Newspaper Week Proclaimed

In keeping with the observance of National Newspaper Week, Oct. 8-14, Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo has proclaimed it Newspaper Week in Floyd County was well. Stumbo, center, is shown checking out the latest news with Floyd County Times Publisher Marty Backus Sr., right, and Anne Chaney, editor, left. National Newspaper Week has been sponsored annually since 1940.

Becomes Certified City 5th Year P'burg Gets The Gold!

Prestonsburg is a Gold Certified City, and will be honored at a luncheon and recognition ceremony hosted by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce in November.

The certification signifies that the city has successfully completed an extensive evaluation and met specific standards in the areas of economic development, community organizations, community planning, utilities, downtown revitalization and community appearance.

According to Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta, only 35 cities of 400 eligible in Kentucky have received the gold certification. Gold certification comes after five consecutive years of being named a certified city.

"This recognizes all of our hard work over the past five years, and that we're moving in the right direction," said Latta. "This is a great honor to the city."

The gold certification, the highest bestowed in the state Chamber program, is an indication to industry that Prestonsburg is among the prime locales in the state, said Latta.

The award will be presented at a luncheon on Thursday, Nov. 16, at Heritage Hall in Rupp Arena, Lexington.

Gov. Wallace Wilkinson and Economic Development Cabinet Secretary Gene Royalty have been invited to present the awards.

"These cities have demonstrated that they are prepared for economic growth," said Jeff Eger, vice president of economic and community development for the Kentucky Chamber. "Their community leaders have completed a detailed questionnaire and passed an on-site evaluation by economic development professionals. They are eliminating any obstacles to their city's growth."

To be certified gold, in addition to basic criteria, cities must meet standards addressing local small business assistance, existing industry assistance, educational resources and community development factors including public safety, health care, political awareness, arts and culture and recreation. Advanced cities must also submit a strategic long-term plan for economic and community development.

Also receiving gold certification in the region was Hazard; Pikeville was named a certified city for the second year.

The awards luncheon is open to the public; reservations may be made locally by contacting the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce by Tuesday, Oct. 31; the luncheon cost is $20.

Better Days Ahead

Clearer weather is coming for the weekend, according to the Jackson Weather Service.

Today will be mostly cloudy with a 40 percent chance of showers and highs in the lower 70s. The likelihood of rain will increase to 50 percent tonight with temperatures in the lower 50s.

Saturday should provide clearing skies and cooler temperatures, with highs to reach the mid-60s. The cooling trend will continue into the early part of the week, with partly cloudy skies and daytime highs in the upper 60s. Nighttime temperatures will drop to the low 40s.

Martin Bids...

Bids are again open for the new municipal building in Martin. According to Mayor Raymond Griffith, the original bid, proposed by FEE, Inc., of Prestonsburg, did not include handicapped access, which is required by federal law. The new building will be located on Main Street, and will house the clerk's office, water office, and a conference room.

Open House...

Floyd County Technical High School (formerly Garth Area Vocational-Technical School) will hold an open house on Thursday, Oct. 12, from 4 to 8 p.m. at the school. The public is invited. Refreshments will be available, and door prizes given. Shops will be open and instructors will be present.

Columbus Day

On October 12, 1492, Christopher Columbus reached the New World. In celebration, federal offices, including all post offices in the area, will be closed on Monday, Oct. 9.

Rescheduled...

The Prestonsburg Police Department's gun safety class for women, twice postponed due to inclement weather, will be held Saturday, Oct. 21, at 10 a.m. at City Hall.

Forum To Meet

The Floyd County Education Forum will hold a board of director's meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 6:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church of Prestonsburg, next to Jerry's Restaurant. All are welcome.

People, Public Opinion & Prestonsburg

Law Enforcement: The Public's Viewpoint

by T. Mark Miller
PCC Sociologist

Throughout America there is a strong feeling of powerlessness. The Harris Poll reports that in the late 1980s, over 60 percent of the adult population feels alienated from the political structure. We can trace these feelings to a widespread belief that there is a two-tier system of justice and privilege in America: one set of rules for the rich and powerful, and another for the ordinary citizen.

Public opinion expert Louis Harris suggests that the real lesson that was learned from the "Watergate Scandal" is: If you are the average person, you will be prosecuted to the maximum extent of the law.

The Iran-Contra scandal seems to add to this belief, and this is a major complaint that the UMW has brought against the Pittston Coal Company. The UMW argues that the courts and the police do everything for the rich and powerful company, but will not give the average man a break. When we did our poll, we wanted to try to get a feeling for how Floyd Countians felt about their local political situation. As well, we wanted to know how they felt about the judicial branch (police) of government, not just the elected officials.

We first asked how many people had contacted a local public official with a problem. In our survey, 68 percent said that they had — a very high rate of public contact. On average, only about 20 percent of most Americans have ever contacted a public official. This suggests that many local citizens may feel powerless on a national scale, but not on a local one. This also suggests that local public officials in this area must be receiving a very large number of complaints from their constituents.

Of those who have contacted a public official, over half do so for community problems. The rest were split between personal and family problems. Of those who made contact, 73 percent said the problem was resolved to their satisfaction.

The one area that the local authorities tend to fall short in is crime prevention. When asked to rate this, 40 percent gave an average, and 34 percent gave a below average rating. This would put the local crime prevention at a D+ on an A-F scale.

We went on to ask about how people felt about the local police.

Wayland OKs Insurance Tax

by Frank Clark,
Staff Writer

A new source of funding for the City of Wayland was brought into being Tuesday night, as city council passed an ordinance to tax insurance companies which provide coverage to city residents.

The new tax, which effects casualty, auto, inland marine, fire, health and life coverage, will require insurers to pay the city 8 percent of the cost of all premiums paid by policy holders within the city limits. These funds will be paid directly to the city by insurance companies.

According to Sam Campbell of the Big Sandy Area Development District, who developed the tax proposal at the request of the council to address the long-term financial difficulties facing the city, it is likely that the added costs will be passed to consumers. To council members, the tax is necessary, if not desirable.

"All we've ever been able to do is meet the bills," said Mayor Pat Murphy. "We hardly have anything left to do anything else. If citizens are to have adequate police protection and get road work done, we're going to have to raise some funds."

Times Announces Staff Changes

Pam Shingler, assistant editor at the Floyd County Times, is leaving the newspaper to take a position at The David School as director of development.

Replacing her will be Frank Clark of Hueysville, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh.

In her position at The David School, Shingler will be responsible for writing grants and raising funds for construction of a new school.

"I'm going to miss working for the newspaper, but I look forward to this new challenge," said Shingler, who has been with the Times about a year.

"I've met some really wonderful people throughout Floyd County as a result of my work, and I'd like to thank all of those people who have been cooperative and accepting and who have made my job fun and exciting."

Shingler is a graduate of the University of Georgia with a bachelor's degree in journalism. She has done graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh and the University of Georgia.

Clark, who holds a master's degree in public and international affairs, will be replacing Shingler.

Wayland Chief Cleared

by Frank Clark,
Staff Writer

The case of civil rights abuse and police brutality, brought against Wayland Police Chief Mack Stewart by representatives of Earl Ray Johnson, 28, of Topmost, has been closed, according to Stewart.

In an interview Wednesday, Stewart said that after an investigation conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, lawyers concluded that the case lacked evidence for criminal prosecution.

The investigation stemmed from an arrest made by Stewart during the early morning hours of Sept. 2. While on patrol, Stewart noted an erratically driven vehicle, allegedly operated by Johnson, traveling on Route 7 between Lackey and Wayland. After failing to pull over, Johnson led Stewart on a 10-mile chase which ended at Patton Fork in Knott County. According to police records, Johnson stopped on a deserted section of road and fired a shot at the patrol car. Stewart collided with Johnson's vehicle and, because of a jammed car door, returned fire through the patrol car's windshield.

"The shots were so loud in the cruiser," said Stewart, "I couldn't hear for a couple of days."

Stewart then forcibly exited the patrol car with a shotgun and, claiming that Johnson refused to raise his hands, struck Johnson on the head with the weapon during the arrest.

No weapon was found in Johnson's vehicle, but a search turned up four .22 caliber shells.

Johnson was charged with DUI, reckless driving, attempting to elude a police officer and wanton endangerment. The single witness to the incident was Stewart's brother, Jimmy Stewart of Illinois, who was visiting the area and in the patrol car with Chief Stewart.

Stewart was later contacted by FBI officials, informing him that an investigation into charges of excessive force and brutality, brought by representatives of Johnson, was underway. This week, according to Stewart, the FBI closed the case, finding no grounds for prosecuting the Wayland police officer.

"There's still paperwork to be done before the case is completely finished," said Stewart, "but the FBI told me I've been cleared."

FBI officials in Pikeville could not be reached for comment on the case.

Feast, Famine Cycles Propel David, Town Created For Coal

By Pam Shingler
Assistant Editor

When most Floyd County mining towns had already experienced their heyday, the community of David was just beginning, making it one of the last — if not the actual last — of the planned coal camps.

Though the community's coal history is brief, the David area has a rich, non-coal heritage.

It's hard to imagine what Lick Fork of Middle Creek must have looked like when Daniel Boone came over the mountain in 1767. The lush valley must have brimmed with briars, berry bushes and wild shrubs. The flanking hills were probably covered with old timber, trees large and varied.

Animals were plentiful, especially around the salt spring where Boone is said to have camped for a time. Though Indians undoubtedly hunted in the area and used the salt, white man had not yet come in with his plows and machinery. Pristine would have been an apt word for the explorer to use in describing the land to his sponsors east of the mountains.

Perhaps hearing of the salt springs from Boone, a Young family set up the first salt works in the Big Sandy Valley on the site of the present community of David. The manufacture of the valuable mineral continued until around the Civil War under the operation at various times of Slusses and Whitakers, according to "Pioneer People: A Story of David, Kentucky," written in 1976 by Mary A. Pineau.

The taking of another valuable resource, timber, led to erosion and the eventual filling of the spring. The only evidence of its existence today is a historical marker in front of the former mine company store, now The David School.

Except for the sporadic timber business, the Lick Fork valley remained fairly quiet until the mid-20th century. According to Pineau, the earliest recorded settlers in the area were the Hamiltons in the 1830s. They were followed by the Huffs, Fitzpatricks, Tusseys, Neals, Shepherds, Harkinses, Hales and Slones, names still familiar in Floyd County. Many shared roots in Magoffin County, which was just over the hill.

In those hard days, most folks eked out a living by farming, hunting and cutting timber. With no road into the valley, most who lived there had to be self-sufficient. The only value attached to coal at the time was as a heating fuel, hand dug from the hillside.

Pineau's book states that coal man Henry LaViers, an Ohioan who helped pioneer mining in Eastern Kentucky, traveled up and down the Middle Creek valley buying mineral rights from settlers around 1917. One deed, for instance, indicates that LaViers paid $4,891.90 for mineral rights on a 489-acre tract owned by Jake and Peggy Shepherd.

According to Pineau, the coverage was extensive, covering rights to "all of the coal, minerals and mineral products, all oils and gases, all salt mineral and salt water, fire and

D. Boone Was Here

A historical marker is the only physical reminder that a valuable salt spring, visited by Daniel Boone, was once the center of the mining community of David.

Strike Troubles

PIKE COUNTY — Two coal truck windshields were shattered and the tires of four trucks and a state police car were flattened Tuesday on U.S. 23 near Rob Fork Mining Company. The incidents occurred at a newly established picket line, where a striking miner was struck by a non-union coal truck on Monday. Kiah Creek Mining Co. and Mine 29 Mining Co., which have contracts with Rob Fork, filed suit Wednesday in Pike Circuit Court to restrict further picketing. (Appalachian News Express)

Store Owner Says Not Guilty

PAINTSVILLE — Video store owner Victor Ferguson of Keaton pleaded not guilty to charges of pornography distribution in a Johnson County court. Ferguson claims that, while he doesn't promote X-rated videos, he believes individuals have the right to rent them if they wish. Such video rentals make up 5 to 7 percent of Ferguson's business. A pretrial hearing will be held Oct. 30. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Martin County Gets Grants

MARTIN COUNTY — The Big Sandy Area Development District Board of Directors has recommended that six grants be awarded to various Martin County projects. The grants, totaling $68,000, will be used for fire protection, engineering costs for the Big Sandy Area Regional Airport and sidewalk projects in Warfield and Inez. (Martin Countian and Mercury)

UMW, AFL-CIO to Merge

Seeking to end a 40-year split, the United Mine Workers applied on Wednesday for readmission to the AFL-CIO. The UMW is seen to be making this move in an attempt to increase its strength in the midst of a drawn out strike in Kentucky, Virginia, and West Virginia against Pittston Coal Group, Inc. According to Lorrie McHugh, spokeswoman for the AFL-CIO, approval for readmission is probable and could occur before the end of the week. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

KFTC Office Opens in Louisa

LOUISA — Kentuckians For The Commonweal, a grassroots environmental action organization, has opened a field office in Louisa. The new office will focus initially upon problems with the Roe Creek Landfill and PyroChem. Jana Miller, a Boyd County native will act as office manager. (Big Sandy News)

Stanville Man, Company In Standoff

LOCAL, 10/6/89, NOPHOTO
Wallace J. Scalf says he has taken enough. Scalf, 53, a consulting engineer and lifetime resident of Stanville, looked out of his window Thursday evening to find an unusual piece of electronic equipment sitting in his yard.

He discovered it to be a seismograph belonging to Addington Inc., used by the company to measure the effects of mining blasts on a strip mine operation that was being conducted a mile away from his house, off Mare Creek Road in Stanville.

Scalf says that, after a year and a half of trouble, he decided to take action. He has confiscated the company's seismograph.

"Our house has been getting torn up from Addington's blasting," said Scalf. "The chimney was wrecked and the back porch is falling apart. They shoot big (explosives) a couple times a week. Today, I heard the nails on my porch screech. Sometimes they feel it all the way to Pikeville."

The placing of the seismograph on his property was the last straw, he said.

"They (Addington employees) came in here without my permission and stuck this on my land," said Scalf. "When they came back to get it, I told them to get off my land. They came back 10 minutes later with a state trooper as I was on the phone to the state police about it. I told them to come back with a warrant."

Scalf stated that many residents of Mare Creek have had similar problems with the blasting. In recent weeks, Delmer and Ailene Cole of Stanville filed a legal suit against Addington for damages to their house, caused by blasting. Alleged damages run in excess of $25,000. Scalf says he will file a similar suit.

"I've lived on Mare Creek all my life," said Scalf. "It's not right what's happening here. I've told Addington that I don't want money from them. To tell you the truth, I don't need it. But I've been in this house 10 years and I want it fixed, and I want them to do the work."

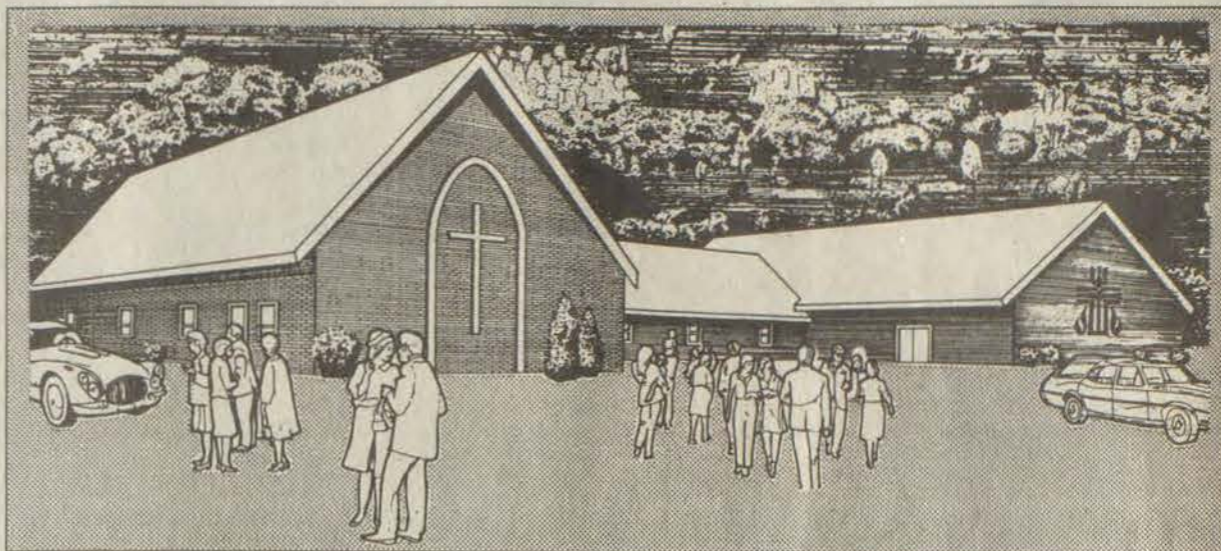

Scalf said he does not intend to give the seismograph back to Addington, which he says was illegally placed on his property, until he is promised that the repair work to his house will be done.

"When they come back with a warrant for the machine, they're going to have to take me with it," he declared. "I'm going to sit right on it and get arrested. Maybe then they'll listen and I'll get something done."

Late Thursday, a state police dispatcher was unable to confirm what had happened.

Presbyterian Church Addition Groundbreaking Sunday

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new addition to the First Presbyterian Church of Prestonsburg will be Sunday, Oct. 8 at 12:15 p.m., following morning worship services. The public is invited to attend. The new addition, the first since the church was built on its present location, will adjoin the current building on the south and will be similar in design to the present sanctuary. It will increase church space by 80 percent, and include a fellowship hall and kitchen on the first floor, and additional rooms on the second floor. The wing between the sanctuary and new fellowship hall will be converted later for use as educational classrooms and offices. The contractor will be Elliott Contracting, and the architect is Randall Burchett of Prestonsburg. The chair of the building committee is John Reed, according to the Rev. Tim Jessen, pastor. Jessen will be celebrating 10 years of service to the church on Oct. 8. A congregational dinner will follow groundbreaking services.

Clarification

To clarify information provided in an article on hurricane relief efforts from Wednesday, October 4, it should be noted that members of the Prestonsburg Auxiliary Police were involved in last Saturday's collection roadblocks.

Showing Their Colors & Spirit

The air was nippy but spirits were high at the Prestonsburg Marching Band Festival Wednesday night.

Eleven bands took the field individually to show off their sound and their colors while over 300 fans and non-performing bands cheered for their favorite. Several audience members showed their spirit by waving pom-poms, hoisting banners and even doing "the wave." Johnson Central Marching Eagles were the superior band of the evening, taking home the grand champion trophy, band booster award, Class AA best field commander, best auxiliary, best percussion and first place in that division. Rowan County went home with second place in the Class AA division.

Floyd County's own Betsy Layne Marching Bobcat Band received third place in the Class A (small) division and also went away with best field commander and best percussion. Paintsville grabbed second place and Breathitt County took home first place and best auxiliary trophies for that division. In the Class A (large) category

Lawrence County won the first place trophy, as well as best field commander and best auxiliary. Virgie took the trophy for best percussion, while Garrard won second place and Oneida Baptist Institute went away with third place. Estill County received a participation plaque for its performance in Class A (large) division.

Learning To See Beyond The Visible

by Tess A. Whitmer, Staff Writer

Steve Rector was born with his umbilical cord wrapped around his arm. It cut off the circulation and caused his arm not to develop properly, giving him a useless left hand, but this has not been a disability or handicap to him—just something he had to learn to work around.

At age 12, Rector was given a snare drum by his parents, Adrian and Peggy Rector of Martin. "It took me a little longer to learn to play than my cousin, but I did," Rector noted. His love for music extended to singing and playing the guitar, and he and several friends from high school formed a band in which Rector did a little of all three. Just recently he had the opportunity to audition for Discovery Television out of Baton Rouge, La., and he will go for a taping this month in Lexington. Among Rector's other hobbies are shooting pool, which is he is "pretty good at," and building and operating radio-controlled airplanes which he flies at the old Pikeville Airport.

At age 11, Rector had his left hand amputated at Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children, and was fitted with a mechanical hook. The hook is operated by straps which go across his back and a cable, a system similar to a bicycle brake cable. Rector said he is presently awaiting approval of a rehabilitation grant to purchase a mechanical hand "for aesthetic purposes." He adds that he prefers the hook, since the hands break so easily.

"They can't make one I can't break, cause I use it," Rector joked. He said the funding he will get will only purchase the most basic model from Bluegrass Artificial Limb Company in Lexington; prices range from $3,000 to $30,000, "depending on what you want." The artificial appendages he has had in the past have all required some redesigning and repair, which Rector does himself, such as extending the length or increasing the gripping tension.

For his work at Food City, Rector has added a plastic fitting over the metal "so as not to rip the paper bags." He has worked for Food City for seven months, and according to Carlene Burchette, assistant manager, he is an excellent employee. "Steve really impressed me. I don't consider him as having a handicap — he can do anything," Burchette exclaimed. "Some of our customers will wait in longer lines so as to have Steve bag their groceries for them. He's that good at what he does."

After speaking with Rector and watching him work, it is easy to forget he is missing his hand. He works very naturally with the replacement appendage and doesn't let it interfere with the accomplishment of his goals.

"There is a distinction between having a disability and being handicapped," Glenda Hall, counseling supervisor for Employment Services, said. "Everyone has their limitations, but if handicapped persons can see themselves as being able, not disabled, then they will see just how much they can do." Hall added that in Floyd County they have exceeded their job placement for handicapped persons by 18 percent in the first two months of their fiscal year. "We try to encourage businesses to hire handicapped people and to look beyond what they can't do and focus on what they can," Hall noted.

Handicapped, But Not Disabled

October is National Disability Employment Awareness Month, and Steve Rector, who works for Food City, doesn't let his handicap be a disability on the job or off.

By Pam Shingler

I had hardly found the coffee pot last fall when, on my first day at The Floyd County Times, I was asked to go to Wheelwright to get a story on that town's water outage. I'd never been to Wheelwright and the drive up the Left Beaver road, with its horseshoe curves and narrow shoulders, seemed endless.

Having grown up in Paintsville in the '50s and '60s when even a trip to Prestonsburg was a long journey and having lived away from the area for more than 20 years left me ill-prepared for the assignment. But when I turned off Ky. 122 and drove into the city, with its old distinctiveness still evident, I felt right at home. The people, in the midst of a crisis that would last another week or so, went out of their way to help me get the story. They seemed to enfold me, never once making me feel anything less than a part of them.

Every newcomer to Floyd County should go to Wheelwright if they want to feel less like an outsider. That adventure was the beginning of a string of adventures involved in one of the most psychically rewarding jobs I've ever had. Crossing a rickety one-plank, snow-covered bridge to witness an Endicott man's delight with his new home; listening to the laugh-filled memories of World War I veterans; driving the company car over narrow, rutted, dirt roads to verify citizens' complaints—all have been part of a rich experience. Being asked to photograph giant zucchinis, overgrown frogs, rat-trapped copperheads, and, yes, a dead three-legged chicken has given me a bagful of stories to tell in my golden years.

Because of this job, I've had the glorious opportunity to drive around long curves and suddenly see the road open up to spectacular scenery that most area residents never get a glimpse of. I've met people from Auxier to Melvin and Allen to Wayland who are warm, open, down to earth and filled with wisdom. (It would behoove the "movers and shakers" to listen to them.)

And, of course, I've worked alongside some of the finest, most professional people in the world—people who care deeply about the past, present and future of Floyd County and Eastern Kentucky and who are committed to producing a quality newspaper that covers the county, that helps those who've moved away to maintain a link and that aims to present the issues in a fair and straightforward manner without politicizing and polarizing.

Today is my last day as a full-time staff member, and I have to admit that I leave with mixed feelings. I'll surely miss the people and the richness of the experience. Yet, I'm not cutting the cord. I'll continue to try to ferret out interesting people in the county to interview and write about as a free lance reporter. I also hope to do this column on a sporadic, if not regular, basis—if only to air my sometimes strong opinions.

At the same time, I look forward to joining the staff of The David School. The challenge to help the school raise the money for a new building is awesome and, at the same time, energizing. But I believe strongly in the school and in its mission to help young people who want a second shot at getting an education. The school's emphasis on individual attention to the student's needs makes an awful lot of sense to me.

So, perhaps I'll see you around.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from the Floyd County Times 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 years ago.)

Ten Years Ago

(October, 17, 1979)

V.H. "Jack" Tomlison of Betsy Layne has developed a new fuel combining unrefined gasoline and heavy oil, called dieselene. This process, he claims, consumes less than 1.5 percent of the original fuel while the refining process called catalytic cracking consumes 15 to 20 percent. This process is cheaper to produce, creates less exhaust smoke, has excellent power and gives 50 percent more miles to the gallon than gasoline. . . . The news media and members of the general public were banned by Knott District Court Judge J. Robert Morgan from pretrial hearings Monday in the Hindman murder trial of Raymond Little. . . . Five Floyd County men were returned here Monday from Carter County to face third degree burglary charges in connection with the looting of a Mud Creek store last Friday night of a reported $10,000 in cash and merchandise. . . . Kentucky statutes provided four reasons why a school board may go into closed or executive session according to a recent attorney general's opinion: deliberations on the future acquisition or sale of property; discussion of possible litigation against or on behalf of the board; collective bargaining negotiations between the board and its employees; or discussions that might lead to the appointment, discipline or dismissal of a member, employee or student. . . . There died: Vernon Ratliff, 87, of Martin, Tuesday Oct. 9 at Riverview Manor Nursing Home; Estill Hale, 57, of Prestonsburg, Thursday in the VA Hospital in Lexington; Julia Huddleston, 80, of Martin, Thursday at Riverview Manor Nursing Home; Rhoda Ham Meade, 83, of Taylor, Mich., formerly of this county, Saturday at Heritage Hospital in Taylor; Eva Spriggs Fitzpatrick, 66, of Lorain, Ohio, formerly of Lancer, Thursday at the Avon Oaks Nursing Home in Ohio.

Twenty Years Ago

(October 16, 1969)

State Representative Everett Akers of Martin said here Wednesday that he was told last week by a Department of Highways official that all of US 23 from Prestonsburg to Pikeville will be let to contract by November, 1970. He added that he was told the route will be let to contract by possibly two lettings, in July and November of next year. . . . Responses by the Floyd County Civil Defense to a series of emergency calls last Thursday were so prompt and effective that watching state CD officials rated the Floyd CD forces among the best-prepared in Kentucky to meet a crisis. . . . The Floyd County Library Board is in the position of the man who couldn't win for losing. The tax levy this year is such that its tax income will be $2,000 more than last year, but it has lost the financial support of the Floyd County Board of Education, which paid the salary of approximately $4,000 a year for a book mobile driver-librarian. . . . The homemaker service being established in Floyd County will be a cooperative effort between three existing agencies—the Comprehensive Health Service Program, the Kentucky State Health Department's special Maternity and Infant Care program, and the Kentucky Child Welfare Department. . . . The six physicians who constitute the new Regional Medical Clinic at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital appealed last week to the judiciary committee of the Kentucky Medical Association to consider the impasse reached in their efforts to regain offices in the clinic area at the hospital. . . . There died: Elder J. M. Hall, 60, at his home at Ligon; Cecil Robinson, 55, Auxier, in an Ashland hospital; Earl Hall, 53, of Ypsilanti, Mich., at the home of his daughter at Virgie; Mrs. Vergie, 71, at her home at Betsy Layne; Mella Francis Hall, 62, of East McDowell, at McDowell Regional Hospital; Rev. Andy Wright, former Floyd County resident, at Williamson, W.Va.; William H. Childers, 70, of Garrett, died Friday at the McDowell Regional Hospital.

Thirty Years Ago

(October 15, 1959)

Two major construction projects here and in this vicinity have beaten winter and its work-stopping weather to the draw. The first completed is the $285,000 flood control project which is designed to protect a large portion of Prestonsburg from all but floods such as those of 1957 caliber. The second is the $1,109,256 construction job nearing completion on the Prestonsburg-Auxier sector of the new US 23 which will eventually link Prestonsburg and Paintsville. Only the finishing touches remain to be done. . . . Based on recent examinations of population shifts and changes, Floyd County is "going urban" more rapidly than most sections of the United States. In its 402 square miles the county has a density of 108 people per square mile. . . . Bennie Branham of Prestonsburg has sold half-interest in his local holdings, which include the Blue Sky Motel, restaurant and three houses for $75,000. . . . Recovery of a total of $42,000 from the Travelers Insurance Company is sought in a suit filed last week in circuit court here by H.B. Ranier, doing business as the Ranier Construction Company. . . . There died: Artie Beverly Martin, 72, at her home near Hueysville; Joe Hall, 29, Grethel, at a Lexington hospital; Edith Thornsby, 35, Topmost, at the home of her step-father; Minerva Hatfield, 78, East Point, at the home of her nephew.

Forty Years Ago

(October 21, 1949)

"The mines will not reopen for work for at least two weeks, perhaps three, possibly four and maybe not this winter," predicted a top official of one of Floyd County's largest coal operations, Wednesday. He qualified the "not this winter" part of his prediction by adding, "Unless the government seizes the mines under the Taft-Hartley Act or John L. Lewis agrees to negotiate." . . . Work on a waterworks for the town of Martin was scheduled to begin today (Thursday) by the May-Bilt Company, Frankfort. W.H. May Jr. Prestonsburg native, is head of the contracting firm. Their bid of $48,900 was lowest. . . . Floyd County is being populated much more rapidly than average Kentucky counties, figures released for 1948 by the State Department of Health indicates. The counties death rate was only 6.7 per 1000 population, and the birth rate was 37.5 per 1,000. . . . The number of pupils receiving free meals at the Prestonsburg school cafeteria daily has risen during the last three weeks from the usual 50 to 80. Unemployment resulting from labor strikes was given as the cause of the increase. . . . Approximately 50 of Floyd County's churches will be represented at the annual Floyd County Sunday Convention which will be held Sunday at the Wheelwright Freewill Baptist Church. . . . Although the Senate leadership decided Friday to postpone until next year consideration of its new rivers and harbors, harbors-authorization bill, the delay will not affect two Kentucky items in this measure. . . . There died: Jack Waddle, 66, at his home on Abbott Creek; A.B. Brooke, 63, in Charlotte, N.C., he was a native of Wayland; Alonzo Shepherd, 32, Salt Lick.

Fifty Years Ago

(October 12, 1939)

A scholarship plan outlined by the Inland Steel Company is expected to be affording within the next three years, college educations for eight Floyd County youths, sons or daughters of employees of the company's Wheelwright mines. Selection of students for such scholarships will be made by a scholarship committee composed of the superintendents of Mines at Wheelwright. . . . Floyd Countians, naturally, have wondered during the years past why they have not had their own county fairs while other counties enjoyed such autumnal festivals. Well, we have a fair coming now—it begins Friday, Oct. 20 and ends Sunday, Oct. 22—and if you and I and our neighbors stay away, let us—please let us—forever hereafter hold our peace. . . . Girl Reserves of 12 Eastern Kentucky high schools will gather in Prestonsburg Saturday for their annual district conference. Approximately 65 delegates will represent high schools of the district. . . . There died: Millard Martin, 67, at Garrett; Hobart Blevins, 40, Wheelwright, at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville; Richard N. Butcher, 74, at Lackey hospital; Patty Jane Bates, 3, of Weeksby, at Stumbo Memorial Hospital.

Letters to the Editor

Man Thanks Those Who Signed Petition

Dear Editor,
I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people who helped make "The Save the Flag" petition drive such a success. There were more than 5,000 names gathered.

Copies of each individual name were forwarded to Senators Wendell Ford and Mitch McConnell and Rep. Chris Perkins. All three responded with letters assuring the people of Eastern Kentucky that through their combined efforts something will be done to protect our flag.

Thanks again to all those who responded by signing one of the petitions or calls showing their concern about the flag. A special thanks to Junior Slone who, through his untiring efforts, was responsible for more than 1,000 names. Thanks, Junior!

As of this writing (Sept. 30) the House of Representatives voted on a bill to make flag burning a criminal act. The bill passed overwhelmingly, 380 to 38, and all seven Kentucky congressmen voted for the bill. It was then sent on to the Senate which is expected to take action on the issue next month.

President George Bush also responded with a personal letter assuring the people that he will sign any bill passed that protects the flag from desecration.

I believe this is a step in the right direction, lets keep waving those flags and America will become an even better place to call home.

May God Bless You,
Steve Roberts

Take Time To Enjoy Fall Colors

Dear Editor,
In the recent past the start of a tradition worth caring about was born. It is in a proclamation which states that Floyd County has the best Fall colors anywhere. That truth spurred some local women to invite visitors from elsewhere to share our good fortune.

We'd like the idea to grow, and the gesture of hospitality extended during a Fall Foliage Afternoon every year. To accomplish that it will take the efforts of all. We call on all who love the warm, colorful Fall days to invite friends and acquaintances to their boats, their city or town, or their backyards for the rare opportunity to enjoy something special: Fall in Floyd County.

Already the Prestonsburg Tourism and Recreation Commission joined our endeavor by funding an ad in the Lexington Herald Leader. This year, in addition, they will fund a real eye catcher: An airplane streamer which will fly over University of Kentucky stadium with "Fall Scene: Prestonsburg, Kentucky" on it. We extend a big welcome to everyone, of course. In order to get the word out, especially to our neighbors in states to the north of us, we are placing an ad in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Our aim is to see Fall Foliage Afternoon in Floyd County become a full grown tradition. Working together all of us can enhance the natural beauty for our visitors as well as for ourselves. It would be pleasing to see everyone join the endeavor to make the tradition a reality.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Clyde Burchette

Reunion Was A 'Happy Day!'

Dear Editor,
Oh, Happy Day!
Happy Martin High School Reunion—50 years. It was a very happy day for this 1939 graduate. I am glad the situation about the charge has been cleared up. It was one of the happiest days of my life. I just wish I had attended the reunion for the whole weekend. So many classmates I was really glad to see were there. Thanks to the ones who made it all possible. I'm looking forward to the next one.

Sincerely,
Elsie Smith Freeze

Maria Hicks of the Clark Lady Indians breaks open for an easy basket against the Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats Tuesday night at Clark. The Lady Indians held on to win over the Lady Bobcats, 43-39.

Clay's 18 Points Lead Clark Girls To 6th Win

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Jamie Clay scored 18 points in leading the Clark Lady Indians to their sixth win of the season without a defeat, as the Lady Indians won over a strong Betsy Layne girl's team, 43-39.

The Lady Bobcats, under new coach Shelia Ortega, gave Clark a scare in the fourth quarter of play. Clark led at the end of the third period, 38-25, and went up by 16, 41-25 early in the fourth. The Lady Bobcats then outscored the Lady Indians 12-2 to cut the lead to six, 43-37. Misty Clark's basket just before the buzzer gave the final score of 43-39.

The Lady Indians made just five of 19 free throws in the game, missing several front ends of one-and-ones.

Besides Clay's 18, Maria Hicks added 12. Rebecca Webb had nine points and pulled down a number of rebounds for the winning team.

The leading scorer in the game was Betsy Layne's Jamie Ratliff, with 21 points. Ratliff hit several shots from outside and off the right side of the glass. Amanda Eplin netted eight points as Misty Clark had 6.

The Lady Indians are now 6-0 on the year and Betsy Layne falls to 1-1.

"We have only three players with any playing experience from last year," Ortega said. "Most of our girls haven't even played ball before. I'm proud of them in the way they came back in the game."

Betsy Layne 8 13 4 14 (39): Becky Kidd, 2 0-2 4; Amanda Eplin, 4 0-0 8; Jamie Ratliff, 10 1-2 21; Erin Baker, 0 0-0 3; Becky Rogers, 0 0-0 3; Kambra Maynard, 0 0-2 0; Misty Clark, 3 0-2 6.

At Clark 14 11 13 5 (43): Christy Little, 20 0 4; Andrea Shepherd, 0 0-0 0; Rebecca Webb, 4 1-3 9; Maria Hicks, 5 2-7 12; Jamie Clay, 8 2-9 18.

Clark Leads Maytown To Down Auxier, 44-27

Jeremy Clark tossed in 24 points to lead the Maytown Wildcats to a 44-27 victory over a good Auxier Hornet team in the Maytown Invitational basketball tournament Wednesday night.

Chris Halbert added 13 in the win. The win was Maytown's first of the yet-young season and Auxier suffered its first setback of the year.

Maytown will meet the winner of the McDowell-Prater game tonight. Auxier will play the loser in the consolation game.

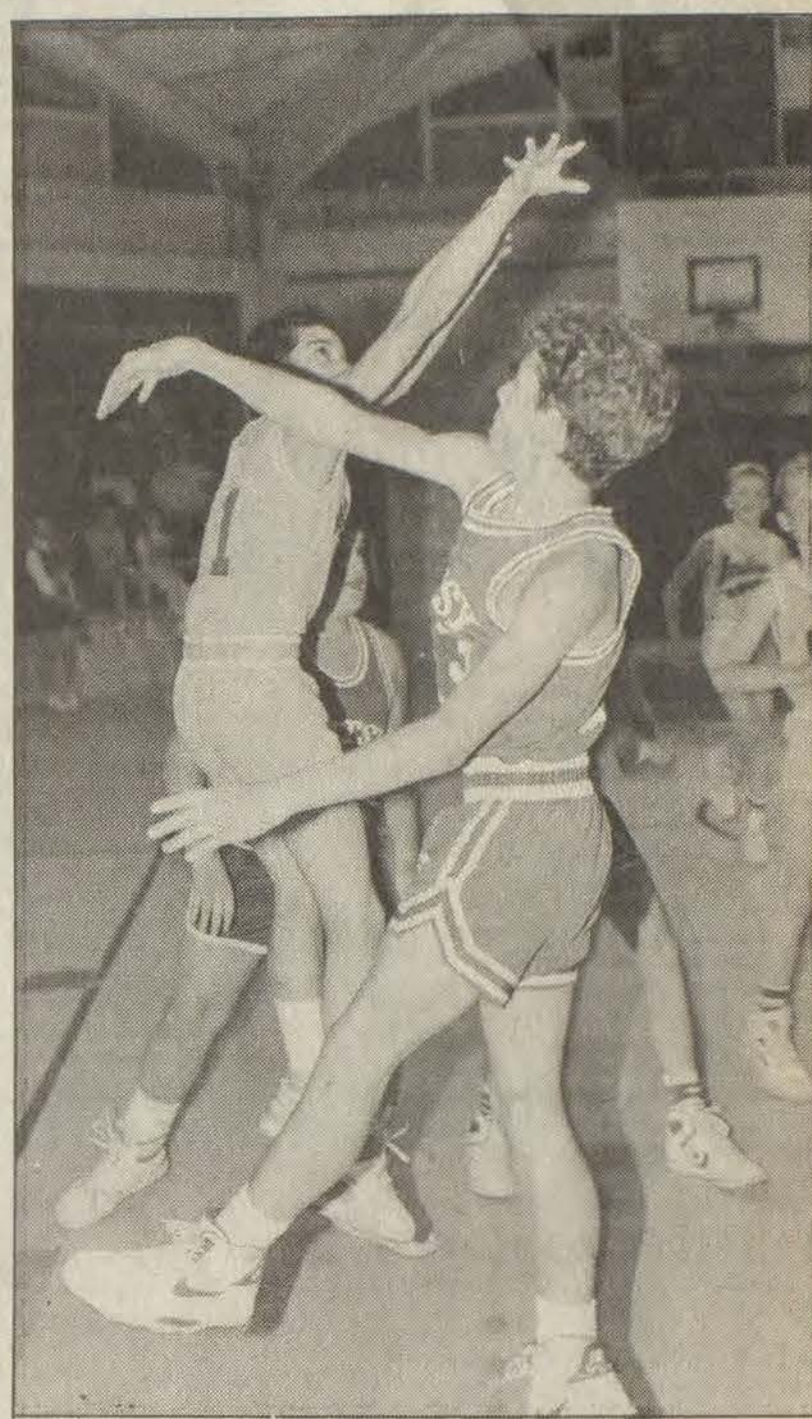

The Hornets stayed close in the game, trailing by only six at half time, 26-20. Auxier could only manage three third quarter points as the Wildcats outscored them 13-3 in the third stanza to take a 13 point advantage, 36-23.

Steve Adkins led the Hornets in scoring with 11 points. Merlin Osborne and Jason Burke had six each for Auxier.

Auxier 8 12 3 4 (27): Jason Burke, 6; Jason Stone, 2; Merlin Osborne, 6; Jerry Lafferty, 1; Steve Adkins, 11; Ervin Osborne, 1.

at Maytown 13 13 10 8 (44): Jeremy Clark, 24; Chris Halbert, 13; Kevin Martin, 3; Nick Hagans, 4.

T-Tom Slone (11) scores a basket over a Betsy Layne defender in grade school basketball at the Clark gym. The Bobcats won, 62-38, for their second victory of the season.

Betsy Layne Looks To Continue Winning Ways Against Whitesburg

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Perhaps playing the best football of anyone in the county right now, the Betsy Layne Bobcats look to continue the roll they have been on, as they will host the Whitesburg Yellowjackets tonight at the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic Complex.

Whitesburg comes into tonight's contest as last year's defending District 2 champions. Coach Tom Searcy's team, although 4-2 overall, has struggled in district play at 1-2.

One of the Yellowjackets' losses was to league leader Prestonsburg, 7-6, in a home game earlier in the season; Morgan County defeated the Yellowjackets 9-6 on Sept. 15.

Whitesburg likes to throw the ball and mixes its offense 60/40. Defense is perhaps its strongest point; it limited the Blackcats to seven points, Jenkins to six and Morgan County to just nine.

Betsy Layne, after being blown out 31-6 by Prestonsburg, 34-0 by Magoffin County and suffering a 20-12 setback at the hands of Johnson Central, has run off three very impressive wins and seems to be playing with a lot of confidence. The Bobcats believe when they take the field they are capable of beating any team.

A good balance of offensive and defensive efforts has produced the three consecutive wins for Coach

Gerald Newsome's Bobcats. Quarterback Craig Hunter passed for over 200 yards against Elkhorn City last Friday evening. Halfback Chris Bias seems to find a way to run the long yardage and Larry Hall is always the "consistent one who can get you the short yardage," according to his coach. With Morris "Mo" Adkins back after a foot injury, the backfield of Betsy Layne's ground game should be intact.

The Bobcats are 1-1 in the District 2 standings and are still in the playoff picture. But according to Coach Newsome, his Bobcats "are playing them one at a time."

"If we get into the playoffs that's all right," the Bobcat mentor stated, "but we're not looking past Whitesburg right now. If we don't make it, we just want to have the best season we can."

Betsy Layne's on a roll and Whitesburg is coming to town to try and sting the clawing 'Cats. A Yellowjacket victory would even their district record at 2-2 with Leslie County as the only remaining district opponent to play. Betsy Layne has three consecutive district contests beginning tonight with Whitesburg and the next two, Morgan County and M.C. Napier, in the next two weeks. Both will be on the road.

Game time tonight is 8 p.m. at the Betsy Layne field.

Daniels' Rebs Look To Play Spoiler's Role On Saturday

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Donnie Daniels Allen Central Rebels (2-5) will be trying to play the spoiler's role in the Region 3, District 2 football standings as the Hazard Bulldogs come to town for a 2 p.m. game Saturday afternoon at the Don Daniels Athletic Complex.

The Hazard Bulldogs (4-3) are in the thick of the race with Paintsville (4-1, 3-0) and Raceland (3-3, 2-0) at 2-0 in conference play. The Rebels will try and be the spoilers as they tackle the Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs are led in rushing by halfback James Williams. Williams, in an earlier game with Wheelwright, ran for 257 yards and scored four touchdowns— one a 71-yard romp to the end zone. Another Bulldog to watch will be Eddie Buck, who had touchdown runs of 59 and 90 yards against the Trojans.

Allen Central's Tommy Gibson will be counted on to carry the offensive load for the Rebels. Gibson is a strong fullback who always gives the second and third efforts. John Slone and Adam Tackett can be a big plus for the Rebels. B. J. Aldrich at quarterback will have to be aware that the Bulldogs like to blitz a lot. Good pass protection will be a must for the Rebel offensive line, led by Brian Wallen and Brian and Bret Meadows. The defensive ends for Allen Central will have to guard against the sweeps the Bulldogs offense likes to run, especially with Williams. Buck is a good "second man through" runner up the middle.

The Rebels have capture their last two games to improve their overall record to 4-5 on the year; they are 0-2 in district play. The Rebels will play in-county rival Wheelwright at Allen Central on Saturday, October 21. Daniels' squad will have a home game against the Millersburg Military Institute in their final season game.

Pike Pet Show Scheduled Oct. 7

The Pike County Humane Society will hold its Sixth Annual Pet Show at the Pikeville City Park Saturday, Oct. 7.

Registration will be from 12:30 until 1:30 p.m., with judging slated to begin at 2 p.m. Pets of all kinds are welcome, according to director Mary Wells. In case of rain, the show will be held on Sunday at 2 p.m.

For more information, contact Wells at 437-7230.

David Horne of Hueysville was the winner of the Floyd County Times Bob Harmon football forecast for week three. Horne is being presented a check for $25 by Anne Chaney, editor of the Times.

WHS Trojans Visit Eagle's Nest Tonight

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Coach Roger Johnson's Wheelwright Trojans, still looking for that initial win of the football season, will travel to Virgie where they will match up against a 4-2 Eagles team.

Virgie stands second only to Pikeville in the Region 4, District 2 standings. Virgie's big win was an opening season victory over the Paintsville Tigers.

Oddly enough, the Eagles' second game of the season was against the Everts Wildcats, and the Eagles dropped the contest 33-6. Wheelwright's opponent last Friday night was likewise Everts; the Trojans lost, 36-0.

The Eagles returned 25 lettermen from last year's 6-4 squad, led by quarterback Michael Roberts (6'0", 170) who has an accurate arm when it comes to passing to his favorite target, Ernie Burke (6'1", 160). The Eagles also return four-year backfield starter Brad Johnson at the fullback spot.

The Eagles will mix up their game between passing and, with the strong backfield they have, will also run the ball.

Wheelwright's offensive line needs to do better in the backfield blocking department if it is to score some points. Everts' defense had no trouble getting through the Trojan line and threw the backfield for several losses.

A trio in the backfield for the Trojans have the credentials as power runners and speedsters. Chad Hall (6'0", 175), a senior halfback, has had several 100-plus yardage games this season. He has scored eight touchdowns so far this year. Bobby Hood (5'9", 150) has the speed to carry the ball for long yardage. Mike Justice (5'7", 180), just a junior, has shown some power at the fullback position. When short yardage is needed for a first down, Justice usually gets the nod in carrying the ball.

Game time is 8 p.m. tonight at Virgie.

P'burg To Host Leslie County In Big District Game Tonight

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Forget that the Prestonsburg Blackcats are 3-4. Forget they have lost three consecutive games. Forget that the offense hasn't performed as well as was expected. Just remember that the 'Cats are first in the District 2 standings. Remember that they are in the driver's seat for a playoff berth. Remember that the game with Leslie County tonight is pretty important.

Tonight at the Prestonsburg field, the Blackcats will host Leslie County in an 8 p.m. start. Prestonsburg is currently 2-0 in the district, while Leslie County is tied with Betsy Layne with a 1-1 record for third place.

The two teams have each played a common foe in Gerald Newsome's Betsy Layne Bobcats. Prestonsburg had its best offensive night of the season in the opening season victory, 31-6. While Prestonsburg had no trouble with the Bobcats, Leslie County could not tame them as they lost 24-14 to Newsome's team. Leslie County is 1-5 overall for the season.

Coach Bill Letton's team will be charged up for the game tonight. A win would really strengthen the Blackcats' hold on first place. With just two district games remaining with M.C. Napier and Morgan County after tonight's game, and a victory in either of those two games will give the 'Cats a playoff berth.

Leslie County, although 1-1 in district play, has two remaining district contests, also with M.C. Napier and tough Whitesburg. Both games are home games for Leslie. Prestonsburg will entertain Napier at home and travel to Morgan County.

Letton's team must have a good defensive and offensive game against Leslie County. Aaron Tucker has been at the quarterback position all season for the Blackcats and was hit hard on a tackle in the Belfry game and suffered some bruised ribs. However, Tucker has returned to practice and should be in the signal calling spot tonight against Leslie. The ground game for the 'Cats seems to have been bogged down, mainly because of the rain experienced the last three Friday nights. If the field is dry and no rain is in the forecast, look for the Blackcats to have little trouble in moving the football against Leslie County tonight.

So forget past games and remember that tonight's game is big one.

Allen Central Girls Win Cross Country Meet

Coach Anthony Moore's Allen Central Lady Rebs Cross Country track team won its second straight cross country meet at Paintsville Lake Tuesday afternoon.

Allen Central defeated Paintsville and Johnson Central to win the meet. Stacie Moore placed first in the 1.8 mile run with a time of 15:09. Jessica Wade held the second spot at 15:10, one second behind Moore. Jenny Wiley took sixth overall in the cross country meet.

Others finishing the race were Stacy Moore, ninth; Rhonda Leedy, 10th; Regina Ison, 14th; Pam Webb, 15th.

According to Moore, each of the girls' time improved from last week's meet at Paintsville.

Auxier 2 1 1 2 (6): Jeri Charles, 6, at Maytown 14 16 6 18 (54): Marsha Brown, 31; Michelle Castle, 16; Lisa Stumbo, 6; Cita Miller, 1.

For the second week in a row our editor, Anne Chaney, holds the top spot in Pigskin Predictions. However, Mike Burke gained some points and closed in on the number one position. He still vows to capture the first place spot. The prognosticators see Kentucky falling to Auburn, and Prestonsburg improving its District 2 lead with a win over Leslie County. In the pro ranks, look for Cleveland to topple Miami. We are proud of our football foreseers and the brave predictions they make. That's how it looks for week five.

Conference Standings

Class AA, Region 4, District 2

Team	District	Overall
Prestonsburg	2-0	3-4
Morgan County	2-1	3-4
Betsy Layne	1-1	3-3
Magoffin County	0-0	5-2
Whitesburg	1-2	3-2
M.C. Napier	0-2	2-4
Leslie County	1-1	1-6

District Notes

Chuke Williams' Magoffin County Hornets have the best overall record in a surprising second year of football at the Salyersville-based school. Whitesburg, last year's district champions, has had a so far disappointing season. A Prestonsburg win over Leslie County would mean that the Blackcats would only need a win over either M.C. Napier or Morgan County to win the title and playoff spot.

Tonight: District 2 Schedule

Leslie County at Prestonsburg, 8 p.m., (WKKZ, 105.5)
 Whitesburg at Betsy Layne, 8 p.m.
 Morgan County at Belfry, Non-District
 M.C. Napier at Knott County, Non-District

Class A, Region 3, District 2

Team	District	Overall
Paintsville	3-0	4-1
Hazard	2-0	4-3
Raceland	3-4	2-0
Fairview	1-2	3-4
Allen Central	0-2	2-5
Wheelwright	0-3	0-7

District Notes

Paintsville has a makeup game with Raceland to play. The Tigers also have a home game with Hazard. Paintsville is a good choice to win the district title going away. Allen Central's Rebels will play three district games beginning with an afternoon game against Hazard tomorrow at 2 p.m. Fairview and Wheelwright are also ahead. Fairview has Allen Central and Raceland.

Tonight: District 2 Schedule

Wheelwright at Virgie, Non-District
 Fairview at Huntington Vinson, Non-District
 West Carter at Raceland, Non-District
 Paintsville at Johnson Central, Non-District
Saturday Afternoon
 Hazard at Allen Central, 2 p.m., (WKKZ, 105.5)

The Maytown Baptist Young Friends Class of the Maytown First Baptist Church held a church Bible drill recently.

The drill was divided into two age groups and the winners and runners-up were as follows:

Five to 8-year-old group, Randa Hicks, Megan Robinson, Daniel Sazabo and Jason Adams; 9- to 12-year-old group, Melissa Fannin and Phillip Butler. All other children who participated in the drill were presented awards as well.

Also, best attendance trophies were presented to the girl and boy in each age group for the past year. The winners and runners-up were 1- to 8-year-old girls, Megan Robinson and Randa Hicks; 1- to 8-year-old boys, Daniel Sazabo and Andrew Sazabo; 9- to 12-year-old girls, Melanie Hagans and Debbie Leonard; 9- to 12-year-old boys, Matthew Hagans and Phillip Butler.

Junior Electronics Whiz

Wendell Wilson, fourth grade student at McDowell Elementary School, recently built a working robot.

Wilson brought his "Robbie the Robot" to Kitty Frazier's class to show the other students his hobby.

Wilson said that his robot's eyes light up, it rolls back and forth and has electricity in its arms. "My knowledge of robots came from an uncle, Olive Dingus of Buck's Branch," Wilson explained. "He taught me how to wire and rewire. Someday I would like to have a career in robotics."

Wilson added that his hobby has had "sparked" the interest of other students in Frazier's class and "robotics has really caught on!"

He is the son of Linda Wilson, who is a teacher at the Floyd County Technical High School.

Books & Things:

In Memory Of Robert Penn Warren

by Trisha Morris
PCC Librarian

Kentucky's native son, Robert Penn Warren, was born in Guthrie of Todd County in 1905, and, although he lived the last three decades of his life in New England, he drew upon his native state for much of his literary work.

Well known for his prodigious output in virtually every literary genre, Warren penned poems, novels, essays, short stories, biographies and social criticism with equal fire and grace. His efforts won him three Pulitzer Prizes (one for literature and two for poetry), a host of other awards and national acclaim as the nation's first Poet Laureate.

Warren's first critical recognition was for his poetry, but like a good Kentuckian he liked conversations and loved to tell stories, and as a youngster he had soaked up tales of the Civil War and the local Tobacco

Wars from his grandfather. So, at the urging of his friends, he began to write stories around the historical facts he knew. But despite the form he choose, his works often centered on the major themes of the problem of evil, the meaning of history, the human penchant for violence, the search for self knowledge and the need for fulfillment.

Robert Penn Warren died on Sept. 15 at the age of 84. Known as a man of passionate prose, intricate poetry, heavy scholarship and a ready wit, he has left the nation richer for having known him and from the literary legacy he bequeathed it.

The following are examples of some of Warren's writing available at Prestonsburg Community College's Library:

Night Rider (1939): Warren's first novel is a fictional account of the Tobacco Wars which raged through parts of western Kentucky and Tennessee during 1905-1908, when growers tried to organize for a fair market price.

Warren was born in this section of the country — known as the Black Tobacco Belt — and though he was a child during the period of the Tobacco Wars, he undoubtedly grew up amidst stories and accounts of the pillage and terror which swept the country. This first-hand knowledge, together with the results of later disciplined research, gave him the material for the book that started his literary career as a novelist.

All The King's Men (1946): Warren's leap from apprenticeship as a novelist with Night Rider to mastery came with All The King's Men. Winning him his first academy award, it is still known as his masterpiece.

Loosely based on the rise of Huey Long (The Kingfish), Louisiana's assassinated dictator-like governor, the story has all the elements that movies are made of: A rags-to-riches theme, political intrigue, and steaming love scenes. (Broderick Crawford starred in its movie production.)

Epic, tragedy and social document, All The King's Men is also a first rate mystery story that has stood the test of time.

Floyd County Families: Our Heritage

(Part 6)

William Mead (3-#8-A), was born ca. 1775 in Bedford County, Va., and married Elizabeth "Betsy" _____?

A.M. Prichard states in his "Mead Relations," on page 25, that "Mary E. Mead, daughter of Albert C. Mead (#64 this writing) and granddaughter of Benjamin Mead (#5 this writing), writing to her cousin, Mrs. George B. Clancy on the 19 Feb. 1915, stated that she was 81 yrs. old in January 1915, and that she had heard her father mention 'Uncle Moses Mead and Uncle Rhodes Mead.' When this was stated to Henry A. Mead Jr., a brother of Mrs. Clancy, he was quite certain there was another uncle named Eli Mead. In 1917 John P. Mead (#151) of Printer, Ky., without being advised of the foregoing, wrote as follows: 'My great grandfather, whose name was Robert Mead, lived in Bedford County, Va., and in that county my grandfather Samuel Mead about 1784 (?) married Katy Goodbread and moved to this part of the country in 1794. There was another family of meads, who was cousins to my father, who came to this part of the country from Bedford County about 1790. They were all brothers, there names was Rhodes, William and Eli. Their descendants intermarried with the Hatchers, Weddings, Stone, Fergusons, Laynes, O'Wines (Owens) and Rattliffs and Howells'.

"John P. Mead is probably wrong on his dates, W.G. Mead (#191) of Harold, Ky., on May 1, 1932, wrote that 'The Robert Mead you mention came from Bedford County, Va., and settled on Big Mud Creek, was my great grandfather. I am a grandson of his son Moses. He came here in 1801.' This last date is probably correct, as Robert Mead made final disposition of the remainder of his land in Bedford County in 1801."

This definitely establishes the existence and presence of William Mead as a son of Robert Mead (#3) and his residence in Floyd County, Ky. The 1810 Floyd census does not have him listed. The first mention of William Mead in Kentucky is in the 1820 census of Floyd County.

In the 1820 census, I find a William Mead, with the following occupants living at his household: 1 male 45 and up—William, born 1775, Bedford Co., Va.; 1 female 45 and up—William's wife Betsy "Elizabeth"; 1 male 10 to 16 years old; 3 females under 10 years; 1 female 10 to 16 years old; 1 female 16 to 26 years old.

If William was born in 1775, then in 1820 he would be 45 years old, so this is undoubtedly William Mead, the son of Robert Mead (#3). In the Pike County marriages, there is listed a marriage of Keziah Meade that married a John Cline (Kline) on Nov. 21, 1822, and Keziah is shown as the daughter of William Meade. This is in the book "Kentucky Marriages" at the UK Margaret King Library, page 642.

The following is the bond and consent of marriage as written: Bond dated, Oct. 26, 1822, signed by John Cline and Michael Cline. Letter of consent: To the honorable The Clark of Pike Co., Mr. Spence Adkins I do right to you in the highest rooles of sivilty though on acquainted with you these _____ to you greeting hoping and confiding in your good sircompection and fidelity to grant to the beares Mikle, lisons for his sone John Cline and a daughter of mine Kezia Mead and this is to certify that I am willing given free priviledge to the marriag and hearto set my hand and fix my seal the 16 day of OCTOBER 1822. Test, Pyrshus McGinnis, William Mead and Betsy (Elizabeth).

Note: I have received information concerning this Keziah and William Mead from Sue Lacy of Kermit, W. Va., that establishes this William as the son of William Bingham, referred to in other documents and relatives as "Berry Bill" Mead. I have not made a connection to this family and the family of this book, as yet.

Also important to the individual that is researching the family of William Mead-e (#8-A) is the fact that the abovementioned Keziah is a sister to the William B. Mead Jr. that married Ellender Rutherford in Pike County, Ky., Sept. 14, 1823. (Pike marriages file #53) The father of these two Meads is William Bingham Mead Sr.

In the Floyd County tax list dated Oct. 4, 1837, there is listed the following: Moses Mead, Daniel Mead, Robert Mead, Robert Mead Jr., Rodes Mead, William Mead. This confirms that William was a resident of Floyd County during this time frame.

In the 1850 Floyd census, there is a William Mead, age 30 (born 1820 in Kentucky), listed with his wife Elizabeth (Johnston) Mead, age 26 (born 1824), married Floyd County, Aug. 8,

FLOYD COUNTY HOMEMAKERS HOLD LUNCHEON MEETING
The annual luncheon meeting of the Floyd County Homemakers was Friday, Sept. 29, at the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist church, with Frances Pitts, Floyd County home economist, in charge of arrangements.

The devotional was given by "The Potato Family," Dorothy Stover, Mildred Branham, Nancy Webb and Shirley Callihan, who depicted the commentator, the agitator, the spectator and the sweet-tater.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Dorothy Harris, who also gave the roll-call.

Pitts named the following members on the sick list: Christine Spradlin, Aretta Hall, Alice Hayes, May K. Roberts, Myrtle Allen, Eula Ferguson, Mary Jo LaPointe and Anna May Mellon.

Dorothy Harris presented Ethel Colvin and Linda Blackburn, who demonstrated the making of floral arrangements, including bouquets and wreaths in various forms, and the art of ribbon tying.

Harris presented these speakers an "Area Homemakers' Cookbook" on behalf of the group.

Helen Boyd, county vice president, gave the membership and program update. She said that Floyd County has 18 homemakers clubs with 720 total members. She added that dues were payable in November and reminded members that pecans, an annual sales project, will be available the latter part of October and the profits will go to the Ovarian Cancer Fund.

Homemakers enjoyed a covered-dish lunch and style show with models Dorothy Harris, Katie Lowe, Linda Hale, Mabel Donahoe, Jean Watson, Mary Sue Moore, Ada Martin, Peggy Wallen, Sherril Meade, Grace Moore, Eva Roberts and Marge Sammons.

The floral centerpieces were given to the following persons as door-prizes: Carma Sturgill, Morena Hale, Phyllis Herrick, Mildred Branham, Dorothy Harris and Marge Sammons.

One of the outstanding features of this event was the cultural arts display. The first place winners are eligible to compete in the area annual meeting in Boyd County today, Friday, Oct. 6. Following is a list of the participants in each category, winners are listed first:

Basketry, Gail Osborne and Anna Harris; Christmas decorations, Jeannie Wells and Sue Wells; counted cross stitch, S:e Wells and Jean Meade; crochet, Mildred Branham and Helen Boyd; drawing, (no first place) Anna Harris; embroidery, Jean Watson and Brenda Crider; heritage skills, Marlena Hale; knitting, Eula Ferguson; miscellaneous, Dorothy Harris; painting (acrylic, oil and water color), no first place, Anna Harris; quilt (patchwork), Jean Watson and Marie Vance; soft sculpture, Jeannie Wells and Marena Hale; and wall hanging, Marge Sammons.

Anne Alley registered the following persons from each club: Pitts, Floyd County; Mildred Branham, Shirley Callihan, Nancy Webb, Peg Hewlett, Anna Belle Harris, Dorothy Stover, Lucy Regan, Jane Wallace, Mabel Donahoe, Docia Woods, Phyllis Herrick, Mary Sue Moore, Ann Alley, Dorothy Osborne, Becky Short, Alice Harris, Fannie Runnels, Ruby Lamping and Roberta Sloan, Day Prestonsburg (winning club in attendance);

Betty Bentley, Helen Boyd, Aida Gibson and Ada Martin, Maytown; Mary Zemo, Virginia Goble, Norma Stepp and Mae Kendrick, Cow Creek; Alice Rowe and Nancy Roberts, Lancer; Marge Sammons, Jean Watson, Marena Hale, Jean Meade and Gail Osborne, Martin;

Bonita Porter and Goldia Williams, Allen; Helen Music, Sue Wells, Eula Ferguson and Jeannie Wells, Auxier; Peggy Wallen, Kathryn Blackburn and Cheryl Meade, Betsy Layne; Carma Sturgill, Rose Akers, Emily Grace Akers and Eva Roberts, Harold; Marie Vance and Destaphine Boyd, Prater Creek; Karen Colvin of South Prestonsburg; Goldie Music and Garnett Fairchild of North Prestonsburg; Dorothy Harris of East Point; Ellen Martin of Grethel; Grace Moore (club not listed); and Jennifer Howard of Magoffin County, who served as judge of the cultural arts display.

ANNIE ALLEN CIRCLE HOLDS MEETING
Members of the Annie Allen Circle, WMU of the First Baptist Church, met Monday evening, Oct. 2, at the home of Dixie Neeley.

Lucy Regan, new president, presided. Susan Foy gave the devotions, based on Matthew Chapter one. Patsy Evans led the group in prayer.

The minutes were read by the secretary and the financial report was given by Rebecca Rasnick, treasurer.

The group discussed the possibility of preparing meals for persons in the church upon the loss of a relative. The president appointed Evans, Maman Leslie, Sarah Laven and herself to look into this matter.

It was decided that the annual practice of delivering food to the church's shut-ins at Thanksgiving would continue and that baked goods would be used again this year.

Faye Patton, president, gave a presentation entitled "In His Name — Unique Ministries," and reminded members it was time to assist the church's Acteens.

Dolly Pettrey, sunshine chairperson, reported that she had sent several cards to shut-ins of the church.

Leslie thanked WMU members for the food furnished to her and her family following the loss of her son-in-law.

The hostess was assisted by Myrtle Allen and Sarah Laven in serving refreshments to Lucy Regan, Rebecca Rasnick, Susan Foy, Faye Patton, Ruby Garrett, Patsy Evans, Roberta Sloan, Maman Leslie, Docia Woods, Dolly Pettrey, Ada Meade and Mary Music.

The next meeting will be Monday, Nov. 6, at 7 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the church, with Rebecca Rasnick and Dolly Pettrey as co-hostesses.

LAPOINTE RECOVERING FROM ILLNESS
Relatives and friends of Mary Jo LaPointe, who was a patient for a few days at St. Joseph's Hospital in Lexington, will be glad to know that she is now at her home in Prestonsburg and recovering nicely.

ADULT CHURCH MEMBERS STILL SEEK NAME

On Tuesday, Oct. 3, adult members of the First Baptist Church, Prestonsburg, held their second meeting in the fellowship hall.

Patsy Evans, director, welcomed the group and called on Sarah Laven to lead in prayer. Then she presented the Horn sisters, Pam Horn and Robin Newhouse, who sang several hymns including, "We Are His Children," "Leaning on the Everlasting Arm" and "Shepherd of Love."

Name possibilities were suggested for the group, with a final decision postponed until next meeting. Various future activities were discussed.

Sandwiches, potato chips and iced tea were served by the director, assisted by Susan Foy, to the Rev. and Mrs. Steve Hopkins and daughters Charissa and Rachel, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foy, Jerry Midkiff, Ora Bussey, Mildred Whitacker, Docia Woods, Edna Saunders, Delmas Saunders, Myrtle Allen, Sarah Laven, Russell Laven, Goldia Williams, Faye Patton, Chester Patton, Kay Akers, Helen Music, W.D. Music, Dolly Pettrey, Rhoda Tussey, Harmon Tussey, Dixie Webb, Vivian Fraley, Rebecca Rasnick, Ada Meade, Lucy Regan, Maman Leslie, Roberta Sloan, Patsy Evans, John Evans, Pam Horn and Robin Newhouse.

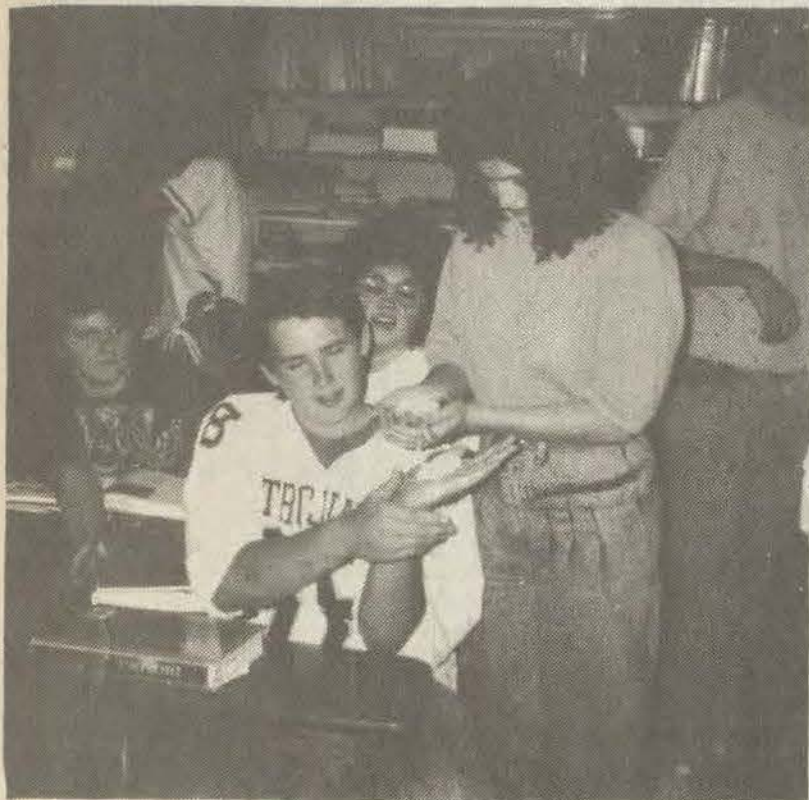

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 3:45 at this same location and person other than members of this church are also welcome to attend.

ABBOTT HOMEMAKERS TO MEET TUESDAY

The Abbott Homemakers will meet Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 7 p.m. at the church annex. All homemakers are invited to attend.

WALKING GROUP INVITES NEW MEMBERS

A group from the First United Methodist Church starts walking each Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings according to the Rev. Quentin Scholtz, pastor, and heads, "You are all welcome to join them. Regardless of walking speed, there will be someone to walk with."

Biology A Jungle At WHS

The advanced biology class at Wheelwright High School has gotten off to what students call a "great start" this year. With donations from area residents and aid from the Writing Across the Curriculum program, the class has purchased several animals. The 26 students in the class, working in groups of two or three, take care of the animals. Advanced biology isn't all fun and games, though — students must keep a journal about their animal on a daily basis. Though the class currently has only small animals, there may be a new addition soon — a 6- to 8-foot snake. With continued donations, students hope to increase the size of their "jungle." All donors will be thanked in the student newspaper, "Welcome to the Jungle." (Information provided by Haley Caudill and Stephney O'Canas.)

Halloween Carnival Wednesday, Oct. 25

There will be a Halloween Carnival at Mountain Christian Academy gymnasium on Wednesday, Oct. 25, from 6 to 9 p.m.

There will be activities and prizes, a costume contest and refreshments. Everyone is welcome; admission is 25 cents.

bring the story closer to the present, but the melodrama and sensationalism are kept intact.

Jereboam Beauchamp, a young attorney, hears the story of how Solomon Sharp, solicitor-general of Kentucky, seduced and abandoned Ann Cook. He seeks her out and proposes marriage but Ann refuses until he can avenge her honor by killing Sharp. On the eve of the opening of the legislature of 1825 Sharp is found dead of stab wounds at his home. Beauchamp is convicted and sentenced to hang. Cook is permitted to spend the last night with him and the two attempt suicide. Cook dies, but Beauchamp lives long enough to be hung. The two are buried in a double coffin.

The Legacy of the Civil War (1961): In this long essay on the American Civil War, Warren ruminates on what it did for the nation. His well explained conclusions are that it gave the nation a "felt" history and a point of reference; it abolished slavery and united the union of states; and it "catapulted America from what had been in considerable part an agrarian, handicraft society, into the society of Big Technology and Big Business."

1841. Their children: Rosanna, age 6; Seltana, age 3. This William Mead was born the same year as the 1820 census. Could it be that this is William Jr.? We know by the 1830 Greenup census that there is a William Jr., due to the fact that the William in that census is referred to as William Sr.

There is also a list of land grants in Floyd County that shows: March 25, 1842, certificate of settler land grant for 400 acres of Mud Creek, to William Meade: Returned as vacant. Certificate to Abel (Abraham?) Meade, for the same amount of acreage was shown as being vacant also. (UK Library)

Mammography

For women over 40, having a mammogram is good health practice. A low dose breast x-ray when combined with a physical exam, is the most effective way to find breast cancer early, when it's more curable.

For your health's sake consult your family physician about a mammogram at Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center.

HOROSCOPE

October 8 through October 14

By C.C. Clark

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)

You will feel a renewed sense of strength. If you were thinking about changing your career, now is a good time to look. Listen to what is not being said by loved ones.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)

Self-doubt seems to be your motto this week. Take heart, your usual confidence about the world will return soon. Stick to things you are sure of.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)

Your priorities will come into focus. Try to remember how many times your life seemed to hit rock bottom this past year, and live your life accordingly.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)

You will feel a surge of emotional security that you have not experienced in years. Family members and friends will rally for your new self confidence.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)

People all around will be making demands that you shouldn't have to put up with, so take a short vacation from your normal environment and forget them all.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)

A close friend or loved one will prove just how much they need you. This person will also help you sort out your feelings regarding a relative.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

This would be a great week to begin those crafts, or purchase presents you wanted to get for Christmas. You will be very busy at the office over the next few weeks.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

Your health should be your primary concern this week. If something has been bothering you, talking to a professional about it will help ease matters.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

A dream that you have dreamed for a long time is going to come true. Don't let others speculate about your new outlook on life. Tell them why you feel the way you do.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

You will be concerned over an agreement signed many years ago. Don't worry, things will work out in your favor in the end. Finances will improve later.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)

An argument with a family member will be resolved this week. A sudden illness of someone close will frighten you, but they will recover quickly.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)

Your financial affairs improve after reading some helpful material. With sound advice, you're able to choose what type of investments are best for you.

TV PIPELINE

Melissa Sue Anderson keeps plugging at acting career

By Polly Vonetes

Q: I would like to know if Melissa Sue Anderson is still in movies and also her age when she appeared in Little House on the Prairie. How old she is now? Also, is she married? —Wes Bates, Kermit, Texas.

A: Melissa Sue was born Sept. 26, 1962, in Berkeley, Calif. She was 11 years old when she made her first appearance on Little House. She will be 27 years old this year. She is not married and is continuing her acting career.

Q: I would like some information on Michael Keaton, his full name, where and when was he born, marital status, etc. I wish more was printed on him. I think he's sexy and a great actor. —Roxanne Corey, Lizella, Ga.

A: Michael Keaton was born on Sept. 9, 1951, in Pittsburgh, Pa., the youngest of seven children. He began his acting career while at Kent State University in Ohio where he appeared in a number of plays before dropping out and returning to Pittsburgh. Back home, he worked with theater groups, but comedy was what he was most interested in. Writing his own material, he appeared in small comedy houses around the universities. He eventually decided to go to New York. While appearing in a club for aspiring comics David Brenner caught his act and encouraged him to continue with comedy. With this in mind, Keaton headed to Hollywood where he found fame and fortune. Currently separated from his wife, he is the father of a son, Sean.

Q: On a recent episode of Paradise there was a character called Langston played by Don Swayze. He sounded a lot like Patrick Swayze. Are they related? How? —Sheila Harmon, Meridian, Idaho.

Melissa Sue Anderson

A: Good for you, Sheila. You spotted Patrick's brother, Don, who also played in the theatrical release Shy People.

Q: I recently watched the premiere of a show on Nickelodeon called Hey Dude. The cast is made up of new actors and one in particular is quite intriguing to me. His name is David Lascher. Could you possibly give me some information about him and an address I could use to write him? —Jennifer Gilbert, Rhinelander, Wis.

A: David, who stars as Ted on Hey Dude, is 17 years old. He lives with his family in Westchester, N.Y., where he enjoys tennis, basketball and horseback riding. His acting career includes the role of Robbie in the NBC pilot Down Delaware Road in 1988 and an appearance in a skit with Dabney Coleman on Saturday Night Live. Write to him c/o Hey Dude, Nickelodeon, 1775 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Please send your questions about television past and present to: Polly Vonetes, TV Pipeline, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, Texas 76102-0748. Because of the volume of mail, only questions of general interest will be answered. Personal replies cannot be granted. © TV Listing Inc.

Truck and tractor events find growing number of fans

By Jeff Thompson
 As the pennant chase heats up weeknights on NBC prior to the first game of the World Series Saturday on ABC, another kind of sporting event is revving its engines. That event is Truck and Tractor Pulling (TNT), a sport that continues to grow in popularity. More than six million people attended truck and tractor pulls last year, and an estimated 60 million viewers watched the motorsport on television. Three weekly television shows highlight the event, including truck and tractor pulls and monster truck races on ESPN; Tufftrax, a new one-hour syndicated series; and Truck and Tractor Power, an hour-long show on The Nashville Network. People from all walks of life have begun participating in the Truck and Tractor events. Wayne Rausch, a professor at Ohio State for 14 years, switched to a career on the tractor-pulling circuit and has done quite well. The "Red Man/TNT Motorsports Puller of the Year for 1988" started out with a mini-tractor competing eight or 10 times a year. "After three years, I decided to upgrade to the two-wheel drive trucks. This is now my life. It's a profession for me. I enjoy it and I enjoy being around the other pullers," Rausch said. "We have a good sport here with a lot of technology and a good competition."

Coal Town

potter's clay, all iron and iron ore, all stone and such of the standing timber under twelve inches to be used for mining purposes."

Fortunately or unfortunately, depending on one's perspective, the Shepherds and others like them kept use of their land for several more decades. The inaccessibility of the area apparently discouraged many coal barons who were looking for profits easier to come by.

In 1940, however, action was to start that would change the peaceful, isolated valley forever. Representatives of the Mallory Coal Co. of West Virginia and of C & O Railway Co. began core drilling on Lick Fork to determine the feasibility of serious mining.

Encouraged by the results, Harry LaViers, Henry's son, along with C.J. Stollings of Mallory and David Francis, son of a Virginia coal baron with local ties, united as Princess Elkhorn Coal Co. to mine the coal in the area. C & O cooperated by building a rail line from West Prestonsburg up Middle Creek to the proposed mining site.

The operations began with the building of a temporary camp at the mouth of Rough and Tough Hollow, with about five houses to house the initial workers.

While LaViers told Pinneau he was in favor of miners commuting to the mine site and building only a few houses, Francis apparently wanted to build a coal community similar to those that had been built by other coal companies throughout the region — many of which were already on the wane.

About 100 residences were constructed and by mid-1941, coal production and the community were fully underway. Needing a name, the instant town took on the moniker of its owner, David L. Francis, a Huntington, W.Va., resident with an empire of coal holdings. The other accoutrements of a mining camp were also on site, including a commissary, movie theatre and clubhouse for managers and executives.

Francis, however, wanted to take the community a step beyond the "coal camp" appellation, according to Pinneau. In 1950, a 75' x 50' swimming pool was built under Francis' auspices with largely volunteer labor from among the miners.

While the mining operation proved to be efficient and profitable for its owners, the community was being touted as a "model" mining town by newspapers in Louisville and Huntington, by mining magazines and in a government film, Pinneau says in her book.

Community organizations abounded, ranging from scouting groups with their own camps to women's clubs. One of the most noted was the Patsy Teenagers, a singing group made up of David youth and named after a type of coal. The group had its origin in 1948 under the leadership of Betty Fiedler, a music teacher and wife of a company engineer. Later, it was headed by Kathryn Frazier of Prestonsburg. The singers traveled widely and even appeared on a New York television show.

At its peak, Princess Elkhorn employed about 600 miners at its David site. "It was a wonderful place to work," says Harmon Tussey of Prestonsburg, who worked there for 32 years, first as a miner then as a foreman and manager. "We had a low seam of coal, but we ran more coal than places with twice the height."

Proving what most Eastern Kentuckians know too well — that nothing good lasts forever — Francis closed the David operation in 1968. The mines were operated on a limited basis by the Patsy Development, headed by a Tennessean, until 1972, and since that time other companies have engaged primarily in strip mining.

The town itself was sold, literally lock, stock and barrel, by Francis in 1968 to the John Allen Co. for a little over $70,000. The Allen firm sold some of the properties and then resold the remainder for its original purchase price to Woodrow Branham.

According to long time residents, the town became almost a shambles during this time, and in an unusual move, the residents themselves, through the formation of the David Community Development Corporation, bought their own town in 1974. Using federal and church loans, the DCDC paid Branham $110,000 for the town and managed another loan package to finance a new water system.

Since that time, many of the houses have been sold to their tenants; and The David School, a private, alternative school, has purchased the commissary and theatre for classrooms and offices, along with some of the former executive houses. Recently, the development corporation sold about 200-plus acres of land to the school for its new building.

Out of the rubble, residents, many of whom came with the town, are attempting to build new structures and renewed lives. Daniel Boone wouldn't know the place.

'I Owe My Soul...'

The commissary store at David was the centerpiece of the former mining town that thrived for almost three decades, as a part of Princess Elkhorn Coal Co. Today, the building bustles with students of The David School, a private, alternative school that has received nationwide acclaim this year.

Staff Changes

Pam has done a wonderful job at the Times," said the newspaper's editor, Anne Chaney. "The entire staff will miss her witticisms and enthusiasm, not to mention her writing capabilities. She is one of the finest writers I've ever been privileged to work with. Fortunately for the newspaper, she's agreed to continue writing for the Times on a freelance basis."

"Frank, who is well-qualified for his position, is likewise an outstanding writer, and we're pleased to add him to our staff."

Wayland Council

On the recommendation of Campbell, the new funds will be placed into a separate fund so that city residents will see exactly where insurance tax money is spent. Workman's Compensation and group health insurance provided to state employees are exempt from the tax.

In other action, council decided to turn off certain street lights in city areas which are overlighted, in an effort to reduce city electric bills. Lights will be turned off on a trial basis to determine savings and citizen acceptance.

Campbell also brought before council a plan by Big Sandy ADD to utilize awarded funds of $39,000 to develop a Big Sandy Labor/Management Committee which would seek to improve management and labor's relationships in the region. Plans include the creation of a subcommittee to examine labor history in the area, implementation of a survey examining outside industries' attitudes toward the Big Sandy area's management/labor relations, and the development of a Corporate Olympics program which would attempt to encourage better working relationships between management and labor in the region. Campbell requested input and participation in the new program by city council.

In final action, the council agreed to change the lock on the city building and reissue keys to authorized persons. The council also agreed to create a log into which all phone calls made on the city phone would be entered.

All council members were present at Tuesday night's meeting. The next meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 14.

Viewpoint

Overall, the majority (56 percent) feel that the local police act in a professional manner. Forty percent say that they don't and four percent are not sure. Looking at the rating of a public official (especially a police officer), we have to take into consideration the fact that they hand out punishments. This will lead to a lower rating when compared to other groups in society. So, a 56 percent approval rating for police is not unacceptable. However, when we look at who disapproves of the local police, we get some interesting results.

The break down by gender shows, 74 percent of all males approve and 26 percent disapprove. Of the women surveyed, only 48 percent say that local law officials act in a professional manner, while the majority (52 percent) say they do not. The economic group breakdown also shows a marked difference. For those making less than $40,000 a year, only 42 percent feel police act in a professional manner, while the majority (58 percent) do not. However, if we look at those who make over $40,000 a year, 75 percent believe that police act professional, and only 25 percent do not.

What we seem to have here is a quite complex happening. Floyd Countians do seem to receive good results from their locally elected officials, but the judicial relations tend to follow closer to that of national politics. Our survey suggests that the two-tier system in Floyd County tends to reward men and those making over $40,000 a year. Women and those making less than $40,000 a year are clearly dissatisfied.

Obituaries

Lillian Pelphrey

Lillian Pelphrey, 88, of Prestonsburg, died Wednesday, Oct. 4, at Highlands Regional Medical Center following an extended illness.

Born July 27, 1901, in Harold, she was a daughter of the late Fred S. and Martha Ellen Frasure Turner.

She was a member of the United Methodist Church of Paintsville. She is survived by a nephew, Edgar Turner of Oklawaha, Fla.

She was preceded in death by her husband Harry Pelphrey, her niece Avanel Swiney, four brothers, Andy, Willie, George, and Sie Turner and two sisters, Nancy Turner and Dollie Clark.

Funeral services will be Friday (today), Oct. 6 at 10 a.m. at the Floyd Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Quentin Scholtz officiating. Burial will follow in the Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel.

Anna Lou Osborne

Anna Lou "Twig" Osborne, 51, of Wheelwright, died Saturday, September 30, at her residence following a long illness with cancer.

Born November 7, 1937, at Wheelwright, she was a daughter of Elva Wnek and the late Joseph Wnek. She was raised by her great aunt and uncle the late Julie and Bill Wyskiver. She was a member of the Wheelwright United Methodist Church, where she sang in the ladies choir.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by her husband, Paul; a son, Michael Tindler of Lexington, a stepson, Guy Osborne, a member of the US Air Force stationed in Dayton, Ohio; a daughter Sandi Knight of Wheelwright; two brothers, Johnny Wnek of Manassas, Va.; and Jimmy Wnek of Wheelwright; two sisters Maggie Needles of Columbus, Ohio; and Julia Polen of Winchester, Va.; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were Tuesday, Oct. 3, at noon in the Wheelwright United Methodist Church with the Revs. Garfield Potter and Roy Harlowe officiating. Burial followed in the Buckingham Cemetery with the Hall Funeral Home caring for arrangements.

Active pallbearers were Guy Osborne, Michael Tindler, Jay Wnek, Keith Bradley, Johnny Wnek and Jimmy Wnek.

Sissie Risner

Sissie Whitaker Risner, 88, of Gypsy, died Wednesday, Oct. 4, at Riverview Manor Nursing Home.

Born Nov. 6, 1900, in Gypsy, she was the daughter of the late Morgan and Molly Risner Whitaker and a member of the Stinson United Baptist Church at Lakeville since the early 1930s.

She is preceded in death by her first husband, William M. Hicks, and her second husband Ernie Risner, two daughters, Virgie Risner and Wilma Hicks Williams, and one step-daughter, Lenora Howard Cowen.

Survivors include two sons, Charlie Risner and McKinnley Risner, both of Lima, Ohio; four daughters, Bessie Bailey of Gypsy, Oma Wireman, Shug Whitaker and Pauline Page, all of Lima, Ohio; one step-daughter, Madeline Walker of Ashland; two half-brothers, Jim and Henry Whitaker of Michigan; five sisters, Julie Risner and Edna Risner, both of Gypsy, Lizzie Salyers and Tinnie Fletcher, both of Stockbridge, Mich., and Susie Risner of Angier, Ohio; five half-sisters, Emma Jean and Cathaline of Ohio, and Minnie, Rosetta and Mary, all of Michigan; 34 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Saturday, Oct. 7, at 11 a.m. at Swampton United Baptist Church with Brothers Ray Coffee, Kenny Bailey and Joe Carroll officiating. Burial will follow in the Sam Poe Cemetery at Gypsy under the direction of Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home.

P'burg Senior Citizens Menu

The menu for the Prestonsburg Senior Citizens Center for the upcoming week is as follows, according to Patsy Evans, center director:

Monday, Oct. 9: Salisbury steak, scallop potatoes, broccoli, roll, fruit juice, sugar cookie and milk.

Tuesday, Oct. 10: Oven fried chicken with gravy, mashed potatoes, green peas, biscuit, fresh citrus fruit and milk.

Wednesday, Oct. 11: Steak submarine, baked beans or potato salad, hoagie bun, lettuce, onion, tomato, pound cake with cherry sauce and milk.

Thursday, Oct. 12: Dinner Frank, mashed potatoes, pinto beans, sauerkraut, cornbread, jello with fruit and milk.

Friday, Oct. 13: Beef stew, spinach with egg wedge, wheat bread, ice cream or pudding and milk.

Evans also announced that a group of seniors from the Emma area recently took a trip the Alice Lloyd College. They were: Violetta Wright, Bea Thornsby, Mary L. Thornsby, Norma Lee Conley, Marie Click, Ida Leslie, Iuca Hamilton, Bonnie Walters and John Evans.

Coming activities for October are: dentist visit on Oct. 10 at the center, Halloween party, health speakers, exercise and walking everyday, singing groups, beauty shop visits, art drawings, short day trips and much more.

For more information call Evans at 886-6855. All seniors are welcome at the center.

In this high-tech age of electronic media there are many ways to stay informed.

Why then, do so many people still turn to their newspaper as the medium of choice for news and information?

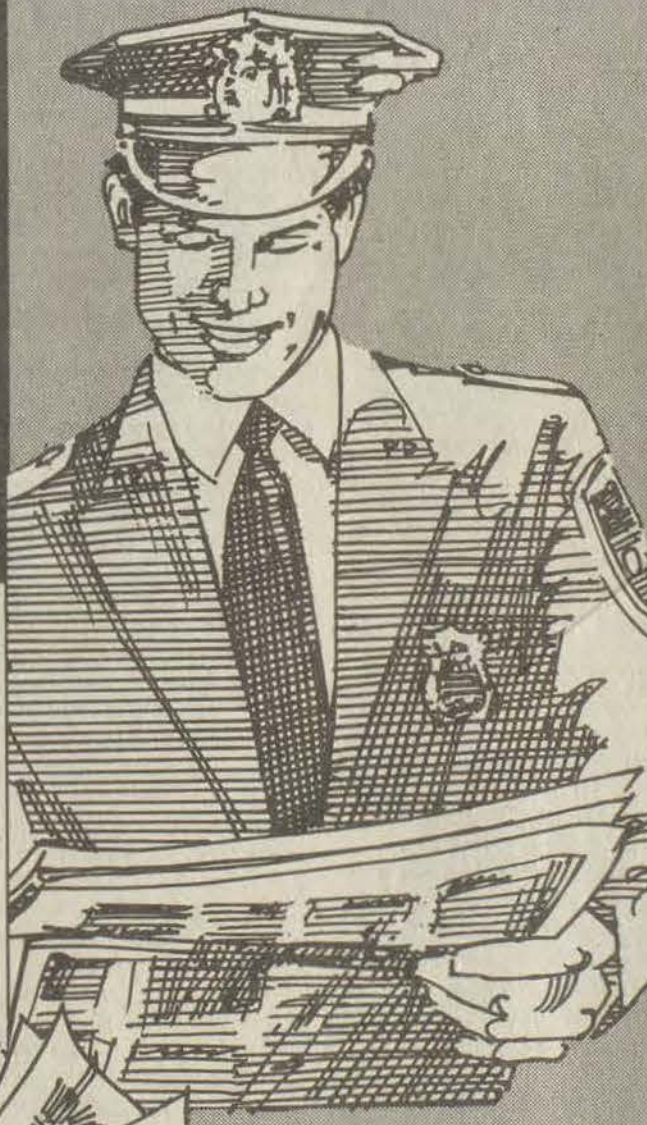

Consider this:

- Newspapers are always ready when you are and fit easily into your schedule.
- Newspapers travel light and allow you to digest information at your own pace.
- Newspapers provide more in-depth coverage and freedom of choice—you select what is important to you.
- And lastly, newspapers give you so much more. Like advice, movies, comics, puzzles, coupons and sales. It's no wonder people from all walks of life love
