Site for the simulated mine was provided by the Floyd County Board of Education in the form of a parcel of land, adjacent to the new Betsy Layne High School, granted to the Bureau of Vocational Education. Bronelle Skaggs, vocational education administrator for Region 11, commended the Floyd board and said the facility "will make a great contribution to the area, region and state."

Funded by the Appalachian Regional Commission, Concentrated Employment Training Act, and state funds, the contract was awarded to the W. B. Browning Company for $443,000. To be operated by Mayo State Vocational School, the "mine" will consist of a 120x390-ft. building containing three sections which will simulate mines of varying heights. The facility will be used for the instruction of mine safety, equipment operation, rib and roof control, and general mine operations. Three entries will lead into the simulated mine and students will first learn equipment operation outside the "mine."

The facility is scheduled for completion in April, 1983.

P'burg To Pay $1600-a-Month Landfill Fee

In a relatively brief meeting Monday, Prestonsburg city council struck a compromise with the county over garbage rates, balked at endorsing political candidates, and sided with local homeowners in their dispute with a gas station.

The agreement on garbage rates followed a meeting between city and county officials over the vexing question of how much Prestonsburg should pay to dump its trash on the county landfill.

Directors of Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc., the agency that operates the landfill, wanted to raise the rate from $1350 to $2500 a month but the city council refused to go along with the proposal. According to the compromise ratified by the council Monday, the city will pay $1600 a month for the service.

The council was asked to approve a resolution calling on all candidates for statewide office to support the present formula for returning severance tax monies to the coal counties and asking all candidates for governor to commit themselves to veto any changes in the formula.

Up to that point, the council favored the proposal.

Further clauses, expressing the council's endorsement of the position of the Kentucky Coal County Coalition—an organization of county officials which sponsored the resolu-

Plaintiffs Say They Will File Again To Enjoin

As Circuit Judge Hollie Conley summed it up, the case involves a conflict between a patient's right to choose a physician over a nurse and the hospital's need to guarantee round-the-clock anesthesia coverage.

Rather than unravel that dilemma, however, he chose a more technical ground for dissolving a temporary injunction he had earlier imposed on Highlands Regional Medical Center in its dispute with two women anesthesiologists.

Because the nurse-anesthetists with whom the hospital contracted exclusively for anesthesia services were not party to the initial court proceedings and so were unable to protect their interests in the case, another hearing must be held on whether the hospital should be allowed to enforce its contract, Conley ruled.

In the meantime his October 13 order, which enjoined the hospital from using the nurse-anesthetists exclusively, is dissolved, he said.

70-Year-Old Woman Gets 18-Year Term

A 70-year-old Tolers Creek woman was found guilty yesterday (Tuesday) of first degree manslaughter in the slaying of her 71-year-old husband at their home on Meade Branch, May 29.

Connie Thacker Bush listened impassively as Circuit Judge Hollie Conley read the verdict and the jury's recommendation that she serve 18 years in prison.

The question of whether Connie Bush killed John Bush with a shot from a .22 caliber revolver was not at issue in the case. The question was whether she had committed murder, as the prosecutor contended, or had acted only to defend her own life, as she claimed.

Obie Tackett, the Bushes' neighbor, told of hearing Mrs. Bush yelling at her husband the afternoon of the shooting while he sat in a chair on the front porch of their home. "I'll kill you before the day is over," she said, according to Tackett's account.

Peggy Tackett, Bush's niece, said Mrs. Bush had been firing a revolver at a bank opposite the house when she turned the weapon on her husband, taunting him, and shot him in the face.

The weapon, a so-called "Saturday night special," was later recovered from a trash can in the kitchen of the house.

Although the defense did not claim Mrs. Bush was under attack at the time of the shooting, she was portrayed as a classic victim of spouse abuse, driven to desperation by recurring, random violence and threats of violence.

Bush, a retired miner, exhibited a "Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde" personality, opined one expert witness.

That account was disputed by several witnesses called by Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Albert Burchett in the case that began in Circuit Court here Monday. One neighbor testified he never knew John Bush to hurt or threaten his wife. Another said that, while Bush once drank heavily, he had not done so in recent years.

Others said Bush "fussed and argued" with his wife, had been hospitalized for mental disorders, and frequently carried a hoe or stick. While yet others indicated that both husband and wife were quarrelsome and menacing, easily irritated, each with a history of psychological problems.

Two Betsy Layne sisters, Barbara Sword and Nancy Justice, testified that Mrs. Bush went often to the home of their mother, Lizzie Adkins, to escape from her husband's threats. And her brother, Phineas Thacker, said he had seen Mrs. Bush pushed onto a bed and slapped in the face by her husband when she objected to his fetching more whiskey.

Under cross-examination by the prosecutor, Thacker admitted he has lived

This Town...That World

Just for the record—and take Clifford Wright's word for it, not mine—we return to Standard (slow) time Saturday night. There's no great danger that anybody will show up for Sunday school or church an hour ahead of time if they don't but the best idea would be to turn your timepieces back an hour before beddy-bye time Saturday night.

IF WINTER COMES...

Clear, cold nights, the voice of a hound echoing across the valley, the hills a riot of color, a hunter's moon hanging low over a distant hilltop, land and water shivering and shimmering before the breath of winter—the purple prose flows freely till one gets concerned with such a prosaic matter as the cost of keeping warm, these "clear, cold nights."

THE HIGH COST OF GAS

One fellow idly remarked that gas was going so high he wouldn't be able to pay for enough to asphyxiate himself. Which brings to mind the case of the late Andy Devine who as a struggling young actor, unemployed, hungry, broke, finally gave up, carefully stuffed paper and rags into every crack in his room through which fresh air might enter, then turned on the gas

Drunk Driver Gets Pen Term

"It's a beginning," commented County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. after a jury recommended a jail sentence, possibly unprecedented here, for a 22-year-old Prestonsburg man convicted of drunk driving.

Elsie Gene Collins was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days on the drunk driving charge—his fifth conviction on that charge, the County Attorney said—and was given an additional 10 days, to be served concurrently, for having no license in his possession.

For a third or subsequent offense, drunk driving carries a penalty of up to a year in jail and a $500 fine. Turner recently announced a policy of seeking jail terms for chronic drunk drivers.

Also sentenced in district court, following guilty verdicts or pleas, were: Paul M. Joseph, no address given, drunk driving, reckless driving, $187.50 in fine and court costs; Terry L. Johnson, Blue River, carrying concealed weapon, 10 days, $72.50; Charlie Johnson, Middle Creek, drunk, 10 days, $72.50; James C. Babb, Martin, possession of marijuana and hashish, 90 days, $297.50; James E. Yelder, Tram, drunk

College Honors Mrs. James

Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James, of Prestonsburg, a member of the class of 1913, was honored by her alma mater, Averett College, at Danville, Va., recently.

Mrs. James, the recipient of the Outstanding Alumna Award, is a well-known folklorist and musician throughout the southeastern United States. After her graduation from Averett in 1913, she attended the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, then moved to Hollywood to study music. A contralto, she toured with Chatuqua Companies and sang with some of music's greats.

The founder of the Kentucky Highlands Festival 17 years ago, she is also responsible for the beginning of the Kentucky Old Christmas celebration in the 1930s. Before her retirement, she taught music at numerous junior colleges and launched "many a career" in music. Her students number in the thousands.

Sale of Liquor In County Seen Mid-November

Legal sale of liquors (whiskey, wine, etc.) will not begin before Nov. 15, and not on Nov. 1 as had been predicted, Phillip D. Damron, Floyd county alcoholic beverage administrator, said Tuesday.

Damron said the beginning of sales could begin later, possibly as late as Nov. 25. He pointed out that the last application for a liquor sales permit was filed on Oct. 8, the last day for filing, and that the law requires a 37-day waiting period before licenses are awarded.

All 21 liquor outlets allocated Floyd county will be licensed at the same time, he said. The disappointment among applicants will be widespread, since more than 200 have filed applications.

To date, beer sales are under way at 75 locations. No deadline was set on applications for beer permits.

In Prestonsburg, where the city council has by ordinance set a limit of three package liquor stores, nine applications for licenses have been received. City Alcoholic Beverage Administrator Paul P. Burchett said. Only three beer carryout permits were requested, and they are all in operation. Two tavern licenses permitting beer to be consumed on the premises have been issued to the VFW Club and the Eagles Club. One restaurant, Franco's, near the Briarwood Addition, has been issued a permit.

The number of licenses issued at Martin, the only other town in the county having a beverage administrator, was unavailable.

GOBLINS, TAKE NOTE

All goblins, ghouls, ET's, or whatever out to make a candy score over Halloween in Martin or Prestonsburg must restrict their activities to between 6-8 p.m., Saturday night. Also, no one over age 12 may participate.

Youth Slaying Yet Unsolved

Unless work now being done in a FBI laboratory supplies evidence that will stand up in court, there is a possibility that the slayer of 17-year-old David Allen Whitten may never be brought to trial.

The youth's badly decomposed body was found in a fishing cabin in the headwaters section of Dewey Lake, Sept. 18. The youth had been shot in the head and back by shotgun blasts. A few days after the body was identified through dental records, the cabin, which had been sealed off by State Police, was burned.

Lt. Gary Rose, of the State Police, said this week that state laboratory work had failed to come up with concrete evidence that would justify an arrest. "We have questioned a lot of people, and we think we know who killed the boy, but we're still looking for proof we could count on in court," he said.

Discouraging as the task of unraveling the mystery is, the investigation continues. Police know that the youth was unarmed and offering no threat to his slayer when killed, and that apparently the murder was witnessed only by the killer.

Congressman To Be Named, But . . .

School Board Races Up Front

Floyd county next Tuesday will have a part with other counties of the Seventh congressional district in electing a Congressman (U.S. Representative in Congress), and this is an individual of importance, one who not only helps enact laws but may override a President's veto or even impeach a President.

But in two sections of this county at this coming election the selection of a Congressman will be upstaged by the election of two county school board members, neither of whom will represent more than nine voting precincts.

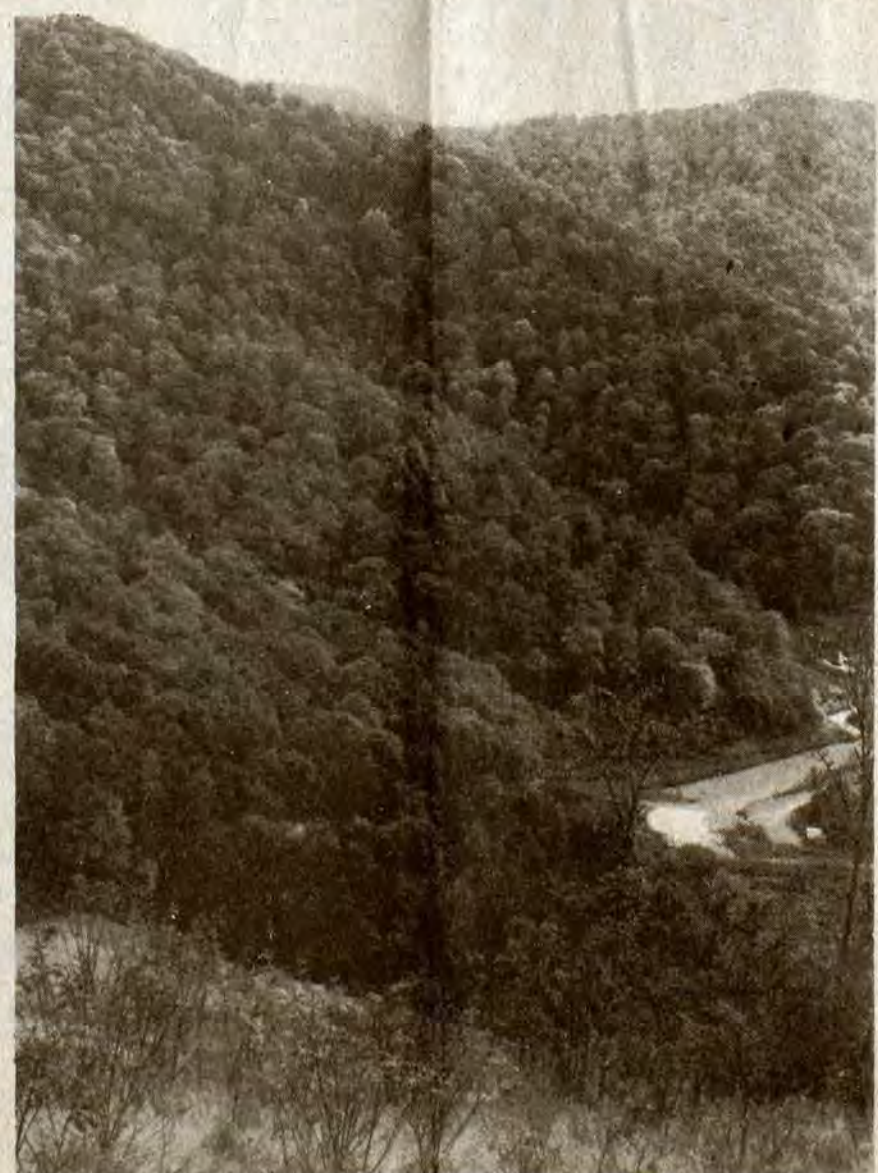

In the Congressional election Carl D. Perkins, Democrat, who began his first term in the national House of Representatives when Harry Truman was President, is being opposed by Tom Hamby, Republican.

But the campaigns that are generating most heat and interest are in the Floyd County Board of Education's Division 1, where Wm. Kelly Moore, James D. "Doc" Adams and Karen Nelson Marcum are candidates; and in Educational Division 2 with its two candidates, Kenneth Larry Hicks and Ray "Shag" Campbell.

Adams and Campbell are incumbents.

Except in the 18 precincts included in these two educational divisions, the vote is expected to be light.

THE FALL COLORS are by no means the brightest they've ever been, yet a view across the hills from any high vantage point should satisfy the most critical connoisseur of autumn scenery. This view looks roughly southwest from the head of Mayo Hollow here.

Group Voices Fear Of Stream Flooding

Waste-water discharges from a mining operation proposed near the Floyd-Knott county line could cause flooding on Beaver Creek, federal environmental officials were told at a hearing here last Thursday.

The hearing was to consider applications by Sierra Coal Co. for 537 waste-water discharge permits for extensive coal operations planned in Floyd, Knott, Magoffin and Breathitt counties.

Sierra officials estimate that the company, which is a subsidiary of General Electric, could produce 8.25 million tons of coal a year in the operations. However, on account of the present slump in the coal market, the firm would probably not begin mining in the four areas until 1984, an engineer predicted.

The huge venture has caused some local residents to worry about its impact on nearby streams and rivers, even though the federal Environmental Protection Agency has issued a finding that the proposed operations will do no significant environmental damage.

Thursday's hearing was held at the request of a group of Mousie residents who lodged an objection to Sierra's application for the Jones Fork area. Their attorney, Mark Morgan, asked for a six-month extension on the deadline for public comment, arguing that runoff could cause flooding on Four Mile Branch and Right Fork of Jones Fork, which is a tributary of Right Beaver Creek.

Morgan said this week that the scope

DEAR P.H.S. GRADUATES 1963-82,

You have a chance to help your former school, the present teachers and especially Mrs. Lucille S. May. I was in Mrs. May's homeroom and her English III class last year. I know that she is and was an excellent teacher. She made learning fun and all of us loved her because she loved us and we knew it.

However, Mrs. May was called to the principal's office almost every day. Her father had a stroke, her mother was ill and she had to face a lot of harassment at school. On May 19, she left school in the middle of the day. She took a leave of absence and finally Disability Retirement. She went to Dr. Adams asking for his help and received none.

I am asking that all of Mrs. May's former students strike a blow for her. Vote for my dad, Kelly Moore, for the School Board in District 1. He will see that teachers are treated fairly; thus creating a better atmosphere for learning for everyone. Vote for Kelly Moore!

Sincerely,
Miss Kelly Sue Moore

WHAT IS "WIDOW'S WALK"?

Old and historic homes built along the seacoasts often have a fence-like railing on the roof which is called a "widow's walk."

This "widow's walk" provided a lookout point for those awaiting the return of loved ones from the sea. In early America, many families were dependent on the shipping business for their livelihood. Many lives were lost at sea. Many ships were to depart, never to return again. "Watching from the widow's walk" became a common experience for countless wives and sweethearts in the early history of our country.

The expression, "widow's walk," has been used to entitle a booklet by Jane Woods Shoemaker. A widow can receive comfort and constructive ideas to help her adjust to her new way of life by reading this warm and moving experience of another widow.

14-Year-Old Collects Trophies

By WENDE BUCHANAN

John Burchett, Jr., a Betsy Layne High School freshman, has his way into the amateur motorcycle winning circle.

In the past three years the sandy-haired 14-year-old has won 23 trophies, with an eight-eight tie for first and second.

Last year he placed third in national competition, an accomplishment he treasures almost as much as his West Virginia state championship.

"The Nationals is what I enjoy most, because they have all different types of riders," Burchett said. He then summed up motorcyclists in two words—"nice" and "wild."

Currently, he is in the process of changing from the 80 to a 125 engine.

Next year, he will start for the first time on the 125.

As for the future, he is considering a career in civil engineering after college. Travel has, also, caught his attention. When asked what he most wants to see the answer was quick and sure: "Rome, because there are a lot of old artifacts that I think would be interesting."

A 14-year-old racer may be considered unusual in most families. But not in his. His older cousin, Bertha Burchett, has been riding for several years and through her racing his interest grew. The two compete in different classes, yet the younger Burchett frankly admits, "She's better than I am."

Halloween Customs Based On Pagan Rites

Children costumed for trick-or-treat this year may be outfitted as robots, astronauts and androids but they are actually following a tradition which is thousands of years old.

The roots of today's Halloween customs, including trick-or-treat, predate Christianity, according to Dr. Perry LeRoy, professor of history at Morehead State University.

"Halloween, as we know it, is actually a compromise between early barbaric Europeans and Roman Catholic missionaries," says Dr. LeRoy.

The history of supernatural beliefs in various cultures is a special research area for Dr. LeRoy, who teaches a "History of Witchcraft" course each fall at MSU.

Hallowe'en has its origins in the Celtic and Germanic traditions of a nature-worshipping pagan holiday to celebrate the harvest, according to Dr. LeRoy.

This associates the long-ago festivities with the modern day Halloween harvest symbols of pumpkins, cornshocks and overflowing cornucopias. But, the idea of spirits also comes from the pagan celebration.

"The Europeans would try to appease the spirits of the harvest or make them complacent and cooperative. They would cook some food for them, burn incense and offer gifts."

Dr. LeRoy says the celebration was related to the notion of "wicca"—white witchcraft.

"It was not only a celebration of the harvest but one containing spiritual connotation. In order to continue and insure the future productivity and fertility of their crops, the Europeans would give something to the spirits."

Dr. LeRoy says these spirits were "friendly," at least as long as gifts were offered, and were often considered to be "ancestors."

"The pagan beliefs were the good old-time religion of the rural European peasantry. In fact, the word 'pagan' means 'rural' in Latin.

The pagan harvest celebration did not suit the Christian missionaries who eventually came into the European regions but the traditions of the holiday were deeply engrained in the pagan culture.

"So the easiest and quickest way for the missionaries to convert these people was to compromise."

Through an assimilation of cultures, the pagans were allowed to keep their harvest holiday—even after Catholic attempts to move it to another date—and many of its customs.

Some beliefs lingered on, but "when the old gods were thoroughly discredited" by Christian teachings, the idea of appeasing the gods was transferred to giving goodies to children costumed as spirits.

And if these counterfeit goblins were not satisfied with their gifts, tricks would be played by the youngsters, in the fashion of the ancient spirits.

Thus, the traditions leading to modern-day Hallowe'en candy and soaped windows were born.

Coal Severance Tax Estimate Is Reduced

The estimate of coal severance taxes to be returned to Floyd county this year has been reduced from $1.1 million to $677,507, the state Division of County and Municipal Accounting has informed Judge-Executive Jerry Laferty, Jr.

The reduction follows a decline in state revenues from the severance taxes caused by the current slump in the coal market, it was said.

Nuclear Issue Events at MSU

Educational activities, music and rallies on the nuclear arms issue are scheduled at Morehead State University during early November.

Sponsored by MSU's United Students for Peace, the events will coincide with the Nov. 4 visit to MSU by the head of a national nuclear war education organization. Other speakers will include an arms limitation expert, a Kentucky nuclear freeze activist, a state legislator and MSU professors.

The two-week event will be kicked off with a mock Pro-Nuke Rally on Nov. 1 in which participants will jokingly protest in front of the University Center in support of a nuclear arms buildup.

State Rep. Pete Worthington, whose Fleming county district includes the Maxey Flats nuclear waste site, will address the problems of nuclear waste. He will speak on Nov. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the University Center.

Dr. M.E. Pryor, biology professor and Dr. John Hanrahan, professor of history, will discuss prevention of nuclear war at MSU's Nov. 3 Lunch-time Forum at 12:40 p.m. in the University Center.

At 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 3, Dr. Ernie Yanarella, an arms limitations expert and professor of political science at the University of Kentucky, will discuss "Beyond the Freeze: The Quest for Nuclear Disarmament in an Age of Overkill." His appearance is scheduled in Reed Auditorium.

WHERE DO YOUR LOYALTIES LIE— WITH YOUR FRIENDS OR YOUR CHILD?

I'm Mary McDonald, and my sister, Karen Marcum is running for school board in District #1. Several Mommies and myself have been campaigning in our district, and several of you have touched on the same topics. Listed below are the most common ones that I would like to discuss with you.

I keep hearing, "Dr. Adams is my doctor, and that's who I'm for. He's done a lot for my family." Honestly, being a good doctor is why you go to him, and you pay him for his services. I am deeply loyal to my own doctor and understand doctor-patient relationships, but our first loyalty is to our children. In our county school system, our children are not the priority.

Parents, if you are not loyal to your own children and put them first, then all the days of their lives they will suffer for this neglect. For without a good education they haven't a hope of earning a good living. There is nothing more important than a decent education.

My husband is a coal miner, and it's hard, dangerous work. Almost half of his earnings is taken for taxes. I am fighting mad, because in Floyd County we are not getting our money's worth in our schools.

Another statement that I've heard frequently is, "Kelly Moore is my barber so I'm for him". My question is this: How in the world does being a barber qualify him for a school board member? I'm sure that he's a good barber just as Dr. Adams is a good doctor, but how can that help our children. No, folks, we must forget friendships in this case and be loyal to our children first.

Karen is loyal to all children, and needs your support. Parents are always calling her for advice. She needs to be in a position to really help these parents. Make your child top priority in this election. Together we can make a difference. Please vote for

Write Your Congressmen

There have been occasions when we felt the Kentucky Public Service Commission fell short of the role we thought it should play, that of protector of the public against unfair and exorbitant utilities rates. But now it would appear the PSC is on course.

It is trying to make the Congress aware of the need of a change in the federal law which has opened the flood-gates to a tide of gas-rate increases.

This is important, because natural gas is bought by transmission companies from producers outside Kentucky, and the last word on gas rates is said by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. The PSC has no voice in the matter, since the gas travels from one state to another and is in interstate commerce.

So Congress apparently is the only hope for control of a price situation which obviously is oppressive to the ordinary consumer and in the case of gas-burning manufacturing firms is an inflation-breeder.

Natural gas prices have been sent spiralling by the Natural Gas Policy Act, an Act of Congress enacted in 1978 to deregulate prices and encourage drilling. As a result of this legislation, a pipeline company signs what is known as a "take-or-pay" contract with a producer, requiring the company to accept the producer's gas at a guaranteed price, although cheaper gas may be available elsewhere. This arrangement is of no particular concern to the transmission company, because its cost increases are passed on to the consumer.

If there ever were any shortages of gas and oil, none is now visible. Drilling, nationally and locally, is in the doldrums. Independent producers cannot sell their product, and the hoped-for stimulus to drilling has failed. In some cases, gas companies have laid off workers, particularly those in drilling activities.

The price is right, and plenty of gas is at hand. Companies producing and selling the fuel are happy. But, lo! the poor consumer.

The Natural Gas Policy Act needs major alterations. Only Congress can do the job. Write your representatives in Congress!

tion—and urging both support for candidates who favor the existing formula and opposition to any who would change it, were excised from the resolution as a condition of council approval.

At the request of homeowners on Scott Court, an alley running behind the Save Mart Store on North Lake Drive, the council voted to impose a 12-ton weight limit on that street.

According to a statement presented to council by Huck Francis, one of the residents, fully-laden coal trucks and gasoline tankers making stops at the Save Mart use the alley for egress and will destroy the pavement there if they are allowed to continue.

Francis said the property owners had asked officials of Ashland Oil, owners of Save Mart, to put a stop to the practise but were refused.

of the operations, which are projected to last for 30 years, warrant more thorough environmental planning than they have received. And the fact that the coal market is slow at this time means that a study could be done without undue economic impact on the coal company, he argued.

Paul J. Traina, an EPA hearing officer, offered to grant a three-month extension for public comment on Sierra's application for the Jones Fork area. Sierra officials responded by withdrawing that section from the permit application.

The comment period for operations planned in Floyd, Breathitt and Magoffin counties will expire tomorrow (Thursday). Traina said, because no objections were lodged to Sierra's applications for those regions. Some environmental groups were said to be yet planning to comment on the application, however.

Vietnam Vets To Be Honored

A memorial is being built in Washington, D.C. to honor those 2.7 million Americans who served in Vietnam. To recognize those who served in Vietnam a special National Salute to Vietnam Veterans is now being planned for November 10-14, in Washington, D.C.

The names of the nearly 58,000 Americans who died or are still missing will be read in a candlelight vigil. Actor Jimmy Stewart will host a special entertainer's salute. There will be unit reunions and receptions all capped off by a grand parade down Constitution Avenue.

All Vietnam Veterans are being urged to register now for this event and all Americans to participate by calling (202) 659-2490 or by writing VVMF, Washington, D.C. 20098.

250,000 veterans and their families are expected to be there.

and didn't light it. He lay down and awaited the end. And waited till he tired of waiting and rose betimes to see why he did not get the advertised results—and found that he had been so far behind on his bill that the company had cut his gas off at the meter.

A JOB WELL DONE

About the only time this column ever deals with sports is to rant a bit at the general manager of the Cincinnati Reds for deliberately ruining a good ball team. My diatribes on the subject didn't draw a retort. So I turn, full course, to praise somebody. I who haven't seen a football game since I sat on the Tennessee side while Kentucky was taking its annual thumping have an idea that Phillip Haywood, young coach of the Prestonsburg High School team, gets as much out of his team as any coach in the state. Haywood will, of course, tell you that he has the finest bunch of boys in the state, and he may well have, but the spirit as well as the play of the team is the product of good coaching.

WHEN RIVALRY WINS FOR REAL

The Courier-Journal did a rather lengthy sports feature, earlier in the week, about the intense athletic rivalry between Paintsville and Pikeville. And all this time we had thought it was Prestonsburg and Paintsville! If their relationship has improved while I was looking the other way, I'm glad. There was a time, oldtimers will tell you, that when Prestonsburg's baseball team went to Paintsville, or vice versa, players and fans took their bondsmen with them.

New Appalshop Films To Premiere in D.C.

The American Film Institute will present the Washington premiere of the two new Appalshop films, Coalmining Women and The Big Lever. The films will be shown at the Kennedy Center on the evening of October 30.

COALMINING WOMEN is a film directed by Elizabeth Barret which looks at why women go into the mines, how they think of the hazards, and what changes their presence is making in the coal industry.

THE BIG LEVER: Partisan Politics in Leslie County, Kentucky is a documentary on the traditionally Republican county which gained national notoriety when Richard Nixon made his first public appearance there after resigning the presidency. The film, directed by Frances Morton, focuses on Nixon's visit to the county, the officials who invited him in, court cases arising from voting irregularities there, local elections, and the thoughts of several Leslie Countyans about politics.

Both films will also be shown this fall on the "Headwaters" television series which airs Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. over WKYH.

Ten Years Ago

(October 25, 1972)

The hearing held here last Thursday by the Kentucky Water Pollution Control Commission gave residents of this section an opportunity to let the Commission know they aren't satisfied with the job it is doing, and it afforded the Commission an opportunity to explain classifications. The President has committed $640,000 to date from his Disaster Relief Fund to help Kentucky residents and communities recover from the effects of last April's flooding, and Floyd county's was the largest with $103,000. Thousands of persons jammed Prestonsburg streets and sidewalks Saturday to witness the observance of Red, White and Blue Day. Two murder trials are expected to be heard during the coming term of the Floyd circuit court which will convene November 13. The 92nd Congress before adjournment last week passed a welfare Social Security bill which will raise Social Security taxes from the present 5.2 percent on the first $9,000 a year of earnings to 5.85 on the first $10,800 of earnings in 1973. The Prestonsburg Blackcats assured themselves a winning season last Friday night by blanking the Hazard Bulldogs, 27-0. There died: Pfc. Marvin R. Hicks, 22, native of this county, in a car accident in Marion, O., Sunday; Dolly Howard Marsillett, 81, of Prestonsburg, Saturday at the Mountain Manor Nursing Home; Bertha Eva Herrell, 66, of Martin, last Thursday at the McDowell hospital; Crit Wicker, 71, of Garrett, Sunday at his home; William N. Branham, 74, of Water Gap, at her home.

Twenty Years Ago

(October 25, 1962)

In an atmosphere of deep tension, one truck-mine and one tippie serving truck mines resumed operation Tuesday morning, breaking the solid shutdown in effect in this county since picketing of such workings began. Receivership for some of the functions of the city government of Martin was asked in a suit filed in circuit court here Tuesday by holders of bonds issued to finance the city's share of urban renewal expenses. An estimated 5,000 Big Sandians last Saturday heard Ex-President Harry S. Truman in typical give-'em-hell-Harry style blister Republicans and call on the voters to elect Democrats Wilson W. Wyatt to the Senate and Carl D. Perkins to the House of Representatives. The former president spoke at Pikeville. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Perry, a son, Johnny Ray, Oct. 14 at the Prestonsburg General Hospital. There died: George Campbell, 69, of the Town Branch section, last Thursday at Prestonsburg General Hospital; Eden F. Gable, 71, of West Prestonsburg, Friday at Lexington; Mrs. Gladys K. Justice, 59, of Endicott, Friday at home; Mrs. Myrtle Williams, 62, of Dana, last Thursday at Pikeville; Mrs. Sallie Scutchfield, 64, of Water Gap, Tuesday at home.

Floyd county coal mines were shut down, solid, this week and will probably remain so until the $1.90 pay increase allowed the miners by the new coal contract is approved by the Wage Stabilization Board or until other means of getting the men back to work are devised. Two Floyd county soldiers have lost their lives recently. One Henry E. Gibson, of Prestonsburg, was a victim of fighting in Korea, October 4, and the other Cpl. Carl Whittaker, of Abbott Creek, was killed Tuesday in a motor wreck near Near White Sands Proving Grounds, Los Cruces, New Mexico. Floyd county is suffering the effects of the worst drought to hit this area since 1930. The Floyd County Good Government Taxpayer's League and one individual, Bill Petrey, each posted a $100 reward for each person convicted of vote fraud at the November elections. Sandra Gale Crisp, two-year-old daughter of Billy J. and Catherine Crisp, formerly of Martin, was the victim of carbon monoxide fumes escaping from a coal burner, October 17, at Munnith, Michigan. Dr. R. M. Sirkle, of Prestonsburg, was installed Thursday as the grand master of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky Masons, the first resident of the Big Sandy Valley ever to hold that post. Floyd county Democratic will participate in the current political campaign, it was said, after the Floyd County Women's Democratic Club was organized here, Tuesday night. Floyd, Johnson and Magoffin counties were consolidated into one Scout district, at the district Scout meeting, here, Tuesday night, and the area was named the Jenny Wiley district. John D. Robinson, 33, and Charlie Blanton, 44, both of Printer, were killed in a car wreck, this week, at Waynesfield, Ohio, and Frank Boyd, 48, of Arkansas Creek, also was fatally injured in an auto accident near Munnith, Michigan. Born: to Dr. and Mrs. R.M. Wilhite, Jr., a son, Robert Montgomery Wilhite, III, at Paintsville, October 9; to Mr. and Mrs. Keith Alley, a daughter, Dianne Keith, at the Paintsville hospital, October 19. There died: William Dingus, 95, former State Senator and Floyd county attorney, Tuesday at his home in Prestonsburg; Opal Kidd McKinney, 37, of Amba, at her home October 19; Louise Butcher Wells, 74, of Auxier, at Paintsville, October 8.

Forty Years Ago

Floyd County's scrap pile this week weighed a total of 1,231,000 pounds, with 257,514 pounds of metal and rubber being added to the junk collection since last week. There will be no opposing factions in either the election of two County Board of Education members or three City Board of Education members here, but a heated city election is in prospect, the election lineup showed Monday night. W. G. Africa, commander of Floyd post, American Legion, has asked County Superintendent Town Hall to enlist the aid of school children in salvaging old records for use by the armed forces. Delmas Martin, 26-year-old Wayland miner, was fatally crushed Tuesday when he was pinned between the mine motor he was operating and the "rib," in the mines of Glogora Coal Company at Glo. Edward B. Leslie, Wheelwright teacher, was elected chairman of Floyd County Legislative District No. 2, at a Democratic caucus, held at McDowell, Saturday, and Morton McGlothen, of Printer, was elected secretary. The Floyd County Transportation Committee will hold meetings in the five Floyd county towns for the purpose of receiving applications of farm truck owners for War Necessity Certificates, James Stephens, chairman of the county USDA War Board, announced Monday. Observance of Navy Day, Tuesday, October 26, was asked this week by Mayor E. P. Arnold in a proclamation and by Superintendent Town Hall in a statement to teachers. Induction into the Army of Jesse Elliot has left four Floyd county schools—Maytown, Wheelwright, Auxier and McDowell—without a music instructor. Married: Miss Edna E. Prater, of Washington D.C., formerly of Lackey, to Mr. John Priddy Irvin, of Washington D.C., at Marlboro, Maryland, October 1; Miss Georgia E. Adkins, of Covington, Kentucky, and Pvt. A total of 60 names were taken from the jury wheel for prospective service as jurors at the coming term of the Floyd circuit court. Floyd County Chapter, American Red Cross, received last week part of a shipment of cloth to be made into clothing for the needy of this county. After hearing wild screams, blood curdling "bellers," and other strange squallings, and finding that some sort of something (?) was destroying their corn crops, farmers of the Right Fork of the Blackberry Creek section, Pike county, are hunting for this unsighted, unknown animal. Some say it is a wildcat, others a panther, while others have given it different names. Senator Alben W. Barkley was here Thursday morning, enroute to Paintsville. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gessling, a son, Fredrick Richard Gessling, Jr., October 6, at the Wells hospital, Paintsville; to Dr. and Mrs. P. S. Roberts, a daughter, Phyllis Caroline, at Benham, Kentucky, October 9. There died: John R. Boggs, 60, C. & O. engineer, at his home at Martin; Mrs. Josephine Stratton, 73, at Ashland.

in Indiana since 1967 and that the incident he referred to happened "in the fifties."

Louisville psychiatrist Dr. James G. Bland, who treated Mrs. Bush over a two-month period this summer, said she told him of waking up to find Bush standing over her with a hatchet, although she did not report being struck by him.

Bland said he did not diagnose spouse abuse syndrome but conceded, under prompting by defense attorney Ned Pillersdorf, that it was "conceivable" she was a victim of abuse.

Mrs. Bush was definitely a battered spouse, said Travis Fritsch, a Lexington social worker, in the trial's lengthiest testimony. An accumulation of physical and, later, mental abuse left Mrs. Bush in fear of her life and desperate, she said.

In a tape-recorded interview with Det. Claude Tackett on the night of her arrest, part of which the prosecution had played back before the jury, Mrs. Bush appeared combative, boasting that she could shoot with both hands, vowing to demonstrate her prowess in court, and threatening to shoot various individuals.

The case went to the jury of nine men and three women at 1:45 p.m. Tuesday and the verdict was announced at 3:20. Formal sentencing has been set for November 19.

A first-degree manslaughter conviction carries a possible prison sentence of from 10 to 20 years.

Formaldehyde Basis of Suit

A Prestonsburg woman brought suit in Circuit Court here this week against two mobile home firms, claiming that she and her infant daughter were suffering from formaldehyde poisoning.

Carol Charles said she bought a Buccaneer trailer from Hylton Homes, at Ivel, in 1979 and that after she and her daughter, Gina Justice, moved in they began to experience nausea, irritation of the nose, throat and lungs, and mental disorientation.

In 1981 they were diagnosed as having formaldehyde poisoning, Mrs. Charles said.

Named as defendants in the suit are Hylton Homes and Buccaneer Homes, the Alabama firm that manufactured the trailer. While the unit was sold as "suitable and fit for human

J. K. Wells, an attorney for Drs. Mina Majmudar and Ernelinda Arriola, the anesthesiologists who claim that Highlands' contract with the nurse-anesthetists constitutes a denial of their hospital privileges, said he will move promptly for another injunction against the hospital.

An April broadcast of the TV documentary "20/20" figured prominently in the court hearing Tuesday afternoon, which was called to consider a motion by Highlands for a dissolution of the temporary injunction.

Over the objection of Highlands' attorney Phillip Damron, Dr. Majmudar and her lawyer referred to the TV program, which compared the performance of nurse-anesthetists and anesthesiologists, to illustrate their claim that the former are less competent than the latter.

Judge Conley, who said he had seen the program, added that he could understand why a patient might insist on being anesthetized by a physician rather than a nurse.

Highlands Administrator Clarence Traum, noting that more complicated surgery is not performed at the hospital, said he would feel comfortable being anesthetized by a nurse-anesthetist there. In fact, nurse-anesthetists provided all the anesthesia services at the hospital three years ago and still provide up to 80 percent, he said.

The present system of "freelance anesthesia" could not guarantee 24-hour coverage, Traum argued.

To a charge by the plaintiffs' attorney that the contract with the nurse-anesthetists is designed to increase hospital profits, Traum implied that any profits would go toward reducing patient costs.

Allen Protests Delay of Trial Of Okie Bevins

Although a continuance of the murder trial of William Okie Bevins has reportedly been granted by the Greenup circuit court, Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen last week filed a response to the motion for continuance of the case and has been granted a hearing to be held next Friday.

Bevins is charged with the slaying of five men at Allen, Oct. 16, 1981, and his trial was shifted in a change of venue action from the Floyd to the Greenup circuit court.

In his motion protesting a continuance of the case Allen alleged:

—That the copy of the motion filed by Lester Burns, attorney for Bevins, was not received by him till Oct. 14, and that the defendant's motion bears no date for its hearing. (The continuance was reported as having been granted on Oct. 15.)

—That a continuance would work a hardship on the Commonwealth which, at great expense and time, has already subpoenaed "at least 30 witnesses" and has procured an order from a Massachusetts court commanding the appearance of Katy Sue Click Blackburn, widow of one of the victims, at the trial on its original date, Nov. 29. If trial is delayed, it was argued, it may be impossible to get the attendance of this witness again.

—That the Nov. 29 trial date was set by mutual agreement of attorneys for the defense and the Commonwealth at a pre-trial conference held last May 12 and that defense counsel's commitment to another trial in the Boyle circuit court was of his own making.

Chief Blackburn pointed out that the razing of the store building represented the largest structure ever used in a fire drill by the squad and afforded firefighters "excellent practice" in dealing with fires in masonry structures and of two-story construction.

Cost of Gas To Rise Here 56c Next Week

Beginning next Monday, Prestonsburg gas rates will jump another 56 cents per 1000 cubic feet, bringing gas rate increases to roughly 140% above those of last May 1 when the rate spiral began gathering steam.

The last 56 cents per MCF added to bills has not been officially approved by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, but there's fear based on experience with other rate requests that it will be. Although the raise has been protested and a final decision is awaited, the Prestonsburg Utilities Commission is afraid not to add the charge to customers bills now rather than selling gas at the prior rate and collecting later if the extra charge becomes official.

The householder or business whose meter shows that as much as 20,000 cubic feet of gas, the average winter-time usage, was burned will be paying $106.50 per month.

All local increases result from rate increases granted to, or asked by, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co., from which the local gas system buys its gas supply.

Despite the grim price prospects, city officials are not without hope that some relief is possible. Whatever optimism remains stems from the response of Department of Energy officials in Washington last week to an argument against rate boosts made by a delegation from Prestonsburg and Hazard.

City officials were told they had made a "unique request." They had asked the Energy Department to consider the saving to consumers from the use of gas produced in this area.

"We told them," said Bill Harvey Howard, Prestonsburg utilities superintendent, "that we could not see why we should be paying interstate transportation charges on gas brought from Texas when most of the gas is really from our own backyard."

Attending the Washington meeting were Mayor Harold Cooley, C. J. McNally, chairman of the Prestonsburg Utilities Commission, and Mr. Howard. They were joined by Hazard Mayor Bill Gorman and an engineering consultant.

Howard admitted there's much work to be done yet but expressed the hope that a full hearing later may be effective.

The Prestonsburg Gas Consumers' Association and the State Public Service Commission have protested the rate increase.

Perlman Hosts Musical Night

KET joins President and Mrs. Reagan and their guests in the East Room of the White House for a special musical feature. Violinist virtuoso Itzhak Perlman is the master of ceremonies in this season's opening of "In Performance at the White House." The first program in the series airs Wednesday, November 10 at 8 p.m.

Perlman introduces 20-year-old pianist Ken Noda, who has performed with 11 major orchestras and written five operas. He is being guided through his career by maestros Daniel Barenboim, James Levin and Zubin Mehta, who appear in taped segments of the program.

Noda performs Mozart's Fantasia in d minor—K.397 and Chopin's Ballad No. 1 in g minor, Opus 23. Noda teams up with Perlman in a feature of Stravinsky's "Suite Italian." They will also perform music by Fritz Kreisler and Pablo Sarasate.

Hays or Hayes: Dates to Normans

Hays or Hayes can be described as a "melting pot" surname. Historical notes referring to Hays are found in England, Ireland, Scotland and France.

Dating back to early Normandy, the Hays name came from La Haye-de-Puits, a place in France.

We follow the name from Normandy to England, where the Normans were ultimately absorbed into the English nation. There is a record in charter of 704 A. D. of the Old English nation. There is a record in a charter of 704 A. D. of the Old English word "haeha" meaning high.

The phrase "He was strong man and hey" was later found in England in 1300. The Old English word of 'haeg' referred to a dweller by a hedge, an enclosure or perhaps a small park, while the Middle English 'hay' denoted a forest fenced off for hunting. Stephen in the Hays was listed on Worcester-shire subsidy rolls in 1275.

The Irish Hays are chiefly associated with Limberick and Tipperary counties. Catherine Hays, the singer, and two well-known painters with the name came from this area during the 1900s.

In Scotland, the Hayes family held a distinguished position and owned vast territory. Members of the King of Scots, and the head of the family holds the post of Hereditary High Constable of Scotland. The clan holds the Earldom of Erroll to this day.

The Hays name has also become important in America. The surname belonged to a United States President, a well-known Arctic explorer and made its mark in the American theatre.

During Colonial times, the majority of the Hayes settled in Connecticut with Thomas Hays arriving as early as 1645. George Hays arrived from Scotland in 1680.

Numerous grants have been given to the Hays name through the centuries. One of the more significant coats of arms is blazoned with the ermine fur and three gold roses on a blue chevron.

One gets the impression that the students in William Patton's sixth grade class at Martin Elementary wouldn't trade their KET study sessions for a whole case of Tootsie Rolls. Monday, when State Rep. Greg Stumbo visited along with KET's Jim Blevins as part of the educational network's "KET is for Learning Week," the youngsters seemed engrossed in an excellent bit of programming, "Children of New Zealand." Each child, assigned by Mr. Patton to look at a specific facet of the program, from terrain to agriculture, busily took notes and readily shared their observations with the class during the discussion period which followed. In similar programs, which Mr. Patton reviewed with the class, the students have been exposed to the land and lifestyles of countries from Yemen to Jamaica.

KET's Blevins explained that as part of the week legislators across the state are being asked to attend classes where the educational programming is being used. Rep. Stumbo presented a certificate of recognition from KET to Martin Elementary, Principal William Hughes, and Mr. Patton for its use of the medium in the classroom situation.

When Stumbo asked the class if they enjoyed utilizing the programming in their studies, the answer came as a collective display of hands and a resounding, "Yeah!"

'World's Largest Birdhouse' Greets Visitors from Locale

Lookout Mountain, TN—Both local residents and frequent visitors may experience a sudden disorientation the next time they begin their ascent of Lookout Mountain just west of Chattanooga, Tennessee.

"The World's Largest Birdhouse," which has greeted travelers for years along U.S. Highways 41, 11, 64, and 72 as they approach the mountain, is now projecting its message of "See Rock City" from a vantage point directly across the street from its original position.

The reason behind the move is very simple, explained Rock City's vice president, Bill Chapin. "The land on which the birdhouse sat was sold, so we moved it," he said.

Although the explanation is simple, the move itself was no easy feat. Originally constructed in 1968 for $6,500, the tremendous sign weighs approximately 10 tons. It took 3 cranes and a crew of eight men three days to complete the task of dismantling and relocating the landmark at a cost of over $8,000.

The sign is reminiscent of the late fifties when over 800 "See Rock City" barns dotted the Southeast. After the Federal Highway Beautification Act of 1965 restricted roadside advertising, the birdhouses were a natural outgrowth of this famous promotion. Today, the "See Rock City" birdhouses are nearly as famous as the barns themselves and can be found in campsites, parks and private yards across the country.

Founded in 1932 by Frieda and Garnet Carter, Rock City continues to educate and entertain visitors from all over the world.

To The Concerned Parents Of Floyd County

Here are a few questions I would like for you to think about before you go to the polls to cast your vote:

1. Why are our schools in such a deteriorated shape, that they are unsafe for our children to go to?
2. Why do our children have to leave home before daylight and ride on buses that aren't safe to transport them?
3. Why are some buses that have a hauling capacity of 60, transporting 80 children?
4. Why did the parents of high school children have to pay for their school books this year?
5. Why is it that the school board race is the most political race in this county, even though it has nothing to do with politics but with the future of our children?
6. Why does Floyd County have two assistant superintendents, when they could take that money and put it into our schools?

The answer to all of these questions is very simple: the present school board members. This is why we need a change and a change for the better. It is up to us concerned parents to make that change, so our children will be able to receive a decent education. This is why we urge all of the concerned parents of Floyd County to go vote on Tuesday, November 2, and vote for:

LARRY HICKS

Candidate For

A vote for him gives our children a chance for the future.

Arrests Follow Marijuana Haul

A routine traffic check by state troopers last Wednesday on KY 7, near Hueysville, resulted in the confiscation of 20 pounds of marijuana and the arrest of three Indiana men.

Jailed here by State Troopers J. Reederick and B. Slone were Kenneth Ray Gibson, 24, Jack Stanley, 42, and Kenneth Bolen, 32, all of Kendallville, Indiana. The three, charged with trafficking in marijuana, remained in jail Monday.

The 1973 Pontiac occupied by the three men was impounded. No estimate of the value of the haul was available.

New CPA Recognized

The Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants hosted its semi-annual Awards Night dinner dance recently at the Hyatt Regency in Louisville. Successful candidates from the May, 1982 CPA examination and those presented their CPA certificates and permits to practice in Kentucky were recognized.

Among the new CPAs who were recognized was Keith D. McCoy, of the CPA firm of Cooley, Hall and Harris, Prestonsburg.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT #1

PLEASE take the time to ask yourselves these questions before you vote for your next school board member:

- Why is there no record of achievement listed for the 12 years James "Doc" Adams has been a school board member? Could it be there are no achievements worth listing?
- Do you want decisions about your children's educational futures made by people who belong to some "political machine" or an INDEPENDENT THINKER who is loyal to no one but the children?
- Do you want a school board representative who, when he had the opportunity, REFUSED to join parents in the fight to get the ASBESTOS out of Prestonsburg High School?
- Why was $252,000.00 budgeted as a Contingency for no particular reason when many schools are having to raise money to pay for necessities such as classroom materials, telephone and garbage bags?
- Why are superintendents driving leased cars that will cost us the taxpayers about $24,000 when their salaries are over $32,000.00 per year?
- Why do our board members have so many "Executive Sessions" (behind closed doors) when the Attorney General says these should be the exception not the rule?
- WHY ARE PARENTS TOLD TO SHUT-UP AT BOARD MEETINGS WHEN ASKING QUESTIONS CONCERNING FINANCES?

KAREN NELSON MARCUM has attended board meetings, she has asked many questions, the same questions you ask yourselves and your neighbors.

Our present board member states in an ad, "That serving as a board member is a task involving proper management." He has had the opportunity for "proper management" for some time now:

1. At one board meeting he asked for 150 desks and was told there was no money. However, there was $252,000.00 in a Contingency Fund.
2. A trained nurse is hired as a Public Relations person even though we have no school nurses.
3. Two cars are leased at a January, 1981 board meeting for two superintendents; which coincidentally occurred following a meeting "behind closed doors."

PROPER MANAGEMENT???—I sincerely question that statement.

For approximately 4½ years I have been attending school board meetings and learning just how much goes into the administering of taxpayers' dollars.

I have learned that parents have a right to expect under the law, and have tried, along with other people, to pass along that information to as many people as possible.

During the last year KAREN NELSON MARCUM has been involved in the process of educating herself and others as to their rights.

KAREN has become a well-informed advocate for the children of District #1 as well as the county as a whole.

I am very proud of KAREN, and strongly endorse her candidacy. She has worked hard to inform herself. It has not been an easy process; the anger, pain, frustration and the challenge are difficult to face. The result, however, is certainly worth the effort.

When you decide to vote for KAREN NELSON MARCUM as your next board representative you will have voted, not for another four years of back door politics, but for a bright future for the children of Floyd County.

★ CONSUMER ALERT ★

ELECTRONIC CALCULATORS

Consumers have always desired an instrument of help when figuring mathematical sums. Today, our marketplaces are flooded with all kinds of electronic "instruments of help." We call them calculators. As our environment demands greater usage of electronic calculators, consumers should know a few basic facts about these electronic "instruments of help."

An electronic calculator can do a wide assortment of chores, from helping to balance the checkbook to working a highly complex mathematical problem. Because of the wide range of functions, calculators come in many assortments. Some calculators will only do basic functions, while others will perform many scientific functions. Some will even do complex business computations. Some calculators are small enough to fit into your shirt pocket, but there are also desk-top models.

"Unfortunately, many consumers never stop to consider their needs before they purchase a calculator," says Attorney General Steven L. Beshear. "Before purchasing a calculator, consumers should ask themselves several questions. First, what will I actually be using my calculator for? What size should my calculator be? How important are the function keys? By carefully defining their needs, consumers can shop wisely and efficiently."

Consumers should be aware of the wide variety of features available on a calculator. Some features are common on almost all electronic calculators. Those features include floating decimal, memory, square root, overflow, and zero suppression. Such features are almost necessities in any situation. Advanced features might include sine, cosine and tangent functions, exponential power functions and programmable key functions.

"When in the market for a calculator, consumers should shop around before actually purchasing one," says Attorney General Beshear. "Always check several different stores, since many times one store will be running a sale which the others are not."

"In this era of high technology and competition, prices are dropping substantially on electronic components. Before deciding on a particular calculator, try several different models. Check to see if the keyboard is easy to use, and make sure the size of the calculator feels comfortable to you. Be sure you can easily read the display," Beshear added.

Consumers should consider these factors before purchasing a specific model. If necessary, try a specific task on the models you are interested in and pick the model that feels best.

Before purchasing a calculator, familiarize yourself with its warranty. Learn what the manufacturer offers and does not offer with its warranty; find out where your calculator can be repaired, and see if it is your responsibility to mail it back to the factory if the need arises. Above all, after purchasing your calculator, fill out the warranty card and mail it in. This may save you many future problems.

By following the above recommendations, you can purchase the calculator that best fits your needs. For further information, or to file a consumer complaint, write to the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, 209 St. Clair Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, or call the toll-free Consumer Hotline: 1-800-432-9257.

Deadline Set for Harmon Heirs To File in Martin County Case

By HOMER F. MARCUM
(In The Martin Countian)

Circuit Court Clerk Carolyn P. Horn calls it Martin County's most celebrated case, and certainly it is, if you go counting the names of those who are directly or indirectly involved.

The case she is talking about is referred to as the case of Wolf Creek Collieries vs. Curtis Moore, et al. But out of court it has become known as the case of the Harmon Heirs.

At issue is who owns 200 acres of surface and coal and mineral rights on Emily Creek, a tributary of Wolf Creek.

Martin Circuit Judge W.B. Hazelrigg attempted to answer that question on September 17, when he entered an order setting out the names of over 300 descendants of Daniel Harmon, deceased, who all share in the ownership.

And there apparently are a lot more descendants who may or may not be aware that the legal clock is ticking for them to inform the court that they, too, should share in the ownership.

The issues are complicated and have been in court since August 31, 1978, when Douglas A. Moore, a resident of Lovely, sold his undivided interest to Wolf Creek Collieries. His son-in-law, Drewie Muncy, is an attorney for Wolf Creek Collieries.

Moore, the court recently ruled, owned .179 per cent.

Back to Daniel Harmon. At his death, in the late 1800's, he left five sons, Allen, Uriah, Henry, Thomas and Napoleon.

The court ruled that their descendants should all share equally, and named 308 of them in the final judgment.

However, the court admits that it believes Daniel Harmon also left two daughters, namely Martha Jane Harmon James and Florence Harmon. And they may have left heirs who should share equally, as well.

To try and help settle the issue once and for all, two sevenths' ownership has been set aside for those descendants of the two women who can establish their kinship to them within 60 days of the entry of the order. Hazelrigg signed the order on September 17, 1982, but the order itself says that the unknown heirs have 60 days from August 27. That is a 20-day difference.

Anyhow, time is drawing near for the paper work to have been in. The court appointed a warning order attorney to attempt to notify the missing heirs. Robert Jordan, an Inez attorney, was assigned the task.

Heirs of the two women, and any others, must file what is known as an "affidavit of descent," in Martin Circuit Court. Circuit Clerk Carolyn Horn explained Monday that one of the first things an heir-apparent must do is notify the court, either through an attorney or by a certified letter to the court.

The descendants of the two women stand to share 28.56 per cent of ownership.

What makes the case so "celebrated" involves many mitigating circumstances, not the least of which is that Wolf Creek Collieries is believed to have already mined some of the coal. Or at least some of the heirs and their attorneys are saying so.

The case has drawn much attention from the courts and media since it was first ordered to be sold by the court at public auction approximately two years ago. A large crowd showed up for the auction, in the hallway of the courthouse, when Jack Lewis, a Paintsville attorney who was appointed Master Commissioner of the case, attempted to sell it at public auction. Approximately 100 Harmon heirs showed up, as did a representative of Wolf Creek Collieries, and his attorneys. A shouting match ensued and a subsequent auction was held. For a time, it looked light a riot might erupt.

Let's Talk.

Talking. It's the best way to find out what's happening. To understand.

South Central Bell believes in talking things over. And there's never been a time when talking was more important. You may have heard about changes coming in the way you'll be getting your phone service. We want to talk with you about these changes. And answer some of the questions you may have been asking about South Central Bell.

Questions such as these:

Q. I've heard stories about "divestiture," and the telephone company splitting up. It's all very complicated. What's happening?

A. Simply put, AT&T has agreed to separate itself from the local operations of its 22 Bell operating telephone companies. So in the future, South Central Bell will no longer be affiliated with AT&T.

Q. If South Central Bell doesn't have AT&T behind it, won't the quality of my telephone service be affected?

A. You can expect the same dependable service you have now. And you'll have the same dedicated people standing behind it. You'll also have more options than ever before in terms of equipment, services and suppliers.

Q. What will happen to my local rates? Is it true they're going to skyrocket?

A. Your rates are not going to skyrocket. They may continue to go up, but not because of the separation from AT&T. Increases in our costs are the main reason. For example, inflation causes increases in the cost of services and goods we use to provide phone service. And new technology in telecommunications makes it necessary for us to replace some equipment faster than in the past. Local rates will have to go up to cover part of these increased costs.

Q. Will South Central Bell be allowed to charge whatever it wants for local calls?

A. No. Local rates will still be regulated by the state's public service commission. And at South Central Bell, we will continue to do everything we can to keep these rates as low as possible.

Q. Where will I get my telephone in the future? And who will fix it in case something goes wrong or it breaks?

A. At some time in the future, you will be able to get phones from an AT&T subsidiary, other phone suppliers or possibly South Central Bell. Repair of phone equipment likely will be provided by the company that supplies the equipment. South Central Bell will continue to maintain your local telephone lines.

You may have more questions about the changes at South Central Bell. And we want to make it easy for you to get answers.

★ CANCER HOPELINE ★

Q. My regular annual Pap test has always been normal. This time, my doctor said I wouldn't need to come back for two years. Why is this? I'm 32 and married.

A. For many years, an annual Pap test was recommended as part of a woman's routine physical examination. It is the best protection against cervical cancer which, if revealed early, is almost always 100 percent curable.

However, in July, 1980, the National Cancer Institute (NCI) sponsored a Consensus Development Conference of experts to make recommendations on the use of the Pap test. The conference participants agreed that the Pap test is safe and effective in detecting cell changes that can progress to cervical cancer. The experts also agreed that most women who are virgins do not need to have a Pap test and that women over 60 who have had two negative (normal) tests do not need any more on a regular basis.

It was recommended that all other women have their first Pap test soon after they become sexually active. If the first test proves normal, it should be repeated in a year. If the second is normal, the physician may set up a regular schedule of testing at intervals of one to three years. The gynecologic cancer specialists at the University of Kentucky Medical Center are still recommending annual Pap smears.

The panel of experts at NCI did not agree on how frequently women at high risk of cervical cancer should have a Pap test. There are three factors a physician considers which may contribute to a woman's higher than normal risk of cervical cancer: First sexual intercourse before the age of 18; multiple sexual partners, and low socio-economic status.

Since you have had normal Pap tests right along, your physician has determined that you need not be screened so frequently. You may be guided by his/her recommendation. Of course, if you experience irregular, prolonged, or unusually heavy menstrual cycles or have any abnormal bleeding between periods or after intercourse, see your physician immediately.

For further information, call the Cancer Hopeline toll free at 1-800-432-9321 weekdays from 9-5. Ask for free copy of "The Pap Smear: A Lifetime Habit for all Women" and "What You Need to Know About Dysplasia, Very Early Cancer, and Invasive Cancer of the Cervix." Send written requests to 915 South Limestone Street, Lexington, KY 40536.

Q. My mother, who has terminal cancer, is being cared for by family in her own home. She's well known, but almost no one comes to see her even though she'd love the company. Can I do or say anything to get lifelong friends to come over, or does their staying away make it a lost cause?

A. It is a fact that when a person is dying, especially with cancer, his or her relationships with others are deeply affected. There are several reasons for this.

Learning that someone close is incurably ill not only is a sorrow but is also a reminder that we, too, are vulnerable. Such a realization is not easy for most people to handle.

Americans also shun the dying because they lack experience at it. Medical advances removed illness and death from the home and placed it in the hospital many years ago. Thus, fewer people were exposed to the dying process, and they began to avoid the dying, to see death as a failure, not merely the final experience of life.

The word, "cancer," itself strikes fear in the average person. Most regard it as a death warrant, though many people live long, active lives and/or recover. Others, like your mother, are dying, but they are alert and want to see friends.

Assume that your mother's old friends really do care, that they are afraid of the situation, and that they would really like to help if they knew how. That's where you and the rest of the family come in. Encourage visits by letting friends know the best time to come, by sharing your and your mother's concerns and needs, and by discussing her illness.

You will doubtless find that some people still will not be able to come over, but they may be just the ones to run an errand, fix a casserole, or do

Workshop Is Slated For Tax Preparers

A schedule of 12 tax practitioner workshops has been announced by the University of Kentucky, the Internal Revenue Service and the Kentucky Department of Revenue.

The tax practitioner workshops are held to bring preparers of tax returns up-to-date on the latest tax law changes, and to serve as a basic review of filing procedures and form usage.

In this area, a tax practitioner workshop is scheduled for Dec. 2-3 at the Carriage House, Paintsville. Daily hours are 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

A $50 enrollment fee is charged for each two day workshop. Brochures with registration blanks are available at the local county extension offices. Also, registration blanks and additional information may be obtained by phoning the University of Kentucky Agriculture Economics Department at (606) 257-3481 or write: U. K. ## KHC Interest Rates Lowered some needed yard work or repairs. People like to be needed, and they will mostly be glad to help out if asked.

Some literature available free from the Cancer Hopeline may be of help. Particularly good are "Taking Time: A Guide for People with Cancer and Those Who Care for Them," and "Communication: Or I Want to Tell You What I Don't Want to Say."

Of course, counselors at the Hopeline are available to listen, to help with practical problems, and to care each weekday from 9 to 5. Call 1-800-432-9321, toll free, from anywhere in Kentucky. You may also write to 915 S. Limestone Street, Lexington, Ky. 40536.

The board of directors of the Kentucky Housing Corporation held a special meeting last Friday, to consider alternatives available for the revision of mortgage loan interest rates applicable to the proceeds of the 1981 Series A bond issue.

Loans under this issue were initially made available at 13½ percent interest for a term of 25 years, but as a result of the recent move by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) lowering its insured rate to 12½ percent, KHC must revise the current interest rate on available funds.

The KHC board unanimously decided to write down the note rate 1½ percent. Additionally, KHC will provide funds for a three-year buy-down to further reduce the interest cost to the homeowner. The effective rate for the first year will be 9¼ percent; the second year will be at 10 percent and the third year at 10½ percent, with the remaining years of the loan at 11½ percent. The escrow deposit required for this buy-down will be committed from excess earnings on debt service reserves.

Halloween Safety Hints

Simple safety precautions, such as being sure a child's mask does not obscure vision and making sure the child wears light-colored clothing at night can help make Halloween safe as well as fun for the family.

-To prevent tripping, make sure your children's costumes are not too long and have no dangling strings.

-Don't permit children to handle candles or get near flames of any kind. Light pumpkins with lanterns or electric bulbs if possible. All children should carry a flashlight at night.

-Allow your children to eat only packaged treats and inspect everything to make sure no one has tampered with the wrappers. Discard all fruit, cookies and anything else that is unwrapped or homemade.

-Teach children pedestrian safety rules, such as looking in all directions before crossing, walking on sidewalks and not on streets and watching out for cars getting out of driveways.

★ HOW PRIDE WAS LOST ★

I would like to reply to a recent article in your September 8 issue of the Floyd County Times. I and all my family grew up in Floyd County. I was born there 34 years ago and have not been gone from there so very long. I still have aunts, uncles, brothers, and a sister living there (not to mention several cousins). I feel like I can speak about living in Floyd County, and I think I will.

I came from one of those poor but proud families that Mr. Robert M. Press was supposed to be writing about. Let me tell you about us. I grew up on Mud Creek. It really doesn't matter which one, I lived on both at one time or another. My father was a poor man. He preached on Sunday and neither asked nor accepted any pay. He worked for a living like any man would. I remember when Daddy's yearly salary was $2800. That was the year I started to college. I remember when he pumped gas at a service station for $6.50 per day, and that was a 12-hour day. He didn't even get a turkey for Christmas. We had chicken—chicken which my mother raised on the corn which we planted and raised the summer before. And we thought it tasted good. I remember needing a Science book and my father sold a tree for $10 to get that book. I remember picking berries in the summer and selling them to buy school clothes. We never went ragged or hungry and we never asked the "President" to feed or clothe us. It wasn't so long ago that I was growing up there. Times were not that different.

The writer wrote about the people who were desolate because their assistance had been cut. I want to address that also. As I grew up I watched Mud Creek change before my eyes. Once every field and hill was put into crops of corn and large gardens. Every family kept some kind of animals for food. Some had cows, most had chickens, and there were lots of hogs and beef cattle. People planned for the "dry spells." People knew that winter was coming or that there would be times when they could not get jobs at "public work." Food and provisions were put aside to tide us over when it became necessary. Like the squirrels, we knew that if we did not work, we would not eat. Neighbors shared with each other. I never knew a baby to go without milk around us, not as long as our cows had milk.

I saw a change come over my mountain community. That change can be simply titled WELFARE. I saw garden land and good rich fields lay year after year with nothing but the garbage from convenience foods and Pamper boxes which were thrown into the once-clean stream we had played in, and now washed into those fields by the Spring floods. I saw hillsides that had once fed cows and other animals grow up in weeds. I saw my generation of people turn down jobs because they didn't pay as much as welfare. So many times I have heard strong, healthy people say, "Why work when I can 'draw' more than I can make working?" This is a sad situation when one loses the pride of one's labor.

Going back to the article, the writer talks about the welfare not bringing people above the poverty level. It is my opinion that welfare was designed to allow people to survive until they themselves improved their standard of living. Welfare was not designed to support the public in the manner to which they have become accustomed. It sets my mind reeling when I read an article about how so many families (most of whom I know) cannot make it on three or four government assistance programs all going at once. I know that there are people that need help. I also know that the only effort many of them make to help themselves is to get in line at the assistance offices and tell their sad stories to anyone who comes into their "modest mountain homes," and fuss and cuss whoever is President at the time. If they would get up off their backsides in May and lift a hoe, they'd have less to complain about when October came. I also have to say they could fatten several hogs on what I have seen thrown in the yards and creeks on Mud Creek, either Mud Creek.

Last of all I want to say, I went to school 12 years in Floyd County. I never ate a free lunch nor a free milk. It was not because we weren't eligible, we were. We had very little money. However, my mother and father knew that their children were their responsibility. They bore us and considered it their job to raise and feed us. I've eaten lots of soup beans and corn bread. It's good for you. You would be surprised to know how good it is for you if you worked for it. I've even taken biscuits and side meat in a little lard bucket for lunch. If fed me and I didn't have to ask the "President" for it. I went through college, during which time my mother never had one piece of new clothing, but she never asked anyone to give her any and was proud of me when I got my degree. But my parents weren't the only ones who worked. They taught us to work. I hope to teach my children the same lesson. We learned to know what we wanted and then find an honest way to get it. We learned to take pride in what we did and when we are tired at the end of a day we can rest because we know we have done the best we could and will again tomorrow. That, my friend, is "Mountain Pride." That is something I saw begin to fade as my generation began to grow up to depend on their checks. Now the government is cutting back. That dependence is what is hurting. They've forgotten how to make a living.

I'm a teacher now. I have a Master's degree from Eastern Kentucky University. I earned it myself. With my family's help I paid for it myself. I worked for three of the first four years I was in college. I did my Master's work after I began teaching. It hasn't hurt me. I've taught school in the mountains of eastern Kentucky. It hurts me to see so many of these same children that the writer spoke about being ragged and barefooted (and some of them are), but they come to school with their pockets full of money if there is a "sale" of any kind going on. I call that poor management. Two generations ago, mountain people knew how to live. They didn't think about being poor. Many didn't even realize they were until the government told them that they were. The freedom lines of welfare have reduced them to a people who only know how to exist from check to check without a thought as to how they might make it better themselves. When I grew up we lived very well on very little money and usually managed to feed a traveler or two on Sunday. We even had chicken with our soup beans sometimes. I'm proud to come from eastern Kentucky. But it saddens me when I read a writer's impressions of my home. I do not think he saw much of that "mountain pride" I know so well. LINDA SUE (NIECE) LYON

BECAUSE YOU CARED

When I was just a twinkle in my father's eye. You gave me life and we were blessed with my good health. BECAUSE YOU CARED, AND WERE ALWAYS THERE When I was just a little sick, and when I was really sick, and even when I broke my arm. I survived it all and am none the worse for wear.

BECAUSE YOU CARED AND WERE SO UNSELFISH

When things were tough and problems not so easy to solve, you continued to serve the schools and to take the criticism (and not all the criticism was fair). I have gotten as good an education to this point as I could have gotten anywhere and better than at a lot of places.

BECAUSE YOU CARED ABOUT ME (and all of your other babies and children) and BECAUSE YOU'VE BEEN MY FRIEND,

I'M FINALLY A TEENAGER

LOVE YA,

Susie

The Elderberry

We pass the lowly elderberry bush by and scarcely give it any notice. But this small tree is regarded as one of the best medical plants in nature. Its leaves, berries, roots and bark are considered as good medicine.

The elderberry is a small shrub that was well-known in ancient times. The Greeks used it widely as medicine; also for making musical instruments. They punched the white pith out of the small trunks, leaving them hollow. From the hollow trunks they made a musical instrument similar to a flute. They called this instrument the "samucus," and that's the name given to the elder by the botanists; they call it the "sambucus bush."

The elder blooms in June and its large, flat clusters of blossoms glisfy our streamsidcs with glistening white. Along about the time the elders bloom, then after cemer heavy rains, producing a flood. The oldtimers called this "the elderberry rise."

The berries ripen in late August, turning a glistening black. The ripe berries, furnish a banquet to mockingbirds, quails and robins. The ripe berries are gathered by many and used to make the populars elderberry wine. The berries also make delicious pies, jams and jellies.

Oldtimers used to grow elders in their gardens for their crop of berries and for medical purposes. As a medicine for sore eyes a tea is made from the dried berries. An ointment made from the bark or roots is a good remedy for burns and scalds. Elderberry tea is also a good tonic and blood purifier. The tea is also a good remedy for liver and kidney ailments. Those stubborn skin diseases, scrofula and erysipelas often are cured by bathing the infention with the tea. The tea is also recommended for drapsy, for fever and chronic diseases. A tea made from the dried berries is said to be a cure for cholera.

The elderberry is a member of the Honeysuckle Family, which includes such gorgeous flowers as orange azaleas and pink honeysuckles. Its bark is spotted brown and the leaves are compound, with seven leaflets, the larger one at the end.

It is a fine harbinger of spring, putting out its green leaves in March.

When Winter Comes . . .

The Kentucky Association of Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors will be celebrating their 100th anniversary in March of 1983. In an effort to help the consumer during the winter months, the KAPHCC suggests the following cold weather tips:

*Keep sink cabinet doors open to allow heat to reach pipes.

*If your pipes have frozen in the past, let a small stream of water run several times a day and all night.

*Be sure you know where the main water cut-off valve is located. If your pipes should burst, you will know where to turn the water off. The main water cut-off valve should be on the front wall of the basement.

*If your hot water lines should freeze, turn the water heater dial to "pilot" or "off".

*To Keep sink drains from freezing, pour a cupful of salt in a bucket of water down the drain.

*Close any openings to a crawl space so drafts will not reach water pipes.

*Pipes may freeze if lids are left off of water meters.

*Wrap all pipes in outside walls or those exposed to drafts with pipe insulation.

*Water pipes will burst only when frozen, not when they are being thawed out.

*Never use a blow torch to unthaw pipes.

PARENTS OF EDUCATIONAL DISTRICT 2

There is less than a week left until you make your decision for your board member for the next four years. Your present board member has had the job much too long. Are you ready for another four years of this "concern" and "interest" he claims to have? If he is so "concerned" about our children, why do some of them go to school without textbooks? Why do some stand in the weather waiting for buses? Why do they have to ride dangerously overcrowded buses?

If he is so "interested" in every school, why would he allow our schools to get in such a bad state of repair as they are now? Why did he allow the new school at Allen be placed behind a middle school at Prestonsburg? I can see why he has not used the term "Re-Elect" in his campaign, I wouldn't want to brag on his past performance either.

On November the 2nd we make our decision. Do we keep all this "concern" and "interest" or is it Time For A Change?

MDA Offering
Free Flu Shots

The Central Kentucky Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) is offering free anti-influenza inoculations again this year to patients who have muscular dystrophy or related neuromuscular diseases covered by the Association's programs, Mrs. Rachel Saunders, president of the chapter, announced today. Children and adults afflicted with neuromuscular disorders are considered at high risk of serious illness if infected with influenza viruses and should receive flu shots annually as medically prescribed, she added.

The Central Kentucky Chapter of the Association will pay for flu shots for all patients it serves, whether shots are administered by patients' personal physicians or by physicians at MDA clinics. MDA serves patients who have on file a physician's statement of diagnosis of one of the 40 diseases covered by its programs.

MDA supports some 240 hospital-affiliated clinics over the United States and in Puerto Rico. In the Central Kentucky area the MDA Clinic is located at the University of Kentucky Medical Center.

By RUFUS REED

The peach tree, great for food, good for medicine.

Along about May, when the peach trees fully leaf out, pluck a handful of the leaves, crush them in your hands, then hold them to the nose, and you will get the strong, aromatic scent of peach tree leaves. This is the scent once used by the old time beekeepers to lure a bee swarm into the gum. It really works! Back then the beekeeper used the old-time round bee-gums, which were sawed out of a hollow black gum tree and carefully cleaned inside. A couple of "cross sticks" were fastened in the middle to hold up the weight of the bees and honey.

When the time came for the bees to swarm the empty gum was moved to the bee-yard and made ready for the first swarm. As soon as the swarm was out and got settled down, the beekeeper ran to a peach tree and grabbed off a bucketful of green leaves. He crushed these thoroughly, then rubbed them on the inside of the empty gum to give it a strong, peach-leaf scent. Then moving the gum as close as possible to the new swarm he set it down and began pecking on it with a small rock, apparently to attract the attention of the bees. Soon the bee scouts entered the gum to inspect it. When they reported back to the swarm, how good and fresh the new gum smelled the queen was soon seen marching into the new home, with all her loyal subjects following.

Peach tree leaves were also used to make medicine for "yaller janders," as they called that disease. Also a tea made from peach tree leaves was an old remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles.

In order to protect their peach trees from harmful insects, the oldtimers put tobacco stems around them. This was a safeguard against the wood borers.

Our peach trees originally came from China. Today the U.S.A. leads the world in the production of peaches, while California leads all the states, with an annual production of 36 million bushels.

The leading peach tree of our region is the Elberta, which bears free-seed peaches called "freestones." Other kinds of peaches are called "clingstones." The peach is one of our greatest fruits. It may be canned, dried or made into preserves. It is good any way it is fixed. The juice of ripe peaches will cure a sick stomach and stop vomiting.

Peaches are easily grown from the pits, or hard-shelled seeds. Plant the seeds in the fall, and they'll sprout next spring. In three or four years, they will begin to produce peaches.

In our region, the worst drawback to a good crop of peaches are early spring frosts. It seems to me all those with peach orchards should try smudge pots as a way of combatting the frost.

ACS Honors Prestonsburg Woman

Television Personality Bob Braun, Kentucky Crusade Chairman for the American Cancer Society, is shown presenting the Society's Kentucky Division Pace Setter Award for 1981-82 to Pat Mills, of Prestonsburg, Public Education Chairman of the Floyd County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Each year, thousands of additional American lives could be saved from cancer through prevention or early detection. In the 1950's one out of four people were saved from cancer. Now it is one out of three—and it could be one out of two. The American Cancer Society has undertaken a program called PACE to inform and educate the public on cancer. PACE is Priority Activities in Cancer Education.

The Floyd County Chapter of the American Cancer Society participated in the PACE program last year and far exceeded its goals. In fact, the Floyd County Chapter was the first and only chapter in Kentucky to exceed the PACE goals. Pat Mills is the public education chairman of the local chapter, and it was through her efforts that the goals were exceeded. Over 1,666 adults and over 2,498 children were reached in Floyd county with Cancer Education information. The aim of the local educational effort is to inform people about cancer, tell them what they can do about it, and to help individuals make personal decisions to take life-saving health actions.

All of the work and efforts of the local chapter were rewarded at the annual meeting of the Kentucky Division of the American Cancer Society held September 28-30 in Louisville. Pat Mills was named Public Education Volunteer of the Year at the convention. The national award was presented by John Spratt, M.D., Public Education chairman for the Kentucky Division of the American Cancer Society.

The Floyd County Chapter was also recognized with a Crusade Award. This award is given in recognition of units having reached or exceeded their 1981-82 crusade goals. The Floyd County Chapter had a crusade goal of $13,900 and exceeded that goal by $2,184. The local fund-raising campaign was led by Lida Howard, who is the Floyd County Chapter Crusade chairwoman.

In addition to the local chapter awards, five individuals of the Floyd County unit were singled out for excellence in public education. These were given the Public Education Lifesaving Awards at the annual meeting. They are Charles Alexander, William B. Cook, M.D., Jane Bond, Ron Hager and Pat Mills.

ELECT KAREN NELSON MARCUM SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER, DISTRICT 1 LET'S REMOVE POLITICS FROM THE SCHOOL SYSTEM-GIVE MOMMY A CHANCE! Fellow Floyd Countians in District 1, this is my last chance to ask for your help for all of our children. We have needs that are not being met by our present administration. We need someone on the school board who has compassion for our children, as well as someone who is qualified to deal with a $15.6 Million Dollar Budget. We also need someone whose hands are not tied with political obligations. My sister, KAREN MARCUM, fits this description. Karen has come to you, the public, openly and honestly-not with pencils, miniature footballs and potatoes. She has offered you her knowledge which will benefit your children, mine, and hers. Most of you are lucky and have no idea how dirty politics are in this county. Could people 'playing politics' be the reason our children are academically behind so many other counties in the state? If so, here's our chance to get the politics out of our school system. Karen has no political favors to repay. She will be free to do what is best for our children. MOTHERS-PLEASE GET OUT AND VOTE. Your child's educational future is at stake. We can't afford to wait another 4 years. Vote for Karen Marcum-#3 on the ballot and #1 in my heart. Paid For By Mary Nelson McDonald.

LET'S HAVE A CHANGE FOR OUR CHILDREN'S FUTURE It's time to put educators back to work at the board of education. If we had more educators working at the board of education instead of making it a retirement home for second-hand coaches, our children might get more education for our tax dollars. I'm sure they could hire "mail carriers" and "errand boys" for a lot less money. Let's put the board of education back in the hands of our educators. TOGETHER WE CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE VOTE FOR AND SUPPORT LARRY HICKS CANDIDATE FOR SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER EDUCATIONAL DISTRICT NO. 2 A CONCERNED PARENT FOR BETTER EDUCATION

State Personnel View Problems of Clerks

Floyd Circuit Frank Derossett attended the circuit clerks' fall conference held at the Carriage House Motor Hotel, Paintsville, Oct. 6-8.

The problems of space management in the court facilities allocated to circuit clerks were addressed by Ralph Conlee and Rusty Bell, and office equipment purchases, maintenance and repair services were explained in detail by Fabian Campbell and Milton Peddicord.

Richard N. Belding, deputy state archivist and records administrator, explained the services available to clerks through the state Department of Archives. Since the construction of the new Library and Archives Building in Frankfort, more space is now available for storage of outdated court records which consume office space needed for clerical use.

The importance of maintaining a good relationship between the trial judges and the circuit clerks was the subject of an address by Circuit Judge James S. Chenault, of Richmond.

"Coping With Stress" was the title of a presentation by Dr. Richard Fee, Professor of Health Education at the University of Louisville. He analyzed job-related stress, detailing the factors which contribute to the negative physical, mental and emotional problems arising from occupational sources.

Other reports were made on matters relating to the daily operation of the offices of the circuit clerks, and workshops were held dealing with problems and solutions for implementing legislation enacted by the 1982 General Assembly.

The conference was developed jointly by the Circuit Clerks' Education Committee and the Division of Education of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Since its organization three years ago, the club has grown to a membership of 59. "Our club has brought Martin county together as never before," Mr. Dickerson told the audience upon assuming the presidency.

Two former Floyd countians, Dr. Charles Sword and Raymond Bradbury, were installed as first and second vice-presidents, respectively.

Municipal Building Has Skeleton In Its Closet

By PAT PHILLIPS

(Central Ky. Blood Center)

It's true that Prestonsburg's Municipal Building has one office for local vampires. Five local women actually work hard, looking for blood. That's what they need and about all they think about on the job. The local donor station is on the second floor and is open on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays for the express purpose of drawing blood.

Any aspect of blood seems inherently ambiguous. Blood excites fear and fascination. There is one area, however, where blood seems to have a positive meaning—when one person gives it to another. Blood is the perfect gift. It costs the giver nothing, and it can soon be replaced. But it can give the receiver a new chance for life.

The number one reason why people won't donate is the fear that it is an extremely painful process. Just how painless is giving blood? There is really very little discomfort involved—no more than the prick of the needle—and, once the needle is in, it doesn't hurt. The actual blood donation takes only about five minutes. The entire visit includes registration, a mini-physical, the actual drawing, and a rest period with refreshment, all taking less than an hour.

It's normal to be scared at first, but look at it this way: If you needed blood to live, would you understand if no one gave for you?

If you and others who qualify donate blood regularly, no one in our community will ever be without life-saving blood. That's our goal. We hope you will make it yours, too.

Blood transfusion has perhaps become the institutional equivalent of vampirism. Come on up to check out our skeleton and meet some pretty nice vampires.

Hwy. Dept. Unveils Road Clearing Plan

When snow falls here, state transportation crews will be out to clear the roads. And to help motorists plan their winter driving, the Transportation Cabinet has announced in what order the roads will be cleared.

State crews will clear U.S. 23, KY 80 and KY 114 first. The next roads to be cleared are KY 1428, KY 3, KY 7, KY 530, KY 122 and KY 979. Other state maintained roads will follow.

The roads are cleared as soon as precipitation becomes significant. Crews set out with salt or plows to clear the top priority roads first. The priority system is based on the traffic carried by the road.

Top priority roads include interstates, parkways, urban expressways and other state roads with exceptionally large volumes of traffic. Second priority roads are state primary roads, bypasses and roads with slightly less traffic. State secondary roads, rural secondary roads and other routes with equal traffic fall into the third category. Remaining state roads are cleared after these categories have been treated.

NOTICE

Customers of East Kentucky Utilities will note the new increase rate with this month's billing and we want our customers to know that this increase is due to our wholesale supplier rate increase granted by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, which totals $335,342.00 and as stated in the Public Service Commission Order of September, 1982 in Case No. 8114-C. Quote—"East Kentucky will not realize even one cent of profit, but simply will turn over to its supplier the increased amounts which it must collect from its customers."

In fact any line loss of gas will add additional cost to us due to this wholesale rate increase. You are urged to conserve gas usage where possible to keep your billing down, and promptly report any leaks discovered in our lines.

Thanks Festival Workers

I would like to thank everyone who worked so hard to provide Prestonsburg with its own Jenny Wiley Festival. This first celebration was long overdue, but never has so much celebration and hard work been invested in such an endeavor. This committee undertook an awful lot of work and expense with little more than hope for its success. Thanks to their efforts and the generosity and efforts of our faithful merchants, our festival was a success.

The festival was not planned just as a parade, but as many activities during the week preceding the parade. Hopefully, others enjoyed a step back in our history with all the displays of historical items. So much has been lost by so many families over the years due to natural disasters and accident that the contributions of historical items from so many families filled many gaps. Our children were afforded an opportunity to see items of the past that they had never seen before and maybe they have gained a little knowledge of how hard our ancestors had to struggle to survive.

True, it may have "rained on our parade" temporarily, but the sun did shine. The week prior to the parade was beautiful, and the persistence of the people in charge to see that there was a parade as planned convinced me that our "pioneer spirit" lives on. No one can have everything the way they want, but the rain we had the day of the parade is sure to provide for the whole county, as well as the state, the most beautiful fall colors in many years. Even though into each life some rain must fall, we certainly can be assured we live in "God's Country," as we encounter each fall day.

Thank you all for filling a gap in my life and providing each of us with so many memories. I'm looking forward to next year's festivities.

A Need For Blood

Having served as the Medical Director of the Central Kentucky Blood Center (CKBC) for nine years, I have seen CKBC meet many challenges.

Our current challenge is to collect at least 1,000 pints of blood each week, during a period of high unemployment. Lay-offs and shorter working hours at businesses and industries throughout CKBC's 43-county service area have meant a loss of access to large numbers of donors via mobile blood drives. To compound the problem, during the last few months transfusions have sharply increased in the 38 hospitals and clinics served by CKBC.

The regional blood center has already taken several actions to increase donations, such as the acquisition of a self-contained Bloodmobile, with scheduled stops at several locations throughout Central Kentucky, and appealing to the public through local media.

As you can see, the problem currently facing CKBC and the community blood supply is surmountable only through the support of volunteer blood donors.

To help the center meet its difficult challenge, call for an appointment at 886-1557, or come to the Prestonsburg Donor Station in the Municipal Building; Tuesday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Thursday, 12 noon to 8 p.m.; or Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

IRENE E. ROECKEL
Medical Director, CKBC

Eliminate Backlogs

During fiscal year 1981, the Labor Department's Office of the Solicitor and Office of the Inspector General worked in several areas eliminating backlogs of unresolved employment and training grant audits and obtained significant indictments, convictions and sentences in major organized crime and labor racketeering cases, according to the department's 69th Annual Report.

Catholic Chapel Is Opened In Salyersville

A Catholic chapel in Salyersville was officially opened Sunday by its pastor, Father Ralph W. Beiting, who is also pastor at St. Juliana Church in Martin and St. Theodore Church in Prestonsburg.

Father William Poole, of St. Peter Claver Church, Lexington, Father Jerome Stern, of Pikeville, and Father Frank Osburg, of Paintsville, also joined in the dedication service, which was attended by about 100 persons. Mrs. Virginia Hall, formerly of Salyersville, donated the land for the chapel which will be known as St. Luke's. Services will be held in the new chapel each Sunday at 1:00 p.m.

GLASS CITED — Ron Glass, who stars as Felix Unger in ABC's "The New Odd Couple," was honored recently by the NAACP at a banquet dinner in his hometown of Evansville, Ind. The actor was recognized for his contribution to the dramatic arts as well as for being a positive and inspirational role model to the black community.

CELEBRITY RAP — Beginning Friday, Nov. 5 and continuing for several months, viewers of NBC's "Today" show will be able to see a noted celebrity interview the celebrity of his or her choice. The segments, called "Close Encounters," will be broadcast on Fridays. Segments already completed include Gloria Steinem interviewing George Burns and Margot Kidder probing author John Irving.

FIRST TIME — Principal photography has been completed on "The First Time," a two-hour romantic drama dealing with the moral conflict that erupts between a mother and her 17-year-old daughter when the young woman runs away to join her lover. The ABC-TV movie, which will air later this year, stars Susan Anspach, Jennifer Jason Leigh, Peter Barton, Edward Winter and Harriet Nelson.

Laurence Olivier

VOYAGE SETS SAIL — "A Voyage Round My Father," John Mortimer's TV adaptation of his London stage hit, co-starring Lord Laurence Olivier and Alan Bates, has been acquired for presentation in 1984 on the Mobil Showcase Network. Olivier plays Clifford Mortimer and Bates, co-stars as his son, in this affectionate anecdotal tribute to the author's father. Mortimer is known to American audiences for his adaptation of "Brideshead Revisited" and creator of the PBS "Rumpole of the Bailey" series.

Cats Win a 'Laugher' Over Pikeville, 45-0

By WENDE BUCHANAN

Once again the Prestonsburg Black Cats arched their backs, flexed their claws and trounced the Pikeville Panthers, 45-0, here last Friday night.

Five minutes into the game halfback Robert Midgette broke loose and carried the ball to Pikeville's six-yard line. Halfback John Anderson then scored, and tackle B. J. Sturgill's kick for extra point made the score 7-0. Later in the quarter, quarterback Todd Nairn placed another six points on the board with a one-yard run.

Early in the second, fullback John Gilliam intercepted a pass for the third touchdown of the evening and with an extra point the score became 20-0. Two other touchdowns were made by Anderson and quarterback Gordie Ratliff for a halftime reading of 33-0.

In the third quarter, split end Brad Hughes scored on a touchdown pass by Anderson, increasing the score to 39-0. Early in the fourth period halfback Chris Hooker made the final touchdown of the evening and the score stood at 45-0.

The Black Cat offense finished with 387 yards rushing and 57 passing for a total of 444 yards. The Panthers, in comparison, had 146 yards rushing and 11 passing.

Midgette played an excellent game with 114 yards in six carries. Gilliam finished with 92 yards in four carries; Anderson had 64 yards in six tries, and halfback Jamie Adkins had 25 yards in 5.

The Blackcats played good team defense. Gilliam, Bryan Pace, Randall Hager, Ratliff, and John DeRossett, are but a few who also played well both as a team and as individuals.

Coach P.A. Haywood said, anticipating a tough game, "We felt like we could win the game going in, but we were surprised by the score." As for next week's game with Hazard, he continued, "I think we've got to get down out of the clouds, after last week's game and get ready to play them."

MORE QUESTIONS PARENTS ARE ASKING!

1. WHERE is the Chrysler LeBaron leased by the Board of Education at $3,000 per year for Mr. Grigsby? Doesn't he drive a Granada to work?
2. WHAT did Mr. Grigsby mean when he referred to a drastic drop in the 81-82 CTBS scores? Weren't they just as low the previous year?
3. WHY doesn't the Floyd County School System have regularly scheduled parent-teacher conferences? Open House held by the PTA's in some schools once a year is just not enough.
4. WHY don't we make education a goal for our children, rather than a by-product of the system?
5. WHY don't we cut out the waste at the administrative level and channel the money back into the classrooms? This would keep the faculty from being fund raisers so that they can spend their energies doing the work they were hired to do.
6. WHY is there never any time set aside at each board meeting for public input?
7. WHY do repairs of school property become so vitally important in an election year, yet seem to go un-noticed in non-election years? Does our Board Member think that he can make us forget this neglect by having a few repairs done at election time or by buying the children a pencil or miniature football? Surely people have longer memories than that!

TOGETHER WE CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Named WHS Homecoming Queen

(Photo by Steve Porter)

Wheelwright High School enjoyed a successful Homecoming, Friday night as the Trojans defeated Jenkins, 20-14. It was also a special night for Wheelwright senior Shawn Curry who was named Homecoming Queen for 1982. A daughter of Vern and Gayle Bailey, of Wheelwright, Miss Curry is pictured above with escort, Trojan quarterback David Tackett.

Local Sports

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

Last week's football picture: The Prestonsburg Blackcats romped over the Pikeville Panthers, Wheelwright whipped Jenkins in their annual homecoming game, and Betsy Layne lost to Lawrence County.

The Prestonsburg Blackcats were awesome against the Pikeville Panthers last Friday, winning by the lopsided score of 45 to 0. All-State candidate John Gilliam rushed for 92 yards, including an 80-yard touchdown, and defensively he recorded five solo tackles and had one interception. Robert Midgette rushed for 114 yards on six carries. John Anderson racked up two touchdowns for the night. Gordie Ratliff scored on a 15-yard run. Todd Nairn connected to Brad Hughes for a 20-yard touchdown, and himself scored a touchdown on a keeper. Chris Hooker got in the scoring act with a 15-yard run. B.J. Sturgill scored on three extra points tries. When the smoke had cleared the Cats had won their seventh game of the season while losing two.

The Blackcats will travel to Hazard Friday night to battle the Bulldogs.

The Wheelwright Trojans closed out their 1982 football season with a big win over the Cavaliers of Jenkins, 20 to 14. The Trojans celebrated their homecoming of 1982 and delighted the fans with their win. James Hunter scored the first touchdown on a two-yard run. The try for extra points failed. Livingston scored Jenkins' first touchdown and also the extra two points on a run. David Tackett connected to Tim Cole on a 24-yard pass for the second Wheelwright touchdown. Again the try for the extra points failed. The Trojans led at the end of the first quarter 12 to 8. Neither team scored in the second quarter. Livingston scored in the third quarter but the run failed and Jenkins led 14 to 12 going into the fourth quarter. Then David Hall scored on a three-yard run and David Tackett scored the extra points for the Trojans. The final score was Wheelwright 20, Jenkins 14.

The Betsy Layne Bobcats traveled to Louisa last Friday night and lost to the Lawrence County Bulldogs, 27 to 8. Reynolds scored the lone Bobcats touchdown in the fourth quarter. The final score was Lawrence County 27, Betsy Layne 8. The Bobcats will battle M.C. Napier Friday night at Mullins.

School Holds 4th Annual Reunion

Miss Myrtle Pugsley (photo at left) readies her easel and prepares the flannel board for the presentation of a Bible story during recent homecoming at the Upper Little Paint School. Part of the group that attended the homecoming is pictured in photo at right.

The second annual reunion for all former teachers and students who ever attended the Upper Little Paint School, and their families, was held recently in the bottom below the old school site, recently. In attendance were 104, plus others who did not register.

The master of ceremonies was Bill Music, a former student and teacher there, who started the meeting by ringing an old-fashioned school bell and carrying a paddle. The Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag was led by Carol DeRossett, who also led the group in the singing of "America the Beautiful."

As she did years ago, at this school and others throughout Floyd county, Miss Myrtle Pugsley presented a typical lesson on "Jonah and the Whale" by using the flannelboard.

Several teachers were in attendance, and they and some of the former pupils reminisced about happenings which took place there in years past. The ages of the students ranged from about 25 to 80. Several came from Ohio and Indiana, and Jack Snaveley came from as far away as Oklahoma.

Following luncheon, "round-town" and "horseshoe" games were enjoyed.

Those who signed the register were: Myrtle Pugsley, Catherine Stephens, Leota DeRossett, Carol DeRossett, John Leake Jr., Donna DeRossett, Myrtle Hunt, (teacher), Bill Hunt, Goldie Baldrige, Ed Music, Kenneth DeRossett, Raleigh Rice, all of Prestonsburg, Judy Watkins, Russell Rice, Wilma Montgomery (teacher), Velva DeRossett Compton (teacher) Joe Snaveley, Della Snaveley, Arnita Snavely, Walter Snaveley, Lowell Robinson, Sue Robinson, Janet Tackett, Tamatha Tackett, Eunice Music, Kenneth Watkins, Bill Music (teacher), Leo Tackett, Clarence Rice, Carol Rice, Barry Rice, Rev. and Mrs. Roy Tischer, Sharon Watkins, Jeremy Watkins, Tee Watkins, Malta Rice, Ed Boggs, Doris Boggs, Roy Rice, Nell Rice, Patsy Williams, Wanda Webb, Marie Rice, John D. Rice, Dewey Music, Tamara Watkins, Mary Tackett, Louella Boggs, Randall Tischer, Janie Rice, Bill Williams, Mike Williams, Jack Rice, Garnett Richardson, Teresa Rice, Thom Webb Jr., Linda Hayden, Jason Hayden, Tom Webb, Chris Boggs, David Joe Wallen, James Campbell, all of East Point; Myrtle Emrich, Carma Litz, Henry Litz, James E. Litz, Peggy Pollard, Paul Pollard, Mike Pollard, Denny Badgett, Newt and Effie Watkins, all of Ohio; Vada Glancy, of Ashland, Danny Boggs, Wintonsville, Ruth and Corbin Newton, Dinah Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rice, all of Louisville; Lemanye Dingus, Phyllis Dingus, Keesha Dingus, of Martin; Janna Wilgus, Pikeville; Chris Music, Helen Music, Ronnie Music, Greg Music, of Auxier; Russell Laven, Sarah Laven, (teacher), of Allen; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Whitaker, Nancy Konkle, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Whitaker, Ben Whitaker, Barbara Whitaker, Smith Helton, Fanny Whitaker Helton; all of Indiana; Jack Snaveley, Peggy Snaveley, Jamie Judkins, Colby Judkins, all of Oklahoma and Marcus George.

TO THE VOTERS OF EDUCATIONAL DIST. No. 1

I am the People's Candidate and a man who cares for your Children and their education.

I am not a Politician and don't believe Politics should be in the school system.

I don't believe pressure should be applied to the school teachers and employees.

Education is the most important thing for our children.

As you and I know, simple maintenance on our school buildings has been neglected.

You be the Judge. If you don't want your children to continue to go to school in the bad facilities and pressure-filled atmosphere, but you like to have a man to work for Better Education for our children vote for me.

Heck's Drops Two Subsidiary Firms

Heck's, Inc. a leading department store chain, said last week it will take third quarter write-offs of approximately $2.3 million, or some $2.3 million, as discontinued operations representing the company's plan to dispose of its heavy equipment division and Lory's Fashion Shop subsidiary. Heck's said the write-offs will be offset against the company's gain on the sale of its Felsway Corporation subsidiary in July 1982 which amounted to approximately $8 million or $.82 per share. Operating results for the third quarter ended September 30, 1982 are expected to be favorably ahead of last year's third quarter, the company said.

Lory's and heavy equipment now join Felsway as discontinued Heck's operations, the result of the board's move to dispose of the units and return the company to its long-standing role as a retail discounter and wholesale distributor.

Heck's Chairman Fred Haddad, who announced the write-offs, said the company intends to continue its search for possible buyers of the two Heck's units. He noted that the disposal and write-offs will not adversely affect Heck's operations which reflect business generated by the company's 119 store discount chain and three wholesale distributing companies.

Haddad said that the third quarter operations should be favorably ahead of last year's comparable quarter, reflecting the opening of 23 major stores so far in 1982.

Homemakers Club Formed at Allen

Mrs. Frances Pitts organized the Allen Homemakers Club, Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Sarah Laven. Mrs. Pitts explained to those present the purpose of homemakers clubs. She discussed at length the duties and activities the club would be involved in. Officers elected were Belle Conn, president; Sue Reynolds, vice-president; Sarah Laven, secretary-treasurer; Rosemary Frasure, devotional leader; Goldia Williams, telephone chairperson. Mrs. Pitts distributed literature to members and presented the lesson of demonstration on the use of the blender.

Those present besides Mrs. Pitts and the hostess Mrs. Laven, were Belle Conn, Sue Reynolds, Rosemary Frasure, Goldia Williams, Irene Campbell, Rabal Reynolds, Clara Ratliff, Pearl Watts, Nell Montgomery, Susan Akers, and Mildred Hall.

WAYLAND Club Program Stresses RET and Its Services

The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club met Monday evening, October 18, at the home of Mrs. Hansel Bradley, Garrett, for a program on the subject, "Education".

Mrs. Marie Mullins, program leader, explained the many benefits to be derived from Kentucky Educational Television, pointing out, that KET not only offers its numerous programs which are beneficial to students in the classrooms each day, but also has adult basic education courses. One such course is "Another Page", which provides reading skill instruction and practice for adults who are not yet ready for GED instruction. KET also supplies workbooks for this and other courses. KET also offers courses for college credit as well as cultural and informational services to Kentuckians.

The club president, Mrs. Otto Martin, who has served on the Floyd county mini board for KET, mentioned several fine programs offered by public television and also stressed that state and federal funding ends at the close of the school day and thus it becomes necessary for interested corporations and individuals to take over the slack in funds. She urged listeners to take a membership in KET, to support its worthwhile services, advising that old Kentuckians can secure memberships at a lower rate.

The club president passed out club yearbooks and membership cards, calling attention to the committee listings. She called for a vote on sending a child to 4 H Camp next summer and a cancer victim child to Camp Indian Summer, both of which were unanimously approved. A contribution to the Ambassador Program sponsored by the GFWC-KFWC to help cover expenses of visiting foreign students was also approved. She also read a letter which she had written to Governor Brown and which the club membership had requested that she write at the last meeting concerning drinking drivers on the highways.

The daughter club dinner was set for November 15, to be held at the Allen Central High School luncheon with Seventh District Governor Gualeane Smith, of Pikeville, to speak on "Federation". A decorating committee consisting of Mrs. Marie Mullins and Mrs. Marsella Bradley was appointed.

Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Mullins served refreshments to Launice Dunfee, Maxine Martin, Joyce Stevens, LaFaye Hughes, Blanche Bamer, Avanelle Wells, Mrs. Felix Coburn, Loretta Martin, Libby Martin, and three guests, Tommy Wiecher and Nancy Sue Dingus, of Martin, and Gloria F. Rister, Garrett.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO OWNERS OF RENTAL HOUSING
The Floyd County Housing Authority is administering a Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Program in Floyd County using funds provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Under this program, owners will rehabilitate rental units which are now substandard or have major building systems or components requiring repair or replacement. The cost of this work, which must total at least $1000 per unit, may be financed by a local lending institution, by the owner, or by any other source available to the owner. The agency does not make rehabilitation loans or grants, but will assist owners to obtain financing. After required rehabilitation work has been completed, the agency and the owner will execute a contract which establishes a rent for the unit(s) that will cover rehabilitation costs, meet monthly operating expenses, and allow a reasonable profit on the owner's investment. For a fifteen year period, the owner will rent the rehabilitated unit(s) to eligible lower income tenants, who will pay approximately 25 percent of their income toward the rent. The agency will pay the remainder of the rent directly to the owner. The initial occupant of a rehabilitated unit may be the owner's present eligible tenant. After rehabilitation, the rent (including utilities) cannot exceed the following Maximum Rents:

BEDROOM SIZE
1	2	3	4
206	244	282	319

The agency's current funds will allow rehabilitation of 35 units of rental housing as follows:

1 BR	2 BR	3 BR	4 BR
8	18	7	2

No unit will be assisted which results in the permanent displacement of a current tenant. Proposals from owners will be received by the Housing Authority until further notice. Owners who wish to submit a proposal must obtain an application form from:

Fewer Oysters Expected This Year, Scientists Say

SOLOMONS, Md.—A short supply of mature oysters means this season's harvest may be one of the poorest in years, according to scientists who surveyed 150 Chesapeake Bay oyster bars.

The survey failed to confirm rumors of a massive oyster kill, but scientists say mature oysters are in short supply.

Morehead-Auburn Offer Joint Engineering Plan

Morehead State University engineering students now have the opportunity to earn two bachelor degrees—one at MSU and another at Auburn University—beginning this fall.

Under an agreement between the two schools, students interested in an engineering degree will attend MSU for three years and Auburn for two. They will graduate with MSU's bachelor of university studies and Auburn's bachelor of engineering degree.

The cooperative arrangement is similar to a five-year dual-degree program MSU has had with the University of Kentucky for several years.

"Engineering is a hot field now," says Dr. John C. Philley, head of MSU's Department of Physical Sciences. "Those universities with colleges of engineering are facing exploding enrollments and decreasing faculty, particularly as industry attracts engineering teachers away from the campuses."

He continued: "So, in a way, we're doing them a favor. We'll be able to locate capable, motivated individuals and send them on to the engineering colleges."

Dr. Philley said the new program also will benefit students who don't have enough background in mathematics, for example, to take calculus during their first semester at college.

The Auburn arrangement will permit students to complete general education requirements and background courses in physics, chemistry and mathematics at MSU, before moving to Auburn for more intensive training in a specific engineering field.

Diamond, Stereo, Etc. Among Auction Items

A little bit of glitter and glamor has been added to the state auctions of surplus property. Under a new regulation, state police are auctioning recovered stolen property in cases where the owner can't be found—items like the diamond ring and stereo equipment that will be sold Oct. 28 in Frankfort.

The sale at the State Police Academy on U.S. 60, one mile west of Frankfort, will include a one-carat, solitaire diamond with an appraised retail value of $4,200. A one-carat cluster diamond was sold at a previous auction for $1,325—the first time such an item had been sold at one of the auctions.

The Oct. 28 sale will begin at 10 a.m. at the academy. Other items included in the sale will be 140 late model state police cars, some stereo equipment, confiscated in a police "sting" in Lexington, and leather belts and holsters. The rings were confiscated as stolen property by state detectives working in the Mayfield district.

Another auction will be held Oct. 29 at the Central Stores Building storage lot at 501 Holmes St. in Frankfort. The location also can be identified as being on US 127, north.

This sale also begins at 10 a.m. and items offered will include 45 vehicles such as vans, pickups and bookmobiles.

All items are sold "as-is" for cash or cashier's check.

McCreary Men Find Venison Cost Dear

Four McCreary County residents appeared before U.S. Magistrate Coleman Moberly, London, on October 18, and were found guilty on the charge of the unlawful killing of a doe deer on National Forest property on August 15, 1982 and the removal of said deer from United States property in violation of 16 USC-3372(a)(2)(A).

Michael R. Cox, 34, of Stearns, was fined $500 and sentenced to one year in jail. He will serve 10 days of the jail sentence and was placed on supervised probation for two years. Oscar Leroy Crabtree, 32, also of Stearns, was fined $500 and sentenced to one year in jail. Jail sentence was suspended and he was placed on supervised probation for two years. James P. Vaughn, 23, of Strunk, was fined $250, given a one-year suspended jail sentence and placed on supervised probation for two years. Jerry L. Bryant, 21, of Whitley City, was fined $100 and given a one-year suspended jail sentence. He will also be on supervised probation for two years.

The four individuals were brought to justice through the cooperative efforts of law enforcement personnel from the Daniel Boone National Forest, the National Park Service, McCreary County, U.S. Bureau of Fish and Wildlife, and the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Plumbing: Make Sure Yours Isn't All Wet

With colder weather on the way, many homeowners are busy checking insulation, storm windows, and heating units. And, while you're surveying that heating unit, remember to check the gas-water heater for an approval sticker from the State Department of Housing, Buildings and Construction.

Colder weather generally means closed windows and less open-air ventilation. That can set the stage for explosions or exposure to deadly carbon monoxide from poorly ventilated gas-water heaters. Frequently, personal or property damage from these water heaters is a result of bootlegged or unlicensed plumbing installation.

Nearly one year ago, poor ventilation from an improperly installed gas-water heater pointed out the tragic seriousness of the problem. In a Louisville apartment complex last December, one woman died while her husband and young child lay dazed for several days from odorless, colorless—but lethal—carbon monoxide fumes piped through an unvented water heater.

Problems resulting from improper or bootlegged plumbing and water heater installation blanket Kentucky, said state Department of Housing, Buildings and Construction Commissioner Chuck Cotton. "From local reports, we've estimated that as many as 50 percent of the water heaters in our homes have not been inspected by state certified authorities," Cotton said.

According to state law, only licensed plumbers with a state permit are allowed to install a water heater. After the work is done, the heater must be inspected by a division of plumbing official and tagged with a blue or green safety approval sticker, the commissioner continued.

Investing in safety and security should come with investing in a home, said Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet Secretary Neil Welch.

"It is impossible to over-emphasize the importance of an approved, properly installed and inspected plumbing and domestic water heating system," said Welch. "When purchasing a new home for around $65,000, plumbing installation—fixtures and all—usually runs between eight and 10 percent of the total cost or, in this case, $5,000 to $6,000. Total plumbing inspection costs would run only $51.00. That's a pretty reasonable and worthwhile investment when protecting your family."

The Department of Housing, Buildings and Construction is one of 13 agencies that falls within the Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet.

Exposure to toxic gas and explosions from flammable gas leaks rank as two of the more dramatic problems resulting from unlicensed plumbing installation. State Plumbing Division Director Carl VanCleve explained that there are other concerns. These concerns include potentially costly water damage and unsanitary conditions contributing to molds and, therefore, aggravating allergies.

"Problems like these come to the Housing Department's attention all the time," VanCleve said. "That's why we're urging everyone to look for these problems. Start by checking the water heater for an approval sticker or call the plumbing inspector at the local health department for inspection of the heater and plumbing. It's only $10.00 for inspection of the heater."

For more information on inspection of a plumbing system or water heater, call your local health department. Or, call the Department of Housing, Buildings and Construction in Frankfort at (502) 564-3580.

American Colonists Profiled In New KET Narration

Daily activity of the pilgrims who settled the area of New England comes to life in "New England Begins," airing Wednesday, November 10 at 10:30 p.m.

Noted television personality and native New Englander Sam Waterson, recently seen in the title role of "Oppenheimer" on "American Playhouse," narrates this journey into the past of American colonists.

History books have traditionally portrayed the pilgrims as a drab and dour people consumed by day-to-day tasks. Combining on-location footage from a re-created colonial village as well as period artifacts and writings, the program challenges the stereotypes with Waterson's factual and explicit account of our lively and entertaining antecedents of the 1600s.

The program also covers the social mores regarding the rearing of children and status of women and the pilgrims' relationships with regional Indian tribes.

New Recruiter

Navy Petty Officer Terry E. Shelton reported for duty recently at the Navy Recruiting Station at 205 Pike Street in Pikeville.

The Pikeville office is part of Navy Recruiting District Louisville which is comprised of more than 30 stations responsible for Navy recruiting in the Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana and Virginia areas. As a recruiter, Petty Officer Shelton's responsibilities include informing the young men and women in his district of the many career and educational opportunities offered in today's Navy.

Shelton is the son of Eugene Shelton, of Drift. He graduated from McDowell High School and entered the Navy in 1965.

Petty Officer Shelton comes to recruiting from the Navy Mobile Construction Battalion in Gulf Port, Miss. His past duty stations include a Construction Battalion in Jacksonville, Fl. and the USS MUNSER (ATF-107) in San Diego, Ca.

He is married to the former Brenda J. Franklin, of Wheelwright.

FIREWOOD AND WILDLIFE

People who are well-organized and on top of things cut this winter's firewood last January and have been letting it dry all summer. But a lot of other folks wait until the approaching cool weather before sharpening up the chain saw and taking to the woods.

If you're cutting your firewood now, keep in mind that many species of trees provide valuable wildlife foods. If you have a choice, spare these trees in favor of species with little value to wildlife, says Jim Durell, an assistant director in the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' wildlife division and an expert on wildlife foods.

Durell recommends that anyone cutting firewood take a few minutes to examine his woodlot and pick out certain trees to save for wildlife. Durell says the following species, which are common over much of Kentucky, have high wildlife food value: hackberry, white ash, white oak, chinquapin oak, red oak, black oak, black locust, shagbark hickory, wild cherry and cedar.

Food for trees of these species which are vigorous and which produce heavy seed or nut crops—or which produce a crop every year, Durell says. Leave a few of these good producers and mark the others for cutting.

Another category of good wildlife trees are more scarce and should definitely be spared, Durell says. Species in this group include post oak, laurel oak, green ash, walnut, shellbark hickory, sassafras, persimmon, paw paw, black haw, beech, gum or hazelnut. Durell recommends that you choose nearby trees for cutting, since this will provide more growing room for these preferred species.

If you're wondering by now if there's anything left you can cut, Durell says that the following are poor food trees and can, from a wildlife point of view, be safely cut: sycamore, elm, maples, yellow poplar, basewood, redbud and hemlock.

There's a final category, Durell says: the "pest" trees, which have little wildlife food value and which grow so fast and so abundantly that they crowd out more desirable species. Trees in this group include box elder, bitternut hickory, honey locust and sometimes even otherwise desirable trees such as persimmon and black locust.

Also remember that trees provide homes as well as food for many wildlife species. Large den trees—those with large hollow places—are scarce and should not be cut. Neither should all dead trees be felled, Durell says, since these provide insects which feed woodpeckers.

If you're not too good at tree identification and would like to discuss woodlot planning for wildlife with a biologist, such help is available from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, phone 502 564-4406.

HALLOWEEN TIPS

Halloween is just around the corner and children are anticipating a night full of ghosts, witches, goblins and especially the fun of "trick or treat." However, in recent years there have been alarming reports of drugged and dangerous candies and fruits, and of children being molested or kidnapped during the Halloween festivities. To insure your family a safe celebration, Attorney General Steve Beshear strongly suggests that you take a few minutes and prepare your children for "trick or treating." Here are several safety tips to remember:

WHERE TO GO:

Small children should be accompanied by an adult. You should remain in your own neighborhood and visit only those houses where you know the people who live there. If you have someone in the neighborhood who does not like children, do not go to that house. Be sure to tell your children to cross the street only at intersections and make sure they have a flashlight if they will be out after dark.

WHAT TO WEAR:

Have your children wear bright, flame-resistant costumes. Add some reflector tape to the front and back of costumes for extra visibility. Make sure hemlines are several inches off the ground as children may trip on long garments. Avoid full skirts, long sashes and scarves. Anything that can catch on bushes or brush near flames is potentially dangerous. Children should carry a white shopping bag to collect treats, as it will add to the visibility of the child and also free arms for movement.

CHECK THE TREATS:

Do not allow children to eat anything until they return home. Discard anything unpackaged or with wrappings that seem to be undone or torn. Unwrap packaged candies and inspect each piece. Wash and cut fruit into small pieces and inspect each piece. If you find any suspicious candy call the police immediately.

Halloween should be a fun time for children. Help them to make it safe. If you have any consumer questions or comments contact the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer-Protection Division, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. Or you may call the toll free Consumer Hotline: 1-800-432-9257.

The skirt and chapel train were fashioned entirely of white bridal satin. She carried a bouquet of white silk rosebuds, yellow and lilac tiger lilies secured by white ribbons.

Mrs. Susan Reffett, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Tammy Reffett, niece of the bride, served as bridesmaid, and Oakie Dwayne Reffett, nephew of the bride, as ringbearer.

The bride's mother wore a street-length two-piece beige summer knit dress with a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose a floor-length white silk dress and also wore a white orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reffett, of Pyramid. Mr. and Mrs. McKinney reside at Martin, Ky.

The McDowell ARH Auxiliary Group would like to thank everyone who contributed to the food and drink booth that was operated during the New Salem Association meetings at Minnie. Food, money or any other support is always appreciated, since we feel we are working for a worthy cause, that of better facilities for the McDowell Hospital.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Leonard Ousley would express thanks to all who helped upon the passing of their loved one. Thanks to all who sent food and flowers during this time of sorrow; to the ministers for their words of comfort, and to the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and courteous service.

A PUBLIC VOICE AT BOARD MEETINGS

Most people think that we, as parents and taxpayers, can influence school policies in two ways; by electing school board members and by speaking at school board meetings.

DO YOU REALIZE HOW DIFFICULT IT IS FOR AN ORDINARY PARENT TO OBTAIN THE RIGHT TO SPEAK BEFORE OUR LOCAL BOARD OF EDUCATION? From my own personal experience, it's a difficult and sometimes impossible task. Complaining to the SYSTEM about the SYSTEM is painful and frustrating because they don't want to hear about it.

If you follow the correct procedures, or CHAIN OF COMMAND, you start with the teacher, then the principal, then the supervisor of instruction, then on to the SUPERINTENDENT. If he deems it necessary, then he will allow you to have an audience with the board. Who started this CHAIN OF COMMAND? If people's heads and hearts were in the right places, we wouldn't have to go through all this. Our voices would be welcome at the board meetings. I believe that everyone has the right to voice their opinions, especially when it concerns their children. After all, we're still living in America.

If I were a board member, I'd welcome ideas and suggestions from the public. The schools do belong to the public even though some people tend to forget this at times. If the school officials want parents to be supportive of the schools, they need to let parents contribute in the decision-making process. There's more to parents involvement than baking cupcakes, selling hotdogs, and becoming super salesmen for the school system. TOGETHER WE CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE.

Job Corps To Assist Forestry Fire Crew

Forty-five Prestonsburg Job Corps Center volunteers received forest fire suppression training the week of October 11. Providing the training were Kentucky Division of Forestry employees, Bill Phillips, Clyde Harvey and Willard Hamilton.

An agreement was entered into between the Job Corps Center and the Division of Forestry for use of Job Corps members as forest fire suppression crews in emergency situations. An average of some four-hundred and fifty (450) forest fires per year occur in the six-county area of the Eastern District, consuming some 9,900 acres of forestland. In most instances, the division of forestry is able to combat the fire problem. On days of extreme burning conditions, there are occasionally multiple fires in each county, exhausting the Division's manpower and equipment. It is at this point that the Job Corps crews will be called on for assistance.

Division of Forestry representatives hope severe forest fire situations do not develop, but welcome the addition of the Job Corps suppression crews if needed.

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

By JANE BOND

A nurse from the Health Department will be in Martin at the Beaver Valley Clinic, Monday, November 1, from 10 until 2. She will offer T.B. skin tests, urinalyses, anemia screenings, blood pressures and immunizations. This clinic is a free service of the health department. She will also be doing pap smears free of charge at this clinic, and any woman who has not had a pap test in the past year is urged to take advantage of this service. Women over age 45 are especially urged to attend since this is the high risk age for cervical cancer.

Glaucoma is the second leading cause of blindness in the United States. This is a disease which strikes without any symptoms. The only way to find out if the disease is present is through regular screenings for the disease. Persons over age 35 are especially recommended to have regular screenings since this is usually the age glaucoma strikes.

The Floyd County Health Department is having a glaucoma screening clinic Monday, November 1. This clinic is a free service of the Health Department.

IF YOU'RE PLANNING TO BUILD, TALK TO A WINNER ... TALK TO JIM WALTER HOMES!

Paul "Bear" Bryant
Winningest Collegiate Football Coach

WINDWOOD - 3 BEDROOMS - 2 BATHS

Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant can tell you... building a winning football team is sometimes a tough job. Building a new home on your property, however, may be easier, and cost less than you think... if you choose Jim Walter as your builder. Jim Walter offers a 10% annual percentage rate financing for his customers. This, alone, will save you thousands and thousands of dollars compared to today's much-higher interest rates. For example, financing a $35,000 home with a 14% mortgage for 20-years, would cost you almost $23,500 MORE than you would pay for a home, with this same cash price, built and financed by Jim Walter at only 10% annual percentage rate. That's an amazing $97.53 MORE you'll pay each month. Think what you could do with almost $100 extra in your family budget every month. (Check the chart in this ad for more comparisons.)

Saving money is a good reason for choosing Jim Walter as your builder, but there are more, many more excellent reasons. We want you to know all of them. We want to tell you about our custom-construction methods. We want you to know about the quality of materials that we'll use. We want you to see the more than twenty models from which you may choose. We want you to have all the facts and figures before you decide. When you have these facts, we believe you'll choose Jim Walter. Call, stop by a display park or send the coupon to the office nearest you.

CASH PRICE	ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE	EXAMPLE 20 YEAR FINANCING WITH NO DOWN PAYMENT			DIFFERENCE 20 YEARS APPROX.

FINANCING OFFER SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE

Then, to save you even more money, Jim Walter allows you to do some or all of the inside finishing work in your home. Here's how it works: We'll build to almost any stage, from the "shell" (unfinished inside) up to 90% complete. At this "most complete" stage, all you do is paint or paper walls, finish the trim, install floor covering of your choice, hook-up to outside utilities — electric, water, sewer — and move in. If you want to save hundreds, perhaps even thousands of extra dollars, do more of the inside finishing work, such as wiring, wallboard or paneling, inside doors and trim. The more you do for yourself, the more money you'll save!

Choose from more than 20 models... Built on your property to almost any stage from the shell to 90% complete!

College Plans Program to Meet Nurse Shortage

Because of the chronic shortage of nurses in Pike and several adjoining counties in eastern Kentucky and in keeping with Pikeville College's mission to serve the needs of the region, the college expects to develop an associate degree program in nursing, enrolling the first class with the fall semester of the 1983-'84 academic year.

Such a program has already been developed at Prestonsburg Community College.

The need for nurses in the area has been described by several people in the community with an expressed interest in the program as "desperate", and of such magnitude that "there is a shortage that curtails new services and even impedes old ones at times."

PHS Band Ends Successful Season

The Prestonsburg High School Band ended its 1982 competition season in a big way, Saturday, Oct. 23, at the Invitational Marching Band Festival at Russell. The band placed first in Class C and also came home with four other trophies: best field commander (Teresa Campbell), best percussion unit, best overall majorettes, and best flag corps. The band returned home late Saturday night, was met by proud parents and friends, and joined a motorcade through Prestonsburg.

The Russell competition concluded a successful season for the Marching Blackcats. On September 11, the band won first place at the Gingerbread Festival in Knott county, along with the best field commander and best percussion unit. September 25, the band traveled to Barboursville, W. Va. for the Southern West Virginia Invitational Marching Band contest, where the majorettes placed second and the flag corps first. The band also participated in Morehead State University's Band Day, Oct. 2 and the Jenny Wiley Festival Parade, Oct. 9.

The band is under the direction of Greg Carter, majorettes are sponsored by Mrs. Boots Adams, and the flag corps is instructed by Holly Leach. The band is supported by the dedicated Prestonsburg Band Boosters.

Attends G.S.A. Meet

Charlene Blankenship, leader for Girl Scout Junior Troop No. 18 at McDowell, attended her first Girl Scout council meeting, Oct. 21 at the Lexington Marriott.

Mrs. Blankenship, who is a member of the Allen service unit, area 4, attended the meeting as a delegate to vote for council board members. Called to order by Wilderness Road Council President Helen Ivey, the meeting featured a flag ceremony, presentations of year pins and various council awards, and for the first time, a Gold Award was presented to a Wilderness Road Council scout. Four past council presidents who were present presided at the installation of council members.

The meeting was held during the 70th anniversary of the Girl Scouts and films were shown which traced the history of the organization.

Foreign Visitors Must Observe Work Rules

Foreign students and exchange visitors should know that they may not work without special permission while they are in the United States, Jim Kelly, Social Security district director for the Big Sandy area, said recently.

When permission to work is granted, Social Security taxes are not withheld from their pay because work is considered to be carrying out the purpose for which the student or exchange visitor was admitted to this country. However, income taxes generally are withheld from earnings even if Social Security taxes are not.

"A foreign student cannot work for pay without the permission of the Immigration and Naturalization Service," Kelly said. "Such permission may be granted if the employment is recommended by the school because it provides practical training or if it is necessary because of financial need. An exchange visitor may obtain permission to work for the same reasons."

"A foreign student's spouse and children generally are not permitted to work either. However, an exchange visitor's spouse and children can work if they have the permission of the Immigration and Naturalization Service."

Additional information about employment of foreign visitors or exchange students may be obtained from the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, the Internal Revenue Service, or the Immigration and Naturalization Service. The Big Sandy area Social Security office is located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in your local directory under U.S. Government.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

While here, Jenna was honored by Mr. and Mrs. Ford and children, Kelli and son Winn, with a birthday dinner at their home. Others who were present were the honoree's maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Vera Ford, her paternal grandfather, Gene Fannin, both of Prestonsburg, and her great-aunt, Mrs. Tipton Baker, and children, Ben, Tara, and Ronnie, of Harlan. Following the dinner, birthday cake and other refreshments were served, and the little honoree opened her gifts.

CLARIFY SOME RUMORS

I'd really rather not discuss my opponents, but there's some rumors I feel I must clarify.

First, I'd like to discuss the rumor that I'm "running for school board in order to split up the vote and help Dr. Adams to win." This is not true. I'm running because I can no longer tolerate the way our school system is being run. How can I complain if I don't make an attempt at correcting the problems while I have the chance?

I've also heard that I'm "too emotional." IT'S HARD NOT TO BE EMOTIONAL WHEN YOU REALIZE THAT IT'S OUR CHILDREN'S LIVES THAT ARE BEING WASTED BY A SYSTEM THAT'S NOT WORKING FOR THEM! It's time someone got emotional about the children. They can't improve the schools—we parents have to do this for them.

And last is the rumor that Mr. Moore and I are members of the Floyd County Education Council (People For Better Schools), and that I am splitting this organization up by running against Mr. Moore. I am a member, but Mr. Moore is not. I have yet to see Mr. Moore at a school board meeting or Floyd County School Council Meeting. As a matter of fact, Mr. Moore made the statement that we little ladies were doing such a fine job that we didn't need him there. I thank him for his vote of confidence in our abilities, but we'd love to have every parent and citizen in Floyd County attend our meetings.

I am not a "mudslinger", but I am tired of people starting rumors about me that are unfounded. There's no "Big Money" behind me in this election, only my desire to improve our children's education. My only OBLIGATION will be to you, the parent, and to our children.

WIN OR LOSE, I'LL BE AT THE BOARD MEETINGS AS USUAL. THE CONCERNED MEMBERS OF OUR ORGANIZATION DON'T GO AWAY—WE'RE HERE TO STAY!

1972-1982 10th Anniversary Celebration

Miss Combs, Mr. Hall Wed

Miss Arenja Gaye Combs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Henry, of Minnie, became the bride of Mr. Jeffrey Kent Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hargis Hall, of McDowell, in a double-ring ceremony performed Saturday, Aug. 7 in the First Baptist Church of McDowell. Vows were exchanged before minister Eddie D. McSurley, uncle of the bride, in a candlelight ceremony.

Musical selections were presented by guitarist Miss Geri Grigsby and pianist, Pete Grigsby III, cousins of the bride. Selections included "Through the Eyes of Love," "Wedding Song," "One Perfect Day," "Always and Forever," "Here, There, and Everywhere," and "Longer Than."

Scripture readings were presented by Miss Taunya Shelton, friend of the bride, and Mr. Charles R. Combs, brother of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white dacron organza with silk venise and schiffli lace styled with an empire waist and embroidery-covered bodice encrusted with tiny seed pearls and a Queen Anne neckline. The chiffon sleeves were accented with embroidered lace and gathered at the wrist to form a ruffled cuff. The skirt was trimmed at the hem with a chiffon ruffle fashioned with a chapel-length train. The chiffon and schiffli lace derby hat, a gift from the bride's aunt, Mrs. Wilma Martin, was adorned with tiny seed pearls and attached finger-tip veil.

The bride chose as something old the wedding band worn by her grandmother and mother; as something new, her gown and hat; as something borrowed, the pearls given to her mother by her father, the late Charles David Combs, and as something blue, a ribbon accenting her lace bridal Bible which was a gift from her aunt, Mrs. Ida Meade.

The matron of honor, Vicki Ward, and maid of honor, Taunya Shelton, wore floor-length gowns of mauve with attached capulet of Victorian lace and each carried long-stemmed pink roses with mauve and pink streamers. Bridesmaids, Cindy Hall and Freddi Tuttle, cousins of the bride, wore gowns matching those of the honor attendants and each carried a pink rose with mauve and pink streamers.

Junior bridesmaids were Shelly Hall, niece of the groom, and Margalee Turner, cousin of the groom. Flower girl was Melissa Turner, also cousin of the groom.

John Ward served as the groom's best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Charles R. Combs, brother of the bride; Johnny Ray Turner, cousin of the groom; Mike Turner, cousin of the groom; Kevin Henry, brother of the bride; and Shane Hall, nephew of the groom. Wesley Tuttle, cousin of the bride, served as ringbearer.

Miss Shirley Fugate presided at the guest register. Mrs. Carol Martin, aunt of the bride, was director of the wedding. Hostesses at the reception were Mrs. Carolyn Martin, Miss Pam Akers, and Miss Lynn Allen.

Mrs. Henry chose for her daughter's wedding a floor-length gown of orchid. Mrs. Hall wore a floor-length aqua gown.

The bride is a 1980 graduate of McDowell High School and is now enrolled in the associate degree Nursing Program at Prestonsburg Community College.

Mr. Hall is a 1974 graduate of McDowell High School and a 1981 graduate of the University of Kentucky College of Engineering. He is employed as industrial engineer at the Scott's Branch Mine at Johns Creek.

Following a week's honeymoon in Hawaii, Mr. and Mrs. Hall are residing in Pikeville.

FFA Members Attend Career Day at UK

Nine students from the Prestonsburg Chapter, Future Farmers of America, attended the University of Kentucky, College of Agriculture Alumni Career Day, Tuesday, October 12. While in Lexington, the students were given information about the College of Agriculture, the choices which are available in the college, and also the teaching and research which goes on there. The students were taken on tours of Coldstream, Maine Chance and Spindletop Farms and were given a first-hand look at the research which takes place with livestock, forage and grain crops on the farms.

On campus, the students were taken on a guided tour of the College of Agriculture and also the Blanding-Kirwam student housing complex, where the students were treated to lunch. After the tours, the group was treated to an ice-cream party on the patio of the Agriculture College where they were given a chance to become acquainted with some of the faculty and students within the college.

Those attending from Prestonsburg were Dennis Ward, Eric Pitts, Doug Stanley, Jimmy Nichols, Mark Green, Stephen Hopkins, Larry Leedy, Dewey Stephens and Ken Epperson.

KET Special Recreates Signing of 1918 Armistice

In 1918 the Germans were desperate for an end to the Great War. In a railway carriage in the Forest of Compiègne the Armistice was signed by negotiators from Britain, France and Germany, which had fought so bitterly for four weary years.

"Gossip From The Forest," airing Wednesday, November 10, is the dramatization of events leading up to the Armistice ceremony and a brief look at its aftermath.

Based on a novel by Australian author Thomas Keneally, the 90-minute production looks at the vanities, the dreams of glory which led to war in the first place, and entrenched attitudes negotiators brought to the conference table—attitudes demanding punishment and revenge.

Hugh Burden plays the French Marshal Ferdinand Foch, the fanatical soldier intent on humiliating the vanquished Germans. Ronald Hines portrays the English Admiral Rosslyn Wemyss, the dapper sailor determined to seize, disarm and destroy the German navy for all time. John Shrapnel plays the leader of the German delegation, pacifist politician Matthias Erzberger, struggling to preserve some dignity in defeat.

"Gossip From The Forest" is presented on public TV by WTTW, Chicago.

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

Certain combinations of foods and prescribed drugs can be very harmful. For instance, never drink milk when taking the antibiotic, tetracycline. Milk will interfere with the action and the effectiveness of this drug. Also, when receiving a prescription for a tranquilizer, or mood elevator, ask whether it is a monoamine oxidase inhibitor. If so, scrupulously avoid aged cheeses, chocolate, chicken livers, bananas, coffee, colas and sausages. These foods can create a reaction that may drastically elevate blood pressure. Remember, ask your doctor or pharmacist if there are any restrictions that must be adhered to with your prescription.

Quite often when you are taking certain medications, there will be some foods or beverages that you should not take at the same time. Your Pharmacist should alert you to such situations, and if you have questions of your own, never hesitate to ask. At COOLEY APOTHECARY, INC. we're dedicated to you and your health, and you'll always find personal concern. VISA and Mastercard accepted. Located at #2 Town Center Bldg. You don't need to be a weather expert to predict your electric bill.

Every month you get an electric bill. And every month it's different. Because your electric usage varies with the changing seasons. Usually, it's up in the winter, down in spring, up again in air conditioning season, and down again in fall.

So how can you put together an intelligent household budget if you can't predict what your electric bills will be?

Switch to our Equal Payment Plan. With the Equal Payment Plan, we'll bill you a fixed amount each month based on your average yearly electric usage. Your account will be reviewed every six months to see that your budget payment is still as close as possible to your average use. And, at the end of the twelfth month, you'll receive a settle-up bill or a credit.

Want to smooth out the ups and downs in your electric bill and take the guesswork out of your budget? Get on the Equal Payment Plan.

Gasoline Prices Vary Widely, Study Shows

A survey of area gas stations suggests that, if you're not comparing prices carefully, you may be paying much more for your gasoline than you need to.

The survey—of 13 stations in the Prestonsburg area last Thursday—reveals a wide variation in prices, which differ by as much as 28 cents a gallon for regular, and 24 cents for other grades.

The lowest price quoted for a gallon of regular leaded gas here last week was 119.9 cents at a self-service pump, or 125.9 with full service. The average was 135.9—and you could pay as much as 147.9.

For unleaded, the prices ranged from 127.9 to 151.8—the average was 141.9—and, for high-octane gas, from 131.9 to 155.8—at an average of 144.9.

One station with both self-serve and full-serve pumps was charging 18 cents a gallon for the privilege of full-service.

Nor should a motorist rush to buy unleaded simply because the price for leaded—the one advertised on the marquee to attract customers—is low. While the difference averages six cents a gallon, the dealer who quoted the city's lowest price for regular leaded last week charged an extra 17 cents a gallon for unleaded.

One of the reasons for the wide disparity in prices was suggested by a news release issued by a wholesale dealer here this week. J. D. McDonald, president of Action Petroleum Co., Gulf distributor, said that effective immediately, "all price reductions in gasoline will be passed directly through to all participating dealers...in exactly the same amount realized by Action Petroleum."

The wholesaler's new policy will give consumers the benefit of "any and all reductions" in the price of gasoline and should result in savings of up to 20 cents a gallon, McDonald said.

Where retailers fail to pass their reductions on, presumably, the cost at the pump will remain high.
