Bea-u-ti-ful!

A huge high pressure system which extends north from Canada and all the way down to Texas will give us fine weather for the next five days.

Friday should be sunny, with highs in the mid-70s. Friday night looks to be clear with a low near 40.

Saturday will also be sunny with a high of 75, and a low Saturday night around 50.

The extended outlook for Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday calls for partly cloudy skies during the day, with highs in the mid-70s. The nights will be mostly clear, with lows near 50. An Endless Summer!

Fall Fell...

Heavy rains throughout most of southeastern Kentucky dampened the brilliant autumn colors, but fall enthusiasts can still see changing leaves.

The most colorful spot in Eastern Kentucky is the Hazard area. Ninety-seven percent color has been reported near Big Creek in the Daniel Boone National Forest, making the Daniel Boone Parkway a beautiful drive.

Just Across The Road: Through A Building?

This temporary road going across a present construction site is just that — temporary, according to County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo. Until county officials can find a new access road for the people who live on Meadows Branch during the construction of the Job Corps Center's girl's dormitory, some residents say they live in a constant threat that they will not be able to get out at any given moment.

Meadows Branch Residents Worried About Access To Homes

by Tess A. Whitmer,
Staff Writer

The residents of Meadow Branch, a hollow which lies behind the Job Corp Center, are concerned about access to their homes now that a building is under construction over the existing road leading up the hollow.

The foundation for a girl's dormitory, the most recent addition to the Job Corp Center, lies on federal property, according to Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo. But so does the road which has been utilized for 20 years by Meadow Branch homeowners, according to Johnny Allen, resident. Herein lies the problem.

Carolyn Meadows presented the October Fiscal Court with the situation, at which time Stumbo informed her that he was "well aware of the problem and they will not be blocked in."

Allen noted that Congressman Chris Perkins had informed him that the contractors "were not supposed to do anything until an alternate road was provided." Stumbo said he has had County Attorney David Barber and his assistant Attorney James Allen researching all the possibilities and they expect to know something soon, although nothing is resolved at this point.

Johnny Allen commented that it is a situation which changes "minute by minute" since construction is still underway. Officials at the Job Corp were unavailable for comment, but several of the workers there substantiated Stumbo's claims, saying that the construction would not progress to the point that it blocked the resident's access, and only the work that can be done without that happening is continuing.

The road which used to lead into Meadow's Branch has been abandoned for over 20 years and has overgrown substantially, and ownership has reverted back to the original owner, Amram Garrett, according to Stumbo. James Allen said that the county is looking at several possibilities, including utilizing part of that

New College Savings Program Announced

By Tess A. Whitmer,
Staff Writer

A new savings program which enables parents to invest in their child's future education kicks off on Wednesday, Nov. 1.

Secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet in Frankfort, L. Rogers Wells Jr., flew into Prestonsburg Community College Tuesday morning on his way to a luncheon at Morehead State University to publicize the program, which was designed by Gov. Wallace Wilkinson. Kentucky is the first state in the country to establish such venture.

According to Wells, who is also chairperson of the Kentucky Education and Savings Plan Trust (KESPT), the program is titled "Kentucky Education Enhancement Program (KEEP)".

called the program "outstanding," saying it gives "an opportunity to many people who can not afford to go on to school otherwise. With the amount of time they have to contribute, there will be no last minute scrambling for increasingly harder to obtain student loans and grants."

According to wells, the program will allow virtually all families to create a savings plan to pay college expenses.

KEEP accounts earn interest comparable to bank rates, as well as interest accumulated by the KESPT Endowment Fund. Any family who has a KEEP Account will proportionately share in any earnings made by the Endowment Fund investments.

He said that estimates show the average cost of sending a student to a four-year college in the year 2000 is around $50,000.

"This may be out of reach if parents don't start planning today," Wells commented. "An education is an investment and should be treated as one by saving early."

Parents may write for a free enrollment kit from KEEP, and via an enclosed chart, find out how much their monthly payments would need to be to afford tuition and expenses. The chart is based on the child's age and expenses at various colleges.

McDowell Parents Request Changes By School Officials

by Frank Clark,
Staff Writer

The message was loud and clear: Make these schools safer for our children.

On Tuesday night, over 400 concerned and angry parents met at the First Baptist Church in McDowell to discuss the events of the previous week's flooding, which on Oct. 17 trapped over 750 elementary and high school students in rising floodwaters at the McDowell campus.

Tuesday night, parents' primary concern was that classes were not canceled until after children were brought to the school, even though rain had been falling heavily during the night and area creeks were running high. A second concern centered on the decision by Earl Ousley, transportation director for the Floyd County School System, and school superintendent Ron L. Hager to keep children at the schools until flood waters receded.

Many parents waded through thigh-deep water to reach the school and take their children home, and were angered at both the school board and emergency and rescue personnel who allegedly criticized the removal of children through high waters.

In response, a petition was drawn up by the newly-formed Left Beaver Concerned Citizens group. The petition was signed by approximately 1,500 area residents, according to Nedra Slone, parent of a McDowell High School senior, and a committee representative for the new group. The petition condemned the handling of the flood emergency by Ousley and Hager, and requested a public apology for their decisions and for the apparent perception that parents' actions to remove their children was dangerous and uncalled for.

They further requested that authority be given to the McDowell schools' principals to delay or call off classes if the principals believe that potential danger exists. Currently, only the Floyd County transportation director and school superintendent can make that decision.

'Safe Trick-Or-Treat' Sunday At Holiday Inn

Witches, werewolves and warlocks, ghosts, goblins and ghouls, monsters, madmen and . . . merchants?

Merchants, indeed. Between 40 and 50 businesses are expected to participate in Sunday's "Safe Trick-Or-Treating" at the Holiday Inn of Prestonsburg, an event jointly sponsored by the city's Rotary Club and the lodging facility to help keep Halloween safe for area youngsters.

"Safe Trick-or-Treating" will begin at 5 p.m. and last until 8 p.m. — an hour later than the previously-announced schedule due to Sunday's time change.

Area merchants will help provide Halloween treasures for kids by giving away candy, rulers, pencils, coloring books, toys and trinkets. The ghoulish fun is provided free of charge, complete with tricks, treats and a "Trail of Terror."

First held last year, the event drew between 4,000 and 5,000 children from throughout the county; 1,200 had been anticipated. This year at least 5,000 children are expected, according to Arby Bush, Rotary member and assistant manager of the Holiday Inn.

The young ghouls and ghosts will enter through the lobby of the Holiday Inn, embarking on a "Trail of Terror" as they pass through the banquet rooms. The Prestonsburg Fire Department is providing the haunted house. Lurking along the way will be various monsters, including werewolves, Count Dracula and Freddie Kruger. Good guys will also abound, Bush adds, in the form of Batman, Batgirl and Alf. Freddie the Fire Hydrant (the Prestonsburg Fire Department's robot) will help out with the evening's antics.

From there, children can begin going room to room, seeing what goblins and scares businesses will provide. Merchants won't provide the only fun — state, city and auxiliary police, as well as the rescue squad, will likewise provide Halloween tricks and treats. They'll also help patrol the area and provide traffic and crowd control.

Prestonsburg City Police are offering to fingerprint children for identification purposes free of charge as part of the evening's activities.

"We would like for everyone to come out and participate since we are trying to provide a safe environment for the children," notes Bush. "We feel like the children are our greatest resource for the future, and we have a responsibility to protect them. It will be lots of fun, too!"

Those attending are asked not to park on the median of the four-lane, but rather to park on the shoulders or in the Holiday Inn parking area.

If the event sounds like it will be too much fun to miss, businesses don't have to — about 10 rooms are still available, Bush says.

"Safe Trick-or-Treating" was the original idea of the Prestonsburg Rotary Club, a service organization with approximately 30 active members.

OTHER FEARFUL, FRIGHTFUL FUN

Jenny Wiley State Park will be sponsoring a host of fun, spooky activities for the Halloween weekend.

Regional Roundup

Health Care Center Fights for Life

JOHNSON COUNTY — The Jenny Wiley Health Care Center plans to file a lawsuit in Franklin Circuit court, challenging the state's decision to close the facility. The state claims that the center violates state regulations governing personal care facilities, including the alleged lack of continuous monitoring and supervision of patients. The facility provides care to persons with psychiatric, psychological and physical problems. A final order to close the doors of the facility should be given by the state this week. (Paintsville Herald)

Cancer Causing PCB's Found in Harlan

HARLAN COUNTY — High levels of PCB's, a dangerous cancer causing substance, were found at the National Coil-National Electric plant in Dayhoit, in concentrations as high as 2,430 parts per million. Concentrations over 50 parts per million are undesirable by federal standards. Area residents claim that a variety of pollutants dispersed by the plant have negatively impacted the health of the surrounding population. (Associated Press)

Coal Land Seized

KNOX AND LETCHER COUNTIES — The state Revenue Cabinet seized over 1,000 acres of land owned by USACO Coal Co. and German Coal Co. in Knox and Letcher counties for failure to pay past-due property taxes. According to Cabinet Secretary Emmet Calvert, debtors had been given every opportunity to pay the taxes, but in fairness to paying taxpayers, firm action was required. The two companies owed more than $100,000. (Paintsville Herald)

Ballot Errors Confuse Election

MARTIN COUNTY — Millard Harmon, an independent candidate for sheriff, and Kevin Hinkle, Democratic candidate for magistrate, were accidentally left off the ballot for Martin County's upcoming elections. The Clerk's office and the Board of Elections worked on Tuesday to rectify the mistakes. Twenty-five incorrect ballots had been mailed and 13 votes were cast. All voters will be notified of the errors, and will be given the opportunity to recast their ballot. (Martin County and Mercury)

Bad Meter Costs Pikeville Thousands

PIKEVILLE — Water plant officials estimate that between $50,000 to $100,000 has been lost by the city each year due to a faulty water meter at Pikeville Methodist Hospital. It is believed that 2.5 times more water has been passing through the meter than is being recorded. Officials have agreed to replace the current meter. (Appalachian News-Express)

Red Cross Operations Begin In County

by Frank Clark, Staff Writer

American Red Cross workers and volunteers began Tuesday to provide cleanup assistance and emergency supplies for flood stricken Floyd County residents in the wake of last week's flash flooding.

According to Red Cross worker Lynn Summer of Mobile, Ala., a Disaster Service Center was opened in McDowell on Tuesday at Rescue Squad Station #2 to accept applications for emergency assistance, and a second center was opened on Thursday in the Wayland Volunteer Fire Department to provide similar services.

Forty-five Red Cross workers, over half volunteers, were called up from Kentucky and several other states last weekend by the regional Red Cross Post at Alexandria, Va., to enter the 10 Eastern Kentucky hit by flooding and provide relief services to Kentuckians whose homes were damaged by floods. According to Summer, primary efforts are directed at homes which have had waters enter the living quarters of the residence. The Floyd County Disaster and Emergency Service reported that approximately 235 houses received damages in the county, but Summer noted that some of these received only minor flooding and may not be eligible for assistance.

"If people have damages to the living sections of their houses, they should get in touch with us," said Summer. "Many people may not think that there's enough damage to get help with, but they should register with us and get information about what we can do. We've had people here who have been sleeping in flood-soaked beds. We're here to do something about that."

Currently, there are three members of the Red Cross operating in Floyd County. Current emergency flood headquarters for Eastern Kentucky and sections of West Virginia and Virginia are based in Hazard.

Summer and two other Red Cross workers, county supervisor Sue Francis, of Memphis, Tenn., and local volunteer Shelby Willis of Maytown, are able, once the brief registration process is complete, to provide flood victims with cleanup kits for damaged homes, as well as emergency food, bedding materials, and emergency shelter, if necessary. Summer recommends that, if damages have occurred, persons photograph the damage and begin cleanup activities immediately.

"Health concerns after flooding are very serious," said Summer. "All types of disease can be carried in flood waters."

Getting the word out about their operations has been the primary problem for workers in the area. Often, it is through neighbors and word of mouth that people find out about the services the Red Cross offers. Francis asks that if citizens have damage or know of anyone whose home was damaged by the flood to contact the organization at its Wayland Disaster Service Center, at 358-9466, or at its Hazard Center, at 436-0107. The McDowell Red Cross Center has closed after operating from Tuesday through Thursday of this week because of a lower than expected turnout.

Applications for assistance in Floyd County can be placed at the Wayland Volunteer Fire Department building between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Friday, Saturday, and through next week. Sunday's operating hours will be from 1 to 5 p.m. Francis noted that local volunteers were providing a great deal of support for Red Cross operations and thanked the volunteers for their help.

As of noon on Thursday, between 25 to 30 Floyd County families had contacted the Red Cross for flood related assistance.

Red Cross, a non-profit service organization was formed roughly 100 years ago in Switzerland, where it still maintains its international headquarters. U.S. chapters operate throughout this country, focusing primary efforts on blood drive activity and disaster relief.

Help From a Friend

Lynn Summer, a Red Cross worker from Alabama, is one of three Red Cross relief workers in the county providing emergency help to flooded Floyd Countians. They will be in the area for the next two weeks to register and assist citizens with flood damaged homes, and will be operating out of the Volunteer Fire Department building in Wayland.

Police Report Two Accidents

The Prestonsburg City Police only had two traffic accidents to report; in each no injuries were sustained.

On Thursday, Oct. 19, Gwendolyn Risner, 24, of Conley, was attempting a left turn from the Bank Josephine onto US 23 when she pulled into the path of a northbound vehicle driven by Evelyn Goble, 54, of Prestonsburg. Risner stated to Officer J.P. Hunt that she looked but didn't see Goble coming. Goble said that she tried to avoid the accident but couldn't. Her vehicle needed to be towed away.

On Monday, Oct. 23, Salyersville resident Sue Carty's vehicle was involved in a hit and run accident. According to a police report by Sgt. Gerald Clark, Carty's auto was parked in the Prestonsburg Community College's parking lot when it was struck by another vehicle that left the scene after denting the car's door.

Support Group To Meet Oct. 31

There will be a meeting of the Breastfeeding Support Group on Tuesday, Oct. 31, at 10:30 a.m., in the new office of the Prestonsburg Presbyterian Church on North Lake Drive in the same building as Hospice and the Speech and Hearing Clinic.

KBA to Evaluate Judges

by Frank Clark, Staff Writer

Floyd County judges will soon be evaluated by members of the Kentucky Bar Association (KBA), if the current plans of Sheryl G. Snyder, president of the KBA, are implemented.

At Kentucky Law Update '89, held at the Jenny Wiley Lodge in Prestonsburg on Thursday, Snyder announced to area lawyers the KBA decision to form a Commission on the Evaluation of the Judiciary. Modeling the evaluation program on a similar program which has operated in Louisville for 10 years, the commission will design a process in which practicing Kentucky lawyers will have the opportunity to rate judges before whom they try cases. Lawyers will be required to sign a certificate declaring that they have practiced before each judge they evaluate, says Snyder. Categories under which judges will be rated include legal ability, the presence of prejudice in cases involving minorities, and the ability to dispose of cases promptly.

Snyder was quick to point out that the purpose of the evaluations is a positive one.

"We're not, as an organization, out to get anyone," said Snyder. "Our primary purpose is to provide information to the public so that good choices can be made. Lawyers also want the best judges they can get to handle their cases, so that right and fair decisions are made."

When asked about the reaction of Kentucky judges to the plan, Snyder admitted that support from the judiciary was shaky.

"Most judges will be doubting Thomas's about the evaluations until they actually see it in operation. Once they see it work, I expect they'll support it."

The evaluations will be presented and publicized in tabulated form, without any interpretation. Interpretation, says Snyder, will be up to the public. The Bar Association considers this a strictly informational service, and results will not be officially published at election times. This type of evaluation currently exists in most U.S. states.

Perhaps the most telling impact of a judiciary evaluation program can be seen by the results of Louisville's 10 years of experience with the procedure.

"In the elections for judges in Louisville after the first evaluation," said Snyder, "four out of 16 judges were not reelected. All four had not done well on the earlier evaluations. I believe that we can now say that the judges in Louisville are excellent — some of the best around."

old road and going across the Job Corp property at the northern end. "I hope we can find a way to get the road through without effecting their property. I will pursue this route to the end," he stressed.

"It is most disturbing and frustrating that no one can tell us anything concrete," Johnny Allen said. "The county should have been doing something about this a long time ago. They have known for nearly two years about this building and they have just been dragging their feet waiting on the federal government to do something. Even if they didn't think the Job Corp would get the funding for it, as Judge Stumbo said at Fiscal Court, they certainly would have the money to build a fence across it if they had the notion, and we shouldn't have to live with that worry."

Johnny Allen commented that he is working on getting the community organized and hiring a lawyer, John Mann, to represent them in court if it comes to that.

"Nothing is in court at this point, and I hope it will not have to come that," stressed James Allen. "We are not going to let them get blocked in! I will be meeting with the Job Corp people and those from Washington next week to see what can be worked out."

As of press time yesterday, Meadows Branch residents have a gravel access way across the raised foundation of the girl's dormitory, and what construction can be done without blocking it continues, while officials seek a solution to the problem.

LET THE RECORD BE CLEARED

Mayor

First of all, let the record be stated clearly about how many meetings I have missed. One meeting that I had missed was because I was out speaking with our citizens about liquor by the drink, that you, Mayor Latta, broke a 4 to 4 tie vote to legalize booze by the drink.

Well Mayor, about other meetings that I have missed is because my mother, the late Geneva Joseph, was dying of cancer in a Louisville Hospital and I wanted to be with her what little time she had left to live. It was excused by you then and Mayor, you seemed to act concerned and assured me that it was alright to be with my now, deceased mother. I feel that it is only natural to be with our families at times of emergency crisis.

Mayor, you are right that I did not go to Frankfort with you and your guests. For one thing, I did not know about your plans on going and furthermore, I do not recall being asked or invited to go with you.

Mayor, you stated you went back in October of 1988 concerning the red lights being put in for the safety of our children. Mayor, don't be ridiculous. Why are you just now receiving a response? Was it because you did not go at all or just did not follow up on this plan concerning safety; or maybe it was because you were at the Planning Candidates Meeting of Floyd for Governor.

LET THE REAL FACTS BE KNOWN.

P.S. Mayor, it really saddens me that you would hold missing a couple of meetings to be with my dying mother, Geneva Joseph, against Me.

*Thank you
Paul Joseph*

By Tess Whitmer

There's a joke which goes, "What's the definition of a split second? The time between when the traffic light turns green and the car behind you honks its horn."

Well, I have new definition for a split second—the time between when the newspaper hits the stands and the first complaint comes in. It's amazing!

Several times I have come into the office at 9 a.m. and there are already two phone messages for me. These folks must call directly from the pay phone at the store where they bought the paper. Either that, or we have a lot of early risers in Floyd County.

No one ever said that newspaper writing would be easy, or that I would be well-liked for my contributions, so I fully expected to ruffle some people's feathers. When I started at the Floyd County Times in April I knew about 1/100 of the people I have met since. But I'm not so sure I've made as great an impression as I would have liked to on a few of those.

Being with the newspaper, you have to learn to take your lumps. After all no one's perfect (except my boyfriend, according to him) and I, for one, never professed to be. But I guess it's hard for some to understand that it is a human being who writes the stories, types them up and lays them out. And out of the some 200 stories in an average paper, there are bound to be a few errors.

Anyone who has called me and has courteously pointed out such errors will know that I am the first to admit a fault and do my best to correct it. However, our policy dictates that we can not reprint a whole item, plus picture, for one name or place of residence being wrong, and I regret that this is not feasible. Most people understand this and are satisfied with what our paper offers — after all, the Times will gladly print birthdays, engagements, weddings, anniversaries, school accomplishments and the like for absolutely nothing.

Some papers elsewhere charge for these items and cut drastically the amount of information contained in them. We do edit some material for clarity and appropriateness as news, but we do our best to include everything.

But to get on to my larger point: We do not begrudge anyone who has a legitimate complaint and courteously presents it. But there are those who will not except any apology, explanation or effort to correct the error and nothing we can do will appease them. I wonder what these folks are hoping to accomplish by being like this — do they just want to make the recipient of the harsh remarks feel rotten, or do they think that a sound chastising for a minor error will help the person be more perfect and therefore less human?

I don't know. When Pam Shingler was still with us full time, she, Ed Taylor and I used to daily share with each other our woes. Now that Frank Clark has joined the staff he gets in on the fun. After venting our frustrations with each other, we are usually able to let the harsh criticisms roll right off us. After all, you must expect that not everyone will love your writing. But some remarks cut too deep.

When some caller takes an error such as misidentifying or not identifying someone in a picture or leaving out a relative's name in a birthday announcement, and turns it around as if nothing you've ever written is worth the paper it's printed on, that stings.

Lord knows we do the best we can for our readers, and never intentionally omit people's names for vindictive reasons. I can't say there is anyone in Floyd County I have a vendetta against. And Ed Taylor is definately the kindest, most unbiased person I've ever met. Anne Chaney is just much too professional to do that, and Frank, besides being a friendly guy, hasn't been here long enough.

Sometimes material comes in that is hand written and barely legible at best. Other times the person we gather information from doesn't know everyone's names, and more commonly, folks won't tell us.

That could be another good definition of a split second. The amount of time between when I identify myself as being from the Floyd County Times and the person I'm calling is "not available." It's amazing how many people have so much to say until you ask them what their name is; then, all of a sudden, they're silent. If I wrote all the stories I've gotten from nameless people, the editorial page would be full, because that's what they'd have to be without a substantiated source — Viewpoint.

All I suppose I'm asking for with this lengthy dissertation is "a kinder and gentler" reader. If I or any of the editorial staff has wronged you in some way we will bend over backwards to put it right, as long as we don't get our heads chewed off first.

My mail box never seems to empty. There are the usual sale fliers, uh-oh bills and more magazines than I have time to read. Because I occasionally order odds and ends by mail, I'm on the list of every mail order house from Maine to California. And because I contribute to a couple of charities and social causes I believe in, I'm guaranteed at least one solicitation a day from groups I never knew existed.

Somewhere along the line my name was entered on that great master mailing list. I don't really mind. The organizations I contribute to pick up a few extra cents by selling my name, and I don't begrudge them. Anyway, I generally toss most of the appeals in the trash can that's conveniently close to my mailbox.

I got suckered the other day, though. An official looking, oversized envelope purported to be a Congressional survey. Since I'm a staunch proponent of telling Congress what I think, I spared the envelope from the trash heap. But when I opened it, I found it was an appeal in the guise of a survey. The questions all led to support of the organization's legislative agenda with a final opportunity to check what amount I wanted to contribute.

I suspect I invalidated my response by writing across the survey and on the back of the sheet. I was angry at being snookered and angrier still at the premise of the organization itself.

It was a group that openly defined its purpose as lobbying Congress to support stricter drug laws. Now, I'm very much in favor of action against drug usage. But I'm irritated that the nation's highest legislative body has to be lobbied to do what is morally and socially right. I wanted to yell, "What are we paying you all for anyway?" Why does a citizen group have to form and raise money to lobby our Representatives and Senators to do something about the plague that's devastating our country?

I was angered even more by the thrust of the group's lobbying efforts.

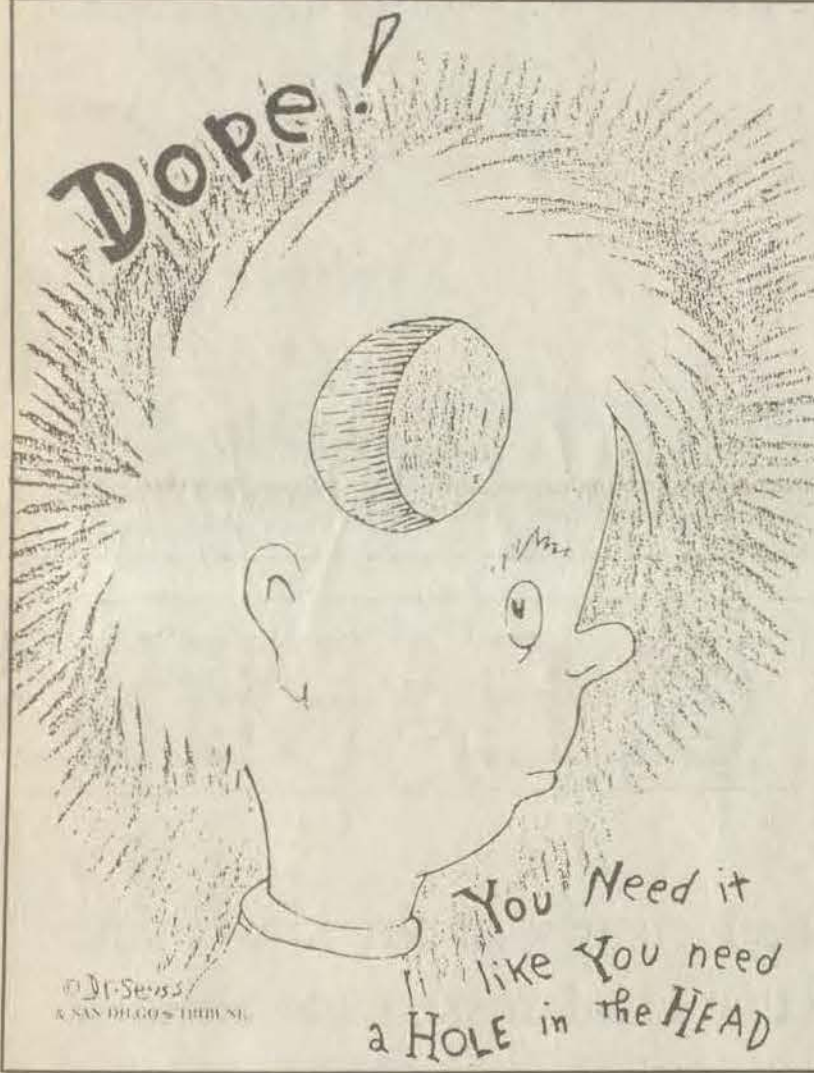

Nearly every point in their program related to the seller of drugs — stiffer sentences, speedier trials, in-jail rehabilitation. Don't misread. I agree that the dealers must be stopped. But I also believe that dealing with the dealers is a band-aid approach, another alignment with the strategy of showy, quick fixes that has signified the leadership of the 1980s.

For substantive, positive change to take place in the "war on drugs," equal focus must be put on the user, the victim of drugs. First, our leaders must address the economic and social causes of the hopelessness that makes drug use attractive to our people. We must focus on the poverty and powerlessness that brings out the need to trade a hopeless reality for a moment of ecstasy and perceived power. We must focus on the middle-class lifestyle that offers youth everything but self worth. We must focus on turning around a creeping national philosophy that approves of gain at others' expense.

Second, we must begin to emphasize rehabilitation of present addicts. At our own Layne House, drug and alcohol addicts are turned away every day because there is no room and no money for expansion. We hear of waiting lists in large city rehab centers that are three and four years long. And we have to realize that every day a user has to wait for treatment he or she will use more, and every day is a day of loss in human potential.

Yes, we should make every attempt to stop the import of drugs, as well as their domestic manufacture. Yes, we should put the sellers behind bars. But unless we address the causes of drug usage and seek to treat the user, we will not solve the drug problem. Any plan our leaders come up with will only result in one more bottomless spending bucket unless we have the courage to address the total problem with programs of depth and substance, not just show.

I'd like to see a plan like that in my mailbox.

Enjoys Times

Dear Editor,
Thanks so very much for The Floyd County Times, especially the two papers a week, even though sometimes we get them both the same day. It's always a pick-me-up for me. I do get homesick for Floyd County and all of Kentucky in General. There is no place like home, where you were born and raised. I may have left the hills, but the hills haven't left me.

I was born and raised on Goose Creek near Eastern, and The Floyd County Times helps me keep in touch. My heart goes out to the people down there recovering from the flood waters. How I remember when we lived down there, but it was mostly in the spring, as I remember.

P.S. — The revised Times is just great.

Thanks so much,

Officials Should Address Flood Control For Left, Right Beaver

Dear Editor,
It is time that some of our state and federal representatives address the issue of flood control for our area of Left and Right Beaver.

While the mining concerns are raping and pillaging the mountains of Eastern Kentucky, the tax money is going elsewhere, leaving local residents with creek channels that are filled with eroded soil. The water has no way out, thus we are left with flooded property.
If all voters in the area of both Left and Right Beaver would contact their representatives and demand they find a solution to this problem, it would be quickly resolved. If not, assure them that someone else would be holding that office come next election.

'B&B' Column Too Negative

Dear Editor,
I am a devout reader of your publication. I look to The Floyd County Times for not only information of county activities, but also for interests in poetry, recipes and upcoming events. For me, an hour with The Floyd County Times is an hour well spent.

Today (10/25/89), after reading "Barbs and Bouquets," I thought how utterly disgusting it was for a fine, upstanding character in the public eye — a publisher, at that — to blatantly encourage outright name-calling and to voice such negativism. I only hope that our young and impressionable readers who accept the Times for what it is — informative, educational, unbiased and entertaining — are not swayed by this detour from the norm, i.e., positive. I personally will continue to read The Floyd County Times, but as for "Barbs and Bouquets," I will no longer subject myself to this flagrant display of negative opinion.

Sincerely,
Karen E. Gibson,
Prestonsburg

Stumbo Or Sturgill: What's The Verdict?

by Tess A. Whitmer, Staff Writer

Being a Court of Appeals Judge candidate is not an easy job, since during the campaign candidates are not permitted to discuss issues or align themselves with a political party, and must gather votes by letting the people know who they are and what experience they have.

Getting information to the public was the goal of the October Caucus Club, sponsored by Dr. Thomas D. Matijasic, professor at Prestonsburg Community College, when he invited both Janet Stumbo and Barkley Sturgill Jr. to speak recently. Sturgill spoke Wednesday, Oct. 18 and Stumbo on Wednesday, Oct. 25.

The 7th Judicial District, which includes Floyd and 20 other counties, is authorized two judges. The Hon. Harris Howard fills one position, while Sturgill and Stumbo vie for the other. There were originally five candidates running for this position during the primaries, with Stumbo and Sturgill earning the highest number of votes respectively.

Stumbo said her first place finish came as a shock to her. "I did not expect the kind of lead I got in the primary — maybe come in first or second, but not by so much."

Sturgill, taking things in stride, said, "Eighteen years of my life has been in public life. It's not easy, but there's a lot of rewards to it if that's what you want to do."

Both candidates agreed that it was difficult to run a campaign with such limitations. Stumbo preferred a non-partisan race, while Sturgill said he was more used to partisan races and enjoyed them. Both candidates are registered Democrats.

There appeared to be significant contrast between Stumbo and Sturgill in their personalities, individual styles and what they represent. Stumbo deemed this "a more colorful campaign than judicial races usually are," and said she felt some of the advertising that her opponent has done, such as the issue about her maiden name and the "being home with the children tactic," has actually pushed her ahead in the polls.

Stumbo's biggest claim in this race is that she will not finance her campaign through donations from large powers, citing the fact that she has only spent $30,000 from the start and $13,000 of that was her own savings, while Sturgill spent $87,000 in the primary and, as of Oct. 15, $30,000 in the November election.

Sturgill stands on his experience in both politics and law, and his mature nature, for his campaign. In 1962 he was elected county attorney and held that office for three consecutive terms. He was also active in Wendell Ford's campaign and was appointed chairman of the Public Service Commission from 1972 to 1978.

Sturgill has practiced law for over 30 years and said, "I didn't make the decision to be a judge because that is 'the place to go'... but because I have the ability to make a contribution to it. If I didn't, I could get along just as well practicing law."

Stumbo was a staff attorney on the Court of Appeals under Harris Howard for two years and "loved the work." She was then an assistant county attorney under Arnold Turner and followed that with private practice.

"I decided to run for appellate judge the day after Dan Jack Combs was elected to the Supreme Court, leaving a vacancy. I needed to have been practicing law for eight years to qualify for the position, and I had, so I said 'Why not me?' I felt I could make a contribution and I liked the work."

Both candidates are native Eastern Kentuckians. Sturgill was born in Lackey and raised in Prestonsburg, graduating from PHS, going to the University of Kentucky on a basketball scholarship, attending law school at Washington Lee University and returning to Floyd County to practice law.

Stumbo spent the first 11 years of her life in Floyd County and then moved to Pike County, graduating from Belfry High School. She then went to Morehead State University and obtained her law degree from Eastern Kentucky University. She also returned to Floyd County to practice and make her home in Van Lear near Dewey Dam.

Both candidates believe strongly in speedy trials and appeals and agree that the need for more judges in the state of Kentucky is strong.

Whoever is elected to fill the 7th District vacancy will be one of 14 judges on the court who sit on three-person panels and travel throughout the state hearing 13 appeals a month. That person will also be an associate judge on 26 other cases a month, reading over the files and concurring or dissenting with the decisions.

Stumbo said she believes that "working hard to attain a professional status and a balanced outlook will be healthy for my children." She added that anyone who still believed a mother has to be home with her children, when over 60 percent of mothers have to work out of economic necessity, is living in the 1950s.

She pointed out that Judy West is in her first full term as appellate judge;

Kay Doyle and Vicky Collinsworth are the only candidates for District Court Judge in Magoffin and Knott Counties, the Knott County Attorney is Debbie McCarty and the Judge Executive of Harlan County is also a woman.

Stumbo said she believes a judge should be fair, impartial and above political influences, and those are not traits exclusive to the male gender.

Sturgill offered up his many years in law and the public eye as reasons to vote for him. "I will put my experience, maturity, ambition, hard work and integrity to work for the people of the mountains of Kentucky since those are the people I want to represent."

Fat Baby

For just a little while, I wish I could see you smile, or watch you run, kick up your feet, or give you spaghetti, just to watch you eat. Fat baby that's you, there's so many things you do. Like hit, say let's fight, or just keeping me up all night. I'll ask, has the fat baby been fed, because you'll have food poured on your head. You act like a little fat ball, you'll bounce up, then you'll fall. I don't care if you're 2 or 120, my love for fat baby is a plenty.

Happy 2th Birthday

Where Have You Been, Paul ?

Here are just a few of the more than 60 new businesses that have opened in Prestonsburg during Ann Latta's term. A dozen more have expanded. The total wage-earners' payroll in the city went up by 39%--more people are working and/or making higher salaries. Plans have also been announced for a new Lowe's Regional Distribution Center (180 new jobs), children's psychiatric hospital (150-180 new jobs), new motel (40 new jobs), children's psychiatric hospital (150-180 new jobs), new motel (40 new jobs). Negotiations are underway for several other new businesses in existing buildings, including the Hobbs Buildings downtown. The tourism industry has added 100 new jobs in four years. Tourists spent $6 million more in our area last year than in 1985 (These signs of progress are frequently discussed at City Council meetings--but then you missed over 1/3 this year.)

to school, the citizens group also requested that school buses be provided with two way radios so that bus drivers could be informed of potential threatening situations which might be met on the road.

A final topic addressed by concerned parents involved the subject of school evacuations in case of emergencies. Said Slone, "We want evacuation plans and drills for all county schools that involve teachers and rescue squads so that everyone knows what to do if something like this happens again."

"The problem that we saw last week is not just a problem for Left Beaver. It's a problem for the whole county and any school in the area. We want better coordination of emergencies so that our kids are kept safe."

After being told of the group's recommendations by Gary Compton, chair of the committee, McDowell High School principal Bob Hall said the suggestions seemed sensible.

"This is not a negative group," said Hall. "In fact, they seem to be one of the most productive and sensible groups I've seen. From what I can tell, Mr. Compton and the committee are looking to make some positive changes."

Floyd County School Superintendent Ron Hager, while stating that he had not been informed beforehand of the Tuesday meeting, appeared to be open to McDowell parents' concerns.

"The requests that I've heard by the parents group, from the media reports, are generally sound ones. It is true, though, that on Tuesday of the flood we followed the procedures which we believed would best ensure the safety of the children at the schools. Using 20/20 hindsight, I wish we had called school off the morning of the 17th, but with the information we had, we couldn't make that decision."

Concerning parents' request to give school principals the power to delay or call off school, Hager stated only the school superintendent and the director of transportation can delay or cancel school.

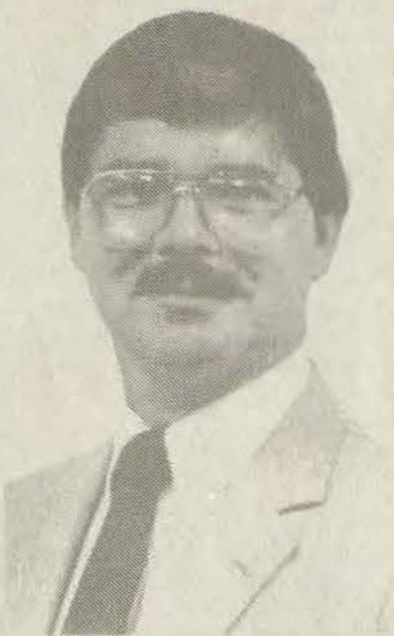

"However," he added, "I would support the decision of any principal who acted to insure the safety of a school child."

According to Slone, a committee was appointed to represent the 400 concerned citizens of Left Beaver before the school board at its regular meeting Wednesday, Nov. 8. Gary Compton was selected as chairperson, Gary Mullen was selected as assistant chairperson, and Joan Chaffins will serve as secretary. Other committee members include Debbie Gibson and Leonard Creslek.

The committee will present the petition to the county school board at its Nov. 8 meeting. The petition will also be sent to State Superintendent of Schools John Brock for consideration.

A committee meeting of the Left Beaver Concerned Citizens will be held next Tuesday, Oct. 31, at 7 p.m., to prepare for the meeting with the school board.

College Program

"Businesses and industries are being encouraged to contribute to the Endowment Fund, therefore making it's investment and earning potential substantial," Wells said. "This program is being received very successfully — some employers have already established a fund-matching program for their participating employees."

An added benefit to the program is that anyone can make deposits into an individual's account. "If grandparents wish to contribute to their grandchild's education, they can deposit directly into that child's KEEEP account," Wells explained.

"The account can be opened with as little as $25, with subsequent deposits of as little as $25 each," he continued, "and there is no penalty should a family experience financial hardship and need to withdraw the money early or miss a payment."

Anyone interested in this program can get the enrollment kit by writing Kentucky Educational Savings Plan Trust, Room #204, Frankfort, KY 40601, or call toll free, 1-800-338-0318.

My father always hugged me, and kissed my wounded knee
My father was never too busy, to spend his time with me
I always felt so safe and warm, nestled in his arms
No storm could ever reach me, he sheltered me from harm
The Angel of Death took Daddy, to free him from his pain
And tho I grieved so deeply, as I looked at where he'd lain
I could hear my father saying "Don't shed your tears for me
Be happy for me darling child.. you should see what I now see"
"I'm with my Father who loves me, He'll heal the wounds you see
My heavenly home has many..still He has time for me
For eternity I'm safe and warm, nestled in my father's arms
Don't grieve for me, my darling child..God will shield me from all harm."

Blackcats Face 'Must-Win' Game Against M.C. Napier

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

The final football game of the season is important for coach Bill Letton's Prestonsburg Blackcats, but more so is the upcoming encounter with the Navahos of M.C. Napier at the Prestonsburg field tonight at 8 p.m.

A Prestonsburg victory would give the Blackcats an identical conference record as the Pirates of Morgan County, at 3-1. This would make the Nov. 3 game at Morgan County a conference championship game, with the crown going to the winners.

On the other hand, a Navajo win would give the Blackcats its second district loss and then Prestonsburg would have to defeat the Pirates — not to win the title, but to tie for the lead, which would not benefit the Blackcats. Coach Letton feels that his team is ready for the Navahos in tonight's game.

"We feel the players' attitudes are as they should be," Letton explained. "We've been down somewhat with the losses in a row we have had. But you have to take into consideration who we have been playing."

Prestonsburg has played a "killer" schedule all season, going up against some of the top teams in the area.

"We'll go with John Goble again in the backfield in the place of Porter (Ryan, who has been lost for the remainder of the season)," the Prestonsburg mentor said. "He seemed to have a good game against Pikeville last week and he has been running hard in practice."

M.C. Napier will come into Prestonsburg with a 4-5 record. The Navahos are 1-3 in District 2 play, winning their first district game over Betsy Layne last Friday evening at home, 14-6. In comparison, Prestonsburg handed the same Bobcat team an opening season loss, 36-6, at Prestonsburg.

Prestonsburg expects anything and everything from M.C. Napier.

"They will mix it up on us," says Letton in referring to the running and passing game of the Navahos. "They have speed and will try to establish the running game."

Personnel wise, the Blackcats should have the upper hand. The Navahos are a running team, and were conservative in throwing the football against the Bobcats last week.

M.C. Napier looks to halfback Andura Hill for its running game. Tailback Steve Dixon is another speed-ster on the Navajo squad that can carry the football. Depth has been a problem for the Navahos this season.

The consensus at the start of the season was that the Blackcats had the potential to be a good offensive team. That still holds true going into this game. Quarterback Aaron Tucker, as a freshman, has faced some defensive minded and oriented teams all through the year. He should be seasoned somewhat in the director's chair. Bill Tom Compton and Aaron Flannery are very capable ball carriers, as is freshman John Goble, who had a good game against Pikeville. Tucker has found receivers Jeff Slone and Mike Crace at the end of several of his tosses this season.

Letton and his staff have been preparing their squad for the upcoming game by giving them some game situations in relation to down distances and scoreboard time.

"We want them to imagine climbing a ladder," Letton stated. "If a rung on the ladder is broken they risk falling down." The Napier game is one rung they need to climb on as they head towards the top.

With the most important factor in this game the final score, there is another secondary factor that is likewise important — momentum for the Blackcats. They will be hungry for this one because they have been told of the importance of a Blackcat victory this Friday evening. With a win here it will be on to Morgan County next week for the title showdown.

"We'll do what we can to win the game," Letton explained. "We would love to keep the ball on the ground. A win against Napier and Morgan would be a good way for our seniors to finish off the year. Our seniors are pumped up and are fired up. However, there must be some intelligence to go with being fired up."

Letton hopes that the Pikeville game has taught his chargers a lesson — you can't give things away.

"I feel we gave them the first two touchdowns of the game," he said. "It is one thing for the opposing team's defense to stop us, but another thing to stop ourselves by making mistakes."

It makes it easy on the opponents." If the Blackcats defeat Napier and Morgan County they will face either Somerset or Wayne County at home in the playoffs.

"I believe we can win the district," Blackcat lineman Jimmy Nelson stated.

Tonight's game will also be a night that Blackcat fans will recognize the seniors and their parents in the final home game.

Football Contest Winner

Derrick Newsome of Honaker receives a check for $25 from Floyd County Times Publisher Marty Backus for being the winner in last week's Bob Harmon football forecast. Newsome pick 11 of 12 games correctly. Newsome is a student at John M. Stumbo school and plays for the Mustang basketball team.

Disappointed Lawrence County Will Visit Betsy Layne Tonight

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Lawrence County coach Billy Goldsmith's Bulldogs will be rolling into Betsy Layne tonight to provide the opposition for the Bobcats of coach Gerald Newsome.

The game at the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic Complex in Betsy Layne is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Goldsmith's team had high hopes for another successful year following last year's 9-2 surprise season. The Bulldogs tied Paintsville and Raceland for first place in the always-tough Northeastern Kentucky Conference (NECK).

Last year the Bulldogs rolled past the Bobcats at Lawrence County, 34-0. But for the Bulldogs, it will be different this time around. Lawrence County will have to do without some of last year's defensive stalwarts, including All-Area performers Phillip Ratliff and James Jude from a strong defensive line. Another Bulldog linebacker from last year's team, J. R. Cook, who played at Cumberland College this year, will be missing.

Goldsmith's coaching philosophy is a strong, defensive-minded team. He believes that a strong defense sets up a good offense.

Back for the Bulldogs from last year's squad will be the Sexton boys, Jason and Joshua, at the linebacker positions. Joining them in the returning lineup will be defensive end John Daniels.

The Bobcat defense has also been tough of late. Although the chances of a winning season escaped them in last Friday's loss, the Bobcats have really been in every game except two.

The 3-6 record is not indicative of the season the Bobcats have had this year. Newsome's Bobcats, at one point, were on a three-game winning streak and playing the best football in the county. The loss to Whitesburg began what is now a three-game skid for the Bobcats. Betsy Layne will be trying to regroup for the Lawrence County game and close out the home game with a win.

Newsome believes his team's defense can stop the Bulldog running game.

"From the scores of the Lawrence County games," Newsome remarked, "all indications are that they are a running team. If that's so, I believe we can stop their running game."

"If we can get over being afraid of the pass, then our cornerbacks can help out on defense."

Newsome also sees Prestonsburg charging past the Navahos of M.C. Napier.

"Prestonsburg will win by two touchdowns over Napier," the Betsy Layne mentor stated. "They have tradition behind them. They are not going to let this chance pass them by."

It also will be senior night at the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic Complex when the seniors will be honored and their mothers will receive silk roses at half time.

Trojan, Magoffin County Game Canceled Due To Field

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

The Wheelwright Trojans and Magoffin County Hornets have finished their 1989 football seasons as of last week.

Both teams were scheduled to play their final game this Saturday afternoon. However, due to the flooding of the Hornets football field, and getting approval by the health department to use it, the game was canceled. Coach Chuck Williams of Magoffin County wanted to move the game to another field, but Wheelwright coach Roger Johnson wasn't in favor of the idea.

The Trojans end the season on a hard loss at Allen Central, 28-26, last week. Wheelwright finished the season 0-10 and 0-5 in District 2 play. Even though it has been a rough year for the Trojans, optimism is high for next year's squad as several key players will return, as will injured plagued James Branham, considered the Trojans' defensive leader.

Magoffin finishes at 8-2 in completing its second year of football at the Salyersville-based school.

ACHS Rebels To Host MMI In '89 Season Finale Sunday

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Allen Central coach Donnie Daniels and his Rebel football team, 3-7, will entertain the Millersburg Military Institute, 3-4, Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the Don Daniels Athletic Complex in the final game of the 1989 football season.

The game was originally scheduled Saturday, but had to be changed because of a scheduling conflict with the MMI football team.

"Millersburg has a better team this year than they've had the last two years," Daniels said. "They have a strong backfield and they are a running team; they seldom pass the ball."

The Rebels defeated MMI 38-22 at Millersburg last season. MMI does not play a full 11 game schedule as do other schools. Eight games make up the season for the visiting team.

"I know they play pretty good defense," Daniels continued. "They have a tendency to over-run plays."

A big win for the military school came with a victory over Eminence High School, which has a 5-4 record.

The Rebels will be coming off a big emotional win over the Wheelwright Trojans last Saturday. Whether there will be a letdown in the Millersburg game remains to be seen. Daniels sees his charges up for this one as the season comes to a close for the Rebels.

This will be the final game for senior Brian Meadows a main plug in the Rebels defense.

Junior halfback Tommy Gibson will be looking to carry the ball in much the same manner as he did during the game against the Trojans. Gibson scored three touchdowns in rushing for 134 yards in the Rebel win. Junior Adam Tackett gained 115 yards for Allen Central in the win as well.

Rebel quarterback B. J. Aldrich, a junior, has shown some consistency in the passing department. Look for the Rebels to take this one as the season ends for the school's football program.

Expects To Lead Lady Cats

Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats coach Bridget Clay looks to returning junior forward Kathy Slone to lead the Lady Cats this coming basketball season. The Lady Blackcats lost all-district player Karen Frasure from last year's squad, but Clay is optimistic about the group coming in this season.

Well, darkroom tech Mike Burke made good on part one of his vow. He was going to take first place, and that he has done. Now for part two of his forecasting — keeping the top spot. Challengers Editor Anne Chaney and Sports Editor Ed Taylor have been joined by Publisher Marty Backus in a tie for second place as all three are in pursuit of Burke. Georgia gets the nod over Kentucky this week despite the Wildcat's win over LSU last week. Locally, the Rebels, Bobcats and Blackcats are the forecasters' choice. The Rams and Dolphins look to be the choice in the pro ranks.

Martin Rips Nets For 33 Points, Leads Wayland Past Betsy Layne

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

Jason Martin scored a game-high 33 points in leading the Wayland Wasps to a close 50-49 victory over the Betsy Layne Bobcats in grade school basketball Tuesday night at Wayland.

The defeat was the first of the year for the younger Bobcats, tagged onto six wins. Wayland captured its first victory after three defeats.

Betsy Layne was down 14 points with three minutes remaining in the game and made a last come back attempt at the Wasps.

"We just about blew the 14 point lead. Coach Tackett was smart, though, in fouling the way he did. Our player just couldn't hit the free throws after he was fouled," Wayland coach Ronnie Patton stated.

Although Wayland missed the free throws in the final three minutes. It was, however, free throws that won the contest for Wayland.

"We did hit some key free throws down the stretch," says Patton "We're starting to play better and it's just a matter of getting things together. We should have played 10 games by now, but it seems something always comes up and we have to reschedule. Now we will be playing games back-to-back."

Besides Martin's 33 points, Todd Hansford added seven points for the winners.

Keith Hamilton led the Bobcats in scoring with 17 points. Ryan Ortega, who has been under the weather, scored eight, as did C. Hunt.

Betsy Layne 12 11 8 18 (49): Ryan Ortega, 4 0-0 8; Vince Williams, 3 0-0 6; Keith Hamilton, 7 3-5 17; Dale Kimbler, 1 0-0 2; J. Hunt, 3 0-0 6; C. Hunt, 4 0-0 8; Hall, 1 0-0 2.
at Wayland 13 9 14 14 (50): Jason Martin, 14 7-5 33; Todd Hansford, 3 3-1 7; Patrick Craft, 2 2-1 5; Donnie Combs, 1 1-0 2; E. Hall, 0 6-3 3.

Fishing Expert

Edie Greer of Abbott Creek Road proudly displays the seven and half pound bass which she caught while vacationing with her husband Ray at Guntersville Lake, Ala. Greer acquired her fishing expertise with the help of her husband, who shared not only his fishing knowledge, but also gave her fishing equipment and a bass boat. The Greers celebrated their 32nd wedding anniversary while on vacation.

Lady Blackcats Get Past Prater

Gay Hatfield's Prestonsburg Grade School Lady Blackcats squeezed by the Prater Lady Cougars 21-16 Wednesday night at the Betsy Layne gym.

The Lady Cats led at the first stop by nine points, 11-2 and led at the half, 14-5.

Kenni Bradford and Rebecca Leslie each scored seven in leading the Lady Blackcats. Heather Nelson was top scorer for Prater with eight points. Dana Akers added seven.

Prestonsburg improves to 3-1 while Prater falls to 1-5

Prestonsburg 11 32 5 (21): Kenni Bradford, 7; Rebecca Leslie, 7; Judy Morrison, 4; Shea Leslie, 3.
Prater (16): Heather Nelson, 8; Dana Akers, 7; Tammy Conn, 1.

Clark Falls To P'Burg

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

Dale Hamilton's Clark Indians lost their eighth game of the season, falling to the Prestonsburg Blackcats in grade school basketball Tuesday night, 47-41.

"We used a lot of players in the game," coach Ashland Gearheart stated as his squad won their third game of the season.

Prestonsburg was led in scoring by Chad Caldwell and Damnian Stepp with 12 points each.

Clark was led by a duo of players also, T-Tom Slone and Jason Osborne netted 12 points each for the Indians.

Mike Arnett tossed in 10 points. Clark falls to 0-8 on the season.

Prestonsburg (47): Chad Caldwell, 12; Damnian Stepp, 12; Charles Shell, 8; Greg Jones, 6; David Gearheart, 5; Mike Goble, 1.
at Clark (41): T-Tom Slone, 12; Jason Osborne, 12; Mike Arnett, 10; Matt Cline, 1; Jeremy Osborne, 6.

The Prestonsburg "B" team won over the Clark "B" team, 36-18. Thomas Ratliff led the Blackcats with 16 points. Jason Spencer added six points for the winners and James Joseph tossed in four. Clark was led by Casey Cooley with five and T-Tom Slone netted four.

College Outlook

Enter week nine. College football has been exciting thus far this season. With the games still to come it looks like it will remain exciting. Let's look at the college scene.

In The South: Miami at Florida State

Among major college football teams, Florida State, without a doubt, received the biggest shocks in successive season openers in 1988 and 1989. The Seminoles were shut out and embarrassed by Miami 31-0 in game one in 1988, and this year Southern Mississippi upset them 30-26. The Miami defeat was Florida State's only loss in 1988 as the Seminoles went on to post a 10-1 season and beat Auburn in the Sugar Bowl.

The Seminoles host the powerful Hurricanes Saturday, and certainly the 31-0 shellacking has not been forgotten. Unfortunately, Florida State had a tough contest with Auburn last week while undefeated Miami had the day off.

In The Midwest: Houston at Arkansas

Arkansas is running into a juggernaut Saturday in its quest to repeat as Southwest Conference champion. The Razorbacks meet Houston in Little Rock, a team that has rolled up 249 points while giving up only 41 in its first five games. The Cougars were finally stopped by Texas A and M two weeks ago, 17-13, but they appear to be an offensive power that will give the Razorbacks more trouble than they can handle.

Out West: Colorado at Oklahoma

Year after year in the Big Eight, the game that everyone waited for all season, the one that determined the conference champion, was the Oklahoma-Nebraska confrontation. Times have changed. The Colorado Buffaloes are on a stampede. The Oklahoma Sooners are at home against the Buffaloes, and this could be the only advantage the Sooners will have. It was close last season, Oklahoma winning 17-14, for the 34th Oklahoma victory in 43 meetings with Colorado.

In The East: Pittsburgh at Notre Dame

The nation's number one team, the Irish of Notre Dame, will entertain the troops from Pittsburgh in South Bend this week end. The Irish are coming off a big win over a tough Southern Cal team that was marred by pregame fights.

Irish coach Lou Holtz promised punishment to those who get involved again with such a fracas, even to the point of threatening to step down as the Irish mentor. We doubt if those were very serious threats, but the Fighting Irish will have their hands full with the Panthers despite their number one rating.

Closer To Home: Kentucky at Georgia

A game that many consider a toss up, when in the past the favorite's role would have automatically gone to Georgia. I don't think that the change is because the Bulldogs have become a lesser team, but mostly because of the vast improvement in the Kentucky program. Georgia has been an up and down team this time around. Kentucky, even though they tried to give the game away, did beat a good, but disappointing, LSU Tiger team last Saturday. Freddie Maggard is throwing the football well for Jerry Claiborne's team and Kentucky will be still trying to get over all the injuries that have plagued them.

Over The Back Yard Fence: Murray State at Eastern Ky.

The Eastern Kentucky University football team retained its number one ranking following a 38-23 defeat of number 13 Marshall University last Saturday. The Colonel's now turn their sights on number 16 Murray State this Saturday. The Racers are 5-2-1 overall and 2-1 in the OVC. It will also be homecoming for the Colonel's in a 1:35 p.m. kickoff time.

"We have a lot of respect for Murray State's team. They're just a blocked field goal away from being tied with us and Middle Tennessee for the top spot in the conference this year," said EKV football coach Roy Kidd.

This game will be a classic duel between the Ohio Valley Conference's top rusher, Markus Thomas of Eastern, and the OVC's top passer and total offense leader, Michael Proctor of Murray.

'To help other people at all times...'

A Moment With A Scoutmaster

By Johnnie E. Ross,
Scout Master
Prestonsburg Troop #877

In just a few short weeks, Nov. 11-18, the Boy Scouts of America will once again be "Scouting for Food."

In Prestonsburg, Troop #877 will participate in what Chief Scout Executive Ben Love has called "the perfect good turn," adding that "Scouting for Food most directly fulfills the Cub Scout Promise to 'help other people,' the Boy Scout Oath 'to help other people at all times' and the Explorer's Code of goodwill."

Last year the BSA's Scouting for Food campaign collected more than 60 million cans and boxes of non-perishable food. Such success certainly qualifies as a good turn!

The "good turn" concept associated with scouting is nothing new. In fact, it was a good turn which brought scouting to the United States of America. One day early in 1909, so the story goes, an American businessman, William D. Boyce, was lost in the London fog. Weary and bewildered, he stopped beneath a street lamp to collect his thoughts and locate himself. Out of the gloom of the "pea soup" a boy approached him asking if he could help. "You certainly can," said Boyce and began to tell the lad of a certain business office which he needed to locate in the center of the city. "Yes sir," the boy replied, "I know where it is and I'll take you there."

When they had reached their destination the American reached into his pocket for a tip, but the boy stopped him. "No thank you sir, I'm a scout," said the boy, "I could never take a reward for helping someone—you see, it's my duty."

"A Scout? And what might that be?" said Boyce. So the lad began to tell Mr. Boyce about himself, his brothers and Robert Baden-Powell, Scouting's founder. Boyce became so interested that after his business meeting, he had the boy take him to the British Boy Scout Office, there the young lad disappeared.

While at the Scout Office, Boyce met the famous British war general, Sir Robert Baden-Powell. After speaking with B-P, Boyce became so impressed with the movement that he decided to bring scouting home with him. On Feb. 8, 1910, in Washington D.C., Boyce, along with some of his business friends, founded the Boy Scouts of America. But what ever happened to the boy in the fog? To this day no one really knows. He's never been heard of again—yet he'll never be forgotten either.

Today, in the British Scout Training Center at Gilwell Park, a statue of a buffalo has been placed in honor of this "Unknown Scout." His good turn had brought scouting to our country, and the good turn of William D. Boyce became one enjoyed by millions.

Today, through the good turn of "Scouting for Food," millions of Scouts will work together to feed the nation's hungry and once again millions will benefit from the good turn of Scouts. But this is not the first national "Good Turn" campaign. For nearly 80 years, Scouts have been involved in a number of national good turns:

— In 1912, 100,000 scouts and scouters distributed literature promoting "Safe and Sane Fourth of July."

— In 1913, scouts were aides at a reunion of Civil War veterans at Gettysburg, Penn., and later assisted the American Red Cross in helping the flood victims of Ohio and Indiana.

— During WWI, the BSA sold $355 million worth of Liberty Loan Bonds to finance the war effort. In addition scouts collected peach pits and nut shells to make charcoal for army gas masks.

— At the time of the Great Depression, scout troops gathered more than 1.8 million items of clothing and household furnishings for the unemployed.

— WWII brought on a host of national scout Good Turns; recycling waste paper, rubber and aluminum, scouts planted and cared for Victory Gardens, collected books and served in Civil Defense Units.

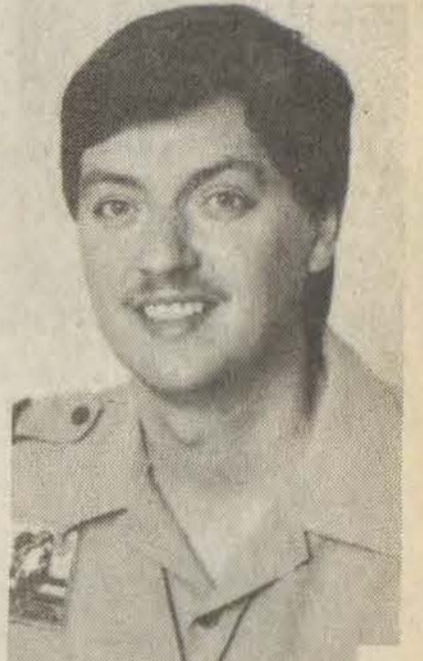

In the 44 years since the ending of WWII, the Boy Scouts of America have continued their national Good Turn, but Scouting for Food is perhaps the best of the best!

"Scouting for Food is a clean expression of the ideas of our movement," says Chief Scout Executive Ben Love, "and it reminds us of the real meaning behind the approaching holidays."

I can only add to these comments by encouraging your participation in our local "Scouting for Food" campaign. Last year we met our troop goal and collected 2,000 items for local distribution. This year our goal is 5,000 items; please do your part to help us reach this goal and feed the hungry of Floyd County. When a food bag is placed on your door, fill it and put it out for pick-up. If you do not get a bag, but would like to participate, call us at 886-9820.

Let's express our thanks for the gifts God has given us, and may the Great Scoutmaster of all Scouts grant you peace, happiness, good health and a joyous holiday season. From all of us at Troop #877, thank you!

Woman's Club Hosts 7th District Conference

GFWC/KFWC Prestonsburg Woman's club members attended and hosted the 7th District Conference at May Lodge on Tuesday, Oct. 17, despite torrential rains Monday night and Tuesday.

Club members from neighboring counties were turned back when they encountered flooded roads over much of this area. Although only half of the amount expected made it, the meeting progressed with much success and much was accomplished, according to Phyllis Herrick, Prestonsburg Woman's Club president.

Kentucky Teacher in Space and NASA Space and Education Ambassador Sue Darnell of Paducah was the scheduled speaker, but she was stranded in Manchester due to the flood waters.

Mrs. Goffery Salyer, KFWC Governor of the 7th District, conducted the meeting and KFWC President Mrs. Charles Geveden of Paducah was the guest speaker.

District committee chairs gave reports.

Each club president gave reports on their respective club's activities. "The Prestonsburg Woman's Club is proud and honored to have received best state project for KFWC Literature and Drama for our work and support of the Jenny Wiley Summer Theater," said Herrick.

Teddi Vaughn, new general manager of the Jenny Wiley Theater was an invited guest and she spoke on the next summer's shows.

Contests for members included art, needlework, poetry and short story. Ribbons were awarded.

New officers were installed by the KFWC president, Mrs. Charles Geveden. They are Alice Kendrick of Pikeville, governor; Connie Gilpin of Pikeville, vice governor; and Barbara Adams of Pikeville, junior director.

Entertainment for this meeting was provided by the Prestonsburg High School Honor Choir under the direction of Elizabeth Lynn Frazier.

An invitation to the Fall District Conference 1990 was issued by the GFWC/KFWC Pikeville Woman's Club.

Fun in the Sun

Donovan Mullins, left, and Randall Hall, right, both of McDowell, had a good seat Saturday while watching the annual Red, White and Blue Day parade. Weather late in the week turned cold and wet, causing some folks to wonder if the festivities would continue as scheduled. Saturday, however, turned up bright, sunny and moderately warm — and the festival went on.

Floyd County Families: Our Heritage

Part 9

Eli Meade (3-10), born 1786, married Priscilla Akers Nov. 7, 1811 in Floyd County. The 1820 census shows Eli Meade with the following people living at his household: 4 males under 10 years of age; 1 male 26-45 years of age; 1 female 10-16 years, 1 female 26-45 years, 1 female 45 & over.

The following from C.C. Wells' Annals of Floyd County, Ky., 1800-1826, shows: Bond dated Oct. 29, 1811, by Eli Mead and Solomon Acres for a marriage between Eli Mead and Siller Acres; Bond dated May 19, 1812, by Jonathan Acres and Elie Mead for a marriage between Jonathan Acres and Keete Mead; March 4, 1819, indenture from Michael Sprinkle to Eli Mead in the amount of $120 for a 92 acre tract on Bell Branch of Mud Creek; May 17, 1823, indenture from Eli Mead to Thomas Howell in the amount of $50 for a tract of land on Bell's Branch of Mud Creek; May 22, 1826, On motion of Thomas Howell, appoint Rhodes Mead, William Branham, Elijah Branham, and Eli Mead, to view and mark best way for a road from mouth of Tolars Creek to Pike County line.

It is an established fact that Eli was a pioneer of Pike County, but the must have moved his family elsewhere because there is no record of Eli available to me until the 1850 census, Pike County. The 1850 PCC shows Ely has returned to Pike and is living with a son Reuben Mead, born 1813, who married Martha J. Weddington, daughter of Jacob Weddington of Pike County. They were married Oct. 12, 1837, and are living one lot away from Benjamin Meade (#71), Eli's son, born 1822. Benjamin married Patsy Perry, Nov. 9, 1839. Eli, Reuben, and all Reuben's family disappear from Pike and all other Kentucky counties that I have been able to check, sometime between 1850 and 1860.

In reviewing William Green Meade's letters to Walter G. Meade, dated June 27, 1928, I have found the following sentence: "Now your great grandfather, Rhodes Mead, and a Benjamin Mead left here, see enough, in 1830, for Indiana and the same year, your great uncle, Benjamin and Armstead left for Ohio and Eli for the Tug Fork of Sandy and settled on the Ky. shore thereof."

I have received more information on Eli and his family from Mrs. L.H. Light of Huntington, W.Va. She was the great-great granddaughter of Eli and Priscilla. She provides the following 1850 Pike Census data: Parcel #858, Reuben Mead, 37, born Ky., 1813?, cabinetmaker; Martha J. (Weddington), 26, Ky.; Jacob, 11, Ky.; Ely, 9, Ky.; Thos. H., 7, Ky.; James, 4, Ky.; Wm. J., 2, Ky.; Elizabeth P., 4/12, Ky.; Granville Mead, 25, born Va., 1825, farmer; Ely Mead, 57, Va.

Also, Parcel #856, Benjamin Mead, 28, Ky.; Martha, 27; Rhodes, 11; Arnold, 9; Kenis, 7; Mary, 5; Martha J., 2.

Mrs. Light, in a letter, adds: "Benjamin Meade is shown as 28 years old in 1850, making his birth date about 1822. If this is correct he would have married when was no more than 17 years old. Some of our old records list his birth as 1820 and some show 1822. Of course at that time when the father was working in the fields some member of the family gave the census taker the best of their information but quite possibly some of it was incorrect. This same Benjamin F. Mead is my great-grandfather and his wife, Martha (Patsy) is my great-grandmother. I have a copy of the family of Eli Meade, which was sent me by a distant cousin in Bountiful, Utah, which lists the above five children plus five more.

"She shows that Mary Jane married John Meek. This seems very reasonable to me because I know from my grandmother Mead that we were related to the Meek family as well as the Weddington family. Also grandmother told me that Priscilla had left Eli Mead. I believe that they must have gone back together as they are buried side by side on Mud Creek. According to older relatives there were sandstone markers at the head of their graves with dates of birth and death. My aunt, Lucretia Mead Knight, now 86 years old (1976) remembers going to Harold, Ky., (Laynesville then) and going to some old cemeteries where her ancestors were buried."

Hardesty's Encyclopedia Historical and Genealogical states that Benjamin and Patsy Perry Mead settled in Wayne County, W.Va., in 1840, on a farm. Hardesty also states that the mercantile store of Arnold Mead was located on or near the confluence of Twelvepole and Mocomas Creek, that his address was Tick Ridge.

I have discovered a note made by Henry Scalf in his accumulation of Mead-e history that Eli had a son named Henry, also, and he is shown as being born in Kentucky but there is no birth date. Known children of Eli (not all proven): Daniel Meade (#70), born ca. 1812, married Jane Jarrel, Dec. 30, 1839; Benjamin Meade (#71), born 1822, married Patsy Perry, Nov. 9, 1839; Hanna Meade (#72), born 1816, married John T. Weddington, June 6, 1836; William Meade (#73), born 1813, married Barbara Pinson, Feb. 7, 1841; Reuben Meade (#73-A), born 1814, married Martha Weddington, Nob. 12, 1837; Granville Meade (#73-B), not proven; Henry Meade (#73-C); Emma Meade (#73-D); Jacob Meade (#73-E); James Meade (#73-F); Mary Jane Meade (#73-G), married John Meek; America Meade (#73-H).

Kate "Keete" Meade (3-11), born 1782 in Bedford County, Va., married May 19, 1812 in Floyd County, Jonathan Akers, born ca. 1784 in Virginia, son of Solomon Akers Sr. Bond signed by her brother Eli Meade. Jonathan and Keete moved to Putnam County, Ind., and bought land there on Aug. 1, 1831, from Thomas Evans. Children (1820 Floyd census): 2 males under 10 years, 1 male 16-26, 1 male 26-45 (Jonathan), 2 females under 10 years, 1 female 16-26.

Edy Meade (3-12), born 1774, married Christopher Toler in Bedford County, Va., Jan. 15, 1801. They emigrated to Floyd County soon after Robert (#3) came. Known children of Edy (Meade) and Christopher Toler: Lucy Toler (3-12-#24), 1803-1883, married Lewis Prichard in Lawrence County, Ohio, Feb. 29, 1821.

Known children of Lucy Toler and Lewis Prichard: Sarah Prichard (#448), 1823-1898; Mary Jane (449), 1824-1846; William (450), 1827-1906; Andrew Jackson (451), 1828-1868; Lucinda (452), 1834-1913; Joseph (453), 1836-1914; Lewis (454), 1839-1920; James (455), 1841-1910; Robert (456), 1844-1899; Christopher Columbus (457), 1824-?; Richard J. (457-A), 1850-1903.

Lewis and Lucy Toler Prichard lived in Boyd County, Ky. They are buried at Cavanaugh Chapel near Buchanan, Ky. Dr. Lewis Prichard married Sarah Belle Mead (1843-1917) in 1868. James Prichard married Henretta Smith in 1870.

MAYOR:

Is It True that your administration has an alleged conflict of interest which has been going on for the last three years? How can you tell the people of Prestonsburg that there is no conflict of interest existing when the Prestonsburg City Attorney is your husband's law partner. How could he properly give the city council any independent advice on any issue, or is he just merely echoing the Mayor's wishes to the council.

NEW FOR YOU!

We here at Appalachian Regional Healthcare have just installed a new telephone system which will be a lot more convenient for our patients and other people calling the Hospital and affiliated Doctor's offices. The system has an automated attendant which answers the telephone and if you have a touch tone phone and know the extension of the department or person you are calling you do not have to talk to the operator. If you do not know the extension the operator will come on and assist you. Attached is a listing of the new telephone extension numbers.

Patient rooms can be accessed in the same manner as noted above if the caller knows the patient's room number his telephone extension number will be the same, i.e. room 203, telephone 377-3400 and the automated attendant will answer the caller can dial 203.

Also another feature of the new system is the capability to call several departments within the Hospital without going through the switchboard at all. Those departments are accessed by a different number:

TV PIPELINE

Acting bug bit Nick Mancuso in high school production

By Polly Vonetes
 Q: I would like some information on Nick Mancuso and an address where I could write him. —Susie Roth, Sarasota, Fla.

A: Nick Mancuso, born in Italy in 1956, was raised in Toronto, Canada. The acting bug bit him in high school when he starred in a production of Hamlet. However, it wasn't until after he earned his psychology degree from the University of Guelph that he became a full-time actor. In 1982 he won Canada's Genie Award as best actor for his performance in the film Ticket to Heaven. He currently resides in Los Angeles. No address is available.

Q: I recently asked for and received a recipe from a local station's newscast. Along with the recipe was a note from the station saying I didn't send or enclose a self-addressed-stamped envelope, or SASE. Given the fact that I've never sent a SASE before and thinking about possibly joining a fan club or sending for tickets to see a game, how do I send one? I know a request is needed, but what is the SASE and how do I send it? —Mark Revere, Hopewell Junction, N.Y.

A: An S.A.S.E. is a Self-Addressed-Stamped Envelope. It would be just as if you were writing a letter to yourself, which in reality you are. The receiver would then enclose whatever you were requesting (tickets or a recipe) in the "SASE" that you would fold and send along with your request. Your envelope to me was printed clearly and legibly. You shouldn't have any problem if you print your name and address on an envelope, put a postage stamp on it and enclose it with your next request, saving them the time of addressing an envelope to you.

Nick Mancuso
 Q: Can you please tell me what happened to Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous? I don't see any ads about it anymore and also in the Heat of the Night. They are two of my favorite shows. —Irene Brice, Amsterdam, N.Y.
 A: Both of your favorite shows are still on television. Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous is in syndication. It would be up to one of your local channels to schedule it. In the Heat of the Night airs Tuesdays on NBC.

Q: Several years ago my family and I watched the movie The Villian with Kirk Douglas and Ann-Margret. We enjoyed it very much but have not been able to see it again. Is it on video? —N. Bleckwenn, Cocolalla, Idaho.
 A: Columbia Pictures released the film you seek in 1979. I do not have it listed as a video release, but keep checking your video store.

CABLE OVERVIEW

Cable stations feature haunting selection of Halloween movies

By Shelia Odak
 Ghosts, goblins, witches, warlocks and things that go bump in the night. That's what you can expect when Oct. 31 rolls around. You can also expect to be bombarded with every horror film ever made. That's exactly what cable is offering this Halloween. So, turn out the lights, cuddle close to someone and prepare to be scared out of your socks.
 The festivities start on Oct. 30 when Cinemax presents Horror Night. Beginning that afternoon, madmen and demons will invade the television starting with The Werewolf, and continuing in that fine horror tradition with such classics as My Best Friend Is a Vampire, Poltergeist II: The Other Side, Poltergeist III, Pumpkinhead (one of my personal favorites), Waxwork (watch out for the head-squashing scene) and The Shining.
 On the 31st, things really get rolling. The good thing about the selections are that there is something for everyone to enjoy, from the youngest child who believes ghosts live under his bed, to the teenager who wants to see as much blood and guts as he possibly can, to those who enjoy a good, old-fashioned black and white thriller.
 For the older members of the family, HBO offers three of its original Tales from the Crypt stories in a special titled Trilogy. These are guaranteed to make your hair stand on end and your flesh crawl.
 For the younger generation, Disney is offering a special night of gentler Halloween stories. The lineup includes The Adventures of Icabod and Mr. Toad and Halloween Is Grinch Night. Afterward, when the kids have gone to bed, mom and dad can enjoy The Ghost and Mrs. Muir and The

Heather O'Rourke, Poltergeist

Haunting of Barney Palmer.
 Everyone in the family can partake of these next selections. Nickelodeon is presenting a marathon four hours of Bewitched, which features the first episodes of the series. AMC is offering its own brand of trick or treat fun with Son of Dracula, Black Friday, This Is Your Life: Boris Karloff, House of Frankenstein and Dracula's Daughter.
 Die-hard fans of Frankenstein will want to be sure and catch the tripleheader on The Movie Channel, which features Frankenstein, Bride of Frankenstein and Son of Frankenstein. (What? No Second Cousin Once Removed of Frankenstein?)
 For those who would rather laugh than scream, there is also The Ghost and Mr. Chicken and Munster, Go Home on TBS.
 There's no way one person could watch all these selections, so pick out your favorites, grab the remote control, and all the Halloween candy you didn't give away, and enjoy ghosts and goblins from the safety of your own easy chair. © TV Listing Inc.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN CITIZENS OF PRESTONSBURG

I am Greg Clark, a candidate for city council, and reside on Highland Ave. with my wife Tina (Joseph) Clark and three children, Tonia & Trae McCaffee and Stacy Clark. I am a Volunteer Police Officer with the Prestonsburg Police Dept. & employed with the P&B Ambulance Service, Prestonsburg, Ky.

I ask that you help elect me as one of your next city councilmen. I will stand tall to speak out for our city and your needs for our future.

Ladies & Gentlemen, it has come to my attention that our current mayor (Latta), when the election is over, win or lose, will fire me from the Volunteer Police Dept. because I am a candidate for city council and that Mayor Latta's opponent (Paul Joseph) is my brother-in-law.

Well, citizens, I ain't withdrawing from this race. I wanted to be a Volunteer Police Officer to help protect you and your family as well as my own and, if elected as one of your next City Councilmen, I will have a strong voice for all your needs to make Prestonsburg a better place to live.

If my wants are wrong then I am sorry, I will not be afraid to breath or hide in some dark shaded place due to any threats placed among me, and may I win or lose, I will always respect and appreciate your faith in me to help elect me.

Thank You
 And God Bless All,
 Greg Clark
Greg Clark

P.S. Mayor Latta, is this true, are your plans like this about me, because I am running for City Council? Let me know.

11. I will work hard with Local and State Government for our City and your needs.
12. I will work for more industrial businesses to come here to provide jobs for the jobless citizens.
13. I will not give away any of our City's backroads to private property owners.
14. I will hold a special open session once a week for Concerned Citizens to speak out their suggestions that may better our City in our future.
15. I will issue a monthly report on all money that has been spent with your tax money for our City.
16. I will work hard to promote more recreational activities for our Senior Citizens.
17. I will have our street sweeper back on the job.
18. I will work with local planning agencies, churches, schools, and all citizens to help benefit the needs they acquire.

*I hope you
