

WORK WAS BEGUN over the past week to convert the area of lawn between the postoffice here and courthouse to a new parking lot to be used by employees and customers of the postoffice. It is hoped the work, which is being done by Witten Contractors, of Paintsville, will provide some relief to the frequent traffic snarls which have long plagued the intersection of Third and Court streets.

UMW Candidate Backs Trumka In Nov. 9 Poll

Even as Floyd countians were voting for Congressional and school board representatives Tuesday, one of the men who wants to be vice-president of the United Mine Workers was campaigning here in a final swing before next Tuesday's union election.

Cecil Roberts, 36, of Cabin Creek, W. Va. is paired with Richard Trumka, the young UMW lawyer-miner who is challenging incumbent Sam Church, Jr. for leadership of the union. Church's running mate is Frank Clements, UMW international executive board member from Alabama.

Although Church received more ballot nominations from UMW locals in this District than did Trumka, Roberts said he was confident the Trumka slate will be victorious next Tuesday, both here and nationwide.

For one thing, Trumka led Church handily in nominations from 900 local chapters across the nation and, while he trailed somewhat in District 30, the

Incumbents Win Seats on Board In Hot Election

Half an hour after the polls closed here yesterday (Tuesday), the election results were clear in outline; within two hours, the tally was complete, if unofficial, except for distant Jack's Creek, whose couriers had not reached the courthouse here until after C. Ollie Robinson, county clerk, and his staff had gone for the night. The Jack's Creek vote, however, did arrive and was duly tallied. This leaves only the absentee ballots to be counted today, and their total is not expected to make any significant change in the outcome of the election.

Incumbents James D. "Doc" Adams and Ray "Shag" Campbell easily retained their seats on the Board of Education and Rep. Carl D. Perkins was more than a match for his Republican opponent in the 7th Congressional District vote.

With 2154 votes, Adams, a 12-year veteran of the school board, handily outdistanced challengers Kelly Moore (949) and Karen Nelson Marcum (345) in the first educational division.

In the second division, Campbell, of Banner, shook off a challenge by Larry Hicks, of Maytown, 2047 votes to 821.

Flemingburg newspaper publisher Tom Hamby, who overcame two rivals in last May's Republican primary for the dubious right to challenge Perkins in the Eastern Kentucky District, was able to muster only 1133 votes here, compared to 9617 for Perkins, who has represented this section in Congress since 1948.

In the school board race, Adams was the victor in all nine precincts in the first division; in the second, Campbell held a wide lead in all precincts except Maytown, where native son Hicks led the incumbent by 225 votes to 180.

Perkins easily outclassed Hamby in all 44 Floyd precincts.

Truck Bill Challenge Termed 'Red Herring'

Personnel problems within the Transportation Cabinet and opposition from a group of coal operators are among the factors ensnaring the overweight-truck bill he ushered through the legislature last spring, Rep. Greg Stumbo theorized Monday.

The Prestonsburg legislator had just completed taping a program scheduled for broadcast on KET Tuesday evening, in which he and Deputy Transportation Secretary Clair Nichols argued about the bill's constitutionality—an issue bruited about for some time and brought to a head last week with the filing of a suit in Franklin Circuit Court.

In response to the suit, which was filed by the Southeastern Truckers' Association, Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs issued an order restraining transportation officials from doing what they were in no mood to do anyway—implementing the controversial truck bill.

As Stumbo sees it, the constitutional question is a red herring. "Granted that a tax measure has to originate in the House, many revenue-generating measures originate in the Senate," he argues. The overweight-truck measure, which was enacted by the 1982 General Assembly as a rider to Senate Bill 144, is not a mandatory tax but an optional revenue-generating measure, Stumbo insists.

And, in fact, both the lawsuit and Deputy Secretary Nichols in the KET discussion focus less on the origin of the bill than on the liability of the transportation secretary, he noted this week.

The problem, according to Nichols, is that no engineer will certify that it is safe for the secretary to issue overweight-truck permits, since none is prepared to guarantee that bridges will withstand the heavy loads that would be sanctioned by the permits.

Without the engineer's certification, the secretary would be personally liable for any injuries resulting from the collapse of a bridge, Nichols reasoned.

Stumbo is unimpressed by that argument. "(Former Secretary Frank) Metts has always had problems with his engineers," he said. "It's a departmental problem. There has to be a way around it. I'm not convinced there has been a good-faith effort (to find a way)."

Another obstacle to implementation of the new law, he says, arises from the fact that "some (coal) operators don't want it."

Senate Bill 144 allows operators to haul overweight loads if they get a permit and pay a fee, and it sets aside the proceeds for road repair. The permit frees truckers from having to pay the weight-distance tax, also enacted by the 1982 General Assembly, for which they are otherwise liable.

The effect of the bill is to shift responsibility from the trucker to the operator, a shift not welcomed by all operators, Stumbo says.

What of the truckers, many of whom

Ohio Firm Low On TV Project; Bid Is $937,670

Residents of Toler Creek, Big Mud, Middle Creek, and Wheelwright in this county; and Hurricane Creek and the Wells Addition in Pike county will soon have expanded cable television service as the result of plant improvements for which bids were opened Tuesday, according to a news release issued by TEL-COM, INC., Harold-based cable TV company.

Construction of the first 54 miles of work has already been completed. The second phase of the projected 365-mile facility consists of 79 miles of cable. Construction should begin in 30 days and be completed in 120 working days from the contract commencement date.

Jackson Communications, of Clayton, Ohio, was the apparent low bidder on the labor-and-partial material bid price of $937,670.68. Other materials, previously purchased or on order, will be furnished to the contractor during the construction period by Tel-Com.

The new facilities will provide a 40-channel capability, it was said. Basic service includes the three major networks (including two Lexington stations), KET, ESPN, WTBS, PTL, and SNC. Optional pay services are HBO and The Movie Channel. Other programming will be available later, the TEL-COM spokesman added.

This Town...That World

There have been occasions when I expressed the wish I could have later, at my pleasure, a rerun of scenes such as are all around us, these great autumn days. At this point I ask only the ability to see and appreciate such beauty—now, not later.

I STILL MAINTAIN...

For several years now I have delighted in word-reveling over the autumn beauty of these hills and in reminding those deprived lowlanders that they must leave the Blue Grass for the Mountains if they are to see one of the grandest shows in all nature. But this year I am not so boastful. I grudgingly admit that there are spots in other counties that are a notch or two up the spectrum on us, and that Lexington itself has some pin oaks this year that are as brilliantly scarlet as the brightest Mountain maple.

Yet nowhere else do you get the closeup, the oneness with all this beauty, that you find here where the trees burst into flower at the very edge of the road.

MIXED REPORT

My friend, Dr. C. R. Daley, editor of The Western Recorder, thinks he may have read the yarn in this column, sometime ago, but I doubt it. If it was printed here, I didn't read it—unless I have forgotten again.

The two oldtimers, friends over the years, were baseball fanatics. The kind that, as they say, "ate, drank, breathed, talked" the game. One day, they fell to wondering if there would be baseball in Heaven, agreeing they might not be so interested in going there if it had nothing of that sport.

So they entered into solemn pact that whichever went there first would try to contact the one left on Earth and report his findings on the baseball situation. In time, one of the old cronies passed on and, true to his promise, never stopped till he got a line back to his friend below.

He reported that he had both good news and bad. "The good news," he said, "is that Heaven is really the home of baseball, that it is played both day and night, in season and out of season, and, in fact, by everybody."

"That's the good news, Harry," he added. "Now for the bad. I've been checking the baseball schedule up here and have just learned that you're scheduled to pitch next Wednesday."

QUESTION

Hospital Case Goes Back to Johnson Co.

"A kind of ping-pong game" is how one of the lawyers involved described the dispute between Highlands Regional Medical Center and two women anesthesiologists on the hospital staff.

The case, which has been lobbed back and forth between attorneys for both sides and between Circuit Court judges in two jurisdictions, took another bounce in Johnson Circuit Court this week and is expected to land again in Floyd Circuit Court next Monday.

At issue is the hospital's exclusive contract with nurse-anesthetist Floyd Bell for anesthesia services. The hospital says the arrangement is necessary if it is to have guaranteed, around-the-clock anesthesia services. Anesthesiologists Mina Majmudar and Ermelinda Arriola claim it unlawfully denies them their hospital privileges and abridges the freedom of a patient to choose a physician for anesthesia over a nurse.

In response to a motion filed by J. K. Wells, attorney for the doctors, Johnson Circuit Court Judge W. B. Hazelrigg this week reinstated an injunction which forbids the hospital from enforcing its contract with Bell and permits the two doctors to work there as usual.

Judge Hazelrigg heard the motion in the absence of Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, who last week lifted the injunction on the relatively technical grounds that nurse-anesthetist Bell had not been made a party to the proceedings. Hazelrigg was apparently satisfied that, in the amended complaint, that deficiency was made good.

Highlands' attorney Phillip Damron said he intends to file a motion to dissolve the injunction and expects it to be heard before Judge Conley here next Monday.

Assuming that technical deficiencies in the complaint have been remedied—which means, in Damron's opinion, that Bell must be subpoenaed to appear in court and not merely named as a party to the suit—the issue may then have to be decided on substantive rather than procedural grounds.

Fear Dampens Spirit Here Of Hallowe'en Celebration

Prestonsburg householders have a good start on their Christmas candy. Most of them stocked heavily for Hallowe'en "trick or treat," and the demand wasn't what was expected.

In fact, the number of youngsters calling on "Tic-Tac" (Saturday night) was a mere fraction of the masked visitors at other Hallowe'en seasons.

At least one Prestonsburg street had not one youngster out, making the rounds. Where youngsters did visit possibly only a third of the usual number showed up in the two hours allotted them here.

Chief of Police James Curtis said Officers of his department described the evening as unusually quiet. Also missing was the usual Hallowe'en mischief. Only two egg-throwing incidents were reported here.

The Hallowe'en quiet was due, at least in part, to the nationwide scare which began with the addition of cyanide to Extra Strength Tylenol capsules and the deaths of several persons, followed by poisoning of other medicines and confections and the im-planting of glass or sharp objects in fruits and candies offered children.

Although the Hallowe'en celebration was not cancelled in this county, restrictions were enforced, and parents in most cases wisely accompanied their children and confined their visits to the homes of friends or acquaintances.

Citizens' Meeting Set Saturday To Discuss Recent Utilities Hikes

A citizens meeting regarding recent utilities rate increases is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 6, at 3 p.m. at the Melvin Grade School.

According to a spokesman, the meeting will be of particular interest to those on fixed incomes or coal industry employees whose jobs are constantly threatened. It is hoped the session will help residents of the area join others who are fighting similar utilities increases.

Hospital Breaks Ground For $10 Million Project

Groundbreaking for Highlands Regional Medical Center's 55,000-square-foot expansion project came at a ceremony Monday afternoon which also marked the 10th anniversary of the dedication of the original medical center structure. The $10 million dollar undertaking, which is to be funded by a bond issue, guaranteed by the federal government, will provide space for the following medical center facilities: 47 new beds, new patient and visitor comfort areas, new emergency room, new intensive/coronary care unit, expanded surgical facilities, expanded radiology department, new laboratory, expanded medical records department, new physical therapy department and staff education facilities. The expansion which is being initiated as part of the center's long-range regional plan and as a means of alleviating the burden of increased patient use on the existing facility, is under the construction management of Coleman/Akers & Akers in a joint Floyd-Johnson county venture. Architects are Hayes, Wittenmyer, Tanner & Partners, of Lexington. A hospital representative, who stressed that no hospital operations would cease during construction, said the work would take an estimated two years with opening of a new emergency room some time before overall completion.

Need Heart Attack Victims For Study

Volunteers are urgently needed to help combat American's number one killer, heart disease. This disease is basically responsible for heart attacks, strokes, and fatal diseases that account for some one million deaths in the United States annually.

The National Heart and Lung Institute is conducting a program at four participating medical institutions, including the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences, to determine whether lowering blood cholesterol levels will reduce the risk of heart attacks. The program needs one thousand men and women between the ages of 30 and 64, who have had only one heart attack (suffered within the past five years), who are free of diabetes and high blood pressure, and who are not greatly overweight.

If you think you might qualify, call 1-800-643-8719. When you call, a staff member will ask some questions about your medical history. If you seem to be eligible, one of the study nurses will explain the program in detail and schedule you for a clinic screening visit. Transportation and lodging can be provided for eligible candidates to come to the clinic, located on the University campus.

If you are accepted for the study, your personal physician will be contacted and will receive all test results. I hope you will join in this national effort to answer the vital question of cholesterol's relationship to heart disease.

Jobless Figures Show Little Improvement

WASHINGTON—Unemployment rates increased in 49 states and the District of Columbia between August 1981 and August 1982, according to preliminary data released by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U.S. Department of Labor.

The rate in South Dakota was essentially unchanged. The National unemployment rate, not seasonally adjusted, rose from 7.2 to 9.6 percent over this period. The highest jobless rates were reported in Michigan (14.5 percent) and North Dakota 4.7 percent. (Data are not adjusted for seasonal variation.)

For the 221 reporting metropolitan areas for which data were available, 98 had unemployment rates that equaled or exceeded the national average.

Youngstown, Ohio (20.9 percent) reported the highest jobless rate. Stamford, Connecticut (3.5 percent) had the lowest rate.

Employment, as measured by the monthly survey of nonagricultural establishments, declined in 44 states between August of 1981 and 1982. In virtually all states, employment declines were concentrated in the goods-producing industries (mining, construction, and manufacturing), along with transportation and public utilities. On the other hand, employment gains in services continued in most states.

The largest employment decline over the year occurred in Pennsylvania (267,000). Five additional States had employment reductions that exceeded 100,000: Illinois (153,000), Michigan (140,000), Ohio (134,000), California (131,000), and Indiana (110,000). In contrast, two States, Texas and Florida, had small employment gains due mainly to job increases in trade and services.

How Can I Help A Child After Death of A Loved One?

Reading books or pamphlets which describe how others have adjusted to death can often provide insights and understanding.

Studying these books will help you to help the child and will suggest ways to communicate with the child effectively. Some of the basic books on this subject which we recommend are:

- LEARNING TO SAY GOODBYE by Eda LeShan
- TELLING A CHILD ABOUT DEATH by Edgan N. Jackson
- EXPLAINING DEATH TO CHILDREN by Earl A. Grollman
- HELPING YOUR CHILD UNDERSTAND DEATH by Anna W. M. Wolf
- DEATH, GRIEF, MOURNING, THE FUNERAL AND THE CHILD by William Lamers

Consult the local library for these. Discuss it with your clergyman. Or call us. If you have any special concerns about children and death, please do call on us so we can share our professional understanding with you.

Barber Promises Action

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber is not a candidate for anything and consequently is free to trample on political toes and otherwise ruffle the feelings of a minority.

So it is that he has boldly suggested legislation that should have been effect long ago. The legislation he suggests and promises to introduce at the next General Assembly session is intended to make certain that teachers in the schools of Kentucky know something to teach as well as how to teach.

It would require teachers to undergo testing by written examination before they are placed in charge each year of the education of the thousands ranging from kindergarten through high school. If that test is successfully met the teacher would be granted certification for one year, after which a board composed of one higher education (college) official and two local educators would evaluate the ability (and, presumably, the professional conduct) of the teacher. If the teacher is approved after such evaluation, certification for ten years would be granted.

This is legislation that will run into problems. What, for example, will it do to teacher tenure, the legal device which protects the professional educator from loss of position for no reason other than his or her vote for or against a school board candidate or some other variance from the political or social path was not desired by those in authority?

Then there also will be opposition from the teachers themselves. Nobody welcomes an examination. The incompetents will fear it. The qualified could argue that their professional records make testing only an harassment.

But everybody is pretty well agreed that public education is failing, the pupil deserves better and that the teacher needs to know more than "the theory and practice" taught in teachers' colleges before he or she is entrusted with the futures of those depending upon him or her for instruction and inspiration.

Says Supt. Barber:

"I am one of those people who believe every child in Kentucky deserves a competent teacher."

And he proposes to do something about it. The rest of us like that doctrine but we've been a long time doing nothing.

"I have put this off since summer: Is it a fine or other penalty to transport "poke" across state lines? I had one stalk which came up in my garden and one under my snowball bush. Where they came from and how they ended up here I have not the slightest idea. Frost has destroyed all trace of it, so I am not afraid to tell about it now. So please advise me. Ask Watt."

Community Park At Auxier OK'd

Construction of a community park at Auxier could begin immediately, Randy Burchett, architect for the project, told the fiscal court at a special meeting Friday. The court earlier voted to award the construction contract to Sherrord Construction, of Lexington.

The vote drew predictable dissent from 2nd District Magistrate Kenneth Roberts, who has long claimed that his (the Right Beaver) district has been relatively neglected by the court, and several elements in the original plan were deleted to bring the price within the available funding.

Without the proposed dugouts, a picnic-shelter-storage-building and two light poles for the tennis court, the job could be done for $92,660 and should be completed within the next six months, Sherrord officials estimated. The court has about $96,000 in hand for the project, it was said.

Final approval was given for issuance of $400,000 in economic development bonds for construction of an office building on North Lake Drive. The building is to be erected on a vacant lot opposite city hall by James A. and Paul C. Combs, doing business as Combs and Combs Realty, Inc.

The next meeting of the fiscal court will be at 10 a.m., November 12.

drove their rigs to Frankfort in September to protest the new law? The demonstration was obstructed by dissident operators. Stumbo believes. And he thinks it also resulted partly from confusion.

The weight-distance tax went into effect July 15, he explains, while the overweight-truck permits, due to be issued October 1, have yet to see the light of day. The calls he gets from truckers indicate that what they're angry about is not the overweight-truck permit but the weight-distance tax, a completely different measure, Stumbo said this week.

Concern about the constitutionality of his bill rings hollow, Stumbo argues, when it comes from officials who once declared it unexceptionable. Deputy Secretary Nichols and Steve Reeder, of the transportation cabinet's legal staff, were among those who went over the bill "line by line" last March and Nichols admits as much in the KET program aired this week, the lawmaker noted.

"Everyone agreed when we left the 1982 General Assembly that this was one of the best pieces of legislation that we passed," he recalls.

Nor is he alone in his concern over the fate of the new law. In hearings before a legislative committee last week, other Mountain legislators were critical of transportation officials' stalling over implementation of the law.

After Vehicle Regulation Commissioner Tim Helson wrote the committee that the new law would be held in abeyance pending the outcome of a suit testing its constitutionality, Rep. Clayton Little, committee co-chairman, protested.

"We don't want to be told as stepchildren, 'We're sorry but we can't implement your law,'" the Pike county legislator said. "There is no way we can be an equal branch of government if we accept their theory."

"What they are trying to do is nullify (SB) 144," Little said.

Rep. Jim Maggard, another committee member from the eastern coalfields, argued that until the law is tested, the transportation cabinet had no option but to proceed with it. "It is not unconstitutional until the court declares it unconstitutional," he said.

Transportation officials disagreed. "If it's a question of constitutionality, we don't want to implement illegal law," said cabinet spokesman Jim Clark.

If there is a question about bridge safety, some Mountain legislators argue, the answer is to review the permit applications, see where the questionable bridges are, hold local hearings if necessary, and resolve the issue on a case-by-case basis.

Transportation officials "ought to get their engineers off their butts in Frankfort and send them out here and let them watch these coal trucks roll across these bridges day after day after day and then come back and say that they will not withstand the weights," Stumbo said recently.

Why should the financially-strapped transportation cabinet be reluctant to implement a law that promises revenues of up to $25 million for road repair? "I don't understand it," the embattled lawmaker concedes. "They don't have any alternative to offer."

County's Share Of Funds Cited

Cabinet for Human Resources Secretary Buddy H. Adams announced last week that Floyd county has received a total of $101,385 this year to provide training and work experience for county residents.

The training and work experience programs are administered by the Cabinet's Department for Manpower Services to help unemployed people find meaningful jobs.

The funds in Floyd county were spent to provide classroom training, employment and training services, and work experience to displaced homemakers.

"During these times of high unemployment, it is especially important that we award available federal funds to programs that are committed to helping people move toward economic independence," Adams said. "We are pleased to work with these local agencies to accomplish this goal."

Says She Knows Why

The headline read, "Kentucky Ranks Last in High School Grads".

Bill Nallia says, "I don't have any kind of response as to the rationale why it would be that low."

I do when parents are "locked" out of any participation at school board meetings and the entire emphasis appears to be geared toward sports (a principal refused to allow a child to play ball because of bad grades—the superintendent overrules the decision)—what else can be expected.

A small percentage of students play "the game", the rest are shoved to the side to make room for "the stars."

I have seen it happen again and again in Floyd county and have documented school's dismissing early because tournaments take precedent over learning. The fact that it is illegal to take away from classtime for any reason other than academics does not seem to bother those in the administration.

Until academics take top priority and parents are allowed to become involved in the every day workings and decisions of the school system as a whole we will continue to hold onto the distinction of being last.

Grateful To Perkins

As director of the Mountain Women's Opportunity Center of Hazard and Prestonsburg, I would like to thank Hon. Carl D. Perkins of the U. S. House of Representatives for his continued support of the Equal Rights Amendment. In his speech to the Tri-County Democratic Women's Club, Representative Perkins stated he had always supported and would continue to support the efforts of the ERA.

Once again Rep. Perkins has come through for the people of eastern Kentucky. This time he has performed a special favor for his female constituency.

Suggests Woman Official

This is an open letter to all Floyd County public officials who were voted into office by the taxpayers:

On a recent trip to the Floyd county courthouse, I was amazed by the condition of the ladies' restroom. Now I must admit that it was fairly clean but there were no provisions for privacy.

It seems to me that it would be no great task to install doors on the stalls in the ladies' restroom. Maybe it's about time we elected a woman official to represent the needs of women in this county.

GREEN VS. SEASONED WOOD

Wood burns inefficiently when it sends a lot of steam and unburned vapors up the chimney. This can happen with both green and seasoned wood.

If green wood is split up and burned in a hot fire along with some seasoned hardwood, it can burn quite efficiently. On the other hand, a big seasoned hardwood log left to smolder in a closed-down stove will burn inefficiently. A smoky fire is an inefficient one.

To keep merrily burning, a log needs either glowing coals or other burning wood close by, but not so close that the supply of oxygen is cut off. In most fires, all three stages of combustion are going on at once.

WHAT ABOUT CREOSOTE?

When a fire is not kept hot enough, some of the unburned vapors condense and deposit on stovepipe and flue in the form of runny acids and liquid tars that harden into creosote. Both a cool flue and steam from green or wet wood encourage this condensation. Acids eat away at the flue and stovepipe. Creosote build-up can catch fire.

Year's First R.I.F. Activities

 Prestonsburg Elementary held its first RIF (Reading is Fundamental) book distribution for the 1982 school year on October 19 and 20. Activities preceding the book distribution were coordinated with the Jenny Wiley Heritage Celebration. A float depicting an Indian village was entered in the festival parade, October 13 by Mrs. Carol Rice's first grade class. Eight hundred children, teachers, and parents, dressed as pioneers and indians, participated in their own parade for RIF. The Jenny Wiley Heritage theme was carried throughout the school by Indian and fall decorations in the library, as well as on the bulletin boards. Each class, as a followup to the activities, prepared either craft projects or compositions pertaining to pioneer life. Pictured above is a group of first graders.

Floyd Countian Among 8 Killed On Highways

One of eight persons who died in week-end traffic accidents in Kentucky was the victim of a two-vehicle collision on US 23 at Harold.

The victim was Robert Lee Nicholas, 40, of Petsy Layne. Injured were passengers in his auto, his sister, Mrs. Patricia Ann Ellis, of Prestonsburg, and her children, Tiffany and Chris.

State Trooper Danny Stumbo, who investigated the wreck, said Nicholas had parked alongside the highway's southbound lane and drove onto the highway, apparently to reach the northbound lane.

The Nichols car was struck by a pickup truck driven by Jimmy L. Taylor, 32, of Pikeville, who was slightly injured. Taylor was not held responsible for the accident, the officer said.

A miner, former railway employee and Army veteran, Nicholas was a native of Pike county, a son of Mrs. Dollie Mulkey Nichols, of Van Lear, and the late Noah Robert Nichols. Besides his mother, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Janet Robinson Nicholas, of Petsy Layne; three sons, Noah Shane, Robert Eugene and Dwayne Lee Nicholas, all of Gahanna O.; one daughter, Dawn, of Petsy Layne; three brothers, James Nichols, of Prestonsburg, Glenn Nichols, Marion, O., and Roy Nichols, of Dana; two sisters, Mrs. Thelma Jean Sellards, of Petsy Layne, and Mrs. Patricia Ann Ellis, of Prestonsburg.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday from the Hall Funeral Home chapel by the Rev. Dan Heintzleman, and burial was made in the Adkins cemetery at Gulnare.

Mrs. Ollie McCoy, 59, of Gulnare, died Saturday in a second area highway mishap. She was killed in a two-car crash at the intersection of US 23 and KY 2061 in Pike county.

CARD OF THANKS

We acknowledge our deep gratitude to all who were so kind and helpful to us in our bereavement upon the death of our wife and mother. We would especially thank the Rev. T.L. Biggs for his comforting words; the Community United Methodist Church and its choir, also the Free Spirit Quartet, the pallbearers, those who sent flowers and food, the Floyd Funeral Home for its efficient service, and all friends and relatives for their help and kind expressions of sympathy.

OPOSSUMS, or just plain 'possums as most people know them, have a reputation for eating just about anything. True, they're not proud when it comes to their daily fare, but the beady-eyed marsupials do have preferences and some, like the pair pictured above, know a good thing when they find it. The two are half of a litter (litter?) of little pouch mates that somehow became separated from their mother back in the spring. A Prestonsburg woman found the four near her home and began feeding them each afternoon so that the creatures soon found themselves in "possum heaven," being treated to "gourmet" brands of dog food, cooked chicken, cornbread, and even ice cream. Although the possum is not known to be particularly affectionate, these four readily submit to some stroking and back-scratching from their caretaker, and, climbing a step ladder up the fence and a couple of planks down, to get into the yard for feeding, they could almost qualify for a family circus act. The local woman who cares for them didn't want her name revealed since she's afraid someone might try to harm her possums. "It seems unbelievable," she said as she hand-fed some chicken to one of the young, healthy possums, "but they've become just like pets."

On Icy Roads... What To Do if Your Car Skids

No. 1 on the winter preparedness list for drivers is learning how to regain control when a vehicle skids on icy or slick roads.

Detailed information on controlling a skid can be found in the official Kentucky Driver Manual, any car care book or in the vehicle owner's manual. Drivers should study the methods of avoiding a skid before they venture out on icy or snow-packed roads, advise the Kentucky State Police.

There are two things to remember concerning skid control: stay off the brake and use the steering wheel to bring the vehicle back into control.

Basically, what you're trying to do is keep the front of the car in line with the back. Otherwise the skidding back of the car will "pass" the front and your car will go into a spin.

Take your foot off the gas pedal. If the back is skidding right (counterclockwise), turn the steering wheel to the right. If the back is skidding left (clockwise), turn the wheel to the left. This lines up the front with the back.

Before starting any wintertime trip, short or long, you should also remember to:

*Make sure you are well-rested and clear-headed. Never drink or take drugs if you will be driving.

*Start early and give yourself extra driving time.

*Study the owner's manual and know how to start your car in cold weather.

*Guard against carbon monoxide poisoning by keeping fresh air flowing into the vehicle through a partially opened side window. Don't start the engine in a closed garage.

*Completely clear your windshield, side and rear windows of ice and snow. Don't try to drive with just a "peephole" cleared. Turn on the heat and defroster to avoid fogging.

*Make sure everybody in the vehicle is buckled up: adults and older children in their seat belts and children under 40 inches tall in crash-tested car seats, shields or harnesses.

Once on the road, observe the special wintertime rules of the road:

*Give your car or truck an extra cushion of distance from other vehicles. It can take up to 150 feet to stop on slick roads.

*If visibility is poor, turn on the headlights, not just the parking lights.

*Be alert for slick patches. Drive at a steady pace. Keep off the brakes and avoid sharp turns or sudden stops.

*Watch for vehicles and pedestrians emerging from driveways or roads hidden by snow banks.

Officers for the ensuing year are: Jack Freed, president; Aaron Akers, vice-president; Otelia Smiley, secretary; Irene Cooley, treasurer. The new board of directors consists of Honey May, Aaron Akers, Dee Burchett, Ruby Akers and Opal S. May. The installation for the new officers and directors will be held November 18 at a dinner meeting at the Archer Park Senior Citizens' Center. Reservations should be made with Mr. Freed. The speaker for the event will be County Judge-Executive Jerry Laferty.

The chapter was saddened to learn of the death on Oct. 26 of William Hall. Mr. Hall was assistant state director of the A.A.R.P., and helped to organize the local chapter.

The speaker for the evening, Mr. Zachman, showed films entitled, "Free Tax Assistance for the Elderly," which explained how people are being trained to help others, free of charge, to file their income tax reports. A course, which would last five days, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., would be offered by the A.A.R.P., and the I.R.S., and would teach the procedures to be followed in filling out federal and state income tax forms. For this course to be offered, it would be necessary for 12 persons to enroll. Plans are being made for the offering of this course, January 3, if enough interest is shown.

The other film, "55 Alive," was presented to aid mature drivers. This course, which is in the planning stage, would need the enrollment of 15 to 18 persons, would meet two days, from 9 a.m. to 12:30. The hope was expressed that, following training, "graduates" of this course would volunteer to teach classes to others in need of this training.

The following members and guests signed the register: Mr. and Mrs. James B. Goble, Jack Freed, Nola Stepp, Flossie Ryheard, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Baldrige, Ruby Akers, Irene Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn May, Hager White, James E. Goble, Opal May, Dee Burchett, Mr. and Mrs. William Zachman, and Scott Barlow.

The group gave special thanks to Mrs. Irene Cooley, Mrs. Otelia Smiley and others, who were instrumental in planning the program.

CIRCUIT COURT TERM ADJOURNS

To Re-convene November 28; Grand Jury In Session

Floyd circuit court convened Monday morning, Judge W. W. Williams presiding, to adjourn the same day after the grand jury had been empaneled and the petit juries formed and recognized for duty at the special criminal term of the court, which convenes November 28.

The civil term of circuit court will convene October 3. Judge Williams gave as his reasons for adjourning court Monday that the pending contest suit between C. P. Stephens and O. C. Hall would be of uncertain duration and would occupy Mr. Stephens' attention so as to preclude his appearing as Commonwealth's Attorney. The grand jury remains in session.

Perry Hamilton is acting as grand jury reporter as the result of Judge Williams' order that a reporter be procured, so that evidence given before the grand jury could be held until the case was heard in court.

Names of grand jurors follow: Taulbee Harmon, foreman, Luther Frazier, Dock Meadows, Jeff Jarrell, T. J. Bentley, R. W. Harris, Wash Miller, Jr., J. C. Coburn, Frank Short, Maryland Maggard, George Meade and David Hicks.

Petit jurors who will serve at the special November term are:

Jury No. 1—Steve Whitaker, Jeff Crider, David Perry, Norman Holbrook, Ed Peffry, Alex Hackworth, George Burchett, Sr., Jeff Brown, Albert Akers, Pete Burchett, Clint Leslie, A. O. Burchett.

Jury No. 3—Jim Banks, Malcolm Kendrick, John Hughes, Lewis Wells, Zack Baldrige, Smith Hicks, Coon Puckett, Dick Garrett, Alex Banks, Jeff Short, Tivis Neeley, Will Roberts.

Miscellaneous Shower Charming Social Event

Entertaining last Thursday evening with a miscellaneous shower, Mrs. Walter S. Harkins, with her joint hostesses, Mrs. F. A. Hopkins and Mrs. Will H. Layne, of this place, and Mrs. Iley B. Browning, of Ashland, contributed one of the loveliest of the season's social functions in Prestonsburg.

The charming affair, which was given at the beautiful Harkins home on Second street, highly honored Miss Sally Gatewood Ligon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Ligon, bride-to-be of Mr. John Randolph Clarke, of Charleston, W. Va., whose marriage will be consummated Saturday, September 10.

Forming a perfect setting for the event was the home of Mrs. Harkins, which was adorned with flowers of the season, an abundance of sweet peas, roses and gladioli being used.

The guests filled the home to overflowing which attests to the popularity of the attractive bride-to-be, who is one of Prestonsburg's most charming young ladies. Those attending were hospitably received at the door by little Misses Peggy Wells and Mildred Bell, delivering many and useful gifts to Miss Mae Beam, who placed them in a large basket to be presented to the honor guest.

The bride-to-be received with her hostesses, and appeared quite charming in a very handsome imported gown of two-tone tan and brown. Later, she was led to an attractively decorated table directly under a large white wedding veil, where she opened and admired her gifts in a most appreciative manner.

The dining room presented a gorgeous scene of real beauty, as it was artistically done in pink rosebuds and white lilies. A large center-piece was made of these flowers for the table, while pink tapers lent an exquisite yellow touch to the entire scene.

Following the opening of the gifts, the hostesses served a most appetizing menu to the one hundred and fifteen guests included in this pretty affair. Those assisting in the dining room were Mrs. J. C. Hopkins, Mrs. Iley B. Browning, Mrs. J. D. Harkins, Mrs. Frank H. Layne, Misses Angeline Layne, Anna Mae Hatcher, Nell Allen, Mary Nunnery, and Florence Stephens. Those from out-of-town included or present were: Mrs. Iley B. Browning, Mrs. Bell H. Yates and daughter, of Ashland, Ky.; Mrs. E. H. Sowards, of Pikeville, Ky.; Mrs. Stephen Pieratt, of Mt. Sterling; Mrs. B. P. Friend, of Charleston, W. Va.; Mrs. Carl Colcord, of Monticool, W. Va.; Mrs. C. L. Hutspiller, of Ashland; Mrs. John Hensley, of Henderson, Texas; Miss Lillian Kendall, of Mt. Sterling, and Miss Elizabeth Gardner, of Salyersville.

LAYNE BUILDING TO HOUSE SHOW

Many Improvements are Planned By Court Theatre Owner

Announcement was made Thursday morning by Joe Ward, owner of the Court Theatre here, that the show would be moved into the Layne Building when that structure is completed. Mr. Ward plans to make of the theatre one of the most modern in the Big Sandy Valley. The part of the building which the theatre will occupy is 72 feet long by 26 feet in width and will seat 275 persons.

Many improvements will be added to the present equipment of the theatre. Mr. Ward announces. A new type of ground glass screen will be furnished, and the most satisfactory type of projection available will be used, with two new motor-driven picture machines installed. Furnishings and furniture will be modern throughout.

Comfort of theatre-goers will be assured here with the installation of the new-type blizzard ventilating system, by which the air in the building will be changed every two minutes.

Mr. Ward, who has hitherto given the public a satisfactory program of pictures, plans to improve the quality of his picture-offerings, which, with the latest type projection, will afford movie fans here entertainment equal to the best in the Big Sandy valley.

Ky. Schools Lag In Spending

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Kentucky's average salary for classroom teachers moved closer to the average for the seven bordering states last year but still remained a considerable distance from it—$560.

The latest edition of "How Kentucky Ranks" puts the Kentucky average salary estimate at $17,200 for 1981-82, but the State Department of Education has issued an actual figure of $17,294 since the bulletin went to press.

The difference between the Kentucky figure of $17,294 and the bordering states' average of $17,854 (an average of their seven estimated averages) is $560. For the previous year the difference was $622.

The difference may change when final figures are received for average salaries in the seven states.

Reaching or exceeding the average salary of classroom teachers in the seven bordering states has been a long-sought goal of the Kentucky Education Association (KEA), which publishes the annual research bulletin.

Although there was some closure on the salary gap, the gap between Kentucky's expenditure per pupil in average daily attendance and the average spent by the seven bordering states continued to widen.

For Kentucky the 1981-82 estimate is $2049 compared with a seven-state average of $2429. The difference is $380, compared with the previous year's $308.

"We in KEA continue to be upset that Kentucky's expenditures for teachers' salaries and pupils' education remain significantly below the level of the surrounding states," said KEA President Jon Henrikson.

For 1981-82 Kentucky ranked 43rd among the 50 states in per-pupil spending, down from 41st place the previous year. In average salary for teachers Kentucky ranked 31st, down from 30th place the previous year.

The per-pupil amounts come from state, local, and federal funds.

Estimated national averages in 1981-82 were $19,064 for average salary of classroom teachers and $2690 for per-pupil spending.

Kentucky ranks sixth in the nation in percent of revenue—not amount, but percent—its public schools receive from the state level. The Kentucky figure for 1981-82 is 69.63%, down slightly from 69.7%.

Only 18.52% of Kentucky's revenue for elementary and secondary schools comes from local funds, ranking Kentucky 46th in the nation. Kentucky received 11.56% of its public-school revenue from the federal level, which put the state in eighth place.

Nationally, states put in 48.87%, local governments 43.97%, and the federal government 8.06%.

The latest year for which data are available for per-capita expenditures of state and local governments is 1979-80. Those figures show Kentucky in 22nd place for public welfare ($177.09), in seventh place for highways ($268.14), in 31st place for higher education ($149.20), and in 47th place for local schools, including capital outlay ($314.06).

"How Kentucky Ranks, 1982" is available at $2 from Charles Whaley, KEA Director of Communications, 101 W. Muhammad Ali Blvd., Louisville, Ky. 40202.

The KEA research bulletin draws on data from the National Education Association research report, "Rankings of the States, 1982," which uses statistics from state departments of education and other governmental agencies. It shows Kentucky's relative standing in 123 categories.

Estimating Social Security Benefits

People who want to know how much they can expect their Social Security payment to be when they retire can do so a lot easier than they may think, depending on how old they are. The closer you are to retirement age, the easier it is for Social Security to figure out how much your benefit will be. It is possible for even a young worker to at least some idea of what to expect in retirement benefits in the future.

Your exact Social Security payment can't be computed until you're ready to retire, since all your earnings covered by Social Security up to that time will be included. Social Security benefit amounts are based on a worker's annual earnings over his or her working life, indexed for inflation. The maximum benefit payable for a person retiring at age 65 today is $729, and the average retirement benefit being paid is $406.

People can get an estimate of their benefit at age 65 by calling the Social Security office and requesting a form which can be used to send for the information. The form is sent to the Social Security Headquarters in Baltimore, Maryland, and will be returned with a statement of the earnings credited to his or her record and a benefit estimate if requested.

No "Trick" Photography, This

Like a scene from a 1950's horror movie, Romaine Shepherd's unusual Polaroid snapshot suggests that huge "killer" roaches are running amok somewhere in the countryside, perhaps looking for a gigantic refrigerator to crawl under. The shot is not "trick" photography Shepherd contends. According to the Prestonsburg resident, he made the picture to capture the bright colors of some autumn trees and on the seventh exposure of an instant film packet the distinct silhouettes of two roaches appeared. It may be that the two insects had actually crawled into the camera and assumed positions on the film at the time of exposure, or it may be that...no, it couldn't be! At any rate, keep the Raid handy.

Decision Seen Today In Suit by McSurely

A story that began near here 15 years ago—when community organizers, some of them of a more or less radical stripe, were active in eastern Kentucky communities—moves into its final chapters today (Wednesday) as a federal jury considers a claim by two former activists for $8 million in damages.

The activists have sued five government officials, three of whom have died in the meantime, for allegedly violating their civil rights.

Alan and Margaret McSurely—they were both 31 at the time—were not long in this section before they came to the attention of county and law enforcement officials, who were suspicious of their efforts to interpret the militant black-power movement for poor whites here, and of coal operators angered by the activists' sometimes disruptive opposition to stripmining.

In August, 1967, four months after their arrival, armed sheriff's deputies descended on their Pike county home, ransacking it, and carrying away hundreds of documents.

Some of the papers were later turned over to a U.S. Senate committee which was investigating race riots. The late Sen. John L. McClellan, who headed the committee, three Senate staff members, and Thomas Ratliff, former Pike County Commonwealth's Attorney, are named as defendants in the McSurelys' suit.

According to court documents, deputies burst through the front door of the couple's home shortly after 7 p.m. on August 11, 1967, read a charge of seditious conspiracy and began rummaging through the house. A large quantity of books and pamphlets was seized, as were some love letters addressed to Mrs. McSurely which revealed she had been having an affair.

Commonwealth's Attorney Ratliff, who joined the search, later gave copies of some of the confiscated papers to the McClellan committee.

At the time of the McSurelys' arrest, Ratliff was Republican candidate for lieutenant-governor, and a former coal operator and president of the Independent Coal Operators' Association.

According to historian David E. Whisman, the raid on the McSurelys' home followed a meeting attended by Pikeville Chamber of Commerce president Robert Holcomb, Big Sandy CAP director Harry Eastburn, County Judge Bill Pauley, coal operators, and "other interested parties."

The couple was indicted on the seditious charges by a Pike county grand jury which noted, "A well-organized and well-financed effort is being made to promote and spread the communistic theory of violent and forceful overthrow of the government of Pike county."

A federal court later ruled unconstitutional both the search and the 1920s Kentucky seditious law under which the McSurelys were charged. "The conclusion is inescapable that the criminal prosecutions were instituted, at least in part, in order to stop (the McSurelys') organizing activities in Pike county," a federal judge said in striking down the state law.

But their problems were by no means over. Some time after the raid on their home, eight sticks of dynamite exploded outside their bedroom window, showering them and their baby with glass. They left town in the middle of the night.

In May, 1969, they were held in contempt of Congress for refusing to turn over documents to the McClellan committee. A conviction followed but was later overturned by a U.S. Appeals Court.

In the meantime, the McSurelys responded with a civil suit of their own, alleging violations of their constitutional rights of free speech, due process, and protection against unwarranted search and seizure. They claim their personal and business documents were confiscated illegally and turned over to the Senate committee; the committee issued subpoenas based on the illegally obtained information; and the couple suffered humiliation, mental pain, loss of employment and disruption of personal privacy and safety.

In court documents, the McSurelys said they tried to convince poor Pike county families that they had the same economic interests as blacks. They suggested that the local residents "throw out the courthouse gang," and work for a heavy tax on coal, with the proceeds to be used to improve conditions for the poor.

McSurely, who has a master's degree in psychology, is a mail carrier in Washington, D.C. Mrs. McSurely is a secretary at a Washington hospital. The two are no longer married.

The Justice Department, which is representing the four Senate defendants, is expected to argue that the McClellan committee had a legitimate interest in some of the confiscated documents, including minutes of a meeting the McSurelys attended in Nashville, Tenn. in April 1967, a few days before a racial disturbance broke out there.

Marty Robbins, Dottie West, David Frizzell and Shelly West and Don Williams will headline the syndicated "Christmas Legends of Nashville," which has completed taping at Nashville's Performing Arts Center.

The TV special, produced by Multi Media Productions, will feature one hour of today's artists paying tribute to legends of the past — Patsy Cline, Tex Ritter and Jim Reeves.

The Statler Brothers will host the show.

Dottie West

Vern Gosdin, who's on the charts with "Bedroom Eyes," has signed to record for Complete Records.

Gosdin has also scored with single hits of "Til the End," "Yesterday's Gone," "Never My Love" and "Dream of Me."

He has finished a single release scheduled for late November and is completing work on an album for release in early 1983.

Vern was half of the Gosdin Brothers act.

Michael Murphey has been signed as a special guest on the Christmas edition of TV's "Nashville Alive."

Long-time Grand Ole Opry regular Porter Wagoner opened some eyes on a recent Opry appearance, when his entire Wagonmaster band appeared on stage in "long johns."

The "eye-catching" outfits were a gift to Porter from Clint Eastwood to promote the movie "Honky Tonk Man," in which Porter sings his new Viva/Warner record, "Turn the Pencil Over."

Eddie Rabbitt is back from Las Vegas for the fourth and final time this year, after headlining at the MGM Grand Hotel.

In a recent Vegas magazine reader's poll, Eddie was named "Best New Performer" and "Country Headliner of the Year."

"Crystal Gayle in Concert" is now into its second showing on Home Box Office.

Crystal is the sole star of the 60-minute special, recorded live in Ontario, Canada.

Cats Claw Bulldogs, 44-20

By WENDE BUCHANAN
The Prestonsburg High School Black Cats routed Hazard Friday night for a 44-20 victory in their last scheduled game away from home.

John DeRossett, halfback, made the opening touchdown on a 43-yard run and with quarterback Todd Nairn's two-point conversion the score became 8-0. Hazard's Jean Combs then scored on a pass from Greg Chapman. The conversion attempt failed and the score was 8-6.

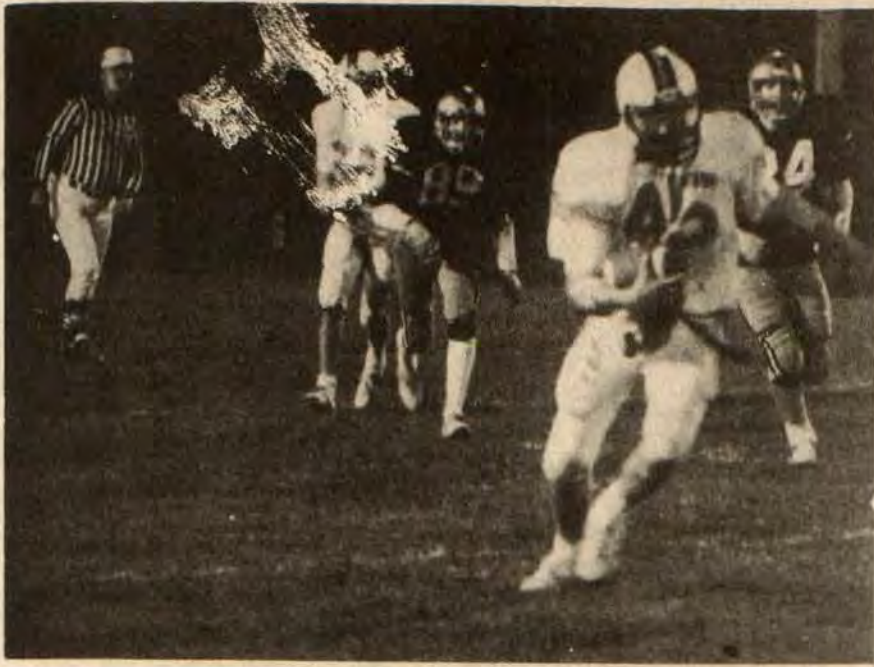

The next touchdown came in the second quarter when Nairn scored on a 12-yard run. Halfback Robert Midgette added a two-point conversion to raise the score to 16-6. Chapman then scored with a one-yard sprint, placing six more points on the board for Hazard.

Early in the third, the Cats' Irvin Speers scored on a 16-yard pass from Nairn and with Midgette's two-point conversion increased the score to 24-12. DeRossett and Midgette then scored, to bring the score to 36-12 going into the fourth period.

Shortly after Midgette scored again and with DeRossett's two-point conversion had raised the score to 44-12. Hazard's Orville Francis scored on 55-yard run for the final score of 44-20.

Prestonsburg offense rolled up 415 yards rushing and 122 yards passing for a total of 537 yards. Hazard, in comparison, had only six yards rushing and 263 passing for a total of 269 yards.

Ready Car for Winter State Police Advise

This winter make sure you don't have to view the first snowfall from a stalled, frozen-up vehicle. Get yourself and your car ready for winter driving before cold weather hits, advise the Kentucky State Police.

Cold-weather maintenance information and winter driving tips are found in most car care books and in your vehicle owner's manual.

In general, getting your vehicle ready for winter involves making adjustments in the following areas:

—Spark plugs should be replaced. The plugs should be "gapped" correctly, that is, the factory-set electrode gap properly adjusted to your car's specifications.

The battery should be checked for full charge. If necessary, get a new battery. Routine battery care includes checking the cables and connections for dirt and corrosion and checking the water level.

—All the tires should have adequate tread and correct air pressure. If the tires are wearing unevenly, front-end alignment is needed.

Before deciding to buy snow tires, consider the usual winter road conditions in your area. Snow tires work well on snow-covered roads. But on icy or wet roads, good regular tires can grip better than snow tires.

—Carbon monoxide fumes can kill. You can check the exhaust system for leaks yourself but take care not to burn your hands. Wait for a cool day when vapors can easily be seen. Turn on the engine, then block the tail pipe with a rag. Listen and watch for leaks, from a hole in the muffler for example. If the system is leak-proof, the engine should die in about 15 seconds.

As further protection against carbon monoxide poisoning, always keep fresh air flowing into the car when the motor is running. Never start the engine in a closed garage. Always keep a side window open a little when the engine is running.

—Drain and flush the radiator and refill with antifreeze solution. Check the hoses and fan belt. Replace the fan belt if it's worn and the hoses if they are soft and easily squeezed.

—Make sure the brakes and lights are in good condition. Keep the lights clean. Check the windshield wipers and defroster. Add antifreeze to the windshield washer reservoir.

—Change the oil and other lubricants to winter grades recommended in the owner's manual.

—To avoid ice formation, keep the gas tank full in winter. Adding a pint of "rubbing alcohol" about every three fillups can also prevent ice from forming.

—Check the body for rust spots and make repairs. Reattach loose weather-strip around car doors. Check for water leaks around windshields and rear light assemblies and seal if necessary.

In addition to performing cold-weather maintenance work, it's a good idea to put together a winter survival kit for your car or truck.

Whatever the season, a motorist should carry tools and equipment in his or her car needed to cope with roadside breakdowns or emergencies. Some of these items are:

*A spare tire, fuses, fan belt and an extra quart of oil.

*Booster cables.

*Fire extinguisher, first aid kit and a flashlight.

*Flares to warn oncoming traffic away from a stopped vehicle.

In cold weather, drivers should add the following items:

*Snow brush and scraper.

*A can of spray de-icer and paper towels for cleaning the windows.

*Traction material, either sand, rock salt, cat litter, mats, and old rug or carpet strips.

*Liquid graphite for treating door locks and silicone lubricant for door lining strips. (Should be applied every two weeks.)

*Tow chain or strong nylon rope.

If weather is severe, a driver should carry a heavy blanket in the car in case he or she is stranded. Also, there have been instances of motorists being trapped in their vehicles by frozen doors and windows so you might consider carrying a small hammer in the passenger compartment to break a window for emergency exit.

Endangered Orangutans
In Wildlife Special

Orangutans are shy, unaggressive members of the great ape family who seem to crave human contact—a characteristic that could make them extinct.

A one-hour program, "Orangutans—Orphans of the Wild," from public television's "Survival Special" series, offers an intimate look at the gentle, intelligent orangutan and the efforts being made to save the species from the encroachment of man. The program airs Wednesday, November 17 at 8 p.m.

The orangutan (literally "man of the forest"), a shaggy, reddish-haired, human-sized anthropoid ape, is an endangered species. Only an estimated 10,000 are left in their native Borneo and Sumatra. While it is illegal in Indonesia to capture, keep, sell or kill orangutans, many are kept and sold as pets.

This "Survival Special" travels to the rain forest of Sumatra to film the most arboreal of the great apes, cavorting gracefully through treetops as high as 150 feet above ground. The special also examines work being done at an orangutan rehabilitation center in Sumatra, backed by the World Wildlife Fund, where zoologists attempt to train captive orangutans to become wild again.

"Survival Special" is produced by Survival Anglia, LTD

Electricity is one of the most convenient and dependable forms of energy we have. But care must be taken when you're around it, because contact with it can injure or kill. So treat electricity with respect and make sure you follow these safety rules:

1. If you're trimming trees, painting a house, repairing a roof or putting up aluminum siding, make sure you're well clear of overhead power lines.
2. When using a ladder, make sure it will not come in contact with any power lines.
3. Before installing a CB, TV or ham radio antenna, make sure it's at least one and one-half times its total height away from all power lines.
4. Don't use electrical yard tools when the ground is wet. And make sure they're double-insulated or properly grounded with a 3-wire plug.
5. Before you do any type of digging, contact your power company to make sure there are no buried electric cables.
6. Never go near any fallen lines. If you see a victim of electrical shock, don't touch him if he's still in contact with the wire.

The number of working mothers with preschool children rose from 5.5 million in 1977 to 7.4 million in March 1982, when half of all such mothers were working or seeking work.

Eighteenth Birthday

Rhonda Gwen Sizemore celebrated her eighteenth birthday, Oct. 23, at the home of her mother, Betty Sizemore, of Prestonsburg. A cake and refreshments were served to her friends and relatives. She received many nice gifts.

Miss Sizemore is a 1982 graduate of Prestonsburg High School and is now attending Mayo State Vocational School where she is majoring in cosmetology.

Exhaust Fumes Are Cold Weather Peril

The Kentucky State Police is warning motorists about the cold-weather danger of carbon monoxide poisoning from vehicle exhaust systems.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless by-product of automobile exhaust which is extremely dangerous if it leaks into the passenger compartment. Small amounts cause drowsiness which could result in a traffic accident. Larger amounts of carbon monoxide can kill.

Carbon monoxide poisoning is a year-round danger but the risks are even greater in late fall and winter when people spend more time in closed cars and garages.

The state police ask drivers to take the following precautions:

*Properly maintain the vehicle's exhaust system. Check the exhaust manifold, muffler, tail pipe and other parts of the exhaust system for leaks or have a mechanic do it.

*Always leave a window partially open whenever the engine is running even if the vehicle is parked. (Station wagon owners should open a window other than the rear window since exhaust fumes could blow up from the back of the car into the luggage platform area where children often ride.)

*Never leave a vehicle running in a closed, unventilated garage. In fact, it's safer to open the garage door before starting the car or truck.

Buckley, Prichard In KET Interview

William F. Buckley, Jr., interviewed Kentucky's Edward F. Prichard, assistant to the director of the U.S. Office of Economic Stabilization during the Roosevelt years; and Mortimer Adler, Chicago-based philosopher and author, in Lexington, last week for his series "Firing Line."

The program with Adler, "Return to Education," will air Saturday, November 6, at 5 p.m. Prichard's interview, on the program "The Roosevelt Legacy," will air Saturday, November 13, at the same time.

Educated at Princeton and Harvard universities, Prichard was a law clerk to Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter before becoming a special assistant to the U.S. attorney general in 1940. After working in Washington, D.C., Prichard served Kentucky as delegate-at-large to the Democratic National Conventions in 1948, 1960 and 1964. He has contributed to many professional journals and other publications. Prichard has been a member of the Council on Higher Education for 14 years; he is now chairman of the Council.

In 1980 Prichard was appointed to the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals.

Adler was educated at Columbia University and served on the faculties of Columbia, Yale, the University of Chicago and St. John's College at Annapolis, Md. The author of many books and articles, Adler founded the Great Books program, a plan which organized hundreds of discussion groups nationwide to read and discuss literature. He is the chairman of the Encyclopedia Britannica board of editors and a member of the Institute of Philosophical Research and a senior associate of the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies, of which he is one of the founders.

As a philosopher, Adler opposes the pragmatic view that truth is whatever is useful to a given society at a specific state in its history. He affirms that there are absolute truths and values which are universal.

Educated in England, France, Mexico and at Yale University, Buckley is the author of 18 books, four of which are novels. He founded the "National Review" in 1955.

He was a committee appointee under President Richard Nixon and served the country in the United Nations.

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

At the onset of a cold or fever, it invariably follows that a well-meaning friend will repeat the "feed a cold starve a fever" saying to you. Even if he gets the wording correct, it is not the best of advice. When running a fever, your body is burning up energy at an above average rate. The same applies to a cold and other infections. As a result, it seems to follow that you would need more, not less, food during a fever. However, do try to feed a sick patient. Although headaches and upset stomachs are not conducive to large meals, people will settle for soups, teas, toast and eggs.

If you come down with a cold or fever this season, it is always best to get plenty of rest, drink fluids and eat what you can. At COOLEY APOTHECARY, INC. you'll find the kind of personal and professional service you deserve. We have a full service prescription service, plus convalescent items, such as crutches, walkers, bedpans, etc. We're small enough to know you and large enough to serve you. Located at #2 Town Center Bldg. Open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-4. 886-8106

PUBLIC NOTICE TO OWNERS OF RENTAL HOUSING

The Floyd County Housing Authority is administering a Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Program in Floyd County using funds provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Under this program, owners will rehabilitate rental units which are now substandard or have major building systems or components requiring repair or replacement. The cost of this work, which must total at least $1000 per unit, may be financed by a local lending institution, by the owner, or by any other source available to the owner. The agency does not make rehabilitation loans or grants, but will assist owners to obtain financing.

After required rehabilitation work has been completed, the agency and the owner will execute a contract which establishes a rent for the unit(s) that will cover rehabilitation costs, meet monthly operating expenses, and allow a reasonable profit on the owner's investment. For a fifteen year period, the owner will rent the rehabilitated unit(s) to eligible lower income tenants, who will pay approximately 25 percent of their income toward the rent. The agency will pay the remainder of the rent directly to the owner. The initial occupant of a rehabilitated unit may be the owner's present eligible tenant. After rehabilitation, the rent (including utilities) cannot exceed the following Maximum Rents:

BEDROOM SIZE
1	2	3	4
206	244	282	319

The agency's current funds will allow rehabilitation of 35 units of rental housing as follows:

1 BR	2 BR	3 BR	4 BR
8	18	7	2

No unit will be assisted which results in the permanent displacement of a current tenant. Proposals from owners will be received by the Housing Authority until further notice. Owners who wish to submit a proposal must obtain an application form from:

Housing Office

Cooking in the Cumberlands

By IRENE HAYES

If it were not for the holidays that are coming up, thoughts of winter would be almost unbearable. Relieve them of all physical and financial burdens, as older people generally can not cope with it, much as they might like to do so. Even if you have other plans, consider changing them. There will come a day when you cannot go.

Down on the farm at this time of year we would prepare our apples and pears for storage. They kept best if they were put into baskets with layers of straw in between. We stored them along with potatoes and other vegetables in a room in the center of the barn. It was completely lined with bales of straw to protect from freezing. We sometimes pulled up tomato vines with the green tomatoes attached. We had ripe tomatoes as late as Christmas. Cabbage keeps best if the root is pulled up with it. When the teakettle began to hum with a different sound there was a sense of urgency to get everything done as winter was just around the corner.

I have just returned from a trip to California to see my new grandbaby. It is wonderful to have an infant in the family after so many years. It was my first visit to California because I have always avoided flying until now. I saw many beautiful and interesting sights but I will have to say I was most impressed with the Farmer's Market where organically grown fruits, vegetables and nuts were sold at unbelievably low prices. I made a mental note to try to get a farmer's market organized at home. I want to try to interest farmers in growing their vegetables organically as I am wedded to the belief that, no matter how much trouble it is, it is worth it. It would help the elderly who are not able to afford enough vegetables and fruits to maintain their health. It would also help the farmers.

On the farm we planted pumpkins in with the corn. Consequently, there were loads of them and many of them were left in the fields as no one wanted them. I was not always as fond of pumpkin pie as I am now. The following recipe for pumpkin pie was given to me by Maude Hatcher, of Hindman, Ky., one of the dearest people I have ever known and an excellent cook.

Pumpkin Pie

COMBINE:
 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
 1/2 tsp. allspice
 2 eggs, well beaten
 1 1/2 cups pumpkin
 1 1/2 tps. cinnamon
 1 3/4 cups (13 ozs) evaporated milk
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/2 tsp. cloves
 1/2 tsp. ginger
 Pour into unbaked 9- or 10-inch pie shell.
 Bake in hot oven (425°) for 15 minutes. Lower heat to 350° and bake about 35 minutes or until set.

Cranberries are as much part of Thanksgiving dinner as turkey. I usually have cranberry salad or cranberry sauce and sometimes both. Rather than cook up more food than we can possibly eat, I keep the Thanksgiving menu fairly simple so that we can enjoy other foods of our choice during the holiday. This recipe for Pink Arctic Freeze Cranberry Salad was given to me by Virginia Gantt, of Murray, Kentucky. I plan to use it this Thanksgiving.

Pink Arctic Freeze Cranberry Salad

BLEND TOGETHER:
 2 (3-oz) pkgs. cream cheese, softened
 2 tbsps. mayonnaise or salad dressing
 2 tbsps. sugar
THEN ADD:
 1 (9-oz.) can (1 cup) crushed pineapple, drained
 1 (1-lb.) can (2 cups) whole cranberry sauce
 1/2 cup chopped black walnuts
WHIP until stiff: 1 cup whipping cream
 Fold into cranberry mixture.
 Pour into 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 -inch pan. Freeze 6 hours then unmold and serve.

I once preferred a dressing made with all white bread crumbs but now I prefer a dressing made with corn bread crumbs. This recipe from Lurley Howard, of Winchester, Ky., for "Aunt Minnie's Old-Fashioned Corn Bread Dressing" is very good. I add more sage but that depends on the person. Her Aunt Minnie was one of my dearest friends.

Aunt Minnie's Old-Fashioned Corn Bread Dressing

COMBINE:
 2 cups cornmeal
 2 cups buttermilk
 3 tps. melted fat
 1 tsp. baking powder
 1/2 cup flour
 1/2 tsp. soda
 3 eggs
 Pour into greased oblong pan or large heavy skillet.
 Bake until browned in 450° oven.
 Crumble corn bread into large bowl.
ADD:
 1 large-sized onion, chopped
 6 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
 1/2 cup celery, chopped
SOFTEN in milk or chicken broth: 6 to 8 slices crumbled bread
 Add to corn bread mixture.
ADD:
 1 tsp. rubbed sage (more if desired)
 Salt and Pepper to taste.
 Pour into greased 8x12-inch baking dish.
 Bake until lightly browned in 350° oven.

The following recipe for Pecan Pie was given to me by Abigail Van Buren, "Dear Abby". I included it in my cookbook because she got the recipe from a chef at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington, Kentucky.

Abby's Pecan Pie

COMBINE:
 1 cup light corn syrup
 1 cup dark brown sugar
 3 whole eggs, slightly beaten
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1 tsp. vanilla
 1/2 cup melted butter
 Pour into 9-inch unbaked pastry shell.
SPRINKLE over top: 1 heaping cup shelled pecans
 Bake 45 minutes in 350° oven.
 This is a "Specialty of the House" recipe from the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington, Kentucky. I begged this from the pastry chef to share with you.

If you can arrange to send a Thanksgiving dinner to some elderly person who has no one to cook for him or her, you will enjoy your dinner more. May this be the best Thanksgiving of all, truly giving thanks.

State Fair Miss

Kelly Nicole Hicks, five-year-old daughter of Tim and Donna Hicks, of Morehead, has won the title of Little Miss Kentucky State Fair.

The pageant was held August 18 at the Kentucky State Fair grounds in Cardinal Stadium. The contest, part of the County Fairs Day, was open to winners of similar events and county fairs across the state. The contestants were judged in theme attire and formal dress. The theme of the pageant was "My Favorite Fairy Tale." The contestants were also interviewed during the pageant. Thirty-five counties were represented.

Kelly received a cash prize of $175.00, a trophy, banner, and a crown.

She also won the "1982 Little Miss Northeast Gateway Regional Fair" pageant on June 28, and took top honors at the Ewing-Fleming Fair on July 7. She was among 45 contestants from an eight-county area in North-eastern Kentucky.

Kelly is in kindergarten this year. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hogsed, of Martin.

Families May Receive VA Burial Help

Families of veterans who select a burial site for a deceased veteran in a private cemetery have two options for Veterans Administration assistance in marking the grave, VA reminded recently.

VA will provide, upon request, a headstone or marker free of charge and ship it to the consignee designated on the application. Cost of placing the marker in a private cemetery must be borne by the applicant, however.

A second option is that VA will reimburse part of the cost of a headstone or marker bought privately and placed on the grave of a veteran. The current amount is $67.00 which is the average cost of headstones purchased by VA.

Application for the VA headstone or marker should be addressed to Director, Monument Service (42), Department of Memorial Affairs, Veterans Administration, 810 Vermont Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20420.

Application for the $67.00 reimbursement for a marker other than the VA standard should be filed at the nearest VA regional office. Proper routing of the application will expedite service.

Toll-free numbers to VA Regional Offices are listed in the white pages of the telephone book under "U.S. Government."

Early Detection

The American Cancer Society advises parents to see that their children have regular medical checkups and to be alert for any persistent symptoms such as nausea, swelling, double vision, stumbling, nosebleeds, drowsiness and listlessness.

EmHA Interest Rates On Downward Trend

Kentucky Farmers Home Administration State Director Kendell Seaton said, "Interest rates for loan programs reduced last month again move downward." The new rates become effective November 1, 1982.

The reduced interest rates are said indicative of the general move across all sectors of the economy toward lower interest rates.

These new interest rates for FmHA loans will affect the entire rural economy. The farm sector which depends so heavily on credit will be one of the major beneficiaries of the reduced interest rate.

In the farmer programs, the interest rates for Farm Operating loans will go from the present 13.25 percent down to 11.5 percent. Farm Ownership loans will be reduced from the present 13 percent to 11.5 percent. Interest rates for limited resource Farm Operating Loans will be lowered from 10.25 percent to 8 percent, and limited resource Farm Ownership loans drop from 6.5 percent to 5.75 percent.

Some loans to help farmers recover from natural disasters will have a lower interest rate. Rates for production loans to farmers who need financing above the actual loss but who cannot get credit elsewhere will be lowered from 15.5 percent to 14 percent. For those who can get these natural disaster loans elsewhere but choose to deal with Farmers Home, the rate will go from 16.25 to 14.25 percent. The rate for actual loss loans remains at 8 percent. The rates for Economic Emergency loans will also be reduced. Economic Emergency production loan rates will be reduced from 13.25 percent to 11.5 percent and Economic Emergency real estate loans go from 13 percent down to 11.5 percent.

Interest rates for Single Family Housing loans will drop from 13.125 to 11.5 percent except for those who can afford the rates charged by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The HUD rates will drop a full point from 13.5 to 12.5.

Loans for Multi-Family Housing will be reduced from 13.125 to 11.5 percent.

THE PRICE OF POACHING

A tag was recently mailed to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, along with a short anonymous note that it had been taken from a wild turkey killed illegally.

A check of the tag number revealed that the turkey was one of 12 hens obtained from Missouri last spring and released in the Todd-Logan county area.

This was the first release of wild turkeys in that particular part of the state. Turkeys were once native there, as they were throughout Kentucky, but they were driven from the area by unregulated hunting and the intrusions of man. The fish and wildlife department is now engaged in trying to restore wild turkeys to those places in the commonwealth where suitable habitat still exists.

The illegal killing of one wild turkey may not seem that significant to some people but the true cost is apparent to George Wright, the wildlife biologist in charge of the turkey stocking program.

"Each turkey we stock costs around $500," Wright says. Turkeys must be captured from the wilds in states where they are plentiful and transported to Kentucky. Usually some kind of trade or swap for other wildlife is involved. In this case, river otters from Louisiana were obtained by Kentucky to trade for turkeys in Missouri.

The funds for this turkey restoration program, like almost all department of fish and wildlife financing, comes from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses. So whoever shot this wild turkey in effect stole from the sportsmen of the state. It took over 66 hunting license sales (at $7.50 each) to equal the $500 that one bird cost.

This particular turkey was a juvenile—less than one year old—when she was stocked. The odds of a young turkey nesting its first year are about 50-50, Wright says, so it's possible that she did not have a chance to raise even one brood before the poacher's bullet found her.

But had she nested only once and raised five poults to maturity, and if each of her female offspring also successfully nested once, and so on for five years, that one hen could have been responsible for 300 additional wild turkeys.

"This is the real loss," Wright explains, "We're only able to stock a very few birds each year, so we have to depend upon natural reproduction to increase the flock. If the restoration program is to succeed, these turkeys must have complete protection during their first few crucial years, when populations are low and every bird is needed."

"We've gotten excellent support from local citizens in most areas where we've stocked turkeys," Wright says. "But we have more habitat to fill than we can readily get turkeys for, so if a stocking isn't successful because of poaching it will be a long time before we'll get around to that area again."

"Good turkey habitat is usually also good deer habitat," Wright says. He wants to remind deer hunters—and all hunters, for that matter—that there are no fall or winter turkey hunting seasons this year (except for archery at Land Between the Lakes) and that wild turkeys, whether they've just been stocked or are members of an established population, are a precious resource, one which illegal harvest can damage greatly.

If you have any information about a turkey poaching case, or any other wildlife law violation, get in touch with your local conservation officer or call the department of fish and wildlife's law enforcement division at (502) 564-3176.

In Appreciation

The family of Thomas E. Parsons wants to thank everyone who helped upon the passing of my beloved son, and to all who sent flowers, food and helped in other ways. Words cannot express the feelings in our hearts, so I just want to say, God Bless all of you, the ministers of the United Baptist and Regular Baptist, for the love, and kindness, and comforting words, the Hall Funeral Home for its courteous, efficient services, and the love that was showed to our family. Fertilize Now

By DWIGHT LESLIE, County Extension Agent for Agriculture

If you're the type of person who takes pride in a green lawn the year round, now is the time to fertilize in order to make sure that your lawn is the kind of lawn you would want it to be.

Apply the fertilizer to your lawn area with a rotary or gravity bed spreader. If you use a speciality fertilizer, use the recommended rates listed on the bag. If only nitrogen is to be used, apply 3 to 4 pounds of ammonia nitrate per 1,000 square feet. If you have had a soil test run on your lawn and it indicates a need for phosphorus and potassium, you may use 10 to 15 pounds of a general purpose fertilizer such as 10-10-10 analysis per 1,000 square feet.

Trees and shrubs also will benefit from a fall application of fertilizer. The general recommendation is 3 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of root area. Since tree and shrub roots grow close to the soil surface, a surface application of fertilizer, especially when followed by rainfall, will greatly benefit them. It should also be noted that since roots extend out at least two times the distance of the dripline to ensure that all of the plants roots benefit from the fertilizer application.

Mowing at the correct cutting height of 2-3 inches should be continued until grass growth completely ceases. Keep debris and leaves removed from the lawn to maintain proper lawn beauty.

If these practices are followed a green, beautiful lawn can be a sure thing for the home landscape enthusiast.

Troop 665 Hallowe'en Party

The weird looking goblins and others in this picture are really the Girl Scouts of Troop 665 in Prestonsburg. They are dressed for their Hallowe'en party which was held at the Floyd County Library. Also in October, the Scouts traveled to Jenny's Creek in Johnson county to the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Horn. While there they held a weiner roast, and a candlelight ceremony to celebrate Juliet Low's birthday. Juliet Low is the founder of the Girl Scouts in America. Officers for the troop are Kelli Ford, president; Tammy Vaughn, vice president; DeLisa Vance, secretary; and Dana Perry, treasurer.

Clean Coal Mines Key To Safety in Winter

Colder weather requires getting one's house in order for winter. Colder temperatures also require getting one's coal mine in order and paying closer attention to safety measures and dust clean-ups, according to state Mines and Minerals Commissioner Willard Stanley.

Stanley explained that "the colder the weather the drier the mines" because more moisture is absorbed by air currents.

"Quite simply, it's that time of year when operators, miners and government officials must take a constant pulse on the safety measures of coal clean-ups, rockdusting and solid blasting procedures," said the commissioner. "Keeping an eye on these practices is essential to preventing fires and explosions in our mines."

Coal dust, rockdusting and blasting are not the only volatile areas. Risks of rockfalls increase with colder weather and drier mine conditions. Therefore, guards against possible roof failures and possible injuries must be given greater consideration.

The state Department of Mines and Minerals regulates Kentucky coal fields with over 3,000 licensed strip and underground operations. Commissioner Stanley has issued a winter alert to all the coal operators working with these operations.

Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet Secretary Neil Welch added that the winter reminders are all part of the state's focus on mine safety. The department is one of 13 agencies within the cabinet.

"Mine safety remains the primary concern of the Mines and Minerals Department," Welch said. "Focus on safety is exemplified time and again by special safety bulletins, by constant upgrading of the education and training programs and of the safety-analyst program, and by enforcement of the mine-safety legislation passed by the 1982 General Assembly."

Stanley pointed out that the recent legislation, which took effect July 15, 1982, offers some of the best year-round checks on safety conditions in Kentucky mines. Operators and miners should be off to a safer season with enforcement of the new programs.

For example, one person in each of the Mines and Minerals six district offices concentrates on collecting and analyzing dust particles from various mines to assure that the mine is "wet" enough and has been sufficiently rockdusted to reduce the risk of explosions.

Since July, personnel have also been monitoring solid shooting procedures.

This has included checking blasting plans and issuing permits to operators who depend on the technique for coal production.

Keeping winter conditions and the new regulations in mind, Commissioner Stanley said that "it's a good time to make an inventory at each mine and to pay heed to nature's warning of possible ignitions and roof failures."

For more information on mine safety and coal mine clean-up, contact the Department of Mines and Minerals in Lexington at (606) 258-8818. Or call one of the district offices in Pikeville, Martin, Hazard, Harlan, London and Madisonville.

Nuclear Blast, Coalminers Are Program Topics

A program dramatizing a nuclear explosion, and another documenting the lives of three West Virginia coal miners, air back-to-back Wednesday, November 17.

"Nuclear War/A Guide to Armageddon," shown at 9 p.m., begins with a 30-minute British film showing the projected effects of a nuclear bomb detonated above St. Paul's Cathedral and ends with an examination of the United States' civil defense debate, anchored by Richmond Times-Dispatch columnist Charles McDowell. The first half includes a depiction of several British couples as they attempt to carry out civil defense recommendations for survival.

"Between Rock and a Hard Place" is a documentary in the "Non-Fiction Television" series and airs at 10 p.m. following "Nuclear War/A Guide to Armageddon."

Teenage Scientists Appear On KET Show

While many teenagers spend their time hunched over video games, a few devote hundreds of hours to intensive, difficult projects, eager to find out how things work. "NOVA" looks at one group of teens in "Adventures of Teenage Scientists," Tuesday, November 16 at 8 p.m.

The program introduces several winners of this year's Westinghouse Science Talent Search and shows how they emerge as the nation's top prospects for future science pioneers. They are a diverse group, from an Alabama seismograph enthusiast who is also a pole vaulter, to a Chicago blood researcher with a passion for modern dance.

Well-trained science teachers influenced and helped many of these students. "Adventures of Teenage Scientists" also reports that quality science teachers are an endangered species. Fewer than half of the teachers coming out of schools today actually have been trained to teach science. According to "NOVA" the result is that thousands of potential young scientists may never experience science as something beyond memorizing a textbook.

Jack Frost Gets No Credit for Fall Colors

According to state Division of Forestry Director Donald A. Hamm, Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, fall colors are one of nature's most breathtaking productions. However, contrary to what many people believe, Jack Frost is not responsible for the color changes. Some leaves, he explains, begin to turn before we have any frost.

All through the growing season, hardwood leaves remain green, although several other color pigments are present in the leaves. During the summer months chlorophyll, the green pigment, dominates the others.

During the spring and summer, the leaves serve as factories where most of the foods necessary for the tree's growth are manufactured. This food-making process takes place in the leaf in the numerous cells containing chlorophyll. In the fall, because of changes in the period of daylight and changes in temperature, the leaves stop their food-making process. At this time, the chlorophyll breaks down, and the green color disappears. The yellows, oranges, and reds become visible at that time, thus giving leaves their fall colors.

These color changes in the leaves are produced by various pigments. Different species of trees characteristically have certain color-turning tendencies which are genetically determined. The golden shades of yellow are the result of carotene pigments and are seen in black cherry and beech. The red-purple anthocyanin pigments are predominant in black gum. A combination of the two are seen in sugar maple.

As fall colors appear, other changes are taking place. At the point where the stem of the leaf is attached to the tree, a special layer of cells develops and gradually severs the tissues that support the leaf. The leaf then is blown off by the wind or falls from its own weight.

Through fallen leaves, nature has provided for a fertile forest floor. Fallen leaves contain large amounts of calcium and potassium which were originally a part of the soil. Decomposition of the leaves enriches the top layers of the soil by returning these minerals to the soil. At the same time, the decaying leaves increase the water-absorbing capacity of the humus. But if fires are allowed to run through the forest, the valuable fertilizing elements are lost, and the water-holding humus is destroyed.

According to Hamm, forests that are burned over regularly lose their soil fertility and their ability to absorb and hold moisture. The fires also damage the trees resulting in an economic loss to the landowner. Hamm asks that everyone out enjoying the colors be careful with fires of all kinds. A carelessly tossed cigarette could destroy a beautiful scenic area for years to come.

Offers Discount For Limited Local Calls

Prestonsburg area home telephone users now have available monthly service options priced at 25 and 50 percent off the rate for unlimited local calling.

The Public Service Commission (PSC) recently approved South Central Bell's proposal to expand its lower-priced, "measured service" offerings that allow those who talk less to pay less for local service.

"Phone users need alternatives to higher local phone rates brought on by inflation, steady increases in local calling and deregulation of the telephone industry," said Art Willett, local manager for Bell.

"The expansion of measured service options allows you to further tailor telephone service to your calling needs and budget," Willett said.

With the new measured service offerings, residence subscribers in the Prestonsburg area now have four local service options: "low-use" measured service at $5.63 per month; two-party service at $8.34; standard measured service at $8.45; and unlimited local calling at $11.26.

Business subscribers have three local service options: two-party service at $21.29; standard measured service at $21.40; and, unlimited local calling at $28.53. Low-use measured service is available only to home phone users.

The low-use measured service option includes no built-in monthly calling allowance. Customers are charged for each local outgoing call.

For subscribers to the 25 percent discount service, Bell has increased the built-in allowance for home users to $4.50; for business subscribers the allowance remains at $7.50. Additional local calling charges apply only if a measured service subscriber's local calling goes over the allowance.

For residential subscribers, the allowance covers about 75 typical calls; for business, 100 calls. Studies show a typical call lasts about four minutes.

With measured service, local calling charges are based on the time the call is placed, the distance called, the duration of the call and the number of calls made. Significant discounts apply for evening, night and weekend calling, as with long distance rates.

"Obviously, the amount of local calling covered in the allowance depends on when you make your calls and how long you talk," Willett said.

He said over 16,000 Kentucky families and businesses now subscribe to measured service. The vast majority do not exceed the $4.50 local calling allowance.

There is no charge for changing to measured service. More details on the money-saving options are available by calling toll free 1-800-292-2185.

Willett said the new measured service options are part of a package of rate and service changes approved October 13 by the PSC.

He said local rates will remain at the present level, but certain other services and rates changed. Among them: —Monthly telephone set charges increased. The standard rotary-dial phone increased 22 cents to $1.60 per month. Other sets increased about 15 percent monthly.

—Returning sets to Bell once service is discontinued is now the customer's responsibility. The company can now charge for sets not returned. Depending on the set, charges range from $30 for a standard rotary desk phone to $460 for the fancy, push-button automatic dialer set. A trip to the phone company is not necessary, though. Bell will offer customers a carton to mail sets back to the company.

—Mileage charges for some customers in outlying areas increased about eleven percent. Service connection charges are up about ten percent.

PHS Class of '62 Holds Second Reunion

For the second time since their graduation from Prestonsburg High School, members of the class of 1962 met at Dewey Lake at "The Pines," Saturday, June 26. Of the 146 graduates, 37 attended this year in addition to faculty members and guests.

Early Saturday morning, the graduates and their families enjoyed a brunch with coffee, doughnuts and juice being served. Saturday evening the graduates, faculty and guests were treated to dinner, dancing and class business.

Following a chicken dinner, catered by Colonel Sanders of Paintsville, Kelly Moore welcomed one and all and introduced the master of ceremonies for the evening, Tommy Hereford. The Lord's Blessing was given by Rev. Paul Ray Branham. Former Principal Woodrow Allen conducted the class roll call and introduced the teachers in attendance. Tommy Hereford then presented the awards which were as follows: one who traveled farthest, Larry Johnson, Jakarta Indonesia; longest married, Kelly Moore; most children, David Jo Willis; most grandchildren, Oakley Sparks; most changed, Gene Clark; least changed, Cheryl Harris Sexton. A special plaque was presented to Ollie Robinson who kindly agreed to be the D.J. for the evening. Records from the late fifties and early sixties were played as dancing and catching up on the last twenty years was enjoyed by all.

Former High School teachers who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Hade Durbin, Linda Stephens, Linda Sue Stephens, Mrs. Lucy Regan, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Frazier, and special guests, "Miss" Shirley Hughes and "Miss" Margaret Collins.

Driving Costs Increase Slightly

The Blue Grass Automobile Club-AAA reported that the average cost of owning and operating an American compact car rose 0.2 cents—to 24.1 cents per mile—during the third quarter of 1982.

This new average was caused by slight increases in gasoline prices and insurance costs, AAA said.

The average cost per mile is determined by combining variable and fixed costs. Variable costs amounted to an average of 8.23 cents per mile and include gasoline, oil, routine maintenance and tires.

Expenses for insurance, license and registration fees, taxes, depreciation and finance charges compile the fixed costs. Computed at an average of $6.52 per day, or $2,380 per year, fixed costs are not materially affected by mileage and are incurred even if the car is not driven.

The motorist driving 15,000 miles per year would pay $1,235 in variable costs (15,000 times 8.23 cents) and $2,380 in fixed costs, a total of $3,615, or 24.1 cents per mile ($3,615 divided by 15,000).

The AAA cost study is based on a 1982 Chevrolet, six-cylinder (173 cubic inch) Citation four-door hatchback, driven 15,000 miles annually and kept for four years. Computations for the study were made by Runzheimer and Company, Inc., of Rochester, Wisconsin, an international management consulting firm that specializes in measuring the cost of living, including transportation costs.

The report also includes automobile operating cost figures for regions of the country. New England was the most expensive, at 24.8 cents per mile. The Midwest was least expensive, at 23.6 cents. Costs in other regions were: West, 24.4 cents; Great Lakes, 24.1 cents; Mid-Atlantic, 24.0 cents; Southeast (which includes Kentucky) and Southwest, 23.9 cents.

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

By JANE BOND Health Educator

A nurse from the health department will be in Wayland, Monday, November 8, at the Methodist Church. The time will be from 10 until 2. She will offer T.B. skin tests, urinalyses, blood pressures, anemia screenings, and immunizations.

Glaucoma is the second leading cause of blindness in the United States; this disease strikes without warning or symptoms. For this reason persons over age 35 are urged to be checked regularly for the disease.

The Health Department is having a glaucoma screening clinic, Monday, November 8. These clinics are free services of the health department.

Cervical cancer kills approximately 11,000 women each year in the United States; this is a tragic figure since cervical cancer can be one of the most curable of all cancers if it is detected and treatment begun in its earliest stages. There is a simple test for cervical cancer; it takes only a few moments of a woman's time and it is painless. This test is the Pap test.

The Floyd County Health Department is having a Pap clinic, Wednesday, November 10. This clinic is open to women of all ages but those women age 45 and over are especially urged to attend since this is the high risk age for cervical cancer. The clinic is also a free service of the health department. Times for the clinic are from 8:30 until 11:30 and from 1 until 2.
