

Dog Nuisance Hits Lancer, Council Told

Things went to the dogs early at Monday night's meeting of Prestonsburg City Council. Mrs. Bonnie May, armed with taped yelping sessions to back up her complaint, pressed the council for action against as many as 40 dogs which she says disturb the Lancer neighborhood until the wee hours and use her porch and lawn as a canine latrine.

In addition, she alleged it is now unsafe for her to walk in the neighborhood. Certain unnamed motorists have, at speeds up to 55 m.p.h., attempted to sideswipe her and others as they walk about the streets, she said.

Animal shelter officials said the pound was filled almost to capacity and would be unable to accommodate the number of dogs of which Mrs. May complained. Funds are not available for picking up strays, the dog warden added. In any event, some said, most of the dogs in the area are probably owned by residents.

Mayor Ann Latta and council are rethinking their dog ordinance in light of the complaint and City Manager Fred James, City Attorney Larry Brown, and Police Chief Stan Fletcher have been appointed to study the matter.

Arnold Avenue will again carry two-way traffic between Friend Street and U.S. 23, in order to accommodate the new Commonwealth Bank building, which is scheduled to open there before the end of next month. Bank president Burl Wells Spurlock, who requested the APPROACHES TO THE NEW CLIFF BRIDGE continue to be of concern to residents of the Abbott Creek and Cliff areas. Meeting Tuesday at the bridge site, Delmas Saunders, State Representative Greg Stumbo, and Kirby Ison, Jr., chief highway engineer, studied a map of the trouble spot. Senator David LeMaster was present for the meeting as were several others.

Downtown Alive and Well, Argues Longtime Merchant

For H. C. "Huck" Francis, the last straw came when a dinner partner commented, gravely and sympathetically, "I understand you're going out of business."

The fact, Francis assured his guest—and wants to assure everyone else—is that the Francis Store, operating in Prestonsburg for 65 years, "intends to be in business for another 65."

Nor is his business the only one being hurt unfairly, he believes, by recent publicity about the closing of several downtown stores. "Rumors get around because of what has happened in other cities," he said. "But we're alive and well."

In fact, he notes, for each of the half-dozen firms that have left town in the last year or so, at least seven businesses—four clothing stores and three book stores—have opened here and a city bank is about to move into new, expanded premises. It shows that "people still have confidence in the downtown area," he said.

Last week's announcement that the R. H. Hobbs store was shutting its doors—coming as it did in the wake of similar announcements by Cox's, Richmond's, Ben Franklin's and Thomas Hereford's—again set the rumor mills grinding, Francis said. But not all of those businesses left for economic reasons and in any event—the national economy in general and the coal market in particular are in the doldrums—there is no call for prophecies of doom, he insists.

Take, for example, the arrival of Coachman and the Raggs Emporium; of April's on the Avenue and Country on Court; of the Book Worm, Read More, and Dove House. "Business people know the downtown area still has drawing power, even compared to the shopping centers, because of the

Never On Saturday, Local Banker Says

"Please God, no," one prayed. "Are you kidding?" asked another, despair in her voice.

They are tellers at a downtown bank, giving their first, stunned reactions to a suggestion that Saturday banking hours might be making a comeback.

From what their boss had to say, they need not worry.

Asked to respond this week to a merchant's suggestion that business would pick up in Prestonsburg if only the banks were still open Saturday mornings, H. D. "Buddy" Fitzpatrick, Jr., president of the Bank Josephine, said the banks couldn't afford it and, in any event, it wouldn't do the merchants much good.

When the banks abandoned Saturday trading about eight years ago, it was only after a study showed that too few customers were using their services to make Saturday hours economical, Fitzpatrick said. "We found it a lot more economical to provide ATM (automatic teller machine) service 24 hours a day, seven days a week," he said.

True, an ATM cannot cash your check, but few banks will do that today without charging a fee. The result is that shoppers increasingly cash their checks at the stores where they trade and it makes sense for the merchants themselves to provide that service, Fitzpatrick said. "After all," he explained, "if they cash his check, they have the first chance of selling him something."

banks, the courthouse, Mountain Comp Care, the Health Department, and so on," Francis said.

Nor is the relationship between the central business district and the peripheral shopping centers finally antagonistic, the Court Street merchant insists. "You have to expect, when seven or eight new stores open together (in the shopping centers), it is going to hurt established businesses temporarily," he explained. "But in the long run the shopping centers bring more people into the downtown area."

A more real threat to the Prestonsburg economy, Francis said, is the lure of Lexington. "The best thing that could happen for business here would be to blow up the Mountain Parkway," he joked.

"People will mention in casual conversation that they're off to shop in Lexington. Obviously, they're not aware of what that means to us," Francis said. "If we could convince them they should first support the local merchants who support all their programs and causes, it would be quite a shot in the arm."

The range of quality and price is as wide here as in the large urban malls, he said, and "if your zipper breaks, you don't have to go 120 miles to have it fixed or get a refund."

Seven Treated After Contact With Rabid Fox

Seven Floyd countians are being treated for rabies after being exposed to a gray fox infected with the disease.

Victims include Prestonsburg police officers Mike Meade and Greg Hall, Fireman Mike Moore, and Kevin Stone, 15, a fire department volunteer. Also taking treatment for rabies are Mrs. Devona Nickles, of East Point, and her three-year-old daughter, Gladys.

The incident began after Indian Hills residents reported seeing the fox near the apartment complex. Police officers were dispatched to the scene. They located the animal and called street department workers who caught it and took it to fire station 1 at city hall.

With the fox in captivity, firemen contacted Veterinarian Rudolph Ousley, who told them that, because of the fox's behavior, it was probably rabid. He asked them to call state wildlife officials for instructions on how to deal with the fox.

In the meantime, Mrs. Nickles, who fire officials said worked for a veterinarian, was given the animal. She took it to Ousley, who declined to examine it because of the possibility of rabies. A state Fish and Wildlife officer was dispatched to the Nickles residence, where the animal was destroyed. Test results showed the fox to be infected with rabies.

Everyone who had physical contact with the fox is receiving treatment.

Pupil Test Results Chart Progress, Pose Questions

When it comes to education, many school administrators and parents now appear to have more statistics than they know what to do with. With computer printouts spewing out data every summer as the result of mandatory testing in all grades, educators are increasingly asking what the figures mean and which numbers matter most.

The number that has most seized the public imagination in past years—the ranking of each school district in the state—is one that the Department of Education no longer provides. Indeed, in response to criticism that the annual ranking by district led only to invidious comparisons, the General Assembly this year proscribed the practice.

"It is not true that 'the farther they go, the behinder they get.' Test scores show that students do better the longer they are in this school system."
—Asst. Supt. Ron Hager

Instead, the state's 180 districts are now ranked only in 10 groups, or deciles, each containing 18 districts. Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald said at a news conference last week that she favored ranking each district individually and noted that the police of reporting district standings only by deciles was a decision of the legislature, not of her department. "I have always been a proponent of releasing as much information to the public as possible," she said.

In any event, the Lexington Herald-Leader tabulated the test results, yielding a district-by-district ranking. For the record, Floyd came in 178th, down from 174th last year. By this reckoning, only Harlan county schools (179th) and Menifee county (180th) did worse.

But that figure may not be as significant as the finding that Floyd students as a whole performed better than 52.8 percent of all the students nationwide who took the test. Last year, they did better than only 47.7 per-

Getting As Much As We Pay For?...

One question raised by the new educational statistics is to what extent school administrators and teachers can be fairly held responsible for a district's poor test results. In order to correct the notion that the schools alone are accountable, the annual report includes not only test results but a variety of factors that are thought to have a bearing on the quality of education Kentucky students are receiving.

These include the amount of money spent per pupil, pupil-teacher ratio, the cost of instruction, dropout rate, percent of poor children in the district, and the amount spent on education in relation to a district's assessed property values—figures designed to measure not only a district's ability, but its willingness, to pay for the education of its students.

When socio-economic indicators are taken into account, said Asst. Supt. Ron Hager, it becomes clear that progress in school depends on factors that, to some extent, are not in the hands of school administrators or teachers.

Floyd, for example is in the lowest decile on money spent per pupil, pupil-teacher ratio, cost per pupil for instruction, and attendance rate. It is in the second lowest decile on percentage of economically-deprived students and in the amount of community support for the schools based on the community's ability to pay (as measured by assessed property value).

By just seeing that their children get to school, parents could significantly boost funding for instruction, which is based on attendance, Hager noted. If the average daily attendance of Floyd students (91.4 percent) could be brought up to the state average (around 94 percent), this district would receive an additional $500,000 annually in state revenues for teachers, he estimated.

cent of students nationwide. On this scale, 50 represents the national average.

This was the finding emphasized by Supt. McDonald: that Kentucky students again made gains this year when compared with their counterparts around the nation. This appears to be as true, moreover, of Kentucky's poorer-scoring eastern counties as it is of the rest of the state.

"The pupils you push through become your dropouts. Nothing is more embarrassing than (to be) an eighth-grader who can't read."

Could it be true that even the lowest-scoring Kentucky counties are more proficient than the national average? Many are skeptical, but McDonald said it only shows that educational improvements mandated in recent years by the General Assembly are beginning to have an effect.

But perhaps the most useful set of figures, says Ron Hager, assistant superintendent for instruction for Floyd schools, is one that is not evident if one looks at only the results of a single year. To see how well a school district is doing in educating its students, he said last week, one needs to look at how a given grade performs from one year to the next. "I'm interested in looking at trends," he said.

By the Sept. 3 school board meeting, Hager said, he hopes to have compiled Floyd statistics for the past five years. He thinks they will show that, as it passes through Floyd schools, a given class does progressively better in relation to the national average as measured by standardized tests.

"It is not true that, as the old saying has it, 'the farther they go, the behinder they get.' Test scores show that students do better the longer they are in this school system," he said.

One thing that needs to be kept in mind by those wishing to make sense of the annual test scores, is that the tests administered to all students each April

Martin High School Ready For Nostalgic Homecoming

When a local radio station played "Loyal and True," with a voice-over by Denzil "Hoss" Halbert urging folks to "come home to Martin," it was too much for one alumna.

"I cried. It sent cold shivers up and down my spine," said Delores Flanery Dings, class of '56. "The kids looked at me as if I was crazy but I just cried. I really did. There are a lot of memories up there."

"Up there" is Martin High School, an institution that has not existed for 14 years but which, organizers of this weekend's gala homecoming are betting, lives on in the hearts of those who trod its hallways, learned from its teachers, and cheered for its basketball team during the 48 years it occupied the red brick building that now houses Martin Elementary School.

Perhaps it is because its death was such a harrowing struggle that the family it left behind remembers the old high school with such affection. Some 315 have already registered from distant parts and, if only a few dozen locals have yet signed up, it is only because "they know they can just walk in and register at the door," one organizer said.

Founded in 1924—its first class graduated two years later—Martin High School farewelled its last class in 1972, the result of a fiercely-contested consolidation in which Martin, Wayland, Garrett and Maytown high schools became Allen Central High School at Eastern.

Highlands Festival Is Nigh

For three days in September, the hills surrounding Prestonsburg will be alive with the sound of music, dancing and laughter.

Hundreds of people are expected here to view the displays of Appalachian arts and crafts, while being entertained by the best of traditional mountain musicians. This rich, cultural event is the 21st renewal of the Kentucky Highland Folk Festival, to be held at Jenny Wiley State Park amphitheatre September 5, 6, and 7.

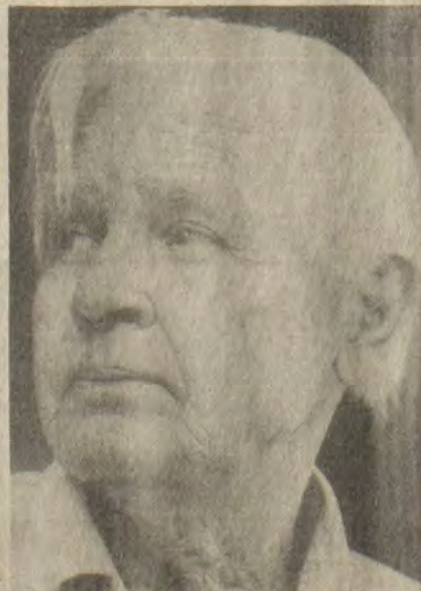

Festival director Kathryn Frazier is enthusiastic about the talent lined up this year, and feels that this should be one of the best festivals, ever.

Evening programs will begin at 6 p.m. both Friday and Saturday, and at 5 p.m., Sunday.

The festival will open Friday with a performance by the "Live Longer and Like It Band" of Winchester.

For the first time in several years, literature workshops will be presented as part of the festivities. To be held in U.S. SEN. MITCH McCONNELL addressed a packed district courtroom here Friday. It was one of the last stops for the Louisville Republican on a series of "town forums" that has taken him to all counties in the state.

Wide Range Marks McConnel Forum

A number of issues of interest to area residents came up for discussion Friday at a public forum held by U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell. Following a brief address by the Louisville Republican, the standing-room-only crowd in the district courtroom here fired away with questions ranging from drug enforcement and tax evasion to telephone deregulation and satellite channel scrambling.

Foremost in the minds of many was the new federal tax bill, which McConnell explained in detail. The new code replaces one which had been largely untouched for 50 years, he said, and is designed to insure that everybody pays a fair share. A positive effect of the code revision is that everyone will pay taxes, as loopholes exempting some multi-billion dollar corporations have been eliminated, he said.

Those earning less than $25,000 a year will probably pay less in taxes under the new code, while those making more than $25,000 and most corporations will generally pay more, he said.

McConnell claimed success in opening up South Korean markets to Kentucky tobacco products, predicted that Japan and Korea could become significant markets for coal, urged a limit on the cost of transporting coal by rail, and said that some stripmine regulations—especially that requiring that stripmined land be returned to approximate original contour—could be relaxed.

McConnell also suggested expanding programs for drug education.

His hour-long appearances at Prestonsburg on Friday and in Paintsville on Monday were among the last in a series of "town forums" the senator conducted in every county of the state.

Donate Blood

Employees of Highlands Regional Medical Center donated 159 pints of blood to the Central Kentucky Blood Center in 1985. Since 1976 HRMC employees have donated 977 pints of blood to the CKBC.

According to HRMC Lab Director, Don Hicks, Highlands Regional used almost 800 pints of blood last year for patient care.

Hicks commented, "Blood donation should be more of a community effort. People in this area should be able to give as much blood to the blood center as is used."

Because of reduced funds the blood center has to cut down the number of blood drives. The next HRMC drive is scheduled for December.

If you wish to donate blood or would like more information about blood donation and the CKBC, stop by their office in the Municipal Building on North Lake Drive in Prestonsburg. Blood donation hours are Tuesday 11:00 a.m.-7:00 p.m., Thursday and Friday 10:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m.

Owners Protest Foreclosure Sale

Although the property did not pass from the family, Sterling and Olga Hamilton filed an objection in Floyd Circuit Court this week to the foreclosure sale last week of a Mud Creek property they owned.

In the court-ordered sale, Scotty Hamilton tendered a $55,000 bid on his parents' property. It was the highest bid for the tract, which had been appraised at $60,000.

The sale, which was ordered to help satisfy a $390,675 debt, followed an unsuccessful attempt by the Hamiltons to block it, the Teaberry coal operator arguing that the sale should be held up at least until he received a full reckoning from the bank. Moreover, no sale of his land should be conducted by Master Commissioner Marshall Davidson, who has conspired with the bank to seize his property unlawfully, Hamilton contended.

Pike Circuit Judge Charles Lowe—who was named special judge in the case after Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, a former business partner of Hamilton's, disqualified himself—declined to halt the sale, however.

Sale of the property stems from a 1983 court judgment which found the Hamiltons in default on a $606,783 Bank Josephine loan. During a 1984 sale, Davidson deliberately overstated the debt to be satisfied so that no one but the bank would bid on the property, the Hamiltons have charged.

In a suit filed earlier this year in U.S. District Court, the Hamiltons accuse Davidson, the Bank Josephine, bank attorney William G. Francis, and their own former attorney, Robert E. Owens, of Cincinnati, of violating their civil rights and federal banking laws, of fraud, embezzlement, obstruction of justice, and legal malpractice. In an Aug. 8, 1984 order, Judge Conley held that Davidson should be taken off their case, they note.

In addition to the alleged conspiracy to seize their property unlawfully, the Bank Josephine has refused to give a full reckoning of their account despite many requests to do so, the Hamiltons claim. They have reason to believe, they say, that the bank has foreclosed on various properties of theirs and not credited their account with monies realized by the sales.

While they have been forced into bankruptcy, payments amounting to $347,000 have been made to the bank on their behalf but never credited to their account, the Hamiltons charge.

The initial default judgment awarded the bank should be overturned because of Judge Conley's earlier business relationship with him, Hamilton argues. Moreover, he adds, he intends to file suit against the Bank Josephine as soon as possible for alleged violations of federal racketeering laws. For these reasons, he argues, Thursday's scheduled sale should be put off.

Motion for a restraining order to that effect has been filed on the Hamiltons' behalf by attorneys G. Ray Motsinger, of Winston-Salem, N.C., and Robert Melvin, of Harlan.

Travel on Increase

Ninety-five million Americans will be vacationing by motor vehicle between Memorial Day and Labor Day, AAA reports.

This represents an increase of eight percent compared to the 1985 summer travel season.

All areas of the country can expect a tourism increase, with the Southeast and the West expected to attract more travelers than usual. Expo '86 in Vancouver, British Columbia and Liberty Weekend '86, the centennial celebration of the Statue of Liberty in New York, are also expected to draw large crowds.

Americans vacationing by some other method of transportation, other than motor vehicle, are staying closer to home this year, perhaps as a result of the recent terrorism threats.

Because of the low airline fares, AAA travel agency reports that many people are flying to their destinations and planning trips that involve flying.

The popular vacation spots that involve air travel are Hawaii, the Bahamas and the Caribbean.

Four-fifths of the employed women maintaining families in 1985 worked at full-time jobs. Half of the women maintaining families had earnings which comprised three-fourths or more of family income, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

In 1970, there were about 6.7 million children in one-parent families; by 1985 almost 13 million children were in such families. Most of these children are being raised by their mothers, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Katie Hatfield, student at Lawrence County High School, has been selected as a finalist in the Miss America Co-Ed Pageant.

During the past school term, she received the United States National Award in math, received recognition by Lawrence Co. High School for Academic Achievement and was named an Academic All-American by the United States Achievement Academy.

She is the daughter of Curtis and Joan Hammonds Hatfield, of Ulysses, formerly of Prestonsburg, and is the granddaughter of the late Jordan and Martha Hatfield and the late Charley and Katie Hammonds, of Watergap.

REBEKAHS MEET

The regular meeting of Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 was held Aug. 19, in the I.O.O.F. Hall, with the Noble Grand, Mrs. Sue Moore, presiding.

The annual assembly meeting will be held in Lexington, Oct. 12-15, at the Campbell House Inn. Cards were signed for those on the sick list, and the Noble Grand reminded members of the district meeting to be held Sept. 20, at Queen Esther Rebekah Lodge, in Pikeville, with dinner at 6 p.m. New drapes for the main hall and dining room have been purchased by the Odd Fellows Lodge of Prestonsburg. Mrs. Moore welcomed back a member, Mrs. Maman Leslie, who had been living in Tennessee for the past year. All members were happy to have her with them again.

In attendance for this meeting were Mesdames Sue Moore, Virginia Goble, Mary Zemo, Paulena Owens, Doris Miller, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Emma Lou Horn, Beverly Hackworth, Maman Leslie, Mollie Hyden and Misses Kelly Sue Moore and Cindy Lynn Hackworth.

The next regular meeting will be Sept. 2, at 7:30 p.m.

American Legion Meet Slated in Cincinnati

The American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Kentucky, will join with all other state departments in Cincinnati, Ohio for the 66th National Convention, August 30 through September 4. It has been some time since a national convention of the American Legion and its Auxiliary has been held so close to Kentucky. The meetings will be held at The Omni Netherlands Plaza, The Hyatt Regency and The Cincinnati Convention Center. Kentucky will send 12 delegates, 11 alternates, 3 junior members and 2 pages in addition to approximately 32 other members as of this date. Any member wishing to attend any or all sessions who was not elected as a delegate or alternate, must register with Kentucky Department Adjutant, Ken Hart at P.O. Box 2123, Louisville, Ky. 40201. There is a registration fee and you must have a badge to gain admittance. It is hoped many more Kentucky members will be able to attend since Cincinnati is not far from any town in Kentucky.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET

The first meeting of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club for 1986-87 is scheduled Thursday, September 4, at 7:30 p.m., at the Floyd County Library. Further information will follow.

WATERBEDS ARE RELAXING!
"I've never slept better! My waterbed is so soothing and relaxing that I don't have any difficulty in going right to sleep without tossing around or waking up in the middle of the night like I used to! I just love it!"
Linda Murphy
Charleston, W. Va.

WATERBEDS ARE FUNTASTIC!
"The kids loved our waterbed so much, I was concerned that the wear & tear would be too much for it. That was 5 years ago and now I know it's as durable as it is comfortable, so we're getting the kids one of their own."
Judy Houseal
Louisia, Ky.

WATERBEDS ARE THERAPEUTIC
"Many patients who suffered from bad backs, arthritis and circulation problems have told me how much better they feel since they've been sleeping on a waterbed. Total support, lack of pressure points and soothing, healing warmth are genuine therapeutic benefits of a waterbed."

traffic-flow change, said that the Arnold Avenue opening off U.S. 23 may also need to be widened.

In response to a question about the status of council member Bobby Ranier, the city administrator was instructed to write Ranier and find out his intentions. The council member is reported to have moved to Florida and has not attended a council meeting since June 18.

Saturday was designated "Blackcat Day" in honor of the Prestonsburg High School football squad, scheduled to play that day in the Governor's Bowl.

That decision, which saw Martin residents go to court to preserve their school and the same court issue injunctions against the school's more militant supporters, left bitter feelings that some say have made it hard to forge a common bond at Allen Central.

"There were a lot of hard feelings. Fifty percent of the student body at Allen Central came from Martin. We felt they were saving Maytown, Garrett and Wayland at our expense," recalled Halbert, who graduated from Martin in 1940 and returned to carve out a 25-year career as coach there. "It's still hard to forget."

Another graduate theorized that subsequent problems of vandalism by students at the new high school were due at least in part to their parents' hostilities. "They really tried to tear the building down."

But it is not bitterness that is luring back alumni this weekend from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and other places, Halbert insists. "There is a lot of pride, a lot of camaraderie," he said.

And some of them will tell you the pride they feel finds its focus in teachers and coaches like Halbert himself, who steered the Purple Flash to a berth at the state championship in 1965—they lost to Breckenridge County, that year's champions—and won a place in the hearts of generations of students.

Or the late J. W. Salisbury, a long-time principal whose appearance could cast a timid hush over rowdy students but who is also remembered as "the best friend a student could ever have."

Or Sherrill Frazier, coach and teacher for 43 years, who only recently died. One former student found it significant that "he was never addressed as anything but 'Mr. Frazier.'"

Another eulogized him as "the best-loved teacher" in the school's history.

These were teachers "you could respect, admire, want to be like," said Mrs. Dingus, adding, "That's missing today."

The "Loyal and True" that music teacher Roger Voelker recorded on 45s with the school's last graduating band may never have made it to the top of the charts, but those disks are today "worth their weight in gold," said Mrs. Dingus. And license plates bearing the familiar lightning bolt of the Purple Flash are now collector's items. "Mine hangs on my wall," she said. "I wouldn't risk putting it on my car for anything."

If it's hard to find the same sense of loyalty among today's students, the size of the modern school has much to do with it, some speculate. Martin High had only 325 students when it closed. When student enrollment was smaller, said Mrs. Dingus, "you didn't just learn from books. If we had problems, we went to the teachers and they would listen. I know there are still good ones—don't get me wrong—but teachers are too busy for that today."

The problem today is that "it's too specialized any more. It's hard for principals and teachers to have the common touch," said Halbert, adding, "There's no security in numbers."

So the glitter balls are hanging in the old gym, the place is festooned with purple and gold streamers, and the Glenn Miller and Tommy Dorsey records are ready to spin. And, if Delores Flanery Dingus' enthusiasm is any indication, the Home of the Purple Flash will be awash this weekend in a tide of nostalgia. "I'm getting so hyper," she confessed. "I can't hardly live."

September Events

Both the Highlands Regional Folk Festival and the Jenny Wiley Open golf tournament will add excitement to September at Jenny Wiley State Park.

The Folk Festival, in its 21st renewal, will be held the weekend of September 5-7. It will be dedicated to the crafts, music and stories of eastern Kentucky.

Anyone willing to part with the $60 entry fee may participate in the golf tournament. Deadline for entry is September 11, and play will be the 13th and 14th.

For information on either event, call the park at (606) 886-2711.

Bits and Pieces

BREMENTOWN MUSICIANS

All I can say about the early part of the City Council meeting, here, Monday night is—

Dogs got to bark,
Mules got to bray,
Cats got to meow,
Horses do neigh—
Can't help lovin' that (dog, cat, horse, mule, etc.) of mine.

'MISS' EDITH—WE OWE YOU

I hear that my good friend, Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James, has been feeling poorly. She has always been 'Miss' Edith to me and my children and many, many others to whom she taught the intricacies of the keyboard.

When I was in grade and high school, at Old Christmas time, she and her husband, Tom, would take a group of us to someone's house in the country where we sang Plain Song chants, danced the old dances, and just generally had a wonderful time. This was before she and her Plain Song Chanters carried their songs over the country. It was while in college that I picked up the St. Louis Post-Dispatch one morning to see a whole page—front of the entertainment section, no less—devoted to 'Miss' Edith and the Plain Song Chanters. Talk about basking in reflected glory!

Later, she devoted her not inconsiderable energies to founding, and, until recently, directing the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival, now in its 21st year.

'Miss' Edith has done more to preserve the true Appalachian heritage than many who are currently in the public eye. When you enjoy the festival next weekend—September 5, 6, 7, that is—remember whose time and talent gave it being.

FAREWELL TO SUMMER

The lush look of summer is yet with us, but the nip of fall is definitely in the air, and although I have complained a bit through this unusually hot, dry season, still I cannot look forward to summer's end. Autumn is, to me, the bravest season, flirting in all its glorious raiment with the bite of winter. It is also, I think, the saddest time for soon the bare bones of winter are upon the earth.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from The Floyd County Times, 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 years ago.)

Ten Years Ago

(August 25, 1976)

Gerald McBrayer, 38, Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne shoe store owner, was stabbed to death by neighbors Monday night outside their apartments in the Highlands Heights housing complex in the Goble-Roberts Addition here, and his wife, GERAL DEAN, was severely stabbed in her arm and shoulder. An investigation of the death last Wednesday afternoon of Bobby Glenn Paige, 18, of McDowell, while swimming in Lake Erie, near Ashtabula, O., is being made. Because of the probe the body was not released for return to this county till Monday morning. Use of a renal dialysis unit was initiated Tuesday at Highlands Regional Medical Center under direction of Dr. James Cox, and Dr. William Sutherland. The original Prestonsburg Community College building will be renovated this fall to conform in appearance with that of the newer Pike Auditorium and Martin Student Center structures. The Prestonsburg Blackcats will open their 1976 football season Friday night on the road at Johns Creek. Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and sons, Deputy Sheriffs Doug and Randall Lewis confiscated 121 half-pints of whiskey, 24 half-pints of gin, 711 cans of beer and 39 bottles of beer in a raid last Wednesday at Stumbo Hollow, near Drift. The Wheelwright Trojans opened their 1976 football season last Friday night with an impressive win over the Virgie Eagles, 42 to 28. Tonight (Wednesday) through Friday at both the Prestonsburg and Almar Drive-in Theatres: "Grizzly" and "Open Season." The annual Floyd County Fair will begin at Archer Park, Sept. 15, it was announced this week by the Fair Board. Married: Miss Beverly Cohen of Greenville, and Mr. Gorman Bradley, Jr., of Drift, July 18 at the Temple Adath Israel, Lexington. There died: Mrs. Mary Belle Frasure Hall, 77, of Toler Creek, last Sunday at Mercy Memorial Hospital, Urbanna, O.; John L. (Johnny) Ellis, 50, of Prestonsburg, Sunday at an Abingdon, Va., hospital; Willie D. Lawson, 62, of Sanford, Fla., formerly of Drift, Monday in Sanford; Jim Reynolds, 76, of Printer, August 20 at Jenny Stewart Hospital, in Hopkinsville; David G. (Red) Bickford, of Auxier, August 9 at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Theodore Burchett, 83, of East Point, last Thursday.

Twenty Years Ago

(August 25, 1966)

The United States Shoe Corporation has committed itself to location of a major plant in the vicinity of Prestonsburg, if the city meets certain conditions. A community-size swimming pool is scheduled for Jenny Wiley State Park, with construction contracts expected to be let early this fall. Mrs. Pauline Powers Davis, 19, of Melvin, and James Roger Paige, 19, of Wayland, were killed on their way to Sunday School last Sunday morning when their auto left KY 1086, the Wayland-Minnie road, and plunged down the mountainside. The city of Allen was under legal attack this week on two fronts—one, to halt its purchase of the Allen Water Company from its private owner; the other, to forestall annexation of the New Allen section and its environs. When classwork begins next Wednesday with the beginning of its third year of work, the Prestonsburg Community College will have a total registration in excess of 700. Married: Miss Rita Gay Music, and Mr. Larry E. Monday, August 9 at Findlay, Ohio. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. John Forrest Brown, a son, Thomas Lee, August 22 at the Prestonsburg General Hospital. There died: Mrs. Nancy Dingus Webb, 81, of the Middle Creek Road, Saturday, at the Prestonsburg General Hospital.

Thirty Years Ago

(August 23, 1956)

The city of Prestonsburg will open contractors' bids Sept. 6 on its proposed new water treatment plant, new reservoir and approximately 14,000 feet of water mains, plus smaller connection piping and fittings. Martin has entered into competition areas with other towns representing a 16-county for the distinction of being the most civic-minded community. Denzil Halbert, Martin mayor, said last week. A long City Council session of about two hours Monday evening failed to produce the requested ordinance forbidding the wearing of shorts by women and by girls 10 years of age or over on the streets and in public places of Prestonsburg. J.R. (Red) Weaver, manager of Dewey Reservoir, announced this week that he has resigned his post at Dewey Lake to enter the construction phase of operations of the U.S. Corps of Engineers. As the county's ten largest schools prepared this week for next Monday's opening of their high school and grade departments a definite shortage of teachers beset principals of these schools and the office of the county superintendent of schools. While he and his father sat at a man-station inside a truck mine at Big Branch at Little Mud after the end of their day's work last Wednesday, 29-year old Eric Frasure, Jr., of Craynor, was fatally crushed by a stone which fell from the mine roof. Married: Miss Barbara Ann Clark, and Mr. Joe Arthur Burchett, August 12 at the Methodist Church here. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fox Homes, of Louisville, a son, Gordon Fox III, August 17 in Louisville; to Mr. and Mrs. Adrian N. Collins, a son, James Adrian, at Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington. There died: R. M. (Ike) Slater, of Garrett, last Wednesday at McDowell Memorial Hospital; William Waddle, 83, of Eastern, Wednesday of last week at his home.

Forty Years Ago

(August 22, 1946)

The decomposed body of a man found in Right Beaver Creek at Martin last Friday afternoon by two boys was identified as that of Allen Osborne, a 42-year old West Prestonsburg man, and the discovery that he had been murdered set in motion an investigation by which authorities hope to learn the slayer's identity. William Bayes, 41-year old miner, died Sunday at the Golden Rule hospital, Paintsville, of a bullet wound received Saturday evening at his home at West Prestonsburg. A. B. Meade and John Allen, both of Prestonsburg, have applied for building material priorities in preparation for the construction on the site formerly occupied by the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here of a two-story building, it was said this week. A week-long strike at the Dewey dam of employees of the Ryan Construction Company ended Wednesday with the contractors and the striking employees reaching a settlement on the basis of a petition to the Wage Adjustment Board for pay increases averaging 10 cents an hour. McKinley Sparks, of the Sparks Brothers Bus Company, said Wednesday that there are no new developments in the week-old tie-up of the company's buses. State and county officers Tuesday joined in a search for the person who stole from the apartment at East Point of Ford Hall, former Kentucky highway patrol captain, between $4,000 and $5,000 Tuesday morning. Married: Miss Dorothy Hughes, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Billy Fannin, of West Prestonsburg, Saturday. There died: Vernon Hall, 19, at the home of his parents, near Topmost, August 8; Felix Allen, 73 at his home at Langley, Monday; Thomas E. Moran, 62, of Auxier, at the Good Samaritan hospital, Cincinnati, Monday; Mrs. Mary Rogers, 42 at her home at Galveston, Friday.

Fifty Years Ago

(August 21, 1936)

The Wells-Elkhorn Company was sold by Larry Laviers, special commissioner, on order of the U. S. District Court, here Saturday to J. S. Mandt, agent for J. S. Mevey, for $75,000. Big Sandy's finest garage, that of the Carter Motor Sales here, was destroyed by a terrific blast and by subsequent fire at 2 o'clock Thursday morning. Repair of the Floyd county courthouse began this week, all plans for remodeling the structure damaged by fire several months ago have been discarded as inexpedient by the fiscal court. Andy Engle, 60 years old, died Sunday night at his home near Lem when he was struck on the head with a shotgun barrel. Hobart Wilson, 44, of Wayland, was instantly killed Monday afternoon by a slatefall in the mines of the Elkhorn Coal Corporation at Wayland. Only five murder cases are docketed for trial at the September term of the Floyd circuit court, but work of the grand jury is expected to supply a number of murder indictments on which trials will be held during the session. Upon the resignation Tuesday night of Harold Bailey from the Floyd County Board of Education, the board appointed John Campbell, of Garrett, as his replacement. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fitzpatrick, of Miami, formerly of Prestonsburg, a daughter, Barbara Layne Fitzpatrick, July 29. There died: Ebb Inman, 20, at his home at Garrett, Friday night.

PERCENTAGE OF FLOYD STUDENTS MASTERING THE "ESSENTIAL SKILLS"

The following chart shows what percentage of Floyd students are mastering the skills deemed essential for each grade by the State Department of Education in reading, writing, math, spelling and library skills. State averages are given in parentheses.

draw on two different types of items and yield two different sets of figures.

Items from one of the tests, the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills (CTBS) are designed to give a basis for comparing Kentucky students with a national norm. This is the test that purports to show all Kentucky school districts now performing better than the national average. It is also the test used in recent years to compare the state's school districts to one another.

But Hager insists the CTBS is better used—and provides a better index of how well this school district is performing—to show whether a group tested in a particular grade one year does better or worse in subsequent years.

To that end, school psychometrist Larry Jervis has prepared a chart comparing results of students tested in 1985 with the same students' 1986 scores. While three groups declined in relation to the national norm, the 10 other grades all improved in the second year. Longitudinal studies would demonstrate that, in general, individual students or groups of students fare better the longer they are in Floyd schools, Hager believes.

The fact that Floyd schools still rank low by comparison with other Kentucky school districts, Hager argues, should not be allowed to mask the fact that change is evident here as a result of remedial programs and smaller class sizes. "It may not look good in terms of a district's public image," he said, "but it does not mean that progress isn't being achieved."

Besides the CTBS, a different set of figures is provided by the Kentucky Essential Skills Test (KEST), administered last April for the second consecutive year. The KEST stems from legislative mandates to specify the skills that Kentucky students are expected to master in each grade and to design a test to measure how well that goal is being met.

The KEST scores show that higher percentages of Kentucky students mastered reading and mathematics than last year. However, a smaller percentage of high school students demonstrated mastery in these areas than last year.

As far as Floyd schools are concerned, the test showed that, from the second grade on, the percentage of students mastering the essential skills is not nearly as high in this county as across the state. Moreover, the gap between Floyd and state averages only gets wider until students reach the 11th grade, when—perhaps as a result of the number of students dropping out of school here—it narrows somewhat. (See Table.)

Hager theorizes that the relatively poor showing of second graders may result from the premature promotion of first-grade pupils to the second grade. "Too often, students are being promoted to grade two without mastering the necessary skills," he said.

"Too often, students are promoted to grade 2 without mastering the necessary skills. If promotion criteria are strictly adhered to, we should expect to see more students retained at the primary levels."

That problem is addressed by a recent change in board policy, which instructs first-grade teachers on the criteria they are to use in promoting students. One yardstick is that pupils will have mastered at least 80 percent of the math and reading skills required for their grade.

Strict adherence to that policy would mean significantly higher retention rates in first grade, but it would also help forestall a situation that is now only too common—the promotion of students to upper grades who do not have the ability to read their textbooks—Hager argues.

Insisting that pupils in the lower grades be held back until they master the required skills could also do much to reduce the district's high dropout rate, Hager said. "The pupils you push through become your dropouts," he said. "Nothing is more embarrassing than an eighth-grader who can't read."

The scores of children tested in April are now in the hands of classroom teachers. They yield an individual profile—showing the child's specific strengths and weaknesses—as a guide for the teacher. Parents are invited to make an appointment with the teacher, Hager said, to go over their children's results.

the central business district? "Ask any downtown merchant. Nine out of 10 of them will say the banks' closing on Saturday hurt their business."

"We're not asking for full banking facilities (on Saturday). But if they would just open a teller window, a man could bring his family in, get his check cashed, and spend some time and money in town."

That does not appear likely (see accompanying story). And in any case it does not get to the heart of the matter, according to Betty Davis, who told the Times this week that later hours are the key to increasing downtown business. For people who work, she said, it would be more convenient if the stores opened at 10:30 or 11 a.m. and stayed open until 9 p.m.

Francis agrees but says he has so far been unsuccessful in trying to convince his fellow merchants of the wisdom of later hours. Moreover, there are other things that retailers could do—from holding sidewalk sales to organizing festivals—to ensure that "people have a good time when they come to town," he acknowledged.

But the immediate need, he said, is to scotch rumors that the city is moribund. "We're still in pretty good shape," he said.

P'burg Man Shot In Domestic Spat

A Prestonsburg man was shot early Saturday morning in an apparent domestic dispute. Lucian Lafferty, 38, was struck once in the stomach with a .38 caliber bullet allegedly fired by his wife, Carolyn Lafferty, 31. The couple lives on Lafferty Lane, here.

The shooting occurred around 2:45 a.m. at Bull Creek. Lafferty was rushed to Highlands Regional Medical Center, where his condition is reported as satisfactory.

Mrs. Lafferty was still lodged in the Floyd county jail Tuesday, when preliminary hearing was scheduled. Bail was set Monday at $10,000 and an attorney for Mrs. Lafferty was appointed by the court.

In Memoriam

You passed through my life briefly, and touched it to the greatest extent. I remember the sparkle of your eyes, the sunlight on your hair, the curve of your smile.

Years cannot erase your memory as my tears cannot release the pain I still feel. You will never be forgotten, and someday I know we'll meet again in God's forever land.

Forever touched and missed by

Span Approaches Continue To Irk Abbott Residents

Chief District Highway Engineer Kirby Ison, Jr. met with Rep. Greg Stumbo, Sen. David Lemaster and a handful of concerned Abbott Creek residents yesterday at the site of the new Cliff Bridge construction, to discuss the controversial approaches to the span.

When the bridge opens in about four months, Ison insists that the approximately 500 feet of visibility motorists at that intersection will have will provide for safe travel there. He said that will eliminate the problems which now exist because of a small mountain of rock left at the site when the approaches were constructed.

The Abbott Creek residents—among them Thomas Hereford, Jr., who has emerged as their spokesman, and Delmas Saunders, longtime resident of that section—weren't notably impressed with Ison's comments, as they reiterated their desire that the obstruction be removed. Sen. Lemaster agreed with the residents that the new angle wouldn't completely eliminate danger there, saying that a small blind spot along 1428 will still be caused by a corner of the rock. Though Lemaster suggested that the corner be removed, Ison countered that such a procedure would cost almost as much as removing the entire rock, which he estimated at $150,000.

Tentative plans call for existing 1427 to be closed in conjunction with the construction of new U.S. 23, which will sever 1427 at the area known as Persimmon Point. If this happens, plans call for a new KY 1427 to be constructed, running roughly parallel to the old road. This would eliminate most of the traffic which now uses the present intersection and, said Ison, ease danger there. Such construction is at best several years away. Rep. Stumbo asked Ison to check into the feasibility of both removing the obstruction and building an underpass at the juncture of 1427 and U.S. 23 to help make both intersections safer.

While Ison agreed that an underpass there would be desirable, he said that it would be difficult to obtain approval from the state highway department. Ison said he would meet with Bob Capito, head of the state highway department, and with Transportation Secretary C. Leslie Dawson to discuss the project.

A public hearing will be held after maps have been completed outlining tentative plans for road construction in the Abbott Creek area. Interested parties may voice concerns and offer more suggestions then, said Ison.

Lemaster said that, while he was pleased that dialog is still open between the principals in the controversy, he is not completely happy with progress made thus far. He said he was disappointed that a letter he sent to Gov. Martha Layne Collins several weeks ago outlining the problem was never acknowledged.

★ Cancer Hopeline

QUESTION: I've been reading the Cancer Information Column for several weeks. You have often listed a toll-free number for the Cancer Information Service. What types of service does the Cancer Information Service provide?

ANSWER: The Cancer Information Service (CIS) provides toll-free access to accurate up-to-date information on the prevention, detection, diagnosis and treatment of cancer. The CIS staff answers questions from cancer patients and their families, health professionals and the general public.

When you call the CIS, a trained information specialist will answer the phone. He or she will answer your questions as completely as possible in plain, understandable language. You can call the Cancer Information Service for:

- Information on cancer causes, prevention, detection, treatment, rehabilitation and continuing care.
- Referrals to cancer-related services in your area such as medical facilities, home health care services, and support groups for patients and their families.
- Pamphlets on almost any cancer topic.

• Or if you just need to talk to someone about a cancer-related problem.

Most questions can be answered directly using the extensive library of cancer information resources. Some more difficult questions require further research and the information specialist will call you back.

The CIS is open Monday through Friday 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. The CIS is a free service and all calls are confidential. You can reach the CIS at 1-800-4-CANCER or you can write to the Cancer Information Service, McDowell Cancer Network, 800 Rose Street, Lexington, Ky. 40536. The Cancer Information Service is a program of the Kentucky Community Cancer Program.

The number of families maintained by women grew almost 90 percent between 1970 and 1985. The growth is attributed largely to more marriages ending in divorce and more women having children without marrying, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Wants Later Hours

I read today of another business closing and was saddened by the announcement. I love downtown Prestonsburg. I was born and raised shopping in downtown Prestonsburg. I would love the opportunity to shop downtown Prestonsburg. My problem is, I work every day during the hours downtown is open. Even when the hours of some stores were changed to 6 p.m., I could not get to town in time to do any amount of shopping there.

When I get off work, I am tired, there is the immediate problem of food, and I have to take a few minutes to get my breath. I have discussed this with many, many other people and they all agree. Nearly everyone works. It is not the businesses downtown which are the problem, although parking isn't much fun. But by the time I feel able to get up and go back out to do any sort of shopping, the stores I grew up using are not open.

Perhaps, if we do not want downtown Prestonsburg going down the tube, someone should look at the possibility of copying our neighborhood shopping centers and opening at 10:30 or 11:00 and staying open til 9:00. I believe you would find that many old customers and friends would be back to see you and use your services. We miss you.

Expresses Concern

I am an elderly widow who lives in the flooded area of Garrett, and I am very concerned about the fact that the Floyd County School Board plans to build an expensive consolidated elementary school back on the same old spot.

I noticed from reading last week's Times that they plan to put a fill first and then build on top of it. People of Garrett, do you realize what this will do to us in the flood zone? Why are you sitting back and letting the people of Wayland fight the battle for all of us? We stand to lose more than they do.

Let's join forces and see that this school is built for all the little children in a safe and flood-free location, wherever that may be.

H&R Block Tax Course Could Be Ticket To Extra Income

Thousands of people are finding that learning income tax preparation is the perfect way to supplement their incomes.

Many people use the tax preparation skills they learn in H&R Block's Income Tax Course to add to their incomes. H&R Block is now offering its basic income tax course starting September 2. Morning, afternoon and evening classes are available. No prerequisites are required to enroll.

During the 13-week course, students will study various phases of income tax preparation and receive actual experience in preparing individual returns. Experienced Block instructors will teach tax law, theory and application, as practiced in Block offices nation-wide. There is a classroom discussion on each tax subject and many practice problems. Courses are programmed to teach students increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses. Students will find the course both interesting and challenging.

Because tax preparation is needed during the months of January through April, you can put your skills to use immediately during the winter months and may be able to make money for that summer vacation.

Qualified course graduates may be offered job interviews for positions with Block. Many accept employment with Block because of the flexible hours available. However, Block is under no obligation to offer employment, nor are graduates under any obligation to accept employment with H&R Block.

One low course fee includes all textbooks, supplies and tax forms necessary for completion of the course. Certificates and 7.5 continuing education units will be awarded upon successful completion of the course. Registration forms and a brochure for the income tax course may be obtained by contacting the H&R Block office at 8B Richmond Plaza, Prestonsburg, Ky., 886-3685. Save money on your tuition by asking about the early bird special price. (Advertisement, 11.)

BLASTING SCHEDULE

L & B Mining, P.O. Box 70, Banner, Ky. 41602, shall conduct blasting operations on its 4.10 acre deep mining permit, application number 836-5101. Said operation is located approximately 0.7 miles south of State Route 1929 junction with Hall Fork Road. Latitude is 37° 26' 26".
Longitude is 82° 43' 38". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Barry Stumbo.

Blasting hours will be daily Monday through Saturday from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., and 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. Any major change in the hours will be published in the local newspaper. No blasting will be done before sunrise or after sunset unless an emergency exists.
Unscheduled blasting may occur in emergency situations where lightning, rain, other atmospheric condition or the safety of the operator or public requires unscheduled detonation. Control of the blasting area will be maintained by blocking access roads to the blasting area ten (10) minutes prior to the blast.
Post detonation access to the blasting will be allowed only after an inspection and determination that no hazards exist.

Warning devices will be air blast horns and/or sirens audible over a distance of one half mile. Three long blasts of the air horn/siren will be used as a preliminary warning. After personnel have been cleared from the area and just prior to detonation of explosives, one additional long blast will be sounded. Personnel are to remain in "clear" areas until areas are checked for fired or burning holes. After a satisfactory check, an all clear signal will be given by sounding a series of short blasts on the air horn/siren.

The preceding notice is published pursuant to CRF 715.19, Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Provisions and KRS 350.220 and the regulations relating thereto. Kentucky Permit

Tribute To A Friend

Melvina "Tiny" S. Thomson, of McDowell, recently retired from her nursing career of 37 years. A friend pays tribute to her in writing this poem:

LINES TO A VERY GOOD FRIEND
This poem's for a friend I've known many years;

We both had some bad times and good times, yes, even some tears.

But through all this time she's been a true pal,

A 14-carat kind of a gal.

From the State of Iowa and back to Kentucky,

Those people she's known are really quite lucky;

To know our friend, Tiny, she's really quite neat;

They won't stay a stranger long when
Tiny they meet.

Our friendship has lasted 20 years since then

And as a friend she's really a "ten"

Wherever her help is needed she tries
To help the hurt—to sympathize.

In so many ways—she shows her caring
So often you know it's God's love she's sharing.

Some of wonder—long past our birth
What good are we doing on this "ole earth."

Tiny graduated as a nurse in 49,
With all her talents she's combined

To make this world a much better place
To help all with love and a smile on her face.

To all who have known her—and all she will know—

This lady gives nursing a very warm glow.

To those who follow the path that she leads,

Will have a rough time to mimic her deeds.

Now she's retiring, let's wish her the best of all the Blessings and all the rest.

We also pray that she may stay healthy
To make up the years she didn't get wealthy.

For money's not always the best we can get;

It's friendship like Tiny's that's hard to forget.

it.

Opening Night At N.Y. Philharmonic

KET viewers get the best seat in the house when "New York Philharmonic Opening Night With Zubin Mehta & Itzhak Perlman" airs Thursday,
September 18, at 8:00 p.m.

Virtuoso violinist Itzhak Perlman is the guest soloist in this performance from Avery Fisher Hall, marking the opening of the 1986-87 Philharmonic season and a new season of public television's "Live From Lincoln Center" presentations.

Maestro Mehta conducts Tchaikovsky's
"Symphony No. 5 in E Minor" and Mr. Perlman appears with Mehta and the Philharmonic in three of the most beloved works for solo violin with orchestra—Ravel's "Tzigane," Chausson's "Poeme" and Sarasate's
"Carmen Fantasy."

"Live From Lincoln Center" is produced by Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts in cooperation with WNET/New York. It is part of the "Great Performances" series.

Management Technique
Focus of PCC Course

"Who will survive? Organizations that adopt constancy of purpose for quality, productivity and service—and go about it with intelligence and perseverence—have a chance to survive." So says Dr. W.
Edwards Deming, a world-reknowned statistician who is often credited with Japan's remarkable ability to produce low cost, high quality products. He now works with American manufacturing and service organizations attempting to change the way they do business by adopting Dr. Deming's management principles and statistical methods.

Prestonsburg Community College has joined over 150 community colleges nationwide to provide training in stastical methods and management techniques to industrial firms, service companies, schools, and government agencies who are trying to meet Deming's challenge.

These community colleges are part of the Transformation of American Industry National Community College Training Project. The Project connects people in colleges, companies, and professional organizations who are working to accomplish the training required to implement Deming's methods. The Transformation Project is co-sponsored by American Association of Community and Junior Colleges (AACJC), University of Kentucky Community College System, Prestonsburg, Community College.

SPC is a system of monitoring output of any repeatable process (product or service-producing) that makes prevention of defects possible. SPC users count and measure quality features, make and interpret statistical control charts that indicate when to adjust or change the process, and take action for improvement based on those chart indicators.
They use problem-solving techniques proven effective. Higher quality, lower cost, and eliminating 100% inspection are possible with SPC.

As a commitment to Bluegrass State Skills Corporation and business and industry in Kentucky, Prestonsburg Community College is making a low-budget offering to top and middle management of production and service industries.

Everyone is welcome to an orientation meeting free of charge to see for themselves the value of SPC for their organization. This meeting will take place in the college auditorium at 10 a.m., Tuesday, September 2.

HEALTH NEWS

The health department will be closed
Monday, September 1, for Labor Day.

A nurse from the health department will be at the Methodist Church, in Wayland, Friday, September 12, from 10-2. She will offer T.B. skin tests, urinalyses, blood pressures, anemia screening and immunizations. This clinic is a free service and the public is welcome.

A Pap clinic will be held Thursday,
September 11, from 8:30-11:30 and from 1-2. This clinic is open to women of all ages; however, those women age 45 and over are especially urged to take advantage of this free service since this is the high risk age for cervical cancer.

Miss Hays, Mr. Franklin Wed

Karen Lynn Hays and Christopher Phelps Franklin were united in marriage Saturday, June 7, at 7:30 p.m. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Royce Maka at Central Christian Church, San Antonio, Texas. A reception followed at the Club Girard.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hays, of San Antonio. The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. William Franklin, of Houston, Texas.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Sue Hays Kocurek. Bridesmaids were Blair Franklin, Leslie Fellows and Dara Myers. Flower girl was Shannon Clark.

Best man was David Phelps. Groomsman were Steve Hays, Laine Lindsey, Kenny Cloninger. Ring bearer was David Bieterman. Ushers were Ben Walters and Eldon Rude.

Following a trip to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, the couple are residing in San Antonio.

The groom is the son of Frances Phelps Franklin, formerly of this county, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Phelps, of Van Lear.

Three Years Old

Joshua Damon Mathews celebrated his third birthday with a Masters of the Universe party at his home. He is the son of Shirley and Jack Mathews, Jr. originally from Floyd Knobs, Ind., now of Rt. 23, Prestonsburg.

Those attending were Scott, Stephanie and Jessica Campbell, Nathan and Sonny Dale Hoskins, Beth and Emily Evans.

Hereford's Hangs On

A report last week on the closing of the R. H. Hobbs store incorrectly included the Thomas Hereford store among those that recently shut their doors. While the store is in the process of closing, it is still doing business at this time, manager David Hereford said this week.

Sixty-one percent of women maintaining families in 1985 were in the labor force—that is, working or looking for work—compared with 54 percent in 1975, according to a fact sheet on working women published by Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Passes R.N. Exam

Miss Kim Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Moore, of Printer, was recently notified that she passed the Kentucky State Board Exam to practice as a registered nurse. She is a 1986 graduate of the Prestonsburg Community College Nursing Program.

Mitchell Is Promoted To Grants Manager

Gwinetta Gaye Mitchell, daughter of Golda Mae DeRossett, of Grethel, has been employed by Fulton County Schools in Atlanta, Georgia, where she has been advanced to the position of Grants Manager for Vocational Education for Fulton County Schools, one of the largest school systems in the Southeastern United States with approximately 100,000 students and 5,000 employees. Miss Mitchell's position is a result of Congressman Carl Perkins Act which allows the solicitation of funds from other sources than taxes to be used for educational purposes. Her responsibilities will include public relations work with the Fortune 500 Companies of Atlanta in proposing and implementing grants. The monies will be used in job and career training in the various vocational disciplines taught in Fulton County Schools.

Miss Mitchell is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School, Morehead State University, University of Knoxville, Tenn., where she received her M.A. degree. She is now enrolled in Georgia State University in Atlanta pursuing a doctoral degree.

Home Improvement Loans
For persons on low incomes, the Farmers Home Administration has low-interest loan money available. Eligible homeowners may borrow $7500 or more at one percent interest, to be paid back over a period of 10 to 15 years.
Applicants must have lived in their own home for a year and show they can repay the loan. The money is designed to be spent on removing health and safety hazards—for example, by installing a water, sewage or heating system, adding insulation or storm doors, replacing windows, or repairing floors and roofs.
For information, contact the FmHA office located above the Prestonsburg post office or call 886-9545.

Annual Safety Day Set at Allen Park

Teams of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute will compete in the Annual Safety Day to be held September 11-12 at Stumbo Memorial Park at Allen. Mine rescue and first aid competitions test the skills of teams whose members must be prepared in the event of a mine disaster.
During the contests, problems are presented that could be encountered during an actual mine emergency. Teams are judged on time involved as well as how well they follow general mining principles.
First aid teams must demonstrate a high degree of skill in caring for the injured miner with various techniques of artificial respiration often of prime importance. As in mine rescue, teams are judged on time as well as proper procedure.
Other mine rescue contests include the Harlan Mining Institute, September 6 at Cawood High School.
The Hazard Mine Rescue Contest was held last Friday at the Perry County Park, there.

Use of Cocaine And "Crack" Said Increasing In Kentucky

In mid-May of last year Andy, 23, of a central Kentucky community, got high on cocaine. It may or may not have been Andy's first time. It was definitely his last.

A few hours later, Andy (a fictitious name) became a statistic—Kentucky's most recent death due to an accidental overdose of cocaine.

In Kentucky, liquor has long been the main drug of use and abuse. Marijuana came on the scene in the late '60s. The fad drug of the '80s has been cocaine. And now cocaine has produced an offspring—"crack."

"Cocaine gained its reputation as a 'glamour drug', one which is used mostly by rich people," said Mike Townsend, director of the Division of Substance Abuse in the Department for Mental Health and Mental Retardation Services. "Its popularity has increased only in the past few years, despite the fact it has been around for more than a century.

"Cocaine use in Kentucky has taken an upward swing in recent months," he continued, "because the eradication of many marijuana fields has forced the price of pot higher. Cocaine, on the other hand, is becoming more plentiful and cheaper. Add those facts to the reality that cocaine creates more psychological dependence than any other drug, and it's easy to understand why the drug is fast becoming a problem."

Because of its inland location, use of the drug in Kentucky hasn't been as prevalent as on the coasts, where it is much more available, according to Diane Hague, director of the Jefferson Alcohol and Drug Abuse Center.

That is changing. "We've seen a gradual increase in people seeking treatment for cocaine abuse over the past two years," Hague said. "During that time, the number of people seeking treatment here has grown 600 percent, but that is misleading simply because of the small numbers involved."

"We're treating 50 people for cocaine addiction, but when you compare that to 2,000 alcoholics and 1,000 people who are addicted to marijuana, you get a realistic view of the size of the problem," she added. "Alcohol and marijuana are still our biggest drug abuse problems."

The introduction in the past year of "crack," a purer form of cocaine, may change all of that, warned Townsend. "Crack" is made by converting the drug from its powder form into a paste and smoking the mixture, which is at least 75 percent pure cocaine.

"Crack is the most addictive drug we know of, producing a more intense high and a quicker dependency than any other," Townsend said. "Because the cost is only $5 to $10 per dose, it is easily affordable. In fact, there have been reports from other states of ice cream truck drivers selling crack to teenage kids while driving their routes."

Persons who have an addiction problem may seek treatment through any of the state's 14 regional mental health/mental retardation centers, which offer education, treatment and referral services by trained professionals.

The substance abuse division also operates the Drug Information Service for Kentucky (DISK). DISK provides information about drug and alcohol abuse through brochures, referrals for treatment services, resource guides, reading lists and a monthly newsletter. The service can be reached by calling toll-free 1-800-432-9337.

In 1985, the unemployment rate for women who maintained families stood at 10.5 percent, more than 3 percentage points above the national average of 7.2 percent, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Robyn Conley found the friend she needed in the Emergency Room...

On May 1, 1985, a head on collision four miles outside of Prestonsburg put an end to 20-year old Robyn Lynn Conley's afternoon plans.

She was brought—barely conscious—to the Emergency Room at Highlands Regional Medical Center where a team of skilled physicians and nurses worked quickly to stabilize her condition and assess her injuries: multiple head contusions, multiple knee fractures, a dislocated ankle, and severe bruises over most of her body. Of course, Robyn doesn't remember much about the impressive new emergency facility or the professional attention she received at Highlands. But she does remember the help of a friend:

"I was close to home. I knew someone, and it really gave me support. I was in so much shock, I mean I was so far out of it, it helped just to have someone there that I knew. I can walk pretty normal now. I go down (to physical therapy) and it's just like one big happy family. I feel so comfortable with the people that are taking care of me now. I don't think I'd trade them for anybody."

The expanded 10-bed Emergency Room at Highlands is staffed 24-hours a day, seven days a week by qualified physicians and nurses who bring their skills to bear on each patient's immediate medical needs. But those needs can be quite different. That's why Highlands has four specialty rooms for treating cardiac, trauma, fracture and prenatal emergencies.

It just makes sense to know where to turn in any emergency—before it happens. And at Highlands, you'll find one of the most sophisticated emergency care facilities in Eastern Kentucky, staffed with competent, caring medical professionals... who know how to be a friend when you need one.

"I was in so much shock, I mean I was so far out of it, it helped just to have someone there that I knew."

Coast Guard Casting Its Net Among 1987 High School Grads

The United States Coast Guard Academy has announced that it is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as Cadet, U.S. Coast Guard, Class of 1991. Applications are being accepted for both men and women. Appointments as Coast Guard cadets are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas. Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to December 15, 1986. Candidates must arrange to participate in either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or American College Testing Assessment (ACT) prior to or including the December 13, 1986 administration for the ACT, and the December 6, 1986 administration for the SAT. The competition for appointment as cadet is based on the candidate's high school rank, performance on either the SAT or ACT, and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs and/or part-time employment. Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and demonstrate proficiency in both the mathematical and applied science fields.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must be unmarried at the time of appointment, have no legal obligations resulting from a prior marriage, and must have reached the age of 17 but not 22 by July 1, 1987. All applicants must be assured of high school graduation by June 30, 1987. Regulations stipulate that all applicants must have completed three units in English, and three in mathematics to include algebra and plane or coordinate geometry or their equivalents, and must fulfill basic physical requirements.

Coast Guard cadets obtain an excellent undergraduate education at no personal expense. In addition, they receive pay and allowances fully adequate to fulfill their ordinary living expenses. The constantly updated Academy curriculum leads to a Bachelor of Science degree with a strong academic emphasis on engineering and science. The selected major studies, when combined with varied elective courses, establish a solid foundation for a challenging career. Graduates of the Academy are awarded a Bachelor of Science degree and are commissioned as ensigns in the United States Coast Guard. Selected officers may pursue further postgraduate education and specialized training at many leading civilian and military graduate or professional schools, in such fields as aviation, business administration, electronics, engineering, law and oceanography.

Under the Department of Transportation, the Coast Guard establishes and coordinates search and rescue operations by ship and plane, maintains advanced electronic and other aids to navigation scattered around the globe, operates the icebreakers which clear the way for all polar expeditions, and enforces marine law and all aspects of merchant marine safety. In addition, the Coast Guard has responsibility for boating safety and marine environmental protection.

For further information write: Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, CT 06320 or call (203) 444-8501.

Workshops Will Help Teach Writing Skill

Kentucky's state parks will be the setting for a series of workshops designed to help middle and high school teachers enhance their skills in teaching writing.

Middle or high school language art teachers must apply by Sept. 15 for admission to one of the regional writing workshops. The training is required under legislation approved by the 1986 General Assembly.

One high school and one middle school teacher from each district will be selected. Fifteen three-day workshops will be held Nov. 5 through 8 or Nov. 19 through 22. Participants will return for a follow-up session on March 23 and 24.

The Kentucky Department of Education will pay all expenses and reimburse school districts for the costs of substitutes.

HOMEMAKERS TO MEET

Mrs. Frances Pitts, Floyd County Home Economist, has announced that the annual county-wide meeting for members of the Floyd County Homemakers and their guests will be held Thursday, September 25, at the First United Methodist Church in Prestonsburg. Registration is scheduled for 10-10:30 a.m. Each member is asked to bring a covered dish to serve six persons. The program will be a cake decorating demonstration by Brenda Cockerham, of Pike county.

State Medicaid Review Contract Is Approved

Averting a possible interruption in service, Cabinet for Human Resources officials recently signed a contract with a Carmel, Ind., corporation to review admissions and medical care provided by hospitals and nursing homes under Kentucky's Medicaid program.

Human Resources Secretary Al Austin announced that the process of monitoring hospital and nursing home admissions charged to the state Medicaid program will be done by Indiana Peer Review Inc. (PEERVIEW). The one-year contract for $1.1 million was effective August 4.

Kentucky was forced to seek a new Medicaid review organization after last month's cancellation of the existing contract for the work to be performed by the Kentucky Peer Review Organization (KPRO). KPRO sought release from its $2.7 million Medicaid review contract after losing a similar federal Medicare claim review contract.

"We are confident that the review process will continue with few noticeable changes and without any decline in the quality of service provided," Austin said. "PEERVIEW has established a good track record in Indiana and has satisfied all the requirements to obtain contracts for federal Medicare claim reviews in both states."

Austin noted that the frequency of hospital and nursing home monitoring by PEERVIEW will be substantially the same as in the past. Those reviews, by PEERVIEW medical personnel, involve determining patient care needs or the necessity of admission to a hospital or a nursing home. All negative decisions by PEERVIEW are reviewed and acted upon by the cabinet's Department for Medicaid Services.

On Thursday, July 31, Medicaid Services commissioner Hughes Walker traveled to Atlanta to discuss the proposed PEERVIEW contract. Regional officials of the federal Health Care Financing Administration authorized the department to proceed with the proposed contract between Kentucky and PEERVIEW at that time.

"Under this agreement, the federal government pays 75 percent of the review contract, because PEERVIEW is also the agency designated for Medicare review," Walker said. "Although there were other firms instead, the proposal by PEERVIEW meets our needs and saves the Medicaid program about a million dollars over the previous contract."

The contract calls for PEERVIEW to perform an estimated 135,000 reviews of claims for approximately 354,000 eligible Medicaid recipients during this current fiscal year.

Coyotes Make Their Homes In Every Kentucky County

In the past 10 years coyotes have established themselves in wide areas east of the Mississippi river. Sightings or reports of damage by coyotes have been received from every county in Kentucky.

Craig Huegel, Extension wildlife specialist at the University of Kentucky, said reports or even questions about coyotes were rare eight or nine years ago. Now, he says, "we get calls about coyotes almost as often as we do about raccoons, possums or skunks."

Coyote numbers have been growing steadily across the South in recent years and are becoming a concern for livestock producers. In Mississippi, where the growth of the coyote population is probably four or five years ahead of what is happening in Kentucky, fewer than 500 coyotes were killed in 1976. But by 1981 annual kills in the state had exceeded 5,300.

Coyotes are opportunistic and highly adaptive. Some people might even say they are lazy in their hunting habits. They will go for the easiest meal available. They'll eat most fruits, fawns, hogs, a variety of small mammals, goats, sheep, calves and watermelons. This characteristic makes doubtful tales of coyotes running down and killing full grown cattle or deer.

"It just isn't likely that they'd go to the trouble, in the first place, and they do not hunt in packs in the second place," Huegel said.

But the canny canines will attack sheep.

"Sheep are an easy target for coyotes. A coyote can almost scare a sheep to death and can certainly kill it with a minimum of effort. Sheep producers, and those contemplating entering the sheep business, should be aware of the dangers of coyote predation and be prepared to take steps to eliminate it," Huegel said.

The first step in controlling coyotes is being sure that coyotes are the problem. Kentucky as a whole has a problem with dogs that are allowed to roam at will. The manner of attack and residue left by dogs are different from that of coyotes.

"Coyotes generally kill only one animal per trip, with bites to the head or throat. Coyotes kill to eat and they will consume all or part of the carcass, starting with the large internal organs and moving to the hams.

"Dogs usually kill several animals and often maim animals, leaving them to die of trauma. Dog attacks usually are directed at the animal's hindquarters. And dogs frequently seem to kill for sport, they almost never feed on the carcass," Huegel said.

Mistaking dog damage for coyote damage can result in a futile effort to kill coyotes—and that can be counterproductive.

"To begin with, you are not likely to be able to significantly reduce a coyote population by hunting or trapping. Coyotes are simply too clever. Out west people have been trying for a hundred years to exterminate coyotes. Those efforts have been futile.

"The second concern is that in killing coyotes indiscriminately you may be removing the wrong animals. Most coyotes do not feed on livestock. Even if you're sure your livestock was killed by coyotes you need to kill the coyote that is doing the killing, not just any coyote you can get at. That approach could leave you worse off than before by removing the non-livestock-killing coyotes from the population while leaving the guilty animals free to flourish, without mating or ranging competition from the other coyotes," Huegel said.

Farmers who suspect coyotes have been in among their sheep, calves, or watermelon patches should contact their county Extension office for assistance in determining if coyotes are the culprits and what steps can be taken to control the animals.

Exchange Vows, Aug. 8

Mr. and Mrs. Vanidan Ferrell, Jr., of Betsy Layne announce the marriage of their daughter, Tracy Lynn, to Mr. Donnie Wiley, of Hardin, Mo., formerly of Betsy Layne. He is the son of Mrs. Nellie Wiley Williamson, of Betsy Layne, and the late Oliver Wiley.

The wedding took place at the home of the groom's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marty Hamilton, of Betsy Layne, at 7 p.m., Friday, August 8. The officiating minister was Hubert Harmon, minister of the Harold Church of Christ.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Vanidan Ferrell, Jr., Nora Ferrell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and her grandfather, Carnes Blankenship, was best man. The bride's son, Dustin Tyler, was ring bearer, escorted to the altar by the groom's nephews, Keith and Rodney Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley and Dustin Tyler will reside in Hardin, Mo., here. Mr. Wiley has been employed by the Ford Motor Company for the past 10 years.

Enrollment Begins For Study-At-Home Program

Enrollment is under way for the October session of the KET/GED Study-at-Home program. The program allows students who have not finished high school to prepare at home for the General Educational Development (GED) test by receiving instruction on KET.

For a nominal fee, students are provided with workbooks, tutorial assistance through a toll-free number and pre- and post-testing services to track their progress.

In its first year as a statewide program, over 10,000 Kentuckians called 1-800-KET-4-GED to inquire about the program, resulting in 2,956 enrollees. Of that number, 911 people have taken their GED exam, with an 81 percent success rate. According to the national GED Testing Service in Washington, D.C., these enrollment figures make the KET/GED Study-at-Home program "the largest GED class in the nation."

The KET/GED program was designed to supplement existing adult education programs and to provide an alternative for adults unable to attend traditional GED classes because of transportation, child care problems, work schedules or a desire for privacy.

If you, or someone you know would like more information about the KET/GED Study-at-Home program, call toll-free 1-800-KET-4-GED. An adult education counselor will guide the prospective student to the course of study best suited to his or her needs, following a GED readiness test.

In District Court

A district court jury last week meted out to Gary N. Blackburn, 29, of West Prestonsburg, a five-month jail sentence on his third conviction for drunk driving. He was also ordered to pay $970 in fine and costs.

Eugene Sturgill, 32, of Mousie, who took his chances before the judge on a third offense, was jailed for 30 days and ordered to pay $707.

Ricky Collins, 21, of Teaberry, was convicted in his absence of drunk driving. Sentenced to 10 days and ordered to pay $407. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

Dismissed for lack of prosecution by Prestonsburg police officer Gerald Clark was a DUI charge against Robert W. Roberts, Jr., 23, of Grethel. Roberts allegedly recorded .25 percent on the Breathalyzer. Also dismissed when Deputy Sheriff John Blackburn failed to appear in court was a DUI charge against Danny Hale, 37, of Hippo, who was said to have recorded a .20. A DUI charge against Jimmy Joe Gray, 55, of Wayland, was also thrown out when Wayland officer Normes Thornsberry failed to prosecute it.

Miss Vannucci, Mr. Girdler Wed

The marriage of Miss Renee' Maria Vannucci to Mr. Joseph Steven Girdler was solemnized in a ceremony at the First Assembly of God in Martin, June 7. Officiating ministers were the Rev. Lorie Vannucci, father of the bride, and the Rev. Ken Groen.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Lorie Vannucci, of Martin, and Mr. Girdler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hulen Girdler, of London, Ky.

The bride wore a traditional silk gown of crystalline organza with beaded dropped waistline. The high neckline was accented with pearls and imported European lace, and the sleeves were of Victorian design. The full, cathedral-length skirt was adorned with embroidery and accented with lace motifs as were the sleeves. A tiara style headpiece was worn with cathedral-length veil of illusion accented with European sequins and pearls. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis, and English ivy.

The matron of honor was Gina Owsley, of Martin, and bridesmaids were Cathy Price, Belinda Branham, Michelle Valori, Joanna Valori, Candy Smith, Sherry Flanery and Lisa Spradlin.

Best man was Jeff Greene, of Lexington, and ushers were David Girdler, Harry Girdler, Jonathan Valori, David Valori, Dave Slone, Terry Lodge, and Brad Holtzclaw.

The flower girls were Allison Johnson and Amy Spencer, while Jeremy Girdler served as ring bearer. Rebecca Baldwin was the guest register attendant.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Carriage House in Paintsville, Ky.

The bride, a graduate of Allen Central High School and Transylvania University, is now attending the University of Kentucky College of Medicine.

The groom is a graduate of Laurel Co. High and the University of Kentucky. He is a member of Kappa Kappa Psi fraternity and is employed by Electronic Business Machines, Inc.

After a wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico, the couple lives in Lexington.

Bobcat Scrimmage Unveils Potent Offense, Strong Run Defense

If what the Betsy Layne Bobcats showed promise of Friday night holds true during the course of this season Bobcat football fans could very well be in for an exciting and successful year.

In the contest with AA power MC Napier, which was scheduled to be Betsy Layne's season opener, the Bobcats introduced an explosive offense which has the potential to score from any position on the field.

Led by southpaw quarterback Bud Newsome, the Betsy Layne offense threw almost at will against MC Napier, connecting on several big yardage pass plays.

On the second play from scrimmage Newsome hit wingback John Bush for a gain of 52 yards and after a holding call Newsome countered with a scoring toss to end Matt Conn which covered 18 yards. The Betsy Layne drive started on their own 40 and four plays and 1:24 later the Bobcats were celebrating Conn's touchdown catch.

In the course of the 18 minute scrimmage, Betsy Layne's passing attack compiled a total 125 yards. Newsome completed four of his five passing attempts with one touchdown. The strong armed quarterback divided his completions evenly between Bush and Conn with the latter gaining 38 yards on his two receptions while Bush finished with 37 yards.

"I thought Bud threw the ball well," Coach Jack Hall said. "He is a veteran now and we're expecting a lot of leadership from him and I think Bud will give us that."

Although the Betsy Layne Bobcats were effective in throwing the ball they were just as ineffective in defending against the same play, the pass.

Bobcat defenders surrendered 157 yards through the air on seven completions in 10 attempts. The Bobcats inability to shut down MC Napier's passing game concerned Coach Hall but Betsy Layne probably won't face any better quarterback/receiving combination than they did Friday night says Jack Hall.

Even though Betsy Layne struggled with an explosive passing opponent the contest wasn't a total defensive loss. The Bobcats completely denied MC Napier of establishing their ground game, giving up only 34 yards on 15 rushing attempts.

"I liked the way our defense hit tonight," Coach Hall said. "Our pass defense wasn't much but if we can stop the run we will learn to stop the pass."

Many football people have selected Betsy Layne to possibly supply Paintsville with their toughest sub-district competition but Coach Hall says his team's goal isn't to capture a district title.

"Even if we were lucky enough to beat Paintsville then we would have to contend with Pikeville so you know what an obstacle we are facing," Coach Hall pointed out. "Our main goal isn't to win the district. Our main goal is to have the first winning season in this school's history."

In the trial run Friday night Betsy Layne did show weaknesses in some instances, evidence enough was their three turnovers, and although his team isn't at the lofty level Coach Hall is striving for he is pleased with his team's improvement from a year ago.

"We're not exactly where I would like for us to be but with our talent we may be as far as we can be at this time," Hall said. "Maybe in the next week we can get there but I can say one thing, we're head and shoulders above where we were at this time last year."

If the Bobcats are to challenge for a playoff position in single A then this Friday may be the most important game of the season when they welcome in defending champion Paintsville. Coach Hall says his team will need a lot of luck if they are to beat Paintsville but adds that this contest isn't the judging factor on the success of the 1986 Betsy Layne Bobcat football season.

GOAL LINE STAND: After MC Napier had a first and goal from the five, Betsy Layne's defense refused to allow the touchdown as they turned back four consecutive running plays.

THE SPORTING TIMES

Usually at this time of the year everyone has either a television set or radio close by in an effort to follow baseball's pennant races but for those fans who enjoy the excitement of a tough race, this season's final month may prove to be a big disappointment.

Due to a shortage of power and pitching most teams have already eliminated themselves from this year's playoff races. On the other hand, certain teams have combined what the others are missing to deny most divisions a classic battle to the end.

However, almost 40 games remain in this 1986 season and many possibilities can become fact which would make for a closer than present finish.

Cincinnati has been making noise in the NL west while finally improving their season mark to .500. The Reds did this Sunday with a victory over Chicago, the first time Pete Rose's club has been even since day two of the season.

The victory over Chicago brought Cincinnati to within one game of second place but eight behind front running Houston. The Reds and Astros have a total of five games remaining with each other and if Cincinnati can beat up on Pittsburgh, St. Louis, and Chicago during the next 10 games then those early September games with Houston could have a bearing on who the best of the west will be.

There is no doubt on who is the best in the east because the New York Mets have beaten up on everyone. New York has put together one of the best seasons in recent memory but without any pressure on them the Mets could become too relaxed and allow a playoff sneak up.

The only actual divisional battle going on is in the AL west where California and Texas are doing battle for that top spot. These two teams will go head to head seven more times during the middle of next month and this race could end then. From now to then someone else could sneak into the race and while the Angels and Rangers are whipping up on each other Kansas City or maybe Chicago could walk away smiling.

Meanwhile, the Boston Red Sox are maintaining their healthy lead in the east. Boston has developed a reputation of squandering big leads when September sets in. This time may be Boston's time because the Red Sox went through a losing stretch recently but nobody took advantage of it.

When a team has starting pitching likened to Roger Clemmons, Oil Can Boyd, and Tom Seaver and you don't capitalize on every opportunity you may just be watching when the middle of October rolls around.

With a comfortable lead Boston will more than likely take top honors in the east. One major reason has already been mentioned, the starting pitching. It is highly unlikely Boston will lose several games in a row because if Clemmons can't stop the skid Boyd can.

Other than New York, Boston is the team most likely to hang on. The Red Sox are the front running dog with lots of room to run while the rest of the pack is trying desperately to catch up, only to trip over each other and slowing the pack, space.

The team most likely to fall is the Houston Astros. The Astros have experienced a season similar to St. Louis' last year when every member of the team has their best possible output in one season.

Somewhere during a 162 game year a team has to suffer a tail spin and Houston's is yet to come. With Mike Scott around such an event could be avoided but here's telling you it will happen but the question remains, can or will anyone take advantage of it?

Cincinnati is playing the best baseball of their season and if they can put together a major winning streak over the next two weeks then they may be in a position to challenge the Astros.

Many classic comebacks have been staged in September but if some teams don't make their move soon the season could be over before September gets here.

Even if the heated late summer races don't develop this season will long be remembered by baseball partisans. They may, in a decade or so, call the 1986 baseball season as the year of the unexpected winners.

Who could have expected Texas to challenge for a divisional championship or for Toronto to fall to pieces. Injuries play a big part in a team's success or lack of it as does the emergence of young talent and a veteran finally living up to their expectations.

For what it's worth, the California Angels have 23 home games remaining to be played at home while Texas has only 16. Boston is in a similar situation with 22 home games left on their schedule, more than any other AL east challenger. If these two teams can win at home, which is usually where any team performs better, then the AL championship is already set.

In the NL west the Astros and Reds have the same number of home games remaining but the Reds do have a one home game advantage over the Astros in their future five games. Reds fans hope it will still have a meaning when next month rolls around.

When the season began I said the Reds would win the western division and I will stay with that thought until the numbers tell me differently. Watch closely as Cincinnati rolls off about ten in a row and Houston wilts under the pressure.

Football Season Kicks Off This Friday Night

The sounds of helmets popping and pads thudding will return to this area as the 1986 football season gets underway this Friday night.

Local players and coaches will give their fans a first hand look at what has developed from long hours of physical and mental work during the past month of preparation.

However, if fans want to see their favorite team in action they will have to travel out of Floyd County, except those of the Betsy Layne persuasion. The Bobcats represent the only county team with a home opener scheduled.

Betsy Layne will entertain district foe Paintsville in a contest which could very well have a bearing on this season's playoff representative from this single A area.

Coach Jack Hall says his Betsy Layne team faces an extremely difficult task and in order to upset the Tigers his Bobcats will need a lot of luck and play the best game a Betsy Layne team has ever played.

"I haven't seen Paintsville this year but any time you go to the state finals and have everybody back you're going to be tough," Hall said.

Coach Hall says the Bobcats will have to receive strong linebacker play in order to stop Paintsville's running game which is led by all-state candidate Joey Couch.

Win or lose Jack Hall says this game won't make his season which the veteran coach is hoping will be Betsy Layne's first winning year ever.

As Betsy Layne football people hope for a winning season Allen Central will either have their first winning season or their first losing one. The Rebels, under first year coach Donnie Daniels, is entering their first season of varsity play but Daniels has already expressed an expected successful season.

The Rebels will visit Virgie this week for their season's opener but Coach Daniels doesn't really know what to expect from his young squad.

"We're a typical first year team," Daniels said. "We have our on days and we have our off days but I'm real pleased with our progress."

Earlier in their practices, Daniels said his team would pass the football as much as 60 percent of the time but due to a lack of pass protection development the rookie coach has grounded his air attack, at least until some repairs can be made.

"We're still planning on being a passing team," Coach Daniels said. "Our pass blocking needs some work but we have been improving with each scrimmage and practice."

The Wheelwright Trojans round out Friday's Floyd County schedule by traveling to Fleming Neon for an 8:00 contest with that Letcher County school.

The Trojans struggled offensively against Whitesburg in last Saturday's gridiron but head coach Roger Johnson and staff decided some changes were in order.

Senior Johnny Isaac has been moved from quarterback to offensive tackle and either Sophomore Shawn McKenzie or Freshman Brad Compton will open at quarterback.

Coach Johnson says Fleming Neon is a big, physical team with a talent to throw the ball but he expects superior Trojan quickness to give Wheelwright an advantage which should counter their being out weighed.

While these three local teams are licking their battle wounds Saturday Prestonsburg will be doing battle in the first annual Governor's bowl in Frankfort. The Blackcats will take on three A Woodford County in a 7:30 contest at the Franklin County High School field.

Woodford County lost 14 starters from last year's 5-5 squad but Coach Chuke Williams knows his Blackcats will be in for a tough contest.

"They will be a more experienced team than we are," Williams said. "They suit up about 70 players and they will have only three or four kids that will play both ways and that concerns me because they will be fresher than us."

"They do some things that will give us some trouble and we do some things that will give them trouble," Williams continued.

"I think we have a decent shot if we can control our mistake. We need something good to happen early. If we could pick up an early score then we would have the confidence that a young team needs."

An added attraction for Blackcat fans, as if they need it, will come in the form of a hospitality room to be located in the Capital Plaza hotel.

Food and drinks will be provided for anyone interested. The hospitality room is being provided by the Prestonsburg Boosters Club with financial help coming from First Commonwealth Bank of Prestonsburg.

Last season produced several college prospects from this area and this year's crop has already drawn attention so don't miss your chance to watch the seasonal progress of Kentucky's best football athletes, support your favorite team and players.

Former Blackcat Star Stands Tall In MSU Defensive Plans

Ablaze with excitement says the Morehead State University football media guide but many years have come and gone since the Eagles were surrounded with football excitement.

However, MSU returns several talented and experienced members of last year's squad, prompting head coach Bill Baldrige to enthusiastically believe the worst of times are long gone.

In his three years at Morehead, Baldrige has compiled a 3-19 record but says that maturity and new recruits could get the Eagles over the hump.

One reason why Coach Baldrige expects this season to bring more victories back to Eagle Country is Senior Quarterback Adrian Breen. The 6-4 190 pound Breen threw for over 1,300 yards last season and with a talented and huge offensive line providing protection, the Cincinnati native is expected to arrive in full form for his final year.

Breen missed two games last season which limited his numbers but with the benefit of an injury free year he could very well emerge as the best pure passer in the Ohio Valley Conference.

If Breen and company can effectively control their offensive efforts then MSU could surprise everyone because the strength of this team will prove to be its ability to shut down opposing offenses.

Spearheaded by linebackers John Gilliam and Randy Frazier, the Eagles return the nucleus of their 1983 squad. Four of their top six defensive performers are back but the strength of Morehead's defense lines within their head hunting linebacker duo.

Gilliam, a former third team all-state performer at Prestonsburg High School, finished 1985 as the Eagles sixth leading tackler.

The hard hitting 6-2 221 pound ex-Blackcat star finished the season with a total of 80 tackles, 52 solos, after ending the 1984 campaign as MSU's fourth leading tackler.

Gilliam compiled these 1985 numbers despite missing one game and playing several others with an injured shoulder. Coach Baldrige is hoping for a healthy and productive season from the Junior linebacker.

"We're expecting a good year from John," Coach Baldrige admitted. "He stayed down here this summer and really worked hard, lifting weights in the morning and working out in the evening."

"John has improved a lot during fall camp and he will be a great player for us," Baldrige said.

In the Eagles wide tackle six defense Gilliam will start at one of the linebacker positions while Whitesburg product Randy Frazier will aptly man the other linebacking slot.

Frazier led the Eagles in total tackles during the 1983 campaign but sat out the following year due to an injury. The 6-4 235 pound monster of the middle bounced back with authority last year to record 128 tackles.

Frazier has received many looks from professional scouts and received All-American honors from the sporting news. This linebacking pair of Gilliam and Frazier are as good as any two other linebackers who perform for another OVC school and before the season ends Coach Baldrige thinks his team in the defensive middle will prove that they deserved to be on the all-OVC list.

"They weren't picked as pre-season all conference because the other people had already been there but I think they have the talent to nudge those people out," Baldrige said.

The Eagles also return their leading tackler of a season ago, Kevin Bellamy, but from his free safety position Bellamy may not get much company in Morehead's defensive backfield.

Gilliam, Frazier, and another Whitesburg product, defensive tackle Tony Sergeant, provides Morehead State with a strong leading defensive cast and if the supporting crew improves the Eagles could be double tough to score on.

During the past decade MSU has placed some players in the professional ranks and Frazier and Bellamy will surely get their shot. Also, with another season after this one, John Gilliam will attract attention and the way this young man is willing to work, nothing is beyond his grasp, a grasp many running backs wish they hadn't encountered.

Not since 1966 has a Morehead State University football team captured an OVC title and 1986 probably won't do much to update this figure but with key breaks and rapid development from young recruits the Eagles could definitely throw a scare into conference competition.

SHORT SPORTS

The Cincinnati Bengals this week said goodby to two talented football players, one a highly touted draft choice and the other a veteran running back.

Thursday the Bengals announced they had broken off negotiations with number one draft selection Joe Kelly, a highly rated linebacker from Washington.

The Bengals reportedly offered Kelly 1.5 million dollars over a four period but the hot prospect refused Cincinnati's money, saying it wasn't enough but the Bengals didn't offer more money.

Monday Cincinnati released veteran tailback Charles Alexander who had been a member of the team for the past eight years.

In 1977 the Bengals made Alexander a number one draft choice but the big back never showed his talents in the NFL that he had during his playing days at LSU where Alexander earned the nickname Charles the Great.

Los Angeles Raider fourth round draft choice Napoleon McCallum will be a Sunday regular during the upcoming football season.

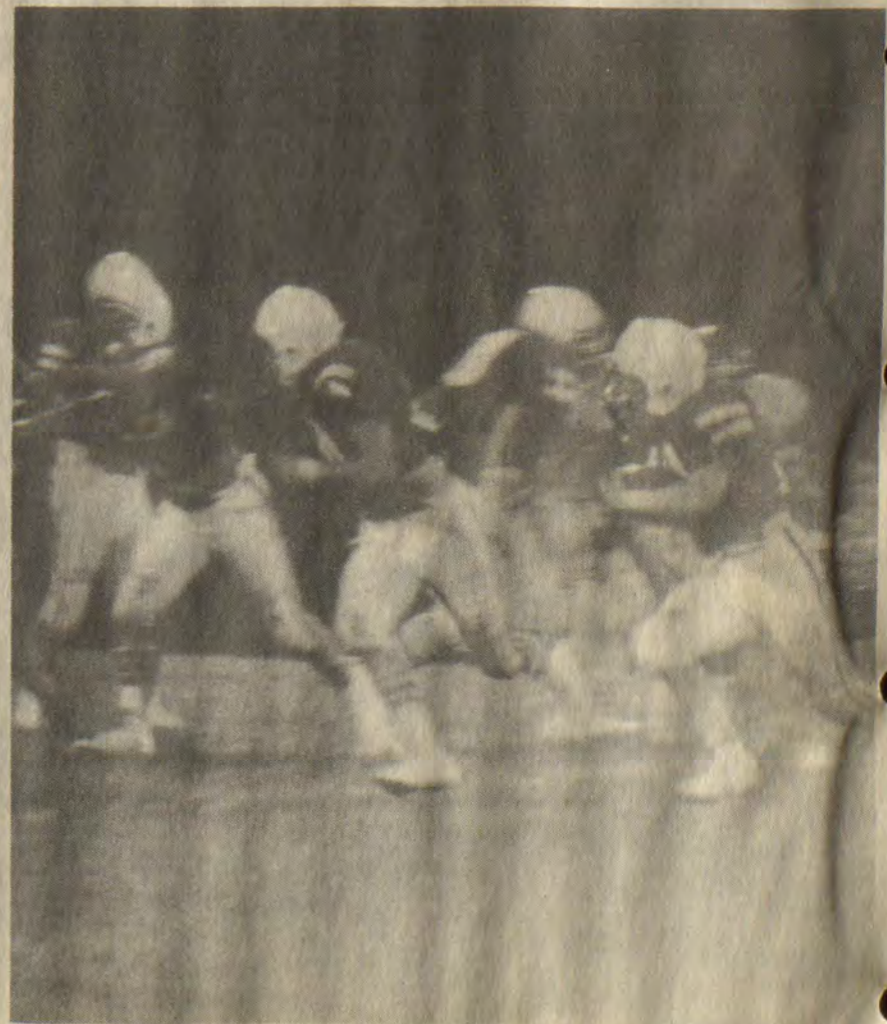

McCallum, who is Navy's all-time leading rusher, received permission to play for the Raiders although he owes the Navy five years of service.

The fleet footed McCallum is expected to return punts and kickoffs for the Raiders while performing primarily on speciality teams.

Cincinnati Reds outfielder Eric Davis etched his name in the major league baseball record books Monday when he slugged two homeruns against Pittsburgh.

The two round trippers gave Davis a total of 21 on the season and combine that with his 62 stolen bases and you have only the third man in baseball history to hit over 20 homeruns and steal over 60 bases in one season.

Squirrel Season Opens With Marked Increase

Squirrel season opened in Kentucky with a marked increase in hunter success compared to 1985, according to information collected by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources from regional law enforcement supervisors in an informal telephone survey.

Over the weekend of August 16-17, 2,153 hunters were checked by conservation officers in 112 of the state's 120 counties. Results showed that 3,006 squirrels had been taken, with 115 hunters bagging their daily limit of six squirrels. Compared with 1985, only 18 more hunters were checked, but 216 more squirrels were taken this year.

Hunters in the eastern part of the state enjoyed particularly better success than in 1985, with district nine doubling in hunter success ratios and district seven tripling its average number of squirrels taken per hunter. However, squirrel numbers are still reported below average in this part of the state.

Jeff Sole, upland game program coordinator for the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, attributes the increase to a better-than-average mast crop in the eastern region in 1985. "Mast" is a collective term for nuts, seeds and other naturally occurring wildlife foods. Sole said the 1986 season should prove to be a good one for the bushytail hunter, as a result of the good availability of food and relatively mild winter experienced generally statewide in 1985.

Sole said some parts of Eastern and Western Kentucky did not suffer as severe frosts as did the central regions of the state, and thus have better mast crops this season. The two districts, found at either extreme end of the state, show increases in numbers of squirrels as a direct correlation to nut production in those areas.

The 1986 mast crop report has not been completed to date, but Sole says from most indications the crop will not be as good as in 1985, due to late frosts earlier this year. The increased numbers of squirrels harvested and reported in the survey, though, bore out his expectations for this season based on last year's data.

The actual ratio of squirrels per hunter for 1986 is 1.4, compared with 1.3 in 1985 and 1.2 in 1984. All but one district reported increases in numbers taken, with the exception of district two in the western portion of the state, where the squirrel/hunter ratio was off .5 percent from last year.

baseman, and Ricky Henderson of the New York Yankees represent the other two men who have accomplished the feat Davis capped off Monday.

With over 30 games remaining in this season Davis could very well become only the second man to ever hit over 20 homers while swiping over 70 bases in one year. Davis needs only nine stolen bases to join Henderson as an elite duo.

Not only did Davis' homerun output place him with two of baseball's greatest it also enabled the Reds to defeat Pittsburgh. Couple this win with San Francisco's loss and the Reds and Giants are tied for second place in the NL west.

New York Met reserve second baseman Tim Teufel and starting pitcher Ron Darling are to appear in a Houston district courtroom this Friday to face charges of aggravated assault.

The charges stem from last month's incident when Teufel and Darling, along with two Met teammates, were involved in a brawl with security guards in a Houston bar room.

According to reports, Teufel and Darling are receiving a bum rap or so many eye witnesses have said.

Notre Dame point guard David Rivers is currently in an Indiana hospital following a weekend auto accident.

The cat quick guard received a 12 inch cut to the abdomen and is expected to remain hospitalized for at least three weeks.

Bassin' With The Pros...

Turning A Kid Onto Fishing

By TREY FOERSTER

Whether you've ever noticed them or not, their little round eyes often follow your every move. If they get a chance, they tag along after you as you walk away from your boat. Their smiles say "Please mister!"

Yep, most kids are infatuated with fishing and the fancy boats bass fishermen are sometimes known for. You can almost read the wishes on their cherub cheeks as a smile breaks them in anticipation of just the slightest recognition by you. Most kids want to catch fish and most adults would like to teach them. The trouble is most adults don't know how to properly introduce youngsters to the sport. With National Hunting and Fishing Day sneaking up on us in September, this week's column will give "Bassin' with the Pros" readers a jump on taking a kid out fishing.

The most common thing to do is to go after a species that's not difficult to catch," suggests Randy Fite, Johnson Pro Staff member. "Go after anything that you can have action with. If you live on a lake that you can catch white bass, or even if it's brim, choose something that will hold his attention and keep him excited."

Even though there might be lots of excitement, don't venture off onto a three-hour fishing trip, warns Ken Cook, Evinrude Pro Staff member.

"The biggest mistake that I see is taking a child on trips that are too complicated, too long. Keep it simple, follow the KISS (Keep It Simple Stupid) method. Take a kid for an hour or 30 minutes, or until he loses interest. Don't try to keep him trapped in a bass boat to try and catch bass. I can tell you that from experience I turned my oldest son off to it because of that; it was kind of a negative experience, but it is a point which should be well taken.

"Careful introduction is probably the key to it," Cook emphasizes, "a little bit at a time until he has some success. And if he gets bored don't hold his feet to the fire. He's going to lose interest anyway after just so many minutes whether he's successful or not. It's best that after he's had a little bit of success he can lose interest and then he'll go back to it sometime with a positive attitude."

Randy Fite also hammers home the point in making this outing a positive experience for all concerned.

"The other thing that I would stress—not only with children but with beginning fishermen—is not to try to judge the day by what you necessarily have in the live well or have caught. Rather, judge it by the enjoyment of the whole atmosphere and the challenge of fishing. If we're not careful, we start children out and things are so competitive for them that they sometimes miss the true meaning of enjoying a day of fishing."

Ken Cook gives us some tips on the equipment to start young children out on:

"Probably the best thing for a kid to start fishing with is a cane pole, line and sinker. That's it. When I started fishing with my boy, the first fish he caught was on a basic old cane pole. That's the best way to go until the kid's old enough to have enough dexterity to use a rod and reel.

"The next logical step, when the kid is three or four years old, is a push-button reel and spincast rod, one with small dimensions, obviously. It's important to keep some quality aspect into the thing so it does function properly because he'll quickly get discouraged if he gets in a mess.

"I think a lot of people make the mistake of getting a pole that's two-foot long. It's very difficult to use a short rod. I would say a four- or five-foot rod is much more appropriate.

"I'm talking bait fishing at three and four years old, where they'll be watching a bobber." Cook continues. "I don't think that you can introduce a child to lures until they get to be five or six. I think by the time a child's six years old—if he's shown the interest in the more sophisticated techniques, and he has enough dexterity to learn the use of a baitcasting reel—he can learn pretty quickly. He can learn the mechanics of casting in just a few minutes. At six years old they can do that especially if they have an interest in using artificial lures. And, of course, they should still be allowed to throw a bobber if they want to."

This Week's Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., August 25—Fishing activity during the weekend of August 23-24 increased across the state, as several lakes and their surrounding areas received some rainfall over the weekend, which improved fishing. The lake-by-lake rundown, as reported by conservation officers or creel clerks at each lake:

KENTUCKY: Black bass were hitting plastic worms and jigs over brush piles in 5-7 feet of water; crappie were taking minnows and large jigs around brush piles and ledges 14-18 feet deep; musky, falling slowly, 2-1/2 feet below summer pool and 81 degrees.

BARKLEY: Black bass were taking plastic worms and crank baits fished over drop-offs in 5-12 feet of water; catfish were hitting cut bait and minnows still fished over river banks 5-35 feet deep; clear, stable at two feet below summer pool and 84 degrees.

BARREN: Crappie were hitting minnows fished 12-18 feet deep over brush piles; bluegill were hitting crickets and worms off steep banks 6-12 feet deep; in the tailwaters, crappie were taken minnows, and some hybrid rockfish were hitting topwater lures during early morning hours; clear, stable at summer pool and 82 degrees.

NOLIN: Black bass were hitting plastic worms at night off steep points and drop-offs in 8-12 feet of water; crappie were taking minnows around stick-ups and over submerged cover; some walleye were being taken by trolling deep runners; clear, stable at summer pool and 81 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER: Crappie were taking minnows still fished over submerged cover about 15 feet deep; black bass were hitting crank baits and plastic worms off rocky points in 5-10 feet of water; clear, stable at summer pool and 81 degrees.

TAYLORSVILLE: Black bass were taking crank baits and plastic worms over drop-offs; bluegill were biting worms or crickets near shallow banks; murky, one-half foot below summer pool and 82 degrees.

HERRINGTON: Catfish were taking cut baits over river channels; bass were hitting plastic worms off rocky points at night; clear to muddy, falling, 18 feet below summer pool.

GREEN RIVER: Crappie were hitting minnows around drop-offs and submerged tree tops in 18-20 feet of water; muskie were being taken on spinners and deep runners over the river beds; clear, falling slowly, one-half foot below summer pool and 81 degrees.

CUMBERLAND: Bluegill were hitting crickets and meal worms over submerged tree tops in 4-10 feet of water; black bass were being caught on crawfish off deep rocky points 10-20 feet of water; clear, falling, 21 feet below summer pool and 82 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW: Black bass were taking plastic worms off deep banks; bluegill were biting worms and crickets still fished off deep banks and over submerged cover; clear, stable, at one foot below summer pool and 86 degrees.

LAUREL: Trout were taking corn and cheese along steep, rocky cliffs in 20 to 25 feet of water, bluegill were hitting worms and crickets over brush piles 6-12 feet deep; clear, stable, eight feet below summer pool and 82 degrees.

CAVE RUN: Muskie were hitting deep running crank baits near cove ends; bass were active at night on plastic worms along the banks in 5-10 feet of water; clear, falling, one foot below summer pool and 80 degrees.

PAINTSVILLE: Trout were hitting wax worms at night over creek channels in 20-25 feet of water; bluegill were taking nightcrawlers over rocky banks 5-6 feet deep; clear, falling slowly, three feet below summer pool and 80 degrees.

BUCKHORN: Crappie were hitting crank baits trolled 10-12 feet deep over old river channels; bluegill were being caught on worms and crickets fished 6-10 feet deep over beds; clear, falling, 4-1/2 feet below summer pool and 82 degrees.

GRAYSON: Catfish were being caught using cut bait on trotlines set in coves and along the shoreline in 4-6 feet of water; black bass were hitting plastic worms and crank baits cast about 3-5 feet deep over mud flats; clear, stable, one foot below summer pool and 78 degrees.

DEWEY: Black bass were hitting plastic worms and buzz baits cast over weed beds; catfish were taking cut bait fished 6-8 feet deep over creek channels; clear to murky, stable at summer pool and 75 degrees.

Doctors say Rivers will be able to return to basketball form but may miss the first several days of fall practice. Rivers led the Fighting Irish in scoring both of his years at Notre Dame.

Alabama defensive tackle Willie Ryles was pronounced dead this past weekend. Ryles was admitted to a hospital last week after collapsing during an Alabama football practice.

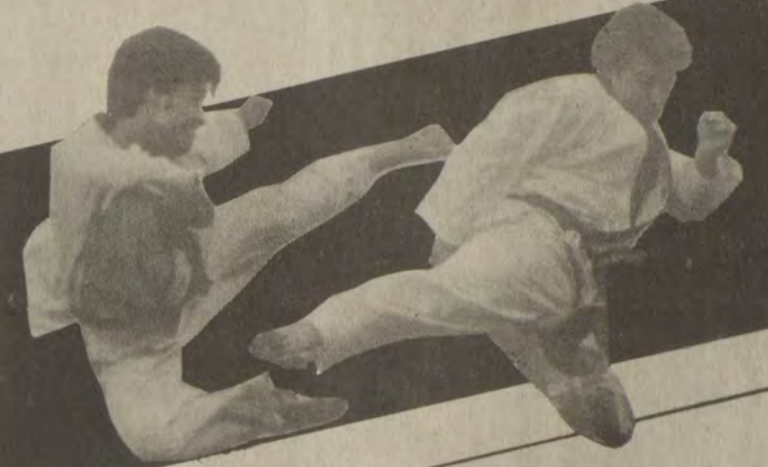

Ryles reportedly died from extensive blood clotting. The Crimson Tide performer was 19 years old.

The 1986 college football season will get underway tonight with sixth ranked Alabama going up against ninth rated Ohio State.

The college kickoff classic will not put together two of the nation's top teams but the contest will also feature two of college football's top five passers of a year ago.

Alabama's Mike Shula, son of Miami coach Don Shula, finished fifth last season while Buckeye quarterback, Jim Karsatos, threw his way to a fourth placed ranking.

Season Opens Monday...

Practice, Care, Increase Rewards For Dove Hunters

By ANDRE SPENCER
As I heard the flurry of shots to my left, I made myself hunker down further in my blind, despite the excitement that my opening day jitters were giving me. There was not time to day-dream any longer, however, as the now thoroughly-spooked flight of doves came into view. Swinging through the lead bird, I fired. As I did, the crafty old leader dropped about a foot, causing my shot to fly harmlessly over his back. My second shot brought him down, though, and my third shot also scored. Feeling pretty smug, I waited to see if any more birds were coming through. When I saw there were no more, I fed three more loads of seven and a half trap shells into my 12-gauge automatic and quickly retrieved my birds.

No matter what else I hunt, nothing gets me quite as worked up as going after doves. These challenging little aerial artists will cause more misses with their evasive maneuvers than you would believe if you've never hunted them before. September first is always a special day, with hunting buddies getting together to leave for a day's outing. All cares and worries are tossed to the wind, as the gear is sorted out, shells are checked to make sure that no gremlins have mixed duck loads with your light field loads, dogs are loaded, and lunches packed. Into all of this disorganization emerges a feeling of optimism. Somehow, you just know what you'll do better than last season, when you spent a whole box of shells before dropping your first bird. Before you laugh too hard, remember that the average for dove hunting is about a box of shells, twenty-five rounds, per bird.

Regardless, there are ways of stacking the odds in your favor a little bit. Although it is somewhat late in the game, get out and shoot some trap to hone those dormant shooting skills. No matter what you do, practice improves your performance. It's a matter of taking what you do seriously enough to want to do better. Of course, clay pigeons can't dodge and duck like the real thing, but it's still good practice.

Likewise, most hunters are not serious enough about concealing themselves. I've actually seen some guys go dove hunting dressed as if they were going to play a round of golf, complete with flowered shirts and neon slacks. Sure, those guys might get lucky and bag one or two, but they are placing themselves at a disadvantage. Wear camouflage clothing and hats or at least dull earth tones. Remember, the object is NOT to be seen. Many serious dove hunters even go as far as to use camouflage grease-paint on their faces as bow hunters have been doing for years.

Good places to find doves are where you can find water, mulberry bushes or shady oak groves, corn fields, and telephone wires, or any combination of those. Like the wise old man said one time, doves are where you find them. The best way to decide where you are going to hunt is to use the next few days to spot around for them as you drive around old back roads and past farms. Just remember to obtain permission before hunting on someone. Also do not forget to buy a hunting license first.

Bassin' With The Pros... Retrieval Tips Listed

By TREY FOERSTER
One of the most important elements of skillful angling involves the presentation of your lure. By presentation I mean the way in which you "show" it to the bass. Presentation not only involves the lure's built-in action, its coloration and styling, but also the manner or fashion in which it is moved through the water.

According to Jackpot Bassin', a how-to book from the Bass Anglers Sportsmen Society edited by Deborah Johnson, presentation is "often called the main ingredient of bass fishing success. Choice of lure, speed at which you present it, control of depth, and lure color all play a part in proper presentation."

What will concern us this week is the speed at which you present your lures, also known as "retrieval."

"I think the mistake most anglers make in retrieving most lures is that they tend to chunk it out here and wind it back in," states Ken Cook, Evinrude Pro Staff member. "The straight retrieve is usually not the best retrieve."

Randy Fite, member of the Johnson Pro Staff, emphasizes the basics:

"We've gotten off into a vast array of color selections, lure selections, and this and that. Buck Perry is kind of an idol of mine and it's his philosophy—of which I am a very firm believer—to go back to the basics. In other words, don't be confused about how fast I should retrieve this, should I jerk it or twitch it, or this or that. Use water temperature, the time of year, and how active the bass are. Let the bass tell you how to work the bait, in other words."

If you take a minute to think about lure action, you'll realize that the retrieve is important in enticing the bass into action, of triggering its predatory response.

"One of my theories—although I can't prove it yet—is that largemouth bass, being a predator fish, are hyped up with the predator reflex," Cook relates. "One of the things that triggers that reflex is their hearing, their lateral line hearing system, and their sonar ranging device. It's such a key to trigger that predatory response that the sound the bait makes can or cannot elicit that predatory reflex. I think the steady retrieve does not lend itself to triggering that response as well or as often as stop-and-go retrieve."

In addition to the stop-and-go retrieve, there are two other styles the successful angler utilizes: very, very fast and very, very slow.

"That's because of the way bass eat," Ken Cook explains. "The very fast retrieve tends to trigger that predatory response. A very, very slow retrieve—say with a top water bait like a Zaraspook or plastic worm fishing on the bottom—gives bass in a neutral feeding mood the opportunity to go through his series of stretch-and-yawn motions due to feeding behavior rather than the predatory reflex strike. Retrieving very slow gives the bass the opportunity to complete those movements before the bait gets away."

If you're working the lure fairly fast without getting any action, Randy Fite suggests it may be one of two things: "Either the water is colder than you anticipated, which makes a bass a little more immobile, or perhaps because of weather conditions (such as high atmospheric pressure) the fish are a little more inactive."

So, what is the bass telling you? "He's telling you that if you're going to have success, you're going to have to slow your presentation down." Fite emphasizes "Speed control is very important, but let the bass tell you how to work the bait."

RETURNS FROM ILLINOIS

Mrs. Zella Archer returned to her home here last week from Edwardsville, Illinois, where she attended a one-week session of Elderhostel classes at Southern Illinois University. She was accompanied by Mrs. Florence Castle Ison, of Cumberland, formerly of this county. In addition to their studies, they visited points of interest in St. Louis and on the Mississippi River. Enroute to Edwardsville, they visited with Mrs. Ison's son, Joseph Ison, and Mrs. Ison. On their return trip, they were the overnight guests of Mrs. Archer's brother, E.A. Smith, Jr., and Mrs. Smith, in Olney, Illinois.

Supplemental Food Program Begins

Beginning July 1, more low-income Kentuckians may qualify for the Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC), the Cabinet for Human Resources announced.

"The federal government is raising the income levels that define poverty," said Peggy Kidd of the Department for Health Services. "Because eligibility for WIC benefits is based on these figures, families with incomes barely over the present income maximums may become eligible."

For example, the annual maximum income for a family of four will increase from $19,703 to $20,350. The average increase per family size is between four and five percent.

WIC provides nutrition education and specific foods high in protein, iron and vitamins A and C to low-income pregnant women, new mothers, infants and children up to five years of age who have health problems that can be improved through better nutrition. The goal of WIC, which is funded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is to improve the health of children through proper nutrition.

"Almost 65,000 Kentuckians now receive WIC benefits monthly," said Kidd. In June 1985, approximately 61,000 Kentuckians received monthly WIC benefits.

Poultry Judges In Clean Sweep

Floyd county's Junior 4-H team swept the field in poultry judging at the State Fair last week, winning the first four places. Frank Martin, a member of the Garrett 4-H Club, won 927 out of a possible 1000 points to become individual junior champion. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Martin, of Langley.

Jeffery Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Moore, of Garrett, was second; Michael Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hale, of Harold, placed third; and Ben Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Budge Moore, of Garrett, was fourth. Other high scorers were John Martin, Travis Martin, Derek Hale, Jamie Martin and Jamie Hall.

Raising The Retirement Age

By JIM KELLY
Social Security District Director

One of the provisions of the 1983 Social Security Amendments gradually increases the age at which people can get unreduced retirement benefits from 65 to 67. This change will be implemented between the years 2000 and 2022. However, reduced benefits will continue to be available as early as age 62, but at a lower rate. This change in the law was prompted in part by the longer life span enjoyed by many Americans.

The 65-year-old person today is much different from his or her counterpart of 50 years ago when the Social Security Act became law. Today, the average 65-year-old man has a life expectancy of 13 years, and the average 65-year-old woman has a life expectancy of 17 years. Men and women 75 years old have a life expectancy of 9 and 12 years, respectively. Furthermore, it is estimated that by the year 2030, 18 percent of the population will be over 65 compared with 11 percent today. Social Security is financed on a pay-as-you-go basis. This means that Social Security taxes paid by today's workers are used to pay today's beneficiaries. The longer life span means that today's beneficiaries will receive payments over a longer period of time.

The extension of the retirement age for unreduced benefits from 65 to 67 is an effort to insure financial stability. It also recognizes that old age is not a disease and does not in itself indicate disability. In fact, there is increasing recognition that continued activity can actually retard the aging process and that removing the older person from the work force may accelerate it.

This provision of the Social Security Amendments of 1983 is one more indication of the program's ability to adapt to society's changing needs.

As of 1985, 69.0 percent of women maintaining families were white, 28.8 percent were black, and 8.9 percent were of Hispanic origin, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Andrea Elson finds 'Alf' a most cooperative co-star

By Lynn Hoogenboom

Andrea Elson is only 17 years old, but she's already a television veteran. She co-starred in the CBS series "Whiz Kids," which aired during the 1983-84 season, and recently landed the role of teenage daughter Lynn Tanner in the new NBC series "Alf," which will air Mondays.

Andrea Elson

"I can't believe I'm on my second series," says Elson. "Some actors have been working for 30 years and just get their first series. Here I am, 17 with braces, and I'm on my second."

For a while, though, it was tough and go for the braces.

"When I went in for my first call for 'Alf,' they said, 'Can the braces come off?'" Elson recalls. "I said, 'Of course they can come off for a network series.' But as I got further into the auditions and the call backs, Bernie Brillstein — he's the executive producer — said, 'I love the braces. Gotta keep 'em.'"

Great balls of fire! Jerry Lee is almost 51

By Toni Reinhold

How old is Jerry Lee Lewis? Where can fans write to him? — W.M., Lennon, Mich.

Jerry Lee Lewis

Lewis was born on Sept. 29, 1935, so he's heading for the 51 mark. He still plays a mean piano and recently recorded an album on Polygram Records, with Carl Perkins, Roy Orbison and Johnny Cash. It's called "Class of '55." Write to Lewis c/o Polygram in Nashville, Tenn.

What was the name of the series that starred Betty White and John Hillerman? — K.P., Prescott, Wis.

It was called "The Betty White Show," and it aired during the 1977-78 season. Today, Hillerman is one of the stars of "Magnum, P.I.," and White is one of "The Golden Girls."

What is the name of the actress who played Elly May in "The Beverly Hillbillies"? My husband says it was Donna Mills of "Knots Landing." I find that hard to believe. — T.O., Fresno, Calif.

Elly May was played by Donna Douglas.

Was Martin Kove, who plays Isbecki on "Cagney & Lacey," in the movie "The Karate Kid" as a karate instructor? What other TV shows has he appeared in? — K.I.M., Santa Barbara, Calif.

Kove portrayed a karate instructor in "The Karate Kid" and "The Karate Kid II," which is currently in theaters. In the spring of 1977, he appeared in the series "Code R" and in the fall of that same year was in the series "We've Got Each Other."

Where can I write to my favorite actors from "All My Children"? — P.B., Augusta, Ga.

Send mail to the individual actors c/o "All My Children," ABC, 101 W. 67th St., New York, NY 10023.

(Send your letters to Ask Toni, United Feature Syndicate, 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

John Astor Branham

John Astor Branham, 74, of Wayland, died last Thursday, August 24, at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital following a short illness.

Born August 20, 1912 at Emma, he was a son of the late Tarl Branham and Kate Branham Foster. A retired electrician and mechanic with the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, he was a member of the Zion Deliverance Church at Wayland.

He is survived by his wife, Ila Triplett Branham; two sons, Gary Branham, of Wayland, and Astor Branham, Jr., of East Lake, Ohio; a daughter, Nina Frances Branham, of Wayland; and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Zion Deliverance Church with Ada Mosley and Mabry Holbrook officiating. Burial was made in the Richmond cemetery at Prestonsburg under direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

Emma Jean M. McCoy

Mrs. Emma Jean Morgan McCoy, 48, of East Point, died last Wednesday, August 20, at the Highlands Regional Medical Center following an extended illness.

She was born February 6, 1938 and was the daughter of Roe Ousley, of Martin, and the late Grace Robinson Ousley.

In addition to her father, she is survived by two sons, Terry James Morgan, of East Point, and Bobby Joe Ousley, of Martin; three daughters, Glenna Sue McCoy, also of East Point, Dianne Lynn Calhoun, of Martin, and Deborah Lynn Coulter, of Dallas, Texas; five brothers, Mike Ousley, of Allen, Darrell, Ronald Ray, Leroy, and Willie Ousley, all of Martin; two sisters, Joyce Ann Ousley, of Martin, Madonna Duncan, of the Abbott road, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Floyd Funeral Home chapel with L.P. Tussey and Henry Crider officiating. Burial was made in the McCoy cemetery at East Point.

Obituaries

Margaret Owens

Funeral services for Margaret (Tommie) Owens, 86, of Prestonsburg, were conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Carter Funeral Home chapel with Dr. Quentin Scholtz officiating. Mrs. Owens died Friday at Highlands Regional Medical Center following a short illness.

A daughter of the late Samuel and Anna Banner May, she was born March 10, 1900 at Allen. She and her husband, John D. Owens, who preceded her in death, owned and operated the Greyhound bus station at Pikeville for over 30 years.

Surviving are two daughters, Margaret (Jill) Wells, of Auxier, and Anna Castner, of Louisville; five grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Burial was made in the May cemetery at Allen.

Pallbearers were David May, Delano May, Sam Leslie, Mike Blackburn, Tim Blackburn, Robert Comstock and Bill May.

William S. Taylor

William S. Taylor, 27, of Chicago, Illinois, was killed in an automobile accident there, July 31.

Born August 29, 1958, he was the son of William S. Taylor, of Chicago, and Mary E. Westfall Taylor, of Waukegan, Illinois, formerly of Floyd county. He was a nephew, of Thomas L. Westfall, of Ivel.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a daughter, Angela Taylor, and a sister, Karen Jean Pronath, both of Chicago; two brothers, Michael Taylor, also of Chicago, and Jeffery Taylor, of Waukegan, Illinois.

Funeral services were conducted August 7 at the Blake-Lamb Funeral Home chapel in Chicago, Illinois.

Graveside services were conducted August 18 at Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel with Dr. Glenn Mollett officiating.

William (Bill) Smith

William (Bill) Smith, 81, of Wheelwright, died Saturday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital following an extended illness.

A retired miner, he was a son of the late Shed and Olea Jordan and was born January 5, 1905 in Sinclair, Alabama. He was a member of the St. Mark's Friendship Baptist Church at Wheelwright, the Wheelwright Knights of Spitian, and the U.M.W.A. Local No. 5899 at Wheelwright.

Survivors include his wife, Gertrude Lewis Smith; five sons, Edward Smith, Robert Smith, Leo Smith and Andrew Brown, all of Cleveland, O.; William Smith, Jr., of Brooklyn, N.Y.; three stepsons, Marshall Tyson, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., William Tyson, of Buffalo, N.Y., and James R. Tyson, of Columbus, O.; three daughters, Patricia Horton, of Cleveland, O., Marveleen Parks and Mona Parks, both of Charlotte, N.C.; a stepdaughter, Darlene Green, of Alexandria, Va., and several grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m., Saturday, at St. Mark's Friendship Baptist Church with ministers of the church officiating. Burial will be made in the Peaceful Garden cemetery at Wheelwright under direction of the Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home.

Visitation may be made after 6 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) at the funeral home.

Virgie Goble

Mrs. Virgie Hunter Goble, 72, of Cow Creek, died Friday afternoon at her home following an extended illness.

Mrs. Goble, a daughter of the late Lack and Ella Clark Hunter, was born March 5, 1914, and was preceded in death by her husband, George Tivis Goble, in 1983.

She is survived by three daughters, Josephine Music, Kathleen Miller, and Dotty Lou Woods, all of Cow Creek; three sons, James W. IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Ella Robinson who passed away August 18, 1985.

The sound of your voice.
The touch of your hand:
So very much missed, and
So hard to understand
How, our grandmother is no longer here,
To share in our happiness, and take away our fears.
We know you're with God, but we're so far apart.
So we keep you alive within our hearts.
You were so very special in your own special way,
Your memory is with us Grandma Ella today, and everyday.

Love, your grandkids

The Perfect Rose

*I never knew her
When she was a rose,
But the fragrance still lingered
As she grew old.
They say she was a beauty
In her day
Identical to her faith
Perfect in every way
She filled each heart
With insight and love
And taught her own of God
And of heaven above
She knew that winter
One day would come
So she blossomed all her season
And never left work undone
Now winter has come
And her season has gone
But the beautiful flower's
Memory still lives on.
I've made plans to
See her one day
The perfect rose
Without any scars of age.
So be watching, Mama
It won't be long now
Till Jesus calls me over
And we'll meet in the clouds.*

In memory of Della Kidd, who was born August 30, 1907, and passed away July 9, 1975. Written by her granddaughter, Lisa Kidd.

Rites Set Thursday For Suicide Victim

Victim of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, Dennis Earl Meade, 30, was found dead Sunday at his apartment, here.

He was the son of Gene T. and Alice Fannin Meade, of Louisa, and was a self-employed mason.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by one sister, Burette Buskirk, of Inez; a brother, Herman Meade, of Prestonsburg; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Meade, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fannin, all of Louisa.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m., Thursday, at the Young Funeral Home in Louisa by the Revs. Mark Isaac and Chuck Blair. Burial will be made in the family cemetery near Louisa.

A Tribute To William Arnold Spradlin

He was never a stolid person, but always perceptive, considerate, and surely an individual whom I had the distinct honor to know. I knew him well—not from our associations in the business community, when he toiled in The Bank Josephine, and I across the street in the First National Bank.

It was in the afternoons when we became acquainted. He was the epitome of a true sportsman and a most respectable adversary one might encounter on the tennis court. Bill Arnold was an excellent tennis player, and more than once his strong service "aced" me within the bounds of the serving square.

Those were the depression summers, when Bill Arnold, J. Darwin Bond, Leroy Combs, Bev, Cot and Estill Burchett, Fred and Bob Francis, "Bunk" Friend, Louis Harkey Mayo, Carhel Hill Smith, Adrian and Ray Collins, Edgar, and I vied to compete and down each other on the court. The strenuous action, somehow, took our thoughts away from the sting of those seeming, uneventful, depressive, economic years.

Our youth was soon surpassed by the times to come. And many such memories of those friendships have aged in permanency. And among them, I am most proud to say, is the name of William "Bill" Arnold Spradlin.

IN MEMORIAM

(This is a remembrance of Bill Perry, who passed away June 5, 1979, and for his birthday which would have been August 27:

A heart of gold stopped beating
Two shining eyes at rest
God broke my heart to prove to me
He only took the best.
God knows you had to leave me
But you didn't go alone
For part of me went with you
The day God took you home.
To some you are forgotten
To others just a part of the past
But to me who loved and lost you
Your memories will always last.
It's a lonesome home without you
And sad has been the way
For life and home are not the same
Since you went away.

TSG Jack L. Conley

TSG Jack L. Conley, 51, of Lima, Ohio, formerly of Floyd county, died last Thursday, August 21, at the Lima Memorial Hospital.

A son of Mrs. Delores Napier Conley, of Prestonsburg, and the late Hauley Conley, he was born August 5, 1935. A veteran of the Korean and Vietnam wars, he was a 20-year retiree of the U.S. Air Force. For the past nine months, he had owned and operated the Modern Cafe in Lima, Ohio. He was a member of the Elks, the Moose, the Eagles, the V.F.W., the American Legion and the American Veterans in Lima.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his sister, Whilminia Deno, of Reynoldsburg, Ohio.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m., Monday, at the Floyd Funeral Home chapel with the Rev. Steve Hopkins officiating. Burial was made in the Richmond cemetery.

Active pallbearers were Goffrey Gayheart, Greg Napier, Mike Deno, Jack Deno, Elmer Napier, and Steve Conley.

Honorary pallbearers were Vernon Napier, Bill White, Lay Gayheart, Linzie Hunt, Frank Bennet, and Pete Petrovich.

Worthy Sentiment

I read with much interest C. Edd Kidd's "Glimpse of the Statue of Liberty" in your paper July 30th.

He is to be commended for the splendid way he expressed his love of Country, and for the life we have been afforded here.

And may the Lady in the Harbor continue to hold her torch just as high as she has done in this century.

May we always be able to say as is inscribed in part at the base of the great statue: "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to be free."

TOXIC SHOCK SYNDROME

Toxic shock syndrome is believed to be caused by bacteria that gets into the bloodstream, causing a bacterial infection. This type of infection was found among women who used tampons. In fact, one particular brand has been removed from the market. However, there are still many other tampon brands available. Many women use them because of their comfort and convenience. These women should be aware that if symptoms such as fever, chills, muscle aches and nausea appear while wearing them, a doctor should be contacted immediately. The symptoms may be a sign of a bacterial infection due to the tampons. The longer the woman waits, the more severe the infection can become.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE
Pursuant to Application Number 836-5123

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Coal Mac, Inc., P.O. Box 3428, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501, has filed an application for an underground mining operation. The proposed operation will affect a surface disturbance of 12.98 acres and will underlie an additional 447.00 acres located 1.5 miles south of Honaker in Floyd county.

The proposed operation is approximately 0.5 miles southeast from KY 2030's junction with Little Mud Creek Road and located 0.5 miles east of Little Mud Creek. The latitude is 37° 30' 06". The longitude is 82° 40' 39".

The proposed operation is located on the Harold and McDowell U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle maps. The surface area to be disturbed is owned by W.F. Clark Estate and Nora Clark Estate. The operation will underlie land owned by W.F. Clark Estate, Nora Clark Estate, Elk Horn Coal Corporation, Ruthie Hall, Wendell and Edford Stratton.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. 8-27-3t.

NOTICE OF PERMIT CONFERENCE
Pursuant to Application Number 836-6005

In accordance with the provisions of 405 KAR 8:010 Section 11, notice is hereby given that a permit conference is scheduled for September 9, 1986 at 10:00 a.m. o'clock at the Prestonsburg Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653, concerning the above application filed by Clark Elkhorn Coal Company, Inc., Rt. 1, Box 353, Shelbyana, Ky. 41562. The application is for a permit for a loader and crusher coal processing facility approximately 0.5 miles north of Harold in Floyd county.

The proposed operation is approximately 0.75 miles northeast from KY 1426's junction with CR 2557 and is located along Levisa Fork. The latitude is 37° 32' 36" N. The longitude is 82° 38' 08" W. The surface area is owned by Fred Newsome, Stella Jean Stumbo, Chesapeake & Ohio Railway and the E.W. Hale Estate. The proposed operation is located on the Harold USGS 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653. Any person whose interests are or may be adversely affected by the issuance of the proposed permit may present information relevant to the permit, in oral or written form, at the time of the conference. 1t.

MSU Tempts Top H.S. Graduates

Morehead State University is intensifying its efforts to recruit outstanding students in the high schools and two-year colleges of 22 counties in Eastern Kentucky.

MSU President A.D. Albright has announced that, effective this fall, the top two graduates of each of the 47 high schools and four colleges who enroll at MSU will be guaranteed major academic scholarships.

"We are pleased to redirect our attention to our own service region in this effort to attract the best and brightest students to Morehead State University," Dr. Albright said. "We hope to recruit the valedictorian and salutatorian from each school and will be striving to attract as many of the other outstanding students as possible."

The MSU president said the new aid program, to be known as "Regional Honors Scholarships," is being offered in addition to the other academic grants now available at MSU. The top student will receive a renewable scholarship valued at $2,000 yearly and the next student in academic standing will receive a renewable grant worth $1,800 yearly.

The new scholarships are available to graduates in the Class of 1986 and several already have been awarded to students entering MSU this fall as freshmen and transfer students from two-year colleges.

"We have had a measure of success in attracting excellent students from several areas of Kentucky and nearby states but, in the process, we have not been sufficiently aggressive in pursuing Eastern Kentucky students," Dr. Albright added. "We want everyone to know that we are renewing our historical commitment to the people of this region and that we intend to serve them first and foremost."

MSU's service region includes Bath, Boyd, Breathitt, Carter, Elliott, Fleming, Floyd, Greenup, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Letcher, Lewis, Magoffin, Martin, Mason, Menifee, Montgomery, Morgan, Pike, Rowan and Wolfe counties.

Detailed information about the new scholarship program has been sent to high school and two-year college officials throughout the region. Interested persons are invited to contact Tim Rhodes, director of financial aid at MSU, at (606) 783-2011.

CF Chairmen Listed For Floyd Communities

The following chairmen have been appointed by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation to hold fund-raising events in their communities this spring. They are Fred James, of Prestonsburg; Mrs. Patty Beckman, of Allen; Mrs. Sue Wells, of Lancer, and Darrell Hill, of Wheelwright.

"We are grateful for the commitment and support of these volunteers," said Robert Montague, president of the Kentucky/West Virginia chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. "Together, as a team working on similar fund-raising events, we can make a strong impact on the fight to conquer cystic fibrosis."

According to Montague, the money raised from the event will help fund research to determine the genetic cause and treatments for cystic fibrosis, the nation's number one inherited killer of young people. Cystic fibrosis is an incurable disease which primarily affects the lungs and digestive system. Thanks to money raised in previous events, the past year saw tremendous strides in cystic fibrosis research. These advances have brought the cure to cystic fibrosis within sight.

This year, Cystic Fibrosis events are being held nationwide in memory of Alex Deford, who died of cystic fibrosis in 1980 at the age of eight. Alex was the daughter of Frank Deford, senior writer for Sports Illustrated and chairman of the National Board of Trustees of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

To become involved in these events please contact the Chairman in your community.

161,000 Families Get Heating Aid

More than 161,000 Kentucky families received nearly $20.5 million in payments on their heating bills last winter as part of the state's Home Energy Assistance Program.

Department for Social Insurance Commissioner Mike Robinson recently announced that a total of 118,360 applications were approved in two HEAP segments set aside for the elderly and other low-income households from October through December 1985. Another 43,454 families received assistance during the "crisis" portion of the program, which operated from January through April 1986.

"This represents an increase of 30,000 applications approved over the final figures for the 1984-85 HEAP program, as well as payments boosted by an additional $1.1 million," said Robinson. HEAP is a federally-funded program in Kentucky administered by the Social Insurance Department.

"We approved more than 91 percent of the applications made this past winter," he said, "which I believe is due to a greater awareness by the public of federal eligibility guidelines."

Another reason Robinson cited for the higher number of applications and approvals was a change in the operation of the portion of the program conducted during the hardest portion of last winter.

"This year, applications for the crisis segment were accepted through the state's 24 community action agencies," said Robinson. "This increased the program's accessibility and made it easier to address the needs of those families who were in a crisis situation. There were 46,224 applications made during this segment, more than double the total received last year."

The average assistance payment during the program was $127.80.

Local Officials Urged To Watch Water Supplies

The Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet today declared a statewide water shortage watch primarily for water supply systems that depend on small streams and have limited storage capacity.

The watch advises local officials to carefully monitor their water supply and be prepared to take necessary action if conditions worsen. The Water Shortage Response Plan, which has been sent to water systems statewide, outlines steps a community should take to handle water shortages. It contains instructions for measuring water supplies and projecting demands, and for voluntary and mandatory conservation practices. The plan gives detailed guidance to communities. However, local communities must decide when to act and what steps to take based on local information such as the source of their water supply, the severity of the shortage in relation to the demand, and the size of their storage capacity.

The watch was recommended by the Drought Monitoring Task Force, a group of water resource scientists and managers who advise the Division of Water. The Division's Water Shortage Response Plan, developed this summer, calls for a watch to be issued whenever the task force determines that a water shortage potential exists, based on their review of the rainfall levels, reservoir levels, stream flow and soil moisture.

According to the task force, the watch should remain in effect throughout August unless there is rainfall significantly above average, which is not expected since August is historically a dry weather period.

The recommendation from Kentucky's task force reported that the water situation is most serious in the southeastern part of the state. Eastern Kentucky is in the extreme range of the Palmer Drought Index, a measure of soil moisture.

Don Harker, director of the Division of Water, said operators of public and private water supplies should monitor water levels throughout August. "If there is the slightest indication of potential shortages or if communities have had shortages in the past, they should prepare to manage their water use to conserve," said Harker. "Local officials should follow the instructions in the Water Shortage Response Plan and call the Division of Water if they need further help."

Child Safety Seat Seminars Scheduled

A car safety seat can mean life instead of death for an infant in an accident. Unfortunately, an improperly-used child restraint can easily end up costing the life it was intended to protect.

That's why Kentucky's Department for Health Services and State Police will conduct a series of training sessions during August and September for officials involved in safety seat loaner programs and other interested citizens.

"Kentucky now has a child safety seat loan program through the 115 local health departments," said Sarah Wilding, R.N., Health Services coordinator for the seminars. "We have close to 11,000 safety seats available across the state from local health departments and state police posts."

"While safety seat use increased after being required by a 1982 state law, incorrect use of the various types of seats remain a problem. And a safety seat only provides effective protection when it is used properly."

The six regional sessions are scheduled for Hazard (Aug. 25), Paintsville (Aug. 26), Morehead (Aug. 27), Madisonville (Sept. 3), Elizabethtown (Sept. 4) and Florence (Sept. 9).

"Most of the participants will be staff from the district and local health departments, public health educators, nurses and others directly involved in our existing safety seat loan projects," Wilding said. "But we welcome anyone to take part who is interested in getting the word out about proper protection of child passengers."

Each seminar will run from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. with instruction by staff from the state police, the Health Services department and the Barren River District Health Department.

"We have encouraged people in those programs to bring an example of the types of seats they are using, so the instructors may demonstrate directly with the restraints being provided to the public," said Wilding. "Different techniques are needed for different types of seats."

"We want to show that the products meeting federally-approved highway safety standards can be used, easily and properly, for the fullest protection of our children."

For more information on the child safety seat seminars, contact Wilding in Frankfort at (502) 564-2154.

Star Lore

By Fred Cooper Tichenor

No matter what, huh, Taurus?

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 21) This would be a good week to review your insurance program and bring it up to date. You have big dreams - maybe too big - try to make them practical. Excellent weekend to spend making work plans, you will be ingenious but realistic. If you go out in public, you may not get the desired effect.

TAURUS (Apr 22-May 22) If you're unmarried, you'll be looking for an ideal partner this week; if you are married, you'll be looking for an ideal partner this week! You are lazy now, particularly when it comes to anything you don't want to do. Your love life is unpredictable and you should walk gingerly.

GEMINI (May 23-Jun 21) This will be a confusing week - you'll have difficulty understanding anything. You need a good, strong partner to put their finger on you and keep you straight. A Sagittarius can help put your plans into effect. A small effort this weekend will solve personal problems in the work place.

CANCER (Jun 22-Jul 20) A good week to take a long, hard look at your sex life and the changes that need to be made. The chance to reevaluate an old talent is coming and can revolutionize your life. Make plans to work on your home this weekend before things get worse. Also work on career goals and make those hard decisions.

LEO (Jul 21-Aug 20) You will be at your best this week and everyone will pay you the homage you are due. Entertaining is about the only thing you can get serious about now - hope it's worth it. Plans for romance may get snafued by work problems this weekend. A co-worker will also cause you some discomfort.

VIRGO (Aug 21-Sep 22) A Scorpio has an idea to change your life but chances are you will (and should) decline. Stick with your own ideas even if they are impractical. Excellent weekend for business and financial progress. A child will upset your home but it could influence you to make a needed re-evaluation.

LIBRA (Sep 23-Oct 23) Doing for others will be your "bag" this week. You can expect an exciting phone call but you'd better take it with a grain-of-salt. An important person is going to take an interest in you and help you. Either attend religious services or have a meeting in your own home this weekend.

SCORPIO (Oct 26-Nov 23) Take charge this week - at home and abroad - and get things organized. You will be appearing in public and can easily sway the masses. Plan a little get-away with the loved one for the weekend - it will be perfect. A Sagittarius will give you a very important message.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 24-Dec 21) This will be a creative week and the more you use your talents the better. You are a pessimist now, most unusual for you, and this will stay with you until next month. Too much conservatism will not set well with the boss. If you expect big returns, you must have big ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 17) An unusual week for you, you will be dreamy and impractical. Your thinking is confused at this time and you would do well to postpone making decisions if you can. Any "black deeds" in your past are likely to come to the surface so have a good story ready. A very strange weekend.

AQUARIUS (Jan 18-Feb 16) Indecision in regards the career should begin to sort itself out this week. Your conscience is bothering you over all those promises you made to yourself. You can be great at coming up with exciting plans for your club. Something will come to fruition now - hope it's the result you want.

PISCES (Feb 17-Mar 20) Make plans for the future this week, and don't be afraid to go-for-broke. Take charge of the project at work when asked, you'll be great. You can become realistically optimistic instead of optimistically unrealistic with effort. Say "Yes" when a friend solicits your aid for a project - it could be the "action" you've been looking for.

Heat Wave May Mean Higher Power Bills

With the mercury exceeding 85 degrees for 16 of the first 20 days of July and the heat index above 100 degrees, many area residents have limited their outdoor activities and have spent a great deal of time in front of air conditioners attempting to "beat the heat." One consequence of this is that electric customers all over the eastern and southern part of the United States could receive higher electric bills.

This is true in eastern Kentucky, according to Kentucky Power Public Affairs Director, C. Richard Lovegrove, who said: "Even though our rates are among the lowest in the nation, our customers can expect to receive higher electric bills as a result of July's higher than normal temperatures."

The National Weather Service records indicate that this July's average highs were 5 degrees higher than July a year ago.

Lovegrove went on to say: "Electricity is definitely a bargain, but as with other commodities, there is a cost associated with our product. Each customer makes a buying decision every time he uses electricity."

Air conditioning is not the only thing that increases one's electric bill during those hot summer months. It can be affected by increased use of refrigerators, freezers, water heaters, and other small appliances, while indoors trying to avoid those hot humid summer days. In addition, the electric bill could increase as a result of a loss of air conditioning due to inadequate insulation.

COMPLETES BASIC

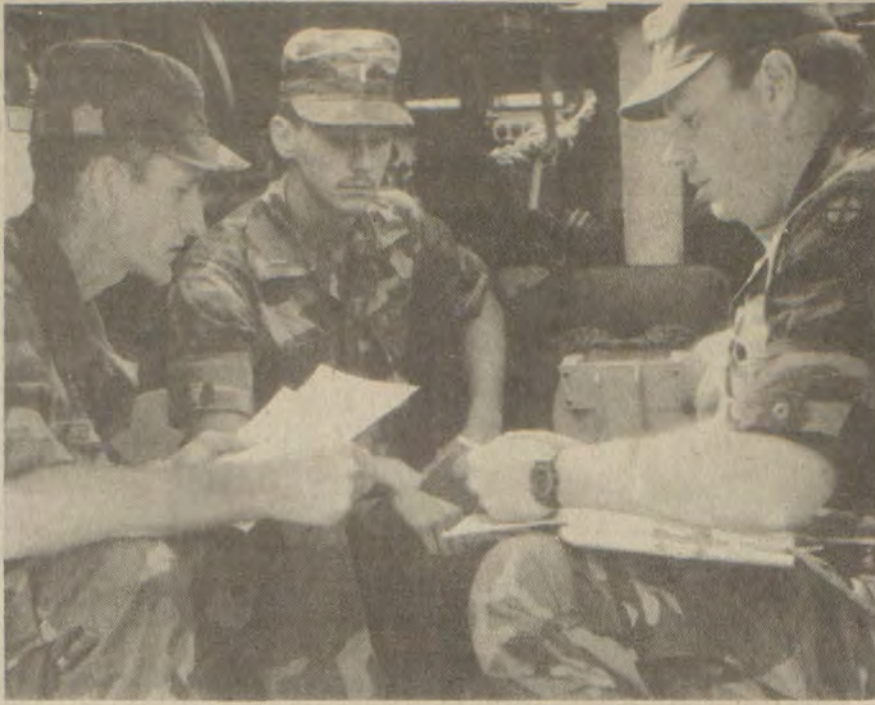

Airman William M. Gunter, son of Auval L. Gunter and Judith L. Gunter, both of Prestonsburg, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

During the six weeks of training the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

The white lines in the middle of highways usually have to be repainted about every three or four months.

Nat'l Guard Unit Trains In Missouri

Sgt. Calvin Setser, of Prestonsburg, left, 2nd Lt. Keith Callahan, of Maysville, middle, and Sgt. Stan Fletcher, of Prestonsburg, review operating instructions during annual training with the Kentucky Army National Guard. Both units recently returned from Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., where they spent two weeks training with the 206th Engineer Battalion. (Photo by Cdt. Sallie Boward, 133d Public Affairs Detachment, ARNG).

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Kelly Jones wishes to thank all those friends, neighbors and loved ones who helped comfort them during their time of sorrow. Thanks to all who sent food, flowers, prayers or spoke words of comfort. A special thanks to the Betsy Layne Church of Christ, the minister, Tommy Spears, and the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

THE FAMILY

Horses were first tamed in Asia some 10,000 years ago, historians say.

Children's Series

Begin New Season

Family entertainment at its best begins a new season on KET when "Wonderworks" returns on Sunday, September 14, at 11:00 a.m. with the re-release of "How To Be A Perfect Person In Just Three Days."

This wacky comedy features 12-year-old Milo Crimley as a klutz without a peer until he enrolls in a bizarre crash course in how to be a perfect person.

"Wonderworks" continues with "Who Has Seen The Wind" on Sunday, September 21, at 11:00 a.m. Part two airs on Sunday, September 28 at the same time. From W.O. Mitchell's class novel, this moving story tells of a boy's coming of age in the harsh environment of rural Saskatchewan. It stars Jose Ferrer and Helen Shaver.

"Wonderworks" repeats on Saturday evenings at 7:00 p.m. It is presented by WQED/Pittsburgh, KCET/Los Angeles, KTCA/Minneapolis-St. Paul, South Carolina ETV Network and WETA/Washington, D.C.

Quality children's entertainment continues with the Emmy Award-winning series "3-2-1 Contact," weekdays beginning Monday, September 15, at 5:30 p.m. The program that introduces the world of science and technology to 8- to 12-year-olds opens with four weeks of segments on signals, oceans, motion and eating.

RABBITS

COPYRIGHT 1986 KVMA

Kentucky Veterinary Medical Association
They don't get the publicity that dogs and cats receive, but rabbits are frequently kept as pets by Kentuckians and are far from being rare either as pets or as commercial breeding enterprises.

If you're one of those who wants to have an Easter Bunny all year long, some tips are in order.

Rabbits are best kept in individual pens, cages or hutches. Your veterinarian, perhaps your pet store, can tell you how to build one. Some protection from cold winds is necessary.

Rabbit pellets, available from feed dealers, are the most often used feed. They provide a balanced diet with all the needed nutrients.

Supplements are probably necessary if fresh feeds are used, including garden vegetables and weeds. Such feeds should be introduced slowly, to prevent digestive trouble and illness.

Rabbits enjoy a manger or rack filled with hay, but be sure it is kept fresh and does not become moldy.

Salt is a necessity and should be kept available at all times, along with a constant supply of fresh water.

If possible, rabbits will consume a portion of their night feces. This is not a symptom of nutritional deficiency but is a natural occurrence by which they obtain Vitamin B. If the bottom of the cage is wire and the rabbit doesn't have access to his droppings, a Vitamin B Complex supplement will be necessary, in addition to the pellets.

Rabbits should not be bred until they have reached adult size, judging by weight of the adult female of the particular breed.

Do not pick up the rabbit by the ears. Small rabbits are most easily carried by grasping them firmly over the loins. Larger rabbits are most easily carried by grasping the skin over the shoulders with one hand, and supporting the hind legs with the other.

Don't pick up a rabbit as you would a puppy, by lifting under its front legs. You'll likely get kicked.

Your veterinarian is expert in rabbit care. He's been trained in nutrition, in disease prevention and cure, in housing and in breeding techniques.

Pageant Winner

Brittany Keela Taylor, three-year-old daughter of Butch and Beata Taylor, was crowned Baby Miss America International in the state preliminary, July 27. She also won Baby Miss Photogenic, America International's Most Beautiful Baby and America's Grand Champion Baby. She will go on to compete in the state finals to be held in Lexington in November.

Trimmer than ever... You and W-D Brand Beef

You work hard to stay in shape, so you want the food you eat to be as lean and fat-free as possible. That's why W-D Brand U.S. Choice Beef is trimmed so closely—to only a quarter inch or less of fat. Of course, it also means you get more beef for your money. So when you shop for beef, pick the beef with the quarter inch trim—today's W-D Brand U.S. Choice Beef from The Beef People at Winn-Dixie.
