

Main Street Group Seeks Improvements

Downtown Prestonsburg may never be the same, or at least that's what city leaders hope as they seek to make the town more competitive in attracting additional business. The Prestonsburg Main Street Task Force met last Thursday to brainstorm over possible solutions to the economic doldrums currently affecting the economy in the heart of the city.

Present at the meeting, in addition to local merchants and residents, were City Administrator Fred James and Holly Leach, a specialist with the Big Sandy Area Development District, who is preparing a grant application on the city's behalf.

Among the city's strengths, some merchants noted, rent is generally lower in the town's center than in outlying areas. There are many specialty shops here, and the various stores and businesses are all within walking distance of one another. The idea was also put forth that the city could use the shopping malls on the city's perimeter to act as an enticement, or "bait," to attract shoppers downtown. This attitude marks a departure from the adversarial relationship that was developing between some downtown merchants and their rivals in the malls on the town's outer edge.

Virtually all those present agreed that some of the city's business practices are antiquated, however. Parking and traffic flow must be improved, as must the attractiveness of store fronts and windows, it was said. Much debate also centered around the traditional closing of city businesses at 5 and 6 p.m. General agreement was also found among task force members as to the need to offer a full range of professional services on the weekend.

In other matters, the task force gave its approval to the application for funding through the state's Main Street Program. Members and residents were also asked to present different possible city logos and additional ideas concerning revitalization.

The cable street car was invented by Andrew S. Hallidie and first used in San Francisco in 1873.

THESE DANCERS SWUNG THEIR PARTNERS to a fare you well at the Highlands Folk Festival. And some of the audience joined in at the conclusion of the program for some old-fashioned and strenuous entertainment.

Auxier Rd. Residents Fight Annexation Move

Controversy continues to build as the November vote concerning Prestonsburg's proposed annexation of Auxier Road down to the Auxier bridge moves closer. Some citizens have banded together and have retained the services of an attorney to stave off the impending vote.

Ralph H. Stevens, the attorney for those opposed to annexation, accused Ann Latta, Prestonsburg mayor, of forcing the annexation simply to garner more revenues for the city to replace those lost with the discontinuation of the federal revenue-sharing program, with little regard for the welfare of those in the area. Stevens said the chances of defeating the annexation bid, which would require that 75 percent of registered voters vote no, are miniscule at best.

Prestonsburg City Attorney Larry Brown argues that annexation will be to the advantage of residents there. Prestonsburg is planning to build a new fire station near Auxier to service the area, he said. Moreover, police coverage would be greatly increased, jobs would be created, and the decision on whether or not to annex is ultimately in the hands of area voters, he said.

Additional Courses To Be Offered at PCC

Morehead State University will offer four additional courses this fall at Prestonsburg Community College, launching an effort to meet the demand for upper division level courses.

The classes will begin the week of Sept. 8 and students may register in the Pike Technology Building Auditorium at 6 p.m. on the first night of the class.

The new additions are:
ACCT 575, Controllership, Monday nights.

FIN 360, Business Finance, Tuesday nights.

GOVT 290, Introduction to Paralegalism, Thursday nights.

EDEL 228, Literature and Materials for Children, Thursday nights.

Additional information on these courses and the registration process may be obtained by calling James Ratcliff, coordinator, (606) 886-3863.

In addition to the MSU classes, PCC will offer six undergraduate evening courses which will fulfill requirements toward MSU's four-year degree in nursing.

They are: Introduction to Literature, Applied Mathematics, Introduction to Music, Food and Nutrition for Man, Introduction to Art, and Developmental Psychology.

Registration for these classes also has been extended and will be conducted at 6 p.m., Monday, Sept. 8, in Johnson Administration Building Room 129, according to Robert Allen, associate director of PCC.

Also from 1 to 6 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 10, Betty Porter, chair of MSU's Department of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences, will meet with students interested in MSU's B.S.N. degree program and evaluate transcripts in the Pike Technology Building Auditorium. She will be accompanied by Elizabeth Tapp, assistant professor.

Additional information on PCC's courses is available from Allen at (606) 886-3863.

R.R. Commission Sets Hearings In Frankfort

The Kentucky Railroad Commission will be conducting an investigative hearing September 11, 1986 at 10 a.m., 4th Floor State Office Bldg. Frankfort, Ky., regarding two separate train collisions occurring in Johnson and Floyd counties involving C & O Railroad during the months of June and August, 1986.

The public is encouraged to attend this meeting, and anyone wishing to provide information or to give testimony may appear in person or call the Central Office at 502-564-4660.

American colonists fought and died to establish and preserve the freedoms now guaranteed to us by the Constitution of the United States. The framers of the Constitution were careful to give us a Republic in which established laws protect the rights of all citizens. During Constitution Week (September 17 through 23) study the Constitution. Know your rights and responsibilities.

Sept. 17-23 Named Constitution Week

Prestonsburg Mayor Ann R. Latta this week proclaimed September 17 through September 23 as Constitution Week in Prestonsburg, urging all citizens "to pay special attention during that week to our Federal Constitution and the advantage of American citizenship."

September 17 marks the 199th anniversary of the drafting of the Constitution of the United States, and the proclamation by Mayor Latta, locally, coincides with that made each year by the President proclaiming these dates Constitution Week, nationally.

Warrens, Lykens Reunion Held in Clarksburg, Ohio

The Warrens, Lykens family reunion was held over the Labor Day weekend at Deer Creek Park in Clarksburg, O. Members of the two families and many friends came from Tennessee, Kentucky, Georgia, Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio. There was a pig roast and games enjoyed by all. A bake-off was won by Mrs. Esther Harrington.

It is hoped that everyone will attend the reunion next year in Clarksburg.

Constitution Week commemorates the signing of the Constitution of the United States. It is the oldest constitution still in active use in the world today and is the basic document of our Republic. The Daughters of the American Revolution urges all Americans to be worthy of its protection.

Fall Enrollment Up At ALC

Dr. Jerry Davis, right, Alice Lloyd College president discusses fall enrollment projections with Adrian Hall, left, and Bill Melton, admissions personnel.

Once again enrollment at Alice Lloyd College is on the rise. Fall enrollment has reached 588, up from last year's 548. Dr. Jerry C. Davis, president of the college, attributed the upward trend to the school's recommitment to its traditional philosophy, larger physical facilities, an expanded four-year curriculum, program quality, an excellent financial package for students, and the success of its graduates.

The most significant gain in enrollment occurred in 1980 when the school expanded from a junior college to a four year institution. Enrollment went from 231 students in 1979 to 395 students in 1980. After two years of leveling off, the enrollment statistics are again on the rise.

...about your Social Security

Social Security benefits are not payable for the month a beneficiary dies, Jim Kelly, District Director for the Big Sandy Area, said recently.

The benefit check, which is usually received on the 3rd day of each month, represents the benefit payable for the previous month. Therefore, if a person dies in July, for example, the check that is received August 3, which represents payment for July, should be returned, Kelly said. However, if the check is made out jointly to both husband and wife, the survivor should contact a Social Security office to find out whether the check should be cashed.

If a person's benefits were being handled by direct deposit, the financial institution to which the checks were being sent should be notified of the death as soon as possible. The institution will then return any checks that were received after the person's death.

More information about Social Security checks can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security office located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in your local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

Prater Couple Win
Mobile Home Claim

A circuit court jury Monday awarded a Prater Creek couple $5000, the amount it will take to repair a mobile home they bought two years ago.

Ronnie and Barbara Sword, who bought a 28X60 Mansion doublewide from Highlands Mobile Homes, Inc. at Ivel for $45,300, said its two halves had separated because it was poorly set up. The roof sagged and the walls buckled, they said.

Officials of the mobile home firm suggested that the damage was done by water running off a hill on the Swords' lot—on Happy Hollow of Prater Creek—and under the home.

The terms of the warranty were also disputed. Mrs. Sword claiming that Highlands salesman Jim Burton guaranteed to fix any problems that developed within the first year of purchase, but Highlands asserting that the only warranty was the manufacturer's.

Plaintiffs also asked for $1045 to compensate for a malfunctioning septic system installed along with the house, but the mobile home company claimed a second trailer had been hooked up to a septic tank designed for only one home. The jury awarded no damages for the septic system.

DOLORES REYNOLDS SMITH

CANDIDATE FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION
DISTRICT 2

I want you to know how I feel about the job of Board Member.

I view our school system as being one school system, not five. My decisions will be based on what is best for the school system—not just my district. Board policies affect all districts and all schools alike because this is one system. If we set a policy, I expect that policy to be carried out in all schools. My job as board member is to set policies. It is the superintendent's job to see that board policies are carried out.

I don't wish to hire the staff for this school system because that is not my job as board member. That job belongs to the superintendent. The only person the board is supposed to hire is the superintendent. I want a superintendent who knows what his job is and will do it. It is my job as board member to see that he does his job. My job is evaluation. If I see something going on that goes against board policy, it's my job to make the superintendent aware of that. It is his job to correct the situation, not mine. I believe in hiring that superintendent and giving him the authority to do his job. It is my job to assess whether he does his job. It is my job to support him, not tie his hands. If I have to tell him how to do his job, then we don't need a superintendent. We, as board members, should become administrators and we could save the county a lot of money.

It is my job to make myself available to you, the voter, whether you be a teacher, parent, whatever. It is my job to find out what you want from your school system; to encourage you to consider the educational process important; to encourage you to support our school system; to keep you informed so you know what is going on. I have had elected officials ask me why in the world I want to run for an office with all the aggravation that goes with the job. If my being aggravated will improve our school system, then I will be proud to be aggravated. I believe if you are concerned enough to talk to me, then we stand a better chance of succeeding. It says to me there are two of us who are concerned and willing to voice those concerns. By talking about our concerns, we may come up with an idea. I don't have to agree with you and neither do you have to agree with me. But we do need to listen to one another. If I choose to be your elected representative, then I have chosen to listen to you. If it's called aggravation, then I encourage you to aggravate. I will feel good when a teacher walks up to me without fear of reprimand and voices those concerns openly and honestly. I will feel good when a parent does that because I believe that's what it's all about. As I have said, TOGETHER WE CAN HAVE ONE OF THE BEST SCHOOL SYSTEMS IN THIS NATION. I want that and I hope and pray you do too.

The world is becoming more technical every day. It is more critical now than ever before that we provide our young people with the education that gives them the knowledge and thinking power to compete in this world. We do a grave injustice to them by not giving them that.

District 2 Board member received expenses of $398.35 for the year ending June 30, 1985. (Figure taken from Floyd County School's Annual Financial Report). Obviously neither me nor my opponent is running for this job for what it pays. Ask yourself why we are running and who will do the best job of providing our children with that quality education that they have to have.

(Paid for by the candidate, 11-pd.)

Miss Pilgrim, Dr. Hereford Wed

Miss Cheri Dee Pilgrim, daughter of Mrs. Eileen Gilliam Powers and Mr. Forrest Dean Pilgrim, Jr., of Kingsport, Tennessee, and Dr. John Robert Hereford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas May Hereford, of Prestonsburg, were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony July 19 at 5:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in Kingsport, Tennessee with the Rev. Dwayne Lee Kelsey officiating.

The bride's maternal grandmother is Mrs. Faustina Gilliam, and her paternal grandfather is Dr. Forrest Pilgrim, both of Kingsport, Tennessee. Her maternal great-grandmother is Lilly Pearl Fleming, of Jenkins.

A program of nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Robert Ammons of Kingsport, and the vocalist was Mrs. Dwayne Kelsey, of Flint, Michigan.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white organza styled with a portrait neckline and Juliet sleeves. The bodice was adorned with crystals and motifs of venise lace, and the chantilly lace sleeves were accented with small lace rosettes on the shoulders, with a ruffle at the elbows. The full circular skirt featured tiers of organza edged in chantilly lace, and extended into a cathedral-length train of matching lace. Her waist length veil was edged in schiffli embroidery and attached to a hat of chantilly lace, with accents of pearls and silk flowers.

The bride carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis, and baby's breath secured with off-white ribbons.

Miss Sarah Kathryn Hammond was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Cammie Selina Fields, the bride's step-sister, Miss Amy Katherine Fleming, the bride's cousin, Miss Laura Katherine Hereford, the groom's niece, and Miss Jamie Ellen Hickman. The attendants wore formal dresses of pale yellow silk with a row of ruffles encircling the top and bottom of their gowns.

The maid of honor carried a bouquet of all yellow daisies, baby's breath, with off-white ribbons. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of white daisies, baby's breath, with off-white ribbons.

Mr. Thomas May Hereford served his son as best man. Ushers were Dr. John King Celletti, Mr. David Richmond Hereford, the groom's brother, Mr. David Richmond Hereford, II, the groom's nephew, and Mr. Forrest Dean Pilgrim, III, the bride's brother.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Powers wore a formal dress of teal blue po de soie, gathered around the waist with sequins and Mrs. Hereford, mother of the groom, wore a rose formal dress of chiffon with a lace tunic. Mrs. Gilliam, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a tea-length dress of blue crepe De Chene.

Guests were welcomed to the reception and buffet at the Ridgefields Country Club, featuring the band, Matrix, by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sailor, of Nashville, immediately following the ceremony. Hostesses were Miss Alicia Fancher, of Newport, Tenn., and cousins of the bride, Mrs. Donald Sailor, of Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. Jan Silver and Mrs. Richard Tate, both of Kingsport, Tennessee; Miss Allison Fancher, of Newport, Tenn., presided at the guest register.

After a cruise to the Carriibbean, the couple returned to Kingsport. The bride, who attended the University of Tennessee, where she was a member of Phi Eta Sigma honor society, is a student at East Tennessee State University, where she is majoring in business.

Dr. Hereford graduated from the University of Louisville School of Medicine, completed his residency in obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Texas, and is now in private practice with Women's Medical group, in Kingsport.

PLANNING

TAX LAW TO BE SIGNED SOON

The media is full of information about the tax bill approved on August 16 by the House-Senate Conference Committee. Almost everyone is predicting quick and easy passage of the bill by the full House and Senate; President Reagan has hailed the bill as a "triumph" and says he will sign it. But don't act too hastily based on early information that you receive about the bill. Take the time to get a clear picture of how the bill will affect you, not only this year, but also for several years. Develop a strategy that will save you the most in taxes over the long run.

While the general form of the bill's provisions are generally clear at this point, working out the details and tying up the loose ends were left to the joint tax committee staff. The final bill is expected to be lengthy and as one analyst put it, "not all that simple."

In its broad outlines the bill is considered landmark legislation, the first significant tax reform since World War II. When it is fully in effect, this law may indeed give us a fairer and simpler tax code. However, the transition rules may leave taxpayers anything but impressed with the bill's fairness or simplicity.

What the bill does do is lower individual and corporate tax rates and shift over $120 billion in taxes from individuals to corporations over a five-year period. It takes more than six million low income people off the tax rolls altogether and provides four out of five taxpayers with a single 15% tax rate. It eliminates deductions and credits that have been preceived as "loopholes."

As the details of the bill are revealed, take the time to review the new law's effect on your situation. There should still be time to act to cut your 1986 taxes and, more importantly, to plan a strategy that will minimize your taxes in future years as well.

Floyd Conservation District Will Meet

The Floyd County Conservation district will meet Tuesday, September 16, at 2:15 p.m. in the district office at 105 Court Street, Prestonsburg. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Welcome Home Blake R. Burchett, M.D.

Our community is pleased to welcome home Blake R. Burchett, M.D.

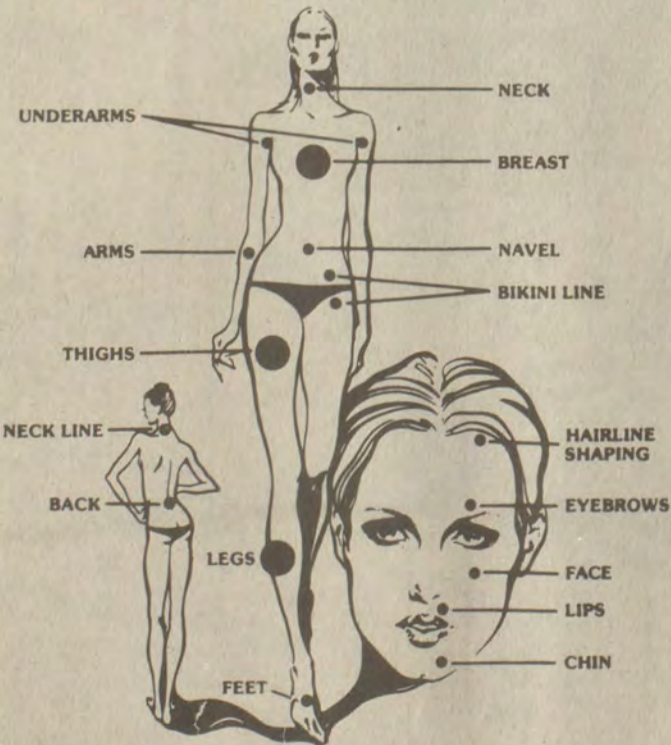

Dr. Burchett, a native of Prestonsburg, received his bachelor's degree from Transylvania University in Lexington and his medical degree from the University of Kentucky College of Medicine. He recently completed an internship and residency in family practice at Spartanburg General Hospital, Spartanburg, South Carolina, where he served as Chief Resident from 1985-1986.

Dr. Burchett speaks of family practice as "a speciality designed to provide comprehensive health care for the entire family." The family practitioner takes into account the patient's total environment; not only the physical symptoms but also home, job and family interactions.

Wins Scholarship To Become Teacher

Gov. Martha Layne Collins has announced that Lisa A. Scaf, of Beaver, a student at Alice Lloyd College, has received a scholarship from the state's Higher Education Assistance Authority.

According to the Governor, 89 scholarships have been awarded under the Teacher Scholarship Program this year. An additional 25 are being processed and will be announced shortly.

The scholarship program was part of Gov. Collins' education package enacted during the 1985 special session of the General Assembly and is intended to draw talented students into the teaching profession.

The scholarships, which have a ceiling of $5,000 are awarded based on the applicant's grade point average, class ranking and composite score on the American College Test (ACT). Competition for the scholarships was high with the authority receiving more than 400 applications from outstanding students who exceeded the eligibility requirements.

Receive Camp Awards

Boy Scout troop 880, Wheelwright, received 16 merit badges, two skill awards, three chip 'n' tote, two fire 'n' chit, two rank advancements and best unit award during summer camp at Camp McKee.

Jenny Wiley Theater Receipts Top $100,000

Jenny Wiley Theatre enjoyed one of its best seasons ever, according to Jim Deaton, the theatre's general manager. More than 18,900 people saw productions of Cotton Patch Gospel, Shenandoah, Oliver and Sweet Charity. The figure represents a 60 percent increase in total attendance over the 1985 season. And for the first time in its 22-year history, the theatre broke the $100,000 mark in box office receipts.

"We're very, very pleased with the figures," Deaton said. "We went all-out to give eastern Kentucky the best theatre we could, and the response was wonderful."

But while the theatre had a healthy year at the box office, it still has a long way to go before all of its long-term debt is erased, according to Deaton. "We're currently involved in Project 1000, our annual fund-raising drive to get 1000 people to donate $25 to theatre," Deaton said. "We need the extra financial support to continue the strong performance we had this summer."

While plans for the 1987 haven't been finalized yet, Deaton said that the theatre is planning to produce an all-new musical version of the Jenny Wiley story. "We're in negotiations now with a well-known West Coast playwright and director to do the new script. If all goes well, Jenny Wiley will be back onstage in 1987." The theatre last produced a version of the story in 1980. Deaton also said that an announcement of the complete 1987 season should be forthcoming by next month.

"Human felicity is produced not so much by great pieces of good fortune that seldom happen, as by little advantages that occur every day." Benjamin Franklin

A HARD HIT: Wheelwright's Johnny Isaac (76) applies a sure tackle on Pikeville's quarterback during their battle Friday night.

Trojans Fumble Their Way To Defeat

If you have ever played hot potato with your friends in the back yard then maybe you can understand the rapid change of possessions which took place between Pikeville and Wheelwright Friday night.

Although these two teams didn't exactly play the previously mentioned game, neither the Panthers nor the Trojans displayed much interest in holding onto the football for an extended period of time.

After Pikeville became tired of possessing the pigskin the Panthers would fumble it away to Wheelwright but in keeping with the hot potato format the Trojans would promptly return the fumble favor.

A grand total of 14 fumbles, which produced 10 turnovers, provided both teams scoring opportunities but, unfortunately for Roger Johnson and company, most of Wheelwright's seven turnovers off fumbles came early in the contest and more times than not when the Trojans were backed up deep in their own territory.

In fact, four of Wheelwright's first five possessions ended with a fumble and Pikeville was quick to take advantage of Trojan mistakes, scoring touchdowns on each of the first four turnovers.

The initial Wheelwright lose ball came with 6:36 remaining in the first quarter when the Trojans surrendered possession on their own 19 yard line.

Five plays and less than two minutes later the Panthers crossed the goal line on their way to a 38-0 district shutout of Wheelwright.

The Trojans did manage to remain in control during their next series of downs but couldn't manage a first down so out came the punting team.

Pikeville didn't waste much time after receiving the kick, marching 60 yards in five plays on a touchdown drive which was greatly aided by quarterback Matt Blair's 42 yard pass play.

The drive proved to be the only one of the scoring nature Pikeville could muster against a strong Wheelwright defense, that is without the support of an offensive turnover from the Trojans.

The home standing Trojans fumbled on the first play of the second half and after recovering on the enemy 35 Blair once again warmed his right arm up, burning Wheelwright with a touchdown pass on Pikeville's initial play from scrimmage.

The touchdown pass came with 11:34 remaining in the first half to give Pikeville a 19-0 lead but the Panthers had not satisfied their need to score and Wheelwright still had some fumbles left in their offensive system.

Three plays into their offensive set the Trojans coughed the football up and Pikeville pounced on the pigskin at the Wheelwright 25.

Keeping up with previous performances, the Panthers proceeded down the field, marching the 25 yards in four plays while finding paydirt only three minutes after their last score.

Wheelwright's fumble bug apparently bit the Pikeville Panthers in the second half but the circumstances didn't favor the Trojans, at least not enough for them to gain a score.

On the first play of the second half Wheelwright fumbled the kickoff which Pikeville recovered by they didn't want the football either.

After running one play the Panthers returned the favor and Wheelwright took over on their own 21. However, on their first running play the Trojans lost control of the slippery pigskin and Pikeville was once again in offensive business.

The Panthers, after two Andy Williamson running plays, moved to the enemy eight but the drive again ended in a change of possession when Pikeville gave the football back to Wheelwright. As offensive units interchanged with defensive squads somewhere in the shuffle the Panthers found a way to advance without fumbling.

The Pikeville turnover proved to be their last in this particular exchange and the powerful Panthers, after Wheelwright fumbled the football back to Pikeville on their initial play.

Williamson led the Panthers into the end zone, following four consecutive running plays, to give his team their final touchdown of the contest with 6:16 remaining in the third quarter.

The hard running Williamson led all rushers with 118 yards on 22 carries while fullback Doug Little topped Wheelwright with 42 yards while running the football 15 times.

Tony Hutton finished second in Trojan rushing with 33 yards on six carries. The potent Wheelwright ground attack was stymied by a tough Pikeville defense and a Trojan difficulty to successfully transfer the football from quarterback to running back, a reason for many Trojan turnovers.

The road doesn't get any easier for Coach Roger Johnson and his Wheelwright Trojans when they travel to Hazard to take on the strong Bulldogs.

Coach Johnson and Wheelwright football followers hope the Trojans return to victory form when 8:00 Friday night rolls around.

With Friday's contest the Trojans will be trying to improve a record that currently stands at 1-1, the same record Pikeville now boasts.

Knott Central Makes Going Tough For Young Rebels

The Allen Central Rebels struggled with themselves almost as much as they did with their opponents, the Knott County Central Patriots, in falling to the Patriots 37-8 Thursday night in the Ginger Bread Bowl.

Allen Central failed to take advantage of some big breaks at the beginning of Thursday's contest while Knott Central cashed in on most of their opportunities, add these two factors up and they equal the Rebels second loss of this young season.

Although the first year Rebels weren't exactly impressive Coach Donnie Daniels isn't close to losing his confidence in the young Rebels' progressing outlook.

"We have a long way to go," Coach Daniels said, "but we're playing a lot of young kids and we will still have a good football team."

Allen Central received a golden scoring opportunity in the first quarter but their good field position rapidly turned into a Knott Central touchdown.

After being forced to punt following their first series of downs, the Rebels recovered a Knott Central fumble on the Patriot 39 and aided by a face mask call marched the football to the enemy 17 but on their first play from the 17, Allen Central fumbled a handoff.

Patriot defensive back Rodney Slone scooped up the loose football and scampered 79 yards for the first Knott Central touchdown and the first of two for Slone.

Allen Central, after receiving the kickoff, experienced offensive problems and were forced to punt from their own 22 yard line.

With good field position the Patriots continued their scoring ways with a 65 yard, six play touchdown drive. The score proved to be all the Knott Central defense would need to hold off an undermanned Rebel offense.

The Patriots went on to score twice on their next two possessions and once more near the end of the half to take a 37-0 halftime lead.

While Knott Central operated in high gear offensively during the first half the Rebels could account for only 24 net yards moving the football, partly because of tough defensive pressure and partly because Allen Central was forced to operate without their top two ground gainers of a week ago.

"We came into the game with the Ison kid hurt and we lost Jeff Hughes in the first quarter so we were without our top two runners," Coach Daniels revealed. "We didn't have much success running the ball so we tried to open things up with the pass."

The air attack wasn't any more successful in that pivotal first half than the ground game was but in the second half quarterback Darrin Conn threw the passing game into gear.

Conn, after a tough opening half, threw for 37 yards in the second half, hitting on three of six passes with one touchdown and one interception.

Allen Central's score came late in the fourth quarter when Conn hit big end Tim Bailey for a 14 yard scoring toss. Bailey, a junior receiver, caught a total of five Darrin Conn passes for 60 yards and the one Allen Central touchdown.

Although the Rebel offense struggled Allen Central's defense displayed a strong showing despite the 37 Knott Central points.

The Rebel defense, spear headed by defensive captain Anthony Roderick, yielded a total of 207 yards while forcing three second half turnovers.

Roderick picked off a Chris Everets pass for the Rebels' first take away and on the next series of downs Tim Hackworth repeated Roderick's feat. Allen Central had earlier recovered a Patriot fumble to account for their other turnover forced.

Arron Kidd, Jeff Hughes, and Robbie Click each rushed for eight yards to pace a crippled Rebel running attack but with Ison and Hughes set to return soon Coach Daniels says his Rebels will continue to improve and the rookie coach is quick to point out that he has the patience to see his team do just that thing, improve.

"We'll be alright," Daniels said of his first year Rebels. "We are improving with each game and that is what we set out to do."

Coach Donnie Daniels, along with coaching partner and father Don Daniels, will lead their troup into battle this Friday when the Rebels travel to Johns Creek in hopes of Allen Central's first varsity football win.

THE SPORTING TIMES

By Alton Huff

'But what have you done for us lately?' The person who coined this phrase was really in tune with the high flying sports times.

The saying has been around for quite some time but never has it fit more appropriately than it does now. An increasing need for the American sports fan to come out on top is rapidly reaching an all time high but not everyone can experience the thrill of victory so someone somewhere is going to be disappointed.

Winning usually satisfies most people but lately winning suddenly doesn't do it. Fans of today will not settle for anything less than perfection, something a human being can't achieve.

In Saturday's Cincinnati game with the Chicago Cubs, second baseman Ron Oester committed an error which allowed the Cubs to score a run and cut the Reds' lead to 2-1.

The fans howled and hooted at Oester for his error but in the bottom of that same inning Oester, amongst the same fan harrassment, led off with a single. When the hustling infielder came home with a head first slide and an insurance run the fans cheered. Now, this is the same man who, only minutes ago, the fans wanted to run out of Cincinnati.

Oester's situation with angry fans was a brief one but another baseball star and future Hall of Famer Mike Schmidt experienced boos and hisses everywhere he went in Philadelphia.

The situation reached the critical point for Schmidt when the power hitting third baseman stopped the school bus to pick up his son and when recognized by other youngsters, Schmidt received a big boo from the young fans.

True, these children couldn't remember Schmidt's 30 plus homerun years and 100 plus RBI seasons but the older fans who initiated boo birds at the stadium and yelled for the Phillies to trade Schmidt could.

The former all-star and gold glove winner was going through a tough year and this is what fans were basing their disappointments on but how could they possibly forget the many smiles Schmidt had put on Philadelphia faces with his baseball performances.

The Phillies didn't trade their prize slugger and the boos soon died out. Schmidt hasn't heard very many insulting reactions this season because of his fourth season of hitting over 30 homeruns but if Schmidt slips the boo birds will just as quickly return.

Irate fans was one of the main reasons why Dave Parker left Pittsburgh. Those fans haven't had a winning team since then but fans in Cincinnati are glad the hard hitting outfielder was treated so badly.

NFL quarterbacks are another recipient of the dreaded boo birds. Regardless of their past production one bad game or one crucial interception and these people are no good bums until they prove, once again, that they are worthy of support.

In Kansas City's football victory over Cincinnati Sunday the fans lost their patience early, booing the Chiefs' offense after failing to move the ball effectively.

The game was tied at seven but when Kansas City jumped out to a third quarter lead those fans who had voiced their disappointment earlier Sunday re-accepted the Chiefs as their team. Why not? At this point in the contest Kansas City had a comfortable lead and for these fans winning was far more important than simply supporting their home town team.

Sports supporters reserve the right to boo and hiss because they pay to be entertained but when an athlete or team gives their professional best it should provide enough entertainment for the admission paid.

Unfortunately, most fans, for some strange reason, expect more than athletes can give. Day in and day out these people give their all to win but winners aren't always judged by the outcome on the scoreboard.

From day one of their professional careers all athletes steadily provide chills and thrills, homeruns and no hitters, touchdown passes and hard hits, jump shots and slam dunks, but as soon as that slugger strikes out or that jump-shot goes south fans are screaming to bench the player or better yet trade him.

This same player may have led his team in hitting or in scoring in the past few seasons but fans forget past accomplishments and say 'what have you done for us lately.'

Professional sports figures do receive big bucks for outputs and this may be one reason fans react to their mistakes so violently. Money, however, doesn't make anyone error free.

Fans from Boston to LA have perfected their boo birds and they spare no one. Superstars like seldom used reserves hear harsh criticism when they fail to perform consistently. They are made heroes when good things happen and they are made into trade bait when they experience difficult times.

Everyone could take a lesson from the Chicago Cubs' fans. Cub supporters haven't cheered for a world series team in decades but they continue to cheer. Some boos can be heard in Wrigley from time to time but for the most part these fans truly support their team, an example all fans should follow.

Larry Bird is probably the only professional athlete who hasn't been strongly criticized by his team's fans but ten years from now when Larry fades just a bit, the Boston fans, after watching Bird lead the Celtics to several championships, will no doubt say, put Larry Bird on the bench, he's scored only 20 points a game this season. They will forget you Larry, enjoy their support while its available.

Blackcats Suffer Second Loss

"It was the worst exhibition of football that I have ever seen," Coach Chuke Williams said after his Prestonsburg Blackcats suffered their second loss in as many games Friday night.

The Whitesburg Yellow Jackets scored once on a punt return for touchdown and again when they recovered a Prestonsburg fumble inside the Blackcat five yard line.

Whitesburg came up with the loose football when, in punt formation, the snap sailed high over the punter's head. The Yellow Jackets fell on the pigskin deep in enemy territory and proceeded into the endzone with a score.

The gift touchdown along with the punt return score proved to be all Whitesburg would need to defeat the Blackcats 28-6.

Prestonsburg's offensive unit struggled to move the football while failing to put any points on the scoreboard.

The Blackcats only touchdown of the evening came from the defense when Darrin Flannery intercepted a Whitesburg pass and returned it for a Prestonsburg score.

"We're just not coming off the ball and getting after people," Coach Williams said. "We're not moving the ball and you can't expect the defense to play three quarters of the game."

Coach Williams says his young Blackcat squad does indeed have problems which deserves added attention but the coach isn't about to write his team's chances off.

"We do have some problems that we have to work out. We're going to simplify some things and try to find the people that can do the job," Williams revealed.

"Football is a contact sport and if you don't like that contact then you will have problems," Coach Williams continued.

"We don't have a great amount of talented athletes which hurts us. We don't have a lot of talent at the skill positions but you don't have to be a great athlete to be a good football player," Williams said.

"If you don't have a lot of talent then you have to make up for it in desire and heart and if a player can't do that then you will be just average in this sport," Coach Williams explained.

Although the Prestonsburg Blackcats have struggled early this season, mostly because of young, inexperienced squad, the coaching staff continues its confidence that Prestonsburg High School will boast a good football team before this season ends.

"We think we have some good players coming but its going to take some time. I still feel that we can have a good team before the season is over, we just have some problems that we have to work out," Coach Williams said.

Prestonsburg has lost its first two football contests of this season and if they are to get back to winning ways the Blackcats will have to do it against some stiff competition.

The young Blackcats have to travel to Betsy Layne this Friday to take on a talented Bobcat squad and Coach Williams understands that his team can win if they play up to their full potential and not like the Blackcats of the previous two weeks.

"Betsy Layne has probably their best team ever and if we go out there without desire and intensity then the result will be the same as last week," Coach Williams said.

"If we play the way that I know we are capable of playing and really get after them then I think that we have a good shot at them," Williams concluded.

Offensive Output Lifts Bobcats Over Virgie

Through the air and on the ground the Betsy Layne Bobcats' offensive machine was clicking on all possible cylinders Friday night in rolling up a 67-19 victory over the homestanding Virgie Eagles.

The Bobcat air attack gained a total of 145 yards with both Bud Newsome and Kevin Spurlock throwing effectively in crumpling the Virgie pass defense.

Newsome, Betsy Layne's starting quarterback, completed five of his six attempts while the senior's talented understudy successfully connected on his only throwing try.

Betsy Layne's ground game, led by Chris Kidd's 96 yards, proved to be just as effective if not more so than their attack through the air. The Bobcats ran for 381 total rushing yards on 49 attempts.

Kidd, a 5-7 150 pound junior tailback, rolled his team leading yardage up on 10 carries while another junior running back, Todd Sturgill, gained 91 yards on a like number of attempts.

Yet another junior back, wingback John Bush produced a 90 yard performance but the talented Betsy Layne back achieved his credible showing on only six rushing tries.

Both Bush and Sturgill crossed the Virgie goal line three times for Betsy Layne touchdowns to lead the incredible Bobcat offensive avalanche which saw seven different Betsy Layne players reach paydirt.

Although the Bobcats scored a whopping 67 points head coach Jack Hall was quick to point out that his intentions were not to run the score up on the Virgie Eagles.

"We didn't try to beat them that badly," Coach Hall said. "But sometimes you can't help yourself."

Not that Betsy Layne tried to keep themselves from the enemy's goal line but the Bobcats did give their total roster a chance to gain some valuable playing experience, playing all 42 members of their squad.

The Betsy Layne offensive unit received and deserved high praise for its efforts but on the other side of the football the defensive units were effective in holding the Virgie offense away, for the most part, from the endzone.

Virgie did manage to score 19 points but most of those came after the contest had long been decided. The Eagles scored one touchdown against Betsy Layne's first unit defensively as they did against the second and third string crews.

With the victory the Bobcats evened their season record at 1-1 and became only the second Floyd County team to collect a win this season, joining Wheelwright at the winner's circle.

ST. LOUIS 0-1	TAMPA BAY 0-1

Now we know why they keep score. Because even a team like San Diego can beat a team like Miami. The Bears also had their offense in high gear to defeat Miami just shortly after the Dolphins made Dan Marino the highest paid player in the NFL.

Denver, like San Diego, helped their divisional cause by turning back a tough Raider team. The Broncos finished last season with a 10-6 mark but had to stay home during the playoffs. This year, however, the Broncos appear to be ready for another playoff challenging season.

The Chicago Bears kicked their Super Bowl defending season off with a big victory over Cleveland but the Bears also lost big in the contest. Quarterback Jim McMahon suffered a shoulder injury which will keep the talented Bears' leader out for an expected three games.

Chicago will play Philadelphia, Green Bay, and Cincinnati during that three game stretch and with their other superior talent, shouldn't suffer much in these contests.

This week Chicago will go up against former defensive coordinator Buddy Ryan and the Philadelphia Eagles. Ryan's famed 4-6 defense hasn't jelled as yet, the Eagles gave up a total of 41 points to Washington.

An oddity was produced in last week's action. The Houston Oilers stand alone atop the AFC Central division because the Bengals played not to lose instead of playing to win. Both Cleveland and Pittsburgh was supposed to lose but the Bengals lost one they were supposed to win. A bad way to start your run for a divisional title.

Buffalo looked like a different team with Jim Kelly calling the signals. Kelly threw for three touchdowns but he can't play defense too.

Speaking of defense, the San Francisco 49ers intercepted seven passes against Tampa Bay, a club record for the 49ers and a long day for Bucks quarterback Steve DeBerg.

Detroit received 174 yards rushing from fullback James Jones and went on to defeat Minnesota. Detroit takes on Dallas in the Silver Dome this Sunday and at home the Lions are always tough.

Former Morehead State University quarterbacking star Phil Simms threw for over 250 yards and three touchdowns Monday night but it was Danny White who came away smiling as the Dallas Cowboys defeated the New York Giants in a big NFC East confrontation.

The Giants will get a return bout later in the season at home but this week they will have to contend with Dan Fouts and San Diego first.

Other games to watch this week include Thursday's contest between last year's other Super Bowl team, the New England Patriots and New York Jets. Both of these teams boast young, talented quarterbacks to go with strong runners.

Cleveland and Houston always has an interesting battle but with both teams vastly improved this game carries more weight than usual.

In the NFC West the two top teams will go head to head as the San Francisco 49ers and LA Rams hook up. Its too early to call these match ups crucial but when the end of the season nears everybody will look back and say what if we had done this or this in the first few weeks of the year.

The LA Raiders are probably looking to take their anger on and Washington will receive much of that but the Redskins can dish it out also. The game isn't within a division but if YOU WANT EXCITING FOOTBALL catch this one if you can.

Divisional races will soon take shape and in a 16 game schedule one play could mean a playoff appearance or a home stay in January. Offense seems to be the name of the game this season which should make for an exciting year of professional football.

SHORT SPORTS

The Dallas Mavericks traded reserve forward Jay Vincent to the Washington Bullets Thursday for a 1990 first round Washington draft choice.

Vincent scored 14 points and hauled down five rebounds per game last season while spelling starter Mark Aguirre.

The seven year veteran out of Michigan State is expected to fill the same role for the Bullets during the 86-87 season.

Cincinnati Reds' rookie shortstop Barry Larkin has been selected as the American Association's most valuable player and rookie of the year.

The 22 year old shortstop hit .329 with 10 homers and 59 RBIs for Cincinnati's farm team in Denver.

After being called up to the major leagues Larkin has compiled a .256 batting average to go with his one homerun and six RBIs. The first year performer appears to be the Reds' number one shortstop prospect for next season.

Former major league MVP performer and Hall of Famer Hank Greenberg died Wednesday at the age of 75, following a fight with cancer.

Greenberg twice won the most valuable player award with the Detroit Tigers while boasting a lifetime .313 batting average.

Michael Spinks retained his IBF heavyweight title Saturday night with a fourth round technical knockout of European champion Steffen Tangstead.

Spinks won the IBF title from Larry Holmes and defended it successfully against Tangstead who, coming into the bout, boasted a 24-1-2 record.

Tennis sensation Martina Navratilova captured the US Open women's title with a straight set victory over Helena Sukova Sunday.

Navratilova was expected to be in the finals after receiving the number one seed but Sukova had to upset second seed Chris Everet-Lloyd to earn a championship berth.

Number one men's seed Ivan Lendl successfully defended his 1985 US Open title with a straight set victory Sunday.

Lendl also secured his number one ranking with his 6-4 6-2 6-0 victory.

The Cleveland Browns released stand-out linebacker Tom Cousineau Wednesday but less than 24 hours later Cousineau was picked up by San Francisco.

The former USC linebacker racked up a total of 145 tackles for the Browns last season while combining with other talented linebackers to give Cleveland one of the best units in football.

Anthony Griggs has replaced Cousineau at the vacant inside linebacking position. Griggs' rapid progress reportedly was one of the reasons why the Browns released Cousineau. His half a million dollar a year salary was another.

Major League baseball ended its cross-division schedule Sunday with divisional races increasingly becoming non-existent.

The Cincinnati Reds ended their Eastern Division schedule with a loss to the Chicago Cubs while the Houston Astros defeated St. Louis.

The Reds' loss coupled with the Houston victory left Cincinnati eight games behind the division leading Astros.

In the American League East the Boston Red Sox ended competition against the West with a flurry. Boston won their final seven games and put some distance between them and second placed Toronto.

The Blue Jays failed to keep pace with Boston and fell five and one half games behind the Red Sox but the two teams have six games remaining with each other starting September 19 with a three game series in Toronto.

California enjoyed their final series with New York while opening the gap between them and the Texas Rangers. The Angels led by seven games Sunday, the same amount of games remaining between the two clubs but they won't go head to head until the final three days in this month.

Bassin' With the Pros... Fishing Patterns Are Predictable

By TREY FOERSTER

Take a good look at your own daily schedule. After I wake up I hit the shower, shave, get dressed, watch the morning news while my son, Regan, tries to coax me out to play baseball or basketball. After a half hour passes, Mary relieves me of my fatherly responsibility so that I can catch my java and toast at the local cafe while hearing about the six-pounder someone caught the previous night. Then it's off to work.

Believe it or not, bass have daily patterns just like you and me. Bass are creatures of habit and heredity and can be counted upon to do predictable things under certain circumstances. It's precisely their day-in-day-out habits that key anglers in to what has come to be called "pattern fishing."

According to Randy Fite, Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member, pattern fishing gets "programmed into your mind and the more time you spend on the water, the more reflex responses you have to these things.

"For example, someone who's been fishing any length of time may start off with a topwater bait early in the morning and he's catching fish and sees that fishing is starting to slow down. He realizes that the sun is getting brighter and the bass are getting back underneath the grassline or whatever. This is when he'd make an adjustment by going to a plastic worm or something else that's going to get below the surface. Bass react to sunlight. These variables become secondhand to you in the sense that you will make these adjustments as conditions change."

On any large body of water, you will generally have multiple patterns. To be successful in your search for bass, you'll have to understand and locate at least two or three existing patterns.

"If conditions change, as they often do," Fite emphasizes, "sometimes there's a pattern that is less affected by that change than by what another pattern might be. A good example would be a body of water with shallow water fish and deep water fish. Let's say it's been cloudy for two days and you've been catching fish out in the shallow water. All of a sudden, the sun pops out. Shallow water bass are harder to catch under bright sunlight intensity. So, you'd fall back on your secondary pattern, which would be the deep water bass because they are not really affected by that sunlight because light intensity is very, very low at that depth anyway."

Sunlight penetration and water temperature will determine what your lure selection will be. The water temperature will also determine what your retrieve speed will be—the colder the water, the slower the speed.

"For example," Fite illustrates, "if you have a tree laying down in the water and the water is shallow and the tree is laying there under bright sunlight conditions (that is, when the sun is not at its peak, between 9-11 a.m. and 4-7 p.m.), you should fish the outer edge of the tree with a fast moving bait. The bass will tend to be aggressive and therefore, will come from the outside edge of the tree and chase anything that comes by."

"Take that same tree under the same conditions except that there is high sunlight intensity (that is, when the sun is at its peak, between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.) on that tree. Now that bass will tend to back up and get into the heaviest section of that tree. Under this light condition, he's not going to come charging out of that tree to chase anything. He's in more of a dormant state and, therefore, your lure selection will either have to be a worm or jig, something you can get right into the heaviest brush or heaviest part of that tree and present right to that fish.

"In warmer water conditions, you want to work your baits more in a horizontal motion," Fite continues.

Where are bass generally located during the summer? Fite answers that "fish tend to relate to types of sloping contours and gradual dropoffs. This is because the summer weather changes aren't as severe as they are in the winter and fish relate to the gradual depth changes because they don't have to make any sudden movements one way or the other due to these weather changes."

In summation, Fite stresses that frequently, when a lot of people catch fish, they don't try to look at all the reasons of why the bass was where it was caught. "If they'd understand why that bass was there, then they would better understand the pattern that's going on in the lake at that given time."

Trial Perch Construction May Boost Eagle Numbers

Biologists with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources recently constructed experimental bald eagle perches on Ballard Wildlife Management Area to help accommodate the recovery of this species.

The bald eagle, which for some time has been listed as endangered in many southern states, is increasing in numbers in Kentucky, according to fishery biologist Lynda Andrews. Andrews, along with environmental section chief Wayne Davis, traveled to Western Kentucky, where along the Ohio River six telephone poles with three different designs of perches were raised for the birds to use.

According to Andrews, a bald eagle nest was discovered in late February of 1985—the first in Kentucky in nearly 40 years. The 8,000-acre Ballard Wildlife Management Area has more bald eagles during the winter months than anywhere else in Kentucky. Andrews said the number of birds in this area alone averages 60 per year, with the highest ever recorded being 117.

The poles, along with the manpower and equipment to set them in the ground, were donated by the Jackson Purchase Rural Electric Cooperative, which Davis said was instrumental in aiding with the project. The perches are designed to give the eagles a choice of which structure they prefer. Biologists will observe the eagle to determine the most suitable type of perch, and a total of 50-60 will be placed in the area.

Davis said two older dams (52 and 53) on the Ohio are scheduled to be replaced in the mid-1990s with construction of a new lock and dam. In the construction, an additional 11 acres will be added to the bank where the perches will be erected. This extra land will serve as a buffer between the eagles and human activity on the river, Davis said the environmental section is working with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which will build the dam, on funding a study of the eagles and the effect construction may have on the local fish and wildlife resources.

The objective of the project is to provide the eagles an appropriate environment to winter and nest. Andrews pointed out the courtship period is the most crucial time for the birds during the nesting season. Too much disturbance may cause the birds not to nest in that area, or not to return the following years as is customary.

Although the bald eagle population in Kentucky is still listed as endangered, Davis said the overall goal to help the eagle regain numbers will be enhanced by this project, as it helps to provide a widespread area of nesting across the United States. Florida, said Andrews, probably has the highest nesting concentration of bald eagles in the south, but the more dispersed nesting becomes, it is less likely one detrimental incident, like poisoning, will wipe out the entire species.

"Our first goal is for the nest to be successful," said Davis, "then to work to see the environment remains productive for other eagles to nest and winter."

are also working with our conservation officers to control poaching on these areas. All these good deeds provided by our sportsmen clubs will provide an enhancement of our fish and wildlife resources in eastern Kentucky.

Because of a vast number of requests from our Floyd County sportsmen and fishermen, the Fish and Wildlife Commission voted to put a 15" size limit on large mouth and small mouth bass and no limit on spotted or Kentucky bass on Dewey Lake beginning Jan. 1, 1987. Hopefully, this will increase the numbers of quality spawning bass and will enhance the bass fishing in the future on Dewey Lake.

The Fisheries Division is recommending a 15" size limit on a number of our eastern Kentucky lakes for future commissions. Fishermen, how do you feel about these possible size limits?

As we continue to enhance our wild turkey program, Magoffin, Lawrence and Knott Counties will receive wild turkeys this year. Next year the Fishtrap WMA, Buckhorn Lake Area, and Dewey Lake WMA will also receive turkeys. We have turkeys in most of our counties in the 7th District now and these stockings will only increase our opportunities for turkey populations in the future.

Remember, sportsmen, deer season is closed in Perry and Letcher Counties until we finish the mass deer stocking for those two counties. By the way, we'll be having a public meeting in Letcher Co. at the Letcher Co. courthouse at 7:00 p.m. on Sept. 24th and at Hazard City Hall at 8:00 p.m. on Sept. 25th to discuss the upcoming deer stocking program in Perry and Letcher counties.

Just a few more reminders—there will be a Ruffed Grouse Society dinner, auction, and raffles banquet beginning at 6:00 p.m. Sept. 19th at the Holiday Inn in Prestonsburg. Also, the League of Ky. Sportsmen banquet will be held at Campbell House in Lexington on Sept. 27th at 6:30 p.m. The Southeast Duck Unlimited dinner, auction and raffle will be held at the Woodland Motel in Hazard on Oct. 15th. If anyone needs tickets or information, please call me at 606-436-2321 during the day or 606-436-2526 at night.

Sportsmen, before you go hunting or fishing this fall, be sure to check your equipment and check the regulations. If you go hunting or fishing, do so in a safe and responsible manner.

If anyone has any comments or suggestions, please write Doug Hensley, Box 775, Hazard, Ky. 41701.

Betsy Layne will continue their search for a winning season this Friday when they welcome in cross county rival Prestonsburg.

Although the Blackcats have experienced tough going in this young season, Coach Hall isn't overlooking Duke Williams and his Prestonsburg team.

"I haven't seen them this year but Coach Newsome went down last Friday and he says that they are pretty tough," Coach Hall said.

"I haven't talked to Coach Newsome yet but I'll say that we will be in for a dog fight," Coach Hall admitted.

Betsy Layne can afford to give Prestonsburg their best effort because after this Friday's contest the Bobcats won't return to action until September 26 when they invite Knott Central in to Mile High Field for a homecoming encounter within the triple A Patriots.

Outdoors With Andy

By A.G. SPENCER

Success can breed complacency, or so I thought to myself as I trudged off the familiar path down the hillside. It was opening morning of squirrel season last month, and I had encountered a prattfall common to most hunters.

The ridgeline that I had just left had proven to be a reliable producer of bushytails in years past. The specter of former successful hunts had risen to haunt this outing, however, as I had been so sure of bagging a few squirrels for the stew pot that I hadn't even scouted the area for cuttings or other signs before opening day.

By the time yours truly had worked his way down to the isolated old farm house that my uncle and I often hunt from, I was mentally kicking myself for not checking the spot a few days earlier. Surprisingly, a quick chat with my uncle, an excellent hunter, revealed that he had not seen hide nor hair of the tree-dwelling rodents, either.

Recalling a conversation earlier that week with Jeff Sole, an upland game specialist with the state Dept. of Fish and Wildlife, in which he had painted a rosy picture for this year's squirrel season, my curiosity began to get the better of me. When I got home from that initial jaunt, I dialed a cousin in Johnson county, a veteran hunter who has bagged literally thousands of bushytails. Although he had failed to score, his partner had potted four the first morning.

If there were relatively few squirrels, as I had convinced myself to excuse my own poor showing, why could someone kill four in one spot? The answer proved to be the late freeze we had this spring. The unseasonably late cold spell killed many of the blooms on the nut-bearing trees, particularly in the higher elevations. As a result, squirrels in eastern Kentucky have tended so far this season to be clustered around what food sources remain, so a hunter may hunt all day long and not so much as hear a squirrel, only to stumble on five or six within fifty yards of each other in a different locale the next day.

What all of this information translates into for the average Nimrod is that he or she must scout an area thoroughly before devoting a morning, a day or even an entire weekend to hunting there. Look for squirrels to be traveling considerably more than usual, especially on the ground, as their search for food intensifies and the mercury continues to drop.

With the advent of cooler months such as September and October, a smorgasbord of opportunities is available for the all-around outdoorsman. The cooler weather marks the beginning of increased activity on the part of both finned and furred game.

Many avid fishermen swear that angling is even more productive in the fall than in the spring. Add to that ever fewer bugs and comfortable weather all day long and you have all the ingredients for a pleasant, relaxing family outing over the weekend.

Even better, you can pick up your 22 when the fishing slows down and set out to add a few squirrels or a groundhog or two to the family larder. Fry any of these slowly in some bacon grease, add some persimmons or sweet potatoes, a salad of watercress and green onions and you have all the fixings. A few hushpuppies and golden fried fish filets won't exactly spoil the atmosphere, either.

Remember that kids have short attention spans, and may lose interest in what you want to do just as you're getting warmed up. Its always a good idea to bring along binoculars for bird-watching (try making a game of this by allotting so many points for each species identified), frisbees and the like for games, an ice chest full of refreshments and bug spray for those flying nasties.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., September 8—Fishing activity for the September 6-7 weekend was reported light to heavy statewide.

Pleasant conditions and cooler water temperatures are bringing out more fishermen for the beginning of the fall season. The lake-by-lake rundown, as reported by conservation officers or creel clerks at each lake:

KENTUCKY: Crappie were hitting minnows and jigs over secondary river channels 10-25 feet deep; catfish were biting nightcrawlers and minnows over main lake channels in 25-45 feet of water; murky, falling, 3-1/2 feet below summer pool and 78 degrees.

BARKLEY: Black bass were hitting crank baits off gravel points 3-12 feet deep; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs over drop-offs 5-15 feet deep; clear, falling, 2-1/2 feet below summer pool and 78 degrees.

BARREN: Crappie were hitting minnows fished 15-20 feet deep over submerged tree tops; black bass were hitting crank baits cast off points in 8-12 feet of water; in the tailwaters, crappie were active; clear, falling, 1-1/2 feet below summer pool and 78 degrees.

NOLIN: Black bass were hitting plastic worms cast off points and around stump rows 2-6 feet deep; crappie were taking minnows over submerged cover and stick-ups in 12-15 feet of water; some walleye were being taken by trolling deep runners; clear, falling, 1/2 foot below summer pool and 80 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER: Crappie were taking minnows still fished over submerged cover 10-15 feet deep; black bass were hitting crank baits and plastic worms off rocky points and rocky banks in 10-15 feet of water; clear, stable at summer pool and 78 degrees.

TAYLORSVILLE: Black bass were taking crank baits and plastic worms off deep points and drop-offs 10-20 feet deep; bluegill were biting worms or crickets near stick-ups 6-8 feet deep; clear to murky, falling, 1-1/2 feet below summer pool and 77 degrees.

HERRINGTON: No report available.

CUMBERLAND: Black bass were hitting crawfish over deep rocky bluffs and off points in 15-20 feet of water; bluegill were taking meal worms and crickets over submerged tree tops 5-10 feet deep; clear, stable at 23 feet below summer pool and 78 degrees.

ing of bow season for deer on October 1. A surprisingly large number of local sportsmen pick up the bow each fall in pursuit of the wily whitetail. Some of these enthusiasts are even reported by sleepless spouses to mumble incoherently in their sleep for weeks prior to season. Surely dreams of 12-point racks and freezers full of venison steaks and roasts play a big part of these nocturnal ruminations.

The first point to consider is that the bow hunter, perhaps more than any other category of outdoorsman, must be familiar and expert with his equipment. This means getting your bow and accessories today, if you haven't already, and practicing an hour or two every day leading up to opening morning.

Even regular practice isn't enough, though. You must be able to accurately estimate yardage over varying terrain because of the acutely arching trajectory of an arrow shot from even the fastest compound bow. A miscalculation of distance as slight as five yards can and usually does result in a complete miss. Also, you should practice extensively from an elevated tree stand if, like many bow hunters, you plan to hunt from one.

The main point to consider is that you obviously cannot harvest your deer "where he ain't." There is no substitute for countless hours afield scouting terrain for deer paths, especially along river and creek banks, hidden draws between hills, thick stretches of evergreens, and around food sources such as cornfields, soybean patches and stands of white oaks.

Additionally, look for buck rubs, where bucks have stripped bark and branches from trees and saplings, and/or have pawed open a good-sized patch of earth.

Until we get into deer populations and behavior next week, keep practicing and happy hunting!

Name Omitted

The name of one of the P.C.C. Tae Kwon Do Club members was unintentionally omitted from last week's feature on belt promotion tests. Timothy Shaun Robinson attained the ranking of purple belt.

THEN and NOW

THEN: Back in 1744 when the initial golfing code was drawn up by the Honorable Company of Edinburgh Golfers in Edinburgh, Scotland, putting greens were far from being impeccably groomed. The ball was teed on a little mound built from dirt scooped out of the hole.

NOW: Today most putting greens are beautiful and smooth. The United States Golf Association (USGA) is constantly striving to improve fairways and putting greens. The USGA sponsors university research to develop better turfgresses. It also sends experts to member clubs subscribing to its Turfgress Service. The visits cover golf course maintenance, including soil testing, turf culture, seed, fertilizer, watering, and control of pests, diseases and weeds.

There are twenty-six amendments to our Constitution. Three are directly concerned with insuring the right of citizens to vote. This is evidence that the Constitution is a working basis for government—not just a static document. The Daughters of the American Revolution urges you to celebrate Constitution Week (September 17-23) by resolving to be a citizen who votes responsibly.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Martin Beverly.

I remember the day I met you and the day God made you mine. I remember the day I lost you and will to the end of time. Among the tears and heartaches, there's one thing that makes me glad, that you chose me to share with you, those precious years we had.

Still loved. Still missed. Still very dear.

Our Founding Fathers, in order to secure the blessings of liberty for themselves and their posterity, did ordain and establish a Constitution for the United States of America. Constitution Week (September 17 through 23) commemorates the one hundred ninety-ninth anniversary of the signing of this great document.

In Loving Memory of my beloved husband Bennie Tackett, who passed away Sept. 9, 1985.

Everything is different, since you left us. While around us, everything seems the same. The world doesn't stop turning. Just because of all my pain. Every time I think of you. My eyes begin to burn. Tears start running down my face. My heart began to yearn. Take me back to yesterday. When everybody was alright. Just knowing you were beside me. Made everything just right. You've gone away and left me. Our house is not a home. Never more will I be happy. With sadness, I walk alone. My grief forever it will stay. Even time can never erase. The paint etched upon my heart. Or the sadness upon my face. Why does living hurt so bad? Why do our loved ones have to die? Why can't we grow old together? Why do we say goodbye?

Why Build in Flood Area?

As a concerned grandmother I would like to express my opinion on the new grade school being built on the old site at Garrett which is in the flood area.

I have a handicapped granddaughter who spends most of her time in a wheelchair.

I would like to ask the school board why, with at least four other sites to consider, they would decide on Garrett which is in the flood area?

I think the school board should work with the people of Garrett and Wayland and find the best place to build the new grade school we need so badly.

Accident Victim Dies; Was 19 Months In Coma

Nineteen months after she received head injuries in an auto accident on the way home from work, Cathy Lynn Burke Allen, 34, died Saturday at the J. J. Jordan Geriatric Center in Louisa. She had never regained consciousness since the accident.

A switchboard operator at the First Commonwealth Bank here, she was near Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin, on her way home to Hueysville, when a car crossed the center line in front of her, colliding with her car head-on. A 23-year-old Weeksbury man, whom police said was drunk at the time, is serving a 10-year prison term after pleading guilty to assault in the case.

Mrs. Allen was born Feb. 5, 1952 in Pike county, a daughter of the late Archie Burke and Elva Johnson Burke, of Martin. She was a member of the Hueysville Church of Christ.

Besides her mother, she is survived by two daughters, Gina Lynn Prater and Heather Dawn Prater, both of Welston, Ohio; a brother, Tommy Burke, of Drift; and a sister, Evelyn Deborah Allen, of Lexington.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Hall Funeral Home Chapel in Martin, with Bennie Blankenship officiating. Burial was in the Buckingham Cemetery under the direction of Hall Funeral Home.

Infant Death Rate Health Care Topic

Health care professionals from across Kentucky will meet in Louisville early next month to learn more about infant mortality, one of the most serious health issues facing the state.

"For every 1000 babies born in Kentucky, about 11 die before they turn one year old," said Patricia Nicol, M.D., of the Department for Health Services. "That's one of the highest rates in the country."

Reducing infant mortality is one of the department's foremost priorities, so the 29th annual Helen B. Fraser Maternal and Child Health Conference, sponsored by Health Services, will be devoted to the subject of infant mortality, Nicol said.

The conference, scheduled for Oct. 1, 2 and 3 at the Holiday Inn South in Louisville, will acquaint about 600 nurses, nutritionists, doctors and health department support staff with the roots of the problems in Kentucky and will offer suggestions on how the number of infant deaths might be reduced.

The first day of the conference will involve general sessions for all participants. The other two days will consist of concurrent workshops with topics such as premature birth and low birth-weight prevention, teen pregnancy reduction efforts, parenting skills development, family violence prevention, and nutrition for the low birth-weight, high-risk baby.

Continuing education units for nurses can be earned at the conference. Anyone interested in public health care is invited to attend.

Pre-registration for any or all parts of the three-day conference is $10, and the deadline for pre-registration is Sept. 24. Registration at the door is $15.

For registration forms, contact Marilyn Jones, Division of Maternal and Child Health, Department for Health Services, 275 E. Main St., Frankfort, Ky. 40621. The telephone number is (502) 564-8904.

WHO SHOULD BE TOLD ABOUT A DEATH?

It is easy to forget, when a loved one dies, that there are many other people who should be advised about the death.

The most obvious are family members: parents, children, brothers and sisters, and other relatives. They should be notified soon, by telephone if they live far away, so they can make arrangements to be with the rest of the family.

Friends of the deceased also will want to attend funeral services and should be notified promptly. These include neighbors as well as friends from religious, professional and recreational groups.

Also, business associates of the deceased should be told of the death so they can make suitable arrangements of their own. Usually a single phone call to the business is sufficient.

The funeral home will arrange for an obituary to be published in the newspaper. Your funeral director will ask you for the information needed.

We, as funeral directors, can help make this difficult time a little easier for everyone. Please call us or stop by if you have questions about our services.

Holbrook Reunion Held In Ada, O., Labor Day

Descendants of the late G.W. and Rachel Music Holbrook met Labor Day at memorial park in Ada, Ohio for their annual reunion. There were 112 present, coming from various part of Ohio and Indiana.

A full course dinner was served at 1 o'clock. The oldest in attendance was Andrew Allen, of Lima, O., 78, and the youngest, Michael, two-year-old daughter of Dan and Peg Holbrook, of Alger, Ohio.

Mrs. Bertha Childers Holbrook was unable to attend because of illness. She suffered a broken hip in May while visiting her children in Indiana and is now in Highlands Regional Medical Center. She suffered a stroke a few days ago and is in serious condition. She makes her home at Salyersville with her daughter, Florene Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. James were appointed to oversee the reunion next year at the same time, same place, and Letha Williams was appointed reporter.

Lynch Native Endows EKU Scholarship

Eastern Kentucky University has received a $50,000 gift to establish an endowed scholarship fund for students preparing for careers in the allied health and nursing professions.

The Tinsley and Mamie Dizney Memorial Endowed Scholarship fund has been established by Orlando, Fla. businessman Donald R. Dizney, said EKU President Hanly Funderburk.

The scholarship fund honors the memory of Dizney's grandparents, who resided in Loyall, Ky. It is also designed to promote the education of academically talented students from eastern Kentucky who enroll full-time at EKU. The scholarship fund was set up "out of my love and respect for my grandparents and in appreciation for the opportunities I received as a student at Eastern," said Dizney, who grew up in Lynch and who attended EKU. "I am pleased that this endowment in my grandparents' names will help deserving eastern Kentucky students for many years to come."

Interest from the endowed fund will provide four $1,000 continuing scholarships each year. The first award will be given this fall, and the second, third and fourth scholarships will be awarded in succeeding years.

The scholarship is renewable for eight semesters providing the recipient maintains at least a 3.0 grade point average (4.0 scale) and an ACT composite score of 25. Citizenship, leadership and service to school, church and community will also be considered.

"Donald Dizney has distinguished himself as a business and civic leader in the Orlando community, and well beyond, and we are proud that he is a former EKU student," Dr. Funderburk said. "His generous gift rewards academic excellence, and assists deserving students meet their college expenses. It is an appropriate memorial to his grandparents."

Dizney currently serves as chairman of the board of United Medical Corporation, which owns and operates a chain of acute care and psychiatric hospitals throughout the United States and Puerto Rico. He also is managing partner of the Orlando Renegades of the United States Football League.

Mediterranean Diet Prevents Diseases

New research indicates that the combination of foods in the traditional diet of Mediterranean villagers helps shield them from heart disease and many cancers, reports the September Reader's Digest.

Since classical times, Greeks, Italians and Levantines have based their diet on grain, olives and grapes. Mediterranean villagers supplemented these staples with green vegetables, beans, fruit, garlic, onions, fish and yogurt.

Up to 75 percent of this diet's calories may be in the form of olive oil and cereals. In fact, olive oil provides most of the daily fat intake. Fish often supplies most of the animal protein. By contrast, in the West, meat and dairy products yield up to two-thirds of our daily protein and about 60 percent of our fat.

Heart disease and cancer have been called diseases of affluence, because they are linked to the high-fat, high-calorie, low-vegetable-and-fiber diets common in the West. If a majority of people in Western nations adopted some of the following elements of the Mediterranean-village diet, notes Dr. Jan Stjernsward, chief of the World Health Organization's cancer division, "it would have a major impact on reducing not only cancer but also cardiovascular disease."

•Whole grains—Cereal foods, including bread, pasta and cracked-grain dishes such as bulgur, make up almost half of the Mediterranean people's daily intake of calories. Once dismissed as starchy fillers, complex cereal carbohydrates are now recognized as an important source of B-vitamins, iron and vital dietary fiber, which may inhibit the formation of intestinal cancers. Americans receive only about one-quarter of their daily calories from cereal grains. Nutritionists urge more cereal-grain consumption, not only for nutrients, but also because low-calorie grain foods offer a significant weight-control benefit: satiety, or meal satisfaction.

•Olive oil—Olive oil is cholesterol-free and rich in the mono-unsaturated fats that may promote cardiovascular health. It cleanses the system of low-density lipoproteins (LDLs), the bad cholesterol in our bloodstream, while leaving a healthy level of high-density lipoproteins (HDLs), necessary for good health.

•Grapes and wine—Wines are rich in trace elements, which, researchers believe, may provide some protection against heart disease. Death rates from heart disease are markedly lower in France and Italy, which have two of the largest rates of wine consumption, than those of other nations. Research also shows that moderate wine-drinking with meals reduces stress.

•Fish and seafood—Fish, which Mediterraneans consume as much as we do meat, helps to fight heart disease, too. Tuna, sardines, mackerel, red snapper, herring and swordfish are rich in unsaturated fats called the omega-3s that lower blood cholesterol and prevent blood-clot formation, a major cause of heart attacks.

•Vegetables, fruits and beans—American experts have found that fruits and vegetables rich in a natural compound known as beta-carotene, a source of vitamin A, may offer protection from many cancers common in the West. Most advantageous are deep-yellow fruits and vegetables (apricots, sweet potatoes and carrots), spinach, kale, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, rutabagas and turnips. The pectin in grapes, figs, plums and other fruits lowers cholesterol levels in the blood, as does the water-soluble fiber found in navy and pinto beans. Fruit and vegetable fiber seems to lessen the chance of intestinal tumor formation.

•Garlic and onions—Research indicates that the regular consumption of garlic and onions reduces cholesterol levels and helps fight hardening of the arteries and hypertension.

Owens To Be Installed As Pike College Prexy

Pikeville College will install its 15th president, William H. Owens, during a combined Inauguration/Founders' Day ceremony, Saturday, October 18, at 2 p.m. in Faith Chapel of the Record Memorial Building.

Owens came to Pikeville College in 1985 as interim president. After serving one year, he was invited to stay at the college and serve as its president. A native of Hazard, Owens is an alumnus of Georgetown College and Catholic University of America. Prior to coming to Pikeville College, Owens taught for 20 years at Centre College in Danville where he held several administrative positions.

Inaugural delegates and dignitaries participating in the installation ceremony will register at 11:30 a.m. At 1:15, they will form the academic procession. Formal Inauguration/Founders' Day proceedings begin at 2 p.m., and a President's Reception will follow in the lobby of the Armington Science-Learning Center. The Marguerite Weber Gallery, also located in the Armington Center, will feature an exhibit of Pikeville College history/memorabilia loaned by friends, alumni, students, and staff members, and will include items from the College archives.

There will be two featured speakers at the Saturday program. Dr. Thomas Spragens, President Emeritus of Centre College and President of Spragens & Associates consulting firm, in Danville, will present the inaugural address. Dr. Rediford Damron, former interim president and academic dean of Pikeville College, will give a Founders' Day address in recognition of the 97th anniversary of the founding of the college.

Later that evening, at 8 p.m., there will be a formal inaugural ball in the college gymnasium.

Exchange Wedding Vows At Boldman Church

Mr. and Mrs. Windell E. Stratton, of Ivel, announce the marriage of their daughter, Annice Lee, to Mr. Cary Lynn Cross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Cross, of Glasgow, Ky., on Saturday, July 12, at 2 p.m. at the Free Will Baptist Church at Boldman, Ky. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Belmont Johnson.

The sanctuary was enhanced with spiral candelabra and greenery. Family pews were marked with candles and bows and white aisle runner was laid preceding the entrance of the wedding party.

A program of nuptial music was provided by Jeffrey Darrell Clark, cousin of the bride. He accompanied himself on the piano and sang the selections of "Stuck On You", "To Me" and "Only You."

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore an ivory wedding gown of organza combined with pearly Alencon lace. The bodice had an open slide neckline with a dramatic V-ed back. The Alencon bodice was dressed by the pairing of beading leading to the short bell sleeve. The cummerbund waist had a gathered tea-length skirt and blossoms of Alencon lace were at the hemline. The imported illusion headpiece consisted of a garland of jeweled Alencon lace blossoms. The bride carried a bouquet of orchids, yellow, pink and lilac sweetheart roses, accented with ivy.

Kristina Melton, of Ivel, served as maid of honor. She wore a lilac ankle-length gown of crocheted acetate lace with scalloped edge. The bodice was slightly bloused and a satin ribbon encircled the waist. Serving as bridesmaids were Rhonda Keathley Hale, of Ivel, and Gail Critchlow, of Hartford, Ky. Their gowns were pink and styled identically to that of the honor attendant. All carried ivory lace fans with pink and lilac sweetheart roses.

Mr. Jerry Critchlow, of Hartford, Ky, served as best man. The groomsmen were David Gilbert and Shawn Bertram, of Glasgow, Ky.

Miss Jessica Lee Stumbo, of Ivel, daughter of the bride, served as flower girl. She was dressed in a lilac dress trimmed in white lace and wore a headpiece of pink, lilac and white silk flowers and carried a white basket of rose petals.

Mrs. Gay Hicks, of Ivel, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Shawn Cross, of Edmonton, Ky., sister-in-law of the groom, served at the guest register.

The mother of the bride attended her daughter's wedding wearing a lilac tea-length gown. She wore a corsage of orchids. The mother of the groom chose a blue street-length dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Ruby Martin, of Garden City, Michigan, aunt of the bride, directed the wedding.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was covered with a white linen tablecloth and held the three-tiered white wedding cake. Each layer was accented with pink and lilac flowers, and the top layer held a figurine of white wedding bells. The groom's cake was chocolate. The cakes were prepared by Mrs. Marie Patrick, of Langley, Ky. Serving at the reception were Mrs. Roma Lou McClanahan, Ruby Martin, Gwen Tackett, Gay Hicks, Shawn Cross and Lynn Justice. A video tape was made by Gay Hicks.

After the reception, the couple left on a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tennessee, Mt. Dora, Orlando, Treasure Isle, Sarasota, and other points of interest in Florida.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Cooner, David Gilbert, Shawn Bertram, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Morris S. Kinner, Mrs. Gerry Whitaker, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Stephens, Mrs. Sharon Mutter, Casey and Stacey, and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Francis, all of Glasgow, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Cross and Jason, of Edmonton; Mike Reichenbach, Darryl Haynes, Steve Pavey, Wade Farley, and Mark Haynes, of Harlan; Mr. and Mrs. Lenny French, Larry Brock, Bob Becker and Lynn Hellman, of Ohio; Terry Vance, from Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Clark, Jr., of Louisville, Mrs. Ruby Martin, of Garden City, Michigan, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Critchlow, of Hartford.

The bride is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School and received her degree in nursing from Morehead State University. She is employed by Drs. Davis, Lubber and Scott, Urologists, in Pikeville, as a registered nurse.

The groom is a graduate of Barren County High School, in Glasgow, and Eastern Kentucky University. He is employed as a Kentucky State Trooper. The couple is residing at Ivel.

Don't be boring, Cancer

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 21) Trying to explain your feeling or ideas will be most difficult this week. Your health may give you a little trouble - probably from burning the candle at both ends. Things will be exciting around the home this weekend, but they'll mostly be troublesome. Someone may knock you off your mountain if you get "too big for your britches".

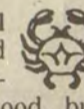

TAURUS (Apr 22-May 22) If you're ever going to develop drive and ambition, now is the time. This is also a good time to start remembering your private aspirations and doing something about them. Attend a public function this weekend and "do your duty". A message from a long way off can be the answer to a dream plan.

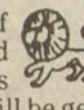

GEMINI (May 23-Jun 21) Your thoughts will turn to helping others this week - is something wrong? Either deal with the problems concerning your sex life or plan on living with them permanently. An event at work will have a (potentially) positive effect on your marriage. A Capricorn will inject a little excitement into your life.

CANCER (Jun 22-Jul 20) You will begin and end this week in an expansive and unique mood, but you may be a bore in between. Catch up on all your correspondence and phoning, if not visits. Great weekend for doing something fun with the loved one. Family get-togethers are also favored, everyone will be in a congenial mood.

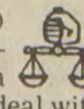

LEO (Jul 21-Aug 20) If you've ever considered plain hard work, now is the time to try it. You will be getting serious about money and stop wasting so much on show. You may be a little down this weekend, get out and do something for others. True romance (not the Hollywood kind) can become a permanent part of your life now.

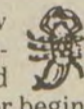

VIRGO (Aug 21-Sep 22) You will probably consult a seer of some kind this week. Organize your neighbors for a worthwhile project. A romantic opportunity is available if you can cope with the problems. Don't try to take the easy-way-out, that never accomplishes anything worthwhile in the long run.

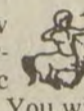

LIBRA (Sep 23-Oct 25) This would be an excellent week to get a complete physical and deal with any problems. A family "statesman" may have a difficult task for you. You will be most unrealistic this weekend, but your ideals could have a curative effect on someone. An unusual party is in the offing - watch the forbidden fruit.

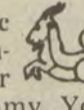

SCORPIO (Oct 26-Nov 23) You'll be health conscious this week and could give up smoking or begin a diet. Your life is changing in all areas now, although you may not be aware of it on a day-t-o-day basis. It should be apparent that money is slipping through your fingers. You will be in a religious mood this weekend - cultivate it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 24-Dec 21) Don't get carried away with futuristic philosophies this week. You will be most selfish through the weekend and then have pangs of conscience next week. Your love life is a disaster now, so less is better. However professional matters will be just the opposite - hope you take the hint.

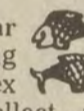

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 17) A rather confused week is in store for you, but it can be dreamy. You are in an aggressive period and may find that not everyone likes to be "run over". Much socializing this weekend but most of it will be rather demanding. Don't shirk your duty, something will turn out to be very profitable.

AQUARIUS (Jan 18-Feb 16) You will be very detail conscious and picky this week unusual for you. Foreign affairs are most interesting and may have important influences on your life. The harder you try to have fun this weekend the worse it will become. If you would face the hard, cold facts, you could make a new start.

PISCES (Feb 17-Mar 20) Venus is moving from your sector of sex into your sector of intellect - pity! Lend your support to a civic event, it will be beneficial and your deeds will come to the attention of the public. You are bursting-at-the-gills with plans for the future don't burn any bridges before October.

Teens Band Together To Say No To Drugs

American teen-agers have been the most drug-pervaded youth in the world. According to the September Reader's Digest, a recent survey of some 40,000 youngsters revealed that over one in 10 seniors and one in 13 juniors use cocaine occasionally to daily; one in 20 seniors uses marijuana daily.

Despite these alarming statistics, tens of thousands of young people are banding together to fight drug use in what the magazine describes as a major national movement.

By participating in anti-drug rallies, conferences and forming national organizations with names like Just Say No, World Youth Against Drug Abuse and College Challenge, along with a host of state organizations, teen-agers are taking positive steps to rid their lives of drugs. The first bylaw of most of these groups is: no illegal drug use and no alcohol until you reach the legal drinking age.

Those involved in the teen movement say their role is to counter the enormous pressure faced by teens to take drugs, to act as a support system and to teach their peers how to say no. As Rick Lautman, 23, head of Teen Connection in Mississippi, told Reader's Digest, "Parents don't begin to fathom what peer pressure is. Today you find kids who get wasted on alcohol, pot and speed. Ninety percent will say, 'I really didn't want to, but I was afraid everyone would call me a wimp.'"

The leaders of the teen-age anti-drug groups are anything but nerds or wimps. They are, in the main, popular youngsters, respected by their classmates. As 17-year-old Billy Coletti, founder and president of Florida's Informed Teens, said, "Even the druggies don't resent me that much, because I'm making a stand."

Many of the groups use a simple approach to combating the drug scourge. "The best way to fight drug abuse is with the three E's: Educate, Educate and Educate," said Lori Smith of PUSH (Prevention Using Student Help).

Another successful approach is to provide activities that are drug- and alcohol-free. STOPP (Students to Offset Peer Pressure) in Hudson, N.H., holds high school dances, which in turn serve as fund-raisers for even more events—such as midnight cruises, mountain climbing, cookouts and bowling.

Each success seems to spawn additional teen groups. Said Mary Cobbs of Atlanta-based PRIDE (Parent Resource Institute for Drug Education): "The youth groups are multiplying faster than we can keep track of them."

Dr. Donald Ian Macdonald, Administrator of the Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration, feels the teen-age anti-drug movement bodes well for the country. "Those kids who do learn to handle peer pressure and think for themselves may well be the strongest, most responsible, finest youngsters that we have seen in this nation."

For a free reprint of "Kids Against Drugs," send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Reprint Editor, R1-1, Box 25, Pleasantville, N.Y. 10570. Prices for bulk orders are as follows: $12 for 50, $20 for 100, $40 for 500 and $65 for 1,000.

EKU Plans Open Day
Hundreds of prospective students are expected to visit the Eastern Kentucky University campus Saturday, Oct. 18 for the annual "EKU Spotlight" day in Richmond.
"Choosing a college or university is one of the most important decisions in a student's life," said Les Grigsby, EKV director of admissions.
"We've found over the years that a few hours on EKV's campus is more valuable in helping students understand Eastern than any number of letters or catalogs. It also gives students a more accurate, concrete picture of what a university should offer," he said.
Activities Oct. 18 will include tours of the EKV campus, displays from EKV's nine colleges and more than 300 degree programs and options in the Keen Johnson Building's ballroom, lunch specials at the Powell Building cafeteria, and open house at the university's 17 residence halls where more than two-thirds of the University's full-time students live.

Lafferty Awarded ALC Scholarship
Bill Melton, director of admissions at Alice Lloyd College, has announced the recent recipients of ALC's most prestigious scholarship. Charita Gail Laferty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lafferty, of Martin, has accepted the Memorial Scholarship for the 1985-86 school year as an incoming freshman.
The Memorial Scholarship, which pays for room, board, and tuition, is the equivalent of a $4230 yearly grant.

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY OTC GENERICS

Many consumers have come to realize that they can buy many prescription drugs in generic form. However, few consumers realize that they also can save money by purchasing over-the-counter (OTC) drugs in their generic forms. Buying an OTC generic is a little different from requesting a generic prescripion. OCT drugs normally are chosen from a display on the shelf. There are two ways to look for a generic equivalent. One can read the list of ingredients on the brand-name drug, then search around on the shelf for another product with the same ingredients. Or, one can ask the pharmacist for help.

COOLEY APOTHECARY takes great pride in the role we play in promoting the health of members of our community. Whether you have a question about an over-the-counter remedy or about a medication your physician has prescribed we will be happy to provide you with answers. We maintain complete patient profiles here in No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Card and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4.

HANDY HINT: There is not necessarily a generic equivalent for every drug. However, it certainly is worthwhile to check.

FINALE

By WILMAY

Weeks ago this column introduced a series about the signs of Christ's Second Coming. This is the windup. Scripture abounds in passages on the subject that is high in the minds of millions, because innumerable signs that must precede the event confront us now, to the extent that even the secular media sometimes comment on same. Since a period of approximately four hundred years occurred between the Old and the New Testaments writers of the two eras never saw or knew each other. God was the author of the entire Bible, commanding the earthly writers to pick up their pens and write! One marvels today to note how many Old Testament prophecies were fulfilled in the New, some examples of which follow. Limited space prevents quotations but many O.T. predictions that follow have so many N.T. references it is impossible to list all. The O.T. scripture is first, with N.T. ones subsequent. Countless other prophecies could be included.

The Savior would come from the tribe of Judah, Gen. 49:10—N.T. Hebr. 7:14. His birth would occur in Bethlehem, Micah 5:2—Luke 2:4-6. His mother would be a virgin, Is. 7:14—Luke 1:27. For a while he would live in Egypt, Hos. 11:1—Mt. 2:13-15. He would be a prophet, Deut. 18:18—Acts 3:22. Enemies would mistreat him, Is. 50:6—Mt. 27:28-30. He would be rejected and despised, Is. 8:14—Mt. 13:57 & Luke 9:22. He would be crucified, Zech. 12:10—Mk. 15:13 & John 19:23. They would hang him with malefactors, Is. 53:12—Mt. 27:38. Christ foresaw the piercing of his hands and feet, Ps. 22:16—Rev. 1:7. His enemies would mock him, Ps. 22:6-8, Mt. 27:29, 41 & Mk. 15:20. When he thirsted vinegar would be given him, Ps. 69:21—Luke 23:36, John 19:29. He would remain silent when falsely accused, Is. 53:7—Mt. 26:63; 27:12 & 14. Jesus foreknew the words he would speak on the cross, Ps. 22:1—Mt. 27:46. He would ask the Father why he would forsake him. Ps. 22:1—Mt. 27:46, Mk. 15:34. Wicked men would cast lots for his garments, Ps. 22:18—Mk. 15:24, John 19:23, 24. He would be interred in a tomb of the rich, Is. 53:9—Mt. 27:57-60; Luke 23:50-56. His body would not remain in the grave or see corruption, Ps. 16:10—Luke 24:23. Ultimately, victory would be his, Ps. 110:1—Mt. 22:44 to cite a few.

If these predictions and multiple others have been fulfilled, why not believe those about his return to earth will likewise come true? In due time they will, perhaps by the close of this century. Archaeology substantiates much of the Bible, beyond doubt. Most critics and skeptics know little about scripture.

One finds men and women highly distinguished in every profession of all generations, firm believers in God and his Word, men like Einstein, Thomas Edison, Von Braun, etc. Still multitudes deny both; evil continues on its rampant path, and will grow worse if these are the last days, as most prominent theologians believe. Sadder yet is the fact that multitudes devote untold hours to Tv'ing, pleasure than to reading the love letter God sent every mortal, the one that describes the best way of life and the most priceless gift ever offered; moreover, salvation is free.

Gives Unique View Of Indian Culture

From the first populating of the Americas 65,000 years ago to the rise of grand civilizations to the complex circumstances of today's urban Indians, it's a unique view of native American cultural history when "Native Land: Nomads of the Dawn" airs on KET, Wednesday, September 24, at 8:00 p.m.

The migration of the Indians from Asia, Europe, and Africa took place before the invention of the wheel and the creation of any basic Asian or European languages. Accidentally "discovering" America when they walked across a land-bridge between Northern Asia and Alaska formed during the Ice Age, this band of Indians were later cut off from the rest of humanity after they migrated in search of food. As a result of this isolation, the Indians had to invent a culture for themselves. "Native Land" shows their inventiveness and the sophisticated, advanced and spiritually rich civilizations they created.

Cut off from the rest of the world, these Indians eventually made their way south, first traveling through North America and then into Mexico and South America. Using dance, animation, computer graphics and the exotic scenery of Ecuador and Peru, "Native Land: Nomads of the Dawn" looks at these people and their culture.

Shots That Can Save Your Life

Vaccination is one of the best bargains around, but only 10 to 50 percent of at-risk American adults are taking advantage of it, reports the September Reader's Digest. Contrary to popular belief, the need for inoculations does not end with school years. As your children receive their shots, the magazine urges you to think about yourself as well. Inoculations against the following preventable diseases can save your life.

•Influenza—The U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta pinpoints several high-risk groups: persons with chronic heart and lung diseases; residents of nursing homes and other chronic-care facilities; all those age 65 or older; people with chronic diseases such as diabetes, anemia and asthma, and health-care workers. Though many people avoid the annual flu shot for fear of side effects, doctors say that less than one-third of patients experience soreness around the vaccination site.

•Pneumonia—Last year, pneumococcal pneumonia, the most common form of bacterial pneumonia, claimed about 25,000 lives. Essentially the same population at risk of flu should be inoculated against pneumococcal pneumonia. The CDC recommends not giving the vaccine to pregnant women who are otherwise healthy.

•Hepatitis—There are between 400,000 and 800,000 carriers in the United States of hepatitis B, a severe infection spread through unsterilized hypodermic needles, unclean dental or surgical instruments, blood products and transfusions and sexual contact. Moreover, the hepatitis-B virus was recently identified as the single most important worldwide cause of liver cancer. The recommended recipients of the vaccine: health-care workers who deal with blood; hemodialysis patients; certain blood-product users; homosexually active men; prostitutes; drug addicts, and pregnant women in any high-risk group, such as refugees from the Far East.

•Rubella—Often called German measles, rubella is still a problem. The CDC reported 604 cases in 1985. All non-pregnant females in their child-bearing years who do not have a record of rubella vaccination should be immunized immediately.

•Measles—Though measles is rarely fatal, it can cause ear infections, pneumonia and encephalitis. Vaccine recipients should be any young adult with no record of measles or no vaccination with a live-measles vaccine in childhood.

•Tetanus—If you have ever stepped on a nail, you probably received a tetanus shot from your physician during treatment of the wound. The CDC recommends the combined tetanus-diphtheria vaccination, but they can be given separately. A booster injection every 10 years is good insurance.

For a free reprint of "Six Shots to Save Your Life," send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Reprint Manager, R1-1, Reader's Digest, Box 25, Pleasantville, N.Y. 10570. Prices for bulk orders are as follows: $12 for 50, $120 for 100, $40 for 500, $65 for 1,000.

The local data will contribute to September's national employment and unemployment picture to be released October 3rd by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The April through June data showed a national civilian unemployment rate of 7.2 percent for the second quarter of this year.

The Census Bureau's monthly Current Population Survey includes a national sample of some 58,000 households and is sponsored by the Bureau of Labor Statistics primarily to gather employment and unemployment data. Information supplied by individuals is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

The Berlin Wall: 25 Years Later

"The Berlin Wall: 25 Years Later," a half-hour program focusing on life in the divided city of Berlin, airs Thursday, September 25, at 7:30 p.m. on KET. It was produced to mark the 25th anniversary of the erection of the Berlin Wall and is hosted by Jerry Gerber and Holly-Jane Rahlens, American journalists who have lived and worked in Berlin for many years.

For more than 40 years four foreign powers—the United States, the Soviet Union, Great Britain, and France—have held ultimate authority in the former German capital of Berlin. By the beginning of this century Berlin had developed into a booming metropolis which enjoyed much the same status as Paris, London and New York. Then, in 1945, at the end of World War II in Europe, the city was divided into four zones of occupation by the former allies who had led the fight against Hitler and his forces. However, the real division of the city occurred on August 25, 1961, when the Communist East Germans began work on the Wall.

This half-hour program examines life in the divided city 25 years after the Wall went up not only by focusing on contemporary Berlin, but also by expounding on Berlin's postwar history. In addition to weaving rare archival film material and interviews, the program makes extensive use of contemporary footage to take viewers to locations in the city where the four-power presence is particularly conspicuous, including the Allied Control Commission, the Spandau Prison for war criminals and Checkpoint Charlie.

To Prevent Eye Troubles Check Children's Sight

September is National Sight-Saving Month, and the Kentucky Society to Prevent Blindness urges parents to pay special attention to their youngsters' eyesight. Most children in kindergarten and day care centers will be vision screened during the school year. For those who are not in an organized setting, a free Home Eye Test for Preschoolers is available.

Children are never too young to have a vision problem, and the prime time for that first vision check-up is actually before a child is old enough to read or even recognize letters of the alphabet.

Children as young as three are able to respond to the Society's simple test, using only the capital letter E, that could uncover a possible eye problem—found in one out of 20 preschoolers.

While screening test cannot confirm or rule out possible eye problems, it is a valuable tool for parents. It alerts all who use the test to pay attention to their children's eyesight. And when a child fails the test, a professional eye exam is called for.

To find out more about children's vision problems or the Home Eye Test for Preschoolers, write: Prevent Blindness, 727 Starks Building, Louisville, Ky. 40202 or call 584-6127.

Film Documents Ukraine Famine

An event occurred in the Ukraine in the 1930s that was hardly noticed by the Western press. While Josef Stalin traded millions of tons of wheat to Western markets, roughly one-quarter of the entire population of the Ukraine starved to death.

To commemorate the 50th anniversary of the tragedy, the Ukrainian Famine Research Committee produced a film entitled "Harvest of Despair." "Firing Line Special Edition: Harvest of Despair," airing on KET Wednesday, September 24, at 9:00 p.m., examines this documentary film and its claims of Russian genocide in the Ukraine during 1932-33. William F. Buckley, Jr., and his guests Christopher Hitchens of The Nation, Robert Conquest of the Hoover Institute and author of the upcoming "Harvest of Sorrow: Collectivization and the Terror Famine," and Harrison Salisbury of The New York Times discuss the documentary.

The special also focuses on why all three commercial television networks and several major public television stations refused to broadcast "Harvest of Despair." It opens with a panel discussion about the decision-making process of program scheduling in the television industry.

"Harvest of Despair," winner of seven awards at national and international film festivals in 1985, probes the consequences of the Ukrainian nation's struggle for greater cultural and political autonomy in the 1920s and 1930s. Through archival footage, the film details the results of Stalin's attempts to break the Ukrainian national spirit.

THIS REGAL FELINE looks a bit put out at being confined to a cage at the animal shelter. She would make an excellent mouser. For more information about this cat or others available for adoption, call 886-3189, or visit the shelter and look them over.

To Perform "Pretty Polly" At Appalshop Theatre

As part of the Mountain Heritage Festival, Roadside Theater will perform its show, Pretty Polly, at the Appalshop theater, 306 Madison Street, in Whitesburg, Kentucky on Thursday, September 25th at 8:00 p.m.

Pretty Polly uses many of the stories and songs that were previously in a Roadside show called Brother Jack. Unlike Brother Jack, however, Pretty Polly's focus is on Polly Branham Johnson, a local storyteller.

Aunt Polly, as she was called by those who knew her, was born on Big Beaver Creek in eastern Kentucky in 1864. She died in 1947, leaving behind her great wealth in the stories and songs that had been collected from her by the W.P.A. Writer's Project in the 1930's and early 40's.

Roadside Theater weaves these stories and songs into a high spirited show that sees life through the eyes of a storyteller who lived through hard times and good in the mountains of east Kentucky and southwest Virginia.

For reservations, call Jerri at the Appalshop, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, (606) 633-0108.

Tires underinflated by as little as five pounds can rob drivers of as much as a half gallon of gas out of every twenty.

★ Cancer Hopeline

QUESTION: Several people I know have recently been diagnosed with melanoma. I understand it is a serious skin cancer. Is there anything I can do to reduce my chances of getting melanoma?

ANSWER: For some unexplained reason the rate of melanoma is going up. For people under 35, it is becoming one of the most common cancers. Anyone born after 1950 should be especially alert to the dangers of overexposure to sun and the warning signs of melanoma.

The first rule is to watch for changes in your skin (changes in size, color, contour, elevation, surface, or changes in surrounding skin) and see your doctor promptly if you have any questions. Spend some time getting to know what your skin looks like, where birthmarks and moles are located and what they look like. It's a little more difficult to keep an eye on your back, scalp and between your buttocks, but a good full-length mirror is a big help.

Pay special attention to those moles that have unusual features. If any moles change, see a physician, preferably a specialist in diseases of the skin (dermatology) right away.

For more information on melanoma call the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER and ask for What You Need to Know About Melanoma. Or write to the Cancer Information Service, McDowell Cancer Network, 800 Rouser Street, Lexington, Ky. 40536. The Cancer Information Service is a program of the Kentucky Community Cancer Program.

Council Seeks Expanded Services For Disabled

More than 75,000 Kentuckians of all ages have what is known as a "developmental disability," a severe disabling mental or physical condition that begins to develop before adulthood.

Supporting and encouraging the availability of adequate treatment and facilities for these Kentuckians is the job of the Developmental Disabilities Planning Council in the Department for Mental Health and Mental Retardation Services.

"The council is responsible for developing services for and protecting the rights of people with developmental disabilities," said council executive director Rich Eversman. "Their goal is to improve the lives and opportunities of all Kentuckians whose quality of life depends on receiving those services."

To accomplish this goal, the council works with the department to develop a state plan designating which service areas receive priority. They annually review and evaluate the state plan and all other plans in the state affecting persons with developmental disabilities.

There are 24 citizen and agency representatives appointed to the council by the governor. At least half the members must be persons with developmental disabilities or their parents, guardians or immediate relatives. The remaining members are from state and private service agencies and advocacy groups.

"By including consumers on the council, the membership stays current on issues and problems affecting severely disabled persons across the state," said Eversman. "They get a good idea of how our programs are working and what areas need further evaluation."

The council selects, funds and monitors demonstration projects throughout Kentucky which provide models of innovative programming. These models often are pilots for statewide projects.

"Our demonstration projects are an excellent way to determine the effectiveness of a new program before launching it full-scale," said Eversman. "This allows us to select the most successful programs to implement statewide."

The council acts through four standing committees: executive, monitoring and evaluation, planning, and education and advocacy. The committees meet in conjunction with quarterly council meetings and additionally as necessary. The executive committee can conduct business between council meetings.

The Division of Mental Retardation provides accounting, monitoring and reporting support to the council staff. The division also provides technical assistance on program issues and collects data on service needs, target population location and service availability.

"We also work with the Division of Protection and Advocacy and the Human Development Program at the University of Kentucky in developing the programs," said Eversman. "By working together, we can provide people with developmental disabilities a place to live that is right for them."

Fields Was Not A Gracious Giver

Science-fiction writer Ray Bradbury ("The Martian Chronicles") has always dreamed of reaching the stars. But in 1934, at age 14, it was the Hollywood kind.

In a September Reader's Digest article titled "On Roller Skates in Hollywood," Bradbury remembers pursuing the autographs of such movie legends as W.C. Fields and Bing Crosby.

When asked for his autograph and handed a chewed stub-pencil and grimy flap of paper, Fields, Bradbury recalls, "exhaled a gin breath that burned the fuzz from my cheek, scribbled his name, and shoved the dreadful objects back at me. 'There you are,' he cried in that lilting rasp, 'you little son of a bitch!'"

Fields also gave the roller-skater some words of warning as Bradbury skated away, weaving in and out of traffic: "Watch out, Mr. Muckle!" It was a line from his then newest film, "It's a Gift."

Mrs. William Howard Taft, wife of the President, was responsible for planting the famous cherry trees along the Tidal Basin in Washington.

...about your Social Security

ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS SSA IN GOOD SHAPE
Social Security's 1986 annual report to the Congress makes good reading for those interested in the soundness of the Social Security system. The report shows a large surplus in the trust funds, steady progress in administrative initiatives and implementing legislative mandates, and systems improvements that signal dramatic technological changes for the future.
The report is required by law as a means of updating Congress on the status of the Social Security system. It covers all aspects of Social Security, including program, administration, and legislation.
The report shows that in fiscal year 1986 income to the retirement, survivors, and disability trust funds is expected to exceed outgo by $13 billion. Current estimates show that the program will be able to pay benefits on time well into the next century under all of the sets of actuarial assumptions on which estimates are made.
The report indicated that administrative costs as a percent of income to the trust funds was only 1.2 percent in 1985. Processing time for retirement and survivors claims has been reduced from 23 days in September 1984 to 20 days in September 1985 and for SSI claims for the aged from 16 days in September 1984 to 11 days in September 1985.
The agency reports that it has implemented the main provisions of the Social Security Disability Benefits Reform Act of 1984 (P.L. 98-460). The law was designed to restore uniformity and public confidence in the disability program. In general, the new program sets rules that can be consistently applied by all disability decisionmakers. Medical improvement must have occurred and the disabled beneficiary must be able to work before benefits can be terminated.
A new modernized claims system was initiated in district offices in 1985 and expanded to 18 pilot offices in 1986. The new system features desk terminals that give direct access to records in the main computers in the Baltimore headquarters. It will be able to provide immediate status of claims, control claims workloads, and accelerate claims processing. All offices are expected to have the new capabilities by the end of 1988.
The modernized claims system is a part of the systems modernization plan, a comprehensive effort to improve the agency's data processing capability to a state-of-the-art level and keep it there. Started in 1982, the plan has prevented a potential systems failure caused by antiquated computers and inadequate software and positioned the system for transition to a modern data processing operation. The agency is currently attempting to perform operations in a state-of-the-art environment, according to the annual report.

CAR ACCIDENTS
COPYRIGHT 1986 KVMA
Kentucky Veterinary Medical Association
Lower gasoline prices will likely mean more automobiles on the road this summer than in the past few years. This will also mean more animals will be hit by cars and injured or killed.
If the animal is your pet, some first aid tips might be in order.
By far, the most common outdoor pets are dogs, but the first aid rules generally apply for all animals.
Assuming your pet is breathing, the first things to check for are shock and internal bleeding. Other injuries, though they may be more apparent, are not nearly so important at this point.
See if the animal's gums are normal color, or are white. Shock is a general term for failure of blood flow to body tissues, and white gums would indicate a high probability of shock or internal bleeding or both. Immediate professional attention is necessary.
Do not try to give the animal food or water. Severe vomiting could result, causing internal bleeding. Keep the animal warm.
Remember to treat for shock first. At some point it becomes irreversible and death will follow.
