a generous share of the state's allocation.

Because the bonds have government authorization, interest earned on them is tax free. For that reason, investors are able to put up their money at interest rates more favorable than those charged on the general market.

According to an arrangement authorized by Floyd fiscal court at a special meeting Monday, the three Floyd banks which will handle the mortgage loans here will share 60 percent of the available loan money. Two Johnson county lending institutions are expected to handle the remaining 40 percent. Homebuyers will be able to cross county lines to borrow money under the program, however.

While bankers were complaining this week that there was little in it for them but headaches, some analysts think the program represents a good deal for people buying a new or a previously-owned home. Interest rates are expected to run around 11 percent and to be fixed for the life of the mortgage. The rate on a conventional mortgage in this area currently stands at around 16 percent and generally "floats" with market fluctuations.

Radio-Thon To Benefit Red Cross Set Dec. 4

A Red Cross radio-thon will be held Dec. 4, on radio station WPRT. Prizes will be donated by various merchants in the area for hourly drawings.

The American Red Cross in the past year has provided more than $28,000 assistance for one-family fire victims in the county. "We need to raise $5,000 for continued operation of the American Red Cross in Floyd county," a representative said.

Compared to a conventional down-payment of 20 percent, those borrowing under the revenue bond program will be required to put down only five percent, and the value of the land may be applied to the purchase of the house on which it stands.

The proposed mortgage loans will be for a 15-year period and, while maximum amounts had not been determined for this county Monday, it is anticipated that they will be around $84,500 for a new house and $64,500 for a previously existing property.

Lending institutions will need to decide soon how much time they will need to lend out the revenue-bond money, a bond broker told bankers in

Prestonsburg's Annexation Bid Runs into Snag

Prestonsburg's bid to annex a section on its southern perimeter ran into a snag this week, apparently because of objections from some of the property owners involved.

Council members who voted recently to add to the city an area around the intersection of U.S. 23 and the Mountain Parkway expressed confidence that the process would go smoothly, since the boundaries of the area to be annexed had been so drawn as to exclude any private dwellings.

Included in the proposal are the Western Sizzlin' steakhouse and adjoining properties, including a tract being studied as a possible middle school site, the proposed K-Mart site, Katy Friend Free Will Baptist Church, and the western side of U.S. 23 up Katy Friend as far as East Equipment.

An objection to the annexation plan was lodged by owners of a tract near East Equipment which is being considered as a possible motel site, according to one report. The owners are listed as Tom G. Dingus, Dr. J. D. Adams, Jack Absher and H. D. Fitzpatrick Jr.

What recourse the property owners might have is not clear. While property owners have a right to petition to have an annexation proposal subject to a referendum, only residents of the area to be annexed have the right to vote on the matter. No residents are affected by the proposal.

the fiscal court audience Monday. Joseph Reis, representing the Cincinnati bond firm of Seasongood and Mayer, said the law provides for a maximum of three years but intimated that the low-interest mortgage money

THE WORK created some irritating traffic snarls, Monday and Tuesday, but the repaving of U.S. 23 from the stoplight at the Court Street intersection here to the three-lane section at the north end of town is seen as a "good deal" for Prestonsburg. City Manager David Evans said the work represents the state Department of Highways answer to a request on the part of the city to extend paving work completed this summer on the three-lane section to include the length resurfaced this week. Work was to be completed Tuesday, it was said.

Program To Initiate Christmas Celebration

The Prestonsburg Ministerial Association will emphasize the meaning of the season with its "Beginning of the Christmas Celebration" at the Courthouse parking lot Sunday at 5 p.m.

The 30-minute program will include the lighting of the Tree by Mayor Harold Cooley, the singing of carols and the reading of the Christmas Story. The ministers are inviting residents to bring decorations for the tree.

There Are Fish in Those Lakes . . .

1981 Report Covers Dewey, Other Lakes

Declarations made by disappointed angler's that there "ain't no fish in that lake" to the contrary, there are fish, plenty fish, in all of Kentucky's many lakes.

Yet the information—supplied in the 1981 annual report of the Division of Fisheries, Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources—leaves some doubt about how many of those fish are worth catching.

Take Dewey Lake, as an example. A 2.3-acre cove study there, using rotenone, yielded 3760 fish of all types, with a dramatic increase in weight last year—up to 223 pounds from the 86 pounds which almost the same number weighed in 1980. Eight per cent of the fish harvested were game fish, 53 per cent were panfish and 36 per cent were forage fish.

Tiger musky, on which high hopes were pinned there, showed up with only about one per acre, and the weight was about two pounds.

The only stocking of fish there, according to the report, was with 44,461 tiger musky.

Panbowl Lake at Jackson was rated

"best in the Eastern district," with an excellent bass population.

Carr Fork Reservoir in Knott county showed "a dramatic increase in fish population, due to shad stocking and fertilizer application," the annual report says. Fertilization of that impoundment began in April 1981 and continued into the fall. It was the only major lake in the district to be fertilized that year. Ten percent of all fish in Carr Fork are game fish, 52% are panfish and 36% are forage fish, according to the study report.

Fishtrap may have recorded the sorriest record for the year. Its total fish population dropped from 10,226 per acre in 1980 to 3855 last year, with only 5% game fish and 94% forage fish.

Buckhorn Lake showed a per acre drop in the number of fish to 4324 from 6170 the preceding year, but its game fish population was up to 58 percent.

The Cave Run study showed 3445 fish per acre, with only 3% game fish, 43% panfish and 53% forage fish. At Cave Run there apparently "is an overabundance of small bass," the report says.

Grayson Lake's 3386 fish per acre were 20% bass and 49% forage fish.

Paul Sawyer Print Available To Help KET

This Christmas, KET is offering a new Paul Sawyer print, "Homeward Bound." Never before published, the limited edition of 2,000 prints was made possible through a donation by the Inez Deposit Bank, which has the original watercolor in its collection.

Proceeds from the sale will go to KET. The 11" by 16" print shells for $25, plus $2 for postage and handling. The prints will be available December 1, in time for Christmas giving.

The painting, in greens and browns, depicts the old Lawrenceburg Turnpike in Frankfort, one of Kentucky's famous 19th century roads. Today, members of Kentucky's General Assembly travel down this road and turn into the modern, covered parking garage adjacent to the new capitol.

Sawyer grew up in Frankfort and studied art in Chicago and New York. Classified as an "American Impressionist," he painted scenes from his hometown and the Kentucky River. It is estimated that he completed more than 2,000 paintings, most of them watercolor landscapes.

To order the prints, call KET at (606) 233-3000, ext. 348, or write KET Marketing, 600 Cooper Dr., Lexington, Ky., 40502.

HAVE FUNERALS CHANGED?

The name of the local newspaper in Tombstone, Arizona, is "The Tombstone Epitaph." The town's famous graveyard, Boot Hill, is a widely known tourist attraction and an American history lesson all in one. Tombstone has purposely secured its niche in western America by clinging to elements of its historic past.

While times and cultures do change, some traditional observances have never altered significantly. Such is the case in the observation of the traditional full-service funeral.

Progress of civilization has brought about improved techniques and products, but the basic reasons for conducting traditional funeral services have remained the same. Dignity, respect and love for the individual; loyalty to high ideals; and expressions of tender sympathy are timeless, universal qualities among advanced societies.

We are experienced and professional funeral directors. As such, you may confidently put into our care all the responsibilities of preparation and conducting of a traditional full-service funeral.

SPECIAL BUSINESS RATES ALSO AVAILABLE.

Direct Deposit Has Advantages

People in the Floyd county area who receive Social Security or Supplemental Security Income checks can reap several advantages if they choose to have them deposited directly into an account in a financial institution, Jim Kelly, Social Security District Director for the Big Sandy Area, said recently.

Checks can be deposited directly into an account in a bank, savings and loan association or similar institution, or Federal or State chartered credit union.

Direct deposit means that people do not have to stand in line to cash or deposit the check; that money is always available, even if the person is away from home; there are no check cashing problems, and there is no worry about the check being lost or stolen.

To arrange for direct deposits, the person should contact the financial organization of his or her choice and ask for a direct deposit form SF-1199. Completion of the form only authorizes deposits into a person's account.

A person should check and find out how the financial organization will handle the account and whether there is any charge for the service.

To stop direct deposit so that the check will be delivered to a person's home or elsewhere, the person should contact his or her Social Security office and be specific that he or she no longer wants direct deposit. If possible, the person should leave the account at the financial organization open until after Social Security has recorded the new address. Closing the account prematurely will cause the financial organization to return any payments to Treasury and it may take time to reissue them.

A person with direct deposit should also remember to notify Social Security of any change in address so that he or she will receive notices from Social Security. Failure to report a change of address can result in suspension of checks.

More information about direct deposit of Social Security and Supplemental Security Income checks can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, located on U.S. 23, between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is 886-8525.

Must the Prospect Be Bleak?

Magoffin county has not only its coal; it apparently has valuable deposits of oil and gas.

It also has a new headache—water contamination as a result of that same oil and gas.

These are troubles that will not, by mere wishing, go away. And they are troubles that are inherent to all the region popularly known as Eastern Kentucky.

"Environmentalists" has become, for many, a hated word, but they have for a long while now been warning the region of pay-day, a time when our sins and the sins of others will demand payment.

Strip-mining and drilling for oil and gas are not the only threats to the water supply of this region, but they are possibly the greatest. Both products are valuable to those who live and work here and to the nation, but state and federal governments must get actively into the business of water conservation, if the area is to continue to be habitable. Sewage, water pollution by the unthinking, uncaring and unproductive—these are other problems that must be met.

Harry Caudill, Whitesburg author-lawyer, wrote recently: "Several years ago I discussed this situation (water problems) with a man whom I suspect is the state's most able mining engineer. His opinion was delivered after reflection and careful thought. He expressed the belief that the lack of water would eventually depopulate the mountains."

Quoting the same engineer, Caudill wrote: "According to him, stripmining adversely affects water in three ways: it dries up the streams that feed shallow wells, fills reservoirs with silt, and so heavily mineralizes water as to make it unsuitable for drinking or industrial purposes."

Mr. Caudill says the situation has been considered seriously only once—in the Nixon years when a study group gave the bleak verdict:

Let the major coal fields, including Eastern Kentucky, be treated as "national sacrifice areas" to be mined out into deserts and abandoned and forgotten.

As we recall, the Bechtel Corp., in a similar study, once recommended that the area be mined out, that towns and roads and all facilities be moved to the mountains-tops and the valleys inundated to create a lake or lakes for a mountain playground.

Either prospect isn't pleasant. We want coal mining and its economic benefits, but, somehow, a way must be found to leave the region habitable after the coal is gone.

been having in his efforts to save a four-foot section of plastic sewer pipe he had left over from a drainage job around his place. Said he judged, from the price he paid per foot, that it was worth saving. Thought to put it in his safety deposit box, but it was too long. If he hid it, he would never be able to remember where. Finally, he took my suggestion—bury it. "I'll do it," he concluded. "Nobody's got get-up enough to dig it up."

A NEW THREAT

The leaves that blessed us and hid most of the ugly spots that are our handiwork departed almost overnight in rain and wind, leaving nature's coverup job to the next show. The few trees that yet have a vestige of foliage—the evergreens excepted—are the oaks.

And now we learn that unless we do more than merely admire them the oaks may all be killed by a caterpillar which began its attack, months ago.

REMEMBER?

Speaking of trees, the death years ago, of all the native chestnuts comes to mind. And mention of chestnuts revives memory of an old game we indulged in, exercising our first bent toward gambling, after picking up the nuts.

Anybody remember hull-gull? Anybody know the origin of the name?.

Stumbo Not To Hear Action vs. Defender

Citing a "personal relationship" with the litigants and with a prospective witness, District Judge Harold Stumbo decided Monday not to hear a small claims suit involving Floyd county's public defender.

Ned Pillersdorf, who makes his living representing defendants who cannot afford a private attorney, was himself in need of counsel when his former landlord sued him in late September. Lonnie Penix, of Stratton Branch, claims Pillersdorf damaged his apartment and owes for an electric bill. He is seeking $1000 to settle the claim.

The public defender, who is represented by Prestonsburg attorney John W. Mann, has countersued, claiming Penix is charging him for electricity used by another tenant and that he wrongfully kept his security deposit. The landlord's suit is designed to injure his professional reputation, claims Pillersdorf, who is asking the court to dismiss the case against him and to award him $1500 in damages.

A court clerk said Circuit Judge Hollie Conley would probably be asked to hear the case.

Moreover, while dual salaries are "unethical," they are not necessarily illegal, he cautioned.

After consulting with the auditors, he anticipates at least some civil actions to recover money paid out improperly, Turner said. The county attorney acknowledged he had also consulted with Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen but refused to say whether criminal charges are anticipated.

"It is not over, I can tell you that. There are some real hard questions to be answered," Turner said, adding, "My office is prepared to do what our obligations dictate, no matter who is involved."

The fiscal court is scheduled to meet for a special session to discuss the rural secondary road program Dec. 7. Its next regular meeting is set for Dec. 17.

Allen Fire Department Asks 'Solid Support'

After 20 years' service to Allen and neighboring communities, the Allen Fire Department could die unless it gets solid support from the community, Marvin Rice, a member of the department, said Tuesday.

With the lease about to expire on the building it has occupied over the years, the fire department hopes to negotiate purchase of a tract from the state Transportation Department near the intersection of old KY 80 and U.S. 23 and to build a firehouse of its own, Rice said.

But to do that, businesses and residents of the area will need to show their support, he said.

To that end, Fire Chief Roy Compton this week announced a meeting to discuss the issue at 7 p.m. Dec. 16, in the firehouse. At stake is "the future" of the department, he said, adding, "Without community support we will be forced to discontinue our services."

could be expected to move more quickly than that.

Not all financial analysts agree. Louisville and Lexington bankers recently discouraged a joint application for the revenue bonds by Jefferson and Fayette fiscal courts. Reis suggested this week that the failure of that project resulted from a lack of cooperation between the two counties. But other sources put it down to shrewd business sense.

The revenue bond issue may not be a bargain, either for banks or for borrowers, the critics argue. At the very least, this year's program should not be confused with a similar program launched successfully here three years ago, they contend.

For one thing, lending institutions are required this time to put up a commitment fee, regardless of whether they find borrowers for the bond money. What is more, even if they have no trouble moving the money, the small profits to be won are scant compensation for the work involved, some say.

(On $2 million in mortgage money, for example, a bank would be required to put up 3 1/2 percent—or $70,000—as its commitment fee. By charging borrowers a 4 1/2 percent origination fee, the bank could recoup that sum—but only after it had loaned out $1 1/2 million of the original $2 million. Only then would the bank begin to make a profit and the profit would amount to a meager $20,000.)

If conventional interest rates drop further, or if consumers decide that even 11 percent is more than they can afford, banks taking the bond money may be left "high and dry," some bankers fear.

Nor should intending home-buyers fall too easily for the lure of "low-interest" loans, some analysts caution—especially if they are looking for the kind of deal borrowers could get here in 1979, when a tax-free bond issue financed $18.9 million in 20-year mortgages at 8.8 percent interest in this county.

The low downpayment acceptable under the new program could be a tempting bait and a dangerous one, some argue, since it encourages home-buyers to borrow more and—especially since the life of the new mortgages is only 15 years—to incur burdensome monthly payments.

A person financing a $60,000 home under the 1979 program—putting down the required 20 percent and borrowing the rest at 8.8 percent over 20 years—incurred monthly payments of around $425. A person financing a $60,000 home under the new program—putting down the required five percent and borrowing the rest at 11 percent over 15 years—would face monthly payments of around $647.

As far as repayments on the 1979 loans are concerned, Floyd county has an unsurpassed record, bond agent Reis said Monday. To date there has not been a single default on the loans here, he said.

But financial analysts concerned about the low downpayments and high monthly payments encouraged under the proposed new program predict that delinquency rates will rise. As a general rule, bankers regard as risky any home mortgage payments in excess of one-quarter of a family's gross monthly income. A family's total monthly payments—on the house, auto, and any other notes—should not exceed 38 percent of gross income, it is generally held.

According to those guidelines, a prospective home-buyer of average income might be ill-advised to borrow even under the "low-interest" loan program—and a banker might be unwise to lend the money to an applicant of average income.

Supports Dr. Adams

I am sick and tired of the "he did it" and the "he didn't do it," the mud that is slung Dr. James D. Adams' way.

Are you really interested in our children? Boots and Doc have two children. I consider Doc Adams as one of my children. He is as a son to me and was to V. A. Smiley, Sr.

Twelve long years ago, when Doc won his first school board member race, he was told by the other members, "You may have won the race, but we will vote you under the table every time." Did Doc Adams quit, like a whipped puppy? No, he did not. He has fought and is still fighting the good fight.

Doc Adams does not need to sling mud; he is not a mudslinger. He does not defend himself, for he has nothing to defend himself for or to. Let those that would not work with him take inventory, see what they have done and are doing to our children.

Our children are our tomorrows. I know; I have 16 living children, ages 27 years to 49. Fourteen of those 16 have college degrees, and all 14 have their Master's. Two of the 14 have their Ph.D. degrees and six of those 14 are in the education field. They chose to teach.

All 16 of my children went to grad school and high school right here in Prestonsburg. You bet your life, I am proud of my children, and I am proud of Doc Adams for going to college, going to medical school, doing his internship and coming back to Floyd county and caring for the people here in this valley.

Beware The Buzzards

When I was but a young lad there were many, many times when I looked up and could see a large, black bird, or maybe many, sailing over head. Always, just below on the ground, I would see an old mule, an old cow or some animal, poor, long-haired, and nearly dead, just waiting for the March wind to wind up their lives. And it is commonly reported that these buzzards, as often referred are about extinct, and I agree that the ones that are black and sail around through the air are about all gone.

But there is another kind of buzzard and every one should be on the lookout for them. Described as follows: These buzzards are not black on the outside but are very black on the inside. They have two legs and two arms just like you and I; can talk, and are very sensible. For instance, if they think that you have a payday coming that day, they will sail around all day in an old car or truck and you could not knock them out of the way. They will even pretend to help you work, maybe give you a little drink of booze just to get you started drinking so they can take advantage of you, and get every cent that you made that day and all you have stashed away, and then leave you to die, like the old mule and the old cow that I mentioned that the March wind was about to get. And then they will sail away in an old vehicle and leave you to starve to death so the big black buzzard that sails around overhead will surely get you.

So look out for the buzzards!

'We Are People, Too'

I am a deaf man and I live in Wheelwright, Ky. I went to school at Danville, Ky., (Kentucky School For The Deaf.) I also worked for Inland Steel and Island Creek Stores until my retirement. While working and out in the public so much I met so many people that didn't understand deaf people and then again I met some that learned to communicate well.

Lots of people misunderstand us and think we aren't all there, which is a long way from that.

We have a reunion once a year at the Archer Park and we invite anyone to come and learn to communicate with us. After all, we are people, too.

RETURN FROM HOSPITAL

Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Boyd, both of whom underwent surgery recently at St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington, are now at their home here.

THANKFULNESS

By WILMAY

One notes that some say or write that among things disappearing from the national scene are the ability to read well, the art of conversation, compassion, gratitude, etc. The holiday season is the ideal time to take inventory of the latter, individually and collectively.

If we are in danger of not expressing appreciation to man and God we will find a heavy price tag attached some day. Jesus noticed that just one of ten lepers he healed thanked him, (Luke 17: 12-18). Most Christian homes do not have grace at meals or devotions daily. Few tithe, though scripture teaches such. (1 Thess. 5:18). We must remember Psalms 136.

Do homes, churches, and schools train our children to express thanks and mean it, or is life becoming a round of "gimme, gimme," for many? In my church a little red-haired doll not yet three says, "Thank you," when given a stick of gum, sometimes adding a kiss for bonus. Her parents are training her and setting the right example themselves.

How often are we too busy to express or show thankfulness in some way? Recently a friend brought garden vegetables. When she was gone I had to call to say thank you. Shameful negligence. Authorities on etiquette insist usually that notes of thanks for shower gifts be sent, especially to those not attending. Postage is high but phone calls can suffice.

Aren't we all guilty sometimes? Don't we neglect to let friends or loved ones know how much they mean to us until we stand by their biars and wish we had been more thoughtful in their lifetimes? A gift need not to be expensive to brighten someone's day. Do we appreciate the little things or take them for granted? Do we remember to thank doctors, nurses, co-workers, employees, employers, postmasters, mail and U.P.S. men, maids, gardeners, and our children for jobs well done, for special courtesies? Do we have Teacher Appreciation Day, and does the school provide Parents Day?

Nothing is more important than that churches remember pastors and their wives on holidays, birthdays, wedding and tenure anniversaries, vacations, etc. Of all professions the ministry carries the heaviest load, with medicine at close second and teaching third. On the whole, the ministry and teaching are the most underpaid of all disciplines. Monetary budgets have limitations, but words of encouragement, understanding and tribute cost nothing, and can sometimes be priceless.

If the Pilgrims felt they had much for which to celebrate, surely we today have far more. Are we as grateful as they were? Do we set the right example ourselves? Someone is often following in our footsteps, whether we are parents, teachers, leaders, whatever. Is gratitude a habit with us or do we need to cultivate it? Will expressing it by word and deed become a lost art? Certainly America has never lacked compassion.

The U.S. has given more to scores of lands than all other countries combined have. Domestic disasters of every type meet an immediate, hearty response by government, organizations, institutions and individuals?

Are we teaching our children that all blessings come from God? How often do we praise and thank Him for his goodness? Do we help make the world a better place during our earthly journey or are we among those who are destroying our land by participating in the evils engulfing some facets of it, or by silence and doing nothing? Edmund Burke, noted British statesman and philosopher of the eighteenth century said the surest way for evil to triumph is for good people to do nothing!

Observe 30th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tussey, of the Middle Creek Road, observed their 30th wedding anniversary, November 29. They were presented with a cake on Thanksgiving day by their children and grandchildren.

D.A.R. Meets

The John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 9, at the Emma Wells May Cultural Center, with Mrs. Virginia S. Goble, regent, presiding. Mrs. Virginia Goble presented the National Defense program, which was a tribute to U.S. veterans.

Miss Alice Harris read the President General's message. Miss Harris said that a special day of remembrance for veterans was proclaimed after the signing of the Armistice on November 11, 1919, and that Veterans' Day had been celebrated since 1954.

The regent presented Mrs. Minnie Grace Sutherland, retired teacher, who spent several years teaching English and Speech at Prestonsburg High School. Mrs. Sutherland's topic was "The Thanksgiving Story." She told of the origin of Thanksgiving, stressed that this country was founded in great part by persons seeking religious freedom, and added that it had continued to be nation of God-fearing people. Mrs. Sutherland said that ours is the only country in the world which has set aside a special day for Thanksgiving. At the close of her discussion she asked Mrs. Frances Brackett to read the poem, "The First Thanksgiving Day."

The regent gave a report on her attendance accompanied by her husband, James B. Goble, at the D.A.R. Homecoming at Duncan Tavern, Paris, Ky., Oct. 28-29, and a board meeting, at Spindletop, in Lexington, Nov. 4.

The hostess, Mrs. Mae S. Kendrick, served refreshments to members, Mesdames Virginia Goble, Edith James, Opal May, Frances Brackett, Frances Compton, and Norma Stepp, and guests, Mrs. Minnie Grace Sutherland and Mrs. May K. Roberts, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Mary A. Ford, of Burnside, Kentucky.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 14, at the same location, with Mrs. Edith James as leader.

TAX SAVINGS NOW
 SECURE RETIREMENT LATER

check it out

The Bank Josephine offers an Individual Retirement Account Program which could be one of the most promising investment alternatives available in today's market.

We recognize whenever a banking service is offered, there will be questions to be asked and answered. And we have tried to anticipate those questions and provide you with the answers you need to make an informed decision on the best way to invest in your I.R.A.

Who can participate in the new IRA plan?

Anyone with earned income of at least the amount deposited in the IRA.

How much can be deposited in an IRA each year?

$2,000 per person. A married couple with both spouses working can set aside up to $4,000 a year, providing each separate account does not exceed $2,000. And a couple with one working spouse can set aside up to $2,250 a year divided between two accounts.

When may I open an IRA?

An IRA may be opened at any time during the calendar year, but to receive the tax deduction, you must make contributions to your IRA before you file your tax return each year—prior to April 15, or if you file an extension, June 15.

What are the tax benefits of an IRA?

The money you contribute to your IRA—including the interest it earns over the years—is tax deferred. This means that you do not have to pay taxes on that money until you withdraw it at retirement. At that time, you will probably be in a lower tax bracket. In the meantime, you simply deduct the amount you deposit each year to your IRA from your total income. The result is a lower tax bracket and a tax savings.

At what age may I begin withdrawing funds from my IRA?

You may begin withdrawing at age 59 1/2; however, you must begin withdrawing funds at age 70 1/2.

What if I need to withdraw funds early?

You may withdraw funds at any time, but there will be penalties imposed. The Internal Revenue Service will impose a 10% excise tax. In addition, all amounts withdrawn early will be considered taxable income. There will be no penalty if early withdrawal is due to death or disability.

If you need further details, we invite you to call our savings experts at 886-9101, or stop by any of our convenient county-wide branches.

Founder of Camp Nathanael

By E.F. Koehler (In The Troublesome Creek Times) Camp Nathanael was started by Garland Franklin on the banks of Troublesome Creek as an outgrowth of the Scripture Memory Mountain Mission, which he founded. The camp was established as a place where children could spend a week in the summer as an award for memorizing Bible verses during the school year. In the years since its founding Camp Nathanael has grown to include conferences and seminars for all ages attended by people from all walks of life and from all sections of the nation.

Born and reared on Branham's Creek in Knott County, Garland was given a home with a married sister in Michigan after his parents both died. There he completed high school, and later attended college in Wheaton, Illinois. He married and was pastoring a thriving church when God reminded him, through an article in a publication, of the needs back in his native hills. As he considered the spiritual and material poverty with which he had been so well acquainted in his childhood, he was impressed with the urgent need to help in some manner.

Just about that time he was invited to serve as interim pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Hyden in Leslie County. After much deliberation he made the move to Hyden with his wife, Ellenore, and three small children, and began the program of scripture memorization. Later the program was organized as the Scripture Memory Mountain Mission, through which the ministry grew. New workers were added, and Sunday schools, the establishing of churches and related community services, and radio broadcasts in several counties were included in the expanded ministry.

The discovery of the site for Camp Nathanael, he states, was an answer to prayer. As he tells it, "I was driving on old Route 80 between Dwarf and Hindman. Coming through the cut at Emmalena my eyes were directed to the meadow below, surrounded by the panorama of beautiful tree-covered hills. Instantly I believed that this was the proper camp site. I began to talk to God as I drove on to Caney Creek for a week of evangelistic services. Upon my return to Hyden I shared my discovery with my wife and co-workers. Steps were taken to lease this Moseley farm, as it was known, which we did for three summers. Then, in the providence of God, the way was cleared for it to be sold and Miss Ruth Huston donated the funds to enable us to purchase it."

It was while pastoring the church in Hyden that Garland Franklin became acquainted with Miss Huston, who played the organ and also engaged in community ministries, having moved to Hyden from Pennsylvania some time previously. She was one of the five ladies that God led to join the Franklins in this new endeavor during the early months of their year in Hyden. All had a concern to "reach youth with the truth" in the mountains. Several years after she arrived in the mountains Miss Huston came into the possession of material resources which she used to further the work of the Lord in various ways and in many places.

The original 66 acres of the present Camp Nathanael property and the drilling of the well, which still supplies of the water used by the great complex of buildings, were made possible by her generosity. It is noteworthy to state here that although Ruth Huston shared to a great extent in the work of Camp Nathanael and the parent organization, the Scripture Memory Mountain Mission, financially and through active participation, she never claimed to be founder or co-founder of either one. In later years she authored a book (God's Timing) in which she states that "He (God) brought the Franklins in 1932 to start the Bible memorization and camp work in the mountains."

The passage of fifty years was marked at Camp Nathanael this summer when former workers and campers gathered from all over the U.S. Some were third-generation campers! Those who gathered at camp for that great occasion included pastors, missionaries, community leaders, Christian parents and teachers who, during their school days, had memorized the required 200 Bible verses and attended camp. It was during their time at Camp Nathanael that many of them had come to know Christ and dedicated their lives to him.

(The Rev. Franklin is a brother of Myrtle F. Reasor, of Prestonsburg.)

McDowell Firm Gets Landfill Clearing Work

At a meeting of the Floyd fiscal court Monday, a contract was let to Jimmy Branham Enterprises, Inc., a McDowell firm reportedly headed by Ivel Moore, for "clearing and grubbing" 45 acres at the county landfill at Garth. The company's bid, the only one tendered, asked $67,799 for the work. Some magistrates criticized the bid price as too high but Jonathan Moore, a representative of the firm, noted that the job specifications also called for more than a mile of ditching. The contract must be approved by officials of the Farmers Home Administration, which handles the federal grant financing the project.

Legislative Summary Death of Smith Leads to Probe

(Legislation Information Service)

The Kentucky Department of Banking and Securities is supportive of multibank holding company legislation, but won't give the nod to branch banking, a representative of that department told members of the banking and insurance Subcommittee on Banks and Industrial Loans.

A measure approving the multi-bank issue was narrowly defeated in 1982, but since that time advocates have enlisted the support of various banking groups and lawmakers and now appear ready to promote the issue. The subcommittee had previously approved a resolution asking Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. to include the multi-bank holding question, if he calls a special session before going out of office.

The advantages of such a system outweigh the disadvantages, Bill Miller, director of financial institutions, said. He suggested the panel look at a bill recently approved in West Virginia, which is considered to be "model" legislation.

The Kentucky Bankers Association is putting together a package of legislation which includes the multi-bank holding issue. Ted Bradshaw of the KBA said his group is also preparing measures on reciprocity and the deregulation of interest rates.

Investigation of the highway crash in which Elmer Ray Smith, 46, of Mousie, was killed early Wednesday morning is being continued by the Kentucky State Police, it was said Monday.

Smith, a meter reader for the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co. here, was en route to the Prestonsburg office, driving alone, when an automobile being driven west in the eastbound lanes of four-lane KY 80 struck his pickup, near Softshell. Smith died at the scene of the crash.

The auto, which, investigators said, was on the wrong side of the highway, was occupied by Danny Fraley, 41, of Matton, Ill., and Clyde Reed, 46, Caney, Ky. Both were injured but are expected to recover.

Smith had passed a truck in his eastbound lane when he met the oncoming car, State Police reported. Time of the crash was 6:25 a.m.

The victim had been employed by the gas company since April, 1960, working out of the company office here. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Herma Smith, his widow, Mrs. Louise Smith, and two daughters, Mrs. Debra Lynn Cornett and Miss Carla Denise Smith, all of Mousie; a brother, Randall Smith, and four sisters, Mrs. Fay Wicker, Mrs. Joyce Watts, Mrs. June Conley and Mrs. Brenda Brewer, and one grandchild.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Saturday from the Mousie First Baptist Church, the Revs. Clyde Wicker, Jr. and P. L. Clem officiating. Burial in the Smith cemetery at Mousie was directed by the Hindman Funeral Home.

CHRISMON DEDICATION

There will be a dedication ceremony for Chrismon ornaments at the First Presbyterian Church on Tuesday, December 7, at 7:30 p.m. "Chrismon" stands for "Christmonogram" and the chrismos are generally Christian symbols associated with the birth and life of Jesus Christ. When used to decorate a Christmas tree, they provide a dramatic means of teaching the Christian faith and its meaning.

The dedication ceremony of the ornaments will be in connection with the regular meeting of the Women's Association. Many women of the church have been involved in making the ornaments during the past year. The public is invited to attend.

Assists Physician

One of a growing cadre of "physician extenders," Sarah Staples recently began work in this area as a physician's assistant (PA). A native of Michigan, she has lived most of her life in Ravenna, in Estill county, earned a B.Sc. at Eastern Kentucky University, and graduated this year from the two-year PA program at the University of Kentucky.

As a physician's assistant, Miss Staples is trained to make diagnoses, prescribe medicine, and set up treatment plans—but all under the supervision of a doctor. In association with Dr. Larry Leslie, she is responsible for taking the medical history and doing the physical exam of patients being admitted to hospital and for writing up the case summary when they are discharged.

Unlike nurse practitioners, whose training is similar, PAs never practice independently of a doctor. The profession received a boost when many medically-trained servicemen were discharged after the U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam and is legally recognized in all but three states—including Kentucky—where it has no legal status.

PSC Vetoes Proposal of Surcharge on Gas Sold Johnson Company

(From the Paintsville Herald)

The state Public Service Commission has denied requests from Kentucky - West Virginia Gas and Columbia Gas to impose a surcharge on the rates of Johnson County Gas Company, contending that such a move would be "counter-productive".

The order, was in response to motions from fuel suppliers that claimed Johnson County Gas had made no payments on delinquent accounts since last summer. The suppliers indicated that the local utility owed nearly $200,000 in overdue bills for purchases of natural gas.

Johnson County Gas president Danny Preston said...claims by Columbia Gas that he owed $173,145.90 for past purchases were "inaccurate", adding that he had made payments to the company over the past nine months that totalled "nearly $170,000".

Columbia and Kentucky - West Virginia had sought to impose a surcharge on the rates of Johnson County Gas to dissolve the delinquencies, the second time such requests had been presented to the PSC, but the motions were rejected.

In their order, the PSC contended that prior requests for surcharges had been opposed by the state office of the Attorney General on grounds that "a surcharge to Johnson County's existing rates would be counter-productive in that it would make it impossible for many customers to pay for gas from Johnson County and force many to switch to alternate fuels." The commission indicated that they agreed with that reasoning.

"Johnson County's gas rates are now among the highest in the state," the PSC order said. "To add another $1.00 or more per Mcf, as would be required under the surcharge, would simply increase Johnson County's already high uncollectibles. This would, in turn, reduce Johnson County's cash flow making it even more difficult to pay off its gas bills..."

The PSC advised in their denial of the surcharges requests that "the best course for Columbia and Kentucky - West Virginia is to seek appropriate creditors' remedies in federal court." Those remedies were not detailed but presumably would include the filing of suits to recover monies due under contracts between the parties involved. Federal court would have jurisdiction apparently because supplies of natural gas are shipped across state lines.

Columbia and Kentucky - West Virginia had also requested, in their motions to the PSC, that they be allowed to "terminate" deliveries of gas to the local utility if the commission refused their surcharge requests. That issue was not addressed in last week's order.

Kentucky - West Virginia Gas had indicated in their motion that they would "in the absence of remedial action either by Johnson County or the Commission, terminate all deliveries of gas to Johnson County Gas on December 1, 1982."

A spokesman for the supplier said this week that Kentucky - West Virginia would "probably not take that step at this time", adding that the company was "studying alternatives".

Conference Slated On Local Programs

A week-long conference on ways public and private funds can be combined to continue economic development programs in local communities will be conducted Dec. 6-10 at Catherine Spalding Center in Nazareth, near Bardstown, Richard D. Cole, commissioner of the Department of Local Government, announced last week.

The training is designed especially for representatives of the state's 15 area development districts, but any interested party may attend at no cost, the commissioner said.

Subjects covered will include federal, state and local programs that affect economic development including the Small Business Administration loans, HUD Urban Development Action Grants, Farmers Home Administration grants and loans and the state-managed Community Development Block Grant program.

"The course will demonstrate how a minimum of public sector funds can be leveraged with a maximum amount of private funds to create the opportunity for jobs and increased tax base," Cole said. "The course is supportive of Gov. John Y. Brown Jr.'s commitment to economic development in general and his initiatives to create and retain jobs in the private sector," the commissioner added.

He said the public sector traditionally has provided for water, sewer, fire-protection and educational services for economic development while private enterprise has provided for commercial, business, and agricultural development.

"In view of the cuts in many federal programs, it becomes increasingly important to learn how private and public sectors can work in partnership for economic development," Cole said.

Those interested in attending the conference should contact Jerry Vaughan, program manager for community economic development, Department of Local Government, Frankfort, Ky. 40601; or phone (502) 564-2382 for reservations. There is no charge for the course.

There are an estimated 52 million dogs and 36 million cats in the U. S.

Prestonsburg Alumnus Goble Coach of Championship Team

Prestonsburg High School's Black Cats lost their bid for state Class AA football honors to the Corbin Redhounds, a team which easily downed Glasgow High later for the state title—and the local school produced the coach of the team which won the Class 4-A state championship.

The school's connection with the Class 4-A title comes by way of Dan Goble, Jr., coach of the championship Christian County team which defeated Southern of Louisville Saturday at Cardinal Stadium, Louisville, 10-3 in the Class AAA final game. Coach Goble is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Goble, of Prestonsburg.

Coaching success is nothing new to Goble. In his first year after graduating from college he was assistant coach of Erlanger High when it won a state grid title. Later, he coached nine years at Atherton High in Louisville and before going to Christian County at Hopkinsville was coach at Shelby High three years.

This year, he guided Christian County to a 14-1 record, his team winning 14 in a row after dropping its season-opener to Highlands of Ft. Thomas.

After last Saturday's championship victory Goble was being mentioned for possible added honors—Kentucky Coach of the Year.

His son, Jeff, is a starter on the Christian County team.

Two Centre Gridders, Are From Floyd County

Jack Wells, of Prestonsburg, and Ralph Gilliam, of Banner, were members of the 1982 football squad at Centre College.

Wells, the son of Dorothy Wells, of Prestonsburg, is a sophomore at Centre and played tight end with the Colonels this season.

He has been named to the Dean's List two times and lettered in football last year. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

A sophomore, Gilliam is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gilliam, of Banner. He played defensive end with the Colonels this season. Gilliam is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

The Colonels, under the direction of third-year coach Joe McDaniel, wound up the season with a 17-7 loss to Southwestern University in Memphis. The loss gave Centre second place in the College Athletic Conference and an overall record of 5-4 for the 1982 season. Centre improved on its 1981 season record of 4-4-1.

Deer Harvest Up

Kentucky's deer hunters harvested approximately 16,000 deer during this year's statewide gun season, according to the results of an informal survey of fish and wildlife law enforcement supervisors around the state.

With the check station stubs from all but one of the commonwealth's 118 open counties counted, the total deer harvest stood at 15,863. The other county should add approximately 200 more deer to the count.

Last year, 12,949 deer were taken during the gun season, which varies from three to 10 days in different parts of the state. The harvest figure this year represents an approximately 20 percent increase over the 1981 figure and is a new record for the state.

Conservation officers encountered fewer deer hunters than last year in several parts of the state and the total number of hunters checked (13,388) was down from last year's figure of 15,001. The officers made 438 arrests for game law violations (up from 328 last year) and reported 320 known illegally killed deer, also up from last year's count of 252.

Harvest increases were reported from all nine of Kentucky's wildlife districts, with the biggest jump reported from the ninth district in Southeastern Kentucky, where the harvest almost tripled—1,616 this year as compared to 591 in 1981. Much of this increase can probably be attributed to the larger number of counties in the district open to deer hunting this season.

Antlerless deer hunting was permitted in more counties this year, so some of the harvest increase can be attributed to hunters being allowed to take does and "button" bucks on the last day of the season in 22 counties. Biologists expect more and more counties to be opened to either sex deer hunting as the statewide deer population continues to increase.

Any hunter who has taken a buck with antlers which measure over 24 inches in length or one which weighs over 200 pounds (field dressed) should get in touch with a conservation officer to see if the deer qualifies for the state's trophy list. Any doe weighing over 115 pounds (field dressed) is also a potential candidate for trophy listing.

Bow hunters may hunt in all open counties of Kentucky through Dec. 31. Only Lincoln and Knox counties are closed to deer hunting.

The total statewide deer harvest figures won't be known until sometime in January or February, after the bow season results and tallies from special hunts on wildlife management areas and military reservations are calculated.

CARD OF THANKS

Perhaps you sent a lovely card,
Or sat quietly in a chair,
Perhaps you sent a funeral spray—
If so, we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,
As any friend could say;
Perhaps you were not there at all,
Just thought of us that day,
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much, whatever the part.

TYPICAL ACTION during Allen Central High School's Jenny Wiley tourney battle against powerful Sheldon Clark, Wednesday night, shows Craig Hall (No. 24) getting off a shot despite the defensive efforts of Sheldon Clark players. Hall contributed 14 points in the contest which was won by Sheldon Clark, 75 to 57.

Sheldon Clark Cardinals Down Blackcats for Title

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON and TOMMIE LYNN LAYNE
The Sheldon Clark Cardinals rolled to their sixth straight win while capturing the Jenny Wiley championship here, and defeating the host Blackcats, 71 to 64. In the Boyd County Invitational the Betsy Layne Bobcats lost last Tuesday night to Greenup County, 48 to 47.

The Jenny Wiley Invitational opened last Wednesday night with Johnson Central defeating the Wheelwright Trojans, 76 to 36. Tim Cole led the Trojans with 11 points.

In the second game, the Sheldon Clark Cardinals defeated the Allen Central Rebels, 75 to 57. The Rebels trailed at halftime by 8 and, going into the fourth quarter, again by 8, but the Cardinals did everything right while the Rebels got cold from the field and had several turnovers. Tim Lawson led the Rebels with 16. Craig Hall had 14, while Rick Conn and Dale Pack had 12 points each. Rick Conn fouled out of the game, which was one of the Rebels' downfalls.

On Thursday night, in the lower bracket, Magoffin County defeated McDowell, 56 to 40. The Daredevils trailed at halftime, 27 to 21. The loss of David Tuttle in the second quarter due to an injury was one of McDowell's bad breaks, though he did return back in the second half and finished out the night with 10 points. Tim Newsome connected for 15 points.

In the second game the Prestonsburg Blackcats defeated the Dorton Wildcats, 58 to 42. The Cats were led in scoring by Kelly Cecil with 18, Tony Whitaker had 11, and Chris Carter came up with 10 points.

In the semi-finals, Sheldon Clark defeated Johnson Central, 68 to 63. Jimmy Turner led the Cardinals with 20 points, and John Kirk had 18. Johnson Central was led by Harry Meek with 25. Willie Blair had 20 points.

The Prestonsburg Blackcats defeated Magoffin County's Hornets, 45 to 36. The Cats led at halftime, 25 to 16, and 36 to 24 going into the fourth quarter. Kelly Cecil led the Blackcats with 18, and Tony Whitaker connected for 14 points.

Saturday night in the consolation game, Johnson Central defeated Magoffin County, 66 to 58. Wesley Watson led the Hornets with 28 points, while Willie Blair led the Golden Eagles with 19.

In the championship game, Sheldon Clark defeated Prestonsburg, 71 to 64, as the Cats came back in the second half after training the undefeated Cardinals, 41 to 22. Finishing strong in the second half was Kelly Cecil with 12. Tony Whitaker led the team with 18, Todd Nairn and Marty Minix each had 14 points. The Cardinals were led by Teddy Duncan with 20 points, John Kirk and Jimmy Turner connected for 16 each.

The individual free shot trophy was won by Willie Blair who connected on 93% of his free throws. Sheldon Clark won the team free shot trophy with 94%. The Prestonsburg cheerleaders won the first place trophy while the Dorton cheerleaders placed second.

In the Boyd County Invitational, Monday, the Virgie Eagles were shocked by West Carter, 79 to 57. Gerald Osborne led the Eagle attack with 23 points and 9 rebounds.

Tuesday night, the Betsy Layne Bobcats lost in a close one to Greenup County, 48 to 47. Greenup County led at halftime, 23 to 21, but Betsy Layne outscored Greenup County, 26 to 25, in the second half, but couldn't pull it out. Marty Meade led the Bobcat attack with 14 points, while teammate Coy Samons connected for 13. Greenup County was led in scoring by Scott with 18.

In girls' play, the Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats traveled to Virgie last Tuesday night and won over the Lady Eagles, 79 to 49. Cassandra Keathley took scoring honors for the night, connecting for 25 points. Lela Layne added 20 points and Kim Tackett 17 for the Lady Bobcats. The Lady Eagles were led in scoring by Wright with 21 and Roberts with 15.

Flood Walls Possible Alternates To Construction of Dam at Haysi

A flood control dam near Haysi, Va. was approved by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers 44 years ago but in subsequent studies—the last, 17 years ago—it was suggested that its cost would far outweigh the benefits it would bring.

Now, however, $350,000 has been approved for a restudy of the project, which has the strong support of Congressman Carl D. Perkins. The cost-benefit ratio presumably will be considered on the premise that the dam would reduce runoff water into the Levisa (Big Sandy) by as much as 14½ inches.

But, according to Conrad Ripley, public relations officer for the Huntington District, Corps of Army Engineers, the Corps will be studying more than the dam. It will consider the feasibility of other means of protecting communities against flood.

In Floyd county, for example, levee-floodwalls may be considered at Betsy

Layne, Harold and Allen, with the extension of the existing floodwall at Prestonsburg a possibility.

Channel improvement, straightening of the stream channel and floodwalls for Grundy, Va., Elkhorn City and Pikeville are in the range of study.

"Our directive is to look at the Levisa basin on a broad basis," Ripley said recently. The cost-benefit ratio of all the projects will be viewed, then compared against benefits that would derive from construction of the proposed dam, it was indicated.

Four Injured In Collision At Eastern

Four persons are hospitalized, one in critical condition, after a two-vehicle collision near the Allen Central High School at Eastern yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon. The accident occurred around 2:30 p.m. when a car driven by Franklin Pack pulled into the left lane to turn off Ky. 80 to the high school at Eastern. While Pack apparently waited to pull across the highway, a van, driven by Wade Watkins, traveling west, struck the auto.

Twelve-year-old Todd Duff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Birchell Duff, of Hueysville, a passenger in the car driven by Mr. Pack, suffered multiple injuries and was flown to U. K. Medical Center in Lexington where he is listed in critical condition. Another passenger, Mrs. Maureen Hensley, wife of James David Hensley, former principal of Prestonsburg Grade School, is a patient at Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, and is said to be in stable condition. She is the sister of Mr. Pack, a patient at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital, who is reported to be less seriously injured.

Wade Watkins, driver of the van, is hospitalized at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, where his condition is said stable.

Mr. Pack and Mrs. Hensley, both teachers at Wayland Elementary School where young Duff is a student, were bringing him to Allen Central to use the school's whirlpool to treat an ankle injury when the accident occurred.

HOLD WORKSHOP

The Cow Creek Homemakers held a workshop at the Fire Department building there Friday night, during which time they tackled a quilt to be sold by the Cow Creek Area Development Club at the bazaar, which will be held in the Prestonsburg area, December 2-4. Participating in the making of the quilt were: Mesdames Virginia S. Goble, Hester Leslie, Fay Goble, Patsy Leslie, Eunice Darby, Imogene Caldwell, Edith Burchett, Ruby Woods, and Louise Carey.

NASCAR Champ To Be Here Sat.

Stock car racing fans will have the opportunity to meet the current NASCAR reigning champion Darrell Waltrip, Saturday, Dec. 4 at Music-Carter-Hughes Chevrolet-Buick here.

Customized vans and other high performance vehicles will also be featured.

Waltrip, a 35-year-old Owensboro native who has been racing in NASCAR 10 years, is the Winston Cup Grand National Champion for the second straight year. He set a record for race winnings last year of over $600,000, and this year broke his own record by winning over $700,000. By RUFUS REED

Yarrow is an ancient plant, much used by the ancient Greeks and Romans. Achilles, who was a hero of the Trojan War, also an ancient herbalist, used yarrow to heal the wounds of his soldiers during the long siege of Troy.

So today our botanists honor his memory by naming yarrow after him. Its botanical name is "Achillea Millefolium," plant of Achilles with one thousand leaves.

Yarrow grows in old fields and open areas of our region. It grows about two feet high has small, white blossoms and appears to have hundreds of small leaves.

Yarrow, also called "Milfoil," and "thousand leaves," is highly aromatic. Its tea was used daily by the Anglo-Saxons of Britain, who claimed the tea gave them a feeling of great joy and made them dance and sing. The Romans used yarrow in their houses for its pleasant odor. They also highly prized it as medicine and claimed it could cure forty different diseases.

Nowadays, the tea of yarrow is used as a medicine for the scalp and hair; it is also used to treat wounds and old sores.

Those of you who may have read Homer's epic poem, "The Iliad," will recall the very unusual way in which Achilles met his death. In the Trojan war he had killed one of their great warriors, Hector. When Achilles was a baby, his mother had dipped his little body in the river, Styx, so that nothing could harm his body. But his heel was not bathed by the magic Stygian water because his mother's hand was holding onto it. So his heel became the only vulnerable spot on his body. In order to avenge Hector's death, his brother, Paris, shot the heel of Achilles with an arrow, soon causing his death.

Another fine tea, which may be made the year around, is sassafras tea, which is better when made from the roots of red sassafras. Herbalists have recently claimed that sassafras tea is a good remedy for rheumatism and also a blood purifier.

SENNA LAXATIVE—This laxative was known and used by the ancient Greeks. Senna is a plant that grows three feet high and looks like a young locust. It also bears beans. Senna was a popular laxative with the Indians, who taught the whites about its value. Many persons are afraid of the harsh laxatives sold over the counter. These should seek nature's remedy. Perhaps we'd all be better off to go back to nature for remedies for our bodies.

Cooking in the Cumberlands

By IRENE HAYES

Holidays come and go but Christmas remains the best-loved, most widely celebrated and best-remembered holiday of all. In spite of all the commercialization it still brings a warm, happy feeling and even affects the most hard-hearted people. It is a delight to watch children's eyes light up when they see a gift under the tree that they have yearned for but were not sure they would receive.

This will be a very special Christmas for me and my family. My youngest daughter and her husband are bringing my new little granddaughter home from California for Christmas. They will be en route to Sweden. They leave the second week in January to be gone for a year. We plan to make every minute count. All my family are coming home to spend time with them. The baby is named Kara, which means "loved one" in Swedish.

During the holidays we will serve a hot spiced punch. I gave the recipe last year for Hot Buttered Cranberry Punch. This year I want to give you the recipe for Hot Cider Punch. The red candies make it a pretty punch. The aroma is wonderful. It fills the whole house and it smells like Christmas. The recipe was given to me by Mrs. Andy Moore, of Ashland, Kentucky.

Hot Cider Punch

POUR into 34-cup percolator:
1 gallon apple cider
1 (28-oz.) bottle ginger ale
PLACE in percolator basket:
1 cup tiny, round cinnamon candies
2 sticks cinnamon
24 whole cloves
Perk and serve hot. Makes thirty 1/2-cup servings.
This punch is not only delicious, the fragrance is wonderful.

Candy and Christmas go together. In fact, many years ago Christmas was practically the only time that children were given candy. It might be better if that were true today as far as health goes. This recipe for English Toffee was given to me by Gayle Allen Francis, formerly of Garrett, Kentucky. I chose it because young cooks can make it successfully and it is so good.

English Toffee

COMBINE:
1 cup sugar
1 cup butter
Cook to 310° on candy thermometer. Remove from heat.
STIR IN: 1/2 cup almonds
Spread on flat surface to cool.
MELT in top of double boiler: 1 (12-oz.) plain chocolate bar
Pour over candy.
When hardened, break into pieces.

Another delicious candy recipe is this one for Cream Pull Candy. It was given to me by Robin Conn, of Betsy Layne, Kentucky. A friend of mine used to make this candy for me at Christmastime and I loved it.

Cream Pull Candy

COMBINE in large, heavy saucepan:
3 cups sugar
1 cup boiling water
Cook over low heat to soft ball stage (234°).
While above is cooking, HEAT to boiling point:
1 cup milk
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 stick butter or margarine
Combine mixtures. Cook to hard ball stage (258°).
Remove from heat.
ADD: 1 tsp vanilla
Pour out onto buttered marble slab. Begin to pull as soon as candy is cool enough to work with hands. Pull until candy begins to harden. Stretch into long, thin rope. Cut with scissors. Makes about 1 1/4 pounds.

There are many special recipes in my cookbook. This one for Chess Squares is one of my favorites. It was given to me by Ruth Roberts, of Monticello, Kentucky.

Chess Squares

SIFT TOGETHER:
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
3 tbsps. white sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
CREAM: 3/4 cup butter
Add dry ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Pat out in rectangular biscuit pan until bottom is covered.
Bake 20 minutes in 375° oven.
Meanwhile, COMBINE:
2 1/4 cups brown sugar
3 eggs, beaten
1/2 tsp. vanilla
Beat mixture with rotary beater, only until blended. Do not use electric mixer.
FOLD IN: 1 cup broken pecans
Spread filling over baked crust. Return to oven. Bake 25 minutes longer.

The following recipe for Black Walnut Cream Cake is a family treasure. The Mayo women were noted for their cooking ability. The late Lucille Mayo Henderson gave me the recipe many years ago.

Black Walnut Cream Cake

CREAM TOGETHER:
1 cup butter or margarine
3 cups sugar
SIFT TOGETHER:
4 cups flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 level tps. cream of tartar
ADD ALTERNATELY to creamed mixture with:
10 stiffly beaten egg whites
Begin with egg whites.
Just before adding the last flour, ADD:
1 cup buttermilk
1 tsp. vanilla
Last, ADD water from 1/2 tsp. soda dissolved in 2 tps. tepid water, without stirring, so that most of the soda remains in the cup.
Blend thoroughly.
Pour into 3 greased and floured 9-inch cake pans.
Bake 30 to 35 minutes in 350° oven or until done when tested. Cool.
Spread Cream Filling (below) between layers. Use your favorite white icing and cover the cake completely. The icing helps hold the moisture in the cake and filling.

This is a recipe my mother used for many years. Our family makes it all the time but especially at Christmastime.

Cream Filling

COMBINE:
1 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
4 tbsps. flour
ADD: 2 cups milk
Cook in double boiler until thick.
THEN ADD: 4 egg yolks
Stir until smooth. Cook 2 minutes longer. Remove from heat.
ADD:
1 tbsp. butter
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup black walnuts, chopped medium fine
Allow to cool.

One way to insure a happier Christmas is to make Christmas happier for someone else. There is greater need this year than ever before. Have the happiest holiday you have ever had and count your blessings.

State Idle Rate Drops Slightly

Kentucky's unemployment rate declined slightly from a revised 10.7 percent September rate to a 10.6 percent preliminary October rate, Cabinet for Human Resources' labor market analysis section announced Nov. 23.

The comparable national unemployment rate for October was a nonseasonally adjusted 9.9 percent. Kentucky's unemployment rate for October a year ago was 7.0 percent.

According to the cabinet's labor market analysis section, 183,500 Kentuckians were jobless during October. This figure represents a 700 decrease from September but an increase of 66,200 from October, 1981.

The October unemployment rate in the state's bituminous coal mining industry was 24.3 percent. The October jobless rate in the state's construction industries was 18.7 percent and the manufacturing industries rate was 16.9 percent.

Kentucky's civilian force rose 10,800 from September to October to establish a record high of 1,729,200. The civilian labor force only includes persons currently employed and unemployed persons actively seeking jobs.

The states' total employment was estimated by the cabinet's labor market analysis section to be 1,545,700 in October. This figure indicates an increase of 11,500 over the September estimate but is 16,600 below last October's estimate. Kentucky's manufacturing employment in October was 241,400, the lowest it has been since July 1968.

According to the labor market analysis section's statistics, Kentucky's manufacturing industries have lost 33,600 jobs since October last year. Also, since October a year ago, the state's trade industries reported 7,400 less jobs, construction lost 7,000 jobs, bituminous coal mining jobs were down by 4,300, government reported 3,200 less jobs, and the services industries' jobs declined by 2,600.

State Police Honor Handshoe

Major Gen. Billy Wellman presents citation to Ricky Lynn Handshoe.

An act of courage by a 21-year-old Hueysville man has resulted in special recognition by the Kentucky State Police.

Ricky Lynn Handshoe was given a civilian citation for meritorious achievement by Major-Gen. Billy Wellman, the state police commissioner. The presentation was made Nov. 23 in Frankfort.

Handshoe was recognized for going to the aid of a truck driver who was trapped in a wrecked vehicle. He was the first person at the scene of the accident which occurred on Sept. 30 on U.S. 421 at Asher in Leslie county.

Handshoe extinguished a fire, contacted the state police and later was among those who worked to free the driver from the wreckage. The driver, Eddie Asher of Hoskinston, did not survive.

The Kentucky State Police citation states, in part, "...although the victim's injuries were so severe he did not survive, Handshoe, by his actions, undertaken without thought or regard for his own safety, demonstrated a high degree of personal courage and the greatest regard for human life..."

"Be it therefore ordered that the honorary title of Colonel, Aide de Camp, to the Commissioner of the Kentucky State Police be conferred upon Ricky Lynn Handshoe along with the everlasting admiration of the Kentucky State Police for an act of courage and service..."

Handshoe, a Kentucky Emergency Warning System technician, was also made Kentucky Colonel by order of Gov. John Y. Brown Jr.

NATURE TRAILS

By RUFUS REED
The Dogwood Quinine

The inner bark of the dogwood is quite bitter and has long been used as quinine to treat flu and colds. It is very effective against these viruses.

The inner bark is also very rich in calcium and a tea of the bark is recommended for those who lack calcium.

Although the winter dogwood is a drab crooked little tree, hiding under the great oaks and pines, it is more highly honored than any other tree. It is both the state tree and state flower of Virginia; it is also the state tree of Missouri and the state flower of North Carolina. It is also the official flower of British Columbia. No other tree has been so highly honored.

This drab, little tree, "the Cinderella of Winter Woods," bursts out with sheer white blossoms in April. They soon look as if starched white and the whitest white of all spring blooms, so white it gleams and glorifies the barren woods of April.

The beauty of the blossoms comes from the four white bracts which are formed like a cross. The dogwoods of April transform our hills into white shrines of pure, chaste beauty.

The leaves of dogwood are formed in pairs on the twigs, and are smooth ovate, not toothed. The wood seasons out hard as iron and had many uses in olden times. In the Middle Ages it was used to make daggers, so the first name of the tree was a dagwood, later changed to dogwood.

The pioneers used the hard wood to make shuttles for their looms and wedges to split rails. The old names of these were "gluts."

Abe Lincoln, who was called "the railsplitter president" by some, often split fence rails with a knot maul and wedges made from dogwood.

The dogwood bears an abundant crop of red berries, which ripen in the fall and furnish a good winter food supply for birds and squirrels.

★ GOOD NEWS REPORT ★

By THOMAS W. PAUKEN
Director of ACTION

It didn't look good for 13-year old Timmy Lane. On Thursday evening, August 26, he was on the roof of the family home in Clearwater, Florida. As a tree climber, his roof exploration wasn't exactly a hazardous adventure, at least until he either jumped or fell. Either way, he didn't see the three-foot upright metal stake used to tie up Schultz, the family dog, until he was impaled on it. Schultz knew his buddy was in trouble and he began to bark furiously. This brought Timmy's mother who found her gravely injured son. She summoned Joey, his 15-year-old, look-alike brother, and telephoned the Clearwater paramedics.

When Timmy arrived at the emergency ward of the Community Hospital, the doctors there were faced with two very serious problems—the critical nature of Timmy's injuries and the extreme shortage of his blood type, O-Negative. An immediate appeal was sent out by the Clearwater police dispatchers for blood and relayed by the local radio, CB and TV stations. The response was wonderfully immediate. Nearly 300 donors swarmed into the hospital, coming from everywhere to answer the call. In all, they gave 100 units and Timmy required 35 to stay alive throughout the long operation. Those who donated stayed on, too, rooting for the youngster, giving their moral and spiritual support to the parents, Bill and Ann Lane. Most of them had never heard of Timmy before, only that the need was urgent and that a boy was close to dying.

Adversity was not stranger to the Lanes. They had lost a 19-year-old son who, as a Marine, had fallen from an airport hangar roof. Times had not been good for Timmy's father, a mason by trade, and, as the donors milled around the hospital corridor, he prayed for his son's life and acknowledged the spontaneous aid and support of so many strangers saying, "Yes, it's wonderful. It's wonderful."

It was and it is. Timmy's mother called the successful operation "a miracle". The doctors didn't disagree. Timmy awoke asking for a Coca-Cola. "The Lord reached down and touched him," said Ann Lane, "and touched the hearts of so many people who have helped him."

That help hasn't let up, and it's been needed more than ever. Timmy has undergone two more major operations. A month after the accident, it was still touch and go, but throughout the Lane's ordeal and Timmy's fight for life, literally hundreds of people have volunteered their time, talents, prayers and money, to aid the family.

A Timmy Lane Day was organized, followed by a Timmy Lane benefit show featuring many performers, including Wladislaw Cedzich, the noted Polish concert pianist, who came out of retirement to volunteer his services. In addition, several trust funds for Timmy have been set up in local banks and Timmy's 1,200 schoolmates at Oak Grove Middle School raised $4,800. All the area service clubs also have contributed in this total effort to help a family in need and to encourage a small boy to win his fight for life.

"It's not just our prayers," said Timmy's mother, "this is a community thing. It's just love. Everywhere you look it's just more love. I haven't seen anything like it."

Or, as Herbert Hayes, an involved citizen, put it: "The community's response to blood requests and financial assistance has been truly remarkable. Seldom is such spirit exhibited. I don't know if it's love, prayer, sympathy or what, but clearly something dynamic happened here."

Timmy Lane, a 13-year-old adventurer, needed help badly and he got it.

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

Dandruff can be the result of excessive drying and scaling of the scalp or an overabundant accumulation of oil on scalp and hair follicles. In either case, it is important to isolate the dandruff type and select a dandruff shampoo that is formulated to treat your condition. Once the dandruff shampoo has been selected, care must be taken not to overuse it. It is suggested that medicated shampoo be used once or twice per week. A milder shampoo can be used on alternate nights. Otherwise, the strong, anti-dandruff detergent may irritate the scalp so as to perpetuate the problem of flaking.

Remember that here at COOLEY APOTHECARY we're here for you and your health. So never hesitate to ask your Pharmacist for advice, whether it be to suggest a treatment for dandruff or what to take for a sore throat. We also carry convalescent items. Located at #2 Town Center Bldg. Open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-4. 886-8106

Martin County Coal Corporation is the recipient of the Secretary's Award of Recognition for outstanding reclamation in Eastern Kentucky. John W. Thacker, regional administrator of the Prestonsburg Region of the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, and Kevin L. Howard, principal reclamation inspector of the Prestonsburg office, made the presentation Nov. 2, on behalf of Mrs. Jackie Swigart, secretary of DNREP. Receiving the award for Martin Coal were Raymond A. Bradbury, president, Ernie Francis, reclamation supervisor, Surface Mine Supts. Phil N. Bradbury and Ricky Branham, and Surface Mine Maintenance Supt. Bob Beatty.

Mr. Thacker added personal congratulations for "the continued good reclamation practiced by Martin County Coal". Accepting the award, Mr. Bradbury said, "I express pleasure on behalf of all surface mine employees of the company for this recognition and we will continue to dedicate ourselves to excellence in this important phase of surface mining." Bradbury acknowledged the work of Reclamation Supervisor Francis, the mine superintendents and all their foremen to the commitment to good reclamation.

★ CONSUMER ALERT ★

In these hard economic times, everyone is looking for a way to cut household costs. The freezer industry has estimated that there are approximately 7,500 ethical freezer meat producers in the United States who can sometimes give true savings to consumers who wish to buy meat in bulk quantities. However, it is estimated that there are about 300 dishonest bait-and-switch operators who go into business to cheat you. Attorney General Steven L. Beshear wants to make sure that you, the consumer, realize these businesses exist.

The dishonest operator uses tricky advertising and high pressure sales tactics to prey on the unsuspecting consumer. First, the "bait" is in the form of an advertisement for halves and quarters of beef at unbelievably low prices. When the advertised meat is shown to the consumer, it is dark meat with yellow fat. The salesman then agrees with the consumer that this is no bargain. This enables him to "switch" the consumer's attention to other halves that are fresh and red, but which sell at a price that is much higher than what was advertised.

Another way that dishonest operators work is to sell you the more expensive meat, but actually give you lower quality cuts. By not being able to "stand guard" while the meat is being cut, the consumer will get inferior meat instead of what he thought he purchased. In addition, the operator will make "mistakes" in weighing the meat as it is being cut and packaged. You will get less meat than you actually pay for.

These are just some of the tactics used by dishonest freezer meat operators to cheat the consumer. In order to protect yourself, Attorney General Beshear offers some guidelines to follow before you buy freezer meat:

(1) Take a good look at advertisements which offer meat bargains below the price of retail stores. Do not buy until you have checked the price per pound, after the meat is trimmed, against the price of meat in a retail store.

(2) Check to see if the meat has been graded by the United States Department of Agriculture. What is the grade? Is it Prime, Choice, or Good? Ask to see the grade shield stamp.

(3) Remember that bulk meat is customarily sold at its hanging or uncut weight. The United States Department of Agriculture estimates that the average side of beef will yield 50% edible meat and 50% bone and fat.

(4) If you decide to buy meat on a deferred payment plan, find out the amount of interest you must pay and the carrying charges. Also find out what bank or finance company will handle the payments.

(5) Check the reputation of the meat dealer with the Better Business Bureau or the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office. Ask the meat dealer for the names of other customers and check with them. Were they satisfied with the produce and the service?

(6) If you feel that you have been cheated in a deal like this, report it to the proper authorities. Give all the facts to the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office or to the Federal Trade Commission.

Buying meat in bulk is often the most economical way. Just remember to be on the lookout for dishonest dealers. Floyd District Invited . . .

State Department To Lead In Improvement Program

The Kentucky Department of Education has issued invitations to Floyd county and 24 other Kentucky school districts to participate in a voluntary school improvement program. The program, the first of its kind in Kentucky, will be district-wide and will focus on two broad areas: instruction-curriculum and social organization.

Other school districts invited: Bell County, Casey County, Clay County, Cloverport Independent, Covington Independent, Eminence Independent, Harlan County, Jackson County, Knox County Lawrence County, Leslie County, Letcher County, Lewis County, Magoffin County, Martin County, Menifee County, Newport Independent, Owsley County, Perry County, Pineville Independent, Providence Independent, Richmond Independent, Whitley County, and Wolfe County.

Department officials were pleased over the results of their conversations with the district superintendents. All expressed interest.

"Everyone wants to make their schools better," said Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber who masterminded the plan. "Unfortunately, we only have staff enough to work with 10 of them this year."

Since so many want to do it, selection of the 10 will be on a first-come, first served basis, Barber added.

Plans for the school improvement were endorsed by the state Board of Education at its Nov. 9 meeting in Lexington. The plan is in two phases. Phase I calls for a detailed analysis of the school districts' program.

"We will be looking at such things as what ties first-grade math to 12th-grade math," Dr. Don Hunter, the Department of Education's assistant superintendent for instruction, told the state board.

Other factors will include the time students actually spend "on task," and the incentives available to motivate students to achieve. The local boards' own goals and objectives for their schools will be an integral part of each district's improvement plan.

Phase II calls for technical assistance from the department in helping teachers, administrators, and school boards to reach those objectives. The assistance will be provided throughout this school year and into the 1983-84 school year if necessary.

Other districts may be added to the program in the future, as staff and funds permit.

Several factors were used in identifying the districts to receive invitations. The starting point was the scoring on the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills "achievement tests" required by state law for third, fifth, seventh and 10th-graders. Barber was quick to point out, however, that "low scores" were not the only consideration. Per student expenditures, pupil-teacher ratios, the educational level of faculty members, and the local tax effort can all affect learning, Barber said. "Our computers measured those factors." The achievement tests also measured students' potential. If all the financial factors are low and if the students are achieving below their potential, then technical assistance over a sustained period of time should produce dramatic results, Barber predicted.

Since school budgets are tight and new money is not readily available, the department's plan is designed to focus on areas where improvements can be made without new infusions of funds. For example, if school announcements interrupt class time, the simple act of

Notice of Opportunity

To Request a Corridor/Design Public Hearing on Proposed Highway Project.

This notice is for the purpose of providing the public with the opportunity to request in writing to Ed Patton, General Manager, Ky. Department of Transportation, Bureau of Highways, North Mayo Trail, Pikeville, Ky. that a Corridor/Design Public Hearing be held on the following proposed highway project. Floyd Co., Ky. 194, BRZ 1203 (7) FSP 098 0194 007-008 008 D Bridge and approaches over Johns Creek at German.

The proposed project consists of grade, drain and high type surface, with a bridge spanning Johns Creek.

The Department considers this project as a Categorical Exclusion in accordance with the Federal Register Regulation 12 CFR 771.115 (b) (9). FHWA's concurrence in this action was given February 4, 1980.

Plans are available at the Bureau of Highways District Office, North Mayo Trail, Pikeville, Ky. from 8:00 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. Monday through Friday, for public inspection and copying.

Plans will be available for public review at the Corps of Engineers Office at Dewey Dam, on Wednesday, Dec. 15, 1982, from 1:00 P.M. to 3:00 P.M. Bureau of Highways personnel will be available at this meeting to explain the plans and answer questions.

Unless a written request that a Corridor/Design Public Hearing be held is received at the below address by December 22, 1982, a hearing will not be held.

ED PATTON, General Manager, Ky. Department of Transportation, Bureau of Highways, P.O. Box 2468, Pikeville, Ky. 41501

rescheduling announcements could improve student-teacher concentration, Hunter observed.

Achievement testing and the school improvement program are done under the auspices of the Educational Improvement Act passed in 1978 by Kentucky's General Assembly. The legislature, however, did not make any funds available during the 1982-84 biennium to help school districts provide additional remedial help to students who need it.

"If funds for remedial courses are not available, then we simply must show what we can do with what we have," Barber said. "Our students' futures demand our best effort."

Hotline Use Planned To Nab Drunk Drivers

A program aimed at encouraging Kentuckians to report drunken drivers to the state police was announced last week by state officials.

"We are asking Kentuckians to help make our roads safer," said state Human Resources Secretary Buddy Adams.

Adams and state Justice Secretary Billy Wellman announced the program, called Action RAPID, at a morning news conference. (RAPID is an acronym standing for Report A Problem-Intoxicated Driver.)

State police, through a public relations program, will be encouraging people to call the state police hot line at 1-800-222-5555 whenever they spot an intoxicated driver.

The call will be answered by a dispatcher at a central office in Frankfort, who will switch callers to the state police post nearest them.

At that point, callers will be asked to give details on where they spotted the drunken driver and the type of vehicle the intoxicated person was driving. A trooper will then be dispatched to investigate the complaint.

Wellman, who is also acting state police commissioner, said that a recent evaluation of state police accident reports indicates that drunken driving is a factor in at least one of every four fatal accidents in Kentucky.

He said that drunken driving accidents cost Kentuckians an estimated $29 million each year in medical costs.

Wellman said 830 persons were killed in traffic accidents in Kentucky during 1981. The figure so far this year is 746.

Wellman said the Thanksgiving weekend is an especially bad time for accidents. He said 14 people were killed on Kentucky roads during last year's four-day Thanksgiving weekend and that six of those were intoxicated.

"We are entering a period that gives us great concern," Wellman said.

He also said Kentucky has experienced a recent rash of fatalities. The death toll for the year is now only two behind the figure for this time last year, whereas it had been 35 under just six weeks ago, Wellman said.

Wellman said he did not know how well the program will work, but "if we save one life in 10 calls the program will be successful."

Adams said that the Human Resources Cabinet is providing $19,440 in federal tax money obtained through its alcohol and substance abuse section to finance the program.

The money will pay for the additional use of the state police hot line, which is already in existence and handles other emergency calls, and for the public awareness campaign.

Lt. John Lile, the state police public information officer who will head the campaign, said it will include posters, brochures, news releases and talks to civic groups by state police troopers.

Lile said that state police will also distribute key holders with the hot line number printed on them so people will have the number handy when they spot a drunken driver.

Adams said the program is also part of a larger educational program aimed at reaching problem drinkers.

He said drunken drivers are often people with a problem who need help, "but before they can get help, we must get them from behind the wheel."

Let's Talk.

Talking. It's the best way to find out what's happening. To understand.

South Central Bell believes in talking things over. And there's never been a time when talking was more important. You may have heard about changes coming in the way you'll be getting your phone service. We want to talk with you about these changes. And answer some of the questions you may have been asking about South Central Bell.

Questions such as these:
Q. I've heard stories about "divestiture," and the telephone company splitting up. It's all very complicated. What's happening?

A. Simply put, AT&T has agreed to separate itself from the local operations of its 22 Bell operating telephone companies. So in the future, South Central Bell will no longer be affiliated with AT&T.

Q. If South Central Bell doesn't have AT&T behind it, won't the quality of my telephone service be affected?

A. You can expect the same dependable service you have now. And you'll have the same dedicated people standing behind it. You'll also have more options than ever before in terms of equipment, services and suppliers.

Q. What will happen to my local rates? Is it true they're going to skyrocket?

A. Your rates are not going to skyrocket. They may continue to go up, but not because of the separation from AT&T. Increases in our costs are the main reason. For example, inflation causes increases in the cost of services and goods we use to provide phone service. And new technology in telecommunications makes it necessary for us to replace some equipment faster than in the past. Local rates will have to go up to cover part of these increased costs.

Q. Will South Central Bell be allowed to charge whatever it wants for local calls?

A. No. Local rates will still be regulated by the state's public service commission. And at South Central Bell, we will continue to do everything we can to keep these rates as low as possible.

Q. Where will I get my telephone in the future? And who will fix it in case something goes wrong or it breaks?

A. At some time in the future, you will be able to get phones from an AT&T subsidiary, other phone suppliers or possibly South Central Bell. Repair of phone equipment likely will be provided by the company that supplies the equipment. South Central Bell will continue to maintain your local telephone lines.

You may have more questions about the changes at South Central Bell. And we want to make it easy for you to get answers.

So give us a call toll free at 1 800 555-5000, 10 a.m. - 11 p.m., Central Time, Monday through Friday. We're ready to talk.

HRMC Blood Drive

By PAT PHILLIPS
Blood is a lot like a parachute. If it's not there when you need it, chances are you will never need it again. Anytime you assist in your community blood program you have agreed to fill part of the daily blood need. Hospitals are counting on you. A blood donation is a commitment to the patients of this region. And each of us—you, your family, your friend—is a potential blood recipient who someday may need that "parachute".

Highlands Regional Medical Center is conducting a blood drive in the Inservice Classroom on Tuesday, December 7 from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. All interested may make an appointment by calling Billie Goble at 886-8511.

The Prestonsburg Donor Station is having its Second Annual DONORAMA on December 21 and 23, 12 Noon to 9 p.m., in an effort to avoid a shortage during the holiday season. Last year 62 donors answered the appeal and the goal is 100 this year. Many of the people who helped last year will be asked again to help make it very successful again.

You can call 886-1557 to make an appointment to give the precious gift of life. If you needed blood to live, would you or could you understand if there was no blood available for you? It could happen. The transfusion rate in 1982 is up 25% over 1981 and the number of donations have declined nationwide. Donations at the donor station (to Nov. 23) stand at 1,112 for 1982.

Discusses PCC Program

Susan G. Stopher, education director of the Kentucky Real Estate Commission, recently visited Prestonsburg Community College to discuss the curriculum, the budget, the personnel and other aspects of the two-year Real Estate Management Program offered by the college.

Prestonsburg Community College has been offering Real Estate courses and the two-year Real Estate Management Program for eight years. During these years, the Kentucky Real Estate Commission has given financial resources and consultative services to the institution to provide real estate educational opportunities for the Big Sandy valley. Approximately 500 individuals have taken at least one or more real estate courses at the college.

Miss Stopher said, "Prestonsburg Community College has a viable academic Real Estate Program as well as well-qualified and experienced faculty members." She is visiting all educational institutions throughout the state that offer real estate courses or a real estate degree program.

Personal Challenge And The Discovery Of a Civilization

A journey to the top of the world and the disappearance of a civilization from the face of the earth are the features of two programs, Wednesday, December 15, on KET.

In the first program, Jim Wickmire, who has scaled some of the highest mountains known to man, takes us to the visually breathtaking Alaskan Fairweather Range in "In The Shadow Of The Mountains," airing 9:30 p.m. (ET). The program follows an alpine expedition to heights in excess of 20,000 feet. Wickmire ruminates on his climbing successes, his failures and his assault on Mt. McKinley during which he was injured and his companion died.

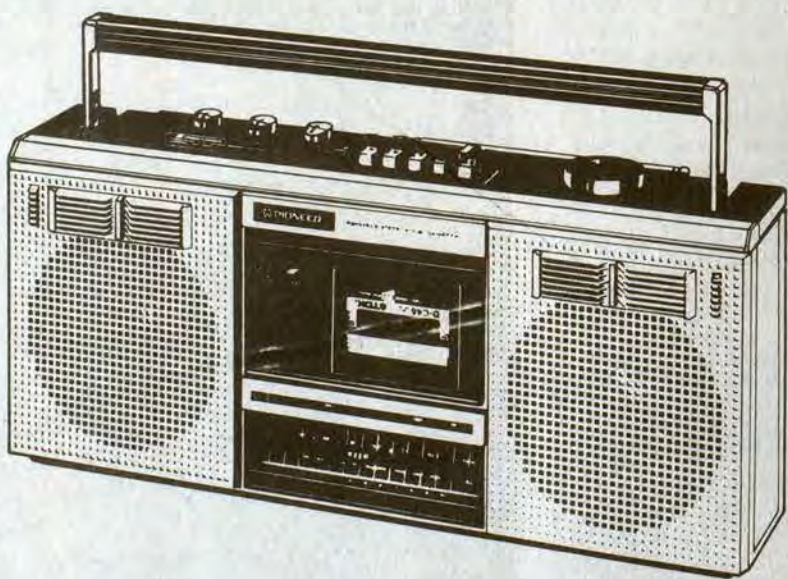

"The Sun Dagger," at 10 p.m. (ET) shows how ancient American Indians used science, art and religion to predict the summer and winter solstices and spring and fall equinoxes. Narrated by actor Robert Redford, the program examines this remarkable achievement by a society which had no awareness of advanced mathematics. "In The Shadow Of The Mountains" is produced by KCTS/Seattle.

Harvco Operator Arraignment Set

A Johnson county coal operator, one of three mine owners accused of fleeing town though they still owed some $36,000 in pay to 17 Floyd miners, has been arrested.

Harry Cook, of Thelma, was booked on a charge of failure to pay employee wages, a Class D felony. He is free on bond and is scheduled for arraignment on Dec. 3.

Identical warrants were issued for the other two mine owners, Doug Roland and Steven Harvey, both of Columbus, Ohio. Neither has yet been found by law officers.

According to a civil suit filed by the miners against Harvco Mining Co., the firm began operations on Sept. 1, promising to pay employees between $10 and $12 an hour. The company worked deep mines on Mud Creek and Prater Creek under an agreement with Bebe Coal Corp.

Payment to the miners turned out to be sporadic at best and, when the mine owners disappeared Nov. 5, they owed many of the men between $2000 and $3000, it is alleged.

WAYLAND

District Governor Speaks

Members of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club, along with their guests from the Drift and Wheelwright Woman's Clubs, enjoyed turkey and all the trimmings on the evening of November 15 at the Allen Central High School luncheon. Seventh District Governor Guialene Smith, of Pikeville, spoke on "Federation".

According to Governor Smith, in 1868 an enterprising newspaper woman was refused admittance to a news reporters' convention because she was a woman. Feeling angry and degraded for being put down merely because of her sex, she decided to start a woman's club, which she did, and by 1889 it had grown to the extent that it had become the General Federation of Women's Clubs and its theme, "Unity in Diversity," had been chosen, a theme which still is used today by the G.F.W.C. At the convention in 1890, 67 delegates from 18 states attended, and today there are 10 million members in the General Federation comprised of representatives from 46 countries with 16 international federations. There are a half-million members in this country.

The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, which is affiliated with the General Federation, was started in 1894 on June 10 in Lexington, reported Mrs. Smith. At that time there were 16 original clubs. There are now 247 clubs with a membership of 12,000 in Kentucky.

The host club president, Mrs. Otto Martin called attention to the fact that the learning disabled students at the high school had made the decorative turkeys and fodder shocks on the dessert bar. She also thanked Marsella Bradley and Marie Mullins for decorating the tables. She passed around for signatures a letter to Congressman Carl D. Perkins, asking him to try to do something about the high rates for natural gas, and she also reported that she had had a reply to her letter to Governor Brown concerning drunk drivers, with the promise from him that he would be behind stiffer legislation in the event of a special session of the Legislature.

Those attending the dinner meeting were District Governor Guialene Smith, and her mother, Mrs. Louise Polly, of Pikeville; Ruby Akers, Christine Kidd, Charlene Blankenship, Celia Little, Lynn Stumbo, Sophia Cahill, Anna Sue Stumbo, of the Drift Woman's Club; Betty Mullins, Alma Souleyrette, Ruth Daniels, Margot Faine, Wheelwright Woman's Club; and Blanche Bamer, Anna Layne, Launce Dunfee, Avanelle Wells, LaFaye Hughes, Maxine Martin, Loretta M. Martin, Phyllis B. Honsell, Marsella Bradley, Mrs. Lula Coburn, Marie C. Mullins, and Libby Martin, Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club.

Rutherford Says Truckers 'Confused' As SB 144 Voided

A mountain truckers' spokesman last week called for a special legislative session to enact another bill that would allow overweight coal trucks to operate under a special fee system.

The previous version, Senate Bill 144, was passed earlier this year but voided by the state administration.

In an emotional speech to the Interim Transportation Committee, Wayne Rutherford, a former Pike county judge, who is now president of the Mountain Truckers Association, said the truckers are being treated like second-class citizens and sometimes "like common criminals."

"They are confused, angry and hurt," he said. "They are confused because they don't understand how SB 144 could be voted by administrative fiat. They are angry because of indications that some state officials may have acted in bad faith. They are hurt because their state government still denies them the dignity of doing their work legally."

Under SB 144, passed by the 1982 General Assembly, coal operators would have paid for the required special permits and would have filed planned routes and other data required.

However, after a large delegation of truckers from Eastern Kentucky converged on Frankfort recently and demanded improvements, Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. said that the measure was severely flawed. Then the state Transportation Cabinet declared that the law was invalid and would not be enforced.

Pre-Nuptial Tribute For Miss Ligon

Mrs. J. C. B. Auxier and Mrs. Robert Auxier, of Prestonsburg, and Miss Mary Luck, of Grayson, Ky., granddaughter of Mrs. J. C. B. Auxier, presided as very attractive hostesses on Thursday evening of the past week, when they gave an elegant dinner as a pre-nuptial tribute, honoring Miss Sallye Gatewood Ligon who was married Saturday, September 10, to Mr. John Randolph Clark, of Charleston, W. Va.

The sumptuous dinner was given at the Hotel Elizabeth and was especially lovely in every detail. Soon after the guests had assembled, they were escorted into the spacious dining room, which had been beautifully decorated for the occasion. Pink and white created a dainty color scheme. The table in the dining room was very artistically arranged with an Italian cut work cloth on the table, with pink and white flowers forming a beautiful center-piece being placed in small silver vases. Each guest found her place card, which, being read with their answers, was very amusing. The cards were suggestive of the prospective bride.

An elegant three-course dinner was served the large number of guests, who enjoyed participation in this lovely party.

The guest list follows:

Miss Ligon, Mrs. C. Y. Ligon, Mrs. H. D. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. M. O. Hankins and daughter, Louise, of Richmond, Va.; Mrs. B. P. Friend, Charleston, W. Va.; Mrs. Iley B. Browning and Mrs. C. L. Hutsinpiller, of Ashland; Mrs. Floyd P. Grace, Cumberland, Md.; Mrs. John Hensley, Henderson, Texas; Miss Elizabeth Gardner, Salyersville, Ky.; Mrs. Josie D. Harkins, Mrs. Alice G. Hopkins, Mrs. Frank H. Layne, Mrs. Waid Cross, Mrs. Martin Leete, Mrs. William Golden, Misses Mae Beam, Nell Allen and Mary Elizabeth Auxier.

IN CELL NUMBER FOUR

BY RAY STEPHENS

"I have murdered men and stole from them, Have lived with crime and vice; But with a smile that will be grim, I, with my life will pay the price."

These words from the mouth of Benny Gardner,

Came slowly, and with increasing dreariness; He told of the life he loved so dear, And a sinning past crowded with weariness.

While in his youth he strayed from home, And left his mother dear to him; To see the world and in it roam, To grieve his mother and her glory bedim.

"I was a fool to leave my home, and go To enter this wild, carefree life. But I was young and little did know Of the unhappiness caused by strife"

Tears flowed freely from his dark blue eyes, And fell languidly upon the floor; For he thought of his mother's sad cries, And he behind the walls of Cell Number Four.

"Don't ever tell her how you found me, Let her forget her wayward boy; Tell her that I still am free, And let her gloom change to joy.

"Tomorrow from this world I depart, And leave the dominion of crime, But in my throbbing, burning heart, I long for mother, so good and so kind.

"I never could realize until now, The usefulness of her loving cares, But now I know why and how I was the object of her prayers.

"Young men, a mother is kind and true, They always know what is best to do; And in their hearts they pray for you, And have a love unequalled by few.

"I haven't long to live this life, But I can offer advice to others: To never enter into murderous strife, But heed the advice of your loving mothers."

Fred Bailey was a business visitor here from Garrett Wednesday morning. Mr. Bailey, his father, G. W. Bailey, and Kendall Moore have taken charge of the W. J. Sutton store at Garrett, and are re-stocking it with merchandise after repairing the building. Messrs. Bailey and Moore also have a store at Northern. The store at Bosco, owned by G. W. and Fred Bailey, will be continued under its present management.

ROCK ON

By Ethlie Ann Vare

REVIEWS

The Roches — "Keep on Doing" (Warner Bros.) — The Roche sisters — Maggie, Terre and Suzy — have angelic voices and decidedly impish minds. Their latest album, produced by King Crimson's Robert Fripp, features gentle ballads segued against Go-Go's harmonies, for a mix that's special and appealing.

Talk Talk — "The Party's Over" (EMI) — If Talk Talk's mini-LP debut sounded like a cross between the Police and Led Zeppelin, their first complete album sounds like a mixture of Roxy Music and the Human League. The guitar-less band from England shines when they have a good, catchy tune to sing such as "Today," an excellent example from this collection.

George Harrison — "Gone Troppo" (Dark Horse) — Who would have expected this upbeat, joking collection from the notoriously dour Harrison? "Gone Troppo" means "a little wacky from living in the tropics too long", and a knee-slapper of a song like "I Really Love You" hints that Harrison, in fact, may be spending his vacations in Serendipity. And you know what? It's just the balance he needed.

Pat Benatar — "Get Nervous" (Chrysalis) — Tougher than Rindy Ross! Sexier than Sheena Easton! More powerful than a locomotive! Yes, of all the Pat Benatar clones, the absolute best is Pat Benatar. Now if she'd only make a tiny stab at being the slightest bit original, if only she'd stretch her imagination the way she does her multi-octave voice.

The Fabulous Thunderbirds — "T-Bird Rhythm" (Chrysalis) — T-Bird lovers — a limited but vocal bunch — have often wished this Texas band had a top-flight producer to bring their sound alive on vinyl. They finally got Nick Lowe — and you can't do much better. The new LP fuses blues, Motown, old-time rock 'n' roll and a lot of affection into a product as classy as the red '57 convertible that graces its cover.

Joni Mitchell — "Wild Things Run Free" (Geffen) — This is Joni Mitchell's most human album in a long time. Arcane and arch experimentation is modified into an earthy collection of songs about growing up, learning to love and enjoying rock 'n' roll. She even adds an old Leiber/Stoller tune, interpreted faithfully. You get the feeling that this is a record by a woman who is, for the first time, really happy with herself and her life. That's a great feeling to share.

Merle Haggard joined several other country music headliners in the recently completed 13-show country music TV series, "Kicker Country."

The shows were taped in New York City at the Ed Sullivan Theater.

Other featured artists included Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers, Calamity Jane, Ricky Skaggs, Alabama and Earl Thomas Conley.

The format included dance routines taped live in the 500-seat theater, plus live and taped segments of country acts in concert, in the studio and at home.

Jerry Reed has signed with Nashville's Top Billing Agency for booking representation. He plans to tour year-round, focusing more attention on maintaining a high level of personal appearance concerts at fairs and family-oriented events.

Reed, a Grammy Award winner, seems headed for another No. 1 with his current single, "The Bird."

The Oak Ridge Boys' newest single, "Thank God for Kids," was written by Eddy Raven, who is also enjoying success with his newest effort, "San Antonio Nights."

Eddy is concluding a long West Coast tour, which included concerts in Santa Barbara and Modesto, Cal., Portland, Ore., and Seattle.

Rumors are floating around the country music industry that record label executives are sitting up and taking notice of the recent trend being set by a relatively new chartmaker — Ricky Skaggs.

Merle Haggard

A year and a half ago, Skaggs had his first Epic album. Since that time, he has had four singles released from that album, all of them hits and two of them making it to No. 1.

What makes this feat even more unusual is that Ricky's music is not "Nashville-ish," but instead has a down-home country-bluegrass sound.

Skaggs says he's "as country as cornbread," and he intends to stay that way.

Super-picker Chet Atkins says the 28-year-old Skaggs "could save country music."

Hank Williams Jr. has done it again. He's broken his own record for the number of albums on the same label on the country album charts at the same time.

When his new "Greatest Hits" LP hit the charts, he had nine listed — his entire album output since signing with Elektra Records in late 1978.

Extension Service News

By DWIGHT E. LESLIE
Co. Ext. Agent for Agriculture
If you're a gardener or farmer who takes pride in your work and one who likes to maintain a sound soil fertility program, soil testing is one tool which you should not live without. Soil testing lets you know what your present soil fertility situation is and at the same time how that it can be improved upon. This means that you will save money through more efficient use of lime and fertilizer and at the same time your crop and vegetable yields will probably increase, resulting in a lower crop production cost.

This fall, right after harvest, is a good time to have your soil tested. Fall testing offers several advantages. Not only will you avoid next year's spring rush by sampling now, but you will have time to correct the fertility problem by spring or at least have an idea of what you need to plan for. If aglime is needed, it should be applied as soon as possible, thus giving it enough time to neutralize soil acidity problems before the next cropping season.

One key point to keep in mind about soil testing is that a few ounces of soil are chemically tested and that this later becomes the basis for fertilizing several tons of soil. If your test is to be accurate, it is absolutely necessary that a lot of care and effort be taken to assure that those few ounces of soil accurately represent the soil in the area which you plan to fertilize.

For more information on soil testing contact the Floyd County Extension Office at 886-2668 or come by the office which is located in the Courthouse Annex.

Christmas Tree Selection

In a few short weeks Christmas will be upon us and it is time once again for us to choose a Christmas tree. If you are planning to buy a tree which has been harvested, here are a few tips which should make your selection easier.

First of all, buy your tree early while you still have a good selection. Check the butt to see that it is straight, making it easier to place in the stand. Check the needles for pliability. If they are brittle or fall off when you touch them, it would be wise to choose another.

After purchasing the tree and before you take it inside your home, trim off an inch from the end of the trunk. This will aid in the up take of water from the container that you use for a stand. Be sure to keep the container replenished with water as needed to assure that the tree will not dry out.

If these ideas and practices are followed when you select your Christmas tree, it should stay fresh throughout the holiday period.
