Grand Jury Will Probe 6 Slayings

Jury Session May Not End This Week As Caseload Heavy

When the grand jury began its session here Tuesday morning, it faced a heavy case-load which included at least six slayings

Early in the session the jurors began hearing the evidence gathered against the alleged slayers, mainly testimony offered by Kentucky state troopers and detectives. Indictments are expected before the jury adjourns. Larry Jervis is foreman of the jury

"Looks like a busy grand jury session," Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen commented. "We may not get through, this week.'

The murder investigation work will involve the slayings of:

Larry Wilson, on Buck's Branch, near Martin; Ellis Joe "Bo" Campbell, on Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek; Bennie Lewis, at Emma; the Lazar brothers, Walter and Reginald, at Estill, and Maurice Ray Collins, at Bypro.

The regular grand jury was spared the investigation of the sensational case in which three are charged with the murder of Mrs. Glenda Sharon Marshall when a special grand jury was empanelled and indictments were handed down recently against Mrs. Marshall's husband, Clyde Douglas Marshall, Bobby Gene McGuffey and Carl Harold McFarland.

Meanwhile, the trials of defendants indicted by earlier grand juries will be under way. Jurors empanelled for trial duty during the current term are:

State Auditors Claim Late Clerk's Debt Was More Than Half-Million

According to a state audit of the late C. Ollie Robinson's financial records released last week, the clerk owed the state and county more than half a million dollars at his death in February.

The clerk's bookkeeping practices were so informal they fell below minimum state requirements and made overall comment impossible, the audit report said.

Conducted by the office of Auditor of Public Accounts James B. Graham, the audit showed a deficit of $510.671. The clerk was bonded for $50,000 and a family member assessed the value of his estate at $75,000.

Major claims on the estate have been filed by the state Transportation Cabinet-for $288,989 in unpaid registration fees-and the Revenue Cabinetfor $116,398 in delinquent taxes. The county has previously claimed $51,047 in excess fees due for the years 1976 through 1981. And the Bank Josephine lists a $15,058 "special fund" overdraft.

In addition, the final audit reveals $11,408 in excess fees due to the county for 1982 and 1983 and $68,442 in other taxes owed to the county or county agencies for 1977 through 1983-about half of it in unpaid deed transfer taxes.

Robinson would not have had to pay the county excess fees for the past two years except that the auditors disallowed salary and overtime payments which had not been authorized by the fiscal court.

Also disallowed were 1982 payments totalling $2132 which the auditors listed as personal rather than official expenses. The payments violated state law, the audit said.

In redlining salary and overtime payments, Graham points out that a May, 1981 fiscal court order authorizes only 10 fulltime and three parttime deputies for the clerk's office and sets maximum salaries for them. In 1982, Robinson paid $41,239 beyond what the court had authorized and, in 1983, $5083. The fiscal court may yet agree to accept the unauthorized salary and overtime payments, the audit notes.

This Town...That World

Again its Labor Day Monday and again we're "keeping" Labor Day-you might say, wholly-by working.

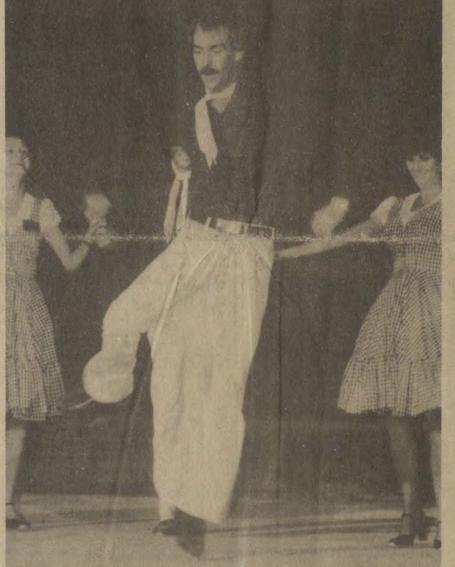

TAMPERING WITH THE EVIDENCE A former county agent of Owsley county was telling me the other day of the crisis that arose in the courthouse at Booneville, some years back, and how a certain county official met it.

This official rushed into the county agent's office and inquired in a harried stage whisper, "Where's that bottle of whiskey?

"There behind that file where you always keep it," he was told. "What's the trouble?

"Tell you later-no time now," the offical whispered and dashed out with the bottle.

Curious, the farm agent followed his friend to the door to peek outside. Then he understood the situation. All the

Conley Gets Tough With Truant Jurors

If you're called for jury duty, you had better be prepared to serve. That was the advice Circuit Judge Hollie Conley had for 61 potential jurors who turned up yesterday (Tuesday) for the opening of the court's fall quarter.

His hard line came in response to a flood of requests from those who wanted to be excused from jury service. He also had the support of the law, the judge noted bluntly

While he would allow people to postpone jury duty for a good reason, only illness would excuse a person altogether, he said.

Danny Patton, safety director at National Mines, was passed over for this term. So was Elmer Johnson, who runs a cutting machine. Epp Banks would be in to serve as soon as he finished repairing an air-conditioner. Half a dozen more were passed over for job-related reasons

If they were themselves in court, they would want their cases to be heard by 'good people," the judge argued. "You wouldn't want stragglers.

In place of the old system, where three commissioners selected jurors from each section of the county-a system that had a way of turning up the same faces from one year to anotherselection of potential jurors is now a computerized operation run out of the Secretary of State's office.

If you have a driver's license, or own a piece of property, or are registered to vote, or have an automobile registered in your name, you may be randomly selected and added to the list of about 1000 names furnished the court whenever the jury pool here runs low. (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

Burglars struck Jones' General Store at Banner last week, the second break reported in that community recently.

Proprietor Ronald Jones said he discovered the break when he arrived to open the store shortly after 8 a.m. Wednesday. A cash register containing about $180 and merchandise valued at more than $5000 was taken, he said.

The thieves gained entry by forcing a lock and then used a shopping cart and garbage pails to carry off beer, cigarettes, radios, food and clothing. The loss was not insured.

Jones said the store was equipped with a burglar alarm but he had not activated it the night of the break-in. An apartment above the store which is usually occupied was vacated about two weeks ago, he said.

Also the target of thieves recently was the home of Leo J. Rice, plumbing contractor, on Prater Creek. A United Parcels Service delivery man reported seeing two men drive away from the residence around 11:30 a.m., August 5.

The intruders entered by breaking a sliding glass door. They took a safe containing bonds and cash the family had been saving for a vacation, said Mrs. Maxine Rice. Also missing were two guns, a' collection of silver coins, a microwave oven, a mantel clock, and a saxophone. Two Weedeaters were taken from a garden shed.

Although the loss amounting to several thousand dollars is covered by insurance, "You feel right sick, coming in and seeing it...things you've worked for," Mrs. Rice said.

moonshine whiskey that had been confiscated over a period of months was being poured out in front of the courthouse. Only, a bit of substituting had been done while that contraband was held in

Zapata Ends Its Coal Operations By Recent Sale

The Zapata Corporation is quitting the coal business, where it reportedly lost money, to return to its original specialties of offshore drilling and oil and gas exploration where it make its millions. Its coal subsidiary, Zapata Fuels, has sold its holdings, including Floyd, Lawrence and Magoffin county mines, to the Stanford Coal Co. for $100 million. Stanford Coal Co., a closely held firm, was incorporated only a few days before the Zapata Fuels purchase. It was organized by six coal managers of Zapata and is headed by Thetford H. Callahan, president of Zapata Fuels.

The properties conveyed in the transaction are the Bebe Coal Corp., which Zapata bought from Emitt Conn, of Harold, and the Triple Elkhorn Coal Co. and Ridgeway Fuel Corp., both of which were acquired from Harry Hale Ranier, formerly of Prestonsburg, now of Lexington

LIVELY FOLK DANCING will be featured during Friday night's session of the 18th annual Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival. Craft exhibits, workshops and mini-concerts will be held during the day, Saturday, with Saturday night devoted to the music of Appalachia. The festival will conclude with a presentation of traditional religious music, Sunday,

For 17 who didn't show up at all, bench warrants would be issued, the judge said.

Serving on a jury is like going to jail, Conley said-it's never convenient but it sometimes has to be done. Of those who had petitioned him in vain to be excused, the judge said, "I'm sure you had some choice words for me under your breath. But this (jury duty) is part of our system.

Addressing the common argument that juries should be filled by those with nothing better to do, the judge reminded his audience that the Constitution provides for trial by a jury of one's peers. "That means a random selection teachers, miners, retirees, young people, old people, men and women," he said.

RENOVATION WORK on a structure at the Dewey Lake Fish & Game Club's grounds at Stratton Branch was under way this week in preparation for the club's annual fish fry, scheduled for September 25. General improvements to the grounds and associated facilities such as the club's trap and firing range, shelters and parking accomodations have been accomplished over the summer as a primary objective of the club.

Plea of Guilty Ends Court Case

A Wheelwright man pleaded guilty in circuit court Tuesday to a burglary charge stemming from a break-in at a Left Beaver service station last March. Fred Greer, 21, was accused with Wiley Keith Pennington of breaking into a gas station owned by Freeman Newman at Hi Hat. Cigarettes, candy and tools valued at around $1400 were taken

Greer will be sentenced September 23. Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Albert Burchett has recommended that he be given a two-year jail term. The facts that the defendant has no prior record and that he cooperated with police in recovering some of the stolen goods are expected to be urged in his favor. He is married, with two children, and will remain free while awaiting sentence

Pennington earlier pleaded guilty and received a three-year sentence.

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley followed the prosecutor's recommendation in giving Craig Triplett, 22, a five-year probated sentence. Triplett, of Jacks Creek, earlier pleaded guilty to receiving a stereo stolen from Slone's Market at Bevinsville.

•Highland Folk Fest To Highlight Weekend

The musicians are tuning their instruments and the dancers are shining their shoes for the 18th annual Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival, which will be held at Jenny Wiley State Park, beginning Friday and continuing through Sunday, Sept. 11

The festival will begin Friday evening at 7 in the amphitheatre with a country dance celebration. Dance groups from the area, as well as the Kentucky Heritage Dancers from Lexington, will be featured.

Saturday, festivities will begin at 10 with an arts and crafts fair on the amphitheatre parking lot. Other acvities during the day will include folk ales by Ron Dobler, of Morehead, and Tim Sizemore, of David; a tune swap and sing-along; a shaped-note singing school; a square dance workshop; and puppet shows. The Gum Branch Heartbreakers, The Ratcliff Family Band, John Skaggs, and Michael Jonathan will perform in separate miniconcerts

Saturday evening at 7, the festival will return to the amphitheatre for a program of traditional music from the hills. Among those joining the performers from the daytime events will be Homer Ledform, of Winchester, playing his own handmade instruments.

The festival will close Sunday afternoon at 5 with a program of religious music. Founded by Prestonsburg's Edith Fitzpatrick James, the Highlands Folk Festival is now directed by Kathryn Frazier, also of Prestonsburg. Further information is available from Mrs. Frazier at 606-886-2185, or Kathy Harris, publicity director at 606-886-1415.

While the auditor advised the fiscal court to have the county attorney collect the excess fees due the county—and County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. has asked the court for the necessary authorization—most of the money is already beyond recovery on account of the five-year statute of limitations.

Of the $62,455 due in excess fees, $30,812 dates to 1976 and $11,046 to 1977—both bills now too old for the county to make a claim on them.

The audit report said Robinson failed to maintain a ledger of cash receipts or disbursements, did not deposit daily receipts promptly or in their entirety, held receipts in a file cabinet in his office, failed to issue receipts, and published no financial statement for 1982.

The state auditor has billed the county $7405.60 for the audit. The bulk of the bill—$6812.50—is for 46½ days' salary for the auditor's field representative, at $125 a day.

(Continued from Page One) For those who have been taught that the jury system is one of the institutions this country inherited from Great Britain, a story recounted by the judge may come as a surprise. Seems that George Washington, called for jury service in Mt. Vernon, Va., after his stint as President, was given to understand that, of course, he could be excused.

The statesman, it is said, insisted on serving. "This (trial by jury)," he argued, with a reference to the Revolutionary War, "is one of the things we fought for."

Of the Kentucky holdings sold, only Triple Elkhorn is now operating, it was said. The Eastern Kentucky properties cover 23,700 acres and 54 million tons in proven and probable coal reserves.

Of the $100 million involved in the transaction, $23.5 million was a cash payment, $20.6 million was in notes and $55 million is to be paid from future coal sales, according to the report received --- 2 ----

Conley said he had almost made up his mind to deny probation in burglary cases. "There's so much of it going on, I have a duty to see the public is protected," he said. But owners of the burglarized store had agreed to probation in the case, he said.

Tommy Cole, 33, of Melvin, received a two-year sentence for shooting Gregory Randall Newsome last October. He has been in jail four months, will be eligible for probation in another two months, and may serve that time in the county jail, the judge ruled.

A district court jury recently took only minutes to acquit a Prestonsburg man accused of terroristic threatening. Elmer Blankenship, 25, had been accused by Dave Stephens, about 76, of threatening to run him down with a car.

District Judge Harold Stumbo overruled a motion by Ned Pillersdorf, representing Blankenship, that the crime of terroristic threatening be reckoned an unconstitutional abridgement of free speech.

FAREWELL ADDRESS?

I have just completed a public speaking "engagement," and therefrom hangs a tale.

We all have our weaker moments, and my friend, Ed Hazelett, of the Big Sandy Historical Society, caught me in one of mine. I went along with his suggestion that I discuss the history of Big Sandy journalism at the Society's next meeting.

When the day arrived for my scheduled appearance a phobia that has held me in thrall, or maybe by the throat, since boyhood got into the act. I didn't suffer an attack of the vapors but did go into something of a tizzy. Me, standing up there before a crowd, pretending to know little-known facts, prating about this and that? The nearer the fateful hour, the more convinced I became that only an idiot would maneuver himself as I had into such a situation.

But I did it. I may never be the same man again—but I did it.

You more sensible souls may wonder how an individual of my age could be so neurotic about such a rather commonplace matter. Let me tell you.

It goes back to a boyhood experience. It was the last day of school, and each of us "scholars" was expected to take part in the program which teacher had planned, possibly in an effort to get even with us for our misdeeds of the past several months. Each had to recite something—a poem, a part of a poem, a verse from the Bible, something.

A cousin of mine solved his problem by bobbing up and saying, "Jesus wept," and as quickly sitting down while teacher scowled.

But I had to do the unusual. I had a Ridpath's history, possibly the only one at that time in an area of a hundred square miles, and therein were a few lines of verse pertaining to the Norsemen. I memorized that. Letterperfect, I was, there at home.

Magoffin Man Wins Acquittal

A federal jury acquitted Salyersville coal operator Robert H. Barnett in U.S. district court, Lexington, last Tuesday of charges stemming from last year's mail-bombing of Lexington coal broker Jack Daniel.

Daniel, 52, lost both legs and three fingers when a 30-inch-long packing tube loaded with an estimated five pounds of Tovex-p, a high order explosive widely used in Eastern Kentucky coalfields, blew up in his lap Sept. 5, 1982.

The jury, which twice reported to the court that it was "hopelessly deadlocked," reached its verdict after about 7½ hours of deliberation over two days.

Barnett's family erupted with applause and tears of joy at the reading of the verdict.

Defense attorneys John Turner of Winchester and Lowell Lundy of Barbourville were also pleased with the verdict.

Government prosecutors, who had argued repeatedly for additional time for the seemingly deadlocked jury to reach a verdict, were dismayed.

"Naturally we're disappointed," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert Trevey. "We feel the government presented sufficient evidence for the jury to convict him, but they wanted a smoking gun and we didn't have it."

Ironically, it was Trevey who petitioned the court to read to the jury the socalled Allen charge when it began to appear that the jury was, in fact, "hopelessly deadlocked."

The Allen charge, which involves a plea to jurors to reconsider their feelings on a verdict in light of other jurors' opinions, is a legal term for instructions read in court to help deadlocked juries reach a unanimous verdict.

Even with the Allen charge, however, the jury was unable to agree on a verdict until after it returned to the courtroom for an hour-long reading of testimony presented earlier in the trial by two handwriting analysts who appeared as expert witnesses for the government.

According to one juror, who asked that

'We Needed That'

A line in one of the closing songs put it succinctly and accurately, "Look what you've done for us, Annie!" In the midst of a summer of heat waves, crime waves, politics, strikes, school unrest, and much bad news, "Annie" gave thousands of people reason to forget their troubles, to smile, and remember there will be a better tomorrow.

It brought us together, despite our differences, just as the strip "Little Orphan Annie," did in the depression days. So, I would like to say to all who acted, planned, directed, and supported the performance, thanks from a grateful community. We needed that!

When my name was called at the last day of school and I got up and made my way up front and faced the crowd many of them grinning fellow-pupils—I sailed into that poem. I got through a couple of lines, as I remember—and then the mind, if any, went blank. There I stood, as helpless as a fly on the end of a pin, nobody to prompt me, nowhere to turn.

I made it back to my seat, walking as through a miasmic fog, almost unseeing, and even yet I can recall how that floor rocked as if I were treading the deck of that Norseman's ship as it bit into a nor'easter.

Since that long-ago day I've kept busy keeping my mouth shut in public. Once upon a time I joined a literary society in Lexington but became a dropout when I learned that its works were more oral than written. Had an idea, some years later, I wouldn't mind knowing how to win friends and influence people and was at the point of signing up for a Dale Carnegie course but learned in the nick of time that it involved standing up and making what might be charitably called a speech.

And now—I, at last, stand up for 10, maybe 15, minutes and drone away till I can without abjectly striking my colors retire from the field in some sort of order.

If ever again anybody, friend or foe, hornswoggles me into such an "appearance," I will—so help me, I will promptly report him or her to the Humane Society which, I believe, is dedicated to the prevention of cruelty to dumb animals.

THE "R MONTHS"

Now that September—tra-la!—has arrived and we have a month with an "r" in it, some folks maintain that better days are ahead. But those other months, even August, had their r's as we groaned, griped and grumbled.

THE DARK PORTENT

If the peace of this world and escape from a nuclear holocaust depend, even in the slightest degree, on a nation that will destroy an unarmed plane and not in anger but with cold deliberation murder more than 200 innocent people, anybody who expects anything less than the worst is a starry-eyed optimist.

The civilized world is horrified by this wanton crime. Russia is not horrified. Therefore, Russia is not civilized.

VISIT PARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Walker and sons, Stephen and Garrett, of Huntington, W. Va., spent the Labor Day holiday here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Camden Garrett. he not be identified, it was the review of the handwriting experts' testimony that broke the deadlock and persuaded the four jurors leaning toward a conviction to change their votes.

The experts, who had compared Barnett's handwriting with six samples of handwriting from the package bomb culled from 200 bags of debris, testified that although numerous similarities were "more than coincidental," the small number of samples coupled with the "damaged or fragmentary" condition of the samples prevented "conclusive determinations."

So it went for the government, whose case against Barnett, 44, was largely circumstantial in nature.

While Trevey, in final arguments presented Thursday, asked the jury to consider the evidence against Barnett in its "totality," defense attorney Lundy appealed to the Eastern Kentucky jury's sense of regional indentity and focused attention on two specific elements of the government case.

Characterizing the case against Barnett as "Donnie and the dog," Lundy attacked the credibility of a key government witness—Barnett's brother Donnie—and ridiculed government evidence produced by a trained German shepherd that prosecutors contend linked Barnett's scent with bomb debris collected at Daniel's west Lexington home.

"That's a tricky little piece of evidence," Lundy told the jury in his final summation. "I hate to think that the United States would try to convict somebody of a serious crime on something like that."

Lundy also told the jury that Donnie Barnett—who testified that he had heard the defendant threaten to kill Daniel on more than 100 occasions—was full of "hostility and anger" and would "like to see something bad happen to his brother."

Appearing as a government witness against a close relative, Lundy said, is "such a totally unnatural thing for a brother to do, he's got to be motivated by something other than pure love of justice."

In a related development, Douglas Puckett, 22, a business associate of Daniel's who was present when the mail bomb exploded, filed a lawsuit against Barnett in Fayette circuit court.

Puckett, who claimed he "suffered great and permanent physical injuries as well as extreme mental anguish" as a result of the blast, is seeking $700,000 in compensatory and punitive damages and an additional $200,000 for "pain and suffering."

New Car Title Law Hailed As Bar to Theft of Vehicles

The heart of the state's new title law aimed at reducing stolen vehicle traffic in Kentucky went into effect yesterday (Tuesday)

"This is the beginning of the end of Kentucky's reputation as a dumping ground for stolen cars," Vehicle Regula-tion Commissioner Tim Helson said. Beginning Tuesday, all new applications for automobile and truck titles must be cleared through Frankfort.

Helson said the title applications will include the vehicle's identification number, its current odometer reading and details of any liens against the vehicle.

'We have personnel trained in detecting forged or altered documents to prevent fraud in the transfer of ownership. The vehicle's serial number will be submitted to the National Crime Information Commission to see if it has been reported as stolen," he said.

The new procedure involves completing the title application obtained at the county clerk's office. If a car or truck

Activities begin at 4 p.m. on Thursday.

If the vehicle is being used to secure a loan by the new owner, the title cannot be issued until the financial institution files the lien information with the county clerk's office, which will forward the data to Frankfort. Helson said the bank, loan company or credit union must submit the lien information within 30 days

Once the title and lien information is received in Frankfort, Helson said the law requires that all paperwork be completed within five days.

If the vehicle must be licensed, there is a $3 transfer fee and a prorated registration fee.

Helson emphasized that the new title document is a person's only proof of ownership of the car or truck. "The title should be stored in a secure place such as a safety deposit box. Under no circumstances should the title be carried in the vehicle," he said.

LOST ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual covered-dish picnic of the Annie Allen Circle, W.M.U., First Baptist Church, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Collins. Sr., recently, with members, their families and guests in attendance. Attending were Sarah Laven, Ruby Garrett, Rebecca Rasnick, Beatrice Collins, Dolly Pettrey, Myrtle Allen, Julia Curtis, Ada Meade, Margaret Collings, Lucy Regan, Roberta Frazier, Opal Dingus, Docia Woods, Judy Watkins, Anna Belle Maggard, Amy Wills, Goldia Williams, Bill Pettrey, Kenneth Watkins, Joe Isbell, William Dingus, Ray Collins, Russell Laven, Henry Curtis, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Collins.

Mrs. Laven read a letter from Cecil Willeto, who, with his wife and family, have visited here several times during the past summers, and have since lost their home by fire, thanking the group for the books sent to them and asking for prayer that another house would be available to them soon. Mrs. Dolly Pettrey gave a donation to the Willetto family, and packages have been sent by members of the church. The church plans to send a donation as well as one from the Bible School children. Members were reminded that food and monetary gifts are needed for the food pantry being established by the Local Church Women, for the poor and needy of this area. A box has been placed in the back of the church for food donations, and monetary gifts may be made to Mrs. Eleanor Robinson or other members of the club for this purpose.

Mrs. Ruby Garrett, newly elected president of the group, talked briefly with the group, and members were reminded of the forthcoming Baptist meeting at Cedarmoore, and the Week of Prayer for State Missions. The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Julia Curtis.

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Davis, of Waverly, Ohio, spent Saturday night in Paintsville where they formerly resided, in celebration of their 45th wedding anniversary. They visited their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Baldridge, and family there, and on Sunday, they attended services at the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church, and were later entertained to lunch by relatives here, at the Highlands House, in Paintsville. Mrs. Davis is the former Thelma Ruth Baldridge, daughter of the late Lewis and Martha Harmon Baldridge, of Bonanza.

Docket Cleared of Old Cases In what was described as a "housecleaning" operation, a backlog of old Nearly half the cases dismissedsome 43 of them--were divorce actions, Nearly half the cases dismissedsome 43 of them--were divorce actions, cleaning" operation, a backlog of old cases was quietly dropped from the circuit court docket Friday.

Few of the cases seemed destined to make history—they date back nine or 10 years and have been inactive for most of that time. But their dismissal last week apparently quarantees oblivion for 88 disputes—ranging from the distribution of a failed firm's assets to the fencing of a neighbor's cows—that once ran hot enough to bring the disputants to court.

Will the channeling of Beaver Creek, once touted as the only remedy for chronic flooding there, be ever again debated as warmly as it was in 1973? It was still an issue that summer, when the county was asking landowners to sacrifice a narrow strip of riverfront property for the project and, for some, it was more than they were willing to give.

Six condemnation suits authorized by County Judge Henry Stumbo and Magistrates Denzil Ray Hall, Zeb Ousley, Ed Caudill and Bill Wells named as defendants Martin property owners Mary Skeans, P.M. and Cea Williams, James Crisp, Fanny Branham, Ethel Osborne, John M. Hall and F.D. May (representing the Masonic Lodge), Reynolds and Rose Dingus, Clyde and Winnie Dingus, and Cecil and Nadine Conley.

However, while Congress appropriated $3.3 million for the project in 1968—the Army Corps of Engineers plan called for straightening and widening 4½ miles of Beaver Creek around Martin—the county never had enough money to secure the necessary rights of way.

In 1970, when it looked as if the state would pick up the tab, the fiscal court authorized the spending of $100,000 to condemn the needed property—hence the 1973 suits—but the state money was not forthcoming and the suits were never followed up.

The failure of the Princess Manufacturing Company plant at Auxier in June, 1974, prompted suits by creditors anxious to salvage what they could from the wreckage. Employees at the plant, represented by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, wanted to be paid for wages and benefits they said were due to them.

But various clothing firms sued to recover material they had shipped to Auxier to be made into garments or for garments made but never delivered. Did National Apparel, of New York, ever get its 1672 raincoats? Or Nu Look Fashions, of Ohio, its 825 jackets? Or Londontown Corp., of Baltimore, the $84,728 in fabric it had wanted turned into "warmers"?

Whether the Reece Corporation recovered its welting machines or the William Wells and Paul Wells families got the rent they said was due them, creditors apparently got as much as they thought they were going to get. The suits lay dormant until they were finally disposed of last week. some 43 of them—were divorce actions, the litigants having apparently been reconciled, moved elsewhere, or drifted apart without benefit of the law.

Banks stopped pursuing nine defaulters-presumably because the debtors paid up-and their cases were finally stricken from the books. Two retired coalminers, who were fighting their former employers and the state Workers' Compensation Board for black lung benefits, must have given up the struggle. And a couple of auto collision cases appear to have run out of steam. A running feud between Mountain Investment, Inc. and the Town of Wheelwright was among the disputes finally laid to rest. In 1974, Mountain Investment, which had taken over from Inland Steel as town landlord, was accusing Mayor Elmer Ferguson and the city council of enacting "oppressive and confiscatory" ordinances.

The company was particularly incensed by an ordinance that gave city building inspector Paul Osborne power to determine whether a dwelling was fit for human habitation. Osborne was using his new authority against them unfairly, company officials said.

For its part, the city accused Mountain Investment of trying to evict tenants simply because they were active in city government. Donald Daniels, then a secretary for the city, and Terry Feathers, assistant to the mayor, were cases in point, they said.

Mountain Investment went back to Florida; Elmer Ferguson, still mayor of Wheelwright, would like to be county court clerk; the suit went nowhere.

In 1974, James J. Carter was suing to prevent his former partner from setting up a rival funeral home. When he bought out William R. Callihan 10 years earlier, it was on condition that he not compete with him for 20 years, Carter claimed.

Eastern neighbors Wayne Owens and Jerry Martin were arguing about Martin's cows, which Owens said had done $15,000 worth of damage to his corn. According to the court record, the suit was dismissed after Martin agreed to pay $800 in damages. It is not clear why the case remained on the docket another nine years.

Ballard Williams and others owning land on Morgan Fork of Little Mud Creek were trying to stop George Barnett, operator of the Beaver Branch Coal Co., from mining coal there. They won a restraining order against Barnett and the record reflects no further action in the case.

Adrian Lafferty and Frasure's Catalog Agency were also trying to block a mining operation, on property they had bought at the head of Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek. Denver Shepherd and Greeley Ousley, who were mining there, refused to pay them royalties, plaintiffs said.

Curtis Collins sued his landlady, Ruth Hager DeRossett, of Water Gap, when she had five old cars of his towed from her property. Collins was represented by Appalachian Research and Defense Fund attorneys Kay Adrian and Paul Fauri—Fauri later became general counsel for the state Human Resources Cabinet—and won a May, 1975 decision. On Friday, the case was formally dismissed, however.

A camper that Magistrate Kenneth Roberts bought from the old Shoppers Fair at Garrett and was later sold to Phillip Chaffins, of McDowell, was at the center of an argument that wound up in court in 1974. Borg Warner Acceptance Corp., which financed the original sale, accused Roberts of trying to offload the camper before they could foreclose on it. They won a 1976 decision by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley. The case stayed open because of issues remaining between Roberts, Chaffins and the First National Bank, which had financed the second sale of the camper.

Scott Collins and his mother were suing Hollie Allen for allegedly blocking a road serving their property on Baptist Bottom, between Garrett and Lackey. Aggie Gibson Collins and Curtis and Rosa Miller were arguing about boundaries at Dema. Rufus Hamilton wanted $522.08 for damage he said was done to his car when it was struck by a mine car emerging from Emitt Howell's mine at Teaberry.

Whether or how the issues were resolved will never, it seems, be part of the historical record here.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN MEET

Republican Women of Floyd County met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Don Bryson, on Little Paint, August 8, at 7:30 p.m., with the president, Mrs. Bryson, presiding. The speaker for the evening was Ron Halleck, Republican state candidate for auditor. Dr. Ira Potter, of Prestonsburg, gave a brief discussion regarding the party's effort to elect Jim Bunning for Kentucky Governor. Mrs. Mary Richmond, 7th District President, of Paintsville, told of the fund-raising dinner at Ashland recently, and of the meeting to be held at the Highland House, in Paintsville, September 10, beginning at 10 a.m. Mrs. Richmond also announced that a picnic would be at Perryville on September 13, at which time the entire slate of Republican candidates are scheduled to be present. Mrs. Opal Dingus, the club's secretary, was asked to contact Ed Bierman concerning a booth to be used by the club during the Jenny Wiley parade, the first week in October. The hostess, Mrs. Bryson, served refreshments to members and five guests. The next meeting will be at the same location, Tuesday evening, September 13, at 7:30 p.m.

SERVICE HONORS MR. BURKE

Mrs. Hern D. Burke and her daughter, Mrs. Mike Ormerod, entertained to lunch Sunday at the home of Mrs. Burke, following services at the Community United Methodist Church. During this service, a six-foot flaming cross the Methodist logo, was dedicated to the memory of Hern D. Burke, who was a charter member of this church. Mr. Burke passed away April 29. His son-inlaw, Michael Ormerod, made the presentation to the congregation, and it was accepted by Roger Spradlin, chairman of the administrative board. The Rev. Taylor Biggs delivered the pastoral prayer, and the congregational prayer was led by lay leader, Hansel Cooley. The flaming cross was purchased with funds given in lieu of flowers by the family and friends of Mr. Burke, with the remainder of the contributions given

Miss Adkins' still life painting, "Mother's Quilt," also won the Best of Show award in the non-professional categories. The award was a trophy and a check for $50. Miss Adkins didn't make it back home with the painting. The judge of the show, Greene A. Settle, Jr., an art collector from Lexington, bought it soon after the judging. Some of Mr. Settle's collection is featured in the May issue of Southern Living magazine. His collection will soon be exhibited in Rome, Italy.

Group Here Plans Festival Displays

The committee to plan window displays for the second annual Jenny Wiley Festival met recently at the Floyd County Library. All businesses are invited and encouraged to participate by having windows decorated with things of interest from our early Kentucky past during the festival.

It is hoped all businesses will cooperate as willingly and with even more interesting displays than last year. This is an important feature of the festival and can be even better this year.

Those who have ideas, questions, or items of interest to be displayed may contact any member of the committee. If an organization would like to be featured in some window contact one of the following so that this can be arranged.

Committee members are: Alice Gray Buchanan, chairperson; Eilleen Burchett, co-chairperson; Mabel Brown, Elizabeth Ramey, and Caroline Ford.

Set Stage for Fires

Already there are those who will tell you that the coming winter will be a severe one, as cold as the summer has been hot.

Perhaps with better reason, forest rangers foresee a long and potentially destructive forest fire season. Prolonged heat and drouth have set the stage for that.

The alarm already has sounded in isolated areas, up to 60 days earlier than usual, and the chances of conditions improving this month are slim.

"Any kind of cigarette or match...can start the grass afire and it will just burn right on into the woods. It's flash fuel in these conditions," said Gene Reynolds of the state Forestry Division's Frankfort office.

State laws aimed at curbing forest fires by banning open burning except between 4 p.m. and midnight do not take effect until Oct. 1, which is normally when leaves begin to fall, shrubs dry up and forest fires become a danger.

But because of the drought, said Charles Crail at the U.S. Forest Service office at Winchester, "We could have a very early season this year."

The problem is statewide, from the dry forest floors of the eastern Kentucky hills to the parched pastures and croplands of extreme western Kentucky.

Only in a drought could one recent forest fire have started, said Dave Sorenson of the Forestry Division's Mayfield district.

"We're almost positive it was started by a piece of broken glass from an old jar," he said. "It magnified the sunlight just like a magnifying glass. Everything just came together just right and it started."

Reynolds said last week that rangers recently had been reporting a small fire about every day. "We've had nothing serious yet, but conditions are real serious."

Crews fought four fires in August in the Daniel Boone National Forest of eastern Kentucky, including one started by lightning Aug. 18 in the Stearns district.

Crail said he hoped this would not be a repeat of the 1980 forest fire season.

"We started out with eight fires (in the national forest) that August, and it really blew up in November with 105 fires," he said.

Open fires were banned in the Daniel Boone Forest that year, and Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. issued a similar ban for 26 eastern Kentucky counties.

Such a ban might not be necessary, Crail said, "if people are real careful. Ninety-nine out of 100 of the fires are started by people.

"We spend a lot of tax money fighting these darn fires. We might better spend it on other things," he said. "We spend money to plant trees and food plots for wildlife, and on recreation areas and recreation trails. We don't want to see it go up in smoke."

The ability of a muscle relaxing drug to actually relax the muscles is believed to be based on its ability to block certain kinds of reflexes while leaving other reflexes in tact. Reflexes that involve but a single neuron in signaling muscle activity are, for the most part, unaffected by muscle relaxing drugs. For instance, a simple knee jerk reflex would be unaffected. Muscle relaxing drugs seem to most affect "polyneuron" reflexes. These involve activities which call for an act of will to initiate action, such as swinging a baseball bat. The result, therefore, of ingesting these drugs is that all complex muscle action is relaxed while simpler reflexes such as those needed for balance and sitting, are less affected.

If you've strained or pulled a muscle through overwork or too much outdoor activity, there is no need to suffer pain. There are several muscle relaxants on the market that can bring you relief. And when you bring your prescription to us at COOLEY APOTHECARY, you can trust that you'll be getting the highest quality ingredients available. You can find us at #2 Town Center Bldg., where we're open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-4. 886-8106.

HANDY HINT:

Muscle relaxants are often prescribed for muscle pain.

Program Will Look Inside Newsroom

KET will show the workings of Kentucky's largest circulation newspaper, The Courier-Journal in Louisville, in a five-hour live program, "An Evening at The Courier-Journal," Wednesday, September 21, beginning at 7:00 p.m. 'We want to talk to people who write the news and those who decide what gets printed and what doesn't," explained KET's Programming Director Kirk Lehtomaa. "We don't want just to cover the facts as they happen and are written, but we want to talk to the columnists, reporters and editors about what they think those facts mean.

The program also will pose the question of what is the role of newspapers in the 1980s and what they may look like by the year 2000, Lehtomaa said.

Hosting the program, will be Bob Schulman, with WHAS-TV, Louisville, and Jack Paxton, editor of the Paducah Sun. The program will take viewers through the entire process of putting out the newspaper for September 22. KET broadcast live a similar program in July from the newsroom of WKYT-TV, Lexington

'An Evening at The Courier-Journal" is a KET production.

"Blade Runner," which airs Sept. 14 on Spotlight, is a visually interesting film, but questionable as far as its con-tent is concerned. Taken from the late science-fiction writer Phillip K. Dick's novel, "Do Androids Dream of Electric Sheep," the movie is set in a future Los Angeles that's an ecological disaster area. The hero of the story is a man named Rick Dekard, who makes a living by hunting local police to take one last job. The acting and the plot of the film, as it has been adapt-ed from Dick's book, is not good. Harrison Ford plays Dekard so cynically, so world-wearily, so just plain wearily, that after about 20 or 30 min-utes you feel like taking a nap. Unlike the book, after a couple hours of gloom, drizzle and cynicism, there's an unbeliev-able, undeserved happy ending. Unfortunately, this movie is like taking a drive where the scenery along the way is interesting, but when you get there, you find you didn't want to be there in the first place. first place.

"Blade Runner" airs on Spotlight.

ESPN will televise what promises to be a good game between two Indiana rivals when Notre Dame plays the Purdue Boilermakers at Pur-due on Sept. 11.

On Sept. 11, MTV will show "Rock for Kampuchea," featuring one of the more bizarre assortment of rock groups including the Who, Queen, Paul McCartney, the Pretenders, the Clash, the Specials and Elvis Costello. There isn't much to hold the film together, but there are some interesting performanc-es.

FLOYD COUNTY TIMES

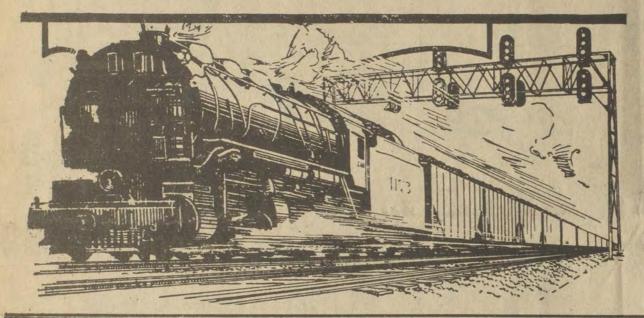

Recently the Chesapeake and Ohio, one of the greatest coal carrying railroads in the United States, greatly added to its facilities by leasing the newly-completed, modernlybuilt, 63-mile line between Gregg, Ohio, and Valley Crossing, Ohio. This line gives a long-needed physical connection between the Chesapeake and Ohio and its subsidiary, the Hocking Valley. It furnishes an adequate outlet for the coal originating along the Chesapcake and Ohio through the Columbus gateway over the Hocking Valley to the Great Lakes and the rich Northwest beyond.

Through Hampton Roads on the East, or the Lake ports on the West, industry all over the world is fed the power by which it moves, and homes are furnished the fuel that give food and comfort. The Chesapcake and Ohio rejoices in the extent and adequacy of this service to the public.

W. J. HARAHAN,

President.

industry in this county, the only in-dustrial activity we have now, since our timber is gone, and now that we can not meet competition in the lake trade we are much more seriously injured than was at first thought. Mr. Stanley led us to believe that the next session of Congress will be able to give us relief.

SCHOOL PLAY

The Friday evening entertainment given by the pupils of our public school last Friday was one of the most splendid and enjoyable affairs of the entire season. This reflects much credit to the teachers in charge and to the pupils' part in this performance. The next move is athletics, which is being put in action, as all the prelimination have been met and the athletic dopartment will soon be in full swing. Fellowing this will be domestic science, of which we will speak later.

Mrs. Charles Hughes is spending a month in visiting the friends and relatives of her husband in Jackson, O. She will be joined a little later in Cincinnati by her husband, who will accompany her home. At present Mr. Hughes is actively engaged in giving our town a new coat of paint, which, by the way, is adding quite a lot to the appearance of our town.

OUR SICK

Mrs. Red Eaderman, who was taken to the hospital in Charleston, W. Va., on my record as made. for treatment some weeks ago, has returned home in a much improved state of health.

Mrs. Pet Harris, who has been so seriously ill for several days, is at this time, we regret to say, no better. She is quite ill and has remained about the same for several days.

James Williams has returned to work after an illness of several days.

Millicent, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schlegel, who was threatened with pneumonia one day last week, passed the crisis without being attacked with the dread malady and is now enjoying good health

Busy as Mountain Doctor, Stumbo Keeps Options Open

What is Grady Stumbo doing, now that he's an also-ran in state politics?

Working, as he did before his race for the Democratic nomination for governor -and work for him means being a fulltime doctor.

Three months after the primary, Dr. Stumbo and two other physicians see some 70 patients a day at the clinic he founded near Hindman in 1972 after graduation from medical school.

The campaign speeches he fits into his schedule now are for Lt. Gov. Martha Layne Collins, the Democratic primary winner

But Stumbo said, "Coming home to practice medicine in Knott county to me is not losing

And in all likelihood, he said, "This coal miner's son is going to be back in the political arena.

Stumbo endorsed Mrs. Collins shortafter the primary. He has taped a radio advertisement for her and planned Labor Day appearances on her behalf Monday in Paducah and Madisonville.

He has met with his supporters, including the United Mine Workers Union, which backed him in the primary and now endorses Mrs. Collins, and he also spoke at the Fancy Farm picnic in western Kentucky

There, in the First District territory of Rep. Carroll Hubbard, D-Mayfield, he oked that his support was so strong 'that I might come down there and run for Congress.

Stumbo grinned. "I was having some fun with Hubbard," he said, but he added, "There are some good options coming up, both in the short term and the long run.

GARRETT NEWS

Geneva Turner, of Stone Coal, has been visited recently by her son from Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vanderpool were visiting over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Adkins were visiting over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Craft have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Claude Pack. The Scott reunion was held at Jenny Wiley State Park. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. David Scott and Camily. Mr. and Mrs. James Scott and family, and Ralph Scott. The Garrett fire department had a busy week. It responded to a call Monday at Potter Clinic, Lackey, and to a call from Hippo around 7 p.m. Saturday. The Garrett and Wayland fire department responded to a call from Salt Lick, around 9:30 p.m., Sunday.

Mrs. Blanche Bamer observed her birthday recently.

The 37-year-old physician has not said have less now, listening to their prowhich options he might consider. "I'm not going to say," he said, smiling. "I'm going to practice medicine and keep my options open."

Stumbo said he had proved some points with his primary race.

"I've shown that an eastern Kentucky candidate can run a statewide race, that an eastern Kentuckian can be a serious candidate and get broad-based support.

'The people who predicted that I'd be lucky to get 40,000 votes got egg on their face," he said.

Dr. Stumbo discussed the primary campaign with Gary Cohn, Lexington Herald-Leader reporter, who wrote: Meanwhile, Stumbo said the biggest disappointment in this year's gubernatorial campaign-other than losing, that is-was "the intellectual dishonesty of certain people and institutions."

'There are people who would say to you, "We think you're the smartest guy, we think you'd make the best governor, we just think you can't win, and we can't help you.'

"To a young fellow who's a little bit idealistic," Stumbo said, "that's a helluva blow.

"And that was the thing that discouraged me. There were some prominent people that said they were going to be for Harvey Sloane because he was going to win and they needed access.

"I tell you, I had an ex-governor who was committed to me. And once I openly announced and started running and the pressure got on him, he withdrew his support," Stumbo said. He refused to identify the ex-governor.

"My appeal was directly to the working people. The hot-shot politicians have lost touch with the average person. The working people are fed up," he said.

"I identify with the working man, the small businessman, the man who the harder he works the behinder he gets. I don't like big utility companies. I don't like big energy companies owning all the wealth. I'm a populist.

"There was a segment of the people looking for a populist, people-oriented in-dividual," he said. "If I made any mistake, I probably should have been more populist.

Stumbo said he will not take an administration post, preferring to continue his up to 14 hours a day, six days a week schedule at the clinic. By doing that, he said, "I can come back with the same fire I had.

This is where I get it, making home visits to these elderly people, who didn't have much when they were working and blems and thier frustrations. You learn that by being down in it.

"If I'd stayed in Frankfort, I'd probably have been like any other bureaucrat.

Stumbo said he had plans he would not yet discuss to repay his campaign indebtedness, including $300,000 he borrowed, and in turn loaned to the campaign, which he said was "just about the extent of it. I don't see that as a major problem.

The question of whether the personal loans were legal or ran afoul of the $3,000 limit on campaign contributions is before the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance, but Stumbo said his lawyers advised that the loans were legal. "We intended to adhere to the law and that's what we'll do.

As for his political future, Stumbo "We'll just let the writers said, speculate."

'Our organiztion is staying intact, and we'll meet regularly when we get through this campaign.'

MINE SAFETY

During fiscal year 1982, the Mine Safety and Health Administration held its first joint Mine Safety and Health Conference, which brought together representatives of industry, labor, and government to discuss ways to improve mine safety and health, according to the Labor Department's annual report.

> Downtime caused by faulty cable can be a real drain on coal mining profits.

OLLECE

Presented as a public service message of this newspaper

Prestonsburg

COMMUNIT

Downtime caused by faulty mining cable can cost $13 a minute in lost coal production alone. So even though mining cable represents a tiny fraction of your total operating expenses, it can have a big effect on your mine's profitability. Anaconda's quality mining cable stands up to the rigorous conditions that can cause socalled bargain cable to fail before its time. Because it's made better, Anaconda cable lasts longer than cheaper cables. Which keeps downtime down and sends productivity and profits up.

To find out more about how Anaconda mining cable helps turn downtime into uptime, call our special toll-free Mining Hotline: (800) 428-5753.

Swimmers, Robbers and Ghosts: A Crab for Every Lifestyle

The Smithsonian's Dr. Tuck Hines displays a mature male blue crab, or "jimmy" (top), with its inverted T-shaped abdominal apron, and a mature female blue crab, or "sook," with a distinctive semicircular bell-shaped apron where she broods her eggs. A female blue crab may produce in a single brood as many as 2 million eggs, only a few of which will survive to maturity.

Like people, crabs have many different lifestyles. If there's an empty aquatic ecological niche, "chances are a crab will find it," says Dr. Austin B. Williams, a Smithsonian Institution research associate and expert on shrimps, lobsters and crabs for the National Marine Fisheries Service!

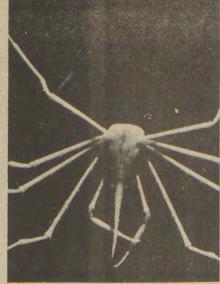

Thus, there are crabs that live in the sea, in fresh water and, as adults, partly or totally on land; crabs that walk, run, climb, swim or burrow; even crabs that live in or with animals in either a symbiotic or parasitic relationship.

This adaptability derives from evolutionary modifications in the basic principal structure of all "true," or brachyuran, crabs: a squat, broad compact body; tough, external skeleton called an "exoskeleton"; a pair of claws, and four pairs of walking legs radiating out from the sides.

The Atlantic blue crab, for instance, is superbly modified for skimming over the bottom of bays. with a shallow, streamlined body and a fairly light skeleton. Its walking legs are lighter and flatter than those of many other crabs, and its two hind legs are flattened and rounded like paddles for rapid sculling. Pacific islands climbs sago palm trees to escape danger—and does some munching on fruit while visiting. Robber crabs, incidentally, got their names from their habit of walking off with things—sandals, knives, forks and reportedly a wrist watch or two.

Crabs not noted for their speed have evolved other protective mechanisms. Menippe mercenaria, a commercially important stone crab that lives on rocky bottoms or burrows in shallow water from North Carolina southward to Belize, has a thick, heavy skeletal armor and massive claws which form daunting defensive weapons. The large land crab, Cardisoma, digs burrows 3 feet deep or even deeper, down to the water table. A small living chamber at the bottom of the burrow provides a damp, cool retreat from heat and enemies during the day.

Spider crabs, with their long spindly legs and often small, delicate bodies, are masters of disguise. Their main camouflaging agents are frequently algae, but their methods of dress vary from one species to the next, notes Dr. Tuck Hines, a zoologist at the Smithsonian Environmental Research Center

Smithsonian News Service Photo by Kathryn L. Comtois The body of this spindly spider crab is only three-eighths of an inch wide. Masters of camouflage in nature, spider crabs often cover themselves with algae to blend in with their surroundings.

CPR Course Offered

A four-day (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) instructor certification course will be conducted on September 12-15 at Pikeville College. The class will be conducted in the evenings from 6-9 p.m. Upon completion of the course the participants will receive a certification as an instructor in CPR through the American Heart Association. The class size will be limited, so preregistration is required. For more information and to preregister contact Don E. Hall at 432-9362 or 432-9334.

A living ferret had not been seen since 1965 in Wyoming, reports National Wildlife magazine. But ever since September, 1981, when Lucille Hogg of Meeteetse, Wyoming walked into a local taxidermy shop with a dead "mink or something" killed by her dog, biologists have been sweeping the Wyoming prairie with spotlights, looking for the unmistakable emerald stare of perhaps the rarest mammal in North America the black-footed ferret.

Though blue crabs typically eat worms, clams and other bottom-dewelling animals, their speed helps them catch prey and avoid predators.

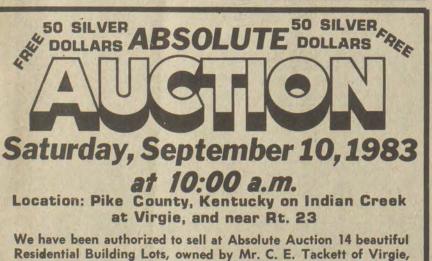

All so-called "swimming crabs" have the same type of modifications, Williams says, but the Atlantic blue crab is one of the most successful. "The blue crab," he notes, "has one of the widest geographical distributions of the swimming crabs in the Western Hemisphere, from Nova Scotia to northern Argentina."

The semiterrestrial ghost crabs of tropical sandy beaches are similarly modified for speed, with thin, light skeletons. These crabs can move in all directions at speeds of up to 6 feet a second. Their large eyes are constantly on the alert for food and enemies.

Other rapidly moving semiterrestrial crabs are also exceedingly agile climbers. Among these are the tropical rocky shore crab and the mangrove tree crab. The slower moving robber (though technically not a "true" crab) of the who has studied these crabs extensively on the West Coast.

One long-legged spider crab, Loxorhynchus crispatus, wears a gown of feathery brown or red algae on its backs and legs, while its small neighbor, Scyra acutifrons, is usually covered with a dense growth of sponges, barnacles and other small animals to blend in with the surrounding rocks. Many of these crabs, after shedding their exoskeletons, actually "plant" new algae and animals on the hooked hairs on their backs to restore their camouflage.

But the ultimate solution in protection has been found by the pea crab, Pinnotheres ostreum. This tiny, thinshelled, frail-looking creature with poorly developed legs has no need for rapid locomotion, armor or disguises. It lives early its entire life inside an oyster, in an area between the oyster's shell and gill called the mantle cavity. This crab leaves its cozy, well-protected home to mate, but returns to an oyster to brood and hatch its eggs.

Lakes in Fall Drawdown

The Army Corps of Engineers will begin the annual drawdown of Grayson and Fishtrap lakes today (Sept. 7).

Both lakes will be lowered gradually until they reach their winter levels, by no later than December 1, although the schedule could be affected at any time by rainfall.

Corps-operated lakes are drawn down in the fall to increase storage area for anticipated runoff during the normal flood season, then raised again in the spring.

Grayson Lake, on the Little Sandy River near Grayson, will be lowered eight feet. Fishtrap Lake, on Levisa Fork near Pikeville, will be lowered 32 feet

Phone Group Opposes Rate Hike

Harold Telephone Company, Inc. and 14 other Kentucky independent telephone companies which operate within Kentucky have filed their statements to the Kentucky Public Service Commission concerning access charges.

Paul R. Gearheart, manager of Harold Telephone Company, Inc., reports that the independent group represents 15 of the 22 telephone companies in Kentucky. "Our serving areas are predominantly rural, and although our consumers do not comprise the majority of consumers in the Commonwealth, it is our position that these rural consumers have every right to equal treatment in these proceedings; a right that we feel they were not accorded in the Federal Communications Commission proceedings on interstate access charges," he said.

Gearheart said the group is adamantly opposed to the federal interstate access charge plan which has ordered telephone companies to add $2 per month charge to residential customers, beginning next January 1. The charge will increase to $3.00 in 1985 and $4.00 in 1986. During this period, the rate for business subscribers will be $6 per month. These interstate access charges will apply, even if a customer does not call out of the state of Kentucky. "We feel that it is grossly unfair to the residential consumer, especially those in rural areas, and those who place few long distance calls," Gearheart said.

"We urge the Kentucky Public Service Commission to prevent implementation of the FCC plan in the intrastate arena, since the only winner will be profitseeking interexchange carriers and big business."

The biggest loser is the residential consumer, he contends, and the rural residential consumer will be hurt even more. Even before the intrastate jurisdiction is considered, the residential consumers will see, within five years, an average of an $8 per month increase in the form of end-user and usage sensitive charges regardless of whether they make long distance calls or not. In all likelihood, they will not see a corresponding reduction in toll rates due to de-averaging of interstate toll due to competition, he predicted.

Should the Kentucky Public Service Commission follow the FCC's lead and mirror the FCC Access Chartge Plan, employing the use of end user charges to recover NTS (non traffic sensitive) costs and allowing the introduction of competition into the intrastate toll arena, the full impact both the interstate and intrastate charges will clearly place the basic telephone service out of the economic reach of the majority of the rural residential consumers, it is claimed.

The independent telephone group has urged this commission to take the following cause of action:

1. Move Slowly. The full impact that interstate toll competition will have on the consumer is unknown. No one knows for sure how these new rates will affect troduction of competition forces some access charge arrangement where non traffic sensitive costs are picked up in local service rates.

It will push toll rates up in less dense routes, and encourage competing carriers into a price war for the high toll business customers.

In this scenario, it is conceivable that rural toll rates would be priced considerably high to make up for revenue loss where competition is the greatest. Low toll users are disadvantaged and rural customers will be hit the hardest. The introduction of any competition in the intrastate arena toll sets the mechanism in motion thus setting up a domino effect.

Therefore, any toll competition, including WATS resale, should be, for the present, delayed until some equitable method can be developed to protect universal service with rates that will generally be affordable by anyone. SUBSTITUTE

Gearheart said there are several bills in congress concerning the FCC interstate access plan and he suggested that telephone customers write their congressman and senators and request them to vote against any FCC decisions that do not protect universal service at a reasonable rate.

consumers, how many consumers will "drop off", and whether consumers will benefit at all from the federal plan.

2. Restrict any form of toll competition. Since toll competition is profit driven, the most lucrative markets will be sought, mainly those routes with the highest density or individual business customer who are high toll users.

The independent group of companies argue.

Assuming that these "entrepreneurial" carriers will not be required to provide universal service, to provide service to less dense high cost areas, and have no requirement to carry local exchange cost in their rates, the natural result will be to permit present regulated carriers to de-average toll rates and shed non traffic sensitive costs in order to compete. Rare Species of Bats At Carter Caves To Get Protection from Parks

The state Department of Parks has moved to protect the habitat of an endangered species of bat that hibernates in Carter Caves State Resort Park, near Olive Hill, according to Commissioner Lou Karibo.

The Parks Department, with volunteer help from several groups, is installing new steel gates at the two entrances to Bat Cave. The project is expected to make the cave a better home for the rare Indiana bat. The cave is one of only a handful of "critical habitat" in the U.S. for the species, Karibo said.

While Bat Cave boasts one of the largest hibernating colonies of Indiana bats, the population has been declining, Karibo said. One reason is that vandals have repeatedly broken through the old gates and disturbed some of the bats' hibernation. A bat that ends its sleep too early is likely to starve to death since its main food source, insects, also aren't active in the winter hibernation season.

Another reason for an early awakening has been a slight increase in air temperature, which apparently erroneously cues a bat that hibernation is over. It is believed the old gate system restricted air flow and thus raised the cave temperature, Karibo said.

Bat Cave is open for guided, weekly tours during summer months. Guided tours are offered five times during winter.

Slone-Riley Vows Solemnized

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Ann Slone and Mr. Jeffrey Lynn Riley was solemnized in an evening candlelight ceremony, July 23, at the First United Methodist Church of Wayland. The bride is the daughter of Curt and Judy Slone, of Wayland, and was given in marriage by her parents. The groom is the son of Niagara and Nell Riley, of Hi Hat.

The Rev. Glen Dusina solemnized the double-ring vows following a program of nuptial music by Mark Rice and Burnetta Hall. Musical selections included "The Wedding Song," and "You and I."

Mrs. Rebekah Carpenter, cousin of the bride, of Salyersville, was matron of honor. Cassandra Slone, sister of the bride, of Wayland, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Cindy Thorpe, of Wayland, Benita J. Riley, sister of the groom, of Prestonsburg, and Michelle McRay, of Shelbyville.

Dewey Ray Jamerson, of Bypro, was best man. Groomsmen were Tim Branham, cousin of the bride, of Wayland, Tim Bailey, of Bypro, Glen Napier, of Hazard and Steve Ward, of McDowell.

The flower girl was Tara Leigh Branham, cousin of the bride and daughter of Gary and Sandy Branham, of Wayland. Her dress was of deep purple taffeta, identical to the bridesmaids. She carried a basket of pink rose petals. The ringbearer was Geoffrey Farra Dunn, son of Cecil and Judy Dunn, of Lexington.

For her wedding day, the bride wore a Piccone designed gown of Schiffli lace. The Victorian neckline and fitted waistline were enhanced by Venise lace motifs and seed pearls. The capelet was fashioned of sheer netting and lace detailing. Covered buttons ascended the back closure and the circular skirt folded gracefully from the waistline and shaped a chapel-length train. Pleated organza and Schiffli scallops bordered the hemline. To compliment her wedding gown, the bride wore a picture hat covered in Schiffli lace. A turned side was accented by a pearl-on-lace pinwheel while bridal illusion lace draped the back fingertip-length veil. Her bouquet was a purple orchid surrounded by cascading gardenias, stephanotis and greenery, and was accented by white lace ribbons.

The bridesmaids wore floor-length deep purple gowns of taffeta with matching hats and veils. Their flowers were silk cascading arm bouquets.

The mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding a floor-length pale purple gown of silk organza with a deep-V neckline and long sleeves, enhanced by a wide waistband. The mother of the groom wore a platinum floor-length gown of georgette crepe, softly gathered around a round neckline, with long sleeves and a fitted waist. Both mothers wore corsages of white orchids tipped in purple. A reception was held following the ceremony at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Bethel Click, Mrs. Mary Jo Johnson, Mrs. Sharon Jones and Mrs. Sally Moss. The groom's parents were hosts at a rehearsal dinner held at May Lodge the evening before the wedding. The wedding and reception were co-ordinated by Jody Blackburn and Bud Reynolds, of Occasions Unlimited, of Martin. The bride is a graduate of Allen Central High School and the University of Kentucky. She is employed by the Lawrence County Board of Education as an elementary teacher. The groom is a graduate of Wheelwright High School and Morehead State University. He is employed as head basketball coach at Lawrence County High School.

Onetime Festival Performers Win Fame in World of Music By KATHY HARRIS

Publicity director, Ky. Highlands Folk Festival

Who knows what new talent may appear on the stage at the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival?

Several years ago, a musician accompanied to the festival a group of dancers from the Hindman Settlement School. He performs today with his children as the McLain Family Band. At another time, a festival regular was joined in performance by his young cousin from Lawrence county. No one had heard of the young man then, but today almost everyone is familiar with the music of Ricky Skaggs.

Even though these performers are from festivals past, they give us reason to be excited about this year's festival

P-BURG AREA JAYCEES TO MEET SEPT. 14

The Prestonsburg Area Jaycees will meet Wednesday, September 14, at 7 p.m. in the Council Chamber at the Prestonsburg Municipal Building.

Special guest will be Bob Detherage, of Louisville, chairman of the Kentucky Jaycees Speak Up Program. All members are urged to attend. and others in the future. The Ratcliff Family Band, featuring champion fiddler Angie Ratcliff, is a group to watch, and they will be appearing this year.

We feel that these few are indicative of the quality of the entire festival. Most of the performers at the KHFF return from year to year and will never become "stars." We appreciate them just as much as the others, however, because they are helping us to preserve the best of our mountain cultural heritage and to have a good time doing it.

Following a wedding trip to Vero Beach, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Riley are residing in Louisa.

Human Resources Head Plans Prestonsburg Visit Human Resources Cabinet Secretary Buddy Adams will visit Prestonsburg tomorrow (Thursday) to examine local office facilities and to hear from field staff members of the cabinet's four departments about local impact of state programs and decisions. In addition to touring offices in 11 communities, Adams and members of the Frankfort central office staff will conduct regional public hearings in Pineville on Sept. 6 and in Pikeville on Sept. 7.

'We have a number of new programs in the 'working state' in each of our four departments and I have found it very helpful in the past to get a viewpoint on these programs from outside Frankfort. The field office employees sometimes have the clearest vision on how a decision made in the state capital affects the citizens of this state," Adams said. The public hearings continue a policy Adams began some months ago of seeking citizen comments on the wide range of cabinet programs and projects. 'Sometimes we may give somebody an answer that resolves a question they have had for a long time. Or we may turn up a problem that can be corrected with a little more attention from Frankfort. But these public hearings provide the most direct way for me to gauge what people are thinking about the social programs this cabinet provides," he said.

The public hearing in Pikeville will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Pike county circuit courtroom.

It holds heat so well, an entire heating system is built around it.

Electric Thermal Storage, ETS, is a unique whole-house heating system built around bricks.

Heating coils inside an ETS furnace heat the special bricks hot enough to heat your home all night. And all the next day.

Because ETS uses electricity at night, when the cost of electricity is less, ETS customers qualify for special rates. So you'll get lower electric rates for heating. And for all other electricity you use at night. What's more, the same lower rates apply all weekend.

ETS heats your water, too. And individual room heaters are available, which let you comfort control any room. For complete information about how Electric Thermal Storage works and how it can help reduce your electric rates, send us this coupon.

Diet Center Offers Nutritional Dieting

Diet Center recently announced that with Chwalow. "In fact, we were just Arthru W. Mahoney, Ph.D., has been named to the Diet Center Advisory Board. Mahoney is a professor of nutrition at Utah State University and a member of the American Institute of Nutrition, and has been honored as an outstanding researcher by the College of Family Life.

Norma Davis lost 30 lbs. and 401/4 inches in 12 weeks.

Mahoney stated, "After research and discussion, I am proud to be asked to be a member of the Diet Center Advisory Board. I think you (Diet Center) are the best nutritional educators in the untry completing a collection of results from dieters' blood tests and were planning to have an outside firm do the research," she commented.

A. Judith Chwalow, Dr. P.H., recently approached Diet Center for permission to do research on its diet program. Chwalow is research director for the Johns Hopkins University School of Hygiene and Public Health, and a consultant for the National Center of Health Services Research, U.S. Dept. of Health and Human Services.

Chwalow was delighted that, after having her offer to do research on many diet programs rejected, she finally found one willing to cooperate with a researcher.

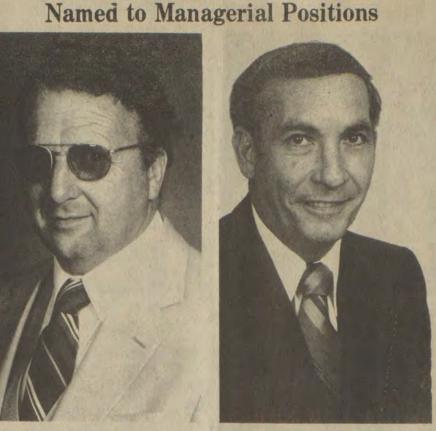

Chwalow has supervised 40 different health studies on the Diet Center program. After she reviewed the program, she went on the Diet Center diet herself because she liked the program and counseling.

Local people agree. Donna Slone, of Martin, said, "The diet is a safe nutritious way to lose weight fast. In eight weeks and for the first time in over 21/2 years of dieting, I haven't gone to bed hungry. I have eaten good, healthy food and gotten away from refined sugar. The Diet Center provides daily counseling and encouragment which goes with you throughout the day. You have the feeling that someone else cares and is there at all times to help and answer any questions. The Diet Center cookbook provides easy directions for meals the whole family loves-even kids. NO drugs-NO diet pills to take. If you want a diet that provides a safe, healthy program of weight loss, without going hungry, the Diet Center is for you.

Donna Slone lost 231/4 lbs. and 371/2 inches in 9 weeks.

Doris Akers, of Dana, said, "I like Diet Center's diet because it is the first healthy diet I have ever been on and actually lost pounds and inches and kept them off. I had more energy and slept better. I feel better about myself since losing weight. I would definitely recommend the Diet Center diet for others.

Paul Lemaster

D.F. Colvin

Paul Lemaster, of Allen, and D.F. Colvin, of Paintsville, have been promoted to managerial positions at Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company's Field Headquarters Office in Prestonsburg according to an announcement by B.D. Hager, Vice President-Exploration and Production. Mr. Lemaster, formerly assistant superintendent of production, has been appointed to superintendent of production, and Mr. Colvin, formerly district supervisor, has been promoted to the position of assistant superintendent of production.

Mr. Lemaster began his service with the company in August, 1955, as a regular laborer in the production department. He was promoted to field supervisor in the Gas Measurement Division in 1970 where he distinguished himself by rising to the position of instructor and deputy program chairman of the Appalachian Gas Measurement Short Course at Robert Morris College in Pittsburgh in 1981. A native of Floyd county, Mr. Lemaster is a U.S. Army veteran of the Korean conflict. He is a member and director of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company Chapter of the National Management Association and a director of the East Kentucky Section of Society of Petroleum Engineers (AIME). Mr. Lemaster resides at Allen, with his son, Herbert, age 15.

Mr. Colvin started with the company in March, 1956, as a tool dresser in the company's drilling program. He held various bargaining unit jobs and supervisory positions before being promoted to district supervisor in January. 1972. Mr. Colvin, a Johnson county native, graduated from Paintsville High School in 1951 and served with the United States Air Force in Japan from 1952 to 1956. He is a member of the First Baptist Church, of Paintsville, and the East Kentucky Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers (AIME). Mr. Colvin is also a member of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company Chapter of the National Management Association and is past Master of the Paintsville Masonic Lodge 381, F&AM. Mr. Colvin and his wife, Phyllis, reside in Paintsville and are the parents of one son.

New Procedure in Effect On Non-Emergency Cases By government mandate, Kentucky physicians are now required to comply with yet another administrative procedure when admitting Medicare and Medicaid patients to hospitals in Kentucky

Beginning September 1, the cases of all Medicare and Medicaid non-emergency patients became subject to review by the Kentucky Peer Review Organization (KPRO) before they are admitted to a hospital.

KPRO is a federally funded state organization set up to review the medical necessity of hospital admis-It curr Medicare and Medicaid patients after they are discharged from the hospital. The new regulation, called the Prior Authorization Review Program, requires that physicians obtain KPRO approval before the patient is admitted. Failure to comply may result in the loss of Medicare and Medicaid payment to both the physician and the hospital. The patient probably won't even be aware this process is going on unless they appear at the hospital and the physician has not called in the authorization code. If this happens, the patient will have to wait-it's just another step in the bureaucratic process. This is how it works: The admitting physician calls KPRO and talks to a Registered Nurse Health Care Coordinator (HCC). The information required includes the patient program (Medicare/Medicaid) identification number, the payment source (Medicare/Medicaid), the patient's sex, patient's birthdate, and the medical reasons that require the patient's admission to the hospital. If the admission is approved, the physician caller will be given a "prior authorization number" that must accompany the patient to the hospital admitting office.

IN APPRECIATION The family of James Russell Miller would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their comfort upon the loss of our loved one. Thanks to those who called, sent food, flowers and helped at the cemetery, and to the ministers of the United Baptist Church of West Prestonsburg and the Rev. Terry L. Faris, of the First United Methodist Church of Mt. Sterling. The family would like to express their gratitude to Dr. Sutherland and the nurses at the Dialysis unit, for their care over the past years. Also the Carter Funeral Home for their kindness. Norma Davis, of Banner, said, "I have dieted since I was a teenager. I have succeeded in losing weight in various ways, many times only to regain it in a short period of time. I went on Diet Center's diet in 1982. This is the first time I've kept my weight off for this length of time. Diet Center changes your attitude about food, and until your attitude is changed you'll never keep your weight off. Another exciting thing about Diet Center's diet is that you lose one measured inch for every pound lost.

If you want weight loss results, call your local Diet Center. In Prestonsburg,

If the HCC can't approve the admission, the case will be referred to the KPRO Physician Advisor who will then call the admitting physician and further review the case and make a determination

This regulation applies to all nonemergency Medicare/Medicaid patients except admissions for alcoholism, drug dependency, rehabilitation, psychiatric treatment, and routine maternity cases. A non-emergency admission is defined by KPRO as one in which the patient's condition permits adequate time to schedule the availability of a suitable accommodation. KPRO defines an emergency admission as one in which the patient requires immediate medical intervention as a result of severe, life threatening, or potentially disabiling conditions.

Betsy Layne Loses 15-14 In Overtime To Virgie Eagles

Having proven this season that they are no "pushovers" on the grid field, the Betsy Layne Bobcats attracted a large crowd of fans Friday night who saw their team lose in an overtime heartbreaker to the rival Virgie Eagles.

Following a first half in which neither team "did much of anything," according to Betsy Layne Coach Hooker Phillips, producing a 0-0 football game at halftime, the Bobcats came out in the third quarter and mounted an impressive ground game with quarterback Greg Frazier collecting good yardage along with halfback John Lackey. The drive ended with Frazier scoring on a three yard plunge after a fake handoff to Lackey. Lackey then scored the extra two points on a pitchout from Frazier making the score 8-0, Betsy Layne.

May Metal Wins Softball Titles

The May Metal team emerged as winners of the Floyd County Youth Softball Leage Tournament and went on to capture the winning title of the regional tournament that was held recently at Archer Park. They were also participants in the state tournament held in Danville

Fishing Derby Slated

The Bluegrass Chapter of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation is sponsoring a fishing derby at Herrington Lake, Chimney Rock dock, September 24-25 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

The grand prize is $10,000 for catching a bass which has been tagged. In addition there will be 25 other tagged fishbluegill, crappie, bass and catfish-that are worth at least $100 in merchandise or cash.

In addition, there will be a "smallest bluegill" contest each day for children-biggest bass, cat, crappie and bluegill pots, biggest stringer and ramp prizes.

Cats Down Old Rivals In Annual Encounter By LAURA COOLEY

The Prestonsburg Blackcats won their second game of the young football season by defeating their old rivals, the Paintsville Tigers, 19 to 16.

Paintsville scored the first touchdown of the game when Joey Couch ran two yards for the score. Prestonsburg quickly responds to the Tigers' score when Brad Hughes ran 75 yards for the Blackcats' first touchdown. John Goble kicked the extra point to make the Blackcats take the lead, 7-6.

Todd Nairn ran 6 yeards for the second touchdown and 2 yards for the third. Both extra point attempts failed.

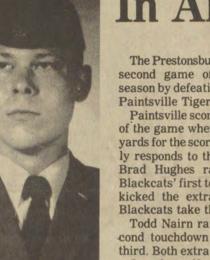

On the offensive side for the Blackcats, Brad Hughes caught three es for 130 yards; John Dertossett rushed 74 yards on 10 carries; John Anderson had 9 carries for 73 yards and Chris Hooker, 5 carries for 22 yards. The Blackcat offensive line had problems and when Coach Haywood was asked how he thought the offensive line did against Paintsville, he responded: "A little better. I thought we were moving forward a little better, but moving too slow off the football. We've improved, but we still have a long way to go."

Tackles made by the defense for the Blackcats were as follows: Philip Lewis 15 assists, 3 unassisted; Gordie Ratliff, 10 assists, 5 unassisted; James Little, 5 assists, 3 unassisted; Randall Hager, 9 assists, 1 unassisted; Irvin Spears, 7 assists, 1 unassisted.

Asked how the defense reacted against Paintsville, Coach Haywood said, "We played pretty sound defense against Paintsville, but I thought we had some mental letdown on some third and long situations and our pass rush was non-existent; however, we did hit well

The Mud Creek Cubs Peewee team finished in first place for the season with a 10-1 record and also were tourney winners. in the fourth quarter, when, with only about four minutes to go in the game, a bad snap allowed a recovery by Virgie and a subsequent score by the Eagles' outstanding tailback Gerald Osborne who picked up a total of 189 yards for the night. With the extra points by Virgie, regular play ended at an 8-8 tie.

In the overtime period, Betsy Layne's Bobcats demonstrated their determination to win by picking up the first score on a quarterback sneak by Frazier into the end zone. Betsy Layne failed to pick up the crucial extra points and the score stood at 14-8.

Virgie's 220-pound Osborne spoiled the night for BLHS on a fourth down plunge across the goal line tieing the score at 14-14. Osborne then kicked the extra point for the winning point.

Reflecting on the game, Coach Phillips pointed to Virgie's Osborne as a decisive factor, but, he stressed, "We're our own worst enemy.

and played aggressive defense. Prestonsburg's total gains were for 329 yards; Paintsville's was 157.

'I'd say we were much improved from the week before, but we need to improve about twice as much," Haywood said. Friday night's game will be played against the Betsy Layne Bobcats at the Betsy Layne field.

Wild Fowl Seasons Set

Duck hunting season in Kentucky will open Nov. 12 and run through Nov. 26, with the second phase of the split season set for Dec. 17 through Jan. 20, 1984, according to regulations adopted last week by the Fish and Wildlife Commission at its quarterly meeting in Frankfort.

The state will be divided into three "zones" for goose hunting. In the 70-day eastern zone, the season will run from Nov. 12 through Jan. 20. The western zone will open Dec. 12 and also run through Jan. 20.

The boundary between these two zones begins at Fulton, runs up the Purchase Parkway to I-24, takes the interstate north to U.S. 641, then from US

60 to US 641. From 641, the line then extends to US 41 and thence to the Kentucky-Indiana border.

The third goose hunting zone, the Ballard Zone, will have season dates running from Dec. 23 through Jan. 31, 1984. However, if a quota harvest of 6,000 Canada geese is reached before Jan. 31. the season will close in this zone. The Ballard zone includes the northwestern portion of Ballard County bounded by US 60 and State Route 358.

Duck and goose hunting on the Ballard Wildlife Management Area in Ballard county will open Dec. 26. Duck hunting will be permitted until Jan. 20, while

'Play It Safe'...

Brown, Barber Warn Coaches

Cooler weather has temporarily eased the heat wave in Kentucky but Governor John Y. Brown, Jr. and Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber are taking no chances. Concerned about the possibly lethal combination of football practice on excessively hot days, the two have sent a joint letter to all coaches and principals in Kentucky.

The letter emphasizes that the wellbeing of student athletes precludes all other considerations. The joint letter is accompanied by information prepared by Dr. Dan Primm, assistant professor of Orthopedic Surgery and director of the Sports Medicine Clinic, University of Kentucky Medical Center.

Primm's no-nonsense memorandum explains sound athletic practices in hot and humid conditions and debunks several notions long in vogue but medically obsolete.

"The notion that strenuous exercise, while clothed in impervious, plastic clothing will safely accelerate weight loss in overweight athletes should be condemned," Primm wrote. "Any rapid weight loss in an athlete should be considered dehydration until proven otherwise."

Primm also emphasizes that fluid in-

"Salt replacements before and during competition are not necessary. In fact, the ingestion of excessive salt tablets without sufficient fluid replacement is a potentially lethal combination."

Primm urges that practices take place in the cooler early morning or early evening hours, that games be cancelled when the sum of the heat and humidity exceeds 150, and that graduated conditioning athletic programs be observed. He also warned that "at least 10 percent of the people developing heat stroke will die."

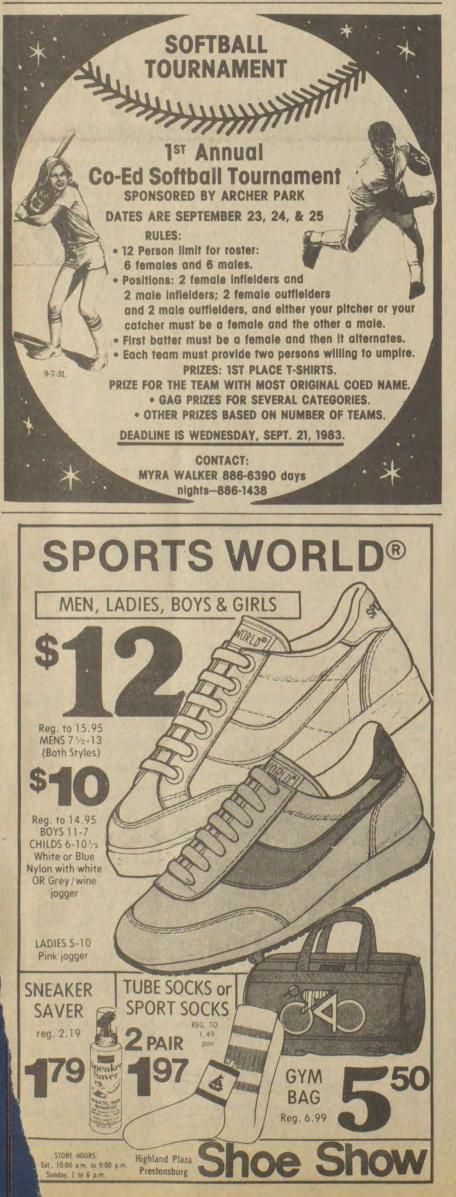

"We did not want to take any chances," Barber said. "The Governor and I are fully aware that decisions about athletic programs are made in the local school districts. We also know that the enthusiasm and rivalry of preparing for an important game can get in the way of common sense. Good health and a good life are more important than a game. I think the Governor knows that better than anyone just now."

Brown and Barber's letter was prompted by a plea from Mrs. Jane Hocker Anderson, Owensboro, Kentucky.

FOLK FESTIVAL PERFORMERS

The Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival, the oldest ongoing festival in the state, will include on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, many out-of-town performers. Among these there will be John Skaggs, Ronnie Wells, and Jonda Pointer, all of Ashland; Dr. Carl Clark, of Lexington: Home Ledford, of Winchester, the Rainbow Ramblers, of Paintsville; Marie Bailey, of Salyersville; Curtis Vickers, of Frankfort; Michael Johnathan, of Hindman; the Sweetheart Cloggers, of Pikeville; Lisa Collins, of Minnie, and Sabrina West, of Harold. The festival will also feature many local musicians and singers, as well as storytellers, puppetiers, arts and craftsmen. Mrs. Edith James the originator of this popular event will again be joined by Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Frazier in its presentation this weekend.

or until the zone quota of 6,000 is reached.

Those wishing to hunt on the Ballard area must apply by Sept. 30, on a form provided by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. These application forms, which contain complete instructions, are available from conservation officers or by writing the Division of Wildlife, Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, No. 1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Duck hunters will use the point system again this year to determine daily and possession limits. Under this system, different ducks are assigned a numerical point value and a hunter reaches his limit when the value of the last duck taken, when added to the values of the ducks already in the bag, reaches or exceeds 100 points. The possession limit is the maximum number which could have been taken in two days.

The only change in point values this year is that the black duck is now a 100-point bird (as opposed to 70 points last year). The only other 100-point duck is the canvasback.

Other point values are: 70 points redhead, hen mallard, wood duck and hooded merganser; 10 points—pintail, teals, widgeon, gadwall, shoveler, scaup and all mergansers except the hooded; 25 points—drake mallard and all other species except coots, which have a point value of zero but a daily limit of 15 and a possession limit of 30.

The goose limit is five daily, only two of which may be Canada geese or white fronted geese. The possession limit is 10 with no more than four Canada and four white-fronted geese.

Kentucky's spring wild turkey season will open April 14 next year.

The season will run through April 20 in Ballard county and that portion of Christian county east of highway 41, and through April 27 in Bath, Boyle, Butler, Casey, Crittenden, Harlan, Leslie, Marion, McCreary, Menifee, Pike and Pulaski counties. All other counties or portions of counties are closed to turkey hunting.

The April 14-27 season dates will also be in effect on the Pine Mountain, Pioneer Weapons, Beaver Creek, Redbird and Cranks Creek wildlife management areas.

At Land Between the Lakes, the season will run from April 11 through April 29 and at Ft. Campbell, April 7 through April 29, with no Monday or Tuesday hunting. Ft. Knox seasons will be set at a later date. All other wildlife management areas and other public hunting lands are closed to turkey hunting.

Other turkey regulations will remain essentially unchanged from last year, with hunters limited to one turkey gobbler per year. A second turkey may be taken, however, if one is harvested from Ft. Knox, Ft. Campbell or Land Between the Lakes.

In other action, the Fish and Wildlife Commission approved the installation of a toll-free telephone line for reporting fish and game violations.

In County Announced

The central regional office of St. Jude's Children; Research Hospital, Memphis, Tenn., last week announced the names of more Floyd countians who will chair St. Jude; Bike-a-Thons in their communities. They are:

The Wayland Beauty Salon (Connie Scott), in Estill; Mrs. Eula Hall and the Mud Creek Clinic staff in Minnie; Mrs. Loretta Allen, in Auxier; Mrs. Shonia Bentley, in David; Mrs. Drema Clay, in Dwale, and the Rev. and Mrs. Louis Ferrari, in Wheelwright.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Rainey, for Weeksbury; Gary Johnson, for Martin; Mrs. Eula Hall, for Ligon; Mrs. Janet Hall, for Hi Hat; Mrs. Betty Hunter, for Harold; and Mrs. Patricia Rister, for Garrett.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, founded by entertainer, Danny Thomas, is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and provides total medical care to over 4,200 patients from across the United States and 21 foreign countries.

At St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, doctors and scientists are probing the mysteries of catastrophic illnesses of children. Daily they seek not only better treatment, but the causes, cures, and ultimately the prevention of these terrible killers. Already, new findings and the export of that knowledge to doctors and hospitals the world over have brought the hospital international acclaim.

The Bike-a-Thon program is dedicated to Terry, who was diagnosed with leukemia in March of 1978, and began treatment at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Today, she is well and off all medication. Terry is a living example of the progress and success of the research, patient care, and educational programs of this internationally recognized hospital.

Funds raised in the events this fall will help assure the continuation of the work at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

Pikeville Boy Victim In Trampoline Mishap

A 12-year-old Pikeville boy was killed last Wednesday while playing on a trampoline in the gymnasium of Pikeville College

David Edward Merchant was pronounced dead on arrival at Pikeville

In loving memory of Oscar Wheeler on his 76th birthday. Born Aug. 29, 1907, died Oct. 6, 1982.

We loved you-yes, we loved you, But angels loved you more; And they have sweetly called you, To yonder blissful shore. The golden gates were open, A gentle voice said, come. And with farewells unspoken You calmly entered home.

Loved and missed by Wife, daughter and grandson 1t.

In memory of my husband, Raymond Meade, who passed away one year ago

On the wings of death and sorrow God sends us new hopes for tomorrow, And in His mercy and His grace He gives us strength to bravely face The lonely days that stretch ahead And know our loved one is not dead But only sleeping and out of our sight And we'll meet in that land

Sadly missed by your wife, Patty, and boys, Gary, Roger, Dale, Thomas James and sisters, brothers, and father, Sam T. Meade.

Stewart Is Victim Of Cycle Accident

Twenty-year-old Billy Joe Stewart, of Hi Hat, was dead on arrival at the McDowell Begional Hospital Sunday evening, an hour after his motorcycle had wrecked on KY 122, near Price, and rolled into an oncoming automobile.

The 5:30 p.m. collision resulted when young Stewart apparently lost control of his cycle after rounding a curve, Coroner Roger Nelson said. He suffered head and body injuries. Loey J. Brown, Bristol, Va., driver of the auto, was uninjured.

The victim was a son of Mrs. Hannah Newsome Stewart, of Hi Hat, and the late William Stewart. Other survivors include three brothers and two sisters. Harry Dean Stewart, River Rouge, Mich., Ronald Gene and Randall Marvin Stewart, both of Hi Hat, Mrs. Wanda Frazier, of Drift, and Mrs. Patricia Mullins, of Prestonsburg. His grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Stewart, of Hi Hat, also survives. Funeral services were conducted today (Wednesday) at 11 a.m. from the Church of God of Prophecy at Hi Hat, and burial in the family cemetery there was directed by the Hall Funeral Home.

Alice Lloyd Student Killed in Auto Wreck; Marson Seriously Hurt

One Alice Lloyd College sophomore student was killed and another, also a member of the same class, was seriously injured in a one-car accident Wednesday night at Mallie, Knott county, about five miles from Hindman.

Killed was Kevin Wendell Brewer, of Virgie, who was pronounced dead at the scene.

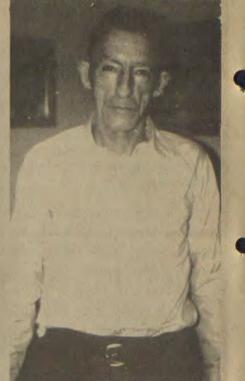

Joe Marson, 18, former Prestonsburg High School basketball player and a member of the Alice Lloyd varsity, was reported in serious condition with internal injuries at Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital.

Brewer, a resident of Virgie, Pike county, was the driver of the auto, which left the highway on a sharp curve and overturned

His funeral was held Sunday afternoon in the Dorton High School gymnasium. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Brewer, a brother, Billy S. Brewer, and one sister, Mimatha Brewer, all of Virgie.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Hassell Burke, born Aug. 7, 1917-Sept. 1, 1982. In September 1982 the 1st day, Our daddy we loved so much was called away.

He was such a good man, I don't know where to start.

That when God called him home, how it broke our hearts.

He worked so long and hard in the mines.

If only we could have had a little more of his time

The old home place just isn't the same, Not to hear the sound of his voice or the call of his name.

How we miss his words and kind smile, If only we could sit and talk for a while. But his sweet smiles no more we shall

But smiles in Heaven there will always

How Mom and we children loved you so much,

We'd give anything to have you back with us.

But we know it was just your time to go, So sleep on in Heaven and rest your hard working soul.

So please listen when we say, That Daddy is not dead, he is just away. Sadly missed by his wife and children.

IN MEMORIAM on Sept. 6, 1982.

Where there is no night.

Food Prices Fall During August

August, a month of extremes in weather, showed its moderate side at the food counter, where prices stabilized at their lowest level since January, according to Kentucky Farm Bureau's marketbasket food price survey

A selected group of 40 food items cost grocery shoppers an average $58.40 this month, down slightly from last month's $58.51, and more than 3 percent below the August 1982 price of $60.41.

Beef prices paced the decline in August price levels, including ground beef which cost an average $1.23 per pound, the lowest price that item has shown in the 50 months that Farm Bureau has conducted the marketbasket survey. The five beef cuts surveyed averaged 2.3 percent lower than July. Poultry prices moved up by 6.1 percent, offsetting the savings at the beef counter, while pork prices were mixed. Overall, the 13 cuts of meat were 1 percent lower in price.

of Christ, she was born November 10, 1914 in Altoona, Pennsylvania, and was a daughter of the late Frank R. and Clara Benninger Little. Preceded in death by her husband, Guy E. Pullium, she was a member of the Prestonsburg Senior Citizen's Center.

Burial was made in the Hall cemetery on Little Mud Creek.

Hall said no definite cause of death has been determined but that officials were still investigating.

Hall said that Merchant and three other Pikeville youngsters entered the gym at about 8:45 p.m., opened up a large trampoline and began playing on it. He said the other boys had got off the trampoline when it collapsed, trapping Merchant inside.

The other boys, who were uninjured, got help from a professor at the college in freeing Merchant.

Survivors include his mother, Barbara B. Merchant, of Pikeville, and his father, David Merchant of Coburn, Va.

Allen for two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Gene Coburn, of Louisville, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Allen, Monday.

Eggs were up sharply in price for the month, averaging 9 percent above July. The prices of 85 cents for a dozen large eggs and 97 cents for extra large were the highest since December 1980.

Dairy product cost averages were virtually unchanged during August, although fluid milk moved slightly lower. Fruits and vegetables posted a modest 2 percent gain for the month, while grain-based foods were cheaper by 1 percent.

Leading the list of individual food items that showed price declines during August were ground beef, down 8 cents a pound, rib eye steaks, 13 cents lower, pork loin chops, 12 cents below July, and tomatoes, corn oil and bacon, all down 8 cents per unit.

Greensburg turned up with the lowest local marketbasket average in August, while Dry Ridge posted the high price average. Overall, volunteers working through Farm Bureau Women canvassed retail food prices in 27 Kentucky communities.

In the farm price area, weather conditions and reduced crop forecasts prompted sharp increases in grain prices and continuing declines in livestock price levels during the past month.

The Kentucky Crop and Livestock Reporting Service noted the trend in its most recent report, and the grain markets have reacted strongly since then, with corn, soybeans and wheat all at season highs. Drying pastures and shortened grain crops have forced the sale of many cattle, causing those prices to slide. Hogs too have trended downward.

Analysts expect some slackening of grain prices after the beginning of harvest, and few expect any immediate sharp run-ups in food prices resulting from the drought. They point to the huge carryovers from the past three growing seasons as ample buffer against shortages and the cost increases they would bring.

Help Us Save Lives

This is a special report from Jewish Hospital in Louisville, Kentucky. One of every two Americans will be involved in an alcohol-related crash in their lifetime. Last July, we started SKYCARE, Kentucky's first helicopter ambulance service. Help us celebrate one year of SkyCaring by keeping SKYCARE grounded this summer. Let's work together to STOP drunk driving.
