Martin Accident Traps Driver, Injures Seven

A violent, two vehicle accident in Martin Friday evening sent seven people, including six from the same family, to the hospital.

According to Floyd County Sheriff's reports, Mossie Robinson, 51, of Arkansas Creek was pulling on to Route 80, headed west, from KY 122 at new Martin, at approximately 5:35 p.m., when the 1976 Buick she was driving was struck by Joel W. Back, 24, of Martin, who was traveling east on Route 80. Back's 1988 Chevy pickup skidded 38 feet before striking the front section of Robinson's vehicle, on the driver's side.

Six passengers were in Robinson's vehicle when the accident occurred. According to John M. Hunt of the Floyd County Rescue Squad, when squad members arrived at 5:52 p.m., all victims had been removed from the vehicles except for Robinson, who was trapped by the crushed steering wheel and dash board of her car.

"We had to use the 'Jaws of Life' and mechanical scissors to get her out," said Hunt. "First we popped the driver's door off, and then pulled the dash and wheel up with the Jaws. At the same time, other squad members were cutting the roof and peeling it back so we could get the back-board in and lift her out. It all went real smoothly."

P&B Ambulance and Respond Ambulance services transported victims to Our Lady of the Way Hospital and Highlands Regional Hospital. Mossie Robinson and Glenda Samons, 32, were transported by helicopter to the University of Kentucky Medical Center. Robinson was listed Tuesday in fair condition and Samons was listed in satisfactory condition.

Anita Robinson, 29, Tina Robinson, 7, Kim Robinson, 17, and Ezra Robinson, 13, were all admitted to OLWH in Martin for observation; they were in stable condition and were released. Frank Conn, 62, was discharged home in stable condition.

Joel Back, 24, director of the Hall Funeral Home, was taken to HRMC and treated for multiple contusions. He was released Sunday.

"The main reason I survived that accident was because of the seat belt I was wearing. The quick response by local rescue workers and the Floyd County Sheriff's Department also kept things from being worse than they were. I'm glad to be alive," Back said after the accident.

Rapid Action with "Jaws Of Life"

Floyd County Rescue Squad members work to remove Mossie Robinson, 51, of Arkansas Creek from the car she was trapped in, following an accident in Martin Friday evening. Robinson and six others were injured in the two car accident. Robinson and Glenda Samons, 32, were helicoptered to University of Kentucky's Medical Center. Robinson was listed in fair condition and Samons was listed in satisfactory condition on Tuesday.

Tip Leads To P'burg Weapons Theft Arrests

An informant's tip to Prestonsburg police officers R.J. Conn and Ralph Frasure netted two arrests, six stolen weapons and information on several unsolved crimes in Floyd County.

On Friday, Nov. 3, Prestonsburg auxiliary police officer William Meek's house in West Prestonsburg was broken into. A rifle, two shotguns and three handguns were stolen. Following investigation and a tip given during an unrelated arrest, James Bradley, 27, of Caney Creek, was arrested on Sunday, Nov. 12 for the burglary. All weapons were recovered during the arrest, at which time Bradley admitted his role in the crime.

A second man, Johnny McKinney, also of Caney Creek, was arrested on Saturday, Nov. 18 and charged with third degree burglary and criminal conspiracy, relating to the theft of the six weapons. McKinney was further accused of breaking into a local mobile home dealership and stealing carpeting.

According to Conn, questioning following the arrests have uncovered information related to a series of burglaries and at least one case of arson in the county. The officer stated that more arrests will be forthcoming pending further investigation by the Prestonsburg Police Department.

Two-Way Radios A Reality For Kentucky School Buses?

By Frank Clark
Staff Writer

Will two-way radios make Kentucky school buses safer for school children?

State Representative Greg Stumbo believes it will, and has submitted a legislative proposal to require all school buses in the state to be equipped with a communication system which would directly link each bus to a county communication center.

Pre-filing the legislation before the January 1990 session, Stumbo hopes that recent incidents involving school bus safety, both in Floyd County and around the state, will inspire action from state legislators.

"Safety factors related to school buses are in the legislature's eye right now, since the terrible accident of last year (Carrollton accident)," said Stumbo. "Here in Floyd County, the flooding at McDowell in October highlighted the need for quick communication to buses."

Flood emergencies are only one instance of when the radios could be used. Stumbo sees numerous other applications.

"The radios could help if a child becomes sick while on the bus," said Stumbo. "I also see the need, particularly in rural areas, for radios to deal with possible emergencies involving trains. I don't mean to raise peoples' fears, but if a bus is stopped at a railway crossing, and a (toxic) spill or a similar accident occurs, a radio is really going to be needed to keep children safe. That's the hope of this legislation."

Ron Hager, superintendent of Floyd County schools, while stating he was not contacted by Stumbo about the proposed bill, is fully supportive of the idea.

"I hope that we can get this type of communication system for all of the buses," said Hager. "It could be used in a situation like we had at McDowell during the flood, when we needed to coordinate an evacuation."

Currently, some buses in the county which run on coal haul roads

Turkey Time Once More

Thanksgiving is coming all too quickly for many area turkeys. This one has dodged the ax for at least one more year, but still casts a wary eye at any stranger coming too near. Many Floyd Countians plan to enjoy a long, four day weekend, with friends and family, watching parades and football games and enjoying the start of the Holiday season. The watchful bird above is owned by the county's own Judge/Executive John M. Stumbo. The staff at The Floyd County Times will also be enjoying the holiday, the office being closed on Thursday and Friday, gives employees some much deserved time off to be with their families and friends.

Prestonsburg Is Gold!

Prestonsburg is gold, says the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

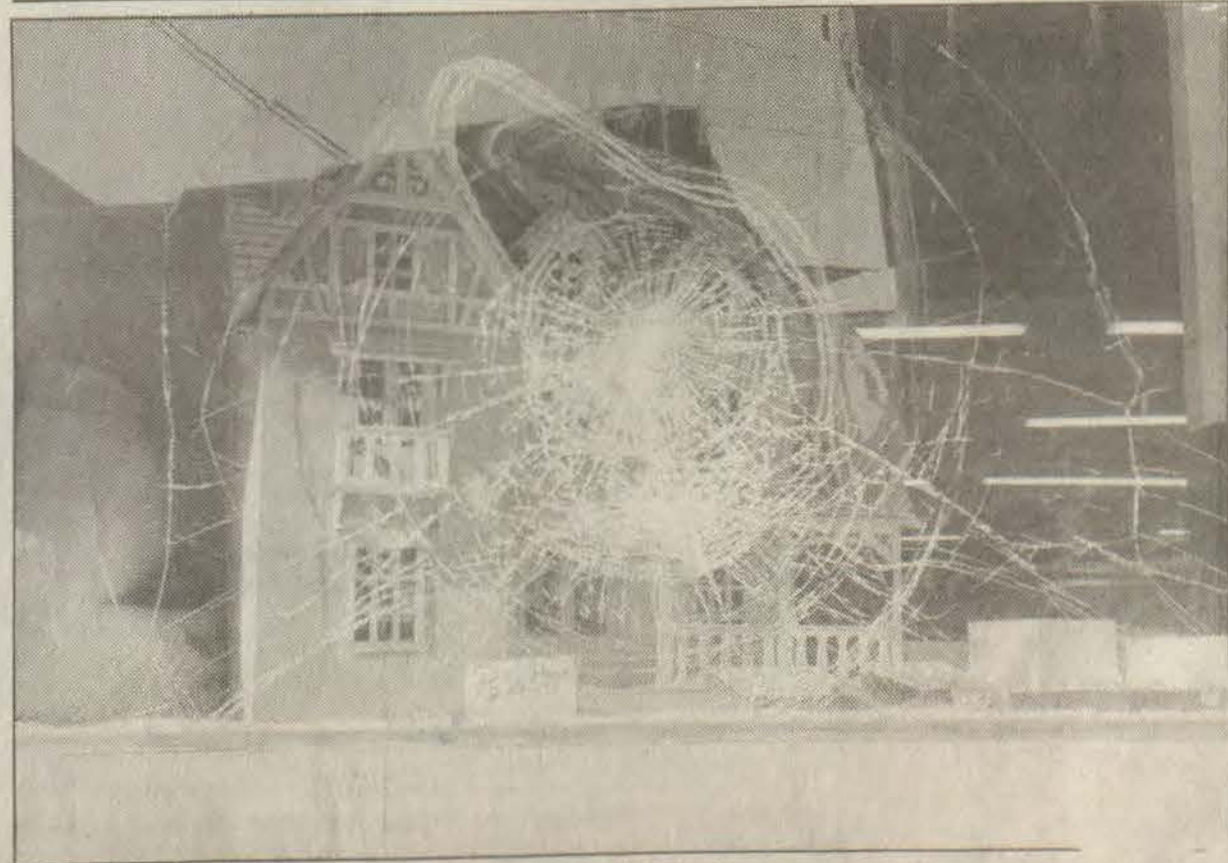

Last Thursday, the City of Prestonsburg received a "gold" certification in an award ceremony attended by over 1000 Kentuckians at the Rupp Arena in Lexington. The Certified Cities Program, sponsored by the the state Chamber, is designed to recognize cities which are seeking to attain excellence in economic development.

According to the Kentucky chamber, the 64 certified cities in Kentucky have "sound local government, good public facilities and services, an attractive appearance, and well-planned and effectively implemented industrial and tourism development programs."

Prestonsburg has received silver awards for the past four years, attaining it's gold certification after five years as a certified city. In order to compete for certification, the city was required to undergo a complete evaluation, which examined local economic efforts, community organizations, community planning, utilities, downtown revitalization, community appearance, education, small business development and existing industry support.

Attending the awards ceremony were city officials and members of the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce.

The Kentucky Certified Cities Program is the only program of its kind funded by the private sector. The program has annually received the President's Citation Award for its initiative in private sector economic

Husband Claiming Abuse Found Guilty

PIKEVILLE — Jody Wright, 33, of Caney Creek, was found guilty last week of shooting his wife, after claiming during the trial that he was the victim of spouse abuse.

His wife, Monica Wright, was shot during a marital dispute on Aug. 10, 1987, paralyzing her permanently from the waist down. Jody Wright claimed that he suffered a long history of abuse and was attacked with a knife on the day of the shooting.

The jury found Wright guilty of assault under extreme emotional distress, the least serious possible assault charge. He was sentenced to 3 years and nine months in prison. Wright will be eligible for parole in nine months. (Appalachian News-Express)

Wolfe Waste Incinerator Rejected

WOLFE COUNTY — Wolfe County citizens took a stand against waste incineration in their county Monday, when over 1000 people turned out at the county courthouse to protest the Fiscal Court's decision to allow Waste Energy Corp. to open a medical-waste disposal unit in the county.

Gov. Wallace Wilkinson was present at the rally to support the decision to stop the project and to support construction of a quilted bedding factory which was also announced on Monday.

The county is still under contractual obligations with the waste company and may be required to pay over $100,000 for breaking the contract. (Louisville Courier-Journal)

Mother Of DUI Victim Seeks $375,000

MOREHEAD — The mother of a Rowan County High School student, who was killed last year in a car accident, has filed suit against a liquor store for over $375,000 in damages.

Crystal Simms, 16, died from injuries sustained in a one car accident in October, 1988, in Fleming County, when a car, driven by George Blevins, 18, ran off the road, struck an embankment and went into the air, throwing Simms from the vehicle.

Amy Simms, Crystal's mother, claims that Tri County Liquors knowingly sold alcohol to Blevins, then a minor, and bears responsibility for the accident. (Morehead News)

Ashland Oil Restarts Following Leak

CATLETTSBURG — A piece of air pollution control equipment malfunctioned Thursday, at Ashland Oil's Catlettsburg refinery, releasing almost double the allowable levels of sulfur dioxide into the air. The elderly, ill and those sensitive to the chemical were warned to stay indoors, following an air pollution advisory that was issued after the malfunction. Repairs on the sulfur recovery unit were completed Monday, and full operations were underway on Tuesday.

Sulfur dioxide is a colorless gas which can irritate the eyes and nose. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Non-Union Pickets Restricted at Pike Mine

PIKEVILLE — Pike Judge Bayard Collier issued a restraining order Monday, restricting non-union coal truck drivers at Hawkeye Coal in their picketing activity.

Drivers are now allowed to have no more than four pickets within 100 yards of the Hawkeye Coal Co. mine entrance. Truckers are also forbidden to harass or intimidate anyone doing business with the mine, and striking workers cannot carry weapons on the picket line.

The restraining order follows from a dispute that began Nov. 14, when drivers said the coal company failed to come through with a promised wage increase. No violence has been reported in the area by state police. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Increased Storage Required For Water District

The water district which serves 1500 residents of Betsy Lane, Harold and Stanville has been found to be in non-compliance by the state Public Service Commission.

Sandy Valley Water District (SVWD) is required to bring its water storage facilities into compliance with Commission storage regulations by Nov. 1, 1992, according to Charlotte Harley, spokesperson for the Commission. The Commission's responsibility is to monitor the activities of utility companies throughout Kentucky.

Joe Jacobs, commissioner of SVWD, doesn't agree with the Commission's findings.

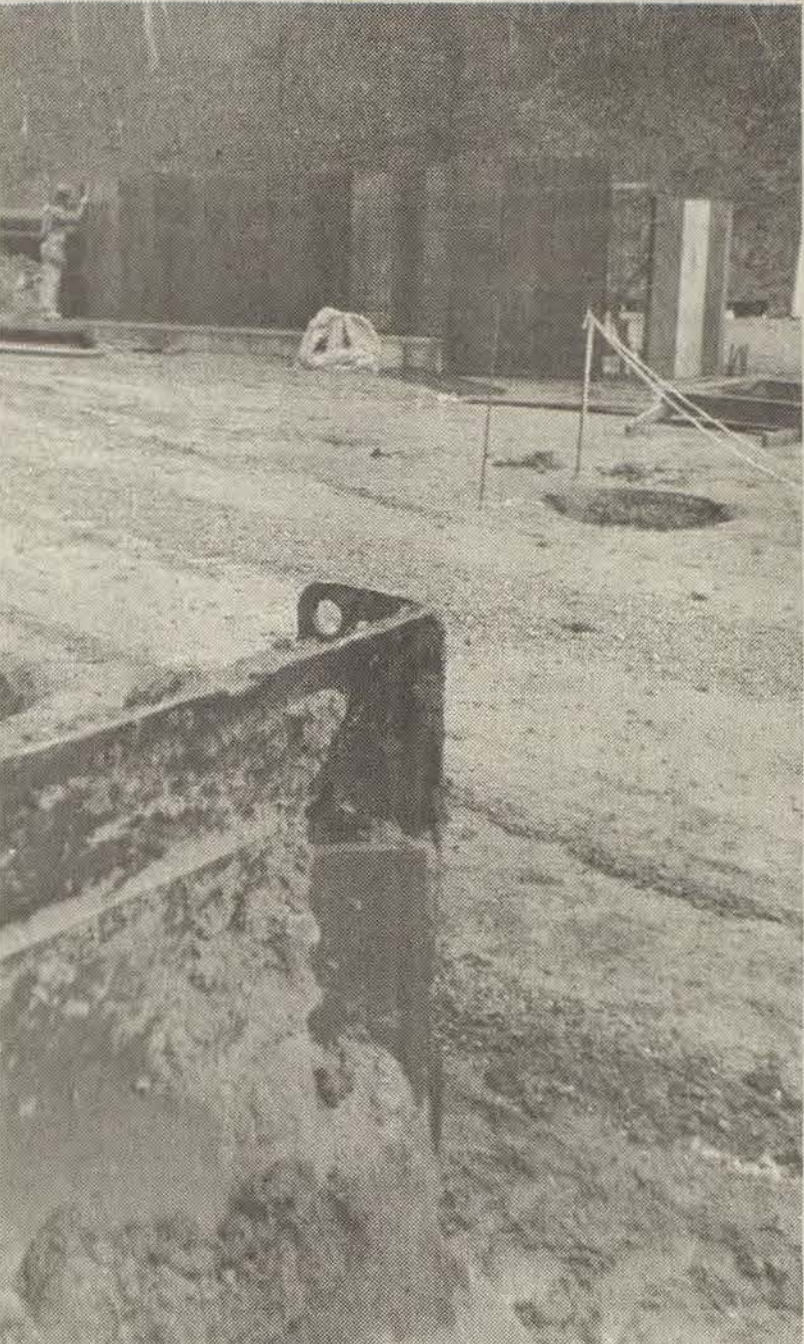

"We're going to be required to have a 24 hour water supply storage capacity, and that could add a lot of costs to our consumers," said Jacobs. "We buy our water from Prestonsburg and Pikeville City Commissions and I feel that we have adequate storage from the two of them."

Jacobs noted that SVWD does have two water storage tanks at the present time. The Commission has requested that two more tanks be constructed.

"We're willing to do a study of the costs involved in creating new storage facilities, and if they aren't too great, we'd be willing to do it," Jacobs noted. "We have to try to hold down costs for our consumers. We would depend on the Commission to also support a project of this size."

Jacobs stated that the costs involved in extending services to some new customers in the area have depended on grassroots fundraising activities by those requesting the service. An extension into Pike-Floyd Hollow is scheduled in the near future using funds raised by those seeking the service. Funds for new storage facilities are scarce, according to Jacobs.

"It's really a question of whether we really need the storage facilities. I don't think it's worth the cost," he noted. "Our main job is to get safe drinking water to everyone in our district."

Moving Right Along

Construction workers prepare for pouring concrete at the site of the new Jenny Wiley State Park Convention Center. The $1.6 million project will provide the capacity for groups of 500 to meet in banquet style seating, as well as a location for stage performances if rainouts occur at the park theater. The center is expected to bring convention groups and tourist dollars into the area.

Harold Man Killed In Auto Accident

A Floyd County man was killed early Monday morning in Pike County when the vehicle he was driving left the highway and struck an embankment.

William R. McKenney, 53, of Harold was pronounced dead at 3:51 a.m. after his vehicle left Route 23 at approximately 3 a.m. Monday morning, one mile north of Shelbiana and hit an embankment.

McKenney was transported to Pikeville Methodist Hospital and was pronounced dead on arrival. According to state police, no seat belt was worn by the victim during the accident. Trooper Terry Thompson is investigating the incident.

Giving The Gift Of Life

Ella Litz, R.N., supervises as Kenneth Scarberry of Manton gives blood at the recent Big Blue Blood Drive in Prestonsburg. The blood drive was a competition between Central Kentucky Blood Center, which collected 1926 units of blood, and MEDIC Regional Blood Center of Tennessee, which had 1760 donors. CKBC will receive the traveling trophy at the half-time of the UK/UT football game, Saturday, Nov. 25. This drive resulted in a record week for the Blood Center in Prestonsburg, with 53 donors contributing. The winners of the UK/UT football tickets, sponsored by The Floyd County Times and The First Commonwealth Bank, were John Wilson, Chris Carter and John Everly.

Observance Of Family Week Planned To Strengthen Families

Floyd County Judge Executive John M. Stumbo recently proclaimed the week of Nov. 19 to 25 "Floyd County Family Week" aimed at strengthening local families.

The proclamation coincides with designation of Thanksgiving week as National Family Week, by joint resolution of the Congress and proclamation by the President of the United States.

All organizations are invited to participate in the observance, along with individuals and families. Churches are encouraged to lead out in the observance, with special events for their own congregations.

In the local proclamation, citizens were urged to participate in activities to strengthen family loyalties and ties.

"The home is the basic unit of all society. If we help strengthen it, we help strengthen our community and our nation," said William R. Hughes, president of the Church Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He presides over the Martin Kentucky District of the Church.

"In a recent statement supporting National Family Week, our church leaders noted that in a year when the undermining of the home and family seems to be on the increase, it is fitting that we pause to consider ways and means to strengthen this most basic institution," Hughes continued.

"Our leaders have pointed out that the home is the most effective place for children to learn life's valuable lessons of truth, honor, faith in God, prayer, virtue and self control," Hughes stressed. "It is in the home that parents can begin teaching the value of education, of honest work and of the purpose and privilege of life."

Some of the great strengths of families are found in their own traditions. "Family traditions can consist of many things—skits on Christmas Eve, homemade valentines, scrapbooks, outings, birthdays and special desserts.

In trying to meet the special needs of their family, parents should avoid over commitment of their resources and energy, and save time for each other," Hughes recommends.

Efficient Use Of A Human Resource

Every day patients in Central and Southeastern Kentucky hospitals require at least 200 units of blood and specialized blood components. Statistics from the American Blood Commission report that about 90 percent of all blood transfusions are transfused as a specific component for a particular patient. Through component therapy (separating blood into its individual parts), a persons donation may help several patients in local hospitals recover.

According to Tim Thompson of the Central Kentucky Blood Center, surgery patients may need red cells to help them recover. "Patients with leukemia and other forms of cancer frequently need platelets which are needed for clotting," Thompson explained. "Cryoprecipitate is a blood component required from patients with hemophilia. Patients who have suffered burns or lack certain clotting factors may need plasma to help control bleeding. A donor can help these patients by donating blood."

The Prestonsburg Community College and Central Kentucky Blood Center have scheduled a blood drive for Monday, Nov. 27 at Room J-132 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. A blood donation will be an efficient use of your human resource. Each donor will receive a free cholesterol test and drawings for prizes will be held throughout the day. For more information, call the student activities office at 886-3863, ext. 249.

Economic Report Issued For P'burg

A new "Resources for Economic Development" report for Prestonsburg has been issued by the Kentucky Cabinet for Economic Development.

The publication provides detailed economic data on Prestonsburg, including details on population, utilities, labor supply, schools, industrial sites and existing industries in the community. The report is designed primarily as an economic development tool and is prepared by the state Division of Research and Planning.

According to Gene C. Royalty, state Secretary of Economic Development, the reports can be used to promote new industry in a community, by informing potential industries of local advantages. Royalty stated that Prestonsburg is among approximately 200 communities which receive such reports. Information is gathered through on-site visits to city and county offices, chambers of commerce, industrial groups and other community sources.

Those wishing to receive summaries of the reports, or full length transcripts, should contact the Maps and Publications Sales Office, 133 Holmes St., Frankfort, KY 40601.

Marty Backus

Tomorrow brings on the day we in America celebrate as Thanksgiving. It's an important day, which falls on every fourth Thursday in November. A day we should give thanks for our blessings large and small.

But, for many in this great country, the process of counting their blessings is a lost art.

As for yours truly, I'm blessed with a beautiful wife who has made my life so happy. But the blessings don't stop there—I have a wonderful family, home, job and, up to this point, health. Putting all this together I'd say I have a life to be thankful for.

If you haven't taken stock of what you have, why not stop right now and just run down a quick inventory. I think you'll find out you're way ahead of the game.

Other things I can think of to count as a blessing are the many churches, such as the Community Methodist Church in Prestonsburg. This church, along with several others, is sponsoring a free Thanksgiving dinner for those folks who can't have one otherwise. The time of service will be from noon until 4 p.m. and the church welcomes anyone who wishes to dine with them or needs a meal delivered.

This is the third year the church has offered a free Thanksgiving to those in need. If you can't make it to the church just call 886-2220 or 886-3630 for a delivered plate.

At least ten turkeys will be carved up and served, along with six gallons of coleslaw, green beans, sweet potatoes, rolls and more than 25 pumpkins and several cakes will be consumed.

Another item on the list for thankfulness is the American Red Cross, which has offered relief to those 394 families flooded out in Floyd County last month.

We should also be thankful that a budget has been accepted by the Floyd County Board of Education that lowered the tax rate;

Thankful that there is an Eastern Kentucky so the Lexington Herald-Leader has something to write about; Thankful that unqualified people can be elected to run our counties and schools;

Thankful that no matter what your last name is, you can be elected judge;

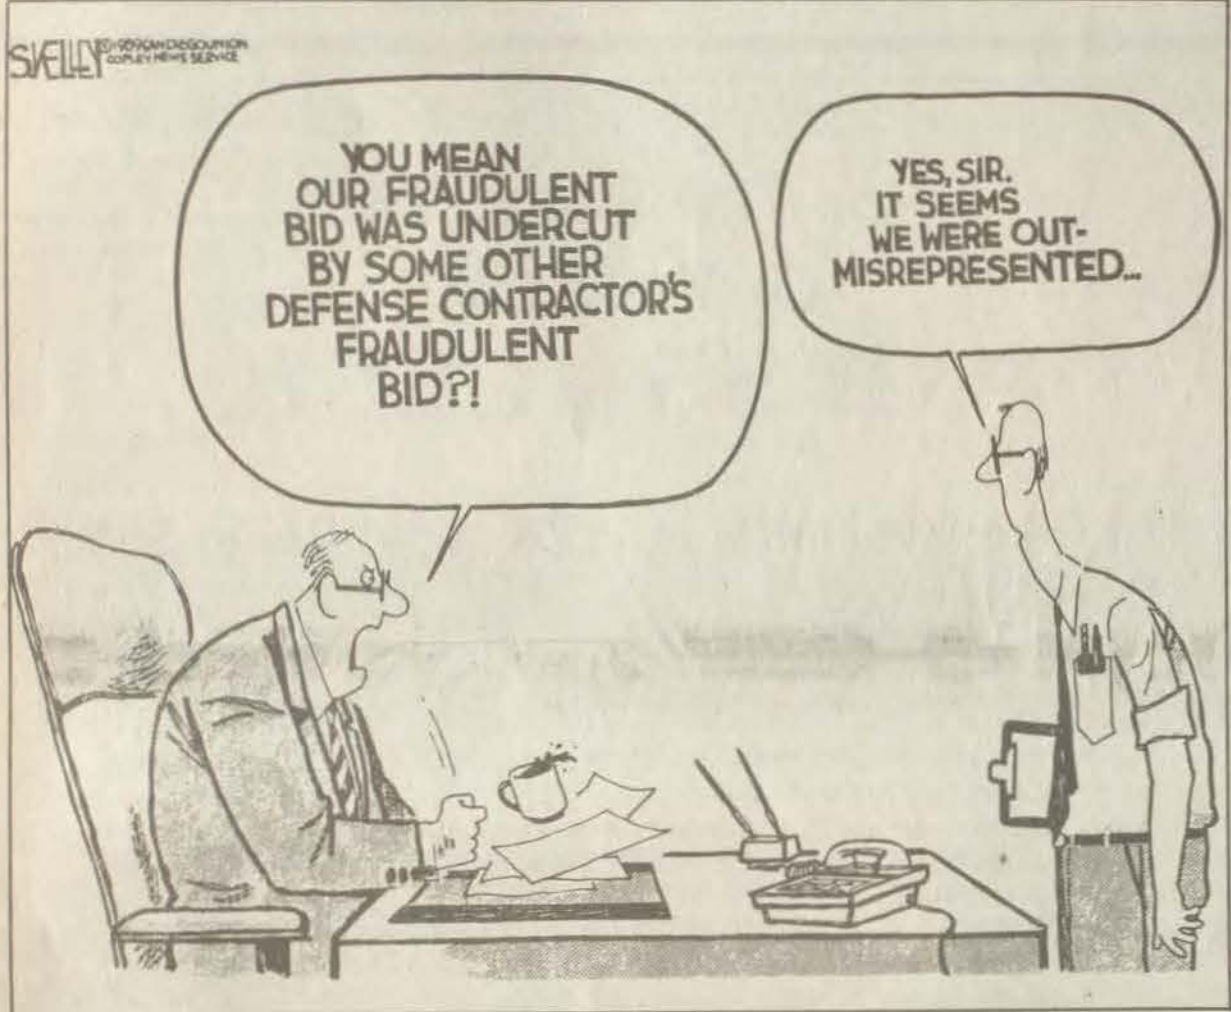

Thankful for the parents of students at Allen who have the guts to keep the heat on (no pun intended) school officials about getting a new school building;

Thankful under-aged and unlicensed youths are still allowed to zoom up and down Prestonsburg's streets, on unlicensed motorbikes;

Thankful that most public offices are closed on Saturdays, so the taxpayer has to take time off from work to take care of paying taxes, or getting licenses;

And let's not forget to be most humbly thankful that God blessed our life's in allowing us to live in a country like the United States. A place where I can travel, live, think like I want to. A country which allows me to write just about anything in the paper I want to, without being shoot.

Now I might be sued by some slick lawyer.

Supports Certificate Of Need For Hospice

Dear Editor,
I am writing on behalf of the Kentucky Association of Hospices with respect to Certificate of Need legislation. The Kentucky Association of Hospices represents all 25 hospices operating in the Commonwealth.

The Kentucky Association of Hospices strongly supports certificate of need for hospice programs. Certificate of need promotes quality of hospice care as well as cost effective utilization of resources for care of the terminally ill. The Kentucky Association of Hospices believes that certificate of need is a very effective health planning tool in helping assure that hospice resources are adequate to meet the needs of the terminally ill in Kentucky.

Certificate of need helps assure that appropriate providers are delivering care in health care services that require low capital expense to enter, e.g. hospice. States without certificate of need have often seen numerous parties begin hospice programs only to be unable to function due to inadequate staff, financing or expertise. Certificate of need helps assure that parties who wish to provide care are able to do so.

Certificate of need is necessary to ensure the financial solvency of hospices. Most hospices receive the majority of their funding from Medicare and Medicaid under a fixed-rate, per diem reimbursement system, i.e. reimbursement is fixed regardless of cost. This necessitates realizing economics of scale to remain financially solvent and to permit development of additional services. A proliferation of hospices in any are prevents important economies of scale from being realized.

Fixed rate reimbursement is accompanied by a great deal of financial risk. Adequate planning at the state level helps to assure that hospice services are developed and delivered in a manner that allows this financial risk to be managed without compromising quality of care.

The absence of such planning in states without certificate of need often results in very unstable delivery of hospice care due to hospice failing for a multitude of reasons.

Certification of need helps promote the quality of hospice care.

Economics of scale allow hospices to use funds to develop specialist programs that enhance care, e.g. pain control, art therapy for terminally ill children, bereavement care for family members after the death of a patient, etc. Communities without control over the number of hospices are often unable to adequately fund these programs as resources are spent on multiple administrative overheads and marketing efforts in a competitive environment.

Hospices utilize volunteer services extensively. Medicare requires a certified hospice to realize a minimum of a 5 percent cost savings through the use of volunteers. There are a limited number of individuals in any community who wish to do volunteer work with the dying. Should too many hospices exist, they would draw from this limited pool and conceivably be unable to individually achieve the required cost saving and thus be unable to qualify for Medicare certification and funding.

Certificate of need for hospice care ultimately reduces health care costs. It permits the substitution of lower cost hospice care for the large expenditures typically spent in the last six months of human life. Hospice care is far less expensive because it substitutes palliative care at home, when appropriate, for aggressive and costlier inpatient care. It reduces hospital days in nearly all cases. However, it will do this only when quality of care can be assured to patients, families and physicians. Quality of care is best assured when the planning and resource allocation that certificate of need permits is available.

The Kentucky Association of Hospices believes that the certificate of need process promotes the quality and cost effectiveness of hospice care for residents of Kentucky and strongly supports it.

Sincerely,
Elaine C. Cox
President
Kentucky Association of Hospices

Report To Kentucky

Sen. Wendell Ford

KENTUCKY PROJECTS FARED WELL IN 1989

Constructive investments in the future of Kentucky have become more important than ever in view of the budget and trade problems facing this nation. I have long been convinced that we will solve our national problems only through growth and progress at the grassroots level.

As we cut the federal deficit, we have to make increasingly wise choices about the use of scarce federal funds to encourage this critical grassroots development. I believe that we made such choices with regard to Kentucky during the first year of the 101st Congress.

Toward the end of this recently ended session, I was able to help secure another $227,000 to help rebuild our long troubled farm economy through the work of our International Trade Development Center at the University of Kentucky. This was our third year of federal support for this center, which is providing much needed information and services to farmers trying to expand agricultural exports from the Ohio Valley, Appalachian and Southeastern regions of the United States.

Our Kentucky delegation also was able to make use of our agricultural appropriations bill to provide $183,333 for a Kentucky project to demonstrate the best ways of restoring prime farmland after strip mining. This same bill includes $225,000 for a Kentucky demonstration project to encourage child-care providers to offer nutritious meals to children in low-income and rural areas.

Our delegation also made great progress toward ensuring that Kentucky installations continue to be a vital part of a modern and efficient defense program for our nation.

I was pleased to play a part in obtaining several million dollars for sorely needed projects at Fort Knox and Fort Campbell while helping to block misguided efforts to move the 194th Armored Brigade from Fort Knox to California. Our $2.5 million Army National Guard armory construction project in Ashland represents another important step in the right direction.

In a year marked by a series of tragic natural disasters, I also was pleased to be part of a successful effort to confront the long-term possibility of a serious earthquake along a major fault crossing the western edge of our state. In an amendment to our recent California earthquake relief bill, we authorized $4 million for an expanded study that should lead to better preparations for any similar disaster along the New Madrid fault.

BUSH SIGNS CHILD NUTRITION LEGISLATION INTO LAW

Friday, November 10th was probably just another day for most Americans, but to the millions of children, including thousands in Kentucky, who depend on the federal government for nutritious meals, this was a landmark day. After months of working its way through the legislative maze, three proposals I introduced expanding food programs to disadvantaged children were finally signed into law by President Bush.

One reason why the federal government initiated school breakfast and lunch programs is the direct link between proper nutrition and increased performance in the classroom. However, for many children the final bell of the school year often signals the beginning of a long, hungry summer. For those children, the meals they eat at school are their main source of nutrition. When the cafeteria closes along with the school for vacation, these kids are condemned to three months of hunger. Now, all that has changed.

The three initiatives will:
* Provide $5 million to state educational agencies as start-up money for expanded school breakfast programs. It also directs the Secretary of Agriculture to establish regional information clearinghouses to collect, disseminate and promote the breakfast programs;

* Change the eligibility criteria for participation in the Child Care Food Program. Eligibility for food benefits will now be based on the number of children who qualify for free or reduced-price meals under the National School Lunch Act. This will benefit Kentucky and other Southern states that were discriminated against under the old system; and

* Increase accessibility to the summer food program by opening it up to community-action groups, churches and others. These organizations were prohibited from taking part in the program.

Each of these measures is not an attempt to reinvent the wheel but simply to allow it to roll a little smoother. Instead of creating a whole new bureaucracy that soaks up millions of dollars, a simple fine-tuning of our existing programs will now serve thousands of additional children while getting the most out of every federal dollar spent.

When President Bush signed this legislation into law he said "...this bill...will provide help to thousands of needy pregnant women, infants and children who are at nutritional risk." I couldn't agree more. Child nutrition programs are critical because they not only provide the food that is necessary for proper growth and development, but it is also a direct investment in those boys and girls, our sons and daughters, who will become the future leaders of our country.

Two-Way Radios

have CB radios, designed to allow bus drivers and coal haulers a means of talking to each other. However, as Earl Ousley, transportation director for the county, noted, such a system doesn't allow for communication with a central office.

"CB's have limited range, less than ten miles. In case of bus breakdowns and bad weather, we could really use two-way radios," noted Ousley. "I'm behind it 100 percent because it'll improve the safety of our buses."

How to pay for new radio systems for each Kentucky county is a question which must be answered before radio legislation can be implemented. Stumbo sees administrative responsibility for the new system to be placed on county school boards. He believes costs will be manageable, in light of the seriousness of the program.

"I don't believe the systems will be overly expensive," said Stumbo. "Costs will vary, because different systems may better serve different areas. Because the safety of children is the most important issue here, I don't think costs will stop the legislation from being passed."

"The receivers in the buses won't be that expensive," says Hager. "The biggest cost will be for the central communication center. While I don't know the price of such equipment, I'd guess it's probably expensive. We'd have to cut corners in our current budget and hope to get support from other places, like the Big Sandy Area Development District."

The cost of such a communication system can vary widely. Fred James, city administrator for Prestonsburg, noted that the central communication system purchased by Prestonsburg for the police, fire, and other city departments recently cost between $10,000 and $15,000, not including costs for antenna placement and about $500 per unit for each city vehicle. These costs would likely be similar for a county school radio system.

When contacted about the proposed legislation, Nedra Slone, a member of the parent's committee examining safety issues at McDowell Elementary and High School and other area schools, expressed enthusiasm for the proposal.

"It's a surprise to us, but we're very thankful for it," said Slone. "We think this will improve the safety of all our children. It's not just us (the parent's committee) that's winning here. It's the kids that are winning, too."

Consideration of the school bus radio legislation will begin in January, before the state House of Representatives.

Covert Operation Nabs P'burg Man

A joint undercover drug crackdown operation between Kentucky State Police troopers and a Prestonsburg Police officer netted one arrest over the weekend. According to state police reports, James A. Williams, 36, of Stratton Branch in Prestonsburg, was arrested at 7 p.m. Saturday at his home on charges of trafficking in marijuana.

Following a search of the premises, police discovered roughly one ounce of marijuana, scales, which were classified as drug paraphernalia, and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Sgt. Jeff Stumbo, the Prestonsburg officer involved in the undercover work with the state police, was unable to provide details about the investigation because of its ongoing nature. He did state, however, that further arrests are expected, and that the current operation is part of a broad-based attempt by police officers in the region to stem illegal drug related activities.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Elmer Prater wishes to thank all of those who were so kind and considerate during our time of grief. We want to thank those who sent flowers and gifts of love. We especially want to thank the Regular Baptist ministers, also Sterling Bolen, and the Hall Funeral Home for being so kind. All your kindnesses were greatly appreciated.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Robin Adkins Sparkman would like to thank all the people who helped her or the family at that time of the accident. It's important that we let them know and we can't go to each one personally. We'd like to do this thru the paper. To those who were on the scene and the personnel of Life Line Ambulance, our undying gratitude. Without your training and quick thinking, Robin might have died. In the ER at McDowell, Robin was in the expert hands of the Drs. Ruben and Riveria. Dr. Riveria accompanied her in the ambulance to Huntington. Beaver Johnson and Arnold Adams also made this trip with us. Billy Joe Hall of Bevinville braved the high waters to take Robin's mother to the hospital. So many of you good people came to be with us. You prayed, sent food, flowers, and cards. We'll always remember you. At the Huntington Trauma Center, again we found expert care. A special thanks to Hester & Warnle Johnson. To Nola and Granny, our thanks for all your kindness. Robin would like to remember all her friends at the Div. of Child Support, especially her wonderful boss Graden. No one can ever know how much your friends mean until you're really in need.

God bless each and every one of you.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Maurine Hereford Wheeler wishes to acknowledge those who sent food, flowers and helped in anyway during the time of our Mothers passing. Especially we would like to thank River-view Nursing Home for all their kindness, consideration and the many people who visited Mother during her illness. We would also like to thank Rev. Ross and Rev. Scholtz.

THE WHEELER FAMILY

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Bruce Hamilton would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their help in the loss of our loved one: those who sent food and flowers, prepared the grave or just spoke comforting words. McDowell Lady Daredevils Capture Millard Invitational

By Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The McDowell Lady Daredevils are off and running as their basketball season opens on a successful note. The Lady Daredevils were crowned champions of the Millard Boys and Girls Invitational tournament this past Saturday night at Millard, with a easy 62-42 victory over the Lady Vikings of Feds Creek. McDowell defeated Mullins in the first round to advance to the finals. Feds Creek won over host school Millard to advance.

Junior forward Lori Bryant scored 20 points and hauled down 17 rebounds in leading the McDowell team to victory in the championship game. McDowell struggled in the first period of play, as the Lady Daredevils were guilty of some early turnovers and fouling.

"We just didn't look good at all in the first quarter," McDowell mentor Cassandra Keathley stated. "We just made some mistakes early."

Feds Creek held a two point lead, 11-9, at the end of the first quarter, mostly behind the three point shooting of guard Claire Fuller. Fuller hit four three-pointers in the game.

In the second period, the Lady Devils began to put their game together as Bryant show some offensive prowess in the second quarter. McDowell held a one point lead at the half, 24-23.

"We missed a lot of lay ups in the first half," explained Keathley. "Jenny (Slone) got in some early foul trouble in the first quarter and had to sit out the rest of the first half."

McDowell came back out in the second half, as the Lady Daredevil's defense held Feds Creek to just five third quarter points in taking a 38-28 lead at the end of the third stanza.

"Our defense really picked up for us in the third quarter," said Keathley. "We put more pressure on the ball in the second half."

A 24-14 run in the final quarter gave McDowell their second victory of the season, 62-42, and a tournament championship.

"Lori (Bryant) did a great job for us on the boards," said Keathley. "We must have missed 30 lay ups in the game. Michelle Hall played a great game for us coming off the bench for Jenny in the first quarter and scoring 11 points. She also got 10 rebounds and hit five of six free throws. We shot good from the free throw line, shooting 70 percent in the game. Bryant had 32 rebounds in the tour-namment and scored 36 points in the two games."

Besides Bryant's 20 points, Priscilla Crawford added 12 points and Hall chipped in for 11. Slone finished with nine points, despite sitting out most of the first half.

Fuller led the Lady Vikings with 26 points. Fuller hit six two-pointers, four three-pointers in scoring her 26 points. Carmella Slone added eight points for Feds Creek.

The McDowell Lady Daredevil's cheerleaders also won first place in the cheerleading division of the tournament.

The Lady Daredevils are 2-0 on the season and will be off until November 27, when they host the Lady Tigers of Paintsville.

Harold Takes MCA Tourney Behind Hunter's 27 Points

By Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The premier of elementary basketball tournaments was showcased at the Mountain Christian Academy

this past week, as some of the county's grade school teams, as well as surrounding county teams, converged on the MCA campus for the invitational tournament that was played before standing room only crowds.

The Harold Red Devils, accustomed to loosing the close ones, rode the 27 point performance of Brian Hunter and turned things around, capturing the prestigious tournament with a 55-48 victory over a good Paintsville team, coached by Bob Daniels. The Paintsville team was playing only their third game of the season.

"We start later than they do here in Floyd County," Coach Daniels stated. "We are only allowed to play a 20 game schedule and can only participate in two games a week."

Hunter scored first for the Red Devils on a basket underneath, on a good feed from point guard Chris Potter. Heath Preston tied the score with a short base line jumper to make it 2-2. Baskets by Hunter and Potter gave the Red Devils of Coach Durant Newsome a 6-2 lead. Harold held a one point lead at the first stop, 10-9. Barry Clark, Harold's outstanding forward, tallied four points in the quarter.

Paintsville took a 12-10 lead on a three-point play by Preston, opening the second period. With two free throws by Clark and a basket by Potter, Harold led 14-12. Harold hit four of seven free throws while holding Paintsville scoreless to take a five point lead at 18-13.

Preston scored on another three-point play to make it 18-16. An eight to two run by Harold late in the second stanza gave the Harold team a 26-19, seven point half time lead.

"Having a half time lead is something were not accustomed to," Coach Newsome stated. "We didn't know what to do."

The first two and a half minutes of the third period, was all Harold, as the Red Devils went on a 10-5 run to take a 36-24 lead with 2:33 remaining in the quarter. Potter scored eight of the 10 points for Harold.

After a Harold time out, Paintsville scored eight unanswered points to cut the lead back to four, 36-32 as the Tigers were getting two and three shots at the basket off of offensive rebounds. Paintsville's pressure defense also caused the Red Devils to make some mental mistakes in the quarter. After a Harold time out, the Red Devils turned the ball over and Danny Wells slipped underneath for a easy basket to make it 36-34.

Hunter connected on two free throws to break the drought for Harold and put them up 38-34. Harold then went to a 1-3-1 defense to try and shut down Paintsville's inside game as the quarter ended 38-34.

Harold extended their lead by 12 points when Hunter took a super pass from Clark and laid it in getting fouled on the play. Hunter sank the free throw and Potter hit a shot from 18 feet out as well as two free throws to help the Red Devils to a 48-36 lead.

Paintsville cut the lead to eight, 48-40, by scoring six unanswered points. The Red Devils seemed to be forcing their shots and not working the clock, as the Tigers had a chance to get more deeply into the eight point lead. However, turnovers plagued the Tigers in their comeback bid. Harold held on to win the championship game, 55-48 over a determined Paintsville team.

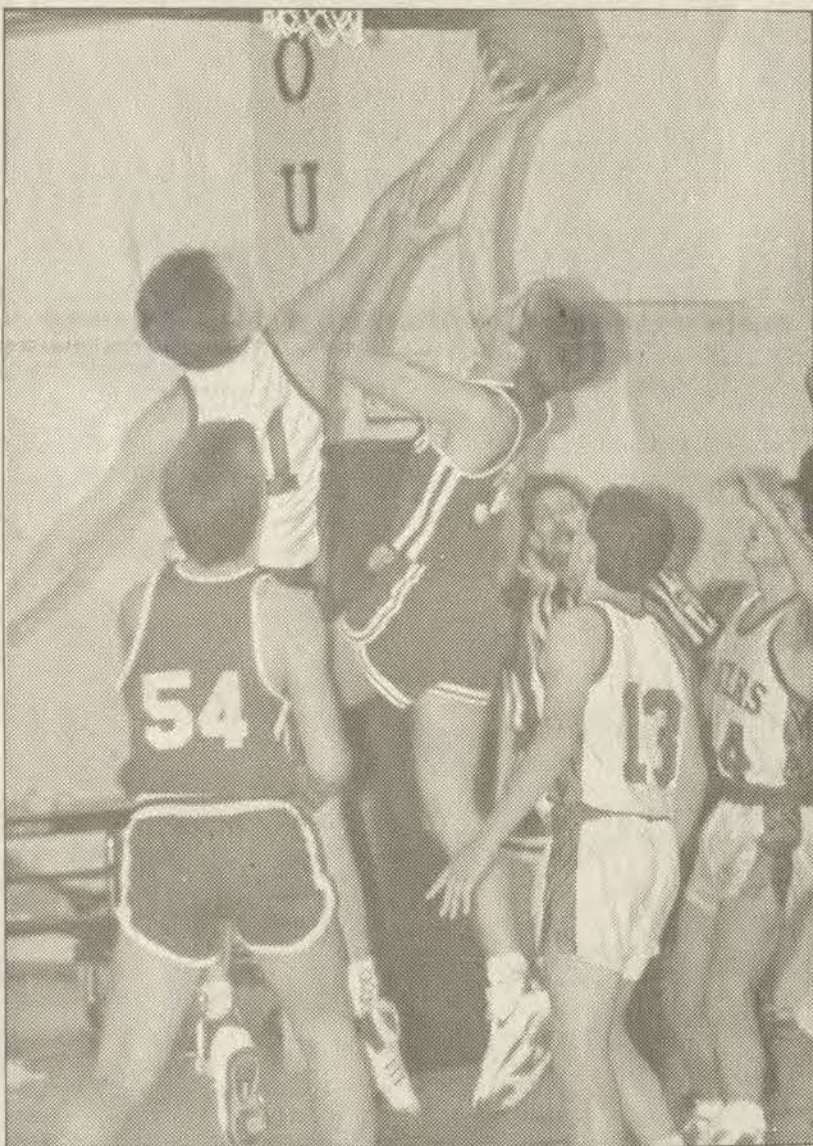

"We had a good team effort tonight," said Newsome of his team's victory. "We played better than we have been playing. Our record is even at 8-8 and hopefully we can build off this win for the rest of the season."

Besides Hunter's 27 points, Potter tossed in 19 and Clark tallied eight. Heath Preston led the Tigers in scoring with 16 points while Trent Lemaster and Danny Wells each added 10 points.

Harold pulled down 35 rebounds in the game, 22 defensive and 17 offensive. Clark had 14 rebounds and Hunter pulled down 12.

Paintsville 9 10 15 14 (48): Jon Holbrook, 3 0-0 6; Trent Lemaster, 3 4-5 10; Danny Wells, 4 2-5 10; Heath Preston, 6 4-7 16; Scott Holbrook, 3-0 6.

Harold 10 16 12 17 (55): Chris Potter, 7 5-8 19; Brian Hunter, 8 11-16 27; Barry Clark, 1 6-6 8.

Blocked Shot

Brian Hunter of Harold has his shot blocked by Banny Wells of Paintsville in the championship game of the MCA Invitational tournament last Saturday night. Hunter scored 27 points to lead the Red Devils to a 55-48 victory over the Tigers.

P'burg Takes Third Place In MCA Tourney

By Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Allen Eagles and the Prestonsburg Blackcats hooked up in the consolation game of the Mountain Christian Academy Invitational Tournament last week at the local schools campus.

Dammion Stepp, who had been struggling in the two previous tournament games, found the range and his "shooting touch" as he scored 18 points, several from long range, to lead the Blackcats to a 46-38 victory over the Eagles for third place in the tourney.

Stepp hit two long jumpers (from three point range in high school) to put his team in the lead, 4-0. After a basket by Porter, Chad Caldwell was fouled on a play as he made the basket and converted the free throw for a 7-2 lead. Porter used his quickness he displayed in football, and on a steal, raced the length of the court for a lay up to make it 7-4. With the score 11-8 Prestonsburg scored six unanswered points to take a 17-8 lead. Two of those baskets were put backs by Martin Newberry. Baskets by Phillip Patton and Jamie Blackburn made the first quarter score, 17-12.

At half time, the Blackcats held a slim 23-20 lead over David Mosley's Eagles. Prestonsburg opened hot in the third period, scoring the first eight points of the period and vaulted out to a 11 point advantage, 31-20. Reitz hit a shot at the top of the key, to break the dry spell to make it 31-22. Charles Shell and Stepp hit back to back baskets for the Blackcats to go up by 13 points. After a free throw by Patton, Mike Goble and Caldwell scored to give Prestonsburg a 16 point lead at 39-23.

In the fourth stanza, Allen scored six straight points to pull to within 10 points, with Porter scoring four points and Reitz two. Prestonsburg had three consecutive turnovers in the opening minutes of the period.

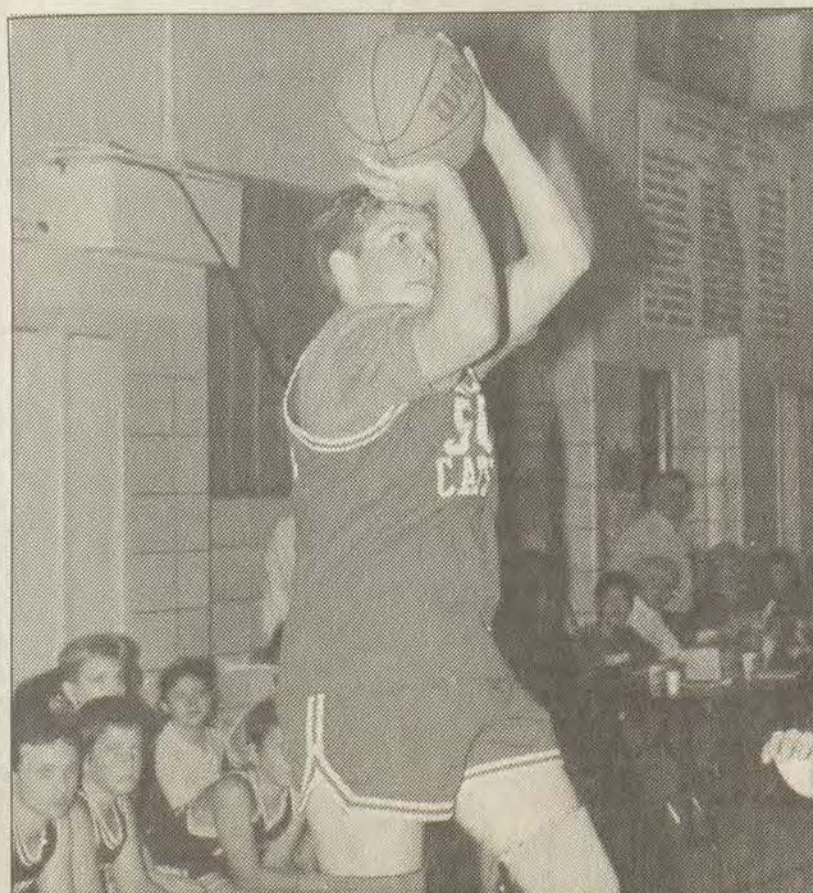

After a Prestonsburg time out, the Blackcats showed more patience on offense as Jones hit a eight footer, and Stepp followed with a lay up on a nice pass from David Gearheart. Allen could get no closer than the final score of eight points.

Caldwell scored nine points for the Blackcats. Mike Goble added six points.

Porter lead the Eagles in scoring with 13 points. Reitz had 10 and Jamie Blackburn tossed in six.

Allen 12 8 3 15 (38): Cory Reitz, 5 0-0 10; Mat Porter, 5 3-4 13; Phillip Patton, 1 1-2 3; Jamie Blackburn, 3 0-0 6; Joe Howell, 1 0-0 2; S. Williams, 1 0-0 2; T. Nunemaker, 0 2-2 2.

Prestonsburg 17 6 16 7 (46): Chad Caldwell, 4 1-1 9; Charles Shell, 1 0-0 2; Mike Goble, 3 0-0 6; David Gearheart, 2 0-0 4; Dammion Stepp, 9 0-0 18; Martin Newberry, 2 0-2 4; Greg Jones, 1 0-0 2; J. Wicker, 0 1-2 1.

Good For Two

Dammion Stepp (50) hit this shot against Prater at Prestonsburg for two of his game high 19 points. The Blackcats defeated the Cougars, 72-35.

MCA Tournament 'Huge Success;' Plans Are Made For Next Season

By Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Mountain Christian Academy Invitational Tournament is history. According to MCA coach Harold Tackett, it has been declared a tremendous success. The tournament, played before an estimated crowd of 800 each night, drew the praise of participating teams in the tournament. The school's facilities are well suited for grade school basketball.

"This is an ideal size gym to play in. They certainly have a nice facility here," Paintsville coach Bob Daniels stated.

"This is a good tournament for grade school basketball," Allen coach David Mosley remarked. "We've been runners-up the last two years here. Beaver beat us last year in three overtimes in the finals."

This year's winner gets an automatic bid to the tournament next season, with a chance to defend their title according to Tackett.

"We try to take at least two county teams along with our team (MCA) and some of the out of county teams each year," he explained. "We try to not pair up a county team against another county team in the opening rounds. Next year we hope to have two Pike County and two Magoffin County teams."

Tackett hopes the tournament allows other schools and parents to see their facilities and what they have to offer.

"We look to grow here at MCA," Tackett says. "We want to get more kids. Next year we will have a girls' tournament and there is already talk in the school board about new uniforms and warmups for the team. We want to support the girls the same as we do the boys."

The MCA tournament is sponsored by the school's Parent Teacher Organization.

"All the work done in this tournament has been accomplished by volunteers, except for the referees," says Tackett. "The money we raise here goes for the kids. We will buy computers out the proceeds and some of it will go to pay for extra teachers."

Looking Over The Offense

Harold Red Devils point guard, Chris Potter looks over the Red Devils offense in fourth quarter action against Paintsville in the MCA Invitational basketball tournament. Potter scored 19 points against the Tigers in his teams 55-48 victory.

Local Basketball Officials Examine Changes In Rules

By Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

A new season is on the horizon for high school basketball. The season will officially open on Nov. 28 as several area teams will begin play. But the players won't be the only ones starting a new season — the referees will as well.

For many of the officials in Floyd County, the season began when grade school basketball began in September. Some use this time and games to prepare for the upcoming high school season.

There have been a few rule changes this year and some officials feel they are for the better. Others reflect on the biggest changes they have seen in basketball since they have been officiating.

Wendell Wallen will begin his 15th season as an official. Wallen, one of the top referees in the 15th Region, also calls a lot of grade school games. Wallen sees the elimination of the jump ball as the biggest change in the sport since he has been officiating.

"The elimination of the jump ball is supposed to speed up the game," Wallen stated recently. "It has been a big change."

Under the old rules, a jump occurred when two opposing players had control of the ball at the same time. Now, the alternating possession rule applies in most situations that previously called for a jump ball. The only times the ball is jumped is at the beginning of the game and if an overtime takes place.

Wallen said this season's rule changes will allow coaches more freedom to move around — they can stand on their feet and coach their team so long as they do not address the official.

The trail official only has to handle the basketball only on the first free throw. On the second attempt the lead official (the one under the basket) handles the charity tosses.

Dale Conn, who has been officiating basketball for three years, is also a registered football referee and baseball umpire. Conn agrees with Wallen that the jump ball elimination is a big change in basketball. Conn was pleased to see the "seat belt rule" taken off of coaches to give them more freedom to coach their team during the actual game.

As far as crowd problems, the two officials have experienced no problems so far this season.

Charles Collins has been officiating on and off for six years. He sees the elimination of the jump ball not as a change but an extraction from the game.

"A big change today in all sports is that no one letters in more than one sport," says Wimpy Clark, who has been officiating for the past six years. "Most of your athletes today letter in just one sport."

Officiating has become a sometimes threatening occupation, in that when a fan does not understand the rules, — and there are many who do not — they may verbally or even physically attack the referee.

The consensus among officials is that fans are often abusive because they don't understand the game's rules.

"In refereeing you can't have rabbit ears," Collins says. "I don't listen to the fans."

Charles Collins
"I don't hear the fans..."

Wimpy Clark
"Players don't letter in more than one sport."

Wendell Wallen
"The elimination of the jump ball was the biggest change."

Dale Conn
"I agree with Wendell..."

Paintsville v. Mountain Christian Academy

Guard Scott Holbrook scored 20 points to lead the Paintsville Elementary Tigers to a 82-19 victory over the Mountain Christian Academy in the opening game of the MCA Invitational Tournament played last week. The Tigers placed three players in double figures with Heath Preston scoring 16 points and Jon Holbrook tallying 14.

MCA was led in scoring by Daniel Risner with nine points. Brandon Moore added five points for the Falcons.

the second game of the MCA Invitational tournament by the score of 47-42. Chad Caldwell tossed in 17 points for the winners. David Gearheart added eight in the Blackcat win.

Keith Hamilton tossed in 22 points for the Betsy Layne team. Vince Williams had 12 points.

Both teams were tied at the end of the first quarter at 8-8. Betsy Layne scored only four points in the second stanza as the Blackcats tallied 13 to lead at the half 21-12. Trailing 37-23 going into the final period, Betsy Layne mounted a comeback that fell short as the Bobcats outscored the Blackcats 19-10 in the quarter.

Betsy Layne v. Prestonsburg

The Prestonsburg Blackcats upended the Bobcats of Betsy Layne in

Beaver v. Harold

The Harold Red Devils placed three players in double figures in defeating the Beaver Beaver's 46-25 in basketball action of the MCA Tournament. Chris Potter had 14 points to lead the Red Devils in that department. Brian Hunter added 12 points while Barry Clark tossed in 10 points. Steve Tackett had six points, while Greg Hunter and Mike Newman score two points each.

Mike Thornberry led the Beaver's with 12 points. Rodney Bentley tallied eight and Kevin Huff scored five.

Beaver held a 14-10 half time lead, as they were able to stay with the Red Devils in the first half. Harold led 22-20 going into the fourth quarter, and a 24-5 blitz in the final stanza was too much for the Beaver's.

Allen v. Hindman

Left handed Cory Reitz scored 19 points in leading his team, the Allen Eagles, to a 45-36 victory over the Yellowjackets of Hindman. The Eagles got balanced scoring from all their players in subduing the Yellowjackets. Jamie Blackburn added eight points for the Eagles and Matt Porter, Phillip Patton and Joe Howell tossed in six points each.

Jimmy Perkins led the Yellowjackets in scoring with 10 points. Tim Bentley had eight points for Hindman in the loss. Randall Couch and Kevin Stone added seven and six points respectively.

The Eagles held a 24-15 half time lead. The Beaver's cut it to five, 28-23 at the end of the third period, outscoring the Eagles, 8-4 in the quarter.

Paintsville v. Prestonsburg

In the first semifinal round, Paintsville held off a good Prestonsburg team to win by a 31-29 score and advance to the final round. Danny Wells led the Tigers in scoring with nine points. Jon Holbrook and Heath Preston each added six points. David Gearheart led the Blackcats with 10 points and Dammon Stepp tossed in nine points.

The two teams played to a 3-3 score in the first period as neither team could find the basket. Prestonsburg managed to lead at the half, 12-11 in the low scoring affair. Paintsville held a third quarter lead of 24-22.

In the fourth period, Prestonsburg turned the ball over on their first three possessions. Paintsville was also guilty of turning the ball over three times. With Paintsville on top, 29-24, Chad Caldwell hit two free throws with 3:14 to make the score 29-26. A free throw by Dammon Stepp and one by Greg Jones cut the lead to one, 29-28. Another by Stepp with 1:00 to tied the game at 29-29. Holbrook's bucket gave Paintsville a 31-29 lead and Prestonsburg had the ball with 20 seconds to go, but threw the ball out of bounds for a crucial turnover. Trent Lemaster's was fouled after the toss and he missed the front of a one-and-one. Prestonsburg had a final shot at it with 15 seconds to go when Jones tried a 10 footer and missed.

Harold v. Allen

In the semifinal round of the MCA tournament, Harold slipped by a good Allen team, 44-42. Barry Clark led the Red Devils in scoring with 19 points. Brian Hunter was held to only nine points while Chris Potter tossed in eight.

Allen was topped by their outstanding guard, Cory Reitz, with 19 points. Mat Porter tossed in eight points while Phillip Patton and Jamie Blackburn added six each.

Allen had a ten point advantage going into the locker room at the half, 26-16 and led at the third stop, 34-27.

In the final quarter, with 50 seconds to go in the game, Mike Newman took an offensive rebound and put it back in to make it 42-37. Allen turned the ball over by throwing the ball out of bounds. Clark then score from the baseline making it 42-39. On their next possession, Reitz tripped, losing the ball to Potter, who drove the length of the court for a basket to cut it to two, 42-41. With 20 seconds remaining, Patton was fouled. He missed the free throw and Clark pulled down the rebound and a pass to Brian Hunter resulted in an Allen foul on Hunter. With 11 seconds showing, Harold called a time out. On the free throw, Hunter missed and Clark pulled down the rebound and missed the shot. Newman rebounded and missed from underneath, and Clark grabbed the ball and put it back in and he was fouled on the play with one second to go. Clark converted the charity toss for a 44-42 victory for the Red Devils.

Wild Side

Tournament anglers are an ambitious bunch. Most dedicated contestants give their all while on the water, and then spend their remaining free time pondering ways to improve their strategies and skills. New techniques are constantly being developed, old ones continuously being improved, and a steady flow of new lures is added to the burgeoning stockpile. The end result of this is that, while we become learned in the new advancements continually being made in the bass fishing arena, we often lose touch with many of the more basic lures and techniques. Such is the case with the Carolina-rigged do-nothing worms. If you believe these lures are too basic for your tournament needs, you're wrong...dead wrong!

FROM THE CAROLINAS, AND COAST-TO-COAST

The first stick-like do-nothing worms were created in 1955 by Lloyd Deaver, a Gastonia, North Carolina, native who felt that most plastic worms of the day were too large. Deaver believed that a smaller worm would catch more fish, and one with the hooks molded in would be easier to use.

Deaver's worms were embarrassingly simple to use, but tremendously effective nevertheless. Strangely enough, tournament anglers paid the bait little heed. That changed virtually overnight, however, when Jack Chancellor, a professional tournament angler from Phenix City, Alabama, "discovered" the worms in 1979.

Chancellor began experimenting with a few of Deaver's worms, which were given to him by a friend, and by the early 1980's, he had developed a devastatingly effective tournament fishing system around the worm. In five consecutive B.A.S.S. tournaments in 1980/81, Chancellor finished no lower than 15th place and very nearly claimed the B.A.S.S. Masters Classic crown in 1981. In 1982, he used his new-found lure to capture a second place finish in the Classic, and Chancellor finally won the Classic in 1985. That tournament, and all of his success in the 5 years prior to it, were a direct result of his do-nothing worms. Chancellor was so enamored of the lure and its unique potential, especially for tournament anglers, that he formed his own bait company in 1981 and began manufacturing the worm under the Do-Nothing logo. Chancellor's lures are not markedly different than those made by Deaver. (Jack Chancellor Lure Company, P.O. Box 1608, Phenix, AL 36867).

Eufaula, Alabama based Mann's Bait Company entered the do-nothing market with a line of worms called Limit Finders, all of which feature appendages which can be slipped over the hook points to create a virtually weedless worm. The original Limit Finder is a 5-inch copy of Deaver's worm. Mann's Super Limit Finder is a 5-inch curly-tailed worm, and the Magnum model is a 7-inch 3-hooked version for anglers who prefer a larger lure. (Mann's Bait Co., 604 State Docks Rd., Eufaula, AL 36027).

For nearly 20 years, the do-nothing worms remained virtually unchanged. But West Point bass guide Ron Savage, in his own right a tournament wizard, has been working to improve the lure. In 1983, Savage decided that a worm with a little more built-in action might increase his success, and quickly designed a worm which is now rapidly becoming one of the hottest lures on tournament trails across the country.

Unlike other do-nothings, the Savage Worm comes pre-rigged with a 42-inch leader of 14-pound test monofilament. Anglers familiar with the do-nothings will quickly note that both of the hooks in the Savage worm are set in the head of the bait. But the most striking difference between Savage's worm and the rest is the bend in his worm. When packaged, the worms are doubled and wrapped with the leader, thus creating a permanent bend in the worm. Basically, that bend causes the worm to spiral as it swims through the water, and imparts far more action to the Savage Worm than has previously been attained in any of the other do-nothings.

The original Savage Worm is a 6-inch version utilizing two #4 hooks. The Pro model is thicker 6-inch worm equipped with two #2 hooks, while the Magnum is a 7-inch worm. The Savage Lizard is a 5-inch short-worm featuring a long, curly-tail, and the Savage Crawfish Worm is similar to the Lizard but is equipped with a multi-tentacled cap on the lure's head. All Savage baits are equipped with weedguards which, if desired, can be slipped over the hook points. (Ron Savage may be reached at 404/884-6232, or at Highland Marina 404/882-3437. For worm information, write: Savage Worms, P.O. Box 2602, LaGrange, GA 30240).

THE COMPLETE TOURNAMENT ANGLER

The tremendous knowledge base of most tournament bass anglers mandates that, to be a true contender, a competitor must be well versed in bass behavior and biology, as well as adept at virtually all known categories of bass lures. "And this definitely includes the do-nothing worms," says Paul Elias, the 1982 B.A.S.S. Masters Classic champ from Laurel, MS.

By far, the gravest complaint that many competitors hold against these little worms is that they tend to catch smaller fish. Elias responds: "Smaller is a relative term. If you consider a livewell full of 15-inch bass smaller fish, then the bait does produce smaller fish. But I'll take that livewell full of 15-inch fish in any tournament, any day...and that is what these worms do for me. I can use the worms in most lakes or rivers and quickly catch a limit of decent keepers. After I've put those fish in the boat, I can spend the remaining time searching for big fish and culling my limit. When you think of do-nothing worms in that light, then no other lure can compare with them."

One of the first baits which Elias will throw when arriving at a tournament site is a 5-inch Mann's Limit Finder in a catalpa pattern (almost a lime green color). "There are very few lures and colors which will catch bass in virtually every body of water across the country, but this is one of them," Elias notes.

Sonny Lee, a veteran tournament angler from Knoxville, TN, believes that do-nothing worms are the easiest technique for tournament anglers to effectively cover deepwater structures. "Many anglers are simply not adept at deepwater structure fishing, but tournament angling demands it from time to time. If you are not skilled in deepwater fishing techniques, a do-nothing worm is your best strategy." Lee won the $25,000 Hungry Fisherman Classic in 1988 by dragging a Savage worm across a small hump, catching more than 100 fish through the 2-day contest.

Lee goes on to say, "These worms allow relatively inexperienced tournament anglers to compete with the best fishermen on the circuits. If you fish them all day on structures which the bass should be holding to according to the season, then you will catch fish. Basing your total tournament strategy on the worms will often fail you, but using them to compliment your other tactics and techniques will lead you to success."

The cherry on the top of the do-nothing sundae is the fact that these worms are productive throughout the year. As Sonny Lee noted, if you will fish them on structures which historically hold bass for the particular season, you will eventually locate and then catch fish with the worms.

Rather than passing off these little worms as amateur baits, use them to compliment your tournament strategies. As Jack Chancellor, Paul Elias, Sonny Lee, and Ron Savage have discovered, do-nothings can often tip the scales in your favor.

McDowell Opens Season With 48-47 Victory Over Mullins

By Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

McDowell's coach, Cassandra Keathley, and her Lady Daredevils opened their 1989-90 basketball season on a winning note last week with a thrilling come from behind 48-47 victory over the Lady Tigers of Mullins High School, in the first round action of the Millard Boys and Girls Invitational Basketball Tournament at Millard.

Both teams showed opening game jitters in the first quarter of play as each missed easy attempts at the basket and were guilty of some early turnovers.

Mullins took a 2-0 lead with 6:54 to go in the first quarter on a basket by Susan Kelly. Debbie Fannin tied the game with a six footer, and Lori Bryant's bucket put the Lady Daredevils on top 4-2. Misty Haynes scored on a lay up to tie it at 4-4. Play became sluggish for both teams as Haynes' basket just before the buzzer gave Mullins a 8-6 first quarter lead.

With Mullins leading 14-12 with 2:16 remaining in the second stanza, McDowell scored six unanswered points to take an 18-14 lead, on baskets by Priscilla Crawford, Bryant and two free throws by Crawford.

Kelly's score made it 18-16 and after McDowell turned the ball over, Haynes was fouled. Haynes missed both free throws, but Sabrina Justice took the offensive rebound and was fouled on the put back attempt. Justice's connected on both free throws to tie the game just before half time, 18-18.

Mullins took a 24-21 lead at the 5:08 mark of the third period after three turnovers by McDowell on consecutive possessions. Jenny Slone slipped by the Lady Tigers defense for a lay up and was fouled on the shot for a three point play to tie the score at 24-24. Bryant picked off an errant pass off the Lady Daredevil's press and scored to give McDowell a 26-24 lead. Haynes came back with a three point play, on a drive to the basket she scored and was fouled. She converted the free throw to put the Lady Tigers up 27-26.

The lead switched hands with Mullins on top, 29-28 with 2:34 remaining. Slone then went to work as she got the ball in the middle, and with some nice moves to the basket, put the Lady Daredevils up 32-29.

Crawford added two charity tosses to make it 34-39. Kelly hit a short jumper before the third stanza ended to make it 34-31.

Slone opened the fourth period with another nice move underneath, off a feed by Bryant, to give the Lady Daredevils their biggest lead at 36-29.

Turnovers plagued the Lady Daredevils as the offense was standing around not going to the ball. Two uncontested lay ups by Haynes brought the Lady Tigers back to within one point at 36-35.

After Slone missed the front end of a one-and-one, Kelly hit a 18 footer and Haynes followed with a 15 footer to give Mullins a 39-36 lead. Slone's turn around basket made it 39-38. Mullins went up 41-38 on a basket by Haynes. Bryant's basket followed by a Slone free throw tied the game at 41-41. Crawford fouled Haynes to pick up her fourth foul with 3:54 remaining. Haynes connected on the free throw to give Mullins a 42-41 lead. Bryant tied the score on a free throw from the charity line and Haynes followed with a eight footer for a 44-42 Mullins lead. Bryant pulled down an offensive rebound and fouled on the shot. She connected on the first one and missed the second to cut the lead to one, 44-43.

Haynes took the ball on a drive, and Crawford was whistled for her fifth personal foul on a play that could have been called charging. Haynes hit both free throws to put the Lady Tigers out in front, 46-43. On a McDowell missed shot, Shelby Howell pulled off an offensive rebound and scored to make it 46-45.

After a violation on Mullins, Slone slipped through the middle for a basket to give McDowell what should have been a 47-46 lead. However, the points were never placed on the scoreboard and McDowell still trailed by one, 46-45. With 58 seconds remaining, Bryant's free throw tied the game (?) at 46-46. Kelly was fouled with 41 seconds to go and made the first one to put the Lady Tigers up, 47-46. With 13 seconds to go in the game, Bryant scored to give McDowell a 48-47 lead. On a close play, Haynes took the ball to the basket and was crowded by Mullins, but Haynes was called for a charging foul, picking up her fifth personal with just seven seconds showing. McDowell held on to win the contest, 48-47.

Bryant and Slone shared scoring honors with 16 points each. Crawford tossed in 14 points for the Lady Daredevils. Bryant pulled down 15 rebounds in the game. McDowell shot 57 percent from the free throw line hitting 12 of 21 attempts. Several of those came in the first half.

Mullins was led in scoring by Haynes, an eighth grader, with 25 points. Kelly finished with 17 points. Mullins shot only 44 percent from the free throw hitting only eight of 18 attempts.

McDowell 6 12 16 14 (48): Shelby Howell, 1 0-0 2; Kristy Mullins, 0 0-1 0; Lori Bryant, 6 4-8 16; Priscilla Crawford, 5 4-6 14; Jenny Slone, 6 4-6 16; Debbie Fannin, 1 0-0 2.
Mullins 8 10 13 16 (47): Susan Kelly, 8 1-3 17; Christy Akers, 10-0 2; Michelle Rogers, 0 0-2 0; Misty Haynes, 9 5-11 25; Sabrina Justice, 0 2-2 2.

High Flying Eagles 'Swoop' Past McDowell, 53-43

By Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Merdith Slone's Osborne Eagles keep flying high and remain undefeated in grade school as they begin the last two weeks of the schedule before tournament time.

The Eagles defeated a good McDowell team Friday night, 53-43 to win their seventh game of the season against no losses. John Hall scored 16 points, as Osborne placed three players in double figures, something they have done consistently all season, to lead the Eagles to victory. Charles Johnson had 13 points for the Eagles while Chad Slone tallied 12.

Osborne built a nine point first quarter lead at 14-5 and led at the half 26-19.

McDowell was led by Allen Moore with 15 points. Mark Duddleson and Chris Hamilton each added seven points. Shannon Newsome scored six as did Matt Rose.

"We are still winning," Coach Slone remarked, "and we have two games left. Stumbo canceled out on us and hopefully we can reschedule that game."

McDowell 5 14 13 11 (43): Matt Rose, 6; Mark Duddleson, 7; Shannon Newsome, 6; Allen Moore, 15; Chris Hamilton, 7.
At Osborne 14 12 11 16 (53): John Hall, 16; Charles Johnson, 13; Chad Slone, 12; John Preston, 6; Mike Crager, 6.

Going Up Hard

Michelle Cook (45) grabs an offensive rebound and goes back up hard as she is fouled from behind by an Mullins player. The Lady Tigers fell to McDowell 48-47.

West Liberty Kiwanis - Hardee's Shootout Scheduled For Nov. 25.

By Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The West Liberty Kiwanis in conjunction with Hardee's will be sponsoring the basketball shootout at the new Morgan County Middle School gymnasium. Eight teams will be competing in the shootout.

In the first game scheduled to begin at 4:30 p.m., Lexington Henry Clay will play Morgan County. At 5:45 p.m. Barboursville will take on Magoffin County. East Carter goes against George Rogers Clark (Clark County) at 7 p.m. In the final game of the shootout, Betsy Layne takes on Russell at 8:15 p.m.

All proceeds from the shootout will go toward the Kiwanis' portion to help purchase bleachers for the new Morgan County High School gymnasium now under construction.

According to the shootout director, Scott Johnson, the Kiwanis Club will be buying the bleachers for the new gym.

"The contractors are expected to be completed with the gym by December 15 at that time the bleachers will be installed," Johnson stated. "We had Pleasant Ridge Park scheduled for our shootout, but they bought out their contract and decided to have their own. They saw that it was a money maker and wanted to have their own."

Each team will play two 15 minute halves. Admission to the shootout will be $4. If you want to see some good basketball, come to the Morgan County middle school and spend the evening.

Area Bankers Offer PEP To Local Students

By Tess A. Whitmer,
Staff Writer

This school year makes the third year in which area bankers have come together to present Floyd Countians with information about banking and economics.

The group, Personal Economics

Program (PEP), is a free and informative program to help local schools provide students with practical knowledge and experience in personal economics and business.

Classroom topics include Banking as a Business, Banks and Banking Services, Personal Money Management, Consumer Credit Loans, Checking Account Management, Careers in Banking, Banking & You, and Buyer Be Wise. Teachers can select the topics to be discussed based on the age level of the students and special interest, according to Janie K. King, the PEP Coordinator for the Eastern Kentucky area.

According to King, Group 9, which consists of 18 counties, made a total of 449 presentations, making contact with 10,492 students last year, the majority of which were in Floyd County. Group 9 also created an essay contest which was so successful it was accepted statewide, King noted.

King added that this year Kentucky was honored as the top award winner in the Excellence in PEP Communications Competition and also received the 1989 PEP State Award of Excellence.

Kentucky began its PEP program in 1987, sponsored by the Young Bankers Division of the Kentucky Bankers Association.

"PEP bankers recognize that our young people are the leaders of tomorrow," Kingsaid. "Therefore, they are going the extra mile to make a difference. Each year PEP bankers reach more and more students across the county and the state on a personal level."

PEP presentations are also made to community groups, civic clubs, continuing education groups, college classes and senior citizens, to name a few. Classes are even given to children in first grade, as was done Tuesday, Nov. 7, at Prestonsburg Elementary School.

Diane Turner's first grade class was presented a Disney cartoon entitled Buyer Beware which taught the children to "think for themselves and not be influenced by friends or advertising when it comes to buying something."

King said that this was especially appropriate for young children since they are the age group with the highest percentage of income to spend on wants. "We try to teach the children to get into the habit of taking care of needs first and then buying the things they want, and not to forget to set some aside for savings."

King commented that the presentations, which last anywhere from 1 to 1 1/2 hours, are well received by the students and they are getting more and more requests everyday to come to schools and give the lesson. "We will go to any school in the county," she said. "The banks in Floyd, Johnson, Perry and Pike Counties are the primary participants in this area and we are hoping to get banks in the other counties more involved. But, the bank executives have to be willing to let their employees be away from the bank to do this."

Area PEP Bankers

Applications For Women's School At Berea College Being Accepted Now

Berea College is accepting applications for its Feb. 11 to March 3, 1990 session of the New Opportunity School for Women, a career exploration and educational program.

The school, which is free, is designed for women 35 to 50 years of age who have not attended college. Applicants must be of modest income, have a high school diploma or GED certificate and demonstrate motivation and an eagerness to learn.

Rooms and meals are provided at no cost and participants can apply for travel and child-care grants. Children cannot accompany their mothers to the campus.

Through testing and individual counseling, job skills and interests will be identified and participants will be placed in part-time jobs at the college or in the community. They also will learn to write resumes and practice job interview skills. Seminars and other special sessions will focus on computer skills, self-confidence and stress management.

Educational and cultural events include classes in Appalachian literature, lectures and field trips.

The deadline for applying is Dec. 22. Requests for applications or additional information should be addressed to Jane Stephenson, director, New Opportunity School for Women, CPO 2276, Berea College, Berea, KY 40404. Qualified applicants will be invited to the campus for personal interview, with the college paying transportation costs.

Enrollment is limited to 15 participants.

Explaining The Facts

Pamela Herrick, an employee of The Bank Josephine and a PEP Banker, explains to Diane Turner's first grade class at Prestonsburg Elementary the reasons for spending their money and how to do it more wisely. She also explained the use of coupons, and told the children how they could help out their families by saving these.

Although considered by some statisticians to be a vanishing breed, the traditional homemaker is in fact no less an important and vital part of American society in the late 1980s than in earlier years. The following menu includes dishes which, due to their complexity or the time required to prepare them, require the attention and care best provided by an experienced cook who has the time to devote to preparing each dish.

This menu is a rich and elegant repast. The woody flavors of the Wild Rice, Sausage and Oyster Stuffing serve as a perfect flavor complement not only to the roast turkey but also to the smoky-sweet Maple Glazed Brussels Sprouts and Chestnuts. The velvety texture and intricate taste of the Sherry and Turkey Giblet Gravy goes well with turkey, the stuffing or, everyone's favorite, creamy mashed potatoes.

*Recipes Included

WILD RICE, SAUSAGE AND OYSTER STUFFING
1 6-ounce package wild rice

1 pint shucked fresh oysters
1 pound bulk pork sausage
8 Tbsps unsalted butter
5 medium ribs celery, diced (about 2 cups)
3 medium carrots, peeled and coarsely shredded
1 large onion, chopped (about 1 cup)
3/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced (about 4 1/2 cups)
1/3 cup brandy, optional
1 8-ounce package cornbread stuffing crumbs
1 cup hazelnuts, coarsely chopped and lightly toasted
1 egg, lightly beaten
Salt to taste
Pepper to taste

Cook wild rice according to package directions. Drain. Transfer rice to large mixing bowl. Drain oysters, reserving 1/2 cup of liquid. Coarsely chop oysters. Add to wild rice in bowl. In a large skillet over medium-high heat, cook sausage until browned, stirring occasionally to break meat into small pieces. Drain thoroughly. Add sausage to rice mixture.

In same skillet, melt butter over medium-high heat. Stir in the celery, carrots and onion. Cook and stir for 5 to 7 minutes or until vegetables are crisp-tender. Stir in the mushrooms, brandy and reserved oyster liquid. Cook and stir for 10 minutes more or until liquid has evaporated. Add vegetable mixture to rice mixture, stirring until well combined. Stir in cornbread stuffing crumbs and hazelnuts, tossing lightly until well mixed.

Stir in beaten egg until well blended. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Turn stuffing into a greased 3-quart casserole. Bake, uncovered, in a 350 degree oven for 40 minutes. Or, use to stuff a 16- to 20-pound turkey. Place any remaining stuffing in desired casserole and bake alongside turkey during the last 40 minutes of roasting. Makes 12 to 14 servings.

SHERRY AND TURKEY GIBLET GRAVY

Slowly simmering the giblets that come tucked in every Butterball turkey and then adding them, finely minced, to gravy always produces the richest and best tasting product. An extra special secret to the look and flavor of this recipe is the use of soy sauce, which simultaneously imparts a saltiness and appealing bountiful brown color to the finished gravy.

1 Butterball Turkey
5 cups water
1 small onion, peeled and cut into quarters
1 bay leaf
1/2 tsp dried thyme, crushed
1/2 cup medium dry sherry or chicken stock
3 Tbsps all-purpose flour
2 Tbsps soy sauce
Freshly ground pepper, to taste
1/3 cup heavy cream
Prepare thawed Butterball turkey for roasting according to package directions. Remove neck from body cavity and giblets from neck cavity. In a medium saucepan, combine neck and giblets with the water. Add the onion, bay leaf and thyme. Bring to a boil, skimming the surface of any foam. Reduce heat. Cover; simmer for 1 1/2 hours. Add the liver to the saucepan and simmer 30 minutes more. Strain broth, reserving giblets and liver. Discard neck. Finely chop giblets and liver. Set giblets and broth aside.

When turkey is done, degrease pan juices, reserving 3 tablespoons of the fat. Add sherry or the chicken stock to the juices remaining in the roasting pan. Place pan over the stove burners on medium-high heat. Bring mixture to boil, stirring and scraping up any brown bits that cling to the bottom of the pan. Reduce heat. Simmer 5 minutes more; remove from heat.

Place the reserved turkey fat in a medium saucepan. Whisk in the flour. Cook and stir over medium heat for 2 minutes. Gradually whisk in 2 1/2 cups of the reserved giblet broth along with the pan juices. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat. Simmer 3 to 5 minutes more or until gravy is thickened and bubbly. Add soy sauce and pepper. Stir in the finely chopped giblets and heavy cream. Serve with roasted Butterball turkey. Makes about 4 cups.

MAPLE GLAZED BRUSSELS SPROUTS AND CHESTNUTS

What asparagus is to springtime and vibrant vine-ripened tomatoes are to summer, Brussels sprouts are to the winter months. The vegetable's variant hues of green and grace of structure make it an elegant accompaniment. This particular smoky and sweet preparation goes well with a dramatic Thanksgiving turkey.

24 fresh chestnuts, peeled* (about 1 pound)
2 cups chicken stock or canned chicken broth
6 slices bacon, diced
1 1/2 pounds fresh Brussels sprouts, trimmed and blanched
2 1/2 Tbsps maple syrup
Salt, to taste
Pepper, taste

In a medium saucepan, combine chestnuts and chicken stock. Bring just to boiling. Reduce heat. Simmer over medium heat for 25 minutes or until chestnuts are tender. Remove from heat. Drain chestnuts through a sieve, reserving 3 tablespoons for the stock. Set chestnuts and stock aside.

Meanwhile, in a medium skillet, cook bacon until crisp. Drain bacon on paper towels. Pour off drippings in skillet, reserving 2 tablespoons. Cut Brussels sprouts in half lengthwise. Add to reserved drippings in skillet. Stir in chestnuts and reserved 3 tablespoons stock. Stir in maple syrup and cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, for 3 minutes or until liquid is reduced to a glaze-like consistency. Add bacon pieces. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve immediately. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

*Note: To easily peel chestnuts, cut an X on the flat side of each chestnut with a sharp knife. Roast on baking sheet in a 350 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Cool completely. Peel. Or, cut X above and arrange chestnuts in a single layer in a shallow microwave-safe dish. Microwave, uncovered, for 8 minutes. Cool completely. Peel.

PUMPKIN PECAN COBBLER

Filling
2 eggs, beaten
1 can (29 ounces) solid-pack pumpkin
1 can (5 ounces) evaporated milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar

1/2 cup sugar
4 tps baking powder
1/2 tsp salt
1 cup milk
1 tsp vanilla
1/2 tsp shredded orange peel
1/2 cup margarine or butter, melted

Preheat oven to 325 degree. Blend together all filling ingredients in large bowl. Set aside. To prepare crust, combine flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in medium bowl. Add milk, vanilla and orange peel; stir together until blended. Then stir in margarine. Pour half of batter into buttered 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking dish. Spoon filling over batter. Then evenly pour remaining batter over filling. Bake 45 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Serve at room temperature. Makes 12 servings.

The president led the group in reciting the "Kiwanianne Creed."

Mabel Jean LeMaster gave the devotions, basing her discussion on Matthew 10:41-42. She gave a reading entitled "A Cool Gift," and added that "Little unnoticed 'Nothings' can be great in God's eyes," then ended her devotions with prayer.

The minutes were read by the secretary, Dorothy Osborne.

It was decided that a monetary gift, in memory of Mary Lou Layne, would be made to the First Presbyterian Church here, of which she was long a member.

It was also decided that cards would be sent to Mary Margaret Webb, Dixie Webb and Anna May Mellon, members who have been ill, and to another member, Garnett Fairchild, following the loss of her sister, Christine Spradlin.

Jane Wallace, program chairman, presented Jane Bond, former president of this organization and an employee of the Floyd County Health Department, who spoke on "Cervical Cancer."

She said that Southeastern Kentucky has the highest rate of this type of cancer of any part of this state, and emphasized the need for pap smears and cancer screening, pamphlets, entitled "If You are a Woman" were distributed by the speaker, who answered questions from the group.

It was decided that the annual Christmas luncheon would be held Thursday, Dec. 14 at 12:30 p.m. at May Lodge, and that, in lieu of the exchange of gifts, monetary gifts to Hospice of Big Sandy would be made.

Present for this event were: Lucille Nunnery, who was the guest of the president, Hope Whitten; Mabel Jean LeMaster, Jane Bond, Dorothy Osborne, Jane Wallace, Minerva Cooley and Docia Woods.

AARP HOLDS DINNER MEETING

The Jenny Wiley Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) held their regular dinner-meeting Friday, Nov. 17 at 6 p.m. in the dining area of the Highlands Regional Medical Center. Orville Cooley, president, presided and led the group in the blessing and the flag salute.

Following the dinner the president introduced Larry Adams, fire inspector of Prestonsburg, who gave an interesting and worthwhile report on his work here. He said that some of the main fire hazards in homes are: Unvented gas heaters, gas-fired water heaters and kerosene heaters, and he suggested that fire extinguishers and smoke detectors be available, and (in some emergencies) that baking soda, and/or lids be used to extinguish fires. And, of course, that the Fire Department be called. Adams fielded questions from the audience.

Bill Callihan, a member of the Prestonsburg City Council, added that this town has the lowest fire insurance rates in Eastern Kentucky.

The president announced that this would be the last dinner-meeting of the local AARP until March but added that the group had been invited to attend a performance of the Community Chorus, at Prestonsburg Community College on Sunday, Dec. 3.

Delmas Saunders, treasurer, gave the financial report. He said that the sale of Christmas decorations by him and some of the other club members, for the purpose of purchasing gifts for nursing homes, had been highly successful.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Carmie Sturgill.

In an impressive ceremony, Chalmer H. Frazier, a member of the AARP State Legislative Committee, installed the following officers and committee chairpersons: Dorothy Osborne, president; Gladys Allen, first vice president; Sarah Laven (in absentia), secretary; Delmas Saunders, treasurer; Mildred Honey May (in absentia), health care; Otela Smiley, program; Sina Blanton, community service; Myrtle Allen, telephone; Docia Woods, publicity; Ruby Akers, legislative; and Jack Freed, Orville Cooley and Jimmie Goble, advisory committee.

The new president, Osborne, talked briefly, asking the cooperation of the group to help her continue the good work done by former presidents, Freed, Goble and Cooley, who received "Certificates of Appreciation" and pins bearing the AARP insignia, and pins were presented by Cooley to members who paid their dues.

Cooley presented Osborne with a pin and Chalmer Frazier gave her the AARP Charter and gavel.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer by outgoing president Cooley.

Present for this event were: Mr. and Mrs. Orville Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. James E. HRMCAUXILIARY MEETS IN CAFETERIA

The Highland Regional Medical Center Auxiliary met Saturday, Nov. 18 at 2 p.m. in the cafeteria there. Gladys Allen, president, presided. Danese Amburgey led the group in prayer. The minutes were read by Annis Clark. The financial report was given by Kathy Allen, director of volunteer services there.

It was announced that officers now serving would continue in the same capacities during the coming year and would be installed during the December meeting.

It was learned that the hospitality cart has arrived, and that a new coffee-maker, to be used for families waiting for patients in surgery, has been purchased.

A discussion regarding the next project this group would have for the purpose of purchasing items for the hospital, with proceeds from the gift shop, was held. Kathy Allen will discuss this matter with the administration of the hospital.

Coffee and cookies were served to: Gladys Allen, Jean Burke, Annis Clark, Denise Amburgey, Kathy Allen, Myrtle Burchett, Allie May, and Helen Clark.

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY
SUPPRESSING THE URGE

A cough serves as a productive function in that it forces liquid out of breathing passages. However, this protective reflex brings with it a tickle in the throat that most people find annoying. The FDA has judged three cough suppressants as safe and effective: oral codeine, dextromethorphan, and diphenhydramine hydrochloride. Also know and antitussives, these drugs will decrease coughing by about half. Even though codeine is generally not addictive when taken in small quantities, it is a narcotic. Generally, it is only available in prescription form. Dextromethorphan, a non-narcotic, is available over-the-counter and is generally regarded as "the drug of choice" for coughs. Like codeine, diphenhydramine hydrochloride is a prescriptive drug.

With so many products on the market today, knowing which one is best suited for your particular situation is difficult to discern. The expertise of your pharmacist can prove invaluable at this time. Feel free to consult COOLEY APOTHECARY, when in doubt about any over the counter product. We are also very proud to be able to provide families in this area with whatever medications their physician may prescribe. You'll find us located at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106, and open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3. MasterCard and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments.

HINT: Cough suppressants should not be used when coughs are accompanied by congestion.

Books And Things:

Cooking Up A Storm? Start At The PCC Library

by Trisha A. Morris,
PCC Librarian

November ushers in the two months of the year when cooking is most frequent. With both Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays centered around the family, the kitchen and cook are usually well worn come January. The following books from Prestonsburg Community College's Library can help set the table, find an illusive recipe or turn the traditional meat and potato meal into a vegetarian delight.

Emily Post's Etiquette, by Elizabeth Post. If you're considering entertaining for the holidays, Emily Post's Etiquette can serve as your guide for everything from inviting guests to setting the table.

Written by Elizabeth Post, granddaughter-in-law of the famous Emily Post, this edition has expanded its scope of topics to adapt the social reference to reflect the way we live today. Without servants our table setting might not be as elaborate, and with extended families becoming the norm, "putting up" visiting relatives has relaxed to include hotel rooms.

While remaining the indispensable source for advice on everything from table manners to restaurant protocol, this edition reflects the changes our society has undergone in recent years.

Kentucky Hospitality, edited by Dorothea Cooper. This book, a bicentennial project of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, brings the reader, through essays, illustrations and many tempting recipes, to the very essence of the state's appetite. It has succeeded in selecting the uniqueness of the foods which derived their varied tastes from Indian hunters, frontiersmen and Scotch-Irish immigrants, often meshing with each other to create their own culinary heritage.

From the individually authored essays, all woven around the history of food in Kentucky, to the recipes, ranging from Green Tomato Pie to Slow-Baked Beans, this book is a delight to read and use.

A Foxfire Book of Appalachian Cookery. A treasure trove of generations-old recipes, this book contains over 400 recipes and a heaping amount of lively old-time kitchen lore. If your mouth isn't watering before the end of this Foxfire classic from Appalachian kitchens, you just weren't concentrating.

Representing an antithesis to the impersonal fast-food defrosted dinner experience that has swept the country, Appalachian Cookery is about a time when cooking was cooking, and eating was a wonderful family experience. Here is food that is unpretentious, solid and filling — sweet potato cobbler, Brunswick stew, mayonnaise corn bread, seven-day slaw, butterscotch pie, potato doughnuts and lime pickles. There are also directions for using a wood stove or fireplace for cooking, making homemade yeast, curing pork, gritting corn, parching coffee and open-kettle canning.

With a generous sampling of human conversation to accompany the recipes, this is a book you can put to good use in the kitchen, or simply enjoy for its high spirits and homespun wisdom.

Moosewood Cookbook, by Mollie Katzen. For those of the vegetarian persuasion, Moosewood offers 198 recipes that are as appealing as they are healthful. Relying on such high-protein ingredients as cheese, eggs, nuts, grains and legumes, the dishes here will put meat out of one's mind with no feeling of deprivation or craving.

This cookbook is the spinoff of The Moosewood Restaurant in Ithaca, N.Y., collectively run by 20 members who rotate the duties of chef. Their only dogma is wholesomeness, simplicity and appealing aesthetics. A walk through its pages will find recipes for such wonders as pepper and onion shortcake, mushroom strudel, sweet potato pancakes, gypsy soup and the famous Moosewood fudge brownies.

What's Cooking in Kentucky, by Irene Hayes. Kentucky is famous for its horses and bluegrass, but the state also has a reputation for its good cooking and hospitality. Hayes has gathered the recipes which make up this book from all over the state.

Tabbed for easy usage, it gives recipes for an entire gastronomic delight, from the opening of beverage and appetizer to the always anxiously awaited desserts. With such regional favorites as Kentucky chili, Kentucky style baked beans, fried apples, old-fashioned Kentucky pie, Kentucky stack cake and Kentucky cream candy, this is truly a Kentucky flavored cookbook.

Many personal names precede the recipes: Aunt Minnie's old-fashioned cornbread, Aunt Faye's Chicken Royale and Maude Hall's sweet potatoes, reminding us that most of these treasures have been family traditions handed down through the generations.

This book is sure to be a well-worn favorite reference when searching for just the right recipe for special holiday meals.

What's Cooking for the Holidays, by Irene Hayes. With over 900 recipes to grace all types of family gatherings from picnics to Christmas, this will be the only cookbook you need to help you through those festive times. Intended to help both the beginning and the experienced cook, it has recipes crafted for both their abilities.

A companion to her What's Cooking in Kentucky, Hayes has arranged her book with the same easy finding tabbed index and filled it with all the regional holiday favorites as well as recipes which might add a new touch to those old traditions.

Hayes is a native Kentuckian who dedicates her cookbooks to busy mothers with the hope that "they will find easy recipes that will make cooking for their families a pleasure."

Gas Station Offers Experience, Instruction For David Students

By Pam Shingler
News Correspondent

Lonnie Hurd, a freshman at The David School, is pretty proud of himself. He knows he can run a gas station by himself, at least for a couple of hours at a time. What's more, his teacher believes Hurd is competent to do so.

"If I need to run into town to get a part, I can leave and have confidence that customers will be served," says Hurd's teacher Randy Seal, the school's auto mechanics teacher and manager of the school owned service station.

The only full-service station within several miles, the David station is fully operating station and a teaching laboratory. In the class, called simply Station, students run the operation and learn the basics of service station management, as well as automobile service and repair.

Seal, who has been in charge of the innovative program since 1980, teaches three progressive classes in relation to the station. "For new students, the class focuses on basic station management," says Seal, a soft-spoken, popular instructor. "Here, students learn to operate a cash register, handle charges and credit cards, keep the day sheet record and perform basic maintenance activities."

The second class, more advanced, focuses on the basics of auto mechanics, Seal says. "They learn basically everything about basic maintenance, going through the whole vehicle with maintenance checklist for preventive maintenance."

The third class continues and builds on the second. Here, students actually get to work on water pumps, carburetors and other automobile parts and learn to rebuild engines.

"All of the instruction is step-by-step," says Seal. "The student works at his own individual pace, progressing from class to class. Some can do a whole lot in one semester, while others may take a whole year, and that's all right."

In the meantime, the station is open 75 hours a week to serve local customers. Gordon Tussey, a local resident, says he brings his car to the station regularly. "These are good boys, and Randy sees the work is done right," says Tussey, a retired miner.

Student Hurd enjoys the sense of responsibility he feels when he gets to "run the station" and he likes the nature of the class. "I like the hands on activity," says Hurd. "At the beginning of the year, we had tests and such, but now we get to do."

Dan Greene, director of The David School, says the school took over the Ashland station in 1975 after it had been abandoned for nearly 13 years. Students in the school's shop class, along with volunteers and faculty members, refurbished the building, literally from top to bottom. "At first, it wasn't used for teaching. It just provided employment for some of our students," Greene recalls.

Seal was hired to develop the training component, Green says. "Randy has been instrumental in developing the innovative, hands on curriculum and for conducting an effective laboratory where students can learn."

Greene adds that the station is self supporting and is able to provide part-time employment for selected students.

"It has proven to be a model vocational setting that has been looked at by vocational educators across the state and the nation," Greene says.

Seal and Greene both agree that there's another component to the station, as well. "Beyond the vocational training, it has been greatly effective in developing self confidence in the students," Greene says. "Students are exposed to the public through dealing with customers. When they leave the station, they can leave with a job reference and specific skills."

"The class really teaches responsibility," Seal concurs, "and running a service station is a big responsibility. When they get something right, I can see their self confidence go up."

Seal adds that watching the students grow boosts him, too. "When I get down, they can bring me right back up."

Serving and Learning

Lonnie Hurd of Prestonsburg, left, and James Reed of Garrett, try to unstop the hood vent on Gordon Tussey's car. Hurd and Reed learn about service station management and auto maintenance in "Station" class at The David School, which owns and operates the David Ashland station. Tussey, who lives in the community is one of the student's regular customers.

First Lady Speaks To BLHS About Drop Out Prevention

By Leigh Ann Smith
Journalism Class Reporter
On Friday, Nov. 10 Martha Wilkinson, Kentucky's first lady, visited Betsy Layne High School. Wilkinson, who was in the area for the opening of the new senior citizens center at Betsy Layne, said that she always liked to take advantage of opportunities such as this one to speak at local high schools about a subject that is very important to her — drop out prevention. During her lecture at Betsy Layne High, Wilkinson told the students that in today's world, no one can get far without a basic education. She also stressed the fact that right now, the students themselves are in control of their lives and that the decisions that they make now will affect them the rest of their lives.

Wilkinson also said that she would like to see more high school students tutoring and counseling other students. She said, "Seeing other students who have overcome their frustrations and problems may encourage those who are having doubts about staying in school..."

Among her other efforts to promote better education in Kentucky is "Martha's Army" — a campaign to encourage adults who don't have a high school diploma to get their GED.

When asked about her feelings on education in Kentucky, Mrs. Wilkinson replied, "Let's not dwell on what we didn't do yesterday; let's try to change for today and tomorrow."

Stay In School, Says The First Lady

Martha Wilkinson while in the neighbor recently, took the opportunity to drop by Betsy Layne High School in order to address the Freshman class on the importance of staying in school and learning to value and appreciate an education.

Journalism Class Participates In Environmental Conference

By Charlene Cook
WHS Journalism Class Reporter

The Wheelwright High School journalism class participated in a world-wide environmental conference from Oct. 30 to Nov. 10 on Breadnet telecommunications network. Estill County and Wheelwright are the only two schools in Kentucky taking part in this activity. Among some of the other participants were students from Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland, Montana, Chile, Israel and Peru. The conference, which was held through computer linking, allowed students and teachers to discuss environmental crises in their own areas.

In Livingston, Mont. people have been carelessly disposing of their toxic waste. There was so much waste produced by the railway that when small spills occurred, they weren't properly cleaned up. Last year, the people of Livingston formed an environmental group called LIFE, which has been pushing for a cleanup effort. They are still trying to reach an agreement with the state and EPA, so that it doesn't become a Superfund site. The information came to us from very concerned students in Livingston.

Erich Lagasse, a student at Franklin D. Roosevelt College in Lima, Peru, said that throughout Lima, smog, garbage and sewage cause great problems. Lagasse said that pollution is overlooked because of the pressing problems of terrorism and theft. According to Lagasse, many Peruvians don't know anything about pollution. He told us a story about when he went to the beach to surf and had one of the fins of his surfboard broken by a beer bottle. While he was walking through the sand to leave the beach, he was cut by another bottle.

The environmental discussion began with the students reading the July, 1989 issue of Newsweek, in which an article called "Cleaning Up" described environmental problems. We then came up with five questions commenting on the environment. When the questions were ready and were typed into the computer, Bill Wright, the person in charge of the conference, brought the questions to Senator Al Gore of Tennessee, an environmentally active member of the Senate.

The students here at Wheelwright worked hard, researching and collecting new information about the environment. It's clear that pollution is a serious world problem.

"I feel that this is really great for students to get interested in the environment," said Kevin Isaac, a senior at WHS. "The more we can learn about the current problems of nature, the easier it will be to find ways to preserve the environment."

Lisa Johnson, also a senior at the high school, agrees.

"I think that this is an experience that most of us wouldn't have gotten involved in if it hadn't been for our journalism class here at the high school. Most people don't really know what's going on in this world, but this will help us inform people of what we've learned. Then maybe people can do something about it."

All of the students here at Wheelwright are concerned about air pollution. We hope that something is done to help the environment and make the world a better place to live in. It has to start somewhere. Why not today, here in our community?

Kathryn Youmans, kindergarten teacher at Mountain Christian Academy, is introducing Amanda McDonald to the wonders of the computer. "I find I don't have to reinvent the way I teach in order to use the computer in my classroom," Youmans commented. 4-H News & Events

By Willard Knipp III

In the past week, I was able to visit two more schools to establish 4-H clubs. On Monday I visited Prater

Elementary and on Thursday we established 4-H clubs at Wayland Elementary. We should have word soon as to who they chose to be their officers for this school year.

During this past week our office received word from additional classes at Martin and Betsy Layne Elementaries as to who their elected officials are.

At Martin Elementary, two classes reported election results. In Carolyn Layne's room, Kevin Robinson was selected president, Jason Bevins was chosen vice-president, Jada Webb was chosen secretary and Jennifer Mays was elected to serve as reporter.

Doug DeRossett's seventh grade class also elected officers and chose the following people: Brian Conn, president; Allison Hall, vice-president; Trevor Fitch, secretary; and Charla Bartrum, reporter.

Five Betsy Layne clubs reported the results of their officer elections this past week. In Marilyn Barnes' fourth grade class Chad Swiger was chosen president. The vice-president selected was John Ortega. Filling the slot as secretary will be Jessica Hill and the reporter is Stacy Clark.

Kathy Wagner's fourth grade class selected its officers for this year as well. Kevin Hays is to be the president. Jessica Barrowman is the vice-president. Brandy Lewis fills the bill as secretary and Lisa Shell works as the reporter.

Chosen by their classmates in Ernie Tackett's fifth grade were Carl Hunt, president; Jamie Hall, vice-president; Lori Parks, secretary and Donna Paige, reporter.

Euma Barker's fifth grade chose its officers for the year: Brandi Bryant, president; Holly Prater, vice-president; Brad Kimbler, secretary; and Jamie Dale, reporter.

The last club reporting from Betsy Layne is Coyetta Lawson's sixth grade. They elected Rodney Stewart to be their president. Tara Kidd was elected vice-president. Kristy Lowe was tabbed to be the secretary and Melina Ratliff was chosen as reporter.

Head Start Teacher Receives Credentials

Billie Isaacs, teacher at J.M. Stumbo Head Start Center, has been awarded a Child Development Associate Credential by the Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition in Washington, D.C.

The organization represents the early childhood profession through its affiliation with the National Association for the Education of Young Children.

Isaacs is the eighth Head Start teacher within the Floyd County Head Start Program to acquire CDA certification, according to Janie Smith, Head Start director.

Each candidate who wishes to acquire a CDA must complete a portfolio defining 13 competency areas. The candidate is observed working with young children and is evaluated by a team which early childhood experts and a parent, said Smith. Isaacs is married to Leno Isaacs of Teaberry and they have one child and one grandchild.

Telecourses Offered Next Spring On KET

A graduate education course and seven undergraduate courses in various disciplines will be broadcast on KET and are being offered for credit at Kentucky colleges and universities for the spring semester. Registration is now underway; for a free copy of the Spring 1990 College Credit Telecourses Schedule guide, contact KET Higher Education Manager Mary Olson at (800) 432-0970, ext. 386.

KET telecourses are fully accredited college-level courses. Just as with on-campus courses, students have textbooks, professors, assignments, tests and tuition. The main difference — and what makes telecourses so convenient — is that the majority of the lessons are broadcast on KET.

The spring semester curriculum includes the following courses: America: The Second Century, The Business of Management, Faces of Culture, French in Action, Marketing, Portrait of a Family and Understanding Human Behavior. The graduate course, The Middle School, is designed to help educators become more effective in meeting the needs of middle school students.

KET telecourses are made possible by the Kentucky Council on Higher Education.

PCC To Hold ACT Prep. Class

Prestonsburg Community College will offer a four session, eight hour, intensive ACT preparation class on Monday through Thursday, Dec. 4-7, from 4 to 6 p.m. The class is planned for both high school and college students who plan to take the ACT during this academic year. Many colleges and universities require ACT scores for admission.

The class, taught by PCC faculty members, will give the student an overview of the test and what it entails, some tips on taking standardized tests, and refresher instruction in the subjects covered by the test: English, reading, mathematics and science reasoning.

Interested students are encouraged to call the college's office of continuing education and community services at 886-3863, ext. 278, for registration information and more details.

Sales Expected To Slow Slightly, Then Remain Steady Throughout Fall

As the overall economy cools slightly after its aggressive growth posture during the summer months, home sales also will level off through the remainder of 1989, according to "Outlook for the Economy and Real Estate" from the National Association of Realtors.

As certain indicators point to a slight weakening of the economy, the outlook anticipates a small drop in interest rates. But fears of a recession beginning in 1989 seem to have been unfounded, lending more credence to the notion of a soft landing after several years of rapid economic growth, the outlook says.

Sales of existing and new homes or housing starts in coming months are expected to be steady, overall. For example, the sales rate of existing homes is expected to average 3.38 million units for the second half of 1989, compared to 3.41 million units in the first half. The sales rate of new-home sales is expected to average 685,500 units for the second half, compared to 631,500 units in the first half.

The outlook also notes that despite greater international confidence in the U.S. dollar, the value is much lower than its 1985 peak and will likely contribute to steady, long-term improvement in the trade deficit.

Following are predictions for the real estate industry and economy in general for 1989:

- Sales of existing single-family homes are expected to total 3.40 million units, dropping 5.5 percent below sales for 1988.
- Sales of new single-family homes are expected to total 658,000 units, dropping 2.7 percent from 1988.
- Housing starts are expected to total 1.43 million units, dropping 4.4 percent from a year ago. A total of 1.04 million starts for single-family units is expected, dropping 4.8 percent from 1988. Starts for buildings with two-to-four units are expected to total 36,000 units, falling 3.2 percent from 1988.
- The national median existing-home price is expected to reach $93,800, rising 5.6 percent from last year. The national median new-home price is expected to reach $120,900, rising 6.2 percent from 1988.
- Interest rates for fixed-rate, 30-year mortgages are expected to average 10.3 percent, falling from an average of 10.5 percent for 1988. Interest rates for one-year, adjustable-rate mortgages are expected to average 9.0 percent, rising from an average of 8.5 percent last year.

— The gross national product (the total value of the nation's goods and services) is expected to total $5.231 trillion in current dollar terms, representing an inflation-adjusted increase of 2.9 percent from 1988.

— Consumer price inflation is expected to reach a rate of 4.8 percent, compared to 4.1 percent in 1988.

— The civilian unemployment rate is expected to be 5.2 percent, compared to 5.5 percent last year.
