Two Floyd Natives Named To State Cabinet Posts

Evans, Wells Are New Secretaries Of Energy, Labor

Two former Floyd residents were among the final three Cabinet appointees named last week by Gov. Martha Layne Collins. Auxier native John Calhoun Wells, Jr. is Secretary of the new Labor Cabinet. George E. Evans, Jr., formerly of Wayland, replaces William B. Sturgill as head of the Energy Cabinet.

Wells, 38, was state commissioner of labor from October, 1981 until December, 1982, when he resigned to manage Grady Stumbo's campaign for governor. Before his term as labor commissioner, he had served as commissioner of the Department of Manpower Services while Stumbo was head of the Human Resources Cabinet. He returned to state government last July as deputy secretary of the Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet.

Collins called Wells a man of "broad background and vast knowledge of the field of labor," and said his term as labor commissioner under Gov. John Y. Brown gave him the experience needed for his new post.

In fulfillment of a campaign pledge, Collins said she would sign an executive order raising the Labor Department to Cabinet status. It was formerly part of the Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet.

Evans, who is board chairman of the Bank of Lexington, was once president of National Mines and later president of the coal development division of the National Steel Corporation.

Reduced Terms Meted Two In Plea Bargains

Two men began serving four-year terms in the state penitentiary last week as the result of plea bargains in circuit court here.

Curtis Moore, 35, of Inez, who was originally indicted for first-degree burglary, pleaded guilty to third-degree burglary, Dec. 13. Barry Dean Moore, 19, of Minnie, who faced a second-degree manslaughter charge, pleaded guilty earlier in December to a charge of reckless homicide. The two men are not related.

Police said Curtis Moore broke into the house of Rhoda Stone on the Pike-Floyd Hollow, August 16, 1980, stealing firearms and ammunition valued at $740. The crime remained unsolved, however, until May 10 this year, when Linda Sue Moore, his ex-wife, implicated him in the break-in.

A certified mine foreman, Moore has been unemployed recently. He is the father of three children and four step-children. He could have received a 20-year sentence if convicted of the original charge.

Barry Dean Moore was driving a vehicle that allegedly crossed the center line and collided with one being driven by Parcelle Collins, killing her. Police said Moore had been drinking beer at a friend's house just prior to the accident, which happened April 29, 1982.

Less than a week earlier, he was convicted in district court of speeding. Four earlier charges—of reckless driving, drunk driving, attempting to elude police, and drinking on the highway—were dismissed. In May last year, Moore pleaded guilty to a charge of public intoxication.

A resident of Sizemore Branch, Moore is married, with one child. He could have received a 10-year sentence if convicted of the original charge.

Yearly Observance Recalls Early Mountain Tradition

The time for Santa Claus, gift-giving and stockings hung with care may be past but an almost unique observance which has become an annual event over the years in the Prestonsburg area makes the convincing point that most folks' farewell to Christmas may be a bit premature.

Following a centuries-old custom which, like many other traditions, lingered in the isolation of the Appalachians, "Old Christmas" celebrates January 6 as the original date for the observance of the birth of Christ.

According to Edith F. James, of Prestonsburg, noted folklorist and musician who revived the custom here in the 1930's, our European forebears,

3 Plead Guilty In Beaver Raid

Three men arrested last month when state police raided a building at Beaver pleaded guilty yesterday (Tuesday) to gambling or other charges.

Convicted of promoting and permitting gambling, Dester Hamilton, 54, of Beaver, was fined $100 by District Judge Harold J. Stumbo and also ordered to pay court costs of $47.50. He also pleaded guilty to two counts of illegally selling whiskey, for which court costs alone were levied.

Ermal Bentley, 56, convicted of promoting gambling, was put on 30 days' probation, fined $100, and ordered to pay court costs. Charles Bentley, 32, who pleaded guilty to carrying a concealed weapon, had the gun confiscated.

Hamilton was accused of running poker games in an outbuilding on his property and of selling half-pints of

Younce Claims Self Defense In Bar Fight

When he broke a pool cue over a patron's head, he was acting in self defense, the proprietor of a Melvin saloon told Alcoholic Beverage Control Administrator Denzil Allen at a hearing last Thursday.

Johnny Younce, 25, who operates Johnny's Place, on KY 122, faces possible suspension or revocation of his retail beer license, following charges that he allowed the premises to become disorderly on Dec. 5.

According to the citation issued by Allen, Younce, Jimmy Johnson, and two other patrons became involved in a fight which resulted in Johnson's being taken to McDowell Hospital for treatment of a head injury.

Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnson said Johnson told him three men, one of whom he identified as Younce, beat him. He has responded on several other occasions to complaints involving Johnny's Place, the deputy said.

The bar operator said the problem began when Johnson lit up a marijuana joint and he asked him to leave. "He swung and I hit him with a pool stick," Younce said.

Questioned by Assistant County Attorney Janet L. Stumbo, Younce admitted he struck Johnson twice with the pool cue, even though the victim began falling with the first blow. Because Johnson was large of build and had a reputation for violence, he feared for his safety, Younce said.

In arguing that the saloon keeper should be penalized, Stumbo said it was Younce's responsibility to prevent a customer from becoming rowdy. Moreover, Younce himself had become violent, and apparently used excessive force, in quelling the disturbance, she said.

"I do not feel that I'm a violent person," Younce replied. "I did ask him to leave. I asked him in a calm voice. I feel I did not do anything that could have been avoided."

Younce was brought in handcuffs to the hearing from a Floyd County Jail cell where he has been held since Dec. 15 on a charge that he deserted from the army two years ago.

He is the second Floyd licensee in a month to face administrative action. Lloyd Johnson, operator of P and L Carryout at Harold, had his license suspended for three days in December for selling beer to two juveniles. Shortly before the penalty was announced, the beer store was gutted by fire.

TAKING DOWN CHRISTMAS decorations is always a bit depressing—an official end of sorts to a special time of year. But it's nice that the lights and tinsel aren't left for months to weather as was the common practice years ago when residents wagered whether or not the decorations would be removed before the appearance of the first wild flowers.

All Not Well at Pike College But Dispute Kept Under Wraps

All is apparently not well at Pikeville College, but faculty, administrators, and trustees have reached agreement on at least one issue—to keep their problems under wraps.

The first public hint of disharmony there came three weeks ago in local news reports that a large majority of the private school's faculty had voted no confidence in President Jackson O. Hall.

In a statement released Dec. 15 by Burlin Coleman, a Pikeville banker who is chairman of the college trustee's executive committee, trustees affirmed their "continued confidence (in) and support" of Hall and pointed to money worries as the source of the president's differences with his teaching staff.

"Financial problems the college is experiencing have caused an undue amount of stress for the faculty and Dr. Hall," the news release said.

But the statement, which issued from a joint meeting of the president, trustees and faculty representatives the night before, indicated no change of heart on the part of faculty members who, two days earlier, had expressed their dissatisfaction with Hall's administration.

The statement distributed by Coleman to reporters in his office at the Pikeville National Bank, of which he is president, acknowledged "areas of difference" and said a meeting would be held soon between trustees and the entire faculty to hear the teachers' concerns.

But Coleman and Bill Martin, chairman of the board of trustees, insisted that the differences between faculty and administrators were "a family matter" and refused to answer for the record any questions about the nature of the college's problems.

The promised meeting between trustees and faculty was held in fact that night, with faculty members explaining in turn the reasons for their dissatisfaction. (Of 42 faculty members eligible to vote, 31 had reportedly voted no confidence in the president. Of the remaining 11, two voted confidence in Hall, six abstained, two blank ballots were cast, and one person was absent.)

Mark Sohn, associate professor of psychology and chairman of the faculty association's executive committee, said his organization would have no comment on the action, at least until the faculty's grievances had been presented to the trustees. After meeting with trustees Dec. 14 and 15, Sohn said the faculty group had agreed to continue its silence.

Neither Coleman nor Walter May, two of the trustees who reportedly met with the entire faculty Dec. 15, returned a reporter's telephone calls after the meeting. And Sister Catherine Mahady, the college's vice-president for business affairs, said she would have no comment until the administration had solutions to propose for the faculty's problems.

The statement issued Dec. 15 pointed

Watergap Church, Catholics Negotiate Property Trade

Members and former members of the Water Gap Freewill Baptist Church disagree even about the nature of their quarrel. Some call it an issue of doctrine; others a matter of personalities; still others a question of money.

In any event, four years after they dedicated a handsome church building on the Lancer-Water Gap road, church members are trying to sell it.

Talks are under way between the Water Gap church and representatives of the Floyd county Roman Catholic community, which operates churches in Prestonsburg and Martin. A plan being considered would see an exchange of church properties between the Water Gap Baptists and Catholics of St. Theodore's Church on Third Avenue here.

Members of the Water Gap church, burdened by debt and faced with a sharp fall-off in membership, are said to be anxious to conclude the deal by Feb. 1. When appraisals of the two properties are completed this week, the proposed exchange will be discussed with the Roman Catholic Bishop of Covington, who would have to approve the deal, a church official said.

The Water Gap church was opened in November, 1979 by a group which had split from the Highland Avenue Freewill Baptist Church here. Value of the property and plant, which includes a 275-seat sanctuary, a fellowship hall, and eight classrooms, was put at $350,000.

The original pastor, the Rev. Paul E. Daniel, was succeeded the following year by Pastor Danny Curry, who came here from Logan, WV. Active membership grew to around 100 and a private school was opened there in the fall of 1982.

Hard economic times hurt the school—in its second year, it still has only 14 youngsters enrolled—and the opening this fall of another private school near Martin may also have reduced its chances of prospering.

The church has also been crippled by a loss of members—all but a handful of whom have dispersed to other churches, according to some reports—in the wake of a dispute centering on the pastor, who himself resigned in October.

One church member said Pastor Curry was "driven from the church" by a powerful family, for reasons of personal animosity. But others cite the former pastor's predilection for a pentecostal-type piety as the source of disaffection among his congregation.

"He began to speak in tongues," a practice of which the Freewill Baptist community disapproves, and subsequently sundered the local church from the Freewill Baptists' Bluegrass Conference. (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

Trial Delayed By Weather; New Date Set

Because ice-slick roads kept some jurors at home last Wednesday, trial of Alvis Randall Frasure and Linda Wilson in the alleged slaying of Larry W. Wilson was postponed until May 28 in circuit court here.

Meanwhile, trial of Clyde Douglas Marshall and Bobby Gene McGuffey, accused of complicity in the June 20 death of Glenda Sharon Marshall, has been set for Feb. 13 in Fayette Circuit Court. A Johnson county venue was considered earlier, when it was feared the Lexington court would not be available within an acceptable time.

Frasure is accused of murder and Mrs. Wilson of complicity to murder her ex-husband at her home on Buck's Branch, near Martin, on May 29 last year. In preparation for the trial, attorneys had reconstructed the alleged murder scene in a section of the district courtroom. A shot was reportedly fired at a mock human skull and the resulting distribution of blood noted by attorneys. While the indictments handed down by a grand jury in September suggested a planned murder, the defense is expected to argue that the killing of Wilson was in self-defense.

Continuation of the trial apparently means the defendants will need to hire a new lawyer. Pikeville attorney Dan Jack Combs, who has represented both until now, took his seat yesterday (Tuesday) as a judge on the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

IS THERE HELP FOR PARENTS WHOSE CHILD IS TERMINALLY ILL?

The imminent death of a child due to a terminal illness is an agonizing situation for parents. It was out of a similar life-experience that an organization called "Carelighters" was founded.

Lore and Paul Prager founded Carelighters after their youngest son, Kevin, suffered for two years with terminal cancer. The purpose of the organization is to help other parents who have heard the sentence of death pronounced for a child.

Carelighters currently operates out of Ingalls Memorial Hospital in Harvey, Illinois. The parents operate a 24-hour hotline (312-798-1020) for parents to call for any kind of help. They also meet monthly to share feelings and offer each other support.

If you have any such concerns, we invite your inquiry in person or by phone.

ference "so he could do what he liked," charged a former member, who asked not to be identified.

Curry readily acknowledges his belief in "spiritual gifts" but describes his theology as "full Gospel" rather than "pentecostal," a word he says is associated with a "fanatical" kind of worship.

In any event, the doctrinal issue is only a pretext, the pastor said, "a kind of springboard some have used" to dissolve the church and recover the money they invested in it.

The bank note that financed the church—on which about $300,000 is said to be still due—was secured by church members, at least one family mortgaging its home and several putting up $5000 and $10,000 certificates of deposit as collateral.

Some realized only later the full extent of the debt they had assumed, said Curry, who added, "A lot of people will be happy if the church is sold and they get their money back."

Of the church's withdrawal from the Bluegrass Conference in April, Curry said it was voted on at a regular business meeting and represented the wishes of a majority of the congregation. The church was founded as an independent church and simply reverted to its original status, he pointed out.

In the meantime, Curry is founding a non-denominational church, known as the Rock of Revelation Church, in rented premises that also house the Prestonsburg Christian Academy. The school, with two kindergartens and a first grade this year, is run by his wife, Barbara. Safety director for the Pontiki Coal Corporation, Curry served for three years without salary as pastor of the Water Gap church. The dispute which ended his ministry there "has been a very hurtful experience," he said.

Finance Co. Sues Ex-Deputy Clerk

A former deputy county clerk secured a loan by fraudulently claiming his car was paid for, a finance company alleges in a suit filed here last week.

Kentucky Finance Co. claims John and Sharon Spradlin took out a loan for $4085 in May this year, putting up their 1982 Oldsmobile Cutlass as security.

To prove there were no prior liens against the vehicle, the Spradlins produced a certificate of title and registration which indicated the lien held by GMAC had been released three days earlier. The finance company says it later learned that GMAC still has a lien on the vehicle.

Former County Clerk Thomas Lafferty, Jr., for whom John Spradlin worked at the time as deputy clerk, is also named as defendant in the suit, as is the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, bonding agent for the former clerk.

(Suits filed in court represent only one side of the issue in dispute.)

Council Meeting Set

Prestonsburg City Council will meet on Tuesday, Jan. 10, at 7 p.m., when the new council is expected to set its regular meeting time, hire employees and fill vacancies on some city commissions.

The council has customarily met on the second and fourth Mondays of the month, but state law prohibits it from doing business before Jan. 10.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from The Floyd County Times, 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 years ago.)

Ten Years Ago

(January 2, 1974)

George Barker, manager of Jenny Wiley State Park and May Lodge, said this week that he foresees no drastic loss of business at this tourist and recreation center as a result of the fuel crisis. Floyd county officially tossed its hat in the ring in the competition for one of the proposed coal gasification plants when its fiscal court recently adopted a resolution requesting the location of such an operation in the county. But for the fact that Robert (Bob) Damron, chairman of the Kentucky Railroad Commission, is from this county and is vitally interested in it, approximately six miles of C. & O. main-line tracks on Left Beaver Creek would in all probability have been abandoned and removed. With the last day of 1973 Dick Davis ended 46 years as superintendent of the Prestonsburg Water and Gas System. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, Jr., a son, December 17; to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lawson, Jr., of Price, a son, December 23; to Mr. and Mrs. Allan Joe Hyden, of Lexington, a son, Joe Shannon, December 11; to Mr. and Mrs. Ishmael Hopkins, Jr., of Cynthia, a daughter, Tracy Elione. There died: William Green Hall, 20, of Prestonsburg, last Saturday in a truck wreck in Leslie county; Ernest Clark, 72, of David, December 19 at Highlands Regional Medical Center (HRMC); Paul Denver Kingsley, 68, of Toler Creek, December 12 at Methodist Hospital, Pikeville; Richard Wills, 91, of Water Gap, Friday at HRMC; Orvel B. Layne, 49, of Langley, Saturday while hunting near Hippo; Herman McKinney, 59, of Toler Creek, December 24 at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; Mrs. Dora Belle Rickman Fraylen, 66, formerly of Tram, Christmas day at Columbus; Mrs. Goldia Lawson, 78, of Garrett, Sunday at Martin; Mrs. Luna J. Craft, of Hueysville, December 17 at HRMC; Mrs. Goldia M. Justice, 55, formerly of this county, December 20 at Warsaw, Ind.; Charles T. Callison, 65, of Allen, December 24 at Washington, D. C.; Charles F. Massie, 45, of Ivel, Monday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital; Mrs. Mary J. Anderson, 78, of McDowell, Saturday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital.

Twenty Years Ago

(January 2, 1964)

If Washington is inclined to provide the needed federal aid, there is a possibility that the new year 1964 may see a road-building program greater even than the record-breaking construction job done in 1963. The building outlook for 1964, including both public and private construction, is bright—perhaps as bright as that of the year just ended—was the opinion expressed here Wednesday by George Lee Shannon, architect. A six-inch snowfall two days before Christmas slowed traffic, the snow remained on shaded slopes, and it had an addition of two inches, New Year's eve. The executive board of the Floyd County Committee of 500 (anti-boozing group) at a meeting last weekend employed Jean Auxier, Pikeville, as chief counsel. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Vance Mitter, Jr., of Prestonsburg, a daughter, Elizabeth Ann, December 29 at the Beaver Valley Hospital, Martin; to Mr. and Mrs. Franklin "Set" Branham, of Salt Lake City, Utah, a son, Blade, December 18. There died: Edward Newman, 48, of Haver Hill, O., formerly of Melvin, December 24 at King's Daughters' Hospital, Ashland, from injuries received nine days earlier in an automobile accident at Catlettsburg; Mrs. Minnie Mollet Clemons, 81, formerly of Betsy Layne, Saturday at East Point; Barry Wayne Hayes, 22, of Stanville, Dec. 16 in an auto crash in New Mexico; Eugene Hall, 58, Banner postmaster, December 21 at his home; Reuben D. Prater, 84, Wednesday at his home at Brainard; Miss Jo Ann Tackett, 26, of East McDowell, December 26 at Lexington; Alex Hicks, 87, of Garrett, Tuesday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; Clarence Carroll, 46, Sunday at his home at Hite; Mrs. Genova Jean Andrea, 39, formerly of Lackey, December 22 at Buffalo, N. Y.; Kenis F. Tackett, 56, formerly of Ligon, December 21 at Ypsilanti, Mich.; Mrs. Mary Alice Lawson, 31, of Honaker, Monday at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville.

Thirty Years Ago

(January 7, 1954)

Prestonsburg is considered certain to be selected by the U. S. Public Health Service as the center from which its area-wide study of intestinal-borne diseases will be made. Three new officials began terms of office Monday. They are: Sheriff Gorman Collins, County Attorney Hollie Conley, and Jailer Prock Hayes. Magistrate Grover Holbrook also took the oath of office for the first time. Forrest Burchett assumed on January 1 the duties of forest ranger in this county. He succeeds Palmer Crum, who resigned. Sgt. Gaylord Caudill, of Hi Hat, was recently awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received while fighting in Korea. Barkley J. Porter, 76, Wednesday at Betsy Layne; Harvey Patton, 44, of Estill, December 26, three days after suffering mine injuries; John J. Nelson, 81, Dwale minister, December 24 here; Millard Brown, 36, December 26 at Ligon; Mrs. Julia Porter, 70, December 28 at Allen; William Kenis Jarvis, 61, December 27 at Endicot.

Forty Years Ago

Fifty Years Ago

(January 5, 1934)

L. E. (Lief) Crisp was shot and killed Sunday night at Martin. A grand jury investigation may be made into the death at Garrett, December 24 of 67-year-old Boone Childers who allegedly was pushed from a culvert at the mouth of Stone Coal. Bill Music died December 24, shortly after his throat was slashed at Drift. Townsel Combs, of Langley, was elected chairman of the Floyd County Board of Education at the board's first meeting of the year last Monday. Inducted to office Monday were Circuit Judge John W. LETTERS To the Editor

My Good Old House

Today I said goodbye to my good old house. With a prayer in my heart, I walked through quiet empty rooms. I stopped in each room, and I asked a blessing for the ones who had lived there. I thought of all the little feet who had clattered down the stairs and filled the rooms with noisy laughter. I asked a blessing for those who had lived here so long. They knew they were welcome in the warmth and security of this nice old house. I wept for my darling who had gone and left me so alone. I then picked up my memories—some of joy and some of sorrow—I held them close to my heart. My tour was over. Each silent room held a blessing. There was nothing more I could do. So I closed the door. For one brief moment I clung to it. Then I closed it gently and my heart was tranquil.

A Pat on the Back

All of us at the Prestonsburg Donor Center would like to thank you and everybody associated with the Floyd County Times for your support during the year of 1983. We have had some really slack periods during the year but after all the help we got from our paper when it was sorely needed, we finished the year with a bit of growth after all.

We also appreciate the times we have requested the services of a photographer, the promptness of the response for help and all help in getting the public's attention. Ronald Marstin's article helped so much. His words are still mentioned and the people who care believe he really helped turn events around. In October the Center had its best month with 171 donors. Our Third Donorama was the best ever with 101 people registering and 90 donated on December 20 and 22.

To show you our growth, our donations are as follows:

1980-308 pints, 1981-1088 pints, 1982-1258 pints, 1983-1347 pints.

KCBC is the Regional Blood Center serving our area (it's the second largest blood center in Kentucky). The Center supplies 40 hospitals in a 44 county service area with all blood needs. It's not easy getting blood donors but there are some compensations accompanying the effort. We are happy to be associated with KCBC and the very special people we meet all over Floyd County.

Thank you again for your help. All of us wish you a very Happy New Year!

Sincerely,
KIMBERLEE BOYD, R.N.

Special thanks to our own dear children and grandchildren who planned and provided for the whole celebration. We thank our photographer friend, Stuart Stephens, whose photographic skill will keep fresh the memories of one of our happiest days.

She would also like to express her sincere appreciation to her family physician, Dr. James D. Adams, and to the Rev. Ted Nicholas, and others who have visited with her during her illness. She would like to ask that prayers, for which she has been truly grateful, be continued, and asks God's blessings for everyone.

Special Deals With Illiteracy In U.S.

The Kentucky Coalition for Literacy will participate in the nationally syndicated documentary "Can't Read—Can't Write" to be aired on Kentucky television stations January 13-14.

Hosted by Johnny Cash, "Can't Read—Can't Write" surveys illiteracy in America through personal experiences, graphic illustrations of the economic impact and discussions with political leaders who are active in the fight for literacy. The hour long special report will also feature a toll free hotline, 1-800-228-8813, that viewers can call to find ways they may become involved with literacy efforts in their own communities.

In Kentucky, one of the literacy program contacts will be the Kentucky Coalition for Literacy, a private non-profit corporation designed to assist the expansion of existing illiteracy efforts and to help local communities to develop literacy programs.

As Executive Director for the Coalition, Sue Draper explained, "The documentary, "Can't Read—Can't Write" is part of a nationwide thrust for literacy through the National Coalition for Literacy funded to alert America to its literacy problem and to urge people to get involved by becoming literacy volunteers."

Bobcats Nip PHS To Win Jenny Wiley Tourney

When the Prestonsburg Blackcats and Betsy Layne Bobcats, two of the strongest teams in the region, clashed Saturday night for the Jenny Wiley Invitational Tournament championship, it was the third time the two county rivals had met.

The Blackcats, who had fallen to Betsy Layne by one point in the finals of the Floyd County Invitational tourney a few weeks ago and by a wider margin in recent regular season play, hoped for "the third time's a charm" situation but, instead, suffered another frustrating one-point defeat, 58-57, at the hands of the stubborn Bobcats who took home the Jenny Wiley tourney championship and upped their record to 9-0.

Tourney play got under way Wednesday night, after being delayed from Tuesday due to bad weather, with the Wheelwright Trojans downing McDowell's Daredevils, 63-59. In the night's second game, Prestonsburg handily defeated Magoffin County High School, 88-66.

The following night, the Allen Central Rebels won over the Virgie Eagles, 69-53 in the first game, and in the second, Betsy Layne defeated the always powerful Sheldon Clark Cardinals, 73-72, in overtime.

Friday afternoon's semi-final play saw Prestonsburg win easily over Wheelwright, 81-57, and Betsy Layne downed a surprisingly tough Allen Central Squad, 68-59. The Bobcats secured their victory in the second half since Allen Central led by a 10-point margin at halftime.

The championship game was practically a repeat of the final game of the earlier Floyd County Pre-Season Tournament with the Betsy Layne Bobcats edging out Prestonsburg 58-57 in a definite "barn burner."

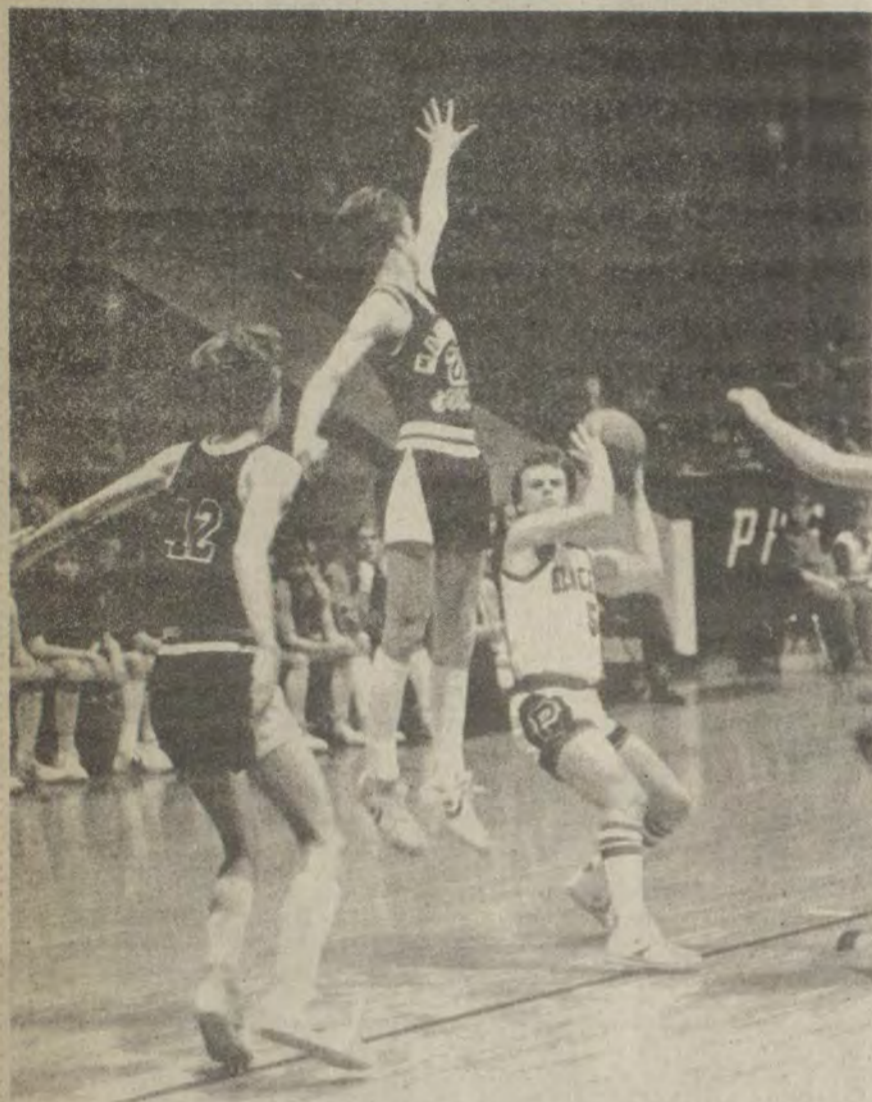

In the awards ceremony, the individual free throw trophy went to Jeff Campbell of Betsy Layne who hit for 13 of 13, and the team free throw trophy was presented to Prestonsburg. Sheldon Clark's cheerleaders won the top trophy while second place went to Prestonsburg's cheerleading squad.

Despite common belief, most monkeys cannot swing by their tails. But some monkeys can use their tails almost like an extra hand, says International Wildlife magazine. A spider monkey, for example, can open a door with its tail.

THE PLAY WAS ROUGH during the championship game of the Jenny Wiley Invitational Tournament as closely-matched rivals Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg met for the third time this year. The Blackcats were denied revenge for two earlier losses as the Bobcats won the tourney, 58-57.

Ski Butler Opens For New Season

Ski Butler at Carrollton opened for the season Saturday, its general manager announced last week.

The approach of cold weather permitted the ski facility to make snow and open three of its seven slopes Saturday afternoon and a fourth on Monday, said Phil Janke. The remaining three are expected open by Wednesday, weather permitting.

Janke said the slopes are in "beautiful" condition, with a 12- to 24-inch base of groomed powder. Ski Butler is located in General Butler State Resort Park, off I-71 about halfway between Louisville and Cincinnati.

The ski shop is open and renting equipment, including a limited supply of high-performance gear, Janke said. As with last year, Ski Butler is served by six lifts—two double chairs, three ropes and one pony. A new trail for advanced skiers makes it debut this year.

Ski Butler is open weekdays from 10 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturdays, and from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sundays.

Lodging is available at General Butler park lodge and local motels.

Children's Books . . . Some Good Wintertime Titles

By PATTY DEMPSEY
Children's books are good for any time and season of the year. But, wintertime is an extra special time to read a good book.

Some books that have winter settings are listed below. They range from simple books with lots of pictures to stories that include a lot of excitement and adventure. What better way than to spend some hours caught up in times and places where the snow is so cold and deep getting to know people who are faced with all the fun and dangers that winter brings.

Not for children only, but for anyone who enjoys a good story, looking at lovely artwork, and reading aloud to those who have not yet learned to read.

YOUNGER READERS

BEAR WEATHER by Lillian D. Chaffin, pictures by Helga Aichinger. Macmillan. It is so warm in the cave where big brown bear and small brown bear are sleeping that the snow and wind outside is felt only by the humans. A winter story of a mother bear and her baby. Pictures fit so well with the story.

THE BIG SNOW by Berta and Elmer Hader. Macmillan. The big snow comes and the wild animals are without food. The little old man and woman put out food and all the birds and animals come to enjoy the feast.

A HAPPY WINTER by Karen Qundersheimer. Harper Row. For the little ones who sit on adults' laps and look together at these winter pictures.

HAS WINTER COME? by Wendy Watson. Philomel. A woodchuck family gets ready for winter. Easy reading.

KATY AND THE BIG SNOW by Virginia Lee Burton. Houghton Mifflin. Katy is a big snowplow and there is no work for her until it snows and snows and snows. Then she rescues an entire city.

THE SNOWY DAY by Ezra Jack Keats. Viking. Peter enjoys a walk in the snow, making tracks and snowangels. Then he returns home to a warm fire. Brightly colored pictures.

STOPPING BY WOODS ON A SNOWY EVENING by Robert Frost, illustrated by Susan Jeffers. Dutton. The poetry is for older readers, but the pictures of the animals and birds along with the old man his horse and sleigh make it a treat for all.

A WINTER PLACE by Ruth Yaffe Radin. Paintings by Mattie Lou O'Kelley. Little Brown. Colorful paintings enrich all the winter activities included in this book.

OLDER READERS

FROZEN FIRE by James Houston. Atheneum. Matthew and Kayak search for Matthew's father in the Canadian Arctic. In turn, they become lost and their search becomes a battle to survive. There is much in the story about the Eskimo way of life.

HELP, I'M A PRISONER IN THE LIBRARY by Eth Clifford, illustrated by George Hughes. Doubleday. Two sisters become locked in the library and have to spend the night there. Easy and fun to read.

THE LONG WINTER by LAURA INGALLS WILDER. Harper and Row. Laura and her father go to the farm and twist hay into small bundles to use as firewood because all the wood has been burned to keep warm. They barely get back to town before the heavy snow begins again. The Little House Books are much better than the TV series.

MARY OF MILE 18, The Story and Pictures by Ann Blades. Tundra Books. Mary lives in the unsettled part of Canada with her family as homesteaders. There is no indoor water, no electricity, no telephones and no television. Mary finds a wolf-puppy, but father says they can only keep animals that earn their keep. Full-page paintings of the family and farm.

MIRACLES ON MAPLE HILL by Virginia Sorensen. Harcourt. Father wasn't well, so the family moved to the farm where mother grew up. With the help of neighbors, making maple syrup and working together, the family becomes stronger.

SNOW TREASURE by Marie McSwigan. Dutton. How does one hide gold from the Nazis during World War II in Norway? Put it on the children's sleds and let them ride the hidden gold to the harbor where it will be placed on ships and to safety.

WINTER DANGER by William O. Steele, illustrated by Paul Galdone. Harcourt. Cajé, 11 years, followed his hunting father in the Tennessee wilderness. They slept in caves and hollow trees while hunting bear and deer. Then, his father leaves him with relatives, and Cajé has to adjust to living with a family during a winter that threatens not only the animals but the family as well. A frontier adventure.

WINTER SCIENCE ACTIVITIES by John M. Youngpeter. Holiday House. Science projects having to do with birds, animals, plants, the weather, snow and ice.

It's Never Too Late For Continue Ed.

Continuing education can be fun and helpful as four Riverview Manor residents will tell you. Elsie Wheeler (Granny Cotton), Minnie Hopkins, Ollie Hall, and Elma Kendrick were involved in a series of classes on diabetes taught by Carol Hollon, health educator at the Big Sandy District Health Department.

Prevention and control was the message, placing the major responsibility for the success of these on the person having the disorder. Residents shared freely and questioned their educator about different aspects of diabetes that were of special interest to them. All residents expressed a deeper understanding of the disorder and the "why" of certain medications, diets, and exercise. Elsie Wheeler said she enjoyed the sessions. "I learned a lot", she said. Mrs. Wheeler is 108.

Two Years Old

Felisha Dawn Bradford celebrated her second birthday, December 22, at her home, with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Johnson, of Melvin. It was also their 33rd wedding anniversary.

She is the daughter of Ronald and Colleen Bradford, of Middle Creek, and is also the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Bradford. Family and friends attended and she received many nice gifts.

"Friendship is a ship big enough to carry two in fair weather, but only one in foul." Ambrose Bierce

The symposium, sponsored by the Atlanta Regional Archives Branch of the National Archives in conjunction with Emory University School of Law and the Eleventh Circuit Historical Society, will focus on recent research involving political, constitutional, and socio-economic currents found in the litigation records of Southern Federal Courts.

For further information contact Gayle Peters, Regional Archives Branch of General Services Administration at 1557 St. Joseph Avenue, East Point, Georgia 30344, telephone 404/763-7477. Paper proposals are invited before January 15.

Winter Fair Winners At Riverview Manor

Creativity was the word for the 1983 Winter Fair held at Riverview Manor last month. Ac-Teens from the Calvary Baptist Church acted as judges for the event.

Ollie Hail won first place with her hand-made "Ma" and "Pa" dolls, needlework, and Christmas wreaths; Amanda Lafferty was second with her beautiful cross-stitch of blue and white; and Elsie Wheeler won third place with her hand-made quilts. Several residents entered exhibits ranging from hand-made wooden planters to hand-painted posters. Julian Murrill, Minnie Hopkins, George Harless, James Reynolds, James Williams, and Jewell Hooper were given green ribbons for outstanding effort.

Though Albert Einstein formulated his general theory of relativity in 1916, astronomers have only recently found evidence to confirm one of the concepts he proposed—the so-called gravitational lens effect. It is a phenomenon Einstein himself thought would never be observed.

MINE PERMITS ISSUED...

State Issues 104 Mining Permits

Of the 104 mining permits issued by the state Department of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement for the month of November, three were for Floyd county mine operations.

The November permitting authorized the disturbance of 3,227.29 new acres of land statewide with 222.62 acres permitted in Floyd county.

Floyd county jobs receiving permits included those of Ligon Preparation Co., an underground operation calling for the disturbance of 2.68 acres; Somerset Coal Co., underground mine involving 218.04 acres; Jeremy Construction, surface operation authorizing the disturbance of 1.9 acres.

The types of permits issued were: 62 original permits, 34 revision permits, one amendment permit, four transition permits and three succession permits. Of the 104 permits issued, 80 were for surface mining operations, 21 for underground mining operations, one for construction of a haul road and two for preparation plants.

Permitting activities during the month resulted in the collection of $127,400 in fees.

The small letter "a" first appeared during the fourth century. It was a rounded letter used in place of a capital. By about 1500 it was seen in its present shape.

SCHEDULING YOUR DENTAL APPOINTMENT

A. It has been more-or-less standard to schedule patients for check-ups every six months, even if there are no problems, simply as a form of health insurance—and reassurance. Although you may practice good oral hygiene, it's unlikely that you are able to remove hidden tartar, surface stains, and stubborn plaque. A dentist has the skills and the tools to do this, and is also able to probe to make certain that periodontal disease is not developing.

Since conditions of teeth and mouth, predisposition to decay, and other problems vary considerably from patient to patient, a check-up four times a year may be advisable for some while once-a-year can be sufficient for others. Your dentist is able to determine your needs.

Urge Transferral Of Severance Tax Revenue To Roads

Not transferring coal severance tax revenue to the Road Fund to pay off coal road bonds, as required by Kentucky law, costs motorists the equivalent of nearly 2.5 cents on every gallon of gas they buy, according to a spokesman for Kentuckians for Better Transportation. "It just doesn't make sense," said Jack Fish, president of the group, "to continue to solve General Fund problems with highway user revenues. The truth is the Road Fund is really in worse shape than the General Fund. For the 10-year period ending fiscal year 1982, the Road Fund was up by 42 percent, while the General Fund was up 189 percent—a growth rate more than four times that of the Road Fund."

When the resource recovery road program was created to make major improvements in highways in coal producing areas of the state, the bonds that were sold were to be amortized with the coal severance tax revenue. The bonds were sold, and the improvements were made. Now, the bonds must be paid off—$46.6 million annually over a 30-year period, said Fish.

Kentucky statutes provide that they are to be paid off with coal severance tax transferred from the General Fund to the Road Fund, Fish said.

During the Brown administration, to help meet the General Fund shortfalls, only part of the transfer was made, Fish noted. In fiscal year 1983, the Road Fund absorbed the entire cost of debt service for the coal road bonds. The Brown administration recommended that the transfer to the Road Fund not be made again in its fiscal year 1984.

The coal road bonds are a major factor in Road Fund debt, Fish noted. The present annual debt service payment is $120 million. "This means 28 cents of every highway user dollar going into the State Road Fund is spent for debt service," Fish said.

With the sale of all bonds authorized, he noted, debt service will rise to $150 million annually—taking 34 cents out of every dollar.

Presently, Fish said, each penny of the motor fuels user fee generates $19.1 million annually. On that basis it takes the equivalent of nearly 2.5 cents on every gallon of gasoline sold to meet the debt service on the coal road bonds, he said.

"The new administration and Kentuckians face some enormous financial problems in transportation," Fish continued. He noted that the state's current multi-year state construction plan, designed by the Brown administration, assumes the return of $46.6 million of severance tax revenue to the Road Fund beginning in fiscal year 1985.

Grant To Preserve Old State Newspapers

The University of Kentucky King Library has received a $10,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to plan a program to access and preserve copies of Kentucky's newspapers by computer cataloging and microfilming.

"The grant will assist in on-site surveys including visits to newspaper publishers, historical societies and libraries," said Frank Levstik, project coordinator who heads the program.

"More than 300 questionnaires have been mailed to publishers, libraries, colleges and universities, historical societies and museums—any place we think newspapers are kept," Levstik added.

Newspapers have been published in Kentucky since 1787 and many copies of older newspapers are extraordinary brittle and fragile, Levstik explained.

One repository of old newspapers, The Filson Club in Louisville, has 300 or more titles that have not been filmed, Levstik added.

Although the UK Library has been filming Kentucky newspapers since 1954 through gift subscriptions and purchase from publishers, there is a need to identify the location and quantity of newspapers maintained on a permanent basis.

After this identification has been made by visiting 250 or more locations in the state, the information will be entered into an on-line computer data base in Columbus, Ohio, a national computer network.

The library then expects the NEH to assist with funds for the microfilming of those newspapers in imminent danger of destruction but that is several years down the road, Levstik said.

Jennings also suggested that taxpayers may want to use the IRS toll-free telephone service to get answers to their tax questions or to order tax forms. Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

Consumers will often purchase an over-the-counter drug without noticing the letters "U.S.P." or "N.F." on the label. U.S.P. stands for "United States Pharmacopeia". N.F. stands for "National Formula". These two independent organizations set standards for the manufacture of drugs. A drug, with these letters on the label, comes with the assurance by these organizations that the drug was made to official standards. The consumer can buy it and use it with confidence. It is but one more assurance that the drugs purchased in your pharmacy are of the highest quality.

Our pharmacists are pledged to further and maintain the highest ethical standards of our profession and stay up to date on all the latest changes in the pharmaceutical world. When your physician prescribes medication for you or a member of your family have him call COOLEY APOTHECARY. We are located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Charge and Visa. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9-5:30, Sat., 9-4.

HANDY HINT:

Friday Night Lineup Keeps Public Informed

KET's fast-paced and provocative public affairs lineup on Friday nights tackles issues from economics to state, national and international politics and informs viewers about events affecting them close to home and far away.

The popular series "Comment on Kentucky," now in its ninth season, heads up the evening's programming at 7:30 p.m. Host Al Smith and a panel of Kentucky journalists discuss the major news items from around the state.

Switching to the national scene, "Washington Week in Review," airing at 8 p.m., invites viewers to watch journalists from the nation's top newspapers and magazines talk with each other about the week's political news. Paul Duke hosts this award-winning series.

Economic commentator and columnist Louis Rukeyser leads a group of panelists and guests in a weekly discussion of economic activity, including a review of the closing market report, on "Wall Street Week," airing at 8:30 p.m.

KET presents coverage of the 1984 Kentucky General Assembly at 9 p.m. With host Ray Holbrook, KET will feature highlights of the day's committee meetings plus House and Senate Chamber action.

Moving back to economic news, "The Nightly Business Report," airing at 10 p.m., spotlights the newsmakers and moments of the financial world and explores the day's economic developments. Co-anchored by Del Frank, Linda O'Bryon and Paul Kengus, this series combines hard news with analysis to provide complete coverage of the national business news.

Beginning January 13 at 10:30 p.m., "International Edition" gives public television viewers an opportunity to see themselves as others do. The series uses television reports and print stories on important trends and events in the United States filed by foreign correspondents stationed in this country. Host Ford Rowan discusses the events with many of these journalists.

The white shark is known to spit out human victims after an attack, but it apparently has nothing to do with the shark's distaste for flesh, reports National Wildlife magazine. It's simply a clever protection technique. By first retreating, giving the victim time to go into shock, the shark can then dine in leisure without risk of attack.

Named Primary Care Officers

Dr. Grady Stumbo, former head of the Human Resources Department and recent gubernatorial candidate, has been named chairman of the Kentucky Primary Care Association, and Ellis Buchanan, director of the Big Sandy Health Care, Inc., has been named secretary. The association represents all licensed primary care facilities in Kentucky.

Mr. Buchanan is married to Terry Webb Buchanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Webb, of Prestonsburg, and they have three daughters, Wendee Lee, Tracie Lynn, and Maurya Nancy.

Beef Not So Bad Food Experts Say

Beef, perhaps America's favorite food, has taken a bum rap for cancer, heart disease and assorted ills because its saturated fats tend to raise the level of blood cholesterol.

What is less well understood, however, is that the normal human body needs cholesterol—about 100 milligrams a day—and that the difference between the amount required and the amount consumed will be produced by the body itself. "In any event," food authority Jack Denton Scott writes in the January Reader's Digest, "a three-ounce serving of beef contains just 75 mgs. of cholesterol. In fact, the average daily U.S. diet, including eggs, milk and meat, contains only 300 to 550 mgs. of cholesterol."

Beef is also surprisingly digestible and nutritious. Former president of the American Institute of Nutrition George M. Briggs points out that, in a normal 2400-calories diet for an adult male, three ounces of lean beef supply only 8 percent of a normal caloric intake while providing 47 percent of the recommended daily allowance of protein, 79 percent of vitamin B-12, 38 percent of zinc, 26 percent of iron and 19 percent of niacin. The iron, Scott writes, is "heme iron," a type that is three to five times more easily absorbed by the body.

Beef, he continues, is more digestible than vegetables. Its healthful ingredients are 96 percent digested, and its many nutrients almost completely used by the body.

Nutritionists generally advise two three-ounce servings daily from the food group that includes beef, veal, lamb, pork, poultry, fish, shellfish, dry beans, eggs, seeds, nuts and peanut butter—a wide variety from which to pick.

"Although you don't need to eat beef to get a full complement of protein, vitamins and minerals, red meat unquestionably offers important, high-quality nutrients in a relatively low-calorie package that is tasty and satisfying," Scott concludes.

Although television was first conceived in 1884, it wasn't seen by most consumers until 1947.

SILKWOOD (20th Century-Fox — R) ★ ★ ★
Starring Meryl Streep, Cher, Kurt Russell

By J.T. YURKO

Karen Silkwood was a worker at an plutonium plant. While working with the union to gain safer working conditions, she uncovered what she called "irregularities" in the plant's operation. She was on her way to a meeting with a New York Times reporter, but she never made it. Her car was found demolished on the side of the road. She was probably killed instantly.

Was Karen Silkwood carrying papers which would prove so harmful that she was murdered to prevent her from telling her tale? Is Karen Silkwood a contemporary martyr for worker's rights in a nuclear age? Or is she something far less, but made to appear as more because of this well-made movie?

The facts of the case are contradictory. Two books talk about how she was murdered, others believe she was guilty of planting evidence, of contaminating herself with plutonium to make her employer look bad, and that her death was accidental.

PBS in the spotlight

'Walk Through 20th Century'

"A Walk Through the 20th Century with Bill Moyers," a series of documentary specials exploring the major events, personalities and mores that shaped our century, is journalist Bill Moyers' personal attempt to rediscover, in his own words, "the vivacity of the past." (Please check local listings for time.)

The specials will each be one hour long, except for the 90-minute premiere, "Marshall, Texas; Marshall, Texas," which airs on Wednesday, January 11 on PBS. (Please check local listings for time.)

Marshall, Texas was the small East Texas town in which Moyers was raised. For him, the town holds memories of neighborliness and Southern hospitality, of strict but loving teachers, the bustle of a thriving railroad with its promise of bigger cities far away, and the warm embrace of a community where everyone knew your name.

But there was another Marshall, Texas than the one Moyers knew. Half the town was black, and ruled by Jim Crow — the old laws of segregation. Black and white alike shared the small town's bucolic lifestyle, but little else. The show explores this dichotomy.

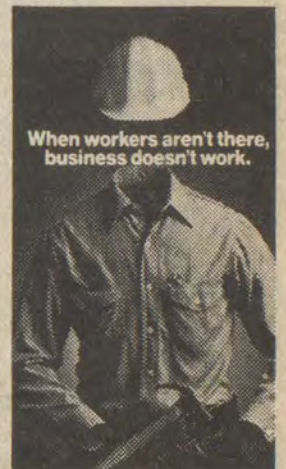

Although many segments on "A Walk Through the 20th Century" use old motion picture film to explore events, this week's episode relies on oral histories from the town's residents to dramatize its points.

Americans Would Be Wise To "Prepare" For Next Energy Crisis

It's true that the gasoline lines have disappeared, the price of fuel has stopped spiraling upward and today there's oil surplus instead of shortfall, but still there's no cause for complacency. As long as "we remain hooked on Arab oil, energy crisis No. 3 is as likely as future upheaval in the Middle East," Reader's Digest reports in its January issue.

The next energy crisis, of course, may never happen. But "given the risks involved, it would be wiser to err on the side of caution—and prepare in advance," notes business writer Irwin Ross.

Ross adds that "for the long term there is an ongoing need for conservation, the discovery of new supplies of oil and natural gas, and the development of alternative energy sources—coal, nuclear, solar, wind."

In addition, there are these options to consider:

Levy an import fee on oil. A tax of $10 per barrel as proposed by Sen. Pete Domenici (R., N.M.) would help keep oil prices stable. The continuing decline in prices will inevitably undermine incentives for conservation, exploration and the development of alternative energy sources.

Top up the Strategic Petroleum Reserve. The underground oil reservoirs, if filled to 750 million barrels, would give us nearly 300 days of protection, at the 1980 consumption rate, if all imports from Arab OPEC countries were cut off.

Decontrol natural gas. Decontrol would ultimately bring prices down and make available a more abundant supply by encouraging more drilling. One estimate is that decontrol of natural gas could lead to a reduction in oil imports of one million barrels a day.

Increase government support for energy research and development. The Reagan administration's current program of cutting back support is "penny-wise but pound-foolish," says John Lichtblau, president of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation.
