Miners Return To Operations Near Wayland

All three of National Mines' Stenson coal operations on Caney Creek, near Wayland, reopened yesterday (Tuesday) after having been idle since last October.

Two hundred fifty miners were recalled to work. Although this number of workers was little more than a third of the peak employment there—about 725—it slowed the rising unemployment rates in Floyd and Knott counties and was seen as "a definite boost" to the economy of the two counties.

Benefitting from an Italian coal purchase contract, National Mines recently set to work a few surface contract mining operations on Jones Fork of Right Beaver Creek, in Knott county. It was not known if overseas coal shipments led to the reopening of the company's deep mines on Caney Creek, however.

Nor was there any prediction of how long the new work schedule would last. Company officials apparently did not want to create any false hopes among workers.

Violent Crimes Sprinkle List Of True Bills

One manslaughter count was listed among 92 indictments handed down by a Floyd Circuit Court grand jury yesterday (Tuesday). The true bills also include 15 for wanton endangerment, nine for assault, five for robbery and five for burglary.

Of 17 indictments for theft, 11 name principals of a mining company who allegedly fled this county last November, leaving $25,000 in unpaid wages. Others cite three men in the theft of $13,000 from Maloney's Store at Martin last November.

(Also listed are indictments naming Alfred "Dee" Music for murder in the shooting death of Curtis Hall at Martin, Dec. 10; for first-degree assault in the shooting of Fred Greer the same day; and for wanton endangerment for shooting inside a house occupied by Dianna Music, Glenna Music, Linda Mulkey and Debbie Mulkey. The murder count, and 28 indictments for drug offenses also handed down Tuesday, were previously issued in December but were repeated after it was learned that Ulysses C. Horne, foreman of the jury which originally issued them, is not a resident of this county.)

Barry Dean Moore, 21, of Minnie, was indicted for second-degree manslaughter in the death of Priscilla M. Collins last April. Mrs. Collins died April 29 after the car she was driving was struck by a pickup driven by Moore.

Area Coal Holdings Said Changing Hands

Floyd county holdings of Utah International are among the properties which the mining company's parent firm, General Electric Co., has agreed to sell for a reported $2.4 billion to Australia's Broken Hill Proprietary Co. Ltd.

Involved in the cash transaction, which is not expected to be concluded for perhaps another six months, are mines and coal holdings in Floyd, Breathitt, Knott and Magoffin counties, large leaseholds in western Kentucky, coal reserves in West Virginia, plus the company's coal ships and other properties.

In 1980 when Utah International acquired most of its Kentucky and West Virginia properties from National Steel Co. for $165 million it was estimated that the company controlled 360 million tons of steam coal reserves in the two states.

At that time the coal business was booming, and Utah International appeared ready for widescale operations. But a depressed market intervened. Today it operates only one strip-mine in this county and has three strip operations and one deep mine under contract. Another large mine was ready to start when the market slumped.

Sierra Coal Company is its prime Eastern Kentucky subsidiary.

GE purchased Utah International in 1976 for an estimated $2.1 billion worth (See Story No. 7, Page 4)

This Town...That World

Don't trust your shadow to prove that the sun is shining. Look upward.

When I asked Lerina Moore, the other day, if he knew anything that would make news, he grew plumb appreciative. Said my request for news from him proved that I wanted the truth and nothing but.

MISADVENTURES IN EDITING

When this newspaper clipping telling of a young Floyd county woman winning a $100 cash prize for her award-winning recipe showed up on the desk last week I, as they say, latched on to it, credited the originating newspaper and turned the item in to be set into type. The item got into the paper and everything seemed well and good.

But it wasn't. My euphoria was short-lived. The winner of the award called and as gently as possible let me know that I had just published an item that was a year old.

Now I'm trying to accept that fact, all the while wondering how in tunket the clipping got there, clean, uncrumpled and inviting its reprinting after a whole year. As the late Jimmy Durante was wont to remark, I'm covered with confusion.

What makes all this the more mysterious is, the desk was cleaned, stripped clean, a record-breaking two times during the year, and on neither occasion did the clipping show.

Another question: How does a year-old piece of paper turn up on the very desk where I can't find something I left two days ago?

I, of course, am not to blame for this misadventure. It's gremlins at their fell work again.

Liquor Hearings Fail To Draw Opposition

"Anybody who does not want this kind of operation should be here expressing their opinion instead of sitting back and moaning and groaning," Ron Hurley, of Minnie, told a hearing on a proposed regulation of Floyd entertainment spots Friday.

Hurley and his wife, Martha—who said they are interested in setting up a place where people could hear live music, dance and, if they want to, bring their own beer—were wary of one suggested rule that would deny a business an entertainment license in any community that objected to it.

The rule was proposed by Sandy Boyd, of Dana, who said he was concerned that the county might vote dry in the future if owners of bars and nightclubs went into neighborhoods where they were not wanted.

Boyd proposed that a five-member board be appointed to screen applicants for entertainment licenses. Besides the county alcoholic beverage control administrator, who would be its chairman, the board would include an operator, a fiscal court magistrate, the county attorney or his assistant and a church representative, according to the proposal.

It would be the board's responsibility to check the applicant's record, see that the proposed establishment had sufficient parking, and inquire as to whether it interfered with the neighboring residential or business community, Boyd said.

It was the latter provision that worried the Hurleys, who said it would give a veto to church members bent on imposing their own moral views on others. "It is not the Christian's responsibility to keep other people from 'sinning,' or to keep a club out because it's what I don't like," Mrs. Hurley said.

If a minister were to help in screening license applicants, the regulation should at least stipulate that he or she be educated, she added.

A number of those at the hearing—the third in a series of four—remarked that the hearings had generally attracted operators or intending operators of nightclubs but none of those who might be expected to oppose them.

Although the operators differed on the extent to which community opposition should be allowed to influence the granting of licenses, they were in agreement that some regulation more stringent than state law was required here.

Yet another proposal circulating in draft form this week would allow beer drinking only in restaurants and bars. The proposal, which is expected to be submitted to the alcoholic beverage control administrator by County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. would prohibit drinking on premises licensed as package stores.

To sell beer by the drink, a restaurant would need to have a seating capacity for at least 50 customers, to make a specific percentage of its profits from sale of food, and to comply with health and fire codes, according to this suggestion.

ABC Board Says County Due Another Liquor License

The prospect of 116 applications for a single liquor license flooding the office of the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board within the next 30 days has the board's general counsel "thinking of taking a permanent vacation," she joked this week.

But that may be what is in store for the agency since new census figures show an increase in the county's population—a growth that makes Floyd eligible for one more package liquor license.

Twenty one liquor licenses were granted here last year, one for every 2300 persons. The county's population, listed as 48,764 in the 1980 census, has apparently grown to at least 50,600, the minimum required to justify issuance of another license.

There were 137 applicants for liquor licenses here last year, 116 of whom were disappointed and a good many of whom were angry as well. State police are yet investigating charges that political connections and bribes played a part in the awarding of licenses.

Catherine C. Staib, the ABC board's attorney, said this week the agency was required by regulation to update its census information at the beginning of each year and to advertise openings for additional liquor licenses where population increases warrant it. Floyd was one of several counties to show a sufficient increase to justify another license. Fayette county, for example, is to receive five more, she said.

The agency's population figures are supplied by the University of Louisville Urban Studies Center, she said. Applications for Floyd's twenty-second license may be filed with the board for the next 30 days.

Many Share Work Effort at Garrett To Give Neighbor New Home

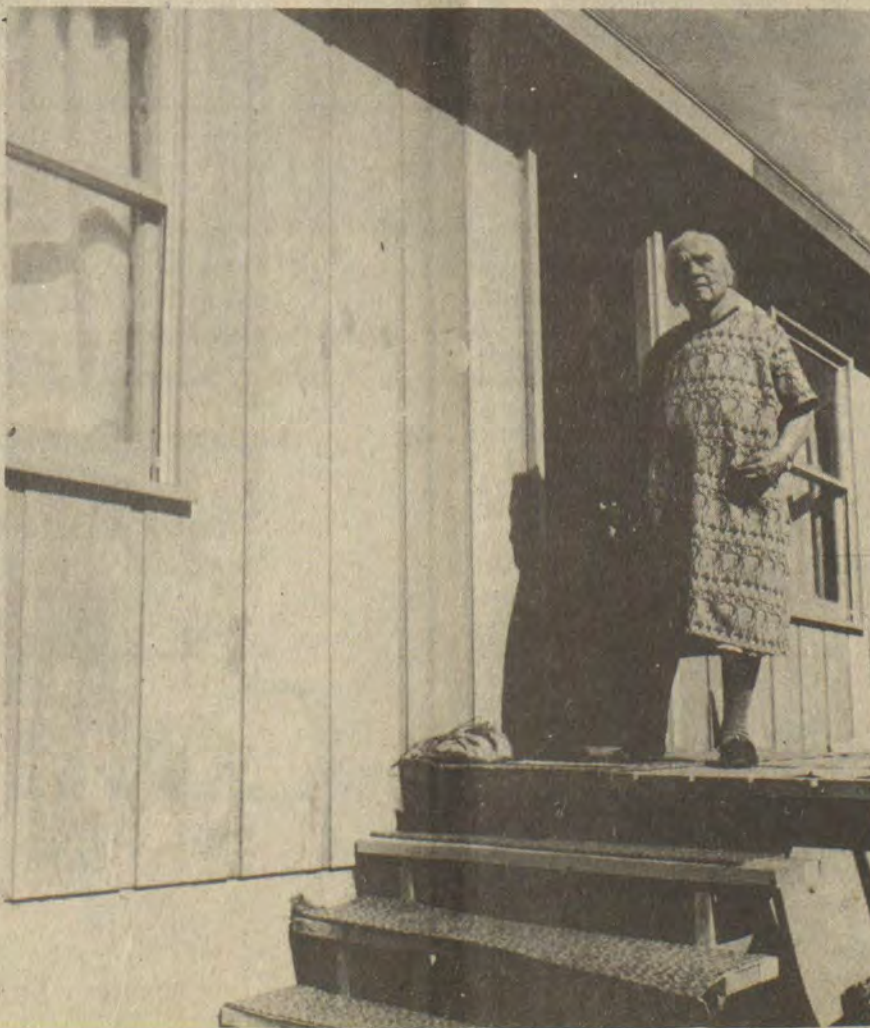

Getting back to Garrett was plenty enough reason for Josephine Brown to be excited, but when she saw her new home sitting at the foot of the hill along Stone Coal Creek she was, in her own words, "in a state of shock."

She hadn't been back to Stone Coal in more than four months—ever since concerned neighbors persuaded her to move from the dangerously dilapidated house where she had lived for some 60 years and move to a public housing unit in the Goble-Roberts Addition here.

Never having spent a night away from home, the 77-year-old Mrs. Brown said she "cried every night from being homesick." But it was during this time that a group of people were working hard to prepare a new place for her to return to, and she'll tell you that the painful time away was worth it.

Before she moved from the frame house her late husband built "with hammer and handsaw," shortly after they were married, that structure was at the point of completely collapsing. The floor had fallen through and the ceiling sagged to the point that it was necessary to stoop in places to move about. There was no way to keep out the cold wind and Mrs. Brown was forced most nights to huddle around the single gas heater in the house. Twice, according to a neighbor, Delores Messer, nearby residents rushed to Mrs. Brown's aid when her long gown caught fire from standing too close to the stove.

Mrs. Brown stands proudly on the porch of her new home.

2 Contractors Named in Suits

Two London, Ky. firms were accused of negligent operations here in suits filed this week in Floyd Circuit Court.

In papers served on Jerry Greer, listed as agent for G. and G. Ky. Construction Company, Taylor Price, owner of Price's Pic-Pac stores, claims that the construction firm caused blast damage to the Martin Pic-Pac during excavation for the new KY 80 nearby.

In another suit, S.J. and Mabel Bradley, owners of gas wells on Mare Creek, claim that Greer Brothers, Inc. damaged their wells in the course of stripmining there.

The suit filed for Pic-Pac by attorney Don Goble charges that G. and G. "conducted blasting which such force and violence" during construction of the new highway as to damage the store's frame, walls, roof, ceilings, floor, electrical system, compressor room and sewer system.

Price seeks $150,000, estimated as the cost of repairs, and an additional $40,000 for loss of profits over the six months he expects the repair work to take.

Merchant Starts Fund To Pay Bus Drivers

The reaction of one Right Beaver Creek merchant to opposition in the Floyd fiscal court to providing funds for salaries of bus drivers serving senior citizens was to announce that he would contribute $25 to the fund and to challenge other business people and citizens in all parts of the county to do likewise.

"We're not ready to turn our senior citizens out to pasture yet," the contributor remarked. He asked that he remain anonymous.

Needed to cover the bus drivers' salaries for the next three months is $4500. The fiscal court deferred making an appropriation in that amount after Magistrate Kenneth Roberts had said the funds were not available.

Jurors Assert Their Belief In 'Law of Self-Defense'

In response to an attorney's warning that some crime victims appear bent on "vigilante justice," a Circuit Court grand jury this week strongly affirmed its belief in "the law of self-defense."

In a report to Circuit Judge Hollie Conley bearing the signature of Larry Jervis, foreman, the grand jurors asserted their conviction that "a person has the right to use force in defense of his self, in defense of his family and in defense of his property."

The right of self defense "includes the right to use deadly force under proper circumstances," the jurors said.

Prestonsburg attorney Gary Johnson told the jury last week of two cases in which, he claimed, young men allegedly involved in property crimes were shot and seriously wounded by the property owners. No charges had been brought against those who fired the shots, he pointed out.

Noting that it had "heard reports concerning citizens' use of force in defense of their property," the grand jury reported that "no evidence was presented that a particular individual used more force than was necessary."

The jurors also recommended that the jail be painted and that more lights be installed there, that the courthouse windows be cleaned, and that parking not be allowed on the courthouse lawn, and complimented the staff of the juvenile detention center for keeping that facility neat and clean.

Mud Creek Clinic Has New Pharmacist

A native of Carter county and a graduate of the University School of Pharmacy, Gwen Roe, R.Ph., recently joined the staff of the Mud Creek Clinic at Grethel.

Her job involves teaching patients how to use their prescription drugs and about over-the-counter medicines as well, the pharmacist said. In addition, she is re-establishing a "drug profile" on every patient, replacing records lost in last summer's clinic fire. The profile provides a record of medicines each patient is taking, in order to avoid dangerous drug interactions.

A pharmacy at the clinic is considered essential on account of its distance from other pharmacies.

SPORTSMAN'S SURVEY

Kentucky has a total of 1,052,600 fishermen and 391,600 hunters, according to the recently completed 1980 National Survey of Fishing, Hunting and Wildlife-Associated Recreation.

This survey, a joint effort of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the U.S. Bureau of the Census, gives us a good look at the nation's sportsmen with some interesting figures emerging from the many statistical tables in the report.

For one thing, the survey shows that the average hunter in Kentucky spends a total of 18 days in the field each year. He apparently likes to hunt a little better than the average angler likes to fish, since the average Kentucky fisherman spends 16 days on the water annually.

If your spouse is complaining about the money you spend on hunting or fishing, you might want to see how you compare to our average hunter, whose annual outlay came to $368, or the average fisherman, who spent $309 in 1980. Fishermen spent more of this money on travel ($114) each than did hunters, who used only $82 each for travel.

The total expenditures from fishermen amounted to almost $263 million, and hunters spent another $121 million. That's $384 million that Kentucky sportsmen contribute to the state's economy, with $152 million of that being related directly to travel. Around 20 percent of this travel money came from out-of-state fishermen and hunters traveling into Kentucky.

Out of Kentucky's total population, 19.5% are exclusively fishermen, 2.1% only hunt and 9.9 percent both hunt and fish. This means that 31.5 percent of our residents are sportsmen, a little bit ahead of the national average, which is 27.5 percent of the total population, but quite a bit behind the state with the highest percentage of hunters and fishermen—Alaska, with 54 percent.

The District of Columbia has the lowest percentage of sportsmen—only 10 percent of those living in the nation's capital hunt or fish. The second lowest is New Jersey (16.4 percent), then Massachusetts (16.8 percent).

What Effect Does Pre-Planning Have On Survivors?

Generally, there are strong benefits to your survivors!

Consider the impact of pre-planning on your survivors: will they understand you want your own wishes carried out and not theirs? That you may wish to economize in your choice of service, casket, etc., instead of putting the choice in their hands when they are under great stress and shock?

Will they understand that you want a certain specific order of service? A particular portion of scripture read? Your favorite music? Your designation of minister? And, of course, that you insist on paying for it yourself, sparing them the emotional and financial burdens?

Many of those for whom we have pre-planned funerals have solved these difficult considerations. They have involved their families in the decision-making process. You, too, may wish to invite members of your immediate family to discuss pre-planning with you and with one of our professional funeral counselors.

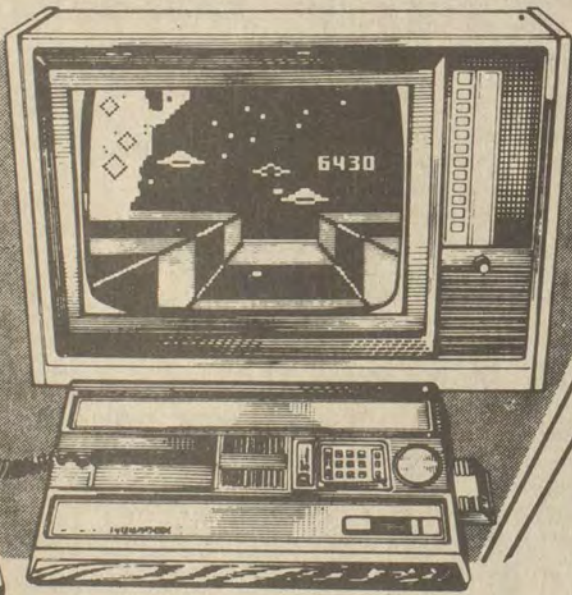

Once having made your funeral arrangements, your sense of security and accomplishment may be comforting and valuable to you and your loved ones.

Anybody Who Works Can Have An IRA

The law provides that any individual who is under age 70½ and who has earned income may establish an IRA. The maximum contribution for an individual IRA is $2,000.00 or total wages, whichever is less. If both spouses have earned income, each spouse may establish an IRA and calculate their contributions separately even though they file a joint tax return.

A spousal IRA is also available for a working individual with a non-working spouse. This applies as long as the two individuals are married at the end of the year and the non-working spouse received no compensation during the year. No contributions may be made to a spousal IRA if either spouse has reached 70½. You can contribute 100% of your wages up to $2,250 per year by depositing to both an IRA for yourself and one for your unemployed spouse. You can split your deposit between these two accounts anyway you wish as long as no more than $2,000 per year is put into either account. However, you must file a joint tax return to take advantage of this provision.

★ GOOD NEWS REPORT ★

By THOMAS W. PAUKEN
Director of ACTION

When Ann Boussan went to work for the Kinnie Printing Company in Memphis, Tenn., she was employed in the company's front office. One day she was asked if she would mind helping out in the print shop. She did so, and suddenly a new world opened up to her. It wasn't just the pungent smell of printer's ink, or all that was going on in the shop was so different from any shop engaged in production. It was the activity, the sound, the communication between the men and women doing the work itself. To Ann the atmosphere had a kind of electricity that went with the job; not at all quiet and meditative like an office. She asked if she could be transferred, anxious to be a part of the doing. And that was where she made her career for the next 22 years.

Being part of the doing, pretty well describes Ann Boussan's philosophy, and when she retired from the printing world she suddenly found that she was no longer doing enough. Her volunteer work with the American Legion Auxiliary, which she had joined in 1945, was rewarding but she wanted something more. In 1978 she volunteered to help out in juvenile court. Even though she and her husband, James, had no children, Ann had a mother's love for all of them. But she found the court work she was assigned was like office work, and she wanted something that offered the activity she had found in the print shop.

She found it four years ago at Le Bonheur Children's Medical Center in Memphis. Through ACTION's Retired Senior Volunteer Program, she became a hospital volunteer and today the staff at Le Bonheur looks upon her as "an institution known and loved by everyone."

As Mary Grogan, director of the hospital's volunteer services puts it, "Ann works for virtually every department, doing jobs that otherwise might not be done. She comes in, rain or shine, and even in ice and snow."

In getting to know the hospital's operation so well, Ann has managed to combine the activities of her American Legion Auxiliary with it. Through her initiative the Auxiliary has sponsored scholarships for nurses wishing to specialize in lung diseases. Her scholarship proposal was the first of its kind for the American Legion to undertake in the state.

Ann Boussan is on the job four days a week at Le Bonheur, and the question might be—what does she really get out of it? "Satisfaction," she replies. "I'm there to do what I can when needed. I coordinate with all kinds of people. I've learned how to help others and what makes a hospital run. I feel like I want to take them all home with me. Yes, I live in a world full of satisfaction."

Who Speaks for the Consumer?

It's incredible, but the daily newspapers report that the natural gas industry has sold President Reagan its song-and-dance item built around the argument that competition will reduce gas rates, once all price controls are removed.

And it is feared that industry leaders have sold the Congress the same shoddy bill of goods. Runaway natural gas prices began with the decontrol of "new" gas—that is to say, gas from wells drilled after 1973.

Simply make gas a-plenty available and leave competition between the sellers to drive the prices down to a reasonable level, it is argued. It should be pointed out in response to this sophistry that there has always been gas a-plenty if the price is right.

The gas lobby speaks and obviously is heard in Washington. Who speaks for the thousands of citizens who must pay the bill? Unless a voice is heard from their corner soon, it may be too late.

Seeking help, neighbors contacted Floyd County Urban Renewal and, although that agency had no funds available, its personnel pitched in to coordinate a volunteer help effort after its director, Anna Jean Tackett, visited the house.

Mrs. Tackett found what she called "the worst situation I've ever seen," and decided that Mrs. Brown, with no family surviving, must be helped. After relocating Mrs. Brown at Goble-Roberts in November, Urban Renewal worked with county officials and local residents to organize the effort. Using a neighbor's heavy truck to pull down the old structure, volunteer workmen, including personnel provided by Magistrate Kenneth Roberts, completed razing of the structure. Calls for help and donations were answered generously, with materials for the construction of the new house provided by local businesses.

"I think everybody did what they had to do to accomplish this," said Mrs. Tackett. "One of our employees sacrificed his vacation to help out and two more gave up parts of their time off as well. People really worked together through this whole time."

Scores of local women joined to surprise Mrs. Brown with a household shower and even as she returned home Tuesday some Garrett women worked to hang curtains and decorate.

"When I came in," Mrs. Brown commented, "I really didn't know what to say. Everything was so nice. It's just wonderful."

Restaurants already operating at the time the regulation is enacted would not have to comply with the provision regarding seating capacity.

Suggestions originating in the public hearings have been proposed as alternatives to a proposed regulation that would prohibit music, games or entertainment where beer is consumed. That proposal has been widely criticized as too restrictive.

Another hearing on the regulations has been set for tomorrow (Thursday) in the courthouse annex, at 2 p.m.

OOOPS! We realize that all this may be a bit boring. Well, try this one.

This ancient king was such a lover of animals that he would permit not even the most voracious to be killed. Lions roamed the streets of the capital city and feasted on good citizens. Elephants trampled the slow of foot.

Finally, the populace rebelled against this protection of wild game to its own mortal danger, and the king was forced to abdicate.

And that was the only case on record of reign being cancelled by the game.

of stock, which at that time was the biggest corporate merger to have been reported.

Besides its Kentucky and West Virginia properties Utah International owns major metallurgical coal operations in Australia, coal mines in Colorado and New Mexico plus a shipping unit, a petroleum company, iron and copper mines and a 20 percent interest in a large uranium mining company.

According to the preliminary agreement with Broken Hill, GE will retain real estate owned by Utah International in San Francisco, a Colorado coal mine, the petroleum operations, and its interest in the Wyoming Uranium mine, which is now 80 percent owned by France.

Utah International's coal ships, its big Australian and New Mexican mines, its eastern U.S. properties and certain other assets will go to Broken Hill when the agreement is accomplished.

In 1981 Utah International produced 880,000 tons of coal from its Eastern Kentucky operations, with production somewhat below that level last year because of the depressed market, Miller said. The company has one underground and three surface mines in Eastern Kentucky. It is not operating its West Virginia properties. During 1982 the company estimates it shipped about 13.2 million tons of steam coal, primarily from its western U.S. operations, compared with 10.5 million tons the year before. From Australian operations it also produces about 16 million tons of coking coal annually—for use, primarily, in Japanese and European steel mills.

Broken Hill is a major supplier of Australian metallurgical coal to Japan.

Sportsmen Crowd Courtroom in Meet Here Mon. Night

More than 300 persons filled the circuit courtroom of the Floyd county courthouse Monday night for a meeting which was considered by most to be a showdown for control of the Dewey Lake Fish & Game Club.

The crowd, said to be the largest ever to attend a conservation club meeting in this county, represented the result of intensive recruiting efforts on the part of two factions which became well defined at the club's January meeting.

It was at that time that a large contingent of sportsmen from both Floyd and Pike counties, most of whom had never belonged to the club, joined the 18-year-old organization. While the group of new members joined with older members in condemning the opening of Dewey Lake last November to open gun hunting, they also expressed disapproval of certain aspects of the organization and leveled charges which were interpreted by older club members as a challenge for control of the club.

With Monday night's meet set for the election of officers for the coming year, the "strength in numbers" strategy became all important.

As it turned out, those aligned with the "older" club membership outnumbered the newcomers by a wide margin and a slate of officers submitted by a club nominating committee were approved in short order.

Officers for the coming year include the following: Chalmers Howard, president; John L. Harris, vice president; William S. Kendrick, treasurer, and Eric Hall, secretary. Irvin Harris and Claude Newberry were named directors, joining Bill Pettrey, Don Fitch, and Gerald Baldrige. Out-going president, Gerald Jones, assumes the title of second vice-president.

The Dewey Lake Fish & Game Club meets the second Monday of each month and new club president, Chalmers Howard, extended an invitation this week to all area sportsmen to attend.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Martin Boyd, who died Jan. 2, 1981.

YOUR SMILE

You caught from sunlight warm and bright your radiant smile to give delight.

To cheer a soul, yes every soul, we read your heart, we knew your goal.

You searched for truth in life, and why. By learning to smile you knew how to cry.

You found it hard to say goodbye; your smile with us will never die.

No rhyme, no reason, a smile so splendid we took for granted, then suddenly ended.

To smile at life you made oh, so simple, You smiled and God claimed His smiling example.

We still love and miss you, dad, now that you are gone, It's hard for us to smile without you in our home.

CHURCH CIRCLE MEETS

The Annie Allen Circle of the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Anna Mae Goble on the Middle Creek road, Monday evening, Feb. 7. Due to the absence of the president and vice-president, Mrs. Pat Minns presided. Mrs. Zella Archer discussed the Missionary Prayer Calendar, and gave the names and locations of missionaries serving in various fields. Mrs. Archer said that Kathy Brown Thomas, who is located in France, had been chosen as the "Missionary of the Week." Mrs. Joyce Ramey asked for special prayer for Mary Hayes, who is serving as missionary in Chili. It was decided that the Mission Action project would be the making of prayer cards for patients at the Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Mrs. Patsy Evans introduced Robin Childers, Baptist campus minister for the eastern area of Kentucky, including Prestonsburg, Hazard and Ashland Community Colleges and Alice Lloyd and Pikeville Colleges. Emphasizing the work done at the local college, in conjunction with Irene Cole Baptist Church, Mr. Childers said that P.C.C. is a college where students can come and feel that they are a part of a community. He told of some of the area events, such as the leadership retreats and B.S.U. conventions held in cooperation with Baptist churches of this area. He thanked the group for the food they had furnished him and the young people, with whom he works at the local college, and asked for their prayers in regard to his future work in this area.

The hostess, Mrs. Goble, served a dessert course to Mr. Childers, Mrs. Marty Hicks, and daughter, Miss Maria Hicks, guests, and members, Mesdames Pat Minns, Patsy Evans, Zella Archer, Rebecca Rasnick, Dolly Pettrey, Joyce Ramey, Eva Collins, Myrtle Allen, and Docia Woods.

Following these refreshments, several of the members worked on the cards for trays, to be used at the local hospital while a social hour was enjoyed.

Two More Enter Senate Race

MR. BALDRIDGE

Prestonsburg's Dr. Larry M. Leslie has been joined by two others with Floyd county roots as candidates for the Democratic nomination for the 25th Senatorial district post from which Lowell T. Hughes, of Ashland, formerly of Prestonsburg, recently resigned.

Ashland attorney Gene Baldrige and David LeMaster, Paintsville attorney, are the two new candidates, and as many as three others—all from the Boyd county area—are mentioned as tuning up for the race.

Baldrige, a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and Pikeville College, received his B.S. degree from Morehead State University and his law degree from the University of Kentucky College of Law.

Baldrige is a member of the First Church of God, serving on local and national boards; is a member of the Kentucky Bar Association and is a past president of the Boyd County Bar Association. He has served for the past six years on the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights.

The candidate is a son of Nelson and Hazel Baldrige, of Little Paint Creek in this county.

LeMaster is the son of Payne and Dosha Hughes LeMaster, former residents of Prestonsburg.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Kentucky and its College of Law, he served four years as city attorney of Paintsville four years, and, since 1980, as a vice-president of the Kentucky Academy of Trial Attorneys.

In 1973, LeMaster prepared and published for the legislature, at the direction of the Legislative Research Commission, a study entitled, "Issues Confronting the 1974 General Assembly." He also served during the 1972 and 1974 General Assembly sessions as an aide to Kentucky's then lieutenant-governor. He has also served two terms as a member of the board of directors of the U.K. Athletics Association.

LeMaster is married to the former Virginia Combs, and they have two children.

Meet some of our most economy-minded customers.

Columbia Gas employees, like everybody else, are concerned with holding down natural gas costs. Not only because they're our employees, but also because most have natural gas in their homes, so they're Columbia Gas customers, too. And just like you, they pay for the natural gas they use. It's not free, or at a reduced rate to them. They receive a monthly bill just like yours. So obviously, when it comes to holding down costs, our employees are working every day to bring natural gas service to your home (and theirs) as efficiently as possible. Because the more economically they do their job, the more we'll all save.

QUAR!

SOMETHING FISHY at Prestonsburg Christian Academy this week. The kindergarten classroom has fish in an aquarium, fish on its wall murals, even fish swimming through the air. There are fish books, fish paintings, and fish diagrams. This is all part of the class' unit about fish and sea life. The children play fishing for words and addition problems. They label parts of fish. They rhyme words with "gill," "fin," etc. They even eat goldfish crackers at snack time.

The trip to the pet shop also was an enjoyable way to learn more about fish by seeing the different varieties there.

This innovative kindergarten program is designed to help encourage a love for science and nature and an appreciation for God's creation, while developing their reading, arithmetic, and language skills. Application for next year's kindergarten are now being accepted. Call 874-2846 school days before noon.

Western Professor's Book Details Mine Disasters

By SHEILA CONWAY

Bowling Green, Ky.—"The coal miner's treated like the bootlegger in this country. Everybody wants his product, but nobody wants to have anything to do with him socially," says a Western Kentucky University professor whose latest book takes issue with the U.S. coal mining industry.

"A renegade" among the nation's industries is how Dr. Carlton Jackson, professor of history, describes coal in "The Dreadful Month," a chronicle of mine disasters in the U.S. from Dec. 1907's worst at Monongah, W. Va., till today.

"It's not a very pleasant book," he says ruefully. "Between 1838 and 1977 the coal industry killed 121,000 men, about a thousand a year. That's too much," he says, adding "it shows a shocking lack of care and concern."

This is the ninth book Jackson has written on a variety of subjects.

Jackson is Western's Fulbright adviser, has taught social history for 23 years, and held two senior Fulbright lectureships himself, the maximum given to any one individual. His experience took him first to Pakistan and then to Iran where he was teaching in 1978 when martial law forced him to return to the U.S.

Some of his chapters for "The Dreadful Month" were written while Jackson was in Iran. "I thought that was a good place for a disaster book," he says jokingly.

Inspiration for "The Dreadful Month" came, Jackson said, while he was browsing through a United Mine Workers Journal in 1978 that belonged to his father who was a coal miner. "I came across Monongah, which was listed the worst accident in U.S. coal mining history, and it peaked my interest," said the sandy-haired, burly and bearded Jackson, the picture himself of descendant pick and shovel.

"I started looking for materials about Monongah, and couldn't find any, and when I did from government reports, I found it was one of five explosions in that one month alone."

The knowledge to Jackson was incredible, the historian said, spurring him on to see if he could find if anything had been learned from the experience of December 1907. What he found, he says dolefully, "is practically nothing."

Conditions are little better today, he says, "although in the last 30 years there has been more improvement from the federal government than was done in the previous hundred."

Research for this book took him to West Virginia University's Library which has a vast amount of information on coal mines. The most original chapter of the book deals with the Monongah Relief Committee which had never been written about.

Jackson offers solutions to the coal miner's plight by pointing out a need for a crisis committee that would be independent of both the government and mine operators "so that maybe the truth can be told about disasters," he says. "Because the way it is today, at least I know I'm this way—and I'm sure many others are—if anything happens at a nuclear power plant and an official comes on the air an hour or so afterwards and says there's no danger, that's when we can all start sweating."

Jenny Wiley Chapter AARP Charter Night

The local chapter of AARP will hold its February meeting at Archer Park Senior Citizens Center, February 24, at 6 p.m., for a dinner meeting.

The charter will be presented by Frank Clark, of Louisville, Kentucky state director of AARP.

Mrs. William Hall, London, will speak briefly on AARP legislative action at Frankfort.

The principal speaker will be Amy Conn who will speak on new facilities for Highlands Regional Hospital.

By RUFUS REED

The Mystery of a Tree

There's more to a tree than meets the eye. We cannot even see a tree in its entirety. We can see only one side of it, and must depend on the imagination to give the full picture.

Joyce Kilmer spoke truly when he wrote, "Poems are made by fools like me/ But only God can make a tree."

Kilmer realized that God endowed a tree with wisdom and in the tree concealed his deepest secrets. He also gave man the strong desire to search out the deeper secrets of a tree; so, today man is applying the science of technology in the study of trees.

Along comes Kirtian with his high-speed photography and makes a photo of a tree at a fantastic speed. When Kirtian studies his photographs he is amazed to see TWO TREES instead of the natural tree one sees. The "other tree" is the "spiritual counterpart" of the physical tree. It lives in the natural tree and its purpose seems to be to sustain the tree and renew it, also to protect it from being destroyed.

This "spiritual counterpart" of the physical tree refuses to fall when the tree is chopped down, and Kirtian's electronic gadgets can discern it still standing there, with rays of bright light shooting up from it. The "other tree" seeks to restore the life of the fallen one. It causes sprouts to grow out of the stump, but soon these die as the stump decays. It then tries to get a sprout rooted in good soil, which will have a chance to make another tree.

Even more amazing is the work of experts with the polygraph. These experts fasten a polygraph to a tree and proceed to ask it questions. The answers do not come in words but in impressions on a chart, the same kind of impressions that come from the victim of a lie detector test.

Among the questions asked are:
Is a tree aware of its environment?

ATTEST:
Sue Webb
City Clerk

Does it recognize its owner? How does a tree protect itself from being uprooted in a heavy windstorm? If a tree has a constant companion—say, a deer that has slept for years under its sheltering boughs—and then it suddenly disappears to come there no more, does the tree experience a sense of loss?

The answers to all these questions were all affirmative. A tree knows its owner, is aware of its environment and experiences a sense of loss when a constant companion is missing. A tree on a wind-tossed height sends its roots ten feet deep and coils them tight around underground rocks, so it is impossible for a high wind to uproot the tree without tearing a great hole in the earth.

Idle Rate Up in December For Most Big Sandy Counties

Counties strongly dependent on coal mining showed the most distressing unemployment figures for the month of December, according to the state Cabinet for Human Resources.

Most Big Sandy ADD counties, all of which are strongly involved in mining, showed increased unemployment while the FIVCO ADD counties to the north enjoyed a drop.

Floyd county's idle rate rose during the month to 18.1 percent. Of its labor force of 17,791, 14,576 were employed, leaving a reported 3215 unemployed.

Letcher county had an unemployment rate of 37.4—the state's highest.

The jobless rate for the FIVCO Area Development District—Boyd, Greenup, Carter, Lawrence and Elliott counties—showed a general drop to 15.5 percent in December from 15.6 percent a month earlier.

Carroll county's rate of 4.4 percent was the state's lowest.

Lawrence county's rate was 14.7 percent, while Elliott county's rate was 11.1 percent.

Other counties in Northeastern Kentucky also showed a general decline in unemployment.

Morgan county's rate fell to 11.7 percent from 11.8 percent, and the rate in Magoffin county fell to 13.5 percent, compared to 13.9 percent in November.

In Pike county, unemployment fell from 17.7 percent in November to 17.4 percent a month later, and the rate in Martin county dropped to 6.2 percent in December from 6.7 percent.

The actual jobless figures for December show:

- Boyd county: 23,263 in the labor market; 20,245 holding jobs; 3,018 idle.

DON'T BE FOOLED BY THE LOW PRICE

The Gillaspie is not a toy or kit you have to assemble. It is a complete system which includes the same 6-foot "dish" antenna which was the sensation of the recent Satellite TV Trade Show in Atlanta. Of some 150 antennas demonstrated, from 8-foot to 20-foot diameter, Gillaspie's was the only 6-foot. Sophisticated tv engineers approached this easily installed antenna, suitable for nearly any home, in utter disbelief, but their skepticism vanished when they viewed the studio-monitor quality pictures it delivered when coupled to the Gillaspie 7600A receiver that is the heart of your Gillaspie Satellite TV Earth Station.

Perhaps Only A Receiver as Good as the Gillaspie can deliver good video from a 6-foot antenna, but deliver it does, and we guarantee it with our money-back-if-not-satisfied warranty*. The Gillaspie 7600A receiver has been proven the standard of the industry with over 8,000 units in use by tv stations, cable systems, industrial users, and individuals throughout the world.

Sounds Too Good to Be True: Is It Legal? Perfectly, as long as you don't charge admission and open a theatre in your home. The Federal Communications Commission has specifically de-regulated satellite tv reception by private individuals for personal enjoyment.

Officer Rebuked, Residents Oppose Expansion Plans

As the result of a city council decision Monday, Prestonsburg Police Sergeant Darrell Conley received a two-day suspension for leaving the city limits while on duty without authorization from the chief of police.

A veteran of more than 10 years on the force, Conley will also receive a "strong, written reprimand" for failing to submit timely reports to the police chief, the council ruled.

The decisions came after the council met in executive session. Conley was said to have responded without authorization to reports of an auto chase in Martin late last month involving a Martin patrolman and Kentucky state police.

The council heard objections from residents or property owners in three of the areas it plans to annex. Mrs. Hazel Rorrer and her son, Ralph, owners of property at Lancer, said this is the third attempt to annex that section and complained that they have to make their case against annexation before every new city council.

Sharon Bingham, of the Auxier road, said she did not want that section incorporated in the city. And members of the Katy Friend Free Will Baptist Church petitioned to have their property excluded from the city's annexation plans.

Council members argued that residents in the affected areas would realize savings on their fire insurance and utility bills if they are brought within the city limits and that some families in those areas desire to be annexed.

The council received a check for $348 to buy a trauma kit for the Prestonsburg fire and rescue squad. The money was donated by Conard Isaac and Adrian Shepherd, of the KK Mining Co., of Weeksbury.

IRS Tele-Tax Offered 24 Hours A Day

In 1983, Kentucky taxpayers who have a touch-tone phone available can call IRS and receive recorded tax information 24 hours a day, seven days a week. This service, called Tele-Tax, will provide recorded tapes on about 140 topics covering such areas as filing requirements, dependents, itemized deductions, and tax credits. This taxpayer service is available in addition to the regular toll-free telephone assistance offered during regular working hours.

Brochures which list all the available topics for Tele-Tax, and describe how to use the service, are available in many banks and libraries, and in IRS offices.

Local residents would use the Lexington number, (606) 233-2889. However, the service carries the usual long distance charge.

Observes Special 'I Love To Read Day'

Garrett Elementary School's Remedial Reading classes and Learning Disability class participated in the "I Love to Read" day, February 14.

It is the hope of school personnel and the principal, Ralph O'Quinn, to develop a lifelong habit of reading through reading enjoyment during the school years.

The pupils discussed the importance of reading and listed different reasons for learning to read such as enjoyment, to be able to follow directions, and to be able to choose a career.

A variety of activities were planned by the reading teachers, Peggy Francis, Grace Combs, and Carolyn Bellamy and also by the L.D. teacher, Roberta Fugate. The pupils made bookmarkers, reading posters, and story illustrations. The pupils were also given time to choose a book of their choice for leisure time reading.

Class of '53 Sets Reunion Meeting

Members of the class of 1953 of Prestonsburg High School will have a meeting at Prestonsburg Community College, this Thursday night at 7 p.m., in the Pike Building, Room 216 (upstairs) to discuss plans for the 30th class reunion to be held July 8 and 9, 1983. All local members of this class are urged to attend.

HOSPITAL NOT DEFENDANT

In last week's issue of the Floyd County Times, Our Lady of the Way Hospital was named in a suit brought by the Highway Department over damages done to a right-of-way fence along Highway 80. The hospital is in no way involved in this suit. A mistake was made by the Highway Department in this matter. Our Lady of the Way Hospital has been dropped as a party to the suit.

Phone Service is Still a Bargain, Manager Says

Since practically everyone uses the telephone, changes in telephone prices make news.

Based on a flurry of recent headlines, it might seem that telephone rates have risen much higher and faster than prices for other everyday items. Actually, the opposite is true, said Art Willett, local manager for South Central Bell.

"To keep telephone price changes in perspective, it helps to compare rises in telephone prices with increases for other items," Willett said.

"Comparisons can be made by using the Consumer Price Index—or CPI—issued by the U.S. Department of Labor," he said. "The CPI compares price changes for a broad range of products and services. These are split into major groups, such as gas and electricity, home ownership, water and sewage, transportation, and food."

The figures show that since 1967, South Central Bell's overall rates in Kentucky have gone up 91 percent, while the nationwide CPI for all items has jumped 189 percent. Gas and electricity have increased 308 percent, home ownership is up 279 percent, and water and sewage have risen 228 percent.

Willett added that other statistical measurements also show that telephone service is more affordable than ever.

"All of the following have declined steadily over the years: the working time needed to pay one month's basic service; the percentage of household income needed to pay one month's basic service; and the percentage of monthly Social Security benefits needed to pay one month's basic service."

"It's obvious that telephone service is one of the best bargains in a family's budget. In fact, the average monthly bill for residence customers in Kentucky—including all optional services and long-distance charges—is less than $39, and that compares well with other monthly expenses, such as gasoline, heating and cooling, and entertainment."

Johnson Gas Retaliates With a Suit of Its Own

Threatened with bankruptcy, the Johnson County Gas Co. has turned on its supplier, Columbia Gas of Kentucky, with a $55 million damage action of its own.

The action by Johnson County Gas is a countersuit filed in answer to Columbia's federal court petition asking that the Johnson system be declared bankrupt. The company claims its sales, collections and business reputation have been damaged by Columbia's demand it be placed in the hands of an interim receiver.

Johnson Gas serves about 600 customers in the Van Lear area and in parts of northern Floyd county.

Walters To Chair Annual Phonathon

Walter P. Walters has accepted the position as honorary chairman of the 1983 Pikeville College Phonathon for the second consecutive year. Sporting the theme, SUPPORT PC IN '83, the annual Phonathon is scheduled to begin Monday, March 17 and continue through Thursday, March 24.

A Pikeville College trustee emeritus, Walters served as a member of the Board of Trustees from 1970-1978 as well as serving on that group's executive committee.

During the 1978 commencement exercises, Pikeville College awarded Walters an honorary doctoral degree for his outstanding service to the college and the community.

After attending the Pikeville Collegiate Institute from 1916 to 1918, Walters was graduated from the Stanton Military Academy and Transylvania University. He is the son of the late Dr. W.J. Walters and Mary Elizabeth Syck Walters. His mother was a member of the first graduating class of Pikeville Collegiate Institute in 1894.

Walters and his wife, the former Judy Fitzpatrick, of Prestonsburg, have four children. He is president and director of the First National Bank, has been involved in various civic and community activities.

Approximately 125 volunteers will be making calls this year on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday evenings between 7 and 9 p.m. and on Sunday afternoon between 2 and 4 p.m., beginning March 17 and continuing through March 24.

Benefits under the Black Lung Benefits Reform Act of 1977 are administered by the U.S. Department of Labor's Office of Workers' Compensation Programs.

In its petition, Columbia Gas also seeks to recover from the Johnson County company about $222,000, a figure it says is increasing daily, for gas Columbia says it has already supplied but has not been paid for. Columbia contends that Johnson County Gas is being mismanaged and is plagued by a cash flow problem.

Danny and Betty Preston, owners of Johnson County Gas, say Columbia's petition is an attempt by the Columbus, Ohio-based company to gain control of their business.

In their countersuit, the Prestons deny that their business is on the rocks and say that an investigation last year by the Public Service Commission backs up their claim.

The Prestons say Columbia's petition that Johnson County Gas be declared bankrupt "resulted in bad faith on Columbia's part by attempting to either gain control of Johnson County at the expense of its customers or other creditors or to impose a surcharge on its customers without the approval of the Kentucky Public Service Commission."

Johnson County Gas maintains that it has suffered losses of sales, collections and business reputation in the amount of $500,000.

It also seeks compensatory damages of $5 million. In addition, it asks that Columbia's petition be dismissed.

Help Find Jobs For Handicapped

Improved job finding services for persons with handicaps are now available at the Kentucky Job Service office in Prestonsburg.

Among the new services available through the Cabinet for Human Resources are updated skill and aptitude tests for the hearing impaired, the blind and people with physical handicaps. The new procedures are now available at local Kentucky Job Service offices, according to Human Resources Secretary Buddy Adams.

"Approximately 10 to 15 percent of Kentucky's job seekers have some type of physical limitation," Adams said. "With these new procedures and tests, we hopefully can better aid these people in finding jobs."

Job Service of Kentucky is part of a nationwide network of employment service offices. There is no fee charged for any of the services offered through Job Service.

Persons in this area wishing to take advantage of the services available through Kentucky Job Service should call or visit the office located at North Lake Dr. in Prestonsburg. The telephone number is (606) 886-2396.

Exceptional Children Proposal Discussed

The Kentucky State Department of Education will hold public hearings on Kentucky's plan for the education of exceptional children. The plan must be submitted to the U.S. Department of Education for approval. Approval of this plan will result in Kentucky receiving federal funds for the school years 1983-84, 1984-85, and 1985-86.

The major portion of these funds will flow through to local school districts to assist them in paying for the excess costs involved in providing special education and related services to exceptional children.

Five public hearings on the plan will be conducted, including one at Jenny Wiley State Park, March 22, 1-5 p.m. All interested persons are invited to attend. Those interested will be given an opportunity to comment, and should review the plan in advance.

In addition, anyone wishing to do so may submit written comments to the Bureau of Education for Exceptional Children, Division of Supporting Services, Capital Plaza Tower, 8th Floor, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

★ Cancer Hopeline

Q. I have a rash around the nipple area of both breasts. It has not gone away in four weeks. Could it indicate breast cancer, and should I see a doctor?

A. Inflammation of the breast and nipple is fairly common, but you should definitely see a doctor since the condition has persisted for weeks.

The nipple is an active part of the body. Any part of the body that is subject to repeated friction is likely to become inflamed, and the nipple is no exception.

A poorly fitting bra or sensitivity to the fabric of which it is made are the most common causes of breast rashes. An allergic reaction also may result from use of perfumes or bath powders. It is important that a relatively minor inflammation be distinguished from Paget's disease, an ulceration of the nipple which may occur when cancer is present in the ducts of the breast. Ordinary rashes such as described usually respond well within two weeks to removal of the irritant and use of an antibiotic ointment.

Whenever a nipple inflammation fails to go away after two weeks of treatment by a physician, it is important to look further for a diagnosis by biopsying the nipple. This is a minor surgical procedure in which the patient is under light anesthetic. The cells removed are then examined for cancer cells under a microscope. The outlook for patients with Paget's disease is excellent if a biopsy is taken early.

Do you have questions about breast cancer and other breast conditions? The Cancer Hopeline has a number of brochures which can be of help to you. One explains how to perform breast self-examination, a simple procedure that, performed once a month, could save your life. The principle behind it is simple, too: you know your body best, even better than your doctor, so take the time to examine your breasts regularly once a month. Remember that the breasts change day by day, that most lumps are not cancer, but that any lump or other irregularity that persists for more than two weeks should be reported to a physician.

For more information, call the Cancer Hopeline toll free 1-800-432-9321 from 9-5 weekdays. Written requests may be sent to 915 South Limestone Street, Lexington, KY 40536.

In March 1981, both women and men workers had completed a median of 12.7 years of schooling, the U.S. Department of Labor reports.

Kentucky Afield

SPORTSMAN'S SURVEY
Kentucky has a total of 1,052,600 fishermen and 391,600 hunters, according to the recently completed 1980 National Survey of Fishing, Hunting and Wildlife-Associated Recreation. This survey, a joint effort of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Survey and the U.S. Bureau of the Census, gives us a good look at the nation's sportsmen with some interesting figures emerging from the many statistical tables in the report.

For one thing, the survey shows that the average hunter in Kentucky spends a total of 18 days in the field each year. He apparently likes to hunt a little better than the average angler likes to fish, since the average Kentucky fisherman spends 16 days on the water annually.

If your spouse is complaining about the money you spend on hunting or fishing, you might want to see how you compare to our average hunter, whose annual outlay came to $368, or the average fisherman, who spent $309 in 1980. Fishermen spent more of this money on travel ($114) each than did hunters, who used only $82 each for travel.

The total expenditures from fishermen amounted to almost $263 million, and hunters spent another $121 million. That's $384 million that Kentucky sportsmen contribute to the state's economy, with $152 million of that being related directly to travel. Around 20 percent of this travel money came from out-of-state fishermen and hunters traveling into Kentucky.

Out of Kentucky's total population, 19.5 are exclusively fishermen, 2.1 only hunt and 9.9 percent both hunt and fish. This means that 31.5 percent of our residents are sportsmen, a little bit ahead of the national average, which is 27.5 percent of the total population, but quite a bit behind the state with the highest percentage of hunters and fishermen—Alaska, with 54 percent.

The District of Columbia has the lowest percentage of sportsmen—only 10 percent of those living in the nation's capital hunt or fish. The second lowest is New Jersey (16.4 percent), then Massachusetts (16.8 percent).

A large number of Kentucky fishermen are actually fisherwomen—46.6 percent of all anglers are female. Women hunters, on the other hand, comprise only 3.9 percent of the total number of hunters in Kentucky.

Fishermen tend to start young—32 percent experienced their first fishing trip before they were eight years old, and almost 70 percent fished before they were 15. Among hunters, 43.2 percent had their first experience with the sport between the ages of 12 and 15, the largest single category and obviously the best time, most adults feel, to introduce a youngster to the sport.

Among other things, this survey shows that hunting and fishing remain popular sports which are enjoyed by around one-third of all Kentuckians. Hunting and fishing also represent a multi-million dollar business in Kentucky and make important contributions to the state's economy and tourism industry.

KEA Adopts Legislative Package

Kentucky Education Association (KEA) delegates have adopted a 31-point legislative program to take to Frankfort when the 1984 General Assembly convenes.

The items fall under six major headings: foundation program, fringe benefits/working conditions, professional negotiations, retirement, teacher rights, and miscellaneous. Delegates decided not to assign priority status to any of the six.

As in previous legislative programs, KEA will seek to increase Kentucky teachers' salaries to the level of the average salary of teachers in the seven surrounding states and to increase the average per pupil expenditure to equal that of the same seven states.

Delegates, meeting here, also committed KEA to work for a strong professional negotiations law to require bargaining between recognized teacher organizations and boards of education.

Among features to be included are a broad scope of negotiable items, exclusive representation, binding arbitration as the final step in both a grievance procedure and an impasse procedure, and resolution of unfair labor practices.

KEA also will seek legislation mandating a minimum three days of personal leave, a duty-free lunch period and a daily planning period of 30 consecutive minutes for all teachers without extending the school day, and class size maximums of 20 students for kindergarten, 25 for grades 1 through 3, 27 grades 4 through 6, and 30 for grades 7 through 12. Improved health benefits also will be sought.

Delegates called for keeping the Teachers' Retirement System actuarially sound, separate, and independent from all other retirement systems. They also want years of service reduced from 30 to 25 without penalty, along with a law mandating that each teacher upon retirement be compensated for a minimum of 30% of his or her unused sick leave days.

KEA's legislative program asks for state financing for a new pre-college curriculum approved recently by Kentucky's Council on Higher Education. Delegates noted that in some school districts the new requirement may mean courses will have to be added.

Delegates want a law establishing a seniority and certification system to govern situations involving system-wide teacher layoffs. They also called for state and federal Equal Rights Amendments and a law providing for teacher participation in school-system decisions on how money is spent for instructional materials and supplies.

“Neighbor Helping Neighbor” Aim of Power Company Plan

Kentucky Power Company announced last week that it will initiate a “Neighbor Helping Neighbor” program to assist needy customers with their electric bills this winter. Under this program the company will establish a fund and offer each of its customers the opportunity to help less fortunate neighbors in paying their electric bills.

Robert E. Matthews, president of Kentucky Power, in describing the program, said: “The company has pledged a total of $30,000 of its own funds toward this effort. Initially, $10,000 will be contributed by the company to establish the fund and then voluntary contributions from customers will be matched by the company to a total of an additional $20,000. Company contributions will be from stockholder funds and not money paid by the rate-payers.

“The combination of customer and company donations will be set aside in a separate account and will be audited by an independent auditing firm, Deloitte Haskins and Sells, certified public accountants, which has donated its services. Every cent of donations and company matching funds will be used to assist needy customers.”

Matthews also said that the company’s employees earlier were informed of the program and their participation is being encouraged along with the company’s 144,000 residential, commercial, and industrial customers.

He went on: “The ‘Neighbor Helping Neighbor’ program will assist a segment of our customers in this time of very great need. It will also give eastern Kentuckians who are more fortunate an opportunity to join together in helping their fellow citizens.”

Matthews stated that the company is in the process of working out details and has been in contact with Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources for its assistance in qualifying needy customers. He stated: “We recognize that there are other assistance programs, specifically the Home Energy Assistance Plan and winterization programs, but we felt that more should and could be done.”

He added that the program will be available to customers of the company throughout its 20-county service area. Customers served by the company will be able to check a box on their electric bills and identify the amount of contribution they are enclosing.

“There are many other details now being worked out by the company, but it is anticipated that the program can be started soon, hopefully before the end of the month. All of the administrative costs involved will be absorbed by Kentucky Power. A public announcement will be made when the company is ready to begin accepting donations,” Matthews concluded.

Pikeville College Chorale Plans Tour

The Pikeville College Chorale is making final preparations for its 10-day European concert tour in June. The Chorale will present four concerts of American choral music featuring songs from our region by Stephen Foster and John Jacob Niles.

The Chorale has been making preparations since October, 1981. Fund raising activities have included numerous concerts, an auction, selling chocolate and concessions at the college basketball games. The group has also received generous support from the community.

The total number of participants includes 25 students, several alumni, professors from the college and people from the community.

The group will depart Pikeville by bus Sunday, June 5 for Huntington from where they will fly to New York City. The tour begins from Luxembourg and stops include Strasbourg, France with its famous Gothic cathedral, the picturesque Swiss community of Andermatt, spectacular Venice with its St. Mark’s cathedral, Bridge of Sighs and Doge’s Palace.

The group’s itinerary also includes a visit to the “art capital of the world,” Florence, Italy. There the participants will see Michelangelo’s magnificent “David” and many other artistic treasures of Western civilization. Florence also includes the Pitti Palace, Cuomo cathedral and the Ponte Vecchio, a wooden bridge lined with shops. Paris, the beautiful “city of lights,” will introduce such famous sites as the Eiffel Tower, Arc de Triomphe and Notre Dame cathedral.

Participants will have the opportunity to become acquainted with the sites to be visited through a series of lectures, films and readings being offered by the college during the weeks prior to the trip. Those who complete the preparatory classes in conjunction will receive humanities credit from the college.

Jeffrey Sandborg, assistant professor of music at Pikeville College and director of the College Chorale, has announced that there is room for extra travelers. Anyone interested in accompanying the Chorale may write Sandborg at Box 1, Pikeville College, or call 437-9908.

Apprenticeship in the United States is expanding its scope to encompass more and more occupations that require a formal system of training and education, the U.S. Department of Labor reports.

Author of 'Dollmaker' To Be at Appalshop

Noted Appalachian author Harriette Simpson Arnow will give a reading at the Appalshop Theater in Whitesburg, Thursday, Feb. 24, at 7 p.m. Admission is free.

Mrs. Arnow will speak about ways that people lived in frontier times, the movement of mountain people from the land to the cities, and what she sees for the future. Can we return to the land, now that robots are replacing people in the factories?

Her most famous novel, "The Dollmaker," deals with a family which moved from the hills of Kentucky to Detroit during World War II. A three-hour television feature presentation of The Dollmaker, starring Jane Fonda, is being produced for showing next fall.

Harriette Arnow was born in Wayne County, Kentucky, and educated at Burnside, Kentucky, at Berea College and the University of Louisville.

RAY TURNER FOR SENATOR

The freedom to choose the men and women we send to Frankfort to make our laws is one of our most precious rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States. The person we vote for can change the way we live, can change the way we earn our living, can change the way our money is taxed and can change the way our children are educated.

Today is the day to start thinking about the person we will be sending to Frankfort as our next senator. Are we really satisfied with the way things are?

Counseling Program Gives MSU Students A Second Chance

Choosing the wrong field of study...personal problems...too much socializing...

Any of these circumstances can lead to academic problems in college. And such problems may cause a student to "flunk out" of school.

To minimize such possibilities, Morehead State University established its REAP operation (Re-entry Program for Students on Academic Probation) more than five years ago.

"This program is designed to help students who have been on academic probation for two semesters and, as a result, are candidates to be dropped from school but whom we believe have the potential to improve their academic performance," said Jenny Crager, academic counselor at MSU and REAP coordinator.

Students are selected for REAP by the MSU's Scholarship and Retention Committee. To enter the program they must be willing to accept the following conditions:

- *Scheduled counseling and study sessions.
- *Prescribed and restricted class schedule.
- *Periodic staff review of academic and social records.
- *100 percent class attendance/report absence to counselor.

If a student doesn't want to enter REAP or fails to follow the program's conditions, he or she must sit out one semester before being considered for readmission to MSU.

But that usually doesn't happen. "Our success rate is very good," Mrs. Crager said. "Most students are very appreciative of being given another chance to improve their academic standing. They are very cooperative."

According to Mrs. Crager, finding the reason why a student has been making poor grades is her primary job. "Once we find out why they have been having academic difficulties, it makes the rest of our job much easier," she says.

Mrs. Crager tries to be more than just an academic counselor to her students. She tries to help them with their personal problems, as well. "Letting a student know that he or she has a place to come and talk is as important as anything I do," she stated. "I want to counsel my students, not push and shove them."

Mrs. Crager finds her job very rewarding. "I haven't been to a graduation in the last four years when there wasn't at least one student graduating who had been in REAP," she stated. "And, usually, there are three or four."

"That is a good feeling."

History, Music Mix At Natural Bridge

Natural Bridge State Resort Park will offer a unique mix of history and music Feb. 18 and 19.

The park is sponsoring a lecture by park naturalist Wilson Frances on "Ghost Railroads of the Red River Gorge" on Friday evening. The 8 p.m. lecture concerns the strong relationship the gorge area has with rail-roading.

On Saturday afternoon, folk singer Anne Albin will conduct a workshop on mountain ballads. At 8 p.m. Mrs. Albin will be joined by husband Dick and famed local entertainer Lily May Ledford for a concert. Ledford was a member of the Coon Creek Girls, a group that was a fixture on the Renfro Valley country music radio show for many years.

As an added enticement, Natural Bridge is offering two nights' lodging for the price of one. More information on reservations may be obtained by contacting the park in Powell County at (606) 663-2214.

Parks Offer Discount

The Department of Parks is breaking with tradition to offer a winter discount on cottages at most state resort parks.

Parks Commissioner Lou Karibo said the rate reductions, which go into effect immediately, are in response to a sluggish economy. "During times like these, we want to do everything we can to make staying at state parks as attractive as possible," Karibo said. "State park lodging is already a good value, but we want to make it even more so this winter."

The department has for several years reduced room rates in state resort lodges for the winter, but has maintained year-round rates for cottages, he noted. The discount averages 15 percent, depending on the size and location of the cottage. For a one-bedroom unit that normally costs $48 a night, the winter rate is $40, for instance. The reductions last through March 31, Karibo said.

As an added incentive, the department is offering two weekend nights for the price of one at the same parks participating in the discount program. The special rate applies on Friday and Saturday night stays, or Saturday and Sunday night visits.

Four state resort parks are not taking part in the discounts at this time. Three of them—Buckhorn Lake, Pennyrite, and Greenbo Lake—are closed for the season. General Butler has been offering special, weekday ski-packages at both cottages and lodge rooms this winter. Those packages will apply through Feb. 24. Then, during March, Butler will join the other parks with the special discounts.

Pikeville College Continuing Ed. Offers Wide Variety of Courses

The Pikeville College Center for Continuing Education is offering several classes during the 1983 spring semester. Courses in saving money, getting a job, and staying fit will be available to all interested persons.

Remember the time you were stuck on the road and you weren't out of gas? A course in Auto Mechanics is tailored to the specific needs of the women and men of our community who want to become fully acquainted with their automobile. Trouble shooting (windshield wipers won't work), maintenance, and skills will be covered. Also, you will learn some automotive jargon in an effort to enhance your ability to communicate with your mechanic when those "big" things go wrong. The class will be held March 9-30 on Wednesdays from 7:00-9:00 p.m. at Wayne Supply. Doug Tackett, shop foreman at Wayne Supply, is the instructor.

Cake Decorating will cover proper preparation and frosting of cakes as well as offering instruction in basic pastry decorating and creating cakes for special occasions. Students will learn how to use various tips to create flowers, leaves, borders and shells and how to write on cakes. Carolyn Muncy will instruct students March 9-April 19 on Tuesdays from 5:00-6:30 p.m. at St. David's Episcopal Church.

In a Home Gardening Workshop February 15-March 22, students will learn to plan his/her garden, select seeds, and grow transplants. Fertilizer recommendations, disease control, insect control, and pest control will also be taught. Mary Ellen Stumbo, County Extension Agent for Agriculture, will begin classes on Tuesdays at 7:00 p.m. in room 220 of the Administration Building at Pikeville College.

A Food Preservation Workshop on Tuesdays at 7:00 p.m. April 5-May 17 will give students the opportunity to learn about getting ready for the preservation season, freezing fruits and vegetables, canning fruits and vegetables, and making jams and jellies. Students will also learn about making pickles and relishes and drying fruits and vegetables. Classes will be taught by Carol L. Bailey, County Extension Agent for Home Economics, at the First Presbyterian Church.

Karen Carlton, who has a B.S. degree in fashion merchandising from the University of Kentucky and who has worked as a buyer and fashion coordinator for both Shillitos of Cincinnati and Foly's of Houston, will teach Investment Dressing which will include personal color, quality fabric and construction, shopping well for less money, wardrobing for trendy or classic clothes, and other money saving tips for investment dressing. An illustrated eight page handout will be distributed at the class. One session will be held Thursday, March 17 in Wickham Lounge, located in Wickham Hall at Pikeville College. Persons age 13-25 will meet from 5:00-7:00 p.m., and those age 25 and older will meet from 7:00-9:00 p.m.

The Pikeville office of the Kentucky Department for Manpower Services at 216 College Street is offering two workshops to assist job seekers. The Employability Skills Training is for "non-job ready" applicants, those who require more exposure to career choice information and the expectations of the work-world, due to their limited experience. The classroom training consists of two seven-hour sessions, along with job placement services. Job skills training is a shorter one-day session for "job ready" applicants, persons who know their job fields and simply need to know the where's, what's, and how's of finding work.

Sessions are scheduled monthly and are free. Eleanor Bergman or Sue Charles can be contacted for more information and a schedule of classes at 437-6221.

An intensive course in the elements of touch typewriting, setting margins, learning keys, centering problems, and simple letter typing will be taught Mondays from 6:30-8:00 p.m., March 7-April 18 in room 306 of the Administration Building at Pikeville College. This course is designed for the student with no knowledge of typewriting.

A structured program in the basics of photography will be offered March 9-April 20 on Wednesday evenings from 7:00-8:30 p.m. in room 202 of the Science Building at Pikeville College. Emphasis is on the theory of photography and more understanding of the operations and use of camera equipment. The last part of the course will be devoted to application of the techniques and effects the student has learned. Black and white darkroom techniques will be included to give the student a better base to build from. Tracy Huffman, co-owner of Huffman-Richardson Photography, is the instructor.

An introduction to Bookkeeping for Small Businesses will help business owners with the basics of record keeping. Instructions will include how to organize and the importance of home records and personal records, how to balance your checkbook and other basic bookkeeping tips. Tivis Newsome will instruct students March 7-April 18 on Monday evenings from 6:30-8:00 p.m.

Fencing will introduce students to the basic techniques of swordmanship, the foot work, attacks and parries of foil fencing. In addition, students will learn something about the historical development of fencing and the rudiments of judging a fencing bout. Equipment is not included in the price of the class and can be ordered through the instructor, Dr. Robert Delk. Classes, taught on Mondays from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in room 213 of the Administration Building, will begin March 7 and continue through April 18.

Harvey Tackett will conduct a Tennis Workshop with participants learning and practicing the basic grips, forehand and backhand, serves and ball handling in drill situations. Rules of the game are covered and put into practice in actual play. Students

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

The extent to which a drug will retain its effectiveness is often a function of its age. The type of coating on a pill, its exposure to air, the temperature and the bottle type can all affect a drug's potency. On occasion, age is not critical. For instance, when moisture seeps into a bottle of aspirin, it will simply render it harmless over a period of time, neither good, nor bad. However, a drug, such as an antibiotic, may undergo chemical changes after its expiration date which make it potentially harmful. For example, taking an antibiotic after the expiration date can result in a serious liver disorder.

It is very important to always read all of the directions on a medication bottle. Always carefully follow these directions and never take the medication if the expiration date has past. And of course, if you have any questions about your prescription, don't hesitate to contact us at COOLEY APOTHECARY, INC. That's one of the reasons we're here. You can find us at #2 Town Center Bldg., where we're open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-4. 886-8106

Year's Coal Production Drops

The Kentucky Coal Journal reports that 1982 coal production in the state dropped by 5.7 percent from 1981 levels.

According to the Journal, Kentucky production in 1982 was 146.7 million tons, down 9 million tons from the 1981 total.

The drop in Kentucky reflected the condition of the markets for most of last year, when orders by utilities and steel companies plunged. Utilities had amassed huge stockpiles, and eased orders when demand for electricity dropped. Steel companies, meanwhile, eased production to levels nearly 50 percent of capacity, reducing the need for metallurgical coal.

The nation's preliminary coal production total for 1982 was 819.8 million tons, just 1.4 million tons higher than the total of 1981.

The Journal cited statistics compiled by the U.S. Energy Department showing that western Kentucky's production last year was down 4.8 million tons, or 10.8 percent, from the 1981 total, while eastern Kentucky production was off 4 million tons, or 3.7 percent.

The Journal said that Kentucky's overall production in 1982 was its lowest since 1979, when 144.3 million tons were recovered.

Production for each month of 1982—except March, April, May and June—trailed production figures for the corresponding months of 1981, the Journal said. The four months in which 1982 production was higher reflected the slack period of 1981, when the United Mine Workers were off the job in a 72-day contract strike, which ran from March 26 to June 6.

Production in the first half of 1982 was about 13.6 million tons higher than 1981 levels, but the gain was not as significant as it would appear because of how the UMW strike affected the 1981 total for the same period, the Journal said.

Meanwhile, the Journal reported that four rail lines that haul coal from Kentucky transported 96 million tons in 1982.

The Seaboard System, which includes the former Louisville & Nashville Railroad, moved about 50.7 million tons, while the Norfolk & Western Railway and the Illinois Central-Gulf Railroad moved about 15.4 million and about 6.2 million tons, respectively.

Selecting Vegetable Varieties

By DWIGHT E. LESLIE,
County Extension Agent

Many of you have already received and are looking through the new seed catalogs for the 1983 gardening season. Several new varieties of vegetables are being offered as are several new garden products. Before you order your seeds and supplies this season, take a close look at what is being offered to you. Look through several gardening catalogs, comparing prices, variety and products before you order. How do you choose among the enormous variety of vegetables listed? Here are some tips you can follow.

First, check to see if the variety listed is resistant or tolerant to common diseases which might affect your garden. Seed catalogs generally provide this type of information along with the variety's description. Resistance generally refers to a plant's ability to remain free of disease symptoms, whereas tolerance refers to a plant's ability to sustain the effects of the disease without suffering serious loss. Planting resistant or tolerant varieties is one of the most effective ways for the home gardener to avoid disease problems.

Next, check the variety's growing requirements. Soil conditions, fertility requirements, moisture requirements, as well as several other climatic conditions can play a vital role in the success you have with a particular variety. Make sure the variety you select will grow under the conditions present in your particular situation. The plant's maturity is the key to success in your gardening season.

Last, make sure the variety you select will meet your particular needs. Whether you plan to use the vegetable for home use or for sale to the consumer, the variety you choose to plant should meet the qualifications needed for the intended use.

The Floyd County Extension Office has a publication entitled, "Vegetable Cultivars for Kentucky Gardens—1983" which list the varieties best suited for Kentucky gardens. These are available free upon request by coming by the office or calling at 886-2668.

VIDEO GAMES

"Video games are quickly becoming one of America's favorite pastimes," says Attorney General Steven L. Beshear. "The video game market is crowded and lively. Manufacturers come and go. Old models are discontinued and new ones take their place."

A video game consists of a central console that houses the game's electronic parts. The console also contains the controls for setting up and choosing the number of players. Controls on each machine's console allow selection from various game formats and skill levels. The console plugs into an ordinary wall outlet. An "antenna junction box" attaches the game to any television set. A switch on the box enables you to choose program-viewing or game-playing. As of now, there is no evidence to indicate that the junction box in any way damages the television set.

To play the game, turn the television to channel 3 (channel 4 can be used with most games if a strong local station broadcasts on 3) and flip the junction box switch to game playing. In most cases, it is necessary to adjust the fine-tuning to get a good picture.

A typical game matches player against machine. Some games allow one player to compete directly against another. Most popular games have a feature that helps prevent boredom—the longer the playing time or the higher the score, the harder the game becomes. Another feature is a choice of skill levels—at the easiest level, there may be fewer hazards, or the game's action may be slower. As skill improves, the game may be set to progress to more difficult skill levels.

In an effort to prevent video games from becoming monotonous, the makers of the machines and independent manufacturers market a variety of game cartridges. A video game cartridge will range in price from $25 to $50.

Video games are designed, engineered and produced to meet the manufacturer's own safety specifications and tests as well as those of Underwriters Laboratories and government agencies. These steps are taken in order to prevent potential electrical problems.

"If used in accordance with instructions provided," says Attorney General Beshear, "these products are safe. However, rough handling, non-professional servicing attempts or improper use might impair the product and convert a safe product into one that could be unsafe. Follow the instructions, use good common sense, and the product will serve you well."

Choosing a video game can be a confusing task. There are hundreds of models, ranging in price from $150 to $300. "When shopping for a video game, watch a demonstration and select the format most suitable to your needs. Be sure to check out the availability of accessories and, as with any purchase, be sure to read and understand the terms of the warranty before making your purchase," added Beshear.

If you have any consumer problems or questions relating to home video games, call or write the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, 209 St. Clair Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601-1875. The toll free Consumer Hotline is 1-800-432-9257.

Some energy saving reminders for the whole family. (Clip and Save.)

Stick these ideas on your refrigerator.

MAGNET GOES HERE

The more you use, the more energy you'll save.

1. Whenever possible, use a toaster, toaster-oven or an electric frypan instead of your large oven or range.
2. Never use the oven as a heater.
3. Place pans on the surface units of your range before you turn on the heat.
4. Use a small amount of water when boiling eggs and vegetables. Use tight-fitting lids, too.
5. Place the most often used items in the front of your refrigerator shelves so you can get to them quickly.
6. Make sure refrigerator door seals are tight, free of grease.
7. Don't wash your dishes until you've got a full load. That's usually after dinner.
8. Turn off the lights, radio and TV before you leave.
9. Don't let the hot water run while you're shaving. Fill the sink halfway instead.
10. If you can, use an electric razor. It uses less energy in a year than the hot water your hand razor uses in a week.
11. Set your water heater's temperature at a moderate 140°F or as low as possible to allow for enough hot water.
12. Take shorter showers.
13. Wash and dry only full loads of clothes.
14. Keep your thermostat at 68° or less in the winter, at least 78° in the summer.
15. In winter, open drapes and shades to let sun heat your home. When sun sets, close them.
16. In summer, close drapes and shades to keep your home from getting overheated.
17. Don't heat or cool unused rooms. Close them off.
18. Keep the damper on your fireplace closed when not in use.

Fish and Game Club Reps Voice Protest To Deer Season Plan

At Sunday's fish and wildlife federation meeting at John's Creek, state officials were told by area sportsmen that a repeat of this past November's deer season in which a large number of illegal as well as legal kill figures were recorded, must not occur this year.

Representatives of the Dewey Lake Fish and Game Club voiced their official protest by way of a letter outlining a strictly regulated season which would allow a month long bow hunting season while restricting gun hunters to a limited number to be chosen by random drawing as in some other game preserve areas of the state.

That the wishes of the club and other area sportsmen might be heeded by the state was suggested in the fact, according to a spokesman for the Dewey Lake group, that the recommendations of a state deer specialist present at the meeting were aligned almost exactly with club suggestions. The state specialist called for a two-week bow season and a limited gun hunt, it was said.

Several weeks ago letters were sent to Bill Graves, Director of Wildlife Resources for the state, by the Dewey Lake Fish and Game Club as well as the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club who expressed similar concern.

Question: What is the difference between a Peugeot 505 S and a Mercedes-Benz?

Answer: About $20,000 and a $10 Mercedes-Benz nameplate.

This is how much car you should expect for $15,000 today.

From the second-largest carmaker in Europe comes a special edition of the Peugeot 505: the model 505STI, powered by a fuel-injected gasoline engine.

The seats are upholstered in soft, supple leather.

The low-profile wheels are made of alloy, fitted with high-performance Michelin TRX® radial tires.

Even the colors are special: a metallic claret and a classic black.

The $15,215* price of the Peugeot 505STI also includes this impressive roster of equipment:

• Air conditioning, factory-installed

- Power-assisted steering
- Power-assisted 4-wheel disc brakes
- Cruise control
- Electric sunroof
- Electric windows
- Central locking system—a twist of the key locks all four doors and fuel-filler door
- Digital AM/FM 40-watt stereo radio with cassette player, scan tuning, and four speakers
- Automatic electric antenna
- Multi-adjustable driver's seat
- Tachometer
- Limited-slip differential.

The Peugeot 505STI is so fully equipped that there is only one option, a 3-speed automatic transmission ($370) in place of the 5-speed over-drive manual gearbox.

Also available are Peugeot 505 models with diesel, turbo-diesel, and fuel-injected gasoline engines, priced from $17,850 to $11,865*.

See your dealer for details of Peugeot's limited warranties.

*Manufacturer's P.O.E. suggested retail prices. Actual prices may vary according to dealer. Destination charges ($255), state and local taxes, dealer preparation, if any, and license fees are extra.

The time for each will be 10:30 a.m. Mrs. Pitts said she needs to know in advance the number who expect to attend the first and the last of these three workshops. The president, discussed with the group the possible continuation of the countywide luncheon-meetings that have been held at the First United Methodist Church here during the past few years. It was decided that these events were successful, and would continue to be held.

Mrs. Pitts and some of the members demonstrated the steps to be used in smocking, and most of the members participated.

By J.T. YURKO

Kirk Douglas is sitting at the dinner table on his multiacre ranch, which looks like it might be the Ponderosa. He's wearing the standard Western garb that reinforces that idea: with a six-gun and Winchester rifle always handy nearby. One might almost expect a group of Indians to come riding through the background.

But the only thing that might pass through this background would be a hopping kangaroo. This ranch is in Australia, even though the time setting is 1888, vintage Wild West days. Douglas says to his dinner guests, "They said 'Go West, young man,' so I did — all the way to Australia!"

Although the film is titled "The Man from Snowy River" and stars Kirk Douglas, this motion picture is another import made "down under" and released here. It's a Western in the sense of cattle drives and wild horses, but done in a manner unlike the domestic variety of Western.

"The Man from Snowy River" might better be titled "The Boy Who Becomes the Man from Snowy River." This is a rite-of-passage film where the boy must learn to fend for himself. He faces his obstacles, overcomes his fears and triumphs in the end. He even manages to find love along the way.

This is a harmless, hokey bit of Australian adolescent fiction, playing as simply as a Golden Book for young readers. The story is as predictable and simplistic as such a book might be, but it's just as easy and untaxing to take.

Douglas plays two roles here, portraying brothers who quarreled over a girl and haven't spoken for 20 years. He always lends a tone of quality to any film he's in, yet here we get the feeling he's retiring to Australia to do the kind of movies they don't make in the United States any more.

The film is rated "PG," and should be a welcome treat to parents who want to take their kids to the movies, but couldn't bear to sit through one more version of "Heidi."

ROCK ON

By Ethlie Ann Vare

UPDATE

In 1958, the song "Nel Blu Dipinto Di Blu" — better known as "Volare" — won the Grammy Award for Song of the Year and Record of the Year. Album of the Year was "Music from Peter Gunn" by Henry Mancini, and the best male and female artists were Perry Como and Ella Fitzgerald.

This year marks the Grammys' 25th anniversary. The ceremonies will air Feb. 23 on CBS. Here is a scorecard, for your reference, of the nominees in the pop and rock categories. If the titles tend toward the namby-pamby — well, "adventure" and "dating" were never the bywords of this electorate.

Still, names like Peter Gabriel, the Stray Cats and Joe Jackson make this a more eclectic list than some of its predecessors.

RECORD OF THE YEAR — "Ebony and Ivory" (Paul McCartney and Stevie Wonder); "Always on My Mind" (Willie Nelson); "Rosanna" (Toto); "Charlots of Fire" (Vangelis); "Steppin' Out" (Joe Jackson)

ALBUM OF THE YEAR — "Tug of War" (Paul McCartney); "Toto IV" (Toto); "Nylon Curtain" (Billy Joel); "The Nightfly" (Donald Fagen); "American Fool" (John Cougar)

SONG OF THE YEAR — "Ebony and Ivory," "Always on My Mind," "Eye of the Tiger," "Rosanna," "I.G.Y. (Beautiful World)"

FEMALE VOCAL, POP — Linda Ronstadt; Laura Branigan; Olivia Newton-John; Melissa Manchester

MALE VOCAL, POP — Elton John, Rick Springfield, Donald Fagen, Joe Jackson, Michael McDonald, Lionel Richie

GROUP OR DUO, POP — Paul McCartney & Stevie Wonder, Toto, Chicago, Daryl Hall & John Oates, Joe Cocker & Jennifer Warnes

MALE VOCAL, ROCK — Don Henley, John Cougar, Rick Springfield, Peter Gabriel, Rod Stewart

FEMALE VOCAL, ROCK — Linda Ronstadt, Bonnie Raitt, Donna Summer, Pat Benatar, Kim Carnes

GROUP OR DUO, ROCK — Asia, J. Geils, Survivor, Kenny Loggins & Steve Perry, Moon & Frank Zappa

NEW ARTIST — Jennifer Holiday, Human League, Men at Work, Stray Cats.

Claim Board's Voice One of Hesitation

Once again when the Floyd County Board of Education had an opportunity to do something that would have helped in the growth and development of education for Floyd county students, the voices that were heard were ones of hesitation.

This wait-and-see attitude was also the position taken when help was offered by the State Department of Education to upgrade the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills scores for counties which were among the lowest in the state.

The Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition, with their progressive legislation that would put dollars held by large out-of-state corporations into our local school system asked for an endorsement from our local board. They chose to "wait and see" and do something at the December meeting after some more studying.

The request for endorsement of an unmined minerals tax had been made at two previous board meetings. Page after page of information had been given to board members.

The dollars the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition is seeking, are dollars that are owed to the people of Kentucky. The minerals that are being mined are the minerals from our land. The resources taken from the state are a resource that cannot be replaced.

Educated children are another resource that has not been developed to the fullest. We only have to look at our county's poor showing in the CTBS scores to realize what is happening in education. If the shortsightedness and "wait and see" attitude continues on the part of our Floyd County Board of Education and school administrators, as it has in the past, the coal will be gone from the Eastern Kentucky hills and the educational future of our children will go with it.

JOYCE EVERLY

Prestonsburg, Ky.
(and six other members of the Floyd County Education Council)

Says KET Use Higher Than Ever In Schools

A 1981-82 KET school use survey indicates that use of KET in Kentucky classrooms is "higher than ever," according to KET Director of Education, Tim Tassie. All 180 public school districts report use of KET and 91 percent of all public schools use KET's instructional programs, the survey showed.

Kindness Remembered

Monday morning, Jan. 31, my friend Vickie and I were on our way to work, when all of a sudden the car died. We were going off the ramp turning on 80 to Prestonsburg. It was a very embarrassing situation. Not knowing what the problem was, I turned on the emergency flashers and kept trying to start the car. We got lots of impatient looks and several motorists squeezed by us on the right. Finally, a friend came up behind us and I gave her a phone number to call for help. Two other women stopped their cars, got out and asked if they could help.

While we were waiting, a green truck came up, stopped and a very nice man asked what he could do. After checking under the hood, he figured that the car was out of gas. He told us to leave the hood raised and he went to the nearest service station to get some gas.

A law-enforcement officer came by and asked, "Is anything wrong?" Then two highway trucks stopped and two very nice men pushed the car onto the shoulder.

When the man in the green truck came back, he had to cut a pepsi can to make a funnel; primed the carburetor and got the car started. He wouldn't accept any money and even followed behind to make sure we made it to a service station.

Thank you, Clinton Huff! I will never forget your kindness.

PHS Girls Down Wheelwright, 66-59

In a nip-and-tuck game played here last Tuesday, Prestonsburg's Lady Blackcats downed Wheelwright High School's Lady Trojans, 66-59.

Although Wheelwright took honors for the game's two leading scorers with Evelyn Boyd collecting 25 points and Mia Jones hitting for 20, the PHS attack was a bit more ballanced with four girls hitting in the teens.

Scoring for P'burg is as follows: McKenzie 7, Shepherd 14, Johnson 15, Deerfield 13, Reed 11, McKinney 4, and Harris 2.

For Wheelwright (besides Boyd and Jones) scorers were Hamby 2, Johnson 5, Justice 1 and Curry 8.

Sturgeon can live up to three hundred years.

THE HIGH COST OF NATURAL GAS SUPPLIES A BURDEN ON OUR PEOPLE

STATE SENATOR BENNY RAY BAILEY

"The increase in natural gas prices has forced us to make a choice between 'heat and eat.'"

This quote from a letter to Senator Benny Ray Bailey reflects a growing concern among our people about rapidly rising natural gas prices. It is important that we understand the reasons behind this increase and what we can do about it.

In 1978, the Federal Congress, reacting to what was thought to be a major shortage of natural gas supplies, passed the Natural Gas Policy Act. This Act encouraged producers to explore for "new" gas supplies by de-regulating the price they could charge for "new" supplies of gas discovered. Pipeline companies, eager to have a guaranteed supply of natural gas, entered into "take or pay" contracts which required them to take all, or practically all, of any "new" gas discovered—whether they needed the "new" gas or not. Faced with the contractual obligation to purchase this "new" gas, pipeline companies have chosen to simply pass along the higher priced "new" gas prices to customers instead of selling the "old" gas supplies which are available. The price of the "new" gas is not subject to regulation by the Kentucky Public Service Commission. The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, FERC, is the agency in charge.

This is a short summary of a very complex problem. The solution lies in new Federal legislation to regulate the supply of "new" gas supplies. Our Congressman, Carl D. Perkins, is working hard to restore controls on this "new" gas. All of us need to let him know that we support his efforts.

Adequate energy supplies at equitable rates must be supplied to our people. Our elderly and disabled, who must live on limited, fixed incomes, cannot afford to pay the prices currently being charged for these "new" gas supplies. Senator Benny Ray Bailey has contacted FERC and relayed to them the terrible burden these policies are placing on our people. Benny Ray Bailey listens to the problems of the people and acts to assist them. That's why we need to keep him on the job.

★ CANCER HOPELINE

Q. My doctor has prescribed hormone for my menopausal symptoms. Can't hormones cause cancer?

A. Hormone treatment, known as estrogen replacement therapy (ERT) is frequently used for easing certain uncomfortable symptoms for menopausal patients.

ERT may eliminate or reduce hot flashes and repair vaginal tissues, but it will not eliminate anxiety or depression, prevent or slow the aging process, increase sexual response or physical attractiveness, nor provide a feeling of well-being.

Women who take ERT should be aware of several documented risks and side effects which they may experience. The most serious is the increased risk of endometrial cancer (cancer of the lining of the uterus). Women taking high dosages of estrogen (a hormone) for five years or more are 5-15 times more likely to contract endometrial cancer than are women in the general population.

One group of doctors believes that the hormone progesterone taken along with the estrogen will counteract the risk of endometrial cancer.

If you and your doctor together decide that you should take ERT, it would be advisable for you to be monitored for endometrial cancer every six months. PAP smears cannot detect endometrial cancer.

There is some evidence that women who take ERT are also at greater risk of breast cancer, especially if they have also had a hysterectomy and removal of both ovaries. Gallstones and gall bladder attacks are also possible results of ERT.

You are seeing your doctor for unpleasant menopausal symptoms. Trust him/her enough to share your concerns about hormone treatment, and ask for the answers you need to make the right decision for you.

For more information call or write the Cancer Hopeline for our free brochure on hormone usage for women. Call us toll free from 9-9 Monday-Thursday or 9-5 Friday at 1-800-432-9321; write 915 South Limestone Street, Lexington 40536.

Outstanding Harness Racers Are Named

Harness racing's 10 outstanding performers of 1982, including three Kentucky-originated horses, have been honored by Harness Tracks of America, according to the Kentucky Harness Racing Commission.

The horses, each a champion at its age, sex and gait, have been selected by the racing secretaries of the 50-member association of the HTA.

The Kentucky horses honored include Three Diamonds, Free-For-All Genghis Khan, and Fortune Teller. Over one-third, nearly $2.4 million, of the total $5.6 million earned, was won by the three Kentucky-based harness horses.

Benjamin Franklin said, when explaining the American character to Europeans, "Do not inquire concerning a stranger, What he is, but, What can he do?"
