

$10 Million State Help Seen If Tax Rate Upped

$9 Million Seen For New Building If Rate at 25¢

There is state money to be spent on Floyd schools, provided local taxpayers pick up their share of the cost, a state Department of Education official told a Prestonsburg audience last week.

Robert E. Spillman, associate superintendent for local services, told a meeting organized by the Floyd County Education Forum that, as a result of legislation enacted by the General Assembly in this summer's special session, "we got as much money as we need for the next two years."

In addition to an estimated $9 million in construction funds, the Floyd school district could get an additional $1 million a year from the power equalization fund—under a program designed to lessen the differences between poor and wealthy counties—he said.

To qualify for the money, however, Floyd must raise its school tax to at least 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation by next year—an increase of nearly 40 percent over the 1984-'85 tax rate.

(The Floyd Board of Education last September set the tax rate at 17.9 cents, the lowest of three possible rates. The so-called "compensating" rate, it was calculated to bring in about the same amount of tax revenue as in the previous year. Under House Bill 44, which limits to four percent the annual growth in taxes which may be exacted without voter approval, the board could have set the rate at 18.6 cents or—subject to voter approval—as high as 27.9 cents.)

(Board Chairman Dr. J.D. Adams urged passage of one of the higher rates but was outvoted. Three of his colleagues on the board were up for re-election and one of them—Dr. Mary Hall—was involved in a close race. Adams will himself face the voters again next year, as will Ray "Shag" Campbell.)

In response to a question at last Tuesday's meeting here, Spillman said the 25-cent tax could be raised in the form of a property, utilities, occupational or special tax, or any combination of levies. Up to 25 cents, the tax is exempted from the recall provisions of House Bill 44, he said.

Asked last week what tax rate he would recommend the board adopt this fall, Acting Superintendent Ray Brackett replied, "The highest we can go." The school district will make the local tax effort required by the state, possibly by a combination of taxes, he said, adding, "We need funds to do the things that people want us to do." But, if a special tax is levied, "people will know exactly what they are getting for their money," he said.

Assuming local taxes are raised to an (See Story No. 8, Page 4)

Nursing Home Alarm Voiced At Meet Here

Area nursing home directors, alarmed at recent Medicaid cuts, held a luncheon meeting last Friday at May Lodge to make their feelings known to state lawmakers.

Out of the 10 legislators invited to attend, only two, Senator Benny Ray Bailey, (D. Hindman) and Representative Clayton Little (D. Pike County), were in attendance. However organizers said the others had all indicated some degree of concern for their plight.

The nursing home officials were angry that recent cuts, which reduce from $45 to $33 per day the Medicaid payments made to their facilities for covered patients, were made on only four days notice. The cuts were designed, the state said, to affect only the provider (the nursing homes) and not the patient. The administrators argued, however, that "what affects the provider, affects the patient."

The new rate reflects the decision made by the Kentucky Medical Assistance Program to pay only intermediate care reimbursements for skilled nursing patients who after Sept. 1 no longer meet the medical requirements for the skilled nursing level of care and are awaiting placement in an intermediate care bed. However, those patients with the same classification in effect since before Sept. 1 would still bring skilled nursing rates from the government until Jan. 31, 1986.

Those who operate the nursing homes say the lower rates will mean lower quality service to patients, staff layoffs, and fewer patients being admitted from hospitals.

McDowell Group To Go It Alone On Fire Facility

When a group of McDowell residents appeared last month before the Floyd fiscal court seeking help with their firehouse they made it clear that, although they would welcome some assistance, if necessary they would go it alone.

"They're going it alone. The way most of them tell it, building a firehouse is the only way they're going to be able to insure their homes. The McDowell firehouse project is one more sign of the crunch being felt here as the nation's insurance companies try to recover losses of $3.8 billion last year by offloading their risky business.

For many firms which once did business here, insuring homes and commercial properties in eastern Kentucky—with its dearth of fire departments (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE, but not a drop to drink—except the bottled variety—has been the rule for Prestonsburg residents and those in surrounding areas after a warning went out Friday of possible water contamination. Supplies of bottled water were quickly stocked and businesses are meeting an unusual demand.

Johns Creek Fish Kill Poses Possible Dewey Lake Threat

The corporate owners of a Pike county coal mine from which a fish-killing chemical spill occurred last Friday on Johns Creek has been cited by the state Division of Water, posing the threat of a fine of as much as $10,000 to the firm if convicted.

The spill involved two polymers used at the Scott's Branch mine of Pickands-Mather & Co., of Cleveland, in coal processing. After a supplier had reportedly placed the chemicals in the wrong tanks, the tanks were emptied into settling ponds which overflowed into Johns Creek.

Although a spokesman for the coal company said the chemical was not toxic and Bill Burger, environmental response coordinator for the state Department for Environmental Protection, said the fish-kill resulted when the polymers depleted the oxygen in the stream, others were not so certain of this assessment.

Ted Crowell, assistant director of fisheries, state Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources, said a test was made Monday that left him wondering. "We cut it (the chemical) 100 times (reduced it to 1% of full strength), then put minnows in the container with the weakened chemical, and in an hour every one of them was dead," he said.

All Frankfort officials were lacking in details as field personnel—biologists, enforcement officers and others—were at the scene of the spill and could not be contacted. Jerry Hurst, of the Division of Water, said approximately 4000 gallons of the polymer spilled into the stream, but he thought the chemical would dilute before it reached Dewey Lake, some 12 miles farther downstream and that fish in the impoundment were not threatened.

Crowell, however, was of the opinion that the chemical could affect lake fish. He based this fear on his understanding that the chemical does not mix readily with water.

The fish-kill, Crowell said he was told, is "extensive."

One man who was at the scene told of fish "running in droves," apparently trying to escape this chemical.

Dead fish were reported Monday morning as far downstream from the mine site as the Floyd-Pike line, which is some five miles upstream from the uppermost limits of Dewey Lake.

"In the scheme of things, this isn't the worst (spill) we've had," Burger said. "There are no water intakes involved and no water users affected, and to my knowledge there's no health hazard."

The owners of the Scott's Branch mine notified state officials of the spill. Ralph Berge, of the Pickands-Mather public relations department, emphasized that the spill was accidental and that it involved non-toxic chemicals.

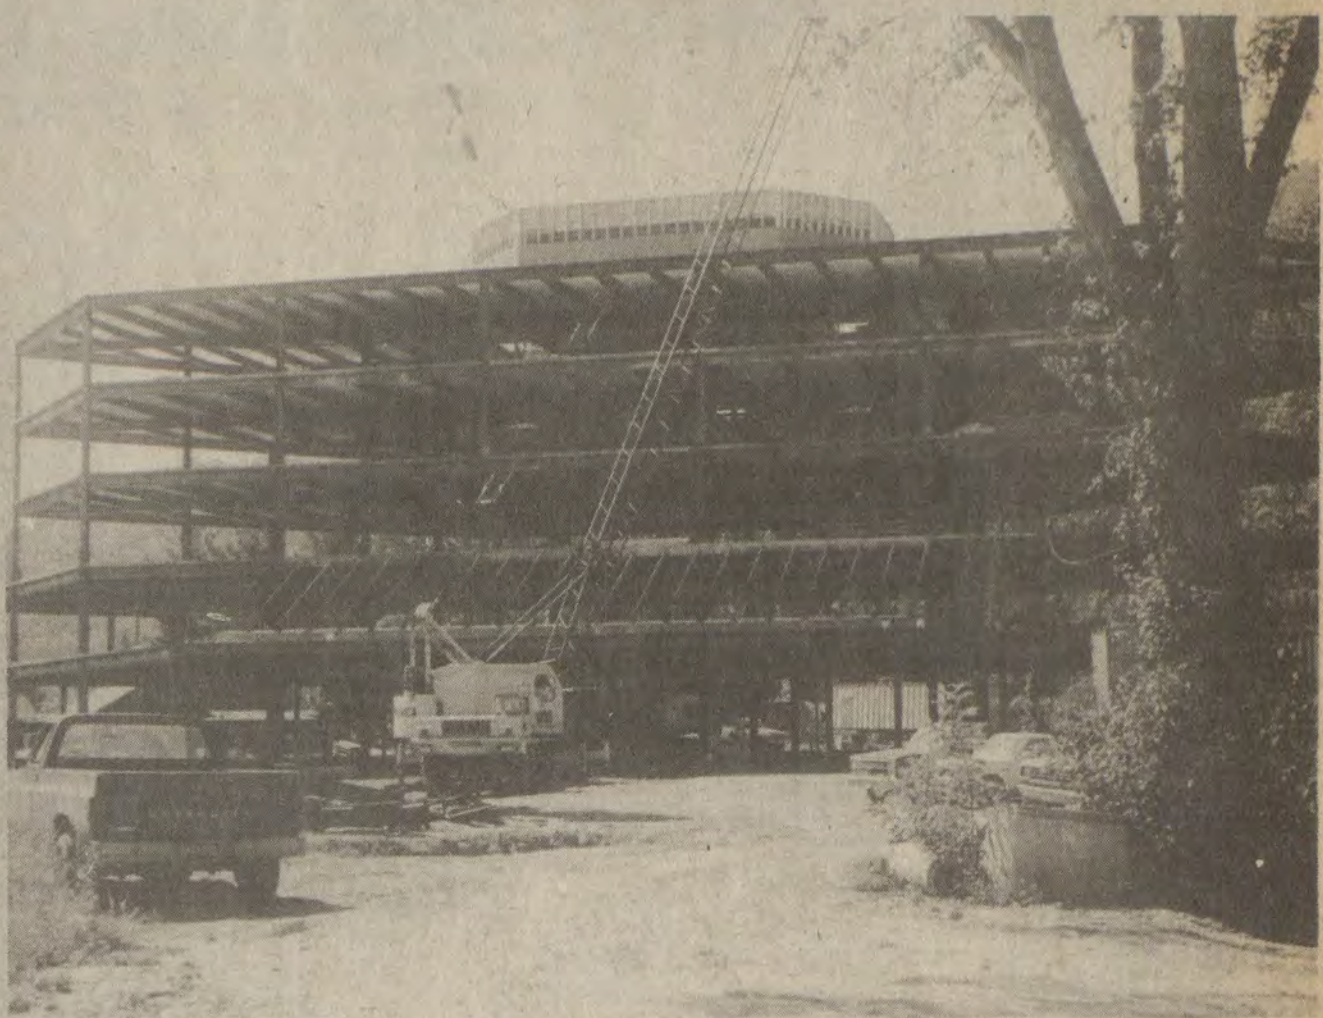

Pickands-Mather joined state and county environmental and game and fish personnel in the investigation of the incident.

Water Use Here at Trickle As Contamination Reported

By Monday, the story was spreading afar that the source of the contamination of Prestonsburg's water supply was a human corpse. Another explanation traced the problem to tetracycline used to clear up an oil spill last week in Whitesburg. There were those who heard the water was polluted with mercury, others who feared herpes and, inevitably, a report circulating by Tuesday had a county high school shut down by an outbreak of AIDS. Such were the rumors unleashed in the wake of a boil water advisory issued Friday afternoon by the state Division of Water.

There has been no evidence of contamination by a dead body. Aides maybe, but no AIDS, are known to have turned up in the schools. Water samples have yielded no evidence of mercury, herpes virus, or tetracycline. And Whitesburg, for that matter, lies in a different watershed.

What two of four water samples did show under laboratory analysis—the samples were taken Aug. 26, and Sept. 3, 4 and 5—was "confluent growth with a green sheen." That is the appearance, say state officials, of the bacteria known scientifically as E. coli.

GETTING THERE...The steel skeleton of the new First Commonwealth Bank building nears completion on the corner of Arnold Avenue and Friend Street. Projected for completion in mid-1986, the structure will rise five stories, easily dwarfing every other building in the county.

This Town...That World

After shivering until my dentures chattered two mornings and two evenings in a row last week, I finally donned a sweater. Now, after two more days of this, I'll take it off. I'm not so dumb.

TAKE IT EASY

If you think it's nice and comfortable, down on level ground, try finding yourself not up to a hill climb that others are enjoying. It serves no purpose at such a time to brood about the matter or to boast of the time when, I grannies, you climbed yonder hill from bottom to top without stopping even once for a breather. Just be thankful that the same wind that roars in the treetops along the ridges where you would like to be occasionally dips down in gentler mood to your own commonplace strip of terra firma. In other words, don't chomp at the bits—especially when they're not in your mouth.

Hadn't seen my old fishing friend, "Speed" Harris, in several years till last week. Where? We were both lined up at the same prescription counter.

Threat of Takeover By State Is Halted

The state Board of Education saw enough evidence of progress in the Floyd school district to put off any consideration of a state takeover, a Department of Education official said here last week. The state intends to monitor the process of selecting a new superintendent, however, and still expects Floyd administrators to come up with some long-term planning for the schools.

In the three areas targeted earlier by the state board—health and safety, bidding and accounting, and instructional programs—Floyd officials who met with the state panel last Monday outlined recent improvements, including the correction of fire code violations, removal of asbestos, stricter purchasing and bookkeeping controls, and a reduction in the number of teachers teaching out of field.

"Housekeeping and maintenance are 'much better this year than they have been in the past,' bidding practices have improved and, while some are still teaching classes outside their main area of training, state officials recognize that that may be better than not offering those classes at all, said Robert Spillman, associate superintendent for local services.

Of the state board's decision to monitor the selection of a permanent superintendent here, Spillman said "we are not in any way trying to say who the superintendent will be, but we are saying we want the process to be open, with input from citizens, teachers and staff."

Of the planning the state will expect of the local board, the state official said there must be "an adjustment and balance of resources" aimed at eliminating the comparatively high staff-pupil ratio in the smaller schools and the discrepancies that result, for example, in some schools providing planning periods for most teachers while others provide none at all.

Construction of school facilities must follow the priorities worked out in April this year between the local board and state officials, Spillman said, although a procedure exists for amending the order of construction in some circumstances.

(The order of new construction reported in last week's issue of The Times was outdated; as a result of recent amendments, the list of building priorities currently reads as follows: .

1. Construct new middle school at Prestonsburg.
2. New elementary in vicinity of US 460 and KY 1428 to replace Allen Elementary.
3. New high school to replace McDowell and Wheelwright high schools.
4. Addition at Betsy Layne Elementary to include 12 classrooms, administrative suite, library and restrooms.
5. a) Renovate Allen Central High School.
b) Six-classroom addition at Betsy Layne High School.
c) Renovation and six-classroom addition at Prestonsburg High School.
6. Renovation and eight-classroom addition at Prater Creek Elementary, on another site.
7. Renovate 1940 building at Prestonsburg Elementary, with eight-classroom addition.
8. New elementary to replace Martin and Maytown schools, to be located in the vicinity of KY 80 south of Martin.
9. New elementary school to replace Wayland and Garrett schools on the Garrett site.

Meet Effects PBA Revival

The Prestonsburg Business Association is staging a comeback.

It was revived at a meeting held Sept. 10 at the Floyd County Library. The association has structured its long-term goals toward the development of Prestonsburg as a thriving shopping "hub" for Eastern Kentucky. Short-term objectives include event merchandising centered around Jenny Wiley days.

All area business people are invited to attend the bi-weekly meetings held every other Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the Floyd County Library, with the next meeting scheduled for Sept. 24.

Historic Logs Preserved

Contrary to the caption under a photo in last week's Times, when the old Johns home on Front Street was razed recently by the Prestonsburg Fire Department, the 200-year-old logs in it were not destroyed. Herb Salisbury III, who was living in the home when it was partially damaged by fire earlier this year, was "most anxious" that the historic logs be preserved, said Ann Latta, who is spearheading an effort to reconstruct and relocate the cabin that originally stood on the site. The irreplaceable walnut logs were diagrammed, numbered and retrieved before the damaged building was razed as part of a fire department drill, she said.

below 1.5 parts per million even at the extremities of the city system, he noted.

John Smither, director of the Division of Water's drinking water branch, acknowledged this week that it was "unusual" that E. coli should be found in the Prestonsburg system and not in the adjoining systems and that the bacteria should survive in highly chlorinated water. But "we would rather err on the side of safety," he said, justifying his decision to order the posting of a boil water notice at 4:30 p.m. Friday. "It's something we've got to clean up pretty fast," he said.

A microbiologist and a sanitary engineer were dispatched here from Frankfort on Monday afternoon in an attempt to assess the pollution, which Smither said likely came from a private well connected, illegally, to the public water system.

"If anyone has a well hooked up to the system, the best thing he could do would be to come forward" and notify authorities, the state official said.

After meeting with the state scientists Monday night, however, Floyd Health Department Director Earl Compton (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

We Welcome This Change

The Times salutes those people who cared enough to make the effort to get on the November ballot the question of adopting a commission form of fiscal government for this county. The change is due.

We are convinced that at least three benefits will result from the change to three commissioners in lieu of the present four magistrates.

1. The commissioners, although each would be nominated in the primary election from the three specified divisions of the county, will be elected by countywide vote, not by the vote from the relatively few precincts which now choose the magistrates. No longer will a district serve a magistrate as his own little bailiwick. With this election dependent not only on a few precincts but on all the precincts of the county, the commissioner cannot devote his time and efforts to fortifying his own little fiefdom but will have to consider the entire county, its needs, all its people.

2. Magistrates' salaries have risen in recent years till their sum total imposes a heavy financial burden on the county and its taxpayers. If commissioners are elected, there will be only three. Even if individual salaries are not reduced—although they should be—, there will be one less mouth to feed at the public trough. In a four-year term, even at the present pay of magistrates, the commissioners' pay would save more than $80,000.

3. Dependent for election on all the voters of the county, the commissioners, it is to be assumed, would be persons whose reputation in the areas of integrity, citizenship, interest in public affairs and devotion to duty would be above the ordinary.

Finally, we point to a neighboring county, Johnson, which has tried both forms of fiscal court—first, the magistrates, then commissioners. Johnson county's voters adopted the commission form several years ago, then returned to the magistrates—but only for one term. As soon as they were given another chance at making a choice, they opted for the commissioners—and never since have returned to the magistrates.

The commissioners will not solve our every fiscal ill. They will not be perfect. But we believe they should be given a chance. The change should be made.

and its reputation for arson—is business they would rather do without.

When Ballard Clark appealed to the fiscal court for help at its Aug. 16 meeting, he was told that $2000 had already been budgeted for each of the county's 13 existing volunteer fire departments and that McDowell could expect to be added to the list next year. "But they're starting to build now," Left Beaver Magistrate Ed Caudill argued on behalf of his constituents. "They need help now."

In the meantime, $31,000 has reportedly been collected on Left Beaver Creek and a building is on order, to be placed on a tract on Bill Hall Branch donated by coal operator Carson Akers. The Left Beaver Rescue Squad has offered to garage its second fire truck there.

Some area residents have figured that a financial commitment to the fledgling fire department will be more than made up by their savings on insurance premiums. For many, the new fire department represents their only hope of getting coverage at any price.

The fire department will cover an area from Frasure's Creek in the south to the major part of Drift downstream. Some homeowners in Drift and McDowell will have the added advantage of a fire hydrant within 1000 feet of their homes.

The advantages are real, said Blaine Hall, an agent for Allstate Insurance, which is one of the biggest carriers on Left Beaver. For one thing, he said, Allstate no longer writes insurance for homes that are further than five miles from a firehouse. Moreover, while homeowners without a fire hydrant nearby will pay $380 a year to insure a $50,000 brick home, those with a hydrant will pay only $202 for the same coverage.

Insurance premiums are on the rise in any case. Some homeowners' policies saw an increase in premiums of between 15 and 24 percent in July; some auto policies jumped 10 percent on Monday. The liability insurance needed by businesses, manufacturers and municipalities has seen increases recently ranging from 50 to 100 percent.

Consumer advocates have argued that insurers are using lean times to boost rates higher than necessary. But, for many rural homeowners, Hall said, public and private support for volunteer fire departments is their only hope of seeing their policies renewed.

Huey Darby, of the Darby and Allen Insurance Agency, agreed, "I would encourage people to support these little fire departments," he said. "The main focus should not be on cheaper rates—it won't make it any cheaper unless they have a lot of hydrants. The main focus should be on getting (coverage) at all."

said he felt the source of contamination was more likely the raw water taken into the system from the Big Sandy River. Nationwide—especially in the late summer, when stream levels are low and water temperatures high—biological organisms tend to multiply rapidly and some strains are proving resistant to chlorine, he said.

Water samples taken here on Monday and Tuesday were being sent to Frankfort for analysis Tuesday afternoon. Regardless of the test results, all schools would reopen today (Wednesday), said Acting Superintendent Ray Brackett, with precautions being taken until the boiled water advisory is lifted. Such an advisory is not normally lifted until samples have showed up clear for three consecutive days, a Division of Water official said.

While E. coli was not detected here until late last month, unidentified organisms first turned up in April and—with the exception of a clear reading in June—recurred over the following four months, said Smither, of the Division of Water.

While Prestonsburg's is "a pretty good system" and "well operated," and while boil water notices are not uncommon for smaller systems, a coliform reading was "a little unusual" in a system of Prestonsburg's size, the state official said.

Howard, obviously shaken by the system's first boiled water notice in memory, insisted that the system is being run right. "We've done everything in accord with state rules and regulations," he said, including daily tests of the water's chlorine content, hardness and alkalinity, and sampling every two weeks for bacterial levels.

"If the state health department or water pollution people find a problem they should send trained specialists in here and help us find out what the problem is" before issuing a public advisory, the superintendent said, adding that, apart from a directive in April to flush the system, "we haven't had a telephone call from them."

Nor is the superintendent prepared to assume that the coliform that grew out in the water samples originated in the system rather than in the laboratory or en route to the laboratory—since most of the clean samples were tested by a Pikeville chemist while the only contaminated samples were tested at Morehead State University. "There are plenty of ways samples can become contaminated" during handling, he said.

Whatever the real danger,—Health Director Compton said he has seen no evidence of increased gastrointestinal disorders in recent months,—the boil water notice has set many area residents on edge as well as disrupting a dozen schools. For Howard, who takes singular pride in the city's water system, it all amounts to overkill.

"If the (water system) superintendent was not doing what he was instructed, they shouldn't punish the whole community," he said Monday, his voice breaking with emotion. "They ought to take him to jail."

State officials agree that Kentucky's public water supplies are generally safe, and certainly safer than the private wells on which many Floyd countians must still rely for their drinking water. Ninety-five of the state's 400 public systems, or 25 percent, last year reported bacterial levels higher than the state allows, but most of the problems were quickly cleared up, Smither said. By contrast, about three quarters of the wells in eastern Kentucky are reportedly contaminated with bacteria, including those held responsible for an outbreak of hepatitis on Left Beaver Creek in 1983.

The administrators made no bones about nursing homes being in business to make money. Said Jim Judy, executive director of the Kentucky Association of Health Care Facilities, sponsor of the meeting, "The perception among a lot of people is there's a lot of fat in nursing homes. The truth is, we've moved from social to medical services. Profit isn't a dirty word in Kentucky, and I hope it never is."

Beattyville nursing home director Fred Austin echoed Judy's sentiments, saying "I'd like them to tell me where the fat is for us to cut out."

Gwendolyn C. Click, the association's eastern district director and regional vice president for Tri-Medical Professional Managers, Inc., of Irvine, said the lower rate would be enough to provide the basic necessities of life for patients, but little else.

"When you're on the outside, $33 a day looks pretty good. But it's all relative to what you can do with $33. The crisis didn't start over quality of care," she said, "that's the same. Quality of care is quality of life."

Click equated long term patients with children. "For $33 a day I can feed a patient, give them a clean sheet, leave a light on and give them a drink of water. For all practical purposes, that's all they need to live. If you gave that to a three-year-old child, what's the quality of life? It's the same with the elderly."

Little agreed with Click's assessment, but went further, saying a three-year-old would have a better chance of thriving under such circumstances than an elderly nursing home patient.

Bailey told the group they were "talking to the wrong group of legislators." He said they should address their grievances to the Congress in Washington, which could change the eligibility requirements for Medicaid.

The administrators agreed that too many people were eligible for the funds, thus making payments for each individual less.

Bailey said the bottom line was a lack of funds within the government.

"You're not gonna find too many people against taking care of the elderly," he said. "Unfortunately, my concern doesn't take care of them, my tax dollars do. I'd be willing to put a tax increase to the voters, but they won't vote for it."

Charlotte Slone, administrator of Riverview Manor nursing home here, said the cuts would keep her facility from admitting some patients.

"Not only as an administrator, but as an RN, I can't admit a patient I can't take care of, that's the regulation. Hospitals get $75 a day; we get $45 to feed, clothe and house heavy skill patients. We're expected to furnish all the services for $45. It's a shame our elderly have worked all their lives and now state government hasn't made arrangements for their care."

Slone went on to say she was going to have to "close down some beds," and lay off four employees. "Hospitals call quite frequently and say, 'Please take this patient,'" she said, "but I can't. Every day I take that patient I lose $20. The state doesn't realize there aren't other beds if they get better."

Judy said he realized the fault didn't lie with Bailey and Little, or with the other invited lawmakers. "We're not blaming these legislators," he said. "But it's time to approach the legislature with something offensive, not defensive," he said, referring to the January meeting of the General Assembly, at which time the next biennial budget will be decided upon.

acceptable level, this county should receive an increase of $600,000 in power equalization funds next year and a million a year thereafter, Spillman said. This county's allocation from the fund was $859,000 last year; the additional funds would go toward increasing teachers' pay and reducing class size.

"That will speak firmly to the Floyd county school system because there is a problem of overcrowded classes (here)," said Spillman. The teacher-pupil ratio—which averaged one teacher for every 21.3 students here last year and was as high as 1:27.5 at Harold grade school—is scheduled to drop to 1:20 within four years, he said.

Smaller classes in the lower grades would do much more to improve the student dropout rate than would a dropout prevention program aimed at 13-to-15-year-olds, the state official argued.

"The biggest social and economic problem in Kentucky is our dropout rate. We're losing about 40 percent of our first graders, who are never getting through high school," Spillman said. "The place to start is not when the child is 13 or 14 and has already got a failure syndrome but in the first and second grade—so, when they get to be 14, they never think of failing or dropping out."

The new funds will furnish five percent annual raises for teachers over the next two years. "Teachers will be receiving a reasonable wage," said Spillman, who added, "It will mean you can demand more of teachers, expect more accountability."

In addition, between $8 and $10 million will be available statewide to provide incentive grants, Spillman said. A school district, school or even an individual teacher could apply for a grant in order "to implement an innovative idea," he said.

Various Injuries Claimed in Suits

In a suit filed last week in Floyd Circuit Court, a former girls' basketball coach at Betsy Layne High School seeks at least $20,000 in compensation for alleged losses to his income and reputation. Paul D. Tackett said he was rehired as coach on June 19 but was told eight days later that he no longer had the job. His suit names as defendants the Floyd Board of Education and former Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr.

Erma L. Johnson seeks unspecified damages from Dr. Remigio T. DeGuzman and McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital, claiming the surgeon botched a stomach bypass operation. Our Lady of the Way Hospital is named in a suit filed by Lyda Hall, who claims she fell from a bed in the emergency room while she was unconscious, breaking her hip and pelvis. She seeks compensation for medical bills amounting to $100,000, for her pain and anguish ($2600), and as punitive damages ($2600).

Glenna Thacker, of Ivel, is suing the Coca Cola Bottling Company over a carton of Tab she bought last September at a Harold auto parts store. The drink contained glass, she claims.

State police officer Earl M. Gorrell, of Paintsville, is the defendant in an action brought by Donald C. Prater, of Melvin. Prater seeks $2500 for injuries he says he sustained when Gorrell's car collided with his pickup near Martin on August 9.

If Ford had a better idea, it certainly didn't go into designing the new 1981 Escort he bought from Paul Miller Ford Co., according to Franklin D. Fitzpatrick, who recites in a lawsuit a staggering list of troubles he says he had with the car.

(Claims made in filing lawsuits give only one side of the issues in dispute).

FORREST TUTTLE AND FAMILY

Elderly Woman Wins Acquittal

"If I wanted to shoot him I could have busted every button off his shirt." So said Edna Sammons, of Allen, in defending herself against a wanton endangerment charge yesterday (Tuesday).

The elderly woman was on trial in district court here, charged with firing a gun to scare off a bill collector for the power company. A jury took little time in acquitting her of the charge.

Jacob Jarvis, of Banner, a service worker with Big Sandy RECC, said he tried to collect payment for an overdue bill from Mrs. Sammons on June 27. When she declined to settle and he went to cut off the power, he heard a gun fire from the porch where the woman was standing, Jarvis said.

The power company worker testified that Mrs. Sammons ordered him to "get out of here" and added, "You ain't gonna cut nothing off." He withdrew without disconnecting the power, he said.

Mrs. Sammons said she tried to dissuade Jarvis from shutting off the power because her disabled husband, Bennie, needed it to run a breathing machine. But she denied firing a gun and said the shot Jarvis heard must have come from "boys firing at muskrats" in a cornfield behind her home on old KY 80.

Nor did the defendant deny being behind on her electric bills. Since her husband's Social Security was cut off, the couple has been living on the $325 she draws, said Mrs. Sammons. "It's not much to pay bills with," she said, adding that she pays what she can on the electric account each month.

Her attorney, Cassie Allen, suggested that Jarvis had "over-reacted" to a gunshot over which Mrs. Sammons had no control. And even the prosecutor, Assistant County Attorney Dan Rowland, indicated to the jury that, while he thought a conviction was in order, jurors need not feel constrained to impose a heavy sentence on the defendant.

Conviction on a charge of wanton endangerment carries a penalty of up to one year in jail, a $500 fine, or both.

HONORED AS ORGANIST

Following services at the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church Sunday morning, Mrs. Alice Gray Burke Buchanan was honored for 25 years' service as church organist, when Gus Kalos, director of music, presented to her, on behalf of the congregation, a dozen red roses, after which Mrs. Buchanan received a standing ovation. Sunday evening, after services, Mrs. Buchanan was honored with a reception at the church annex, with refreshments being served by women of the church, and an engraved silver tray and a monetary gift were presented, on behalf of the church, by H.C. (Huck) Francis.

Miss Kentucky

Eastern Kentucky was well represented in last week's Miss America Pageant, Miss Ky. Laurie Janine Keller, of Nippa in Johnson county and reigning Miss Floyd County, placed among the 10 finalists.

Miss Keller, 21-year-old performing arts student at the University of Kentucky, sang and performed ballet on point during the talent portion of the evening. Miss Mississippi, Susan Adkin, was crowned Miss America.

Marching Blackcats Score at Hurricane Invitational Meet

The Prestonsburg High School Marching Blackcat Band participated Sept. 14 in the 1985 Hurricane (W. Va.) Invitational Marching Band competition held at the Hurricane High School athletic field.

The Marching Blackcats competed in Class C against Webster County High School, Upper Glade, W. Va.; Green High School, Franklin Furnace, Ohio; Buffalo High School, Buffalo, W. Va.; Winfield High School, Winfield, W. Va., and Guyan Valley High School, Branchland, W. Va.

Prestonsburg placed third, with Winfield High School placing first and Guyan Valley High School second. Additional awards received by Prestonsburg were: First place percussion award, second place field commander award, third place Flag Corps award and second place majorette award.

The 72-member Blackcat Marching Band is led by field commanders, Julie Newberry and Betty Whitaker. The band is under the direction of Susan Compton Newsome, assisted by Holly Leach, Flag Corps director, and "Boots" Adams, majorette director.

The next scheduled competition for the Blackcat band will be Saturday, Sept. 28 at Paul Blazer High School in Ashland.

The Marching Blackcats will be sponsoring the fifth annual Prestonsburg Marching Band Festival, Oct. 12, preceding the Jenny Wiley Festival parade. Competition will be held at the Prestonsburg athletic field.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Irene Clay would like to express their thanks to all who helped during the passing of their loved one. Thanks to all who sent food, flowers, prayers and words of comfort during this time of sorrow. A special thanks to the Mountain Manor Nursing Home, the Regular Baptist ministers and the Hall Funeral Home for all the kindness shown to us.

GREED

By WILMAY

Love of money is the root of all evil. 1 Timothy 6:10. Materialism characterizes this century more than others. News media daily report crimes committed because someone loves mammon more than Christ. That's not confined to one segment of population. It exists in businesses, industries, institutions, organizations, even in families.

The craze for wealth is not limited to one profession or public figure, though some officials on nearly all levels of government—and in many places—embezzle or misuse funds and/or services, accept gifts illegally, pad expense accounts, or worse. Fabulous salaries and illimitable fringe benefits of some in high positions are inadequate for them because love of the greenback is insatiable. For many, money is like power: the more they get or have, the more they want and crave.

There is nothing new about robbing the government except current proliferation. Dipping into the public till has been the favorite pastime of millions since Bible days; moreover, there are innumerable ways of doing it. Worshipers of gold are found in all professions, walks of life, and occupations. Their number has increased until myriad prisons bulge. The cost of maintaining prisoners is horrendous. Once, most jail occupants were so-called "toughies" from low socio-economic strata. Today, men, women, boys, and girls—all ages—of every color and nationality, educated or not, rich or poor, are behind bars, frequently with no trace of remorse. And when caught some claim they did nothing wrong!

The national debt is approaching two trillion. Still, cries of "Gimme, gimme," permeate the air on every side. "Mr. President, please reduce that awful deficit, but not at my expense; Spare me and mine."

It's wonderful when a nation, its cities, and states have everything needed or desired, but pay day comes ultimately. What hamlet does not want a pool or park if Uncle Sam will make it possible? What third world country does not want to share in the U.S. Gravy? It seems the universe has an outstretched hand, to grab. That's one result of a welfare state, which has helped to bring us to this stage, where all that many want is MORE! MORE! They forget there is a price tag attached to every bit of it.

President Kennedy said, "Ask not what your country can do for you. Ask what you can do for your country."

That philosophy is needed now. Countless state and municipal treasuries are in the red, unable to provide service, etc., the federal government made possible. For decades, multiple millionaires, billionaires, and ollionaires who wished, have found loop holes in tax forms, giving them enormous advantages. Is it any surprise that some individuals, corporations, etc., say leave the tax reform problem alone? The federal government operated in the black since the days of Hoover, in just two administrations, both Republican. So, few care about lowering the deficit except in election years; fewer show concern over the principal, which is charged to our great-great-grandchildren! Shame on us ordinary people for permitting such a sad state of affairs to come to pass, and greater shame for failing to ascertain the WHYS of the miserable situation, complicated though they are.

Big Sandy Archery Assn. To Host Trophy Shoot

The Big Sandy Archery Association will host a trophy shoot tonight (Wednesday) at 6 p.m., and a target shoot every Sunday at 5 p.m. The competition is open to everyone.

Last Wednesday's winners in the Bare Bow League were John Blair, in first place, and Dean Franklin in second. In Sight class, Jim Hall captured first, while Chalmer Howard took second and Bill Cox, third.

For more information, call Dean Franklin at 886-8530.

MIDDLESBORO'S MOUNTAIN DRIVE COAL CO. team members work to administer first-aid to Terry McManown, "victim," during that phase of the two-day mine rescue competition at the Allen Park.

Mine Rescue teams from Kentucky, Virginia and Pennsylvania came to the Allen Park last Thursday and Friday to compete in four different categories of mining safety.

It was the second year the park had played host to the contest, according to park manager Oscar Rice. The tournament, which lasted all day Thursday and into the afternoon Friday, tested the skills of the contestants in first-aid, one-hour mine rescue, two-hour mine rescue and "de-bugging" a breathing apparatus. Winners in the various categories were invited to compete in the national tournament, to be held September 23-27 at the Fairgrounds in Louisville.

In first-aid competition, first place went to Beth Energies, Inc., of Jenkins; second place was taken by the Straight Creek Mining Co., of Pineville, while Kem Coal, Inc., of London, came in third.

The one-hour mine rescue segment was won by Martin County Coal Co., of Inez, while the Jewell Smokeless B-team, of Vansant, Virginia, took second, and the Island Creek Coal Co. A-team, of Oakwood, Va., captured third.

Wolf Creek Collieries, of Lovely in Martin county, took top honors in the two-hour mine rescue, as the Jewell Smokeless Coal Corp. A-team placed second, and the Island Creek Coal Co. B-team, third.

In the breathing apparatus de-bugging contest, known as the Benchnan competition, Malcolm Dunbar, of the National Mines Corp., Mathies mine, Finleyville, Pennsylvania, took top honors. Second place was awarded to Steve Adams, of Leeco, Inc., the Leslie team, London, Ky., and Kelly Watson, of the Pyro Mining Co., Inc., of Sturgis, came in third.

Burchett, Strickland Vows Said

Miss Connie Strickland, daughter of Mrs. Irene Strickland, of Myrtle Beach, S.C., and the late Simpson Strickland, and Mr. Clayton Burchett, Jr., son of Edith Burchett, of Prestonsburg, and the late Clayton Burchett, were united in marriage Saturday, August 24. The double-ring ceremony was performed at 7 p.m. in the Cow Creek Free Will Baptist Church by the Rev. David Garrett.

The matron of honor was Kim Scott, daughter of the groom, and the best man was his son, Robbie Burchett. The bridesmaid was Dorothy Harris, sister of the groom. The junior bridesmaid was Kristi Nelson, and the flower girl was Lori Holbrook, nieces of the groom.

The ushers were Don Holbrook and Tim Scott. The ringbearer was Robbie Holbrook, nephew of the groom.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Suzanne Reynolds, pianist, and Coletta Harris, vocalist. The bride was escorted to the altar by Robert Harris.

The bride wore a white tissue taffeta gown styled with a high Victorian neckline featuring a sheer yoke adorned with lace and seed pearls. The fingertip sleeves were enhanced with matching lace and seed pearls. The flounce on the skirt cascaded into full cathedral train. The veil was also trimmed with pearls.

Ellen Holbrook was keeper of the guest book.

The reception was held in the church annex by the reception hostesses, Wanda Diddier, Florene Harris, Ellen Holbrook, Dorothy Harris and Jane Verley.

The bride is presently employed by the Robertson Insurance Agency in Atlanta, Ga., but will be teaching in the Fulton Co. school system this fall in Atlanta, Georgia.

Mr. Burchett is employed by the Inerline Communications System in Atlanta.

Out-of-town friends and family who were here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Don Diddier, of Charlotte, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Daniels, of Louisville, Mike Oslin, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Daniels, of Pikeville; John Ball, of Williamson, W. Va. and Mrs. Vona Vogler, of Kermit, W. Va.

The couple left immediately for a tour of the East coast into Quebec, Canada. Their present home is in Atlanta, Georgia.

Astrological Forecast..

Don't Be So Picky, Virgo!

ARIES—The entire thrust of your life is changing and you should be certain of where you want to go. Don't do anything the least bit "shady", the "eyes of the law" are on you. Plan something very romantic this weekend, it can "calm the ruffled waters". And by all means don't make a foolish investment.

TAURUS—You will be uncompromising in relationships today, turn "experimental" by weekend, and begin next week a "moralist". Be careful that any new beginning isn't really an "ending". An old love may surface for a short time and bring back memories. Administer to your spiritual needs this weekend, they are as important as the material ones.

GEMINI—Investigate real estate from an investment standpoint—it's good for something besides cohabitation. If you expect to fulfill dreams of the good-life, you'd better start doing more than dreaming. If you want to bring true romance into your home, practice romanticizing. But remember, practice is only the prelude to an actual performance.

CANCER—Don't go overboard when entertaining friends, you won't get much return on your money. A very physical romance can begin now and it will last. Schedule social activities in the home this weekend, you will be a fantastic hostess. You can be of real service to others if you aren't afraid to say what you think.

LEO—You will be having a spiritual or psychic experience soon and need to be ready. A Sagittarius has the answer to your romantic needs. If you would come down to earth you could use all those talents for something practical. And if you would develop some introspection you could get the peace-of-mind you seek.

VIRGO—You can be inventive now but you're probably wasting your talents being picky. Logic may not be enough to overcome an emotional problem with the loved one—fight fire with fire! Expect lots of action around the home involving neighbors or relatives. Don't let it interfere with your career, the boss may not be very sympathetic.

LIBRA—You are very intuitive (if not psychic) now—do what comes naturally! If you're willing to spend the money, you can get your "dream" house, but it won't solve your problems. Making-a-big-splash is uppermost in your mind and you may go into debt to do it. Expect unusual conditions surrounding the parents with you right in the middle.

SCORPIO—Make home improvement plans but don't act until fall. You will get the opportunity to really show what you can do at work—take-your-best-shot. You will be thinking about turning a

Rail Commission To Remain Idle Till Suit Over

The Kentucky Railroad Commission has sued the state's Transportation Cabinet, and its chairman, Floyd countyman Jimmy "Gabe" Turner announced last week that the commission will cease operations till the lawsuit is settled.

The railroad commission is seeking more money in its suit, which was filed in Franklin Circuit Court, and it also is asking the court to define the commission's duties. Gov. Martha Layne Collins is a major defendant in the suit.

The General Assembly appropriated $79,300 for the commission this year, most of it for salaries. Turner said he is seeking more to ensure that railroads in Kentucky are safe.

Turner said the commission is entitled to an amount similar to that given to the division in the Transportation Cabinet that oversees rail activities. He also said the commission should administer the $500,000 the federal government gives Kentucky for oversight of some railroad activities.

"This commission has really been run over roughshod by every department in state government," he said after the commission's meeting.

The matter has been complicated by a dispute over whether the commission has the power to employ its own attorney.

The commission has regulatory authority over railroads and common carriers that use Kentucky waterways, but there are very few of those left. The federal Interstate Commerce Commission regulates virtually all railroads.

The commission's executive secretary is paid about $29,000 annually, including fringe benefits. Commission salaries are set by law at $3,600 annually for the chairman and $3,000 a year for the other two members. The members are elected to four-year terms.

Other members are R. Henry Spalding, of Louisville, and William Bailey, of Murray.

Assault, Threat Draw $1000 Fine

Conviction on charges of terroristic threatening and assault resulted in two $500 fines for Kenny Johnson in Floyd District Court yesterday (Tuesday).

Kevin Meade, of Weeksbury, claimed that Johnson waved a cocked gun in his face, punched him and kicked him on July 22, in Weeksbury.

Cross-examined by Jerry Patton, attorney for the defendant, Meade acknowledged he voluntarily rode in Johnson's truck even though he believed Johnson was "looking for trouble."

But prosecutor Dan Rowland argued that Meade had done nothing to warrant Johnson's pointing a gun at Meade's face from a distance of five feet.

The jury could also have sentenced Johnson to up to a year in jail on each count.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Dingus Bates wishes to acknowledge the thoughtfulness and kindness of friends, relatives and neighbors in the loss of our loved one. Thanks to those who sent food, flowers and showed they care in so many ways. A special thanks to Our Lady of the Way Hospital, doctors and nurses, the Regular Baptist ministers, and the Hall Funeral Home for their efficient service.

Hasadore and Clovie Moore, of Price, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, August 31 with an open house and reception hosted by their eight daughters.

Among the guests who joined the family were Mr. Ernest Hall, of Hi Hat, Andy Collins, Vernie Brown, Charlie Allen and family, Luther Hall, all of Price; Dude Stumbo and grandson of Prestonsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Patton, of McDowell, Ace and Dot Belder, of Drift; and Mrs. Helen Stumbo, of McDowell.

MAYTOWN NEWS

Our sympathy to the family of Mrs. Pearl Eudy, of Checotah, Okla., who passed away last Sunday following an extended illness. Mr. and Mrs. James E. Allen were with her for several days before her death. Mrs. Eudy was a former resident of Maytown but has resided in California and Oklahoma for several years.

Mrs. Lawrence Bentley underwent major surgery at Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington last Thursday. Mr. Bentley and other family members have been there with her.

Mrs. Rebecca Salisbury, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. G.B. Colvin, in Springfield, Ohio for a few weeks, returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Webb, Sunday, after attending services at the Little Etie Baptist Church in Stockdale, Ohio. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Salisbury, of Beaver, Ohio, who returned home Sunday evening.

To celebrate the third Maytown Annual Fall Festival, the Langley post-office will have a special philatelic stamp for stamp collectors. Anyone interested should see Postmaster Buddy Robinson.

Mrs. Julius Moore is able to be out following open-heart surgery.

Keith Webb, who is a freshman at June Buchanan High School at Pippa Passes, spent the weekend at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Webb.

Mrs. Thelma Osborne and Laquita, of Hunter, visited Mr. and Mrs. Julius Moore, Saturday evening.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET

The First United Methodist Churchwomen held their regular meeting Monday evening, Sept. 9, at the church. Mrs. Dorothy Wells, president, opened this meeting by reading "The Purpose of Methodist Women." She also gave a report on the Spiritual Retreat which she and several other members of the church attended at Greenbo Lake.

A discussion was held regarding the Christmas bazaar, which is to be on November 22. Hand-made items for the bazaar were displayed during the meeting.

Mrs. Rose Glenn, speaker for the evening, reported on her visit to Union College, where she attended the Red Bird Cooperative School of Christian Missions, from July 30 to August 2.

The hostesses, Mrs. Dorothy Stover and Mrs. Dorothy Wells, served refreshments to Miss Maurine Mayo, Mesdames Gladys Blackburn, Victoria Spradlin, Elizabeth Ramey, Virginia Jeffries, Jane Wallace, Margaret Alley, Ann Alley, Goldie Music, Clara Bradbury, Sally Goebel, Roberta Davidson, Rose Glenn, Geneva Carter, and Dot Marshall.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF SON

Mr. and Mrs. Rick Morgan, of Prestonsburg, announce the birth of their first child, a son, Stefan Glen, on Sept. 3 at Central Baptist Hospital, Lexington. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. "Shag" Branham, of Prestonsburg, the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Ranier, of Midway, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan, of Lexington.

VISITS FAMILY, ATTENDS MEETING

Mike Auxier, of Emma, who works at the Kentucky Retired Teachers' office in Frankfort, spent the weekend with his family at Emma, and on Saturday attended a workshop of the K.R.T.A., and a meeting of the Big Sandy Retired Teachers at May Lodge, where he was one of the guest-speakers.

APPALACHIA DAY OBSERVANCE

The annual Our Appalachia Day will be observed at Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, Saturday, Sept. 28. Described as "a day of arts and crafts, and old-time mountain music," the day will include a (bring your own) picnic and a soup bean supper. All Alice Lloyd College alumni and friends of the school are invited.

WOMAN'S CLUB OFFICERS

The Prestonsburg Woman's Club has announced the following officers, for the club year 1985-'86: President, Mrs. Sharon Sparr; first vice-president, Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick; second vice-president, Mrs. Clare Day; third vice-president, Mrs. Dorothy Stover; secretary, Mrs. Kathryn Poe; treasurer, Mrs. Susie Poe. These officers, with Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, past president, Mrs. Armita Snavelly, Membership chairman, and Mrs. Docia B. Woods, chairman of Publicity, constitute the club's executive board.

HOW DO I SAY GOOD-BYE TO A FRIEND?

The terminally-ill person and the friend of that terminally-ill person often find themselves trying to comfort each other while dealing with their own sadness and fears.

Many find consolation in their religious beliefs. Clergymen are helpful and we encourage you to turn to them so they may help the person as well as his loved ones regard death in a more positive way.

Each of us must learn to face dying or the loss of a loved one with courage, even when we cannot understand it.

When Socrates, the Greek Philosopher, was condemned to death, he was able to say "good-bye" to his friends with faith and sincerity.

"Now it is time that we were going, I to die and you to live; but which of us has the happier prospect is unknown to anyone but God."

For a more thorough understanding of facing death may we suggest a book by B. G. Glaser and A. L. Strauss called, Awareness of Dying. Please call or write us if you would like more information on this topic.

BUDGET HEARING ON GENERAL FUND AND GENERAL REVENUE SHARING

The City of Wheelwright will hold a public hearing at 6:45 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 19, 1985 at the Swimming Pool Bldg., Wheelwright, Ky. for the purpose of hearing written and oral comments from the public concerning the proposed annual budget for fiscal year 1985-1986, and the use of revenue sharing funds as contained in that proposed budget.

General revenue sharing (GRS) is a program of general fiscal support from the federal government to state and local governments with only limited federal requirements about how the money should be spent. Decisions on the use of these funds are made at the local level, by the government and people closest to local problems. The revenue sharing regulations require a hearing on the proposed use of these funds in relation to the overall budget before the budget is adopted each year.

All interested citizens, groups, senior citizens, handicapped persons and organizations representing the interests of senior citizens are encouraged to attend and to submit the comments.

KET Prepares For Fall Season Kickoff

Viewers may "catch the great programs on KET," as new series, new programs from many established favorite series, and a number of new specials launch the 1985 fall season. An extraordinary range of viewing choices is available from KET, beginning with the season's most ambitious undertaking from PBS, "War: A Commentary By Gwynne Dyer," on Oct. 1. The award-winning series follows Canadian journalist Gwynne Dyer on an unprecedented survey of two centuries of world military history.

In addition to daily programs about, by, and for Kentuckians, the KET schedule is packed with adventure, intriguing stories, information, family drama, and stellar performances. Another PBS series premiering Oct. 10 is "Quest for the Killers," five stories of modern medical achievement. "Wonderworks," a series for young people and their families, returns to KET on Oct. 12 with the two-part play, "Konrad," starring Kentuckian Ned Beatty, Polly Holliday, and Huckleberry Fox, in the story of a factory-made "instant child."

KET premieres its own series, "N. KY.," on Oct. 9, and our state will get a weekly look at the people, events, and places of Northern Kentucky.

A special treat is in store for KET audiences on Sunday nights, when "Brideshead Revisited" encores; followed by the new "Masterpiece Theatre" series, "The Last Place on Earth," (Oct. 20). The following week on Oct. 27, "The Brain" series will be added to the top of this prime time lineup.

"Great Performances" continues on Monday nights, with "Juilliard at 80" (Oct. 7); Graham Greene's "Dr. Fischer of Geneva" (Oct. 14); "Dance in America: Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater—Three by Three" (Oct. 21); and the first of a two-part biographical drama, "Lawrence Olivier—A Life" (Oct. 28). Also in the "Great Performances" series, "Live From Lincoln Center" presents "New York City Opera: La Rondine" (Oct. 30).

On Tuesdays, the "War" series airs; selected programs from "A Walk Through the 20th Century with Bill Moyers," and specials such as "The Statue of Liberty" (Oct. 29) are scheduled. Wednesdays will have more special programs, beginning with the gospel-oriented "Say Amen, Somebody" (Oct. 2); and including "Aaron Copland: A Self-Portrait, An American Masters Special," and "The Skin Horse," an examination of the basic needs of the handicapped for human love and warmth (both Oct. 16); the new "Survival Special," "Battle of the Bison Forest," and two Canadian comedian/magicians in "Penn & Teller Go Public" (Oct. 23).

NOVA opens its season with "The National Science Test II," to be seen on Thursdays on KET, beginning Oct. 10. The Friday KET lineup continues with public affairs and business series; beginning Oct. 25, the previous Sunday's "Masterpiece Theatre" will encore, and give viewers an evening of great programs with revised times in the schedule.

Saturdays will have an exciting continuation of the KET series for family viewing, with the new seasons of "Seeing Things" (beginning Oct. 5) and "Mystery's" "Death of an Expert Witness" (Oct. 26) as highlights.

The new "Nature" series, with "And Then the Rains Came," will begin on Oct. 27, and other programs and series about our natural world are featured throughout the fall schedule, which continues into November and beyond. Stay tuned, and "Catch the Great Programs on KET."

RETURN HOME

The sons and daughters of the late Ben and Lula Layne have returned to Phoenix, Arizona, after a 10-day visit in Prestonsburg and Floyd county. While here, Mrs. Mary Evelyn Whitaker and Mrs. Peggy Robb were guests of their aunt, Mrs. Della Herald; Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Blockie) Layne were guests of his daughter, Mrs. Deva Sue Robinson, Mr. Robinson, and family; Milford and Pauline Layne Northrop visited Mrs. Helen Clark. Joe Layne had his daughter, Mrs. Betty Lou Becke and her husband, Dick, of Arlington, Va., with him for the weekend, and they were guests at May Lodge. During the group's stay here they visited at Garrett and Wayland, their former hometowns, and the schools there. They also spent some time at Alice Lloyd College and at David, where Mrs. Whitaker once resided. Mr. and Mrs. Northrop went from here, to Lexington where they visited for a few days with friends, Denver and Helen Triplett Robertson, before returning home.

ANNUAL PERFORMANCE REPORT
FLOYD COUNTY SCHOOLS

In accordance with SB202, which was enacted by the General Assembly in 1984, and 704 KAR 3:005, adopted September 11, 1984 by the Kentucky State Board of Education; all public schools in the Commonwealth of Kentucky are required to present each year, an annual performance report on the districts accomplishments and activities pertaining to product goals including, but not limited to, retention rates and student performance on basic skills and essential skill tests by school and grade level, the district's goals for the succeeding year and other items as may be set forth by State Board of Education Regulations, and in regard to these regulations the Floyd County Board of Education wishes to communicate the enclosed information.

Table 3, Scholastic Aptitude Test Scores and American College Board Test Scores for high school seniors have been omitted because the school system does not have this data in district summary form, hopefully it will be available next year.

PART IV MASTER EDUCATIONAL IMPROVEMENT PLAN EXECUTIVE SUMMARY:

The Floyd County Master Educational Improvement Plan consolidates the Accreditation Plan, the Academic Improvement Plan, the Master Inservice Plan, a Financial and Program Improvement Plan (attendance and dropout).

The Floyd County School System is in the last year of the three year Floyd County Accreditation Plan to Eliminate Non-Compliance the accreditation report for the 1984-85 school year was submitted to the Kentucky Department of Education, Division of Accreditation and Program Audit, on June 28, 1985.

The Master Inservice Plan was adopted by the Floyd County Board of Education and approved by the Kentucky Department of Education, Office of Instruction on August 15, 1985. The Master Inservice Plan addresses instructional and/or curricular priorities and goals and personnel needs as established by various needs assessments such as CTBS test results, effective instructional leadership training, the Floyd County Evaluation of certified personnel program, the Uniform Code of Conduct Program, the Kentucky Internship Program, the Floyd County Accreditation Plan, KEST test results and Remediation Program, and the School Improvement Program.

Personnel of the Floyd County School System are developing and implementing Skills Listings or continuums for each of the essential or basic skill areas of reading, writing, spelling, reference skills and mathematics. The Skill Listings provides for better classroom and district management of the curriculum so that each student is able to work on identified needs as specified by the Individual Student Profile of the Objective Mastery Report generated by the CTBS/U and the student profile provided by the KEST testing program.

Inservice activities have been directed towards more effective utilization of the test results, instructional planning, teaching by objective, and classroom management.

General goals for the school year 1985-86 should also address the needs indicated in the Annual Performance Report to include improving student's academic performance, the continuation of a Dropout Prevention Program, improving attendance by at least 5 of 1% and extending and upgrading other special programs for the benefit of all students enrolled in the Floyd County Schools.

CITY OF WHEELWRIGHT ORDINANCE PROHIBITING THE KEEPING OF LIVESTOCK IN CITY LIMITS

WHEREAS, the City Commission of Wheelwright is aware that the keeping of livestock in a small area results in unsanitary conditions; and

WHEREAS, the citizens of Wheelwright have made numerous complaints regarding the riding of horses in the City;

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDAINED, by the Commission of the City of Wheelwright, Commonwealth of Kentucky:

No livestock (i.e. horses, cows, hogs, chickens, etc.) will be allowed in the City, except in the act of transporting same, by motor vehicle, on a penalty of not less than a fine of $15.00, nor more than $25.00 for each offense.

Adopted this 10th day of September, 1985.

ELMER FERGUS
Mayor

The undersigned City Clerk states that the above Ordinance was duly adopted as Ordinance Number 840.2 by the City of Wheelwright Commission on the date stated.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Prestonsburg Day Homemakers held their first meeting of the year in Friendship Hall of the First United Methodist Church, Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 10, with the new president, Mrs. Judy Kittle, presiding. Mrs. Frances Pitts announced that the annual county-wide Homemakers' luncheon-meeting will be held at this same location, Wednesday, Sept. 25, following, with registration starting at 10 a.m., and the program at 10:30. She said there will be a cultural arts display, a style show, and other interesting features. Mrs. Pitts also discussed the organization of a Quilting Guild for September 16; the "Clothing Accessories" lesson for October 1, which Mesdames Mary Sue Moore and Dorothy Stover are scheduled to attend, and the forthcoming Williamsburg trip.

Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick announced that Mesdames May K. Roberts, Peg Hewlett, and Opal Dings had been ill, and "get well" cards were signed by those in attendance.

Mrs. Gladys Blackburn asked that members bring items for a Homemakers' scrapbook, which she is being compiled.

It was announced that Mrs. Beverly Greene, who is in charge of the Big Sandy Hospice program here, had asked for items to be sold during the Paintsville Apple Festival, to raise money for the hospice.

The lesson on "Table Toppings" was presented by Mrs. Frances Pitts, who discussed many of the Homemakers' items which were on display there.

The HOMEMAKERS' CLUB CALENDAR was distributed, with members making entries of plans for the coming club year. Officers and committees for 1985-86 are: President, Mrs. Judy Kittle; vice-president, Mrs. Barbara Dawson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Osborne; devotionals, Mesdames Mary Jane Brown and Margaret P. Alley; telephone, Mesdames Ann Alley, May K. Roberts, Myrtle Allen, and Peg Hewlett; publicity, Mrs. Docia B. Woods.

With one of the hostesses, Mesdames Beverly Hackworth and Eleanor Horn, served a dessert course to: A new member, Mrs. Shirley Callihan and other members, Mesdames Frances Pitts, Judy Kittle, Barbara Dawson, Dorothy Osborne, Ann Alley, Myrtle Allen, Mabel Donahoe, Hope Whitten, Dolly Pettrey, Jane Wallace, Dorothy Burke, Rebecca Rasnick, Nancy P. Webb, Mary Sue Moore, Lolle Lansdell, Eleanor Horn, Dorothy Stover, Gladys Blackburn, Clara Bradbury, and Fannie Runnels.

The next meeting will be at the same location at 1 o'clock, October 8.

VOTE OWENS
DEMOCRAT FOR MAGISTRATE DISTRICT NO. 2

On the front page of last week's Floyd County Times I read Mr. Foley's stand on the commissioners where he makes no bones on where he stands on the commission issues. I MAKE NO BONES WHERE I STAND EITHER.

I saw the original petition that Mr. Foley had gotten up that obtained 120-some names. Some of these had addresses from out of the county—such as Campton. Since it only takes 100 registered voters to get this on the voting machines this fall, it was no problem to get it up for a vote. They are trying to use the Magistrate's salary to lure your vote. I am going to tell you a little about the commission form of government.

The county judge executive would have the power to rezone the county into thirds into as equal population as he can get it. This means you have no more four districts—you have three districts and I feel that the people in these hollows would be left out. Who knows, WHICH THIRD WOULD YOU BE IN? Do you know that the candidates are picked for you by the Democratic and Republican parties to represent you in the May Primary? WHAT IF THEY PICK A TURKEY?—YOU WILL END UP WITH A TURKEY.

After the May primary, did you know that candidates chosen for commissioners that win would have to run COUNTYWIDE in the November Election? They don't want a LITTLE MAN that knows the needs of the LITTLE MAN. This is their way of trying to eliminate that.

As far as this knowledgable source with the courthouse ties, that didn't want his name mentioned—WHO DO YOU THINK YOU'RE KIDDING? The county judge's power doesn't change a bit. You know good and well that with three commissioners you only have to have two of their votes to get your way and with four magistrates you have got to have three. That's the issue here.

As far as Mr. Foley's statement that they might have better qualified people, people more interested in the county than themselves, I think they are about to get one—ME—JACKIE EDFORD OWENS. I am qualified to operate heavy equipment, graders, dozers, loaders, dump trucks, backhoes and am a first class diesel mechanic. HOW MANY MORE QUALIFICATIONS DO YOU HAVE TO HAVE?

As far as the magistrate's pay—I am one of the candidates in the May primary who said that I would vote for a cut in the pay and the money saved should be used to repair our roads. I SAID THIS IN MAY. Good idea, Mr. Foley. You should have read your paper in May.

P.S.—If you have any questions concerning the commissioners—GET THE FACTS—Contact the Attorney General, Capitol Building, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

(Pol. adv. paid for by the candidate, 11-pd.)

The Kentucky Garden Journal

By Bonnie Lee Appleton
State Urban Garden & Home Horticulture Specialist
COOPERATIVE EXTENSION PROGRAM
KENTUCKY STATE UNIVERSITY

It's a puny little tree, only 18 inches tall and growing in a one-gallon plastic pot. You found it in the back corner of a nursery where the owner had started tree seeds himself. It only costs a few dollars, so how could you fail?

You could fail by letting the small tree or the small container or the small price tag blind you to the actual size the tree might reach. If you decide the little tree need only be placed ten feet out from the corner of your house, you might be okay if the tree is a purple leaf plum or a smoke tree, but forget it if it's a Colorado blue spruce or a pin oak or, heaven forbid, a silver or water maple (if people are going to keep planting them, the latter), some of us are going to keep "cutting" them down!

You need to be cautious when locating landscape trees, not only because of the problem of aesthetics when the trees grow large and run into the house or other trees or the neighbor's yard, but for several other reasons.

First, why waste money, either up front by buying more trees than the mature landscape will need, or in the end when everything collides and something has to go (naturally the tree, not the house). This is especially true if you're buying a large caliper tree which can cost a couple hundred dollars.

Second, many hazards can develop due to lack of knowledge about tree size. Tree limbs can grow into utility lines, or overhang houses (especially dangerous with soft-wooded trees (the silver maples). Trees can block windows and entries, utility meters and the view of motorists.

If the trees create litter—big flower petals, messy fruit, large leaves that form slick layers—the litter can be hazardous on walks or driveways. And don't forget the "unseen" portion—the roots. Tree roots can spread far beyond the crown or "drip line," getting into waterlines, drains and storm sewers. They buckle pavement and cross under streets. And they get chopped apart by construction and then what holds the tree up against a storm—perhaps nothing more than a prayer.

How do you start in determining tree size? First, ask the person from whom you're buying the tree what the typical mature height and spread in this area will be. If this person isn't sure, consult one of the many good books that deals with landscape plants, or call your county agricultural Extension agent. And as a good double check, locate some of the same trees growing in your area and evaluate their size and space requirements.

Many times you can find out a tree's mature height and guesstimate its spread from that by knowing the shape of its crown. If a tree grows to 50 feet and has a round crown, its spread will probably be 40 to 50 feet. If it has an oval crown, its spread may be 30 to 40 feet. And if its crown shape is very narrow, upright, or "fastigate," it may have a spread of no more than 20 feet. (Keep in mind that growing conditions, the care you give the tree, and its natural growth rate will influence how quickly mature height might be reached.)

When positioning a tree near a structure, use half the mature spread as a guideline. If you don't want it to ever touch your house, add a few feet. If you want it to ultimately hang over a patio for shade, subtract a few feet. If you want trees to overlap to form a clump or screen, subtract a few feet.

Most people err on the short side, so when in doubt, add a few feet to the spacing. Far better to have space to add an additional plant than to have to start pulling out expensive landscape plants.

Timely Tip: A tip from the July issue of Organic Gardening to try with your fall cabbage to keep them worm-free. As soon as the heads start to form, stretch a stocking or the foot section from panty hose over the head. It supposedly will expand as the head grows and permit adequate sun penetration and air circulation, but will keep the pests out.

'3-2-1 Contact' in Fourth Season

It's another year of quality children's programming on KET as the cast of "3-2-1 Contact" journeys to Malaysia for its new-season premiere on Monday, September 23, at 5:30 p.m. on KET.
 While in Malaysia, the cast of "3-2-1 Contact" visited a variety of sites including a rubber plantation and a rehabilitation center for orangutans. The Malaysian trip was part of the series commitment to showing 8 to 12-year-olds that science is found throughout the world and not just in a laboratory.

Also new to the series this season are "Pignews," "Stuffman," and "Paco's Travel Bureau." These comedy sketches relate to various scientific themes.

This season, four new theme weeks will focus on "Tropics," "Light," "Farms," and "Stuff," or material science.

The mystery mini-series, "The Bloodhound Gang," also will be featured this year.

Transylvania University Enrollment at 15-Year High

Officials at Transylvania University, Lexington, report that enrollment for the 1985-'86 academic year is the highest in 15 years. Figures released by the university show that 853 students have enrolled for fall classes, an increase of 9 percent over last year's record number of 782. Transylvania's enrollment has increased by 28 percent over the past two years.

Officials said this is the largest student body since 859 students were enrolled in 1970.

The children's series, "3-2-1 Contact" has been the recipient of four Emmys, and in 1985 was recognized by Action for Children's Television for its outstanding programming achievement.
 The Children's Television Workshop (CTW), creators of "Sesame Street" and "The Electric Company" is the producer of "3-2-1 Contact."

NUMB ARMS, LEGS Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble.

- (1) Paresthesias (see above) (2) Headaches (3) Painful joints (4) Numbness in the arms or hands (5) Loss of sleep (6) Stiffness in the neck (7) Pain between the shoulders (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals... call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF BLASTING SCHEDULE

Application No. 436-5153 Bailey Mining Company, HC 72, Box 195, Price, Ky. 41636, shall conduct blasting operation on its 228.39 acre. Mining permit, application number 436-5153. Said operation is located approximately 1.5 miles East of Kentucky State Route 466 junction with Caleb Fork Road. Latitude 37° 19' 04", longitude 82° 42' 50". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Collins Mayo Collieries. Blasting will be conducted each day, Monday through Saturday from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. and 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Any major alteration from the blasting schedule will be published. Unscheduled blasting may occur in emergency situations where lightning, rain, other atmospheric conditions or the safety of the operator or public requires unscheduled detonation. Control of the blasting area will be maintained by blocking access roads to the blasting area ten (10) minutes prior to the blast. Post detonation access to the blasting area will be allowed only after an inspection and determination that no hazards exist. A predetonation warning, consisting of three (3) long blast of air horn/siren will be given. After personnel are cleared from the area, two additional long blasts will be given two minutes before detonation of explosives. Just prior to detonation, one additional long blast of siren will be sounded. Personnel are to remain in clear area until a satisfactory post-detonation inspection of the blasting area has been made. A postdetonation all clear signal, consisting of a series of short blasts on the air horn/siren will be given. These signals will be audible over a minimum distance of one half mile. The preceding notice is published pursuant to Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Provisions and the regulations relating there to Kentucky Permit Number 436-5153. 9-18-3t.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant To Application No. 836-0168 1) In accordance with the provisions KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Sandy River Mining, Corp., Box 218, Ivel, Ky. 41642, has filed an application for a permit for a surface and underground coal mining and reclamation operation of approximately 99 acres located 3.5 miles west of Harold in Floyd county. 2) The proposed operation is approximately 1.5 miles southwest from KY 2030 junction with KY 1426 and located 3.5 miles west of Levisa Fork of The Big Sandy River. The latitude is 37° 31' 20". The longitude is 82° 40' 37". The surface areas are owned by Bernard Clark, Melva Lawson, Kellard Lawson and Willie Lawson. The surface areas underlying the proposed underground mining activities are owned by Bernard Clark, Melva Lawson, Kellard Lawson, Willie Lawson, Vernon Case, St. Parsons Estate, Henry Harvey, John P. Hall, Aaron Tackett and George Kidd. 3) The proposed operation is located on the Harold U.S.G.S. 7.5 minute quadrangle map. The operation will utilize the following methods of mining: contour stripping (approx. 7 acres), auger mining (approx. 9 acres) and underground mining (approx. 83 acres). This application also includes a proposed land-use change from the forest land pre-mining land-use to a residential post-mining land-use. This operation will affect an area within 100 feet of a public road (KY 2030). The operation will not involve relocation of the public road. 4) The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 431 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference, must be filed with the Director of the Divisions of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 41653. This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections and/or request for a permit conference must be received within thirty (30) days of today's date. 1t.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 898-5003 In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Transcontinental Coal Processing Inc., Branham Village, Route No. 2, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653, has filed an amendment to an application for a permit for a surface coal mining and reclamation operation (Haulroad only) of approximately 60.81 acres located one (1) mile north of Ivel, Kentucky in Floyd and Pike counties. The proposed operation is approximately (1) mile north from U.S. 23 junction with Ivy Creek Road and located (1) mile north of Levisa Fork. The latitude is 37° 36' 04", longitude 82° 38' 56". The surface area is owned by James Hatcher Estate, Law Heirs, Pam Wesley Harville, Denver Collins, and Astor Hunter. The proposed operation is located on the Harold and Broad Bottom U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle maps. The application also includes a proposed land change from the undeveloped forest land pre-mining land use. The operation will affect an area within 100 feet of a public road, Ivy Creek Road. The operation will not involve relocation of the public road. The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department of Surface Mining Reclamation & Enforcement's Prestonsburg, Regional Office in Prestonsburg, Ky. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Dir. of the Div. of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. PUBLIC NOTIFICATION Bacteria MCL Exceeded The Mud Creek Water District hereby gives notice that the maximum contaminant level for coliform bacteria was exceeded during its recent reporting period of July 1985 to the State's Division of Water. The test results for coliform bacteria (normally found in the intestinal tract of man or other warm blooded animals) indicate that some contamination had occurred. Coliform bacteria is not considered harmful, but its presence is a reliable indicator that harmful bacteria may have been present. If the presence of coliform bacteria would continue to occur, a boil water notice would be issued. Frequent testing is done to assure the quality of your drinking water. 9-11-3t.

After 12 Years He Gets Chance In Body-Building Competition

It's been close to 12 years, but this Saturday a dream will become reality for local body-builder Randy Burruss. He and at least four others from this area will go to the Whitesburg Elementary School auditorium to compete for the title of Mr. Mountain Heritage, in a body-building contest held in conjunction with Letcher county's Mountain Heritage Festival.

Burruss, who last year taught a weight-lifting class at Prestonsburg Community College, said he had been interested in competing for years but never thought he'd be able to, living in this part of the state. He said he was excited when he heard about the Whitesburg contest.

Grouse Restoration Now In Second Phase

Grouse are now being trapped in six eastern Kentucky counties and transported to release sites at two wildlife management areas in Western Kentucky as part of the second phase of an experimental restoration project.

Randy Hedges, Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources Third District Wildlife Biologist, said that this year's goal is to trap a total of 150 grouse from Rowan, Clay, Knott, Jackson, Bath and Breathitt counties for release in TVA's Land Between the Lakes National Recreation Area in Trigg and Lyon counties, and Higginson-Henry Wildlife Management Area (WMA) in Union county. The trappings began in August and will continue through November.

Large scale destruction of habitat from deforestation at the turn of the century caused the grouse to disappear from much of its historic range across the state. Through the years these wily game birds have been naturally extending their range into the Bluegrass region from the Cumberland plateau, where viable populations exist.

"It's something I always wanted to do, and I hope to make the most of this opportunity. Hopefully, this will be a springboard to other contests," he said.

Having begun weight training on his own in 1972, just prior to his sophomore year at Prestonsburg High School, Burruss said he was so enthused with his new interest that he joined the Blackcat football team just to be able to use their weight room.

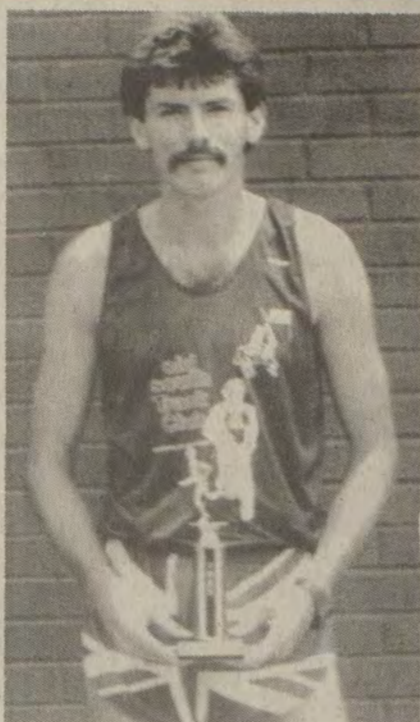

"The only way I could use the weights at the high school any time I wanted was to play football," he said, "so I went out for the team. I guess I was about 15, and I'd just seen my first body-building magazine. I couldn't believe how muscular those guys were. I started lifting and continued off and on until today."

Burruss will compete in the middle-weight division at Whitesburg, which runs between 155 and 175 pounds. The other divisions are lightweight, 154 and under; light heavyweight, 176-198; and 199 and above, heavyweight.

Other local weight lifters going to the Whitesburg competition include Jeff Hilton and Jerry Pelphey, both of Prestonsburg; Rob Shepherd, of David; and Rick Newsome, of Virgie. Hilton and Newsome will compete as middle-weights, while Shepherd will be in the lightweight category and Pelphey, heavyweight.

According to Burruss, a typical body building contest is judged in three categories: pre-judging, compulsory and freestyle posing.

Though it appears no local women are planning to compete at Whitesburg, Burruss said women's body-building is growing much faster than men's. He cited weight control, body shaping and general fitness as being the big draw for women into the male-dominated weight rooms.

Paintsville Runner Off for Scotland

Rick Roberts, of Paintsville, is scheduled to leave today (Wednesday) for Glasgow, Scotland to compete in what he says is the world's largest marathon.

According to Roberts, who claims to be the only Kentuckian entered in the race, more than 23,000 runners have signed up for the gruelling, 26-mile, contest.

Considered a top American runner, Roberts has averaged under two hours, fifty minutes in his previous eight marathons. His 222 total races also include one 30-mile run. Roberts said he has won trophies in previous races, including many times placing in the top 50. Twice he was 35th.

Roberts, a paralegal by profession, said the temperature in Scotland should be in the 50's or 60's, and rainy, perfect weather for a marathon.

"The cooler weather helps keep you from overheating," said Roberts, though he admitted nothing kept him, somewhere around the 20-mile mark, from "hitting the wall," a term used by marathoners to describe the exhaustion they experience late in the race when the brain tells the body to move but the body rebels. At that point, said Roberts, willpower plays a big role in finishing the race.

Roberts said he began distance-running as a walk-on on the Eastern Kentucky University track team in 1978. After graduation, he began regularly entering races, and has competed in a number of prestigious runs, including the Boston Marathon in 1982.

Though he feels running is "dropping off" in popularity, as the fad appeal fades and the uncommitted novices drop off, Roberts says he's as dedicated as ever, and has no plans to slow down.

He is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and Francis Denimland in Prestonsburg; and F.S. Vanhooe lumber, Barker Mobile Homes, John Grey Pontiac and optometrist Mike Minix in Paintsville. Another sponsor, 1940's track star at Rice University, Calvin Bell, lives in San Antonio, Texas.

Bassin' Buddies on Tourney Trail

Doug Clay, Marty Minix, Tom Martin, Tee Watkins, Tom Allen, and Glen Copley, members of Bassin' Buddies and all winners in the recent tourney at Dewey Lake.

Bassin' Buddies got back on the tourney trail after a month off with their Dewey Lake outing last week. Just as it's been the last few years, the fish really got tight on tourney day, and most of the day was spent under rainy skies.

After eight hours of hard fishing, most anglers came back to the scales wondering where all the fish had gone.

Tee Watkins and Tom Allen took first place with four fish weighing 5 lbs. 1 oz. Their fish came on worms and buzz baits from the lower end of the lake. Watkins also won the trophy for the largest fish of the tournament, weighing 2 lbs. 5 ozs. Second place went to Tom Martin and Marty Minix with three fish weighing 3 lbs. 12 ozs., taken on spinner baits. Glen Copley and Doug Clay took third place with two fish weighing an even 2 lbs. Their fish were also taken on spinner baits.

Meade's Jewelry of Paintsville was the sponsor for the Bassin' Buddies Tournament.

Rice Signs With ESPN

Kenny Rice, sports director for WTUV-TV, Lexington, Ky. has signed with ESPN to work the telecast of the Breeders Crown, a series of races to determine the champions of harness racing. This is Rice's second consecutive year announcing the events that begin in Chicago, Sept. 20, before moving to other cities including Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Pittsburgh, Washington, and Pompano Beach Florida, as well as Toronto and Edmonton, Canada.

THANK YOU

The Cow Creek Volunteer Fire Dept. would like to thank the public and all the people who participated in our concession at the Ky. Highlands Folk Festival, especially those who worked and donated goods.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Earle Gibson would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their help in the loss of our loved one. Thanks to those who sent food, flowers, prayers or just spoke comforting words. We deeply appreciate you all. A special thanks to the Regular Baptist ministers for their comforting words and the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

Vocational Teachers at Inservice

An inservice was conducted Aug. 8-9 at Mayo State Vocational-Technical School, Paintsville, for vocational teachers interested in acquiring skills to assist them in identifying students who may need special education services or a modified vocational program, proper procedures to refer a student for necessary evaluations, as well as information to assist them when participating in the writing of an individualized educational plan for a student.

The sessions were conducted by Teresa Bowling, regional vocational counselor for Big Sandy Vocational Education Programs. She had recently returned from Florida State University where she did work toward a Ph.D. in Comprehensive Vocational Education.

Vocational teachers who attended the two-day inservice from the Garth Area Vocational Education Center are pictured, left to right: Linda J. Wilson, business and office; Doris A. Lawson, business and office; Larry Jones, auto mechanics; Melvina Thomson, health services; Terry Mosley, welding; Mike Fitzpatrick, mine maintenance technology, and Teresa Bowling, regional vocational counselor.

The Coming ColorFall

By JIM CARROLL

New Englanders are justifiably proud of their beautiful fall foliage, but Kentucky often boasts fall colors as vivid and intense as an artist's palette.

Scientists don't yet know all the influences that affect a fall foliage season, so predicting several weeks in advance when leaves will change in a given area is strictly guesswork.

What can be done, however, is reporting leaf changes as they are occurring, so that the potential sightseer can promptly make plans for a trip to see the foliage.

The Tourism Cabinet has launched such a fall foliage information system called "ColorFALL Kentucky." Using reports phoned in by state park naturalists, the cabinet each week will produce a map and news release explaining general foliage conditions throughout the state. The map will be given to operators of the state travel information line so they can answer questions about the fall season. The Office of the Secretary and two other cabinet agencies, the Department of Travel Development and the Department of Parks, are jointly undertaking the program. The toll-free number, the Kentucky Color Connection, is 1-800-225-8747.

Why leaves change in the fall is a question just about all of us have wondered about at one time or another. An Indian legend attributes fall colors to the slaying by celestial hunters of the Great Bear in the sky. Red hues were caused by the Great Bear's dripping blood, while the yellows and oranges resulted from the splattering of the hunters' kettle as they cooked the unfortunate bear.

In fact, our brilliant fall colors are the result of complex chemical changes only partly understood by scientists. To understand the basics of the process, you need to know a little about the growing cycle of deciduous trees.

During the winter, a deciduous tree is dormant. Then it begins producing leaves, which play a major role in nourishing the growing tree. Inside the leaf, a green chemical called chlorophyll combines the energy of sunlight with carbon dioxide and water to make sugars and carbohydrates—the nutrients essential for the tree's growth. This is the process of photosynthesis. Through spring and summer, the tree replenishes its supply of chlorophyll. It is this abundant chemical that makes a leaf green.

As fall approaches, this food-manufacturing process slows down in preparation for winter. It's as if the tree knows the winter sun won't be able to provide enough energy for photosynthesis. As the days get shorter, the chlorophyll starts breaking down, the green color fades, and the leaf's other pigments become visible. The type of pigment depends on the species.

In some trees, a pigment called a carotenoid predominates. This yellow and orange pigment gives color to a wide variety of living things, from carrots to egg yolks to corn. In trees, it is most common in hardwood species like hickories, ashes, birches, and sycamores.

PCC To Offer Course In French Conversation

At last, a way to learn a foreign language without suffering!

Teresa Hernandez will begin teaching French Conversation I on September 23, 7-8 p.m. She has been conversant in French for 11 years and has practical experience in its use. For two years she lived in the French-speaking countries of France, Algeria and Tunisia. Now, she visits friends in France and Algeria—France, especially, for its skiing.

Too often, courses in communication overlook the basic skills needed to effectively meet the demands of the environment. Marie Parsons, who has an extensive background in the communication arts, has realized the need for practical written and oral communications. She will begin teaching the skills required to write an effective business letter, fill out an application, prepare a resume, and prepare for a job interview through PCC's Continuing Education Program.

The course will begin on September 26, 6:00-7:30 p.m.

If interested in either of these courses, contact Juanita Ratliff, at 886-3863, ext. 215.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., September 9—Despite weather extremes of heavy rainstorms and localized flooding in far western Kentucky, and unseasonable heat and humidity across much of the state, lake levels and water surface temperatures continued to drop slowly. Some fair catches of bass, bluegill, crappie and rockfish/white bass hybrids were reported at several lakes during the Sept. 7-8 period covered by this report. The lake-by-lake rundown, as reported by conservation officers and creel clerks at each lake follows:

KENTUCKY: Moderate fishing activity was reported by creel clerk Don Fortenberry. Crappie were being taken on minnows over ledges and dropoffs 10-15 feet deep; bass were being taken on spinnerbaits and crankbaits fished over gravel bars at the mouths of embayments in 5-10 feet of water. Clear, falling slowly, 2½ feet below summer pool, 80°.

BARKLEY: Light activity was reported by creel clerk Norman Brantley. Bass were hitting spinnerbaits and plastic worms fished over stumps and fallen timber; catfish were being caught in 10-35 feet of water over the old river channel; white bass were being taken trolling deep running crankbaits or casting in scattered jumps. Clear to murky, falling slowly, 2½ feet below summer pool, 82°.

BARREN RIVER: Light fishing activity was reported by officer Donald Depp. A few white bass were being caught in scattered jumps and by trolling; bass were being taken at night on plastic worms and spinnerbaits fished over points. Bluegill were biting on crickets and worms off steep rock bluffs. Clear, falling slowly, 2½ feet below summer pool, 80°.

ROUGH RIVER: Light activity was reported by officer Harold Belt. Crappie were being caught on minnows in 12-20 feet of water over brush piles. Bass fishermen were casting plastic worms off points at night. Clear, stable, summer pool, 81°.

TAYLORSVILLE: Moderate activity was reported by creel clerk John Morgan. Bass were being caught on plastic worms, jigs, or crankbaits in 10-15 feet of water along treelines; bluegill were being taken on crickets and worms in 4-8 feet of water around shoreline brush and fish attractors. Clear to murky, stable, summer pool, 85°.

HERRINGTON: Light fishing activity was reported by creel clerk Bill Pinkston. White bass and rockfish/white bass hybrids were being taken in the jumps early and late on plunker and fly combinations; some hybrids and white bass were also being caught by blind casting spoons, shad pattern crankbaits and spinners, and allowing the lures to sink to about 20 feet before beginning the retrieve. Bluegill were taken with crickets and worms 15-20 feet deep off steep rock walls and stickups. Clear, falling, 6½ feet below summer pool, 82°.

GREEN RIVER: Light activity was reported by officer Clem Feese. Crappie were being caught in 10-15 feet of water over stump beds; bass were hitting spinnerbaits and plastic worms cast along shallow points and banks. Clear, stable, summer pool, 81°.

CUMBERLAND: Light to moderate activity was reported by officer Fred York. Kentucky bass were being taken on crayfish off points on the main lake; crappie were being taken over submerged trees 20-25 feet deep near heads of deep coves; a few nice trout were being taken on nightcrawlers above the dam at night in 45-60 feet of water.

DALE HOLLOW: Moderate activity was reported by officer Marvin Edwards. Bass were being caught at night on plastic worms fished over weed beds and deep banks. A few catfish were being taken trolling crankbaits. Clear, falling, one foot below summer pool, 83°.

LAUREL: Light fishing activity was reported by officer Ken Mobley. Night fishing for rainbow trout continues with worms and corn in 15-20 feet of water off steep rock walls; bass were being taken early and late on plastic worms. Clear, stable, 7 feet below summer pool, 82°.

CAVE RUN: Light to moderate activity was reported by creel clerk Tim Sloan and officer Mike Gilliam. Muskie were being taken in shallow, timbered coves on crankbaits and buzzbaits; bass were taking surface lures and plastic worms. Clear, falling, ½ foot below summer pool, 80°.

BUCKHORN: Light activity was reported by officer Billy Joe Napier. Crappie were being taken on minnows 10-20 feet deep over brush and stumps; bass were being caught on crankbaits and plastic worms fished at night. Clear to murky, falling, summer pool, 81°.

GRAYSON: Light activity was reported by officer Kenny Skaggs. Bass were being taken on spinnerbaits and medium to deep running crankbaits fished across mud banks; crappie were being caught in 6 feet of water around brush and tree tops. Clear, stable, summer pool, 78°.

NOLIN: Light activity was reported by officer James Shipp. Crappie were taking minnows 6-8 feet deep over stickups; bass were being caught off deep, rocky points on plastic worms, and early and late on surface lures cast around flooded weeds. Clear, stable.

DEWEY: Light activity was reported by officer Dalton Conley. Crappie were being taken on minnows in 10 feet of water over brush. Clear to murky, stable, summer pool, 80°.

FISHTRAP: Light activity was reported by officer Don Blevins. Bass were hitting plastic worms and buzzbaits at night, and crappie were being caught on minnows 15-20 feet deep. Clear, stable, summer pool, 80°.

Clean-Burning Coal Use Seen By Gov. Collins

Governor Martha Layne Collins, chief executive of the nation's largest coal-producing state, last week asked the Southern State Energy Board to make itself an advocate for the development of clean coal-burning technologies for generating electricity.

"No energy policy can succeed if it is not consistent with our need for cleaner air," she told the board Monday afternoon after Southern governors elected her to chair the group. "And we can produce clean coal burning technologies."

She noted that last week Kentucky broke ground for the first large-scale utility application of a technology that could meet the most stringent environmental requirements.

"What we're doing at this plant could open up tremendous new possibilities for using more coal," she said.

Fluidized bed combustion techniques will be used at the Tennessee Valley Authority Shawnee Plant near Paducah, the governor said. These techniques will remove more than 90 percent of the sulfur dioxide from burning coal, she explained, and the boilers will emit 20 to 40 percent fewer nitrogen oxides than conventional combustion techniques.

Coal remains the nation's long-term solution for generating affordable electricity, Governor Collins said.

"In the 1970s, America recognized the dangers of relying too heavily on foreign energy," she said. "It was knowledge gained at a great loss of jobs, inflation and a stagnant economy. In the 1980s, most of America has turned its back on what it learned a decade ago, and what passes for energy policy in Washington is too often 'non-policy'."

She praised the Energy Board for being "among the few remaining voices being raised in behalf of a rational energy policy."

Floyd County Public Schools UNIFORM CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT

(Sixth in a Series)

B. DISCIPLINARY REFERRAL PROCEDURES:

If in-class discipline does not succeed in correcting misbehavior, or if the behavior requires assistance, the student will be referred to a counselor-peer review group, or administrator.

When a student is referred, these steps will be followed:

1. The referring person will fill out a referral form, keeping a copy and sending the original and other copies to the appropriate administrator.
2. The student will be referred to the school office to talk to an administrator.
3. The administrator will read the referral form to the student and allow him/her to respond.
4. The administrator will decide what action will be taken; inform the student of the action; and record it on the form. The student will sign and receive a copy of the form.
5. The administrator will process the referral form. Additional copies will be distributed as indicated on the form.
6. The appropriate counselor will review and initial the office copy prior to filing.
7. The administrator may require that the student take the form home to be signed by his/her parent/guardian. The signed form will be returned to the administrator.
8. Discipline records shall be maintained by the assigned administrator and made accessible upon request to teachers, principal, counselors, and the student and/or parents of the student in compliance with the Family Privacy Act of 1975. Such information shall not become a part of the student's permanent record.

C. COUNSELOR'S ROLE IN DISCIPLINE:

A guidance counselor will be notified in all secondary school referrals. After repeated referrals, or if a problem seems to stem from causes more serious than simple misbehavior, the counselor will hold individual, group, and/or peer review sessions with the student. Students may also be referred to the counselors by teachers, parents, and/or other administrators for assistance. The counselor may contact outside resources to assist with this process.

D. ADMINISTRATOR'S IN-SCHOOL DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS:

When an administrator receives a referral on a student whose misbehavior has continued in spite of the teacher's efforts to correct it, or whose misbehavior interferes with the learning environment, then the administrator is responsible, when appropriate, for utilizing the following measures to maintain discipline:

- Temporary or extended loss of school privileges (participation in any school activity, co- or extra-curricular).
- Change the student's schedule (with parent notification).
- Temporarily separate the student from other students.
- Recommend a transfer to another school and/or program.
- Assign the student to after school detention.
- In-school suspension.
- Establish in-school counseling or evaluation.
- Conference with the parents/guardian, teachers, counselors, or other staff members.
- Administer corporal punishment (according to approved guidelines set forth in this code) when other in-school measures have proven ineffective.
- Deny the student access to school bus transportation (for bus misconduct).
- Provide a constructive assignment.
- Probation.

Disciplinary problems referred to the school administrator are usually handled by in-school measures short of suspension and/or recommendation for expulsion.

'Water of Life' Extolls Nature's Value in Song

Parts of Floyd county may be having water problems now, but if songwriter Michael Johnathon has his way things might start looking up for conservation of the wet stuff all across the state.

Johnathon, in connection with the Kentucky Cabinet for Natural Resources and the Troubadour concert series, which uses music to impress upon school children the need for environmental conservation, has written a song, "Water of Life," which he hopes will "make Kentuckians aware of the beauty of nature, and the need to protect our water." The song was recorded recently in Louisville, using as performers children from around the Commonwealth, and will be officially released next Wednesday by Governor Martha Layne Collins as part of the Kentucky Environmental Conference in Frankfort.

The former Knott county resident says the song focuses on the positive, praising the beauty of nature and the necessity of water for life, rather than bemoaning the horrors of acid rain and other pollutants. He says he hopes the song will be successful throughout Kentucky, taking the message to the people.

"People have to really think about what's happening," he said, "and Kentucky is the first state in history to do it with music. We want 'Water of Life' to be a massive hit across the state."

Not only will the song, which will be sold for 95¢ in public schools across the state, be sending out the cry for sane use of water, but a 30-minute special chronicling its recording will be aired next month on KET, and a video of the song will be shown on affiliates of the major television networks around Kentucky.

Twenty cents from every record sold will be donated to the state Board of Education, said Johnathon. And, the five schools which sell the most copies will receive free Troubadour concerts.

Johnathon stressed that no tax money went into the recording of "Water of Life," or any of the Troubadour activities. Rather, three corporate sponsors picked up the $15,000 recording tab. Johnathon listed the Ale-8 One Bottling Co., of Winchester, Winchester Farms Dairy, and McDonald's Restaurants of Kentucky as being responsible for the financial end of the recording, while also giving special thanks to Eastern Kentucky Beverage of Pikeville for its continued, two-year scholarship of the Troubadour concerts.

Once "Water of Life" has been launched in Kentucky, Johnathon says the song will be recorded in modified versions in other states, beginning with West Virginia and Connecticut.

METHODIST WOMEN DISCUSS PLANS

The United Methodist Women of the Community United Methodist Church met Sept. 10 to discuss plans for the district meeting of the U.M.W., which will be held Oct. 19. This church will be host to all women of United Methodist Churches in the Ashland District.

Mrs. Drema Osborne, president, presided. A report on the last meeting and the financial report were given by Mrs. Esther Ward. Mrs. Leslie Burke told of the success of the church's recent annual yard sale. Items for sale were contributed by the members, and long hours of work were donated by sales clerks, Esther Ward, Jean Burke, Leslie Burke, and Theda Johnson. As is the custom, proceeds from this sale will go to finance church projects, growth and outreach.

Chairpersons appointed to the various committees for preparing for the district meeting were: Decorations, Jean Burke and Leslie Burke; registration, Becky DeRossett; food; serving, Cheryl Sexton; music, Linda Smith. Other members present volunteered their services, as needed.

Attending the meeting were Nancy Tackett, Leslie Burke, Drema Osborne, Debbie Burke, Esther Ward, Shirley Doughton, Linda Smith, Jean Burke, Kay Willis, June Cooley, Anna Jean Howell, Sandy Howell, Ernestine Collins and Beth Johnson.

CARD OF THANKS

COFFEE AND WHEEZING

As far back as 125 years ago, doctors noted that strong coffee was a remedy for asthma. Now, a Canadian study verifies that the caffeine in two cups of strong coffee can significantly relieve asthma symptoms in young patients with chronic cases. Caffeine was found to be as effective as theophylline, a standard prescription asthma medication. The researchers were quick to point out, however, that caffeine is not a replacement for theophylline or a remedy for older patients. Caffeine works for children because their bodies easily break it down into theophylline. Adults have a harder time. Caffeine may be viewed as a temporary alternative for chronically asthmatic children when their prescribed medication is not readily available.

COOLEY APOTHECARY takes great pride in the reputation we have earned of being the drug store with a difference. If you are not yet familiar with us please accept today's column as your personal invitation to come in and to get acquainted. We offer our customers everyday low prices and complete patient profiles. As an expert in drugs and medications we explain to patients how to take drug products and also provide patients with other necessary information to achieve the most positive value from the product or products your physician has ordered. We are located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5-30, Sat. 9-4.

OWENS FOR MAGISTRATE

My name is Jackie Edford Owens. I am the only candidate on the Democratic ticket as a Democrat running for magistrate in the November election in District 2. If you vote a Democratic vote in the November election—it will be for me. Let's not weaken our party by voting Independent. Vote Democratic—Vote Owens for Magistrate. Let's do away with this "a few people trying to control county government." IT'S TIME FOR DISTRICT 2 TO HAVE THEIR FAIR SHARE.

In last week's paper the Independent candidate thanked me for announcing his candidacy. You don't have to thank me, MR. DUFF, since we both live on the same hollow and only a few houses apart—WHAT ELSE ARE GOOD NEIGHBORS FOR? You are right. You do have the right to run on any ticket you wish, BUT you're going to have to start over pretty soon—THERE AREN'T MANY MORE PARTIES LEFT THAT YOU HAVEN'T ALREADY TRIED.

—Movie Week—

SUNDAY

(NBC) SUNDAY NIGHT MOVIE
"MISFITS OF SCIENCE" (1985) Starring Dean Paul Martin, Kevin Peter Hall, Mark Thomas Miller, Courteney Cox and Mickey Jones. Premiere of the new comedy-adventure series about an intrepid young scientist (Martin) and his 7-foot-4 associate (Hall) who recruit a band of misfits with unusual powers to thwart the use of a menacing weapon built by unscrupulous military renegades.

MONDAY

(NBC) MONDAY NIGHT MOVIE
"FAMILY TIES VACATION" (1985) Starring Meredith Baxter Birney, Michael Gross, Michael J. Fox, Justine Bateman and Tina Yothers. The Keaton family vacation in London includes a dash of mystery, fun and romance.

(CBS) MONDAY NIGHT MOVIE

"IZZY AND MOE" (1985) Starring Jackie Gleason, Art Carney and Zohra Lampert. Gleason and Carney play two aging misfits who suddenly find their niche in a flamboyant world of speak-easies, gangsters and wild Dixieland jazz — as New York City's most independent — and incorruptible — booze-busters.

TUESDAY

(CBS) TUESDAY NIGHT MOVIE
"THE OTHER LOVER" (1985) Lindsay Wagner, Jack Scalia, Max Gail, Millie Perkins and John Bennett Perry. Claire Fielding (Miss Wagner), a happily married marketing director for a book publisher, falls in love with one of the firm's authors (Scalia).

SATURDAY

"NATIONAL LAMPOON'S VACATION" (1983) Starring Chevy Chase, Beverly D'Angelo, Imogene Coca and Randy Quaid. A Chicago family's California vacation goes hilariously — and disastrously — awry.

Bobby chooses between Pam and Jenna, J.R. plots to have Sue Ellen institutionalized and Cliff gives Jamie grounds for the annulment of their marriage. (R) (90 min.)

COMPROMISING POSITIONS (R-Paramount) Starring Susan Sarandon, Raul Julia, Edward Herrmann. ★ ★ 1/2 ★

By J.T. YURKO

Traditionally, summer has been the time for frivolous films and escapist entertainment, but what ever happened to escapism for adults? Movie theaters this past summer have resembled day-care centers for teens and pre-teens. Attendance has been off, and it's the adults who aren't going.

"Compromising Positions" is the end-of-summer potboiler many of those potential movie-goers have been waiting for. A murder mystery is a tried-and-true light summer adult diversion, and this one is frivolous enough not to be taxing, but substantial enough not to be insulting.

A periodontist is found murdered on Long Island, but he's no ordinary dead dentist. It seems he's been having affairs with a number of housewives in the area, and he's something of a shutterbug as well. He has pictures of many of those housewives in — you guessed it — compromising positions. Complicating the situation are connections with organized crime and a pornography ring.

Susan Sarandon plays a patient who has not submitted to the good dentist's chair-side manner. Her neighbor, however, is a prime suspect since she was the last patient to see the dentist alive. Miss Sarandon, a former journalist who retired so she could devote full time to her husband and family, finds that her investigative instincts have become aroused when everything happens so close to home.

Her busy sleuthing raises the wrath of both her husband (Edward Herrmann, in a rare non-Franklin D. Roosevelt performance) and the homicide detective, nicely played by Raul Julia. Herrmann turns into male chauvenist pig when his wife wants to get involved with the investigation, and Julia develops more than a professional interest in Miss Sarandon.

Frank Perry (famous for the "no wire hangers" scene in "Mommie Dearest") directs here with a much lighter touch, and keeps the action moving along nicely. Miss Sarandon and crew play it without airiness or slapstick, and all the housewives of Long Island — and other places as well — will cheer their efforts.
