State Grants Reprieve For Floyd Schools

The State Board of Education unanimously approved recommendations made by Superintendent of Public Instruction John Brock to improve irregularities in the Floyd County school system, according to Jim Parks, spokesman for the Department of Education. The recommendations were approved Tuesday afternoon, and put to rest, at least temporarily, fears that the local school district would be declared academically bankrupt. The board approved a curriculum audit, which was proposed at the program committee meeting Tuesday morning, and implementation of an educational improvement team,

Parks said. Dr. Betty Steffy, deputy superintendent of public instruction, announced during the Tuesday morning meeting that the Department of Education and the Floyd system will conduct a curriculum audit beginning Monday, Parks said. A six-member team, comprised of three Department of Education officials and three out-of-state officials, will thoroughly review the county's teaching program and make recommendations. The board also approved a plan for the Department of Education to send a team to work with Floyd School Superintendent Ronald Hager and the local board to develop an educational improvement plan, and to monitor implementation. The team will initially include three people, with provisions for adding members as necessary, dependant upon issues and problems encountered, said Parks. The team will arrive in the county this month.

After the recommendation was approved, Hager fielded questions from state board members about deficiencies in the 1988 accreditation report, and discussed the possibility of eliminating managerial positions, Parks said. Hager and Dr. James D. Adams, See SCHOOLS, Back Page

PCC Fund Raising Day

Dr. Henry Campbell, left, and Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, are pictured as Stumbo declares Saturday, Sept. 17, Prestonsburg Community College Science Building Fund Raising Day in Floyd County. The declaration comes as part of the Kiwanis Club's effort to help raise funds for the facility. The local Kiwanians are hosting two major events, including a radio-a-thon and walk-a-thon on Saturday. The radio-a-thon will be heard on WQHY-WDOC from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., with a phone bank set up to receive call-in donations during the 12-hour period. In addition, the public is invited to participate in a walk-a-thon Saturday. Walkers will meet in the PCC parking lot at 9 a.m., prepared for a 5-mile journey. Participants raising over $100 will receive a commemorative t-shirt, and those raising over $500 will have their names engraved on a plaque in the new building. For more information, contact Dr. Blake Burckett, 478-4800; Dr. Henry Campbell, 886-3863; or George Spiggle, 886-2321.

Council Reaffirms Support Of Liquor By Drink Measure

Because no motion was reflected in the minutes of the previous Prestonsburg City Council meeting, council members again addressed the liquor by the drink ordinance Monday night. Mayor Ann Latta explained that no formal motion was apparently made by Councillor Adrian Blackburn to approve the ordinance, nor was any indication of the motion found in tapes of the meeting. At Monday's meeting at City Hall, Blackburn moved to approve the measure, and added a $600 licensing fee to the ordinance, which had been omitted previously. As was done earlier, the council split 4-4 on the issue, with Latta voting in favor to break the tie. However, it was only after Latta told council members that the vote would formalize the motion that the tie vote ensued. On the first motion, Blackburn, William Callihan, William Goebel III and Danny Hamilton voted in favor, with Paul Joseph and Mike Vance voting against; both Charles Hale and Jim Yates abstained. Following an explanation of the motion by Latta, Hale and Yates changed their votes to nay, creating the tie which was broken by Latta.

County's School Board Races Hotly Contested

This year's Floyd County school board race may be shaping up to be a barn burner with one incumbent board member retiring and several new candidates vying for seats in school districts 3, 4, and 5. School board member Fred Newsome of District 3 has decided not to seek re-election this year due to ill health; in his place, three candidates have decided to throw their hats in the ring. Brent Clark of Betsy Layne, Ricky Joe Roberts of Harold and Tommy Boyd of Stanville have filed for the position in the County Clerk's Office, in what promises to be a close race. Three candidates have filed in

District #4 in an effort to oust incumbent Dr. Mary Hall, Klein D. Stumbo, Judy Breeding Bartley and Ricky D. Hamilton, all of McDowell, have entered the race for the post. In District #5, Paul J. Branham of Allen, Roger Jones of Wayland, and Hattie Owens of Brush Creek (wife of District 2 Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens) will attempt to upset the incumbent board member James Arville Duff. The school board race may be enlivened by the recent state accreditation report findings, which criticized the board for several different areas of administrative and facilities deficiencies. See COUNCIL, Back Page

In other business, the council heard a complaint by Stratton Branch resident John Burgess. Burgess told the council that on Aug. 16, his wife called the city police department to report that an unidentified man chased the Burgess' daughter part-way down the street near the Gulf station on North Lake Drive. Burgess said that the youngster told her parents of the incident the following day, and that when his wife called the department to report it, she was told nothing could be done except to "keep a closer eye on children as they get out of school." Burgess called the police department and asked that an officer be sent to the station to question employees, and although an officer responded, See COUNCIL, Back Page

Floyd County Grand Jury indictments were handed down this week, with offenses ranging from murder to cultivation of marijuana. Firetower Contract Approved By City

Prestonsburg's City Council voted Monday night to enter into a contract with the Department of Labor, which will allow the city and local Job Corps to begin construction of a fire training facility. The 20-year lease will be renewable on a month-to-month basis after the fifth year. Mayor Ann Latta said Tuesday that the city had earlier received a $16,000 grant to build the facility, which will include a three-story fire tower and classroom. The Job Corps, in a cooperative venture, will provide labor to build the structure, which is to be located on approximately one acre of land adjacent to the Corps site at Goble-Roberts.

Auxier Fire

The remains were still smoldering late Thursday afternoon from a fire of an undetermined nature that destroyed one house and damaged another last Thursday morning in Auxier.

Auxier Fire Results In Loss Of Home

One house was destroyed and another damaged in a fire of undetermined origin Thursday in Auxier. The home of Pete and Ruth Webb was destroyed, and the residence next to it, owned by Virgil and Bernadine Isaac, sustained damage to the attic and side of the structure. The fire was discovered about 8:30 a.m. by neighbor Mary Craft. "When I saw it, (the house) had exploded into flames and nothing could stop it," Craft said. The Auxier Volunteer Fire Department was the first to respond, and the West Van Lear, Paintsville and Prestonsburg fire departments were called in to assist, according to Harlie Sturgill of the Auxier Volunteer Fire Department. See FIRE, Back Page

Library Dedication

Martha Wilkinson visited The David School Saturday for the dedication of the library in her honor. David School director Danny Greene presented her with a plaque honoring her for her personal efforts to support the drive for literacy and adult education.

Martha Wilkinson Helps Dedicate David Library

The David School dedicated its library Saturday to its benefactor, Kentucky First Lady Martha Wilkinson. Wilkinson personally contributed the materials for the new collection, which will replace the present library books at the school, according to Joan Shalpin, development director at David School. "We've received hundreds of new books and general reference materials with the promise of more to come," Shalpin said. The First Lady pledged Saturday to add to the collection annually. Wilkinson, who is the chair of the State Dropout Prevention Commission, has taken an active and involved interest in the David School because it is a model dropout prevention center for the state, she said. Wilkinson was also commencement speaker at the school last spring and, moved by what she saw, promised continued support for the school. "I said, 'Wallace, I want to help the David School,' and he said, 'I have no doubt that you haven't already,'" said Wilkinson during Saturday's speech. "We had a library before, but it was very outdated, and she decided (a new library) was the way to help out," Shalpin said. Wilkinson also told the crowd of about 75 of her newly-formed "Martha's GED Army," a state-wide group of volunteers that want to help get the word out about KET's GED program. After the program, the school hosted a luncheon, which was provided by the Kentucky Department of Parks and three Prestonsburg supermarkets. "David is a special place, and I'll be back," Wilkinson said.

PSC Approves Three Utility Adjustments

The Kentucky Public Service Commission recently heard three cases involving Floyd County utilities, resulting in slight increases for customers of B&H Gas Co., and decreases for customers of two other firms.

The commission authorized a surcharge of 48 cents for B&H Gas Co. to recover the cost of gas from its supplier, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co., and a refund of 37 cents to return any over-collections through a surcharge during 1987. The net amount of the surcharge is 11 cents per thousand cubic feet, effective Sept. 1.

The commission granted Auxier Road Gas Co. a purchased gas adjustment to reflect a $5,678 decrease in wholesale costs from its supplier, Columbia Gas of Kentucky. The average annual decrease per residential customer is $12.41, effective Sept. 1.

The commission granted Martin Gas, Inc., a purchased gas adjustment to reflect a $4,706 decrease in wholesale costs from its supplier, Columbia Gas of Kentucky. The average annual decrease per residential customer is $11.60, effective Sept. 1.

The two decreases are on an interim basis, pending the commission's approval of Columbia's fixed charge recovery for contract reformation and take-or-pay costs.

Conservation Meeting Sept. 20

The Floyd County Conservation District will meet Tuesday, Sept. 20, at 2:15 p.m. at the district office, 105 Court Street in Prestonsburg.

Successful Drive

The Prestonsburg Rotary Club completed a successful blood drive for CKBC Sept. 1-2. Pictured here are Charles Diskey, chairman of the blood drive, and Greg Crum, president of the Rotary Club, with Sue Charles, who was the top recruiter for the event.

Rotary Blood Drive Sets CKBC Record

The Prestonsburg station of the Central Kentucky Blood Center reached a new record in blood donations recently with the help of the Prestonsburg Rotary Club.

During the group's blood drive Sept. 1-2, 69 pints of blood were successfully given, according to Gina Bryant of the Central Kentucky Blood Center.

"It was one of the largest drives for the blood center," Bryant said. The amount of blood that was donated in the two days equalled eight and one-half working days at the Prestonsburg station.

"We felt like there was a need for civic groups to help the blood center and bring in new donors," Rotary Club President Greg Crum said.

"Members of the club went and talked with their employees about the blood drive, and Foodland and the David School had the most employees donating," he said.

After the blood is donated, it takes about 72 hours to test and distribute it to the 56 area hospitals, Bryant said. The blood given is broken down into three components: red blood cells, platelets and plasma.

The CKBC needs about 200 donations in the 54-county area a day to meet the center's goals, she said.

Spencer Is Merit Scholarship Semifinalist

Connie Spencer, a senior at Prestonsburg High School, was named one of 1989's National Merit Scholarship Semifinalists.

Connie Spencer has been named as a National Merit Scholarship Semifinalist.

She is the president of the PHS National Honor Society, a member of the PHS Beta Club, and a member of the PHS Academic Team. She is the daughter of Darvin and Ginny Spencer of Abbott Creek, Prestonsburg.

The names of over 15,000 high school seniors across the country who are semifinalists in the Merit Scholarship competition were announced today (Wednesday).

The semifinalists include less than one half of 1 percent of each state's seniors; they entered the 1989 competition for some 6,000 Merit Scholarships worth about $23 million by taking a qualifying test in 1987, when they were juniors. The PSAT/NMSQT served as an initial screen of nearly 1.2 million students from 19,900 US high schools who are participants in the 34th annual Merit program.

Semifinalists are the top scorers in their respective states. To advance to the finalist level of competition, they must fulfill additional requirements. They must have outstanding academic records throughout secondary school, be endorsed and recommended by their schools, confirm their qualifying performance on a second test, and complete an application that includes detailed information about their scholastic and extracurricular accomplishments.

Louis DeFalaise, US Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky, said the indictment alleges that Wright stole approximately $6,958 from the savings and loan through force, violence and intimidation. If convicted, Wright faces a maximum of 20 years in prison and up to $250,000 in fines.

Arraignment has been scheduled Sept. 9, before US District Judge Karl S. Forrester.

The indictment was a result of investigation by the Prestonsburg Police Department and Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Dwale Residents Consider Annexation By City of Allen

Dwale residents attended the Allen City Council meeting Monday night in hopes of getting Allen's police to patrol their community, but it soon turned into a discussion of the possible annexation of Dwale.

The community has had problems with reckless driving in the area, and sheriff's patrols have not been successful, residents said.

Allen city officials said they cannot allow Police Chief Virgil Conn to patrol outside the city limits.

The Dwale residents asked how they could get police protection, and the topic of annexation was raised.

Following discussion, council members decided to continue the meeting Monday, Sept. 26.

In other business, the city council discussed the possibility of meeting with the Allen Water Commission to discuss houses in Allen that do not have water hookup, and discussed beginning a project to repave some city streets.

We Will Buy, Sell or Trade — "A Full-Time Agency"

The Floyd County Times

VIEWPOINT

Guest Column

By Wilmay
When the Legislature meets in special session this January, let's hope it sets minimum standards for the presidents of colleges and universities.

With specific qualifications required for elementary and secondary principals, and for teachers on every level (as there should be), surely top educational positions deserve no less. Former Kentucky Governor Martha Layne Collins is a smart and beautiful woman with some notable achievements to her credit, but administration in the educational field varies considerably from that in the gubernatorial.

Upon reading of the plan to provide liquor by the drink, one thinks of the parents and families who have lost loved ones in the horrible church bus tragedy caused by a man who was not sober.

It may be wrong, for some Christians differ, but in my opinion supporting the Biblically-condemned stuff in any fashion — by vote, selling, buying, drinking, etc. — puts some of the "blood" on our hands. We wonder how means can be found to include the Holiday Inn within the perimeters of Prestonsburg, whose city limits are several miles away, but have little doubt it will be done!

If all faiths denounce the film, "The Last Temptation of Christ," with the vitality our Catholic friends are doing, it would have a tremendous impact on the ticket offices. In addition, they have long led the opposition to obscene movies that church members often help to keep in business.

Few, if any Floyd Countians, have amassed more honors than Louis Harkey Mayo. He was the son of one of my closest friends, the late Reba Harkey Mayo, beloved artist of this county. I saw Harkey last when she passed away, and well recall the day when our late Times editor, Norman Allen, told me that the FBI had men here "checking out" Harkey, since the president wanted him as one advisor in international law, just another post that a hometown young man filled admirably.

Why this now? Just because of the metro-media rarely take note of our "heroes", though the mountains do have them — men like the following, who are now deceased:
Chief Justice of the US Supreme Court, Fred Vinson of Louisa; Green Hackworth, first president of the World Court in The Hague, Holland, reared on Middle Creek; former Gov. Bert Combs of Manchester, long a resident of Prestonsburg; Dr. Bee Mayo of Allen, great-uncle of Harkey, another member of one of the most distinguished families in Eastern Kentucky, who founded a normal school and college in Texas;

Judge Will Leslie of Emma, representative of another prominent family, member of the Texas Court of Appeals and also famous as a Methodist layman; Dr. Russell Anderson (still living), alumnus of McDowell High School, a multi-millionaire in Ypsilanti, Mich., writer, lay minister, co-founder of Hyles-Anderson College in Hammond, Ind., founder of churches in Korea and Hawaii.

Yes, we do have them, but too often they are forgotten, and only the dark side of our picturesque hills is portrayed.

Ten Years Ago

(September 13, 1978)
The publicly expressed concern for the physical condition of Prestonsburg High School was discussed at some length by the Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting last Wednesday, and Supt. of Schools E. P. Grigsby, Jr. later announced that work is under way to provide the school a new roof. Work on about 4.5 miles of new KY 80 in Floyd and Knott counties is to be included in the state Bureau of Highway's September 22 bid-letting. Dewey Lake, a reservoir with a long history of problems, may have a brand new one and potentially serious problem in the form of millioil, a small aquatic plant introduced into the lake about two years ago. Floyd County's school system is losing an estimated $9,000 a day to pupil truancy, and what to do about the situation is a real puzzler. The Floyd fiscal court was presented a bill Tuesday which it firmly refused to pay until it knows more about what is happening in connection with the work at the Allen Park. There died: Willie McCarey, 78, of Wheelwright, Sunday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Medical Center; Sylvia Elliott, 60, of East McDowell, Sept. 5 at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; Mrs. Hattie Jacobs, 70, of Pippa Passes, September 6 at her home; Woodman Crider, 64, of Prestonsburg, Thursday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Arlene Akers Newsome, 80, of Dana, Monday at Methodist Hospital in Pikeville; Maggie Hatfield Stricklin, 73, of East Point, September 5; Felmon P. Blackmon, 63, of Wheelwright, Saturday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; Minerva Meade Moore, 76, of West Prestonsburg, Saturday; Rev. Johnny Huffman, 58, formerly of Floyd County, Friday in Albany; John Wesley Combs, 58, a native of Knott County, Friday in Lexington.

(September 12, 1968)
The Martin high school gymnasium was destroyed Sunday morning by a fire of unknown origin which raged for three hours before the danger of a widespread conflagration through the town was past. The first of two evaluations of the Appalachian Volunteers following a study made here and elsewhere in Eastern Kentucky by a team from the Office of Economic Opportunity is a mixture of praise and censure. James Edgar Turner, 44, of Wheelwright, was killed last Sunday morning from a gunshot wound suffered at Vicco. The hot-mix plant installed near Emma during the Breathitt administration has been sold to the Adams Construction Company, Pikeville, by the Kentucky Department of Highways. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hall, of Bypro, a daughter, Sept. 3; to Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Lee Gray, of River Rouge, Mich., a son, Sept. 3; to Mr. and Mrs. George Parsons, of Drift, a daughter, Sept. 5; to Mr. and Mrs. Estill E. Campbell, of Teaberry, a daughter, Sept. 6; to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Prater, Jr., of Hueysville, a daughter, Sept. 7; to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Johnson, of Halo, a son, Sept. 8; to Mr. and Mrs. Riley Newsome, Jr., of Ligon, a son, Sept. 1. There died: Mrs. Mandy Meade, 79, of Printer, Sunday at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin; Oscar Sturgill, 77, of Pike county, formerly of Floyd county, last Thursday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville; Mrs. Annie Layne Davidson, 91, of Prestonsburg, Monday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Rev. Henry Mullins, 59, of Eastern, Saturday morning, as the result of an accident which occurred as he worked on a car at his place of business at Eastern; Wayne Howell, 74, Tuesday at East McDowell; Mrs. Lora (Shorty) Blair Walker, 73, of Prestonsburg, last Thursday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Oscar Farmer, 78, of Wheelwright, Sunday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Lonnie Holland, 55, Sunday at his home at Poor Bottom, Pike county; Miss Emma Patton, 75, Aug. 28 at her home at Langley.

All 32 workers of the S.T. Kenyon Co., contractors on the flood protection project here, were idle Wednesday after employees had quit work on two complaints. Mrs. Blackburn Goble, 18, and Mrs. Jane Harris, 76, almost miraculously escaped serious injury this morning (Thursday) when the pick-up truck they were driving was hit by a coal train and reduced to wreckage at a crossing near the home of Floyd Goble. Floyd county's tax rate is in the lower middle category in relation to other Kentucky counties with $.50 county and $1.50 school. County Judge Henry Stumbo was authorized by the fiscal court in special meeting Sept. 3 to sign blanket deeds to the state for rights-of-way on Toler Creek and Salyers Branch of Salt Lick where force account roads are to be built. There died: Mrs. Ella G. Marsh, 75, formerly of this county, last Tuesday in a road mishap at Culloden, W. Va.; John Fannin, 66, last Wednesday at his home at Endicott; Mrs. Lunie Belle Prater, 57, Saturday at her home at Hippo; Allen Mims Cline, 66, formerly of Prestonsburg, Sept. 2 at his home in Boyd County; Mrs. Billie Mae Litz, formerly of Wayland, Sept. 1 at Caledonia, O.; Joe Miller, 54, of Manton, last week in the mines of the Stephens Elkhorn Coal Co.; Mrs. Virginia S. Lockhard, 53, native of Endicott, Saturday at Cincinnati; Mrs. Mary Shrewsbury, 46, of Weeksbury, last Thursday at the McDowell Memorial hospital; Mrs. Rebecca Mayo Reynolds, 70, Monday at her home at Martin; John A. Music, 55, Aug. 27 at his home at McDowell; Mrs. Malissa Hall Greer, 81, widow of Civil War Union Army veteran William Greer, Friday, Aug. 29 at her home at East Point; Mrs. Dollie V. Rice, 87, of Garrett, Sunday at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin; Mrs. Carrie Cook Childers, 51, of Bevinsville, Sunday at Baptist hospital, Louisville.

Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill Tuesday morning called on the grand jury to investigate rumors to the effect that a county-owned truck is being used in hauling whiskey and at the same time asked that a probe be made into other rumors claiming bootleggers are getting protection from officials in the Right Beaver Creek section. A fist fight and near-shooting scattered the gathering for the City Council meeting Monday night and sent Councilmen scurrying for cover along with their constituents. The Glogora Coal Company building burned allegedly by arsonists a few months ago at Glo is being replaced by a stone structure in a new location in the mining community at an estimated cost of $30,000, John S. Hamton, coal company superintendent, said Wednesday. The 15th moonshine still to be captured by Knott County Sheriff Elmon Watts and deputies in the last three weeks was taken Friday on the Pine Tree branch of Jones Fork. A. B. "Happy" Chandler, high commissioner of baseball, will take a leading part in the dedication on the night of Sept. 24 of Wayland's new baseball park and its lighting system. J. C. Wells, Wayland, announced Tuesday afternoon. Whatever gains the Republican party has made over the nation have been made outside Floyd county, registration figures at the office of County Clerk Jarvis Allen indicate. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Everette Osborne, of West Prestonsburg, a son Everette Eugene, II, Sept. 5. There died: William Clyde Lewis, 57, Saturday at his home at Mare Creek; Mrs. Eva Stone Tuesday at her home at Lackey; Mrs. Gladys Hall, 27, Monday at her home at Melvin, of tuberculosis; Mrs. Olva Rice, 26, Monday at her home at Galveston.

Letters To The Editor

Reader Opposes Broad Form Deed

Dear Editor,
I'm writing to ask everyone in the state to support Constitutional Amendment No. 2 to stop unwanted strip mining of people's land.
I've worked hard for what I've got. I came by it honestly. I did not lie and I did not cheat and I did not steal to get it. So I don't feel it's right for a coal company or anybody else to come in and just do what they want to with my land. I was raised in Eastern Kentucky and raised seven children here. When I'm dead and gone, I want my children and grandchildren to have this land.
The broad form deed on my land was signed in 1903. The people the coal company bought it from couldn't read or write. These old people had nobody to advise them. They just took the company men's word for it. Their names were signed by someone else and then they made a mark after it. There is no doubt in my mind that those people did not know what they were signing away. Everybody that signed these broad form deeds were slick-talked and had no idea what they were signing.

I don't think it's right for you to buy something and then have somebody else come in and say, "Hey, this is mine, you can like it or lump it," and not pay you for it and just take it away and destroy it. That's not right. You know it and I know it and God knows it. Everyone knows it. There's not a human being living who wants to work their money out on a piece of land and let somebody come in and destroy it. Right is right, and wrong is wrong.

When you go to the polls this November, I hope you will stop and think about broad form deeds and what you would do if this was you. I'm sure you'd want to protect your land. This is my last chance to protect mine. Please help me keep my land safe for my child and my children's children by voting "yes" on Constitutional Amendment No. 2 to limit the abuses of broad form deeds.

Thank you,
Gladys Wireman

Reader Urges CA 2 Support

Dear Editor,
For a long time, many citizens of the Commonwealth have lived under the fear that a coal company might one day strip mine their land.

One reason coal companies could do this, without the owner's consent, was because these companies often held a "broad form deed" on the land. The courts of Kentucky have interpreted the broad form deeds to allow coal companies the right to disturb the surface (owned by someone else) in order to get the coal.

We now have an opportunity to change this unfair situation, through an amendment to the Kentucky Constitution that will appear on the ballot Nov. 8. If passed, this amendment will restore to surface owners with broad form deeds the right not to have their land stripped without permission.

It is important that we all vote "yes" on Amendment No. 2.
Sincerely,
Dr. J.D. Miller
Ages, Ky.

Putting Yourself In Another's Shoes

Dear Editor,
It has often been said that to understand a person's situation, put yourself in their shoes.
Imagine that, for generations, your family has owned and operated a farm. You've worked and tended it and made it your own little paradise. Then imagine that one morning a man on a bulldozer shows up and tells you that you can no longer control what happens on your farm. He proceeds to bulldoze what has taken you years to build.

Impossible? Not so. It happens often in Eastern Kentucky, because of a 100-year-old document called the broad form deed.

We can do something to prevent coal companies from abusing landowners. We can vote "yes" on election day for Constitutional Amendment No. 2.

Thank you,
Ruth West

Cemetery Condition Draws Ire From Reader

Dear Editor,
I am writing to you as I was in Prestonsburg visiting family recently, and went to the Bingham Cemetery. I could not believe my eyes when I saw what had been done to that cemetery!

I have two children, two brothers-in-law and several cousins buried there, and every year I go and decorate the graves. This year, when my nephew took me to the cemetery, I could not even get to it as the ground has been cut away all around it.

It appears that no thought was given to the families of those buried in the Bingham Cemetery when this thoughtless action was taken. It is sad that so many people have been hurt by this.

When a family member is buried, it is believed that you lay them to rest and no one is going to be allowed to disturb that final resting place. It appears that this is not the case.

Sincerely,
Sena Miller

IMPRESSIVE DEVELOPMENTS IN EASTERN KENTUCKY

Just a few weeks ago, I visited the Hazard area to talk with local officials of the Kentucky River Area Development District. The site of our meetings was on land reclaimed after strip mining and developed into valuable commercial property.

I was extremely impressed with this example of the cooperative, grassroots approach that we must take in a continuing struggle for economic growth and stability in the mountains and across Kentucky.

As area development districts throughout the state have demonstrated for many years, a regional approach is absolutely necessary to the success of any bootstrap efforts to improve our economy.

A joint project recently completed in Hazard turned a $1.5 million investment on a 300-acre site into a $100 million development, including a medical complex and shopping center. A new project — the Starfire Project — is being undertaken by the University of Kentucky, Cyprus Coal and the Kentucky River ADD. Some 17,000 acres of land in Perry, Knott and Breathitt counties will be developed after mining in the area is finished.

As you know, usable, flood-free land is hard to come by in our Appalachian area. These mine reclamation efforts provide land for recreation, industry, and even agricultural and wildlife projects.

I have supported the efforts of area development groups since my days as governor. Now I am privileged to be among those working for a continuation of federal assistance for these very worthwhile programs.

We have survived the outgoing administration's repeated attacks on programs vital to this work. It now appears that such funding mechanisms as the Appalachian Regional Commission, the Economic Development Administration and Community Development Block Grants will hold their own in the new budget. Through such programs, we can help to build a grassroots partnership of public and private groups to improve the quality of life in Kentucky.

Local development groups also can benefit from my proposal for a two-year budget cycle for the federal government. Such a process would allow groups to stretch each dollar further when they can anticipate federal contributions for a two-year period.

We are also pushing a bill to create a rural development financing authority to offer interest rate subsidies to relatively new businesses in communities of less than 20,000 population.

Sign Promotes Slower Driving

"Please drive slowly — and have a nice day," are the messages emitted from a sign that the City of Prestonsburg is planning to put in neighborhoods around the city. "In an attempt to provide for safer streets, it's one project we think that neighbors themselves can help with."

Prestonsburg City Manager Fred James said.

The large, brightly-painted sign was first displayed on Central Avenue for 10 trial days, and there were positive reactions by neighbors and drivers, James said.

The city and the Safe Streets Commission want property owners to place the signs in prominent places so that drivers can see them, he said.

Some city streets, primarily Central, Arnold and Highland avenues, are being used as bypasses for congested intersections, James said. Some drivers disregard posted speed limit signs, and the police can't patrol those streets adequately for speeders.

"Hopefully, this sign and the neighborhood's part will influence them as adult drivers, or as parents of drivers," to drive more slowly, said James.

Right now, the sign is being moved from place to place so several drivers will see it, but the city is planning to help the project by placing signs in four or five strategic locations, James said.

For inquiries about the program, contact James at 886-2335.

"Every man is like the company he keeps."

Slow Down

Drive slow -- that's the message that city officials and neighborhoods in Prestonsburg want to tell drivers, by using the sign above on back streets. According to City Administrator Freddie James, many drivers are using back streets as detours to avoid heavily-used intersections.

With heavy hearts we turn to God
To find relief from sorrow,
We pray for strength and courage
As we face each new tomorrow—
Then, from within, we hear a voice
That sets our spirits free,
"Be comforted, live now in faith,
Your loved one is with Me."

We, the family of Clinton Ray "Punky" Collins, Jr., want to take this opportunity to try and thank all that came to our rescue during the tragic loss of Punky.
We truly loved him so much, but now realize he was loved by so many more.
A special thank you the Little Rosa Church, the different denominations, the Left Beaver Rescue Squad, the Hall Funeral Home, the many friends and neighbors that did anything in so many ways, it would be impossible to list them all.
A very special thanks for the beautiful songs that were sung by the church, and the senior girls. Most of all, for the many ministers for their heart felt comforting words.
You may never know just how much we loved each of you and appreciate all you've done.

Nursing Concepts Course Offered

Our Lady of the Way Hospital is offering a course titled "Current Concepts in IV and Transfusion Therapy" at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, on Monday, Sept. 26, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

According to Naewana Nickles, spokeswoman for OLWH, the course is designed for registered and licensed practical nurses who do acute care, long-term care, home health, out-patient care and hospice work. The Kentucky Board of Nursing awards five continuing education contact hours to participants who successfully complete the program.

Nickles said the course focuses on the safe administration of IV therapy and blood transfusions. Administration standards, adverse reactions, and various venous access devices will be discussed. Pediatric considerations in IV therapy will also be covered.

Participants will learn protocol for safely administering IV therapy in home settings; principles of safe and effective administration of IV solutions, blood and blood products; appropriate use and care of indwelling venous access devices; signs and symptoms of adverse reactions to intravenous and transfusion therapy; and nursing care specific to pediatric patients receiving IV therapy.

The course will be taught by members of the Cabell-Huntington Hospital team.

Participants must pre-register for the course no later than Sept. 23, said Nickles. For more information, contact her at 285-3909 or write Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Education Department, P.O. Box 910, Martin, KY 41649.

Gravel Removed; Couple Wants It Back

When Dennis and Janice DeBoard came back from a trip in June 1987, they found the road in front of their house on Campbell Branch had been blacktopped by the county, but part of their driveway was missing.

A grader, which is used to level off the road before asphalt is laid, had stripped all the gravel off the end of the DeBoard's driveway, Janice DeBoard said.

The DeBoards said they went many times to talk to District 1 Magistrate Gerald DeRossett before they took the county to small claims court.

Since then, they have talked to County Judge Executive John M. Stumbo, Circuit Court Judge Harold Stumbo, DeRossett, and County Attorney David Barber, and their response was that they were coming

"tomorrow," said the DeBoards.

A judgment issued in April ordered the county to repair the damage done to the driveway.

"It's five months later, and the driveway is still as bad as it was," DeBoard said.

Officials offered once to put railroad gravel on the driveway, but have not offered anything else since the case went to court, DeBoard said.

During last week's rain, dirt runoff from the DeBoard's driveway clogged a culvert in front of their house and their neighbors have been complaining about the driveway washing into the road, DeBoard said.

County Judge Executive John M. Stumbo said that the road department does the ditching during the dry periods, then blacktopping in the summer, then graveling.

"We're working on the graveling right now, and will be there (at the DeBoard's) in the next few days," Stumbo said.

ASCS Is Accepting Program Applications

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will be accepting applications for the Emergency Conservation Program through Sept. 23, according to local ASCS officials.

The ECP will offer cost-sharing to livestock producers to alleviate conservation problems on farmland caused by this summer's drought.

Only those farms where adequate livestock facilities or systems existed prior to the drought will be considered. The problem must be a direct result of the drought. Only applicants determined by the County Committee not to have adequate financial resources to install needed measures without assistance will be approved.

No measures begun prior to filing an application will be approved, added officials. However, once the application is filed, the producer may begin work, but may later be found ineligible.

Cost-sharing has been authorized for installing pipelines from existing water sources for immediate needs; developing springs or seeps; cleaning out, deepening or constructing wells for livestock water. Only measures which represent the least expensive means of providing livestock water will be approved.

For more information, contact the Knott/Floyd ASCS office, 785-5402, or

AIB Courses Planned In Prestonsburg

Morehead State University, in conjunction with the Kentucky Mountain Study Group, will offer three American Institute of Banking (AIB) courses this fall in Prestonsburg.

The courses are designed for bank employees wishing to meet the requirements for the AIB's General Banking Diploma, and do not carry college credit, according to Wilson C. Grier, MSU campus coordinator for the program.

Registration is underway for classes which begin the week of Sept. 19. Participants must pre-register with either their local bank training officer, or by calling the campus coordinator's office at MSU, 783-2077.

The classes carry three AIB credit hours each, and will be taught from 6 to 8:30 p.m. at a location to be announced later.

The Prestonsburg schedule includes:

"Money and Banking," covering such topics as money and economic activity, bank operations and payments mechanism, monetary theory, international banks and major trends and issues in banking. The course will be taught Mondays by Butch Bradley, marketing director of the First Commonwealth Bank.

"Marketing for Bankers," designed to explain the concept of marketing and dealing with such topics as consumer motivation and buying behavior, as well as public relations and communication. It will be taught Tuesdays by Bradley.

"Accounting Principles I," will cover current accounting practices and procedures from the accounting environment to accounting theory and partnerships. The course will be taught Wednesdays by Phillip Elliott, assistant vice president and chief financial officer with First Commonwealth.

Students who earned at least nine hours in the AIB's Foundations of Banking Diploma program by Jan. 1, 1987, may still elect to complete that program as long as the requirements are met by July 1, 1989.

"The General Banking Diploma offered by AIB is designed to introduce students to banking's role in the US economy and to specific banking functions," explained Greer. "It is an excellent way for banking employees to develop knowledge and practical skills related to basic banking services."

Service Will Be Spotlights

Prestonsburg's community-minded citizens will be recognized and rewarded for their hard work in a special way beginning this week, through a service award program initiated by Tom Slack, manager of Wendy's Restaurant.

According to Slack, an outstanding citizen will be chosen each week, with the group featured monthly in the Floyd County Times. Winners will receive certificates from area businesses and other gifts, as well as a free dinner for themselves and their families from Wendy's.

Joining in the cooperative program will be a number of local civic organizations, which will choose the outstanding citizen on a rotating basis. At least one September honoree will be chosen by the Rotary Club. Those chosen are not required to be a member of the organization that selects them for the award.

Slack said local merchants will be donating prizes, and Pepsi will be a major sponsor of the recognition program.

Local citizens who have donated time, effort and outstanding service to the community will be eligible. Slack added that organizations participating in the program may later choose a person of the quarter and a person of the year.

Commonwealth Designates Three LUTC Fellows

Commonwealth Life Insurance Company officials announced that Life Underwriter Training Council Fellow (LUTCFF) designation has been conferred on three life underwriters at the Kentucky Mountain Agency.

They are account representatives Dan Combs, Joe Derossett and Larry Jones.

The LUTC Fellow designation is conferred upon life underwriters who meet qualification standards and who are members of a local association of the National Association of Life Underwriters during the year of conferment, according to officials with Commonwealth Insurance.

The Kentucky Mountain Agency office is located at 24-B Richmond Plaza, Prestonsburg.

Founded in 1904, Commonwealth Insurance has assets of more than $3 billion and more than $13 billion of life insurance coverage in force. Commonwealth is an affiliate of Capital Holding Corporation, one of the nation's 10 largest stockholder-owned life insurance organizations.

Prestonsburg Hearing Seeks Public Opinion

The Department for Environmental Protection is developing an overall plan to protect the state's land, air and water, and is asking the public for help.

Officials are seeking public comment on several questions during a series of 12 hearings, including one planned Oct. 1 from 10 to 3:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn on US 23 near Prestonsburg.

Opinions are sought on the following:
What the public perceives to be the environmental problems in Kentucky;

What the public thinks the department should do about the problems; and How resources available for environmental protection can be used to realize maximum benefits.

Dr. Jim Corum, commissioner of the department, said he believes the public wants to share responsibility for protecting the state's land, air and water.

"Recent events, such as infectious waste washing up on beaches and problems with the drought this summer, have pushed environmental issues to the fore," said Corum.

Clarification

Due to a typing error in a story concerning the Left Beaver Volunteer Fire Department last week, the Times reported all but $3,000 has been paid on a new $63,000 truck recently purchased.

All but $13,000 of the amount has been paid.

Hospital Earns Reaccreditation

Our Lady of the Way Hospital (OLWH) has been awarded a three-year certificate of accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations.

The hospital's administration received notice of reaccreditation Tuesday, Sept. 7.

"Accreditation shows our commitment to the community in keeping up the quality of our care," commented OLWH's quality assurance and risk manager, Cindy Kidd. "It also means we're voluntarily meeting standards which are recognized nationally as high quality."

Our Lady of the Way Hospital initiated the accreditation process by inviting JCAHO surveyors to visit the hospital and review its performance and services. Four surveyors visited the facility April 26-29. Barbara Senter, a medical technologist, surveyed OLWH's medical laboratory; Dr. Jack Benson, registered nurse Patricia Neal and Austin Evans, an administrator, surveyed the rest of the hospital.

This was the first year JCAHO surveyors expanded what was formerly a one-day visit to four days. The purpose of the extended visit was to increase the educational component of the accreditation process, said Kidd. The professional consultations, which are used to evaluate the hospital's performance, are thereby opportunities for improvement also.

JCAHO is a leader of voluntary efforts to maintain and improve the quality of healthcare in America. JCAHO promotes quality care by working with healthcare experts to develop professional standards which reflect current healthcare practice, by applying standards during on-site surveys and by awarding accreditation to facilities that meet the intent of the standards.

Our Lady of the Way Hospital has been accredited by JCAHO since 1957.

Literacy Tutor Training: Rewarding Experience

Literacy Tutors

Sister Mary Gervase and Charles Wilson are two of the people in the area actively working to combat illiteracy in the area through teaching adults to read.

By L.J. Cooley
(Editor's Note: This is the first of a two-part series.)

Although the morning was beginning to cloud up, the sound coming from the meeting room at the Christian Appalachian Project was full of sunny optimism, as Sister Mary Gervase and literacy volunteer tutor Charles Wilson told how they and many others are teaching adults to read for the first time.

It all begins with the literacy volunteer tutor.

Many volunteers find out about the training programs "mostly by word of mouth. Someone takes the training and then tells someone else," said sister Gervase, who is coordinator of the Christian Appalachian Adult Education Advancement Program.

Gervase, with her gentle face and heart, told how she became involved in CAP's literacy program in 1984.

"I felt the call to the area," Gervase said. "I was in the area in 1976 and I loved the people and wanted to come back.

"Anybody that's willing to give up their time to take the training and has a sensitivity to the non-reader is the ideal volunteer," Gervase said.

Many times, the literacy volunteer will tutor someone they already know, or is matched with strangers, but both live in the same area, explained Gervase.

"A lot of people are afraid they can't teach someone to read, but once they take a training course they find out they can," Gervase said.

"Tutors come from all walks of life," she added.

Charles Wilson is one of those who teach.

Although he is not a native of Appalachia, he is helping in his own way to combat illiteracy here. Wilson, a caring-natured man, has been a tutor for over a year and is the director of the Baptist Center in Wheelwright.

"I saw literacy as a need among people I work with, and they saw it, so I decided to get involved," Wilson said.

Wilson says the education of the tutor starts with looking through the study books of the student and getting used to thinking what it is like to learn to read. That shows where to put emphasis in teaching.

Students learn to read using phonetics, or by learning to sound out words.

"I have been more aware of the word structure in the language," Wilson said of using phonetics. He added that he didn't learn to read using phonetics, so he is learning even more as he teaches his student.

"I found it helpful to look at it through the educational framework — from the student's standpoint," he said.

Charlotte Keathley of Abbott Creek and Harry Hale of Baltimore won this year's event.

Disaster Relief Program Provisions Are Announced

Farmers adversely affected by the 1988 drought may soon be able to apply for disaster payments through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, according to local ASCS officials.

Disaster payments will be made applicable to corn and soybeans; any crop which is being produced for commercial purposes (including hay) and tobacco.

Officials said farmers will be required to comply with provisions of the Sodbuster/Swampbuster Act and to file a complete report of planted acreage, if he or she has not already done so. In addition, a fee will be charged for corn reports filed late. Grain and soybean crops may need to be appraised, so producers are asked to contact the ASC Office before harvesting or disposing of crops.

Producers of other crops will be required to furnish satisfactory evidence of the disposition of the crop, but no appraisal will be required.

For more information, contact the Prestonsburg ASCS office at 886-3128; or in Hindman, at 785-5402.

Council Addresses Liquor By Drink

Burgess said he was unhappy with the thoroughness of the investigation and treatment he and his wife received when the calls were made.

City Administrator Freddie James told Burgess that he had looked into the matter.

In a separate issue, the council approved a litter prevention ordinance.

The ordinance will prohibit general littering, as well as sweeping litter into gutters by residents or merchants, posting handbills on public property or rights-of-way, or littering private property.

In addition, the ordinance will require all businesses in the city which provide drive-through windows or carry-out food sales to display signs reminding customers not to litter. The signs will be provided to businesses by the city at no charge.

Violations of the litter ordinance may result in fines of up to $100. The ordinance was passed unanimously.

In other business, the council again addressed health insurance coverage for its employees. The city's Personnel Committee met earlier, and recommended to accept a quote from Blue Cross/Blue Shield for $200 deductible, $76.39 single monthly rate, and $217.72 family monthly rate, utilizing the same coverage as the previous year.

"I don't think anybody was happy with this," said Vance, a member of the committee. "I don't think anyone wanted the employees to have to pick up any of the cost, but we decided there had to be a stopping point somewhere, because of escalating premiums."

The proposal would have required employees utilizing the family plan to pay a small portion of the premiums.

However, following further discussion, the council voted to pay the full amount at present, and consider employee contributions in the future.

The council voted unanimously to pay the full amount.

The council also voted unanimously to allow all police officers to drive police cruisers to their residences when off duty; previously, only those officers living within five miles of the city were allowed to do so.

Callihan made the recommendation, pointing out that the program has worked well with those officers allowed to take vehicles home. He added that each officer carries a substantial amount of equipment each day, adding, "When you start moving things around like that, you're subject to lose a police report that you haven't completed."

Goebel, pointing out that he had originally opposed allowing officers to drive the vehicles home, said that he was also in favor of the change.

"The cars have been kept in A-1 shape. From what they've shown us, I'd be 110 percent for this," said Goebel.

He added that maintenance costs have decreased substantially, because members of the force have performed virtually all maintenance on the vehicles.

Schools Not Academically Bankrupt

chairman of the Floyd Board of Education, publicly welcomed help from the state department and curriculum audit, and Adams commented that it was a step in the right direction, Parks said.

Representatives from the Floyd County Education Forum also attended the meeting, and indicated that they were willing to work with Hager and the Floyd County board, Parks said.

At the program committee meeting Tuesday morning, the department accreditation staff presented its report, Parks said.

The report said that the major deficiencies in food services and transportation cited in the 1983 accreditation report were fully corrected, and the shortage of textbooks for students and number of classes being taught by teachers not certified in that subject have improved greatly, Parks said.

The report also said the Floyd system was still deficient in building, conditions, industrial arts programs and programs for handicapped children, but significant progress had been made by local officials.

The state board's actions appear to indicate that the Floyd system will not be declared academically bankrupt in the immediate future, and allows some latitude in correcting major deficiencies.

Previously, some state board members unexpectedly proposed declaring the Floyd system academically bankrupt because of continued mismanagement.

The statute permits the state board to seize control of districts that repeatedly fail to correct problems within certain timetables. As a last resort, the law also authorizes the state to remove local board members, the superintendent or other superiors.

Under the law, school districts with problems such as low achievement test scores, poor attendance records and high dropout rates are required to create a plan to correct the deficiencies.

Thus far, the 1984 statute has not been tested in Kentucky.

16-Month-Old Susanne Smith's Surgery Thursday

Little Susanne Smith is being tested today in preparation for her rescheduled heart surgery Thursday at Kosair Children's Hospital in Louisville.

Susanne, the 16-month-old daughter of Ron and Janie Smith of Langley, was born with multiple heart defects and is undergoing her fifth operation to correct a vessel leading from her heart.

She was to have undergone surgery earlier this month, but developed a virus and rash, and the surgery was postponed.

"She was such a high risk, they wanted everything just right for the operation," said her grandmother, Marcella Bailey.

Bailey said that Susanne is doing fine — talking, eating, and being

"just a happy baby."

A fund has been established at First

Guaranty Bank to help pay for Susanne's medical costs.

Two Slightly Injured In Auto Accident

Margaret A. Blackburn, Rhonda Blackburn and Stephanie Goble received minor injuries Friday, Sept. 9, in a two-vehicle accident at the intersection of Branham Street and US 23 in Prestonsburg.

According to the Kentucky State Police, Mark E. Combs, 19, of Mousie, was crossing US 23 from Branham Street at approximately 3 p.m., when he pulled into the path of a vehicle driven by Margaret Blackburn, 48, of Endicott.

Blackburn and her passengers were taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center, where they were treated and released.

Fire Blazes

Neighbors started hosing down the Isaac house to keep the fire from spreading, but the fire-blazed and spread, Craft said.

"What would we do without our neighbors?" Bernadine Isaac said later. She added damages to the house were estimated at $20,000.

"We were afraid we were going to lose them both," Sturgill said.

When Auxier fire fighters arrived, all they could do was keep the fire from spreading further, he said. By noon, it was under control.

"Nobody got hurt — that's the important thing," Isaac said.

Strong Second Half Powers Blackcats To Victory At BL

Prestonsburg had failed to find a way to win in its first three games. Betsy Layne, with a weaker schedule than that of the Blackcats, had managed to squeeze out one victory in its three previous starts.

Early season expectations had taken a turn from enthusiasm to heart-breaking, but when they met Friday night, either Prestonsburg or Betsy Layne would find a more successful outcome.

For everyone who enjoyed the night, there was another who suffered from it. The Bobcats proved to be the latter, and when Prestonsburg scored three second half touchdowns, Betsy Layne supporters went away from Mile High Field feeling the disappointment of a 21-0 loss.

Tailback Dennis Smith scored Prestonsburg's first touchdown early in the third quarter, going over from 14 yards out, and quarterback Tim Trusty added scoring runs of 1 yard and 2 yards to lead the Blackcats to victory.

"We really had a great defensive effort tonight," Prestonsburg Head Coach Bill Letton said after the game, his first win as a Blackcat coach.

"We finally put two halves together," Letton added. "We didn't score any points in the first half, but our defense kept us in it until we could get our offense together."

The Blackcat defense held Betsy Layne to less than 100 yards in the first half, but the Bobcats didn't help themselves offensively, committing several mistakes that eliminated possible scoring opportunities.

"They outplayed us in the second half. What they did worked. We just didn't do what we had practiced," Bobcat Head Coach Vince Tucker said. "We had a chance to get on top of them in the first quarter. We went for a field goal, but it didn't work."

The Bobcats, running several option passes and misdirected plays, connected on a tight end pass from Kevin Spurlock, who recently joined the team, to back Brian Osborne, moving Betsy Layne from the Prestonsburg 49 to their 10.

But from there, the biggest play was a 1-yard gainer on a fumble. Quarterback Craig Hunter lost 1 yard, and an incomplete pass brought about a fourth and 10.

The Bobcats were certainly in field goal position, but an illegal participation call pushed them back five yards, and the 32-yard field goal attempt sailed just wide left, and Betsy Layne had missed its scoring chance with 10:25 left in the second quarter.

Although the first half was a non-scoring one, it wasn't without excitement and successful plays.

One of those came on the first play from scrimmage of the game. Smith, after Prestonsburg took the opening kickoff on its own 23, broke loose for a 35-yard scamper. But like so many after it, the play was called back because of a penalty.

The illegal block call put the Blackcats back on their 13, but fullback Kevin Dotson got them out of the hole with a 15-yard run. The Blackcats moved the ball to the Betsy Layne 44, when Trusty hit split end Jamie Howell with a 15-yard completion, but Prestonsburg fumbled the football away on the next play.

Three plays and 7 yards later, the Bobcats gave it back to Prestonsburg when Jimmy Nelson recovered a Betsy Layne fumble on the Blackcat 46.

Prestonsburg mounted one of its few sustained drives, moving the football to the Bobcat 17, helped along by a 20-yard burst by Dotson, but gave the football back on downs when a fourth and 16 reverse to Ray Collins came up 12 yards shy of a first down.

The Blackcats, rolling up 137 yards in the first half, failed to find the end zone until the 8:21 mark of the third period — and they needed a blocked put to get that.

Betsy Layne, which was penalized for over 100 yards in the game, moved the opening third quarter kickoff out to their own 36, but a personal foul on third and four pushed them way back.

The Blackcats, when Betsy Layne was forced to punt, blocked the kick and took over on the Betsy Layne 22. After Aaron Flannery, who ran for 46 yards on eight carries, took Prestonsburg to the 12 with a 10-yard-run, the Blackcats were moved back to their 17. But on a second and 12 play, after heading off to his left, Smith cut back across the line, picked up a couple blocks along the way and out-sprinted the Betsy Layne defense to the end zone. Smith, a 5'9" 140-pound senior, had 48 yards on the ground, despite having lost gains totaling 43 yards due to penalties.

Prestonsburg, which scored all three times via the ground, was led in rushing by senior fullback Dotson, who carried 10 times for 68 yards.

"We ran the ball more," Letton said of his team's approach to the game. "We thought we needed to establish a running game. We haven't been a real good running team, but we put it together tonight. I'm real pleased with the effort."

One example to truly explain Prestonsburg's preference to run the football, instead of throwing it Friday night, was that Tim Trusty ran for more yards than he threw for. The senior quarterback was averaging over 100 yards per game, through the air, but against the Bobcats, he ran for more yards — 48 — than he got passing. Trusty hit on three of his seven passes, with at least two easy catches dropped, for 31 yards.

Betsy Layne was led on the ground by Chris Kidd, who ran for 56 yards on 16 carries. The Bobcats' passing game was five for eight for 60 yards. Spurlock, Kidd and QB Craig Hunter (Continued on next page)

RUNNING WILD: Mickey Parsons was loose and free for most of Saturday's contest. Parsons ran for over 200 yards and two touchdowns in Allen Central's win over Magoffin County.

Rebels Get Breaks In Win Over Magoffin County 15-13 Saturday

The Magoffin County Hornets had every chance to claim their first varsity football win ever, but missed scoring opportunities early and late. Allen Central took advantage of each Hornet mistake, and rode the legs of tailback Mickey Parsons to a 15-13 victory Saturday.

The Hornets, now 0-4 in their initial gridiron season, twice had the football inside the Allen Central 20 in the first half, and again in the fourth quarter they drove deep into enemy territory on two separate occasions, but each time came away scoreless.

"We didn't play well in the first half," Magoffin County Head Coach Spike Berkthimer said after the game. "We made some mistakes and some bad decisions. We should have scored 14 points in the first half."

Magoffin County, on its second possession of the game, drove to the Allen Central 2 yard line, but turned it over when Jamie Hall recovered a fumble for the Rebels.

The Hornets, gaining more yardage in the air than on the ground, had, on their initial offensive drive, connected on a long pass play when quarterback Scott Sconley hit tight end Scott Howard with a 34-yard completion. However, the play was called back because of a holding call, and instead of having it on the AC 15, Magoffin County was back on the 44.

"They did what they had to do and we did what we had to do. They made some mistakes and we made some mistakes," Donnie Daniels, Allen Central's head coach, said. "A game

Rebels Win First...

(Continued from previous page) like this one could go either way, and any kind of victory in that situation is sweet. I don't care who it's against."

The game could certainly have gone the other way. In fact, Magoffin County had no less than three chances to take a lead in the final few minutes of the fourth quarter — two of them in the final three minutes.

The Hornets, after recovering a Parsons fumble on the Allen Central 29, moved inside the Rebel 5 yard line, but a field goal attempt was deflected by Brian Meadows. With just over 31 seconds left in the game, Magoffin County, after stopping Allen Central on three running plays, got a long punt return from Mike Ratliff, and moved to the Rebels' 24 yard line. Conley, who hit on nine of his 12 passing attempts for 120 yards, connected with Scott Howard on a 5-yard gainer.

With only 2 seconds remaining on the clock, the Hornets attempted a 41-yard field goal which came up well short, enabling Allen Central to pull out its first win of the season.

"We played hard and we played inspired football. Maybe this will help us get ready for Raceland," Daniels said, mentioning his team's contest Friday night against the Rams.

Magoffin County, which had only 68 yards of total offense in the first half, fell behind 12-0 before they could get any points on the board.

Parsons, who had almost as many yards rushing as the Hornets had as a team, scored both of Allen Central's touchdowns, and Jamie Hall booted a 27-yard field goal to lead the Rebels to the win, their third in the past three seasons.

Parsons, who was held in check on his first four carries (gaining only three yards), rushed the football 28 times for 206 yards, enjoying the biggest day of his high school career. The junior tailback scored the Rebels' first touchdown on a 1-yard run with 2:46 remaining in the second quarter, capping off a seven play drive in which Parsons ran all seven times. The Rebels were helped out by two off-sides penalties on Magoffin County, and Parsons had runs of 34 and 12 yards.

Allen Central had another opportunity to score in the first half when defensive back Jeff Fitch picked off a Conley pass and returned it to the Hornet 9, but the Magoffin County defense held, and the Rebels came away scoreless as their field goal attempt was blocked.

The Rebels caught Magoffin County in a defensive mix-up to start the second half, and made up for the earlier missed opportunity.

"In the second half, we made a terrible defensive call," Berkheimer said, explaining a Rebel scoring play. "The kids ran a different play than the one we had called. Both linebackers charged inside and they broke it up the middle. He was on our safety before we knew it."

On their first play from scrimmage in the third quarter, Allen Central found paydirt when Parsons broke loose on a 65-yard touchdown run.

Trailing 12-0, Magoffin County was on the verge of getting blown out, especially when the Rebels recovered a fumble on the Hornet 44.

Allen Central, with 8:55 remaining in the third period, mounted an offensive drive that took them to the Hornet 17. Magoffin County rose to the occasion, however, at least on one play. Faced with a third and eight, B.J. Aldrich, who also had an impressive day throwing the football, dropped back to pass, but when the pigskin popped off the hands of an Allen Central receiver, Mike Ratliff picked it off, and raced 89 yards to the end zone.

But again, Allen Central answered the challenge. They took the ensuing kickoff on their own 23, marched 67 yards on 10 plays, and when the drive stalled on the Magoffin County 10, they even kicked a field goal.

The Rebels had earlier failed on three extra point and field goal attempts, but Daniels called upon Jamie Hall one last time, and this time the senior made the move a successful one.

During the drive, Aldrich, who completed seven of 11 passes for 92 yards, hit Hall and Ronnie Collins for gains of 26 and 9 yards respectively.

Hall, who also recovered a fumble, caught four passes for 65 yards, and had one wiped out because of a holding penalty.

Hall's fumble recovery came in the first quarter after Magoffin County had moved to the Rebel 2 yard line.

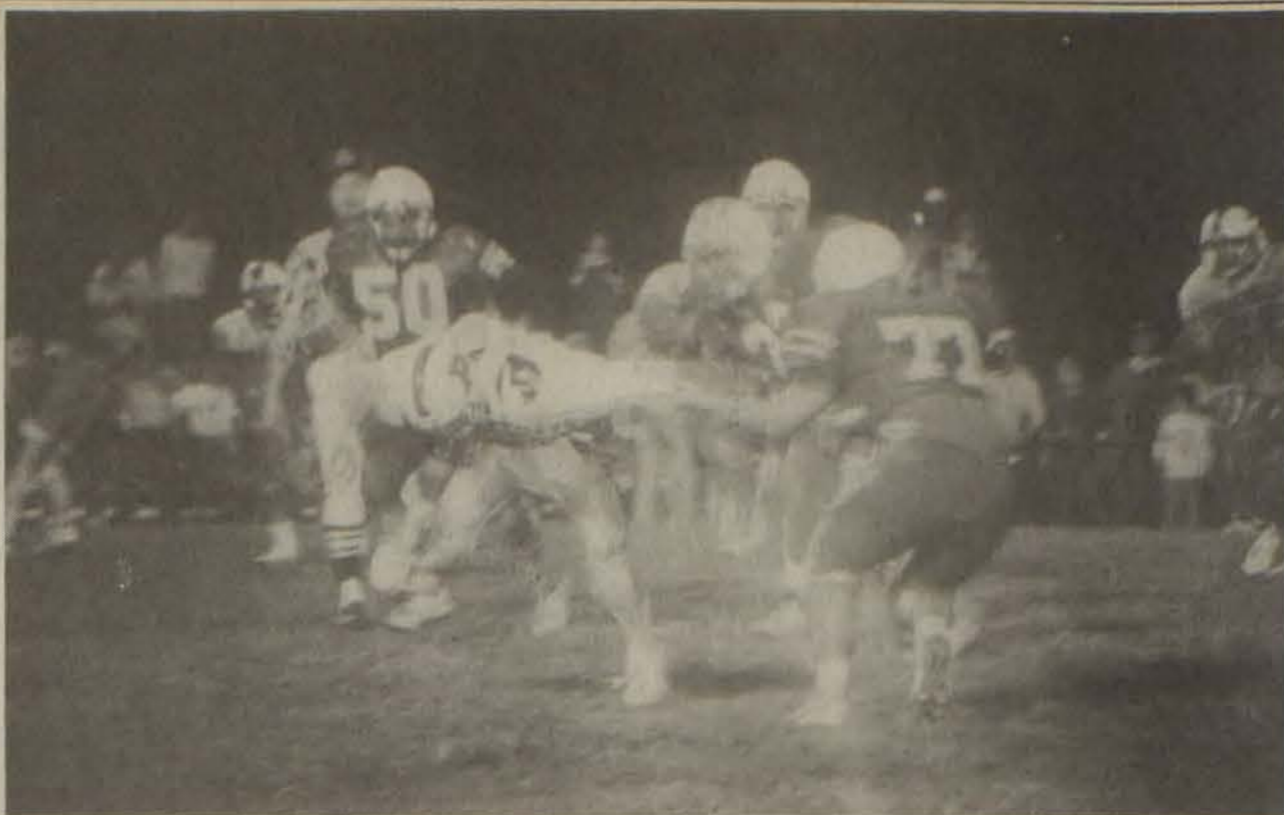

"We ran an option down there. Our quarterback should have turned it up, but he decided to pitch it and it didn't work," Berkheimer said.

Conley, rounding the corner, pitched out to his running back, but the football hit the turf and Hall went down on top of it.

The junior quarterback, though, enjoyed a big day. He later threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Jeremy Salyer for Magoffin County's final score. At one point, Conley threw seven consecutive completions. Scott Howard caught four of Conley's attempts for 36 yards, and Jeremy Salyer hauled down two for 24 yards. Garland Broadstone led the Hornets' ground game, which netted only 92 yards. He had 45 of those on eight carries.

Allen Central, 1-3, takes to the road Friday for a district contest against Raceland. The Rebels' game against Magoffin County was their first ever home game on their own field.

The Hornets play at Harlan Friday night. Harlan is undefeated this season, after going 0-10 last year.

JERSEY PULL: Betsy Layne defensive lineman Dwayne Akers holds on to the jersey of tailback Aaron Flannery, bringing the ball carrier to the ground.

Strong Second Half...

The Bobcat defense held Prestonsburg to 125 yards in the second half, but the blocked punt and a fumble led to Blackcat scoring drives of 22 and 24 yards. The longest Prestonsburg drive of the night came late in the third quarter, when they moved the pigskin 64 yards on eight plays. The Bobcats were flagged for a personal foul and face mask after Prestonsburg got deep into their territory.

"They put it all together in the second half," Tucker said of Prestonsburg. "The few plays they ran worked real well for them."

Betsy Layne, 1-3 and 0-1 in district play, takes to the road Friday, travelling to Inez to take on the Sheldon Clark Cardinals. Prestonsburg, also on the road, will be in Paintsville to take on the undefeated Tigers. Paintsville, 4-0, defeated Fairview 27-8 this past week, but allowed its perfect defense to be scored on.

The Tigers hadn't given up any points until Fairview scored on them this past week. Prestonsburg takes a 1-3 record into the contest.

Applications Available For Goose—Duck Hunts

By Norm Minch
Application forms for goose hunting at the Ballard and Sloughs wildlife management areas (WMAs) are now available from the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Dates for the goose hunts at Ballard will be December 12 — January 28, and ducks may be taken December 12 — January 4. Goose hunting dates for the Sloughs WMA are December 10 — January 28, and ducks may be taken December 10 — January 4. Hunters will be asked to indicate a first choice and alternate choice of hunting dates. Hunters will be drawn for only one hunt at each area.

To request an application for goose hunts at Ballard or Sloughs WMAs write: Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Wildlife Division, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Ballard WMA hunts will be for a maximum of two days (excluding Sundays and Christmas Day) while Sloughs WMA hunts will be for a half-week segment, either Monday through Thursday of Friday through Sunday. The deadline is September 30 for both Ballard and Sloughs WMA goose hunt applications.

Hunters may apply only once for the random drawing on either WMA. More than one application from the same hunter for a single area will disqualify his application. Hunters must apply individually.

At the Sloughs WMA, if drawn hunters do not occupy their blind or pit by legal shooting hours, it becomes a public blind on a first-come, first-served basis.

Non-toxic steel shot is required for all waterfowl hunting on both wildlife management areas and hunters may not possess lead shot or steel shot larger than size F while hunting. Hunters under the age of 18 must be accompanied by an adult.

Hunting hours at Ballard WMA are from sunrise to 12 noon, and from sunrise to 2 p.m. at Sloughs WMA. All hunters are required to report their waterfowl harvest efforts on forms provided at each wildlife management area office.

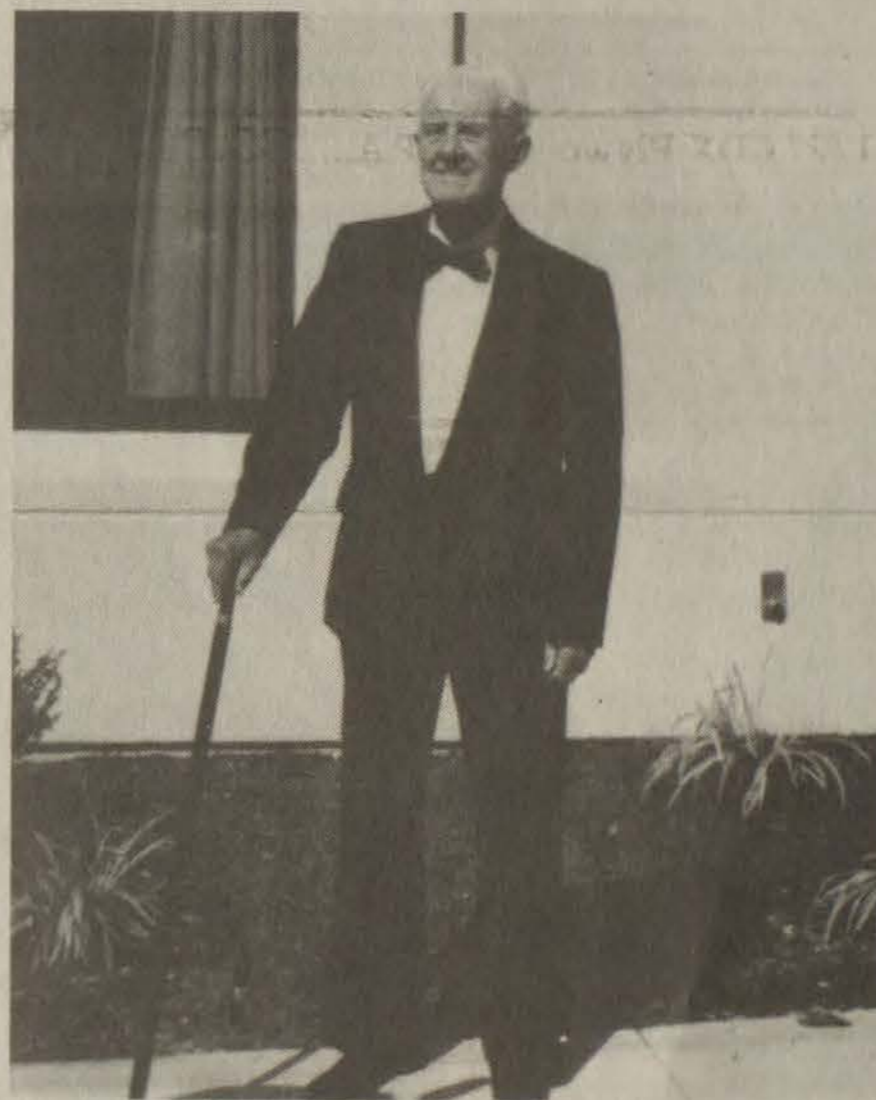

Ballard WMA is located in Ballard County along the Ohio River bordering Illinois. The Henderson/Sloughs WMA is located in Henderson and Union counties along the Ohio River bordering Indiana.

The Sporting Times

Wherever you are, those of you who were crudely referred to as scabs during last year's strike, hit the weights and the road. Be quick about it, too, because your services may be needed again soon.

The NFL, grand in its intentions and bold in its actions, has taken direct measures to curb drug use in professional football. But the league may have embarked on a much bigger adventure than it first planned for.

In less than six weeks, the NFL, in fulfilling its drug rules and regulations, has suspended several players, including bigtimers such as Richard Dent, Dexter Manley and Bruce Smith. If the trend continues, it may force owners to recall some of 1987's replacement players.

Well, maybe not. Players aren't leaving in strike-line numbers, but the league has placed plenty of performers on the 30-day list, and some on the 12-month plan.

The NFL kicked off its "clean-up" campaign in 1986, establishing its ground work toward a drug-free football world. Even though they knew it was coming, some still failed to take necessary precautions.

The league, according to the program, gives first-time offenders a chance to clean themselves of the dreaded substances, but the second time brings a 30-day suspension. So far this season, 16 players have been given 30-day suspensions, several of whom are impact players. New York Giants' linebacker Lawrence Taylor, possibly the most valuable defensive player in the league, was suspended, then refused to enter a rehab center.

The suspension does not subtract time until the player seeks professional help. As of Friday, though, Taylor had shown no interest in finding that help.

Dent, a star on the Chicago Bears' defensive line, was suspended because of his refusal to take the required drug test. He and Bears' teammate Calvin Thomas were suspended Wednesday.

Indianapolis Colts' running back Tony Collins, a former New England Patriot, was given a 1-year suspension. He was a third-time offender.

Of the 17 suspended, nine played defense with five playing along defensive lines. Offensively, five of the eight were running backs. No quarterbacks have been suspended this season.

That last factor, though, could hurt the chances anyone had of naming their 1988 all-drug suspension team. But just take a look at that defense, and maybe you think we could go without a true quarterback.

Although a couple could be moved from the line to possibly the linebacker spot, the defensive line would certainly rival those of "all-time greats" fame.

Dent has the speed to play at linebacker, and we could use him in the fashion of a Carl Mecklinburg. He'll join Taylor, and Cincinnati's Emanuel King, in the middle of our defense.

The Raiders' Greg Townsend would have to move inside to a tackle position, leaving the defensive spots to Buffalo all-pro Bruce Smith and Manley. Denver defensive tackle Richard Reed would line up alongside Townsend in this 4-3 setup.

Our defensive backfield would be a bit weak. Only two backs, Bengal Daryl Smith and Seahawk Terry Taylor, have been penalized due to the drug matter. But an offensive backfield of Collins, White and Buffalo's Rob Riddick would be explosive and powerful. Oh, heck — we've just got two offensive linemen.

What's that? Some of these guys such as Riddick, Reed, Townsend and Manley are back with their own teams?

We probably don't have rights to them anymore, but how about an expansion draft? We'll take some replacement players, as long as they can't avoid failing a test they know is coming, when it is coming, and what they need to do to pass it.

More will come along, and while we may be a bit shorthanded now, soon we'll have some for the whole season.

It might not be a bad idea at that. Establish a team, or a league if need be, for those who get suspended. Heck, let's make money, at least, from all this bad publicity football is getting.

It's OK, you know, to establish this team or league. After all, society couldn't control alcohol, so was legalized. Said something like, "We might as well tax it. They're going to sell it anyway."

Some say drugs are ruining football. Others say drugs are ruining the people of football. But it's hard to feel sorry for a man such as Lawrence Taylor. He's a wealthy man, but is he not a sick man?

How about Charles White? A former Heisman Trophy winner, White had seen his life turn back on itself until last season. He had been arrested because of cocaine. He struggled just to stay in football, and even when the sport gave him another chance he took advantage of it for only a short time.

Last season, after the league reinstated him and the LA Rams reinserted him, he led the whole NFL in rushing, proving to the world what the real Charles White could do. Or was it that this past week he proved what the real Charles White could do? He was suspended, reportedly because of alcohol. White, each day of his life, had to take a drug test. To a clean person, that's no problem, but White does have a problem, and it showed itself again.

The NFL, even though it was merely because of public pressure, took bold steps toward curbing the league's drug problem. But to subject its employees to such embarrassment may be a bit much, and won't go very far in solving the nation's drug problem.

It could be joked about, this suspension thing, or it could be taken seriously. But either way, it will change things little: probably about as much as the whole idea of drug testing will clean up professional football.

Carty Wins First Football Contest

Charles C. Carty of Prestonsburg won the initial Floyd County Times football contest, introduced in last week's issue. Carty claimed the winning prize of $25 by picking 10 of the 12 games correctly.

The only thing standing between him and a perfect 12-0 week was the Nebraska-UCLA contest, and an incorrect pick involving a county high school team.

The Times would like to encourage its readers to participate in the football contest, and expresses thanks to those who took part in the premiere outing.

Three other persons correctly selected nine teams, while several others finished 8-4.

Last week's winning teams were: Prestonsburg, Allen Central, Hazard, Western, Notre Dame, Vandy, Eastern, UCLA, Houston, Chicago, Cincinnati and San Francisco.

The smallest breed of dog is the Chihuahua. At maturity, this Mexican dog may weigh between two and four pounds, but some weigh no more than one pound.

SHORT SPORTS

Pete Green, a graduate of Prestonsburg High School, continued his tremendous football success Saturday afternoon when his Union College Bulldogs recorded a win over Mid-American Nazarene.

Greene, a Division II all-American candidate, caught eight passes in Union's 30-14 win, their first of the season.

The junior tight end had 121 yards in receptions and scored two touchdowns. Greene led Union in receptions last season while making the first team all-district squad.

In each of his previous two seasons as a Bulldog, he has been one of the team's best receivers, and is regarded as one of the nation's top Division II tight ends. Union, which rushed for over 200 yards, had over 400 yards in total offense. They are 1-1 on the season.

It might get a little easier for the University of Kentucky, but Indiana isn't exactly an easy win for anyone. The Wildcats, after playing Auburn toe-to-toe Saturday, travel to Indiana this week to take on the Hoosiers.

The Wildcats, 1-1, lost Saturday to Auburn 20-10 in a contest they could have won against the SEC's expected champion.

Kentucky, which utilized its passing game effectively, had the football deep in Auburn territory twice late in the game, but turned it over each time. The Cats passed for 182 yards and held the Tigers in check with their strong defense.

They will need another strong defensive effort this week against Indiana, which had 517 total yards in a 41-14 win over Rice this past Saturday.

Western Kentucky proved its preseason ranking of 17 in Division IAA was deserved Saturday, when they destroyed Morehead State 34-0 in Morehead.

The Hilltoppers, in their season opener, intercepted a Chris Swartz pass which led to their initial touchdown, and recovered an Eagle fumble to set up their second score. They never looked back after that, recording a shutout victory.

This week, Western travels to Middle Tennessee to take on the Blue Raiders, while Morehead State, 0-2, plays at Kentucky State.

Eastern Kentucky University, ranked third in IAA, will get a stern test this week when they travel to Marshall for a battle with the 11th-ranked Thundering Herd, Marshall, which defeated Morehead 30-17 in its season opener, defeated Ohio University 31-14 Saturday.

The Colonels, which defeated Delaware State at home, beat Marshall 37-34 last year in Richmond. The Thundering Herd, however, went on to reach the finals of the national championship. Marshall leads the series 7-6-1.

The University of Louisville and its supporters are looking toward the Memphis State contest as a cure-all for the illnesses they've been suffering already in this young season. The Cardinals, after leading in the third quarter, lost their season opener to Maryland, and this week was destroyed at home by Wyoming 44-9.

Wyoming intercepted three Jay Gruden passes enroute to the blowout. Louisville, 0-2, plays Memphis State at home this Saturday. Kickoff is set for 4 p.m.

Friday, the NCAA handed out penalties to the Texas A&M football program, citing recruiting infractions.

Texas A&M will not be eligible for any bowl appearances at the end of this season, and will be on probation for the following two seasons.

According to the NCAA, A&M recruits and their relatives were offered illegal awards if the recruit would attend the Texas school. The NCAA also limited the number of assistant coaches who could be involved in recruiting, and the number of times a recruit could visit the

We have less than two months before the Nov. 8th election. There is plenty of work to be accomplished. It won't be possible for me to meet each person and discuss the issues personally. I am working day and night, seven days a week in order to talk to as many people as possible. If I don't reach you "PLEASE" understand.

I am offering my services to this school district because I think I can make a difference. I have two children in the Floyd Co. School System and I have made a commitment to them. Our children are our most vital resource and Floyd County's future rests upon their shoulders. We have an obligation to see that these children get the education they need to carry us into the future.

I'm not seeking this position for personal gain. I'm offering this community a chance to elect a person that is interested in young people. I have thought long and hard about the problems in our school system. There are several issues that need to be addressed. Regardless of any negative comments you might hear in the next few weeks, remember one thing—I am the man you can count on to make a difference in your child's future.

Your vote and support is needed and will be greatly appreciated. If you have any questions please feel free to contact me at home in the evenings.

NFL News And Notes

Cody Carlson proved to be a master at bringing his team back. Joe Montana proved to be the master of his team, and the Cleveland Browns, last year's top AFC scoring team, is still looking for a touchdown, plus a healthy quarterback.

All three teams, the Oilers, 49ers, and Browns, went into battle Sunday without their number one quarterbacks, but as the story of week two unfolded, all except Cleveland enjoyed successful outings.

Carlson, filling in for the injured Warren Moon, threw two touchdown passes, and tailback Allen Pinkett, replacing injured Mike Rozier, ran for three scores as Houston rallied to defeat the LA raiders, 38-35.

Pinkett, from Notre Dame, crossed the goal line from 6 yards out with 31 seconds remaining, giving Houston a three-point advantage.

Steve Beuerlein passed for three touchdowns in the third quarter, but he is expected to return to Los Angeles' bench next week in favor of recently-acquired Jay Schroeder, a strong-armed passer formerly with Washington.

Carlson, who sent a message to the Oilers' coaching staff that they might have been using the wrong quarterback, was a fill-in who managed to handle the situation successfully.

Steve Young wasn't, though. Playing without Montana (suffering from a bruised elbow), the 49ers went with Young on the road against the New York Giants. Young, who has often proven himself a capable NFL quarterback, fumbled early in the game, which led to a Giants' touchdown, and he later gave way to Montana.

Late in the fourth quarter, Phil Simms threw to wide receiver Lionel Manuel to give New York a 17-14 lead. And, with 41 seconds remaining in the game and San Francisco on its own 22, the Giants looked to be in fine shape. But Montana immediately turned the tables when he connected with Jerry Rice for a game-winning touchdown.

But the Cleveland Browns, also heading into battle without their top signal caller, didn't enjoy the same type luck. In fact, after the 23-3 loss at home to the Jets, Cleveland was without its top two quarterbacks.

Kosar, the top-rated AFC passer last season, was injured in the season opener against Kansas City, and his replacement, veteran Gary Danielson, was forced from Sunday's contest with a broken ankle. If Kosar, who was expected to be out four to six weeks, can't return then, the Browns, 1-1, will start Mike Pagel, a seven-year veteran, Monday night at home against Indianapolis.

And the Cleveland Browns, most people's pick to win a conference title, could be in trouble in their own division. The Browns aren't being given much of a chance to beat the Colts with Pagel, and a loss could drop them two games behind the AFC Central leaders.

The Oilers are 2-0, and find themselves on top of the division heap along with the surprising Cincinnati Bengals. Behind southpaw quarterback Boomer Esiason, the Bengals have won their first two games, including Sunday's 28-24 upset of the Eagles in Philadelphia.

Esiason, whose four touchdowns brought his season total to seven, led the Bengals to the win by throwing two touchdown passes each to James Brooks and Tim McGee.

Cincinnati, also 2-0, dropped the Eagles to 1-1, but they didn't lose any ground in the NFC East because of the loss of the Giants to San Francisco.

Washington pulled even with both New York and Philadelphia by surviving at home against a surging Pittsburgh Steelers squad. The Steelers were all but written off in the playoff race because of a lack of a quality quarterback, but Sunday Bubby Brister proved he could do the job. Brister passed for 258 yards, and had the Steelers in front until a Washington field goal with 14 seconds remaining. Washington quarterback Doug Williams threw for 432 yards and two touchdowns.

The Chicago Bears, with lineman Richard Dent reinstated for the contest, kept its perfect record intact by defeating Indianapolis 17-13 on the road.

Jim McMahon, after a running into the kicker call, gave Chicago new life in the first quarter, threw 35 yards to Dennis Gentry for the first score of the game. Fullback Matt Suhey added a touchdown on a 2-yard run to lead the Bears.

Notes From Week Two: The Indianapolis Colts, Friday afternoon, acquired all-pro linebacker Freddie Young from Seattle for first round draft choices in 1989 and 1990. When the Miami Dolphins, still trying to score something besides a field goal, lost to Buffalo, it was the first time since 1969 that the Dolphins had lost their first two games to start a season. Tampa Bay's win over Green Bay broke a nine-game losing streak for the Bucs. Tony Dorsett, who left Dallas for Denver during the off-season, ran for 117 yards Sunday against San Diego, moving him past Franco Harris on the all-time leading rusher list. The Seattle Seahawks scored 28 points in the second quarter in their win over Kansas City. Greg Bell, replacing suspended Charles White, who replaced traded Eric Dickerson, ran for 121 yards as the LA Rams defeated Detroit, 17-10.

Games To Watch In Week Three: Several divisional matchups highlight the schedule for week three, including Minnesota at Chicago. It isn't sure whether Dent will be eligible for the game or not. Tommy Kramer is likely to start for the Vikings, who have won only one of the last nine against Chicago. Kramer threw for 209 yards Sunday, but Wade Wilson completed all five of his attempts.

Cincinnati at Pittsburgh: The Steelers are 1-1, but took Super Bowl Champion Washington to the end Sunday. Pittsburgh won both meetings last season, including a 13-point rally in the fourth quarter to edge the Bengals 23-20.

Indianapolis at Cleveland: A must win for the Colts. They've lost their first two games of the season, and a third may put them in a near-impossible contending situation. Bernie Kosar completed 21 of 30 passes as the Browns defeated Indianapolis 38-21 in the playoffs last season. But Kosar is out, and the Colts have added Young to an already-strong defense. The Browns, though, signed veteran Don Strock, who will be eligible for the game.

BY THE THROAT

A sore throat may be brought on by a wide variety of causes, ranging from yelling to cigarette smoke. In fact, so many causes exist for a sore-throat symptom that it is the leading complaint cited during visits to the doctor's office. Those who do not take their sore throat to the physician usually reach for the over-the-counter relief of sprays, gargles, mouthwashes, lozenges, and drops. While these forms of self-medication are fine for a mild sore-throat symptom, persistent sore throat warrants a look by the doctor. A severe sore throat accompanied by high fever, headaches, nausea, and/or vomiting may indicate a serious condition. When a person exhibits these symptoms, he should set aside the self-medication strategy for some professional help.

If you are not familiar with COOLEY APOTHECARY, chances are your neighbor is. Try our reliable service and hometown friendliness...we know you'll like the difference. Reds Watch '88...

Sabo Error, Hamilton Homer Sends Cincinnati Sad Message

He had saved 32 games, a National League high, in 33 chances. His earned run average was among the best in the Major League, and in the last 31 trips to the mound his ERA was 0.21.

But Sunday afternoon, when the Cincinnati Reds needed it most, reliever John Franco failed to be the savior, or even the saver, he had been all season.

Leading 3-2 heading into the bottom of the ninth inning, Pete Rose called upon his southpaw relief pitcher to secure an important win over division-leading Los Angeles. Franco, though, didn't receive much help from his defense, and the Dodgers took advantage of that to record a 5-3 win at home.

The Reds, needing a win just to stay within striking distance of L.A., overcame a 2-0 deficit and took a 3-2 advantage when shortstop Barry Larkin smacked a two-out RBI single in the seventh inning.

Tom Browning had held the Dodger hitters at bay, with the exception of two solo homeruns. The lefthander, looking for his 16th win, had retired the last 11 batters before leaving after the eighth inning. Browning had limited Los Angeles to only four hits.

Franco, who has missed only two save opportunities — both against L.A. — gave up a one-out single to Kurt Gibson, but then recorded a strike out for the second out of the inning.

But the next hitter, Lexington native John Shelby, bounced a ground ball over the third base bag. Chris Sabo made a diving stop, but his throw to first got through Dave Concepcion, allowing Gibson to score all the way from first with the tying run.

Jeff Hamilton, after working the full count, blasted a long homerun to snatch victory from Cincinnati's grasp, and put the Reds seven and one half games back of the Dodgers.

With the loss, Franco dropped to 5-6 on the season. The former product of Los Angeles has not had a save in seven appearances against the Dodgers this season.

Sabo, whose error opened the gates for the L.A. win, has seen his average drop rapidly since his fast start, and may have lost his opportunity for Rookie of the Year honors.

Cincinnati, with the loss, dipped to 74-68. The Dodgers improved to 81-60, and maintained their five-game lead over second place Houston.

The Reds moved into Los Angeles Friday needing a sweep of the Dodgers, or at least two wins in the three-game set, and it started off the way they had hoped it would.

Danny Jackson, the leading candidate for the National League's Cy Young award, recorded his 21st win Friday as Cincinnati opened the series with a 5-2 victory. Jackson, winner of 11 of his last 12 starts, went the distance, striking out eight and walking one while surrendering nine hits. The complete game was his 14th. That ties him with Oakland's Dave Stewart for the Major League lead.

The 21 victories are the most in the NL, and only Frank Voila of the Minnesota Twins can match that number in the AL.

Eric Davis, who has been moved to right field to cut down on his amount of running because of shin splints, doubled in two runs in the third, and Paul O'Neill followed with a two-bagger that plated two more. That was all Jackson, 21-6, would need to nail down his third victory over L.A. this season.

But Saturday night brought a much more disappointing ending for the Cincinnati hopeful. The Dodgers, behind their ace Orel Hershiser, dampened the Reds' spirits and put an end to their momentum.

Hershiser shut Cincinnati out and handed his teammates a 5-0 victory. Before the loss, the Reds had won five of six on the road trip, and moved three games above the .500 mark.

But they failed to mount any successful scoring efforts, against Hershiser, who improved to 20-8, and lowered his ERA to near 2.50.

A sweep of the series would have brought the Reds to within three and one-half games of Los Angeles, but instead they returned home trailing by seven and one half with only 19 games remaining in the season.

Cincinnati opened a three-game series last night against Houston. The two teams will hook up again tonight at 7:35 in Riverfront Stadium before concluding the series Thursday at the same time.

Los Angeles comes to Cincinnati Friday night to open a three-game weekend series, but the anticipation of that series was lessened Sunday.

Cincinnati, 36-31 at home, will play L.A. in night games Friday and Saturday, then wrap the series up Sunday afternoon in a 2:15 start. The Reds' magic number for elimination was 11 heading into last night's contest.

Although their chances are close to impossible where a divisional championship goes, a combination of Dodger wins and Cincinnati losses totaling 11 will mathematically eliminate the Reds.

San Diego comes to town Monday to open a brief two-game set. Monday's first pitch will be thrown at 7:35, while the two teams will hook up again Tuesday afternoon beginning at 12:35.

HAPPY ABOUT IT: Bill Smith shows the football to the Blackcat sideline as Paul Thompson walks off the field. Smith had just recovered a fumble which eventually led to a Prestonsburg touchdown.

Hazard Hits Hard, Fast In Victory Over Trojans

Hazard High School isn't considered to be among the state's top football teams, but Wheelwright Head Coach Roger Johnson says that Friday night, the Bulldogs looked and played like state contenders.

They threw the football with remarkable effectiveness, and Johnson said their intensity was unmatched, especially by his Trojans.

"They couldn't do anything wrong, and we couldn't do anything right," Johnson said of the Trojans' 60-20 loss Friday night at Hazard. "It was 'Nightmare on Elm Street' without Freddie Kruger."

Hazard quarterback Jerry Gilley threw 25 yards to Eddie Buck for the Bulldogs' first touchdown, and Gilley ran for another score, a 49-yard scamper, as Hazard broke on top early in the district matchup.

"They just hit us quick, and they threw the football, which they haven't done much before," Johnson said. "They scored on us quick, on the second play of the game. It took us the rest of the half to recover from it."

Gilley threw two more touchdown passes, and Anthony Sharpley recovered two fumbles in the endzone, securing the victory for the Bulldogs.

Wheelwright, 1-3 on the season, did not score until the fourth quarter when quarterback Bobby Hood threw an 8-yard touchdown pass to Todd Jackson, and Adam Hall added touchdowns from his defensive spot.

Hall recovered one Hazard fumble in the endzone, and ran another back 52 yards for a score. The points came against the Bulldogs' first string.

"Our kids could have quit. They could have let them roll over us, which they did anyway, but the kids showed a lot of character in the second half," Johnson said. "The kids came back in the second half and hit with them. They still had their first squad in there, leading 38-0, and we got two quick scores on them."

But Hazard had built a huge lead, thanks to its passing game, and the Trojans, 1-2 in district play, could never catch up.

"They came out and played flawlessly," Johnson said, praising the Bulldogs' execution. "I don't think they're any match for Paintsville, but Friday night, nobody could have beaten them."

The Trojans, who are 1-1 at home, return to Brackett Field Friday night for a battle with Johns Creek. The Bearcats enjoyed their best season ever last year, and made their first playoff appearance, but Johnson said this year's squad may not be quite as talented.

"I don't think they are," he said. "They still pass the ball well... if we can contain them inside, keep them from getting outside our ends, then I think we can play with them," the coach added.

Johns Creek, 2-1 on the year, owns a win over Sheldon Clark, but came into Friday's game fresh off a shutout loss. The Bearcats, Friday night, were shutout 18-0 by Knott County Central.

Johnson is hoping a Wheelwright win can add some confidence to his hard-working squad. The coach says the players still maintain a positive attitude, but agrees that a victory would go a long way in helping shape the remainder of the season.

"These kids' attitudes are great," Johnson said. "I don't think any of them will quit on me. I got on to them pretty bad at halftime, and they came out and hit hard in the second half. We just kind of went away from the things we should have been doing in that first half."

Hazard, which led 31-0 at halftime, evened its season record at 2-2, and claimed its first district win.

Wheelwright, which has two district games remaining, will play Friday without receiver and defensive back Shawn McKenzie, who suffered bruised ribs against Hazard. McKenzie, a two-way starter, also serves as a kick returner for the Trojans.

THE BRIDE'S STUDIO

In Prestonsburg

Is a rapidly growing formal wear business owned and operated by sister, Karen Harris and Sandy Howell.

Not only the most elegant wedding gowns and veils but all the accessories, you'll need for the most perfect wedding. Personalized invitations and napkins; custom color rice or birdseed; roses in a lavish centerpiece; rhinestone and pearl jewelry; white satin; lace and sequin shoes, dyed to match any gown; Guest books; feather pens; personalized champagne glasses; serving sets; ringbearer pillows; hosiery; hankies; garters; petal baskets; gloves; and crystal cake tops. Bridesmaids, Mothers, and flowergirl gowns can also be found in this one-stop-wedding-shop.

Not to be forgotten. Our grooms, father, best men, and ushers can be expertly fitted and choose from over one hundred tuxedo rental styles.

A file is assembled for each bride to assure that every detail of her wedding is confidentially recorded. Be always satisfied that your name be instantly associated with your particular situation, when you call, and your face recognized when you come in.

The Brides Studio also specializes in pageant wear. From infant ruffles to hand-beaded silks, from school pageants to The Miss Kentucky Pageant one of our gowns can capture the crown!

Come late-winter, some of our attention is focused on our high school prom time. Early and easy lay-a ways are good for the budget and good for mom's, who dread that last minute search for perfect dress. We carry only "one-in-the shop" gowns and we keep a confidential file detailing style, color, and to which school prom the dress will be worn. Special orders are taken until April 1st. Alterations guaranteed ready at least one week before your prom.

In these days and times, finances are important to everyone. There is a way for you to have the perfect gown whether it be wedding, pageant, prom, or any special occasion, to fit your particular budget.

We love our business and our goal is to make you beautiful and happy. Come see us soon.

Highlands Festival Is A Great Success

"I think it went great." That was the immediate reaction of Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival Director Kathy Lowe, speaking of the success of this weekend's festival. People from throughout the county, state and Midwest, and Kentucky's First Lady Martha Wilkinson, attended the four-day festival, which featured area music and dance groups, craftspeople, a writers' workshop and dulcimer playing, she said. The highlight of the festival came Saturday, which began with a visit from Wilkinson, who talked with artists, visited the children's play party, and spoke to the crowd about the GED campaign, Lowe said. Later that day the first-ever youth festival began, featuring area youth groups. "We were very excited about the turnout, because we wanted to get young people involved" in the festival, said Lowe. Attendance at the Saturday events was about three times as much as the festival ever had on that day, she said. "There was a man from Michigan who said he drove all the way for the festival, and it was worth every minute of it," Lowe added.

English Country Dance

How Does It Work?

Adam and Amber Hutchinson visited at least one crafts booth during the Highlands Festival, and are pictured here as Amber attempts to figure out the use of wooden crafts. They are the children of Lisa Hutchison, and were accompanied by their grandparents, Rodney and Louann Hutchinson of Martin.

Cute Crafts

Many participants and visitors to the Highlands Folk Festival were captivated by woodwork, including that at the booth pictured above. Animals seemed to be the going items, with plenty of teddy bears, cats and dogs carved and waiting purchase.

Tuckered Out

Two-year-old Kate Lowe, daughter of Kathy and Danny Lowe, was apparently worn out by all the excitement of this weekend's Highlands Folk Festival.

Early Holiday Start

Kentucky Crafts

Edgar and Bobby Hale of Blue River viewed Roberta Fitzgerald's Kentucky crafts collection. Fitzgerald, one of many exhibitors at the Highlands Folk Festival, is from Carrollton.

Old Maid's Song

The Prestonsburg Honor Choir performed "The Old Maid's Song" for a large crowd of spectators Saturday during the Highlands Folk Festival at Jenny Wiley State Park.

Arts and Crafts

The arts and crafts booths were one of several highlights to this year's Highlands Folk Festival at Jenny Wiley State Park. A number of exhibitors from throughout Appalachia came to Floyd County to participate in the exhibitions.

Maytown Students "Talking" Silently

The Maytown Elementary School sixth, seventh and eighth grade students are practicing being quiet while talking.

The students are learning to talk with their hands, using sign language. Mr. Hughes, the originator of the idea, says that he needed an activity to keep the students' attention that was educational, yet fun. He said he is a beginner himself, and is learning sign language from his wife, who is an instructor for the hearing impaired.

The students began by learning the alphabet, and from there, advanced to words, and later to complete sentences. They are required to sign when requesting a drink, bathroom break, snack break, or any time they need to leave class — even to go to lunch.

The students have found some unusual ways to use signing — from flirting, to telling referees what they think of certain calls, to "talking" to each other in class.

"Our goal is to have the students learn the signing basics, so they can communicate with a deaf person, even if it is at a simple level," said Chaffins.

September Health Tip:

Coping With Stress Can Enrich Your Life

By Sister Charlene Young, Director of Pastoral Care Our Lady of the Way Hospital

Stress is a health menace to many people. Following are nine "spiritual exercises" to help you cope with stress, improve your health and enrich your life.

— Accept what you cannot change. Problems are a normal part of life. They can be opportunities for growth. Use and develop skills which are basic to good human relationships. Choose to be open to others, to love, to peace, to joy and to God.

— Balance work and recreation. To promote a healthy rhythm in your daily endeavors, use reason and relaxation. Even Jesus took an occasional break to go to a mountainside or desert place to be refreshed.

— Work off anger physically. When you need to vent your anger, use physical energy to release it. A tennis match, a softball game or a walk can be wholesome and therapeutic. What began as vented anger can be the beginning of physical, mental, spiritual and emotional healing. It can also lead to better relationships with family, friends, co-workers and the Lord.

— Avoid self-medication. Use of substances such as alcohol, tobacco, aspirin and tranquilizers to cope with stress may lead to addiction and other problems. Stress is thereby increased, rather than alleviated.

— Nourish a sense of humor. Like exercise, laughter and cheerfulness energize. They release tension and may touch others by brightening their lives. Humor and happiness often satisfy the longings of the human heart.

— Use your support system. Humans need one another! Loving one another is not an option. We all need mutual love and support. We can live and flourish only in the warm climate of love and caring.

Jesus shared His life with us; we must share our lives with others. Turn to those who support you, who gave you life, who are sensitive to your needs. Your support system includes your God, your family, your church, your friends, your co-workers and your neighbors.

— Avoid loneliness. Loneliness is a problem for everyone at certain times. Loneliness is isolation; love is sharing. Being aware of others in need can help you reach out with love, interest and support. You may discover inward resources you didn't know you had.

— Utilize brief stress breaks. Take a few deep breaths after being engrossed in a task for a considerable length of time. A few brief stretch exercises can make you feel wholesome. Daydream for a few minutes; your imagination can make you king or queen for a day, or take you on that exotic vacation your income will never afford.

— Pick more daisies; smell more roses. Concentrate on being good to yourself more often. Take time to do fun things you enjoy. Relax. Celebrate! Do something adventurous, creative or exciting.

Health is an affirmation of human dignity and life. Coping with everyday stress can enrich your life if you see it as an opportunity for sharing, change, problem-solving, growth and wonder.

"Health Tips" is produced monthly by Our Lady of the Way Hospital to promote health in our community. If you have questions about stress or other spiritual matters, please contact Sister Charlene Young, Director of Pastoral Care, at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Box 910, Martin, KY 41649, or call 285-5181.

Books And Things:

From UMW To Basketball, History Is Here

By Trisha Morris
PCC Librarian

New books about Kentucky and things that affect the state are constantly being published. The following books are some of the new titles that have been added to the shelves at the PCC Library.

Kentucky's Thomas D. Clark, with Bill Cunningham. An extended interview, this book is a recording of the author's visit with the south's most respected historian, Bill Cunningham, lawyer and author (from Kuttawa, Ky.), questions the colorful and articulate Clark about Kentucky's past, present and future.

A transplanted Mississippian, Clark has spent the last 60 of his 84 years in the Commonwealth. He has authored 18 historical books dealing primarily with Kentucky and the South, and edited 12 more. The authority on the state's history, he retired as chairman of the University of Kentucky History Department in 1965, and now spends his time writing, speaking, and serving on numerous local and statewide boards.

Cunningham's conversation with Thomas Clark will leave the reader with a greater understanding and appreciation of Kentucky and its peculiar strengths and weaknesses. Clark provides interesting anecdotes of his distinguished career as historian, as well as some perceptive insights into the development of, in Clark's own words, "one of the most romantic and colorful states of America."

John L. Lewis: A Biography, by Melvyn Dubofsky. Drawing upon

Reviewed This Week:

previously-untapped resources in the United Mine Workers' archives and oral histories of major figures of the times, this is a unique picture of the man who rules the UMW for four decades. Beginning his despotic rule in 1918, he defied presidents, challenged Congress, and generally kept American political life in an uproar.

The life story of John L. Lewis refracts and magnifies the history of the American nation and its workers in the 20th Century. His life and career paralleled the forces that pushed America from Woodrow Wilson's New Freedom to Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal, into two world wars and a cold war, from the Great Depression to unprecedented affluence, and from national self-assurance to self-doubt. A legend and hero to many Kentucky coal miners, Lewis built the UMW into the nation's strongest labor union and changed forever the conditions under which coal was mined.

Complete with seldom-seen pictures of the labor leader, this well researched volume is an engagingly written biography of the man who changed an industry, and a much-needed reinterpretation of American labor politics in the crucial second quarter of the century.

Nightmares in Dixie, edited by Frank McSherry. The people of the American South are natural story tellers, and scary is their favorite mode of telling. Don't read this book on a dark night if you are alone and the house squeaks. Listen to this from the introduction: "You're holding horror in your hand like a black rose." There are little dolls that kill, forgotten gods that inflict a terrifying vengeance, ghosts that walk at night, a visitor from a future of horrifying destruction, and much, much more.

This anthology of 13 nightmares is told by such authors as John D. MacDonald, a best-selling mystery writer; Jesse Stuart, one of Kentucky's most loved regional writers; Karl Edward Wagner, a psychiatrist whose knowledge of the depths of the mind gives his tales of terror extra credence; and William Gilmore Sims, a contemporary of Poe's whose work was praised by that master of the macabre as the best ghost story he'd ever read.

One tale for every southern state, from the mountains of Tennessee to the sand dunes of Florida and the bluegrass of Kentucky, each one telling something for the state it was set in. Read it — if you dare.

Digging Our Own Graves, by Barbara Smith Dedicated to "coal miners and their families all over the world," this book is about the occupational disease that is killing them. Digging Our Own Graves is the first comprehensive analysis of the controversy over black lung disease.

Beginning with doctors' testified accounts of it in the 1830s, the author traces the shifts in the medical perceptions of this disease. In a discussion of bituminous coal mining from the hand-loading era to the present, Smith analyzes the production of black lung and relates it to the changing technology and social relations of the workplace. Put in perspective by historical material, the recent black lung movement is chronicled through selections from intensive interviews with miners, widows and other participants.

Although it highlights the victories and significance of the black lung movement, this book also tells the story of frustrations and bitter unresolved conflict. It raises questions about the limitations of scientific medicine, the nature of disease, and the possibilities for genuine occupational health.

The Winning Tradition, by Humbert Nelli. A picture book story of Kentucky Wildcat basketball, this is a coffee table book that no one will leave on the table. Action pictures of all the greats are here — the renown and the lesser known. Complete with statistics for games and players, it will answer trivia questions and settle bets.

Beginning with a short history of the sport, the book focuses on basketball at the University of Kentucky. Starting with statistics from 1903, it continues to chronicle the era of Adolph Rupp and Joe Hall.

Complete with an index that will lead you to stories and pictures of favorite personalities, it is a book that portrays an important aspect of Kentucky's history.

Kentucky Basketball's Big Blue Machine, by Rice Russell. The game of basketball had its beginning in 1891 when James Naismith, using peach baskets and a soccer ball, started the game at an International YMCA Training School in Springfield, Mass. It has since spread and come to rest in Kentucky. This book is the first complete history of basketball at the University of Kentucky.

With chapters titled "The Fabulous Five," "Rupp's Runts," "Gentleman Jim" and "The Twin Towers," this is a book that tells the tale through pictures, letters, interviews and statistics. A natural companion to The Winning Tradition, these two books are for sports lovers and historians alike.

Paul B. Hall Med Center Birthday Birthday Party Held

In many respects, it was a typical birthday party — ice cream, cake, balloons, popcorn, party favors, games, and even clowns.

However, there were a number of ways in which the Fifth Anniversary Birthday Celebration at Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center of Paintsville was anything but typical, according to officials.

More than 215 of the nearly 1,500 children born at Paul B. Hall were present with their parents and grandparents to join in the gigantic birthday celebration. States near and far — West Virginia and Florida — were represented.

Highlights of the Aug. 27 event included a 12-layer birthday cake, three brightly colored circus tents, four clowns, and television's Mr. Cartoon with his friend, Beeper.

In spite of the 90-degree heat, the crowd of more than 700 remained on the hospital grounds for three hours as Paul B. Hall began the formal celebration of the fifth anniversary of its opening on Sept. 30, 1983.

At the event's conclusion, Debbie Trimble Meadows, administrator, awarded $50 savings bonds to eight of the youngsters present.

Recipients were Joshua Coffey, first infant born at the new facility; Kendra Conley, the youngest to attend (eight days old); Sally Castle, the first girl to be admitted; Joseph Mollett, the first boy to be admitted; Kayla Salyers and Kyla Salyers, who traveled the greatest distance to attend (1,205 miles); and Chrysty Estep and Misty Estep, the first twins born at PBH.

"This had to be one of the most exciting and rewarding days experienced by Paul B. Hall since its opening," said Meadows. "I cannot praise our staff enough for the work they did in making all of this possible."

Additional events are planned in commemoration of the hospital's opening. Meadows added.

Attention all members: Next week, we will be introduced to the Chicago method of scoring, so named because it originated in Chicago. Our vulnerability will be determined by a schedule. Be sure to ask for a set of the rules, as we will be playing Chicago when we are not using the boards.

The YMCA meet was a big success. The American Standard method was employed in a single session with individual scoring, and the winners were Betty Grudin, first; John Rupley, second; and Cynthia Mulliken, third.

Welcome to newcomers Betty Grudin, Cynthia Mulliken and John Rupley.

Attentive consideration: Happiness does not depend upon what happens outside of you, but on what happens inside of you; it is measured by the spirit in which you meet the problems of life.

The Shirley Hughes Day picnic will be held Wednesday, Sept. 21, from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at Shelter No. 3 at Dewey Dam.

The event will mark the 16th annual picnic, and will be attended by groups of the five-county area served by Mountain Comprehensive Care, relatives of clients, Eastern State Hospital clients and their relatives. Local church groups, representatives from various agencies and interested citizens participate with the MCC and Eastern State Hospital staff to hold the annual event.

The picnic was renamed last year in honor of the late Shirley Hughes of Prestonsburg, who co-founded the picnic in 1972 with Dr. Jerzy Wysocki of Eastern State Hospital.

The public is invited to attend. Any contributions of food items may be delivered to the Mountain Comprehensive Care office at 18 South Front Ave. in Prestonsburg before 11:30 a.m. the day of the picnic. Those wishing to volunteer to help with the picnic may contact Mike Vance at 886-8572.

5th Anniversary Celebrated With Open House At PBH

Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center of Paintsville will hold a Fifth Anniversary Open House on Sunday, Sept. 25, from 2 to 5 p.m., according to Debbie Trimble Meadows, PBH administrator.

Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center was formally opened on Sept. 30, 1983, as the patients in the old Paintsville Hospital were transferred to the new facility and new patients were admitted. Country Music Superstar and Johnson County native Loretta Lynn joined Dr. Paul B. Hall in the ribbon cutting ceremony on opening day.

During open house, each of the hospital's major departments will conduct tours of the facility and have displays of new health service delivery technology that has been added since the hospital's opening.

Paintsville Hospital, which opened in 1920, was Paintsville's first inpatient facility. Paintsville physician Dr. Paul B. Hall was its chief of staff for more than 50 years. The new 72-bed acute care center is one of the region's major employers.

More than 40 physicians and nearly 20 medical specialties are represented on the medical staff of Paul B. Hall, Meadows said.

Biology Club

Biology Club Awards Scholarship

"Students sending students to college."

That is one of the things Prestonsburg High School Biology Club Sponsor Teresa Boatwright believes makes the club members so special.

This year, the club did just that. "We were fortunate enough to raise money to send a student to PCC for a year, and had enough left over for another year," Boatwright explained.

The 1988 Biology Club Scholarship was awarded to Kathy Craft. The scholarship recipient was chosen by the science faculty at PHS.

The club, begun in March, has done various activities including a career day, which featured various local people involved in the science profession, and a free car wash, during which area businesses donated food coupons and facilities, club president Tracie Wells said.

"It is a basic club, but what makes it so special is like this guy," Boatwright said, pointing towards vice president Jason Storey. "Jason had a cracked ankle and was in a cast, but he stayed on it (the car wash) all day. They have put forth effort and energy, and I am astounded at what their capabilities are."

There are 49 members in the club, and each must have at least a 2.75 grade point average.

Dropout Prevention Program Working Well At Betsy Layne

The Dropout Prevention Program, in its fourth year at Betsy Layne High School, deserves some recognition for its success, according to principal Adrian Bentley.

According to statistics compiled by the BLHS counselor's office, the program has reduced absenteeism 10 percent, increased grade point averages more than 10 percent, and increased retention rates for ninth to 12th grade students an impressive 64 percent.

"It is projected that this program has saved the Floyd County Board of Education more than $40,000 in per diem funds," explained Bentley.

The Dropout Prevention counselor, tutor and advisor at BLHS is James Brooks. He assists students in developing self-esteem, relating to others and gaining academic skills.

Potential dropouts are identified by teachers, guidance counselors, parents, social workers or principals.

Instead of a scheduled study hall each day, students in the targeted group attend a tutoring class held by Brooks. The group is composed mostly of ninth graders with previous poor attendance in school, and those with poor averages academically.

"Keeping our children in school and preparing them for a productive future is a goal that the citizens of Floyd County should all work to attain," added Bentley.

Attending were Rodney, Mary Kay, Tyson and Whittnee Wills; Savannah Marsillett and son, Brennen; Amy Calhoun and daughter, Lou Anna; Paul and Sara Shepherd, Don, Alberta, Susan, Carmen and Christina Wells of Banner; Roger, Carolyne, Rocky, Rebecca and Chuck Rowe and Tracy Copley.

Lonesome Pine Boy Scouts To Hold Annual Campout

The Lonesome Pine District of the Boy Scouts of America will hold its annual Cub Scout Campout this Friday and Saturday at Paintsville Lake.

From 300 to 500 people are expected for the event, which will feature family-style camping with Cubs, their parents, brothers and sisters invited.

Each family is asked to plan its own menu and bring some sort of charcoal grill or stove to cook on, since no open fires (other than the main campfire) will be allowed. Also, each family should bring its own tent and bedding. According to Glenna White of Van Lear, chairperson for the campout, special events will include a Friday evening campfire and Saturday morning games and activities.

In addition, she said, each person attending will receive a "Snoopy" campout patch, and various prizes will be awarded during Saturday's competition.

White reminds participants that the location has been changed, and will be held at Paintsville Lake in the hollow just off the main parking lot.

All Cub Scouts, their families and friends are invited to attend.

(b) The salary for said office shall be fixed from time to time by the City Council.

(c) The functions of the City ABC Administrator shall be the same with respect to city licenses and regulations, as the functions of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board of the Commonwealth of Kentucky (hereinafter ABC Board) with respect to state licenses and regulations, except that no amendment to these regulations proposed by the City ABC Administrator may be less stringent than the Statutes relating to alcoholic beverage control, or than regulations of the ABC Board. SECTION 7. LICENSES. As used in this section "license" means any premises licensed by the City to sell alcoholic beverages by the drink for consumption on the premises, and relates where applicable to the sale of distilled spirits, wines and/or malt beverages, or any combination thereof

As used in this section "bonafide restaurant" means a premise which can demonstrate to the City ABC Administrator that the gross sales of the restaurant for the twelve (12) months prior to the applying for said license from the sale of food for consumption on the premises is found to be not less than 50% of the total gross sale of the applicant restaurant. The City ABC Administrator shall review all records which the applicant restaurant must submit as part of its application for a license under this section, and the City ABC Administrator shall determine if said restaurant meets the criteria contained herein. The applicant shall publish in the local newspaper, having the largest circulation, at least twice within a thirty (30) day period, the intentions of the applicant to apply for said license, and the applicant shall be responsible for the publication fee. Any resident of the City of Prestonsburg may file with the City ABC Administrator exceptions of the applicant's request and the City ABC Administrator shall conduct a hearing upon said exceptions. The City ABC Administrator shall thereafter reduce his findings and recommendations which shall be presented to the City Council for acceptance, in whole or in part, or rejection in whole or in part. Any party aggrieved by the final action of the City Council may file an appeal with the Floyd Circuit Court, and no license shall be issued until the matter becomes final and non-appealable. Said appeal to the Floyd Circuit Court shall be filed within thirty (30) days after the action of the City Council. Any party aggrieved by the action of the City Council in respect to the issuance of said license to a hotel, motel or inn, shall, within thirty (30) days from the action of the Council, file an appeal in the Floyd Circuit Court; however, since the issuance is based upon the actual on-site inspection of the City ABC Administrator, the license may issue upon approval by the Council, the appeal notwithstanding.

Nothing contained herein shall be in any way interpreted to allow for the sale of alcoholic beverages by the drink for consumption on the premises in connection with any business in which a substantial part of the commercial transaction consists of selling, at retail, staple groceries, or which is used solely as an entertainment facility and does not meet the criteria of a "bonafide restaurant" as defined herein.

It shall be permissible for a licensee, who under K.R.S. 244.330 is permitted to operate one bar, counter or similar contrivance in said licensed premise under said retail drink license, due to modern business practices and the enhancement of economic development and opportunities, particularly associated with meeting or convention business, and the larger interior areas of some licensees, and the recreational facilities directly associated therewith, that it may be necessary to provide for more than one bar within said hotel/motel/inn licensed premises under this Ordinance to effectively serve the patrons at such premises. A supplemental bar shall be allowed to said hotel/motel/inn licensee if such licensee can show the City ABC Administrator the need for such supplemental bar. A supplemental bar license may be issued to a hotel/motel/inn retail drink licensee upon a showing to the City Administrator of good cause and need for the supplemental license, and the license may only be issued for the use on the premises directly associated with the applicant's existing retail drink license as part of the entire business of said license facility.

SECTION 8. APPLICATION.

(a) The City ABC Administrator shall not receive or take any action on any application for an original license to sell alcoholic beverages within a limited sale precinct prior to July the 14th, 1988.

The advertisement shall state the name and addresses of the members of partnership if the applicant is a partnership, as well as the name of the business and its address, or, if the applicant is a corporation, the names and addresses of the principal officers and directors of the corporation, as well as the name and addresses of the corporation itself, the location of the premises for which the license is sought.

(c) Applications for the issuance of licenses, as set out herein, shall be in writing and upon the forms provided by the ABC Board as amended and supplemented from time to time or if such forms are unavailable, the applicant may provide the information as set out herein in the form of a verified affidavit, which shall serve as an application.

The applicant shall provide a copy of the application or affidavit to the ABC Board in Frankfort, and each application shall be accompanied by a certified check, cash or a postal or express money order for the license fee as set out herein, which shall promptly be given to the City Clerk.

Academic Conference Comes To School In Floyd County

Principals and coaches of existing academic teams and Floyd County Assistant Superintendent Gary Frazier have worked together to create a program to allow Floyd County schools to participate in their own academic conference.

Named the Jenny Wiley Academic Conference, it will consist of middle school and high school divisions. The middle school division will include teams from elementary schools, with students in the seventh through eighth grades participating. The high school division will include all high schools in the county, plus others in surrounding counties that may wish to join.

With the board of education's unanimous decision last week to adopt the constitution and bylaws of the conference, Frazier was named commissioner, and John Pitts was named deputy commissioner, concentrating on middle school operations. Ulysses Horne, deputy commissioner, will oversee high school operations.

The board also voted unanimously that Thursdays would be restricted to academic competition only.

To help the schools defray the cost of equipment, the School and Community Partnership has agreed to pay for all quiz questions that will be needed for competition. They have also agreed to pay for half the cost of the buzzer systems, or comparable amount for other purposes, at each school.

Harold Students' Scores Exceed National Average

All grades — kindergarten through eighth — at Harold Elementary surpassed by far the national academic average, according to the May KEST results.

David Hinchman, principal, said that good student attendance and mastery of essential skills go hand-in-hand. All classroom teachers at Harold Elementary stress mastery of the essential academic skills. Students, parents and staff members worked closely to obtain the results, he added.

After completing their entire career at Harold Elementary, the graduating eighth grade students' grade equivalency was 12.9. The KEST total battery national percentile was 80, which exceeds the national average of 50.

Harold Academic Team

The following students will represent Harold Elementary School in the academic competition for school year 1988-89: Greg Hunter, Tonya Pugh, Stephanie Damron, Brock Harmon, Kevin Newsome, Steve Sturgill, Michael Carroll, Shawn Yates, Kim Gooch, Mark Reed, Ashla Stanley and Clyde Bush.

Teachers, Students Extend School Year Through Summer

For two Betsy Layne High School educators, the school year extended through the summer — home economics teacher Elizabeth Jones and Patricia Huffman took two of their Future Homemakers of America members to Cincinnati, Ohio, to the National Leadership meeting.

Rachelle Hamilton and Nikki Webb, students at Betsy Layne High School, were among 1,500 teens selected from 300,000 home economics students nationally to attend FHA's annual meeting.

The youth-developed meeting theme, "Mission IS Possible," described the renewed commitment to three aspects of FHA's goal: public awareness, increased membership and a strong positive image.

Since the meeting is also a training conference, members learned to channel their leadership skills into projects resulting in personal achievement and accomplishing chapter goals that affect family, school and community. Conference participants shared successful projects relating to youth concerns, and planned activities based on national programs reviewed at the meeting.

A number of these concerns — teenage pregnancy and parenthood, AIDS prevention, substance abuse, fitness and nutrition, teen stress, child emotional abuse, family relations, community service, future careers and the changing roles of men and women in the home and workplace — were among those examined at the conference through issue sessions, hands-on workshops and panels.

Webb participated in the Peer Education track, which included sessions on physical and financial fitness. She also participated in a 2.5 kilometer "Fun Run" through downtown Cincinnati, finishing in the first 25 of 450 runners.

Hamilton chose to follow the leadership track to better prepare her to serve her chapter as an officer.

The Betsy Layne group participated in all of the scheduled meetings, as well as the planned social activities, which included a picnic at the Cincinnati Zoo, a "WKRP in Cincinnati" theme party, and a formal banquet. The young women were treated by their chapter advisors to a carriage ride through downtown Cincinnati, dinner at Mike Fink's in Covington, and a shopping trip to Florence Mall in Florence.

Webb and Hamilton plan to share their experiences with other chapter members and FHA groups in Floyd County. The only other Eastern Kentucky school represented at the meeting was Johnson Central High School.

The young women and their sponsors expressed thanks to members of the Betsy Layne FHA for raising funds to make the trip possible, former Betsy Layne principal Gene D. Davis for his support and encouragement, Superintendent of Schools Ronald Hager for his encouragement and financial assistance, and Charles D. Huffman for driving them to and from Cincinnati.

FHA is a national vocational student organization of 300,000 home economics students through grade 12. It is the only in-school organization with the family as its focus.

McDowell Student Investors In Spotlight Of KET Program

The McDowell Class of 1990 will be featured on a Kentucky Educational Television (KET) program this fall, according to principal Bobby Hall.

During the weekend of Sept. 9-11, the McDowell 1990 Investment Club had a car wash to raise funds for their investments. While this was going on, a crew from KET came to the campus to film the activities and ask the students questions about the program.

Two members of the club were asked to give a general account of their success. Jamie Martin said that before the stock market crash, their total was about $9,000, but had fallen to somewhere in the $7,000 range.

Hall said each member of the club will be given a check at the end of their senior year during commencement exercises. The money can be used for any purpose, but Hall hopes many will use it to help in some way with education.

Other than making money, Derrick Akers said that the club has been a learning experience. He feels that he has some knowledge of investing money. He realizes that a risk is involved, but said a smart investor, for the most part, can avoid having a total loss.

What kind of stock does a beginning investment club buy? For the most part, the group stays with "safe" investments. For example, the McDowell club has investments in Pepsi and Walt Disney. The club makes the decision on what to buy at group meetings.

At first, they used the advice and guidance of bankers and stock brokers, but now do all investing on their own.

"Maybe we should take some lessons from them on investing, because they seem to be making the right decisions," said Hall.

PHS Test Scores Above Kentucky, National Average

Each year, the American College Testing Program publishes the national ACT scores for graduating high school seniors.

The most recent survey of nationally normed scores shows that the scores of Prestonsburg High School's graduating seniors surpass those of students in both Kentucky and the nation, according to principal Robert May.

The ACT test evaluates four areas of learning: English, math, social studies and natural science.

According to a complex formula, said May, the scores of each learning area are averaged into a composite score. Prestonsburg's seniors had a composite score of 19.1 in comparison to Kentucky's overall score of 18.3, and the nation's composite score of 18.7.

Spears Wins Monthly Attendance Award

The Touchdown Program at Prestonsburg High School recently presented its first monthly attendance award to Christina Spears.

Spears and 42 other students were eligible, having had perfect attendance for the school month.

The Prestonsburg Women's Club is sponsoring the award.

Top Attendance

David D. Hinchman, principal, announces that Harold Elementary had better student attendance than any other school in the Floyd County School System for the 1987-88 school year. Maurice Allen, director of pupil personnel, presented the "Champion Trophy" to representatives of each Harold Elementary class. Hinchman challenges the students, parents, and staff to keep the trophy at Harold Elementary in 88-89.

Martin Honored For Performance Local Environmental Threats

Following Coal

As part of this year's school project, Martin Elementary students will be following the route of coal mined locally through to its destination in national or international markets.

Last year, the seventh and eighth grade social studies classes at Martin Elementary researched the history and development of their town.

From oral interviews to library research, students were able to understand how and why Martin has changed since the early 1900s. Much of the information gathered centered around the depot, which became a meeting place for local residents, as passengers from the southern end of the county disembarked daily to conduct business, seek medical services or participate in some of the forms of entertainment found in Martin.

After a visit from Eliot Wigginton, of Foxfire fame, the students were inspired to link the changes with Martin's location within the Appalachian Region. The rich heritage of the region was explored, using not only local sources, but by exposure to the music and literature of Appalachia.

"All of this was structured by the students being involved in the Writing Across the Curriculum program of Floyd County," said Martin Elementary principal William Hughes. "Carol Stumbo, the coordinator, offered direction and much-appreciated support."

Along with the $1,000 from the writing program, the students applied for and received grants from the UK Appalachian Center, Floyd County School and Community Partnership, and the Foxfire Appalachian Literature Grant, totaling $1,250.

The students decided to produce a video about Martin and its Appalachian connections. With the help of Walter Clyde Dingus, they began filming the community. They wrote skits, using the information gathered. With many hours of tape, a 20-minute video was edited that mainly dealt with the stereotype of a "hillbilly". The completed video was shared with Jim Duffy, president of ABC television, and Winford Pizzano, the co-director of the Appalachian Regional Commission.

This year, the eighth grade students at Martin have decided to tackle the increasing threat to the environment. They plan to follow the coal produced in the county and transported from the Martin railroad yard to its destination. By showing this route, they hope to make a connection between Martin, a small community, and the larger global community. The class is also researching acid rain, the greenhouse effect, and the ozone layer. The information will be presented with the slide show.

The students began their project with a class interview with Robert McAnich, the Floyd County Solid Waste Disposal commissioner. The students hope to raise the awareness of others in Floyd County and in Kentucky about the fragility of the environment.

Anyone interested in sharing their thoughts and ideas on local or global pollution may contact the eighth grade students at Martin Elementary, or call the school at 285-3011.

Sets State Senior Opportunities' Days

Morehead State University officials have designated Sept. 20-22 as "Senior Opportunities Days," and invite students from Floyd and other area high schools to visit the campus.

Activities are designed to inform students of opportunities available to them, including career possibilities and programs of study, according to Rhonda Baldwin, coordinator of recruitment activities. "Students will have the opportunity to tour the campus, visit with upperclass students and talk with faculty members," she said.

MSU representatives will host similar activities at various locations throughout the service region during coming months. "Student Opportunities Nights" have been scheduled in Prestonsburg Nov. 10, Paintsville on Nov. 3, and Pikeville on Nov. 1.

Additional information is available from MSU's Office of Admissions, 783-2000, or toll-free in Kentucky, 1-800-262-7474.

Watson Honored For Performance Receives KCTM Free Membership

Joyce O. Watson, teacher at J.H. Allen Central High School, has been awarded a year of free membership to the Kentucky Council of Teachers of Mathematics (KCTM), according to principal Don Daniels.

Watson received the recognition in appreciation for her outstanding performance as a mathematics teacher in Kentucky, and in conjunction with the President's Award for Excellence in Mathematics Teaching, for which she was nominated.

Included in the award is Watson's registration fee for the KCTM fall conference to be held in Lexington Oct. 15.

Watson, who has taught for 15 years, is an active Kentucky Education Association delegate, and currently is an elected member of the Floyd County Evaluation Appeals Committee. She is the first vice-president of the Tau Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, a member of Kentucky Council of Teachers of German, and is currently organizing a branch of KCTM in Eastern Kentucky. She is an academic coach, Math Club sponsor, founder of Math Challenge (now in its fifth year), and is actively involved in the regional and state foreign language festival.

JOYCE O. WATSON

KET: Source Of Quality Learning

By Joyce Watson
Allen Central

Parents and teachers may be ignoring a valuable learning resource by not taking advantage of the wealth of learning material and positive entertainment offered by Kentucky Educational Television (KET).

The 1988-89 KET schedule book offers everything from "Cursive Handwriting" to "Computers," drinking and driving topics to "Dimensions in Science," "Bill of Rights" to "Business Concepts," and "About Safety" to "Zoo, Zoo, Zoo."

Will this encourage passive support of the young couch potato? Of course not. According to current research, the average child watches 15 hours of television each week. Isn't it better that we take the time and energy to "channel" their watching toward more positive programs?

One of my most pleasant Saturdays in recent memory was spent finger painting (mostly my porch, but occasionally hitting the paper) with my 3-year-old. Our inspiration came from a KET art show I had watched in my dentist's office. The results were great masterpieces, and a lot of fun.

My personal favorite KET program is a fast-paced, colorful show entitled "Square One," which airs at 5:30 p.m. each weekday. Any parent who has asked, "What can I do to help my child learn math?" has a partial answer in this show.

"Square One" is targeted for the middle school and junior high school crowd, but its treatment of concepts can be helpful to high school students as well. The half-hour is spent using skits to act out such concepts as infinity and Roman numerals. Game show skits are used to show number combinations, and a magician is on hand to show numerical tricks. Perhaps the best part is "Mathnet," a parody of the old "Dragnet" series, in which logic and math formulas are used by uniformed mathematicians to solve "crimes" that heavily resemble classics such as "The Maltese Falcon."

Floyd School Menu Announced

Floyd County school officials have announced the lunch and breakfast menus for Monday, Sept. 19, through Friday, Sept. 23.

Meals, all of which include milk, are:

Monday, Sept. 19: Doughnuts and juice for breakfast; barbecued rib patties, mashed potatoes, peaches and hot rolls for lunch.

Tuesday, Sept. 20: Gingerbread and applesauce for breakfast; fish, coleslaw, green beans, cheese apple crisp and cornbread for lunch.

Wednesday, Sept. 21: Pancakes and syrup with bacon and juice for breakfast; meat loaf, potato salad or mashed potatoes and hot rolls for lunch.

Thursday, Sept. 22: Gravy and biscuits with sausage and juice for breakfast; Salisbury steak, mashed potatoes and gravy, corn and hot rolls for lunch.

Friday, Sept. 23: Honey buns and juice for breakfast; fried chicken, whole tiny potatoes, green beans and hot rolls for lunch.

One Giant Leap

The fifth graders at Maytown Elementary have had many visitors the past few days. This giant toad named "Hopple" was one of them. The class, taught by Ms. Moore, is studying amphibians, reptiles and birds. The students have been very excited and added to the class by bringing in snakeskins, rattlesnakes, feathers from different birds, a baby turtle, small toads and a VCR tape about snakes. Some other activities related to the topic included composing poems and drawing pictures. "Hopple" belongs to Moore's sister, Rita Sue Jenkins, of Martin.

KAF Organized At Wheelwright

By Malissa Hall

"High school students must realize that high school education is the foundation for their entire life."

"The more they get in these four years, the better they are, and the more equipped they are for their future education and a better life," said Dr. Morris Norfleet, president of the Kentucky Appalachian Foundation, who visited Wheelwright High School recently.

KAF was begun at Wheelwright High this year. The Kentucky Appalachian Foundation was organized by business people such as John Hall, president and chief executive officer of Ashland Oil; Bob Mathews, president of Kentucky Power Co.; Burl Spurlock, president of First Commonwealth Bank; and Delores Smith, owner of R&S Truck Co. of Allen.

The foundation has begun an investment club at Wheelwright High, allowing students to buy shares in the stock market. However, all plans have not been finalized. The students will ask the presidents of some banks to come and speak to club members about the responsibility and experiences that go with stock investments. Also, KAF has created a parliamentary procedure workshop to teach club and class officers leadership skills and job responsibilities.

Norfleet came to Wheelwright to see the president of the KAF

Volunteer Leadership Corps, Malissa Hall, secretary Amy Payne, and corps member Brian Boyd. While at WHS, Norfleet and WHS students visited the old buildings in Wheelwright and toured other communities, including Melvin and Bevinville.

Norfleet was also there determining how much cleanup work needs to be done in Wheelwright and surrounding communities.

Norfleet is going to contact agencies about federal grants for Wheelwright, so that the Quality of Life Task Force, one of three task forces of KAF, can begin restoring the old buildings. The task force is also going to try to clean out the creeks, to have a cleanup day in mid-April, and has begun a Cleanup of the Community program that involves Wheelwright business operators.

A meeting that merchants, city and county officials will be attending is scheduled Sept. 26. Jan Stumbo, chair of the Quality of Life Task Force, will be the speaker.

The foundation has established two other task forces: the Education Task Force, chaired by Bruce Stevens of Hazard, and the Economic Development Task Force, chaired by Harding Dawahare of Pikeville.

Each task force will have certain objectives to solve specific problems in Eastern Kentucky. For example, the Education Task Force is focusing on getting parents and the community involved with students and education. The Economic Development Task Force helps create jobs and set up businesses.

Norfleet believes that the students of Eastern Kentucky today have more potential and determination to succeed than others did 10 years ago.

NOTICE OF EARLY PUBLIC REVIEW

Floodplain Management (Executive Order 11988)

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is reviewing the project shown below to determine whether federal mortgage insurance should be granted therein.

Region XI Mountain Housing Corporation
Porter Lane and University Drive
31 Unit Multifamily Project
Mountain Comprehensive Care Center

Since this project is located in a base (i.e., 100-year frequency) floodplain established by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), HUD is required by Presidential directive (Executive Order 11988) not to support the project if there are practicable alternatives to developing it in the base floodplain. Accordingly, an analysis will be prepared. Comments from the public are invited and will be received for fifteen (15) days from the date of this publication by David Powell, Director of Housing, P.O. Box 1044, Louisville, Kentucky 40201.

NOTICE TO THE CUSTOMERS OF THE WHEELWRIGHT UTILITY COMMISSION

In July 1987, federal regulations were adopted that require monitoring for eight volatile synthetic organic chemicals and 51 unregulated contaminants in public water systems. The first year of this monitoring is being conducted by the Kentucky Division of Water with the assistance of the Division of Environmental Services.

The volatile synthetic organic chemicals have maximum contaminant levels, or standards over which action will be taken to protect your health. Currently, no maximum contaminant levels have been established for the unregulated contaminants because sufficient information is not yet available. Please be assured, however, that you will be notified if contamination is detected and determined to be a potential health threat. This monitoring will aid in setting standards by indicating how widespread these contaminants may be in public water systems and at what levels of concentration they may be occurring.

The Wheelwright Utility Comm. now has available for public review the analytical results for unregulated contaminants for the monitoring periods of September through December 1987, January through March 1988 and April through July 1988. These results may be reviewed at our office on Main Street during regular business hours of 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Additional monitoring has been conducted during August through September 1988. Results of this monitoring are expected to be available for public review in November.

For more information, please contact the Wheelwright Utility Comm. at (606)452-4273, or the Drinking Water Branch of the Kentucky Division of Water at 18 Reilly Road, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, or at (502)564-3410, Ext. 546. ASK TONI

Hawn is a descendant of a Founding Father

By Toni Reinhold

How many children does Goldie Hawn have? Has she ever been married? — W.T., Miami, Fla.

Goldie Hawn

Goldie Hawn, 42, has three children — 11-year-old Oliver, 8-year-old Kate and 21-month-old Wyatt (by actor Kurt Russell). She is divorced from Gus Trikonis, whom she married in 1969, and from Bill Hudson, whom she married in 1979. Lately she has been paired romantically with Russell, her co-star in the recent comedy "Overboard." As for other questions fans have asked about Goldie: Where does she live? She has homes in Pacific Palisades, Calif., and Old Snowmass, Colo., and she grew up in Maryland. Does she use her real name? Yes — her given name is Goldie Jeanne Hawn. And here's an odd trivia item: Hawn's father, Rutledge Hawn, is a direct descendant of Edward Rutledge of South Carolina, the youngest signer of the Declaration of Independence.

ROCKABYE

In "Rockabye," Susannah Bartok (Valerie Bertinelli, r.) races against time to find her kidnapped son with the help of reporter Victoria Garcia (Rachel Ticotin). The CBS movie airs SUNDAY, SEPT. 18. (Rebroadcast)

I remember a series that starred Peter Brown as a Texas Ranger. Was it called "The Texas Rangers"? Who played his fellow lawmen? — L.W., Wichita, Kan.

I believe you're thinking of "Laredo," which aired from 1965 to 1967 on NBC. Brown played Chad Cooper, a member of a company of Texas Rangers. He was teamed with Neville Brand (as Ranger Reese Bennett), William Smith (as Ranger Joe Riley) and Philip Carey (as Capt. Parmalee, the senior officer of Company B). Earlier on, Brown starred as Deputy Johnny McKay in the western series "The Lawmen," which aired from 1958 to 1962 on ABC.

Did Ali MacGraw win an Academy Award for her performance in "Love Story"? In what year was that film released? — B.C., Trenton, N.J.

MacGraw was nominated for a Best Actress Oscar in 1970 for her role in "Love Story." But the award was given to Glenda Jackson for her performance in "Women in Love."

Where is Carl Weathers originally from? — P.Y., Scottsdale, Ariz.

Weathers, who most recently starred in "Action Jackson," was born in New Orleans, La.

HARBORVIEW

Mull's 'White Marriage' is charmingly predictable

By Denise Gorga

Marriages are held together by things more innocuous than wedding bands and two-bathroom ranch houses. But the role that boredom and familiarity play in sustaining (and sometimes threatening) the conjugal combo is rarely explored — probably because the subject is too boring and familiar.

On Tuesday, Sept. 20, pseudo-sociologist Martin Mull, who has already explored "The History of White People in America," probes the world of velour bathrobes and runny breakfast eggs in "Portrait of a White Marriage," airing on Cinemax. It also airs Friday, Sept. 23.

Martin Mull

In the two-hour movie, Mull plays himself, as a talk-show host whose "infotainment" style makes Oprah Winfrey look like the Avon lady. Already, however, this Mull's audience-blushing shows on such topics as sex in the afternoon and lesbian fidelity are failing to attract attention — or ratings.

Enter Joyce Harrison (played by Mary Kay Place) of Hawkins Falls, Ohio. A longtime fan of the "Ask Martin" show, she licks her last green stamp and journeys to Pittsburgh to see him in the flesh. Her husband Hal (Fred Willard) stays behind to organize the town's annual Hawkins Falls Founders Day parade.

Lured by Joyce's accounts of legions of Hawkins Falls boosters, Mull and his producer, Al Silvers (played by fellow comic Harry Shearer, who also directed the movie), take their show there. Which is where the trouble begins.

Encouraged by Mull and in the face of the creative team's writing block, Joyce starts coming up with sensational segment ideas. "Women maimed by household appliances" is her coup de grace in this department.

Soon Mull falls for Joyce, and a jealous Hal goes to see a rather unbalanced marriage counselor. When Joyce learns that Hal's therapy has included, among other things, lessons on the "language of touch," she runs into Mull's arms.

Punctuated with subtle humor and everyday ironies, "Portrait of a White Marriage" does drag in spots, and you can pretty much guess the outcome. But when you think about it, doesn't the same apply to most marriages?

WHITE NIGHTS

The 1985 political thriller "White Nights," which airs TUESDAY, SEPT. 20 on CBS, stars Mikhail Baryshnikov as Nikolai Rodchenko, a Russian defector who is arrested after his passenger flight is forced to crash-land in Siberia.

Former Olympians bring expertise to Seoul Games

By Paul Elie

For Olympic athletes, victory brings a gold medal. For American Olympic athletes, especially, victory also brings product endorsements, paperback book deals, maybe a chance to pose for a Wheaties box or tour with "Holiday on Ice." And for the lucky ones — those fortunate enough to win in prime time — there's the promise of part-time work as an expert commentator at the next Olympics.

It's a fair deal for the athletes, who have had the misfortune of being too good, too soon — of becoming the best in the world while most people their age are still in school. And it's a fair deal for the networks, too. Why force real broadcasters to learn the fine points of the heptathlon, the equestrian and the single scull? These are skills they'll use only once every four years — if the U.S. doesn't boycott, that is.

So the networks' Olympic staffs always include a few former Olympians. ABC has always had Dick Button, who won a skating gold so long ago that most viewers don't know he was once an athlete. It has had Bruce Jenner, whose decathlon win in 1976 opened the door for him to emcee tug-of-wars on "The Superstars." Kathy Rigby, Eric Heiden, Mike Eruzione and Bill Koch have also been given the chance to wear the shiny yellow sportcoat.

NBC's coverage of the Seoul Games, which get into full swing this week in South Korea, features

Frank Shorter

13 ex-Olympians. Some of them are stars: marathoner Frank Shorter, swimmer John Naber, high jumper Dwight Stones, basketball player Nancy Lieberman, wrestler Jeff Blatnick, gymnasts Mary Lou Retton and Bart Conner. Others are unknowns, or little-knowns: kayaker Eric Evans, wrestler Russ Hellickson, volleyballer Chris Marlowe, equestrian Melanie Smith, synchronized swimmer Candy Costie-Burke. All of them are happy to be here.

Shorter, who won a gold medal in 1972 and a silver in 1976, has waited more than a decade to cover an Olympic Games. He signed with NBC after the 1976 Games, but the network canceled its coverage of the Moscow Olympics in 1980 after the U.S. Olympic Committee decided to boycott, and ABC covered the Los Angeles Olympics in 1984.

"I'm happy to stay associated with track and field," says Shorter, who now owns a sportswear company, and still competes. "You like to stay close to something you really love."

SUMMER OLYMPICS

Dick Enberg, who covers basketball and gymnastics, is one of NBC's busiest commentators at the 1988 Summer Olympics. The men's gymnastics all-around final airs WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 21.

MARQUEE

BETRAYED (R - United Artists) Starring Debra Winger and Tom Berenger. ★★½

By J.T. YURKO

"Betrayed" is clearly a warning, an admonition against bigotry, racism and violence. Many people think, or at least hope, that groups like the Ku Klux Klan are things of the past, that violence against blacks and Jews is the work of a deranged individual or a lunatic fringe. No, this film insists. Racism, bigotry and the violence they breed are widespread and institutionalized, with the perpetrators including high-ranking government officials.

The film's premise is as terrifying as the graphic images of racial violence it depicts. Debra Winger stars as Cathy Weaver, an FBI agent who is sent into a rural community to infiltrate ultra-rightist groups and determine if they are responsible for several murders, including that of a radio talk-show host whose car was sprayed with the letters ZOG, standing for Zionist Occupational Government. She falls in love with Gary Simmons (Tom Berenger), a leader of one such organization and a principal suspect in the murder investigation.

Their romance, though, is a dispensable plot device, as is her relationship with her boss, Carnes (John Heard). The romantic triangle is a tedious, almost ludicrous element of the film, a soap-opera conceit that detracts from rather than enhances the issues at hand. All the performances, however, are superb, especially that of Winger, who is eventually repulsed by Simmons, yet must continue in the relationship to expose the group.

Director Costa-Gavras, whose best-known film is "Missing" (1982), can set up a scene as well as any director in the industry today. But the script, by Joe Eszterhas ("Jagged Edge"), lays bare its manipulative structure far too often. In trying to alert us to its issues, it tries to instill paranoia in the viewer with blunt violence and melodramatic relationships.

For what it's saying, "Betrayed" is worthy of high praise; how the film says it deserves somewhat less credit.
