Gas Production Group Here May Win City Market

For the time being at least, the Prestonsburg Utilities Commission will probably buy gas from a group of local producers as well as from Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, the agency's attorney acknowledged this week.

The concession follows a warning by a lawyer for the local gas producers that Prestonsburg gas customers could suffer a "great and unnecessary loss" unless the utilities commission honors its contract with the group.

A continued refusal to buy gas at a price acceptable to the producers would mean that the city, and its gas consumers, would end up having to pay for the gas, anyway, the attorney said.

"The people of Prestonsburg will be paying for gas which they will not receive, which I will not like to see, and I trust the City Fathers will not like to see. Certainly, the people of Prestonsburg will not welcome this occurrence," C. Kilmer Combs, a Lexington attorney, wrote in an October 1 letter to City Attorney Paul P. Burchett and former City Attorney William G. Francis.

Lack of Quorum At Board Meet Raises Question

The selection of polling booth officials for next month's elections should be repeated, the County Attorney advised the County Court Clerk in a letter yesterday (Tuesday), since there does not appear to have been a quorum present at the meeting of the Board of Elections which made the selection.

Whereas three members of the four-member board make up a quorum, the minutes of the board's September 17 meeting indicate that only two of those present were board members, wrote County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr.

Turner indicated he had investigated the matter in response to a complaint filed last week by three individuals, two of them school board candidates in the election.

"Since a quorum was not present at the official meeting, we feel that this voids the entire selection of election officials," wrote Karen Marcum, Joyce Everly and Larry Hicks in their letter to Turner. Mrs. Marcum, of Prestonsburg, and Hicks, of Maytown, are candidates for school board member in the first and second educational divisions, respectively. "We think that the selection should be done over and we'd like the next meeting publicized," the three wrote.

Board Settles Bill For Newest School

It was the night for taking year-book pictures and the last meeting before election day—which may or may not have had something to do with the fact that last Wednesday's Board of Education meeting, which lasted just 30 minutes, was one of the briefest in memory.

However, it was not over before final payment was authorized for one new school and plans were discussed for yet another.

The board authorized payment of $70,000 still due to the contractor for the Betsy Layne High School, which opened in August. The question of a site for a proposed Prestonsburg middle school will be discussed at next month's board meeting, it was said.

Approving reciprocal contracts with neighboring school districts—the contracts ratify arrangements by which students from Floyd go to schools in neighboring counties, and vice versa—is usually a routine matter. However, some board members asked for time to study this year's contracts, which would authorize transfer of 72 Floyd students to out-of-county schools and bring 105 outsiders into Floyd schools.

Most of the incoming students are from sections near the county line in Knott county—from which 57 students are drawn, about half of them attending Allen Central and half Garrett Elementary—and in Pike county, from which some 40 students come, most of them attending Betsy Layne schools.

Of the Floyd students going to out-of-county schools, 13 are attending Pike county schools, 30 are travelling to Pikeville Independent School, and 29 to Paintsville Independent.

Superintendent E. P. Grigsby, Jr. expressed the administration's gratitude to John Campbell, Jr., assistant transportation director, who resigned recently after 34 years with the Board. David L. Turner was hired to replace him.

Also hired were:

Deborah Sue Johns, emergency kindergarten teacher for Maytown and Wayland schools; Danny Stephens, teacher at McDowell Elementary; Jerry Fultz, p.e. teacher, boys' basketball coach, and athletic director at McDowell High School; Kenneth Franklin, band director at Melvin, Osborne, and Wheelwright; Julia Parsons, remedial reading teacher at Auxier Elementary; and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Henry, coaches at Harold Elementary.

Suit Assails Change In Hospital's Policy

The right of a hospital to contract with certain anesthesiologists to the exclusion of others practicing the profession there was challenged in a circuit court complaint filed here last Friday.

The plaintiffs, Dr. Mina G. Majumdar, of Martin, and Dr. Ermelinda R. Arriola, of the Paintsville Medical Center, contend that action taken by the Highlands Hospital Corp. here to change the anesthesia policy at Highlands Regional Medical Center and enter into an exclusive contract with others to perform anesthesia services previously rendered by plaintiffs is damaging to them.

The complaint recites that plaintiffs received on Sept. 13 from Phillip Damron, hospital attorney, notice of the policy change. Complainants claim the exclusive contract constitutes a de-facto revocation of their rights and privileges as members of the hospital medical staff and that the action is contrary to the Medical Center's bylaws, rules and regulations.

Plaintiffs ask a temporary restraining order and a permanent injunction to restrain the Medical Center, with damages "in an amount to be shown" for their loss of current and future earnings and for injury to their personal and professional reputations. They claim that the change casts "in a false light" their professional reputations and is injurious to their personal and professional reputations.

Clarence Traum, Medical Center administrator, said Monday he had not reviewed the complaint and that any comment from him at that time would be "premature."

This Town...That World

Batten down the hatches. I'm threatening to go fishin' again.

I rise to register a protest. It's not fair to declare a holiday on a Monday and have the one honored by the holiday to be maligned in perpetuity. If Columbus had been around Monday to hear some of the remarks, with postoffice and banks closed, he would have joined some other people in wishing he had never discovered the country, in the first place.

KIDDIE JOKE: Know what to do if you've got a sore pig? Why, just rub it with oinkment.

THE LAST HOOT

One of the fraternal orders that at one time flourished in this part of Kentucky apparently is no longer extant. If it does still exist, it is indeed a very secret order, for nobody has heard of it in years.

I refer to the Owls, which had several "nests" around the county and started out with something of a bang.

To me, one of the uninitiated, the most distinctive thing about the Owls was their motto, which read:

Red, White and Blue Last of '82 Festivals

Dedicated this year to the "working man, foundation of America," the 13th Red, White, and Blue Day will be held Saturday, at Martin with all the panoply of former years.

The day's events will begin at 10 a.m. with the traditional raising of the flag at the Martin Elementary School which will be followed by cutting of the Freedom Cake. Mayor Larry B. Hall will give the welcoming address. Other dignitaries who will be present include Congressman Carl D. Perkins, Senator Walter "Dee" Huddleston, State Senator Benny Ray Bailey, Secretary of State Frances Jones Mills, State Auditor James B. Graham, State Representative Mary Ann Tobin, State Representative Greg Stumbo, District Judge Harold Stumbo, Circuit Court Clerk Frank DeRossett, County Clerk C. Ollie Robinson, County Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty and other county officials.

An antique car show will also be held during the morning with trophies awarded to first, second, and third places.

Highlight of the day for many, the parade will have as its marshal, Sam Church, president of the United Mine Workers of America. The 1.3 mile parade route will begin at Our Lady of the Way Hospital at 1 p.m., continue past the Martin school along the main street through Martin to end at the First Guaranty Bank, near the Y. There will be floats, marching bands, members of the military and the Shrine to enliven the parade. At its conclusion, prizes, trophies and other awards will be presented, including one to the business which best projects the spirit of freedom in its decoration.

During the afternoon there will be continuing entertainment by amateur and professional bands and entertainers. Among these will be the internationally-known still-walker, familiar to many from previous years' Red, White, and Blue Day appearances, who will be a part of the

Band Competition Slated Saturday

Prestonsburg High School's band will hold its second annual band competition, Saturday, Oct. 16, at noon at the high school here.

Bands from Floyd, Pike, Letcher, Boyd, Rowan, Whitley, Johnson and several other counties are expected to compete. Trophies are being sponsored by area businesses.

A CHUNKY RACCOON, well out of harm's way, had the hounds pretty "tore up" during the Jenny Wiley Festival Parade here Saturday. The scene was enacted on a float sponsored by the Big Sandy Coon Hunters' Association.

Council Cutback Hits Workers and Services

Four city workers will be laid off, another will not be replaced, and city support for the Archer Park senior citizens' center and Humane Society animal shelter is being discontinued following a decision of Prestonsburg city council Monday.

The cuts were made in an effort to balance the budget after council members were told a $20,000 end-of-year deficit was projected at the current rate of expenditure.

The layoff of a city firefighter means he will have to take a man off fire code inspection duty, leaving only one inspector, Fire Chief Tom Blackburn said. The cut could make the city more vulnerable to fire, he said.

A council recommendation to save gasoline will mean the cancellation of fire drills and the city fire department will no longer be able to respond to out-of-town calls, he said.

Johnny Burke, Jr., of the Floyd County Humane Society, said the loss of the $250-a-month the city has been contributing to the society's animal shelter will mean the death of the shelter as such, although it may continue as a private kennel. "You can't expect half a dozen people to keep it going with yard sales," he said.

Support for the senior citizens' center in the form of $300 a month toward the salary of a worker-driver may be picked up by some civic groups, council members indicated.

Laid off were police patrolman John Wright, firefighter Ricky Joseph, and John Allen and Tim Miller of the sanitation department. A street department worker who resigned will not be replaced.

Wheelwright Mayor Elmer Ferguson complained to the council about Prestonsburg's denying Wheelwright police department the use of its radio frequency. Mayor Harold Cooley explained that towns participating in the county-wide communications network had so far neglected to contribute financially to the system.

In response to Ferguson's pledge that Wheelwright would pay its share, Cooley told him, "If you can get (mayors of the other towns) together, we'll talk."

Betsy Layne Alumni Reunion

Graduates of Betsy Layne High School, classes 1928 through 1938, held a reunion September 4, at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

A social hour was enjoyed from 6 p.m. till 7:30 p.m. in reminiscing about "old school days." Each graduate received a booklet containing names and addresses of graduates and teachers, those who were deceased and school songs.

A buffet dinner was served to alumni, former teachers and guests. The school colors of blue and white were carried out in the decor.

Mrs. Ruby (Branham) Conn was master of ceremonies. A moment of silent prayer was given for deceased alumni and teachers. The invocation was given by Jack Branham, D.W. Howard, former principal, gave a short talk on the history of the school. A patriotic program in keeping with the Labor Day weekend was presented by Fred and Louise Wilburn, of Clearwater, Florida. Mrs. Wilburn sang, "My Mother," written and composed by her husband in honor of his mother.

Each class was represented by alumni coming from Florida, Tennessee, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Arizona, North Carolina and West Virginia, in addition to Kentucky. A special gift of a local painting was given to Mrs. James Merrell, (Babe Wallace), who was a member of the first class of 1928, which had two members.

On Sunday, Sept. 5, the alumni met in the lunch room at the new Betsy Layne High School facility, for a picnic lunch and tour of the building.

Those attending were Fred and Louise Wilburn, Regina Layne Daniel, Fanny Bush, Arcolas Boyd and Dewey Allen, Addie Bea Boyd and Eugene Hall, Norma Jean Layne, Bessie (Smith) Ward, Eva Conn and Lee Roberts, Hattie Mae Hopkins Hall, Inez Baisden Livingstone, Carmel and Marie Clark, Ruby Branham and Woodrow Conn, Georgia Robinette and Jack Allen, James George, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Howard, Mae B. Farmers Asked To Make Committee Nominations

Farmers are being asked to nominate candidates of their choice to be on the ASC county committee ballot. The ASC county committee election will be conducted from Nov. 26 to Dec. 6 by mail ballot.

Farmers have received petition forms by mail and are now submitting them to the county ASC office.

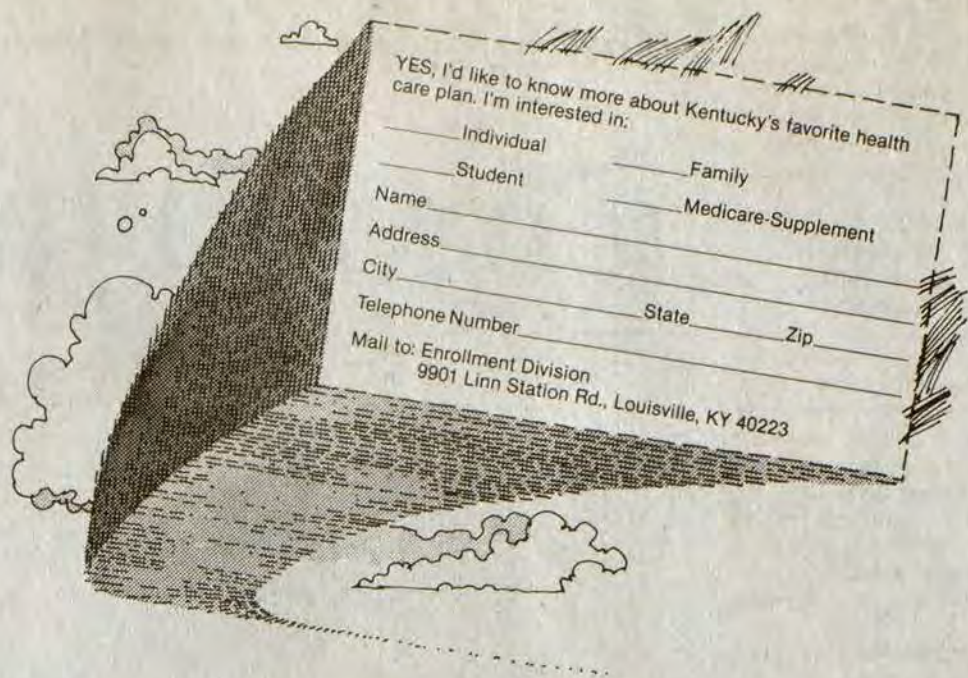

To be valid, petitions should be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, must be signed by at least three eligible farm voters in the county and must be received in the county ASCS office no later than November 1.

Farmers may circulate or sign nominating petitions for as many candidates as they choose. Anyone wishing to nominate a farmer for the ASC Committee election may contact the county ASCS office for full details, including eligibility requirements for office holders.

Business News Report

The popular business news program "Nightly Business Report" airs on KET weeknights beginning Monday, October 11 at 11 p.m.

Celebrating its one-year anniversary this fall, "Nightly Business Report" enjoys success throughout the country, attracting viewers from some 200 public television stations. The half-hour program, anchored by Paul Kangas, Del Frank and Linda O'Bryon, gives up-to-the-minute business and economic news. It features commentary by some of the nation's most knowledgeable economists including Adam Smith, Dan Lundberg, Arthur Laffer, Allen Greenspan and Lester Thurow.

Put your name on Kentucky's favorite get-well card.

It's no wonder over 1 1/2 million Kentuckians carry the Blue Cross and Blue Shield membership card.

It's the card that assures quick admittance to hospitals across the United States.

It's the card that means quality pre-paid health care including physicians' fees, hospital care, and major medical coverage to guard against the cost of catastrophic illness or injury.

It's the card that can do so much; it has made Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky the standard by which other health care plans are measured—whether for employer groups, for families, or for individuals.

If you'd like to be considered for the card so many Kentuckians depend on, fill out the coupon and mail it today.

WHERE CAN A WIDOW GET ADVICE ON FINANCIAL MATTERS?

If your deceased husband had not assigned a trust company or an attorney to handle his affairs, legal advice is a wise move.

The financial decisions which must be made immediately following a husband's death should be accomplished with the competent advice of an experienced professional, such as an attorney or banker. The "brother-in-law" route is fraught with problems and high risk.

Certain aspects of the estate, whether there is a will or not, will be decided for you by law. The will—and you definitely should have one for husband and wife—will be of utmost importance when pondering these first decisions.

We suggest you prepare yourself by some library work and by reading certain books which have been written with the widow in mind. I suggest:

Hearing Set On Coal Co. Waste

A public hearing will be held October 21 in Prestonsburg to receive comments on the proposed issuance of wastewater discharge permits to Sierra Coal Company facilities in Knott, Floyd, Magoffin and Breathitt counties.

The hearing—held jointly with the Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet—will begin at 7 p.m. at Prestonsburg Community College.

EPA is proposing to issue five-year permits which would include limitations on the amount of pollutants discharged. Pollutant limits and other permit conditions are tentative and open to comment from the public.

Sierra's mining operations are in four major watersheds in eastern Kentucky—Levisa Fork, Licking River, Quicksand Creek, and Troublesome Creek.

Both oral and written comments will be accepted at the hearing.

Written comments also may be submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency, 345 Courtland St., N.E., Atlanta, Georgia 30365.

Home-Health Plan To Be Considered

The Cabinet for Human Resources' certificate of need branch will conduct a public hearing Oct. 20 at 9:30 a.m. in the first floor conference room of the Cabinet for Human Resources Building, 275 E. Main St., Frankfort, to address proposals by MED-A-CARE, Inc., of Pikeville to establish two home health agencies. One of the agencies is proposed for Letcher county, the other for Floyd, Martin, Johnson, and Magoffin counties.

Persons wanting more information about the hearing should contact Tom Roach or Dave Danko in the Certificate of Need Branch, 275 E. Main St., Frankfort, Ky. 40621. Their telephone number is (502) 564-6620.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Beginning November 1, 1982, residents of the City of Prestonsburg will have to set their own garbage on the curb in order to have it collected by the city garbage trucks. The City will discontinue the practice of setting out the garbage. If the garbage is not set out by the resident, it will not be collected. If you have a problem setting your garbage on the curb (e.g., handicapped, elderly, etc.), call City Hall at 886-2335 and we will make arrangements to have your garbage set out. This will be effective November 1, 1982. If you have any questions, contact City Hall.

Man Collapses at Theatre . . .

Chairs Held Seat of Problem

Could this happen to you?

If so, then you can understand why the Jenny Wiley Drama Association is developing a campaign to buy permanent seating for the Jenny Wiley Amphitheatre for the future.

We are asking everyone who has ever been associated with the theatre as a patron, an advertiser, or someone who enjoys theatre to help us by contributing a seat of a permanent type during the Winter of 1982-83. For each $25.00 that someone donates to the Association, the Kentucky Challenge Grant will match it with $6.25. This amount will procure one seat, install it, and have the name of the donor inscribed on the back. These fold-up seats will be similar to those used at the World's Fair in Knoxville.

The embarrassment of canvas seats continuously collapsing is not only irritating to the person to whom it happens, but it is distracting to the audience and to the performers on the stage. It has not been unusual for one person to go through two or even three seats during a performance. In 1980, one man actually collapsed three seats within the time of the first act.

The donations, so far, have totalled 300 of the 913 seats necessary to fill the amphitheatre. Donations have ranged from two to forty seats. It is the firm goal of the Association to complete the bottom section and start on the middle sections in the second tier of seats before the Summer Season of 1983.

Please do your part and sit in comfort under the stars next Summer! All checks should be made payable to the Jenny Wiley Drama Association and mailed to P.O. Box 22, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

REBEKAHS MEET

Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31, of the I.O.O.F., Prestonsburg, met October 5 at the lodge. The meeting was called to order by Noble Grand Virginia Goble, and the minutes of the last meeting was read by Secretary Mable Jean Lemaster. A thank you card was read from the family of Joan Hatfield. The sick were sent a card. They were Delores Kendrick, Victor Hickman, and Winfred Blackburn.

There was a discussion about those who were past due on their dues. It was decided to send one final notice. Birthday greetings were sung to those having birthdays in October—Rebekah Bingham and Effie Hopsins. The delegates to the state convention will be leaving on October 14 for the state convention. All members are urged to attend all meetings. The next meeting will be October 19, at the Lodge at 7:30 p.m. Those present were Virginia Goble, Paulena Owens, Dorothy Osborne, Violetta Wright, Theckley Short, Norma Stepp, Kelly Sue Moore, Mable Jean Lemaster, Myrtle Allen, Maman Leslie, Patsy Leslie, Opal Dingus, Nola Stepp, Alicia Adkins, Jean Hickman, Otela Smiley, Verlie Joseph, Rebekah Bingham, Effie Hopkins, Vanelia Rinehart.

Auxier P.T.A. To Meet Wednesday, October 20

The Auxier P.T.A. will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday, October 20, at the Auxier school lunchroom. Final plans will be made at that time for the upcoming fall carnival. All parents are urged to attend this meeting and participate.

Clay Couple Sentenced After Forest Fire

A Clay county couple, residents of the Sand Hill section, were sentenced in U.S. Magistrate Coleman D. Moberly's court in London, July 19 as a result of a forest fire that occurred April 16, 1982, adjacent to the Daniel Boone National Forest.

Calvin Smith, 40, was found guilty of letting a fire escape and giving false, fictitious, and fraudulent information to a forest officer. He was sentenced to 120 days in jail on each count to be served concurrently. His wife, Nellie, was sentenced to 120 days in jail for giving false, fictitious and fraudulent information to an officer. Magistrate Moberly suspended her sentence and placed her on supervised probation for two years. She is the mother of two children.

Smith was burning leaves and debris near the edge of a woods during the day on April 16 (during the spring fire season) when the ban on burning was in effect until 4:30 p.m. The fire escaped, and since it was threatening the Daniel Boone National Forest, a U.S. Forest Service crew was dispatched to fight it with hand tools. A helicopter tanker was also used and it dropped 1400 gallons of water on the fire which was controlled after burning 20 acres of woodland. The cost to suppress the fire and bring it under control amounted to $1,322.91.

(The Kentucky Division of Forestry reminds all property owners that similar burning laws are in effect now through December 15, the fall fire season.)

LINDA KROECKER Meter Reader

Linda Kroecker is a Columbia Gas meter reader, and she's also a Columbia Gas customer, paying the same rates as all other customers. So like everybody else, she's concerned with holding down natural gas costs. That's why she's part of a drive at Columbia which is saving the company and its customers over $7,000,000 a year. By reading meters every other month instead of monthly as used to be the case, Columbia has cut costs with little effect on service. Through the efforts of Linda and thousands of other Columbia employees like her, Columbia is working every day to bring natural gas to your home (and theirs) as efficiently as possible. Natural gas rates are rising. But the more economical we can be, the more we'll all save.

There is so much good in the worst of us. And so much bad in the best of us, That if hardly behooves any of us To speak ill of the rest of us. Then there was that one event sponsored by the Owls in our community that makes them memorable. After they had been organized for a few months and had had several meetings, things seemed to get a bit draggy. Action was required if the Owls were going to mean much. So it was that we youngsters got our first taste of ice cream—nectar and ambrosia combined, no less. The Owls threw a party, an ice cream "social," for the entire community, and the old church where it was held was jammed. The Owls were in regalia, at least one speech was made (maybe, by the Grand Hoot, I don't recall), and the lodge members were unusually jovial, apparently enjoying the occasion even more than we who were being entertained. As the afternoon wore on it dawned on some of our elders that the "brother Owls" were partaking of something more potent than ice cream. The supply of ice cream ran out, and we ran out on the party, leaving the Owls behind. How long they remained, and their condition when they finally left, is not a matter of record, but the word around the community was that they had themselves "a time." And that was the last we heard of the Owls. They passed from our ken in one grand fling which may have left the treasury empty. Some said the Owls set a poor example at the "social" for us youngsters. I do not pass judgment. For "there is so much bad in the best of us..."

Draws 30 Months On Truck Charge

Following his guilty plea to a charge of transporting a stolen truck, Sterling Hamilton, of Teaberry, was sentenced in U.S. District Court yesterday (Tuesday) to 30 months in jail. The sentence is to follow earlier sentences of five years for a stolen explosives conviction, which is under appeal, and 18 months for an obstruction of justice conviction, already upheld by the appeals court, which Hamilton is asking the U.S. Supreme Court to review.

PARENTS WIN MILLIONS IN CRIB DEATH SUIT

A state district court jury awarded $11.2 million to the parents of an infant who suffered brain damage in his crib. Jurors ruled Thursday that Jacqueline and Steven Smith of Houston, Texas were entitled to damages from the crib manufacturer, Welsh Co., of St. Louis, and the retailer, ABC Baby Furniture and Infant Wear, Inc. According to testimony, one side of the crib collapsed July 30, 1981, as Christopher Smith, then 7 months old, was lying in it. The couple claimed that his neck became wedged between wooden rods and that he suffered brain damage from lack of oxygen.

a dispute over a 1970 contract by which the city of Prestonsburg agreed to buy gas produced on three leases in the Black Bottom section, on the river flats between the high school and community college. According to the pact, the city would pay for the gas at the same rate as that charged by Kentucky West Virginia.

Owners of the three local wells say that the city honored the deal only for about a year, when Kentucky West Virginia raised its rates. Although they were entitled to an identical raise, the city refused to pay them at the new rate, the local producers claim.

In April, 1977, after yet another raise by Kentucky West Virginia, the local producers refused to accept payment at the rate the city was paying them for their gas and the city stopped buying gas from the group.

The well owners—John Allen, Viola M. Cooley, Jettie Shreve, Elizabeth M. Spurlock, and Nell Hagewood—successfully sued the city and its utilities commission, Special Judge E. N. Venters ordering, on April 1 this year, that the plaintiffs be paid damages for their loss of profits and that the city honor its contract to buy gas from them.

Attorneys for the city argued that the contract was not valid, since it was executed by the city council and not its utilities commission and was approved by resolution rather than by ordinance. The gas supply from the local wells was sufficiently unreliable to justify cancellation of the contract, other conditions were not met, and the well owners should have taken steps to minimize their losses, the city contended.

The city and utilities commission have appealed Venters' decision.

As of October 1, city and commission owe $105,046 for the gas they declined to purchase, the well owners say. A similar debt, estimated at $106,239, would accrue over the next two years—the time it is likely to take for the appeal to be heard—if the city continued to hold out, they claimed.

"My point is to urge the City and Commission to commence taking the gas from these wells immediately," the well owners' attorney argued in his recent letter.

"To do so will cost the City nothing. It will simply mean that the gas taken from the three wells owned by the plaintiffs will not be purchased from Kentucky West Virginia... Thus, the City can prevent a potential loss... without cost," Combs added.

The utilities commission will probably buy the local gas against the "remote possibility" that the Appeals Court upholds Judge Venters' opinion, City Attorney Burchett said this week.

"Ollie" Robinson and Sheriff Henry Hale are members of the elections board. Bill Jack Darby, Republican, and Dr. Larry Leslie, Democrat, were appointed to the board by the state Board of Elections. The four are responsible for choosing election officers, two Democrats and two Republicans, for each precinct from a list submitted by each party's county executive committee.

According to the minutes of the board's Sept. 17 meeting, when election officers were picked, Sheriff Hale and Dr. Leslie were present, as were Morris Isaac, Democratic chairman but not a board member, and Carla Boyd, deputy county clerk who, according to the minutes, was taking the place of C. "Ollie" Robinson who was ill at the time.

Citing an attorney-general's opinion to the effect that no proxy may act for an absent Board of Elections member, County Attorney Turner said he is of the opinion that the Sept. 17 meeting lacked a quorum.

In any case, the law provides a "relatively simple solution," he said, noting that election officers may be replaced for cause up until five days before an election.

"Therefore I urge the Floyd County Board of Election to convene with a proper quorum, void all previous election officers, and then resignate the same election officers, if you so choose, or any other individual whose qualifications... (you) find acceptable."

Nuclear Disarmament

"The Crucial Question: Nuclear Disarmament," a six-week course of weekly two-hour sessions, will begin today (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. in room P114 of Prestonsburg Community College.

The sessions, which will meet on Wednesdays from 7-9 p.m., are being sponsored by the P.C.C. Community Services Program and a group of concerned local people.

A fee, which will be used to fund the series and help continue the work of the group, is required.

Isaacs Wins Acquittal In Trial for Robbery

A circuit court jury last Tuesday acquitted a Paintsville man who had been accused of robbing a woman at Price, August 25.

Ray Isaac, 30, was charged with taking $600 from Mrs. Norma Mature in a daylight robbery at her home.

In his defense, Isaac said that at 11 a.m., the time the robbery was said to have occurred, he was at the home of Bill Paige at the head of Mud Creek, preparing to go to work with Paige's sons.

The jury deliberated about 40 minutes before acquitting him on the charge.

Isaac was defended by Public Advocate Ned Pillersdorf. The prosecutor was Albert Burchett, in his first case as assistant Commonwealth Attorney.

Help For Senior Citizens

I hope this reaches the people 55 years of age and older. The A.A.R.P. (Association of American Retired Persons) is floundering in this county and more so in all of Eastern Kentucky, because we are not reaching the senior citizens who can and should avail themselves of the knowledge and know-how of the national A.A.R.P. that could be theirs just by being a member of this or other chapters.

We have our meetings monthly in the First Presbyterian Church, here in Prestonsburg. There always is information for the senior citizen; one example is, how to get a reduced price on the medication most senior citizens must have daily.

These are not dull, prying meetings. They are to help all senior citizens. Do you senior citizens or any of you who have senior citizens in your family, know of the fringe benefits available to senior citizens? By joining a chapter of AARP for only $2 a year this and so much more helpful information would be yours.

All senior citizens and younger persons who have a senior citizen in their families are cordially invited to attend the next monthly meeting of our AARP chapter. You may contact Jack Freed, director, at the First Presbyterian Church.

From Former Inspector

Friday, Oct. 8th, I worked my last shift as fire inspector for the City of Prestonsburg. The job of the fire department is to protect people and property from fire. Yet the fire dept. cannot prevent all fires. Successful prevention and control of fires depends on community cooperation.

I started as fire inspector with the Prestonsburg Fire Dept. in January 1980. The people of Prestonsburg accepted the fire inspector with the Michigan accent. They may not have always agreed with me but they worked with me to solve many problems. Mutual cooperation has put the City of Prestonsburg far ahead of the rest of Eastern Kentucky cities.

The Prestonsburg Fire Dept. is comprised of a group of professionals working together to achieve a common goal—the prevention and control of fire. Responsibility of the Fire Dept. chief, Tom Blackburn, include fire prevention, training, emergency medical and rescue services, communications, personnel and finance, as well as fire suppression.

I would like to thank the people of Prestonsburg who have worked with me through the years to make our town a much safer place to live, work and shop, through a cooperative fire prevention program.

Critical of Broadcast

As a parent, sports fan and a father of two sons at Prestonsburg High, I went to the home game Friday night with Lawrence County and Prestonsburg. I took a transistor radio and listened to the entire game while I watched the game. I discovered that 31 was 30 and 30 was 31, 20 was 22, 22 was 20, 38 was 33, 33 was 38 and number 12 was in on a tackle and at the same time he was standing on the side line.

Also a freshman game was played the night before was reportedly won by Breathitt county which, instead, Prestonsburg freshman won the game, 12-7.

Now, I ask you, Ollie Robinson, how is this justice and fair broadcasting to the parents, friends and fans who have to work nights and have to listen to the games on the radio. A mistake once in a while is understandable but through the entire game is not understandable, especially when the announcer has done it as long as you have.

I am not a very outspoken person unless I see something that is not right or injustice being done.

Reports Cooperation

They say good volunteers are hard to come by, but that was not my experience recently when I asked for help in conducting the American Cancer Society's Cancer Prevention Study II. Folks who were asked to fill out confidential questionnaires about habits and lifestyles were generously cooperative and eager to help.

Ruby Akers and the Drift Woman's Club, and Carolyn Rowe and her friends, did an exceptional job of reaching people and compiling information. Dr. William B. Cook enlightened us about cancer and provided us with inspiration.

So many thanks to the nearly 400 Floyd Countians who participated. In the coming years you will be seeing the results of this nationwide study and I hope you will be proud of your part in it.

Agrees and Disagrees

Let me congratulate you on your excellent article concerning DME companies in Eastern Kentucky. Whereas I was in agreement with the majority of your article, there are a few issues I would like to address and clarify for your reading audience.

First, in order that the home patient does not become involved with door-to-door trade which your article mentioned, all patients, unless they are dissatisfied with their current equipment, have the right to refuse any salesperson from seeing them and should.

Second, any patient who is contacted at home should request some identification from the person wanting to see them. If they are told stories which are confusing they should call the company which rents the equipment and ask for help.

Third, if a patient is being harassed, door to door, or on the phone, try and find out who is calling and notify the local "Funds" office or Medicare in Lexington.

Finally, and in argument with your article's closing statement, it is possible that fair but aggressive competition, and quality care and service for the elderly, can and does exist. At least from my company.

Can You Help Me?

I am trying to establish my roots, for my own, and two sons only.

Is there any one living there now who could tell me about my great-grandpa Alexander Wood/Woods (sometimes the S was added)? Alexander is said to have been born on Prater Creek - 1836—where he married in 1858. There is a close knit circle of Wood/Woods Morgan/Jarrell's; Boyds; Crum/Crumb, the Harrell's-(Herald) and Randle Randolph Akers-My great, and grandparent. All seem to be in Floyd county by 1840. The Woods lived - Mouth of Beaver, Dist. 6.

May I ask any one who can tell me anything, no matter how small, to please write me. I could refund stamp.

I'm in touch with Glenna Bradford, of Emma. She is of my line on Woods side.

Please help me.

Treasures of Past

There is no way to thank individually all those who helped make the window displays for the First Annual Jenny Wiley Festival such an interesting part of the festivities. But a heartfelt thanks to each business that cooperated and each person who shared their treasures of the past.

This was an interesting look into the way of life of other generations, a reminder of our strong and proud heritage, and a very important part of the festival.

We look forward to Jenny Wiley '83 and another weekend of interest and fun.

Veterans Day, 1982

America's national salute to veterans on November 11 is an annual time for prayers, parades, and speakers attempting to emulate an address delivered 119 years ago.

There was no Veterans Day then. There was only a time of great uncertainty—during a bloody struggle—when Abraham Lincoln spoke of an obligation to those who died so the nation might endure:

"It is for us, the living...to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they have thus far so nobly advanced."

"It is...for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave their last full measure of devotion..."

The meaning in Lincoln's words is enhanced today by the fact that 85 percent of today's 30 million American veterans served during their country's wars.

But Veterans Day is more important than statistics. It is a day for all citizens to recall battles and dark periods of adversity. It is a day to remember bright victories, devotion, and bravery.

Most importantly, perhaps, it is a day when a grateful nation rededicates itself to Lincoln's call on the Congress and the American people "to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan."

This charge has become the motto of an agency that honors veterans all year long.

The Veterans Administration is the third largest agency in government. It has 230,000 employees and a $24 billion budget.

The VA has 172 medical centers and 226 outpatient clinics which treated 1.3 million inpatients and 18 million outpatients last year. The VA also has 136 outreach Vet Centers to serve veterans.

VA medicine is affiliated with more than 100 of the nation's leading medical schools. Its medical budget is more than $6 billion a year.

Since 1973, the VA has been running the national cemetery system—107 cemeteries, with several more opening in the next few years.

Since 1944, 19 million veterans and active duty personnel have received educational benefits under the GI Bill.

The VA sends compensation and pension checks totaling $12.5 billion a year to 5 million recipients.

It administers a life insurance program with more than $100 billion worth of policies.

The VA has guaranteed home loans of more than $184 billion for nearly 11 million veterans.

But the VA story cannot be told in abstract figures. Each veteran, each dependent, and each survivor served by the Veterans Administration is a separate story.

Despite its size, the nature of its mission requires personal service.

Success in carrying out President Lincoln's call depends largely on individual ability and willingness.

It depends on the ability of a doctor in Massachusetts—or a nurse in West Virginia—to care for a patient.

It depends on a counselor in Delaware to help plan a veteran's future, or work out a personal problem.

It depends on the willingness of a volunteer in Florida to say a kind word at the proper time.

For while it is large—large in buildings, large in range of activities, large in dollars—the VA also is large in individual dedication and compassion.

More than any other government agency, the VA is people helping people.

One at a time, its people meet with veterans—in hospitals, clinics, and offices... in person, on the telephone, or by mail—and help with some need or solve some problem.

The original meaning of the word "clue" was a ball of thread—so, we "unravel" a clue.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO OWNERS OF RENTAL HOUSING

The Floyd County Housing Authority is administering a Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Program in Floyd County using funds provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Under this program, owners will rehabilitate rental units which are now substandard or have major building systems or components requiring repair or replacement. The cost of this work, which must total at least $1000 per unit, may be financed by a local lending institution, by the owner, or by any other source available to the owner. The agency does not make rehabilitation loans or grants, but will assist owners to obtain financing.

After required rehabilitation work has been completed, the agency and the owner will execute a contract which establishes a rent for the unit(s) that will cover rehabilitation costs, meet monthly operating expenses, and allow a reasonable profit on the owner's investment. For a fifteen year period, the owner will rent the rehabilitated unit(s) to eligible lower income tenants, who will pay approximately 25 percent of their income toward the rent. The agency will pay the remainder of the rent directly to the owner. The initial occupant of a rehabilitated unit may be the owner's present eligible tenant.

After rehabilitation, the rent(including utilities) cannot exceed the following Maximum Rents:

BEDROOM SIZE
1	2	3	4
206	244	282	319

The agency's current funds will allow rehabilitation of 35 units of rental housing as follows:

1 BR	2 BR	3 BR	4 BR
8	18	7	2

No unit will be assisted which results in the permanent displacement of a current tenant.

Proposals from owners will be received by the Housing Authority until further notice.

Owners who wish to submit a proposal must obtain an application form from:

A group of Prestonsburg band members were on hand this week as Prestonsburg Mayor Harold Cooley proclaimed Saturday, October 16, Prestonsburg Band Day. Beginning at 12 noon at the PHS football field 13 bands will take part in competition in a variety of classes which have been established so that participating bands compete against bands of the same size. Although Prestonsburg's band will not compete, they will perform while scores are being tallied. A concession stand will provide refreshments as well as lunch and dinner.

PARENTS OF EDUCATIONAL
DISTRICT NO. 2

While traveling over the district, I have noticed very few shelters for our children to get out of the weather to wait for buses. Should our children have to suffer like this? How many shelters could be built with the money used to lease the two cars used by your "Superintendents"? Floyd Co. schools have two assistant superintendents, while Fayette Co. schools only have one. I'm sure one of these men could handle the job. We could save a large salary to use for the benefit of our children. A person wouldn't have to look far to find a place to use the money. If we are going to waste money, let's waste it on the kids. Let's put the most important things in our lives first. Help me to help our children.

Together we can make a difference.

ELLIOT JURY INDICTS 3 ON DRUG CHARGES

An Elliott county grand jury indicted three Newfoundland people Friday on drug-related charges, Elliott County Attorney James Lewis said.

Indictments were returned against David Boggs, 21, and Charles and Joan Lyons, both 33.

Boggs was charged with cultivating marijuana, while the Lyoneses were charged with possessing more than five pounds of marijuana for purpose of sale, Lewis said.

Ohio River Healthy, Biologist Concludes

Only two fish from among those caught for a pesticide study of the Ohio River exceeded federal safety samples, a survey shows. One of the fish was a catfish caught at Louisville.

Pesticides in fish pulled from the river are well below amounts found in the mid-1970's and don't pose health hazards, said John Keyes, a biologist with the Ohio River Valley Sanitation Commission.

The family of Sherman and Martha Music May met in reunion at Archer Park, Sunday, September 26. Of the eight surviving children, seven attended, and one sister, Alta Kennedy, traveled from Wheelersburg, Ohio to attend. Another sister, Cona Baldrige, was hospitalized in Portsmouth, O., and could not be present. Two brothers, John Erastice and Dewey May, came from Melbourne, Fla., and four other sisters, who all live here, Malta Porter, Oma Hughes, Ella Prater, and Viola Cooley Derossett, all attended.

Attending were Viola and Jack Derossett, Dewey and John Erastice May, Darlene Fields, Pearl May, Marie and Luther May, Goldia May and Wayne May, Madalyn and Stanley Burchett, Oma and Arthur Hughes, Malta and Bert Porter, June and Vencil Cooley, Tim and January Cooley, Frances and Hansel Cooley, Terry and Dona Kennedy and daughters, Amanda and Sara, Alta and Raymond Kennedy, Connie and Ronald Cooley and children, Nickie, Rob, and Lon, Kimberly Lewis and children, Arthur, Shawnda, Shalena, Lisa Burchett and Suzanne Lewis, Larry David Reed, Brenda and Abe Vanderpool and son, Jason and Mark, Chrystal Johnston, Mona May and children, Christy, Melody, and Walt, Larry and Cindy May Sargent, Willie and Bonnie and Michella Jo May, Louella Music Boggs, Patsy Boggs Williams, Bill Williams and Michael, Phyllis Boggs Dingus, Toma and Wanda Webb, Margaret Harris, Sandi and Caleb Cooley and sons, Chris, Todd and Eric, Esther and Norman Ward, Marie and Jimmy Goble, Jean and Hern Burke, Honey and Wilburn May, Ella May Prater, Polk Hill and Gary Bays.

Miss Freels, Mr. Hester

Miss Lisa Gail Freels, formerly of Prestonsburg, will become the bride of Jeffrey Edward Hester on October 23 at the First Baptist Church, of Oliver Springs, Tennessee, at 7 p.m. The couple invites all their family members and friends to attend.

The parents of the engaged couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Freels, of Clinton, Tennessee, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Edward Hester, of Harriman, Tennessee.

VISIT IN LEXINGTON

Mrs. Peg Hewlett and daughter, Mrs. Pat Salisbury, were Lexington visitors last Thursday.

GOSPEL SING HELD

In connection with the first annual Jenny Wiley Festival, an evening of gospel singing was held last Wednesday night in the Prestonsburg Community College auditorium. The program, which was well-attended, featured the Sammons Family, the Deliverance, the True Believers, the Heavenly Way and the Rev. Jack DeRossett.

Prof. Chrisman Speaker At First Presbyterian

Mrs. Dorothy Chrisman, professor of physical education at Berea College, was guest speaker and leader of the program for the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church, at their October 5 meeting. Bringing with her a team of six people from Berea, Mrs. Chrisman presented her program of "Body Recall," which teaches health and wholeness for the senior adult through exercises designed so that anyone can participate. Earlier in the day, Mrs. Chrisman and her group presented similar programs at Archer Park and Martin Senior Citizens Centers, where they were acclaimed as the best such programs ever presented.

After the program at the church, the guests and participants were served supper followed by the business meeting. In addition to Mrs. Chrisman and her team, the following ladies were present: Dora Osborne, Mary Lou Layne, Elma Jessen, Myrtle Davis, Florence Music, Mary Ellis Branham, Mary Lib Powers, Haggar White, Josie Howard, and Versa Moore.

LAITY SUNDAY OBSERVED

Laity Sunday was observed Sunday at the First United Methodist Church here, with Charles Neeley, youth director, in charge of services. The guest-pastor was the Rev. Tincy Crisp, retired minister of the Emma United Methodist Church. Flowers were placed on the altar there during that time, in memory of Luther Shivel, from Mrs. Shivel and their daughters, Mrs. Mary Jo LaPointe; in honor of Mrs. Anna Stumbo, on her birthday, from her grandchildren, Lynon Frazier and Christopher Wilborn, and for Mrs. Elizabeth Wells Garriott, commemorating the occasion of her 92nd birthday, from her daughter Mrs. Peggy Spurlock.

ENTERTAINS WHEELERS

Prior to and following the Jenny Wiley Festival parade here Saturday, Dr. and Mrs. Arville Wheeler, of Nashville, Tenn., were the guests of Mrs. Carl Woods at her home on South Arnold Avenue, and were entertained with a brunch at Jerry's Restaurant. Dr. Wheeler, who served as parade marshal for the Festival, is the author of "White Squaw, the True Story of Jenny Wiley," the book on which the theme and illustrations for this event were based.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET

The Community United Methodist Women met Monday evening Oct. 4, at the church. Mrs. Nancy Tackett, president, presided at the business session. A discussion regarding the attendance at the annual meeting of the Ashland District, United Methodist Women, to be held at the South Ashland United Methodist Church, Saturday, Oct. 16, was held. It was announced that Monday, October 18 would be "Cleanup Day" at the church.

A list of the names of the women of the church was read, and it was decided that this organization would participate in "Operation Blessing," a prayer chain, sponsored by United Methodist Women.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Shirley Combs, who used as her topic, "Our Personal Relationships with God." Mrs. Combs discussed what God wants people to do as Christians—in their homes, and in their neighborhoods and churches.

The meeting, was attended by Sandy Howell, Jean Burke, Esther Ward, Nancy Tackett, Eleanor Robinson, Ernestine Collins, Anna Jean Howell, June Cooley, Bonnie Hale, Mary Katherine Music, Shirley Combs, Susan Howell, and Mary Mann.

INJURED WHILE HUNTING

Stuart Stephens sustained a fractured ankle while squirrel hunting with friends, in Wolfe county last week.

CHURCH GROUP MEETS

The Annie Allen Circle of the Irene Coal Memorial (First) Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Sarah Laven, at Allen, Sept. 4, with Mrs. Laven, president, presiding. Watchwords were repeated by the members, and Mrs. Laven read the poem, "Lead Me."

The president asked each member to select a missionary partner, and gave a report on the Baptist Associational meeting, held recently at Martin. Mrs. Goldia Williams gave the Calendar of Prayer. A dessert course was served to members, Opal Dingus, Pat Minns, Dolly Pettrey, Myrtle Allen, Julia Harrington, Zella Archer, Rebecca Rasnick, Lucy Regan, Maman Leslie, and Helen Clark, and guests, Susan Akers and Nell Montgomery.

"Many bores are so obviously happy that it is a pleasure to watch them." Robert Lynd

To Wed October 23

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pelphrey, of Paintsville, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Jacqueline, to Mr. Lloyd Michael Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Daniels, of Prestonsburg.

Miss Pelphrey is a 1980 graduate of Johnson Central High School and a 1982 graduate of Prestonsburg Community College where she received an Associate degree.

Mr. Daniels is a 1977 graduate of Prestonsburg High School and is currently employed by Hayes, Inc., of Betsy Layne.

Wedding vows will be exchanged Saturday, October 23, at 6:30 p.m. in the Mouth of Rush Free Will Baptist Church.

Burchett-Rodebaugh Vows Said

Miss Kay Burchett and Mr. Michael Dwayne Rodebaugh were united in marriage on Saturday, July 31, at the Highland Avenue Freewill Baptist Church in Prestonsburg. The candlelight, double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the pastor, the Rev. Clifford H. Austin.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Burchett, of Prestonsburg, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sanford Rodebaugh, also of Prestonsburg.

Traditional wedding selections were presented by Mrs. Kathryn Frazier, organist.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white floor-length A-line gown of Qiana with a full chapel train, wrist-length sleeves, mandarin neckline, empire waist and a flowing hemline trimmed with pearls and rose patterned venise lace accentuating the focal points of her wedding dress. Her cascading white cathedral length veil of imported French net was tiered with a waist-length blusher, held in place with a venise rose tiara trimmed with matching pearls and scattered venise lace roses. She carried a bouquet of white silk roses, blue carnations and baby's breath secured by blue and white ribbons.

Mrs. Reba Rodebaugh, sister-in-law of the groom, served as matron of honor. Angela Ousley, cousin of the bride, who served as flower girl, carried a white basket filled with rose petals, and Joey Ousley, cousin of the bride, acted as ringbearer.

Johnny Rodebaugh, brother of the groom, served as best man. Mr. Henry Isaac, of Pikeville, served as usher.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length dress of blue with a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother chose a street-length dress of blue and also wore a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church basement.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodebaugh reside at Ivel, Ky.

Special Ed Services Get an 'A'

Special education services—how are they being provided and viewed in the Big Sandy area?

According to area superintendents who comprise two area cooperatives known as Big Sandy Diagnostic Service Centers 1 and 2, which are funded through the Kentucky Department of Education's EHA-Part B Discretionary Grant program, the word is, "with success."

Each Diagnostic Service Center is run by a supervisory board comprised of area superintendents. Additionally, each superintendent has appointed a local representative to assist in the day-to-day operation of the center and a continual updating and prioritization of district needs.

The main emphasis of both Diagnostic Service Centers is to insure and increase proper identification, testing, evaluation and placement and an intensive child-find effort.

In the case of Diagnostic Service Center 1, one of the participating districts is Floyd county, and Superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr. was highly complimentary of the services it has afforded his district.

"The Diagnostic Service Center has been a great help to us, especially in that we're so large and often have insufficient funding to provide many of the specifics needed in special education," Grigsby said.

"Additionally, we welcome the additional help EKEDC has afforded us in terms of program coordination and the provision of much-needed staff."

As proof of these services, Grigsby said that Floyd county received 80 complete psychological evaluations from clinical psychologist Anna Moore, with the only cost being a $5 fee to cover the co-signing of Miss Moore's work.

And, he added, Miss Moore is presently taking additional educational work which will eliminate this cost in the future.

Miss Moore, headquartered in the Floyd county school board offices, serves an area that includes Pike county, Pikeville Independent, Morgan and Magoffin counties.

Other services being provided to Floyd county schools as a result of Diagnostic Service Center No. 1 have included increased and no-cost inservice programs, improved child-find and dissemination efforts and some assistance in a multiple-handicapped unit.

Man Reported Shot By Wife on Mud Cr. Will Not Prosecute

A Mud Creek man who was reported seriously wounded last Friday night has refused to press charges against his former wife who allegedly shot him.

The wounded man, Danny Ray Reynolds, 34, State Police were told, was shot by his ex-wife, Juanita, while he was attempting to enter or break into her home at 2 a.m. The bullet passed through his arm and lodged in his chest.

Reynolds was taken to a Lexington hospital. State Police said the last report received described him as "in satisfactory condition."

A chase of an auto from Prestonsburg to Allen ended Saturday night in several shots being fired at officers from the hillside, allegedly by the fugitives. Policeman Randy Ferrell followed the car after he had noted that it was being driven erratically. He was joined at Allen by Policeman Greg Hall and Allen Town Marshal Virgil Conn. The officers did not return the fire from the hillside but searched the area, Prestonsburg Police Chief Curtis said.

The fugitives escaped under cover of darkness but a juvenile surrendered Monday morning. His alleged companion, Ballard Brown, has not been captured. A first-degree wanton endangerment warrant has been issued for Brown's arrest, State Detective Keith Scott said.

Centers Killed, Spouse Injured In Monday Crash

James Melvin Centers, 46, Prestonsburg carpenter, was killed and his wife, Norma Campbell Centers, was seriously injured in the collision early of Monday night of their auto with a C. & O. Railway truck at the intersection of the old Middle Creek road and KY 114 (the Mountain Parkway), two miles west of here.

Mr. Centers died of head and chest injuries. His wife underwent emergency elbow surgery Monday night at Highlands Medical Center and her condition was described as "stable."

State Police reported that the railway vehicle was being driven west on KY 114 by Timothy W. Pack, of Martin, when the Centers vehicle, operated by Mrs. Centers, was being driven off the intersecting road onto the highway. The wreck was investigated by Troopers Bill Slone and Joe West.

A native of Knott county, Centers was a son of the late Sherman and Rebecca Mosley Centers. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Mrs. Rita Fleenor, both of Prestonsburg; four brothers, Garth Dalmon Centers, Cincinnati, O., Jack Richmond and George Centers, both of Lima, O., John Paul Centers, Wapakoneta, O.; a half-brother, Jennings Centers, of Ohio, and three sisters, Mrs. Peggy Stilmack, Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Phyllis Hefner, Lima, O., and Mrs. Pansy Goble, of Auxier.

Funeral rites will be conducted at 11 a.m. tomorrow (Thursday) from the Hall Funeral Home chapel, the Revs. Bill Campbell and John Woods officiating. Burial will be made in the Richmond cemetery here.

Mayo State Students At Louisville Meet

The Phi Beta Lamda officers of Mayo State Vocational-Technical School recently attended the Kentucky Fall Leadership Conference held in Louisville. During the conference, the officers attended special workshops designed to better inform them of their duties and responsibilities. They returned with several new ideas for increasing the effectiveness of their chapter.

Students who attended are Trudy Woods, president, of Prestonsburg; Charles Hicks, vice-president, of Blue River; John Austin, treasurer, of Prestonsburg; Charlotte Fitch, reporter, of Meally; Loretta Dalton, parliamentarian, of Tomahawk; Arnold Pennington, historian, of Louisa; and Bernice Griffith, substitute for secretary, of Whitehouse.

The chapter is looking forward to the Kentucky State PBL Competition to be held March 3-5, in Louisville and the national competition which will be held in San Francisco. Phi Beta Lambda is an organization for post-secondary students pursuing a career in business.

ELECT KAREN NELSON MARCUM

"TOGETHER WE CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE"

In the May 26, 1982 issue of the Floyd County Times there appeared a letter suggesting ways in which the Floyd County Board of Education could demonstrate good faith. Apparently the school board is not concerned with public opinion or matters of "good faith". Rather than "tighten their belts" and try to cut down administrative type expenses, they have chosen to fill a position made vacant by retirement of an employee in one of their administrative departments. (This money could have provided a teacher to relieve an overcrowded classroom.) I was also amazed to see the general budget published in the September 8, 1982 issue of this paper since it was not publicly presented or discussed. So much for "good faith."

Mainline Churches Lost Flocks In Drove in '70s, Report Says

By Marjorie Hyer, Washington Post Staff Writer
(Reprinted from Washington Post)

The nation's religious landscape, eroding over the past decade, has lost substantial chunks of its mainline churches.

Between 1970 and 1980, the United Presbyterian Church lost 21 percent of its membership, the Episcopal Church 15 percent, the United Church of Christ 11 percent, with United Methodists and Lutherans following closely behind.

For the first time, the number of Americans affiliated with religious institutions fell substantially behind national population growth during the decade, according to a recent study by Catholic and Protestant leaders. The population grew at 11.5 percent, but religious institutions gained only 4.1 percent.

This drop came as when some smaller churches registered sharp increases. The Assemblies of God increased by 70 percent, the Church of God (Cleveland, Tenn.) grew by 60 percent, and the Jehovah's Witnesses by 45 percent.

An exception was the Southern Baptist Convention, the nation's largest Protestant denomination, which grew by 16 percent during the decade.

Even the Roman Catholic Church, which registered a new growth of 4.6 percent during the decade, finds itself, like the mainline Protestant churches, in trouble.

The denominations with the sharpest declines share a number of characteristics:

- Theologically and politically liberal, they are the activist churches, with a tradition of voicing moral convictions on issues.
- Soul-winning no longer seems their primary focus.

The birth rate of their members falls below the level necessary to maintain their own numbers.

•They are leaders in the ecumenical movement and members of the National and World Councils of Churches.

Rapidly growing churches also share certain characteristics:

•Personal salvation, coupled with seeking to convert others to their beliefs, including a precise interpretation of traditional doctrines, is central.

•They have a higher proportion of members in the child-bearing years, and their members have larger families. Church life is often structured in such a way that the local congregation becomes the extended family.

•They remain relatively aloof from other churches. None belongs to the National and World Councils of Churches.

Wayland Youth Gunfire Victim In Montgomery

A Montgomery man is in jail at Mt. Sterling, charged with murder after he allegedly shot and killed a 17-year-old Floyd county youth early last Saturday afternoon.

James Franklin Jones, 28, is accused of shooting Alfred Lee Duff, of Wayland, in the face with a blast from a .12-gauge shotgun fired at a distance of 35 feet outside the Jones home near Hope in rural Montgomery county.

Jones later surrendered to Sheriff Bobby Joe Stamper, and bond of $25,000 cash ($50,000 property) has been asked for his release.

Coroner Conrad Herald said Duff and his mother, Mae Duff, had gone to the Jones residence to remove her clothing and other belongings left there two months earlier. Jones met them outside and warned young Duff not to take anything from his home. Duff entered the house but emerged without his mother's effects. Meanwhile, according to this version of the shooting, Jones had taken his shotgun from his car and when Duff told him he intended to go to his car for a cigarette Jones warned him not to do so. As Duff walked toward the car he was shot.

The coroner said, however, that young Duff and another man had been accused of beating Jones, about a month earlier. He said Jones was hospitalized and still has his arm in a cast.

The victim was a son of Mrs. Mae Adkins Duff, of Mt. Sterling, and the late Alfred Duff. Surviving, besides his mother, are his wife, Mrs. Melissa Robinette Duff, and a daughter, Stephanie Lynn, of Wayland; one brother, Michael Duff, of Martin; three sisters, Mrs. Charlene Crase, of Wayland, Mrs. Vanessa Shepherd, of Martin, and Mrs. Diana Slone, of Dwale; and six half-sisters, Bertha Bailey, Betty Spencer, Brenda Fox, Frieda Ousley, Donna Jean Brown and Judy Tshannon, all of Ohio.

Funeral services will be conducted at noon today (Wednesday) from the Stone Coal Regular Baptist Church, and burial will be made in the Adkins cemetery at Hueysville, the Hall Funeral Home directing.

Six Men Named By Federal Jury

A federal grand jury in Pikeville returned indictments last week against six Floyd men, according to U.S. Attorney Louis DeFalaise.

Scotty Hamilton, 23, of Teaberry, was indicted on five counts of attempting to intimidate witnesses in cases in which either he or his father, Sterling Hamilton, or both, were defendants.

Phillip Dale Moore, 39, of Wheelwright, Morris Joe Hall, 26, of Hi Hat, and Basil Ray Moore, 24, of McDowell, were charged with dealing in dynamite without a license. Both Moores were also accused of receiving and selling stolen dynamite and blasting caps.

Jake Moore, 42, and Philman Caudill, 35, both of McDowell, were each charged with two counts of possessing unregistered explosive devices.

If convicted on all counts, Hamilton could be sentenced to 25 years in prison or fined $25,000, or both; Phillip Moore faces a maximum of 65 years and a $60,000 fine, Hall 45 years and $50,000, Basil Moore 15 years and $20,000, Jake Moore and Caudill 40 years and $40,000 each.

All the defendants are scheduled to appear for arraignment in U.S. District Court in Pikeville on October 13.

The indictments were the result of investigations conducted by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, U.S. Department of the Treasury, and the Kentucky State Police.

(Note: The Phillip Moore named in the indictment is not the man of the same name who lives at Price and is the son of Beverage and Catherine Moore.)

Area School Boards Hold Regional Meeting

Dr. Charles Sword was elected 1983 chairman of the Eastern Kentucky (South) Region of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA). Dr. Sword, a member of the Martin County Board of Education, will also serve on the KSBA Board of Directors, the governing body of that statewide service organization. Dr. Dan Branham, superintendent of the Martin County Schools, was installed as secretary for the regional group.

The annual meeting, held at the Carriage House in Paintsville, was attended by approximately thirty school board members and superintendents from the seven-district region. John Stumbo, 1982 chairman of the region and of the Floyd County Board of Education, presided at the meeting.

Robert V. Evans, Vice President of the Kentucky School Boards Association, and members of the KSBA staff presented a program dealing with present and future activities and services of the KSBA.

The KSBA Eastern Kentucky (South) Region is composed of the following county school districts: Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike; and the independent school districts of Paintsville and Pikeville.

Where Someone Else's Drinking Is Problem, Al-Anon Can Assist

Have I the courage to face up to the problems that alcohol has brought into my life? Can I believe that my situation is not really hopeless, and that I am capable of improving it? Can I keep myself cheerful when everything seems to be leading me to despair? The answer could be YES.

If you feel you are being effected by someone's drinking and feel you have tried everything and there's no where else to turn, don't despair, try Al-anon. Al-anon meets Wednesday, 10 a.m., at St. James Parish Hall, Thursday, 8 p.m., Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, and Saturday, 8 p.m., Floyd Co. Library.

Research Report on Big Sandy

Morehead State University's Appalachian Development Center has released a research report of special interest to citizens of the Levisa Fork area of the Big Sandy valley in Kentucky and Virginia and of general interest to the Appalachian coal mining region.

The report was prepared by Dr. Gary Cox and is entitled "Current and Projected Socio-economic Conditions of the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River Basin of Kentucky and Virginia." It consists of an analysis of the social and economic conditions of an 11-county area.

The counties are all or partially within the Levisa Fork drainage basin and include eight Kentucky counties—Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Letcher, Magoffin, Morgan and Pike; and three Virginia counties—Buchanan, Dickinson and Wise.

The study focuses on the impact of increased mining activity on population settlement patterns, on land use and economic structure and on alternative courses of development for the region.

The publication is one of a series of research reports published by MSU's Appalachian Development Center and made available to the public. The series provides a forum for dissemination of scholarly works that deal with "environmental, economic, educational, and social issues affecting Appalachia, with particular emphasis on Eastern Kentucky."

Other reports in this series include "An Analysis of Population Changes in Eastern Kentucky, 1970-2000," also by Dr. Gary Cox; "The Ichthyofauna of the Big Sandy River Basin with Special Emphasis on the Levisa Fork Drainage," by Dr. Jerry Howell; "The Impact of Federal Regulations on the Small Coal Mine in Appalachia," by Dr. Bernard Davis; and "Fiscal Effort in Eastern Kentucky: Implications for Financing Public Services," by Dr. Douglas Dotterweich.

These reports are available by single copy, without charge, to individuals and organizations. For copies, write or call the Appalachian Development Center, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351. The telephone is (606) 783-2077.

Candidates To Face Voters

Candidates running in Kentucky's seven Congressional districts for the United States House of Representatives will address voters on "Election '82," 10 minute programs airing on KET eight evenings in October at 7:50 p.m. Fifteen of the 19 candidates vying for victory in the November 2 elections are expected to participate.

KET will present "Election '82" following three KET productions: "Kentucky Journal" on October 12, 19 and 26; "Kentucky Considered," October 14, 21 and 28, and "Comment on Kentucky," October 15 and 22.

The candidates will answer three questions, submitted by the League of Women Voters: one on the economy, another on the environment, a third on the federal budget.

"Election '82" is a KET production.

By-Line Omitted

Through error, the "by-line" which belonged to last week's feature story on Mrs. Marcella Bailey, founder of Red, White and Blue Day, was omitted. The writer of the article is Alice O. Martin, of Eastern.

D.A.V. To Meet At Auxier, Friday Andy J. Blanton Chapter No. 18, Disabled American Veterans will meet at 7 p.m. Friday at the Auxier Volunteer Fire Department building. There will also be a meeting of the D.A.V. auxiliary at this same time. All members are urged to attend.

Every time you smile, you use thirteen muscles. When you frown, you use fifty muscles.

LICENSED TO MINISTRY Charles G. Hale, of the Abbott road, was licensed to the ministry last Sunday during evening services at the Fitzpatrick Baptist Church, where he and Mrs. Hale are members, by the pastor, the Rev. John H. Woods. Following the service, the Hales and their daughter, Miss Judy Hale, who is a member of the Pikeville First Baptist Church were honored by the congregation with a supper. Many of their friends and relatives attended. Mr. Hale will be ordained as a minister at a later date.

HOMEMAKERS TO MEET The annual Homemakers' meeting will be held at Grayson, Oct. 23. The theme of the meeting will be, "Kentucky Women's Heritage," and the speaker will be Edie Pigg, who will be representing the "Quilting Bee" there. There will be cultural arts exhibits, and door prizes, and 60 Christmas tree ornaments will be auctioned.

By JAMES C. STAMPER
How the world was built in me:
It was a way up here alone above,
Without a thing to make it of
The world was made without a flaw,
Without either hammer, hatchet or saw;
Had neither nail, board, nor screw
And not a thing to nail it to.
The Lord just spoke a word or two
And the world came boldly into view.
Since the world with its people came about
It became necessary for leaders to help us out.
Never knowing for sure who is there,
It's good that we breathe a little prayer.
So, God, give us leaders brilliant,
Those that are honest for sure;
And when supplied with statesmen sufficient
Then we can go on a government tour.
My mind goes back to the thirteen stripes,
Bright stars in the sky so blue,
And the eagle that carries the high twig of government.
This is the authority I wish to renew,
A government framed by talented men
Who for liberty suffered destitution
And from the knowledge of their experience
Originated the constitution.
I greatly love the Declaration of Independence
And the founders of the Constitution you see
Because I realize there is no better government
Could ever be founded for you and me.
By these few words that follow
I've learned that Solomon still reigns
So distinctly that I had to holler
Because it relieved me of all my pain.
Like he who steals my purse steals trash
As in Shakespeare you will find,
And King Solomon's view comes to pass,
One possessed of a superior mind,
And pay them that have borne the burden
Spoken by Lincoln's heart and soul
Of the soldier boys in service
Who fought through cold and sore.

The Definition of A True Friend
Friends are gracious to those who care;
They help bear our burdens without despair.
They are as beautiful as a rose in full bloom
And as pretty as a lily that disperses our gloom.
They shine like the angel that they are
And really excel all others by far.
You see that when a man speaks
His name is engraved in his words.
No need to ask who he is,
Because he has already told you. (adv. it.)

Happy Birthday,
Amy Burke

ELECT KAREN NELSON MARCUM SCHOOL BOARD REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICT #1

"TOGETHER WE CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE"

MORE QUESTIONS PARENTS ARE ASKING

1. WHY do school board members spend so little time discussing the financial picture of a $15 MILLION DOLLAR school system?
2. WHY was a board member refused 150 desks for our local high school when there was $252,000 budgeted as a CONTINGENCY? (The Finance Officer explained that the "contingency fund" was money left over after the budget was prepared.)
3. WHY were no questions asked or action taken when an Assistant Superintendent told the board there was a need for $49,000 in funds to purchase additional textbooks?
4. WHY do repairs of school property become so vitally important in an election year, yet seem to go unnoticed in non-election years?
5. WHY was there no public discussion of the General Budget for the 82-83 school year which was published Sept. 8?

Martin Jayceettes Proclaim Freedom Week

Although not connected with this county's upcoming Red, White & Blue Day activities, a nation-wide proclamation of Oct. 10-17 as Freedom Week, signed recently in Congress, coincides in a timely way with the annual patriotic celebration.

The proclamation, according to Martin Jayceettes President Nyoka R. Slone, was a goal of the national Jaycee and Jayceettes organizations and the Martin Jayceette chapter issued the proclamation this week for the town of Martin.

In the proclamation the Jayceettes resolved to "commit to a patriotic recognition of the discovery of America and the founding freedoms of the United States of America." As part of Freedom Week, the national Jayceettes organization pledged to "show their concern, loyalty and support to our country by a vivid and patriotic display of pride in America throughout our communities."

The week was also designated as Support Our Veterans Week, it was pointed out.

Classmates Mark 25th Reunion

The Martin High School class of 1957 celebrated its 25th class reunion Sept. 4 at Frazier's Restaurant in Martin.

The class had a membership of 37 but during the years prior to '57, the membership was much greater. Memories of former classmates and Purple Flashers led the reunion committee to invite and include all former classmates in their celebration. Seventy-eight classmates and five former teachers attended.

Teachers attending included former Martin Purple Flash Coach Denzil "Hoss" Halbert; Floyd County's first woman lawyer, Cassie Allen; former English teacher, Jean Johnson; class sponsor, Libby Flannery, and former Social Science teacher, now retired, Sherill Frazier. Mr. Frazier taught more courses to the class of 1957 than any other teacher in Martin High School.

Two classmates, Judy Reitz and Russel Coleman, and one former teacher, Dorothy Allen, who are deceased, were remembered in silent prayer.

Several classmates were honored for their outstanding achievements. In the field of medicine: Lois Brenda Allen, an epidemiologist, who was recently noted for her work on a cure for herpes; Agatha Osborne Hall, union labor leader, who has recently completed a film with the Occupational Safety and Health Association, and Rosemary Clifton Witten, instructional supervisor, for her work with the Johnson county school system. Others honored were Fred Crisp, of Shreveport, La., and Lois Brenda Allen, of Houston, Texas, for traveling farthest; and four career service men, Grover Stevens, Bob Calton, Lum Ousley and Fred Crisp. A special thanks also went to the planning committee members, Glenda Mayo Frye, Bernice Click Howard, Shelby Shepherd Mace, Bobby Griffith and Hollie Barnett.

The buffet dinner prepared by the culinary staff of Frazier's Restaurant was followed by an evening of rock and rollin' to the music of the 50's. Young disc jockey Rick Caudill was on hand to provide the music and fill special requests.

Classmates who attended the reunion:

The ephedrine class of decongestants works to constrict the small blood vessels of the nose and sinuses. This causes shrinkage in the surrounding tissue that has been secreting extra fluids. Drugs of this type may be taken both in nasal spray or in pill form. One problem, however, is that they can cause "after congestion". This means that they will provide relief for a period of time, after which, there is a rebound of the congestion. Prolonged use of ephedrine decongestants tend to cause increased tolerance to the drug requiring more frequent use. Hence, an undesirable cycle can result.

There are many medications that you should use sparingly and with caution. Decongestants should always be used with care so that you don't build up a tolerance, doing more harm than good. At COOLEY APOTHECARY, INC. we're here for the health of you and your family, and we're always willing to answer your questions about any medication you might be taking. Located at -2 Town Center Bldg., where we're open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-5. 886-8106.

HANDY HINT:

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT
The First Commonwealth Bank of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, PHH, VS. NOTICE OF SALE

81-CI-539
Cos Coals, Inc., a Kentucky corporation, Paul B. Owens, David D. Allen, executor of the estate of Roger Colvin, deceased, Keny Isaacs, Inc., a Kentucky corporation, Kenneth Isaacs, individually, and Parkway Motors, Inc., a Kentucky corporation.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the August 12 term, 1982, in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Combs Airport, located on U.S. Route 23 (the Mayo Trail) in Johnson County, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 30th day of October, 1982 at 11 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash, the following described property to-wit:

One 1972 model Cessna 421B Aircraft, Serial No. 421B-0268, Registration No. N273MS; fully IFR equipped, with King avionics, auto-pilot, air-conditioning and fully pressurized. (Appraised as worth $75,000.00 by John Herald and Gus Kalos, intelligent housekeepers of Johnson County, Ky., on Sept. 20, 1982, for which both are due fees of $25.00 each to be taxed as costs.) Now located at Combs Airport, on U.S. Route 23, (the Mayo Trail), in Johnson County, Kentucky.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $57,496.61, less rebate of interest thereon at 13.75% annually for payment prior to the maturity of the 17th day of August, 1983, until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 8th day of October, 1982.

KENTUCKY AFIELD

SNIPE HUNTING

A lot of kids (and maybe even some grownups) fall for the old "snipe hunting" trick and are literally left holding the bag in the middle of the woods on a dark night.

So when folks hear about a snipe hunting season, they are understandably just a little suspicious. But the Wilson snipe is an actual game bird, just like duck or quail, with its own season and bag limit.

The snipe is one of a handful of migratory game birds that receives little attention from Kentucky hunters. Others in this group include woodcocks, gallinules, and rails. Regulations for these species are set each year within federal guidelines in much the same way duck, goose and dove seasons are set.

The woodcock is perhaps the best known and most sought-after in this group. In Kentucky, the woodcock season opened Oct. 2 and will run through Dec. 5, with a daily limit of five birds and a possession limit of 10.

The same season dates (Oct. 2-Dec. 5) apply to Wilson snipe, but the limits on this bird are eight and 16. Snipe and woodcocks are both members of the shorebird family, although woodcocks are often found in upland woods, probing the soft forest floor with their long, slender beaks for earthworms.

Snipe are most likely to be found near wet meadows, grassy marshes or bogs. Both woodcock and snipe have the disconcerting habit of not flushing until the hunter practically steps on them, then exploding away in a swift, zigzag flight that makes them a challenge to even the expert wing-shooter.

Rails and gallinules may be hunted from Nov. 12 through Jan. 20. The gallinule limits are 15 and 30, while both the daily and possession limits on rails is 25.

Both these birds are members of the rail family, which also includes the coot, a species familiar to duck and goose hunters.

Rails and gallinules are both marsh birds, and while gallinules can often be found in or near open water, the sora and Virginia rails (the two legal game species) tend to stay far back in the marsh and swamp and are hence seldom seen.

The Virginia rail has a long, skinny bill, while the sora rail and the gallinule have short, chicken-like beaks. Gallinules look something like coots but are smaller, have reddish bills and white lines along their sides.

Because Kentucky doesn't have extensive wetlands, it has only limited populations of the water-loving birds. Few people hunt specifically for rail, gallinules or snipe, but there is a small band of dedicated woodcock hunters in the state. Most of these birds are taken incidentally by hunters after other species. Many bird dogs will point woodcock in addition to quail, and duck or goose hunters, particularly those in the wetland areas of Western Kentucky, will occasionally encounter a snipe, rail or gallinule.

With limited habitat and short migrating seasons, it's not likely that hunting for these species will ever become major sports in Kentucky. But the next time someone invites you to go snipe hunting, don't automatically dismiss him as a practical joker—he just might have an actual trip for a legitimate game bird in mind.

Although doves were plentiful across much of Kentucky when the season opened Sept. 1, finding good hunting conditions was difficult in many parts of the state, according to a check with regional supervisors with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Heavy rains in some sections of the state kept hunters indoors during the first two days of the season and dampened spirits elsewhere, although the doves did seem to be flying well between showers.

But the big problem seemed to be a late growing season, which meant that few silage fields had been cut or grain fields harvested. Doves concentrate over areas like these, which offer some of the best shooting around.

Statewide, Kentucky's conservation officers checked 5,808 dove hunters during the first five days of the season. These hunters had taken 23,966 doves, which averages out to 4.13 doves per hunter, up from the 3.85 figure of last year.

When checked, 512 hunters had taken their limit of 12 birds each, and 288 citations were issued for game law violations. The supervisors felt that dove populations were either higher than last year or near the same level.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Prater Creek Homemakers met September 27, at the Prater school lunchroom. The president, Willen Campbell, presided. The lesson on "Selecting and Using a Food Processor and Blender," was given by Frances Pitts, County Extension Agent.

Club members will be making a "Star of Bethlehem" quilt on which tickets will be sold. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Jo Akers, Willena Campbell, Sereda Brown and Ellen Campbell, to members, Wanda Hall, Glenna Childers, Belle Jones, Mona Boyd, Marie Conn, Lucille Akers, Gail Taylor, Sandra Roberts, Loretta Conn, Darlene Walker, Emodel Boyd, Maggie Conn and agent Frances Pitts.

The club also had a new member-at-large, Irene Adkins, of Kenova W. Va., recruited by Ellen Campbell. Guests were Mrs. Halbert, Pearl Watts and daughter Donna of Allen, and Anna Rae Boyd, of Prater.

The next meeting will be October 25 at 7 p.m. Hostesses will be Darlene Campbell, Maggie Conn, Lucille Akers.

Ask me.

How do I pay $1,000-a-day medical costs when my coverage is only $100 a day?

That's why New York Life has introduced a new, modern series of medical expense plans designed to keep pace automatically with rising medical costs.

These plans offer a variety of benefits ranging from basic protection for hospital and surgical expenses to comprehensive coverage that can pay up to 100% of your medical expenses in or out of the hospital.

Area Gusher Still Gushing At Rate of 225 Barrels a Day

By Lee Mueller
(In the Lexington Herald)

Along the Johnson-Magoffin county line, small, shallow oil wells have been pumping a barrel or two of crude oil every day throughout most of this century.

But last month, a successful test well by Ashland Oil Inc. and two gas companies produced a gusher unlike any ever seen in this area.

In a neighborhood called Hell's Half-Acre, just inside the Johnson County line, Ashland drilled down a mile, and up came a yellowish crude that one driller says is no "special" it doesn't need refining.

"I've been told it will run in a diesel engine right out of the ground," said W. Grady Conley, president of a Salyersville-based oil and gas company.

If the quality is unusual, so is the quantity. Free-flowing—pushed earthward by spewing natural gas—the well has been producing an average of 225 barrels a day for almost two months, Ashland officials say.

Of 5,100 oil-drilling permits issued in Kentucky this year, only about 100 have been received by Magoffin county-based companies.

But half of those have been issued during the past two months, said Henry Morgan, director of the state Department of Mines and Minerals' gas and oil division.

Morgan said that the increased number of permits in Kentucky this year appears to have been prompted by new finds in old fields but that Ashland's success has created some excitement in the Salyersville area.

"It remains to be seen how much and how long it will produce," he said.

If not exactly an oil boom (state officials call it a "concentration of activity"), Magoffin Countians say that if the Ashland well's production figures hold, it could significantly change the nature of the oil and gas industry in the area.

Some changes, in fact, already are being wrought. For example:

—Because natural gas production occurs naturally with production of oil, Salyersville residents may have access to a natural gas line this fall for the first time in 20 years.

—Several idled coal miners have found jobs in the rejuvenated oil fields.

—On the other hand, the state Natural Resources and Environmental protection Cabinet is just now drafting its first regulatory program for controlling oil-well pollution. Meanwhile, two lawsuits filed in Magoffin Circuit Court last week sought compensation for damages by unchecked brine discharges from oil wells and for property damage.

—While courthouse officials report heavy leasing activity, a state citizens' group spokesman last week compared the oil leases to the coal industry's notorious broad-form deeds.

"It gives the operators the right to do anything they want to the land," said Jerry Hardt of the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition.

Like coal property, the oil leases are not being adequately taxed, he said.

Hardt said the leases are being bought for $1 to $5 an acre per year, plus a royalty of about one-eighth of gross sales.

Ashland Oil, which has a pipeline in the area that connects to its Catlettsburg refinery, buys nearly all of the oil produced in northeastern Magoffin County for about $30 a barrel, Ashland spokesman Jim Butler said.

That is about $10 cheaper than oil from the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, but Magoffin County producers are not complaining.

"We're really excited about it," said Marilyn Davison, a partner in Samar Oil & Gas Co. in Salyersville.

Samar began operations last week for another Ashland-type venture, she said. "We're sure it's going to be a good well."

At the moment, the natural gas accompanying oil production at the Ashland well is being "flared off," or burned, Butler said.

Although at least one other Magoffin county driller considers such a measure "a shame, ...a waste of money," Butler said Ashland hopes reserves in its 5,000-acre tract are large enough to make it feasible to trap the gas and sell it.

At least one Magoffin county company is already preparing to do just that.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Della Lou Hackworth, of Prestonsburg, is announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Miss Debbie Marsillett, to Mr. Darrell Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Allen, also of Prestonsburg. Miss Marsillett is the daughter of the late Jot Marsillett.

The couple will exchange wedding vows Saturday, October 23, at 6:30 p.m. at the Katy Friend Free Will Baptist Church.

The gracious custom of open church will be observed.

IN PIKEVILLE

Mrs. Dorothy Osborne and Mrs. Myrtle Allen were in Pikeville Sunday. On their way home, they stopped at Cow Creek for a visit with Mrs. Allen's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Bradis Goble.

Stretch Garden Season Plan For Spring

As winter approaches, many a green-thumbed gardener looks back with satisfaction on the wealth of vegetables produced this season and looks forward with anticipation to next summer's crops.

But a gardener's work need not be done.

Dwight Leslie, Floyd county extension agent, offers several tips to help extend the growing season into late fall and early winter, and to start extra-early next spring.

Hotbeds, Cold Frames
 Gardeners in the good old days used several devices to keep vegetable crops growing through Indian summer and beyond—a good idea for present-day gardeners as well.

The most common structure for extending the growing season is a cold frame, simply a wooden box with a transparent top of plastic or glass. Dimensions vary, but one working model is 9' high in front, 15' high in back, and 48" square.

The cold frame should be tightly built so afternoon heat can be stored in the box to maintain warm temperatures at night. In the morning, lift the lid for ventilation and to prevent excess heat buildup on warm days.

Cold frames can be used for many greens and salad crops. Lettuce, spinach, radishes, carrots, beets and many other kinds of vegetables can come fresh from the cold frame to the Thanksgiving table, and perhaps to the Christmas table as well. By insulating the insides with styrofoam, mulching around the outsides, and throwing additional waterproof coverings over the box at night, you can extend the growing season even longer.

A hotbed will keep those vegetables growing even later. Lay electric cables above a 4" layer of gravel and below about 2" of sand, and put about six inches of planting medium above the sand.

Or, keep vegetables in the garden, with covers over plants to protect them from freezing. Many gardeners use plastic gallon milk jugs with the bottoms removed. If you try this method, put a dowel or stick through the jug handle and into the soil to keep the jug from blowing away.

Putting a cloche over a row of plants also will work. Make a cloche by bending a sheet of corrugated fiberglass into a tunnel shape and bending a piece of stiff wire over the tunnel and into the ground to secure it. Stretch a second wire from the bent wire at the base of one side of the tunnel to the other side for added strength. At night, cover the ends of the tunnel with clear plastic to prevent heat loss.

Stretch Garden Season

Check Soil pH

Fall is a good time to take a soil sample to your county Extension agent for agriculture to have the pH tested. If your soil needs lime, you should add lime during the fall to benefit next summer's crops.

The term pH is shorthand for the number of hydrogen ions (charged atoms) in a solution. A solution with a low pH, such as vinegar, contains many hydrogen ions which make it acidic, while a solution with a high pH, soap, for example, has few hydrogen ions and is alkaline. Any pH value between 0 and 7 is acidic, between 7 and 14 is alkaline; a pH of 7 is called a neutral solution.

When a soil is too acidic, calcium, magnesium and phosphorus are forced out of the soil solution (the water between soil particles) or are changed into forms plants cannot use. Plants may be deficient in calcium, magnesium or phosphorus and will grow poorly.

Also, other elements, including iron, manganese and aluminum, may be dissolved by the acid and become toxic to plant growth.

Most vegetables grow best when the soil pH is about 6.5, but they generally tolerate pH values down to 5.5. Below that, crop growth often is stunted.

You may not notice the stunting at first, since all your plants will be growing at the same, slower rate, and you will have no healthy plants with which to compare them. But if an acidic soil is maintained for several years, poor crop growth will become noticeable.

Beans are usually the first plants to indicate soil acidity. Plant growth will be uneven, upper leaves will be crinkled due to manganese toxicity, and, if the seed were inoculated to fix nitrogen, the plants may look nitrogen-starved because the nitrogen-fixing bacteria need calcium to function properly. Spinach and onions also are quite sensitive to acidic soils and will grow slowly and unevenly when the pH is low.

Adding lime to the soil corrects acidic conditions. Do it in the fall, because lime takes several months to counteract the effects of excess hydrogen ions in acidic soils.

Once you have followed the recommendations of your county extension agent to correct soil pH, you probably won't have to add lime again for at least two or three years. For the low price, fertilizing with lime is one of the least expensive ways to bring old garden plots back up to par and to improve the growth and vigor of your vegetable plants.

Prepare Spring Plot

Early next spring you may be ready to plant or to transplant cool weather crops, and your seeds and transplants may be ready to start their outdoor life, but will the soil be ready? With soils often too wet to till early in the spring, transplants can become over-large before they are set out, or cool season seeds are set out too late for maximum growth.

One solution to this problem is to till an area of the garden this fall and get ready for next spring's crops. While the rest of the garden should have a cover crop on it to prevent soil erosion and fertilizer leaching, the spring garden area can be protected with a 6-inch layer of organic mulch, such as straw. Pull back the straw a couple of weeks before planting next spring so the soil will begin to warm. You also can use black plastic mulch.

Save Your Seeds

If you planted all the parsnips or peas you needed last season but didn't use all the seeds, you probably wonder how long you can keep leftover seeds and how to store them. Seeds of some species germinate poorly after only a year in storage, while others last five or more years.

Use these guidelines on the storage life of various vegetable seeds:

One to two years—sweet corn, onion, parsnip, okra;

Three years—asparagus, bean, carrot, leek, pea;

Four years—beet, swiss chard, fennel, pepper, pumpkin, tomato;

Five years—broccoli, brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, celery, eggplant, endive, kale, lettuce, muskmelon, radish, squash, spinach, turnip, watermelon.

Store seeds in a cool, dry place, such as in a jar in the refrigerator. Powdered milk in the bottom of the jar will absorb excess moisture.

If you doubt the viability of your seeds in the spring, do a germination test. Place 25 seeds in a row lengthwise on a moist paper towel. Roll the towel around the seeds, keep it moist, and after a week or two, open the towel and count how many seeds have germinated. If the percentage is low, either buy new seeds or sow the old seeds thickly.

Feed Grain Acreage Reduced

Secretary of Agriculture John Block has announced a 10 percent acreage reduction and a 10 percent paid land diversion for the 1983 feed grain program. Block said the per bushel target prices for 1983 crop corn will be $2.86. The regular CCC price support loan rate is $2.65.

Signup for the 1983 feed grain program will be October 1 through March 31, 1983. Producers may request 50 percent of their projected 1983 deficiency payments and 50 percent of their 1983 diversion payments when they sign.

USDA estimates per-bushel deficiency payment rates for corn will 21 cents with eligible farmers receiving advance deficiency payments of half this rate if they request advance payment.

Land diversion payments have been established at $1.50 per bushel of corn. The land diversion payment is based on the per bushel payment rate times the farm yield times the acres diverted.

Farmers who request advance diversion payments at the time they sign up for the '83 program will receive a payment equal to half the established payment rate.

A producer who accepts an advance payment, but who later does not comply with program provision, must refund the amount of the advance payment with interest. Interest charged will be the rate in effect for commodity loans on the date of the advance payment, plus 5 percentage points.

To be eligible for these benefits as well as for price support loans, a producer must agree to limit corn acreage planted for harvest to not more than 80 percent of the farm's feed grain base.

Notices on acreage bases and established yields were mailed Oct. 1 to eligible farmers. The appeal period will extend until March 31, 1983.

Producers also must devote to conservation uses an acreage equal to both the acreage reduction and land diversion requirements.

Land designated for conservation use must have been devoted to row crops in two of the last three years. Mechanical harvesting is not authorized and grazing will not be permitted during the six principal growing months on the acreage taken from production. The 1983 feed grain bases will remain the same as the 1982 feed grain bases. Neither cross compliance or off-setting compliance will apply to the 1983 feed grain program.

For further information, contact the Floyd County ASCS Office, 886-2802.

Baby Contest Finalist

Sabrina Kelly May, 22-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David A. May, of David, was among the top 10 finalists in the Johnson county Apple Festival baby contest in which 59 others competed. Also present at the judging was her sister, Lorrie Kay May.

HONOR DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wells, of the Brandy Keg road, honored their daughter, Miss Charlotte Wells, on the occasion of her 13th birthday recently at their home. Friday night, Oct. 1, a slumber party was held. Her friends were Misses Paula Harris, Misty Curry, Christy Thornsby, Rhonda Willis, Leighann Patton, Cathy Horn, and Stephanie Stumbo. Following an evening at the Station Alpha Arcade, the group returned to the Wells home, where refreshments were served.

On Sunday, Oct. 3 Mr. and Mrs. Wells entertained members of each of their families in their daughter's honor. Enjoying the occasion were: Miss Wells, her parents and Mrs. Bill Lafferty; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Lafferty, and son Michael; Mrs. Thurman Lafferty, and daughter, Robin; Mrs. Tony Murdock; Mr. and Mrs. Don Bays, and son, Craig; Ronnie Newsome; Mrs. Eugene Wells; Mrs. Stuart Stephens, and son, Ray; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Leslie, and sons, Nathan and Michael, and Miss Linda Wells. On both occasions the honoree was presented gifts.

MANY SEE FILM

The film, "Joni," was previewed at the Strand Theater here last Friday. The approximately 100 invited guests who attended the presentation will assist in publicizing this Christian movie by World Wide Pictures, which is sponsored by the Billy Graham Foundation. The premiere will be Nov. 5 through 9, at this theater.

College Program Shows High Rate of Success

"Elizabethtown Community College provided me with good instruction, so I feel that I got my money's worth," said a recent Elizabethtown graduate who has since enrolled in a four-year college.

"Hazard Community College is a smaller college with friendly teachers who take an interest in the students. It's a comfortable place to go to college," said a graduate who is pursuing a baccalaureate degree at the University of Kentucky.

These comments represent the feelings of UK's Community College students who transfer to the UK Lexington campus—or other four-year institutions—to complete work on baccalaureate degrees.

More than 788 transfer students graduated from UK community colleges in 1981. A majority went on to enroll in four-year institutions.

A recent survey of the transfer students showed that about 44 percent transfer to the UK Lexington campus;

11 percent go to out-of-state colleges, and the remainder transfer to other four-year colleges or universities in Kentucky.

With a 7 percent enrollment increase this fall, nearly 22,000 students are attending UK's 12 community colleges and the Lexington Technical Institute. In addition to LTI, the colleges are Ashland, Elizabethtown, Hazard, Henderson, Hopkinsville, Jefferson (in Louisville), Madisonville, Maysville, Paducah, Prestonsburg, Somerset and Southeast (in Cumberland).

The transfer program, which offers curricula for the first two years of a baccalaureate degree, was one of three functions assigned to the Community College System when it was established in 1962.

The second principal function is a career-oriented program designed to prepare students for immediate technical or semi-professional employment, and the third is to provide continuing educational opportunities for citizens in their immediate areas. These programs include evening classes, workshops, seminars, short courses, concert series, exhibits, lectures, dramatic presentations and festivals to meet in-service, re-education and cultural needs of the community.

Dr. Roseann Hogan, institutional studies and reports officer for community colleges, says students may be able to fulfill the general studies requirements at all of the community colleges for most educational pursuits with some exceptions in special fields such as arts and music.

"The community colleges take pride in knowing that the seminar classes build confidence between teachers and students," Hogan said.

"We believe this helps students develop academically and for the returning student to get back into the swing of things. Over half of the community college enrollment consists of women and more than 40 percent of the enrollees are 25 years of age or older. We are serving not only the high school graduates, but also the adults who are typical of the state," she added.

Dr. Hogan believes each community college must stand on its own to meet accreditation standards. Regional accreditation status for all the community colleges was recently reaffirmed by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Veterans seeking benefits information should call the toll-free number listed in the white pages of their telephone book.

FOR SALE
OFFERED BY THE TRANSPORTATION CABINET
COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY
Invitation No. TC: 10-27-82

Sealed bids will be opened at 2:30 p.m. on the 27th day of October in the office of the Division Of Right of Way, 4th floor, State Office Building, Frankfort, Kentucky for the sale of the following state owned surplus property located in Floyd and Pike counties.

PEN HOOK WASTE AREA

A vacant 70.245± acre tract located at the North end of Pen Hook Branch Road in the Community of Harold at the Floyd-Pike County line, 0.5 mile from US 23.

The tract is composed of approximately 11 acres of filled area, 6.5 of which is level. The remaining 59.0 acres varies from slightly rolling to steep, with all but approximately 5 acres being wooded.

The main body of the tract, approximately 64 acres, lies in Floyd County, with the remaining 6 acres being in Pike County. Access is provided by Pen Hook Branch Road. All utilities except sewerage are available to the area with a natural gas line crossing the tract. It shall be the responsibility of the prospective bidders to inspect and investigate this real estate prior to submitting bid to determine pertinent factors of access, zoning, easements, etc. No refunds or adjustments will be made because the property fails to meet standard or quality of conditions expected nor will failure to inspect the property be grounds for any claim for relief from bid. There will be a for sale sign located on the property. The finance and administration cabinet reserves the right to reject any and all bids. This sale is being held in compliance with KRS 45.360. Bid forms and other information may be obtained from Mr. David Watson at the Pikeville District Office (606) 437-9691, or from the Division of Right of Way (502) 564-3210. Only bids submitted on forms provided by the transportation cabinet will be accepted.

Pumpkins Make Jack-o-Lantern, Souffle'

FRANCES H. PITTS
County Extension Agent for Home Economics

Pumpkins are great for jack-o-lanterns or front step decorations at Halloween. They are also great for cookies, pies, breads and puddings, or served plain as a vegetable. For the adventuresome cook, pumpkin souffle' or pumpkin-stuffed chicken may have appeal.

The first step in any pumpkin recipe is to cook the pumpkin and prepare mashed pumpkin, unless you prefer to use canned pumpkin.

To cook it in the oven, wash the pumpkin and cut in half, crosswise. Remove the seeds and strings. Place the pumpkin in a shallow pan, cut side down and bake in a 325° F. oven 1 hour or until tender. Scrape the pulp from the shell and mash with potato masher or mixer.

For cooking in a saucepan or steamer, leave the skin on and cut the pumpkin into small pieces. Boil or steam it for 15-20 minutes or until tender. Run cool water over it and the skin peels away easily. Mash pumpkin with potato masher, mixer or blender.

PUMPKIN-STUFFED CHICKEN

1 roasting chicken (4-5 pounds), 3 cups pumpkin, cooked & mashed, 1/2 cup pumpkin seeds, 1/2 cup sunflower seeds, 1/2 cup chopped walnuts, 3/4 cup raisins, 1 cup diced apple (unpeeled), 1 cup chopped celery, 1/4 cup cornmeal, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon celery salt.

Preheat oven to 350° F. Combine all ingredients except chicken and lightly stuff into chicken cavity. Roast at 350° F. for two hours, or until chicken is tender and nicely browned. Makes 6 servings.

PUMPKIN SOUFFLE'

3 cups mashed cooked pumpkin, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon finely shredded orange peel, 1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg, dash pepper, 4 egg yolks, 4 stiffly beaten egg whites.

In large mixing bowl combine pumpkin, butter or margarine, brown sugar, salt, orange peel, nutmeg, and pepper. Beat till fluffy. Add egg yolks, beat well. Carefully fold pumpkin mixture into stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into 1 1/2 quart souffle' dish. Bake souffle' at 350° F. till set, 55 to 60 minutes. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

FROZEN PUMPKIN DESSERT SQUARES

1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs, 1/4 cup margarine, melted, 2 cups cooked pumpkin, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger, 1/8 teaspoon ground cloves, 1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened.

Mix crumbs with margarine. Press into bottom of 9" square pan. Combine pumpkin with brown sugar, salt and spices. Fold in ice cream. Pour into crum-lined pan. Cover; freeze until firm. Take out of freezer about 20 minutes before serving. Cut into squares; garnish with tablespoon of whipped cream if desired. Yield: 9 servings.

ROASTED PUMPKIN SEEDS

Separate strings from seeds and wash seeds in several changes of water. Rubbing seeds together between your hands will help remove bits of pumpkin. Drain. Boil seeds in salted water for 15 minutes. Drain. Place seeds in shallow pan and roast in 350° F. oven 30-45 minutes until seeds look toasted. Stir once or twice during roasting. Boiling the seeds first makes them easy to shell.

TEACH YOUR KIDS TO SOLVE PROBLEMS

You read and hear a great deal these days about what is wrong with American families. "But here let's focus on the positive side—on building the strengths of 'healthy' families," suggests Dr. Bob Fetsch, Extension human development and family relations specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

How?
"By teaching your children creative problem-solving skills," says Fetsch. "Kids learn a lot about solving problems by observing what we parents do, whether we plan it that way or not. The question is: Are we providing them with appropriate models?"

Here are ideas the specialist offers for teaching your kids about creative problems solving:

Hold family meetings to discuss family issues such as major purchases, vacation plans, family outings, and who needs what most. This is a good way to let your kids know how priorities are set up and how decisions are made.

When a family problem arises, hold a brainstorm session in which everyone dreams up as many solutions as possible, wild as they may be. Allow no criticism of any suggestions until all ideas are written down. Discuss the pros and cons of each before selecting the best solution to the problem. Then put the best solution into action. Finally, a couple of weeks later, evaluate how well the problem was solved.

"Involving your children in this process will give them practice, self-confidence and a greater sense of respect for the decision-making all parents must do," says Fetsch.

HOW TO SELECT A FOOD PROCESSOR

A relatively new appliance is fast becoming popular in home kitchens—the food processor—because it makes meal preparation so much easier and faster. Almost a do-it-all machine, it mixes, blends, grates, shreds, whisks and slices. Some models even knead dough for bread-making.

With so many on the market, varying in what they can do and in price, for many a homemaker the decision centers more on which food processor to buy than whether or not to buy one.

When selecting a food processor, the major question is whether or not the one you are considering will perform the tasks you want it to do. See the appliance demonstrated you'll get a good idea of how it performs and what it will do.

Here are some of the main features the specialist suggests that you look for when shopping for a food processor: Powerful, quiet, direct-drive motor with no belts to slip or break, safety interlock switch that makes sure the cover is locked in place before the food processor starts, large capacity, dishwasher-safe and break-resistant container, food pusher that is able to double as a measuring container, convenient on-off switch and signal light, cover with chute that inverts for compact storage, stainless steel slicing disc, shredding disc, all-purpose processing, blade and plastic mixing blade, lid that fits snugly and locks in the "on" position with little effort, automatic overload protection to stop the motor if it should be given more of a job than it can handle or if it overheats.

Exercise For Women

A second six week session of "Exercise for Women" will begin October 21 at Prestonsburg Community College through the community service program. The class is designed to encourage physical fitness by means of a regular exercise schedule. Judy Short conducts the class at the Martin Student Center on Thursdays from 5:30 - 6:30 p.m.

For more information on registration, please contact Linda Compton at 886-3863, ext. 215.

Through the Labor Department's national program to provide training and employment-related services, a total of almost 210,000 people received assistance during fiscal year 1981, such as nutritional services, health and medical care, and emergency help, according to the department's 69th annual report.

Preheat oven to 350° F. Combine all ingredients except chicken and lightly stuff into chicken cavity. Roast at 350° F. for two hours, or until chicken is tender and nicely browned. Makes 6 servings.

PUMPKIN SOUFFLE'

3 cups mashed cooked pumpkin, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon finely shredded orange peel, 1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg, dash pepper, 4 egg yolks, 4 stiffly beaten egg whites.

In large mixing bowl combine pumpkin, butter or margarine, brown sugar, salt, orange peel, nutmeg, and pepper. Beat till fluffy. Add egg yolks, beat well. Carefully fold pumpkin mixture into stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into 1 1/2 quart souffle' dish. Bake souffle' at 350° F. till set, 55 to 60 minutes. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

FROZEN PUMPKIN DESSERT SQUARES

1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs, 1/4 cup margarine, melted, 2 cups cooked pumpkin, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger, 1/8 teaspoon ground cloves, 1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened.

Mix crumbs with margarine. Press into bottom of 9" square pan. Combine pumpkin with brown sugar, salt and spices. Fold in ice cream. Pour into crum-lined pan. Cover; freeze until firm. Take out of freezer about 20 minutes before serving. Cut into squares; garnish with tablespoon of whipped cream if desired. Yield: 9 servings.

ROASTED PUMPKIN SEEDS

Separate strings from seeds and wash seeds in several changes of water. Rubbing seeds together between your hands will help remove bits of pumpkin. Drain. Boil seeds in salted water for 15 minutes. Drain. Place seeds in shallow pan and roast in 350° F. oven 30-45 minutes until seeds look toasted. Stir once or twice during roasting. Boiling the seeds first makes them easy to shell.

TEACH YOUR KIDS TO SOLVE PROBLEMS

You read and hear a great deal these days about what is wrong with American families. "But here let's focus on the positive side—on building the strengths of 'healthy' families," suggests Dr. Bob Fetsch, Extension human development and family relations specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

How?
"By teaching your children creative problem-solving skills," says Fetsch. "Kids learn a lot about solving problems by observing what we parents do, whether we plan it that way or not. The question is: Are we providing them with appropriate models?"

Here are ideas the specialist offers for teaching your kids about creative problems solving:

Hold family meetings to discuss family issues such as major purchases, vacation plans, family outings, and who needs what most. This is a good way to let your kids know how priorities are set up and how decisions are made.

When a family problem arises, hold a brainstorm session in which everyone dreams up as many solutions as possible, wild as they may be. Allow no criticism of any suggestions until all ideas are written down. Discuss the pros and cons of each before selecting the best solution to the problem. Then put the best solution into action. Finally, a couple of weeks later, evaluate how well the problem was solved.

"Involving your children in this process will give them practice, self-confidence and a greater sense of respect for the decision-making all parents must do," says Fetsch.

A Woman's Place

By VICKI DENNIS,
Kentucky Commission on Women

In recent months, the growing clout of women has been acknowledged, assessed and analyzed by almost every major publication in America from the devoutly feminist journals like Ms. to the bastions of male business like the Wall Street Journal. Gallup has talked of the growing political clout. The New York Times has chimed in with statistics about the growing influence of women in the workplace. A Scientific Manpower Commission study shows that women make up four percent of the nation's engineers, 13 percent of the lawyers, 38 percent of biologists, 20 percent of chemists, 13 percent of physicians, 25 percent of pharmacists, 25 percent of economists, and half of all psychologists—and those are just in the scientific fields. In greater numbers, women are entering policy-making positions in business, technology, government. And these highly trained, capable, professional women are not about to take a back seat on the board-room bus.

In some cases, however, the old prejudices about leadership ability of women are being tested daily. Women still have trouble convincing their male counterparts—and sometimes themselves—that they are indeed capable leaders. "We are finding, despite of years of assertiveness, certain leadership skills," said Barbara Thain.

"Your Power Potential" is being presented by the Kentucky Commission on Women on Oct. 19 at the Lexington Marriott Resort on Newtown Pike. McNeel, a business and training consultant who will conduct a leadership training seminar in Lexington said. "Most women do bring to the marketplace a collection of inherent leadership skills. After all, it does take an enormous amount of leadership ability to run a household," she said. "But often they don't realize that they have these skills or that they translate into the workplace."

McNeel sees the current popularity of such leadership seminars, particularly for women, as a positive one. "I've worked with leadership development for years," she said. "And I find it refreshing to see it become less esoteric. Perhaps that means that we are finally coming to the point where a woman with leadership ability is accepted as commonplace."

Registration begins at 9:30. For more information, contact the Kentucky Commission on Women, 614A Shelby Street, Frankfort, KY 40601 or call (502) 564-6643.

Fall Program Examines Election Issues On KET

It's election time again, a time when voters take a hard look at the issues facing their nation and regions. KET will air "Talking Heads/Talk Sense," a two-part program that will examine the major problems confronting our nation prior to the November elections, Sunday, October 24 at noon, and Sunday, October 31 at the same time.

The two-hour programs are not politically oriented, and no candidates will appear. Instead, former presidential cabinet officials and key people in such fields as research, education, business and labor will discuss the issues. Participants scheduled so far include Herbert Stein, chairman of the economic advisory committee under presidents Ford and Nixon; Douglas Bennett, assistant secretary of state for congressional affairs under President Carter, and Arthur White of Yankelovich, Skelly and White, a nationally-known survey organization. "Talking Heads/Talk Sense" is produced by South Carolina Educational Television and the Roosevelt Center for American Policy Studies.

Has Your Drinking Become A Problem

1. Do you look forward to the end of a day's work so you can have a couple of drinks and relax?
2. Do you find that you can often drink more than others and not show it too much?
3. The morning following an evening of drinking, have you ever had the experience of not being able to remember everything that happened the night before?

If you answered yes to any of the above questions, drinking may be a problem for you. If you have additional questions or would like a free assessment, contact the McDowell Hospital C.P.I. Unit, McDowell, Ky. (606) 377-2411 Ext. 136. Staff on duty 24 hours a day.

EKEDC Board Honors Perkins

Kentucky Congressman Carl D. Perkins will be honored for his many contributions to education in eastern Kentucky at the Wednesday, October 13 meeting of the EKEDC Board of Directors, to be held at the Continental Inn, Lexington, at 3:00 p.m.

According to Harry P. Brown, Director of the 35-member Ashland-based educational consortium, EKEDC will not only honor Congressman Perkins, but also be joined in the accolade by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber and KASA President Jude Talbott.

Additionally, KASA's Executive Director Bill Nallia is scheduled to address the group, following the Perkins award ceremony.

UK Survey Finding . . .

Coal Counties Not Reckoned As Good as Others To Live in

(Adapted from a report in The Mountain Eagle)

Even when the industry is booming, counties that depend on coal are not reckoned as good to live in as are counties that don't depend on coal, according to a University of Kentucky survey.

But if a county must depend on coal, it will be better off if it includes some manufacturing as well, the survey suggests. Floyd is included in that category, apparently on the basis of the handful of firms here that make mining equipment and truck bodies.

"Over all, coal-dependent counties without manufacturing have a lower quality of life than non-coal-dependent counties, even when they rank high...in tons of coal produced," says the recently-released survey.

Even when the coal industry is enjoying good times, it adds, the quality of life does not go up because profits are not reinvested in the community and schools and housing remain poor and unemployment high.

The survey, which was conducted by Cynthia L. Duncan and Ann R. Tickamyer, of the sociology department in the UK College of Agriculture, focuses on the "quality of life" in Kentucky's 49 Appalachian counties.

"Quality of life" is defined in terms of job opportunities, medical facilities, income, and the availability and quality of housing. Figures are for 1977 or 1978, when the economy was neither expanding rapidly nor in recession.

In addition to these six measures, the researchers include a measure of how satisfied residents are with their community as a place to live. That part of the survey comes from information gathered by another UK researcher in 1979.

The UK study found that both the quality-of-life indicators and the satisfaction of residents are highest in counties which have manufacturing but not coal (Jackson, Boyd and Carter, for example), second highest in counties with neither coal or manufacturing (Owsley, Powell, Elliott, etc.), lower in counties with coal and manufacturing (Floyd, Johnson, and Pike among them), and lowest in those which have coal but no manufacturing (including Knott, Magoffin, Martin, and Menifee).

In Floyd, unemployment stood at 8.2 percent, according to the survey, when the state average was 5.3; there was less than one physician per 1000 residents (compared to a state average of 13 per thousand); 52 percent of ninth graders graduated from high school (Ky.: 64 percent); per capita income was $5412 (Ky.: $6631); housing starts as a percentage of increase in households were put at 29 (Ky.: 161); and 70 percent expressed satisfaction with the community (Ky.: 83 percent).

The study is based on years in which coal was in a relative 'boom' period. "However, coal prosperity does not appear to get reinvested in community services. Unemployment is still high, schools and housing are still poor relative to other Appalachian counties," the authors say.

Stiff Penalties In Store For Setting Forest Fires

People responsible for setting forest fires in Kentucky will be facing much stiffer penalties this fall than in the past, said Donald A. Hamm, director of the state Division of Forestry.

"The 1982 Kentucky Legislature substantially increased the penalties for violating forest-fire laws," Hamm said. "Last spring we issued 224 citations for illegal burning and we expect to double that figure this fall."

Kentucky's fall fire season, which began Oct. 1 and lasts through Dec. 15, is a time when special burning regulations are in force.

During the 11-week time period, it is illegal to have a fire outdoors within 150 feet of wooded area between midnight and 4:30 p.m., fire officials explained. "It's also illegal to leave any fire unattended at any time until it's extinguished," Hamm said.

The forestry director said that during the previous fire season, the spring fire season, 1,608 fires were reported. These fires burned approximately 25,844 acres of woodland.

"All of these fires were caused by people," Hamm pointed out. "The careless burning of trash and debris continues to be Kentucky's leading cause of forest fires. Last year these brush and debris fires comprised 37 percent of Kentucky's forest fires," he said.

"The next most common cause of fires was the incendiary fire. Twenty-six percent of our fires fell in this category," Hamm stated.

Under new state laws a person convicted of setting an incendiary fire could be fined from $1,000 to $10,000 and confined up to five years, forestry officials said.

"The average fire will result in the loss of $2,000 per-acre in value of forest products over a number of years," Hamm said.

"While a fire usually only kills the seedlings and saplings present, fire also kills the bark on larger trees. This bark damage allows insects and disease to enter the tree," Hamm said.

"The insects and diseases can result in a tree which is a complete cull, or hollow tree, which is worthless except for use as firewood," he said.

Hamm asked that all citizens exercise care with any fires out.

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON
 The Betsy Layne Bobcats won their first game of the season last Friday while the Prestonsburg Blackcats won their fifth. Wheelwright lost to Trimble County, 59 to 14.

Coach Phillip Haywood's Blackcats won their district game by defeating the Lawrence County Bulldogs, 34 to 0, in the first Jenny Wiley Bowl game. The Blackcats got on the scoreboard on a 25-yard pass play from quarterback Todd Nairn to end Brad Hughes. Nairn also pitched out to half back Robert Midgette for the second touchdown, and Nairn's pass to end Brad Hughes on a 66-yard play was the third touchdown of the first half, with B.J. Sturgill kicking the extra points after each touchdown. The Blackcats led at halftime 21 to 0.

In the third quarter Nairn connected again to Brad Hughes for his third touchdown pass of the night. The final touchdown pass came from freshman quarterback John Goble to Mike Gunner. Nairn, junior quarterback connected for three touchdown passes, connected of 6 of 9 passes for a total of 155 yards and rushed for 32 yards. Senior B.J. Sturgill was four for four on his kicks for extra point.

The entire Blackcat squad accepted the large trophy for the championship of the first Jenny Wiley Festival Bowl. David Scarberry, of Lawrence County, was selected as the outstanding defensive player, and Prestonsburg's Brad Hughes was named the most valuable player.

The Blackcats will celebrate Homecoming Friday night. Homecoming activities will start Thursday afternoon at 2:30 with a pep rally, then at 4:30 a parade starting at the Prestonsburg Grade School. At 6 p.m. there will be a bonfire at Archer park horse arena.

In Friday's homecoming the Blackcats will meet Knott Central, Cornation of the Homecoming Queen will be a feature. After the game "Spectacular" will be held at the Irene Cole Baptist Church Annex. Lasagna and other refreshments will be served. In the Harvest Bowl Festival game last Friday night at Mullins, Betsy Layne defeated Mullins, 20 to 14. Betsy Layne did all their scoring in the first half with the first touchdown on a four-yard run by Greg Frasure. The attempt at extra point failed. In the second quarter Mike Hall had a 50-yard pass interception to score the second touchdown for the Bobcats. The extra points were made on a run by Carlos Reynolds. The Bobcats scored another touchdown in the second quarter on a 40-yard pass from Greg Frasure to Carlos Reynolds. The extra point failed.

Betsy Layne's record is now 1 and 8. Their next game will be Friday night at Mullins when the Bobcats will play Johns Creek.

SPORTS AT A GLANCE

The Prestonsburg freshman team won two games last week, defeating Paintsville, 42 to 0, and on Thursday night traveling to Breathitt County and winning by the score of 12 to 7. Goble and Burke scored the two touchdowns for the freshman team.

Tonight (Wednesday) the freshman team will play Morgan County at the Prestonsburg field.

PRESTONSBURG BLACKCAT quarterback Todd Nairn (No. 17) passed for three touchdowns in Friday night's victory over Lawrence County.

By WENDE BURCHANAN
 The Prestonsburg High School Black Cats crushed the Lawrence County Bulldogs, 34-0, here last Friday night.

Shortly after the opening kick was received by halfback John Anderson, safety Brad Hughes, caught quarterback Todd Nairn's touchdown pass. B.J. Sturgill kicked the extra point.

On a lateral pass Midgette scored a second touchdown, and Sturgill's kick raised the score to 14-0. With 51 seconds to go, Lawrence county scored, but a clipping penalty nullified the score. Brad Hughes later received Gordie Ratliff's pass for a third Blackcat touchdown, and Sturgill's kick increased the score to 21-0 with 17 seconds until half time.

Neither team scored in the third quarter. It was during that period that John Gilliam, Prestonsburg blackcat, was injured and taken out of the game.

Early in the fourth period Brad Hughes again scored, and Sturgill's extra point increased the score to 28-0. Following this play fullback James Little intercepted for the Black Cats. For the next few minutes the ball passed back and forth. Then, in a quick play by halfback Mike Gunner the score rose to 34-0 as the clock ran out.

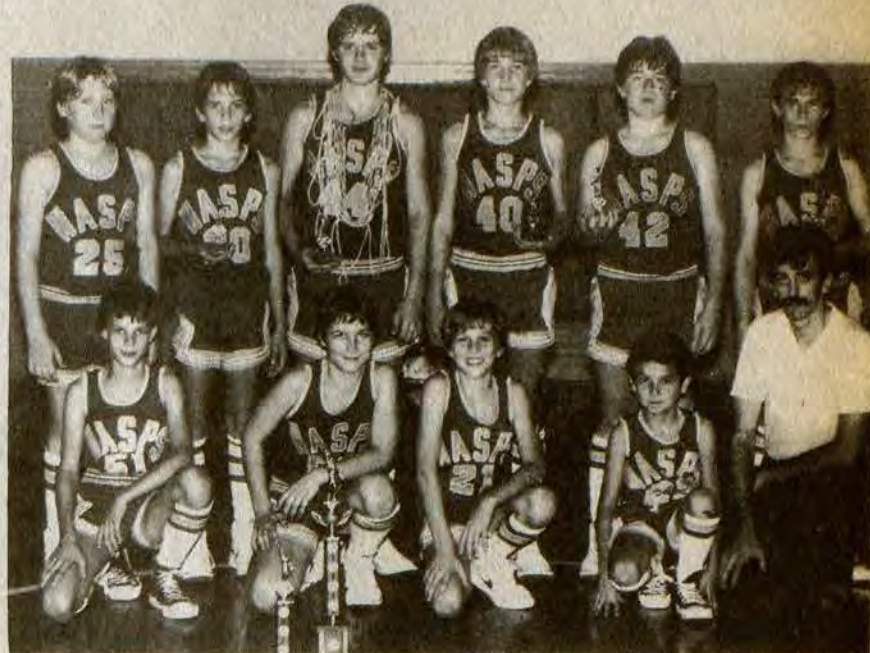

Hughes played an excellent game, picking up 140 yards on four receptions with three touchdowns. On 11 rushes

Midgette rolled up 105 yards; Anderson made 78 yards on eight carries and Gilliam rushed for 53 yards before his injury.

The Black Cats had 276 yards rushing and 165 yards passing for a total of 441 yards. According to Coach Haywood, both offense and defense played a good game. The Black Cats record is now 5 and 2.

At the end of the game the 1st Jenny Wiley Bowl trophy was presented to the Black Cats. The game's two most valuable players, Dave Scarberry, of Lawrence county, and Brad Hughes, of Prestonsburg, also received trophies.

Wayland Wins Net Tournery

Believe it or not, it's time for basketball again...in some of the county's grade schools, anyway, and the Wayland Wasp team pictured above made a successful start of it by winning their own invitational tournament Friday night by defeating the Garrett Black Devils. Wayland Coach Ronnie Patton attributed "the constant fast break and strong inside play" to his team's success. To add to the school's success, the Wayland girls downed Melvin to win the tournament.

Floyd County Supporters Backing Stumbo with Cash

If Grady Stumbo isn't the next governor of Kentucky it won't be for lack of openhanded friends here.
Of the $250,000 raised by his campaign organization during its first three months, nearly $110,000 was raised in this county from contributions of $1000 or more, to say nothing of lesser contributions.
Some 45 Floyd donors each gave $1000 or more to his campaign chest, including 26 who gave the $3000 maximum allowed by state law, according to a report filed last week with the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance.
By contrast, Lt. Gov. Martha Layne Collins, who raised $270,000 in the same period, listed only one major contributor from here—Eastern coal operator Ralph Johnson gave $3000—and Louisville Mayor Harvey Sloane, who raised $468,483 in the same three months, lists no major donor from this county.
Together, the three unannounced candidates for governor have raised more than $1.4 million—Sloane has raised $482,483 since his organization was formed in May; Collins' total now stands at $676,000; this quarter's $250,000 is Stumbo's total to date—and the primary is still eight months away.
Frank Metts, who said last month he is quitting his job as Secretary of Transportation to consider running as governor, has not begun to raise money.
Stumbo, who resigned as Human Resources Secretary in August, and Sen. Benny Ray Bailey, who is managing Stumbo's campaign, are natives of McDowell. McDowell residents gave at least $31,800, with nine giving the $3000 maximum. Residents of Hindman, where the two operate a clinic, gave $26,315 in larger contributions, including six at the $3000 maximum. Prestonsburg residents chipped in $21,600.
The following Floyd residents contributed $1000 or more to friends of Grady Stumbo, according to the report:
Gregory Jones, Prestonsburg, coal operator, $2,500; Leviathan Jones, Prestonsburg, housewife, $2,500; Sam Martin Jr., Martin, coal operator, $3,000; Morris Isaac, Martin, coal operator, $3,000; Arnold Turner Jr., Allen, attorney, $3,000; Elizabeth Turner, Allen, housewife, $3,000; Ruth Hall, McDowell, housewife, $3,000; Tracy Stumbo, McDowell, coal miner, $2,000; Judy Banks, Hueysville, housewife, $1,000; Craig Crisp, Minnie, coal operator, $1,000; Denzil Ray Hall, McDowell, coal operator, $3,000; Frank Heinze, Prestonsburg, coal operator, $1,500; Ruth Reed, Drift, housewife, $3,000; B. F. Reed, Drift, coal operator, $3,000; Ben Spradlin, Martin, banker, $3,000.

Skaggs Concert Set At BLHS

Ricky Skaggs, the Lawrence county boy who Monday night won the Country Music Association's prestigious Male Vocalist of the Year Award as well as the association's Horizon Award, will appear tomorrow night (Thursday) at 8 p.m. for a concert at the Betsy Layne Fieldhouse.
Raised in the mountain musical traditions of his parents, other relatives and friends around his home at Cordell (near Blaine), Skaggs, a child prodigy on a number of instruments, including mandolin and fiddle, particularly admired the music of The Stanley Brothers. Skaggs and musician friend Keith Whitley, of Sandy Hook, were eventually hired by Ralph Stanley and became touring members of the Clinch Mountain Boys at age 16.
Skaggs musical interests continued to expand over the years, and although his music of today sounds far removed from his mountain music past, some of the traditional flavor still lingers.
Tickets to the concert, which is being sponsored by The Betsy Layne Band Parents, may be purchased at Max Roberts Music Co., Pikeville Music Co., Betsy Layne High School, Francis Store, and Owens Music Company.

Festival Queen

Miss Alicia Setser, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Setser, of Prestonsburg, was named Miss Jenny Wiley Festival Queen last Thursday at the grade school auditorium here. Friday night, at the Jenny Wiley Bowl football game between Prestonsburg and Lawrence County, Miss Setser presented awards to outstanding players of the game and appeared with her court during halftime activities.

A NOTE OF THANKS
The family of Felix Collins would like to take this opportunity to thank the brothers and sisters of the Little Rock Regular Baptist Church for their kind words and to the preaching brothers and all who brought food and refreshments. Again, our deepest appreciation.

THANK YOU

I would like to say a very special thank you to the following people for their efforts in making the Fire Prevention week activities a great success:
Mr. Dick Clark
Mr. Buddy Hutton
Mr. John Chandler
Mr. Thomas Tackett
Mr. Frank Stewart
The Faculty, Pupils, and parents of the Prestonsburg Grade School, the business places in town for displaying these posters, and a special Thanks to City Manager David Evans for his ideals, efforts, and time donated to this project.

Kentucky Afield

a group of randomly-selected Kentucky sportsmen will soon have a chance to tell the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources what they think about wildlife, the environment and fishing conditions in Kentucky.

Beginning Oct. 1, two separate survey questionnaires will go into the mail—one on wildlife and the environment and one to gauge fisherman's attitudes toward their sport. A total of 10,000 anglers will be asked to participate in the fishing survey, and an additional 1,300 Kentuckians will be mailed the wildlife and environmental questionnaire.

All that is required of those who do receive these surveys in the mail is that they answer the multiple-choice questions and return the survey in the postage-paid envelope provided. It isn't necessary to sign your name and all individual responses will be held in the strictest confidence.

The angler attitude survey will attempt to gather a profile of the "typical" Kentucky fisherman, measure the differing attitudes of fishermen from rural or urban backgrounds, judge the popularity of our common sport fish (bass, bluegill, catfish, etc.) and ask the participants' opinions about issues and problems of fishery management.

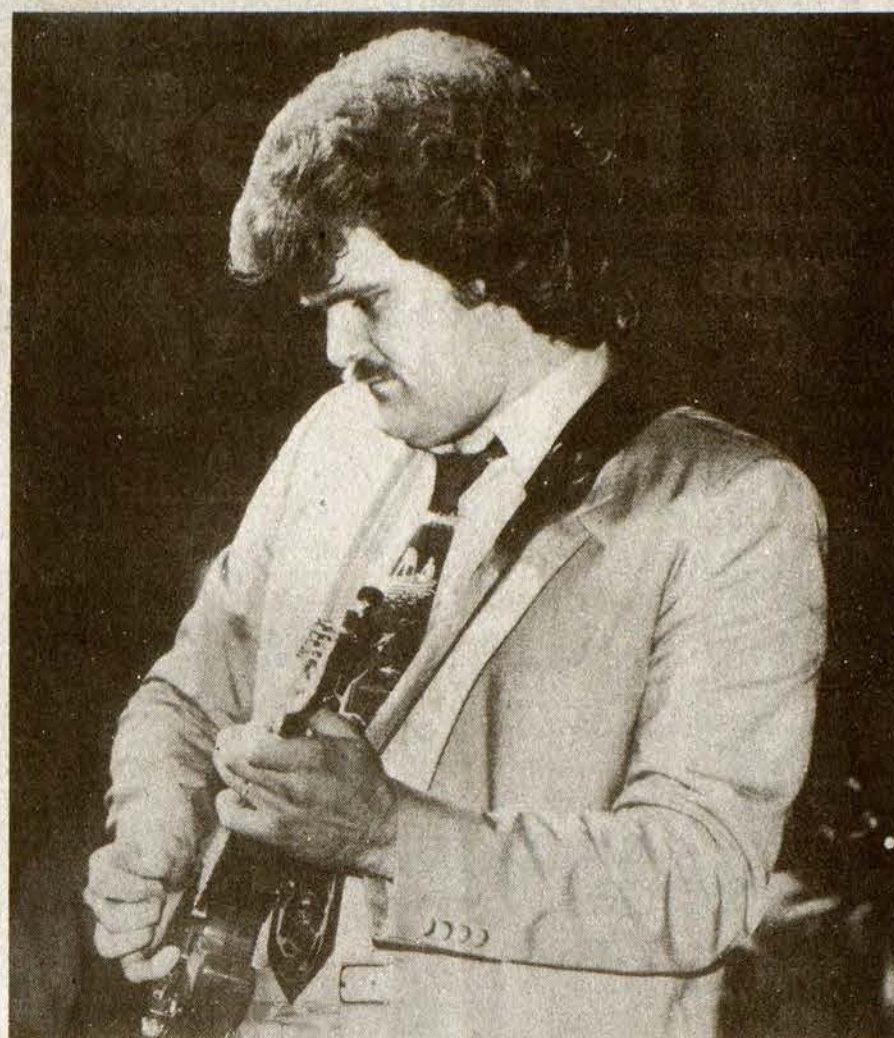

The wildlife and environment survey asks a variety of questions about both game and non-game wildlife, environmental pollution and its observed effects on wildlife populations and the respondents' attitudes toward the role fish and wildlife agencies should play in environmental management and protection.

Both surveys are being conducted for the fish and wildlife department by Western Kentucky University. Data from the surveys will be computerized and analyzed at WKU, with final reports available early next year.

The fish and wildlife department will use the results of these surveys in its future decision-making processes. Strong prevailing opinions will be given careful consideration in determining the future direction of fisheries and wildlife management in Kentucky, according to Carl E. Kays, commissioner of the department.

The surveys could also show fish and wildlife officials areas where more public awareness, public education or public involvement are needed, Kays says, adding that successful fish and wildlife management depends upon an active, well-informed public as well as upon a staff of professional biologists and managers.

"DANGEROUS BUSINESS"

Publishing a newspaper is a hazardous occupation, in the opinion of the Bracken Chronicle. The man "behind the gurns" has to be careful that he does not offend any one by calling the attention of his readers to all the vile happenings that go on constantly. If the editor mentions some unusual happening, liable to arouse the ire of some of his readers, he is either threatened with a licking or classed as a liar. If he does not publish the item, he is accused of upholding "onriness," and what is a fellow to do? However, there is some consolation in the fact, at least to us, that if we should publish all we know of a scandalous nature, no doubt there would be many vacant places around various dining tables the day after the paper was issued.

THE TRAGEDY

Fido's tail lay on the rail; The train was coming fast; While first in glee He wagged it free In woe he wagged it last.

When I recall poor Fido's fate, I wish to see once more, That tail so fine, He wagged behind, Which looked so nice before.

Mrs. Moles Hostess At Bridge Wednesday

Mrs. Lon S. Moles was hostess Wednesday evening, August 31, honoring Mrs. J. W. Hensley, of Henderson, Texas, with a bridge of marked charm at her beautiful home on First and Goble streets.

Flowers of the season arranged with the artistic sense of beauty made of the Moles home an ideal setting for the event. Delightful refreshments were served during the evening to the large number of guests present.

After an enjoyable period of play, scores showed that Miss Ella Noel White was holder of high score prize. The honoree, Mrs. Hensley, received a handsome guest prize.

The guest list follows: Mesdames W. R. Callihan, A. L. Davidson, H. L. Mayo, H. B. Patrick, W. C. Rimmer, F. L. Heinze, O. W. Van Petten, T. J. May, C. W. May, F. H. Layne, S. L. Spradlin, J. W. Hensley, E. P. Arnold, Iley B. Browning, C. Y. Ligon, C. P. Stephens, Charles Humphreys, J. D. Harkins, E. H. Sowards, C. L. Hutsinpiller, C. D. McHone, W. J. May, Oliver Webb, A. B. Combs, Misses Susan Allen, Ella Noel White, Grace Marrs, Inez Cottrell.

IVEL

Calvin, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dillon, who has typhoid, is much better.

A. J. Gunnell, member of the county board of education of this county, passed through our town last week.

The Wakenva Coal Company is expected to start as soon as needed supplies can be shipped from factory or supply houses. This operation intended to start Monday, September 5, but had to delay operation on account of ordered supplies being delayed in transit, it is reported.

Sibyl Stratton is on a visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Todd. They are expected to return this week.

Junior Stratton went to Pikeville to attend Pikeville College. He intends to take normal and typewriting work. He was accompanied by his father, J. K. Stratton, a prominent merchant of Ivel.

Clisco Rice and wife left this week for West Virginia in search of their daughter. She left with her cousin, who lived at Emma, is the report. Both the girls are said to be working in West Virginia. Her cousin had been working out there and had persuaded Mr. Rice's daughter when on a visit at her home to leave with her without the knowledge of her parents.

School is progressing very nicely. Attendance is encouraging, but it is feared that when the bad weather begins, many will drop out, all because they have so far to come over, very bad roads.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Howard, of Akron, Ohio, motored through to West Prestonsburg this week for a visit with Mr. Howard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Howard, and his brother, Harry Howard, and friends in this section. They expect to return to Akron this week.

Mrs. Anna Smith and Miss Loula Jarrell, teachers in the Martin Consolidated school, were visitors here Saturday.

Three Dentists Lose License To Practice

Licenses of three Kentucky dentists, one of whom has been practicing part-time, in this county, have been suspended by the Kentucky Board of Dentistry, it was announced last week.

The license of Dr. Stephen Jeffrey, of Lexington, who has been associated with Family Dentistry at Price, was suspended for an indefinite period on two grounds—unprofessional conduct and allowing unlicensed persons to practice dentistry in his office.

Also revoked were the licenses of Dr. Harold R. Howard, of Louisville, who had earlier pleaded guilty to a Medicaid fraud count, and Dr. Robert Lawrence, also of Louisville, who had been placed on circuit court probation for two years on a Medicaid fraud charge. Both suspensions were for two years.

All three dentists may appeal the board decisions within 30 days after they receive their copy of the suspension ruling.

During fiscal 1981, the work in the Labor Department's Employment Standards Administration was in the area of regulatory reform. As part of their efforts to implement the Economic Recovery program, ESA took several actions designed to reduce the cost of compliance with federal law while retaining needed protection for workers.

State Gas Tax Rises To 10c Per Gallon

Kentucky's gasoline tax rate will increase two tenths of a cent per gallon effective October 1 through December 31, Kentucky Revenue Secretary Ron Geary announced today.

The new rate will be 10 cents per gallon, up from the current rate of 9.8 cents. As a result of the increase, consumers will pay an additional two cents for each 10 gallons of gasoline they buy.

According to July price information supplied by Kentucky wholesale gasoline dealers, the average wholesale price during the month was just under $1.07 per gallon exclusive of state and federal taxes. The average price in April was $0.945 per gallon exclusive of the same federal taxes.

Electronic Voting Machine Unveiled

Secretary of State Frances Jones Mills announced that for the first time in Kentucky electronic voting machines were on public display for viewing and polling. The machines were exhibited and explained at the Minority Consumer EXPO Louisville's Commonwealth Convention Center, October 8-10.

"Approximately 35% of the nation's voters have used electronic voting machines during 1980 and '81 elections," said Mrs. Mills. "Electronic voting devices have the potential for saving the taxpayers' dollars, and for more efficient vote tabulation. I am sure all County Boards of Election will be viewing the two areas where these machines will be used in November—Lyon and Jefferson counties—for efficiency and accuracy. As Chairperson of the State Board of Elections, I will be assessing those elections also," she continued.

Legislation passed by the 1982 General Assembly declares that it is permissive for county fiscal courts to purchase or lease any type of voting system, provided the equipment has been approved by the State Board of Elections. The Board has certified six electronic machines that can be used in Kentucky.

"Voters in Lyon and Jefferson counties will be the first Kentuckians to use electronic voting machines in an official election," said Mrs. Mills. "The results of this experimental program will determine the future of electronic voting in Kentucky," she concluded.

Growing Child

STUTTERING AND STAMMERING

The repetition of sounds or words, what some people call stuttering or stammering, usually appears in children between the second and third years.

No one knows its origin, but experts feel that there are probably numerous causes, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter.

A child's desire to talk and the inability of his speech to keep pace with his thoughts can cause stuttering. So can anxiety or rivalry with the arrival of a new baby, sudden changes in routine because of serious illness or death in the family, or parental dissatisfaction with the way the child talks.

Stuttering should not be cause for alarm because most children outgrow it within a few months if the family is considerate and gives them a chance. The stuttering doesn't disappear suddenly, but it peters out gradually with periodic ups and downs. Here are some do's and don'ts that you can be alert to: Don'ts

1. Don't correct the child's speech. Be patient and accept what he says, even if he must start or repeat several times.

2. Don't put a premium on speech at this time. If you have been emphasizing speech, switch to activities where he may achieve physically.

3. Don't rush to a surgeon because you think your youngster is tongue-tied. Tongue-tie is a rare condition and seldom the cause of stuttering.

4. Don't hurry him into speech correction or treatment. He is young—first he must develop speech. Do's

1. Try to examine the daily routine to see if there is anything particular which makes your youngster tense.

2. Provide opportunities for the youngster to be with and talk to other children.

3. If rivalry over a newborn is apparent, see what you can do to reduce it, even if it means temporarily giving a disproportionate amount of time to the older child.

4. Relax yourself and don't worry. Young ones are very sensitive to our moods and tensions.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information on the social and physical development of children from birth to six year olds, write to Growing Child, PO Box 620N, Lafayette, IN 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing. A year's subscription to the newsletter costs $11.95.

Columbia To Answer Customer Complaints

The state Public Service Commission last Friday ordered officials of Columbia Gas of Kentucky to attend a public meeting in Lexington on Nov. 3 to answer questions from customers and to explain how the utility handles customer complaints.

The commission scheduled the public meeting because it "has become increasingly concerned with the number of complaints made by customers of Columbia Gas of Kentucky," the order said.

"These complaints cover various aspects of Columbia's customer service (billing, meter reading, costs, etc.), but in general they call into question the quality of service provided by Columbia and, specifically, the disposition of complaints by Columbia..." the utility regulatory agency said.

Since Jan. 1, 69 written complaints have been received from Kentucky gas consumers, and 48 percent involved Columbia, although the company serves only 23 percent of the natural gas users in the state, the commission said.

In addition, the commission said it has received a number of verbal complaints that "center largely on Columbia's alleged insensitivity to the needs of its customers."

"It is time that the causes of these complaints be eliminated or satisfactorily explained."

George Goodykoontz, Columbia's division manager in Lexington, said that he was "mystified" by the order but that Columbia would comply.

Goodykoontz said the gas company had told commission members that the number of complaints would increase because of the "quick acceleration" of gas prices that followed the deregulation of gas in 1978.

Gas users have become frustrated by rising bills, and "they've got to vent their emotions and reactions to someone, and so they turn to the PSC," he said.

"We have done a survey, and in Kentucky, the number of complaints is lower than in the other states we serve," Goodykoontz said. "We don't try to minimize the concern of our customers, but we think it hinges on one thing—the rising cost of gas."

He also said he supports the efforts of congressmen to slow the increases in gas prices. "We (Columbia officials) have to pay gas bills, too," Goodykoontz said.

The public meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Nov. 3 in the Urban County Council chambers in the former Ashland Oil building, 200 East Main Street.

Grady Nutt To Chair American Smokeout

Grady Nutt, "the Prime Minister of Humor," has accepted the Kentucky chairmanship of "the Great American Smokeout" for 1982, sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Appointment of the regular cast member of the popular TV show, "Hee Haw," was announced by Harry C. Barfield, chairman, Public Information committee, Kentucky Division, American Cancer Society.

The "Great American Smokeout" will be observed November 18. This event, now in its sixth consecutive year, focuses public attention on cigarette smokers from coast to coast. It's an up-beat, good natured effort to encourage smokers to give up cigarettes for 24 hours.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Public Health Tax Rate appearing in the Floyd County Times on September 22nd and 29th were published erroneously. The rate adopted September 21, 1982 by the Board of Health establishing the Tax Rate for Floyd County Public Health Taxing District created by KRS 212.720 is Real Estate .024 instead of the advertised rate of .025. EARL COMPTON Secretary Floyd County Public Health Taxing District 10-13-82.

In Memory of
Eddie Ray Thornsberry
 Autumn is here and now you're gone
 Far from us, we're all alone.
 We miss your laugh, your sparkling eyes
 It's hard to break those family ties.
 But you've gone on, and you've found God.
 And to all of us that means a lot.
 We miss you still so very much,
 We miss your warm and gentle touch.
 Just being around you every day
 Blessed our lives in many ways;
 To call you on the telephone;
 To know that you were always home.
 But we remember the good times still.
 And I know we always will.
 We love you, Eddie, and don't forget
 To let God know that we're here yet.
 Sadly missed by his family (Adv. 11.)

ROCK ON

By Ethlie Ann Vare

1982 POLL

Time to start thinking about the best music of this near-ending year, and to ready your submission to the 1982 Rock On Readers Poll. Select your choice for: Best Album; Best Single; Best Group; Best Male/Female Vocalist; Best Debut. Include releases from Nov. 1981-present.

Before Thanksgiving, mail your letter or postcard to: Rock On, Readers Poll, c/o United Feature Syndicate, 200 Park Ave., New York, NY 10166. Include a return address, as three readers chosen at random will receive a new album. Results will appear in this space in December.

Cris Williamson

would do well to seek out "Blue Rider."

Al Kooper — "Championship Wrestling" (Columbia) — Al Kooper is a rock 'n' roll hero; from New York's seminal Blues Project through the Super Sessions (with the late Mike Bloomfield) to producing an array of pop stars, he has shaped the sound while avoiding the limelight. This album shines the key spot on Micky Thomas, Valerie Carter, the Tower of Power horns and guitarist Jeff Baxter, but it is Kooper's sensibilities — from a sure touch with R & B to the hook of a country ballad — that shapes the work.

Talk Talk (EMI) — This four-song EP fairly shouts: "Keep your eye on us! We're going somewhere!" And well they might; Talk Talk combines the pretentious intricacy of the Police with the rock urgency of Led Zeppelin (not yet, of course, scaling those heights): A band to, well, keep your eye on.

REVIEWS

Cris Williamson — "Blue Rider" (Olivia) — Cris Williamson is the most popular (the only popular) recording act on the Olivia label, a firm halfway between record company and feminist collective. Often compared to Joni Mitchell or Carole King, she is earthier than either, firmly connected to the South Dakota hills (where she was born) and more than a little tinged by the raised-consciousness of California (where she lives). Those who cut their musical teeth on Joan Baez and still enjoy the folk-rock sound

PBS in the spotlight

Walter Rauff, the alleged murderer of 250,000 people during World War II, is featured in "The Hunter and the Hunted," a PBS special about Simon Wiesenthal, the famed "Nazi Hunter."

'Hunter' still prowls

Simon Wiesenthal, the world's foremost Nazi hunter, is interviewed in "The Hunter and the Hunted," to air on PBS Wednesday, Oct. 21. (Air dates may vary; check local listings.)

"I can forgive only crimes committed against me personally," says Wiesenthal, "But I am not authorized to forgive for others. When history looks back, I want people to know that the Nazis weren't able to kill 11 million people and get away with it."

The hour-long special is narrated by Jose Ferrer and was produced by the Australian-based company, Phonic Films.

Wiesenthal, a former concentration camp prisoner, and Beate Klarsfeld, a German non-Jew who has dedicated her life to bringing Nazi war criminals to justice, are interviewed in the documentary. Walter Rauff, alleged murderer of 250,000 people, and Klaus Barbie (alias Klaus Altmann), the "Butcher of Lyon," are also interviewed.

Archival film footage of the historic Adolf Eichmann trial will be presented. Wiesenthal was instrumental in capturing Eichmann, who was found guilty of mass murder and sentenced to death.

Even at age 72, Wiesenthal's search continues. There are thousands who participated in the atrocities of the Holocaust and have not yet been brought to justice.

"My work is a warning to the murderers of tomorrow," Wiesenthal explains.

"The Hunter and the Hunted" is presented by WQED/Pittsburgh and made possible by a grant from Reliance Group, Inc.

First Birthday

Amanda Lee Taylor, daughter of Andy and Vanette Taylor, of Weeksbury, celebrated her first birthday Sept. 24 with a party and Smurfette cake. Her maternal grandparents are Frank and Pebble Little, of Weeksbury. Her paternal grandparents are Eddie and Ellen Taylor, of Hunter. Among the guests who helped her celebrate were Heather Little, Raymond and Robin Goble, Kira Garrett, Amanda Sammons, Bobby Justice. She received many gifts.

Bell Launches Campaign To Prepare for Change

Many questions are yet to be answered about the breakup of the Bell System, but whatever the changes, they're certain to affect South Central Bell's 750,000 customers in Kentucky. "The national deregulation of the Bell System officially begins in January 1983," said Art Willett, local manager. "From that point on, we'll be a vastly different phone company, and the changes will affect how every person in Prestonsburg who does business with us on and after January 1, 1983." To build awareness of the changes and to answer as many questions as possible before the actual changes take place, South Central Bell is mounting a major customer-education program called "Let's Talk". It begins locally October 4 and will run at least through December.

"Our goal is to make the changes as easy as possible for both our customers and ourselves," Willett said. "And educating our customers on the changes will help keep down our operating costs during the transition."

Newspaper and television advertisements, spotlighting changes in the industry and inviting customers to call a toll-free number with specific questions, constitute the crux of the campaign.

The ads encourage local customers to call 1-800-555-5000 with questions. Questions will be answered by Bell employees in Memphis, Tennessee, who are specially trained to talk about deregulation and how it will affect phone users.

"Considering the scope of what's actually taking place—the largest and one of the oldest companies on earth being deregulated and totally reorganized—the 'Let's Talk' campaign is quite ambitious," Willett said.

Local Bell managers will make personal contacts with community leaders to discuss deregulation, and Bell's public speakers are available to talk with professional and civic clubs about the changes. Speakers may be scheduled by calling Art Willett at 437-9038.

"We want people to know what kinds of services we'll offer in the future, what options will be available and what new technological developments are on the way," he said.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Beaver Elkhorn Water District has filed with the Public Service Commission, at Frankfort, Kentucky, an application for revised schedule of rates to become effective upon approval by said Commission. Hearing is to be held at Frankfort, Kentucky at the Commission's hearing room on the 27th day of October, 1982 at the hour of 1:00 p.m., E.D.T.

Said revised rates are as follows: Class of Service-Residential and Commercial. Rates—For each thousand gallon water purchased.

First 1,000 gallons ($10.50 (minimum bill)).

Next 19,000 gallons 1.75 per 1,000 gallons.

Next 30,000 gallons 1.45 per 1,000 gallons.

Next 50,000 gallons 1.15 per 1,000 gallons.

Over 100,000 gallons 1.00 per 1,000 gallons.

Unmetered customers 13.75 per 1,000 gallons.

Resale customers all consumption $1.00 per 1,000 gallons.

The rates contained in the notice are the rates proposed by Beaver Elkhorn Water District. However, the Public Service Commission may order rates to be charged that differ from these proposed rates. Such action may result in rates for consumers other than the rates included in this notice.
