

A SPECIAL THANK-YOU

In the recent death and interment of our beloved mother and grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Minix, the family wishes to thank everyone for their kindness during our sorrow. Special thanks to those who sent flowers or made charitable contributions in her memory. Also a very special thanks to the Carter Funeral Home and to the Rev. Clifford Austin for their able and compassionate assistance in our time of loss.

Prenatal Series Set

The Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association is sponsoring a multi-media prenatal series for all couples who are either considering pregnancy or who are already pregnant. The class series will discuss and answer questions about such topics as normal growth and development of the fetus, factors which affect the growth of the fetus, danger signals of pregnancy, physical changes of the mother, comfort measures, changing body image, psychological aspects of pregnancy, safety approach to baby products, family-centered maternity care and identifying community resources for the new family.

The class series is scheduled to be held on Wednesday, September 28, October 5, and October 12 at 7:00 p.m. at the Prestonsburg Community College in the Magoffin Complex Building A-1.

For further information or to register, please contact Ann Slope at 886-3863.

D.A.R. CHAPTER MEETS

John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held their regular monthly meeting, Sept. 13, at the Emma Wells May Cultural Center. The new regent, Mrs. Ray Brackett, presided, and Mrs. Opal S. May, chaplain, conducted the ritualistic services. The Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag was led by Mrs. Mae S. Kendrick, and Mrs. Norma S. Stepp led the group in reciting the American Creed.

Mrs. Carl Horn read the President's Message, and the National Defense program was presented by Mrs. Virginia S. Goble, director of the 6th District, D.A.R. She was assisted by Mrs. Norma S. Stepp, secretary of the local chapter.

During the business session, the regent, Mrs. Brackett, announced plans for the ensuing year by distributing materials to the committee chairmen, and listing the programs for each month. Plans for the new yearbook were discussed, and it was decided that the regent would have these printed in the near future.

Mrs. Margaret Collins has been chosen to be in charge of the window display for the D.A.R. during the Jenny Wiley Festival, the first week of October.

It was agreed that the local Chapter would subscribe to the National Defense magazine for Norman Allen, editor of the Floyd County Times, and Gorman Collins, Sr., director of the Radio Station WDOC for one year.

Mrs. Margaret Collins presented the speaker, James Goble, retired teacher and former Floyd and Martin county health administrator. Mr. Goble used as his topic, "The Constitution of the United States and its Evolvement."

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Olga Preston, Saturday October 15, at 2 p.m., at her home at Ulysses, Ky.

Hostess for Tuesday's meeting was Mrs. Frances Brackett, who served cookies and sodas to Mesdames Olga Preston, Virginia Goble, Edith James, Norma Stepp, Eleanor Horn, Mae Kendrick, Margaret Collins, and Opal May, members, and James B. Goble, a guest.

CONCLUDE VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Armentrout, of Eglin Air Force Base, Niceville, Fla., have concluded a visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J.G. Stepp, and other relatives and friends here, and his mother, Mrs. Christine Armentrout, of Somerset. They were accompanied to the Lexington Airport by his mother, where Mrs. Sabrena Armentrout departed for Eglin Air Force base, and Mr. Armentrout left for a new assignment in Iceland. On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Goble entertained with a farewell dinner in their honor, having as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Armentrout, Mr. and Mrs. J.G. Stepp, Mrs. Opal May, Mrs. Mae Kendrick, and Miss Jane Ann Kendrick.

WHAT PROTECTION SHOULD I HAVE FOR MY FAMILY?

Most people feel the responsibility to assure their family or survivors a reasonably smooth adjustment to life without you. Fulfilling this responsibility helps greatly in your peace of mind.

Life insurance protection, written up by a knowledgeable agent to suit your situation, is an important step.

A will is an essential document that will assure your estate will be directed as you desire. State laws vary so a competent lawyer in the state of your residence is your best advisor. Important items to include in your will might include the naming of an executor, your bequests of significant properties, trust funds, and any memorial or remembrance gifts.

Pre-planning your funeral arrangements is also a great relief to your survivors. You definitely will relieve their burdens in their hours of sorrow and we can help you with this without cost or obligation.

Keep in mind that safe-deposit boxes are usually inaccessible for some time after a death. A small savings account or a book of Traveler's Checks which are immediately available will help until the estate is settled.

Gallup Poll Finds the Public Favorable to School Reforms

An annual Gallup Poll has found that the public agrees with recent education reports that the quality of education has declined, and major improvement is needed.

In the 15th annual Gallup Poll of public attitudes toward public schools, 87% of the public familiar with the national "Excellence in Education" report agreed with the report, and 74% of those unfamiliar with the report were nonetheless critical of public schools.

According to the survey, the public is in favor by a two-to-one margin of paying individual teachers based on the "quality of their work." Also, a majority of those polled did not think students (12) were required to work hard enough at school or on homework.

Although two recommendations of the commission report are to lengthen the school day and school year, a majority of the polled group did not agree. Forty percent favored adding 30 days of instruction to the school year, and 49% were opposed. As for lengthening the school day by one hour, 41% were in favor and 48% were opposed.

The quality of local schools was graded A or B by only 31% of the public, compared to 37% last year. The quality of schools nationally only rated an A or B grade by 19% of the public, and 22% of the polled group gave them a D or failing grade.

Increasing taxes to improve education was more popular at the national level than the local level; 39% favored raising local taxes, and 58% favored higher taxes to raise the standard of education in the U.S.

Discipline was identified as the biggest problem in the schools, followed by drug usage, poor curriculum and standards, and lack of financial support.

Thirty-five percent of the respondents felt teachers' salaries were too low, half favored higher pay for teachers in critical shortage areas, and 61% agreed that each teacher should be paid on the basis of the quality of his or her work.

Seventy-five percent of those polled wanted students to be required to pass an exam before they advanced to the next grade, and a similar percentage wanted the children tested in comparison with students nationally.

Panel To Study Proposed Tax On State's Unmined Minerals

Responsibility for investigating the possibilities of a tax on unmined minerals, including coal, has fallen to a six-member commission appointed by Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr.

"The problem is more complex than simply taxing unmined minerals," Brown said. "For that reason, I'm asking this task force to aggressively study whether an equitable program of taxing unmined minerals can be developed that will stand up legally and will justify the expense of administering such a tax."

Rush Dozier, the governor's chief counsel and an ex officio member of the commission, said Brown has discussed an unmined minerals tax periodically since taking office in 1979.

A major problem with such a tax is its administration, Dozier said, centering on the difficulty of fairly assessing the quality and marketability of coal before it is mined.

Making that determination could result in the state's spending more to administer the tax than it would receive from the tax, he said.

Making that determination could result in the state's spending more to administer the tax than it would receive from the tax, he said.

But Brown "wants to make one last try in his administration to see if there is any way" a legal, workable proposal could be drafted, he said.

Brown also "didn't want to put the next governor in the position of being interested in this device during the next legislature and not having the time to determine its feasibility," Dozier said.

Based on public comments of the two gubernatorial candidates, however, the next governor will not have an overwhelming interest in an unmined minerals tax.

"I don't think it's a workable tax," Republican nominee Jim Bunning said earlier last week. The 1976 General Assembly enacted an unmined minerals levy but repealed it two years later after finding it too difficult to administer, he noted.

Democratic nominee Martha Layne Collins has taken a similar stand.

"If you can develop a tax on unmined minerals that actually shifts the tax burden to absentee owners without penalizing Kentucky landowners, without penalizing Kentucky farmers, without pricing Kentucky coal out of the market... If you can develop such a tax that is collectible and enforceable and is actually paid by out-of-state corporations, who wouldn't support such legislation?" she said in a statement.

Indictments Clarified

Because of a clerical error, the names of two persons indicted by a Floyd circuit court grand jury last week were listed incorrectly. Indicted on a count of theft by unlawful taking, "by taking several items from the residence of Joyce Akers," were Zettie Bentley and Tammy Hall. Edna Hall was also indicted on the same charge.

Howard Is Visiting Professor

Richard D. Howard, a former student and assistant professor of special education at Pikeville College, has returned to the college as a visiting professor of education.

Howard attended Pikeville College from 1949 to 1950 and taught at Wayland, in 1950-'51. He then entered Eastern Kentucky State College and received his B.S. degree in elementary education. He earned a master's degree from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio and a doctorate degree in special education from the University of Alabama.

In 1960 he attended the summer workshop on the Education of the Slow and Retarded Learner at Wittenberg University, Springfield Ohio, later attended graduate school at the University of Dayton, concentrating on Occupational Origin and Job Training. During the summer quarter of 1964 he attended graduate school at Ohio State University, studying mentally retarded education. From 1964 until 1967 he studied special education as a doctoral candidate at the University of Cincinnati.

Howard was an elementary and junior high school teacher for 10 years, principal and teacher of special education (educable retarded) for six years.

He was an adjunct professor for Miami University, summers and evenings, in the area of special education for four years and did the same for the University of Dayton and Wittenberg University at Springfield, Ohio.

Howard is a writer and lecturer. He has lectured on the Middle East, the Holy Land and Brazil and has written for religious monthly publications. He also has published two books in the areas of vocational and occupational education of educable mentally retarded, "Unemployed Uglier" and "Career Education for Exceptional Students."

After leaving Pikeville College in 1971, where he founded the department of special education, Howard went to Eastern Kentucky University and retired in 1979. Since retirement he has been a visiting professor at Morehead State University and Union College.

He is currently an independent petroleum land man, is licensed auctioneer and real estate broker, owns and operates the Kentucky School of Auctioneering, and is an ordained minister.

He and his wife, Lurlie Reed Howard, reside in Winchester.
