Meeting Aug. 19 Set To Organize For 5 Counties

A meeting scheduled Aug. 19 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, may mean the end of the annual barrage of requests for financial support from individuals and businesses each year.

The meeting will be an organizational session for the United Way for the Big Sandy, which will make it possible for contributors to many worthy causes to make a one-time contribution each year to United Way, with service groups and agencies sharing in the funds thus accumulated.

The Aug. 19 meeting will be held at 7 p.m. and at that time a board of directors will be chosen—five from each county of Big Sandy ADD (Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike).

Greg Hamlin, of Big Sandy ADD, said it is important that each of the five counties be well-represented at the meeting. After the board of directors is named, the directors will be divided into the various committees to activate and conduct the United Way program, which is described as "using our money to help our people."

Supporters of the United Way plan point out that many liberal donors to worthwhile causes tire as individual fund drives continue during each year, and eventually neglect some. "They become saddle-sore," one contributor said, "and that's when they stop giving, or neglect to give again and again."

Mr. Hamlin pointed out, also, that the five counties involved in the United Way (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

This Town...That World

Am not fully convinced that it's worth either my time or yours, but, as the old-timey letter-writer was wont to say, "I set myself down to drop you a few lines.

I'm one of these armchair baseball fans and am rather discombobulated by this threat of another strike. In this game it's three strikes and you're out. This will be Strike No. 2. Could the next one be the last out?

ANOTHER RIGHT

For all our dedication to human rights, it should be obvious that we aren't going to get anywhere in our efforts to get Russia to respect them. Important as human rights are, at this moment we should turn our thinking to humans' right to live.

Things have come to an unpretty pass. Fellow told me recently he had heard of one place in this country where the term, "mixed marriage," means a man and a woman.

HAS A REASON

Renewing his subscription, Scott Craft writes from California:

"I've lost all that I ever knew, except a few who are hanging in there, like myself. I feel I must last another year to get full benefit of The Times."

THE DUCK IS IDENTIFIED

Dorothy Sturgill now knows more about her star boarder, the goose (or duck) that was pictured in our last week's edition. It is the property of Bob Crum, of West Prestonsburg, who says

Bert Combs Day Scheduled

Eastern Kentucky will honor Ex-Governor Bert T. Combs, Saturday from 3 to 5 p.m. at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

The event has been proclaimed Bert Combs Day by Mayor Harold Cooley, of Prestonsburg, and residents of all counties in the area have been invited to greet Combs. The day is intended to serve as a thank-you from the people of his native Eastern Kentucky to Combs for the history-making achievements of his administration, notably those which have meant so much to the region.

The former Governor will speak briefly at a reception at the lodge. A golf tournament at the Jenny Wiley course that day is named in his honor.

Shortages Seen If Enrollment Gains Recorded

Along with another 51 of the state's 180 public school systems, Floyd schools will reopen next week after the summer break. However, the year begins here under a pall of uncertainty about the future of the school district and its top administrators.

Classes were originally scheduled to begin here tomorrow (Thursday) but several factors—the need to give teachers more preparation time, building repairs, hot weather, and public opposition to the early start—were cited by Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr. as reasons to postpone the opening until Monday.

Grigsby said yesterday (Tuesday) that he expects all schools to open on time. But if registration runs much higher than last year's opening-day figure of around 9400—a relatively low enrollment—shortages of staff and space could be expected, he said.

Crowding is likely to be acute in kindergarten classrooms, where enrollment is expected to swell as the result of a new state law. Under the law, children entering first grade in the 1986-'87 school term will have to have completed a public, Head Start or private kindergarten program. "Kindergarten could be terribly overcrowded," said Grigsby. "Where we're going to put these children, I don't know."

Groups Discuss Plans To Meet Major Disaster

Floyd county fire departments and rescue squads are attempting to coordinate their services to better cope in the event of a major disaster.

In a meeting held last Friday at the Floyd County Library, members of 19 emergency organizations from around the county gathered to discuss allowing the Disaster and Emergency Services department (DES), an agency of the Kentucky Department of Military Affairs, to aid them in constructing a more efficient method of dealing with both each other and victims, in the event of an earthquake or other such calamity.

Prestonsburg Fire Chief Tom Blackburn said DES would not be telling any of the various departments how to do their job, but would rather help in coordinating their efforts. He gave as an example that if one fire department was in need of certain supplies, another county fire department would be asked to help out under the system, though no law would require it to do so. Said Blackburn, "If they come to Prestonsburg and tell me they're going to take over my department, they're going to have a fight right there on the fire department floor."

Blackburn said the meeting was called because he and other county fire and rescue personnel realized that in the case of a countywide disaster, they would be unable to respond effectively. He said one of the things which had caused them to examine their potential effectiveness was a study done by the federal government which indicated the possibility of a severe earthquake in the state within the next few years. A major fault-line, the New Madrid fault, runs beneath a portion of Western Kentucky.

Things local emergency personnel need to consider, said Blackburn, include reliable sources of food, medical supplies and gasoline, as well as the possibility of being cut off from outside help for days or weeks. "Where will food come from, or water and gas? Who'll guard it? Who'll ration it? It's going to come down to the fire departments, police and rescue squads to be in charge. Looting will be the first problem," said Blackburn.

One proposal Blackburn made was to equip each county emergency organization with second radios for all vehicles and headquarters, so they could remain in contact with each other while still responding to calls from victims. Also, a mobile command post, an 18x20 foot trailer with its own power supply, already possessed by the Prestonsburg Fire Department, would be made available to any of the fire departments in need of it. All of these items would be supplied by the Prestonsburg department, paid for with grants and state allotment money, said Blackburn.

Blackburn cautioned that the DES proposals were not meant as a scare tactic. (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

"OPENING SPRING, 1986," the sign says—and progress is apparent in the erection of the Holiday Inn on the outskirts of Prestonsburg. The rapid rise of the steel frame of the First Commonwealth Bank on Arnold Avenue and continuing work on Prestonsburg Village, the city's newest shopping center, are further evidence of a busy construction season here.

Slower Speeds City To Beef Up Night Patrols On Span Asked As Burglary Increase Noted

In an effort to reduce what he sees as an inordinate number of traffic accidents, Police Chief Stan Fletcher says he is waging a campaign to reduce the speed limit on the Bert Combs bridge on U.S. 23 here.

According to Fletcher, more than 80% of all traffic accidents which occur in Prestonsburg happen within a one-mile radius of the bridge, with the majority being rear-end collisions on the bridge or at the intersection of Arnold Avenue and US 23 at the bridge's east end. He believes this is due largely to the 55-mph speed limit in effect until past the bridge for drivers coming toward town, which does not give them enough time to slow down for the 35 mph posted just before the traffic light at North Lake Drive. Fletcher proposes moving the 35-mph speed limit past the bridge and back to the city limits. He said most accidents involved out-of-town drivers unfamiliar with Prestonsburg.

Also in an effort to alleviate traffic problems there, Fletcher hopes to install police officers at that intersection during peak hours to direct traffic, manually. He said the intersection was inefficient in handling the traffic flow, with vehicles often lined up from the intersection past the bridge, and that officers could better judge which lanes should be moving. To protect the officers, Fletcher wants the authority to have a flashing yellow light while they are directing traffic. (See Story No. 8, Page 4)

In the wake of a recent rash of burglaries, Prestonsburg Police Chief Stan Fletcher says his department is beefing up its nighttime patrols.

According to Fletcher, city police investigated six burglaries during July, a traditionally heavy time for such crimes in the city, due to what he described as an influx of transients, plus carelessness on the part of citizens.

The burglaries under investigation include a July 1 break-in of the caboose-business office at Archer Park, from which nothing was taken; the July 11 break-in of a photography studio owned by Paula Goble, from which $100 and a radio were taken; the July 15 break-in of the mobile home of George Masone in the Porter Addition, in which a code-a-phone answering machine, a portable telex machine, one television, a clock-radio, and several vases and antiques were taken; the July 25 and 31 break-ins of Big Sandy Health Care Center offices; and the July 27 burglary of the home of Lisa Tussey, from which $800-$900 worth of merchandise was taken. Police recovered all of Miss Tussey's belongings, except for a pocket calculator.

Fletcher also said his officers had confiscated six marijuana plants last week at the home of Bud Calhoun, of Goble-Roberts, based upon information received from an unnamed source. Calhoun was issued a citation in the misdemeanor offense.

With the heavy criminal activity recently in the area, Fletcher said any person walking along city backstreets after midnight would be subject to identification by police officers. "We pretty much know people who belong on certain streets," said Detective Sgt. Mike Ormerod, "and if someone isn't recognized by an officer at that late hour, (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

Fired Employee Sues Mt. Comp Care Board

Directors of the Mountain Comprehensive Care Center—who were initially given until last Friday to reply to a recent report on the agency by the state Cabinet for Human Resources—have been granted an extension and now will not issue their response until after they meet August 19.

In the meantime, a former outpatient therapist who was fired by the agency in May has filed suit in Floyd Circuit Court, alleging that she was let go because she was thought to have cooperated with state investigators.

(A report on the investigation, completed in June, was critical of MCCC Executive Director David Bell. Some matters uncovered by the probe were referred to the attorney general's office for possible prosecution.)

(State auditors questioned salary advances and travel expenses paid to Bell and the report cited him for poor management and supervision. MCCC directors were faulted for poor attendance at board meetings and some were said to have improperly received insurance benefits from the agency.)

In an interview last week with a reporter for the Louisville Courier-Journal, Bell denied allegations of wrongdoing and poor management and attributed complaints to jealousy and "a little bit of politics."

"There's jobs here, and we basically have not hired for political reasons," Bell was reported to have said. "That's rare in Kentucky and to a certain extent it causes us problems from people who don't get jobs or promotions and want them."

But Colleen Risner, fired on May 13 within weeks of receiving a "most favorable" evaluation from her immediate supervisor, claims in her suit that many of the 11 employees fired or laid off around that time "were suspected of being critical of MCCC management and of cooperating with investigative authorities."

Prestonsburg attorney Ned Pillersdorf, who represents Risner and six other former employees of the mental health agency, roundly denied Bell's claim that the disgruntled workers were motivated by politics. The rash of layoffs and firings that shook the agency in May was directly related to the mismanagement and improprieties alleged in the report of the Human Resources Cabinet, the attorney said. MCCC administrators "wanted to get out people they thought were spilling the beans and to deter others from talking" to state investigators, he charged.

Meanwhile, at least three of the fired or demoted workers have been reinstated after their grievances were heard before a personnel committee of the MCCC board of directors; two more workers are awaiting a decision on reinstatement. Janie Hall, a registered nurse specializing in spouse and child abuse cases and one of MCCC's most outspoken critics, has been returned to her old job in the agency's Prestonsburg;

Wreck Victims Seek Damages

Traffic accident victims seek damages in two suits filed last week in Floyd Circuit Court.

Kay Rodebaugh was a passenger in a car driven by Cathy L. Allen when it was struck head-on Feb. 7 in Martin by a car driven by Timothy Bakay. Bakay was uninsured and Kentucky Farm Bureau Insurance Co., insurer of the Allen vehicle, refuses to pay her medical bills, Miss Rodebaugh claims in her suit.

Mrs. Allen, 33, of Hueysville, received serious head injuries in the accident and remains unconscious to this day in a Tennessee hospital. Bakay, 23, of Wheelwright, faces trial Dec. 2 on charges of drunk driving and assault.

In another suit, parents of Patrick McKinney and Stephanie Hall, 16-year-olds injured when a county school bus collided with a coal truck near Grethel on Feb. 3 last year, name as defendants the truck driver, Gene Pinson, 48, of Pikeville, Kenny Hurley, of Freeburn, owner of the truck, and the Floyd Board of Education. McKinney had his leg broken in the crash; Miss Hall suffered head and back injuries.

(Suits filed in court present only one side of the issues in dispute.)

LONG-FAMILIAR to Mountain Parkway travelers, toll plazas like this will soon be a dim memory. While few will mourn the passing of the tax—collected last Wednesday for the last time—the home stretch may sometimes seem longer and lonelier without the periodic glow of the plaza lights and the human faces within.

SQUIRREL SEASON BEGINS AUG. 17

Kentucky's 1985 squirrel hunting season will open on the traditional third Saturday in August (Aug. 17) and will run through Oct. 31, with the second phase of the split season scheduled for Nov. 21 through Dec. 31. Daily limits remain at six, with 12 allowed in possession after two or more days of hunting. The state Fish and Wildlife Commission considered a proposal earlier this year to delay the opening of the season until the middle of September, but decided to keep the season framework within its traditional form and to conduct an extensive hunter preference survey during this year's hunt. Squirrel hunters contacted by conservation officers will be asked to complete a brief questionnaire about their choice of opening dates.

TURKEY HARVEST UP

Hunters harvested 353 turkeys during Kentucky's 1985 Spring season April 20 through May 3. This figure represents a 29 percent increase over the 1984 harvest, according to Division of Wildlife Biologist George Wright, who is in charge of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' turkey restoration program. The area with the single largest harvest was Land Between the Lakes in Western Kentucky, where 181 turkeys were taken. The Harlan, Letcher and Pike counties area accounted for another 57, and 27 birds were taken in Christian County.

Turkey hunting in Kentucky is currently allowed only in limited areas of the state. Turkey hunters are required to purchase a $6.50 turkey permit in addition to a regular hunting license. Funds from the sale of these permits and licenses finance the turkey restoration project.

BEARS IN THE MOUNTAINS

Reports of black bears in Eastern Kentucky have increased greatly in the past couple of years. Recent sightings of bears have come from Magoffin, Letcher, Martin and Perry counties, according to Doug Hensley, Seventh Wildlife District representative on the Fish and Wildlife Commission.

Bears roam widely, and the ones sighted in Kentucky have probably wandered into the state from Virginia or West Virginia, states with established bear populations.

Although they can be extremely dangerous if molested, black bears generally pose no threat to humans if they are left alone. Bears are protected in Kentucky and may not be legally taken or molested.

Anyone sighting a bear should report the incident to the local conservation officer or call the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources at 1-800-25 ALERT.

ILLEGAL GEAR CONFISCATED

Working on information provided by local sportsmen, conservation officers with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources examined a stretch of the Kentucky River in Lee and Estill counties and confiscated one gill net, three hoop nets, two trammel nets and two untagged commercial trotlines. The team of officers also destroyed several illegal fish baskets. The devices mentioned are legal if used under certain conditions by licensed commercial fishermen but must be tagged with the owner's name and address.

DUCK NUMBERS DOWN

The total number of breeding ducks this year is the lowest recorded during 31 years of surveys, according to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Mallard populations are at an all-time low, while populations of pintails, shovellers, gadwalls, canvasbacks, and redheads also showed marked declines.

FISH AT NIGHT

The best mid-summer fishing occurs after the sun sets and boaters, skiers and other pleasure-seekers leave the water, according to Outdoor Writer Art Lander, Jr. Writing in the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources bi-monthly magazine, Kentucky Happy Hunting Ground, Landers says that almost all game fish, from bass to rainbow trout, are most active and do most of their feeding at night during the summer.

FESTIVAL BOARD TO MEET

Mrs. Maxine Bierman, director of the Jenny Wiley Festival, has announced a board meeting to be held Monday afternoon, August 19, at 4 o'clock, at the Floyd County Library. She urges all board members and other interested persons to attend.

RABIES

Though there seems to be a downward trend in incidence of rabies reported in Kentucky, residents of this state—especially residents of Eastern Kentucky—should be aware that the epizootic of rabies in raccoons that has occurred in the mid-Atlantic states has now spread into Virginia and West Virginia.

Only 53 confirmed cases of animal rabies were reported during 1984, according to Dr. Michael J. McDonald, Kentucky State Veterinarian, who said skunks are the chief reservoir for rabies in Kentucky. Of the 53 positive cases, 27 were confirmed in skunks, nine in dogs, seven in rats, six in foxes, three in horses, one opossum, one cat and one cow.

While the decline is statistically significant, Dr. McDonald noted, the reasons for it are unclear at present.

Distribution of the positive cases seems to be at random throughout the state. No county should be considered free of the possibility of rabies, though obviously there is no threat of epidemic proportions either.

Most cases in Kentucky are seen in early spring through the summer months.

Animal bites are the most likely method of human exposure. The most dangerous animal bites to humans are those from wild animals, especially skunks, foxes, raccoons and bats.

Several defense against rabies have been proven effective, the single most effective being immunization of dogs and cats. The vaccines have been proven effective and are moderate in cost.

Another important preventive measure is control of stray animals. Strays seen in neighborhoods should be avoided and reported immediately to the proper local authorities.

Extreme caution should be used if the animal exhibits signs of aberrant or unusual behavior or a disorder of the central nervous system—excessive salivation, circling, lack of coordination or disorientation.

Contact with obviously ill animals should be avoided, especially wild animals which appear to be injured or sick. Many people have a tendency to want to help animals in distress, and they should balance their compassion with common sense.

Remember that incubation time for rabies in wild animals can vary considerably. Generally the incubation period ranges from 15 to 30 days, but it may be even longer in some instances.

Though illegal, some persons still capture and keep wild animals as pets. They should remember that even young wild animals may have been exposed to rabies, so the animals should be confined for a prolonged observation period.

Animal bites should be reported to local health departments unless the victim is absolutely sure the biting animal has been vaccinated against rabies.

First aid for victims of animal bites includes immediately cleansing the wound with plenty of soap and water, then thoroughly flushing the wound with water while at the same time squeezing surrounding tissues to force the bite to bleed. The wound should be flushed to its complete depth.

Even if rabies is not suspected, seek medical advice immediately and attempt to locate the animal. The bite could easily result in tetanus infection and almost certainly will result in severe bacterial infection. If the animal must be killed it should be killed in such a manner as to avoid damaging the brain, which is needed to confirm or disprove rabies in the animal.

Any licensed Kentucky veterinarian is competent to give advice on rabies control and to inoculate your animals against the disease.

Bert Combs Day

Strikes us that this idea of a Bert Combs Day, at this particular time, is a good one.

It comes only a few days after one of the most monumental of his busy administration's enterprises, the Mountain Parkway, became a freeway, debt-free and the last toll collected. And, coincidentally, it precedes by only a few days the opening of the twenty-first year of Prestonsburg Community College, for which Ex-Governor Combs was responsible.

Bert Combs often expressed the hope that as governor of Kentucky he would "leave some tracks." And did he leave 'em!—highways, a trail-blazing community college system across the state, a state merit system, a state parks system that is the envy of many other states.

All these and more have been listed elsewhere on the credit side of the Combs ledger. But another achievement draws less recognition, yet belongs near the top of the list. That is the bold step of discarding the old paper ballot and its open invitation to election fraud for the voting machine. The machine may not be perfect, but gone, as a result of it, are the days of the "long count," the "chain ballot" and buried ballot boxes.

Yes, Bert Combs left tracks. And many of them were made in and for his native Eastern Kentucky. The good that he did will not be "interred with his bones" but will stand as shining examples of public service for others to try to match.

Now, we all have an opportunity to tell plain Mr. Combs that we are still grateful for what Governor Combs did for us. That opportunity comes this week (Saturday) at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, another of his "tracks." See you there!

It'll be routinely checked out." It is not local citizens police say are responsible for the higher crime rate. "Floyd county is beginning to be the hub of the area," said Fletcher. "Someone from a neighboring county can hit us and be home in 10 minutes," he added. Fletcher said that his department receives several reports a week from other police departments warning of transients and known criminals thought to be headed for Prestonsburg or Floyd county.

Many times Fletcher said, criminals are given a chance to strike when people leave their belongings in their yards or their doors unlocked. Fletcher said businesses especially need to make sure doors are locked at night. He said that in the last two weeks his officers had found five or six doors unlocked in downtown businesses, including two in one night.

And usually, items are stolen while owners are only briefly away from home, said Fletcher. Only one burglary had been reported this year in which the victim had been away for an extended period, he said.

Fletcher emphasized that much of the success his department enjoys in crime prevention is due to information supplied by citizens, and that the more care people take in securing their homes and valuables, the safer the city will be.

The U.S. Department of Labor has a toll-free number (1-800-368-1008) which farm workers and others can call to check the validity of farm labor contractors' certificates, according to a Labor Department fact sheet.

it's a Japanese duck and one of several which he has raised.

BORROWED ITEMS

It's a wise husband who will buy his wife such fine china that she won't trust him to wash the dishes.

Why does everyone want to be in the front of the bus, the rear of the church, and the middle of the road?

God seldom speaks to a man—while man himself is talking.

Bibles that are coming apart usually belong to people who are not.

I do not understand Christianity, I also do not understand electricity, but I don't intend to sit in the dark until I do.

One pastor said that his church people would be the first to go up in the Rapture. He gave his reason: "The dead in Christ shall rise first."

THE OLD EDISON

I may have mentioned, some years back, my experiences with the old Edison phonograph that made our house out in the country a center of attraction for several weeks.

It was the first "talking machine" in the community, and it drew just about everybody around to listen and marvel how a small wax cylinder could produce sound—a love song, a hymn, Sousa's band, an Uncle Jush monologue, the like.

This phonograph wasn't the kind you plugged in; you wound it up. There was a huge horn (remember the dog and the horn and his master's voice?) and a set of interlocking rods to support it. That was where I came in; as chief engineer in charge of operations it fell my lot to put these rods together, hook up the horn and ease one of those fragile wax cylinders into the machine. This was repeated every time a visitor came to hear this marvel of modern ingenuity, for the horn-supporting contraption wasn't to be left assembled when not in use. The job soon palled on me and I may have been, on occasion, less than a cheerful mine host after repeating the boring procedure half a dozen or so times.

During one of my not infrequent stints of wool-gathering recently, I fell to thinking of the old Edison, and I recalled one who found a special interest in it. He was a man who had served time for killing a man, and had not been home long. I dutifully set about entertaining him, and, running through our slim collection of records, I found and set the phonograph to playing "Almost Persuaded."

The man sat the record out, then as it ended said, "They played that song at almost every chapel meeting we had. It's the prettiest song in the world."

As I started to remove the record, he inquired, "Could you play it again?"

I wish now that I had studied the man's face while he listened to the hymn. It would be a nice touch to write of the emotion that gripped him, to be able to say, perhaps, that there was a tear. But I was a small boy, and his reaction to the hymn did not interest me. Nor did the hymn itself, at the time. I was more interested in the man's hands. Somebody had told me that he had another man's blood on them. But what I saw was clean.

I cannot tell you anything of the thoughts that ran through this man's mind as he listened to the melody or the words, "Almost persuaded" now to believe... some more convenient day... O, wanderer, come... harvest is past... 'Almost persuaded'... 'Almost' but lost."

But I can tell you that when the record ran down that second time and silence pervaded the room again; the man stirred in his chair and softly, almost apologetically, asked, "Would you play it again?"

office after being assigned in May to routine nursing duties in Pikeville. Secretary Robin Moore and bus driver Brenda Gullett have been reinstated. Mike and Connie Ferguson were still awaiting a decision Monday following hearings last week.

After originally holding that her grievance was invalid because it was filed by her attorney, MCCC has now offered to hear Mrs. Risner, but the 24-year-old therapist, who has since moved from Auxier to Florida in search of a job, has neither the resources nor the will to fight for her old job, her attorney said.

Her lawsuit names as defendants the mental health agency's board of directors, program director Fonetta Elam and personnel director Chuck Hicks. A memo from Elam to Hicks included the "patently false" assertion that Risner had received a poor work evaluation and a letter of termination written by Bell gave no reasons for firing her, the suit charges.

Filed last Wednesday, the suit seeks back pay and benefits and reimbursement for Risner's having to relocate and seek other work. It also asks that her work record be purged and that she be awarded punitive damages.

Although some of the agency's directors are said to be bent on seeking his resignation, the 41-year-old Bell told a reporter last week that he does not intend to step down, and board chairman Gary Sword said he knew of no plan to oust the executive director.

"I think we've taken care of the problems we had," Sword reportedly said. "Everything looks good to me at this point."

state Board of Education draws near, the future of the Floyd school board and superintendent remained a subject of speculation this week. Grigsby acknowledged but gave a qualified denial to rumors that he plans to resign as part of an agreement with his critics. "I have made no agreement to step down," he said. "Today, at this point, those rumors are not valid," he added.

Nor does Grigsby think that he or the Floyd board are vulnerable to removal by the state, which has challenged Floyd officials to show why it should not consider taking over the running of this school district. "You can't just up and remove people overnight," said Grigsby. "There is due process involved. It could be drug through the courts for years."

Asked whether the school district might yet meet the standards exacted by state officials, Grigsby said, "Our people are doing the best we can. We have complied with state requirements to the best of our ability. Whether that will be satisfactory to the state, I don't know."

The state board is next scheduled to meet September 10. The Floyd board meets tonight (Wednesday) at 7 p.m.

The school year begins here with five new principals heading county schools. After an Ohio principal turned the job down, Dempil Irene Goble, of Ivel, was named principal at Clark Elementary, replacing John K. Pitts, who has joined the district's central administrative staff. Mrs. Goble was formerly business teacher at Betsy Layne High School.

Gwen Harmon succeeds John Case as principal at Wayland Elementary; she was formerly assistant principal at Allen Central. Lonnie Slone, longtime Melvin grade school teacher, becomes principal at Wheelwright High School. Don Daniels, former coach at Wheelwright, will head Allen Central High School. David Hinchman, a teacher at Harold, will move into the principal's office there.

Zenith Hall, transferred last month from Prater Elementary to Wheelwright High School as social studies teacher and football coach, will now stay on as head teacher at Prater while retaining his new coaching job at Wheelwright. Jack Hall has been recruited from Elkhorn City to coach football at Betsy Layne. Jeff Reiley comes from Lawrence County High to coach basketball at Prestonsburg.

While most of the state's schools will not start back until the week of Aug. 19 and some not until Aug. 26, five districts, including Johnson county, opened this week and 52 will begin next week. Especially in the mountains, many districts are opening earlier than usual on account of the number of days lost last year—Floyd students were out 15 days in January and 12 in February—on account of snow and icy roads.

Under a new policy of the state Department of Education, no "calamity days"—days on which school does not have to be made up—will be granted until the first 20 missed days have been made up. Last year school districts had to make up only 15 days before being eligible for calamity days. Even with the postponement of school opening here, Floyd still has 20 snow days built into its calendar as state officials recommend, Grigsby said.

To enter grade one, a child must have turned six on or before October 1; for kindergarten, they must be five by the same date. Kindergarten students will register next Monday and Tuesday and will have full day sessions, some for two days a week, some for three.

Children enrolling in school for the first time will need a physician's certification that they have been immunized against diphtheria, tetanus, polio, rubella and rubeola and that they have had a TB skin test.

tic, but rather an attempt to improve service in the county as a whole. "If we plan for a major disaster," he said, "then maybe we can handle anything under that."

The group made tentative plans to meet monthly on Saturday evenings, to accommodate the work schedules of volunteer fire fighters. At the next meeting, which has not yet been scheduled, they intend to begin planning a countywide disaster drill.

To implement either of these goals, Fletcher said he needs the approval of the State Highway Department. The proposals were brought before the City Council by him at the council's last meeting, and were to be forwarded to the highway department.

VACATION AT MYRTLE BEACH

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Little, their daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kent Thompson and children, Lauren and Kara, of Williamson, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Greer and children, Kelly and Leeanne, of Ashland, spent several days last week vacationing at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Virgie Slone Bates would like to thank everyone for the love and kindness shown to them upon the passing of their loved one.

We want to express our gratitude for flowers, food, words of comfort and to all who helped during this sad time.

Thanks to the McDowell Hospital nursing staff, and Dr. and Mrs. Ruben Singayao, Hall Funeral Home and the ministers of the Regular Baptist Church.

Theatre Receives $30,000 Grant

State Commerce Secretary Carroll Knically, at left, presented a $30,000 outdoor drama grant check last week to the Jenny Wiley Theatre. With Knically, from left, are Crit Luallen, Frankfort, Commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Arts; State Rep. Greg Stumbo, Prestonsburg, House majority leader; Bari Kazee, president of the board of the Jenny Wiley Theatre, who accepted the check, and Steve Cornwell; general manager of the theatre.

The grant will help the outdoor theatre defray expenses connected with its 1985 production of three Broadway musicals. Steve Cornwell, general manager of the theatre, thanked State Representative Greg Stumbo for his assistance in obtaining the grant.

"He was very influential in keeping the grant amount the same as in the previous year," he noted.

The grant was presented at a reception at May Lodge during Government Appreciation Night at Jenny Wiley.

David School Receives Grant

The David School has received a $2800 grant from the Catholic Diocese of Covington to help finance the school's employment training programs.

The school offers job training at a gas station and market and individualized instruction for 55 young men and women who will complete their secondary education there after dropping out of regular high school.

Having to deal with real customers gives students unique training in operations and management, school officials point out. Applications are now being accepted and a waiting list is anticipated, they added.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Emma Tackett wishes to gratefully acknowledge the thoughtfulness and kindness of friends, relatives, and neighbors upon the loss of our loved one. Thanks to all who sent food, flowers, prayers or just spoke comforting words. A special thanks to Dr. Adkins and the 4th Floor Cardiac Unit of Pikeville Methodist Hospital, the Pilgrim Home Regular Baptist Church, members and ministers and the Hall Funeral Home for kind and courteous service.

Annual AARP Health Fair To Be Held At Hospital

Highlands Regional Medical Center and the Jenny Wiley Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons have announced that the AARP's annual Prestonsburg Health Fair will be held at HRMC. The fair will be held in the hospital's Learning Center from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 24.

Each year, the AARP chapter sponsors the health fair, which allows adults to obtain free health information as well as have a medical checkup. HRMC and several area physicians will volunteer their time for the free Health Fair.

"The motto of the AARP is 'To serve, not to be served,' and we're glad the Medical Center feels the same way," said Chapter President James E. Goble, of Prestonsburg. "After all, what better place to hold a health fair than in a hospital?"

HRMC Public Information Officer Kurt Pickering added, "The Medical Center is proud to be a part of any community event as worthwhile as this one."

HRMC's Learning Center is on the ground floor. Persons coming to the Medical Center for the Health Fair should go to the information desk in the main lobby. AARP volunteers will be on hand to direct them to the Learning Center.

Mud Creek Miner Hurt

A miner at the Jaco mine on Big Mud Creek was slightly injured yesterday (Tuesday) morning and flown by helicopter to the Albert B. Chandler Medical Center at Lexington.

According to Richard Watts, spokesman for the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, William Darrell Coleman was hurt at about 9:15 a.m., when struck in the back by a piece of heavy machinery. Coleman was taken for X-rays to the Mud Creek Clinic, and later flown to Lexington, accompanied by a mine official and a physician of the Mud Creek clinic.

Watts said Coleman's injuries were not serious, and that X-rays taken at Mud Creek revealed no broken bones. He said Coleman was conscious and mobile throughout the incident.

PHS Majorettes Win Camp Awards

The Prestonsburg High School majorette corps attended the Smith-Walbridge Camp at Marietta College, Marietta, O., June 19-21, where, for the third consecutive year, they were presented a plaque as the outstanding twirling group and were further honored by a member of their corps, Renee Kinzer, being named to receive the Smith-Walbridge 1985 outstanding camper award. In addition, the majorettes were evaluated individually each afternoon and evening on material taught. They were awarded several ribbons for their excellence.

Extension Cords Said Cause Of Major Home Blazes Here

If you're cited for improper use of an electrical extension cord, it is only because abusing extension cords is a major cause of household fires, Prestonsburg Fire Inspector Larry Adams wants you to understand.

Extension cord violations are the most frequently cited in his inspections of city dwellings and businesses, said Adams, who was recently reinstated as fire inspector. (Because of a staff shortage, Adams had been assigned to routine firefighting duties and the city was without a regular fire inspector for more than a year).

"I'm continually citing extension cords during inspections around the city," the fire inspector said this week, "and I want people to know why they're cited."

Of household fires originating in the electrical system, one fifth involve extension cords, he said. Fires can start when the cords are overloaded or frayed or improperly modified. And the householder can have a problem long before a fuse blows.

The reason, Adams explained, is that the most common extension cord—one that resembles the cord on a lamp—is the 18-gauge. Even assuming that it is not doubled up or covered by a carpet or rug, this type cord has a maximum rating of 10 amps. Most homes have circuits rated at 20 amps. That means that, if it is overloaded, an extension cord can melt down, short, and start a fire—and never trip a breaker or blow a fuse rated at 20 amps.

Running a cord under a carpet is asking for trouble. Using an extension cord to replace normal circuitry, or to power an appliance which is too far from an outlet for the regular cord to reach, is illegal.

Under state fire regulations, extension cords are acceptable only as a temporary expedient—to run a movie projector or small appliance, for example, or to light the Christmas tree—and for a short duration.

According to a study conducted by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, improper use of electrical extension cords is responsible for 20 fires each day in homes across the country. That adds up to 7400 fires a year, causing 80 deaths, 360 injuries and property damage totalling $74 million.

Anyone with questions about extension cords or the fire code is invited to call Adams at the city Code Enforcement office (886-2335) or the Prestonsburg Fire Department (886-1010).

COUNCIL ON MINISTRIES MEETS

An all-day meeting of the Council on Ministries of the First United Methodist Church was held at May Lodge, Saturday, July 27, to assess the needs of the church and to make plans for the program for the forthcoming year. Miss Phyllis Hail, from the Council on Ministries, Lexington, served as consultant, and Tom Price, of the local church, acted as chairman of the committee. Following the meeting, the pastor, Dr. Lowell Langefeld and about 20 others in attendance, had lunch at the lodge.

OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Mary Jane Brown was honored at her home, Tuesday, July 30, in celebration of her birthday. Enjoying this occasion with her were her husband, George D. Brown, and members of their family: Mrs. Mabel Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Brown, Lloyd Brown, and Dr. and Mrs. Gary D. Brown, of Prestonsburg; Mr. and Mrs. George C. Brown, and daughter Jan, Louisa; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Brown and daughter, Laura, and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Neeley, Abbott road, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown and children, Jennifer, Douglas and Drew, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne L. Brown and daughter Jillyan, of the Mountain Parkway.

Decorated birthday cake and other refreshments were served.

The honoree was the recipient of many gifts, and received a large number of cards and telephone calls from relatives and friends.

RETIRED TEACHERS TO MEET

Mrs. Danese Amburgey, president of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association, reminds members of the luncheon-meeting to be held at May Lodge tomorrow (Thursday). Atty. Woodrow Burchett will speak on "The Importance of Wills." Mrs. Amburgey and other members extend a special welcome to the 37 Floyd county teachers, who retired this year, to attend this event.

83-Year-Old 'Compulsive' Poet

Mrs. Thacker reading aloud one of several hundred of her poems.

Eighty-three-year-old Rosa "Rose" Thacker, of Arkansas Creek, is a great-grandmother who can't quit writing poetry. She says her husband, Noah, now dead for a decade, often chided her in hopes she'd quit.

"He just wanted all my attention," explains Rose. "I never did plumb quit... I write one (poem) every day, if not two."

Her short-lived resolution to stop, because of failing eyesight and poor health, is documented in the first stanza of a poem she wrote this spring as a hospital patient:

"I didn't intend to write anymore
But that intention was before
I had this visit or this stay
At a hospital called Our Lady of the Way..."

"I couldn't sleep," says Rose. "So I searched in my purse for a paper to write on. I wrote that poem on the back of a grocery list." The nurses complimented in the poem's third and fourth verses managed to get that particular poetic piece typed. But hundreds of Rose's poems are handwritten on lined paper and kept in a brightly decorated gift box crowned with a huge bow.

"I wrote my first poem in the fifties," says Rose. "I remember the date was February 20, but I can't remember the year... I wrote on paper bags when I first started. It was hard times then."

Faith, family, nature, the "good old days" and the pain of separation are recurring themes of Rose's verses. Some of the poems are reminiscences; others are poignant personal responses to kindnesses or disappointments.

Rose thinks her writing skills originated with the story-telling skills of her mother and developed through her own efforts to change song lyrics during her childhood.

"I always volunteered to rock and sing to my baby brother Lum during dishes," says Rose. With a twinkle she confesses, "Of course I quit soon as they were over."

Rhyming took a backseat during Rose's child-rearing years. She and Noah raised six children—four boys and two girls—and it wasn't until they were all grown and gone that she started putting her thoughts into verse and her verse on to paper.

Many of Rose's poems are written to, about or for her family members. During her writing years, Rose's family has expanded to include 22 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

Rose's children are much more enthusiastic about her writing than their father was. Son Noah Junior not only built her writing and lap desks, but has taken to writing some poems of his own. The others treasure their collections which Rose compiles in spiral notebooks for them.

"Writing is just about my whole life," says Rose. "It helps me a whole lot."

In one of her poems, Rose says of aging that there is "more to do than shedding salty tears."

For Rosa Thacker, that doing is writing poetry.

Caudill And 'Experts' Set for Aug. 8 Faceoff

Are the so-called "experts" in teacher education programs to blame for Kentucky's academic problems? Or is the state of education in Kentucky a victim of the changing society and inadequate funding?

Kentucky's teacher education programs will be discussed when "The People's Business" airs live on Thursday, August 8, at 7 p.m. (ET) on KET.

Guests for this week's show will be Kentucky author Harry M. Caudill; Dr. Connie Bridge, associate dean of graduate and undergraduate studies at the University of Kentucky, and Dr. J. Linward Doak, associate dean at Eastern Kentucky University's College of Education.

The "experts," (college education instructors preparing today's teachers), are to blame for the crises in learning, according to an editorial written by Caudill and appearing in the June 30 edition of the Lexington Herald-Leader. The editorial prompted an outcry from academicians and citizens across the Commonwealth.

Emphasis is placed on "the methodology of teaching," said Caudill, "so that the new teachers reached the classrooms largely ignorant of mathematics, the sciences, history and literature."

"This closed system," Caudill continues, "stands before us as a dismal failure, its hand outstretched for more money, promising...to give us good schools if we will only give it more cash."

"If Kentuckians want good schools they must take them out of the hands of these false prophets," said Caudill.

"Certified teachers are "well-prepared academically and professionally," countered Eugene H. Wilson, associate professor at U.K.'s College of Education, in her July 23 Lexington Herald-Leader letter to the editor.

"Since few college professors use teaching methods other than lecture, methodology courses model and offer opportunities to practice not only lecture but also a variety of other techniques," said Wilson.

The viewer call-in number for the hour-long show is 606-233-3000. Collect calls are accepted.

Martin County Night Rescheduled Aug. 13

Due to the rainout of Jenny Wiley Theatre's July 26 production of A FUNNY THING HAPPENED ON THE WAY TO THE FORUM, Martin County Appreciation Night has been rescheduled for August 13.

Residents of Martin county and employees of businesses located in that county will receive $2 off the regular ticket prices.

The evening is designed to thank the residents of Martin county for their support of the theatre and to encourage all residents to experience live musical theatre.

Showtime is 8:30 p.m. For ticket information and reservations call 886-9274.

DON'T LET WINTER TAKE YOUR HEATING BILLS FOR A RIDE.

When temperatures take the plunge this winter, your heating bills needn't climb. Not if you're on Columbia's Budget Payment Plan.

The plan averages your bills into 12 equal payments, so there are no peaks and valleys because of the weather. Instead, the monthly amount stays the same...higher than you now pay in the summer, but a lot lower in the winter.

Rather than ups and downs, your gas bills stay on a smooth, even track all year 'round.

It's easy to be a Budget Payment customer, too. All you do is pay the "Budget Amount" on your August bill, and you'll be billed that amount every month. Your meter will continue to be read as usual, and each month's bill will continue to show the amount of gas you used. A review in March determines if your budget amount needs to be adjusted because of weather.

Another good idea: sign on for Checkfree, too. It automatically makes your gas payment from your checking account each month, so you save time, postage and check charges.

Join the Columbia Budget Payment Plan. You'll take the ups and downs out of your heating bills...and leave the high cost of winter behind.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brown, of Milford, O., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Donna Marie, to Mr. Joe Hall, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hall, of Topmost, Ky.

Miss Brown is a 1985 graduate of Hillsboro High School and is employed at McMullen and Davis, Attorneys, in Hillsboro, Ohio. Mr. Hall is employed by GMS No. 2 Mining Co., at Topmost.

The wedding vows will be solemnized September 3.

About Nutrition...

Debunking Some Popular Myths

Old beliefs die hard, especially when it comes to eating.

Over the years, many people have accumulated myths about food and eating habits from their families, from what they read or from their own experiences. Here are some popular myths and the facts about each:

1. MYTH: It is impossible to lose weight if you travel or eat out frequently.

FACT: Meal options approved by the American Heart Association can be found in some restaurants, hotels and even airplanes. To reduce portion size, choose appetizers as the main course, order a la carte or share food with a companion. Order dressings and sauces on the side. Look for terms on the menu that signify low-fat preparation, such as steamed, poached and broiled. Avoid foods that are buttery, buttered, fried, creamed, "in its own gravy" or in hollandaise or cream sauce. Ask for low-fat and non-fat dairy products and margarine instead of butter. Trim visible fat from meat and remove skin from poultry.

2. MYTH: Overweight individuals eat more because they are hungrier.

FACT: People who are overweight begin with the same appetite as those who are not overweight. Overeating may come from a genetic hormone disorder, but most overweight individuals eat out of habit or psychological need.

3. MYTH: Carbohydrates should be avoided, especially if you are trying to lose weight, because they are high in calories.

FACT: Not all foods high in carbohydrates are high in calories. Complex carbohydrates, found in vegetables, beans, cereals and some fruits, contain essential nutrients with the calories. Simple carbohydrates found in refined sugars contain primarily calories, not nutrients.

4. MYTH: Nondairy creamers are better for your health than cream.

FACT: Although the American Heart Association recommends using low-fat and non-fat foods rather than whole dairy products, beware of most imitation dairy products, including nondairy creamer. Many of these contain coconut oil, a highly saturated fat, as a substitute for butterfat.

5. MYTH: All vegetable oils and shortening are high in polyunsaturates.

FACT: Not all vegetable oils are unsaturated. Certain vegetable oils, such as palm and coconut oil are high in saturated fats. You will find these primarily in commercially baked goods, cookies and candies.

6. MYTH: Children can eat what they want because they are unaffected by the dangers of atherosclerosis.

FACT: Dietary changes begun in childhood and maintained for a lifetime may reduce the risk of heart disease, since atherosclerosis (a buildup of cholesterol and other fats in the arteries) often begins in youth and progress through young adulthood. It also seems that minimal or "early" atherosclerosis, expected in younger patients, may be more likely to regress than advanced disease would. AHA recommends a prudent modification of diet in healthy children over the age of two years through adolescence and into their adult life.

Plants Fight Back

By GERRY BISHOP

Insects have been chomping on plants for a long time. But the plants haven't been standing around doing nothing. Scientists are just now discovering some of the ways plants battle back:

• The "zappers"—Certain plants use sunlight to "zap" their insect enemies. The sunlight these plants take in helps make special chemicals in their leaves. When an insect comes along and takes a bite, the chemicals burn it.

• The "tricksters"—Trees can make more bad-tasting chemicals in some of their leaves than in others. This tricks the insects into crawling around looking for leaves that have a better taste. As they crawl, they are more likely to be seen by hungry birds.

• The "talkers"—Willow trees, and perhaps some others, can warn trees of their own kind that insects are on the attack. When insects start nibbling on one tree, it gives off a scent that may be picked up by others nearby. The scent tells the other trees to quickly make chemicals in their leaves that insects don't like.

Scientists hope to someday put what they are learning to good use. If we can find natural ways to protect our crops from pests, we won't have to use as many poisonous, polluting chemicals.

Heavy Enrollment Anticipated at PCC, Early Dates Changed

Due to the large number of students expected this fall at Prestonsburg Community College, orientation has been rescheduled for Tuesday, August 20, beginning at 8:30 a.m. All new students, including those enrolled in the 1985 summer session and planning to register for 9 or more credit hours this fall, are to attend the orientation, which will take place in the Pike Technology Building.

Registration will begin Thursday, August 22. Students who attended the college during the 1985 spring semester or summer session will register Thursday and Friday, August 22-23. New students who failed to register will enroll for classes on Monday, August 26, between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Evening class registration will be held Thursday, Aug. 22, and Monday, Aug. 26, from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. All registration will be in the Pike Technology Building. For additional information concerning the 1985 fall semester, call 886-3863.

Ohio Firm To Install Ky. Pavement Markers

The state Transportation Cabinet has awarded three contracts to Ampco Corporation of Columbus, Ohio, for the installation of reflecting pavement markers on selected roadway sections throughout the state.

"This project is 100 percent federally funded and will help make Kentucky's highways as safe as possible," said state Transportation Secretary C. Leslie Dawson. "The small reflectors have been used in some areas to mark the center line, and are more easily seen than painted lines, especially at night and during rainy or foggy weather."

Ampco Corporation received a $921,279 contract to install markers on US 460 and KY 15 in this and other counties of Highway District 12.

Elder, Wall To Play In Lexington Tourney

Two more senior PGA Tour players have committed to play in the Citizens Union Senior Golf Classic. Lee Elder and Art Wall will play at Lexington's Griffin Gate Golf Course, Aug. 28-Sept. 1, along with 50 other senior PGA Tour players and 200 amateur players.

This will be a return appearance for Wall who played last year in the Lexington tournament. In 1984, Wall finished 18th on the PGA Tour top money winners' list.

Elder who last week placed fourth in the PGA money leaders will play in Lexington for the first time. Elder won two senior PGA tournaments in 1984, the Suntime Senior Classic and the Hilton Head Senior International. He finished 10th on the top money winners' list in 1984.

Girl Scouts Grant

The Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council has been awarded a challenge grant of $75,000 from the Kresge Foundation toward the construction of a new Girl Scout Service Center in Lexington. The center will offer facilities for adult training, programs for girls, and volunteer meetings. It will feature a self-service materials and equipment center, and provide display space for program materials, including Girl Scout historical items.

ORDER CLEAN-UP AS WATER HERE IS CONDEMNED

Sanitation Movement Given Teeth by Health Unit Action

FILTER RECOMMENDED

Condemnation of the water supply for Prestonsburg and an order for a general clean-up of the town were made Saturday by M. W. Steele, a director of the Kentucky Board of Health...

As a result, much work has already been done toward cleaning the streets and property of Prestonsburg of refuse, and a greater amount of work is to be done.

Dr. Steele said this week that, in all his travels over Kentucky, he had never visited a town with worse sanitary conditions than those of Prestonsburg.

In ordering citizens to begin an intensive clean-up campaign, the health department has not nor will not play favoritism of any sort, it is announced. Prosecution of those who fail to comply with the order will be made.

A letter addressed to the mayor and city council by the health officials follows in part:

"After having made a careful inspection of the city water supply, we find that it is very unsafe for use by the people and urge that immediate steps be taken to remedy this condition.

"We recommend a modern filter plant to be installed as early as possible.

"We do now condemn said water supply, but do not now advise cutting off the water, but as an emergency measure we urge that all possible precautions be taken to see that all water from said city supply be boiled before being used in drinking, or any household purpose, washing vegetables, utensils, etc."

Dr. E. E. Martin resigned last week as director of the health unit in this county, and Dr. Grant Rice, of Oil Springs, Johnson county, was appointed to succeed him. Dr. Martin resigned upon his decision to practice his profession as a regular physician. In securing Dr. Rice as health officer, Floyd county is to be congratulated, Dr. Steele said this week, adding that Dr. Rice is well and favorably known by the Kentucky Board of Health for his ability.

Misses Katherine Small and Regina Bitts, of California, are connected with the unit as county health nurses.

SAMPSON IN ADDRESS HERE FRIDAY EVENING

Judge Flem D. Sampson, Republican gubernatorial candidate, addressed a large crowd of voters at the courthouse here Friday night.

Judge Sampson outlined a program which he expected to follow in the event of his election, and his speech was well-received by the audience.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE ON ROADS

Cliff Bridge Open; Auxilier Span Near Completion

Profiting from the fine weather of the past few weeks, contractors have made good progress in road construction in this county.

The bridge at Cliff, across the Big Sandy river, has been opened for traffic, and the bridge at Auxier is ready for the fill approaching the span, and as soon as this work is completed the work will be ready for inspection.

Contractors on the Middle Creek road are completing construction on the third mile, and the fourth mile of the Big Mud road is being constructed. Drainage structure on the Mayo Trail, Prestonsburg to Harold, is fairly well completed except for the bridge across Cow Creek, it was said this week.

Henry Tracey Dies Monday of Dropsy

Henry Tracey, 24 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Tracey, of Garrett, died at his parents' home Monday evening of dropsy.

Surviving him are his parents, two sisters, Mrs. Will Ramsay, of Pikeville, and Mrs. Pricey Hodge, of Garrett, and a brother, Enos Tracey, of Garrett.

Funeral services were conducted at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. Henry Evans, of the Christian Church, and burial was made in the Webb cemetery at Garrett. Funeral and burial were under the direction of G. D. Ryan.

SAYS HICKS HAS $90,000 FUNDS

Olive Hill, Ky., Oct. 29.—A. J. Stamper, president of the Carter County Commercial Bank, said today that he believed H. G. Hicks, 52, cashier of the bank, whose accounts are about $90,000 short, has the money in his possession. Hicks stated yesterday that he had loaned the money to his friends.

According to President Stamper today, Hicks was bonded at $30,000, but the deficit will probably wipe out the bank's surplus. The depositors will lose nothing, however, and the bank is continuing business.

Hicks, charged with embezzlement, waived examining trial here today and was held to the grand jury of November 14, under $15,000 bond, which was furnished.

The shortage was discovered by state bank examiners yesterday. Hicks is also postmaster here, and postal inspectors today pronounced his postoffice accounts as straight.

S. A. Phillips, deputy state banking commissioner, said today that a complete audit of the bank's books will be made next week.

Hicks has served as postmaster here the past fifteen years, and has been cashier of the bank fourteen years.

Mrs. Henry Mellon, of Huntington, W. Va., was the Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ep Laferty.

A. C. Carter and George Shell will leave Sunday for Cincinnati to bring here a new-model Buick which John Shell has purchased from Mr. Carter.

TIME DEFEATS P'BURG ELEVEN LAST SATURDAY

Pikeville Grid Team Victorious Saturday 18 to 12

Time, which sooner or later overcomes us all, halted the Prestonsburg High School football eleven's march toward the touchdown necessary to stave off defeat Saturday in the game at Pikeville with the football team there. Result: 18-12, Pikeville.

When the final whistle blew, the ball lay on Pikeville's 12-yard line as the result of a forward pass, Rose to Hunley. A few minutes before, the referee took the unkindest cut of all at the local team by imposing on it a 40-yard penalty for alleged slugging. This placed the oval within a few yards of Prestonsburg's goal, with the result that Jenkins, Pikeville's halfback, went over for the touchdown which broke the 12-12 tie.

In all, the Prestonsburg team was penalized approximately 100 yards. Another 40-yard penalty was given the team when "Big" Rose interfered with a Pikeville player receiving a forward pass. Pikeville's penalties reached the high water mark of five yards.

Prestonsburg opened the game with a passing attack, which was none too efficacious at times, though the aerial game proved the team's big threat. With a heavy line and a husky backfield, Pikeville opened up with off-tackle plays and end runs, but Prestonsburg's line held like a stone wall in the first quarter and the Pikeville attack availed little.

When Pikeville's punt was blocked in the first quarter, Rose took the ball and heaved it to Hunley, who ran for a touchdown. Score, 6-0.

In the second quarter, Pikeville was clearly outplayed, with Rose's pass to Hunley featuring. The ball traveled about 30 yards, and Hunley was almost loose for another touchdown.

Prestonsburg kicked off at the beginning of the second half. After being held to negligible gains, Pikeville fumbled, but Prestonsburg was penalized for being offside. Then Jenkins set sail on an end run for 50 yards and a touchdown. Score: 6-6.

Pikeville made about 15 yards on the kickoff, and Prestonsburg failed as badly on the attack. Before the charges of the heavy up-river team, Prestonsburg's line wilted momentarily, and one play was good for 30 yards through the line. Prestonsburg's line stiffened in the shadow of its own goal and contested every inch of the way, but Pikeville finally pushed over its second touchdown, leading now, 12 to 6.

The fourth quarter opened, with both teams exchanging compliments in the matter of intercepting the other's passes. After a 30-yard end run, Rose shot a pass to Hunley 35 yards away, and the Prestonsburg quarterback stepped off the remaining 30 yards for a touchdown, knotting the score at 12-12. Not an extra point was added during the game.

Then came the disastrous penalty as the game drew to a close. On the play following the penalty, Jenkins made his third touchdown for Pikeville.

Lateral passes were repeatedly attempted during the game, and in only one instance did it gain ground. Both teams fought hard, and Prestonsburg gave everything it had, fighting in the face of odds created by the Pikeville team's greater weight.

Hunley, Campbell and Rose did excellent work in the backfield. Hunley's all-round play was fine, and, with the aid of Rose's passes, he scored both touchdowns for Prestonsburg. With a bit of interference, he would have chalked up at least one more touchdown and probably two. "Red" Campbell was in the melee up to his neck, and so was Rose. Bill Bingham and Hatcher played well in the line. The entire forward wall of the team stood up wonderfully well against the heavier Pikeville team.

Pikeville has the makings of a fine football team, and, given proper coaching, will be heard from next year.

89 DOGS LICENSED THIS YEAR. RECORDS SHOW

Though there are between 4,000 and 5,000 dogs in this county, only 89 have been licensed this year, records in the county clerk's office show. Two dog licenses have been issued within the last three months.

Last year, tags were procured for about 1,000 dogs.

REPORT OF THE PRESTONSBURG CITY SCHOOLS

More Than 625 Are Enrolled In Schools Here

This report of the schools of Prestonsburg for the first six weeks' period ending October 28, is presented to you for your careful reading and study. There are at present over 625 pupils enrolled in the schools. More are coming. We think that we will not be crowded, yet each week gives us the impression that all are not in school. The superintendent from one window counted more than ten children of apparent school age whose names do not appear on our records.

The Parent-Teachers Association has started with a good attendance and every parent and friend to the school could find a way to aid the school materially by becoming members of the Association. Come to the meetings and get in step with your neighbors in this movement to aid the school.

Those averaging 90% and upwards: High School—H. D. Allison, Principal. SENIORS—Ruth Ball, Margaret Dings, Angeline Layne, No. 2, 89 per cent; Winfield Marshall, Margaret May, Irene Patton, No. 1, 90 per cent.

IN AUTO WRECK

County Court Clerk I. A. Smiley and George Stephens narrowly escaped serious injury last week in Ashland, when Mr. Smiley's automobile crashed into a policeman's machine at the underground crossing at 16th and Carter. Both autos were badly damaged. A small daughter of the policeman was slightly injured about the face. The accident was unavoidable, since Mr. Smiley first saw the other car when he was only a few feet away.

Rev. Barnette, Faculty Member, Training School

Rev. E. H. Barnette, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, here, is in Ashland this week as a member of the faculty of the Standard Training School for Sunday School teachers, officers and workers, which is in session at the First M. E. Church, South, there. The school will be conducted until Friday, November 4.

Other members of the faculty working with the Reverend Barnette are F. M. Thornburg, of Huntington, W. Va.; Miss Willette A. Allen, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. M. H. Wade, elementary superintendent, Western Virginia conference; Rev. A. J. Walton, Huntington, W. Va.; Rev. H. W. Ware, Parkersburg, W. Va. Rev. Barnette was an instructor in a similar school in Charleston, W. Va., last week.

ORDER SHORTAGE CURTAILS MINING

Operations at 5 Mines In County Suspended, Report

Shortage of orders for coal has curtailed mining activities in the Beaver Creek section of this county, reports say, and five mines have suspended operation, it is said, and several hundred miners are unemployed.

A report reaching here says that the Lackey Mining Company's three mines, Black Diamond, Zella and Superior, have ceased operation, and that the steel is being pulled from mines 25 and 26 of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation in Stone Coal, near Garrett. Work at the Wells-Elkhor Coal Company mines, West Garrett, has been limited to three days a week, it is said.

J. D. Barney planned to open work at his mines at Garrett and Bosco this week, it was learned here.

Word received here later says that, though coal activities have slackened, work is expected to pick up.

ATTEND FUNERAL AND BURIAL AT EAST POINT

Among those from Prestonsburg who attended the funeral of Mrs. Sallie Rice and her little granddaughter, who were killed last week by a train near Auxier, were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Morell and sons, James and Billy, Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Nicholls, Mrs. Grace Ford, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Patton, Mrs. S. C. Ferguson, Mrs. W. W. Williams, Mrs. A. J. May, Mrs. Bascom May, Mrs. W. S. Wells, Mrs. Maggie D. Hatcher, Mrs. S. P. Davidson, Mrs. William Dings, and W. A. Dings.

The funeral was conducted by the Rev. L. F. Caudill, of Salyersville, and the Rev. C. H. Nicholls, of Prestonsburg.

PURCHASE MADE OF PURITY MINES

Purchase of the Purity Cannel Coal Company's holdings on Abbott Creek was made last week by Sam Porter, of Ashland, well-known coal operator of this section, from Hiram Fitzpatrick and John Hunley. Amount of money involved in the transaction was not given out.

The Purity Cannel Coal Company has under lease approximately 600 acres of a fine vein of coal, consisting of a stratum of cannel coal and a layer of bituminous.

Repair work about the mines and on the railroad connecting the operation with the main line is being made now, and loading is expected to be begun next week, though coal may not be shipped until November 20. While work will be begun in openings on one side of the creek, four pairs of headings will be driven later on the left side of Abbott, it is said. Repair work is also being made on houses for miners.

MASQUERADE PARTY GIVEN BY REBEKAHS

Miriam Chapter, Order of Rebekahs, entertained with a masquerade party Friday evening in the lodge rooms, with 45 members and 37 guests present.

Mrs. Bess Reatherford received first prize for the most attractive costume; Mrs. Mary D. Allen, second prize, for the most comical costume, and Mrs. Chas. Oppenheimer, third.

After unmasking, members and guests enjoyed delightful refreshments.

LAWYER FARLEY VICTIM MONDAY IN RAIL TRAGEDY

Body Brought Here; Shipped to Ivyton for Burial

KILLED AT IVEL

Lawyer Farley, a resident of this county, was struck and instantly killed by a west-bound freight train about 1:30 o'clock Monday morning, at Ivel. The body was picked up by the train crew and brought here, where burial preparations were made by E. P. Arnold and Company.

According to a report received here from Ivel, members of the train crew stated that Farley was first seen by them while he was sitting on the tracks, attempting to get something from his shoe, before the train could be stopped he was struck. The back of his head was crushed, and his jaw and a leg were broken.

The victim, a man of about 25 years, had but recently been released from the Pike county jail. He was identified here by a receipt from the "kangaroo court" judge, Joe Jacks, issued, presumably, when he left the jail.

Farley is survived by his widow, who is a daughter of Ireland Thompson, of Buffalo Creek, this county, his children, his mother, of Ivyton, Magellan county, three brothers and four sisters. The body was shipped to Ivyton for burial.

$17,000 GIVEN PIKE COLLEGE

Boys' Dormitory Approved, With $40,000 Subscribed

Pikeville, Ky., Oct. 29.—The Rev. Samuel R. Currey, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Ashland, spoke at the Founders' Day programme at the Pikeville College here today. The address was an exposition of the advantages of the life anchored in Christian education as a suitable preparation for "sailing the seven seas."

Students of the college furnished special music. At noon dinner was served on Derriana Heights to students of the school and alumni.

Founders' Day brought several valuable gifts to the school, Dr. J. F. Record, president, said today. James D. Francis, of Huntington, W. Va., gave $10,000. Mr. Francis is a former student of the college. Senator Ernst gave $5,000; R. A. Cochran, $1,000, and Dr. D. F. H. McDowell, $1,000.

Dr. F. E. Stockwell, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, Philadelphia, spoke at the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday night.

At a meeting of the board of trustees yesterday steps were taken which it is believed will soon make the school, now a two-year college, a four-year standard college. It was decided to increase the endowment for that purpose. In furtherance of the plan a meeting of the finance committee of the board will be held in Cincinnati in November.

The board also approved the erection as early as possible of a boys' dormitory, toward which $40,000 has already been subscribed. Besides the local board, consisting of T. H. Harman, Linton Trivette, A. E. Auxier, a number of visiting trustees composed the meeting. They were Senator Richard P. Ernst, Covington; James D. Francis, Huntington, W. Va.; Dr. A. P. Higley, Cleveland, O.; Dr. W. L. McCormick, Philadelphia; Dr. Charles McGinley, Centralia, Ill.; Robert A. Cochran, Maysville; Dr. John Barbour, Prestonsburg, and Dr. F. H. McDowell, Pittsburgh, Penn.

Adds 17 Purebreds To County Farms

County Agent Fred Lawson reports that, since beginning work in this county, 17 pure-bred sires have been purchased by Floyd county farmers. To this list will be added soon two pure-bred Hereford bulls, one for John Branham, of this place, and the other for Willie Hall, of Dewey.

A venture in alfalfa will be made next year by Bascom May, who has ordered through Mr. Lawson a carload of limestone for use on four acres of land which he expects to sow in this crop.

Young Musician Credits Others

AN ACCOMPLISHED PIANIST, David Banner Leslie, III, finds his greatest enjoyment at the piano, both in playing and teaching others.

It's no secret that the Appalachian foothills have produced many talented and artistic people. Some, like Jesse Stuart and Loretta Lynn, are famous for their gifts. Most are not. These special people are known mainly to family and friends, and maybe a few others, but largely go unsung. One such person is Prestonsburg's native son, David Banner Leslie, III, a talented pianist and teacher.

Born here 26 years ago, Leslie would scoff at being mentioned in such illustrious company, but he nonetheless possesses impressive musical abilities which he regularly shares both with members of the First United Methodist Church of Prestonsburg, where he has played for a good part of the last decade, and those he teaches at his Arnold Avenue studio.

Leslie, or "David Banner," as he is known to most, began piano lessons at the age of 8, when his mother, the late Beatrice Leslie, enrolled him for instruction under Mrs. Edith James, with whom he studied for about five years. He credits Mrs. James with instilling in him a love of music. "Miss Edith was my first teacher. The best thing she did for me was to make me practice a song till I had it down completely. She'd never let me play a harder song than I was ready for. That let me really get into each song and appreciate it for itself," he said.

Other teachers followed. John Grant Wheatley taught Leslie what he terms his "modest sense of showmanship," and Don Fernandez taught him scales. Patricia Flannery showed Leslie "how to attack music and achieve it. Maybe by that time I was just ready to do it, I don't know," he said. He was a high school freshman when he began with Mrs. Flannery, and remained with her the four years until graduation.

During those high school years, two other teachers had a strong influence on him as well. "I didn't study under them in the same sense I studied under Pat and some of the others," he said, "but two of the best teachers I ever had were Kathryn Frazier and Carlos Haywood. I'd even say they're my best friends." He credits Haywood with teaching him to accompany choral groups, and Frazier with always pushing him to strive for excellence.

"Those ladies have always been a great influence on me," he said. "They've helped me to grow both as a musician and as a person."

Leslie said Mrs. Frazier was a particularly strong influence after his parents died.

"My father died in 1972, while I was in eighth grade, and my mother died about 11 months later, during my freshman year of high school. Miss Kathryn helped me through a lot of rough times during that period. In a lot of ways she took the place of my parents. But I wouldn't want to forget about my aunts and uncles who took me in back in those days. I really don't think I could have made it without my family," he said.

But life has not all been hard for Leslie, and most of his good times have centered around his music.

"I love teaching piano," he said. "I hope to continue teaching for the rest of my life." Leslie began teaching piano while still in high school, though he gave it up for a few years while in college. While attending the University of Louisville he came under the tutelage of the person whom, he says, shaped the way he teaches today.

"Evelyn Aldridge was the best teacher I had in college," he said. "She taught me the basics of music. She put her whole heart and soul into the music she played. She taught me how to teach, to feel the music, to feel deep, not to feel on the surface."

Leslie likes to reminisce, and one of his favorite stories involves his early days at the piano.

"I was in about fourth grade, and every day when I came home from school I would sit down at the piano to practice. My dad would have a roll of dimes, and every time I made it through a song, he would lay a dime on the piano. My mother, who was also a musician, would be in the kitchen and every time I hit a wrong note she'd say something about it. I'd tell my dad not to give me the dime until I got through the song with no mistakes, but still sometimes I'd end up with as much as $10 in a day. Anyway, the punchline is I'd give the money to my mother for safekeeping, and she'd use it for spending-money. But I guess they spoiled me; I got just about everything I wanted," he said.

Now that Leslie is an established piano teacher here, he's beginning to sound like some of the teachers of his past whom he admires.

"My students are very important to me," he said. "I want what's best for them; I want them to reach their highest potential, and I'll push them to get there."

Community Colleges' Chancellor To Speak at Alumni Rally Here

University of Kentucky alumni from seven Eastern Kentucky counties will gather at 7 o'clock tomorrow (Thursday) evening at Prestonsburg Community College as part of a statewide counter-attack to portions of a Council on Higher Education plan that are regarded as detrimental to the University and its work.

James O. King, UK vice-president for administration, who led the organization of simultaneous rallies over the state, said alumni will be asked to oppose the Council's proposals asking the removal of community colleges from UK control, the closing of UK's dental and law schools, merging the UK and University of Louisville medical centers and reducing the state appropriation for agricultural extension services.

At the same time, he said, they will be asked to support the development of a comprehensive university with adequate funding and the parts of the Council's plan that emphasize quality throughout the education system.

Charles Wethington, chancellor of UK's community colleges, will be the speaker at the rally here. Dr. Otis Singletary, president of the University, will speak at each of the rallies by means of a 15-minute videotape.

Besides those in Floyd county, alumni from Breathitt, Johnson, Knott, Magoffin, Pike and Martin counties will attend the meeting here.

CANCER INFORMATION SERVICE 1-800-4-CANCER CANCER HOPELINE

QUESTION: Recently, a family member was diagnosed with cancer and is now being treated at a local cancer center. I keep hearing the term "clinical trial" mentioned and have been wondering what it means. Can you explain a clinical trial to me?

ANSWER: In cancer research, a clinical trial is a study done with cancer patients to test new methods to prevent, detect, control or cure cancer.

Before use with patients, who offer to take part, the method to be tested has been developed and studied in lab and animal research. This research helps point out the new techniques most likely to be a success. And, as much as they can, these studies have shown how to use the method safely and effectively. But no amount of this early research can predict just how a new treatment will work with patients. Whether or not the new treatment has an effect in patients cannot be known until the study is over.

Each clinical trial is designed to answer certain research questions.

So, studies enroll patients with certain types of cancer who also meet other conditions. A study can only give reliable answers if all the patients in it are enough alike so that results can be compared. To enter a study, a patient should be referred by his or her own doctor or by one linked with a hospital, clinical or other medical group. Well-run clinical trials are led by qualified doctors at universities, cancer centers, local hospitals, the National Cancer Institute and elsewhere.

Clinical trials are important because they offer the chance of helping those who take part in them. Also, they may provide information that will lead to improved care for many other patients as well. Many of today's standard treatments are those that were proven to work in clinical trials of the past. The goal is to find new and better ways to treat cancer patients.

For more information on clinical trials call the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER or write to the CIS, McDowell Cancer Network, 915 South Limestone Street, Lexington, Ky. 40536. The call, the information and all materials are free of charge.

VISIT IN COUNTY

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Akers, formerly of this county, now of LaGrange, are here for a visit with his aunt, Mrs. Ida Cecil, of Banner, and other relatives and friends. On Sunday, they attended services with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Laven, of Allen, at the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church here.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mary Mosley would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their help upon the loss of our loved one. Thanks to those who sent food and flowers, and spoke comforting words. We deeply appreciate you all. A special thanks to the Old Beaver Regular Baptist Church, ministers and members, and the Hall Funeral Home for being so kind.

Runyan Retires July 31 As Asst. Atty. General

Kentucky lost the services of one of its most respected attorneys with the retirement of Assistant Attorney General Charles W. Runyan from the Office of the Attorney General on July 31.

"Charlie Runyan has made enormous contributions to this office," Attorney General David L. Armstrong said. "When the history of the development of county governments is finally written, Charlie Runyan's contribution will be significantly noted."

Runyan, who joined the administration of Attorney General Robert Matthews in 1964, has served under five Attorneys General. He has specialized in writing opinions concerning state, local and county governments as well as finance law. Opinions are official responses by the Attorney General's Office to questions of law. He has written about 5,000 opinions in his 21 years with the office, averaging about 250 a year. His name is well-known throughout the Commonwealth as an expert in his assigned areas and he frequently has been the attorney sought out for information on local and finance law by business, individuals, media representatives and others.

Runyan, who was born in Alabama, received a bachelor's degree from Western Kentucky State Teacher's College (now Western Kentucky University) and graduated in 1940 from the University of Kentucky School of Law. He served six years with the U.S. Army, including stints in Okinawa and Seoul, Korea, as a military government officer. It was during his military service that he met his wife, Muriel. He and his wife live in Frankfort. They have two daughters, Julie and Barbara, and two grandchildren.

Three of the B vitamins—thiamin, riboflavin and niacin—play a central role in the release of energy from food.

Explorers (PG-Paramount) Starring Ethan Hawke, River Phoenix, Jason Presson. ★ ★

By J.T. YURKO

Exploring seems to be the theme for this summer's movies. "The Goonies" explored old caves to find pirate's treasure. "Back to the Future" explored the realm of time travel. And "Rambo" explored (and destroyed) most of Southeast Asia.

So who are these intrepid "Explorers"? They're three kids who boldly go where no kid has gone before. That's right, three kids — barely teens if that — build a machine and head for outer space. Does it sound a bit implausible?

It is, but it is to the film's credit that we buy as much of it as we do. It seems some aliens are beaming messages to these children during their dreams. One of the three, a computer whiz-kid, hooks up one of the dreamed circuit diagrams to his Apple computer, and a little bubble, which is capable of defying gravity and moving through brick walls, appears.

Pretty soon, the kids manage to make the bubble large enough so they can fit inside. They then use some junkyard parts to assemble a rude vehitadel. Andrew, on an emergency call, treats a woman in a fashionable boutique and impresses the patrons. (60 min.)

VIDEO SCENE

Phil Collins doesn't think much of video directors

By Barton Weiss

Phil Collins

Biting the hand
Phil Collins, the man who proved that you can be bald and have a hit video, is now satirizing videos. That's mighty strange from somebody who owes his popularity to the medium he's parodying.

His sharpest jabs in "Don't Lose My Number" are reserved for video directors who try to pitch ideas to him. We see potential directors pitch various movie spoofs, as well as blatant copies of popular videos, such as the Police's "Every Breath You Take" and the Cars' "You Might Think."

Collins is not the first to portray the video director as a pretentious fool. Stevie Nicks and Steve Perry have done a fine job before him.

The difference is that neither of them owe their success to the work of video directors.

Only human

Billy Joel's latest clip, "You're Only Human," cost a mere quarter of a million dollars and portrays Billy not only as a star, but as an angel who keeps a heartsick youth from jumping off a bridge.

This clip clearly demonstrates that spending a lot of money doesn't necessarily ensure a winner. Billy, who has been very video-genic in the past, tries too hard here. His pantomiming is too forced for the gentle touch the material needs.

Good beginning

Motley Crue's remake of the classic "Smoking in the Boys' Room" is a typical teenage fantasy, but it has a far-better-than-average intro.

A nasty dog steals a student's paper, and the poor kid can't get anybody to believe that a dog really did eat it. After an ugly scene in the principal's office, he goes into the bathroom, where the band members pull him through the mirror, "Alice"-style.

The rest of the video is typical heavy metal junk.

Tunes on your TV

On Saturday night (Aug. 17), check out the Clash in the film "Rude Boys" on "Night Flight" on the USA Network. This was shot before the band was popular. The concert footage is brilliant but crude, and the narrative material is boring at best.

ANSWERS

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE
Pursuant to Application
Number 436-0107

(1) In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Buck Coal, Inc. has filed an amendment to an application for a permit for a surface coal mining and reclamation operation. The proposed operation will affect a surface disturbance of approximately 74.14 acres. Auger mining will underlie an additional 59.20 acres. The proposed operation is located 1.5 miles west of Drift in Floyd county.

(2) The proposed operation is approximately 2.8 miles east from KY 777's junction with KY 80 and is located along Turkey Creek. The latitude is 37° 29' 02" N. The longitude is 82° 46' 51" W. The surface area is owned by Elkhorn Coal Corporation and Gene Mullins. The auger area will underlie land owned by Elkhorn Coal Corporation and Gene Mullins.

(3) The proposed operation is located on the Wayland USGS 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The operation will use the contour surface and auger methods of mining. The operation will affect an area within 100' of public road KY 777. The operation will not involve relocation of public road KY 777.

(4) The applicant has also made application to be covered by the KPDES General Permit for Coal Mining Operation.

(5) The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional office, 503 S. Lake Dr., Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections and/or request for a permit conference must be received within thirty (30) days of today's date.

Floyd All-Stars in State Finals

When the 14-year-old Floyd county Babe Ruth All Stars rolled into Owensboro for the state tournament two Fridays ago, they didn't get much respect from the other teams, but when they left the following Tuesday, it was a different story.

The team earned victories over Somerset, Davies county and Louisville, with only Lexington South East blemishing their tourney record. And, it took South East nine hard-fought innings in the finals of the lower bracket to secure that victory.

Highlights of the opener against Somerset included a three-for-four afternoon for Kevin Spurlock, and a fifth inning that saw the Floyd team send 10 batters to the plate. Big hits came from Tony Kidd, Duran Newsome and Keith Hall. Newsome pitched a beautiful game, for a seven to two victory.

In game two against Louisville, everyone got into the act. Kidd, Newsome, Hall, Rady Martin, Kevin Webb, Barry Hamilton and Aaron Flannery each got two hits, and Kidd pitched an impressive 11 to 1 victory.

Game three against Davies county saw Kidd hit two, two-run homers, and Nathan Shelton give up only one earned run in six innings on the mound. Newsome relieved Shelton for the 7 to 5 win.

In the final against Lexington South East, Webb hit a two-run homer, and the pitching staff turned in more fine work. Some tough luck base running for Floyd county kept the game competitive before South East prevailed.

For the tournament, Floyd county made 44 hits, scored 31 runs, had 43 bases on balls, and a team batting average of .286. Great pitching came from Newsome, Kidd and Shelton, with Brad Hall supplying fine relief pitching and good defense at first base. Spurlock was a standout as catcher, as were Martin at third, and Webb and Newsome at short. Hamilton did a solid job at second base, as did Stacy Hall, John Stumbo, Hall, Shelton, Flannery, and Kidd in the outfield.

Stumbo was also said to be the leading cheerleader in the dugout.

"This was a very good, coachable group of boys. Floyd county should be very proud of them," said team manager, Ellis Spurlock.

Coaches were Hobert Webb, Jr., Harold Case and William Newsome, Jr., who emphasized that the team and coaches appreciated the generosity of everyone who made a donation for the trip.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS
Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble.

(1) Paresthesias (see above) (2) Headaches (3) Painful joints (4) Numbness in the arms or hands (5) Loss of sleep (6) Stiffness in the neck (7) Pain between the shoulders (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals... call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

A Martin man was killed and his wife was injured in a traffic accident in Portland, Ind., last Friday.

According to police reports there, Sandy "Buck" Justice, 70, died about 2 p.m. Friday at Indianapolis Methodist Hospital after being transferred from Jay County Hospital in Portland.

The accident was said to have occurred at about 10 a.m. when Justice ran a stop sign in downtown Portland, and was struck broadside by a semi-tractor trailer driven by Paul Ewen, 46, of Richmond. Justice's wife, Polly, 63, was taken to Jay County Hospital, where she was listed in satisfactory condition, with back injuries. Ewen was not injured.

Born March 13, 1915 in this county, Justice was a son of Sarah Adkins Justice, of Martin and the late Hager Justice. He was a retired miner and a member of the Spurlock Regular Baptist Church.

In addition to his wife and mother, Justice is survived by one son, James Henry Justice, of Warsaw, Ind.; four daughters, Sarah Fitch, Nancy Taylor and Sue Lawshe, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; one brother, Joe Justice, North Manchester, Ind.; five sisters, Cassie Haywood, of Warsaw, Ind., Susie Compton, Silver Lake, Ind., Gracie Brown, Columbia City, Ind., Kathleen Justice, of Martin, Emma Jean Marsillet, of Prestonsburg, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted today (Wednesday) at 11 a.m. at the Spurlock Regular Baptist Church, of Middle Creek, with Regular Baptist ministers officiating. Burial will be made in the Justice family cemetery at Martin under direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

Legislative Report...

A Review of Special Session

By GREGORY D. STUMBO
House Majority Floor Leader

When the special legislative session adjourned recently, it was not the end but a beginning—the beginning of a new era of reform and hope for a bright future.

As members of the General Assembly met in Frankfort for the special session—the first since 1979—the ball began to roll to improve several critical issues festering in the state. And in retrospect of the session, I am satisfied that those areas in most critical need were addressed.

Kentucky's children now, and those yet to be born, will be the ones who will benefit from the fruits of what was accomplished during the 1985 Special Session.

Legislative beginnings that won approval from lawmakers include action taken that directed businesses to pay for $218 million of the $305.9 million education package that was passed—mostly through increased license fees. Those fees will triple from 70 cents per $1,000 capital invested to $2.10 per $1,000.

Immediate movement will be seen in areas such as kindergarten transportation for pupils to leave school at noon which may find some school districts juggling their bus schedules.

Also taking a running leap off the finish line of the session will be a commission created to take a hard look at the state's current vocational/technical education needs—plus a $52.2 million pilot "career ladder" program which links a teacher's pay to performance. The concept is due to be tested in five to ten volunteer school districts over the biennium. A report on the pilot must be presented to the General Assembly by September 1, 1988.

Long term effects of the Special Session will perhaps not be felt until the 1986-88 biennium when most of the education revenue—$299.5 million—is earmarked to kick in several new programs.

One-fourth of the new money will be spent on raising salaries. Each Kentucky teacher will receive 5 percent across-the-board raises in both years of the biennium which will cost $36.3 million. In addition, every teacher having at least 10 years of experience will receive longevity pay increases starting in 1986-87. Then next year the amount for longevity will increase and become a part of the state salary schedule.

And because a strong sentiment was alive in the Legislature to reward excellent performance, a $9 million merit pay program was approved. It will give every teacher, counselor and librarian receiving a satisfactory evaluation a $300 bonus.

A provision that many educators call the most important reform measure of all provides for a marked reduction in the classroom size in elementary grades.

In the school year 1986-87 in grades one through three, the average daily attendance requirement for pupils will be cut by two—from 25 per class to 23. Classes in those grades will be cut by an additional student the next year. Also in 1987-88, one student will be cut from classes in grades four through six.

In addition to the new ADA requirements, caps on class size for grades one through six were set at three more than the average daily attendance figure upon which funding of the unit is appropriated in the biennial budget.

Overall, class-size reduction will cost about $49 million which will be spent on hiring new teachers.

As a result of the education reform legislation, at least 42 local school boards will have to raise their property taxes to a minimum of 25 cents per $100 of assessed value to receive additional state aid under the "power equalization" program. Utility taxes and other taxes imposed by school districts will count toward the effort.

Funds for the power equalization program that boosts programs in poorer districts will increase by $67.8 million over the biennium. But the new money is earmarked specifically for improving teacher salaries and reducing class size.

Districts also will have to meet the minimum 25-cent rate to participate in a school construction program which will cost the state $13.1 million. The program will assess local construction needs and provide $115 million statewide for debt service.

Also included in the new education reform law are provisions to:

*Improve teacher in-service programs and evaluations; each school district will be required to appoint an in-service education director who will be trained under state supervision;

*Establish teacher institutes to allow teachers additional programs of study;

*Add additional scholarships to attract bright students into the teaching field;

*Provide teaching aides to free up teachers from non-teaching chores and allow a duty-free lunch period for them;

*Provide a testing and internship for school principals;

*Provide a dropout prevention program; and

*Create a management assistance program to aid local school districts in managing their resources.

We also gave the green light to legislation that would lift the three percent cap on salaries paid to university personnel.

Although the education reform issue perhaps overshadowed other critical issues that were addressed during the special session, legislators did indeed initiate reform measures in several other areas needing immediate attention.

A resolution passed by the House and Senate authorized the Governor to proceed with plans for a new state prison.

Also $8.3 million was earmarked by legislators to aid abused and neglected children. And another piece of legislation received approval that would require foster care review boards to be set up in every judicial district.

No really good foundation was ever built in a day. And neither will the success of these programs we have initiated in two weeks be obvious immediately. But the bricks have been laid and if the legislation needs additional attention, we have the 1986 General Assembly to take a second look.

I feel I cannot give a true picture of activities that went on during the special session without mentioning the defeated gas tax proposal. It was an important bill and without it Kentucky road repair has suffered a major blow. Without it, the state's roads are in peril of falling so deeply into their own potholes that we will never afford the necessary repair.

To add to the dark predictions, unfortunately, I should include a word about the recent federal gasoline tax increase at the pumps. To date the state of Kentucky receives no revenue as a result of that tax because we simply do not have the revenue to make the required match that is attached to the allocations of the funds. It is a tragedy that our state is facing such financial difficulty.

I supported the 5-cent a gallon tax proposal, and I would do so again because the future of our network of highways is on the line. Eastern Kentuckians depend heavily on our roads to reach vitally needed services such as educational centers and medical facilities.

In Appreciation

On behalf of the board of directors of the Maytown Homecoming Association permit me to thank The Times and Mr. Allen for the generous space promoting the event since it began in 1968, to thank our patrons and the numerous business houses who so kindly took ads for Newsletter 1985, edited by Dorothy Rone Osborne, and all committeemen or other assistants in any way. It takes team effort, and Maytown has always had excellent leaders, equal to any task.

Our gratitude extends to the hundreds who came, from California to Florida, Michigan to Louisiana, or East to West and North to South, to make the festivities memorable in countless ways. We are especially appreciative of Ida Mae Martin Chiaraviglio, who came from Atlanta, to be crowned 1985 Homecoming Queen, and to all who participated in the programs in any way. Many thanks go to Lorena Hall Chaffins, school principal, and to Paul Patton for taking much of the load off the officers of MHA.

I personally am deeply obligated to members of the Board, Minnie Conley, Alma Lowe, Rose Bowling, Dorothy Osborne, Ruth Sloan, who carried on so nobly in the final countdown when I was called to a distant state three times because of the grave illness of my mother for the past three months, and was compelled to leave everything in their hands. No words are adequate to express my feelings to them, and to others who met the challenge. It was a golden event, particularly to see some homecomers who had not been here in 45 years.

The next Homecoming will be in July 1990. Please come!

VIOLET ALLEN, Pres.
Maytown Homecoming Ass'n.

Floyd Countians Find H&R Block Tax Course Pays Off

Thousands of people are learning the skill of income tax preparation from H&R Block and are earning money as income tax preparers.

H&R Block, the world's largest tax preparation service, is offering a basic income tax course starting September 4, with morning and evening class available. Classes will be offered at 8B Richmond Plaza, Prestonsburg.

During the 13 week course, students will study all phases of income tax preparation and receive actual experience in preparing individual returns. Experienced Block instructors will teach current laws, theory and application, as practiced in Block offices nationwide. There is a classroom discussion on each tax subject and practice problems at every level. Courses are programmed to teach students increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses. Students will find the course both interesting and challenging.

Courses are ideally suited for people who want to increase their tax knowledge and learn how to save money on taxes or who are looking for a rewarding career. No prerequisites are required to enroll.

Qualified course graduates may be offered job interviews for positions with Block. Many accept employment with Block because of the flexible hours available. However, Block is under no obligation to offer employment, nor are graduates under any obligation to accept employment with H&R Block.

One low course fee includes all textbooks, supplies and tax forms necessary for completion of the course. Certificates and 7.5 continuing education units will be awarded upon successful completion of the course. Also, the cost of the course may be tax deductible.

Registration forms and a brochure for the income tax course may be obtained by contacting the H&R Block office at 8B Richmond Plaza, Prestonsburg, telephone 886-3685. Save money on your tuition by asking about the early bird special price. (Adv. It.)

Security lighting makes everyone sleep better.

When you were a child, you may have gone to sleep with a night light in your room. The same feeling of security and peace of mind can come from a security light in your backyard or driveway.

A security light makes things brighter and safer for everyone. Its light can illuminate nearly a quarter acre. No doubt about it, that's a lot of light. But since a security light uses a special lamp that's energy efficient, it doesn't use much electricity.

And a security light is completely automatic. The light comes on when it gets dark. In the morning, the light automatically turns off. We will install and maintain your security light.

All you pay is a small monthly fee added to your electric bill. Keep the dark away from your door. Find out more about security lighting by calling us today.

Jenny Wiley Hosts Bar Association

Thursday, August 8, Jenny Wiley Theatre has dedicated their performance of "Pippin" to our area lawyers and their staffs in recognition of the service they provide.
The theatre is offering a $2 discount off their normal ticket price for lawyers, their families, and employees.
The general public is also welcome to join in recognizing these professionals.
If you would like to attend this special performance, call 886-9274.

HALL OF FAMER...Former Morehead State University Athletic Director Ellis T. Johnson, of Huntington, center, recently was inducted into the Ohio Valley Conference Hall of Fame. Johnson, a onetime star athlete at the University of Kentucky, who also served as head basketball coach and head football coach of the Eagles for 17 years, was among the founders of the OVC in 1948. He is shown receiving his Hall of Fame Award from current MSU Athletic Director Sonny Moran, left, with his son, Ken Johnson, of Lexington. Johnson, who left MSU in 1953, later coached at Marshall University.

Seminar Will Consider
School Bus Maintenance

New features of the 1986 school buses and various aspects of bus maintenance will be the topics of discussion at a seminar to be offered at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 23 at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park in Prestonsburg.

The seminar is one of eight being offered throughout the state during August and is being conducted by the Department of Education's Division of Pupil Transportation.

Industry representatives from the Bendix Corp., International Harvester Co., Wayne Body Co. and Ford Motor Co. will bring school district representatives up to date on features of the 1985 and 1986 school buses. Sessions will be held on air brakes, model bodies, diesel engines and other features of the new buses.

In addition, representatives from the Department of Education will discuss the management of bus maintenance and provide price information on new buses.

"These seminars are designed to help local school districts increase the efficiency of their maintenance programs and to acquaint school personnel with the changes in new buses," Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald said.

Please Note

Among the students named to the Distinguished Dean's List at Alice Lloyd College was Kimberly Ann Handshoe, daughter of Truman and Ethel Handshoe, of Hueysville. The name of Miss Handshoe's father was incorrectly listed in last week's Times.

State Approves HRMC Home Health Agency

The state has approved an application from Highlands Regional Medical Center to establish a home health agency to serve Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties, state officials have announced.

The Medical Center presented its case to the Kentucky Health Facilities and Health Services Certificate of Need and Licensure Board in a July 11 hearing, and the board approved the proposal at its July 17 meeting.

"We're pleased that the CON Board approved our application and we are looking forward to working with the existing providers in this area to make the best possible home health care available," said Associate Administrator Russell W. Briggs.

Because of current conditions in the health care industry, including emphasis on earlier discharge and cost containment, home health care is a rising star in the field. With a home health program, the Medical Center will be able to provide continuity of care to its patients while allowing the program to have the back-up support of the hospital's highly trained technical staff as well as its comprehensive medical information and communications system, Briggs said.

HRMC officials added that any new hiring resulting from opening the agency will involve local people. "We are reviewing our manpower needs for this exciting new program," Briggs said. "Some of the new duties will be handled by existing staff who already live in area counties. Where we need to hire new people, those people will be hired locally so that, for example, Magoffin countians will be serving Magoffin countians, and so on throughout the five-county area."

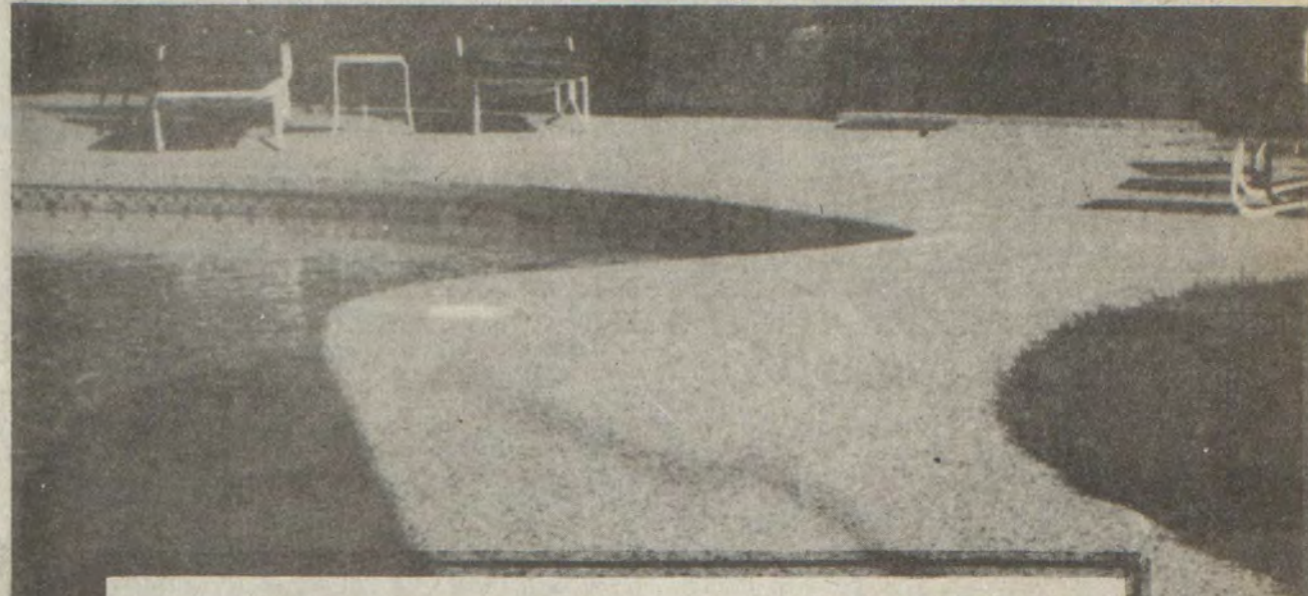

There are currently five other agencies holding certificates to perform home health care in counties or parts of counties involved. However, HRMC officials noted, no one has been authorized to serve such a large geographical area. Briggs stressed that they are hoping to establish better working relationships with agencies, in the best interest of patient care.

Dyslexia Screening Slated

The East Kentucky Tutorial Program will be sponsoring dyslexia screening sessions on August 26 and 27. The purpose of the screenings is to identify those children who have the characteristics of this learning disability. Those children would then be eligible to enroll in one of the after-school tutorial programs located in Knott, Letcher, Perry, Floyd and Pike counties.

If you have a child who is having difficulty in the areas of reading, writing and spelling and would like more information, call Lori Unruh at 785-5024 or 785-5475 or Ann Latta at 886-6100.

SHOULD CHILDREN ATTEND FUNERALS?

One answer to this question is provided by Rabbi Earl A. Grollman, D.D. who has written extensively on death and how it relates to a child. In the prologue of his book Explaining Death to Children, he states: "Recognized child authorities have come to the conclusion that not only is it correct to permit a child to attend a funeral, but from approximately the age of seven, a child should be encouraged to attend."

A child is an integral part of the family and as such it is important that he or she participate with the family on all important occasions. The funeral, although a sad occasion, is one of such importance.

It will help the child learn how to react to death and how to handle the grief experience. To be excluded from any such important family experience could be the beginning of great emotional distress. Exclusion can provide the breeding ground for destructive fantasies and can crumble the feeling of security a child enjoys as an accepted member of the family.

Call us if you'd like to discuss this in greater depth.

Don Quixote on KET

Don Quixote's name is in the title but he doesn't have the lead in Mikhail Baryshnikov's American Ballet Theatre version of "Don Quixote" on "Great Performances" "Dance in America" series, encoring Monday, August 26, at 8 p.m. on KET. It is the story of the two lovers of Cervantes' classic novel, Kitri (danced by Cynthia Harvey) and Basil (danced by Mikhail Baryshnikov), that drives the principal action of the ballet.

The story of Basil and Kitri provides comic counterpoint to the old knight's quest for his ideal love. The two lovers, frustrated by Kitri's father's desire that she marry another, run away together from their peasant village to a gypsy camp and finally to an inn to escape him. Along the way, they are seen by Quixote who, seeing something of his ideal Dulcinea in Kitri, resolves to help them. At one point this resolution leads Quixote to charge a windmill, which to him is a monster attacking the girl.

Videotaped at the Metropolitan Opera House, the production was directed for television by Brian Large.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE NEW PIKEVILLE COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS! They come from varied backgrounds, have different educational goals, and some of them are returning to school following a break of many years. These individuals will join other scholarship students, already attending Pikeville College (over 100), and take their places as campus leaders in athletics, social and academic endeavors. All our students are special to us and we take pride in advertising their achievements.

Presidential Scholarships are awarded to students having a minimum of a 25 ACT Composite (1010 SAT Composite) score, and a 3.5 grade point average. These students have been active in academic and social situations prior to coming to Pikeville College. The scholarship, over a four-year course of study, is worth up to $16,400.

William Wade & Helen Record Walker Scholarships (Walkers) are available only to incoming freshmen. To qualify, a student must be ranked either first or second in their class at the end of their junior year or during their senior year of high school. Valedictorians may receive up to $8,000 over a four-year course of study, while salutatorians may receive up to $7,200 over the full four years.

Appalachian Honors Scholarships require a minimum grade point average of 3.0 (or 275 total GED score) and an 18 ACT or 770 SAT Composite score. Awards for this scholarship can be worth as much as $4,000 over a four-year college career.

Nursing Scholarships are only open to students having already been accepted into the Elizabeth Akers Elliott ADN Nursing Program at Pikeville College. Students must have at least an 18 ACT or 770 SAT Composite score, and at least a 3.0 grade point average. These scholarships may be worth up to $2,000 for the two-year nursing program.

Addresses RC&D Meeting

Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo reported at a recent meeting of the Big Sandy Resource Conservation and Development Area, Inc. (RC&D) that the drainage tile installed at the Allen park this summer is a decided improvement. The work was done with help of the RC&D which cooperates with other organizations to expand economic opportunities in this area through wise use and development of natural resources. Among these concerns are erosion control, water quality, flood control, and recreation development.

Fifteen members and a like number of alternates from Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin, and Pike counties make up the Big Sandy RC&D Council with each county having a maximum of three votes on any decision to be made by the group.

Although the RC&D receives federal assistance, financial support by the public is needed. Contributions are tax deductible and may be made for a particular county or project. In this county, contributions may be sent to the Floyd County Conservation District, 105 Court Street, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

Martin Mine Rescue Team Wins

The Martin County Coal Corp. mine rescue team won first place in the first annual Elk Run Mine Rescue competition conducted recently at Sylvester, West Virginia. The Boone County Coal Company sponsored the contest that included teams from West Virginia and Kentucky.

The Martin County Coal team received a large championship trophy and each team member was presented an individual trophy for their first place finish.

Mine rescue competitions are conducted to train and prepare teams for efficient response in case of a real mine emergency. Each mine rescue team in the competition exhibited skills in gas detection, ventilation, exploration, and rescue of trapped miners. A simulated mine emergency situation is laid out on a field and each team is judged on ability to complete the problem with the least amount of discounts. Time to complete the problem and results of a written test are also considered in determining the winner.

Members of the Martin County Coal mine rescue team are: Randy Moore, captain; Charles Snavelly, map man; Woody Slone and Warren Cassady, gas men; Bernie Dalton, rear captain; Terry Preece and Randy Fitzpatrick, briefing officers; Larry Cassady, patient; and Ed Chafin and Cecil Runyons, trainers.

Other teams competing in the Elk Run contest were Wolf Creek Collieries, Elk Run Coal Company, Marrowbone Development Company's Eastern Mingo and Western Mingo teams, and Beckley Coal Mining Company.

Returning Vacationers May Face Tiny Muggers

Despite careful precautions to lock the house, notify the neighbors and have the police make regular checks, many returning Kentucky vacationers get mugged as they enter their homes.

The muggers, out for blood, not money, are fleas that have developed from eggs and lain in wait during the homeowner's absence. The vibrations sent through the house as people once again begin walking around in it signal the fleas to leave their tiny cocoons and attack.

"You can get eaten up within a couple hours of returning from a vacation. These little critters have developed in your absence and are waiting for a blood meal," said Chris Christensen, Extension entomologist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Cat fleas, the most common flea on cats and dogs, lay their eggs on a family pet, but the eggs are not attached and they fall off and lodge in carpets, crevices, pet bedding or on the ground outside. A larva hatches from the egg, goes through a series of changes and then spins a cocoon in which it develops into an adult. The newly-formed adult fleas will remain in their cocoons until they receive an indication that a meal is present.

During the normal routine in a home the fleas will emerge from their cocoons on a continuous basis, and will seek their preferred host, the family pet. But when the house has been empty for a week or two there will be more adult fleas awaiting a meal than usual, and they will feed on the first warm-blooded thing that comes along.

Christensen said there are several products approved for use by homeowners that will control fleas. A good treatment of the home with one of them before leaving on vacation, and immediately upon return can help to avoid getting mugged.

"There is no magic spray that will take care of the problem entirely. These sprays will knock off the top of the flea population present at that moment, but reliable flea control requires a household sanitation program carried out on a consistent basis. I strongly recommend the methods described in the publication ENT-38 available from the County Extension Office," Christensen said.

Floyd Unemployment Tops In District During June

Jobless rates in 93 Kentucky counties rose between May and June as students flooded the labor force in search of summer jobs. Rates were lower in 23 counties and remained the same in four, according to figures released by the Cabinet for Human Resources.

Forty-nine counties reported unemployment rates of 10 percent or higher, compared to 43 in May and 50 in June, 1984.

Rates were lower in 72 counties than in June 1984, higher in 45, and the same in three.

In the Big Sandy district the jobless rate rose from a revised 10.3 percent in May to a preliminary 11.4 percent in June. Martin county's 6.4 percent rate was the district's lowest and only single-digit rate. Floyd county's 13.5 percent rate was the district's highest.

In the Kentucky River district unemployment rose from a revised rate of 13.4 percent in May to a preliminary rate of 14.2 percent in June. Breathitt County's 9.1 percent rate was the district's lowest and only single-digit rate. Letcher County's 19.4 percent rate was the district's highest.

The preliminary statewide rate for June was 8.2 percent, up from a revised rate of 7.6 percent in May. Nationally the comparable rates were 7.5 percent in June, up from 7.0 percent in May. The rates are not seasonally adjusted.

Scott and Trimble counties each reported a rate of 3.5 percent, the lowest in the state. Other counties with rates below 5.0 percent were Woodford (3.6 percent), Fayette (4.2 percent), Bourbon (4.6 percent) and Clark (4.7 percent).

Carter county reported a 20.0 percent unemployment rate, the highest in the state, followed by Letcher with 19.4 percent, Menifee, 18.2 percent, and Leslie, 17.0 percent.

The number of Kentuckians working in June totaled 1,573,200, up by 18,800 over May's figure of 1,554,400, but 15,300 below the June 1984 report of 1,588,500.

"Most of the new jobs were in agriculture, where 13,200 more people were working," said state labor market analyst Ed Blackwell. "A category that includes self-employed people, unpaid family workers and domestic employees had 4,400 more workers."

Employment increases also were recorded in construction (2,900), manufacturing (2,600), trade (2,600) and services (1,600). "In trade jobs, most of the increases were in supermarkets and restaurants," Blackwell said. "And in services, most of the job growth was in hotels and motels and in amusement and recreation areas, such as parks and golf courses. Many of these are traditionally seasonal jobs normally held by students."

Job losses were reported in education, as non-teaching personnel do not receive wages during summer months.

The monthly sample of claimants of unemployment insurance benefits showed 49.7 percent had worked in mining, 16.6 percent in trade and 10.8 percent in services.

Former Floyd Countian To Remain in Flatlands

Marion Thacker, native Floyd man, retired recently after 24 years as an engineer and project planning officer in the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation office at Grand Island, but, unlike many others from Eastern Kentucky, he's not heading back to the hills. He's remaining in the flat country.

Born on Prater Creek, near Banner, he is a son of Mrs. Rosa Thacker, of Arkansas Creek, near Martin, and the late Noah Thacker. His trek from Floyd county to Grand Island, Neb. had many turns. After dropping "in and out of high school a couple of times," he worked in the coal mines, then enlisted in the Army in 1948 and was stationed in Japan when the Korean Conflict began. He was twice wounded during what he calls "that Korean thing."

Thacker became a casualty for the second time when an enemy tracer bullet penetrated the gas tank of a halftrack and he was badly burned by flaming gasoline. After leaving the Naval hospital in Bethesda, Md., a year later, he completed course work at the University of Kentucky and headed west to work for the Bureau of Reclamation in Arizona's Glen Canyon project.

In Arizona he met his wife, Donna, who "was old Nebraska girl," and that may be one reason for his decision to spend his retirement years in the Cornhusker state. Besides, he says, "you can step out on my front porch and smell the cleanest air in the country."

Hospitals Push Birth Education

An overwhelming percentage of the babies born in the United States today are healthy babies, well prepared for a good start on a healthy, happy life. The chances of having a healthy baby today are better than ever, yet this important event cannot be left to luck! Couples are planning their families as well as taking precautions and employing practices during pregnancy that help assure a healthy baby. What happens before the baby arrives can be just as important as the care he or she receives later.

Appalachian Regional Hospitals, a not-for-profit health system serving portions of Kentucky, West Virginia, and Virginia, is embarking on a large-scale effort to assure that every expectant mother in the area has a better chance of having a healthy baby. With assistance from the Cincinnati Chapter of the American Red Cross, staff from ARH facilities are receiving additional professional training in how best to prepare expectant parents for the big event. To initiate the program, Jean Ellsworth of the American Red Cross led a two-day instructional session at the Harlan Appalachian Regional Hospital on July 30 and 31. Participants, all nurses from ARH facilities, received American Red Cross certification in Childbirth Preparedness. The nurses involved in this program are expected to be especially effective teachers of childbirth preparation since all are experienced in obstetrical or newborn services in their respective hospitals and most of them also have young children of their own. According to Sister Kathy Bilskie, Assistant to the President of Appalachian Regional Hospitals, "This is a combination of qualifications that we feel would be very hard to beat and affords an excellent means of pursuing the major goal of improved maternal and infant health as set by the Trustees of this Corporation."

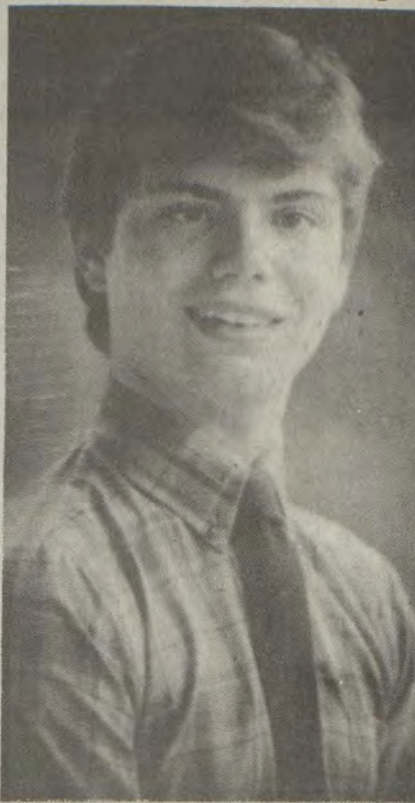

Following the initial training session, eight ARH hospitals will offer the childbirth preparation series. The importance of proper prenatal care for every expectant mother cannot be over-emphasized. Some expectant mothers, though, will receive special attention. First time mothers to be, as well as those in their teens and those in their thirties, will especially benefit. Fathers also learn how to play a supportive role in assuring a healthy child. In very informal sessions, expectant parents will learn about the need for prenatal care, healthy practices to follow during the pregnancy, as well as detrimental practices to avoid. Films, discussions, demonstrations, and skills development, such as breathing techniques during delivery, will provide both informative and enjoyable sessions. Couples will learn what choices they may have in preparation for the birth and will see first-hand what to expect when they arrive at the hospital. For expected normal deliveries, fathers are encouraged to provide support and be a part of the delivery team. Newer anesthetics allow the mother to be awake and more aware of the entire process.

In order to best assure a healthy baby, expectant parents and young people in the childbearing years must have pertinent, scientifically based, clear information explaining what can be done to assure their babies have a healthy, happy start in life. Such information is now available at ARH facilities for every expectant mother in the area.

National Award Winner

The National Secondary Education Council has announced that Stacy Renee Horne has been named an Academic All-American.

Academic All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average. Only scholars selected by a secondary school instructor, counselor, or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the NSEC.

Miss Horne, who attends Johnson Central High School, Paintsville, was nominated for the national award by Mrs. Carolyn Spencer, French teacher. She will appear in the Academic All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally.

The honors student is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steward R. Horne. The grandparents are Lorena Horne, of East Point, the late Steward Horne, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Frasure, of the Abbott road.

Spurlock Bible Church To Show Prison Film

Spurlock Bible Church will be showing a motion picture release of International Prison Ministry of Dallas, Texas, entitled, "Honey, Your Mama's in Prison," on Sunday, Aug. 11, at 7 p.m.

The film is a unique look at the importance of the family and the tragedy of family break-up as seen through the eyes of mothers who have been imprisoned for murder, assault, trafficking in drugs, forgery, and embezzlement.

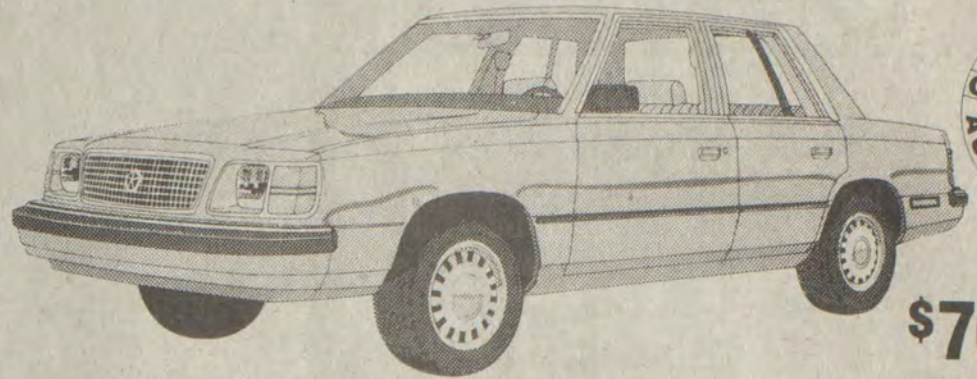

It was filmed inside one of the largest women's correctional facilities in the United States—Florida Correctional Institution, Lowell, Florida. The entire prison population of 650 inmates were involved in the making of the 45-minute documentary as were the officers and staff of the institution. Family members of some of the inmates were also interviewed.

The film is free and the public is invited.

Drilling for Oil, Gas In County Last Year Rose Sharply from '83

More than $6 million was invested in exploration for oil and gas in Floyd county last year, according to a study released earlier this week by the Kentucky Independent Petroleum Producers Association.

The KIPPA study reported that the estimated $6,141,204 spent in Floyd county in 1984 was nearly 17 times as much as the $366,931 outlay for 1983. The number of wells drilled jumped from only three in 1983 to 34 in 1984, the study said.

According to a KIPPA spokesman, the dollar volume reflects only personnel, equipment and material costs and does not include land acquisition, lease payments or royalties. The study is based on well data developed by the Kentucky Geological Survey and industry cost standards established for different well characteristics such as depth and underlying rock formations.

On a statewide basis, KIPPA said, 6509 wells were drilled in Kentucky during 1984 at a cost of $372,314,922. The 2611 wells drilled in 1983 cost an estimated $146,309,697, according to the KIPPA report.

A UNITED WAY FOR THE BIG SANDY IS COMING

A United Way in the Big Sandy will bring about a single fund-raising effort each year and allow contributions of money as well as volunteered time to be distributed to human service agencies in our communities, agencies which desperately need our help.

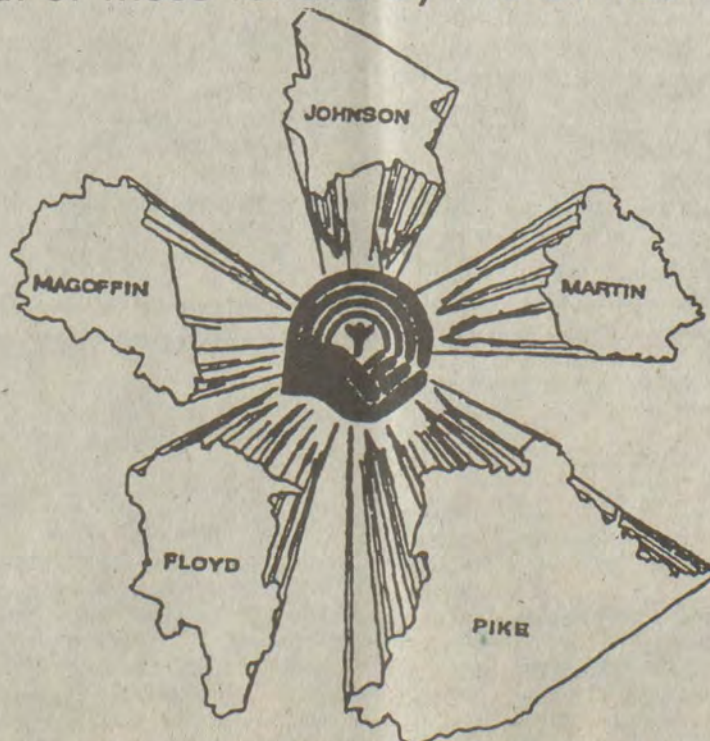

The United Way of Big Sandy will use our money for our people.

Who makes all this possible? People exactly like yourselves! Individual citizens, businesses, industries, city and county governments, civic and fraternal organizations, educational institutions, human service agencies, medical professions, minority coalitions, military branches, organized labor, professional associations, religious organizations, and others.

There will be an important Organizational Meeting, Monday, August 19, 1985, at 7:00 p.m., at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. If you would like more information, please phone (606) 886-2374, or 886-2375. Please try to attend!
