

Wilmay: Author Of Short Stories And Poems

By Laura Cooley
Poetry and words of wisdom are enjoyed by most of us during our lives, but for Wilma Gunn May they always have been and always will be inspiration to her life, and to the many who have read selections from her memory books.

"Poetry is like music," May said, describing why she thinks people are drawn to it.

She is better known to many people as Wilmay.

"My first and last name were run together once by accident and my husband said to leave it that way so when he died, strangers would think I was a man and would treat me with respect," she said giggling. "And I did get some things addressed to 'Mr. Wilmay.'"

She has contributed short stories and poems from her memory books to the Floyd County Times since 1977, and has also had literary recognition of the national level, contributing articles to national women's magazines, educational and Christian publications. Wilmay is also the author of a widely acclaimed 1957 educational book, A Teacher Views the School Crisis.

Although she has done many things to brag about, she does not like to boast. She sometimes said something but then would quickly write short, exclaiming, "but don't write that down — I don't like to boast!"

Wilmay began her memory book when she was 14. The things in it are "clippings, short things that mean a lot to me," she said in her soft Southern voice.

Since then she has filled many more books, but now keeps her words stashed in four shoe boxes in a corner of her home near Maytown.

A self-proclaimed octogenarian, Wilmay says she has too many things on her "do" list to show down. She also spends her days reading and typing her words of wisdom on her old Royal Standard typewriter "just for the sheer fun of it," she said.

Her little frame house embodies her passion for words and learning. Her living room has been turned into an office, with a desk made from two sawhorses supporting an 8-by-10 foot section of plywood, with neat stacks of papers and books over the broad area. In every corner she has books and memorabilia of her days in the mountains.

Although she had kept poems since she was 14, she really became fond of it through one of her teachers at Mississippi Southern University.

"The teacher was a marvelous reader and knew Carl Sandberg and had him come to read to the student body. I got to read 'Jazz Fantasia' as he came in the auditorium," she recalled, and suddenly merrily recited the first few lines of it.

Wilmay shared her love for poetry with her husband Edgar. They met when she was among a train load of teachers sent to Maytown, and he was one of the newcomers, she said.

"My husband loved poetry and always asked me to read it to him after he retired," she reminisced.

She also took this love into the classroom with her as a teacher.

"I enjoyed teaching poetry in elementary and high school," she said. "A child responds to poetry like drama and music. It depends on how it is presented. Teachers should encourage their students to write poetry."

Having poetry in her life also taught Wilmay humility.

In Mississippi, while she was in high school, there was a field day competition and she won the poetry reading competition by reciting "The Wooden Soldier," she said.

She then went to the district competition and her main competitor was a girl who recited "The Lost Word," (incidentally, one of Wilmay's favorite poems). Everyone loved the other girl's poem, which was about a man who had lost touch with God and when his child was dying, he found that he could not pray.

The girl won the district competition.

"I went over to congratulate the girl (my daddy taught me how to lose well) and told her how good the poem was and the girl responded, 'But you know about God and the Bible and I don't,'" Wilmay recalled.

"I learned that even though you want to win you also can lose," she said.

What is Wilmay's secret ingredient for life? "Others — you helping them and them helping you," she said.

"Do you know what joy means? Jesus, Others, You. You do what little you can to help humanity," she said contently, looking out the window by her kitchen table into her poetic view of the world.

School Time

By Wilmay

The following collection is from my old memory book. A Teacher's Code, by Ruth April, is first:

I shall teach, not preach; suggest, not demand; praise, not condemn; laugh with, not at; love, not hate; appreciate, not discriminate; be calm, not distraught; remain poised, not unsure; be pleasant, not dull; colorful, not drab; Help, not hinder; applaud, not belittle; encourage, not discourage; Gain insight, not overlook; inspire, not stifle; see promise, not failure.

Did You?

Did you send him to school with a brave little song/ Full assured in his heart that your love went along? Did you help him last night to dreamland quite early/ So that morning brought calm, with no hurly-burly? If there's helter to skelter, harsh words as your part/ Or a stiff criticism—poor vexed little heart/ He's a laggard all day, though he does not know why/ And he seems to his teacher, unwilling to try/ He's under a shadow, no fault of his own — One you could dispel with a fond gentle tone. Your hand on his shoulder — He'd understand, The faith in your eyes, that touch of your hand. Let his heart be assured as he's off and away/ With a skip and brave stride to meet a new day/ Yes, a smile of approval, his parent's caress/ Can do more for his grades than you ever would guess!

Selected

The Sculptor

I took a piece of plastic clay/ And idly fashioned it one day/ And as my fingers pressed it still/ It bent and yielded to my will/ I came again when days were past/ The bit of clay was hard at last/ The form I gave it still it bore/ But I could change that form no more/ I took a piece of living clay/ And gently formed it day by day/ And molded it with power and art/ A young child's soft and loving heart/ I came again when years were gone/ He was a man I looked upon/ The early imprint still he bore/ But I could change him then no more.

Poet unknown

Little Gene's Soliloquy

Tain't no need to go to school/ I can't read and write/ No use to learn the Golden Rule/ I'd rather fly my kite/ Teachers is mean and kids is green/ But Mom says, "Now remember/

You'll go to school, my little Gene/ And like it—come September/ I'm in a fix — almost six/ I'm worried 'fit to kill/ 'Cause kids an' school just sure don't mix/ I'll die — I know I will!

Mrs. J.E. Stockton

The Heart Of A Child

An angel paused in his downward flight/ With a seed of truth and love and light/ And he said, "Where must this seed be sown/ To bring the fruit when it is grown/ "The Master heard as He said and smiled, "Go plant it for me in the heart of a child."

Fire Fighters Complete Course

Prestonsburg firefighters recently completed two special training courses, Mayor Ann Latta announced this week.

A one-day course, conducted by Columbia Gas Transmission Corp. at its Bowman pumping plant, was successfully completed by nine officers of the city's full-time fire force and by seven volunteer firefighters.

The training included how to handle gas emergencies and gas fires.

Those receiving certificates were: Maj. Larry Adams and Paul Burke, Capt. Mike Wells, Sgts. Ronnie Burke, Tom Cooley and Kenny Crisp, Fire Fighters Kevin Hedrick, Tom Hereford and Mike Moore, and Volunteers Chuck Bishop, Burt Brummett, Wendell Burke, Rex Cecil, Billy Chaffins, Tim Conley, and Terry Music.

In addition, 15 of the city's firefighters recently completed a 15-hour video training course on fire attack.

Prestonsburg Fire Chief Tom Blackburn said the course, prepared by the University of Colorado and offered nationwide to firefighting organizations, included strategy and tactics of initial company response to fires. The course included workbooks and tests and a certificate of completion was awarded to the following: Chief Blackburn, Maj. Adams and Burke, Capt. Wells, Sgts. Burke, Cooley and Crisp, Firefighters Hereford and Don Hall, and Volunteers Cecil, Chaffins, Conley and Music.

The Prestonsburg Fire Department is a member of the state's Professional Firefighters Foundation Program, which requires an initial 400 hours of training for new firefighters and an additional 150 hours per year for each full-time firefighter.

Volunteers are required to complete an initial 150 hours plus 20 hours per year, to be certified.

The two recent courses, Blackburn said, were in addition to the state requirements.

13-County AFM Chapter Is Chartered

Local 822 of the American Federation of Musicians was officially chartered recently at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn. This was the first time in almost 40 years that the international performer's union has granted a new charter.

The American Federation of Musicians of the United States and Canada is the world's largest union of performing artists. Headquartered in New York City, it is made up of nearly 500 local unions with a membership of approximately 200,000.

Don Shumate, administrative assistant to the international president, addressed the gathering and explained how the union protected its members in every field of professional musical activity. It negotiates both international and local contracts, enforcing employer observance of wage scales and working conditions, as well as fringe benefits for traveling and overtime.

Shumate said that while local unions negotiate minimum wage scales for local engagements and deal with most matters within their own geographical areas, the federation bargains collectively for all members involved in network radio and TV, videotape, music videos, and all other entertainment enterprises where its members are used. It also established and enforces ethical standards for booking agents representing its members. Additionally, its services include insurance programs, a computerized job referral service, and legislative representation.

Kelly L. Castleberry, the international secretary/treasurer, spoke of the union's history and the potential of Eastern Kentucky. He read the charter and listed the counties that Local 822 will cover: Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Knott, Martin, Perry, Wolfe, Letcher, Magoffin, Breathitt, Leslie, Harlan, and Morgan. The charter was then presented to the temporary local officers who are President Tom Kuss; Vice-President Mike Wright; Secretary/Treasurer Ed Kuss; and Sergeant-at-Arms Scott Potter.

The AFM also supports music education; it funds the world-renowned Congress of Strings, an annual summer learning experience for outstanding young classical string players. The federation is an active participant in the Music Educators National Conference and the National Association of Jazz Educators.

Local musicians are enthusiastic about having a chapter here. "It'll be an opportunity for young musicians to get direction in their careers," said Wright, who has played professionally for 22 years; he was formerly a member of Local 103 in Columbus and 136 in Charlestown. He said anyone who wants to be a professional musician should join in order to gain access to the privileges afforded by membership.

"You can't record in Nashville; you can't be on TV," the local's vice-president said. "You have to be a member to do those things."

Other locals in the region sent officers to the ceremony, and Gov. Wallace Wilkinson forwarded his congratulations and best wishes to the new local.

Membership is open to all qualified musicians and vocalists — professionals who work full or part-time in pop, rock, country, jazz, classical, folk or other areas of music in the United States and Canada. For information, contact Eastern Kentucky Musicians Local 822, 112 West Court St., Prestonsburg, 886-2385; or write J. Martin Emerson, president, American Federation of Musicians, 1501 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10036.

Kentucky Revenue Cabinet Crack-down Nets $600,000

A crack down on delinquent taxpayers by the Revenue Cabinet produced over $600,000 in a 14-week period this year.

The Revenue Cabinet conducted 13 seizures from March 7-July 14 under its Distrain and Levy (D & L) Program. The D & L is a last resort measure against delinquent taxpayers. The program allows the Revenue Cabinet to seize financial assets of seriously delinquent taxpayers such as bank accounts, accounts receivables, unpaid salaries, and tangible property such as vehicles and real estate.

"We owe it to the taxpayers of Kentucky to collect delinquent taxes from those who will not pay," says Revenue Cabinet Secretary C. Emmett Calvert. "The Revenue Cabinet will use all the resources available to us to collect taxes due to the state."

Calvert emphasizes that the Distrain and Levy Program is a last resort. "The taxpayer is given every opportunity to pay before the D & L Program is applied."

Since taking over the Revenue Cabinet, Calvert has placed increased emphasis on collecting accounts receivables. The cabinet will even arrange payment plans for delinquent taxpayers.

"We're not interested in punishment," says Calvert. "We're only interested in collecting the funds owed the Commonwealth."

The two-fold purpose of the Revenue Cabinet's increased emphasis on collections is to show the taxpayers of Kentucky that the cabinet is serious in its effort to collect all taxes legally owed the state and to exhaust every available opportunity to enforce collection from taxpayers who are habitually delinquent.

Following the seizure the taxpayer is given the opportunity to pay delinquent taxes. If no payment is made, the cabinet is authorized to sell seized property at a public auction and apply the funds to unpaid taxes.

The 13 seizures produced direct collections of $633,696.50 and secured 244 nonfiled returns through July 14, 1988.

Tidbits By Janice Shepherd

SCHOOL DAYS Whoops of joy are being heard by children and groans are being heard by parents as a new school year approaches.

SCHOOLS add new curriculum each year to improve the student's intellect but sometimes the best things are lost in improvements.

A treasure that has been lost is the two room school. The two rooms were usually over-crowded, provided inadequate heating and cooling systems and did not supply hot meals.

Grades one through four were located in one room and grades five through eight were in the "big" room. Each morning the students gathered in the big room and told stories or sang songs.

Each morning the wooden floors must be swept, the windows opened or the fire started in the potbellied stove. Students learned to accept responsibilities.

The record for the most gold medals for Olympic swimming is held by American Mark Spitz. He won a record seven in 1972 as well as two in 1968 and of these, eight were won in record time.

The students also learned a feeling of kinship. They were together for so many years that a close friendship was formed which usually lasted through adulthood.

CORNEY CENTS Raymond Cassidy (Jim) Howell told the story, this week, about the guy who advertised a reward of $2,000 for the biggest ear of corn.

After thousands and thousands of bushels had been sent to him, he awarded the $2,000 prize, sold the bushels of corn and made a mint.

SPEND WEEK-END HERE Lynn and Cliff Schornak and son, Michael, of Marietta, Ga., Lou and Connely McCray and Jonathan Lyons, of Alexandria, Va. and Lana Slaughter and son, Benjamin, of Louisville, were guests of James E. and Marie Goble and Edward Goble over the past week-end.

speeding, failure to register transfer of vehicle and no registration receipt. Allen was apprehended by Sgt. Gerald Clark. Clark attempted to pull Allen over on US 23 near Archer Park for reckless driving. Allen fled, driving down the Ky. 114 ramp, turning up the old West Prestonsburg Road, through Stumbo Hollow to the end of the blacktop and onto a gravel road. Allen continued to an old strip mining site, driving approximately 300 feet up a hill before wrecking. Clark chased Allen on foot for about 100 yards before apprehending him. Allen has been released on bond. In a separate matter, Capt. Woodrow Rafferty investigated a wreck Wednesday, Aug. 3, at the intersection of US 23 and 114. A coal truck driven by John Clark of Mulberry, Fla., struck a car driven by Margie Johnson of Hi Hat. No citations were issued, nor injuries reported. Officer Roy Roberts investigated a separate accident Friday, Aug. 5. Ruby J. Reffitt, 60, of Pyramid, failed to yield right of way coming off of Rt. 114 onto US 23, striking a car driven by Angela R. Waddles, 20, of Prestonsburg. No injuries were reported nor citations issued. On Sunday, Aug. 7, Officer Ricky Conn investigated a minor accident at the intersection of US 23 and Rt. 114. A vehicle operated by Debra Akers pulled into the path of a car operated by Teresa Ellis, according to police reports. Ellis attempted to swerve left to avoid contact, resulting in a same-direction sideswipe. Ellis' mother, Brenda Ellis, was a passenger in her vehicle. No injuries were reported. Akers was cited for not having registration plates and failure to register transfer of a motor vehicle. Conn investigated a separate accident July 30, in which a van operated by Janet C. Ennis of Sicklerville, N.J., collided with a motorcycle ridden by Michael and Karen Nelson of Prestonsburg. Ennis was traveling west on Rt. 1428 and Nelson was traveling east. According to police reports, Ennis thought Rt. 1428 continued straight and failed to turn. Her van was struck in the right side by Nelson's motorcycle. The Nelsons were transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center for examinations; no serious injuries were sustained. No citations were issued. Two teenagers were arrested this week for shoplifting. According to a report filed by Sgt. Sue Blackburn, a 16-year-old female juvenile was taken into custody Thursday, Aug. 4, for shoplifting at Heck's Department Store. The juvenile was released into the custody of her father. A second youth from Williamsport, in Johnson County, was detained by Heck's employees after being seen concealing three cartons of cigarettes. Another 18 cartons of cigarettes were found in his car—two from Prestonsburg Foodland. The remaining cartons were not marked with store identification. Two separate auto accidents were reported Monday, Aug. 8, according to Chief of Police Dickie Campbell. At 9:30 a.m. Monday, Tony Blair of Van Lear was attempting to exit onto US 23 at South Arnold Avenue, when his car was struck by another vehicle driven by Perry Akers of Dana. No injuries were reported; both vehicles sustained minor damage. Campbell said no citations were issued. A second accident took place at 4:42 p.m. on KY 1428 at Lancer. Paul B. Hughes, of Prestonsburg, was blinded by sunlight and his car struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Karen Collins of Clendennon, W. Va. No injuries were reported, nor citations issued.

Local Players Enjoy Success In CNB, John Gray Tournament

The 1988 Citizen's National Bank/John Gray Pontiac-Buick-GMC Paintsville City Tennis Tournament concluded play on Monday, July 25, with the Men's A Doubles final. A total of 91 players from Johnson, Floyd, Pike, Martin and Magoffin counties entered this closed tournament which featured some of this area's best players in even competition.

The Men's A Singles title went again to last year's winner, Don Compton of Prestonsburg, as he used his powerful serve to overcome his doubles partner, Russell Music, Jr., also of Prestonsburg, by the score of 7-5, 4-6 and 6-2, in the finals. Earlier Compton had defeated Darrell Clark of Stanville 6-3, 6-4 in one semifinal, while Music was defeating Prestonsburg's Tim Howard 6-4, 7-5 in the other semifinal.

Francis Coleman, Pikeville, defeated Carolyn Short, Allen, with a come from behind victory of 2-6, 7-5, and 6-3 to claim the Women's A Singles title. Coleman defeated Lois Howard, Prestonsburg, 6-2 and 6-1 in one semifinal while Short defeated Kaye Willis, Prestonsburg, 6-2 and 6-2 in the other semifinal.

The Men's B single title went to Paintsville's Randall Stephens with his 6-1, 6-3 victory over Prestonsburg's Benji Caudill. Stephens had defeated Pikeville's Keith Varney, 6-4, 6-4 and Caudill defeated Paintsville's Ronnie Stapleton by 7-6, 6-3 in semifinal action on Saturday.

The Women's B singles final turned out to be a repeat of the Girl's 17 and under final between Pikeville's Dawn Maynard and Allen's Clarissa Short. Maynard prevailed in both finals and won the B title by a 6-4, 6-2 score. In the semis, Maynard defeated David's Marina Allen by 6-1, 7-5 while Short was defeating Paintsville's Ruth Gray by 6-4, 6-4.

The Men's 35 & Over title was claimed by John B. Robinson over Phil Glover, both of Paintsville, by 7-5, 7-5. Robinson defeated Prestonsburg's Tom Smith 6-3, 6-1 in one semifinal while Glover defeated Paintsville's Danny Colvin 6-0, 6-0 in the other semifinal.

The Men's A Doubles title went to Compton and Music over Prestonsburg's Bobby Hamilton and Don Willis by the score of 6-2 and 6-4. 'The Children's Studio' Provides Art Experience

By Joe Porter

They make stick sculptures, totem poles and rocking horses; they create homemade games. They paint with water colors, use pastel chalks, and draw cartoon strips with colored markers. It's The Children's Studio, taught by Ralph Clark.

The art class met every morning from 10 a.m. to noon as part of the Summer Kid's College at Prestonsburg Community College. The class started in the fall of 1987 and met on Saturday mornings. Clark also taught the class on Tuesday afternoons at the Salyersville Public Library, and on Saturday afternoons in Pikeville.

Clark, who lives in Blue River, came to Floyd County as a CAP volunteer in April 1987. He studied commercial art at Lamar University in Beaumont, Texas, and it was while he was an art instructor at a private school in Houston that the ideal for The Children's Studio came to him. "The concept of The Children's Studio was to have a creative environment where children could meet each other and discover their own creativity through art," Clark said.

The art teacher tries to make his class a joy—something the kids can look forward to. "I don't want them to feel that they're missing anything because they're not home watching cartoons on TV," Clark said. "I want them to feel special when they're here because they're creating something." It's not all work. The kids get time out to snack on cookies and Kool Aid.

Clark might ask the class to draw a landscape, but he isn't interested necessarily in the student producing an exact likeness. "I tell them to draw the tree as they see it through their imaginations," Clark said. "I asked the kids in the beginning of the course, 'What's the difference between an ar-artist and a camera?' Well, I explain, both create a picture, but the artist has a choice of adding or taking away from what he sees." Clark hopes the class will free the children to create and "find the secret within themselves."

Pam Shingler, a community education facilitator at Prestonsburg Community College, organized the class. She says the class is needed because art education is underfunded in the public schools. "The state has mandated that art education be taught in the elementary schools, but the schools here can't afford to hire the art teachers," Shingler said. "The regular teacher who does teach art might only teach it once a week, and they might have only taken one art course in college. So we see this class as augmenting their present art education."

Clark agrees that the schools aren't providing the art education that children should be getting and, unfortunately, it was the same way when he was growing up in Houston. "It's sad, because all children have a natural ability to produce art at their age," Clark said. "But if those students don't have the teacher, they'll never realize that ability."

This fall, The Children's Studio will be taught on Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. It's a 10-week course, starting Sept. 17. Classes in Spanish, math games, astronomy, and pet care will start at 10 a.m. Children from 6 to 12 years old can participate.

Local Man Working As Ag Technician At Meadowbrook Farm

David Horn, of 1351 S. Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, is working as an agriculture technician at Meadowbrook Farm.

He was among more than 307 Eastern Kentucky University students participating this summer in the University's Cooperative Education Program.

EKU students in the program apply principles and theories learned in the classroom to practical, on-the-job situations.

Participants also receive a salary from the participating employer, which may help to defray college expenses.

"Cooperative education provides exceptional opportunities for students to gain experience outside the classroom," said Ken Noah, director of cooperative education at EKU.

"Many people don't realize that the majority of out-of-college students are paid for their working hours in addition to the academic credit they receive."

Since EKU's program began in 1973, more than 7,500 students have been placed with employers in Kentucky and throughout the United States, Noah said.

The longest sermon on record lasted 48 hours and 18 minutes. A congregation of eight was still present at the sermon's end.

MANDATORY NOTICE BY ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY FOR ALL WATER SYSTEMS PERTAINING TO LEAD IN DRINKING WATER

"The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. There is currently a standard of 0.050 parts per million (ppm). Based on new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly.

"Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

"EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women. "Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

- if your home or water system has lead pipes, or
- if your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and
- if the home is less than five years old, or
- if you have soft or acidic water, or
- if water sits in the pipes for several hours."

The Floyd County Board of Education does not have lead service lines or other lead-containing materials in our distribution systems. The water in the Floyd County Board of Education water supply is not in violation of the current standards. The water in your own house piping may be.

You can reduce the possibility of consuming water with high lead concentrations by the following:

1. Flush cold water pipes before drinking—10-30 seconds.
2. Use only water from cold water pipes for drinking, cooking or preparing baby formula.
3. Lead pipes and service connections can be replaced.
4. Insist that only lead free materials be used in repairs or new plumbing.

The only way to be sure of the amount of lead in your water is to have the water tested by a state certified testing laboratory. For additional information contact the Drinking Water Branch of the Kentucky Division of Water at (502) 564-3410 or the Floyd County Board of Education at (606) 886-2354.

Lead content in Floyd County Board of Education supplied systems is as follows:

SOAP: B&B

'As the World Turns' will recast Margo Hughes role

By Marie Michaels

Hillary Bailey Smith, who recently left the role of Margo Hughes on "As the World Turns," gave birth to a son, Phillip Webster Smith III, earlier this summer. Smith and her husband, Phillip, also have a 2-year-old daughter, Courtney. Since Smith has no intention of returning to "ATWT," the soap's producers will be recasting her role.

Hillary Bailey Smith

• Joe Lambie, whose run as drug dealer George Stewart on "Guiding Light" recently came to an end, says he enjoyed the role because the character was not a "nice guy." Lambie also admitted that he didn't want to know in advance what the "GL" writers had in store for Stewart. "I liked that I was surprised by what my character was doing," he says.

• Now that Kristina Malandro has signed a new contract with "General Hospital," fans can rest assured that her character, amateur detective Felicia Jones, will continue getting into and out of tight spots as she investigates the criminal goings-on in and around Port Charles.

• Pre-teen actress Kimberly McCullough has been absent from "GH" and the role of Robin Soltini nearly all summer because she is appearing in a production of the hit musical "Les Miserables" at the Shubert Theater in Century City, Calif.

• A bit of soap opera trivia: When the Daytime Emmy Awards were handed out in June, Helen Gallagher (who plays Maeve Ryan on "Ryan's Hope") became the first actress to have received three Daytime Emmy Awards (all as Outstanding Lead Actress). At the time of the ceremony, Gallagher was in Barcelona, Spain, teaching her craft to students at El Instituto Del Teatro.

• Daytime newcomer Stephen Gregory has joined "The Young and the Restless" as Chase, a junior executive at Jabot Cosmetics, the company owned by the Abbott family. No one at the soap has been forthcoming with information about the character, so we'll have to watch to see just what he'll be up to in Genoa City.

MARQUEE

BIG TOP PEE-WEE (PG - Paramount) Starring Pee-wee Herman. ★

By J.T. YURKO

Paul Reubens, a.k.a. Pee-wee Herman, is a very ... unique personality. And this grown man in a suit and bow tie who acts like a 5-year-old, with a squeaky voice and a skippy walk, has become an enormously successful multi-media property. His first movie, "Pee-wee's Big Adventure," made more money than anyone expected, and his Saturday-morning children's show, "Pee-wee's Playhouse," has drawn high ratings and won Emmy awards. His new film "Big Top Pee-wee," however, couldn't win an award if Mother Herman were giving them out.

Herman plays a lone scientist who works on a small, quaint farm, developing enormous fruits and vegetables to save the world from hunger. All is idyllic until a circus comes to town, and Pee-wee falls in love with an aerialist, Gina (Valeria Golino), disrupting his romance with the local schoolteacher, Winnie (Penelope Sue Miller). And while Pee-wee is thrilled by the animals, acrobats and clowns, the more typical townfolk don't take too kindly to the show folk.

Herman tries hard to milk some gags out of the props made available to him by the circus theme. He tries almost every conceivable circus stunt, but they, like him, usually fall flat. The animal jokes are like David Letterman's Stupid Pet Tricks, but without Letterman's laughs. As the head of the circus, Mace Montana, Kris Kristofferson seems not to know what to make of all of this, so he walks around in a quizzical daze. And a three-minute kiss - billed as the longest screen smooch ever - is two and a half minutes too long.

The appeal of Herman's world - a world in which everything is cute and corny to the point of absurdity - may be amusing for half an hour on Saturday mornings, but it is not enough to carry "Big Top Pee-wee." Fortunately, at less than 90 minutes, this forgettable summer trifle comes to an end quickly.

ROUGHHOUSE

Ronny Cox plays a veteran carpenter, the founder of a construction company that boasts a lively team of workers, in "Roughhouse." The failed series pilot airs on "The CBS Summer Playhouse" on TUESDAY, AUG. 16.

ASK TONI

Renee is yet another Estevez in show business

By Toni Reinhold

I read somewhere that Martin Sheen has a daughter. His sons are all good actors. Is this daughter in show business too? - A.Q., San Diego, Calif.

Renee Estevez

Like her father and her brothers - Charlie Sheen and Emilio and Ramon Estevez - Renee Estevez is an actor. In 1986, she starred in a "CBS Schoolbreak" special called "Babies Having Babies," which was directed by her father. The special, about teen pregnancy, was Sheen's directing debut. Renee also played a non-speaking role in the TV movie "Shattered Spirits."

I thought Powers Boothe was great in "Red Dawn." My father says that that wasn't Boothe's only movie, and that he also once had his own TV series. What was it called and when did it air? - T.S., Holden, Mass.

Boothe was a regular on the short-lived series "Skag," which aired for just a month in 1980. Later that year he played the title role in the TV movie "Guyana Tragedy: The Story of Jim Jones," winning an Emmy Award for his performance. In addition to "Red Dawn," Boothe's film credits include "The Emerald Forest," "Southern Comfort" and "Extreme Prejudice." He also starred in HBO's "Philip Marlowe, Private Eye."

I can't believe that Milton Berle is getting on in years. It seems like he's always been with us, and yet we know so little about him. What can you tell us? - A.E., Cleveland, Ohio

To get the story straight from Uncle Miltie, read one of his books, such as "Milton Berle, An Autobiography" (1984), or "B.S., I Love You," a recent collection of anecdotes about his years in show business. Berle, who celebrated his 40th anniversary in television earlier this year, was born in New York City on July 12, 1908, and made his TV debut in 1948. In 1949 he won an Emmy Award as Outstanding TV Personality, and 39 years later he received a special Emmy as "Mr. Television." His movie career, amazingly, spans 75 years; He began acting in silent films at the age of 5, and appeared in "Tillie's Punctured Romance" and "The Perils of Pauline" in 1914.

Steven Williams is the daddy of '21 Jump Street'

By Wendy Wallace

"Our show addresses the social issues that most young people are dealing with today," says Steven Williams, who stars as Capt. Adam Fuller on the Sunday-night Fox series "21 Jump Street" (check local listings). "Issues that a lot of shows don't address with as much appeal to the young people.

Steven Williams

"So 'Jump Street' has opened up a lot of lines of communication between parents and kids," he adds. "Young viewers watch us and see themselves or someone they know who has gone through what we're presenting. Before, there was some fear, but now there's a reason to talk." Capt. Fuller is a stern but enlightened police officer who heads a group of young cops working undercover in city high schools. Williams, who replaced Frederic Forrest as Fuller after the series' first episode, feels responsible for the role. "I didn't intend to take his place," he says of Forrest. "So I had to literally win everyone over. And it was a terrific experience for me. That's how I became the daddy of 'Jump Street,' the stern disciplinarian. The adult image for the show.

"And it works for the Fuller character," he adds. "He is a teacher, boss and friend to his young charges. His sternness is about keeping them alive. But at the same time, he's a student because he's learning from them."

Born in Memphis, Williams fell in love with acting after service in the Army. After a role in a stage production of "Slow Dance on the Killing Ground," he began auditioning on a regular basis. He became a much-sought-after actor on the Chicago theater scene, and was nominated for the prestigious Joseph Jefferson Award for his performances in "Joplin" and "Cinderella Brown." His film appearances include the features "Coolie High," "The Blues Brothers," "Missing in Action II," "The Twilight Zone" and the TV movies "Silent Witness" and "Dreams of Gold." And he has a long list of guest starring roles on series, including "Hill Street Blues," "Hunter" and "MacGyver."

"Fuller is probably one of the most positive black characters on television," he says. "I feel I'm making a contribution to the young people out there with his image."

Hall To Address Midway College

Floyd County's Eula Hall, noted advocate for improved health care in rural eastern Kentucky, will be the keynote speaker for the Midway College annual Convocation to be held Wednesday, Aug. 24 at 11 a.m. in Alumnae Chapel located in Starks Hall on the college campus.

Convocation, a ceremonial assembly of the members of a college community, traditionally kicks off the academic year at Midway College.

Hall will address her life experiences in the areas of advocacy for improved health care. For Hall, whose formal education ended with the eighth grade, outrage over good intentions gone bad prompted a life-long quest to improve the health care available to the residents of her native Floyd County. When it became evident that medical relief funds from the Johnson administration's War on Poverty were being misused by the physicians and pharmacists entrusted with the funds, Hall lobbied the U.S. House of Representatives and won the right to administer the funds and operate a health clinic near the tiny settlement of Grethel, along Mud Creek. Despite setbacks, including a 1982 fire that leveled the original structure, the clinic continues to grow in size and scope with four attending physicians, a fully-equipped emergency room, x-ray services, a laboratory, pharmacy, health education and social service programs and facilities for minor surgery. The Mud Creek Clinic serves the special needs of the population in a sliding scale of charges and will transport patients to and from treatment.

Midway College offers an endowed scholarship named for Hall in recognition for her extraordinary achievements in improving the quality of life for thousands of rural Kentuckians. The Steele-Reese Foundation will fund the scholarships through a $150,000 grant. The scholarship will enable young women from Floyd and adjacent counties to train in the Midway College nursing program, with the hope they will return to eastern Kentucky to enter public health service.

Midway College was founded in 1847 and is Kentucky's only college for women. Currently a two-year college, Midway is planning to offer four-year degrees in fall 1989.

Program May Help Local Firms

University of Kentucky engineering students and businesses and manufacturers from Floyd County may be interested in a UK College of Engineering course which solves industrial problems inside the classroom.

"Industrial Applications," which was first offered in the 1988 spring semester, is a class which gives students the chance to work on engineering projects provided by state industry. Businesses present students with a manufacturing or design problem and ask them to come up with an economic and efficient solution within a semester.

"Such a class gives students some real world experience by introducing them to an industrial problem and asking them to tackle the problem in a certain amount of time," says A. L. Wittwer, extension engineer for the Center for Robotics and Manufacturing Systems.

The class also gives companies a solution to problems which they have set aside due to time or financial constraints, Wittwer says. "Small companies may not have the resources to work on a project, while a large company may have too many projects to handle all at once," he says.

One company which recently worked with the "Industrial Applications" class is Dial-A-Firm International, Inc. in Georgetown. Dial-A-Firm, which markets air mattresses, has designed an inflatable mattress for use in sofa beds. While the current air mattress design could be remotely inflated and deflated, the deflation process—about 3 minutes—was rather slow. The company asked the class to come up with a more efficient design, at or below present costs, with improved exhaust time and existing features intact.

Gary Young, president of Dial-A-Firm, says that the students did an excellent job on the project. "We were very satisfied with the results," he says. The company now plans to give the students' designs and prototype samples to a production engineer and put them into the manufacturing mode.

Young says that the class provides substantial benefits for a small company like his. "Usually a company our size does not have the wherewithal to get that kind of expertise," he says.

In the class, students are divided into teams of 2 or 3 and asked to select a team leader. Each team is expected to function as a self-contained group, independent of other teams, and is responsible for outlining an approach to the design problem. The team is also responsible for estimating the level of effort in preparing its design, carrying out the defined tasks, and reporting its recommended solution in written and verbal form at the end of the semester. The sponsoring company is invited to the presentation and receives copies of the final reports. Progress reports are prepared by each student team at three-week intervals during the semester.

A faculty member is responsible for organizing the course and coordinating the activities of each group with a representative from industry. The feedback from industry is used to keep the design requirements as realistic as possible.

For more information about the class, contact Dick Edwards, A. L. Wittwer, or Rod Heard at 1-800-227-6268.

ASCS Offers Advice To Prepare For Aid

Farmers should prepare now to apply for drought aid so they will be ready to show eligibility after the recently enacted legislation is finalized and opened to applications, according to local ASCS office officials.

Although ASCS does not expect to have details of drought assistance until October, there are some things producers can do to help make sure they get the benefits of the legislation.

For example, appraisals will be necessary on drought-damaged crops before they are destroyed or harvested. Crop production evidence should be maintained for a crop sold or stored off the farm.

Producers may have to leave representative strips for appraisals if they are unable to wait for ASCS appraisal.

Production records for crops such as fruits, vegetable and any other commercial crop should be maintained for the current and previous years, if available.

The bottom line, according to ASCS Director Sharon Conley, is "Don't destroy any evidence that may be needed later to determine eligibility."

For further information, producers may contact the Floyd County ASCS Office at 886-3128 on Wednesdays or may call the main office at Hindman at 785-5402 during the rest of the week.

Price Retires From Federal Employment

Phillip R. Price, son of Lillia Mae Price of Prestonsburg, retired on Aug. 1 after almost 26 years service with the federal government.

Following graduation from Floyd County High School in 1956, Price entered the United States Air Force. He served four years at various duty stations and was honorably discharged in 1960, returning to Kentucky at that time. Shortly after his return, he gained employment with the Department of Public Safety as a Kentucky State Trooper. He served in that capacity at the State Police posts at Morehead and Pikeville.

On Jan. 9, 1967, he resigned his commission and entered on duty as a criminal investigator with the U.S. Treasury Department at Louisville.

The Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division that employed Price was a part of the Internal Revenue Service and Treasury at that time, and the primary mission was enforcement of the federal liquor laws. Moonshining declined, and several assassinations including Robert Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King prompted passage of the Gun Control Act of 1968. The division's mission gradually changed to primarily enforcement of the federal firearms laws. The division gained full bureau status in 1972, becoming the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF), under Treasury.

Price served in positions of increasing responsibility over the next 21 1/2 years. He served as special investigator in charge of the bureau's Ft. Wayne, Ind. office; group supervisor at Cincinnati, Ohio; chief, National Firearms Act Branch, Washington, D.C.; assistant special agent in charge, Detroit, Mich.; special agent in charge, special programs branch, Bureau Headquarters, Washington, D.C.

A party honoring Price upon his retirement was held on July 29 aboard the Potomac cruise ship "Spirit of Washington." The party was attended by over 100 of Price's friends and family members. At the retirement ceremony, he was presented with the Albert Gallatin Award—The Treasury Department's highest service award, as well as the ATF Service Recognition Award, which was his own agent's badge, encased in lucite with the words "retired" attached to the badge, and his pocket credentials, also stamped "Retired."

Price and his wife, Deirdre, plan a September trip to England, Wales, Scotland and France to celebrate the retirement. They plan to continue to live in the Washington, D.C. area.

Music Joins Paul B. Hall

Tina Music is going to be a busy person in the weeks and months ahead, as she embarks on her new duties at Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center of Paintsville.

Music has recently been named the director of quality service management at the Paintsville medical facility.

Music is a native of Van Lear in Johnson County. She is a graduate of Johnson Central High School (in 1982) who received an Associate Degree in Nursing from Prestonsburg Community College and her R.N. in 1984. Following a tour as a nurse in the medical/surgical unit of Paul B. Hall, she continued her education at the University of Kentucky where she received a bachelor of nursing degree while working as a neurosurgical nurse in the A. B. Chandler Medical Center at UK. She returned to Paul B. Hall in May of 1987.

As director of quality service management, Music will be in charge of guest relations, quality assurance and coordination of the hospital's In-Service continuing education for its staff. In these various capacities she will consult with patients, physicians and staff to evaluate the satisfactory delivery of health care at Paul B. Hall; monitor and survey all aspects of patient care; and promote team work among all those involved in health care delivery at the hospital.

"This position places me at the heart of our health care at Paul B. Hall," Music said, "It is the most exciting task I have ever faced."

In the course of her responsibilities, she will meet with patients, charge nurses, physicians and administrative staff. Monthly meetings of various quality service committees during which Music will deliver reports and recommendations is an important part of her duties.

Unreported Changes May Lead To Social Security Overpayment

People in the Big Sandy area should promptly report any changes that may affect their monthly benefits, Jim Kelly, Social Security director for the Big Sandy Area, said recently.

People who do not report may become overpaid and have to return some of this money later. Also, they may have to pay a penalty.

The most common cause of overpayments — in six out of 10 cases — is too much earnings from work, said Kelly.

Some payments must be withheld from a person under 70 whose 1988 earnings exceed a certain amount: $8,400 if the person is 65 through 69; or $6,120

if the person is under 65. If a person goes over the limit, $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of annual earnings above the limit. Also, there is a monthly test that applies in the first year of retirement.

There are different rules for people getting disability checks, according to Kelly.

A person should let Social Security know if he or she starts or stops working or if 1988 earnings will be higher than reported earlier. A person should do this any time during the year there is a change. The easiest way to report is by phone.

Also, Social Security should be notified of certain other changes that often lead to overpayments such as death or marriage; medical improvement of a disabled person; a student 18 or over stops attending school full time; and a parent or other payee no longer has custody of a child or other beneficiary.

More information about Social Security, Supplemental Security Income, or Black Lung can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in the local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

First Student Graduates From Hospital GED Class

A sign hanging in Our Lady of the Way Hospital reawakened a dormant desire in Camille Brown—the desire to finish her high school education.

"I kept putting it off ever since I left school 15 years ago," said Brown who left Allen Central High School in 1973 at age 16 to marry. "I can't remember whether it was when my mom was in the hospital or when she needed a lab test; but when I read that sign on the hospital wall, I decided I'd go no matter what."

The sign advertised Wednesday adult literacy and GED classes which began April 27 at the hospital's Seton Complex in Martin. Brown was among the nine students who attended the first class. She is the first to earn her general education diploma (GED).

Brown's success did not surprise her teachers. She worked hard and never missed a class.

"I knew she'd pass the GED test," said teacher aide Carol Hall. "She's a determined, hard worker. She's got a nice personality and she's so motivated."

"Camille has the kind of motivation which guarantees success," explained Marcie Menster, teacher of the David School Adult Education Program being offered at the hospital and coordinator of the Floyd County Adult Literacy Council. "We'd give her a book to work in and she'd come to the next class with the entire book worked."

"I always wanted to finish school," said Brown, who lives in Maytown. "But two years after I married our first child was born. We have four kids and that's one reason I didn't finish school sooner. Babysitters aren't that easy to come by."

"My husband knew I wanted this," continued Brown, "so he urged me to go to every class. He said this was the best time because the kids were grown up."

"My oldest is 12," said Brown, "and I thought I'd leave my 4-year-old with my 12-year-old."

But 4-year-old Jaclyn wasn't eager to be left home without mommy. She accompanied her mother to most of the classes.

"She was pretty good," remarked Brown. "She sat very still and sometimes she fell asleep, she was so still! Jaclyn hated to see the classes end because she liked going."

Brown enjoyed the classes too. "It was fun. I learned a lot in what little bit I went. They helped me with what I didn't know."

On July 11, Brown left her children with her mother and took the GED test at Prestonsburg Community College. The GED test consists of five tests in reading skills, writing skills, social studies, science and mathematics which students may take all day to complete. To pass, a student must score better than 30 percent of graduating high school students in the United States.

"I was home at 2:30 (p.m.)," said Brown. "I figured I either knew it or I didn't know it... I'm glad I took the test. I was afraid I'd flunk, but then I saw that not everybody passes it and I wouldn't have had to be embarrassed anyway."

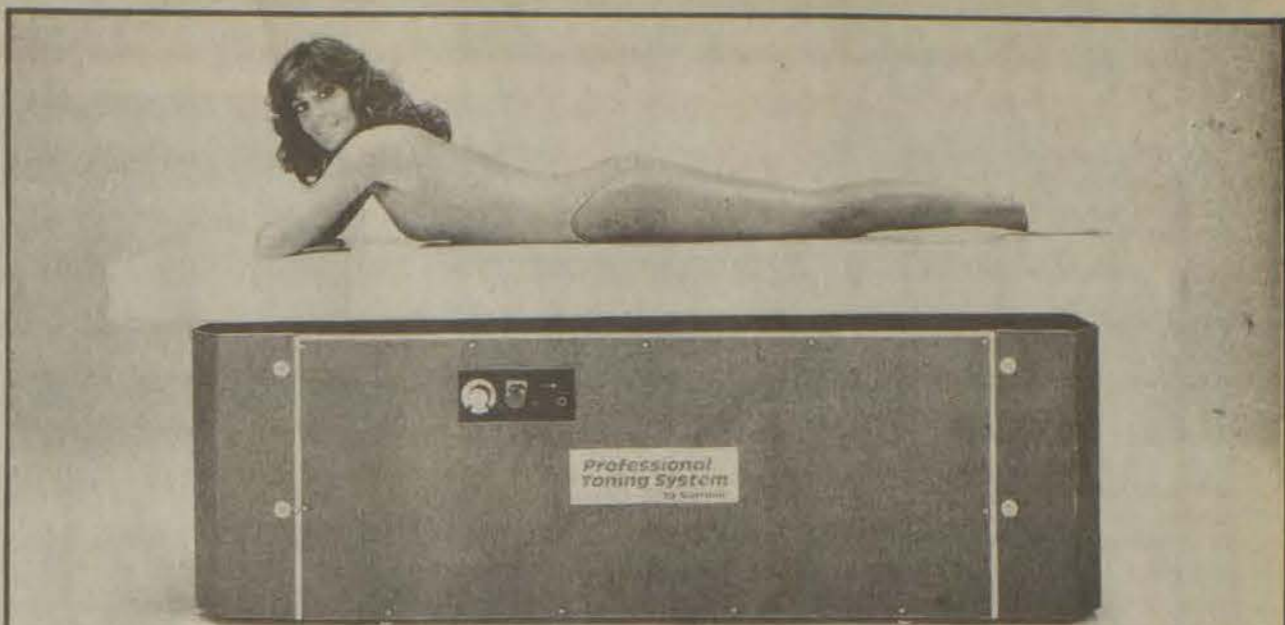

Brown received the happy news of her passing grades July 20.

"It makes you feel better about yourself," Brown said of her accomplishment. "I put in applications before but have never heard anything. You can't get a job anymore without a high school diploma."

"I'd like to find a job now if I could find a babysitter," said Brown. "But I wouldn't care to go to Garth (Vocational School) or college either."

Brown is finished with the hospital's classes but GED/literacy classes at Seton Complex in Martin continue.

Each Wednesday from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., Menster and Hall work individually with the adults who gather to study reading, writing, social studies, science and mathematics. The classes are free and open to the public. Students need only pencils and paper; textbooks are provided. For more information, contact Naewana Nickles at 285-3909 or Marcie Menster at 886-READ.

Books Address Frontier Kentucky

By Trisha Morris,
Librarian, Prestonsburg
Community College

The history of frontier Kentucky is an often-told but interesting story. The following books from the PCC library tells the story in many different ways.

Frontier Kentucky, by Otis K. Rice. The early history of the Bluegrass State is a colorful and significant chapter in the expansion of the American frontier. Kentucky dates its settled history from the founding of Harrodsburg (1774) and of Boonesborough (1775), but the drama of frontier Kentucky had its beginnings a full century before the arrival of James Harrod and Daniel Boone.

In this edition of the Kentucky Bicentennial Bookshelf series, Rice traces Kentucky's history to the end of the Revolutionary War in 1783. Two of his main themes are "the conquest of a wilderness bountiful in its riches but exacting in its demands," and the "planting of political, social and cultural institutions." Black and white photos show scenes from the state's early years and historical figures such as John Floyd, Daniel Boone and Isaac Shelby.

The Appalachian Frontier, by John Caruso. The colonization of North America after the first age of discovery and exploration was westward. But first, the frontiersmen had to conquer the highland barrier of the Appalachian Mountains. This book details that conquest. Although the author presents the westward sweep of the pioneers across the mountains into Ohio, Tennessee and Mississippi, he centers much of his story around Kentucky. With chapters entitled "The Long Hunters in Kentucky," "Transylvania," "Settlements on the Cumberland" and "Kentucky's Struggle for Statehood," one can see the importance the state held in the first settlement of the westward frontier.

Historic leaders such as Daniel Boone and George Rogers Clark come alive in this depiction of the rapidly shifting events chronicling the conquest of the Appalachians.

Kentucky's Last Frontier, by Henry Scalf. Encompassing the theme of the frontier, this book brings the story of Kentucky's frontier to the doorstep of Floyd County. This, in the author's words, "is a history of that vast region of mountain empire that constituted Floyd County when it was created in 1799." It records the isolation of the deep valleys and hollows where an old-world culture planted and nurtured its ways for a century and a half, largely free of interference from the outside world.

Scalf presents a Prestonsburg in 1830 with a population of 81, when the timber boats had not yet run, and, so, forests mantled hills and bottoms—a picturesque log cabin land. But with this idyl comes the Jenny Wiley abduction, the floods and the hardships of pioneer life.

Scalf has written well of every phase of life in Eastern Kentucky. He has taken it from its timbered wilderness to its concrete highways pictured within the perspective of a resident historian who loved and understood his land.

Pioneer Life in Kentucky (1785-1800), by Daniel Drake. Written by one of the most eminent early 19th Century physicians of the central west, this book is an intimate and detailed portrayal of farm and family life in a colorful and significant period of the state of Kentucky and of the nation. Written as a series of reminiscences to his children, it stands as an unique and faithful account of the simple but varied pursuits of the pioneer in the last decade of the eighteenth century. Pioneer Life in Kentucky is so varied that it will interest the physician, the psychologist, the clergyman, the botanist, the naturalist, the farmer and the homemakers as well as the historian. Dr. Drake's whimsical and quaint diction are refreshing reading.

The Frontier Mind, by Arthur Moore. The Kentuckian Moore deals with, as the author writes, "a great deal more complex than the simple-minded Indian fighter imagined in frontier chronicals." The book is subtitled as "a cultural analysis of the Kentucky frontiersman."

Moore subtitled his frontiersman as the tenant of the garden, the buckskin hero, the playful savage, the agent of progress and the child of nature. He includes in his discussion the romance of the frontier as depicted in the literature of Cooper and Bennett, the historian F. J. Turner's frontier theory, and the religious, utopian, escapist and primitivistic theories of why settlers went west. Moore, having lived and worked in Kentucky almost all his life, has written an interesting and well-researched book.

The First American Frontier, by George Ranch. Boonesborough held the distinction as being the first civilized settled land in Kentucky. Elsewhere, men roamed as hunters, explorers and traders, but in Boonesborough they brought their wives and children and found a town to support their family circle.

Here, the Boones, the Hendersons, Calloways, Harts, Floyds, Ballards and Rawlings "stood like an impregnable wall and rolled back the fierce tide of savage warfare until civilization and Christianity were established in the primeval forest."

Recognizing the importance of Boonesborough to Kentucky's history, the author has written this account as a Filson Club publication. Covering its founding, pioneer struggles, Indian experiences, Transylvania days and revolutionary annals, it is an exhaustive history of Kentucky's first frontier town.

BE SURE YOUR CHILDREN'S VOCABULARY
INCLUDES THE WORD "NO"

It's time to send your children off to school again, to prepare them for the world they must one day confront. The school will do a good job of this, but your cooperation is also needed in order to make sure that they don't learn the wrong things. As everyone knows, we are living in an era where drug abuse is rampant, and the children are being lured into this trap at a shockingly early age. Don't fail to warn them about this, as a part of their preparation for the new school year, for it can be vastly more important than their clothes or books. Moreover, you can reinforce your efforts by enrolling them in the Sunday school at your House of Worship. With all this, you can rest assured that the vocabulary your children develop in school will include the proper use of the word "NO", as the password to a happier, healthier and longer life.

Students Earn And Learn At Our Lady Of The Way

Alice Lloyd College education major Debbie Wilhite, Morehead State University radiologic technology major Steve Spears, and Prestonsburg Community College education major Virginia Bryant are earning while learning at Our Lady of the Way Hospital this summer.

This is the third summer each has participated in the federally funded Summer Youth Employment Training Program (SYETP) administered locally by the Community Action Program (SYETP) administered locally by the Community Action Program (CAP) Office in Allen. Wilhite and Bryant have worked at Our Lady of the Way Hospital all three summers. Spears worked for Wheelwright City Utilities his first summer, but has worked at Our Lady of the Way Hospital for the past two.

"I wanted to be placed somewhere near my field of study, which was nursing at the time," explains Spears, 20-year-old son of Buster and Birdie Spears of Hi Hat. "So (the second summer) I asked to work at Our Lady of the Way. They asked me if I'd work in the lab."

Even though Spears plans to be a radiologic technologist, he's found the laboratory work interesting and pertinent to his career goals.

"This job gives me exposure to the hospital setting and makes me a little more comfortable working with people," says Spears. "I love working in this lab... Everyone at the hospital is just great. Everyone's polite. They try to teach you and show you how things work."

As part of his job, Spears files and answers the phone and door. But he's also acquired some lab skills.

Laboratory assistant Linda Stillner taught him to do electrocardiogram (EKGs) and urinalysis. She also taught him to read and log the results. Laboratory supervisor Charles Frye taught him to do complete blood counts (CBCs) and other blood work.

"I record all the results of the tests I do," says Spears, "but, of course, they check everything."

"One hundred percent supervision is one of the commitments agency-users like Our Lady of the Way make to the program," says Gerald Newsome, SYETP coordinator/counselor. The agencies are also required to provide a safe and adequate worksite and meaningful work which doubles as a learning situation for the students. Newsome and his counterpart, Roger Johnson, monitor the worksites, supervisors and students. In addition, they counsel each student for a minimum of one hour each week; most have received eight hours counseling in this summer's five-week program.

Debbie Wilhite, 21-year-old daughter of Howard and Edith Wilhite of Ligon, says she was "sent" to Our Lady of the Way Hospital her first summer in the program. But she asked to come back the next two years.

"I just liked it," says Wilhite of her work in Our Lady of the Way Hospital's medical records department. "It's different. It's a change from my major in education."

Wilhite's daily work includes checking (for completeness) and filing emergency room records; answering mail requests for records; microfilming and shredding old records; and recording admissions and discharges in the patient register.

Wilhite says her job prepares her for the responsibility of a teaching career by providing her with "plenty of paper work."

Virginia Bryant, 20-year-old daughter of Ed and Daisy Bryant of Arkansas Creek (Martin), agrees that paperwork teaches responsibility. Nearly everything Bryant does in the hospital's admissions/outpatient department is paperwork.

Her job, Bryant says, is "mostly filing. I file everything—zero balances (paid bills), emergency room charts and outpatient requisitions."

Bryant says she chose to work at Our Lady of the Way because she had "heard a lot of good things about it. I came back because I just like the people I work with and I like the job."

Bryant thinks the SYETP is a good program.

"It's something worthwhile for kids that want to work," she says. Bryant's summer work will help pay for the gas her trips to and from college will require this school year.

Wilhite plans to use her earnings to buy books. Spears' wages will be divided among several college costs—tuition, books, food and transportation.

Spears says he would encourage anyone ages 16-21 who would like to continue their education to "check the program out."

"They should ask to be put close to something they're interested in," recommends Spears. "It helps them make sure they know what they want."

Nelson Newman Earns Honors For Academics

NELSON NEWMAN

Nelson Ryan Newman, one of the seventh graders from Kentucky who participated in Duke University's Eighth Annual Search for Mathematically and Verbally brilliant students, was honored at a ceremony at Western Kentucky University on June 8.

All students invited to the ceremony had earned scores on at least one section of the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or the American College Assessment (ACT) equal to or greater than the scores obtained by 50 percent of college-bound high school seniors.

The seventh graders took the college entrance tests as participants in Duke University's Talent Identification Program (T.I.P.).

Based upon normative data, Newman's score of 30 in natural science was greater than 92 percent of the college-bound seniors who took the test. He narrowly missed obtaining national recognition for himself and his school, which required a score of 31.

Newman attends John M. Stumbo School, and is the son of Gary and Betty Newman. He is the grandson of Mary Ellen Nelson of Banner and the late Bill Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Newman of Grethel.

Childers Family Reunion Scheduled

The descendants of Abraham and Elizabeth "Betty" Preston Childers will be held Saturday, Aug. 27, at Jenny Wiley State Park, Shelter No. 3.

Registration will begin at 11 a.m., followed by dinner and a program at 2 p.m. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish.

Summer Electrical Storms May Damage Home Appliances

Summertime electrical storms, with their massive show of lightning and deafening thunder claps, send many homeowners scurrying to unplug valuable home electronics to save expensive repair or replacement costs.

More and more of the highly sophisticated electronic devices, like video recorders, televisions, home computers, remote garage door openers, microwave ovens, satellite receivers, cordless telephones, just to name a few, are subject to damage from electrical spikes or surges.

Electrical spikes occur for a variety of reasons, lightning being the most common. These brief but damaging impulses of electrical energy can damage circuit elements, erase stored memory and reduce product service life. One strike of lightning has a force of 100 million volts, and can dissipate up to 300 KWH (kilowatt-hours) of electricity in 1/10 of a second. That's equal to 10,000 megawatts of electrical power for 1/10 of a second.

According to W. W. Zoellers, division manager of Kentucky Power Company, "That's enough electricity to power the city of Prestonsburg for nearly 77 seconds."

Zoellers went on to add that electrical surges can also cause homeowners problems. Electrical surges occur when large electricity users (air conditioners, electric motors, oil furnace igniters, compressors, etc.) are turned off—resulting in a fluctuation of voltage. These harmful surges usually last a fraction of a second. Also, wind, motor vehicles running into power poles, and storms can cause power lines to touch, resulting in a surge of electricity.

Homeowners can help protect their home and home electronics from most electrical surges and spikes. There are two types of products available. For home electronics, a point-of-use surge suppressor usually is the best choice. These devices plug into wall outlets and in turn the electronics plug into the surge suppressor.

The second type of protective device is a lightning arrester that is installed by a qualified electrician at the home breaker panel or fuse box. The lightning arrester has the ability to divert large amounts of lightning energy to the ground before it gets into house wiring. A lightning arrester will protect most electrical motors and wiring, but does little for home electronics.

Both devices require adequate wiring and grounding. Many homes may have faulty wiring, poor grounds, multiple grounds or crossed wiring. Suppressors will still help, but first the homeowner may want to make sure the home is properly wired. A qualified electrician can inspect homes and recommend the best protective devices.

Zoellers concluded by saying, "By correcting wiring problems and installing surge protectors and lightning arresters, you might not only be helping to protect your expensive electronic devices, but your homes, as well."

Ratliff Receives Academy Scholarship

Nikki Lynn Ratliff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ratliff of Estill, was recently named the recipient of a partial academic scholarship to the June Buchanan School for the 1988-89 school year.

NIKKI LYNN RATLIFF

She graduated from Wayland Elementary with a 4.0 grade point average and was named class valedictorian. At graduation ceremonies, she received the Woodman of the World History Award and awards in six academic subjects.

Other honors Ratliff has received include being a county winner in the Young Authors Program, school conservation essay winner, being named to the Junior All-County Academic Team, and captain of the Wayland Math Academic Team.

During her last three years at Wayland, she was captain of the boy's varsity cheerleading team. Her squad completed a perfect season this year by capturing first place championship titles in the Floyd County Tournament and county-at-large competition.

After playing for six seasons, Ratliff was the leading scorer this year for the Wayland girls' varsity basketball team. She will be joining the Lady Crusaders this year, and be coached by Elmer Slone.

During the summer, she has been working as a volunteer candy striper at the Golden Years Rest Home in various recreational activities.

★ Cancer Hopeline

Question: I've just been diagnosed with skin cancer on my face. My doctor told me it was from too much sun exposure. I didn't know I should cover up. Why don't people know to stay out of the sun?

Answer: Many people love the feeling of sun on their skin and many others have to work in the sun, so staying out of the sun altogether is not always easy. Nearly 400,000 Americans are diagnosed with non-melanoma skin cancer every year. It is by far the most common cancer. More than 90 percent of these cases are caused by too much sun exposure. Although white and light-skinned people are more likely to get skin cancer, too much sun can affect blacks as well.

You can cut your risk of skin cancer and still have fun in the sun. Just follow these tips:

Use sunscreens. The higher the SPF (Sun Protective Factor) rating, the greater the protection.

Avoid being out in the sun between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. when the sun's rays are strongest.

Wear a broad-brimmed hat or scarf to protect your face and neck. Wear lightweight, light-colored clothing that covers your arms and legs.

For more information on skin cancer, call the Cancer Information Service (CIS) at 1-800-4-CANCER. Or write to the CIS at the Markey Cancer Center, 800 Rose Street, Lexington. The CIS is a service of the Kentucky Community Cancer Program.

Pikeville's "Lost In The Shuffle" Bridge Club is experiencing the kind of growing pains that we love—four tables Tuesday night, and we still have room for you! The club meets at Myers Towers on Tuesdays at 7 p.m.

Gaining victory over 13 others were: newcomer Phyllis Coe, who captured first place; Mrs. William B. Wells, second; Greg Anderson, third.

New members are Sarah Hall George, Phyllis Coe, Carolyn Hoppe and Commodore Griffith.

Renee Summers is doing an excellent job as parliamentarian. As an attorney she brings specialized knowledge to the position.

Again, Madeline Ramsey was hostess. She served homemade lemon cake and mellow balls. Next week, Guialene Smith and Mrs. Kaminski Robinson will be hostesses. The hospitality the ladies bring to the club is not a prerequisite to membership, but comes from their wanting to share.

Vicki and Robert Pinson entertained 12 to bridge last night. The lucky high scorers were Robert Pinson, first; Vicki Pinson, second, and Doris Van Hoose, third.

Upon the arrival of their guests, Vicki and Robert Pinson were busily putting the finishing touch on the impressive array of food which looked too good to eat. The magnificently-decorated food included lobster salad, fresh fruit salad and a fantastic punch.

There has been a lot of bridge club interest coming from Pikeville's sister city, Prestonsburg! There are members from Prestonsburg in the Lost In The Shuffle Bridge Club now, and we extend an open invitation to all others who are interested. This is an open club capable of expanding; we plan to bring tournament bridge to Pikeville very soon.
