

NO, IT'S NOT a scene along the coast of Maine, and no, it's not a tidal marshland in East Virginia. It's the Highlands Plaza parking lot here Tuesday morning where a group of errant seagulls touched down for some unexplained reason. Gulls usually show up each spring about this time and it's not their first appearance at the shopping center. They've also been spotted in years past at the college and once in a Prestonsburg resident's swimming pool.

$10 Million Project Here Yet 'On Track'

It's behind schedule, but what is confounding skeptics is that Prestonsburg Village is on track at all. Prestonsburg Village is the name of a $10 million shopping plaza being developed on Pin Hook, at the junction of U.S. 23 and the Mountain Parkway. In kicking it off with a flourish last May, the developers, a Louisville firm called Commonwealth Development Corporation (CDC), predicted it would open this spring—and "aesthetically landscaped" shopping complex spread over 15 acres of a commanding, 30-acre site. Half the proposed 200,000 square feet of commercial space was already leased—much of it to well-known firms like the Winn-Dixie grocery, Wal-Mart department store and Begley drug store chains—the developers claimed. The project would create 450 jobs, they said. Not everyone was delighted at the prospect, some inner-city merchants fearing a new shopping mall on U.S. 23 would doom downtown business. In an ill-conceived plan to make all roads lead to Prestonsburg, they persuaded the city council to reverse the traffic flow on Arnold Avenue, a move that generated considerably more frustration than enthusiasm among shoppers until it was rescinded.

Moreover, since its inception, rumors have freely circulated that the Prestonsburg Village project is a flop.

Long stretches of inactivity at the site did nothing to still the talk. Contractors came and went; equipment visible one day was gone the next; the Chemical Bank of New York reportedly grew nervous and withdrew its backing.

There was talk of unresolved problems of access from the main highway, of disputes with neighbors, of engineering nightmares. There was the question of incorporation in the city or of otherwise getting water and sewer services to the site. A link in fortunes appeared between the new mall and a proposed motel further up Katy Friend.

The rumors are not easily confirmed or denied—Peter Zanetti, vice-president for development at CDC, has failed to answer repeated phone calls. But, while it is clearly some months behind schedule, the project is not dead.

Last week, Grayson Resources Inc. took over the task of excavating the site, a job left half-finished by previous contractors. Garland Flaughner, president of the Carter county firm, estimated the work would take three or four months to complete. Of the 15 acres needed for the shopping plaza, only seven began as level land. "There's still a lot of dirt to be moved," said foreman Rex Collins, who was operating an end-loader at the site Friday.

Suspend Two Beer Licenses On Mud Creek

Two Mud Creek beer retailers had their licenses suspended Monday after a finding by Alcoholic Beverage Control Administrator Denzil Allen that they had violated liquor laws.

William J. Hall, proprietor of Hall's Drive-In and Carry-Out on John Hall Branch near Grethel, will be out of business from April 16 to April 25 as a result of a 10-day suspension. Hall was convicted of selling a case of beer to a state police undercover agent on Dec. 4 last year.

Ruth Hamilton, who operates the R. and R. Carryout at Beaver, was given the option of a five-day suspension or of paying a $50 fine with the understanding that the present license will not be renewed. State ABC inspector Leslie E. Cole said he visited the premises on Jan. 11, while Dester Hamilton was in charge of the store, and found "tip cards" designed for gambling.

A week before, on Jan. 3, Dester Hamilton was convicted in Floyd district court of selling alcoholic beverages without a license.

Sportsmen's Group Turning Strip Job To Game Habitat

Destruction of habitat and the resulting displacement of wild game caused by strip mining is an unfortunate fact of life in coal-producing areas. But now, a group of Floyd county sportsmen are demonstrating that stripmine sites, once abandoned, can again provide a more than adequate environment for a variety of wildlife and they offer as proof a 1,500-acre game reserve near Martin.

The sportsmen's organization, now incorporated as the Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation, was founded in 1979 primarily on the idea of utilizing land included in the former stripmine of the Kentucky Coal Company near the mouth of Buck's Branch at Martin.

Curt Hughes, of Martin, president and founder of E.K.W.F. and owner of one section of the mined property, said it was then that the idea of using the land as a refuge for game came to him. "Other property owners interested in conservation were willing to cooperate as well," said Hughes, "so we found ourselves with a large tract of land to work with."

With the primary goal of wildlife conservation, Hughes and others worked whenever possible to provide access to the long, grass-covered flats and rolling ridgetops of the mountaintop acreage. With the help of the state Division of Forestry trees were planted and members have posted signs declaring a wildlife refuge area along all hollows and other approaches to the property.

One mountaintop section was set aside for pheasant hunting, the only type of hunting activity allowed on the property, and many of the federation's members have enjoyed taking these non-native Eastern Kentucky game birds which are stocked by the organization. Strict rules govern hunting with proper hunter dress standards, a prohibition against alcohol, and a hunt-by-reservation only ruling. Hunters contribute a small fee for each bird they want released on the day of their hunt. The season runs from September 1 through December 30. (See Story No. 8, Page 4)

Curt Hughes, left, president of the Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation, discusses the group's 1,500-acre wildlife habitat area with Bobby Padgett and John Maple, representatives of the state's Abandoned Mines Division of office in Frankfort.

This Town...That World

On a happy note this week I report that I escaped April Fool Day without being sent a mile out of my way to answer an urgent call from a "sick" friend, or to search the town for striped ink, nor was I bilked into gasping at the report that Mondale, Hart and Jackson had all quit the race.

THE HARDY COLOR

I have been reminded that yellow must be the predominant color in nature, since it is the first to appear in spring flowers and the last to depart with the autumn leaves. To see the forsythia, the Easter lilies and the crocuses, all in this frost-defying color, is to be convinced.

But it occurs to me that plain "yellow" is a too-prosaic description of these flowers. Let's call it April gold.

Defense Rests Case in Jones, Ray-Mac Trial

Closing arguments are expected to begin today (Wednesday) in the U.S. District Court trial of coal operator Edgar Jones and 17 others on federal racketeering charges.

Prosecutors decided Monday to drop two counts—alleging unlawful possession of firearms—from the 10-count indictment handed down by a federal grand jury last June. The decision implicitly concedes the government did not prove that 10 miners were armed when they allegedly took to the hills above the Ray Mac stripmine near East McDowell on two days in February, 1982, and began firing on the mine.

Also dismissed by U.S. District Judge G. Wix Unthank, although over government objections, was one count against Benny Caudill, who was accused of helping to make a bomb used to blow up an auger owned by Ray-Mac. Caudill still faces two other charges. (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

Newsomes File To Keep Plant Closed at Ligon

The Left Beaver Coal Company's Ligon preparation plant has been shut down for two months and a Clear Creek couple moved last week to keep it that way.

What worries John and Helen Newsome is the possibility that, in view of improvements recently begun by the company, state environmental inspectors may be about to lift the ban they placed on the tippie last Jan. 28.

After twice revising their permit, the tippie operators are constructing several silt ponds and a new slurry pipeline in response to complaints that tarry coal waste from the plant was contaminating a stream and nearby wells.

In a "request for temporary relief" filed with the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, the Newsomes' attorney argued that the two permit revisions are illegal and that the company's new method of disposing of waste water from the tippie will not safeguard residents' drinking water.

In the request filed Thursday, Danville attorney Margaret S. Foley petitioned the Cabinet to keep the ban on the plant in effect until a formal hearing is held on permanent revocation of the tippie's operating permit.

The Left Beaver Coal Co., a subsidiary of the Drift-based Turner Elkhorn Mining Co., has been accused of persistent violations of environmental laws and was cited six times for infractions in a seven-month period last year.

One Plan Views Levisa Traffic To Johnson Co.

More than 40 years ago, when then-Congressman A.J. May led a fight for channelization to make the Big Sandy River and its Levisa fork navigable, he ran into opposition not only from rail interests but also from coal operators and organized labor.

Now, as the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers studies anew the feasibility of extending navigation on the river, the railway could stand pretty well alone in opposing the plan.

Currently the planning studies involve four alternative plans. One of these plans (known as the Levisa Fork Plan) would provide a navigable channel to Van Lear in Johnson county.

The other alternative plans considered—and more favored—are:

—The Channel Improvement Plan which would extend navigation upstream as far as the Big Sandy Plant (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

Martin Girls Return National Champs

The Martin Junior Pro girls basketball team was presented the keys to the City of Martin by Martin Mayor Raymond Griffith (third from left) after they returned national champions from weekend play in the National Junior Pro Girls Basketball Championship in Knoxville, Tennessee. The only team from Floyd county ever to have won a national championship, members were greeted by a parade given by Martin citizens upon their return, and Tuesday, County Judge-Executive John M. Burglars Loot Appliance Shop

Bill & Dave's TV, located in the Eagles Club building here, was burglarized over the week-end for the second time in four months. Television sets, video recorders and stereo systems valued at more than $3000 were taken.

Bill Blackburn, one of the two owners of the business, said there was a marked similarity of the break to the burglary committed last November. Entrance was effected through a side window, as in the first break, and egress via a back door was the same. "They even took the same sort of merchandise," Blackburn said.

He added that the loss had their business in "a tight place."

The burglary was not discovered till around 6 p.m. Sunday. Blackburn said the burglary was probably staged during the preceding night. City police are investigating the break, and, according to Blackburn, they have both fingerprints and footprints to study. David DeRossett is Blackburn's partner in the business.

Bill & Dave's will pay a reward of $400 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the burglary, it was announced.

Floyd Caucus Gives Governor Slim Edge

It was no place to be if you're all finicky about declaring your loyalties, and at least one county official was seen vacating the premises before the reckoning.

On the other hand, if a show of support for the governor would not do your business or your job prospects any harm, you could not have done better than to turn out in the Martin school gym Saturday afternoon for the Democratic party caucus.

It was literally time to stand up and be counted as some 230 Democrats gathered in one of four corners of the gym, under large signs reading Mondale, Hart, Jackson, or Uncommitted.

Word had gone out that Gov. Martha Layne Collins, who will chair the Democratic National Convention in July, would like Kentucky's delegates to be uncommitted. From the start of Saturday's caucus, it was clear the word had been heard here.

Speaking for Floyd Democrats massed under the "uncommitted" sign, Rose Collins said the governor—the first Kentuckian and the first woman to chair the national convention—would be able to achieve more for Kentucky if the state's delegates were not pledged in advance to any of the contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination.

But Arnold Turner, Jr., representing a sizeable group of Mondale supporters on the other side of the gym, urged the uncommitted to make their choice Saturday rather than have the governor "tell them who they're for" in July.

Ned Pillersdorf drew predictable applause from all sections in the hall when he declared, "What is best for Kentucky is that Ronald Reagan be defeated in November." But he convinced relatively few Floyd Democrats when he added, "I promise you this: Gary Hart can get rid of Ronald Reagan."

Juanita Terry, seated with a handful of black voters under the Jackson banner, said she wished all candidates well but hoped the civil rights leader would be the party's nominee for president.

The speeches changed a few minds. Seventeen persons crossed over to a different group from the one they had first joined, including most of the Jackson supporters, who—since their numbers did not equal the 10 percent needed to entitle them to send delegates to the congressional district convention in two weeks—were invited to join one of the other groups.

The crossovers proved vital to the Hart camp, which initially also fell short of the 10 percent—23 votes—that would give them a share of the delegates. On the first division, 22 sat under the Hart banner. When the speechmaking and lobbying was done and people were given an opportunity to change their minds, 14 more entered the Mondale camp and three joined the Hart forces—enough to give them a proportional share of the 34 Floyd delegates who will gather with representatives from other Seventh District counties on April 14.

In the end, 106 were counted as (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

Dr. Edwards Heads Health Study

Dr. Robert W. Edwards former Prestonsburg man, now of the Department of Parasitology and Laboratory Practice, University of North Carolina, headed a 22-member team of medical specialists last month in a study of Haitian health problems.

Co-sponsored by two Chapel Hill, N.C. Episcopal churches, the U.S. Public Health Service and AIDS, the medical research team centered its work in a survey of selected members of the population in the Montrios, Haiti area for parasitic diseases and AID.

The health problems under study are widespread in Haiti, and the U.S. Public Health Service is concerned because the immigration of Haitians to the United States as migrant laborers may create health problems in this country. Dr. Edwards did research work last summer in a federal pilot program concerned with such immigrants.

Equipment, and medicines purchased with a fund raised privately by Dr. Edwards himself were left in Haiti for the training of personnel there and to continue the lab work begun by his team.

A graduate of Prestonsburg High School, Edwards received his M.D. degree from the University of Arkansas. He is the son of Lloyd Edwards, of Prestonsburg, and the late Vera Edwards.

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

By JANE BOND

A nurse from the Health Department will be in Wayland, at the Methodist Church, Monday, April 9, from 10-2. She will offer T.B. skin tests, urinalyses, anemia screening, blood pressures, and immunizations. This clinic is a service of the health department and the public is welcome.

Cervical cancer is the most curable of all cancers, yet it kills approximately 11,000 women each year. There is a simple painless test to determine cervical cancer in its earliest and most curable stage. This is the pap test. Every woman should have regular pap tests. Those women, age 45, and over are especially urged to have regular pap tests, since this is the high risk age for cervical cancer.

The Floyd County Health Department is having pap clinics, Wednesday, April 11 and Wednesday, April 18, from 8:30-11:30 and 1-2. These clinics are free services of the health department and are open to women of all ages, but those women age 45 and over are especially urged to take advantage of this free service since they are in the high-risk age group.

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

Aspirin is not without its hazards. An acute overdose of aspirin is the single greatest cause of death by drugs in young children in the U.S. Approximately 165-200 people die each year from aspirin overdose in this country. The lethal dose in an adult is between 10 and 30 grams. In children, a dose as low as 5 grams (17-20 regular 300 mg aspirin tablets) can be lethal. In addition some people are allergic to aspirin. The allergy can manifest itself in a number of ways including a mildly allergic response, such as an itch, flare or wheal caused by histamine release. Aspirin is also generally contra-indicated in patients with peptic ulcers. Even as mild an acid as aspirin can further irritate the stomach lining.

We can provide you and your family with your total prescription needs as well as any over the counter remedies you require. The cessation order issued by mining inspectors Jan. 28 forbade continued use by the firm of a slurry line on the bed of Clear Creek. The pipe carried waste to wells at the head of the hollow, where it was injected into old mine workings.

A preliminary hearing on whether to shut down the tippie permanently was scheduled in Frankfort last Thursday and then postponed until April 18; a final hearing on the question may not be held until May.

In the meantime, even before the new slurry line is constructed, officials at the Natural Resources Cabinet's Prestonsburg office appear willing to lift the cessation order and should be restrained from doing so, Foley contends.

Because the company apparently failed to get waivers from neighboring property owners, permit revisions providing for the construction of the new silt ponds and pipeline were made illegally; moreover, they were improperly approved without public notice or opportunity for public comment, the suit alleges.

In any event, the continued injection of wastewater into old mine workings at the head of Clear Creek is no longer feasible, since the hillsides are already full of water, and no satisfactory method has been proposed for the removal of the sludge left behind, plaintiffs argue.

When a formal hearing is held on the Ligon tippie's operating permit, the Newsomes are expected to argue for a revocation of the permit on grounds that the company has shown a "pattern of violations" of environmental laws. The Clear Creek plant "could be a textbook example" of such a pattern, said Foley.

They will also challenge a February agreement by which Left Beaver Coal Co. paid $9250 in fines for three violations. Under the Cabinet's own points system for assessing fines, the penalties levied were too low; moreover, the agreement was sealed while a motion to have the Newsomes included in the complaint was still pending, their lawyer said.

The defense rested its case last Wednesday, without Jones having taken the stand. After prosecutors called several rebuttal witnesses, defense motions for directed verdicts of acquittal were heard Monday. The judge and attorneys were scheduled Tuesday to confer on instructions to be given to the jury and attorneys on both sides were then expected to make their closing arguments. The trial began in the Pikeville federal court in January.

Carson Akers, of McDowell, the last witness to testify for the defense, said last week that the JRM Coal Company, which he and Jones own, had large stockpiles of coal at the time Jones was supposed to have hatched a plot to drive the rival Ray-Mac off Bill Hall Branch. Prosecutors have argued that JRM was having difficulty meeting its contract with a South Carolina utility and that Jones feared Ray-Mac was about to outbid him for the contract.

Akers is Jones' son-in-law. Cross-examined by a government lawyer, Akers said records indicating JRM's reserves were low at that time were inaccurate.

Gas Consumers Get Slim Relief on Cost

Customers of five eastern Kentucky gas companies will benefit from a retroactive rate reduction in wholesale gas supplied by Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company.

The reduced rates became effective March 28 and are retroactive to Nov. 1, 1983, reducing the company's wholesale price to $4.06 per decatherm. The rate prior to this adjustment was $4.48 per decatherm. The total reduction in rates is approximately $3.4 million.

Five Kentucky companies who purchase natural gas from Kentucky West Virginia are required to refund to their customers over-collections since November with interest, as well as reduce customer rates.

According to Kentucky Public Service Commission Chairman Laura L. Murrell, the reduced rates resulted from a Federal Energy Regulatory Commission investigation into Kentucky West Virginia's rates at the request of the state commission.

"Since Kentucky West Virginia supplies gas companies in two states, it is governed by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission rather than state agencies," Murrell explained. "While the Kentucky Commission does not have authority over interstate gas companies, we are responsible for seeing that Kentucky consumers get the best service for their money," she said.

The Kentucky Public Service Commission regularly intervenes in interstate pipeline proceedings at the federal level which directly or indirectly affect Kentucky ratepayers. The Kentucky West Virginia reduction is one of several resulting from commission intervention in federal rate proceedings.

Kentucky West Virginia supplies gas to these five companies that are affected by the rate reduction and, because they are jurisdictional to the Kentucky Public Service Commission, must pass on savings to their customers: Equitable Gas Co., serving parts of Floyd, Johnson, Lawrence, Leslie, Martin, Magoffin, Pike, Knott, Letcher and Perry counties; East Kentucky Utilities, serving part of Floyd county; Johnson County Gas; Mountain Utilities which serves part of Johnson county; and Mike Little Gas Co., serving part of Floyd county.

Municipally-owned gas companies that are affected by Kentucky West Virginia's rate reduction but are not jurisdictional to the Public Service Commission are Prestonsburg, Hazard, Paintsville and Wheelwright.

According to new projections by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, manufacturing—led by such industries as computers and instruments—is expected to account for almost one new job in six between 1982 and 1995, although employment in industries such as steel and autos will probably not return to prerecession levels.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from The Floyd County Times, 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 years ago.)

Ten Years Ago

(April 3, 1974)

A windstorm approaching tornado proportions wove a crazy-quilt pattern as it dipped into widely scattered areas of the county late Monday night, causing damage which may exceed $200,000. The grand jury of six men and six women which was empaneled Monday morning will have two deaths to investigate and a decision to make on both if murder indictments are to be returned. County Judge Henry Stumbo admits that the task of locating landfills that are acceptable to residents of the county and also to governmental agencies is a most frustrating experience. The strike which began Sunday midnight at the McDowell Regional Hospital and seven other Appalachian Regional Hospitals had, as of Tuesday afternoon, run a steady course. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reynolds, of Huntsville, Ala., a son, Jim, III, March 27 in Huntsville. There died: Webster Akers, 88, well-known former resident of the Mud Creek section, last Thursday here; Byron Nunnery 62, well-known Prestonsburg businessman and former city official, last Wednesday near Stanton; Mrs. Morine Tufts, 52, of Wayland, Sunday at the U.K. Med Center, Lexington; Mrs. Artie Marrs, 75, formerly of Martin, Friday in Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Dessie E. Meadows, 68, of Manton, last Thursday at Martin; Roy Brandenburg, 69, of Wayland, Monday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Mrs. Mary Marsillett Hale, 81, of Blue River, Saturday here; Sophia Burke Fairchild, 84, formerly of this section, March 21 at Huntington, West Virginia.

Twenty Years Ago

(April 9, 1964)

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley dismissed the grand jury Wednesday morning after the jury had unanimously refused to vote a liquor violation indictment against two Prestonsburg men on evidence produced by an ABC agent. Two Floyd county men are dead and two others, both from Teaberry, are hospitalized and in critical condition at Ypsilanti, Michigan, as the result of an auto accident near Plymouth, Mich., Saturday. Dead are Harvey Curtis, 28, formerly of Teaberry, and Junior Yates, formerly of McDowell. Erial Newsom and Billy Ray Booth are hospitalized. Ellis Slone, Jr., 14-year-old Prestonsburg high school freshman, was burned to death Saturday night in a fire which destroyed the family home on the Middle Creek road near David. Three hundred eight unemployed fathers of children in school have been put to work in this county under the pilot program begun in several Eastern Kentucky counties recently. Circuit Judge Hollie Conley urged the grand jury empaneled for the April criminal court session Monday to dig for evidence of the widespread liquor traffic in the county and at the same time declared that the use of pinball machines as gambling devices needs investigation. The Republican party will send two delegations from this county Friday to the Seventh district convention at Ashland, and conflicting claims of the two factions will be heard and probably decided there. There died: Woodrow Wilson Stephens, 47, of East Point, Wednesday en route to Prestonsburg General Hospital; Mrs. Mary Ann Sammons, 82, of Risner, Thursday of last week at her home; Wash Fraley, 55, of Prestonsburg, March 26 at St. Joseph hospital, Lorain, Ohio; Lon Stephens, 52, Floyd native, Tuesday at home at Zebulon, Pike county; Mrs. Anna C. Bush, 72, of Amba, Friday at the Pikeville Appalachian Regional Hospital.

Forty Years Ago

Although cash on hand for the present Red Cross drive is only $18,000, it is believed the county's goal of $22,500 has been reached. Reported from the war front: Sgt. Teamus Bowling, 20, of Wayland, bomber navigator, and Pfc. John R. Moore, of Orkney, both missing in the Mediterranean theatre; Norman D. Osborne, of Hite, and Pfc. Ashland Scott, both seriously wounded; Sgt. Claude Smith, of Hippo, a German prisoner. Morehead State College has nominated Gordon Moore, of Prestonsburg, to represent the college in this year's edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. There died: M. D. Powers, 62, of Prestonsburg, Wednesday at a Pikeville hospital; Mrs. Louisa Caudill, 49, of Melvin, Monday at Pikeville; Bee Stewart, of Harold, Sunday at Pikeville; Alexander H. Craft, 53, here March 30; Harvey Jarrell, of Martin, Friday at a Martin hospital; James Irvin Bradley, native of dock, at New London, Connecticut, March 25.

Fifty Years Ago

(April 6, 1934)

The scheduled fiscal court meeting at which a county treasurer was to have been named Tuesday was blocked by a temporary injunction action. Governor Laffoon this week named D. B. Arnett as a member of the Floyd County Board of Education to represent Educational Division 1 where a vacancy existed as the result of an election contest. Ten persons were jailed here Sunday after Jay Skeans' leg was broken by a bullet in a row at West Prestonsburg. A son of Pearl Akers, of Prater Creek, may have been fatally wounded last week when an automatic pistol dropped from a holster, discharged as it struck the floor. Flames which destroyed four buildings owned by Lee Preston at Martin early Saturday routed 30 persons from a boarding house and other lodging. Mel Sturgill, of Toler Creek, age about 40, was instantly killed Wednesday afternoon when a car in which he was a passenger collided with a truck at Broad Bottom, Pike county. Married: Miss Flo Francis and Mr. Curt Homes, March 3, at the home here of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Francis. There died: Mrs. Lily Shelton, 21, Tuesday at Drift; Gomer Dinwood Whittaker, 9, of Estill, March 15 at a Martin hospital.

MEDITATION

Consider some positive things you can do that are truly worthy of the spiritual dimensions of Lent.

1. Forgive someone who has hurt you, and if it is possible at all find a way to offer that person your forgiveness.
2. Write to someone who would be happy to hear from you and you have had on your mind from time to time and just never seemed to have found the time to write.
3. Do something thoughtful for a lonely person—a personal visit, a phone call, a small remembrance.
4. Smile at the "butcher, baker, and candlestick maker." For smiles are all too seldom seen these days.
5. Offer a word of encouragement to another person or a sincere compliment.
6. If you find yourself wallowing in negative—it is so easy to do this these days—find something hopeful to say or something positive to do.
7. Judge others, if at all, with kindness. Be gentle toward them. Guard your tongue when you would speak of them.
8. Set aside some time for those closest to you who are longing to share more of your life with you and to whom you always seem so very busy.
9. Seek God's help, asking for his guidance at the beginning of a day, putting yourself in his care at the day's end.
10. Think on the things in your life that are reasons for thanksgiving, and remembering them, cultivate a grateful heart.

—Charles L. Copenhaver.

of molten red pouring from that Hawaiian volcano the other night, I stepped outside, and, lo! there in the darkness, running down a hillside divide, was another river of fire. We who are fortunate within the earth disgrace ourselves by visiting upon our hills, just when they are ready to burst into leaf and flower, our own brand of destruction.

SOUND ADVICE

"Don't forget your specs," writes an acquaintance who will remain anonymous. Then she explains why she gives this advice.

"After enjoying the luxury of a leisurely bath, I reached for the bottle of oil near at hand. My glasses were on a stand, several feet away, and I didn't bother to get them. I knew the bottle, or thought I did.

"But after the oil was duly applied and I was dressing, I didn't feel right. My skin began feeling itchy-scratchy. It was then that I got my specs. And, lo and behold! I then learned that I had lathered myself with shampoo, not oil, and the soapy stuff had dried. As the grandson would say, I was 'all cwncked up.'"

WHY NOT A PRIMARY?

These county caucuses, at which you cast your vote for this or that candidate by lining up and making your choice public property and open to all present, is reminiscent of the old school trustee elections.

These trustee elections, at which neighbor lined up against neighbor, may have created more animosities than any other one event in community life, sometimes winding up in violence, even killings. For on the election of a trustee depended the choice of a teacher for the school, and, back then, there was no shortage of people seeking the job.

Fortunately, we got rid of that. But now we have its counterpart in party caucuses, and these, too, should be eliminated from the political process. The very fact that party members are required to make their preferences public discourages the ordinary voter from taking part. That might fit in with the plans of some to control the poll, but it falls short of the ideal of democracy in action.

A secret ballot should be provided. Why Kentucky doesn't have a presidential primary as many other states have needs some explaining to innocent bystanders like y'rs tr'ly.

DIETER'S LAMENT

After several weeks of pretty well living according to doctors' orders I have a feeling that I'm qualified to pass on to others some advice without charge.

Are you in doubt about what foods to eat? To me that's no problem. Anything you like is harmful. Anything you find downright revolting, gobble it up. It's cholesterol-free.

Yes, in a few instances you may eat a food that you have a liking for—if you'll leave it tasteless. Which means, no salt.

Milk, once considered a perfect food, recommended for children who would have sound bones and teeth—not at all, sir or madam, unless you get the kind that's reduced to the taste of chalk.

Eggs, which some old fogies as long as 10 years ago hailed as another perfect food—you may eat the whites only. If the white of an egg had any taste, it would also be verboten, I maintain.

By this time I know how the youngster felt when he was caught with his hand in the cookie jar. Let my hand stray toward the gravy bowl and it draws a slap, or I'm chased outside with a broom to wait for a "safe" meal to be brought on a tray.

About the only comfort I've found recently lay in something a national magazine's feature article on heart disease failed to mention. It mentioned diet, exercise, rest, escape from stress and zeroed in on the vegetables and a few other items one dares touch. And it listed the unmentionables, too.

The one item is missed, with not a word of warning?

Salt.

Make your own peanut butter at home. Combine two cups roasted nuts and a tablespoon of oil. Add a half teaspoon of salt unless salted nuts are used. Process in a blender or food processor until soft.

'trailer office of Century Builders' Associates, listed as construction firm for the new plaza. A concrete foundation has been poured for the largest store and truckloads of structural steel were delivered to the site about a month ago, however. Grayson Resources' president Flaughner said this week he understood the Wal-Mart and Winn Dixie stores are now scheduled to open in September, Begley Drug in October.

Grayson Resources is linked to the Grayson Loan Co., a firm headed by the well-known McGuire banking family, which also owns a controlling interest in the Bank Josephine here. Flaughner confirmed that the Bank Josephine had tentatively agreed to finance Prestonsburg Village when the Chemical Bank backed down. But that arrangement fell through and the New York bank is again bankrolling the project, he said.

After the city of Prestonsburg sought unsuccessfully last year to annex an area that would have included the new shopping complex as well as the Holiday Inn to be built a mile or so further up U.S. 23—developers of the motel first agreed to and then opposed the move—the county applied for a $227,000 state community development block grant to extend water and sewer lines in that section. The application was rejected in October, prompting a bitter protest to then-Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr. from Todd Hollenbach, a candidate last May for lieutenant-governor and later CDC's executive-director.

The FADA Service Co., a consortium of Prestonsburg businessmen who are developing the site for a Holiday Inn on Katy Friend, recently commissioned grant-writer Will Linder to apply for an Economic Development Administration grant to extend water and sewer lines both to the new shopping center and the proposed motel.

Ultimate goals for the group include: —Further expansion of the wildlife habitat program. The federation is currently receiving close cooperation from a state wildlife biologist as well as soil conservation specialists.

—The establishment of a backwoods camp for area youth. The camp would provide primitive camping facilities with organized programs of first-aid and other outdoor-related training.

—Providing jobs for youths, age 16-21. Tax deductible membership dues and contributions would determine number of jobs available for improvements to the wildlife habitat lands.

A picnic area has been established on the mountaintop and a weekend skeet-shooting range will open, May 5, in addition to an existing target-shooting area.

Hughes said the federation's membership has been made up primarily of local sportsmen, "and really, nobody has been aware of what we've had going here." Now, the group is ready to expand and it is hoped conservation-minded residents and sportsmen from a wide area of Eastern Kentucky will become involved. "As far as I know, this type of project, making this kind of use of an abandoned stripmine, is unique," Hughes commented. "I think there's a lot here for sportsmen and conservationists to be excited about."

All possibilities for funding are being explored, and Monday, representatives from the state's abandoned mines program were at Martin for evaluation of the site. "We're trying to work real closely with the state agencies," Hughes pointed out, "since they're the ones who can show us the best methods for things like planting, seeding, and providing proper habitat for different game species."

Even with minimal development, the 1,500 acres of land has offered federation members a retreat. The land is closed to non-members so there are no scattered piles of beverage cans and other litter, and animal species that were displaced until the mine shut down in 1973 have returned to the placid ridgetops. Several species of waterfowl, protected against indiscriminate gun totes who, before 1979, used them for living targets, are now commonly seen in the two small ponds on the mountaintop. With increased membership and help from government and private sectors, the wildlife refuge can only continue to prosper.

Area residents interested in joining or finding out more of the conservation group's activities may write: Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation, P.O. Box 440, Martin, KY 41649, or call 285-3804.

Jenny Wiley Theatre Goes To The Dogs

The Jenny Wiley Theatre is looking for a few good dogs. "For our production of ANNIE, we need two dogs—one to play Sandy, and a small dog to be in one scene and to be Sandy's Understudy," said Keith Stevens, Managing Director. Dog auditions will be held in conjunction with "people auditions" on Sunday, April 15 at Prestonsburg Community College. "We will be looking at dogs from 12:30 to 1 p.m. in the parking lot at the college," said Stevens. "The dogs should look similar to Sandy in the movie ANNIE, be well trained, and good with children."

Beginning at 1:00 in the Pike Auditorium at Prestonsburg Community College, auditions for the acting company and orchestra will be held. Actors should prepare one song (an accompanist will be provided) and a 30-second monologue. "Just like last year, many young people are needed for ANNIE," Stevens continued. "However, performers of all ages are encouraged to audition." In addition to ANNIE, FIDDLER ON THE ROOF and JOSEPH AND THE AMAZING TECHNICOLOR DREAMCOAT will be presented this summer.

Musicians should prepare one piece and should expect to sight read. Especially needed are string players, trumpeters, and trombonists. Again, people who play any instrument are encouraged to audition.

For more information about either the dog auditions or the people auditions, please call the theatre at 886-9274.

The Voices of Appalachia, Alice Lloyd College choir, will present a special program at the First Presbyterian Church, here, next Sunday at 5 p.m. The choir specializes in the hymns and ballads of the Southern Appalachian highlands. Honors Set for Top Teachers

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald will recognize outstanding teachers throughout Kentucky at a special reception in Frankfort early this summer.

The festivities will include a tour of the recently renovated Governor's Mansion and presentation of certificates.

"There is much talk of deficiencies in education these days, and not enough of quality," McDonald said in a letter sent last week to all school principals.

"One of my commitments as superintendent of public instruction is to recognize outstanding contributions in achievement in the field of education," she said.

"Most Kentucky schools have many good teachers. What we're asking the schools to do is nominate someone who is representative of all good teachers," McDonald said.

The Kentucky Outstanding Teacher Award program is the first of such efforts by the state Department of Education in the McDonald administration.

Teachers in each school will nominate and elect their representative. Criteria by which the teachers will be judged include concern for and interest in students, ability to teach and communicate with students, philosophy of teaching, knowledge of the subject taught, professional image as projected to school and community, professional involvement and growth, and community involvement.

Eligible teachers must be teaching grades K-12 in any school approved or accredited by the Kentucky Department of Education and have at least one year's teaching experience. Nominations shall be made without regard to race, age, sex, national origin or religion.

For further information about the program, contact Patty King, director of the Division of Recognition, (502) 564-4770.

Annual KEA Meet To Begin April 11th

State finals of the KEA President's Spelling Bee, presentation of School Bell Awards for education coverage, and a luncheon at which the recipient of KEA's annual Lucy Harth Smith-Atwood S. Wilson Award for Civil and Human Rights in Education will be announced will be among major activities at the convention.

STRUCTURAL STEEL and a concrete foundation are all there is to be seen as yet on the site of what developers promise will be a handsome shopping plaza at the junction of U.S. 23 and the Mountain Parkway. The first stores in what will be known as Prestonsburg Village, a $10 million project, are scheduled to open in the late summer.

Announces Memorial Gift

Thank you for your fine and perceptive article on the hospice program and the need for it in our area. In addition to the funds that have been raised, another contribution "in kind" to Hospice of Big Sandy ought to be recognized.

The First Presbyterian Church has offered and made available to Hospice office facilities to enable it to get started. The provision of this space, in the building next to the Church on U.S. 23, is given as a memorial to Frank H. Layne, himself a victim of cancer and long active in community service activities in our community. An appropriate dedication service of this space will be held on April 15. It is hoped that this gracious gift by Mr. Layne's family, friends, and church will inspire others to make the services of hospice a reality for others who are in similar need in the future.

Suggests Budget Plan

A political paddle would pay for peace in "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

If we were free of debt and administrative officials and candidates for public office were brave enough to set the example for this nation, a simple plan could be inaugurated.

Whenever our budget is out of balance and a deficit should occur, we might inaugurate the following plan.

First, a two percent discount on all government expenditures to be paid to the budget deficit. In other words, we will only pay 98 cents out of every dollar spent. This, in effect, would start at the top on down the line. No exemptions for Presidents, ex-Presidents, Congressmen or any administrative office. They were, are and will be on the front line to set policy and balance this budget.

Second, with this example of top participation to correct the deficit, then we may say that every citizen and the above officials, (again no exemptions), pay a one percent tax on income until we see a balanced budget, and maintain the same.

Now is the time to address this issue. A balanced budget is a far superior step to strengthen this nation than most of the expenditures for the arms race and parity.

Set us the example and pay for peace in this manner. You have, are and will set policy for this nation. This is your opportunity to put in your two cents.

You can have my penny, for I feel that then you may speak on any matter and feel assured your words may be spoken with patriotism and sound financial stability.

Seeks Family Information

I am in search of some help on my Kidd family:

George Kidd, b. 1814, Scott Co. Va., married Aug. 16, 1839, Scott Co. Va., Francis Stanley, b. 1817, Scott Co. Va. They are listed on the 1850-1860 Floyd County census. George must have died before 1870. The children are listed as:

William Kidd, b. 1838, Scott Co. Va.; Patience Kidd, b. 1841, Floyd Co., Ky.; James L. Kidd, b. 1845, Floyd County; Elias Kidd, b. 1847, Floyd county; Serena Kidd, b. 1849, Floyd county; Mack Kidd, b. 1850, Floyd county; Remy Kidd, b. 1852, Floyd county; Minda Kidd, b. 1854, Floyd county; Andrew Kidd, b. 1858, Floyd county; Bell Kidd, b. 1860, Floyd county; George Kidd, Jr., b. 1862, Floyd county; Anderson Kidd, b. 1867, Floyd county.

Bell Kidd was my great-grandmother, I would appreciate information on all the children, as I am planning a book on the Kidd family.

As the Daughters of the American Revolution observe February as American History Month, their focus is upon George Washington who is recognized as one of our most dedicated military leaders. Our first president of the United States of America, George Washington, is truly the Father of our Country. May we always celebrate his birthday each February.

Time Was

By WILMAY

Time was when the schools of our great land were Christian. A major reason that brought our founding fathers to the New World was their resolve to worship as they pleased, and to provide their children with a Christian upbringing. They wanted teachers whose beliefs conformed to theirs. For a while there were no public schools, but the first schools in the early colonies had Christian teachers. Prayer and Bible study were included in the curricula. Originally, Harvard University, founded as a college in 1636, and Yale, chartered in 1701 as a collegiate school, were strongly Puritan, though non-sectarian.

One never heard of abusive assaults or of drugs in schools, of guards in many, of teachers being injured in some, of others moving elsewhere to avoid the risk involved, particularly in numerous large urban schools today, of teachers taking early retirement, for safety. Discipline was firm, and pupil conduct generally commendable. Doubtless some learners were slow, especially after public schools were available to every child. But so many "greats" in every profession and walk of life graced several of the first centuries that one naturally assumes that standards surpassed the average today in the U.S., as revealed by numerous surveys.

In America time was when prayer and Bible reading, or a Bible story, could be heard in every classroom. Usually it was the Lord's Prayer, but no specific version was required, no set pattern, none from a single faith. While denominations then—as now—differed on some doctrines, large and small, no voice protested honoring God. Students were respectful. Invocations and benedictions were commonplace in public gatherings. No one minded or protested hearing some individual whose belief was contrary to theirs, speak or pray.

No speaker chose to discuss doctrinal topics.

Many of us who taught in Martin over thirty years ago recall that in assembly we heard speakers of any faith, from several states when they were available. Grace was said over the intercom daily by some student just as the first class was seated for lunch. Promptly at 12 noon every day two students went across the street to the Methodist Church, to ring the bell which signalled a moment of silent prayer over town for all who could and wished to participate—something else that hurt no one, but recognized God. Yes, time definitely WAS! Imagine what would happen if this were done today!

Time was when profane language was almost unheard of in schools. Such is no longer true. Only last week a teacher in this county told of a smutty remark made by a child in kindergarten that shocked her immeasurably. It was too vile to put in print. Preschoolers learn such at home, so don't blame Teacher or Mr. Grigsby!

Time was when it was rare indeed to hear of someone on drugs. Generally speaking then it was an adult who had required some narcotic or sedative following surgery, and had become "hooked." There was one such case in the small town where I grew up. She was from a very prominent, strong Christian family, but became addicted to a hard drug following surgery. Her husband left his office daily to give her a "shot", but wisely (on the advice of a physician, no doubt,) began gradually substituting distilled water until the habit was broken, with God's help. Some of us oldsters never heard of school children using drugs until recent years. Does a sadder picture exist today than that afflicting almost every community more or less? The solution must start at home, with parents, and in the church, and in the kindergarten. Prevention always beats cure. We should point the finger at no one. Any child can be a victim. Cooperation, understanding of everyone involved is essential.

Instead, we say, "I'm just one. What can I do?" No one knows until you try.

The word "vogue" comes from the French vogueur, meaning "to sail." People in vogue are "sailing" with the tide of popular taste.

Certified as CPA

Glenn Stephen Pack has successfully completed the uniform certified public accountant examination. He was presented his CPA certificate at the Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants awards night dinner at the Hyatt Regency in Louisville, March 16.

Pack was among 52 candidates sworn in that night by state Attorney General David Armstrong.

A graduate of McDowell High School, he received a bachelor of business administration degree from Morehead State University, where he was named on the academic dean's list. He is employed by the accounting firm of Helton, Butler and Wells.

The son of Glenn and Ruby Jane Turner Pack, of Georgetown, Ohio, Pack is married to the former Vicki Ann Steele. They live in Prestonsburg and are expecting their first child in July.

Cancer Hopeline

Q. My husband has cancer and just started his treatment. When I ask the doctor about his chances for cure or ask to see printed statistics, he never gives me a firm answer. He says the statistics are not really applicable to an individual case. Why is he so hesitant to give me this information?

A. Cancer survival statistics that are seen in articles and pamphlets are averages based on hundreds or even thousands of cases. However, a specific person's chances for cure depends on many variables, including the type of cancer, location of the tumor, the extent of the disease at diagnosis, and the age and general health of the patient.

Even for a particular type of cancer, prognosis (expectation for cure) differs from each patient. Furthermore, survival rates are constantly changing as methods for treating cancer improve.

Statistics on survival and recurrence can be misinterpreted. When doctors specializing in cancer treatment speak of "five-year survival" rather than "cure", this does not mean that a patient can expect to live for only five years after treatment or that there are not cancer cures. The five-year disease-free time period after treatment is simply an index used to measure the relative success of treatment.

When your husband has finished his course of treatment, ask the doctor to sit down with you and discuss the follow-up care he should have and his prospects for the future.

Observes 100th Birthday, March 28

Highlight of Mrs. Lena Phillips' 100th birthday was the card from President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan which she holds, above, along with letters from Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Senator Walter Dee Huddleston. Mrs. Phillips' daughter, Mrs. Katherine Haley, stands behind her.

"Everything has changed! I watched the coal companies come, build the town, and mine the coal," Mrs. Lena Phillips said recently looking back over the years as she observed her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Phillips, who lives at Wheelwright with her daughter, Mrs. Katherine Haley, and family, was born March 28, 1884 on Branham Hollow at Wheelwright. Though the years have left her hearing and eyesight impaired, she is alert and gets around on her own. She attributes her long life to one of the 10 Commandments. "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long upon this earth."

She enjoyed the birthday dinner prepared by Mrs. Haley and attended by another daughter, Mrs. Opal Moscript, of Flatwoods, and other family members. Friends and neighbors called on her throughout the day to wish her well.

Mrs. Phillips has three children, 10 grandchildren, 10-great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

ALC Continues Financial Aid

Alice Lloyd College will continue to offer excellent financial aid packages to students for the 1984-85 school year. Students should apply early to qualify for the maximum financial aid available. For those students who apply to Alice Lloyd College, the Education Assistance Authority Program. Application forms need to be sent to the Financial Aid Office, Alice Lloyd College, Pipa Passes, Kentucky, 41844.

Financial aid is available from many sources, such as grants, scholarships, work-study, and loans. Students should not hesitate to apply for financial aid. Students and parents should keep in mind that grants and scholarships do not have to be repaid; work-study need not be repaid because it is money received for employment of the student and that student is paid for services rendered to the institution; loans, however, are to be repaid according to the repayment policies of the respective loan.

Next year, the PELL Grant, which is based entirely on financial need, will increase from $1800 to $1900 and grants from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority will increase from $1150 to $1400 for those students attending private colleges. To apply for all of these grants, a student must complete a Kentucky Financial Aid Form (FAF) and indicate on the form the grants for which they wish to apply.

Alice Lloyd College will continue to offer scholarships to those students who meet appropriate guidelines. The ALC Memorial Scholarship, the most prestigious scholarship the college offers, is the equivalent of a tuition, room and board scholarship and the Regional Opportunity Grant is the equivalent of a tuition scholarship. The college also offers a limited number of full athletic grants-in-aid for participation in basketball and baseball.

For further information regarding application for admission and/or scholarship programs at Alice Lloyd College, contact Bill Melton, Director of Admissions, at (606) 368-2101, ext. 246.

For answers concerning financial aid or the completion of the Kentucky Financial Aid Form contact Nancy Melton, Director of Financial Aid, at (606) 368-2101, ext. 239.

For quick white sauces, blend one cup soft butter and one cup flour. Spread in ice cube tray, chill well and cut into 16 cubes. Store in plastic bag in freezer. To make sauce, add one cube to a cup of milk and heat slowly, stirring.

Miss Crager, Mr. Kniceley Wed Feb. 4

In a candlelight ceremony, Saturday, February 4, at the Morehead United Methodist Church, Miss Barbara Lynn Crager became the bride of Mr. Andrew B. Kniceley. The impressive double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Glenn L. Courts, pastor of the Morehead Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Marietta Crager, of the Auxier Road, Prestonsburg, Ky., and the late Mr. Woodrow Crager. Mr. Kniceley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kniceley, of Nitro, West Virginia.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Bobby F. Crager, wore a gown of white organza and lace. The sheer yoke of the high wedding band neckline and sheer lace sleeves were adorned with seed pearls, and the molded lace bodice was accented with a large lace bow in back. A border of scalloped lace fell from the waistline creating a draped overlay effect which formed the hemline of the skirt and cascaded into a cathedral-length train. The sheer cathedral-length veil was edged with lace, and the bride carried a cascade of white silk daisies and daffodils with ivy and fuschia violets.

Miss Amy Lawson, of Lexington, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Jennifer Crager, of Richmond, Miss Pam Spears and Miss Tammy Edgington, both of Morehead, Ky. Flower girl was Misti Ann Howell, cousin of the bride.

Best man was Mr. Lenville Martin, of Martin, Ky., and ushers were Mr. John Adams and Mr. John Johnson, both of Nitro, W. Va., Mr. Dave Stukey and Mr. Troy Putman, both of Morehead, Ky. Master Todd Kniceley, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

Preceding the ceremony, nuptial selections were sung by Michelle Gessendorf and Gail Golden, accompanied by Miss Dallas Sammons, and the Lord's Prayer was sung by Dr. Randall Wells, accompanied by Larry Keeton, organist.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Crager wore a floor-length pink organza dress, and the mother of the groom chose a floor-length gown of orchid organza. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Red Room of the Adron Doran University Center.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Brenda Helton, sister of the bride. After a wedding trip to Boca Raton, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Kniceley are residing in Morehead where they are both seniors at Morehead State University.

Issue Consumer Alert On Girl Scout Cookies

Kentucky public health officials today issued a "precautionary" consumer alert and urged citizens to carefully examine recently purchased Girl Scout cookies before opening the boxes or eating the cookies.

Irving Bell, director of the Department for Health Services' Consumer Health Protection Division, said the advisory was prompted by an increase in apparent tampering with Girl Scout cookies in several states, including Kentucky.

"On Tuesday, March 27, police in Jefferson County were alerted that a needle apparently had been shoved through the outer skin of a box of Girl Scout cookies bought in that community," Bell said. "This is the only incident reported in Kentucky at this time, but because of the reports of possible tampering in at least nine other states, we feel people would be wise to examine every box and every cookie."

Bell advised a thorough visual check of each box before it is opened. Consumers who find pin holes, tears, unsealed wrappers or any other unexplainable opening are requested not to open the box and to report the finding to state or U.S. Food and Drug Administration officials.

Visual checks also should be made of each cookie after a box is opened, he said.

"If these tampering cases are some sort of 'copycat' problem similar to past cases related to drugs, a general practice by consumers of examining the packaging and the cookies may dissuade people from further tampering," Bell said. "At the very least, a simple visual check could avoid the possibility of a dangerous situation to the consumer."

Bell stressed that his office is not recommending that people stop buying or eating Girl Scout cookies.

The Consumer Health Division is cooperating with the FDA in its investigation of the Jefferson county incident and any future reports from Kentucky consumers.

Reports of discovered or suspected tampering should be directed to John Draper at the Department for Health Services in Frankfort (502/564-3127) or the FDA district office in Nashville (615/251-5851).

UK Senior Wildcats To Be Here Saturday

Sam Bowie

Melvin Turpin

The University of Kentucky basketball seniors will be playing in a special exhibition game Saturday, April 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the Prestonsburg High School gymnasium.

Basketball fans will have an opportunity to see Dicky Beal, Jim Master, Tom Heitz, Melvin Turpin and Sam Bowie match up against a group of former Wildcat standouts including some almost legendary names.

Leading off will be Louie Dampier, who holds the American Basketball Association scoring title with 13,726 points during his pro career; Jerry Hale, Mike Casey, Jim LeMaster, Derrick Hord, Larry Stamper and other greats will be playing.

The game is expected to be an exciting display of college basketball, since four of the five seniors were starters for UK and went all the way to the final four in Seattle before losing to Georgetown in the semi-finals.

The game will be preceded by a 5:30 p.m. reception which will allow fans to meet and talk with the seniors. The reception will be limited to the first 500 persons purchasing reception tickets which include reserved seating for the game.

Tickets for the game are available at the door or at the following locations: Francis Stores, Herrin-Johnson, Wildcat Liquors, Martin Drugs in Martin, and the Bank Josephine at Garrett.

The game and reception are sponsored by the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club.

Martin Girls, National Champs

The Martin Junior Pro Purple Flash girls all-stars returned home, March 18, state Junior Pro champions. They were honored with a parade and ceremony at the Martin gymnasium. Martin residents were understandably proud. But the team was not about to rest on its laurels. The girls travelled to Knoxville, Tenn. over the past weekend and returned home this time, national champions!

Another parade followed. They were given the key to the City of Martin and Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo proclaimed next week, Martin Junior Pro Girls Basketball Team Week in Floyd county. After all, they are the only basketball team from Floyd county to have ever won a national championship.

Junior Pro basketball has been around at Martin for the past seven years and is popular there as it is in many communities throughout the nation. Begun by legendary net coach Adolph Rupp, it allows all children of elementary school age to participate in basketball.

Over the past weekend at the University of Tennessee's Stokely Center, Knoxville, the Purple Flash girls, age 9-11, began their final climb to the national title by soundly thrashing Ohio's Stow Parks & Recreation Team, Friday morning, 47-17. At nine the next morning, they downed Cookeville, Tenn. with little trouble, 27-17, and in the championship game, Saturday night, they overcame Powell, considered a Knoxville powerhouse team, 30-27.

Teams from Illinois and Georgia also competed in the tourney and Martin's win represented only the second time a Kentucky girls team had won the national title. In 1979 a team from Nortonville, Ky. took home the title.

Wearing the traditional purple and gold of Martin teams of the past, team members include Tiffany Click, Beth Horn, Tonya Foley, Ida Meade, Tina Crum, Michelle Floyd, Debbie Rose, Teresa Akers, Patsy Rose, Leslie Wallen, Leslie Wallen, Kris Bevins, and Joann Conn. Tonya Crum and Angie Martin are managers, and Bide Click is head coach.

Joann Conn, Michelle Floyd and Tonya Foley were named All-American and All-State, and runner-up free throw trophy for the tourney was won by Patsy Rose.

Floyd Native Makes His Mark In NRA Pistol Competition

People in Arizona are beginning to share the view of many that Kentuckians are pretty fair marksmen. Strengthening this belief is the fact that Floyd county native Chuck Whitaker recently placed first overall in the Arizona Hunter's Style (steel silhouette) Pistol Championships during the NRA's Arizona State Rifle and Pistol Association's President's Match in Phoenix, Arizona.

Using a Thompson Center Contender, he shot 35 of 40 targets, breaking last year's record of 33 of 40 set by defending state champion Dave Fields, who is a friend and shooting partner of Whitaker's, and, yes, he's from Kentucky, too.

In two consecutive years of state competition, Whitaker has taken a second and a first, respectively. The new state pistol champion was one of the first to use an unusual and now, among southwestern shooters, commonly used shooting stance. He was also the second person in the southwest to use the Aim-point scope, an electrical targeting device that uses a red spot of light rather than the usual cross-hair score for targeting.

Whitaker, Range Control Officer of Fort Huachuca, Arizona, is the son of Mrs. Mary E. Layne Whitaker, of Phoenix, Ariz., and the late Allen Whitaker, and was born at David. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ben Layne and Mr. and Mrs. Branch Whitaker. Both his grandfathers were Wayland policemen.

E. Ky. Bowhunters Set Tournament

The East Kentucky Bowhunters Club will host its first annual forty target silhouette archery shoot, April 28 and 29 at Jenny Wiley State Park.

Called the biggest archery tournament in Eastern Kentucky history, the event will be held at the park Sky Lift with participants being lifted to the top of Sugar Camp Mountain. Afterwards they will shoot the 40 silhouette animal targets to the bottom. (The lift will be available on this day only.) All persons shooting on Sunday will walk to the top and shoot back off.

Classes will include adults (16 and up), Junior (10 to 15), and Peewee (nine and under) with varying entry fees for each. Weapon classifications will include limited sights (five pins, finger), unlimited, Junior (sights-barebow), and Peewee (barebow only.)

For further details on registration, times, etc., contact Dean Franklin, president, 886-8530, or Gary O'Bryan, vice-president, 265-3526.

Farm League To Meet

The Farm League division of the Prestonsburg Little League will hold an organizational meeting, Thursday, April 5 at 7 p.m. in the municipal building here.

The league is in need of managers, coaches, umpires and other supporters from the community.

Jenny Wiley Auditions Set

Actors, singers, and dancers are needed for "Fiddler on the Roof," "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," and "Annie," to be performed this summer at the Jenny Wiley Theatre.

Local auditions will be held Sunday, April 15, at 1 p.m. in the Pike Auditorium on the campus of Prestonsburg Community College.

Auditionees should come prepared with a 30-second monologue and a song. An accompanist will be provided. In addition, auditionees should bring a current resume and photo, if available.

"Last year, 11 out of 25 actors and actresses were cast at the local auditions," said Keith Stevens, managing director at the Jenny Wiley Theatre. "We urge everyone who wishes to audition to do so. We want to look at and listen to as many local people as possible."

Many young people are needed again this year to perform in "Annie." Performers from all age groups are encouraged, however, to audition. For more information, call the theatre at (606) 886-9274.

Stolen Property Recovered As Johnson Co. Men Jailed

Items allegedly stolen from the Tackett furniture store in Allen early Thursday morning were among $4000 worth of property recovered the same day at a Hargis, Johnson county, residence.

Six Johnson county residents, including two juvenile girls, were arrested in connection with the robbery. Booked for burglary and receiving stolen property and lodged in the Johnson county jail were three brothers, Charles Brown, 25, Ballard Brown, 23, and David Brown, 19, and Terry Bartlett. Charles and Ballard Brown were also charged with rape. The juveniles were lodged in the detention center here.

When the property was first recovered, police did not know where it had come from. While State Det. Gary Rose and other officers were processing the arrests, word-came of the break-in at Allen, and furniture, appliances and a stereo reported stolen there matched items recovered in the Hargis house.

Stolen Property Trial Ends in Undecided Jury

The Floyd Circuit Court trial of a Dema man on a charge of receiving stolen property resulted in a hung jury last week.

Prosecutor Albert A. Burchett argued Tuesday that Markie D. Harvey, 35, of Patton Branch was found last June in possession of a shotgun stolen earlier from T.J. Hoover, of Garrett. A police report alleged Harvey had sold stolen guns to Claude Isaac and Leonard Little at Wheelwright last June 17.

Defense Attorney Cassie J. Allen contended Harvey was not aware the guns were stolen.

The jury wrestled with the case for several hours Tuesday afternoon and for an hour or more Wednesday morning, before announcing they could not agree on a verdict. Burchett said he was unsure whether the Commonwealth would re-try the case.

GOOD EFFECT OF ROADS

Last Sunday, October 30, was a beautiful Indian Summer day and many automobiles were in evidence along the highways. By standing at the end of the pavement in West Paintsville, where the Mayo Trail enters the city, it was observed that the great preponderance of cars going and coming, were from other counties, and many were from other states.

VAN LEAR AGAIN WINNER

The Greenup High School eleven lost Saturday to the Van Lear High school team by a score of 20 to 0. The Greenup county lads put up a stiff battle, but were unable to stop the powerful offensive of the Van Lear team.

LUCKY HOG

An item from a lower county correspondent tells of two fine hogs being killed by a Ford, while the one that did the driving escaped without a scratch.

BRIEF TOPICS

Snow and sleet added to the suffering and handicapped relief workers in flood stricken New England this week.

But slowly receding waters of a score of swollen lakes and rivers made possible for the first time a fairly authentic estimate of the damage done during the four days of floods.

Seventy-four bodies of flood victims have been recovered and identified.

Reports over patched up telephone and telegraph wires and by airplane and courier, told of additional deaths, but the exact number could not be definitely determined because of duplicated reports. However, military officials in charge of the rescue work, said they believed the death list would reach 125. Others thought it might reach the early estimate of 144.

The military authorities estimated the total property loss at $100,000,000 spread over six states.

The recent Mexican revolution virtually passed into history Monday with funeral services for General Arnulfo Gomez, one of the leaders of the revolution who was captured and executed Friday by the government.

Every prominent I. W. W. strike leader in the southern Colorado coal fields was arrested Monday by state policemen. As a result of the arrests there was no picketing of mines by strikers in the southern part of the state.

Twenty-five I. W. W. leaders were placed in jail at Walzenberg to join the group previously arrested.

Fear that they too may find nitroglycerine in their automobiles is silencing the citizens of Central City, where a motor blew up Tuesday and killed three persons.

A monopoly of bootlegging has made a single gang in this mining territory arrogant, according to a general report but nobody wants to be quoted. "The gang" is to blame. Hence a meeting of influential men this morning this morning at the First Christian Church, to solidify sentiment; and another meeting at the same place tomorrow night, with committees from all the churches to be present, and probably a mass-meeting afterward.

LOUISA

THREE WOUNDED IN FIGHT

Jay Smith, of Tuscola, and Dennis Gallihu, of Lost Creek, are seriously injured and Ted Smith, brother of Jay, has a gashed back, as the result of a cutting affray Saturday night at a pie social at Lost Creek just across the border in Carter county.

According to information received here, Gallihu approached Ted Smith and asked him for a drink of liquor. When Smith told him he had none, Gallihu is said to have called him a liar, and a fight ensued, in which Smith was winning until Gallihu pulled his knife and stabbed him in the back.

Jay Smith, seeing his brother being slashed with a knife, came to the rescue, pulled the knife wielder from his prey. Gallihu then jumped at Jay Smith and cut him across the back making a gash more than eight inches long, a part of the way to the hollow. The blade nearly severed the spinal column. Jay Smith, despite his wound, struck his assailant in the head with a blunt instrument, causing a wound which may prove fatal.

Dr. Thompson, of Weebville administered first-aid. Jay Smith was taken to an Ashland Hospital, where physicians say he will recover. Ted Smith and Gallihu were taken to their respective homes.

LOUISA LOSES, 7 - 6

Paintsville High School's football eleven trotted off the field here Saturday afternoon champions of the Big Sandy Valley, having snatched a single point victory from Louisa in the final quarter in one of the most exciting games ever seen on the Louisa gridiron. The score was 7 to 6.

Paintsville had defeated Van Lear, the team which eliminated Pikeville and Prestonsburg. Louisa had eliminated Catlettsburg. Thus Saturday's game was for the championship of the valley, and Paintsville won it in the final minutes of a thrilling contest.

BLAINE BRIDGE FINISHED

Construction of the 75 foot steel bridge across Big Blaine Creek between the two Laurels was completed last week by the Champion Bridge Company and has been accepted by the county. Construction of the span was begun five weeks ago.

The bridge has 114 foot roadway and serves the people living on both Laurels. Citizens will build about a mile of road to connect the two Laurel roads with the new bridge and with the Blaine road which runs along the opposite side of the creek. The bridge cost $3,650.

The bridge company has moved their equipment to the DeLong farm near the mouth of Twin Branch where they will construct a 126 foot span across Blaine. The bridge has arrived here and will be hauled to the site and constructed immediately. The 126 foot span will cost the county $5,455.

PARSONS, DISTRICT DIRECTOR

John E. Parsons, county agent of Lawrence county, was elected director of the Eastern Kentucky district of county agents at the county agents conference held at the University of Kentucky at Lexington last week.

The State is divided into three districts, with the Eastern District containing 42 counties. There are 22 county agents in Mr. Parson's district.

It is the plan of these 22 agents to work out the problem of better live stock, better farm interest, and better markets for Eastern Kentucky counties.

Mr. Parsons hopes to have the annual conference of the county agents in the district held in Louisa in December. The conference was held at Ashland last year.

KILLED BY TRUCK

Chester E. Ferguson, son of the late W. T. Ferguson and Mrs. Vera Ferguson, natives of Louisa, was killed Saturday at South Portsmouth, when a truck in which he was riding was struck by a train. The Fergusons moved from here to Catlettsburg a number of years ago.

STUTLER-CAIN

The First Methodist Episcopal Church of Spencer, W. Va., was the scene of a beautiful wedding which was solemnized on Saturday evening, October 20, at 8 o'clock, when Miss Virginia Rebecca Stutler became the bride of James Matthew Cain, the ceremony being performed by Rev. H. L. Clay, of Clarksburg, an old friend of both families, having been a teacher of the groom at Inez, Ky.

The church had been tastefully decorated with cut flowers and ferns, white chrysanthemums lining the chancel rail and potted ferns arranged attractively about the altar spaces. Candles placed in each window of the church against dimmed lights, lent an atmosphere of more ancient wedding times. White cloth covered the processional aisles and altar.

Four appropriately attired ushers, girl friends of the bride, acted as seating attendants. These were headed by Miss Gladys Ward, of Charleston. "Oh Promise Me," and "At Dawning" were effectively rendered by Wm. Cain, Jr. He was accompanied by Miss Frances L. Gough, of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. To the tune of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by the church organist, the bride entered on the arm of her father, preceded by attendants: Flower girls, maids or honor, brides maids, and groomsmen.

AWARDED $10,000

A West Virginia Circuit Judge last week refused to set aside a verdict of $10,000 awarded Dave Wellman, former Louisan, for the death of his son, Howard Wellman, aged 11, who was burned to death last winter by powder from a bursted keg lying loose on the Fordson Company's property in McDowell county. According to the decision, the Fordson Coal Co., must pay the $10,000 damages.

HENRY TRACY DIES

The death of Henry Tracy, 24, at Garrett, last week was a great shock to this, as well as the Garrett community.

His suffering had been intense for several weeks, and all was done that loving hands and human skill could do, but to no avail. The summons came and was answered. He was a dutiful son, a neighborhood favorite, loved by all who knew him.

His father, James Tracy, moved to this county from Lawrence county a number of years ago and has been an upright citizen all these years, and has the sympathy of all in this great hour of grief.

OUR SICK

Mrs. Harris is still lingering, with little or no change in either direction noticeable.

Mrs. Eaderman's condition seemingly grows worse from the latest report issued.

Joseph Howell has been suffering the past week from an aggravated case of tonsillitis.

Mr. Williamson is able to resume work after a few days of aches and pains.

Harrison Frasure was called to his home at Banner by the serious illness of his wife.

NEAR SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Stephen Harris, while driving his car around a sharp curve in the street here near the bridge several days ago, came near colliding with a jolt wagon, and in his effort to avert serious injury, so quickly reversed the engine as to turn the car over, damaging the car greatly, but doing none to its occupants.

Vern Gosdin's new album, entitled "There Is a Season," has just been released. The LP, recorded with producer Blake Mevis at Music City Music Hall in Nashville, features contributions from former Byrd Roger McGuinn and singer-songwriter Emmylou Harris. McGuinn, whose friendship with Gosdin dates back to the '60s, adds 12-string guitar and vocal harmonies to a remake of the Byrds' classic, "Turn, Turn, Turn." Miss Harris, who teamed up with Gosdin on the 1977 hit, "Til the End," sings harmony on "Love Me Right to the End." The first single from the album, "I Can Tell by the Way You Dance," penned by Gosdin and Max D. Barnes, features the talents of session veteran, Curtis "Mr. Harmony" Young.

Based on growing numbers of studies, a significant percentage of patients with diagnosed mental problems actually suffer from a physical illness instead. According to the April Reader's Digest, these diseases range from diabetes to epilepsy to thyroid problems. Even the elderly, who are particularly prone to the side effects of certain drugs, often find that symptoms of senility disappear when physicians stop certain medications or adjust dosage levels.

★ Cancer Hopeline

Q. Our house has asbestos cement shingles on the roof. I've heard asbestos can cause lung cancer. Are these shingles dangerous to my family?

A. Asbestos cement shingles sometimes used on roofs, and in the past on exterior side walls, are not a hazard if they remain intact. However, sawing and sanding may release asbestos fibers into the air. When loose asbestos fibers are inhaled, they clog small areas of the lungs. Because asbestos is not biodegradable (decay by natural biological processes), it stays in the lungs permanently and can cause damage which may lead to diseases such as lung cancer.

Therefore, if you must work with the shingles, you should use protective clothing and gear. However, the cement in the shingles on your house should hold the asbestos together and prevent its fibers from escaping into the air.

For more information on the subject call the Hopeline at 1-800-4-CANCER and ask for the free booklet, "Asbestos Exposure: What It Means, What To Do."

Record Number Benefit From '84 Cookie Sale

Local Girl Scouts and Girl Scout troops benefited in record numbers from the annual Girl Scout cookie sale this year, according to the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council.

There was a five percent increase in the number of girls participating in the sale this spring. The Council currently provides Girl Scout programs and services to 17,019 girls and 4,633 adults in 57 counties.

The cookies sold by the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council are baked by FFV-Interbake Foods in Richmond, Virginia. "We've dealt with this company for 21 years," said Mrs. Weishaupt, "and we're very pleased with their safety procedures and quality control. We've had no reports of problems with our cookies."

Last week there were reports stating that foreign objects had been found in cookies baked by another baker.

Watch Those Exceptions

Since Kentucky's basic fishing regulations aren't difficult, most avid anglers pretty well know them by heart. But watch out, because there are exceptions to the rules on certain lakes.

These exceptions to statewide size and creel limits originated with the need for specific management for certain problems. While a statewide regulation may work adequately for 99 percent of the commonwealth's fishing waters, a particular body of water may need special treatment.

Regulating size and creel limits is one of the most powerful tools fisheries biologists have to manipulate fish populations. Researchers with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources expect that more and more of these exceptions will crop up in the future as biologists identify specific problems at different lakes or streams.

In some cases, the exception allows a more liberal harvest than the statewide rule. At Lake Malone and at Shanty Hollow Lake, for example, the size limit on black bass has been removed completely. And at Grayson Lake in eastern Kentucky, the daily creel limits on crappie have been removed.

In these cases, the problem is too many fish. At Malone and Shanty Hollow, large populations of bass under the usual 12-inch size limit were making serious inroads on their food supplies and not growing rapidly, so the size limit on bass was removed at these lakes. And Grayson Lake is plagued by an overcrowded population of small, stunted crappie.

Elmer Davis Lake, in north-central Kentucky, had too many small bass and almost none over 12 inches long, so a different approach is being tried here—a "slot limit" rule which allows anglers to keep fish under 12 inches and over 16 inches long, but stipulates that any bass in the 12- to 16-inch "slot" must be returned to the water.

At Herrington Lake and its Dix River headwaters, a problem of identification led to a new regulation. For the past few years hybrid striped bass have been stocked at Herrington. When small, these fish, which are crosses between white bass and rockfish (salt-water striped bass), resemble white bass so closely that even trained biologists sometimes have trouble distinguishing the two.

Normally, there's a 15-inch size limit and a 5-fish daily limit of rockfish and hybrids—quite a bit different from the daily limit of 60 (with no size limit) on white bass. To relieve anglers of the responsibility of having to correctly identify these confusing species, the daily limit was placed at 20 (with a possession limit of 40) for white bass and hybrids in combination—but only 5 fish in the daily creel can be over 15 inches.

Four lakes have increased size limits for black bass. At Grayson Lake, a 15-inch minimum size limit should lead to larger bass and more predation on the overpopulated crappie there. At Kentucky's newest lake, Taylorsville, a 15-inch bass limit will, biologists hope, help prevent the "boom and bust" cycle that often occurs at newly impounded lakes.

Finally, a "14-1" size limit on black bass is now in effect on Kentucky and Barkley lakes. Under this system, the basic size limit is 14 inches, but each angler may keep one bass per day under 14 inches. In other words, if you come back to the dock with a limit of 10 bass, nine of them have to be 14 inches long or longer and the 10th one may be any size. And if you only keep one bass on a day's outing, that fish can be of any length if it was caught from Kentucky or Barkley.

For determining legal length, measure fish from the end of the lower jaw to the longest tail fin. Undersize fish must be released immediately and in the best possible condition.

Easier To Avoid Colds Than To Fight Them

Despite their best efforts, scientists are still a long way off from finding a cure for the common cold.

Thus your best bet is to learn how to prevent cold viruses from being transmitted to you in the first place, thereby lessening your chances of getting sick. Reader's Digest reports in its April issue.

Recent research suggests that one way to avoid cold viruses is to limit hand-to-hand contact with individuals who are suffering from colds. According to the findings from one study, it seems that individuals can literally "catch a cold" with their hands.

Tending young children with sniffles or shaking hands with an infectious person (or even grasping a doorknob he has handled, since viruses can live up to 72 hours on such a surface) may suffice. The victim later rubs his eyes or touches his nose—and the viruses are introduced.

When a family member catches a cold, The Digest advises others in the household to take reasonable precautions to break the train of transmission. "Encourage everyone to wash his hands frequently. Make sure the sick person has lots of facial tissues and a paper bag reserved for him. Promote air circulation in the house. Try to keep hands away from your face."

Even though researchers have yet to land a knockout blow against colds, the fight goes on. Among recent developments is a facial tissue impregnated with iodine. Iodine kills cold viruses, and early tests conducted by Dr. Elliot C. Dick, at the University of Wisconsin, has shown that the "killer handkerchief" apparently reduces the number of viruses a donor sheds into the environment.
