Board Votes To Levy 3% Utilities Tax

Solid Waste May Legally Void Lease

There may be legal grounds for cancelling one of two costly contracts involving the county's solid waste agency, County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. told members of the agency board last week. But the board should consider alternatives before seeking to void the deal, he said.

Some board members had asked the attorney to see if there was any avenue of escape from contracts by which Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc. leases a building at the county landfill and gets its monthly bills prepared.

Turner said the four-year contract with Computer and Utility Services—which provides computerized billing ser-

Decision Follows Hour-Long Meet; May Go To Vote

Acting on a recommendation of Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr., the Floyd Board of Education last Thursday voted to levy a three percent tax on gross receipts of utility companies operating here.

Because of the tax, Floyd countians could see new schools "become a reality before our very eyes" in the next four to six years, Grigsby said. Without it, drastic cuts in teachers and programs would be inevitable, he said.

The board's decision followed an hour-long public hearing, during which supporters and opponents of the tax made their points calmly before a mostly unemotional audience of around 70 persons. The 6 p.m. meeting was in marked contrast to a daytime hearing held on an identical measure in 1979, when busloads of senior citizens packed the meeting room in vigorous opposition to the tax.

Garrett Elementary School Principal Ralph O'Quinn, chairman of a task force appointed by Grigsby to study ways of financing the Floyd school district, noted that only four percent of the Floyd school budget is raised from local taxes, compared to a statewide average of 20 percent.

School districts with little financial support generally do poorly on standardized tests, he added.

Several older residents, who said they favored an increase in funding for schools, challenged the board to find a method other than a tax on utilities. Adequate heat and use of a telephone are matters of survival for many old people, said Delmas Saunders, representing the Jenny Wiley Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons. "I would not want it thought that I don't want to pay my share," Saunders said, "but surely there is some way other than a tax that puts so much of a burden on those least able to pay."

Solid Waste Loan Problem for Court

As Revenue Sharing Funds Short; Bank Loan Payment Near

It was not a good time to ask the fiscal court for money, Bob McAninch, chairman of the county's solid waste board, told directors last week.

The board had earlier authorized McAninch to ask the fiscal court to co-sign a note for $40,000 which it hoped to borrow from the Bank Josephine. But the county may already be in trouble over a loan it took out on the garbage agency's behalf last October.

That was when the solid waste chairman, pleading for help to meet a bond payment, persuaded the court to borrow $52,500 from the Bank Josephine for four months. By the time it came due, most magistrates figured, the county would have received its quarterly check for $107,000 in federal revenue-sharing monies and the loan could be retired promptly. Only Magistrate Kenneth Roberts opposed the loan.

A revenue-sharing check was delivered Jan. 9—for $46,550, more than $60,000 short of what was expected. Another payment is not expected until April. The bank note signed last October falls due next month.

Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo said this week that the cut in the county's revenue-sharing check is apparently an error and that, at his request, U.S. Congressman Carl D. Perkins and state Local Finance Officer Robert L. Purdom are investigating the matter.

There is no question but that the bank will get its money, he insisted.

It was Purdom's office that prepared this year's county budget, including the $400,000 revenue-sharing budget, when county finances were still under strict state surveillance. Over half the revenue-sharing budget—some $210,000—was earmarked this year for the county's shaky solid waste system. Other

Floyd Group Joins Rally At Capitol

Activists from this county are expected to join a rally at the state Capitol building in Frankfort tomorrow (Thursday) in support of two bills with potentially far-reaching impact on east Kentucky.

One is the so-called "broadform deed" bill introduced by Prestonsburg Rep. Greg Stumbo. Under the law proposed in House Bill 32, it would be assumed that the parties to any deed by which a property owner sold the underlying coal intended that the coal would be mined only by methods commonly in use at the time. It would mean stripmining on those tracts could not be done without the surface owner's consent.

The bill has been assigned to the House Judiciary-Civil Committee, of which Stumbo is a member, and is scheduled for consideration by that panel this (Wednesday) afternoon.

Another bill, H.B. 92, would levy a tax on unmined minerals equal to the existing tax on real property. Co-sponsored by Pike county Rep. Clayton Little, it

Katy Friend Annexation Is Ruled Void by Conley

An area on Katy Friend that the outgoing city council annexed to Prestonsburg in one of its last official acts in December may not be reckoned as part of the city, Circuit Judge Hollie Conley ruled Monday. At the request of several property owners, Conley issued an order restraining the city from levying any taxes on tracts or businesses there.

Attorney Greg Stumbo filed the motion for a restraining order in circuit court last Tuesday on behalf of the Prestonsburg Inn and H.D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., listed as owners of property in the annexed area, and East Kentucky Explosives, which leases a tract there.

Plaintiffs argued that the annexation ordinance was void by reason of the fact that annexation was voted down in the November election, where it appeared on the ballot in the West Prestonsburg precinct. Thirty votes were cast there in opposition to annexation; none was recorded in favor.

The city council, arguing that the ballots were not cast by qualified voters, proceeded with the annexation and took steps to collect taxes on the newly-incorporated property. The area annexed contained no resident voters, City Manager David Evans insists.

In an affidavit filed with the court, William L. James, general manager of East Kentucky Explosives, said he was notified by Evans on Dec. 19 that the firm was required to obtain a city business license and was subject to a 1½ percent payroll tax and that property taxes were accumulating on all annexed properties.

In his ruling Monday, Judge Conley held that, since the city neglected to challenge it within 30 days, the November ballot was binding. Evans said that, in failing to protest the ballot, the council acted on the advice of former City Attorney Paul P. Burchett, who argued that the burden of challenge rested with the aggrieved property owners.

City Attorney Larry Brown told the city council Monday that he would see what legal remedies might yet be available to the city. Failing a remedy, Evans said, the new council might choose to begin anew the whole annexation process.

STAY ON, STRANGERS

The grosbeaks accepted my invitation. Showed up last Wednesday morning—the same day the item welcoming them appeared in the paper. Welcome again—light and set a spell!

Ignorance is often described as abysmal, and if that is the correct adjective, I wonder when any of the recognized authorities on sports ever leave the abyss.

I refer in particular to that host of experts—coaches, commentators, oddsmakers, etcetera—who jammed the newspapers, television and radio in their promotion of the Super Bowl.

This, they almost to a man predicted, would be the most violent, the most sensational, positively the greatest, the super-game of Super Bowl history. And most of them agreed that when the clock ran down on that field of carnage the winnah would be the Washington Redskins.

Well, nobody was dismembered during that Donnybrook. I don't recall one penalty being called on either team for clipping or facemasking. And a team of sure-losers, the Los Angeles Raiders, ran off with the game.

The only dwellers in more abysmal ignorance than the experts are those who trusted them enough to lay some cold cash in betting they were right.

The name of Banner Collins may mean nothing to most of you who read this, but he died recently, and I am tempted to note here that he was the last of my boyhood playmates.

It is not maudlin sentimentality, I hope, for me to recall here the long ago and far away; the games—some of our own invention—that we played; how we roamed the woods, explored the fields

Even Library May Ask Tighter Loan Policy

"No more Mr. Nice Guy" might soon become the policy of the Floyd County Library—surely one of the nation's most lenient lending institutions—unless borrowers shape up.

County Librarian Carolyn Hay Traum said she may ask the library board at its next meeting for authority to "tag" the library cards of readers who don't return books. A tag would mean you wouldn't get to borrow any more books until you returned the ones you already have.

"It's sad that we're having to do this,"

said Mrs. Traum, who has been on the job just three months. But she insists it is the only way to safeguard library services.

Already, the Floyd library's impressive Kentucky collection is on a non-circulating basis. If you want to read a book by or about Jesse Stuart, for example, you can do so at the library but you can't check it out. "Cost of replacing those books just became prohibitive," the librarian explained.

Now she is being forced to choose between buying reference books and best-selling novels, Mrs. Traum says. She will buy the reference texts that students need to do term papers and bestseller aficionados will be disappointed. But there is a limited amount of money to buy books—the state will contribute about $8000 worth this year and the local librarian has about $4000 to spend—and any book which has to be replaced because it is gathering dust in somebody's home means a new book is not purchased.

Adult borrowers, especially readers of

City Slashes Tax on Liquor

Prestonsburg's surviving alcoholic beverage dealers got a break Monday, when the city council slashed the sales tax on alcoholic beverages from five to two percent.

The council decision came after Councilman Frank A. Adams, himself a former liquor store owner here, argued that retaining the five percent tax would continue to drive liquor retailers out of town.

Councilman Paul H. Thompson, whose aunt, Mrs. T.J. Gullely, owns a city liquor store, said Prestonsburg retailers cannot compete successfully with dealers in the county, where no sales tax is levied. Two liquor stores—B and H Liquors, owned by Darvin Burchett and Virgil Hall, and South Lake Drive Liquors, owned by Mike Fitzpatrick—moved out of town last year after about six months' operation here.

Still operating here are two beer outlets—Save Mart and Jim's Carry-out—and two liquor stores—Beverage Mart, owned by J.R. McClung, and Mrs. Gullely's Jenny Wiley Village Liquors, which was incorporated into the city this month by annexation. The alcoholic

School Missed, Pipes Frozen, Among Area Weather Problems

Anyone who has walked from the front door to the mailbox or checked the old RC Cola thermometer over the past few weeks realizes that no matter the hue of the woolly worm's coat or the thickness of corn shucks in the fall, this has been a rough winter.

That point became even clearer this week as some extent of the weather-related problems came to light.

As parents are keenly aware, school children in Floyd county have missed several days as a result of the snow and ice of the past few weeks. A total of 16 school days have been cancelled, according to Phillip Dingus, head of the Floyd Board of Education's attendance department, with 14 of those days being missed consecutively since school was dismissed early, January 10. Add another day to that total since classes were dismissed today (Wednesday). Dingus said some of the days have been used for teacher in-service sessions.

Horror stories of burst pipes abound this winter as well as reports of shocking heating bills and the plight faced by municipal utilities personnel is probably typified in the experience of the Prestonsburg City Utilities Commission.

According to Bill H. Howard, utilities superintendent here, the extensive Prestonsburg system has experienced about 12 major line breaks, "and that's the most I can remember in about 21 years with the city," Howard commented. He explained that such breaks result from the temperature of the water and contraction of the pipes. In addition, the city has had to cope with a number of water meters which froze up and burst, generally, Howard said, because lids to meter housings were left off by residents.

"Believe it or not," he added, "we've had a few meters actually burn up when homeowners attempted to thaw

Letters to the Editor

The views expressed here are those of the writers, and not necessarily those of this newspaper. No unsigned contributions will be published.

Plow Side Streets

Annually, about this time of year, the same discussion piece arises: why do the schools here have to be closed so many days in winter? Visitors and newcomers from farther north find it incredible that school would be closed for two weeks at a time, when they come from far more wintry climates where schools are hardly ever closed for more than one or two days all winter.

The answers from area folks are predictable. The terrain here is hilly, the hollows are hard if not impossible to clear of snow and ice. There is fear, and legitimately so, of a bus accident because of one that scarred the community a generation ago. It is best to wait until the "side" roads are thawed and passable.

All those reasons may be valid, but not enough is done, I contend, to make roads passable, not only for school buses, but for all kinds of travel. Let me cite a case in point. The Simpson's Branch Road, in Drift, is the route that must be traveled to two churches (one of them our Presbyterian congregation) and the Drift School. It has a Kentucky route number, 1101, though it is not a high priority route in the county such as 23, 80, and the Mountain Parkway. But why has it never been plowed, after these more traveled routes are done? Instead it is left, like many other roads, to turn into a sheet of ice, endangering all those who travel on it.

It is well known that sidewalks that are not shoveled and roads not plowed become worse with use. In Lexington, people are fined if their sidewalks are not shoveled, given a reasonable amount of time after the snowfall ceases.

We say, "Nothing can be done; that's just the way it is here." We could demand as citizens that our government provide the services we expect of them—to clear all roads that can be cleared as soon as possible. We could expect people to shovel their sidewalks before they turn into treacherous ice, dangerous for school children as well as people of all ages.

In short, we can do better, and we could do more to get our children back into school sooner. To say "wait till it melts" shows indifference and apathy about our problems. People elsewhere have learned to cope with their winters, and we can cope better with ours. We can demand better care of the roads, and see that we get it. If we do not, "that's just the way it is in Kentucky" will become another weak excuse for inaction and doing nothing to change the direction of our lives.

In this case, wisdom tells us we need the courage to change "the way it is" and improve our lives.

Plea For Road Work

We would like to express our feelings to the Floyd County Road Dept. We live at Endicott, near the Pike county line. We cannot get anything done to our roads until election time. At that time the roads are worked about two weeks before the election every four years. We have children that can't go to school. If only they would salt and scrape our road about where the State Highways Dept. leaves off, the children could go to school.

We can read in the paper about where our magistrate has salted the level roads and put saw dust on them. We have a little hill road and they never come around to see if we need anything. We have called about this matter and no one seemed to care. There are a lot of sick people where we live and in times like this we couldn't get them out.

Commends Teenager

Many times teenagers are criticized but rarely complimented for their actions. However, one Prestonsburg teenager should be commended for his courage and brave efforts in assisting an injured woman whose car crashed on a very icy Abbott Road on January 18, 1984.

This teenager, Jeff Cochran, was the first to arrive at the accident. He aided the lady by keeping her calm and comfortable, and by keeping her awake until the ambulance arrived as she tried to drift into unconsciousness. He also released the blaring car horn which stuck when the automobile crashed into a tree.

I am also proud of my husband John, Mrs. Cochran, and others who also stopped to assist, but as a frightened onlooker, I am especially proud of Jeff who displayed the level-headedness of an adult.

New Reservation System Installed At Parks

Governor Martha Layne Collins and Parks Commissioner Fran Curci announced recently the opening of a new centralized reservation system for all 15 state resort parks in Kentucky.

The new computerized system, centrally located in Frankfort, provides one toll-free number (1-800-255-Park) to make reservations at any of the 15 resort parks in the state. The new computerized system makes it possible to have instant access to information about accommodations available at any park for any date within a 12-month advance registration period. The new system eliminates the old reservation system which was done manually at each park's front desk.

The new toll-free number is open between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., EST, Monday through Friday.

THE BEST OF THE ROCKIES.

Coors starts out clean and fresh. And then it stays that way.

Like every other beer in the world, Coors starts with water. But that's where the similarity ends.

You see, we start with pure Rocky Mountain spring water. That's because we make our beer in one place and one place only: Golden, Colorado. And its perfect brewing water is why we started there in the first place.

In the second place, we use a brewing process that's unique to the industry. We start with only natural ingredients—absolutely no additives or preservatives—and then we brew Coors more slowly and age it longer than most beers.

Then, we package Coors cold. Other beers are subjected to extreme heat (up to 140°) after being put in cans or bottles. Coors doesn't do that, simply because the less you heat beer, the better it tastes.

One of our secret ingredients has 18 wheels and weighs 32,000 pounds.

When Coors and Coors Light are finally through aging, they have a wonderfully cold, clean, brewery-fresh taste. The last thing in the world we'd want to do is put that nice, cold beer on a big, hot truck like other brewers do. So we don't.

We use refrigerated trucks. And they take our beer—nice and cold—up to 2,000 miles (give or take a detour) to our distributors. At this point, it makes no sense to truck cold beer all that distance and let it get warm in some warehouse.

Don't worry. It doesn't. Our distributors use refrigerated warehouses for our beer. (It's more expensive, but we know they like that brewery-fresh taste as much as we do.) Next, our distributors take that nice, cold Coors and put it in their own refrigerated trucks and take it to where you can finally buy some.

Does Coors have to be refrigerated?

No. But every now and then, the folks who sell Coors to you will have more on hand than they can keep on ice. So, you might see Coors out in one of those big displays at your store.

If you do, don't be concerned. Even though we go through all the expense and trouble to keep Coors and Coors Light fresh from the Rockies to you, our beer is no more affected by heat than any other beer.

To kind of sum it up, we refrigerate our beer because we want to, not because we have to.

Now on tap. Soon in your store.

We're getting Coors and Coors Light out to you as fast as we can. Chances are, you might find it first on tap at your favorite tavern. Check around. It's worth it. And when you do find it, give it a chance. The real beauty of Coors is how it keeps that brewery-fresh taste beer after beer, hour after hour. Thanks for reading all this, and there's just one more thing: Enjoy!

New Lab School To Open At Alice Lloyd College

Dr. Jerry C. Davis, president of Alice Lloyd College, last week announced plans to open a new lab school next fall at Pippa Passes. Named "The June Buchanan School," it will serve as a laboratory school for Alice Lloyd College. It will be located in the center of the campus and a renovation project has been approved by the college's trustees to prepare the Commodore Stone Building for use as the school's primary facility.

Describing the rationale for the new school, Dr. Davis stated the following objectives: to carry out the purposes of the Caney Creek Community Center, parent organization of Alice Lloyd College; to promote an awareness of the importance of pre-collegiate education; to provide the leadership for a renewed emphasis on academic quality; to offer a unique educational opportunity for deserving mountain students, regardless of their ability to pay; to enhance the total educational program of Alice Lloyd College, especially its teacher education program, and to disseminate the knowledge gained from the operation of the June Buchanan School.

The June Buchanan School, it was said, will be in a position of offering an academic program emphasizing excellence through a curriculum built upon recommendations of the National Commission on Excellence in Education.

Students of the school will be exposed to a unique educational environment of ready access to college facilities, such as the library, the computer center, and the gymnasium. Students will also attend cultural activities sponsored by the college. Emphasis will be focused on new and innovative programs of cooperative instruction between the lab school and the college faculty, staff and students.

The school intends to share knowledge gained from its operation, and its officials will encourage the reporting of its progress through workshops and seminars for teachers and administrators.

"One need only pick up the newspaper or listen to a news report to realize that now is the time to take action," said Dr. Davis. "Parents want quality education for their children—a return to the basics. We are not attempting to compete with the public schools in Kentucky, but rather we are assuming a leadership role in focusing attention on improvement of pre-collegiate instruction, particularly for students of Eastern Kentucky."

Announcement of this venture in secondary education was made by Dr. Jerry C. Davis, President of Alice Lloyd College, at a press conference at the June Buchanan Alumni Center on the college campus. Other participants were Dr. Wallace Campbell, dean of the college, and Jeemes L. Akers, who will direct the June Buchanan School.

Persons wishing additional information concerning the school should call (606) 368-2101, extension 231.

and little steams about us, shared the sheer fun of being alive—and, sometimes, those occasions when it was not all fun.

There was the time when the teacher of our one-room, up-hollow school rather painfully chastised Banner for an untoward accident. We had discovered that you could stick a sharpened stick into the "eye" of a buckeye and with a sweep, hurl the buckeye for fascinating distances. But on this occasion, something went wrong. When my friend swept the stick back to make the long cast forward, the buckeye flew off and smacked against the school building behind us. For a long time I nursed a grudge against the teacher who would not accept our explanation.

Then came the occasion when we went swimming for the first time in water that was, as we said, "over our heads," and I floundered my way across the deep hole till I tired. I went down twice and was threatening to end up a resident of Davy Jones' locker when my friend snatched me by the hair of my head as a brand from the burning and snaked me to shallower water.

At this stage of the game, it strikes me that the sharing of the more trying experiences welds a stronger bond than all the fun-times.

He wasn't my only boyhood friend. I had several of them, and I prize the recollection of each. But Banner was the last. And his passing somehow makes more distant, yet more important, those barefoot, mostly carefree, days that blessed us.

How deep was last week's snow? Ever hear the expression, "shoe-mouth deep"? I've never been sure about the matter, but assume this meant to the top of the shoe. If that is the measurement that applies, it leaves one wondering if the shoe was a boot or a slipper.

And while we're about it—when have you heard somebody say, "pline blank," as, for example, "He's a pline blank liar"? Don't know what "pline blank" means? Try "pointblank."

"I'm for improving the schools," said Mrs. Otelia Smiley, who noted that her 16 children had graduated from Floyd schools. "But let's not sock it to the senior citizens and (families with) low incomes. They're already scared."

A relatively small sacrifice was being asked in return for a great good, argued McDowell Principal Gary Frazier. "We're talking about 12 Pepsis or less than a carton of cigarettes a month to make a difference in quality education," he said. "Ten thousand children are being shortchanged." And Jean Rosenberg pointed out that residents in most surrounding counties have found a way to pay a utilities tax.

Everett Akers sparked the hearing's only demonstration with his argument that the Board of Education is wasting money and that education could be improved here without additional expense. "You take care of your waste and then you can get your taxes," he told the board, the audience applauding. Akers also chided the board for seeking a utilities tax when it had been reluctant to endorse a proposed tax on unmined minerals.

Karen Marcum read a statement prepared by the Floyd Citizens Education Council in support of the utilities tax. Elbert Pratt, unemployed father of four, said he supported it. But Jim Donahoe thought it "should be marked off right quick."

That could be done by referendum if a petition is filed with the Board of Election Commissioners to have it placed on the ballot. The petition, which must be filed within 30 days of the tax's passage, would need to bear a number of signatures equal to 15 percent of those in this county who voted in the last presidential election. In the 1980 election, 15,385 Floyd citizens cast a vote for president. Fifteen percent is 2308.

Jack Freed, president of the AARP's Jenny Wiley Chapter, was reported this week as saying he did not expect the group to challenge the tax. But Akers said he knew of "10 petitions going around" to get the tax issue put to a general vote.

vices at a cost of $3300 a month—does not appear voidable. The company is owned by Stephen R. Allen whose father, John Allen, is a member of the solid waste agency board.

A 15-year, $1980-a-month lease on a five-acre tract and building at Garth may be vulnerable to legal challenge but the board should consider what other building might be available before it repudiates the existing lease, Turner said. The solid waste agency leases the property from Industrial Rentals, Inc. a firm owned by John Allen and Adrian Lafferty.

Turner said Industrial Rentals' claim on the property was questionable because he had found no record that its transfer to that firm from the Floyd Board of Education was ever authorized by the state Superintendent of Public Instruction or the Attorney-General, as required by law.

Even if the lease were voided, Floyd County Solid Waste would still be in need of a building and would probably still be liable for about $14,000 owing to Industrial Rentals in back rent, the county attorney said.

A proposal to save $500 a month in rent by moving the solid waste agency offices to the courthouse annex from its present location on South Lake Drive has been stalled for want of a place to locate the local CAP office, which shares the agency's existing office space, the board was told. Floyd County Solid Waste rents its office space from the adjacent Kentucky Motel.

A move by Ed Caudill and Otis Johnson to fire agency director David Cooley failed for lack of support by other board members. The two accused Cooley of having an overbearing attitude toward employees and of "not doing his job." But John Allen and Ned Bush voted against firing him.

State police confiscated his personal files as part of their investigation of county finances, said Board Chairman Bob McAninch, who added, "As far as I know, there is nothing improper (in the files)."

State environmental inspectors, citing leachate drainage from the county landfill, extended the permit there by only one year instead of five, McAninch told the board. He will have samples of ooze analyzed to determine whether it is leachate or mine runoff, McAninch said.

beverage sales tax last year netted $35,702 in city revenue.

In case of fire, out-of-town residents need not call the city fire department, the council decided. Councilman Bill Ray Collins said that, since Prestonsburg residents pay for them, the city's emergency services should be available for use in the city. Fire Chief Tom Blackburn said city fire trucks made six out-of-town runs last year.

The new policy replaces one which gave the fire chief discretion in making out-of-town runs. It prohibits such runs even to Highlands Hospital, May Lodge and the National Guard Armory. "We can't afford to take the chance that a fire will break out downtown (while city firefighters are out of town) and the city will be unprotected," Collins explained.

Voting for the ban, besides Collins, were council members Paul H. Thompson, George C. Brown, Frank Adams and Eunice Shepherd. Opposed were William O. Goebel, III and Robert W. Ranier.

Noting that "it has been many years since we've had any cooperation of this sort," Mayor Harold Cooley thanked Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo for the use of a county grader to help clear Prestonsburg streets of snow this winter. The mayor also praised workers in the city streets department. In the past, city crews have had to clear the streets using only an end-loader and dump truck.

In a "state of the city" address, the mayor said Prestonsburg is solvent but that cuts in federal funds and in some local taxes mean the city will need to budget prudently. The cut in the alcoholic beverage tax and the anticipated relocation of part of Brown Foodservice, Inc. will mean a loss of tax revenue, he noted.

Brown Foodservice, one of the city's largest firms, plans to move the bulk of its operation to Louisa. The 43-year-old company, which employs 65 workers, pays $10,000 a year in city occupational taxes and owners of trucks servicing the plant each pay $150 a year for unloading licenses.

Ten Years Ago

(January 23, 1974)

Flood insurance will be required by July 1 of next year in this and all other political subdivisions of the United States if home-builders are to get federally insured loans for building in flood-prone areas. With damage resulting from flood-waters Jan. 10 and 11 estimated at $48,500, the Floyd fiscal court decided Monday to seek state or federal help, or both, rebuilding roads and bridges. Paul B. Francis has ended 50 years in business here with the sale of the Paul Francis Co., Inc. to Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Ratliff, of Endicott. This week a year ago the weather was unseasonably mild with forsythia and crocuses blooming in some spots and at least one report of a "tarpon" attempting to cross the road. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Robinson, of Langley, a son, Jan. 12; to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Little, of Melvin, a son, Jan. 13; to Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Johnson, of Risner, a daughter, Jan. 11; to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Senters, of Prestonsburg, a daughter, Angela Dawn, Dec. 17. There died: Roy Dean Ray, 17, of the Mud Creek section, Saturday night after being stabbed at a gathering at Beaver; Mrs. Mary Poor Bodor, 93, of Martin, Sunday here; Mrs. Mary Stumbo Martin, 63, formerly of the Left Beaver section, last Tuesday at the Mayo Clinic, Minnesota; Leo Hunt, 61, Friday at his home at Endicott; William Ira Hager, 81, of Weeksbury, Thursday at McDowell; Bennie Helton, 72, native of West Prestonsburg, Dec. 25 at Warsaw, Ind.; Mrs. Elizabeth D. Scott, 84, last Wednesday at her home at Harold; Walker Endicott, 62, of Johns Creek, Saturday at Martin; Shirley Morrison, 60, Thursday at his home at Cliff; Mrs. Mallie Hunter, 84, formerly of Garrett, Friday in Ohio; Ray Tibbs, 75, formerly of Auxier, last Thursday in Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Myrtle Wilburn, 83, Sunday at her home near Harold; Mrs. Mary J. Prater, 77, of Hueysville, Monday here.

President Johnson included in the trimmed-down budget which he sent to the Congress Tuesday a total of $18.4 million for flood control reservoirs which are designed to protect the Big Sandy valley. An additional $1 million has been made available to Eastern Kentucky by the Department of Agriculture under the winter relief program, Governor Edward T. Breathitt announced Friday. Ezra James and Grady Skeens, employees of the Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Company were badly burned Friday evening on Cow Creek when a meter house fire was ignited accidentally. New rules to preserve order and dignity in the courtroom have been invoked by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, and the system apparently is working. Two Floyd county stream snagging and clearing projects have been approved by the U. S. Corps of Engineers for completion at a cost of $73,000, Congressman Carl D. Perkins said last week. There died: Mrs. Lucy Hopson, 82, of Auxier, Saturday in Dayton, O.; Wiley Nelson, 51, Friday at his home at David; Mrs. Polly Johnson, 88, Floyd native, Saturday in Pike county; Mrs. Rosanna Thompson, 56, of Melvin, Tuesday; Mrs. Laura Cooper, 84, of Emma, Tuesday at Louisa; I. N. Hall, 85, of Banner, Tuesday at Wayland.

The old First National Bank building is being remodeled to accommodate most city offices and also to serve as a possible community meeting place. Borda Martin, of Garrett, was killed, and his driving companion, Melvin Hayes, of Lackey, was seriously injured Sunday afternoon when their auto collided with another car on Jones Fork. Dewey Reservoir attracted 437,000 visitors last year, the U. S. Corps of Engineers reports. Carl H. Corgan resigned his post as member of the City Council here, Monday. B. F. Reed, of Drift, has been elected president of Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America. The Martin Kiwanis Club was organized Wednesday. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. W. T. (Tommy) Blackburn, formerly of Prestonsburg, a daughter, Marsha, January 1 at Columbus, O.; to Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Martin, formerly of Prestonsburg, a son, Bill David, January 18 at Elkins, W. Va.; to Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Senters, a son, Larry Dwayne, January 13 at Lackey. There died: Mrs. Ellen Triplett, 54, Floyd native, Saturday at Willard, O.; Andrew Shortridge, 59, Wednesday at his home here; Clifford Messer, 40, formerly of Handshoe, Friday at Lima, O.; Mrs. Darcus S. Haywood, 73, of Dock, Wednesday at the Prestonsburg hospital; Henry E. Akers, 63, Monday at Drift; Ralph Farris, 64, of Van Lear, Monday of an injury suffered at an Abbott Creek mine; Henry H. Flannery, 56, formerly of Martin, January 7 at Dearborn, Mich.; Mrs. Nora K. Robinson, Auxier native, Saturday at St. Louis, Mo.; John L. Harrington, 73, last Thursday at Paintsville.

Forty Years Ago

(January 27, 1944)

Three Floyd soldiers have been decorated for heroism—Cpl. William H. Hopper, of Lackey, awarded the Silver Star for his action as a tank gunner in Italy; Pfc. Willis Sexton, of Hueysville, and Pfc. Earl Hamilton, of Bypro, the Soldier's Medal to each for rescue work following plane crashes. Mrs. Lottie Reynolds McGuire, Floyd teaching veteran of 26 years, was killed Saturday morning at Dwale when hit by a train. Bodies of six former residents of the Quicksand section were taken through Prestonsburg Sunday for burial in the family cemetery, all victims of a fire when destroyed a home at Spencerville, O., Friday night. They were Mrs. Sadie Handshoe, 32, her children, Ruby Murle, 7, Palestine, 6, Paul Glenn, 3 and infant Charles Donald, and her sister, Miss Cletha Messer, 19. The Lackey Theatre and five other buildings burned, Thursday of last week. A rifle bullet claimed the life Monday of Miss Lucy Carroll, 17, of Blue Moon. Word has been received that Ashland P. Stephens, formerly of Hueysville, died January 4 of wounds received in the battle for New Britain, and that Harry Porter, formerly of Allen, is missing in the Pacific theatre of war. Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Collins observed their 25th wedding anniversary January 15 at their Lackey home. There died: William C. Howes, 70, of Betsy Layne, at Drift; Beatrice Jean Hull, 6, of Drift, at a Martin hospital of burns sustained last Friday; William Ramey, 84, Friday at Dwale; Rush Hunt, 59, of Minnie, last Thursday at a Martin hospital; Mrs. Rhoda Osborne, 74, of Northern, Tuesday at a Martin hospital.

Fifty Years Ago

(January 26, 1934)

An attempt to kindle a fire with gasoline resulted in the death Monday at a Martin hospital of Odie, 13-year-old daughter of Tom Jarvis, of Buffalo. Three other children of the family—Columbus, 21, Hazel, 17, and Henry, 11, were burned. Mrs. Cora Hamilton, of Grethel, was seriously burned Saturday when her dress caught fire from an open grate. Goble street here, newly paved, is now open to traffic. Mass graduation for all Floyd county high school seniors has been suggested by County Superintendent John Stephens and City Superintendent Ishmael Triplett. Floyd Tackett, about 35, was shot and killed Sunday at Betsy Layne. Talk of a retail sales tax is being heard at Frankfort. Contract on the Paintsville-Inez road has been awarded the Womack-Rayburn Company, of jGrayson, on its $51,139 bid for grade and gravel surfacing of 10 miles of the route. The Prestonsburg debate team composed of Nancy Stapleton, Elsie Stephens and Ted Green defeated the Ashland high school team Friday night. W. J. Turner, of Drift, this week purchased the F. P. Howard building on Court street. There died: Mrs. Eliza Watkins, 45, native of this county, last Thursday at Pauley, Pike county; Anthony Roberts, 24, Sunday at Harold.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bailey, of Langley, are announcing the birth of their first child, a daughter, Sunday, January 8, at Highlands Regional Medical Center. She has been named Kendra Marie Bailey. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Oakie Shepherd, of Langley, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bailey, of Hueysville. The maternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Thelma Ousley, of Prestonsburg, and the paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Area Bailey, of Martin.

water lines by building fires around the meter. Such extreme strategies don't work, Howard stressed, and he added that a new meter will cost utilities subscribers $35.00.

As if city utilities employees didn't already have their hands full, many calls are received, "at all hours," according to Howard, from residents who have experienced broken pipes and want the city to come and shut off their water service. "It's not our responsibility to do this," explained Howard, "but we try to accommodate people the best we can anyway."

Howard says the office phone is also kept busy from homeowners calling to see how much their gas bill is, before statements are sent out. "We've had some houses with gas bills of $4-$500," he pointed out.

Howard said December's bitter cold, with 10 below zero temperatures and wind chill down to minus 40 was rougher in terms of water problems than the more recent "cold snap" which saw comparable sub-zero temperatures although without much in the way of wind.

Referring to the warmer temperatures shaping up this week, Howard said he expected a lot of problems in the next few days since broken water lines will start to thaw and the bitter truth would be revealed to homeowners in the sound of spraying water.

At the state highway garage at Allen, a spokesman said that although workmen had stayed "pretty busy" this winter responding to calls both from state police and the two night watchmen which monitor weather and snow conditions in the county, salt supplies were holding out well and state highways in the county were "99 percent clear" as of Tuesday. Extensive damage to roads from alternate freezing and thawing and the deteriorating effects of repeated salt applications were not noticeable, it was said, although most such damage generally shows up in the spring.

Luckily, "no real problems" in terms of chimney and other residential fires have occurred during the cold weather, at least in the Prestonsburg area, according to City Fire Chief Tom Blackburn. He credits this to an apparent improvement in maintenance and cleaning of flues and chimneys.

Stories of cold weather-related deaths and injury which have been reported from some other areas of the state have been absent in the county. Prestonsburg veterinarian Dr. Rudolph Ousley said livestock seems to have fared well during the bitter cold although he did report scattered cases of frostbite to pets. He stressed the importance of adequate bedding, protection from wind and proper feeding and watering of all types of animals during cold weather.

Another distinctly cold weather phenomenon which really is no problem, except for those who might miss out on a gallon of milk or some other "necessity," is the pre-snow grocery rush. Like many stores, the Piggy Wiggly here is normally descended upon by hordes of customers bent on stocking up and "going to the house" before the bad weather sets in. Manager Ned Cochran said last Tuesday, with winter storm warnings crackling everywhere on radios, was no exception.

"On that day we had at least as much business as we do on a normal Friday," he commented. Lines were backed up for hours, he reported, and the most sought after items as far as he could tell was milk and bread. "Milk and bread are generally the only things we run out of during this kind of rush," he said, and the store tries to order extra supplies when talk is of bad weather although trucks don't always arrive on time.

the best-sellers, are the worst offenders," the librarian says. "I can't understand when people won't return them on time. It's a real injustice when they know people are waiting," she said.

Library staffers are again sending out letters and making phone calls to borrowers with overdue books. But it is costly sending out regular overdue notices and the response to them is not encouraging.

Boxes of cards, representing books as long as five years overdue, litter the librarian's office. The library's own tolerance is partly to blame, Mrs. Traum recognizes, and the fact that there had been no librarian for about a year before she was hired in October did not help matters.

But with the board's backing when it next meets on Feb. 2, things could change. Most users will gladly trade a little tolerance, Mrs. Traum figures, for the sake of finding on the shelves the books they are looking for.

Pike Co. Judge Is Special Judge Here

For the first time in two weeks, a judge presided in Floyd district court Monday, Pike District Judge Richard L. Elswick acting as special judge in place of Floyd District Judge Harold Stumbo, who is on leave.

Sentenced, following guilty pleas, were Herbert Lee Terry, of Wheelwright, and John M. Dotson, of Prestonsburg, Terry, accused of possessing marijuana, received 30-day jail sentence, with work release approved. Dotson, convicted of two counts of speeding, was ordered to pay $63.50 on one and $67.50 on the other, in fines and court costs.

budget items include $55,500 for road materials and supplies, $49,000 for a park at Auxier, $25,000 for election expenses, $14,000 for magistrates' expenses, and $12,000 for senior citizens' centers.

Prestonsburg City Manager David Evans said the city has also been hit by sharp cuts in revenue-sharing funds, but that the cuts were anticipated.

On the basis of previous years, Prestonsburg stood to receive a total of $107,364 this year. A $4500 payment was received last July but scheduled payments in October and January were never received, he said. The reduction resulted from a smaller Congressional appropriation and was not unexpected, Evans said. "If you followed the mood of Congress, you could see it coming," he said.

was assigned to the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee, where it is scheduled for consideration Feb. 6.

Both bills have been heavily promoted by the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition (KFTC), which is sponsoring Thursday's demonstration.

Stumbo's current broadform-deed bill will be his third attempt to limit mining of coal severed under a broadform deed to the methods in use when the deed was signed. A similar measure was passed by the House in 1980 but failed in the Senate. In 1982 it again passed in the House but died in committee during the final days of the legislative session.

The KFTC, a citizens' group, last week released a study which says that the coal industry would not be hurt by the unmined minerals tax being considered by the legislature. The study is calculated to counter the coal industry's claim that the tax would be ruinous.

According to Tom Del Savio, who examined the impact of the proposed tax on 16 mineral-holding companies, "the decrease in corporate net income would be minor and the effect on the corporate level would be negligible." For 14 of the companies, "the change in corporate net income...would be only one or two cents per share," he said.

Although the tax would be on unmined reserves, some of the cost would be borne by the coal operator, Del Savio acknowledged. But the effect on the coal operator's profits would be minimal, he said. A company like MAPCO, which produced over seven million tons of coal in 1982, would see a drop in profits from $6.24 to $6.20 a ton, he said.

The bill includes provisions designed to protect small landowners and farmers.

Vow Better System For Heat Applicants

The long line of people who waited in frigid temperatures to apply for home heating aid last week has state officials searching out a different method of distributing heat funds next winter.

"We will simply have to develop a new system before next winter to ensure our clients don't have to stand out in the cold to get the money they need to stay warm," said Social Insurance Commissioner Jack Waddell.

In two days last week, 1002 Floyd families applied for help in meeting their winter heating bills. Under the Home Energy Assistance Program administered by the state Human Resources Cabinet, $17 million was available this winter to assist families facing heating fuel and utility cutoffs because of unpaid bills.

In an earlier phase of the program, designed for households with elderly or disabled members, 422 Floyd families applied for assistance on Dec. 5 and 6.

Across the state, 104,411 households applied for help in the program's two phases. State officials acknowledged that the need for aid outstripped the available resources.

Night Manager Charged In Restaurant Robbery

A 21-year-old West Liberty man, who reported a robbery at a city restaurant late Friday night, was himself charged with the crime.

Police said Cavin R. Hutchinson, night manager at Lee's Famous Recipe on North Lake Drive, reported that, shortly after the restaurant closed Friday night, he was robbed of the night's takings at gunpoint. The robber was a large man clad in a black ski suit with an orange stripe, police were told.

Officers Greg Hall and Larry Woods, who responded to the call around 11:15 p.m., said they found Hutchinson tied to a chair and with a bruise on his forehead. Hutchinson said he had been robbed and bound and had telephoned police by dialing with his tongue.

A search of the area revealed no signs of a robber's having entered or left the building, although fresh snow lay on the ground, police said. But a search of Hutchinson's car turned up two money bags containing $1580 under the front seat.

The restaurant worker was charged with theft by unlawful taking and knowingly receiving stolen property. Jim Sparks, restaurant operator, asked police officers this week to drop the charges, however.

OUTSTANDING YOUNG WOMAN

Tonda Hall McCoy, of Wheelwright, has been named one of the Outstanding Young Women of America for 1983 in recognition of ability, accomplishments, and service to her community. . . . She is a graduate of Alice Lloyd College, teaches fifth grade at McDowell Elementary, and is enrolled in the graduate program of Morehead State University. She is a member of the local gospel group, "The Ambassadors." . . . She is the daughter of Helen Hall, of Hi Hat, and is married to Gary McCoy. She has two children, Shane and Meshana.

Kermit To Head Wildlife Week

Kermit the Frog, one of Jim Henson's internationally acclaimed Muppets and the host of TV's award-winning "The Muppet Show," is honorary chairman of the 1984 National Wildlife Week.

The 46th annual Wildlife Week, sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation, will be observed March 18 to 24. Its conservation theme, "Water—We Can't Live Without It," will be promoted throughout the year.

More than 20 million students, teachers and conservationists will participate in the Wildlife Week observance, helping promote the importance of clean, life-giving water and the necessity of conserving critical water resources.

"Kermit is the perfect chairman for the 1984 water conservation theme," said NWF Executive Vice President Jay D. Hair. "Kermit is immensely popular with millions of people of all ages—and besides, who knows more about the importance of clean water than a frog?"

Kermit will speak on behalf of the National Wildlife Federation in the NWF's 1984 broadcast public service announcements that promote the conservation of the nation's dwindling supplies of useable water.

Appearing in the public service announcements with fellow Muppet Fozzie Bear, Kermit says, "Water is something we have to conserve and keep clean." The broadcast announcements are being distributed nationally to 600 television and 1,500 radio stations.

As part of his duties as chairman, Kermit will also be the featured speaker at the NWF's annual Conservation Awards banquet on March 17 in Atlanta, Georgia, in conjunction with the Federation's annual meeting.

NWF is the nation's largest conservation organization with 4.1 million members and supporters, including members in 49 state affiliates.

The water conservation theme for 1984 was chosen, according to Hair, to make Americans aware of the critical importance of life-sustaining water.

"More than any other resource, water is basic to survival," Hair said. "Water sustains all life forms and is the key ingredient to healthy ecosystems. Moreover, water is essential in every industrial process—in cooling machinery, in assimilating wastes, in transporting products, and in materials composition."

"Unfortunately," Hair continued, "useable water supplies are dwindling because of contamination, mismanagement and waste. We hope that during the course of the year we can impress Americans that water protection and conservation are priority issues."

Kermit was created in 1955 by Jim Henson, then an art student at the University of Maryland who was offered a late-night show on WRC-TV in Washington, D.C. The show, "Sam and Friends," featured a troupe of puppets dubbed "The Muppets" by Henson and Jane Nebel, now his wife.

"The Muppet Show" premiered on television in 1976 and was named "Special Attraction of the Year" by the American Guild of Variety Artists. Kermit and the Muppets have also starred in two movies, "The Muppet Movie," and "The Great Muppet Caper," and will star in another to be released this summer, "The Muppets Take Manhattan."

Pre-Columbian Indians believed that earthquakes were caused by the creator shaking the earth to see if his handiwork was still around. The Indians would shout "Here I am," to reassure him.

A SOUTHERN LANDSCAPE.

There's a look to the South, this season, and it's not very pretty. Forests burned out by Wildfire, because someone was careless. Seek advice from your forestry agent before burning trash or debris. You can help make the difference.

'NOVA' Explores China's Overpopulation Problem

Two-thirds of China's 1.2 billion citizens are under the age of 24. If the present birth rate continues unabated, there will be an extra 200 million Chinese greeting the 21st century. "NOVA" examines Peking's radical move to prevent overpopulation on "China's Only Child," premiering Tuesday, February 14, at 8 p.m. on KET.

In 1980 Peking, in an attempt to prevent the imminent catastrophe, made a request for couples to limit their offspring to one child as part of national policy. In factory villages this policy has been enforced zealously by "Granny police," who guard their communes against fertile couples by distributing contraceptives and providing escort to gynecological exams. Couples contracting with the state to produce only one child enjoy liberal benefits. Couples who "fail" receive little sympathy or support.

Western observers perceive this four-year-old policy as harsh and authoritative. But party officials stress China has no alternative since two- or three-child families would push the Republic over the poverty line into starvation.

"NOVA: China's Only Child" is produced by WGBH/Boston.

Gas Company's Sale Confirmed

(From The Paintsville Herald)

Johnson County Gas Company, whose operations have been much in the news for the past year, is being sold to Lexington coal broker Jack Daniel.

The sale of the county utility is subject to approval by the state Public Service Commission and management will apparently remain with present owner Danny Preston in the interim.

Daniel, in Paintsville recently for a brief hearing involving Johnson County Gas and its supplier, Columbia Gas, was the victim of a mail bomb delivered to his home in Lexington in September, 1982. He lost both legs in the explosion. Daniel was also a key figure in a federal investigation into corruption in the coalfields in the late seventies, serving as an informant in an investigation called the Leviticus Project.

A spokesperson for Johnson County Gas, Betty Preston, said Daniel "just called one day," starting the talks that led to the scheduled sale. She declined to discuss price, referring that question to Daniel.

Officials at Daniel's Lexington office confirmed the transaction but could offer no specifics. Daniel was out of town and unavailable for comment.

The proposed sale of the local utility raises questions concerning litigation pending between Johnson County Gas and Columbia Gas, a major supplier of fuel to the company. Columbia claims Johnson County owes in excess of $200,000 in past billings.

Larry Stanley, executive director with the state Public Service Commission, indicated this week that Columbia no longer supplies gas to the company. Stanley said the local utility was now being serviced by Atlantic Gas Transmission Company, adding that a hearing had been set for January 26 in Frankfort for Johnson County Gas to "show cause why they should not permanently lower rates." Stanley said Atlantic was supplying gas at a lower rate than Columbia, prompting the hearing on possible rate reductions. Stanley added that no date had been set for the PSC to review the sale of Johnson County Gas to Daniel.

Suits and countersuits between Columbia and Johnson County Gas remain in court and apparently will not be resolved by the sale of the utility.

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

When taking an antihistamine to relieve allergy symptoms, weight gain is certainly not the expected side effect. However some medications cause just that. Drugs can bring about weight gain by causing water retention, increased appetite or thirst, cravings for sweets or a slowing down of the body's metabolism. The gain can range from a pound or two in just a few days to 20 pounds or more over several weeks or months. This can be dangerous, particularly for patients with heart and kidney disease. Report any unusual weight gain to your doctor when taking any medication. Fortunately this type of weight gain is usually reversible when the drug is discontinued.

If you have any questions about how or when to take the medication your physician prescribes we would like to remind you that we are always available to answer them. COOLEY APOTHECARY is very proud to be able to provide families in this area with all their pharmaceutical needs. You'll find us located in No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106 and open Mon.-Fri., 9-5:30, Sat., 9-5. Master Charge and Visa.

Mrs. Terry Buchanan's first grade class at Prestonsburg grade school concluded their study of Christmas customs around the world with a class Christmas party, Jan. 6. The custom of Old Christmas was revived for the afternoon as the children sang songs, played games and exchanged their presents.

Cold Snap Takes Humdrum Out of Everyday Routine

Record-breaking temperatures which dipped below zero and even during the day remained in single digit figures, last week played havoc with what is usually viewed as the humdrum routine of everyday life.

For instance, getting to work was a major test flunked by many, what with icy roads just one of the difficulties. Some were stopped at the gate by car batteries either dead or giving their last gasp. Others caromed from curb to curb until they came to rest somewhat close to a parking position, got out and walked or slipped and slid to work.

Plumbers have done a landoffice business, with frozen and burst pipes a not unusual condition for householders, some of whom have been without water. One woman, faced with no water in her neighborhood, hid herself to the home of a somewhat astounded city official, informed him she hoped he had plenty of water, and proceeded to take a much-needed bath. Such are the burdens of civic responsibility.

A number of family pets have suffered the traumatic experience of being cooped up in the unaccustomed luxury of a warm house. Animal lovers and even those not so fond of our furry friends, felt a pang for old Bowser, fleas and all, when faced with seeing him frozen stiff in mid-bark.

Bird seed has been a big seller along with electric blankets, long-johns, and snow tires.

But, on the brighter side, school was out (and still was Tuesday) and there has been a population explosion of snowmen, built amid a welter of snowballs. No doubt these youngsters will bore their offspring with oft-repeated tales of the winter of '84.

"Why, the lake froze clear across, you could walk on the Big Sandy River and school was out for a week or more."

MAYTOWN NEWS

Mrs. Haley Webb celebrated her 95th birthday on January 6 at her home. Family members celebrating with her were Mrs. Kim King, Mrs. Glenna Clark and Mr. and Mrs. James Webb, of Harold, Robert Webb and daughter, Casey, Delphos, Ohio, Mrs. Rudolph Akers and Larry, of Martin, Mrs. Emma Turner and Zeda Turner, of Wayland, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Webb, Hindman, Mrs. Beatrice Chaffins, Paula Webb, Shawn and John and Mrs. Barbara Salisbury, all of Langley. Mrs. Webb received several gifts.

First Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Robinson and family, who have just returned from Germany, have been the guests of Mrs. Robinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buel Spears. After concluding their visit here, they went on to Ft. Bliss, Tex., where he will be stationed.

Tamyra Hensley, who suffered a heart attack recently is now out of intensive care and is much improved.

Sympathy to the family of John N. Patton who passed away last week following a long illness. The Pattons, of Martin, were formerly residents of Maytown.

Hackworth Victim Of Trailer Blaze

A fire, which Friday morning destroyed a mobile home on state road fork off the Mountain Parkway, claimed the life of 53-year-old Otis Hackworth.

Floyd County Coroner Roger Nelson said the fire, which may have begun from a faulty electric heater, broke out around 7:45 a.m. and it is believed smoke inhalation resulted in Hackworth's death, although an autopsy was scheduled to be performed at Pikeville.

Hackworth lived alone in the mobile home.

An employee of a Middle Creek grocery and car sales and a member of the Civil Air Patrol, Hackworth was born December 26, 1929 in Floyd county, a son of Millie Williams Hackworth, of Brainard and the late Harris Hackworth.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Eunice Prater, of Brainard, Mrs. Callie Steele, Homer, Mich., and Mrs. Evaline Prater, of Albion, Mich., and a brother, Delbert Hackworth, of Albion.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday at 11 a.m. at the Chestnut Grove United Baptist Church with Elders Wallace Calhoun, Delmon Stanley and Lemuel Williams officiating. Burial was made in the R. D. Prater Cemetery at Brainard under direction of the Carter Funeral Home.

Despite Court Order... Child Support Said Hard To Collect

Earlene Newsome is divorced, the working mother of a 2½-year-old, and determined.

Getting her ex-husband to pay court-ordered child support, she says, has been an endless battle. It has been humiliating, costly, time-consuming, emotionally draining and—worst of all—largely fruitless.

She knows why many women in her position simply give up, exhausted, cowed by the inevitable. But this 23-year-old West Prestonsburg mother says she won't give up. She will try to persuade others not to give up. She is about to organize.

There is already a Baltimore-based organization in place—called the Organization for the Enforcement of Child Support (OECS)—to assist parents in her position and Mrs. Newsome aims to start a chapter here. The group will try to put teeth into a legal system which, even when it makes the best of a bad situation—dividing marital property, providing for maintenance, setting out visitation rights, and fixing child support—often appears unable to make the arrangements stick.

When it comes to collecting court-ordered child support payments, Mrs. Newsome said in an interview this week, she has found Floyd domestic relations courts either unwilling or unable to enforce their own orders.

She and her husband were divorced two years ago after a two-year marriage. He was ordered to pay $175 a month to support their infant son. He is $3500 behind on his payments, she told Floyd Domestic Relations Commissioner Marshall Davidson last month, and has made no payment at all in the past three months.

Credit manager at a local bank, Earlene Newsome is not destitute. But, without regular support for her son, she says she is hard put to make payments on her house, car and furniture. The fact that she is working rather than drawing a welfare check should strengthen rather than lessen her claim to help from the courts, she says.

But the reality, she insists, is that fathers who have been ordered to pay child support "learn all too quickly and too easily that non-payment is likely to be ignored" by the courts.

There is a lot of truth in that, agrees Assistant County Attorney Janet L. Stumbo, who handles those child support cases for which the county attorney's office is responsible—of which there are likely to be as many as 200 on file at any time.

It is not that there are not laws on the books. There are even some reasonably effective enforcement incentives. But there is not always the will to enforce and, even where there is, the attorney says, it can prove a monumentally frustrating task.

One fairly effective program is mandated by a 1950 law known as the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act (URESA). Under it, if a mother sues for child support from a father who has moved to another state, the case is referred to the local prosecutor in the county where the absent parent lives.

Another program, affecting mothers who are receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), requires their cooperation in efforts to track down and sue absent fathers for child support.

Theoretically, a non-paying father can go to jail or have his income tax refund, paycheck or unemployment benefits intercepted. But critics of the system say that, as in drunk driving cases, the tougher the penalty, the less likely a judge is to impose it.

That is why custodial parents need to organize, Mrs. Newsome believes—to create a climate in which the courts will be emboldened to enforce the law.

"For too long, women have felt they could only sit down and do nothing. We have assumed that this is just the way it is," she said this week. "But there is something we can do. Things are being done in other places. It's time we did something here."

(Persons interested in forming a local chapter of OECS should write Earlene Newsome, Route 1, Box 9A, West Prestonsburg, Ky., 41653 or call 886-8909 and leave a message.)

Auto Dealer Charged In Spat With Chief

Prestonsburg auto dealer Ken Isaacs was arrested Friday on a charge of disorderly conduct, following an altercation with Fire Chief Tom Blackburn.

Blackburn, who made the arrest in his capacity as a Floyd deputy sheriff, said he had repeatedly asked Isaacs to remove a vehicle that was allegedly blocking a fire hydrant at Isaacs' lot on South Lake Drive. The auto dealer refused, Blackburn said.

When he attempted to have the vehicle, a new pickup, towed away, the fire chief said Isaacs "became abusive, used foul language and stuck his finger in my face."

After Isaacs' arrest, an employee moved the pickup to another section of the lot.

HEAP Funds Exhausted As 104,000 Seek Aid

The Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources received more than 104,000 applications from low-income households during the two phases of the 1983-84 Home Energy Assistance Program, or HEAP. It took just four days for the process to consume the $17 million available for aid this fiscal year.

Human Resources Secretary Al Austin says final reports on the regular HEAP phase indicate 35,803 applications were received Dec. 5-6 from low-income households with elderly or disabled family members. Preliminary figures for the crisis phase of HEAP—with payments made to low-income households facing heating fuel or utility cutoffs because of high, unpaid bills—show receipt of 68,608 applications for assistance on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Applications during the Jan. 16-17 crisis segment of HEAP ranged from a high of 6,621 in Jefferson County to a low of 65 in Lyon County. Several eastern Kentucky coalfield counties also reported high numbers of crisis applications, including Letcher (1,832), Clay (1,664) and Pike (1,618). Floyd county had 1,002 crisis applications.

"In both the regular and the crisis phases of HEAP this year, the applications exhausted the available federal dollars in just 48 hours," said Austin. "We believe several factors led to the heavy turnout. First, people understand that even with $17 million available, the need will exceed the supply. Those who participated in HEAP in past years understand that when the money is gone, we cannot accept additional applications. Also, Kentucky experienced a colder early winter this year, prompting higher heating bills. It was especially cold when we opened the crisis phase this week. Also, households residing in subsidized housing were included on the eligibility list for the first time, adding 3,433 new applicants."

Social Insurance Commissioner Jack Waddell said the December regular HEAP segment worked well for applicants with elderly or disabled people in the household, but he quickly noted that his department is already evaluating the problems in the crisis segment.

"The process went smoothly in December. I believe we will probably continue next year, if the federal government funds HEAP, to provide an early application period for funds earmarked strictly for eligible elderly or disabled clients," said Waddell. "However, we were simply overwhelmed by the turnout the first day of the crisis segment. Even though we immediately altered the application process to reduce the long lines in the snow and cold, we must look for another way to avoid this type of situation in future years."

Waddell said he is currently gathering information to develop an application process that would remain open and equitable to all eligible clients but would also spread out the period for receipt of applications over several days.

"We will still be faced with the ultimate problem: once the money is gone, it's gone," he said. "We're going to take a look at what the federal government will allow and what other states have tried successfully. However, until there is a dramatic turnaround in the nation's economy, people are going to need this assistance. We will simply have to develop a new system before next winter to ensure our clients don't have to stand out in the cold to get the money they need to stay warm."

Most applicants should know within the next two weeks if they were determined to be eligible and will be receiving the two-party checks in the mails.

NOTE: The following chart provides a county-by-county breakdown of HEAP applications received during the regular segment in December and the just-completed crisis segment.

... about your Social Security

KNOW WHEN TO CONTACT SOCIAL SECURITY

It is important for people in the Big Sandy Area to know when to contact a Social Security Office, Jim Kelly, Social Security District Director for the Big Sandy Area, said recently.

A person should contact Social Security:

Before getting his or her first job, because a Social Security number is needed to get proper Social Security credit for earnings. This should be done at least two weeks before the number will be needed.

After a death in the family, to see if survivor benefits can be paid.

When someone in the family is disabled, to find out if disability benefits can be paid.

ed, to find out if disability benefits can be paid.

At retirement age—at 65 for full rate cash benefits, or as early as 62 for reduced benefits. Sign up for Medicare two or three months before 65, even if there are no retirement plans.

Any time there is a question about Social Security.

When a person calls a Social Security office, people there can tell how much work credit is needed to be insured for benefits; who can get benefits; how to replace a lost Social Security or Medicare card; how to get a free statement of the earnings recorded to a person's Social Security record; what documents a person needs when applying for benefits.

For more information about Social Security, get in touch with the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in your local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

By JANE BOND
Health Educator

Glaucoma is a leading cause of blindness in adults in the United States. One of every seven blind persons is a victim of glaucoma. Chronic glaucoma is the most common type of glaucoma, and it occurs most often in persons over age 40. There are few symptoms which occur with this disease, which is why it is important for persons over age 40 to be checked regularly for the disease.

Blindness from glaucoma can be prevented if treatment is begun in the early stages of the disease. The Floyd County Health Department is having a glaucoma screening clinic on Friday January 27. This clinic is a free service of the Health Department and is open to persons of all ages, but those age 40 and over are especially urged to be checked for the disease.

Miss Susan Evans Conley, first runnerup in the Wee Miss Mistletoe pageant, was erroneously listed as the winner in the Jenny Wiley Toyota baby pageant. She was, instead, the winner of the Jenny Wiley Festival baby pageant.

Pickering Named WDOC-AM Manager

WDOC President and General Manager Gormon Collins has announced the addition of Kurt Pickering to the station's staff. Pickering, who moved here from Frankfort to accept the position, will be WDOC-AM's station manager.

Pickering's name is already well-known to area listeners from his previous position as Capitol Bureau Chief of Kentucky Network News. In that post, the Ohio native covered state government since July 1982. WDOC and sister station WQHY ("Q95") are among the network's 80 affiliates across Kentucky.

Pickering is a 1982 honors graduate of Morehead State University where he majored in both Radio-Television and Journalism. He moved to Kentucky in 1979 after serving four years in the U.S. Air Force as a Broadcast Specialist.

In his 10-year radio career, Pickering has been a newscaster, disc jockey, sports announcer, and talk show host. "When I've jockeyed, I've jockeyed country," Pickering said. "I wouldn't have it any other way. I love the same kind of country people here in the Big Sandy Area do, a kind that isn't heard on many major market stations any more. To have a chance to manage a station true country fans will enjoy is an opportunity I plan to make the most of."

Pickering, 27, was raised in the small Northwest Ohio town of Wapakoneta. He is married to the former Jan Stuckman, of Duluth, Minn. They have a son, J.J.

HRMC Blood Bank Accredited

Valerie Barnett, medical technologist at Highlands Regional Medical Center, displays the hospital's accreditation certificate from the American Association of Blood Banks.

Highlands Regional Medical Center has been accredited by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB), according to Clarence C. Traum, administrator.

Accreditation follows an on-site inspection by representatives of the Association and certifies that the level of medical, technical and administrative performance within the facility meets AABB standards.

The AABB's inspection and accreditation procedures are voluntary. "It is not legally necessary for a blood bank or transfusion service to be accredited, but Highlands Regional sought accreditation because it represents a level of professional and medical expertise that meets and exceeds government regulations," Traum explained.

Founded in 1947, the AABB is the only national organization in the United States devoted exclusively to blood banking and blood transfusion services. Other programs and services offered by the AABB include a mechanism for allowing donors to replace blood for friends or relatives living anywhere in the country; a rare donor file; frozen blood depots; continuing education programs; reference laboratories for information exchange and consultation; a voluntary hepatitis detection/testing program; public professional information services and professional publications.

To Chair Bike-a-Thon At Garrett and Langley

The Central Regional Office of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced today that Mrs. Patricia Rister will chair the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-a-Thon in Garrett, and Mr. and Mrs. Winston Ford will head the Bike-a-thon in Langley.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict our children. St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and provides medical care to over 4,200 patients.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are working side by side seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures and prevention of these terrible killers.

All findings and information gained at the hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Thanks to St. Jude's, children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle cell anemia, and other child killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The Bike-a-Thon program is dedicated to Terry. Terry was diagnosed with leukemia in March of 1978, and began treatment at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Today, she is well and off all medication. Terry is a living example of the progress and success of the research, patient care, and educational programs of this internationally recognized hospital.

The funds raised in the Bike-a-Thons this spring will help assure the continuation of the life giving work at the hospital.

The concern which Mrs. Rister and Mr. and Mrs. Ford have for the work being done at St. Jude is greatly appreciated. The children hope that the citizens of Garrett and Langley will wholeheartedly support the upcoming Bike-a-Thon.

There were also special in-depth schools held during the session devoted to feed, farm supplies, retail operations and crop production including fertilizer, chemicals and seed.

The sessions were conducted by the cooperative's commodity specialists, supplier representatives and extension agronomists.

Dead Battery? Here's How To Jump Start—Safely

Kentucky Transportation Secretary, Dr. Floyd Poore, left, gets ready for the next spell of freezing weather. He's playing a sticker on his car which tells how to jump-start a battery safely. Helping him is State Representative Ed Holloway, President of the National Society to Prevent Blindness—Kentucky. Fifteen hundred stickers were presented to the Transportation Department by Ashland Oil, Inc., and the Society.

Jumping a dead battery can save the day for many a motorist. But, just one spark can set off an eye-threatening explosion, according to the National Society to Prevent Blindness-Kentucky. Flying battery "shrapnel" and battery acid, contacting the eyes, can cause severe eye damage and vision impairment.

The Society recommends the following procedures for jumping a battery safely:

BEFORE ATTACHING THE CABLES
Put out all cigarettes and flames. A spark can ignite hydrogen gas produced by battery fluids.

Make sure the cars don't touch each other. Set parking brakes and automatic shifts of both cars to Park (manual transmissions to Neutral), and turn the ignition off.

Take off the battery caps, if removable, and add water if it is needed. Check for ice in the battery fluid. Never jump-start a frozen battery! Replace the caps and cover with a damp cloth.

Do not jump-start unless both batteries are negatively grounded and the same voltage. American cars have either 12-volt or 6-volt batteries. Check owner's manual. (Owners of foreign cars should check their operating manuals for emergency starting directions.)

ATTACHING THE CABLES
Clamp one jumper cable to the positive (+) pole of the dead battery. Then clamp the other end of the same cable to the positive pole of the good battery.

At the booster battery, connect the second cable to the negative (-) pole. Then clamp the other end of that cable to the stalled car's engine block on the side away from the battery.

Start the car with the good battery and then the disabled car.

Remove the cables, first from the engine block and the booster car's negative terminal and then from the positive poles.

For maximum eye safety, the Society advises everyone working with car batteries or standing nearby to wear protective goggles to keep battery fragments and chemicals out of the eyes. Should an accident occur and battery acid get into the eyes, immediately flush them with water continuously for 15 minutes. Then see a doctor.

The Society offers a 4" by 8" yellow vinyl sticker, adhesive backed, listing the step-by-step instructions for jumping dead batteries. The sticker can be affixed to any clean, dry surface under the hood or kept inside the car's glove compartment. To obtain a sticker, send 25¢ and a self-addressed, stamped, envelope to: NSPB-Kentucky, 727 Starks Building, Louisville, Ky. 40202. Bulk orders are available for $10 per 100.

Two Floyd Teams Fall To Eagles

Floyd county's two most powerful teams, the Prestonsburg Blackcats and Betsy Layne's Bobcats, fell to the Johnson Central Eagles in games last week.

Facing the Eagles last Tuesday night, Prestonsburg lost, 73-66 after leading four points at halftime. In the second half Johnson Central quickly narrowed the gap and the game ran neck-in-neck through the second period. With four of Prestonsburg's starting five fouling out and a number of missed shots, the Eagles were quick to take advantage winning the game in the last five minutes of play.

Playing on home court Saturday, Coach Junior Newsome's Bobcats were also surprised by the Eagles and fell by the heartbreaking score of 70-69. Scorers for Betsy Layne included Levi Hamilton 24, Jeff Campbell 17, Lester Newsome 10, Dwayne Kidd 8, Jimmy Parsons and Duran Hall 4 points each, and Brett Meade 2.

The Bobcats played earlier in the week against Wheelwright, defeating the Trojans 72-38. Scorers for the Bobcats in that game were Jimmy Parsons 13, Jeff Campbell 13, Levi Hamilton 10, Lester Newsome 9, Dwayne Kidd 8, Davy Mitchell 7, Duran Hall 6, Chad Collins and Barry Boyd, 2 each.

Scorers for the Trojans included David Hall 16, Tim Cole 11, James Hall 3, Tim Hughes, Tony Hunter and Charlie Martin, 2 each.

Prestonsburg's next action will be this Friday against the Allen Central Rebels, a team which earlier beat the Blackcats. On January 31 the Blackcats will face Betsy Layne.

Reward Offered As Eagle Shot In Magoffin

An immature bald eagle was shot Friday, January 13, in Magoffin county and a reward will be offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties responsible for the fatal shooting, according to law enforcement officials of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

The eagle was found injured alongside U.S. Highway 460 about 3 1/2 miles west of Salyersville near Pleasant Hill. The animal had been shot with a shotgun and suffered, among other wounds, a broken leg. Department of Fish and Wildlife personnel turned the wounded bird over to the Louisville zoo for treatment but the animal died two days later.

Federal law provides for a reward totalling up to half of the fines levied in the case. The maximum fine for killing an eagle is $5,000. Private conservation organizations also usually offer rewards in eagle-killing cases. Anyone with knowledge of this incident is encouraged to contact the Louisville office of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (502 582-5989) or their local conservation officer.

25,000 Ky. Hunters Apply For Bernheim Forest Deer Hunt

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17—Approximately 25,000 hopeful hunters applied for a chance to hunt deer on Bernheim Forest Refuge and landowners on the area open to deer hunting in Nelson and Bullitt counties are indicating that they cannot grant anyone else permission to hunt, according to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

A total of 11,304 letters of application for the Bernheim hunt were received before the Jan. 13 deadline. Up to five individuals could apply together and each letter is averaging around two names, according to John Phillips, the department's deer specialist.

Only 1200 of these applicants will be allowed to participate in the four-day hunt, scheduled for Feb. 3-6 on the Bernheim Refuge. These hunters are being selected by a random drawing from among all the applicants, Phillips said.

All those who applied will be notified whether or not they have been selected to hunt, according to Phillips. Successful applicants will be notified first, followed by those whose names were not drawn.

"Because of the large number of applications, it's possible that we won't get all of those who were not chosen notified by the end of the month," Phillips said, adding that those whose names were drawn will receive notice by Jan. 23.

Property owners in the land around Bernheim Forest also report that interest in the hunt is running high and that they have already granted permission to all the hunters the area will accommodate.

A force of conservation officers will be patrolling Bernheim Forest and the surrounding lands during the hunt, and an officer should be able to respond to a property owner's complaint within 15 minutes, Toon added.

All hunters are required to have 1983 deer tags in addition to 1984 hunting licenses. These tags will be available at the Bullitt County Fairgrounds the day before and during the hunt, from the Bullitt and Nelson County courthouses during regular hours, from the Key Beverage Depot, Bardstown, and from four locations in Jefferson County: the Fish and Wildlife office at Bowman Field off Taylorsville Road and the county clerk's offices in the Old Courthouse Building in downtown Louisville, the Southwest Government Center at 7219 Dixie Highway and the South Central Government Center, 7201 Outer Loop.

Wells Among Who's Who From Centre

Jack Carter Wells, a junior at Centre College, has been selected as an outstanding campus leader, and will be listed in the current edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Wells, the son of Dorothy Wells, 67 N. Arnold Ave., Prestonsburg, is among 22 Centre College students listed in the 1984 edition of "Who's Who."

Wells is majoring in physics. He is active in football at Centre and is also a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He has been named to the Dean's List four times.

The Centre students named in the directory were first nominated by a campus nominating committee. They were selected for the directory based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

More than 1,500 institutions of higher education nominate students for the directory, which has been published annually since 1934.

OLM Alumni Group Meets at Pikeville

Former students and teachers of Our Lady of the Mountains, Paintsville, didn't just socialize at their first official alumni gathering. Coupled with the reminiscing and celebration of their reunion were the formation of an alumni organization and election of its first officers.

Father Frank Osburg, pastor of St. Michael's, Paintsville, gave the welcome. Randy Burchett, president of the school's board, presented the day's activities and plans for the school's future. He also held nominations for president of the alumni organization.

Dr. Tom Burchett, of Winchester, was elected president and conducted the remaining nominations and elections. Other officers elected were George Archer, vice president, Pat Sturgill, secretary, and Margy Kinner, treasurer.

Named to the alumni steering committee were Father Frank Osburg, Mike Donahoe, Mary Jo Blackburn, Sister Alma Marie Kraemer, C.D.P., and Bill Gordon Francis.

Former and current faculty members were then introduced. Among the former faculty were Divine Providence Sister Mary Dempsey who had helped ready the building during one of her holidays before it opened in 1945, Sister Augustina Siebenack, who was the school's cook for 17 years, and Divine Providence Sister Ruth Nadiicksbend, who taught in the '60's and could yet identify many of the students in the slide presentation shown at the gathering.

The slide show brought to mind many former students whom organizers of the event were unable to contact or locate.

A tour followed the slide show. Alumni not only viewed the classrooms and renovations on the first and second floors, but were treated to a look at the third floor also. The third floor had always been "off limits" during the alumni's student days because it was the sisters' living quarters.

Present plans call for renovations that will make the third floor into an assembly hall and library that can also be used for Mass and other liturgical celebrations. Summer renovations converted the second floor chapel into two classrooms.

A reception closed the day's activities for all but the newly elected officers and steering committee. In their first meeting, the alumni leaders decided to concentrate on updating their alumni list and organization's structure.

While the alumni do not expect to take on fund-raising projects til later, they are supporting the school board's current project. Local artist, Tom Whitaker, has been commissioned to do a watercolor of the school. Five hundred prints will be issued. The first hundred will be numbered and signed and priced at $35. The remainder will sell for $20.

To get on the alumni list or to order a print, please contact Pat Sturgill at 886-8716 or Our Lady of the Mountains School, 789-3661.

Part of a series of messages from South Central Bell.

Where do I find the phone services I need?

On January 1, 1984, South Central Bell and other local Bell telephone companies were separated from AT&T.

But South Central Bell is still your phone company. As part of a holding company called BellSouth, we'll continue to provide dependable service. For your home. And for your business.

While there are many changes taking place, there will be little immediate effect on your basic local home or office phone service. In fact, you can choose to keep your service just as it is. If you decide to make changes in your service, however, you'll notice some differences.

Use these phone numbers.

Now, when you need help with your phone or phone service, you should use these phone numbers, which may be different from some you've used in the past.

John C. Hall
 Founder
 Hall Funeral Home

WHAT EFFECT DOES PRE-PLANNING HAVE ON SURVIVORS?
 Generally, there are strong benefits to your survivors!
 Consider the impact of pre-planning on your survivors: will they understand you want your own wishes carried out and not theirs? That you may wish to economize in your choice of service, casket, etc., instead of putting the choice in their hands when they are under great stress and shock?
 Will they understand that you want a certain specific order of service? A particular portion of scripture read? Your favorite music? Your designation of minister? And, of course, that you insist on paying for it yourself, sparing them the emotional and financial burdens?
 Many of those for whom we have pre-planned funerals have solved these difficult considerations. They have involved their families in the decision-making process. You, too, may wish to invite members of your immediate family to discuss pre-planning with you and with one of your professional funeral counselors.
 Once having made your funeral arrangements, your sense of security and accomplishment may be comforting and valuable to you and your loved ones.

MARTIN, KY. • 285-3984
(Across the creek from Garth Vocational School)

State To Award Loans For Math, Science Study

In an effort to attract and retain qualified teachers to the field of science and mathematics, the Kentucky Department of Education will be awarding loans to those qualified students for the 1984 summer term. The criteria includes certified teachers who are interested in achieving certification in science and mathematics. Students will be evaluated according to GPA, letters of recommendation, and GRE scores.

All those interested should contact Dr. Lois Esham, chairman of the science and mathematics department at Pikeville College, or the Office of Financial Aid at Pikeville College.

Changes In Tax Law May Affect Filers Of IRS Form 1040

Taxpayers using the form 1040 to file their federal income tax return this year should be aware of some new tax law changes, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

If you use a Form 1040 to itemize deductions on schedule A, you should be aware that the deduction for medical and dental expenses has changed. Beginning in 1983, you can deduct only medical and dental expenses that are more than five percent of your adjusted gross income. In addition, the total amount of health insurance premiums paid in 1983 is now subject to the five percent limit. No longer can you take a separate deduction of up to $150 for health insurance premium payments.

Another change on the schedule A concerns the deduction for casualty and theft losses. Beginning in 1983, you can claim a deduction for nonbusiness casualty and theft losses only if the total of the losses is more than 10 percent of your adjusted gross income. In addition, each separate nonbusiness casualty or theft loss must be reduced by $100.

One point of confusion for some taxpayers completing the form 1040 involves the reporting of a refund of state and/or local income taxes for the previous year. If you received a refund of state and/or local income taxes in 1983, you should receive a form 1099-G, "Statement For Recipients Of Certain Government Payments," showing the amount of the refund. All or part of this amount may have to be included in income for 1983 if deductions were itemized on schedule A in 1982.

This year two-earner married couples who file a joint tax return may be able to deduct 10 percent of the qualified earned income of the lesser earning spouse. The maximum deduction for 1983 is $3,000. Last year it was five percent of the qualified earned income of the lesser earning spouse with a maximum deduction of $1,500. Attach schedule W (Form 1040) to claim this deduction.

Another schedule which you you might need to use is schedule G (Form 1040). You could use this schedule to "income average" if there has been a large increase in your income this year. Generally, you must have provided at least one-half of your own support each year from 1979-1982. Schedule G (Form 1040) gives you all the details.

If you filed a form 1040 last year, you should have received one in the mail this year. Additional forms and schedules are available at local IRS offices and at many banks and post offices. Copies of reproducible tax forms and schedules, as well as a reference set of IRS's free publications on 61 different tax topics, are available at many local libraries.

Brian Matthews finds happiness on 'Y&R'

By Connie Passalacqua

Brian Matthews

"Soap opera acting is the best experience any actor could ask for," says Brian Matthews, who plays the suave Eric Garrison on "The Young and the Restless." "Day in and day out you learn the invaluable task of working with cameras. It's like getting paid to learn."

Eric is a young cosmetics executive in love with his company's president, Ashley Abbott (Eileen Davidson). The situation is fraught with complications. When Eric arrived in Genoa City, he had no idea Ashley was the daughter of Dina Mergeron (Marla Adams), his much older former lover, who subsequently arrived in town.

"I know the 'older woman-younger man' affair is in right now. I'm loving every minute of it," he says, of the current love triangle on "Y & R."

While Matthews is currently happy with his career, only two years ago he was all but defeated. With only regional theater and the lead in a low-budget horror movie, "The Burning" to his credit, he was cast as the lead in "Copperfield," a $1.7 million Broadway musical. The show closed after only 13 performances. Matthews dejectedly left New York for Hollywood.

"There were almost no roles around," he recalls. "What few roles existed were wrong for me. I wanted to yell 'I was David Copperfield on Broadway! What's wrong with this business?'"

Matthews appeared in a few commercials and went for scores of auditions. He took a diversion for a year by working as an aide for his girlfriend's father, former California Congressman Robert Dornan. But he resumed his acting career — and eventually was offered the "Y & R" role.

SPORTS PROBE

Superstars return for 12th year of competition

MORE SUPERS If the Rose Bowl game is the "granddaddy of all bowl games," as NBC reminds us every New Year's Day, ABC's "The Men's Superstars" has to be the granddaddy of TV junk sports. It's also the father of that great prime-time athletic event, "Battle of the Network Stars."

This weekend, "The Men's Superstars" starts its 12th year in its Sunday afternoon slot. Next weekend the show's spinoff, "The Women's Superstars," begins its season.

Once again the show's host will be Al Michaels, with help from ABC commentators Reggie Jackson and Anne Simon.

This year's competitors include boxers Marvin Hagler and Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini; Baltimore Orioles' pitchers Tippy Martinez and Storm Davis, and pole vault champion Billy Olson.

Women on the starting line include tennis' Martina Navratilova; basketball's Nancy Lieberman; high-jump star Louise Ritter and pro skier Toril Forland.

As in past years, athletes participating in the men's and women's events may not compete in their specialty. Each entrant must choose seven of the 10 events in which he will compete. And athletes are not permitted to enter more than three years in a row, thereby guaranteeing new competitors every year.

For men, the events are tennis, bowling, rowing, swimming, weightlifting, 100-yard dash, half-mile run, obstacle course, bicycle race and closest-to-the-pin golf competition.

Women's events include tennis, bowling, rowing, swimming, basketball shoot, 60-yard dash, quarter-mile run, bicycle race, obstacle course and a closest-to-the-pin competition.

Quick quiz: Who won last year's "Superstars" titles? You don't know?

San Francisco '49er wide receiver Renaldo Nehemiah, who caught few passes in the NFL this season, was quick to grab the $15,000 men's first prize. On the distaff side, the winner was basketball player Ann Meyers, who won three titles in the last three years.

If such titles as "Double Shot (of My Baby's Love)," a huge hit for the Swingin' Medallions in 1966; "Poor Side of Town," a smash for Johnny Rivers in 1966; "Brown-eyed Girl" by Van Morrison; and Paul Anka's "Put Your Head on My Shoulder" bring back memories, then give a listen to Joe Stampley's new LP, "Memory Lane."

These songs, as well as new tunes with the feel of the 1960s, have been packaged in Stampley's latest vinyl effort. "We produced the songs to sound like they were being played by a band rather than a studio group. But it is definitely an '80s production. The piano may be banging away like the 1960s recordings, but the drums are out front like the records of today," says Stampley.

Five artists, five producers, five studios, 40 musicians and two years later, the "All-American Cowboys" LP has finally been released. Performers on the LP include Moe Bandy, David Allan Coe, Merle Haggard, Willie Nelson and Jeannie Seely.

Haggard wrote the title song and "(Not Till I Was) Old Enough to Fight" for the album. Other impressive compositions include Willie Nelson's "What Can You Do to Me Now" and "Yesterday's Wine"; Jeannie Seely's "When Will I See You Again"; and Paul Davis' rodeo-rider saga, "Ride 'Em Cowboy," sung by David Allan Coe.

Mickey Gilley and Charly McClain who had a hit with their first duet single, "Paradise Tonight," are preparing to go into the studio for a duet album.

Both artists have released new solo albums. Gilley's LP is "You've Really Got a Hold on Me," while Miss McClain's is "The Woman in Me."

IMMEDIATE DENTURES

Q. What are "immediate" dentures? What are their advantages?

A. Immediate dentures do just what the term implies: they replace extracted teeth instantly; the patient need not wait until mouth tissue is completely healed after extractions. The dentist will determine if such dentures are advisable for your mouth.

Success in adapting to these dentures depends a great deal on your attitude towards them. Their advantages are: 1) you never need to appear in public without teeth; 2) they act as a bandage over extraction sites, help to control bleeding and to prevent food particles from irritating and inflaming sensitive gum tissues; 3) they save you having to learn to speak and chew without teeth, then relearn again later with dentures; and 4) they help to eliminate or minimize any distortion of your facial outline, since immediate dentures provide continuous support for tongue, lips and cheeks.

Decision is Reversed In Stearns Vs. State

Secretary Charlotte Baldwin of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet explained today's decision released by the Kentucky Supreme Court supporting the Wild Rivers Act of 1972.

The ruling dealt with a suit initiated in 1976 by the Stearns Coal and Lumber Company (now the Stearns Company) against the Commonwealth of Kentucky and the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet for alleged losses resulting from the placement of acreage under the Wild River Act.

The Court, in an opinion rendered by Justice Wintersheimer, reversed the ruling and damages against the state previously awarded in the McCreary County Circuit Court.

Baldwin commented that "aside from validating the Wild Rivers Act, the Court's decision saves Kentuckians from the penalty judgement of nearly $12 million in favor of the Stearns Coal and Lumber Company under the lower court's decision. Final settlement of the dispute will very likely involve additional legal procedures that will test the Supreme Court's ruling."

Baldwin commended the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet's legal staff for their effectiveness in the disposition of the case. "Working with limited resources, Art Williams, the lead counsel, and Carl Breeding, General Counsel, represented the Commonwealth well and demonstrated the quality of our legal counsel."
