

Fletcher, New Chief Succeeding Campbell

William R. "Dickie" Campbell resigned last week as Prestonsburg's chief of police and was replaced by one of the police department's newest recruits. Campbell, 42, a 14-year veteran of the force, was demoted to captain but without any reduction in salary. Raised from patrolman to replace him as chief is Stan Fletcher, 34, a member of the Prestonsburg force for less than a year. City council members, concerned at what some felt was an uncooperative attitude on the part of the police, reportedly discussed Campbell's future in a closed session two weeks ago.

In a compromise worked out last week, he was allowed to stay on as captain and at his present rate of pay—he earns $17,655 a year, plus $2500 in incentive pay—in return for his resignation as chief. His resignation was accepted and Fletcher's appointment ratified Monday by the city council.

E. McDowell Residents Pave Their Own Road

Residents of an East McDowell hollow, tired of waiting for the county to fix their road, took the matter into their own hands, Tuesday, when they had the road blacktopped themselves.

Arnold Turner, Sr., of John Hall Branch, said about 40 families lived on the hollow and that the road has not been blacktopped for 15 years. Requests for repairs proved fruitless, he said, adding, "It's not right when people have to steal gravel from the railroad to fix the chug holes."

Turner and his neighbors hired a Paintsville contractor to do the work, which will cost about $3200.

Campbell had been named chief of police last July following the resignation of James F. Curtis. He also served an earlier three-year term as chief.

Fletcher, a Jackson native, joined the Prestonsburg police force the same month. He served for six years in the military police as instructor and investigator and for 18 months as a Breathitt county deputy sheriff.

The new chief cited better community relations, drug education and crime prevention as major areas of concern. "I hope we can regain the respect and trust of people in the community—let them know we're here to serve them," he said.

In return, better cooperation from citizens could make control of drugs much easier, Fletcher said. He would develop a drug education program which would be available for use in the classroom and by civic groups and he would encourage citizens to volunteer information about illegal drug use, he said. A cooperative attitude on the part of the public "is better than four officers on the street," he explained.

Nevertheless, Fletcher also hopes to have more, and better-paid, officers on the street. He would like to see pay raises commensurate with his officers' training and with pay scales in surrounding counties, and more opportunities for promotion. "It would give them something to shoot for, an incentive to work harder," he said.

Fletcher said he hopes the city council will approve the hiring of one or two more officers and a full-time detective. A detective could help solve some of the city's thefts and burglaries, he explained.

OVER THE PAST few weeks of unrelenting heat and dry weather the best possible place to be was the old water hole. For some that meant a pool along a shady creek. For the youngsters pictured above, the May Lodge pool provided a more than adequate spot to cool off.

Patton To Head Floyd Schools' Pupil Transport

None of the "lateral transfers" he recommended for central office staff members should be considered a demotion, insisted Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr., but Wayne W. Ratliff appeared to be the loser in the game of musical chairs Grigsby set in motion at a special Board of Education meeting last Wednesday.

On Grigsby's recommendation, the board named Ed Patton, Jr., former district highway manager, based at Pikeville, to replace Ratliff as Floyd schools' transportation director. Ratliff was named assistant food service director.

Grigsby said later there would be no reduction in Ratliff's $28,000-a-year salary.

The school district's transportation department came under fire from a citizens' group last summer and was later the focus of a highly critical report by a state education department investigator.

In a report on an investigation conducted last July, a state official estimated that half the Floyd school bus fleet would be found "inadequate for student transportation." School opening was delayed several days in August while state and county school officials worked to get the buses in order.

The state investigation also revealed that Floyd spent about twice as much per bus for fuel, parts, service and insurance as did neighboring school districts. A Floyd garage supervisor resigned in the wake of the state inspection and Ratliff was ordered to move his office from the school district's central office.

City Acts To Handle Parking Regulations

Park on a city sidewalk or block a driveway, it could soon cost you $10.

Vowing to put some teeth into Prestonsburg's notoriously lax parking regulations, the city council voted Monday to take the first step in enacting an ordinance which will sharply increase fines and set up a procedure to make sure they are collected.

The ordinance, which will have its first reading at the next council meeting, provides for the hiring of a traffic enforcement officer—somebody to write tickets—and a hearing officer—somebody to hear appeals from those who think they have been ticketed unfairly and to authorize additional sanctions against those who fail to pay up on time.

The new ordinance is of the kind authorized by the last state legislature in response to complaints by city officials that they could not rely on over-taxed district courts to enforce their parking regulations. It will permit city officials to tow or impound cars parked illegally.

Officials of Cablertainment, Inc. came before the council to make a deal. They are on the verge of selling the system, they said, but cannot do so as long as a lawsuit filed recently by the city is hanging over them in federal court.

The prospective buyers, an unidentified New Jersey firm, agreed in writing to make specific improvements—including the addition of Lexington's Channel 27—if the city would drop its suit, said Cablertainment Manager Marty Crawford. Council members said they would consider the offer on the return of City Attorney Larry Brown, who was not at the meeting.

All city employees will receive a five percent pay raise and some will get a 10 percent raise, according to a council decision. Those given the higher raise include police patrolman Larry Woods, fire captain Larry Adams, firefighter Bobby Carpenter, city treasurer Brenda Hayes, three workers in the streets department—Isaac Fitzpatrick, Tom Wright and Dave Marsilett—and the city's six sanitation workers—Edgar Wright, James Wright, John Burchett, Clyde Perry, Harvey Bays and Thurston Endicott.

A motion by Councilman Bobby Watson to dismiss Fire Chief Tom Blackburn failed for want of a second. Watson said Blackburn insulted him after the previous council meeting.

This Town...That World

HEARINGS WOULD BE ENDLESS

I am reminded, as Independence Day approaches, that we have something to be thankful for that might have skipped our minds, if any. We should be thankful that the Declaration of Independence was written long ago and that it's not a chore to be done now. If we had to write it now, I doubt we'd ever make it through to the point it was ready for signing.

SPACED OUT

Computer trouble, we learn, kept the space shuttle from taking off Monday, as scheduled. The last computer trouble we had, the undersigned blasted off and was in perfect liftoff till he hit the ceiling.

A STAGGERING POSSIBILITY

After July 1 Pikeville could have as many as 11 bars or liquor-by-the-drink establishments, we learn. When some expressed concern about the drunk driving that might result, Alcoholic Administrator Michael DeBourbon said he thinks the stiffer drunk driving laws will take care of the matter. "People may be doing more walking after drinking," he was quoted as saying.

But that could create another problem. With all these drunks wobbling along on foot, Pikeville might have to build broader sidewalks.

JEAN RITCHIE CONCERT HERE TO BENEFIT HOSPICE EFFORT

Noted folk-singer Jean Ritchie appears in concert here this week, a benefit performance for Hospice of Big Sandy.

Born in the Perry county community of Viper, she was raised in a family that treasured the ballads of its Scottish, Irish and English forebears. These were not the contemporary tin-pan alley favorites or the new "hillbilly" music, but traditional songs like "Barbry Ellen," "Over the River Charlie," "Sourwood Mountain," and "Lord Randall," and songs made up from local events like hangings, elections, elopements, feuds and groundhog hunts.

Miss Ritchie's songs have been recorded for the library of Congress folksong archives and her first book, "Singing Family of the Cumberlands," was widely hailed as an American classic. Many books, concerts, records and honors have followed.

She will appear Friday, June 29, in the Prestonsburg Community College auditorium at 8 p.m. Hospice of Big Sandy is an organization for supporting terminally-ill persons and their families. For ticket information, call 886-2214 or 886-1962.

Fire Destroys Site of 1981 Mass Slaying

The Mountain Auto Parts building at Allen, scene of the slaying of five men in 1981, was gutted last Tuesday evening by a fire which left the structure a mere shell. The total damage may exceed half a million dollars, it was said.

James B. McKenzie, State Police arson investigator, is investigating the blaze but has been quoted as saying it was indicated that the fire was accidental.

George Laven, owner of the building, said boxes had been piled near a corner of the store "too close," he commented—and set afire as a customary litter-burning procedure. He surmised that air circulation may have attracted the flames to an open window nearby.

The Allen Fire Department was joined by firemen from Prestonsburg and Cow Creek in fighting the blaze. Contents of the auto parts store, which was owned by Donnie Halbert and Tommy Joe Reitz, as well as the upstairs apartment of the owners of the building, Mr. and Mrs. Laven, were destroyed. Their losses were partially insured. Damage to Halbert and Reitz was lessened by the fact, it was said, that some of their stock had been stored in a building on the opposite side of the highway, Old US 23.

The building, constructed of native stone, was left in such condition that its repair is not considered feasible. The owners said it will be torn down.

The mass slaying which brought national notoriety to the scene resulted in five death sentences being imposed on William Oakie Bevins, who was 72 at the time of the shooting. The sentences are under appeal.

SCENE OF FIRE which last Tuesday evening destroyed the Mountain Truck Parts building at Allen. Area firefighters joined in a futile battle against the blaze which is believed to have originated from the nearby burning of garbage. The structure, which also included the upstairs residence of George Allen, was the scene, nearly three years ago of a mass slaying in which five men were killed and three wounded by then 72-year-old William Okie Bevins, of Printer.

Board Hires School Personnel

Teachers and other employees for the 1984-'85 school year were hired by the Floyd Board of Education at a special meeting last Wednesday, board members studying carefully the lists proposed by Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr. All were hired as recommended except for a remedial reading teacher proposed for Auxier Elementary, whose placement there was opposed by Board Chairman Dr. J.D. Adams.

Adams, whose district includes the Auxier school, objected to the proposed appointment of Elmer Miller as the Chapter I (remedial reading) teacher there. The list was amended, with Miller placed at Allen Elementary and Mrs. Pat Branson—who was originally named to Allen Elementary, where her husband is principal—placed at Auxier.

Teachers were hired on condition they are properly certified by the beginning of the school year and that pupil enrollment is high enough. They will receive pay increases ranging from $280 to $420 annually, as the result of a two percent adjustment authorized by the state. Floyd teacher salaries now range from $11,587 to $22,135.

No football coach has yet been named to replace Phillip Haywood at Prestonsburg High School; nor was a replacement named for Bobby Jones, who resigned as girls' basketball coach at Wheelwright High. Don Daniels steps in as Wheelwright High football coach following the resignation of Roger Johnson and former principal Wilbur Jamerson returns to the ranks as a teacher there.

Changing places are Enoch Mitchell, transferred from assistant principal at Betsy Layne High School to principal at Betsy Layne Elementary, and Forrest Curry, former principal at Betsy Layne grade school and now assistant principal at the high school.

Teachers retiring are Carl T. Horne, Geneva Bailey, Martha Lee, Vestalene Hall, Marie Mullins, Lula Bradley, Kathryn Youmans and Ruth Jones.

Library Gets Tough On Tardy Borrowers

Starting July 1, the Floyd County Public Library will not allow a patron to check out additional books if he or she has five overdue books, Librarian Carolyn Traum announced this week.

Gas Rate Cut In Effect Here

Bill H. Howard, superintendent of the Prestonsburg Utilities Commission made an announcement this week that was almost as unusual as the "man bites dog" item.

Gas customers here are getting a rate reduction of 68 cents per 1000 cubic feet.

The reduction, effective May 1, was made possible, he said, because the commission's supplier, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co., had cut its charge by the same amount.

Howard said he was not certain how the cut in rates happened but that he surmised it resulted from a Federal Energy Commission order.

The new rates for consumers in Prestonsburg are: First 1000 cubic feet, $6.05 minimum; all over 1000 cubic feet, $5.62 per thousand.

The rates to customers outside the city limits are: $7.75 minimum for the first 1000 cubic feet; $6.12 per thousand for all above the minimum.

Customers will receive credit for overcharges made since May 1. The utilities commission also said future billings will show the period covered by the bill.

Hydrant Misuse Alleged, Cow Cr. Facility Moved

City fire hydrants are to be used only for fighting fires. That was the word this week from Prestonsburg Utilities Superintendent Bill H. Howard, who said the water system could no longer tolerate citizens' use of the hydrants for "whatever they want"—whether filling their swimming pools, watering their cattle or settling the dust in front of their homes or stores.

The utilities system has traditionally made hydrants available for filling backyard pools, even though it has meant sending out a worker with a meter in each case, and the growing number of pools has made the practice increasingly burdensome, Howard said.

But what really has the utilities chief angry is the number of people tapping hydrants without permission—and without bothering to pay for the water they take.

The issue came to a head on Cow Creek recently, where the volunteer fire department persisted in drawing free water from a city hydrant at the request of local residents. After running newspaper advertisements warning of penalties against those making unauthorized taps, the utilities commission made good on its threat, recently removing the Cow Creek hydrant.

We're for Secession

We are not "Secesh," generally speaking, but are inclined to agree with Bill Arms, of the East Point vicinity, in his move to get the Bear Hollow section out of Floyd into Johnson county.

As the county lines now stand, Bear Hollow is in both counties and, apparently, is getting little from either. Arms claims that the road there gets no attention and that neither school nor garbage vehicles from this county are legally permitted to serve it, because they must first pass through the Johnson county section of Bear Hollow to get to the part that is in Floyd.

This is not an unique situation. Mare Creek, at the opposite end of the county from Bear Hollow, is part Floyd, part Pike. "Little Floyd"—virtually a Floyd county island surrounded by Pike county, because, many years ago, old Tandy Stratton succeeded in getting the legislature to make his farm a part of Floyd county—is there.

State law provides that if more than 50 percent of the registered voters sign a petition requesting that their section be removed from a county—in the Bear Hollow case, from Floyd—to the adjacent county, the question must be placed on the ballot for a countywide vote. This is the remedy seen for both Bear Hollow and Mare Creek—wherever they may want to go.

As matters now stand, residents of these small valleys are neglected, with neither county in either case eager to assume responsibility for their roads. They should be in one county—it doesn't matter a lot which it is—so that one county can no longer pass the buck to the other and the people will know exactly where to lodge their complaints and whom to hold responsible.

Laser Surgery Lets Blind Baby See

Five-month old Dustin Lee Moore, of Inez, can see for the first time in his life following laser eye surgery at Highlands Regional Medical Center performed by Dr. Michael Minix.

"Your baby is blind." These words would wrench the heart of any parent. But Joey and Loretta Moore, of Inez, parents of a 5-month old child who was born blind due to cataracts, have seen this heartbreaking turn to happiness. Their son, Dustin Lee, sees—thanks to laser surgery at Highlands Regional Medical Center. He was the youngest patient ever to receive this type of surgery at HRMC. "Dustin was responding to light in his right eye after only one laser treatment," said Dr. Michael Minix, ophthalmologist. "He has now had two treatments in each eye and has an excellent prognosis."

The Moores expressed their joy over the successful surgery. "To have his eyes follow us around the room and know that he can see, we just couldn't be happier," said Mrs. Moore.

Surgical procedures were a challenge on such a young child. A special light sedation was used that eliminated the need for a mask or needle which might frighten the child. A nurse held Dustin throughout the 15-minute procedure for accuracy of position.

"The beauty of this new technique is that we didn't have to enter the eye with a knife," explained Dr. Minix. "Using the Yag laser cuts down the possibility of infection from surgery and is really much more accurate. It also lessens the recovery time as well as the patient's bill," said Minix.

This new type of laser eye treatment allows surgery to be performed on much younger children than had conventional methods. Medical research shows that the sooner cataract surgery is accomplished, the better the visual result. For Dustin Lee Moore, this means the future looks bright.

Lauds Co-Valedictorian

I know your reporter felt that he had the right slant on the story about the selection of the Wheelwright co-valedictorians on June 13, 1984. However, the story and the lawsuit in circuit court told only one side of the story.

Bethe Hall is the other co-valedictorian at Wheelwright this year. She is the daughter of Glennis and Rosemary Hall, of Melvin, and she is an outstanding student. Besides being a straight "A" student in high school, Bethe was a cheerleader and a band member as well as a National All American High School Student. She was a news commentator on KET, is listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students, and she is the recipient of a National English Award.

Bethe attended Close Up in Washington, was chosen Best of '84 by General Motors and WSAZ, and received a music award from the U.S. Marines. She is now participating in the Professional Education Preparedness Program at Kentucky State University and will attend Pikeville College on an academic scholarship this fall.

Bethe and her parents were not sued in the court case, and she was not given the opportunity to present her position or to defend herself even though she had already been selected co-valedictorian. I, as her attorney and her friend, feel that her position and her philosophy are worthy of public expression.

Bethe also gave a valedictory address. She thanked her parents, her school, her teachers, and her friends, and she looks to the future with hope. She did admit that there have been bad times as well as good times, but she said, "...when times seem bad, try not to get discouraged. With the Lord's guidance, the most difficult problems have a way of working out."

I am proud that Bethe was willing to share the honor of being named valedictorian, and I am proud of her as a person.

Woman Says Doctor, Hospital Negligent

When she brought her mother to the Highlands Hospital emergency room with chest pain last July, the 83-year-old woman had a history of heart trouble, and had recently suffered a heart and had a pacemaker inserted, Lula Branham notes in a suit filed Monday in Floyd Circuit Court.

Over her and her mother's protest, however, the emergency room physician refused to admit the elderly woman but instead sent her home with a prescription for Tylenol, the daughter alleges.

Within hours, Tina Tuttle was dead. Her mother's death was due to the negligence of the hospital and its emergency room physician, Dr. Thomas D. Arthur, alleges Mrs. Branham, who is seeking $1 million in damages.

(Claims made in filing civil suits present only one side of the issue in dispute.)

Not Fred Greer

In a report on the June 7 slaying on Mud Creek of John Paul Blair, The Times erroneously listed Fred Greer as an occupant of the truck in which Blair was riding shortly before his death. It was not Fred Greer but his brother Jerry, State Trooper Jim Rederick confirmed this week.

Commends LeMaster

I would like to applaud Senator David LeMaster for his conscientious efforts in helping combat child abuse! During the past Session, he supported HB 175 which provides secure funding for self-help groups to prevent child abuse. Senator LeMaster was one of the most informed and effective legislators in Frankfort. His support was a key in passing HB 175.

The constituents in the 25th district have a Senator who cares!

Information Wanted

I'm seeking the date and place of death, and the place of burial, of a Millard Fillmore Hall. I believe he died around 1950.

I have heard that he was, at one time, chief of police in Neen, Ky. I would appreciate any help anyone could send me.

For the Record

If you will print this correction for me, I'll be grateful. There are times when I feel like joining the E.R.A., and this is one of them!

In the Letters section of June 20, in writing about the historic Capt. Bolen Hall house, I wrote, "my husband is a Hall." Bob read it, called me in where he was and informed me that that was a mistake; he's a Martin. Well—big deal!—I asked him if his mother wasn't a Hall, and he agreed. But he's still a Martin.

My apologies, Mr. Allen—my husband is a Martin; quite a good one, I must say.

Thompson Sues For $1.9 Million

A leaky roof over Thompson's IGA in the Highland Plaza shopping center here has prompted the filing of a $1.9 million damages suit in Floyd Circuit Court.

Plaintiffs are Paul Hunt Thompson and Shirlo, Inc., operators of the grocery store, and W.T. Sistrunk and Co., the firm from whom they lease the premises. Named as defendants are Highland Plaza Associates, the New York firm that manages the shopping mall.

The suit filed by Prestonsburg attorney Larry D. Brown contends that Highland Plaza Associates took a year to repair the IGA roof, which began leaking in February, 1983. Damages incurred in the meantime include $5945 for store furnishings, $215,000 for lost business and $10,000 for clean-up and repairs, the suit alleges.

In addition, plaintiffs seek $250,000 for damage to Shirlo and IGA's reputation, a like amount for damage to Sistrunk's, $250,000 for "mental anguish," and punitive damages totalling $1 million. (Reports of damage suits state only one side of the case.)

In the face of criticism from some residents and city council members, Howard this week defended the commission's action. "We are not required to furnish fire protection or hydrants outside the city limits. The hydrants are set there only for convenience," he explained. "It is a shame that innocent people have to suffer for the acts of a few. But it's not fair to people who pay for their water when others don't pay." The utilities system will still provide water, for a fee, for anyone who wants to bring a tanker to the water plant on South Lake Drive, Howard said. Otherwise, residents will have to fill their pools the way many already do—with a garden hose and lots of patience.

DeRossett Job Misidentified

Gerald DeRossett, Jr., son of Magistrate Gerald DeRossett, was hired by the fiscal court recently as a park worker—not a road worker, as reported in a story in last week's edition. The Times regrets the misrepresentation. His son's is a summertime position paying $3.50 an hour, Magistrate DeRossett explained.

Panel To Consider Ky. Library Needs

READING DEFERRED

It's not enough for Science to drive itself and everybody else bonkers with its theories, experiments, conclusions, etcetera. Fixing the age of Earth, determining how it all began, deciding how it all will wind up, going into space to whomp up out-of-this-world concoctions and devices—all this gets boring.

So now, according to the cover story in a recent news magazine, the boys with the whiskers are delving into an abstruse matter that's enough to give a body the headache. They claim to have discovered "Why Pain Hurts."

As soon as I can determine what pain would be if it didn't hurt, I plan to read this article—even if such philandering with reality (such as matter as a jumpin' toothache, for instance) gives me a pain and hurts where aspirin can't reach.

office building in Prestonsburg to the bus garage at Garth.

Five central office positions were affected in another series of moves, some over the objection of Board Chairman Dr. J.D. Adams. Roberta Davidson was transferred from instructional supervisor to reading consultant and Blanche Dingsus from food service director to instructional supervisor, both over Adams' protest. Mrs. Dingsus was also named county music director.

Taking over as food service director is James F. "Frankie" Francis, who was formerly physical education coordinator. David L. Turner was transferred from assistant transportation director to physical education coordinator, and Adrian Bentley from assistant principal at Allen Central High School to assistant transportation coordinator. Ray Brackett was again appointed assistant superintendent for finance and Ronald L. Hager assistant superintendent for instruction. Ned Bush stays on as health coordinator and Deniz Halbert as athletic director. Gordon Moore, Ulysses C. Horne and Anna Sue Stumbo were reappointed as instructional supervisors.

Other central office appointees include Phillip Dingsus and Maurice Allen, directors of pupil personnel; Mildred Kendrick and Deniz Halbert, visiting teachers; Eloise A. Hall, youth program director; Dan Collins, youth program training coordinator; June Stephens, gifted and talented coordinator and teacher; Jennifer C. Martin, public relations director; Audrey Pratt, special education consultant, and Larry Jervis, school psychologist.

Chapter I (remedial reading) central office staff includes Harry Wallace, director; Anna Lee Rice, Hiram Couch, and Roberta Davidson, reading consultants; and Charles Patton, Brent Allen and Hershell Conn, social workers.

The board renewed its contract with Pikeville accountants Linton and Company to audit school financial records for the year just ending. W.W. Burchett was again named as the board's attorney.

A full listing of teachers and other employees hired for the 1984-'85 school year appears elsewhere in this week's issue of The Times.

Lake Cleanup Coordinator In Plans Made at Meeting

One meeting has been held, a second has been scheduled, and supporters of the move to rid the Dewey Lake shorelines of the unsightly clutter of man-made debris are hopeful that a cleanup program will soon get into action.

The first meeting was held last Friday at May Lodge, and State Rep. Greg Stumbo, who led state financing of the task, said the interest expressed by representatives of various county and state agencies and other groups was "very encouraging." The second meeting will be held July 9, also at May Lodge.

During the session last week, at which Bill Flora, deputy commissioner of Kentucky parks, presided, representatives of Pike County Solid Waste acknowledged that much of the problem at Dewey Lake originates in Pike county, in the headwaters of Johns Creek. They expressed the hope that their county's solid waste collection will help Johns Creek and the lake—and that discouragement of the old practice of throwing waste into the stream will help more.

A total of $120,000 in the state parks budget has been earmarked for Dewey Lake cleanup over a period of two years. Stumbo said it was planned at Friday's meeting to employ a coordinator of the effort and to get seasonal labor as well as volunteer assistance. He said the work there will afford an opportunity for clubs and other organizations to earn money to carry on their own programs or projects.

"It's an experiment to see if this type of approach to the problem will solve it," Stumbo added. "And we've got a start."

Besides parks officials, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the county and various organizations were represented at Friday's meeting.

The July 9 meeting is expected to be the last before the beginning of actual work.

Hospital Group Opposes Blue Cross Pay Program

The Kentucky Hospital Association (KHA), which represents 117 member hospitals, has announced its opposition to the Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky change in its hospital reimbursement program.

According to the insurance carrier, the new plan is designed to limit hospital price increases on or after July 1. The hospitals claim the proposed payment changes by Blue Cross are designed to allow Blue Cross a larger discount, which could put other insurers at a competitive disadvantage, and the plan changes could potentially force hospitals to pass on costs not met by Blue Cross to other payers, which is objectionable to hospitals.

William S. Conn, Jr., president of the KHA, said, "Hospitals are dedicated to quality patient care and are concerned about health care costs. However, with the proposed Blue Cross reduction in payment to hospitals without corresponding controls on the prices that hospitals pay for goods and services, it becomes increasingly difficult for our hospitals to provide the quality care Kentuckians have traditionally received."

"If hospitals are forced to hold their increases to a cap of approximately eight percent for the coming year based on the projected hospital inflation index as published in Rate Controls, we would challenge Blue Cross to hold rate increases to their subscribers within the same rate, which will call on Blue Cross for increased management efficiency," said Conn. "Approximately eight percent or lower is not a bad objective and hospitals will certainly strive to retain their increase, below this rate, if possible. However, arbitrary caps in any form are intolerable when Blue Cross does not control the costs that hospitals experience, including increases in Blue Cross premiums for hospital workers that have ranged up to 38 percent annually in some cases."

Conn added, "It is the opinion of KHA Officers that hospitals will reject this cap by Blue Cross, or any other arbitrary percentage. In addition hospitals will probably refuse to sign a hold harmless agreement as being proposed by Blue Cross. A hold harmless agreement means that if Blue Cross refuses to pay for a case a hospital will be forced to absorb the cost. It is possible that many hospitals may discontinue their contractual arrangement given such arbitrary mandates, especially if the changes place hospitals in financial jeopardy when coupled with implementation of the new Federal DRG program."

The Kentucky hospital system has taken many steps in the containment of health care costs. Kentucky is bordered by seven states all of which have higher hospital costs, Conn said.

Man Arrested, Loot Recovered

Extending a hand to Paintsville Police Chief Ross Spears, Monday this week, was Bill Blackburn, a partner in Bill and Dave's TV Sales on South Lake Drive. Occasion of the congratulations was Spears' arrest of an 18-year-old Williamsport man and the recovery of about $15,000 worth of merchandise, including $6500 in radio equipment stolen from Blackburn's store in April.

Spears said Paintsville city police arrested Byron Lee Caine inside the Paintsville Murphy's Mart store on June 12. Caine, who had tripped a burglar alarm in the store, was dressed in a black martial arts outfit and was carrying mountain climbing equipment, Spears said. He was charged with eight counts of burglary.

Recovered at Caine's home, besides the merchandise missing from Bill and Dave's, was $6300 worth of goods taken from the Curtis Mathes store here and merchandise missing from three Paintsville stores.

Children of Late Teacher File for $1 Million Damages

Two children of Glenda Pack Marshall, the former McDowell school-teacher whose body was found just over a year ago in a burned-out automobile at the foot of Sizemore Mountain, have filed a $1 million suit for damages against three men who were accused of conspiring to murder her.

The suit, filed in Floyd Circuit Court by attorney Arnold Turner, Jr., names Glen Pack, the dead woman's father, as plaintiff on behalf of Brent Morgan, 10, and Ashley Marshall, 1. Cited as defendants are Sharon Marshall's husband, Clyde Douglas Marshall, Bobby McGuffey and Carl McFarland.

Marshall was acquitted by a Fayette jury in February of a charge of plotting to kill his wife. McGuffey, Marshall's younger brother, entered a guilty plea just before the opening of his and his brother's trial and received a life sentence. McFarland had earlier agreed to testify for the prosecution in return for immunity.

The civil suit holds the three men responsible for the death of Mrs. Marshall on June 20, 1983, a death it claims was the "direct and proximate result of their intentional acts." It seeks a jury trial and the recovery of $1 million reckoned as the loss to Mrs. Marshall's estate.

(Reports of civil suits for damage present only one side of the case.)

Big Sandy ADD Apportioned $219,500 To Improve Homes

The Cabinet for Human Resources plans to spend $3.9 million in U.S. Department of Energy funds to make weatherization improvements to homes of low-income Kentuckians, especially the elderly and disabled and $219,500 this total will be spent in the Big Sandy Area Development District.

Cabinet Secretary Al Austin said the funds would be distributed to the state's 23 community action agencies, which serve 119 counties, and the city of Ashland, which also serves Boyd county. "We will divide the monies among the grant recipients based upon the need of the area each serves compared to statewide need," he said.

Lynda Sherrard, director of the weatherization program, which is administered by the Department for Employment Services, said, "this year, in spite of a reduction in funding, we expect to make weatherization improvements to 2,617 homes. Based on data from previous programs, we expect 6,989 people, including 1,747 elderly and 950 handicapped, to benefit from this program."

Last year almost $4.3 million was spent on improvements to 2,957 homes, Sherrard said. "We served 8,346 people, including 1,874 elderly, 1,212 handicapped and 315 homebound. Eighty-nine percent of the families served last year had annual incomes under $8,000. Almost half had incomes under $4,000 a year."

Work that may be performed on a home includes caulking, weatherstripping windows and doors, reglazing windows, repairing walls, insulating ceilings, pipes, ducts, walls and under floors, wrapping water heaters and placing skirting around foundations. "Whatever improvements are made depend on a home's condition," Sherrard said. "There is a $1,500 limit on assistance to any home. Last year the average cost was $1,383. We're not able to rehabilitate these homes, but we can make them more comfortable and reduce energy costs."

Bank Wins Its Suit To Collect $186,664

A Pikeville bank has won summary judgment in its claim against the widow and son-in-law of the late Jerry Lafferty, Jr., former Floyd judge-executive and auto dealer.

Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley ruled in favor of the Pikeville National Bank and Trust Co., which claimed that Lafferty, his wife Stella and son-in-law, Tim Hites borrowed $165,000 as officers of Lafferty's Midway Motor Sales in December, 1982, and are now $186,664 in arrears.

The note was secured by the Laffertys' Bull Creek property. Judge Lafferty died in May and the auto dealership later folded.

In response to the bank's motion for summary judgment, Judge Conley ordered sale of the property, with proceeds to go toward paying the debt, and extinguished any interest held in the property by Lafferty's son, Jerry Bryan Lafferty, or his daughter, Pat Hites.

At this same location, the carefree charm of a bygone era is recalled today at "The Landing," the new name for Prestonsburg's foremost address... at an affordable price.

NONGAME NOTEBOOK

The Barn Owl of mice & men . . .

- Nick-named the "monkey-face owl", this bird often prefers to nest in barn rafters, grain bins or other buildings instead of the more natural tree cavities, caves, or streambank burrows.
- If you have a barn owl living around your home or farm show 'em the welcome mat - a family of barn owls will eat over 60 pounds of mice, rats, moles, shrews and other critters during the nesting season alone: a very effective pesticide!
- Take a closer look at Kentucky's barn owls. This friend of the farmer is of great interest to wildlife biologists. If you see one or know of one's whereabouts contact the Department of Fish & Wildlife. Also take a closer look at your Kentucky state tax form. Your tax refund can be used to help barn owls and dozens of Kentucky's nongame wildlife species.

The destruction of a larger home, nearby, was prevented by the squad's quick response.

Bears Coach Resigns

After guiding the Pikeville College Bears through their past six basketball seasons, Eugene Lyons has decided to move on. He recently accepted a teaching position at Johns Creek High School.

"I felt that it was time for me to leave coaching for awhile," Lyons explained. "The type of season we ended with this year did have some bearing on my decision to leave. I realize that I had some successful years at Pikeville College and I hope they return."

His successor has not been named. Northern Alaska's great Brooks Range, called the gates of the arctic, is the largest remaining expanse of untouched terrain in the United States.

Kentucky's 'Other' Bass

Say "bass" and most fishermen will immediately think of the largemouth. But there are actually nine fish in Kentucky that are commonly called "bass."

These basses are members of two separate families. Technically, the largemouth isn't a bass at all—it's a sunfish, belonging to the same family as the bluegill and crappie.

Also grouped in the sunfish family are Kentucky's other "black basses," the smallmouth bass, Kentucky bass (also spotted bass) and Coosa Bass. This last species is rare in Kentucky, but good populations do exist in Martin's Fork Lake and in several streams in Eastern Kentucky.

A predominately Southern fish, the Coosa bass is found in Georgia, Alabama and the Upper Cumberland River system in Kentucky, which represents the northernmost part of this fish's range.

Kentucky bass and smallmouth bass are fairly widely distributed in Kentucky. The smallmouth seems to be expanding its range. Within the last couple of years, good sized smallmouths have been taken from Kentucky Lake, where they were rare if non-existent just a few years before. In Central and Western Kentucky, the smallmouth is fairly common in streams.

The rock bass (also called the goggle-eye or redeye) is another "bass" that is actually a member of the extensive sunfish family. Rock bass prefer (naturally enough) rocks and is most abundant in streams with bedrock or boulder bottoms.

Kentucky's other family of basses are members of the sea bass family, which includes such ocean-dwelling species as the grouper. Inland, this family is represented by the native white bass and yellow bass. Most fishermen are familiar with the white bass, but the yellow bass, common primarily in Western Kentucky, is less well known.

This species looks similar to the white bass, except it doesn't get as large and has a yellowish cast to it. Although it seldom weighs over a pound, many folks prefer the yellow bass to the white bass as an eatin' fish. Yellow bass may be caught using the same tackle and techniques that work on white bass, so many anglers probably aren't aware that the yellow bass they're catching aren't small white bass.

The striped bass (or rockfish) is also a member of the sea bass family. Originally a salt-water species, the "striper" has been introduced into several Kentucky lakes, but seems to have "taken" successfully only at Lake Cumberland.

Our latest bass is a cross between the white bass and the striped bass. The fish has been stocked in Herrington and Barren lakes to see if it is survival rate is better than the purebred striped bass. Results, particularly at Herrington, so far seem encouraging.

This hybrid grows significantly larger than the white bass. The current world's record is 20 pounds, 6 ounces, but no one knows how large this newly-introduced hybrid will get.

It looks like, with this many different bass in Kentucky, a fisherman should be able to find at least one species willing to cooperate with his angling efforts. So the next time the largemouth in your favorite lake seem to have a collective case of lockjaw, remember that there are other fish in the sea—or more properly, other bass in the lake.

Miss Akers-Mr. Yates Exchange Vows

Miss Donna Akers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Akers, of McDowell, and Mr. Jimmy Yates, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Yates, of Grethel, were united in marriage at 2 p.m., June 2, in a lawn wedding at the home of the bride's parents. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Hershel "Jimmy" Hall.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white nylon organza and lace over satin. Venise lace trimmed the bodice, sleeves and neckline. The A-line skirt had an attached full length chapel train, and a pillbox-style cap held her lace-edged cathedral veil. She carried a bouquet of white and lavender roses and lilac carnations with lilac streamers.

Miss Pamela Akers, of Huntington, Indiana, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Ula L. Hensley, of Huntington, Indiana; Melissa Dye, of Price, and Shelia Yates, of Grethel. The train was carried by Jennifer Akers, of Grethel, and the flower girl was Miranda Looney, of Pikeville.

Mr. Rodney Frasure, of Galveston, served as best man. Ushers for the ceremony were Edward Akers, of McDowell; Matthew Dye, of Price, and Carson Akers, of Grethel. Ringbearer was Jeffrey F. Case, of McDowell.

Music was provided by Judy Looney, of Pikeville, and vocal selections were provided by Tanya Shelton and Lori Hamilton, both of McDowell. Mrs. Janie Tackett attended the guest register.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony. The three-tiered wedding cake was made by Mrs. Shirleen Elliott, aunt of the bride. Two heart-shaped cakes were made by Mrs. Virgie Yates, mother of the groom.

Pike Co. Festival Of The Masters Set July 4-8

Ricky Skaggs will headline a slate of talent which will include the best-known Bluegrass performers in the nation during the Festival of the Masters, set for July 4-8 near Pikeville.

Thought to be the largest festival of its type ever held, elaborate preparations have been made to accommodate the thousands of music fans expected as well as the extensive lineup of performers. Hundreds of electrical hookups are available along with unlimited camping in the rough, and a complex of buildings has been erected to house concessions, security, and other functions.

Skaggs, the Country Music Association's Male Vocalist of the Year for 1983, and a native of Lawrence county, played most of his musical career in Bluegrass and traditional mountain music, although his fame as a solo performer has come more recently with his entry into the country-western field. His appearance at Pikeville represents the only time this year that he will perform as part of a Bluegrass festival. Skaggs will play Friday, July 6. (Joining Skaggs will be The Whites, another outstanding group which, although born into the Bluegrass tradition, has also "crossed over" into the country field.)

Bluegrass legends such as Bill Monroe and the Bluegrass Boys and Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys are scheduled as well along with a list of performers that reads like a Who's Who in Bluegrass Music—groups like Larry Sparks and the Lonesome Ramblers, The Country Gentlemen, J. D. Crowe and the New South, The Osborne Brothers, The Goins Brothers, James Monroe and the Midnight Ramblers, Dave Evans and River Bend.

Other groups include Joe Stone and the Stone Valley Boys, The New Coon Creek Girls, Boys from Indiana, The Johnson Mountain Boys, The Virginia Squires, The Sally Mountain Show, Wood Strings, Summer Wages, Redwing, The Gum Branch Heartbreakers, Coal Town Grass, The Payroll Boys and others.

In Floyd county, tickets are available through WDOC Radio. Further information may be obtained by calling WDOC.

In loving memory of Henry Boyd, who passed away nine years ago, June 30, 1975.

You have been gone nine years now, and your memories still linger in our home so very much. I often sit in the morning and think about you so much and wonder if you were still here how proud you would be of your children and our home.

Our children can't understand why God took you from them at that time in their life. We all still miss you so very much.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my Dad on Father's Day.

My dad, Hampton F. Mullins, who passed away 30 years ago on March 12, 1954.

My dad did not profess to be religious in this land, But to those in need as best he could he'd give a helping hand, Though many years of digging coal down in the dark domain had left him stooped and pale and breathing was a pain.

I'm not the one to say to whom the medals all should go, But if I were, to him I'd give the biggest one I know.

Because he loved his family and tried so hard to give The bare necessities of life so that we could live.

Your Daughter,
BESSIE MULLINS WOODS

Agriculture Department Assesses Aid Given During Spring Flooding

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture provided free meals for more than 10,000 persons who were left homeless during the May flooding in Eastern Kentucky.

"Although all the figures are not in, we know we fed about 10,700 Kentuckians a day for five days following the flood," said Kentucky Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell. "Our preliminary reports show we provided about 60,000 pounds of frozen and canned food from one distributor for the Red Cross mass feeding centers in several Eastern Kentucky counties. We haven't received reports from schools in the area which sent some of their USDA commodity food allotments into the feeding centers, so the final number of pounds of food could be considerably larger."

Centers were open in the counties to meet the emergency needs of the residents. Centers operated in Breathitt and Magoffin counties for only a few days. In Floyd, Pike and Martin counties, feeding centers remained open for nearly a week.

"At that time, many people were worried about their families, their homes and literally where their next meal would come from," Boswell said. "We feel the Department of Agriculture provided some relief to the homeless families with three nutritious meals each day."

In addition to providing food for the families displaced by the flood, the Department of Agriculture sent six staff members to Eastern Kentucky to help DES with damage claims. The six worked about 10 days in Martin, Johnson and Floyd counties verifying claims made through the Individual and Family Grant Program.

The Agriculture Department employees inspected 437 flood sites in the counties to verify the damage claims.

Young Performers Featured At Jenny Wiley Theatre

During Jenny Wiley Theatre's 20-year history young people often have been used in productions over the years. For Showtime '84, the 20th anniversary season, a number of young performers are featured both in Fiddler on the Roof, which opened June 23, and Annie, which opens July 7.

Fiddler on the Roof, a story of love, family and tradition set in Tsarist Russia, features five young people as members of the various families.

Matthew Kazee, 10-year-old son of Bari and D.B. Kazee, of Paintsville, plays Reuven, the son of Avram the bookseller. Bryan Calhoun, also 10, son of Bill and Peggy Calhoun, also of Paintsville, is seen as Aaron, the son of Meir and Shandel. Also featured is Jesse Jones, a 12-year-old from Paintsville, who will play Chaim, the son of Mordcha, the innkeeper.

Sabrina West, who was seen as Annie this year, is featured as Sphrintze, the daughter of Tevye and Golde. Misty Daniels, also seen in last year's production of Annie, is playing Bielke, another of Tevye's daughters.

The two girls will be returning in this year's production of "Annie." Sabrina will recreate her role of Annie, while Misty, seen last year as July, will play the orphan Pepper.

Other orphans returning for a second year are Marmanda Horn as Molly, and Malisha Ratliff as Tessie.

Three new girls are included in the orphan ranks this year. Amy Grigsby will be making her stage debut as Kate. She is the nine year old daughter of Bill and Janet Grigsby, of Hindman.

Joy De'Shea Bush will play July in "Annie." Joy has been to Vogue Modeling Agency, Lexington, and has been in church plays and in children's theatre at Prestonsburg Community College. She is in the fifth grade and comes from Betsy Layne.

Angela Coleman rounds out the "Annie" orphan cast, performing the role of Duffy. She is 11 years old and the daughter of Johnny and Shirley Coleman, of Elkhorn City.

"Using young people in our shows is always a joy," said Keith Stevens, managing director. "We've never been disappointed with them—they do a truly splendid job for us."

The Jenny Wiley Theatre opens its second show of the summer today (Wednesday) with "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," a modern retelling of the Bible story.

"This show is fantastic! It tells the story of Joseph and his coat of many colors entirely in music. There's virtually no spoken dialogue. And for people who love musicals—this is the show for them," said Stevens.

The show follows the exploits of Joseph as he travels through Canaan and Egypt. From being sold to a slave trader to being tempted by Potiphar's wife, Joseph endures trials and tribulations before he finally finds riches and reunites with his brothers.

"Each year the Jenny Wiley Theatre tries to bring in one show never before seen in Eastern Kentucky," said the director. "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat recently passed through the Lexington area; now, people in this area can see it at a great bargain price."

Some Floyd Residents May Lose Supply of Gas Early Next Month

Less than two weeks ahead, and residents of the East Point-Little Paint section of the county may be without gas.

For them, as well as some 700 other consumers who live in neighboring Johnson county, buy their gas from the Johnson County Gas Co., and that company's supplier of gas has announced it will cut off further gas because of non-payment of bills for gas supplied in the past.

The cut-off date set by Columbia Transmission Corp., the wholesale supplier of the gas which the Johnson County Gas Co. in turn sells to its customers, is July 8.

Besides, Johnson County Gas has been placed in receivership.

No negotiations have been scheduled to extend the cut-off deadline, according to Jo Ellen Diehl, an attorney for Columbia.

She said Johnson County Gas failed to live up to commitments to build its own service lines before its transportation agreement with Columbia lapses.

"I don't know where they'll go from here," she said. "We've carried them through the winter, and they've done nothing to improve the situation."

Columbia's request that Johnson County Gas be placed in receivership because of about $350,000 in past due bills was granted last Wednesday by Johnson Circuit Judge James A. Knight.

That followed a decision Tuesday by the state Public Service Commission to deny an application for sale of the company by Danny Preston, of Paintsville, to Jack K. Daniel, of Lexington.

PSC spokeswoman Constance Parrish said the proposed sale was rejected because the commission could not determine that Daniel's Jupiter Gas Co. had the financial and managerial ability to manage the gas company or pay off its debts.

Daniel said he would fight both the PSC decision and the court-ordered receivership "bitterly and with great force."

Daniel apparently purchased all outstanding stock in Johnson County Gas from Preston and his wife, Barbara, on Jan. 10.

The PSC declared that the Prestons were the company's "lawful owners," however.

Judge Knight ordered former Paintsville Utilities Superintendent Sidney Garland to take complete control of Johnson County Gas, saying the company was "unable to meet its matured and maturing financial obligations."

Besides the Floyd county communities served, Johnson County Gas services customers in Van Lear, West Van Lear and in Johnson county.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Jonas Hamilton would like to express thanks to the many people who helped in any way during his funeral. We appreciate all the flowers, food, and words of comfort. We would also like to issue special thanks to the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient services, and to all the ministers of the Old Regular Baptist churches who participated in the funeral services.

A 'First' for Governor's Mansion

Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Lee Stephens, of Dwale, are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sandra Marita, to Mr. Larry Lee Schuster, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lee Schuster, of the Abbott Road. The wedding will be solemnized at 1 p.m. Saturday, July 14, at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, in Prestonsburg. The gracious custom of open church wedding will be observed. A reception in the annex of the church will immediately follow the ceremony. The couple will then reside near Fort Campbell, Ky.

Lessard Awarded Scholastic Honors

Robert Patrick Lessard, junior at Governor Dummer Academy in Byfield, Mass., has been awarded the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Medal as "the junior who has been outstanding in the study of mathematics and science," and the Edmund Coffin Colman Scholarship as "an undergraduate who has shown proficiency in the study of languages."

Lessard, who is an honors student, has achieved high honor grades in Physics II, advanced chemistry, and pre-calculus. In addition to excellence in scholastic endeavors, he is a varsity athlete in wrestling and baseball and a junior varsity soccer player.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Patrick Lessard, of Ridge Road, New Durham, New Hampshire, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Hughes, of Prestonsburg.

The Governor's Mansion, located high on a bluff over the Kentucky River in Frankfort, has been, over its 70-year history, the site of many a notable event, and on June 16 the stately old mansion again was witness to history—the first wedding of a governor's child ever held there.

The mansion and spacious grounds were the setting for the wedding ceremony of Mary Diane Spalding, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Leo Spalding, of New Haven, Ky., and the late Mr. Spalding, and Stephen Louis Collins, son of Governor Martha Layne Collins and Dr. Bill Collins.

The only other wedding held there (in 1933) was that of Suzanne Shackelford, who was a descendant of Governor Magoffin and Governor Shelby and whose father was a close friend of then-Governor Ruby Lagoon.

There were a number of wedding receptions at the executive mansion for children of governors, including the daughter of Governor Simeon Willis (Sally and Henry Meigs), the daughter of Governor Lawrence Wetherby (Barbara and George Perry), and the son of Governor Julian Carroll (Kenny Carroll and Jenny Triplett), but the June 16 double-ring ceremony was a first.

Jury Majority Votes Damages To 4 in Wreck

A Floyd circuit court jury deliberated all day Friday before nine members of the 12-member panel agreed on the conflicting claims of two drivers involved in a 1982 auto wreck.

The majority decided that Ellis Castle, Jr., 49, of Auxier, was totally to blame for the head-on collision between his car and one driven by Leonard Stephenson, Jr., 25, on the Mountain Parkway late one rainy night.

After deciding the question of responsibility, the jury awarded damages to a passenger in Castle's car, Johnny Collins, 37, of Hueysville, and to the three occupants in the other automobile—Stephenson, Robin Frasure, 23, of Langley, owner of the car, and Lloyd Keith Hall, 24, of Prestonsburg.

Both drivers claimed the other had crossed the centerline just before the collision and claims were made on both sides that the others had been drinking. Both drivers denied they had crossed the centerline or were drunk.

Barbara Clark, a nurse in the emergency room at Highlands Regional Medical Center, where the accident victims were taken for treatment, testified she had smelled alcohol on Castle and Collins, that their speech was blurred and loud and they were hard to manage. Geneva Cox, an admissions clerk, said she had difficulty getting information from Castle and thought he was drunk.

Pikeville attorney James B. Todd, representing Castle, noted that beer was found in both wrecked vehicles and suggested that the three younger people were drunk and Stephenson "driving recklessly" at the time of the accident.

The lawyer made much of a state trooper's report that the Dodge Colt in which the younger people were riding was on the yellow line after the collision and Castle's Cadillac three feet from the line. Especially since the lighter car was presumably knocked back by the impact, it appeared that Stephenson was at fault, he argued.

Three days of testimony, including the reading of lengthy depositions from doctors, was offered in the case, which went to the jury Friday morning together with 14 separate instructions from the judge.

Stephenson, who suffered hip, liver and spleen damage, was awarded $83,657, including $51,157 for medical expenses. Frasure was awarded $15,242, Hall $10,261 and Collins $30,551.

Disaster Teams Extend Hours

Because of a heavy response here, the disaster assistance teams aiding flood victims will spend two days a week in Floyd county instead of one. Beginning next week, the teams will be at the Dept. for Social Insurance office on North Lake Drive on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The phone number there is 886-3871.

Available will be application forms for low-interest Small Business Administration loans to homeowners, renters and merchants, as well as individual and family grants for those who have not received help from other sources. The four cars you should try before you buy a Peugeot

You know their names: Audi. BMW. Saab. Volvo. But do you know how they compare against a Peugeot?

How many of them put every single car through a complete road test at the factory before it can be shipped to America?

How many of them have 4-wheel independent suspensions? Which has the most comfortable seats? Which, of all five cars, has the smoothest ride? Before you make up your mind, go try those other cars. Then come see us.

You'll discover that Peugeot is not only superbly well made... but is perhaps the most comfortable car in the world today.

Floyd System Among Twenty To Take Look at the Results

Representatives of the Floyd county school system will take part in a conference this week in which those participants in the Kentucky Department of Education's School Effectiveness Project will review their progress and share their successes.

Twenty school districts involved in the improvement program will participate in the Instructional Leadership Conference at the Hilton Inn in Lexington, tomorrow (Thursday) and Friday.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald said the aim of the project is to help selected local school districts solve problems that have resulted in low test scores and to bring about lasting improvement in those schools.

The first results from the School Effectiveness Project should be available within a few months, said Kay Anne Wilborn, director of the department's Division of School Improvement.

Several participating districts have submitted initial reports that show improvement in test scores, and they credit the project for their improvement, she said.

The 21 districts taking part in the School Effectiveness Project volunteered from a group of districts designated as eligible on the basis of low levels of academic achievement and unfavorable economic factors.

Ten districts joined the project in February, 1983, and 11 more, including Floyd county, were added later.

During each district's first year, a detailed evaluation was made of its curriculum, the time actually spent on learning, the ways of rewarding academic achievement and the atmosphere for learning set by the district's leadership.

Teams from the Department of Education spent several weeks in each district, conducting surveys and interviewing teachers, administrators, students and parents. Reports of their findings assessed the effectiveness of each district and listed its strengths and weaknesses.

Each district then formed a committee of teachers, administrators and parents to write a School Effectiveness Plan, which was submitted to the Department of Education for approval.

Participating districts were eligible for up to $20,000 in federal funds allocated by the department to implement their improvement plans. Technical assistance has been provided by the Division of School Improvement.

The 10 school systems that joined the project in its first year are the Jackson, Lawrence, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Menifee and Whitley county districts and the Providence, Richmond and Covington independent districts.

Those that joined last year and will be implementing their improvement plans during the coming year are, in addition to Floyd, Breathitt, Casey, Clinton, Harlan, Knott, Leslie, McCreary, Rockcastle and Spencer county districts and the Pineville Independent School district.

SPLINTING TEETH

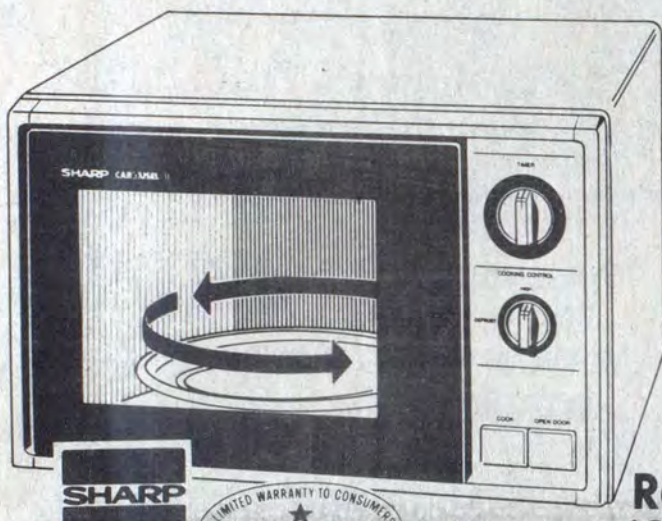

Q. When are splints used for teeth?

A. Although teeth are often saved by periodontal therapy, they may not be strong enough to stand alone and function normally because of earlier bone loss from periodontal disease.

Such teeth may need temporary support. Splinting provides this by actually attaching weak teeth to each other to form a stronger dental unit. The splint can be removed easily enough without causing permanent damage to tooth structure.

Since splinting is often done for front teeth, as well as for those in other portions of the mouth, it may be visible. Sometimes it can be covered with tooth-colored plastic to make it less noticeable. These days splinting is also accomplished by bonding composite resins directly to teeth, without the use of wire.

BREAKFAST CO-HOSTESSES

Mrs. Eva Collins and Mrs. Dacia Woods were co-hostesses Friday morning at the annex of Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church to a breakfast, with members of the Local Church-women and others, as their guests. Mrs. Patsy Evans, accompanied by Miss Karina Lumbatis, sang "One Day at a Time."

Two tables, covered with white cloths, with arrangements of sweetpeas from the flower garden of Mrs. Myrtle Allen, seated the Rev. and Mrs. Steve Hopkins and little daughters, Rachel and Angel; Miss Karina Lumbatis, who is serving this summer as youth director of this church; Robin Childers, coordinator for youth programs at Prestonsburg Community College, and Mesdames Eleanor Robinson, Jane Wallace, Margaret Alley, Myrtle Allen, Goldia Williams, Margaret Collins, Fannie Runnells, Lucy Regan, Ada Meade, Vivian Fraley, Zella Archer, Vera Ford, Judy Hooker, and Opal Dingus.

The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mesdames Opal Dingus, Lucy Regan and Zella Archer, of the host church.

Following the breakfast, Mrs. Steve Hopkins presented the devotional service. The president, Mrs. Eva Collins, presided at the business session. The Loaves and Fishes Food Pantry, sponsored by this group and the Prestonsburg Ministerial Association, was discussed. The pantry, which is located at Archer Park and was damaged by the recent flood, is expected to reopen today (Wednesday), and continue to be open on Wednesday and Friday each week. The Rev. Wymen McGuire has expressed the hope of starting a food pantry at Wayland.

The next meeting is scheduled for August.

Information Omitted In Davis Obituary

In the report of the death of Wm. F. (Ricky) Davis, who lost his life in a diving accident June 9 off the coast of North Carolina, the following items of information were not available at the time. Mr. Davis, who attended Prestonsburg Community College for two years, was the only fireman ever to be named Fireman of the Year and also Fireman of the Month.

The Times regrets the omission of these facts.

Agents Warn Illegal Fireworks Dangerous

For more than 200 years, Americans have been celebrating Independence Day by watching brilliant designs form in the night sky and listening to loud "booms". To most Americans, the 4th of July means picnics, followed by fireworks. There are more fireworks ignited in the United States during the 4th of July holiday period than for any national celebration in the world.

Explosives experts from the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF), the federal agency charged with regulating explosives, caution you to insure that your holiday is a time of fun, not a day of tragedy.

Playing with illegal fireworks is literally like playing with dynamite. Many illegal fireworks (explosive devices) such as M-80s and M-100s are not fireworks, but high explosives, agency officials warn.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission estimates that more than 28,000 fireworks-related injuries have occurred since 1981. Injuries attributed to legal fireworks were generally minor and did not require hospitalization.

Illegal fireworks are another story. Hundreds of people, many of them children, are needlessly killed, injured or maimed for life, because they took a chance with illegal fireworks.

Bank Employee Drowning Victim

A Prestonsburg man drowned Saturday afternoon in a Florida lake, and an attempt to rescue him resulted also in the drowning of his father-in-law. Their bodies were not recovered till early Monday. According to meagre reports received here, Ricky Burga, 22, an employee in the collections department of the First Commonwealth Bank here, was swimming in Lake Howard, near downtown Winter Haven, when his father-in-law, 54-year-old James Cochran, of Winter Haven, saw that the younger man was in trouble. Cochran swam to the rescue, and both submerged. Their bodies were found after prolonged dragging operations. Burga was on vacation at the time of the tragedy.

(Lake Howard is the largest of a chain of about 12 lakes in and around Winter Haven.)

Autopsies were performed Monday, and the body of Burga will be returned to this county for burial, it was announced. He is survived by his wife, Rose Cochran Burga; his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Horne Burga, and a sister, Sharon Burga, both of the Abbott Creek road. His father was the late Robert Burga.

Billing demand shall be taken monthly to be the highest registration of a 15-minute integrating demand meter or indicator, or the highest registration of a thermal type demand meter. The minimum billing demand shall be 5 KW.

MINIMUM CHARGE.

ONCE UPON A TIME IN AMERICA, (R-WARNER BROTHERS) Starring Robert De Niro, James Woods and Tuesday Weld. ★ ★

By J.T. YURKO

Director Sergio Leone is best known for creating the "spaghetti westerns," Italian movies about America's Wild West that usually starred Clint Eastwood. And without doubt, Leone's masterpiece is his brilliantly stylized presentation of "Once Upon a Time in the West," starring Charles Bronson, Jason Robards and Henry Fonda (in his only villainous role).

But for "Once Upon a Time in America," Leone shifts his sights to the lives of American gangsters during the 1920's and '30s. The world of outlaws, six-guns and horses is updated to the underworld of gangsters, bootleg whiskey and machine guns firing from passing cars. We are presented with the lives of four men who grew up in a Jewish ghetto to become rich, powerful, corrupt and remorseless about the way they got there.

If this sounds like the synopsis of "The Godfather" films, it's because the comparison is unavoidable. The accent here, though, is not on one family but on the camaraderie of four characters as they live their turbulent and often brutal lives.

MURDEROUS MINISERIES

— Jason Robards, Martin Sheen, James Earl Jones, Rip Torn, Morgan Freeman, Ruby Dee and Calvin Levels will star in the upcoming four-hour CBS miniseries, "The Atlanta Child Murders."

The program is based on the events surrounding the 1982 conviction of Wayne Williams (Levels) in one of the most baffling and tragic multiple murders ever investigated. After the casting is complete, 144 roles will be filled for the production, now being filmed in Los Angeles.

MORE MURDER — Oscar winners Karl Malden and Eva Marie Saint will star in "Fatal Vision," a four-hour NBC miniseries based on a best-selling novel about a former Green Beret captain convicted of slaying his wife and daughters.

Malden will play the captain's father-in-law, who supported the killer until he became convinced of his guilt, and then launched a powerful drive that finally ended in the man's conviction. Miss

Saint will play Malden's wife.

FOR KIDS — Bob Keeshan will host a new Saturday-morning series to premiere in the fall called "CBS Storybreak." The show will encourage children to read by presenting original adaptations of children's literature, including many contemporary favorites.

"CBS Storybreak" will complement the already-popular "CBS Schoolbreak Specials," which addresses social issues relevant to adolescents.

WAR STORY — Richard Chamberlain will return to television drama starring in "Lost Hero," a four-hour NBC miniseries recently filmed in Europe.

The program is based on the true story of Raoul Wallenberg, the Swedish diplomat who saved more than 100,000 Jews in the final days of World War II. Wallenberg was captured by the Russians after the war and his fate is still unknown.

Correction to Published Report Of Auditor of Public Accounts

In the report of the Auditor of Public Accounts on the examination of the Statement of Assets, Liabilities, and Fund Balance Arising from Cash Transactions of Floyd County as of June 30, 1983, published in The Floyd County Times, May 2, 1984, an error occurred under the section headed "Credit Cards". The last line under recommendations was in error, reading thus: Entertainment, bar and room service bills should be reimbursed. The above should correctly have read as follows: Entertainment, bar and room service bills should not be reimbursed.

Fireworks Display To Highlight July 4th Activities Here

The carnival's coming to town, there'll be special activities for the kids as well as the yearly softball tournament at Archer Park, and the City of Prestonsburg's annual fireworks display is said to be shaping up as the biggest ever. It's all a part of Prestonsburg's July Fourth celebration activities planned for the coming week.

The carnival, featuring the rides, games and concessions of the James H. Drew Shows, will be set up at Archer Park over the weekend (where all Fourth activities are taking place) and will run from Monday, July 2, through the following Saturday.

Beginning Monday, July 1, through the remainder of the week, 16 of the area's top softball teams—eight local and eight from other areas—will compete in the annual Archer Park Softball Tournament. Softball fans will be able to enjoy a full week of both day and night competition.

The Fourth will be "Fun Day" at Archer Park with a full day of special activities including games, swimming, and prize giveaways. Open to children, ages five to 12, a $50 fee will be charged for the special day.

An impressive display of fireworks will climax activities on the Fourth and will begin around 9:30 or 10 p.m. The show is best observed from along the right-of-way of the Mountain Parkway overlooking Archer Park. Spectators are advised to secure a parking place early since the display annually attracts hundreds of vehicles.

Lafferty Appointed Assistant to Head Of Insurance Dept.

Thomas D. Lafferty, Jr., who served for several months as Floyd county clerk until last November, has been appointed principal assistant to state Insurance Commissioner Gil McCarty.

Lafferty worked as county personnel officer in the administration of his uncle, the late Jerry Lafferty, Jr., who appointed him county clerk on the death last February of C. Ollie Robinson. After his defeat by Carla Boyd in November, Lafferty worked briefly for the Hatton-Allen insurance agency here.

His appointment to the insurance commissioner's office became effective May 1, said Barbara Hinds, of the insurance department's administrative services division.

INJURED IN FALL

Mrs. Regina Mayo, formerly of Prestonsburg, who is a patient at a nursing home in Chillicothe, Ohio, suffered a dislocated shoulder in a fall recently, but is now showing some improvement. Mrs. Mayo, who for several years served as a nurse with the Floyd County Health Department, moved from her home here a few years ago, to be near her daughter and son-in-law, Mary Katherine and Bill Damron, of Kingsport, Ohio, and their family, who visit her regularly.

The English walnut tree originated in Southeastern Europe and China.

Secession Vote May Decide Plea Of Bear Hollow

If the residents of Bear Hollow—which straddles the Floyd-Johnson line near East Point—succeed in getting the question of their secession put on the ballot, it will be up to voters in the whole county to decide the matter.

In a letter to Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. said this week that, if the names on a petition recently presented to the fiscal court by Bear Hollow farmer Bill Arms represent at least half the voters there, the secession question should be put on the November ballot.

A more technical description of the area proposed to be split off from Floyd county would also need to be provided, the county attorney said.

Arms and some of his neighbors argue that, because their hollow falls within the jurisdiction of two counties, it receives proper attention from neither. Earlier this month, they asked Floyd fiscal court to let them become a part of Johnson county.

State law requires that such a question be put to all Floyd voters, Turner said in his letter to Stumbo. It was not immediately clear what say, if any, the fiscal court or voters in Johnson county might have in the matter.

Seriously Injured In Traffic Mishap

Miss Sally Ann Goebel was seriously injured when she was struck by a truck in New Jersey, last Thursday. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Goebel, Jr., of Prestonsburg, are with her, there, where she is hospitalized.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of Henry W. Cook, want to express our sincere thanks to our many relatives and friends who have helped us during the loss of our beloved husband, father and grandfather. The beautiful flowers, the delicious food, the comforting visits, the beautiful cards and thoughtful acts of love have meant more to us than we can say in a few simple words.

We extend a special thanks to the Rev. John Woods for the beautiful service he conducted. A special thank-you goes to the Floyd Funeral Home for all of their thoughtfulness during our time of loss. We also want to thank the Andy Blanton Chapter No. 18, Disabled American Veterans, of Auxier, for posting of the Colors.

VAN LEAR HOLDS PAINTSVILLE TO TIE

The Van Lear Bank Mules and the Paintsville Tigers fought to a 6-6 tie at Van Lear Saturday in a game scheduled to decide the best team on the Big Sandy river. Paintsville's record included victories over Louisa, which held a win over Catlettsburg and Jenkins, while Van Lear had defeated Pikeville and Prestonsburg.

Van Lear scored early in the game on a short end run, Price carrying the ball. Paintsville's touchdown came as a result of a covered fumble behind the Van Lear goal line.

Van Lear defeated Prestonsburg here, 18 to 6. The downriver team's victory was none too impressive at that. Paintsville defeated Louisa, 7-6.

Now Van Lear ties Paintsville. Wherefore, why label Prestonsburg's team as such a weak sister?

Lake Coal Rate Hearing Before Commission On

Will Fight Hard

However, the case in support of the reduction will be presented not only from the angle of the southern fields, virtually barred by the existing rates from competition for a $60,000,000 business annually, but from that of the consuming public in the north-west and affected business and industry in the south.

Among those who are to appear in Washington in behalf of the rates are F. M. Whittaker, of Richmond, vice president of the Chesapeake and Ohio; B. W. Herman, of Norfolk, vice president of the Norfolk and Western, and Mr. Smith, of Louisville, vice president of the Louisville and Nashville.

Railroad counsel will include W. S. Bronson, Chesapeake and Ohio; Mr. Younger, of the Norfolk and Western, and W. A. Northcutt, of the Louisville and Nashville.

State Takes Hand

The state of West Virginia will be represented by Attorney General H. B. Lee, while Fred M. Livezey, of Huntington, will appear in behalf of the West Virginia Public Service Commission. It was said Saturday that it was also hoped that Governor Howard

M. Gore would find it possible to be in Washington for the beginning of the hearing, at least.

Mont Z. White, president of the state senate, E. M. Keathley, leader of the house of delegates, Charles M. Gohen, president of the First Huntington National Bank, Clarence McD. England, of Huntington and Logan, and others, will be offered as witnesses by the state of West Virginia. Mr. Gohen will represent the Huntington Chamber of Commerce.

The Kentucky Railroad Commission and the attorney general of Kentucky will represent this state in the proceedings. Virginia and Tennessee will be represented by the railroad commissions and public service commissions and by their chambers of commerce. Coal operators are going to mass from all points in the affected fields.

State Representatives

The state of Michigan will be represented by the attorney general's office, the Michigan Manufacturers' Association, the Detroit Chamber of Commerce and numerous witnesses from large industrial corporations.

Acting at the direction of the Governor the Wisconsin railroad commission will appear in behalf of that state, together with the Chambers of Commerce of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth.

Railroad commissions from the two Dakotas will be present and retail coal dealers' associations from the various northwestern states.

The governor of Minnesota is to take the witness stand in support of the proposed rates.

Another factor will be a voluntary organization known as the Northwest Lake Coal Consumers, formed for the purpose of battling for the reduced rates.

This organization will be represented by Charles E. Elmquist, of St. Paul, as counsel.

Attorneys for the coal operators are Norman, Quirk and Graham, of Washington and Louisville, and E. L. Greever, of Greever and Gillispie, of Tazewell, Va.

It is expected that the hearings in Washington will continue until Thanksgiving. Immediately after the holiday, on November 29, the hearings will be resumed at Minneapolis.

Observes 80th Birthday

Mrs. Beatrice McPeck Hall observed her 80th birthday, May 28, at her home at Teaberry. Present to honor her were six of her 10 children, along with her grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and relatives from Ohio and Michigan. Of the many gifts she received, a rocking chair was her favorite. She also received flowers and cards.

Students Excel in Tests

Our Lady of the Mountains School is setting a precedent in excellence with high scores on state mandated testing.

Scores for the 1983-'84 school year on total battery (selected areas of reading, language, math) follows:

Grade 3, 81%; grade 5, 78%; grade 7, 79%; grade 8, 92%.

The percentiles shown indicate that students in those grades have achieved grade level or above in those subject areas.

Sr. Alma Marie Kraemer, principal of the school, notes that many factors contribute to the excellence of this year's test scores. Among these are a fully accredited school with certified staff; an attitude of Christian caring in a disciplined setting maintained without corporal punishment; the school staying open during most snow days; classes limited to 24 students so teachers can work individually with students.

This year's test scores, Sr. Alma Marie added, are typical of test scores in the past. Even though enrollment has grown dramatically from 54 students in 1979-80 the present total of 120, test scores have remained high.

"A strong sense of pride is felt by all involved," says Joyce Everly, a board member.

Children are accepted from neighboring counties and attendance is facilitated by bus service at minimal cost.

We're glad you asked! John C. Hall Founder Hall Funeral Home IS IT IMPORTANT TO ATTEND A FUNERAL? Yes, it is, and for a variety of reasons. First, it shows you care. Your being there is appreciated by the members of the family. You can help just by offering to help and meaning it. By attending the funeral, you help share the grieving—and grief-shared is grief-diminished. Of course, if you were out of town or incapacitated during the funeral period, your not attending is understandable. In such a case, a telegram, letter or phone call helps the family understand your plight. Visiting the bereaved to offer your assistance and condolences is proper conduct. In fact, many mourners may feel it your obligation to observe this custom out of respect for the family or friendship for the deceased. If you fail to observe these simple social amenities, you may be unintentionally cutting your ties with the family of the bereaved. It behooves you to attend, to visit, to console the bereaved. Talented Floyd Students In Program at Murray

Two Floyd county students are among a special group of academically talented junior high and high school students who will be engaged in diverse studies ranging from computer graphics to human behavior at Murray State University, July 8-14.

Enrolled to participate in the university's second annual Summer Challenge Series are: Beverly Marstin, sophomore, Betsy Layne High, daughter of Ronald and Ellen Marstin; and Michael Rosenberg, freshman, Prestonsburg High, son of John and Jean Rosenberg.

Young scholars from primarily grades eight through 12 will be involved in advanced study in six different subject areas—computer graphics, creative writing, the performing arts, radio and computer electronics, human behavior and cave mapping and exploration.

As they get a preview of college life they will be housed in campus residence halls and will have access to all university recreational facilities.

Pharmacy Footnotes
By HAROLD COOLEY

Drugs covered by a patent are usually available under a single brand name, and the price can often be relatively high. However once the patent runs out, other firms may offer less expensive, generic versions of the same drug. Generics have the same active ingredient, but the fillers, or substances added to make up a capsule, tablet or liquid, can be different. The fillers may affect the way the medication is absorbed by the body. Many generics are probably as good as their brand-name counterparts. However before deciding on a generic, ask your pharmacist whether it is on the Food and Drug Administration's Therapeutic Equivalent list of drugs and whether the savings are substantial.

Our pharmacists at COOLEY APOTHECARY are highly skilled in their field and take great pride in being able to provide you with prescription medications at everyday low prices. First call your doctor and then have him call us. We maintain records for your convenience in obtaining proper credit at income tax time and for insurance purposes throughout the year. Convalescent aids are available in our store for either sale or rental. We are located in the No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4.

HANDY HINT:
Be sure that your pharmacist has a list of your allergic reactions to drugs on file.

Donation to Fund New Lighting

Denise Martin (left), of the Citizens National Bank, Paintsville, and Keith Stevens (right), managing director of the Jenny Wiley Theatre, look on as Denny Dorton (second from left), vice-president of the bank, presents a check to William G. Francis, board president of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association.

The Jenny Wiley Theatre was the recipient of a recent donation from the Citizens National Bank of Paintsville. The money will be used to purchase new lighting equipment for this summer's productions. "The existing system is the original equipment purchased 20 years ago for the amphitheatre. It is obsolete for the professional work now produced here at the theatre," said Keith Stevens, managing director of the theatre.

Lighting designer John Ambrosone explained, "The new lightning system will expand our design capabilities allowing more flexibility, efficiency and versatility. It is portable, easy to maintain and operate, and will last for years." This summer's season includes "Fiddler on the Roof," opening Saturday, June 23, followed by "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," opening June 27. The third show, "Annie," will open July 7, after which all three shows run in repertory.

Tickets for all three shows are available through the Jenny Wiley Theatre Box Office. For ticket information, call between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m., at 886-9274.

Task Force To Study Prison Overcrowding

Governor Martha Layne Collins has announced formation of a special task force to deal with the growing crisis of overcrowding in Kentucky's prisons and jails.

She told a news conference at the Executive Mansion that the task force, which will be appointed shortly, will condense previous reports and studies on Kentucky's penal system into recommendations for immediate action.

At the same news conference, Governor Collins announced that her administration will immediately require that all personal service contracts awarded by the state be based on a competitive process, a move "which no previous Governor has dared" to make.

Concerning the prison crisis, the governor noted that federal court orders limiting prison populations have forced Kentucky to lodge some 700 convicted felons in local jails because state prisons are too full.

In response to that, she said, Jefferson county has already obtained its own court order to limit the number of state prisoners held in its jail and other counties are apt to seek the same relief.

Meanwhile, the state's prison population continues to climb, now reaching 5,300 inmates at prisons designed to hold no more than 4,200 inmates.

"To make matters even worse," Governor Collins said, "is the fact that an independent study recently commissioned by the Corrections Cabinet forecasts that the prison population in Kentucky will double by 1990, just six short years from now."

To meet this crisis, the governor's new task force will submit a plan of major changes in the criminal justice system, in addition to its recommendations for immediate action. The group will also recommend a gubernatorial legislative package for a long-term solution.

"The task force," Governor Collins said, "will represent all elements of the criminal justice system, including the judiciary, police, prosecutors and the adult and juvenile correctional agencies."

In announcing her move to bring all personal services contracts under a competitive procedure, the governor said the secretary of finance will stop processing all pending contracts until it has been certified to the governor's office that all such contracts have been through the competitive process.

Further, she said, "all executive branches, including the Kentucky Turnpike Authority, will be directed to adhere to the filing guidelines and policies of the Legislative Research Commission's Personal Services Contract Review Subcommittee. And each contract must not exceed the LRC's hourly rate schedule."

"If a contractor can't work within the rate schedule," Governor Collins said, "then they can't do business with the state of Kentucky."

Flood Losses For Ky. Power Said $269,000

Damages from May floodwaters to Kentucky Power Company's facilities in eastern Kentucky amounted to some $269,000, but thanks to pre-planning and some long hours by company employees, most electrical service was maintained through the disaster, a company spokesman said last week.

C. Richard Lovegrove, public affairs director for Kentucky Power, said that damages occurred to meters, poles, substations, transformers, and other facilities in all three of the company's operating divisions—Ashland, Hazard and Pikeville, the latter two being hardest hit. He added that all of the damage has been cleaned up.

"Our employees were able to maintain service to most of our customers in flooded areas, and to quickly restore service to those who lost electricity soon after the flood water receded," Lovegrove said. "Several of our employees suffered losses themselves and in many cases continued working to provide service to our customers."

He added that the company recently made a donation of $2,000 to the American Red Cross to be used in flood disaster relief in the area.

Acreage Reports Due Not Later Than July 15

Farmers who have planted corn are reminded that now is the time to report the sizes and uses of their 1984 corn crop, according to J.P. Hill, chairman of the Floyd County ASC Committee. Crop certification is necessary before the farmers can receive deficiency payments, price support loans, and other benefits of the ASC program, as well as establish history for both ASCS and FCIC programs.

Farm program participants are required to report crops and acreages planted, the uses to be made of these crops, and cropland acres to be devoted to the acreage conservation program. Nonparticipants need to certify their crops for future programs. Acreage reports are used to establish bases for the Feed Grain Program, which includes any PIK Program that may be in effect.

To be certain that crop acreages are accurate, farmers may request measurement service from ASCS. For a small fee, a producer can request that his or her planted crops be measured prior to reporting acreages. The fee covers the cost of the farm visit and the measuring of one area.

Acreage reports may be filed Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., at the Floyd County ASCS Office, 105 Court Street. Farmers are encouraged to certify crops well in advance of the July 15 deadline.

A daughter of Mrs. Lora A. Borders, she is a member of Who's Who Among American High School Students and the Beta Club. Her intended major is business administration.

Wells Ready Mix Buys Sixth Concrete Plant

Wells Ready Mix, a West Liberty-based concrete firm, has purchased Pikeville Ready Mix for an undisclosed sum, bringing to six the number of concrete plants owned by Wells in Eastern Kentucky.

Joe Wells, president of the West Liberty firm, said the purchase includes two concrete-mixing plants owned by the Pikeville company—one at Pikeville and the other at Sidney, 20 miles north of Pikeville.

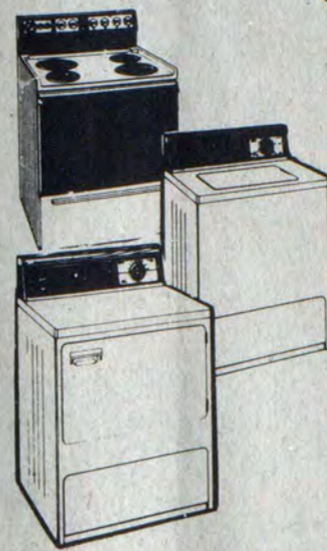

Wells said the purchase doubles the size of his company, which includes plants at West Liberty, Salyersville, Prestonsburg, and at Ulysses in Lawrence county.

The firm, which began expanding last year, now employs 45 workers and operates a large fleet of concrete trucks.

22,000 Seals To Be Killed

On July 2, 1984 a kill of fur seals, ordered by the U.S. Department of Commerce, will begin on a tiny U.S. island called St. Paul, one of the Pribilof Islands in the Bering Sea. The kill will continue until 22,000 seals have been slaughtered.

The Federal Government's involvement in the fur industry is being protested by members of Friends of Animals, Inc., a national non-profit animal protection group. According to Alice Herrington, its president, "phones of U.S. Senators are ringing off the hook, both at their local offices and in Washington. The calls are from their constituents who want the 1984 massacre to be the last."

Herrington said the 1984 kill cannot be stopped since it is forced by a treaty the U.S. holds with Japan, Canada and the USSR, but that the treaty expires in October and is subject to a vote by the U.S. Senate as to its renewal. "Our members and a concerned public demand that this out-of-date treaty not be re-signed," she announced.

The treaty's purpose, according to Herrington, is the "exploitation of seals for fur and profit." It was first initiated in 1911 to stop the Japanese and Canadians from shooting seals in the open waters, called "pelagic sealing" just along the U.S. then-3-mile-limit of the Pribilofs. The treaty brought Japanese and Canadian agreement to cease pelagic sealing in exchange for a percentage of the skins of seals killed on their breeding grounds, islands which belong to the U.S. and Russia.

"In 1911," Ms. Herrington said, "the treaty had some validity since it halted the extinction of the seals. However, in 1984 a massive number of seals are again killed pelagically due to the use of huge nets for fishing, nets which capture and drown marine mammals. The result is once again the near-extinction of the seals."

"The largest pelagic kills of seals," Ms. Herrington described as due to "lost and discarded plastic fishing gear, which Commerce estimates catches and kills about 50,000 seals every year." "Obviously," she added, "since no one has the equipment or resources to sweep the vast oceans of this lethal material, it must be classified as an uncontrollable pelagic kill which then cries out for a halt to the land kill if the seals are to survive."

Opposition to halting the seal kill on land, Herrington said, comes primarily from the Departments of Commerce and State. She described it as an "interesting study in the workings of the bureaucratic mind or whatever the gears are that perpetuate an entity which no longer has any reason to exist."

"The silliest justification the bureaucrats give, one of which offends the commonsense of a sixth grader, is that halting the land kill will result in a faster decline in the seal population." She likened that reason to their statements in the 1960's that the slaughter of 250,000 females, each pregnant and each with a pup which starved to death was done to increase the population.

"Another of the bureaucrat's ploys is that the kill must continue to provide employment for the Americans who live on the Pribilof Islands," she said, "which ignores the fact that these 600 people have been given $39.5 million of our tax dollars since 1971."

The Americans on the Pribilof Islands "are primarily of Russian extraction and culture," Herrington said, "with a touch of Aleut blood since their ancestors had been captured by the Russians on the Aleutian Islands 200 years ago and sent as slaves, to kill seals, when the islands belonged to the Russians."

The U.S. purchased the Pribilofs from the Russians along with the State of Alaska. Miss Herrington added that "these Americans are now fully in the mainstream of American life, complete with college educations and a firm and fast understanding of the stock market which reportedly is swelling rapidly their $39.5 million tax gift."

Herrington charged that "the bureaucrats who defend the fur seal treaty on the grounds that it bars the Japanese from a pelagic kill, refrain from talking about another, more recent treaty under which the U.S. permits the Japanese to kill seals and other marine mammals in the course of fishing for salmon in U.S. waters."

"Double-think, combined with double-talk, is now the State Department's public relations approach," she said. "On one hand, they claim that killing seals in fishing nets isn't pelagic sealing and then they turn around and warn that if the treaty isn't renewed the Japanese will again engage in pelagic sealing."

"That ploy has aroused two official protests from the Japanese Embassy," Ms. Herrington said her organization had just learned. "We had challenged State's warning about the Japanese because it seems unlikely to us that the second largest economy in the world is all that interested in seal fur, particularly in light of the fact that its annual net profit in the U.S. land kill is but $25,000."

"The Japanese Embassy's letter of protest about this U.S. bureaucratic duplicity states that Japanese law forbids its nationals to kill seals," Herrington said, "and ends with the flat statement that 'it is inconceivable that the expiration of the present Convention (fur seal treaty) would automatically lead to the resumption of such harvesting by Japanese nationals.'"

Consideration of the fur seal treaty is now before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, chaired by Charles Percy, of Illinois. Herrington said her group had done an intensive analysis of the reports issued by the National Marine Fisheries Service section of the Commerce Department and submitted the analysis to the Senate Committee.

"The 1910 report is particularly interesting," Ms. Herrington said. "It reveals that despite 74 years of intensive and expensive research, the bureaucrats today are no more knowledgeable about fur seals and the oceans than they were in 1910." She charged the bureaucrats with "giving out false population figures, data which is more than a decade out of date and which they admit, in fine print, is based on very unreliable statistical methods."

"There is no conceivable justification for renewing this treaty to keep Uncle Sam in the fur business, a business which has run at a $5 million a year deficit to the taxpayer since 1970," she concluded. "There is no market for sealskins in the United States and that in Europe is fast disappearing as the people there learn of the brutality involved in the U.S. massacre of seals," she added. "Marine life today is appreciated for its ecological importance, its aesthetic value."

Interest Rates Up. Mortgage pinch coming again.
United News Service
WASHINGTON — A rise in interest rates has brought about speculation that mortgage rates on home loans will also go higher.
Economists predict interest rates will climb steadily through the remainder of the year and could go even higher in 1985.
A spokesman for the housing authority said the decline in housing construction is directly related to the higher interest rates.
