I know of no way to end an animal's life that is merciful, but I view the beheading method as, somehow, more crude, even personal in a way, and so more cruel than a rifle shot fixed at a

Motion To Quash Indictment Fails In Frasure Slaying

A motion to quash an indictment against one of two defendants facing murder charges here was turned down Monday by Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie

The motion, filed by Pikeville attorney Michael Fleet Johnson on behalf of Linda June Wilson, said the indictment naming her as an accomplice of Alvis Randall Frasure in the 1983 shooting of Larry Wilson resulted from a prosecution strategy designed to extract favorable testimony from her. The indictment was a "retaliatory act" stemming from her failure to go along with the plan, the defense lawyer said.

"No charges were levied against her until she refused to cooperate with agents of the Commonwealth," Mrs. Wilson's attorney said.

Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Albert A. Burchett acknowledged that prosecutors "put out feelers" to see if Mrs. Wilson would be willing to testify against her co-defendant but denied there was anything improper about the negotiations.

GROUND WAS BROKEN Saturday paving the way for the start of work on First Commonwealth Bank's new multimillion dollar bank structure here. Located on the former Garfield Place property and adjacent lots on Arnold Avenue, the bank will include five stories (one more than provided for in the original four-story design) and will provide some 70,000 sq. ft. of space. With the addition of the fifth floor, construction and interior finish will total $6.5 million and completion is scheduled for approximately 18 months after beginning of construction. kicked off the "town forums" being conducted simultaneously in 140 places across Kentucky.

Anyone who wanted to got to speak for two minutes on the question, "What do you think schools should do?" Two harried scribes recorded the suggestions on flip-sheets. A poll followed, designed to rank the ideas in order of importance.

The voting system proved so cumbersome, it is doubtful it yielded meaningful results: every concern was so pressing, it seemed it needed to be ranked number one. But, for organizers of Thursday's forums, the fact that people turned out in good numbers was perhaps more eloquent than anything they had to say.

"It's more than we ever dreamed of," said Jean Rosenberg, coordinator of the Floyd meeting as the 315th person signed the register at the door. "Fantastic," said Barbara Gullett, who chaired the meeting. "There were a lot there who have not been involved in the schools in

able evidence that there is concern about the schools.'

The slugfest that some had feared never seemed even remotely likely: a tight format and the solemn introductions by state leaders saw to that. A remark about the cleanliness of Prestonsburg High School was the only one to draw any fire. And, while members of the Board of Education were urged to hire the best-qualified teachers and to account for the money they handle, they came in for no direct

"Back to the basics" was an oftrepeated theme, one speaker arguing that if students do nothing else in the first two grades, they should at least learn to read. Sharon Sammons, a Prestonsburg High School teacher, urged that classes be limited to 15 students in grades 1-3 and that 8th graders be tested in basic skills before being admitted to high school.

Teachers, who appeared wellrepresented at the meeting, argued for better pay, help with clerical duties, and a daily planning session. There was some support for testing of teachers. And Clem Martin, a former principal, drew applause with his argument that the school system should be better financed. "No industry would hold back if they needed a $300,000 piece of machinery," he said, "but many of our best teachers have left because the system in inadequately funded.'

Thursday's audience gave no clear signs of whether legislators in 1986 will find grassroots support for a tax increase for education. Occupational, coal severance and luxury taxes were all mentioned as possible sources of revenue. But, when the question of a tax came to a vote, most put it at the bottom of their list of priorities.

3500 Students Hear Warning Against Drugs

Like a street-corner preacher, former Gov. Julian Carroll brought a message of abstinence and ambition last week to 3500 or more Floyd junior high and high school students. Appearing as chairman of the Governor's Task Force on Drugs, Carroll urged students packed into the bleachers in the Prestonsburg High School gymnasium Friday to turn their backs on alcohol and drugs and to resolve to "be somebody. In an hour-long performance that was part pep rally, part revival, Carroll drew repeatedly on his own experience, sketching a dogged rise from poverty to the state's highest elective post and pointing by contrast to various family members who lost their way in a fog of alcoholism or drug-induced insanity. Irritated at one point by a group of restless students, the former governor faced them down, lampooning them as assassins' bullets on Oct. 31. For about two dozen Indians and others who gathered at Prestonsburg Community College for a "peace seminar" on Sunday afternoon, it was an opportunity to mourn the slain leader and to repair some of the damage done to India's image abroad by the violence that followed the assassination.

The seminar was organized by Dr. Gan Maddiwar, Martin surgeon and president of the eastern Kentucky chapter of the Association of Indians in America, who urged participants to "extend (their) arms to the Sikhs," the minority sect from which Mrs. Gandhi's killers were drawn, to condemn the violence visited on them by some members of India's Hindu majority, and to urge the Indian government to compensate the Sikhs for their losses.

A principal speaker at the meeting was Kewal Singh, 69, a retired diplomat who is currently visiting professor of political science at the University of Kentucky. A Sikh and a native of the Punjab, the Indian state where the Sikhs originated, Singh does not wear the beard or turban usually associated with members of the sect and he played down antagonism between Sikhs and Hindus, noting that the two groups are generally on friendly terms and that intermarriage between them is not uncommon.

Singh was India's ambassador to the United States from 1976 until his retirement the following year. He was earlier ambassador to West Germany and the Soviet Union. Noting that the Third World includes few democracies, he underscored the fact that India is the world's largest democracy and shares with the U.S. common values like concern for human rights and respect for democratic processes

Allen Says He Is a Candidate

There will be a tussle next May for the office of Floyd judge-executive. That it will be at least a two-way race appears certain since the announcement Monday by Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen that he will be a candidate for the office. While he has made no official announcement, incumbent John M. Stumbo has left no doubt he intends to run for another term. In announcing his candidacy, Allen said he would offer the "strong leadership" needed if the county is to compete successfully for federal and state funds. He also said he is "dismayed and disappointed with the negative publicity" the county has received in recent years and promised "tightfisted management that accounts for every dollar" if he is elected to head the county administra-

Teaching of Safety, Between-Season Work Of Ky. Water Control

Officers of the Kentucky Water Patrol are greeting the arrival of colder weather with the beginning of their winter boating-education activities throughout the state.

As recreational boating activity in Kentucky decreases, Water Patrol Officers will begin "indoor" educational work, explained Natural Resources Commissioner Boyce Wells.

"This winter, about one-half of the Water Patrol personnel will be involved in teaching and educational programs. They will be teaching courses on hypothermia, cold-water 'near' drowning, boating laws and a special eight hour better-boating course," Wells said.

These educational activities will involve a wide segment of Kentuckians, explained Joseph Kelly, Water Patrol Director. "Our courses will be taught to groups ranging from elementary school students to the collegiate level.

Kelly said that Water Patrol Officers will be available to speak to civic and community groups. "In addition to our more structured 'course,' we will also be showing various slide and film presentations on boating laws and boating safety," he said.

State Repays Federal Loans

Governor Martha Layne Collins announced last Friday that Kentucky has completely repaid its Unemployment Insurance loans from the federal government, an action that will save the state's employers $34 million in taxes for 1984.

Interest-free funds totalling $78.9 million were borrowed in 1981 and 1982 to meet the claims under the Unemployment Insurance program. Originally, the state expected to be able to pay back about half the loan and employers would have had to make up the difference through reduced tax credits.

"The target date for repayment of the loan was August, 1985, but revenues are greater than we expected so we have chosen to pay the loan in full," said Governor Collins. "This decision frees up money the employers could use to create more jobs which will help us achieve our economic development goals.

The Governor cited several reasons for the growth in the state's Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund.

"In 1982 the legislature increased the tax for employers, tightened benefit requirements and put a cap on weekly benefits. Now that more Kentuckians are working, employers are paying more into the trust fund. Meanwhile, there has been a drop in the amount we are paying in benefits because the number of claims is down," she said.

The governor noted that the money used to repay the loans comes from a tax on employers and is limited by law for use only in paying benefit claims. It could not be used for other state expenditures.

Human Resources Secretary Al Austin said about 63,000 employers contribute to the trust fund.

This savings will translate into about $42 for every worker who is covered by unemployment insurance," he said. "For large employers, it could have a ripple effect and lead to more jobs."

Kentucky began borrowing money to pay benefit claims in February 1981 when the trust fund was depleted. In April 1982 the federal government began charging 10 percent interest on funds borrowed by states to pay their unemployment insurance benefit claims. Last June the state made the final payment on a $194 million interest-

"The payment we have just made brings to $273 million the amount the state has repaid from the trust fund," Austin said. "Employers have repaid an additional $16.7 million through reductions in 1983 tax credits.

The state still owes about $6.6 million in interest on the $194 million, which will be paid in installments over the next four years, Austin said.

What the People Will Want

Floyd county's interest in the improvement of education runs deeper than personal ambitions or political animosities. This was proved to be so at the forum held last Friday night at Allen Central High School.

The needs of children and young people were given their deserved No. 1 priority.

But that was only the first stirrings of the "grassroots." Ultimately and inevitably, the people of this state will be asked to offer more than mere lip service to the cause of education. They will be asked to pay the bill through higher taxes.

And that poses a problem for county school administrations all across Kentucky. They will be required to provide convincing proof to these taxpayers that they will not be financing a "school for politics"; that favoritism and nepotism will be abolished: that teachers will be hired for what they are, not for who they are, and that all will get down to the plain and urgent business of educating young citizens.

We predict that when, and if, that is done, the people will support this move for improved education all the way.

flooring, which will remain the property of the Division of Highways.

Overall cost of the project, which is a part of the state's six-year construction plan, is placed at $2,302,132, with $490,000 of that total being the cost of right-ofway acquisition.

A contract for $82,211 was also awarded the East Kentucky Paving Corp., of Grayson, for paving 2.2 miles of roads in the county, a part of the state's resurfacing program for this year.

And as these projects neared the construction stage hope rose for another and larger-the Prestonsburg-Paintsville gap in US 23. The Department of Highways has advertised for professional engineering services to do a corridor location study, design engineering and related work on that part of the highway

The advertisement for engineering work indicates that the new four-lane link between the two county-seats may be on the west side of the Big Sandy, possibly following the old US 23 route up Little Paint Creek. The advertisement specifies U.S. 23 "from its intersection with KY 114, west of Prestonsburg, to the intersection of US 460 and KY 40, near Staffordsville," in Johnson county.

Also anticipated in the project is a connection of the proposed US 23 with a rebuilt KY 3 into Martin county. The advertisement asks for plans "on KY 3, beginning at proposed US 23 as determined by the study to its intersection with the existing US 23 at Auxier

Observers say this means that planners have in mind an extension of KY 3 from the point where it now connects with the present US 23, across the Big Sandy and on to connect with the "proposed" US 23 on Little Paint Creek.

In any event, the day when construction will begin is some distance aheadas much as five yars, perhaps. Design work may require as much as three years and acquisition of right-of-way two years more.

The Prestonsburg Job Corps Center will be formally dedicated to the memory of the late Congressman Carl D. Perkins at a ceremony next Wednesday, Kermit Berry, director of the facility, announced this week.

Berry said Assistant U.S. Secretary of Labor Frank Casillas will be guestspeaker for the occasion, which is set for 10 a.m., Nov. 28. Also on hand will be Herbert Watkins, a vice-president of the Singer Company, which manages the Job Corps Center under contract with the U.S. Department of Labor, he said

A drill team from the Earl C. Clements Job Corps Center in Morganfield is scheduled to participate in the dedication ceremony, along with the Prestonsburg High School band.

Says Tickey in Mainstream

I read with interest the article last week about the voting patterns in Floyd county. The emphasis and even bewilderment, seemingly, was placed on why little Tickey precinct usually votes

I wish not to be misunderstood as to where I am coming from. I am a registered, conservative Republican but often vote for Democratic candidates. To me, the larger question that should be addressed is why Floyd county always votes 60-80% Democratic, not withstanding the caliber of their candidates; e.g., when the nation and Kentucky at large voted by a landslide for Reagan, our county voted 2-1 contrary to the judgment of the masses.

Does it mean that we as voters are not as sophisticated as the remainder of the electorate in Kentucky and the nation? Or perhaps does it mean that Kentucky, 2-1 Democratic, yet voted 60% Republican is unwise and doesn't know any better? In short, are we outside the mainstream, are we as voters in Floyd county a fair representative sampling of the true mood in Kentucky and America?

It has been said, and I think most seasoned political observers would readily agree, that Cuba's Castro could have carried the vote in Floyd countyshould he have been on the straight Democratic ticket—over Reagan, Does this strange phenomenon, if true, say anything about our wisdom and judgment as a people? In the final analysis, we might usefully ponder the blind, one-sided voting habits of our county as a whole more so than little Tickey. Because Tickey is a "swing precinct," it is a representative sampling of true, middle America. Tickey voters-like the remainder of Kentucky-will vote for either political party, depending on the candidate. Neither the Republican or Democratic parties can count the votes at Tickey before the polls are closed. This is good and healthy. A two party system would be a credit to our intelligence. Then we could cock our head and be like NBC 'proud as a peacock' that we Floyd county also are a true sampling of the wishes, hopes and desires of the people at large. Unfortunately our county is more of an island as it relates to Kentucky than Tickey is as it relates to Floyd county.

Praises For HRMC

On Sunday, November 11, at almost 8:30 a.m. I brought my mother-in-law, Myrtle Allen, to the emergency room of Highlands Regional Medical Center for treatment of a badly cut finger which had been bleeding profusely. I entered the hospital with a great deal of apprehension, concerned that I would be stopped to fill out those 'necessary forms' before my motherin-law would be treated. But that's not what happened at all! The clerk on duty told me to immediately take my patient inside before I gave her any information. I accompanied my mother-inlaw into the emergency room and after I was satisfied that she was in good hands, I went outside to fill out the necessary papers. About thirty minutes later (there were four other patients being treated) I was summoned back into the emergency room and found my patient talking to Dr. Mendoza, the attending physician, who had closed the wound with three stitches, and had her ready to leave.

I wish to thank all of the staff, particularly Freda Fannin, the ER clerk, and Dr. Lorenzo Mendoza for the courtesy and treatment given to both my mother-in-law and myself. Incidents like these must happen routinely in the ER, but we are only told of the infrequent errors. It is unfortunate that most of us go through life pointing out the strikeouts of others instead of lauding their home runs. Thanks again, HRMC! I hope we never have to use you again, but it is comforting to know you're there if another emergen-

More than 350 of Kentucky's future leaders will participate in a "varsity sport of the mind" this year, when "KET Scholastic Challenge" airs for Kentuckians. On Sunday, Nov. 25, at 1 p.m. (ET), six Kentucky high schools—McDowell, Beechwood, Lawrence county, Fulton county, Mercer county and Breckinridge county will compete for the championship in this academic quiz show which tests the proficiency of students in history, math, English, and science.

"KET Scholastic Challenge," now entering its third season, was developed by KET to help generate increased interest in education in Kentucky. Producer Sally Jackson, who has been with the program since its inception, says, "It is extremely gratifying to see these bright, young Kentuckians who are bucking the odds as far as Kentucky education statistics are concerned. Trends are changing in education and KET is thrilled to be a part of this!"

Each hour-long program consists of two games, with three high school teams competing per game. There are 116 schools participating this year. Each game will have five rounds of questions. One round will be centered totally on Kentucky

The McDowell team (shown above) includes Steve Dawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Dawson, of Hi Hat; Marion Krumm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Krumm, of Beaver and Sheridan Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Martin, of Drift. # HEALTH CARE IN AMERICA

A MESSAGE FROM

UR LADY OF THE WAY HOSPITAL

MARTIN, KENTUCKY

Back in the 1960's the establishment of Medicare and Medicaid gave to the poor and the elderly their first opportunity to be a part of the "mainstream" of top quality health care in America.

Today the rising costs of that health care—and resultant government cutbacks in funding—are threatening to return these people to "backwater" status.

EACH OF US WILL HAVE TO CHOOSE

The situation is serious. In the name of "lower health care costs" some politicians and businessmen have been promoting state and federal legislation that purports to eliminate waste, but would actually reduce the availability of needed treatment for millions of Americans.

We in Catholic health care believe that an issue as important and complex as the availability of quality health care does not lend itself to shortsighted solutions. We think that the current cost crisis can be solved only by an informed public (including those most affected) and an educated Congress working together with all those concerned with health care—hospitals, physicians, insurance companies and other payers, employers and workers.

HEALTH CARE IN AMERICA. WHICH IS IT TO BE: MAINSTREAM OR BACKWATER?

NADEQUATE CARE

The more than 1,200 hospitals, nursing homes, systems, and sponsoring religious orders that make up The Catholic Health Association of the United States have made their choice.

Area ADD's To Meet Nov. 27 at Morehead

Delegates from Eastern Kentucky Area Development Districts (ADD) will meet Nov. 27 to explore further development cooperation with Morehead State University.

The meeting, hosted by MSU's Appalachian Development Center, will be from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Red Room of the Adron Doran University Center. The keynote speaker will be MSU President Herb. F. Reinhard.

"We have worked closely with the Gateway ADD and the Buffalo Trace ADD," said Dr. Donald L. Fogus, director of the center. "For example, our Business Development staff prepared the business plan and loan application for Mattox Enterprises in Fleming. County; the Buffalo Trace ADD then made the loan which helped develop the pepper growing program which involves over 50 farmers. This is the type of cooperation we hope can be developed even more fully.

Minstrel Sings of Clean Streams

In a series of organized roars, hundreds of Floyd county grade schoolers vowed last week never again to throw garbage on the ground. Their pleage capped a week of classroom instruction on care of the environment and a number of one-man concerts put on by Michael Johnathon (pictured, above, at Prestonsburg Elementary School), who is billed as The Appalachian

With banjo and guitar and a repertoire of songs-mostly folk tunes but including one plausibly described as "the funniest rock and roll song in the world about picking up garbage"-Johnathon sounded themes of respect for nature and disgust with trash during half-hour concerts at the Stumbo, Harold, Betsy Layne, McDowell, Prestonsburg and Clark schools.

The program, part of Anti-Litter Week, was sponsored jointly by the state Natural Resources Cabinet and East Kentucky Beverage Co., which arranged to have cups of Pepsi distributed to the youngsters before each concert and whose product was liberally plugged throughout.

No one was pushing legislation requiring soft drink manufacturers to use returnable bottles, a measure most environmentalists think would do much to clean up the landscape, but the plastic cups in which they were served their Pepsi Free provided a measure of the children's resolve: most of them, happily, ended up in the trash can.

A U.S. District Court judge has handed down a ruling that overturns many of the controversial "reforms" in national strip-mine regulations adopted by former Interior Secretary Jim Watt. The judge ordered large sections of the rules

The 67-page opinion by Federal Judge Thomas A. Flannery upheld many of the objections to the Watt regulations that were filed by the National Wildlife Federation and other conservation groups. At the same time, the judge rejected all but one of the industry's challenges to those rules.

This was the second in a series of decisions by Judge Flannery, the first coming in July. The third and final decision is expected sometime this winter.

Among the issues addressed in Judge Flannery's ruling:

-Endangered species protections must be strengthened to include all state and federal listed endangered and threatened species that are likely to be jeopardized by coal mining.

Toxic waste ponds must be covered or fenced to protect both people and

-Prime farmland cannot be permanently destroyed by man-made lakes, coal processing plants, roads, and other

KET Documentary Traces War In Afghanistan-Pakistan

High in the mountains of Afghanistan, in the dead of night, Majahedin guerillas are moving silently down the hills to ambush a Russian combat unit. Carrying a rag-tag assortment of weapons, these devout Muslims enter another battle in what they come to see as a holy war.

The complex and politically charged situation in Afghanistan and Pakistan is examined in "Red Star Over Khyber," a "Frontline" documentary airing Tuesday, Dec. 11 at 9:00 p.m. (ET), on KET.

"Frontline's" chief correspondent Richard Reeves reports from the Afghanistan-Pakistan border, exploring the relationship between these two countries and the roles of the two superpowers behind them.

Across the Khyber Pass in Pakistan, a military director is receiving the second largest amount of U.S. aid in the world. Pakistan has become of vital interest to the United States. In the strategic Persian Gulf, it is the one state which remains an ally after the fall of Iran and the invasion of Afghanistan.

Soviet leaders continue to try to bring all of Afghanistan under their control, despite the fact that Russian troops have now been at war there longer than they were during World War II.

Maysville Woman 'Teacher of Year'

A Maysville woman who returned to teaching four years ago after interrupting her career to raise her two daughters has been named Kentucky Teacher of the Year.

The winning teacher, Julie Holcomb Koch, teaches the first grade at Straub Elementary School in Maysville, in the Mason county school district. Her selection as Kentucky's outstanding teacher means she will represent the state in competition for the 1985 National Teacher of the Year.

The choice of Mrs. Koch for Kentucky Teacher of the Year was announced by Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald.

"Julie Koch, is a truly outstanding teacher, and I am proud to have her represent Kentucky in the national competition," McDonald said, "Through her commitment to excellence and her concern for every student in her charge, she inspires her co-workers and serves as a valuable role model for her students

Mrs. Koch, 40, has taught at Straub for the past four years. A 1966 graduate of the University of Kentucky, she taught briefly at Woodleigh Elementary School in Maysville but left teaching to become a full-time homemaker and mother. She completed a master's degree in elementary education at Morehead State University in 1979 and began teaching at Straub in 1980

"I believe a teacher's primary responsibility is to facilitate learning," Koch said in a statement describing her philosophy of teaching. "In so doing, a teacher has the unique opportunity to contribute to a child's love of learning. which can be a continuous source of growth and pleasure.

"I believe basic skills are not only important but essential to being informed and responsible citizens. In addition to teaching basic skills, I believe a teacher should strive to help children develop a positive and accepting attitude toward themselves and others.

Q. I've heard there is a new gum that contains nicotine. Could it help me quit smoking?

A. There is a new prescription drug containing nicotine in chewing gum form called Nicorette R. It is the first drug approved by the Food and Drug Administration as both a safe and effective aid in smoking cessation. The gum works by allowing patients to gradually withdraw from their nicotine addiction while learning to handle the social and psychological withdrawal involved in quitting.

It has been found in studies on smokers that use of the gum, together with counseling, was effective in helping smokers quit. The most important thing is the smoker has to want to quit, and he must be willing to work at it. The nicotine gum relieves the craving for nicotine.

The gum is most effective if used 16 weeks. Most patients begin by chewing ten sticks a day and gradually wean down to two or three pieces at the end of three months. It is also suggested that the new non smoker continue to carry one piece with him at all times.

It is estimated that nine out of ten smokers would like to quit if there were an easy way. Ask your doctor about Nicorette. For more information about smoking cessation call the Kentucky Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER. You can also write to us at: Kentucky Cancer Information Service, McDowell Cancer Network, 915-South Limestone, Lexington, Ky. 40536.

Delayed Retirement

Means Bigger Check By JIM KELLY

Social Security District Director People in the Big Sandy area who are approaching 65 and who do not plan to retire should be aware that their Social Security check will be larger when they finally do apply for it.

The reason is because of "delayed retirement credit." This credit increases a person's retirement checks for each month he or she does not get a benefit after 65 and before 70.

The credit adds 1/4 percent for each month-3 percent for each full year-a person does not get a check because of work. It also applies to widows and widowers benefits.

The credit will gradually increase to 8 percent a year between 1990 and 2008. In addition to these credits, a person's earnings after 65 may also result in a larger check than would have been payable at 65. Of course, a person who starts getting checks at 65 can still work and earn a significant amount before his or her benefits are affected. In 1984, people 65 through 69 can earn $6,960 and still get benefits for all of the year. There is no limit for people 70 and older. If earnings go above $6,960, then $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above this amount. This annual exempt amount will increase automatically to keep pace with increase in average wages. The exempt amount for people under 65 is $5,160 in 1984.

People who are working and estimated they would not earn more than the exempt amount should make sure they still are. Any change in a person's estimate should be reported to Social

Remember, you do not have to retire to be eligible for Medicare at age 65. You can apply for medicare only at 65 and file for retirement later.

(For more information about Social Security retirement benefits, contact the Big Sandy Area Social Security Office, located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville.)

Critical Problems, Possible Causes Of Acid Rain Explored on KET

Until recently, acid rain was unknown to most people outside the scientific community. Yet it has emerged as perhaps the most potentially devastating problem of the 1980s. Acid rain is an extremely complex phenomenon whose causes and effects are just starting to be fully understood. It is a form of air pollution which has been blamed for the increased acidification of some North American and European lakes, ponds, and streams, resulting in the death of aquatic plants and animals. Recently, researchers have made an additional alarming discovery: the world's forests are in serious decline, a phenomenon scientists agree is also caused by air pollution.

In "Acid Rain," airing on KET Tuesday, Dec. 11, at 8 p.m. (ET), NOVA explores the status of current research on acid rain focusing on the problem of forest decline in North America and Acid rain, formed when fuel exhausts combine with elements in the atmosphere to make sulphuric and nitric acids, is a difficult scientific problem.

Scientists have hypothesized that nitrogen emission, which comes more from automobiles than power plants, may be the main culprit in damaging some lakes and forests.

NOVA visits Sweden to look at experimental liming of lakes. Limingadding limestone to neutralize acidic waters-is accompanied by careful monitoring to chart the process of recovery. A similar process is just beginning in some of the most affected lakes in the Adirondack Mountains.

ALL ABOUT ASPIRIN AND ACETAMINOPHEN

Because aspirin is an acid, it can irritate the stomach. It causes nausea in as many as 10% of users. If the irritation is not serious, it can be avoided by taking the drug with milk or solid food or by using painkillers that combine aspirin with an antacid. However, aspirin can cause an ulcer attack in those susceptible to this ailment. If the ulcer bleeds, the anticoagulant effect of aspirin will worsen the bleeding. Among the several aspirin substitutes, only one, acetaminophen, is considered both safe and fully effective. Acetaminophen works as well as aspirin in relieving headaches and other pains without aspirin's gastric and allergic side effects. However, acetaminophen can cause liver and kidney damage if taken in too large amounts.

COOLEY APOTHECARY stocks a wide variety of aspirin and aspirin substitutes as well as many other over the counter remedies. We offer everyday low prices and for your added convenience we maintain complete records of your families medication for tax and insurance purposes. We are located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4.

Unlike aspirin, acetaminophen does not relieve the soreness that is associated with inflammation.

Announce Forthcoming Marriage

The Rev. and Mrs. Earl Waugh, of Allen, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Julia Antoinette, to Mr. Floyd Douglas Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Greene, of Prestonsburg. The wedding ceremony will take place on Saturday, November 24, at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church of Allen. The gracious custom of open house will be observed.

Seedlings Available For Reforestation

Farmers interested in replacing trees on their land or developing idle acres with a stand of trees may want to investigate a program of the state Division of Forestry

'Each fall, landowners plant more than 1 million tree seedlings on idle lands," said state Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell. "Fall is an excellent time to reforest acreage, and this year is an especially good time because of the availability of a wide variety of seedlings. Many people who wait until spring to order seedlings may not get delivery of some choices.'

The Forestry Division, a part of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, operates three nurseries in the state. This year, officials estimate the nurseries will produce 11.7 million seedlings. This compares with 9.5 million seedlings last

This fall, the division offers Scotch Pine, Cottonwood, Black Alder, Loblolly Pine, White Pine, Black Walnut, Shortleaf Pine and Virginia Pine. Some of these seedling varieties and others, including walnut, will be available this

"Landowners plant trees for different reasons," Boswell pointed out. "Some are interested in timber production, erosion control or wildlife food and cover. Others are interested in short-term returns such as Christmas trees or fence posts. The availability of these superior quality seedlings should be of interest to Kentucky farmers whatever use they may have.

The seedlings are sold in bundles of 100, 500 and 1,000. The price of the seedlings varies according to tree species; however, prices range from $12 to $17 per 100 bundle to $40 to $125 per 1,000

For more information and order blanks, contact any local office of the Division of Forestry, county Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, or write the Division of Forestry, 627 Comanche Trail, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

'Lena Horne' To Air On KET, December 10

The incomparable Lena Horne brings her stunning one-woman Broadway show to KET on Monday, Dec. 10, at 8 p.m. (ET). "Lena Horne: The Lady and Her Music," is a presentation of the charm, taste, intelligence and formidable talent that have made her a legend.

In addition to singing the numbers that made her famous, Miss Horne will give "Great Performances" viewers a new view of herself as a personality, with a frank and witty telling of her life as a black performer which adds new dramatic depth to her songs.

Included in the Horne repertory will be: "Can't Help Lovin' That Man," "From This Moment On," and, of course, "Stormy Weather," performed in two versions. The first rendition of the Harold Arlen/Ted Koehler classic is sung in the smooth sophisticated way Lena Horne performed it over the years. In the reprise Lena pours soul into the song, making "Stormy Weather" the triumphant anthem of one who, despite the many odds against her, has reached the pinnacle of her art, true to her talent and to herself.

Put a Hoe in Your Favorite Gardener's Christmas Stocking

At this time of year many a green thumb is no longer visible. No, it didn't wash off, it's under a mitten or glove! But even though we may not be very active outdoors, our gardening urge is merely dormant, just waiting for a little late winter warmth or early spring green to set us digging and pruning again.

While some of us ladies may not be overjoyed with receiving cooking utensils for Christmas—"what's the matter, don't I cook well enough?"—or some of you gentleman may be tired of receiving neckties—"why are you always trying to dress me up?"—I know of few gardenrs who wouldn't be super pleased to have their green-thumb hobby recognized by way of a special garden gadget as a Christmas gift.

Few people think of Christmas shopping in a garden center or nursery, but why not. There are interesting things in a garden center above and beyond grass seed and bug spray. Because most employees are gardeners themselves, they can be very helpful with suggestions, or try some of mine:

-Goatskin leather gardening gloves to pamper the gardener's hand.

A new style of hoe (stirrup, tomahoe) for easier weeding.A tool storage rack for organizing tools.

—A trickle irrigation kit for easy, water-conserving garden watering next summer.

—Rachet-cut hand shears and loppers for easy pruning.

—A garden cart for hauling mulch, compost, firewood and produce (much compost, firewood and produce (much more efficient than a wheelbarrow).

—An extension handle with changeable tools (rake, hoe, shovel).

-Clip-on water couplers for easy hose attachment.
-A rain gauge and hi/low thermometer for noting weather patterns.

—Large labels and waterproof marking pens for labeling rows and plants.

—A water timer for automatic garden

A fine mist watering can for watering newly planted seeds and transplants.
 Sharpening stones or files for keeping hoe, shovel and pruning shear blades

—A universal handle grip to make tool pushing and pulling easier.

A backpack sprayer for easy pesticide application.
 A drinking fountain that hooks on the outside faucet to help quench the hot gardener's thirst.

—A gift certificate for a new tool or plant of your gardener's choice.

Don't overlook the young or the mature gardener, or potential gardener, in your shopping. Sets of top quality small-size tools are available for the younger set, and many tools have been adapted or created anew for the handicapped and elderly. There is no reason why anyone can't participate in or experience the joy so many of us receive from growing our own.

If you find that your selection of gardening tools and supplies are locally limited, there are many mail order sources.

Timely Tip: Winterize your fruit trees—wrap or paint and cage their stems for protection against the environment and hungry small animals.

Turkeys To Cost More, But Supplies Adequate

Holiday turkeys will cost more this year due to reduced supplies, but experts predict there will be enough to meet demands

Agricultural Economist Lee Meyer of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, said turkey producers lost money last year and cut back the level of production this year in an effort to hold prices at a more profitable level.

"The cut-back has led to higher prices. Consumers are paying about eight cents a pound more than last year. The average retail turkey price for November and December will be about 95 cents per pound," Meyer said.

Careful shoppers will be able to find turkeys at bargain prices.

"Grocers frequently run specials on turkeys to attract shoppers to their stores. The wholesale price for turkeys will be about 25 cents a pound below the average retail price. So, if you see a special with turkeys priced close to 70 cents a pound, take advantage of the sale. You are unlikely to find a better deal," Meyer said.

Prestonsburg Police Make Film Available

Community education has become a major part of the Prestonsburg Police Department's effort to reduce lawlessness. In the continuing effort to upgrade the program, three new audiovisual films, "Drugs of Abuse", "Steering Straight", and "Child Abuse" are available from the department for showing at schools, parent groups, civic clubs, and other law enforcement agencies.

The film, "Drugs of Abuse" provides up-to-date knowledge of the five categories of abused drugs and gives the viewer an understanding of the symptoms associated with each type

'Steering Straight" addresses the problem of driving while under the influence of alcohol and drugs. It joins the extensive educational campaigns now underway across America in persuading young drivers to use good judgment when faced with drinking and driving

'Child Abuse," also called the "Silent Epidemic," provides accurate, current knowledge of the four categories of child abuse, and gives concerned citizens the chance to do something constructive about the problem: The four forms of child abuse are physical abuse, neglect, emotional abuse, and sexual abuse. It is the cause of much suffering, including broken lives and wrecked families.

Kentucky's public schools spent a higher proportion of their budgets on instruction in 1983-'84 than in previous years, reports compiled by the Kentucky Department of Education show.

Robert Spillman, associate superintendent for local services, said the total expenditures for current operations increased by $82 million last year. Of that amount, $59 million was spent for direct instructional programs, he said.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald noted that the increase made up 72 percent of the new monies available for education last year.

"The allocation of this proportion of our total resources to instruction represents a significant new emphasis in Kentucky schools," she said.

Expenditures on instructional programs made up 54.8 percent of the 1983'-84 budget of $1.4 billion in local, state and federal funds, or about $786 million. The remaining funds went for transportation, maintenance, school lunch programs, support services and other costs.

In previous years, expenditures on instruction hovered between 52 percent and 53 percent of the total budget. The percentage was 54.4 in 1981-82 but dropped to 52.9 in 1982-83.

The $786 million spent on instructional programs last year represents an 8.1 percent increase over the $727 million spent on instruction during 1982-83.

Although it is too soon to see a lasting trend, Spillman said, the 1982-84 increase indicates a statewide effort to hold down administrative costs in order to funnel more resources into the instructional programs.

"That's very positive," Spillman said.
"After all, we are in business to teach kids. That's how we should spend the bulk of our money, on teaching kids."

Some of the increase came in the area of help for teachers. The costs of secretarial and clerical assistance were up 7.7 percent, and costs for teachers' aides rose 7.7 percent, the reports show.

Costs for voluntary testing in the elementary grades went up 6.4 percent, supplementary books in the secondary grades were up 22.7 percent, and secondary school teaching supplies rose 22.2 percent. Expenditures on new textbooks jumped 72.1 percent.

In the capital outlay account, spending on equipment for instructional purposes more than doubled, reflecting purchases of computer hardware and software for local schools.

Other good news for state analysts was contained in the investment account. School districts' income on investments of cash accounts rose 10.8 percent, or $2.2 million, to a total of slightly more than $22 million. This $22 million in interest income, Spillman noted, would be enough to pay the average salaries of nearly 1,120 teachers.

Spillman and the Department of Education's finance office have been working with districts over the past several years to increase returns from investments and to ensure that interest is earned on temporarily idle cash.

"State law very carefully defines the investments districts can make with surplus or funds to be used for a specific purpose at a specific time," Spillman said. "However, it is not sound practice to settle for a 5 percent return when 8 percent can be achieved with equal safety."

Most school districts do a good job of investing their cash and are to be commended for that, he added.

Spending on gasoline, lubricants, tires and parts for Kentucky's fleet of school buses also declined in 1983-84. Bus insurance costs, however, rose 12.7 percent to $1.5 million, and property insurance increased 3.4 percent to $2.9 million.

"We have worked hard to hold insurance costs down," Spillman said, citing a department study of bus insurance rates and efforts to encourage

Beef, Pork Prices Rise As Year Ends

Seasonal declines in the number of cattle and hogs brought to market should push consumer prices for beef and pork up as the year ends.

Steven K. Riggins, an agricultural economist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, said bargains may become scarce in December and

"Beef and pork are both heading back up from the fairly reduced levels they have been at for the last several months," Riggins said.

Most analysts are predicting year-end pork production to be at least 6 percent below year-ago levels. Predictions call for continued decline into the first quarter of 1985, perhaps even into the

"If the reduction is as great as expected (10 percent versus a normal winter decline of 6 percent) the seasonal price increase should be greater than normal," Riggins said.

Poultry production is holding steady, and that coupled with reduced pork production could mean higher beef prices

"Chances seem good that beef prices should be increasing and continue to increase into the spring of next year," Riggins said.

Pikeville College was well represented at the recent 1984 U.N. Day Program in the House Chambers, State Capitol, Frankfort. Two students and a faculty member made the trip to Frankfort to the program entitled, "Women's Progress in Today's World". Following the program of speakers, and a reception, Gov. Martha Layne Collins posed with the Pikeville College contingent. ## KET Features Agatha Christie Series Dame Agatha Christie, often dubbed the Queen of Menace, sprinkled her crime novels with her particular brand of laid-back, upper-class British humor. But she really let her comedic flair shine in "Partners in Crime," spoofing her crime-writing peers in a series of humorous stories about Tommy and Tuppence Beresford, a young British husband and wife detective team during the flapper era.

Dramatizations of five of those stories, titled "Agatha Christie's Partners in Crime," premiere on the "Mystery!" series on KET Saturday, December 8, at 10:00 p.m. Francesca Annis and James Warick co-star as the 1920's couple who turn to private eyeing to escape their boring jet-set life and soon become involved in a string of intriguing and puzz-

Dame Agatha introduced the stylish, madcap Beresfords in "The Secret Adversary" in 1922, second of her 85 novels. She returned to Tommy and Tuppence in 1929. "Mystery!" host Vincent Price points out that Dame Christie "decided to have some fun" with the Beresfords by having them adopt the characteristics of a different popular fictional detective in each case.

Mystery buffs consequently will not only have fun trying to solve the crimes but also trying to recognize parodies of such eminent detectives as Sherlock Holmes, Father Brown, and even Christie's own M. Poirot

Betsy Layne Wins In Net Panorama

Seven teams, including Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg, participated in last week's pre-season Basketball Panorama at Johnson Central High School and both came up winners.

Betsy Layne's Bobcats picked up their fourth win in pre-season competition by beating Lawrence County, 64-58. Since Lawrence County is regarded as a relatively strong team this year, the win gave Coach Newsome's Bobcats a definite confidence boost as the beginning of the regular season approaches.

Prestonsburg was scheduled to play Perry county's M. C. Napier, but when the Navajos failed to show, the Blackcats played and won over Johnson Central's "B" team, sent in to fill out the Panorama schedule.

Scorers for Betsy Layne included Jeff Campbell with 17, Brett Meade 16, Jim Parsons 15, Dwayne Kidd 9, Duran Hall 6, and Mike Conn 1.

Paintsville Lake, newest of the state's added every year through 1987, when Corps of Engineers impoundmenta, was as clear as the proverbial bell last May when older lakes were thick with mud after spring flooding, and its deep, clear water is considered by many to be perfect for the development of one of the area's top fishing spots.

The only "fly in the ointment" is the threat of oil or brine pollution from the numerous oil wells in its basin that have been sealed. Planners discount the seriousness of that danger, however,

Kerry Prather, Eastern district biologist, Division of Game and Fish, wrote recently in Happy Hunting Ground, official publication of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, that he believes the lake "will be one of the better fisheries in this part of Eastern Kentucky.

He pointed out that, besides native bassses, 367,885 walleye fry and fingerlings and 25,250 smallmouth bass were stocked there last spring and that the same number of each species will be

Exceptional Teams Promise Exciting Tournament Here

According to Jack Stanford, Prestonsburg basketball coach, next week's Jenny Wiley Tournament, set to begin Wednesday night at the PHS fieldhouse, will be "a real tournament."

Stanford pointed to the variety and strength of the teams involved as making this tourney particularly interesting

'You've got Pulaski County, sixth in the state, against 10th-ranked Breathitt County, for example," Coach Stanford said. "Paintsville, who I saw beat Ashland the other night, will play Mullins, a team I hear is really strong this year," he pointed out, "and a greatly improved McDowell team is scheduled to play Johnson Central who's always exceptional."

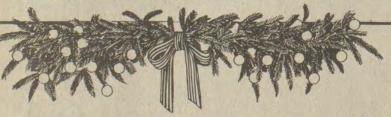

Of his own team, who will play Cordia in the tournament, Coach Stanford says the Blackcats will "have to really struggle," to play with many of the strong teams they will face this season. He hinted, however, that after a period of rebuilding, the squad may gain strength as the season progresses.

The tournament will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday as Prestonsburg plays Cordia. In the second game, the McDowell Daredevils will face Johnson Central. On Thursday, Paintsville will play Mullins in the first game with powerhouses Breathitt County and Pulaski County squaring off in the second game.

As late as the Civil War, moose ranged as far south along the Atlantic seaboard as Long Island, says National Wildlife magazine. But by 1880 they had vanished throughout New York and southern New England because of habitat loss. Johnson Woman Held As Baby Not Found 'The woman was pregnant, and now she's not-and we didn't find the baby.' Thus State Detective Kenneth Deboard described a bizarre development in Johnson county which has resulted in the jailing of a 34-year-old Jenny's Creek woman on a charge of concealing the birth of an infant.

Bond of $10,000 was asked for the release of the prisoner, Linda McCarty. She has filed a motion for reduction in the amount of her bond.

Varying accounts of the child's whereabouts have been given by the woman, and on at least one occasion she stated that no child was born. She reportedly accompanied persons to Lexington on two separate occasions to see the child but failed to produce it.

'We don't know where the child was born, or if it was born dead or alive," the detective was quoted as saying. "We know a child has disappeared, and that opens up all sorts of possibilities.

Reopening of Locks On Kentucky River Seen Next Summer

Govenor Martha Layne Collins has announced a tentative agreement with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to reopen 10 Kentucky River locks, possibly by next summer. Following a meeting of state and federal officials at her office November 15, she said, "We've opened the lines of communication.

Despite protests, Locks 5 through 14 on the river above Frankfort were closed and welded shut by the Corps of Engineers two years ago. Since then, there has been mounting concern among state and local officials that deterioration of the locks and dams could endanger water supplies for the thousands of Kentuckians who depend on the stream for water.

Governor Collins said the Corps is to provide the state with information on costs for operation and maintenance of the repaired locks. In return, she said, the state will consider assuming ownership and operations following a transition period.

Robert K. Dawson, acting assistant Secretary of the Army for civil works, indicated that the Corps of Engineers will move immediately to secure funds to repair the locks, saying the Corps had needed assurance from the state it would consider taking over the lock system before any federal commitment could be made.

To help motorists plan their winter driving, the Transportation Cabinet

Top priority roads include interstates, parkways, urban expressways and other state roads with exceptionally large volumes of traffic. In this county these are US 23, the Mountain Parkway and KY 80.

Second priority roads are state primary roads, bypasses and roads with slightly less traffic.

State secondary roads, rural secondary roads and other routes with equal traffic fall into the third category.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Prestonsburg Day Homemakers held their regular monthly meeting at Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church, Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 13, with the president, Mrs. Eleanor Horn, in charge. The devotions were given by Mrs. Margaret P. Alley. The group sang "Happy Birthday" to members observing these events during the month of November, including Mesdames Dorothy Sturgill, Lucy Regan, Rita Francis, Opal Dingus, Dorothy Burke, and Stella Spurlock.

Teddy bears for hospitalized children and Christmas tree decorations for the Floyd County Library's tree were brought by several of the members.

In keeping with the theme of the program on "Inexpensive Gifts," led by Mrs. May Roberts and Mrs. Dorothy Stover, a large selection of handmade items was displayed.

It was decided that the members of the club would help to furnish Christmas remembrances for patients at one of the nearby nursing homes. Mrs. Horn asked Mesdames Nancy Webb, Gladys Blackburn, Beckye Short and Peg Hewlett to serve on a committee for this endeavor and each member was asked to bring 2 gifts for the nursing home to the Christmas meeting.

The President appointed a committee composed of Mesdames Eva Collins, Dorothy Burke, and Donna Culpepper to be in charge of the Christmas pot-luck luncheon, which will be held at this same location, December 11.

The hostesses, Mesdames Clara Bradbury, Gladys Blackburn, and Mary Jane Brown, served refreshments in keeping with the Thanksgiving season to Mesdames Frances Pitts, Eleanor Horn, Judy Kittle, Dorothy Osborne, Orella McGuire, Dorothy Burke, Phyllis Herrick, Margaret Alley, Dolly Pettrey, Beverly Hackworth, Myrtle Allen, Peg Hewlett, Lucy Regan, Ann Alley, Barbara Dawson, Mabel Donahoe, Beckeye Short, Maman Leslie, Rita Francis, Fannie Runnels, Hope Whitten, Betty Langefeld, Ellen Messer, Stella Spurlock, Donna Culpepper, Patsy Brown, Mary Sue Moore, Dorothy Stover, May K. Partly responsible for this year's high production rate was the stockpiling of

Tax To Finance Fire Department Still Undecided

Supporters of the Garrett volunteer fire department will have to wait until next month to learn whether they will get the tax levy they say they need if the three-year-old service is to be put on a sound financial basis.

After hearing more arguments for and against the proposal at a special meeting Monday, the fiscal court decided to postpone a decision on the question until its next regular session on Dec. 14.

In the meantime, those who argued against imposition of a proposed property tax of $1 per $1000 of assessed valuation were urged to check with their insurance agents to see whether they would not save in insurance premiums more than they would pay in taxes if the fire protection district were established.

At the same time, County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. said he would explore the possibility of putting the question on the ballot, as some of those opposed to the fire district proposal have urged.

In other business, the fiscal court gave a first reading to an ordinance authorizing the First Commonwealth Bank to apply for $6.5 million in economic development revenue bonds for construction of a new office building here. A second reading on the proposal was set for Dec. 4.

Bids were opened on two contracts for installing water and sewage lines and installation of a water storage tank to serve two new shopping centers on U.S. 23 at its junction with the Mountain Parkway and a motel planned for a site further up Katy Friend. The bids will be awarded at a special meeting of the fiscal court on Dec. 4.

Construction of the water and sewage lines to Prestonsburg Village and Glyn View Plaza, shopping malls presently under construction, and the planned Prestonsburg Inn is being financed largely by a $403,000 Community Development Block Grant.

Castanets were known in ancient Egypt.

coal in anticipation of a UMWA strike. That prospect was averted when miners and operators reached an agreement in late September. And an early result of the peaceful settlement was that many miners were laid off here until stockpiles could be reduced.

"The spot market is pretty well dead" as a result of stockpiling and many of the last year, and 34 million more than in smaller mines which depend on it are idle, said Greg Jones, vice-president of JRM Coal at McDowell, which is in the enviable position of having a long-term contract with a South Carolina utility.

> More vulnerable is a company like the Hayes Leasing Company of Betsy Layne, which in good times draws coal from as many as nine mines to serve the spot market. "We are running just two mines right now," said Randy Hayes, general manager, last week.

While this year's stockpiling caused an artificial bulge in production figures-and now a temporary retrenchment for smaller operators-Bill Hoppman, sales manager for Middle States Coal at David, looks more to the national economy for an explanation of the ups and downs in the coal industry.

Middle States, which sells most of its coal under long-term contracts, is "shipping more than we have in a long time' and the reason lies in the nationwide economic recovery, Hoppman said. 'The car business coming back helped,' he explained, "and the coal strike in Britain has opened up some export

In fact, coal exports are expected to be about the same this year as last year, according to the report of the Energy Information Administration. And increased demand by the steel industry and other industrial customers has resulted in a relatively small increase in coal production

The real boost to coal production, according to U.S. Deputy Energy Secretary Danny Boggs, is the increased demand for electricity triggered by the current economic comeback.

Consumption by electric utilities accounted for an increase of 40 million tons of production this year, leading some analysts to predict that, while the slowdown caused by stockpiling may extend even into the spring, any problems will be shortlived if there is continuing improvement in the national economic

But don't try selling that idea to smaller east Kentucky operators who have seen profit margins squeezed even as production figures rose. Randy Hayes was paid only $24 a ton for coal he sold last month. "We can't get enough money out of it to make it worthwhile," he said.

Moreover, increased consumption by electricity utilities will mean little for east Kentucky operators if high railroad rates make it difficult for them to get a share of the market, said the Betsy Layne coalman. He was responding to a report that Kentucky producers were bypassed recently by Detroit Edison when the Michigan utility was looking for suppliers of the four million tons of medium- and low-sulfur Appalachian coal it will need next year to replace the high-sulfur fuel it now uses

And ironically, even as the Energy Information Administration was recording a banner year for coal, other government figures released yesterday (Tuesday) suggested the economy is already

Waterfowl Season Opens Nov. 20th

Kentucky's statewide duck season opens Nov. 20, and goose hunting in the Eastern Goose Zone will begin on the same date, according to this year's waterfowl hunting regulations from the Department of Fish and Wildlife

The first phase of the split duck season will run through Nov. 25, with the second phase set to open Dec. 8 and run through Jan. 20, 1985. The Eastern Zone Goose season will run through Jan. 20, 1985.

Goose hunters in the Western Goose Zone will have to wait until Jan. 7 for their season opener. The season there is scheduled to run through Jan. 31, or until a quota of 7,000 Canada geese is harvested, whichever comes first.

The boundary between the eastern and western zones is a line beginning at the Tennessee line at Fulton, Kentucky, and running north along the Purchase Parkway to I-24, east on I-24 to US 641, north on US 641 to US 60, north on 60 to US 41, then north on 41 to the Kentucky-Indiana border at Evansville, Indiana.

Duck hunters will again use the point system to determine daily and possession limits. Point values, which are unchanged from last year, are: 100 points-canvasback and black ducks; 70 points-hen mallard, wood duck, hooded merganser and redhead; 10 pointspintail, blue-winged teal, cinnamon teal, green-winged teal, gadwall, shoveler, scaup, widgeon and all mergansers except the hooded; 25 points-drake mallard and all other species of ducks not mentioned above.

The daily limit is reached when the point value of the last duck taken, when added to the total point values of the ducks taken previously that day, reaches or exceeds 100 points. The possession limit after two or more days of hunting is the maximum number of ducks that could have been taken in two Coots have a point value of zero, but there is a daily limit of 15 and a possession limit of 30 on these birds.

The daily limit on geese is 5, with no more than two Canada geese and two white-fronted geese allowed in the daily bag. The possession limit is 10 geese, which can include no more than four Canada geese and four white-fronted

The Peal Wildlife Management Area in Ballard county, which has been open to waterfowl hunting in the past, will be closed to the public through March 15, 1985. Hunting will be permitted only at designated blind sites on the Fish Lake section of this wildlife area.

Wildlife managers say that closing most of the Peal area to hunting will create an additional refuge area and will help hold more geese in the region.

VINCE JARRELI

By OSCAR RICE

After all the success of Prestonsburg athletes over the past year-a state tourney appearance by the Prestonsburg baseball team, fifth place finishes for both 15-and 13-year-old Floyd county Babe Ruth teams as well as a trip to the state for 14-year-olds, the success of "Chuke" Williams' Prestonsburg Blackcats football team, and a state and national champion in the Martin Junior Pro Girls-mark up another impressive accomplishment with young J. D. Franklin, of Prestonsburg winning title of state champion of the cadet division of the Kentucky Bowhunters Association.

The six-year-old archery whiz won the title August 19 at the Kentucky

Bowhunters Rendezvous and Shoot at Salyersville. He is a son of Dean Franklin.

The state junior division championship was won by Mickey Morris, of Georgetown after Vince Jarrell, of Dana had led most of the day. Vince, who has won several area "shoots." finished third in the state in the August 19 competition and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford "Boots" Jarrell.

The Magoffin County KBA-ABC Bowhunters Club, host of the match, is quite active in the state organization and also serves as the Magoffin chapter of the state muzzle-loading association and also hosts state competition in blackpowder weaponry.

Kentucky's deer hunters are on their way to setting another new harvest record for the state, according to a preliminary check with Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources regional law enforcement supervisors.

During the statewide gun hunting season, which opened Nov. 3 and ran for 10 days in most counties in Kentucky, conservation officers checked 18,035 deer hunters in the 114 open counties.

Statewide, 21,237 deer were checked through check stations or were checked by conservation officers. This number does not include deer taken during the first phase of the archery season (Oct.

A Fish Out Of Water? Some Species Like It

Fish that breathe air, walk on land, and climb trees?

They really exist, says the recent issue of Ranger Rick magazine.

For instance, mudskippers-froggyeyed fish that live along the coasts of Asia and Africa-actually dart around on mud. When the tide goes out and the muddy bottom of the swamp appears, these fish don't head for water, they head for the mud-a great place to find shellfish and insects for dinner, says the monthly children's publication of the National Wildlife Federation.

A mudskipper can live out of water because it carries water in two spongy sacs around its gills. The air it gulps mixes with water in the sacs, and the gills then take in oxygen, just as they do when the fish is swimming.

Yet the mudskipper's method is not fool-proof. If it swallows food, the water and air around the gills squirt out, forcing the mudskipper to then hop back into the water for a refill.

Another amazing fish is the walking catfish, which can also live out of water by using special "breathing pouches" near its gills. Its habitat is in Florida and Asia where it spends most of its time in water. But if its pond dries up, the catfish will climb out of the basin and walk to a new one by pulling itself along with its front fins. In fact, people have seen walking catfish hold up traffic, as hordes of them commuted across highways to their new homes.

Climbing perch are also great "walkers" that can even climb over rocks and logs, says Ranger Rick. The perch, like the walking catfish, will travel to find a new home when its pond dries up, using its spiny gill covers and fins as "feet."

Lungfish are the only fish in the world that have real lungs. The African lungfish, for example, lives in the water during the rainy season, but during the dry season, it squirms about two feet into the mud, curls its snakelike body into a ball and then makes a cocoon out of mud and slime from its skin. The lungfish then leaves a small air hole in its cocoon and sleeps under the mud for a few months-until the rainy season comes

A Devoted Christian Wife And Mother Departs This Life

In the year of our Lord November 11, 1916 God placed in the home of the late Jack C. and Malinda (Payne) Rollins, Orme, Tenn., a beautiful baby daughter, Bertha, who for sixty-eight years would spread love and happiness to her family and many more as she passed through

April 11, 1936 Bertha was united in marriage to James Williams, II, the son of the late James and Martha (DeBord) Williams, Williamsport, Ky. To this union were given seven wonderful children; an infant son, Jackie, God called at the tender age of three months and three weeks to await his mother's

Bertha leaves to grieve her loss, her husband James II; three sons, James Williams, III, Hammerville, Ohio, Danny Williams, Lexington, Ky., Michael Williams, Hecla, Ohio; three daughters, Bettie (Williams) Franklin, Thelma, Ky., Elizabeth (Libby Williams) Barrett, Kalispell, Montana, Patricia (Pat Williams) Slone, Paintsville, Ky.; three sons-in-law, Ernest Franklin, Gail Barrett, Shelby Slone, Jr.; three daughtersin-law, Judy (Prichard) Williams, Carol (Walters) Williams, Andrea (Ralph) Williams; sixteen grandchildren, Tammy, Salyersville, Ky. January 8, 1978, Bertha obeyed the Gospel of her Saviour Jesus Christ and was buried in baptism by Brother Jerry Scott at the Meally Church of Christ. She arose to live a faithful Christian until her passing. I am fully persuaded if Bertha were to speak back she would say, "I am resting in peace." Bertha was a wonderful wife and mother and a friend to all. Bertha's grandsons and nephew showed her great love and honor as pallbearers: Chris, Rick, Scott, Eric, Mark, James IV, Rodney and Jackie. The most beautiful singing were pro-

Double," Craig Wasson, the hero (or rather anti-hero) of the film, is seen battling with yet another one of the psychotic killers that are found so often in the films of Brian De Palma. There's a car parked inside. As the fight intensities, he dog barks wildly and scampers furiously from front seat to back in an effort to join the fray. Finally, the dog breaks the windshield of the car and attacks.

Now unless Purina is putting an extra dose of vitamins in its puppy chow, there aren't many dogs who can break the windshield of a car from the inside.

The point of this little tale is that the reality of a situation is not of uppermost importance to Brian De Palma. His films aren't known for their substance, but for their style. The fine points of a script are mere encumbrances, necessary only to tie together the wild series of camera angles, steadicam chases down hall-ways and up stairs and 360-degree dolly movements.

De Palma makes thrillers in the Alfred Hitchcock mold. No other director has had more shower scenes in his films than De Palma. Like "Carrie" and "Dressed to Kill," "Body Double" has its own perverse little shower scene — just one more variation on a theme by Hitchcock.

BODY DOUBLE, (R-Columbia Pictures) Starring Craig

By J.T. YURKO

Wasson, Gregg Henry and Melanie Griffith. *

Indeed, this is a perverse movie. Voyeurism mixes with sadism and pornography. An out of work actor views a murder from his balcony and is powerless to stop what he sees. The situation is compounded by his intense claustrophobia. In other words, take Hitchcock's "Rear Window," combine with a little "Vertigo," add some kinky sex and you have "Body Double."

There are moments of humor in the film, but they are in-jokes that merely point to De Palma's self-indulgence. Each one of his new releases seems like a remake of one of his previous films — which always seems like a remake of something Hitchcock did much better.

Search for Teachers In Scholars Program Scheduled Statewide

Governor Martha Layne Collins has announced a statewide search for outstanding high school and college teachers to serve as faculty for the 1985 Governor's Scholars Program.

The five-week program, which is for 600 of Kentucky's top students completing their junior year in high school, will be held June 22 to July 26 at Murray State University and from June 23 to July 27 at Western Kentucky University. There will be 300 scholars from public and private high schools at each Governor Collins said that faculty will be drawn from Kentucky high schools, colleges and universities. She urged qualified teachers to apply, noting that the program, now entering its third year, has received national attention for its excellence.

Major subjects to be taught next summer will be astronomy, biology, cultural anthropology, function of language, history, literature, mathematics, philosophy and physical sciences which will include physics, political economy and the arts.

Recruitment information for distribution to teachers has been mailed to all Kentucky high school superintendents and principals, private school heads and college and university academic deans and vice presidents.

Teachers, who are paid, must live on or near the campus during the program. Free housing is provided for faculty on each campus so that teachers throughout Kentucky may participate. Faculty members will report to campus on June 17 for a week of orientation and

A statewide faculty selection committee reviews all applications, and personal interviews are scheduled with each finalist before the selection is

Interested teachers should contact their school principals or academic deans or directors if they have not received the information, or they may write Lillian Press, Director, Governor's Scholars Program, State Capitol, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, or call 502/564-2611, to obtain application

Dr. James L. Howard, associate professor of education at Centre College, will be dean of the program at Murray, and Dr. Robert E. Hemenway, chairman, Department of English at the University of Kentucky, will be dean of the program at Western. Both men served as deans in last summer's Governor's Scholars Program, held at Centre College and Eastern Kentucky University.
