

County Gets 'Surprise' Windfall in Gas Taxes

The air was positively festive in the county offices Friday afternoon, when Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo returned from Frankfort with a check for more than a million dollars, the result of a windfall distribution of natural gas taxes.

As the judge, magistrates, and Mayor Ann Latta—Prestonsburg received an allocation of $70,190—lined up to be photographed for the occasion, County Attorney David Barber handed out oversized reproductions of the state treasury check, and Finance Officer Delores Dings unveiled a large cake bearing the inscription, "Congratulations, Floyd County."

Two days earlier, Gov. Martha Layne Collins had summoned representatives of 10 eastern Kentucky counties and 22 cities to her office for the distribution of $4.25 million—money that came from natural gas severance taxes collected by the state on a rate increase recently approved by the Public Service Commission for two gas companies, including Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company. The increase was declared retroactive to March, 1983.

Taxes amounting to $8.5 million had been collected at the higher rate and held in escrow. The state kept half the money, returning the other half to the counties and cities where the gas is produced. Collins said there were no restrictions on how the money should be spent, but she asked the local officials to let her know how they used it.

Stumbo said that Floyd—which received $1,056,253, the largest share of all 10 counties participating—would "not do anything drastic" with its sudden windfall, which represents a 58.7 percent increase in revenues for the $1.8 million county budget. The main benefit of the new revenue, he said, would be to "keep the county on an even keel" if federal revenue-sharing money—currently around $308,000 for Floyd county—is cut off, as is anticipated, at the end of September.

County Attorney Barber counseled prudent investment of the bulk of the funds, estimating that they could yield as much as $120,000 a year in interest. "Rather than let our belt out and go about a bunch of free spending, putting blacktop on every road, we ought to keep our belt cinched up," he said.

Mayor Latta said she favored using Prestonsburg's allocation as matching money which would enable the city to attract government grant funds.

Other Floyd cities receiving checks from the state were Wheelwright, $15,866; Martin, $15,006; Wayland, $10,362; and Allen, $5934. Other counties receiving allocations were Pike, $903,367; Knott, $788,131; Perry, $591,155; Letcher, $201,102; Leslie, $144,019; Martin, $58,927; Johnson, $30,126; Magoffin, $28,625; and Lawrence, $28,562.

New Building for PCC In Governor's Budget

Governor Martha Layne Collins, in her budget address tonight, included a new building for Prestonsburg Community College, according to the office of Representative Greg Stumbo.

GOV. MARTHA LAYNE COLLINS presents a check for $1,056,253.29 to Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, Jr. The money represents a refund of natural gas severance taxes from the Local Government Economic Assistance Fund. Local cities receiving money were Allen, $5,934.40; Martin, $15,006.34; Prestonsburg, $70,190.98; Wayland, $10,362.80; and Wheelwright, $15,866.92. Pictured, left to right, are Rep. Greg Stumbo, Gov. Collins, Sen. David LeMaster, Judge Stumbo, Sen. Benny Ray Bailey, and Wheelwright Mayor Thomas Engle.

McDowell School 2nd in State In 'Market Plan' To Hold Pupils

Remind them their schooling is an investment in their future and watch the average student's eyes glaze over. But that's not the reaction he got from his seventh grade students, whose investment is about to take a more tangible form, said McDowell Principal Gary Frazier this week.

The McDowell school is the second in the state to benefit from an innovative scheme born several months ago in a casual conversation between a Campton grade school teacher and a novice stockbroker at Fayette Mall in Lexington. The problem raised by the Red River Valley Elementary School teacher was that of keeping his students in school until they graduate. The solution proposed by Stephen Hoertz, a new broker for Dean, Witter, Reynolds doing a six-month stint at the mall's Sears outlet, was to organize them into an investment club.

Under the plan, the students raise some money, some local sponsors match it, Hoertz invests it in some growth stocks and, in four years' time, the account is liquidated and the proceeds distributed equally among all those who graduate. "The kids were so excited, it was incredible," said Hoertz of the Wolfe county students.

Student reaction was no less positive here, said Frazier, when Hoertz, who attended a career day at the McDowell school in November, offered to help set up an identical scheme to reduce the school's dropout rate. "For 12 years the kids are asked to raise money for this and that. This way they get something back. As well as that, there's the educational value in following their investments. It will be invaluable to them," the principal said.

As investment capital, three area banks have agreed to contribute $500 apiece, the school will donate $500, and eighth-grade students will organize a fundraiser of their own. Hoertz will design an investment portfolio and the students will receive monthly statements and annual reports on it throughout their high school years.

Hopefully, the portfolio will make money—all the stocks in the Campton school project have risen and he'll trade them when he feels they have gone as high as they are likely to go, Hoertz said—but, even if they don't, broker and teacher agreed it will be a unique learning experience as well as an incentive for students to stay in school. "They may be millionaires; they may be broke," Hoertz said in a recent television interview, "but there will be something in it for them when they walk across the stage (at graduation)."

Hoertz, an Ashland native who originally came to this county to service the accounts of clients here—including some members of the McDowell school faculty—plans to visit the eighth graders soon to explain to them the workings of the stock market. His idea of using an investment club as a dropout prevention

NOTES ON THE WEATHER

Between heat waves, the heaviest snow of the season fell in this section Sunday night. Snow has become so rare here that it's news (see pictures). One thing you can't pin on the Weather Man, and that is the charge that he's one of these guys who goes around, saying, "I told you so." He doesn't know what to tell. This snow came without a hint of warning from anybody. With all our radar, satellites aloft and esoteric gadgets, a hoot-owl hooting his fool head off in the very heart of a far-off hollow is as reliable as any or all the rest of the weather forecasters.

THE OLD—UGH!—REMEDIES

At hand is a clipping of a newspaper "story" the burden of which runs to the effect that old "cures" often were worse than the ailment under treatment.

I'll buy that. And anybody who has ever lost a foot-race to his father and had forced down him a dose of new raw quinine—ugh!—will agree.

You might add asafoetida, which smelled as bad as it tasted, to the list of old remedies that for plain cussedness was hard to beat. I recall the 1918 flu epidemic which claimed thousands over the country. Asafoetida became rather popular with some at that time, being used as a guard against the contagion. Some folks wore a bag filled with the stuff and tied around the neck so that the odor directly assailed the respiratory tract.

They swore by it. Kept the germs away or killed them if they moved in. (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

City To Try for Floodwall Funds for West Prestonsburg

A crowd of almost 40 people filled city hall's council room to overflowing Monday at a public meeting held to discuss proposed flood control at West Prestonsburg.

Roger Recktenwald, executive director of the Big Sandy Area Development District, explained to those assembled the city's plan to obtain a state community development block grant of $750,000 to finance the project. He pointed out, however, that state approval was by no means certain.

Among the stumbling blocks faced by the city are the number of such applications expected from around the state. Recktenwald estimated that about 40 projects will be presented for consideration, with only eight or nine being funded. Part of the problem, he said, is a recent 4 percent cut in CDBG funds made available to Kentucky by the federal government.

"It's a long shot at best," he said. "You've got a stiff, uphill battle every year. This year allocated funds in Kentucky are down about $7 million."

The city must file its application by Jan. 31, and announcement of which projects will be funded is expected March 15.

When the city announced plans in December to apply for the grant, it was with the intention of effecting both housing renovation and flood control. However, cost estimates for the combined projects soon exceeded the $750,000 CDBG ceiling. Money from such grants can only be used to completely fund a given project, so it was decided to attempt only flood control, which was seen as the most pressing need.

The West Prestonsburg residents at Monday's meeting seemed in agreement with city officials that flood control was the most-needed project. As one person noted, it would be of little use to fix up homes and buildings which were sure to be damaged again the next time the community floods.

Harmison Hale, one of the more vocal citizens in attendance, noted that flooding in West Prestonsburg not only damages private homes but also closes businesses, which he termed "economic activity important to Prestonsburg."

Hale also noted that the majority of city council members were not present at the meeting.

Only Mayor Ann Latta and council members Bill Callahan and Margie Osborne joined Recktenwald there. City administrator David Evans was also present, as was West Prestonsburg resident and former council member Eunice Shepherd. Mrs. Shepherd said she was hopeful the project would be funded, saying, "I don't know anywhere that needs it worse."

Mayor Latta said that, although Recktenwald termed the enterprise a "longshot," she was still hopeful of state approval. City administrator Evans said the next step will be submitting the city's application "and trying to fight for it."

Counterfeit Scam Alleged After Man's Stop at Bank

An ill-advised stop at the Bank Josephine here last Thursday proved to be the undoing of a Morehead man. In attempting to exchange a number of small denomination notes for 10 $100 bills, Gilbert Jones, 70, allegedly gave the teller five counterfeit twenties.

Jones' troubles didn't end with an arrest by Police Chief Stan Fletcher. After obtaining a search warrant, police say they found about three pounds of processed marijuana, with an estimated street value of $1,500 in the trunk of his car.

The incident began at about 1:15 p.m. Thursday, when Jo Keathley, teller at the bank's North Lake Drive branch, noticed several apparently counterfeit bills in the batch Jones had given her at the drive-through window.

Miss Keathley said that after finding a number of the seemingly bogus bills, she notified the head teller, who called their supervisor. Keathley continued counting the money as if nothing was wrong, keeping Jones there by telling him there would be a delay while she went to the vault to get the hundred dollar bills.

Bank personnel called the police, and Fletcher, along with Sgt. Sue Blackburn, responded, taking Jones into custody. He was charged with possession of forged instruments.

Charges of trafficking in marijuana were later added. Fletcher theorized that Jones "may be the middle man in a distribution chain between here and Morehead."

In addition to the marijuana and phony bills, police confiscated a total of $2,453 from the suspect.

Officials here notified the U.S. Department of Treasury district office in Lexington, which dispatched Resident Agent Mike Restovich to Prestonsburg. Restovich said evidence would be presented to the U.S. Attorney in Lexington, who would decide whether to proceed with federal charges. He emphasized that, for now, the case was "strictly a Prestonsburg police matter, and probably will remain that way."

The secret service agent praised the local police department's handling of the affair. "The chief's done an excellent job here," he said, adding that the bank had done "an alert job" also.

No Suspect Named As Two Businesses Fleeced Last Week

At least two Floyd county businesses have been victimized recently by a man passing stolen Traveller's Express money orders.

According to Kentucky State Police Det. Keith Scott, the stolen money orders were used at Combs' Carry-Out at Garrett and at Cumberland Spirits, Prestonsburg. In both incidents, the money orders were made out for $100, making the offense a class D felony, punishable by 1 to 5 years in prison. Both cases occurred January 4.

About 300 such money orders and a check-writing machine were stolen from

Unmined Minerals Tax Backers Slate Capital, P'burg Meets

Floyd supporters of a tax on unmined minerals prepared this week for a major lobbying effort in Frankfort, where a bill mandating such a levy is expected to be introduced today (Wednesday). Members of the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition, which has promoted identical bills in two previous legislative sessions, have scheduled a noon rally in the Capitol rotunda today and, on Saturday, a meeting here with House Majority Floor Leader Greg Stumbo.

Pike county legislator Clayton Little is the primary sponsor of the bill, which would levy a tax on unmined coal at the same rate as that on surface property. Stumbo, who supports the concept "in principle," has expressed doubts about the timing of the bill, citing competitive pressures on Kentucky's coal industry.

An identical bill proposed in 1984 was effectively killed when a House budget committee voted to table it. Defeat of the measure was attributed in part to strong opposition by coal interests. Terry Kelliher, a KFTC organizer, said this week the group is "optimistic" about passage of the bill this year, in view of a recent Franklin Circuit Court ruling that the current tax on unmined minerals—which is so small as to be not worth collecting—is unconstitutional.

Kelliher said he is hopeful legislators will be persuaded it is in their interests to resolve the issue themselves rather than leaving it to the judiciary. Advantages of the current bill that could be lost if the issue were decided by the courts, the organizer said, include provisions exempting small mineral owners from the tax, allowing local fiscal courts and school boards to levy their own unmined minerals tax, and appropriating the money that would enable the state Revenue Cabinet to assess and collect the tax.

The KFTC figures that, based on 1983 tax rates, a tax on Floyd's estimated 3.5 billion tons of unmined coal would yield $1.9 million annually for the county government and nearly $1.7 million for the schools here.

Persons interested in discussing the merits of the bill are invited to meet with Rep. Stumbo on Saturday at 12:30 p.m. in the Floyd county library.

Knotley Hollow Bridge Project Contract Near

The state expects to spend, probably this year, $1,100,000 on the construction of a new bridge across the Big Sandy at Knotley Hollow, near Lancer, to replace the old suspension span that has been closed there for several years and now barely hangs together, dangling above the river.

The proposed two-lane, concrete span will afford residents of the Goble-Roberts section a second outlet to KY 1428 (old US 23). Residents of Goble-Roberts have complained that, with only the present bridge at Lancer available, access to hospitals or fire protection may be at least temporarily cut by trains passing or stopping on the rail line which separates Goble-Roberts and Bull Creek from the main highway.

Hearings Set On Vo-Ed Plan

The Commission on Vocational/Technical Education will hold a series of public hearings on its recently-released report on the future of adult and vocational/technical education in Kentucky.

Hearings will be held January 20, 1986, 2 p.m., Health Occupation Center, 701 N. Laffoon Street, Madisonville; January 21, 3:30 p.m., Northern Kentucky Health Center, 790 Thomas Moore Parkway, Edgewood; January 22, 2 p.m., Laurel County State Vocational-Technical School, 1709 South Main Street, London; January 23, 1:30 p.m., 419 Reed Hall, Morehead State University, Morehead. A hearing will be scheduled in Frankfort at a later date.

The commission was created by the Kentucky General Assembly during the special session in July 1985. It was charged with examining the state's vocational/technical and adult education programs and devising a plan for improving them.

The commission's report, released earlier this month, advocates creation of a State Board for Adult and Vocational/Technical Education. That board would direct and coordinate post-secondary vocational education and adult education programs. Secondary vocational programs would continue to be governed by the State Board of Education.

The report called for several other changes in the current system, including development of a Joint Academic and Vocational Option for secondary students. Such a degree program would raise the level of academic achievement expected of vocational students and provide coordination between the academic and skills programs.

The commission's report also advocates major changes in the programs of post-secondary vocational/technical schools. Recommendations include giving entry examinations, providing remediation in academic skills, and developing a rigorous curriculum of related academic instruction.

The report also recommends development of a comprehensive program for combating adult illiteracy and establishment of Advanced-Technology Centers throughout the state to provide associate degrees in engineering specialty areas.

Approximately one out of every six married couples of childbearing age find they are unable to achieve pregnancy. The good news, the January Reader's Digest reports, is that fertility specialists can now help more than 50 percent of these couples.

EMPLOYEE VERSUS CONTRACTOR

Businesses engaging others to perform services should beware. It may be perfectly clear to you and to the individual performing the services that you have a "contractor" relationship. This means that you consider yourself to be exempt from withholding income taxes, paying social security, industrial accident, and unemployment taxes, or from being liable for any overtime hours worked.

The Internal Revenue Service, the Social Security Administration, the Wage and Hour Board, the Unemployment Agency, and the Industrial Accident Board may all take a different view. Each of these government agencies has its definition of an employee versus an independent contractor.

For income tax withholding purposes, the Internal Revenue Service defines an employee as an individual who performs services subject to control by an employer both as to what services shall be performed and as to how they shall be performed.

Some states have made it almost impossible to have an independent contractor relationship where the services performed are in the normal line of work of the employer. For example, a logger will have a difficult time classifying a timber faller as an independent contractor.

A claim filed by someone you considered an independent contractor can be time-consuming and expensive. If you are in doubt, select the employee status and pay the appropriate withholding and payroll taxes.

The "employee" definition was established to protect working people. Some government agencies felt that employees would agree to claim independent contractor status with its greater benefits for the employer in order to secure employment. To prevent this, each agency has a determination based on facts and circumstances as to who is an independent contractor and who isn't. The fact that two knowledgeable individuals agreed that there was to be a contractor relationship may not hold up under examination.

Former Floyd countian Gary Akers is exhibiting 25 paintings at the Asheville Art Museum, Civic Center, Asheville, N.C., Jan. 9-25. Many of the tempera and watercolor paintings were painted from the Borders farm in Burlington, Kentucky.

Akers now lives at Union, Kentucky. He is a signature member of the American Watercolor Society and has received many major awards, including "The Mario Cooper Award" from the American Watercolor Society, "The Lee Printing Company Award" and "The Dale Meyers Cooper Medal of Honor" from the Southern Watercolor Society, and the "Top Merit Award" from the Kentucky Watercolor Society.

4-H Clubs Get Grant

Kentucky's 4-H clubs have received a $12,500 grant from the Knight Foundation to help complete the construction of a $2.6 million leadership training center.

The center, now under construction in Jabez on Lake Cumberland, will serve as a complete conference facility for the state's 230,000 4-H members including 3,309 4-H'ers from Floyd county. It also will be used for regional 4-H members and for other groups, said Lynwood Schrader, president of Friends of Kentucky 4-H, the 4-H support group instrumental in obtaining the grant from the Knight Foundation.

The Kentucky 4-H Leadership Center will help meet local community needs by training competent leadership for both volunteers and paid workers. A comprehensive plan is being developed by the 4-H program staff to provide a leadership program for youth, young adults, adult volunteer leaders and community officials. Training will include improvement of skills in recruitment, recognition motivation and retention of both adult and youth leaders.

The first phase of the three-phase construction project now is underway and is expected to be completed by April. The center will provide meeting rooms, dining facilities and eventually lodging for 250 people.

The Knight Foundation was established by John S. Knight, one of the founders of the Knight Ridder Newspaper chain. The chain owns the Lexington Herald-Leader. The foundation, based in Akron, Ohio, has no corporate connection to the newspaper group.

I'm not in position to vouch for the effectiveness of the evil potion as a germicide, but I'll give tongue to the considered opinion that no self-respecting germ would hang around long after getting a whiff of the stuff.

Third on my list of medicinal horrors would be castor oil. The best I can say about it and some other old remedies is that they were so unpleasant you were afraid to get sick.

Did somebody suffer a lacerated hand or foot? Simply scoop up a handful of fresh-plowed earth and clap it onto the wound. Almost miraculous healing followed, but it wasn't till years later that we learned why—that the soil had penicillin in it. Today, the soil has so many chemicals—weed-killers, bug-dust and the like—that I suspect the penicillin is pretty well watered down and a body might be risking a new ailment by using it.

The pharmacopia of oldtime remedies swells beyond this space. Perhaps the most versatile of them all was peachtree tea. The bark of a peachtree, scraped thin and soaked in water, nipped many the fever and tummyache in the bud, so to speak. At the same time a leetle peachtree bark applied to a youngster's posterior was guaranteed to improve his personal behavior.

Restovich said the bills were from a batch commonly known as "mountain notes," and had probably originated in Jackson. He said the Jackson operation had already been successfully prosecuted.

a Marietta, Georgia, coin shop, said Scott. He said other money orders had turned up in Indiana and Georgia.

According to Mrs. Pat McClung, proprietor of Cumberland Spirits, a man, about 6-2, slender with blonde hair, blue eyes and a goatee, came into her store and cashed the money order.

"He was neat, clean," she said. "I had no suspicion whatsoever until it (the money order) came bouncing back in the door." Mrs. McClung said she called the issuing company, who told her they had stopped payment because the check was stolen.

She said the man presented an Indiana driver's license as identification, but police later found the information on the license to be "fictitious."

Det. Scott said, while there are no identified suspects at present, it seems to have been the same man who passed both money orders in this county.

2 Area Doctors Named by State Licensure Body

Martin physician Dr. Remigio T. (Ray) DeGuzman is accused of "unprofessional and unethical conduct" in a complaint filed last week by the state Board of Medical Licensure. The complaint follows a decision by authorities at the Paul B. Hall Medical Center in Paintsville to suspend the physician's privileges on grounds of alleged incompetence and malpractice.

DeGuzman, a report of the board said, had earlier surrendered his license to practice in Alabama and had been denied a license in Texas. At his Texas hearing, he was said to have admitted writing a drug prescription for a patient under a fictitious name in order to conceal the patient's identity.

Also cited in a licensure board complaint is Paintsville physician, Dr. Bashir Ameji, who is accused of admitting heart-attack patients and others to hospital, then failing to visit or treat them for up to 40 hours. He is also accused of prescribing drugs with the knowledge that they were used or likely to be used for other than medicinal purposes.

The board accuses him of "gross incompetence, gross negligence and/or malpractice."

The two physicians and 12 others named in licensure board complaints have 30 days to respond to the charges. After a preliminary hearing in each case, the allegations will be tried before the full board, which may take a number of disciplinary actions including suspension or revocation of the doctors' licenses.

Ten Years Ago

(January 21, 1976)

A fire which broke out in a cell Sunday evening forced the evacuation of prisoners from the Floyd county jail here and resulted in light damage to the facility. Heavy hauls of merchandise and cash have been made within the fortnight by unidentified persons who entered two Floyd places of business. The city of Prestonsburg has begun hauling its solid waste to the new county landfill on the Left Fork of Middle Creek after pressure from the state health department forced the recent closing of the city's only dump on the old Middle Creek road (KY 114). Prestonsburg is one of 49 Kentucky communities which will be included in the final statewide judging for "All Kentucky City" designation, Friday. Post-holiday activity by law-breakers in the county continues to be light, or at least it appeared that way Tuesday afternoon at the county jail where only nine prisoners occupied cells. The Floyd County Coonhunters Association will meet Sunday at 2 p.m. in the county courtroom, Floyd county courthouse. The Betsy Layne Bobcats defeated the Wheelwright Trojans last Friday for the second time this season, this time by a score of 50-48. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Goble, of Spurlock Road, a daughter, Jill Anne, January 8 at the Pikeville Methodist hospital. Married: Miss Karen Denise Ratliff, Prestonsburg, and Mr. Rick Blackburn, Auxier, November 28 at the Highland Avenue Freewill Baptist Church here; Miss Sharon Ann Branham, Prestonsburg, and Mr. Mickey Blackburn, Betsy Layne, January 12 at the United Methodist Church in Clintwood, Va.; Miss Sharon Kaye Goble, Allen, and Mr. Mark Richard Neeley, Abbott Road, December 20 at the Bonanza Free Will Baptist Church. There died: Homer Wright, 26, January 13 at his home at Drift; Mrs. Channie Frazier Ricker, 74, of Hi Hat, last Friday at McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Alex Boyd, Jr., 85, January 13 at his home at Dana; Millard Pennington, 69, of Water Gap, January 14 at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Mrs. Mary E. (Dollie) Johnson, 85, of Melvin, Saturday at Our Lady of the Way hospital.

Twenty Years Ago

(January 20, 1966)

Clearing right-of-way for the chairlift to be installed at Jenny Wiley State Park by the Mountain Parkway Chairlift Corporation was begun Tuesday by Harris Brothers Construction Company. A walkout by Floyd teachers, along with other Kentucky teachers, in protest of low salaries, is scheduled for February 3. Two boys, William Spears Kendrick and Tom O. McGuire, were the only representatives of their gender among the 22 students who were named to Prestonsburg Community College's Dean's List for the fall semester, 1965-66. An Appalachian Industries, Inc. official said here Tuesday that the firm hopes by April 1 to have 150 employees and by June 1 to need an additional 10,000 feet of floor space at its West Prestonsburg plant. Married: Miss Sharon Lee Wright, formerly of Allen, and Mr. Bill Tussey, of Risner, Dec. 20; Mrs. Daisy Hayes and Mr. W. B. Day, December 11 at the home of the bride. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Smallwood, of Richmond, Ky., a daughter, Shelia Marquette, Jan. 15 at Richmond. There died: Mrs. Lorraine Akers, 46, of Bonanza, Jan. 17 at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Paris Martin, 48, formerly of Galveston, January 15 at Columbus, O.; John Compton, 93, of Hite, Saturday at the Paintsville hospital.

Thirty Years Ago

(January 19, 1956)

The official move toward merger of the Prestonsburg independent school district with the county school system, effective July 1 this year, was made by the Prestonsburg Board of Education in one of its most momentous sessions Monday evening. An even dozen service stations in the Prestonsburg area will donate all their profits made Tuesday, Jan. 31, to the March of Dimes. Ray Howard, Prestonsburg Chairman, announced Wednesday. The first animal to die from rabies in this county since the incidence of rabid foxes began to climb was a cow belonging to Scott Frasure of Abbott Creek. Former Appellate Judge Bert T. Combs returned with his family to Prestonsburg last week with the announced intention of living here "as neighbors and friends of the people of Prestonsburg and Floyd county." Not an acre of wheat was raised in Floyd county last year, but 37 years ago, according to the old files of the Extension Service, farmers here sowed and harvested 1,743 acres of the golden grain. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Billy Richmond Pruitt, a daughter, Marilyn Rose, Jan. 14 at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Sgt. and Mrs. Floyd Goble, a daughter, Patricia Lee, Jan. 9. ## Forty Years Ago

(January 17, 1946)

Prestonsburg's already-critical housing situation was intensified this week by the announcement that between 40 and 50 residences will be needed for families of U.S. engineer corps members and of key men needed by the contractor who offers the successful bid on construction of the Johns Creek dam. Seven-year-old Wilbur L. Moore died Wednesday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, of third-degree burns suffered in the explosion of a "country" coal mine which also critically burned his father, Monroe Moore, of McDowell. The Francis Store this week moved into its new building, next door to the Abigail Theatre, and today (Thursday) was doing business in the new location. Jesse Justice, 29, of Wheelwright was instantly killed and Fred Little, 26, also of Wheelwright, was fatally injured Sunday night when the automobile in which they were driving across Abner mountain en route home, overturned and rolled 200 feet down the mountainside. Married: Miss Burieta Holbrook, and Mr. Ellis Hale, January 9 at Paintsville; Miss Ruby Napier, of Garrett, and Mr. A. Richter, of Detroit, Mich., recently in Detroit; Miss Jayne Mary Probst and Second Lieut. Winston L. Burke, of Prestonsburg, Jan. 5 in Kenosha, Wisconsin. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. L.M. Chief of Police S. J. Murphy, of Weeksbury, was shot and fatally wounded Saturday night at the Weeksbury jail. Ben Whitaker, Wayland chief of police, who, Tuesday last week, was shot on the first day of his term, was reported this week at the Paintsville hospital to be recovering. Rev. Josef Nordenhaug is conducting a series of meetings at Van Lear Baptist Church this week. Maggard and Fields' Variety Store has leased from the Layne heirs the building on Court Street formerly occupied by Oppenheimer's store, and repair of the building is now under way. Coach Bill Mayo's Garrett Blue Devils defeated the Lackey Lions Friday night, 27-14 in a Floyd county conference game. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Wicker, of Lackey, a son, Jan. 12 at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin. ## The Garrett Situation

With our former school superintendent, Pete Grigsby, Jr., publicly stating that now he's "man enough for the job of superintendent," and Garrett Principal Ralph O'Quinn publicly stating that "Pete Grigsby is our salvation," it's time for a few facts to be made public concerning the Garrett situation. The Garrett parents have worked too hard on the school and care too much about the welfare of their children to be misled on what actually took place in regard to the Facilities Survey Reports.

During Mr. Grigsby's 9-year tenure, Garrett moved from No. 2 on the Facilities Survey Reports to No. 9. On 4-3-76, before Mr. Grigsby took over as superintendent, Garrett was No. 4 on the priorities list for Capital Outlay Expenditures for a NEW school. On Sept. 1, 1976, on recommendation of Supt. Grigsby, Board Order No. 2584 amended the 4-3-76 report to RENOVATE Garrett. The September, 1980 Floyd County Facilities Survey Report brought Garrett up to No. 2 for a new elementary facility. This was then amended to put Garrett No. 5. At the 9-2-81 board meeting, on the recommendation of Supt. Grigsby, Board Order No. 4029 approved the 1980-1985 Facilities Survey which had Garrett in 5th place for a new school. On 4-4-85, the Facilities Survey had Garrett as No. 9 which was the place they still held when Pete Grigsby resigned on 9-4-85.

Ray Brackett, now acting superintendent, was the person responsible for applying and receiving approval for an emergency loan for temporary units at Garrett.

As for the "groundswell of support" that Grigsby is claiming, I was told that there were approximately 39 people present at the meeting which was organized to demonstrate support for him and that 19 of those present raised their hands in support of him.

The 1-17-86 article in the Lexington Herald-Leader stated that one member of the Garrett parents' organization thinks state officials "sometimes make our situation seem worse than it is." I feel that this person is truly interested in our schools and that he just didn't have all the facts when he made that statement.

According to the reports that were released to the public during the years of the investigation of Grigsby and his board, the allegations were well founded. Otherwise, the threat of a state takeover of our beleaguered school system would not have forced Grigsby's resignation last September.

Plea Bargains End Five Cases

A Blue River construction worker, indicted last summer on three counts of rape and one of sexual abuse involving a 12-year-old, entered a guilty plea in Floyd Circuit Court last Thursday to two counts of sexual abuse in return for a two-year sentence on each count. Circuit Judge Hollie Conley ordered Otis Stone, 34, to report to the county jail Monday to begin his sentences, which the judge said would be served concurrently.

In other plea bargains concluded last week, Lawrence E. Conley, of Allen Park, Mich., indicted for burglary following a break-in at Campbell's Grocery at Garrett last July 4, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of criminal trespass. He was sentenced to a year in jail, with probation to be considered after he serves 5½ months.

Dwayne Bishop, of Teaberry, indicted on four counts of possessing forged checks and three counts of passing them, pleaded guilty to reduced charges and received a one-year sentence, with probation a possibility after 90 days. Bishop was said to have cashed forged checks amounting to $410 over a four-day period last May at the Farmers Market at Harold but later to have made restitution to the market.

Tony Baril, of Prestonsburg, indicted for first-degree assault for allegedly hitting Tom Reynolds on the head with a beer bottle, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor and was given a one-year sentence, which was probated on condition he seek no more indictments of others involved in the incident.

James Ray Conley, indicted on a charge of receiving stolen property after he was arrested in Garrett last year in a pickup stolen from Indiana, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge, was given credit for the 10 days he had already served, and had the remainder of his sentence probated.

A wanton endangerment charge against Roger Paige, of Wheelwright, was reduced to criminal mischief and the case transferred to district court. Paige is accused of firing a gun in the vicinity of Paul Mullett last April 19, endangering him.

School-Community Partnerships

The Floyd Co. School-Community Partnership Committee is a group of parents and teachers who have worked diligently since July, 1985 trying to bring teachers and their students together with businesses, civic groups, professional people and governmental agencies to form partnerships and projects that will contribute to the academic and career preparation of students who will one day be responsible adults.

Some of our past projects have been:
1. Conducted a teacher needs survey to establish the goals our teachers feel we must obtain.

2. Contacted approximately 100 community businesses and organizations throughout Floyd county and now have their commitment and support to help our students and teachers in the partnership endeavor. These are a part of a RESOURCE GUIDE.

3. Sponsored a Logo program in which all high school pupils in Floyd county could participate in an original drawing to be selected as the committee's official long term Logo. A cash prize of $50 was awarded.

4. Initiated a countywide LITERARY MAGAZINE project that will be an actual publication of high school students' writings. Selection of a name was a contest effort with another $50 cash prize. The magazine was named "MOUNTAIN MAGIC."

5. We have the approval of a $5,000 mini-grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission (A.R.C.) and through the Ky. Educational Foundation to use strictly for teachers and students in Partnership Projects in the remainder of the 1986 school year.

6. A Young Authors Program will soon be available for students in grades 1-8 as our Literary Magazine is for grades 9-12. It will also be a publication of children's writings.

7. Our ARTS Committee is working on projects that will address the need for the ARTS as was requested by teachers in our needs study.

8. A Resource Center is NOW in operation. Volunteer parents are staffing the center on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday (10:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m.) to accept requests from TEACHERS throughout Floyd county to try and meet the need that they wish. If we do not have their request available in our resource guide, we will try and find it. We will do all the work for the teachers. They can continue to teach.

So, principals and teachers of our Floyd County schools, here is your opportunity to get a whole bunch of parents working for you to try and meet the needs only you know your particular class has. Use it. Call the School-Community Partnership Resource Center and ask for whatever you think your class may need. Our number is 886-2354. Ask for your Resource Center.

Too Much Sameness

Coming home from Pike county the other evening, I thought I would see what was on local radio. The three Floyd county stations on that evening were carrying high school basketball, and they all were carrying the same game! A few days later the same thing happened. Besides the fact that some of us may not be interested in basketball at all, why does every one carry the same game?

Variety is the spice of life. Couldn't one station carry music as an alternative? And why are there three stations in Floyd county all fighting it out to be the country radio station? And the other two are playing just rock music. It would be mighty boring if all our fast food places carried just chicken, or just burgers, or just pizza. Stores give us variety of price ranges and merchandise, and churches offer choices of liturgy or informality, emotional or intellectual approaches to religion.

Competition is good, but why compete by offering exactly the same thing? Why doesn't someone try a contemporary gospel, Christian music approach? Or easy listening for those whose ears can't adjust to rock? Floyd county has more diverse interests than we're being offered. And speaking of diversity, thanks to the Prestonsburg Cable TV for offering us now the ACTS network instead of just another "movie channel." We need that—and something other than the same basketball game on three stations at the same time.

Make A Joyful Noise

Ball players need someone to root for them.

As rooters, we let them know we are out there. It is a joyful noise to them!

There are many people silently crying, "Is anyone out there?"

Each of us has at least one lonely person, nearby, who needs us to root for them.

Today, let someone know he or she is appreciated. It will help them and us, too.

Million-Dollar Handshake

Floyd Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo and Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta congratulated one another last week on their return from Frankfort with checks for $1,056,253 and $70,190 respectively, the result of a windfall natural gas tax. County and city leaders, who welcomed the unexpected revenue at a time when federal revenue-sharing funds appear likely to be withdrawn, were stunned at the size of the distribution. "I nearly fell through the floor," when Gov. Martha Layne Collins announced Floyd county's share, Stumbo said.

BAPTIST STUDENTS MEET

The Baptist Student Union-Brothers and Sisters United is a Christian fellowship group which meets each Thursday in Room 216 of the Pike Building at Prestonsburg Community College, with Robin Childers, campus minister, as director. The group is open to all students and staff members. Furnishing refreshments for them are members of the Annie Allen and Mommie Ransdell Circles of Baptist Women of Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church. The first luncheon-meeting of this year was held January 16, with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pettrey and Mrs. Carl Woods serving food to Robin Childers, Gus Kalos, Glenna Branham, Andy Keaton, Solomon Bogate, Leslie Pack, Karen Woods, Loretta Butfow, Carrie Branham, Edith Burke, Gloria Crum, and Hailu Bogale.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Virgie Adkins would like to thank all of their friends and neighbors who helped in our time of sorrow. Dr. Phelps and the E.R. Staff of Our Lady of the Way Hospital. A special thanks to Sister Marie for her unfailing presence and strength. Thanks to Monroe Vanderpool and Jackie E. Owens who took care of things which we could not. We cannot express our deep feelings and thank you is not enough for Jerry Manns. Without him we would not have had services for our last farewell to Mom. We thank Hall Funeral Home for their help, support and for making this time easier for us. We would also like to thank all of these who brought food and to Dr. Martin for his many years of care.

Free Kit Available For Breast Exams

When talking about a problem as serious as breast cancer, is it possible to say things are getting better just because something else is worse? Not according to the American Institute for Cancer Research (AICR), which has announced free distribution of a special reminder and instruction sticker package on breast self examination.

"Since current estimates indicate that lung cancer will, in 1986, replace breast cancer as the leading cancer killer of women, some women have mistakenly assumed that breast cancer is not as serious a problem as it once was," noted Marilyn Gentry, vice president for education for AICR.

"That simply is not the case," Ms. Gentry pointed out. She explained that in 1985 an estimated 38,000 women lost their lives to breast cancer, and that total new cases of breast cancer climbed to almost 120,000 across the U.S.

"One of the real tragedies of breast cancer," Ms. Gentry noted, "is that it is one form of cancer where early detection is a key to successful treatment and the saving of lives. However, there are still only a small percentage of women performing regular, easy to do breast self-examination. That is why AICR is encouraging women to get these easy to follow instruction and reminder kits.

While there have been increases in both the number of cases of breast cancer and the number of deaths from breast cancer, both numbers have, for the most part, paralleled the general increase in population. If women would take a more active role on this health matter there exists a good chance for a reduction in those rates, according to Ms. Gentry.

Many studies have linked higher rates of breast cancer to diets high in fat. That is one reason why the American Institute for Cancer Research, a national cancer organization which focuses on diet, nutrition and cancer prevention, has given breast cancer increased attention.

"Through more regular breast self-examination, and through simple dietary changes to reduce dietary fat, and to increase consumption of fruits, vegetables and whole grain products, we feel there could be a significant reduction in breast cancer rates in this country," Ms. Gentry explained.

Free copies of the AICR breast self-examination instruction and reminder kits are available by sending a business-sized stamped, self-addressed envelope to American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. BSE, Washington, D.C. 20069.

Collins, Tom T. Hall To Address KPA Meet

Governor Martha Layne Collins and Tom T. Hall, honorary chairman of KET's GED Study-at-Home project, will address the Kentucky Press Association's winter convention at 10 a.m. Friday, January 17, at the Brown Hotel in Louisville.

At this time, they are expected to offer a challenge to businesses and civic leaders to help increase awareness and enrollment in each Kentucky county in the KET/GED Study-at-Home project.

Kentucky ranks 50th among the states in the percentage of adults without a high school diploma. The KET/GED Study-at-Home project was developed to provide a convenient option for adults who have been unable to obtain their high school diploma through traditional adult education services.

This program allows students to prepare at home for the General Educational Development (GED) test by receiving instruction on television. For a minimal fee, students are provided with workbooks, tutorial assistance through a toll-free number, and pre- and post-testing services to track the students' progress.

Hall, who received his GED while in the Army, said, "I am thrilled to support and endorse the KET/GED Study-at-Home project.

"I know firsthand the benefits of acquiring an education. I obtained a GED certificate myself, and this accomplishment has been a source of pride and satisfaction throughout my life," Hall added.

Since launching the project statewide in September, there have been 7,694 inquiries, resulting in 2,022 enrollees. That is double the original goal set by KET when promotion began in the fall.

The Season's First 'Real' Snow

Photos by Allen Bolling

Trees that look like a fretwork of fragile lace make a delicate backdrop for the meandering Big Sandy.

The Bull Creek bridge was a span of snow for those crossing it early Monday.

Nature flocked these trees with Sunday night's snowfall and the effect surpasses that of any decorator.

Heavy snow hangs like pristine ornaments on this pine tree.

A fairyland view, from an unusual angle, of the Cliff bridge.

Weighted down by snow, these evergreens overhang a curve on the Dewey Lake road.

This sign was unnecessary Monday even for the hardest soul.

No tourists were on hand at Dewey Lake to see this inviting view to whatever lies around the bend.

Seek Applicants For Medical Scholarships

The Rural Kentucky Medical Scholarship Fund is accepting applications from residents of Kentucky, who have been accepted at the University of Kentucky College of Medicine or the University of Louisville Medical School. The fund provides a $5,000 loan per year to a recipient, who is willing to practice and reside in a rural county in Kentucky for one year for each loan received. Special forgiveness of loans is available to those who practice in one of Kentucky's critical counties. The Fund is the oldest and most successful of its kind in the nation. In its 40 years, the Rural Kentucky Medical Scholarship Fund has loaned more than $2.5 million and has placed approximately 500 physicians in rural Kentucky. Sixty percent of the recipients are still practicing in rural or critical areas of the State, and another 16% are still practicing in metropolitan areas in Kentucky.

Anyone interested in applying for a scholarship should contact the RKMSF Office at the Kentucky Medical Association Headquarters, 3532 Ephraim McDowell Drive, Louisville, Kentucky 40205, or call 502-45909790. Deadline for applications is April 1, 1986.

Adult Abuse Stirs Public Compassion

(Part one of a two-part series on Adult Abuse & Neglect in Kentucky.)
Nearly 9,000 Kentuckians were allegedly battered, defrauded, neglected and otherwise abused during the most recent statistical year.

Investigations by the Kentucky Department for Social Services increased by 47 percent in that single year; reports statewide have tripled since 1980.

While new laws on reporting such incidents have increased the numbers, some national studies claim that one of every ten potential victims in America will be beaten, cheated or fail to receive proper care during their lifetimes.

The subject is not child abuse. The problem is adult abuse.

"Adult abuse and neglect haven't stirred public compassion and concern until recently," said Social Services Commissioner Anna Grace Day. "The domestic violence crime of spouse abuse and violations of the rights of the elderly strike at the heart of the home. People are starting to champion this issue much as they began the fight against child abuse a few years ago."

The department's Adult Services branch has active cases under investigation which cover adult abuse or neglect in many forms: spouse abuse, denial of rights to the elderly, misuse of Social Security or other benefits by a family member or caretaker, failure to provide needed assistance to disabled adults, or the inability of adults to care for themselves.

In the statistical year between July 1, 1984 and June 30, 1985, adult protection caseworkers investigated 8,343 reports of adult abuse or neglect in Kentucky. At the beginning of the decade, the annual figure stood below 3,000.

Spouse abuse reports to the department numbered 1,509 in 1980 and had risen to 2,528 by 1984. In 1985 investigations of spouse abuse in Kentucky reached 4,650.

According to Richard Newman, manager of the Adult Services branch, the numbers represent a case in which statistics don't tell the whole story.

"Last year we registered an 84 percent increase in reports of spouse abuse in Kentucky, but we didn't have the alarming jump in cases that the figures suggest," Newman said. "The 1984 Kentucky General Assembly strengthened the law on reporting cases of suspected or known domestic violence by requiring law enforcement officers to notify the department of such incidents within 48 hours. That change in the law resulted in most of the dramatic increase in reported spouse abuse cases."

At the same time, even the higher numbers may not be an accurate gauge of the problem of adult abuse.

"The cases we investigate in no way truly represent the number of men and women who are being physically or mentally abused and neglected," said Kathy Weller, a state adult protection specialist.

A report issued last May by the U.S. House of Representatives Aging Committee concluded that abuse and neglect of senior citizens remains largely hidden, is growing in magnitude, and may touch four percent of all elder citizens.

Cases of caretaker neglect may involve an institution such as a nursing or boarding home or even a family member. "This may not involve physical violence or death, but we do not view a case of neglect any less seriously," said Newman. "If people are deprived of things necessary to health and well-being, they are being denied the quality of life to which they have a right."

Is anything being done? Social Services Commissioner Day says "Yes."

"Public attitudes on adult abuse—whether we're talking about spouse abuse or the neglect of the elderly—are changing. We are getting stronger support for the services needed to do more than simply react to the situation after there is a victim," Day said. "Most importantly of all, more victims are willing to come forward and seek the assistance that is available."

Clarence Birdseye, the "Father of Frozen Food," was an inventor and explorer who first experimented with preserving food in 1916 on a trip to Labrador.

Judge Concedes Error

District Judge Harold Stumbo conceded recently he was in error over the number of jurors needed to make a full panel. The judge's angry remarks from the bench earlier this month, when he held there were too few jurors present to conduct trials scheduled that day, drew a response later from Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, who cited court rules to the effect that 16 jurors constitute a full panel. Seventeen jurors were present when Judge Stumbo sent them home, claiming he needed 20 persons from which to select a jury.

Asks Permission To Move Gravesite

Edward M. Tackett, of Weeksbury, Ky., came before the Floyd County Fiscal Court, January 6, 1986, asking for permission to move an abandoned gravesite located on his property on Rt. No. 466 in Weeksbury, Kentucky. The remains are that of a stillborn child born to Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hamilton, both now deceased. The child died sometime between 1930 and 1935, and the grave is in great disrepair. According to K.R.S. 381.755, the grave can be moved after advertising three (3) times, and if there are no objections at the February, 1986 court meeting, Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home of Martin, Kentucky, will move the grave to the Weeksbury Community Cemetery.

New Year Babies At HRMC

The first babies of the New Year were born at Highlands Regional Medical Center on Jan. 2, 3 and 8. "HRMC celebrated the birth of the first baby of the New Year born from each county in our four county service area of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, and Martin counties," said E. Carol Blevins, public information officer at the Medical Center. "We divide the gifts donated by local merchants into four equal lots to distribute to each baby."

The first of all four 'First Babies' was Barry Paul Justice, son of Ray and Pandora Justice, of Harold. He was born at 9 p.m. on January 2. Barry Paul was given a $100 scholarship to Prestonsburg Community College for being the first of the four babies.

In addition to his scholarship, he received from area merchants the following gifts which totaled nearly $450: photography by Steven Porter donated by the First Commonwealth Bank, a $50 savings bond donated by The Bank Josephine, a $50 gift certificate donated by Cooley Apothecary, a subscription to The Floyd County Times, a carrier donated by Herrin-Johnson Pharmacy, a hand-quilted baby bib from David's Craft Corner, two free meals from the Playhouse Restaurant, a baby blanket donated by the Prestonsburg Cycle Center, an arrangement by Allen's Florist, a $25 gift certificate from the Coachman, baby shoes from Francis Stores, a sleeper from Ben Franklin, a stuffed animal from Terry Office Supply, roses from Add-A-Touch Florist, economy size pampers from Murphy Mart in Pikeville, a 15-inch pizza from Giovanni's in Prestonsburg, $20 cash from Abacus Computer, $10 in cash from Henson's Glass, an infant gown from the Rockin' Horse, and a $25 savings bond from McGuire Ford.

The first Martin county baby was James Tristan Maynard, son of James and Betty Jo Maynard, of Inez. He was born at 1:05 p.m., Jan. 3 and was the second New Year baby.

Magoffin county's first baby of the New Year was Brittany McCarty, daughter of Clyde and Maggie McCarty, of Elsie. She was born at 10:28 p.m. on Jan. 8 and was the third New Year baby.

THE COUGH REFLEX

The primary purpose of a cough is to clear the airway. It is a protective, physiological reflex that is part voluntary and part involuntary. It often occurs in healthy people as well as those who are sick. Infections, chemical irritants, retained body secretions and the presence of foreign bodies that block one's airway can cause coughing. They do so by stimulating the nerve endings in the respiratory tract. Drugs that reduce the amount and intensity of coughs are called cough suppressors or, technically, antitussives. A few are safe and very effective. However, because coughing is one of the ways that the body fights illness, it is not always wise to suppress it with drugs.

Your pharmacist at COOLEY APOTHECARY is ready with professional advice when you need it. He is a trusted health professional that you may speak with in confidence. We are very proud to have been able to provide families in this area with all their pharmaceutical needs during the past year and we look forward to doing the same for many years to come. Our records are fully maintained so that they can be readily available to both you and your physician. You'll find us located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106 and open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4. ### NUMB ARMS, LEGS Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble

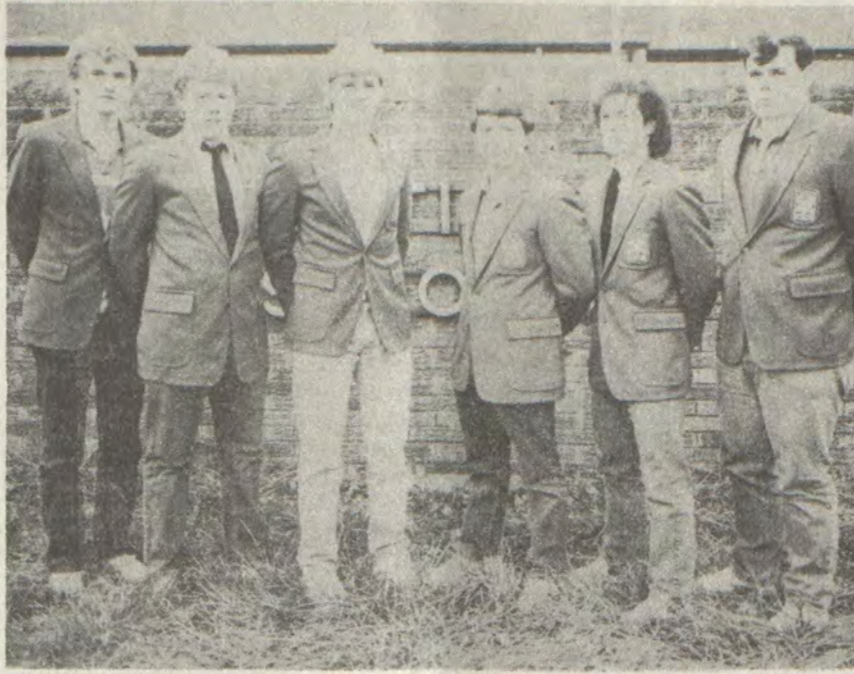

- (1) Paresthesias (see above)
- (2) Headaches
- (3) Painful joints
- (4) Numbness in the arms or hands
- (5) Loss of sleep
- (6) Stiffness in the neck
- (7) Pain between the shoulders
- (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back
- (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals...call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

"American Playhouse" To Feature "Valentine's Revenge" On KET

O. Henry, the world-acclaimed American short story writer, also is one of the most interesting authors in American literature. Like Mark Twain, O. Henry based most of his fictional writings on actual experiences.

William Sydney Porter (alias O. Henry) actually began his writing career as a prisoner in the Ohio Penitentiary where he served four years of a six-year sentence for embezzlement of bank funds. While in jail, he worked in the hospital, and began writing short stories, using some of his fellow inmates as models for his characters.

"Valentine's Revenge," a drama adapted from the O. Henry short story, "A Retrieved Reformation," will be aired on KET Tuesday, February 4, at 8 p.m. It was inspired by one of O. Henry's fellow inmates, a famous safecracker who died believing to the end that he would be paroled.

After serving a prison term for a safecracking job in which the stolen cash has not been recovered by the law. Valentine is set free. He reunites with his old gang, and plans another bank robbery, but is unknowingly followed by a Pinkerton detective. The drama unfolds when Valentine is confronted with the dilemma of saving one of the banker's daughters from suffocation after she accidentally is closed inside the bank vault, with the timing device set.

In his surprise ending style, O. Henry twists fate and touches everyone's heart. "American Playhouse" is presented by a consortium of public television stations: KCET/Los Angeles, South Carolina ETV, WGBH/Boston, and WNET/New York.

To Present Twain's Huck Finn On KET

In celebration of the novel's 100th anniversary of publication, "American Playhouse" will present a new four-hour, four-part adaptation of Mark Twain's literary classic, "Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." The series will be aired on KET on Tuesdays at 8 p.m., beginning February 11.

This adaptation of America's most popular novel features an all-star cast, including Jim Dale as The Duke; Patrick Day as Huck; Frederic Forrest as Pap Finn; Lillian Gish as Mrs. Loftus; Bernard Hughes as The King; Richard Kiley as Col. Grangerford; Butterfly McQueen as the Blind Nigger; Geraldine Page as Sally Phelps; Sada Thompson as Widow Douglas; and Samm-Art Williams as Jim, the runaway slave.

The story begins in St. Petersburg, Missouri, in 1844. Finn is a 14-year-old boy living in the custody of Widow Douglas and her pious sister, Miss Watson. Huck's father, Pap Finn, has been missing for some time. One day, he returns and regains control over his son. But Pap Finn is a violent alcoholic, and a judge decrees that Huck remain in the custody of the two women.

Huck is kidnapped by his furious father and taken to a cabin on the other side of the Mississippi River, where he is kept prisoner and beaten by his father. But Huck escapes, and makes his way to an island, where he finds the slave, Jim, hiding on the island. Their adventures on the river, and Huck's helping Jim to escape slavery, comprise the rest of the story. The river scenes all were filmed in and around Maysville, Kentucky.

"The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" was produced by The Great Amwell Company in association with WGBH/Boston and WGBY/Springfield.

Centre Names Jester Public Relations Head

Centre College announced recently that it has appointed Art Jester, a Lexington Herald-Leader reporter, to the position of Director of College Relations.

Rick Nahm, vice president of the college, said that Jester's major responsibility would be to increase the college's visibility at the regional and national levels.

Jester's duties, which begin March 1, also will include coordinating the college's news services operations and monitoring state and federal government actions which might affect the college.

A native of Danville, Jester has a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville and a Master of Divinity degree from Union Theological Seminary in New York City. He has also done post-graduate work in communications at Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism and studied international relations and American higher education at Stanford University.

Jester, 35, said his decision to switch from reporting to handling public relations for the College came about in part from his present assignment as higher education reporter for the Herald-Leader.

"Covering the state's colleges and universities rekindled an earlier interest I had to be associated with a college," he said.

Jester joined the Herald-Leader staff in 1980. Prior to that, he served as assistant city editor for The Anniston Star, Anniston, AL, and as a sports writer for The Advocate-Messenger, Danville.

"We are pleased that Art will be joining Centre's staff," said Nahm. "Because of his experience, he has an excellent understanding of higher education, which will help us tell Centre's story in a most effective manner," he said.

State, Local Taxes To Rise in Few Years

State and local taxes are likely to jump by 20 to 30 percent within the next five years.

Paul Teague, community development specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, said the tax rises will be required to meet the increased spending that state and local governments will have to undertake in the coming years.

"The country is wearing out. Roads, bridges, water, power and sewer systems are getting old," Teague said. Since the end of World War II the bulk of the budgets of state and local governments have gone for new construction. And while the demand for new construction is going to continue, a lot of what has been built in the past 30 years is going to have to be replaced, Teague said.

A survey by Touche Ross & Co. of 961 state and local government officials throughout the U.S. showed that six out of 10 of them expect to see spending on public facilities—roads, bridges, sanitation, public transportation, and the like—to at least double within the next five years. Of those, 40 percent expect to see the figures triple.

Suzanne Kilner, senior administrative aide in the Lexington-Fayette Department of Public Works, said about 23 percent of the total urban county government budget is spent on public facilities. That comes to $20.5 million. If that amount were to double, taxes would have to rise by 23 percent. If it were to triple, the rise would come to 46 percent.

Kilner said the continued demands for new services, plus the growing need for repair and replacement of existing facilities is going to force citizens and elected officials to make a tough choice—increased taxes or reduced services.

First Teacher In Space To Conduct KET Lessons

New Hampshire teacher Christa McAuliffe soon will be miles away from her classroom, but the distance will not stop her from teaching not only her students but also students nationwide.

McAuliffe, the first private citizen aboard a NASA space shuttle, is also the first participant in the NASA Teacher In Space project. As part of McAuliffe's mission, she will teach two lessons relating to earth/space science.

KET is scheduled to air these lessons live Tuesday, January 28, at 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. All times are approximate. Any delay in the shuttle launch will postpone the broadcasts which are set for the shuttle's sixth day in orbit. KET will interrupt its regular in-school programming schedule to air the live broadcasts.

Barbara Morgan, the Idaho teacher who is the backup candidate for the NASA Teacher In Space project, also will participate in the lessons with both pre-lesson introductions and post-lesson follow-ups. Pre-arranged calls also will be received from students in New Hampshire and Idaho as part of the program.

KET will be airing these programs in conjunction with other PBS stations. Instruction guides for the programs and related activities were prepared by additional teachers with the NASA program and World Book.

During an interview about her opportunity to be the first teacher in space, McAuliffe described the event as "the ultimate field trip." It is the aim of these live broadcasts to allow students to experience the field trip with McAuliffe, explained KET Director of Instructional Programming Harry Hinkle.

WMMT-FM Offers Radio Training

WMMT (88.5 FM) is offering hands-on experience in radio programming to members of the Eastern Kentucky/Southwestern Virginia community. Training will be provided, and people who are interested will be able to have a regular radio show on the station.

WMMT is a community radio station. Much like the public-access TV channels found on cable, community radio stations provide equipment and air time to non-professionals who wish to be involved in broadcasting. There are about 150 community stations across the United States and WMMT is one of the newest.

WMMT broadcasts at 1,000 watts. Its signal reaches Letcher, Pike, Floyd, Harlan, Knott, Perry and Leslie counties in Kentucky as well as Wise and Dickenson counties in Virginia. The station is presently broadcasting from 4 to 9 p.m. each day. By February 1, the station hopes to expand its hours to include morning programming from 6 to 9 a.m. each day. Volunteers are needed to fill all time slots.

"It's really fun and a wonderful educational opportunity," said Liz Olds, newly hired program director for WMMT. "Many people go on from community radio to a career in media." Olds herself began as a volunteer disc jockey in rural Idaho.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer programmer for WMMT can contact either Olds or Keith Shannon, at (606) 633-0108 between 9 a.m. and 5:30 weekdays.

WMMT is an affiliate of Appalshop. Its studios are located at the Appalshop building, 306 Madison St., Whitesburg, Ky. 41858.

Research Indicates Drinking by Mothers Damaging to Unborn

There is increasing research which indicates a pregnant woman who regularly drinks could seriously damage her unborn child's health. During National Fetal Alcohol Syndrome Awareness Week, Jan. 12-18, Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources officials hope more expectant mothers will take note of the dangers of drinking during pregnancy.

"Fetal Alcohol Syndrome, also known as FAS, is one of the three leading causes of mental retardation among newborns and the only one that is preventable," said Michelle Metts, program coordinator in the cabinet's Division of Substance Abuse. "For every child born with FAS, it is estimated that as many as 10 other children may be born with one or two single alcohol-related birth defects."

The most common signs of FAS in newborns are lighter birthweight, shorter stature, a particular pattern of facial malformations and varying degrees of abnormalities in the body's major organs such as heart defects, according to Clarence Marshall, administrator of the maternal and neonatal section in the Division of Maternal and Child Health. The most serious consequence of FAS, however, is the effect it can have on the central nervous system.

"The possible damage to the central nervous system includes mental retardation, hyperactivity throughout childhood and withdrawal symptoms at birth which are similar to the 'DTs' in adults," said Marshall. "Some central nervous system defects may go undetected until a child enters school."

One problem with FAS is there are insufficient studies to determine how much alcohol it takes to damage a fetus, since FAS was first recognized as a problem in the United States in 1973.

Frank Gotch, whom many consider the greatest wrestler in modern times, held the record for the quickest fall—pinning an opponent in 6 1/4 seconds.

Arrest of Two Follows Wreck, Man's Drowning

A 22-year-old McDowell man drowned in Left Beaver Creek last Thursday after the car in which he was a passenger ran off KY 122 there, turning turtle in the stream and trapping him inside.

Timothy Dye, employee of the SuperAmerica grocery store and service station at Martin, was pronounced dead at about 6:35 p.m. at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital by Dr. F.G. Rivera, only minutes after the accident occurred. The cause of death was listed as drowning, though Coroner Roger Nelson said Dye also suffered some chest injuries.

Nelson said Dye was taken to the McDowell hospital by Kentucky State Police Trooper B.J. Woods.

Woods charged the driver of the car, Basel Moore, 27, of Frasure's Creek, with driving while intoxicated. Another passenger, Robbie Hall, 23, also of Frasure's Creek, was charged with public intoxication. Both men were taken to the Floyd county jail, with Hall later released on bond. Moore was still in jail yesterday (Tuesday).

Dye is survived by his parents, Kelly and Alma Gayheart Dye, of McDowell; four brothers, Melvin Dye, of Tiro, O., Virgil Dye, of Shelby, O., Vernon Dye and Lance Dye, both of McDowell; eight sisters, Yvonne Kilgore, of Willard, O., Claudine Allen, of New Haven, O., Clotie Alley, of Detroit, Mich., Dianne Conley, of McDowell, Deborah Short, of Bartley, W. Va., Lorraine Cook and Genieve Spears, both of Halo, and Lisa Osborne, of Ligon.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at 10 a.m. at the Wheelwright Free Will Baptist Church with the Rev. Louis Ferrari officiating. Burial was made in the Greenberry Hall cemetery, McDowell. The Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home, Martin, was in charge of arrangements.

Children's Hospital Offers Aid To Poison Victims

People in Kentucky who face the frightening experience of poisoning now have a faster and more thorough resource for help.

The Kentucky Regional Poison Center of Kosair Children's Hospital and the hospital's emergency room have purchased and installed a new computer information system. The new technology will assure the fastest and best information possible about poisons and drugs, as well as assistance in the diagnosis and treatment of emergency conditions.

The professionals who respond to emergency calls about poisons can retrieve information to help them identify the poison and determine step-by-step treatment for poisonings.

"A caller can learn whether or not there is a potential danger from a product and, if so, what should be done," explained Dr. George C. Rodgers, Jr., Medical Director of the Center. He said, "Many times, nothing needs to be done; in other cases, specific treatment is necessary, or a person may have to be taken to a hospital."

A second part of the new system provides information to aid doctors as they determine the cause of an emergency medical problem and the treatment to be used.

Another component makes available detailed information about drugs which adds information to assist the person who prescribes, dispenses and/or administer drugs.

The fourth part of the new system supplies information on over 23,000 listings on United States and foreign prescription drugs, over-the-counter medicine, generic drugs, look-alike drugs and slang street terms for drugs.

The massive amount of information available at the touch of a button adds significantly to the ability of the Poison Center's staff to serve the thousands—so far in 1985 of people who call them every year.

"The information in the system is updated every 90 days," says Nancy J. Matynas, Pharm.D., director of the center. "We're ensured access to complete and current data when time and thoroughness can mean life or death." Dr. Matynas emphasizes the necessity of calling the Poison Center before taking any other steps. "Don't read the label when a poison has been consumed," she says. "The information may be out-of-date or just wrong. Call the Kentucky Regional Poison Center, (502) 589-8222 in Louisville, (800) 722-5725 in Kentucky. The Center has the best facilities available anywhere to provide the latest information and to provide it immediately."

A Legislative Perspective

By GREGORY D. STUMBO
Majority Floorleader

Kentucky Governor Martha Layne Collins opened the 1986 General Assembly by delivering a "happy days are here again" message in her State of the Commonwealth address to members of a joint session of the House and Senate.

Using upbeat phrases such as "Kentucky is poised for progress," she outlined achievements scored by joint efforts of her administration and members of the General Assembly.

Most legislators, I believe, agreed that because of our concentrated efforts during the July special session Kentucky's school children are, even now, reaping the educational harvest in the public schools.

Governor Collins talked of a new era in the Commonwealth and drew applause as she pointed out the enthusiastic support and sincere concern found in Kentuckians that has allowed us, as state officials, to bring about these positive changes in Kentucky.

But, the enormity of the task is no less now than it was four years ago. The difference is that all of us—Governor, legislators, farmers, miners, mothers, and teachers—can look back where we were and see the progress that has been made.

Members of the House of Representatives share in the enthusiasm for what has come Kentucky's way during 1985. However, we must guard against complacency and remember that this is only the threshold of better things yet to come. Several crucial issues must be addressed this session including budgetary cutbacks in federal programs—the largest being the Medicaid program and local revenue sharing.

One glaring issue that was not mentioned in the Governor's glowing welcome to the 1986 General Assembly was the still festering conditions of the state's highways. I overheard several House members express a desire to know if recommendations are being sought to solve this very serious problem.

The state's correctional system is still lingering in the Capitol hallways awaiting a verdict on its future.

And, two issues gaining statewide attention in leaps and bounds include the mandatory seatbelt law and the "living will concept." Although both have been studied by interim committees, both sides of these issues have steadily stuck to their guns and a final confrontation is yet to be witnessed.

Please let me know your opinions on these issues that will most certainly face the General Assembly. You can contact me at home by calling or writing me at Fred's Fork, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653, or dialing 285-9228, or by writing me at the State Capitol, Room 304, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601 or by calling the toll-free message line in Frankfort. That number is 1-800-372-7181.

The Adams Family and 'Old Floyd'

A new compilation of Adams family histories will revolutionize ancestry searing in the southeast region of Kentucky, a hotbed of Adams genealogy, it is predicted by its authors and publishers.

"Adams Families of Southeast Kentucky," a 200-page workbook, was researched, compiled and written over the past several years by Dorothy Amburgey Griffith, editor and publisher of Adams Addenda, a bi-annual family records publication, and Robert E. Parkin, Genealogical R&P, 6611 Clayton Road, Room 104, St. Louis, MO 63117. The cost of the book is $20, postpaid.

"We have dispelled the notion that the several Adams families, who came in to old Floyd county before 1810, were from a common ancestor, or even one family," Mrs. Griffith says.

For instance, she said, "There was no 'Old John of All' Adams, an idea that some researchers have held onto for more than a century."

The John Adams (1727-1804) to whom she referred lived in Loudoun county, Virginia, in the mid-eighteenth century. At the beginning of the American Revolution, Mrs. Griffith said, he and his four sons, John (1747-1815), Benjamin (1749-1824), Jacob (1753-1833) and Spencer (1759-1830), moved to the Roaring River, North Carolina, an area which soon became Wilkes county, where they lived for nearly a generation.

Several Adams families—apparently not related—had been there for at least a generation or more, the basis of much confusion at a later time, when some of them also migrated into Kentucky, Mrs. Griffith said.

Around 1804, John Adams Jr. and his second wife, Letty (Simpson), and Spencer Adams, his brother, led a movement to Floyd county, then a wilderness, she explained. John Adams, Sr. did not make the journey, apparently dying within the year, probably in Wilkes county. However, John Adams, Jr.'s only son by his first wife, Stephen Adams (1778-1858), and most of the 11 children by his second wife and Spencer's three eldest sons did make the wintertime journey by wagon train, she said. They settled on the headwaters of the Kentucky River in what was to become over the years Perry, Pike, Morgan, Letcher and other counties. When Spencer Adams took his family to Dallas county, Alabama, in 1821, the progeny of John Adams, Jr., who died in 1815, was left in Kentucky to carry on the Adams line.

Loudoun county tax lists, North Carolina marriage bonds, Revolutionary War records, early Wilkes county and Floyd county land records, and a huge collection of family records are used to "prove out" these lines, Mrs. Griffith said.

In production for more than five years, "Adams Families of Southeast Kentucky" also detailed the coming of other Adams families into the region: Mrs. Griffith's ancestor, Moses Adams (1776-1854), entered Kentucky by way of Tennessee. He and his wife, Mary (Garland), produced, perhaps, southeast Kentucky's most prolific Adams family. Their descendants are brought well past 1850 when their two oldest sons, Jesse (1798-1874) and George (1800-1869), moved to Missouri.

For the first time known, ancestry of William G. Adams (1790-1870), who married a daughter of John and Letty, is revealed. Mrs. Griffith said many of their descendants—finding this task almost hopeless—turned to searching his wife's forebears, again, adding to confusion.

Another portion of the book is devoted to Stephen "Rockhouse" Adams (1779-1845), believed to be a son of Jesse and Jane Adams of Lewis Fork, Wilkes county. Rock House Steve followed some of his brothers to Floyd county. His progeny are identified through division of his estate, in 1851.

"We've solved a lot of mysteries that have confounded family-tree tracers for years," Mrs. Griffith said. "It was a long and arduous task, but a pleasurable one. Our hope is that 'ADAMS FAMILIES of Southeast Kentucky' will make their searching much easier, while not taking the enjoyment out of it."

ADAMS ADDENDA maintains files of about 1000 family group sheets on these lines and will share them with researchers, she said.

"Adams Families of Southeast Kentucky" may be obtained from Adams Addenda, c/o Genealogical R&P, 6611 Clayton Road, Room 104, St. Louis, Mo. 63117.

Suit Contesting Will Dismissed

A suit brought by Brenda Justice and other heirs of the late Audra Boyd, former Dana resident, was dismissed in Floyd Circuit Court on Friday, the judge noting that the plaintiffs did not appear interested in pressing their claim.

Named as defendant in the suit was Herman Conn, of Dana, Boyd's nephew and the executor and a chief beneficiary of the dead man's will. He and his wife Thelma inherited three tracts on Justice Branch of Prater Creek under the terms of a will Boyd signed in November, 1983, a month before his death at the age of 75.

Plaintiffs alleged that Boyd was blind, sick and of unsound mind at the time he signed the will. They asked that the will be set aside, that a quarter of the estate be given to Boyd's sister, Mary Akers, and that the rest be divided equally among 12 others, including Conn.

Wigginton Joins Board Of Settlement School

Eliot Wigginton, founder and editor of the Foxfire Magazine and book series, recently became a member of the Board of Directors of the Hindman Settlement School. He grew up in Athens, Georgia and received his formal education at Cornell and Johns Hopkins Universities.

In 1966, after graduating from Cornell, he took a position at the Rabun Gap-Naochee School in Rabun Gap, Georgia to teach high school English. After several frustrating attempts to get his students excited about taking English classes, he hit upon the idea of starting a magazine that the students would be responsible for. From this began Foxfire Magazine, one of the most successful educational and publishing experiments of our time. For those of you not familiar with the format of Foxfire, the material included is based on the traditional culture of the North Georgia mountains.

Issues on log cabin building, moonshining, chair making, hog-killing, quilt making and many other traditional topics have been written about by Wigginton's students. Today, dozens of other student-run magazines have developed from the Foxfire concept.

Wigginton has outlined the development of the Foxfire project and the educational philosophy growing out of it in his new book, Sometimes A Shining Moment: The Foxfire Experience. He is in demand as an educational consultant and has received many honors including the John D. Rockefeller, III Youth Award.

Mike Mullins, director of the Hindman Settlement School, stated that "We are truly honored to have someone of such a national stature on our Board. Eliot brings a number of experiences that will be very valuable to the future of the Hindman Settlement School."

'Read to Your Child' Promotion Scheduled

Encouraging parents to read to their children is the focus of a radio promotion campaign launched this month by the Kentucky Department of Libraries and Archives.

Entitled "Read to Your Child," the musical promotion will be aired as a Public Service Announcement January 13 through February 3 on all Kentucky Radio Network news affiliates.

"Through pre-school programming, Kentucky's public libraries are in the forefront of providing educational opportunities to our children before they reach school age," stated Commissioner Jim Nelson of the Department of Libraries and Archives. "The Department is pleased to participate in this partnership with the local libraries in an effort to encourage parents to instill in their children a love for reading and books."

According to Nelson, the promotion is part of a statewide reading project which also includes distribution of free brochures, book marks and posters to public libraries throughout the state.

Marion Coburn Passes To Rest At Hueysville

Hueysville, Ky., Sept. 4 (Spl.)—Marion Coburn, well-known man of this and Knott counties, died here Wednesday night, Aug. 31, of ulcer of the stomach, which condition was largely caused by Mr. Coburn spent most of his life in good Mr. Coburn's life for twenty-four years; and which caused him to go through life a cripple.

Mr. Coburn spent most of his life in Knott county, his native county. He was married there, and is the father of two sons, Roy Coburn, this place and Rolla Coburn, of Hindman. Both of the boys were present when their father passed away. Mrs. Coburn died some years ago.

Mr. Coburn has been in failing health for some time, and was so weakened that death easily won in the final struggle. Dr. R. W. Duke, Physician of this place, and personal acquaintance of Mr. Coburn for many years, did what he could for the suffering man.

Mr. Coburn died here at the home of A. J. Coburn, merchant of this place, and relative of the deceased. The body was taken to Hindman for burial, the procession leaving here Thursday morning, Sept. 1. Mr. Coburn is survived by his two sons, mentioned above.

BOX SUPPER FRIDAY NIGHT

A very nice time was enjoyed by a large crowd, assembled at the school house here last Friday night, when a regular, old-time box supper was successfully carried on to raise funds for the use of the school.

Fred Lawson, county agent, had heard of the box supper, and he took advantage of it. Mr. Lawson had been to Bosco before, trying to get people interested in better methods of farming. However, he had received no attention. But he caught a large crowd together at the box supper and opened the exercises with a speech, in which he urged the farmers of this place to take up better methods of farming. He also proposed to start Junior Club work among the students of our school.

Next act, F. P. (Chick) Allen, this place, was chosen to bid the boxes off. Mr. Allen has filled this capacity in Hueysville for a long while, and he does credit to the work. A remarkable collection of boxes were on the market, all handsomely prepared.

The bidding was pretty lively, and all the boxes were soon sold. J. W. Huff, treasurer, reported $35.55 taken in. This money will be used to purchase some much-needed supplies for the school. A large chart will be bought for Mrs. Damron's room, where a very large crowd of little tots attend.

INJURES HAND

George Bailey, son of the elder George Bailey, merchant of this place, suffered a badly injured hand the other day when his hand was caught between an iron post near the road and a truck he was driving. However, after the hand had been dressed, George started to Hindman Settlement School, where he will attend this year.

A large crowd attended Bosco theatre last Saturday night to see "Bronco Billie" and his acts.

PERSONAL MENTION

Misses Cara Hayes and Goida Huff were out motoring Sunday afternoon with Hobart Hayes.

Johnnie Allen and Claude Huff were out motoring Friday night, Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Ora Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blutcher Allen, Salt Lick, returned to Hindman Settlement School Saturday, where she will attend this year. Miss Allen, with several others from Salt Lick and Bosco, attended the same school last year.

Misses Blanche Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Green Allen, this place, and Opal Coburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Coburn, left for Mayo College, where they will attend school this year.

year. Miss Allen last attended Berea College, Berea, Ky.

It is reported that Miss Lottie Patton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Patton, this place, was married to Verlie Blair, at Pikeville, a few days ago. However, relatives of the young lady only said they heard that such was the case. Miss Patton became acquainted with Mr. Blair a year or two ago, while staying with her sister, Mrs. Frank Wolfe, at Garrett. She has been staying with Mrs. Wootsie Martin, another sister, of Estill, for some time. Mr. Blair has also been residing in the same town.

Misses May Allen and Rebecca Turner, both of Salt Lick, attended Bosco theatre Sunday afternoon. It was the first Sunday show in this theatre for some time.

Mrs. Dewey Hayes, who has been away visiting relatives, returned Sunday. Mrs. Mary Reid, of Lackey, was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reid, this place Monday.

THREE LAWRENCE COUNTY CHILDREN VICTIMS OF FLAMES

The charred bodies of three children all under four years of age, were seen in the charred remains of a house destroyed last week after fire had destroyed the home of Rev. Estill Leadingham and burned to death his three youngest children: Alice Lucile, 3; Jewel Maxine, 2, and Estill, Jr., 9 months.

The tragedy occurred on Tuesday of last week while the parents were away from the house a few minutes. According to reports reaching here, Mrs. Leadingham had gone to the well for water, leaving the three children alone, and when she returned, in about ten minutes, found the house in flames. Being unable to get to the room in which she had left the children, she called to them and, receiving no reply, hastened off to a neighbor's home, thinking perhaps they had gone there. Finding they had not been to the neighbor's home, she hastened back and heard the screams of the children, but the fire had cut off their escape and none could get to them.

After the fire their remains were taken from the ashes and put in a box. Only one body could be distinguished. Burials were made the following day in the family cemetery.

Three other children were away at school at the time.

The Leadingham home, which was a section about three miles from Webbville, this county.

It is believed that the fire caught from the cook stove in the kitchen. The house with all its contents was consumed.—Big Sandy News.

Miss Francis, Hostess, Honoring Miss Wells

Those enjoying this party included: Misses Emma Alice Wells, Anna Laura May, Joyce Smith, of Louisville, Margaret Dingus, Eunice Powers, of Huntington, W. Va., Caroline Powers, Anna May Hatcher, and Ruth Francis.

Six o'clock Friday morning the above "night owls" drove several miles up the Mayo Trail for a campfire breakfast at sunrise.

LOVE PASSED BY

Love passed by!
In the long ago
She passed me by in the springtime,
sweet,
She passed me swiftly on dancing
feet,
But barely a glance for her had I, barely
a glance had I;
For pleasure was tripping along my way
And beckoned for me to come and play.
And so—
With blushing cheek and glances shy,
Love passed by!

Love passed by!
In the long ago
She moved with slow and stately grace,
Through the sweating throng at the market-place,
But barely a glance for her had I,
Barely a glance had I;
For my shoulders were burdened by fortune's load,
As I jostled my way on that crowded road.
And so—
With lagging step and wistful eye,
Love passed by.

Love passed by!
In the long ago
But never again we two shall meet
On winding roads or busy street,
Tho' ever a searching glance have I
And a longing gaze have I.
Ah, well, then, for ambition's goal
Ah, well, for the toll of pleasure and gold,
Which brought me a vain and weary
Since love passed by.

HILL BALLADS HANDED DOWN FROM ELDERS

Below, The Times publishes a feature article written by Emmanuel Sargent, a Louisa boy, who is now connected with the Lexington Leader, in which paper the story appeared in the edition of Sunday, August 28:

The mountain people have a music all their own; a music as yet untouched by the jazz of the modern youth or the grand opera of the musically-inclined people of the cities; a music which has been handed down from generation to generation in most instances unwritten and unrecorded.

The ballad is the chief music of the mountain people. The main reason for this is the characteristic of making a thing personal. The hill people feel that the things they sing about have happened or will happen at some future date and they will tell you as much.

The language of the ballads has been handed down in unwritten form as legends. They have come from singer to singer without book or manuscript and in this way have changed, no doubt, in many instances. In some cases, too, the words have been changed to meet difference in environment. With few exceptions, however, the origin of the songs can be traced to English, Scottish or Irish sources.

The "singing school" is an institution of the mountains. In some instances these schools meet once a month during the summer. I have known many to ride fourteen miles or more on a horse or mule or in a wagon and attend the "singing school," then return this long distance at night, with no light except the moon to guide them.

Song books are seldom used, for the songs are all familiar to the mountain people and old and young alike make the hills and woods ring with their music. Books are not the only thing lacking, for seldom do they have musical instruments, but these handicaps mean little to the people of the mountain districts.

Church All-Day Affair

In church, which is an all-day affair, music plays a large part. Here, too, musical instruments are lacking, for they are hard to obtain in the mountains and also some of the people there have a religious prejudice against any kind of music in church, except singing. Written music is sometimes found in the church. In some places it is written in shaped notes and the singer reads from the staff. It is also a rather usual matter for the leader to read a line and the congregation to sing it after it has been read.

The mountain hymns have a powerful grip on the listener which can only be obtained by hearing, the hill resident sing them in the little church built of logs and dimly lighted with an oil lamp. Many of the hymns are mournful to the extreme and the emphasis is placed on the uncertainty of life, or rather the certainty of death, and the judgment which is sure to come.

For the most part these songs of the mountains are unnamed. I recall one "popular number" which I have heard over hundreds of times, yet no one could tell me the title. The chorus of the song was:

A railroad boy, a railroad boy,
A railroad boy for me;
If ever I marry in this wide world,
A railroad's wife I'll be.

This was in a community far removed from a railroad and many of the people had never seen a train. There are innumerable verses to the song, all setting forth the disadvantages of any occupation except that of a railroad man.

The principal entertainment for the people of the mountains is music. They are so scattered in some sections that a picture show could not be run profitably, dancers could not get together and few community gatherings of any kind can be held, for it is not safe to travel over the poor mountain roads or along creek beds at night. The few young people of the neighborhood, therefore, gather at some home and there sing songs to the music of an old-fashioned organ or to a violin. In many instances they sing without the aid of any instrument.

Musical Instruments Few

Musical instruments in the mountains are few and far between. The principal ones are the fiddle, the banjo, and the dulcimer. The old-time fiddler is an institution of the mountains. When the mountain people dance, the fiddler takes the place of the modern orchestra and his "Turkey in the Straw," "Sourwood Mountain," or "Sugar in the Gourd" sets the feet a-moving. The modern dances have not yet reached the mountains, but I have seen many a mountain girl that could out-do the most expert jazz devotee with one of her jig dances. The organ can be found in a few instances in the mountains, but the piano is practically unknown.

It is impossible to convey to the reader the beauty, the strangeness, the loneliness of the mountain song. This can not be realized until one has sat in the hill cabin at night and heard the mountaineer sing and play the ballads, including "Pretty Polly," "The Lonesome Scenes of Winter," "Come All You Young and Handsome Girls," "Noah's Ark," and others, many with no title. The famous "Prisoner's Song" is an old-time mountain ballad. It has been said:

Where modern music is to be found it is interesting to note that the music which the mountaineer buys has to do with life and events and records dealing with Floyd Collins in the cave, the recent flood and Lindberg's flight are being extensively played. Modern jazz, as yet, has failed to make much impression on the mountain people.

TRIPLETS ARE BORN TO MR. AND MRS. HARDIN

The following news item taken from the Cincinnati Enquirer will be of interest to Paintsville people as it concerns Mrs. Alice Hardin who before her marriage was Miss Alice Tague. Mrs. Hardin was a teacher in the Paintsville school before her marriage. She is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Tague. Dr. Tague was formerly connected with the Jno. C. C. Mayo College and for one year was pastor of the Mayo Memorial church of this city. The Tague family is well-known in Paintsville, where they have many friends. Mrs. Hardin became the mother of triplets—three boys—at a Covington hospital Monday, August 22.

The news item follows: "Records were shattered in the maternity ward of St. Elizabeth Hospital in Covington, Ky., Monday night, Aug. 22, when triplets and twins were born in adjacent rooms. Five lusty youngsters, three boys and two girls, born within a few hours of one another, set a new record for the hospital.

"Triplets, three boys, were born to Mrs. Alice Tague Hardin, daughter of Rev. C. A. Tague, 1911 Scott boulevard, Covington. The father of the boys is Naval Lieutenant D. W. Hardin, who is aboard the U. S. S. Texas cruising from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Rev. Mr. Tague was so elated over the arrival of the triplets that he radioed the news to Lieutenant Hardin.

"Twin daughters were born to Mrs. Lucille Collins, wife of Edward Collins, 715 West Thirty-first street, Latonia. Collins yesterday was not willing to concede happiness to Rev. Mr. Tague as they exchanged congratulations outside the maternity ward of the hospital.

Medical Meet To Study Ways To Avoid AIDS

Some medical professionals recently have begun taking precautions to protect themselves against contracting Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome in medical settings. Can AIDS be transmitted in a medical setting? What precautions are necessary? Questions about AIDS transmissions and other concerns will be addressed by AIDS researchers at a March 14 conference in Louisville.

The Kentucky Health Professionals AIDS Conference is geared toward medical professionals interested in learning about prevention recommendations, the latest AIDS research findings and the extent of the problem in Kentucky, according to Dr. Reginald Finger of the Department for Health Services.

"We will have a physician from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta who will inform health care professionals of the most current recommendations for preventing transmissions of AIDS in a medical care setting," said Finger. "And 'current' means what will be recommended in March, which might be different from what we know today.

"New discoveries about AIDS made today may not appear in print for up to six months from now," said Finger, "so this conference will allow health professionals to hear about the most up-to-date findings from several AIDS researchers."

The conference is being sponsored by the Kentucky Department for Health Services, the Kentucky Hospital Association and the Kentucky Medical Association.

Among other topics to be discussed are the extent of the AIDS problem in Kentucky, appropriate use of AIDS testing, legal aspects of AIDS, efforts to ensure safe blood supplies, school AIDS policies, AIDS in correctional facilities, and risk reduction for high-risk groups.

Speakers include John Murphy, MD, and Charles Schabel, MD, both of CDC; Robert Noble, MD, University of Kentucky professor; Judy Johnson, MD, University of Louisville professor; and Dr. William L. Yarber, Indiana University professor. Noble and Johnson have experience in treating AIDS patients. Yarber has expertise in health education, specifically risk reduction in high-risk groups.

Registration for the conference, which will be at the Holiday Inn on Fern Valley Road, is $30. Persons interested in more information may contact James T. Soder, Kentucky Hospital Association, P.O. Box 24163, Louisville, Ky. 40224. The phone number is (502) 426-6220.

Farmers Advised To Plant Trees

A minor but encouraging provision is included in the massive five-year farm bill signed by President Reagan, December 23. An amendment to the new farm law requires the Secretary of Agriculture to allow farmers who are delinquent on their government loans to reamortize those loans and to repay them with revenue produced from harvesting softwood timber.

Sponsored by Republican Senator Thad Cochran, of Mississippi, accrued interest on the outstanding loan could be capitalized, and payments on the reamortized loan could be deferred until the timber crop produced revenue or for a term of 45 years, whichever came first. Unfortunately, the timber payback scheme would be limited to only 50,000 acres nationwide, but the novel program might later be expanded. Considering recent studies which indicate a shrinking supply of softwood lumber in the South, the Cochran plan could eventually kill two birds with one stone by preventing farmer bankruptcy while increasing future timber supply.

Deceptive Black Ice Hazard To Drivers

Signs along the highway warning of ice on bridges don't tell the entire frozen story. There's one icy hazard motorists may not recognize until it's too late.

"Black ice is a road condition that sends shudders down the spine of every motorist," said Tom Priddy, Extension meteorologist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Black ice forms when water or brine freezes tightly on the road surface. The ice bonds so closely that it is hard to tell whether the road is wet or icy, Priddy said.

"The great danger from black ice comes from the fact that tire friction on ice is one-fourth to one-eighth of what it is on a wet road," Priddy said. Frequently in winter, as the temperature drops in the afternoon, the road surface cools and brine that was liquid turns to ice without changing its appearance. Drivers may not notice, until the brakes are applied, that what was a wet road only an hour or so earlier is now an ice-covered road.

Black iced can form at any temperature below 32 F, depending on how much salt has been applied to the road. An unsalted road will freeze at 32 F, a highly salted road will not freeze until temperatures drop to about -5 F.

Many communities are reducing the amount of salt they use on roads, and as a result roads that did not freeze last year at temperatures in the 20s may do so this year, Priddy warned.

"Because it is hard to detect, it is important that drivers be aware of how much black ice affects their safety."

"If motorists suspect that black ice is forming they should slow down by coasting and test the surface by carefully applying the brakes," Priddy said. "Drivers must increase their vigilance in looking for icy road conditions. The safest way to proceed on icy roads is to reduce speed and be on the alert for other motorists who may be traveling too fast."

Program To Boost Healthy Lifestyle

You get sick, you go to the doctor. That's the way too many people still think of health care, Susie Smith said this week, and it's a way of thinking she would like to help change. While it makes sense to see a doctor when you're sick, she explains, it makes even more sense to do what you can to avoid becoming sick in the first place.

A registered nurse from San Francisco, Smith hopes to have a regular opportunity to promote the idea of preventive health care when—along with Jean Kowalski, a native of Milwaukee and also a nurse—she launches a weekly radio program here, beginning Saturday, February 1. To be called "Floyd County Health Line," the program will use local health care workers to disseminate information about such topics as high blood pressure, diabetes, the hazards of contaminated water, how to tell if you're at risk for cancer, eating right and the causes of depression.

People with questions about black lung, alcoholism, heart disease, diet, or coping with stress will be encouraged to send them in and have them answered by experts on the air. There will also be timely advice on the hazards of smoking and the benefits of regular exercise, and a bulletin board for health-related programs and events in this area.

Smith and Kowalski, volunteers sponsored by the Christian Appalachian Project, have made a year's commitment to the CAP-funded health care program here, plans for which include occasional health fairs, a garden-seed distribution program, and a pilot water and sewage project.

"Floyd County Health Line" will air on WDOC-AM (1310) on Saturdays at 12:25 p.m.

IRS Collection Process

When a taxpayer, for one reason or another, fails to pay the full amount of Federal tax owed, the Internal Revenue Service will collect the delinquent tax in one of several ways. To answer questions about its collection process, the IRS has prepared the following:

Q: I thought I had enough taxes withheld from my pay, and now I've received a notice from the IRS saying I owe more. How can that be?

A: There may be several reasons. You may be using an inappropriate number of exemptions in calculating withholding, or perhaps an error was made in the preparation of your tax return.

Q: The IRS says I owe more tax, but I don't agree. What can I do?

A: If you think that the bill is wrong, the best course is to notify the IRS immediately—in writing, by telephone, or in a personal visit to a local IRS office. Be sure to have any records which support your claim, such as cancelled checks or tax returns, available for the IRS to review.

Q: Do I have to pay the entire amount of delinquent tax immediately?

A: Yes, unless you can show the IRS employee handling your collection case sufficient financial information to determine that immediate full payment would cause you undue hardship, rather than mere inconvenience.

Q: What if I don't pay the IRS after they notify me that I owe delinquent taxes?

A: When an individual owes more tax, a bill is sent with payment due within 10 days. Generally the IRS sends five notices before any further action is taken, unless collection of the tax is believed to be in jeopardy. If a taxpayer neglects or refuses to pay taxes or make satisfactory arrangements for payment, a levy may be issued against the taxpayer's salary, wages, bank accounts, or commissions, for example. During the levy process, if the tax bill is paid in full or an acceptable installment agreement is reached, the levy will be released.

Q: What rights do I have during the collection proceedings?

A: You, as a taxpayer, have several basic rights during all collection-related activities. They include representation, the transfer of a tax case to another geographical area, receipts for cash payments and copies of contractual agreements, confidentiality of tax matters, and the elimination of a penalty with reasonable cause.

Q: Where can I get more detailed information about the collection process?

A: More information is available in IRS Publication 586A, "The Collection Process (Income Tax Accounts)", or Publication 594, "The Collection Process (Employment Tax Accounts)", available free by writing to the IRS Forms Distribution Center, P.O. Box 6900, Florence, Ky. 41042. If you have specific questions about the collection process, you may call the IRS toll free at 1-800-424-1040.

HOW TO TALK TO YOUR CHILD ABOUT DEATH

Talk openly, simply and directly. Explain what death is in terms the child can understand. Do not overdo the explanation. Encourage the child to question and probe. Be direct.

Good conversation-starters are all around us in nature: the changing of the seasons, floods, fires, frogs, birds, butterflies. Life, birth and death are all a part of nature and should be discussed comfortably, in small doses, with children.

Explain that death is really "a part of life." Discuss death with a child whenever his world brushes against it—when a pet cat or dog dies...when a flower begins to lose its petals...and certainly when a relative, friend or a public figure dies who is known to the child.

Explain what a child is to expect when a death occurs in the family. When children know what to expect and what to do, they are not surprised or apprehensive.

If you have special questions on this subject, please feel free to call us.

Please Donate Blood

By BARBARA WHITT

Despite the tremendous need for blood, fewer than five percent of those eligible to be blood donors give each year. Donating is quick, easy, and safe. Volunteer donors undergo a thorough medical screening including a medical history, blood pressure, and other checks. Disposable needles are used and all supplies are sterile. Donating only takes 5-10 minutes.

The Kentucky National Guard and Central Kentucky Blood Center will sponsor a blood drive on Saturday, January 18, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Prestonsburg Army. January is National Volunteer Blood Donor Month. The need for blood is great this time of year. Please call Barbara Whitt at 886-1557 today for more information about donating.

Lady Cats Win Fifth In A Row At Pikeville

The Prestonsburg Lady Cats placed four players in double figures Thursday night, rolling past the Pikeville Lady Panthers, 54-38.

Paula Harris led the way for Prestonsburg with 16 points, while Shon Burchett added 11. Joell Hall and Karen Frazure each had 10.

The 'Cats led the Panthers 9-8 at the end of the first quarter and increased their lead to 22-19 at the half. The third quarter made the difference in the ballgame, however, as Prestonsburg outscored Pikeville 14-7, giving them a commanding 36-25 lead going into the final stanza.

Pikeville could pull no closer than seven points in the fourth quarter, as Prestonsburg fired in 18 points and went on to gain the win.

Pikeville was led in scoring by Huntley, with 14, followed by Lockhart with 8. For Prestonsburg, Trish Patrick and April Stephens rounded out the scoring, with 5 and 2 points, respectively.

Prestonsburg now 6-3 on the year, has won its fifth consecutive game, the last four of which have been on the road. They travel to Phelps tonight (Wednesday) to tangle with the Lady Hornets, and to Allen Central Friday to take on the Lady Rebels.

86 Pike Co. Bowl Teams Announced

The Pike County Bowl Committee has selected its teams for the Pikeville National Bank's 1986 Pike County Bowl. The football extravaganza to be held on Saturday, August 30, at the Hambley Athletic Complex in Pikeville, will feature the Belfry High School Pirates against the Harrison County Thorobreds and the Pikeville High School Panthers facing the Paris High School Greyhounds. The Belfry-Harrison County game will begin at 6 p.m., followed at 8:30 by the Pikeville-Paris encounter.

Coach Phillip Haywood's Belfry Pirates, coming off an impressive 10-3 record, and hard-fought 28-14 loss to the Paducah Tilghman in the State AAA finals, will once again feature the "Lunatic Fringe Defense". They will also return All-State quarterback candidate, Dwayne Francisco, and the 1985 Bowl MVP Anthony Tackett, who rushed for 145 yards in Belfry's 7-6 Bowl victory over Somerset last year. The Thorobreds of Harrison County built an impressive 8-3 record in 1985, and lost to Newport Catholic in the AA playoffs last season. They were the only team to beat Prestonsburg in the regular season in 1985. They feature All-State running back candidate Choo-Choo Dixon, a 4.4 sprinter in the 40 yard dash, who amassed 1100 yards rushing in the 1985 season and averaged 8.5 yards a carry.

The Pikeville Panthers of Coach Hillard Howard and the Paris Greyhounds of Randy Reece, clash in the second game of the bowl double-header. This game pits two of the top class A programs in Kentucky. Paris, winner of four state Class A championships and runners-up twice, will feature Lannie Fomas, a speedy halfback in Paris' wishbone attack. An All-State candidate, Fomas led the Greyhounds in rushing and scoring as a Junior. Pikeville, runner-up in Class A in 1972, and AA in 1979, will also feature an All-State running back candidate in Keith Washington. A 5'9" 205 lb. halfback, Washington rushed for 850 yards and caught passes for 350 yards, while amassing 100 points as a Junior. Paris and Pikeville, both with young teams, were each ranked No. 1 at different times last season.

Pike County Bowl chairman, Pikeville National Bank Vice President John Pinson says, "We are delighted with the quality of teams selected by the Bowl Committee and look forward to making the 1986 Bowl an even more impressive event in which all Pike countians can be proud."

Bobcats, Lady Cats Score Over W'wright

Although the score was tied three times in the first quarter and the lead see-sawed back and forth, the first half ended at 33-25 for the Bobcats. The Trojans pulled within three points to threaten the Bobcats in the second half, but the Bobcats refused to buckle.

Betsy Layne now stands at 12-2 overall and an undefeated 4-0 in the district.

Individual scoring was as follows:

IF YOU DON'T LIKE THE WEATHER, just wait awhile. A far from original bit of advice, but too true. Witness this picture of Darrin Johnson, who was enjoying the summer-like sunshine at Archer Park last Saturday. Now, we're back to winter snow, and who knows, in a day or two, it may be spring again.

Horsemen Of China Featured On KET

On the frontiers of northwest China, horsemen called the Kazakhs, still ride the hills between Tibet and Mongolia. The Kazakhs call their horses their "wings" and value them for their beauty, bravery, and above all, as a measure of wealth.

NOVA travels to a remote region in northwest China and examines how recent changes in Chinese society have affected the lives and culture of this tribe of nomads in "Horsemen of China," to be aired on KET Sunday, February 9, at 8 p.m.

Half of China's land mass is occupied by minority tribes who, for centuries, have struggled for independence against both Chinese and Russian rule. After 1949, Chinese policy attempted to persuade the many isolated tribes like the Kazakhs to embrace the new social and political values of communism. In many cases the government used force, and some tribespeople left the country. But many chose to stay.

NOVA focuses on the family of Abdul Ghayir, known as "white beard," a respected elder and leader of his family group. Ghayir also is a member of the local Communist Party and, like almost all of Chinese Kazakhs, belongs to his local collective organization. But he is an individualist, who has adapted to the newer ways of life while not abandoning the customs of Kazakh society.

NOVA is produced by WGBH/Boston.

Miners Seek Payment

Eight men who claim a coal operator owes them $5770 in back pay filed suit in Floyd Circuit Court last week in an effort to recover the money.

The miners say they worked over a 19-day period in December in a Little Mud Creek mine operated by George Newsome and James Adkins, doing business as T and G Coal Company. They say in their suit they fear the operators are about to leave the area without paying them, and they ask for a court order attaching mining equipment at the site.

The plaintiffs, and the amount they say they are owed, are: Terry Blackburn, $600; Perry Hall, $990; Roger Gibson, $600; Curtis Howell, $780; Virgil Paige, $460; John Paul Carroll, $780; Edgar Carroll, $780; and Michael Kidd, $600.

(Suits filed in court present only the plaintiffs' version of the issues in dispute.)

Pike College Gets $200,000 Donation

Pikeville College has received a donation of property from T.T. Colley, having a value of approximately $200,000. The property totals 160 acres and is located about 1 1/2 miles south of Shelbyana on U.S. Highway 23. The property has approximately 25 acres of flat land suitable for development, as well as a large amount of timber. According to Colley, this land will increase in value within a relatively short period of time as the highway work on U.S. 23 is completed.

What prompted this gift? "I just began to take notice of Pikeville College and the things they have been doing recently", says Colley. "Things seem to be moving forward with this new president. Also, I feel Pikeville College is an asset to the local community and to the whole area. I just wanted to give them my support."

According to Pikeville College Board of Trustees Chairman Walter E. May, this is one of the largest individual donations to Pikeville College in its history. May stated, "I appreciate Mr. Colley's gift as it demonstrates his willingness to support higher education, and to insure the continued growth and stability of Pikeville College for years to come."

Darrel Mullins, Director of Development and Public Relations for the college, accepted the property deed saying, "This gift is significant because of the amount, but even more importantly because it demonstrates the confidence and faith Mr. Colley has in the future of Pikeville College and its mission of providing quality education to the people of eastern Kentucky and surrounding areas. There is no doubt that great things lie ahead for Pikeville College, thanks to support such as this."

The college's plans for this property are as yet undetermined.

Cold December Sends Power Bills Up, Up

Electric service bills for December are running higher than for November and at a rate more than might be expected by customers who do not realize last month was the coldest December since 1963.

Coupled with temperatures which averaged under 50 degrees for the entire month, December also included a billing period in some mailing cycles up to five days longer than in November.

W.W. Zoellers, manager of Kentucky Power Company's Pikeville Division, said customers who might experience difficulty in making payment should contact the company immediately. Offices in the Pikeville Division are located in Pikeville, Paintsville, Prestonsburg, Jenkins and West Liberty.

"We have programs which might be of assistance to customers who have bills higher than what they might have anticipated—programs such as a budget payment plan—and the key is to contact us early, before the bill becomes due," Zoellers said.

Last month's average temperature never reached 50 degrees, and in fact temperatures were below the freezing point on 17 straight days, under 20 degrees on 18 days, and under 10 degrees on 11 days.

Overall, it was colder in December than two years ago when Christmas was celebrated in sub-zero temperatures, and was nearly as cold as January 1985 when eastern Kentucky shivered in icy conditions.

All Pikeville Division offices of Kentucky Power are listed in local telephone directories.

The first filmed presidential press conference took place in 1955.

Davies hits big as Mason Capwell on 'Santa Barbara'

By Nancy M. Reichardt

Lane Davies, better known as Mason Capwell on NBC's "Santa Barbara," plays one of those villains that soap-opera viewers love to hate — the kind who methodically go about the daily business of destroying the lives of the other inhabitants of their fictional worlds.

Lane Davies

Curiously, Davies portrayed a similar character, Dr. Evan Whyland, on another NBC soap, "Days of Our Lives," but barely created a stir. Hardly anyone missed Davies' Evan Whyland when he was scripted out of the story line, but if Mason Capwell were to be written out of "Santa Barbara," the reaction would be intense.

Davies grew up in Dalton, Ga., and studied drama at Middle Tennessee State University. He received one of his major career breaks when he played a young lawyer in the feature film tear-jerker "The Magic of Lassie" (1978). He has also appeared in musicals such as "Man of La Mancha" and "Camelot."

Of his "Santa Barbara" character, Davies says: "Mason's a well-rounded personality. He possesses an equal share of good and evil. People respond to those characteristics in him. I think viewers see aspects of themselves in Mason."

Unable to single out any one reason for his own or for Mason's popularity with the "Santa Barbara" viewers, Davies concludes: "Mason frequently says the things that you wish you had said to somebody. The show's writers have made him a lot more quick-witted and funny than I am in real life."

"I know it's not my biceps the audience is responding to," he quips.

Davies is also anxious to show that his character isn't all bad.

"Mason has begun to mellow out some," says Davies. "He's become closer to reality, because for the first time in his pampered life, he's broke. Also, for the first time, he's embarked on a real romance, even though he has a fear of making a long-term romantic commitment."

When Davies isn't working, he holes up in a small cabin he owns in the mountains above Los Angeles. There, he is able to pursue his outside interests in carpentry and writing.

GROWING PAINS

Although Ben's (Jeremy Miller, l.) real purpose for canvassing the neighborhood is to raise money for a birthday present for his brother Jason (Kirk Cameron), he instead pretends to collect money for charity, on "Growing Pains." The "Getting Physical" episode of the ABC series airs TUESDAY, JANUARY 28.

OUT OF AFRICA (PG-Universal) Starring Meryl Streep, Robert Redford, Klaus Maria Brandauer. ★ ★ ★ ★

By J.T. YURKO

When Academy Awards time rolls around, "Out of Africa" will be the movie to beat (along with "The Color Purple"). The New York Film Critics may prefer the offbeat stylization of John Huston's "Prizzi's Honor," others may toast Woody Allen's marvelous and mischievous "The Purple Rose of Cairo," but when Oscar comes a-courtin', movies like "Out of Africa" take home the statues almost every time.

"Out of Africa" has the epic sweep that Hollywood is so fond of praising. It was shot on location in Kenya, and the cinematography is superb. The story has considerable sweep as well. It is based on the life of Karen Blixen, who wrote under the name of Isak Dinesen. She left Europe for a Kenyan coffee farm in the early part of this century to enter a marriage that had already been arranged. The place she settles is both beautiful and unforgiving; she finds herself running the plantation virtually by herself; and her husband's polite promiscuity forces her to find a strength within.

Meryl Streep is used to playing strong women, and her performance as Karen Blixen is a standout. While in Africa, Blixen had a torrid, but intermittent, love affair with adventurer Denys Finch Hatton. Unfortunately, Robert Redford, who plays Denys, seems strangely miscast. It's not that Redford is unconvincing; it's just that he's not consistent with the scrupulously authentic setting for the film. Everything else says Africa, but Redford has Hollywood written all over him.

In many ways, in fact, Redford's role is simply a reprise of Hubbell in "The Way We Were." Redford's performance isn't the only thing that these two movies have in common. Both featured strong female characters and an on-again, off-again relationship, and both were directed by Sydney Pollack.

In fact, "Out of Africa" may make cinemasters take a second look and discover what audiences already know. Pollack is a director of substance and style, and his imposing strength becomes clearer with every film.

Yes, there is such a thing as too much football

By Amanda Bruce

Break out the beer and pretzels — it's Super Bowl time!

Vince Lombardi are settled, ESPN will air "Lombardi: I Am Not a Legend," a 90-minute drama about the famous Green Bay Packers coach, starring Robert Knuckle. That's at 9 p.m. Can you stand it? * * *

The Disney Channel will be airing some new episodes this week. Microchip smugglers take center stage Jan. 27 on "Danger Bay," the warm-hearted adventure show that looks fondly at family life. In an episode called "Fish and Chips," the smugglers nearly cost Doc (Donnelly Rhodes) his life. Doc is carrying a shipping container for the Vancouver Aquarium that he thinks contains only an eel. But the smugglers know it hold microchips, too.

Money is the topic of the hour on another Disney show, "The Dr. Joyce Brothers Program," when actor Grant Goodeve is the good doctor's guest on Jan. 28. The two discuss how money should be spent and who should spend it. Goodeve, a married man with three children, is something of an expert on such family matters. During the hour, he also discusses how married couples can find time alone together — no small feat when there are three children underfoot!

ESPN will warm up and cool down the audience with some pre-game and post-game action. For starters, fans who simply can't get enough football can wake up at 4 a.m. (EST) on Super Bowl Sunday, Jan. 26, and begin watching 11 hours — count 'em, 11! — of Super Bowl programming. ESPN's programming begins with eight hours of highlights from the first 16 Super Bowls. This will last until noon. Then its "SportsCenter's NFL GameDay," followed by highlights from the last three Super Bowls. Finally, a half-hour preview of this year's game, Super Bowl XX, will air at 2:30 p.m. And then, after the game is over and the bets

Organize PCC Social Activities

Members of Prestonsburg Community College's Student Congress, under the leadership of Barry Handshoe, president, a pre-optometry major and Carla Blevins, communications/education major, have been busy organizing student activities at PCC. These two committed and busy students along with their 12 member congress, have organized flag football teams, competitions, several successful dances, and laid the groundwork for spring activities. Active student congress members both in high school and during their freshman year, their experience in organizations should bring added interest to the Valentine dance, the spring formal and the Mountain Dew Festival.

UK Releases Study On Crop Selection

The University of Kentucky College of Agriculture has developed a series of publications which provides an analysis of the potential for profit from a variety of crops suitable to Kentucky's climate and soil.

Charles E. Barnhart, dean of the UK College of Agriculture, announced publication of the series at a news conference here January 13.

"The financial distress of the first five years of this decade, and continued uncertainty over changes in tobacco legislation have put the prospects for Kentucky farmers in question and made it difficult for them to evaluate the enterprise options available to them.

"This series, which we are releasing today in local Extension offices throughout the state, is designed to be used by farmers to help them evaluate the prospects for profit from different agricultural enterprises," Barnhart said.

Larry Jones, coordinator of the team of agricultural economists that developed the series, said it consists of individual brochures on each of 25 different crops. "For each crop we have outlined the basic trends in production, consumption and trade. We then discussed the farm-level picture, explaining where the crop is currently grown, the number and size of operations and the management skills a farmer will need to produce this crop. We discussed the markets available for the crop, how to go about reaching those markets, and the patterns of international trade, consumption and pricing of the crop.

"Where it was appropriate we explained the federal programs that affect each crop. And we analyzed the 1985 costs and returns for most of the crops. And lastly we presented the prospects for profit for each crop, noting factors farmers should consider before deciding to begin production," Jones said.

In addition to the series of brochures made available to the public, each county Extension agent for agriculture has been provided with a much more detailed analysis of the economic aspects of each of the crops.

It is expected that farmers will use the brochures to make preliminary decisions about a few supplemental crops, and then consult with their Extension agent for agriculture to obtain an in-depth look at the profit potential for those crops.

The UK College of Agriculture also has available brochures and pamphlets outlining the methods of production for the crops covered by this new series of publications.

"Kentucky farmers are already very good at the how-to' part of production, it's with the whether-to' part of the decision that we hope this new series of publications will help them."

Our Pride Is Showing

Pardon our bragging, but our pride is showing. Pride in being part of a statewide educational system that has served over a quarter-million people in credit courses since its beginning just two decades ago.

We're proud of our community college system, and we are proud that it's a part of The University of Kentucky.

To give you some idea of the importance of this system and the 13 colleges in it, consider this:

✓ Thirty-seven percent of our students say they would not have been able to attend college if it were not for a community college near their home.

✓ Forty percent of our students are the first members of their families ever to attend college.

✓ Our economic impact is tremendous. Conservatively estimated, we contribute about $132 million a year to our state's economy.

✓ We provide a low-cost, quality education in these days of spiraling tuitions. We're simply one of the best bargains in higher education today.

That may be bragging. But it's all true. And we need your continued support to keep doing good things for both our community and our state.

"Hostage In Iran" On WPBY

For 444 days, all of America wondered what was happening behind the walls of the American embassy compound in Iran. Now five years later, FRONTLINE with Judy Woodruff will air "Hostage in Iran," the story of those 444 days told by the hostages who lived them.

The FRONTLINE report, airing Thursday, January 23 at 10 p.m. on WPBY Channel 33, contains the most extensive TV interviews ever given by many key participants in the hostage crisis, some of whom have never spoken about their ordeal before. FRONTLINE will also present film footage from inside the American embassy compound, some of it filmed by the Iranian students themselves.

Plan for Snow Clearance

When snow begins to fall in Floyd county and causes roads to become slick and hazardous, the state transportation crew from the Pikeville district office will be out early to clear the roads.

"We want our highway crews out on the roads as soon as the first snowflake falls," said Governor Martha Layne Collins. "This year we want fast, effective snow removal."

To help motorists plan their winter driving, the Transportation Cabinet has announced which roads will be cleared first.

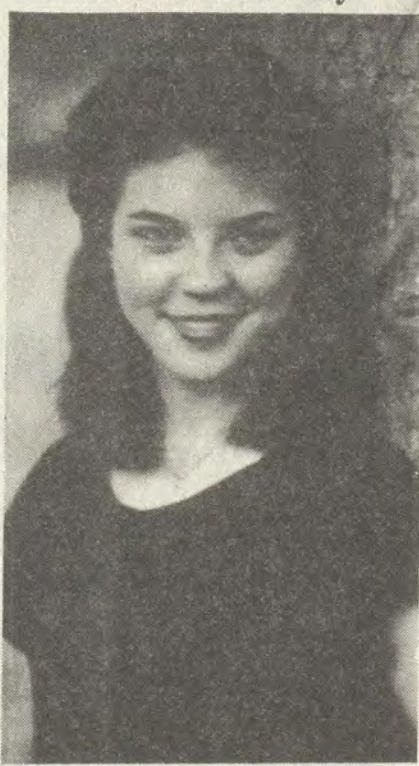

The transportation crew will clear U.S. 23, U.S. 460, KY 80, KY 114, KY 122 and KY 1428 first. The next roads to be cleared will be priority B and then priority C (see accompanying map).

The roads are cleared as soon as precipitation becomes significant. Crews set out with salt or plows to clear the top priority roads first. The priority system is based on the traffic carried by the road.

Priority A roads include interstates, parkways, urban expressways and other state roads with exceptionally large volumes of traffic. Priority B roads are state primary roads, bypasses and roads with slightly less traffic than Priority A roads. State secondary roads, rural secondary roads and other routes with equal traffic fall into Priority C category.

Remaining state roads are cleared after these categories have been treated.

Enlists in Army

Sandra D. Ferrell, of Garrett, has enlisted in the United States Army and will receive training as a Personnel Administration Specialist. Ferrell was assisted in choosing a skill from among the many available in today's Army by Sgt. Gordon, of the Prestonsburg Recruiting Station.

Ferrell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Ferrell, of Garrett, and attended Allen Central High School, graduating in Dec. 1985.

The 17-year-old Garrett resident decided to join the Army because "the army guaranteed the job I wanted and is enabling me to see the world at the same time. Plus you have the self-satisfaction of serving our country."

Ferrell will receive basic combat training at Ft. Dix, N.J. and advanced individual training at Ft. Ben Harrison, Indiana.

After training, she will be assigned to Europe.

"Nova" Charts Halley's Comet

The arrival of one of the solar system's most famous celestial bodies will be the most intensively studied event in astronomical history. Nearly 76 years after its last brilliant appearance, Halley's Comet is returning to streak across the sky as it crosses the Earth's orbit on its way to the Sun.

NOVA charts the worldwide preparations for Halley's arrival as amateur comet hunters, astronomers and scientists armed with specialized cameras, high-powered telescopes and spacecraft look to the heavens in search of the comet when NOVA presents "Halley's Comet: Once in a Lifetime" on Thursday, January 23 at 9 p.m. on WPBY Channel 33.

In the program, NOVA photographs the famous comet with a specially adapted Japanese camera and visits scientists in America, Europe and Japan now positioning themselves to study Halley's Comet in 1986 in conjunction with the International Halley Watch—a global effort to coordinate precise observations of the comet.

SCHOOL PROPERTY SALE

The Floyd County Board of Education will receive sealed bids until 7 o'clock, Feb. 5, 1986 for the following property:

Subject property consists of approximately three-fourths acre located along Highway 194 and the right fork of Home Branch. The lot is level to rolling and five to ten feet below the grade of Highway 194. There is no zoning for subject property, but it has been used for an elementary school for the Floyd County School System.

Subject property is improved by two frame buildings and a metal trailer. Building number one contains approximately 876 square feet, has wood siding exterior and an asphalt shingle roof. The interior is one large room with two small baths, although there are no fixtures in the building. Interior walls are drywall with a hardwood floor. Other improvements include blackboard and some shelving. Condition of this building is considered to be poor as the roof has leaked, windows are broken, floors are buckled, and the building has been vandalized. Building number two contains approximately 786 square feet, has wood siding and a tin roof. Interior walls are paneled and the floors are hardwood. This building also is in poor condition as vandals have broken windows and torn up the interior in general. Building number three is a metal trailer containing approximately 248 square feet. The roof is asphalt rolled and the interior is vinyl floor and paneled walls.

The minimum acceptable bid is $14,800 (fourteen thousand eight hundred dollars).

The Floyd County Board of Education reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids.

Nature's Wonders...

Do Not Disturb—Until April

By JULIE SMITHER
Ah, winter! The bliss of snowy adventures—skiing, sledding, pushing your car out of a snowbank. Don't you just love it? Or do you feel that when the winter winds howl and the bitter cold tries to seep in under the door, the best place to be is in bed under an electric blanket—not to be disturbed until April! As much as we might like to, we humans cannot hibernate, but there are many animals in Kentucky that do.

Hibernation, from the Latin "hibernare" meaning to pass the winter, is a very strange phenomenon. During hibernation, a warm-blooded animal becomes like a cold-blooded one in that its body temperature becomes essentially the same as its surroundings. It no longer eats or rids its body of wastes; its heart beat and circulation rates decrease dramatically, and its metabolism is slowed. The breathing rate is so slow that a dormant bat can go up to four minutes between breaths! These animals make it through the winter by living off the extra fat they accumulated in fall.

For snake-haters, winter is the best time to be outside because there isn't a snake to be seen. All our reptiles and amphibians are hibernating in animal burrows, rock crevices, caves, mine tunnels, and even deserted ant hills. A snake doesn't necessarily spend the long winter months by itself. It is very likely curled up with several of its kind and maybe some not of its kind. In Manitoba, Canada, a biologist found 257 snakes hibernating in a single ant hill—eight garters, 101 red-bellies and 148 smooth greens. Occasionally, a salamander or two will spend the winter snuggled up to a pile of these reptiles. The toads that hop about in your garden on warm summer days have probably congregated together with other toads in a deep pit or dry well where there is a covering of leaves. Or they may be in deserted rodent burrows. Salamanders also use abandoned burrows or rotten logs, the space beneath bark, or caves and mine tunnels.

Several of Kentucky's mammals hibernate. Groundhogs move from summer burrows in meadows to more protected underground homes in fencerows, thickets, and woods—you may even have one hibernating in your haystack! Most of Kentucky's bats move to caves where temperatures remain above freezing and the humidity is high. A number of animals such as skunks and chipmunks are less active during periods of extreme cold, but they don't actually hibernate. They just sleep or rest, awakening for brief periods when the climate becomes more favorable.

Although this slowing down process of hibernation takes several hours, it may take just minutes for the animal to wake. A hibernating bat that is disturbed for only a few moments will use much of the energy it needs to make it through the entire winter, depleting its body fat to a point where it may starve before it can catch insects again in early spring. That's why it is very important to leave hibernating bats undisturbed.

Kentucky's animals are well adapted to coping with natural dangers, like the cold of winter. However, the Kentucky Nature Preserves Commission is concerned about the loss of some of these creatures' homes, a danger created by man. As you come in out of the bitter cold to the warmth of the fire, ponder the miracle of nature that our wildlife can survive winter's fierce gale if we provide them with a place to live.

"If your gas or oil bills are high, add on a heat pump."

You can cut your heating bills by adding a heat pump to the gas or oil furnace you already have.

An add-on heat pump saves you money because it shares the job of heating your home. You just add it on to your existing furnace. It goes on only when electricity is the most efficient, economical source of heat.

And all summer long, you get the comfort of air conditioning. Because in the summer, the heat pump reverses itself and pumps the heat out of your house while keeping the cool air circulating.

Because an add-on heat pump uses your existing furnace, most installations don't involve any changes to your ductwork.

If you think about the savings, the air conditioning, and the low cost of installation, adding on a heat pump is a pretty smart move. Call us and find out more.

To Get Statement Of S.S. Benefits

Every person who received or repaid any Social Security benefits during 1985 will receive a Social Security Benefit Statement, Form SSA-1099, during January 1986, Jim Kelly, District Director for the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, said recently.

The form will show the amount of Social Security benefits the person received as well as the amount of benefits they repaid during 1985. The form should be used just as any other form 1099 received from a financial institution when the person completes his or her Federal income tax return for 1985, Kelly said.

People who have substantial other income may have to include up to half of their Social Security benefits in their taxable income. This applies only to those individuals who file as a single tax payer and have $25,000 or more taxable income. The amount is $32,000 for a married couple filing a joint return.

Included with the benefit statement will be IRS Notice 703. This is a worksheet that people can complete to see if any of their Social Security benefits may be subject to Federal income tax.

People who still have questions about the information shown on Form SSA-1099 can call the toll-free telephone number, 1-900-SSA-1099 shown on the form starting January 2. People who have questions about tax liability or figuring income tax should call the nearest office of the Internal Revenue Service at the number shown on the back of IRS Notice 703 if they cannot find the answer in IRS publications.

A free publication—Publication 915—contains a detailed explanation of the entries on the benefit statement and explains about taxability of benefits. A free copy is available at any Social Security or IRS office.

The Big Sandy Area Social Security office is located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in your local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

State Preps for 200th Birthday

Kentucky's 200th birthday is six years away but preparations for the event were ordered to begin today (Wednesday) by Gov. Martha Layne Collins. Kentucky was admitted to the Union as the 15th state in 1792.

To plan the grand celebration in 1992, the governor named a 10-member executive committee and said as many as 25 more members may be named later to the Kentucky Bicentennial Commission.

"Kentucky's 200th birthday will be an occasion to pay tribute to the people of this state who created the foundation on which we build," Gov. Collins said.

The Commission will be attached to the Office of Historic Properties in the Finance and Administration Cabinet. The members will receive no pay but will be reimbursed "for all necessary expenses incurred in their duties," the governor said.

Duties include coordinating the statewide celebration and local events; encouraging the location of materials pertaining to the settlement of the state and its attainment of statehood; and selecting persons and events to be commemorated.

The Commission must prepare a series of annual reports on its work with the first report due November 1, 1987. State Senator David Karem, Democrat from Louisville, was named chairman of the Bicentennial Commission Executive Committee. Other members are: Mason Combs, Pineville; Louise B. Hatmaker, Hazard; Representative Pete Worthington, Flemingsburg; Steven Collins, Versailles; George S. Boone, Elkton; X. Lucas, Bowling Green; Dr. Thomas Clark, Lexington; Lois Morris, Louisville; Mary Haas, Ft. Thomas.

Miss Kentucky U.S. Teen Pageant

In addition to the state title, awards will be given in leadership, friendship, and photogenic categories.

The Kentucky pageant will be held at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green, on May 17. Judging is based on poise, personality, school and community involvement. For further information contact: Mrs. Tony McLarty, State Director, 4933 Salem Drive, Nashville, TN 37211 or call (615) 333-2845.
