Countywide Clean-Up to Begin Next Week in Concerted Effort

By Ron Marstin

This is the time for householders to clean up their yards, for neighbors to band together to rid their street or hollow of the year's accumulation of trash, and for civic organizations to mobilize their members in a county-wide clean-up effort, according to Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo and Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta.

Under a plan sponsored by the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, the county and city leaders have declared the week beginning next Wednesday, May 27 to be Clean-Up Week throughout the county.

Although a week has been set aside for the project, the county will take as long as is needed to get the job done, said Stumbo, who recalled that county trucks worked for three weeks hauling off trash last May.

The derelict couch, broken-down boxspring, burned-out washing machine or old bicycle frame should be put out on the same day that residents routinely set out their household garbage. Theoretically, a county truck will follow the regular garbage truck along its route and pick up the larger refuse items.

In fact, the county trucks move more slowly and inevitably lag behind, Stumbo cautioned. If their extra trash is not picked up reasonably promptly, rural householders should alert the county garage (285-9576) and Prestonsburg residents should call City Administrator Fred James (886-2335), he said.

Anything that can be handled by two men will be hauled off without delay, the judge-executive said. Larger items like refrigerators, which may have to be loaded with a backhoe, may take a little longer, he said.

"We'll load anything to keep it out of the creek," said Stumbo, who noted that keeping junk appliances out of county streams means not only a cleaner and healthier environment but also avoids road repairs caused when culverts become obstructed and creeks break their banks. "It does make a difference," the judge said of the annual clean-up.

Jenny Wiley State Park Superintendent Leon Russell said the state park would make trash bags available to city and county governments for use by civic groups and others involved in the clean-up effort.

Thanks to the intervention of House Majority Leader Greg Stumbo, Russell said, the state legislature last year appropriated funds to hire workers this year to clean up Dewey Lake and its environs.

Civic organizations wishing to participate in the litter drive should contact the county judge (886-9193), Mayor Latta (886-2335), or Chamber of Commerce President Bill H. Howard (886-1341).

Of the illegal dumps that have cropped up around the county, one on the Auxier-East Point road will be cleaned up this summer with the assistance of the National Guard, said Stumbo, under an arrangement by which the Guard will furnish labor and equipment and the county will provide fuel.

Primary Race Coming Down To Final Days

The number of candidates calling on the courthouse here to slap backs, shake hands, and hand out their picture has grown to a steady trickle as campaigns head into the final stretch before next Tuesday's primary.

Last week, County Clerk Carla R. Boyd was handling the logistical details for the election, making sure that Floyd's 48 precincts will have a polling place, voting machines, and officials. Six precincts have new polling places, she noted:

In Depot No. 3 precinct, voters will cast their ballots in the old sewing center building; Porter precincts No. 2 and No. 6 will be at the Job Corps Center, near Lancer; in Garrett No. 16, the voting machine will be in the fire department building; in Clear Creek No. 24, voters will cast their ballots at the Hi Hat Auction Barn; and the polling booth in Tolers Creek No. 30 will be in Harne Roberts's store.

(Lists of election officers and polling places are published elsewhere in this issue.)

The choices facing the voters include nine state races, including those for governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, schools' superintendent, agriculture commissioner and railroad commissioner. There are two countywide

Armed Bandit Escapes After Martin Robbery

By Ron Marstin

A bloodhound was brought in to help state police investigate an armed robbery in Martin, Sunday night, and police were said this week to have several suspects in the case.

According to Phillip Whitten, an owner of the Piggly Wiggly supermarket, Asst. Manager John Osborne was confronted by an armed man wearing a ski mask when Osborne drove to the First Commonwealth Bank nearby to deposit the day's receipts, around 9:30 p.m.

The gunman dropped nearly 14 feet from the roof of the bank building and ordered Osborne to hand over the money bag he was carrying, to return to his car, and to drive off without looking back, Whitten said.

Citing police advice, Whitten declined to say how much was taken in the heist. The robber was thought to have had at least one accomplice to assist him onto the bank roof and police have some leads in the case, Whitten said.

According to state police, an undetermined amount in cash, checks, and food stamps was taken in the robbery. The bandit was allegedly armed with a small-caliber handgun, police said. An investigation is continuing under Det. Danny Stumbo.

Mrs. Aileen Lester, wife of Martin Police Chief Hershel Lester, said the sheriff's office and state police were called in to investigate the robbery because the bank, which lies between Martin's twin bridges, is outside the corporation limits. Deputy Sheriff Ricky Thornberry assisted state police in searching the area until 2 a.m., he said.

"It's a dark place through there" where the holdup occurred, said Mrs. Lester.

"I hope they get whoever did it," the police chief's wife said. "It's not right that someone works like a dog and then someone who's too sorry to work wants to grab it out of their hand."

Traffic Mishap Early Tuesday Injures Three

Three Floyd county men were injured, one critically, in an accident involving a school bus Tuesday morning, but no children were in the bus at the time, according to state police.

Donnie Bentley, 19, of McDowell, was taken to Our Lady of the Way Hospital, in Martin, and then transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center's trauma center in critical condition, according to a spokesperson at the Martin hospital. Jerry M. Little, 20, of Wheelwright, also was taken to the Martin hospital and then transferred to Pikeville Methodist Hospital for orthopedic care, where he was reported to be in stable condition Tuesday afternoon. Ken Damron, 19, of McDowell, was admitted to Our Lady of the Way and his condition was said to be stable.

None of the three men was wearing a seat belt, according to state police. The driver of the school bus, Freddie Sammons, Jr., of Martin, was wearing a seat belt and was not injured.

According to police and rescue squad reports, the wreck occurred at 7:45 a.m. as Little was driving a 1984 Chrysler New Yorker east on KY 80 about 2.5 miles east of Martin. Wet pavement apparently caused him to lose control of the car, and witnesses said it spun around three times before crossing the four-lane highway and hitting Floyd county school bus No. 19, which was traveling west.

Bentley and Damron were passengers in Little's car, police said. The dashboard and steering wheel were smashed in toward the front seat and the Floyd County Rescue Squad used the "jaws of life" to remove Little and Bentley from the vehicle.

CSX Promises Quick Action On Glo Trestle

CSX Corporation engineers last week inspected the abandoned railroad trestle at Glo, and Railroad Commissioner Jimmy Gabe Turner was informed Thursday by the railroad that the refuse and trees will be cleared away and that the trestle has been listed for removal.

The trestle dams Right Beaver Creek when the water runs high, causing the water to back up and flood bridges and property in the communities of Estill, Glo, and Wayland. In April, flooding cut off fire and ambulance service to Glo.

Turner said he was encouraged by the railroad's quick response to the problem. "They agreed with me that it needs to be cleaned up and that the only way

Hamilton Bond Set at $100,000 In Howell Death

By Ron Marstin

He has been unable to find any motive for the shotgun slaying of a 26-year-old Meta man at a May 9 bluegrass festival on Ned's Fork, State Det. J. A. Rederick testified at a preliminary hearing in Floyd District Court yesterday (Tuesday).

A defense attorney implied, however, that Reo Hamilton, 38, of Teaberry, who has been charged with murder in the case, will claim he fired at Teddy Howell, Jr. in self-defense.

Rederick said witnesses told him that Howell, who was operating a concession stand at the music festival, approached Hamilton, whom he suspected of being about to cause trouble, in an effort to persuade him to leave the area.

As Howell approached, Hamilton took a shotgun from a companion, Arkie Newsome, and shot Howell once in the neck at close range, witnesses said. The victim was pronounced dead soon after at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital.

The shooting occurred around 10 p.m.

Questioned by Public Defender Norm Bennett, who has been appointed to represent the defendant, Rederick said Hamilton told him he had been at the bluegrass concert around 8 p.m. that Saturday night and had left in the company of William Collins.

As the two men waited in their car at the junction of Bill Hall Branch and Frasure's Creek, they were hit from behind by a pickup, one of whose occupants then knocked Collins down, Hamilton told Rederick.

Hamilton and Collins returned to the bluegrass festival after picking up a shotgun and three companions, Clara Collins, Arkie Newsome, and Reo Hamilton, Jr., from Mud Creek, Hamilton told the detective.

Job Corps Offers Program To Live at Home and Learn

By Joe Porter

While two Floyd county youths have enrolled in the non-residency program at the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center, eight more slots remain open for interested applicants.

"This is a fantastic opportunity for someone who wants to stay in eastern Kentucky, receive an education and vocational skills training and have a better life as a result," said Rod Chambers, center director. "The only thing it will cost them is their effort."

The non-residency program is a pilot program that allows students to live at home while they receive training in one of six vocational skills and complete their GED.

John Miller dropped out of Allen Central high school in the tenth grade, but he is now in carpentry training at the Job Corps and studying for his equivalency diploma. Miller, who is 19 and lives in Prestonsburg, said, "I didn't realize how many benefits there are here."

The benefits of being a live-at-home student are the same as for resident students. Each student is entitled to full use of the facility, receives a monthly stipend, a clothing allowance, transportation to and from the facility, and free medical and dental care.

Job Corps students receive training in one of six vocational skills: carpentry, electricity, plumbing, building-and-grounds maintenance, and culinary arts (cooking). Ronnie Martin, of Minnie, is a building-and-grounds student, who is also working on his GED at the center. Martin is 16 and was a sophomore at McDowell high school when he quit. "Everyone is nice to me here," Martin said. "They treat everyone the same, and I've made a lot of new friends here."

The faculty and staff at the Perkins Center emphasize the importance of education. Of the 107 Job Corps Centers in the United States, the Prestonsburg Center ranks eighth in the percentage of its students receiving their equivalency diplomas. Chambers said there is a good reason to promote education. He cited a recent study that shows that a person who has received his high school degree is likely to earn $260,000 more in his lifetime than someone who hasn't.

Every student in the Job Corps learns at his own pace and can stay up to two years in the program. Every student is also encouraged and has the opportunity to attend college after passing their GED. "I now plan to go to college next fall while still in the Job Corps," Miller said. He will study business management at Prestonsburg Community College and has the goal of someday starting his own construction business.

Martin is also setting high goals for himself. After attending college, he plans to enlist in the Air Force.

Chambers said that the Job Corps develops a young person's self-image and confidence and that the progress shown by Miller and Martin is a good indication of how successful the program can be. Standards Officer Lenny Grant said that the benefits offered to students

Check-ups The Order of the Day

(Photo by Allen Bolling) THE CROWDS were not what organizers had hoped for, but the booths at Saturday's Well-Fest 87 were imaginative, and those who attended the day-long health festival had every opportunity to have their vital signs checked and to get free advice on everything from cardiac arrest to coping with the kids.

Woman's Club Installs Officers

The annual installation covered-dish dinner of the GFWC/KFWC Prestonsburg Woman's Club was held Thursday evening, May 7, at the First United Methodist Church with Mesdames Susie Poe, Rebecca Rasnick, Clare Day, Sharon Sparr, Joyce Allen, Elizabeth Ramey, and Docia Woods, hostesses. Flowers from the garden of Mrs. Garnett Fairchild were arranged by her and with complimenting figuring, furnished decorations for each table. Mrs. Phyllis Herrick presided at the guest book and Mrs. Susie Poe, club president, welcomed members and guests. Mrs. Fannie Runnels presented the devotional.

Mrs. Poe introduced Miss Ruby Akers, of Drift, past governor of the 7th District KFWC, who spoke briefly, and installed these officers for the club year, 1987-88, Mrs. Boots Adams, president; Mrs. Carolyn Traum, second vice president; Mrs. Eileen Burchett, second vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Stover, third vice president; Mrs. Joyce Allen, recording secretary, Mrs. Maxine Bierman, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, treasurer.

Mrs. Susie Poe, past president, then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Boots Adams, who named the following committee chairmen for the ensuing year: Arts, Mrs. Judy Kittle; Conservation, Mrs. Wonnell Godsey; Community Improvement, Mrs. Dorothy Osborne; Education, Mrs. Orella McGuire; Home Life, Mrs. Turp Combs, Public Affairs; Mrs. Eva Collins, International Affairs, Mrs. Barbara Dawson; Historian, Mrs. Garnett Fairchild; Finance, Mrs. Dorothy Stover; Yearbook, Mrs. Eileen Burchett; Arts and Crafts House, Mrs. Mable Brown; telephone, Mrs. Mabel Donahoe, and Publicity, Mrs. Docia B. Woods. The officers, finance and publicity chairmen constitute the executive board.

Mrs. Susie Poe, outgoing president, presented the president's pin to incoming president, Mrs. Boots Adams, and Mrs. Adams presented Mrs. Poe with the past president's pin. On behalf of the club, Miss Ruby Akers, installation officer, was given a gift.

Signing the guest register were guests, Ruby Akers, Lillie Parker, Tonya Barrett, and members, Phyllis Herrick, Boots Adams, Christine Spradlin, Garnett Fairchild, Rebecca Rasnick, May K. Roberts, Elizabeth Ramey, Lucy Regan, Zella S. Archer, Jane Wallace, Myrtle Allen, Dorothy Stover, Eva Collins, Maxine S. Bierman, Barbara Dawson, Joyce S. Allen, Dolly Petrey, Clare Day, Docia B. Woods, Fannie Runnels, Roberta Sloan, Maman G. Leslie, Carolyn Traum, Judy Kittle, Alice Harris, Lois George, Eve May, Sharon Sparr, Turp Combs, Eileen Burchett, Mabel Donahoe, Susie Poe and Kathryn Poe.

Mrs. Adams, asked that the new officers and committee chairmen meet with her Thursday (tomorrow) night, at 7:30, at the club's Arts and Crafts Building for the purpose of inspecting the building, and selecting committee members for the forthcoming year.

The next regular meeting of the club will be in September.

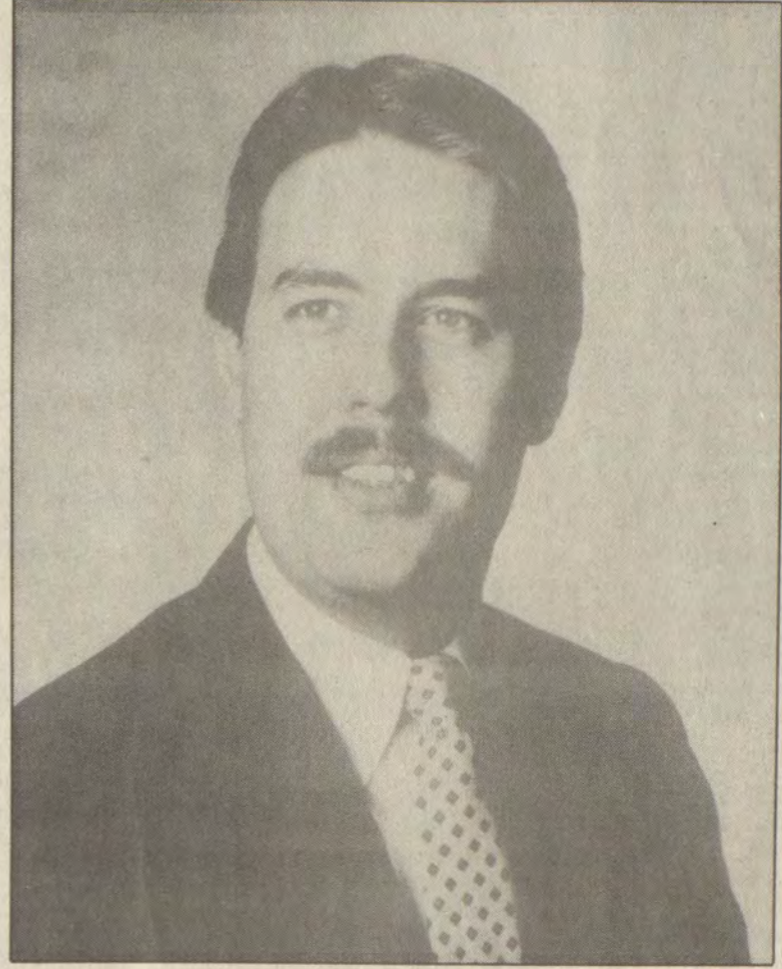

Americans love their birds. National Wildlife magazine reports that sixty-two million Americans regularly put out seed in backyard feeders. In fact, one expert estimates that bird enthusiasts buy over one million tons of bird seed each year. What's more, they spend a total of $618 million each year buying seed, bird feeders, bird baths and bird houses!

LET'S SET THE RECORD STRAIGHT—

On April 29, 1987, my opponent charged in the Floyd County Times that 8 of 19 people charged with drug crimes had been set free without spending any time in jail.

I have checked each and every circuit court case file in regard to those cases and the truth is as follows:

OF THESE 19 CASES:

- One defendant was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary
- Two defendants were sentenced to one year in the penitentiary
- One defendant was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary on each of 14 counts and was fined $1,000.
- Five defendants were sentenced to twelve months in the county jail and one of these made restitution to the Commonwealth of Kentucky
- Two defendants were sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.
- Three defendants were sentenced to thirty days in the county jail. One of these defendants was required to make restitution in the amount of $500.
- One case was dismissed without prejudice because the defendant was indicted in Federal Court on the same charge.
- One Defendant entered a guilty plea in District Court.
- One case was disposed of in District Court.
- One case was dismissed in order to re-indict the defendant on four counts, including a charge as a persistent felony offender.
- One case was a companion case with 85-CR-003 and was dismissed as part of plea bargaining 85-CR-003 whereby the defendant was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

YOU CAN SEE MY OPPONENT'S STATEMENT OF THE DISPOSITION OF THE CASES IS INACCURATE, INCOMPLETE AND MISLEADING.

IF MY OPPONENT WILL DECEIVE, WITHHOLD THE TRUTH AND MISLEAD IN HIS CAMPAIGN, WHAT COULD YOU EXPECT OF HIM AS COMMONWEALTH ATTORNEY?

Memorial Fund Set Up For Slain Social Worker

Two Flemingsburg banks have joined employees of the Kentucky Department for Social Services to create a special fund in memory of Paul T. Grannis, the state social worker killed May 8 while involved in a child protection case in Fleming county.

Grannis, 35, of Ewing, Ky., was shot to death at the home of a client where he had gone to pick up personal items for a runaway child placed in emergency state custody. Kentucky State Police have identified the alleged assailant as the child's stepfather.

Grannis had been a family services worker in the Social Services department since September 1986.

Nelson Henson, manager of the department's Fleming county office, said both Farmers Deposit Bank and Peoples Bank of Flemingsburg have opened accounts to receive contributions in Grannis' name.

"There have been so many requests from around here and across the state from people wanting to take part in a remembrance for Paul," Henson said. "We really haven't had time to make a firm decision on the type of memorial."

"However, any contributions will be used either to benefit Paul's surviving family or as a perpetual fund to assist the families of Fleming county who come to this office for the type of help that Paul himself would have given if he was still alive."

Contributions to the Paul T. Grannis Memorial Fund may be directed to either of the following addresses:

Farmers Deposit Bank, P.O. Box 387, Flemingsburg, Ky. 41011, Attention: Duane Turner; Peoples Bank, P.O. Box 367, Flemingsburg, Ky. 41011, Attention: Eda Earlywine.

Anna Grace Day, commissioner of the Department for Social Services, said plans are being made for a permanent memorial by the department in honor of Grannis, who is believed to have been the first social worker killed in the line of duty in Kentucky.

TV Math Class Will Keep Skills Fresh In Summer

Students in grades four to six are making KET a part of their summer plans by participating in "Sum Difference Math Works Makes," a free summer tutorial program based on the instructional television series, "Math Works."

Maintaining math skills during the summer months is critical to a student's placement in the fall. Although parents and students realize this importance, it is difficult to set aside the time and locate materials for practice.

"Sum Difference Math Works Makes" is designed to help students retain the math skills they worked so hard to learn during the school year, and minimal parental supervision is needed.

"Math Works" is a 15-minute instructional television series emphasizing the application of mathematical skills, ideas and concepts. The program features students thinking about, talking about and solving mathematical problems that relate to their lives. "Math Works" will air Monday through Friday on KET, June 8 to July 10 at 10 a.m. (The program will repeat at 2:30 p.m.)

Following the programs, students do assignments designed by the "Math Works" tutors who also are available via a toll-free telephone number after each program to offer assistance to students.

In addition, a program will air each Friday after the "Math Works" telecast that reinforces the week's math instruction. The program also addresses problems the students may be having and introduce enrichment activities.

Students are awarded a certificate upon completion, and their teachers are notified of their participation before the school year begins.

For more information on registering for "Sum Difference Math Works Makes," write KET, Instructional Television, 600 Cooper Drive, Lexington, Ky. 40502.

... A dagger with a four-inch blade was found in Howell's pocket, said Rederick. However, he found no evidence that Hamilton was in life-threatening danger when he shot Howell, the detective said.

The fact that the shooting appeared unmotivated persuaded him to deny a defense request that bond on Hamilton be lowered from $150,000 to $25,000, said District Judge Harold Stumbo, who reduced it instead to $100,000.

The case will be put before a grand jury next month.

Also bound over to the grand jury was the case of Tony Tackett, 22, who is charged with burglary and theft following a May 5 break-in at the Toler Creek home of Harold Adkins.

Det. Rederick said Mike Riley told him he had purchased a .22-caliber rifle from Tackett and his brother, David Tackett, 17, which Adkins later identified as his. A .44 Magnum handgun and a quantity of tapes were also reported taken in the break.

Tony Tackett told him he waited outside while his brother entered the Adkins home, Rederick said. After the burglary, David Tackett fled to Ohio, where he is now in custody, the detective said.

Tony Tackett is being held in lieu of a $15,000 property bond.

Chase Summer Boredom With KET Reading Series

Children can discover a Caribbean island and the secrets of Japanese paper sculptures; or tour a New England lighthouse, a bee farm, or a western ranch.

During the long hot summer months young readers can go on a magical trip through the world of books when "Reading Rainbow" is presented daily on KET. "Reading Rainbow" premieres Monday, June 1 at 5:30 p.m. on KET. This reading series also can be seen Monday-Friday at 9:30 a.m. beginning Monday, June 8.

"Reading Rainbow" is a national series featuring stories based upon children's popular literature. Host LeVar Burton introduces each segment which includes 10 new programs produced for the 1987 season.

The true adventure of a young girl in a lighthouse takes Burton and young viewers to the coast of Maine for "Keep the Lights Burning, Abbie" (June 2 and September 1). Everyone is buzzing with excitement during a visit to a bee farm to learn how this busy insect makes honey on "The Life Cycle of the Honeybee" (June 1 and August 31). In the "Paper Crane" (June 4 and September 3), Japanese origami art is featured when a restaurant owner receives a magical gift from a stranger. For "Meanwhile Back at the Ranch" (August 27 and September 10), "Reading Rainbow" travels to Arizona for an Old West Show and a look at cowboys and western ranching.

KET also will be sponsoring the expanding "Reading Rainbow Book Club" with the series as an activity for children.

Each young reader is encouraged to read six books of his or her choice. Registration forms are available from school teachers or the local library. The registration form is to be mailed to KET, which in turn will send 10 "Reading Rainbow Book Report Forms." As children read six books they will return their completed book reports to KET. An official club button will be sent to each youngster and book reports mailed in will be selected at random for reading on KET.

to permanently solve the problem is to remove it," Turner said.

CSX Corporation's General Counsel James Cleveland relayed the information to Turner from Jim Spradlin, CSX engineer in Huntington, West Virginia. Turner expects the clean up of brush and trees to be done in the next few weeks, but removal of the trestle may take up to a year.

Turner said the project—removing the trestle and its piers—has been put on what they call an AFE list with other projects to be completed. A cost study will be done, the money will be budgeted for it, and then the work will be prioritized on the list. "It's scheduled to be done, and I've been assured it will be," Turner said. "All I can do now is stay on top of them to make sure it is."

The Railroad Commissioner isn't the only one working on the problem. At the urging of Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens and County Attorney David Barber, the Floyd County Fiscal Court passed a resolution at its Friday meeting. The resolution read: "Whereas, the CSX Corporation bridge at Glo is and has been abandoned for more than 20 years, and that its condition creates a health and safety hazard, it is ordered that the County Attorney contact said corporation for removal of same or take whatever steps necessary to have it removed."

Barber will now carry out the resolution, and like Turner, wait for the railroad to remove the trestle.

Look At U.S. Agriculture Features Kentucky Man

"Those who labor in the earth are the chosen people of God," said Thomas Jefferson. For some 150 years, America's farmers represented the nation's strength and the source of its virtue. Today's industrialized version of agriculture has come a long way from that envisioned by Jefferson. What effects will present agricultural production methods have on future generations? Are we, in fact, destroying the very soil that sustains us?

These and other thought-provoking questions are among those probed in "The Promise of the Land," a "Smithsonian World" special airing Wednesday, June 10 at 8 p.m. on KET. From Jefferson's beloved Virginia home, Monticello, to California's Central Valley, host David McCullough looks at how farming has evolved and talks with farmers and scientists about the price we may pay for the benefits of mass production.

"We've got a major calamity going on in the land, and nobody's paying any attention to it," notes Wendell Berry, a Kentucky farmer and eloquent advocate for responsible farming. "We're wasting soil and wasting people at a catastrophic rate. It means that if we keep on the way we're going, we're going to use up and destroy a lot of things that we—or somebody later—had wished we'd kept."

"The Promise of the Land" looks back at agriculture's "Golden Age of Prosperity" at the turn of the century, which, like today, was characterized by growth and bounty. But with a price, McCullough says. "We plowed too much, too deep and too often, with no worry about the future... We were selling wheat, but squandering topsoil. A decade later, it turned to dust." The so-called "Dust Bowl" of the 1930s, he adds, was "a monumental ecological backlash"—not the fault of nature, as many believed, but of what men had done to the soil.

"Smithsonian World" is a co-production of WETA/Washington, D.C. and the Smithsonian Institution.

Fiscal Court Members Study Proposed $2,800,000 Budget

By Joe Porter

Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo presented his 1987-88 budget at Friday's Floyd Fiscal Court meeting. The magistrates will now study it and vote on it next month.

The budget calls for spending of about $2,800,000, and Judge Stumbo said it closely reflects the same level of spending for this year with the exception of a three percent cost of living increase for all county employees. The current fiscal year ends June 30 and Judge Stumbo expects to finish the year $50,000 in the black (This excludes the million dollar fund drawing interest in the bank). He said that any surplus money will go into the road fund.

Included in this year's budget is the installation of fire hydrants every thousand feet county-wide where they can be hooked up to a four inch pipeline. The project will be completed by the end of the summer with a price tag of $500,000.

County Attorney David Barber reported to the court that, while law enforcement officers are writing more tickets and his office is continuing to prosecute them, the court shouldn't expect any more help from the state in regard to the dangerous intersections on U.S. 23. Barber wrote to C. Leslie Dawson, Secretary of Transportation, asking him to investigate "the situation and implement whatever is necessary to avoid further tragedies."

Dawson wrote back: "None of the three intersections has a discernible pattern of accidents. The KY 114 and KY 979 intersections utilize state-of-the-art traffic control technology, enabling the signal to remain green for a vehicle that is approaching too fast to stop. The KY 1428 intersection uses flashing beacons in advance of the intersection to warn approaching motorists of the potential stop condition. We believe that the existing conditions more than adequately protect motorists from any undue hazards created by these intersections. Therefore, we do not plan to take any action at this time."

Barber also reported to the court on his investigation into complaints that county trucks were seen putting gravel on private roads. The investigation started in February when Judge Stumbo received complaints from residents who allegedly saw or heard about county trucks dumping gravel on private roads. Barber said he has interviewed five people as well as truck drivers and inspected sites where gravel may have been dumped. "One road in my opinion probably should be a county road," Barber said.

The attorney's investigation failed to turn up any conclusive evidence, but Judge Stumbo warned the magistrates, "I've told all the drivers. If they're caught dumping stone on private property—they're fired." Some confusion is caused by the county's policy of hauling stone for individual property owners—if the truck is not needed and if the individual will pay for the gravel. The policy is a county service to help taxpayers reduce their cost of buying gravel.

"We feel it's a fair price," said Bob McAninch, chairman of Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc., in defense of a $35,000 contract to provide a landfill for Knott county garbage. McAninch called Knott's former contract of $56,000 with Perry county exorbitant and said the additional tons of refuse won't lessen the life span of the Floyd landfill, which he estimates to be 100 years. Instead of charging a high fee he would like to encourage the use of the county's landfill so that in time the county can begin recycling refuse and make the project even more cost effective.

However, Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens stood fast in his criticism of the contract, charging that the price is too low and the additional garbage adds to the threat of pollutants seeping into the water supply. "They're get out of it while we're eating the bill," Owens said. The magistrate also questioned the $5 fee charged individuals for dumping in the landfill, when so many people are out of work and can't afford it. He said the fee discourages landfill use.

McAninch countered that the water supply was being protected and would be regardless of the volume of garbage brought in. He also said that there is no evidence that people use it less as a result of the fee.

In other action, the court passed a resolution to buy red dog deposits at Garrett and Burton from Elkhorn Coal Corporation for the sum of $22,000.

City, Cable Company To Settle Differences

By Joe Porter

Prestonsburg's city council met in executive session May 11 and agreed to settle its suit against the cable TV company, Consolidated Communications Group Two, Inc. Given the FCC ruling that prohibits the city from regulating rates, Mayor Ann R. Latta called the settlement, "the best that we can do for the people."

The suit was filed in Floyd Circuit Court May 6, 1986 and brought, according to City Attorney Larry D. Brown, because the cable company violated the terms of the original franchise agreement. Brown said the suit will now be dropped because, "they're finally doing what we wanted them to do in the first place."

The agreement approved by the council provides for a new non-exclusive franchise with Consolidated Communication Group, which means the city may now grant a franchise to another cable company. The agreement would also restrict the cable company to no more than one rate increase a year. Mayor Latta said that there has already been a rate hike for this year and there won't be another one.

Also, the city will be able to raise its franchise fee to the company from three to five percent of the company's gross revenue, the maximum allowed by the FCC. The Mayor said the city received a fee payment of approximately $4,000 for last year's operation. To insure an accurate fee, the city will also receive a certified audit statement from the company.

According to Brown, the city is unable to regulate cable rates because of an FCC ruling that determined that the CATV signals produced by Consolidated Communication Group are in sufficient competition with signals produced by other cable companies in the area.

Mayor Latta said that customers have been critical of the cable service, but it has been improved in the last few months. "We feel they're now making an effort to upgrade the system and make it affordable to the people," Latta said.

In a separate agreement the cable company agreed to add four new channels at no additional cost to customers. The new channels being considered are: Nashville, USA, MTV, WOR, Nickelodeon, C-span, Life Time, Arts and Education, and Discovery. The company will preview four channels at a time for a trial period of one to five weeks and then survey its customers, allowing them to vote with postcard ballots. Also, the company will add two paid channels, ShowTime and Disney.

The additional four free channels will bring the total number of channels to sixteen, and if your TV isn't equipped with a dial to handle the additional number, the company will provide an easy to install converter at no charge. An estimated 40 percent of the home TVs will need a converter. The new programming will take effect sometime in June. Consolidated Communication Group, Inc. serves approximately 3,000 customers in the county, 40 percent of whom live in town. The cost of a basic subscription is $12.95 a month.

Just call him "four eyes": Rattlesnakes have four sight organs. According to Ranger Rick magazine, two of these organs look and work very much like our eyes. The other two are in front of the regular eyes and are called pit organs. Pit organs are very sensitive to heat. With these "eyes" the snake can "see" the heat rays coming from its prey's body. Even if its regular eyes are blindfolded, the rattlesnake can very easily strike at and kill its prey.

Letters from readers do not necessarily reflect the view of the Floyd County Times. All such letters are subject to editing. Letters should not exceed 350 words in length and all must bear the signature and complete mailing address of the writer.

Yes, Virginia, There Is An Ivel, Ky.

Recently an out-of-state tourist wanted to visit friends at Ivel, but was unable to find it—even though a small sign is posted on highway 23.

Therefore, we want tourists and others to observe the following varied places of activity and realize we are on the map in Floyd county.

Entering from the north end we have the Alpine Motel; on southern end the Eastern Heights motel—in between and mainly beside our 4-lane highway these business places can be observed.

The lovely Davidson Memorial Gardens, East Ky. Monument, C and T Trucking, Case Mfg. Company, Jerry's Sign Co., Green-Cantrell Const. Co., Ivy Creek Town House, Trans-Continental Coal Co., Addington Bros. Coal Co., Ivel Post Office, Stratton Service Station, the famous swinging bridge crossing the Big Sandy River, Hylton Homes, Family Homes and Barker Trailer Sales, Troy's Cabinet Shop, The Carpet Shop, Westfall Enterprises, Campbell Motors, Reedy Wholesale, Herman's Tire and Tool Shop, Video Shop, Hammond's Grocery, Gwen's Beauty Shoppe, Vacuum Repair Shop, Lawson's Mobile Home Service, and Hall's Appraisal. If you are hungry, the Wagon Wheel or Pizza Parlor can satisfy your appetite.

Last, but certainly not least—we have two churches that provide spiritual blessings.

As an added attraction you may see ladies bending over as though they were getting the hillbilly mud from their shoes—not so, guess again?! At this season they are picking polk and other wild greens. This will provide extra energy to help husbands with early gardening or spring cleaning.

So, friends—inside or outside of Floyd county—we want you to know our three miles along the 4-lane highway 23 is most professional and we extend to you an invitation to visit our small spot on the map known as Ivel, Ky.—about half way between Prestonsburg and Pikeville.

'Appalled' At Brown

In a recent article in the Kentucky Kernel I was appalled and disappointed to read that a candidate for governor would espouse energy corporation propaganda that is a simplistic approach to building the economy in the coalfields of Kentucky. John Y. Brown, speaking to a crowd of senior citizens in Danville, Ky., said we must "level some of those mountains and deal with environmentalists and put jobs and factories out there and put our people to work." Mr. Brown, where have you been for the last thirty years since the stripping of our hills began? I can assure you that today in 1987 there is an abundance of level stripmine benches and empty industrial parks in the coalfields, so when is this phenomenon of great prosperity going to happen? You see the environmentalist as an adversary to be dealt with instead of an aid to detecting and correcting potential health threats. With an attitude like that I fear four more years of having the door to the Governor's office closed to citizens with legitimate concerns.

There is one candidate for governor who has a plan for economic development that will benefit the coal industry (especially the small operator) and provide new jobs by constructing new power plants in the coalfields. This candidate is also open to addressing the concerns of environmentalists to improve on reclamation efforts. That man is Dr. Grady Stumbo.

Grady's The One

We all know that Eastern Kentucky will continue to be ignored and neglected, until we get a governor who is interested in helping us.

Grady Stumbo is the only one running who cares, and will try to do something to help the problems we have endured because of a lack of interest in Frankfort. Grady is one of us, and he will put forth every effort to bring about needed improvements in all areas.

Grady is dedicated to serving others, not Grady. He will not be sidetracked from duty for personal gain. He is concerned about all people, especially the poor and neglected. He is conscientious you can trust him. He is competent—he can get the job done.

Let's help ourselves. Get out the vote. Let's send Grady Stumbo to the governor's office.

No Broad Base

In recent weeks, eastern Kentucky media has given a fair amount of attention to the formation of the Kentucky Appalachian Foundation. As one newspaper stated, some of eastern Kentucky's "most influential people have come together" to form the foundation with the goal of improving and promoting eastern Kentucky's image.

That is a laudable goal. It's great that other individuals now want to join together for this same purpose.

However, we are concerned that improving Kentucky's image involve substance and not just glitter. Dealing with the trash problem or getting substandard homes out of sight, as foundation members mentioned as two of its primary objectives, might improve the image of our state to outsiders or others who don't like to be reminded of that reality, but it does not necessarily mean that the people living in those shacks are any better off.

We can't help but note that many of the participants in this new organization are ones who have resisted efforts to improve life in Kentucky. Where has Ashland Oil, which helped spearhead the formation of the foundation, stood on the issue of stopping the brine pollution that has devastated miles of Kentucky's waterways? Have the coal companies invited to participate in the foundation supported or fought measures that would improve life in the mountains, such as broad form deed and unmined minerals tax legislation? Have they willingly stopped leaving the scars of strip mining throughout our state? We need to get their "trash" out of our streams as much as we do the plastic jugs and diapers.

We disagree that the foundation has a "broad base," as has been claimed. Of the 110 names on the invitation list circulated by Ashland Oil, there is not one representative of any citizens group, no one representing labor and no one that could be said to have a strong environmental interest. Less than 10 of the invitees were women. The list is stacked heavily with bankers, coal company executives and planners.

The foundation could present an opportunity to make a contribution—if it goes beyond the special interests that so far have been invited to participate, and if the current participants are willing to do some serious self-examination. But we know that the interests of big money have not always been the interests of the majority of eastern Kentuckians.

During fiscal year 1985, the office advised approximately 202,000 individuals of their reemployment rights at time of separation from active duty, responded to approximately 30,000 inquiries, and opened and processed about 1,850 reemployment rights cases, according to the U.S. Labor Department.

One For Noe...

Tuesday, May 26 is Kentucky's primary. It am sure most people have chosen their candidate.

However, if there is yet one undecided voter as to who to vote for in the race for Superintendent of Public Instruction, I feel compelled to write this letter. East Kentucky has a native son who is in this race. That person is Roger Noe. Roger has been my friend and colleague for years. I respect and admire his commitment to the advancement of a superior education program for our children.

But beyond my respect for Roger Noe stands his track record in support of education reform. As a member and now chairman of the Kentucky House Committee on Education, Roger has proven again and again his total involvement in the improvement of our education system.

Being a teacher himself, he understands first hand what the state education problems are and what to do to solve them.

East Kentucky, even more than the rest of the state, needs a new educational image. Being from Harlan, Roger is sensitive to East Kentucky's unique situation.

I say lets put a well-qualified East Kentuckian in office. Let's all get out and vote for Roger Noe for Kentucky's next Superintendent for Public Instruction.

GREGORY D. STUMBO

One For Brock...

As a mother of young children, I implore our voters to seriously consider their vote on May 26th.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction sets the pace for the entire education system. If that leader's first priority is politics, we can expect a political education system. But if that leader is a professional educator, we can then expect decisions that are motivated by what is best for our children and teachers.

Please, let's put an experience educator in as the head of the education system, not another politician. Let's elect Dr. John Brock for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

As we gather on this Memorial Day to honor those who've died in defense of this Great Nation, I can't help looking to the future. For later this year, we'll gather to celebrate the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution.

Our Constitution embodies the ideals of Liberty and Freedom shared by each and every citizen of this nation. So cherished are these ideals that Americans, in generation after generation, have died to defend them.

Time and again, in war after war, Americans have paid the ultimate price to preserve the Democratic Principles that underlie our Republic.

To remember our fallen patriots is more than honorable and just. Without them, there would be no Constitution. Without them there would be no United States.

We would be a people dominated by a foreign aggressor. We would be a subject people, ruled by tyranny, not by law. The death of so many Americans spared us this fate.

Their sacrifice must stay alive in our minds. The men and women who have made that sacrifice must always be remembered. We owe these courageous dead more than can be measured. We owe them America, itself.

What these men and women gave for America holds an important message that must never leave our thoughts. Freedom is not Free—someone must pay its price.

And it's important to remember that the full price of Freedom is measured in blood as well as "DEATH". The blood that millions spilled on the battlefield. The lost LIMBS AND SIGHT. The minds shattered by the HORROR OF WAR. The lost health that will never return.

Our Disabled Veterans—These courageous men and women lived on, but they bore the scars of war as a living reminder of its cost. They too paid the price of "FREEDOM", and they continued to pay that price long after WAR'S end.

All Veterans with us today paid a portion of that price. While some Veterans paid the price with a "DISABILITY", we'll never forget those who paid a higher price—THE ULTIMATE PRICE. This Memorial Day, we ask you to join with us in HONORING the courage of these "FALLEN HEROES AND HEROINES."

Named TGA Chairman

Danny Helton, of Greeneville, Tennessee, was recently installed as Chairman of the Board of Tennessee Grocers Association (TGA). He received the oath of office during the Association's Annual Convention and Food Show conducted April 25-27 in Memphis, TN.

Helton is Vice-President of Retail Operations of KVAT Food Management, Inc. which operates 32 Food City Supermarkets in Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee.

Active in community activities, Helton serves as a board member of the Greeneville-Greene County Humane Society, and has served as Treasurer for the Society. Helton also does volunteer work with Gideons, International serving as a lay speaker as well as Secretary to the Greeneville Camp. He and his family attend Towering Oaks Baptist Church in Greeneville. He has recently been elected to serve as co-chairman of a Church Steering Committee which has been assigned the task to raise $1 million for building expansion to the church. Helton is married to the former Earleen Williams and they have two children.

Helton has served as a board member of Tennessee Grocers Association (TGA) since 1982. He has held the office of treasurer, vice-president and has served on various other committees within the association.

The Consumer Price Index (CPI) is a measure of the average change in prices over time in a fixed market basket of goods and services. The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics published CPI's for two population groups—one for all urban consumers, which covers about 80 percent of the total population, and another for urban wage earners and clerical workers, which covers 32 percent of the total population.

The Labor Department's Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) helps to reduce deaths, injuries and illnesses in the nation's mines with a variety of activities and programs. The agency works cooperatively with industry, labor, other federal and state agencies and others toward improving safety and health conditions for all miners.

Steve Beshear...
Because Integrity Counts

Character, ethics and personal integrity have always been important to Steve Beshear.

He's exhibited honesty and leadership in every office he's held — state representative, Attorney General, Lieutenant Governor.

Time and time again, he has proven the courage of his convictions.

As a legislator, he led the fight for open records and open meeting laws.

As Attorney General, he prosecuted those who would violate the public trust.

As a candidate, he's made public his complete state and federal tax returns.

He's also proposed a tough conflict of interest law and a comprehensive code of ethics for state government.

Steve Beshear has led by example because he believes that the Governor should be a role model for young people and set the right kind of image for our state.

Shouldn't integrity count?

You decide.

Which candidate for Governor has built a record of service around the standards of honesty, courage and decency — a record of integrity unmatched in Kentucky politics?

There's only one.

On May 26, cast your vote to show that integrity still counts in Kentucky. Vote for Steve Beshear.

Child Care Programs May Get Grant Money

Gov. Martha Layne Collins has encouraged local communities to take advantage of up to $25,000 in federal grant money which has been made available for development of before and after school child care programs.

The money comes from a federal block development grant authorized by the Department of Health and Human Services. Under the grant program, 25 communities will be awarded $1,000 each for planning programs designed to serve children who need care before and after school. Applicants are expected to use local resources and current education opportunities to develop programs.

"We know that planning is crucial if we are to break the cycle of disadvantages facing many of our children," Collins said. "That planning will become a reality with this grant money."

A session to assist applicants for the grants was held at the conclusion of the Governor's Conference on Early Childhood Issues in Frankfort. The two-day conference focused on what Kentucky is currently doing and what needs to be done to improve the quality of life for children under the age of six.

Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton addressed conference participants about the need for government to aggressively attack barriers to early childhood development.

"The American people have finally figured out that we're not going very far in this competitive world...if we keep letting the kids bail out of the boat before they get a chance to fulfill their God-given abilities," said Clinton, who is chairman of the National Governors' Association and the Education Commission of the States.

More than 300 persons attended the conference including social workers, teachers and volunteers. Among the topics discussed were day care and latch key programs, public awareness of early childhood problems, and local community involvement.

"We owe our children the best that we can give. If we set them on a steady path of growth and development, we ensure not only their future but our own," Collins said.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Taulbee Holt wishes to thank all those friends, neighbors and family who helped them in any way upon the passing of their loved one. Thanks for the food, flowers, prayers and the words of kindness given by all. State Grabs Tax Refunds Of Child Non-Supporters

A few thousand Kentuckians awaiting their state or federal income tax refunds are in for a longer wait than they realize. The only mail they're about to receive is a notice that the tax refunds have been withheld to pay their overdue child support obligations.

Last year in Kentucky, more than 10,000 federal and state tax refunds, worth nearly $3.5 million, were intercepted by the Cabinet for Human Resources Division of Child Support Enforcement.

A small amount of that money was forwarded to children's guardians, but the majority of the refunds go into the state treasury as reimbursement for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) benefits.

Pam Mertens, the cabinet's director of Child Support Enforcement, said the action shouldn't be a surprise to the affected parties.

"After we receive verification of the amount due, notices are sent to the responsible parent that any disagreement with the certified obligation must be filed with the division before Dec. 31," Mertens said. "Once final arrearages are determined, the information is submitted to the Internal Revenue Service and the Kentucky Department of Revenue where the designated amount is withheld."

"If the amount owed is greater than the refund amount, that parent will not get a refund. The entire refund will be applied toward the delinquent obligation. If adjustments were made before the return was attached, any overpayment is refunded to the paying parent."

While the state directly moves to intercept refunds in AFDC-related child support cases, parents or guardians in non-AFDC-related cases must tell the division about delinquent payments and ask for help in obtaining the funds.

Mertens noted that tax returns of parents who live in other states can be attached also.

"Federal regulations allow delinquent child support to be collected from all 50 states through either judicial or administrative process," said Mertens. "The only information needed is the parent's full name, social security number, birthdate and state of residence if the state return is to be intercepted."

"If the attached returns do not satisfy the delinquent amount, there are other options to help bring the arrearages up-to-date," she said. "We can make wage assignments, attach bank accounts or wait and attach next year's return."

"We don't ease our efforts just because we recovered part of the money. But the ability to intercept tax refunds is becoming an important tool in the effort to collect the financial responsibilities of non-support-paying parents."

Lisa Anders Dreams, Ambitions Are Those of Any Young Woman

By Louise Houghton

The dreams and dilemmas of any 22-year-old are reflected in Lisa Anders' dark eyes. She's looking forward to getting an apartment of her own someday and moving out of her parents' Prestonsburg home, but hates to leave behind her peekapoo, Little Bit. She thinks the country-music group "Alabama" is great, especially lead singer Randy Owen, and is planning a trip to Lexington with two carloads of friends for a concert in October. She's making plans to buy a car—a Toyota, even though that's not the make her father would prefer.

"She has a mind of her own," smiled her mother, Linda Anders.

She also has cerebral palsy, a birth defect that has twisted her fingers and made walking and talking difficult, and she is considered to be "severely disabled." But in spite of that, she has recently acquired one thing that could help turn her dreams into reality—a job.

"We're trying to make these tax eaters into tax payers—and make them proud, too," said her new employer.

A little nervous but mostly just excited, Anders began work last week as a computer operator in the Prestonsburg office of speech and hearing therapist Gary Vitali. Aided by some special equipment and software, she will be creating a computerized filing system for the 5,000 case records that are now crammed into bulky cabinet, taking up valuable office space.

Vitali, who was Anders' speech therapist several years ago at the Carl D. Perkins Rehabilitation Center in Thelma, said that he was dubious at the first when state workers suggested hiring Anders for the position. The young woman could neither walk nor talk when he first met her, and he couldn't believe that she had made enough progress in the years since then to handle the job he had in mind.

But he agreed to consider her, Vitali said, because "my heart's bent that way," and found to his surprise that her skills put her in the top 20 percent of applicants for the job. While Anders might not be the No. 1 contender, he said, "She's as competent as most—slower, but very reliable and accurate."

The therapist also said he was surprised to learn of all the state and federal incentives that are available for employers who hire handicapped workers. Part of Anders' salary will be subsidized, and another portion will be written off his business taxes. In addition, the state Office of Vocational Rehabilitation is lending him the computer equipment that Anders will use, as part of a state program that allows handicapped employees to "bring their own tools" to the job.

LISA ANDERS, recent graduate of the Carl D. Perkins Rehabilitation Center in Thelma, demonstrates the terminal on which she will computerize her new employer's filing system.

Many owners of small business hesitate to hire handicapped workers because their insurance and workers compensation payments will increase substantially, Vitali said. He avoided some of that extra cost by hiring Anders on a part-time, rather than full-time, basis. With the subsidy, tax incentive, and state-supplied hardware, he said, "I'm writing off more than I'm putting in—legally."

Convincing employers to hire handicapped workers also is "a good deal for the state rehabilitation folks," commented state Rep. Greg D. Stumbo, who dropped by the office on Anders' first full day of work to wish her well and commend her employer. If Anders works for at least nine months, he said, the federal Social Security Administration will reimburse the state rehabilitation service for expenses related to her training and employment.

The precise incentives available to an employer will vary according to the needs of the prospective employee, according to Patty Reynolds, a counselor with the state Office of Vocational Rehabilitation. They could include federal tax credits, state job training funds or physical alterations to the workplace—"whatever it takes to get the client employed," she said. "We try to be flexible."

Vitali described Anders as a charismatic person who has overcome her physical and communicative problems with a combination of perseverance and positive attitude. The first understandable words that she ever spoke, he said, were "thank you." When he first met her, he was impressed by her eagerness to tackle any new task.

"No matter what you asked her to do," he said, "she did it."

One of the tasks of her new job will be to enter into the computer a book-length list of words commonly used by speech and hearing therapists, thus creating a computer program that can check the spelling when those words are entered later. A spell-checking program for his profession is not available yet, Vitali said, and if Anders' work is good enough, her program may end up in therapists' offices across the country.

Her work must be letter-perfect, however, or the program will not operate properly. When asked if she is confident that she can produce that kind of accuracy, Anders replied shyly, "I think so."

When asked if she is eager to try, she said firmly, "Yes!"

WE THANK YOU

Peggy, Laura, David, II, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank you, the voters of Floyd County, for the kindness and consideration you have shown us during this campaign.

We have tried to listen carefully to your concerns about the Circuit Clerk's office, and, if elected, I promise to run that office in an efficient manner and to treat each of you as fairly and courteously as possible.

I have hoped and dreamed of having the opportunity to serve as your Clerk and with your vote and support it can become a reality.

I know that I am capable of being an efficient Clerk. I know that I can offer you honesty. Now all I need is YOU!

Please go vote, urge your neighbors to vote—VOTE DAVID HEREFORD.

Kentucky Show, Sale Marks Anniversary

The Kentucky National Jersey Show and Sale Program will be held Saturday, May 23 at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center in Louisville.

"This is the silver anniversary year for this show and sale," said Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell. "We are expecting this show to have the same high-quality purebred Jersey cattle that we've seen shown and offered for sale the past 24 years. It should be a great opportunity for dairymen to purchase top-quality animals for their herds."

The show and sale will feature nearly 70 head of dairy cattle with Kentucky National status. The animals will compete for $8,000 in premiums.

The show begins at 2:30 p.m., Saturday, May 23. The sale is at 7 that evening.

This event is co-sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture and the Kentucky Jersey Cattle Club.

For more information about the event, contact Mike Wilkerson, Kentucky Department of Agriculture, Division of Shows and Fairs, 1003 Twilight Trail, Suite A-1, Frankfort, KY 40601. Phone (502) 564-4983.

THE WELL DRESSED SALAD From the American Institute for Cancer Research

With the bounty of spring produce appearing in the nation's grocery stores and supermarkets, and with farmers' markets and roadside produce stands reopening across the country, there's no better time to put some zest into your salad making.

An astounding variety of nutritious, fresh vegetables are now available, so the creativity of your salads is limited only by your imagination. Lettuce and tomato are a start, but why not expand your horizons: asparagus, broccoli, spinach, greens, peppers, cabbage, carrots. The list is practically endless, and most—particularly the dark green and orange varieties of vegetables—are excellent sources of vitamins A and C, two nutrients shown to lower cancer risk.

Many fresh vegetable salads are great dressed with just a squeeze of lemon juice or splash of wine vinegar. Or you can create a whole new taste by varying the dressing: a highly flavored dressing can add snap to simple greens; a milder flavored dressing will let the flavor of the vegetables come through.

Fresh, homemade dressings add just the right touch to a fresh garden salad—and using lowfat ingredients can achieve the taste you want without the fat found in standard commercially bottled salad dressings. Experiment with fresh herbs. Basil, marjoram, parsley, tarragon and the onion family (chives, garlic, onions, leeks, scallions and shallots) are the staples among salad herbs, but dill, fennel, oregano, savory, rosemary and thyme are also good choices for concocting a dressing for vegetable salads.

But whether buying a lowfat commercial dressing, or making your own, the key is moderation. Fiber and vitamins make vegetable salads a goldmine of cancer-fighting nutrition; don't let added fat detract from the tremendous health benefits these salads can provide.

The following recipes show how you can have a well dressed salad without a lot of extra fat:

GREEN GODDESS SALAD DRESSING
Usually a rich, high fat dressing made with mayonnaise and sour cream, this version of green goddess gets its mild-yet-tangy, lowfat goodness from lowfat yogurt.

- 1 cucumber
- 2 tbsp fresh parsley, chopped (or 1 1/2 tsp dried)
- 1 scallion, cut in 1" lengths
- 2 tsp oil
- 1 tbsp vinegar (or lemon juice)
- 1 clove garlic
- 1/8 to 1/4 tsp hot pepper sauce (to taste)

1/2 cup plain lowfat yogurt

THE WELL DRESSED SALAD
Peel the cucumber and slice in half lengthwise; scrape out seeds and cut into chunks. Place all ingredients except yogurt in blender or food processor. Puree until smooth. Add yogurt and blend on low speed just until mixed in (about 10 seconds). Cover and refrigerate if not ready to serve.

This will yield about 1 1/4 cups of dressing, with each tablespoon of dressing containing only one gram of fat and 17 calories. This dressing will store, refrigerated, for up to one week.

ZESTY OIL-FREE SALAD DRESSING
This light and lemony dressing is great on both vegetable and fruit salads, in addition to being extremely low in calories and containing no fat. It can be refrigerated up to a week.

- 1/2 cup tomato juice
 - 1 tsp lemon juice
 - 1 tsp vinegar
 - 1/4 tsp dry mustard
 - 1 tsp onion, finely chopped
 - 1 tsp parsley, finely chopped
- Combine all ingredients and mix well. Ingredients may also be combined in blender and quickly pureed. Refrigerate to allow flavors to blend.

This recipe will yield about 3/4 cup of dressing, with each tablespoon containing only 3 calories and no fat.

Plaintiff in Malpractice Suit Is Awarded $67,724 Damages

By Ron Marstin

An East Point woman who brought a malpractice suit against a Paintsville podiatrist was awarded $67,724 in damages Thursday by a Floyd Circuit Court jury.

Attorneys for Carolyn Sue "Susy" Jervis claimed that Dr. Jess D. Songer performed unnecessary surgery on her toes at Highlands Regional Medical Center in August, 1983 and used a procedure no longer in vogue among foot specialists. She missed work as a result and suffers continuing pain, they said.

Jervis alleged that the outpatient procedure performed by the podiatrist went beyond what she had been given reason to expect. "He took the joints out of my toes," she said in a pre-trial statement. "He didn't say he was going to do that."

The plaintiff also accused the hospital of negligence in allowing Songer to perform surgery without supervision but the jury found Highlands blameless in the case.

Songer argued that his procedure was proper and was fully explained to his patient beforehand with the aid of a diagram. Jervis failed to cooperate in post-operative care that could have completed her recovery, he said. His attorney characterized Jervis as "an impatient patient."

On the contrary, argued David Barber, Floyd County Attorney and one of two lawyers representing the plaintiff, this was a case of a "knife-happy podiatrist."

Two weeks after Jervis appeared at his office complaining of corns, the attorney said, Songer "sharpened his knife," surgically fracturing eight toes in a procedure that left his patient unable to play sports, dance, or walk long distances. Moreover, "not a day has gone by in which she has not had some kind of pain in her foot," he said.

The jury decided Jervis should have $5,000 to pay for her medical bills and $2,224 for five weeks' work she lost as a Pontiki Coal Corporation bookkeeper. Barber also asked for $210,842 for his client's reduced earning power—she is now 35—and $50,000 for her pain. The jury awarded her $60,500.

Louisville attorney Louis N. Garlove, representing Songer, insisted that, in treating Jervis, the podiatrist "performed in accordance with the standards of care required of him." By failing to stay with Songer for her post-operative care, Jervis "did not give him a chance" to see her through to a complete recovery, he said.

Of two orthopedic specialists Jervis saw subsequently, one found that she was "getting along fine" and the other performed further surgery that may have hindered rather than helped her recovery, he said. "It could be that, without the further surgery, she would have been fully healed today," he told the jury.

"You want to besmirch the reputation of Dr. Songer . . . but you don't care," said the attorney, turning to face Mrs. Jervis. "You've got your eyes on bucks."

That brought a rejoinder from Barber, when he had his turn before the jury panel. "It's a money case; he's right," the plaintiff's attorney said. "But the money in question is the $2,230 (Songer) got for a half-day's work that shouldn't have been done in the first place."

Barber reminded the panel that two orthopedists had testified during the three days of testimony that the operation performed by Songer—who used a surgical drill to remove pieces of bone in an effort to remedy a condition he diagnosed as hammer toes—is a procedure they no longer perform.

Barber, who shared the defense table with Lexington attorney Escum L. Moore, nevertheless portrayed himself as "a boy from Hueysville" up against lawyers from Louisville and Lexington.

"You are the conscience of this community," he told the jurors, whom he urged to render a verdict which would give the out-of-town attorneys "a message to take back up the Parkway with them."

That message, he suggested, was that local patients "are entitled to the same care here that they would get in Lexington or anywhere."

24 YEARS AGO!

Shortly after Peggy and I were married 27 years ago, I ran for Circuit Court Clerk. This picture was one of our campaign ads. Peggy's father, Willie B. Parker, was my campaign manager.

I was defeated in that election by a margin of only 3 votes. My opponent has been in office for TWENTY-FOUR YEARS. He has been Clerk for more years than my children have been alive.

I am now asking you, the voters, to give me a chance to show what I can do for the office.

My opponent says he has been your friend for 24 years. HAS HE?

I am running on a record of fair play and honesty. CAN MY OPPONENT SAY THE SAME? Has he explained the $21,915 found in 1983 to be missing from funds of the Circuit Clerk's office?

I have discussed the issues of this campaign and endeavored to be fair and honest in all respects. My opponent has been unwilling to do the same.

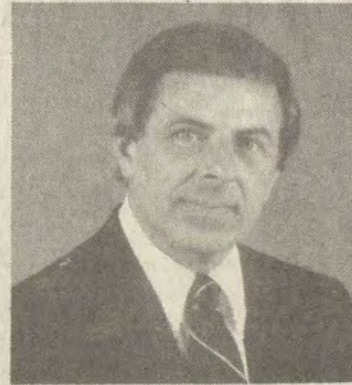

My opponent has been in office long enough to retire. I am not asking for a DEED to the office of Clerk, I am only asking for a chance to serve you efficiently and well. Please give me that opportunity on May 26.

A vote for DAVID HEREFORD is a vote for HONESTY, INTEGRITY and SERVICE to you, the citizens of Floyd County. Give me one chance to prove to you what I can do for the office...

YOU WON'T BE SORRY YOU DID

Thank You, David Hereford

Acid Rain Problem Explored

Until recently, acid rain was unknown to most people outside the scientific community; however, the problem of acid rain now is being tossed around Capital Hill as a political football. In "Acid Rain," airing Sunday, June 7 at 9 p.m. on KET, "NOVA" explores research on acid rain focusing on the problem of forest decline in North America and Europe.

Seen as perhaps the most potentially devastating problem of the 1980s, acid rain is an extremely complex phenomenon. Its causes and effects are just starting to be understood fully.

Acid rain is a form of air pollution which has been blamed for the increased acidification of some North American and European lakes, ponds and streams.

This pollution results in the death of aquatic plants and animals. Researchers have made another alarming discovery: The world's forests are being harmed by air pollution.

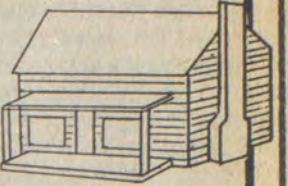

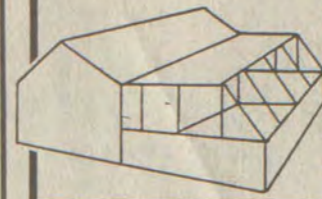

Acid rain, formed when fuel exhausts combine with elements in the atmosphere to make sulphuric and nitric acids, is a difficult scientific problem. In this program, "NOVA" explores the story behind the headlines: How are scientists struggling with a complex problem, one which has turned into a volatile political issue as its possible causes, effects and costs become apparent?

REBEKAH LODGE MEETS

Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 met in regular session, Tuesday, May 5, with Noble Grand Mrs. Mabel Jean LeMaster presiding. The regular routine of business was carried out, those who were on the sick list were noted, and cards were signed to be mailed to them. Initiation services for two new members, Mrs. Margaret Baldrige and Mrs. Minnie Warrick, were held. A reobligation ceremony was performed, with all officers and members participating. "Happy birthday" greetings were extended to Mrs. Sue Wells.

Preceding the meeting, a covered dish dinner was enjoyed, and Mrs. Venelia Rinehart read a poem pertaining to Mother's Day.

Present for the dinner-meeting were Mesdames Mabel Jean LeMaster, Beverly Hackworth, Pauline Crisp, Lorena Wallen, Pauline Owens, Virginia S. Goble, Emma Lou Horn, Violetta Wright, Sue Moore, Molly Hyden, Venelia Rinehart, Maman Leslie, Doty Lafferty, Norma S. Stepp, Jewell Bayes, Jean Hickman, Sue Wells, Hope Whitten, Willia Mae Branham, and Miss Cindy Hackworth.

HRMC AUXILIARY MEETS

An appreciation dinner for members of the Highlands Regional Medical Center's Women's Auxiliary was held at May Lodge, Sunday. Mrs. Sarah Goble, director of the auxiliary, presented each member with a corsage and pictures were made of the event. Enjoying this occasion were Sarah Goble, Christine Spradlin, Jeanette Harris, Garnett Fairchild, Honey May, Jo Vaughn, Margaret Harris, Lois Marshall, Ruby Lafferty, Effie Hobson, Jean Burke, Gladys Allen, Anne Howard, Joyce Spears, Connie Cooley, Annis Clark, Dorothy Harris, Lorena Horn, Myrtle Burchett, and Susie Burchett.

The next meeting will be June 14 at 3 p.m. at the Highlands Regional Medical Center.

FESTIVAL BOARD TO MEET

Mrs. Maxine Bierman, director of the Jenny Wiley Festival, reminds board members and other interested persons that the regular meeting of this group will be held at 5 p.m., May 28, rather than 4 p.m., former time of the meetings, at the Floyd County Library. She urges them to attend.

PARENTS WITHOUT PARTNERS SET PIKEVILLE MEETINGS

Parents Without Partners are having meetings Friday, May 22, and May 29, at 7 p.m. at the Mountain Comprehensive Center in Pikeville. New members are welcome. For further information, please call 432-3143, before 5 p.m.; 432-3057, after 5 p.m., or 874-2454.

PRESTONSBURG DAY HOMEMAKERS

The Prestonsburg Day Homemakers met Tuesday afternoon, May 12, at Fellowship Hall, of the First United Methodist Church. Mrs. Judy Kittle, president, was in charge of the meeting. The devotionals were given by Mrs. Fannie Runnels, who recited from memory a poem entitled, "I Met God in the Morning," and led the group in prayer. In the absence of Mrs. Dorothy Osborne, secretary, Mrs. Beverly Hackworth, historian, read the minutes of the club for 10 years ago.

It was decided that donations would be made to the Hospice program, the Breast Cancer Center, and the Rescue Squad, here. "Happy Birthday" was sung for members observing their birthdays during the month of May: Mesdames Myrtle Allen, Barbara Dawson, Mabel Donahoe, Maman Leslie, Jane Wallace, Beckye Short, Isabel Spotte, and Ann Alley. The 50th anniversary reception for Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Whitten, scheduled at the First United Methodist Church, May 16, was announced, with invitations to those present, their families and friends to attend.

Mrs. Frances Pitts reminded members of the Homemakers' Camp, June 3-5, and said that Mrs. Judy Kittle and Mrs. Mary Sue Moore of this homemakers' group would be two of the instructors. She also reminded them of the forthcoming state Homemakers' meeting to be held in Lexington.

Since April's meeting was cancelled, Mrs. Pitts combined April's lesson on "Fiber in the Diet" with May's lesson on "Salads the Light Way," in her presentation of the program.

Mrs. Judy Kittle, 1986-87 President, who also wished the members "A healthy, happy summer," and asked that they continue in the recruiting of new members.

Officers and committees for the year 1987-88 were presented as follows: President, Mrs. Barbara Dawson; Vice President, Mrs. Dorothy Stover; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Osborne; Devotions, Mrs. Fannie Runnels; Historian, Mrs. Beverly Hackworth; Telephone, Mesdames May K. Roberts, Gypsy Jones, and Maman Leslie, and Publicity, Mrs. Docia B. Woods.

A buffet luncheon, prepared by hostesses, Mesdames Jane Wallace, Grace Sutherland, and Nancy Webb, was enjoyed by these officers and committee members, and other members including Frances Pitts, Judy Kittle, Dolly Pettrey, Roberta Sloan, Isabel Spotte, Eleanor Horn, Myrtle Allen, Rebecca Rasnick, Phyllis Herrick, Mabel Donahoe, Alice Harris, Pat Phillips, Ann Lee Alley, Sandra Chandler, Mary Sue Moore, Hope Whitten, Beckye Short and the hostesses.

A.A.R.P. MEETS

Members of the Jenny Wiley Chapter, A.A.R.P., held their dinner meeting Friday evening, May 15, in the dining room of the Highlands Regional Medical Center. In the absence of James E. Goble, president, Orville Cooley, vice president, presided at the business meeting. Mr. Cooley announced that the annual A.A.R.P. houseboat trip would be made Thursday, July 6, at 11 p.m., on Dewey Lake. Eva and Harmison Hale reminded members of the "55 Alive" program, to be given by them at the First Presbyterian Church, May 21-22. Mr. Cooley said that the next regular dinner meeting would be at the Highlands Regional dining room, Friday evening, June 19, at 6 o'clock, with the executive board meeting to be held there at 5:30 on that same day.

Present for Friday's event were Orville Cooley, Harmison and Eva Hale, Sarah and Russell Laven, Irene Cooley, Delmas and Edna Saunders, Glenn Anderson, L.B. and Garnett Fairchild, Herbert and Elva Spradlin, Jack Freed, and Bradis and Sally Goble.

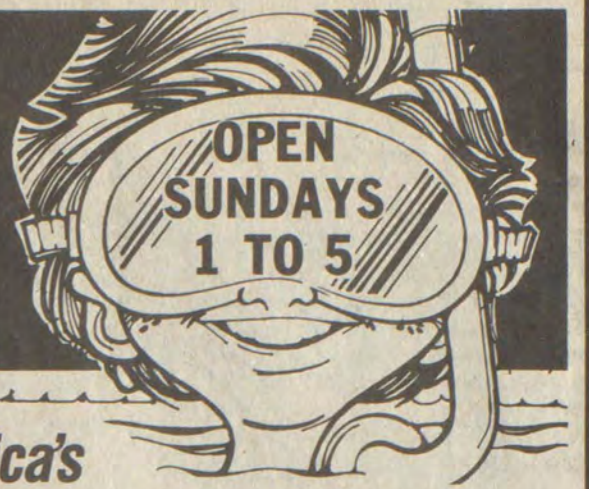

RETURNS FROM VISIT

After completing a Triple A Bluegrass tour in Virginia, Mrs. Otelia Smiley was joined by her son, Ronald H. Smiley, in Charlottesville, Va., for a visit with him, his wife, and family in Springfield, Va. During her stay there, she also visited with her sons, John and William Smiley, their wives and families. Her son, William Smiley, accompanied her home for a brief visit.

Burch Is Honored For Saving Life

Trooper William H. Burch was awarded the Kentucky State Police Trooper's Medal recently in Frankfort during the Kentucky State Police Awards Ceremony.

Trooper Burch was awarded the Trooper's Medal, reserved for those state troopers who perform a life-saving act, because he rescued an individual from drowning on Feb. 5, 1987.

His citation, which accompanied his award, read in part: "...Burch began pursuit of a suspected drinking driver in Floyd county when the suspect fled in an attempt to elude Burch. During the pursuit, the man lost control of his vehicle and slid into a creek where his vehicle overturned and submerged into waist deep water."

"Burch stopped and plunged into the almost-freezing water and made several attempts to shatter a window in the overturned vehicle. Water was filling the passenger compartment of the car..."

"Seeing his efforts were futile, he immediately sought permission from a supervisor, then fired one well-placed shot from his revolver into the vehicle's side window shattering the glass. The man was extracted single-handedly by Burch, thus saving the suspect from drowning."

"The immediate and positive action by Trooper Burch preserved a human life; and, in so doing, has given the highest credit both to himself and to the Department of the Kentucky State Police."

Burch, 24, is a native of Louisville and has been a trooper since 1986. He is currently assigned to the Pikeville Post.

County Named for Col. John Floyd

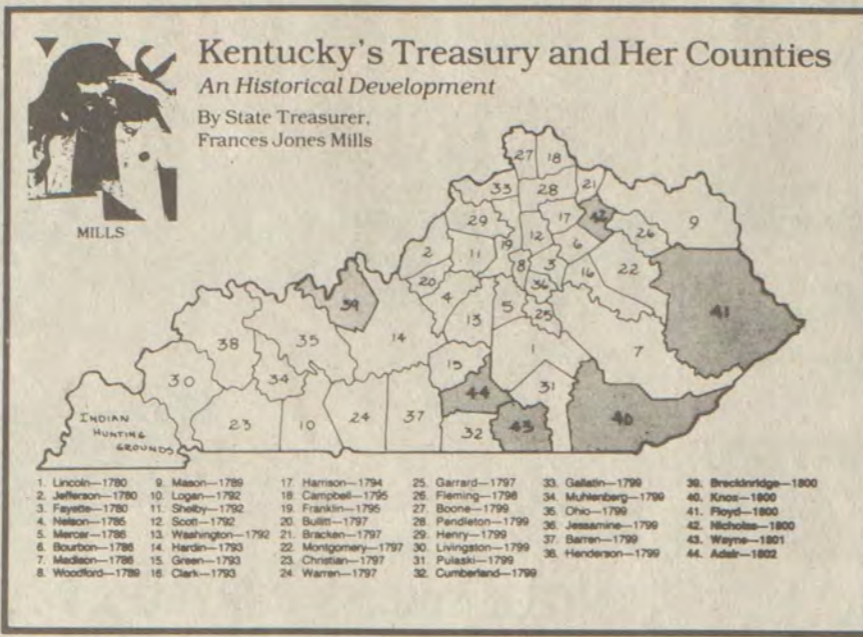

Seven years after attaining statehood, Kentucky was rapidly subdividing into smaller units of county government. This was caused primarily by the influx of settlers at such a rapid rate, and because they were moving west and south. The mode of transportation being what it was, either on foot or by horse, the proximity of the courthouse to these new property owners took on an even more important perspective. This was creating problems for State Treasurer John Logan, for each county formed meant approximately $700 expended in the creation of a county. Half of the counties could afford this and half could not. In 1800, Breckinridge was the first of four new counties formed. Breckinridge was formed from Hardin and was named for John Breckinridge of Fayette county.

Breckinridge was one of the very early pioneers who weathered the death of his father when he was only 11, and was reared in the dangers and hardships of the wilderness of the Virginia frontier by his widowed mother. He became the head of a house with six other children and began to educate himself with the use of books only, except for two years at William and Mary in Virginia. At an early age he served in the Virginia House of Burgesses from the county of Bottelourt. In 1793 he moved to Kentucky and settled in Lexington. Breckinridge served as attorney general under Thomas Jefferson, a close friend. He was, with Jefferson, a preeminent architect of the democratic party and supported this party in the Legislature of Kentucky and in the U.S. Senate. He died in 1806.

Floyd county was formed from parts of Fleming, Montgomery and Mason counties and was named to honor Col. John Floyd. Portions of this large county would later form 15 other counties including Pike, Harlan and Boyd.

John Floyd underwent many hardships in the early frontier. Three of his five brothers and two brothers-in-law were killed by Indians. He was deputy surveyor under Col. William Preston and was working in what is now Lewis county when Daniel Boone was sent by Virginia's Governor Dunmore to recall him because of pending Indian hostilities.

Floyd returned to Kentucky in 1775 and surveyed throughout central Kentucky. In 1776, he accompanied Daniel Boone in the rescue of three girls, one of whom was Boone's daughter. Floyd was with General George Rogers Clark on several of his expeditions. The British commander at Detroit offered to have him made a Duke if he would join the British and induce the Indians to make war on Kentucky settlers, an offer he spurned. On April 22, 1783, Floyd, with his brother, Charles, was fired upon by Indians, and although they escaped, John Floyd had been mortally wounded and died at his home a few hours later.

Knox county was formed from Lincoln county and was named for General Henry Knox of Massachusetts. Knox, born in 1750, began his career as a book salesman, and at the age of 18 was chosen an officer of a company of grenadiers. He was a volunteer in the Battle of Bunker Hill. After successfully capturing ammunition from the British in Canada, he was made a brigadier general and served with distinction in the Battles of Trenton, Princeton, Germantown and Monmouth, and contributed greatly to the defeat of Cornwallis at Yorktown. Immediately after Yorktown, he was commissioned a major general and was named one of the commissioners who adjusted the terms of peace. He later was commander of West Point, and was appointed Secretary of War in 1785. He served in this post until 1794. He died October 25, 1806, at the age of 56.

Nicholas county was formed from parts of Bourbon and Mason and was named for Col. George Nicholas five months after his death. Nicholas' father was a prominent lawyer of Williamsburg, Virginia, who had served four years in congress, and had been treasurer of Virginia. The son, George, was in later life to become a most prominent lawyer. He was a captain in the Revolutionary War and later served in the Virginia Legislature. He also served as a delegate to the Virginia convention called to ratify the new Federal Constitution. In 1788, he moved to what was then Mercer county, near Danville. In 1791, he represented Mercer in the first Kentucky Constitution Convention, and was one of its brightest delegates. He was greatly interested in the manufacture of iron at Slate Furnace in now Bath county, then moved to Lexington to practice law. In 1799, when Transylvania added a law department, Col. Nicholas was its first professor. He died in July 1799 at age 55.

Wayne county was the 43rd to be formed and was made up of parts of Pulaski and Cumberland. The county was named for Gen. Anthony Wayne. Wayne was born in Chester, Pennsylvania in 1745 and became, as did John Floyd, a surveyor. In 1774, he was elected to the Pennsylvania Legislature. In 1775, he was made a colonel of one of the regiments and joined General Lee in New York. He fought in several Revolutionary War battles, distinguishing himself and was present at Yorktown to witness the surrender of Lord Cornwallis. In 1792, the year Kentucky was made a state, he was appointed by Washington to command the army engaged against the Indians on the western frontier. In 1795, he concluded a treaty of peace with the Indians. He died the following year.

Adair was formed in 1801 and was taken from Green county. The county was named in honor of General John Adair, a native of South Carolina, who emigrated to Kentucky in 1786 and settled in Mercer county. He was then a major, leading volunteers in heavy Indian fighting in the northwest territory. He accompanied Governor Isaac Shelby into Canada for the Battle of the Thames. Shelby later appointed him Adjutant General of the Kentucky troops with the rank of brigadier general. He commanded the Kentuckians in the Battle of New Orleans. In 1820, he was elected Governor. He served in the State Legislature and in 1825 was elected to the U.S. Senate. He was elected to congress in 1831 and served until 1833. He died in May 1840 at the age of 83.

Happy Chandler Film Premieres Tomorrow

A documentary on the life of former Kentucky Governor Happy Chandler will premiere tomorrow (Thursday) May 21, at 7 p.m. at the Worsham Theatre, University of Kentucky campus, Lexington. The film will be followed by a reception hosted by University of Kentucky President Otis Singletary and sponsored by Philip Morris Companies, Inc.

Robert Henson, a native of Danville, directed the film about the former United States Senator and past baseball commissioner. The film, "Roads Home: The Life and Times of A.B. Happy Chandler," will air publicly on KET, Wednesday, May 27.

This unique documentary on one of Kentucky's most colorful native sons was made possible by major funding from Philip Morris Companies, Inc. Additional funding was provided by Ashland Oil, Inc., Hillerich & Bradsby Co., Inc., and Kentucky Educational Television Network.

ASCS Cost Sharing Deadline Is June 1

June 1 will be final day for Floyd county farmers to apply for assistance through the Agricultural Conservation Program. ASCS is accepting cost-sharing applications for the following practices: Diversions; Sod Waterways; Improving a Stand of Forest Trees; Grazing Land Protection (springs, ponds or wells); Water Impoundment Reservoirs; and Critical Area Seedings.

A needs determination must be made prior to approval. Practices started before notice of county committee approval will not be eligible for cost-sharing.

For further information contact the Floyd County ASCS Office at 886-3128 (open on Tuesdays and Wednesdays thru July 15) or the Hindman office at 785-5402.

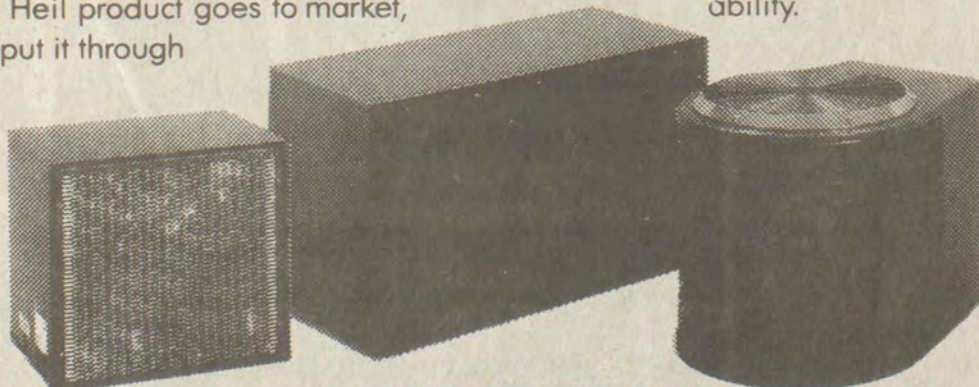

We've engineered dependability into every central air conditioning system we make.

When you buy a central air conditioning system, you want dependability and freedom from worry. You want a system that's tough enough to stand up to anything summer can dish out.

To insure that our systems give you the dependability you're looking for, we engineer it into them. And, before any Heil product goes to market, we put it through one of the toughest product testing labs in the country—our own. If it doesn't measure up, it never leaves the drawing board.

For the most economical system to the super-advanced, energy-efficient Hermitage Elite air conditioning system, Heil is the choice for proven dependability.

This request for proposal does not commit the Owner or Architect to pay any costs incurred in the preparation or submission of your proposal or to contract for this requirement.

Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club News

A plea for tutors to teach those who cannot read was issued to members of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club recently by Sister Mary Gervase, council member of the Christian Appalachian Project, speaking at the home of Mrs. Libby Martin, near Wayland. Mrs. Elsworth Coburn was in charge of the program on community improvement and introduced the speaker.

Sister Gervase said that from 4,000 brochures distributed in an effort to reach those who need tutoring, only 50 responses were received. She further advised there is a large percentage of people who read no better than a third grade level who need help. She stressed the need for club members to try to reach some of these people and let them know there is help available. She gave many illustrations of the frustrations and even dangers to persons who though they are unable to read, still try to hide it from friends, employers, and sometimes even their family. She further stressed that often these people are very intelligent but need only a small amount of help for them to be able to take their GED.

The speaker illustrated the method of teaching, which though different from the one used by public schools, is very simple. She also displayed books used in the course, and went through one teaching lesson for a beginner. She emphasized the confidentiality which is employed in tutoring, explaining that it is done "one-on-one" and in a private place of the learner's choice. The speaker explained that her job is three-pronged, that of teaching adults to read, teaching other adults how to teach others to read, and encouraging people to take the GED. Sister Gervase is also a member of the Floyd County Adult Literacy Council.

Prior to the program, devotions were given by Mrs. Vera Allen and the Club Collect read by Mrs. Joann Hall. Mrs. Maxine Martin led the Pledge to the Flag.

During the business session, club president, Mrs. Marie Mullins, announced invitations to two inter-club dinners, one from the Allen Woman's Club and the other from the Drift Woman's Club, both in May. She also announced that May is Cancer Prevention Month and there is a special rate for mammograms at various clinics. The winner of the club's Citizenship/Scholarship Award had been selected and would be announced on Commencement Night at Allen Central High School.

A new slate of officers for the coming year was presented by the president, previously selected by the nominating committee. An election was held and the following officers elected: President, Louise West; Vice President, Marsella Bradley; Recording Secretary, Elizabeth Duff; Corresponding Secretary, Libby Martin; Treasurer, LaFaye Hughes; and Parliamentarian, Maxine Martin. A dessert course was served by the hostess to Vera Allen, Blanche Bamer, Maxine Martin, Marie Mullins, Joann Hall, LaFaye Hughes, and a guest, Miss Ruby Akers, of Drift, former Seventh District Governor.

The next meeting will be the annual installation breakfast to be held at the home of Mrs. Marsella Bradley, May 31, at which time the new officers will be installed.

Pikeville KSP Trooper Lauded For Saving Life

Eight Kentucky State Police officers, including one stationed at the Pikeville Post, were presented awards for bravery, lifesaving acts and meritorious service during ceremonies held in Frankfort, May 14.

William H. Burch, 24, was one of two troopers who were presented with the KSP Trooper's Medal for lifesaving acts. He had dived into the near-freezing water of a creek to save the life of a man whose car was submerged upside-down. After futile attempts to break the car's windows, Burch fired one shot into a side window, shattering the glass and enabling the man to escape.

Two other officers received the KSP Medal for Bravery for "acts of extraordinary courage" at the same ceremony, and four others were awarded the KSP Medal for Meritorious Service for acts of "distinguished gallantry."

Gospel Sing Will Mark Group's 15th Birthday

A Prestonsburg family of Gospel singers and musicians will mark their 15th anniversary as a group with a Gospel Sing on Saturday, May 23, at the county park at Allen.

The Singing Sammons Family—Arliss and Priscilla Sammons and their three sons, Lloyd, Dewey, and Timothy—carry on a tradition begun 40 years ago by Arliss Sammons' parents. Since the present family group began its ministry in 1971, they have made six recordings and have toured in 15 states.

Members of the First Church of God in Prestonsburg, the Sammons Family will host Gospel Music Expo, beginning at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Stumbo Park at Allen. Guest groups will include the Jones Family, of Lorain, Ohio, and The Bishops, of Richmond. Admission is free and open to the public. In case of rain, the event will be held in the Betsy Layne High School gym.

FOR FATHER

Floyd Countians,

We would like to ask you to please consider casting your vote for our father, David Hereford, for the office of Circuit Court Clerk.

If everyone could personally meet and talk with our Dad we have no doubt that they would KNOW he is the best man for the job.

Mother and Dad campaigned for this office before we were born. We think 24 years in office is long enough for one man. Don't you?

Our Dad has always been fair and honest. We're lucky to have him for a dad and we think Floyd County would be lucky to have him as Clerk.

We would like to ask all our friends and acquaintances to please do us a favor—do Floyd County a favor—vote and work for our Dad, and ask your friends to vote for David Hereford.

You won't be sorry you did.

Thank you,
David and Laura Hereford

George Washington was born February 22, 1732, and was elected the first President of our nation in 1789. The four members of his first cabinet were Thomas Jefferson as secretary of state, Alexander Hamilton as secretary of the treasury, Henry Knox as secretary of war and Edmund Randolph as attorney general. The Daughters of the American Revolution honors these men who are instrumental in forming a new government in the United States of America.

GRETHEL NEWS

A mother-daughter tea was held at the Grethel Baptist Church annex May 14 from 6 to 8 p.m. with opening prayer by Eileen Martin.

Thirty-eight were present and the special speaker was Mrs. Lois Clark, wife of Pastor Reever Clark, of Cornettsville. She used Proverbs 31:10-31 as a message to the mothers and a special missionary story, "Donna's Missionary Gift" for the daughters.

The program included a solo sung by Miss Susan Spurr, group games and closing remarks by Mrs. Christine Crisp, wife of Grethel Baptist Church Pastor, Don Crisp. She expressed thanks to the Social Committee, Barbara C. Newman, Wanda Frasure, and Annette Martin, for an excellent job done for the occasion.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Inez Hall wishes to thank all who helped in any way during our time of grief. We deeply appreciate the flowers and food sent by the neighbors, relatives and friends. Thanks to the Little Rock Regular Baptist Church, members and ministers, and the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

" A COAL - MINERS' SON FOR A COAL MINING STATE"

In the race for Governor, only one candidate was born and reared in the coal fields. Only one candidate carried water to heat on a coal stove so his father could take a hot bath when he came from working in a coal mine. Only one candidate, who, as a medical doctor, treats coal miners every day and knows first hand of the devastating effects of black lung disease.

Only one candidate has outlined a coal policy that makes sense for putting coal miners back to work and only one candidate has stood up to price gouging insurance companies and told them " YOU WILL NOT DESTROY THE COAL MINERS' BLACK LUNG DISABILITY PROGRAM." That candidate is GRADY STUMBO.

"I was born and reared in the coal fields and I'm proud of it. Contrary to millionaire candidates and fancy-pants special interest candidates who try to tell us sons and daughters of working people cannot be elected, I believe Kentucky will never be a great state unless sons and daughters of coal miners, farmers and other working people are allowed to run and win an election not because of the power of their money but because of the power of their ideas."

The Salvation Army

One of the world's leading Christian charities was founded in 1865. Then: It began in 1865 with one man, William Booth, who wanted to bring the teachings of the Bible to desperately poor people in the slums of London's East End. He made many converts, but they didn't feel "at home" in churches, so Booth set up Christian Mission centers.

In 1880, Commissioner George Scott Railton and seven young women began work in New York City, helping the poor and combining Gospel preaching with social work. The group's work soon began to spread rapidly around the world—by the early 1900s, it was active in 36 countries.

Now: Today, The Salvation Army continues to work where the need is greatest, guided by its faith in God and love for all people. As an expression of its spiritual beliefs, the Army offers humanitarian services such as food, clothing and shelter, in an atmosphere of dignity and respect. It offers special assistance in facing personal problems—family relationships, the problems of unwed parents, alcoholics, ex-prisoners and others. It runs rehabilitation centers, in-residence programs that provide work therapy and counseling.

The Salvation Army depends on donations of money and volunteer time to continue its good work. For free brochures on how you can help, write: The Salvation Army, 799 Bloomfield Ave., Verona, NJ 07044.

Beethoven Life, Music Profiled

"This lad will be talked about. Keep an eye on him," said Mozart of the young Beethoven. The world has indeed "kept an eye" on Beethoven for more than 200 years.

Beethoven, the man and the artist, is profiled in "The Immortal Beethoven With Peter Ustinov," a special two-hour program Wednesday, June 10 at 9:00/8:00 p.m. CT on KET.

Host Peter Ustinov paints a picture of Beethoven's life in broad strokes from his modest beginnings to the immortal aspects of the composer's life. He talks about Beethoven's early years in Bonn, telling of Beethoven's harsh father who forced him to practice long hours on the piano. During Beethoven's long years in Vienna, the musician met Mozart, Salieri and Haydn, and established himself as a supreme pianist and composer.

"Today Beethoven's music is learned, performed, recorded and known more than that of any other composer," says Ustinov. "Beethoven's music has far outlived the man; the spirit has outlived the flesh."

"The Immortal Beethoven" is rich with the sounds of Beethoven's music. The program includes selections from five of his symphonies, the Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in D Major, Sonata for Violin and Piano No. 9, Leonore Overture, two famous string quartets and scenes from "Fiedlio." Performers include cellist Mischa Meisky, pianists Vladimir Ashkenazy and Israela Margalit, conductors Neville Marriner and Hans Zender and the Vienna Symphony and the Vienna Philharmonic orchestras.

22 Collector Cards May Mean Free Trip

Gathering collector cards featuring 22 "Champions Against Drugs" celebrities from the state should provide an interesting and informative summer hobby for Kentuckians, 17 and under, according to Gov. Martha Layne Collins.

Youngsters who collect all 22 of the cards will be eligible to win a free trip with the Kentucky college or university sports team of his or her choice to an "away" game, Collins added.

A photograph of the governor and an anti-drug message from her will be featured on the first card to be released May 25. A different card will be released each of the subsequent 21 weeks. Each week's card will feature a noted Kentuckian with an anti-drug message.

The "Champions Against Drugs" collector card series is sponsored by Valvoline Oil Co. and Coca-Cola Bluegrass and may be obtained from county sheriffs, state police, and police officers in Jefferson and Fayette counties. "The cooperation of these public-spirited companies, these dedicated law enforcement officers and the celebrities who join me in urging our youth to 'Say no to drugs' is greatly appreciated," the governor said.

A drawing for the trip to a ball game for a person 17 or under, accompanied by an adult, will be held Dec. 1. Transportation, hotel and meals for the trip will be provided as well as game tickets.

To be eligible for the drawing, a young person must collect each of the 22 cards and present them for verification at the local sheriff's office by Nov. 20. The sheriff will provide an entry card for the trip drawing.

During the card collection period, local newspapers and radio stations will provide information on appearances by "Champions Against Drugs" celebrities for autograph sessions.

Real Estate Center Sets Time Management Seminar

The Kentucky Real Estate Center at the University of Kentucky will conduct a time management seminar from 6 to 9 p.m., June 2, at the Holiday Inn, here.

Mitzie Bryant, president of Career Development Dynamics, Inc., in the Chicago area, will lead the seminar.

The seminar, funded by the Kentucky Real Estate Commission, will show real estate salespeople field-tested time management techniques, how to increase listing effectiveness, gain control of sales situations, and relate activities directly to goals.

For information call the center's director, John Wolff, 606-257-4827.

Meat, Dairy Prices Lower Food Index

Cheaper meat and dairy products paved the way for a reduction in Kentucky's retail food price index during April, according to Kentucky Farm Bureau's marketbasket survey.

A group of 40 food items cost shoppers about a dollar less in April than in March, dropping the statewide average marketbasket cost to $60.56. The same items cost $61.58 last month, and sold for $57.19 in April, 1986.

Pork and dairy items showed up as bargains in this month's survey, as shoppers found savings on items ranging from bacon and sausage, to butter and ice cream.

Fresh pork cuts dropped 3.5 percent in price under their March level and dairy products averaged 4.8 percent less this month. The poultry/eggs group was also down by 4.8 percent, grain-based foods fell 3.8 percent and beef prices were virtually unchanged.

Only the fruits-vegetables group moved above its March level, registering just under a 1 percent increase in the current survey. Potatoes, peppers and tomatoes were more costly, offsetting a 13-cent drop, to 68 cents, in the cost of a head of lettuce.

Ten of 13 meat cuts in the marketbasket had cheaper tabs in April. Hamburger was down 11 cents, selling for an average $1.27 a pound, pot roast dropped 16 cents to $1.67 and bacon was 11 cents cheaper per pound at $1.68. Sausage in the two-pound pack was a 34-cent money saver compared to last month, costing an average $3.81.

At the dairy case, butter was 17 cents cheaper and ice cream in the half-gallon dropped 18 cents, selling at $2.24 and $1.53 respectively. Cheese, on the other hand, displayed higher price tags. Cheddar was up 12 cents, priced at $2.75 average and American cheese cost $2.35 a pound, 9 cents higher than in March.

For meat, the outlook for further price drops is uncertain. Live cattle and hog prices are in a well-defined uptrend, says Farm Bureau market analyst Jeff Hall. Hog prices are around $10 higher now than in March while live cattle prices have risen some $12-per-hundred above their levels at the first of the year.

Hall said the price improvement at the farm traces to lower numbers of the animals going to market, and to healthy consumer buying trends, fueled in part by new red meat promotion efforts.

Prospects for holding onto current dairy price patterns are more predictable, Hall said. Lower ice cream prices during summer months is a normal seasonal change, he noted, reflecting higher hot-weather sales volume.

Morehead had the lowest local marketbasket average for the April survey, while Shelbyville showed up at the high end of the range. Overall, volunteers working through Kentucky Farm Bureau Women canvassed retail food prices in 22 Kentucky communities.

Those local averages are Morehead, 51.50; Greenup, 55.10; Salyersville, 58.08; Richmond, 58.18; Scottsville, 58.22; Glasgow, 58.93; Dry Ridge, 59.03; Grayson, 59.30; Greensburg, 59.54; Hopkinsville, 60.62.

Morgantown, 60.64; Elizabethtown, 60.82; Owensboro, 60.99; Georgetown, 61.76; Lexington, 61.85; Danville, 62.38; Henderson, 62.51; Louisville, 62.58; Tompkinsville, 63.14; London, 64.09; Somerset, 64.13; and Shelbyville, 67.72.

Mr. and Mrs. Hairl Harris, of Topmost, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Huff, of Dema, announce the forthcoming marriage of their children, Pamela Harris and Michael D. Huff.

The maternal grandparents of Miss Harris are the late Reuben and Sarah Lee Hall, of Topmost; paternal grandparents are Sarah Harris and the late Grant Harris, of Huntington, Indiana. The maternal grandparents of Mr. Huff are the late Miles and Alta Hall, of Dema; paternal grandparents are Richard and Alverta Huff, of Topmost.

The bride-elect is a 1985 graduate of Alice Lloyd College with a bachelor degree in Elementary Education. She is presently employed as a Chapter I reading teacher by the Knott County Board of Education. Mr. Huff is a 1986 graduate of Lexington Community College, University of Kentucky, with a degree in civil engineering. He is presently employed by William H. Finnie and Associates of Lexington.

The wedding will take place at 12:30 p.m., Saturday, June 6, at the Topmost Baptist Church. The gracious custom of open church will be observed.

VOTE AND ELECT

PAUL E. JOSEPH

FOR

PRESTONSBURG CITY COUNCIL TO THE CITIZENS OF PRESTONSBURG:

I would like to take time to discuss a few things I have done for the city of Prestonsburg when I was an elected City Council member 1974 through 1975.

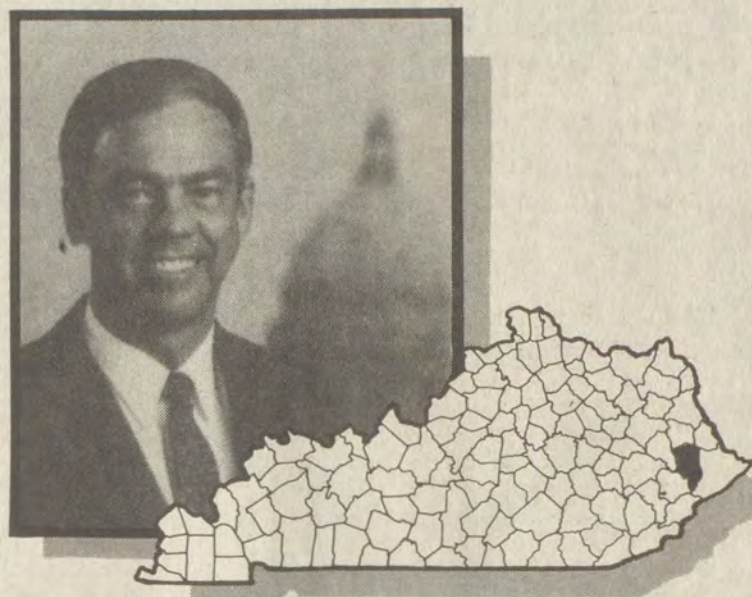

REMEMBER:

- : When the mini-park was opened in Goble Robert's Paul Joseph was there.
- : When the property of the Fire Department was purchased, Paul Joseph was there.
- : When the street sweeper was purchased for the city, Paul Joseph was there.
- : When the first side walks were poured in West Prestonsburg, Paul Joseph was there.
- : When the Senior Citizens cried out for help when they needed hand rails to get up and down the steps, Paul Joseph was there.
- : When the alley behind Music-Carter-Hughes was closed and then reopened for a new exit for the city of Prestonsburg, Paul Joseph was there.
- : When the fire department salaries were increased, Paul Joseph was there.

When elected on May 26, 1987, I will be there for you, the people, and the city of Prestonsburg. Thank you for your support.

Patton Proposes Jobs for Floyd County

We need to keep our people at home, and it is jobs -- good jobs -- that will allow them to stay here in Floyd County. The Patton plan will bring jobs to the people, not take the people away from the county in search of jobs.

Patton's first priority is to keep the jobs we now have and help our existing small businesses grow. But we can make even more progress by creating new jobs in manufacturing.

Patton is county judge/executive in a rural area with high unemployment like Floyd County. He understands the difficulty in getting manufacturing plants to locate here. He knows we will need help in getting our fair share of jobs.

Under the Patton plan, companies will be encouraged to locate in Floyd County by giving them a reason to come here. Patton has proposed that companies be offered a building rent free for up to five years -- financed from the income taxes paid by the company and its employees and not your tax dollars.

Paul Patton is well qualified to make his plan successful. As an engineer, Paul Patton knows how a manufacturing facility operates. He is a businessman, and understands what a business must have to grow and create jobs for our people. He is a local elected official and knows what government can and cannot do.

Paul Patton has the background and knowledge to make it happen, right here in Floyd County!

Floyd County needs jobs!

Floyd County needs Paul Patton as our next Lt. Governor!

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Meade, of Powell Addition, Van Lear, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Tina Gay, to Gregory Alan Music, son of Ronald and Helen Music, of Auxier.

The wedding will be performed in an open church ceremony at 6 p.m. on Saturday, May 30, at Mayo Memorial United Methodist Church, in Paintsville.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Johnson Central High School and Prestonsburg Community College, and is currently attending the University of Kentucky. She is employed at UK Medical Center.

The groom-elect is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and Pikeville College. He is employed by Worldwide Equipment.

Graduation Speaker

State Representative Ray E. Preston will be the guest-speaker at the first formal graduation ceremonies to be held by Excel College of Paintsville, Sunday, May 24, at 2 p.m. at the Carriage House Motor Hotel in Paintsville.

One hundred eighteen students who have completed course work leading to certificates or diplomas in such fields of study as business management, accounting, word processing, legal and medical secretary, general secretary and medical assistant will be honored during the ceremonies, according to an announcement from Bob Porter, Director of the school's Paintsville campus.

CARD OF THANKS
 The family of David "Jake" Symm wishes to thank all those friends, neighbors, and family who helped them in any way upon the passing of their loved one. Thanks to those who sent food, flowers, and prayers and for words of comfort, for just being there for the family. Thanks also to Ted Shannon and the Pentecostal singers, to the D.A.V. Frye-Osborne Wedding

Haskel Frye III, of Martin, and Maude Lucille Osborne, of Prestonsburg, were married May 5 at Clintwood, Va. In attendance were Madeline Carol Goble, sister of the bride, and Nira Jo Mosley, of Martin, a close friend of the bride. The couple will reside in Prestonsburg.

Attend Graduation Of Granddaughter

Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, of Martin, returned last week from Bloomington, Indiana, where they attended the 158th Commencement of Indiana University, Sunday, May 10. Their granddaughter, Karen Robinette Yabroff, graduated with B.A. and B.S. degrees. Also attending were Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Yabroff and daughter, Jennifer, of Wilmington, Delaware, and another daughter, Ann Deirdre, of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

Miss Yabroff's sorority, Alpha Phi, held "Open House" for all members' families and friends, Saturday evening. Preceding the graduation exercises, Sunday, the Yabroffs entertained with a Mothers' Day breakfast at the Abe Martin Lodge, Brown County State Park, Nashville, Indiana, and following, they hosted a party dinner in Bloomington honoring their daughter, Karen Robinette. After a week's vacation at home, Miss Yabroff will work in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Plan now for a healthy forest

Spring, the season of nature's reawakening, is also an appropriate time for the landowner to take stock of his timberlands as another year of growth gets underway.

It is an excellent time for annual planning and whether you own forested acreage for financial gain or recreational use, sound forest management should not be overlooked.

"Forest landowners must initially invest a small amount of money on a forest management plan. In the end, however, a far greater price will be paid by all of us by not making a plan," said Roger Dennington, a silviculturist specialist with the U.S. Forest Service.

Good spring planning pays both economic and environmental dividends. A study conducted in Arkansas's Crossett Forest showed that over a 44 year period, a timber stand managed under a planned forest management program yielded 260% more board feet of lumber than an unplanned stand. Based on an average price of $200 per thousand board feet on a 100 acre stand, there would be an increase of $6,300.

From an environmental perspective, spring planning creates a healthier, more aesthetically pleasing forest. Selection cutting, as part of a forest management plan, eliminates dead, diseased trees and undesirable underbrush. It creates an opportunity for the landowner to develop hiking and horseback trails and provides areas of scenic beauty for camping, picnicking and fishing.

Where else can I go for help?

Consulting foresters are professionals who also offer many services to the landowner. They work on a fee or contract basis and provide expert services that range from site preparation and tree species selection and planting to disease and insect control and timber marketing.

The Soil Conservation Office, a sister agency to the Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, also provides services to the landowner. While the agency's expertise is mainly in soil management, it does have foresters on its staff.

Another place to go for assistance is the Agricultural Cooperative Extension Service. Linked closely with your state university, one of its missions is to transfer research developed by the universities to the landowners.

Wherever you decide to seek assistance, the time to start planning for the year is now. Spring planning in forestry will pay handsome dividends.

What is a forest management plan?

A forest management plan starts with a land use objective statement, then outlines the management practices that will ultimately achieve these objectives. The plan should also contain a map of the land detailing the types of trees, vegetation and other features. It should provide a calculation of the allowable cut, and schedules when and how these cuts should occur. In addition, the plan should project the growth and yield that can be expected for harvest and provide a plan for fire prevention, insect and disease control and theft protection.

How do you make a forest management plan?

The first step in achieving any management plan is to ask yourself these questions: Do I want to grow the maximum amount of timber possible? Do I want to increase the sale value of my land? Do I want to create a wildlife refuge? Do I want to manage my forest for a specific product market? Do I merely want to create a peaceful place to camp and fish, a place to "get away from it all" with my family?

Forestland owners can realize any of these worthwhile benefits through intelligent planning and management.

Meeting your state forestry agency

The next step in your planning should be to consult a professional forester. Contact your state forestry agency and request the services of its personnel. Foresters have the technical knowledge that is necessary to advise you on a wide range of modern practices that will enhance your forestland. Some services of the tax-supported agency are limited to a certain number of hours and there is a nominal charge for some of the other services.

After providing the forester with certain planning parameters, (time frames, investment limits, expected returns), the forester will visit the property for an on-site examination and provide a detailed map indicating problem areas, utilization recommendations, etc.

The landowner is also provided a "Site Specific Prescription" - a plan describing the actions required to accomplish all the stated objectives.

Through a forest management plan, a professional forester can also advise which species of trees to plant and help you determine the most productive sites on which to plant.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF BLASTING SCHEDULE

Lancer Leasing Corporation, c/o Cabin Coal Corporation, Goble Roberts Addition, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653, telephone 606-886-3847 will conduct surface blasting operations on a 28.11 acre site in Floyd county. This site is located approximately 0.5 miles northwest of the junction of Oklahoma road and Eel Branch Road near the community of Allen, latitude 37° 35' 52" N and longitude 82° 44' 53" W. The surface on which the blasting will occur is owned by the Robert Ousley Heirs.

Detonation of explosives are scheduled to occur between the hours of 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

Blasting will be conducted only during daytime hours, sunrise to sunset, unless required by unavoidable safety reasons.

Events which could lead to blasting at times other than those scheduled include, but are not limited to, rain, lightning, or other atmospheric conditions which involve personal, operational, or public safety. Residents within one-half mile will be notified orally and the blast shall proceed as a scheduled blast. If a nighttime blast is performed, the department will be notified as required.

Entry to the blasting area will be prohibited by blocking access roads at least 10 minutes before each detonation. Post-detonation access to the blasting area will be allowed only after an inspection determines that no hazards are apparent.

Warning signals and all-clear signals will be generated from an air horn or other suitable device and will be audible within one-half mile of the blast area. Five minutes prior to blasting, the warning will be a continuous one (1) minute signal. One minute prior to detonation, the warning will be a series of short signals. The all-clear indication will be two ten (10) second signals. These signals shall be audible within one-half mile of the blasting area.

This notice is published pursuant to CFR 715.19, Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Provisions, and KRS 350.220 and the regulations relating thereto. Kentucky Permit Number 836-5122, MSHA Identification Number applied for.

Grasshopper Crop Could Confuse Cicada Watcher

And the Lord said unto Moses, stretch out thine hand over the land of Egypt for the locusts, that they may come up upon the land of Egypt, and eat every herb of the land, and all that the hail hath left. Exodus 10:12

Many people confuse cicadas with locusts, and recent stories in newspapers and on television about an impending national outbreak of 17-year cicadas have increased awareness of the insects.

That awareness often results in an assumption that the first insect to put in a large appearance is the one in question, said Doug Johnson, Extension entomologist at the University of Kentucky.

"For some reason, a lot of people mistake cicadas for locusts. They don't look anything alike. The 17-year cicada has been compared to a flying cigar butt. It is dark brown to black, short and stubby, and has red eyes. It is a member of the insect family Cicadidae.

"Locusts are members of the grasshopper family, and get their name from the old scientific family name Locustidae. The redlegged grasshopper, which is upstaging the cicada in some parts of Kentucky this spring, is in the same family as locusts," Johnson said.

The warm, dry weather across most of the state this spring is ideal for grasshoppers. If the weather continues this pattern, redlegged grasshopper populations are likely to be unusually high in most of the state. And many people will think they are the cicadas they've been hearing so much about," Johnson said.

"The cicadas are definitely coming, but don't think they are here when you see a swarm of locusts, or grasshoppers. If you see a swarm of flying cigar butts, then the cicadas have arrived," Johnson said.

Locusts, or grasshoppers, aren't the only insects that will eat, "every herb upon the land." The cicadas also will eat their share.

County Extension offices can help identify insects found in lawns and gardens, and recommend appropriate actions to protect home landscapes from whatever type of insect is found.

Dark Side Of The Hollywood Dream

Young, pretty and fresh, Colleen Applegate left Farmington, Minn. for Hollywood in search of a dream, and found herself in X-rated movies, on drugs, and estranged from her family and friends.

After two years as a porn queen, Colleen Applegate took her own life and left only questions. "Frontline" delves into the story of this small town beauty who dazzled pornographic films in "The Death of a Porn Queen" which airs Thursday, June 11 at 9 p.m. on KET.

At 18, Applegate left smalltown Minnesota for the glamour and glitter of Hollywood. From a secure job with the Farmington telephone company, she had gone to the world of pornographic magazines. Colleen was earning as much as $1,700 a day posing nude for publications such as Penthouse and Hustler. She soon changed her name to Shauna Grant and was a celebrated star throughout the porn world.

Back in Farmington many were repulsed—and intrigued—by Shauna Grant. Applegate's family tried to convince her to stop and apparently she found another kind of family—one created by her manager Bobby Hollander. Through this group, Colleen met 44-year-old Jake Ehrlich.

Reportedly Ehrlich tried to ease Applegate out of porn and into a new life. Although he dealt cocaine, Ehrlich also tried to help her end her expensive habit.

After less than six months together, Jake and Colleen began having problems. He was convicted on drug charges and sentenced to prison. Colleen spent Jake's money freely, often on cocaine. He called from prison and asked her to move. Colleen's world fell apart even more.

March 21, 1984, Colleen Applegate reached under the bed for Ehrlich's rifle, held it to her head, and pulled the trigger. She was 20 years old.

"Death of a Porn Queen" is a sad story revealing the darker side of Hollywood. More than fame and glitter await many who go there, says "Frontline" Executive Producer David Fanning.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 836-0188

(1) In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Transcontinental Coal Processing, Inc., P.O. Box 203, Ivel, Ky. 41642, has filed an application for a permit for a surface and underground mining operation. The proposed operation will affect a surface disturbance of 209.06 acres and will underlie an additional 324.75 acres located 0.75 miles northwest of Grethel in Floyd county.

(2) The proposed operation is approximately 0.25 mile west from CR 1129's junction with KY 979 and is located along Tackett Branch. The latitude is 37° 29' 17" N. The longitude is 82° 40' 11" W.

(3) The proposed operation is located on the McDowell U.S.G.S. 7-1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area disturbed is owned by Nora Akers, Darcus Hall, Evert Carroll, Charlie Tackett, Elk Horn Coal Corporation, Orville Tackett, Curt Tackett, Wendell Stratton, Edford Clark and Sarah Tackett. The operation will underlie land owned by Nora Akers, Darcus Hall, Evert Carroll, Charlie Tackett, Elk Horn Coal Corporation, Orville Tackett, Curt Tackett, Wendell Stratton, Wilburn Akers, Thurman Akers, the John Mature Heirs, E.J. Parsons, Anna Meade, Gracie Hall, Sara Bevins, Edford Clark and Sarah Tackett.

The operation will affect an area within 100' of public road CR 1129 and will involve relocation of the public road. The application also includes a proposed land use change from the forestland pre-mining land use to a fish and wildlife habitat post-mining land use. The operation will use the surface contour, area, auger and underground methods of mining.

(4) The applicant has also made application to be covered by the KPDES General Permit for Coal Mining Operation.

(5) The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 S. Lake Dr., Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections and/or requests for a permit conference must be received within thirty (30) days of today's date.

State Grants Will Support Innovative School Projects

Nearly $1.6 million will go to 113 teachers, 40 schools, 12 school districts, and three multi-district groups for innovative projects to improve instruction or school management during the 1988 fiscal year beginning July 1. Floyd school district will receive a $20,000 grant to provide community-based education for handicapped children.

The Educational Innovation Incentive Fund, created by the legislature in 1985, encourages teachers and school administrators to come up with innovative approaches to education problems.

"I think it's a big shot in the arm to education," State Senator John Weaver, who chairs the proposal review committee, told the State Board of Education Wednesday. "The benefits of this program are going to be snowballing over the years."

Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald said the state education department will be devising a means of "modeling" the effective projects, of making them available to others in schools and districts across the country.

In the program's first year, 36 projects were funded on a renewable basis. The state board will act on those renewal requests at its July meeting.

Both Weaver and McDonald said they were especially pleased to see more small and rural systems participating this year. In the first year of the grants program, larger systems with larger staffs were able to put their applications together quicker.

Department of education staffers have conducted grant-writing workshops around the state and provided assistance by phone or letter as requested, McDonald said, making an effort to help the smaller districts.

KBA School of Banking To Begin May 31 at U.K.

The Kentucky Bankers Association recently announced the roster for the 1987 KBA School of Banking to be held May 31-June 5 at the University of Kentucky, Lexington. Eighty-two have been selected as first-year students and 130 return as second-year students.

"The admission requirements were more difficult this year," commented Dr. Susan Newkirk-Moore, vice president and director of education for the Kentucky Bankers Association. "We are seeking accreditation of the school so minimum standards were implemented this year for many aspects of the school's program."

Among those attending the school, will be Donna R. Roope, personnel clerk of the Bank Josephine.

★ Cancer Hopeline

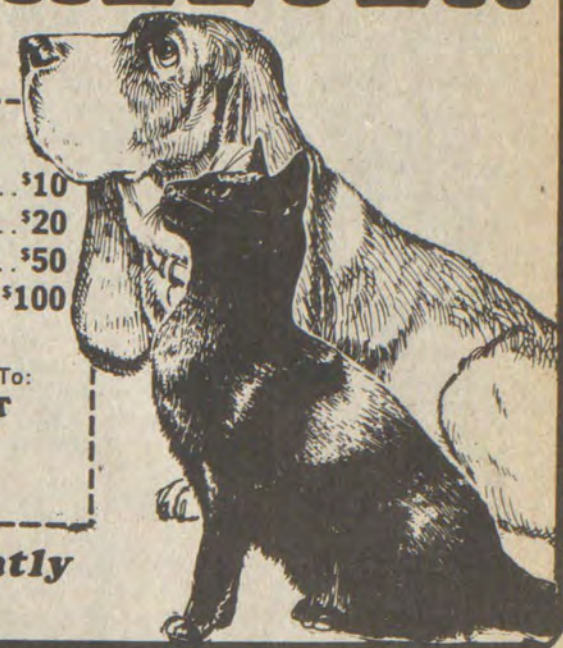

QUESTION: If I have a mammogram every year like it is recommended will I be receiving too much radiation?

ANSWER: It is true that excessive exposure to radiation, especially in women under 35, can contribute to the development of cancer. However, every effort is made to keep radiation exposure during mammography as low as possible. Ideally, the maximum radiation per examination, per breast is less than 1 rad (radiation absorbed dose). This is considered well within the safe range especially when we consider the possible benefits of diagnosing breast cancer while it is small and curable.

For information on mammography call 1-800-4-CANCER or you can write to Ky. Cancer Information Service, McDowell Cancer Network Program, 800 Rose Street, Lexington, Ky. 40536-0093. The Cancer Information Service is part of the Kentucky Community Cancer Program.

Always Supervise Children, Safety Commission Warns

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, an estimated 260 children under five years of age drown each year in residential swimming pools and spas. The Commission estimates that another 3,000 children under age five are treated in hospital emergency rooms following submersion accidents each year. Some of these submersion accidents result in permanent brain damage.

Nationally, drowning is the fourth leading cause of death to children under five. In some states such as California, Florida and Arizona, drowning is the leading cause of accidental death to children under five.

CPSC offers the following tips for pool owners:

- Never leave a child unsupervised near a pool.
- Instruct babysitters about potential hazards to young children in and around swimming pools and the need for constant supervision.
- Completely fence the pool. Install self-closing and self-latching gates. Position latches out of reach of young children. Keep all doors and windows leading to the pool area secure to prevent small children from getting to the pool. Effective barriers and locks are necessary preventive measures, but there is no substitute for supervision.

- Do not consider young children "drown proof" because they have had swimming lessons; young children should always be watched carefully while swimming.
- Do not use flotation devices as a substitute for supervision.
- Never use a pool with its pool cover partially in place, since children may become entrapped under it. Remove the cover completely.
- Place tables and chairs well away from the pool fence to prevent children from climbing into the pool area.
- Keep toys away from the pool area because a young child playing with the toys could accidentally fall in the water.
- Remove steps to above ground pools when not in use.
- Have a telephone at poolside to avoid having to leave children unattended in or near the pool to answer a telephone elsewhere. Keep emergency numbers at the poolside telephone.
- Learn CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation).
- Keep rescue equipment by the pool.

PARENTS AND GUARDIANS: ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT A DROWNING. WATCH YOUR CHILD CLOSELY AT ALL TIMES. MAKE SURE DOORS LEADING TO THE POOL AREA ARE CLOSED AND LOCKED. YOUNG CHILDREN CAN QUICKLY SLIP AWAY AND INTO THE POOL.

CPSC requests that consumers report incidents of drowning or "near drowning" by calling the Commission toll-free at 1-800-638-2772.

THE CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION CAUTIONS DIVERS ABOUT IMPROPER DIVING PRACTICES

Diving injuries can result in quadriplegia, paralysis below the neck, to divers who hit the bottom or side of a swimming pool, according to CPSC. Divers should observe the following precautions:

- Never dive into above-ground pools. They are too shallow.
- Don't dive from the side of an in-ground pool. Enter the water feet first.
- Dive only from the end of the diving board and not from the sides.
- Dive with your hands in front of you and always steer up immediately upon entering the water to avoid hitting the bottom or sides of the pool.
- Don't dive if you have been using alcohol or drugs because your reaction time may be too slow.

Improper use of pool slides presents the same danger as improper diving techniques. Never slide down head first; slide down feet first only.

40-Year Nursing Career Given To Helping Others

"We feel good helping you feel better" is the American Hospital Association's theme for this year's National Hospital Week celebration. But a singular version of that same theme aptly describes Waneta Newsome's 40-year-old nursing career.

All but one month of Newsome's career has been spent at Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin. She worked one month for Dr. Gearheart at Gearheart General Hospital before he sold the facility in September, 1947, to the Sisters of Divine Providence who renamed the hospital Our Lady of the Way. "My calling was nursing," says Newsome. "If Estill hadn't been an understanding husband, I couldn't have devoted myself to it the way I did."

At first, and "on and off" for 20 years, Newsome was the hospital's only registered nurse. As Superintendent of Nurses, she worked the operating room, the medical-surgical floor, the emergency room and the OB department.

"I was on call for surgery for 27 years," she recalls. "They'd sniff me out even if I was in a bathing suit in a swimming pool. They always found me no matter where I was."

"One Christmas the sisters gave me the whole week before off. But on Christmas Eve we had seven operations. I brought our children to the hospital seven times that Christmas and Sister Angelo fed them their Christmas dinner."

"I breastfed my children, but when Mary Helen was little, Sister Mary Edgar kept her in the office. When it was feeding time, she'd bring her up the third floor. During the summer, Sister Mary Edgar would keep her at the hospital until 8 p.m., because it was cooler at the hospital. But at eight months she told me I'd better arrange something else, because 'Mary Helen doesn't know who her mother is.'"

A hired girl took care of the children at Newsome's home, but when the girl didn't show up for work, the children accompanied Mrs. Newsome to the hospital. When one was sick, she tucked the child into a hospital bed where she could tend her child as well as other patients.

"I had jobs offered to me that would have paid much more, but, I wouldn't have done it differently if I could do it over. I have no regrets."

In 1975, Newsome became the Utilization Review Director and Discharge Planning Committee Chairperson. Today, she is Our Lady of the Way's Health Care Coordinator and is responsible for quality assurance, utilization review and discharge planning. She serves on the hospital's ethics committee and, on her own, regularly visits friends and former patients who need her nursing care.

"A nurse has to have God on her side," says Newsome. "I always felt God was in our nursery because even though in the early days we didn't keep someone in the nursery, we never lost a baby."

"My time is coming to an end. New nurses will come in and old nurses just fade away. But I plan to write a book and I've already got a lot of my material on tapes."

Looking back, Newsome has a sense of satisfaction. "I feel I have served God and the people at Our Lady of the Way and people in the surrounding community. I hope this hospital never folds, because it's got a family spirit."

Floyd Countians May Enjoy Horse Park Free

Residents of Fleming, Floyd, Franklin and Fulton counties will be the guests for a "County Day" celebration at the Kentucky Horse Park, May 30-31.

For residents of the counties involved, admission is free to the horse park. Among attractions covered in the park's general admission are the two horse movies, the horse museum, the motorized park tour, the Parade of Breeds, the walking farm tour, and the new Hall of Champions, home of champion thoroughbreds John Henry, Forego, and Rossi Gold and standardbred Rambling Willie. A valid driver's license from one of the counties involved admits the driver and other family members.

Other 'County Days' are scheduled to be conducted throughout most of 1987, said Lee Cholak, the park's executive director. By the end of the year, all 120 counties will have been so honored.

Tourism Secretary G. Wendell Combs said the program was designed to make more Kentuckians aware of the Horse Park's attractions.

Americans today are eating over four times as much fresh broccoli today as they did ten years ago, says the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Charlotte Webb Smith Spent A Life of Public Service

When Charlotte Webb Smith died last month, her family wanted remembrances to go to the Hindman Settlement School's program for the dyslexic.

Human Resource Secretary Al Austin said, "The family's request speaks volumes about Smith's dedication as a public servant as well as her outlook on life. Far more than flowers as memorials to her own life, she would appreciate friends sending money to a program to help others, especially children. She was an exemplary public servant—and humanitarian."

She spent more than 30 years serving people through the state's social and human services programs, programs as varied as supplying nutrition and health information to mothers-to-be or distributing food to the hungry or providing grants to needy students.

"I would characterize her as one who dedicated her entire life to work with people, to counsel them, to help them—especially young people," said Jack Waddell, who grew up in Hindman just across highway 160 from her.

Waddell, former commissioner of the Department for Social Services and now a commissioner on the certificate of need board, said she influenced his own decision to go into social and human services. "She not only gave me ice cream when I was eight years old—in days when it was had to come by—she also gave me the motivation to become a public servant."

Waddell said she saw social work as an avenue for encouraging young people to make the most of their abilities and potential and to set lofty goals for themselves. "She counseled them to follow the right course in life and in following that course, to achieve something not only for themselves, but for all mankind," he said.

Anna Grace Day, commissioner for Social Services and a native of Breathitt county, said "Charlotte Smith was one of three or four who stood out in my mind as outstanding models for social work practice. I also remember her for providing stability and continuity during times of rapid change in social welfare programs."

Growing up in Hindman, she acquired a sense of dedication to public service in the tradition of one of her hometown mentors, the late U.S. Rep. Carl D.

Perkins, her friends said. Perkins represented Kentucky's 7th Congressional District for more than 30 years and was chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Except for schooling at Kentucky Wesleyan and the Case Western Reserve School of Social Work, Charlotte Smith always lived in Hindman and through her work served people in 38 counties.

She was a member of many state boards and social service associations, including the Kentucky Social Work Licensure Board and the Social Welfare Foundation, state Advisory Council to Older Americans and was instrumental in setting up the Food Bank.

She always said, "There is no one beyond help," recalled her sister, Mrs. Philip Lawrence, of Lexington. "And when she started trying to help someone, she moved mountains. She had the patience of Job."

Webb Is Honored With EKV Award

Jimmy C. Webb, Prestonsburg student at Eastern Kentucky University, has won the Pi Sigma Alpha Award. Pi Sigma Alpha, the political science honorary, presents this award to the political science student who displays excellence in studies and related activities. Dean of Student Services, Dr. Hayward M. Daugherty, presented the award to Webb during Honors Day ceremonies at EKV on Sunday, April 26.

Honors Day annually recognizes students who have distinguished themselves by scholarship, responsibilities and leadership. Webb was among 150 students recognized by the University's colleges and departments.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mary McKinney would like to thank everyone who was so kind to us, the ones who brought food, flowers, helped on the grave, and her good brothers and sisters of the church. Thank you all very much.

THERE IS A CHOICE, KENTUCKY.

I want higher taxes.

I don't want higher taxes.

I don't want a lottery.

I want a lottery to pay for education, and health care for the elderly.

I'm for
John Y. Brown.

I'm for
Wallace Wilkinson

If you don't want higher taxes, but you do want a lottery, there's only one choice for Governor - Wallace Wilkinson. He's the only candidate who refuses to raise taxes and the only candidate who supports a lottery to raise $70 million a year for education and health care for the elderly.

CONGLOMERATION

By WILMAY

It's impossible to slave a Bible-reading people, mentally or socially. Horace Greeley.

The Bible is worth all other books that have ever been written. It's available in countless languages and remains the best seller all over the globe.

Seven days without church, Bible study and prayer make one WEAK.

There is no magic in the Bible until you use it. Herman Wolhorn.

Aside from love the Bible contains no sweeter word than forgiveness.

Study the Bible to be wise; believe it to be safe; practice it to be Holy.

Church membership does not make one a Christian any more than a piano makes one a musician.

Faith is worthless unless it leads to action. Scripture says faith without works is dead. Ja. 2:20. The book of James is no less important than the Pauline epistles.

The Bible says, Be ye doers of the Word and not hearers only. Ja. 1:22.

Christians without works resemble cars without gas. They will not likely advance!

Philosophy is what one thinks about life. Christianity is what one does about life.

Scripture says Christians are the light of the world. But one must turn on his own switch.

Lost people pay little attention to what believers say about Christianity but they really watch what we DO about it.

Some believe in gittin' up and gittin'. Others prefer sittin' and sittin'!

Few Christians get dizzy from doing too many good turns. "Let George do it," is the favorite theme song of some.

Every church has carriers and the carried!

Some church members have WILL power. A few have WONT power.

If we want a shock we should write down what we did for God yesterday.

While some Christians stand on the promises, there are those who sit on the premises.

If you wish to leave footprints on the sands of time wear work shoes. Our Daily Bread.

The religion of some of us is well developed about our mouths, but somewhat lame in our hands and feet.

If we need an excuse we should see our pastor. He has more excuses made to him than anyone else in town has.

Church activities and work require planning, but sometimes planning is the art of putting off until tomorrow what we had no intention of doing today.

When Maytown First Baptist Church started as a mission in the old science hall of the school, in June 1972, its leaders adopted five "Ps" for its motto: Prayer, Planning, Preparation, (organizing for tasks at hand), Perspiration, (old-fashioned elbow grease), and Praise, to God which is essential, while praise and encouragement to workers is helpful. The 5 Ps work!

Authors of most of these quotations were unnamed.

"The true genius is a mind of large general powers, accidentally determined to some particular direction."

Samuel Johnson

Eight Will Take Part In Program Aimed At Medical, Dental Students

Eight Floyd students are among 100 Kentucky graduates who will participate this summer in a state program designed to assist students from areas with too few doctors or dentists in their pursuit of careers in medicine or dentistry. Attending the six-week Professional Education Preparation (PEP) program workshop will be four 1987 Prestonsburg High School graduates, Damon Newsome, Jr., son of Jeanine and Damon Newsome, of Prestonsburg; Brian D. Wallace, son of Virginia and Frank Wallace, of Prestonsburg; Michael Lee Boyd, son of Vickie and Mike Boyd, of Allen; and Christopher Charles Croot, son of Mary and Ernest Croot, of Bevinville. Also participating will be Betsy Layne High School graduate Janet Rene Caudill, daughter of Janice and Fredric Caudill, of Banner; Wheelwright High School graduate Brian Douglas Tackett, son of Clementene and Ronald Tackett, of Melvin; Mullins High School graduate Barry Kent DeRossett, son of Golda M. DeRossett, of Grethel; and Paintsville Independent High School graduate Leenata Gangadhar Maddiwar, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gangadhar Maddiwar, of Martin.

Newsome, Wallace and Caudill will be attending the workshop at Kentucky State University; Boyd, Croot, DeRossett and Maddiwar will attend the program at the University of Kentucky; Tackett will be at the University of Louisville. They will all get college prep instruction in reading, writing, study-skills, and problem solving, and will attend classes as well in math and science.

According to Larry Fowler of the Kentucky Council on Higher Education, the state agency that coordinates the PEP program, all of the instruction is designed to improve the students' chances of doing well in their premedical or predental college studies.

Newsome, Boyd, and Tackett say they plan to attend Alice Lloyd College next fall; Wallace expects to attend Transylvania University, Caudill Morehead State University, and DeRossett Prestonsburg Community College.

The program, which was established by the state legislature, is in its sixth year. High school seniors-to-be who are interested in participating next summer should contact their school counselor for information and application forms next January or February.

AARP Releases Gov. Candidates Survey

At a press conference in the Old State Capitol, representatives of the American Association of Retired Persons voter education fund (AARP/VOTE) released the 1987 Kentucky Voter's Guide detailing the gubernatorial candidates position on issues of concern to the states older population.

"We are pleased that most of the candidates for governor responded to AARP's questions, and hope our questionnaire will be the beginning of better communication between the candidates and the people they seek to represent," said Frank Clark, spokesman for AARP/VOTE in Kentucky.

Gubernatorial candidates' stands on health cost containment, utility rate increases, state support for home health care and guidelines for medical treatment decisions are contained in the tabloid-size voter's guide. The questionnaire of the candidates was based on the legislative program of the Kentucky AARP State Legislative Committee. Copies of it will be mailed to AARP's 250,000 members in Kentucky.

AARP/VOTE is a nonpartisan voter education program that focuses on issues, not candidates. It does not contribute money to candidates or political parties. Instead, the voluntary contributions made to it by AARP members support voter education activities.

With 25 million members, AARP is the nation's largest organization of Americans age 50 and older. The non-profit, nonpartisan organization offers a wide range of membership benefits, legislative advocacy at the federal and state levels, and educational and community service programs carried out through a national network of volunteers and local chapters. AARP's national headquarters is in Washington, D.C.

Fish And Wildlife Panel To Be Chosen

A meeting to select nominees to represent the Seventh Wildlife District on the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 2, in the Knott County High School auditorium, one mile southeast of Hindman.

Residents of the Seventh Wildlife District who have purchased a hunting or fishing license in each of the past two consecutive years (or who have hunted or fished in Kentucky during the past two years but are not required to buy licenses) may participate in the meeting.

The seventh district is made up of Breathitt, Elliott, Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Perry and Pike counties.

Five nominees will be selected at the meeting and their names submitted to the governor, who will appoint one of the five to a four-year term on the commission.

The Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission is a nine-member board which oversees the operations of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. The commission approves the department's budget, sets season dates and approves all regulations pertaining to hunting, fishing and wildlife conservation.

The current commission member from the seventh district is Doug Hensley, Hazard.

No AIDS Cases Reported Here Yet, But Probability Is Thought Likely

By Louise Houghton

One of these days, maybe tomorrow or maybe not for several years, a Floyd county resident is going to be diagnosed as having AIDS, the deadly and so far incurable disease that already has struck nearly 35,000 people nationwide and at least 79 in Kentucky. Local doctors are fairly certain that a case will surface here, sooner or later.

What they don't know is whether one already exists.

As with any contagious disease, confirmed AIDS cases must be reported to the local health department, and none has been reported here. But many people infected with the AIDS virus show no symptoms for as long as five years, possibly longer, and they could unknowingly infect many others during that time. It's estimated that at least one million people in the United States already have the virus, according to Dr. John Boswell, pathologist at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

"There's bound to be people in our area that are positive for the virus," he said. "The days of promiscuous sex are over if you don't want to risk your life."

AIDS cases already have been confirmed in Magoffin, Letcher and Carter counties, although most Kentucky cases are clustered around the urban centers of Lexington and Louisville. In addition, one health professional here mentioned rumors of cases in other counties close to Floyd. Boswell noted that he recently examined a patient suffering from one of the "opportunistic" diseases that are rare in otherwise-healthy adults but frequently found in people having the AIDS virus.

That patient did not test positive for the virus, Boswell said, but might get a positive result later. "There's a gray zone there," he said.

Two patients at the Mud Creek Clinic in Grethel recently came up positive on a preliminary test for the AIDS virus, according to clinic medical director Dr. Ellen Joyce. But their results were negative on a second, more reliable test, Joyce said, and the initial positive results were false, she believes.

Boswell said he agreed with Joyce's conclusion, but added, "I wouldn't feel confident if I were them. I'd have another test in six months."

AIDS stands for "acquired immune deficiency syndrome," a condition in which the body's defenses against other diseases are gradually destroyed. Thus, AIDS victims tend to die of opportunistic infections that their bodies would normally fight off were it not for the AIDS virus.

The virus was pinpointed by researchers in 1985 and is now called "human immuno-deficiency" virus, or HIV-1. Apparently, not everyone who catches the virus will develop a full-blown case of AIDS, but the disease is still too new for doctors to say with any certainty what percentage of infected people will develop the fatal syndrome.

For those who do develop AIDS, the prognosis at this time is slow but certain death. It recently became slower with the use of an expensive new drug that can delay the ravages of the virus, but almost 100 percent of AIDS victims die within two years of developing symptoms, according to Boswell. About half of the nation's 35,000 victims already have died, including about two-thirds of those in Kentucky.

Researchers in this country and others are working to develop a vaccine to prevent healthy people from catching the AIDS virus, and some of their work has been labeled "promising." But the chances of having a vaccine available within the next five years are "nil," in Boswell's view.

Locally, hospitals have been trying to prepare their staff members for the first AIDS case that they are sure will arrive, sooner or later. To some extent, that means trying to dispel the myths that even health-care professionals may hold about the frightening disease, according to Judy Hamm, infection control nurse at Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin. Staff members there have attended seminars and educational films explaining how AIDS is transmitted and what precautions should be taken with patients, she said.

Much of the message is reassurance, Hamm said, designed to ease fears of shaking the hand of an AIDS patient or being in the same room with one. She likened today's fear of AIDS patients to that felt earlier this century about tuberculosis, when TB patients were needlessly ostracized from society and placed in sanatoriums.

For the most part, according to Hamm, dealing with an AIDS patient will entail infection-control measures that are fairly standard for other contagious diseases. Since AIDS can be caught from the blood or other bodily fluids of an infected person, nurses are cautioned to wear gloves when starting an intravenous solution and to handle needles as little as possible before throwing them away.

No special isolation ward is needed for AIDS patients, she added, although medical personnel might wear gowns or masks in some situations. "It would all depend on what condition was manifesting itself in the patient," she explained.

Another aspect of AIDS care that worries hospital administrators is the cost. Since victims eventually become too sick to work, most have no health insurance, Boswell said, and medical costs can rise as high as $300,000 before the patient dies. That amount may go up in the future, as the new drug allows patients to live a little longer. Highlands Regional Medical Center already provides about $1 million worth of charity care each year, according to assistant administrator Russell Briggs.

"If we get one or two of these cases, you can double that," he said.

The desire for confidentiality in AIDS testing also has brought changes in the procedures used in some hospitals and laboratories. Boswell said that the Lexington laboratory that performs AIDS tests for Highlands recently began issuing its reports in a way that will cut down on the number of people with access to the reports.

Educating the public about AIDS is a task that local physicians are just now gearing up to address. Doctors at Highlands are considering adding AIDS to the list of subjects offered for presentation to local groups, and Raghu R. Sundaram, doctor of internal medicine at Our Lady of the Way, said he has discussed with other doctors the need for a public education campaign using the print and broadcast media.

Public reactions to the AIDS threat tend to be of two types, according to medical personnel. Some people are overly fearful of the disease, afraid to engage in activities that actually are quite safe, while others are too little concerned, figuring that "it can't happen here" or "it won't happen to me."

A fear of AIDS is understandable because the disease is both fatal and incurable, according to Hamm. But "there isn't much to fear," she said, for a person who does not use intravenous drugs, who did not receive a blood transfusion before 1985, and who practices "safe sex"—that is, sexual intimacy with only one, longterm partner who also does not use drug needles, did not receive a blood transfusion, and who is not sexually intimate with anyone else.

About two percent of AIDS cases nationally have been traced to contaminated blood or blood products received in a transfusion. Since 1985, however, blood banks have routinely been testing donated blood for the presence of the AIDS virus, and this source of infection is thought to be largely eliminated.

On the other hand, people who think "it won't happen to me" need to be aware that the AIDS epidemic is no longer confined only to homosexual and bisexual men and intravenous drug users. Heterosexual men and women now account for at least four percent of AIDS victims, and heterosexual women currently are the fastest-growing group of affected people. At least four cases in Kentucky have involved women.

By 1991, Boswell said, it's expected that the majority of AIDS cases will involve heterosexual people.

While condoms are now being widely cited as the "safe" way to be sexually intimate with someone other than a longterm, monogamous partner, doctors caution that they are not 100 percent effective against AIDS. Condoms fail to protect the user at least one or two percent of the time, and some estimate the failure rate as high as 17 percent.

Kentucky has established a toll-free telephone line for citizens to call to hear a taped message about AIDS, including how it is transmitted and what the initial symptoms are likely to be. The number is 1-800-654-2437.

"This is a disease of the whole population—heterosexual, white, middle-class," warned Joyce. "We will see it here."

During the 1986 fiscal year, the Labor Department cited 758 employers for illegally employing minors; the employers were assessed more than $1 million in penalties for violation of the child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act, according to the Labor Department's annual report.

Research Holds Promise For Blueberry Growers

Kentucky farmers looking for alternative crop possibilities for extra income may be encouraged to look closely at blueberries as a result of research now being conducted by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Jerry Brown, UK Extension horticulturist at the Research and Education Center in Princeton, has been conducting research to compare different fertilizer sources which work especially well for blueberries.

"Blueberries require very acid soils," Brown said. "Historically, ammonium sulfate has been recommended for the berries."

The problem, however, is that ammonium sulfate has been difficult to obtain in Kentucky. So Brown began about seven years ago working with other possible fertilizers—especially a sulfur-coated urea—as a nitrogen source for blueberry production.

"We found that blueberries produced very well in Kentucky with both the ammonium sulfate and with sulfur-coated urea," Brown said. "Any time there were any differences, we found the sulfur-coated urea was equal or better than ammonium sulfate."

This is significant for blueberry growers, Brown said, because the urea fertilizer is more available throughout Kentucky as it is commonly used by greenhouses and the ornamental plant industry.

Sulfur-coated urea does produce somewhat less acid-forming material than the traditional ammonium sulfate which requires the farmer to adjust acidity of his soil. Brown said he did not view this as a severe problem, especially when one considers the possible economic benefits of blueberries as an alternative crop.

"It's been suggested by some that blueberries may be an especially good alternate crop, because Kentucky blueberries ripen at the right time of the year for marketing," Brown said. "They ripen in mid-June and continue to produce for about six weeks."

The traditional blueberry fields of New Jersey and Michigan ripen later than that, while the southern-producing blueberry fields of Arkansas and Mississippi ripen several weeks earlier.

"Kentucky blueberries would be marketed right between those competing states," Brown said. "That means better prices and less competition."

Wins Transy Award

Leenata Maddiwar, of Martin, is one of 25 high school seniors who will enter Transylvania University next fall as Thomas Jefferson Scholars. The Jefferson Scholars were announced last week by Dr. Charles L. Shearer, president of Transylvania.

Jefferson Scholars receive scholarships covering tuition, fees, and room and board over a period of four years, giving each scholarship a value of over $40,000. The program was established in 1982 to award graduating high school seniors who display extraordinary academic ability, excellent character, and strong leadership.

Maddiwar, along with the other Jefferson Scholars, was one of 65 finalists selected from a total of 27 applications from across the nation. The finalists were invited to visit Transylvania for a personal interview on which the scholarship selection committee based its final decisions.

President Shearer said that Transylvania expects many positive contributions from the incoming scholarship recipients.

"It's an extremely difficult task to select the 25 students who will receive the Thomas Jefferson Scholarships. The students who apply for the Jefferson Scholarships are among the most talented in the country," he said.

The new Thomas Jefferson Scholars have a median ACT score of 31, compared with a national average of 18.3. Three of the students are National Merit Scholars, and they represent 21 high schools.

Maddiwar is a senior at Paintsville High School and is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G.L. Maddiwar.

EAST POINT HOMEMAKERS NEWS

East Point Homemakers met, May 12, at the home of Elsie Leake. The meeting was called to order by the president, Sharon Watkins. The devotional was given by Lorena Horn, and the roll call, secretary and treasurer's reports were given by the secretary, Dorothy Harris.

Francis Pitts reported that she attended the quilt show at the Kentucky Horse Park at Lexington, recently.

Officers were elected for the year 1987-1988, as follows: Dorothy Harris, president; Wanda Wells, vice president; Sharon Watkins secretary-treasurer, Priscella Hager, devotional; alternate Betsy Baldrige and telephone chairperson, Betsy Baldrige.

Kathy Lowe gave the lesson on "Salads offer Good Nutrition."

Those present were Betsy Baldrige, Priscella Hager, Dorothy Harris, Lorena Horne, Elsie Leake, Kathy Lowe, Arnita Snavey, Sharon Watkins, Wanda Wells, Doris Boggs, Francis Pitts, and Telah and Kate.

When it comes to defense, some insects really use their heads. According to National Wildlife magazine, the bombardier beetle fights off predators by spraying an irritant from its abdomen while doing a headstand. A related beetle, which has no poison, manages to scare off enemies by imitating the same headstand.

Roots Can Tell A Lot About Landscape Plants

Home gardeners are faced with a multitude of decisions after they decide to buy a plant for their yard. Even after they have determined what type of plant to buy, they may be bewildered by the various ways plants are packaged.

"How a plant is packaged in the store may be associated with how well it grows for the homeowner once he plants it," said University of Kentucky Extension horticulturist Bill Fountain.

Plants come in three forms—bare root, balled and burlapped, and container grown, he said.

Bare root plants are generally cheaper because the shipping cost from the nursery to the store is less expensive, he said.

"Bare root plants can be good buys if the plants have been kept watered when they need it. However, if the plants have been kept too long without water, they may fail to thrive," Fountain said.

Check bare root plants for signs of dried out roots. If the roots appear dry and shriveled, choose another plant.

Balled and burlapped plants are packaged with soil left on the roots after the plant was dug. The soil is kept intact by placing burlap around the ball of roots and soil. Such plants are more expensive than bare root plants because the seller has paid for the extra weight when the plant was shipped to the store.

"Balled and burlapped plants reestablish themselves more readily in the landscape than do bare root plants," Fountain said.

The third way plants are packaged for sale is in containers. Because container grown plants have not been dug up from their original site, roots are generally quite abundant, he said.

The major disadvantage of container grown plants is that they may have been in light soil, which means that they may not send out roots as quickly as plants grown in the open, Fountain said.

Also, consumers should check to see if the container grown plants have become pot bound. They should ask the salesman to tap the container away from the plant to view the roots.

Large Doses of Calcium Cause Internal Bleeding

Researchers at the University of Kentucky have shown that doses of calcium only two to four times greater than bodily requirements can be dangerous—in rare instances, fatal.

Doctoral student David Hall, working with UK animal scientist Gary Cromwell, studied the effects of varying ratios of calcium to phosphorus in pigs. Pigs are physiologically similar to humans. In the experiment in which calcium was three times greater than phosphorus, all the pigs died. Examination showed severe internal bleeding as the cause of death.

The excess amounts of calcium seemed to interfere with the pigs' blood clotting ability.

"Our results are believed to be the first record of severe internal bleeding in animals as a result of increased calcium in the diet," Hall said.

The experiments were intended to study the relationship between calcium and phosphorus in the diet. Low dietary calcium-phosphorus ratios in humans have been associated with osteoporosis, colorectal cancer, and hypertension. Many people take calcium supplements in hopes of preventing these diseases.

David Baker, associate editor of Nutrition Reviews, a leading professional journal of experimental human and animal nutrition, said implications of the research for humans are significant.

"This absolutely warrants further investigation. A lot of women are self-dosing with calcium, despite the absence of any evidence of benefit from super-doses. Typically, women are taking 1,000 to 1,500 milligrams daily. If they also get even 500 milligrams from the food they eat, the total of 1,500 to 2,000 milligrams is twice the recommended daily allowance of 800 milligrams," Baker said.

Dark green, leafy vegetables; cabbage; cauliflower and liver are the most common sources of vitamin K in the human diet. Also, bacteria in the digestive system produce a large part of the vitamin K humans need, but prolonged use of antibiotics can kill those bacteria.

People who do not eat adequate amounts of the food sources of vitamin K, or who have been taking antibiotics for a prolonged period of time, and who also take a calcium supplement, may be putting themselves at serious risk.

Nest building is not for the weak. According to National Wildlife magazine, a cliff swallow may make some 1,400 trips carrying mud from a creek to its nest site on the side of a barn. To do so, the swallow will burn up the equivalent of more than half its weight in body fat!

IN A NOSTALGIA

By Paul Elie

He is the good guy of good guys, the quintessential hero in a white hat. With his trademark costume (black mask), faithful companion (Tonto) and unflinching cry ("Hi-yo, Silver!"), the Lone Ranger is a mythical character, a frontier archetype of sorts.

Yet that myth is actually a modern invention. The brainchild of scriptwriters George W. Trendle and Fran Striker, "The Lone Ranger" first aired on radio in 1933. In 1950, the series moved to the fledgling medium of television, where it aired for eight seasons, garnering ratings and grudging respect for ABC in a field that was dominated by NBC and CBS.

The Lone Ranger story is familiar to almost all of us. While trailing a band of desperados, six Texas Rangers were lured into a canyon and ambushed. Five were killed outright, and the sixth, young John Reid, was taken for dead. But Reid was very much alive, and under the care of the Indian scout Tonto, he soon returned to health. Reid donned his mask and his new nickname, and set out to avenge the deaths of his companions. Thereafter he and Tonto roamed about the Texas prairie, seeking to uphold good and vanquish evil, especially in the person of outlaw Butch Cavendish.

Tonto, who introduced the phrase "kemo sabe" ("trusty scout") to American teenage slang, was played by Jay Silverheels. The Lone Ranger himself was portrayed most memorably by Clayton Moore, who also played the masked man in two theatrical releases, "The Lone Ranger" (1956) and "The Lone Ranger and the Lost City of Gold" (1958). But in 1952 and 1953, and in a guest appearance on "Happy Days" in 1976, another actor played the role.

Question: Who was the actor?

Answer: John Hart

SOAP BEA

Richard Burgi is willing to defend Chad Rollo

By Marie Michaels

Chad Rollo, "Another World"'s version of the quintessential bad guy, is the type of sleazeball character that the daytime soap audience loves to hate. Even Richard Burgi, who portrays Chad, admits that his character is one tough dude.

Richard Burgi

"Chad is pretty bad," says Burgi, who created the role. "He's been into some pretty nefarious dealings, and when push comes to shove, the only way Chad can deal with things is through brute force or pressure - with an accent on aggression." "Chad has a good heart, though," Burgi insists. "He loves art and music and he can be a fun person. It's through circumstances that he is what he is. He never knew who his father was, but he really loves his mother, even though she was a hooker." Burgi has his own plans for Chad's future, and he's hoping the show's writers listen to some of them. "When Chad came to the show he had been a pimp, so we've touched on the world of prostitution with the character," says Burgi. "I think prostitution is a subject that hasn't been dealt with a lot on soaps, so I think it would be interesting if we could deal with the reasons why a lot of girls get involved with this world of evil and corruption. Although it's a touchy subject, I think if it was done tastefully, this kind of story line could add a little educational flavor to the soap. We've already aired a scene in which Chad put a young girl back on the bus to Ohio when she asked for a job as a hooker."

Although Burgi's story line has mellowed since Chad first arrived in Bay City, the character's eventual direction is still undecided. He could begin to see the light - and become a pillar of the community. Or he could take a few wrong turns and end up on the road to perdition. This is Burgi's first contract role, but he appeared in the recurring role of Brian Rafferty on "Guiding Light" and had a several-day stint on "Ryan's Hope." Burgi has also appeared in several theatrical productions such as "Stage Door," "Suddenly Last Summer" and "Private Wars."

ASK TONI

Jackson takes back seat

By Toni Reinhold

Whatever happened to "Scarecrow and Mrs. King"?

- D.S.T., Rosedale, N.Y.
Kate Jackson's surgery forced the show into a premature hiatus. New episodes have been airing this month with more emphasis on Martha Smith and less on Jackson.

Kate Jackson

Who hosted "Real People" and "That's Incredible"?

- W.G., Malone, N.Y.
"Real People" (1979-84) had as its regulars: Fred Willard (1979, 1981-83); Sarah Purcell; John Barbour (1979-82); Mark Russell, Skip Stephenson, Bill Rafferty, Byron Allen, Kerry Millerick (1982-83) and Peter Billingsley (1982-84). "That's Incredible!" (1980-84) was hosted by John Davidson, Cathy Lee Crosby and Fran Tarkenton.

When did the first "Dr. Who" movie come out?

- T.H., Hagerstown, Md.
"Dr. Who and the Daleks" was a 1965 British film starring Peter Cushing, Roy Castle and Jennie Linden. It was inspired by the popular British TV series. In this film, the doctor and his friends were transported to a world of robot-like creatures, called "Daleks," who were hostile towards humans. The sequel came out in 1966 and featured Peter Cushing and Bernard Cribbins. It was originally titled "Daleks - Invasion Earth 2150 A.D." and later retitled "Invasion Earth 2150 A.D."

What was the name of the first Technicolor motion picture, and when was it made? What was the name of the first talkie, and when was it made?

- B.H., Winnebago, Minn.
According to the book "Famous First Facts," the "first successful color film" was introduced on Dec. 3, 1922, and was titled "The Toll of the Sea." The movie touted as the first talkie was "The Jazz Singer," a 1927 milestone that starred Al Jolson. Some have argued, however, that it really was a silent film with voices used during certain musical passages.

Where can a fan write to Rutger Hauer?

- K.J., Lincoln, Neb.

Paul Simon and friends deliver powerful concert

By Marianne Meyer

A little less than a year ago, a nervous Paul Simon faced a crowd of reporters and talked about a new album he'd recorded with South African musicians. When asked if he might tour with any of those musicians to support the record, he replied that such a complex, expensive tour would depend on the record's commercial success.

Paul Simon

Well, the amazing "Graceland" has gone on to be one of the most influential and commercially successful records of the past year. And yes, Simon is on the road now with his African cohorts, re-creating that superb sound live. For those who seek the next best thing to being there, Showtime presents "Paul Simon's Graceland: The African Concert" twice on Sunday, May 24, and twice on Friday, May 29. It's a powerful show - and not only because of the great "Graceland" music.

This particular concert was taped at Rufaro Stadium in Zimbabwe's capital, Harare, and features self-imposed South African exiles Hugh Masekela (trumpet) and Miriam Makeba (vocals), who each get a solo spot in the show. Simon also shares the stage with Ladysmith Black Mambazo, the incredible 13 member a cappella vocal group that nearly steals the show with soaring harmonies and infectious rhythms.

The concert sound is strong and clear, and film maker Michael Lindsay-Hogg directs in an unobtrusive style that gently blends breathtaking African landscapes with the stage performances.

But like the album, and like Simon's own search for the musical universals that cross national/cultural boundaries, the concert takes on a meaning above and beyond the joyful sound of the songs. Though not an overly political show (a closing performance of an African anthem aside), "Graceland: The African Concert" confronts the absurdity of apartheid dead on.

In images of the crowds onstage (over two dozen musicians) and off (20,000 fans) one sees an enthusiastic, integrated group of African natives and visitors who share a love of music and freedom. Like the music, that spirit is contagious, and one hopes it, too, will ultimately triumph.

Black Bear Sightings More Frequent In Nearby Eastern Kentucky Counties

By Louise Houghton

Sightings of black bears have been increasing in eastern Kentucky, and area wildlife officers want to know if anyone encounters one of the small but powerful bruins in Floyd or surrounding counties.

A 250-pound male bear was captured earlier this month in Lawrence county, where it had been raiding a farmer's bee hives. It was tagged for identification purposes and released in a remote section of Harlan county, near Stone Mountain.

Another male bear was caught in Martin county last November and moved to Harlan county. Wildlife officers believe that both bears were being supplied with food scraps by people in the area, who wanted to keep them around to watch.

When people encounter a bear, said district biologist Larry Short, the temptation is almost overwhelming to do one of two things—feed it or shoot at it. "There aren't very many people in the middle," he said, who are willing to simply leave the bear alone and report the sighting to officials.

Either action is bad for the bear in the long run, he added, and shooting at it is "very stupid" because a wounded bear could become enraged and attack its assailant. Feeding it, on the other hand, could cause the bear to lose its fear of humans and begin looking for more food closer to where people live, rooting through garbage cans and livestock pens and eventually becoming a genuine nuisance that will have to be moved like the bears released in Harlan county.

The black bears in eastern Kentucky are thought to be spilling across the borders from Virginia and West Virginia, both of which have substantial bear populations and a regular hunting season, according to Short. Kentucky is not known to have any resident bears, but Short and his assistant, Rich Pais, are curious to know whether that situation has changed. So they are especially interested in finding out if anyone spots a bear that might be a female.

The most likely place in Kentucky to encounter a bear is in counties such as Harlan, Pike and Martin that are close to the state border and have a fair amount of wild territory, Pais said. But black bears have been spotted in Magoffin and Knott counties, and tracks were found several years ago in Floyd county.

The best indication that a bear might be female is the sighting of more than one bear at a time, Pais said. Adult males tend to be solitary foragers, but at this time of year females are likely to be found with cubs, who might be only a few months old or might be more than a year old.

The cubs, usually two but sometimes as many as five, are born in January while the female is in her den, according to Pais. They weigh about 12 ounces at birth and can fit in the palm of a human hand, but by March, when they emerge from the den with their mother, they are about the size of a cocker spaniel and may weigh 15 to 20 pounds.

They spend their entire first year with their mothers, sleeping in the den with her through their first full winter, and move off on their own when they are about 18 months old.

LARRY SHORT, district wildlife biologist with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, released a 250-pound male black bear in Harlan county this month, after capturing it in Lawrence county where it was plundering bee hives.

As long as humans keep their distance, the bears need not be feared, the biologists said. Black bears are not large as bears go, weighing an average of 200 pounds when fully grown and standing less than three feet high when on all fours. Even a female with cubs is not likely to be fierce or to attack a human—"not unless you antagonize her," Pais said.

"The first thing they do when they see a person is turn tail and run," he added. If the bear is a female with cubs, he said, she will send the young ones up a tree and circle away in a "very obvious" manner designed to turn the person's attention away from the cubs.

Black bears will eat "practically anything," according to Short, but they are not considered to be predators and have been found attacking livestock in "very, very few" cases. Their natural food is berries, roots and insects, and they love honey and will plunder through any bee hives that they find on the ground.

Unfortunately, garbage dumps are probably their best food source in this area. "You can't keep trash around the house as we get more and more bears," advised Pais.

"If they find a readily available food source, they'll utilize it," added Short.

Case of the Killer Plants

By HUBERT KELLEY
Killer plants? Yes, in a way. But they don't resemble the ravenous man-eater in "Little Shop of Horrors." Some of them, in fact, look positively cheerful. The sunflower is one of them. It manufactures its own herbicides, exuding them in the soil to keep other plants—mostly weeds—from germinating or growing. Another murderous plant is grain sorghum. Both plants are currently under study at a laboratory of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, in Frederick, Maryland.

Gardeners and farmers have known for a long time that some plants don't get along well together. Sunflowers, for example, can't be used as poles for beans because beans won't climb them.

Strawberries do well in the residue left from a crop of oats, but carrots do pitifully under the same conditions.

And sorghum keeps a long list of weeds from growing too close to the plant, where they could compete for sunlight and water.

Some of the herbicides generated by plants are so potent that they even poison the plant that manufacturers them. Farmers in North Dakota have learned, for example, that they shouldn't plant sunflowers in the same field more than two years in a row. After the first year, the residue of the crop's own herbicide cuts back on their growth.

It takes very little of these chemicals to kill off the competition. Gerald Leather, a U.S. Department of Agriculture weed scientist, says that 20 pounds of sunflowers produced only 50 micrograms of natural herbicide. That's roughly the same as 100 salt crystals, or less than you could pick up on a damp fingertip.

With such small amounts, Leather can't afford to test his extract on very big plants, so he tries chemicals out on a tiny plant called duckweed, which succumbs easily to poisons. Each duckweed plant in its little dish is about the size of an aspirin tablet.

One important purpose for Leather's research is to find and develop new herbicides that will help control weeds, while keeping the environment safe and healthy for crops—and for animals, songbirds, and people, too.

 JACKIE EDFORD OWENS MAGISTRATE DIST. 2

I'm not shy about who I'm supporting for Lt. Governor. They say one picture is worth 1,000 words. Here's a picture of the man I believe will be your next Lt. Governor—DAVE ARMSTRONG. Below is the latest Mason-Dixon statewide poll that I have received. As you can see DAVE ARMSTRONG is ahead in nearly all the state. The statewide poll shows DAVE ARMSTRONG with 24.7% of the votes with the next closest candidate being Boswell, 16.1%, with McDonald following with 10.0%—Patton with 7.8%—and Jones 6.6%. DAVE ARMSTRONG has nearly a 9 point percentage lead over his nearest opponent. Since I am a union worker, that is reason enough to support DAVE ARMSTRONG. My candidate has never fought the union. He has always worked with the union and all the working people of Kentucky. My candidate is not for the right to work law. People, you had better check into who is for the right to work law before you vote. This could mean your job—union or non-union or any other type of working man or woman. Let's go to the polls on May 26 and show DAVE ARMSTRONG where Floyd County is. Let's vote DAVE ARMSTRONG—LT. GOVERNOR.

PIKEVILLE

A great throng of people were in Pikeville the last three days of the past week, the occasion being the annual county fair.

Thursday was devoted to the receiving of entries, and in the evening there was a concert by the Pikeville Band.

Friday was the biggest day in point of numbers. There were many exhibits in the various departments, such as: Poultry Department, under the supervision of Mr. J. R. Carter.

The "Lure of the antique" was certainly very strong, judging from the throngs that crowded the department. There were so many old things that it was with difficulty that the judges awarded the prizes.

DOW DAVIS FUNERAL

Dow Davis, who was killed at Drift, was buried Thursday at the old Helvey graveyard on the Burning Fork of Raccoon, the home of his nativity.

Relatives from a distance present were: Mr. Allison Davis and Tom Honaker, of Portsmouth, Ohio; Adrian Davis, of Paintsville, and R. M. Davis, of Williamson, W. Va.

Two brothers, Mr. Ballard Honaker, Wes Davis, and Belle Honaker, sister of his, reside in Pikeville. He also leaves a wife and six children to mourn his loss.

CELEBRATE MEMBERSHIP

Pikeville Commandery No. 45 held a very enthusiastic meeting, celebrating its 100 membership on Friday evening, September 30. The Commandery, beginning with 22 members August 28, 1925, now has on its roll 103.

COURT IN SESSION

Pike Circuit Court opened Monday with Hon. Willis Staton presiding.

The following jurors were impaneled and given instructions by Judge Staton as to the duties to be performed by them:

Paper, 91 Years Old, Started to Last Year

The Philadelphia Public Ledger, now one of the best-known newspapers in the United States, began publication with the intention, as expressed in its first editorial, of continuing publication for "at least one year."

The Ledger, now in its 92nd year, was, when the first edition appeared March 25, 1836, a four-page, four-column sheet, all hand-set, and minus many of the earmarks of modern journalism.

That Congress then gave promise of its present dilatory tactics is attested by the following editorial paragraph from that number of The Ledger: "The congressional news up to this date possesses not the slightest interest, —Congress seems determined to fritter away its time, instead of rendering it profitable to the nation—shame on such tardy legislation."

FOR COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY

WILLIAM DINGUS

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 31st JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF KENTUCKY, COMPOSED OF FLOYD AND KNOTT COUNTIES:

In pressing my candidacy for the Office of Commonwealth's Attorney, I want it understood that I am seeking this position not only for my own interest but that I may be able to serve my country better and be better able to help my friends, and to aid other worthy projects that should be maintained and supported for the common good of our Judicial District.

I was born at the forks of Beaver, near Dinwood, and have lived here in Floyd County, with you all my life. I was raised a farmer boy; know all the trials and troubles incident to the former boy's life; was a school teacher for ten years and know the school teacher's joys and troubles; was in the goods business for ten years at Goodloe, Ky., then moved to Prestonsburg. I was elected twice as Senator of the 33rd Senatorial District of Kentucky. I took a law course and was examined by Judge Lewis and Hazelrig, Judges of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, and admitted to the bar in 1884, and have been in the study and practice of law from that time to the present, (thirty-three years. I am a member of the Baptist Church, having joined with the Philadelphia Regular Baptist in 1890, and am a member of the Baptist Church now at Prestonsburg, Ky. I was elected County Attorney of Floyd County, November, 1917, and took the oath of office on January, 1918 and served four years.

This is perhaps the last time I will call on my friends to vote for me and I now hope and believe you will come enthusiastically to my aid and that I will be elected as your Commonwealth's Attorney.

I have spent all my life to and for my country, trying to make it a better place in which to live. Help me, so that I can help you.

I need the office and you need my work in the courts of our district. You help me and I can help you more. I have been in politics heretofore and I never have found so many people for me as there are for me now.

Good friends, keep the good work going on and I will serve you as Commonwealth's Attorney.

Your obedient servant,

William Dingus

Volunteers Help IRS In Tax Filing Time

During the 1987 tax filing season that just ended, volunteers throughout the state assisted thousands of Kentucky taxpayers, free of charge, in the completion of their tax returns.

At more than 165 sites throughout the state, community members participated in the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program and the Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) program, contributing their time and effort to preparing tax returns for low income, the elderly, and handicapped taxpayers. These dedicated volunteers not only provided a considerable service to taxpayers, but also assisted the IRS in securing timely and correctly filed tax returns from individuals who are generally not able to pay for this type of help.

UK Cheerleading Camp Set June 19-July 19

Cheerleaders from senior high, junior high and middle schools across Kentucky will be on the University of Kentucky campus June 29-July 19 for summer cheerleading camps taught by personnel including the nationally-recognized UK Wildcat cheerleaders.

Students will learn conditioning, gymnastics, safety and technique, cheers and chants, leadership and pom-pom routines.

Other activities include a daily awards program, appearances by the UK Wildcat mascot and opportunities to meet UK basketball and football players.

There will be three sessions of camp. Instructional staff for the June 29-July 2 camp will include most of the Wildcat cheerleaders and others from Universal Cheerleaders Association.

The National Cheerleaders Association will provide staff for the July 5-8 and July 10-13 camps.

A "superstar" drill team of instructors from the National Cheerleaders Association will conduct a drill team camp July 16-19. Instruction will focus on dance-drill teams, pom-pom squads and tall flags.

All students will be housed and fed in the Kirwan-Blanding residence hall complex.

Registration information is available from T. Lynn Williamson, 304 Administration Building, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky., 40506-0032 or by calling 606-257-3726.

Information and registration forms also can be obtained by calling the Universal Cheerleaders Association 1-800-238-0286 or the National Cheerleaders Association 1-800-527-4422.

Clagett, Cancelli Art To Be Featured

Sculptor Jean Clagett and artist Christine M. Cancelli will exhibit their works May 21 through July 16 in the gallery at the International Museum of the Horse Kentucky Horse Park.

One of the most noticeable aspects of sculptor Jean Clagett's work is her extraordinary attention to detail, both on original waxes and on finished bronzes that are executed in classic realism style. Her bronze portraits of major stakes winner Desert Wine and Kentucky Derby winner Spend-A-Buck earned her the Thoroughbred Racing Association's commission to sculpt the Horse of the Year.

Clagett's ability comes from a combination of education, experience and talent. She received formal art training at universities and art schools in the Pacific Northwest, and at the Ecole de Dessin in Nice, France. She spent three years studying anatomy in an equine veterinary practice, and 10 years breeding and showing thoroughbred hunter/jumpers. She was an accomplished oil, watercolor and pastel portrait painter before turning her attention to sculpture.

Renowned equine artist Christine M. Cancelli's subjects range from famous race horses to back yard ponies. She paints them all with an enthusiasm that can only come from firsthand experience and an appreciation of the natural beauty of her subjects. She works in oil, watercolor and pastel, although she admits pastel is her specialty.

"Business Report" Returns To KET Slot

Viewer response resulted in the return of "The Nightly Business Report" to the KET evening lineup April 27. After a two-week absence, the business and economic news program returned to its regular time slot of 6:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

"Because KET has a commitment to serving target audiences with unique programming, we made the decision that although the audience was small, the need was great, and we should have the program back on the air," said KET Deputy Executive Director Sandy Welch.

Ratings indicated the program had a very small audience and the costs of the 52-week series were considerable. Additionally, during the March fundraiser, KET received virtually no phone pledges in support of the program. When "The Nightly Business Report" was taken off the air, viewer response was overwhelming. Phone calls and letters poured in from viewers who said this was one of the most important programs aired on KET, and that they could not get this information anywhere else.

According to KET Executive Director O. Leonard Press, "Within a few days after 'The Nightly Business Report' went off the air we had 200 calls and letters. We listened, it wasn't just that we received so many protests. It was what you said, how you explained the importance of the program to you, and the reasons you gave to consider this an important service."

"The Nightly Business Report" combines fast-breaking news, in-depth analysis, market updates, corporate profiles, features and regular exclusive commentaries by noted economists including: Alan Greenspan, Alfred Kahn, Arthur Laffler, Walter Heller, Adam Smith, Charles Schultze and Lester Thurow.

"The Nightly Business Report" is produced by WPBT/Miami.

Masked Monkeys Key KET Program Topic

With punk-style crests on their heads, colorful masks covering their faces and orange noses, guenons make an extraordinary group of African forest monkeys. Their colorful features, as well as the musical masquerade they perform from the tree-tops of Africa's tropical forest, are an evolutionary puzzle.

"Nature," with artist-naturalist Jonathan Kingdon, unravels the mystery of the guenons when "Masked Monkeys" airs on KET Saturday, May 30 at 7:00 p.m. and repeats Sunday, May 31 at 7:00 p.m.

The African forest monkey, or the guenon, is made up of 27 known species representing 60 different groupings of masks. Until recently, very little was known about the guenons, and species still are being discovered.

While drawing and studying these monkeys in the tropical forests of Uganda, Kingdon began investigating the evolutionary relationship between each species and how their face patterns and distinctive calls have evolved.

"Masked Monkeys" also looks at the dilemma facing the inhabitants of tropical forests everywhere. The land for their homes is disappearing at the rate of about 50 acres per minute every hour of every day. Scientists studying these primates and trying to protect their unique community in the forest of Uganda are winning in the war against the pressures of human expansion.

"Nature" is produced by WNET/New York in association with The Nature Conservancy.

Third Time Is Charm For Spurlock And Betsy Layne

The scene was basically the same, although the cast had taken on a different look, much younger than the leading man of a year ago.

Last May, Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg met to decide the 57th district championship, and one year later they again faced each other with the coveted title hanging in the balance.

Russell Shepherd's Blackcats had the last district laugh, last season, when Greg Shepherd claimed two victories in one day as Prestonsburg captured the tournament, defeating Betsy Layne.

What a difference a year makes, or does it?

Thursday night the Blackcats were once again going against Betsy Layne for the championship, having already beaten McDowell earlier that day. During last year's tournament the Blackcats were forced to play McDowell before advancing.

They easily vaulted their first hurdle, the Daredevils, as they did a year ago, but this time Betsy Layne was prepared. "We had been here twice before, so we said before the game that the third time may be a charm for us," Bobcat coach Junior Newsome said after the game.

The Bobcat charm proved to be senior hurler Randall Spurlock, who picked up a complete game victory over Prestonsburg, 4-2, to give Betsy Layne a district championship.

In the route going performance Spurlock, 5-4 on the season, gave up only two sixth inning unearned runs on six hits, striking out three while not walking a batter.

"You can't ask anymore from a pitcher than that," Newsome said of his righthander. "He only threw 88 pitches, and that's excellent for a high school pitcher."

Spurlock, who held Prestonsburg scoreless through five innings, lost his bid for a shutout when in the sixth inning Tim Trusty and Todd Justice singled and doubled respectively with one out. With those runners on second and third, Thomas Nairn lifted a fly ball into short right centerfield.

Centerfielder Dwight Jarrel and rightfielder Matt Conn suffered a communication breakdown, allowing the fly ball to drop.

Trusty scored on the play, but Nairn, trying to go to second was tagged out after overrunning the bag. While most players watched, Nairn complain about the call, Justice continued on his way to the plate.

Spurlock's shutout was gone, but his complete game and lead were still intact.

Betsy Layne had posted their starter to a 4-0 lead, scoring single runs in the first, third, fourth and fifth.

Facing Prestonsburg starter Todd

Justice, Dwight Jarrel led the game off with a misplayed fly ball to leftfield that wound up as a double. Todd Sturgill, perfect at the plate with three singles, drove Jarrel home with the first of his three safeties.

Sturgill, five for seven in the tournament, played a major role in Betsy Layne's second run, poking a one out single in the third, stole second, and rode home on a Kevin Spurlock single.

The Bobcats added single runs in the next two frames off Prestonsburg starter Todd Justice, who got no justice from his Blackcat teammates. Although three of the four runs were earned, Justice was not backed by excellent defense.

The fourth inning run came as a result of a walk to Barry Hamilton, a stolen base, a throwing error when Justice picked off a Matt Conn line drive, threw back to second in an attempt to nail Hamilton, but in his haste threw before Brian Wallace could cover the bag.

Hamilton later scored when Jarrel flew out to centerfield. In the fifth inning, Bud Newsome led off with a double to center, made it to third on an over-throw, and scored on another throwing error. It was all a matter of exercising their arms, because Todd Sturgill would have scored Newsome with his single that followed, making the run earned. Sturgill's hit brought Russell Shepherd out of the Prestonsburg dugout. The Blackcat coach took the baseball from Justice, turning the pitching chores over to Joey Griffith.

Griffith, winner of the first game, got a ground ball double play then retired Kevin Spurlock on another grounder, setting Betsy Layne down without any further scoring.

Prestonsburg couldn't manage any other scoring off Spurlock, other than the two unearned runs, as the righthander got Griffith, with two men on and two out in the seventh, to ground out to third baseman Kevin Spurlock, closing the scoring door on the Blackcats, and securing a district championship for Betsy Layne.

Other than a good fastball and a sharp breaking curve, Randall Spurlock relied heavily on his other two strengths, his control, not walking anyone and going to a three ball count only three times. But possibly his biggest strength on this night was his third baseman Kevin Spurlock.

The Bobcat rookie, in six total defensive chances, recorded five assists and one putout. That in a perfect slate, and a critical factor for any control pitcher.

Although Prestonsburg collected six hits, only three players recorded hits, Steve Wells, a single and a double in three at bats, Todd Justice, two singles and a double in three plate appearances. The other Blackcat hit came off the bat of Craig Tucker, a first inning single.

Betsy Layne recorded only nine hits off Justice and Griffith. Todd Sturgill, three singles, and Dwight Jarrel, a single and a double, had five of those.

After the final out was recorded the Bobcats, 23-10 entering the regional tournament, celebrated in their normally casual way, but Junior Newsome's broad smile summed up the unanimous Betsy Layne feeling.

"Our two seniors, Bud and Randall, really wanted this game. You could tell that just by watching them," Newsome said.

"This was a big win for us. Now we can go into the regional as winners rather than brides maids as we had been the past two years. It enables us to stay away from Paintsville, Pikeville, Johns Creek, the better teams in the tournament. What it really does is give us a lot better chance of winning that first game than we would have if we had to play another district's winner."

Griffith, Big Fourth Inning Enough For Prestonsburg To Make Regional

Russell Shepherd, Prestonsburg baseball coach, has exercised a definite theory concerning his pitching selections during the regular season.

Shepherd, in his 16th year, refused to show county competition his top hurlers. The move brought many questions surrounding this decision, but the Blackcat coach says it pays off where the season really begins, in the district tournament.

"They don't need to see him," Shepherd said about saving Joey Griffith until this past week's tourney. "The first time a hitter faces a pitcher the pitcher will usually get him, or at least have a better chance of it."

"When that hitter comes up again he will have a better chance of hitting the ball hard," Shepherd continued his explanation.

With the bottom of the third came the top of the order. After Griffith struck out Scott Tackett, McDowell's number nine hitter, he walked Henry Webb for the second time, but then Brian Hall, who had popped out his first plate appearance, checked in with a single.

Griffith worked himself out of difficulty, inducing Mike McQuate to bounce in to a forced play, and striking out Kevin Hall, but the following inning wasn't quite as effective.

After Griffith struck out Mark Perkins to begin the fourth, Jeff Crisp reached the junior lefthander for a triple, and later scored when catcher Tim Trusty, trying to pick Crisp off, threw wildly into left field. The second time around, McDowell hit safely twice.

"If I had used Griffith against county teams they would have known what he had. If they had faced him, say six times, then he wouldn't have had anything to show them," Shepherd said.

Through the first four innings, Griffith did have something to show McDowell hitters. The Blackcat starter struck out four while walking four. Griffith surrendered only three hits, and the lone unearned run the fourth.

That run didn't do much damage though. Prestonsburg, by that time, had jumped out to a 8-0 lead, scoring one in the first when Johnny Ray Harris was hit with a pitch, stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch, and crossed the plate as Brian Wallace filed out.

This action came Wednesday, but it wasn't until a day later that the Blackcats could manage another run. With Henry Webb set to lead off McDowell's bottom half of the first, rains began to fall on Allen Park, forcing a halt to play, which was continued Thursday afternoon with Webb at the plate again.

Perkins, 5-4 with the loss, held Prestonsburg scoreless until the fourth inning, when the Blackcats rallied for seven runs, breaking open a closely contested affair.

Joey Griffith led off with a single. Trusty, and designated hitter Todd Justice followed with back to back singles, Justice's scored Griffith. Thomas Nairn interrupted Prestonsburg's hit parade, striking out, but Jim Frazier then singled, Steve Wells and Johnny Ray Harris walked, forcing Justice in from third. Trusty had earlier scored on an error following Frazier's base hit.

After Craig Tucker added an RBI single, and Brian Wallace picked up his second run batted in with a groundout, Griffith, hitting for the second time in the inning, grounded one that eluded Jeff Crisp at third base.

Two runs crossed the plate, David Hall replaced Perkins on the mound with Crisp, and Crisp promptly threw Griffith out as he broke toward third base before Crisp delivered a pitch plateward. The damage had already been done, though.

After the Daredevils picked up their unearned run in the bottom of the fourth, Shepherd, thinking he could use Griffith later in the championship game, took his starter out, bringing on righthander Mark Tipton.

The Daredevils enjoyed more success off Tipton than they had off Griffith, scoring four runs in the final three innings, but Tipton had a big lead to work with.

Even more so when the Blackcats plated two more runs in the sixth, and added another in the final frame when Tim Trusty wiped his throwing mistake from Prestonsburg fans' memories, drilling a homerun over the left field fence.

Prestonsburg, 9-16, came into the district tournament with the fourth worse record of the five team field, but the Blackcats have earned a reputation as a tournament team.

In the past 17 years, Prestonsburg has found itself in the regional tourney 15 times. For 16 of those years, Russell Shepherd has been in the third base coaching box.

The early years Prestonsburg had probably the only baseball program worthy of compliment, but lately district teams have made tremendous progress.

Prestonsburg continues to beat most and compete with all, though. One reason why, Russell Shepherd keeps his pitching ace a secret to district hitters, or so he says.

Shepherd has complete confidence in the way he has handled his pitching staff, and after Thursday's victory over McDowell, Shepherd said with a smile, "Why do you think we've been to the regional all those times?"

With their victory against the Daredevils, ending the season at 11-8, Prestonsburg did earn another trip to the 15th region tournament, which has become a fact of May, almost as definite as the Kentucky Derby, a spring tradition.

ONE OF MANY HEROES: Catcher Todd Sturgill led Betsy Layne offensively, hitting safely in all three of his plate appearances Thursday night. Sturgill is a junior, a factor that pleases all Bobcat fans.

TURING TWO: Thomas Nairn (5) accepts a throw from freshman shortstop Ray Collins, capping of a perfect double play against McDowell. Collins has served as a defensive specialist for Prestonsburg, playing full time the past few weeks of the season.

Parents Upset Over Board Decision To Release Hall

A tornado, powered by strong winds of controversy, is currently running it's course through Betsy Layne High School and surrounding communities.

The main storm cloud was produced by the Floyd County School Board's decision to oust Bobcat head football coach Jack Hall.

Hall, set to begin his third year as head coach, recently received a notice from the school board that his services as coach will no longer be needed.

"They sent me a letter telling me that I wouldn't be hired again as a coach, but they didn't tell me why," a confused Jack Hall said. "Right now I can't say whether I'll be here or whether I'll be somewhere else. I don't really know what's going on."

According to Ron Hager, acting superintendent, the school board has voted not to re-hire Hall as a football coach at Betsy Layne for the 1987 season.

"Mr. Hall has been employed as a teacher for next year, but not as a coach," Hager revealed. "He could be named again as a coach in our June third meeting, but it is highly unlikely."

Hager explained the reasoning behind the initial school board vote was due to complaints received from citizens of the Betsy Layne area.

"I would hate to leave here," Hall said of his job. "I feel that we've started a good program. The players know what I expect from them, and I know what they expect from me. If someone replaces me they would have to start all over and try to build that kind of relationship."

"I may have stepped on some toes," Hall speculated. "When you do your job—you're going to step on some toes, and I guess I stepped on the wrong ones."

Hager mentioned that some citizens had complained about the Betsy Layne program and the coaching job Jack Hall had done, but Hall received a different report from many of his player's parents.

"Many people have come to me and said that they were going to talk to their school board member, and the superintendent. At first I wanted them to just let it go then I told them to do whatever they thought they should do," Hall mentioned.

"Those people who are trying to help me are all parents, or most of them are," the coach revealed. "Those who oppose me don't even have children going to school here. I guess they are the ones who don't want Betsy Layne to have a good football team."

A good football team is exactly what Jack Hall has given football fans of Betsy Layne High School. Before Hall came to Bobcat land they didn't know how it felt to have a winning season. Never before had Bobcat football fans been treated with a winning season. This past year they were.

In Jack Hall's first year at the helm, Betsy Layne finished with a 3-6 record. In 1986, only the second year under Hall's control, the Bobcats recorded their first winning record ever, finishing at 6-4.

Hall's coaching ability is not open for discussion. His past performances stand on their own strengths. At Elkhorn City, Hall won a state championship. In fact, everywhere he has coached the veteran head man has built a successful program.

Betsy Layne has been no different. Hall brought respectability to the program. He created an air of excitement, and he was the common denominator between an average program of the past and a solid playoff contender of the present.

"I would like to coach here next season," Hall said. "I think we could have a good season even though we will be in a tougher district. There will be several good players coming back, and these are the guys I started with. I would really like to see them through."

Disappointed with success is a factor that confuses Jack Hall backers. Mostly when a coach is under fire is when he or she is losing. Hall proved he was a winner on the football field, but winning isn't what he lists as his top priority.

"I don't really put much emphasis on winning a football game," the coach once said. "What I want is to see my players giving 100 percent. If they won't give 100 percent on the football field then they won't give 100 percent in life. If they aren't going after it full speed someone that is will get that job out there instead of them."

This is what set Jack Hall apart from most other coaches. More than just a football coach, Hall teaches his players about life, how to prepare for it, and some helpful tips on living it.

Some Betsy Layne people have suggested more is going on than just the school board receiving complaints about the school's football program. One person close to the school's athletic program said that there was probably more to the situation than was made public.

Regardless of whether the full truth as to why Jack Hall was fired is public knowledge or not, several Bobcat supporters harshly oppose the action, and this storm of controversy is yet to blow away.

Efforts to get Hall re-instated as Betsy Layne football coach aren't expected to die easily, and even Jack Hall hasn't given up hope.

"I'm sure the school board has made mistakes before then gone back and corrected them," Hall said. "Maybe this will be one of those situations."

If Hall isn't hired as Betsy Layne's football coach, a successor to him will be named in the June third school board meeting.

Although he may no longer be associated with the program, Hall is confident in the football team he has built at Betsy Layne High School.

"Whoever's here will have a good team next year, if they can get all the players to play."

Senior talent dominated the all-district baseball tournament selection, announced last Thursday following the championship game.

A total of eight seniors were named to the all-district squad. Both of Wheelwright's selections, second baseman Bobby Thornsberry and infielder-outfielder Johnny Isaac, are seniors.

Thornsberry, a selfmade talent, collected a single in three trips, and Isaac banded out two singles, barely missing a homerun in his last at bat.

Other seniors named to the squad were Allen Central's Roger Horne, a double and a run scored, Kevin Hall and Brian Hall, of McDowell, Brian Wallace, of Prestonsburg, four RBIs, Bud Newsome, winner of Betsy Layne's first game, and Randall Spurlock, winner of Betsy Layne's second game.

These eight players represent a large quantity of baseball talent in this county, but quality will be returning next

(Continued from Previous Page) season, especially from the all-district's other selections. Allen Central also placed Nathan Shelton on the squad. Shelton, a junior pitcher, enjoyed a good season, but next year should be even better. Joey Griffith, winner of Prestonsburg's game with McDowell, is another junior lefthander that should improve with another year of growth. Other Blackcat underclassmen include Johnny Ray Harris, Todd Justice, and Tim Trusty. This foursome is why Prestonsburg fans are already looking forward to next season. Betsy Layne, during the season, lived and died with their underclassman, and Junior Newsome has a talented lot to work with. Todd Sturgill, junior, Dwight Jarrell, another junior who went two for five with two RBIs, Duran Newsome sophomore, and Kevin Spurlock, freshman, were the remainder of the Bobcat squad making the all-district team.

Due to rains yesterday the regional tournament has been moved back one day. Games scheduled for Tuesday will be held today, and so forth throughout the tournament.

Tonight Prestonsburg, 9-17, will take on 59th district winner Johns Creek, coming in with a 22-15 record.

The Blackcats played their best baseball of the season during last week's district tournament, but will be facing one of the heaviest hitting teams in the region.

Paintsville and Virgie will hook up in Wednesday's nightcap. The Tigers, 19-9, are most people's favorite to repeat. Virgie comes in with a 7-7 record.

The tournament's first round will conclude Thursday with Betsy Layne, boasting the field's best record at 24-10, taking on Sheldon Clark.

Pikeville, 11-13, and Elkhorn City will do battle in the final first round contest Thursday.

Games times are set for 5:30 and 8:00 Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday with the championship game scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 1:00.

Baseball fans kept saying the Milwaukee Brewers would eventually come down to earth.

After setting or tying most records for good beginnings the Brewers not only came down, they crashed and burned.

At one point Milwaukee was 13-0, tying the best start ever, but Sunday afternoon the Brewers lost to Kansas City.

The loss wasn't of much importance in itself, but when the previous 10 losses are considered what you have is 11 games in a row where Milwaukee has come out on the short end of a score.

This is another record for Milwaukee, the most consecutive losses by a Brewers team. They may not make the playoffs, but this season will be remembered for a long time as the record setting squad. Either winning or losing, Milwaukee has went all out in doing that.

Although the San Antonio Spurs won the second biggest award, second to the NBA championship, they may have to wait two years to reap the harvest.

Sunday the Spurs won the NBA's lottery for the first draft choice, and have announced their intentions of selecting David Robinson.

The Navy product, and probably the best college basketball player in the draft, has a two year commitment to serve in the Navy.

Spurs management say they aren't discouraged by this, and the 7'0" Robinson may indeed be worth the wait.

The draft is set for June 22. After San Antonio, Phoenix, New Jersey, The Clippers, Seattle, by way of trade, Sacramento, and Cleveland will choose in that order.

Crum, Music Advance

Play in the 1987 Regional High School Tennis Tournament began Saturday, May 16th, with Aaron Crum of Prestonsburg, the sixth seed in the tournament, winning over Bryan Turner of Lawrence County 6-3, 6-3. In the second round of play, Crum met Manoj Warrior of Russell. Crum's 6-3, 6-4 win over Warrior advances him to the quarter-finals, which will be played next Saturday, May 23rd, in Ashland.

Brent Music, seeded second in the tournament, drew an automatic bye in the first round of play. In the second round, Music met Charlie Hardin of Sheldon-Clark. Music's 6-1, 3-6, 6-3 win over Hardin also advances him to the quarter-finals next Saturday.

Prestonsburg's number one doubles team of Cliff Miller and Joe Burchett met Bath County's number one doubles team, Joe Rice and Glen Grimes in the first round of play. In a hard fought match, the Bath County team won over Prestonsburg 6-2, 6-1.

Playing number two doubles for Prestonsburg was Scott Wells and Matthew Crum. Wells and Crum drew a tough team of Crider and Keeton from Russell, with Russell winning the match 6-0, 6-2.

Next Saturday's play will match Aaron Crum against Toby Bryan, the number one seed and the defending regional champion from Boyd County, in quarter-final action.

Brent Music will also face tough quarter-final action when he meets another Boyd County, David Johnson. Quarter-final play of the Regional Tennis Tournament will begin at 9:00 a.m. next Saturday at the Ashland Tennis Center.

ONE MOMENT OF CELEBRATION: McDowell seniors Reggie Hall (right) and Brian Hall celebrate after Reggie Hall scored a run during tournament action.

THE SPORTING TIMES

This past week baseball in this area took a big step forward in gaining the respect and support deserved.

Big crowds, good performances, and a classy ran district tournament provided that. Not in my memory has there been a high school baseball event of this stature in Floyd county.

You might expect emotional crowds, and big crowds at a basketball district tournament, but county fans flocked to Allen Park this past week in a tremendous show of support for their favorite teams.

The best thing about it was the fact that baseball fans weren't disappointed. Oh sure, Blackcat followers would have liked to be champions instead of runners-up. Allen Central fans would have liked to advance rather than to be eliminated in the first round, but these things are a fact of sports life.

Someone has to lose, but no person in attendance for either game lost anything. The Rebel game with Betsy Layne went into extra innings, and Prestonsburg showed enough ability and desire to please even their most demanding fans.

In fact, those watching the Blackcats and Bobcats, Thursday, saw one of the best baseball games of the tournament, and quite possibly the year.

This is what makes baseball so great. Two teams evenly matched, big crowds cheering against each other, and a nice field to play on.

The players brought out the great performances, both team and individual, the crowds, extremely vocal and sometimes harsh toward the umpires, added that bit of extra absent from play during the year.

The field, well we'll have to give the Big O, Oscar Roce, a plug for this. Rice, as park director, has put in long hours, and field grooming knowledge to improve the Allen Park baseball diamond.

Comparing this year's field to that of last year would be like comparing a cut diamond to a rock in the rough.

Although another field would be a great addition to county baseball on all levels, I guess you really have to make the best of what you already have. The Big O has done this for all baseball people here.

Sure, he may get paid for what he does, but sometimes people go beyond the money. They take pride in what they do, and this is where the better than expected job comes in. Keep it up O, and shake off that foul ball.

Many people have to work together in producing a successful tournament but without Donnie Daniels we wouldn't have had a tournament of this quality.

Daniels is a good baseball man, an unlikely commodity in Eastern Kentucky, but Donnie is one of those dedicated people who works for pride rather than money.

We, as baseball fans, should be glad that Daniels elected to bring his talent, knowledge, and work habits to his native county. All too often we lose those people who could be helping the area because the area doesn't have anything to hold them.

Oh yea, the men in blue.

As much as I was pleased to see excited, and emotional fan support, they were just as displeased, or should have been. Baseball is a sport known for it's riding the umpire effect, and this is probably how they took all the heat. Umpires understand this too.

The umps really got it during the tournament, but through it all they maintained control.

The Big O, there's that guy again, Dell Conn, who filled in when Rice was forced from action after taking a foul ball. Oh yea, and Todd Thacker. We can't leave him out. Maybe we can give him a longevity award or something. He worked every game of the tournament.

I'm not saying these guys were perfect, nobody is, but they didn't decide the outcome of any game due to a bad call. They were consistent, and that is all anyone can ask from an umpiring crew.

On a scale of one to 10, this tournament would have to be given at least a nine, especially when we consider the improvement over those of the past.

What impressed me more than anything else was the number of people who watched the game Thursday. Many were neither from Betsy Layne nor Prestonsburg, some just came to watch a good baseball game and what they saw was a great baseball game.

If this kind of support continues then baseball in this county will soon surpass that of surrounding counties. You know who you have to thank for it? Yourself. Players will come and players will go, but a fan will last for as long as he or she wants to.

By the way, we're going to have a Senior Babe Ruth team, if at all possible, in Floyd county this summer.

The players are available, and a coach, if you want to call him that, has already committed himself. All we need now is money for uniforms, and some necessary equipment.

There is too much baseball talent in this county for it to lay idle this summer. The playing experience alone can do nothing but help, and who knows, the players might even learn some things.

The team will be for young men who are at least 16 and who will not turn 19 until August. Tryouts, playing dates, and various other notes of importance have not been settled yet.

This squad, made up of county talent, will play other Eastern Kentucky Senior Babe Ruth teams, and possibly some American Legion teams. At season's end, a state-wide tournament will be held to determine Kentucky's best.

If you have some extra cash lying around the house, give this team a buck or two. If you don't then come out and watch the best baseball players in Floyd county perform as one unit.

Hey, we know where we're going. Wouldn't you like to come, too?

Senior Olympics Well-Attended

More than 400 persons gathered at the Dewey Dam spillway area, Friday, for Senior Olympic games competition. They came from Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Pike counties to either take part in the games or just to watch and cheer on those who did.

Winners from the Prestonsburg Senior Citizens' Center and areas of competition are as follows:

Men Horseshoes—George Elste, first; Hershell Shell and Richard Spurlock, second; Lloyd Harless, third.

Walking—George Elste and Henry Jarvis, first; George Wyatt, second; Orville Cooley, third.

Basketball toss—George Elste, second.

Women Horseshoes—Thelma Miller, first; Emma Jean Pelphrey, second.

Walking—Toots Parsley, first; Eula Ferguson, second; Minnie Music, Emma Jean Pelphrey, Belle Harless, Myrtle Chaffins, Thelma Miller, third.

Men and Women Spincasting—Emma Jean Pelphrey Hershell Shell, first.

Football toss—George Wyatt, first. Softball toss—Emma Jean Pelphrey and Lloyd Harless, first; George Wyatt, second; George Elste, third.

These and other winners are eligible to compete in the state level Olympic games to be held later this summer in Frankfort.

Final Four Competitors Top List Of Hilltopper '86-87 All-Opponent Team

Bowling Green, Ky.—A number of highly regarded basketball schools dominated Western Kentucky's 1986-87 schedule. Opening with the likes of Notre Dame and Nevada-Las Vegas in the Coca-Cola NIT and closing the season with powerhouse Syracuse in the NCAA Tournament, the Hilltoppers compiled a very impressive 29-9 record, making their second straight appearance in the prestigious NCAA Championships.

And, an impressive line-up of talented athletes highlight Western's All-Opponent team as voted on by Hilltopper players. Three of the five members of that squad led their teams to the NCAA Final Four and two of those cagers played in the national championship game. One player faced the Hilltoppers twice during the Sun Belt Conference regular season round-robin schedule. The other player led his squad to an upset of the Toppers early in the season.

Nevada-Las Vegas guard Freddie Banks was the Hilltoppers' consensus pick. The Runnin' Rebel standout tallied 31 points against Western in the Championship game of the preseason NIT. Banks hit 10 of 30 field goals and was a perfect six of six from the line. He also passed for seven assists, grabbed three rebounds, blocked one shot and had one steal in UNLV's 96-75 double-overtime victory over Western. Las Vegas made it to the Final Four, bowing out to eventual champion Indiana in the semifinals.

Jacksonville's Ronnie Murphy and Syracuse's Rony Seikaly tied for second in the voting. Murphy, a forward for the Dolphins, faced Western two times during the regular season. He totalled 45 points, 13 rebounds, five assists, two blocked shots and four steals in those games. In JU's 80-71 win over the Hilltoppers, Murphy scored 17 points and pulled down seven rebounds. He scored a game-high 28 points versus Western in an 87-74 loss. The Hilltoppers clinched the Sun Belt's regular season title with that win.

Rony Seikaly, a 6-10 center from Syracuse, was a member of the Final Four All-Tournament team. He led the Orangemen to a 104-86 win over Western in the NCAA East Region's second round. "Final Four Competitors Top List of Hilltopper, '86-87 All-Opponent Team" 2 Seikaly scored 23 points and hauled in 10 rebounds. Syracuse lost to Indiana in the NCAA championship game.

Central Michigan star Dan Majerle was the Hilltoppers' fourth pick in the balloting. Majerle scored 23 points on 10-16 shooting from the field and three of four from the line in addition to grabbing seven boards and handing out four assists in the Chippewas' 73-65 upset of the Hilltoppers.

Sherman Douglas of Syracuse rounded out the Toppers' top five choices.

Douglas joined Seikaly on the Final Four All-Tournament team. The playmaking guard led the Orangemen with 27 points and eight assists when Syracuse eliminated Western from the NCAA field.

Also receiving votes were Jamie Dixon of Texas Christian, who scored 31 points versus the Hilltoppers in the second round of the Coca-Cola NIT; UNLV's Armon Gilliam, a frontliner who pitched in 23 points and grabbed 14 rebounds in the NIT championship game; and Syracuse's Howard Triche, who scored 21 points and six rebounds against the Hilltoppers.

Floyd County Babe Ruth Baseball News

By RAY FLANNERY, League President

In the first game played Saturday it was Prestonsburg over Betsy Layne Astro's 16 to 12. Jason Story the starting pitcher for P-burg was relieved in the 5th by Brian Meadows. Brian got the win but Jason Story came back in the 6th and got the same. The Astro's coach Ellis Spurlock was a little surprised in losing his first ballgame in 2 years. The Astro's pitching was not as strong as in the past—with Chad Hamilton getting the starting assignment—Sam Stewart recording the last. Cotton Parson was the relief ace with 4 strikeouts in 7 batters. In a high scoring game Prestonsburg takes the first win of the season. In the second game the Martin Piranhas destroyed Lackey (formerly Garrett) by a score of 25 to 14 having the 10 run mercy rule invoked in the 5th inning. The Piranhas come from behind with heavy hitting with Brian Wallen having hit one out of the Ball park. The 4th and 5th was marked with several double's and triples as one of the county's heaviest hitting team trounced Lackey 25 to 14. Charles Laferty, manager of the Piranhas was very proud of his team offensive effort. Stewart Robinson started Mickey Parsons in relief in 2nd and got the win. In the third game Saturday and probably the most exciting it was Harold over Wheelwright in extra innings 11- to

8. The new management of Harold—P.D. Gearheart stated it was a real ballgame. Starting pitcher for Harold was Chris Newsome and was relieved after 5 innings by Keith Hall. Keith got his first win and lasted through the eighth inning. A double by Danny Page and Chad Mitchell gave Harold a real boost. Harold scored 11 runs on 11 hits while Wheelwright had 8 runs on 7 hits. The starting pitcher for Terry Issac's Wheelwright team pitched the whole 8 innings in a losing but valiant effort. Chris Thornsbury for Wheelwright showed strong pitching and will get stronger.

The Martin Cardinals kick off their season Monday against Harold and McDowell starts this season Wednesday at Allen Park taking on Betsy Layne. Thursday at 6:00 we have the hard hitting Piranhas going against Betsy Layne. Saturday games start at 11:00 with all 8 teams involved.

Golf Tour Card Aids American Lung Assoc.

Kentucky golfers have the opportunity again this year to play free rounds of golf at courses all across the state with the American Lung Association of Kentucky's 1987 Golf Tour Card.

Now in its fourth successful year, the Golf Tour Card is familiar to hundreds of Kentucky golfers who have taken advantage of this annual offer from the Lung Association. The 1987 Golf Tour Card, priced at $25, entitles cardholders to 18 holes of golf at each of the 43 participating courses.

According to Kentucky golfing pro and trickshot artist, Buddy Demling, chairman of the fundraising project, golfers began calling the Lung Association office as early as January to inquire about the 1987 Card. "We've really put together a super package this year, with several new courses joining the tour, as well as most of the old favorites," he said.

One of the courses on the tour is the Middlesboro Country Club, which Demling said is the oldest golf club in the U.S. "Many people will want to drive to Middlesboro to play this historic course," he predicted.

The Golf Tour Card works like this: Golfers purchase the Golf Tour Card (good May-October) from the Lung Association for $25. The card lists participating courses which have donated one free round of golf to each cardholder. Golfers present the card to the golf course attendant and receive one free 18 hole round of golf.

All proceeds from cards go directly to the Lung Association in support of programs for the prevention and control of lung disease.

Demling issued an invitation to the public to help fight lung disease while playing some of the state's finest courses with the 1987 Golf Tour Card. He also suggested that the cards make perfect gifts for special occasions including Mother's Day, Father's Day, graduations, retirements, birthdays, and anniversaries.

Golf Tour Cards may be purchased by calling the American Lung Association of Kentucky Louisville office (502) 363-2652 or Lexington office (606) 278-9531. Or, golfers can order a card by sending their request and a check for $25 (made payable to the American Lung Association of Kentucky) to the following address: American Lung Association of Kentucky, P.O. Box 969, Louisville, Kentucky 40201.

Artist Mark Wilson with a sample of art, created on a PC.

Many professional and amateur artists are using computer technology to help in their work. They believe personal computers are labor saving tools for artists just as word processors help writers.

Artist Mark Wilson has a traditional art background but he now works with an IBM Personal Computer and an IBM PCjr, each attached to ink plotters. He designs complex drawings and programs the numerical coordinates of shapes into the computers. Freed from the drudgery of drawing tiny shapes, he now has more freedom to innovate.

HEAVE HO! Cecil Kimbleton, 66, of Johnson county, winds up for the football toss in the second annual Big Sandy Senior Games, held Friday at the Dewey Dam recreation area. More than 400 men and women, aged 55 and up, gathered at the park to picnic and compete in a variety of sports events.

Seed Abuse

Sometimes it can be quite a challenge to get seeds to sprout. As an addicted collector of seeds from native plants, (particularly seeds of plants that attract wildlife), I've had to resort to some pretty ingenious, not to say abusive methods to trick seeds into germinating. Since I tend to think of every seed as an egg, more or less, I sometimes feel somewhat uncomfortable that one doesn't treat seeds as gently and carefully as one treats eggs. However . . .

Generally speaking, many seeds must go through two important processes before they'll sprout: stratification and scarification. When we buy seeds from a seed house, they're all primed and ready to go—given a healthy supply of light, warmth and moisture (except those seeds that sprout best in the dark).

In order to germinate, the seeds of many trees, shrubs and flowers have to go through a cool, moist period, a process called stratification. In nature, simply lying on the ground, with repeated freezing and thawing, softens some seed coats mechanically so that they sprout when the weather turns warm.

To duplicate this process with seeds collected in the fall for spring planting, I've sometimes left them outside in a pot through the winter. I've also put them in moist sphagnum moss and refrigerated them for 60 to 90 days. In this way, every year, I've stratified milkweed seed (the mainstay of my butterfly-gardening efforts), thereby increasing their rate of germination.

Under natural conditions, scarification, the thinning of seed coats by scarring, occurs for many seeds as they pass through the digestive tracts of birds or mammals. This process is a little harder to duplicate indoors, but it can be done (before stratification), either by rubbing the seeds back and forth on sandpaper or by nicking them with pliers. Pouring boiling water over the seeds the day before they're planted and letting them steep overnight also scarifies and so releases that germination trigger—especially with seed of plants in the bean family such as wild senna, Kentucky coffee tree, wisteria, goats' rue and many others. Seeds that under normal circumstances pass through very, very strong digestive systems may need a dose of concentrated sulphuric acid to get them to sprout.

You see what I mean about seed abuse! You may balk at these treatments yet want to provide plants whose fruit birds in your neighborhood really love to eat. If so, there's one way to collect native seed that's as ready to germinate as packaged seed; clean out your gutters in March. Bird droppings will have gathered there through the cold months. Seeds already scarified by the birds will have been stratified through a series of gutter freezes and thaws. Sort the now clean seeds and see what sprouts. It's a sure-fire way to come up with plants that attract your local birds.

Reds Watch

Davis Hurt, Cincinnati Falls Flat

Even when they are on the disabled list they continue to receive a bulk of the attention. Even when they are watching from the dugout they continue to make headlines.

That is the life of a baseball superstar. That is the life of Reds' outfielder Eric Davis.

With Davis playing every day Cincinnati enjoyed tremendous success. One reason why was the unequaled offensive output Davis provided the Reds. He was a legitimate early candidate for a triple crown, homeruns, RBIs, and batting average.

What happened Friday night threw fear into each and every person associated with the Cincinnati Reds' franchise. In the bottom of the fifth inning Davis, also an outstanding defensive performer, made a diving grab in the outfield, but one out may have cost Cincinnati some victories.

The talented young center fielder suffered a sprained shoulder, and without him the Reds fell to St. Louis 5-4.

Offensively Cincinnati has no one who is capable of picking up where Eric Davis left off. Maybe no other team has a player with that capability.

The Reds continued to struggle without Davis' big bat, once again coming up short against the Cardinals Saturday night.

Starting pitching has been a sore spot for Pete Rose and Cincinnati this season, and without the offense Davis can provide, an even bigger burden has been placed on that weak pitching staff.

Sunday St. Louis took advantage of the situation, scoring 10 runs against the Reds, then riding the arm of Lee Tunnel to a 10-2 victory. Thus sweeping the series, and marking the first time the Reds have lost three games in a row this season.

Rumors had been flying for the past couple of weeks about a trade with Detroit that would send Nick Esasky to the Tigers in exchange for right handed starter Dan Petry.

With several players struggling at the plate Cincinnati's offense will need all the help it can get. Esasky was activated yesterday, and instead of trade bate, might become a regular in the Reds starting lineup. The veteran power hitter has experienced a career filled with disappointing injuries, but when healthy Esasky is as good a hitter as the Reds have available.

Esasky drew the starting assignment at first base yesterday in Chicago. In less than two weeks with Cincinnati's top farm team, the Nashville Sounds, he clubbed five homeruns, drove in 18 runs, and hit a torrid .442.

Pitching is much tougher in the major leagues, and Tuesday the Reds faced one of the most effective hurlers the National League has to offer in Rick Sutcliffe.

Cincinnati, in their 9-2 loss, missed early scoring opportunities when with one out in the first Dave Parker struckout with Tracy Jones standing on third base. In the second inning Bo Diaz lead off with a single, but the Reds failed to move their catcher around.

Sutcliffe silenced Cincinnati bats until the fifth inning. Kurt Stillwell, the Reds leading active hitter at .328, doubled to lead off the inning, and later scored on a Tom Browning double.

Stillwell, leading off the seventh inning, walked, and moved on to third when Esasky collected his first major league hit of the year, a double to left field. Ron Oester followed with a walk to load the bases, and send Sutcliffe to the showers.

Ed Lynch was summoned from the Chicago dugout. The Cubs reliever proceeded to pop up pinch hitter Terry Francona, get Tracy Jones to ground into a force play, with Stillwell scoring, and retire Barry Larkin on a fly ball to Andre Dawson.

Since Davis was forced from action, the Reds have failed to get that big hit in important situations, but it wouldn't have made a difference Tuesday.

The Chicago Cubs jumped all over Cincinnati starter Tom Browning, 4-5, scoring three runs in the first, and sending the Reds' lefty to an early shower with another three spot in the fifth.

Browning, who beat Chicago four times last year while averaging eight innings per start, gave up six runs, five earned, on eight hits in his four innings plus of work.

Reds' reliever Frank Williams, appearing in his fifth consecutive game, surrendered three Chicago runs on seven hits in only two innings.

Sutcliffe, in not one of his better performances, won his seventh game of the year, even though he walked five in his six innings of work.

With the defeat Cincinnati lost their fourth game in a row, but the Reds continue to remain in strong contention for the NL West title.

While Pete Rose has watched his team fall on their faces, San Francisco has done the same. Before the Giants went into battle last night they were deadlocked at the top with the Reds.

Injured troops are expected to return today, which should help. Davis and Buddy Bell are both ready, and could start against Chicago this afternoon.

With Bell's return Pete Rose has to make a decision on whether to bench Kurt Stillwell again, or make another move. Neither Barry Larkin nor Ron Oester are enjoying good offensive years, and Stillwell can play defense with either, at either position.

The Reds will play Chicago today at 2:20 with Bill Gullickson, 4-2, going to the hill for Cincinnati. Gullickson owns the Reds' only complete game of the season, and a repeat performance is needed for a much overworked bullpen.

Thursday afternoon Cincinnati and Chicago will hook up at 4:05 with Ted Power getting the pitching assignment for the Reds.

After wrapping up the three game series with the Cubs, Cincinnati will return home to face Pittsburgh in a three game weekend series.

Starting pitching continues to be a major weak spot, and apparently Jerry Reuss isn't going to solve any problems.

Rumors are flying all around Cincinnati. Some have it that Red's management will bring young arms up from Nashville while others mention trades.

A move may soon be made, but the Reds are still on top in their division.

Some people used to believe that carrying chestnuts in their pockets would prevent rheumatism.

Urges Ky. Fair Tax Group

The Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition is asking all eligible Kentuckians to exercise their constitutional duty and cast their ballots in the Kentucky primary election on May 26.

"If we want government to work and to be accountable to the people, then we have to do our part as voters," stated Sidney Cornett, a member of the KFTC Steering Committee. "Exercising our privilege to vote is one of the most important things we can do to ensure responsible government."

Cornett especially encouraged rural Kentuckians to vote. "If it seems that some elected officials place the interests of certain people above the interests of others, part of the explanation may be in who is doing the electing of these officials," he explained. "For example, if an urban-bias seems present among some of our state officials, remember that in the 1984 general elections in Kentucky, 74 percent of the voters in the state's major urban areas voted while in rural eastern Kentucky counties, only 58 percent of eligible voters cast ballots."

Cornett also pointed out that in the 1980 national elections, over 70 percent of those who earn $40,000 or more per year voted but only about one-third of those earning less than $10,000 voted.

"May 26 gives us another opportunity to help determine the quality of our elected representation. The candidates we choose for governor, lieutenant governor, superintendent of public instruction, attorney general and other state and local offices will make decisions that will significantly affect our lives as individuals and communities for the next four years and beyond," said Cornett. "If we want our voices to be heard and our interests represented in these decisions, the first step is to cast our ballots for the best candidates on May 26."

CARD OF THANKS

The family of David (Jake) Symond extend their appreciation to all those friends, neighbors and loved ones who helped comfort them during their time of sorrow. Thanks to all who sent food, flowers, prayers and words of kindness spoken by all. A special thanks to the minister, Ted Shannon, the singers, and the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient services.

THE FAMILY

The Arctic is warming up. International Wildlife magazine reports that permanently frozen ground beneath the Alaskan tundra has warmed four to seven degrees Fahrenheit over the past century. Scientists believe the temperature increase may be related to the "greenhouse effect," caused by the burning of fossils fuels.

TO ALL FLOYD COUNTIANS:

I take this final opportunity to ask each of you to vote for and support my sister, Alma Watts Waddell, for Secretary of State in the Democratic Primary next Tuesday. My hope was to visit or contact each and every friend, relative, and neighbor to personally ask for your support but time has not allowed. I thank each of you who have responded for your encouragement, and now ask those of you who I have not seen or contacted personally for your vote and support.

Alma Watts Waddell is a native of Knott County, being born at Hindman, Kentucky. She is one of 10 children born to Ruby Watts and the late Effie Hayes Watts. Alma Waddell is married to Jack Waddell, who is the son of the late Doug and Elizabeth Waddell of Hindman, Kentucky.

Alma Watts Waddell is a graduate of Alice Lloyd College and has taught school in both Harlan and Knott Counties. These experiences alone, coupled with her mountain upbringing, give her a sensitivity for the particular needs of all Eastern Kentuckians. In addition to this, Alma Watts Waddell has over 12 years' experience in State Government, including being former Director of Administrative Services, Department of Housing in Frankfort, Kentucky. Further, her talents and abilities have been recognized throughout the Commonwealth of Kentucky, by those women who have been active within the Democratic Party. They have seen fit to elect Alma Waddell as President of the Democratic Women's Club of Kentucky.

Floyd Countians need State officials that know our people, their problems and their needs. Alma Waddell is the one candidate who can truthfully lay claim to that qualification. I ask that you vote for my sister, Alma Waddell, for Secretary of State, Democratic Primary, and it will be forever appreciated.

I again thank each and every one of you for all you've done and will do. I particularly thank those public servants who are members of the Floyd County Fire Fighters Association for their endorsement of Alma Waddell for Secretary of State.

LEO WATTS, Allen, Ky.

State Program Unites Jobs, Older Workers

More than 375 Kentucky employers have contacted the Cabinet for Human Resources during the past four weeks about hiring workers age 55 or older.

Their interest is in response to a letter to all the state's employers from Cabinet for Human Resources Secretary Al Austin promoting the hiring of older workers.

The employers are about evenly divided into three categories: those who placed job orders through the Department for Employment Services, those interested in implementing training programs and those wanting additional information about hiring older workers.

"We are gratified that so many employers recognize the benefits of hiring the senior members of our workforce," said Employment Services Commissioner James Daniels. "While we could not plan for this dramatic response, it is noteworthy that May is Older Americans Month, and we think this is an excellent way to celebrate.

"We hope that every Kentuckian over age 55 who is interested in a full-time or part-time job will go to one of our local offices and take advantage of the opportunities being offered by Kentucky employers," he said.

As a result of these contacts, the department has developed 18 contracts with employers to provide on-the-job training for older workers. "We were able to refer a number of job candidates for these positions from the host of applications we had on file," Daniels said. "But we still need qualified applicants for other jobs."

Daniels said Kentucky has thousands of experienced workers in this age group who want jobs and is concerned that they may not realize employers are interested in hiring them.

"Our staff who work with dislocated workers—people who have lost their jobs because of changes in the economy—report that after their initial interview, many people in this age group do not return for job search assistance," he said. "We think it's because they see they are competing with younger workers.

"We don't have any way of counting the number who drop out of the labor force because they haven't been able to find jobs and, therefore, have given up the search."

The department recently earmarked $1.2 million in JTPA funds to support local programs to meet the job needs of older Kentuckians. These programs are slated to begin July 1.

Job seekers who want more information on these and other programs should contact the local office of the Department for Employment Services. Interested employers should call (800) JOB NEWS.

ELECT JERRY PATTON COMMONWEALTH ATTORNEY

While visiting in homes throughout the county during my campaign I have been asked several times to address the "union issue". It is well known that my opponent has owned and/or operated Lakewood Coal Sales, a non-union coal company, for several years.

My father, being a union man, taught me union values. I learned to appreciate and respect what the UMWA; Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers; Teamsters and the other unions stand for: "Job Security and a decent wage and decent benefits for a decent day's work". My father's union wages clothed, fed and helped educate me. The union helped give me an opportunity for advancement and I would like for everyone to have the same chance.

Some people may ask what this has to do with being Commonwealth Attorney. I simply believe in giving credit where credit is due, and in responding to the voters' questions.

Obituaries

Judith Davidson Roberts

Judith Lackey Davidson Roberts, 96, died Tuesday morning at her home, here, after an illness of several weeks.

Born at Ivel March 26, 1891, she was the daughter of Samuel P. and Laura May Davidson. When she was 13 she began playing the organ at the First Methodist Church of Prestonsburg, of which she was the oldest living member. The organ was said to have been the first one brought by pushboat to the Upper Big Sandy, and was placed in the old Methodist Church, which was situated where the B.F. Casual Shop now stands.

Mrs. Roberts played for Sunday School and church and for many revivals, including the 1907 meeting held by the Reverend W.H. Sledge, which lasted for six weeks, moving to the courthouse when the crowd out-grew the church. She had been a member of Adah Chapter of the Eastern Star for 70 years.

In 1914 Lackey Davidson was married to George T. Roberts who preceded her in death in 1974.

She is survived by her daughter, Laura Virginia Roberts Collins, one grandchild, Judith Arnold Roberts Collins, both of Boca Raton, Florida, and by two sisters, Mrs. Douglas D. Perry and Mrs. Josephine D. Fields, both of Prestonsburg.

Visitation will be from 4 to 9 p.m., Wednesday, at Carter Funeral Home.

The funeral will be conducted at 2 p.m. Thursday at the First United Methodist Church by Dr. Harold Dorsey and the Rev. Quentin Scholtz. Burial will be made in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel.

Motorcycle Accident Claims Grethel Man

Ritchie Dean Bentley, 21, of Grethel, died Sunday morning from injuries received when he lost control of his motorcycle and hit an embankment at Grethel.

Bentley was traveling south on KY 979 when his motorcycle ran off the road, police said. He was discovered by Rita Hamilton, office manager of the nearby Mud Creek Clinic, who was passing by and who alerted authorities. He was pronounced dead at the scene at about 7:30 a.m.

A coal miner with the Sure Fire Coal Co. at McDowell, Bentley was born Sept. 8, 1965, the son of Richard Bentley, of Belleville, Mich., and Avonell Akers Bentley, of Grethel.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a brother, Orville Douglas Bentley, of Grethel.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. today (Wednesday) at the Zion Regular Baptist Church at Grethel, with Regular Baptist ministers officiating. Burial will follow in the Akers family cemetery at Grethel, under direction of Hall Funeral Home.

Eugene Lewis

Eugene Lewis, 53, of Banner, died Saturday at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, following a long illness.

He was born November 2, 1933, a son of Rudolph Lewis, of Daniels Creek, and the late Rebecca L. Lewis. He was preceded in death by his wife, Elsie Marie Hunt Lewis, who died March 6, 1977. He was a maintenance worker with the Floyd County School Board.

In addition to his father, he is survived by two sons, Larry Gene and Zandle Wayne Lewis, both of Banner; three daughters, Elta Faye Lewis and Connie Sue Lewis, both also of Banner, and Peggy Kathryn Howard, of Hueysville; one brother, Grover Dean Lewis, of Frankfort, and seven sisters, Pauline Shepherd and Dixie Lewis, both of Banner, Josephine Lewis, of Ypsilanti, Mich., Magalene Board, of Columbus, O., Ruth Jervis, of Auxier, Linda Endicott, of Prestonsburg, Inez Lewis, of Allen; and four grandchildren.

Honorary pallbearers were Chester Lewis, Henry Lewis, Paul David Shepherd, Wayne Jervis, Tony Lewis, and Clyde Endicott.

Active pallbearers were Clynard Jones, David Dawson, Ted Lawson, Charles Salyer, Blaine Hopkins, Klein Stumbo, Les Wallen, Bolney Allen, Sam Stephens and John Campbell.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Daniels Creek Baptist Fellowship Church of God, at Banner, with clergymen Raymond Wright and Virgil Hunt officiating. Burial was made in the Lewis family cemetery on Daniels Creek near Banner, under direction of Hall Funeral Home.

Mary B. May

Mary B. May, 86, of Prestonsburg, died suddenly at her residence Tuesday afternoon, May 12, victim of an apparent heart attack.

May was a daughter of the late John D. and Jemima McGuire Barney and was born September 4, 1900 at Stone Ega, Virginia. Her husband, Elijah B. Brown May, Sr., preceded her in death November 8, 1958. She was a member of the Community United Methodist Church.

Surviving are two sons, E.B. May, Jr., and William H. May, both of Prestonsburg; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Friday at 1 p.m. at the Community Methodist Church with the Rev. Ron Masters and the Rev. Taylor Biggs officiating. Burial was made in the May cemetery under direction of the Carter Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were William L. May, Charles E. May, George D. May, Gary A. May, Leslie B. May, William L. May II, Mathew Christopher May, James McKinney, Michael Patrick May, Jim McKinney II, William Andrew May.

IN MEMORY OF

Charles Ann Greene Watson

Today marks two years since you've been gone. It hurts just as much now as it did then. I am still trying to understand and accept the fact that we can't be together anymore to share our good times and our bad. I will always regret the fact that in your time of need and understanding I couldn't be with you to let you know that I was a friend as well as your sister. There is not a day goes by that I don't hope and pray that maybe you have found the peace and happiness that you wanted and so desperately needed while here on earth. Hoping that you have found it is the only thing that keeps me going. When I think of you I will always remember the fun times we had because I know that is the way that you would want it.

Your loving sister
PAULINE PRATER

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Larry D. Ray, Jr., on the anniversary of his birthday, May 26, 1965. Mom, Dad, brothers, sisters and two sons.

Green B. Hall

Green B. Hall, 73, of Galveston, died Thursday at the McDowell Appalachian Hospital following a short illness.

He was born April 25, 1914 at Beaver, a son of Martha Howell Hall, of Ligon, and the late Will Hall. A retired miner, he was a member of Wheelwright Local No. 5899 of the U.M.W.A.

He is survived by his wife, Marie H. Hall; three sons, Clayton Hall, of Pikeville, Earl Hall and Vernis Hall, both of Galveston; three daughters, Marlene Hall, of Ivel, Betty Hamilton and Eevelene Brewer, both of Galveston; one brother, Edgel Hall, of Ypsilanti, Mich.; four sisters, Margaret Booth, also of Ypsilanti, Mich., Draxie Stone, of Ligon, Pauline Taylor, of Clarksburg, W. Va., Betty Pennington, of Johnsonville, Ill.; 13 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at 10 a.m. at his residence with Regular Baptist ministers officiating. Burial was made in the Hall cemetery at Galveston under direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR MOM AND DAD, HATLER AND LIDDIE BROWN

Dear Mom and Dad, we miss you. Our hearts are filled with pain. The happy home we once had will never be the same. Although you are not here we think of you so often. We go on with our lives but the hurt never softens. Mom and Dad, we love you so. We know you are at rest. God broke our hearts to prove to us He only takes the best. The flowers we place upon your graves may wither and decay but, Mom and Dad, our love for you will never fade away.

So sadly missed,
YOUR CHILDREN.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Dwayne Fraley, who passed away May 20, 1982.

In the cemetery safely sleeping, where the flowers so gently wave, lies the one we loved so dearly, but whom we could not save. This day, May the 20th, brings sad memories of our loved one gone to rest, and those who think of him each day are the ones who loved him best.

No one knows the silent heartache, only those who have lost can tell of the grief we bear in silence for the one we loved so well. What would we give to see his face, his loving hand to touch, to hear his voice, and to see his smile that meant so much to us. Our hearts still ache with sadness, secret tears will always flow.

What it meant to lose you, no one will ever know, memories are all we have left now.

Oh, we dearly loved you so, and these memories we will treasure until we meet you on the shore.

Sadly missed by
MOM, DAD, RITCHIE,
EDDIE, RECILLA AND BRITTA

Eugene McBurney

Eugene McBurney, 72, of Sun City, Florida, died Saturday at the Lucille Parker Markey Cancer Center. He was former executive vice president of operations for the Island Creek Coal Company.

McBurney, a graduate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, was formerly employed with the U.S. Steel Corporation in Alabama, an executive of the Jewell Ridge Company for 15 years, and formerly was president of the West Kentucky division of Island Creek. He retired in 1979. A major in World War II, he was a member of the Tazewell Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by his wife, Edna Lois Stephens McBurney; a son, Gene McBurney, Jr., of Charlotte, N.C.; a daughter, Margaret Anne Perry, of Tazewell, Va., and three grandchildren.

Graveside services were conducted Tuesday at 11 a.m. at the Maplewood cemetery, Tazewell, Va., with Jeff Lowrance officiating. Burial was under direction of the Terry & St. Clair Funeral Home.

IN MEMORY

Of Tammy Lynn Hall

This is in memory of our daughter and loving sister. She was taken from us by an automobile accident on April 27, 1986.

There have been so many empty days and even more endless nights. We try to think of all the good times we had together as a family. We wonder why Tammy was taken from us, but we know in our heart's that Tammy is with God now, and He will take care of her.

Tammy was the daughter of Clifford Wayne Hall and Dorothy Helen Hall. Tammy left behind her five sisters and one brother, Lisa Trump, Teresa Hall, Loretta Lynn William, Dianna Hall, Donna Sue Hall, and Ellis Dwayne Hall. Tammy had four nieces and three nephews.

We would like to thank all the family and friends who have helped us this past year to deal with our tragic loss.

There will be a Memorial Service for Tammy at the home at Tackett Fork of her grandparents, the late Ellis Tackett and Mellie Tackett, on June 27, and 28. Tammy is gone but will never be forgotten.

Conferences Will Focus On Community Support Needed By Mentally Ill

For the average adult living in Kentucky, daily contact, assistance or social interaction with other Kentuckians is an unquestioned fact of life, a gift, something unnoticed and taken for granted.

For the average adult Kentuckian who also happens to have a form of mental illness, life would be dramatically different and noticeably diminished without the support of family, friends and other people in the community.

Helping persons with mental illness and their families find that support is the goal of a pair of conferences being sponsored for an expected 400 people by the state Department for Mental Health and Mental Retardation Services and the Kentucky Alliance for the Mentally Ill.

"For an adult with mental illness to live well, we have to meet more than mental health needs," said department Commissioner Dennis Boyd. "Housing, jobs, social and leisure activities must be provided and community support is the best way to provide this."

"We must recognize that adults with mental illness are citizens and members of the community. We have to look beyond traditional services and address all the various needs."

The conferences are scheduled for June 5-7 at the Executive Inn in Paducah and July 10-12 at Eastern Kentucky University in Richmond. Each conference will focus on individual, family and community responsibilities in helping persons with mental illness become an accepted part of the community.

A variety of issues will be addressed, including organizing community support efforts and developing job opportunities for the mentally ill, and establishing self-help groups that focus on issues and concerns of the family.

In addition to workshops, the Saturday schedule will feature an all-day "Film Festival" with films that deal with mental health issues. Open discussions will be held after each film.

The opening day agenda at each conference will be highlighted by several skits presented by the Kentucky Mental Health Players.

"The Kentucky Mental Health Players is a troupe of professionals, consumers, family members and volunteers who use theatre to dramatize mental health issues," said Boyd. "The players share their experiences and provide information on how to start a troupe in a community."

Featured speakers at the Paducah conference are noted mental health advocates Dr. William Hale Jr. and Laura Vantosh.

Hale is the Associate Director of the Georgia Center For Continuing Education at the University of Georgia in Athens. Vantosh is program director of Outreach Advocacy and Training Services for Project Share in Philadelphia.

Guest speaker at the Richmond conference will be private mental health consultant Martha Hodge. She is the former executive director of Community Friendship in Atlanta and was the first director of Georgia's Community Support Program.

Registration deadline is June 1 for the Paducah conference and July 6 for the Richmond meeting. For more information, contact Carol Saylor or Paula Tamme at (502) 564-4448 or Ellen Garrison at (502) 589-4861.

State Offers Awards For Energy-Saving Projects

The Kentucky Energy Cabinet is looking for unique energy conservation and renewable energy projects in Kentucky for competition in the Fourth National Awards Program for Energy Innovation.

The purpose of this program, a joint effort with the U.S. Department of Energy, is to identify and encourage the sharing of innovative energy-efficient programs among all public and private energy-consuming groups.

Individuals and non-federal agencies, businesses, groups, or organizations who have implemented unique conservation or renewable energy projects since Jan. 1, 1984, may apply. Projects must have been operational for six months or a period of time which allows for documenting the claimed energy savings or the results of the program. Of special interest are those accomplishments that have high potential for transfer to other groups.

Projects will be judged and evaluated on the basis of the following criteria listed in order of importance: innovation, energy savings, transferability, and economic impact.

The program involves three award levels—state, national, and special recognition. Up to five projects selected in the state competition will be recommended for national award consideration.

Applications must be mailed to the Kentucky Energy Cabinet, P.O. Box 11888, Iron Works Pike, Lexington, Ky. 40578-1916 and postmarked no later than June 15, 1987. For more information on how to apply, contact Barbara Rutledge at (606) 252-5535.
