

PSC Asks Info On Gas Company Rate Boost Bid

After a Frankfort hearing which lasted almost all of last Thursday, the Public Service Commission delayed action on one rate increase request filed by East Kentucky Utilities till the applicant supplies further information.

East Kentucky Utilities, which serves 1334 residential customers, most of whom live in the Right Beaver Creek section of the county, was directed to supply this information no later than Jan. 20.

Last Thursday's hearing centered on the company's request that an interim order be entered to permit the utilities firm to put into effect immediately a rate increase of 63.79% while other requests made in its general application are pending.

Another part of the company's general application includes a request for permission to borrow $134,000 to pay Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company for gas which it had sold East Kentucky Utilities and for which Kentucky West has not yet been paid. East Kentucky also asked that it be permitted to levy a surcharge on gas sold to its customers to pay off this loan.

The rate increases were traced to last May. Before that date East Kentucky had been buying gas from Southeast Gas Co. for 46 cents per 100 cubic feet, but a break in Southeast's distribution line (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

CORE DRILLING EQUIPMENT of the Mott Drilling Company, of Huntington, W. Va. was being used last week to take soil and fill samples from Dewey Dam, one of a number of work projects currently underway there. From the core samples, geologists will determine such factors as soil and material density and permeability. In addition, several pizometers, instruments for accurately gauging water levels underground, will be installed in selected test holes. Similar testing and instrument installation will be made at the dike at Brandy Keg, according to Dean Murray, Corps of Engineers reservoir manager.

Special Judge To Hear Trial Of the Cases

Fifteen of the 16 persons indicted last month on the basis of a state police report on alleged wrongdoing by the 1982 Floyd county administration entered not-guilty pleas in Floyd Circuit Court Friday.

A bench warrant was issued for the other defendant, Harlos Marshall, who failed to appear for arraignment. Like the others, he was not required to post bond but is free on his own recognizance, a court clerk said.

Of those who did appear, most avoided the courtroom, entering their pleas privately in the chambers of Circuit Judge Hollie Conley. All were represented by attorneys and were released pending trial.

Conley announced that he is stepping down from trying any of the cases "due to the fact that he has personal dealings with some of the parties involved." Letcher Circuit Judge J. Byrd Hogg has been asked to appoint a special judge to try the cases.

Listed are those entering pleas, the charges against them, and their attorneys:

Edward Caudill and Hugh Fugate (theft by deception, three counts, criminal possession of forged instrument), represented by Barkley Sturgill; Ballard and Ricky Crum (theft by deception), Jerry Patton, atty.; Jackie Crum (theft by deception, two counts, criminal possession of forged instrument), also represented by Jerry Patton; Alma Castle, represented by Paintsville attorney Owen Doyle, and Anthony Castle, represented by Phillip (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

School System Ends Year with Surplus

The Floyd school system ended the 1983-'84 school year with a $145,872 general fund surplus, a balance described as "an admirable achievement" by an auditor who reported to the Board of Education last Wednesday.

While it represents a substantial increase over the $28,404 with which the school district ended the previous year, this year's surplus is still small relative to the school system's $16.9 million budget, auditor Don Wallen pointed out. State education authorities recommend that local school districts have in reserve the equivalent of 10 days' operating expenses—about $800,000 in this county—the auditor said.

Two years ago, the schools reported a $465,753 end-of-year balance, a surplus that was all but wiped out by overspending during the 1982-'83 school year.

Impudent spending on athletic programs has caused a few schools to overrun their local budgets this year, the auditor noted. The activity funds at Wheelwright High School, which began the year with a $4205 deficit, ended $14,043 in the red, the boys' basketball program accounting for most of the shortfall.

Prestonsburg High School also ended the year with a $2012 deficit in its athletic program, although the overall deficit in that school's activity funds was reduced over the 1983-'84 year from $1589 to $379.

Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr. explained that coaches and principals are sometimes persuaded to buy uniforms and other supplies at the beginning of the athletic season on the assurance that funds will be raised later. But Wallen advised, "Don't spend it if you don't have it."

The PHS lunchroom fund, which began the year with a $21,008 deficit, ended $16,635 in the red. The audit report faulted the school for various bookkeeping irregularities. Assistant Supt. Ray Brackett said changes had been made recently in the school's bookkeeping department.

Other schools posting deficits, which are forbidden by state law, were Auxier Elementary, with a $2054 lunchroom shortfall; Garrett Elementary, which began the year with a $1325 deficit in its activity funds and ended $1070 in the red; and Wheelwright High School, with a $753 deficit in its lunchroom account.

Schools faulted for not preparing a proper budget included Allen, Auxier, Garrett, Martin, Osborne and Prater grade schools.

Grigsby reminded board members that, under a state law passed last year, they are required to receive 15 hours of in-service training annually. State (See Story No. 7, Page 4)

2 Plead Guilty, Get Three Years

Two Prestonsburg men pleaded guilty last week to burglary charges stemming from break-ins last year at Jerry's Restaurant here and at Tackett's Furniture and Appliance store in Allen. Charges against a third man accused in the Jerry's break were dismissed at the direction of the trial judge Monday.

Pleading guilty in Floyd Circuit Court to counts of burglary were Charles Brown, 26, of the Goble-Roberts Addition, and Terry A. Bartlett, 23, of Cliffside. They had been charged with stealing a safe, a handgun and $2200 in cash from Jerry's last March 19 and $2500 worth of furniture from Tackett's 10 days later.

The pair received three-year pen terms on each count, the sentences to run concurrently. As part of the deal with prosecutors, three charges against Brown and one against Bartlett were dismissed. (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

This Town...That World

The inch or so of snow that fell last week stuck on, waiting for more snow, till it came. Another week like the last and I'll be admitting to another mistake; namely, that I failed to go to Florida when I had a chance.

We may not all be one big, happy family when it's all over but before this year's political campaigning is past many of us will know more about our kinfolks than ever before.

I MAY RUMINATE, AFTER ALL

Sometimes—for want of something better to do, the while filling up some space with a stick or so of type—I express a curiosity about words, those we like and some we would shun.

For me, the word, "ruminant," belongs in the latter category.

Over the years I have turned to various synonyms in writing about the thought process, for example, I have admitted to thinking, pondering, weighing, studying, considering, contemplating and so on. Caught off guard, I may have confessed to rationalizing or even to contemplating. And it's possible that in a weaker moment I may have even mused.

But never, never have I admitted to ruminating.

Why? Well, somewhere back there, I learned that the word has its roots in another, which is "ruminant," and a ruminant is an animal that chews its cud—like a cow, for example.

That did it. The picture I got of myself sitting, brow wrinkled, staring vacuously off into space, chewing my cud wasn't one I would hang on the wall for visitors to see.

So I eschewed (no pun intended) the very idea of ruminating. Now, however, I may relent and let the word in among those others that I bandy about. For it has just occurred to me that chewing the cud is a noble occupation alongside another which takes up a good part of my time—namely, chewing the fat. (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Frasure Held Guilty On Homicide Count

A Floyd Circuit Court jury deliberated around 12 hours last Thursday before convicting Alvis Randall Frasure of reckless homicide and recommending that he serve a five-year term in the state penitentiary.

The 39-year-old mine safety analyst was charged in the shooting death of Larry Wilson in May, 1983, in the Bucks Branch home of Wilson's ex-wife, Linda June Turner Wilson. Mrs. Wilson was accused of complicity in the shooting but Circuit Judge Hollie Conley last Wednesday ordered the charge against her dismissed.

Members of the victim's family, who waited in the courtroom until 12:30 a.m. Friday to hear it, responded bitterly to the jury's verdict on Frasure. She was "very disappointed" that Frasure was not convicted of murder, said Susan Crum, of Huntington, W. Va., Larry Wilson's sister. Moreover, the family was angered earlier when Mrs. Wilson was acquitted at the direction of the trial judge, she said.

Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen said he argued strongly against Mrs. Wilson's acquittal and said he did not agree with the jury's verdict on Frasure. "I think he should have received more than five years," he said.

For his part, Frasure indicated he wanted to appeal the verdict, said his attorney, Paul P. Burchett. "He did not feel like he'd done something he should be sent to the pen for," Burchett said. Nevertheless, no decision has yet been made on whether to file an appeal, the attorney said.

Frasure will be eligible for parole in 12 months.

Under instructions given by the trial judge Thursday morning before closing arguments in the case, the jury could have acquitted the defendant or convicted him of one of four crimes: murder, which carries a penalty of from 20 years to life imprisonment; first-degree manslaughter (10-20 years); second-degree manslaughter (5-10); or reckless homicide (1-5).

In a closing argument that ran for an hour and 40 minutes, Burchett repeated a claim he made at the opening of the trial four days earlier: that Frasure and Mrs. Wilson were tried only because State Det. Roger Castle and Coroner Roger Nelson "chose not to believe" their story that Frasure shot Wilson in self-defense. (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

Coal Firm Sued By Bank, Others

Claims totalling $87,326 have been lodged against a Wheelwright coal company in six separate suits filed since last November.

In a suit filed in Floyd Circuit Court last week, the First Guaranty Bank of Martin claims that Re-Mine Coal Co. is in default on four loans totalling $44,599.

In suits filed earlier, Kentucky Power claims Re-Mine owes it $6195 for electricity supplied to the firm's coal reclamation project; Porter Industries, of Allen, has sued for $22,359 it says is owing for various supplies; Westfall Enterprises, of Ivel, claimed in December that Re-Mine owed it $7030; Scalf Engineering, of Stanville, is claiming $5047; and Click's Welding and Manufacturing Co., of Lackey, claimed $2093.

In answers filed in several of the cases, Re-Mine claims that the goods sold them were defective and, in a counterclaim, the Wheelwright coal firm says it suffered a $50,000 loss because Click's Welding delivered defective equipment and delivered it late.

Re-Mine is a division of Pioneer Coal Preparation, of Stonebroom, Derbyshire.

February Opening in Plans For County Animal Shelter

If plans of the Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation are carried out, it appears certain that an animal shelter to serve Floyd county will be in operation, perhaps as early as February 1.

Reopening of the shelter facility, formerly operated by the Floyd County Humane Society, has been the major focus of recent efforts of E.K.W.F., a Floyd county-based wildlife conservation group, and with promised support of the fiscal court and cooperation from the City of Prestonsburg, E.K.W.F. President Curtis Hughes is confident that the shelter can operate successfully.

With the recent dissolution of the Floyd County Humane Society, the City of Prestonsburg has granted E.K.W.F. a 10-year lease with three options for additional 10-year renewals on the shelter facility and grounds located on the Sally Stephens Branch near West Prestonsburg. It also appears that financial support for the shelter may be more secure than the hit-and-miss type of funding with which the former humane society proprietors had to cope.

Using animal shelters in such cities as Lexington and Huntington as models for proper management strategies, the Federation is following the Pike county animal shelter's 1983 operating budget of $52,600 as a fiscal guideline for its own projected costs for the coming year. County support, which was sporadic in earlier years, is mandated by a state ruling which requires county fiscal courts to maintain animal shelters. A Floyd Circuit Court order requiring the county to comply with the state law followed a suit filed by Auxier animal lover Bonnie Faulkner.

Federation President Hughes said the county had agreed to provide $9,100 in July to cover such items as kennel and office supplies and utilities. In the meantime, Hughes pointed out, the county will pay immediate expenses. (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

BOARD OF EDUCATION members re-elected last November were sworn in last week by Floyd Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, himself a former school board chairman. Taking the oath of office were, from left, Fred Newsome, of Grethel, Dr. Mary Hall, of McDowell, and James A. Duff, of Hueysville.

Floyd Said Low In Tax Support Of Its Schools

"This is a big problem for us," Board Chairman Dr. James D. Adams noted somberly when figures released last week confirmed that Floyd property owners pay relatively little to support the schools.

The figures were contained in a report to the state Department of Education, a report which is required each year under a new state law and which was prepared for the 1983-'84 school year by Assistant Supt. Ron Hager. They show that, in this county, the ratio of assessed property value to school population is half what it is statewide.

Moreover, the amount of local money spent on educating a child here is only one-fifth the statewide average.

For every child in average daily attendance here last year, Floyd has on the books only $51,603 in assessed property value. The average for Kentucky school districts was $106,017 in assessed property value per child.

In Floyd county, $110 was spent per child from local revenues in 1983-'84; statewide, the figure was $537.

Local income, most of it from taxes, amounted to $941,879 last year. That is 5.5 percent of the school district's budget. Statewide, local revenues account on average for 18 percent of the school budget.

Where the state contributes, on average, 59 percent of the funding for Kentucky public schools, in this county the state contribution is nearly 69 percent. Federal revenues, which account for 10.6 percent of the school budget statewide, make up 14.5 percent of the budget here.

The percentage of students classified as economically deprived was 35.8 across the state. It was 58.7% in Floyd county.

Refreshments were served and she received 31 bouquets of roses in appreciation of "Granny" Jay Turner, formerly of Wayland, and the late Bill Turner, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Hicks and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Skeank and two grandsons Christopher and Patrick, all reside in Trenton.

Autopsy Performed After Spears' Death

Although his death is believed to have been accidental, the body of Foster James Spears, 62, who died of injuries early Sunday, has been sent to Louisville for an autopsy by the state medical examiner.

State Police Detective Danny Stumbo has been investigating the death.

Working with his son, Foster, Jr., and a neighbor, near his home on Williams Branch of the left fork of Abbott Creek, he was apparently trying to get a pickup truck started by pulling it with another vehicle when he was injured, Coroner Roger Nelson said he was told. One of those helping him admitted they had been drinking. "We didn't know he was hurt till he fell," he was quoted as saying.

Injuries included head lacerations on the left side, and his clavicle and some ribs were broken. Injured Saturday night, Spears was taken to the Highlands Regional Medical Center, where he died at about 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

A native of the German section of Johns Creek, he was a son of the late Orville and Lucy Jervis Spears. He was an Army veteran of World War II and was preceded in death by his wife, Geneva Ousley Spears. Surviving, in addition to his son, are three daughters, Mrs. Tealie Prater, West Prestonsburg, Mrs. Tishie Powers, of Auxier, and Mrs. Bonnie Thompson, Tampa, Fla.; two brothers, Ralph and Curtis Spears, both of Abbott Creek; one sister, Ellen Spears, of Prestonsburg, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. today (Wednesday) from the chapel of the Carter Funeral Home by the Rev. Doug Burkett, and burial will be made in the Holbrook cemetery on Abbott Creek.

Governor Has Last Words...

No Tolls on Mt. Parkway After Bond Debt Is Paid

Gov. Martha Layne Collins laid to rest last Thursday all concerns about the collection of tolls on the Mountain Parkway after the retirement of outstanding bonds this year.

She announced that she will remove all the tolls as soon as the bonds are paid off.

Until the governor's announcement reached them, Eastern Kentucky citizens and officials were incensed at the prospect of continued payment of tolls for maintenance of the parkway. The issue was raised recently by Rep. Bob Jones, Crestwood Democrat and chairman of a subcommittee of the Appropriations and Revenue Committee, who had suggested that the tolls be retained to finance resurfacing and repair of the highway. Besides, an attorney general's opinion had held that such tolls would be legal and had added that the governor was the "ultimate" authority in the matter.

So the governor used her authority. "The purpose of a toll," she said at a news conference after meeting with legislative leaders last Thursday, "is to pay a debt. That was the agreement that we had, that we would collect tolls and that the toll money would be used to pay off the construction of the road."

Then her final word on the matter: "Now that the road (debt) has been paid, I think it is only fair to lift the toll." Bonds financing the four-lane section of the parkway from Winchester to Campton will be paid off this month. Those financing the two-lane portion from Campton to Salyersville are due to be retired in July. The tolls are to go off as the separate bond issues are paid off.

Governor Collins said the state will have to deal with maintenance of the parkway "just like we work out maintenance of any other road in the state."

She said she was not aware of the Senate's approval, earlier Thursday, of a resolution sponsored by Senator Benny Ray Bailey, calling on her to remove the tolls. The resolution declared that "the meager amount of revenue generated by the continuance of toll collections would be stripped away by the animosity of the citizens of Eastern Kentucky toward future efforts to bolster road fund revenues."

Floyd Receives Grant For Juvenile Staff

Governor Martha Layne Collins announced last week that 26 counties will benefit from grants totalling more than $280,000 awarded through the state Justice Cabinet.

The grants are to be used to develop alternatives so that status offenders can be removed from adult jails. Status offenders are children under the age of 18 who are judged to be truant, runaways, or out-of-control. State law requires that all juvenile offenders be kept out of sight and sound of adult prisoners.

"These grant awards are one step in aiding counties to meet the special needs of young people who have gotten into trouble," said Governor Collins. "In addition to removing status offenders from jails, grant money provides support staff workers to the juvenile session of district court."

Floyd county received $746 for support staff workers.

Something To Remember

Governor Collins has settled the matter of continued tolls on the Mountain Parkway. After the bonds are retired, there won't be any.

We appreciate the governor's forthright action. Without it, Eastern Kentuckians who have paid for the road could have been paying for years longer, just to keep it usable—paying all the other taxes Kentuckians pay, plus this toll to keep open a highway for which they had already paid.

The pleasing result of all this controversy is more than a victory on one front. It points the way to others. It shows the power of open poli.

We didn't force Governor Collins to come to our rescue, of course, but it's reasonably certain that the voice of the people raised in common cause, with everybody—or almost everybody—adding to the chorus of protest, had its effect.

If we could show such a united front on other issues, the voice heard in Frankfort from Eastern Kentucky would be clearer and more effective. Please, let's remember that.

A Voice in Frankfort

On his own initiative and with the staunch support of fellow-legislators, particularly those of Eastern Kentucky, Floyd county's Greg Stumbo has won the No. 2 spot in the state House of Representatives.

As Democratic floor leader, Rep. Stumbo will give Eastern Kentucky a prominent role in state government, and that, we think, is good. The Mountains area with its coal production and undeveloped potential deserves a voice in Frankfort and its inner councils, and we like to think that Greg Stumbo will be at least one of the answers to that need.

That is not to say that the new floor leader should use his office for the exclusive benefit of this one section of the state, to the exclusion of all others. Of course, he has a duty to all Kentucky. But it also is his duty, we like to think, to protect Eastern Kentucky from the time-dishonored step-child role.

removed that source of supply and East Kentucky was forced to buy from Kentucky West Virginia at $4.64 per 1000. Later, when Southeast was able to resume service, it offered gas at $3.50 per 1000 and East Kentucky signed a contract at that lower figure.

Barkley Sturgill, Prestonsburg attorney who represented consumers at the hearing, argued that the Public Service Commission should be notified of the terms of such contracts before, not after, they are signed.

He said the Right Beaver section, which would be hit by increases in gas costs, has more of the elderly, unemployed and persons on fixed incomes than any part of Floyd county.

The county intervened in the case, asking such relief for East Kentucky as is necessary to meet payments on its bonded indebtedness. That debt amounts to $2035 a month. Floyd county owns the gas system and leases it to East Kentucky Utilities.

Final Training Classes For Preventacare Slated

Facing a federal cutoff date of June 30, the Cabinet for Human Resources has selected eight of Kentucky's area development districts, including Big Sandy ADD, for the final training classes under the Preventacare health demonstration project.

Human Resources Secretary Al Austin said the additional training would be made available to eligible recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children benefits in the Big Sandy, Bluegrass, Cumberland Valley, Green, River, Kentucky River, KIPDA, Lake Cumberland and Lincoln Trail Area Development Districts. Austin said interested applicants may contact the ADD offices or local offices of the departments for Employment Services, Social Services and Social Insurance.

Preventacare is in its third and final year of funding by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Kentucky has been allocated more than $11 million as one of only seven states selected to participate in the project. Preventacare is designed to provide homemaker and home health aide training to AFDC recipients. Graduates are then employed for at least one year to provide in-home services which enable elderly and disabled Kentuckians to remain at home and avoid institutionalization.

All training funding for Preventacare ends June 30, 1985 and the federal subsidies for employment of Preventacare graduates will conclude June 30, 1986. The U.S. Department for Health and Human Services will study the results of the project in each state and then make a recommendation on whether Preventacare should be resumed, modified or dropped permanently.

'IT BE SPRING AGAIN'
This is another of those "Anon" pieces, which means that nobody knows who is responsible for it in the first place. It has for its principal characters an old Negro mammy keeping a group of children on their best behavior. The scene is a room in a log cabin at night, the only light that of a fire flickering from open fireplace to nearby walls and ceiling, the children huddled together as Old Mammy talks in a hushed monotone:

"Hear that wind a-moanin'? It lone some, chillun, and wants inside us... Thar it goes, waiin' round de chimley cawnah, a-whimperin' cause it tiash and no place to res'... Listen to that howlin', younguns! Old wold he hungry. Keep the do' shet... Ah, now, it a-goin' up thar on the ridge, rollin' 'cross the treetops like the waves of the sea. But don't you go outside, chillun. Dat ol' wind come back down heah; he likes to pinch chillun's cheeks... Jes' let 'im roar. He wear hisself out, a-finally, and then he blow soft and slow, and it be Spring again."

particularly utilities, in order that operation of the shelter may get under way.

While two Federation volunteers will man the shelter at first, three full-time county employees will later be hired, Hughes said. Establishment of a pet adoption program will be a primary objective of the facility, which will be called the Eastern Kentucky Humane Shelter, he pointed out, and Floyd county veterinarian Rudolph Ousley, who is a sponsor member in the E.K.W.F. organization, will work closely with the shelter.

In addition to the basic aim of controlling the stray animal population and providing the possibility of pet adoption, it is the hope of E.K.W.F. that better control of strays will reduce the severity of the wild dog and cat problem in the area which Hughes calls "our greatest challenge and most serious problem" facing wildlife. He said, for example, that the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife is willing to stock Eastern Kentucky with deer and wild turkey, "but they won't because they know the hills are full of wild dogs."

"The cause of the wild dog problem is the unwanted puppy that we set out by the roadside," he commented. "In reopening the animal shelter, we feel like we'll be in a position to help this problem."

(The Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation, established in 1979, has nearly 2000 acres posted and set aside for wildlife food plots and available for the use of members as well as area schools and youth groups. Membership fees are looked to as a primary source of funding for the operation of the animal shelter. An application for membership and accompanying article appears elsewhere, this issue.)

"Frankly, I find this kind of scary," Burchett told the jury. "Any of us could be here (as defendants) simply because the state police did not believe us."

The defense attorney made much of the fact that prosecutors changed their version of how Wilson was shot, arguing first that the weapon was fired from a distance of 18 to 24 inches and only later, when an expert hired by the defense found traces of gunpowder on the victim's skull, conceding that the pistol was in contact with Wilson's head when it discharged—"exactly the way Randall and Linda June said it happened."

Frasure claimed Wilson flew into a jealous rage and lunged at him with a butcher knife when he learned that his ex-wife and Frasure were about to be married. Frasure said he tried to ward off his assailant by striking him on the cheek with a pistol but the weapon discharged on contact, killing Wilson. Allen gun-dealer Meredith Depoy, called by the prosecution to explain how he had sold the 9 mm. Smith and Wesson revolver to Mrs. Wilson two weeks before her ex-husband was shot, conceded, under cross-examination by Burchett, that he had received complaints that that model revolver sometimes discharged accidentally and that the manufacturer had subsequently made changes in its design.

The defense underscored evidence that Wilson, after he was mugged and beaten on the head by two assailants in the Panama Canal Zone, was diagnosed as a paranoid schizophrenic by an Army physician there and that he had sometimes beaten his wife. "(Might not) a man who beats on a woman pick up a butcher knife to attack the man who was going to marry her?" defendant's attorney asked rhetorically. Burchett characterized as "Fantasy Island" the account given by Det. Castle and Coroner Nelson of how Wilson died and heaped scorn on Dr. David Wolfe, the forensic anthropologist who designed controversial tests to show that Wilson was shot after he had been knocked to the floor in Mrs. Wilson's kitchen.

Frasure and Mrs. Wilson cooperated fully with police, Frasure offering five times to take a lie-detector test to back up his story, the defense lawyer noted. But Castle, Nelson and Wolfe were driven by their "fantasy" of getting a conviction against the two eye-witnesses, Burchett said. "Put a stop to their fantasies," he begged the jury.

Commonwealth's Attorney Allen stressed that the physical evidence at the scene—especially blood spattered low on a refrigerator door—"simply did not substantiate" the eye-witnesses' story.

Mrs. Wilson claimed the spray of blood appeared after she had cradled Wilson's head in her hands and then shook the blood from them. But the prosecutor pointed to expert evidence that the blood had come from a single source, presumably Wilson's head, and said it was clear the victim was down when he was shot. Moreover, there were signs that Frasure and Mrs. Wilson had themselves placed a butcher knife in the dead man's grip and deliberately arranged other details to make it look like Wilson was on the attack when he was shot, he said.

Before the shooting, as the prosecutor told it, Frasure put the loaded pistol in his waistband and lay in wait for his fiancée's former husband. "He was ready for him because he had a big gun in his pants," Allen said.

Members of Wilson's family, who had praise for the prosecution team, said they felt angry that the trial judge ordered suppressed what they considered to be important evidence in the case against Frasure and Mrs. Wilson.

One piece of evidence the jury was not permitted to hear was a statement made by the late Dr. Joe Taylor Hyden, a Martin dentist, who appeared early and briefly on the scene of the killing. After viewing photographs taken by police, Hyden, who was an avid knife collector, testified in a deposition that the butcher knife photographed in the dead man's hand was different from the bread knife he had seen in the victim's hand earlier. Hyden was to die of cancer a few months later.

Prosecutors claimed Frasure and Mrs. Wilson first planted the bread knife and, before police arrived, replaced it with the butcher knife. Judge Conley ordered Hyden's testimony suppressed, however—because, although his lawyer was present when the deposition was taken, Frasure was not.

Larry Wilson's sister said she felt far too much was made of her brother's mental illness during the trial. "He was a kind, loving, friendly person—nothing like the maniac they tried to make him out to be," Mrs. Crum said.

Ballard Brown, brother to Charles, was tried on a burglary count in connection with the Jerry's burglary Monday but, after the Commonwealth had presented its case, Circuit Judge Hollie Conley acceded to a defense request for a directed verdict of acquittal. Brown said he was home in bed the night of the burglary and his two alleged confederates confirmed he was not with them.

Kenneth Mullins, 26, formerly of Beaver and now confined in a federal prison in Memphis, Tenn., was brought here to testify in the case. He said he saw Ballard Brown at a Goble-Roberts apartment where proceeds from the robbery were being counted. City Police Sgt. Greg Hall said he saw Brown in his brother's pickup several times in Prestonsburg the night of the burglary.

The police officer admitted, however, that, when he stopped the pickup soon after the break-in, he could not identify Ballard Brown as being in the vehicle.

Among the charges against Charles Brown that were dropped as part of Friday's plea bargain was one charging that he stole a safe containing $1300 from Wendy's Restaurant on Nov. 28, 1983, another charging him in the theft of a battery charger from Dennis Adams on March 7, 1984, and one accusing him of breaking into a mobile home belonging to Danny Akers at Allen on March 31, 1984. A charge against Bartlett stemming from the break-in at Akers' home was also dismissed.

education authorities are scheduling seminars for that purpose, he said.

The board voted to send a letter of commendation to Druther's in Prestonsburg for a program the restaurant has begun to encourage school attendance. Under the program, students who miss no days over a nine-week period are treated to a free meal. In the marking period just ended, 2002 students qualified.

If they will be covered under the school district's insurance policy, about six students attending the David School will be permitted to ride on Floyd school buses, the board decided. The request was made by David School Director Dan Green, who noted that the alternative high school is celebrating its 11th anniversary.

Asst. Supt. Brackett noted that other public school boards have provided help for non-public schools and board member James A. Duff praised the 55-pupil school at David, which caters to students who have dropped out of the regular high schools, for "doing a good job."

Hired by the board were: Karen Johnson, replacement teacher for Melvin kindergarten; Alicia Hughes, teacher at Harold Elementary; Emma Cecil, teacher at Betsy Layne Elementary to replace Jimmie Cecil; Melissa B. Ratliff and Vickie Renee Thornberry, emergency substitute teachers; Danette Fannin and Jacqueline McKinney, certified substitute teachers; Ray Slone, janitor at Garrett Elementary; Stephanie Jackson, temporary teacher aide at Prestonsburg Elementary and Deborah Moore, special education aide for Spradlin Branch school; Robert Stewart, bus driver at Betsy Layne, and Dorothy Hamilton, contract driver for Maytown handicapped students.

Story Of A Murderer And Prison Volunteer To Be Told On KET

He was a convicted murderer. She was a prison volunteer. They fell in love. "The Life and the Lady," a special 90-minute "Frontline" documentary to be aired on KET Tuesday, Feb. 5, at 9 p.m., traces the two-and-a-half-year saga of Ron Cooney and Lesley Earl.

They met at Collins Bay penitentiary in Canada, at a Christmas social. Cooney was serving the tenth year of a life sentence for murder. They fell in love and Cooney began the long process toward parole, although it was rarely granted to lifers.

While Cooney battles officials and parole boards for his release, Lesley Earl has her own battles. She meets substantial opposition to her relationship with a prisoner from family and friends.

"The pressures facing Ron Cooney as he emerges from prison are enormous," says producer John Kastner. "He hasn't had to deal with the outside world for 10 years. He's never learned how to be a law-abiding citizen. And he has very little official support or guidance once he's out."

Cooney makes positive steps to keep himself out of prison, and his relationship with Lesley helps steady him. "One day, we'll all be together as a family," Lesley predicts. And Cooney provides his own prognosis: "I've still got a long hill to climb. And hopefully when I do get to the top, I won't slide back down the other side."

Former Auxier Man Hurt In Rockfall

James B. Clark, of Blaine, formerly of Auxier, was seriously injured Monday night in a rockfall in a Magoffin county coal mine, it was reported Tuesday.

Clark was said to have suffered a broken pelvis and foot among other injuries when a four-foot square section of rock fell on him.

He was transferred from Paintsville Hospital, Tuesday, to a Lexington hospital.

The word lace comes from the Latin word laqueus, which means noose or snare.

DAY HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Prestonsburg Day Homemakers, one of the largest Homemakers' clubs in this county, had a large number of its members present when their first meeting of 1985 was held at the First United Methodist Church, Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 8. The president, Mrs. Eleanor Horn, presided at the business meeting. "Happy Birthday" was sung for Margaret Alley, Clara Bradbury, Alice Harris, and Otelia Smiley.

The president, reported on the delivery to the Jenny Wiley Nursing Home of gifts from the club for Christmas, and told of the gratitude of the patients.

Mrs. Frances Pitts presented the lesson on "Twilling." She asked for opinions regarding what to do with the decorations made by clubmembers of this county for the May Lodge Christmas tree. She said this matter will also be brought before other county Homemakers' clubs for consideration. Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick was asked to be responsible for sending cards to members who may be ill.

Mrs. Pitts announced that a trip by the clubs to Williamsburg, Va. next October is in the planning.

Mrs. Mabel Donahoe was assisted by Mrs. Beckye Short as hostess, in serving refreshments to Frances Pitts, Eleanor Horn, Dorothy Osborne, Mary Sue Moore, Myrtle Allen, Maurine Mayo, Rebecca Rasnick, Margaret Alley, Jane Wallace, Ann Alley, Dolly Pettrey, Pat Necessary, Otelia Smiley, Betty Langefeld, Ellen Messer, May K. Roberts, Patsy Brown, Belvie Hackworth, Dorothy Burke, Mary Jane Brown, Lucy Regan, Laura Simms and son John, Phyllis Herrick, and Docia Woods.

The next meeting will be at this same location, Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 12, at 1 o'clock, with Barbara Dawson, Phyllis Herrick and Peg Hewlett as hostesses. The lesson will be on "Wills."

Her 101 Years Have Been Kind

The years have not robbed Mrs. Mollie Patrick of her interest in the world around her—and it has changed a lot in the 101 years of her life. Her beauty as a younger woman is still apparent, too. When her picture was taken, Monday, Mrs. Patrick was enjoying a visit from her son, Derward, and family, of Salyersville, at the Mountain Manor Nursing Home here. A daughter, Mrs. Maurine Deaton, lives in Arizona.

The widow of B.T. Patrick, she is the nursing home's oldest resident in both years and time that she has lived there. When her family took her to another health care facility to be nearer to them, she wasn't satisfied until she returned to Mountain Manor where, she says, she "feels at home."

Although she walks only with assistance, Mrs. Patrick takes part regularly in the planned activities at Mountain Manor and enjoys lunch daily with others in the dining room. She particularly enjoys reading her Bible and is also interested in current magazines.

Mrs. Patrick attributes her long life to her faith in God, hard work, and the love she has for others.

Area Projects Listed For Review at Meeting

A total of 22 applications, representing $34.5 million in capital expenditures, are scheduled to be reviewed by the Kentucky Health Facilities and Health Services Certificate of Need and Licensure Board during its January 16 meeting. Most of the requests are for new additions to existing facilities or to purchase new or replacement equipment for specialized units.

Eastern Kentucky projects scheduled for review are:

—King's Daughters Medical Center, Ashland, to establish a 21-bed rehabilitation unit by converting 21 acute care beds and renovate space for therapy services ($90,000).

Floyd Woman Named To Child Support Group

Governor Martha Layne Collins has appointed a 24-member commission to examine the child support system in Kentucky and make recommendations for improvement.

"The effectiveness of our child support system determines the quality of life for many of Kentucky's children," said Governor Collins. "This commission will look at the problems of enforcing child support orders and the lack of uniform standards for setting child support obligations."

"The 1984 General Assembly passed comprehensive legislation concerning the child support system," said the Governor. "Through this commission we want to insure that the judicial and administrative system works and meets the needs of both parents as well as the children."

Members of the Governor's State Child Support Commission include Earlene Newsome, of Floyd county.

Interview On KET Features Dawahare

Bill Gorman, mayor of Hazard, Ky., interviews William C. Dawahare, a well-known civic and business leader, on the January 25 edition of "Bywords," airing at 7:00 p.m. (ET), 6:00 p.m. (CT), on KET. "Bywords" is a weekly public information series and features different Kentucky hosts interviewing prominent Kentucky citizens statewide.

Dawahare, whose family owns and operates 20-30 stores in Kentucky and Ohio, comments largely on the ingenuity of his father, who immigrated to the United States to avoid persecution by the Druse in his native Syria. The senior Dawahare met and married his wife, who worked in New York's infamous "sweat shops." He decided to relocate to Norton, Va., as a "pack peddler" to sell sheets, towels, dresses, and bedspreads to miners. Eventually he established the first Dawahare store in Neon, Ky., and the chain of stores, for each of his eight sons, blossomed from there.

Gorman and Dawahare have spent many years together in Eastern Kentucky and traveling together nationwide, including meeting two U.S. presidents. Together they relate many colorful stories for viewers on life and events in Appalachia.

"Bywords" is a KET production.

Honda Donates Motorcycles

Celebrating its 25th anniversary in the United States, American Honda Motor Company, Inc., with the assistance of Kinzer Cycle, has donated six new motorcycles to the technician training program of the Magoffin County Vocational School. The donation is part of a nationwide program established by American Honda to enhance and assist in the training of motorcycle technicians in public schools. Honda's donation to schools across the country this year involves more than 2,000 motorcycles, valued in excess of five million dollars. The program is the single largest donation of motorcycles in U.S. history.

American Honda has supported vocational/technical training programs for the past 15 years. The rapid change in motorcycle technology has put increasing demands on the skill levels needed to service today's modern motorcycles. The Honda donation program gives vocational schools an opportunity to have the latest products with which to train future technicians.

Firefighters of the Year

Capt. Larry Adams, left, and Larry Leedy were named "Firefighters of 1984" by their Prestonsburg Fire Dept. colleagues at an end-of-year awards banquet. The city fire department traditionally selects two officers annually—one career officer and one volunteer—to receive the award.

Adams served with the department for nearly six years, Leedy for eight months. Both men received certificates to commemorate their achievement.

Conservation Program At Work

By CURTIS HUGHES

The Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation has come a long way since 1979 with its Habitat Management Program. Thanks to property owners that understand the need for wildlife conservation, the refuge has grown to nearly 2,000 acres. The wildlife refuge was the first and most important phase of our conservation program.

But the time has come for us to face our greatest challenge and our most serious problem, a problem that threatens the existence of all wildlife in Eastern Kentucky, and when the wildlife has become extinct, the wild and vicious, mongrel dogs will still roam freely through the hills of Eastern Kentucky, hunting for their next warm-blooded victim to prey upon.

It will take several years to get this problem under control, but we must begin. The first step to solving any problem is to eliminate the cause. The cause of the wild dog problem is the unwanted puppy that we set out by the roadside.

The Wildlife Federation has leased the animal shelter that formerly was operated by the Floyd County Humane Society. It will operate under the name, "The Eastern Kentucky Humane Shelter." The shelter will operate by guidelines set by the Kentucky Humane Society. This includes a Pet Adoption Program.

Kentucky Power Under Attack Second Time in Pike County

Approximately 950 homes and businesses in the Sidney, Canada and Turkey Creek areas of Pike County were without electricity for about five hours last Wednesday because of damage inflicted by gunfire to two transformers in the Long Fork substation of Kentucky Power Company.

The outage began at 8:53 a.m. when four bullet holes were discovered in one transformer and one in another. The incident is under investigation by Kentucky State Police.

"It took a few hours to determine the extent of damage caused by such a senseless act as this," said C. Richard Lovegrove, Kentucky Power Company public affairs director. "We had to ask five coal mining operations in the area to curtail work because of the situation, and the matter is even more senseless when the inconvenience and possibly life-threatening situations to residential customers are considered."

Lovegrove said the incident marked the second time in recent days that Kentucky Power Company property had suffered extensive damage, and thousands of customers affected. He added the cost for all of these damages and losses ultimately will fall onto the company's ratepayers.

"The first incident occurred December 28 at Johns Creek, also in Pike county, and involved a dynamite blast in a substation. That matter is still under investigation by state and federal authorities, and we still have a $25,000 reward in effect for information that leads to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible," Lovegrove said.

ABBOTT HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Abbott Homemakers met Tuesday evening, Jan. 8, at the church annex, with Mrs. Sharon Sparr, president, presiding. Mrs. Frances Pitts presented the lesson on "Twilling," and asked that members bring their completed twilling to next month's meeting. The hostess, Mrs. Ruby Frasure, served refreshments to members, Mary Lynn Crisp, Sharon Sparr, Grace Greer, Frances Pitts, Cynthia Frasure, Mary Creed, and Christine Ross, and guests, John Ryan Sparr, Jordan Sparr, Bethany Crisp, Dustin Crisp, Melissa Justice, and Denise Creed. The next meeting will be at the same location, Feb. 12, at 7 p.m., with Mrs. Cynthia Frasure as hostess, and the lesson will be on "Furniture Trends."

The county has promised financial assistance, which under law is required, to maintain a shelter. The stray dog problem is too serious for the county to solve without our help.

If you would like to take part in a Wildlife Conservation Program that works and belong to an organization that gets results, then you need to join the Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation. The Federation's membership dues are $36 per year, which can be paid in four equal payments of $9. (A membership application appears below for the convenience of all interested persons or firms.)

The reward offer has been extended to cover the Long Fork incident also under the same terms as published in newspaper advertising.

Lovegrove added that "acts such as these are what we have come to expect in news from other countries, but something that has no part in our society. Such acts are costly. But even more importantly, they endanger those who depend upon electricity for health, safety, and comfort."

Harman Station Restoration At Blockhouse Bottom Talked

Chances are, when the new tri-county airport near the junction of the Martin-Floyd-Johnson county lines is completed later this year, Combs Airport at Blockhouse Bottom will no longer be in use.

What then? The state of Kentucky, which has the heaviest investment in the land occupied by the airstrip, may have the last word in the matter.

Lying between US 23 and the Big Sandy River, it occupies what could be the site of future housing. Or better, some say, it could be the location of an industry that would afford employment to many.

But rumors heard recently indicate that at least a portion of the historic site might be used as a tourist attraction with the reconstruction of Harman's Station, the pioneer settlement that stood there.

It was to Harman's Station that Jenny Wiley escaped from her Indian captors. The blockhouse and surrounding cabins at that time formed the first white settlement in an area of 13 Eastern Kentucky counties.

Those who have introduced the idea of a pioneer village have not been identified by name, but the suggestion has aroused interest.

The proposed four-lane KY 3 from Martin county to Auxier Heights, near the old settlement site, is pointed to as a route which, with the present US 23, would make the reconstructed Harman's Station accessible to thousands of visitors annually.

That the airport occupying the bottom will be abandoned, once the new and more adequate facility is in use, appears certain. Its runways will be a problem within the next two years, it is said, with only local or state funds to pay for maintenance.

Council Denies Continued Pay for Park Head

Meeting for the first time since mid-December, it was pretty much business as usual for the Prestonsburg City Council although a decision made in executive session appears to have cast serious doubt on the status of the present Archer Park administrator.

While council approved the rehiring of all full-time employees of the city, members voted to no longer pay the $16,529.50 yearly salary of Archer Park Administrator Myra Walker. It was argued that since the administrator's job is not officially a city position, responsibility for salary payment should not rest with the city. Final word on the status of the position was expected at a Tuesday night meeting of the Archer Park Board.

Ms. Walker, who has come under fire from some members of the council recently, has held the park administrator's position for the past three-and-a-half years.

Three temporary city positions—two in the street department and one in the fire department—were not renewed during the executive session and council decided to discontinue the Delta Dental Plan for city employees. City Manager David Evans said the city will advertise for bids for more economical health insurance.

Also in executive session, Mayor Harold Cooley appointed Councilman Bobby Ranier as council representative to the park board.

In the regular session of council, the juncture of a 42" and 48" pipe behind

Druther's Restaurant was pointed to as the primary trouble spot hindering proper drainage of runoff from Trimble Branch and Friend Street during periods of heavy rain. Water has flooded some homes on North Arnold Avenue in the past and city employees, equipped with breathing equipment to guard against the danger of methane gas, followed the sewage pipe last week from the floodwall to the area of blockage.

The recommendation was made to provide equipment and assist property owners in the area of the pipe with the removal of the 42" section in order to form a ponding area for excess runoff.

The suggestion that a new bridge approved by the state Department of Transportation to replace the Cliff Bridge might be of more benefit if it were built at Goble-Roberts Addition was nixed when it was explained by Mayor Cooley that the Cliff span is "already designed and ready to go." Cooley said bids would be let in the summer for the Cliff Bridge and he added that D.O.T. "is all for a bridge at Goble-Roberts if we can come up with 20 percent of the cost," an amount, he said, which would total $265,000.

Upon the recommendation of City Manager Evans, the council approved installation of lighting at both ends of the recently-opened Cliff access road.

Council also granted a request by Millard Hughes, on behalf of Chapt. 18, D.A.V., that the organization be allowed to conduct a fund-raising roadblock, May 4, or, in case of rain, May 18.

Medicare Costs Increase

By JIM KELLY
Social Security District Director

The Medicare hospital insurance inpatient deductible, the amount an inpatient is responsible for, will increase to $400 for benefit periods starting in 1985. The 1984 deductible was $356.

Also increasing are the per-day amounts for which the patient is responsible. The inpatient deductible is the only cost to the patient for covered services for the first 60 days of care in a benefit period.

For care in a skilled nursing facility, hospital insurance pays for all covered services for the first 20 days and all but $50 a day for up to 80 more days in 1985. The 1984 figure was $44.50.

The Medicare medical insurance premium is also increased for 1985. The 1985 basic premium will be $15.50 a month, compared to the 1984 basic premium of $14.60. Some people pay a higher rate because there were periods of time they could have had medical insurance but did not.

The $75 medical insurance annual deductible will not change, because it is set in law.

More information about Medicare costs for covered services can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security Office located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville.

So There, Now!

Mrs. Lizzie Hall kept telling members of her family that a 'possum was getting in her hen house, but no one seemed to believe her. Finally, tired of talking, Mrs. Hall, who is 85 years old, got her pistol, drew a bead on the robbing renegade, and presented the evidence that she was right all along.

Juries Acquit Two Defendants

District court juries promptly returned not-guilty verdicts in two cases tried this week, after hearing Public Defender Sandra Simmons deplore the use of the courtroom for settling "petty arguments."

Assistant County Attorney Eric Hall objected that there was nothing petty about the Commonwealth's charge that Bob Roberts pulled a gun on Amos King, Jr. in the middle of the highway at Wayland last July 7. But Simmons argued that it was King who was menacing Roberts that Saturday morning and even the prosecutor let the jury know that trying the case was not his idea but the complainant's.

King, 21, of Topmost, and Carlos Hall, of Dema, said they were driving from Knott county toward Wayland on KY 7 when a car carrying Roberts, also of Topmost, and his wife Geraldine began a duel—not allowing them to pass, then pursuing them with lights flashing—until they were forced to pull over in Wayland to check on a TV set they were carrying in the trunk.

At that point, Roberts pointed a gun at them, making them fear for their lives, the two men testified. On King's warrant, Roberts was charged with wanton endangerment, which carries a possible penalty of 12 months in jail and a $500 fine.

The Robertses said the situation was quite the reverse: Mrs. Roberts set out around 7 a.m. to drive her sick husband to hospital in Prestonsburg when King suddenly backed out in front of them and then deliberately prevented them from passing. They stopped in Wayland to summon police but had no gun and made no threats, they said.

It took two hours for them to reach Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin—a journey that would normally take about 30 minutes—and Roberts was hospitalized there for several days with a heart ailment, the couple testified.

The defense attorney tried to introduce evidence that King was encouraged by Ellis Little to trump up a complaint against Roberts, with whom Little allegedly had a long-standing dispute. But District Judge Harold Stumbo ruled the evidence irrelevant.

The jury, which heard the case Tuesday morning, returned a not-guilty verdict after about 15 minutes' deliberation.

In a case tried Monday, Terry Little, of Wheelwright, was acquitted of assaulting Robbie Dean Miller, of Price. Miller claimed that Little dragged him from his truck and punched him last July 27. But Little testified he only defended himself after Miller threatened him with a baseball bat.

In other district court cases this week, two entered guilty pleas: Johnny Johnson, of Endicott, pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property although he maintained he was innocent of the charge. Last July 2, state police recovered from his truck a little girl's bicycle which had been stolen earlier from outside the Sundry Store here. Johnson said another man had given him the bicycle. He was given six months' probation, on a recommendation of the prosecutor.

James Bradley, of Martin, was put on probation for two years after pleading guilty Monday to a charge of disorderly conduct.

4-H Summer Job Opportunities

College students or school teachers interested in finding a part-time summer job may have to look no further than the Kentucky 4-H program.

Dwight L. Crum, 4-H program specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, said jobs are available for work at one of the five Kentucky summer camps located at Carlisle, London, Rush, Jabez and Dawson Springs.

Applications can be picked up in each Kentucky county from the 4-H agent at the county Cooperative Extension Office. Deadline for returning the completed application is the third Friday of February.

Crum said jobs are available for camp managers, medical technicians, swimming instructors, recreation and crafts instructors and cooks. Pay ranges from $750 per month for camp manager to $567 per month for other full-time camp staff members. Employment begins June 1 and generally ends around mid-August.

Persons applying for a camp manager's position must be at least 18 and a high school graduate, Crum said. Camping, counseling or administrative/personnel experience is desired. Communications skills and the ability to work with youth and adults are required.

Paramedics are preferred for the emergency medical technician positions, but those possessing an Emergency Medical Certification will be considered. Likewise, Crum said those holding an advanced life safety certificate or Water Safety Instructor certificate will be considered for swimming instructor positions. Two swimming instructor positions are available at each campsite.

Crum said some 10,000 young people, mostly aged from 9 to 13, will attend 4-H camps this year. 4-H utilizes adult volunteers and teen counselors to stay with the young people at night. Paid staff and instructors have their own quarters.

Headwaters KET Series Will Explore Violence In East Kentucky Area

Headwaters continues on KET, Tuesday, Jan. 22 at 7:30 with "Five Conversations about Violence". The 30-minute television show includes Sheriff Ben B. Taylor, of Letcher county. The sheriff, a former military man, shows confiscated guns and drugs, and links the high unemployment rate in Letcher county to crime.

"People get to wondering and thinking (when unemployed), and this leads to crime," he says.

The program also talks with Lee Howard, of Clay county, who tells about the feud in her family; kindergarden teacher, Will Rosenfield, who describes the impact of television on children; and probation counselor, Doug Scholl, of Wise county, Virginia.

Eula Hall, director of the Mud Creek Health Clinic in Floyd county, tells about the relationship she sees between Reagan administration cutbacks in social programs and mounting crime in her area. "When you get the poor people fighting each other, it's hard for them to overcome." The show uses archival photographs and music by Robin and Linda Williams.

Headwaters will be seen every Tuesday evening at 7:30 on KET during January and February. Produced by Appalshop of Whitesburg, this series about mountain culture and concerns will be seen this year for the first time on KET. The producers welcome local reactions to the shows. Letters can be sent to KET, 600 Cooper Drive, Lexington, Ky. 40502 or to Appalshop, Box 743, Whitesburg, Ky. 41858.

Kentucky Bees Free Of Mite Infestation

Kentucky honey bees appear to be free of tracheal mite infestation, a disease which has caused great losses to bee colonies in Texas, New York, Florida, Louisiana, South Dakota and Nebraska since last July.

"We received the good news today from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's bee lab in Maryland, where the testing was done," said Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell. "None of the more than 4,000 bees which were tested showed any signs of the mites."

"We did not expect the mite infestation in other states to pose a threat to Kentucky's $1.5 million honey and beeswax industry," the Commissioner added. "However, replacement bees and queens are often purchased from other areas of the country and bees are moved from state to state for crop pollination work and honey production. It was important for Kentucky's beekeepers to participate in this survey to find out if any diseases bees had got into the Commonwealth."

In states where bees are infested there is no need for people to stop eating honey, because the mites do not pose a danger to humans. "The tracheal mites attack the breathing systems of the bees and can wipe out an entire colony," Boswell said. "However, the honey from a mite-infested colony is not affected in any way and is safe for human consumption."

Two-Thirds of Homeowners Have No Flood Insurance

The rituals of preparing for winter vary from area to area. In some parts of the country, storm windows go up and snow tires go on. In other areas, it is a matter of storing the surf boards until the weather warms up. But an often overlooked preparation is the purchase or renewal of flood insurance to protect against damage that can result from flooding caused by winter storms.

Until recently, flood insurance protection was available only from the federal government's National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), which is administered by the Federal Insurance Administration (FIA).

FIA officials say that after every major flood event, they hear from people who have learned to late that their homeowner's insurance specifically excludes damage caused by flooding.

"Congress created the flood insurance program in 1968 because the private insurance industry could not afford to offer the coverage, and in fact, the program has cost the taxpayers money in every year of its history but one," Jeffrey S. Bragg, head of FIA, has reported.

FIA is a part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), which estimates there are between 6 and 8 million buildings in the United States exposed to a risk of flooding. Currently, only 2 million of these properties are insured.

FIA says there appear to be three major reasons the owners of the other properties do not have flood protection: they think their homeowner's insurance protects them from all hazards; they do not know the federal government has a program offering flood insurance; or they assume they could not be flooded.

According to FIA figures, nearly 40 percent of the losses paid for flood damage have been on buildings located in areas determined to have only minimal to moderate risk of flooding.

FIA recently initiated a program which encourages insurance companies to sell and service flood insurance under their own names with the backing of the federal government so they will not lose money as a result of their flood insurance business.

Bragg explained one reason for this program was so the insurance companies could let more of their customers know they are not protected from flood damage unless they purchase flood insurance, which is available from one of the participating companies or directly from the NFIP.

While the flood insurance program continues to be federally sponsored and backed, coverage may be purchased from any licensed insurance agent or broker.

Information on flood insurance may be obtained from insurance agents or by calling the NFIP's toll-free number 800-638-6620.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Richard Lee Hicks who was taken from his home and murdered on Jan. 20, 1977:

This snow reminds me of the day little Richard was taken away. He left this world on a bed of fine coal and soon he was covered with a big, white snow. With tears in my eyes and sorrow in my heart—oh, how it hurt when we had to depart! His friends asked where he had gone. I replied, "He left in a truck with his so-called friends." So, boys, beware of your friends—you might leave home and never return again.

Sadly missed by your loving mother,

PCC Instructor Killed in Crash

Prestonsburg Community College may have lost its best-loved faculty member in the death last Thursday morning of Susan Sparks Nutter, 37, who was killed in a two-vehicle collision near Salyersville.

The accident occurred on KY 114, about four miles east of Salyersville, as Mrs. Nutter was being driven to Prestonsburg by her husband, John Thomas Nutter, Jr., who is a psychologist with Mountain Comprehensive Care at Salyersville. According to State Police, their car was on the shoulder of the road and when Mr. Nutter attempted to return it to the roadway it skidded, broadside, into a pickup truck.

Mrs. Nutter was dead on arrival at the Paul B. Hall Medical Center, Paintsville. Her husband was treated at the medical center and released.

The victim, who was associate professor of mathematics, had been a member of the community college faculty here since 1977. "She was probably loved more than any faculty member here," said Robert R. Allen, associate director of the college.

A daughter of Harry M. Sparks, executive of Murray State University and a former state superintendent of public instruction, Mrs. Nutter was, in addition to her teaching position, chairman of the Division of Physical Sciences and Related Technologies at Prestonsburg Community College. She received the bachelor's degree in mathematics from Murray and a master's degree in mathematics from Morehead State University. At the time of her death she was working on the final course leading to a doctorate in higher education from the University of Kentucky.

Prior to her association with the college here, she was a paralegal with the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund here and a teacher in the Jefferson county school system. Mrs. Nutter was a member of the state and national Mathematics Associations, the Kentucky Academic Computer Users Group and the American Association of Junior and Community Colleges.

Besides her husband and parents, she is survived by two brothers, Phillip Sparks, of Nashville, Tenn., and Harry M. Sparks, Jr., of Chicago.

The body was taken to the Caudill Funeral Home and Memorial Chapel, Salyersville, and from there to the Max Churchill Funeral Home at Murray. Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m. yesterday (Tuesday) from the First Methodist Church at Murray, and burial was made in Murray cemetery.

Fifteen teaching associates at the college here and 10 others from Mountain Comprehensive Care traveled by special bus to Murray for the funeral.

Wrap your holiday packages with a flair. A gaily-wrapped package with fanciful ribbons can add glamor to any gift.

A graduate of McDowell High School, he received the B.A. and Master's degrees from Morehead State University.

He was a member of the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce, the Big Sandy Board of Realtors, the Kentucky Home Builders Association, Green Meadows Country Club and First (Irene Cole Memorial) Baptist Church.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one son, Rondall Lawson, II, and three daughters, Amy Doreen, Rona Minaie and Crystal Lynn Lawson, all of Prestonsburg; three sisters, Janice Henson and Dorias Flannery, both of Prestonsburg, and Gerry Castle, of Paintsville; and his grandmother, Millie Hall, of Orkney.

Governor Takes on New Job As Secretary of Education

Governor Martha Layne Collins has assumed the additional responsibilities of Secretary of Education and Humanities as she continues her work to improve education across Kentucky. The governor told members of her Council on Educational Reform last Thursday that "nothing means more to me than seeing that the people of this state—all the people of this state—have the chance to enjoy the expanded opportunities that better schools will give us."

She commended members of the Council for their hard work in contributing valuable ideas to education, "the most important cause facing the Commonwealth... This is an outstanding group of men and women."

The Council presented its final report of recommendations for educational reform to the governor. It includes a recognition that good teachers are the foundation of good schools, that students should be doing more writing and that the state needs more effective continuing education programs for teachers.

"I intend to use your report as a basis for fashioning a legislative program," Governor Collins said. "I am optimistic about what we can do."

The Governor said she will ask members of the council, as well as teachers, principals, superintendents, school board members and parents "to look beyond their own particular interests in education toward what is best for Kentucky."

"I have great faith in the people of Kentucky," she said. "They are proud people and once they set their mind to something they will not be denied."

She said that in assuming the additional role of Secretary of Education and Humanities, "I want to send a clear message to the people of Kentucky that I am dedicated to this important work."

The Governor said she will officially begin her statewide campaign for educational improvement later this month, reaching into each of the state's 120 counties.

Floyd Idle Rate in October at 16%

Last November brought higher unemployment rates in 59 Kentucky counties, lower rates for 58 counties and left rates unchanged from October for the other three counties in the state, according to figures released by the Cabinet for Human Resources.

There were 58 counties reporting unemployment rates in November of 10.0 percent or higher, compared to 54 in October and 51 in November 1983.

Statewide, the unemployment rate in November was 8.9 percent, the same as in October, but down from November, 1983, when it was 9.4 percent. Nationally, the comparable rates were 6.9 percent in November, 7.0 percent in October and 8.1 percent in November 1983. The rates are not seasonally adjusted.

For the second month in a row Bourbon county reported the lowest rate, 2.9 percent, as Bluegrass counties continued to dominate the list of those reporting the lowest rates. Other counties reporting rates below 4.0 percent were Scott, 3.1 percent, Woodford, 3.3 percent, Trimble, 3.6 percent, and Fayette, 3.7 percent.

Letcher county's 30.5 percent unemployment rate was the state's highest. State labor market analyst Ed Blackwell said the 9.9 percent jump in that county's unemployment since October was caused partially by temporary layoffs in the coal mining industry. "But we noticed an increase of more than 400 people in the county's labor force, which also pushed the rate up," he said. "Many of these people were new entrants into the labor force who were applying for jobs at a new shopping center."

Other counties reporting rates above 20 percent were Menifee with 25.6 percent and Clinton with 24 percent. In the Big Sandy district the unemployment rate rose from a revised 14.2 percent in October to a preliminary 15.3 percent in November. Rates ranged from a low of 6.5 percent in Martin county, the only single-digit rate in the district, to 17.5 percent in Pike county. The unemployment rate for Floyd county was 16%; Johnson, 14.8; Magoffin, 14.3.

Two Decals Per Boat Hearing Slated Jan. 10

The Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, Division of Water Patrol, has scheduled a public hearing on a proposed regulation requiring boats registered in Kentucky to display two registration decals. The hearing will be held Jan. 30, at 1:30 p.m., EST, in the 2nd Floor Conference Room, Division of Water Patrol Building, 107 Mero Street, Frankfort.

According to Joe Kelly, director of the Division of Water Patrol, the change will enable water patrol officers to confirm current year validation from either side of a boat, thus reducing the number of boats stopped solely for spot checks on current year registration. The U.S. Coast Guard and most states issue two decals when registering boats.

There are other investments, but First Commonwealth's Tax Tamer IRA makes more sense to me.

There are many investment opportunities available today. I've considered several, but I settled on First Commonwealth Bank's Tax Tamer IRA.

The Tax Tamer IRA lets me invest $2,000 a year into a tax deferred savings plan. (With a non-working spouse you could invest $2,250. A working couple can invest $4,000) Not only do I save for the future, but I also get a $2,000 tax break. And that in itself means a lot to me.

I invested in the Tax Tamer IRA because it is a good, sound investment. But I also invested in the Tax Tamer IRA because the people at First Commonwealth Bank believe in the people and the area it serves.

Safety Agency Warns Of Heat Tapes Hazards

Homeowners and mobile home residents who use electric heat tapes to prevent exposed water pipes from freezing are being cautioned by government safety experts to inspect the tapes for possible fire hazards.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, more than 500 house fires in the last seven years are believed to have been caused by electric heat tapes. Also known as pipe heating cables, heat tapes consist of two wires enclosed in molded plastic insulation which emit heat due to electrical current passing through the wires when the cable is plugged into an outlet. The tapes are commonly used in crawl spaces and in the substructure of homes and mobile homes, and are usually energized after the first freezing temperatures. Some heat tapes are plugged in year-round, and a thermostat located in the power supply cord of the heat tape turns on the tape whenever the outdoor temperature approaches freezing.

CPSC reports that improper installation by consumers is a frequent cause of home fires. In one study of 35 fires, agency investigators learned that 40 percent of the heat tapes were "overwrapped," that is, the tape was lapped over itself when the consumer installed the tape around the pipe.

The safety agency offered the following suggestions for consumers:

—Inspect all heat tapes now or have a licensed electrician check for proper installation or deteriorated electrical insulation. Refer to any installation instructions that accompanied the heat tape when you bought it.

—If you are purchasing new heat tapes or cables, know the diameter of the pipe you are protecting as well as the total length of pipe to be protected. Manufacturers normally suggest specific lengths of tape for certain pipe lengths and the diameter of the pipe. Match your specific needs to the heat tape you are buying.

—Older heat tapes should be checked for cracks in the plastic insulation or bare wires; in such cases, replace the heat tape immediately.

—Not all heat tapes may be used in plastic pipes; check to make certain the heat tape you are using is recommended specifically for the plastic pipe in question.

—Finally, manufacturers emphasize that heat tapes should never be used over the thermal insulation on a pipe or near flammable objects. Inspect previously installed tapes to make certain these fire hazards do not exist in your home.

'Troubadour' Album On the Environment Released to Schools

Under a joint letter from Schools Superintendent Alice McDonald and Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet Secretary Charlotte Baldwin, "Troubadour," a newly released album about Kentucky's land and water resources, is being distributed to 88 junior high, high schools and colleges in 13 Eastern Kentucky counties.

The letter from Secretary Baldwin and Superintendent McDonald states that the album "communicates an important message about our natural resources" and may be "integrated into future environmental awareness activities" in the schools.

Distribution of the album, featuring Michael Johnathon, the Appalachian Troubadour, is being financed by East Kentucky Beverage Company, Inc., which also contributed, along with other local Pepsi bottlers, to the production of the album.

Johnathon, a musician who uses banjo and guitar to communicate environmental themes, has been working closely with the Natural Resources Cabinet over the past year and a half. He has been performing musical concerts as part of the Clean Community Program's elementary school curriculum for anti-litter.

SECOND FLOOD SWEEPS CLEAR CREEK SECTION

Cloudburst Saturday Causes Loss of Thousands of Dollars.

MINES DAMAGED

A cloudburst striking the headwaters of Left Beaver Creek, this county, Saturday afternoon, swept Clear Creek with a wall of water which reached a greater height even than the flood which hit the entire Beaver Valley several weeks ago. Damage will reach several thousands of dollars, it is estimated.

Three bridges on Clear Creek were washed out and a great portion of the new fills made on the railroad following the recent flood. Train service was suspended from Saturday afternoon till Tuesday night as the result of the destruction wrought to bridges and the railway line.

Reports from the valley above Clear Creek are lacking. It is said that one bridge was washed away at Jack's Creek, that Burton was hard hit by the storm, and that crops were badly damaged all along Left Beaver. Heavy wind and hail is reported in sections, a few houses being unroofed, and fruit trees blown down on Clear Creek.

The Blue Beaver Elkhorn Fuel Company on that creek probably suffered the greatest damage sustained by coal companies, its loss being estimated at $2,500. One end of the trestle at the old mine belonging to that company was torn out, a four-room dwelling broken in twain and all its contents destroyed and a number of families being driven from their homes by the water. J. P. Salisbury, who returned Thursday from a trip to his company's mines there, said that he was obliged to walk into Clear Creek alone. He said that the mines' losses were min-

MRS. CHAFFIN DIES FRIDAY

Deceased Was Bride of Month; Funeral Conducted Sunday

Mrs. J. F. Chaffin, 33 years old, widely known and well-loved Prestonsburg woman, died Friday night of last week at the Paintsville Hospital after an illness of about three weeks. Death was caused by kidney trouble, physicians said.

Mrs. Chaffin, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hale, of this place, had been married only a month previous to her death. She was taken to the hospital in Paintsville Friday morning by her husband, her brother, Sam Hale, and Mrs. Hale, and died that night.

She was formerly operator in the local exchange for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, and had many friends here. Mrs. Chaffin was a woman of fine character, being a member of the Baptist Church of this place, and prominently associated with the Rebekahs and the Order of Eastern Star.

She was first married to Frank Hager, who died about two years ago. To this union four children were born: Minnie, Ethel, Harry and Everett Hager, who are now in the Masonic Home at Louisville; and James E. Hager, who is now at the home of his grandparents. Mrs. Chaffin is also survived by her parents, two sisters, Mrs. Alice Crabtree, of this place, and Mrs. Mary Clark, of Alvin; and a brother, Sam Hale, of Prestonsburg.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist Church here Sunday afternoon, with Rev. Ben Craft and Rev. C. H. Nicholls in charge, assisted by Revs. John Barbour and O. W. Rose and Leonard Bowling. The esteem in which the deceased was held here was attested to by the numerous floral offerings and the great number of friends who attended the funeral. The Order of Eastern Star and the Rebekahs participated in the funeral service.

Burial was made in the Gearheart cemetery beside the grave of Mrs. Chaffin's first husband.

MIDNIGHT RITES

Exorcisms Made at "Witching Hour" in Waters of "Sweet Beaver"

Glo., Ky., July 6 (Spl.)—Voices lifted in song here a few nights ago aroused at midnight a number of citizens from their slumbers and plunged them into wild conjecturing. Some ventured the guess that it was a group of youngsters returning from a "hay ride," others that serenaders had chosen the "witching hour" as the time for harmonizing. Many surmises were made, but none correctly.

Upon investigation, it was found that two excellent young men of this place, recent converts, had demanded baptism at midnight and that the obliging minister had risen from bed to administer the rites.

AUXIER BOY, HIT BY BALL, KILLED

Jack Daniel, 9 Years Old, Dies Thursday, Struck Over Heart

Jack Daniel, nine years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Daniel, was killed Thursday afternoon at Auxier, this county, when struck over the heart by a baseball fouled from the bat of a player at batting practice on the Auxier diamond.

The boy had scarcely arrived at the ball park when he was struck. He died within a short time.

The body was prepared for burial and shipped to Frostburg, Md., for interment in the family cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel moved from McRoberts to Auxier only a short time ago. Mr. Daniel was mine superintendent for the North-East Coal Company.

Besides his parents, the youthful victim is survived by several brothers and sisters.

KIWANIS FROLIC FRIDAY EVENING

Wald Cross clamoring for all to join in making the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club a nucleus for an International Congress to promote peace and goodwill between all nations; the Rev. F. R. McAllister endorsing the move as well worthy of its author; and John Caudill in impassioned philippic denouncing the idea and threatening to sever his connection with the club if Wald Cross' wild schemes were approved—all this took place at Friday evening's meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Elizabeth.

But it was Frolic Night, and such diplomatic wrangles were in order. Though announcing he had asked two speakers, Messrs. McAllister and Caudill, to debate the subject, Wald vehemently asserted his belief in the move, maintaining that propaganda—he had trouble with that word—"propaganda"—should be spread in its behalf. Reverend McAllister assured everybody that he thought it a brilliant plan, but Mr. Caudill dissented, saying that he had favored such an organization until the other two gentlemen began to support it.

The meeting was opened by a piano solo by Dr. John Barbour, with Rev. W. M. Dingus giving the invocation. The club sang "America," then "In the Gloaming" and "Sweet and Low," with Julian Harlowe accompanying at the piano.

W. M. Hale of Kismet, W. Va., was introduced by Wald Cross, who was in charge of the program, and Mr. Hale favored with two vocal solos to his own accompaniment on the piano. Dr. J. F. McGuffey, on "Marching" and "The Light of His Heaven," with Judith Harlowe at the piano. Their contribution to the evening's entertainment was loudly applauded that they were required to give an encore.

At the close of the McAllister-Caudill debate, J. C. B. Auxier was asked to enter the forum and express his views as to the Cross Bill—which he did in a few well-chosen words to the effect that enough already had been

D. C. MAY DIES AT MAYTOWN

Death Marks Passing of One of County's Best-Known Men

D. C. May, one of the most prominent and best-known citizens of this county, died at the home of Mrs. Susan May at Langley, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. May was about 60 years old. He was the son of the late John and Mrs. Dorcas May, pioneer residents of Floyd county. For the greater part of his life he was engaged in farming at Maytown, and was known as one of the county's most progressive farmers. A few years ago he moved to Cincinnati with his family, and resided there until about six weeks ago, when he returned to Maytown, where he was born and reared.

Mr. May was a citizen of great worth to his community, and was a devout member of the Christian Church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Kate Martin May, a daughter of the late Joe Martin, of this county; four daughters, Mrs. Osborn, of Cincinnati, Mrs. Earl Allen, of Garrett, Misses Doris and Myrtle May, at home; and four sons, Kendall, Millard, Thomas and John May, all of Cincinnati. Two brothers and a sister also survive: A. J. May, of this place, B. L. C. May, of Alphoretta, and Mrs. Emily Ratliff, also of Alphoretta.

PRESTONSBURG MAN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Mont Collins was struck by lightning Saturday afternoon in the yard of his home on Friend street and knocked unconscious for a time. He suffered no serious injuries from the shock.

SMITH WARD IS BULLET VICTIM

C. & O. Brakeman Fatally Wounded at Emma By McCoy

Smith Ward, 33 years old, brakeman on the C. and O. local freight train, was shot and fatally wounded Sunday night at Emma by a man reported to be John McCoy, of Johns Creek. Ward was picked up at Emma and taken aboard a coal train to a Paintsville hospital, where he died Monday night from the effects of a bullet wound in the neck.

Versions of the killing received here differ. According to a citizen of the Emma neighborhood, McCoy shot Ward after the latter had insulted McCoy's wife. According to a report given the daily press, McCoy was intoxicated when met by Ward and another man whose name has not been learned. McCoy snatched a gun from the hand of the unidentified man, the story goes, and attempted to shoot him. The man, it is said, begged for his life, and McCoy turned upon Ward.

Ward was shot in the hollow of the neck, the bullet ranging downward and lodging in the back.

No warrant has been issued for McCoy's apprehension, it was said at the sheriff's office here Wednesday. Beyond a lookout kept by officers near here following a report that he was headed toward Prestonsburg, no search has been made for him.

Ward was married, and is survived by his widow and several children. He resided in Paintsville.

"AUTO" QUIT NOW

Death Car Passes, Taking Lives of Three With It

The world's unluckiest automobile took the lives of its last victims when the motor car in which Archduke Franz Ferdinand and his wife were shot at Sarajevo in 1914, plunged from a cliff near Szefedim, Hungary, killing three passengers.

The crash ended the career of the fateful machine, that had passed through the hands of 15 owners since the day the Archduke's death started the World War.

According to garage keepers, every owner of the "hoodooed" car was killed or injured seriously.

AGED MINISTER DIES THURSDAY

Rev. John W. Taylor, 87, Passes After Half-Century Service

Rev. John W. Taylor, 87 years old, veteran mountain minister of the Methodist Church, died at his home on Toler Creek, this county, Thursday, June 30, as the result of the infirmities of age.

The Reverend Taylor was one of the best-known ministers in this county. For more than half a century he had been the pastor of many churches in this section. He had been ill about three months when death came.

Surviving him are his widow, now in her 79th year; and three daughters: Mrs. Martha Conn and Mrs. D. H. Hatcher, both of Osborn; and Mrs. Harry Taylor, of Kenova, W. Va. Funeral services were conducted Saturday by the Rev. F. E. Jenkins, of the M. E. Church, South, Pikeville, and the Rev. Hughes, of the Baptist Church. Burial was made in the Taylor burial ground.

SUSAN BRADLEY FREED IN CASE

Susan Bradley, of this county, who was convicted in the Pike circuit court on a charge of killing her own child and given a penitentiary sentence of two years, was freed of the sentence and the charge of manslaughter by order of the Pike circuit court Wednesday, June 29. Probability of re-indictment is said to rest with the court at its next session.

The manslaughter charge followed the finding in a Pikeville hotel more than two years ago of a new-born baby's body secreted in a box. Dr. G. H. Hughes was given trial as the physician attending Miss Bradley, and was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary on a manslaughter charge. The woman admitted that the child was hers, but denied causing its death.

Reversing the verdict of the Pike circuit court in its conviction of Miss Bradley, the Court of Appeals held that she had no part in the killing of the infant. The case will be referred to the next sitting of the grand jury at Pikeville, when Miss Bradley may face a charge of secreting, or having knowledge of the secreting of, the Minnie and Ethel Hager are visiting their uncle Jerry Hager, at Garrett this week.

TO REPRESENT FLOYD COUNTY AT CLUB CAMP

Largest Meeting of Kind in State Planned For Louisa

FOUR-DAY MEET

Efforts are being made by County Agent Fred Lawson to take with him between 25 and 50 Floyd County Junior Agricultural Club boys and girls to Louisa to attend the four-day club camp there from July 18 to July 21, inclusive.

Arrangements are being made in Louisa to entertain 250 club members during the four days. This camp, it is believed, will be the largest ever held in Kentucky. Club members from four counties, Floyd, Lawrence, Pike and Magoffin, will attend. Lawrence county will furnish an enrollment, it is estimated, of more than 125 boys and girls, and Pike county is expected to furnish an attendance of between 50 and 100.

Much interest has been aroused in the camp. The Courier-Journal plans to send a staff correspondent and photographer to cover the activities of the four days meet, the Big Sandy News announces.

The camp will be held on the campus of Louisa High School. Entertainment and educational opportunities will be offered during the four days with an outdoor school, athletic tests, dramatics and games. County Agent John E. Parsons, of Lawrence county, will be assisted by club leaders from the University of Kentucky and the State Department of Agriculture, with the added assistance of county agents from the counties represented at the camp.

County Agent Lawson requests that all club members interested in attending the camp notify him.

P'BURG TENNIS TEAM TRIUMPHS

Local Stars Win Four of Five Matches At Paintsville

Prestonsburg's net team defeated Paintsville, July 4, 4 to 1, in one of the most brilliant exhibitions of tennis ever seen on the Paintsville Club courts. Prestonsburg was ably represented in doubles and singles, the Prestonsburg singles players being Fletcher Combs, Harlowe and Leroy Combs. The doubles teams were Harlowe and Friend; Spradlin and Fletcher Combs.

Atkinson of Paintsville and Fletcher Combs began the day with a match which resulted in wonderful offensive play by both boys. Combs, after a great uphill fight, triumphed over his opponent, 6-1; 6-4. Atkinson relied mostly on his chop stroke, while Combs used his luffart to much advantage.

Leroy Combs met Slone in the second match of the afternoon. Combs experienced great difficulty in solving Slone's service, and was defeated 6-1; 6-1. Combs often came to the net, driving his opponent back, but Slone's placements worked to great advantage.

One of the most excellent exhibitions of the afternoon, was the match between Harlowe and Williams, in which Harlowe outclassed his opponent in every department. Starting fast and often coming to the net, he proved that Williams was no match for him. Harlowe won, 6-0; 6-4.

The doubles team, Picklesimer and Hager, met Friend and Harlowe. Both teams displayed much skill and the first went 11-9 in Prestonsburg's favor. Friend successfully defended the back court, while Harlowe worked well at the net. Picklesimer drove frequently to his opponents' baseline, his style proving a great asset to his team. Friend, of the Prestonsburg team, distinguished himself with decisive smashes to all corners of the court. Harlowe and Friend won the match by

Soap star Meadows stumbled into acting

By Nancy M. Reichardt

Most actors claim they always knew they would get into show business. Not so with Stephen Meadows, who portrays Peter Flint on "Santa Barbara." Meadows was a premed student and football player at the University of Georgia long before he ever considered becoming an actor.

"When I was 18 years old I left home, hitchhiked to Florida and got a job on a merchant ship bound for Italy," remembers Meadows.

After a stint in the Marine Corps, Meadows studied at Princeton and the Rhode Island School of Design, where he earned a master's degree in architectural design.

"I always loved to draw," says Meadows. "Sometimes I used to sit in grade school and doodle for hours on end. I wondered at the time about how I could make a living at it."

Meadows did make a living with his drawing when he went to San Francisco, got a job with an architectural firm there and designed a shopping center in Stanford, Calif. Meadows also taught architecture at the University of California at Berkeley.

It was while at Berkeley that Meadows got serious about acting.

"I didn't realize what a debt I would come to owe my students," says Meadows, who was prompted by his class to enroll at the American Conservatory Theater to study drama. "I got cast in a wine commercial and later did a play called 'Bo' at the Los Angeles Actors Repertory Company." He then decided to make his livelihood by acting.

Of his work on "Santa Barbara," Meadows says, "The day I was handed the first 'Santa Barbara' script I decided to explore and create an interesting character. Peter Flint is a true cad; a blond, blue-eyed rat," says Meadows, who added that someday he hopes to see Flint laugh and be happy, and to make others happy.

"Every time you take a new role it's a new challenge," says Meadows. "Acting keeps me interested in life and in people."

"Super Sports America," a 90-minute syndicated TV series featuring a variety of distinctively American sports, will be hosted by singer-actor Ed Bruce. Bruce, whose own sports background includes automobile racing and rodeo riding, will be joined by commentators Steve Evans and Brock Yates. Evans and Yates bring years of motor-sports experience to the series. Yates is the editor of Car and Driver magazine and the author of the screenplay for "Cannonball Run."

Bruce, Evans and Yates go beyond mere coverage to tell the inside story of each sports event. They also look behind the scenes into the lives of some of America's most daring athletes.

Among the 26 events that will be covered are: the World of Outlaws National Challenge sprint car racing from Jacksonville, Fla.; the Road America 100, a Trans-Am road race, from Elkhart Lake, Wis.; the NHRA Gatornationals Championship Drag Racing from Gainesville, Fla.; the Winchester 200 and Winchester 400 stock car races from Winchester, Ind.; the Wrangler Pro Rodeo Round-up from Billings, Mont.; and the Clear Lake Thunderboat Regatta hydroplane competition from Clear Lake, Texas. The new series will begin early this year.

Kathy Mattea recently taped TNN's "New Country" show. The program will feature material from her upcoming album, as yet unnamed. Miss Mattea has also made a new video, "You've Got a Soft Place to Fall." She is also participating in a rattlesnake hunt Roop's other senior teammate, Belinda Click, was the leading scorer for the Lady Rebs with a total of 27 points, 6 rebounds and 1 assist. These two girls have played together for all 4 years in high school. Pam Baldrige, a junior, had another fine night on the boards with 8 rebounds, 1 assist and a total of 9 points. Terina Hall had 5 rebounds, 2 assists and 7 points for the Lady Rebs. Terry Bailey rounded out the scoring with 4 points and 1 assist. Coach Jerry Fultz's Lady Rebs continued their success at the free throw line, hitting 21 out of 28. His impressive first season record is 7 wins and 3 losses with an outstanding conference record of 4 wins and 0 losses.

For the Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats, Raquel Keathley led the scoring with 11 points, LaDonna Parsons with 8, Piper Presnell and Sandy Flannery each with 6, Deanna Rogers 5, Debbie Hall 4, Meredith Tackett 2, and Deonna Tackett and Stephanie Dillion each had 1 point.

This coming Friday night will pit the Lady Rebs against the Lady Bobcats again, this time on the Allen Central home court.

The Lady Rebs would like to thank WMDJ radio station & KCTV-5 for broadcasting and taping the girls basketball games.

According to a Boston University scientist, there's mounting evidence that toxic waste dumps cause illness among people living nearby, reports the National Wildlife Federation. Dr. David Ozonoff found an increased incidence of nausea, fatigue, respiratory problems and headaches among residents living near a once highly toxic dump site two years after its chemical wastes had been removed.

Bobcats Record Stands At 11-3

(Stats by Malletta Campbell)

The Betsy Layne Bobcats suffered two losses over the past week before winning one at Allen Central and both defeats were real "heartbreakers" for the Bobcats.

A 66-64 loss last Tuesday night to region powerhouse Johnson Central came only after a hard-fought overtime period at Central's fieldhouse. The game, in fact, was nip-and-tuck all the way. The end of the first quarter found a 10-10 tie while at half Johnson Central led 28-24. Central maintained a four-point lead at the end of the third period at 28-24 but found themselves unable to stop a Betsy Layne comeback to tie the game and force the overtime period. But in the end, the two points for Central made the difference.

Jeff Campbell had an excellent night, firing in 23 points for the Bobcats and Brett Meade, Jimmy Parsons and Duran Hall scored in double figures with 12, 10 and 10, respectively. Dwayne Kidd connected for 6, David Mitchell 2, and Mike Conn 1.

Johnson Central's Roger Fairchild hit for 23, Mike Hall 16, Jeff Spriggs 11, Jimmy Daniels 8, Charlie Preston 6, and Eddie Blair 2.

Friday night's contest with Belfry was no less a disappointment for the Bobcats as the Pirates won 53-52 on a last second shot by Mike Hatfield. Jeff Campbell contributed 16 for Betsy Layne. Brett Meade 12, David Mitchell 11, Jimmy Parsons 9, and Duran Hall 4.

For Belfry, Rod Runyon scored 20, Corbet James 15, Mike Hatfield 8, Robert Phillips and John May, 4 apiece, and Dwayne Yates 2.

The Bobcats found victory Saturday night as they defeated Allen Central's Rebels, 73-61 in a game played at the D. W. Howard Fieldhouse. Betsy Layne, High-scoring Jeff Campbell hit for 20 points, Jimmy Parsons 15, Brett

Meade 14, Duran Hall 10, Dwayne Kidd 8, and David Mitchell 5.

Dale Pack and Duran Jarrell both had outstanding games for Allen Central with 18 and 17 points, respectively. Ousley picked up 10, Paul Rice 3, and McKinney 2.

Betsy Layne now has a record of 11-3.

SATELLITE FACTS

In recent issues of "The Times" there have appeared advertisements which have a tendency to mislead the citizens of Floyd County concerning Satellite TV reception. The owners of satellite receivers were called PIRATES by a party or parties who refuse to identify themselves.

Let us first of all get some facts straight.

These satellite receivers are completely LEGAL in every sense of the word due to the efforts and dedication of such men as Senator Barry Goldwater (Rep.) of Arizona, Congressman Charles Rose (Dem.) N.C., Congressman W. J. Tauzin (Dem.) La., and Congressman Albert Gore (Dem.) Tenn. Legislation which these gentlemen sponsored, Senate Bill S 14297, passed and became LAW on October 11, 1984.

From the beginning TVRO antennas were required to be licensed by the FCC. On October 18, 1979 the FCC decided to modify FCC rules, dropping the requirement for licensing.

In the spring of 1981 in Washington D.C., Congressman Charles Rose addressed a meeting of which I was an attendee. At that time he stated, "The technology which brought about our present satellite system today was financed with the tax dollars paid in by the working man of America and for special interest groups, such as Premium Pay Services and Cable Groups, to claim that they alone control and own these signals falling on the earth would be likened to Standard Oil claiming to own the Mississippi River. It always has and always will be Public Domain."

Congressman Rose went on to say, "If these Premium Pay Services wish to secure their programming they have the right to scramble the signal to prohibit unauthorized viewing."

On March 19, 1984, Senator Barry Goldwater introduced in the U.S. Senate a bill (S.2437) which clearly defined the "Viewing Rights" of the home TVRO owners/viewers, stating that, "Individuals sitting in their own homes have the right to view the programming offered by such signals, where such viewing is strictly for noncommercial purposes."

In the House, Legislation was introduced by Congressmen Gore, Tauzin and Rose went a bit further. H.R. 5176 incorporated the same points as the Senate bill but went a step further in that there would be a Legal mechanism in place which would force programmers who scramble, to allow private TVRO's to subscribe to the scrambled services, receive decoding equipment for that purpose and pay a monthly/annual/lifetime fee for the use of that service.

As congress was winding down its 1984 session this fall, the Goldwater-sponsored portion of the TVRO Rights Bill was attached to S 14297. (A bill dealing with cable television's legal relationship to citizens.) On October 11, 1984 this bill was enacted into law and private home viewing of non-scrambled signals became legal by law.

At the present time on the various satellites, there are in excess of ONE HUNDRED CHANNELS of programming from which to choose. Of these there are a portion, which for various reasons, have chosen to scramble their signal. I feel that this is their right and there are still plenty channels to choose from. One reason for owning a TVRO system is the freedom of choice, to choose that entertainment and information which you as a citizen wish to enjoy in the privacy of your home.

There are those who would restrict this freedom while realizing a monetary gain and limit the citizens of Floyd County to viewing only those programs which has been selected for them.

Within the next few months the chances are that HBO will scramble and again this is their right. Personally, my feeling is that I as an individual could care less in that I never watch it for there are far better alternatives on the satellites to be had.

Two Floyd Countians Among 34 State Mine Victims in '84

Thirty-four Kentucky miners died last year, giving this state an unenviable lead in U.S. coal mine deaths for 1984. And the worst aspect of the figures, said state Mines and Minerals Commissioner Willard Stanley, is that 21 of the deaths were from roof falls—"something we know more about than anything else in mining."

Of the 34 miners killed in Kentucky last year, a Mines and Minerals spokesman said 17 died as a result of roof falls at the face, three away from the face, two in haulage accidents, one as the result of an electrical mishap, six in accidents involving mine machinery, and five in accidents at the surface.

In this county, two miners died in 1984, both as a result of roof falls at the coal face.

Harlan county saw nine miners killed, including four in the state's worst mining accident last year—a roof fall at Bon Trucking Co.'s No. 4 mine at Shields on Sept. 12. In Letcher county, five died; in Pike county, four; Knott, Leslie, Bell and Hopkins each recorded two deaths; and Butler, Knox, Perry, Union, Webster and Whitley counties each saw one fatality.

Kentucky's best year in the mines was 1983, when 12 died, according to state figures. But the average for the last decade has been 31.7. In 1982, there were 40 miners killed in Kentucky, including seven who died in an explosion at the RFH No. 1 mine on Mink Branch of Mud Creek.

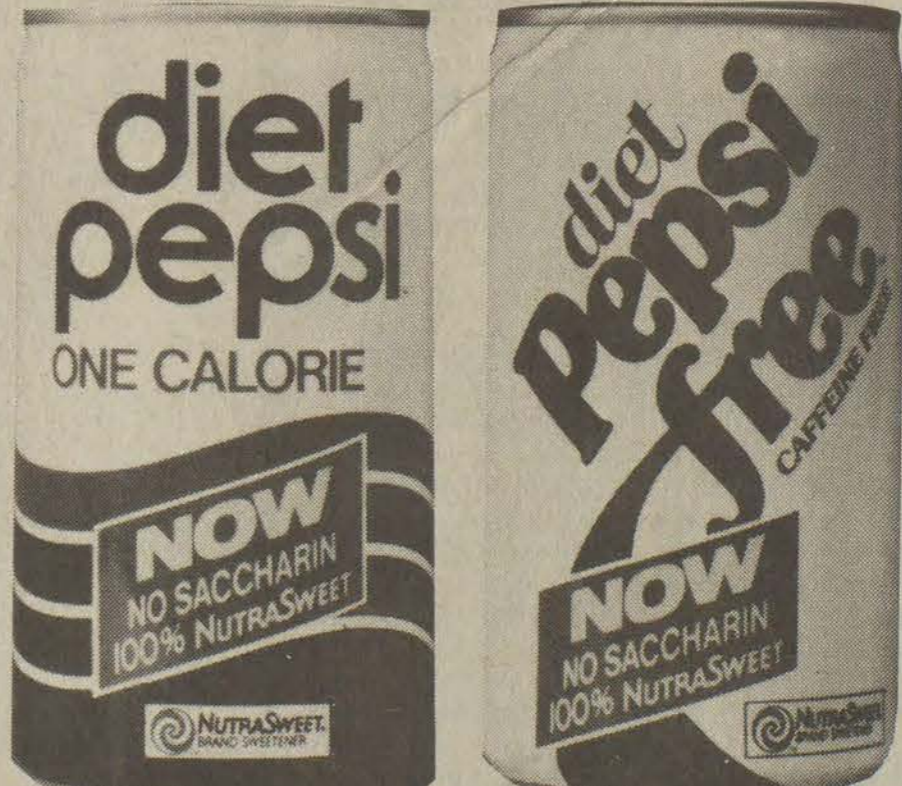

Stanley said that roof control is a prime concern for all underground miners but that many miners were careless about venturing under unsupported roofs. Perhaps fewer than one percent of roof falls are fatal, he said, and miners may take chances "thousands of times" without getting caught.

David Zeeger, head of the U.S. Mine Safety and Health Administration, said the agency had clamped down on roof-control violations during the past summer. "We put out an edict that if we found any (roof-control) violations we shut the mine down," he said. "We shut down 13 mines in five weeks."

One rule being considered by MSHA would require mine operators to place streamers or reflective markers at the last permanent roof-bolt supports. In the past, some miners have been killed when they unknowingly went beyond the last support.

WITH A WILL—THERE'S A WAY

If you own anything—a car, house, savings account, anything with monetary value—you should have a will.

With a will, you save your loved ones considerable time and money in the handling of your estate. Further, you are assured that your estate will not be executed by strangers, but by people you know and trust.

How do you make a will? First, see your lawyer. It's not all that expensive for most estate planning. He has the forms, knows the requirements of the state, and probably enough of your personal affairs to help in preparing for future management of your estate.

You may change your will whenever and however you wish. The important thing is to get started and to do it right away.

You may also include provision for funeral arrangements as part of the will. We can provide counseling without obligation, on this aspect of your will, but only this particular aspect.

We welcome your questions and comments—privately or publicly through this column.

Old 614 Could Help Return Coal to Power Locomotives

An old coal-fired, steam-powered railway locomotive was taken out of mothballs, the other day, and back on the tracks again in an experiment that could return U.S. coal to the place it occupied in rail transportation before diesel fuel rooted it out, almost 30 years ago.

Old Engine 614, pulling 15 coal cars and five passenger coaches, was back in service for a series of "trial runs" across 100 miles of West Virginia, from Huntington to Hinton.

The locomotive, retired 28 years ago when diesels took over the nation's rails, was brought out of mothballs to haul coal cars three days a week on the run between Huntington and Hinton. The month-long test is the final step in a New Jersey company's locomotive-design project that government and industry officials say could make the country more energy independent and could help put unemployed miners back to work.

"We're running this 30-day test program to give our engineers the answers they need for the final designs of the ACE 3000," said Ross E. Rowland, Jr., the president of American Coal Enterprises.

Rowland's company, in Lebanon, N.J., is designing a new coal-fired locomotive that it says not only will meet environmental standards but also will be far more energy efficient than the coal-burning engines of the past.

CSX Corp. Chairman Hayes Watkins, whose company owns the Chessie System, was on hand for the first run and gave the plan a strong endorsement. He said Chessie, the nation's second-largest rail carrier, was looking forward "to joint participation and to the purchase of the first commercial model ACE 3000."

Rowland said the engine being used in the test had been fitted with sophisticated instruments to collect data on engine efficiency.

He said he expected that his company's new steam locomotive would cost about $1.7 million, compared with about $1 million for oil-burning diesels.

"They will cost more, but the railroads will save money in the long run because they will be cheaper to operate," said Rowland, a member of the board of directors of the National Railway Passenger Corp. He said the ACE 3000 would be "more economical than diesels to operate, primarily because they will be using a fuel that is six times cheaper."

U.S. Sen. John W. Warner Jr., R-Va., attended the ceremony marking the beginning of the experimental run, and called it "a major bench mark in railroad history, a concrete, positive step taken by private industry to free this nation's railroad system from dependency on foreign oil sources."

Warner said that U.S. railroads could cut their fuel bills by $2 billion annually by switching back to coal. He added that conversion would help bolster the nation's defenses by making it less dependent upon foreign oil.

"Because the rewards of converting to coal-fired locomotives are so great," he said, "not only to the railroads but to the nation as a whole, there should be an effort on the part of both the private and the public sector to share the burden."

Former Leslie Judge To Be Guest On KET

George Wooten, former Leslie county judge-executive, will be the guest of Hazard Mayor Bill Gorman on the January 18 edition of "Bywords." The program will be aired at 7 p.m. (ET) on KET.

Born into a family with eight children at Hell-for-Sartain in Leslie county, Wooten and his family moved to Hamilton, Ohio, but returned after the death of his mother, when he was four years old. Wooten explains how families were far more self-sufficient in those days, raising virtually all of their necessities at home. He went to a one-room school at Hell-for-Sartain, later working his way through the school at Buckhorn.

Wooten served in the Third Army under Gen. George Patton during World War II, and has a very strong sense of patriotism. He was sheriff of Leslie county for four years, and county judge-executive 12 years. He loves people, enjoys politics, and says that he is a "flexible" Republican, voting for whom he considers the best person for the job. He also says that he feels that a judge has to be a sympathetic, reasonable and honest man.

Asked about his main accomplishments as judge executive, Wooten says that the installation of water and sewage sanitation systems during his tenure did most to improve the county, as well as the home repair system that he helped to start.

'The Joy That Kills'
To Be Seen On KET

"American Playhouse" takes viewers to 19th century New Orleans on Thursday, Jan. 31, at 8:00 p.m. (ET), when it presents a one-hour drama, "The Joy That Kills," on KET.

A film adaptation of 19th century New Orleans' author Kate Chopin's short story, "The Story Of An Hour," "The Joy That Kills" stars Frances Conroy, Jeffrey DeMunn, Elizabeth Franz, and Roselind Cash.

Set in 1877 in the French Quarter of New Orleans, the film tells the story of Louise Mallard, a beautiful young Creole wife, whose chronic heart ailment virtually keeps her a prisoner in her own house. Her only means of relief is the fantasy world she and her husband Brently Mallard share as they look through the stereoscope at travel cards of faraway places.

Her dream to travel almost is realized when her doctor tells her that her heart condition has stabilized, but her husband refuses to let her out of the house because of his concern for her safety. Then, on a trip out of the city, he is reportedly killed in a train wreck. When Louise's grief subsides, she realizes that she is free and that her fantasy life no longer has any real meaning.

The film has a surprise ending. True to the philosophical themes of Chopin's work, the film addresses the human challenge of learning to be free. It typifies her reputation as one of the earliest "feminist" writers.

EYE DROPS

Common redness in the eye is caused by enlarged blood vessels. Most available eye drops on the market contain decongestants such as phenylephrine, naphazoline or tetrahydrozoline. These ingredients constrict or tighten the blood vessels which, in turn, clears up the eye. Over-the-counter eye drops must be sterile while manufactured. They may also have preservatives in them to keep them sterile. Before using eye drops, it is a good habit to shake the bottle and hold it up to the light. Be certain that the solution is perfectly clear and that no particles, such as filaments and fibers, are floating in it. Check the expiration date on the package.

Our pharmacists at COOLEY APOTHECARY collaborate very closely with your physician as members of a team devoted to your families health. First call your doctor and then have him call us. Our pharmacists are pledged to further and maintain the highest ethical standards of the pharmaceutical industry and have available an extensive inventory of RX products. ## CANCER INFORMATION SERVICE 1-800-4-CANCER CANCER HOPELINE

QUESTION

I was recently diagnosed with cancer and my doctor has already recommended treatment. But I've been thinking about getting a second opinion from another doctor. Is this an unusual idea? How would I go about it without offending my regular doctor?

ANSWER

No, this is not an unusual or unreasonable request. Because decisions about cancer treatment can be hard to make, most doctors want their patients to be as informed as possible and will welcome a second opinion. Unless you are in an emergency situation, waiting a few weeks to begin treatment is most often okay.

If you are not at ease talking to your doctor about a second opinion a friend or family member can help you explain. And if your doctor does become offended, this should not stand in the way of your getting a second opinion. A doctor's problem with this request should not distract you from the fact that this is your illness. Keep in mind that wanting a second opinion does not mean you are doubting your doctor. It is simply a way for you to get more advice. A second opinion can strengthen your doctor's advice and set your mind at ease.

It is a good idea to tell your doctor that you would like a second opinion, so that he or she can provide your medical records to the second doctor. In this way, you may be able to avoid the time, cost and discomfort of repeating tests that have already been done. If you are not sure where you would like to get a second opinion, your doctor can help make a referral to another doctor or treatment center. Other groups that could help you get a second opinion include your local medical society, a local hospital or cancer center, the American Cancer Society and the Cancer Information Service.

For more information on any cancer-related subject call the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER or write to the Cancer Information Service, McDowell Cancer Network, 915 South Limestone Street, Lexington, KY 40536. The call, the information and all materials are free of charge.

Who Can Prevent Teen Suicide? YOU CAN.

When a friend talks of suicide:
LISTEN

Let your friend tell you of his situation and his feelings. Don't give advice or feel obliged to find simple solutions. LISTEN and try to imagine how you'd feel in his place.

BE HONEST

If your friend's words or actions scare you, tell him or her. If you're worried or don't know what to do, say so. Don't be a cheerful phony.

SHARE FEELINGS

At times everyone feels sad, hurt or hopeless. You know what that's like—share your feelings. Let your friend know he's not alone.

GET HELP

If you keep this secret you may lose your friend. Perhaps you and your friend can think of a helpful adult he or she could talk to. If not, talk to someone yourself—a parent, teacher, counselor of the Crisis Line—and find out what to do next.

Your friend turned to you because you could be trusted to help. You CAN help, but not alone.

NOTICE AS TO HEARING BEFORE THE FISCAL COURT OF FLOYD COUNTY, KENTUCKY, ON A PETITION TO RATIFY, CONFIRM, AND APPROVE THE CREATION OF, AND TO PRESENTLY FORM THE PRATER CREEK WATER DISTRICT.

Notice is hereby given by the County Clerk of Floyd County, Kentucky, acting as Fiscal Court Clerk, that pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 74 and Section 1 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, a hearing will be held by the Fiscal Court of said County at 10:00 a.m., E.S.T., on Jan. 18, 1985, on a Petition to ratify, confirm, and approve the creation of, and to presently form the Prater Creek Water District.

Said Petition is signed by more than 20% of an average of the voters living in the proposed service area of the proposed District, and voting in the last four (4) general elections, is accompanied by (1) a copy of an Order of the Public Service Commission of Kentucky granting preliminary approval for the creating of the District, (2) a Plan of Service, as required by KRS 65.810(1)(a) through (f), and (3) a map of the proposed boundaries of the District, and such Petition states that at the present time there is no recognized water system serving the residents of the proposed District and that the convenience, comfort, health, and safety of the public, because of lack of adequate fire protection, are endangered.

No incorporated City or part of an incorporated City is located within the boundaries of said District. An accurate map of the area intended to be included in the District is being published with this Notice.

At said public hearing, the Fiscal Court will take testimony of interested parties and solicit the recommendations of all planning Commissions and area development districts within whose jurisdiction the proposed service area is located, and any state agencies required by law to be notified of the proposal for the creation of the Water District. (Signed) Carla R. Boyd, County Clerk, Floyd County, Kentucky.

As 103 Donors Give Blood Donorama A Success

The Prestonsburg Donor Center of the Central Kentucky Blood Center held the fourth annual Donorama, December 20 and 21. One hundred three persons donated to help prevent a blood shortage during the holidays.

Many local businesses and restaurants contributed items as door prizes and refreshments for the donors. Ricky Moore was the winner of the $100 gift certificate from the Francis Stores. Aubrey Onkst won the savings bond from the Bank of Josephine and Causetta Bryant won the savings bond from the First Commonwealth Bank. Local florists contributed carnations for every donor.

The community's support of the Donorama keeps the Donor Center a vital element in the Floyd county community. For more information about donating, call the Center at 606-886-1557 or visit on Tuesday from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. or Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.
