

Caudill Appeal Hits Pike Court Sentence

An appeal was filed yesterday (Tuesday) against the conviction last year of Third District Magistrate Ed Caudill on a charge of possessing a forged check. Transfer of the case from Floyd to Pike county at the insistence of the state prosecutor is advanced as the main reason for throwing the conviction out.

While a change of venue is frequently sought by defendants, who may waive their constitutional right to be tried where the alleged crime was committed, such a request by the prosecution is uncommon and is unconstitutional, Ned Pillersdorf, Caudill's attorney, argues in his appeal brief. In any event, the Commonwealth did not put on enough evidence to support its claim that the case could not have been tried fairly in Floyd county, he said.

Pillersdorf noted also that—unlike Floyd jury pools, which are picked at random by computer—Pike jurors are still selected by a jury commission named by the circuit judges. Given the fact that Pike's two circuit judges are Republicans, jurors in that county could conceivably be unsympathetic toward a Democratic defendant represented by a Democratic attorney, Pillersdorf said.

Moreover, Pike Circuit Judge Will T. Scott should have instructed the jury not to find Caudill guilty on the forged check charge unless there was evidence of intent to defraud, the attorney said. Caudill claimed in his defense that he was owed the money that he received in cashing the check and that he had not defrauded the county.

The veteran fiscal court magistrate received a one-year sentence following his conviction in Pike Circuit Court last July. The prosecution alleged he signed the name of Russell Hamilton and then his own name on a $2000 check made out to Hamilton by the county. Caudill did not deny the charge but said the late Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr. approved of the arrangement as a way of repaying him for money he had spent buying furniture for a park building at Minnie. He then used the money as downpayment on a truck he bought from Lafferty, Caudill said. Hamilton, who is Caudill's neighbor, testified the county owed him no money and said he had no idea of why a county check should have been made out to him in the first place.

'Wolfmask Case' Ends As 2 Enter Pleas of Guilty

Two men whom a jury failed to acquit last year on armed robbery charges entered guilty pleas shortly before they were to be tried again Monday in Floyd Circuit Court.

In a case dubbed by a defense attorney as the "wolfmask case," Jay Toddie Gibson, 19, of Salyersville, and Bobby Gene Cole, 24, of Prestonsburg, were accused of holding up Jenny's Place, a Mountain Parkway grocery, and taking $500 in August, 1984.

Gibson was reported to have donned a "werewolf" mask and to have forced Ann Rowland, a store clerk, to hand over the cash box. Cole was accused of driving the getaway car. The defendants claimed that Robert Perkins, who assisted police in identifying them as suspects, was himself the robber. Perkins later pleaded guilty to his role in the holdup and received a one-year probation sentence.

Gibson, who faced up to 20 years if convicted of armed robbery, pleaded guilty to unarmed robbery by agreement with the prosecutor, Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Albert A. Burchett, who recommended he be (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

Complainant Absent From Rape Hearing, Charge Is Dismissed

A statutory rape charge against an unemployed coal miner was dismissed in Floyd Circuit Court yesterday (Tuesday) when the woman who brought the complaint failed to appear in court.

Raymond Carroll, of Hi Hat, was accused by Brenda Butler Johnson, of Melvin, of having sexual intercourse with her 13-year-old daughter on March 22, 1984. Carroll reportedly picked up the girl from school and took her overnight to his home. Both he and the girl denied that they had intercourse that night, a claim in which they expected to be supported at trial by Carroll's former wife.

Mrs. Johnson sought to draw attention to the case last year, calling a "press conference" on the steps of the Floyd county courthouse to complain that the Commonwealth's attorney's office was dragging its feet in prosecuting the case, which had been postponed several times. A member of the prosecutor's staff said that the mother, who changed her address and phone number several times, had herself contributed to the delays. Although subpoenaed for a scheduled trial of the case Tuesday, neither mother nor daughter appeared in court. (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

Flood Fears Ease After Rain Wipes Out Last of Big Snow

The season's heaviest snow that, seen from the comfort of a fireside easy chair, was so pretty, lost its charm for many the beholder early this week as the same snow turned to water under intermittent rains.

Residents of lowlying areas became increasingly nervous, but the danger of flood apparently was passing, although the light rainfall came on a snow cover approaching seven inches. Possibly, the greatest damage resulted in small streams which rose above their banks, flooding bordering lowland.

Paintsville had the heaviest rainfall, 1.07 inches, from 7 a. m. Monday till the same hour Tuesday. Oft-flooded (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

School Bus Driver Transported Pupils While Drunk, Charge

A county school bus driver was arrested Monday afternoon and charged with being drunk while transporting students to a ballgame in Ashland.

Levi Hamilton, 38, of Teaberry, was reported by state police as being "very unsteady on his feet" and failing several sobriety tests when he was pulled over on US 23, just north of Allen, around 4:25 p.m. Monday. He recorded a blood alcohol level of .25 percent, police said.

On board the bus Hamilton was driving were about 20 persons, including 11 freshmen basketball players from Betsy Layne High School, coaches and chaperones. None of them reported (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

LAST WEEK'S SNOW may have meant misery for some, but for this small girl, it was lots of fun making a snow man, with a little help, of course. And for us, it marks our first snow man picture of an unusually mild winter. (Photo by Allen Bolling)

This Town...That World

If that snow had stuck around much longer, I would have been barring the doors at the approach of every strange dog—fearing that it was a wolf looking for another peasant.

HOW DEEP IS SHOE-MOUTH?

How deep was the snow? The more reports that come in, the deeper it gets, even as a fish gets longer after it is caught.

Time was when one popular measurement of snow was "shoe-mouth deep," but I was never quite sure how deep that was till I finally decided shoe-mouth was at the top, where you put your foot in—unless you, even as I, were too busy putting your foot in your own mouth.

WE'VE GOT VISITORS!

The grosbeaks are back after an unexplained absence of some five years. They came in with the snowstorm and promptly took charge at our feeder, facing even the resident jays aside.

I hope these handsome fellows who do not always comport themselves handsomely have improved from their initial visit. At that time we had the feeder on the outside window sill, and I had a running feud going with them as I championed the cause of less aggressive birds. That was when one certain rooster grosbeak almost literally spat in my eye.

'TRAIL OF TEARS'

I have on occasion used this space to unburden myself of a load of woes that have enlivened matters around the place but have now decided that the jeremiad which follows will suffice for the present. It is excerpted from a piece written by a Mr. Bill Lyerly for the Little Switzerland (N.C.) News-Journal and is appropriately titled, "Trail of Tears, '86." It reads, in part: (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

Construction Halts As Highwall Studied

State and local building authorities argued over what is contained in the state building code, a second engineering opinion was sought and, in the meantime, construction remained at a standstill this week on the site of the Prestonsburg Village shopping center, which city code enforcement officials say is encompassed on two sides by hazardous cliffs.

"There is nothing in the state building code" on the condition of highwalls, Jack Rhody, chief building code officer for the state Department of Housing, Buildings and Construction, said yesterday (Tuesday). "The codes do not really address the site that much." While inspectors from his department had visited the site regularly during construction of the department store and supermarket that recently opened in the unfinished shopping center, their attention was focussed more on the buildings and their foundations than on the nearby highwalls, he said.

Rhody said he did not think the highwall behind the Wal-Mart and Winn-Dixie stores constitutes an "immediate hazard." "We're not going to have the (See Story No. 7, Page 4)

Gas Rate Reduction

A reduction of twenty-four cents per 1000 cubic ft. of gas has been granted the Prestonsburg Utilities Commission by Kentucky-West Virginia Gas, Bill Harvey Howard, director of the commission told the Times yesterday. The reduction, which went into effect February 1, is being passed on to consumers.

Property Assessment Near True Value, Said

To hear state Revenue Secretary Gary Gillis tell it, Floyd county property is being assessed for taxes at close to its true value. "Most Kentucky counties appear to be doing a good job of meeting the mandate of state law that all property be assessed for tax purposes at full fair cash value," Gillis said recently. In Floyd county, for example, property is typically assessed at 92.2 percent of its market value, he said.

For all that, the perception of many that property here is widely undervalued for tax purposes is not unfounded, Floyd Property Valuation Administrator Lovel Hall conceded this week. A major reason that the discrepancy between assessed and market values is not visible to state reviewers, he said, is that the price listed on many deeds filed in the county clerk's office here significantly understates the properties' real market value.

A state Revenue Cabinet spokeswoman nevertheless defended the cabinet's method of gauging how realistically property is assessed for tax purposes in each county and insisted that the assessment/sales ratios listed annually by the cabinet represent meaningful figures. The figure for each county is arrived at, Tracey Ballman explained, by comparing the sales price on deeds recorded during the year in the county clerk's office with the value given the same properties by the property valuation administrator. A 92.2 percent assessment/sales ratio means that, on average, the value attributed to properties for tax purposes is 92.2 percent of its fair market value as indicated by recent property transactions in this county, she said.

"The ratio is the best available measure of assessment based on the market," said Ballman, who noted that it is recognized by the International Association of Assessing Officers. The IAAO recently suggested that the median assessment-to-sales ratio may be acceptable if it falls within 10 percent of market value. In other words, assessments may fall between 90 percent and 110 percent of sales figures and still fairly reflect the real value of property in a given county.

Assessment/sales ratios listed for Kentucky counties range from a low of 80.2 percent in Letcher county to a high of 119.9 percent in Fulton county. In Johnson the ratio is given as 87.1, in Magoffin 92.4, and in Knott 79.8. In Pike and several other counties certification of the assessment/sales ratio is being held up pending "further study by the cabinet."

While the selling price on properties bought with a bank mortgage is routinely listed on the deeds filed with the clerk, a "great percentage" of lawyers and others preparing deeds in eastern Kentucky do not list the true selling price on the deeds, Hall said. Moreover, a requirement that an affidavit be filed attesting to a tract's true worth in cases where it is transferred for less than its market value—from parent to child, for (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

PSC Asks Bids on Audit Of Columbia Gas of Ky.

Kentucky's Public Service Commission is seeking bids and proposals from some 60 consulting firms to conduct a management and operations audit of Columbia Gas of Kentucky.

The audit, scheduled to begin March 31, is the fourth authorized by the Commission under a legislated program requiring the PSC to conduct management audits of the state's 10 largest utilities by 1990. An audit of Kentucky Utilities was completed in June, 1984, and a study of South Central Bell ended in October, 1985. An audit of Louisville Gas and Electric Co., now under way, should be completed by April.

The Commission decided to audit Columbia Gas of Kentucky's management and operations because of major structural changes in the gas industry, according to PSC Chairman Richard D. Heman. "Changes in the regulation of the natural gas industry could have a tremendous impact on both local distribution companies and consumers as well," Heman said. "The Commission chose to audit Columbia Gas because of its large number of customers, and the potential impact of federal deregulation."

Among specific issues the Commission outlined in the proposal request are the company's affiliated relationships with the Columbia Gas system; the company's plans relating to federal deregulation of the gas industry; and the company's philosophy toward expanding its service area.

Heman noted that the audit of Columbia Gas will be the first of a gas utility. He said the PSC's management audit staff will coordinate the study for the Commission.

Other utilities to be audited under the legislated program are Kentucky Power Co., The Union Light, Heat and Power Co., Big Rivers Electric Corp., East Kentucky Power Cooperative, Western Kentucky Gas, and General Telephone Co.

Columbia Gas of Kentucky serves some 114,000 residential, commercial and industrial customers in Floyd, Pike, Martin, Magoffin and 29 other Kentucky counties.

Hazard School Capping Ceremony

The group above is composed of 12 freshman students at the Hazard Vocational School of Practical Nursing who recently received their caps in the traditional Florence Nightingale lamp-lighting ceremony. They are, from left, in front, Tonda Shepherd, Sheila Jackson, Aleisha Hurt, Linda Cress, Bonnie Cole. In back, from left, are Wilma Strong, Pam Elkins, Alpha Conley, Eva Jameson, Patricia Collins, Mary Longworth, Camilla Hollifield.

Both the lamp and the nursing cap are symbols of all nursing, and the capping ceremony marks the successful completion of the pre-clinical period which opens the door for students to enter into more advanced clinical training. The Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital and the Hazard Nursing Home provide students with clinical experience while theory is taught in the classroom at Hazard State Vocational-Technical School. Students in the group above are expected to graduate June 20.

AL-ANON IS IT FOR YOU?

Millions of people are affected by the excessive drinking of someone close. The following twenty questions are designed to help you decide whether or not you need Al-Anon:

1. Do you worry about how much someone else drinks?
2. Do you have money problems because of someone else's drinking?
3. Do you tell lies to cover up for someone else's drinking?
4. Do you feel that if the drinker loved you, he or she would stop drinking to please you?
5. Do you think that the drinker's behavior is caused by his or her companions?
6. Are routines frequently upset or meals delayed because of the drinker?
7. Do you make threats, such as, "If you don't stop drinking, I'll leave you"?
8. When you kiss the drinker hello, do you secretly try to smell his or her breath?
9. Are you afraid to upset someone for fear it will set off a drinking bout?
10. Have you been hurt or embarrassed by a drinker's behavior?
11. Does it seem as if every holiday is spoiled because of drinking?
12. Have you considered calling the police for help in fear of abuse?
13. Do you find yourself searching for hidden liquor?
14. Do you often ride in a car with a driver who has been drinking?
15. Have you refused social invitations out of fear or anxiety?
16. Do you sometimes feel like a failure when you think of the lengths you have gone to control the drinker?
17. Do you think that if the drinker stopped drinking, your other problems would be solved?
18. Do you ever threaten to hurt yourself to scare the drinker?
19. Do you feel angry, confused and depressed most of the time?
20. Do you feel there is no one who understands your problems?

If you have answered yes to three or more of these questions, Al-Anon or Alateen may help. You can contact Al-Anon or Alateen by calling 886-2893.

"All Creatures" Special

The world's most beloved country veterinarian, his family and friends return to public television for a heart-warming performance when the "All Creatures Great and Small Special" airs Thursday, March 13, at 9:00 p.m. on KET during TeleFund '86.

Against the backdrop of the Yorkshire countryside, Dr. James Herriot's novel The Lord God Made Them All has been adapted into a feature-length film. The principal cast of the series which includes Robert Hardy, Christopher Timothy, Peter Davison, and Carol Drinkwater re-create their roles for the "All Creatures Great and Small Special."

World War II has ended and James has returned to his familiar rural community of Darrowby. However, just as the great war changed the face of the world, so changed Darrowby—and Herriot's life there. His reunion with Tristan, Siegfried, his wife Helen and small son Jimmy (Harry Hrayen) outwardly appears ready for resumption as before.

However, they have grown apart and it is hard for the country vet to reckon with his situation, both personally and professionally. It has been six years since Herriot last saw a cow and his young son has grown up without his father's presence.

Tristan still drinks excessively, smokes, and plays practical jokes. Siegfried is as self-contained and phlegmatic as ever. However, Tristan appears to have benefited from his service training and is awaiting confirmation of an appointment with the Ministry of Agriculture. For Siegfried, an old flame throws distraction in his well-ordered life.

"The All Creatures Great and Small Special" is a production of Lionheart Television/BBC.

Area Will Share In Job Training Funds

Employment and training in Kentucky will get a boost this year and next of more than $44.6 million in federal Job Training Partnership Act funds.

Almost $37.5 million will be divided among the state's nine service delivery areas (SDAs), according to Human Resources Secretary Al Austin. Local private industry councils (PICs) will decide exactly what types of jobs will be funded in each area.

"Each area's allocation is made following a formula outlined by the federal government," Austin said. "Under this formula the number of unemployed and low-income residents of each SDA is compared to the total number of unemployed and low-income Kentuckians. A proportionate share is allotted for each area."

"Almost $26.2 million is available for such programs as classroom and on-the-job training programs and employability skills development for youth and adults," said Employment Services Commissioner James Daniels. "Programs funded with these dollars will be operated between July 1, 1986 and June 30, 1987."

"In addition, a separate allocation for 1986 summer youth programs is more than $11.3 million," Daniels said. "These programs are open to youth 16 through 21 years of age who are members of low-income families. In some areas jobs are offered to youth who are 14 and 15 years of age. Summer programs get underway at the end of the school year and continue until schools reopen in the fall."

Floyd will share with 22 other east Kentucky counties in $5.7 million in job training funds and $2.5 million in summer youth program funds to be distributed through the East Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program (EKCEP).

Says Longer, Colder December Was Cause of High Power Bill

Higher electric bills for some Kentucky Power Co. customers in eastern Kentucky resulted mainly from unusually cold temperatures and a longer billing cycle, according to an investigation conducted by the Public Service Commission.

"It appears that the higher bills for December resulted from a combination of factors," said PSC Chairman Richard D. Heman. "Not only were temperatures in December 1985 the coldest recorded for that month since 1963, but they occurred after an unseasonably warm November, which made the December bills seem even higher," he said.

Heman said the PSC had received about 45 telephoned or written complaints from Kentucky Power customers in the Whitesburg and Fleming-Neon areas regarding the difference in electric bills for November and December. "Although our engineering staff and consumer service representatives have been working closely with Kentucky Power personnel on the complaints, the Commission felt a more in-depth review of the situation would rapidly reveal any problems that may have contributed to the higher bills," Heman said.

An investigation by Gary Rogers, PSC consumer complaint investigator, concluded that the main contributor to high customer bills was the cold weather in December 1985, especially compared to November. The average temperature in November was 54.4 degrees, compared to 32.3 degrees in December according to the National Weather Service in Jackson. The report also noted that in some cases billing cycles for December were as much as six days longer than the usual cycles, which average 28 to 30 days.

Heman said customer complaints regarding the higher bills and changes in voltage prompted the Commission to proceed with an annual field inspection of the Kentucky Power system. A PSC electric utility inspector, Jeff Gilpin, has recorded voltage readings and will perform other tests in the area. Annual inspections of a utility take about five days and are performed over a period of several weeks.

Heman said the Commission had not discovered any impropriety in Kentucky Power's operations or billing procedures. "We plan to continue monitoring this situation to assure that Kentucky Power customers are getting the best possible service at the lowest possible cost," he said.

Kentucky Power, a subsidiary of American Electric Power, serves some 150,000 customers in all or part of these counties: Boyd, Breathitt, Carter, Clay, Elliott, Floyd, Greenup, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Leslie, Letcher, Lewis, Magoffin, Martin, Morgan, Owsley, Perry, Pike and Rowan.

KET To Present "East of Nineveh"

"East of Nineveh," a play by Kentuckian Dr. Jim Peyton, will be aired Monday, March 10, at 9:00 p.m. on KET. "East of Nineveh" originally was produced by Horse Cave Theatre in Horse Cave, Kentucky. The actors who starred in the play which premiered in July, 1985, are re-creating their roles for this KET production.

The play is about one man's struggle to resolve his past so that he may move forward into a hopeful future. Set in rural western Kentucky in 1955, "East of Nineveh" focuses on John Bumpus (portrayed by Horse Cave Theatre Director Warren Hammack), who was "born again" years ago during a revival. Bumpus is frequently frustrated with his young cousin, dim-witted B.W. Bumpus.

B.W. (William Groth) has just returned from the Korean War, and has been called to be a radio evangelist. To John's horror, B.W.'s knowledge of the Bible is nil, but he does have the enthusiastic support of an admirer, Sister Francine Boatwright (played by Bretton Frazier, director of development at Horse Cave Theatre).

John Bumpus is visited by a beatific Presence (Bill Parsons, dean of Fine Arts and Communications at Murray State University), who helps John come to grips with a tragedy in his past, as well as helping him to deal with B.W.

Peyton, a Paducah native, now has three plays to his credit. The other two are "And Enoch Walked With God," and a folk play with music entitled "John Henry." Other works include a book of short stories and numerous research studies. Peyton is a graduate of Georgetown College and the University of Kentucky where he earned his doctorate.

"East of Nineveh" is a KET production.

MONDAY MORNING, JAN. 27—We got to the Estatoe Calvary Assembly of God Church and Christian School when the Volkswagen stopped. We hailed a ride with Michelle Woody of Double Island Road who works with Susie at NC-NB.

Quickly David Grindstaff took me back with anti-freeze for the gas and I was back in action. At noon I went home to South Toe to check on the kids and the heat and water. On the way back I spy a car which had spun off the road and in the ditch on the 19-E curve at Deer Park Lake Road. As I stop to help, my car slid uncontrollably into the vehicle owned by Randy Edge of Burnsville, nephew of Realtor Jay Edge.

A quick call to Ernest Canipe and my car is extricated with little damage to either car.

When Susie and I get home about 6 p.m. the pump is not working—no water. I find the problem after some time and sons Chris, Phil and I fix it. Water! It's wonderful.

About 7:30 p.m. the central heating system quits working—and no adequate back-up. Several calls later a Rev. White of Burnsville agrees to come fix my heater, which turns out to be a frozen fuel line. He unplugs the line, wraps it with insulation, and we snuggle down to warmth and water.

About 11 p.m. and about a half-hour after Rev. White has left, it quits again, and no manner of urging, either nicely or profanely, will get it to work.

But the pump is working, in fact it won't shut off. Again, I'm in the pump room working with the pump at about midnight. No success. It just runs and runs.

With no heat in the house, I take an oil heater from the pump room to the kitchen for heat. About 2 a.m. our electric blanket quits warming. The thing to do here is "snuggle." About 3 a.m. I decide I better shut off the pump before it burns up.

At 6 a.m. there's no water, no electric blanket, just a small heater in the kitchen along with a blazing open door oven. I listen to water pipes burst.

At 8:30 a.m. we finally leave for work. Neither car will start. Susie steers while her mother and I push. Down the hill we go, and the car starts.

By this time Susie, who is terribly cold and uncomfortable, just sits and cries about the frustrations of it all. And I feel a stroke or heart attack coming on, but it never does.

How's that for the first day of the last week of a disastrous new month in a brand new year!

Preacher! I gotta talk to you!

example—is largely ignored in this section, he said.

By understating the value of the property, buyers may avoid paying transfer tax—assessed at a dollar per $1000 of market value—and property taxes. While the practice is illegal, it is "one of those laws that gets swept under the rug a little bit," Hall said. Assessors' and lawyers' professional associations are working to have the situation corrected, he said.

If the understatement of market value is widespread, it would appear to make meaningless the assessment/sales ratios listed by the Revenue Cabinet, inflating the percentage in a way that does not reflect a county's true taxation record. Ballman repeatedly declined comment on that possibility.

Drift Woman's Club News

The GFWC/KFWC Drift Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. Cheryl Hall, McDowell, for the Christmas program.

Devotion was given by Mrs. Doris Lawson with all members participating. noticing anything unusual about the driver's conduct, said Floyd schools' transportation director Ed Patton. Another driver was dispatched to take the team on its way while Hamilton was booked at the Floyd county jail.

Police were alerted to Hamilton's condition by a coal truck driver who encountered the school bus as it was driven out of Mud Creek earlier that afternoon en route to Betsy Layne to pick up its passengers. The bus driver had finished his regular run for the day, transporting students home from the John M. Stumbo Elementary School at Grethel, when he borrowed a later model bus for the Ashland trip. On his way out of Mud Creek on KY 979, he spoke abusively over a CB radio to several coal truck drivers, one of whom reported the incident to the state police post at Pikeville.

Hamilton posted an unsecured $5000 bond and is scheduled for trial in district court on April 8. A school bus driver since the beginning of the current school year, Hamilton resigned Tuesday, said Transportation Director Patton.

given a five-year sentence. On two charges of receiving stolen property, the prosecutor recommended he be given one-year sentences to run concurrently with the five-year term.

For Cole, who pleaded guilty to charges of criminal facilitation and receiving stolen property, the prosecutor recommended a two-year term.

Timing of the guilty pleas, which came after attorneys had questioned potential jurors in preparation for the trial, irked Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, who told the lawyers that, if a deal was to be struck, it should have been done during a pre-trial hearing. Because of the inconvenience caused jurors, he might not be inclined to follow the attorneys' recommendations as to sentencing, the judge warned.

In May last year a jury deliberated for nearly six hours before declaring itself unable to reach a verdict in the case. The panel was reportedly split, with seven favoring conviction and five for acquittal. Gibson was represented in the case by Prestonsburg attorney Ned Pillersdorf, Cole by Paintsville attorney C. K. Belhasen.

The KET Fund for Excellence is a program of major annual giving. Contributors receive on-air recognition statewide and their contributions help support KET's evening and weekend programming.

Seven Endorsed

The Assemblies of God Commission on Chaplains on November 18-19 gave ecclesiastical endorsement to the following persons for chaplaincy service: Melvin P. Stanley, R. Keith Wright, and Douglas K. Kinder for the Army; Walter E. Kelley and Glen W. Ryswyk for hospitals; Robert P. Phaneuf for the Air National Guard; and Edward T. Jefferies for police chaplaincy. Currently the Fellowship has 204 persons in all active areas of chaplaincy service, and 209 Assemblies of God ministers are serving as contact chaplains. A number of endorsed chaplains, including the seven listed, await assignments to active chaplaincy duty.

A warning to coal truckers was issued last week by Prestonsburg City Manager Curtis Clark in the form of a letter to area coal companies requesting that coal trucks hauling within the city limits promptly correct certain "annoying" practices, such as overloading and spilling of contents, tail-gating and faulty mufflers. Federal funds earmarked for the million-dollar Martin stream improvement project are still available, although more than one deadline for contract letting has already passed. The Prestonsburg Water & Gas System has awarded a $44,500 contract to the Frye Engineering Company, Winchester, for the installation of new pumps to increase the capacity of its plant from 1 to 1.1 million gallons a day. A raid at Harold Saturday night netted the largest haul of illegal booze in recent months. "Aunt" Belle Ellis observed her 92nd birthday Sunday, February 1, at her home on Graham street here, while a birthday dinner was enjoyed last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paris Bartley, of Central Avenue, on his 93rd birthday. The Prestonsburg Blackcats played two games last week, winning Tuesday night's contest against the Mullins Tigers, 62-58, then losing Friday night to the Belfry Pirates, 48-55. Laura Francis Brackett, Prestonsburg High senior, has been named by the John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, to receive the 1975-'76 Good Citizen Award. There died: Mrs. Elizabeth Goble Moles, 78, Thursday night at Mountain Manor Nursing Home; Robert Earl Frasure, 94, of Abbott Creek, Friday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Earl Moore, 75, near his home at Cliff last Wednesday afternoon, victim of an apparent heart attack; Mrs. Suzie Rucker Rose, 96, February 8 at her home in Huntington, W. Va.; Thelma Mae (Sally) Hunt, 54, Sunday at her home at Allen; Martin Hammond, 64, Martin businessman and father of State Senator Jim Hammond, victim of an apparent heart attack Wednesday while hunting in a field near Martin; Mrs. Mary Preston Webb, 86, of Lexington, formerly of this county, Feb. 5 at Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington; Wayne D. Blackburn, 78, of Ypsilanti, Mich., formerly of this county, in a Ypsilanti hospital, Friday; Jack Riddle, 82, of Prestonsburg, Saturday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Henry L. Meador, 80, of West Prestonsburg, last Saturday at Mt. Manor Nursing Home; James Elmer King, 54, of Bypro, Wednesday of an apparent heart attack in a Hindman doctor's office.

In an effort to procure more effective mine inspection service, Circuit Judge E. P. Hill ordered the Department of Mines and Minerals to supply representatives of the United Mine Workers of America certified copies of state mine inspectors' reports on practically every mine in Floyd county. Veterans of Foreign Wars met here Sunday, elected officers and named their local Post in honor of Walter Kerr Bowling, West Prestonsburg soldier who was reported as the first Floyd countian killed in World War II. Three youths with a record of a dozen escapes from the Kentucky House of Reform at Greendale were arrested near Drift last Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Mack Lewis. As a result of a survey made by E. R. Burke, Prestonsburg, district fish and game supervisor, and the interest of Pike county citizens in conservation of fish, 53 indictments were returned last week by the grand jury of the Pike circuit court against three Pike county coal firms, charging them with stream pollution caused by negligent coal washing methods. Rights of entry to all property within the construction or surrounding the site of the Johns Creek dam have been procured from land owners, it was said here Wednesday by H. W. Witte, engineer representing the government. Married: Miss Betty Ann Brooke, of Charlotte, North Carolina, and Major Edmund Castle, of Estill, January 30 at Charlotte. There died: Ernest McGuire, of Hi Hat, Friday on his 40th birthday, at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin; Alex L. Patton, 60, at his home at Auxier, Saturday; Austin D. Ballard Hunter was removed as Superintendent of Floyd county schools, Saturday, and Palmer Hall, of McDowell, was named to replace him. Two Floyd countians fatally injured by Chesapeake & Ohio Railway trains last week: Mrs. Hicks, of West Garrett, who died at the Beaver Valley hospital of injuries sustained Friday when she was struck by a freight train as she walked along the tracks from Lackey; Tommy Cole, 59, of Melvin, Sunday at a Martin hospital of injuries received Saturday night at Melvin when he fell against a coal "shifter". Tentatively approving the plans of a Huntington architect for the remodeling and enlargement of the Floyd county courthouse, the fiscal court Tuesday turned to the task of financing the project. Irvin Hicks, 23, of West Garrett, was instantly killed Tuesday morning when he was crushed beneath a mine motor and a coal car inside the mines of the Wells-Elkhorn Coal Company at West Garrett. Four Training Work Centers are now located in Floyd county, furnishing employment for approximately 80 women under the WPA. M. C. Russell, 22, of Weeksbury, was shot and killed Sunday morning at the home of Will Pitts, of Weeksbury. Silas Holt, 60-year old McDowell farmer, was fatally injured this week when he slipped in the snow and ice on a mountainside on the Will Hamilton Branch of Mud Creek. Married: Miss Minnie Neil, of West Garrett, and Mr. Adam Jacobs, of Estill, January 25; Miss Mae Prater, of Hueysville, and Mr. Albert Salyers, of West Garrett, January 25. There died: Rufus Blackburn, 79, of Little Point, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ida Robinson, Tuesday; W. H. Fitzpartick, 76, at his home on Middle Creek, Tuesday; James Turner, 42, Tuesday at his home at Wayland; Mrs. Lee Frasure, of Teaberry, at home.

Friday Meeting To Resume Hassle with TV Ownership

A meeting Friday at City Hall will open the next chapter in the continuing saga of Prestonsburg's dealings with Consolidated Communications, the city's television cable franchise holder.

At that time, Consolidated Communications officials are scheduled to sit down with City Attorney Larry Brown, City Administrator David Evans and Mayor Ann Latta to discuss whether the cable company will retain its exclusive franchise, whether it is now subject to effective competition and, perhaps most significant to subscribers, whether a rate increase will be granted and the system upgraded.

If the increase—about $2.40 a month—is granted, it will not go into effect until Consolidated Communications has completed the system renovation, a process estimated to cost about $472,000 and take several months to complete. However, if the city does not grant the increase now the matter may be taken out of their hands at the end of the year. Cable systems will be deregulated as of Jan. 1 1987 and free to set their own rates.

When Consolidated Communications proposed the increase in November, it was with the promise they would not raise rates again for two more years. They did not make such a commitment in the event they have to wait until deregulation to increase rates.

The city is in a bind because, as things now stand, Consolidated Communications has an exclusive contract to provide cable service here through 1992, with the option at that time to renew the agreement for one additional year. No other cable systems would be allowed to operate here during that time.

However, Brown said, it is the city's position that when the exclusive franchise was awarded in 1977 to Prestonsburg's then cable supplier, Flanery and Dingus, bids were not taken from other cable operators, thus making the agreement invalid. Flanery and Dingus sold the franchise to the Midwest cable company in November, 1979. Midwest sold out to Cablertainment in June 1982 and Consolidated Communications acquired the franchise in November, 1984. The exclusive contract was retained each time the system changed hands.

Brown said one issue which may help decide whether the franchise is valid is the question of effective competition.

While Consolidated Communications contends they are now subject to effective competition, through home satellite dishes and other means, Brown said this does not adequately meet FCC requirements which say consumers must be able to receive three or more unduplicated channels from another source. While satellite dishes would do this, city officials point out that their high cost makes them impractical for many people.

Consolidated Communications officials are tentatively set to attend Monday's city council meeting, but Mayor Latta said they, instead, will probably schedule a special meeting the first week in March, at which time the public will be able to voice concerns in the matter.

Evans said people interested in attending such a meeting should contact him at city hall after Friday.

Mayor Touches Bases For Development Aid

Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta, just back from a round of meetings in Washington, D.C., will go to Louisville Thursday for an economic development conference sponsored by the state commerce department.

Mrs. Latta will be accompanied on the trip by City Councilwoman Margie Osborne. Latta said the Louisville meeting, focusing on organizing and planning for regional development, will deal with many of the same topics as those discussed at the Washington meetings, though geared more to the state level. While in Washington, the mayor attended meetings dealing with various strategies for bringing revenue to cities.

She said she would be able to attend only a single session, although several are scheduled. She will attend a luncheon at which state Secretary of Commerce Carroll Knicely will discuss the impact of the new Toyota plant in Scott county.

Gov. Martha Layne Collins has also been invited to speak.

The mayor said the benefits of the conference were two-fold, in that she would have a chance to learn more about ways to develop the city's financial future, and to become better acquainted with lawmakers, developers and others in position to help the city.

"Anything we can learn about economic development is helpful," she said. "The better we can get to know these people, the more likely the next time they're looking for a place for economic development, they'll think of us."

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

By JANE BOND Health Educator

There will be a pap clinic at the Floyd County Health Department Thursday, February 27, from 8:30-11:30 and 1-2. This free clinic is open to women of all ages, but those women age 45 and over are especially urged to take advantage of this service since this is the high risk age for cervical cancer.

Nursing services are offered at the Beaver Outpost Clinic of the Health Department every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10-2. Services offered include: immunizations, blood pressures, anemia screening, T.B. skin tests and urinalyses. For more information concerning these services call 886-2788 or 587-2106.

Local Welcome Wagon Representative Named

Carrol Sparks has completed training as a Welcome Wagon Hostess and will soon begin visiting households in Prestonsburg.

She will call on growing families special occasions, newcomers, newlyweds, changes of residence to present useful household gifts from local businesses and professionals. As a community service, she will also distribute helpful information for many civic and cultural groups as well as government agencies. To request a Welcome Wagon visit, call at 886-9026.

HOST DINNER

At Highland Terrace a covered-dish Valentine dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Ward Hall. Blue Grass music was furnished by Ward Hall, of Paintsville, on the banjo. About 40 persons were in attendance.

VISITS MOTHER

Miss Joyce Wallen, of Lexington, visited her mother, Mrs. Thelma S. Wallen, and other members of her family here during the past weekend.

Will Not Seek Renewal Of Animal Shelter Contract

The Wildlife Federation has decided not to ask for renewal of its animal control contract with the county government. We will continue to fight as hard as ever for an animal control program in our area.

Not renewing the animal control contract is the only way to settle our disagreement with the Dog & Cat Protection Society. Our disagreement has now become a much publicized issue in the tri-state area. If such publicizing continues, then Floyd county's reputation will suffer.

In order to establish a successful animal control program for our county, the people must stand together.

Let's measure our success by the nature of the deeds that we do for humanity and all of God's living beings.

The Hale Family

In working our family history, I am trying to find more information about the descendants of my great-grandfather, Samuel Hale, who lived in the Middle Creek area of Floyd county. Samuel Hale was born in Floyd County ca 1839-40. He married Eda Helton ca 1860. Children born of the marriage were: James, Andrew Jackson (my grandfather), John, George, Martha Ann, Vinson, Mary, Delila and Benjamin.

I hope you will print my letter as possibly some of the descendants of Samuel Hale are still living in the Floyd county area. If so, I would very much appreciate hearing from them, or anyone with information that would be of help to me.

Furniture Auction At May Lodge Today

If you've ever admired the furniture at Jenny Wiley State Park's May Lodge, now is your chance to take some of it home with you.

Beginning at 9:30 this morning (Wednesday) and continuing until everything is gone, the lodge will be auctioning off most of the contents of all of its guest rooms. The one major exception are the television sets which will be kept as back-ups for new TVs which have been ordered.

Among the items to be auctioned off are beds, end tables, lamps, chairs and dressers.

The auction is coming on the heels of a major renovation under way at the lodge for several months. A member of the park superintendent's office said now that construction is finished, new furniture will be installed, with the older furnishings put up for grabs.

She made assurances that the items to be auctioned off were of good quality. "It's not junk," she said. "This is good stuff, just a little worn."

She further said that such auctions were commonplace in the park system, and were always successful. Though used furniture dealers usually account for a good deal of the items bought, she said it's the private buyers just out looking for a good deal that makes the event enjoyable.

Child's Eating Habits Affect Adult Health

What children in Kentucky eat today may be making them prime candidates for heart disease in adulthood, according to the American Heart Association.

A diet rich in cholesterol and saturated fats in childhood can promote atherosclerosis, which in turn can cause heart attack, according to Dr. Lowell Roberts, a cardiologist and president of the AHA's Kentucky Affiliate.

"Cholesterol is a fat-like substance that is found in most of the animal products we eat," Roberts said. "Over time, cholesterol and other fats build up on the inner lining of the blood vessels making them narrow and eventually closing them, which is called atherosclerosis."

Although atherosclerosis is usually not detected until adulthood, evidence of plaque buildup has been found in children and young adults.

American children consume too much cholesterol, fat and salt, according to nutritional studies. Snack foods and quick meals made of processed foods are easy to prepare and make kids happy, but they are not necessarily the kinds of food that are healthy for their hearts, according to Roberts.

"Often kids will want foods they see on television commercials or snacks their friends eat, but it's important for parents to resist giving in all the time," he said.

One recent study found that children between the ages of 8 and 12 are the largest single consumer group of salt.

"While the verdict is still out on salt," Roberts said, "there is increasing evidence that salt is a contributing factor to high blood pressure, a major risk factor of heart disease and stroke."

The American Heart Association recommends that healthy children over the age of two make moderate changes in their diets to reduce the intake of cholesterol and salt, while maintaining a nutritionally sound diet. The AHA's recommendations for children are:

The diet should be nutritionally adequate, with a variety of foods.

Eat lean meats, poultry, fish, fresh fruits and vegetables.

Eat less salty foods and processed snacks. (For instance, replace pre-packaged snack foods with crunchy vegetables.)

Reduce the intake of high-cholesterol foods like butter, eggs and fatty meats. Daily cholesterol intake can be 100 milligrams of cholesterol for every 1,000 calories, not to exceed 300 milligrams of cholesterol a day.

According to Roberts, parents can easily create heart-healthy snacks and meals for the family.

"There are heart-healthy cures for the childhood munchies," he said. "Choose things even a kid could like such as popcorn (cooked without oil and flavored with low-fat cheese or cinnamon), unsalted sunflower seeds, apples, breadsticks, whole-grain bread and low-fat cheese and yogurt. The same advice holds for adults."

VISIT IN ASHLAND

Mrs. Virginia Shivel and daughter, Mrs. Mary Jo La Pointe, were in Ashland last weekend, guests of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J.H. McClure.

CLIFF RESIDENTS DIE

The Cliff community was saddened recently by the passing of Mrs. Oma Spradlin, of Cliff, and Bill Baldrige, of nearby Bayes Branch.

In 1952, Bill Mosienko of the hockey team, the Chicago Black Hawks, scored an amazing three goals in just 21 seconds.

CORRECTION

Billy Douglas Brewer or the Tinker Fork section of Teaberry is not the same Douglas Brewer that was indicted on theft by deception charges by the grand jury. The Times regrets any confusion which may have been caused by our story.

LUNCHEON GUESTS

Mesdames Myrtle Allen, Dorothy Osborne, Grace Conley, Ethel Ratliff, and Cynthia Music, and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Branham were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gale Music and son Jim at their home on the Abbott road, Sunday.

Computer Role Defined

"We don't have departments of telephone in schools in this country, nor does it make sense to make computers the object of such study," says Judah L. Schwartz, guest on the February 23 edition of "Educational Computing." The half-hour program airs Sunday, at noon on KET.

Schwartz, professor of engineering and education at MIT, Cambridge, Massachusetts, discusses his theories about the role of computers in education with commentator Fred D'Ignazio. Schwartz believes the computer is a tool in the study of information society has deemed "worth knowing" including language, science, history and mathematics.

For Schwartz, computers and computer software are simply the most recent in a long line of opportunities that have allowed educators to explore their own understanding of a subject matter and to use this newly found insight and understanding to excite students. D'Ignazio asks Schwartz to elaborate on his theories using software he designed, as examples.

In the software segment of the show, Lydia Copeland demonstrates "Simulated Computer," designed to show the principles and concepts behind computer programming and "Core Reading and Vocabulary Development," designed to teach remedial reading to older students or to users who learn English as a second language.

In his commentary Ken Komoski urges President Reagan to heed advice from former Secretary of Education Terrell Bell to encourage compatibility among U.S. hardware and software producers, a move which Komoski says also could help improve trade deficits.

Star Lore

By Fred Cooper Tichenor

February 19-25
Be cool this weekend Aries!

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 21) Now is the time to start a permanent saving or investment program. You might invest in yourself by going into business. It's time to think about the more serious side of life and order yours accordingly. Better take it easy this weekend, you could get into serious trouble.

TAURUS (Apr 22-May 22) You are very creative and your talents are needed by a civic organization. Look for a Cancer acquaintance to drop in unexpectedly. Your weekend will get off to a poor start when your two most favorite things hit stormy waters. Better plan to stay home and re-group.

GEMINI (May 23-Jun 21) Strive to keep your feet on the ground when you receive an award. Someone at work needs your financial assistance—maybe advice, maybe a loan. A neighborhood Leo has an idea that can put you on top-of-the-world. Marriage plans can be pushed to fruition if you don't hesitate.

CANCER (Jun 22-Jul 20) Marriage dreams could materialize and if so they will last forever. This would be a wonderful time to plan an overseas vacation. Watch excessive eating and drinking, it will cause health complaints. Don't try to buy the respect of the loved one, once you start you can never quit.

LEO (Jul 21-Aug 20) The Sun is shining on your love life but there maybe a storm on the horizon. Maybe you should get off by yourself and take a good look at who you are. The loved one is going to present you with the surprise of your life. A great weekend to get out in public and let everyone see you.

VIRGO (Aug 21-Sep 22) Your loved one is very lucky now because you are in a most loving mood. Attend a gala event and be seen as much as possible. You may have to choose between aspirations for your job and aspirations for your home. Keep a tight rein on family matters or they could become expensive.

LIBRA (Sep 23-Oct 23) An elderly neighbor may cause you some trouble—grin and bear it, you'll be old one day. Watch out for a family feud and do your best to squelch it. A young acquaintance can set you up with the boss if you'll listen. Get out and look for that dream home this weekend, the time is near.

SCORPIO (Oct 26-Nov 23) Your life is being transformed although you may not realize it. You are very lucky, be sure to play the lottery if you get the chance. Don't ignore an office smart aleck, there's substance under the pretence. Your own ego can motivate you to get serious and down-to-earth.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 24-Dec 21) You want someone to take care of you now, will want adoration over the weekend, and will hit the ground running next week. Things are certainly going to be exciting around the home. You are a genius at making personal plans. A good weekend to investigate home improvements.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 17) You are your own worst enemy when you are active just for the sake of being active. Follow your hunches on financial matters. You would do an outstanding job at soliciting for your favorite charity. A good weekend to take a little trip to get away from it all.

AQUARIUS (Jan 18-Feb 16) You will make a strange assortment of friends and acquaintances. A co-worker will want to get involved with one of your far-out groups. The loved one has ideas for spending some big bucks. You can begin transforming your career into an ideal situation if you'll put it first for a change.

PISCES (Feb 17-Mar 20) Follow your dreams and you won't go wrong in anything you do. Devote some genius to working for others rather than yourself. If you're a writer, or have something that must be written, this is a positive time. This should be a most exciting weekend but anything can happen so be careful.

PLANNING

TAX RETURN FILING (Get other benefits)

With the new year comes the often unpleasant task of filing your income tax return. This is an excellent time to analyze your overall financial picture.

Many of us wish we could take the time to review our investments, check on our insurance, improve our record system, and check to see that our financial decisions are sound.

Tax return filing season gives you an opportunity to raise the questions you may have put off in reference to real estate investing or tax shelter analysis. Accountants are willing and qualified to assist you in reviewing your tax and financial questions. The more questions you ask and the more you learn about business and general tax concepts, the better equipped you become to ask profitable questions of your accountant.

If you're running a small business, perhaps you have questions about the use of computers in your business. Maybe you have questions about business expansion, or equipment lease versus buy decisions, or inventory controls, or employee pension and profit sharing plans.

Whether you're filing a very simple income tax return or a more complicated business return, you should take a few extra minutes to question your accountant about all these other very important financial concerns. Accountants handle a great variety of business and financial transactions. They make very good sounding boards. If your questions fall outside the area of expertise of your accountant, he/she will direct you to other professionals for assistance.

You may never enjoy filing your income tax return, but at least you can look forward to a profitable annual review of all your other financial concerns.

FINANCIAL

Joe Wheeler Tussey

Joe Wheeler Tussey, 64, of David, died Friday at the Highlands Regional Medical Center following an apparent heart attack.

Born January 16, 1922 at Dock, a son of the late Green and Mollie Harmon Tussey, he was a disabled miner last employed by the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company at David. A U.S. Army veteran of World War II, he was a deacon at the Highland Avenue Free Will Baptist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Jewell Wiley Tussey; two sons, Steven D. Tussey, of Cincinnati, O., and Ira Joe Tussey, of Spradlin Branch; a daughter, Cheryl Shepherd, of Prestonsburg; two brothers, Frank Tussey, of Spurlock, and Harmon Tussey, of West Prestonsburg; three sisters, Nora Fitzpatrick, of East Point, Kathleen Ousley, of Spurlock, Bess Hayes, of Chesapeake, Virginia, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Highland Avenue Free Will Baptist Church with the Rev. Clifford Austin officiating. Burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel under direction of the Carter Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Frank Fitzpatrick, Jack Ousley, Rudolph Ousley, Glen Ousley, Mike Dixon, Greg Dixon, Tony Burchett, and John Burchett.

Bradley Reffitt

Bradley Reffitt, infant son of David K. and Bonnie Collins Reffitt, of Hueysville, was stillborn last Wednesday, at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his paternal grandparents, Frank and Sue Reffitt, of Hueysville, and his maternal grandparents, Sam and Mary Belle Collins, of Paintsville.

Graveside services were conducted Wednesday, February 12, at 4 p.m. at the Gearheart cemetery, Hueysville, with Rondal Hayes officiating. Burial was under the direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

Obituaries

Hatler Brown

Funeral services for Hatler Brown, 84, were conducted Monday at 10 a.m. at his residence at Beaver with ministers of the Old Regular Baptist Church officiating. Mr. Brown died Saturday at his home following an extended illness.

He was a son of the late Wilbur and Ella Reynolds Brown, born August 5, 1901. A retired miner, he was a member of the U.M.W.A., Local No. 8100, at Ligon. He was preceded in death by his wife, Little Reynolds Brown.

Surviving him are two sons, Earl and Donald Brown, both of Beaver; seven daughters, Bernice Brown, Becky Brown, Trene Brown, Magalene Tackett, and Martha Walker, all of Beaver, Geneva Henson and Wilma Cerullo, both of Lorraine, Ohio; 23 grandchildren, and 18 great-grandchildren.

Burial was made in the family cemetery at Beaver under direction of the Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home.

IN APPRECIATION

Perhaps you sent a lovely card, Or sat quietly in a chair, Perhaps you sent a funeral spray, If so we saw it there, Perhaps you spoke the kindest words, That any friend could say, Perhaps you were not there at all, Just thought of us that day, Whatever you did to console our hearts, We thank you so much, whatever the part.

THE FAMILY OF HOBERT HAYES

AUXIER NEWS

Andy J. Blanton Chapter 18, Disabled American Veterans, will meet at 7:30 p.m., Friday, at the Auxier Fire Department. The ladies auxiliary will also meet at this time, and all members are urged to attend.

Following the meeting, refreshments will be served.

Norah James Scalf

Mrs. Norah James Scalf, 74, widow of Henry P. Scalf, well-known regional historian, died Sunday night at her home on Mare Creek, victim of an apparent heart attack.

Mrs. Scalf had recently returned home from a Lexington hospital where she was treated for influenza symptoms and had been believed recovering when she suffered the fatal attack.

She worked with her late husband, first as his associate in publishing the East Kentuckian magazine, also in researching and typing his manuscripts. She continued publication of the magazine after Mr. Scalf's death in 1979.

A daughter of Tom and Angelina Robinson James, she was born on Johns Creek Jan. 9, 1912. At her retirement from the teaching profession she had taught in the Floyd county school system 28 years and had been active in 4-H Club work much of that time. She was a member of the Methodist Church.

Surviving are two sons, Wallace Julian Scalf and Albert Devon Scalf, both of Stanville, and one daughter, Mrs. Brenda Sue Wells, Miami, Fla.; one brother, Ollie James, of Gulnare, six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m. today (Wednesday) from the Hall Funeral Home by the Rev. Belmont Johnson. Burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel.

Elder Green Bradley

Elder Green Bradley, 93, of Wayland, died last Wednesday, February 12 at the Highlands Regional Medical Center following a short illness.

He was born February 4, 1893 at Wayland, a son of the late Butler and Mary Collins Bradley, and was a retired employee of the Southeastern Gas Company. He was a member of the Caney Fork Regular Baptist Church, Dema, where he was an assistant moderator. He had been a minister of the Old Regular Baptist Church for 55 years. An Army veteran of World War I, he was preceded in death by his wife, Hattie Bradley.

Survivors include a son, James D. Bradley, of Wayland; a daughter, Avanelle Blondell, of Wayland; a brother, Glidden Bradley, of Wayland; four sisters, Lucy Gibson, of Langley, Marie Slone and Lina Hopkins, both of Wayland, Maude Slone, of Dema, eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Friday at 10 a.m. at the Hall Funeral Home with Regular Baptist ministers officiating. Burial was made in the Bradley family cemetery at Wayland.

Curtis Ramey

Curtis Ramey, 61, of Hueysville, died last Wednesday, February 12, while visiting relatives at Quicksand, following an apparent heart attack.

He was a son of the late John M. and Hattie Collins Ramsey, born April 14, 1924 at Handshoe. A retired miner, he was a former foundry worker at Kendallville, Indiana. He was preceded in death by his wife, Laura Terry Ramey, January 7, 1982.

Surviving are three sons, Ray Ramey, of Kendallville, Ind., Claude Ramey, of Lancer, Bradford Ramey, of Hueysville; three daughters, Elva Ramey and Barbara Ellen Ramey, both of Avilla, Ind., Evil Zolman, of La Grange, Ind., Nelly Fay Howard, Sherlene Rose, Clausie Howard, all of Garrett, Brenda Lee Patton, of Lancer; a brother Randy Ramey, of Hueysville; two sisters, Hermie Oxspring, also of Hueysville, Mae Goldie Johnson, of LaFayette, Ohio, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Rock Fork United Christian Church, Garrett, with Sterlin Bolen, Bethel Bolen and James Johnson officiating. Burial was made in the Wilce Handshoe cemetery at Handshoe under direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

William (Bill) Hall

William (Bill) Hall, 68, of Harold, died Monday, at his residence following an illness.

Born February 13, 1918 a son of the late Orville and Mary Belle Hall, he was a retired miner.

He is survived by his wife, Lillian Hall; six sons, Raymond Conn, of El Paso, Tex., Charles Luther Hall, of Lorain, O., Bill Hall, Jr., of Ft. Carson, Col., James B. Hall, of Lorain, O., Earl E. Hall, of Hall, Eric Hightower, of Hall; nine daughters, Mary Nettie Mitchell, of Lorain, O., Norma Jean McKinney, Betty M. Stevens, Phyllis Sue Akers, all of Harold, Ava Rogers, Flosie D. Weinbrant, Virgie L. Germerk, all also of Lorain, O., Margaret J. Haney, of Abbeville, Miss., Lydia Conn, of Dana; a brother, Charlie Hall, of Ashtabula, O.; 14 grandchildren, 16 step-grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 11 a.m. at the Old Regular Baptist Church at Toler Creek, with Russell Jacobs, Ed Kidd, Luther Conn, and Lennie Boyd officiating. Burial will be made in the Buckingham cemetery at Bevinville under direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

Edward Slone

Edward Slone, 75, of Rockfield, formerly of Price, died last Thursday, February 13, at the Bowling Green Medical Center following an extended illness.

A retired miner, he was the son of the late Morrel and Nancy Slone and was born October 24, 1910. He was a member of the U.M.W.A., Local No. 5899, Wheelwright.

Surviving are his wife, Mary Triplett Slone; three sons, Buford Slone, of Martin, Charles Slone, of Jamestown, O., Edward Slone, Jr., of Burgin; a stepson, Jeff Slone, of Garner; three daughters, Aline Simpson, of Fayetteville, N.C., Irene Little, of Allen, Fay Hall, of Jeffersonville, Ind.; a brother, Willie Slone, of Wheelwright; three sisters, Meredith Slone, of Pippa Passes, Martha Indman, of Jones Fork, Edith Cook, of Seco; 23 grandchildren, and 19 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Hollybush Old Regular Baptist Church at Pippa Passes with ministers of the church officiating. Burial was made in the Trace cemetery at Pippa Passes under direction of the Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home.

H.M. "Hobe" Howard

H.M. "Hobe" Howard, 88, of Paintsville, died February 5 at Paul B. Hall Medical Center.

A native of Magoffin county, Howard moved to Paintsville shortly after the end of World War I, and became a prominent well-known businessman and landowner. He owned the Dodge automobile dealership in the early 20's, and later owned and operated beverage distributing businesses.

Howard built several business buildings in Paintsville, and was a charter member and officer of the Paintsville Businessmen's Association, the forerunner of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Howard was born August 9, 1897, in Magoffin county, the son of William and Phoebe Arnett Howard.

Surviving are a son, William (Bill) Howard, of Tucson, Ariz.; two daughters, Nancy H. Archer, of Melbourne, Fla., and Marilyn H. Crowe, of Tucson; a sister, Beulah Gallbramer, of Charlotte, N.C.; and one grandchild.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Green Bradley, wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to all who showed us their concern and kindness in our time of sorrow. We would like to thank the Regular Baptist ministers and the many friends and loved ones who showed their love and respect. A special thanks to the Hall Funeral Home staff for their kind and efficient service. May God bless all.

THE GREEN BRADLEY FAMILY

(John) Gorman B. Wiley

(John) Gorman B. Wiley, 59, of Route 3, North Judson, Ind., died at 10:23 a.m., Thursday, Feb. 6, in Starke Memorial Hospital, Knox, Ind., after an illness.

Mr. Wiley, son of Arthur and Susie Daniels Wiley, was born Oct. 16, 1926 at Lackey. He had lived in the North Judson area for the past 26 years, moving there from Garrett. On March 2, 1955, in Prestonsburg, he married Jo Anna Johnson. She survives, with two sons, John Ray and Robert Lee, both of North Judson; two grandchildren; a sister, Aileen Hall, of Garrett, and a brother, Avery Wiley, of Prestonsburg. Mr. Wiley was a 25-year employee of Ford Motor Co., Chicago Heights, Ill. He was an Army veteran of World War II and the Korean War. He had been a member of the Free United Baptist Church of North Judson for more than 11 years.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m., Feb. 8 at the Free United Baptist Church, North Judson, with the Rev. Manuel Spencer officiating. Burial was made in Crown Hill cemetery, Knox, Indiana.

Active pallbearers were Greg Johnson, John Johnson, Phillip Frazier, Wendell White, Charlie Hurd, and Roger Chapman, all nephews-in-law of the deceased.

★ Cancer Hopeline

QUESTION: I am scheduled to have cryosurgery for what my doctor called moderate dysplasia of the cervix. Can you explain how this treatment is done? What can I expect afterward?

ANSWER: Cryosurgery is a treatment that destroys abnormal cells by freezing them with liquid nitrogen or carbon dioxide gas. It is often advised to treat dysplasia, an abnormal cell growth of the cervix.

The procedure is often done in the doctor's office and no medication is needed. After you are positioned on the examining table, the doctor will use a speculum to part the walls of the vagina and expose the cervix. The gas used for freezing is passed from the tank to the cervix for several minutes while an ice ball forms. The entire process takes only about 15 minutes to perform.

During the freezing and for a few hours or days after, you may feel some mild cramping, like menstrual cramps. Also, your knees may feel shaky. Lying on the table and resting for a few minutes may be helpful. Most women have a heavy, watery and sometimes bloodtinged vaginal discharge for two to four weeks.

You should also be aware of some side effects that are not normal. They include fever and chills, very heavy vaginal bleeding and extreme pain in the lower abdomen or back. Any of these symptoms should be reported to your doctor right away.

The cervix takes about two weeks to heal after cryosurgery. During that time, you should not use tampons, douche or have sexual intercourse. These could injure the cervix, causing infection or bleeding. It is also very important that you have follow-up Pap smears as advised by your doctor.

For more information on the treatments for dysplasia, call the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER and ask for Abnormal Pap Smears or What You Need to Know About Dysplasia. Or write to the Cancer Information Service, McDowell Cancer Network, 800 Rose Street, Lexington, Ky. 40536. The Cancer Information Service is a program of the Kentucky Community Cancer Program.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Bill Baldrige wishes to thank all those who sent flowers, brought food or visited during our time of sorrow. We also thank Rev. T.A. Patton for his comforting words and the singers for their beautiful songs. Thanks to the Carter Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service and special thanks to Dr. Roger Jurich and Medi Home Care.

WHAT SHOULD A CHILD BE TOLD ABOUT DEATH?

Do you explain Grandpa's death with a fairy tale? Do you say, that God "called him away?" Or do you answer truthfully, and simply, so that the child may relate his grandfather's death to familiar things; flowers, for example, which live, grow, wither and finally die?

We believe the flower example can be understood by the child because it relates to things he's seen and can grasp. "Flowers," you may explain, "don't live a long time but we like them while we have them. Grandpa lived a long time and you and he had many good times together. But, like the flowers, he too, died. We will remember him with love, won't we?"

The child needs to understand that what has happened is a natural course of events—like the seasons and the rising and setting of the sun. He comes closer to his family through such honest involvement, maturing as he finds his own sadness is shared and understood.

Your questions and comments on this and other subjects are welcome—in private or publicly through this column.

K Mart Campaign To Aid Fishing

Over 2,100 K Mart stores across the United States are giving customers an opportunity to "give a fish a home."

Beginning Feb. 15, K Mart kicked off a major membership campaign on behalf of the FishAmerica Foundation (FAF), a non-profit organization which funds projects for the protection and enhancement of North American waterways and fisheries. Maxwell Parsons, president of K Mart Enterprises, the sporting goods and automotive division of K Mart Corporation announced today.

Visit any K Mart Sports Center and pick up an application to join the FAF by sending them a donation. For $5, you can become a member and receive a FAF patch and for $10 or more you will get a FAF fishing cap acknowledging your support.

"A FAF membership provides sports enthusiasts with a chance to give something back to the environment," said Parsons.

"K Mart Sports Centers are the ideal place to develop our membership," said James C. Hubbard, managing director of FishAmerica Foundation. "With members picking up applications in every one of K Mart's stores, we can raise much of the funds needed to combat the shrinking fish population and clean up waterways in North America."

K Mart has provided support for the FishAmerica Foundation since it was created in 1983. In just three years, K Mart has donated over $75,000 to FAF.

In addition to a nationwide membership campaign through its 2,100-plus stores, Parsons is personally asking KE vendors to pledge their support to FAF.

"K Mart is the nation's leading retailer in fishing tackle equipment, therefore we are very interested in the future of fishing," said Parsons.

"The FishAmerica Foundation was created to become private industry's statement of commitment to our natural resources and specifically addresses two of the most serious problems facing sportfishing today: Deteriorating water quality and declining fish populations.

"FAF raises money to support grass roots projects that are generally not eligible to receive grants from federal and state funds," said Hubbard.

Also, Chester Allen, of Field's Creek near Wayland, and Ollie Allen, who is employed at Food City, here, are not the Chester and Ollie Allen who were named in the same article as indicted on charges of defrauding the Ky. Food Stamp and AFDC Programs in October, 1979.

WIN GRID SCHOLARSHIPS...

B.D. Numery, halfback, at left with Prestonsburg High School football coach "Chuke" Williams, center, and Jerry Brummer, assistant football coach at Marshall University, has received a football scholarship to Marshall, as has John Goble, Blackcat quarterback. Both young men have excelled academically as well as athletically.

Numery is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dixon Numery, of Prestonsburg, and Goble is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon Goble, of Cow Creek.

"This is the highlight of an outstanding year having two boys chosen for scholarships from a AA school. It exemplifies to me what football is all about," Coach Williams said. "Both these boys are outstanding athletes and students. This is a tremendous ending to a great year."

Legislation Would Boost Pay of Boards

Local school boards could receive more money per day if the Kentucky General Assembly approves House Bill 471 during the current legislative session.

State Representatives Jody Richards, D-Bowling Green, and Roger Noe, D-Harlan, co-sponsored the bill which ups local school board salaries from $20 to $40 per day. Richards said the total amount of expenses within school districts could not exceed $1000 a calendar year if the bill passes. Current law sets the limit at $400.

The House Education Committee favorably passed House Bill 471. The bill now goes to the House floor for a vote.

Parents Are Urged To Visit Schools

Friday, February 28, will be an in-service day for all Floyd County school personnel. Staff members will meet at their respective schools with no students in attendance. Parents are urged to visit the schools, between the hours of 1 and 3:30 to meet with teachers, regarding their child's academic progress.

In Search of Ancient Diseases

Studying Bare Bones of History, Archaeologists Glean Information About Lifestyles, Illnesses, Of Ancestors Who Lived Thousands of Years Ago

By MADELEINE JACOBS
Smithsonian News Service

Dead men don't tell tales, but as many an anthropologist will tell you, skeletons can speak volumes. Consider, for example, the skeletal remains of a man excavated in 1983 at an archaeological dig in Bahrain. Although no written accounts exist of his life 4,000 years ago, archaeologists relate this story:

The 5-foot-6-inch-tall, powerfully built man was in his 40s or 50s when he died, a ripe old age by antiquity's standards. For most of these years, he lived elsewhere, perhaps in south Asia—possibly India—or Iran, where the water supplies are unusually high in naturally occurring fluorine.

His fused spine and mottled brown teeth, typical of an uncommon disease caused by excessive fluorine in the diet, were the tell-tale clues to this man's past. Since the other skeletons excavated thus far at the Bahrain site show no evidence of this disease, scientists conclude that the man probably migrated to Bahrain, then as now a busy trading center in the Persian Gulf.

For decades, archaeologists have been using the bare bones of history to glean information about the lifestyles of our distant ancestors. Now, a growing specialty in anthropology—a 150-year-old field known as "paleopathology"—is unearthing new insights about the origins and patterns of disease over a span of thousands of years.

To physical anthropologists like Dr. Donald J. Ortner of the Smithsonian's National Museum of Natural History, the renewed emphasis on paleopathology—the study of ancient disease processes, with emphasis on skeletal remains—is overdue.

"I'm interested in the big question of how humans adapt," Ortner says, "and different disease conditions reflect both biological and cultural components of the past." Infectious disease, for example, increases with urbanization. Other diseases, such as lung cancer and heart disease, reflect changes in the environment, diet and lifestyles.

Disease can also have dramatic consequences for entire civilizations. In America in the 18th century, smallpox wiped out entire Indian tribes. "In 1918, at least 21 million people worldwide died from influenza," Ortner notes. "In the more distant past, plague and epidemics decimated major cities. Thus, the role of disease in human adaptation is one of the most important problems in the study of our biological history."

Ortner's key to unlocking the secrets of the skeleton is the Smithsonian's incomparable collection of carefully cataloged skulls and bones. This, the world's largest such collection, contains more than 35,000 skeletons. They represent nearly every geographic area of the world; some date back 5,000 years, to the early development of cities.

As a source of information on ancient disease, skeletal remains are both "tantalizing and frustrating," Ortner explains. "The bad news is that most diseases that kill large numbers of people don't affect the skeleton. Influenza, smallpox, heart disease, lung cancer, the dramatic things—these very rarely affect the skeleton. The diseases that affect about 10 percent of archaeological skeletons are relatively chronic illnesses.

"The good news is that among diseases that do affect the skeleton, there are some very important illnesses—for example, arthritis, certain types of cancer, tuberculosis, syphilis. In fact, virtually all diseases found in modern bones are also seen in ancient bones." Best of all, compared to other archaeological evidence that could give clues about disease patterns, skeletal remains are relatively abundant.

At the very least, a well-documented skeleton should reveal to a skilled physical anthropologist the person's age, race and sex. Then, Ortner says, comes the tricky part: figuring out what is disease and what is normal.

After years of studying normal and pathological skeletons, Ortner and a long-time colleague, Dr. Walter G.J. Putschar, a consultant pathologist with the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, put their findings together in a 488-page volume, described by some anthropologists as the "bible" of paleopathology.

Diseases manifest themselves in the bones in one of several ways—by a build up or destruction of bone tissue or both. In addition, bone tissue may appear normal but have abnormal shape or contour. Various disease processes often preferentially affect groups of bones, specific bones and specific locations in bones.

For example, when it affects the skeleton, tuberculosis most often shows up in the form of destroyed vertebrae, the bones of the spinal column. Syphilis affects parts of the skeleton with less soft tissue, giving the top of the skull a worm-eaten look and disfiguring the shinbone and the ulna (the larger of the two bones of the forearm).

Several diseases appear to affect the skeleton in similar ways, however, and it is often difficult to make a firm diagnosis solely on the basis of the bones. One advantage the paleopathologist often has over a pathologist who deals with living people is access to an entire skeleton. The total skeleton can provide valuable information in making a diagnosis and a broader understanding of the range of expression of skeletal diseases in untreated cases. Ortner uses visual inspection and X-rays of the bones, as well as chemical and microscopic analysis where appropriate, to come up with a diagnosis.

There are more than a few mysteries to keep things interesting for Ortner and Putschar, who are now investigating 500 of the most unusual pathological skeletons in the Smithsonian's collection. The three-year study is funded by the National Institute of Arthritis, Diabetes and Digestive and Kidney Diseases.

Information on selected disease patterns in ancient specimens in the Smithsonian's extensive skeletal collections is being computerized by Dr. Donald J. Ortner and his research assistant, Janet Beck, in a project funded by the National Institutes of Health. Ortner holds a skull from Gabon, Africa, that shows signs of chronic infection. The X-ray of a Peruvian Indian skull in the photo at left reveals numerous lesions from metastatic cancer.

Dead men don't tell tales, but skeletons can speak volumes. From the bare bones of history unearthed at archaeological sites around the world, physical anthropologists like Dr. Donald J. Ortner, of the Smithsonian's National Museum of Natural History in Washington, D.C., can reconstruct much about lifestyles of ancient humans. Spread before Ortner are bones, selected from the Smithsonian's collections, which show evidence of disease processes.

In 1977, anthropologists continued excavation of a 5,000-year-old fortified town, Bab edh-Dhra, in Jordan. A number of the bones found in the burial tombs showed signs of various disease processes. Here, Smithsonian anthropologist Donald J. Ortner examines the skeletal remains of at least four people, found in a tomb at the base of a 4-foot-deep shaft.

Smithsonian News Service Photo by Donald J. Ortner

in Jordan. One of the skulls, that of a 7-year-old child, showed possible evidence of tuberculosis.

For starters, there are the five baffling cases from Alaska, dated around 1750. The skeletons show a pattern of lesions that does not resemble any condition except a fungal disease. "But this kind of infection among modern Eskimos is almost unheard of," Ortner says. "We don't know the answer, but perhaps these individuals had weakened immune systems from another disease that led to a rare, opportunistic infection by fungi."

Piecing together the past also leads to present controversies. One of the longest and most intense debates in the medical profession centers on the origins of syphilis. Some historians of medicine argue that the disease was introduced into the New World by Columbus and his crew. Another school contends that syphilis existed in the New World before Columbus arrived and was introduced into the Old World by Columbus' band on their return. A third view holds that the disease existed in both the Old and New Worlds.

Enter paleopathology into the debate. Several years ago, Ortner assisted in an excavation of an adult skeleton near Dulles Airport in Northern Virginia. The skeleton showed definite signs of syphilis and was dated to around 1100 or 1150. Though the questions about syphilis are far from settled, Ortner says, "this skeleton is one of the best pieces of evidence so far that syphilis was in the New World before Columbus."

Tuberculosis, another disease often associated with urban life, apparently also had its origins in ancient times. In 1977, Ortner participated in the excavation of a 5,000-year-old fortified town, Bab edh-Dhra, in Jordan near the Dead Sea. In one tomb, the skull of a 7-year-old child and an 18-year-old man provided evidence of tuberculosis, two of the earliest cases of this disease on record.

Far from being academic, such cases have meaning to today's clinicians, says Dr. Bruce Ragsdale, a pathologist at Georgetown University Medical Center in Washington, D.C., and a Smithsonian research associate who has worked with Ortner and Putschar. "Most pathologists today are content if they can assign a name to a pathological specimen. To the paleopathologist, that's just the beginning. The really interesting questions are: Where did these diseases come from, how have they changed over time, how do various diseases relate to each other, which are old, which are new, do some no longer exist?"

The origins of rheumatoid arthritis, a debilitating disease that afflicts an estimated 7 million American adults, is one of the conditions of interest to clinicians. Some researchers believe that the disorder is relatively new, arriving on the scene around 1700 as the result of a virus that mutated from another virus. However, Ortner has studied a skeleton of a 35-year-old Alaskan woman who lived around 1200 that shows indications of rheumatoid arthritis (though it could also be one of several diseases that resembles this type of arthritis). Additional cases from antiquity could help resolve the evolutionary history of this crippling illness.

Says Ragsdale, who specializes in skeletal diseases: "Those in modern medicine who are interested in diseases of the kidneys, liver and lungs are out of luck because such specimens have only been collected systematically for 150 years or so. But the bones are there, right back to the beginning of humanity. Mapping diseases over time can tell us about the challenges humanity faced in the past and what we may face in the future."

LENT

The Days Before Easter

By ELMA JESSEN,

Local Council of Church Women
Easter has been the high point of the Christian believer's year since the days of the early apostolic Church. Celebrating the day that Jesus rose from the dead after his crucifixion, it can be accurately dated because the events took place during the celebration of the Jewish Passover. While we do not know the time of year when Jesus was born, we do know his final week on earth was at the time of the Passover.

The Christian year consists of many "little Easters," as Christians gather on the first day of the week to remember the resurrection weekly. Over the centuries other special days were added. Naturally the period before Easter became a time of special devotion, particularly recalling the events of Holy Week, beginning with Palm Sunday (celebrating the Triumphal Entry of Jesus into Jerusalem) through the Sunday following.

The period of Lent, now celebrated as the 40 days before Easter (Sundays are not included), comes from the old English word "lencen" or "lengthen." Thus it signifies the lengthening days that herald the coming of spring and Easter. The first day of Lent is Ash Wednesday, February 12th this year because Easter comes very early—March 30th.

Whatever our church tradition, the period before Easter can and should be used as a period of renewed devotion to Christ. Fasting, special services, devotional and Bible reading, community worship services, and renewed commitment to the service of Christ are some of the ways an individual can observe this period.

Dr. Brazelton focuses in on non-nuclear families

By Amanda Bruce

The new season of "What Every Baby Knows," Dr. T. Berry Brazelton's show on the Lifetime network, begins this week, and some important programs are planned, focusing on the different families of the '80s. Dr. Brazelton has prepared three episodes on families with arrangements other than the traditional nuclear unit: one on stepparents, one on stepsiblings and one on "two families," families in which the two separated and/or divorced parents have joint custody.

There will also be a program about what toys and games are good for children at different developmental stages of their growth and one show, "Conversations with Kids," in which Dr. Brazelton will devote a whole program to talking with 5- to 8-year-olds.

Does Dr. Brazelton think that mothers today are different from mothers of other generations? "Mothers are more intelligent now," says Dr. Brazelton, who was in New York recently talking about his show and his new book, "Working and Caring." "They're really searching for their own answers, and they don't want to be told what to do. It's a very enlightened era."

Mothers — and anyone else with an interest in child-rearing — should check the Lifetime network Monday through Friday at 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. (ET). Dr. Brazelton won't tell you exactly what to do, but you will gain plenty of insight into your child.

CABLE NEWS — "The Duellists," a 1977 Cannes Film Festival award winner, is the "Premiere Event" on the USA Network on Feb. 23. It stars Keith Carradine and Harvey Keitel as two of Napoleon's officers who continue to duel after they've left his service ... Judy Davis, Peggy Ashcroft and Alec Guinness star in "A Passage to India" (1984), a film version of E.M. Forster's novel about India under British rule. The film garnered 11 Academy Award nominations and premieres Sunday, Feb. 23, on HBO.

RIPTIDE

Cody, Boz and Nick (Perry King, Thom Bray and Joe Penny) find themselves dealing with several roughnecks in a lawless backwoods town that doesn't take kindly to strangers, in the "Echoes" episode of "Riptide," TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 25 on CTV. Series star King will make his directorial debut with the episode.

HANNAH AND HER SISTERS (PG-Orion) Starring Woody Allen, Mia Farrow ★ ★ ★

By J.T. YURKO

Woody Allen has written and directed 13 films to date. They range from the wildly comic ("Take the Money and Run" and "Sleeper") to the serious ("Interiors"). Scarcely a year ago, Allen released "The Purple Rose of Cairo," and while other filmmakers are scrambling for the "right" script or creative financing, Woody Allen has already written, directed and starred in his 14th film, "Hannah and Her Sisters."

We hardly need any further proof of Allen's ranking as one of the American cinema's great film makers, but here it is. "Hannah and Her Sisters" is clearly the work of an artist at the peak of his talents. He presents the human condition with the insight of a philosopher — and a sense of humor.

Like many of Allen's past films, the borders between real life and screen story intermingle. As in "Interiors," the story concerns three sisters. One of the sisters is Mia Farrow. Miss Farrow's mother in the film is played by Maureen O'Sullivan, her real-life mother, and her children are played by her real-life children.

Even the professions of some of the characters have a real-life ring. Miss O'Sullivan plays an aging movie star, and Allen plays a writer for a TV comedy show (which he was in the 1950s for "Your Show of Shows").

But the real substance is a superbly built tale about coping with the absurdities of 20th century life. Each sister represents a different attitude and a different method of coping. Miss Farrow plays the sure, earthy, maternal figure; Barbara Hershey plays the sexual, sensual figure; and Dianne Weist plays the figure caught — like most of us — in the middle.

Cynics may point out that this is familiar Allen territory. But Allen's wit has never been more precise nor has it ever been more laugh-out-loud hysterical.

FAME

Robin Leach takes an 80-hour jaunt around the world

By Lynn Hoogenboom

"There's no such thing as a poor star," Robin Leach declares.

It's lucky for him that there isn't. Leach has found fame chronicling lavish lifestyles and conspicuous consumption among the ridiculously rich, and "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous" has become the second most popular syndicated show (just behind "Wheel of Fortune") on television today.

Robin Leach

It's obviously a bit of a strain for Leach to keep topping himself (how can he top the doctor in Nevada who had a canal excavated through the basement of his hotel and shipped home a gondola after he fell in love in Venice?), but he feels more than equal to the task.

In an upcoming special, he will attempt to make the same journey Jules Verne chronicled in "Around the World in 80 Days" in less than 80 hours, touching down in places like Paris, Kuwait, Bombay and Hong Kong. He will also be presenting segments on the world's 10 best restaurants, hotels, yachts, etc. "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous: The 1986 World's Best" will be airing nationally between Feb. 28 and March 23. (Check local listings.)

Choosing the world's 10 best hotels and restaurants was a bit easier than it might seem. "We know, from having done the show since August '83, where the rich and famous people insist on staying," Leach says. "And we've checked the places out. We've been to each one." Leach attributes the success of "Lifestyles" to the fact that "In each one of the pieces, there is a story. We research our stories in advance so I know it's going to give me all the formulas."

He's also a bit picky about who he'll put on the air. "You need someone who's animated and full of energy," he says. "And you need someone who can talk coherently. There are people we come back from interviewing that I wouldn't waste the money on. They can't talk properly, we won't run it."

And what kind of lifestyle does Leach aspire to himself? "I don't like all that flash," he says. "I will do a piece on myself when the show comes to an end. But it will surprise people. I don't own a triplex with 30 bedrooms. Who would want it?"

TV Nostalgia

By Andy Noble

A year after he ended his role as indefatigable defense attorney Perry Mason, Raymond Burr returned to series TV in the starring role of "Ironside." Burr was still fighting for justice — this time as a former chief of detectives who was forced to leave the police department when a would-be assassin's bullet left him paralyzed from the waist down.

"Ironside" became a special consultant to the San Francisco Police Department; a wheelchair-bound crimefighter who was assisted by Det. Sgt. Ed Brown (Don Galloway) and Mark Sanger (Don Mitchell), a former juvenile delinquent. The series ran on NBC from 1967 to 1975.

"Ironside" was part of a particularly odd sub-genre of detective shows that flourished in the early '70s: the detective who was at a distinct disadvantage against his opponent. In addition to the paralyzed Ironside, there was the overweight "Cannon" (William Conrad), the blind "Longstreet" (James Franciscus) and "Harry-O" (David Janssen), who used public transportation to nab criminals because his car never worked.

Question: What was Chief Ironside's first name?

Answer: Robert

'Riptide' star still single

By Kate Woods

Is "Riptide" star Joe Penny married? Has he done any other series? — F.M.B., Green Bay, Wis.

Penny is still single. He's done one other series, "The Gangster Chronicles," in which he played Bugsy Siegel.

How old is Erik Estrada? When is his birthday? — R.L., Lodi, Calif.

Estrada is 36, and his birthday is March 16. What happened to "Code Name: Foxfire" and "Street Hawk" on Friday nights? The TV schedule seems to change every week. — H.E., Boise, Idaho

Abrupt arrivals and departures have become the norm, with network executives frantically trying to piece together winning lineups. "Foxfire" (NBC) was lost in the shuffle, but "Street Hawk" (ABC) returns this week, on May 2. You will note that it's now airing Thursday night.

What's the mailing address for "Santa Barbara"? — C.S., Stone Ridge, N.Y.

Write to Dobson Productions, 3000 W. Alameda Ave., Burbank, CA 91523.

Joe Penny

I heard that Jerry Mathers was going to make a new "Beaver" series, but I haven't seen anything since the TV movie. What happened? — L.F., South Bend, Ind.

Mathers is back in "Still the Beaver," but you can only see it if you subscribe to Disney's pay-cable channel, The Disney Channel.

Is Timothy Van Patten, who was on "The Master," one of Dick Van Patten's sons? Where have I seen him before? — D.S., Vandalia, Mich.

Tim is Dick's half-brother. You may remember him as Salami, one of the basketball players on CBS's "The White Shadow" a few seasons back.

March One of Best Months For Catching Large Bass

Even though there's snow on the ground now, it won't be long until it's time to go bass fishing this spring.

March is one of the best months for catching big bass, a time when many a seven or eight-pound lunker succumbs to a fluttering jig-and-pork rind combination, or to a spinnerbait bounced slowly just off the bottom.

The early spring "wake-up" period, when the days are getting longer and water temperatures are slowly rising, always produces the biggest fish of the year—big females ripe with eggs who are gorging themselves in a pre-spawn feeding frenzy.

While the larger impoundments like Barkley, Kentucky, Barren, Herrington and Taylorsville seem to get most of the attention by serious bass anglers, there's a small state-owned lake in west central Kentucky that's one of Kentucky's top bass producers, an impoundment that has yielded more than a few 10-pounders in the past few years.

It's Lake Malone, the 692-acre lake built in 1961, which does indeed rank right up there with those major impoundments mentioned above when it comes to bass productivity. Recently, in fact, Lake Malone was overpopulated with small bass. This condition led to the establishment of a "no size limit" on the lake for the past three years.

But last December at its quarterly meeting, the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Commission voted to adopt a 12"-2 size limit at Lake Malone in an effort to maintain the quality bass fishery which now exists in this 10-mile-long, wishbone-shaped impoundment. Lake Malone is located in Todd, Logan and Muhlenberg counties, approximately 15 miles south of Greenville.

It's believed that the "no size limit" management strategy worked because recent samples have shown that the bass population is back in balance. Lake Malone is managed by David Bell, the Northwestern Fishery District biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Effective March 1, 1986, the size limit on bass at Lake Malone will be 12 inches, although anglers may keep two bass under the minimum length from their daily creel of 10. This will prevent a further buildup of undersize bass in the impoundment where it's been proven that bass have good recruitment and fast growth rates.

A fertilization program which is now under way should also help the bluegill population in the rocky, scenic lake which has a mean depth of 20.8 feet and lots of cover-submerged timber, shoreline boulders, deep points and submerged ledges.

STATE AND CITY officials conferred with developers Tuesday on the site of the Prestonsburg Village shopping center, construction of which has been halted pending further investigation of the hazards presented by the sheer cliff faces surrounding the project. A second engineer's report on the problem is expected this week.

SNOW LADEN TREES were a far from uncommon sight a few days ago when the area was hit by the biggest snowfall of the season, thus far.

FENDER BENDERS WERE NOT UNCOMMON during the weekend's snow, but this motorist took a nose dive into a gully beside the First Presbyterian Church, here, Friday. The driver was reported hospitalized, and two parked cars were not exactly in mint condition after being hit.

Filing A Tax Return Not Always Necessary

As an older taxpayer, you may be one of the estimated 2.9 million people who are unnecessarily filing an income tax return, according to the Internal Revenue Service. Approximately 81 percent of the unnecessary filers are persons 65 years of age or older who do not meet the minimum income filing requirements.

Even if filing a return is not necessary, you may still receive a tax package since the IRS cannot assume that a person does not have to file a tax return and therefore supplies most people with forms and instructions.

For persons age 65 or older, the minimum filing level is higher than the regular filing requirements. The filing requirements are as follows: A single person age 65 or older must have a minimum gross income of $4470; when married and filing a joint return with one spouse 65 or older, the minimum is $6660; and the minimum is $7700 if both spouses are 65 or older.

You should note that there are some situations where you may not meet the minimum filing requirements, yet still need to file a return. You must file if you earned at least $400 in net earnings from self-employment. Also, you must file a return if you received any advance earned income credit payments or if any FICA (Social Security) tax on unreported tip income, minimum tax, or tax on an IRA (Individual Retirement Arrangement) is owed. Also, filing a return is necessary to get a refund of any tax withheld from income, or in order to claim the Earned Income Credit.

For details about filing requirements for older taxpayers, write the Internal Revenue Service at P.O. Box 6900, Florence, Ky. 41042 and request free Publication 554, "Tax Information for Older Americans." You may also get answers to your tax questions by calling the IRS toll-free number, 1-800-424-1040.

Hiking Association Plans Spring Walks

The Big Sandy Hiking Association of Prestonsburg Community College will hold its first walk of the year along the Moss Ridge Trail at Jenny Wiley State Park at 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 23. Hikers will meet on the front steps of May Lodge. The walk will last about 1 1/4 hours.

The second event of the year will be a day hike at Natural Bridge State Park on Saturday, March 8. A nature walk along the trails of the Kentucky Mountain Wildlife Refuge is scheduled for Sunday, April 6. Two additional hikes at Red River Gorge and Carter Caves State Park will be scheduled later in the year.

All children must be accompanied by an adult. All hikers are responsible for their own safety, food, water and transportation. For more information, call Tom Matijasic at Prestonsburg Community College (886-3863, ext. 246).

NUMB ARMS, LEGS Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble:

- (1) Paresthesias (see above)
- (2) Headaches
- (3) Painful joints
- (4) Numbness in the arms or hands
- (5) Loss of sleep
- (6) Stiffness in the neck
- (7) Pain between the shoulders
- (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back
- (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals...call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

Veterans Questions And Answers

Q—I have been rated permanently and totally disabled by the VA. I have National Service Life Insurance and I am still paying my premiums. I thought my premiums would be waived?

A—Waiver of premiums is not automatic. Disability criteria for VA compensation and pension benefits differ from those used for waiver of insurance premiums. Your nearest VA office can assist you in filing a claim for a waiver.

Q—How does a veteran initiate a claim for VA compensation or pension benefits?

A—The veteran may contact the nearest VA regional office, a service officer or one of the veterans service organizations, or a state or county veterans' office to obtain the forms necessary to initiate the claim. Any of these sources can provide information about benefit programs and assist in completing application forms.

Q—Can I receive both a VA pension and social security at the same time?

A—Yes. Provided your social security payments do not put you over the applicable income limit.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Deborah Sherman wishes to thank all of those who helped during our time of sorrow. Thanks to those who brought food, sent flowers or expressed their kindness in any way. A special thanks to the minister Joe Hill and Curt Tussey. Also thanks to the Jones Preston Funeral Home, Paintsville, for their kind and efficient service.

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT 85-CI-420
United Federal Savings and Loan Association vs: NOTICE OF SALE
A.C. Swiney and Mary Hill Swiney, his wife; Wayne and Ethel Ratliff: The Commonwealth of Kentucky; and Floyd County, Kentucky Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the November 26 term, 1985 and the January 28 term, 1986, in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 27th day of February, 1986, at 10 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of thirty (30) days the following described property, to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land, lying and being on the waters of Abbott Creek in Floyd County, Kentucky, and being the same property conveyed A.C. Swiney and Mary Hill Swiney, by deed from Scott Hill and Maggie Hill, his wife, dated August 22, 1964, recorded in Deed Book 185, page 555, Floyd County Clerk's office, and being more particularly described as follows, viz:

Beginning at a stake in the right-of-way line of Kentucky Highway No. 142; thence running across the bottom to an apple tree; thence continuing in the same direction up the hill to the property line of Stanley Johnson; thence turning to the right and running down the hill with his line to the State Highway right of way; thence turning to the right and running with the State Highway right-of-way line to the stake, corner of beginning.

Excepting and excluding, however, from the foregoing description, that certain tract or parcel of land conveyed by A.C. Swiney and Mary Hill Swiney, et al., to Joe D. Pelphrey and Betty Sue Pelphrey, his wife, by deed dated the 18th day of September, 1976, and recorded in Deed Book 227, page 180, Floyd County Clerk's office, and described as follows:

Beginning 207 feet, more or less, in the center of drain along the road or street, at a metal stake, from the corner of the Claude and Mary Lou Swiney and the Frasure-Hill Corporation on Highway 1427; thence running at near a right angle East and 10 feet back of and near parallel to privacy fence for a distance of 213 feet, more or less, to a metal stake above mentioned (approximately 252 feet west of Stanley Johnson's line) and up the hill with the line of Billy Blair and Marjorie Blair to the top of the ridge; thence left and up the ridge to corner of Claude Swiney and Frasure-Hill Corporation; thence left and down the hill and drain with same lines to point of beginning.

The foregoing A.C. Swiney and Mary Hill Swiney property is also subject to a restrictive covenant, that additional structure will not be built or placed between the property conveyed to the Pelphreys and property lying west of existing home and joining property of Frasure-Hill Corporation. This restriction is described in the foregoing deed from A.C. Swiney and Mary Hill Swiney, his wife, to Joe D. Pelphrey and Betty Sue Pelphrey, recorded in Deed Book 277, page 180, Floyd County Clerk's Office.

Also excepting and excluding from the foregoing description, that certain tract or parcel of land conveyed to Sam Jones and Emma Jones, his wife, by deed dated the 5th day of May, 1967, and recorded in Deed Book 193, page 646, Floyd County Clerk's Office, and described as follows:

Beginning at a corner of the property of Stanley Johnson, in the right of way line of State Highway 1427; thence running west with said State Highway a distance of approximately 256 feet, more or less, to a stake in said right of way line; thence turning at a near right angle and running a straight line across the bottom by the east edge of an underground concrete septic tank belonging to the first parties and parallel with the line of Stanley Johnson, and continuing parallel to the top of the hill to the boundary line of the first parties; said boundary line being the old line of Scott Hill, thence turning at near right angle and running down the ridge with the old Scott Hill line to the line of Stanley Johnson, and thence turning right and continue down the said hill with the Stanley Johnson line and across the bottom to the beginning corner, being a lot or parcel of land 252 feet wide, more or less, being said Stanley Johnson land and the east edge of the septic tank, and extending from the State Highway to the top of the ridge.

Any purchaser, except the plaintiff, shall be required to make a cash deposit of $500.00 at the time of sale.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the several sums of $45,883.88 and $6,231.00 with interest thereon at 12% annually from November 26, 1985 until satisfied and accrued interest of $1,628.00 and $416.00 and the additional sums of $627.77 and $150.52 taxes, plus interest and penalties, and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be required to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 7th day of February, 1986. MARSHALL DAVIDSON, Master Commissioner

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Permit No. 660-8006
(1) In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that National Mines Corporation, Box 12022, 101 East Vine Street, Lexington, Ky. 40579, has filed an amendment to an existing permit for an underground mining operation. The proposed operation will affect a surface disturbance of 4.99 acres and will underlie an additional 80.0 acres, located one mile west of Raven, in Knott County. The original permit had 185.38 acres with a minor revision of 3.63 acres making a total of 189.01 acres previously permitted. The total acreage after the amendment will be 194.00 acres.

(2) The proposed operation is approximately 2.3 miles southwest from Ky. Rte. 899 junction with Ky. Rte. 7 and located 2.4 miles southwest of Right Fork of Beaver Creek. The latitude is 37 degrees, 24 minutes, 08 seconds. The longitude is 82 degrees, 49 minutes, 41 seconds. The original permit which was for a processing plant is on latitude 37 degrees, 23 minutes, 16 seconds and the longitude is 82 degrees, 49 minutes, 32 seconds. The amendment will involve an underground mining operation.

(3) The proposed operation is located on the Wayland U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 quadrangle map. The surface area to be disturbed is owned by National Mines Corporation. The operation will underlie land owned by National Mines Corporation, Lexington, Ky., C.C. Horton Estate, Eugene Presley, Mousie, Ky., and Earnest E. and Roxie Keen, Wayland, Ky.

(4) The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Jackson Regional Office, Howell Heights, Route 2, Jackson, Ky. 41339. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

NOTICE OF EXPERIMENTAL PRACTICE

Pursuant to Permit 436-9000 Rev.
In accordance with Provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Bailey Mining Company, HC 72, Box 195, Price, Kentucky 41636, has filed an application for an experimental revegetation practice. This experimental practice will affect a surface area of 6.35 acres, and is located 1 mile south of Weeksbury, Floyd County, Kentucky.

The site of the proposed experimental practice is approximately 3 miles south from the junction of Highway 122 with Highway 466, and is 0.12 mile east of Beaver Creek. The latitude is 37° 18' 23" and the longitude is 82° 42' 02". The site is located on the Wheelwright USGS 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface is owned by Collins Mayo Collieries.

The post mining land use for the disturbed area will be forest land. The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Office, South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Written comments, objections, and requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

NOTICE OF BOND RELEASE

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350, notice is hereby given that Bevins Branch Mining, Inc., P.O. Box 150, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653, intends to apply for bond release on permit number 698-5364 which was last issued on 08-21-85. The application covers an area of approximately 7.22 acres located 1.2 miles southeast of McCombs in Pike county.

The permit area is approximately 0.8 miles west from State Route 194's junction with Bevins Branch county road and located on the north side of Bevins Branch. The latitude is 37° 40' 24". The longitude is 82° 35' 56".

The total bond now in effect for the permit is $18,400.00 of which $1,938.00 is to be included in this application for release.

Reclamation work thusfar performed includes: the completion of backfilling, regrading and seeding. This was completed on January 16, 1986.

HOUSE WEEK IN REVIEW

REP. JIM ROSE, 92nd District
Crime victims in Kentucky may get more help and protection if legislation passed recently is approved by the Senate. And the "eyes" had it when a Senate bill allowing the state's optometrists to prescribe and use certain drugs in treating eye ailments was voted out by the House last week.

One of the headlines of the past two weeks was a bill christened by its supporters the "crime victims" bill of rights.

Although similar legislation has been proposed but failed in past sessions, this year the measure received overwhelming support. By a vote of 91 to 4, the much-talked about House Bill 390, which would instruct victims about their rights and social services available to them, was adopted and sent to the Senate.

The measure also provides victims with information about the accused and requires officials to advise victims and witnesses on how they can guard against intimidation. Furthermore, the bill makes harassment or retaliation by the accused against victims or witnesses a crime.

Under the legislation, the identity of sexual-assault victims would be safeguarded, and courts would be required to give those cases top priority.

An amendment to the bill would authorize the state attorney general to design and distribute a free pamphlet explaining the new rights contained in the overall package.

As workdays lengthened last week, some rather heated floor debate was engaged in, and another crime-related measure couldn't weather the storm. The bill would have downgraded thefts of less than $300 from felony to misdemeanor status. Currently, the dividing line between misdemeanor and felony theft offenses is $100. It was hoped that raising the figure would keep minor thieves out of already overcrowded state prisons.

Opponents argued that such action would only encourage theft. It was a close call, but the bill was defeated and proponents asked that it be recommitment to the House Judiciary-Criminal Committee for more discussion and possible revision.

One bill that really rocked the boat would allow optometrists to prescribe and use certain topical drugs for the treatment of eye problems.

Currently, optometrists can only use those drugs for diagnostic purposes. Senate Bill 104 extends that authority to include long-term treatment, provided the vision specialists have had six semester hours of pharmacology training.

Opponents of the measure said its supporters were blinded by heavy lobbying tactics, and that the bill could be harmful to Kentuckians since optometrists—unlike ophthalmologists—are not physicians and are not qualified to treat many medical problems. But proponents argued that the issue was being clouded by the economic self-interest of ophthalmologists and not just concern over health care. They pointed out that many Kentuckians don't have ready access to ophthalmologists in their home areas.

The bill has now passed both the House and the Senate and goes to the governor for his signature.

CAP Announces Grants For Community Service

Once again it is time for Southeastern Kentucky high school seniors who are planning to continue their education to try for the Christian Appalachian Project's annual community services scholarship.

Scholarships are awarded to seniors in 24 southeast counties, based on their involvement in community and school activities. A total of $24,000 in scholarship money will be divided among Garrard, Jessamine, Madison, Rockcastle, Jackson, Lincoln, Pulaski, Floyd, Magoffin, Clay, Knott, Letcher, Martin, Whitley, Wolfe, Estill, Johnson, Knox, Laurel, Lee, Leslie, McCreary, Owsley, and Powell counties. An additional $4,000 will be divided among the Buckhorn Children's Center, Oneida Baptist Institute, Redbird Mission and Kentucky School for the Deaf.

Committees composed of local citizens award one $1,000 or two $500 scholarships to graduating seniors who have applied.

These scholarships are unique because the primary factor for selection is community service and involvement rather than academic achievement and financial need. Students who have, for example, worked as volunteers in hospitals, churches, civic projects, or other community projects involving conservation or ecological improvements are encouraged to apply.

Graduating seniors are encouraged to contact their school counselors for applications and more information by mid-March of this year, or you can contact Glen Taul, Coordinator of Scholarships, 322 Grab Orchard Road, Lancaster, Kentucky 40446; (606) 792-3051.

Public Hearing Set

The Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources is making its State Administrative Program available for public review. The program is part of the application for continuing the funding of the Cabinet as a designated State Health Planning and Development Agency. The application will be available for public review from February 14 through March 6.

A public meeting to receive oral or written comments, or both, will be held March 6 from 9 to 10 a.m. (or until all parties are heard) in the Health Services Building second floor conference room, 275 East Main Street, Frankfort.

HRMC Blood Bank Accreditation Renewed

Larry Purdue, Assistant Lab Director at Highlands Regional Medical Center, accepts the AABB's Accreditation Certificate from Russell Briggs, Associate Administrator.

Highlands Regional Medical Center Blood Bank has been granted renewal of accreditation by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB).

Accreditation follows an intensive on-site inspection by specially trained representatives of the Association and establishes that the level of medical, technical and administrative performance within the facility meets or exceeds the rigorous standards set by the AABB. By successfully meeting those requirements, Highlands Regional Medical Center Blood Bank can join more than 2,200 similar facilities across the United States and abroad that have earned the Accreditation rating and recognition. HRMC is the only hospital with this distinction in Southeastern Kentucky.

Administrator Clarence Traum explained: "The AABB's inspection and accreditation procedures are voluntary. It is not legally necessary for a blood bank or transfusion service to be accredited, but like many others, our facility has sought accreditation because it represents a level of professional and medical expertise that meets and exceeds government regulations. The primary goal of the program is to assist facilities like ours to achieve excellence, and thus provide higher quality blood, blood components and other services to patients. I'm very pleased that Lab Director Don Hicks and his staff meet and maintain such high standards."

Founded in 1947, the AABB is the only national organization in the United States devoted exclusively to blood banking and blood transfusion services. Its membership of scientists, physicians, nurses, medical technologists, and administrators is engaged in all aspects of the field. Other programs and services offered by the AABB include the national clearinghouse, a mechanism allowing donors to replace blood for friends or relatives living anywhere in the country; the rare donor file; frozen blood depots; continuing education programs; reference laboratories for information exchange and consultation; a voluntary hepatitis detection/testing program; public professional information services and professional publications.

Veterans Invited

All veterans of the Guadalcanal Campaign are invited to attend a reunion, and to pay tribute with a memorial service to over 6,000 men killed. Headquarters for this reunion will be the Shearnton Hotel at Clairmont Road and I-85 North, Atlanta, Ga., May 15, 16 and 17, 1986.

The invitation includes veterans of the Army, Coast Guard, Navy & Marines and their air wings with all supporting units who fought in capturing, defending and securing the "old Canal".

The New Car "Lemon" Law

By Atty. Gen. DAVID L. ARMSTRONG
One of the most frequent complaints received by the Consumer Protection Division in my office comes from consumers dissatisfied with new automobiles they have bought. As a consumer, you have the right to expect your new car to give dependable service as you drive to work, school or other activities.

Kentucky needs a law protecting the new car buyer from the "lemons" which occasionally roll off the assembly line. Since 1981, 33 other states have recognized the problems faced by new car "lemon" buyers and have enacted similar bills. My Consumer Protection Division and the Governor's Consumers' Advisory Council have proposed and drafted a new car "lemon" law for Kentucky which will be introduced in the current legislative session.

The bill provides that if the manufacturer of a new car is unable to repair a substantial defect after a reasonable number of attempts, the manufacturer must replace the car or refund the full purchase price (less a mileage allowance for use). The bill specifies that a "reasonable number of attempts" have been made if, within the first 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first, the same defect has been subject to repair four or more times by the manufacturer without success, or if the car is out of service because of repair of the same defect at least 30 days.

The proposed law specifies that new car manufacturers are protected if the defect does not substantially impair the use, value or safety of the car, or if the problem is the result of abuse or neglect by the buyer. Unlike new car "lemon" legislation proposed in past legislative sessions, this bill benefits everyone involved. Consumers and manufacturers receive equal treatment, and Kentucky's automobile dealers are exempted from liability for chronically defective new cars.

With passage of the "LemonAid" law, as we are calling it, you will be protected should you buy a defective car that cannot be repaired and you will no doubt be saved countless hours of aggravation and inconvenience.

Join us in supporting this valuable piece of legislation for all Kentucky consumers. Contact your state legislator toll-free at 1-800-372-7181. For more information on the "lemon" law, call or write my Consumer Protection Division, 209 St. Clair Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, 1-800-432-0257.

Many State High Schools Enter Academic Decathlon

The Kentucky Department of Education is offering high school students an opportunity to demonstrate their prowess in a new team sport—the Academic Decathlon.

More than 60 Kentucky high schools are scheduled to participate in the preliminary rounds of the Academic Decathlon at 9 a.m. Feb. 22 at Kentucky State University, Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald said.

The four top teams in the initial event will return March 15 for a speech and essay competition. The team with the highest overall score will represent the state at the U.S. Academic Decathlon in Los Angeles, April 3-4.

"The time is right for academic events to receive the same attention, financial support and cooperation that athletic events have traditionally received," McDonald said.

The national Academic Decathlon began in 1982 and is sponsored by World Book, Inc., of Chicago. The Jefferson County school system has participated since then. The first state competition was held last year. Teams from Jefferson County scored third in the nation in 1982 and 1984, fourth in 1983 and ninth in 1985.

Amanda Brown, who is coordinating the program for the Department of Education, said the six-member teams would take written tests in language and literature, fine arts, social science, science, mathematics and economics in the first round on Feb. 22.

A new event, the Super Quiz, has been added this year. The Super Quiz will involve firing questions at groups of students in a gymnasium setting. Team play, competition, coaches and instant recognition—similar to athletic contests—are expected to generate a high level of enthusiasm in this culminating event.

The four teams selected for the finals will be tested on essay writing, in planned and impromptu speaking, Brown said.

Members of Academic Decathlon teams must be juniors or seniors in high school, but the method of selection is left up to the individual school. The national organization's rules specify, however, that each team must have two "varsity" members with grade averages of C or below, two "scholastic" members with B averages and two "honor" members with A averages.

In addition to the six team members, each school is also asked to select alternates who participate only in the absence of a regular team member.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Benton Owsley would like to thank all friends, relatives and loved ones who helped us during our time of sorrow. We deeply appreciate the flowers, food, prayers and comforting words. A special thanks to the nurses and aides at Highlands Regional Medical Center for their kindness and consideration to us as a family as we sat with our loved one during his stay in the hospital. We do not want to forget Dr. Charles Hieronymous who gave so much of himself. A special thanks to Community Methodist Church, to Donna Carol Derossett and the choir for the beautiful music, to the officiating ministers, Rev. Taylor Biggs and Rev. James Doughton for their consoling words and the services rendered by the Carter Funeral Home. We will always be grateful.

Disaster-Ridden Year Depletes Red Cross Fund

The unprecedented series of disasters since last July 1 has depleted its disaster budget which enables the organization to respond to the needs of victims of catastrophes, said Lawrence Jones, Red Cross field service manager for Southeastern Kentucky.

He pointed out that 1985 is only the third time in this century that five or more hurricanes have hit the U.S. mainland. First came hurricanes Bob and Danny, comparatively minor storms. But then there were Elena, Gloria and Juan, all major storms that brought suffering to hundreds of thousands.

"Add to these disasters major flooding in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Maryland and Puerto Rico and you can see why we have launched a nationwide fund campaign to replenish our ability to respond to future disasters," Lawrence Jones said.

The national Red Cross is seeking a minimum of $20 million in its fund-raising effort. The money will be used to feed, clothe, shelter and give medical care to those in need following a calamity.

Since the start of its fiscal year last July 1, Lawrence Jones said the Red Cross has committed nearly $40 million to help disaster victims, exhausting its disaster budget and disaster reserves.

Contributions to the Red Cross Emergency Disaster Fund can be made through your local chapter of the American Red Cross or the Field Service Office, American Red Cross, P.O. Box 1675, Louisville, Ky. 40201.

Kentuckians Say Lexington Is State's Outstanding City

The Lexington area is the most popular place to live, work and play in Kentucky, and the area engenders loyalty among its residents, according to the first annual Commonwealth of Kentucky Poll.

The answer, "Lexington," emerged first in all questions designed to show city or area preference.

For example, when asked: "What is the most progressive city or area in Kentucky?", 40.6 percent of those responding said the Lexington area—followed by 28.6 percent for Louisville. Predictably, 69 percent of the residents of the Central and East geographical area, including Lexington, responded for that city, with 66 percent of their responses.

Closely tied in third and fourth place were Northern Kentucky, with six percent, and Bowling Green, with five percent. The difference in rankings between the two was less than the margin of error, and thus statistically insignificant.

The poll was conducted by Wilkerson & Associates, a public opinion and marketing research group in association with Jack Guthrie and Associates, a public relations counseling firm. Both companies are headquartered in Louisville.

To conduct the poll, the Wilkerson firm contacted 500 adults randomly by telephone and statistically weighted their answers according to the population sizes of five regions—West, Central and South, North, Central and East (including Lexington), and Southeast.

The poll took place January 3-5. Kentuckians were asked to respond to a variety of questions on such issues as regional preferences, jobs and education. The findings of several questions relating to state government and legislative issues were distributed by the Louisville bureau of the Associated Press earlier this month. Those questions were formulated by the AP for a separate part of the poll.

Results contain a margin of error of 4.5 percent statewide, and 10 percent along a regional basis, according to Tom Wilkerson, president of the polling firm.

Another question asked: "Not counting your own hometown, what city or area in Kentucky is the most fun for you to visit?"

Lexington again received the highest percentage of responses—30.3 percent. The highest percentage of such responses came from the Southeast region, at 54 percent; the lowest from residents of West Kentucky, at 16 percent.

The second favorite city to visit was Louisville, at 16.9 percent; then Bowling Green (10.3 percent) and Eastern Kentucky (7.5 percent).

And when asked, "Not counting your own hometown, if you could live anywhere else in Kentucky, in what city or area would you choose to live?", a plurality again replied Lexington—36 percent. Again, the highest percentage of that answer—54 percent—came from the Southeast geographical area, the lowest—21 percent—from the West.

Second was again Louisville (10.2 percent), followed by Bowling Green (7.6 percent) and the Eastern Kentucky mountain area (7.6 percent).

IBM finished high on the list of potential employers when Kentuckians were asked: "If you were going to work and you could pick any organizations in Kentucky to be your employer—who would you select?"

IBM headed the list of corporations, closely followed by General Electric and Ford Motor Company. Guthrie said this part of the poll is being completed and will be released in the next several weeks.

The Lexington area also received the highest percentage of "favorable" responses—82.3 percent—when the poll asked, "people have different images of certain areas of our state...do you have a generally favorable or unfavorable image of (the following areas)?"

Respondents were asked for their opinions of eight different areas.

The highest percentage of those responding "favorable" to the Lexington question came among residents of the Central and East region (89 percent), followed closely by those of the Southeast region (88 percent), then North and Central region and South region (both 81 percent).

Following Lexington as the areas most favored were Bowling Green (72.8 percent had favorable impressions); Louisville (69.7 percent); Owensboro (57.8 percent); Northern Kentucky (57.3 percent) and Paducah (54 percent).

Lexington also ranked second to the bottom of the "unfavorable" percentages, with only 7.2 percent. The least percentage of "unfavorables" was received by Bowling Green, at 5.1 percent.

And Lexington was the most recognized of all the areas. It received only 10.5 percent "don't know/undecided" responses—versus 43.9 percent for Ashland, which had the highest percentage of "undecided" responses.

In questions indicating regional loyalties, residents of the central and east area including Lexington showed great attachment to their part of Kentucky.

One question asked: "Within the last year have you seriously considered leaving your part of Kentucky and moving to any other area?"

Residents of the Central and East region including Lexington responded "no" with a rate of 82 percent—the highest "no" percentage among regions and compared to 79.1 percent for the poll overall. (Their response of 18 percent for the answer "yes" was the lowest percentage among regions and compared to 20.9 percent overall.)

Another question asked: "All things considered, how would you rate your part of Kentucky as a place to live and work? Would you say it is excellent, good, fair, poor or undecided/don't know?"

The highest percentage of "excellent" responses came from the Central and East region—33 percent (followed closely by North, 31 percent, and 28 percent). Some 38 percent of those polled in the Central and East region rated it "good;" 19 percent said "fair" and 10 percent said "poor." In the last three categories, the percentages were below the overall results of 39.9 percent, 21.2 percent and 11.7 percent, respectively.

IRS Warns of Refund Discounters

The Internal Revenue Service wants to alert taxpayers again this year to the operation of so called "refund discounters". We have prepared some questions and answers to inform taxpayers of this illegal activity, and to point out the consequences of dealing with a refund discounter, or refund buyer.

1. What is meant by discounting a refund?

A refund is discounted when a taxpayer sells it to a "refund buyer" for immediate cash up front less the discount the "buyer" keeps—generally leaving the taxpayer with as little as 60%-70% of his/her refund. The discounter has the address shown on the return changed, so that the refund check goes to the discounter's address instead of the taxpayer's. He then negotiates the check.

2. Is refund discounting illegal?

There is statutory authority prohibiting this practice. Section 3477 of the Revised Statutes (31 U.S.C. 203) provides that any claim against the United States cannot be assigned until the government allows the claim, determines the amount due, and issues a check. This includes a claim for a federal tax refund.

3. Who might be a buyer or discounter?

A discounter could be anyone from a return preparer who collects the fee by offering the client the refund in cash on the spot, less a percentage, to money lenders, liquor stores, car dealerships, grocery stores or full-time businesses which operate as refund buyers.

4. May my preparer receive my refund?

The IRS has a general policy of delivering refunds to recognized representatives with valid Power of Attorney (POA) specifically authorizing them to receive but not to endorse such check. However, Treasury Regulation 601-506 provides that the IRS is not bound to deliver refund checks to a representative of a taxpayer. And, when there is no valid POA on file, we have implemented a program to identify and redirect such refunds to the taxpayer.

5. If I have authorized my preparer (with a POA) to receive my refund, may he endorse or negotiate it?

No. The law provides for a $500 penalty for a preparer who endorses or otherwise negotiates a refund check issued to a taxpayer other than the preparer.

6. May my preparer sign my return for me?

While a preparer is required to show proper identification on your return of his name, address and identifying numbers as the preparer, he may not sign your name for you, the taxpayer. To knowingly do so would be to falsify the document.

7. By law am I required to use my own address on my return as opposed to any other address?

Yes. The Internal Revenue Code requires that you supply sufficient information for proper identification, including names, address and identifying numbers.

8. What effect might it have on me if my return shows the wrong address? If the address is changed on the return, then that becomes the official mailing address for that taxpayer. This means that all further correspondence from the IRS, including error or deficiency notices, examination appointment letters, etc., will be mailed to the discounter's address and may not be forwarded by him. A taxpayer may be far along in the collection process and have penalties and interest mounting before he is aware of a problem.

During February, the Daughters of the American Revolution recall the famous Revolutionary cavalymen who was known as "Light Horse Harry," Henry Lee, 1756-1818, served with distinction under Washington. He was a member of the Virginia House of Delegates and was later elected Governor of Virginia. On the death of General Washington, Lee described him in the phrase that has become famous: "first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his Countrymen."

9. If I discover a "refund discounting" operation, where should I report it?

Refund discounting operations should be reported to the IRS. The number to call is toll free 1-800-424-1040.

Bailey Named To Panel

State Sen. Benny Ray Bailey, D-Hindman, has been named to a southern legislative conference committee for 1986, Senate President Pro Tem Joe Prather said last week. The Southern Legislative Conference is a subgroup of the Council of State Governments. Its purpose is to encourage intergovernmental cooperation throughout the 15 southern member states through the promotion of legislative solutions and regional responses to common problems.

Drift Student Among Demonstrators

Several Morehead State University honor students joined their peers from other state universities to form an honor escort for former North Carolina Gov. James Hunt, keynote speaker for the rally for higher education in Frankfort earlier this month. They included, from left, Becky Stegbauer of Fayetteville, Ohio; Sheridan Miller, Drift; Terry May, Pikeville; Kristin Kinney, Camp Dix, and Debbie Powell, Irvine. More than 5,000 people joined to Capital College Caravan to the Frankfort Civic Center to demonstrate support for higher education to members of the General Assembly.

A Different Willie Hale

The late Willie Hale whose property figured in a civil suit reported in last week's Times was incorrectly identified as a former constable. He was in fact the uncle of former Constable Willie Hale.

Thanks School Board

Concerned citizens for a New School Facility for Garrett, wish to take this opportunity to say thanks to the Floyd County Board of Education for the decision they made concerning the schools located in flood plains. All concerned citizens should be proud of Mr. James Duff, board member of District 5, Mr. Ray "Shag" Campbell, board member of District 2, and Dr. Mary Hall, board member of District 4, for their actions on February 5th. This committee feels that each should be recognized for doing their jobs well as board members. We have placed a great deal of responsibility and faith in them in the past, and feel that we should continue to do so in the future. The people of Garrett, Allen, Maytown, and McDowell, to mention a few, should step forward now, and see that we continue to have board members that we can count on.

This committee wishes that all Floyd Countians could have seen the students of Garrett Thursday morning, having heard the board's reply. These kids and many others, in the flood prone areas can now see a future for a safe and priceless gift in an education. Some of the kids were in the process of preparing letters to be sent to the board members, and others were asking questions such as "When will we get our school", you see, it is their school.

This Committee is well aware of what we have been asking from the Board, and we are sure that some will oppose the board's decision. But we would like to say, that Garrett did not request to be moved up to hurt or damage anyone else, but we were working to have a safe place to send our kids to school everyday. All schools in Floyd County are not in flood prone areas, but just think, if you believe your schools are in need of repairs or extra rooms, Please, try and imagine what damages that our schools have undergone time and time again. Surely the need is there to attend to these schools first.

This committee wishes to express again, for the parents, teachers, and our principal of Garrett a sincere thanks, but for our kids, we wish to say "Bless You", for being there when they needed you most.

THE COMMITTEE,
Rodney Moore, Chairman
P.O. Box 197, Garrett, Ky.

James Madison, 1751-1836, who attended the Constitutional Convention as a delegate from Virginia, is generally recognized as having played a prominent part at that Convention. SCHOOL PROPERTY SALE

The Floyd County Board of Education will receive sealed bids until 7 o'clock, March 5, 1986 for the following property:

Subject property consists of approximately three-fourths acre located along Highway 194 and the right fork of Home Branch. The lot is level to rolling and five to ten feet below the grade of Highway 194. There is no zoning for subject property, but it has been used for an elementary school for the Floyd County School System.

Subject property is improved by two frame buildings and a metal trailer. Building number one contains approximately 876 square feet, has wood siding exterior and an asphalt shingle roof. The interior is one large room with two small baths, although there are no fixtures in the building. Interior walls are drywall with a hardwood floor. Other improvements include blackboard and some shelving. Condition of this building is considered to be poor as the roof has leaked, windows are broken, floors are buckled, and the building has been vandalized. Building number two contains approximately 786 square feet, has wood siding and a tin roof. Interior walls are paneled and the floors are hardwood. This building also is in poor condition as vandals have broken windows and torn up the interior in general. Building number three is a metal trailer containing approximately 248 square feet. The roof is asphalt rolled and the interior is vinyl floor and paneled walls.

The minimum acceptable bid is $14,800 (fourteen thousand eight hundred dollars).

The Floyd County Board of Education reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Susie Hicks would like to express their thanks to all who helped during the passing of their loved one. Thanks to all who sent food, flowers, prayers and words of comfort during this time of sorrow. Thanks to the True Baptist ministers for their kind and comforting words and to the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

THE FAMILY

Pageant Runnerup

Amanda Gail Adkins, two-year-old daughter of Phillip and Linda Gail Adkins, of Grethel, was chosen first runnerup in beauty and first runnerup in sportswear, Saturday, February 8, at Garrett Grade School's Miss Valentine Pageant. She placed second in the Holiday Christmas pageant of the Middle Creek Fire Dept., and in the Dream World Pageant at the National Guard Armory. Amanda placed third in beauty. She was also crowned Wee Christmas Princess at John M. Stumbo Elementary.

Her grandparents are Evan and Goldie Adkins and Wallace and Betty Keathley, of Grethel.

Amanda would like to thank her sponsors.

Peach Orchard Players Set Performance Date

Pikeville College is reactivating its college/community drama organization, the Peach Orchard Players. This group, composed of college faculty, staff, students, high school students, and members of surrounding communities, is already planning its first major production.

The Players will perform an evening of theatre sometime during the first part of April, featuring comedy, drama, and social satire. Work is already underway, obtaining performance permission and contacting publishers about production costs.

Sunday, February 16, at 3:00 in the Gold Room of Wickham Hall (on the Pikeville College campus), the group will get together to consider several items including setting times/places/dates for auditions for the four plays involved. Everyone regardless of age or experience is encouraged to become a part of this growing group.

If you are interested in drama, but are unable to attend this Sunday's meeting, contact Cindy Price at 432-9384 or 432-3690. Technical expertise is as essential as actors!

Local Private Industry Councils (PICs) under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) include representatives from business, educational agencies, organized labor, rehabilitation agencies, community-based organizations, economic development agencies, and the public employment service, according to a U.S. Department of Labor fact sheet.
