

Few Attend Open House At Schools

While no official attendance figures were available Monday, Acting Superintendent Ray Brackett said preliminary impressions were that few parents took advantage of last Friday's "open house" in Floyd schools.

Reports from high schools at Prestonsburg, Betsy Layne and Wheelwright were of sparse attendance by parents. A first-grade teacher at Clark Elementary School, noting that only two parents showed up to talk with her about the progress of their children, said, "I'm highly disappointed" and added that "It's always been like this as long as I've been here."

Brackett, who, in announcing the open day recently, said it would be a test of parents' interest in the school system, acknowledged this week that the low response could be attributable to a variety of factors besides low interest. Nevertheless, open days are "one small sampling" of parents' willingness to get involved in the schools, he said.

Membership in parent-teacher organizations and attendance at public hearings mandated with the adoption of federally-funded remediation programs are also clues to the sincerity of calls for more public participation in education, he said.

The acting superintendent conceded the district made little effort to publicize the open day and that most individual principals appeared to have done nothing to attract people to the schools. He said he recognized also that, since both parents in many families have jobs, open house might be more conveniently scheduled at night. "We're not opposed to looking at a different time, or anything else we might do, to bring more people in," he said.

TENUOUS STRANDS of this long-disused suspension bridge over the Big Sandy at Knotley Hollow are destined for the junkyard. A contract for replacing the structure, which once provided access to residents of the Goble Roberts Addition from KY 1428, could be let as early as next month. A two-lane concrete span is proposed, at an estimated cost of $1.1 million.

If Bills Pass...

Liquor By Drink Hopes May Go Down the Drain

Bills introduced Friday in both the House and Senate could scotch the hopes of some that liquor might soon be sold here by the drink. The bills would reclassify 85 Kentucky cities, bringing all into compliance with the state constitution, sponsors of the legislation said.

The constitution requires the General Assembly to classify cities according to population. However, classifications have sometimes been altered at the request of individual legislators. Municipal powers—such as taxing authority, planning and zoning, and control of the sale of alcoholic beverages—vary considerably from one class to another.

Moves were made in Prestonsburg and Pikeville in 1984—unsuccessfully here but successfully in Pikeville—to upgrade those cities from the fourth to the third class, automatically giving Pikeville liquor by the drink, which requires a referendum in fourth class cities. Neither Pikeville (with a population of 5638) nor Prestonsburg (4100) meets the minimum of 8000 residents required of third class cities.

When a resolution was introduced in Prestonsburg city council two years ago to petition the legislature for classification as a third class city it was blocked by a group of local ministers. Proponents of the classification change were never identified but were believed to be associated with the motel and restaurant industries. No such resolution has been presented to the council during the current legislative session, City Manager David Evans said this week.

Senate Bill 348 and House Bill 833 would reclassify all cities that are not in the classes required by the constitution. The only Floyd city whose classification would be altered under the new legislation is Martin, which would drop from fourth class to sixth. (Sixth class cities have fewer than 1000 residents.) But passage of the bills would presumably eliminate the possibility of upgrading Prestonsburg unless its population rose dramatically, either by immigration or annexation.

Because the bills have been filed relatively late in the legislative session, some lawmakers predicted that passage is unlikely, although the fact that identical bills have been introduced simultaneously in both chambers could speed up their adoption.

House Majority Floor Leader Greg Stumbo has reportedly expressed opposition to the proposed legislation, arguing that the problem should not be attacked with a sweeping reclassification but with a study of possible action in 1988.

Tennis Shoes Prove Car Thieves Undoing

A pair of red and white tennis shoes proved the undoing of two Floyd youngsters accused of car theft last week.

According to Prestonsburg Police Chief Stan Fletcher, the incident began when Michael D. Watkins, 18, and a 17-year-old juvenile, both of Rough and Tough, allegedly stole a 1986 Oldsmobile from the lot of the Ed Walters car dealership on S. Lake Drive. The theft was said to have occurred in the early morning hours of last Wednesday.

Fletcher said the two drove the car as far as the Floyd-Magoffin line before running out of gas. At that point, they stopped at a private residence just inside Magoffin county and asked for help. The homeowners gave them enough gas to make it into Salyersville, where they filled up at a truck stop before proceeding to Lexington.

City police lost track of the two after they left Salyersville, and "tried to backtrack" in search of clues, said the police chief. One of the clues they found was in the description given by the Magoffin man who aided the alleged thieves.

he said one of the suspects had on a pair of red and white tennis shoes," said Fletcher. Based on information furnished by the Magoffin man and attendants at the truck stop, police were able to determine the identity of the suspects. The juvenile's parents confirmed they had recently purchased shoes matching the description.

When police here received a call from Lexington's metro police later that day, informing them that two Floyd residents had been arrested and charged with shoplifting at the Sears store at the Fayette Mall, Fletcher said he put two and two together and asked the officer there if one of the suspects was wearing red and white tennis shoes. When told that one was, Fletcher said he asked the officer to check the mall parking lot for the stolen car. Police combed the lot and found the car.

The two were taken into custody and lodged in a Lexington jail before being transferred here.

Watkins was charged with two counts of theft by unlawful taking and one count of third-degree burglary. The burglary

Board Meeting Postponed

The regular meeting of the Floyd Board of Education scheduled for this (Wednesday) evening, has been postponed, according to Acting Superintendent Ray Brackett. The meeting will be held next Tuesday, March 11, in the Wheelwright High School cafeteria, beginning at 7 p.m.

5 More Charged On Drug Counts

Five more from this county were charged last week with trafficking in marijuana as state police wound up a seven-month undercover operation with arrests in Floyd and Pike counties.

Twenty-six had been snared by the operation by the end of last week and another nine arrests were expected. Those charged allegedly sold marijuana, cocaine or LSD to police undercover officers working in this area since last August.

Arrested last Wednesday and taken to the Floyd county jail were Berlin Jacobs, 49, of Wayland, charged with two counts of trafficking in marijuana; and Kenny "Jake" Artrip, 23, of Drift, Gerevia L. Hall, 22, of Galveston, Bobby J. Hall, 27, of Galveston, and Timmy

Board Panel Seeks Supt. In Columbus

Three members of the Floyd Board of Education are scheduled to visit Columbus, Ohio tomorrow (Thursday) as part of the panel's ongoing search for a permanent superintendent, board vice-chairman James A. Duff confirmed this week.

The group will be inspecting the four schools of the West Jefferson (Ohio) school district, whose superintendent is Bill M. Stephan, 52, of Columbus, the board's top choice so far of the four candidates who were nominated by a University of Kentucky consultant and who have been interviewed here in recent weeks.

"He seems to be the best qualified of the four although, depending on what we see in Columbus, we could come back and take a harder look at the other three," Duff said. Neither has the board ruled out the possibility of choosing a superintendent from within the Floyd system, he said.

Depending on how far the search process extends—whether, for example, board members will feel the need to visit Bremen, Indiana, where Dr. Larry G. Stinson, another of those recommended

Citizens' Group Hires Attorney To Block City

Prestonsburg's latest attempt to annex an area north of the city is meeting its first major resistance. Residents of the area, which extends along U.S. 23 as far as the Auxier bridge, met last Thursday at the National Guard Armory to express their opposition to the plan.

Opponents say the additional services annexation would bring would not be worth the levy of city taxes.

In order to block the annexation, opponents would need to get petitions signed by 50 percent of the residents or property owners in that section and file the petitions with the mayor by April 21, 60 days after the annexation order was first published. If the petitions are filed, the question will be put on the November ballot.

If the issue goes that far, though, it will still be an uphill battle for those opposed. To defeat the annexation in November, 75 percent of all registered voters in that area would have to vote against it. People on both sides of the fence concede that would be a difficult trick to pull. A bill now being debated in Frankfort would lower to 60 percent the number of registered voters needed to quell such a move but, even if it becomes law, it would not apply to this case.

The citizens' group has retained Prestonsburg attorney Ralph Stevens to handle the matter. Stevens said that at this point he is simply advising the people and preparing to submit the petition to city officials. Stevens represented an Auxier group who successfully blocked a 1984 annexation attempt by the city.

Though Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta said she believes there is probably a "silent majority" of Auxier residents who support annexation, most of those questioned were passionate in their criticism of the move.

Paris B. "Buster" Music, owner of Music's Body Shop there, estimated that 90 percent of Auxier Road residents were against annexation. He echoed the sentiments of others who felt that what the city was offering was not equal to what it would ask.

"We ain't gonna get nothing from it," he said. "That's all they can offer, police protection. I'd rather not have it. We've

Solid Waste To Prosecute 32 Who Owe

Some 32 cases being prepared for prosecution last week by the county attorney's office will be filed as small claims in district court; but collecting them will be of no small consequence to the county's struggling garbage disposal system, said Robert D. McAninch, chairman of the board of Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc.

Seven householders and 25 businesses are expected to be named as defendants in the suits, all of them accused of failure to pay for trash collection services. Except for residents of Prestonsburg, which has its own service, use of the county garbage collection service is mandatory for all households and businesses under a 1980 ordinance which was designed to bring this county's haphazard solid waste disposal system into line with state and federal law.

Although the new system began operating here in May, 1981, and the landfill at Garth Hollow recently received a five-year permit renewal, Floyd is among 87 of Kentucky's 120 counties that have yet to file long-range plans for solid waste disposal.

The 1980 General Assembly ordered each county to draft five-to-20-year plans for disposing of solid waste and the plans must be approved by the state Cabinet for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection. The original deadline was July, 1984, and no counties met it. It was then extended to Dec. 31, 1985, with provision for a further extension of six months. The law provides for penalties of up to $1000 a day for missing the deadline.

Floyd has received a six-month extension and will meet the deadline, said McAninch, who explained that drafting a long-range plan for this county will simply mean "writing a history" of the plan already implemented. "We were so far ahead on this I just haven't got around to writing it up," he said.

Belt-Tightening May Be Solution To Fed Fund Cuts

With Federal Revenue Sharing ending in October, the Big Sandy ADD board is looking for ways to help communities keep their financial heads above water.

They have appointed a five-member task force with representatives from Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin counties, to study ways to compensate for the cuts. Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta is Floyd county's representative.

According to Latta, the way of the future could be regionalization, with the counties pooling funds to purchase expensive items, such as heavy machinery, which individual communities might need but only use occasionally.

Big Sandy ADD Executive Director Roger Recktenwald said the group will examine regionalization, revenue sharing cuts, and more. He said the main purpose behind forming the task force was to get knowledgeable elected officials in the five-county area involved in looking for ways to better cope, fiscally.

"We're trying to get a dollar figure per unit of government in the five counties, to try to delineate cuts across the board," said Recktenwald.

With the end of the federal money, Recktenwald said communities will have to face cutting programs or finding new ways to finance them. And the revenue sharing money has been used in different ways by different communities.

Prestonsburg, for example, purchased a fire truck with these funds and is now faced with making $27,000 annual payments on the vehicle. Other communities, said Recktenwald, have been paying police and fire department salaries with their allotment.

"Some communities built buildings and are making payments with that money. That's what's going to hurt. We need to sit down, find where every dollar is going, and how it's going to affect people," he said.

The federal cuts could account for bet-

LITTLE MATTHEW

By WILMAY

He is one of two children of Mr. and Mrs. Adron Combs, of Garrett. He was a year old in January, a beautiful child, who has had cancer of the liver since July. Thanks to Dr. Fairchild, pediatrician of McDowell Hospital, it was found early. The small patient was rushed to St. Jude Hospital, in Memphis, where he has undergone surgery three times, the last on Feb. 26, and is still putting up a brave struggle for survival, amazing everyone, thanks to innumerable prayers said daily in his behalf. His parents and brother, Paul, age 19, rotate at his bedside.

Paul insisted upon dropping out of PCC in December to accompany his parents to Tennessee and help care for the baby. Since Mr. Combs is disabled, there are limitations to his assistance. Mrs. Combs was a mail carrier until the illness struck Matthew. The baby's aunt, Mrs. Sharon Gibson, of Garrett, sister of Mrs. Combs, cared for the little fellow while his mother made the mail delivery regularly. The family has gone to Tennessee innumerable times, often remaining weeks. They have been there for five weeks this trip.

This famous and wonderful hospital serves only children who have malignancy. Its services are gratis, donations accepted, of course. Like most of us middle-class families, the Combs are of limited means. All three are members of Garrett First Baptist Church. They are gladly sacrificing everything they can to save their baby's life. The hospital provides one bedroom in another building but not meals, according to report. The family could not manage except for outside help now. A benefit dinner in Garrett, Friday, Feb. 28, netted $1205. A concert and sing is scheduled in the Garrett gym, Sunday.

Floyd Countians have always been big-hearted as proved when Dickie Allen suffered the terrible accident years ago, and in times of floods, also when recessions occur, sending hundreds of unemployed families home to Mom and Dad from Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana. Some of the parents here may be underprivileged, and kiddies brought back must share a bedroom designed for two, but the good ole mountain welcome mat is always out, because they are happy to share. They CARE. Additional evidence of generosity exists. A good example is the annual Shrine Circus in Prestonsburg that benefits crippled children, reliably said to net more than any other in the state.

This column calls attention to the fact that we can do again what we have before, respond to a genuine need, help a splendid family in its hours of distress. If more churches, civic organizations, clubs, businesses, industries, and individuals wish to assist, they can. Matthew's case is a great opportunity for teaching compassion to school children who could bring nickels and dimes—which make dollars.

Any person or group wanting to help can send sums to:

THE MATTHEW COMBS FUND, No. 17-16-2051, Bank Josephine, Prestonsburg, or any of its branch banks. The fund is in charge of the child's aunt, Sharon Gibson, of Garrett, Ky. 41630. Mrs. Gibson has paid the following for the Combs family: Solid Waste, phone bill, power, gas, water, their house rent, besides helping with their needs in Memphis. Three meals for three persons daily mount rapidly. She keeps money order receipts to show sums sent them. There would be more heavy expense for the Combs should God call little Matthew home, but Mrs. Gibson has stated that she would send to St. Jude Hospital any remainder in that event, which is as it should be.

Detailed explanation is given here because of an erroneous report or two that have been made. This writer heard of one and called Mrs. Gibson for information. She is keeping a complete record of receipts and output. It might be well to ask persons who make careless reports to sign statements that disclose their source of information! Families who have experienced prolonged illnesses know well how costly they can be.

Plan Education Forum at PCC

Robert Allen, Associate Director at Prestonsburg Community College, and Dr. Theresa Milon, Division Chairperson for Social Sciences, have been planning the Education Forum scheduled March 10 in Pike Auditorium at PCC.

The forum is designed to help current and future PCC students decide where to complete their bachelor's degree in education. Due to changes at the state level, students desiring a degree in education must pass certain criteria in order to be accepted into teacher education programs. Area colleges which have accepted the invitation to participate in this forum are Alice Lloyd, Berea, Eastern, Morehead, and the University of Kentucky.

Education professors will be discussing their colleges' philosophy of education, strengths in particular teacher certification areas, and policies regarding interview, essay and test requirements.

The forum, open to area high school seniors and their parents as well as to all PCC students, will begin at 7:15. Mr. Allen and Dr. Milon have been delighted with the interest shown by area colleges in helping PCC students make a smooth transition from Prestonsburg Community College to their respective institutions.

Army Enlistee

Stanley E. Lee, 18, of Allen, has enlisted in the United States Army and will receive training as an infantryman. He was assisted in choosing a skill from among the many skills available in today's Army by Sgt. Gordon, of the Prestonsburg Recruiting Station.

Lee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Lee, of Allen, and is attending Prestonsburg High School where he will graduate this spring.

He will receive basic combat training and advanced individual training at Ft. Benning, Ga. After training, Lee will be assigned to a post in the United States.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Verdie Bentley wishes to thank all who helped in any way upon the passing of their loved one. We deeply appreciate the flowers, food and the words of kindness given by all. Thanks to the Samaria Regular Baptist Church, members and ministers, those who prepared the grave, and the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

A Good Samaritan

It's our turn to thank a stranger who stopped to help our parents when they sorely needed help. We do not know who it was, or even if it was one person or a couple, only that they were from Dayton, O. and had been visiting at Harold.

We do know that if they had not stopped to help our mother and dad when they were injured and helpless following a car accident, recently, their chances for survival would have been slim, indeed.

Whoever you are, we owe you a great deal, and again, we thank you.

Hall, 21, of Galveston, all charged with a single count.

Those arrested did not include major drug dealers and were not thought to be part of an organized drug-selling effort, said Trooper Kenneth Frost, of the Pikeville state police post. Most of the undercover purchases were made at the homes of the people accused, he said.

In an unrelated drug arrest, Prestonsburg police officer Jeff Stumbo charged Glen K. Franko, 28, of Betsy Layne, with trafficking in cocaine. Stumbo said he stopped Franko after he saw him driving erratically on KY 1428 last Tuesday and charged him with drunk driving.

Powder found in a plastic vial which fell from Franko's pocket tested positive for cocaine and a "pat-down" turned up two small plastic bags containing a similar substance, the police officer said.

Franko entered a guilty plea to the DUI charge and was ordered to pay a $200 fine. He still awaits trial on the drug charge.

Cocaine and LSD trafficking are felonies punishable by five to 10 years in prison. Trafficking in marijuana is a felony punishable by a one-to-five-year prison term if more than eight ounces is sold and a misdemeanor punishable by up to a year in prison for smaller quantities.

McAninch acknowledges that many of those to be named as defendants in the small claim suits were not billed until recently because, although their garbage was being picked up regularly, their names were not in the system's computer. But that is no excuse for their failure to pay, he insists.

"They think if they're not getting a bill they're not liable. It isn't so. They know the service is mandatory and they have to pay for it," McAninch said. "If they think they're having fun beating the county out of money, they'll have to learn they're just cutting their own throats. The solid waste laws will be enforced."

Enforcing solid waste laws has not proven easy in the past. Even with a fulltime ecology officer on the payroll, few are cited in this county for illegal dumping and a conviction is a rarity. In any event, McAninch says, the key to solving the problem of unsightly dumps is to see that people use—and pay for—the approved trash collection system.

Inadequate records made that virtually impossible until recently, when garbage truck crews began tape-recording their routes, providing a log of pickups that could be matched with lists of property owners on file in the tax assessor's office and with the customer lists in the solid waste agency's own computer. Those who are found to be not paying for the service are given 30 days in which to pay before being turned over to the county attorney for prosecution.

"People are going to have to understand we can't go backwards on this. The solid waste system is here to stay and picking up solid waste is expensive," McAninch said. "People will pay because there is simply no other solution to the solid waste problem."

(March 3, 1976)

Dredging in the dock area of Brandy Keg Cove, Dewey Lake, has been completed and the return of the lake level to its winter pool is expected to begin shortly. The Kentucky State Senate last Friday adopted resolutions introduced by Senator Jim Hammond in memory of the Floyd county school bus tragedy which on Feb. 28, 1958 claimed the lives of 26 school children and the driver, and honored the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad which was born of that tragedy. Coach David Turner's McDowell Daredwells won their 20th game last week, defeating Letcher county by a score of 104 to 75, while the Wheelwright Trojans picked up wins 18 and 19 over the weekend against only 5 defeats. While Martin countians have been enjoying the "coal boom" that has embraced us for the past few years, the cold, hard realization that all is not well with the economy hit closer to home last week when nearly 300 coal miners received their lay-off slips. The first 60 miles of the hiking trail through Jenny Wiley country, all the way from South Portsmouth in Greenup county to Jenny Wiley State Park, will be opened by the end of April, it was announced last week. Coal shipments from the Right Beaver section of this county were brought to a standstill for five days when seven loaded coal cars derailed inside the Stephens Branch tunnel of the railway serving that section. The wreck occurred Feb. 21 and service was not restored till last Thursday morning. There died: Walter E. Stewart, 63, of Allen, Thursday at Veterans' Hospital, Lexington; Tivis Slone, 45, of Garner, Tuesday, Feb. 24, at his residence; Sarah Elizabeth Roberts, 84, of Printer, Monday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; John Landon Griffith, 86, of Wayland, Saturday, February 21, at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; Harry Campbell, 60, of Monroe, Mich., formerly of this county, Feb. 13 in Memorial Hospital, Monroe; W. Va.; Mrs. Martha Reed, 87, Feb. 24 at her home at Estill; Mrs. Mountie Johnson Mullins, 73, of Weeksbury, last Thursday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital.

With the signing by Gov. Chandler last week of the bill giving towns of the second, third and fourth classes the right to own municipal waterworks, Prestonsburg citizens and officials began laying plans for municipal ownership of the local water system within the next few years. As the result of a shotgun wound sustained Friday when he fell, accidentally discharging his gun, Wallace Blackburn, 17, of Wonder, died Wednesday at the Beaver Valley Hospital, Martin. # County's Teachers Are Now 'Speaking Out—Being Heard'

Floyd school teachers, traditionally slow to speak out, are gradually finding their voice, the president of their professional association said this week, as county teachers observe National Teachers Week.

Patricia Sturgill Barnette—a first-grade teacher at Clark Elementary School who is in her first year as president of the Floyd County Education Association (FCEA)—predicted that teachers will play a more organized and active role in the changes she sees unfolding in the county schools system.

"We're finally speaking out, and we're finally being heard by the board," she said, noting that the Board of Education has been responsive to several requests made recently by a teachers' negotiating committee.

The very formation of a negotiating committee signals a change in the way Floyd teachers see themselves and want to be seen by their employers, a change Mrs. Barnette attributes to teachers' desire "to feel, and to be treated, like professionals." That would mean a change, she concedes, in the paternalism that has long colored the relationship between the board and county schoolteachers.

The daughter of a prominent Prestonsburg family—her parents are Barkley and Nancy Sturgill—Mrs. Barnette knows from experience that, to get a job in the Floyd schools system, it doesn't hurt if your family has some political clout. Within a month of her graduation from the University of Kentucky in May, 1982, she was hired to teach here, an appointment she recognizes was not unconnected with the fact that "our family had been friends with the local board member."

But the patronage system has been "a liability" for Floyd teachers, she said, because the price of a job and tenure has turned out too often to be a docile silence on the part of those hired. When, as a new teacher, she suggested to a colleague that they accompany members of the school PTA who were scheduled to petition the board for classroom carpeting, the colleague advised against it, noting that the board "took it as a slap in the face" if teachers presumed to attend board meetings. Mrs. Barnette recalled this week. She also remembered friendly warnings from colleagues that she might be "sent to Weeksbury" if she proved too aggressive in pressing her concerns.

"I think you will see more teachers coming to board meetings" in future, Mrs. Barnette said. "We have a foot in the door now. We've seen that negotiations are possible." (In November, the board acceded to several requests—for got enough protection from the state police."

East Kentucky Flea Market owner Floyd Skeans estimated the opposition to be around 95 percent. He agreed with Music's assessment that minimal police protection was the biggest benefit the city could offer.

"It's a terrible thing," said Skeans. "Annexation for the sole purpose of taxation is not the American way. We would get no services. The most we could hope to get from the city is a police car up and down the road every so often. That's just too much to pay for a routine patrol."

The Auxier Road residents would pay the same occupational tax of 1.5 percent and property tax of 25 cents per $100 assessment as other city residents.

The annexation move is aimed primarily at collecting the occupational taxes from employers along U.S. 23, with the biggest plum being Highlands Regional Medical Center. The hospital now receives city garbage pick-up and fire protection in exchange for fees to the city of $400 per month and $750 per year, respectively.

The hospital receives free city police protection. In a guarded response to the proposal, HRMC administrator Clarence Traum issued the following statement:

"The proposed annexation will have a marginal impact on the services the medical center receives. We are one of the largest employers in the area and few of our employees live within the proposed city limits. They would be subject to an occupational tax without receiving direct benefits from the city."

A similar annexation attempt was dropped by Prestonsburg in 1984 after Auxier Road residents gathered the needed signatures on petitions. The city council voted not to pursue the move to the general election then because of the strong show of opposition.

Latta has said that even if the needed signatures are obtained the city will pursue the annexation through the November election. If the annexation is accomplished, it will bring in approximately $92,000 yearly after first year expenditures to put city services in place. That money would help offset the approximately $112,000 Federal Revenue Sharing money Prestonsburg is expected to lose in October.

One other benefit the city is touting for the Auxier Road residents, which many disdain along with the rest of the package, is lower fire insurance rates. According to figures compiled several years ago by then-councilman Dick Clark, of the Hall and Clark insurance agency, it would have been advantageous to the residents to come into the city when last proposed. Clark cautioned that some things might have changed since he studied the issue, but said he still felt the lower fire insurance would offset other costs incurred by Auxier Road residents.

a voice in setting the school calendar, for timely notification of accumulated sick days, for fairer distribution of extra duties—made by an FCEA negotiating committee).

Among the issues that are uppermost in teachers' minds, the FCEA leader said, are provision of help for the many clerical duties with which teachers are now burdened, reduced class loads and increased preparation time, and the posting of job openings countywide.

While it might erode board members' control over the jobs in their districts, the posting of job openings could help prevent "burnout" and boost teacher morale by offering them a chance of switching grade or school after teaching in one place a minimum of, say, five years, Mrs. Barnette said.

"I know that after five years I'm ready for a change, but you never know what's open," she said. "It would build teachers' morale if they could explore different areas in education."

The issue of professional standards is as much about teachers' responsibilities as it is about their rights, the FCEA president acknowledged. "We have teachers in this system who don't need to be teaching," she said, adding that she supports the concept of periodic teacher evaluation as long as it is not used as a political weapon and if the emphasis is on helping those teachers who need it.

Mrs. Barnette, who rose rapidly to the leadership of the county teachers' association and who has twice been a delegate to the state teachers' conference, is not unaware that the FCEA has a long way to go in bringing around traditional attitudes not only of school board members but of teachers themselves. Of this district's 554 certified personnel, a little over 400 belong to the FCEA but usually only about 50 can be counted on to attend the group's annual conference, for which all county school teachers are given a day off each spring.

While she believes that state intervention in the Floyd school district over the past several years has been beneficial, and that the school district would benefit with the appointment of a superintendent from out of this county, she is aware, Mrs. Barnette said, that "a lot of people, including a lot of teachers, would disagree."

In her view, however, the state intervention has set in motion a train of events which will not be reversed. "A lot of skeletons have come out of the closet," she said. "The awareness of the public has been broadened."

One test of how far the attitudes of teachers have changed will present itself on April 4, the day set aside on the school calendar for the annual meeting of the Floyd County Education Association. It will be held this year at May Lodge—rather than, as has been customary, on school board turf—and will focus on the teacher-evaluation process, board-teacher negotiations, and fringe benefits, Mrs. Barnette said. She is hoping for a turnout that will confirm her sense that teachers are ready to assert their right to play a more active role in school policymaking. "Working conditions could be improved if we would bind together through the association. That is our only outlet," she said.

A sign on the door of the Clark school last Friday urged visitors to "show a teacher your care." Asked what it would take for teachers to feel they mattered, Mrs. Barnette said, "We need support from the board. We need recognition as a professional group. We need to be allowed input in decisions."

Work Inspired By Bank Photo Wins Top Award

A picture of the old First National Bank here, taken in the 1920's inspired Sarah Cobb Spradlin, of Paris, to create an interpretation of it which in turn has earned for her the top $2,000 purchase award in the Owensboro National Bank exhibition at the Owensboro Museum of Fine Art.

Mrs. Spradlin is the wife of Prestonsburg native, Joe Mayo Spradlin, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jody Spradlin, reside here.

"Owensboro National Bank and the Arts: A Kentucky Investment," is a juried competition designed to acquire original works by current and former Kentucky Artists for display in the bank. Officials selected 14 of 238 entries to be displayed permanently at the bank.

Mrs. Spradlin's work is a two-sided colored-paper design arranged between two panes of glass. On one side of the scene is a Daughters of the American Revolution group posing for a photograph while workers in the bank watch from the windows. The other side is a view from inside of the building.

SOME IRA TIPS

Individual Retirement Accounts are becoming increasingly popular as a way to shelter some income from taxation while building funds for retirement. Here are some facts that may be helpful.

- Your 1985 IRA contribution cannot be made any later than April 15, 1986. You can no longer get an extension for making your contribution simply by extending the filing date for your income tax return.
- There is no minimum IRA contribution requirement; the maximum contribution is $2,000 per year. You can skip a contribution for any year if you wish, but you cannot make up missed contributions in future years.
- Pay the trustee's fee separately and not out of your IRA funds. You can then take the fee as a miscellaneous itemized tax deduction and leave more money to grow tax-free in your retirement account.
- You can't contribute to your IRA after you reach age 70½. But if you have a non-working spouse under 70½, you can make a contribution of up to $2,000 to his or her IRA.
- Alimony payments are considered earned income for purposes of determining allowable IRA contributions.
- Advisors sometimes suggest that you borrow money to make an IRA contribution if you don't have the cash. Before doing so, compare the yield in your IRA and the borrowing rate. Also, give thought to whether you'll have funds later in the year to repay the loan. If you won't have, don't borrow.
- Using IRAs in divorce property settlement situations may be beneficial to both parties. In lieu of a large property settlement, a husband might agree to pay an extra annual $2,000 in alimony which is tax deductible by him. The wife then puts the $2,000 into an IRA for herself, and she is not taxed on the money either until retirement.

Dr. Ellen Joyce, of Banner, has been recertified as a diplomate of the American Board of Family Practice (ABFP) as a result of passing a recertification examination offered by the ABFP. The physician thus maintains specialist status in the medical specialty of family practice.

ABFP diplomates must continue to show proof of competence in the field of comprehensive, continuing care of the family by being recertified every six years. Family practice was the first medical specialty to require diplomates to be recertified on a continuing basis.

Letters to the Editor

Letters from readers do not necessarily reflect the view of the Floyd County Times. All such letters are subject to editing. Letters should not exceed 350 words in length and all must bear the signature and complete mailing address of the writer.

Supports Grigsby

I am writing this letter in support of ex-superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr., and the Floyd County Board of Education. I can't sit by any longer and not say anything in support of our school system, while a few malcontents try to destroy the progress that has been made by our ex-superintendent and Board Members over the years. Certainly these are trying times, with fund depletions, budget cuts, and many other problems to contend with. We have a good school system that has moved forward in these trying times. Floyd County Schools have produced some outstanding people in every profession teachers, lawyers, architects, doctors, and many other professions.

I have had the pleasure of watching our school system progress and grow over a number of years. The present Board Members are carrying on that tradition of a progressive school system. How many of the Concerned Citizens Group, some who are from out-of-state and have only been in Floyd County a short time remember the one room school's and have really seen the progress that has been made in our school system. You can read or hear everyday about states having to close down completely or shorten their school year because they have no money. This has never happened in the Floyd County School System. Some of this so called Concerned Citizens Group should go back to their home states or areas and solve their own school problem's. They should get their heads out the sand and look around at the progress that is being made in our school system under ex-superintendent Grigsby and the School Board Members.

The majority of Floyd County citizens must be satisfied with their leadership. They have re-elected every Board Member with overwhelming majorities in every school board election over the past ten years. Are these citizen's groups really concerned about our school system or just trying to seek publicity, recognition, feeding their ego's, or what?

Let's get behind and support our school system and Board Members and make our schools even better than they are now.

LOUISE COMPTON, Martin, Ky.

Fund To Honor Christa McAuliffe

On January 28, the nation mourned the death of the seven Challenger crew members.

For the National Education Association and teachers throughout the country, there was a special sadness for Christa McAuliffe, one of our colleagues. Christa symbolized what is best in our profession: dedication to students, love for education, and courage.

To commemorate Christa's pioneering spirit, NEA has developed a fund—the Christa McAuliffe American Education Fund—to enable practicing teachers to explore their subject matter in new and innovative ways. The fund will also help high school and college students fulfill their dreams of becoming teachers.

By reaching teachers we will be reaching out to our children—our students—to help each of them develop a better understanding of the world around them.

As teachers, we want to honor Christa, who gave so much to all of us. It is our hope that others will join in giving generously to the fund for a future full of Christa McAuliffes.

Contributions can be made to the Christa McAuliffe American Education Fund, American Security Bank, P.O. Box 0149, Washington, D.C. 20055.

The Case For Unmined Minerals Tax

I would like the citizens of this county to support the unmined minerals tax for the following reasons:

It would significantly increase the annual budget of Floyd County Fiscal Court by nearly $2 million annually. This would result in more community services, better roads, more recreational facilities, improved fire protection and other services we need and deserve.

It would significantly increase the annual budget of the Floyd County Board of Education. It could bring in $1.7 million every year and help turn our schools into the best in the state.

It would mean more jobs with the county and additional employees in the school system, as well as more teachers and new facilities to reduce the overcrowded conditions in our schools.

It would be a stable source of revenue. The unmined minerals tax would not fluctuate like the severance tax. This would encourage more long-range planning for our future.

The revenue would stay in the county. It would be collected and spent locally—just like property taxes on homes and vehicles.

It would protect the small landowners and farmers who are not profiting from the ownership of their minerals.

It would not hurt the coal industry. This tax has already been successfully implemented in several states including West Virginia, where the coal industry has remained strong and competitive.

It's only fair and constitutional. The Kentucky constitution states that all property shall be taxed at its fair cash value. In July 1985 Judge Graham ruled that the current tax rate on unmined minerals is so low that it is "not even a tax as intended by the shapers of our constitution." If you have to pay taxes on your home, car, or surface property, what excuse can there be for not paying taxes on our most valuable property, coal?

This tax can help us to create a desirable climate to attract industries and businesses. The vitality of our economy will not improve if we continue to rely on one major industry to provide us with our livelihoods.

How much are a city's trees worth? In Salt Lake City, Utah, the estimated 100,000 trees on public property alone are worth more than $105 million, reports National Wildlife magazine. An urban forester made the calculations in an effort to support the city's tree care improvement plans.

Ashland Man, 53, Is Crash Victim

An Ashland man died yesterday (Tuesday) morning in a head-on collision with a coal truck on U.S. 23, just north of the Floyd-Johnson line.

Trooper Kenneth Frost of the Pikeville state police post said Robert E. Allen, 53, was driving south around 6 a.m. when he apparently veered into the path of a coal truck driven by Daniel Tackett, of Robinson Creek. The accident occurred about one mile south of Hager Hill.

Allen, who was wearing a seatbelt, was pronounced dead at the scene by Johnson County Coroner Bryan Fraley. The car he was driving was extensively damaged. The mishap is under investigation by Trooper Steve Bradley.

DAR MEET SET

"Ninety Years of DAR Service" is the theme of the 90th Conference of the Kentucky Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, scheduled March 11, 12, and 13 at the Marriott Resort, Lexington, according to Mrs. Ray Brackett, regent of John Graham Chapter, here.

Mrs. Weston deGrasse, fifth district director, and Mrs. James B. Goble, sixth district director, their chapter regents, and members will be hostesses for the conference.

Mrs. Tracy W. Neal, state regent, has completed plans for the program which includes speakers on historical, patriotic, and educational topics.

First Vice-President General, Mrs. Elred M. Yochim, of Virginia, will be the featured speaker at the banquet, and the Kentucky Society Chorus will sing.

Honor awards for DAR Good Citizens, American History Essay Winners, Kentucky's Outstanding Junior Member, the Outstanding Teacher of American History, and many other awards will be presented at the Honors Luncheon, Thursday, March 13. New officers for 1986-87 will also be elected and installed. Attending from the John Graham Chapter will be Mesdames Frances Brackett, Virginia Goble, Olga A. Preston, Norma S. Stepp, Opal S. May, Mae S. Kendrick, Miss Jane Ann Kendrick, and also DAR Good Citizen, Miss Lee Bottoms, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bottoms.

Depts. Join at HRMC

More changes are being made at Highlands Regional Medical Center in order to continue efficient, high quality patient care. The most recent change at HRMC was the combination of the Inpatient and Outpatient admitting areas. All patients being admitted for any reason will be processed at the Admissions Desk in the Emergency Department Entrance.

Prior to this combination, a patient being admitted for an overnight stay in the hospital was registered at the Admissions Desk in the main entrance of HRMC. All patients coming for lab tests, x-rays, and 'one-day surgery' were admitted at the ER Department Admissions Desk.

Russell Briggs, Associate Administrator at Highlands Regional, feels this move will make patient registration services more convenient. "No one likes to wait, especially when being admitted to a hospital," says Briggs, "the combination of Inpatient and Outpatient Registration will make the admissions process more efficient and cut down on the waiting time while using staff and space more efficiently."

Latta Named To Leadership Group

The Leadership Kentucky class participants will meet in seven locations around the state for monthly sessions. Class members will be exposed to critical issues facing Kentucky in the areas of medical care, economic development, law and justice, education, judicial system, and state government.

Leadership Kentucky, Inc., co-sponsored by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, is modeled along the lines of the successful local leadership programs throughout the state.

PC Announces Tuition Hike

For the first time since 1983, students who enter Pikeville College during the fall semester will pay more to attend classes and live in dormitories.

At their spring meeting, the College's trustees approved a 3.6% increase in tuition and a 6% increase in the cost of a dormitory room. While changing the overall cost of attendance by a total of $170, the increases are offset in many cases by significant raises in scholarship funding; specifically, the creation of two new residential scholarships, and added increments for two top awards—the Presidential and William Wade & Helen Record Walker Scholarships.

The College's 3.6% ($120) tuition adjustment comes during the second consecutive year of significant increases for colleges and universities in both the private and public sectors.

According to information from the Council on Higher Education, average tuition hikes for 1985-86 were 11% for community colleges and 7% for four-year (masters degree granting) institutions. In the private sector, based on statistics from the Council for Independent Kentucky Colleges & Universities (CIKCU), the increase averaged 5.2%. Projections for the 1986-87 academic year show increments of 3.8% for community colleges; 6.3% for four-year public institutions; and 4-5% for independent colleges/universities. Pikeville College's two year 3.6% increase compares favorably with the 13% public and 9-10% private college two year increases.

Costs for the 1986-87 academic year at Pikeville College will be $3420 tuition and fees, $850 room, and $1400 board (for a 7-day meal plan). Part-time students will pay $115 per credit hour, up to twelve hours.

MAN MAY BE CAUSE OF AFRICAN DROUGHT

Conventional wisdom holds that the African drought is caused by the whims of nature, yet International Wildlife magazine reports some climate experts believe that man may be the culprit. By rapidly destroying African rain forests and woodlands, water runoff has increased. This, in turn, reduces the chances for water evaporation which forms the clouds that bring rain.

The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club

"We are an international club and whether we realize it or not, we should be concerned about world events" stated Mrs. Marie Mullins speaking on International Affairs at the recent February meeting of the GFWC/KFWC Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Marcella Bradley, Garrett.

The speaker further pointed out that national defense should be brought to the attention of club women, advising that a number of seminars will be held during 1986. Mrs. Mullins outlined the various programs which the General Federation of Women's Clubs sponsors on an international level, such as Exchange Students, Adopt-A-Child, Save the Children, and Woman-to-Woman International Assistance Program. She also pointed out that club women often play hostess to foreign students in their midst for holidays.

During the business meeting the president, Mrs. Marie Mullins, advised that in spite of the bad weather on Valentine's Day she had been able to collect and deliver the annual cupcakes to the Golden Years Rest Home. The treasurer reported that checks for scholarships had been sent to both Alice Lloyd College and Prestonsburg Community College. Mrs. Mullins also read a letter from the Highlands Regional Medical Center about women's health concerns in the Big Sandy area and advising of their breast screening and diagnosis center. It was also decided to order and sell various items to raise money for club projects.

Mrs. Libby Martin volunteered to appear before the next fiscal court meeting to represent the club concerning the garbage along the highways in the county.

Mrs. Mullins called attention to the upcoming federation meetings, advising dates and locations.

A committee composed of Mrs. Elizabeth Duff, Mrs. Joyce Stevens, and Mrs. Vera Allen will report on nominations for club officers at the next meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. Joyce Stevens, Garrett, with Mrs. Libby Martin in charge of the program. Prior to the program Mrs. Marcella Bradley gave the devotions, and Mrs. Vera Allen read the Club Collect.

Those present were Mrs. Lula Coburn, Mrs. Joyce Stevens, Mrs. Marie Mullins, Mrs. Vera Allen, Mrs. Launice Dunfee, Mrs. Louise West, Mrs. Elizabeth Duff, Mrs. La Faye Hughes, Mrs. Blanche Bamer, Mrs. Loveda Coburn, Mrs. Marcella Bradley, and Mrs. Libby Martin.

Branham Fails In Appeal Bid Of Life Term

A bid to vacate his sentences by Elisha J. Branham, Jr., convicted in the 1981 abduction and slaying of Michael Dwayne Cline, night attendant at an Allen gas station, has failed in the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Branham, 29, is serving concurrent life sentences for kidnapping and murder and an additional 20-year sentence for robbery. In arguing that they should be thrown out, he claimed the sentences fixed by Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley were too severe, that he was under the influence of drugs when he entered a guilty plea in March, 1982, and that his attorney was incompetent. The three-judge appeals panel held the argument to be without merit.

Two months after the disappearance of Branham and Cline, who was then 17, from the Texaco gas station at Allen, and two weeks after the discovery of Cline's body in a wooded area beside the Daniel Boone Parkway in Perry county, Branham was arrested in Texas City, Texas.

The three sentences he received as a result of his guilty plea were initially ordered by Judge Conley to be served consecutively. With the help of a "jailhouse lawyer," Branham argued successfully that the life sentences should be concurrent. He then moved unsuccessfully to have all three sentences thrown out.

A first offender, Branham contended that he should not receive a longer sentence than would a persistent felon; he cited a state law under which a life sentence is the most that a persistent felon may be given. The appellate judges said the law he cited does not apply in capital murder cases.

When he entered his guilty plea he was not adequately advised by Public Defender Gary Johnson and, in any event, he was in a drug-induced state as a result of medication he had received from various psychiatric hospitals, Branham said. The appeals court held that he had received adequate counsel and that, when he entered his plea, "it appears that he was alert, aware, and knew what he was doing."

Branham also alleged his constitutional rights were violated when, on his return from Texas, he was confined at Central State Hospital for psychiatric testing. The appeals court noted that he did not say specifically how his rights were violated and that, in any case, the issue became moot when he entered his guilty plea.

The correction of his sentence—making the two life terms concurrent—did not alter the time Branham must serve before being eligible for parole, which is computed on the basis of a single life sentence. The seven years he must serve before being considered for release will be up in August, 1989.

Named Good Citizen

Miss Lee Ann Bottoms, senior at Prestonsburg High School, has been named recipient of this year's DAR Good Citizen Medal by the John Graham Chapter. Announcement of the award was made by Mrs. Ray Brackett, regent.

As part of an essay requirement, Miss Bottoms wrote, "Just remembering our heritage isn't good enough—we all have the responsibility of adding to that heritage. The heritage of the future is going places... the far corners of the galaxy... this won't happen unless we make it happen now, by preserving what we have and making sure it is always preserved, remembered, and loved." The 300-word essay won for Miss Bottoms first place in the Sixth District, the first to be accorded that honor from Prestonsburg. She will be one of six DAR Good Citizens to be honored at a luncheon, Thursday, March 13, at the Marriott Hotel in Lexington, where the Kentucky State DAR Good Citizen finalist will be announced. This finalist will compete with other state finalists for honors at the Continental Congress to be held in April at Constitution Hall, Washington, D.C. Other guests at the luncheon will be her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bottoms, and grandmothers, Mrs. Ortha Meece and Mrs. Jo Huddlestone.

Miss Bottoms, valedictorian of the 1986 senior class, has received other honors including Governor's Scholar, Floyd County-All Academic Team, Most Likely to Succeed, Outstanding Senior, Citizenship, Algebra II, Biology, Latin, and Perfect Attendance Medals. She serves as captain of the high school academic team, is a member of the Beta Club, committee chairman on the National Honor Society, yearbook staff member, sings in the high school honor choir, served on the junior-senior prom committee, and works as a volunteer usher for the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre. She has, also, been named to the Society of Distinguished American High School Students, and Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Rossi Gold Joins Hall of Champions

The Kentucky Horse Park has welcomed another champion racehorse to its exclusive Hall of Champions stables.

He is Rossi Gold, a 10-year-old thoroughbred who won nearly $800,000 in his distinguished career. The bay gelding was bred and raced by Spendthrift Farm of Lexington. During a seven-season career that ended in 1984, he chalked up 16 wins and 13 second- or third-place finishes in 42 starts.

Rossi Gold enjoyed his greatest racing moments at Arlington Park near Chicago, where he won 10 stakes events, including three wins in the $100,000-added Stars and Stripes Handicap. He was trained throughout his career by Raymond Lawrence, Jr.

Rossi Gold joins three other great racehorses at the Hall of Champions, the barn that showcases the park's best-known residents. The thoroughbred racing world's top stakes winner, John Henry, and another thoroughbred stand-out, Forego, are stabled there, along with harness racing great Rambling Willie.

Horse Park Executive Director Lee Cholak thanked Spendthrift's board chairman, Leslie Combs II, for permitting Rossi Gold to retire to the Horse Park.

"We rely heavily on the support and generosity of the horse industry," Cholak said. "Spendthrift is to be commended for giving the Horse Park yet another great attraction."

The Horse Park is an agency of the Kentucky Tourism Cabinet.

Barry K. Howell Award To Be Made at Tourney

Saturday night at the 58th District tournament at Allen Central High School, WMDJ Radio will announce its 1986 Floyd County High School basketball players of the year. This year the honor will be known as the Barry K. Howell Award, in memory of the area civic leader who died on January 13, his birthday, in a car accident.

Howell, sales representative for Brown's Food Service in Louisa, was an active member of the Community United Methodist Church. He was a member of the church's administrative board and was Sunday school superintendent. He also referred high school basketball and Little League baseball games in the Prestonsburg area in addition to playing softball.

PHS To Play In Governor's Bowl

Prestonsburg and Woodford County high schools have been named the participants for the first annual Governor's Bowl football game, which will inaugurate the 1986 football season.

The city of Frankfort is celebrating its bicentennial this year and, as a part of a football kick-off weekend, the Governor's Bowl has been scheduled for Saturday, August 30. The game will be played at the Alumni Field, Kentucky State University.

The game at 7:30 p.m. will be the culmination of a weekend of activity. Two local high schools start the festivities when Western Hills hosts Franklin County to begin the football season. A 5-K run on Saturday morning will be followed by cheerleading competition and band competition the rest of the day.

The Woodford County Yellow Jackets, a traditional 3-A contender, will be the host team since it is the home county of Governor Martha Layne Collins. Prestonsburg is coming off a 12-2 season and they are the defending Fourth Region and Second District Champions in Class 2-A, losing to Newport Central Catholic in the semi-finals of the state playoffs.

All four teams have top-rated talent returning. Prestonsburg is led by Seniors Keith Ousley (RB) and Doug Holbrook (OT-DE), while Woodford County is relying on Senior Mike Rader (RB) and Junior Kevin White (RB-LB).

Franklin County's Seniors Chuck Etherington (QB-DB) and Kenny Dearborn (CT-DT) will be facing Western Hills' Junior Pat Seltam (QB-DB) and Senior Mark Barrett (LB-FL).

The Governor's Bowl was first initiated in the late sixties and early seventies, but is resuming after a fifteen year hiatus. This game is one of a year full of events celebrating Frankfort's 200th and Kentucky State University's 100th birthdays.

Individual scoring was as follows: Betsy Layne—Meade, 20; Hall, 14; Mitchell, 6; Stumbo, 5.

EVENING

Movie Nostalgia

By Denise Gorga

In 1952, the classic Western took a turn. "High Noon," which earned Gary Cooper his second Oscar and showcased a greenhorn Grace Kelly in her first starring role, eclipsed the banality of the prototypical gun-toter.

Gary Cooper was not the first star considered for the role of ex-sheriff Will Kane. Initial prospects Montgomery Clift, Marlon Brando and Charlton Heston were scrapped at the insistence of a Salinas lettuce grower, the film's major backer and a fan of Coop.

The film's sparse backdrop and stark setting lend a great deal to the movie's impact. Suspense builds with the ominous clock ticking in the background, the long shadows and a haggard Cooper's terse speech. The abbreviated 85-minute film length, which paralleled the story's time line of 10:40 a.m. to noon, follows the stalwart lawman's moral last stand as he is abandoned by his community in the face of a showdown with outlaw Frank Miller.

Filmgoers could relate to the plight of Cooper's Kane, whose isolation and abandonment mirrored the betrayal and lost idealism of the '50s, a decade marked by Communist scares and Hollywood blacklists.

Question: In what town was outlaw Frank Miller disembarking on the noon train?

Answer: Hadleyville

VIDEO SCENE

ZZ Top lacks its usual verve

By Barton Weiss

The second video from ZZ Top's "Afterburner" album is finally out, and it was not worth the wait.

Somebody must have told the Texas trio to clean up its act. Clean up they did. Unfortunately, the group's humor was lost in the process. "Stages" is about performing on stage (the clip shows plenty of that) and the stages that bands and people go through.

But unless the ZZs bring back the icons from their early clips (like the ZZ Girls, the hot rod and the ZZ key ring) or create some exciting new ones, they will certainly move on to another stage — oblivion.

Psychedelic

The Cult brings back the feeling of the psychedelic '60s. The group's first two conceptual clips, "She Sells Sanctuary" and "Rain," are full of imagery from those days. The Cult also features a drum beat and a look that could be at home in either the '60s or the '80s.

The group's new clip, "Revolution" (not the Beatles song), is a live clip with some conceptual touches, including a psychedelic light show and various '60s symbols.

'60s rehash

Another throwback to the '60s is Neil performing the Traffic song "Hole in My Shoe." This clip is lifted right from the English TV show "Top of the Pops," and to my knowledge that is a first.

Neil, incidentally, plays a character on "The Young Ones," a BBC comedy that is on MTV Sunday nights. He interrupts the song to apologize for selling out and doing covers of '60 songs. But he claims that it's the only way to get attention. Well, it has worked. Now that he has our attention, we'll have to see what else he can do.

Home video front

All the Tears for Fears video clips from the "Songs from the Big Chair" album are included on its home video cassette version. Added benefits are interviews with band members, little bits on the making of the videos, and two unreleased clips. There is also a live version of "Memories Fade," a favorite from Tears for Fears' first album that has never before been visualized.

"Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers Back Up from the Plantation" is almost all live. The one exception is the great concept clip "Don't Come Around Here No More," which was directed by Jeff Stein, who also directed the live portions of this tape.

In "Nervous Night," The Hooters play live in their home town of Philadelphia. Between the songs, there is some footage of the band on the road, as well as little vignettes in which each band member gets a chance to speak. But what they say is so cliché-ridden it's hard to believe that the band members are actually muttering these words.

We're glad you asked!

John C. Hall
Founder
Hall Funeral Home

I UNDERSTAND SOME PEOPLE PRE-PLAN THEIR OWN FUNERALS, WHY DO THEY?

Three important reasons come to mind at once. Pre-planning permits free choice, makes one's wishes known, and does away with any possible disagreement among the bereaved as to what to do and how much to spend.

In effect, one eases the burden placed on the immediate family—in terms of both the proper course of action to follow and the peace of mind in knowing that arrangements have been made in advance.

Because we feel that this question may be of value to many residents in the community we serve, we're glad you asked.

We welcome your questions and comments on this and other subjects—in private or publicly through this column.

Nat'l Nutrition Month

"Good Nutrition—Feel the Difference" is the theme for National Nutrition Month, the 14th annual campaign to improve American eating habits and nutrition awareness. This year's campaign was kicked off March 1 by the American Dietetic Association (ADA), the nation's largest group of nutrition professionals.

Sue Wilkerson, Director of Food Service at Highlands Regional Medical Center, commented, "National Nutrition Month is one of the most massive projects in the country designed to heighten public awareness of the risks of poor eating habits and the benefits of changing those habits."

Of ADA's 50,000 members, more than half are estimated to participate in the promotion, which garners support from the Federal Government, the national association, corporations, and health organizations. Mrs. Wilkerson is planning activities at HRMC to commemorate National Nutrition Month.

The annual event began in the early 70's after surveys showed that many Americans were malnourished. ADA initiated a campaign to educate the public about nutritional benefits and risks. Now in its 14th year, the ADA's message reaches millions through its network of promotional activities.

DRIFT WOMAN'S CLUB NEWS

The GFWC/KFWC Drift Woman's Club met February 6, 1986, at the Drift Woman's Club House with Miss Ruby Akers, president, presiding. The devotion was given by Mrs. Anna Sue Stumbo followed by the Pledge to the Flag. Minutes were read by Mrs. Celia Little, recording secretary.

A report of the February 3 meeting was given and Garry Frazier, principal of McDowell High School, explained the investment program that will aid students graduating from McDowell High and, it is hoped, will prevent dropouts.

Correspondence was read from KFWC president, Mrs. Betty Reilly, announcing the KET Telethon March 3, and a letter from Dr. John Fox explaining the need for funds for President's Reilly's special project, "Hearing Aids." The club donated $10.00. A letter from McDowell High School Close Up sponsor explained the Close Up Trip to Washington, D.C., and $100 was donated. A bicycle will be purchased for St. Jude's Bike-a-Thon to be held in April, and the 1986 18th Drift Woman's Club horse show was discussed.

A report on those attending the E.K.H.S. Association Awards Banquet at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, January 7, where the show manager, Miss Ruby Akers, accepted the EKHS 1985 Horse Show of the year second award for the Drift Woman's Club.

Miss Taunya Shelton, spoke on "Kentuckians for SAFETY"—a statewide coalition of concerned businesses, organizations, and individuals working together to increase public awareness of the importance of using safety belts and child safety seats.

The hostess served refreshments to Mrs. Ceila Little, Mrs. Irene Reitz, Mrs. Mildred Salisbury, Mrs. Lynn Stumbo, Mrs. Beth Ward, Mrs. Anna Sue Stumbo, Mrs. Geraldine Ward, Miss Ruby Akers and Miss Taunya Shelton.

Urges Inspection Of All Baby Food

The Cabinet for Human Resources recently issued a public health advisory urging all Kentuckians to exercise general caution in the use of any type of baby food purchased in glass containers.

The advisory was issued following a fifth report of glass fragments found in glass jars of baby food in Kentucky during the past week. The reports in Letcher, Logan, Jefferson and McCreary counties are being investigated by the state Department for Health Services and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Human Resources Secretary Al Austin said the advisory was issued because of growing public concern over product safety following the reports in Kentucky and several other states.

"The public health advisory does not signal a crisis nor should it be considered as a recommendation against use of baby food in glass jars," Austin said. "With reports of foreign objects in baby food jars continuing to be made and widely reported by the news media, I believe general word of caution is called for. However, I feel a general ban on sales of certain of these products in Kentucky would be an overreaction to the current situation."

The public health advisory amounts to two recommendations: (1) careful examination of any brand of manufactured baby food in glass containers, and (2) retaining and reporting baby food jars believed to have been damaged or tampered with to the local health department.

"Since we now have at least two brand names involved in the reports, it's a good idea for everyone to take a little extra time and examine their baby food jars before use, regardless of the brand," Austin said. "With the possibility of intentional tampering and 'copycat' incidents, anyone finding glass or any other objects in a jar of baby food should not discard it. We ask that they immediately contact local health department officials."

State Health Commissioner Carlos Hernandez, M.D., said a few simple steps should be taken before feeding a child from a glass baby food container.

"First, examine the outside of the jar for cracks, stains or any other unusual external sign. Then, open the jar slowly and listen for any grinding sound that might indicate chipped glass being rubbed between the jar lid and the jar opening. After opening the jar, carefully examine both the inner and the outer lips of the jar opening. Finally, look for signs of any foreign object resting atop the baby food or in the mixture prior to feeding the child," he said.

If a jar is found to have been damaged or possibly tampered with, Hernandez said it should be placed in a plastic bag and taken to the nearest local or district health department. Those officials will hold the jar for state or federal investigators.

The U.S. Department of Energy predicts that our share of total free world oil consumption will decrease by about five percent by 1990.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS
Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble:

- (1) Paresthesias (see above) (2) Headaches (3) Painful joints (4) Numbness in the arms or hands (5) Loss of sleep (6) Stiffness in the neck (7) Pain between the shoulders (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals...call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

SATELLITE FACTS

This week there are hearings being held in Washington, D.C. before the Telecommunications Subcommittee concerning viewing rights of you the American citizen.

There are those who would meter and control flow of information into your home via television and radio. If this happens we, the people, will have lost one of our most cherished freedoms, and if we lose a single freedom surely there will be more to follow. We all need to call or write our congressmen and senators and inform them that we desire that they support HR1769 and HR1840 in the House of Representatives and S1618 in the Senate.

Kentuckians have never in the course of history hidden in a hollow when the call came out to fight for liberty and freedom. These rugged mountain men have always been up front to lead the charge. This battle is no different. The large cable television companies are acting to slow down the growth of home satellite antenna viewing through agreements to effect control of the distribution and sale of home satellite television programming. They are trying to monopolize the market for cable television.

Signup For ASCS Programs Underway

The Floyd County ASCS Office began accepting applications for the 1986 Feed Grain Program and the new Conservation Reserve Program, March 3.

This year's Feed Grain Program carries with it a 20% acreage reduction requirement. In addition to price support loans and deficiency payments, farmers who sign up and comply with the acreage reduction program will be eligible for land diversion payments on an acreage equal to 2½% of their crop acreage bases. Farmers may request 100% of their land diversion payment and 40% of their projected deficiency payments when they sign up.

Payment rate for land diversion is 73¢ per bushel for corn. Participants will be eligible to earn deficiency payments on the acreage planted within the (80%) permitted acreage. Those who plan at least 50% of the permitted acreage to the program crop and plant the remaining permitted acreage to a non-program crop (i.e., grasses, tobacco, etc.) other than soybeans, will be eligible to receive deficiency payments on 92% of the permitted acreage. Estimated per bushel deficiency payment rate for corn is $1.03. Seventy-five percent of the advance deficiency payment will be paid in cash during signup and the remaining 25% will be paid as payment-in-kind by a commodity certificate beginning on April 30, 1986.

A farmer who accepts an advance payment and who later does not comply with program provisions must refund the amount of the advance payment with interest. Contracts signed by participants will be considered binding.

Signup for the 1986 Feed Grain program will end April 11.

March 3 will also be the first day of signup for the new Conservation Reserve Program. Enacted as part of the 1985 Food Security Act, the CRP is intended to protect the nation's natural resources through removing highly erodible land and eroding cropland from production.

Under CRP, a farmer may sign a 10-year contract with USDA under which he agrees to take eligible land out of production and put it into a perennial grass, wildlife planting, windbreak or trees for the period of the contract.

Eligible land is that which has been used for the production of row crops (including set-aside) in 2 of the last 5 years; is in physical condition for continued production and is eroding at three times the tolerance level for the particular soil. The land must be 10 acres or more unless an entire field is offered.

In return, USDA may pay 50% of the cost for establishing the area in permanent cover; provide annual rental payment to the farmer (payment will be based upon a competitive bid submitted by the farmer); and provide technical help through local USDA agencies.

A producer may submit his bid to the local ASCS office during regular office hours beginning March 3 and ending March 14. Submission of a bid does not automatically guarantee acceptance into the Program—a determination as to land eligibility must first be made and all bids will compete with one another for approval. The producer may change his bid at any time during signup, however, once signup is over, the producer will be bound to his contract.

For further details, on these programs, contact the Floyd County ASCS Office at 886-2302.

DRG System Forces Economies on Hospitals, Raises Question About Health-Care Quality

By GWEN HALL, Public Relations.
 Our Lady of the Way Hospital DRG is probably the most-used health care term of the times. It sounds like a disease, but actually it is the United States government's prescription for preventing Medicare's bankruptcy from our rapidly increasing health care costs. DRG stands for the Diagnosis Related Group to which a hospital patient is assigned for present Medicare reimbursement purposes. This reimbursement procedure is radically different from the past.
 Before October, 1983, hospitals were reimbursed by Medicare for the reasonable costs per day of the services given the patient. Under Public Law 98-21, Medicare now pays a predetermined rate based on the patient's diagnosis, not the hospital's costs or services. Therefore, a hospital which overspends the fixed rate is penalized; a hospital which underspends is rewarded.
 The effects of DRGs on our health care system are not yet obvious. Presently this reimbursement plan applies only to Medicare patients. But health professionals expect insurance companies to adopt a fixed reimbursement system and DRGs to eventually apply to physician services as well. The many implications are both positive and negative.

 "Under the old system of cost reimbursement," said J. Alexander McMahon, president of the American Hospital Association, "the incentive was to do more for the patients (regardless of the cost). When a new technology came on the market, the hospital was encouraged to buy it and try it out."
 But that same cost-based system hailed for fostering high quality care has also been criticized for providing incentives to keep patients hospitalized longer than necessary while testing and treating them more than needed. Services not warranted medically might also have been provided and paid for under the old plan.

The DRG plan clearly encourages hospitals to provide more cost-effective patient care through more predictable planning, prudent purchasing of products and services, and better management. The concern is whether the traditional standard of high quality will be compromised in the process.
 For instance, will some patients be discharged prematurely? Will others be deprived of necessary services in order to meet budget demands? Once inefficiencies have been corrected, won't further efforts to save money detract from the quality of care?

DRGs are encouraging—perhaps forcing—hospitals to be run more like businesses. Already 15 percent of all hospitals are owned by large companies and run for profit. These "businesses" may be unwilling to provide services to persons who cannot pay. Thus community and charitable not-for-profit hospitals may receive a disproportionate number of patients who cannot pay for the services they receive while for-profit institutions "skim the cream" of patients whose DRGs bring the highest reimbursements.

The higher reimbursement rates paid for surgical procedures may encourage unnecessary ones. To contain costs hospitals may less readily update equipment and technology.

Cost containment may also reduce staffing or cause over-specialization in large hospitals and over-generalization in small ones. Patient and staff education programs might be reduced. Niceties like valet service, extended menus and luxurious rooms many Americans have come to expect may disappear.

It remains to be seen whether DRGs are the cure for the financial ills of America's health care system. But as taxpayers who pay 40 percent of all hospital bills through Medicare and Medicaid and who may some day need those programs to pay for hospital services for ourselves, we should wait watchfully, vote thoughtfully and choose our hospital carefully.

Whether quality health care remains accessible and affordable for all is largely up to us.

Mountain Manor Joins Rock 'n Roll Jamboree

Nursing home residents at Mountain Manor Nursing Home will be rocking and rolling when they participate in Rock 'N Roll Jamboree, a special fundraising event to benefit the American Heart Association.

The statewide event is led this year by Honorary Chairman A.B. "Happy" Chandler. Chandler said that when the event first began in 1977, the main fundraising activity had nursing home residents rocking in rocking chairs and rolling in wheel chairs for pledges from the community.

Today, Rock 'N Roll Jamboree has expanded to include a number of different activities such as bake sales, celebrity auctions, and the crowning of a Rock 'N Roll King and Queen.

In addition to raising funds for the American Heart Association, Rock 'N Roll Jamboree gives residents a feeling of accomplishment, of contributing to a worthwhile cause," said Chandler. "It also creates an opportunity for enjoyable interaction between staff, residents, and the community."

Turkey Season Nears, Time To Start Scouting

As February draws to a close, the opening day of Kentucky's 1986 wild turkey hunting season is just about six weeks away.

Hunters are reminded that the warm, damp weather we're bound to have in upcoming weeks offers a good opportunity to get out in the woods and scout for sign—droppings, scratchings and other roosting sign—as well as to listen for the booming gobbles of love-sick toms.

In 1986 turkey hunters can look forward to more counties than ever open to hunting, as well as better populations in some areas. In the last few years Kentucky's wild turkey flock has been rapidly expanding because of the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources' stocking and management program and landowner cooperation.

All or part of 33 counties will be open to turkey hunting and with a 29% increase in harvest success during the 1985 season, hunters can expect another good hunt this season.

In 1986, nine new counties will have wild turkey seasons—Adair, Carter, Franklin, Greenup, Henry, Lewis, Nelson, Taylor and Webster. In some cases only portions of the counties are open to hunting so be sure to check the 1986 Kentucky Spring Turkey Hunting Guide for details. The pocket-size brochure, which outlines regulations and season dates as well as the names and locations of businesses which serve as official wild turkey check stations, is available by writing: Kentucky Dept. of Fish & Wildlife Resources, No. 1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, or telephoning (502) 564-4336.

Turkey Program Coordinator George Wright estimates that the statewide turkey population is now approximately 14,000 birds and that turkey numbers are increasing at a steady rate. He cautions, however, that the number of persons hunting wild turkeys in Kentucky is also increasing proportionately. Wright said that he believes hunter success will remain at around 10%, which was the 1985 season ratio.

Wright also said he feels that the new open areas should provide good hunting opportunities, and that hunting across the state will be "fair to good" this spring. As in past years only turkeys with visible beards are legal. All hunters should take extra care to avoid shooting hens if they want Kentucky's flock to continue its rapid growth. "The hens are breeding stock," he said, "if we lose too many our successes will be canceled out very quickly."

Kentucky's "open county" wild turkey season begins April 16 and is either seven or 14 days in length depending on the particular county. Special areas such as Ft. Knox WMA, Ft. Campbell WMA and Land Between the Lakes may have different opening and closing dates so hunters should check the 1986 Kentucky Spring Turkey Hunting Guide before making plans. All wild turkey hunters are also reminded that they are required to purchase a turkey permit ($6.50), and have it in their possession while afield, in addition to a valid Kentucky hunting license. A three-day non-resident license is not valid for turkey hunting; an annual license is required.

"Our heat pump is cleaner and better than a wood, oil or gas furnace."

First of all, the fuel burned by a furnace is expensive, and getting more expensive every year. But the heat pump doesn't burn anything. Rather than generating heat, it pumps the heat that's already in the air. That's why a heat pump saves so much money.

Second, a heat pump is cleaner than a conventional furnace. Because it doesn't burn anything, there's no dirt or soot.

Finally, unlike a furnace, a heat pump becomes an air conditioner in the summer. By reversing itself, a heat pump takes the heat out of the house and keeps the cool air circulating.

Winter and summer, an electric heat pump is a complete comfort system. That's why so many smart homeowners have made the switch from a wood, or oil or gas furnace to an electric heat pump.

Appalshop Given Tribute in Europe

Appalshop, the media arts organization located in Whitesburg, was the subject of a major retrospective tribute at the Rotterdam Film Festival in the Netherlands recently.

Making the 10-day trip for the festival were five members of Appalshop, Mimi Pickering, Marty Newell, Dee Davis, Andy Garrison and Scot Oliver, all of Whitesburg. The trip was sponsored in part by the Kentucky Film Office and the Kentucky Department of the Arts.

The Rotterdam Film Festival, in its 15th year, paid special tribute to the films of Appalshop by programming several films daily throughout the 10-day event. There were also two evening screenings of nearly four hours of films, including a public premiere in which the Appalshop group answered audience questions.

This was the largest celebration of Appalshop's work outside the U.S., and Scot Oliver, in charge of film distribution for Appalshop, noted that the general public and film professionals alike were very interested in Appalshop's work. "Holland, indeed most of Europe, is accustomed to American films that are expensively produced and geared toward a mass audience. In Appalshop films, they heard another American voice from a region largely unknown, or known only by negative stereotypes," he said.

The festival, which the French daily LeMonde called "the greatest small festival in the world," sold over 100,000 tickets this year. The programming is characterized by its variety, with short and full-length films coming from all around the world.

The festival will be important to Appalshop in several ways besides the obvious international exposure, according to Appalshop representatives. The opportunity to participate in the film market led to contacts with European television, major film buyers and other festivals, as well as producers looking for co-production possibilities. Other contacts were made with Dutch film students, social and cultural workers, Belgian coal miners, and filmmakers from around the world. According to Dee Davis, executive producer of Appalshop Films, discussions were initiated which could lead to Appalshop co-productions with other countries, including participation in a film about world-wide coal mining.

Appalshop, founded in 1969, is a media center whose goals are to document and present the history, culture and social issues of the Appalachian mountain and rural America. In addition to Appalshop Films, the center includes Headwaters Television, Roadside Theater, June Appal Recordings, Mountain Photography Workshop and WMMT-FM Radio.

Hospice Seeks Volunteers

Hospice of Big Sandy will be having a volunteer orientation workshop on Thursday, March 13 at 7:00 p.m. at the Floyd County Library. Anyone who is interested in acting as a Hospice volunteer is urged to attend.

Hospice needs individuals with varied interests to serve as volunteers. In addition to professionals with nursing backgrounds, we need "just plain folks" to help with Hospice families. People who will run errands, help around the house, help with the children and sometimes just listen when others need to talk are our greatest need at this time.

There is no pay for this work other than the realization that you have provided a valuable service to people in need. If you are interested in being a volunteer and cannot attend this session, call 886-2721 and we will make other arrangements.

USAA Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Kimberly D. Sawning, has been named a United States National Award winner in English.

Miss Sawning, who attends McDowell High School was nominated for this National Award by Sally Miller, English teacher at the school. Her biography will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

She is the daughter of Ruth Sawning, and her grandparents are Leonard and Ted Hall, of McDowell.

Now you can heat your home with an air conditioner.

The new Heil heat pump not only heats your home efficiently in the winter, it cools your home in the summer.

Basically an air conditioning unit, the heat pump "reverses" its cycle to heat in the winter time. Most importantly, it consumes less electrical power than resistive type electrical heating systems.

The Heil heat pump is the most efficient answer to the majority of heating and cooling needs. For more information, call us today.

Promote Urban Wildlife Garden For Wildlife Is Joint Endeavor

Interest in wildlife among both city and suburban dwellers has escalated into a national fascination during the past decade. According to a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service survey, more than 80 million Americans—one in every three—are wildlife watchers, and enjoy at least one residential activity such as photographing, feeding or maintaining plants for wildlife on a regular basis. And 12.5 million Americans cultivate plants specifically to attract wildlife.

Last year, some 10,000 viewers requested information after Craig Tufts, director of Nongame/Urban Wildlife for the National Wildlife Federation appeared on several segments of "Victory Garden," a half-hour syndicated garden series on PBS.

To meet this increasing demand for contact with urban and suburban wildlife, the National Wildlife Federation and the Planting Council of Bedford, Mass., have jointly developed a "Garden for Wildlife" campaign which was launched today at a news briefing held in New York City.

"The 'Garden for Wildlife' campaign is an educational and attractive way to convey the value of wildlife to everyone," said Dr. Jay D. Hair, executive vice president of the Federation. "People will have the opportunity to appreciate the beauty of animals in their natural environment, and know the value of helping restore a dwindling natural resource. They'll also learn how easy it is to make an attractive garden environment and how gratifying it is to watch birds and other animals make it their home."

The National Wildlife Federation has led and nurtured this rapidly growing trend since the national conservation group originated its Backyard Wildlife Habitat Program in 1973. The nationwide program encourages "backyard naturalists" to plant gardens with vegetation that attracts wildlife by providing food, water, protective cover and nesting areas for birds and other animals.

The Federation helps interested wildlife watchers create their own habitats with a comprehensive Gardening with Wildlife Kit, and gives special certification to those who apply for and meet the criteria for planning and maintaining well-kept habitat areas. About 3,700 individuals and groups have been certified in the program to date.

Interest in planning wildlife habitat is not limited to homeowners. Public, corporate and recreational building projects are responding to this growing trend and many are now incorporating habitat landscape into their facilities. Even land developers are getting into the act.

On a recent trip to Tucson, Arizona, Tufts discovered that land developers and condominium building contractors were using habitat landscaping to help increase property values and attract buyers as well as wildlife.

The Federation's "Gardening With Wildlife Kit," which contains a 64-page book, "Plant An Oasis For Wildlife," sample landscape plans and planning tools, guides to attracting and identifying birds, and a Wildlife Gardener's Journal will be available March 31. For more information, call or write National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036; (703) 790-4000.

The National Wildlife Federation, which celebrated its 50th anniversary February 5, is the nation's largest conservation organization with 4.5 million members and supporters and 51 affiliate organizations nationwide.

To Air New Science Series For Children

"OWL/TV" employs a fresh, novel approach to enhance children's knowledge and enjoyment of science, wildlife, and technology by featuring a host of unusual characters to spark 7-to-11 year-old children's interest in these areas. The 10-part series of half-hour programs begins on KET Sunday, March 23, at 10:30 a.m.

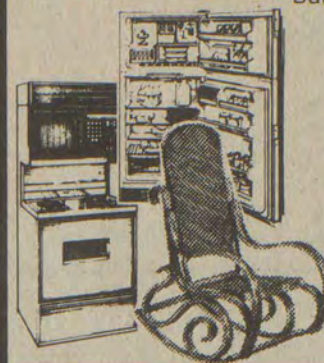

Each episode explores a different facet of nature, science, and the environment combined with fast-paced games and puzzles to challenge the entire family. First, there are the Mighty Mites, nature detectives with magical powers who can shrink at will to help viewers unravel the mysteries of animal behavior in segments that combine real photography with the latest in video technology. There is Dr. Zed who turns everyday objects into safe, easy experiments such as transforming tissue paper into hot air balloons.

A wise-cracking skeleton named Bonapart teaches children about their bodies and to make comparisons between humans and other natural beings. In the "Real Kids," ordinary children are shown working for a better environment. And in "Hoot," the finale to each program, children trade ideas about life today and tomorrow through projects they have created themselves such as a "secret place" clubhouse.

"OWL/TV" is produced by the National Audubon Society and the Young Naturalist Foundation and is presented by WNET/New York.

KFTC Study Shows... Most Coal Mined By Few Firms

Nearly 40 percent of Kentucky's 1984 record coal production was mined by only a handful of corporate energy giants, a recent study by the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition has revealed.

Just 10 companies—less than one percent of the companies which mined coal in 1984—accounted for 39.4 percent of the production, or 67,202,370 tons. Only one of these companies is based in Kentucky.

Another 10 companies produced an additional 18,419,698 tons, giving the top 20 producers control of over 50 percent of the state's mining activity. Stated another way, one percent of the coal companies produced over half the coal with the other 50 percent of production being divided among 1,569 smaller producers.

Kentucky's 1984 coal production was 170,678,291 tons, an all-time record and an increase of 49 million tons over 1983 production totals. But while coal production went up by about 30 percent, coal employment only increased by 8.4 percent.

The KFTC study differs from similar government and industry coal production reports in that it names the parent companies or ultimate owners of the production rather than the individual mining companies. For example, the Department of Mines and Minerals Annual Report lists Lost Mountain Mining 11th on its list, Star Fire Coal as 16th and Mountain Drive Coal as 19th. Each of these plus three other smaller operations are owned by Standard Oil of Indiana—which the Mines and Minerals report makes no mention of—and are thus all listed together under the Standard Oil name in the KFTC report.

Its six subsidiaries puts Standard Oil of Indiana third on the KFTC list behind

Peabody Coal and Transco Energy. Other companies in the top 10 are, in order: Fluor/Royal Dutch Shell, MAPCO, Pyro Energy/Costain, Diamond Shamrock, Sun Company, Arch Mineral and AMCA Resources. These 10 companies operated 46 subsidiaries which mined Kentucky coal in 1984.

There was little shakeup in the rankings of the top producers from the previous year. One of the biggest jumps was made by Reading & Bates (Golden Oak Mining) which moved from 35th in 1983 to 16th in 1984.

Two companies which were in the top 20 in 1983 were not listed for 1984 because they were bought up during the year by other top producers. Transco Energy (McCoy-Elkhorn Coal and Bell Coal), 15th in 1983, purchased Kanab Services (Mountain Clay, Leeco, Ikerd & Bandy, KEM Coal and others) which was 6th in 1983. That purchase made Transco Energy the number two producer for 1984. The other purchase was by the Costain Group, based in England, of MidCon (Wolverine Mining, Royalton Coal, Prater Creek Mining and Chaparral Coal).

Copies of "Who's Mining Kentucky's Coal: The Third Annual Report on Corporate Ownership of Kentucky Coal Production" are available from KFTC, Box 864, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. The cost is $50. The report was compiled by KFTC research consultant Tom Del Savio.
