Martin Water Problems

"I just hope we can get it fixed before someone gets hurt," stated Mayor Raymond Griffith when speaking of the water buildup in the streets of Martin. The water system was installed by the city, according to state officials, but the road is to be resurfaced as soon as funds are available. The city has done a three day clean-out of the drainage system, said the mayor, but nothing seems to help.

Barber Named To Ethics Panel

Floyd County Attorney David Allen Barber has been appointed by Kentucky Chief Justice Robert F. Stephens to the Task Force to Develop a Code of Legal Ethics for the Prosecution and Defense of Criminal Cases.

The committee has been charged with developing a separate code of ethics establishing standards of conduct for defense counsel and prosecutors. Because of unique problems and regular complaints by both defense counsel and prosecutors, the committee will develop standards that will provide guidelines and boundaries in the conduct of criminal cases.

Chief Justice Stephens said that lawyers "must know how they should conduct themselves." Standards would decrease frustrations over deciding what is sharp practice and what is impermissible. There are unique differences between the prosecutor's duty to give a fair trial and defense counsel's duty to vigorously defend, said Barber. Barber is one of only two county attorneys statewide to be appointed to the committee. Other members include Robert F. Stephens, chief justice, Supreme Court of Kentucky, Frankfort; J. Vincent Aprile, Department of Public Advocacy, Frankfort; Mike Conliffe, Jefferson County Attorney, Louisville; Frank

E. Haddad Jr., Louisville; Paul Isaacs, public advocate, Frankfort; Raymond Larson, Commonwealth's Attorney, Lexington; Robert Lotz, Covington; William Mizell, Catelettsburg; Carroll M. Redford Jr., Commonwealth Attorney, Glasgow; David Vest, deputy attorney general, Frankfort; and Susan Stokley Clary, Supreme Court administrator, Frankfort.

Panel To Hold Public Forums

In its meeting Thursday, the Floyd school district's Blue Ribbon Panel members voted to hold two public forums in coming weeks, according to Dolores Smith, chair of the committee.

Both forums will be held at Allen Central High School, and are to seek input to establish and begin working on the system's long-range financial, management and curriculum goals. The first meeting, slated Monday, Jan. 23 at 7 p.m., will be open primarily to teachers, staff and personnel of the district. Smith will act as moderator, while committee member Sam O. Blankenship will give an opening statement. A history of the committee will be presented by Jean Rosenberg, followed by reports from sub-committee chairs on what has been accomplished to date.

Those attending will be asked to form groups to study the tentative mission statement and goals, then present ideas and discuss concerns with the committee members.

A second forum, following the same format, will be held on Jan. 30 at ACHS, also at 7 p.m., and is open to the general public.

In its Thursday meeting, the group gave preliminary approval, subject to public input, to the following mission and goals statement:

"Mission: To have the best school system in the state by the year 2000, and involve all community components in the educational process.

"Goals: To achieve this mission, our goals lie in the areas of finance, management and curriculum. To achieve the financial goals, the district will maintain a balanced budget; create a centralized accounting and control of all revenue and expenditures; establish ways to enhance discretionary revenues and set aside up to 3 percent annually (until an amount equal to one month's operating expenses is achieved, with remaining funds set aside for future building programs); to establish an index which achieves parity between and among all certified employees; and to establish a salary schedule which achieves parity between and among all non-certified employees.

"To achieve the management goals, the district must establish a management structure committed to achieving the mission and its goals; a structure that allows the superintendent to oversee the total system; that consolidates management functions and demands accountability; that eliminates political patronage and ensures

by Anne Chaney

A state management team is expected to arrive in Floyd County to begin correcting the local school system's problems in the next week or so, according to state Department of Education officials.

The action comes after the state board voted a week ago to assume control of the Floyd district because it does not meet minimum state requirements.

Gordon Nicholls, spokesman for Superintendent of Public Instruction John Brock, said Brock is in the process of choosing team members to come and assist the district in the areas of finance, academics and attendance.

Nicholls said at least two team members have been chosen. The first is Steve Henderson, deputy associate superintendent in the state's division of instruction, who was a member of the curriculum audit team that visited the state earlier in the year. The second is Bob Gover, who will be working with the district's finances. Gover supervised the state's financial takeover of the Pike County school system, and has nearly completed his work there, said Nicholls.

In addition, Dr. Brock and state officials will come to Floyd County with the assistance team, and a special school board meeting will be called. At that time, said Nicholls, Brock will explain to the public and local board exactly what the state's role in the district will be.

While area education groups are supportive of the state's move, and local administration says it will work with the team, several questions remain. The takeover marks the first time in Kentucky history that a district has been moved from phase two to phase three under the academic bankruptcy law. (Whitley County was also moved to phase three last week.)

Dewey Lake Recreation Areas May Close Under Reagan Budget

President Ronald Reagan's swansong budget proposal for 1990 calls for the closing of one or more Corps of Engineers recreation areas on Dewey Lake.

The budget proposal, which is expected to be altered by incoming President George Bush before being considered by the US Congress, lists the Floyd County area among about 700 projects nationwide slated for closing.

"We haven't received anything official," said Dean Murray of the local Corps of Engineers office. "We have to wait and see."

Murray said that until a final decision is made and he receives word, the Corps will go on with its usual plans for maintaining all its facilities.

Murray is not sure which shoreline recreation areas are included in the President's proposal. He said the Corps maintains two camp sites and a picnic area along the shoreline, accessible only by boat.

The administration contends the closing of the recreation sites across the country will save $35 million.

"Now this is the height of foolery," said 7th District Congressman Chris Perkins, in response to the budget proposal. "These facilities were built with the help of federal funds. To shut down existing facilities would be a complete waste of well-spent taxpayer dollars."

Last year, the administration proposed closing the German Bridge recreational area, operated by the Corps, but a spokesman for the congressman said Perkins was able to keep the area open. Murray said the Corps is planning to have German Bridge site open in May.

Other Eastern Kentucky recreational areas affected by the President's proposed budget are located at Buckhorn, Cave Run, Carr Fork, Grayson and Fishtrap lakes.

In a complex management arrangement, the federal government, through the Corps of Engineers, maintains some facilities around Dewey Lake, while others are run by the state, through Jenny Wiley State Resort Park.

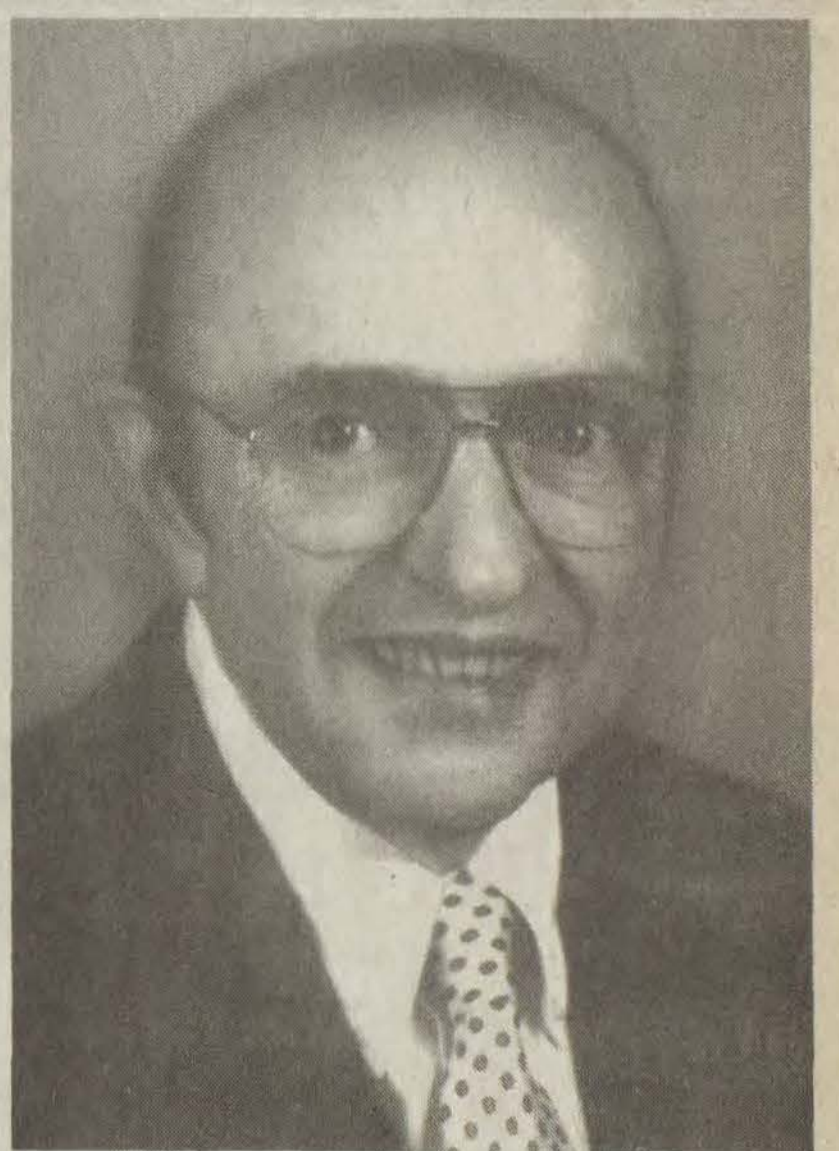

Fire Damages Dwale Home

A house fire in Dwale early Sunday morning resulted in approximately $15,000 in damage to the home and an oxygen machine.

According to Joe Reynolds of the Allen Fire Department, approximately 10 fire fighters responded to the 1:30 a.m. call to the Otis Page residence. Upon arrival, they found the family had extinguished the fire. Personnel vented smoke from the house, and remained on the scene for about an hour.

Reynolds said living room fire damaged the floor, couch, fan, and an oxygen machine.

'HUCK' FRANCIS

Kentucky More Prepared For Lottery

Kentucky is more prepared to operate a lottery than any other state that has implemented a lottery.

That's the opinion of State Representative Greg Stumbo of Prestonsburg, one of two state lawmakers who serve on the Govern-nor's Lottery Commission.

Stumbo said the commission went through two months of intensive research before drafting its recommendations for the state legislature, which met in special session after House Bill 1 establishing a state lottery was passed by Kentucky voters.

"The report was novel. No other state had approached the lottery from this direction," he said, referring to the advance preparation of the commission.

The commission members, Stumbo said, studied the lottery systems in three types of states: those where the lottery was successful, those where it was unsuccessful and those with new systems.

The commission's proposal, which was accepted with little change by the General Assembly, incorporates the best ideas from the successful lottery states, attempts to avoid the problems of the weaker systems and includes ideas that will make Kentucky's lottery program unique, he said.

The most unusual aspect of Kentucky's lottery is its corporate structure, Stumbo said. No other state operates its lottery in this way.

The commission design is a corporation, public and independent from the state, but subject to the oversight law of other state agencies. State government will serve a watchdog function to insure that issues relating to purchasing, open meetings and other regulations are adhered to.

But the corporation has flexibility that many state agencies do not have. Stumbo refers to the lottery corporation as a "hybrid" much like the state universities.

Stumbo explained the breakdown of revenues brought in by the lottery, which he expects to see fully operational across the state by this time next year. "Of each dollar taken in, 35 cents will go directly to the state; 50 cents will go back to the players, and 15 cents will go for overall administration of the lottery," Stumbo said.

The administration share of the income will include five percent to the retailers who sell lottery tickets and games, five percent to maintenance of the system hardware (computers, telephone lines and the like), and five percent to actual administration of the corporation.

Probably the most common question Stumbo gets from residents of his district has to do with who will be

Prestonsburg Businessman 'Huck' Francis Passes Away

Long-time Prestonsburg business owner Hubbard C. "Huck" Francis, well-known for his church and community involvement, passed away Monday, Jan. 16 following an extended illness.

He was born on Dec. 13, 1928 in Prestonsburg, the son of the late H.C. Francis Sr. and Ruth Francis Isbell.

Francis was a member of the First Baptist Church in Prestonsburg, and was chairman of the finance committee.

Francis taught Sunday school and was an active member of the choir until his health would not permit him to continue. He preached at several churches throughout Floyd County.

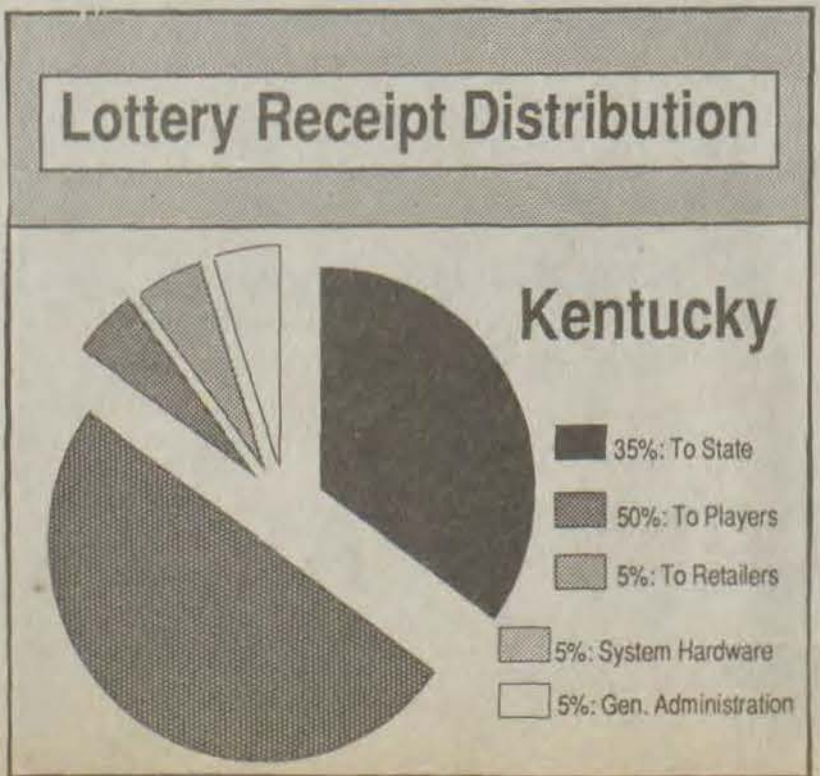

He was instrumental in raising funds for the 1972 and 1988 building projects of the church, the two last major additions.

He often joked about being the one who burned the church down in 1942. As a boy, his job was to light the gas heaters before each service and turn them off afterward. On Jan. 11, 1942, he lit the heaters for the Wednesday evening prayer meeting, went ice skating and broke his arm. Word was sent for someone to turn off the heaters after the service, but they were left on. That night the church burned to the ground. (That church building was located at the corner of Court Street and Lake Drive, where the Fountain Corner Drug Store is now located.)

"As a pastor, I considered Huck Francis a 'co-laborer' in Christ. There were many times I sought his advice as a young pastor. His influence will be greatly missed in our church," said Steve Hopkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Francis was a member of the Kiwanis club and a past governor of

State Takes Over Schools

The state Board of Education placed the Floyd and Whitley County school districts under state control last week, but the board members and Superintendent of Public Instruction John Brock said the action is designed to help, rather than punish, the two troubled schools.

"We will go into Whitley County, we will go into Floyd County, with the most positive attitude humanly possible," Brock promised the board before it took the action under the state's Educational Improvement Act.

Brock praised Floyd school superintendent Ronald Hager and Whitley Superintendent Bill Mayne for their efforts to help their districts overcome their problems.

"We will help them in any way that we can," Brock pledged.

Brock stressed his desire to work with the local school districts rather than dictate decisions.

"I think we're not trying to do anything of an incriminatory nature with these two districts," said Robert Ruberg of Covington, the state board's vice chairman. "But we do have problems with the districts... those districts are facing a financial deficit."

"One (Floyd) of $345,000, the other of $250,000 this year. Both of them have problems with attendance, with high drop out rates, and many other problems that have been ongoing for a considerable period of time."

"The concern that I have is that we have a tool to bring about change. And that tool is by moving them from phase two to phase three" under the law, said Ruberg.

Later in the meeting, Ruberg tried unsuccessfully to delay the takeover of the Whitley schools. Ruberg, however, joined the other board members in voting to bring the Floyd school system under state control.

He said later that after listening to Whitley County officials, he felt that district had made sufficient progress in overcoming their problems to give them additional time.

Asked if he didn't feel that Floyd County made similar progress, Ruberg replied, "No way."

Board members expressed great concern that the press would report that the two school systems were declared academically "bankrupt". They pointed out that the term does not appear anywhere in the law. However, it is commonly referred to as the academic bankruptcy law.

"The word 'bankrupt' has an immediate negative connotation to the layperson," said state board member Beverly Schneider of Lexington, who also chairs the advisory committee for educational improvement.

"These schools are not bankrupt (in) ways that people in Kentucky think of being bankrupt. They are educationally deficient."

The board's action in moving the Floyd and Whitley school districts from phase two to phase three followed Brock's recommendation.

Brock stuck by that recommendation even after the state advisory committee for educational improvement recommended on Jan. 10 that the two districts remain in phase two.

Districts in phase two have been declared deficient and must submit plans to resolve their problems. The state Department of Education provides the districts help to do so.

Under the third phase, Brock or his staff are authorized to make all decisions in such key areas as spending, hiring, instructional policies and the school calendar for the Floyd and Whitley districts. In phase two, Brock could make recommendations, but officials in the districts could ignore them.

Brock said after the state board meeting that he hoped the takeover of the two districts could be ended in six months. "It depends," he responded when asked how long the takeover would last, "you know the board kind of implied six months or so. I am hoping that during that period of time that we can get things so that we all feel comfortable enough that we can move them back to phase two."

He said he would have a team of specialists in the two districts within 10 days.

Robert Gover, a retired Warren County school superintendent, will oversee the finances of the Floyd school system. Brock said, Gover had overseen the finances of the school district in neighboring Pike County. The state board took control of the finances of the Pike district last year under a different state law.

Attorneys for the two systems questioned the legality of the takeovers, the first ones instituted in Kentucky. They said the action may be challenged in court.

Robert Chenoweth, a Frankfort attorney representing the Floyd district, argued there were inadequate legal grounds for the takeover of that district.

He said the action fails to comply with the state law and the board's own regulations for that statute.

"What are you going to do with Floyd County on attendance that they haven't done?" Chenoweth asked. He noted the school system has given away trophies and bicycles to get students to attend school.

Chenoweth said later he did not know if the Floyd Board of Education would sue in an attempt to stop the takeover. William McCann, a Lexington attorney representing the Whitley school board, said any decision to challenge that district's takeover would be up to that board.

McCann also questioned the legality and constitutionality of the takeover.

Brock found it ironic that he "would be the superintendent who would have to make this recommendation" since he has criticized the law. However, he said he must follow the law.

"I concur that they (the Floyd and Whitley districts) have made significant progress," he said, "but they have not met the standards established by this board."

"That will be another discussion for another day — whether or not it is fair that a district such as Whitley County and Floyd County would be expected to meet the same standards as other districts who have more finances and other factors that would give them an advantage."

Brock has said that under the regulation, state intervention is called for if the districts fall below certain standards in four general areas:

— Attendance: The district must have an attendance rate in grades one through 12 of at least 93.5 percent. In the 1987-88 school year, Floyd had a rate of 92.53 percent.

— Drop out rates: A district may not have a drop out rate in grades seven through 12 of more than 5.5 percent. This is the only one of the four standards that Floyd meets.

— Academic achievement: Students in three or more grades must demonstrate mastery of a subject of at least 80 percent on achievement tests. Floyd was deficient in four academic areas.

— Finances: A district fails to meet this standard if it fails to resolve its problems despite prior assistance from the state Department of Education. The department has projected that Floyd will have a deficit of $345,824 in the budget year ending June 30.

Department spokesman Gordon Nicholls said the district has done very little to reduce its overstaffing of non-certified personnel.

James Melton, a consultant who assists the Department of Education Management Assistance Program, told the state board it is the judgment of a team member that Hager, who has been superintendent for six months, "is destined to do a good

CITIZENS:

JUST A FEW KNOWN FACTS ABOUT OUR JAILING SYSTEM:

1. Lack of medical attention resulted in the death of one inmate who suffered a heart attack.
2. Weak System—jail escapes, suicidal attempts and, yes, even suicide committed in our Floyd County jail.
3. Brutality—you decide.
4. Weak management—a state takeover has threatened us.
5. Hunger strikes—inmates trying to starve themselves due to lack of decent meals to eat.

Citizens, we all know there have been problems in our current Floyd County jail system.

Citizens, inmates serve time for crimes committed to pay their debts to society but they also need protection. With a stronger security system we can prevent inmates from hurting one another or even themselves. Citizens, hasn't Floyd County had enough Hale for so many years? How much money has the county insurance had to pay out for our current jailer's irresponsibilities and negligence which our tax monies are used to provide? It has been thousands of dollars too much. The Floyd County jail should be a lodging facility for inmates that have committed crimes, big or small. Let's abolish this Hale Motel and turn it back into our Floyd County jail.

Lottery Discussed By Stumbo

authorized to sell lottery tickets. Stumbo said that any retailer, except persons exempt for "security or integrity" reasons, may sell. Each retailer who applies will be subject to a background check, he said, by state police and the corporation's chief security officer.

The legislator anticipates that public meetings will be held "within the next 60 days" to explain to retailers how they can get lottery licenses. For retailers who are projected to be successful lottery ticket sellers, primarily because of their retail success or location, the lottery corporation will furnish the equipment for selling tickets, which includes complex computers and dedicated phone lines.

"The president of the corporation will decide where they'll go," Stumbo said.

Retailers who are denied the equipment for reasons other than security may purchase the machines at their own expense, estimated at about $3,000.

"If ticket sales equal or exceed the state average after a year, you get your money back and the machines are free to the retailer," Stumbo said.

Some retailers have expressed concern that politics will be involved in selection of lottery outlets. "We definitely don't want that to happen," he said. "For that reason, there is a built-in appeals mechanism so that retailers who aren't chosen can appeal the decision."

The lawmaker believes gross revenues for the lottery "will exceed $300 million in its first full-year of operation." If his prediction is true, the state will realize a $100 million profit, he said.

"I think Kentuckians have a gaming nature," he said. "Though to a large extent our population is conservative, gaming is part of our heritage. We have a tradition of betting on things, particularly horses."

Stumbo said he had been in favor of a statewide referendum on the lottery since he won state office in 1980, because "I have a commitment that people ought to be able to vote on issues."

However, he said he did have some reservations about a state lottery until last summer. "After being on the commission it became apparent to me that it made good sense to have a lottery."

He has received some criticism for his stand, he admitted, but "many people have come forward and volunteered their support. My view is that if Kentuckians want a lottery, we owe them the very best we can give. That's my goal." Stumbo believes the Kentucky lottery "when it's up and running" will be a model for the country.

He expects that some type of game will be available by April, perhaps relating to the Kentucky Derby. He also expects scratch-off games to be available by the middle of the summer.

"We should have a big game, such as Lotto, by this time next year," he said. "I don't think statewide distribution will be in place until then."

Owens Responds To Road Story

Jackie Edford Owens, district 2 magistrate, responded this week to a story in last week's Floyd County Times concerning conditions on John's Branch Road, near Maytown.

Owens said that in recent weeks the county has delivered 150 tons of gravel, or about 15 county truck loads, to John's Branch. He was responding to a report by Virgil Halbert Jr., who lives on the road, that the amount of gravel provided was inadequate to repair the road.

never mentioned to him that he (Halbert) would use his own equipment to fix the road, as Halbert contended. Owens said the county has maintained the road during his three years in office.

"We have graded to the last house in the hollow because the school bus goes up it," the magistrate said.

"When I was clearing snow, Halbert Sr. said I was the first one (magistrate) to do it before," Owens added.

The magistrate also said that other residents on John's Branch told him that Halbert had "used the county's gravel for himself."

Owens said he received a message from the Times on his answering machine the week before the story ran and that he was unable to contact the reporter to respond to Halbert's version of the road situation.

The meeting, held in the council room at the Municipal Building in Prestonsburg, is open to the public.

Editorial

The state Board of Education voted last week to move the Floyd County district from phase two to phase three — simple enough, on the surface, but quite complicated in practice.

The move means that the local board and superintendent have limited authority, and will be assisted by a team of officials chosen by the state.

Floyd County's school system certainly needs all the help it can get — and then some. Not many people are arguing with that — unless, possibly, it is the board and administration. And even they are not arguing too loudly.

The local board has not decided whether it will pursue court action to halt the takeover. We believe it would be wrong to do so, because the state's mandate — regardless of the manner in which it was done — will eventually lead to better education for our children. We believe most Floyd Countians don't want their tax money used to take the state to court to fight the takeover.

On the flip side, the state has a serious responsibility to Floyd County. It is not enough for officials to visit periodically, to make telephone calls or request action.

We feel the assistance team should be in the county, day in and day out, personally supervising the rebuilding process from the ground up, until the job is finished.

Local officials indicated prior to the state board's vote that a takeover might prompt legal action to prevent the move. At a specially called meeting Friday, the local board retained an attorney, Robert Chenoweth of Frankfort, but did not vote to file suit.

"We are not going to file a suit right now," said local superintendent Ronald Hager.

He said the Chenoweth will provide legal advice to the Floyd board.

"There is a lot of misinterpretation of the (academic bankruptcy) law," said Hager. "No one really knows what it is about. It limits the authority of the local board and superintendent, but no one knows what the limits are. None of us wants to violate the law."

A January 12 letter from state officials to Hager said the local district could "continue to operate as usual" until official notification of transfer from phase two to three is given.

Hager said he has not received that notification.

He also raised the possibility of the district being moved from phase three to four in coming months. In phase four, the local board and superintendent are removed from office. Hager said he and the board retained Chenoweth to advise them now, because they may not be allowed to take the action later.

"If they break the law that time, what's to keep them from doing it in the future?" asked Hager, referring to his view that the state's takeover decision was in itself against the law and the board's own regulations.

"That does not mean I'm going to fight them," he continued. "I want what's best for the district. . . I'm stressing that we will work gladly with any group that they send here. We'll do anything for the children. But they have to actually come in and help; not provide the inadequate assistance they have for the past few years."

Nicholls said state officials are aware that both Floyd and Whitley administrations have discussed filing suit.

"Dr. Brock's feeling is that that's what the court systems are there to take care of. He has philosophical questions about the takeover law, but at the present time, he does not want to see it taken to court," said Nicholls. "He feels like the state and the districts can iron it out."

Dolores Smith, chair of the Floyd system's Blue Ribbon panel, established in October to recommend a mission and long-term goals for the district, said she personally supported the state's move.

She said the panel has not officially made a statement about the transfer from phase two to three, but that individually, she views it "as positive."

"I want a good working relationship with the department of education. Given the circumstances, our deficiencies in several areas, we need to accept all the help we can get," said Smith.

"Any time you have standards and you do not live up to them, you should be taken to task. I don't care who you are, and there is not anything as crucial as the education of our children. That needs to be taken very seriously," she added.

Smith also called upon individuals outside the district to help improve the local educational system. "Parents have the responsibility of sending their children to school regularly, of turning off the television and getting them to read, of joining a PTA and being concerned about what's going on," she said.

Betty Rowland, Kentucky Education Association representative in the area, said local educators are viewing the state's action in a positive light.

"This has the potential to be that spur which moves this district into a positive, forward movement as far as the children are concerned," she said.

Noting that this is the first full takeover in Kentucky's history, she said she hoped the move would have a positive impact on other districts, as well.

"It may prompt others in a similar situation to take a close look at what we're doing, and undertake similar actions beforehand," Rowland said.

FC Forum Board To Meet

The Floyd County Education Forum will hold a board of directors' meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 24, at 6:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church (next to Jerry's) in Prestonsburg.

The agenda includes discussion of the Kentucky State Board of Education's decision to move the Floyd County School District from Phase II to Phase III under the Kentucky statute that defines school districts which are educationally deficient, the Curriculum Audit of Floyd County School District and the Kentucky Department of Education's Management Assistance Team Report on the Floyd County School District. At the meeting, plans will be made to hold a district-wide school meeting to update the community on these recent developments in education in our county.

All board meetings of the Floyd County Education Forum are open to the public. Anyone interested in the issues under discussion may attend.

Numerous Automobile Accidents Reported By Local Authorities

In an accident which occurred on Saturday, Jan. 14, Ashland Shepherd of Gunlock struck a car driven by Jackie Martin of Printer on US 23, according to Sgt. Gerald Clark of the Prestonsburg Police Department. Clark reported no injuries.

A separate accident on Court Street on Friday, Jan. 13, which involved two vehicles resulted in no injuries. Sheila Huff of Ashland parked her vehicle and apparently forgot to put it into gear. It rolled and struck a parked vehicle, according to Clark.

In two separate accidents on Thursday, Jan. 12, Kelvin Bleivins, 18, of Langley, was changing lanes on US 23 and his car struck a vehicle driven by Gary A. Garrett, 18, of Emma, reported Officer Roy Roberts.

The second accident involved three cars, according to Roberts. Sandra S. Blackburn was travelling north on US 23. She turned left onto Branham Street and was struck by Jimmy Ray Marcum II, 17, of Prestonsburg. Blackburn then struck the vehicle of Cindy Whitaker, 16, of Prestonsburg, said Roberts.

A two car traffic accident on Wednesday, Dec. 11 at the Highlands Plaza Shopping Center left minor damages to two automobiles, according to Capt. D.J. Conley.

The vehicles were driven by Bill Hall of Prestonsburg and Emogene Vanover of Auxier.

No citations were issued and neither driver received injuries, said Conley.

In reports by Officer Jim Mullins on Monday, Jan. 10, two separate accidents left no injuries.

Benney C. Epling of Shelbyana was parked in traffic and was struck in the rear end by Robyn S. Frasure of Langley. Frasure stated that her brakes had failed.

Paul T. Osborne of Prestonsburg was backing into a parking space at Goble Roberts Addition and struck the unoccupied vehicle of Clyde Stephens of Van Lear, said Mullins.

In fire reports by Fire Chief Tom Blackburn, the owner of McCoy's Junkyard in West Prestonsburg was driving by his business and noticed that the bed of one of his dump trucks was on fire.

The truck had trash and other flammable materials stored in it. McCoy reported the fire to the Prestonsburg Fire Department. Rescue 8 was sent to the scene and extinguished the fire, said Blackburn.

A field inspector for the Environmental Protection Agency's Division of Air Quality was in Dwale Monday, responding to complaints by area residents about fumes from a local plant.

According to Dwale resident Phyllis Fields, EPA officials did determine that excessive fumes were present, and a report is expected in the immediate future. EPA officials told residents the problem would be cleared up within two weeks.

In Memory of Daddy Jack C. Slone

A "Gentle Giant" someone called him by name. He cared never for any fortune or fame.

A humble man whose loving care I have known. He was a man who was proud of his family and home.

Great kindness and love were all that he knew For his own wants in life were very few.

He loved us so well all through the years, For showing his love he had no fears.

Many a time he has helped us when his health was not well. He gave a helping hand and as a father he never failed. We never were alone in our times of need.

For we knew he would be there always doing a good deed. With a heart of pure gold and a love so strong he would lead and guide me whether I was right or wrong. He tried to shield me and protect with the greatest of care And he followed me faithfully to end my great fears.

The spoke in the wheel will no longer be there,

But Jesus will have him waiting for us somewhere. When he knew I was suffering he would too.

I couldn't have asked for a better Dad and one like him are few.

His gentle touch and the warmth of his love Makes me believe he knows God up above.

I sit and I wonder what he sees looking down. For I know he already has his gold crown.

Still in time of trouble and great despair I know he and Jesus will be waiting for me there.

Churches Urged To Toll Bells On January 23

Throughout history, church bells have tolled to announce joyous events, call people to worship, or warn of approaching calamities. It is in the context of this tradition that a unique program called "Bells for Babies" is asking for the churches of America to toll their bells this January 23 as pro-life people again gather in Washington to plead for an end to legalized abortion.

Pro-life people across the country are being urged to contact their pastor and ask that the bells of their church be rung 23 times on January 23—one time for each one million babies killed since abortion was legalized 16 years ago. It is suggested that the bells be rung at the time of a regular church service scheduled for that day or at the time of a special pro-life service held to mark the 16th anniversary of Roe v. Wade.

Several Sources Foundation, originators of this innovative project, suggest that pastors insert an item in their church bulletins on Sunday, January 22 explaining the reasons for the January 23 ringing of bells. A short press release to the local daily or weekly newspaper would be another way of drawing public attention to the 16th anniversary of Roe v. Wade which has resulted in the deaths of 23 million babies, as well as physical and psychological injuries to countless women.

This is a beautiful project with great potential for drawing attention to the tragedy of abortion and our need to work together to end it. But, it requires those who understand the tragedy to act by simply bringing this idea to the attention of pastors across the commonwealth so that on January 23, a choir of bells may rise heavenward in a prayer for an end to the slaughter of the innocents.

HELP SAVE A BABY'S LIFE
Please Join and Support Our National Effort to End Abortion

Our goal is to have church bells toll throughout the land on January 23, 1989 ...23 Times...One Time for Every Million Babies Killed Since 1973.

New Tint Law Takes Effect

Some of the mystery of the highway officially disappeared Sunday when Kentucky's window tinting law went into effect.

Automobile owners can no longer have dark tints on their windshields, and those who do can expect to receive citations, said Kentucky State Trooper Ken Frost.

State police are carrying test kits to make sure that drivers are within the limits of the law. Motorists with darkly tinted windshields had a grace period from July 1988 until Saturday to get rid of the dark tints. Warnings were issued during the grace period, said Frost.

"We've taken quite a few tints off," said Ernie Lovern of Henson Glass Service on Auxier Road. "Some drivers had been stopped and warned and then they came in."

Lovern said the removal process is fairly easy, except for rear windows with defrost mechanisms. "You can get the film at the edge and it comes right off. Then you soften the glue and scrape it off."

Tinting itself is not illegal. Lovern said. Rather, the law "controls how dark you can go."

Frost said the law is designed to protect police officers who could walk into a potentially dangerous situation unexpectedly when they can not see into a car. He added that the darkly tinted windshields also reduced the driver's visibility.

Some Laid-off Dowell Schlumberger Workers May Be Eligible for Benefits

Some workers laid off between Oct. 1, 1985, and Oct. 1, 1987, by Dowell Schlumberger Inc. in Prestonsburg may be eligible for Trade Adjustment Assistance, Cabinet for Human Resources Secretary Harry J. Cowherd, M.D., announced this week.

The company, which has headquarters in Texas, is involved in crude oil and natural gas exploration and drilling operations.

The U.S. Department of Labor has certified the company as an adversely affected employer under the federal Trade Act, which provides assistance to employees of businesses and industries hurt by import competition.

Until recently, employees in oil and gas drilling and exploration were not eligible for benefits under the Trade Act. Congressional action in August extended assistance to workers in this category.

"These workers weren't eligible for benefits previously because they provided a service instead of making a product," Cowherd said. "With this change in the law, they now may receive benefits because their jobs were affected by import competition."

Laid-off employees who exhausted their unemployment insurance benefits before they were called back to work or found another job also may be eligible for retroactive UI benefits. Qualified workers may apply for financial assistance, training, and job search and relocation assistance.

Applications for assistance may be filed at the Department for Employment Services offices on North Lake Drive in Prestonsburg.

Wheelwright Residents Thanked

Staff of the Wheelwright Youth Center were among those recognized last week by the Kentucky Disaster and Emergency Services for their help during the Wheelwright water crisis in December.

Cecelia Parks and Sandra Knight cooked meals for and "looked after" the National Guardsmen who camped at the center when the town was without water for almost two weeks, said Bill Callihan of DES. Callihan gave the women plaques on behalf of the agency during ceremonies Wednesday.

Callihan presented certificates to Thompson's IGA for donating food for emergency workers; Respond Ambulance Service in whose building Callihan stayed; Ronald and Barbara Gullett, who gave Callihan the use of their shower; the Charlie Branham family for donating food; Wheelwright Mining Co. for allowing Guardsmen to use the company bathhouse; and Ben and Jan's Restaurant for rearranging business hours to accommodate the emergency workers.

Johnson County rescue squads; Wheelwright and Southeast Floyd County fire departments, County Judge/Executive John M. Stumbo, and the Job Corps Civil Air Patrol.

"I'm sure many others donated supplies and time, and I was unaware of it," said Callihan, who also commended Wheelwright residents for their "cooperation and patience."

Healthcare, Inc. Gets Grant

Big Sandy Healthcare Inc. has been awarded a grant for $775,122 by the US Department of Health and Human Services, according to an announcement from US Sen. Mitch McConnell's office.

James Stewart, director of the agency, said the annual grant amounts to about 4 percent more than last year. He expressed surprise that the grant was increased as requested this year.

Stewart said that about $748,000 of the grant will be used for maintaining the agency's clinics at Mud Creek and Salyersville. The rest, he said, is for upgrading facilities and personnel.

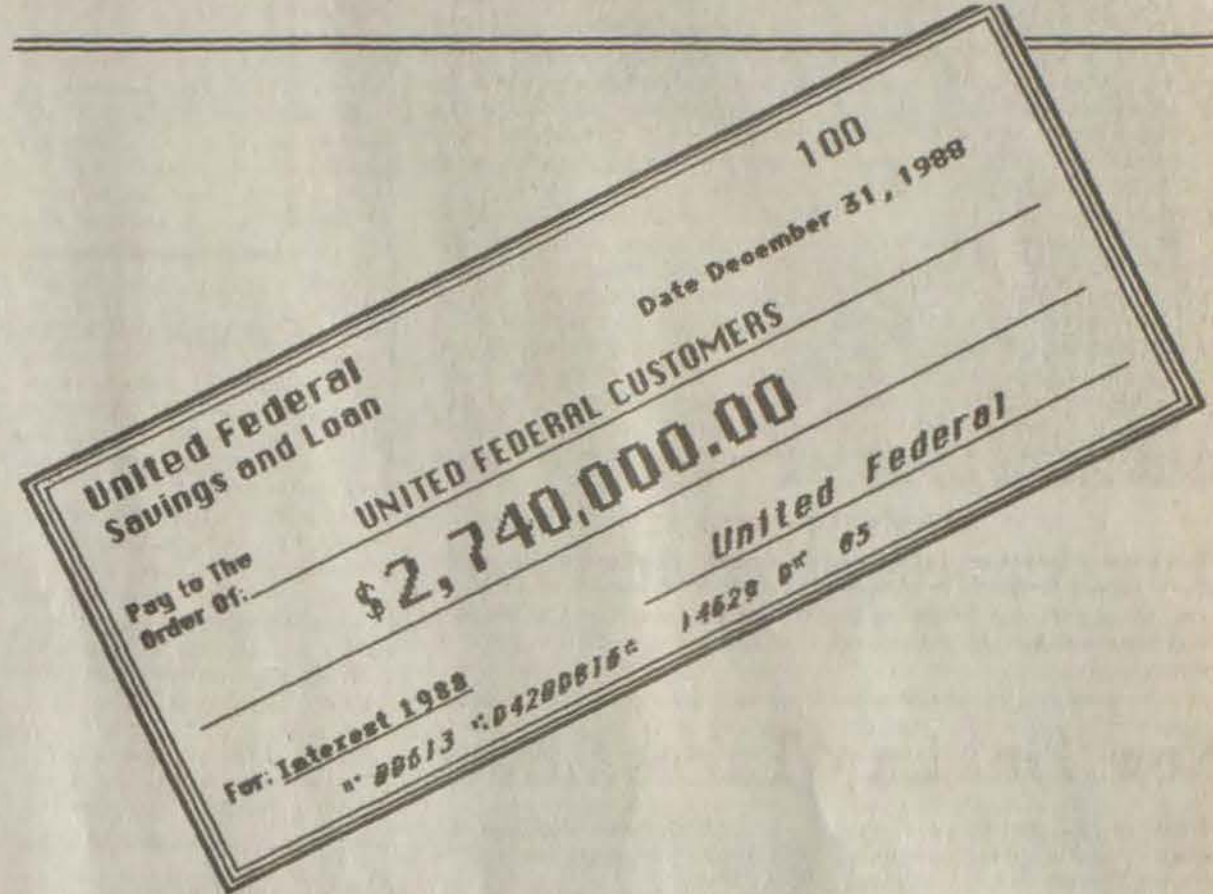

Big Sandy Healthcare provides primary health care services for "medically underserved" persons in Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties.

Tax Amnesty Exceeds Goal

Tax Amnesty receipts now total $60,088,673.38 Governor Wallace G. Wilkinson announced recently.

The program, originally estimated to produce $10 million, ran from Sept. 15 through Dec. 16 and was authorized by the 1988 General Assembly. Payments came from 18,135 individual and corporate taxpayers and ranged from 14 cents to $4.6 million.

Payments were postmarked in over 40 states.

Secretary Calvert commented, "Kentucky's Tax Amnesty collection of $60 million far exceeds tax amnesty collections from all states comparable to Kentucky in population, income and other economic factors. We just completed the most successful tax amnesty program ever."

Bobcats Claw Rebels In Top Conference Game

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The crowd was large, the band lively, and the action on the court was fierce as the Betsy Layne Bobcats paid a visit to the J.H. Allen Fieldhouse for a top conference game against Coach Johnny Martin's Allen Central Rebels. The game lived up to its expectations, as it always does when these two teams play each other.

Keith Hall scored 25 points, including a trio of three-pointers, to lead the Bobcats to a hard fought 74-68 conference victory over the Rebels.

The first quarter was all Betsy Layne as they hit early and built a lead over the Rebels to lead at the end of the first quarter by 16 points, 24-8.

"We hit well from the field," coach Junior Newsome said. "We shot over 60 percent for the game."

Things did not improve for the Rebels in the second quarter as they trailed at the half by 20 points, 41-21.

"We got down by 20 points at the end of the first half," coach Martin said. "The first quarter really hurt us."

Bobcat Duran Newsome, who had been out due to an injury, returned to the line up for Betsy Layne.

"Duran's about 85 percent now," Newsome said. "He is continuing therapy."

The Rebels made a mild comeback in the third quarter, cutting the Betsy Layne lead to 17, 61-44.

"Our defense was much better the second half," Martin said.

"We got into foul trouble in the second half and that hurt us," Newsome said.

In the fourth quarter, Allen Central began to chip away at the Bobcats' lead.

"We had cut the lead down to four points," Martin said. "We had the ball and chance to get to within two, but we just couldn't catch them."

Betsy Layne went on to win the game 74-68 and go 3-1 in conference play.

Betsy Layne was led in scoring by Keith Hall with 25 points. Duran Newsome scored 12 points, and Barry Hamilton and Steven Parson had 11 and 10 points respectively.

Betsy Layne overall is 12-4, and will entertain Wheelwright Friday night at the D.W. Howard Fieldhouse at Betsy Layne.

Allen Central had a balanced attack, in a losing effort, led by Joey Conn's 15 points. Kevin Webb scored 14 points and Smith and Duff scored 12 and 10 respectively.

Allen Central falls to 6-8 overall, and 0-4 in conference play. The Rebels will host Prestonsburg Friday night.

The Betsy Layne Bobcats saw other conference action earlier last week as they traveled to Wheelwright and won a big conference victory over the Trojans, 61-60.

Keith Hall led the Bobcats with 26 points and Barry Hamilton tossed in 13.

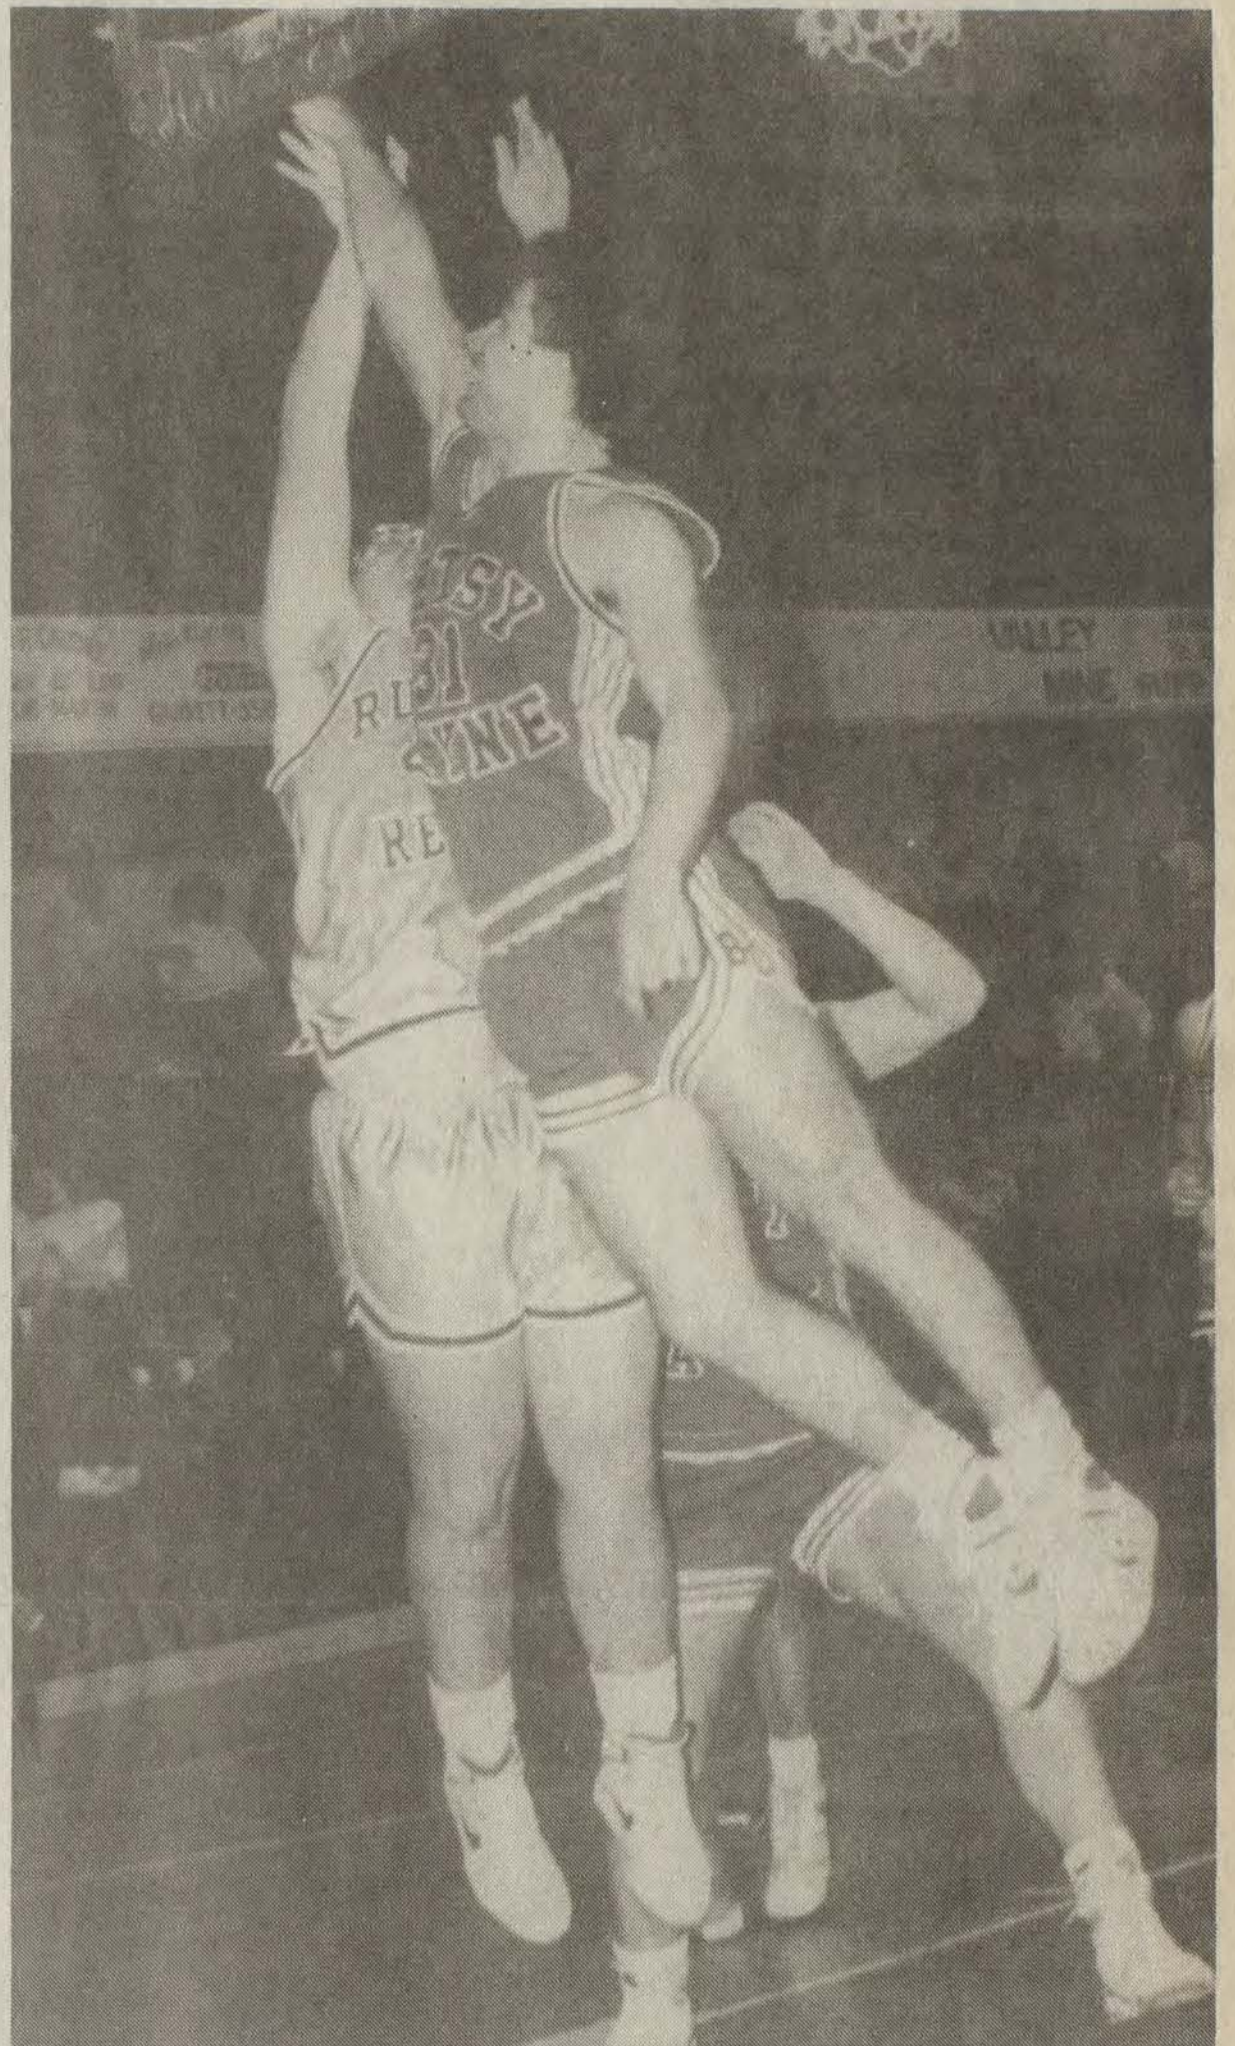

Bobby Hood was top scorer for the Trojans with 26 points and Craig Martin added 15 points.

Parido Ejected PHS Blackcats Outlast Wheelwright Trojans, 61-46

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It was to be an evening of pomp and pagentry as 12 beautiful ladies contended for the coveted title of "Homecoming Queen" of Prestonsburg High School—a title that went to Dewana Warrix.

It was also to be a night of confusion and controversy on another court—the basketball court—as two cross-county rivals took to the floor in Floyd County Conference basketball action.

Coach Monroe Jones and the Wheelwright Trojans provided the opposition for Coach Gordon Parido and the Prestonsburg Blackcats on this special night.

Senior Scott Hall scored 20 points to lead his team to a 61-46 victory over the Trojans.

The Blackcats jumped out to an early 6-2 lead in the first quarter, and at the 2:10 mark led 12-6. Both teams were guilty of first quarter turnovers, as Prestonsburg turned the ball over on three straight possessions. Prestonsburg led at the first stop, 16-8.

At the 4:56 mark of the second quarter, a basket by Brad Compton cut the Blackcats lead to two, 18-16.

After a Wheelwright timeout Compton hit for two baskets to give Wheelwright the lead, 20-18, with three minutes remaining in the half.

Prestonsburg turned the ball over on its next two possessions and, at 2:13, Wheelwright led by four, 22-18.

Prestonsburg came back to tie the score, on baskets by Scott Hall and Chris Slone, 22-22.

With 10 seconds left in the half Vic Cotton hit an eight-foot jumper to give the Trojans the lead at the end of the first half, 24-22.

At the 6:45 mark in the third quarter Wheelwright was on top, 26-22. With 5:58 remaining Coach Parido was whistled for two technical fouls, giving Wheelwright four free throw attempts; they converted three. Wheelwright built a seven-point lead, 29-22.

Both teams exchanged baskets, and with 4:34 remaining in the third stanza and Wheelwright leading 31-24, Parido was again whistled for two technical fouls on a controversial call, and automatic ejection followed.

Wheelwright again was awarded four free throws and converted two, giving them a nine-point lead, 33-24.

After a Prestonsburg timeout, Thomas Nairn hit a three-pointer to cut the lead to six, 33-27. With three minutes remaining Nairn hit for two points and the lead was four, 35-31.

Smooth Move

Prestonsburg's Danny Hamilton goes up and over a Wheelwright Trojan in Friday night basketball action. The Blackcats outlasted WHS to take the win, 61-46.

Rebels Fall Victim To Virgie Eagles, 73-62

Coming off a disappointing loss to the Betsy Layne Bobcats, the Allen Central Rebels traveled to Virgie for a non-conference game with Bobby Osborne's Virgie Eagles.

"We missed 15 free throws—four of them bonuses," coach Johnny Martin said as he summed up his team's defeat at Virgie, 73-62.

In the first quarter of play, the Rebels played Virgie closely. Virgie led at the end of the period, 16-12.

Back-to-back games and traveling seems to take a lot out of a team. "We came off a tough loss to Betsy Layne the night before," Martin said.

The Rebels trailed at half time by five, 34-29.

Turnovers hurt the Rebels, as did missed free throws. At the end of the third quarter, Virgie had built its lead to eight, 58-50.

Allen Central, unable to catch the Eagles, dropped their eighth game of the season with a 73-62 loss at Virgie.

Freddie Bowling led all scorers with 20 points for Virgie, and Roberts added 19 points with three three-pointers.

Allen Central had a balanced attack in the loss, led by Joey Conn's 17 points. Todd Duff scored 14 points, Ronnie Sammons netted 12 points, and newcomer, Kevin Spurlock, tossed in 11 points.

Allen Central goes to 6-8 overall. The Rebels will host Prestonsburg on Friday night at Allen Central.

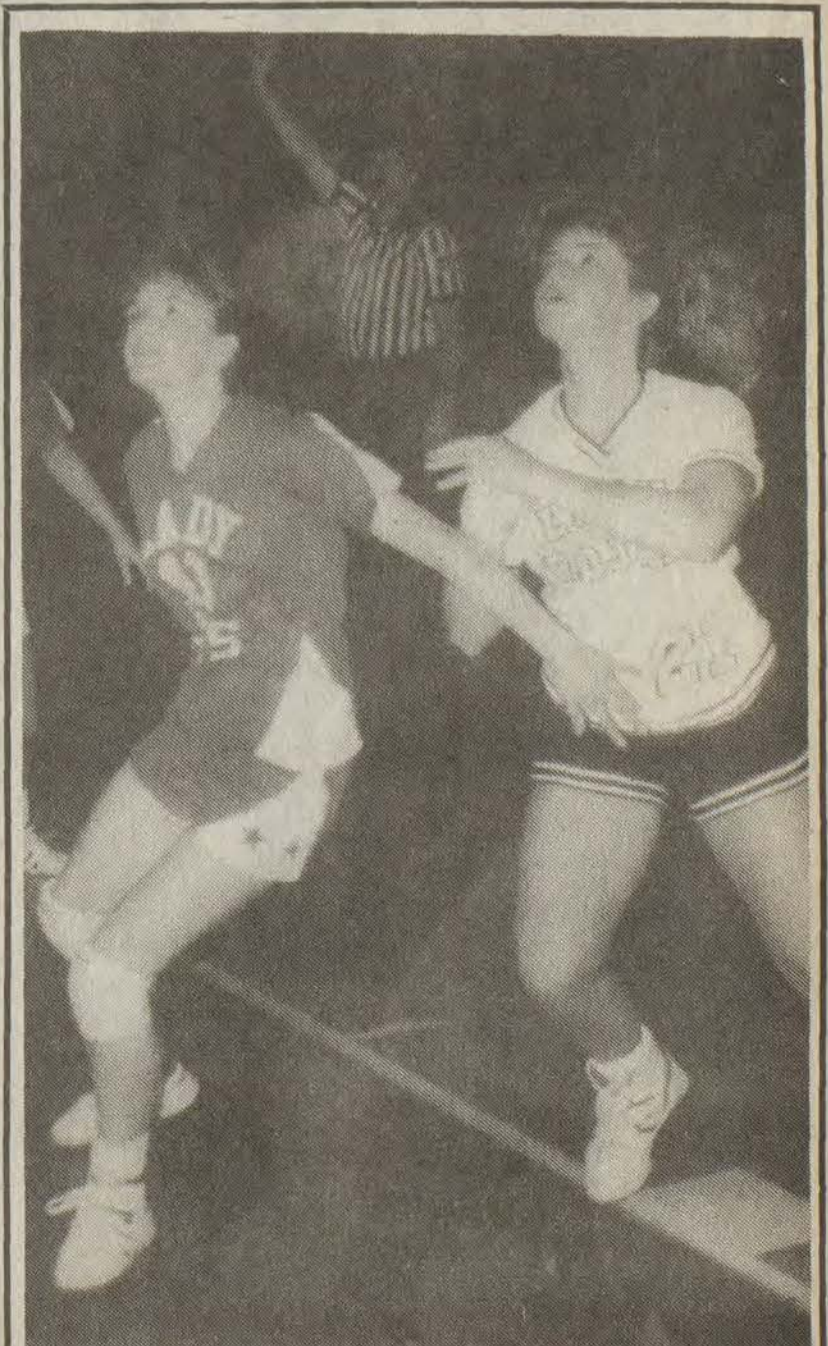

ALLEN CENTRAL 12 17 21 12 (62):

Getting Position

Betsy Layne Lady Bobcat Sheila Hall (41), a sophomore gets rebounding position on Wheelwright's Gina Johnson (21), right. BLHS defeated the Lady Trojans, 51-37.

Lady Blackcats Fall To Virgie

Loose Ball

Betsy Layne's Melissa Bailey, left, and an unidentified Allen Central player go after the loose ball in Friday sports action. BLHS outgunned the Lady Rebs, 49-46.

Last year's "Player of The Year," Karen Frasure, the Lady Blackcats' senior forward, scored a career high 31 points in a losing cause against the Virgie Lady Eagles in the Pikeville Invitational tournament, hitting 12 of 23 field goals, pulling down nine rebounds, and hitting seven of 10 from the charity line.

"Karen played an exceptional game," coach Bridget Clay said. "She had to really earn her points."

The Lady Blackcats fell behind early in the game as the Lady Eagles took a 17-11 first quarter lead.

Their inability to protect the ball in the second quarter allowed Virgie to advance its lead to 12 points, 31-19.

"Our problem was that we were not able to take care of the basketball," Clay said. Numerous turnovers hurt the Lady Cats.

Prestonsburg played the Lady Eagles almost even in the second half, mostly on Frasure's scoring.

"Virgie played a man-to-man defense, then when the ball would go into the middle to Karen they would drop back and double team her," Clay said. "We had a good third quarter, but we were inconsistent for the whole game."

The Lady Blackcats fought back in the fourth quarter. Trailing by 17 points, Clay's team had cut the lead down to 10 points.

"We came to within 10 points and had the ball and a chance to cut the lead to single digits, but we lost the ball and Virgie scored on a three point play, putting us back by 13 points," Clay added.

"Amy Hicks played a strong game on the boards, getting 11 rebounds," Clay said. "When she learns our game, she is going to make us a more solid team."

Virgie outlasted Prestonsburg and won the non-conference game 63-49.

Coach Clay had high praise for her senior forward. "Karen does more than just score and rebound for us. She is a team leader. She's just an all-around ball player," Clay was also quick to praise another ball player, Autumn Damron of Virgie, who scored 29 points.

"She is a great player," Clay said. "We didn't keep on her as we should have; we just had mental lapses on defense."

"When our team starts to playing together we will be tough," Clay said.

"We don't play again until Jan. 20 against Allen Central," Clay explained. "This will be a welcomed relief for us. We have played so many games that we have not had enough time to work on things to make us a better ball team. We just need to get in the gym and work hard," Clay said.

The Lady Blackcats fell to 6-6 overall and have a 3-2 conference record.

Frasure led the Lady Blackcats with 31 points. Kathy Slone, Michelle Clemmons and Amy Hicks each scored six points.

Damron led Virgie with 29 points and Jody Baker added 18.

Coach Clay's squad will visit Allen Central, January 20, for a big conference match up.

Making Her Move

Wheelwright's Jedon Hood, left, turns to the basket in recent women's sports action. The Lady Trojans fell to Betsy Layne, 51-37.

With 1:23 left in the third quarter Senior Craig Martin hit a three-pointer to give Wheelwright a five point lead, 42-37. But with only 21 seconds to go in the third quarter Nairn hit yet another three-pointer for the Blackcats, and Prestonsburg had fought its way back to within two, 42-40, when the quarter ended.

"I was proud of the way our kids came back," Parido said. "That is a tribute to the maturity of our seniors," he added.

"Coach Bill Letton, our football coach, did a super job in taking over," Parido said. "He kept his composure, and it showed through the kids, and it's good to know that."

Prestonsburg regained the lead early into the fourth quarter on a basket by Danny Hamilton, 43-42. With 2:48 remaining in the game the Blackcats began to open up their lead to five points, 49-44, and extended it to 10, 56-46, and won by 15 points, 61-46, in a game that was much closer than the final score indicates.

"We can't get down on ourselves," Jones said. "even though we didn't win the game."

Scott Hall led all scorers with 20 points, and Danny Hamilton and Thomas Nairn added 13 and 12 points respectively.

Prestonsburg is now 8-3 overall and leads the conference race with a 4-1 record. The Blackcats will travel to Allen Central Friday night for a conference game against Johnny Martin's Allen Central Rebels.

Wheelwright was led in scoring by senior Craig Martin with 14 points and Bobby Hood, who injured his leg and ankle, had 12 points.

Wheelwright falls to 6-5 overall and 1-2 in conference play. The Trojans will visit Betsy Layne Friday night in conference action.

In earlier play last week, Prestonsburg defeated the defending 15th Region champion, Phelps, 68-59 in non-conference action.

Thomas Nairn scored 26 points to lead Prestonsburg, and Todd Justice hit for 19 and Scott Hall added 10 points.

Trojans Getting Stronger

by Brian Boyd

"The only way we'll go to state is a lot of discipline and hard work!" That's what Head Coach Monroe Jones of the Wheelwright Trojans says of this year's team.

With the help of the two leading scorers, Craig Martin and Bobby Hood, the Trojans plan to reach many goals this year. The team plans to win the 58th District, E.K.M.C., and maybe regionals.

Martin, senior forward, is averaging 26 points a game. He also leads in rebounding and plans to improve as the year progresses.

Hood, junior guard, averages 13 points a game. He too plans to get even better as the year progresses.

Last year, starters were Tommy Jones, Jason Cook, Steve Cole, Vic Cotton and Craig Martin. The team consisted mainly of seniors. "We can bring five off the bench," stated Vic Cotton, senior point guard. "Wheelwright has more depth on the bench this year than last year."

The Trojans are working on inside shooting more now, although they haven't completely forgotten about the ever-so-popular three-pointer. Senior forward Tony Isaac, according to the team, is the best three-point shooter that they have.

Along with Isaac, the team feels that they will go far this year because of the experience that their coach has in basketball. Jones played basketball for the Wheelwright Trojans for four years. He then went on to play one year at Alice Lloyd and three years at University of Georgia.

For the Trojans to have that winning season, Bobby Hood will have to come in and score. Along with Hood, Brad Compton will have to score. Shawn McKenzie and Chad Hall also will have to score. As of now, the Trojans aren't doing as well as they expected, but with the determination that the team is showing they expect to win.

Helping Jones this year are assistant coaches Stan Berger, Tim Eads and Tommy Jones. The Trojans are managed by Perry Jones.

Also helping the Trojans is the Boosters Club, organized by parents to help buy things for the team. They recently purchased a leaper, which will help each player increase their leaping power. Last year the club bought new uniforms for the team. Everyone is devoted to helping the team go far this year.

"We can win it if we get determined," said Cotton.

Daredevils Romp Over Millard, 80-61

The McDowell Daredevils, who, according to Coach Johnny Ray Turner, are "looking better all the time," traveled to Pike County for a non-conference basketball game against Millard Saturday.

Led by senior guard Dickie Joe Shannon's 23 points, the Daredevils came away with a 80-61 victory.

McDowell was quick out of the gate in the first quarter as they built an early first quarter lead, 25-9. "Our press really hurt Millard," Turner said. Millard came back in the second quarter and began to cut into the McDowell lead. "We substituted a lot in the second quarter," Turner said. "That allowed Millard to come back. "We're looking better as a team," Turner said. "We've won two straight and have some tough games coming up."

As the turnovers mounted for the Millard Mustangs, McDowell was able to continue to build on its lead and led at the half by 12 points, 43-31. With McDowell subs still in the game, both teams battled on even terms, as the Daredevils maintained their 12 point advantage, and led at the third stop, 58-46.

McDowell then reinserted their starters in the fourth stanza and went on to win the contest easily, 80-61. Coach Turner had time to talk about some upcoming games for his squad. "We've got Pulaski County coming in here on Friday night," Turner said. Pulaski County is out of the 12th Region and is currently tied with Henry Clay for the 13th ranking in the state. Turner's team played Pulaski County earlier in the year and lost by 11 points at Pulaski County, 77-66.

After the Pulaski County game things don't get any easier for his team. "We then have to play Clay County in the WYMT-TV Mountain Classic on the 25th," Turner said.

The Daredevils are hoping that playing the tougher competition will help them to be better prepared for tourney play.

Saturday, McDowell placed four starters in double figures led by Dickie Joe Shannon's 23 points. Henry Webb and Rady Martin each added 14 points and Keith Shelton scored 10 points. McDowell improved its record to 7-6 overall and is 2-2 in conference play, and will take on 13th ranked Pulaski County Friday night. In an earlier game last week, McDowell defeated a tough Virgie Eagles team, 85-81 in a home game.

The Daredevils placed five starters in double figures, led by Rady Martin with 19 points. Henry Webb had 18 points, and Dickie Joe Shannon netted 16. Keith Shelton and Marc Hall tossed in 15 points and 12 points respectively.

Ray Hall scored 23 points for Virgie.

Martin Junior Pro League Season Closes

The Martin Junior Pro basketball league closed out its season last week, with a local tournament at the Martin Grade School.

Johnny Mayo, the local director for the Junior Pro program described the past season as, being "very successful." The Martin Junior Program was started in 1974 and just completed it's 15th year.

In girl's junior varsity play for the championship, the Red team, coached by Bill Gearheart, defeated R.B. Conn's Orange team, 56-39.

Krystal Floyd led the winners with 41 points. Kathy Conn scored 22 points for the losers.

In boy's junior varsity play the Orange team, coached by Bobby Spencer, defeated the Blue Team, coached by Barry Risner, 59-38, for the championship title.

Jason Bevins scored 15 points to lead the Orange team and Jason Spencer added 13 points.

In the training league tourney results, Johnny Mayo's Maroon team defeated Jimmy Hopkin's Blue team, 32-16, for the championship.

Matthew Mayo hit the nets for 20 points and P.J. Holbrook added 12 points to lead the Maroon team.

The junior varsity teams are for ages 10 through 12 and the training league is for ages five through eight.

Trophies were presented to each player at the close of the tournament.

"This is a learning experience for these kids," Mayo said. "It doesn't matter if they've never dribbled a basketball, they still get to play." He added.

Trojans Fight To 46-41 Win

The Wheelwright Trojans played host to June Buchanan High School over the week-end in non-conference basketball action, and came away with a hard fought victory, 46-41.

"We weren't ready to play," Coach Monroe Jones said. "After the loss to Prestonsburg Friday night, we were down."

Neither team could find the range in the first quarter as Wheelwright held a one-point lead, 6-5, at the close of the period.

"We took some bad shots," Jones said. "We played excellent defense, but offensively, we were stale."

Offensively, play didn't pick up in the second quarter either, as neither team could find the basket. Wheelwright held a two point lead at the half, 16-14.

Bobby Hood, the Trojans' outstanding junior guard, had to set out three quarters of the game. "He hurt his leg and ankle in the Prestonsburg game, and that hurt us offensively," Jones said.

In the second half both teams continued to struggle to find the basket as Wheelwright managed to extend its lead to five, 31-26.

Both teams played on even terms in the final stanza, and Wheelwright held to their five point lead and went on to post a low-scoring 46-41 victory.

Wheelwright was led in scoring by senior Craig Martin with 15 points. Tony Issacc tossed in nine points and Brad Compton scored 8 points and pulled down 15 rebounds for the Trojans.

Wheelwright improved its record to 7-5 overall and holds a 1-2 conference record. Coach Jones and his Trojans will be on the road at Betsy Layne Friday night.

In basketball action last week, Wheelwright lost to the Betsy Layne Bobcats in a close one, 61-60 at Wheelwright.

Bobby Hood led the Wheelwright attack, in the losing cause, with 26 points. Craig Martin added 15 points.

Betsy Layne Rallies To Beat Lady Rebs

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The past week was a busy one for the Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats in high school basketball, winning two and losing one.

Coach Karen Henry's squad paid a visit to Allen Central for a top conference game with Bonita Compton's Lady Rebel's.

Both teams entered the game with perfect 3-0 conference records.

Senior Danita Johnson scored a game high 19 points, 17 coming in the third period, to lead the Lady Bobcats to a 49-46 conference victory over the Lady Rebels.

Betsy Layne had its problems early in the game, as they fell behind by eight points.

"We shot the ball poorly," Henry said. "We were getting one shot per possession."

The Lady Rebels, looking to widen their lead in the conference standings with a win, built a first quarter lead of 11 points, 16-5.

The Lady Bobcats' woes continued into the second quarter as they only scored four points. It seemed as if no one wanted to shoot the ball for Betsy Layne.

"We had no blocking out on the boards," Henry said. This allowed Allen Central second and third shots at the basket. "We just was lacking on defense," Henry said.

The Lady Rebs extended their lead by halftime to 18 points, 27-9.

"We had an attitude problem on the team," Henry said. "We had gotten it all settled before the game, and one girl was waiting on the other."

"I told the girls at halftime the only way we can get back in the game is to work together," Henry said.

In the second half, Betsy Layne came back with full court pressure.

"We began to steal the ball," Henry said. "Our defense caused Allen Central to make numerous turnovers."

The Lady Bobcats cut into the Lady Rebels' lead, which was 18 points at halftime, and at the end of the third quarter Allen Central was holding on to a one-point lead, 33-32.

"Melissa Bailey (the Lady Bobcats 6'1" freshman center) had several blocked shots," Henry said. "She pulled down 11 rebounds."

In the fourth quarter, Brenda Hamilton, who scored 11 of her 15 points in the final stanza, began to find the range for Betsy Layne, and Shelia Hall had four key steals, as Henry's team overcame a disastrous first half, and defeated the Allen Central team 49-46.

"Our full court pressure got us back in the game," Henry explained. "We had to press the whole half, it was all that we could do."

"That is a tribute to the physical shape our team is in," she added.

Brenda Hamilton and Danita Johnson took the leadership role this young team needed in the second half.

"We've got a young team," Henry said. "We are a dominant sophomore team, and they need leadership out of the older players."

Betsy Layne was led in scoring by Johnson with 19 points, and Hamilton who added 15 points.

Betsy Layne improved its record overall to 6-5 and heads the conference race with a perfect 4-0 record.

Betsy Layne will host the Lady Trojans of Wheelwright Friday night.

Steph Wallen led Allen Central in scoring with 12 points. Jo Ann Conn and Stacey Moore each added 10 points.

The Lady Rebels are now 6-3 overall and 3-1 in the conference.

Allen Central will play the Prestonsburg Blackcats on Friday night at Allen Central.

In earlier action last week, the Lady Bobcats defeated the Lady Trojans, 51-37.

Danita Johnson led Betsy Layne with 12 points and Nancy Shepherd added 11 points.

Betsy Layne traveled to Dorton on Wednesday night and lost a thriller in overtime, 39-33 in a low scoring affair.

Hamilton led the Lady Bobcats with 16 points.

Checks Can Be Deposited Directly

People in the Big Sandy area who get Social Security checks can have them deposited directly into a checking or savings account at a financial institution of their choice, Jim Kelly, Social Security Director for the Big Sandy Area, said recently.

Direct deposit has several advantages, Kelly said, including:

-No need to worry about a check being lost.

-No need to worry about a check lying in a mailbox when away from home.

-Savings in time and transportation and no standing in line to cash or deposit the checks.

-Money in an account is safer than carrying cash.

A person can deal with any financial institution he or she chooses, including a commercial bank, savings bank, savings and loan association, Federal or State credit union, or similar institution, said Kelly.

Since banking practices vary, a person should find out how the financial institution handles direct deposits, whether a statement is sent, about any service charge, minimum deposits, interest rates, and special services provided.

"Ruling is easy, governing difficult." Goethe

Boost For Dewey Lake Boaters

Boaters should have improved access to Dewey Lake in a few weeks when workers from the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife complete construction of a ramp at Goble Branch, near the northern campground at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. Mike Hough and Gene Bailey, who smoothed concrete last week, are part of a team from the Frankfort office that builds boat ramps at state parks. The new ramp, replacing an old, shorter one, will have a 60-to 70-foot extension into the water, said Hough. The extension will allow for boat access in the winter when the water level is normally low. The majority of the cost of the construction comes from the federal government's Wallop/Breaux funds, garnered from taxes on marine fuels and fishing gear, Hough said.

Veteran's Questions And Answers

Question: I do not always receive my Veterans Administration compensation check on the same day of the month. When should I expect it?

Answer: You should expect your monthly VA check on the first mail delivery date of the month. This may differ slightly based on variances in local mail delivery. If your check is a week or more late, you should contact your local VA regional office.

Question: I am drawing protected pension benefits from the Veterans Administration. My health has deteriorated and I think I may be eligible for aid and attendance. Can this be added to my current benefit?

Answer: To be considered for aid and attendance you must establish eligibility under the new pension law and elect payment under that law.

Question: I served six months of active duty with the National Guard. Am I eligible for VA medical benefits?

Answer: National Guard members are only entitled to VA medical benefits if they have a disease or injury which was incurred or aggravated in the line-of-duty while on active training.

Question: I have questions regarding the Montgomery GI Bill. Can I get information from the local VA regional office?

Answer: Yes, questions regarding the Montgomery GI Bill should be directed to any VA regional office. Toll-free numbers are listed in your local directory under U.S. Government.

Question: Is there a penalty if a VA-guaranteed home loan is partially or fully paid before it becomes due?

Answer: No. There is no penalty if a VA loan is paid in advance.

New Toll-Free Tip Line Created

The Special Compliance Branch has acquired a toll free phone line for anyone in the state to use in reporting any type of motor vehicle registration violation or abuse, according to Henry Vick, director of the Division of Local Valuation.

Many registration violations permit the abuser to escape paying legally assessable property or usage tax plus Kentucky title and registration fees. Appropriate bills will be generated from all reported violations.

Bassin' With the Pros...

Bass Fishing's Hottest New Lure—The Tube Jig

For the past several years, professional bass anglers have been catching fish in tournaments coast to coast with a lure known as the tube jig. Developed for deep, clear Western lakes, the lure has since proven effective in practically all water conditions.

The secret's out of the bag for the pros, too. Tube jigs are now being manufactured by a number of lure makers, and anglers everywhere are learning to use them.

One of the earliest tube jig anglers was Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member Guido Hibdon, winner of the 1988 Bass Masters Classic.* He's caught bass on them in water from eight to 80 feet deep, in both clear and dingy conditions, in thick cover and at all seasons of the year.

"Basically, a tube jig is a hollow plastic worm that is open at one end, almost like a shell. Sizes range from about two inches up to as long as four or five inches, but all have a tail of squid-like tentacles at the open end," explains Hibdon.

"What seems to make them effective is that the hollow body traps air so the lure falls slower than a plastic worm. When it falls, it falls in a series of loops rather than straight down, so it has that added appeal, as well."

Hibdon likes to rig his tube jigs with a leadhead hook weighing 1/16 or even 1/32-ounce, and he fishes the lure with spinning tackle using four, six, eight or 10-pound test line.

"The majority of time I fish it in water less than 10-feet deep," explains Hibdon, "but it works at all depths. You have to learn to be brave with the lure because it is truly effective in heavy cover."

"Just sling it into a treetop or brushpile the way you would a weedless worm or jig, work it up and down a few times, and when a bass hits, lead it out with gentle line pressure before you actually set the hook."

Another favorite tactic Hibdon often uses is to swim the tube jig around boat docks or in standing timber. Around the docks, he casts, lets the lure sink two or three feet, then slowly reels it back. With such a retrieve the lure rises and falls and the stringy tail flutters constantly.

"Often, when I'm fishing deeper boat docks," says the Johnson Outboards pro, "I work the tube jig with a heavier 3/8-ounce leadhead. This causes the lure to fall faster and more erratically. It looks like some type of creature in trouble that would make an easy meal for a bass, and I think that's why bass hit it."

In deep, clear water, Hibdon rigs his tube jigs Carolina-style, with a full one-ounce sinker about five feet up the line above the jig. He rigs the jig with a long-shank crappie hook, with a small cork glued to the shank. The cork adds flotation to the lure so it dances crazily above the sinker bouncing along the bottom.

When bass are schooling, as they do in late summer and into the fall on many lakes, Hibdon fishes two tube jigs at once. One jig is tied on a loop knot about 18-inches above the other. The rig is cast into the fish, then simply cranked back without any special action.

"The tube jig will probably be one of the most popular lures for the coming year," says Hibdon, "and it's easy to see why. It's one of those lures that just seems to catch fish under any conditions."

Serious bass anglers should consider using the newest OMC SystemeMatched® Parts and Accessories fuel filter on their high performance outboards. It features a spin-on cartridge with a treated paper element able to catch particles as small as 25 microns and separate water from fuel. The filter kit is available from Johnson and Evinrude outboard dealers and may be adapted for use with almost any brand of outboard motor.

MAGISTRATE, DIST. 2 ANNOUNCES

I have filed my papers to run for RE-ELECTION as MAGISTRATE of Dist. 2 for another 4-year term. I'm letting the people know now that I WILL BE A CANDIDATE and I WILL be keeping up the same hard work that I have done for the last 3 years as Dist. 2 MAGISTRATE.

TO ANSWER VIRGIL HALBERT, JR. & VIRGIL HALBERT, SR. and THEIR STORY THAT THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES PRINTED LAST WEEK—

—Virgil Halbert, Jr. said "that he volunteered to use his own grading equipment to fill up the many potholes on Johns Branch Road, if the county would provide the materials." If Mr. Halbert mentioned using his grading equipment, he must have mentioned it to someone besides me because he never mentioned it to me.

—Virgil Halbert, Jr. said the county's delivery late last week "wasn't enough gravel to feed a chicken." Well, it must take a whole lot to feed his chicken because we delivered approx. 150 tons of gravel on that branch alone last week (before the newspaper article came out) and that is approx. 13-15 loads in the county trucks. WHEN that chicken lays an egg, if Mr. Halbert will let me know, I'll take a backhoe over there and carry it to the house for him because it will be so heavy I know he won't be able to carry it.

—Virgil Halbert Sr. said "about 14 families live on the rural road and have to maneuver their cars in and around the holes, ending up with ruined tires and wheel alignment problems." At this time of the year, Mr. Halbert, with as much rain that we have had, there are potholes all over my district as well as all over the county. Driving at a slower speed may help solve your problem.

—Virgil Halbert, Jr. said "that he has been using his own tractor and scraper blades for "six to eight years, maybe longer, to keep the road passable." I don't know about the last six to eight years or longer—I can only answer for the last 3 years that I have been Magistrate. Since I have been in office, I have graded and graveled your road several times as I have all my other roads keeping them AS PASSABLE AS POSSIBLE. The only knowledge that I have of you using your farm tractor on the county road is when several of these 14 families called and reported that every time we graveled this road you would scrape the gravels off the road into your driveway with "your own grading equipment."

P.S.—Last election Virgil Halbert, Jr. and Virgil Halbert, Sr. fought me in the election and they'll fight me in this election. I think this kind of explains their article. This is just a part of "Politics."

Fishing Winter's Best Lure, The Jig And Pork

Sometimes it's difficult to explain the life cycle of a bass lure.

They come and go, splashing into the headlines with a flurry of success, then quietly sinking into oblivion like a forgotten toy.

A few, however, come and go, and then come back, which is exactly what's happened to the jig. Believed to be the oldest lure ever used in fishing, the jig is now the top lure choice of the bass pros for dozens of fishing situations.

"It's definitely number one for winter fishing," says Zell Rowland, a member of the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff and a fulltime professional bass angler. "It's especially effective when you add a pork trailer. I believe learning how to fish pork correctly has had a major effect on the new popularity of jigs."

The pork trailer is especially important, explains Rowland, because it provides a soft, realistic feeling to a striking bass. Fish hold on to the lure longer because the pork apparently fools them into thinking they've captured something natural.

"You don't get the same effect with plastic trailers in the colder winter water," notes Rowland. "Plastic gets stiff in cold water. I use plastic in the summer when I'm fishing faster, but whenever the water temperature drops below 60 degrees, I switch to a pork trailer."

The Evinrude pro bases his choice of a pork trailer on the type of cover or the size of baitfish he encounters when fishing. He tries to match the swimming action of that bait, since he feels bass strike the lure because of its vibrations. Jigs have very little action themselves.

"If I want a lot of motion and disturbance, I use a curly pork trailer, like an imitation crawfish or frog. I use these when casting or flipping," he notes.

"If I want the jig to fall slower, I use a larger pork frog as a trailer. The bulkiness slows down the jig. You don't have to switch to a lighter, smaller jig; just change to a larger trailer."

Basically, Rowland recommends fishing jigs slowly in the winter, actually dragging the lure across the bottom. He casts, lets the lure fall, then just pulls it back to him. He doesn't hop the jig or make it jump at all.

"I'm trying to make the jig look like a crawfish or possibly a crippled minnow," he explains. "As I drag it over the bottom, it kicks up silt just the way a crawfish would."

Rowland will pitch his jig and pork into water 10, 20, and even 30 feet deep. He keys on bends in creek channels, ridges, and humps. He doesn't fish points in the winter.

"Don't hesitate to use your depthfinder," says the Evinrude pro. "Follow the channel until you find a distinct bend or direction change, then work that change thoroughly."

Similarly to the jig and pork, spinnerbaits have long been the favorite lure of springtime bass fishermen, but now the lure is gaining some respect in winter, too.

In fact, says professional tournament pro and guide Randy Dearman of Livingston, Texas, spinnerbaits are probably easier to fish than other popular winter lures because they have their own action.

"My choice for cold water fishing," says the popular Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member, "is a one-ounce spinnerbait with a single Size 8 blade.

"It's big and heavy, but all you have to do is cast, let it fall to the bottom, pump it back up, then wait for the strike."

There's a little more to it, but not much.

Dearman suggests using a longer rod, such as a 7½-foot flipping rod like he uses. When the lure is pumped up off the bottom—simply by raising the rod tip—the spinnerbait jumps four or five feet.

"It's almost like jiggging a spoon," says Dearman, "except that you can feel the big blade thumping each time it turns. Just pump the lure up and down off the bottom and when the thumping stops, set the hook."

Dearman says cover isn't as important in the colder winter as it is at other times of the year. He fishes right in the middle of creek channels and sloughs, along sharp-falling bluffs, and even beside deep stumps or standing timber.

"The fish are usually on the bottom or suspended just slightly above it," explains the Johnson pro. "It's difficult to spot them with a depthfinder, which is one reason a big spinnerbait is such a good lure choice."

"You can cover a lot of water in a short period of time, even though you're still fishing slow."

"Don't fish the edges or the sides of the channels the way you would at other times of the year," he emphasizes. "Fish right down in the middle, just working your way down the channel."

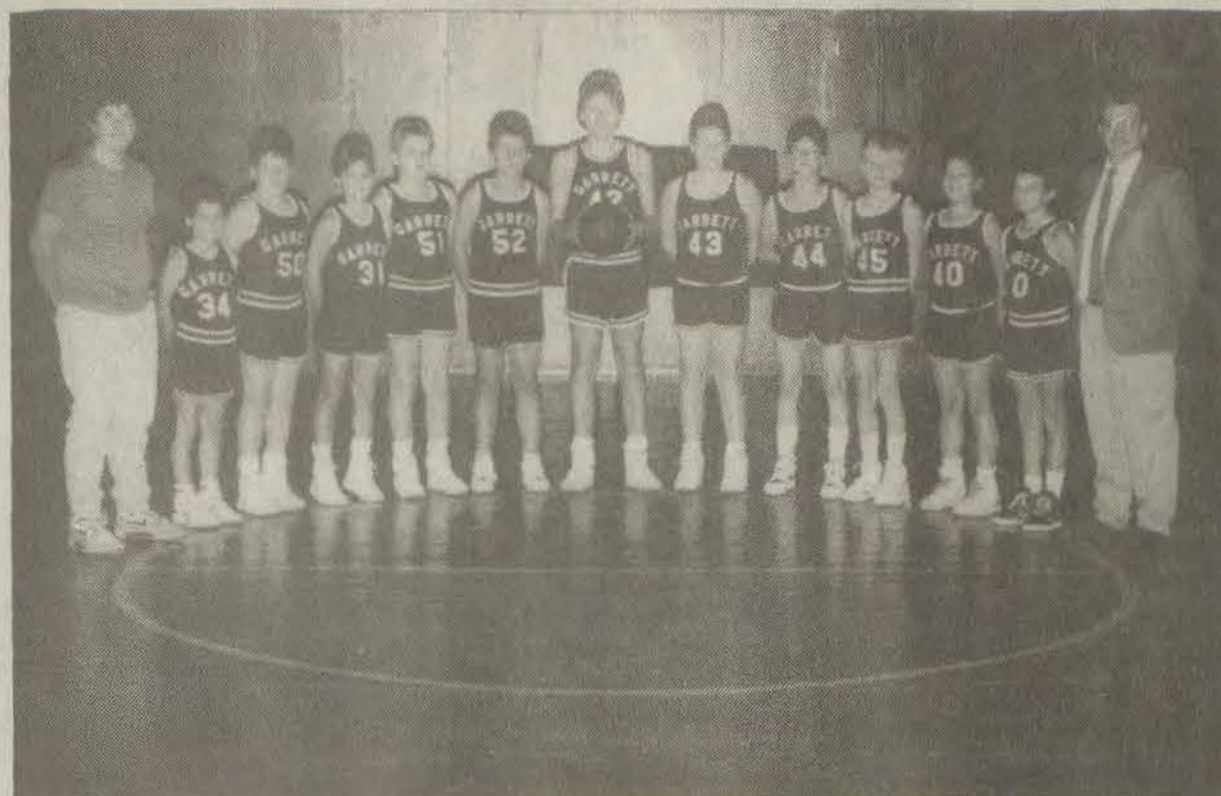

"When you're fishing bluffs, make your casts parallel to the rocks, not straight at them. The spinnerbait will fall and you can pump it back right along the edge. Look for slides of crumbled rock, or for cracks that break up the smooth wall, and concentrate around these."

When he's fishing flooded timber or stumps, as he does at Lake Livingston, Dearman lets his big spinnerbait fall right beside the trees, actually bumping the limbs on the way down.

"Sometimes I will add a pork trailer to the lure," he notes, "but only when I want the lure to fall slower. That is usually in extremely cold water when I know the fish are not going to be very active."

The heavy weight of the spinnerbait is necessary to insure the proper action of the lure, Dearman explains. With lighter lures the large blade tends to make the spinnerbait roll over. With the full one-ounce body, the spinnerbait windmills down like a diving helicopter, producing that deadly thumping vibration.

PCC Books Highlight Stuart Career

by Trisha Morris
PCC Librarian

With a life that reads like an Horatio Alger novel, Jesse Stuart carved his place in history with determination, hard work and a very busy pen. Described as a "great natural force, like Niagara Falls or Old Faithful," Jesse Stuart demands attention. Author of more than 2,000 poems, 450 short stories and over 60 novels and autobiographical works, his writings have won innumerable awards, have been translated into 17 languages and published in 40 countries. Kentucky's poet laureate from 1954 until his death in 1984, Jesse Stuart wrote poetry, short stories, novels, autobiographical works, essays, juvenile tales, and even a travel book.

Born the son of an illiterate sharecropper in northeastern Kentucky, Stuart rose to own all the land his father worked for shares. During his long, productive and versatile life he was a farmer, a school teacher, a high school principal, a county superintendent, a newspaper editor, and a prolific writer. An outstanding regional colorist, Jesse Stuart generates a love/hate division between his readers. No one is complacent about Jesse Stuart.

The following books from the books from the P.C.C. library about and by Jesse Stuart show the many faces and worlds of the best known writer in Kentucky.

Jesse, by Edward Richardson. Written with love by a fellow Kentuckian who, with other Kentuckians, organized the Jesse Stuart foundation, this book emphasizes Stuart's private life with intimate insight into his thoughts and attitudes. We read how he felt about his family, his schooling, his work, his fellowships, and his sudden rise to fame.

Based on 40 interviews with Jesse and his wife, Naomi, the book shows love and marriage, World War II, literary success, and sudden illness through the eyes and words of Jesse Stuart.

Jesse Stuart: Selected Criticism, by J.R. LeMaster. A collection of essays about Jesse Stuart and his literary works, the book includes a selection on his experience as a teacher, lecturer and public school administrator; an introduction to humor in his work; a picture of Stuart's use of discipline language; a discussion of his short stories; a presentation of his use of symbolism and vision in Daughter of the Legend; and a demonstration of Stuart's early experimentation in imagery. A literary work about a very versatile figure, it illuminates the many facets of Stuart's works that might escape the casual reader.

My World, by Jesse Stuart. To celebrate 200 years of Kentucky history, the University of Kentucky Press asked distinguished authors to contribute to "The Kentucky Bicentennial Bookshelf" series. My World is Jesse Stuart's contribution.

Jesse Stuart's world began in W-Hollow, in Greenup County—extended to Plum Grove grade school, to Greenup High School, to Lincoln Memorial University, to all of Kentucky, and finally to all the United States and six continents. This is Stuart's story of his beloved Kentucky and the other cultures he experienced.

Offering a unique look at the author and his home state, this slim book is not often mentioned in bibliographies of Stuart's writings but it is well worth reading.

Man With a Bull-Tongue Plow, by Jesse Stuart. The collection of 703 sonnets that established Jesse Stuart as a major American writer, Man With a Bull-Tongue Plow was the beginning of his distinguished literary career. A book with its origins in the mountains and fields of farmland Kentucky, it is sunlight on green lands, clean winds blowing through corn stalks, stars above the mountains, and laments of lost loves and early deaths. Dozens of dramas and scores of characters crowd its pages.

Songs of a Mountain Plowman, by Jesse Stuart. Written in bursts of enthusiasm as the young author tramped the hills of Kentucky, Songs of a Mountain Plowman is Stuart's first collection to use the seasons to organize his material. These are poems of particular times and places. He's quoted as saying, "these were good years when poems came fast...from everywhere...among the tombstones and houses...in the valley where people made a living by the sweat of their brows."

Created in the context of the Great Depression, this collection reflects the mood of doubts, uncertainty, and insecurity of the times. Stuart's habit of romanticizing a dead past is clearly shown as he repeatedly contrasts the admirable studiousness of the late pioneer with the values, attitudes and behavior of their descendants.

Daughter of the Legend, by Jesse Stuart. A story written for a purpose—to show the wickedness of racial segregation—it is one of the few stories Stuart set outside of Kentucky. About the Melungeons, an obscure people of mixed race living in the eastern mountains of Tennessee, it is a romantic story of impossible love.

The Thread That Runs So True, by Jesse Stuart. Subtitled The Story of a Kentucky Mountain School-Teacher, it is an autobiographical novel. In his typically passionate style Jesse Stuart has written a poem, a manifesto, a hymn to the profession of teaching. TV Q&A

ALF's best friend knows all, but refuses to tell secrets

By Polly Vonetes

Q: Who is ALF? How old is he in real life? Is he a man or boy? Can you show his face please?—Mike Morris, Washington, N.C.

A: ALF, to his creator Paul Fusco and members of his staff, is very real. However, ALF doesn't grant personal interviews, he doesn't do his own stunts, or even his own walking. The walk-around ALF is actually a very small actor wearing an ALF suit. His closest friend is producer Fusco, who knows all of ALF's personal secrets and is sworn to secrecy.

Q: Could you please help me? I have been watching old movies on TV and I was wondering if Betty Grable is still alive. I think she is the most beautiful girl I have ever seen. Can you give me some facts about her?—Randy Woody, Englewood, Tenn.

A: Betty Grable was born on Dec. 18, 1916, in St. Louis, Mo. She arrived in Hollywood with her stage-door mother in 1930, lied about her age and worked as a song-and-dance girl in light-hearted comedies. She was married to Jackie Coogan from 1937 to 1940. Her big break in films came when she replaced Alice Faye in Down Argentine Way. Under contract to 20th Century Fox, she was cast in a series of musicals which always placed her among the nation's top 10 film stars from 1942 to 1951. She was always friendly, never pulled rank and was well thought of in the Hollywood community. In 1943 she married Harry James. Their marriage lasted 22 years and produced two daughters, Victoria and Jessica. She starred in her last two films in 1955, How to Be Very Very Popular and Three for the Show, then retired. She died of cancer in 1973.

Q: Could you please give

me some information, such as birthdate, height and marital status of Jameson Parker and Heather Thomas. And what movies they have starred in?—B.A. Ormsby, Montrose, Colo.

A: Heather Thomas was born on Sept. 8, 1957, in Greenwich, Conn. She is a blue/green-eyed blonde, who is 5'7". She has been married and divorced twice. Thomas' films, all for TV, include: Dirty Dozen: The Fatal Mission, Ford: The Man and the Machine and Hoover vs. The Kennedys. Jameson Parker was born on Nov. 18, 1947, in Baltimore Md. He is 5'11 1/2" tall, has blue eyes and blond hair. He and his wife, Bonnie, have been married for 12 years. They have three children, two boys and a girl. He made his film debut in The Bell Jar and also starred in A Small Circle of Friends and White Dog. His TV films include Agatha Christie's A Caribbean Mystery, Women at West Point, Anatomy of a Seduction, The Promise of Love, Callie and Son and Who is Julia?

Grown orphans betrayed by commanding father

Espionage backfires on secret brotherhood

By Mary Ann Townsend

The soft, aromatic petals of the rose are the ties that bind five men obsessed with manipulating the world through self-serving power games in Brotherhood of the Rose, a two-part miniseries to air Sunday and Monday, Jan. 22 and 23, on NBC.

Robert Mitchum stars as Eliot, one of the five men who founded the Abelard Sanction, which on the surface appears to be a refuge for orphaned boys, but underneath is front for international espionage.

Brotherhood of the Rose focuses on Eliot's two grown sons, Saul Grisman (Peter Strauss) and Chris Kilmoonie (David Morse), orphans raised as brothers who are now skilled operatives carrying out highly unorthodox assignments.

They discover their father has developed an entire network of specialized operatives from orphans he raised as his sons, and that he has a plot to betray the two of them.

The two seek the help of Saul's former lover, an Israeli Mossad operative named Erika Bernstein, played by Connie Sellecca, in formulating a plan for revenge.

"Saul is sort of an accidental hero," Strauss said of the character he played. "He's a vulnerable orphan who is discovered by a father figure and nurtured in a very Spartan atmosphere where patriotism, pride and physical prowess are courted. He honestly believes that what he is doing is right—for his country and for his father."

But, Strauss noted, the son does the right thing when he uncovers the deceit his father has dished out.

"After learning that his father is a betrayer, Saul becomes heroic when he pursues Eliot and destroys the evil that he's created.

Peter Strauss stars in Brotherhood of the Rose, Sunday and Monday on NBC.

The confrontation between the son and the father is the ultimate drama."

Strauss, who has starred in numerous miniseries, including Rich Man, Poor Man, Masada, Rich Man, Poor Man, Book II, Tender Is the Night and Kane and Abel, said he enjoys the thoroughness that multiple part made-for-television movies offer.

"In a miniseries, there's greater effort made to portray the life span of a character and the evolution of a story. You get a richer canvas when you're not limited to 90 minutes to tell a story."

The actor worked with Brotherhood of the Rose producer/director Marvin J. Chomsky in 1972 on one of television's first two-night productions, KKK: Attack on Terror, about civil rights workers in the South, and looks forward to being involved in more in the future, as long as the parts are right.

"I have a lot of miniseries ahead of me, and I love the form," Strauss said. "On the whole I feel that some television films and miniseries are better and more interesting than a lot of features."

"What it boils down to," he concluded, "is I really love good material."

Shelton, Skeens Exchange Vows On Christmas Eve

Christmas Eve, set the mood for the marriage of Taunya Shelton of Prestonsburg, daughter of Ted and Violet Shelton of McDowell, to Miles Kevin Skeens III, son of Miles and Peggy Skeens of Pikeville. Vows were solemnized at 2:30 p.m.

during a private candlelight ceremony held at the First United Methodist Church on Arnold Avenue in Prestonsburg. Pastor Steve Hopkins of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) officiated the double-ring ceremony. The wedding was directed by Rhea Pack Compton, sister of the bride, of Sesser, Ill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of pure white silk adorned with a form-fitting overlay of schiffli lace. Gathering just above the knees was a French lace motif, decorated with tiny seed pearls and mother of pearl sequin chips. The motif flowed to just behind the knees to form a silk bow and cascade of roses. Falling with graceful movements, the silk skirt scalloped at the floor with embroidered Venetian lace. The scalloped neckline was of French lace accented with tiny seed pearls and mother of pearl sequin chips. Off-the-shoulder pure silk sleeves gathered just above the elbow into silk roses. Form-fitting schiffli open-laced sleeves were completed at the wrist by French lace again accented with seed pearls and mother of pearl sequin chips. The finger-tip veil was highlighted with mother of pearl sequins and held at the top by a halo of silk roses and white satin blue-bells.

The bride carried a cascade of white poinsettias adorned with stephanotis, baby's breath, holly, and strings of pearls and Christmas Ivy.

Musical selections were performed by friends of the bride and groom, including Pete Grigsby III, piano; Geri Grigsby, guitar; and Marty Childers, soloist. Favorite selections included "Security," "Suddenly," "Love Lift Us Up," and "Until." A special selection, "One Perfect Day," was sung by the bride to the groom during the lighting of the unity candle.

Stevie Osborne, best man, and Duanne Thompson, groomsman, wore double-breasted black tuxedos with black silk lapels accented with boutonnieres of white baby poinsettias, baby's breath, and sapphire blue and shimmering silver ribbons. Brothers of the groom, Mark and Chris Skeens, served as ushers. At the guest book was Teddi Leigh Pack, niece of the bride.

Arenja C. Hall, matron of honor, and Holly Nicholas, bride's attendant, wore long-sleeved formal gowns of sapphire blue satin accented by a silver bow just below the dropped waistline. Bridesmaids carried long-stemmed poinsettias and baby's breath wrapped with sapphire blue and silver ribbons.

The bride's mother, Violet, chose a sapphire blue formal dress with open lace long-sleeves. She also wrote a special poem dedicated to the couple which was read during the ceremony by the bride's sister, Rhea. The mother of the groom, Peggy, wore an emerald green soft satin dress complimented by an emerald green bow. In tradition, the bride carried a white embroidered handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother, Phena Francis Parsons, and a pearl brooch of her late paternal grandmother, Nell Shelton. These "something old" articles were placed at the altar in memory of her grandmothers.

The bride chose as "something new" a pearl necklace and drop pearl earrings given by her parents. A bridal Bible given by her matron of honor served as "something borrowed." "Something blue" was a pure silk ribbon which adorned her white Chantilly lace and fur garter.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Holiday Inn in Prestonsburg. The groom's father, Miles, toasted the bride and groom as guests enjoyed the Christmas wedding atmosphere.

The bride chose as her "going-away" attire, a tea-length Victorian lace and silk dress of pearl blue. The couple "jumped the broom" (decorated with white satin bows and poinsettias), symbolizing the uniting of two lives in one. The newlywed couple released white helium balloons as family and friends showered them with birdseed just before their departure.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Kevin Skeens III will reside in Lexington.

Clarke Publishes Poetry

A Harold woman has published a book of poems dealing with her childhood at Layne Bottom, her love of nature and her relationship with God.

Special Thoughts and Loving Memories: Memories and a Pink Rose is the title of the book by Anna Sue Layne Clarke.

Describing herself as "just a housewife," Clarke said she wrote the 134-page book in about a year and a half. "It was purely inspirational," she said.

The 62-year-old grandmother said she "wrote a little poetry" as a child but that she had not written again until she began the book. "The more I wrote the more I wanted to write."

The cover of the book carries an illustration of a pink rose, which Clarke said represents a pink rose bush that belonged to her mother and now grows in the author's yard.

Clarke said she expects the book, which was published by Vantage Press in New York, to be available at area Christian bookstores soon.

Musical Director's Noted Career Runs Full Scale

The two things Elizabeth Frazier wants to be remembered for when she dies are the Honor Choir and the bell choirs.

It's not that Frazier, who still has several decades left in a normal lifespan, likes to be morbid; she's just expressing her pride in the musical accomplishments of the musical groups she has directed to wide acclaim.

Frazier not only teaches music at Prestonsburg High and Elementary Schools, but she also directs the special choirs at the two schools and at First United Methodist Church.

At 7:30 each weekday morning, before many teachers and students have left home, Frazier meets with members of the elite Honor Choir to rehearse for the group's regular performances and special community concerts.

After mornings at the high school and afternoons at the grade school, Frazier still hasn't had her fill of music. On Mondays after school, she rehearses the Wee Bells and the ELF Bells (named with her initials), and two children's bell choirs at the church where she is director of music.

On Wednesdays, she meets with the church's Cherub Choir, made up of 4-, 5- and 6-year-olds. On Sunday afternoons she practices with the Wesley Bells, a hand bell group for high schoolers and adults, which performs once a month during church service. She also directs the church's Chancel Choir.

"I have very little spare time," Frazier acknowledged.

The list of awards won and concerts performed by Frazier's musical groups is a long one. The Wesley Bells, for example, has performed in Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Canada.

Last year, five of her high school soloists received superior ratings in district competition, as did six ensembles and the Honor Choir. Another ensemble took an excellent rating, and one of her students, Beth Hall, was selected for the Governor's School for the Arts.

The Honor Choir, made up of 40 to 47 students who excel in either academics, sports or band, passes up state competition in favor of the annual North American Music Festival. Last year the singers were named most outstanding choir among similar groups at the festival at Niagara Falls.

This year the contest is at New York University and Frazier and her singers are busy rehearsing and raising money for the trip, which she estimates will cost about $11,000. To pay for the four-day trip, the choir has sold candy, mums and poinsettias, and their parents are planning a rummage sale.

"Any way we can think of to raise money, we raise it," said the choir leader.

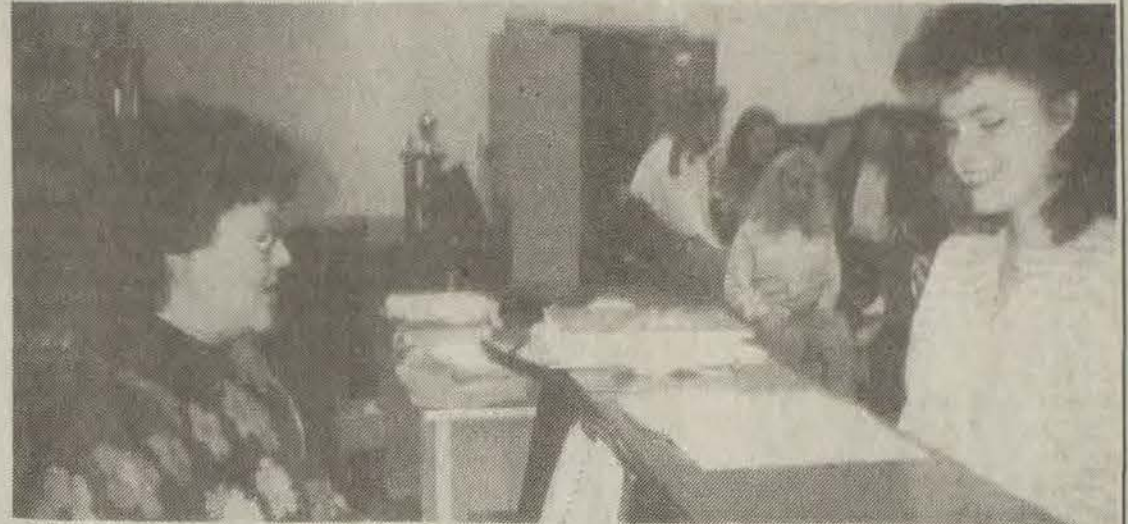

The primary fund-raiser is the annual spring concert. Last year, the high school singers gave two sellout performances, and Frazier expects that to be the case this spring.

The Honor Choir is also often asked to perform for local organizations. This school year, for instance, they've performed for groups ranging from WorldWide Equipment Co. employees to retired teachers.

The schedule is rigorous, Frazier admitted. "But they know what they are going to have to do when they try out," she said of the Honor Choir. "One of the reasons we started it was to give young people an opportunity to perform. It's amazing how much poise and confidence they gain."

The daughter of Chalmer and Katherine Frazier of Prestonsburg, the teacher comes by her music interests naturally. "I grew up hearing my grandmother playing hymns on the piano," she said. "She would play songs such as Amazing Grace, and I sang with her."

Her mother is a retired music teacher and former church organist, and her father sings in the church choir.

In the large, old family home, where Frazier lives with her parents, grandmother and niece, a front room reflects the family interest. The room houses two pianos, an old pump organ and a guitar.

Nowhere in evidence, however, is the instrument Frazier prized as a high school band member herself. When she went off to the University of Kentucky, she planned to major in music with an emphasis in saxophone.

"After a few weeks, I decided band was not for me," she said. "I found I enjoyed vocal music much more, so I got rid of the saxophone."

She went on to earn a degree in music at the University of Louisville and a master's degree in music education at Morehead State University. Before returning home 12 years ago, she taught in Jefferson County and in Virginia.

Frazier began piano lessons when she was in third grade. In high school, she took voice lessons from Edith James and fondly remembers her own chorus days under the direction of Carlos Haywood.

Part of her success with the various choirs has to do with her philosophy of getting input from the singers themselves. The Honor Choir students help select the songs they perform and they do the choreography for their shows. "They're more creative in

The Great Electric Pickle

Pat Klye's seventh grade science class has been studying electricity. Students were asked to predict conductors and nonconductors of electricity. To help students make an accurate prediction, a demonstration called "The Electric Pickle" was conducted. Students concluded that the pickle was a definite conductor—it displayed a glorious glow in the classroom.

Four Wheelwright Teachers Receive SC Partnership Grants

At least three science classes and one social studies class at Wheelwright High School will take on added dimensions this semester as a result of teacher incentive grants awarded by SACT, a mini-grant program sponsored by the School-Community Partnership and the Floyd County Board of Education.

Harold Newman, Doris Osborne, Billie Damron and Ernie Johnson were notified in January that they had been selected to receive grants for the 1989 school year.

"The program is great," Doris Osborne, biology and history teacher at Wheelwright High School, said. "Last year, I applied to SACT for money to do a basic unit on electricity. With Harold Newman's help, we were able to teach approximately 125 students in six classes about the elements of electricity. This year I am going to purchase kits and materials to supplement a unit in my anatomy and physiology class on RNA and DNA.

"These are things that we are already teaching, but now we will be able to teach them better because we can afford the materials to give students a hands-on experience," she added.

The name of Osborne's project is "Genetics Made Easy."

Harold Newman's grant will be used with an introduction to chemistry and physics class for college preparatory students. The students in the project will have the opportunity to study machines and energy as they work first-hand with generators, an electric winch, a capacitor and an electrolysis apparatus.

Billie Damron, a science and English teacher at Wheelwright, also received a $250 grant to purchase terrariums and organisms so that her students will be able to make closed environments to study.

Ernie Johnson's history classes will be taking a closer look at the judicial systems with his grant money. He plans to conduct a mock trial, visit the Floyd County Courthouse where students will have the chance to observe trials, and do additional research in books that he will purchase.

Local businesses have made the SACT program possible through their contributions. This is the second year of the SACT grants and if teacher interest is any indicator of the future of the program, it has a secure one.

"We simply couldn't do these projects without the grants," Doris Osborne said.

"We wish to thank all of those people who have helped with the grants," Harold Newman added.

SADD Chapter Tapes Radio Spots

As one of the activities of the newly formed Students Against Drunk Driving organization at Allen Central High School, Pam Burke, Lisa Jane Hicks, Jeana Scott and Linda Oliver taped over-the-air commercials at WQHY during December's National Anti-Drinking Awareness Week, reminding the listening community of the dangers of drinking and driving.

While at the radio station, the students were given an informative tour of the production stages involved in radio programming by Gorman Collins Sr., the station owner.

Students taped with the assistance of James Allen.

Accompanying these students was Patricia Watson, a SADD sponsor.

Essay Winners

Pat Dye's seventh and eighth grade science students wrote conservation essays emphasizing the importance of trees in their community. Students were required to write an original essay of 1,000 words or less. School winners were first place, Jessica Ray, daughter of Reese and Linda Ray; second place, Chris Crider, daughter of Charlotte and Don Branham; and third place, Mary Meadows, daughter of Walter and Eula Meadows.

Sixth, Seventh Graders Study Dental Health

In December, James Bevins' sixth and seventh graders studied dental health.

They learned what plaque is and what causes it and how it may be prevented. The students also became familiar with the disease gingivitis and its symptoms.

One of the assignments was to draw a picture of a cut-away view of a tooth. Students did an excellent job of drawing and labeling the parts of a tooth, said Bevins. Their drawings have been displayed in the classroom.

Still Visits Clark Students

James Still, noted Kentucky author, visited Judy Carter and Sally Osborne's social studies classes at Clark Elementary recently.

Still discussed the five steps involved in the writing process, emphasizing the importance of writing. He also encouraged everyone to write and share their experiences with others. Still shared many personal experiences as a teacher, an international traveler and writer. He read his own version of Jack and the Beanstalk and several riddles from his book. Pat Barnett's TAG class videoed Still during his presentation.

Lee County Wins Math Bowl At PCC

The fractions flew and metric measures were bandied around as if they were standard at the Southeast Kentucky Regional Math Bowl Saturday at Prestonsburg Community College.

A team of students from Lee County Middle School in Beattyville took first place honors. They and the runner-up team from Loyall School in Harlan County will advance to the state Math Bowl in Frankfort later this month.

This was the first year the regional contest, sponsored by the Kentucky Council of Teachers of Mathematics, has been held at PCC.

Six other schools participated in the meet: Benham Grade School and Everts Middle School in Harlan County, Pikeville Junior High School, Saint Stephen's School in Cumberland, Sebastian Middle School in Jackson and Eversole Middle School in Hazard.

The Math Bowl uses a game show format with teams of four students working on a two-minute problem solving question and a series of toss-up and bonus-point questions in each match.

In addition to receiving a trophy, the winning team members were promised a tuition scholarship to PCC when they complete high school by PCC Academic Dean Robert Allen.

Hassan Saffari, assistant professor of math at PCC directed the regional tournament. About 30 PCC faculty members assisted as quiz masters, judges and scorekeepers.

Math Counts

Jonathon Piercy, right, seventh grader at Lee County Middle School, accepts the first-place trophy from Prestonsburg Community College President Harry A. Campbell Jr., following Saturday's regional Math Bowl. The winners of the PCC meet all sported sweatshirts appropriately labeled "Math Counts."

Auxier Students Study Budgeting

The second grade students in Charlene Darvell's room at Auxier Elementary have recently been studying budgets.

The students began with an income of $1,000 and determined how much it would take for rent, utilities, car, groceries, personal spending and savings.

Students learned that to make ends meet, when they are older, a budget must be implemented.

As expected, the students develop a special relationship with the choir leader. Frazier said she enjoys being around the students. "I think they feel free to talk to me about all kinds of things," she said.

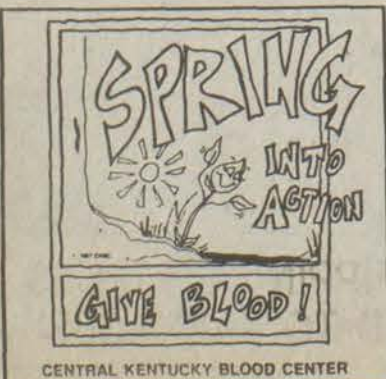

Frazier most likely will be remembered, not only by her former students, but also by the community members who have the opportunity to hear her musicians perform.

Pioneer Living

Bickford's fourth grade class recently at Auxier Elementary studied the way the pioneers lived in Kentucky when it was first settled. The students were taught that Dr. Thomas Walker built the first pioneer's log cabin in Kentucky. Students built replicas of what they believed the first log cabin resembled.

Osborne Honor Students Listed

With the close of the first semester grading period, officials at Dr. W.D. Osborne Elementary School recently announced the names of students earning academic honor roll status.

Only one student at the school, Jason Mullins, a second grade student, earned all "A's".

Other honor roll students are:

Age Of 'Aquarium' Arrives At Wheelwright

Thomas Rainey, Steven Johnson and Angie Branham of Doris Osborne's college preparatory biology class at Wheelwright High School recently completed setting up an aquarium for their class.

The school acquired the aquarium as part of a science grant that Floyd County has received. A marine biologist spoke to Floyd County teachers during in-service in August as part of that program.

With the aquarium, Osborne hopes that her students will learn more about aspects of salinity, oxygen content and aggression. The students have made use of Aquarium, a national publication, for information in the proper way to set up their own aquarium. The students have finished this phase of their project and are waiting for their fish to arrive so they can stock the aquarium.

Puppet Show

The fifth and sixth grade classes at Auxier Elementary presented their first puppet show recently. The class invited all students from kindergarten through fourth grade to attend "The Christmas Carol." A variety of hand puppets in the show were created by the students. The class also developed the script for their puppets. The presentation was an activity that combined language arts, music, literature and art.

Sea Animals

Ruth Webb's third grade class is studying sea animals and their distinguishing characteristics. The students are learning that life goes on in the ocean much as it does on land, and that forms of animal life depend upon plants. The students are gathering information about sea animals and will develop posters, pictures, story books and magazine articles.

MAKING YOURSELF SICK?

Drug research on the frontiers of medicine has led back to the body itself. Investigation of prostaglandins and endorphins, substances the body produces that may have wide therapeutic application, has begun. Prostaglandins are hormone-like substances that have been said to cause menstrual cramps, inflammation, pain, and even eczema and psoriasis. Researchers have discovered that the reason that our old standby, aspirin, works so well is that it suppresses prostaglandins. Other prostaglandin suppressors have been developed, including ibuprofen, formerly a prescription drug but now available over-the-counter under various brand names. Endorphins are naturally occurring pain blockers that are produced in the brain. Synthetic endorphins may prove to be effective and non-addictive pain killers.

COOLEY APOTHECARY carries what you would expect to find in a well inventoried drug store. We are very proud to be able to provide families in this area with all their pharmaceutical needs. Our records are fully maintained so your doctor can check for drug interactions and allergic reactions. They can also be readily available to you for insurance and income tax purposes. You'll find us located at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106 and open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments.

HINT: Morphine and simliar drugs are chemically similar to endorphins.
