

High Winds Reported

A large pine tree from Beulah Keel's yard in Auxier was uprooted and carried by the wind into the home of neighbor Grace Litterals about 2:30 a.m. Tuesday, damaging the residence slightly. A power line was also knocked down. The accident did not cause any injuries. Near Auxier Elementary School, a tree split at its forks, falling across the fence and into the roadway by Dottie Perry's yard.

Rt. 1428 Repair Starts Today; Major Reconstruction Bid Opening Friday, Says Official

by Anne Chaney, Editor

Travelers on Rt. 1428 from its intersection with US23 in Prestonsburg going toward Prestonsburg Community College will heave sighs of relief in coming weeks, as state Transportation Department employees begin putting new blacktop on 1.25 miles of the pothole-ridden roadway.

According to Transportation Department officials, crews are expected to begin putting new asphalt the four-lane road today (Wednesday). Additionally, bids will be received Friday, April 6, for eventual reconstruction of the same stretch — work that will repair the road, literally, from the ground up.

"We will let contracts to basically rebuild the road, because it is in such bad shape," said Mark McDaniel, transportation department spokesman. He said after bids are received, a contract will be let within two to three weeks, provided bid proposals are within department guidelines.

"If they are all too high, we will reject them," said McDaniel.

He said that the contract will involve substantial work, and isn't "just a repaving job."

As for the more immediate asphalt work beginning today, McDaniel said workers will try to maintain traffic flow in the area.

Since Nov. 1, 1988, he said, highway department crews have worked on the same stretch of road 30 times, at a cost of more than $50,000 to the state.

McDaniel said that because asphalt plants close during winter months, coal patch was put in potholes in an effort to maintain the road. "In moderate traffic, we can get by, but with coal trucks, patching just isn't going to stay," he said. "Our hands were tied, because the hot mix plants have just reopened this week."

Good news is also in the offing for repair of the grooved section of the bridge at the US23/Rt. 1428 intersection. McDaniel said bids would be let later this month to repair that area, as well as other parts of a 10-mile stretch of the roadway.

"We would like to get as early a start as possible, because we know the road is in bad shape," he added.

In addition to the asphalt repair bid for Rt. 1428, the department will accept bid proposals on two other primary roads in the county.

Bids will be opened Friday for repaving of three miles of the Martin-Allen Road from its junction with KY 122 to the Betsy Clark Branch Road.

Bids will also be opened for repaving of the Garrett-Salyersville Road (KY 7), for 4.3 miles going from just north of the intersection with KY 550 to the Magoffin County line.

Allen Seeks Replacement Officer

A month after hiring a city police officer, members of Allen City Council were faced Monday night with repeating the task.

The council dismissed Arthur Shepherd on March 20, just two weeks after employing him, according to City Clerk Bill Parsons. Shepherd was in the middle of his 30-day probation period.

According to Parsons, the council was informed by the Prestonsburg Police Department, shortly after Shepherd was hired, that he had an arrest record with the Kentucky State Police. The news came as a surprise to the council, since Shepherd had positive recommendations from several sources, including Floyd County Judge Executive John M. Stumbo, said Parsons. A check with state police records indicated that Shepherd had been arrested for speeding and possession of marijuana.

Parsons said, however, that the police officer's record had been expunged (cleared) by court order in Floyd District Court by Judge Harold Stumbo on March 13.

Council members reviewed 12 applications at their Monday night meeting for the city post, which pays $700 a month. They culled the list to three candidates: Green Wakeland of Allen, Eddie Robinson of Martin and Patrick Morris of Hippos.

Council members planned to run a background check on each of the candidates before meeting again Thursday night at 7 p.m. to make a final decision. "This time we want to be sure," said Mayor pro tem Vernon Porter. "If this happens again, I'll turn in my resignation."

Also at the meeting, council voted to change the city's curfew from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. because of daylight savings time. The curfew applies to persons 18 and under.

Present at Monday's meeting were Porter, Larry Castle and Elmer Parsons. The next regularly scheduled council meeting, aside from Thursday's special session, will be May 1 at 7 p.m. at the water commission office.

Floyd Man Stabbed During Court Session

by Pam Shingler, Assistant Editor

In a scene that seemed straight out of a movie script, a fight in Floyd Circuit Court Friday resulted in the stabbing of one man and the arrest of a Slick Rock couple.

A property dispute allegedly prompted the fight scene in which Russell Jarrell, 54, reportedly stabbed his neighbor and nephew, Woody Gene Jarrell, 28, in front of a room full of attorneys in court for "lawyers' day," the Friday when motions are regularly presented.

"It wasn't your ordinary day in court," said Commonwealth Attorney Jerry Patton, who witnessed the two men fighting earlier in the hall in front of his office.

According to Officer Ricky Thornsberry of the sheriff's office, Russell Jarrell was arrested and charged with first degree assault after he stabbed Woody Jarrell in the shoulder area and attacked his mother, 80-year-old Oma Jarrell, also of Slick Rock in the Cow Creek area. Thornsberry said he arrived in the court room shortly after the stabbing was reported. "The first thing I saw," said Thornsberry, "was Russell hit his mother in the face."

The officer then arrested the man and was taking him from the courtroom when he saw Beulah Jarrell, Russell's wife, "striking her mother-in-law." Beulah Jarrell was then arrested and charged with fourth degree assault.

Thornsberry said Russell Jarrell was confined to Floyd County jail under $100,000 cash bond. His wife posted a $2,000 property bond.

Woody Jarrell was reportedly treated and released at Highlands Regional Medical Center. Thornsberry said the elder Mrs. Jarrell, whose nose was reportedly bloodied during the attack, did not accept medical treatment at the time.

Thornsberry said the fight is believed to have stemmed from a "long-standing boundary dispute."

Grand Jury To Convene

The Floyd County Grand Jury will meet beginning May 1, according to Commonwealth Attorney Jerry A. Patton.

Patton said all persons desiring to appear before the Grand Jury must first contact his office at 886-1604 for an appointment on April 20 to discuss and prepare their cases.

Each person will then be assigned a specific date and time to appear before the Grand Jury to present their case, Patton noted.

First P'burg Lottery Ticket Sold

State Rep. Greg Stumbo, above, is pictured buying the first lottery ticket sold in Prestonsburg early Tuesday morning. "I've never bought a lottery ticket in my life — it's just a symbolic event," Stumbo said as he made the purchase. He bought five tickets, and won $1 — and used it to buy another ticket.

Blue Ribbon Panel Completes Recommendations

The Blue Ribbon panel, appointed last fall to recommend improvements to the Floyd County school system, will turn its recommendations in to the school board tonight (Wednesday).

Chairperson Delores Smith estimates the 19-member panel spent an average of 42 hours each in meetings, plus several times that number of hours in individual "homework" in preparing the 20-page report.

Beginning the last of October, the panel was charged with examining three aspects of the school system that were singled out for criticism by the state Department of Education and county educators: management and personnel, curriculum and finances.

Subcommittees of the larger panel each chose an area to study and to make recommendations on. Panel members sought advice from the state Department of Education and from other school systems, and drew upon their own expertise and experience.

The panel held two public forums, one for teachers and another for interested citizens, to get local input.

"The group took the task very seriously," said Smith, a parent, businesswoman and member of the Floyd County Education Forum. "They were very diligent with the time they put in."

"We were all looking for better ways to educate our young people and we had to keep in mind what was feasible," she said. "The recommendations had to be attainable."

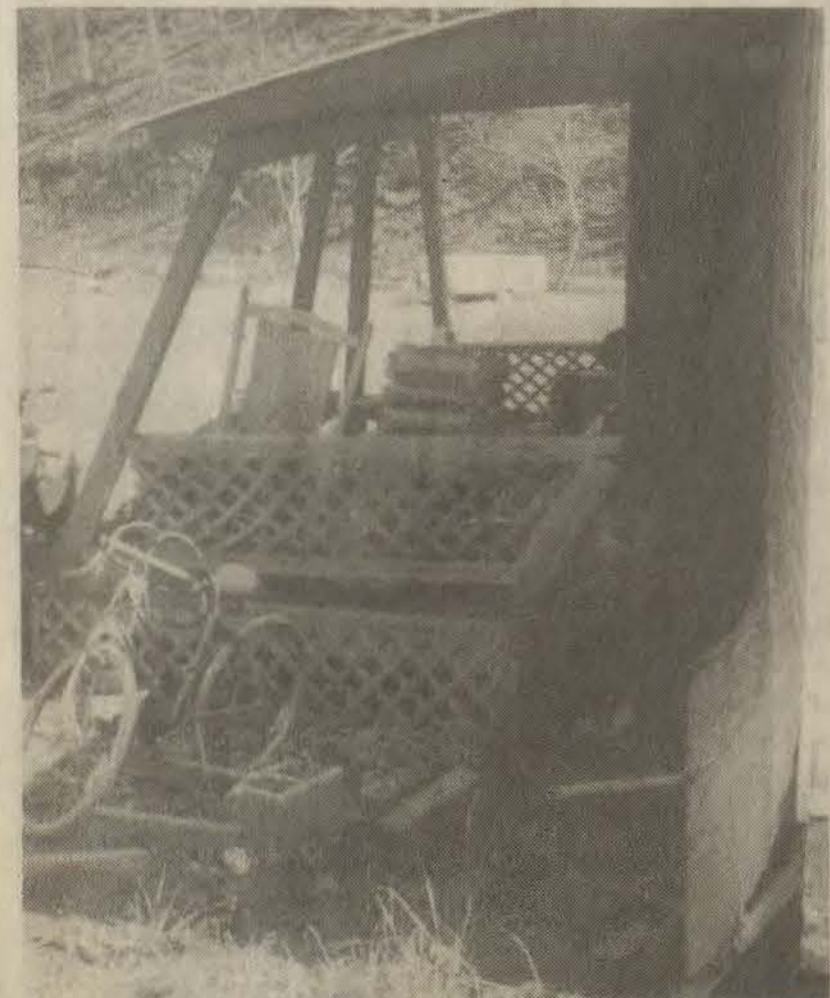

Smith stressed that the panel's job was to recommend. "It's now up to the board to study the recommendations. The decision is entirely theirs as to what will happen now," she said. "They are not obligated to carry out the recommendations."

While Smith would not go into particulars, because the board will not receive the report until tonight, she did say that it proposes a new management structure for the system.

She also said that some of the recommendations "place more emphasis on instruction and the coordination of instruction" among the schools. In addition, the report addresses salary increases for classroom personnel, she said.

Although admitting the task took a great deal of time and effort, Smith said she believes the process was important. "As a group, we realize

Couple Receives Rude Awakening

Peggy and James Howell woke up with a jolt early Tuesday morning as the wind whipped their mobile home off its foundation and wrenched its skirting. The tornado-like winds from area thunderstorms moved the front part of the trailer on Copperas Lick of Abbott Creek about 12 feet, disconnecting electrical and plumbing systems. Their deck, which received substantial damage, is shown above. Interestingly, the winds did not affect the bicycle in the foreground, which remained standing throughout the storm.

Storm Damages Abbott Home

Many people throughout the county were awakened by the severe thunderstorms early Tuesday morning, but Peggy and James Howell were practically thrown from bed.

"It scared me to death," said Peggy of the tornado-like wind that shoved one end of the couple's mobile home 12 feet off its block foundation and rearranged the deck and landscaping.

Metal skirting around the front of the home on Copperas Lick of Abbott Creek was mangled. The deck at the rear looked as if an angry giant had smashed it.

Inside the home, the bathroom commode was on its side because the sub-floor plumbing pipes had been disconnected. The electrical box hung from the wall.

The storm, the Howells said, mimicked a tornado in that it seemed to "touch down" just in certain areas of their property. Evergreen trees on either side of the driveway were upended, but one by the front steps was left intact.

A dirt bike, a bicycle and a lawnmower in the yard were unmoved, but a dog house that had been two feet from the mower was relocated to another part of the yard.

The Howells believe that several bags of concrete on the deck and the heavy waterbed in their bedroom kept the back end of the mobile home from moving.

"For awhile I thought the whole trailer was going to turn over," Peggy said. "As soon as the wind died down, we were out of here."

Strangely, other houses in the hollow were unharmed. The Howells believe their house was hit hardest because it sits in the middle of a good-sized, cleared field.

In Auxier, trees were uprooted — one falling on a residence.

Tom Addington of the US Weather Service station in Jackson said no tornadoes showed up on radar of the area, but he added that winds of more than 50 miles per hour were recorded with thunderstorms in neighboring Magoffin County. "By the time the storm reached parts of Floyd County, the winds may have been even more intense," he said.

A strong thunderstorm, Addington said, can register winds of between 60 and 70 miles per hour, and "an intense downpour can produce winds similar to a tornado." He said the weather service had received "numerous reports of trees downed and electrical lines out" throughout the area.

Hearing To Commute Death Sentence Scheduled April 12

The defense attorney for convicted murderer Oakie Bevins has filed in Greenup County Circuit Court for a hearing to re-plead the Floyd County man's death sentence.

The hearing is tentatively set for April 12 at 2:30 p.m. in Greenup, but may be changed because of a request from the state Attorney General's office to reschedule, according to local Commonwealth Attorney Jerry Patton.

Bevins received the death sentence after being tried and convicted of killing five persons in Allen in the early 1980s. According to Marie Allison of the state's Department of Public Advocacy, Bevins, who is 78, is the oldest death row inmate in the United States, out of a total of 2,500 condemned prisoners.

The hearing is expected to reconsider the effectiveness of Bevins' attorney during his trial, said Patton, who added that the case has been on appeal for several years.

In a response to the request for a hearing, Patton wrote to the state Attorney General's office to support Bevins' original sentence. "It is my strong desire," Patton wrote, "that Oakie Bevins gets the death penalty and is electrocuted before he dies a natural death."

In his letter, Patton stated, "I am sure that you will not find more than a handful of people in Floyd County who would disagree with me."

Patton said that the length of time taken to execute a death row prisoner "reflects on the judicial system adversely" and that prosecutors "get the blame for it although there is not a whole lot that we can do to change things."

The Commonwealth Attorney said he plans to do everything he can to see that the matter "reaches a speedy disposition to having the sentence which he (Bevins) has already received executed."

Patton said that since there is a chance that the hearing will be rescheduled, persons interested in attending the hearing should call his office next week to make sure it is still scheduled.

Record Crowd Attends Floyd Literacy Luncheon

by Pam Shingler
Assistant Editor

When members of the Floyd County Adult Literacy Council were planning the annual Literacy Luncheon, they expected a large crowd, according to council president Dan Greene.

"But we never expected to pack the house," said Greene, addressing the 175 business, education and civic leaders who attended Thursday's event at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn.

Kentucky first lady Martha Wilkinson was the keynote speaker for the luncheon, planned to focus attention on the county's literacy and GED training programs.

"I thought when we started, if we could organize and all march together, we'd be bound to make some progress," said Wilkinson, referring to her efforts with Martha's GED Army, which promotes basic education programs for adults across the state.

The task was daunting, she said, because "one of every two adults in Kentucky needs help with basic education." The state has one of the lowest high school graduation rates in the country, she added.

"But the programs are working," the first lady said. She pointed out that the number of persons enrolled in GED programs in 1988 increased by 283 percent over the previous year. "We're turning things around," she said.

When she decided to start the push for GED emphasis, Wilkinson said she had to tackle the "big bureaucracy over there," referring to state government. "I kept hearing 'you can't do that' or 'it won't work,' but I won't listen to that."

She has successfully sought donations from businesspersons in the state for promoting awareness of adult basic education needs. Billboards, posters and other materials hawking Martha's GED Army have saturated the state, thanks in large part to corporate sponsorship, she said.

She has also been successful in gaining support from industry and union representatives in sponsoring GED and literacy programs. Her efforts have been endorsed by the state's Chamber of Commerce and the

KFTC To Host Meeting Concerning Garbage, Recycling

The Floyd County Chapter of Kentuckians For The Commonwealth will hold a meeting on Tuesday, April 11, at 7 p.m. at the public library in Prestonsburg.

Speakers at the meeting, which is open to the public, will focus on problems with out-of-state garbage coming into Kentucky. They will also discuss possible plans for recycling in the area.

For more information, contact the KFTC offices at 886-0043.

(Continued from Page 1) what working together can do for us," the chairwoman said. "And speaking for myself, I want that opportunity many, many more times."

Smith heaped praise on her co-workers, particularly the other members of the executive committee, Burl Wells Spurlock and Rev. Quentin Scholtz, and the subcommittee heads, Anne Chaney, Jean Rosenberg and Betty Rowland.

County Judges Association.

Her goal, she said, is to eliminate the need for efforts such as Martha's GED Army. She urged those attending the luncheon to get involved as volunteer tutors, in referring employees and coworkers to appropriate training programs and in providing job site programs for employees.

"I'm doing all in my power to promote adult basic education," Wilkinson said. "We must start promoting the value of education in Kentucky."

The literacy council, coordinated by Marcie Menster, presented plaques to Wilkinson, the State Department of Education, Kentucky Literacy Commission and The Floyd County Times for their support of adult education.

The council also gave special recognition to local organizations that have made outstanding contributions to literacy and GED efforts. These included First Baptist Church in Wheelwright, First Presbyterian Church in Prestonsburg, Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin, Mud Creek Clinic, and R & S Trucking in Allen.

Special tribute was given Ben Meade, the first R&S employee to receive a GED since the company began GED classes for its employees at the job site. Meade recorded one of the highest GED test scores in the state.

Council members pointed out that more than 50 GED and reading programs are going on in Floyd County, with more than 300 enrollees.

The luncheon was sponsored by the literacy council and the Prestonsburg Rotary Club.

Homemakers Schedule Set

The Martin Homemakers will meet on Monday, April 10, at 7 p.m. Dorothy Tackett and Jean Meade will be hostesses.

The Prestonsburg Day Homemakers will meet Tuesday, April 11, at 1 p.m. with Nancy Webb, Hope Whitten and Rose Glen as hostesses.

The Abbott Creek Homemakers will meet Tuesday, April 11, at 7 p.m. at the church annex.

The Wheelwright Night Homemakers will meet Thursday, April 13, at 7 p.m. at the center.

A calligraphy workshop will be held Monday, April 10, at the Kentucky Power Company at 10 a.m.; registration should be completed by April 7.

Car Wash Slated

The Senior High United Methodist Youth Fellowship will hold a car wash Saturday, April 9, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the parking lot of the First United Methodist Church on Arnold Avenue in Prestonsburg.

On-The-Job Education

First Lady Martha Wilkinson, left, congratulates Ben Meade, the first graduate of R&S Truck Body's on-site GED program. With Meade at last week's Floyd County Literacy Luncheon was his wife Marketta. In January R&S began offering GED classes at the plant, on company time, for its employees. Meade, of Prestonsburg, scored among the highest in the state on the GED examination.

Wilkinson To Visit Betsy Layne April 10

Gov. Wallace Wilkinson will be in Floyd County Monday, April 10, as part of his "Capitol to the Counties" program in the 7th Congressional District.

The governor will be at the Betsy Layne High School gym near US 23 from 6:15 to 7:30 p.m. for "Martha's Supper," honoring state government employees and friends in the 7th Congressional District.

In addition, Wilkinson and his cabinet will set up shop in the district April 10-11, holding office hours at Hazard on Monday, April 10, and in Morehead on Tuesday, April 11. The governor will also conduct regional issues forums in Hazard and Ashland.

"Through Capitol to the Counties," said Wilkinson, "we can give more people the opportunity to interact with government officials.

"I want to break down the image of state government as something that goes on only in Frankfort. State government is for all the people. It is easier for us to bring the Capitol to the counties than it is for many people to get to Frankfort."

BL High School Teacher Reportedly Assaults Student

by Anne Chaney,
Editor

Information gleaned from an internal investigation by school district officials will be reported to the Floyd County Board of Education tonight regarding a teacher's alleged physical assault of a Betsy Layne High School student.

According to Superintendent Ronald Hager, the alleged incident took place in a classroom at the school last week. Hager said he has discussed the allegations — which are not of a sexual nature — with parents.

If allegations are true, he said, the teacher's conduct may not have been in compliance with the board's adopted code of conduct for disciplinary acts, and could result in possible dismissal of the teacher or a suspension of her contract.

Because the investigation is continuing, and information has not been presented to the board, no further details were available as of presstime.

Education Activities Set In May Festival Of FACES

by Anne Chaney
Editor

The Floyd County Festival of FACES, slated May 10-14, will feature a variety of educational activities, including a 75-piece art exhibit, a music festival, all-county band, and middle school and high school scholastic bowls.

Opening the festival's education-oriented events will be the 75-piece art exhibit, available for public viewing Wednesday, May 10, at the Prestonsburg Community College Art Gallery. Fifteen pieces of art work will be submitted by students from each of the five high schools in the county, resulting in a 75-piece exhibit that will span mediums from ceramics to oil painting. Judges will be the five art teachers in the county. They will choose the two best works from each high school, and those students will be given the honor of "All County Artists," receiving a certificate and ribbon, according to Dani Smith, school spokeswoman.

The top 10 students' work will be moved to the music festival on Thursday, May 11, for exhibit. The music festival, which is the opening event of the Festival of FACES, will be held at Prestonsburg High School's gymnasium beginning at 7 p.m.

The Festival of FACES committee chairpersons will be introduced, and awards will be given to the All County Artists, said Smith.

Band and choral music students from several schools in the county will participate. In addition, high schools are currently choosing individual Music Festival Queens, who will compete for the Miss Music Festival Queen's title.

On Friday, May 12, the All-County band will be practicing at Prestonsburg High School's football field, preparing for Saturday's parade. Friday afternoon, the high school and middle school scholastic bowls will begin. An estimated 15 teams are expected to participate. Scholastic bowl competition will conclude Friday evening; a winner and runner-up for both middle school and high school divisions will be named, earning the title of "Festival of FACES Scholastic Bowl Quick Recall Winner."

Saturday, the All-County Band will march in the 3 p.m. parade, Smith said.

FACES Scholastic Bowl and Jenny Wiley Academic Conference will be officially presented, closing the Festival of FACES.

Fires Reported In County

A blaze in a building adjacent to Dizzy Tire Sales was brought under control early Thursday morning by Garrett Volunteer Fire Department personnel, according to Terry Triplett, captain.

The fire was apparently caused when boxes stacked near an open gas heater overturned. The contents had been burning about an hour before firefighters arrived.

The building, owned by Dee Music, is leased to Dizzy Tire Sales, and is adjacent to the business. According to Music, the building is used for his office and for storage. Music said approximately $20,000 in damage occurred. Several custom wheels stored in the building were destroyed. "I had no insurance," Music added, "so that's $20,000 lost."

An unrelated fire occurred at Stone Coal Creek at Garrett Monday around 4:30 p.m., said Triplett. A Honda vehicle owned by Mike Bentley burned for 35 minutes and was destroyed. The cause of the fire has not been determined; the owner was not at the scene.

In a separate automobile fire, an antique car was destroyed Friday night, March 31, according to Daniel Gullett, captain of the Southeast Fire Department. Gullett said the car was parked on the property of Collette Hall of Lower Burton.

"The car had been junked. I don't know if someone had planned to restore it," Gullett said. "We're unsure of the cause of the fire."

The Middle Creek Volunteer Fire Department responded to a bomb threat Sunday, April 2, about 10 a.m. at Dowell Chemicals on Middle Creek. Edgar Stephens, fire chief, said firefighters searched the area for approximately two hours and found nothing.

"The incident is still under investigation," Stephens said.

ARE YOU TIRED OF LITTER IN FLOYD COUNTY

Well so am I. A recent Appeals Court decision held that counties do not have to provide Workers' Compensation to prisoners on a work program or for public service in working off fines.

Starting April 10, 1989, my office will coordinate a program picking up litter on roads and creek banks using non-violent inmates who qualify for the work program and traffic violators who want to work off their fine by public service. These workers will be supervised at all times by a law enforcement officer.

This is ACTION you can see before the election, not PROMISES that you will never see.

Letters To The Editor

Reader Will Drive Slowly — Very Slowly — In Protest

Dear Editor,
I drive through Prestonsburg almost every day going to Prestonsburg Community College and doing other business in town.

I feel it's a shame Rt. 1428 is in such disrepair; it's a shame, but it also makes me mad, because my truck has notches in the rims from the potholes and "drop-off" spots. The last time I had the wheels aligned on my truck, the mechanic said I should drive slower where I know there are many potholes.

So what I plan to do about the situation, in protest of the poor road condition, is to drive slowly — very slowly — through the "Holy Road."

I don't mean to make the truckers mad, but I feel they should protest with me. "Go slow and save your auto" will be my motto as I drive to PCC and around Prestonsburg.

Stop, if you see me (which you probably will, since I plan to drive less than 10 mph), wave or toot your horn, then slow down yourself... the car repair you save could be your own!

Big Mud Road Curve Endangers Lives, Causes Wrecks

Dear Editor,
I am writing this in reference to a potentially "deadly" curve on the Big Mud Road (Rt. 979) approximately 1.3 miles from US 23.

In the past few years, we have witnessed accident after accident on this curve. Some people have wrecked more than once on this same curve. There have been as many as five wrecks in one day. A service station has had its gasoline pumps torn out four different times.

For some reason, a vehicle traveling out of Mud Creek can easily lose control, ending up over the hill, striking another vehicle, or hitting poles, buildings, or whatever. The danger this curve has caused to human lives has been brought to the attention of the Highway Department many times, but still, nothing has been done. Why not?

Please, someone, investigate what's causing these wrecks and do something before an innocent person loses his or her life.

Dear Editor,
As a member of our community, and one who loves children, I would like to say I am confused about the adoption process for needy children. It is my understanding that we have a great many children who need homes. I see pictures of children in the newspapers, and under these pictures it says these children need a family to adopt them and give them a home with security and love.

I am confused, because I know at least five couples in our community that would love to adopt a child. These couples have gone through counseling classes to be approved as prospective adoptive parents. Several of these couples have been approved, for two years or longer, as adoptive parents.

My question is, what is wrong with the system when you have couples that desperately want a child, and children that need a home, and yet social service agencies cannot seem to get these people together? Why do these children have to grow up in foster homes without a family and home of their own? Why do these couples have to live an empty life, and it is an empty life without children to bring joy to their homes? These couples have sent several inquiries in on children, but have never heard from their inquiries.

These couples are willing to adopt siblings from the same family, rather than separate brothers and sisters. They are willing to adopt educable mentally handicapped children and abused children. These couples should be commended for their willingness to give these children a home.

As I stated before, something is wrong when children must grow up without parents, when we have so many couples that would love to have these children in their homes to love and care for.

Upset with the system,

Fans Should Be Proud Of Any 15th Region Team

Dear Editor,
A couple of comments on the response your paper has received over the acts of some fans regarding the recent 15th Region tournament. It is true that fans and students alike may have let their pride get a bit out of hand, but remember also that circumstances alter all cases.

Prestonsburg, having never won a regional tournament, was and would have been expected to be more overjoyed and displayed more enthusiasm that a team which might have won the regional contest before. However, even that being taken into account, bad language and/or acts the last seven years, or whether there will be a return to the shameful era of bootlegging in the not-so-distant past.

Those persons opposed to the legal sale of beverage alcohol would have you believe that the question of the continuance of legal sales of beverage alcohol involves a moral issue. The only moral issue to be addressed is whether one group of persons will be permitted to impose their preference on everyone.

It is erroneous to assume that restricting the availability of a legal means to purchase beverage alcohol in a given area will eliminate or even greatly reduce consumption. Prohibition of legal sales creates an atmosphere in which bootlegging and gangsterism flourish.

Legal sales of beverage alcohol means controlled sales. Licensed retail vendors of beverage alcohol are

'We Weren't Dry Before,' Says Goebel

Dear Editor,
When I was 13 years old, I remember some of my friends from the Prestonsburg Elementary School going to a local bootlegger and getting a half-pint of whiskey, when they then got drunk on. No questions asked; no ID checked — all you needed was the money.

In the local option election coming up on April 22, there is no such thing as a "dry" vote. We can either vote are not to be excused either by a losing team that may show its loss and disappointment a little to vocally, nor by the winner in an over-zealous display of grunts and taunts.

I am just proud that a 15th Region final game included two 58th District teams. Whoever represents the 15th Region will find fan support in the Sweet 16 from Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties. Be supportive of your school, but also be supportive of your regional representative.

Also, a note on the 15th Region All-Stars who are playing the 16th Region All-Stars. How come the 15th Region winners have no one represented on that team? Danny Hamilton, Todd Justice and Scott Hall can play on anyone's all-star team, as well as Chris Sloan and Thomas Nairn — and let's not forget ACHS, which took the eventual region winners into a double overtime with Kevin Spurlock's 34-point game. Who, I wonder, picks the all-star team?

Stay 'Wet', Urges Visitor To P'burg

Dear Editor,
I have been coming to visit Prestonsburg for over 22 years, both on business and to visit relatives. I have noticed that since the area went "wet" more business people have come into the community. I suspect also that more tourists are staying in the area as well.

that influx of people means good things for everyone in the community in the form of new jobs and better economic conditions.

Returning to the "dry" status would only help bootleggers and others who would illegally bring alcohol into the area.

I would certainly hope that the voters there carefully consider keeping the status quo and not turning back the clock.

Sincerely,

Liquor Dealers Group Supports Continued Sales

Dear Editor,
I am writing in support of the continuance of legal sales of alcohol in Prestonsburg. On April 22, the voters in eight precincts in the Prestonsburg area will choose whether to continue the progress of prohibited by law from selling to minors, intoxicated persons and habitual drunks, and may lose their license and the investment in their business if they violate the terms of their license. Bootleggers are violating the law whenever they sell alcoholic beverages, and therefore, seldom have any inhibitions about selling to anyone with enough money to purchase their wares. In addition, legal sales of alcohol beverages enhances revenues to local government and helps to promote economic development and tourism.

Prestonsburg has not experienced an increase in crime or drunk driving violations since adopting legal sales; in fact, quite the contrary. The experience of Prestonsburg with legal sales of beverage alcohol is often cited by surrounding communities as an example of the benefits of legal sales.

In conclusion, a vote in favor of legal sales is a vote for continued progress and a better community for everyone.

Sincerely,
Daniel R. Meyer

Restaurant Workers Urge Continued Sales Of Beverage Alcohol

Dear Editor,
We are the employees of Sam an Tonio's Restaurant, owned by Jack and LeNora Absher.

We would like to urge you to vote yes on the issue of the wet and dry ballot on Saturday, April 22.

We have 13 employees, who have 39 dependents, that support our families through this establishment.

If the city is voted dry, we and all of our dependents will either be on welfare, unemployment, or both. We are asking you as concerned citizens to please vote yes on April 22 to help us keep our jobs and families secure.

Your vote will be appreciated, especially by our families.

"yes" for legal sales, or "no" for illegal sales. Those of us who remember know we weren't "dry" before. The only difference was the bootleggers got the money instead of honest, legal business people and the city tax accounts.

Sincerely,
William O. Goebel III

Dear Editor,
The serious problem of trash in the Left Beaver Creek area is overwhelming. Never before has this problem been such a big issue. The beauty of this area is completely being destroyed by the utter carelessness of its citizens. This has been a problem for this area for quite some time, but it is steadily getting worse.

Sandy Miller's junior English class at McDowell High School would like to bring this to the attention of not only the citizens of Left Beaver Creek, but our county officials also.

We would like to urge the officials of Floyd County to join us in our fight to revitalize the beauty of Left Beaver Creek. Together we can end this problem and make our area a place that people want to visit and not dread.

Let us, the new generation, take pride in our community, something that past generations and even the present have failed to do.

Sincerely yours,
Leah Turner

20 Years Ago (April 3, 1969)

Its pilot Middle Creek project financed for the year by a $20,000 appropriation from the Appalachian Regional Commission, the Floyd County Soil Conservation District has submitted a new proposal for a bigger undertaking of the same nature. The new project is to include an area of approximately 17,000 acres, and has asked for $125,000 to carry out the improvement plan. . . . Two Floyd County mineworkers who claim they suffer from occupation-connected lung disease have asked the Floyd Circuit Court for relief after having been denied benefits by the Kentucky Workmen's Compensation Board. . . . Purchase of the D&D Food Market by Williamson Piggly Wiggly, Inc., was announced here Tuesday. . . . US Judge Mae Swinford Tuesday upheld a $7,231,356 judgment awarded to South East Coal Co., Irvine, in a case tried last October. . . . Floyd County farmers last year received a total of $104,067 through participating in the several programs conducted in the county under the agricultural conservation program. . . . When Prestonsburg's new low-rent housing complex, Indian Hills, opened to occupants March 22, its 42 units were quickly filled, and 95 families were left on the waiting list. . . . The layoff at Kentucky Appalachian Industries (KAI) which became effective Tuesday is only temporary, the Times was told today. . . . There died: William A. Cook, 81, at Topmost; Edith Hays, 47, formerly of Garrett, at her home at Grand Rivers; Robert Adkins, 71, of Hueysville, at Our Lady of the Way Hospital at Martin; Mrs. Mannie Davis, 57, of Hippo, at the home of a daughter at Dema; Calvin P. Herrick, 67, father of Calvin Herrick Jr. of Prestonsburg, at Hollywood, Fla.; George W. Jones, 72, at his home in Manton; Buck Moore, 85, of McDowell, at the McDowell hospital.

Thirty Years Ago (April 9, 1959)

Negotiations at Washington between the United Mine Workers and truck coal operators of Eastern Kentucky apparently were headed for a breakdown Wednesday. The conference was foundering on the unyielding stand taken by both sides on contract terms. The chief bone of contention between the truck operators and the union is a wage increase of $2 per day and a protective wage clause. Closing of the mines has idled 7,000 workers. . . . Sen. John Sherman Cooper proposed last week that a home garden program be started immediately for needy families. . . . A concerted move throughout the Big Sandy Valley in Kentucky and Virginia to convince congressional leaders of the need for action of flood control is being prepared in advance of Washington hearings set for April 28 and 29. . . . The Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad expects to begin construction here within two weeks of a 50x80 foot building which will serve it as permanent quarters. . . . The offense of breaking and entering, one of the most common on Floyd court dockets, came to special attention by Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill. In his instructions to the grand jury, he recommended stiffer penalties and fewer probations. . . . Born: to Mr. and Mrs. James Richard Spurlock, of Richmond, a son, on March 27, named James Richard. . . . There died: George Stratton, 76, of Betsy Layne, at his home; Eliza Skeans Blackburn, 56, of West Prestonsburg; Johnnie Jenkins, 47, of Pyramid, at his home.

Forty Years Ago (April 7, 1939)

Circuit Judge W.B. Ardery has called for arguments in the $2,000,000 Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company rate case and has set the oral arguments for April 8 in Circuit Court in Frankfort. . . . Recent creation of one new Eastern Kentucky judicial district and the reshuffling of others, including the 31st Review, caused a member of the non-partisan constitution commission this week to propose a constitutional amendment which will make a recommendation by the Court of Appeals necessary before a new district can be created or old boundary lines changed. . . . At a Fiscal Court meeting, salaries were set for county officials as follows: County judge, $4,200 a year; county attorney, $1,800; jailer, $1,200; county clerk, $750. Unchanged are the tax levy figures: 50 cents per $100 valuation on real estate and personal property for the bond fund; $1.50 poll tax; 20 cents on each $100 cash value of bank stock; 1 percent of the market value of crude oil produced in the county; 2 percent tax on forest lands for fire protection. . . . The work relocating graves now in the Johns Creek area and reinterring of 718 bodies will probably begin around May 15, it has been announced. . . . There died: Margery Harris Prater, 61, of Emma, at her home; Sgt. George Elliot Webb, 22, of Wayland, killed in action in Lorraine, France; and Annie Mae Lazar, 30, of Estill.

Fifty Years Ago (April 5, 1939)

Between 5,000 and 7,000 Floyd County miners were idle this week while mine workers' representatives were in futile parley with coal operators' delegates in New York, on the wage and hour scale. . . . Gertrude Knott, founder of the National Folk Song Festival in Washington, D.C., Monday heard a number of Floyd County's Plain-Song Chanters and singers of traditional hymns and ballads at the home of Edith Fitzpatrick James render "mountain music," which she declares to be among the best in the land. . . . "I have examined school classes in first aid in the states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, and this is the best-instructed class I have ever examined," H.L.H. McGoire, examiner for the US Bureau of Mines, last week told seventh and eighth grade students of the Weeksbury school, who had completed a first-aid course under the tutelage of Carl G. Ford, principal. . . . For the ninth consecutive year, the Floyd Fiscal Court Wednesday approved the appropriation necessary for the retention of services of County Agent S.L. Isbell. . . . Thirty Prestonsburg business men and women will receive diplomas at a commencement banquet to be held at the Auxier Hotel April 21, by the Mayo State Vocational School. . . . There died: Mose Henderson, 26, of Clear Creek, at Beaver Valley Hospital; Willie Estep, 59, at the home of a daughter, at Garrett; the Rev. V.D. Harmon, 71, father of Dan Harmon, Wayland, at his home in Louisa.

Gilkerson's Efforts Are Commended

Dear Editor,
In honor of National Volunteer Week, April 8-15, I would like to recognize the volunteer efforts of an outstanding member of your community.

Pam Gilkerson is the International Exchange coordinator for Educational Foundation for Foreign Study, a non-profit student exchange organization dedicated to increasing cultural awareness and international understanding. Volunteers like Pam make it possible for teenagers from 22 countries to spend a year living with a US family and attending the local high school. She also helps our high school students discover the joys of living abroad.

In addition to this fine individual, I would like to pay tribute to the other Prestonsburg citizens who have also made a real contribution to international understanding this year. Host families and high schools who have opened their hearts to foreign students deserve to be commended, as do many other community members who have helped these students discover what it is like to live as an "American teenager."

Hats off to Pam! Her strong commitment to international friendship is bringing nations a little closer together.

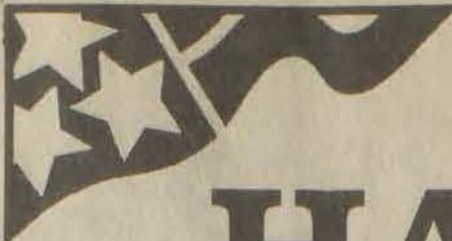

Sincerely,

Floyd Litter Less Noticeable

Dear Editor,
I left Floyd County a little over six years ago, and have been living in Ohio ever since. Recently, I returned to visit some relatives, and must say that I was pleasantly surprised.

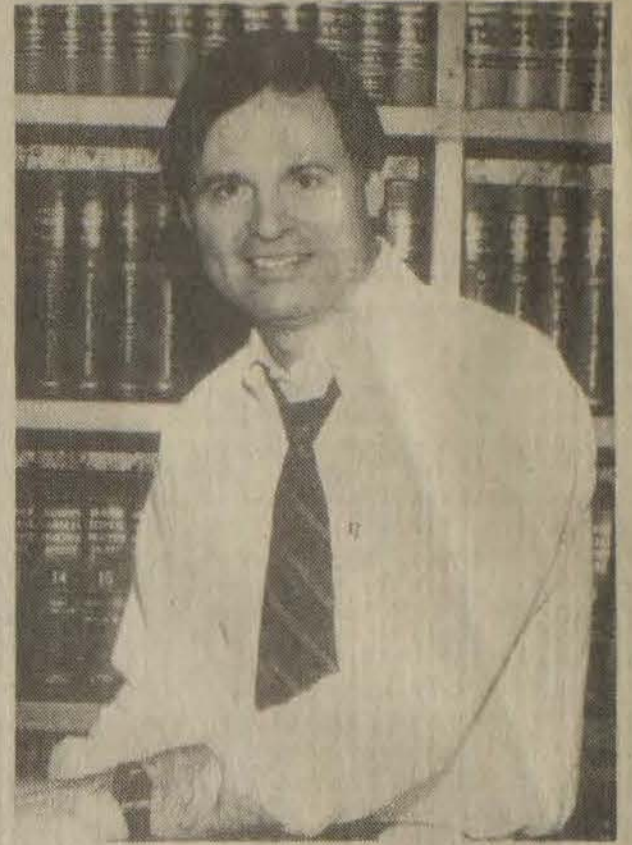

Immediately upon crossing the Floyd County line, I noticed a tremendous difference in the landscape. The roadsides were much cleaner and there were not nearly as many dumps. Therefore, hats off to the people responsible for trash collection. You're doing a great job. Keep up the good work!

Sincerely,

Leadership, Pride and Love For Floyd County

For the economic development of Floyd County and Eastern Kentucky, our present industries need to be promoted, protected and encouraged to grow and expand. Two of these, Coal and Tourism, are truly our "aces in the hole". As your Floyd County Attorney, I will work with all the people of Floyd County to promote and protect our present and two basic industries and tax bases. Together, we will work for and accomplish the following:

COAL

1. Develop strong, stable and profitable markets for the sale of coal.
2. Continue the development of health and safety laws and regulations to protect the workers and to ensure the consistent and uninterrupted mining of coal.
3. Continue to develop environmental protection laws and methods to provide a healthy environment for all the people and an environment in which we can take pride in its beauty and splendor.

TOURISM

1. Create and finance a regional tourist advertising association charged with the sole purpose of advertising the tourist attractions of Jenny Wiley State Park, Breaks of the Mountains Interstate Park, Paintsville lake, Buckhorn State Park, Fish Trap Reservoir, Carr Fork Reservoir and the beauty of the mountains, rivers, streams and the wildlife of this area.
2. Development of recreational activities in the parks, including fishing, swimming, boating, water skiing, golf, snow skiing and ice skating, so that we have year round tourist attractions.
3. A Floyd County Zoo which would include animals of our Eastern Kentucky natural habitat.

Local, State and Federal Revenue is now available—all we need is a reallocation of these funds from the "Golden Triangle" of Louisville, Lexington and Covington.

INVITATION TO CRIME

As Citizens, we all want the same things out of life; good jobs, basic freedoms, and a safe place to raise our families. Yet, these simple desires may be threatened by a movement to make the 8 precincts in the Prestonsburg area dry. The April 22 initiative to band legal sales of alcohol is a classic example of good intentions with frightening consequences.

- 1) Jobs would be lost to legally licensed retailers and later to all of us as our economic downturn dries up our county.
- 2) Our community will succumb to a flood of bootleggers and illegal marketers. Those who have the most to gain are bootleggers who often support the dry movement.
- 3) Bootleggers subvert a county by; selling to teenagers and children, drinking and corrupting government officials, engaging in violent crime, and promoting the idea that its ok to mock the law.

While licensed retailers are legally bound not to sell alcohol to those under age, bootleggers are beyond control!

Don't allow this type of activity to rear its ugly head again in our community. We urge you to vote YES on April 22, 1989 for the continual growth and well being in our community.

CPR Instructor Shapes Up After Recent Heart Attack

by Pam Shingler
Assistant Editor

Ironically, Larry Adams was testing a class of Emergency Medical Technicians when he felt the heart attack coming on.

The Saturday class was just one of the extra responsibilities that the Prestonsburg building inspector and firefighter took on in the fast-paced, hectic lifestyle that kept him busy from early in the morning until late at night from Monday through Sunday.

When the chest pain started around 9 a.m., Adams says he tried to convince himself the discomfort was "just indigestion." But soon, he realized his condition was more serious. "I was pretty certain what was going on," says the man who frequently teaches other people how to recognize heart attack symptoms.

But, as is typical of some heart attack-prone achievers, Adams determined to complete the morning testing. "I suffered with it until around noon when I handed my friend my car keys and said 'Take me to Highlands Regional (Medical Center).'"

At the hospital, Adams was admitted into the intensive care unit and given medication to dissolve a blood clot that created the attack.

The next day, the CPR instructor began feeling more severe chest pains. His doctor, fearing a massive heart attack, had him flown to the University of Kentucky Medical Center for a heart catheterization.

The trauma started on Feb. 4, and today Adams is still recuperating. Doctors tell him he's fortunate that his heart muscle received minimum damage. Now he's trying to make some major changes in his lifestyle to prevent a replay.

Enter Zina Goble, a registered nurse and head of the Cardiac Rehabilitation Center at Highlands. Reed-slim and cheery, Goble supervises the life-changing process of Adams and about 20 other heart attack victims.

The center is equipped with treadmills, stationary bicycles and other strength-building gear to help patients ease into an exercise program that will build back their heart muscle. Goble provides monitoring, education and reassurance.

"The first step is getting over the fear that goes with a heart attack," says Goble, "and that includes psychological as well as mental fear."

Adams is a case in point. "The first day I was scared to death. I didn't know how much my heart could take or if I could do anything again."

When Adams started he was "weak as water. His legs cramped, he was short of breath and his energy level was poor," Goble says.

About six weeks ago on Adams' first day at the center, he was only able to walk for five minutes at 2.5 miles an hour, says Goble. Last week, with slow and steady progress, he could walk one mile in 15 minutes, carrying 30 pounds of breathing gear to simulate what he may have to do when he goes back to his job with the city in a few weeks.

"After that first day, I was so weak, I went home and went to sleep," Adams explains. "But each day I did a little more. Zina brings you along slowly and I feel safe in here."

Goble monitors each of the patients who come in for an hour's session three times a week. A computer records and prints out data on each person's heart performance, and Goble takes each one's blood pressure as they exercise. The center, open for 10 years, is the only one of its kind in a five-county area.

The object of the exercise program is to get the heart back into condition so patients can go back to work or to their regular routine in shape. "The program builds your system back up," says Adams. "It's mental healing as well as physical."

Goble says another important plus is that her patients, who range in age from 30 to 75, have someone to talk to about their condition. "They can tell me when they have chest discomfort or when they have questions about what they can do," she says. "I constantly reassure them that things will get better."

Also important is Goble's emphasis on total lifestyle change, not just exercise. She counsels the heart attack victims, as well as their families, on eating habits and monitors their cholesterol levels.

"I never ate any regular meals," says Adams, referring to his pre-attack life. "I skipped breakfast and for lunch I had a couple of greasy hamburgers. In between I gobbled Pepsi and chips."

"Now I've gotten away from junk food almost entirely," says Adams, whose wife has assisted him with the change in eating habits.

Goble also makes patients think about ways to reduce the stresses in their lives.

"Before (the attack), if anybody wanted something done, I tried to do it," says Adams, whose city work and teaching kept him busy for 12 or 13 hours a day. "Now I know there's a limit to what I can do. My thinking has changed."

With the exercise, diet and attitude programs working, Adams believes that when he goes back to work he'll "probably be in better shape than they (his coworkers) are."

Testing his endurance with the added weight normal to his job, Adams wants to be sure he can handle the job when his doctor gives him the nod to go back to work. "I don't want the guys I work with to be afraid I'm going to fall dead."

In just a couple of months, Adams' life has changed dramatically. Last Sunday, he celebrated his 42nd birthday. "This birthday means more to me than any other. You can believe that."

Preparing To Go Back To Work . . . Healthy

Prestonsburg building inspector and firefighter Larry Adams tests his endurance on a treadmill at Highlands Regional Medical Center. Nurse Zina Goble, who convinced him to try the trek carrying emergency firefighter's equipment, checks his blood pressure. Adams had a heart attack in February.

Do These People Look Familiar?

Let me introduce you to them. Pictured on my right is my father, Thurston Endicott. He is the son of William and Sarilda Endicott of Buffalo. He is a good man and a hard worker. He started working for the City of Prestonsburg in 1967 as a garbage truck driver and is still there today, 22 years later. If you live in Prestonsburg, he probably knows you, probably by your first name.

The lady on my right is my mother, Delcie Endicott. She is the daughter of the late Jeff and Mary Belle (Jarrell) Jervis of Buffalo. Both she and my father reside at their home in Buffalo.

As for me, my name is Johnny (Keith) Endicott and I am running for Magistrate in District 1. I believe that "It's time for a change." I believe that a magistrate should take their job seriously and work to make our District a better place to live.

District 1 deserves this kind of magistrate. Someone who is qualified to do the job, and do it right, the first time. Someone who will help all the people all the time and not just at election time.

If elected, I will be that magistrate. I will be there when you need me. I will be there to help in any way that I can. That's A Promise!

P'burg Council To Meet April 10

The Prestonsburg City Council will meet Monday, April 10, at 7 p.m. in the Municipal Building; the meeting is open to the public.

Agenda items include discussion of a Community Development Block Grant sought as part of a joint program between the city and Mountain Comprehensive Care; a discussion of the proposed fire tower; an ordinance mandating a drug-free workplace for city employees; scheduling budget meetings; and discussing street and sidewalk projects.

According to Mayor Ann Latta, other items may be added to the agenda prior to the meeting.

Class Tours Newspaper Offices

Fourteen children from Terri Tackett's third grade class from McDowell Elementary School recently toured the Floyd County Times. The tour included an explanation of the different departments of the newspaper, and how each functions, as well as discussion of the ways in which news stories are written. The students also toured the Floyd County Courthouse.

Marie Adkins

Marie Maggard Adkins, 71, of Martin, died Wednesday, March 29, at Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin following a long illness.

She was born Jan. 7, 1918, in Perry County, a daughter of the late Hite and Louise Spencer Maggard. She was a member of the Arkansas Church of Christ for 14 years.

Survivors include her husband, Garner Adkins; three sons, Jimmy Dale Adkins, Donald P. Adkins and John Edward Adkins, all of Martin; a daughter, Wanda Gay Webb of Martin; three brothers, Elmer Maggard of Little Rock, Ark., Charley Maggard of Wabash, Ind., and James Daryl Maggard of Detroit, Mich.; two sisters, Lola Conn of Martin and Mary Francis Hudson of Nashville, Tenn.; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were held Saturday, April 1, at 1 p.m. at the Hall Funeral Home Chapel in Martin with evangelist Ronnie Sammons officiating. Burial followed in the Adkins Cemetery at Martin.

Rosemary Brown

Rosemary Horn Brown, 55, of Auburn, Ind., formerly of Hueysville, died Saturday, April 1, in the Parkview Memorial Hospital in Ft. Wayne, Ind., following a short illness.

Born Sept. 11, 1933 in Floyd County, she was a daughter of Myrtle Gayheart Horn of Hueysville and the late Grant Horn. She was a member of the Assembly of God Church in Brimfield, Ind.

Survivors, other than her mother, include her husband, Rosevelt Brown; three sons, Gary Bruce Bailey of Albion, Ind., Alan Todd Bailey of Hueysville and Jeffery Scott Brown of Auburn, Ind.; four daughters, Vickie Arnold of Cromwell, Ind., Joni Leigh Jordan of Brownsburg, Ind., Lisa Renee Brown of Auburn and Debra Harper of Kendallville, Ind.; three brothers, Robert Horn of Kendallville, Ronnie Horn and Mack Horn, both of Hueysville; five sisters, Georgie Shepherd of Dayton, Ohio, Donna Vanover of Williamsburg, Linda Adcox of Dayton, Connie Prater of Hueysville and Bonnie Matheny of Dayton; and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, April 4, at 1 p.m. in the Hueysville Church of Christ with Rondal Hayes officiating. Burial followed in the Allen Cemetery at Hueysville under the direction of Hall Funeral Home of

Serving as active pallbearers were Marlin Adcox, Ed Tharp, Taylor Prater, Larry Russell Dudleson, Randy Allen and Wade Martin.

Malissie Collins

Malissie Collins, 89, of St. Paris, Ohio, died Tuesday, March 28 at Mercy Medical Center in Springfield, Ohio.

Born May 26, 1899, in Bolyn, she was the daughter of the late Willie Gibson and Patsy Bolen. She was a member of the Church of God in Garrett. She was preceded in death by her husband, Wilson Collins, and three children.

Survivors include three daughters, Grace Crego of New Carlisle, Ohio, Lue Fitch of St. Paris and Goldie Craft of North Judson, Ind.; five sons, James of Baltimore, Md., Earnest and Ralph of Fairborn, Ohio, Raymond of Marshall, Mich., and Harold of Kendallville, Ind.; 23 grandchildren; 25 great-grandchildren, and four great-great-grandchildren.

Also surviving is a brother, Ernest Gibson of Garrett.

Funeral services were Thursday at Trostle-Chapman Funeral Home in New Carlisle, with the Rev. E.L. Talbee officiating. Burial was in Byron Cemetery in Fairborn.

Victor Keathley

Victor "Bud" Keathley, 44, of Lincoln Park, Mich., a native of Floyd County, died Thursday, March 23, at the Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park.

He was a son of the late Wallis and Eunice Keathley, formerly of Harold.

Survivors include his wife, Marietta Blackburn Keathley, who is the daughter of the late Pete Blackburn and Nora Blackburn of Salem, Ohio, formerly of Floyd County; a son, Victor Keathley II; a daughter-in-law, Regina Click Keathley of Lincoln Park; a daughter, Valeria Keathley, living at home; two sisters, Montana "Tea" Osborne of Banner and Nancy Spurlock of Harold.

Funeral services were held Monday, March 27, at the J.L. Peters Funeral Home in Lincoln Park, with the Rev. Roy Rich and the Rev. Johnny Jones officiating. Burial followed in Michigan Memorial Gardens in Flat Rock, Mich.

Pallbearers were Ellis Osborne, Leon Blackburn, Jimmy Osborne, Gregory Osborne, Kenneth Spurlock and Pfc. Dale Spurlock, USMC.

Ralph Salisbury

Ralph W. Salisbury, 71, of Sanford, Mich., died at his home Monday, March 20.

He was born in Maytown July 5, 1917, to the late Ballard and Lillian Hayes Salisbury. He was employed as an operator by Dow Chemical Co. for about 29 years, retiring in 1979. He was an avid sportsman and softball fan. He served in the US Navy during World War II from 1939 to 1945.

Survivors include a son, William Salisbury, and his wife, Pamela, of Midland, Mich.; a daughter, Vicki S. Wilcox and her fiancé, Gary Decker, of Midland; a sister and brother-in-law, Mrs. Thestal and William Mayo of Midland; grandchildren Christine A. Wilcox and Brett T. Wilcox of Midland; and his former wife, Myrtle Salisbury of Midland.

He was preceded in death by a sister, Maxie Wixson.

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Thursday, March 23, at Miner Funeral Home with the Rev. Robert C. Grigoreit of the First United Methodist Church officiating. Burial followed in the Midland Cemetery.

The family asks that memorials be made to the Michigan Arthritis Foundation or the Michigan Lupus Foundation.

William Slone

William Taulby Slone, 78, of Prestonsburg, died Saturday, April 1, at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Born Sept. 9, 1910 in Knott County, he was a son of the late Joseph and Bethanie Reynolds Slone. He was a retired coal miner and a member of the UMWA at Wayland.

Survivors include his wife, Belvia Newsome Slone; two daughters, Jacqueline Slone of Lexington and Elvinda Fannin of Columbus, Ohio; two step-daughters, Louise Wright of Charleston, S.C., and Shirley Galvin of Brockton, Mass.; three step-sons, Harlin Newsome of Point Pleasant, W.Va., Conrad Newsome of Charleston, S.C., and Robert Newsome of Beaufort, S.C.; three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday, April 3, at 2 p.m. at Hall Funeral Home Chapel in Martin with Mabry Holbrook officiating. Burial followed in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel.

Serving as pallbearers were Steve Newsome, Carlton Mullins, Robert Newsome, Harlin Newsome, Conrad Newsome and Manis Jones.

'I Think That I Shall Never See...'

It's time to pull out Joyce Kilmer's classic poem "Trees" for Arbor Day Friday. Donna Goble, right, of Laurel Farms nursery displays a proclamation from Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta declaring April 7 as Arbor Day in the city. Appropriately, the two chose the mini park near First Commonwealth Bank to announce the proclamation. The nurserywoman has planted redbud trees in several public areas. Another Arbor Day fan, businessman James J. Carter Sr., has also planted trees around the city. Arbor Day, which originated in 1872 in Nebraska, is designated each year across the country to create awareness and appreciation for the nation's trees and forests.

Wayland Council Studies Possible Funding Sources

Members of Wayland town board are to meet tonight at 6 p.m. at the town hall with representatives of the Big Sandy Area Development District to discuss planning strategies and funding sources that will address some of the community's continuing problems.

At Saturday's town board meeting, members listed some of the issues on which they will seek advice. Included were reclassification to Class 5 city, drainage, the proposed senior citizens center, reclamation of the abandoned slate dumps, liability insurance and funding for fire and police department needs.

Mayor Patricia Murphy presented a folder of grant forms from BSADD and asked members to examine the forms and the agency's policy manual before the Wednesday meeting "to think of projects."

Kentucky Power Company's failure to clear away trees cut for a right of way along Steele Creek was also discussed. Town clerk Carol Stapleton said she has called the power company several times. She said she also asked for a response in writing concerning a timetable for clearing the debris, which residents fear will further clog the town's drainage system.

Stapleton was also asked to contact Floyd County Judge Executive

As citizens once again raised the issue of stray dogs in the community, the board instructed the clerk to publish the town's dog licensing ordinance and to put notices at the town hall and police department.

Board member Gene Mullins, who was absent, had said at last month's meeting that he would have an attorney present at the April meeting, but none was there. Murphy said the board will continue to seek legal advice on coping with the stray animal problem. "All I can say is we're working on it, and I don't see any quick solution," she said.

In other business, the board approved a request for purchase of a mini tape recorder for the police department.

Present at the meeting were Murphy and board members Hobert Webb and Gene DeCoursey. The next regular meeting of the board is May 6 at noon.

Kentucky Power Conducts Consumer Response Survey

Ten thousand Kentucky Power Company customers are being asked to judge the company's quality of service during April.

The customers, randomly selected, are being sent a five-question survey with their electric bills during the month.

"It is one way we can find out how we can do some things better, or find out what we're doing right," said C. Richard Lovegrove, the company's public affairs director in Ashland.

"We have been doing this survey for three years, keeping it simple and easy to respond to, and we have learned quite a bit. We have also made some changes in part because of it. For example, we found most of our customers call in when they need service, so we've installed new phone systems that allow them to call much easier," Lovegrove added.

In addition to the five questions rating the company's service to customers, the questionnaires also allow for comments. "We get quite few — many that are good and some that indicate we need some improvements. But we welcome them all," said Lovegrove.

He said the survey is contained on a postage-paid card to be mailed back to the company.

Clarification

An article in last week's Floyd County Times stated that federal District Court had overturned a ruling of local District Court in a case brought by Gary Thornsbury of Wayland against Tommy L. Engle of Martin. Actually the cases heard by the two courts were separate. The case in local court was a criminal case, and Engle's acquittal stands. The federal court case was a civil suit and unrelated in legal terms.

Fundraiser Set

Saturday, April 15

Card Of Thanks

The family of Marie Maggard Adkins wishes to express their appreciation and thanks to all who sent food and flowers during this time of sorrow. Thanks to the staff at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Evang. Ronnie Sammons for his kind words and to the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and courteous services.

THE FAMILY

A proud tradition

Our funeral home has been responding to the needs of the community for many years. To continue this proud tradition of helping families in their time of need, we now offer the Sunset SecuritySM Plan.

Sunset SecuritySM, offered by us as a member of the Kentucky Funeral Directors Burial Association, is a plan that lets you reduce the stress your loved ones will experience at the time of a funeral.

Through Sunset SecuritySM, you can pre-arrange a funeral now. The plan offers an inflation-proof feature that lets you save money by freezing the cost of a funeral at today's prices. And it provides special tax-saving advantages.

We'd like to give you a "Personal Record Guide" and tell you about the Sunset SecuritySM Plan. Just complete the coupon below and send it to us.

Religious Viewpoints

by Gary Shepard, Pastor,
Zebulon Baptist Church

The greatest thief is he who would seek to steal the glory of God. Salvation is by the grace of God and for the glory of God. If we claim to glorify God in creation, in providence or in everything else, and steal His glory in salvation, we are still thieves of the worst kind.

On the one hand, there are those who would say that God has not ordained the end in salvation. They deny His glory in choosing a people in Christ before the foundation of the world. They deny His predestination of His elect to be conformed to the image of His son. They do not see the necessity of His effectual call and irresistible grace in bringing His people to Christ in faith. They reject the truth of His purpose to glorify and keep His people by the power of His grace for eternity and present them all faultless before His throne. These people make salvation to be all, most or part by man. They make salvation to ultimately depend on a person's decision, will, works or participation in an ordinance or ceremony. In doing so, they are guilty of trying to steal God's glory.

On the other hand, there are those who profess to believe that God has a sovereign purpose and has ordained the end. They claim to believe with a vigorous faith that all God's elect shall be saved. But these are guilty, nevertheless, of trying to steal God's glory in that they deny that God has also ordained the means by which this end is to be accomplished. They deny the necessity of preaching and hearing the gospel. They do not believe that faith is essential.

Regeneration, which Christ said was a "must," is made to be unnecessary. In short, they believe that some who never heard the gospel or believed in Christ or had any interest in the things of God will awake in eternity surprised that God has saved them. Christ's commands to repent and believe the gospel are bypassed. In time of death, they seem to find a universal hope for all.

But God, who has ordained the end—and I believe he has—has also ordained the means by which that end is brought to pass! He is glorified in the means He uses to do so. He uses the weak, base things that "no flesh should glory in His presence." Men must hear the true gospel and believe in Christ for salvation.

The absolute sovereignty of God is denied by the one and the responsibility of man is denied by the other;

both, because they cannot reconcile the two in their minds. But both of these truths are declared side by side in the scriptures. men are not to deny either, nor to seek to reconcile them, but to believe them because God has declared them.

That which may appear contradictory and irreconcilable in the minds of sinners is not so in the mind of God. Someone asked Charles Spurgeon, "How do you reconcile these things?" He replied, "I don't try to reconcile friends."

Due Process Hearings, School Calendar To Come Before Board

Three of five people recommended for demotion at the central office level for the Floyd County School District are requesting due process hearings, according to Superintendent Ronald Hager.

Russell Frazier, assistant superintendent of finance, Sharon Newsome, co-director of food service, and Ned Bush, health coordinator, will all be represented by Prestonsburg attorney Ned Pillersdorf.

Two other recommended for demotions involve personnel who have been in administrative positions less than three years. In such instances, said Hager, the board is not obligated to provide due process hearings. The administrators are Wayne Combs of Auxier Elementary and Bobby Hall of McDowell Elementary, both first-year principals.

"We have recommended demotion for these five persons with related reductions in responsibility and salary," said Hager. In instances where the individuals are certified, if the demotions are upheld, the administrators will be placed in other positions in the system.

Hager said he will ask the board to conduct the due process hearings at 6 p.m. on Thursday, April 27.

In other business, the board will receive the recommendations of the Blue Ribbon Panel, created in October to help formulate a long-term mission and goals statement for the district, and to identify additional funds to be used for salary increases for classroom personnel (see separate story, this issue).

The board is also expected to address the school calendar. Currently, students in Floyd County schools will remain in school until June 7, at the earliest, or, at other campuses, until mid-June.

Hager said he will ask the board to approve seeking disaster days from state officials, and amending the school calendar if they are approved. The district is not eligible for calamity days, he said, in instances where campuses were closed due to flooding, flu, or lack of drinking water.

Currently, students at Prestonsburg High School, and Prestonsburg, Auxier and Harold elementary schools, will attend school through June 7, provided no more days are missed. To date, students have missed 16 days.

Slated to attend through June 8 for 17 missed days are students attending Allen, Betsy Layne, Clark, Garrett, Martin, Prater and Spruce Pine elementaries, as well as Betsy Layne High School.

Students at Stumbo, Melvin, Wayland and McDowell elementaries, and McDowell High School, may have to attend through June 9 to make up 18 missed days.

Osborne Elementary School students have missed 19 days, delaying their closing date to June 12, if no other days are missed.

Missing 20 days, and slated to be out of school after June 13, are students attending Maytown and Drift elementaries, and Allen Central High School.

Wheelwright High School students, without water for a lengthy period earlier this academic year, missed 23 days, and have a tentative closing date of June 16.

Cablevision Enlists In 'Martha's Army'

Kentucky first lady Martha Wilkinson accepts a check, on behalf of the Floyd County Literacy Council, from Homer Wells, system manager of Cablevision of Prestonsburg. Wells presented the $250 to the local council, following Thursday's Literacy Luncheon, co-sponsored by the council and Prestonsburg Rotary Club. Wilkinson was the featured speaker at the luncheon. The donation represents the cable company's "continuing support of education," Wells said. Access to GED classes on Kentucky Educational Television is made possible by the local company, which also supplies free cable service to area schools.

Floyd Women To Compete In Miss Highlands Pageant

Two Floyd County women will be among several contestants in the second consecutive Miss Heart of the Highlands Scholarship Pageant Friday, April 7, and Saturday, April 8, at the Paintsville High School gymnasium.

The theme will be "Make Your Own Kind of Music," said pageant officials.

Competing from Floyd County will be Nancy Jo Kilgore, a 19-year-old sophomore at Prestonsburg Community College, and Wendy Patrice Combs, a 19-year-old sophomore at Prestonsburg Community College.

Other contestants will be Glenda

Haney, 23, a graduate student at Morehead State University; Linda Smith, 25, a graduate of Eastern Kentucky University; Margaret Ann Blackwell, 22, a senior at Morehead State University; Tamara Jean McConnell, 24, a senior at the University of Kentucky; Kimberly Rae Fern, 20, a junior at Morehead State University; and Jan Leigh Johnson, 17, a senior at Paintsville High School.

Tickets may be purchased by calling 886-9682, or may be purchased at B&W TV in Staffordsville, as well as Mike's B&W TV in Prestonsburg. Friday night's pageant tickets are $5 for general admission; Saturday night's tickets are $6 general admission and $10 reserved seating.

On Friday, competition for the Little Miss, Junior Miss and Teen Miss Heart of the Highlands will be held. All will compete for a finalist spot in order to compete in Saturday night's competition. The Saturday winner will go on to the state finals of the Miss Kentucky Pageant.

Left Beaver Group To Meet; Discuss Litter

A meeting concerning the clean up of roads, ditches and hollows in the Left Beaver area will be held Saturday, April 8, at 2 p.m. in the Drift Elementary School lunchroom, according to Bobby Stumbo, spokesman for the Left Beaver Community Service Club.

Interested citizens are invited to attend. For more information, contact Stumbo, 377-6144; Danny Salisbury, 377-2363; or Arthur Sexton.

Critical Care Unit Opens For Tours On Heart Care Day

The critical care unit at Highlands Regional Medical Center in Prestonsburg will be open, in part, to public view on Heart Care Day, on Sunday, April 16, from 2 to 5 p.m.

The critical care and coronary care unit at HRMC is the most technologically advanced units of its kind between Lexington and Huntington, W. Va., said a hospital spokesperson. It is specially designed to provide ongoing, intensive nursing attention, as well as availability of state-of-the-art equipment, to patients who are seriously ill or injured.

A visit to HRMC's critical care unit reveals video screen, wires, buzzes, beeps and flashes. Specially-trained nurses identify and interpret the signals, which reflect normality or abnormality in the status of CCU patients.

DAV Service Officer To Visit

Disabled American Veterans State Service Officer Eugene Akers will be at the Betsy Layne Elementary School on Saturday, April 8, from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.

He will do service work for veterans, widows and their dependents. For more information, contact Akers at 478-9674.

Questions To Carla Bolton:

If you and your husband are so interested in saving the taxpayers money, (as your husband stated in his ad last week) why did you submit these 2 separate bills totaling $8,520.00 for the Nov. 8th, 1988 General Election? Is it a law that all contracts in excess of $7,500.00 must be open for bid? Don't these invoices clearly show that you are selling supplies and services to yourself, as Clerk, from a company owned by you and your husband? Is this a conflict of interest and unlawful? How much of the Floyd County taxpayer's money has been paid to your company, Kentuckiana Election Service, since 1985? Was your company awarded a contract worth approximately $70,000.00, without it being open to bid?

Do you hire a private accounting firm in Lexington to do your audits? Why don't you have the State Auditor's Office do them? How much extra money does this private firm cost the taxpayers of Floyd County? Does this firm do the accounting for your personal company, Kentuckiana Election Service?

Beware Of Misleading SS Ads

The Big Sandy Area Social Security Office often receives calls from people who receive letters that appear to be connected with Social Security, according to district director Jim Kelly.

The letters may offer a service for a fee, such as obtaining a Social Security card, or purport to help protect against the "threat" to Social Security, also for a fee.

"To those who are considering paying for a benefit estimate, I remind them that the Social Security office provides such estimates free of charge," said Kelly. "They are based on the earnings credited to each person's record. Also, of course, there is no fee required to get a Social Security card."

contact the Big Sandy Area Social Security Office, located on US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville.

Pap Smear Tests Available In County

Cervical cancer kills approximately 11,000 women each year — yet it can also be one of the most curable of all cancers if it is detected in its earliest stages, according to Jane Bond, health educator with the Floyd County Health Center.

A Pap test can detect cervical cancer in its early and most curable stages, she explained, making it important for women to have regular Pap smears.

The Floyd County Health Department offers Pap tests to all women; however, those age 45 and over are especially urged to take advantage of the service, as they are in the high-risk age category for cervical cancer, Bond said.

For more information or an appointment, call 886-2788.

PSC Approves Rate Adjustments

The Public Service Commission recently took action on two cases involving utility companies serving Floyd County.

The commission granted Auxier Road Gas a purchased gas adjustment to reflect a $1,197 increase in wholesale costs from its supplier, Columbia Gas of Kentucky, the average annual increase per residential customer will be $3.32, effective April 1.

The commission also granted Equitable Gas Co. a purchased gas adjustment to reflect a $165,380 decrease in wholesale costs from its supplier, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co.

The average annual decrease per residential customer is $34.61, retroactive to March 1.

Kelly said such direct mail solicitation is not new, but appears to be more common and more alarming. In fact, he said, a law was recently passed which makes it a civil offense to use the name "Social Security" in an effort to make it appear that the firm has Social Security approval or endorsement.

"The best thing you can do if you receive such a letter is to contact the Big Sandy Area Social Security Office and get the facts," explained Kelly. "You will save yourself money and a great deal of anguish."

Coal Mining Safety Seminar Planned April 20, 21 At Park

T.S. Ary, director of the US Bureau of Mines, will deliver the keynote address at the Big Sandy Coal Mining Institute's 12th annual Coal Mining Seminar Thursday, April 20, at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park.

Ary's presentation, to begin at 1:30 p.m., is expected to address USBM's recently-completed innovations and research results in coal mine health and safety.

Earlier in the day, at 10 a.m., a panel discussion on coal mine safety in Kentucky will be held. Serving as moderator will be Carl Ankrom, director of miner education and certification for the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals. Panel participants will include Willard Stanley, commissioner of KDMM; William Holgate, District 6 manager, MSHA; Burl Scott, superintendent of contract coal, National Mines Corp.; and Leonard Fleming, UMWA representative for District 30.

Following the morning session and keynote address, a technical session on the importance of coal research to the industry will be presented by Dr. Richard Wolfe, executive vice president of the United Coal Company Research Corp. H. Douglas Dahl, executive vice president of engineering, exploration and environmental affairs and non-mining for Consolidation Coal Co., will present a session on protecting the environment and preserving property rights.

Beginning at 9 a.m. Friday, April 21, the second technical session will be held. Tom Giffen, executive vice president of Flat Top Insurance Co., will present "Coal Mine Insurance: The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly."

John Schoolcraft, training and labor relations manager for Westmoreland Coal Co., will present information on the worker's rehabilitation program, while William Moser, mine rescue project director for the Mining Extension Service, West Virginia University, will address mine emergency preparedness.

Also during the second technical session, Tom Duncan, president of the Kentucky Coal Association, will present a Kentucky legislative update.

The Big Sandy Coal Mining Institute is an organization composed of representatives of coal mining companies, state and federal mine inspection personnel and others associated with the coal mining industry. The institute, founded in 1937, promotes better coal mine health and safety.

X NO. 2 ON BALLOT
TO THE VOTERS OF DIST. 2

I'm asking ALL THE VOTERS of Dist. 2 for your VOTE and SUPPORT on May 23rd. During the last 3 years as YOUR MAGISTRATE, I have worked hard to maintain the ROADS and BRIDGES and to CLEAR SNOW in Dist. 2 and to STAND UP and FIGHT for what was right for the people of Dist. 2. If you've got somebody doing the job—WHY MAKE A CHANGE? I feel like I'VE DONE THE JOB. I'm really your WATCHDOG in the Fiscal Court over a 5 1/2 million dollar a year budget and over a 20 million dollar budget over a 4 year term. Look around at all the communities in Dist. 2—HASN'T OUR DISTRICT GOT MORE IN THE LAST 3 YEARS THAN IT EVER HAS IN THE PAST?

P.S.—Although you can't vote for me in May, I want to take this time to ask ALL THE VOTERS of the Republican Party for their support because there's not a Republican candidate on the ticket against me in this race. I know there's a lot of you that can help me out by talking to your family and friends. THIS HELP WOULD BE GREATLY APPRECIATED. Due to many complaints with ditching and drainage problems in Dwale, I will be holding a public meeting for Dwale, Old Allen, and New Allen at Rita Davis's Store parking lot in Dwale, Saturday, April 8, 1989 at 2:00 p.m.

CableVision Announces Nat'l Cable Month Plans

CableVision will participate in the third National Cable Month campaign, according to general manager Homer Wells.

The theme of National Cable Month is "30 Days of Great Nights." Each night during April, said Wells, a different cable programmer will feature the best of its cable's exclusive programming. "This year's National Cable Month event is an exciting one," said Wells. "Our subscribers will have an opportunity to sample the best programming our program suppliers offer throughout April."

Some highlights include: — April 6, The Discovery Channel, CableVision's channel 20 (Beyond 2000, Safari).

— April 16: Arts and Entertainment, CableVision's channel 22 (biography, Nancy Wilson Live at Carnegie Hall).

— April 25: TNN (The Nashville Network), CableVision's channel 14 (Viewer's Choice Awards).

"We received a great many calls from our customers last year, complimenting us on the 56-hour marathon weekend," said Wells. "We are delighted to participate again this year."

Wade Passes Licensing Exam

Jim Wade of Nesbitt Engineering, Inc., has successfully completed the licensing examination requirements for registered engineer in Kentucky, according to Suzan Hatton, spokeswoman for the company.

As a project manager with Nesbitt Engineering in the Lexington and Prestonsburg offices since 1986, Wade helps direct the mining section, supervising permit preparation and completion. Prior to joining Nesbitt, he worked more than seven years in the permitting review section of the Division of Permits in Frankfort, subsequently serving as manager of that section.

"Jim is a very competent professional," said Paul D. Nesbitt, president of the company. "I am really proud of his achieving this step — recognition by the profession of his talents."

Berea College Alumni To Meet

The Big Sandy Area Group of the Berea College Alumni Association will hold a spring meeting on Friday, April 14, at 6 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in Prestonsburg.

Dr. John Courter, professor of organ at Berea College, will be the special guest.

The meeting will be a potluck supper, for which alumni are asked to bring a dish. Those planning to attend are asked to contact Elma Jessen, 886-1962.

After the meal, the group will join the church and the community in hearing the inaugural organ recital of the new Seville organ at the church. The recital will begin at 7:30, and feature works by Bach, Elgar and Widor, as well as preludes of familiar American folk hymns.

The public is invited to attend.

Allen Wicke's Store Cited By Company

Wickes Lumber Co. has announced that its store in Allen has been designated by the firm as being among the 25 Wickes outlets that demonstrated the best overall business performance improvement in 1988.

Wickes has more than 200 retail locations in the US.

Leslie L. Hagen, president of Wickes, said the Allen store, managed by Bill Rice, received the recognition after its overall business operations were evaluated.

"We appreciate how hard the store's staff has worked to achieve this ranking, and we also appreciate the business provided to the store by its many customers," said Hagen.

RE-ELECT

COUNTY CLERK

I have been "your" County Clerk for the past 5 1/2 years. I also worked as a deputy clerk for twelve years before being elected as "your" County Clerk.

During this time I have seen numerous changes in how the County Clerk's Office must be ran. You can no longer do things as you desire them done, but you MUST do these things as Frankfort so stipulates.

Once the computers were installed in 1982, the personal property taxes on vehicles in 1984 and the verification of insurance at the time of renewal enacted in 1986, everything developed an enormous change.

In order to do many transactions in the County Clerk's office you must also use some or all of the following:

- (1) PROPERTY VALUATION ADMINISTRATOR'S OFFICE
If you need to have a tax notice changed.
- (2) SHERIFF'S OFFICE
If you have an out of state vehicle that needs to be licensed. All out of state vehicles, whether new or used, must be inspected by a certified deputy from the sheriff's office. Or if you need to have a correction made on your serial number or odometer your vehicle must also be inspected by this certified deputy.
- (3) INSURANCE OFFICE
If you need your insurance agent phoned for verification of insurance on your vehicle that you are licensing.
- (4) YOUR BANK
If there is a lien on the title that must be released before the vehicle can be transferred, often the bank has to be called to get a termination statement on this lien.

The PVA's office is not open on Saturday because it is a state office. The Sheriff's office is not open on Saturday, only a dispatcher is available during the weekend and this dispatcher is not certified to inspect vehicles. Most insurance agencies are not open on Saturday. No bank in Floyd County is open on Saturday.

The office of the County Clerk has tried being open on Saturday. However, when a customer travels to the courthouse on Saturday and finds that he or she must also have a tax notice changed or a vehicle inspected or that they forgot their verification of insurance (which happens many times daily) then that is when the customer becomes angry with the county clerk's office, not realizing that in most cases it takes more than one office to do the transaction. (The reason of all three offices being involved in a lot of business transactions is the way our state government has set up the checks and balances process.)

AS BEING YOUR COUNTY CLERK, I have practiced having the office open longer hours for the customer (and still we run into problems as above mentioned.)

YOUR COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE IS OPEN MONDAY thru THURSDAY, 8:00 a.m. till 4:30 p.m. [NOT CLOSING FOR LUNCH]. All other offices in the courthouse close at 4:00 p.m. with several of these offices being closed for lunch. YOUR COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE is open on Friday from 8:00 a.m. till 7:00 p.m. This works out nicely for the one's who also need banking information.

AS YOUR COUNTY CLERK, I have provided you with 5 hours more office time each week than any other county or state office in the courthouse and if you also count not closing for lunch, that is an additional 5 hours.

Elswick Sworn In

Judge Richard Elswick, right, was sworn in as the newest member of the state Court of Appeals on Monday, March 20, at the Pike County Circuit Courtroom. Supreme Court Justice Dan Jack Combs, left, administered the oath of office. Elswick was appointed to the first division of the 7th appellate district, which covers most of Eastern Kentucky, by Gov. Wallace Wilkinson to fill a vacancy created by Combs' election to the state Supreme Court last year. Elswick served on Pike County District Court for nine years prior to his appointment to the Court of Appeals.

Bank Women Meet Recently

The Eastern Kentucky group of the National Association of Bank Women met recently at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park in Prestonsburg.

Helen H. Neeley, president of the group and assistant vice president of the First Commonwealth Bank in Prestonsburg, presided.

The special guest was Pauline Crump, state council president, who was guest speaker. Other guests included the chief executive officers from the 11 area banks sponsoring the Eastern Kentucky group.

Marilyn Smith, assistant vice president of the First American Bank in Ashland, will conduct a teller workshop May 18 at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. Anyone interested in attending should call Patricia Friend at the Citizens Bank of Pikeville, 437-2600.

The National Association of Bank Women state convention will be held in Owensboro April 13-15.

Stumbo Named To SLC Committee

Rep. Gregory D. Stumbo has been named as a member of the Federal Preemption and State/Federal Affairs Committee of the Southern Legislative Conference (SLC).

The committee is one of 12 standing committees of the SLC. The full conference meets annually in one of the southern states to develop recommendations to the federal government on a wide range of issues that affect the specific economic and geographic area of the SLC membership.

Stumbo, D-Prestonsburg, said of the appointment, "As a member of the committee, I will be able to voice concerns specific to our state, as well as the concerns of stage Legislatures sharing our problems.

"Many federal laws and regulations have serious economic consequences on the southern states, and through the SLC we are able to have a direct impact on these issues. I look forward to making substantial decisions that will provide solutions for critical problems facing our state."

The SLC, Stumbo said, provides southern states with an effective voice in Washington, and fosters interstate communication and cooperation.

WHAT TO DO IN APRIL!
If there is one month that makes a difference in gardening! It is April! Doing several tasks this month will help eliminate future problems!

LAWNS!

- 1) Use weed control measures (control broadleaf weeds before April 15) (apply pre-merge for crabgrass by April 10)
- 2) Fertilize if you haven't already.
- 3) Set your lawnmower for proper cutting height, never cutting off more than 1/3 of the height in any one cutting.
- 4) Seed new lawns before April 15th.

PRUNING!

- 1) Finish pruning your fruit trees
- 2) Finish pruning your roses
- 3) Prune your grapes
- 4) Prune your shrubs that bear their blooms on the current season's growth. Some of these plants are snowballs, hydrangeas.

DIVIDE PERENNIALS!

- 1) Fall blooming perennials may be divided now

SPRAY PROGRAM!

- 1) Initiate your spray program for fruits if you want to have high quality crops this year.

PICK BLOOMS OFF NEWLY SET STRAWBERRIES! SOW BEETS, CARROTS, BUSH BEANS, SWEET CORN AND PARSNIP SEED! TREAT INSECT AND SLUG PROBLEMS! USE LINDANE FOR LEAF MINER DAMAGE! PULL BAGWORMS OFF SHRUBBERY AND DESTROY THEM. CLEAN SPRAYERS FOR USE!

PREPARE SOIL FOR PLANTING!
Do not work soil when it is excessively wet or it will be hard to work when dry.

Strikeout

Todd Jacobs swings at a Duran Newsome fast ball and strikes out in the first inning against the Betsy Layne Bobcats in high school baseball action Monday afternoon. Knott County took the victory, 4-3, in nine innings.

Bobcats Outlast McDowell In Baseball Slugfest, 14-10

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Tommy Hall had two hits, a home run, and two RBIs to help lead the Betsy Layne Bobcats, who scored in every inning but the sixth, to a 14-10 baseball victory over the McDowell Daredevils last week at the Allen Park. Adam Gearheart started for the Bobcats and was the winning pitcher.

The game was anything but a pitcher's duel, as both teams took advantage of walks and errors to score runs.

McDowell picked up two runs in the first after Martin opened the inning with a single and went to second on a pass ball. Mike McQuate walked and Crisp gave McDowell a 2-0 lead with a double to centerfield, scoring both Martin and McQuate.

Betsy Layne made it 2-1 in the bottom of the inning, when Barry Hamilton doubled, stole third, and scored on a wild pitch.

McDowell put runners on first and second but failed to score in the second.

The Bobcats went on top, 3-2, with two runs in the bottom of the second. Chris Bias open with a single, stole second, stole third, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Newsome. Hall walked, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch, and scored on another wild pitch.

Betsy Layne tallied two more runs in the bottom of the third. After Chad Hamilton singled, Tommy Hall followed with a home run to give the Bobcats a 5-2 lead.

McDowell was retired in order in the fourth. Betsy Layne picked up five runs in the bottom of the inning. Chris Newsome walked, went to second on a wild pitch, and scored when Barry Hamilton singled to left. Chad Hamilton walked, and Hall's doubled scored both Hamiltons. Hall scored the fourth run of the inning when Bias' grounder got past short. Bias then stole second, and after two wild pitches, he scored the fifth run, to give the Bobcats a 10-2 lead.

In the fifth inning, McDowell scored six runs on only two hits. Martin's fly ball was misplayed by the center fielder, and Stumbo walked. McQuate then blasted a long home run over the right field fence to pick up three RBIs. Crisp then singled, and Blevins walked. Crisp and Blevins both moved up on wild pitches. After Dye struck out, Rose walked to load the bases. Crisp scored on a wild pitch, and Blevins scored later on another wild pitch. With Rose on third, he scored on yet another wild pitch. McDowell cut the lead to 10-8.

Danny Page led off the Bobcat fifth by being hit with the pitch. He stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch. Frazier lined a single to right, Todd Akers and Hall drew base on balls. Kent Mulkey grounded to short for the first out. Chuck Lafferty picked up two RBIs with a single and later scored on Keith Hall's single. Betsy Layne led 14-8.

McDowell scored once in the top of the sixth, after McQuate walked and advanced to second on a wild pitch. Crisp doubled to score McQuate.

The Daredevils managed to pick up one run in the seventh, but fell short by the score of 14-10.

Gearheart was the winner and his record is 1-0. Jamie Lawson took the loss and is 0-1.

Betsy Layne is 1-0, and will play at Morgan County today at 4:30. McDowell goes 0-1 and will travel to Dorton Monday for a 4:30 game.

Parson Hurls And Bats ACHS Rebs Past Jenkins

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Junior Mickey Parson threw seven strong innings, striking out seven batters, allowing one earned run on just four hits, as he led his Allen Central squad to a 5-2 victory over Jenkins in high school baseball play last week at the Allen Park.

Parson also had two hits, a double and an RBI, and scored two runs to back his own pitching performance. Parson retired nine straight batters, retiring the side in the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings. Todd Duff also had two hits for the Rebels.

Shane Dixon led off the first inning for Jenkins and reached first on a shortstop error. Linner Gray hit Parson's second pitch to centerfield for a base hit, scoring Dixon after the ball was misplayed in centerfield. Mike Cassell grounded to short to force Gray to second base. Chris Puckett grounded into a six-four-three double play to end the inning.

Todd Duff legged out a base hit to deep short in leading off the Rebels.

He then stole second, and scored when Parson lined a single to centerfield to tie the score 1-1. Parson stole second, and moved to third on a wild pitch by Cassell, and later scored on another wild pitch by Cassell to give the Rebels a 2-1 lead.

Jenkins mounted a mild scoring threat in the second frame on a base hit by John Flemming and a walk to William Figger. David Helton hit into a six-four-three double play, and Shawn Maggard grounded back to the mound for the third out.

It became a pitching duel as both pitchers found the strike zone. Cassell struck out six straight Rebel batters over the third and fourth innings.

Allen Central added a run in the bottom of the fifth inning. Brent Meadows struck out, and Duff grounded out to short. Parson hit a drive to left center field for a two bagger, and Kevin Spurlock tripled to right center to score Parson and give the Rebels a 3-1 lead.

Parson retired the side in the top of the sixth inning, and the Rebels went to work again in the bottom of the frame, scoring two more runs. Kevin Webb led off the sixth with a double to left center. Meadows laid down a sacrifice bunt and was safe at first when the first baseman failed to handle the throw from Cassell, allowing Webb to come all the way around to score. Meadows then scored on a single by Jamie Hall, and the Rebels at the end of six, 5-1.

Jenkins picked up a run in the top of the seventh on a one out walk to Flemming, who moved to second on a balk by Parson. Helton then doubled to center to score Flemming with Jenkins second run. Parson then got Figger to ground out to first and struck out Maggard to preserve the 5-2 victory for the Rebels.

Allen Central evens its record at 1-1 for the young season, and will play at Millard for a noon encounter against the Mustangs this Saturday.

"We did a good job today," Coach Donnie Daniels told his team. "We had good execution in the sixth inning, and that will win ball games for us."

"We are picking up our signs better," he adds. "We need to practice hitting our cut off man better. I'm not worry about our hitting it will come around."

"Winning a game like this, and the way we won, we can see that we are a good ball club," Daniels said.

The Rebels committed only two errors, while turning two double plays. Cassell fanned 11 in the losing cause, while Parson struck out seven.

Area Coaches Pick Top Teams, Players In Region

The baseball coaches in the 15th Region met recently and a poll of teams and players ratings was released; in addition, Coach Donnie Daniels of Allen Central High School was chosen as the 15th Region representative to the Kentucky High School Athletic Association.

The poll of the 15th Region coaches in rating the teams are as follows: Paintsville, first; Johnson Central, second; Pikeville, third; Belfry, fourth; Sheldon Clark, fifth; Prestonsburg, sixth; Betsy Layne, seventh; Allen Central, eighth; Johns Creek, ninth; and Phelps, tenth.

Also receiving votes were McDowell, Magoffin County, Elkhorn City, Virgie and Mullins.

The top five players in the 15th Region as voted by the coaches were: Sam Hamilton, Johns Creek; Kevin Webb, Allen Central; Duran Newsome, Betsy Layne; Tucker Howard, Paintsville; and Chris Lawson, Pikeville.

Also receiving votes were: Mike Charles, Phelps; Adam Smith, Jeremy Holbrook, Gene Rice, Shane Hall, Walt Crace, Greg Slone, Paintsville; Shane Neeley, Pikeville; and Todd Justice, Prestonsburg.

Ratings of each district were as follows:

— 56th District: Paintsville, Johnson Central, Sheldon Clark, Magoffin County;

— 57th District: Prestonsburg, Betsy Layne, Allen Central, McDowell, and Wheelwright; — 58th District: Pikeville, Virgie, Millard, Dorton, Mullins; — 59th District: Belfry, Johns Creek, Phelps, Elkhorn City, Feds Creek.

Independent Basketball Tournament Set

A men's independent basketball tournament will be held at the Martin gym, April 9-16.

The entry fee is $35 per team. Trophies will be awarded, including first, second and third place, and team and individual free throw trophies.

There will be between 12 to 16 teams, with some slots still open.

For more information, contact Jimmy Hopkins at 285-3011 or 447-2329; Steve Allen, 874-8153; or Doug Derossett, 285-3011 or 285-3287.

The tournament is sponsored by the Martin Elementary School.

Reaching

Tommy Hall reaches for a pitch against Knott County Central Monday afternoon in hardball action. Knott County took the contest in nine innings, 4-3.

Keepers

By Chris Altman

Like most Southern anglers, I cut my angling teeth dunking worms and livers with the hopes of enticing a catfish to strike. When I was 7 or 8 years old, my grandfather, Ked Lowe, gave me a Zebco 33 reel and a fiberglass rod, and — much to the dismay of my mother, and then my wife — things haven't been the same since!

As most anglers tend to do, I eventually traded my catfishing gear for a garage full of bass fishing tackle. All things considered, I probably would have been better off sticking with catfish! To this day, catfish are one of my favorite game fish, and a leisurely catfishing excursion never fails to improve my outlook on life.

Contrary to popular belief, all catfish are not alike. In Southern waters, three species make up the largest portion of our catfish population. They are the blue catfish, the channel cat, and the flathead catfish. We also have several species of bullheads, though they are rather small in size and not as popular with anglers as are the larger catfish.

Blues, channels and flatheads are all markedly different. Their feeding habits and preferred areas are often quite different, so a catfish angler would be wise to learn everything possible about each of the three species of big cats. With that in mind, I thought a brief rundown of the blue, channel and flathead catfish might be of interest to many readers.

The blue catfish is the big brother of the bunch, often growing in excess of 100 pounds. In the days of Mark Twain, blue cats exceeded 200 pounds reportedly hung like huge sides of beef in Mississippi fish mar-

Experienced Campers Offer Tips For First-Time Venturers

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Campers are lucky — they own the outdoor world.

Campers have nights of blazing stars, long, sunny days, healing sights and sounds to recharge the batteries of their hearts and souls, plus a million memories that can be recalled a thousand times.

So that campers can gather memories of their own, even if they are new to camping, some tips follow to help the n enjoy one of the most popular family sports.

If possible, make the first outing with friends who have camped before. If that's not possible, do it on alone; thousands of others have, and did just fine. In either case, make it a short trip; one of two nights out, a nearby spot. Campers can get more ambitious as they gain knowledge and confidence.

Steve Ousley of Martin and his wife Joy are avid camping enthusiasts and have enjoyed the great outdoors at such places as Dale Hollow, Natural Bridge, Mammoth Cave, Dewey Lake, and even trips to Alabama.

Ousley, who says he has been tent camping, "all of his life", and an RV camper the last 14 years, has some advice for beginners.

"In tent camping make yourself a check list of items you need to take with you," he says. "You'll need something to cook on such as a Coleman stove and a Coleman lantern for light; cooking utensils, and the basic foods. Be sure to take a cooler and sleeping bags — and mosquito repellent is very necessary."

An axe or hatchet is a necessity when going tent camping. A dry container to store food in is also helpful.

"When choosing a site to set your tent, look for a place with good drainage in case of rain," Ousley states. "Some campers dig a trench around their tent to drain the water away from the area, especially if they are going to be there a few days."

While tents are mostly just for sleeping, all other items stay outside. Ousley says he likes to set up a tarp for a shelter. Fixing a place to clean fish is also important.

"Camp fires are important in that you want to clean a place off, such as raking the leaves back, and even digging a trench around your campfire to prevent the fire from spreading accidentally," Ousley explained. "When setting your tent always look for some shade; it can get hot inside a tent."

While Ousley enjoys the outdoors as a tent camper, he also enjoys camping in his RV.

"In RV camping it is important that you undo what you did when you winterized your RV," he says. "I always drain all the water lines, and open all the faucets when I winterize my RV. Once we went camping and I hooked up the water to our RV, and turned the water on, not remembering I had left the faucets opened when I winterized my camper. Twenty minutes later I went back inside the camper only to find the water running in the floor," he says. "Always check the air pressure in your RV's tires, check for gas leaks, etc."

Ousley emphasizes campers should always clean up their site before leaving.

Camping enthusiasts can always obtain a camping guide that lists all the camp grounds in the USA. It gives the locations, facilities available, as well as prices and phone numbers. Rates for RV camping generally run between $12 to $15 a day, Ousley states. Tent camping will run between $4 to $5 a day.

Choose campsites ahead of time. That is, check with state, county or federal agencies for the location of developed public campgrounds. Dress everyone in darker clothes — dirt and youngsters were made for each other, and there's nothing anyone can do but relax and enjoy it. Except for clean up at meals and bedtime, let them have fun.

Take the whole family, as there is no age limit on camping. Youngsters of two or three years will have a big time and many folks in their 70s and 80s still enjoy the outdoor life.

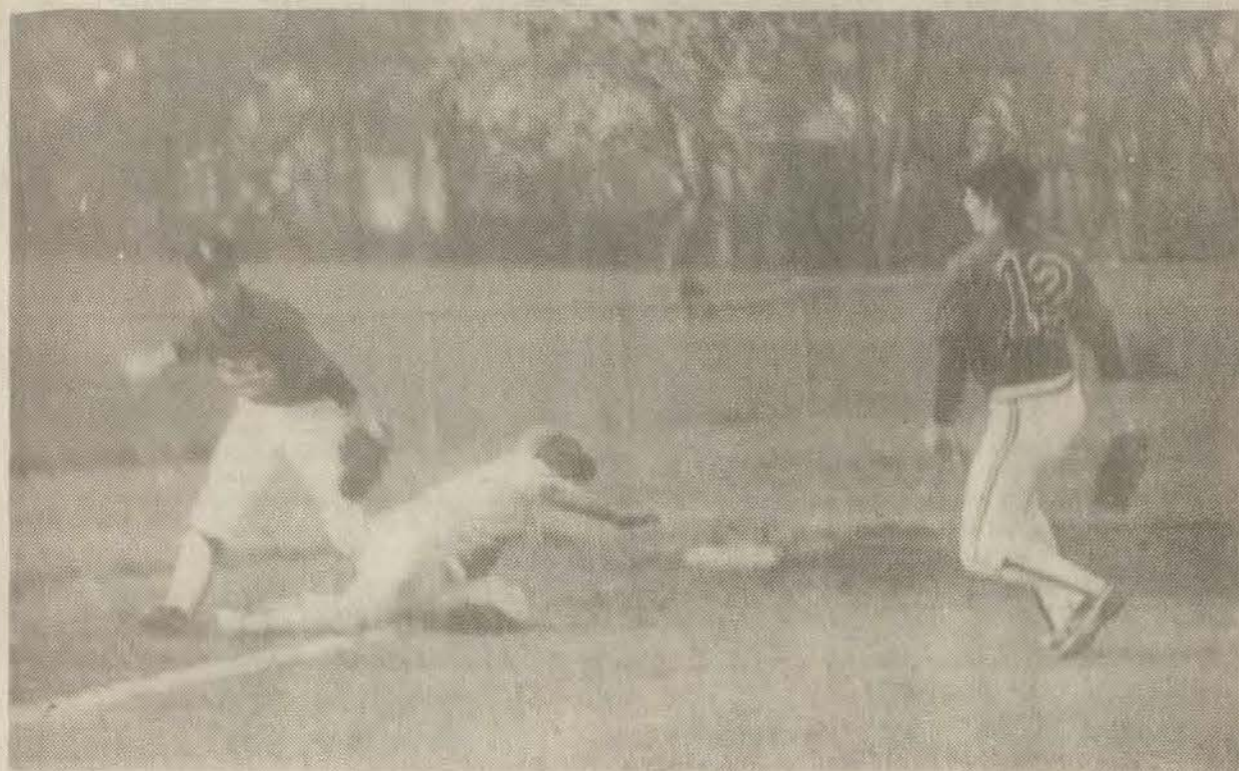

And finally, no timetables, please! Don't plan too much driving, a long round of daily activities, or certainly, no place anyone "must be" at a given time. Let the day take care of itself. Divide camp chores, so everybody can get in on the fun. If you want to sleep late and have a leisurely breakfast, take a walk, read a book, catch a fish, shoot a roll of film, or tell ghost stories around the campfire, let it happen.

That's what camping memories are made of.

Two Bagger

Keith Hall of Betsy Layne connects for an opposite field double in the first inning of a high school baseball game against Knott County Central Monday afternoon at the Allen Park. Knott County won the game in extra innings, 4-3.

Tagged Out

Chris Bias of Betsy Layne was caught in a run down and tagged out in the first inning of their game against Knott County Central. The Patriots took a 4-3, nine-inning win over the Bobcats.

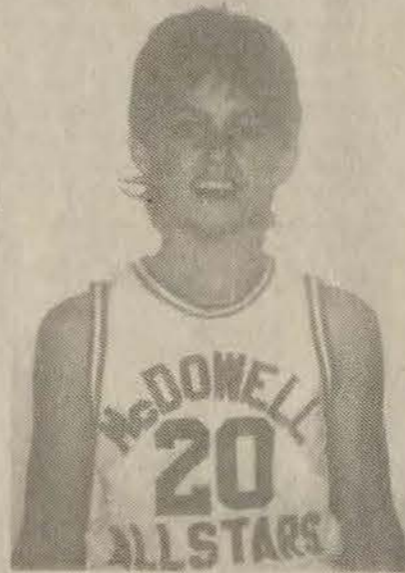

Upcoming Games

Games scheduled include:
Wednesday, April 5: Betsy Layne will travel to Morgan County.
Thursday, April 6: Betsy Layne visits Mullins.
Friday, April 7: Phelps will be at Betsy Layne
Monday, April 10: McDowell goes to Dorton; Sheldon Clark visits Betsy Layne; Allen Central visits Pikeville; and Wheelwright will be at Betsy Layne for a 6:30 game.
Tuesday, April 11: Betsy Layne plays at Prestonsburg; Virgie will be at Allen Central.
Wednesday, April 12: McDowell goes to Wheelwright.
All games are scheduled to start at 4:30, unless otherwise noted. Allen Central and Betsy Layne will play all its home games at the Allen Park. Prestonsburg will play its home games at Archer Park.

A man cannot give what he hasn't got.

Wallace Earns First Place Honors

Brian Wallen, son of Arnold and Mary Wallen of Maytown, took first place honors in the Pikeville Open Bench Press for ages 14-16, heavy weight division.
Wallen is a sophomore at Allen Central. Wallen pressed 325 pounds in taking first place. He is also a member of the Rebels football team.
Another Allen Central student placed third in the same meet. Tim Slone, son of Vina Slone of Hueysville, press 200 pounds in the heavyweight division for 14- to 16-year-olds, to take third place. Slone is also a member of the Rebel football team.
The meet is sponsored by Kentucky Powerlift, and was held at the Blue Goose gym in Pikeville.

All-Star

Rocky Newsome, son of Ed and Yulonda Newsome of Teaberry, was named to the All-Tourney team recently in the Georgetown Invitational Jr. Pro tournament. Twelve players were selected from 16 teams for the All-Tourney team. Newsome played for the McDowell All-Stars Junior Pro team. His grandparents are Chester and Nova Newsome and Larry and Lucretia Spencer.

Re-Elect DAVID ALLEN BARBER Democrat For

FLOYD COUNTY ATTORNEY

WHAT DOES THE COUNTY ATTORNEY DO

Since taking office, we have handled over six thousand warrants in Floyd County from private citizens. Of them, 1,300 were felony offenses. I feel it is important that we take the time to listen and work for all the people of Floyd County.

Complaints range from charges of assault, robbery, harassment, terroristic threatening, and numerous other offenses committed in Floyd County.

In addition, we have handled over 1,000 juvenile hearings. We are especially concerned about the welfare of our children. Charges of child abuse, neglect, or dependency are always delicate and we try to handle them with the interest of the children involved coming first.

As your county attorney, we are presently involved in over 2,500 requests for assistance in collecting child support. Collections of child support payments are up over 300% since I have taken office.

Further, we have handled over 11,000 traffic cases which deal in charges of driving under the influence, no operators license, no registration and others.

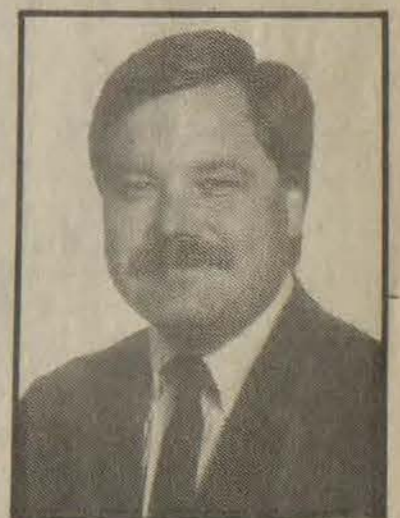

This does not include the thousands of citations issued for speeding and other moving violations.

Working with the Floyd Fiscal Court, we have paved over 100 miles of roads in Floyd County; there have been over eleven million dollars of bond sold for new schools, we installed 510 new fire hydrants, grants for all seventeen fire departments, grants of money for the Floyd County Senior Citizens, Floyd County Disaster Emergency Service, Civil Air Patrol, Floyd County Library, Animal Shelter, Big Sandy Regional Airport, and provided $20,000.00 to the Left Beaver Volunteer Fire Department for two new fire trucks.

We have worked hard to handle all these matters. Sometimes it doesn't seem like there's enough time in a day to address all we would like to do. I have worked very hard as your county attorney. These are not promises, this is what we have been doing everyday for four years.

I won't promise crazy things I know we can't accomplish. I do promise to work hard as your County Attorney and I do promise to do my best to continue to handle the thousands of matters that come to the County Attorney's office each week.

I would appreciate your support for re-election so we can continue to provide these honest and dedicated services to the people of Floyd County.

Keepers

kets. Blue cats prefer current-laden waters, so they do not thrive in a still-water reservoir. Feeding in swift water "chutes", blues opt for live bait when available, and are fond of live fish and crawdads.

Blues are especially prevalent in the tailraces of most dams, where they lie just out of the current and eat virtually anything which is washed by them. These tailrace blues grow large and fat, and several over a 100 pounds have been snagged in tailraces throughout the South. I met a fellow who snagged a monster blue in the tailrace below Fort Loudon Dam near Lenoir City, Tenn. After it was hooked, the fish made a sudden lunge, breaking the angler's rod. The handle portion of the rod snapped back, striking him in the face and breaking his jaw! Somehow, he was able to land the giant 130-pound blue a few hours later.

Blue cats are slate-blue in color, possess a deeply forked tail, and are definitively identified by the presence of 30 to 36 rays in their long anal fin. The world record (rod and reel) blue catfish, a 97-pound giant, was taken from the Missouri River in South Dakota back in 1959. The Kentucky state record blue was taken from the tailrace below the dam at Kentucky Lake by J.E. Copeland of Benton in 1970. It is interesting to note that the Kentucky state record now stands at 100 pounds, but the official word record is just 97 pounds. For some reason, the International Game Fish Association did not recognize the larger Kentucky catch as an official world record.

The channel catfish is the most prevalent catfish in America. Extraordinarily adaptable, this fish does well in still water or swift, clean water, and even fairly polluted or stagnant water. He is the baby of the bunch, rarely growing larger than 40 pounds. When young, channel cats are olive with black spots, but assume a bluish coloration as they grow larger. Also possessing a deeply forked tail, adult channel cats are often mistaken for blue cats, but can be definitively identified by the presence of 24 to 30 rays in their anal fin.

Channel cats are not picky eaters, and will eat virtually anything. Chicken liver, hot dogs and luncheon meat, worms, Ivory soap, doughbaits, minnows, small bluegill, shad and flat dead things from the roadside will all catch channel cats.

The world record channel catfish, taken in 1964 from Santee-Cooper Reservoir in South Carolina, now stands at 58 pounds. The Kentucky state record channel cat, a 22-pound, 5-ounce whiskerface, was taken in 1976 by Wallace Carter of Lawrenceburg from a farm pond in Anderson County.

The flathead catfish is the most distinctive catfish in the family. With an easily-recognizable flattened head, brown coloration with darker brown mottling, and a squared tail, he is rarely mistaken for any other fish.

Unlike blues and the channel cats which often roam in small schools, flatheads are a solitary fish. They are vicious predators, demonstrating an overwhelming preference for a large, live bait. Anglers adept at catching these ugly brutes rarely use a live bait less than a pound in size, and many of them prefer a live carp in the 2- to 3-pound range.

These ugly monsters grow in excess of 100 pounds, and prefer deep, sluggish pools with a firm bottom. Though seldom fished for, many reservoirs support tremendous populations of giant flatheads. These fish are extremely cantankerous and territorial. They will eat anything that swim into their domain, but if it's too large to fit into its mouth, it will bully it out of its territory.

The 98-pound world record flathead catfish was caught in 1986 from Lewisville Lake in Texas. The Kentucky state record flathead, a gigantic 97-pounder, was taken from Green River in 1956.

Until next week, good fishing!

Finished First In Weight Meet

Todd Goodman, a 16-year-old sophomore at Prestonsburg High School, won the Middleclass division (141-185 pounds) of the Pikeville Open Bench Press weight meet held at the Blue Goose gym in Pikeville Saturday. The class was for 14- to 16-year-olds. The meet was sponsored by Kentucky Powerlifting. Goodman was trained by Bill Letton, football coach at Prestonsburg. Goodman's winning press was 200 pounds.

AN OPEN LETTER OF THANKS AND REQUEST FOR SUPPORT TO THE CITIZENS OF PRESTONSBURG AND FLOYD COUNTY:

I would like to thank all the people of Prestonsburg for their overwhelming support of me when you elected me your Prestonsburg City Council Member in the last Council race. Thanks to all my relatives, friends and neighbors in Floyd County for all the kindness, support and confidence you have given me. I ask you to support my brother, Junior Joseph, for Floyd County Jailer. He merits the support that you have given to me. He's honest, sincere and dedicated to serve you as the best Jailer the citizens of Floyd County has ever had.

Thank you for the support you have given me and for supporting my brother, Junior Joseph, for Jailer.

Sincerely,
PAUL JOSEPH

ACHS Rebs Finish 2nd In Weight Meet

Error

The ball gets past Betsy Layne's first baseman Chad Hamilton for an error that allowed the Knott County Central Patriots to load the bases and eventually score two unearned runs in the first inning at the Allen Park Monday afternoon.

Coach Donnie Daniels' Allen Central Rebel Weight Team finished second in a weight meet at Elkhorn City Saturday.

There were 12 weight groups of competition in the meet.

Scoring is calculated on a team's rating in each weight group. A first place team receives five points; second place, four points; third place, three points; and fourth place, two points.

Elkhorn City finished first in the meet with a total of 47 points. Allen Central scored a 46 to take second place, Phelps finished third with 45 points, and Wheelwright finished with 30 points. The Rebels had five first place finishes, two second, three third, and two fourth.

Mickey Parson lifted 350 pounds in the deadlift, and 225 pounds on the bench press, for a total of 575 pounds to finish first in the 156-165 weight group. Tim Slone took first in the 176-185 weight group with scores of 375 in deadlift, and 205 on the bench press, for a total of 580 pounds. Remis

Addington bench pressed 200 pounds and deadlift 345 pounds for a total of 545 pounds to claim first place in the 186-195 weight group. In the "super weight group", Brian Wallen had scores of 460 in deadlift, and 315 in bench press for a total of 775 in finishing first in the 221-245 pound weight group.

Derrick Ousley had a score of 435 pounds to finish second in the 136-145 weight group. He had 300 pounds in deadlift and 135 in bench press. In the 196-221 weight group, John Slone finished second with 460 in deadlift and 205 in bench press.

For third place in the 116-125 pound group, Ronald Stuart scored a 250, with 180 in deadlift, and 70 in bench press. Randy Watkins took third with a total of 390 pounds. He had 235 in deadlift and 155 in bench press. B.J. Aldrich took third in the 146-155 weight group, with a total of 445 pounds. He scored 305 in deadlift, and 140 in bench press.

Another weight lift is scheduled at Pikeville in May.

If baseball is a kids game that grown-ups play, then baseball card collecting is even more a kids game that adults seem to have taken over. Today, collecting baseball cards is not just a hobby — for many, it is an investment. It is amazing what adults and kids will do to get a piece of card board that smells of bubble gum, to collect them, trade them, and sell at a ridiculous price, but baseball card trading and selling has become big business. Grocery stores, gas stations and flea markets have gotten in on the baseball card boom. Many speak of receiving their shipment of cards on a Friday and being sold out by Monday.

Topps began marketing cards with bubble gum in 1949, although baseball cards appeared on cigarette packs before then, in the 1880s. When Topps entered the market, Bowman Gum Corporation held a predominant position due to numerous exclusive contracts with major league players for sales packaged with gum. Topps, nonetheless, began to publish gum cards of players under contract to Bowman. Topps was forced to withdraw its cards after a court hearing. However, Topps resolved its problem by buying all of Bowman's player contract rights, and began an aggressive campaign of signing thousands of major and minor league players to standard contracts, reserving the right to publish the player's name, picture, signature and biographical sketch.

Baseball card collecting was a hobby for many when they first began, and when the value of cards became evident, it began to become an investment. Gary Frazier of Martin has never lost sight of the real reason he started collecting baseball cards.

"I started back in the '50s," Frazier said. "I started it because I love the game of baseball. My brother Lanny and I began about the same time. We always said if they are only worth a penny, that would be all right with us," he says. "If the bottom were to fall out of the market for baseball cards, people who get into it as an investment would lose money, but for those who just collect for fun, the love for the game, nothing would change."

Frazier, who says he has never sold a card, enjoys helping kids fill sets, or getting them started. He fears that the market may be driven up to a point that youngsters can't afford to purchase cards.

What advice does Frazier offer those who have just started collecting? "Collect only what you are interested in," he says. "Collect what you like. If you like the Reds, collect the Reds," he explains. "It doesn't have to be expensive. Too many look at collecting baseball cards as an investment, a business — not for the love of the game."

"When I started back in the '50s," Frazier relates, "I would set by the window in school, and watch on Tuesdays for the Snyder Potato Chip man to come to Willie Holt's Candy Shop. He brought the baseball cards. We would head over there after school was out. A pack of cards, then, cost 5 cents."

As a result of the increasing demand for baseball cards, counterfeit cards, more and more, are finding their way into the market. According to Frazier, one would have to really know his baseball cards to spot a counterfeit.

"You would have to be able to hold the real card up against aphony one to tell the difference," he says.

The old adage of supply and demand has driven the price of baseball cards to ridiculous levels. A Pete Rose rookie card in mint condition is valued at $575. A Mickey Mantle card is higher still. A Honus Wagner card is worth around $35,000 to $40,000.

Frazier finds his collection of baseball cards relaxing.

"I enjoy going in the back room and just looking at my cards. It's fun for me to collect them," he said.

Frazier, who has a section of seats from the old Crosley Field, is an avid baseball fan. He sponsors the American Legion baseball team in Floyd County.

"It's just my way of helping the kids to get to play ball, and through American Legion baseball they may even get a scholarship," he said. "I can't coach, but I can help those who do."

Fleer's baseball cards have become the biggest selling card today, mainly because there are four misprints and they are worth some money.

Baseball card collecting has become so big that now they are stored in "specially-made storage boxes", in plastic covers that fit in "special binders". What ever happened to the old shoe boxes?

Teddy Lawson of Drift has always been a baseball enthusiast.

"Our whole family loves baseball," Lawson says. "I was raised by parents who loved baseball."

Lawson began collecting baseball cards when he was 10, back in 1954. Since then, he has collected between 60,000 to 100,000 cards. He has 100 mint sets. Once, he traded a Mickey Mantle card, valued at $650, for 12 sets of cards.

Lawson says that his sisters know more about baseball than most people.

"If you could get them to admit it, they know a lot about baseball. The players, their averages, the clubs they play on," he says.

Back in 1957 when the Cincinnati Reds placed almost their whole team on the All-Star team because of ballot box stuffing, Lawson and his sisters took credit for being the ones that stuffed the boxes.

"We took all the yearbooks we could get, and voted for the Reds players in the names of everybody in the yearbook," he explained. "Since that time they changed the voting process."

Lawson doesn't like dealers who exploit today's kids.

"Kids are being pushed out of the market," he says. "Younger collectors can't afford the prices today. Dealers are taking advantage of them.

"Adults forget that it's for the kids. My advice to youngsters just starting out, is don't try and collect every thing," he says.

Lawson enjoys taking in the baseball card shows in Louisville and Cincinnati. Eric Lawson, his son, is also a baseball collector. Lawson has the 1953 Redman cards' first issue. Each card is valued at $48 to $60.

While there are some who have not been collecting as long as others, they still have accumulated a lot of cards.

Greg Taylor of Martin has collected 25,000 cards since he started collecting in 1984.

Trevor Fitch of Martin, who is relatively new to collecting, has gathered 1,500 to 2,000 cards in less than a year. He has a George Brett rookie card worth $50. Would he give $50 for it?

"Probably not," he says. Fitch enjoys trading cards with other students at school.

John McKenzie, 13 of Drift, an eighth grader at McDowell Elementary School, has been collecting cards since 1985. His collections has gone to 50,000. Did he get into baseball collecting as a hobby, or an investment?

"Both," he says. "I enjoy collecting them, but it's also an investment."

McKenzie likes to go to all the card shows he can. He's been to Cincinnati and Lexington, as well as local shows.

What is his prize card?

"I have a 1960 Mickey Mantle card that's valued at $350," he says. "The hottest card out today is the Buddy Ripken card, because of the misprint." McKenzie possesses two of them. His advice to those just beginning?

"Keep your cards in the best shape you can," he advises. "Never put rubber bands around them — they cause bends in the cards. Always keep them in albums or plastic cases."

McKenzie has put together 30 mint sets.

So whether you are in the trading card game for the fun of it, or as an investment, it's not just for kids anymore. The advice of those who have been at it for sometime is: don't try and collect everything; take care of what you collect; keep up with the trade shows; and watch out for counterfeits.

Tips To Find Fish By Degrees

Fish, like people, are greatly affected by the temperature of their environment. There are upper and lower temperature limits beyond which fish and fishermen cannot survive, and there is a narrow "comfort" range within which we are at our best.

When the temperature climbs above our comfort range, we switch to short sleeved shirts and shorts. When it gets colder, we bundle up. Fish aren't so lucky — their only defense against temperature extremes is to move. Our warm-blooded nature insulates us somewhat from temperature changes, but fish are cold-blooded and are affected instantly by them. In fact, if water temperatures in their comfort range aren't available, fish tend to become less active and don't feed as readily.

Fish follow seasonal patterns dictated, in part, by water temperature. In early spring, for instance, bass become more active as the water warms and anglers use surface temperature gauges to locate coves with the warmest water. Even though there may not be more bass in the warmer coves, the fish found in them will be more active, and thus more catchable.

Where a wide range of temperatures can be found in a body of water which supports several different kinds of fish, each species will instinctively locate at its comfort zone. Anglers who know the water temperatures favored by specific species can better identify fish by cross-referencing their positions on a sonar screen with the temperature at that particular depth.

The following chart shows the preferred temperature for 10 popular species of fish. Look for game fish at or near these water temperatures:

Preferred Temperature Chart

Large mouth bass, 72 degrees; small mouth bass, 65 degrees; wall-eye, 60 degrees; crappie, 72 degrees; white bass, 65-75 degrees; muskellunge, 73 degrees; northern pike, 60 degrees; lake trout, 41 degrees; Coho Salmon, 53-58 degrees; rainbow trout, 60-65 degrees.

The Ones That Get Away: Tips To Eliminate Problems

Spring is here, and with it a fisherman's thoughts turn to catching bass.

Unfortunately, few ever think of losing fish—a problem that can easily ruin the most exciting trip of the year. Right now, before serious angling gets started, is a good time to try to eliminate that problem.

"We lose bass from time to time," says Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff angler Burma Thomas, "simply because the fish never gets firmly hooked. As a fisherman, I think you have to learn to expect this periodically."

"Still, there are a number of things any bass fisherman can do to minimize those times.

"The very first thing," says Thomas, "is to sharpen hooks. Dull hooks probably rank as the number one cause of lost fish, primarily because manufacturers don't sharpen lure hooks very well before they package and sell their products."

"Hooks can be sharpened quickly and easily," says Thomas, "especially with one of the electric sharpeners now available. Even with a hand file, just a few strokes on each side of the barb will improve it."

"You can probably do an entire tackle box full of lures in a single evening. The best time to do it, of course, is each time you purchase a new lure."

Frayed line is another major cause of losing bass, notes the popular Evinrude pro. Although today's monofilaments are made to withstand abrasion and abuse, continued use will eventually weaken them. Rocks, pilings, sticks, even grass—the very places bass live—all nick and cut fishing lines.

"Make a habit of checking and retying your lures several times each fishing day," advises Thomas, "especially if you're fishing heavy cover, or if you're catching a lot of fish. Even the rough lips of a bass will fray line."

"At the beginning of the fishing season, take off all your fishing line and re-spool with fresh line. Monofilaments can be weakened by improper storage, too."

Another problem Thomas sees often in tournament competition is improperly adjusted reel drags. The drag system is what determines how hard it is for a fish to pull line from a reel. It should be adjusted according to the pound test strength of the line itself.

"The problem," notes Thomas, "is that a drag set too loose won't give you a proper hook set. Line simply pulls off the reel and the hooks never penetrate the fish."

"When a drag is set too tight, it breaks when you either set the hook or play the fish. A properly set drag should allow line to come off the reel smoothly under pressure."

A fourth way to lose a bass, says the Evinrude angler, is improperly playing the fish after it's hooked. She advises anglers to let the fish tire itself out by its own runs and pulls against a tight line.

"Keep pressure on the fish, but don't crush it," Thomas says. "A jumping, thrashing fish needs only an instant of slack line to get free."

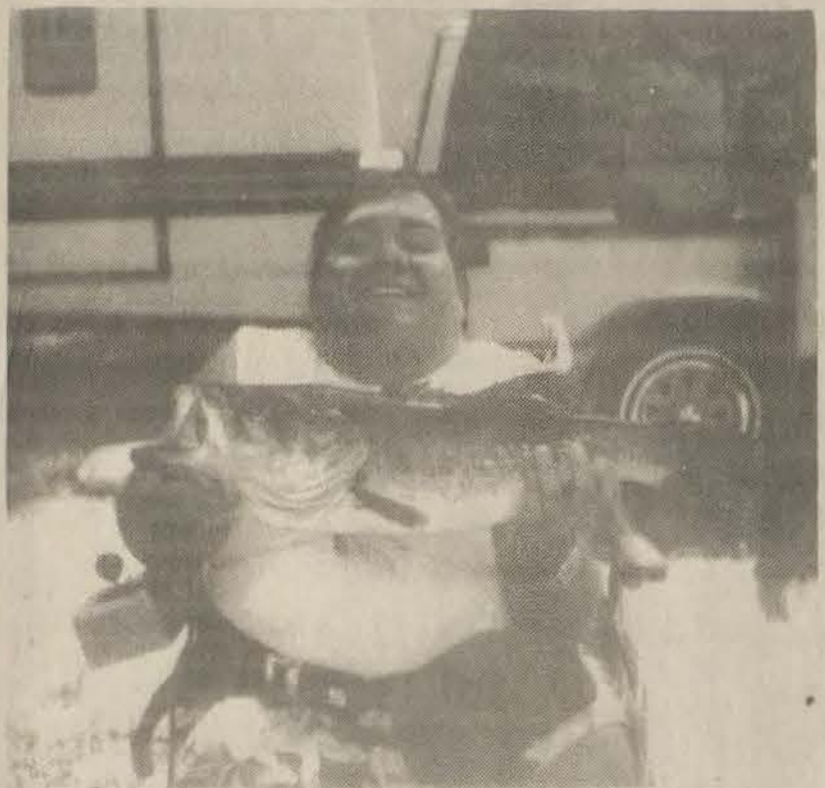

Still another way to lose a bass is by improper boat positioning. Frequently, this results in losing fish before they're even hooked.

"Bass are usually found close to cover," she explains, "so don't spook the fish by moving to close to that cover or by bumping it with your boat. Learn to cast properly and accurately so you can stay further away, especially in clear water."

Roberts To Compete In Boston Marathon

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

The doctors said he would never run again after a motorcycle accident had broken his knee — so he began running just to strengthen his knee, and has been running ever since.

Rick Roberts of Emma will participate in his 21st marathon on April 17, when he will take part in the Boston Marathon on Patriot's Day in Boston, Mass. This will be the 93rd running of the Boston Marathon, making it the oldest of all marathons today.

"The largest marathons are run in New York and Los Angeles," Roberts said, "but the Boston Marathon is the most prestigious. In the New York and Los Angeles marathons, anybody can run. You have to qualify to run in the Boston Marathon."

To qualify for the Boston encounter, a runner must run 26 miles in under three hours. Roberts made his qualifying run from Ontario to Detroit when he ran in the Free Press Marathon. Roberts is one of two Eastern Kentucky runners who will be participating in the marathon. Marvin McFadden of Paintsville will also be a participant.

Roberts estimates that there will be 8,000 runners in this year's marathon.

"You'll have about 5,000 from the USA, around 2,000 from overseas, and about 1,000 'bandits', people who never qualified, but just get in the race and run," he says.

Roberts is not the only runner in his family; his wife of two years, the former Mary Hudkins, is also an avid runner and race walker.

"In the Bluegrass games Mary finished second the last two years,"

Roberts explained. She frequently travels with him on weekends to other races he takes part in.

"I used to run in 40 to 55 races a year," Roberts relates. "But I guess I'm slowing down. I only take part in 15 to 20 a year now." Roberts has participated in 357 races since he began running.

"I ran in the Pike's Peak Marathon, which is a six-hour and 15 minute run. It's uphill, high altitudes, and rough terrain. About 1,500 runners took part in it, and about 85 percent finished," Roberts said. "I ran in a marathon in Scotland in 1985. I finished 105th out of 1,600 runners in the Big Sur Marathon out in California, on Highway 101, the most scenic route in America."

What caused him to become so interested in running in marathons and other races?

"I had a motorcycle wreck and broke my knee, so I began to run just to strengthen it," he explains. "I just enjoyed running and kept at it."

What goals does Roberts have in running?

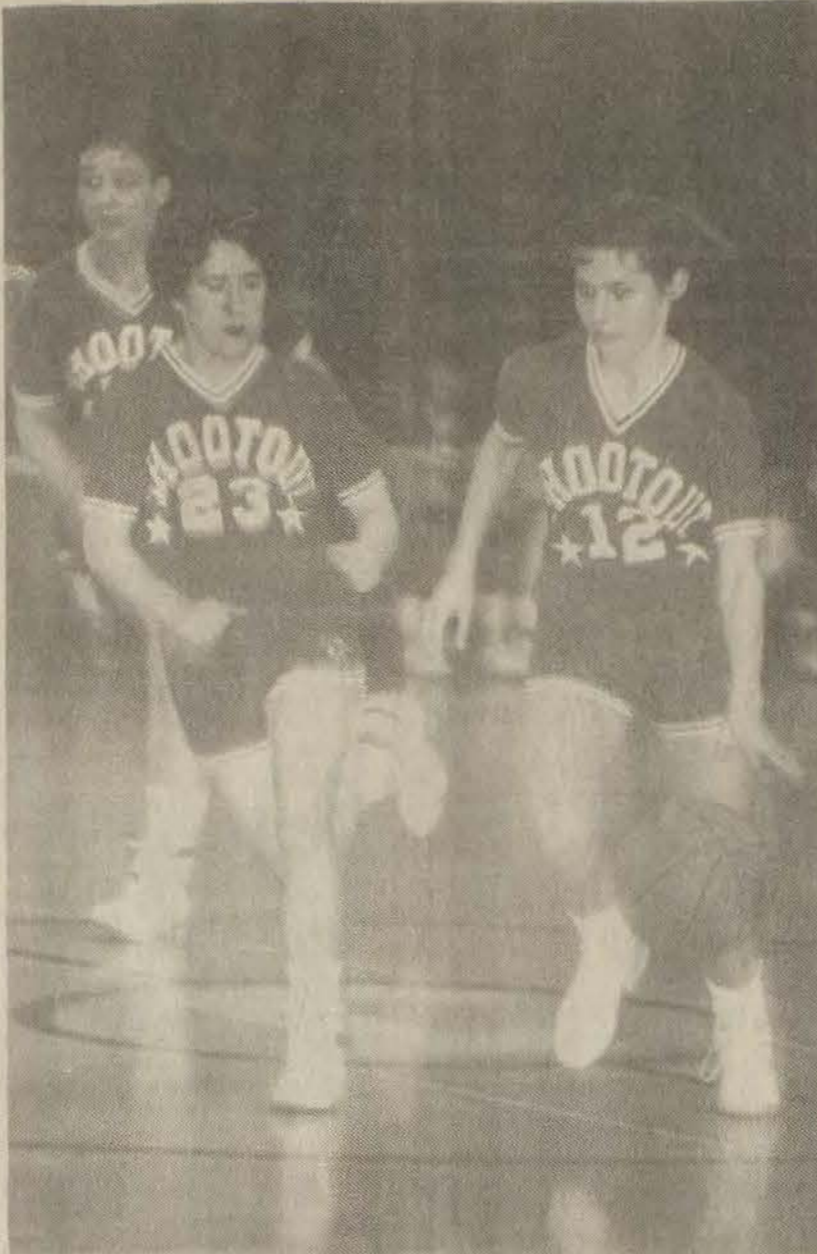

"I want to run in Louisville in January," he says. "That's 50 miles. I hurt my leg last year and wasn't able to take part, but I hope to this year."

Roberts says he is running eight to nine miles a day in preparation for the marathon.

"I ran 38 miles last week, and will run 50 miles this week, but next week I will cut back to 30 miles," he says. Roberts will be leaving Friday for Boston.

The Boston Marathon is not something new to Roberts, as he ran in the prestigious race in 1983.

The doctors said he would never run again, but Roberts overcame the disappointment and is still running — all the way to Boston.

Census Bureau To Collect Data In Floyd County

The Census Bureau will collect data on employment and unemployment from Floyd County residents the week of April 16-22, according to William F. Hill, director of the bureau's Charlotte, N.C. regional office.

The local data will contribute to January's national labor force picture, to be released May 5 by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The data for January showed a national civilian unemployment rate of 5.4 percent, meaning that 6.7 million workers out of a labor force of 123.4 million did not have jobs.

Information supplied to individuals to the Census Bureau is kept confidential by law, said Hill; only statistical totals are published.

BLHS Holds Orientation For Next Year's Freshmen

Orientation was held at Betsy Layne High School for next year's freshmen recently, according to principal Adrian Bentley.

Elementary schools taking part were Harold, John M. Stumbo, Prater, Spruce Pine, and some students from Allen Elementary.

Students came to the high school in the afternoon over a four-day period, with the largest group including about 60 students, said Bentley. Students assembled in the library, where Bentley explained the school's rules and regulations.

Arlan Isaac and Vickie Ratliff, guidance counselors, provided printed materials and explained the curriculum and extra-curricular activities, including clubs, special events and group activities.

James Brooks explained the school's dropout prevention program.

After assembling in the library, each group was given a tour of the school by the guidance counselors. As groups toured, teachers from various departments explained separate courses.

Each student was given a program planning guide after the orientation was completed, said Bentley. The guide includes information used to make a schedule for each student for the coming year. Betsy Layne High School uses the Kentucky Educational Development Corporation to do its scheduling.

"We anticipate that the school's computer will be in operation the following year," noted Bentley. "The students were placed, based on grades, test scores and teacher recommendations, in the required courses, such as English and math. They had the privilege of choosing their electives, such as home economics or wood working and the like."

Among points of interest to incoming freshmen during their tour of Betsy Layne High School were:

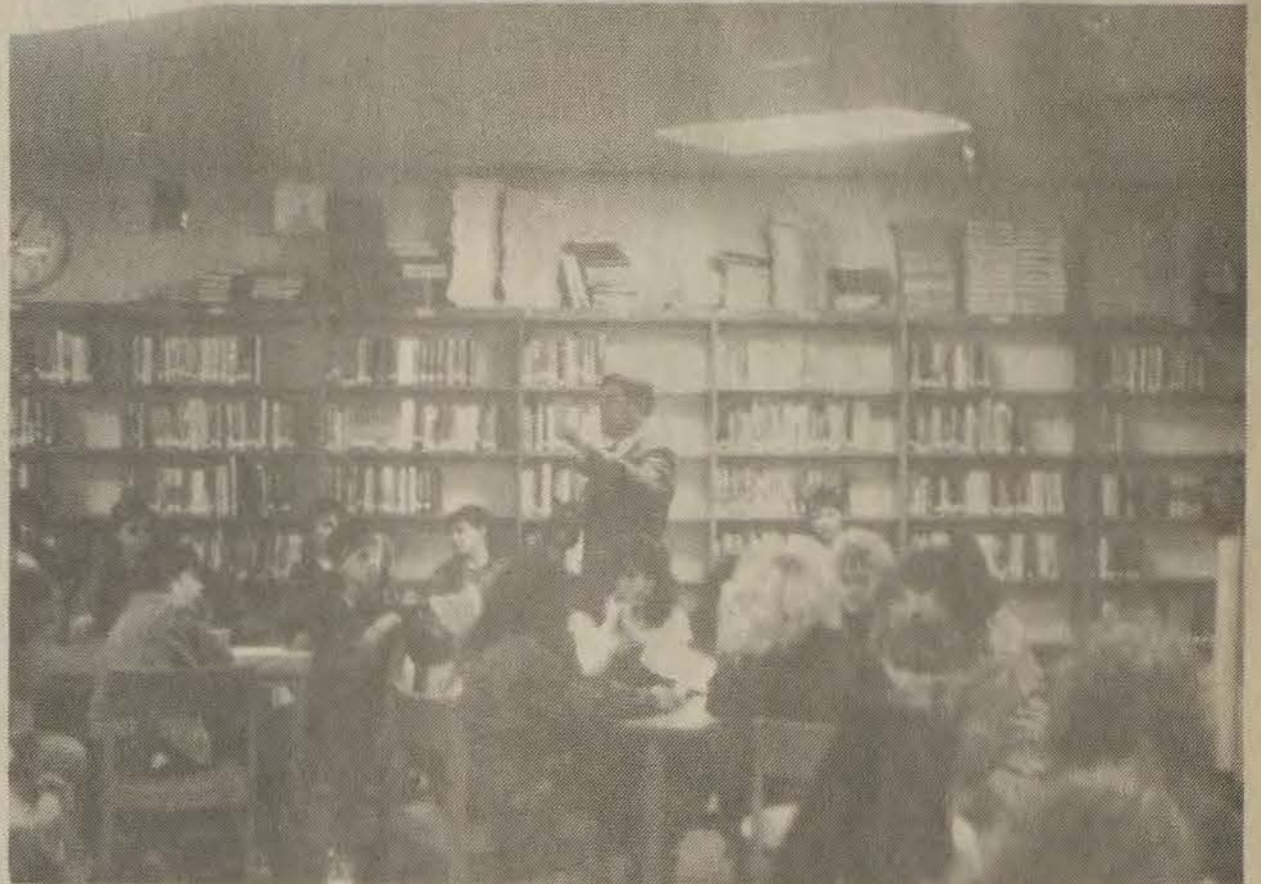

— Sherry Pennington, computer teacher, explained the introductory computer course. She discussed the various topics covered during the one-year course, and demonstrated several graphics programs written by her students. She also prepared printouts to give the visiting students.

— Vincent Tucker, industrial arts teacher, explained and demonstrated various activities covered in his department. The courses offered are Survey of Technology, Production, General Woods and Drafting.

— Janet Akers, chemistry teacher, demonstrated how to remove zinc from a penny during orientation.

— Patricia Huffman, home economics teacher, discussed the course offerings, which include Comprehensive Home Economics, Foods, Consumer Education, Housing and Home Furnishings, Parenthood, Child Care, Marriage and the Family, and Clothing.

Freshman Orientation

Art Class Explanation

Sneak Preview

The class was visited by Ron Hager, superintendent of Floyd County Schools, and a photographer for Newsweek.

School Bus Rodeo April 6

The Fifth Annual School Bus Rodeo will be held Thursday, April 6, at Jenny Wiley State Park, according to Ed Patton, director of pupil transportation for Floyd County schools.

Fund Contribution

Recently, Bernadine Wells, a former member of the Prestonsburg High School Honor Society, made a $25 donation to the fund set up by the group to pay for the school marquee. After making the donation, she encouraged other alumni to do the same.

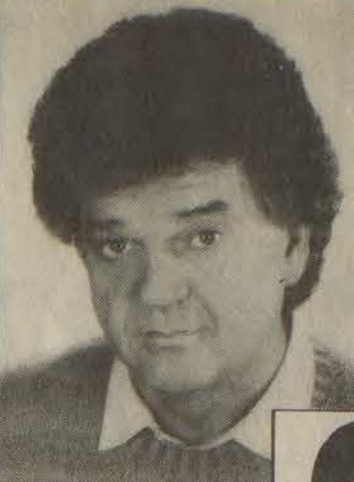

BLHS Student Council Promotes Contest Entries

On Wednesday, March 29, students at Betsy Layne High School received a packet of information which included a sample of a Caramello candy bar, a coupon for a free bar, and a booklet titled, "Caramello Presents 'Schooled With Music'."

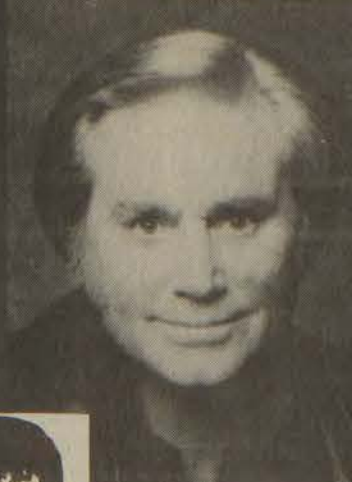

The booklet centers around three topics: staying in school, dealing with stress and grades, and career planning. It also contained information about a contest called "Create-A-Tune." The contest offers students the chance to choose one of the topics discussed in the booklet and, working individually or in a group, create a tune about the topic. Entries can be submitted in three categories: written song, recorded song, and music video. Winners can receive a grand prize of $2,500 for themselves and a matching prize for their school. Fifteen first prizes will also be given, for $400 for winners and a matching amount for their schools.

Packets were given out compliments of the Student Council and Caramello-Hershey Foods Corp.

WET / DRY ISSUE

The Wet/Dry Issue is again before the public of Floyd County and Prestonsburg. There are forces within the community who wish to return to the era of bootlegging. The people that reportedly will be helped by this return will simply have to pay twice as much for whatever alcoholic beverages they purchase than they would have to under the legal system. The biggest issue, however, is the people who go and buy under the illegal system are far more inclined to consume that liquor while still in the car. If they purchase cases of beer, the convenience is to leave those cases in the trunk of the car so they are available whenever one wishes to partake. Under these circumstances, it is far more likely that drinking while driving will happen.

The argument that the sell of alcoholic beverages does not attract visitors, commuters, etc. is simply not true. The first question that any group of people is going to ask is that concerning the availability of drinks within the community.

The people who go to outlying cities both within and without the Commonwealth will purchase alcoholic beverages and bring them back with them to this vicinity.

The people that the Dry Issue hurts the most is the low income people who live within the area and do not go to outlying communities. They will still get their alcohol; they will simply pay twice as much for the privilege.

A vote in favor of the dry issue is simply a request that we return to the bootlegging days of several years ago. High school and college students will still be able to obtain these beverages and since age is not a factor with illegal sales, they will have less trouble then when the area is wet. We should be realistic and whether one drinks or does not drink is not an issue nor will a Dry vote solve it. I have not purchased a mixed drink in Prestonsburg or Floyd County since the area voted wet, but many people do enjoy a drink with dinner and I have no problem with them doing so. I would encourage all citizens to vote YES to the question on April 22, 1989, and leave morality to each individual.

BL Student Council Conducts Phonathon

On Monday, March 13, as faculty and staff prepared for the county-wide open house, the Student Council members at Betsy Layne High School were also active. Throughout the day, council members contacted parents by phone, reminding them of the open house and extending personal invitations for them to attend. Council members contacted approximately 50 percent of the parents of the student body.

During the evening, Student Council and Beta Club members were present to greet parents. They also provided handouts (listing faculty members and containing a map of the building), and a refreshment table, with soft drinks and cookies. School officials said many parents made favorable comments about the phonathon, and the evening's activities sponsored by the Student Council.

PHS Orientation

Eighth grade students from Allen Elementary School, Prestonsburg Elementary, Clark Elementary and Auxier Elementary traveled to Prestonsburg High School recently for freshman orientation. Each class was given a tour of the school, met with teachers, and participated in a question-and-answer session with guidance counselors.

Betsy Layne FBLA Competes In Regionals

Wednesday, March 29, Betsy Layne's chapter of Future Business Leaders of America traveled to Morehead State University to compete in the FBLA Region 5 conference. The members, accompanied by club sponsor Liz Conley, toured the Morehead campus before competition. The group competed in job interview, business math, Accounting II and typewriter/keyboarding applications.

The two voting delegates representing Betsy Layne were Brad Barker and Roy Kidd Jr. Voting delegates represent their schools in electing regional officers. This is the third year the Betsy Layne FBLA has competed at the regional level, said Conley. The purpose of the group, according to its charter, is to develop among its members the qualities necessary to become a responsible business leader.

BLHS Phonathon

Larry Hall, Betsy Layne High School Student Council president, and Kim Hamilton, vice president, phone parents during the council-sponsored phonathon March 13.

Elliott Named USAA Mathematics Winner

MATTHEW ELLIOTT

Matthew Elliott, a student at Allen Central High School, was recently named a United States Achievement Academy national award winner in mathematics.

He was nominated by Joyce Watson, his math teacher and academic coach at the school.

Elliott's biography will appear in the USAA official yearbook, published nationally.

He is the son of Wiley and Phyllis Elliott. His grandparents are George and Susie Wright of Martin, and Olin and Betty Elliott, also of Martin.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly USAA award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, USAA executive director.

Winners are selected upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors, and upon standards set forth by USAA. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Boyd, Parks Attend FHA Cluster Meeting

DELANA BOYD

Future Homemakers of America members from Betsy Layne High School recently attended a meeting at the Galt House East in Louisville.

At the three-day event, members attended training sessions, which included a general opening session, a "Take A Look" session, a teen issues workshop, a "Fun With Fitness" training workshop, "How Members Can Be Champions," and "New Attitudes, Part I and II."

Approximately 3,000 FHA members from 27 states attended the meeting, learning leadership skills and recreational activities for their individual chapters.

Members attending from Betsy Layne High School were Delana Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Delane Boyd of Harold, and Lisa Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Parks of Betsy Layne.

They were accompanied by their sponsor, Patricia Huffman, home economics teacher at BLHS.

Slone's 5th Grade Wins Pizza Party

Alberta Slone's fifth grade class at Clark Elementary School recently won a pizza party from Pizza Hut by completing the "Book It" program. The children a combined total of more than 600 book reports over a five-month period, said Slone.

Volunteer Music Instructor

Music is being taught to Bobbie Jean Hale's third grade class at Prestonsburg Elementary School, thanks to the Rev. Tim Jessen, far right. Jessen volunteers his time once a week to teach the class music appreciation.

Clark Fourth Grade Students Enact Bedouin Coffee Ceremony

If someone had walked into Dianna Hunsucker's fourth grade social studies class at Clark Elementary School several days ago, they might have thought they had been transported to the desert.

The children were enjoying a Bedouin coffee ceremony. The Bedouin are nomads in the Arabian desert, who greet their visitors with an elaborate coffee ceremony.

The children brought foods native to the desert. Desks were moved, a large blanket spread to hold the food, and each child sat on a rug brought from home.

Children participating were Carla Bailey, Melissa Barrowman, Mallena Briggs, Kelly Campbell, Evelyn Compton, Januari Cooley, Terri Dot-

Scholarship Announced

Applications are being accepted for the Soil Conservation of Natural Resources Scholarship, awarded by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Kentucky Association of Conservation Districts.

Competition for the $500 award is open to agriculture students attending Kentucky colleges and universities, according to Lloyd Wells of the Floyd County Conservation District.

Deadline for submitting applications is May 31.

For more information on the scholarship, contact Wells at 886-3128 between 8 a.m.-4:30 daily.

To All Who Contributed To Misty Lee Samons Cancer Fund

Some time has gone by since the Fund raising drive began for Misty Samons, but, we haven't forgotten the generosity of the Floyd County people. Thanks to them and those like "ourselves," who stood at the intersection of the new route 80 in Garrett with the temperature close to or above the 100 degree mark to collect money, and walked for miles to sell tickets for a benefit dinner and then prepare and deliver the dinners. Without people like you, it would not have been possible, to raise the money that has paid for a rent-a-car that has taken Misty for her treatments in Lexington.

We feel the hard work and effort has paid off in the good feeling that comes with being able to help someone in need, regardless of the hardship, we, the trustees, have had to face.

The trustees have done everything possible to see that the donation money was used wisely and for the sole purpose of what it was intended to be used for, despite what rumors may have been spread. We will continue to do this as long as we are the trustees of this account.

We feel that people of Floyd County must have had confidence in us, otherwise, this account would have never existed. We won't let you down.

Quilter's Work Spans Country, Preserving Tradition For Future

by Pam Shingler
Assistant Editor

Holly Justice's handiwork is on beds and walls from New York to California. It's in the crafts collection of Kentucky's former first lady Phyllis George Brown. A director and cameraman from ABC-TV each have a sample.

Justice makes quilts, an act as natural to her as it is unusual to folks born and bred in the big city.

In her comfortable home at the top of Spurlock-Bucks Branch hill, she practices a craft that was born out of necessity for pioneer women, but which has become a treasured symbol of the country and this region's past.

Since making her first quilt at the age of 15, Justice, now 67, hasn't kept track of the number of quilts she has made, but figures the tally must be in the hundreds.

Her early quilts were all made to keep her family of five warm. As the grandchildren and great-grandchildren began coming, she made quilts for them, not only for warmth but also for keepsakes.

In the early 1970s, she started work part-time at David Crafts Center and began quilting to sell. The quilts marketed through the crafts center have sold for as high as $600 and average around $350 each, she said.

In 1981 a camera crew from ABC's "Good Morning, America" flew in to do a segment on the Floyd County craftswoman. In addition to getting national exposure, she sold two quilts to the visitors.

Justice said she taught herself to quilt. Her mother died when the former Holly Hunter was only 10, and the girl lost the benefit of her mother's tutelage.

"I always tried to teach my girls to quilt," Justice, a widow since 1985, said, "but only one of them can, and she doesn't like to. I guess I just haven't been successful in passing it on."

Not one for shortcuts, Justice stitches every phase of a quilt by hand.

Many quiltmakers, she said, put the fabric pieces together by sewing machine and then do the final quilting by hand. Some even use the machine to do the quilting, the term applied to the stitching together of the patterned top of the quilt, the padding and the bottom lining fabric.

The smooth-skinned great-grandmother does every step by hand, her fingers moving with machine-like precision as she forces the needle

Justice said she can't begin to estimate the number of hours she puts into a quilt. "I generally can piece a quilt top in two weeks, and quilt it in another two weeks," she said, "but I just quilt when I want to."

When she "wants to" is usually quite often, she admits. Using a lap hoop to hold the fabric, she quilts throughout the day when she's not at her part-time job at David. Her favorite place to quilt is a padded settee which she said has had to be recovered twice because of the wear.

Today Justice buys most of the fabric she uses in her quilts. However, when her children were at home and she sewed their clothes, most of her quilts were made from leftover scraps of fabric.

Most of the quilt designs Justice follows are traditional patterns, her favorite being the double wedding ring, an old pattern that features large intersecting loops repeated throughout the quilt.

Although she pores over pattern books, she said she can generally look at a picture and create her own pattern. Occasionally, clients come to her with specific ideas and predetermined color schemes, and she makes custom-designed quilts for them.

She has also made quilted pillow covers and scaled down quilts for use as wall hangings.

Most of Justice's wares are sold to out of state customers or people in Lexington or Louisville. "People around here generally have the attitude, 'I can do that myself,'" she said. "But then they don't."

In addition to quilting and sewing, Justice is also proficient in crocheting and knitting. When not busy with her crafts, she likes to read, cook and host "big family gatherings."

Her advice to would-be quilters is straightforward. "Get down and get at it. If you do it wrong, take it loose and do it again," she said. "Quilting takes a lot of time, but it's worth it. You get a real sense of accomplishment."

But then, almost sheepishly, the life-long quilter, who loves what she does and commands high prices for her handiwork, adds, "I shouldn't say it, but I would love to have a store bought quilt. I never did have one."

From Necessity To Luxury

Holly Justice deftly stitches her latest double wedding ring quilt. Marketing her handmade quilts through David Crafts, the great-grandmother carries on an old mountain tradition, once done out of need and now to save an art.

April Artists Weekend Contest Entries Sought

April Artists Weekend, co-sponsored by the Kentucky Parks System and Paintsville Art League, Inc., will be held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, near Prestonsburg, Friday through Sunday, April 7-9.

Ribbons, plaques, cash awards and purchase awards will be given, according to an art league spokesperson. The juror will be Louise Polan, curator of the Huntington, W.Va., Museum of Art.

Entries may be hand delivered only.

Categories will include professional and non-professional two-dimensional original artwork, photography, high school student division and sculpture. A $15 fee for non-members, and a $10 fee for members, will be charged to enter four original works, framed and ready to hang with screw eyes and wire. Works that do not have screw eyes and wire cannot be hung, the spokesperson said.

A number of regional and state artists will give demonstrations for those attending. They include:

— Tim Sizemore, storyteller, artist, teacher, newspaper reporter and humorist, will start the weekend with a presentation on Friday, April 7, at 7 p.m.

— Tom Whitaker, Magoffin County artist and art instructor at PCC, will give a presentation on "Reproducing Your Artwork," on Friday, April 7, from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

— Christine Barker, Morehead artist, will give an oil demonstration on Saturday, April 8, from 10 a.m. until noon.

— Sam McKinney, Elliottville artist and sculptor, will give a slide presentation of cold cast bronze techniques on Saturday, April 8, from 2 to 3 p.m.

— Robert Franzini, art instructor at Morehead State University, will give a demonstration on printmaking on Saturday, April 8, from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

— James Foote, Lexington artist, will give a watercolor demonstration Sunday, April 9, from 10 a.m. until noon.

Registration will be held from 5 to 9 p.m. on Friday, and Saturday morning from 10 a.m. until noon.

Judging will take place Saturday afternoon, with the exhibits open to viewing after 5:30 p.m. An awards ceremony will be held Saturday, April 8, at 8 p.m.

Blankenship, Causey To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blankenship of Teaberry announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Teresa Lynn, to Millis Keith Causey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millis Causey of Greasy Creek. The couple will exchange vows on Saturday, April 22, at 1 p.m. at the Old Samaria Regular Baptist Church at Teaberry. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Della Herald To Be Honored

Della Herald will be honored on her 90th birthday with an open house, Sunday, April 9, at her home at 654 University Dr., Prestonsburg.

Hostesses will be her daughter, Jean Burke; granddaughter, Della Ormerod, and great-granddaughter, Kristen Ormerod.

MSU Hosts High School Art Day

More than 800 high school students visited the recent High School Art Day, a regional art show of the Kentucky Art Education Association, sponsored by Morehead State University's Department of the Art. The overall "Best of Show" award went to "The Birthday," a pastel by Kathi Keen, at right, Allen Central High School senior. Pictured with Keen is Caralita O'Quinn, Allen Central High School art teacher.

Charity Auction To Benefit MDA

The third annual charity auction to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association, sponsored by the Bank Josephine, First Commonwealth Bank and Holiday Inn (all of Prestonsburg), will be held at the Holiday Inn in Prestonsburg Tuesday, April 18, at 7 p.m.

The Big Sandy Area's poster child, John Jones, will be on hand, and the auction will have a number of items.

"We are pleased to continue our support of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, which neither seeks nor receives any tax-supported funds in its ongoing fight against 40 neuromuscular diseases, but relies entirely on the generosity of individuals, businesses and corporations in order to continue to provide its free services. Last year's show raised $2,650 and we are hoping to increase that figure substantially," said Butch Bradley, marketing director for First Commonwealth Bank.

A $5 admission fee will be charged, and refreshments served. For additional information, contact Bradley, 886-2321; Donna Roope, 886-9101; or Ruby Pennington, 886-9001.

Holthouse Wins Head Start 'Parent Of Year' Letter Contest

Her essay follows.

"Head Start means I have someone who can add an essential learning contribution to the current development years of my child's life. That, in essence, is the most important thing to me. It gives me a first-hand opportunity to explore the education process, to socialize, meet and make new friends. It enables me to have a personal relationship with the teacher, so an alliance is formed between the teacher, child and parent.

"I can be involved in the curriculum and not feel left out, as you feel when young ones leave the nest. I receive the wonder and amazement in seeing the results my child makes, that an object is not just an object as I see it, but 'Mom, don't you know that's a triangle,' or 'That's a square.' It has given me an overall view of what a developing child needs to grow and mature into a responsible adult.

"Over the years now, with my second child attending Head Start, I recognize (Head Start) not only helps my children to grow physically, but helps them to achieve mentally — and that's what Head Start means to me."

County Kettle

County Kettle

Is a feature offered by the Floyd County Times. Send all recipes, kitchen tips and suggestions to "County Kettle," The Floyd County Times, P.O. Box 391, Prestonsburg, KY 41653

Irene Horner of 1421 Decatur St., Chesapeake, VA 23324, writes this week seeking a recipe for stack cake.

"Over the years, I've had the Floyd County Times in my home, and years ago, the Times had a recipe for Old Fashioned Stack Cake. This recipe called for lard and used dried apples," writes Horner. "I was raised at Hunter, and most of my loved ones are gone. I can't seem to find the recipe, and (would like) you to help me get it."

Horner notes she has the "Cooking in Kentucky" cookbook, and the stack cake recipe in it is not the one she seeks.

Most Americans should include more fruits and vegetables in their menu planning, according to the American Institute for Cancer research.

Fresh produce is a good source of fiber, many important vitamins and other essential nutrients. The overall health benefits of fresh fruits and vegetables put them at the top of the list of recommended foods of the American Institute for Cancer Research.

However, fruits and vegetables can lose a lot of their nutritional value between the time they're harvested and the time they reach dinner plates, if they are not handled, stored and cooked correctly. Most of today's farmers, shippers, distributors and grocery stores take care to ensure that fresh produce reaches the consumer quickly and in top condition. Nonetheless, consumers should take steps to keep produce fresh and as nutritious as possible.

— Chilling fresh fruits and vegetables helps preserve vitamins A and C. Get fresh produce quickly into the refrigerator's crisper section.

— Nutrients can be destroyed with exposure to air, so avoid cutting fruits or vegetables until just prior to use.

— Because heat destroys nutrients, freezing rather than canning provides long-term storage with the best nutrition, particularly if food is steamed rather than water-blanched.

— Wash produce without soaking it to avoid the leaching of nutrients into the water.

— Don't cut produce into excessively small pieces, which exposes more surface area for nutrient losses.

— Cook produce in as small an amount of water, for as short a time, as possible, to minimize losses due to water leaching and heat. Steaming is a great way to preserve nutrients in cooking.

— Don't add baking soda when cooking vegetables, as it makes the cooking water more alkaline, destroying thiamine, riboflavin and vitamin C.

Broccoli is an excellent source of many vitamins, including vitamin C and vitamin A. Try this simple, tasty recipe.

BROCCOLI VINAIGRETTE

1 bunch fresh broccoli (about 1.5 pounds)
1 clove garlic
2 tbsp. wine vinegar
1/4 tsp. Dijon mustard
2 1/5 tbsp. olive oil
black pepper to taste

Cut the broccoli into serving size pieces. Place 3/4 to 1 inch of water in a saucepan or steamer. Place the broccoli in the steamer basket with the larger stalk pieces on the bottom. Place the steamer basket in the water, cover, bring to a boil, reduce heat and steam for 8 to 12 minutes (depending on the broccoli's size and age).

Prepare the vinaigrette by mashing or pressing the garlic in a small bowl. Add the vinegar and mustard, then gradually whisk in the oil. Season with black pepper, to taste.

Serve the broccoli warm, topped with the vinaigrette dressing. This will produce four 1-cup servings.

Books and Things:

When Spring Springs, It's Birdwatching Time

Reviewed This Week:

- Birds of the South
- How To Know Birds
- The American Robin
- The Hungry Bird Book
- The Audubon Society Book of Wildlife
- The Complete Book of Birdhouses and Feeders
- A Birdwatchers Guide to the Eastern United States

by Trisha Morris
PCCLibrarian

They announce spring, add color to the trees, and fill the hills with song. They are birds, and the following books from the Prestonsburg Community College Library will tell readers how to identify them, where to go to find them, and how to attract them to yards.

The American Robin, by Len Eis-erer. Friends of good cheer, allies against insects and harbingers of spring, robins have a decided effect upon the spirit of millions of Americans. Through colorful prose, the author sketches the species success of the robin, pictures its habitats and range, and dispels or upholds old myths.

Along with answering questions about the robin's mating habits, its peculiar nesting spots, and its success at bringing up baby, Eiserer offers suggestions on how to encourage a pair to build their home in the backyard.

From more than 1,000 sources studied over a period of years and intense personal observation, Len Eiserer brings us fascinating information, delightful details, and interesting insights into the one bird everyone recognizes.

The Hungry Bird Book, by Robert Arbib. The love of mankind for the garden is as old as civilization. With a little plot of earth, the labor of our hands, and love, a lowly human can bring forth a minor miracle — fruits, vegetables, or flowers, to nurture the body or eyes. Add to that picture the flashing wings and songs of birds, and a personal paradise could be achieved.

Arbib, in The Hungry Bird Book, gives simplified information on turning any garden into a year-round sanctuary for wild birds. From watering, housing and protecting, to special tips on the care of young or injured birds, Arbib gives all the details necessary to cultivate a bird garden.

The Complete Book of Birdhouses and Feeders, by Monica Russo. Whether readers want to attract purple martins who can guzzle over 2,000 mosquitoes a day, or the energetic brown wren who can fill the yard with song, this book offers instructions on how to construct birdhouses and feeders which will bring the feathered friend into yards.

Colonial by nature, the purple martin prefers a multi-holed bird house. The best height is 14 feet, and the entrance holes should be 2 and 1/8 inches in diameter.

Being very tolerant of man, wrens have been known to build nests in such unlikely places as mail boxes and old boots. To persuade them to live where one wants them to, build a house with a 1 and 1/2 inch entrance so they will feel safe from larger birds.

This book will teach readers how to design a successful house or feeder, how to select materials, and how to "tailor-make" a birdhouse that will attract specific birds. Perches on the outside of the entrance, the size of the entrance hole, nesting material, feed, and where to hang or place the birdhouse or feeder are all discussed in exhaustive detail.

A Birdwatchers Guide to the Eastern United States, by Alice Geffen. This book is intended as a guide for the traveling birdwatcher. Unlike typical bird books, which describe coloration and wing span, this book describes parks and sanctuaries where the feathered creatures may be found. Covering 26 states east of the Mississippi, it subdivides the area into three regions and divides the regions by state. Kentucky's rivers, mountains, streams and forests provide multiple birdwatching opportunities. Seventeen distinct areas are listed, from the Lilly Cornett Woods and the Daniel Boone National Forest in Eastern Kentucky, to Land Between the Lakes in the western portion of the state, the Kleber Wildlife Area in the north, and the Transient Lakes of Woodburn to the south.

With complete addresses and detailed instructions for getting to each location, this book is a traveler's guide for birdwatchers who want to enjoy the state while pursuing their favorite sport.

How to Know the Birds, by Roger Peterson. Written by America's foremost bird artist and ornithologist, How to Know the Birds is a well-illustrated manual for bird identification. Using key markings, silhouettes and flying styles, Peterson shows how the untrained person can use shortcuts to recognize most varieties of birds.

With pictures of more than 200 species as they look silhouetted, by roadsides, on wires, in woods and fields, and outlined against the sky, he makes bird identification quick and easy.

Birds of the South, by Charlotte Green. An unusual bird book — it only describes birds that are permanent winter residents commonly found in gardens, fields and woods in the South. Intended for the layperson, it is easy to read and includes a wealth of information about the ways and doings of these feathered neighbors.

Over 60 kinds of birds are portrayed: the flicker, the bird of many voices; the woodpecker, the drummer of the woods; the owl, the night watchman of our fields and garden; the mockingbird, a familiar character of Southern myth and folklore; and a whole forest of other birds, including the robin, cardinal, bobwhite and killdeer.

An invaluable guide book for birdwatchers, it's accurate descriptions, interesting information and clear style make it a valuable book for anyone interested in the birds of the South.

The Audubon Society Book of Wild Birds. Here are some of the most memorable bird photographs of our time, selected by the editors of Audubon magazine and completed with text by two expert naturalists. Captured in breathtaking color are birds as familiar as a jay or a sparrow, or as exotic as an ivory gull or an oilbird. The cameras of 67 outstanding bird photographers have captured birds preening, flying, plummaging, courting, mating, hunting for food, feeding their young, brooding or soaring.

An easy way to bird watch is to flip the pages of this colorful, oversized book.

Blackburn Earns Wee Miss USA Title

Starlite Jr. Miss

Andrea Bailey, daughter of Bob and Donna Bailey of Martin, was crowned Miss Starlite Junior Miss, as well as Miss Photogenic in recent pageant. She also placed second in the sportswear division. At Martin Elementary School March 18, she received trophies as first place, Miss Springtime Junior Miss, as well as overall photogenic and photogenic, first place Easter wear, most beautiful, and second place in sportswear. On Feb. 13, at Betsy Layne Elementary, she received trophies for Miss Photogenic and second place in sportswear. She is the granddaughter of the late Birchie and Johnney Caudill Jr., Joe Bailey, and Kathryn Patton of Martin.

JESSICA BLACKBURN
Jessica Dawn Blackburn, daughter of Tim W. and Patricia Blackburn of Emma, was crowned Wee Miss USA in a pageant held recently in Prestonsburg.

She also won the photogenic division, and received trophies for her two wins.

She is the granddaughter of Doy Jr. and Judy Isaac and Eleanor and the late Otis Blackburn.

Wayland Students Having Own Books Placed In Library

Wayland Elementary School students are having their own books placed in the school library, according to school officials.

Students in grades four through eight chose a theme for each grade, then wrote poems and designed artwork to illustrate the themes.

Once the books are finished, they will be cataloged and added to the library's collection, ready to be checked out by other students.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES HAVE ECUMENICAL FLAVOR
Each year as the Easter season draws nigh, members of the Prestonsburg Ministerial Association being making plans for Holy Week services. Decisions on the location are made, and names of pastors who are to bring the messages are chosen.

Around the same time, members of the Local Church Women formulate plans for the furnishing of food for this event.
This year's services were held at the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial), where each day at noon a brief inspirational program was delivered.

On Monday, March 20, Rev. Jennings West, pastor of Lancer Baptist Church, brought the message on "Forgiving," from Luke 23:33-34. Special music was provided by Susan Foy, and the congregation joined in singing "Blessed Redeemer" and "Grace greater than our sin."

Tuesday, March 21, Father Joe Muench, pastor of St. Martha's Catholic Church, delivered the message on "Hoping," from Luke 23:39-43. Paul and Linda Smith furnished special music, and the congregational hymns were "There is a fountain" and "Jesus, keep me near the cross."

Wednesday, March 22, Rev. Ken LeMaster, pastor of Christ United Methodist Church at Allen, delivered the message on "Belonging," from John 19:25-27. Tim and Elma Jessen sang a duet, and the congregation sang "Beneath the cross of Jesus" and "Jesus paid it all."

Thursday, March 23, Rev. Tim Jessen, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, brought the message on "Wanting," from John 19:28-29. Special music was rendered by the Little Paint Church of God trio, with the congregation singing "At the cross" and "Man of sorrows."

On Good Friday, March 24, Rev. Kevin Collins, pastor of Prestonsburg Church of God, delivered the message on "Giving" from Luke 23:46. Special music was furnished by Larry and Garry Brown, and the congregation sang "At Calvary" and "When I survey the wondrous cross." Monetary contributions to assist the needy were made during each service.

Following the services, light lunches, consisting of sandwiches, relishes, desserts and beverages, were served in the Fellowship Hall by the social committee of the host church. Meals were furnished by women of the churches whose pastors presented the message, with some assistance from women of other churches.

Signs of Christian love and fellowship were manifest during the services and luncheons. The host pastor was Rev. Steve Hopkins. Thomas Foy is music director, Missy Carter is organist, and Lisa Carter is pianist for the church.

Serving as president of the ministerial association is Rev. Quentin Scholtz, pastor of First United Methodist Church. President of the Local Church Women is Marian Masters, wife of Rev. Ron Masters, pastor of Community United Methodist Church.

HOPKINS LEADS SUNRISE SERVICE

Easter sunrise services were held on the patio of May Lodge at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, with Rev. Steve Hopkins of First Baptist Church, delivering the inspirational message. The Prestonsburg High School Honor Choir, directed by Elizabeth Frazier, presented the music.

UK MUSICIANS TO PERFORM HERE

On Tuesday, April 4, the University of Kentucky Chorale and Jazz Vocal Ensemble will be in concert at Prestonsburg Community College. The program, which is free and open to the public, is sponsored by the Eastern Kentucky Concert Series.

Region's First Settlement

John Cecil Thrasher, son-in-law of Ray and Frances Brackett of Prestonsburg, rendered this drawing of the original Auxier home at Harmon Station, Blockhouse Bottom, near the Johnson-Floyd county line. Thrasher did the drawing from a picture furnished by Douglas Auxier Galbraith, a descendant of the builder of what is believed to be the first permanent settlement in Eastern Kentucky. According to local legend, Jenny Wiley escaped to Harmon Station after her capture by Indians in the late 1790s.

FORMER RESIDENT STOPS HERE

Mary Katherine Damron, formerly of Prestonsburg, presently of Kingston, Ohio, stopped here for several days last week, en route to her home from a vacation spent with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Prewitt and children in Orange Park, Fla. She visited here with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jody Spradlin and family.

MEMORIAL FLOWERS PLACED ON ALTAR

Flowers "in loving memory" of George T. and Lack D. Roberts were placed on the altar of First United Methodist Church for services last Sunday from their daughter and son-in-law, Laura and Bob Collins, and their daughter Judy.

UMC BELL CHOIR SPONSORS LUNCHEON

The Bell Choir of First United Methodist Church, led by Elizabeth Frazier, will sponsor a luncheon on Friday, April 7 at 1 p.m.

The lunch will consist of sandwiches, potato salad, beverages and dessert. Price is $3 per plate, and carry out service will be available.

COLLINSSES HAVE EASTER GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Collins Sr. had as their guests for lunch on Easter several family members: Pam Patterson and son Daniel of Versailles and Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Collins Jr. and daughter Halee Jordan of Prestonsburg.

Their guests for a few days last week were her sister, Fannie Merritt of Louisiana.

VISIT SPRADLINS

Easter dinner guests of Margaret and Jody Spradlin were members of their family: Mr. and Mrs. Don Howard; Karen Vaughan and daughter Rachael; and Mr. and Mrs. Carlen Harris and children Jody, Danielle and Kalen.

FLOYD ALUMNI OF ALC MEET

Dr. Fred Mullinax, president, and Robin Fox Branham, director of alumni affairs at Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, held a luncheon meeting there on March 29 for officers of the Floyd County chapter of the ALC Alumni Association.

The main purpose of the meeting was to formulate plans for the annual dinner meeting of the local chapter.

It was decided that this event will be Friday, May 19, at 6:30 p.m. at May Lodge. The president and alumni director are to be present, and music is to be furnished by two faculty members.

Plans for a memorial honoring Dr. June Buchanan, co-founder of the school, will be discussed.

Attending Wednesday's luncheon, in addition to the college officials, were Clara Hicks Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Saunders, representing the local chapter.

Officers of the chapter are: Clara Hicks Johnson, president; Sarah Laven and Mrs. Delmas Saunders, vice presidents; Docia B. Woods, secretary-publicity, and Arthur Haywood, treasurer.

WOMEN'S CLUB MEETING PLANNED APRIL 6

The KFWC/GFWC, Prestonsburg Women's Club members are reminded by President Boots Adams of the meeting to be held Thursday, April 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the club's arts and crafts house at Archer Park. She asks that members of the executive board meet at 7 p.m. that day.

P'BURG HOMEMAKERS TO MEET APRIL 11

President Barbara Dawson of the Prestonsburg Day Homemakers announces that the group will meet Tuesday, April 11 at 1 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of First United Methodist Church.

Hostesses will be Nancy Webb, Hope Whitten and Rose Glenn. Dawson urges members and prospective members to attend.

DAR MEMBERS ATTEND STATE MEET

Among the estimated 300 members attending the 93rd annual state conference at Marriott's Griffin Gate Resort in Lexington, March 14-16, were members of John Graham chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution: Mrs. Carl R. Horn, regent and sixth district hostess; Mrs. James B. Goble, KSDAR state organizing secretary, and Mrs. Ray Brackett, Kentucky regent club president, KSDAR state advertising chairman and conference program member.

Guest speakers were Lt. Gov. Brereton Jones; Robert L. Marsh of Paintsville, who spoke on "A Brief Salute to Unsung Pioneers of Eastern Kentucky"; Mrs. Roy Barnes, principal of Western Hills High School, who presented "Jennie Wiley," depicting the life of Jennie Sellards Wiley from the time of her capture of Indians at Walkers Creek, Va., in 1789, to her escape to Harmon Station, Blockhouse Bottom, once Floyd, now Johnson County, in 1790; and Mrs. Gabriel Saavedra, NSDAR national school chairman, Maryland, who spoke on Hindman Settlement School.

Guest soloists were Mrs. Hubert Pack, Paintsville, and Mrs. Richard Arnold, Cynthiana.

Out of state guests were Mrs. K. Clark Froman, Missouri; Mrs. Eric Hook, Massachusetts; Mrs. Dale Love, Mississippi; Mrs. Frederick W. Rohrs, New York; and Mrs. Spencer Clason, Georgia, all of whom spoke briefly at various functions.

At the March 15 memorial service, John Graham members attended the memorial service for deceased DAR members, including Minnie Grace Harris Sutherland.

John Graham, Harmon Station, Paintsville, and Indian Mound, Salyersville, chapters presented outgoing KSDAR state regent Mrs. Martin Thompson with an original state regent doll crafted by Brenda Porter Cockerham of Paintsville. They also gave a handcrafted basket from Hindman to Mrs. Goble, outgoing KSDAR state organizing secretary.

Mrs. Saavedra installed the newly elected state officers, including Mrs. Ray Brackett, state registrar. Outgoing state officers hosted a reception for the new officers and presented each with a gift.

FIRST BAPTIST TO HOLD REVIVAL

Revival services are set for April 30-May 5 at First Baptist Church (Irene Cole). Rev. Wib Ferguson of Ohio will be the visiting minister, and Thomas Foy, church music director, will be in charge of music.

In preparation, the church is scheduling four outreach nights, April 6, 13, 20 and 27. Light suppers will be served at 6 p.m. each day, with outreach activities beginning at 7 p.m.

The four main areas of the program are absentee contacts, touch letters, visitation, and prayer. Rev. Steve Hopkins, pastor, said, "There will be something for everyone to do on these nights."

LOCAL RESIDENTS VISIT VA PATIENT

Mrs. John Rodebaugh and her daughter, Dewana Kay Robinson, visited Mrs. Rodebaugh's husband at the Veterans Hospital in Lexington, Tuesday of last week, where they learned his condition is improving.

OLDER MAY NOT BE BETTER

The thousand tablet bottle of aspirin bought on sale three years ago may not have turned out to be a bargain after all. Medicines gradually deteriorate with age, as do most substances. In the case of a drug, however, getting older can be dangerous. Some drugs lose their effectiveness over time, and will not cure the ailment. Others can even get stronger and may deliver more of a dose than the doctor ordered. Still others react to the inert substances they are mixed into and form potentially toxic substances. One example from years ago was the antibiotic tetracycline, which was then mixed with an acidic binder. Over time, the two formed a toxin that caused kidney disease. Old aspirin, especially if it has been moist, may cause stomach irritation. If it has a strong vinegary smell, throw it out.

COOLEY APOTHECARY wants you to know that if your physician prescribes medication for you or a member of your family that we maintain the highest standards of the pharmaceutical profession. Learn for yourself why your friends and neighbors already rely on us. We are located at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3.

Eastern Kentucky Quilt Show Slated April 15, 16

Examples of Eastern Kentucky's quilting heritage will be on display April 15 and 16 in the Big Sandy RECC auditorium in Paintsville.

Quilters in the Big Sandy area are being asked to display their quilts for the community to see, according to a spokesperson for the show.

Individuals may enter only one quilted item per category. Categories include baby quilt, wall hanging, miscellaneous (includes pillows, clothing, etc.), machine-quilted and appliqued, embroidered, or patchwork quilts, or hand-stitched and appliqued, embroidered, or patchwork quilt, and the best quilt handmade before 1960.

A best of show award will be presented, as will individual awards in each category. Award winners will be chosen by the public.

Quilted items to be displayed should be brought to the RECC building on Saturday, April 15, between 8 and 11 a.m., to be entered and displayed. They should be picked up after 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, April 16. For more information, call 789-8108 or 789-4095.

Viewing hours will be from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, and 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited to attend the show, which is co-sponsored by the Johnson County Extension Homemakers and the Big Sandy RECC.

Homecoming Queen

Trina Danielle Johnson, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Johnson of Bypro, was crowned 1989 Miss Basketball Homecoming Queen at Wheelwright High School. She was chosen queen by popular vote of the basketball players.

Former Resident Featured In Columbus Newspaper Article

A former Wayland resident was featured in an article on independent retailers in the Sunday, March 5 edition of The Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch.

Nelma Hall Manasco, a member of the Wayland High School class of 1951, is owner of Nel's Fashions in the Great Western Shopping Center in Columbus. Her store markets apparel for working women.

The article, which mentioned her and the store, focused on the squeeze large chain stores are putting on small, independent merchants. The Floyd County native's store is competitive because it caters to a targeted audience, the article implied.

FLOYD COUNTY ATTORNEY

FLOYD COUNTY CAN GET HIGH PAYING QUALITY JOBS NOW!!!

The United States Postal Service is committed to locate an Eastern Kentucky Regional Post Office, Collection and Distribution Center in the Big Sandy Valley Area. This would mean a minimum of 175 direct new jobs and 350 new indirect supporting jobs, giving a total of 525 new high paying quality jobs for Floyd County and Eastern Kentucky if the Center is located in Floyd County. We do not have to convince the Postal Service of the need for this Center. The commitment has been made. Please write our U. S. Senators and U. S. Congressman and encourage them to use their influence in having the Postal Service locate this Regional Center in Floyd County. Tell them that Floyd County is in the center of Eastern Kentucky and that all roads pass through Floyd County reaching all of the Big Sandy Valley, Kentucky River Valley and the Tug River Valley. Tell them that we have the work force and the ability to train the work force to staff the Center and support industries and that we desperately need the jobs.

Cancer Hopeline

Question: Last week, my 4-year-old niece was found to have Wilms' tumor. I don't want to ask her mother too many questions, but I would like to be informed so I can be supportive. What is Wilms' tumor? Is it hereditary? How is it treated and is it curable?

Answer: Wilms' tumor, named after Dr. Max Wilms, is also called a nephroblastoma. It is the most common type of kidney cancer in children. However, it is rare — only 500 new cases of Wilms' tumor occur in the United States each year. It occurs equally in both sexes from infancy to age 15. Most cases are seen between the ages of 3 and 4 years old.

The cause of Wilms' tumor is unknown. A small percent of children with Wilms' tumor have other rare birth defects, often of the urinary tract. Some forms of Wilms' tumor may be hereditary. The type that is inherited is likely to arise at a younger age, and often affects both kidneys, or more than one site in the same kidney.

Great strides have been made in the treatment of Wilms' tumor. It may be treated using a combination of surgery, radiation treatment and chemotherapy. The exact treatment will depend on the age of the child and the extent of the cancer. The outlook for a child with Wilms' tumor is very good. Overall, eight of 10 children with this type of cancer will be cured. For more information on Wilms' tumor, call the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER.

HOROSCOPE

April 9 through April 15

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

This a great week for you. Go out and party or just take a walk and enjoy the world. Family members want to do something special for you. Drop a hint for a special gift.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

Follow your instincts in the areas of love and money. You just can't go wrong. Family members may be trying your patience. Don't let the little things in life get to you.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

Your mate and loved ones need special attention this week. Spoiling them is really worthwhile. Be careful with financial matters. You may have less money than you think.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

Your life has been a little hectic the past few weeks; take some time to relax with a loved one. Sharing your innermost thoughts with a stranger could be dangerous.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)

Please, quit being such a perfectionist. Nobody is really perfect. You could get in big trouble by taking too long on certain tasks in your work environment.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)

Loosen up! If you get any more pessimistic, you could actually lose a few friends. Do something uncharacteristic. Try skydiving, bar hopping or just staying up all night.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)

Take preventive health measures to avoid a spring cold. Get lots of rest and plenty of sunshine and exercise. Leave your spring cleaning till May.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)

Take a closer look at the classifieds if you are looking for a new job. Something in the paper will surprise and delight you. It may even send you on a journey.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)

Pick up your tail and go. There are new opportunities you haven't even thought about. Take some time to buy new clothes and get a new haircut.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)

Don't be such a jerk. Your family loves you, but don't use them. Money matters seem overwhelming. Things are not as bad as they look in your personal or work environment.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)

Your appearance could be important in the area of promotion. Buying large purchases is crazy right now. Wait until finances are a little more stable.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)

Selfishness is not an admirable trait in you. Take time out to help others in your family or charities. Be wary of spending heavily this week; it will come back to haunt you.

Country music promoted through awards program

Silver hats awarded to entertainers

By Chad Andrews
 Country and western music is now a widespread and popular form of music, and the Country Music Awards have consistently good ratings. But that was not always the case.
 The Academy of Country Music was first conceived in 1964 when four people—Mickey and Chris Christiansen, Eddie Miller and Tommy Wiggins—met to share their dream of promoting and enhancing the acceptance of country music. Their dream was given a foundation for growth when they formed a non-profit organization and chartered it in accordance with the laws of California.
 In 1965 it was decided that the best way to expose the talented artists and put country music before the public was to hold an awards show, the first ever country music awards show by a major organization. In 1969, the Academy became an international organization, and the awards show was first televised in 1972.

 This hard-won tradition will be continued Monday, April 10, when NBC airs the 24th annual Country Music Awards presentation, live from The Walt Disney Studios in Burbank, Calif. Dallas star Patrick Duffy, five-time nominee K.T. Oslin and three-time Academy of Country Music Award-winner George Strait will host.
 Entertainers compete for the coveted "Silver Hat" awards in 11 categories. The winners are determined by the voting membership of the Academy.

TV Q&A

'A Man Called Hawk' star on leave from teaching job

By Polly Vonetes

Q: Could you please give me some information on actor Avery Brooks who stars on A Man Called Hawk? Is he married and how old is he? —Shirley Owens, Sawinboro, Ga.

A: Avery Brooks was born Oct. 2, in Evansville, Ind. (There is no year of birth listed). He attended both Oberlin College in Ohio and the U. of Indiana, where teaching and music were his prime interests. After earning his Masters in Fine Arts from Rutgers University in New Jersey, he stayed on for more than 13 years as a professor of theater arts. He is currently on leave. He is also a stage director and musician. He sings opera and plays keyboard in a jazz band. A very private person, he and his wife, Vicki, reside in New Jersey with their three children. Write to him c/o ABC Audience Services, 2040 Ave. of the Stars, Los Angeles, Calif. 90067-4785.

Avery Brooks

that you only saw when he looked in a mirror, and Angela Lansbury was a beautiful, sexy woman? —Jack Svenson, Laramie, Wyo.

A: The Amen theme song is sung by Vanessa Bell Armstrong. Cynthia Fee sings for The Golden Girls. Lady in the Lake, released in 1946, is the movie you inquired about. Robert Montgomery, Audrey Totter, Lloyd Nolan, Tom Tully and Leon Ames are listed in the cast—but no mention of Angela Lansbury.

Q: One of our favorite shows this season is Paradise with Lee Horsley. We have wracked our brains to remember what other series he was in some years back. Please help! —Betty Ilkenhons, Livingston, Mont.

A: Lay those brains to rest. Lee has starred opposite William Conrad in the series Nero Wolf, and for three years he starred as Matt Houston. His telefilms include Agatha Christie's 13 At Dinner and Danielle Steele's bestseller, Crossings.

Q: Recently my daughter was flying from Fairbanks, Alaska, and Mike Douglas was on the same plane. She got his autograph. Did he star in a series, and if so, what was the name and when did it air? —Lela Lively, Templeton, Calif.

A: Mike Douglas, originally a singer, hosted a celebrity talk show on radio in Chicago before moving to TV in the early '60s. The Mike Douglas Show started in Cleveland, then aired in Philadelphia before moving to Hollywood in 1978. The show aired from 1966-1981. He was awarded an Emmy in 1967.

Q: Please tell me who sings the theme songs for Amen and Golden Girls. Can you also tell me the name of the 1950 movie where Robert Montgomery was a detective

Please send your questions about television past and present to: Polly Vonetes, TV Q&A, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, Texas 76102-0748.

15- Or 30-Year Mortgage, Don't Be Misled

In recent years, the trend toward shorter mortgage maturities, particularly the 15-year mortgage, has been dramatic.

"The tendency of new homebuyers and those homeowners who are refinancing mortgages to accept significantly shorter mortgage terms, however, may harm some of them financially," says Dr. Paul S. Marshall, whose article, "Help Buyers Make the Right Mortgage Wish," appears in a recent issue of Real Estate Today, the official publication of the National Association of Realtors.

Marshall is an assistant professor of management at Widener University (Pennsylvania) and specializes in real estate finance.

The popularity of 15-year mortgages can be attributed to several factors. The first, and perhaps most important, for those refinancing, according to Marshall, is the downward trend of interest rates during the past few years, allowing those refinancing higher rate mortgages to pay off the mortgage for about the same payment as the 30-year mortgage.

The arguments for taking a 15-year mortgage seem compelling, he adds. A lower interest rate, combined with more rapid payoffs, yields apparently incredible interest savings and — most satisfying emotionally — the mortgage is paid off in half the time.

Are there reasons, then, a homebuyer, eligible for both types, should opt for a 30-year mortgage. Marshall responds with a definite "yes!"

"In fact," he said, "from a purely financial perspective, the 30-year mortgage is superior for many people." Reasons include the new tax laws, the current conditions in the financial markets, and the current position in the interest rate cycle.

The author examines in detail what he terms the "two-faceted myth" of the 15-year mortgage. First, does the homeowner truly get a lower interest rate on the 15-year loan? Marshall illustrates that the stated or contract rate for 15-year loans, generally 25 to 50 percent less than that for 30-year loans, doesn't really determine the cost of the loan. Rather, it is the annual percentage rate (APR) that includes points and other fees that push up the APR. "Therefore, the true cost of a 15-year loan may not be so much less than that of a 30-year loan," advises Marshall.

The second facet involves the apparent interest savings. Marshall agrees that the lower interest rate, combined with a more rapid payoff, yields the interest savings advertised. The author says, however, that with a 30-year loan, the homeowner can invest the difference between the 15- and 30-year loan payments and, using future values, greatly narrow the overall cost gap between the two loans.

"Realistically," the true savings on a future value basis are primarily a function of how long the homeowner expects to remain in the home and how astute an investor he or she is," says Marshall. The author also examines refinancing options with the 15-year and 30-year mortgage, illustrating that the flexibility of the 30-year mortgage is a low-cost option on higher interest rates ahead.

The major advantage to the 30-year mortgage, says Marshall, is that it allows homeowners to build a sizable investment kitty. By saving and investing the difference between the 15- and 30-year payments, the kitty should be the source of the mortgage payments on the 30-year loan.
