

Court Sets Budget at $2,293,766

Roads and Salaries Big Items Budgeted Coming Fiscal Year

The Floyd fiscal court in less than five minutes last Friday adopted for the fiscal year beginning July 1 a budget of $2,293,766, but it wasn't as easy as all that. The budget had been in preparation for several weeks.

It now goes to the state local finance officer at Frankfort for approval or possible modification.

The court session, which was expected to draw a sizeable gathering of interested citizens, was attended by only six persons other than officials and their assistants. A bare quorum of the court attended: Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr. and Magistrates Lowell Samons and Eddie Caudill.

The road fund and official salaries are the two big items in the new budget. A total of $890,000 was budgeted for roads. Besides labor, materials, machinery repairs and other costs, this amount includes $140,000 earmarked for a county highway garage and $70,893 principal and interest due on a grader purchased in 1981 by the preceding county administration.

In an earlier discussion of the road budget, County Judge-Executive Lafferty said the entire county road program is now left to the county with no state assistance on engineering, planning or equipment. Federal revenue sharing and state severance funds mainly support the program, and Lafferty said severance funds dropped $10,000 this month as coal mining fell into a deep slump. It is feared this could be only the beginning of such losses which could complicate the budget.

Summer Work Cutback Made

After last week's grueling series of emergency sessions to avert the threat of a police walkout, it was little surprise that Monday evening's regular meeting of the Prestonsburg City Council was a short one. Still, some matters were dealt with—mostly talk of "belt-tightening" in terms of city expenditures.

City Manager David Evans explained that "we're looking for anything we can do to cut back," and toward this end the council approved three money-saving strategies. They included: —A reduction in expenditures for the city's summer work program for high school-age youths. According to the new plan, the number of employees would be reduced to 10 from last summer's total of 15, hours would be reduced from 40 per week to 32 (four days) for each worker, the entire program would last nine weeks instead of 10. Savings in this area would allow some revenue sharing funds, which provide salaries in the program, to be directed elsewhere.

Cheerleader Dispute Upstages Bd. Agenda

At least 60 persons crowded the Floyd County Board of Education conference room at the board's meeting last Wednesday night. Although the hiring of teachers and other school system personnel was a top priority item on the agenda, most of those present were there to hear and be heard in the cheerleader controversy at Allen Central High School. And there they stayed, some sitting on the floor, until 10:30 when the meeting finally adjourned.

Mrs. Delores Dingus, who has filed suit in circuit court against the Floyd County Board of Education on behalf of her daughter, was represented at the meeting by her attorney, John Mann, while Mrs. Judy Sloan, English teacher and sponsor of the cheerleaders, James O. Dingus, principal of the school, and the Board of Education were represented by Jane Fitzpatrick, KEA attorney from Lexington. In the 15 minutes allotted each, views on both sides of the dispute were presented to the board in an effort to come to some agreement and thus avoid court action.

A POLICE WALKOUT, Thursday, idled all but one of the City's patrol cars.

Police Strike Off After Gripes Aired

It all began at 4 a.m. Thursday when the three Prestonsburg police officers who were scheduled to begin their shifts then failed to show. A strike on the part of the city police force, or "sickout" as it came to be referred to, was on and for 36 hours Prestonsburg would be without police protection, save for the patrol rounds of a central figure in the strike, Police Chief James Curtis.

Although talks between city officials and police officers would reveal that certain problems had existed between police and the 37-year-old Curtis since he came here to serve as police chief four months ago from Dundee, Fla., "it all just sort of happened, Wednesday afternoon," according to City Manager David Evans.

Exactly what happened Wednesday was the announcement by Chief Curtis that patrolman Randy Ferrell would be suspended for one day for chasing a drunken driver 10 miles beyond the city limits after the driver failed to stop at a traffic light. Curtis had placed a five-mile limit on such pursuits, it was pointed out. Two other officers, Detective David Caudill and patrolman Greg Hall, were also involved in the chase which took place about two weeks ago, but were not notified of suspension.

Because of Ferrell's suspension and the feeling on the part of police officers, including Caudill and Hall, that all three policemen involved in the chase should have received equal treatment, the decision was made on the part of police to simultaneously succumb to a malady known as "blue flu."

Lacking the services of its police force, Thursday, the city also found itself faced with the dismal prospect that all city employees, including members of the fire department, rescue service and sanitation department would vote to support the policemen by joining the walkout the following day.

While policemen talked in general terms, Thursday, of policies, attitudes and personality conflicts which, they said, had caused tensions within the department for some time, the officers were informed by the city council at a noon meeting, that day, that, acting on the advice of City Attorney Paul Preston Burchett, the city would require that any airing of complaints be done "by the book," and specified that police file a written request for a grievance hearing and then submit a list of grievances.

In nearly five hours of meetings, beginning at 11 a.m., Friday, the council served as mediator as both sides of the question were presented in different sessions through the day.

The police submitted a list of 15 grievances which were placed under three major headings. These were considered by the council, further discussion was carried out with Chief Curtis, and, finally, compromise was reached. First among police grievances was that of what the officers termed discrimination. The complaint referred specifically to the alleged selective punishment of Ferrell for the pursuit beyond the city limits, and the council

Martin Water Row Winds Up in Court

The continuing dispute about which direction the city of Martin should take to assure its residents and businesses a safe, adequate water supply reached the courts last week.

In one circuit court hearing the three water commissioners who recently resigned filed for and won a court order restraining their successors named by Mayor Larry B. Hall from interfering in the operation and management of the Martin waterworks until a "legal" board of commissioners is appointed.

Next, Mayor Hall was summoned to court last Thursday in a mandamus ac-

Search of River Continues After Woman Missing

For the third consecutive day the search of the Big Sandy river continued from Boldman downriver into this county for the body of a woman who, State Police believe, may have judged or fallen last Sunday from the bridge spanning the stream at Boldman.

Dragging operations failing, a diving team from the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad was scheduled to join the search Tuesday afternoon. The river is high and muddy, and to reduce its volume for the diving effort the flow of water from Fishtrap Reservoir was cut off at 4:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The missing woman is Mrs. Betty Jane Brewer Cole, about 40, of Pike county, formerly of the Mud Creek section of this county. She was last seen at 6 p.m. Saturday at the Pikeville "cut-through," and her auto was found Sunday morning on the Boldman bridge by a Pike county deputy sheriff. She wore a long, black wig, and it was found in wire netting at the side of the span.

State Police are not discounting the possibility that the woman may not be in the river. They have sealed the room which she, her husband and two children occupied in a Pikeville motel. The room, it was said, was in disarray but there was no indication of violence.

The husband reportedly left last week, returning to California where the family resided until recently, and their son was visiting in Louisville when his mother was reported missing. Only a seven-year-old daughter remained in Pikeville.

Relatives, hoping that she may yet be living, described Mrs. Cole as 5 feet, eight in height and weighing about 170 pounds. She had blond hair and was wearing blue jeans when last seen.

State Detective Robert O. Forsythe is leading the investigation of her disappearance.

'Cycle Wreck Fatal to One

A 21-year-old Wheelwright man was pronounced dead-on-arrival at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital, late Friday afternoon after his motorcycle left the roadway in Wheelwright and crashed into the porch of a Branham Hollow residence.

According to Wheelwright Police Chief Larry Goble, the victim, Teddy Meade, Jr., was apparently traveling through Wheelwright at a high rate of speed when his motorcycle ran off the road in the Branham Hollow area. The cycle reportedly vaulted onto the porch post with the rear of the bike hitting the guttering of the roof. The motorcycle then crashed into a chair in which the elderly Johnson had been sitting only minutes earlier, and came to rest at the front entrance of the house. Goble said he and Coroner Roger Nelson determined that the cycle skidded 96 feet before leaving the road, and he added that the victim was not wearing a helmet at the time of the crash.

First aid was administered and the victim was taken to the McDowell hospital by the Left Beaver Ambulance Service. Head injuries and a broken neck were pointed to as the cause of death.

McDowell Man Dead, Sons Shot; Hall Held Here

Three weapons—a shotgun and two heavy calibre rifles—were used by one man in the slaying Monday morning of a McDowell man and the wounding of two of his sons, authorities said.

Dead at the scene was Ed Ray Moore, 53, of McDowell, a disabled veteran, whose head and body were riddled by gunfire to the extent that officers had not yet determined how many times he was shot. His body was sent to Louisville for an autopsy Tuesday by the state medical examiner.

Moore's two sons were wounded—James, 28, in a leg and arm, and Ricky, 21, in the hand. James Moore was said to be in good condition at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin. His brother was taken to Jewish Hospital, Louisville, for repair of bone damage.

Arrested at the scene and brought to jail here by State Troopers Dudleson and Sizemore was Price Hall, about 40, also of McDowell.

State Police Detective Keith Scott said the investigation of the shooting is yet incomplete. Both he and Deputy Coroner Glenn Frazier said they had learned that Hall and Moore had argued during the day and had been involved in an ongoing dispute, possibly over a vehicle.

The shooting took place at 11:20 a.m., in the roadway in front of the McDowell telephone exchange, Hall apparently firing from his pickup truck into a pickup occupied by the Moores. Several persons, including a railroad work crew, were near the scene and

A YEAR OLDER—ALMOST

But for the thoughtfulness of old friend Bill Mayhew, another birthday would have come and gone, unrecognized, unsung and, I suppose, unregretted. Mr. Mayberry writes from Port St. Joe, Fla. to remind me that the Floyd County Times will attain the rather mature age of 55, come Friday the 18th.

If we can make it another 20 years, maybe the Postal Service will give us a rate break as a senior citizen.

Thinking back, I recall that somebody made the sage observation that time flies. I might add another: It has just up and went.

WE PLAY A SORRY ROLE

I am one of these unfortunate who rises of a morning by sections, so to speak, rather than bouncing into action, and wanders around in a fog till the breakfast coffee, giving my early morning imitation of both the Great Stone Face and the Sphinx. Then I hit the outside air, and every bird that can sing a note greets me and shames me into awareness.

Neeley Under Bond As Brother Wounded; Hall Free on Bond

Ronnie D. (Pedro) Neeley, 43, was released from jail here under $20,000 bond last Thursday after he had waived to the grand jury the charge lodged against him in the shooting last Tuesday night of his brother, Marvin, about 30, at the home on Salt Lick, near Hueysville, of their father, Chester Neeley.

The wounded man was reported shot one time in his abdomen and critically wounded, but his condition was later reported at Highlands Medical Center here as stable after surgery.

Relatives of the brothers were quoted by officials here as saying the defendant "had to do it (the shooting)."

The shooting of Neeley followed by a few days the slaying near Teaberry of David Akers by his father-in-law, Herbert Hoover Hall. Hall has been charged with murder and released under $15,000 bond to answer to grand jury action. His release followed the hearing of district court testimony by State Police Detective Robert O. Forsythe, who said he was told Akers had a stick in his hand when shot. Another version of the shooting claimed, however, that he was not armed with a stick. It also was noted that Akers had "beat up" his wife, Hall's daughter, and had a "bad reputation for violence."

Firemen Curb Laundromat Blaze

Firemen fight to restrict flames to second story of Auxier road building damaged by fire, Friday afternoon.

The quick response of area firefighters is credited with controlling a blaze that threatened for a time Friday the destruction of a two-story building on the Auxier road.

The fire was reported at about 1:30 p.m. after Mrs. Rona Bartley, an Auxier road resident who was drying clothes in a laundromat housed in the building, saw smoke in the ceiling area. A unit from the nearby Auxier Volunteer Fire Department arrived at the scene in a short time and fought to control flames, which had erupted from the second-story of the building, until added men and equipment arrived from the Prestonsburg Fire Department. Additional units from Paintsville and Allen also assisted in the effort.

Four apartments located above the laundromat were completely destroyed in the blaze, although the adjacent Highland Market, owned by Shalious Hall, sustained only light smoke damage, it was said. Most of the washers and dryers in the laundromat, which is owned by Robert DeRossett, of Prestonsburg, were saved. However, some fire damage and considerable smoke damage were reported. A spokesman for the Prestonsburg Fire Department estimated damage at about $50,000.

The fire is believed to have originated in the ceiling of the laundromat, although lint combustion in one of the machines has been considered as a possible source, it was said.

Two Prestonsburg firemen, James Spears and Paul Burke, were treated and released from Highlands Regional Medical Center after suffering minor injuries in fighting the blaze.

HOW CAN A "MEMORY BOOK" HELP MY CHILD?

When a child's father (or mother) dies, talking about the child's concerns and relieving his anxieties about the loss are important in working-through the grief experience. The "Memory Book" is an effective device for this.

It is a scrapbook-and-keepsake in which the children may write down their memories of their parent or, if the children are too young to write, have the parent write as the children "talk it out."

The "Memory Book" helps because, in it, the children openly relate their shared experiences, feelings and remembrances. The remembering and talking about the deceased parent offers the proper outlet for grieving... and understanding and accepting the fact of the loss.

Photos of the parent may be put in the book, especially if the pictures include the children, thus aiding recall and discussion. The activity, itself, is important. It puts everything out in the open and into family talk. It will assist in providing good and stable remembrances of the deceased parent as the children grow up.

Tackett Speaks At Pike College

Students enrolled in the Pikeville College Upward Bound Program were given a special treat June 3 when Marlow Tackett spoke to them during an assembly program in Chrisman Auditorium. Glenda Tackett, counselor in Special Services, and Russell McIntosh, director of the Upward Bound program at the college, presented a certificate to Tackett on behalf of the Upward Bound Program which stated, "This is to certify our thanks to Marlow Tackett for contributing valuable time and community service in furthering the education of the young people of eastern Kentucky."

"I was pleased and honored to be asked to speak to the Upward Bound Program," Tackett said. He left home at the age of 16 to work in a cabinet factory, unable to complete his education because of financial obligations to his family of 13. Although Tackett was working in various jobs, he realized that he had been given talent as a musician and singer and his greatest ambition was to pursue that career. Tackett added, "I am determined to do what I set out to do...to be somebody."

He stressed the importance of an education and encouraged the students to pursue what they set out to do. "We are what we make ourselves to be and with determination all young people can become a successful as well as a productive person in society."

Tackett recently signed a contract with RCA and his new hit song, "Ever Lovin' Woman," is being aired nationwide.

Approximately 80 students from the Big Sandy region will be involved in the Upward Bound program at Pikeville College for the next six weeks. The high school students, freshmen through seniors, are enrolled in high school classes, taught by local high school teachers, on the college campus. Bridge students, those who have graduated from high school as of 1982, are enrolled in one or two college classes on campus. These classes will prepare them for a better knowledge of their curriculum in the fall. Providing experiences and exposure to new educational and social opportunities, the students will be involved in several activities which include swimming parties, cookouts, movies, sport tournaments, dances, as well as listening to community speakers such as Dr. Pauline Fox, Richard Elswick, Bill Weinberg, Dr. Larry Stanley. Office Supply Scam Warning Is Issued

Atty. Gen. Steven L. Beshear announced today that his Consumer Protection Division is alerting state agencies and businesses to be on the lookout for telephone solicitors representing themselves to be the agency's or business' normal supplier for office supplies.

According to Beshear, the solicitor attempts to induce the agency to order large quantities of office supplies before an imminent price increase goes into effect, when in fact, the price for the office supplies is often several times that charged by central stores or the agency's or business' normal suppliers.

Several California-based companies have contacted the Attorney General's Office and other Frankfort offices with this scheme. If a member of your agency or business is approached with such a proposal, try to get the caller's name and address and contact the Attorney General's Office, Consumer Protection Division, 209 St. Clair Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601-1875.

DO WE REALLY WANT MORE ALCOHOL SALES IN FLOYD COUNTY?

13 QUESTIONS OF CONCERN FOR OUR COMMUNITY

QUESTION 1: Does the law allowing Ashland, Kentucky, to place a sales tax on alcoholic beverages apply to the city of Prestonsburg?

ANSWER: No. This law applies only to a second class city and Ashland is the only second class city in Kentucky.

QUESTION 2: Can the city of Prestonsburg and/or Floyd County put a sales tax on alcoholic beverages?

ANSWER: No, but the city can impose a license fee. KRS number 243.070 states: "The city legislative body of any city in which traffic in alcoholic beverages is not prohibited under KRS 242 may impose license fees for the privilege of manufacturing and trafficking in alcoholic beverages. The fees imposed shall not exceed twice the amount of the fees imposed in KRS 243.030 and 243.040 for such licenses. Statute allows a fee which cannot exceed twice amount set out, $300.00 (2x300=600). Beer fees can only be $200.00. (This ruling is based upon Attorney General's ruling.)"

QUESTION 3: Could beer and wine be consumed and sold during the Red, White and Blue and July 4th Celebrations?

ANSWER: KRS number 343.90 states a malt beverage special temporary license shall authorize the sale of malt beverages at retail for consumption on the premises of any regularly organized fair or racing association for a particular fair, race or race meeting conducted by the association, or for special temporary occasions such as picnics, bazaars and carnivals. The issuance or refusal of a malt beverage special temporary license and the exercise of the privilege granted by the license shall be subject to such regulations as the department may in each particular case deem necessary."

QUESTION 4: Will making the sale of alcoholic beverages legal, stop bootlegging sales?

ANSWER: No. If it does, it will be the only county in the state without bootleggers. There is bootlegging and the illegal sale of alcoholic beverages in every county in Kentucky, wet or dry. If our young people can get alcoholic beverages now in Floyd County, then why would the bootlegger give up this business because of legal sales? Also studies show that young people get their older friends to purchase alcohol for them from the so-called legal joints.

QUESTION 5: How many beer establishments will be allowed in the city of Prestonsburg and out in the county?

ANSWER: Unlimited. This includes beer joints, bars, saloons, taverns, wild road houses and all night honky-tonks. There could be hundreds of these joints.

QUESTION 6: Will grocery stores and service stations be allowed to sell beer and wine?

ANSWER: Yes, KRS number 243.280 states: "(1) A malt beverage retailer's license shall authorize the licensee to sell malt beverages at retail from the licensed premises only and to purchase malt beverages only from a brewer or distributor." They must have $5,000 in grocery stock, so most any small grocery would qualify.

QUESTION 7: Can beer and wine be consumed in restaurants?

ANSWER: Yes, KRS number 243.032 states: (1) A restaurant license may be issued to an applicant who is an owner or lessee of a restaurant which receives fifty percent (50%) or more of its gross annual income from the sale of food and has a minimum seating capacity of fifty (50) people at tables. This would include most all restaurants in Floyd County other than some small fast food outlets.

QUESTION 8: Could beer be consumed at city ball parks and county parks?

ANSWER: Yes. Please refer to answer under question number 3.

QUESTION 9: Would the availability of liquor stores in Floyd County decrease the sale of liquor?

ANSWER: No. The easier it is to secure the more people will buy it. Then our young adults begin to accept alcoholic beverages as wholesome drinks because joints are on every corner.

QUESTION 10: Would making the sale of alcoholic beverages legal in Floyd County increase the number of drunk drivers?

ANSWER: Yes. In over fifty percent (50%) of all fatal accidents in Kentucky in 1981, alcohol was the contributing factor.

QUESTION 11: Would crime rate, bodily injury and property damage increase if we legalized the sale of alcoholic beverages?

ANSWER: Yes, it is likely that it would increase due to the nature of alcohol and the availability of liquor. Alcohol breeds crime and violence.

QUESTION 12: Will the legalized sales of alcoholic beverages mean a great amount of revenue to the community?

ANSWER: No. In the Attorney General's opinion (OAG 73-307) based upon KRS 139 and the case of George Wiedemann Brewing Company vs. the City of Newport, the court ruled "cities are confined to license fees as a source of revenue." The number of licenses and the type of licenses are determined by the state law and ABC Board Regulations. The license fees are set by the state law and local communities cannot impose any fees in excess of the limits set by law. It is an annual licensee fee paid for the privilege of selling alcoholic beverage and makes no difference how much is sold, the fee remains the same.

In a survey made a few years ago of license fees in Owensboro, it was found that approximately 1/10 of 1% of the city's budget came from license fees and that is not much revenue.

If the county has to hire just two or three new law enforcement officials to police the county and city, it would take about all of the license fees to pay the additional salaries.

QUESTION 13: Would a vote of "Yes" be a vote for legalized control?

ANSWER: A vote of "No" is the better vote for Legalized Control. A vote against the sale of Alcoholic Beverage is a vote in favor of the strictest control possible. A "No" vote means there cannot be a liquor store, cocktail lounge, beer tavern, etc., in your community, near your home or place of business. There is no way an individual citizen can know who will receive a liquor license or where they will be located. If you vote "Yes" every decision made about the sale of alcoholic beverages, the location of the outlets, the hours and type of sales, etc., will be decided by government officials and the state legislators.

Vote "NO" for the strictest possible control a citizen can have.

Mrs. Sloan said that she had done everything possible to avoid any misunderstanding or charge of bias. She also pointed out that the changes in rules were known some weeks before the competition and that no objections had been made prior to the judging.

One objection heard was that a part of the competition was said to be optional and that the girls competing were told that if they did not take part it would not count against them. But, it was said, when the scores were tallied, there were 300 points and these included the optional category's 20 points. Mrs. Dingus said that her daughter did not participate in this part since she had been told that it would not count.

At the conclusion of the opposing presentations, the board went into closed session about an hour. Resuming the open meeting, W.W. Burchett, attorney for the board, suggested that the girls themselves seek a solution to the problem. In his opinion, he said, it seemed that they might divide into two teams which would alternate in cheering for the boys' and girls' teams. In any event, he said, "You should remember, a good agreement beats a lawsuit." And, he continued, "if you don't reach a solution to this problem in the next two weeks, you will be in court."

Ronald Hager, assistant superintendent, reported that the school system had, for the past two years, had two units for gifted and talented children. Last year, state funding was in amount $39,000. Next year, 1983-84, the county will be eligible for three units and another $19,500 in funding. This must be applied for not later than June 30, and is based on enrollment, countywide, through the third grade.

School will begin August 16 (Monday). The following day will be for teachers only, with students returning to classes on Wednesday. Christmas vacation is set to begin December 22, the first official day of winter, and return Monday, January 3. The term is scheduled to end May 11—if no time is lost.

Supt. Grigsby said that some teachers not rehired will be rehired later if funding is sufficient.

Resignation or retirement of 16 certified teachers was accepted. The 16 are Elmer Martin, Ruth Rainey, Mabel Tuttle, Evelyn Warrick, Velve Hall, Cosetta Newsome, Pearl Newsome, Maggie Howell, Billie Little, Draxie Newsome, T.C. May, Marguerite Harmon, Phyllis Howard, Mary Ann Riddle, Earleeta Stamper, Wallace Ratliff. The board's central office personnel was unchanged. The following were re-employed, on recommendation of Supt. Grigsby:

Wayne W. Ratliff, as transportation director, and John Campbell, Jr., as assistant director; Ned Bush, health coordinator; Gordon Moore, Roberta Davidson, Anna Sue Stumbo and Ulysses Horne as supervisors; Blanche Dingus, as food service director; Phillip Dingus and Estill Hall, as directors of pupil personnel, with Mildred Kendrick and Denzil Halbert as visiting teachers with the Department of Personnel; Larry Jervis, as school psychologist if EHA funds are available; James F. Francis, as physical education coordinator; Audrey Pratt, as special education consultant; Eloise A. Hall, as N.Y.C. director, and Dan Collins as NYC work training coordinator.

(The list of teachers employed appears elsewhere in this edition.)

The council was also pleased on receipt of a check from the state for $21,439 toward payment for construction of racquetball courts at Archer Park. The state funds are long overdue, according to Councilman Dick Clark, as the result of a "mixup between the federal government, the Department for Local Government and the state auditing department." Clark stressed that the city was appreciative, however, "regardless of when the money comes," and he expressed confidence that "we can get the courts open by July 1." About $15,000 in additional funds still remain to be received.

In other business, the council approved the addition of Estill Newsome, of Prestonsburg, and Richard Allen Adkins, of Betsy Layne, to the city's auxiliary police force, and moved to allow the return of Chuck Akers to the auxiliary force following a leave of absence.

are believed to have witnessed the shooting.

Two rifles, one of .30 calibre and the other .270-calibre, and a shotgun were found inside Hall's truck. Three empty shotgun cartridge cases, four of .270-calibre and several .30-calibre empties were found.

By the time the shooting had ended all three of the Moore's were outside their truck—the father, dead at the rear of his vehicle. One of his sons, it was said, made his way to a nearby grocery store and the other to a residence.

No weapon was found in the Moore truck or on either of its occupants, both the state detective and the deputy coroner said.

Frazier said he counted 22 bullet holes in the Moores' pickup.

Hall was booked on a murder charge and on two counts of first-degree assault. No date for his arraignment in district court had been set Tuesday morning.

The alleged slayer was self-employed and formerly was an end-loader operator for the county road department.

conceded that "since regulations have been in effect for some time, there should be no discrimination." As a result of the ruling, it was decided that Hall and Caudill, as well as Ferrell, receive one-day suspensions for chase outside the City.

In a separate grievance related to chasing a subject beyond city limits according to the discretion of the officer, police contended that they should be allowed to pursue beyond set limits and pointed to a state law which permits pursuit as long as the suspect is in sight. However, a spokesman for the city pointed out that the council had passed a resolution on recommendation of Workmen's Compensation that police should not pursue beyond the city limits. Chief Curtis, it was said, extended that to a five mile perimeter.

The officers' grievances also charged harassment and claimed that Chief Curtis regularly played "cat and mouse" games "trying to catch officers not doing their job." The police objected to alleged threats on the part of Curtis that officers would be suspended or terminated "if they violate 'his' General Orders." Too, it was charged that Curtis had told other city employees, unrelated to the police department that "Officers Campbell and Ferrell are trouble makers." Curtis was additionally branded with making public reprimands.

To charges of harassment, the council ruled that the "Chief has the duty to correctly supervise the officers in his department to determine if the department directives are being carried out."

Among general complaints, it was charged that Chief Curtis had failed, more than once, to provide officers with needed assistance. Two incidents, including an assault case at Cliffside Apartments, were cited where, it was claimed, Curtis did not respond.

The council agreed to discuss with the chief "that he has the responsibility to respond to officer assistance calls also."

Police said Curtis had told them "if we had any complaints against him or the department, we were not to bring it to the attention of the City Manager, Mr. Evans, and we were not to consult with him concerning any police matter."

It was charged that Chief Curtis violated his own general order by using city vehicles and police cruisers for personal use by taking them out of the city limits. "If he writes these orders, he should also have to abide by his own rules. He should set an example," the grievance said.

In response, the council agreed to write a policy concerning use of all city vehicles.

Police objected to the fact that Curtis had split the city into two patrol sectors and called the policy "a hindrance in performing our duties," and "another way of harassment."

To this grievance, council agreed to "review problem of coverage to the entire City, including division into sectors."

To a request to extend lunch breaks from 35 minutes to an hour, with four 15 minute breaks in addition, a compromise 45 minutes and three breaks were agreed upon.

The department complained that a detective position (that held by Caudill) was not needed and called it "a waste of city tax money." Their grievance claimed that "each officer is fully capable of doing his own investigative claimed that "each officer is fully capable of doing his own investigative work."

In response, it was agreed that council representatives will review the necessity of a full-time detective with the department.

Although City Manager Evans said "there are some administrative-type communication problems," that will take some time to work out, Friday's sessions adequately satisfied Prestonsburg's policemen so that they returned to work for the 4 p.m. shift that day.

One Prestonsburg policeman explained that a certain degree of ill feeling existed even before Curtis, a Floyd county native, arrived here from a police chief position in Florida. On a force that already contained two former Prestonsburg police chiefs, the hiring of a chief from a distant state eroded morale, it was said.

A bright note among last week's tense situation was the fact that no increase in criminal activity was noticed during the widely-publicized police walkout.

"We're going to do the best we can with what we have," he said... "do grading work and spread as much gravel as possible."

The road appropriation included $85,000 for the county's part of social security, retirement, workmen's compensation and unemployment contributions.

Salary appropriations, which in most cases included salaries of assistants, cost of materials, etc., listed $85,441 for the office of the judge-executive; $35,400 for the office of the county attorney, including $4800 for the district court; county clerk, $15,094; $16,800 for law-enforcement, mainly to the sheriff; $110,000 for the jail fund; $25,560 for the county planner; $12,300 for the tax commissioner; $7000 for the commonwealth's attorney; $97,775 for the four magistrates; county treasurer, $23,426; auditor, $3000; coroner, $13,050; personnel officer, $21,670; purchasing officer, $16,614.

Approximately $138,000 was budgeted for utilities for county buildings.

The budget was based on expected revenues of $200,000 tax receipts, $364,000 county road aid, $724,218 local government economic assistance, $336,848 revenue sharing, plus various other smaller sources of income.

At that, estimated receipts were short of the budget total, but $155,000 surplus from the current year's budget is added, balancing out proposed expenditures and estimated receipts.

The appropriation for each of the county's three senior citizens' centers was cut to $3000, half of the appropriation for the last year, but the court expressed the hope that further help would be possible later. "The state will not allow one penny overdraft," the judge explained. This policy, he said, was quite different than that in effect as recently as last January when a $197,000 overdraft existed. Directors of the three centers said the $3000 allowed each would suffice for only six months.

Dale Fugate, of the state auditor's office, presented the court audits of various county officials' offices and said that Ex-Sheriff Doug Lewis owed $20,843 in excess fees. It is the responsibility of the fiscal court, he explained, to collect this amount, since a 1976 act of the Legislature forbids courts to exonerate any excess fees collected. Fugate added that Ex-Sheriff Lewis has agreed with the correctness of the audit.

The court directed the county attorney to take action to collect.

John McCann, director of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association, told the court of the need to replace deteriorated canvas seats at the amphitheatre with seating of a permanent type. He said $7600 is needed, but the court made no commitment.

During the meeting the court: —Named Dixon Nunnery, of Prestonsburg, and James E. Jillon, of Ivel, to fill vacancies on the joint planning commission.

—Employed Stephen R. Allen as county auditor.

—Granted Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company permission to run a gas line along a county road but warned all who would do work that would effect any changes—build approaches, extend lines along or beneath highways—that permits are required and that they will be obliged to repair any damage.

Mini-Park Cause for Optimism

Sometimes it's a topsy-turkey world, but who cares?

Youngsters at mini-park go for a ride.

By ALICE O. MARTIN

There is, as yet, only a small sign to lead the way, but youngsters in search of wholesome pleasure have no problem finding the Right Beaver Mini-Park located on the grounds of the Garrett school. Sponsored by community leaders, Magistrate Kenneth Roberts and school administrator, Ralph O'Quinn, this recreational center, less than three years off the drawing board, even has provision for the handicapped among its facilities.

Enthusiasm for the project mounts with the steady addition of new equipment. First purchases made were merry-go-rounds, swings, animal springboards—even the alligator has a welcoming smile—and monkey bars. Shortly thereafter came basketball and tennis courts. Just recently completed is fencing for the Little League ball park, and colorful bleachers have been installed beyond the fence.

All this, with promise of more to come!

"We need outdoor lighting for the Little League ball park," says Mr. O'Quinn. "That is the current project we're working on. Next," he continues as he points toward an empty lot, "we're going to build some picnic tables and barbecue pits over there. Later on, we may even manage a swimming pool."

The prevailing optimism expressed by O'Quinn with respect to the park is shared by many of the citizens in the community of Garrett and the surrounding areas that it serves.

One such person is Glema Moore, of Turkey Creek. Mrs. Moore has played on the tennis court herself—the park is open to the general public after school hours—and she thinks it's great. "Everybody who goes over there seems to enjoy it," was her comment.

Another citizen who finds the mini-park to his liking is Hawley Scott, of Stonecoal. The grandfather of 32, most of whom still live in Floyd county, Mr. Scott has several good reasons for periodic inspection of the park.

"I've been over there and I'm very much pleased with what has been done," he relates. "There's a lot of things for the kids to ride."

"Of course," he adds, "I'm not just concerned with what's being done in Garrett. I care about helping all the communities out."

Mr. Scott has proved his interest by cooperative planning with members of the Floyd county fiscal court, the governmental agency responsible for the building of such parks. Financed initially by grants from different state and federal as well as local funds, Right Beaver Mini-Park and three similar parks have been built and are currently in operation in the county. An additional park, this one to be located in the Auxier community, has already been funded and the completion date is set for 1983 or 1984.

Construction and maintenance of the mini-park system is expensive and County Planner Malcom Layne, whose office is involved with the project, was very specific when asked about additional support. "The general public can be of help in building these parks if interested companies or private individuals would donate to the parks," he says.

Joe Hancock, Manager of the Garrett Little League, is in agreement with the county planner and goes a step further by citing the need for contributions in the form of work. "Parents want their children to play and they ought to be willing to help out," he maintains. "I've bummed and borrowed to get things for the kids. There's so much that needs to be done. The backstop has to be finished and a concession stand built—you can't just go to a table and buy a lollipop the way kids did when I was growing up. Billboards for advertisements need to be painted and put up around the field. People like Mike Rister, 'Timbo' (Timothy) Lawson, Don Hurt, and Jerry Patton help, but we need others, too."

Mr. O'Quinn is in agreement with both the county planner and Hancock, and says he welcomes any contributions that hasten improvements at the park. He also relayed the information that the Right Beaver mini-park will remain open during the summer months.

"Hours will be daily from 9 a.m. through 10 p.m.," he says. "And park facilities can be scheduled by calling Manager Tim Yates, (358-3461)."

(Donations to the park can be made by contacting either County Planner Malcom Layne or County Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr., both of Prestonsburg, or Garrett Elementary School Principal Ralph O'Quinn.)

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Tony Edward Wells, who passed away June 6, 1976.

I visited the cemetery Memorial Day and placed flowers upon your grave. With tear-filled eyes, I stood and prayed, hoping we will meet in heaven some day.

I cannot help but wonder why that yet so young you had to die.

But I'm sure God knew best, for all He does, He does well.

SADLY MISSED BY PARENTS, EDWARD AND EULA MAE WELLS, DARRELL AND MIKE WELLS, AND CAROLYN TACKETT

Meade had reportedly moved back to this area about two weeks ago from out-of-state.

The victim was a son of Mrs. Rat Carroll Hall, of Wheelwright, and the late Ted Meade and was born April 12, 1961 at Halo.

Survivors, besides his mother, include his stepfather, Lacy Hall, of Wheelwright, and five sisters, Irene Stanley, Virginia Slone and Marie Hall, all of Wheelwright, Claudette Fairchild, of Prestonsburg, and Ella Jane Meade, of Yakima, Washington.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday at 11 a.m. at the Church of Christ at Weeksbury with Bennie Blankenship officiating. Burial was made in the Meade family cemetery at Deane, Ky. under the direction of the Merion Funeral Chapel.

Letters to the Editor

The views expressed here are those of the writers, and not necessarily those of this newspaper. No unsigned contributions will be published.

Alp of a Mountain Made of a Molehill

I have watched with alternate amusement and disgust as a positive Alp of a mountain has been made of a molehill. I am referring to the cheerleader controversies at Allen Central and Prestonsburg which seem to have infected the majorette competition at Betsy Layne.

I find the righteous indignation of the mothers amusing; you would think that it is they, not their children, who have suffered a defeat. And what defeats! Had these disappointed girls been rejected by the medical or law school of their choice for some unknown, sinister reason, I could understand this talk of law suits. After all, the child's desired future would then be at stake. But I should not say, "child" these are all young women now faced with what is probably their first real disappointment in a personal endeavor. And rather than treat the loss philosophically as a learning experience for their daughters, the mothers parade it through the newspapers and courtroom, crying "foul!" I am embarrassed for both mother and daughter.

If the same energy, the same righteous indignation that is being put into this absurd cause were expended on such issues as improving our educational system, repairing our roads, cleaning up the environment, lobbying for equal rights and an effective space program, promoting world peace or any other local or national concern, perhaps we would see real progress. That is what disgusts me. The issue at hand, whether one young woman or another gets to cheer or twirl, is so fundamentally meaningless that it is not an issue at all. If we must get angry or become indignant about something, let's make it something important, something that will positively affect the human condition.

In closing, I will simply say that this whole ridiculous mess reminds me of a statement by Elbert Hubbard: "Genius may have its limitations, but stupidity is not so handicapped."

Grateful for Help

Thanks to the Prestonsburg-Paintsville and Allen fire departments for their quick response and assistance on the fire at The Highland Laundromat and apartment complex. Without this assistance it would have been impossible for our department, with our limited equipment and manpower, to have kept the fire from spreading to Hall's Highland Market, the adjoining building. We especially thank the Prestonsburg department which we had to call on the second time.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank the members who worked so faithfully in our recent fund raising roadblock to make it the success that it was. We also thank the citizens and business establishments who contributed so generously, and especially the people who were just visiting in our community and supported our effort. To each, please accept our sincere thanks.

Seeks Old Army Buddy

I am looking for a World War II buddy. His name is Hegar (or Hager) Wright, and he said he was from Drift, Ky.

We were together for three years in World War II, in Africa, Sicily, Germany and Austria. We were discharged in October, 1945, and after that I never heard from him again.

I need medical care in a Veterans' hospital. I need his story as to what happened in the war. I was injured several times. My record was destroyed in the Micro-Film Department of the Army in St. Louis, Missouri. I can't receive any help unless I find some one that was with me when I was injured. Mr. Wright was with me every day for three years over there.

We won seven Bronze Stars, one Silver Star, one Bronze Arrowhead and five general citations, but these don't get a man medical care without a witness. If I could get Mr. Wright's address or the address of any of his relatives, it might be my only hope. I have so little to go on.

'The Lake of Filth'

"I do this day remember my faults," So say I, as did the chief baker to Pharaoh. We were delighted to read the editorial in last week's Times on pornography. It was excellent. Such a stand is a credit to any citizen, showing also the worth of the publication involved.

One thing is dead sure. Unless individuals band together and outlaw pornography, be sure your children will sink in a lake of filth.

There are two splendid groups that fight this evil. One is called Citizens for Decency through Law and Order (C.D.L.). (I cannot find the address.) The other is—Christian Voice, 418 C Street N.E. "Carriage House," Washington, D.C. 20002. This group had just launched a massive T.V. and radio campaign with Buddy Ebsen and Efrem Zimbalist, Jr. to combat the immoral trend in America.

This group has also just published a Report Card on how all Senators and Representatives voted on every issue in 1981. Send $1.50 and get this Report Card. You may be as shocked as I was!

I continue to search for the parents of "Bad" Talt Hall. He must have had some! I appreciate the Letters Column The Times, and those who have phoned and written us.

Local TV Station Plans Expansion

WMAR TV-5, seen in 2,891 homes served by the Tel-Com cable system in this county, will, if expansion plans go according to schedule, reach between 60- to 100,00 subscribers by the end of this year.

The locally owned station, located between Martin and Allen, broadcasts around the clock with many programs of local origin. These include high school basketball games, usually by delayed tape, church services, public forums and interviews with officials on the local level. Sports fans will be able to view 10 live Cincinnati Reds games, and owner Everett Akers said this week that more programs on the local level are planned.

Phase one of expansion plans is complete, with the second phase to be started soon whereby subscribers on Big Mud, Branham's Creek, Toler Creek and adjoining areas of Pike county will receive TV-5. In this same stage of expansion, subscribers from Maytown to Brush Creek, and from Middle Creek to Route 460, including the town of David, will be added to the system by Tel-Com. And by the end of the year, Tel-Com subscribers in Wheelwright, Pike county, and Delbarton, W. Va. should be getting WMAR TV 5.

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

By JANE BOND
Health Educator

Eleven thousand women die each year from cervical cancer. This is a tragic figure since cervical cancer can be one of the most curable of all cancers if it is detected early enough. The test to detect cervical cancer is a simple, painless test which takes only a few moments of a woman's time. This is the Pap test, and it can detect cervical cancer in its earliest and most curable stages.

The Floyd County Health Department is having a Pap clinic, Wednesday, June 23, from 8:30 until 11:30 and from 1 until 2. This clinic is a free service of the health department and any woman who has not had a Pap test in the past year is urged to attend.

Every child entering school in Kentucky for the first time is required to be immunized against the childhood illnesses, measles, rubella, whooping cough, diphtheria, and tetanus. Each child is required to have a T.B. skin test before entering school also.

These immunizations and T.B. skin tests are available from the Floyd County Health Department free of charge. Parents are urged to bring their children into the Health Department for these immunizations and T.B. skin tests before school starts.

The Martin Water Situation . . . An Open Letter

Mr. G. Sam Piatt
The Daily Independent
Ashland, Kentucky 41101

Dear Sir:

We have just read your report in the Ashland paper concerning the Martin water problem. It seems as if you only heard one side of the issue and there are several points that need clarification.

The decision of the Martin City Council to pursue the chosen route was not a hasty decision but one that requires many many hours of study. We as elected representatives of the City of Martin must make decisions we feel that are in the best interest of all the citizens.

The present city council has voted unanimously to keep our own water system, we will renovate it, lay new lines and comply with Farmers Home Administration guidelines by signing a water purchase contract with our choice the City of Prestonsburg as a back-up or auxiliary source of water not as a permanent source as you stated. We will produce water at our own plant for $1.10 per thousand, the purchase of water from Prestonsburg will be for emergency use only.

Our engineers Haworth, Bolen, Derrek & Co. advised us that we could anticipate using water from our back-up system only once every 10 years. Beaver Elkhorn Water District has never expressed interest in our system as a back-up source. They want to be the permanent supplier of Martin's water for a tap-on fee of $350,000 plus $20,000 for a master meter. Another stipulation in their contract is that we must purchase a minimum of 4 1/2 million gallons per month, if our purchase exceed this figure the rate goes up 20%. We can supply our present needs with 90,000 gallons of water per day. The cost to complete the water line from the Prestonsburg System on Jarrell Fork to Buck's Branch has been set at $109,000 by our engineers this is $261,000 less than Beaver Elkhorn is asking for a tap-on-fee. Our engineers advised us that Beaver Elkhorn is not capable of furnishing our city with an adequate supply of water which is a major requirement if we are to qualify for the grant money. Our present City Council has had the dealings with Beaver Elkhorn water people in the past and it was an unpleasant experience.

If the City of Martin receives the grant from Farmers and Home Administration we must borrow $279,000 of the total $1,400,00 and this we must pay back over a period of 40 years.

There are two reasons for the water rate increase, (1) The system was operating in the red, (2) We had to show Farmers & Home people that we could repay the $279,000 and we could do this only by raising rates.

The water rate increase was recommended to us by Big Sandy AD after we requested them to study our system and help us arrive at a fair solution to our financial problem. We were elected to serve the people of Martin and while we are in sympathy with our Right and Left Beaver neighbors concerning their water problems only the people of Martin will pay back the $279,000, no body else.

We are certainly aware of the Martin Water Systems short comings, but we are trying to remedy these ills, we feel confident that what we are doing is in the best interest of the Martin people.

One thing I must agree on with you Mr. Piatt, the majority of those present Wednesday night seemed to support Mayor Hall, the reason is that they were his supporters, our people were not in attendance, those present were the same one present at every meeting of the Council. Our supporters who gave us a 381 over-all majority in the last election feel that we are capable of making the right decisions. We respect Mayor Hall's point of view and hope that he respects ours, unfortunately we don't agree.

If we can be of any further assistance to you or your paper don't hesitate to call on us.

Respectfully,
THE MARTIN CITY COUNCIL
Allen R. Whicker, Willie Eden, Joe Everage, Denzil Halbert, James Robinson, Harold Case.

John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met at May Lodge for their annual Flag Day observance at noon June 8. Mrs. Victor Hale, regent, presided, with Mrs. Virginia S. Goble conducting the ritualistic services. The Flag Salute was led by Mrs. Opal S. May. Mrs. Margaret P. Alley gave the President General's message, and Mrs. James B. Goble presented the National Defense program, entitled, "It's Time for the Return to Excellence."

Due to the resignation of the regent, Mrs. Victor Hale, during the May meeting, Mrs. Virginia S. Goble was chosen to fill her unexpired term. Mrs. Hale was asked to serve as chaplain and registrar for the coming year. These two officers were installed by the present chaplain, Mrs. Opal S. May.

At the suggestion of Mrs. James B. Goble, D.A.R. members made monetary donations on behalf of their chapter to help sponsor summer camp programs for C.A.R. members. The hope was expressed that members who could not be present for this event might also make donations toward this cause.

Following the business session, the Flag Day program was presented by Mrs. Ray Collins. "Our Flag," a poem written by a longtime member, Mrs. Bess Leete Stephens, formerly of Prestonsburg, presently of Ashland, was read by Mrs. J.G. Stepp. Mrs. Collins read "The Name of Our Flag—Old Glory." She recalled that the first American-made flag was flown over the National Capital in 1866.

A prayer for the nation and the world was given by Mrs. Virginia Goble.

Mrs. Edith James announced that D.A.R. members are to assist in the Highlands Folk Festival, (of which she was founder), at Jenny Wiley State Park during the annual program there this fall.

After the conclusion of the program, these members and their guests enjoyed a luncheon in the Lodge dining room: Mesdames Vivian Hale, Virginia S. Goble, Margaret Collins, Opal S. May, Edith James, Margaret P. Alley, Norma S. Stepp, Mae S. Kendrick, and her granddaughters, little Misses Leslie and Eliza Kendrick.

Summer Pet Health Care Tips

Summer's the season when most families have the time to really enjoy having a pet. Unfortunately, summer-time living isn't all that easy for pets. Unlike humans, who seem to be more illness prone during the winter months, pets are more susceptible to health problems during the warm months than at any other time of the year. The Kentucky Veterinary Medical Association offers the following tips to help your dog or cat stay healthy when it's hot:

Update Vaccinations—Contact with other dogs and cats is more frequent during the warm months, and some of them may be sick. Even if you keep your pet on a leash, they may visit a place another animal has just left. Disease spreads quickly during hot, humid weather.

Have your cat vaccinated against rabies. While this is not required in many areas, a wandering cat is much more likely to be bitten by another animal than a yard-confined dog is.

Watch Out For Parasites—Both internal and external parasites have a heyday in hot weather. Fleas, ticks, lice and mites can make life miserable for all pets; and most of these pests are potential disease carriers. Keep bedding clean, and make sure he has a spot available outside where he can lie down out of the grass.

Roundworms and tapeworms—the most common of the internal parasites—don't pose a severe threat to adult animals unless the infestation is severe, but they can be very hard on puppies and kittens. Hookworms and heartworms always pose a health hazard. If you suspect that your pet has worms, don't try to diagnose and treat them yourself. Take a sample of your pet's stool to your veterinarian. If he detects worms, he will be able to prescribe the proper dosage of the correct medication.

Treat Even Minor Wounds Quickly And Thoroughly—Infection runs rampant during hot, humid weather, and there are some very nasty species of flies which lay their eggs in open wounds. These eggs will hatch into maggots that are extremely harmful—and very unpleasant.

Although most cat fights rarely end in serious injury, even minor wounds can fester. Animal tissue under a cat's claws is an ideal culture medium for infection-causing bacteria. In some cases, a cat bite that is barely visible will quickly heal from the outside while infection forms an abscess in the underlying tissue.

Serve Meals In The Evening—Your dog rests best with a moderately full stomach. Feed him in the evening so he can digest the meal in the cool of the night. If you feed a dog in the morning and then expect vigorous activity for him, you are inviting canine indigestion—or even heat-stroke.

If your dog likes to snack on beef knuckle bones, don't let these treats lie around the yard for more than a day. The rotting marrow will attract flies and soon the bone will be infested with maggots. Hornets also like bones and will furiously attack any dog that tries to share one.

Don't worry if your dog or cat likes to snack on grass. Regardless of the tall tales you may have heard, most eat grass simply because they like it.

Make Sure Your Pet Always Has Fresh Water—Even though cats and dogs don't perspire the way humans do, they lose a lot of moisture when panting. A cool bowl of water and a shady spot offer a welcome respite from the summer heat.

Michigan Graduate

Adam R. Price, son of Phillip R. Price, formerly of Prestonsburg, and grandson of Lillia Mae Price, of David, received his associate degree June 13, at Pontiac, Michigan. The commencement exercises were conducted at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Young Price is majoring in criminal justice at Oakland Community College at present, and resides with his father in Royal Oak, Michigan. He has been accepted for enrollment at Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan for the coming fall term, and will complete his last two years at MSU working toward a Bachelor of Arts, degree in the university's criminal justice program.

He plans a law-enforcement career, as did his father who was a Kentucky State Police trooper for seven years, and for the last 16 years has been employed as a special agent by the U.S. Treasury Department, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. His father is presently assistant special agent in charge of the bureau's Michigan offices based at Detroit.

The younger Price is employed part-time with the Wahl security agency.

Mrs. Price To Head
New Cancer Study

Starting September 1, 378 residents of Floyd county will have a chance to participate in medical research while volunteers of the American Cancer Society will be encouraging their friends and relatives to take part in Cancer Prevention Study II. The study will be the Society's second major research endeavor to learn how lifestyle and environmental factors influence cancer and other disease.

Rose Price has been named unit chairman of the Cancer Prevention Study II for the Floyd County Unit of Cancer Society.

Similar to a study the Society conducted from 1959 to 1972, the new study will follow a million Americans for a minimum of six years to learn how lifestyles and environment may relate to cancer and other diseases.

As Unit Chairman, Mrs. Price will oversee the start-up of Cancer Prevention Study II and manage the study over the next six years.

She will be responsible for organizing and directing the recruitment of volunteer researchers who, in turn, will enroll local residents in the study. These participants will be asked to complete a detailed, confidential questionnaire about the health and lifestyle practices.

Moore Family Reunion Set

The family reunion of Richard and Hannah Moore will be held June 26 and 27 at the Jenny Wiley playground picnic area. Everyone is asked to bring a covered dish.

For further information, contact Bobbie McGuire at 606-377-6983.

Team To Do Study Of Wartime Hazards

A team of college architectural and engineering students involved in a nationwide surveying program will be working in Eastern Kentucky, in cooperation with state and local Disaster and Emergency Services officials for several weeks, beginning June 21.

The students, trained in analyzing buildings and other structures for their ability to protect Floyd people against various wartime hazards, will be performing surveys in Floyd, Carter, Estill, Greenup, Johnson, Lawrence and Whitley counties.

The eight survey specialists on the team are among more than 250 students nationwide who have been hired and trained for this summer's work by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), the national emergency management agency headquartered in Washington, D.C.

The group coming to northeast Kentucky will be under the general supervision of engineers from Region IV of the Federal Emergency Management Agency in Thomasville, Ga.

The work of the local team is part of a continuing FEMA project, begun in the summer of 1974, to survey structures in potential high-risk areas in the U.S. to determine the extent of protection these structures would provide against nuclear blast, fire and fallout. The surveys serve a twofold purpose, as any sheltered area having blast resistance will also provide protection from some natural hazards, such as storms with high winds.

Al-Anon Helps
Families To Cope

Alcoholism is a family disease. Living with someone who has this disease is too devastating for most to bear without help. Al-anon is the only worldwide organization that offers a self-help recovery program for the families of alcoholics whether or not the alcoholic seeks help or even recognizes the existence of a drinking problem. Members give and receive comfort and understanding through a mutual exchange of experience, strength and hope. Sharing of similar problems binds individuals and groups together in a bond that is protected by anonymity.

Al-anon has but one purpose to help families of alcoholics. Al-anon meets in this area Wednesday at 10 a.m. at St. James Parish Hall and Saturday, at 8 p.m. at the Floyd County Library.

and such Ordinance will be given its second reading, and will be considered for final passage and enactment, on Monday, June 28, 1982.

Said Ordinance:

A. Authorizes the execution of an Inducement Contract between the County of Floyd, Kentucky, and First Prestonsburg Bankshares, Inc. which Contract contemplates that the County shall issue approximately $6,500,000 of County of Floyd Economic Development Revenue Bonds for the purpose of financing the costs of construction of a new economic development project (the "Project") on a tract of land of approximately three acres, located on Arnold Avenue between U.S. 23 and the River in the County, which Project would be operated by First Prestonsburg Bankshares, Inc. D. Provides that the Ordinance and the Inducement Contract shall be effective to the maximum extent permitted by law upon publication of a Notice of Passage and Summary of Ordinance, provided the ordinance acknowledges that a commercial project of the kind contemplated by the Ordinance cannot be financed by the County unless and until the proposed Project has been "reviewed and approved" by the State Oversight Committee as required by law; and such Ordinance authorizes and approves the signing by the County Judge/Executive of the Application for approval of the Project by the Oversight Committee; and

RISING DEMAND FOR PARROTS THREATENS SOME SPECIES.

In biblical times, Hebrew sailors would bring macaws, the brightly-colored parrots of the tropics, to the Court of Solomon.

Where Solomon as wise as he is purported to be, he might have discouraged the practice, because today the very survival of these birds is threatened by their increasing popularity as pets in America, according to the current issue of National Wildlife magazine.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my beloved mother, Avanelle Stevens, who departed this life June 24, 1981.

It was only a year ago my mother went away.

I think of her often with each passing day.

She was the best friend outside of Jesus I ever had.

I miss her so much, sometimes I feel so sad.

And as each day passes by I miss her even more.

I sometimes think I hear her at our front door.

But in my mind I know its just me.

Remembering back to how it used to be.

I go to church and her seat is empty there.

She would be there had Jesus not called her to heaven fair.

There's so many things that reminds me of her. A statement she once made, That she'd like to be a sunbeam for Jesus shining like a star anywhere.

In my life she set an example for me to live by, and introduced me to the Saviour, and showed me I could know Him if I'd only try.

I thank God I knew mother as long as I did, so I'll follow on in her footsteps and do the very best I can to follow Jesus as she once did.

I look into her room and see her no more.

I know I will never see or hear her sweet voice again.

Yes, someday I will see her on heaven's bright, peaceful shore.

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of Bennie Sellards

Two months have passed since you went to be with our Lord. On your birthday, June 14, you would have been 94. I would have had a party for you with old friends and loved ones as I have done in the years gone by. But God called you to be with Him, tho' our Hearts are sad and broken, God promised that he would mend our hearts and heal our hurts if we would only have faith in Him and believe in Him and a life after death.

So at this time I wish to thank all my friends and neighbors for their kindness, flowers and food. I wish also to thank The Floyd Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service. I do not know who came on my behalf for I have no record. It went to the next of kin. But you know who you are, so thank you. The good Lord in Heaven knows also who took care of you, lived with you, loved you and still listen for your voice to call us. Many a night I have gotten up because you call for me, but were not there. Two years of your life we lived with you because you needed us and no one else would do it. So Uncle Bennie, rest in peace with God and watch over us as you promised you would do. We love you and miss you.

Your Loving Grand Niece and her Family, Wanda Elste, George Elste, and George Elste, Jr.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Martha Stricklin Nichols would like to express their thanks to all who helped during the passing of their loved one. Thanks to all those who sent floral offerings, to all those who visited, to all who assisted in the services, to the minister for her kind words; to the singers and to Floyd Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

In Twirling Contest

Tiffany Marquita Scott, a Harold Elementary kindergarten student in Miss Clara Parker's class, recently competed in a U.S.T.A. contest. She and four other majorette students—Renee Collins, of Stanville, Mandy Epline, of Betsy Layne, and Jessica Mullins, of Stanville, and Allison Compton, of Pikeville, won second place Group Recognition in the 6-9 age groups. Tiffany also entered the modeling contest. She and the other four girls will be presented a trophy at their annual majorette banquet in Prestonsburg in July. The trophies will be given each by their majorette teacher, Miss Quen Tackett, of Ivel. Tiffany is the daughter of Sandy Meade Scrimager, of Harold.

Wins Twirling Trophy

Amanda Leigh King, daughter of Butch and Scarlet King, of Harold, won a first place trophy for solo twirling and a third place trophy in modeling at a recent USTA twirling competition held at Betsy Layne. She is a majorette at Harold under direction of Gwen Tackett, and has been awarded various trophies, medals and a certificate for excellence.

Little Leaguers Plan Fund-Raiser, Saturday

The Prestonsburg Little League Baseball organization will make use of their professional-quality pitching machine this Saturday in a fund-raising effort at Archer Park. League official Glenn Copley said the machine, which can be adjusted to pitch baseball or softball, and for varying ages and levels of ability, will be set up at the men's field at the park for the enjoyment of local youngsters and adults who would like to test their batting skills or get in a little practice. "A small fee will be charged for a series of pitches," Copley said, "and the proceeds will go to buy much needed equipment for the kids." The machine will be operating from 8 a.m. till 8 p.m., Saturday. The organization here consists of nine "major" league teams and seven farm league teams.

In Memoriam

In memory of my beloved mother-in-law, Pauline Heddlstone Robinette. She passed away two years ago. I miss her more as days go by. The times we shopped, and had fun talks, it meant a lot to me. You never know til they are gone. The light that she had shone. She loved her children more than words can ever say. It was fun to have a mother-in-law to share the good times and bad times alone. And to know she was there for you when all else was gone. Life goes on but never will I ever forget a mother-in-law like her. And the memories we all shared go on and on.

Only Man Is Vile Is False Statement

Konrad Lorenz popularized the notion that man's aggression toward man—as evidenced in murders, war and other forms of violence—is unique among vertebrate animals.

Lorenz's conclusion, expressed in the book On Aggression, may have been erroneous, according to the current issue of National Wildlife magazine. As scientists spend more time observing animals in the laboratory and in the wild, they're finding out that all kinds of animals—including certain goats, monkeys, ground squirrels and birds—can be downright savage toward their own kind.

Among mammals, male spotted hyenas may be the most frequent killers of members of their own species, says the bi-monthly publication of the National Wildlife Federation. Habitual cannibals, they have been observed in fierce fights over dead prey. A researcher in Africa watched one pack of male hyenas attack, kill and then eat a male hyena from another group. The victim had apparently made the mistake of trying to feed on prey belonging to another pack of hyenas.

Female animals of other species can be just as vicious. Female mountain goats, for instance, are notorious fighters. Using their short horns as daggers, these females have been known to draw blood in encounters with males who venture too close to a mother's young.

Among birds, aggression most often takes the form of intense sibling rivalry, which can become a virtual fight for survival. Young egrets fight viciously during their first weeks of life, when first borns have marked advantages over the smaller hatchlings, who often die from injuries sustained during fights for food. Smaller birds sometimes become so intimidated by their siblings that they stop eating and starve to death. In addition to egrets, owls, hawks, eagles, pelicans and cranes exhibit similar behavior among their young.

Infanticide—The killing of young by adults—is another kind of violence observed within many animals species, says National Wildlife. Male Hanuman langur monkeys have been known to invade other groups of monkeys and kill off the young. Specialists theorize that the invading males are out to gain a reproductive advantage, because fertility comes sooner to female monkeys if their young don't survive.

In other primates, infanticide seems to occur for no apparent reason, according to the magazine. Well-known primatologist Jane Goodall has seen male chimpanzees kill and then eat the infants of females from outside the group. "We simply don't understand why this takes place," she says.

One researcher hypothesizes that infanticide sometimes occurs in the wild when conditions are crowded and homes are scarce. Biologist Frank F. Mallory, of Ontario, Canada, has watched male collared lemmings, small rodents found in parts of Alaska and northern Canada, kill the young of strange females when placed in enclosures with them. Female lemmings will also kill the young of other females, according to Mallory's laboratory observations. He guesses that such behavior occurs in the wild under high-density conditions, when killing the young allows an attacker to take over a nest.

Most researchers agree, says National Wildlife, that violent behavior within animal species—including fatal fights and cannibalism—should be looked at from an evolutionary, rather than moral, perspective. In an "elegant and well-tuned system," says the magazine, the killer—with few exceptions—increases his own fitness and that of his offspring in the seemingly savage act.

Vets Admin. Reports On Distaff Numbers

The Veterans Administration reports that the number of women veterans has increased significantly during the past 11 years. While the number of servicemembers as a whole is expected to gradually fall in the years to come, the female veteran population is growing rapidly. The number of women on active military duty is also on the rise, indicating a continued increase in female veterans.

Burl Wells Spurlock, president of the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce (standing), is pictured with Floyd County Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr. during the signing of a proclamation last week which designated the week of June 14 as Floyd County Chamber of Commerce Membership Week. The proclamation recognizes the importance of a strong Chamber membership in fulfilling the goals of the organization and Spurlock encouraged "all county businesses to join the Chamber and give their full support to its activities."

By HAROLD COOLEY

Much discussion has taken place in recent years concerning the effectiveness of vitamin C in combating everything from the common cold to cancer. It is not our purpose to dispute these claims for they might well be true. However, does it make sense to spend more money for the health store variety of vitamin C compared to synthetic ascorbic acid? What is the difference? So-called synthetic ascorbic acid is natural ascorbic acid and is identical to the vitamin C found in oranges and other fruits. Its chemical structure is identical to the organic vitamins which contain bioflavinids and other elements. While some researchers think that these added elements enhance the effect of vitamin C, the extra money spent on them is of dubious value.

At COOLEY APOTHECARY you'll find the most complete and professional prescription service in the area. For our customers convenience we offer a complete medical family profile to assure your family that you receive the very best in medical attention. This file may be used by your doctor to review your medications and is also available for tax and insurance purposes. You'll find us at No. 2 Town Center Bldg. ## Martin Gets New Asst. Fire Chief

Martin Police and Fire Chief Hershel Lester looks on as out-going Asst. Chief Robert Campbell (right) turns over the duties to Robert Comstock, Jr. last Monday night at city hall. Campbell, a 12-year resident of Martin and employee of Hall Funeral Home, leaves the post to return home to Whitesburg where he will join a funeral home.

Comstock is an employee of the family-owned Comstock Bottle Gas Co. of Martin. He takes over the job knowing how important the fire department is. In October 1979 while filling a 100-pound propane tank from two larger tanks a valve caught fire. The explosion sent him to the hospital with third degree burns to the face and head. Occupants of Our Lady of The Way Hospital, along with area residents, were evacuated. The Martin Fire Department was the first to respond, with others later.

The Fire Department is seeking new members. New firemen need not live in Martin but near, have a phone and be at least 21 years old. Anyone interested is asked to call 285-3062 or 285-3162 for more information, or to sign up at any regular monthly meeting held the first Monday each month, 7 p.m. at Martin City Hall behind the Union 76 service station.

★ KENTUCKY AFIELD ★

Fifty Ohio River fishermen earned $1,387 last year by returning tags from fish they caught to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources for cash awards.

The big winner in this "cash for tags" program was Ron Watson, a Dayton, Ky. angler who hit the jackpot with a crappie worth $1,000. That left the other 49 anglers to divide up the remaining $387.

Tagged fish from the Ohio River are worth $1, $5, $10, $25, $50, $100 or $1,000 if the tags are returned, along with a few scales from the fish.

Ralph Jackson, the fisheries biologist in charge of Ohio River research, says that 334 fish were tagged last year, all above Louisville. This spring, Jackson is tagging fish in the river below Louisville. To keep angling pressure and other factors as nearly normal as possible, the exact tagging locations are not being released.

The reason for offering cash awards, Jackson says, is to increase the number of tags returned. Without some incentive, the return rate is generally around 5 percent, but with the prospect of a possibly substantial cash award, the return rate goes a lot higher, giving biologists much more data about fishing pressure, fish movements, growth rates and other information needed to manage the fishery effectively.

The return rate on tagged black bass from the river last year was 26.5 percent, Jackson says. Crappie returns ran at 20.2 percent. Both bass and crappie seemed to be homebodies; 70 percent of the crappie and 61 percent of the bass were caught in the same areas where they were tagged.

Jackson tagged 100 carp, but got no tag returns from this species. He also tagged some catfish, drum, white bass and sauger, but so far has not been able to capture as many of these species as he would like. "It's not that the populations are low," he says, "as much as it is that these species tend to be deep water fish and are just hard to capture alive."

Awards are still being offered for fish tagged last year. There's still at least one more $1,000 fish in the river with a pink last year's tag and Jackson will tag several worth $1,000 with white tags this spring.

The tags themselves are small plastic cylinders with the words "KY FISH" and a number printed on them. They are inserted beneath the fish's skin just behind the dorsal fin.

Condominium Owners And Tax Questions

If you own a condominium or a cooperative apartment, you generally receive the same tax treatment as other homeowners. However, some special rules may apply to you. The IRS has Publication 558, entitled "Condominiums, Cooperative Apartments, and Homeowners Associations" which gives information about federal taxes and ownership in condominiums and cooperative apartments.

For example, a condominium owner must consider what his/her interest is in the common property when considering a tax deduction for real estate taxes. An owner of a cooperative apartment must consider his/her share of the corporation's deductible interest and real estate taxes when itemizing tax deductions.

The IRS publication discusses the above items and other tax consequences of condominium and cooperative apartment ownership such as claiming residential energy credit, claiming depreciation if you rent or use your property in business, making any claims for casualty and theft losses, etc.

Anyone interested in obtaining a copy of IRS publication on condominiums and cooperative apartments should write the IRS Forms Distribution Center at P.O. Box 636, Florence, Kentucky 41042.

To the People of Kentucky

Honorable John Y. Brown, Jr., Governor

Honorable Jerry A. Lafferty, County Judge/Executive and Members of the Floyd County Fiscal Court

We have examined the Statement of Receipts, Disbursements and Excess Fees of the Sheriff and Jailer of Floyd County for the year ended December 31, 1980. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We also conducted tests of compliance with state laws and regulations.

The county clerk has contracted Burchett and Bottoms, Certified Public Accountants, to examine the Statement of Receipts and Disbursements and Excess Fees of his office.

As recommended by the State Local Finance Officer, pursuant to KRS 68.210, the accompanying financial statements are prepared primarily on a cash basis. Consequently, certain revenues and the related assets are recognized when received rather than when earned, and certain expenses are recognized when paid rather than when a liability is incurred. Accordingly, the accompanying financial statements are not intended to present financial position and results of operations in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly the receipts, disbursements and excess fees of the Sheriff and Jailer for the year ended December 31, 1980, in conformity with the accounting system described above, applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Areas of noncompliance are as follows:

Based on available records, there was a deficit of $23,307 in the Sheriff's official bank account on December 31, 1980.

We call the fiscal court's attention to KRS 424.220 which requires that each official publish an annual settlement of receipts and disbursements within a reasonable period after the end of the year. The Sheriff and Jailer did not comply with this statute.

Respectfully submitted,
/s/ James B. Graham
Auditor of Public Accounts

The above transmittal letter accompanied the audit report presented to Fiscal Court and is published pursuant to KRS 43.090(2). Copies of the complete audit report are available upon request by contacting the Auditor of Public Accounts, Room 168, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Move To Stop Watts in Fla.

In a move to protect the Osceola National Forest in northern Florida from the "devastating impacts of strip mining," the National Wildlife Federation has filed suit against Interior Secretary James Watt and Agriculture Secretary John R. Block.

The Federation joined U.S. Senator Lawton Chiles (D-Fla.) and five other environmental groups in asking that Interior cancel its proposed plans to issue phosphate mining leases in the Osceola because of overwhelming evidence that the national forest would suffer irreparable harm.

The suit, filed in the U.S. District Court in Jacksonville, Fla., claims that recent efforts by Interior and the U.S. Forest Service to issue mining leases on 52,000 of the 157,000 acres in the Osceola forest violate federal and state laws and local forest management plans. The suit also maintains that there is no evidence that the land, once strip-mined, could be restored.

"The resources of the Osceola National Forest are nothing short of remarkable," said Dr. Jay D. Hair, executive vice president of the NWF. "Its cypress swamps, hardwood wetlands—and the wildlife they support—make it a resource of national reputation. It is a home for many endangered and threatened species, including the bald eagle and the Florida panther. We believe that the American people do not want to see such a resource destroyed."

The suit charges that recently-issued lease stipulations, which are developed by the Forest Service and enforced by Interior, are inadequate to preserve the Osceola as a national forest, as required by the Mineral Leasing Act for Acquired Lands. According to the NWF, the federal government acquired the Osceola in 1931 to protect its watershed and timber values. Under federal laws, says the NWF, it is required to preserve those values.

"Rather than protecting the special resources in the Osceola that led to the creation of a national forest, the Forest Service and Interior are proposing a move that would seriously pollute its waters, destroy its wildlife, and reduce the productivity of its timber," said Tom Lustig, attorney for the NWF.

The Federation also says that the Forest Service recently reversed its stand on phosphate leasing in the Osceola National Forest. "The Forest Service has long maintained that the Osceola should not be strip-mined because adequate restorative technology simply doesn't exist," said Lustig. "We think that's an accurate conclusion. Yet in a sudden turnabout two months ago, the Forest Service pulled the opposite conclusion out of thin air and decided to go ahead with the leasing. It's insupportable."

"We are not opposed to necessary and planned-for development of this country's natural resources," said Hair. "But we cannot support poorly planned and arbitrary development—like this—that will most certainly lead to the destruction of some of the unique environments in this country."

Joining NWF and Senator Chiles in the suit are the Florida Wildlife Federation, the Florida Audubon Society, the Florida Defenders of the Environment, the Environmental Defense Fund and the Natural Resources Defense Council. Also named as defendants in the suit are the Interior Department, Robert Burford, Director of the Bureau of Land Management, the United States Dept. of Agriculture, John B. Crowell, Assistant Secretary for Natural Resources and Environment in the DOA, and several other DOA and Interior officials.

Farmers Asked To Report Corn Crop Acreages

July 15, is the final date for corn producers to report their 1982 crop acreages to the Floyd County ASCS office.

Persons participating in the 1982 Feed Grain Program must certify their crop acreages in order to be eligible for program benefits. It is also very important that other producers certify their acreages (even those not producing a crop this year who may produce in future years) in order to protect their crop acreage bases for future years.

Acreage reports must be as accurate as possible as ASCS spot-checking of reports will be carried out. ASCS personnel will assist the farmer in certifying correctly to their best ability.

For further information, contact the Floyd County ASCS Office before July 15.
