Citizens Group Asks School Board Ouster

Floyd school officials were taken by surprise last week when a citizens' group-in an unusual, perhaps unprecedented, move—called publicly for their removal from office.

After taking pains to maximize coverage by news media, eight members of an organization called the Floyd County Citizens Education Council (FCCEC) gathered in front of the Board of Education offices here last Wednesday to announce that they had asked Raymond Barber, state superintendent of public instruction, to oust Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr., and members of the Floyd school board.

In a prepared statement, Kathy Hatfield, of Drift, said members of the 'have come to the conclusion that we cannot afford to waste any more of the precious time of the children in this school system by waiting for its administration to develop the vision needed to solve its problems.

In its letter to Barber-which was signed by secretary-treasurer Joyce Everly, of Lancer, and corresponding secretary Ferne Ankrom, of Banner, as well as by Mrs. Hatfield-the citizens' group noted that state law provides for the dismissal of school officials for "incompetence and willful neglect.

The group also called for an investigation by the state auditor into "all aspects of this school system;" challenged school officials to come up with a plan for financing improvements needed in

Man Sought In Shooting At Lackey

Hazard State Police Post troopers continued their search Monday for a man suspected of shooting a 22-year-old Lackey woman in the back, killing her unborn child

A warrant for the arrest of the alleged gunman has been issued by Knott County District Judge Morgan, and the wounded woman has said she knows the name of the suspect, but authorities have declined to identify him. No reason for the secrecy has been made known.

The woman, 22-year-old Rosetta Hall, was shot in the back with a shotgun charge, around 1 a.m. last Tuesday, at the home of her brother, Bee Baldridge, who lives near the mouth of Jones Fork, at Lackey, barely on the Knott county side of the Floyd-Knott line. The shot struck her in the lower back, killing her seven-month-old fetus, investigators were quoted as saying.

The wounded woman was first taken to Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, and later transferred to the U.K. Medical Center in Lexington. Although her condition is said to indicate her recovery, the case assumes special interest because of the legal question posed by the death of the unborn child. State courts have allowed recovery of civil damages in the wrongful death of a fetus, but the state Supreme Court has upheld an opinion that a fetus is not a human being under Kentucky law.

the schools, and demanded implementation of policies calculated to "weaken the stranglehold of politics" on the school district and to "allow real input" in policymaking by teachers, students

Members of the school board include James A. Duff, of Hueysville, its vicechairman; Dr. J.D. Adams, of Prestonsburg; Dr. Mary Hall, of McDowell; and Ray "Shag" Campbell, of Banner. Adams has served 13 years on the board, the others about 11 years. John M. Stumbo, of Harold, a 31-year veteran of the board and its most recent chairman, resigned last month to become county judge-executive.

Supt. Grigsby succeeded the late Clark as superintendent in 1976. Prior to that he was for 13 years on the staff at McDowell High School, the last nine as assistant principal and coach, and was then for two years an assistant superintendent. He is approaching the last year of a second four-year term as superintendent. His contract would normally come up for consideration again next January.

Board members who spoke to The Times insisted this week that they have done nothing illegal; that many of the school district's shortcomings are the result of a lack of funds, and that problems experienced here are common to school districts across the nation.

"You can hear gripes and complaints all over the country, not just about the schools but about all phases of government," said board member Duff, a Hueysville grocer. "We're in no worse shape than any other school system."

He is considering suing his accusers for slander or defamation of character, Supt. Grigsby said Monday. "This is my livelihood, my profession for 25 years,' he said. "I've never had anyone call me incompetent before or accuse me of neglect. I take it very seriously and I will do anything I legally can to refute it.'

In its letter to Barber, the FCCEC alleged, as evidence of the superintendent's and board's "incompetency and neglect," textbook shortages, early dismissal of students, inadequately maintained buses, buildings in disrepair, insufficient internal control of funds, illogical hiring choices, a high dropout rate and low test scores, and illegal "back room" meetings.

To support its charges, the council distributed to the news media folders containing, among other documents, an April report by a state official critical of textbook management in the Floyd school district; documentation of early school dismissals; copies of bus inspection reports; reports on Allen grade school by state education and health officials; statements of some school activity funds; claims submitted by two firms for janitorial supplies; a record of gasoline said to have been purchased during the 1981-'82 school year by Supt. Grigsby and Asst. Superintendent Ronald L. Hager, and excerpts from the minutes of various board meetings.

The documentation is an indication of the close scrutiny under which some council members have held the board since 1978 when, as members of the since-defunct People for Better Schools, they pressed for the removal of asbestos from Prestonsburg High School.

Several members of the group have had their critical and organizing skills (See Story No. 6, Page 4) how many recall that two weeks ago we were all pretty well agreed that it was too cold and wet for anything but a seal.

The baseball news last week was downright sensational. Johnny Bench, the Reds' onetime great, announced that he will retire at the end of the season. But that wasn't the most sensational sports news. Both Carlton and Ryan broke the great Walter Johnson's strikeout record, but that was mere Page 2 stuff. What, then, was the big news? Simply this: the Cincinnati Reds had a winning streak of two whole

A LESSON FOR US ALL

Two youngsters, a black boy and a white, drowned in Dewey Lake last Sunday. One of the two is dead because he went to the rescue of the other.

At first I was tempted to ask was the heroic would-be rescuer, the white boy or the black, but then decided it didn't really matter.

The important point is, one of the boys, black or white; was in trouble and his friend-never mind the color of his skin-dared to help him.

So it was that there, in the presence of death, the color line was washed away. And this youngster, black or white, put to shame all the bigots and all of us who shed tears for the masses, for "suffering humanity" but are slow to lift a hand for a suffering individual.

Somewhat less forthright was the school administrators' response to complaints that students are sometimes dismissed as early as noon or 1 p.m. for sports and other activities.

CUTTING THE CAKE at the 50th birthday celebrations for the nation's employment service last Friday was James L. Reed, manager of the Department for Manpower Services here.

The employment service was created by the Wagner-Peyser Act under the Roosevelt Administration on June 6, 1983, when the national unemployment rate stood at 23 percent. While the principal function of the service is still to place individuals in jobs, many other services are now provided as well, Reed

The Manpower Services office will test worker skills for potential employers, will train people in how to find and hold a job, provides counseling for those having trouble on the job or looking for a better job, and is a source of labor

The service maintains extensive files on job applicants—13,540 are currently on file in the Prestonsburg office-and is linked by computer with state and national job banks. "There are very few occupations we couldn't fill," said Glenda Hall, counseling supervisor, with a touch of pride.

Reginald R. Hunter, 19, of Greensboror, N.C., a student at the Prestonsburg Job Corps Center, was swimming with others in the lake, an estimated 30 feet from the dam itself, when he apparently suffered cramps. Sixteen-year-old David S. Bradford, of Gastonia, N.C., also a Job Center corpsman, swam to his rescue. There was a brief struggle, and both youths submerged. The two drowned at about 3:30 p.m., Coroner Roger Nelson said. Dragging operations were begun shortly afterward by the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad, and the first body was recovered at 4:43 p.m.;

the second, five minutes later. The youths were at the lake on passes earned by their performances during training at the center, it was said. Hunter had been there since April 13; Bradford, since May 25

The bodies were taken to the Floyd Funeral Home and from there were taken Monday to the Lexington airport and flown to North Carolina for burial

ROUGH AS IT IS, the road from East Point to Auxier is one of the area's most beautiful drives, particularly at the East Point end where a stand of fine beeches overlooks the town and the Big Sandy River. But it has also been the site for years of one of the county's most extensive and malodorous illegal garbage dumps. Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc. put an end to the eyesore, at least temporarily, last Friday,

Displaced Homemakers In Food Service Class

The Displaced Homemaker Program at Prestonsburg Community College has recently completed a new food service class which carried Continuing Education credit. This class involved the cooperation of Prestonsburg Community College, Eastern Kentucky Comprehensive Employment Program and area food service employers. Sixty-five hours were spent in classroom training on topics such as nutrition, food handling, safety, customer relations, cash register use and salesmanship.

Fifty-five hours were spent in on-thejob training at businesses such as the Methodist Hospital, Long John Silvers, Jerry's, Western Sizzlin, Druthers, The Carriage House, Dairy Queen, Highland House, and Jenny Wiley Lodge. Students received experiences in fast food businesses, table service restaurants, and in hospitals. Area businesses have indicated the need for such a class and the results have been most rewarding. A highlight of the class was a field trip to Lexington where the Marriott, Red Lobster and Darryl's Restaurants pro-

Cable T.V. Signal Thieves Put On Notice

U.S. 23 PRESTONSBURG

TEL-COM., INC. announces today the beginning of concentrated effort to locate and prosecute to the full extent of the law, all cable T.V. signal thieves in their local cable systems.

TEL-COM., INC. stated that they are now in possession of the new State of Art Electronic Detection gear that will enable them to quickly pinpoint all unlawful hookups on the cable system once they begin the procedure the first of July.

TEL-COM., INC. said the firm decided to conduct the search when it became evident that there were hundreds of these illegal hookups within the system.

The firm said that in many cases illegal hookups created electronic problems within the system that affect the signal quality to paying subscribers and it is determined to provide the best service possible to their paying subscribers by eliminating the illegals.

The firm also said, since the firm's main interest and business is providing cable T.V. signals to paying customers, and not the prosecution of those persons involved in an illegal hookup, that to all persons who call their office at 452-2345, 478-9406, 437-4106, or 426-8251, before the search begins, to request a legal hookup to the cable service, no questions will be asked and no embarrassing comments will be made by their personnel.

The Company urges those of you who are hooked up illegally to call! If not, be prepared to face the embarrassing and, very probably, costly consequences! The decision is yours.

The Company also requests that customers who have extra sets connected to our system, and are not being billed, please contact our office.

$1 Million Grant To Provide 1000 Jobs For Youth

Congressman Carl D. Perkins announced last week a grant of $1,000,000 to provide 1,000 summer jobs for the youth of Eastern Kentucky. The funds are provided from discretionary monies of the United States Department of Labor under the Job Training Partnership Act's Summer Youth Program, a program authored by Perkins.

The grant will be administered by the Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program, Inc. (EKCEP), headquartered at Hazard. EKCEP covers 23 Eastern Kentucky counties: Carter, Lawrence, Elliott, Morgan, Menifee, Wolfe, Breathitt, Magoffin, Johnson, Martin, Pike, Floyd, Knott, Perry, Letcher, Ousley, Clay, Jackson, Knox, Lee, Leslie, Bell and Harlan.

These youths will work in public sector type jobs to gain work experience.
Youth ages 16 to 21 are eligible.

Congressman Perkins said, "This extra money will be put to productive use in these counties of high unemployment. I am glad that I was able to be of service to the young people of Eastern Kentucky so that now 1,000 more will be able to earn a little money through productive work."

EKCEP has already received $2,000,000 to provide 2,000 Summer Youth jobs under its regular allocation. These additional funds will bring a total of 3,000 jobs this summer for the young people of Eastern Kentucky.

memorabilia some of the old checks his grandfather had written years ago, and before he left I hurriedly ran through them. Wish now I had taken more time and had taken some notes.

For old checks tell a story all their own. There were some dating back to 1918, closing days of World War I. Many were drawn in favor of Sears, Roebeuck & Co., mainly for farm and sawmill supplies. They tell a story of a day when country roads were nigh-impassable, several months of the year, and at best were fit only for jolt-wagon, horse or mule as a means of transportation. Hence, it was more convenient to use the sharpened by a Tessessee-based training program known as Southern Appalachian Leadership Training and not a school board meeting has passed here in the last five years without at least some members of the group in attendance.

"Wish Book" and wait on delivery by mail or freight than to make the long, tiresome trip to the nearest hardware store, 15 to 30 miles away.

Some FCCEC members are already sending their children to schools outside the county-some to Pikeville Independent and others to Our Lady of the Mountains school in Paintsville-and about six of those calling for the dismissal of the superintendent and board last week said they planned to send their children to the newly-organized Mountain Christian Academy, a private school to be built near Martin, in the fall. But they have vowed to keep up their pressure on the public schools system here. For board member Ray "Shag" Campbell their attention is, if not exactly welcome, at least tolerable and sometimes useful. "I think they've made us more aware of what our job is," he said of the critics. "If people are not looking close, a man will sometimes relax a bit and not make all the decisions the way he should.'

"I think they're trying to be helpful," he added. "I only hope they don't start wanting revenge.

But, as Dr. J.D. Adams sees them, members of the group have been too negative in their criticism of the school system and rude in their conduct at board meetings. "No one looks for the good things, only for the bad," he said.

And of his critics he said, "They sound like a bunch of guineas"-a reference to referred to Alcoholic Driver Educaa species of fowl known for its raucous tion; Phillip M. Akers, Prestonsburg, call.

Supt. Grigsby said he had spoken by telephone to State Superintendent Barber, who was in Washington, D.C. late last week. Barber indicated he would probably refer the council's allegations to the Education Department's legal department, and school officials here are planning to make a formal response to the charges, Grigsby system were let out early on eight days in March for a basketball tournament, while students at Prestonsburg, Clark, Auxier and Allen grade schools were dismissed at 1:30 p.m. on May 5 for a parade which was not scheduled to begin for another five hours, according to data gathered by the education council.

Citing lack of "specific data," the school officials declined all comment on the early dismissals alleged of Betsy Layne and its feeder schools. Even when told of the specific times and dates furnished by the citizens' group, the officials were silent.

The early dismissal of schools for the annual music festival parade in Prestonsburg was justified in that, as a "cultural enrichment," the parade may properly be counted as part of the required six hours of daily classroom time, Supt. Grigsby explained.

According to the education council's version of events, if school bus No. 73 is fit to haul students, it is thanks to the persistence of James Clevenger, a bus driver whose name does not apper among those rehired for the 1983-'84 school year.

After seven monthly inspections by school mechanic Palmer Martin indicated that the bus was in no need of repair, Clevenger refused to drive the bus until he had had it inspected by a state police officer and then only after the repairs had been carried out which the police inspection indicated were necessary, the group charged.

The March 15 inspection by State Trooper Phillip Tucker turned up several defects in the bus. The vehicle lacked a fire extinguisher, first aid kit, flags and flares, a guard rail and a sun shield; and three instruments-the speedometer, gas meter and "air light"—were listed as unsatisfactory.

Bus No. 73 is a spare bus which Clevenger used while his regular bus was being serviced, said Transportation Director Wayne Ratliff. It was the driver's responsibility to transfer the fire extinguisher, first aid kit, flags and flares from the regular to the spare bus, he said.

If a guard rail and sun shield were missing or some instruments were not working, the driver should have reported the defects to the garage supervisor before taking delivery of the vehicle, he said.

To an FCCEC complaint that remodeling of bathrooms at Allen Elementarywhich was requested by a parentteacher organization there following a health official's inspection in October. 1981—has still not been done, Asst. Superintendent Ray Brackett said the work has been scheduled for this summer. Brackett highly praised the work of maintenance supervisor Volney Allen.

Loose internal accounting is illustrated by financial statements furnished by some schools and in the use of leased vehicles by the superintendent and Assistant Superintendent Hager, say the board's critics. Since 1981, the board is said to have leased a Chrysler LeBaron and a Dodge Ramcharger for the two officials' use at a cost of $500 a month. Although no mileage reports are on file, Grigsby and Hager have not only been paid a monthly mileage allowance but have also charged the school district for gasoline, the critics allege. Copies of 1981-'82 records furnished by the group purport to show, for example, that in August that year Hager was paid a mileage allowance of $384 and Grigsby $133, while they together used credit cards to charge $392 in gasoline purchases.

The fact that the board decision to lease the two vehicles followed a closed meeting was cited by the critics to illustrate yet another grievance. It is difficult for citizens to participate in board meetings, and too much business is conducted outside of official meetings, they contend

'Board of Education meetings are held around a conference table rather than facing the public. Discussions are held in very low voices, difficult for the public to hear. Board members ... are frequently seen in 'back room' sessions ...in obvious violation of the Kentucky Open Meetings Law," the group charged in its letter to Barber.

Moreover, they added, "there is just cause to believe that board members have private meetings ... Executive sessions are the rule rather than the exception...No time is allotted (at board meetings) for public comment and ... getting on the agenda is more difficult than it is worth.

Hiring and layoffs are among the decisions in which they want more input, say council members, who questioned a recent decision to lay off 10 remedial reading teachers and a decision last year to transfer a former school nurse to a public relations position.

In defense of the school district's accounting procedures, Asst. Supt. Brackett, who is also the board treasurer, pointed out that the district's finance department shared with the food service department the distinction of receiving a "100 percent compliance" rating by a state accreditation team this spring.

Allegations made with respect to his and his assistant's use of leased vehicles are false and could be refuted, Grigsby said. Beyond issuing a blanket denial, he declined to refute the specific charges, Hager also declined to respond to the allegations, noting that they amounted to "criminal charges.

Laying off reading teachers and similar decisions are properly made by the board on the recommendation of the superintendent, following ministrative discussions" with his staff, Grigsby insisted. "That's our job," he

The board is open to the question of a different seating arrangement for board meetings, executive sessions are called only for the purposes specified by law, and the so-called "back room" sessions amount to nothing more than a few friends gathering for coffee before meetings, the school officials contended.

Citing a 48 percent high-school dropout rate, overcrowded classrooms-39 fifth graders shared one room, it is claimedand below-average test scores, the council called for a plan that would set goals for the school district and propose ways to finance them.

In a county characterized by an "incredibly low" expenditure of local tax dollars on education-amounting in 1982 to just 5.1 percent of the total budgettaxpayers should be made to face the choices for which they are responsible, the critics suggest.

The alternative, they say, is inappropriate reliance for educational funds on voluntary groups like parent-teacher organizations and booster clubs. "Selling sugary treats in order to provide revenue for phone bills and mimeograph paper is just one example of how the administration has allowed the schools to lose their sense of true purpose: educating children in a creative and thought-provoking way," they argue.

The board has never excluded the option of seeking a property tax increase and has actively sought a share in any alcoholic beverage tax that might be levied here, Grigsby argued.

While fiscal restraints have precluded much new construction during his administration, "tireless efforts" have been made to improve curriculum, "we have done everything we can do" to encourage students to stay in school, and the school books balance, the superintendent said.

Dr. J.D. Adams, its senior member, also came to the defense of the board, arguing in an interview last week that it has shown itself open to suggestions for improving the quality of education

Under the state's new system for accrediting schools, he pointed out by way of example, the Floyd school district was "one of the first in the state" to ask to be surveyed by the state accreditation team. "And we are going to take their suggestions as to how to get our schools up," he said.

(State officials are scheduled to meet with the school board at a special meeting June 22 to discuss the recent accreditation inspection of Floyd schools.)

While Adams insists that the board is open to reasoned input by citizen groups, however, FCCEC members say that isn't so. "Our attempts to reason with the Floyd School District administration and board have been futile," they complained to Barber. "We need state action immediately.

If You Lost Your Hearing Tomorrow, Would You Do Something About It?

Chicago, Ill.-A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of one of the smallest Beltone aids of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this model, put it on and wear it in the privacy of your own home. While many people with a hearing loss will not receive any significant benefit from any hearing aid, this free model will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It is not a real hearing aid, and it's yours to keep free. The actual aid weighs less than a fourth of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 35300. Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria Street, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

Branhams To Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Branham, of Ypsilanti, Michigan, formerly of Floyd county, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary, June 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Branham were married at Emma, July 4, 1933, by the late Rev. John M. Lafferty. Mrs. Branham is the former Edythe Wiley, daughter of the late Carl and Amby McCloud Wiley, of Paintsville. Mr. Branham is the son of the late Charley and Martha Woods Branham, of Emma.

The special occasion will be hosted by their children, Mrs. Barbara Allen, Miss Mary Branham, Carl Douglas Branham, five grandchildren, and one great-grandchild, when they will renew their wedding vows at the First Free Will Baptist Church, of Ypsilanti, Mich. A reception will follow.

Mr. Branham is employed by the Ypsilanti Township.

Aspirin has been the most popular drug in the world during the past fifty years. However, its origins actually go back thousands of years. The substance known as salicin is found in certain trees, shrubs and plants. The name is derived from the Latin, "salix," which means "willow". Ancient Greeks and Romans knew of the willow tree's pain-killing properties and made willow bark brews to be used as a general analgesic. By the mid-nineteenth century, the salicylates were combined with another chemical structure from the acetyl group. The result was acetylsalicylic acid, or aspirin. When two German scientists discovered an inexpensive method for its synthetic production in the 1890's, the common aspirin era was born.

Aspirin is a widely used drug, taken for everything from fevers and headaches to reducing swelling. Sometimes though, people may be allergic to aspirin, or its use may be contraindicated. If you have any questions about this simple drug, don't hesitate to ask us here at COOLEY APOTHECARY. We're always happy to share information with you and to help in any way that we can. Located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., where we're open Mon.-Fri., 9-5:30; Sat., 9-4. 886-8106. Best wishes for a Happy Father's Day!

HANDY HINT: World-wide consumption of aspirin is estimated to be 200 billion tablets each year.

Continuing Ed. Is Mandated For State Judges, Justices

Chief Justice Robert F. Stephens announced last Tuesday that the Kentucky Supreme Court has approved a proposed rule to make continuing judicial education mandatory for all members of the state's judiciary, beginning July Essentially, the rule requires each justice and judge to obtain a minimum of 30 hours continuing judicial education per biennium. Credit for the initial biennium will cover the period of January 1, 1983 through June 30, 1986. Thereafter, an educational biennium shall begin on July 1 and end two years later on June 30 of each even-numbered year.

Approximately 85 percent of Kentucky's 235 judges have voluntarily participated in 20 hours or more of educational programs offered yearly by the Administrative Office of the Courts since 1977, as well as by other law-related agencies. Chief Justice Stephens, wishing to emphasize the effort to continue and strengthen the legal and professional proficiency of all the state's jurists, appointed Justice Donald C. Wintersheimer early this year to chair a commission for the purpose of proposing a mandatory continuing judicial education rule which the Supreme Court adopted June 7 during a conference session. "This rule is a positive and progressive step toward improving the services to the citizens of Kentucky by their judiciary," stated the Chief Justice following the Court's adoption of the

The 15-member Mandatory Continuing Judicial Education Commission, chaired by Justice Wintersheimer, is comprised of one Court of Appeals judge, three circuit judges, three district judges, representatives from each of the state's three colleges of law, and four legislators. The Commission will exercise general supervisory authority over the administration of the mandatory judicial education rule, accredit sponsors of courses, programs, and other educational activities which will satisfy the rule's requirements, and will have the authority to exercise exemptions due to disability or for good cause. Any judge who has not completed the required number of hours within the specified two-year period and has not received exemption shall be referred to the Judicial Retirement and Removal Commission for possible disciplinary action.

Forty-one states, including Kentucky, have formal mandatory requirements for judicial education, although the definition of what type judicial education and how many hours are required varies from state to state. Colorado and Minnesota require 45 hours during a threeyear period for all judges, while Connecticut requires 45 hours annually only for from Friday through Sunday last week.

general jurisdiction judges. Wyoming and South Carolina require 15 hours annually for lower court judges and Iowa requires 15 hours annually for all judges.

The Administrative Office of the Courts will continue to sponsor judicial colleges each year which, if attended by the judges, will meet the minimum rule requirements.

Girl Scouts in Camp Week-End

Allen girl scouts at Camp Chatterawha

Girl Scouts from Allen were at Camp Chatterawha over the weekend and participated in outdoor cooking, arts and crafts, games, and hiking. Wilma Castle, field director for Area 4, taught the girls the Girl Scout Promise in sign language. John E. McGinn, a park ranger with the Army Corps of Engineers, showed a film on "Water Safety.

Scouts attending were Beth Leslie, Crystal Hall, Amy Lester, Krissy Hall, Shea Leslie, Tonda Justice, Jessica Walters, Gina Harless, and Beth Ramey from Brownie Troop 894; Stacy Reed from Junior Troop 538; Yvette Depoy, Amanda Lester, Jessica Harless, Tara Berger, Michelle Depoy and Angela Bradford of Junior Troop 227; and Emily DeRossett and Debbie Rudder from

On Monday the Scouts enjoyed a "Fun Day" and swimming party at Allen Park. Those attending and not listed above are Janet Rice, Michelle Blair, Wendy Reed, Madonna Prater, Tonya DeRossett, Rebecca Leslie, Rachael Childers and Joy Banks.

Adults helping were Glenna Bradford, Patsy Harless, Janet Lester, Debbie Leslie, Carolyn Walters, Cathy Hall, Nell Banks, Deborah Leslie, Deanna Leslie, Sheila Berger, Frances Crisp, Ann DeRossett, Ada Depoy and Lila DeRossett. Non-scouts attending were Jennifer Walters, Carrie DeRosett, Jennifer Justice, Amber Leslie, Angela Leslie, Ginger Hall, Blaine Depoy, Chris Berger, and Brandon Leslie.

PCC '20 Years and Growing'

Kentucky's Community College System will be celebrating "Twenty Years and Growing," beginning July 1, and Prestonsburg Community College will be one of the most enthusiastic

For it has started its 20th year off with what amounts to a population explosion. The 1982 fall semester had the largest enrollment in the history of the college, but that record did not last long-it was borken by the enrollment for the 1983 spring semester. And now the college has a 40% increase for its summer over last year's enrollment.

Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of the college, says he feels that the growth is based on several factors which include the training and retraining of people who have lost positions due to the cutback in the economy and to the offering of new types of programs that meet the needs of the communities. There are currently 76 students enrolled in Computer Science I. This influx was anticipated, but not to the degree in which students enrolled.

The college is anticipating an even greater enrollment for the fall semester this year and has employed a fulltime Computer Science faculty member and will endeavor during the summer to buy additional computers to handle larger numbers of students in preparation for the fall enrollment.

The college has employed Dr. Carl D. Barrentine in Biology, four additional nurses in the Nursing Program, a new secretary, and a new custodial worker in Maintenance and Operations.

Tomatoes: To Train Or Not To Train?

Home gardeners can grow their tomatoes any of several ways, depending on how much time and attention they want to devote. Common ways of growing tomatoes are on the ground or training them in cages, on stakes, on a trellis or in containers.

Here are the advantages and disadvantages of each, according to Dr. Jean English, Extension horticulture specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. She is headquartered at the UK Robinson Substation in Quicksand. Growing tomatoes on the ground requires the least effort, but a large percentage of fruits succumb to ground rot. Gardeners often try to overcome losses due to rots by overplanting tomatoes. Space tomatoes grown on the ground 2-3 feet apart in rows 4-5 feet apart. Straw or plastic mulches help reduce ground rot. Cage-grown tomatoes suffer much less from ground rot, snails and slugs than those allowed to lay on the ground. Cages save space, since caged plants are set 2-3 feet apart with rows 3-4 feet

Caged plants are easy to work around and they produce well. The heavy leaf cover protects fruits from sunscald. Try growing caged tomatoes on a black plastic mulch for an extra easy garden.

The problems with cages are the initial cost and storage over the winter. Harvest may be a little more difficult than from staked plants, and fruits tend to mature a couple of weeks later than those that are staked.

Cages should be 30 inches tall for determinate, or bush, varieties and 60 inches tall for indeterminate varieties. Use wire that you can get your hand through, such as 6-inch by 6-inch concrete steel reinforcing wire. Cut this into 4-61/2 feet sections to construct cages.

Staking tomatoes has some of the same advantages as caging: fruits suffer less damage from ground rot, snails and slugs. Set plants 18-24 inches apart with rows 3-4 feet apart and they'll save even more space than cage-grown plants. Staked plants are easier to work around and harvest, and it is easy to get good spray coverage.

Staked plants will mature about two weeks earlier than plants grown on the ground or in cages, and will produce more edible fruit than those grown on the ground. Each plant produces less fruit than a caged plant, up to 15 pounds less. But more plants can be grown in the same area, so yields are comparable. Staking plants is a lot of work, and the once-a-week pruning they require takes time. Pruning may increase the chance of spreading tobacco mosaic virus from unhealthy to healthy plants, although this is not a common problem. Staked plants are susceptible to cracking. sunscald and blossom-end rot. Minimize cracking and blossom-end rot by irrigating the plants regularly or by mulching.

You can construct various trellis systems from wood or metal posts with wood or wire cross ties. Suspend strings from the wires to the bottom of the tomato plants. Tie a loose knot around the base of the tomato plant, and wrap the suckered plant around the string during the growing season.

Trellises are less expensive than cages and less time-consuming than staking. The trellis system can be permanent, but rotate other trellised crops, such as cucumbers, with tomatoes to prevent a potential disease buildup.

Short on space? You can also grow tomatoes from containers. A dwarf variety, such as Basket King, will do well, but any tomato can be grown in a container if it's large enough. Be sure to provide container-grown plants with at least eight hours of sunlight and welldrained growing medium for good tomato production.

Prestonsburg May Lose Summer Lunch Program

Unless more children avail themselves of the free lunches served here, the Summer Food Service Program at Prestonsburg Elementary School may be short-lived. The program is on a one week trial basis at the school, because, it is said, it is in a more affluent area. Moreover, Monday, only 38 were served at the school in comparison with Tuesday's count of 173 served at Martin; 122 at Wayland; more than 100 at the John M. Stumbo School at Grethel, and 85 at Allen. The number of children served at Prestonsburg, Tuesday, was not available, Tuesday afternoon.

Meals are served at each school from 10:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., Monday through Friday to any child 18 years or younger. It is required that meals be eaten at the school.

Bishops Reactivate Catholic Conference

Bishops of Kentucky's three Catholic dioceses have reactivated the Kentucky Catholic Conference by naming an executive director for the organization. Ken Dupre, a layman from Elizabethtown, will officially begin in this post July 5 at an office in Louisville. Kentucky Catholic Conference is a collaboration by the Dioceses of Covington (eastern Kentucky) and Owensboro (western Kentucky) with the Archdiocese of Louisville (central part of the state) to provide better coordination between the activities and policies of the three dioceses.

Dupre, as executive director, will help various departments and/or organizations in the three dioceses to coordinate their activities. For example, the education office or social service office of each separate diocese may wish to link its actions or concerns with those of the other two Kentucky Catholic jurisdictions.

The Kentucky Catholic Conference will also make it possible for Catholics of the state to expres themselves with a common voice on matters that effect Catholic Church members in Kentucky or on moral issues that affect all citizens of the commonwealth. Part of Dupre's job will be to inform state legislators of these positions whenever such a stand is taken by the Conference.

Dupre was selected as director of the Conference by Bishop William Hughes, head of the Covington Diocese, Archbishop Thomas Kelly and Auxiliary Bishop Charles Kelly, Archdiocese of Louisville, and Bishop John McRaith, Owensboro Diocese. These four bishops make up the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Catholic Conference.

Dupre has organizational and administraive experience from a variety of past jobs. Most recently he was Director of Office of Parish Outreach in Louisville. Prior to this, his work was done for International Association of Machinists, Diocese of Providence (RI), and National Citizens Labor and Energy Coalition.

In commenting on his most immediate tasks, Dupre cited the reviewing of 1968 by-laws of the reactivated Conference. This includes consideration of subcommittees that would be set up to provide research and consultation for the Still another of Dupre's jobs will be to establish the office quickly enough to provide Catholic-related information to the Kentucky state legislators who will convene soon.

"I will meet with other (Catholic) state conferences to see how they are set up and function. I will then pick from those ideas the ones that seem to fit (our situation in) Kentucky.

Dupre said he will travel to each of the diocese often. He plans to be in the Covington Diocese later this month.

Sisters Are Awarded Grants to Morehead

Wende Lee and Tracee Lynn Buchanan, who were graduated this spring from Prestonsburg High School, will both attend Morehead State University where they have been awarded Leadership/Recognition Grants. Wende has also been accepted into a work-study program at MSU. She will study prelaw, while her sister plans to major in radio and television broadcasting.

Tracee was a member of National Quill and Scroll and the Prestonsburg Honor Choir, and Wende was active in the FHA, drama club, debate team, and Key Club at Prestonsburg High.

They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis C. Buchanan, of Hager Hill, and granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Webb, of Prestonsburg, and of Mrs. Mary Buchanan, of Corbin.

FOOD POISONING Highlands Regional Medical Center and Our Lady of the Way Hospital's emergency departments are open twenty-four hours a day to treat emergency illnesses and injuries. It is helpful to be able to recognize the symptoms of serious illnesses when making a decision whether or not to visit your emergency department. One dangerous illness which everyone should be aware of is food poisoning. Suspect food poisoning if several people become ill with similar symptoms at approximately the same time after eating the same food. Also suspect food poisoning if one person becomes ill after eating food no one Botulism is a serious form of food poisoning and is often fatal. Medical attention should be sought immediately. The symptoms for botulism usually appear within twelve to thirty-six hours. The symptoms are dizziness, a headache, blurred or double vision, muscle weakness, difficulty in swallowing, talking and breathing.

The symptoms of mushroom poisoning appear within minutes to 24 hours depending on the type and amount of mushrooms eaten. Though the symptoms may vary according to the type of mushrooms some of the following may occur: abdominal pain, diarrhea, vomiting, difficulty in breathing, sweating, salivation, tears and dizziness. Call your local poison control center or the Highlands Regional Medical Center of Our Lady of the Way emergency room for instructions. If medical advice is not readily available, induce vomiting. Medical assistance should be reached as soon as possible.

Salmonella poisoning is most commonly gotten from eggs, milk, raw meat, raw poultry and raw fish. These symptoms usually appear from six to twenty-four hours after eating contaminated food: abdominal cramps, diarrhea, fever, chills, headache, vomiting and weakness. After vomiting is over, the victim may have warm tea, broth or fruit juices. Medical attention should be sought in this case also.

Staphylococcus poisoning occurs most often after eating foods that have not been properly refrigerated. The most common foods affected include meats, poultry, eggs, milk, tuna and potato salad. The symptoms usually appear two to six hours after contaminated food has been eaten. They include abdominal cramps, nausea, vomiting and diarrhea. In this case also the victim should be kept lying down, warm and made to rest. The victim may be given mild fluids such as tea, broth or fruit juices.

If food poisoning is suspected, contact the Highlands Regional Medical Center emergency department at 437-9621 or Our Lady of the Way Hospital emergency department at 285-5181.

Divorce Case Proposal Brings Mixed Response

A proposal by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley to delegate most divorce cases to a master commissioner for adjudication drew a mixed reaction this week from attorneys here.

Some feared that, because a contested divorce could be considerably more costly under the proposed arrangement. poorer clients might be deterred from seeking their rights under the law.

But others predicted that relieving the circuit judge of much of his domestic caseload will prove a boon both to lawyers and their clients in those cases.

Under the proposal, which is scheduled for consideration at a meeting of the Floyd County Bar Association on Friday, uncontested divorce cases would still be decided by the circuit judge but all contested cases would be referred to Master Commissioner Marshall Davidson for resolution.

If both parties to the action agree with the commissioner's decision in the case, it will be ratified automatically by the

The plan has been tried successfully in other counties, including Johnson and Pike counties, proponents say. It would expand the present duties of the master commissioner, who has traditionally been responsible mainly for disposing of property to satisfy court judgements. Its advocates say it would enable an overburdened circuit judge to give speedier attention to civil cases.

And in domestic cases, they say, lawyers and litigants will be able-by scheduling an appointment with the commissioner-to avoid the long waits they must often now endure on the circuit court's weekly "motion day."

One aspect of the plan that bothers some attorneys here, however, is the fee schedule designed to recompense the master commissioner. A special $20 filing fee would be added to the usual $75 filing fee; another $10 would secure the commissioner's ear for up to 30 minutes. For a hearing that took longer than 30 minutes, the commissioner would be paid at a rate of $40 an hour.

Persons seeking a divorce usually pay an attorney a flat fee-generally from $300 to $400 in this area-for an uncontested action and are generally billed at an hourly rate in contested cases. The circuit court cost traditionally does not vary with the length of the proceeding, however-a tradition that would be broken by the proposal now under consideration.

While impoverished clients are exempt by law from paying court costs, the proposed fee schedule would hit the 'working poor" hard, some attorneys argue. The new fees would work a hardship on as many as 70 percent of his clients, estimated Paul P. Burchett.

As it is, he said, because many clients can ill afford their divorce actions, attorneys represent them "almost as a service." The new fees would put an even bigger burden on both attorney and client in domestic relations cases, he

When attorney fees are factored in, a deserted mother might well face charges of $90 or more an hour over a four-hour custody hearing, said Gary Johnson. Because the fees could deter people from exercising their rights, he intends to oppose the plan, he said.

If the burden on the circuit judge needs to be eased—a claim Johnson does not dispute-the state ought to pay for his assistant, the attorney argued this week. The present plan, he said, "shifts the burden onto those who are least able to bear it.'

But Assistant County Attorney Eric Hall, one of three lawyers who worked on the plan, said that, except in property disputes-where the court fees would probably be small in relation to the value of the property at stake-few domestic relations clients would incur heavy additional fees under the plan. Most custody and support motions can be disposed of within a 30-minute hearing, he pointed out. And David Barber, who wrote the preliminary draft, explained that, since fees will be levied on the losing party, the deserted mother seeking custody of her children is not likely to have to pay the bill at all. "I have yet to see a woman come up on the short end of a child custody dispute," he said.

Even attorneys who are bothered by the fee schedule concede that it would probably reduce the number of 'superfluous' motions filed in domestic relations cases.

Under the existing system, "a lot of times people argue about things that are inconsequential, out of hard feelings, said Burchett. "I have seen them fight over visitation rights for the dog." Under the proposed arrangement, "they may be more inclined to settle," he said.

CHURCH GROUP MEETS

The Annie Allen Circle, W.M.U., of the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church, met Monday evening June 6, at the church annex, with the president, Mrs. Sarah Laven, presiding. Mrs. Lucy Regan was in charge of the devotionals. A note from Mrs. Rella Evans, thanking the group-for the baby gift presented to her recently, was read. The president reported that she had delivered clothes, which members had donated, to the Jenny Wiley Nursing Home.

Mrs. Eva Collins, chairman of the Nominating committee, presented the names of these officers and committee chairmen for the coming year: President, Mrs. Ruby Garrett; vicepresident, Mrs. Pat Minns; secretary, Mrs. Docia B. Woods; treasurer, Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick; Mission Support, Mrs. Vivian Fraley; Mission Study, Mrs. Sarah Laven; Mission Action, Mrs. Lucy Ransdell, and Mrs. Julia Curtis, Sunshine Action, Mrs. Dolly Pettrey; Child Care, Mrs. Lucy Regan. A brief talk was given by the out-going president, Mrs.

Present at the meeting were Mesdames Sarah Laven, Pat Minns, Eva Collins, Anna Mae Goble, Lucy Regan, Maman Leslie, Dally Waddles, Lucy Ransdell, Julia Curtis, Myrtle Allen, and Docia Woods.

Following this meeting, the group went to the church vestibule, where the Rev. Dan Heintzleman showed a film of his and Mrs. Heintzleman's trip to the Holy Land. Others joining the group for the presentation there were Mrs. Judy Watkins and daughter, Miss Tamara Watkins, Mrs. Judy Hooker, Mrs. Mildred Whitaker, Mrs. Patsy Evans, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ramey, of the local church, and Mrs. Goldia Williams and Mrs. Mildred Hall, of Allen.

The next meeting will be the picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Collins, Sr., Monday evening, August 1, for them, their families, and members and families of the "Mommie" Ransdell Circle, W.M.U.

REBEKAHS MEET

Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 met Tuesday evening, June 7, at the I.O.O.F. building. Due to the absence of the noble grand, Mrs. Alicia Adkins, the vice noble grand, Miss Kelly Sue Moore, presided. It was decided that the memorial service for deceased members would be postponed. Miss Moore stressed that it is necessary for members to do their memory work, prior to the meeting to be held, when the state president makes her visit here next month. It was announced that the Rebekahs' district meeting will be held at Pleasant Valley Lodge No. 116 at Paintsville, Saturday evening, June 18, and Miss Moore asked all members who plan to attend to meet at the I.O.O.F. building here at 4:45 p.m., for practice.

Present for Tuesday night's meeting were Kelly Sue Moore, Dorothy Osborne, Virginia Goble, Opal Dingus, Helen Ormerod, Orb Vaughn, Nola Stepp, and Violetta Wright.

Health Dept. Award

Guests Kiwaniannes Earl Compton, administrator of the Floyd County Health Department, presented to Mrs. Garnett Fairchild, president of the Prestonsburg Kiwaniannes, recently the Kentucky Public Health Association Group Award, for 'approximately 25 years of dedication by this organization to the Floyd County Health Department." The award read, in part, "This organization has willingly given many hours in service to the Floyd County Health Department, primarily during the tuberculosis and crippled children's clinics, and during the regional heart clinics, which are held semi-annually there.

Mr. Compton said, "The Kiwaniannes organize, secure, deliver and serve various kinds of foods to the patients, the visiting physicians, and other staff members attending these clinics. Some of the people attending, travel for several hours prior to the clinic, and sometimes have a wait of several more hours before being seen by the attending physicians. The Prestonsburg Kiwaniannes have always been supporters of the Floyd County Health Department, and have encouraged others to use the services there. They are truly Ambassadors of Good Will for the Floyd County Health Department, and richly deserve to be honored as volunteers in the field of public health."

School Asbestos Problem Poses Other Difficulties

The Senate Appropriations Committee has accepted a proposal by Sen. Walter (Dee) Huddleston directing the Department of Education to work with the Environmental Protection Agency to determine the extent of asbestos contamination in the nation's schools, including several school districts in Kentucky, and the cost for removal. The Department of Education would be required to report to the Congress by September 1.

School inspections were initiated by Congress through the Asbestos School Hazard Detection and Control Act of 1980. The legislation required the EPA to inspect schools for asbestos contamination and to post warnings of possible hazards by June 28 of this year. Although $75 million per year was authorized for fiscal year '81 through FY '84 to help school districts with the asbestos problem, no money has been appropriated by Congress. Because of cutbacks in federal and state funding for education in the last few years, many schools may not be able to afford to correct their asbestos problems.

Many school superintendents fear that, once warnings are posted regarding asbestos contamination, parents will boycott the schools until the problem is taken care of. This may force many schools to close, Huddleston said.

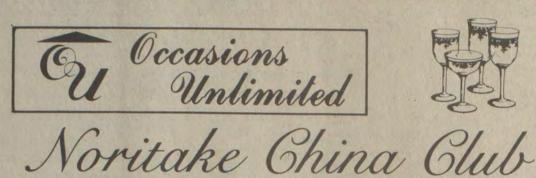

The report proposed by Huddleston would include estimates of the cost of asbestos removal, the number of schools that need to remove asbestos, the availability of federal support to assist school districts in meeting the cost of asbestos removal, and steps the federal government is taking or will take to assist school districts with the problem.

The report would have to be completed by September 1, which would permit sufficient time for the Appropriations Committee to take possible remedial action during consideration of the FY '84 Labor-HHS-Education Appropriations bill.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Nellie Shelton would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their help upon the loss of our loved one. Thanks to those who sent food and flowers, prepared the grave or just spoke comforting words. A special thanks to the ministers who conducted the nightly services, ministers and members of the Drift Pentecostal Church, the nurses and doctors at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital and the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

Need Positive Attitude

It seems that all you hear lately is what a poor condition our Floyd County schools are in and how bad the Board of busy trying to blame someone else that we don't take time to look at it properly and to put the blame where it belongs.

I believe if our children want to learn,

Prestonsburg High School and the vounger one from Maytown Elementary

School. I think both would tell you now that they feel they got a good background for college. My youngest son is a senior pre-med student at Tranaverage and is at the top of his class. We tend to forget all the doctors, lawyers,

Senators, Representatives, dentists,

Someone has to make the decisions.

That is why we vote for our Board of they might be able to do things that are

One other thing I have heard lots of

A Plea For Ball Fields

This is a letter of apology to the young people of Floyd county. I'm too much of a dreamer, I guess. I thought I could get the Magistrates of Floyd county behind me to create a few professional-looking, first-class ball fields on the golf course site at Allen. The Magistrates have decided that, "We don't care how many signatures you have on that petition, we're not tearing up that course to add more ball fields," and that is a quote.

I envisioned a sports complex better than any in the state, right here in Floyd county, and it would be, but, the selfserving Magistrates have decided you're not worth it.

The Magistrates have decided to cheat you out of a chance to play the same caliber of play as Paintsville and Pikeville because you play your baseball on the worst fields in the state, when you could have the best.

Everyone with their ears open knows we had to play our Floyd County district championship at Johnson Central's field because there was not one field in the county fit to play on; everyone knows Betsy Layne has no home field; Allen Central plays games on a Little League field at Wayland; Prestonsburg plays on a softball field, and McDowell plays on the snake-infested park at Drift.

Everyone knows that young men with a possible future in college or professional baseball are being denied their chance because of lack of quality field, and lack of interest. Just ask the 16, 17and 18-year-old athletes who have no senior Babe Ruth teams to play on this summer. Sure, you can play softball in the Youth Leagues at Archer Park, but college scholarships and professional contracts aren't given to softball

They say a mind is a terrible thing to waste, but so is a young boy's dream of playing professional baseball, or perhaps getting a college education through a baseball scholarship.

I've been associated with baseball since I was eight years old and I'll say this, Floyd County High School boys have as much raw talent on their teams as any section of Kentucky, but they never go anywhere in baseball because of the primitive conditions they have to play on, and lack of interest. There are kids in Floyd county who should be on baseball scholarships, who should sign future contracts with professional teams, but the Magistrates have decided that little patch of grass should be left to the 20 or 30 golfers who hit "shag" balls there each week

Floyd county, wake up-you're cheating your children out of quality playing times, dreams, futures, educations, and their childwood memories.

I leave with one last plea to the parents in Floyd county. My plan would cost not one red cent to put in play two extra Little League and farm team fields, one extra Babe Ruth high school field, and two softball fields. So call your Magistrate and find out why your kids don't deserve the best

The Forestry Invitational

A very important and interesting 4-H event is coming up that I want you to know about. It is known as the 4-H Forestry Invitational and will be held on Thursday, June 2, at the Twin Knobs Recreation Area in the Daniel Boone National Forest. The area is also overlooking Cave Run Lake. Location is reached by taking U.S. 60 west of Morehead to KY 801. Turn south on KY 801 and follow it until you come to the Twin Knobs Recreation Area.

During the day, 4-H youths will be learning skills and knowledge related to forestry. They will then put what they have learned to work in the competition phase of the program. On this day, four youths will be selected to participate in the National 4-H Forestry Invitational to be held at Jackson's Mill, West Virginia later this summer. Later in the day, 4-H'ers will become involved in physical events which are fun events for the youths as well as educational.

On behalf of the planning committee, I want to invite you to attend the event. Youths will be involved from across the state and especially from the eastern part of the state.

The Other Side

I am writing this to the public, the people which pay solid waste monthly payments. I would like to say I think it's time we let our county officials know where we stand and that we can change faces and that we will do just that if things don't change county-wide. I have been watching my Times each week and see where there are some being put in court for not paying Solid Waste monthly bills. I for one want to tell you the kind of Solid Waste officials we have. Last Sept. 1982, Oct.-Nov. and Dec. 1982, I received one pickup each month. Dec.-30, 1982 was the last pickup. I have made trips to their office. They have promised each time that on the next pickup day that my garbage would be picked up. At one time I was asked to haul my own garbage to the land fill and pay a fee of $5.00 each load so I thought it unfair, and I never did take any. I am disabled, and I think it's the duty of our magistrate to see that each District is taken care of. Dec.-30, 1982 was the last pick up at my place. I know there's no excuse. About the road, Ky. Power Co. drives each month to my home. Doxol Bottle Gas has made deliveries all winter. I want to say I for one will not pay Solid Waste bills until I receive the pickup service.

Thank Grigsby for Help

We want to thank Peté Grigsby, Jr., Supt. of Floyd county schools, for helping us with our Floyd County Music Festival. We felt that it was very successful this year. Without his help in making the arrangements, we could not have achieved the goals that we set out

We understand that some parents are upset because we turned out school 1/2 hour early in order to get the students home and back to Prestonsburg for the parade. Here at Betsy Layne we had to bring six school bus loads of band students because we have about 300 children in our junior and senior bands (as well as students from the grade schools, John M. Harold, Prater, Allen and Betsy Layne)

Some of the students didn't even get home in time to eat a sandwich before having to get on the bus and back to school to leave for the parade. At Betsy Layne, we changed our early teachers' meeting to Tuesday so we wouldn't lose any time from school. And we announced on the radio and TV that we would be

As for the three days we took them to Prestonsburg, we feel that this is well worth the time. We bring in guest conductors to work with our music students, and we do wish every parent could sit in on one of these sessions to see the hard work and the learning that each child has the opportunity to take part in. The students that take part in this Festival have to make up all their school work missed, on their own time, and are held accountable for this.

We, the music teachers in Floyd County, are trying to carry on the Floyd County Music Festival that was started by Jesse Elliott in 1938 because we feel that it is a great learning experience for all the children that take part in it.

And the last and most important thing that we want to mention to Mr. Grigsby and the parents is that all learning does not take place in a self-contained classroom. Most of us find that many hours are spent each day after dismissal

Sick of Board Critics

I am sick and tired of reading about a handful of people constantly criticizing the Floyd County Board of Education, its superintendent, the teachers, and, ultimately, the students.

Why all the slanted negative stories when constantly hidden in the back sections of your paper are reports of countless Floyd county high school graduates who go on to our universities to excel, making the deans' lists and other academic achievements. Of these students, so many have gone on to succeed in the medical, law, and other postgraduate fields, an example being the recent gubernatorial candidate, Dr. Grady Stumbo.

All three of my daughters graduated from McDowell High School and have excelled in their college work, along with my son-in-law, a graduate of Wheelwright High School, who went on to graduate from the UK College of Law and is now practicing law in Pikeville. This school system in Floyd county must be doing something right in producing so many successful doctors, lawyers, teachers, and members of other reputable professions.

I think it is time to recognize all the positive things this school system has achieved and recognize the dedicated work of dozens of our school teachers and administrators.

As for the board members, they have not only been elected by us, the majority of the citizens of Floyd county, but they receive our support for their many achievements in building new facilities and improving the quality of education for our children. It is sad that a handful of people cannot accept the concept of our democratic system where the majority rules, and thus, they spend their time seeking publicity in making ridiculous accusations against the Floyd County School System. If these parents spent as much time at home with their children as they do seeking to feed their egos, their children, who are supposed to be their main concern, would be better off.

Let's get behind the teachers and school administrators of Floyd county who are working for us, and let's have pity for those few people who want only to destroy the schools for their own personal satisfaction.

BERTA TURNER

In Appreciation

I would like to express my appreciation and that of my family to the churches that had us on their prayer lists while I was in four different hospitals. I also want to thank my many friends for the beautiful cards, telephone calls, and prayers. I wish I could shake your hands and thank you in person.

The first two questions I was asked by each new doctor were, "Do you smoke? Do you use alcohol?" I never needed either. I needed people around me to make me happy

I thank God, my doctors, and many praying friends who were with me during my ordeal and I want them to know "Happiness is being alive.

Love yourself and you will love others. ETHEL B. JOHNSON Country Club Dr., Box 269, Lebanon, Ky. 40033

Baffled by Response

I am certainly baffled when Pete Grigsby responds to a 154-page document sent to Kentucky Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber questioning the operation of the Floyd County schools with the words, "politically motivated," "distorted facts," "untruths," "half-truths," and personal bias.

Is it "politically motivated" to say that there is a problem with textbook management when John B. Shoemaker of the state Department of Education recently wrote: "Because of noncompliance with the previously mentioned state textbook laws and regulations, this office is obligated to follow-up shortly after the beginning of the 1983-84 school year to see if a full and exacting textbook accounability program is operable and that all pupils (k-12) in the Floyd County Schools have a full set of appropriate and current adopted textbooks." No, it's a fact.

Is it a "distorted fact" that the administration agreed to allow a qualified mechanic to inspect buses at McDowell, but then stopped for no apparent reason? No, it's a fact-just ask Leonard Cieslak.

Is it a "half-truth" to say that budgets are not developed by assessing financial needs and prioritizing? No, it's a factthe Floyd County Board of Education took less than fifteen minutes to pass their "close working budget" of over $15

Is it an "untruth" to say that of every 100 students that start the ninth grade, only 52 will graduate? No, it's a fact.

Is it "personal bias" to say that standardized test scores place Floyd county students well below state and national averages? No, it's a fact.

Let's get to the facts. Let's not be led astray by distractions and name-calling. There are two things that can be done right away if you are concerned.

First, write to Raymond Barber, Capital Tower Plaza, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Secondly, come to the next Board meeting-June 22, 1983 at 7:00 p.m.-to hear a report from the team that evaluated Floyd county schools for state accreditation.

See you there! JOE SZAKOS David, Ky.

Opposes Multi-County Banking Legislation

In the 1982 Kentucky General Assembly, there were a lot of new bills that were proposed. Some bills were made into law; the rest were not.

One of the bills that was defeated was the Multi-County Bank Bill. This Bill would have allowed any bank, in any county of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, to acquire up to 20% of the banks in the state. This bill is being filed for the 1984 General Assembly by big banking

If this bill becomes law, the people of Kentucky will suffer a financial loss to their already hard pressed pay check.

The first thing that would happen is that the small city banks would become a branch of a larger bank with a home office half-way across the state. There would be less banks without any competition, with those remaining controlling all the money in Kentucky. With this power, the banks could and would squeeze the citizens off their farms, and out of their homes, and close down their family business. Their own financial goals would be their priority without regard to human respect.

With our one gas & electric company, and our one phone company, we are living day to day with higher and higher price increases on services with no competition.

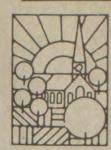

If this bill passes, we will see a loss of bank jobs, a loss of the personal bank touch that each of us enjoys, and a loss of understanding of our needs in the community in which we live.

If the big banks succeed, they will only use the opportunity to see how much they can get out of the peasants, without choking them.

I urge each and every citizen to write to your state legislators in Frankfort to defeat this lobbying effort by the big banks. The address is: State Capitol, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Miss Teresa Marie Campbell was crowned 1983 Floyd County Music Festival Queen at the Music Festival concert held May 12 at the Prestonsburg High School gymnasium. She was chosen on the basis of poise, personality, and an interview by judges.

Miss Campbell, 17-year-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Bill Campbell, of Prestonsburg, is a recent graduate of Prestonsburg High School where she was an honor student and participated in a wide range of activities of the music department. She was awarded two first place trophies as field commander of the Prestonsburg High School band during her junior and senior years. She also ranked third in her graduating class and received academic honors throughout

She plans to attend Centre College this fall where she will major in psychology.

Brewers vs. Cubs Open Season's Play

Appalachian League plays will open next Wednesday (June 22) when the Pikeville Cubs will host the Paintsville Brewers. The Cubs arrived in Pikeville, Sunday night with a team of instructors to ready them for the season's opening.

Five of the instructors of the Chicago Cubs' training camp at Pikeville this week are former major leaguers. Two of these, Jim Fairey, who played with both the Dodgers and Montreal, will manage the Pikeville Cubs, while Tony Franklin, formerly with the Cincinnati Reds' for several years, will be manager for the Geneva, N.Y. team.

Other instructors in Pikeville include former Twins player, Jim Snyder, coordinator for instructors for the parent Chicago Cubs; Bill Champion, pitching coach, who played with both the Braves and the Phillies; Cal Embry and Erskine Thomason, both former Phillies

Of the 50 players who will work out this week at the Pikeville Athletic Park, 25 will be sent to Geneva, Friday, with the other 25 remaining in Pikeville for the Appalachian League season.

Victory for Floyd Racers

Last Saturday night several Floyd county stock car racers found victory at Paintsville's new Highlands Raceway Park. In the first of two short heat races in the modified class David Martin finished No. 1 in Car 41 followed by Larry Addis in Car 44. In the second heat Danny Salisbury won driving his "Zip Code 17" Chevrolet. All three drivers are from McDowell. "Red" Morris, of Hueysville, came in second.

In the 20-lap main event feature race for the modified class, No. 66, Terry Hall, of McDowell, won first place honors and $400 prize money. The win came when with one lap to go two lead cars crashed in turn 3, allowing him to pass. David Martin came in second. The 25-lap feature for the super-modified cars was won by Walter Combs, of Hindman. Floyd countians Larry Addis and Danny Salisbury came in third and fifth. Combs won $1000 for the effort with other amounts being paid to the six top finishers.

Paul David Harris, of Martin, set the track record of 15.50 seconds around the steeply banked .3-mile track. After he had won the five-lap "dash for cash" oil pump problems put him

Wal-Mart Tells Plans For Store Opening Here

Sam M. Walton, chairman and chief executive officer of Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., recently announced plans to open a 54,223 square foot Wal-Mart Discount City store at the junction of U.S. 114, Prestonsburg.

Jack Shewmaker, president and chief operating officer of the company, said the Prestonsburg store will employ approximately 75 area residents. Additional help will be hired during peak seasons. Prior to the store's new opening date, interview dates and locations will be announced by the local media.

Wal-Mart is headquartered in Bentonville, Arkansas where the General Offices and three of the company's distribution centers are located. Another distribution center is located in Searcy, Arkansas and a fifth is located in Palestine, Texas. In addition, a new 900,000 square foot distribution center recently opened in Cullman, Alabama.

The Prestonsburg shopping center is being developed by Commonwealth Company, of Crestwood, Kentucky. Tenants will include Winn-Dixie, a drug store and other shops.

Council Approves State Health Plan

recently adopted the three-year state health plan developed by the Cabinet for Human Resources and will submit it to Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. for his approval.

The plan sets priorities and proposes regulations related to the development and expansion of health care services in Kentucky. The focus of the plan is the reduction in the escalation of health care

The council made several changes in the plan originally presented for public review. Deleted was a proposal to promote competition and less-expensive health care alternatives by exempting some health services from the certificate of need process. Under the original plan, primary care centers, outpatient surgery centers, adult day health care programs, home health programs and several other kinds of facilities would not have been required to get the now-mandatory certificate of need to establish or expand their services.

The council also reduced the minimum occupancy standards for hospitals. The original plan required 75 percent occupancy of acute care beds for small hospitals and a higher percentage of larger hospitals, up to 87 percent for those with more than 300 beds. The new plan's rates range from 50 percent to 70 percent for 1983, with 5 percent increases in the rates in 1984 and 1985. According to Cabinet for Human Resources state health planning director George Kent, the plan would result in the delicensing of hospital beds, possibly as many as 197 in 11 facilities during the first year the plan is in effect. There are 16,800 acute care beds now licensed in Kentucky.

The council did not alter the proposed $166 million ceiling on hospital capital

The State Health Planning Council expenditures. Under the plan, the limit would be in effect Jan. 1, 1984 and would be adjusted annually for the following two years, based on a federal construction cost index.

> Left in the plan is a three-tiered regional system that designates hospitals as area facilities, medical service centers or tertiary centers. The system, said Kent, is designed to encourage that basic care is available in the area hospitals while the most infrequently used, expensive equipment and specialized personnel are located to be accessible to the total population. The council added a statement that no hospital would have to discontinue an existing service simply because of its designation in the new regional system.

> The council reduced the original plan's moratorium on nursing home construction from three years to one year. If approved, the period will begin July 1, 1983 and will cover skilled nursing, nursing home, intermediate care and personal care beds and institutional beds for mentally retarded people.

> The plan continues to promote the development of mid-level medical practioneers through educational support and reimbursement. One proposal promotes legislation giving the Medical Licensure Board the authority to ensure certification and standards for physician's assistants. Another proposal, reworded from the original plan, seeks legislation authorizing pharmacists to fill prescriptions written by advanced registered nurse practitioners. Such prescriptions would be limited to certain drugs and written according to "protocols" developed jointly by a physician and a nurse practitioner.

> Council chairperson Helen Sligar of Louisville said after the meeting that the revised plan would be delivered to the governor, who has up to 30 days to

"If he signs it, it will immediately replace the health plan now in effect,' she said. "If he has problems with the plan, it will come back to the council, and we will look at his suggestions."

Dr. James Leadingham, an Ashland optometrist and chairperson of the council's Plan Development Committee, said the plan has received more public comment than any state health plan the council has worked on in the five years he has been a member.

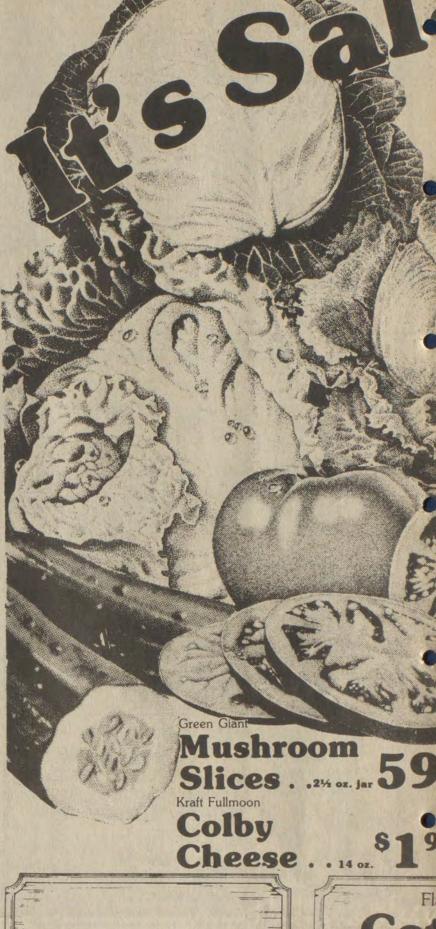

'As far as I know," he said, "every public comment and recommendation has been considered by the council in developing the final plan."

HEADS NATIONAL DRIVE

Dr. Jack Allen, a native of Prestonsburg who is professor emeritus of history at George Peabody College of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., has been chosen as chairman of the 1983 National Alumni Campaign for this institution. Dr. Allen is the son of the late Edward L. Allen, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Allen, who presently resides in Lexington. Among those who will be working with him in this campaign is a group of volunteers, including Dr. Z.S. (Dick) Dickerson, also formerly of Prestonsburg, who is a member of the faculty at James Madison University at Harrisonburg, Virginia.

Pike Court Cuts Budget; No Severance Expected

Floyd county is not alone in the belttightening business. Although it has not reached the point at which its finances are under state control, the Pike county fiscal court has already reduced its budget for next year by $340,000, with personnel cuts yet to be made.

The Appalachian Express (June 8 edition) told the Pike story:

Drastic cuts have county officials privately seething but reluctant to make any public comments.

The cuts, totalling $340,000, include, a slice of $61,000 from the sheriff's department; $50,000 from the jail budget; the coroner's office will be cut $580; County Attorney Gary Johnson's budget has been slashed $93,500; $40,000 will be trimmed from the county court clerk's office; and all of the county's $30,000 supplement to the Commonwealth Attorney's office has been discontinued.

Johnson made no comment during the public meeting as Patton announced the cutbacks, but said during an interview, "It's a disaster."

He said the cuts would sharply curtail the services his office provides the public. "Operating costs have been erased. We can't buy a typewriter or a piece of paper to put in it."

Patton said the cuts were only the beginning. "Tomorrow (Tuesday, June 7) we begin to look at personnel cuts in every department."

Personnel cuts are expected to hit the road department hardest, as most of the budget cuts have been in that area.

The budget is expected to be the smallest in ten years, with the least amount budgeted for road work since 1975, according to Patton.

The shortfall in coal severance tax collections is to blame. This year the county has been told not to expect any severance payments.

Patton warned the magistrates and the public that the budget cuts were not going to be easy or be popular, but said the situation could have been much worse. "We cut spending in December as revenues went down, or we would have been in serious financial difficulties."

The budget cuts include discontinuing

We would also like to thank the Pic-Pac and Piggly Wiggly stores and Mrs. Namon Click and daughter, who prepared the food and drinks.

"extraordinary legal fees" and funding for expansion of the county volunteer fire departments. Although the stations at Pond Creek and Freeburn have been finished, funds allocated for materials for two new stations have been withdrawn. Purchases on new trucks and equipment will be curtailed.

The branch offices for the county court clerk's office in Elkhorn City, Phelps and Belfry will stay open despite the cutbacks, according to Patton's figures.

Patton said the budget would be amended if, and when, severance tax collections were in hand. "If we get more money later, we'll be able to spend it where it's needed. But only when it's in the bank account will we amend the budget."

Network.

The Sears Financial Network's new series, "Dollar Guide," is now seen on the CBN Cable Network.
"Dollar Guide" offers consumer common-sense financial planning and advice on how to cope with a wide range of money topics affecting their daily lives. The five-minute program is shown twice each weekday at 9:55 a.m. and 8:55 p.m. (ET)

Some of the topics covered on the show include concrete plans to achieve a financial goal, the cost of home and auto buying, funding college educations, and how to teach children to save. The basic steps towards a stable financial future will be covered with segments on social security, investments, life insurance and the importance of a will.

On Monday, June 20, "Dollar Guide" features "Homeowner's Insurance." Host William Schallert emphasizes knowing your policy and protecting your valued possessions.

Tune in on Tuesday, June 21 as "Turning Fun into Profit" explains how a part-time hobby can be turned into a business. On Wednesday, June 22, "Dollar Guide" reveals the importance of knowing one's rights under Social Security. Information on how and where to get hole will be provided.

tion on how and where to get help will be provided.

Planning for the future means teaching your children how to save early. How do you explain the concepts of saving or spending money? The Thursday, June 23 "Dollar Guide" tells

Part of planning for the future is understanding and buying life insurance. There are certain amounts and policies you should look for to meet your family's needs. Life insurance ins and outs are covered on Friday, June 24.

The series, shot entirely on location, is being produced in cooperation with the Graduate School of Business of the University of Southern California. Kim Cooper is publicity director of the CBN Cable

RETURN OF THE JEDI, from 20th Century-Fox. Directed by Richard Marquand, screenplay by Lawrence Kasdan and George Lucas. Starring Mark Hamill, Carrie Fisher, Harrison Ford. Rated

By J.T. YURKO

When "Star Wars" was first released six years ago, the film instantly became not just another movie but a real piece of cultural history. Names such as Luke Skywalker and Darth Vader jumped into the pan-theon of mythical heroes right next to Robin Hood, Hercules and the Three Musketeers. Instead of swords they had light sabers; instead of horses they rode spaceships, but the adventure was just as exciting.

'PG.' * * * *

'The Empire Strikes Back' continued the saga, and now the third and closing act wraps up the story, which took place "a long time ago in a galaxy far away." With a story that became an overnight legend, the film that closes the tale has to live up to a universe full of great expectations.

'Return of the Jedi" will fulfill those expectations and then some. Like its two predeces-Paradise regained.

There are those who say that "Jedi" and the whole "Star Wars" saga is formula filmmaking, while the other camp maintains that creator George Lucas simply draws on foundations of mythology and Western legends.

Indeed, one could call any of these films "space Westerns" and be correct. Outer space is the Wild West of the 20th century, and George Lucas knows how to make exciting Westerns.

The cast of characters from the first two films are against reunited in the battle against the Empire, but a host of other new creatures slither onto the screen.

The story concerns the Empire's rebuilding of the Death Star and Luke Skywalker's confrontation with Darth Vader, but you will not be sold on this film by what you read here of its plot.

The only disappointment you may have is that you'll have to wait three more years for another episode in the saga. It will be worth the wait.

Why Medical History?

Q. Why does the dentist ask for my whole medical history?

A. Dental care is an integral part of medicine, and plays a vital role in total health care, so the dentist needs to know all the medical facts about patients.

For example, being aware that a patient has heart problems or high blood pressure—the severity of the problem and which medications are being taken for it-guides the dentist on professional decisions. It helps him/her determine how long a session is appropriate for dental procedures, type of sedation to use, if any, and whether a consultation with the patient's physician is indicated.

Asthma, gastro-intestinal disorders, steriod thearapy, thyroid imbalance, blood disorders, or infectious diseasethe dentist should know about all these in order to work safely and efficiently in helping the patient.

In Memoriam

In memory of Virginia Shepherd on her birthday, June 12, 1983.

I can not say and I will not say that she is dead, she is just away. Mild and gentle as she was sweet, think of her as still the same. Again I say, she is not deadshe is just away.

Sadly missed by her loving son and

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

By JANE BOND Health Educator

This is the time of year for tick-borne illnesses to occur. Most of these diseases are relatively rare, but usually occur in areas where people are most likely to come into contact with ticks, such as rural forested areas with sizable wildlife populations. Most cases of tick-borne diseases occur during the spring and summer months; children and young adults, especially males, are generally at greatest risk of tick exposures.

The best way to prevent getting tickborne diseases is to avoid tick infested areas whenever possible; search total body area every 3 to 4 hours if working or playing in an infested area; remove ticks from the person promptly/and carefully without crushing to avoid leaving mouth parts in the skin; protect hands when removing ticks from man or animals. Every dog owner should check his dog daily for ticks also.

PAP CLINIC SCHEDULED

There will be a pap clinic at the Floyd County Health Department on Wednesday, June 15, from 8:30 until 11:30 and from 1 until 2. This clinic is a free service of the health department and any woman is welcome, but those women age 45 and over are especially urged to take advantage of this free service since this is the high risk age for the disease.

A nurse from the health department will be in Harold at Ward's Health Food Store on Monday, June 20, from 10 until 2. She will offer T.B. skin tests, urinalyses, blood pressures, anemia screening, and immunizations. This clinic is a service of health department and the public is welcome.

Get The Home Team Advantage!

The Mortgage Loan Department at First Commonwealth Bank is your Home Team. If you are thinking about the purchase of a new or existing home come see us. We have a game plan for the purchase of your home you won't believe. A rate that is reasonable and a monthly payment that is affordable. Come in today and let us show you a winning program for the purchase of your home.

"Just Think What We Can Do Together!"

Martin • Betsy Layne • Two Locations In Prestonsburg

lt's later than you think!

The Floyd-Johnson County Residential Bond Program is great...for the homeowner and the community. But unfortunately, the clock started to run down on the very day it became available. All funds must be committed by early 1984. There's no guarantee that there will be future bond issues, and even if there are, rates may never be this low again.

Even if you've been told by another institution that you don't qualify, come in and discuss your plans with one of our experienced professional mortgage loan officers. They'll work together with your plans to try and help you qualify. Experience counts...and during the last bond issue we helped make home ownerships a reality for more applicants than all other Floyd County lenders combined.

This September, PBS will broadcast nationally a KET series designed to give educators and parents practical guidance on buying and using microcomputers and computer

The series, "Educational Computing Profile," consists of nine, monthly halfhour reports updating parents, teachers, librarians, administrators and school officials on the latest developments in the microcomputer field and how hardware and software products compare. Using a magazine format, each program includes four major areas: trends and news, software evaluation, hardware evaluation, and interviews and commentary with manufacturers and educators

"Educational Computing Profile" is produced by KET. Educational Projects Information Exchange (EPIE), which is currently working with Consumers Union on a Ford Foundation/Carnegie Foundation funded project to evaluate microcomputing products, is responsible for the series content.

"The number of companies entering the computer marketplace is staggering," says Ken Komoski, executive director of EPIE. "Consumers are going to have to do their homework in order to make intelligent decisions about their purchases, and this series will help viewers with that homework.

"We'll be getting advice from some of the best experts in the country on such subjects as incompatibility of equipment, functional obsolescence, trading up, putting advertising in the proper perspective and other problems common to computer consumers.'

"We're already seeing the beginning of the computer boom in Kentucky, says Sandra H. Welch, deputy executive director at KET. "We feel there has never been a greater need for unbiased information on microcomputing, and we're excited by this opportunity to provide educators and parents with the necessary information to make informed and economical decisions.'

Demand Is Heavy for MSU Computer Camp

It's summer again and youngsters across the nation are heading off to camp where they will swim, hike and do other fun-in-the-sun things.

At Morehead State University, a different kind of camp is being held this summer, one that keeps youngsters inside most of the day. It's a microcomputer camp for students entering grades seven through 12.

During the one-week camps, participants will learn to program PETS brand microcomputers in the BASIC language. The program writing skills they learn can then be used with any brand computer

Six camps with 24 students each are scheduled and, because of the demand, another camp may be added.

This is the third year MSU has held computer camps. Since the first year, the number of participants has increased from 42 to nearly 150. This year, 150 applications were received after the camps were filled.

'We could run two camps each week all summer if we had more staffers and computers," says Louise Louder, secretary, Department of Mathematical Sciences at MSU, who is responsible for recruiting students for the camps. "That's our plans for next year."

An additional 26 computers have been ordered and should arrive some time this summer

There are no special requirements for computer-campers and a knowledge of computers is not necessary.

'They start at the beginning, right from turning on the computer," Louder explains. "The first day they learn all the basics, then start writing simple

One of the programs students wrote last year was how to make a peanut butter sandwich. After the information was put into the computer, the instructions were printed and followed with real peanut butter and bread.

'When they made the sandwich, they could see how important it is to give the

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The May and June meetings of the Allen Woman's Club were held at the George and Josephine Evans Multi-Purpose Complex at the Allen Park.

Donations of $50 each were made to the Future Business Leaders of America and to the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theater. Several members attended the Drift Woman's Club dinner, May 16. One-year tutition scholarships were approved for Missy Reynolds, of Allen, and Schular Hurd, Jr., of Ivel, to attend at Prestonsburg Community College.

Members present in May were Joann Adams, Hollie Blanton, Judy Hester, Janie King, Judy May, Bonnie Porter, Diana Reed, Bernice Westfall and Mary Westfal; in June, Joann Adams, Hollie Blanton, Belle Conn, Judy Hester, Mary Hinchman, Janie King, Judy May, Diana Reed, and guest Elizabeth Bailey.

Members and their families will have a family picnic Thursday, June 23 at the Allen Park at 6 p.m. They plan to attend the musical, "Annie," Aug. 8 at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theater.

computer all the information it needs,' explains Louder. "For instance, instead of just saying 'Spread the peanut butter,' you have to say 'Spread the peanut butter on the bread' or you may end up with it on your hand.

Participants spend six hours each day working with computers, totalling as many hours as college students attend class during a semester-long computer

"These kids are so eager to work that they are at the door at 8 a.m. ready to go," says Louder. "We have had very few problems keeping them interested."

Because of the demand, Louder suggests that anyone interested in attending one of next summer's camps apply in January 1984.

The weeks of June 12-17, 19-24 and July 10-15 are for students with no experience in programming and who will enter grades 7, 8, or 9 in the fall. The weeks of June 26-July 17-22 are for beginners entering grades 10, 11 and 12. The week of July 24-29 is limited to students in grades 7 through 12 with programming experience and knowledge of the BASIC language, and participants of previous computer camps.

For more information about MSU's microcomputer camps, contact Louise Louder at MSU, UPO 739, Morehead, Ky. 40351. The telephone number is (606)

Exhaustion, Stroke Are Summer Hazards

It's been a long time coming to Kentucky this year, but summer is sending its first hint of hot, humid weather. A Cabinet for Human Resources health official hopes people take the hint and study up on first aid for the two most serious heat-related illnesses, heat exhaustion and heat stroke.

While both illnesses are caused by exposure to too much heat and humidity, there is a critical difference in the two, says Dr. Ward Hinds, director for epidemiology in the cabinet's Department for Health Services.

The critical difference is that heat exhaustion is rarely fatal, while heat stroke kills up to one-half its victims.

"Skin temperature and moistness is a key to the difference between the two conditions," Hinds said. Heat exhaustion victims perspire, so their skin feels moist or clammy. Heat stroke is a breakdown in the body's ability to carry off heat through perspiration. The heat stroke victim's skin is very hot and dry to the touch and usually appears flushed before it turns gray. Mental confusion or delirium may be noticed as early symptoms, usually followed by unconsciousness.

"If a heat-stroke victim is to have a fair chance of surviving, bystanders must act immediately," Hinds said. "Get professional medical attention as soon as possible, and start working right away to lower the victim's body temperature.

Hinds advised covering the victim's body with ice or pouring water or other cold liquid on the victim. Wet sheets may be wrapped around the body and fanned. The arms and legs should be rubbed vigorously to get the cooler blood circulating throughout the body.

If heat stroke causes convulsions, place a handkerchief or some other soft object between the victim's teeth to prevent injury, Hinds said.

"Heat stroke can cause the victim's internal temperature to go up quickly, even as high as 111 degrees," he said. "Immediate first aid and professional medical help are vital.

Heat exhaustion happens more frequently and is usually not a serious problem. Hinds said. A victim will continue to perspire and may experience nausea, a headache, confusion or a dizzy feeling.

Unless a heat exhaustion victim lapses into a coma, vomits repeatedly or cannot drink, professional medical help probably is not necessary. Hinds suggests that the victim be moved to a cool place and given liquids containing a small amount of salt if he is able to swallow. The symptoms of heat exhaustion usually disappear as the water and salt losses of the body are replaced.

Preventing heat-related illnesses is a matter of common sense, advises Hinds. "Obviously, staying out of extreme heat and humidity will prevent these problems," he said. "A person who must be outside on a very hot day should rest frequently in a cool place and drink plenty of liquids. Persons with heart problems should be especially careful.

* Cancer Hopeline

Q. I have skin cancer. My doctor said he was goiong to do cryosurgery on it and that it involves freezing the cancer. Is that really what he will do? How can

A. Cryosurgery destroys tumors by freezing them with liquid nitrogen. Instead of a scalpel, the surgeon uses a hollow metal probe containing liquid nitrogen. The tip of the probe is inserted into the tumor or applied to its surface until the tumor has frozen solidly enough to kill the cancer cells.

The surgeon carefully keeps a check on the temperature of the tumor so he will know when it has frozen solidly enough to begin thawing it slowly. The thawing process helps kill the cancer. This freezing-thawing procedure is repeated two or three times to make sure the tumor is completely destroyed.

Within four or five days after cryosurgery, the treated area begins to slough off as the body gets rid of dead cancer cells. A sore, which will heal slowly, remains.

Cryosurgery is used most effectively on tumors which can be easily seen and felt. As in your case, it is used on certain skin cancers as well as head and neck tumors. Research is underway to apply cryosurgery to the treatment of other cancers, particularly those of the pancreas and localized bone tumors.

Have you run across a mystifying word related to cancer or its treatment? Counselors at the Cancer Hopeline can help you. Give them a call toll free at 1-800-4-CANCER from 9-5 Monday-Friday. You may also write to 915 South Limestone Street, Lexington, KY 40536

Why Give

"I'll give blood if someone needs it. This is often the first response people give when asked to donate blood. Somebody needs blood every day-an average of 160 pints are used daily in Central and Eastern Kentucky hospitals.

The Central Kentucky Blood Center is the agency responsible for meeting the blood needs of patients in 39 Kentucky Hospitals. Blood cannot be made by mixing some chemicals together, but can only come from someone who is willing to give it. In order to have enough blood for all types, the Center must have nearly 200 volunteer donors each day. The blood donated at community blood drives such as the one being planned by Highlands Regional Medical Center on June 22 helps to maintain a steady supply for people in this area.

It can take up to six hours to process (test) a pint of blood before it can be transfused. When CKBC brings its staff to Highlands in the In-service classroom from 10:00 AM to 6:00 PM on Wednesday, June 22, the donated blood will be brought back to the Center's lab for testing. It will then be shipped to some or all of the hospitals in our area. Once received by the hospitals, it must be matched with the patient's blood before it can be transfused. That patient could possibly be a resident of Floyd, Johnson, or any nearby county. So, why give blood when there seems to be no immediate need? There is always a need and patients may not be able to wait six hours to get the blood they need now. Employees are urged to call Billie Goble at 886-8511 and make an appointment to donate. You don't have to be a lifeguard to be a lifesaver!

CITY OF MARTIN

REPORT ON EXAMINATION OF COMBINED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION for the year ended June 30, 1982

HENSLEY, ALLEN & COMPANY

1889 ALEXANDRIA DRIVE 606-255-7154

1t.

Mayor Larry B. Hall and the City Council City of Martin Martin, Kentucky

We have examined the combined financial statements of the City of Martin, Kentucky, as of and for the year ended June 30, 1982, as listed in the table of contents. Except as indicated in the following paragraph, our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and, accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

Because of inadequacies in the City's accounting records for the previous year, it was not practicable to extend our auditing procedures to enable us to express an opinion on the combined statements of revenues, expenditures and changes in fund balances for the year ended June 30, 1982 or on the consistency of application of accounting principles with the preceding year.

As described in Note 2, the combined financial statements referred to above do not include the General Fixed Assets Account Group which should be included to conform to generally accepted accounting principles In our opinion, except that the omission of the financial statement described above results in an incomplete presentation, the combined balance sheet presents fairly the financial position of the City of Martin, Kentucky as of June 30, 1982 in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Our examination was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the combined financial statements taken as a whole. The supplemental information listed in the table of contents are presented for purposes of additional analysis and are not a required part of the combined financial statements of the City of Martin, Kentucky. The information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the examination of the combined fiancial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the combined financial statements taken as a whole.

Accounting Policies
The City of Martin maintains its accounting records on the cash basis.
Accruals were made from memorandum records to conform to generally accepted accounting principles which requires the modified accrual basis of accounting for governmental fund types.

General fixed asset purchases are recorded as expenditures in the appropriate fund at the time of purchase. Such assets are reported at cost in the general fixed asset account group by asset classification

Grant revenues restricted in use are recognized when eligible expenditures are incurred. Amounts received but unearned are reported as deferred

Scope
The City has not maintained an adequate record of its general fixed assets, therefore the combined balance sheet does not include the General Fixed Assets Account Group, as required by generally accepted accounting principles.

The scope of our examination did not include the Martin Water Works which is administered by a separate commission.

Judgement Payable - Wage Claim
The City of Martin was ordered by Floyd Circuit Court on March 23, 1982 to pay the Chief of Police $20,192.50 plus interest of eight percent per annum as compensation for the City's failure to pay overtime to the Chief of Police in violation of K.R.S. 337.285.

K.R.S.91A Compliance
Kentucky Revised Statutes Chapter 91A requires each city to enact an annual budget for each fund of the city and provides that "no city shall expend any moneys from any governmental or proprietary fund, except in accordance with a budget ordinance adopted pursuant to this section" (91A.030(1)). The City of Martin's actual expenditures for 1982 exceeded the budget as adopted as disclosed in the combined financial statements.

Further, K.R.S.91A.030(11) requires the executive authority to prepare and submit to the legislative body "operating statements which shall include budgetary comparisons of each governmental fund for which an annual budget has been adopted. Such reports shall be submitted not less than once every three (3) months in each fiscal year." We were unable to determine if such reports had been prepared or submitted.

K.R.S.42 Compliance
Kentucky Revised Statutes Chapter 42.455 requires each recipient of Local Government Economic Assistance (LGEA) funds to conduct a proposed use hearing, budget hearing, file an annual use report and to spend at least thirty (30) percent of the funds to maintain local public highways. We found no evidence of compliance with these requirements for the year ended June 30, 1982.

Kindergarten Grads Here

Kindergarten classes at Prestonsburg Elementary School held graduation exercises at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 19, in the school's auditorium which was decorated to reflect the theme of the program, "Our First Year." After the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag, Harry Ruff, Jr., welcomed parents and guests, and the children sang several songs. Mother Goose, portrayed for the morning class by Christine Lewis and for the afternoon class by Jessica McKinney, asked each child to recite a favorite nursery rhyme.

The children introduced themselves as Thomas Tackett, principal, presented their diplomas, and told him what they want to do when they are grown. The teacher, Mrs. Paula Collins, was presented with a plaque and flowers by the children and their parents.

The family of the late Rev. Mansford and Vina Davis, formerly of Dwale, held it's annual family reunion at the Jenny Wiley State Park, Sunday, May 30. In the evening, a short memorial service was held at Davidson Memorial Gardens, with singing by family members and prayer by the Rev. Elmer

Tours Are Feature Of MSU Weekend

The Floyd County Times

"I've been there at least a hundred times, and I still get high every time I come through the gap and out of the laurel thicket. It literally sneaks up on you...even though you know it's there," says Dr. Roland Burns

The it is view of Tight Hollow, one of the areas Dr. Burns, Morehead State University professor geology, will be leading hikers through as part of MSU's annual Appalachian Celebration.

The celebration, sponsored by the Appalachian Development Center, is a campus-wide festival that pays homage to the past, present and future of Appalachia. Tours and hikes are but one of many activities.

Because last year's tours and hikes were so popular, and many were turned away because of limited space on buses, the activity has been expanded to four days this year. Buses will leave the MSU campus each day at 9 a.m. and return around 5 p.m.

Tours scheduled are: Jesse Stuart Tour to W-Hollow, Wednesday, June 22; Covered Bridge Tour, Thursday, June 23; Tight Hollow Tour, Friday, June 24; Red River Gorge, Natural Bridge and Clear Creek Furnace Tour, Saturday, June 25.

The Jesse Stuart Tour to W-Hollow will be a bus tour of the internationally renowned writer's home in Greenup county and will take place in conjunction with the two-day Jesse Stuart Symposium. The writer's brother, James Stuart, and sister, Mary Nelson, will be the guides.

The Covered Bridge Tour will consist of visits to several covered bridges in Fleming and Mason counties, including the picturesque and often photographed bridges of Goddard and Ringo's Mill.

In addition, tourists will visit Old Washington and Maysville with their restored limestone sidewalks and authentic log buildings, such as the oldest post office west of the Allegheney Mountains. The famous Blue Licks Battlefield will also be visited.

The Tight Hollow and Red River Gorge Tours will both include hiking over rough terrain into rustic wilderness areas of virgin forests. Thickets of mountain laurel and rhododendrum should be in bloom at the time.

Hiking shoes and pants are recommended for all tours.

"You'd better get crackin' if you want to go on one of these tours," Dr. Burns remarks. "The buses are filling up fast and some tours have only a few available seats left."

There is a fee for each tour, and lunch is dutch-treat, either at a local restaurant on the tour route or a sack

For registration information, contact Stacy Moore, Coordinator of Tours and Hikes, Appalachian Development Center, MSU, Morehead, Ky. 40351. The telephone number is (606) 783-2077.

Jennifer Ray Lynn Whitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery Ray Whitt, was honored on her first birthday with a party at the home of her parents in Paintsville, Monday. Decorated birthday cake, ice cream and soft drinks were served to a large number of relatives and friends. The little honoree was presented many gifts. She is the granddaughter of the late Billy Ray Whitt, of Sugar Loaf, and Betsy Whitt McDonald, of Canton, Michigan. Her maternal grandparents are James Castle, of Paintsville, and the

594 Get Help On Power Bills

A total of 594 customers received nearly $35,000 to help pay their electric bills in Kentucky Power Company's recently completed Neighbor Helping Neighbor program.

'We believe this program, unique in Kentucky, was highly successful. Money donated by customers and company employees was matched dollar for dollar by Kentucky Power. This amount, added to the company's initial $10,000 donation, formed the fund for paying needy customers' electric bills," R.E. Matthews, president of Kentucky Power, said today.

"After we had received all customer donations, we found that there were still some customers whose needs had not been met," Matthews explained. 'Therefore, the company contributed nearly $2,000 more to satisfy these needs.

All customers who received assistance through the Neighbor Helping Neighbor program had been approved for assistance by the Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources.

A total of 1,780 customers donated more than $11,000 in the program.

"We want to express our appreciation to those customers who saw the need for assistance and helped us meet it in this program. We also thank the Cabinet for Human Resources for its cooperation, guidance, and hard work," Matthews

He also expressed appreciation to Deloitte Haskins & Sells, which is providing auditing at no charge, First Bank & Trust Company of Ashland, which contributed banking services, and to "our stockholders, who provided the company funds which were used in the program."

Martin Co. Group Asks Hearings On Ky. Power Role in New Plant

The Public Service Commission was asked last week by a Martin county citizens' group to hold new hearings on the role Kentucky Power Company will play in building a power plant at Rock-

The PSC has already authorized Kentucky Power to invest $312 million in the plant, in return for a 15% share of its generating capacity, and that's what Concerned Citizens of Martin County want considered in new hearings.

Concerned Citizens don't believe the added generating capacity is necessary, Burt Diamond, chairman of the group's utility committee, said at a news

Terry Kelleher, director of the 100-member citizens' group, said it also has filed as an intervenor—a party to the case-in Kentucky Power's $33 million rate-increase request.

Kelleher said the group would object to any part of the increase intended to pay for construction of the Rockport plant, which he said could be as much as $20 million.

He said the group has written to the PSC asking that it reconsider its ruling that Kentucky Power could invest in the Diamond said Kentucky Power has used projected increases for times of peak demand to justify the plant construction. But he said peak demands actually have been declining.

The Rockport plant is being built by Michigan & Indiana Power, a member of the Ohio-based American Electric Power system. 'At its last peak demand, the AEP system possessed a reserve margin of 43.6 percent, a figure which is about twice as much as the industry's standards generally require," Diamond

"Kentucky Power has ready access to that reserve," Kelleher said.

Diamond said the citizens' group, which has been active in tax and community-improvement issues, decided to take on the Kentucky Power issue because of member complaints.

'It affects us because we pay the bills," Diamond said. "We don't really need this thing.

Diamond and Kelleher also noted that plans for the Rockport plant call for burning Wyoming coal in the first generating unit to be completed.

"While Eastern Kentucky suffers from a slumping economy and soaring unemployment rates, we will be forced to pay for Wyoming coal in our monthly utility bills," Diamond said.

Natural Landscapes Take Root

By DAVID M. MAXFIELD Smithsonian News Service

Directly across the street from the formal, meticulously groomed lawn of the French Ambassador's residence in Washington, D.C., is a corner yard of quite a different color. Here, during the summer, random clumps of blazingyellow black-eyed Susans shower the neighborhood with color; ornamental grasses, some as tall as a man, billow in the breeze, and dozens of day lilies punctuate the informal scene.

For American homeowners accustomed to neat, green lawns, trim hedges and perhaps a white picket fence around it all, such exuberant perennial plantings may seem a bit scraggly, if not hopelessly chaotic. Yet free-spirited, no-mow landscapes are winning converts across America, among them the completely committed who actually have dug up their lawns to make room for a serendipitious pastiche of plants and flowers. Once the eye adjusts to the new textures and arrangements, the rewards are plentiful in terms of maintenance and enjoyment.

Considering today's hectic schedules and expensive labor costs, the so-called naturalistic garden gives a welcome break from the repetitive cycles of mowing, fertilizing, watering—and worrying. "I don't spend more than an hour a month maintaining my own townhouse garden," says landscape architect James van Sweden, nationally known for his work in this style. "The big maintenance push is in late wintercutting all the greases down, mulching and generally cleaning up. This takes about five or six hours-but that's all it takes Van Sweden also reports that his gardens, characterized by cascading plants of varied textures and heights, can withstand a certain amount of "benign neglect." Divisions between plantings are allowed to shift as one species or another dominates an area. This creates designs that are ever changing in contrast to traditional landscapes that to van Sweden are "boring in their sameness from one season to the next.

The alternative landscape, moreover, can be an effective antidote to what may have become an insidious, sometimes obsessive lawn-care habit, one offering owners little pleasure with the passing years. Flowering perennials and ornamental grasses, integrated with evergreens, spring bulbs and budding annuals, not only broaden the range of attractions in both large and small gardens; they also provide unexpected beauty year round.

"Anyone can create a spring garden," van Sweden asserts. "That doesn't take much skill." The challenge, one that pays dividends, he says, is to choose "all-season" plantings so that what is green and lush in summer will become golden and dramatically spare in winter. The colorful, fuzzy plumes of flowing fountain grass, for example, arch to a height of 3 feet or so in late summer; then, in winter, the strawcolored leaves, when left intact, contrast handsomely against the snow. If thought out carefully, says van Sweden, the winter garden "will look like a large arrangement of dried flowers.

Naturalistic gardening, one definition goes, assimilates the horticulture of the wild and interprets it for the modern landscape. Wild shrubs, rock outcroppings and other environmental features that once would have been removed or leveled to create an orderly landscape are now valued for the surprise and spontaneity they give residential settings. This, an advocate suggests, helps achieve the true purpose of outdoor space, that of soothing and refreshing the spirit. Though natural landscaping works best on relatively small properties-the idea is especially

The shift away from predictable formalism, where even the slightest plant imperfection can produce visual bright, is rooted in a movement begun two centuries ago when the English landscaper, Capability Brown, reacted to the excruciatingly formal gardens of his time and planted the idea of natural landscaping featuring picturesque forests and pastoral scenes on large country estates. The story of modern gardening from that time on has been the story of greater and greater interest in plants and more and more variety, with cor-

Today's enthusiasm for outdoor living, concern for energy conservation, interest in uncommon plants and need for privacy and respite from the stress of daily life have made the no-lawn landscape a natural for many Americans. Alongside these considerations, many people today seem to have a need for some "punch and drama" in their gardens, suggests van Sweden, who recently discussed his garden concepts at a Smithsonian Resident Associate program. "Mystery," he says, "is also an important consideration. In the formal garden, everything is too clear."

The attraction of unusual garden plants harks back to the 19th century when the English horticulturist, Gertrude Jekyll, perfected the perennial border, a massive flower bed filled with a careful grading of heights and colors. One visitor to Jekyll's garden recalled that it was "like an entry into a new world, or walking through a static rainbow.

But by the first decade of the 20th century, enthusiasm for the perennial border had wilted; the "static rainbow," Johnson pointed out, "needed not only a consummate artist to design it but endless painstaking craftsmanship to keep it going." But worst of all, out of season there was nothing to see but bare

Now, however, perennials are back in vogue-multi-hued day lilies, showy delphiniums, dahlias, daisies and many more. Differing from Jekyll's day, the perennials are part of a mixed system of planting where border specimens take their place alongside shrubs, trees, annuals and early-blooming bulbs. The advantages? Less work and a far longer season of flowers, epitomized by the day lilies, perhaps the ultimate easy care perennial. Depending on the variety, they can bloom from mid-spring through early fall.

For many natural garden converts, the stars of the seasonal show are the ornamental grasses, some of dwarf dimension, others rising to 14 feet in a season. Related to such staples as wheat, rice, oats and corn, the decorative grasses generally prefer sunny climates. They look best as individual plants or in small clumps and are useful as neutral coloring or soft texture beside plants of strong color or severe angularity. Kathy Meehan, a consultant to the Smithsonian's Office of Horticulture, recommends that before planting such grasses as the eye-catching plume or the stately pampas, a green thumb would be wise to determine how tall they grow and whether they will need support. "Some are simply gigantic, take a lot of room and are overpowering," she cautions. "You should decide whether you want that

"We select plants that can be allowed to grow to whatever size they would naturally," van Sweden says, "rather than plan something the owners would continually have to hack away at to keep in scale." Compact plants, for example, are planted next to the house, so that pruning in front of windows is never necessary. Meanwhile, larger varieties are positioned away from the house to provide privacy from the street and neighbors

As welcome as the ornamentals and their pals the perennials may be in the alternative landscape, there comes a time when something is needed to integrate and unify the garden-perhaps ivy, maybe ferns, periwinkle, hosta or juniper. And yes, even a strip of grass might do to tie things together.

Seldom taking center stage, ground covers, as they are known, provide backup support. "Ground covers are good connectors," Arlington, Va., landscape architect Sunny Scully says. "If you have one of everything with no connections, it becomes confusing.

Widely used in the West as lawn alternatives, ground covers add color and texture to a landscape, and they thrive where grasses will not-on steep slopes, in dense shade or dry, poor soil-all the while playing a low-profile, lowmaintenance garden role. Used in combination-glossy ivy with gray-blue juniper is one possibility-ground covers add swaths of serenity to a landscape. They also integrate well with wood, brick, stone and paved paths and drives and visually link randomly planted spring bulbs.

While ivy is popular because of its fast growth, hardiness and adaptability, Scully recommends that homeowners first think through their property's characteristics before choosing specific ground covers. The prickly yucca is a plant "I would never have thought of treating as a ground cover," she says, "but if you have a place where dogs or people cut across your property, yucca is the trick.

After everything is planted in the natural garden, landscape designers advise that the new convert not worry about mistakes. The garden, unlike the patio, is not set in concrete.

Johnny Got His Gun' Featured On June 39

Joe Bonham's story is told in "Johnny Got His Gun," to be aired on KET Wednesday, June 29, at 9 p.m. Based on Dalton Trumbo's 1939 novel, the twohour film features Timothy Bottoms as Joe, Jason Robards as Joe's father, Donald Sutherland as Jesus and Diane Varsi as the understanding nurse.

A World War I doughboy, Joe returns home horribly injured by a German artillery shell. His arms and legs are gone. His face has been blown away, and he is blind, deaf and mute. His doctors are convinced that he is incapable of feeling. thought or communication and plan to use what's left of his body for medical research. But the doctors are wrong. Joe Bonham's mind is active and alert and silently screaming for help.

The story begins with three military doctors convinced that this mass of living organs lying before them is completely "decerebrated." To avoid publicity and embarrassment, they order "it" stored out of sight in a dark closet with minimal care. Reeling in silent mental agony, Joe's mind flees to those who can help him in this living nightmare: his parents, his sweetheart and Jesus

Joe's agony is temporarily relieved when a new nurse is assigned to his closet who attempts to communicate by writing letters on his chest. Joe responds in Morse code asking the doctors and nurse to "kill me" or "put me on public display

With the help of his nurse, Joe uses the Morse code to communicate by tapping his head on a pillow. What he says and the way the doctors react provide a shattering climax.

"Johnny Got His Gun" was produced by Bruce Campbell and directed and written by Dalton Trumbo.

A farm pond can offer many hours of pleasant "backyard" fishing, but it takes some attention to make sure that the pond remains a good fish producer. The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources provides bass, bluegill and channel catfish for farm pond stocking, as well as technical advice and assistance to pond owners.

Although the annual deadline for stocking applications is October 1, now is a good time to start working on getting fish for your pond, says Pete Pfeif-fer, director of the fisheries division for the fish and wildlife department.

For one thing, most folks are thinking about fishing now and are more likely to remember that their ponds need some attention. In September, most outdoorsmen are getting ready for hunting seasons and may forget about that pond until after the deadline has passed.

Previously stocked ponds which offer poor fishing may need extensive and time-consuming work before they can be restocked, Pfeiffer says. So it's a good idea to get in touch with the local conservation officer now to see what work your pond needs before it can be restocked this fall.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is happy to offer assistance to pond owners and to make recommendations about pond fertilization, weed and algae control or how to restore or maintain the proper balance between bass and bluegill in the pond.

If you are catching only small bluegill and no bass, chances are your pond is out of balance, Pfeiffer says. Often the only solution, particularly for a pond of one-half acre or less, is to completely renovate the pnd by removing all the existing fish and starting over

If your pond does have a good balance between bass and bluegill populations, it is important to catch enough bluegill to keep it that way. Pfeiffer recommends that five to seven pounds of bluegill be harvested for each pound of

This means that for every 13-inch bass removed from the pond, between 50 and 75 five-inch bluegill should also be caught. If this ratio is not maintained, the bluegill will often overpopulate and become stunted because of insufficient

The man to see for stocking applications or about pond problems is the coned income - adjusted gross income plus servation officer in your county. He can one-half of benefits - over the base answer your questions himself, or he may request that a fishery biologist visit People receiving benefits should keep your pond for further investigation.

If you don't know your conservation officer, call the county court clerk or the local sheriff's office and ask for his name and phone number.

There is a $10 handling charge for fish stocking, and having your pond stocked by the Department of Fish and Wildlife does not obligate you to open the pond for public fishing or in any other way interfere with your right to control access to your land. As a pond owner, you may ty office, located on U.S. 23 between also place more restrictive size and creel limits on your pond than those in force on public waters.

HAROLD

PTA OFFICERS REPORT
The Harold Elementary P.T.A. of-

The Harold Elementary P.T.A. officers report on their accomplishments of the past year:

The P.T.A. purchased skillpacks for students at a cost of $1,478, an awning connecting outer classrooms to main school building at a cost of $6,389, and donated $4,600 to be divided among the teachers for any needed classroom supplies.

The Harold P.T.A. thanks parents, area merchants, and teachers for their work and support in helping to raise the money to fund these projects. It also acknowledges contributions of the Floyd County Board and special thanks to John M. Stumbo, Chairman of the Floyd County Board, Educational District 3. Their contributions were of a much needed library, a second grade teacher to help ease overcrowding of our classrooms and a water cooler.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Greeley Waddles, with deepest gratitude, wishes to thank all who helped in any way during our time of sorrow. We deeply appreciate the flowers, food and the words of kindness given by everyone. A special thanks to the ministers and the members of the Rebecca Regular Baptist Church and also, to the Hall Funeral Home for its part in easing our pain during this trying time.
