Festive Window Offerings

Window displays created by C&R Office Supplies and Corner Drug brighten Prestonsburg's downtown area in preparation for Jenny Wiley Days. Celebrating the 200th Anniversary of Jenny's capture by Shawnee and Cherokee Indians in Virginia and her torturous escape in Eastern Kentucky, the festivities will include a Friday night dance, a Saturday parade, the terrapin trot, and a rubber duck race. Come down for the fun!

School Board Lowers Tax Rate

Citing financial costs borne by Sheriff Henry Hale's office in collecting additional taxes and the cost of a public referendum should the increase be challenged by citizens, the Floyd County Board of Education Wednesday night turned down a budget based on a 1.1-cent increase in school taxes.

Board member Dr. Mary Hall moved that Supt. Ronald Hager's proposed 1989-90 school system budget be accepted, but the motion died for lack of a second.

Then, in what appeared to be a surprise to school administrators, the board accepted a budget option which actually lowered the tax rate from last year's 33.4-cent rate to 28.5 cents, the previous year's rate. Dr. Hall cast the only dissenting vote.

The across-the-board school tax increase would have generated an additional $337,000.

"The timing on this situation is bad," said board chairman Dr. James D. (Doug) Adams, speaking against the increase.

Adams said the sheriff's office cannot handle the increased collection cost of a tax raise without the sheriff leaving office with a deficit. "We've worked closely with the present sheriff and he's done us well," Adams said, adding that Hale exceeded 95 percent in collecting this year's taxes.

Assistant Superintendent of Finance Russell M. Frazier explained Thursday that had the increase been approved, citizens would have had 45 days in which to challenge the decision. Once challenged, an election is required. Frazier said the 45-day deadline would have moved an election past that of the November general election; a separate election would cost the Floyd school system between $30,000 and $40,000.

Additionally, he said, a challenge would mean that this year's tax collection could not begin until February 1990, rather than in November as it currently does. He estimated the local school district may have had to borrow up to $500,000 a month to operate until tax receipts were received.

Hall said Thursday she made the motion to approve the increase and voted against the adopted budget because she felt election costs and any delay in receiving funds weren't "good enough reasons."

"It would have put us in a bind budget-wise; timing was the main thing. But we didn't have any groups against it — we should have done this back in the summer," said Hall.

The lower rate approved by the board Wednesday will still generate more revenue for the district than did the 1988 rate because of growth in the county's property tax assessments. Frazier said it will result in about $200,000 more for the school system.

At Wednesday night's meeting, to insure that the system's approved budget reached state officials in time, Frazier and state advisor Dr. Bob Gover agreed to "pencil in" adjustments reflecting the decrease in revenues during the board's closed session on litigation matters.

Festival Honors Heroine Jenny Wiley

The Jenny Wiley Festival was founded by Maxine Bierman and her late husband, Edward L. Bierman, in the fall of 1982 to honor who Mrs. Bierman terms, "The Heroine of Eastern Kentucky."

The festival was based on Dr. Arville Wheeler's book "The White Squaw: The True Story of Jennie Wiley," and he was the festival's first parade marshal.

"This year's festival is dedicated to Dr. Wheeler and I sincerely appreciate him allowing me to make the new and revised edition of the Jenny Wiley story," Bierman noted. The new edition, entitled "The Legend of Jenny Wiley," will be on sale at the festival and later at the gift shop in May Lodge.

Bierman added that the book was "born" at 1:23 and 45 seconds of the sixth month, seventh day of '89 — consecutive numbers one through nine — which she feels is significant.

The home in which Bierman was raised sits at the point where Jenny Wiley, according to legend, crossed the river to get to Harmon Station. The first story she ever remembers reading is the Jenny Wiley tale. These events led Bierman to feel a connection with this heroine and strive to mark her existence with a memorable yearly event.

"I would like to see this festival continue and let it be the time for everyone to come home since this is the most beautiful time of the year in this area," Bierman exclaimed. "It is important that we stress our heritage to our children and never let it be forgotten."

Bierman explained that all the past and present parade marshals have been chosen for their Appalachian heritage and successes in life. Past marshals include Governor Bert T. Combs (1983), Mary Elizabeth Quint, past president of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs ('84), Dr. June Buchanan, co-founder of Alice Lloyd College ('85), Barbara Gullett, associate grand conductress Order of Eastern Star of Kentucky ('86), William Pettrey, deputy grand master Grand Masonic Lodge of Kentucky ('87), Robin Stone, grand worthy adviser of the Kentucky International Order of Rainbow Girls ('88) and Gordon Ray Parido, Prestonsburg High School Basketball coach ('89).

Bierman acknowledged that she wishes to have all these people and the previous Miss Jenny Wiley winners together at next year's or the following year's parade.

An interesting fact that may not be widely known is that in the logo for the festival, on the monument and the new banners, Wiley is pictured performing the Indian sign for the "falling leaf month" — October; Wiley was captured in October 1789 and died in October 1831.

During the year's the festival has expanded and improved and now includes such things as a turtle race and a rubber duck race on the Big Sandy, in its second year.

One of the things which keeps the festival going is the large number of volunteers who give freely and diligently of their time to make the week a success, according to Bierman.

Speaking of volunteers, as part of the Friday night festival activities, the Prestonsburg Volunteer Fire Department is sponsoring a live band to perform from 8 to 10 p.m. in the municipal parking lot. Also part of the action will be games and activities and concessions, including ribs and chicken.

Saturday is the highlight of the week, and those wishing a fun filled day with beautiful weather (reportedly to be in the 80s) should visit downtown Prestonsburg and save time for the parade, which begins at 3 p.m.

Following is the schedule of events for Saturday: starting at 8 a.m. and running through the day will be a car show at Music-Carter-Hughes Chevrolet in Prestonsburg (Winners can be seen in the parade); from noon until 2 p.m. will be a reception for the parade marshal, PHS basketball coach Gordon Parido, at the Floyd County Public Library; also at noon is the "Terrapin Trot"; on the Big Sandy River at 2 p.m. the rubber duckies will race; and arts and crafts and concessions will be on hand all day.

Bryant Gives Update On Floyd Road Projects

Secretary of Transportation Milo Bryant said Thursday that the state is continuing work on three Floyd County road projects — US 23, the proposed new McDowell-Garrett road, and KY 2030 at Printer.

Residents of the latter have been vocal in recent weeks about the condition of that road, which is maintained by the state but has received little attention for a number of years.

Bryant said officials are continuing to purchase right of way for the new US 23, saying the project is "moving forward."

He added that he hopes to begin three construction projects associated with the road in May 1990. "We'll move forward from there until the completion date," said the secretary.

Bryant added that right of way purchases are continuing on the McDowell-Garrett road after a project delay earlier this summer.

"Our right-of-way people are in there right now buying right of way, but it's a slow process," said Bryant. "This administration, however, is unequivocally committed to the McDowell-Garrett Road."

Of approximately 24 parcels of land, Bryant said seven or eight purchases have been completed.

"We have 1,000 less employees than the previous administration did two years ago at this time, and we're short of funds," he explained. He added that the project interruption earlier this summer did not indicate a change in the state's commitment to build the road.

In the meantime, residents of the Printer area on KY 2030 will see a welcome sight perhaps on Friday, but at least by next week. According to the transportation secretary, engineers will be in the area to look at the road condition.

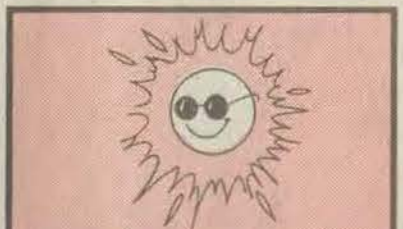

"It is our intent to try to do some patching and fix that road until weather permits us, next spring, to fix it properly," Bryant noted. He said the interim work will begin in the immediate future while weather still permits.

"I understand the people there need some relief, and I intend to give it to them," the secretary said.

He also commended State Rep. Greg Stumbo for his concern about the road, saying Stumbo had contacted him on more than one occasion.

"Rep. Stumbo is an outstanding

Great Days Coming

Get out those beach towels! Friday will be sunny and warm with highs in the lower 80s. Friday night will be clear and cool, with lows in the 50s.

Saturday and Sunday will be much the same, with temperatures in the low 80s during the day and nighttime lows in the 50s.

Monday will bring a change in the good weather. Expect a chance of showers with highs in the 70s. Monday night will be cloudy and cool, again with lows in the 50s.

The outlook for Tuesday is for partly cloudy weather and cool, with highs in the 60s.

Autumn Colors

The reds, yellows, and golds continue to sweep across the Kentucky mountains. In our area, with a 15 to 45 percent change in leaf color, the sweep of country between Morehead and Prestonsburg is considered to be prime foliage viewing area. Look for the subtle shades of sumac, hickory, and oak, mixed in with the brilliance of maple. Get out and enjoy it!

Hunter Woman Killed In Accident

Hester Mitchell, 62, of Hunter, died Wednesday in an auto accident on U.S. 23 north of Pikeville.

She was traveling in a vehicle driven by Gladys Pack, 77, of Wheelwright, when Pack turned left across the northbound lane into the path of a car driven by Bennet Thacker, 47, of Shelbiana. Thacker hit Pack's vehicle on the passenger side.

The Pike County Rescue Squad responded and used the "Jaws of Life" to remove Thacker and his wife, Linda Thacker, 32, from the damaged vehicle. All victims were taken to Pikeville Methodist Hospital, where Mitchell died at 2:20 p.m.

Pack and Bennet Thacker were treated and released. Linda Thacker is listed in fair condition. Seat belts were not in use; State Trooper Todd Henson is investigating the accident.

1989: 200th Anniversary Of Jenny Wiley's Capture

(Editor's Note: Oct. 1 marked the 200th anniversary of the abduction of pioneer Jenny Wiley. Following is the second segment of the Jenny Wiley Story, as written by the late Henry Scalf of Mare Creek. The story continues, beginning just after Indians wrestled Wiley from her mountain home.)

by Henry Scalf

The next morning they camped for a while under an overhanging rock. The savages ate parched corn or dried venison, and offered it to her, which she refused. Her baby was ill and she was fearful for its life. Black Wolf saw her concern and went out into the forest, soon returning with some herbs. After boiling them in a small cup, the tea was given to Mrs. Wiley. She gave the black concoction to the child and as the day advanced, it seemed to recover. During the retreat of the savages through the wilderness, she lost all consciousness of time. Her entire energy was devoted to keeping alongside her captors, as she knew that lagging and hesitation would bring immediate death. Black Wolf, she noticed, had taken a proprietary interest in her, and he kept near as if to guard against the scowling Cherokee. Sometimes during the days a Delaware was sent back to guard the rear, and late in the afternoon he came rushing up, crying "Harmon, It's Friday The 13th: Superstitious Beware!

If Friday the 13th doesn't phase you, and you casually walk under a ladder without thought, then you might be described as a self-confident and secure individual.

However, if you balk at the sight of a black cat or write off the next seven years when you break a mirror, you could be classified as fairly insecure, according to psychologists.

Triskaidekaphobia, the fear of the thirteenth day, may not seem a monumental problem, but neither is it entirely trivial. Morbid fear of the number 13 costs American business a billion dollars a year, according to one estimate, in absenteeism, cancellations and reduced commerce on the thirteenth of the month. Newspaper tabloids fuel this fear; when the thirteenth Apollo mission — launched at 1313 central standard time from pad 39 (the third multiple of 13) — had to be aborted on the thirteenth of April, 1970, the unlucky number was blamed. The belief that 13 people cannot dine together without fatal consequences — a belief that presumably originated in Christ's betrayal at the Last Supper — haunted the likes of Napoleon, J. Paul Getty, Herbert Hoover and Franklin Delano Roosevelt. One source states that in Paris a professional fourteenth guest can be hired to round out an otherwise ill-fated dinner party.

It has been mathematically proven that the thirteenth of the month falls on a Friday more often than any other day, so Triskaidekaphobes who are not also mathphobes will want to prove that not a year can pass without at least one Friday the thirteenth — if for no other reason than to demand an extra sick day in their workplace.

Maytown Residents Upset With Illegal Disposal Of Garbage

by Frank Clark, Staff Writer

Illegal dumping is a common problem in Floyd County. Marring roadsides and creek beds are ugly heaps of trash left by midnight dumpers who are unwilling to use landfills or simply don't care that the natural beauty of this area is being eroded by their thoughtless and illegal activities. For the great majority of Floyd Countians, illegal dumping is both a serious and volatile issue.

Several residents of Maytown recognize the seriousness of the problem in their area. While wishing to remain anonymous, these citizens want to take action on the trash mess.

"In the last day," said one Maytown resident, "we've had people dumping during the daylight hours, right on Johns Branch. They're throwing out old building material, even old mattresses. They stop right on the road and throw it down the bank. With the beautiful foliage just beginning, it's just terrible to have this right on the edge of our town."

Another lifetime resident of Maytown was equally angry.

"Along the road between Maytown and Warco is a mess, the whole Johns Branch Road. It's so beautiful when you're looking up, but you look down and it's terrible. Someone took a lot of carpeting out and just dumped it. Some poor person could have used that carpet, but they just dumped it out there."

On Wednesday of this week, Cleveland Tackett, the Floyd County ecology officer, received a call from Maytown reporting illegal dumping in progress. He went out to Johns Branch twice and noted evidence of recent dumping.

"The person who called me didn't want their name mentioned," said Tackett. "I guess people don't like to turn other people in. It scares them. When I went out, I found roofing material and building material that looked burnt. Nobody was dumping at the time."

When asked about past problems in the area, Tackett noted that he'd been to the town before.

"I've had several complaints out

State Backs Closure of Health Facility

JOHNSON COUNTY — A newly-issued state report calls for a shut down of Jenny Wiley Health Care in Hager Hill. An Oct. 5 report by the state Commission on Health Economics Control agreed with an earlier inspection report that cited inadequate supervision of residents at the home. The majority of residents at the home have been diagnosed with mental and psychiatric conditions. A final decision by the commission will be made on Oct. 18. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Fire Destroys Christian Service Center

MOREHEAD — A Monday morning fire destroyed three buildings and the charity goods they contained on Main Street in Morehead. The Christian Social Services buildings blazed for six hours and sent two firefighters to the hospital before being put out. Arson is suspected but no suspects have been reported by Kentucky State Police Fire Inspector Art Blakeman. (Morehead News)

Owsley Trooper Leaves Marijuana Mess

BOONEVILLE — State Police Trooper Ed Robinson and his family have decided to leave their home of 14 years because of increases in marijuana cultivation in the county. Robinson states that he is concerned about raising his two children in an area where pot growing is so common and where fellow citizens criticize police work against growers, because of the drug's value to the local economy. CBS television spotlighted the Owsley County marijuana problem Thursday night on "48 Hours." (Louisville Courier-Journal)

Who Runs Big Sandy Jail?

PAINTSVILLE — Six months after the Kentucky Supreme Court ruled on the case, the question of who is executive director of the Big Sandy Regional Jail has again gone before the Johnson Circuit Court. The current dispute focuses on whether Lorna Cassidy was hired to fill the director position during two meetings in January of 1988. Lawyers for Thurman Tackett, the current executive director and county jailer, say that the January meetings were invalid because of a lack of a quorum and incorrect procedure in casting votes. Judge James Knight should rule on the case next week. (Louisville Courier-Journal)

Magoffin Man Sentenced for Sexual Abuse

SALYERSVILLE — Brack Nickells, 67, was sentenced yesterday to 20 years in jail for rape and sodomy. The case involved a large Magoffin County family, 18 members of which were indicted in October 1986 for alleged sex crimes against 23 children. Nickells is currently serving a five year sentence for incest in the Kentucky State Reformatory. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Minor Fire, Traffic Accidents Reported

A Tuesday afternoon fire at Goble-Roberts was extinguished before any major damages occurred.

The home of Linda Bishop sustained damages to one bedroom wall, the carpet and some bedding after her son mistakenly mixed flammable Coleman fuel and water instead of combustible Kerosene and water to clean his aquarium, according to Larry Adams, firefighter.

Apparently the fuel was exposed to a nearby open flame and ignited, but was put out with water by the boy before the fire department arrived. "He was lucky to get it out," Adams said. Also in Prestonsburg this week, Pamela Robinson, 24, of Langley, and Earnest Osborne, 77, of Prestonsburg, collided as they were both were attempting to pull onto KY 1428 from the parking lot of United Federal Savings Bank, according to police reports.

Russell Jarrell, 27, of Prestonsburg, and Karen Howard, 39, also of Prestonsburg were involved in a collision as Jarrell turned west onto Court Street from 3rd Avenue and struck the east-bound vehicle driven by Howard.

Annual Red, White & Blue Days Coming Up

Saturday, Oct. 21, marks the 20th year for the Red White and Blue Day. This years theme, focusing on Vietnam veterans, is "Twenty Years of Patriotism."

The festivities will begin with a 5K run. Registration will be at 8 p.m. at the start of the race at the mouth of Finance Hollow on Route 80 between Martin and Allen. The runners will follow old Route 80 the entire way, ending in the First Guaranty National Bank parking lot. A first, second and third place winner will be awarded a trophy in each of six age groups, divided into males and females. Age categories are as follows: 10 and under, 11-15, 16-29, 30-39, 40-49 and 50 and over. Anyone under 18 must have parents signature to enter the race. Preregistration forms can be picked up at the bank and the fee is $5; all finishers will receive a T-shirt. Another highlight of the day will be the First Guaranty National Bank Car Show. Classes for cars range from best production cars for the years 1928-40, 1941-50, 1951-60 (convertible) and 1951-60 (hard top); to best 1928-1969 utility vehicle, 1929-57 pickup truck, 1928-49 and 1949-60 street rod; and best 1953-70 Corvette or T-bird. There is also a judge's choice category and the longest distance traveled class. Entry fee is $10 and more information can be obtained by contacting Tina Mills or Kevin Moore at 285-9281.

The flag raising ceremony, cosponsored by the Vietnam veterans and the DAV Chapter #128 from Garrett, will include the playing of taps and a 21-gun salute and will be at 11 a.m. A parade "chock full" of the American colors will take place at 2 p.m. and will feature Miss Red, White and Blue, Junior Miss RWB, Little Miss RWB and Little Miss and Master Patriot. The parade marshals for this year are Paul Hunt Thompson and Troy Branham, both Vietnam veterans.

Deadline for registration for the Little Miss and Master Patriot is Tuesday, Oct. 17, and it is comprised of three categories: Newborn to 23 months, 2-3 year olds, and 4-5 year olds (non school age). Registration fee for the pageant is $25 and it is an additional $5 to compete in the photogenic contest) The pageant will be Thursday, Oct. 19, at 6:30 p.m. at the Mountain Christian Academy. For more information contact Sharon Campbell at 886-1675 or 886-3428.

This year's festival will also contain a Lumber Jack contest beginning at 4:30 p.m. with competitions in chainsaw, cross cuts, chopping, ax swinging and more. There will also be a hot saw exhibition. The contest is open to the public and there is no entrance fee.

Eugene Hutchinson, festival representative, noted that a fireworks display is tentatively planned at dark.

Middle School Named For School Board Chief

The new middle school under construction in Prestonsburg has an official name — the Adams Middle School.

Floyd County school board members, at the suggestion of Superintendent Ron Hager, voted Wednesday evening to name what had previously been referred to as Prestonsburg Middle School in honor of long-time board chairman Dr. James D. (Doug) Adams.

"Ever since I've been on the board I have tried to help the children of Floyd County," said Adams, in acknowledging the distinction. "I believe you ought to try to help the community." He has been a board member since 1970.

Hager reported that the new school "may or may not be open" by the middle of the school year. "If it is safe to move into at Christmas, we will do so," he said.

The school is for sixth through eighth graders in the Prestonsburg area.

A Place For Parents To Get Help

The "Parents Who Care" Program, a local division of Parents Anonymous, has adopted a new sponsor.

Dr. Kathy Logsdon, Prestonsburg Community College psychology professor, is replacing former sponsor and founder Dr. Alice Adams as leader of the group. Adams formed the group in February 1986.

"We want the public to know that this group is not just for the treatment and prevention of child abusers, but anyone who wishes to have a better relationship with their children," said Logsdon. "We emphasize building self esteem, work on parenting skills and learn ways to get closer to our children."

The weekly group meetings are held in the evening and last about two hours. The meeting dates and places are kept anonymous. Those desiring more information can contact the Community Services department at PCC, 886-3863, ext. 265 or Logsdon after work hours at 1-789-4665. Logsdon and Adams stressed that "any foster, step, grand, expectant or natural parents may join and there is no fee." Child care and refreshments are provided during the meetings.

there. A lot of it happens at night and they move around a lot. Unless I catch them in the act, it's hard to prove who did it."

In response to the dumping activity, Tackett has only a few alternatives.

"I'm going to put a sign up at the place on Johns Branch where it's going on and I plan to check on it daily. To charge someone with illegal dumping, you have to have an eye witness.

Sometimes I find names in the garbage, but when I contact people they say 'Lord, I'm 20 miles from there. It wasn't me.' It's hard to catch them."

One Maytown resident believes that action against the dumping may have to come from within the community.

"We used to have a more active community, with all kinds of groups and things going on. I think we should be like that again. Maybe we could do something about the garbage. Our family gets out and picks up trash along the road when we have time. "We do what we can."

Latta Named To KAHE Board

Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta has been named to the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Advocates for Higher Education, it was announced this week.

Latta will serve a three year term on the board, which has been organized to support quality higher education in Kentucky.

"This group works for all aspects of higher education in Kentucky," says Latta. "It brings together students, parents, faculty, staff, and alumni of the eight public universities, 14 community colleges and 21 independent colleges and universities in the state.

"Since Prestonsburg is the home of the fastest-growing community college, I am pleased to be on the board to continue my work toward securing adequate funding for our community college system."

Latta's term will begin Friday, Oct. 13 (today), at the advocates board meeting in Louisville, where the annual Oak Awards honoring prestigious graduates of Kentucky colleges and universities will be given out.

The 1989 honorees of the advocates include former Governor Bert Combs, a former resident of Prestonsburg, who was instrumental in expanding Kentucky's community college system.

The other honorees are Julian Goodman, retired chairman of the board of National Broadcasting Company, a native of Glasgow; Karl D. Bays, chairman and chief executive officer of the Whitman Corporation and a native of Loyal in Harlan County; H. Charles Crawmeyer, retired chairman and chief executive officer of Reliance Universal, a native of Louisville; and Dr. Elvis J. Stahr Jr., attorney and former dean of the UK College of Law and former secretary of the Army, a native of Hickman.

Energy Assistance Program To Begin In State October 16

The Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) begins operations in Kentucky on Oct. 16, providing heating assistance to the elderly and disabled.

Federal HEAP funds are used by eligible families to pay for electricity, gas, heaters, and other resources to keep Kentuckians warm during the winter months.

Statewide, it is expected that approximately $15.4 million will be available for the program, which will be used to serve 133,000 families.

According to Ronald Wright, field service supervisor for the program, applications for assistance from HEAP in Floyd County will begin to be accepted on Oct. 16 at the National Guard Armory in Prestonsburg between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

To be eligible for this phase of the program, individuals must have a household member 60 years of age or older, or have a 100 persons disability. In order to file an application, Floyd County residents must have a verification of disability, a listing of all household members and their social security numbers, verification of all household income received in September 1989, and a bill or receipt to verify the energy source in the home.

Barbs & Bouquets

By Marty Backus

Trying to find subjects to write about in this column does not always come easily. Such is the case this Thursday morning as I sit at my desk.

Really, it shouldn't be a problem, for this is still the time we're observing National Newspaper Week, and you'd think I could at least find something about that to discuss.

Freedom of the press is one of our guaranteed rights in this country. Of course, newspapers were the first to enjoy the use of this right.

Here at home, our weekly newspaper began printing in 1927, with the late Norman Allen as editor and the late H.L. Goble as business manager. They held the Floyd County Times together, and it became the largest circulated weekly in the state of Kentucky.

I talked to Norman Allen on just a few occasions. It was in the early 1980s when I was ad manager for the News-Express in Pikeville. I'd make my runs to Prestonsburg to pick up or bring in some ads that were running in both publications. Usually, things were pretty hectic, as both papers were attempting to get out their Wednesday issues. But I'd see Norman Allen in his office, pipe in mouth, hat on head, typing away at his desk.

I didn't know Norman Allen very well, but hearing Floyd County folks talk, I do know one thing: Norman Allen will always be a part of the Floyd County Times.

While on the subject of the newspaper, did you know the Floyd County Times is about the third largest employer in Prestonsburg? Right now, we have 30 full or part-time employees.

We recently purchased 100 percent of Kentucky Highlands Publishing, which is located just a block from our offices. If you haven't heard of them, that's where our paper and five others are printed. Previously, Highlands was jointly owned by three newspapers, including the Times.

Also, we have increased our working space. Recently, we expanded into the adjoining building which previously housed the Kentucky Rehabilitation Service offices. The expansion will give all of our employees more working space.

While speaking of employees, let me say this: I feel no publisher, anywhere, could have a finer bunch of folks than we have right here at the Times.

Anne Chaney, editor, was urged to return to her home area to help me. Anne's knowledge and dedication about her job have done more than anyone will ever know to help put out an excellent product. Not only did Anne jump into her job, but she did the same thing in fitting into a community, joining and chairing several organizations and committees. So, a great big thanks to Anne.

Of course, the news staff she put together is just great. Docia Woods, always coming up with news for the society section each week; Tess Whitmer, covering numerous events, as does newcomer Frank Clark. Although Pam Shingler has moved to other things, she'll still be writing features for the Times. What can I say about our sports editor, Ed Taylor? I guess the best and most dedicated I've had the privilege to work with.

Advertising would not have been kept running as smoothly as it has been if weren't for the likes of Brenda Crouch. Brenda has been with the Times for over five years, but alas, she'll be moving on at the end of this month. Before she leaves, I'd like to say thanks, Brenda. Good luck in your quest of being an artist. Right now, the other sales folks are Gene Iredale and Valerie Hall, who see more of you than most of us. Incidentally, Gene was working for me when I broke into the news business 10 years ago. We also welcome a new proofreader, Linda Bradley.

The sweet happy voice you hear on the other end of the telephone is our own Janie Lafferty. Janie, who always has a smile, is our receptionist. Kim Little is new at the job of bookkeeping, but doing a fine job.

Now I come to the gang that stays behind the scenes, but makes it all come together. Of course, that's the crew in composing, called upon to work some really weird hours. To Willie, Jimmie, Peggy, Hannah, Jackie, Timmy and Mike, I'd put you up against anybody in or out of Kentucky, and know we'd be the best." A special thanks to you all.

From there, we go to the press crew. Johnny Adams, the head press man, has been printing the paper for 18 years, has trained Zyndall Adams to do the same and is now working on teaching Denver Mullins to print a great product. Fellas, your hours are long and hard, and we appreciate everything you've done.

Finally, but not least, we have the women who have to put the paper together so the route people and the post office get the Times on time. They're the last to finish and have hours which make them work until the paper's out.

That's the circulation department, led by Jodi Blackburn. Jodi came in when we started expanding this department and fell right into the duties of learning the system and the postal regulations. Helping her in this tough job are Theresa Garrett, Karen Ellis, April Stephens and Billie Jean Ward.

I can't forget Bob Crum and Patty Peters, who are always ready to deliver the papers throughout the county, come rain or shine.

These are the folks who make up our paper, and saying thanks to each and every one of them for their dedication and professionalism is a very small thing when you look at the job they do for all of us.

This is your week, gang, and you deserve the honor.

Ten Years Ago

(October 24, 1979)

The bid by Highlands Regional Medical Center to expand won the approval of the State Comprehensive Health Planning Council in Louisville last week — a $7.2 million proposal for a three-story building to go behind the existing structure. . . The crowd which gathered under warm sunshine was treated to nearly two hours of the 10th annual Red White and Blue Days Parade. . . Prestonsburg residents who received their 1979 real estate tax bills are missing something this year, and nobody is unhappy about it. Missing is the gym tax which has been levied since 1956 to retire the $275,000 bond issue voted for the construction of the Prestonsburg High School fieldhouse. . . A virtual feud has been taking place in the community which lies between the David section of Middle Creek and Home Branch of Buffalo Creek. Two men and a girl already have been shot, automobiles have been riddled by rifle fire, homes have been shot into and communities terrorized. Police protection is sought for Home Branch Elementary School, which has practically ceased operation because of the shooting. . . There died: Martha A. Allen, retired teacher and member of a well known Floyd family, Oct. 19 at the age of 84; Bert Blankenship, 83, Saturday at his home at Topmost; Kenith Hall, 50, of Eastern, Wednesday, Oct. 10 at his home; Pearl Stanley, 80, of Prestonsburg, Saturday at Riverview Manor Nursing Home; Henrietta Vick, 63, of Hueysville, Sunday at her home; Robert Joseph Hughes, 77, Tuesday at his home on Buck's Branch near Martin; James Garfield Collins, 97, Friday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin; Minnie Flanery, 88, of Allen, Monday at HRMC; Isabel Mae Reed, 77, Monday at her home in Manton; Vivian Lewis Robinson, 29, of Prestonsburg, Wednesday at HRMC.

Martin County is due for an economic shot in the arm with the opening of two major coal mining operations and the construction of perhaps 25 miles of railroad in the next two years. The Martin County field will be geared to produce at least two million tons of coal a year. . . A spokesperson for the Hopewell Mining Company, which has made a sizable investment in development of what has been reported as a Lawrence County area rich in gold and silver ore, said Tuesday that analysis made by nationally known laboratories fails to show either metal in appreciable amounts. . . Ninety-seven defendants are listed in the 79 cases docketed for trial at the criminal session of circuit court which will convene here Monday, Nov. 10. Twenty-three of the 79 cases allege child desertion. . . A Floyd County man is to the National Plott Hound Association what Johnny Cash is to country music. Col. Bennie Moore, owner of the Mountain Plott Hound Kennels, East McDowell, has a room full of trophies — more than 79 this year, plus many more collected in other years. . . There died: Lackey Salisbury, 74, at his home at Printer; Clifton Bolen, 29, former resident of Mousie, at Kendallville, Ind.

Anticipating a return-to-work under Taft-Hartley injunction for striking steel workers, the Inland Steel Company's idled Wheelwright-Price operation returned to work Wednesday morning, ending the longest period of idleness for the company's Floyd coal mining operation in its history. Since the 98-day steel strike Inland's miners had operated only about 10 days. . . Lee Roberts, of the Goble-Roberts Addition, wanted a business that he and his sons could run. He has constructed a 40x56 foot building and has bought several machines for farming and stitching. His firm, known as the Big Sandy Groom and Mop Company, has employed a North Carolinian, S.B. York, who has been in the broom business most of his life. . . The brand-new Prestonsburg-Auxier road has a potential death-trap at the Auxier end, it was emphasized this week in reports that in the few weeks since the route opened there have been 13 wrecks. . . The arrows began to fly Wednesday in the Shawnee country. That is to say, the archery deer season began that day in the Dewey Lake game refuge, once the hunting grounds of the Shawnee. . . There died: William Patrick, 68, at Pikeville Methodist Hospital; Mousie Lee Halbert, 85, Printer, at home; Thelma Stephens May, 54, Manton, at Beaver Valley Hospital; James William Johnson, 47, of Minnie, at McDowell Hospital.

Forty Years Ago

An Interstate Commerce Commission order cutting by 25 cents the use of coal burning passenger trains moved up two weeks ahead of the November deadline the discontinuance of two passenger trains on the Big Sandy division, and at the same time restricted passenger service on the Beaver Creeks of this county to three days a week. No measures have been taken to deliver mail by any other means. . . If the coal and steel strikes are not settled this week, a top administration official was quoted as saying President Truman will intervene. Seizure is a legal possibility under the draft law. This applies to any industry which fails government orders for material. . . A hearing designed for the purpose of gathering new data requested by Congress on the cost and proportionate benefits of Big Sandy canalization will be held by the US Corps of Engineers at Louisa. . . There died: Katie Bentley, 39, Hueysville, in the office of Dr. Mark Dempsey; Claire Newsome, 37, at her home at Teaberry; Leslie Frances Crace, 33, at her home at West Prestonsburg; Lula Elizabeth Perry, 48, at her home at Auxier; Harman J. Hermdow, 76, Betsy Layne, at his home; Ida Compton, 72, at her home; William R. Wells, 82, at his home at Auxier.

Vera P. Pool and Jean Merrill, of the Kentucky Crippled Children's Commission, making a survey of the infantile paralysis situation said that Dr. W.S. Osborne, Bypro, told them that he had seen 23 cases in that section. Dr. Ransdell's comment on the situation cited the fact that the disease had appeared in epidemic form only in the upper Left Beaver section. . . The Floyd County Health Department will be holding a tuberculosis clinic Nov. 3 and 4. The clinic is making tests at various schools of the county. . . A contract was awarded to Tony Rainier and W.B. Boyd for construction of a bridge across Left Beaver Creek at Drift. . . A total of $10,000 in claims were won before the Workmen's Compensation board recently, both suits being against the Hoppers Coal Company. . . There died: Ira Delong, 27, Auxier, at the Paintsville Clinic; Calvin Clark, 61, at his home here; Bernard Branham, 22, at the home of his mother.

Cliches, I suppose, become cliches because they embody commonly accepted truths. They serve to communicate universal experiences in a terse fashion. One cliché that has long intrigued me is: "It's a small world." Perhaps it intrigues me because I've experienced the statement's truth so many times. I grew up with it, in fact.

My grandparents, for instance, were both native Johnson Countians who traveled separately to Pike County, where they met and married in the early part of this century. Following coal booms, they settled, shortly after their marriage, in Floyd County, where my grandfather helped open Northeast Coal Company's mines at Auxier. There they renewed acquaintance with family and friends from Johnson County who'd come there to live and work.

They raised part of their family in the new coal town and then moved across the river to Johns Creek in their home county to raise the rest. When my grandfather died, my grandmother settled in Paintsville, closer still to her roots — but by then, her own parents had moved from Pike County to Floyd County to live out their days with another daughter. Even when travel along the Big Sandy was much more difficult, my family kept proving the "small world" adage, and I appear to have done my bit in maintaining the flow.

When I lived in Arkansas, for instance, one of my best friends was from Georgia, where I'd previously lived. She'd gone to the University of Kentucky in my home state. Several years after I'd moved to western Pennsylvania, she was offered and took a job in eastern Pennsylvania.

When I came back to Eastern Kentucky, ironically, I ended up living for a time in Auxier, not far from the mining house my grandparents had moved into before it was quite completed in 1910. I often met retired miners who had worked alongside my grandfather and a couple of my uncles.

At the opening faculty/staff assembly at Prestonsburg Community College right after I returned, I was introduced as a new staff member and as having recently worked at Slippery Rock University in Pennsylvania. After the meeting, a tug on my arm led to meeting a PCC math instructor, Hassan Safari, who had also worked at Slippery Rock. Another "small world" addendum.

As part of my job with The Times, I occasionally met folks from David who had known my uncle who had worked as a miner there or had grown up with some of my cousins. Add to that the fact that the editor of The Times is a Pike County native who once edited a paper in Arkansas.

Recently, while interviewing the new resource manager at Dewey Lake — who just happens to be from Pittsburgh, near where I once lived — I met one of the park rangers who was a student in one of my public relations classes at Slippery Rock. Randy Grubbs' first job out of college was with the Corps of Engineers at the Fishtrap project in Pike County, where he met his wife.

And as I leave the newspaper as a full-time staff member to go to The David School, the new reporter is a Pennsylvania native, a former David School teacher and a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, which I also attended.

When will the coincidences that illustrate what a small world this is end? Never, I hope. Each place I've lived and each person whose path I've crossed have enriched my life. As we crisscross and interact, our world does get smaller, and hopefully our understanding of one another grows, along with the realization that we are interdependent and that we need each other, whether we're in Arkansas or Georgia or Pennsylvania or right here in Floyd County or Pike or Johnson or anywhere in Kentucky. May we more and more experience that "It's a small world."

Appreciates Slone Family

Dear Editor,
I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Slone family for a most memorable day my family and I spent on Slone Mountain at the Squirrel Festival on Sept. 10.

I know it must have taken much time, money, planning and preparation to sponsor such an event.

We thoroughly enjoyed the good food, crafts, games, music and fellowship.

We are looking forward to next year's Squirrel Festival.

Yours truly,
Kenneth and Pauline Phillips,

Dear Editor,
I am interested in finding someone who has good, old-fashioned homemade soap. Do any of your readers have any to sell or know of anyone having homemade soap? I used to use it as a child growing up, and I would like to start using it again.

Any help from anyone would be greatly appreciated. Thank you very much.

Attendance Policy To Be Scrutinized

Floyd County's new attendance policy for public school students came under fire Wednesday evening during the public comments segment of the regular school board meeting.

Attorney Steve Sanders addressed the board on behalf of a client who, he said, had been placed in study hall with no allowance for making up class work after the student had missed nine days of school, allegedly because of illness.

Sanders, whose client was not named, said the student had had a bout with asthma, resulting in the missed days. He added that the student had presented a doctor's excuse and papers signifying admittance to a hospital emergency room, but had still been denied the right to make up the missed school work.

During the additional days the student was required to spend in study hall, according to an interpretation of the new attendance policy, Sanders said officials suggested the work could not be made up and the student should accept home bound instruction.

"The policy," said Sanders, "should be changed to provide flexibility. Those with excuses should be treated differently. The policy violates Kentucky's obligation to provide each child with an adequate education."

Sanders, warning that the board is likely to have more problems if the policy is not changed, asked the board to review the policy.

School board chairman Doug Adams then appointed a committee to study the policy, composed of Supt. Ron Hager, board counsel Atty. Bill Gordon Francis, Prestonsburg High School Principal Bob May, McDowell High School Principal Bobbie Hall and central office administrators Pete Grigsby Jr., Maurice Allen and Brent Allen. Adams asked the committee to make a recommendation on the policy by the November meeting.

Grigsby responded that the policy does need to be "fine-tuned." But he pointed out that the present policy does provide for a school-based committee to review individual cases, as well as a central office committee.

Attendance officer Maurice Allen also recommended that a revised policy omit stiff penalties for tardiness.

Sodomy, Burglary Cases Reported Locally

A positive test for gonorrhea gave Trooper Lee Weddington the evidence he needed to arrest Darrell Collins, 39, of Price, on two counts of first degree sodomy.

In August, a juvenile relative of Collins' went to her mother to tell of the crime allegedly committed against her last winter by him, according to Weddington.

The girl's mother immediately went to the Kentucky State Police's Pikeville Post to file charges against Collins, sparking Weddington's investigation. Weddington took the victim to Lexington with her mother to have physical and psychological tests, which showed the girl had contracted gonorrhea.

Collins is presently being held for 30 days for driving on a suspended drivers license. His case was waived at a preliminary hearing Wednesday and held over for the grand jury, which will meet in November.

In a separate case, Weddington may have solved a burglary and theft incident this week. Mrs. Benny Martin phoned the post to report missing items from her family's property Tuesday. Weed eaters, a chain saw and various other tools were stolen from their yard at around 10 p.m. Monday, and their house was broken into at 1:30 a.m. Tuesday and a microwave was taken.

Due to leads on the location of the stolen items, Weddington was able to recover the microwave and determine who the culprits were. Tuesday he arrested Virginia Barnett, 26, Tammy Charles, 23, Heath Brown, 20, and one juvenile male on burglary and theft charges. One other suspect is still at large, Weddington said.

Jenny Wiley Chairlift OK, Ready For Weekend Visitors

A chairlift in the Natural Bridge State Park, owned by Ed Music of Prestonsburg, stalled last Saturday afternoon, leaving 15 riders stranded for several hours until rescue workers could reach them.

Music said that a bearing locked in the gear box of the main engine, stopping the lift, and preventing the auxiliary engine from moving it.

"This was the first problem we've had with this lift in 22 years," said Music. "Since the gears jammed and we couldn't get our backup engine to drive the lift, even though it (the auxiliary engine) was working fine."

All persons on the lift were safely rescued. One man, Heinrich Krotchmayer of Vienna, Austria, was treated for hypothermia at Clark County Hospital.

The chairlift at Natural Bridge State Park is a duplicate of one operated by Music at Jenny Wiley State Park in Floyd County. Music said that the lifts were made by the Reblet Tramway Company of Spokane, Wash., adding that since the founding of the company in 1897, there has never been a fatality on any of its chairlifts around the country.

"These lifts have a very good record," said Music. "Our lift here at Jenny Wiley is inspected regularly by the state. I put new cables on both lifts in 1986 because, if my family and other people are going to be riding them, it's going to be safe."

The lift at Jenny Wiley will continue operations for the next three weekends, providing excellent views of the areas autumn colors.

"This weekend and next is the prime foliage color season," said Music. "The lift is running well and ready to go."

Lift hours run Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Cost of tickets are $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. Children under 3 ride free.

CKBC Blood Challenge

Central Kentucky Blood Center will kickoff its second "Big Blue Crush" with a news conference on Oct. 18 at 10:30 a.m. at the Wildcat Den, located on the University of Kentucky campus.

University of Kentucky Football Coach Jerry Claiborne will be on hand to show his support for Central Kentucky Blood Center in its challenge against the Regional Blood Center in Knoxville, Tenn. The two blood centers will engage in a battle for blood donations Nov. 13-17 with the blood center drawing the most donations declared the winner at halftime of the UK/UT football game on Nov. 25.

Claiborne, Blood Center Administrator Tom Watts, along with members of the Blood Center Citizens Advisory Committee, will be available for comments. For more information, contact Trina Hembree at 276-2534.

Lady Mustangs Win With McKinney's 21 Point Effort

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

Melissa McKinney tossed in 21 points to lead Coach Paul David Tackett's Lady Mustangs to a 52-20 win over the Garrett Lady Blackdevils Wednesday night at Wayland.

Garrett could never get into the game as they trailed 20-2 at the end of the first period. Garrett stayed within 13 points throughout the game, but a 14-5 spurt by the Lady Mustangs put the game out of reach for the smaller Lady Blackdevils.

McKinney led all scorers with 21 points and Dee Dee Music tossed in 14 for the winners. Stumbo's Lady Mustangs are now 3-0 on the year.

Garrett was led by Chrystal Mullins with nine points. Meggan Manns and Brook Allen each added four points for Garrett. Garrett falls to 1-2 on the year.

Stumbo 20 6 12 14 (52): Dee Dee Music, 14; Melissa McKinney, 21; Misty Johnson, 4; Ashley Tackett, 4; Amanda Hamilton, 2; Lynn Hall, 2; Shawna Hall, 2; Christy Johnson, 3.
at Garrett 2 11 4 5 (20): Chrystal Mullins, 9; Meggan Manns, 4; Brook Allen, 4; LeAnn Francis, 2; Chrystal Sexton, 1.

A proposal to increase the tangible property rate was approved by the board, subject to checking its validity with state officials. School administrators have since learned that the rate cannot be increased, as both tangible and personal property rates must be the same.

At a public hearing on the budget prior to the regular board meeting, teacher Bud Reynolds, representing the Floyd County Education Association, questioned why FCEA officials had not been given previous access to the budget proposal.

Supt. Hager responded that the budget proposal "is not a public document until it is presented to the board."

Reynolds asked Hager, "If the tax call is not passed, will we be in a deficit?" Hager replied, "It's possible."

The FCEA representative also requested that the organization receive a copy of the general budget and monthly updates in an effort "to inform and educate ourselves."

D.A.R.E. PROJECT GETS BOARD APPROVAL

In other business, the board approved a request from Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta for the city to initiate a pilot project for Project Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) at Prestonsburg Elementary School.

Latta said the city Police Department will sponsor the training of an officer who will present 16 weekly programs for fifth or sixth graders at the school, at no cost to the school system.

In a related matter, Pete Grigsby Jr. said the system will have its own three-year program on alcohol and drug abuse prevention. He said a grant for the program has been applied for and that David Turner will be director. Counselors at Mountain Comprehensive Care Center have aided in designing the program, he said, and will assist with an in-service program for teachers on Dec. 1.

Grigsby also said curriculum guides for the program are available for kindergarten through 12th grade.

CONSTRUCTION UPDATE GIVEN

Concerns about contracting problems were raised during the meeting, prompting the board to agree to meet with contractors and architects one hour prior to each regular board meeting.

Architect James Ellis told the board members they "can expect to move dirt in January" for the proposed Left Beaver High School. He said the target bid date allowing the sale of bonds for the building is the end of this calendar year. He estimated site work on the project to total about $1.2 million.

The problem of securing water for the site was raised by administrator James F. Frazier. "I think if we press Beaver-Elkhorn (water district), they'll get water to the site," said Adams.

OTHER BUSINESS

The board also approved a request by non-teaching personnel to establish a sick leave bank; approved purchase of six buses at a cost of $224,000; authorized acceptance of "lowest and best" bids for food service equipment and roofing; authorized acceptance of "highest and best" bid for the sale of old buses and a vault door at the central administration building; extended the school-year policy for the special education program, and approved reciprocity agreements.

The board also passed Hager's recommendations on employment and transfer of personnel, hiring of substitute teachers, resignations and leaves of absence, use of school facilities, professional services, asbestos removal and field trip requests.

Assistant Supt. Russ Frazier reported that the system's liability insurance covers student participation in parades, as field trips, as long as it is requested prior to the event. Owners of private vehicles used to transport students in parades should be informed that they are responsible for liability insurance on their passengers, he added.

Long range planning coordinator John K. Pitts informed the board of progress in establishing a long range planning committee. He said attempts have been made to include each personnel and constituent group and to cover every geographic area of the county. Pitts said the committee is to meet with state education officials "sometime before the first of November."

The board also reviewed a state building survey which outlined priorities for construction, renovations and building usage. A public hearing on the state's proposed facilities survey plan is set for Nov. 1 at 6 p.m., Hager said, adding the meeting place will be announced later.

Chairman Adams stated he wants to make sure the board has the "option to change interim and permanent (designations of building usage) if transportation routes and population centers change."

Harmon." The Indians stopped, a few words were spoken, and the fierce old Cherokee came back, seized her child and threw it against a tree. After that, her captors moved faster over the path, and as the day ended, no sign of stopping was given by them. Sometime after dark, she heard the rush of great water, and although she did not know it at the time, it was the Tug Fork of Big Sandy. Although the stream was full of floating debris, an Indian seized her on each side and they swam over—so eager were they to cross from the side upon which Harmon and his men were approaching. Having crossed, they took shelter under a large rock cliff. No fire was built and they lay down to rest. Daybreak coming, the march downstream was resumed, but at a more leisurely rate. They left the war trail, took to the rougher terrain, and attempted to leave no sign. To Mrs. Wiley the journey was becoming almost unbearable, while the death of her child had relieved her somewhat of the physical burden, the spiritual burden of the tragedy and the stirring of her unborn child increased. Only the threats of the Indians forced her ever forward on the trail, and when they did camp, she was at the point of exhaustion. They brought forth some dried venison and she ate, for our physical need is ever present. One of the Indians knew a little English, and he began to ask about "Old Skygusty". She had difficulty in comprehending whom he meant until he referred to the "Little devil with a big nose." That would be Mathias Harmon, their inveterate enemy, who had trailed, fought, and killed their race for years. She told them that Harmon was at home and would soon overtake them. This enraged the savage. "You lie, white hussy, Old Sky Gusty is dead!" he said fiercely, but Mrs. Wiley saw he did not wholly believe Harmon was dead. Just why some of the Indians thought he was dead is unknown, except it was the fight of the year before on the headwaters of Tug in which the Harmons gave a good account of themselves. In this battle, Henry Harmon was seriously wounded. The savages may have heard it was Mathias and that he died from their arrows.

Coming to the Big Sandy below the present site of Louisa, they swam it with Mrs. Wiley in the same fashion they had swam the upper Tug. Retreating down the valley, they came out to the Ohio and descended to opposite the present site of Portsmouth. They had been nine days on the trail. The river was in great flood, and seeing that crossing was impossible, a retreat to the mouth of the Little Sandy River was made. They ascended this stream and after many campings, settled down to what seemed a long stay on the Cherokee Fork of Big Blaine Creek. Her captors assigned her to a small cave, and here one winter night her child was born. Time passed, and she was about, assisting as she was ordered to do in the camp chores. One day the Indians gathered at the cave and stated, through one of their number, that her child must undergo a trial or ordeal by water to determine if it would be a warrior or not. Taking it by force, they came to a large pool in the creek, Mrs. Wiley following in the background. Some floating pieces of wooden debris was thrown into the water and upon this crude raft the child was placed. It lay there for a moment, and suddenly she dashed into the water, seized her child, and fled across the creek into the woods. The savages followed and brought them back. The Indian spokesman had said, "We will put baby in water. If it does not cry, it will make a great warrior and we will rear it in the ways of the red man. If it cries, it will not make a warrior and must die." This time they dropped the baby into the stream. There was a feeble cry and a savage brought it out, and killed it against a tree as the old Cherokee had killed her other child on the headwaters of Tug.

Wednesday: Jenny Wiley's saga continues.

representative for the area. I talked to him again Thursday, and he was very concerned," Bryant added.

Printer residents went to Frankfort Friday, Oct. 6, and met with Secondary Road Program administrator Donnie Kell.

According to a spokeswoman for the group, Phyllis McKinney, Bruce Coleman and other residents discussed the condition of Rt. 2030 with Kell at some length.

Kell, said McKinney, agreed that the road is in poor condition. Rt. 2030 has been a state road since 1969. Kell reportedly said that the road would be "number one" on the list in the spring of 1990 to be blacktopped as funds allowed. If work is not finished in 1990, McKinney related, Kell said it would be continued in the spring of 1991.

McConnell's Comments

Sen. Mitch McConnell

TOBACCO EXPORTS PUT MONEY IN GROWERS' POCKETS

The good news for Kentucky tobacco growers has been the surge in exports of tobacco and tobacco products. This dramatic increase will lead to an escalation in the tobacco quota this year which means that Kentucky tobacco farmers will be putting an additional $120-$140 million in their pockets this winter.

I believe that for the foreseeable future stronger exports will provide stability to our tobacco markets. A recent study shows that US tobacco producers sold more than 108 million pounds of tobacco leaf than would have been sold had the US government not forced countries like Japan, Korea, and Taiwan to knock down their unfair trade barriers. This accounts for an additional $175 million on the auction floor.

Although we were successful in opening these Asian markets more challenges remain. Thailand is a country that is closing the door on tobacco producers' ability to sell in that country. The United States Trade Representative (USTR) is currently pursuing an action that will force Thailand to remove the barriers that block entry of our tobacco. If these barriers were removed, burley sales alone would reach $20 million.

Also in attendance at the meeting were people who testified that the US should not be exporting tobacco because of a perceived health threat. This is ridiculous. I believe a foreign citizen has every right to purchase an American cigarette that uses US tobacco in its blend. If the United States never exported another leaf of tobacco or pack of cigarettes it would not stop the consumption of tobacco in one single country. It would deny millions of consumers a higher-quality product plus drastically reduce the income of 60,000 plus Kentucky growers and thousands of agribusinesses that depend on the tobacco crop. We simply cannot and will not let tobacco exports be restricted.

Its been five years ago today, Since God called our Dad away,
It left our homes and hearts so sad, A greater Dad, no one could have.
We've tried to go on with our life day by day, To say we have forgotten you, there's no way,
We remember how you preached and prayed, And taught us in the good old way.
Your preaching Dad, we hear as if yesterday We tried to teach our children the self same way,
So just wait a while on the Golden Shore We will come soon, to be where you are.
Just sleep on in your peaceful state, Time goes on, you won't have long to wait.
You suffer no more from grief and pain, Our loss is surely Heaven's Gain.

Marsha Brown's 43 Points Sting Lady Wasps, 58-20

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

She may stand only 4'7", but she plays basketball much taller. She sees the court well. She can spot the open person on the court with her passes, yet she possesses an uncanny ability to mix it up with the larger players under the basket.

Marsha Brown of the Maytown Lady Wildcats is an explosive player wrapped up in a petite frame and dressed up like a basketball player.

Brown scored 43 points Tuesday night to lead the Maytown Lady Wildcats to a 58-20 victory over the Wayland Lady Wasps at Wayland. Brown used her speed and "picked the pockets" of the Wayland girls for some easy layups, but she also shoots well — and consistently — from the corners.

The Lady Wildcats scored the first seven points of the game and went on to lead at the first stop, 11-2, with Brown scoring seven first period points.

The Lady Wasps were guilty of numerous turnovers, especially double dribbling calls. With Maytown leading 15-4, Brown scored 13 unanswered points to move the Lady Wildcats out to a 28-8 half time lead.

Lisa Stumbo and Michelle Castle teamed up with Brown in the third period to outscore Wayland 16-4. Brown scored 10 of the 16 points, and the squad held a commanding 45-11 lead.

Wayland showed some good movement in the fourth stanza, led by Jamie Webb's six fourth quarter points. Lady Wildcat coach Jalenda Howard inserted her bench and they finished the 58-20 win for Maytown. Stumbo and Castle each scored six points for Maytown. Cita Miller tossed in four. Brown had 14 field goals in the game and hit 15 out of 24 free throws. Several times in the game, Wayland tried to triple team Brown. Webb led the Lady Wasps with nine points.

The Lady Wildcats are now 2-1 on the season and Wayland is 0-2.

Maytown 11 17 17 14 (58): Lisa Stumbo, 30-26; Marsha Brown, 14 15-24 43; Michelle Castle, 3 0-0 6; Cita Miller, 2 0-1 4.
at Wayland 2 6 3 9 (20): Amy Crisp, 1 0-0 2; Jamie Fultz, 0 1-2 1; Jamie Webb, 3 3-7 9; Christie Tackett, 1 0-0 2; M. Corbett, 1 0-0 2; A. Sparkman, 1 0-4 2; Charla Hall, 0 0-1 0.

Scores 43 Points

Marsha Brown (22), 4'7", scored 43 points against the Wayland Wasps Tuesday night at Wayland. The Lady Wildcats toppled the Lady Wasps, 61-18, for their third win of the season.

Poor First Quarter Does In Clark Indians

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

The Clark Indians, still looking for their first win of the season, fell to the Auxier Hornets 58-42 as a result of a slow start in the first period of play.

The Hornets outscored the host team 14-3 in the first and never looked back as they won by 16 points. Both teams played on even terms after the first quarter. Clark trailed at halftime 24-15.

A balanced offensive attack helped the Hornets to capture their third win of the year. Steve Adkins scored 19 points in leading the Hornets to victory. Merlin Osborne added 15 points, while Jason Slone scored in double figures with 10.

Dickie Jarvis (who is filling in for Coach Farler) has the Hornets in high gear this season. A school which normally has a knack for losing in basketball has certainly been turned around this time out. The Hornets are 3-1 on the season and are a contender for a championship.

Clark was led in scoring by Mike Arnett with 11 points. T-Tom Slone, Jeremy Osborne and Jeff Johnson each added seven points each. Clark is 0-6 on the season. Clark will travel to Prestonsburg next Wednesday night and Auxier will entertain the Blackcats Tuesday night.

In the "B" team game, the Clark Indians kept their undefeated record intact with a 36-32 victory over the junior Hornets. Mike Arnett had nine points to lead Clark. Jeremy Osborne, Tim Lane and Carlos Cooley each tossed in six. Ervin Osborne had 26 for Auxier in the loss.

Auxier 14 10 15 19 (58): Jason Burke, 6; Jason Slone, 10; Merlin Osborne, 15; Jerry Lafferty, 2; Steve Adkins, 19; Ervin Osborne, 6.

at Clark 3 12 12 15 (42): T-Tom Slone, 7; Jeremy Osborne, 7; Jeff Johnson, 7; Mike Arnett, 11; Jason Mitchell, 4; Jason Osborne, 6.

Balanced Attack Helps Martin To Overcome Wayland, 58-49

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Coach Jimmy Hopkins of the Martin Purple Flash got a balanced offensive attack from his charges as they overcame the Wayland Wasps in the third period to take a 58-49 hard fought victory over Coach Ronnie Patton's squad.

Martin, last year's Floyd County Grade School champions, led at the end of the first period, 17-11, behind the scoring of Byron Gearheart, Ronnie Sammons and Kelly Stephens. The Purple Flash could only manage five second stanza points. Wayland's Jason Martin found the range and netted 10 second period points to put the Wasps up by two, 24-22, at half time.

In the third period, Martin's Hubert Likens, who seemed to be somewhere else in the first half, burned the nets for 10 third quarter points, as the Purple Flash outscored a game Wasp team 14-10 to take a 36-34 lead at the end of the third.

Toby Robinson's eight fourth period points teamed with Likens' and Gearheart's six points gave Martin a 22-15 run and a 58-49 victory over Wayland.

Martin is 3-0 on the season while Wayland fell to 0-3. Martin will entertain the Mustangs of John M. Stumbo Monday night in a make up game, and Wayland will host Prestonsburg in their next game.

Likens led the Purple Flash in scoring with 17 points. Byron Gearheart netted 15 for the winners while Robinson tossed in 10.

Martin was the leading scorer for the Wasps with 32 points. Donnie Combs added nine for Wayland. Todd Hansford had six in the game.

Wayland 11 13 10 15 (49): Jason Martin, 12 11-8 32; Todd Hansford, 1 7-4 6; Donnie Combs, 4 2-1 9; C. Lee, 1 0-0 2.

at Martin 17 5 14 22 (58): Glenn Floyd, 1 0-0 2; Charlie Wade 0 1-0 0; Hubert Likens, 7 5-3 17; Byron Gearheart, 6 6-3 15; Ronnie Sammons, 4 2-0 8; Kelly Stephens, 3 2-0 6; Toby Robinson, 4 2-2 10.

Jenny Robinson Nets 20 In Lady Purple Flash Win

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

The Martin Lady Purple Flashes, coming off a heart-breaking 36-35 loss to Dorton, got 20 points from Jenny Robinson and went on to defeat the Wayland Lady Wasp 76-18 at Martin

Wednesday night.

Martin blew out to a 19-4 lead after one quarter of play. At half time the game was no longer in doubt as the Lady Purple Flashes moved out to a 44-6 lead.

Coach Doug Derossett played his entire bench in the game as Martin won its third game of the season against one defeat. Wayland is 0-3 for the young season.

Traci Dingus netted 11 points in the Lady Purple Flash win. Krystal Floyd had 10 points for Martin. Kathy Conn added nine; Roni McKinney and Jenny Mullins tossed in eight each.

Jamie Webb was top scorer for Wayland with six points. A. Sparkman had five points for the Lady Wasps.

In an earlier game against Dorton, a last second shot by J. Julie handed the Lady Purple Flashes their first loss of the season at 36-35. Martin had come back in the fourth period after trailing throughout the game by seven points. In the fourth, they took a 35-34 lead and, with three seconds showing, the winning basket was made. Robinson led the Martin team in scoring with 12 points and Kristal Floyd added nine. Martin missed 20 free throws in the game, many of them being front ends of one-and-ones.

Wayland 4 2 8 4 (18): Jamie Webb, 3 4-0 6; A. Sparkman, 2 2-1 5; Kaddie Bradley, 1 0-0 2; Jamie Fultz, 1 2-1 3; Christie Tackett, 1 0-0 2.

at Martin 19 25 14 18 (76): Traci Dingus, 5 2-1 11; Jenny Robinson, 10 0-0 20; Maggie Hancock, 1 0-0 2; Roni McKinney, 4 0-0 8; Angel Hancock, 1 0-0 2; Kathy Conn, 4 3-1 9; Krystal Floyd, 5 0-0 10; Rhonda Prater, 2 0-0 4; Eula Robinson, 1 0-0 2; Jenny Mullins, 4 0-0 8.

Wayland Falls To Maytown, 54-31

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

With the grade school basketball season in full swing, the county has some outstanding young players in the grade schools this year. Two of those players, Jeremy Clark and Chris Halbert of Maytown, matched up to provide 18 points each to lead the Wildcats to a 54-31 victory over the Wasps.

Maytown outscored Wayland 20-10 in the final period to break open an otherwise close game.

Wayland jump out to a quick 4-0 lead in the opening minutes of the contest. Two buckets and a free throw by Halbert, coupled with a Clark field goal, propelled the Wildcats to a 7-4 lead. Jason Martin, another outstanding player in the county, scored underneath to make it 7-6.

Then, Maytown employed a full court press that seemed to bother the Wasps. The press also slowed the Wasps' tempo. Maytown led at the end of the first quarter, 9-6.

Baskets by Martin and Donnie Combs at the start of the second stanza put Wayland on top, 10-9. Clark then went to work and scored six unanswered points as Maytown led by five 15-10. Wayland trailed by six at the half, 20-14.

With 3:00 to go in the third period, Maytown extended its lead to 13 points, 30-17, on two baskets and two free throws by Kevin Martin. Martin pulled down several rebounds for the Wildcats as he took control of the boards.

Two quick baskets by Martin beginning the fourth period cut the lead to nine points. However, Maytown had a 7-0 run to lead by 16, 41-25.

Both teams inserted their subs and Maytown won by 23 points, 54-31.

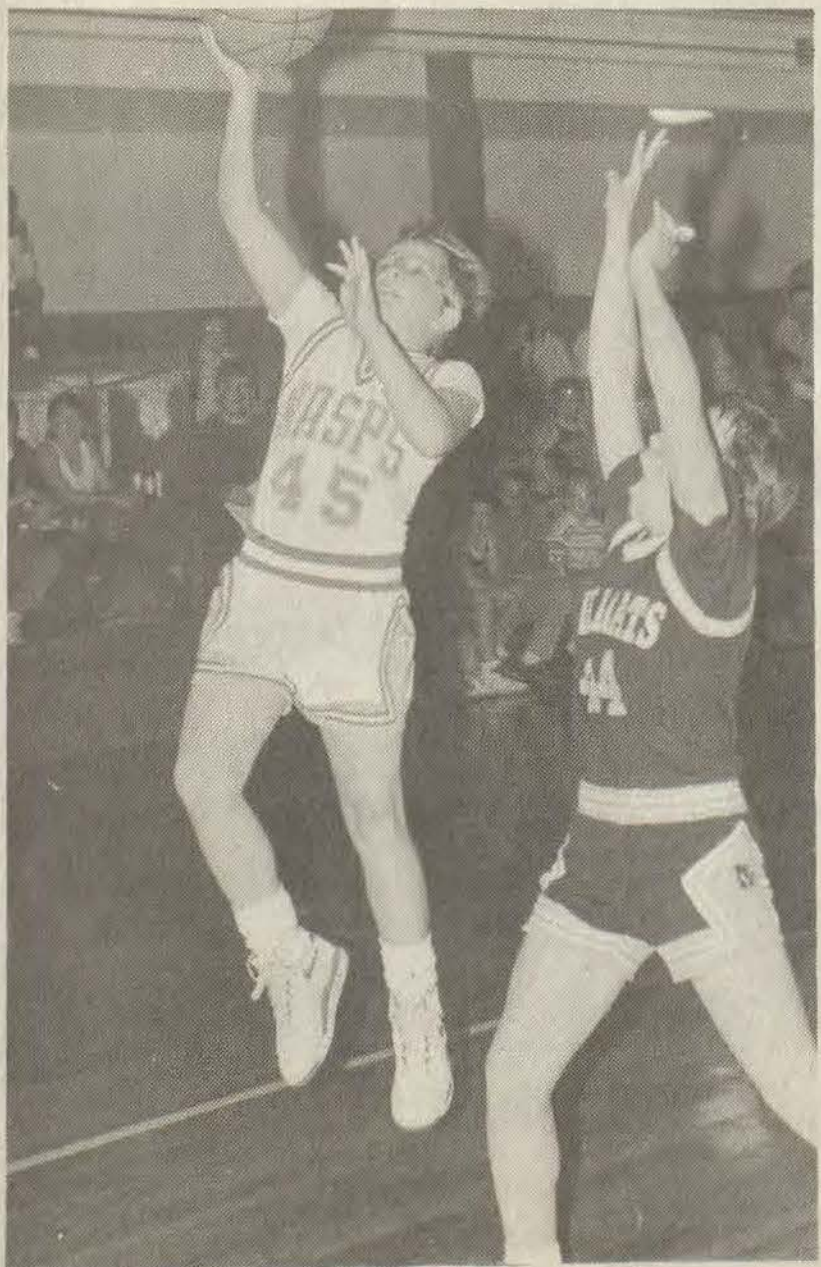

Besides Clark and Halbert with 18 points, Nick Hagans added eight in the win for Maytown.

Martin led the Wasps in scoring with 20 points. Todd Hansford tossed in five for Wayland.

In the boys "B" team game, Nick Hagans scored six points to lead the Maytown JV to a 25-24 overtime victory over the Wayland JV. Hagans' basket with 16 seconds left in overtime sunk the younger Wasps. Nick Halbert added five points in the win for Maytown.

Matt Crawford had 13 points in Donnie Combs (45) sails to the basket for two points against the Maytown Wildcats Tuesday night at Wayland. The Wasps lost to the Wildcats, 54-31.

Ratliff Leads Lady Bobcats Past Melvin Cougars, 42-10

The Betsy Layne Grade School Lady Bobcats held the Melvin girls scoreless in the second and fourth periods as Jamie Ratliff scored 18 points to lead the Lady 'Cats to an easy 42-10 victory Tuesday night at Melvin.

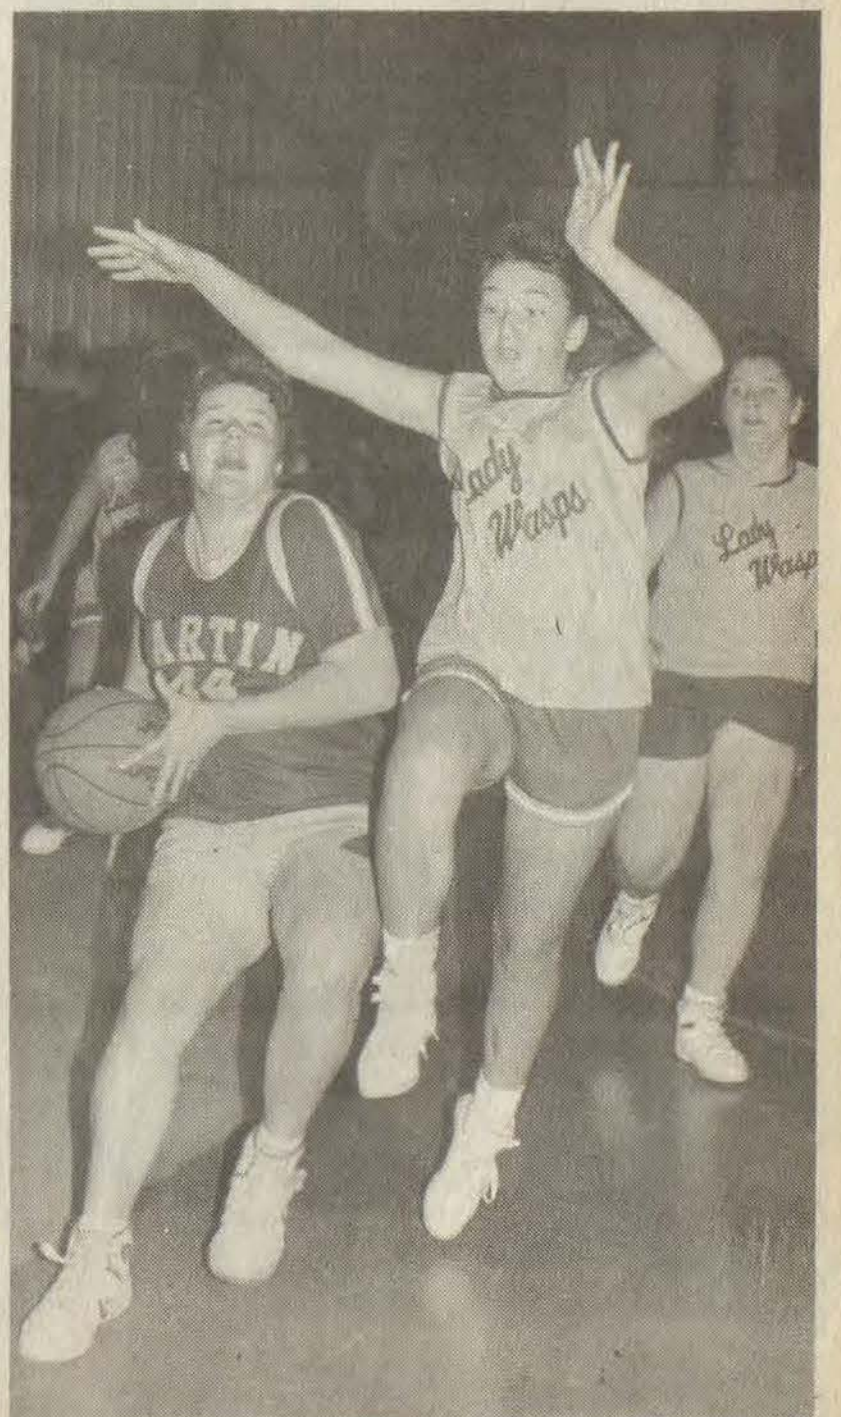

Melvin trailed by only six at the end of the first period, 14-8. In the second quarter neither team was able to find the basket as they played to a 0-0 tie; the score at half time remained 14-8.

Betsy Layne lit up the board in the third stanza by outscoring Melvin 14-2, and had a 12-0 run in the fourth quarter. Melissa Tackett led Melvin with six points. Rhonda Thornsberry and Christy Hall added two points each. Becky Kidd and Misty Clark each tossed six points for Betsy Layne. Amanda Eplin had four.

Betsy Layne improved its record to 3-1. Melvin falls to 0-2 on the season. The Lady Bobcats will play at John M. Stumbo next Wednesday. Melvin plays at Allen Tuesday night.

Betsy Layne 14 0 14 12 (42): Becky Kidd, 3 0-0 6; Amanda Eplin, 2 0-0 4; Jamie Ratliff, 9 0-0 18; Christy Osborne, 0 0-0 0; Aaron Baker, 1 0-0 2; Becky Rogers, 1 0-0 2; Cambra Maynard, 1 0-0 2; Misty Clark, 3 0-0 6; Jessica Hamilton, 1 0-0 2.
at Melvin 8 0 2 0 (10): Melissa Tackett, 3 0-0 6; Rhonda Thornsberry, 1 0-0 2; Christy Hall, 1 0-0 2.

Sailing To The Basket

Kathy Conn (44) sails toward the basket for two points of her nine points in basketball action Wednesday evening at Martin. The Lady Wasps fell hard to the Lady Purple Flashes, 76-18.

We have a two way tie for the top spot, as the light of the dark room, Mike Burke, makes good his vow to take first place and hold it. But our editor Anne Chaney says "No way, Mike." Keep watching to see how it unfolds as they both forget that publisher Marty Backus is still in the race. Kentucky seems to be the favorite of our prognosticators to win. Locally, Betsy Layne gets the nod. Our fearless predictors see trouble for Cincinnati at Miami, especially after the ambush of Cleveland last week. However, they favor Cincinnati to win in the pros.

Nelson's Free Throw Sinks Lady Bobcats

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

The Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats lost a tough one at the hands of the Prater Lady Cougars 19-18 Wednesday night at Betsy Layne. The game was not a high-scoring affair, but it was close, which made it interesting.

The Lady Cougars held the Lady Bobcats scoreless in the second period enroute to a 10-2 half time lead.

Both teams found it hard to score in the third period as they could only manage six points between them. Betsy Layne scored four and Prater two.

In the fourth, with Prater on top 18-16, Misty Clark hit two pressure free throws to tie the game at 18-all. With time running out, Heather Nelson was fouled. Nelson made one of two free throws to win the game for Prater.

The win was Prater's first of the season, and Betsy Layne suffered its second setback.

Nelson was the leading scorer for the Lady Cougars with eight points. Tammy Conn had four. Clark was tops for Betsy Layne with eight and Amanda Eplin and Jamie Ratliff added four each.

 Betsy Layne 20 6 10 (18): Becky Kidd, 1 0-0 2; Amanda Eplin, 2 0-0 4; Jamie Ratliff, 2 1-0 4; Misty Clark, 3 8-2 8.
 at Prater 28 27 (19): Misty Conn, 10-0 2; Heather Nelson, 3 4-2 8; Dana Akers, 1 0-0 2; Rhonda Conn, 1 0-0 2; Tammy Conn, 1 2-2 4.

Betsy Layne Rides Hamilton's 19 Points To Win Over Melvin

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

Coach Ernie Tackett's Betsy Layne Bobcats rode the 19 point performance by Keith Hamilton to a 71-55 victory in grade school basketball Tuesday night at Melvin.

Melvin standout Jeff Tackett, with 31 points, was the game's leading scorer.

Betsy Layne had trouble finding the basket in the first quarter as Melvin held an 11 point lead, 21-10, at the end of the first stanza.

"The bus ride over to Melvin was a long one. Our players were tired when they got there and a couple of our players got sick," Betsy Layne's mentor stated.

In the second quarter a 23-15 run by the young Bobcats cut the lead to three at the half, 36-33.

"They got some easy baskets on us on run outs," remarked Tackett. "I couldn't get our boys back to stop them."

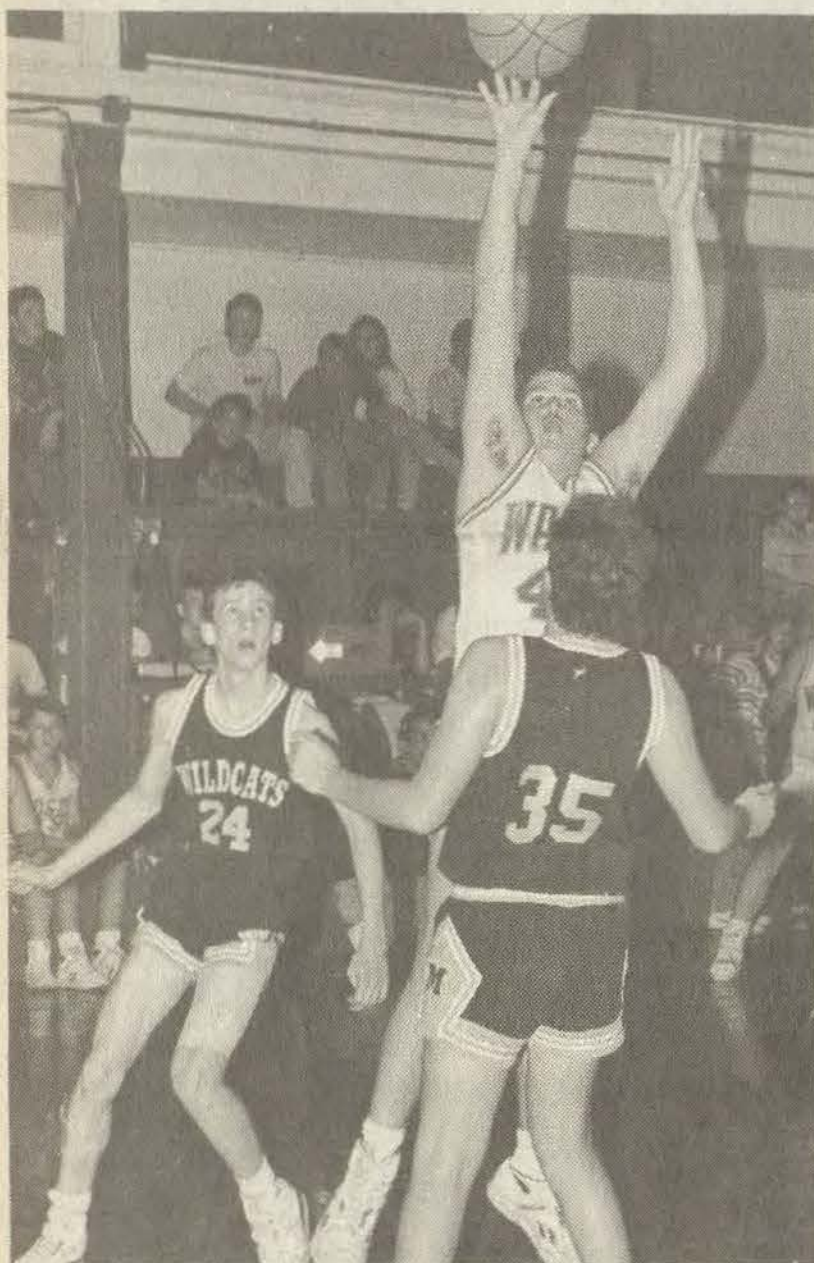

The Bobcats outscored Melvin 18-

10 to take a 51-46 lead at the end of the third stanza. In the fourth quarter a 21-9 blitz gave Betsy Layne a 71-55 win over the Cougars of Melvin.

Ryan Ortega netted 12 points for Betsy Layne. Dale Kimbler was in double figures with 10 points and Jason Hall, Randy Wallen, Chris Hunt each contributed eight points each.

Nathan Berger added 13 points for Melvin while Justin Rhea added seven.

Betsy Layne stays perfect with a 4-0 record and will play at Stumbo next Wednesday night. Melvin will travel to Allen Tuesday night.

Martin Against Martin

Kevin Martin (35) stands in the way of Jason Martin (42) as Jeremy Clark (24) looks on. Martin (Jason) scored 20 points for the Wasp in their 54-31 loss to the Maytown Wildcats.

Clay Tosses In 14 Points In Clark Lady Indians Win

The Clark Lady Indians' stand out basketball player Jamie Clark scored 14 points to lead the Lady Indians to their sixth straight victory, 41-9, of the yet young basketball season.

With the bench getting plenty of playing time in this one, the Lady Indians had a balanced scoring effort. Christy Little, Andrea Shepherd and Becky Webb each tossed in six points each for Clark.

Clark held the smaller Lady Hornets scoreless in the first period of play as they led, 26-0. Clark put in the subs in the second period and Auxier outscored Clark 5-2 to trail at half time, 28-5. Auxier could only manage four points in the third period and was held scoreless again in the fourth as they fell to Clark, 41-9.

Geri Charles led the Auxier Lady Hornets in scoring with seven points. Chrystal Marsillett had two.

 Auxier 05 40 (9): Geri Charles, 7; Chrystal Marsillett, 2 at Clark 26 2 1 12 (41): Christy Little, 6; Andrea Shepherd, 6; Becky Webb, 6; Maria Hicks, 4; Jamie Clay, 14; Kathy Webb, 2; Jolene Hackworth, 2; Nanna Allen, 1.

'Ortega-less' Bobcats Slip Past Prater Cougars, 48-41

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

Coach Ernie Tackett's Betsy Layne Bobcats, playing without their scrappy little guard Ryan Ortega, outlasted the Prater Cougars in a close one, 48-41.

Ortega, who runs the young Bobcat offense, was out because of sickness.

Prater, always known for its scrappy play, held a two point lead over Betsy Layne at the end of the first period, 14-12. A cold second stanza when the Cougars could only manage five points found Prater trailing at the half way mark by six points, 25-19.

At the end of the third quarter both teams had played to a 35-35 tie after Prater scored 16 points in the period. Betsy Layne outscored the Cougars 13-6 in the fourth stanza to win by seven, 48-41. Prater could only manage to hit nine of 21 free throws in the game. Betsy Layne missed 19 charity tosses from the stripe.

Chris Hunt led Betsy Layne in scoring with 12 points, followed by Jamie Hunt's 10. Vince Williams and Keith Hamilton tossed in eight each.

Ronnie Hamilton topped Prater with 14 points. Mark Ousley and Adam Roberts had 11 and eight points respectively.

Betsy Layne keeps its record perfect at 5-0 and Prater is 0-4. Betsy Layne visits Stumbo Wednesday night and Prater will travel to Maytown Monday evening.

College Outlook

In The Midwest:

Michigan at Michigan State

By way of comparison, Notre Dame beat Michigan at Ann Arbor in September, 24-19. One week later the Irish defeated Michigan State in South Bend 21-13. That's just for those who might have forgotten, or those who like to check comparative scores. The Spartan-Wolverine confrontation is Saturday. Two years ago, on its way to the Big Ten championship, Michigan State beat Michigan in Spartan Stadium, 17-11. Last year in Ann Arbor, the Wolverines, also on the road to the Big Ten title, handed Michigan State its only loss in the conference, 17-3. The Wolves hold a 53-23 series advantage in this bitter intrastate rivalry. *****

Down South:

L.S.U. at Auburn

Auburn and L.S.U. finished in a dead heat for the Southeast Conference crown last fall with 6-1 conference records. Auburn's only defeat in its overall 10-1 season was a 7-6 loss to L.S.U. The Louisiana Tigers lost to Florida in the league and they also suffered two non-conference losses. Louisiana State hosted Florida last week in its first conference game while Auburn was a 21-14 loser to Tennessee two weeks ago. *****

Out West:

UCLA at Arizona

The Wildcats of Arizona have had two big conference wins over Stanford and Washington while losing to Oregon. UCLA whipped California two weeks ago. *****

Closer To Home:

Rutgers at Kentucky

The Wildcats will be trying to snap a two game losing streak against powers Alabama and Auburn as they will entertain Rutgers on homecoming at UK. Claiborne's 'Cats needs to get well, physically and game-wise. After the Rutgers game, things won't get any easier for the Wildcats, as LSU comes to Commonwealth Stadium and a trip to Georgia awaits the Big Blue chargers in the next two weeks.

Best Man For Local Corps Job Isn't One

By Pam Shingler, Correspondent

The first woman resource manager in the three-state Huntington district of the US Army Corps of Engineers is stationed in Floyd County.

Patti Williams, a tall, attractive Pittsburgh native, took over last month as chief administrator at the Corps' Dewey Lake project, one of the largest federal projects in the district, which covers southern Ohio, western West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky. She replaces long-time resource manager Dean Murray, who retired earlier this year.

In a field that's opening to more and more women, Williams still remains one of the few women nationwide who have been put in charge of a major park facility.

"I was overwhelmed and excited when I was offered this project," says Williams. "It's a unique challenge. This is quite a large project, with quite a lot of visitation."

As resource manager, Williams oversees more than 12,400 acres of federal land, plus the lake itself. Her staff includes three rangers, a secretary, four maintenance employees and several seasonal workers.

The project manager, soft-spoken and professional, admits she's still spending much of her time getting acquainted with the job and wading through reams of paperwork.

Much of the paperwork deals with the Corps' leases for use of the land. "I have to become familiar with the leases and work with the agencies that lease the land," she explains, pointing to a stack of papers waiting to be perused.

The Corps, she informs, leases land and facilities to the Kentucky Parks Service for its Jenny Wiley State Resort Park and to the state Fish and Game Commission for regulation of hunting and fishing on the site.

Oil and gas leases are also maintained with fuel companies, and easement leases are prepared for other utilities. The Girl Scouts, operator of the sky lift, owners of cottage sites and individuals with garden plots are among others whose parkland.

In addition to the leasing, the manager has to be concerned with recreational facilities, water patrol and flood control.

Williams laughs about how she came to be involved in park management. "It was kind of a bet with my dad," she says. "He kept asking what I was going to major in in college. I told him I wanted something where I'd be outdoors, since I loved outdoor activities."

Her father's skepticism about a city girl managing a career out of doors made her more determined to "prove him wrong," she says. At West Virginia University, just an hour or so from Pittsburgh, she majored in parks and recreation in the School of Forestry.

She's worked out of doors ever since. First with the National Park Service's law enforcement division, she worked at Fire Island National Seashore in New York, and at Cape Cod National Seashore, she was a member of the horse patrol, riding horseback along the beach every day. She was later sent to Nevada to work for the park service at Lake Mead.

In Nevada, she switched to a job with the federal Bureau of Reclamation of Arid and Semi-Arid Lands. There, she was technical tour guide at Hoover Dam. "I led groups up and down the dam all day long, walking about five miles a day," she says.

Joining the Corps of Engineers, she was a park ranger at Bluestone Dam in southern West Virginia. Apparently, her variety of experience and her outgoing personality impressed the district Corps administrators, since she describes her jump to resource manager at Dewey Lake as "a quick move up, almost phenomenal."

The district office was "enthusiastic" about the move, she says, adding that the "staff here have been terrific."

She's also impressed by the beauty of the area and by the friendliness of the people. She describes the drive along secondary roads from her residence in Thelma in Johnson County to the park as "beautiful." The people she's met have been "very accommodating, glad to help you."

This area, she adds, "seems like a metropolis, compared to where I lived in West Virginia." From her former post, she says she had to drive about 45 miles to get to a town the size of Paintsville or Prestonsburg.

On the job, she's overseeing the

LGW Woman's Club Meets, Finalizes Plans For Dinner

The GFWC/KFWC Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club recently held a called business meeting in the home of club member Ina Cooley, Eastern, to finalize plans for the daughter club dinner to be held Monday, Oct. 23, in the Baptist Church fellowship hall at Garrett.

Assignments for food were made and Libby Martin advised that a telephone confirmation had been received from the Seventh District Governor as to her presence at the dinner, at which time she will speak to the group.

Prior to the business session, devotions were conducted by Marsella Bradley, followed by the Pledge to the Flag. LaFaye Hughes read the Club Collect. Hughes, as treasurer, also gave the treasurer's report.

The new club president, Jo Ann Hall, discussed the fall district meeting. She also brought up the subject of money-making projects. Libby Martin agreed to place the order for the Mammoth Pecan Halves which the club has sold for many years. Also, orders will be taken for stainless steel cutlery.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Vera Allen, Marsella Bradley, Joyce Stephens, LaFaye Hughes, Maxine Martin, Jo Ann Hall and Libby Martin.

The next meeting will be the club dinner Monday, Oct. 23.

Christ United Methodist Church members and pastor Kenneth R. Lemaster welcomed Ella Mae Goble into membership during the morning worship services Oct. 8.

Floyd County Families: Our Heritage

(Part 7)

I next find William in Greenup County, Ky., in the 1830 census. (Richard Hardiman, Greenup Co. census). He and Elizabeth Meade are the only two Mead-es in this census. It is my firm belief that William went to Greenup County about 1821, as this is the same year that his brother Benjamin died. To further strengthen this reasoning is the fact that I find in the book "Greenup County marriages, 1803-1853" by Richard and Louise Hardiman, on page 38, there is a marriage between Theophilus Goodwin and Sofana Mead, dated 8 January 1833. Sofana is shown as the daughter of William Mead.

The Floyd Grantor Index also shows the following: At a commissioners sale on 20 Nov. 1847, William and Elizabeth sell 50 acres on Little Mud Creek to Daniel Akers (Bk-E, pg. 502). On 17 Nov. 1852, William, Elizabeth Jane and Abram (Abraham) Mead sell to Daniel Akers an additional 50 acres on L. Mud (Bk-F, pg. 312). On the same date, the same three sell to Jesse Hamilton, 50 acres on L. Mud. On 23 Nov. 1852, only William and Elizabeth sell to Jesse Hamilton, 200 acres on L. Mud (Bk-F, pg. 315). This is the last records that I have been able to find pertaining to William Mead-e.

In the Floyd County marriage records is a marriage of Abraham Mead and Jane Jones on Dec. 2, 1849. Also in the marriages of Lawrence County by Kozee, there is a marriage of John Hanley (Haney) and Mary Mead on May 7, 1849. They are shown as living at Lot #964: John Haney, 20, Ky.; Mary (Mead), 19, Ky.; and Elizabeth J., 2/12.

In find in the 1850 Lawrence County census the following: Lot #717, Susan Mead, 70, Farming, Va.; Sarah Mead, 23, Ky.; Jackson, 18, and John, 15. Lot #718, Abraham Mead, 32, farmer, $100, Ky.; Jane Mead, 28; Sarah Ann, 12; William H., 8; Lucy (Lucinda), 5; Nancy, 4; Elizabeth, 9/12.

Next door to Abraham at lot #719 is Keziah Mead, 35. Living with her is Kisiah Nelson, 37, and Nancy Rose with two children, George W., 3 and Martha, 1.

Note: There are some other younger Mead children living with various families in the 1850 Lawrence County census. It was a common practice at this time period, in the event of the death of the parents, for other relatives and neighbors to take the children of the deceased and raise them in their homes. I believe this is the case of such an event. I am not aware of the deceased parents' names in this case.

The following names and locations are the individuals involved: Lot #5, living with the Benjamin Graham family, Susan Mead, 18; Lot #92, living with the James Graham family, Martha Mead, 17; Lot #441, living with the Joseph Borders family, Albert Mead, 14, referred to as Gilbert hereafter; Lot #637, living with the John Preston family, Isabel Mead, 20 (on Aug. 8, 1852, Isabel married Benjamin Morgan); Lot #686, living with the Arthur Preston family, Noah Mead, 16; Lot #690, living with the Hezekiah Borders family, Mary J. Mead, 14 (married Jesse Spencer, Dec. 22, 1853); Lot #840, Malenda Mead, 28 (widow?), John Mead, 12; Kisiah, 10 (traditional name); Cynthia, 7; Henry H., 6; Katherine, 4; Lynchia, 1.

I also find in the marriages of Lawrence County (by Kozee) a marriage between Kate Mead and James Weddington, dated Aug. 25, 1825. This James Weddington is a native of Pike County and they move back there and raise their family.

The 1840 Greenup County census still shows Elizabeth Mead, with six slaves, but William is not shown. H.A. Mead with one slave and A.G. Mead with four slaves. All are sons of Benjamin (B.) Mead. These are the only Mead-es in this census.

I have found a William Mead in Trimble County, Ky., in the 1850 census. The following is the way it is listed: District #1, Lot #410, Trimble County: William Mead, 56, farmer, $1000, born 1794, Virginia; Susan, 39; Levi, 24; Mary, 15; Katherine, 12; Arabella, 11.

Living the same county is another William Mead, listed as follows: Lot #690, William Mead, 86, born 1764, no birthplace listed; Benjamin Mead, 40; Margait, 30. There are so many conflicting reports pertaining to William, it makes it almost impossible to give an accurate accounting of him or his descendants. Known children: Sofana Meade (#262), married Theophilus Goodwin, Jan. 8, 1833, Greenup County; Katherine Meade (#263), married James Weddington, Aug. 25, 1825, Lawrence County. (These children are not proven as daughters of William.)

Next week: Samuel Mead and Catherine Goodbread.

SENIOR GROUP MEETS AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Members of the senior group of the First Baptist Church, Prestonsburg, held their weekly meeting in the fellowship hall there Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 3:45.

Steve Hopkins, pastor, presided. Tom Foy, director of music, accompanied by Missy Carter on the piano, led the group in song.

The pastor asked for prayer for prayer for those who are ill, and discussed the condition of Billie Little, who is seriously ill.

Frankie Best, local artist, did a free-hand drawing of a lighthouse scene, while Carter and Foy led the group in singing "Jesus is the Lighthouse" and "Let the Lower Lights be Burning." Best's presentation brought enthusiastic applause from the audience.

Testimonies were heard from Frankie Best, Lucy Regan, Chester Patton, Faye Patton, Sarah Laven, Dixie Webb, Ada Meade and Jerry Midkiff.

Following the pastor's challenge to the group to be "the light of the world," the meeting adjourned.

The next weekly meeting will be Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 3:45. Senior citizens of this church and others are invited to attend.

Present for Tuesday's meeting were the Rev. Hopkins, Foy, Missy Carter, Ora Bussey, Docia Woods, Rhoda Tussey, Harmon Tussey, Meade, Regan, Vivian Fraley, Myrtle Allen, Webb, Laven, Roberta Sloan, Faye Patton, Chester Patton, Midkiff and John Evans.

HOROSCOPE

October 15 through October 22

By C.C. Clark
LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)
 Romance is in the air for you. If you were thinking about purchasing a large, or expensive item, it would be better to wait until the end of the month.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)
 It is necessary for you to keep a watchful eye out for undermining co-workers. A loved one needs your assurances that everything is going to be OK.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)
 You will need your wits about you in order to complete the task at hand. Your boss and others will be looking at how well you perform under pressure.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)
 New clothes are needed to fit the new you; be confident in your choices. This is a wonderful time for you. You will make an endearing commitment to a loved one.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)
 A new relationship experiences a rocky period when one of you doesn't understand the needs of the other. Things will smooth over by the week's end.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)
 That friend you helped last week will return the favor tenfold this week. Take their advice and use your brain when dealing with your boss.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
 It is quite possible that a long-standing problem will be cleared up this week. A loved one could be planning a special rendezvous for the two of you.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
 This is a great time for you to go on vacation. Family members will be surprised by something you do spontaneously, but will approve of the act.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
 A child would benefit greatly from your kindness. Even though you may feel tired this week, take the time to show loved ones that you care; they need special attention.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
 Your friends will be your saving grace. Listen to their advice, then formulate your own opinions. A night out on the town could do your spirit wonders.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)
 You will feel more comfortable with the job at hand. Your boss will probably be a little more lenient with you if you explain why things are taking so long.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)
 Your work place will need your immediate attention this week. Your excellent performance record will prove that you are the one to take on a new task.

TV PIPELINE

Actor's musical skills could lead to reunion with kinfolk

By Polly Vonetes

Q: We are trying to locate an address for Christopher Plummer. My husband was separated from his Plummer side of the family when he was 5 months old and all we know is that his father was a piano player. My husband is gifted in that line and when we found a record by Christopher we thought maybe there could be a chance they were related. —Phyllis Plummer, Weimar, Calif.

A: Try contacting Christopher Plummer through International Creative Management, 8899 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90048.

Q: I saw a movie some years ago starring Beau Bridges. He was put in a mental institution and was told that he had killed his mother. Eventually he was released and went to visit his brother and the house his mother lived in. I would like to know the name and if it is on video. —Kathleen Boegemann, Burnsville, Minn.

A: The only movie starring Beau Bridges that resembles what you described was released in 1976 under the name Dragonfly, and was later changed to One Summer Love. The description reads, "A young man leaves mental hospital for his Connecticut home, only to find everyone there nuttier than he is." Susan Sarandon, Mildred Dunnock and Michael B. Miller co-star. It is not on video.

Q: Where can one write to voice a complaint for the removal of Dolphin Cove? It was one of the few programs a family could watch together. Why won't the TV station carry good wholesome programs anymore? —B. Bowen, Plano, Texas

A: At the risk of making many people angry, I must tell you and others who ask the same question, the obvious reason "good family viewing" is not on is because there aren't enough "families" watching this type of programming. Television is a business sponsored by advertisers. Advertisers want to reach as many viewers as they can and pay premium rates to advertise on a hit series. A "hit series" is determined by the number of viewers it attracts. If the numbers are not there, the show goes. As one of the network executives (whose network really needs higher ratings) told me recently, "Why would we take a high rating series off the schedule? What would we gain? We need the ratings to attract advertisers to our network." True, many of us are unhappy with TV programming, but we are outnumbered.

TIME OUT

Distefano makes his mark in more ways than one

By Jeff Thompson
It's not often that an athlete both sets his place in history and suffers the most embarrassing moment all in one season. But just ask the Pittsburgh Pirates' Benny Distefano and he'll tell you it can happen.

Distefano had the distinction of becoming a baseball rarity and a nationally televised oddity all in one season.

He became a baseball rarity on May 14 when his team went up against Atlanta. His feat: Distefano became just the sixth lefthanded catcher in the majors since the turn of the century and the first since Mike Squires of the White Sox in 1980.

The left-handed catcher entered the game in the ninth inning and recorded a putout on a strikeout. "I'll do anything to get a chance to play," Distefano said.

Now, as for becoming a nationally televised oddity, Distefano was the victim of a clubhouse prank in yet another game against Atlanta, this time on Aug. 20.

Teammates placed a dollop of shaving cream on Distefano's cap, and twice TV cameras focused on him in the dugout. In the fifth inning, he warmed up the pitcher, still not realizing the shaving cream was on his head.

Eventually, however, he found out.

"From now on when they ask my most embarrassing moment," he said, "that will be it."

Conservationists Attend Convention

New Arrival

Sarah Anita Hall was born Aug. 4 at Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin to Diana and David Hall of Calf Creek. She was delivered by Dr. Krishnarao Potnis; Karen Potnis also attended the birth. The new arrival weighed 6 pounds, 13 ounces when born, and was 19 and one-half inches in length. She is the Hall's second child. Her sister, Patricia Joyce, is a first grader at Allen Elementary. Her maternal grandmother is Patricia Kilburn of McDowell; her paternal grandmother is Kathym Hall of Arkansas Creek.

The table fork was introduced into England in 1601.

completion of a volleyball court and the installation of an additional comfort station, both on the Corps' downstream recreation area next to the dam. She also wants to see the Corps become more visible through staff involvement in community activities. Last weekend, the Corps was represented in Johnson County's Apple Festival and will be in the Jenny Wiley Festival this weekend.

When she settles in, Williams says she also plans to get involved with a local ambulance or rescue service. A national paramedic, she has taught classes in emergency medicine.

The new manager says she enjoys just about any outdoor sport, including swimming, running and golfing. She also likes sky diving and scuba diving, but doesn't expect too much activity here in those sports.

"Right now I'm putting in a lot of overtime, just trying to get caught up," Williams says. "But I'm interested in getting into community activities in the area and I hope to take some courses at the community college."

If Williams has her way, her presence and that of the project she heads will have an even greater impact on the area.

Clergy Pastoral Care Workshop Oct. 17

McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital will host a clergy pastoral care workshop on Tuesday, Oct. 17.

The program will begin at 4 p.m., and a complimentary meal will be served at 6 p.m.

The workshop programs will be presented by the Rev. Charles N. Wilcox and the Rev. Thomas W. Schuler, chaplaincy program consultants for Appalachian Regional Healthcare. The programs are open to clergy of all denominations, and workshop subjects will be of special interest to pastors.

Ed Collins, McDowell ARH administrator, invites all are clergy to attend, adding that it will be an opportunity for him to personally welcome them to the hospital.

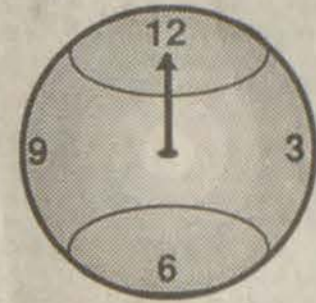

Those planning to attend should call McDowell ARH at 377-2411, extension 101, to make reservations for the complimentary meal.

ARH is a non-profit healthcare system operating hospitals, ambulatory care clinics, pharmacies, home care stores and home health services in McDowell, Hazard, Harlan, Whitesburg, Middlesboro, West Liberty and South Williamson in Kentucky; Man, Beckley and Grafton in West Virginia; and in Wise, Va.
