

Some Cry Foul...

Minerals Tax Bill Is Again Derailed

Some supporters cried foul when a bill to tax unmined minerals—which got a surprising new lease on life after being reported out of a House committee last Monday—was sent back to the committee three days later on a technicality, a move that almost certainly doomed its chances of passage this session.

But House Majority Leader Greg Stumbo, who had expressed serious reservations about the bill, insisted later that the delay was not his doing. And, anticipating the failure of an unmined minerals tax this session, Stumbo filed a resolution Friday that would set up a task force to study the issue and draft a bill for the 1988 legislative session.

House Bill 503, which has generated considerable support and opposition here, would have raised each year an estimated $7.4 million for the state and $19 million for coalfield counties and school districts. Supporters said it would force large out-of-state corporations to help pay the social costs of mining coal; opponents charged it would hurt local coal operators and cost jobs.

The bill was watched closely after it was reported out of the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee by 12 votes to six and went to the Rules Committee for a decision on whether to bring it to a vote by the full House. Stumbo had told supporters of the bill at a meeting here last month that he would not use his influence in the Rules Committee to derail the bill and, especially since time for a floor vote was fast running out, they were anxious to hold him to his pledge.

On Thursday, however, House leaders announced that two members of the Appropriations and Revenue Committee who voted for the bill, Reps. Hoover Dawahare, D-Whitesburg, and Kenny Rapiet, D-Bardonia, failed to sign the committee report as required by house rules. That left HB 503 two votes short of the 12 required to clear the 23-member panel. With less than a week remaining in the legislative session, the bill's chances of passage are thought to be negligible.

John Burgess, of Prestonsburg—who is active in the Floyd chapter of the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition, a group that has spearheaded the drive in three legislative sessions to get a tax on unmined coal—said the failure of two legislators to sign a crucial committee report was so unusual it raised the question of "whether it was unintentional or deliberate."

Sunrise Service To Mark Easter

The traditional Easter sunrise service is scheduled for 7 a.m. Sunday at the Jenny Wiley State Park amphitheatre. The Rev. John Woods, pastor of Fitzpatrick Baptist Church, will bring the message. Music will be provided by the Prestonsburg High School honor choir, under direction of Miss Elizabeth Frazier.

"I find it a little hard to believe that, as long as they've been down there, these representatives would forget to sign it," he said. And, in any event, he added, a vote on the bill should not have been delayed. "Three thousand people worked long and hard for this. They had a committee vote and we won. It's not fair to be denied a floor vote on a technicality, whether it was deliberate or not."

The failure of coal industry lobbyists to accept a tax credit proposed by the KFTC to sweeten HB 503 for coal operators was evidence, Burgess said, that "they never wanted to bargain in good faith." Under the proposal, which was written into the bill's final version,

City Seeks To Remove Cable Group

Consolidated Communications, the off-criticized company that enjoys an exclusive television-cable franchise here, may finally be on the way out.

After adjourning for executive session to discuss what Mayor Ann Latta termed "a matter which could produce litigation," council voted unanimously to direct City Attorney Larry Brown to take the necessary legal action to void the franchise agreement between Prestonsburg and Consolidated Communications. The reason was listed officially as non-payment of franchise fees.

The action was based on the cable company's being three days late in payment of their 1984 franchise fees. The payment was due March 15.

In making the motion, which was seconded by Councilman Frank Adams, Councilman Thomas Tackett said the people of Prestonsburg had been "long-suffering" in their dealings with Consolidated Communications.

Though there have been numerous complaints at past council meetings of poor cable service, Latta declined to comment on the relationship between those troubles and the present move. She made it clear the city's case rested solely on Consolidated Communication's apparent breaking of the agreement by being late with the franchise fee.

Relations between Consolidated Communications and the city have deteriorated rapidly in recent weeks, with the cable company's representatives breaking meeting dates and allegedly not accepting or returning phone calls from city officials.

Norman Allen, Times' Editor For Half-Century, Dead at 83

Pictured in 1954 in the editor's chair he occupied since the late 1920s, Norman Allen holds a copy of The Times announcing the discovery of the Salk vaccine against poliomyelitis. The gray fedora and manual typewriter were to remain his trademarks until an auto accident in February put an end to his distinguished career in journalism.

Norman Allen, editor and publisher of The Floyd County Times for more than 50 years, died Monday morning in a Lexington hospital. He was 83.

Born November 5, 1902 on Salt Lick, near Hueysville, he was the son of the Rev. D.M. Allen and Rebecca Gearheart Allen. After earning a teacher's certificate by correspondence, he was teaching in a one-room school on Right Beaver Creek when he entered the writing competition that led to his long career in journalism.

As a prizewinner in the contest, which was sponsored by the Louisville Courier-Journal, the young teacher was invited to Louisville, where he met Judge Robert Bingham, then owner of the newspaper. Encouraged by Bingham to put to use his talent for writing, Allen studied journalism at the University of Kentucky while working as a reporter for the Lexington Herald.

After a brief stint as a reporter for the Big Sandy News at Louisa, he returned to Prestonsburg in 1927, taking a position with the local newspaper, which he purchased a few years later. His distinctive stamp on the paper was nowhere more evident than in "This Town... That World," a weekly column of wry, homespun wisdom. Its author took care with words, loved nature, and looked on the human parade with a shrewd and compassionate eye.

Mr. Allen was a member of the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church in Prestonsburg, of which he was a former deacon and Sunday school teacher; a member for many years of the board of the Floyd County Library; and a member of Zebulon Lodge, No. 273, F. & A.M.

He died at 7:30 a.m. Monday in Good Samaritan Hospital, where he had been a patient since Feb. 28, when he sustained a broken jaw in an automobile accident. He is survived by his wife, Alka Dingus Allen, of Prestonsburg; five children, Barbara Heinze, of Prestonsburg, Quentin Allen, of Fort Mitchell, David Allen, of Prestonsburg, Sharon Belding, of Lexington, and Paul Neil Allen, of Lexington; a sister, May Turner, of Salt Lick; and seven grandchildren.

The state House of Representatives was adjourned Tuesday in his honor.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow (Thursday) at 11 a.m. at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, with the Revs. Stephen Hopkins and Ira McMillan officiating. Burial will follow in the family cemetery on Salt Lick under direction of Hall Funeral Home. Visiting hours will extend until 10 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) at the funeral home.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to the Oneida Baptist Institute, Oneida, Ky. 40972.

Lower Insurance Rates Likely For Cow Creek

The Cow Creek Volunteer Fire Department got a boost recently, when the Insurance Services Office (ISO) improved their rating from Class 9 to Class 7 in parts of their coverage area.

Though the improved rating only applies to those homes and other structures within 100 feet of a fire hydrant, Fire Chief Jim Caldwell said that includes about 70 percent of the residences in the area his department protects. The new rating came in a remarkably short period, said Caldwell, with the fire department having been in operation only about three years.

The biggest benefit from the new rating, which goes into effect April 1, is not derived by the fire department, said Caldwell, but rather by area residents, who can expect to see a lowering of fire insurance premiums for their homes.

In rating fire departments, Caldwell said the ISO examines three areas: the receiving and handling of fire alarms; the department itself, including the station house, trucks and other equipment, how records are kept, etc.; and the department's water supply. Caldwell said the inspection process itself takes about three months, and preparations for the inspection about eight months.

The Cow Creek fire department got its start through the efforts of the Cow Creek Area Development Club. When that organization formed several years ago, it was with two goals in mind—to get city water to every citizen and to get fire protection. These goals complemented each other: by getting water from Prestonsburg, Cow Creek hydrants could be fed. There are 23 hydrants in Cow Creek's coverage area, many of them purchased through the efforts of the fire department.

Since the area is not designated as a special taxing district, firefighters must raise operational funds privately. Caldwell said he and the other firefighters take pride in being self-sufficient. Though he didn't rule out the possibility of a tax district at some point in the future, he said he hoped it would never be necessary.

The Cow Creek Volunteer Fire Department's boundaries include all of (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Liquor By Drink Seen For County

Liquor by the drink may be available in Floyd county soon if a resolution passed by the Prestonsburg city council to elevate Prestonsburg from a fourth to a third class city is adopted by the state legislature.

The vote came Monday night after H.D. "Buddy" Fitzpatrick, Jr., a partner in the corporation building the new Holiday Inn on U.S. 23 just south of the city limits, told council the motel would be willing to come into the city if council would pass a resolution seeking the higher ranking. In asking for the resolution, Fitzpatrick raised the specter of proposed federal revenue-sharing cuts and reminded council that the Holiday Inn would generate about $12,000 yearly in property and occupational taxes. He said the tax revenue "would go a long way towards solving the city's problem with the shortfall."

The motion to draft the resolution was made by council member Bill Callihan and seconded by Margie Osborne. It passed with little discussion, by a vote of 7-0. (Councilman Harry Ray Porter was absent from the meeting.)

Mayor Ann Latta went on record as being strongly opposed to the move on the grounds that Prestonsburg's population, officially listed at 4,100, falls considerably below the 8,000 needed legally to be designated a third-class city. After the council meeting she directed City Administrator David Evans to see if her authority included veto power over such a measure, and found that it did not. Had she commanded that power, she said, she would have used it.

Evans said he was surprised by the request. "I had no prior knowledge that it would even come up," he said.

In voting for the resolution, council members Osborne and William O. Goebel, III remarked on the economic benefits the Holiday Inn will provide Prestonsburg.

Said Goebel, "I think this is something for the city of Prestonsburg to grow on...I think the Holiday Inn is a great thing for the city and we should support them."

Osborne said she agreed with Goebel, adding, "these are hometown people. They could have gone to Pikeville."

While Latta disagreed with the resolu-

Death Sentence Holds As Bevins Plea Denied

The argument by William "Okie" Bevins that he did not fully understand what he was doing when he let a judge rather than a jury decide the penalty for his killing five men in an Allen truck-parts store five years ago, was rejected last week by the Supreme Court of Kentucky.

Greenup Circuit Judge James D. Atkinson sentenced Bevins to death for the murders of Roger Hatfield, Michael Halbert, Jarvey Hamilton, Rufus Hamilton and Roger Click. Bevins pleaded guilty to the murders after the prosecution's first witness had testified at length about his opening fire with an automatic weapon in the Mountain Auto-Track Parts Store on October 16, 1981, and he waived his right to have a jury consider his sentence.

Victims of the shooting included three customers, the store's co-owner and the husband of a 22-year-old woman with whom Bevins had a seven-year affair. Besides those who died, three were wounded in the affray.

Bevins, 74, is among 26 inmates on death row at the Kentucky State Penitentiary near Eddyville. While the state Supreme Court let his death penalty stand in a ruling handed down Thursday, he has several legal avenues still open to him including an appeal to a federal court, Floyd Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen said. No death penalty has been carried out in Kentucky since 1962 and no execution date has been set for any of the state's death row inmates.

The fact that he chose to give up his right to have a jury pass on the death sentence shows in itself that Bevins did not understand his rights, argued the public defender who now represents him. But the high court held that the chances of a jury sentencing him to death were so high that Bevins might well have thought he stood a better chance by asking the judge to determine the penalty.

"The testimony of the first witness, Ronnie Bryant, was of such a devastating nature as to make it likely that the jury would have recommended death," Justice Charles Leibson wrote for the court.

Moreover, said Leibson, the "sordid circumstances" of Bevins' sexual relationship with the wife of one of the victims, which the defense would have to have brought out to show he was emotionally disturbed at the time of the shootings, "were such that a jury trial would have probably been a poor choice."

(Bevins claimed that he had been regularly paying Katie Sue Click and her husband for her sexual favors and that the shooting spree was set off by their unexpectedly increasing the price.)

Paul Isaacs, head of the state Department of Public Advocacy, argued further that Judge Atkinson made several errors in sentencing Bevins to the electric chair—by taking into account the fact that any lesser sentence could have resulted in parole; by bringing up an old

Training Session Set For Foster Parents

The Kentucky Department for Social Services announced recently a series of one-day educational sessions developed as part of the agency's drive to provide mandatory annual training for foster parents. For those in this area, the training session will be held at May Lodge on July 12.

Commissioner Anna Grace Day said the instruction is designed to more directly involve the foster parent in the team of professionals working with each of Kentucky's more than 2,500 foster children.

"Each foster child has frequent contact with one or more professional social workers, but the people spending the quality time with these children are the foster parents themselves," she said. "It's critical that our foster fathers and mothers have the advantage of as much practical teaching as we can provide to go along with their own care for the child."

More than 1,000 foster parents will receive instruction from a variety of lecturers during the 10 conferences scheduled between April 5 and July 26. The training will be conducted in Covington, Elizabethtown, Gilbertsville, Lexington, London, Louisville, Lucas, Olive Hill, Owensboro and Prestonsburg.

Mandatory training for foster parents was called for and funded by the 1985 special session of the Kentucky General Assembly. After the 10 regional conferences are completed, continuing education for foster parents will be directed year-round by the department's staff on a local basis.

According to Day, an important part of the day-long training sessions will be speakers with specific expertise outside normal foster care channels.

Lecturers will include county attorneys, staff from the community mental health centers, social workers with the school systems and other staff from this department who work with families," she said. "We want our foster parents to have the tools of the trade in working with children, especially with children who have emotional or behavioral problems."

Speakers and topics will vary between training sites depending on the subject matter requested by foster parents surveyed in each region. General instructional choices include preparation for older foster children to live independently, dealing with behavioral problems, specific needs of a sexually-abused child and effective communications with foster children.

In 1985 the Department for Social Services began a program of mandatory training in the basics of foster parenting in all newly-recruited foster homes before the placement of children in that home. The latest action by the department will require every Kentucky foster parent to have at least six hours of continuing education in some aspect of foster care annually.

Day said, "This training must go beyond the simple rules and regulations of our contract with our foster parents. They've got to be able to use what they learn from us. All the training in the world won't help when the police call at 3 a.m., the child is in trouble and the parents—foster parents, adoptive parents or even natural parents—can't deal with the situation by putting into use what they have learned ahead of time."

Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Clyde Dwayne Salyer has been named a United States National Award winner in Biology and Art. He was nominated for these awards by Joan Caldwell, biology teacher and Johnny Stumbo, art teacher.

Other awards received by Mr. Salyer are National Science Merit award, teacher, Joan Caldwell; National English merit award, teacher, Sally Miller; Academic All-American-At-Large and the National Leadership Merit award.

A freshman at McDowell High School, he is the son of Charles and Wanda Salyer, of Martin and the grandson of Mrs. Gladys Castle, of Price, and Clyde and Betty Salyer, of Banner.

Webb Exhibits Drawings

David Webb, self-taught artist, is currently exhibiting his work—mostly pencil sketches on Western themes—in the Floyd county library. "There is something about cowboys and their rugged and rough ways that I try to capture on paper," Webb said. "I hope everyone who sees my work will get pleasure from it."

Reed Completes Basic

Army Private Roger H. Reed, son of Betty A. Reed, of Hueysville, Ky., has completed basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

He is a 1983 graduate of Allen Central High School.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application

Number 836-0106 Amendment No. 1 In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Long Fork Coal Corporation, Box 310, West Prestonsburg, Ky. 41668 (606) 886-1418 has filed an application for an amendment to a surface and underground coal mining operation. The original permit was 157.0 acres. This amendment adds 47.10 acres of surface mining and 21.0 acres of auger and underground mining, for a new total permitted area of 225.10 acres. The proposed operation is located 1.0 mile north-west of Galveston in Floyd county.

The proposed operation is approximately .25 mile north of KY 979's junction with Red Morg Branch Road, and located .25 mile east of Mud Creek. The latitude is 37° 26' 06". The longitude is 82° 38' 17".

The surface area is owned by Levi Tackett, Holly Conley, et al., Emmit Howell, Della Hamilton Heirs, Chester Blankenship, Mona Hall, Ralph Moore and G.B. Spears. The operation will also underlie land owned by Levi Tackett, Holly Conley, et al., Emmit Howell, Della Hamilton Heirs, Ralph Moore, Chester Blankenship, Mona Hall and G.B. Spears. The proposed operation is located on the McDowell USGS 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The operation will use the contour stripping, augering and deep mining methods of mining.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Written comments, objections or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. 3-26-31.

Gov. Defends Ky. Clean Air Record

Governor Martha Layne Collins said she fully endorses combatting acid rain with clean coal burning technology as proposed by President Reagan.

"New technology is the most promising avenue for cleaning up our air in an affordable manner that does not burden people with lost jobs and higher electric bills," the Governor said.

The Governor noted that the atmospheric fluidized bed combustion plant near Paducah puts Kentucky in the forefront of clean coal burning technology. A smaller plant at the site has already proven successful. On September 13, 1985, ground was broken for a full-sized plant that will demonstrate the feasibility of using the technology to generate electricity commercially.

The Governor said she views the atmospheric fluidized bed combustion technology as typical of the approach the President is suggesting, and consistent with what she had advocated.

"Such an approach will save coal mining jobs here Kentucky as well as clean up America's air more efficiently and at less cost than older technologies," Governor Collins said. "It would be folly to invest billions of public and private dollars in the inefficient technologies of the past."

Given the state of knowledge today, she said, stressing old technologies to clean the air would be akin to Thomas Edison working to develop longer-burning candles rather than the light bulb.

The Governor said her current budget supports construction of the plant at Shawnee near Paducah. The plant is being built in partnership with the TVA and a number of utilities.

The Governor said Kentucky has made dramatic progress in cleaning up its air, cutting sulfur dioxide emissions by 54 percent since 1976 and by 40 percent since 1980. "No other state can begin to match our record," she said.

"I've said all along that acid rain is an environmental problem and that coal burning utilities contribute to it," she said. "I've also made clear that energy policy must be consistent with America's need for cleaner air. Under a program based on new technology, we'll be cleaning the nation's air and improving the economic prospects for many of our coal miners and our coal-mining communities."

The development of many synthetic drugs—including aspirin, cortisone and oral contraceptives—depended on chemicals derived from wild plants and animals. Aspirin, for example, was first isolated from willow bark in Europe.

From the time of Jesus Christ, men and women of the Catholic health care ministry have been caring for all people according to His values.

Successors of that ministry include the staff of Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin.

Since 1947, we've continued Christ's ministry by offering faith, hope, and healing to each of our patients, no matter what their personalities, heritages or circumstances.

Our cross-section of professional skills, talents and personalities enable us to offer primary and preventive health care which includes prayer, counseling, and social services. Beyond death, bereaved families receive both immediate and extended pastoral and spiritual support when needed or requested.

These services flow from our mission to heal as Christ did. His death on the Cross testified to the values of faith, love, compassion, commitment and hope which His life proclaimed. Christ's Resurrection gives meaning and hope to suffering by reminding us of the life even death can not end.

We believe new life is God-given promise and wholeness is something to which each of us is called. We're the Catholic health care ministry and...

Coping With Dying, Focus of Workshop

"Understanding, Counseling, and Coping with Dying Patients" will be the topic for five regional workshops sponsored by Morehead State University's Department of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences.

The workshop will be presented as follows:

—April 2, Paul B. Hall Medical Center, Paintsville.

—April 3, Appalachian Regional Hospital, Hazard.

—April 4, Breathitt County Library, Jackson.

—May 1, Highland Regional Hospital, Prestonsburg.

—May 2, Methodist Hospital of Kentucky, Pikeville.

The workshop will explore current perspectives on death, death's impersonal aspects, techniques for counseling patients and their families, the nurse/patient relationship and the effect the care-giver's attitudes on death may have for the patient.

Each session will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m., followed by classes from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

The faculty will include Dr. William J. Weikel, MSU professor of education and American Mental Health Counselors Association's Counselor/Educator of the Year (May sessions only); Dr. Daniel S. Thomas, MSU professor of education (April sessions only); Ellie Reser, registered nurse and associate chaplain at St. Claire Medical Center; Geri Hall, regional coordinator of the McDowell Cancer Network, and Pauline Ramey, MSU's coordinator of continuing education for nursing and allied health sciences.

The series of workshops is partially funded by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services through the Public Health Services. Participants will earn MSU-approved continuing education units and six contact hours approved by the Kentucky Nursing Board.

There is a $10 registration fee. Additional information or registration forms may be obtained by calling Ramey at (606) 783-2635.

murder conviction; and by failing to give sufficient weight to Bevins' advanced age and poor health or to the fact that was extremely disturbed.

The high court held that, while it is improper to consider parole eligibility in initially deciding on a sentence—the sentencing phase normally handled by a jury—it may properly be considered in determining whether the sentence should be lowered—a responsibility that normally falls to a judge. By Bevins' waiving his right to have a jury pass on the sentence, the trial judge had to take on both phases of sentencing, the Supreme Court pointed out.

Despite the fact that Bevins' earlier murder conviction dates back more than 50 years—he served eight years of a life sentence following his conviction in 1980—this is not reason that it should not be considered as one of several aggravating factors in deciding whether the death penalty is appropriate in the present case, the Supreme Court said. "We cannot and do not say that the fact that many years earlier a defendant has committed a previous capital murder counts for nothing," the judges held.

Although Bevins was 70 and had some health problems when he was tried, "he appeared to be neither enfeebled nor debilitated in such a way that would make the death penalty shocking or grotesque," the high court said.

In response to the defense argument that the death penalty is inappropriate for a crime committed "under extreme emotional disturbance," the Supreme Court judges noted that there was evidence to indicate that Bevins "had been contemplating, planning and preparing to shoot Roger Click for some time" and that he shot the other four victims to eliminate the witnesses.

Earlier in Monday's meeting, County Attorney David Barber, acting as spokesman for a group of residents of the Middle Creek-Rough and Tough area, gave council a petition signed by a number of people in that section requesting council to void the agreement with Consolidated Communications.

After hearing Barber's complaints, and those of Middle Creek resident John Dotson, who claimed Consolidated Communications had illegally run a cable across his property, Latta said she had last met with representatives of the cable company Jan. 8, and that they had since cancelled two scheduled meetings. "The last time I talked to Consolidated Communications, they didn't want to waste a whole day coming to Prestonsburg," she said. The company's corporate offices are located in Pt. Pleasant, W. Va.

Though the city's problems with Consolidated Communications and Cable-entertainment, the company from which they purchased the cable system here, are long-standing, it appeared a solution was possibly at hand last November. The company at that time made a proposal to then-Mayor Harold Cooley and members of the previous council to upgrade the system and provide a potential for greater variety of channels, in exchange for city permission to impose a rate increase.

The outgoing administration declined to act on the proposal, deferring instead to the incoming group. The new mayor and council have apparently been less than charmed by Consolidated's offer, even though the cable company promised not to impose another rate increase for two years if the city agreed to the proposal.

When informed Tuesday of the council's action, Consolidated Communications' Regional Manager Marty Crawford expressed surprise. He said he felt it was unreasonable to make such a move after only three days.

Crawford said he had planned to hand-deliver the franchise fee to Latta at their last meeting and instead sent it by courier. He said he had cancelled that meeting because he was not prepared to discuss the franchise changes which the city has been pursuing.

"There's nothing wrong with that franchise," said Crawford. "It's legitimate. The city agreed that it was when we bought it. If I were to agree to change that franchise, I could get sued by my stockholders."

Crawford said the cable company had made Prestonsburg a reasonable offer at the November meeting, and said Monday's decision notwithstanding, Consolidated Communications still plans to upgrade the system here, "and the sooner the better."

"I want to come down there and rebuild the system," he said. "The people of Prestonsburg deserve it."

Ten Years Ago

(March 24, 1976)

An all-night negotiation session between representatives of Highlands Regional Medical Center and the National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees, AFL-CIO, ended at 4:30 a.m. Monday in a contract agreement, averting what at one time appeared to be a certain strike. Larry Dean Newman, 19-year-old Bevinville youth, was one of two persons killed last Thursday night in the head-on collision of his auto with a Lawrence county car, the driver of which, Floyd Endicott, of Louisa Route 5, also was killed. The Floyd fiscal court adopted a resolution Monday indicating its willingness to participate in a 21-county program covering three mountain Area Development Districts and intended to provide a transportation system for rural residents, including the transport of the sick to hospitals in larger centers. Sunday at 1 p.m. over 1,500 people gathered at Betsy Layne to congratulate the Bobcat basketball team and wish them good luck in the state tournament. Their game tonight (Wednesday) with Fourth Region champion Edmonson County will mark the first time since 1931 that Betsy Layne has participated in the boys' State High School Basketball Tournament. At both the Prestonsburg and Almar Drive-In theatres this Friday-Sunday: "The Giant Spider Invasion" and "Bug". Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Burchett, a daughter, Jennifer Clark, February 18 at Highlands Regional Medical Center; to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Preston Burchett, of Sugar Loaf, a son, Hubbard Bradley, January 21 at Highlands Regional Medical Center; to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Banks, of Allen, a daughter, Valerie Joy, March 9 at King's Daughters' Hospital, Ashland. Married: Miss Lorie Ellen Gardner, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Randy Steven Click, of Allen, November 29 at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, Prestonsburg. There died: Mrs. Cleona Sammons, 60, of Wayland, at her home March 16; Jeff Nelson, Jr., 52, of Prestonsburg, last Tuesday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; Miss Alafair Flanery, 77, of Martin, Saturday at the Mountain Manor Nursing Home here; Melvin Osborne, 67, of New London, O., formerly of this county, Thursday at Fisher-Titus Hospital, Norfolk; Lawrence Hall, 84, of Milan Mich., formerly of Kite, Monday at the Saline Community Hospital; Mrs. Susie Triplett Chaffins Ward, 92, March 15 at her home at Lackey; Quentin Adkins, 50, of Galveston, March 18 at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital.

Twenty Years Ago

(March 24, 1966)

Petitions have been in circulation for weeks now as the required number of signators to demand a local option election in this county is being sought. The new Presbyterian Church on U.S. 23 north here will be used for worship Sunday for the first time. A new sanitary landfill has been established near Minnie to provide garbage disposal for a sizeable area on Left Beaver Creek, it was announced this week. Mrs. Nancy Frazier Hicks, 63, wife of Alka Hicks, Hippo merchant, was killed Friday evening when the pickup truck in which Mr. and Mrs. Hicks were driving collided with a produce truck on the David road. Unseasonably dry weather and seasonal winds have conspired to turn these early spring days into a time of destructive forest fires, the Division of Forestry office at Lancer said this week. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelly May, a son, Robert Keith, March 16 at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital. There died: Ray Dings, 63, of Stanville, Saturday at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville; Mrs. Cora Dean, 93, Monday at the home of a daughter at Wheelwright; Sill Brown, 58, of Price, Monday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; Mrs. Dorsie Davis, 56, formerly of Floyd county, March 15 at Battle Creek, Michigan.

Thirty Years Ago

(March 22, 1956)

The advent of spring and drier weather was accompanied this week and last by a rising incidence of forest fires. Forest Warden Roe Turner noted Wednesday. Scheduled to arrive in this county today (Thursday) are nine Spanish mine managers who are visiting mines of six states. The first extensive planting of forest trees in this county with emphasis on beautification of the land was completed this week by the Richmond estate. Staking of rights-of-way for the extensions of the Harold Telephone Company in the area proposed to be served by it was going ahead this week on Big Mud Creek, Paul Gearheart, president, said. The Big Sandy valley's only main highway was closed this week and may remain so a fortnight as U.S. 23 just outside Paintsville is threatened by a mountainous rockslide. Suspicion of arson rose this week after fire early last Saturday night destroyed the third West Prestonsburg residence to go up in flames within a month. Married: Miss Maudie Watkins and Mr. Charlie Salyers, March 7 at the home of Mr. Salyers' brother, Jay Salyers; Miss Eula Mae Nelson, of Banner, and Mr. Dalton Ray Conley, of Garrett, March 18 at the home of the bride's parents. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. David Olinger, Dayton, O., a son, March 5 at Dayton. There died: William C. Parsley, 50, formerly of Prestonsburg, Tuesday at his home at Fairmont, W. Va.; David Goble, 77, of Prestonsburg, Monday at Kenton, Ohio; Hop Cox, 60, last Thursday at his home at Garrett; William Thomas Goble, 74, of Dwaile, last Thursday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin.

Forty Years Ago

The Ryan Construction Company has been awarded the contract for construction of the dam at Dewey, Johns Creek, with work scheduled to start within 10 days. Forty-five thousand dollars worth of the $65,000 Prestonsburg School Improvement and Refunding bond issue voted recently by the Prestonsburg City Council were purchased Monday evening by Ralph Leete Gardner, of Salyersville. The taxi bandit career of three men operating in this section and in West Virginia came to an end with their arrest Tuesday morning and their later waiver here of extradition to West Virginia to face armed robbery charges. A long-delayed army press release notified The Times this week that a Prestonsburg man, Pfc. Ray Howard had been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in action during the battle of Germany. Mrs. Margaret McGuire Demarino, 29, Wayland native, was shot to death at her home in Baltimore, Maryland, Tuesday. Married: Miss Alma Alene Kelley, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Joseph H. Brenan, of Stockland, California, February 25; Miss Myrtle Irene Stanley, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Orville Ousley, of Martin, March 7 at Prestonsburg; Mrs. Irene Suiter and Mr. G. F. (Buddie) Wyrick, both of Bluefield, West Virginia, March 19 at Prestonsburg. There died: Mrs. Hattie Manns, 44, at home at Wayland, Sunday; Dave Gibson, 64, at his home at Wayland, Sunday; William Tackett, 47, of Ligon, last Wednesday; Mrs. Susan Jarrell Lafferty, 94, at her home at Dwaile, Sunday; Millard Fillmore Hall, 49, of Weeksbury, Sunday night at the Beaver Valley Hospital, Martin.

Fifty Years Ago

(March 20, 1936)

Roland David, 28 years old, of Mare Creek, was killed Thursday morning when struck by a coal "shifter" on the railway tracks at Tram. The Big Sandy Coal and Coke Company, through its agent, J. R. Hurt, Monday sold to H. B. Patrick four tracts of land near the mouth of Abbott Creek, thereby transferring ownership of the land on which the Abbott Heights golf course is located. A "gusher" oil well was drilled in Wednesday night on the Clarinda Boyd farm, Prater Creek, by the Virginia Oil and Gas Company. Ernie Slusher, 21, is in the Beaver Valley Hospital, Martin, suffering from a shotgun wound, sustained Friday night on Salt Lick Creek. Two new stores are in prospect for Prestonsburg: the J. G. Anderson Dept. Store, of Pikeville, Tuesday began moving stock into the Hotel Elizabeth building, and this week a Mr. Scott, of Greenville, Tenn. leased the first floor of the Odd Fellows' building for a clothing store. The Inez Indians, dirt-court wonders, won the regional tournament here, Saturday night. Ten to fourteen inches of snow fell here Tuesday night. There died: William "Uncle Bill" Easterling, 79, of Wayland, Friday; A. L. Allen, 74, at home on Middle Creek, Sunday; Jim Layne, 45, of Hueysville, at the Beaver Valley Hospital, Tuesday night; Mrs. Freeman, 30, of Weeksbury, and baby, shortly after childbirth, Friday at the Beaver Valley Hospital; Mrs. Guy Adkins, of Prestonsburg, Friday; Miss Alma Waddle, 18, at home at Cliff, Sunday; Norman Pinson, of Betsy Layne, March 10.

if landholding companies that lease their mineral rights require them to pay property taxes, coal operators could get a $1 credit on the coal severance tax for every $1 paid in state or local property taxes.

"The only reason I can see (for industry representatives' failure to go along with the tax offset)," said Burgess, "is that they are lobbying for the multi-billion-dollar corporations that live out of state and own most of our wealth."

The message that many of his legislative colleagues got from the debate, said Stumbo, was that a bill first presented to them as unproblematic began to look more complex with the passage of time. And while he did nothing to hold up the bill—he had already recommended it for a floor vote Thursday, he said, when Rules Committee staffers noticed the two missing signatures—the floor leader did not pretend to be disappointed by the delay.

Under a resolution Stumbo filed Friday, a task force would be established to look into the whole question of financing public services in the coalfields. The panel, which would include coal industry and KFTC representatives as well as legislators, would study such measures as the unmined minerals tax, the severance tax offset, a royalty tax, and the present formula for distributing severance tax receipts, with a view to drafting a bill for the next legislative session.

KFTC Chairman Sidney Cornett, of the Perry county community of Dwarf, said his group would continue to press in court for a tax on unmined minerals—a ruling by a Franklin circuit judge, who held the present exemption of coal property unconstitutional, is currently under appeal—and charged that behind-the-scenes maneuvering by lobbyists outweighs voter influence on the legislature. "It makes me wonder, who do the legislators work for—the people or the industry?" he said.

Cornett predicted that industry lobbyists would delay the imposition of an unmined minerals tax until coal reserves are too depleted to make them worth taxing. "By the time they get around to assessing it, there'll be nothing left to assess," he said.

But Stumbo said he is confident that a bill could be passed in 1988 "that everyone can live with." The legislative leader, who questioned the motives of the group at one point in the current debate, last week had praise for KFTC, which he said he would "like to credit because they have made the issue public—not just the issue of unmined minerals, but the issue of how to get more money back to eastern Kentucky to fund needed improvements."

"Everyone agrees more money needs to come back here. The question is, how do we do it? How can we reach a consensus?" Stumbo said, adding, "I say, let's do it like everyone else does, like the tobacco people do. Sit down, look at various proposals, and come up with one we can agree on. Then come back in '88 and make that our sole objective. I think it's possible."

Spencer Pleads Guilty; Bishop Case Continued

In two cases set for trial this Monday in Floyd Circuit Court, a Prestonsburg man pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and an often-postponed reckless homicide case received yet another continuance.

Bill Spencer, indicted for second-degree burglary after allegedly breaking into Payton Gamble's Dixie apartment and stealing $42, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge and received a one-year sentence on the prosecutor's recommendation.

Spencer was given credit for the 160 days he has already served in jail and had the remainder of his term probated.

Trial of Glen Bishop, Jr., 33, of Allen, on a charge of reckless homicide, was continued until April 11, after Public Defender Gary Johnson told the court he was tied up with a trial in Pike county and that, in any event, Bishop could afford to hire a private attorney.

Bishop is accused of running a red light at the intersection of U.S. 23 and KY 1428 at Allen on June 17, 1983, and slamming into a pickup driven by Rocky Meade, of Betsy Layne. Meade, who was 22, died as a result.

Bishop was traveling north on the four-lane highway in a truck laden with asphalt when the collision occurred. According to a police report, Meade's vehicle ended up 97 feet from the point of impact.

Trial of the case was originally set for August 1, 1984, continued to October 15 the same year, and then continued again. The defendant, who is free on bond, has waived his constitutional right to a speedy trial. Scheduled on April 11 is a pre-trial hearing in the case.

NCAA Sponsors Clinics For Junior High Group

The NCAA is sponsoring a new youth program entitled "Youth Education Through Sports," on Saturday, March 29, 1986, in Lexington, Kentucky. The YES Clinics are designed to offer lecture-demonstration and outstanding sports instruction for the junior high age groups. The very first clinic will be held in Lexington at the University of Kentucky. For complete registration and more information, contact Bill Pieratt, director of recreation at the University of Kentucky, area code (606) 257-2898.

Mrs. Calvin Herrick is recovering nicely now at her home on Arnold Avenue, following a recent illness. The Herricks' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Greg Herrick and baby daughter, Sarah, who have been visiting with them and with her parents, Col. and Mrs. Jack Holbrook, of Sierra Vista, Arizona, left recently for Georgia, where he has been employed.

View of a Lifetime...

Comet Is No Spectacle But Link with History

Nobody said it would be spectacular. And it isn't. But, in Floyd county as at other points around the globe, clusters of earthlings are turning out in the predawn darkness these mornings to catch a glimpse of the mysterious celestial visitor before it leaves.

On a spur-of-the-moment decision Saturday afternoon, Gail Brahier, recreation director at Jenny Wiley State Park, posted a notice in the lobby at May Lodge, announcing a viewing of Halley's Comet on Sunday morning. At 4 a.m., 35 people showed up.

Warmed with cocoa and cookies, the comet-seekers headed in a 10-car convoy to a lakeshore spot earlier determined to provide a good vantage point: with the obligatory southeast perspective and an unobstructed view of the low horizon. It was 4:45 a.m.—the third in a succession of clear, chill nights—in the still interregnum between the setting of the full moon and the first glow of sunrise.

Watch for the teapot, someone said, guiding the unfamiliar around the faint outline of Sagittarius. Go up from where the distant mountains intersect with the nearer range, Brahier suggested. Stretch an arm out in front, one fist on top of the other, to measure 20 degrees above the horizon. Who needs the binoculars? Is that it? Who sees it? I see it.

Like everyone said, a faint smudge. Seen easily enough with binoculars, even without them by the sharp-sighted. 40 million miles away, a swirl of gas twice the diameter of Jupiter, and just four miles across its frozen nucleus. About the same size as the state park itself; from Dewey Dam, say, to Lancer. Since it "turned the corner" on its elliptical orbit around the sun last month, Halley's has been on its outbound journey, a trip that will take it 3.2 billion miles out into the far reaches of our solar system, not to return for another 76 years.

None of those who hurried back to the warmth of their cars and beds Sunday morning is likely to be around in 2061. Which is what got Henry Caldwell out of bed in the first place. "It's a once-in-a-lifetime thing," the Covington carpenter explained. "Where will your kids be when it comes around again? Where were your grandparents when it went around last?" It's a choice you make now or never, to join generations of comet-watchers, to play a bit part in one of our world's best-known and longest-running dramas.

The drama's current act is no great display—not like the dazzling fireball that zipped by at a distance of only 14 million miles in 1910, or that caught the imagination of an 11th century embroiderer in Bayeux, or that maybe even guided the magi to Bethlehem.

But—for those trudging out to the backyard with telescopes, as for the knot of spectators by Dewey Lake Sunday—it is not the spectacle that matters but the play itself. The drama that links them with the Chinese observers who, as far as is known, first took note of the comet in 240 B.C. With the Norman soldiers it inspired to rout the English at Hastings. With Edmund Halley himself, who first figured out that the periodic sightings were all of the one heavenly body on repeat visits. With Mark Twain, who was born and died within sight of it.

And, of course, with all the other bit players down through the ages.

Holy Week Services Conclude This Week

Holy Week services continue each day through Friday this week at the First United Methodist Church. Sponsored by the Ministerial Association, the daily programs begin at noon, are followed by a luncheon, and will be completely finished by 1 p.m.

Today (Wednesday), the Rev. Steve Hopkins, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, will speak on "The Humanity of Jesus." Thursday's speaker will be the Rev. James Doughton, pastor of Community United Methodist Church. His topic will be "The Finisher of Our Faith." On Good Friday, the Rev. Timothy Jessen, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will speak on "The Word of Commitment."

The final community service will be held Easter Day at Jenny Wiley State Park, at 7:00 a.m. The service will be held in the Amphitheatre or May Lodge, depending on weather. The Rev. John Woods, Fitzpatrick Baptist Church, will be the speaker and the Prestonsburg High School Honor Choir will sing.

So What If It's Gone Forever!

By JULIE SMITHER

Every so often you hear about an animal or plant that is rare or endangered, a species that is being threatened with extinction, and environmentalists seem to get all shook up about it. How much should we care about these species? What difference does it make if a particular species of plant or animal lives or disappears from the face of the earth? Isn't extinction just a part of the natural order of things? Dinosaurs are extinct, as are mastodons and saber-toothed tigers, so what's the big deal about losing more species?

These extinctions of the past were caused by natural events like changes in climate, and the rate of these extinctions was relatively slow. Man now changes the environment at an extraordinary rate, and when we change our surroundings, the creatures and plants that live there suffer. Where can the fish go when their stream has become polluted? What happens to a wild orchid when its forest habitat has been replaced by a city? Scientists estimate that today man is responsible for the disappearance of at least one species every day, or 400 times the natural rate of extinction. The extinctions are happening faster than new species are evolving. Yes, it's hard to see how the loss of a single species will hurt us, but this planet is losing thousands.

Still, you say, these plants and animals are not that important to us anyway, are they? We think that scientists know about all the plants and animals in the world, but that's not true. We are ignorant of the possible benefits we might gain from species that are currently threatened. What if the Penicillium mold had become extinct a century ago? About 25 percent of American prescription drugs contain substances derived from plants, and yet only a fraction of the species of plants in the world have been analyzed for their medicinal properties. What may appear to be an insignificant kind of plant or animal may be a key to an important new area of knowledge, perhaps a cure for cancer. Wild plants and animals often have characteristics that would be desirable in domestic species. For example, seeds from native prairie plants have been used to create stronger hybrids of domestic wheat. In Asia, new hybrids developed by using a few weedy types of wild rice have been used to boost the value of rice harvests by as much as $1.5 billion a year. One of Kentucky's rarities is Southern Wild Rice. Perhaps it possesses a gene or two that will some day improve the yield or quality of a domestic strain or rice or give it resistance to a disease.

The Kentucky Nature Preserves Commission was created by the Kentucky General Assembly to protect natural areas, many of which shelter rare and endangered species. You may be a part of Kentucky's preservation effort by donating to the Nongame Wildlife/Natural Areas Fund on your state income tax form. Each of earth's species has a role in maintaining the natural order. It is nature itself with all its variety of species that uplifts and sustains us. This is what we are bound to preserve.

Grants To Assist Dislocated Workers

The Kentucky Department of Employment Services Council will receive an $800,000 grant to aid unemployed coal miners in major coal producing counties in eastern and western Kentucky, U.S. Secretary of Labor William E. Brock has announced.

Authorized under Title III of the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA), the funds will be used to provide miners with an extensive range of training and employment services in eight coal miner assistance centers.

Brock also announced that the United Auto Workers (UAW)-Ford National Development and Training Center (NDTC) will receive $600,000 in a jointly funded undertaking with JTPA to assist UAW-Ford workers who have been laid off or are scheduled to be laid off in Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio. A majority of participants are Ohio residents, however, the Governors of Kentucky and Indiana have endorsed the project.

"Helping individuals who lost their jobs due to prevailing economic conditions is a priority of this Administration," Brock said. "Through JTPA, we can provide the necessary resources to help them sharpen their talents and skills to meet the needs of the local job market."

The dislocated worker program aids workers who have been or are about to be laid off due to technological change, foreign competition or plant closings. Training is also provided for workers who are unlikely to return to their previous industry or occupation, with little prospect for local employment or reemployment.

Miss Bottoms Receives Wal-Mart Scholarship

Lee Ann Bottoms has been selected to receive a $1,000 scholarship from the Wal-Mart Store in Prestonsburg.

In making this announcement, Store Manager Carl Sparks said "We are very pleased to award this academic scholarship to such an outstanding student. The judges had a slate of well-qualified students representing several schools to choose from."

Miss Bottoms, a senior at Prestonsburg High School, plans to attend Georgetown College this fall. The scholarship selection is based primarily on academic performance and involvement in the school and community. Miss Bottoms has been active in the National Honor Society, Beta Club, Honor Choir, Yearbook Staff, and Prom Committee. In addition, she has also received the following honors and awards:

Teachers Visit HRMC

On Thursday, March 6, teachers from elementary and secondary schools in Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, and Martin counties attended the Teacher's Information Program at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

The Teacher's Information Program is an ongoing program coordinated by HRMC Administrative Assistant, Susan Martin. Its purpose is to increase public awareness of the Medical Center's resources and to demonstrate how HRMC can be an information source for teachers. The March 6 session was the third held since the beginning of the 1985-'86 school year. The next program is scheduled for late April.

Teachers attending this session represented Allen Elementary, Garrett Elementary and Harold Elementary in Floyd county; John T. Arnett Elementary and Salyer Elementary in Magoffin county; Johnson Central High School and Porter Elementary in Johnson county; and Grassy Elementary and Tomahawk Elementary in Martin county. After dinner, the teachers toured the medical center including cardiac rehabilitation, nuclear medicine, CT scanning, and an operating room.

For more information about the Teacher's Information Program, or for tours of the medical center, call Carol Blevins at 886-8511 or 789-6548.

MIXTURE

By WILMAY

Congratulations to Ray Brackett, new superintendent of Floyd schools. As acting superintendent in trying times, he has demonstrated excellent leadership, judgment, competency, understanding, long-range vision, and determination to progress. When my husband retired and we moved back home it was my privilege to teach special ed. in Martin for the closing semester of 1967, under supervision of Mr. Brackett whom I found to be a man of high integrity, sincerity, knowledge and concern. No organization ever goes ahead of its leader!

Those who failed to see Halley's comet missed a peck of fun. It was a treat to behold if simply because most people see it only once in a lifetime. I recall the one in 1910 but solely due to the fact that adults spoke of it for months. Three carloads of us drove up Salt Lick Monday morning at 4:45 to enjoy the spectacular.

One grieves to read about the fraud perpetrated against the Filipinos, thousands of whom struggle for bare survival. Unfortunately, a love of power is the hallmark of countless government heads throughout the world. More and more this is becoming true practically everywhere, it seems, and often at all levels of government, which should be of, by, and for the people. May the Pacific island nation get every dime, piece of property, and items of all kinds. Nations naturally stand by those friendly to them in these perilous days, but surely during the two decades of Marcos' dictatorial regime, there was some means whereby the U.S. could have detected the corruption going on, and put a stop to same. President Reagan deserves a bouquet for his unique role in the successful transition of government in our former colony. Mrs. Aquino certainly needs prayers and encouragement. Time alone will reveal how successful she is.

In poverty-ridden Haiti "Little Doe" and his wife were no less infatuated with fame and opulence than their Philippine counterparts. It's almost surprising that any nation would admit either family in exile. And it's past time that a regular accounting by Americans accompany our loans or gifts to all countries.

When one reads that tiny Switzerland stays neutral in conflicts, attacked by no one, most citizens know why! There's another side to the story. Something should be done about those nameless bank accounts.

March issue of READER'S DIGEST, page 123, tells about the discovery of radioactivity in tobacco, the horrendous risk smokers face. A majority of them will make no effort to break the dangerous habit even if they read the account.

It's good to note increasing acclaim for academic attainment of Floyd students, various forms of recognition being bestowed on them, thanks to the teachers and schools that publicize awards, dinners, honor rolls, etc. Praise is due star athletes and beauty queens. There is a legitimate place for sports in school, but never at the expense of good grades. Being an honor student will be worth more than looks that eventually fade, or than making the most goals in a game. The entire country can achieve a better balance by devoting more time, energy, recognition, etc., to scholastic achievement than to fun and frills.

Maytownites are not surprised at the success of Susan Compton Newsome, director of The Marching Band of Prestonsburg. She grew up here and stood out in music circles early in life. She was never one to take a position and sit down, choosing new heights for her pupils constantly. Her spirit of enthusiasm is contagious. Chances are that high in her magic formula is an old-fashioned ingredient called hard work. Luck to you, Susan. Maytown salutes you.

Easter Egg Hunt

The Cow Creek Vol. Fire Dept. will hold their 4th annual Easter Egg Hunt, Sat. Mar. 29 at 1 p.m. Prize eggs will be included. The hunt will be on the lawn of firefighters Jim and Judy Curnutte.

History Seen 'Live' In Unique Program

If you happen to see a Civil War soldier walking down a street in your hometown, do not be too alarmed. He is probably a member of the Kentucky Military History Museum staff on his way to make a presentation.

The Kentucky Military History Museum, located in the Old State Arsenal on East Main Street in Frankfort, is the state's principal exhibit of items related to Kentucky's role in American military history. The museum features numerous exhibits of weapons, uniforms, and other objects. It also sponsors several living history programs designed, in effect, to bring the soldiers of past times back to life.

One of the museum's most popular living history programs is the Civil War soldier presentation. During this talk, a museum staff member assumes the character of a soldier of the Union or Confederate army from Kentucky. Dressed in an accurately reproduced uniform, he carries the full equipment

Cmdr. Larry Newsome Receives Commission

Commander Larry D. Newsome, son of Mrs. June Sturgill Newsome, of Harold, and the late Kenneth Newsome, was commissioned a commander, United States Navy, during Change of Command ceremonies held February 21 in Jacksonville, Florida.

Following graduation from Morehead State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in physics, he completed the Aviation Officer Candidate School in Pensacola, Fla., where he was commissioned an Ensign in June, 1969.

After receiving his wings in 1970, he was served at Cam Smith, Honolulu, Hawaii, where he was Communications Watch Officer and aide to the Deputy Chief for Communication, Logistics, Security Assistance and Administration. He was homeported in Barbers Point, Hawaii with VP-6 and during this tour deployed to Okinawa, the Philippines, Thailand, Iran, and Guam, serving as Aircrew Division Officer, Quality Assurance Officer, Flight Officer, Assistant Operations, Operations Officer and Instruction pilot.

Following this, he attended the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, Calif., where he received a Master of Science degree in Aeronautical Engineering in 1978. After two Mediterranean deployments, he was assigned to VP-30 in 1980, and in 1981, Commander Newsome served with VP-16 as Assistant Maintenance Officer and Maintenance Officer during which time his department was awarded the Golden Wrench Award for maintenance excellence. Other awards include the Joint Commendation Medal, Meritorious Unit Commendation, other unit and general awards. In 1984, he was named Executive Officer of Commander Patrol Wing 49.

Commander Newsome is married to the former Darlene Schulz, of Pensacola, Fla., and they reside in Jacksonville with their two daughters, Candy and Kristin.

His mother attended the Change of Command ceremony, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Virginia Sammons, also of Harold.

WILL DEMONSTRATE FRUIT TREE PRUNING

Three fruit tree pruning demonstrations will be held Thursday, March 20, and Friday, March 21, according to Gene Ball, Floyd County Extension Agent for Agriculture. The public is welcome.

Demonstrations will be held Thursday, March 20 at 2 p.m. at home of Wayne Crider, Cow Creek and Friday, March 21 at the Mountain Comprehensive Care Greenhouse at Auxier, beginning at 9:30 a.m. of the soldier of 1862. He discusses his experiences in the conflict and responds in 19th-century style to questions posed by the audience. The program has been very successful in school classrooms and before history-related and civic groups.

On a larger scale is the Civil War living history unit sponsored by the museum. The group, now made up of more than 40 volunteers from across the state, attempts to recreate the 7th Kentucky Volunteer's Infantry Regiment of the U.S. Army in 1862. Unit members equip themselves with reproduction uniforms and apons. They learn to execute the complex drill maneuvers used by Civil War armies and study in detail all aspects of soldiering in that war. Women participate in the unit as laundresses and in other historic roles. The unit attends demonstration encampments and battle reenactments in Kentucky and throughout the eastern part of the nation.

The museum is cooperating with the Kentucky National Guard in yet another living history project. The facility has provided the guard with historical information and training to simulate men of Colonel Richard M. Johnson's regiment of Kentucky Mounted Riflemen in the War of 1812, one of the most successful units ever formed in Kentucky. A color guard dressed in the distinctive uniforms of this regiment will represent the Kentucky guard at ceremonial events.

Groups wishing to schedule appearances by the Civil War soldiers or to obtain information about participating in the Civil War living history unit should call the museum at (502) 564-3265 or write Box H, Frankfort, Ky. 40602-2108.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET
The Betsy Layne United Methodist Women held their regular monthly meeting Thursday night, March 13, at 7:30 at the church.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Willie Caldwell. A business session was held, and up-coming events were planned, including a Derby Day Breakfast, the first Saturday in May.

The meeting was then turned over to Dr. June Brose, program chairman for the evening, who presented the lesson on missions. She closed with prayer.

Refreshments were then served to Glenda Larson, Willie Caldwell, Jonell Robinson, Clara Allen, Kathryn Blackburn, June Brose, Cheryl Meade, Billie Osborne.

FOSTER PORTER INSPECTS THE CHARRED REMAINS of one of the buildings at his Little Rabbit flea market overlooking Ky. 80 at Martin. State Police Det. Danny Stumbo confirmed the Saturday night blaze was probably the result of arson.

Porter said the building was uninsured and estimated his loss at about $5,000. Though he built the flea market about two years ago, he said it was never operational because of the lack of insurance.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. Lula DeRossett Lafferty was honored on her birthday Saturday evening, March 22, with a surprise dinner hosted by her children at May Lodge.

The guest list consisted of her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. Attending were: Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lafferty and daughter, Lisa Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Lafferty, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Lafferty, Mr. and Mrs. Printess L. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Lafferty, Jr., and sons, Thomas II, and Todd Jeffries, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parsons, their daughter and son, Whitney Hunt, and Triston, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford B. Latta, III, Mr. and Mrs. George Preston Archer, V, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Hites and daughters, Brittany and Laurean, Mrs. Stella Lafferty, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bryan Lafferty, and daughter, Marty, all of Prestonsburg; and the Rev. and Mrs. Ronald L. Ball and daughter, Allison Joy, of Atlanta. One grandson and granddaughter-in-law not attending in time for the dinner were Dr. and Mrs. Mark Alton Lafferty, of Columbia, South Carolina.

Following the dinner, decorated birthday cake and other refreshments were served, and the honoree received many attractive and thoughtful gifts, including a pink sprig floral arrangement, flanked by tapers and candles, as a gift from Allen's Florist.

Scholarship Fund Will Honor Allen

The Norman Allen Memorial Scholarship Fund has been established to honor the memory of the late editor of the Floyd County Times. The fund will provide a scholarship for a student to attend Prestonsburg Community College, an institution that has been a special concern of Mr. Allen since its inception. The scholarship may be given to someone interested in studying English or preparing to study journalism at the University of Kentucky's community college here.

Details of the scholarship and how it will be awarded have not been finalized at this time, but those who wish to contribute to the fund may do so by mailing their contributions to Allen Scholarship Fund, First Commonwealth Bank, Attention: Butch Bradley, Box 231, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

Subscription Rates Per Year

In Floyd County, $10.00
Elsewhere in Kentucky, $12.50
Outside Kentucky, $15.00

Please note expiration date opposite your name on wrapper or on your copy of The Times. Because of increased mailing costs, notices of subscription expiration are no longer mailed to subscribers.

Subscriptions may be mailed to:

Berea Alumni Gather For Annual Meeting

The annual dinner-meeting of the Big Sandy Chapter of the Berea College Alumni Association was held at May Lodge, Friday, March 21. The program began with the invocation by the Rev. Tim Jessen, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, here. Harmison Hale, the chapter's president, served as master of ceremonies.

Berea College President John Stephenson and his wife, Jane, were the guest speakers. Alumni were briefed on the changes, innovations, and progress at the college.

Dan Rowland was elected as president, and Miss Jane Ann Kendrick was re-elected as secretary-treasurer, for 1986-87.

Alumni and guests from the Big Sandy area included, from Floyd county, Harmison and Eva Hale, Jane Ann Kendrick, Dan and Marena Rowland, Jane and Robert Wallace, Edna and Delmas Saunders, Wonnell and Garland Godsey, Bud Reynolds, Elsie and Linda Stephens, Thelma Wallen, Joyce Wallen, Beecher Scutchfield, Phyllis and Clark Allison, Elma and Tim Jessen, Kathryn and Chalmer Frazier, Clara and Raymond Bradbury, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Miller, Chris and Jim Conley, and Edith Roberts; from Johnson county, Bob Hager and Mr. and Mrs. David Jones; and from Magoffin county, Jewel and Ollie Arnett.

EASTER SERVICES AT ST. MARTHA CATHOLIC CHURCH

The final schedule for Holy week services at St. Martha Catholic church on the Water Gap-Lancer road, has been announced by Father Ralph W. Beiting, Pastor.

On Holy Thursday of this week Bishop Williams of the Diocese of Covington will be present to celebrate the Last Supper ceremonies with the people of the parish. He would like to meet and welcome as many people from the area as possible. Time of Services 7:30 p.m.

On Good Friday at 2 p.m. an outdoor procession will be held starting from the intersection of 1428 and highway 3 up the Water Gap road to St. Martha church. A large Cross will be carried and frequent stops will be made to recall the events on Christ's Way of the Cross. Ceremonies at the church will begin at 3 p.m. Everyone is welcome to join in both the procession and the church services.

On Holy Saturday the services will begin at 7:30 p.m. and feature baptisms into the Catholic Faith. This is a good time to observe a baptism in the Catholic church.

On Easter Sunday the Resurrection Mass will begin at 11 a.m. There will be the display of the empty tomb and other decorations. The church is beautifully decorated for the day. Special Easter music and a Easter sermon will be part of the celebration.

Following the services there will be an Easter Egg hunt for all the children present that day. Refreshments will also be served for the adults. Everyone is invited to join any or all of these services.

TWO SETS OF QUALITY PRINTS FOR THE LOW PRICE OF ONE!

ABBOTT HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Abbott Homemakers met Tuesday night, March 11, at 7 o'clock at the church annex. The president, Mrs. Sharon Sparr, presided, and Mrs. Ruby Frasure led the devotionals. Mrs. Frances Pitts announced that the Cultural Arts program would be held May 28-30. The Homemakers made a donation to Hospice of Big Sandy in memory of a member, the late Mrs. Oma Spradlin. Mrs. Frances Pitts gave the lesson on "Shadow Quilting," and each of those present made one square.

The hostess, Mrs. Sharon Sparr, served a desert course to Mesdames Frances Pitts, Cynthia Frasure, Ruby Frasure, Exilee Hill, Nancy Howard, Christine Ross, Grace Conley, Ethel Ratliff, Grace Greer, Mary Creed, and a new member, Mrs. Renee Spaulding. Visitors were, John, Ryan, and Jordan Sparr, and Benjamin and Elizabeth Creed.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, April 9, at 7 p.m., with Mesdames Ethel Ratliff and Grace Conley as hostesses.

Allen Elementary Beta Club Report

The Allen Elementary Jr. Beta Club has forty two members this year. Eighteen new members were initiated into the club in November. The officers are: Kevin Spurlock, president; Steven Parsons, vice-president; Michelle Depoy, secretary; and David Garrett, treasurer.

The club has completed several money raising projects which are: fruit and pound cake sales, Easter candy sales and school supplies sales. Some of the proceeds were used for the purchase of two gymnastic mats for the Physical Education department.

The Beta Club also plans to buy paper and toner for the duplicating machine.

For teacher appreciation day each teacher was presented with a corsage/and or boutonniere. Each corsage was a white carnation sprayed with gold with a gold and black ribbon which are the club's colors. The boutonnieres were white carnations sprayed with gold.

Michelle Depoy and Steven Parsons presented the flowers. Carla Hall and Madonna Prater served cake to the faculty.

The Beta Club will have its annual Easter egg hunt for the primary grades on March 27th.

Club sponsors are Phyllis Craft and Glenda Blackburn.

Building Code Board Approved

A new board, to hear appeals from the City building inspector, was authorized by the Prestonsburg City Council this week.

To be known as the Board of Building Code Appeals, the board may uphold, amend or reverse decisions of the building inspector.

As required by Kentucky law, the board will be composed of five technically qualified people with professional experience related to the building industry.

Board members will serve staggered terms and initial appointments are for one, two, three and four years. Subsequent appointments will be for four years.

The following members, and their length of terms, were appointed by Mayor Ann Latta: Tom O. McGuire, building contractor, four years; Joe A. Burchett, Bush & Burchett, Inc., four years; Charles E. Bradley, Bradco Oil, three years; Oscar Ratliff, customer representative, Kentucky Power Co., two years; J.Y. Goble, construction engineer, Highlands Regional Medical Center, one year. All are from Prestonsburg.

The new board will become effective after the ordinance passed by the council has been published twice. After that, anyone wishing to appeal a decision by the local building inspector may contact the city clerk, and the board will convene a hearing within 15 days. The board must make a decision on the appeal within five working days after the hearing.

Any appeal from the board's decision must be to the Kentucky State Board of Housing, Buildings and Construction.

Grocery Distributes Easter Food Baskets

K mart stores across the nation will provide Easter holiday meals for over 21,000 needy families in their communities, K mart Chairman Bernard M. Fauber announced recently.

The week prior to Easter, K mart store employees will be busy preparing food baskets containing a ham, potatoes, vegetables and bread. On Friday, March 28, each of the 2,100 K mart stores will deliver Easter meals to ten needy families from their communities.

Local civic and social service organizations have been contacted by each store to help distribute the food to each community's most needy families.

"The Easter food program is representative of K mart's concern for the 35.3 million persons who live in poverty in our country," Fauber said. "Corporations have the power and resources to reach out to these people during this holiday season. K mart asks other U.S. businesses to reach out and help the communities they live and work in by providing food for the needy," Fauber added.

Last year, K mart stores nationwide provided over 50,000 needy families with food baskets during the Thanksgiving and Christmas season.

Fish and Game Club Acknowledges Help

Dewey Lake Fish and Game Club would like to thank everyone who has been helping on cleaning the bottoms up on Dewey Lake. A lot of work has been done and a lot of work has to be done for food plots for the wildlife. We have been working hard to get this project going. Dewey Lake Fish and Game Club meets the 2nd Monday of every month at 7:30 at the new club house on Stratton Branch. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Pursuant to Application Number 836-5039; Amendment No. 1 In accordance with the provisions of 405 KAR 8:010, Section 11, notice is hereby given that a permit conference is scheduled for April 9, 1986 at 10:00 a.m. at the Prestonsburg Department for Surface Mining Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, concerning the above application filed by Coal Mac, Inc., P.O. Box 3428, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501. The application is for a permit for a surface coal mining and reclamation operation approximately 1.02 miles north of Galveston, Kentucky in Floyd county.

The proposed operation is approximately 3.03 miles southeast of the junction of Branham's Creek Road with State Route 979 of Big Mud Creek. The latitude is 37° 26' 29". The longitude is 82° 37' 45". The surface area is owned by Goldie Clark. The operation will underlie land owned by Goldie Clark, Thurman Newman, Pelmar Keathley, Sterling Hamilton and Tammy Akers. The proposed additional underground acreage will underlie land owned by Elvie and Pearlle Spears, David and Jackie L. Collins, Glenn Jean Allen, Willis Newman and Earnest Newman. The proposed operation is located on the McDowell and Pikeville U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The operation will use the underground method of mining.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Any person whose interests are or may be adversely affected by the issuance of the proposed permit may present information relevant to the permit, in oral or written form, at the time of the conference. Teenage America Forms Available at K Mart

Contenders for the 1987 Miss Teenage America title may obtain entry forms at any U.S. K mart discount department store.

K mart Apparel Corp., a subsidiary of K mart Corporation, is one of the sponsors for the 1987 Miss Teenage America program. Other sponsors include Foster Grant Sunglasses and America's Dairy Farmers/National Dairy Board.

Miss Teenage America is an achievement program to recognize outstanding young women between the ages of 13 and 18, according to TEEN Magazine, which operates the program.

The Miss Teenage America program selects contestants on the basis of scholastic achievement, general awareness, individual accomplishment, community service, poise, personality and appearance.

The young woman who is named Miss Teenage America 1987, will be awarded a $15,000 college scholarship, an entire wardrobe from K mart Apparel and her own monthly column in TEEN Magazine. She will have the opportunity to travel nationally, appear on radio and television programs and on a TEEN Magazine cover.

Entry deadline is June 1, 1986. Candidates must be enrolled in high school through at least 1987, have a "B" or better grade average and have special achievements.

Harold Homemakers Meet

The Harold Homemakers met March 19 at the Free Will Baptist Church. Lillian Sturgill, president, called the meeting to order and introduced guests. Regina Daniels presented the devotions. Sylvia Allen collected dues and made reports.

Club members discussed the plans for a Breast Cancer Center at the Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Northeast Area meeting will be held Oct. 18 at Sandy Hook.

March lesson, "Your Income Tax," was given by Mrs. Ruby Staten, member of the club.

Ruby Conn and Elizabeth Little were hostesses. Ruby Staten and Carma Sturgill will be hostesses for the meeting on April 16.

Bernice Mason, telephone chairman for the club, was given a going away party after the meeting. Mrs. Mason will be moving to Ohio. Mrs. Ruby Staten baked a cake in her honor and the club presented her with a gift. Guests were Eva Roberts, Linda Chafins, and Rose Allen Akers.

An Arbor Day Reflection...

Settlers Saw The Trees But Missed The Forest

Let's be explorers and discover Kentucky as it was 200 years ago... From any mountain top, we can see forests extending to the horizon in all directions, a dark green canopy as far as the eye can see. Within the deep shade of the forest, we walk beneath giant trees reaching a hundred feet into the sky with huge limbs branching out to cross high overhead like the rafters in a great cathedral. Grapevines swing down from high branches, and beneath our feet is a thick layer of humus covered with a carpet of ferns and wildflowers. It is cool here and has the musty smell of decaying leaves and dampness.

To the early settlers, the great forests of Kentucky were not just beautiful—they were a terrible nuisance. They made travel difficult, almost impossible in wagons, and men on horseback spent days and weeks with only glimpses of sunlight, without being able to see what lay ahead, to see a storm approaching. Though plenty of wood was available to build a cabin, there was not enough sunlight to raise crops or even a garden. And worst of all for the settlers, these dark forests hid the terrifying threat of Indians determined to end the white man's westward journey forever.

And so these great forests were cut and burned. Our ancestors would never have believed that man could ever plunder 22 million acres of forest, and destruction was in full swing before anyone realized how precious was this resource being lost. During Kentucky's first hundred years, when the state ranked among the nation's highest in iron production, wood from the forests furnished charcoal for blast furnaces, using almost an acre of trees per ton of iron. With the arrival of the sawmill in 1810, lumbering became one of Kentucky's biggest industries, and until the 1930's, the rivers and creek ran full of logs being rafted downstream to sawmills. In a report written in 1880 for the Bureau of the Census, Kentuckians and Tennesseans were heavily condemned for the destruction of their forests by setting fires.

Although Kentucky's forests today do not parallel the grandeur of the virgin forests, we are fortunate to still have 11 million acres of woodland. The unique forest of the Cumberland Plateau has more different kinds of trees than any other areas of the country. Instead of being dominated by just a few species like most forests, it contains many varieties of oaks, black and white walnuts, pines, tulip poplar, beech, ash, basswoods, birch, hemlock, hickories, chestnut, buckeye, black cherry, sassafras, and others. This special type of forest is known as the mixed mesophytic forest and is the oldest forest community in eastern North America.

We can be proud of Kentucky's great forests. The beauty of Kentucky's forested hillsides has enhanced tourism, which is Kentucky's third-largest industry and the state's second-largest private employer. These forests protect vast communities of plant and animal species, and reduce pollution of streams and reservoirs by keeping the soil from eroding. The deep humus of the forest floor absorbs and holds much of the rainfall, allowing it to soak deep into the soil and eventually reach underground reservoirs where it is held for future use.

In recognition of Kentucky's great natural heritage and the grandeur of its forests, Governor Martha Layne Collins has announced special Arbor Day activities for April 4, 1986 at all forty-one Kentucky state parks and the Kentucky Horse Park. Former Governors, First Ladies, and elected officials, as well as current public officials, will participate in tree planting ceremonies at each park as part of Governor Collins' plan to recognize the importance of trees and forests to Kentucky. Nature took hundreds and even thousands of years to create our forests. Although we have the power to destroy them in minutes, we must protect this most important element of our natural heritage.

MEMBERS OF PRESTONSBURG'S SENIOR CITIZENS CENTER celebrated the beginning of spring last Thursday by burning a paper snowman on the steps in front of their Archer Park meeting place. Though the rite was meant to say goodbye to winter, Mother Nature was unimpressed, as light flurries of snow fell during the ceremony.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., March 28—Unseasonably cold temperatures and wind kept many anglers off the water during the past week although drier weather helped to alleviate the muddy water conditions at some lakes.

Lake levels continue to be higher than normal for this time of the year, and with the forecast of warm weather this week, fishing should improve. White bass and crappie predominated the creel during the March 22-3 period covered by this report. The lake-by-lake rundown, as reported by conservation officers and creel clerks at each lake, follows:

KENTUCKY: Murky, rising slowly, four feet below summer pool, 54 degrees.

BARKLEY: Murky, stable, four feet below summer pool, 53 degrees.

BARREN: Clear to muddy, rising, 14 feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.

NOLIN: Clear to muddy, rising, 14 feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER: Muddy to murky, rising slowly, nine feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.

TAYLORSVILLE: Muddy, falling at summer pool, 48 degrees.

HERRINGTON: Clear to murky, falling slightly, five feet below summer pool, 52 degrees.

GREEN RIVER: Murky to muddy, stable, 11 feet below summer pool, 50 degrees.

CUMBERLAND: Clear to murky, rising slowly, 8 feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW: Clear to murky, stable, four feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.

CAVE RUN: Muddy, falling, eight feet below summer pool, 49 degrees main lake, 51 degrees headwaters.

PAINTSVILLE: Clear to murky, rising slowly, four feet below summer pool, 48 degrees.

BUCKHORN: Murky to muddy, stable, 30 feet below summer pool, 53 degrees.

GRAYSON: Murky, stable, eight feet below summer pool, 45 degrees.

DEWEY: Clear to murky to muddy, stable, five feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.

FISHTRAP: Murky, stable, 30 feet below summer pool, 54 degrees.

At Lake Barkley, light fishing activity for crappie with jigs around brushpiles, stumps and fish attractors in 3-12 feet of water, and for bass on crayfish-colored crankbaits off rip-rap and rocky points.

WEST CENTRAL: At Barren River Lake, white bass were being caught in the headwaters by casting jigs and spinners, and crappie on minnows and jigs fished around stickups and brush piles in the head of the lake.

At Nolin Lake bass were hitting jig and rind combinations. A few walleye were being caught in the headwaters on doll flies.

CENTRAL: At Taylorsville Lake, a few bass were being taken on spinnerbaits, and crappie on minnows.

At Lake Cumberland, smallmouth bass were being caught casting deep running crankbaits, and crappie by drifting minnows over submerged treetops.

At Herrington Lake, white bass were being caught in the headwaters near the Boyle/Garrard county line in the vicinity of the KY-52 bridge by anglers casting spinners and jigs.

At Green River Lake, white bass were being taken by casting jigs in the headwaters, and in the lower lake, crappie on minnows and jigs in the brush and standing timber.

EAST: At Dale Hollow Lake, bass were hitting jig and rind combinations fished over deep banks and points and catfish were being caught on nightcrawler in the heads of tributaries.

At Cave Run Lake, bass were being taken by flipping jig and rind combinations and casting spinnerbaits on a slow retrieve.

At Paintsville Lake, rainbow trout were being caught by trolling shaded crankbaits and spinners.

At Laurel River Lake, rainbows were being taken by trolling shallow running crankbaits, and bass were hitting jigs in the upper lake. Catches of muskie, crappie and white bass were being taken in Buckhorn Lake tailwaters.

At Dewey Lake, bass were being caught on crankbaits and by jigging live nightcrawlers. Also, a few muskie were being taken on large minnows and by casting big crankbaits, with crappie hitting minnows fished over deadfalls in inlet headwaters.

At Fishtrap Lake, crappie were being taken on minnows and jigs over brush in 4-6 feet of water and bluegill on worms off rocky banks.

Ground nesting birds sometimes use good acting to protect their chicks, says Ranger Rick magazine. For example, a female killdeer will lure a predator away from the nest by acting as though it's crippled. After it entices its enemy safely away from the nest, the killdeer simply flies away.

If you see an animal plunge into a lake and come out with a fish, then run into the field and snatch a mouse, you've just spotted a mink. National Wildlife magazine says that birds and insects aren't safe from this semi-aquatic cousin of the otter, either.

People didn't always look forward to the return of Halley's comet. Ranger Rick magazine says that in 1066, English knights blamed the comet for the death of a king and their battlefield loss. New England puritans, in 1682, believed diseases and flocks would arrive with the comet. And, in 1910, people hid in barrels of water for protection from Halley's "harmful rays."

Rocks may not be much of a delicacy to people. But sea lions are frequently seen eating them. Scientists are trying to discover why. International Wildlife magazine reports that rocks may make diving easier, kill stomach parasites, or just take away the sea lion's hunger pangs.

For the first time, The National Earthquake Prediction Evaluation Council has endorsed the prediction of a specific quake. International Wildlife magazine reports that the federal panel agrees with scientists that chances are very good that a moderate quake will strike near Parkfield, California by 1993.

Tips For Viewing Halley's Comet

By CHARLES ROBERTSON,
Professor of Physics,

Prestonsburg Community College
When the skies cleared last weekend, Halley's Comet became visible from eastern Kentucky for those hardy enough to arise about 4 a.m. and brave sub-freezing temperatures. Now that the weather has moderated, perhaps more people will want to see this unusual sight.

Best viewing time this week will probably be between 3:30 and 4:30 a.m.; as time goes on, Halley will gradually rise earlier. Those with good eyesight can probably see it with the unaided eye, but a pair of binoculars would be very helpful. The comet appears as a faint blurry circle, as distinguished from stars, which seem to be pinpoints of light. If you're lucky, perhaps you will get a glimpse of its tail, pointing upward and to the right (away from the sun).

To see Halley, you will need a clear view to the southeast, away from artificial lights. Since Halley is only about 10 degrees above the horizon, you will need a location without mountains or other obstacles to the southeast. Hold your arm out in front of you, make a fist, and raise your thumb straight up. Position the bottom of your fist so that it is on a level with your eyes. The comet should be approximately as high in the sky as your thumb. This will vary some with the exact time and date. If you don't see Halley immediately, please be patient and search methodically. Give your eyes time to become accustomed to the dark. One more hint: Halley is to the left of the constellation Sagittarius, a group of stars forming the outline of a teapot.

Halley's Comet is now approaching the earth and will make its closest pass on April 9. By late April it will fade away and will be visible only through telescopes. It will not reappear for another 76 years, so this is literally the chance of a lifetime!

Brush up on musical history

By Amanda Bruce

Viewers can learn about the history of music on the Arts & Entertainment Network's new series, "The Music of Man," narrated by violinist Yehudi Menuhin.

This week's episode, "The Age of the Composer," airing March 30 and 31, discusses the rising popularity of music during the 18th Century, when composers like Johann Sebastian Bach, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and Franz Joseph Haydn developed into major artists.

Other episodes of this series discuss religious music, popular music and significant inventions, such as the phonograph and the radio. The series, filmed in 13 different countries, was five years in the making.

Also on the Arts & Entertainment Network this week: the reincarnation of "Buffalo Bill." Remember him? He was the abrasive, sexist, self-involved and sarcastic talk show host in Buffalo, N.Y., who was loved by his audiences but inspired mixed feelings from the people around him.

Dabney Coleman starred as the title character of the show, which ran on NBC originally, and Joanna Cassidy, Geena Davis and John Fiedler co-starred. It didn't do very well in the ratings, but the show and its performers drew much praise from the critics.

Now it's getting a second chance to attract viewers.

CABLE NEWS — Welcome to Bela Lugosi month on the USA Network's "Night Flight." On Friday, April 4, "Scared to Death" is the featured attraction. Others scheduled to air throughout April are "The Corpse Vanishes" (April 11); "Bride of the Monster" (April 18); and "White Zombie" (April 25).

College baseball will be featured Monday nights on ESPN. This week, on March 31, it's Seton Hall vs. Arizona. Hockey fans can catch the last playoff games of the season on ESPN. On Sunday, March 30, Boston visits Buffalo. Stanley Cup playoff games begin April 9 and ESPN will cover more than 30 of them.

Elliott Gould, Carol Kane, Rae Dawn Chong, Bill Macy and, yes, Howard Cosell, star in "Casey at the Bat," the newest episode of "Shelley Duvall's Tall Tales & Legends," airing March 30 on Showtime. It's a farcical version of the famous Ernest Thayer Jr. poem, but it preserves the heart of it — a love for baseball.

KILLER IN THE MIRROR

Ann Jillian, in a dual role, stars as identical twins — one good, the other evil — who get trapped in a deadly game of mistaken identity. "Killer in the Mirror" airs MONDAY, MARCH 31 on "NBC Monday Night at the Movies."

Ask Toni

Lou Gossett's series had very little time on the air

By Toni Reinhold

Was Louis Gossett Jr. ever in a TV series? If so, when was it aired and what was it called? — D.J.O., South Bend, Ind.

Louis Gossett Jr.

Gossett had prominent roles in two major miniseries — "Roots" (1977) and "Backstairs at the White House" (1979).

He also appeared in three regular TV series, but none of them ran very long. "The Young Rebels" ran from Sept. 1970 to Jan. 1971, "The Lazarus Syndrome" aired from Sept. 4 to Oct. 9, 1979, and "The Powers of Matthew Star" aired from Sept. 1982 to Sept. 1983.

I saw a TV movie with Glenn Ford that I believe was called "Brotherhood of the Bells." Is this the correct title? Who else appeared in it? — M.C., New Smyrna Beach, Fla.

Glenn Ford made his television debut in this 1970 TV movie. With the exception of one letter, you have the title right. It was called "The Brotherhood of the Bell" (singular), and it also featured Rosemary Forsyth, Dean Jagger, Maurice Evans and William Conrad.

I say Ozzie and Harriet of the television show were Rick Nelson's real parents. My wife says no. Who is correct? — W.K., Lyndonville, N.Y.

You are. Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard, who were the primary characters in the TV series "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet," were the true parents of Rick Nelson, who died in a plane crash on the last day of 1985.

I saw a movie on the Disney Channel in which stars played figures from Mother Goose tales. Annette Funicello, for example, played Mary Quite Contrary. Who played the toymaker? I say it was Ray Bolger, but my friend says no. — N.E., East Earl, Pa.

The film you saw is "Babes in Toyland" (1961). Bolger played the toymaker.

Nutrition and Fitness: Fact and Fad

Nutrition and fitness are an American epidemic. It is "in" to be a part of the excitement surrounding exercise, controlled food intake, and obvious change in lifestyle patterns. Judging by the success of exercise classes, fitness clubs, and food items aimed at health promotion, what started as a fad could be a trend with some happy results. The benefits could be a healthier population and an increase in the quality of life to accompany our growing life expectancy.

The problem, according to Nancy Hillen, a nutrition education consultant with the Dairy & Nutrition Council, is separating fact from fad and fitness from frivolous. According to Mrs. Hillen, our nation appears to have a love affair with fads and frivolous schemes aimed at improving our health. A recent subcommittee of Congress investigating health quackery estimated that about $10 billion each year is spent on gimmicks, pills, and questionable health schemes and treatments. The popularity of appearing to be "fit" or to be involved in the process is an open invitation for a new round of ways to spend our money.

Plan Health Fair

This year the Big Sandy ADD Health Council is hoping to develop a spring festival of mental health promotion—WELL-FEST '86. The festival will bring together area health care agencies as well as other service providers in an atmosphere of entertainment, activity, and fun.

Plans currently underway include information/activity booths, live entertainment, and film festivals. The tentative date is scheduled for May 17. The BSADD Health Council would like to invite representatives of area agencies to attend the next Well-Fest steering committee meeting on Tuesday, April 1, at the Municipal Building (City Council Room) in Prestonsburg.

The Commissioner's of the Beaver Elkhorn Water District will hold their regular monthly meeting March 26, at 6:30 p.m. at the water office at Wayland, Ky.

cise class or handball game, some now and then attention to food selection and an assortment of vitamin/mineral pills," says Mrs. Hillen. "For the adult, fitness should be defined considering health status, exercise patterns, weight, food intake, smoking and alcohol use, and lifestyle."

Since March is National Nutrition Month, it is an ideal time to begin to evaluate fitness levels with the help of nutrition professionals in the community. Registered dietitians, school food service directors, staff of such agencies as Cooperative Extension, Dairy & Nutrition Council, and W.I.C. will be intensifying efforts to help separate fact from fad.

Here are some starters:

1. Which is the best form of exercise for overall fitness?
  - a. jogging or swimming 1 hour on both Saturday and Sunday.
  - b. walking briskly 30 minutes every other day.
  - c. aerobic exercise class (1 hour) two days a week.

ANSWER: b., walking briskly for 20-30 minutes. This burns calories, strengthens the cardio-vascular system, and provides weight bearing exercise to the lower body. The key is to be involved in continuous activity for 20-30 minutes at least every other day, ideally daily. Jogging, swimming and aerobic exercise are all excellent forms of exercise if you are physically able to endure them. Walking briskly is a form of exercise most people can enjoy.

2. Since calorie control is an important part of being fit, what nutrients provide calories?

- a. protein, fat, carbohydrate
- b. fat, carbohydrate
- c. vitamins, fat, starches and sugars

ANSWER: a., protein, fat and carbohydrates. These are the calorie nutrients, those that can be used in the body to provide energy. Yes, protein does provide calories. In fact protein and carbohydrates (sugars and starches) are equal in their ability to provide the body with energy, 4 calories for every gram. Fat provides almost double that amount or 9 calories in a gram. Vitamins and minerals are not converted to energy but do assist in the process.

3. To control weight and adopt healthy eating patterns, what type of dietary guidelines should be followed?

- a. Include recommended portions of foods from the dairy group, fruits and vegetables, enriched grains and breads, and meat, fish, poultry or dried beans.
- b. Limit calories to 1000-1200 keeping food choices high in protein (fish, poultry), liberal amount of low calorie vegetables and salads, and a vitamin/mineral supplement meeting 100% of the RDA.
- c. Eat one meal a day following the balanced diet plan and include a nutritionally balanced and calorie controlled supplement for the other meals.

ANSWER: a., The well worn but still valid "balanced diet" including a variety of foods from the four food groups is still the healthy eating style. What is important is control of portions to meet the calorie needs of the individual. Most people are surprised to know that a weight control diet can include foods from all food groups and in fact should! Eliminating food groups or concentrating on certain foods not only leads to monotony but also raises the risk or nutrient deficiencies. AND, trying to balance a diet with a vitamin/mineral pill or a supplement isn't the answer to poor habits. A good weight control plan should provide nutrients in the form of food while helping to adjust eating habits for lifetime good food choices.

Here is a review of serving sizes and food choices based on an average adult. And, if the portions and recommendations are followed, this would be a 1200-1400 calorie food plan.

Dairy Group—2 servings a day of milk, yogurt, cheese; choosing low fat sources if calories are a concern. These are the foods that protect bone health because of the presence of calcium, the Vitamin D fortification, and the complete protein. A serving is 1 cup or 1 ounce of cheese.

Fruits and Vegetables—4 servings a day including Vitamin A rich deep green and deep orange sources, and at least one excellent Vitamin C containing food such as citrus fruits, broccoli, or raw cabbage. The fiber and the vitamins and minerals from these foods are critical to good health. A serving is 1/2 cup of most choices.

Enriched or Whole Grains—4 servings a day of such foods as breads, cereals, pasta and such grains as rice or cornmeal. A source of fiber, B vitamins and a wide assortment of minerals and vitamins makes these food choices valuable calorie choices. Iron enrichment and fiber are two components to seek... and two reasons to read labels. A serving is 1/2 cup... or 1 slice of bread.

Meat, fish, poultry, eggs, dried beans, nuts—2 servings a day is recommended of these high protein foods. Other nutrients include Thiamine and other B vitamins, iron and other minerals. Fat content can be controlled by selecting lower fat cuts, choosing cooking methods that don't require extra fat, and by trimming visible fat at the table. Don't overlook the alternatives to meat, cheese, cottage cheese, peanut butter, tofu (soybean curd), and dried beans, lentils and split peas. With a bit of imagination and some nutrition knowledge, these can be a cost-cutting bonus. A serving of meat foods is 2-3 ounces of meat, fish or poultry. An ounce of cheese, 1 egg, 1/2 cup of beans, or 2 tablespoons of peanut butter are equivalent to one ounce of meat.

Take the time this Nutrition Month to think about at least one part of fitness, food selection patterns for a lifetime. And join with dietitians across the country to salute Good Nutrition...Feel the Difference!

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Alma Josephine (Dollie) Woods, who passed away March 22, 1985.

Although you are gone from our eyes, your memory will always be forever in our hearts. With your passing, you left your family two clear memories of a loving wife, mother and grandmother. The first memory is a strong, hard-working woman, who gave her family all the support and encouragement she could over the years. The second memory is that same strong, hardworking woman brought down in her golden years by a crippling stroke. Even though she suffered her last days on earth, she still managed to have a smile ready or a word of encouragement when you dropped by for a visit. Although, your husband, son, daughter, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren carry the memory of your loss, we know you have now found the greatest peace a soul could ever find. SHOULD THE CASKET BE OPEN OR CLOSED?

This question can only be answered by the family, never by the funeral director. There are several options available to the family. The casket can be open during the hours of visitation and closed during the final rites or it can remain open during the final rites. It can also remain closed at all times. The customs of the family's faith and the influence of their clergyman's thoughts may help determine what is to be done. Modern psychologists tell us viewing the deceased helps the family to accept the fact of death, especially when it may have been sudden or unexpected. If, however, the appearance of the deceased cannot be made acceptable, viewing may possibly be harmful. The family's own wishes on the desired procedure will always be the guideline for the funeral director at our firm. We respect the family's wishes on all particulars of the funeral service as we try our very best to provide a truly personal and meaningful service.

Record Deer Harvest

RECORD DEER HARVEST

Kentucky's deer harvest set a new harvest record for the ninth consecutive year in 1985, according to preliminary data tabulated by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

A total of 230,075 whitetails were harvested from farms and forest lands during archery and gun seasons which were held in 117 open counties across the state. This figure does not include wildlife management areas where special season dates and quotas may have been in effect.

The overall statewide deer harvest in 1985 was 43,506, an increase of 11,506 over the 1984 season. This figure is an actual count of deer checked in by hunters, plus an estimate of the number of deer taken but not checked.

Kentucky's hunter success ratio also increased last season. Including hunters who harvested deer on a second deer tag, the success ratio climbed to 28 percent. This means that for every 100 hunters who ventured afield, 28 came home with venison.

The archery harvest was 2,724 bucks and 1,327 does for a total of 4,051. The top five counties in terms of archery harvest were: Hopkins, 1789; Henderson, 174; Owen, 155; Logan 153, and Butler, 143. The archery harvest represents 13.46 percent of the total "open county" harvest for 1985.

The 1985 "open county" gun season harvest was 21,551 bucks and 4,473 does for a total of 26,024. The top ten counties in terms of gun and bow season harvest were: Owen, 1,645; Christian, 1,165; Hopkins, 1,131; Ohio, 1,031; Muhlenberg, 875; Logan, 845; Henry, 813; Breckinridge, 801; Franklin, 794, and Butler, 740. In Owen county alone, the known buck harvest was 859.

To illustrate the growth in Kentucky's deer herd, consider that during the 1984 deer season only two counties had harvest totals exceeding 1,000—Owen, with 1,208 and Christian, 1,011. In 1985, there were four:

In many Kentucky counties, this year's season will have even more liberal bag limits and season lengths as a response to rapidly expanding deer herds. There will be three days of either-sex gun hunting in 13 counties—Caldwell, Christian, Crittenden, Hancock, Henry, Hopkins, Livingston, Logan, Muhlenberg, Ohio, Todd, Trimble, and Webster.

Kentucky's 1986 gun deer season will open to the second Saturday in November (Nov. 8) and continue for three, five or 10 consecutive days, depending on the county's zone status. The archery season will run from October 1 through December 31, 1986, with crossbows permitted only during the November 18-27 portion of the season. Black powder enthusiasts should be pleased to learn that the two-day season for muzzle-loading firearms is set for December 6-7, three weekends after the close of statewide gun season.

Gas Prices Dropping in State

The Blue Grass Auto Club-AAA's latest survey of service stations in Central and Eastern Kentucky continues to show a steady decline in the price of gasoline, AAA reported recently.

The survey also shows a wide variance in prices across the region, as much as 25¢ a gallon difference in Lexington, up to 50-60¢ a gallon difference in other parts of Central and Eastern Kentucky.

The survey found prices at full-service stations of $1.05 for leaded regular, $1.11 for regular unleaded, $1.21 for premium unleaded, and $1.21 for diesel. These prices reflect about a 7¢ decrease in prices since AAA's last survey in mid-February.

Prices at self-service pumps usually run 10-15¢ lower than at full-service stations. AAA's latest survey found self-service prices of 95¢ for leaded regular, 96¢ for regular unleaded, and $1.12 for premium unleaded, down about 11¢ from last month.

Kathy Gross, Manager of the Blue Grass Auto Club's Special Services, said local gasoline prices are falling because "consumers are shopping around and buying their gasoline at the lower prices stations. Supply and demand has forced most retailers to lower their prices so they can remain competitive with the other stations."

The lowest price in the survey were found in the Middlesboro area, while the highest prices were found in Lexington and the extreme Eastern regions of the state.

According to AAA, leading industry experts predict an 8-15¢ decrease in prices by the spring driving season, a 15-20¢ decrease by mid-year, and a 1986 price average of $1.03, compared to $1.20 in 1985.

Moles Are More A Mess Than Menace

Many homeowners suspect moles of eating the roots of their plants or lawn, and gobbling up flower seeds as fast as they are sown into the soil.

The little pests aren't guilty of those crimes, but the tunnels they create, especially during spring and early summer, may incline many homeowners and gardeners to go after them with a hoe.

Moles literally swim through loose, moist soil in pursuit of earthworms and grubs. Swimming through dirt can use up a lot of energy, so moles need to eat 70 to 100 percent of their own weight in worms and grubs every day. Swimming around enough to find that many worms and grubs can leave a lawn looking like a mess.

Craig Huegel, wildlife specialist in the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service, said the recently warming weather will stir moles into activity, and they will soon develop extensive networks of tunnels in lawns across the state.

"The tunnels are unsightly and damaging to plants. Although people often blame the moles for eating garden seeds and chewing on roots, this damage is likely done by mice that use mole tunnels for travel and protection," Huegel said.

Repellants and poisons used to control moles are generally ineffective and can be dangerous, and removing the mole's food supply by applying insecticides to the lawn will only result in increased tunneling activity as the mole looks farther and farther for food.

Huegel said the tunnels a mole creates center around its home chamber, to which it returns after every hunting foray, and that by placing a single trap where a fresh-worked tunnel leads back to the home chamber, the mole digging all the tunnels connected to that chamber may be caught. This method poses no threat to other wildlife, or pets, and will catch only the mole actually doing the damage.

Mole traps can be purchased from hardware and lawn and garden stores. Follow the directions that come with the trap carefully, or ask the salesperson for instructions.

Coaches To Meet

An organizational meeting of the Floyd county high school and Babe Ruth coaches will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. at the swimming pool, Stumbo Park, Allen.

A schedule will be worked out for use of the baseball field. Please bring your schedule with you, whether complete or incomplete.

For more information, contact Oscar Rice at 285-9811.

REBEKAHS HOLD DIST. MEET

The quarterly meeting of District 4 Rebekahs was held Saturday, March 15, at the Paintsville Community Center with Pleasant Valley Rebekah Lodge 116, the host lodge.

Mrs. Hope Whitten as past district president, presided over the meeting due to the absence of the president and the vice president. Those receiving special recognition were Mrs. Wilma Castle, dist. deputy president, and Mrs. Mabel Jean LeMaster, past president, of the Rebekah Assembly.

A district degree team had been discussed for several meetings, and a date was set for an organizational meeting April 6, at 3 p.m. in the Prestonsburg I.O.O.F. Hall. Those volunteering their services for this team are invited to be present.

A memorial service was presented by members of Miriam Rebekah 31 in memory of members who passed away in 1985.

The attendance banner was awarded to Miriam Rebekah Lodge 31.

Prior to the meeting a dinner was enjoyed by those present, after which door prizes were awarded.

Those attending from Miriam Lodge were Mesdames Hope Whitten, Mary Zemo, Otela Smiley, Violetta Wright, Lorena Wallen, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Loretta Akers, Jean Hickman and Miss Kelly Sue Moore.

The next regular meeting of District 4 will be held June 21 at Inez with Allison Rebekah Lodge 134, host lodge.

Softball Tournament Will Begin April 4

The Prestonsburg Dairy Cheer Softball Team will sponsor a men's softball tournament April 4-6 at Archer Park. The deadline to enter the tournament will be Thursday, April 3. For more information call Carl D. Hall at 886-9461 or 874-9117.

To Explain Regs On Toxic Waste

The Kentucky Department for Environmental Protection is offering seminars in five cities in March and April to explain new federal and state regulations for business operations that create small quantities of hazardous waste. The new regulations cover operations that generate between 220 and 2,200 pounds of hazardous waste per month. "The regulations were adopted to make sure that hazardous waste is handled properly. The Division of Waste Management can help businesses learn how to comply with the new federal law and I urge them to take advantage of this opportunity," said Alex Barber, director of the division. Barber said the sessions would cover how to identify hazardous waste, how to train personnel to handle it, how to store the waste, what records are necessary, and procedures for handling emergencies.

What type of business operations create hazardous waste in small quantities? The following operations have been identified as having the potential for creating small amounts of hazardous waste.

- Vehicle repair and maintenance.
- Chemical manufacture or processing.
- Cosmetic manufacture or processing.
- Dry cleaning and laundering.
- Home or industrial pest control.
- Furniture making and refinishing.
- Printing.
- Textile manufacturing including fabric dyeing and finishing.
- Electroplating and other metal manufacturing.
- Wood preserving.
- Chemical treatment of lawns, yards or gardens.
- Analytical, clinical, school laboratories.
- Photographic processing and printing.
- Building, road and other construction.
- Pesticide manufacture, formulation, or application.

Barber emphasized that the new regulations apply to any business operation that creates waste that is ignitable, corrosive, reactive or toxic. He urged any interested business to send a representative to one of the seminars.

Attached are the dates and locations of the seminars, and information about where to register. Advance registration is encouraged. The size of each seminar is limited and those registered in advance will be given preference. There is a charge for each seminar, and Sessions begin promptly at 8:15 a.m., local time and participants may check in at 7:30 a.m.

Meetings closest to this section are scheduled at the following locations.

Morehead, April 1, Carl Perkins Community Center; Corbin, April 3, Cumberland Falls State Park, and Lexington, April 17, Kentucky Horse Park.

State Re-Training Program Prepares Miners for Jobs

More than 40 unemployed miners, armed with technical and safety training from an innovative state-federal school, are now better to find jobs in the coal industry, according to Kentucky Mines and Minerals Commissioner Willard Stanley.

Kentucky is the first state in the nation to launch such a pilot program. The program is geared to retrain unemployed miners and to help the miners find jobs through the state Department of Employment Services.

A letter from an unemployed miner to Gov. Martha Layne Collins led to the creation of the Dislocated Miner Retraining Program in a cooperative effort by five state and federal agencies.

The idea for the program began when the governor referred the letter to Commissioner Stanley who answered the miner, Phillip Tucker of Stearns. Stanley sent Tucker information on the U.S. Mine Safety and Health Administration's education and training academy and, at the same time, began contacting MSHA and other agencies to develop a pilot retraining program.

"From there, the idea flourished," said Tom Kessler, of MSHA's academy and a coordinator of the retraining program.

The first class has just graduated from the Mine Safety and Health Administration Academy in Beckley, W. Va., where more Kentucky miners will be retrained soon, Kessler said.

State education officials are investigating making similar training available in Kentucky, said Alice McDonald, superintendent of public instruction.

The goal of the program is to improve the overall job prospects and the safety training for the miners, who work in a changing coal industry where more coal is produced by fewer miners, Stanley said.

"The program works on the job safety training that will strengthen the prospective employee's talents for the mining industry," Stanley said. "That means the training will be applicable to other safety-type industries, as well as mine safety."

The program, funded by the U.S. Department of Labor, has focused on mine safety, such as roof control, explosives and blasting and the mine emergencies. Other classes have included math, English and computer science.

Final selection of the miners was made by the state Department of Employment Services. The first session began Feb. 24 and the second began March 24.

Officials from five state and federal agencies have collaborated on the program. They include Commissioner Stanley; Kessler; McDonald; David Blythe, associate dean of the University of Kentucky College of Mining Engineering; and Commissioner James Daniels and Charles Furr, of the state Department for Employment Services.

Each state and federal agency has been instrumental to the program. For example, Blythe said UK has helped design the training curriculum and to set up payment of the trainees.

MSHA's Kessler noted that federal mine safety officials have offered the training facilities and instructors at Beckley Academy, plus free tuition, room and board.

Superintendent McDonald pointed out that MSHA and the state Office of Vocational Education have cooperated in providing computer literacy training. What's more, she said that vocational education has sent instructors and a curriculum specialist to help build the program.

And, Mines and Minerals has volunteered safety instructors and transportation to the academy for the students.

DES Commissioner Daniels said that his agency has provided instructors, funding and aid in job placement for the retrained miners.

"Coordination is at the heart of the Job Training Partnership Act, by which this pilot effort is partially funded," Daniels said. "A joint venture of this type is an ideal example of the intent of JTPA."

An advisory group will provide assistance in the placement of the participants who complete the program. The group includes coal mine operators, representatives from the Governor's Office, the Department of Employment Services, the Office of Vocational Education, OSHA, the Department of Mines and Minerals and the University of Kentucky.

"A spirit of cooperation has permeated this project from day one," Stanley continued. "Support from all involved has been excellent. That collaboration epitomizes the philosophy of Gov. Collins' administration."

NOTICE

Martin Gas, Inc., Floyd County, Kentucky, is filing with the Public Service Commission its Application and Notice to increase its retail natural rates to:

Temporary Surcharge, $3.12.
First IMCF per month $7.35 Minimum Bill.

All Over 1 MCF per month $7.00 per MCF.

The rates proposed amount approximately an increase of $9.52 or 18.0% to the average customer per month.

The rates contained in this notice are rates proposed by Martin Gas Company.
However, the Public Service Commission may order rates to be charged that differ from these rates. Such action may result in rates for consumers other than the rates included in this notice.

Any corporation, association, body, politic, or person may request leave to intervene by motion within thirty (30) days after the date of this notice. Said motion to intervene shall be submitted to the Public Service Commission, 730
Schenkel Lane, P.O. Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky, setting forth the grounds for the request and the status and interest of the party.

A copy of the application may be obtained by contacting the applicant. Martin Gas Company, Inc., P.O. Box 1118,
Martin, Kentucky 41649. 3-26-86.

The number of women employed in executive, administrative and managerial positions jumped almost 12 percent during 1985, while employment of female machine operators, assemblers and inspectors dropped 3.7
percent, according to a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

VET Lost Both Legs & One Arm In Vietnam, Named Handicapped American of The Year

Ralph "Chad" Colley, who lost both legs and one arm in Vietnam combat, has been chosen as this year's Handicapped American of the Year by the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped (PCEH).

The 42-year-old businessman will receive the President's Trophy on April 30 at PCEH's annual meeting to be held at the Washington Hilton Hotel in Washington, D.C., April 30 to May 2. Making the presentation to Colley will be PCEH Chairman Harold Russell and a representative of the White House.

More than 4,000 people—including disabled people from across America and around the world—will attend the PCEH annual meeting. PCEH's mission is to build an acceptance for disabled people in the nation's workforce through a year-round program of education and information.

Colley has been active in issues affecting handicapped people for many years, but the highlight of that involvement came in 1984-85 when he served a one-year term as National Commander of the Disabled American Veterans (DAV). The DAV is a non-profit association of more than one million veterans disabled during time of war or under conditions similar to war.

Colley was an officer with the Army's 101st Airborne Division in July 1968 when he was leading a company of men on a combat mission 45 miles northwest of Saigon and a land mine explosion threw him into the air. Both of his legs and one arm were amputated in a military hospital in Vietnam as a result of his wounds.

The inner resources, which enabled Colley's rapid rehabilitation, spurred his business success, and led to his recognition as Handicapped American of the Year, were there right from the start, according to his wife, Betty Ann. She cited a letter he wrote to her just a few days after he was wounded.

"Even though I'm banged up pretty bad," he wrote, "I'm still me. I can put my loss of limbs into an asset. I have a big challenge to undertake now." That pretty much sums up Colley's life since he became disabled. Today he's an active, physically powerful man, who enjoys such athletic activities as sit-skiing. He's won several medals on the ski slopes.

Colley, who holds a degree in mathematics from North Georgia College, moved right into his career after his release from the hospital. He dug right in on courses that led to licensing in real estate, a field in which he achieved tremendous success despite the doubts of others who felt a triple amputee in a wheelchair wouldn't be able to cut it in a profession that required physical mobility.

But, to the young Vietnam vet, such worries were for other people. "I've always been determined to prove myself the equal, in any way, of any other member of our society," he said. "And I simply will not allow anything associated with my disability to get in the way."

After working in real estate and banking for a few years, Colley decided to strike out on his own. And, today, he's president of Colley Home Center, Inc., in Barling, Ark., where he lives with Betty Ann and their two children.

Colley also wasted no time in getting involved in the DAV following his release from the hospital. The pinnacle of that involvement came when he was elected to lead the organization in the summer of 1984. He took over an organization of 879,058 disabled vets. But, by the following spring, the DAV's membership had climbed well past the one-million mark.

"Chad worked relentlessly to push our membership strength into an entirely new realm," remarked DAV National Adjutant Denvil D. Adams. "And the organizational strength he built has already proven essential in battling major threats to benefits and programs for disabled veterans, as well as handicapped people."

The glare of his achievements on the national scene, however, could lead some to forget what Colley has meant to any number of disabled people as individuals. It's not widely known that rehabilitation professionals in his community frequently ask the triple amputee to participate in counseling newly disabled people. And it's here that Colley says he gains his greatest personal satisfaction.

"Talking mostly with amputees and paraplegics," explained Colley, "I try to turn around the negative attitudes and despair that so frequently follow catastrophic physical injuries.

"Many of these folks see their futures as extremely limited," he emphasized. "I guess I'm a pretty good example that this just isn't the case. I've done pretty well in business. I'm happy with my life. I'm dealing with the inconveniences of my disabilities. What I try to do is refocus people's attention on the positives."

The only American author to win the Pulitzer Prize four times was poet Robert Frost.

Women Writers' Meet Set in April at UK

The Eighth Women Writers Conference will be held April 2-5 at the University of Kentucky, Lexington. Designed to provide a forum where writers, teachers, scholars and readers can discuss and examine various historical, literary and creative contributions by women, the Eighth Women Writers Conference promises to deliver another stimulating four days. The 1986 conference will bring authors, publishers, critics and scholars together for workshops, lectures, readings and discussion.

The writers are Mary Gordon, New York novelist whose works include Final Payments, The Company of Women, and most recently, Men and Angels; Lee Smith, novelist and short story writer who teaches at the University of North Carolina. Her writings include Something in the Wind, Cakewalk, and Black Mountain Breakdown; Rita Dove, poet and Guggenheim Fellow who teaches at Arizona State University and has published a number of volumes of poetry including Museum, Mandolin, The Yellow House on the Corner and Thomas and Beulah; Bobbie Ann Mason, short story writer and novelist from Kentucky who wrote Shiloh and Other Stories and In Country.

A new dimension will be added to this year's conference by feminist literary critic Judith Kegan Gardiner from the University of Illinois at Chicago, and an historical perspective on selected women's literary magazines from 1912-1972 will be presented by Dr. Mary Biggs, editor of the Library Quarterly, University of Chicago.

Publisher-playwright Sallie Bingham will conduct a drama workshop. She will also be a panelist on the Politics of Publishing, with Dr. Biggs and writer-researcher Dr. Judith Serebnick from Indiana University. The panel is sure to be both lively and informative.

Poet, playwright and children's book author George Ella Lyon from Kentucky will do a presentation on writing for children. Her works include Mountain, Braids and Father Time and the Day Boxes.

The conference will open with a multimedia celebration of women artists in the community which will include original drama, dance, music, and readings. The conference will close with a dramatic presentation of Black poetry with Priscilla Hancock Cooper and Donna Bradley Morton of the Theatre Workshop of Louisville.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF BLASTING SCHEDULE

Coal-Mac, Inc., P.O. Box 3428, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501, shall conduct blasting operations on its 76.3 acre surface mining permit, application number 813-5040. Said operation is located approximately 1.5 miles north of Neck Branch Road's junction with Branham's Creek Road. Latitude is 37° 27' 10", longitude is 82° 30' 15". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Goldie Clark, Therman Newman, Jerry J. Martin, Ralph Martin, Bobby Martin and Arthur Martin.

Blasting will be conducted each day, Monday through Saturday from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. Any major alteration from the blasting schedule will be published. Unscheduled blasting may occur in emergency situations where lightning, rain, other atmospheric conditions or the safety of the operator or public requires unscheduled detonation.

Control of the blasting area will be maintained by blocking access roads to the blasting area ten (10) minutes prior to the blast. Postdetonation access to the blasting area will be allowed only after an inspection and determination that no hazards exist.

A pre-detonation warning, consisting of three (3) long blasts of air horn/siren will be given. After personnel are cleared from the area, two additional long blasts will be given two minutes before detonation of explosives. Just prior to detonation, one additional long blast of siren will be sounded. Personnel are to remain in clear areas until a satisfactory postdetonation inspection of the blasting area has been made. A postdetonation all clear signal, consisting of a series of short blasts of the air horn/siren will be given. These signals will be audible over a minimum distance of one half mile.

The preceding notice is published pursuant to CRF 715.19, Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Provisions and KRS 350.220 and the regulations relating thereto. Kentucky Permit Number 836-5040.

Fahrenheit 20° Safe Water Temp.

Jane Doe was one year old. She and her family lived in a one-bedroom house in a poor neighborhood of Louisville. Because her parents could not afford a crib for her they prepared a bed for her in the bathtub. Alone in her makeshift bed, Jane turned on the hot water faucet. She sustained burns on 22% of her body. She was hospitalized for over two months.

Two-year old twin girls were left alone in bathtub while their mother went to help her neighbor who had a sick child. The mother returned five minutes later to find her daughters standing in scalding water up to their thighs. The twins were hospitalized for several months with third-degree burns. One suffered heart failure and almost died. After their release from the hospital they were bedridden for six months.

In the past five years in Jefferson County a reported 39 children were treated at Kosair Children's for severe tap water burns. Some died. Such scaldings are 100% preventable. During the same period, countless children suffered from less serious, but nevertheless extremely painful hot water burns. These burns were also avoidable.

The young and elderly are particularly vulnerable. Children cannot always distinguish between hot and cold faucets. Even if they are placed in bath water at an appropriate temperature, curiosity can lead them to experiment with the hot water faucet. Small children often are not able to get out of dangerously hot water quickly enough to avoid burning. The same is true of the elderly.

It is estimated that over 80% of American homes have hot water heater settings over 150° Fahrenheit. Safety lies in reducing the temperature setting on heaters to 120° Fahrenheit. At 120° Fahrenheit, it takes five minutes of continuous immersion in water to produce a third degree burn. At 130° Fahrenheit, severe burns occur within 30 seconds; at 140° Fahrenheit, five seconds, and at 150° Fahrenheit, one second.

Kentucky state regulations require that water for patient use in hospitals not exceed 120° Fahrenheit. Nursing homes must keep water temperatures at 110° Fahrenheit or less. Thus some of our ill and elderly population are protected from the hazards of overly hot water. But the majority of our state's citizens are not aware of the potential danger from the water they use.

Kentucky Youth Advocates, in collaboration with Diane Denton, a burn prevention nurse at Kosair-Children's, is initiating a public awareness campaign. The goal is to make adults aware of the potential hazards of inordinately hot tap water. The most effective way to prevent accidental scaldings is to set the thermostat on hot water heaters at 120° Fahrenheit.

PC Chooses Owens As New President

The Pikeville College Board of Trustees has added another chapter to the College's history by changing William Owens' status from interim president to president, to serve at the pleasure of the trustees for an undefined term. This announcement, made during a Friday, March 14 press conference, comes after a two year search.

Actual consideration of presidential candidates began in November of 1984, when then-president Dr. Jackson O. Hall, announced his resignation. The Presidential Search Committee, composed of trustees and representatives of major campus groups (faculty/staff/students), was activated and the selection process started. Finding no candidate entirely suited to the college's needs, the trustees asked Bill Owens to assume the presidency on an interim basis during the period July 1, 1985 through June 30, 1986. During the interim year, the search committee pursued the goal of finding a permanent president, narrowing the field from approximately 75 candidates. After an intensive interview process, involving on-campus meetings with student/faculty groups, the committee recommended Owens be invited to remain at Pikeville College as president.

In order to accept the interim position, Owens took a leave of absence from Centre College. He joined the faculty of Centre in 1965 as an associate professor of physics. In addition to his teaching duties, he served as director of admissions from 1965-70. In 1968 he assumed the duties of assistant dean, registrar at Centre and in 1970 moved from the department of physics to the department of mathematics. Subsequent to that move, he held the position of chairman of the mathematics department.

His educational background includes a B.S. degree in physics from Georgetown College (Kentucky); an M.S. in physics and mathematics from Catholic University of America (Washington D.C.), and post-masters work at George Washington University, the University of Louisville, and the University of Kentucky.

After finishing undergraduate school, he served with the United States Army, where he worked with Nike missiles. In 1955 he became an assistant professor of physics in the department of physics at the United States Naval Academy. He left there in 1960 to join the faculty of Western Kentucky University as an assistant professor of physics (until 1962). During the summer of 1960, Owens participated in an eight-week National Science Foundation Workshop on Radioisotope Handling at the Oak Ridge Institute for Nuclear Studies (now Oak Ridge Associated Universities) in Oak Ridge, Tennessee. From 1962 until 1965 he returned to his undergraduate alma mater, Georgetown College, as an assistant professor of physics. In 1963, during the summer term, he was a visiting professor at Vanderbilt University, Tennessee.

Owens is originally from Hazard. He is married to Jacqueline Combs Owens, of Whitesburg, and they have two children, Diane Owens Kennedy, of Boston, Massachusetts, and Michael William Owens, of Nashville, Tennessee.

Require Treatment For Drug, Alcohol Abuse

A person whose disability is aggravated by drug abuse or alcoholism must accept appropriate treatment for the condition in order to be eligible for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments, Jim Kelly, District Director for the Big Sandy Area, said recently.

Drug abuse or alcoholism, itself, is not a basis for a finding of disability under SSI, Kelly said. Such a determination must be based on symptoms, signs, laboratory findings and extent of organ damage.

If drug addiction or alcoholism is found to contribute to a finding of disability, the person will be referred by Social Security to a designated agency so that appropriate treatment may be arranged. Failure to follow the prescribed course of treatment will cause the check to stop, Kelly said.

More information about SSI payments can be obtained at the Big Sandy Social Security Office, located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in your local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

State Gathers Acid Rain Data

The Kentucky Energy Cabinet released its report detailing the first year's effort to establish a monitoring system throughout the state to gather accurate data on acid deposition, more commonly called acid rain.

"This information will allow everyone to assess more scientifically the level of acid deposition here in Kentucky and to gain a better understanding of its effects on our environment," said Energy Secretary George Evans. "And with each passing year, we will gain a far more accurate idea of what is occurring and any changes from year to year."

"Certainly public policy in this area will profit from more accurate information," Evans said.

Ten monitoring stations have been installed so far, most in state parks. Data from some of these is included in the annual report; more complete data will be available in the next annual report.

The pH—a measure of acidity or alkalinity—at the stations average from 4.2 to 4.5, which is similar to measurements taken over much of the midwest and northeast United States.

The monitoring program is being conducted through a cooperative effort by the Tourism, Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, and Energy cabinets.

Despite the upward trend in women's earnings compared with men's, women to a large extent remain employed in jobs that yield relatively low earnings—generally in lower paying industries such as clothing manufacturing, in lower paying professions such as teaching, and in lower paying service and clerical jobs, according to the fact sheet "Earnings Difference Between Woman and Men Workers," issued by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Preservation Meet Slated In Louisville

"How do I find out when my house was built?" "How can we work with city hall to save the historic buildings in our neighborhood?" "What is the best way to remove the many coats of paint from my brick house?" "What can we do to recruit new businesses to save our historic downtown?" "What is unique about Kentucky architecture?" "How can architecture be used as a teaching resource in the classroom?" "How have others accomplished the restoration of their historic homes?" "What is the history of the preservation movement in Kentucky?" "How can we continue to save the commonwealth's historic resources?"

These are some of the questions which will be addressed during "Preservation in Perspective," Kentucky's first statewide preservation conference. This two-day conference, sponsored by the Kentucky Heritage Council, is scheduled for May 9-10 at the Brown Hotel in Louisville. The conference will include some technical workshops on various preservation issues. The conference will be organized around four tracks of workshops:

The Preservation of Old Houses; The Preservation of the Neighborhood; The Preservation of the Community; Kentucky Images: Gateways and Thresholds.

Former Gov. Edward T. Breathitt and Nellie L. Longworth, president of Preservation Action, will be keynote speakers at two luncheons. They will address the past, present and future of the preservation movement in Kentucky and in the United States.

This year marks the 20th anniversary of the passage of the 1966 National Historic Preservation Act and the creation of the Kentucky Heritage Commission. "This conference will provide a good opportunity to reflect on past accomplishments and plan for the future of this effort in Kentucky," said David Morgan, director of the Kentucky Heritage Council.

The registration fee to attend this two-day conference will be $40 and the Brown Hotel will be offering their rooms at special rates to conference participants. Registration materials will be available April 1. For additional information contact the Kentucky Heritage Council, 12th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, 502/564-7005.

DAY HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Prestonsburg Day Homemakers met Tuesday afternoon, March 11, at 1 o'clock, in Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church. Mrs. Judy Kittle, president, presided, and extended a special welcome since, due to inclement weather, this was the club's first meeting since December.

Mrs. Mary Jane Brown gave the devotionals and Mrs. Kittle led the group in the reading of the Homemakers' Creed. Cards were signed to be sent to Mesdames Phyllis Herrick and Opal Dingus, who have been ill, and a new member, Mrs. Ruth Younce, was welcomed.

A donation was made in memory of Mrs. Margaret Porter Alley to the First Methodist Church, and a report on the last meeting and the financial status of the club were given by Mrs. Dorothy Osborne.

A list of those having birthdays since the last meeting was presented by the president, as follows: Gladys Blackburn, Orella McGuire, Dorothy Stover, Margaret P. Alley, Clara Bradbury, Alice Harris, Otela Smiley, Ruth Francis, and Dorothy Osborne.

Donations were made to the Cancer Fund, the Big Sandy Hospice program, and the Flower Fund.

Mrs. Gladys Blackburn, who has been in charge of the club's scrapbook, asked to be relieved of this responsibility, and Mrs. Beverly Hackworth and Mrs. Ruth Younce were appointed to continue this project. Mrs. Kittle asked that members save cancelled stamps for the purchase of time on a dialysis machine at the request of the Scioto Memorial Hospital, in Portsmouth, Ohio. She thanked those who helped in the decoration of the Christmas tree at May Lodge, and Mrs. Pitts asked that ideas be submitted for decorations next Christmas.

Mrs. Dorothy Osborne discussed the Floyd County Clean-up program, and urged members to attend meetings of the Floyd Fiscal Court regarding this project.

Mrs. Eleanor Horn was asked to serve on the Devotional committee, succeeding the late Mrs. Margaret P. Alley.

Mrs. Kittle presented Mrs. Pat Willis and Mrs. Carol Blevins, of the Highlands Regional Medical Center, who talked with the group on the importance of the establishment of a breast cancer center at the local hospital to cover a seven-county area. They gave out pamphlets describing this project.

The hostesses, Mesdames Ann Alley, Shirley Callihan, and Nancy Webb, were assisted by Mrs. Jane Wallace in serving a dessert course to guests, Carol Blevins and Pat Willis, and members, Frances Pitts, Judy Kittle, Barbara Dawson, Dorothy Osborne, Eleanor Horn, Peg Hewlett, Rebecca Rasnick, Beverly Hackworth, Ruth Younce, Dorothy Stover, May K. Roberts, Dolly Pettrey, Mary Sue Moore, Mary Jane Brown, Fannie Ruppels, Alice Harris, and Gypsy Jones.

Hostesses for the April meeting will be Barbara Dawson, Mabel Donahoe, and Patsy and Mary Jane Brown.

Pikeville High Wins Final Academic Meet

Pikeville High School was the overall winner of the final regular season meet of the Eastern Kentucky Academic Conference held at Pikeville High School Saturday, March 15. Pikeville had an overall total of 31.75 points in the areas of math, social science, science, humanities, and oral quick-recall competition. Johns Creek placed second with 29.5 points; Prestonsburg was third with 24.25 points; and Elkhorn City came in fourth with 19.25 points.

Pikeville won the math competition with 9.5 points, Elkhorn City came in second with 5.5 points, and Prestonsburg was third with 4 points. Individual honors went to Suman Malempati of Pikeville in first place; Jeff Akers of Pikeville and Ben Stephenson of Elkhorn City tied for second; and William Fleming and Tony Skeans of Prestonsburg tied for fourth.

Prestonsburg won the social science competition with 7 points. Sheldon Clark came in second with 6 points; and Johns Creek and Elkhorn City tied for third place with 4.5 points each. Individual honors went to Scott Wells of Prestonsburg in first place. Al Yourkonis of Sheldon Clark came in second; and Danny Hamm of Elkhorn City and Rebecca Ward of Johns Creek tied for third.

Donations Asked To Help Haiti

Organizations, churches of any faith, individuals willing to help the poor people of Haiti may do so this spring by donating:

Q tips, gauze, any width, sterile cotton balls, or surgical tape.

Those wishing to participate should send the items listed to First Baptist Church, Maytown, by Tuesday, April 29. Joe Mobley of the Mobley Crusades, London, Ky., will pick them up on Wed., April 30, and get them to the Haitian people, whose nation is one of the two poorest on the globe. Rev. Mobley delivered hundreds of pairs of used eyeglasses to the Haitians from this section two years ago.

For additional information, call Bob Varney, Maytown pastor, phones 285-5131, or 789-6118, residence, or Rose Bowling, committee chairman, phone, 285-3161, Langley, Ky. 41645.

The proportion of women, 16 and older, in the labor force climbed to 55 percent by the end of 1985, up from 54 percent at the end of 1984. Higher participation rates were recorded for all age groups except older workers 55 years and up, according to "Employment in Perspective: Women in the Labor Force," a publication of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Unemployment Fund Ends Year in Black

For the first time in five years Kentucky's Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund ended the year in the black, with a balance as of Dec. 31, 1985 of $76.8 million.

At the same time, changes proposed by the Cabinet for Human Resources and enacted by the 1986 Kentucky General Assembly should greatly enhance the future solvency of the state's U.I. Trust Fund.

"The trust fund hasn't had a balance this large since 1979, when $156 million was in the coffers," said Human Resources Secretary Al Austin.

"Since the trust fund 'went broke' in February 1981, any balance we've shown at the end of the year included an infusion of federal loans," Austin said. "But we haven't borrowed a penny since we paid off our loans last May."

Employment Services Commissioner James Daniels predicted changes in the U.I. law, developed by a task force representing labor and management, could prevent depletion of the trust fund and the need to borrow in the future.

Those changes, which become effective July 15, are projected to increase the trust fund by about $22 million in 1987 and 1988.

"One of the most significant changes ties the ceiling on weekly benefit payments to the trust fund balance and employers' tax rate schedules," he said.

Since 1982 workers' weekly benefits have been capped at $140 a week, and employers have had to pay contributions at the highest rate. Maximum weekly benefits could have risen to $186 in 1987.

"To prevent such a sudden impact on the trust fund, the task force proposed the changes, which provide for incremental increases in the weekly benefit amount. Now we anticipate the ceiling to increase to $151 on July 1, 1987," Daniels said.

Mae Girkey, director of the Division of Unemployment Insurance, said, "When there is enough money in the trust fund to enable employers to experience a decrease in tax rates, then the maximum weekly benefits to unemployed workers would go up accordingly. If the trust fund balance drops to the point that an increase in tax rates is necessary, then the weekly benefit payments would be frozen.

"This approach is a major element in providing long-term solvency for the state's U.I. Trust Fund," she said.

The new law also contains provisions which encourage employers to file reports and make contributions on a timely basis. "The majority of Kentucky employers do file and pay on a timely basis," Girkey said. "It's not fair to those employers when a few others delay. The task force recommended and the legislature enacted higher penalty and interest assessments to spur employers to file and make contributions promptly."

Daniels commended the U.I. task force, especially Reps. Ronald R. Cyrus (D-Greenup) and Edward L. Holloway (R-Jefferson), who sponsored the trust fund legislation in this year's General Assembly. "These people have done an exceptional job. They have developed measures that are fair to Kentucky workers and employers with the goal of keeping the trust fund solvent," he said.

AC German Students Mark Language Week

From hamburgers and blue jeans to Bach and Beethoven—German students at Allen Central High looked for elements of the German culture in their own culture as they departed from their usual textbook-vocabulary-and-grammatical study to observe National Foreign Language Week, March 3-7.

Students presented research, wrote compositions, and gave oral presentations concerning education, art, music, and literary figures of Germany.

Tuesday was "Goethe" day in honor of one of Germany's most famous philosophers and writers, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe. The students traced his "Faust" motif through American literature and music. The students are given foreign language posters, courtesy of the Goethe Institute of Germany Culture, New York City. Allen Central's German instructor, Joyce Watson, is connected to the institute through graduate study and seminars conducted by the institute for Kentucky's German teachers.

A slide show and discussion centered around the social and moral issues leading from a more recent and dramatic impact of Germany's effect on America—that of World War II.

The purpose of National Foreign Language Week is to call attention to the study of foreign language in America.

German students involved were as follows: Kristie Lawson, Kristi Henegar, Sheila Conley, Shannon Hackworth, Sherry Crum, Jamie Hall, Connie Bentley, Roger Horne, Serena Thornsbury, Bert Slone, Louquida Stevens, Kerri Rowe, Patty Kilgore, Linda Oliver, Sabrina Osborne, Lisa Martin, Michael Wright, Randy Bently, Renea Bently, Sheridan Chaffins, Ola Jones, Roger Hoteling, Kim Sexton, Steve Hughes, Susan Scott, Stephanie Wallen, Sherri Wright, Katie Osborne, Donna Neeccamp, Susan Martin, Greta Mullins, Ronnie Lazar, Melinda Martin, and Tony Robinson.

Cultivating bacteria instead of trees and cotton plants to produce cellulose may one day lead to cheaper paper, clothing and medical supplies. National Wildlife magazine reports that a researcher at the University of Texas at Austin has discovered a strain of bacteria which produces cellulose requiring much less processing than wood pulp to produce paper.

BE WARM AS TOAST FOR A LOT LESS BREAD.

A modern, high-efficiency gas furnace gives you the ideal combination of comfort and cost savings. Gas heat is warm, and the furnace does a full-time heating job no matter how cold it gets outside. That's unlike a heat pump, which delivers air that can actually feel cool, and needs a backup heating system on colder days.

A new high-efficiency gas furnace also saves you money. It's usually less expensive to install than a heat pump, and it will cost less to operate. Plus, studies show that a gas furnace requires less maintenance, and lasts much longer than a heat pump.

To learn more, check with your heating dealer. You'll like the way gas keeps your home warm and toasty, for less money.

Lower Cancer Risk Cookbook Available

It was Benjamin Franklin who once wrote that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." That's exactly the message behind a new cookbook to lower cancer risk just published by the American Institute for Cancer Research (AICR), a national non-profit organization which has focused on cancer prevention through diet and nutrition. Entitled An Ounce of Prevention, this first volume in a four-volume series of cookbooks presents a variety of recipes, all geared to the winter season, and all meeting the Institute's dietary guidelines for lower cancer risk.

"The relationship between serious diseases, such as cancer, and the foods we eat is becoming clearer every day," noted Marilyn Gentry, editor of An Ounce of Prevention. She said that estimates based on recent research indicate that as much as a 35 percent drop in the cancer death rate might be possible if Americans would make some simple, but significant changes in their dietary habits.

The American Institute for Cancer Research emphasizes dietary guidelines that are based on the 1983 report of the National Academy of Sciences, Diet, Nutrition and Cancer. These guidelines call for a reduction in the amount of fat in our daily diets, increased consumption of fruits, vegetables and whole grain products, and moderation in the consumption of certain foods, such as cured or salted meats, and alcohol.

An Ounce of Prevention provides more than 75 recipes that follow these guidelines without sacrificing taste or variety. Offering recipes for everything from appetizers and soups through various entrees and desserts, the cookbook provides simple, easy to follow recipes.

This first volume in the cookbook series is the winter volume. Its recipes highlight foods appropriate for the colder winter season, as well as utilizing ingredients easiest to find during the winter months. In keeping with the AICR Dietary Guidelines to Lower Cancer Risk, the recipes emphasize lower fat foods and increased use of fruits, vegetables and whole grain products. The cookbook also includes several recipes that show ways to present even higher fat foods, such as beef and pork, in the healthiest manner.

A typical, full-dinner from the cookbook might include a Marinated Mushroom appetizer, a low-fat version of a soup such as Minestrone with Pesto, and a poultry entree such as Chicken Normandy (chicken breasts in a white sauce with apples), or perhaps a beef main dish like London Broil (using marinated flank steak). There are also several vegetarian entrees, a selection of vegetable side dishes, and then sweet ways to finish off the meal, such as Raisin Oatmeal Ribbons, or Shum Torte (a baked meringue dessert with no fat and a fairly low calorie count).

An Ounce of Prevention is available from AICR for $6 per copy, which includes all handling and postage costs. Copies may be ordered by sending a check or money order for six dollars, payable to "AICR," to American Institute for Cancer Research, AICR Cookbook, Dept. CB1, Washington, D.C. 20069.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble

- (1) Paresthesias (see above)
- (2) Headaches
- (3) Painful joints
- (4) Numbness in the arms or hands
- (5) Loss of sleep
- (6) Stiffness in the neck
- (7) Pain between the shoulders
- (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back
- (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals...call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

THE GLITTERING PILL

It may not be the long-sought after silver bullet of medical lore. However, a golden pill has recently been approved by the Food and Drug Administration for relief of rheumatoid arthritis. For more than fifty years, gold compounds have been given by injection for joint pain and inflammation. Until now, however, there has been no gold compound that could be swallowed and absorbed for use by the body. This new gold medication is twenty-nine percent gold by weight. It must be stressed that patients need careful medical monitoring to safeguard against adverse reactions. Patients who formerly needed weekly injections may now only require once-a-month doctor visits.

Many families in this area have already discovered that by relying on COOLEY APOTHECARY for their prescription needs they will not only receive quality service but can take advantage of our everyday low prices. For a complete selection of over-the-counter and prescription medications make us your pharmacy. You'll find us here at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4.
