Another fish story?

Tourism aim of proposed fishathon

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Bikeathons, walkathons... Is Floyd County ready for a fishathon?

The Prestonsburg Tourism, Recreation and Convention Commission is looking to ways to increase tourism in the area, and one of those ways is a Partly cloudy...

That's what Floyd County will see when it looks into the sky the next few days. Of course an optimist might say that it was partly sunny.

Wednesday and Thursday, according to the weather service in Jackson, will be partly cloudy with daytime highs around 55 and nighttime lows in the mid 30s.

The nice gentleman from Jackson said the rain — or even snow — is waiting for the weekend to arrive.

Commodity delivery

The Big Sandy Area Community Action Program will begin distributing USDA Commodities on Thursday, April 5, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., or until commodities are gone. Distribution will continue on Friday, April 6, during the same hours at the Community Action Office or until supply is gone.

The distribution locations are the Senior Citizens Center, Wheelwright, Mud Creek Clinic, Grehel; and the Swimming Pool Building, Convention Center, in Allen Park.

Commodities to be issued are beans, cornmeal, flour, peanut butter, honey and pork.

Persons will be limited to picking up commodities for themselves and two other households. All persons picking up for another household must have the following information, with no exceptions: The Social Security card for the person (Medicare card or Driver's license are also acceptable.), and a signed, dated note from the person, including the number in the household, the total income for the prior month and their complete address.

It would be helpful to bring a paper bag or other container to carry the commodities in.

Advance notice

The regular monthly meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education will be Wednesday, April 11 at 6 p.m. at Prestonsburg High School.

Among items on the printed agenda are: notifying administrators of demotion, notifying non-tenured teachers of non-renewal, notifying personnel of reduction in salary, hearings for students recommended for expulsion, amendments to policy and calendar, and review of textbooks, scope and sequence for music and vocational departments.

Martin meeting

The Martin City Council's regular monthly meeting is tonight at 7 at the city hall.

Clean up month

Gov. Wallace Wilkinson has proclaimed April as Keep America Beautiful Month in the Commonwealth. In the proclamation, the governor urges all citizens to work with local volunteer groups to assure a cleaner, healthier environment for all Kentuckians.

The governor reminded that a more beautiful state enhances attractions for new industry and more tourists.

"Keeping Kentucky beautiful is the responsibility of all who live and work in the Commonwealth," Wilkinson said. "It is also a reflection of pride that develops the respect of our youth for beauty and cleanliness."

Amen.

proposed plan to sponsor a fishathon during May through October.

"Actually the dates will run in conjunction with the Festival of Faces events in May through the Jenny Wiley Festival in October," said Jim Sparks, commission board member and coordinator of the Fishathon. "Our purpose is to attract outsiders to our area by using our natural resources."

The commission is hoping to generate interest in the area from both local and regional persons and to gain more traffic flow into local businesses. Sparks said that the commission also will be looking to gain local support from within the community.

"We are going to need a lot of help with this," he stated. "There will be several committee positions to fill, and we are really in need of a lot of help on this project."

Sparks said that a meeting has been scheduled for April 18 at the City Council Room of the Prestonsburg Municipal Building at 6 p.m. The meeting is opened to anyone who is interested in supporting and helping the project get started.

So what is a Fishathon? It will involve the tagging of fish to put in Dewey lake and in the river, Sparks said. The tagged fish will be worth whatever the tag deems. Sparks says the proposal as of now is to accumulate around $60,000 in cash and prizes.

The commission will be assisted by personnel of Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Resources who will tag the fish. The tagged fish will be color-coded, using a different color each year (if the event becomes annual). All the tags will be numbered, as will all species of fish.

A headquarters will be set up to give out awards to all the winners and provide weekly listings of winners to newspapers. All the big winners will be heavily promoted, Sparks said. Headquarters will receive vouchers from weigh stations and maintain records of all tagged fish caught.

Positions that needed to be filled on the planning are chairman, co-chairman, secretary and treasurer.

Committees that need to be appointed are: Promotions Committee, Awards Committee, Rules Committee, Legal Committee. Stocking

No U-turn!

Two loaded coal trucks collided Monday evening on US 23 near Watergap, when one tried to perform a U-turn in the middle of the highway. Herbie Hamblin, 32, of Busy reportedly attempted the maneuver at about 7:30 p.m., after missing the turnoff onto KY 80. As he pulled into the northbound lanes, he was struck by a truck driven by Lonnie Click, 30, of Leander. State police said Click had no possibility of avoiding the accident, as Hamblin blocked both lanes of the highway. No injuries were reported in the incident.

Public transportation coming to Floyd County

by Frank Clark
Staff Writer

The start-up of a Floyd County public transportation system may be only a few months away, potentially providing much needed, affordable transportation for Floyd Countians without access to privately-owned vehicles.

Evelyn Blackburn, transportation coordinator for the Big Sandy Area Development District, has been working on plans to bring the first stage of a county transportation system into being, within the constraints of decreased federal spending for such projects.

"As funding gets tighter, we have to look at creative approaches for transportation," said Blackburn. "A regular, large-scale public transportation system like Lexington has would never work here. That's not what we're trying to do."

What Blackburn and the Big Sandy ADD are proposing is to begin coordinating transportation systems which currently exist in the county. Senior citizen center vans and the two new vehicles being used for non-emergency medical transportation are the most likely candidates for incorporation into a public transport program.

"If senior citizen vans are making runs and they aren't full, why not utilize them for public transportation?" asked Blackburn. "A van running from Auxier to Prestonsburg may only have five riding in a vehicle that holds 12. We can accomplish two goals at the same time by filling the other seats and charging a small fee."

Such a program could pay for itself, believes Blackburn. Persons wishing to catch a ride would call-in to a coordination center to check van schedules and sign up to ride one day in advance. For a small fee, residents would ride with other public transportation passengers, senior citizens, or persons being transported for medical treatment.

For many persons tied down at home without a private vehicle, such a service would allow for shopping, doctor appointments, or just a chance to go into town to visit friends.

"I have high hopes that this could work in the area," said Blackburn. "You won't see big buses running, but we could see mini-vans in and out of hollows, opening up the lives of people who have been isolated in the past."

Other Area Development Districts which have implemented similar programs have proven successful, said Blackburn, and usually charge about one dollar for a ride. Prestonsburg Senior Citizens Center has expressed interest in participating in the transportation program, and Blackburn foresees an initial system possibly linking Betsy Layne, Martin and Prestonsburg.

A request for $30,000 in federal funding has been made to establish a coordination and dispatch center for the program in fiscal year 1991.

If progress on the project continues, public transportation could be available in Floyd County beginning July 1, 1990.

For information on this and the non-emergency medical transportation service, call Evelyn Blackburn at 886-2374.

Middle Creek tests water, builds case for city water

Following last week's meeting between the Middle Creek Action Development Association (MCADA) and representatives of the Big Sandy Area Development District and Prestonsburg Utilities, steps are being taken to check water quality in the area, says Don Timm, chairman of the water committee for MCADA.

"I'll be gathering water samples from Middle Creek residents this week, to test for the presence of sewage and bacteria in water supplies," said Timm. "The tests will be conducted at Morehead and will cost $12 for each household."

Timm noted that it may be possible to link two portions of the Middle Creek area to city water systems.

"Bill Harvey Howard from Prestonsburg Utilities said he'd agree to hook up about 30 houses that run a mile past Overnight Trucking Co., if they all paid a $300 hookup fee," said Timm. "The problem is that no action is possible till July, because they don't have the pipe to run the line."

The second section of Middle Creek which could be the recipient of city water within the next one to two years, said Timm, is the State Fork Road area, near the Magoffin County line. A water line from Magoffin is expected to run to the county line, providing a potential hookup for about 50 households in the area. A Farmer's Home Administration grant would be necessary to fund such a project.

"We've estimated the cost of this section would run about $200,000," said David Gardner of the Big Sandy ADD. "At this point, it's still just a possibility."

Hope for city water in the section of Middle Creek lying between State Fork Road and the proposed Prestonsburg hookup past Overnight Trucking currently appears dim, due to high costs for laying pipe and the low number of paying households.

"At this point, it doesn't look like there'd be any water for this area for at least a few years," said Timm. "Eventually, it's hoped that Prestonsburg will tie into Magoffin, but it'll probably be done on a piecemeal basis. Middle Creek doesn't seem to have the priority of other areas in the county."

"If one person gets water in Middle Creek, it's one person better off," said Milton Harvey, chairman of MCADA. "Of course, not everyone sees it that way. Some think it should be all or nothing."

Gardner estimates that water connections to the entire area would cost about $664,000. The FHA denied

Wayland slate dumps slated for removal

If all goes according to plan, heavy equipment should be moving into Wayland in May to begin the reclamation process of abandoned mining land, an unsightly and unsafe problem that has faced the Right Beaver community for a decade or two.

Walker Construction Co. of Mt. Sterling recently won the reclamation contract, according to John Smiley of the Kentucky Office of Abandoned Mine Lands. The project will cost roughly $2.4 million and is about $600,000 below the state's estimate, said Smiley, who termed the low bid "a pleasant surprise."

Bids on the project were opened last Thursday, the state official said, but the contract execution is expected to take a couple more weeks.

"I'm confident it's going to happen," Smiley said of the reclamation.

Included in the project is the clearing of slate dumps in 28 Hollow and along Steele Creek, as well as the

Slick roads/poor timing

An Endicott man was injured in a Tuesday morning accident in Prestonsburg. According to Prestonsburg Police reports, Joe Brock of Warbranch pulled out of the Hill Engineering parking lot onto University Avenue and into the path of Aaron Sherman of Endicott. Sherman received minor injuries in the wreck and was transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center, where he was treated and released. No citation was issued in the incident.

Saturday Recycling Day

It's time again to clean up the junk room and get rid of those recyclable items.

While many feel that environmental efforts have taken a beating in Kentucky's 1990 General Assembly, Floyd Countians can still do their part for the environment on Recycling Day, this Saturday from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m.

The Floyd County chapter of Kentuckians For The Commonwealth, a statewide citizens group, will sponsor the event, set for three locations: the garage behind KFTC's office at 26 Earl St. in Prestonsburg, a tractor trailer parked behind Highlands Plaza Shopping Center in Prestonsburg, and at Mountain Christian Academy on KY 80 at Martin.

"There is not a more effective, hands on way for individuals to get involved in protecting our environment," said David Schmidt, one of the Recycling Day coordinators. "We have to start recycling now. We no longer have a choice. The alternative is just too ugly."

KFTC members will be stationed at the drop off sites to help sort recyclables and to answer questions about recycling. They will collect aluminum cans, newspapers, 2-liter plastic bottles, plastic milk jugs, all colors of glass and computer paper.

Members ask that all jugs, bottles and cans be rinsed and all lids discarded before bringing them to the drop off sites.

"I'm very much in favor of recycling," said County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo. "Anything that we can recycle stays out of our solid waste stream. Recycling saves the county in hauling and disposal costs. I hope people will participate in Recycling Day and continue to recycle on their own."

Slipped up by tape

PERRY COUNTY — A Perry County man was found guilty of mail fraud in a federal court at London, KY, on March 29. Ponder Ray Fannin, 47, had filed a lawsuit in Perry Circuit Court in 1984 against K-Mart alleging that he had suffered an injury in a fall at the Hazard store in 1983. A jury trial in Circuit Court resulted in a verdict in his favor for $45,000. Evidence presented at his federal court trial showed that Fannin had staged the fall in the K-Mart store after an accomplice had poured oil on the floor in the automotive department.

According to Assistant US Attorney, Robert M. Murphy, who prosecuted the case, a secretly recorded conversation in which Fannin explained how he defrauded K-Mart was introduced at the trial along with evidence of how the US mails were used by the clerks and attorneys involved in the civil suit. The indictment in this case arose out of a lengthy investigation by the FBI into corruption and drugs in the Perry County area in 1987.

Cocaine, bombs subject of US court indictments

PIKEVILLE — Two Pikeville men were recently indicted by the US District Court in Lexington on cocaine charges. Sam Christopher Sirginnis, 32, was arrested on March 29 by FBI agents and charged with three counts of distribution of cocaine in October and November of 1988. Sirginnis entered pleas of not guilty to each count. His trial has been set for May 29. If convicted of all charges, he could face a maximum sentence of up to 60 years imprisonment and a fine of up to $3 million, or both.

John E. Coates Jr., 33, was arrested on March 28, also by the FBI agents, who charged him with one count of conspiracy to distribute cocaine and four counts of distribution of cocaine in October, November and December of 1988, in Pikeville and Prestonsburg. Coates was released on bond by US Magistrate James F. Cook and was ordered to appear before the US District Judge Karl S. Forester on April 9 for arraignment.

William A. Bartley, 26, of Elkhorn City, was sentenced to 10 months imprisonment on March 30 by US District Judge Forester. Bartley pled guilty on Jan. 31 to a charge of unlawfully making a destructive device consisting of dynamite and blasting caps contrary to federal firearms laws. In addition to the 10 months sentence of imprisonment, Bartley was also ordered placed on supervised release for a period of two years.

Mysterious rash crops up in W.Va., also

JACKSON COUNTY — The mysterious rash which has affected students in the McDowell schools here in Floyd County has also appeared in a school in Jackson County, W.Va. Officials have not been able to determine the cause of the rash and have had to relocate 280 students to another school. At a cost of about $6000. The school board has hired a testing company to conduct research into the cause. The West Virginia school system is cooperating with the Floyd County Board of Education in attempting to find similarities between the two buildings. The only common denominator found so far is the same cleaner supply company from Huntington. (The Jackson Star News.)

Committee and Water Cleanup Committee.

"We also are hoping this will help in cleaning up our waterways," Sparks explained. "We want to clean the river from Elkhorn to Louisa."

The fishathon committee also hopes to have a July 4 tournament.

Sparks says that he believes that the proposed Fishathon will bring in added business to local merchants, as well as to motels and other businesses.

Restocking the river with smallmouth bass is on the agenda of the committee.

Each angler needs to purchase a $5 ticket which is good through the time allotted for the Fishathon. When a tagged fish is caught, the angler will take the tagged fish to the weigh stations to be checked for eligibility. The weigh stations will then hand out vouchers and send the winner to awards headquarters.

"Right now we need all the help we can get from anyone wishing to help," the Fishathon director said. "Everything is in the planning stages and we cannot finalize anything until we see what help we are going to get."

For more information on the Fishathon, or how you may help, contact Jim Sparks at 886-1396; Fred James, City Administrator, or Tom Blackburn at the fire department.

Former County Attorney nominated to judgeship

Former Floyd County Attorney David A. Barber has been nominated by the Workers' Compensation Board to become an administrative law judge in the Eastern Kentucky region.

Barber, 36, a Prestonsburg resident working as general counsel to House Democratic Majority Leader Greg Stumbo, was nominated with four other attorneys to supplement the ranks of Workers' Compensation judges. The 10 judges currently on the bench are reportedly dealing with overly heavy caseloads and extensive travel requirements.

"Twenty positions were recommended in the past," said Barber. "Only 10 were authorized at the time, and now they've decided to add five more because of the workload."

If confirmed by the state Senate next week, Barber will become a full-time judge, dealing exclusively with workers' compensation cases for injured workers. He would be based in Prestonsburg, but would serve much of the Eastern Kentucky region, as well as occasional assignments in Central and Western Kentucky. Barber believes several factors weigh in his favor for confirmation.

"The board looks for a strong background in compensation cases," noted Barber. "Most of my professional work has been in this area. Because many compensation cases arise from this region, being based in Prestonsburg is also a favorable factor."

Barber stated that his close connections with Rep. Stumbo did not affect the nomination process.

"Some of the press have tried to infer that this nomination is political, because of my close association to Greg," said Barber. "This nomination was given by the Workers' Compensation Board. It was an independent process. It won't hurt me, though, to have this type of connection."

According to Barber, the Senate should make a decision on the nomination sometime next week. No date was announced for when new judges might begin hearing cases, once the nominations are confirmed.

The bench positions pay about $62,000 a year, according to a Lexington Herald-Leader report.

Slate Dump

burning coal refuse at nearby Glo.

Smiley estimates the project will take "every bit" of a year to complete.

The project was stymied last summer when Elkhorn Coal Co., which owns the lands in question, gave an option on the coal to a Belgian businessman. The option apparently was not taken, since, according to Smiley, the local coal company has signed consent forms for the reclamation.

Smiley said last summer that the state has been working on getting approval for the Wayland area reclamation for "seven or eight" years. Area residents indicate they have been pushing for action in removing the slate dumps and refuse fires for around 20 years.

In addition to air pollution created by coal dust and fumes from the slow-burning slate dumps, runoff from the piles of coal refuse has posed a continual problem for area streams which fill up and flood during heavy rains.

Another goes down

The third gas company within the county to register a decrease within the past month is Elzie Neeley Gas Company. Residential customers of Elzie Neeley can expect to see an $8.02 annual decrease, retroactive to March 1.

The company entered the request to the Public Service Commission on March 26. The PSC granted the company a purchased gas adjustment to reflect an $803 decrease in wholesale costs from its supplier.

Allen council examines TV cable, garbage problems

Cable television and illegal garbage dumping were the primary topics for consideration Monday at the Allen City Council meeting.

Representatives of Charter Cable failed to appear at the Monday meeting, further angering Allen residents and council members who are disgruntled with Charter's service to the community. Council members agreed to give Charter one more month to contact the city before Tel-Com Cable Co. will be invited to provide cable service to the Allen area.

Following complaints by local residents, the council agreed to place a screen on a culvert in Hinton Hollow, in order to prevent trash from washing down onto local residents' property.

Discussion then turned to problems of illegal dumping, particularly across the river from Allen Elementary School. David Cooley, manager of the Floyd County Solid Waste program, noted the danger of such illegal dumping.

"Garbage has gotten so toxic, with chemicals and aerosols and such, to have it in a noncontrolled area that close to the schoolhouse and creek is dangerous," said Cooley. "We need to work together to take care of the problem."

Council expressed interest in a cleanup of the town, to coincide with county cleanup efforts in May.

Council unanimously agreed to extend a $100 per month increase in gas funds for the city police officer for the next three months. Council also discussed the problem of missing street signs and the need to replace posted speed signs within city limits.

Present at Monday's meeting were Mayor Vernon Porter and council members Elmer Parsons, Ann Bentley, and Gary Elliot.

Canine program fundraiser

Eddie Akers, right, Post Commander for VFW Post 5839 in Prestonsburg, presents a check to Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson for $1300, raised in support of the Floyd County Sheriff's Department's drug dog program. The money was raised through a dinner and dance hosted by the VFW. Akers expressed his gratitude for all who participated in the fundraiser.

Sheriff's department confiscates pot plants

A Friday night raid by the Floyd County Sheriff's Department resulted in the seizure of 20 marijuana plants and a bottle of illegally obtained prescription drugs.

The raid occurred at about 11 p.m. Friday on Rice Branch off of State Fork Road, near the Magoffin County line. According to Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson, he and eight deputies surprised one person in a house, believed to be used for drug trafficking activities, when they rushed the house and kicked down the door.

Apparently, the person in the house jumped through a back window and escaped into the woods behind the building. A search of the surrounding area yielded no suspects.

A medicine bottle of Valium and 20 young marijuana plants were confiscated in the raid. The plants were later destroyed.

"I think that they (the drug traffickers) went out to pick up a load (of drugs) before the raid," said Thompson. "They're lucky people. This raid wasn't as fruitful as I expected."

Despite the disappointment, two apparent customers of the drug house were arrested during the raid, and a vehicle was impounded. Further investigation continues in the case.

In other reports, Thompson said that over 25 arrests were made during the weekend, the busiest weekend for arrests since the first of the year. Thompson also noted that a 3/4 ton truck was confiscated, following a burglary attempt at Little Paint Creek, on Saturday night.

A March report for Sheriff Department activities will be released Friday.

Johnson burglary nets three Floyd suspects

Three Floyd County residents were arrested and another is being sought in connection with a Johnson County burglary that may be linked to a series of burglaries that have plagued Johnson county in recent months.

Marcel "Tom" DeRossett and his wife Jeana DeRossett, both of Prestonsburg, were arrested Saturday night by the Johnson County Sheriff's Department, following a report of a burglary in progress at a trailer in Collista.

Upon arrival at the residence, four subjects were seen fleeing the scene. The DeRossetts were captured, following a chase into nearby woods. Both were charged with second degree burglary and the husband was charged with possession of marijuana.

A third, unidentified Floyd County resident was arrested Monday in connection with the burglary. A fourth is still at large and is being sought by the Kentucky State Police and Johnson County Sheriff's Department.

According to Sheriff Gene Cyrus, several thousand dollars worth of tools and equipment were removed from the trailer and a nearby shed during the burglary, some of which has not yet been recovered. He also said that those involved in Saturday night's burglary may have been involved in several unsolved burglaries that have hit Johnson County in recent months.

The case is still under investigation by the Johnson County Sheriff's Department and Kentucky State Police.

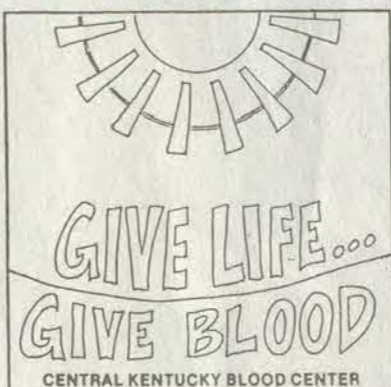

Democrat governors to reunite April 13

Fayette County will host a reunion for all Democratic governors of Kentucky, according to Fayette County Democratic chairperson George Ewen.

This reunion will be held in conjunction with the annual Fayette County Banahan Awards Dinner. It will consist of a cocktail hour, a sit down dinner and dance. This is an opportunity for the public to meet the governors who helped shape the state: Happy Chandler, Ned Breathitt, Bert Combs, Wendell Ford, Julian Carroll, John Y. Brown and Martha Layne Collins.

It will be held at the Continental Inn on Friday, April 13, at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $40 per person. For information, call 281-9055.

Blaze destroys David home

The only fire reported in the county this week occurred in the David area. The rental property in Beech Branch, owned by Della Moore, was totally consumed in flames when the David Fire Department arrived on the scene at 9:45 p.m. Saturday, according to firefighter Derrick Hicks.

Fifteen firefighters responded to the blaze with a tanker and pumper trucks, but the structure was beyond saving, Hicks reported. The fire department members concentrate on protecting surrounding structures.

The cause of the blaze is under investigation by the arson investigator, Hicks said, noting it was of a suspicious nature.

The Floyd County Times

Wednesday, April 4, 1990 A 4

Editorial

A few months ago Kentuckians had little to be proud of in following the daily antics of the 1990 General Assembly and Gov. Wallace Wilkinson. Seems every day brought headlines of new and more bitter hostilities as the fate of the commonwealth was bounced around more than the round ball that filled the sports pages. There were moments when we wondered if an iota of sanity resided in Frankfort and if any good could come from the motley assemblage.

Last Friday, there was reason to feel somewhat better. Many of the problems had been ironed out — thanks in great measure to the governor's new attitude of conciliation and in part to the political maneuverings of astute legislators. Many of the bills that were ultimately passed by both houses bear the mark of progressive thinking. The fate of some was disappointing, but now their sponsors can regroup and use the next two years to plan a more effective strategy.

By far the source of greatest hope is the education reform bill. While we're not as convinced as some that its provisions represent a cure-all, the bill does indicate that the state is willing to take a giant step forward in addressing educational ills.

The next step is up to the people. Do we care enough to carry out the reform? To make the reform a reality will require a big dose of generosity on the part of the thousands of politicians who now run the public schools, a willingness to cede a bit of power for the good of the schools. It will also require teachers and school administrators to be willing to retrain, to experiment, to have an open mind and to give change a chance.

And most important, it will require all citizens to become involved in education reform, to willingly put our money where our mouth is, and to realize that we cannot put the total responsibility of socializing, civilizing and educating our children on our schools.

Every Kentuckian has a stake in the success of education reform, whether young or old, whether parent or childless, whether rich or poor. All of us will profit in the long run by improving the quality of our educational system.

I've been feeling very guilty lately. I have taken a friend for granted. To me, that is an unforgivable, personal failure. Friends are a wonderful thing, and a good friend is an invaluable commodity. When I first moved to Eastern Kentucky I wasn't in a position where I could find that special person to confide in. Consequently, I was very lonely and depressed and didn't feel too happy about my move.

The lack of a special closeness with another human being can make one feel unloved and unwanted. And for about five months that was how I felt. Then I met my present "significant other" and things started looking up. He involved me in his activities and gave me the, sometimes hard to find, opportunity to meet other people my own age with similar likes and dislikes.

But, what I count as one of the top things he did for me was introduce me to his friend Jeanne Childers. I was a bit skeptical when he phoned me at work and said he had made arrangements for us to go out to dinner with a friend of his and her husband. The fact that the friend was a female and that he wouldn't tell me anything about their relationship got my mind turning cartwheels. I came up with all sorts of scenarios for their acquaintance. As it turned out, she was a former student of his whom he befriended. So, it was nothing to worry about.

I was nervous at our first meeting, then I recognized Jeanne as someone I had sung with in the community choir. And yet, we had not spoken to each other (She was a soprano and I an alto; we sat on opposite sides of the room). We hit it off right away, and the evening went flawlessly.

From that day forward the four of us were almost attached at the hips. The men were avid tennis players and they struggled to teach us women the rules of the game. We had cook outs and even sing alongs.

Jeanne and I would frequently pass on the street with one of us hollering out the window "meet me at the park" and from there we would go for long walks and discuss the latest gossip and personal concerns.

Our friendship expanded into something wonderful and I cherished the times we spent together. Jeanne and I were as opposite as two people could be, but in most cases that worked to our advantage. As it turned out, her temperament matched my boyfriend's and mine her husband's. Consequently, we were able to explain the men's thought processes when one or the other of us was not able to comprehend what was going on in their relationship.

Well, to make what has turned out to be a long story short; Jeanne and her husband moved away last fall. They only moved to Jackson. But sometimes even an hour and a half distance can put a strain on a relationship. The fact that Jeanne is a nurse and works third shift and I sometimes work odd hours myself didn't help matters any.

We tried to maintain a "long distance" friendship, but somehow things fell apart on our one year "anniversary of meeting each other" this past February. I feel now it was just a matter of miscommunication, but at the time, I was very disappointed in Jeanne and was not prepared to forgive the incident.

She sent me a beautiful plant arrangement the other day to congratulate me on my promotion. This, after we hadn't spoken since that fateful day in February. I was so pleased over the kind act, and so humiliated about the thoughts I had been thinking the past month. I have realized that a good friend is someone you always forgive. A good friend is someone who deserves a chance to explain. A good friend is the most precious person on Earth and should never be put on a back shelf. And, if they are, a good friend would understand. I want to be that good friend again and be forgiven for my thoughtlessness.

Legislative Prospective

By Rep. Greg Stumbo

It's been called historical and it's also been called hysterical — and at times it's been both — but the 1990 session of the Kentucky General Assembly accomplished what it set out to do. On Thursday, the House approved the Senate's version of HB 940 which will revolutionize the way we educate Kentucky's children. The massive education reform package with its complex financing plan now goes to Governor Wilkinson for his signature making it the law of the land.

I'm pleased to announce that the education reform measure underwent relatively few major changes from its original format in its journey through both houses. The most noticeable difference between the senate and house versions is the elimination of the state deduction for federal income tax payments. This bill also makes Kentucky the only state to judge the success of its education system by the success of its students. Site-based management is an innovative strategy designed to give local school districts more discretion in the methods they use to achieve specific academic goals. Bonuses will be awarded to schools which demonstrate real improvement and provisions are also built into the bill which could mandate the closing of schools which fail to perform up to acceptable levels of excellence.

The bill contains tough language, tough fiscal measures and tough performance schedules. No matter how tough the plan may appear to be, it is nowhere near as tough as growing up without an adequate education or as tough as not having the preparation to effectively compete in the job market.

We've had to be tough during this session in order to make things better and more fair for our children and our children's children.

I said Thursday that one day, I hope to visit the floor of the Kentucky House of Representatives and see those seats occupied by men and women who grew up with the advantages provided by passage of this bill in 1990. I hope and pray that on that day, each of those house members can claim that our actions truly made a difference; that the 1990 Education Reform Bill proved to be the foundation of greater opportunities and an improved quality of life for each one of them and all of their peers.

House Bill 929 also passed the senate with only a few revisions which the house accepted. This measure provides for a $600 million road bond issue. The projects which will be funded under this bill will go a long way toward enhancing the economic development potential of Eastern Kentucky. Many of the new rural highways targeted for construction under the bill will effectively link areas which have been isolated from major interstates and transportation corridors essential to many businesses and industries.

The senate version of the bill includes a provision that prohibits any changes in the six-year road plan for projects scheduled for the next two years. By making this requirement, those projects specified for construction or other action in the road plan will be implemented without being endangered by any cabinet, executive or legislative changes.

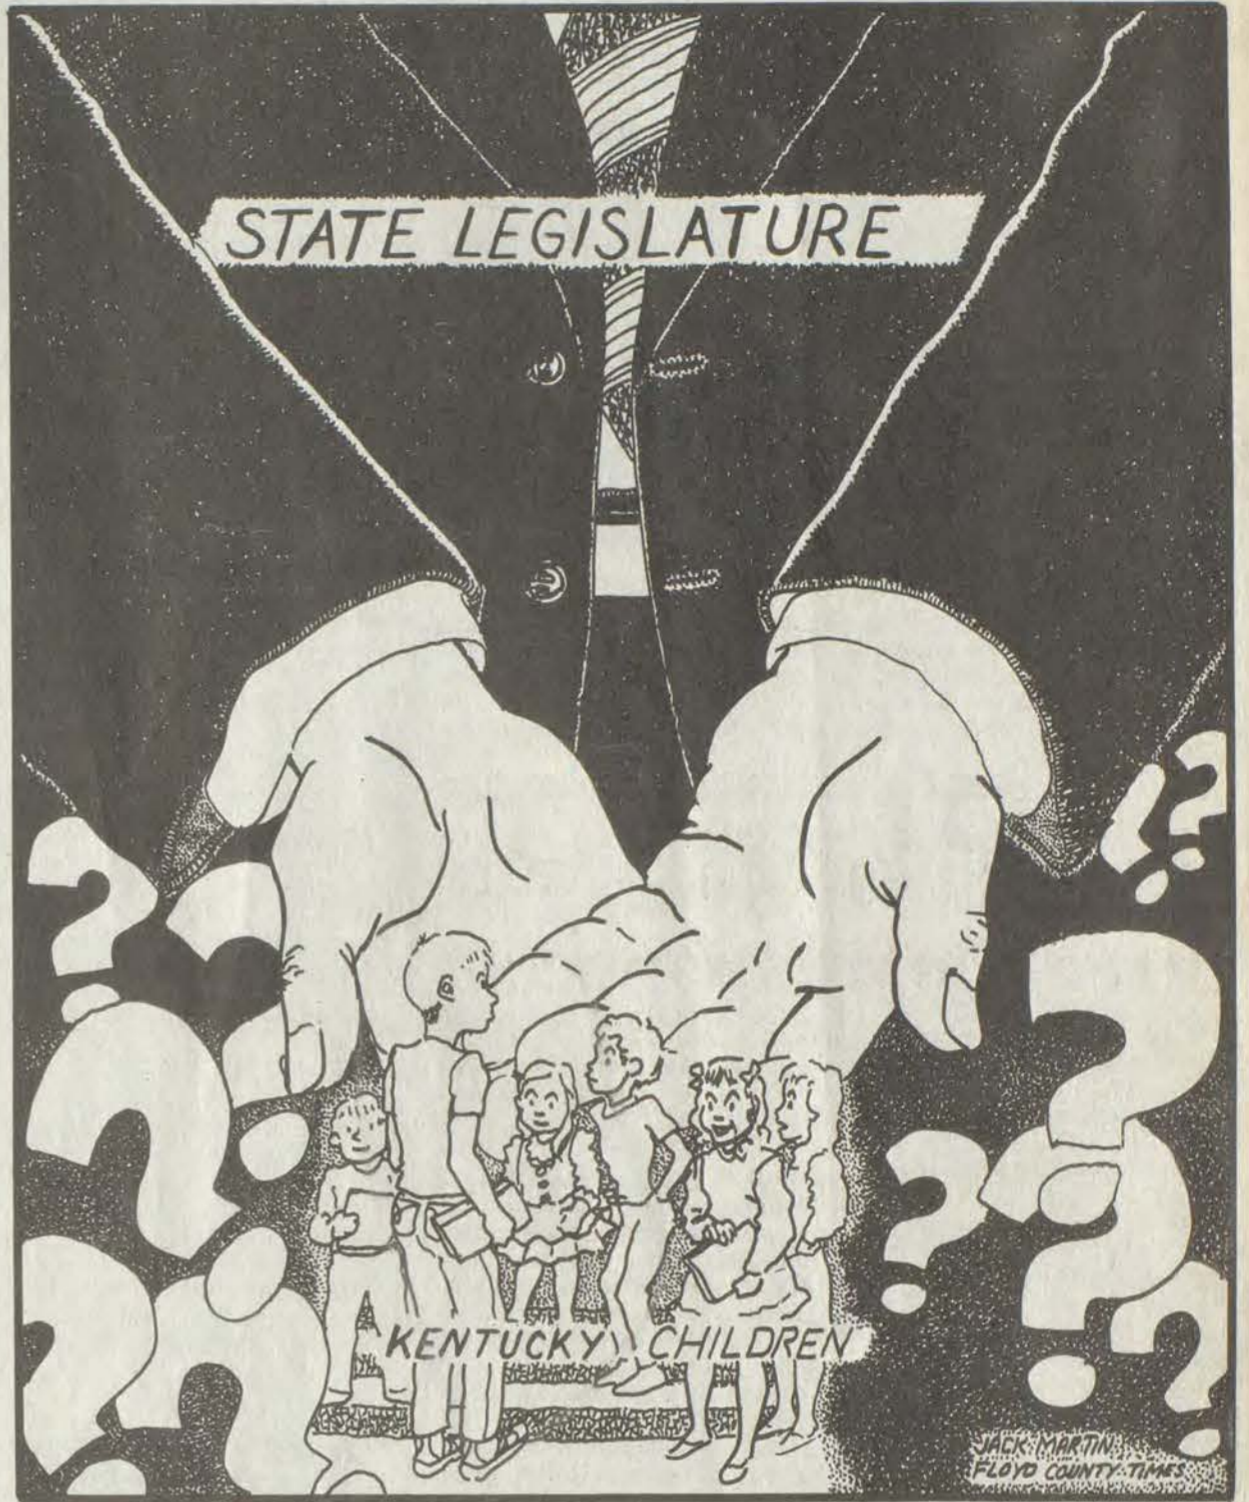

The governor signed several bills into law last week. The Living Will is now an option available to any Kentuckian who wishes to legally document his or her wishes not to be kept alive through extraordinary measures in case of terminal illness medically irreversible condition rendering one unable to express those wishes.

Kentucky will have the benefits of a new Jobs Creation Authority as the result of the signing of HB 417. The authority will be endowed with the powers to explore new and innovative ways to enhance employment opportunities, especially in depressed counties.

Job training and re-training, provision of incentives to industry and other effective plans will be a part of the authority's charge to develop new jobs.

A provision in the budget was approved to expand the facilities at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. Among the projects funded is the proposed golf course. The golf course will be constructed in two phases over the course of the next two years. This is an especially welcome project which will greatly enhance tourism and recreational opportunities in this region.

I want to thank every one of you who has taken the time to phone or come to Frankfort to lend their support, encouragement and good counsel to me. I have given every effort to help the people of Floyd County and, again, I very much appreciate your help during this history making session.

Letters

Awareness growing

Dear Editor,
"Smooth," volunteer Glenda Tackett said of our March 16 gospel sing, kick-off for the Easter Food Drive for God's Pantry-East. "Everything went just the way it was set. Even the little kids were well-behaved."

Estill Carter of Music-Carter-Hughes, Prestonsburg, emceed this special event, which produced about $400. The Fitzpatrick Choir, Don Sparkman with son Lance, the Goble Family, the Singing Sammons Family, Tiffany Slone, Connie Sexton and Andy Craft, and Jayne Patton sang and played and entertained an audience of 150 on a rainy night.

How generous are the people of this area? Well, you be the judge. Lorraine Bailey, custodian at the church, worked from 6 a.m. until the event was over at 10 p.m. and stayed to clean up. All the performers and the emcee and several members of the Fitzpatrick Church performed and worked without charge — and in a spirit of friendship and hospitality — it was easy to see that the smiles were sincere and warm.

Generous donations from Food City, FoodLyon, Ed Walters Foodland, Martin Shopwise, Wal-Mart, florists Chaffins, Dye's, Christina's, Jan's, House of Flowers and Gifts, Jenny Wiley Florist and Petals and Lace.

What does all this mean in regard to our Easter Food Drive? Well, it means that the people here are becoming highly conscious of God's Pantry-East. It means that the people are concerned about our problems with hunger. It means that we're working together. And it means so much more.

Thanks go to so many we can't list them, but I must mention Alice Sparkman who videotaped the event for us.

Bottom Line: People came to me — a lot of people — and said, "Let's do it again."...And indeed we shall. Watch for our announcements.

Looking for shoes

Dear Editor,
Is there a store in Floyd County (or Letcher) that sells shoes in a size four? I wear a size four, medium width. I can't find this size anywhere. The shoes I now wear were purchased two to three years ago at what I think was the finest store in Floyd County, Messers. The color I loathe — a deep, dark brown. Can anyone help me? Or must one drive to "far away places" to find a size four shoe, medium width?

Tired of stereotyp

Dear Editor,
I am truly upset about the "48 Hours" program. It is true that there are places like that in Floyd County but there are some good points. I can't think of a more beautiful place. I just recently moved from Martin to Dutton, Ala. I can tell you that there are some places here just as bad if not worse. I was surprised and proud to see people I went to school with on television — until the next few days afterwards and everyone was laughing at us. I lived there my whole life. I had hard times but I love Floyd County and do not want it to be slandered.

The long and short of it is there is poverty in every state. So why do people in other states think that all of Eastern Kentucky is a poor, uneducated cesspool? I'm tired of this stereotype. It's about time Floyd County rises above all of it.
A Proud Hillbilly,

Set Dwale free

Dear Editor,
The community of Dwale is held captive several times each week by the C&O Railroad. The train blocks the crossing leaving no way out for 20 minutes or more at a time. Back in my day, 20 minutes did not mean much, but in today's fast paced world, 20 minutes can mean life or death. I was blocked by the train while traveling with one of my relatives last summer and she said "If that train ever blocks me in an emergency, I will sue the railroad." I thought to myself, "Honey I hope you have a nice funeral with the money you get."

Dwale has needed another way out for many years. Last weekend my cousin drove me down to look at the new site for the Allen Grade School and I looked across the river and the solution to Dwale's problem came to me.

It would make good sense to build a bridge just up the road from the new school and connect Dwale with the road going to the school. This would be much safer for the school children and keep them from crossing the railroad track and keep them from the dangerous intersection at New Allen. This would also give Dwale residents a way out in an emergency. The bridge would be only a few hundred feet above the new school.

Now that I have the idea, I need someone to start the ball rolling. I thought maybe the magistrate, Mr. Owens, could do this. He sounds like a man that would know the right people to contact. I hope he won't answer this with a "that's not my job" reply. I don't have the money for long distance phone calls, and I don't know exactly who to call if I had a phone.

Mr. Magistrate, or squire as they were called in my day, please take up this project for the people. It is a better subject than arguing about buying or not buying a truck.

The good people of Dwale got all excited about the air they breath from the pump station, so now that they know they are being held hostage I bet they call their congressman and get something done. I spent the first quarter to buy a stamp to get the idea of a bridge started, so now everyone needs to help.

I hope the magistrate will answer and let everyone know what he is doing or who he contacted. Also, much thanks for a fine paper.

Obituary question

Dear Editor,
I read the Times every week and for the most part I like it. But I have a gripe about the obituaries. When someone dies outside the county, most of the time you just say they were from Floyd and not where in the county. Because there could be several people of the same name in Floyd County, I don't know if it is the same person I know or not. I like to try to keep up with the people I knew.
— Harold Castle
Weeksbury

(Editor's note: We often share Mr. Castle's frustration. We prefer to be specific in saying exactly where in the county the deceased was born, but we can't always get that information. Generally, we receive obituary notices from out of the region in one of two ways. 1) A family member sends a clipping of the obituary from the local newspaper where the person died. When possible, we try to get in touch with the one who sent the notice to get more specific information. 2) A representative of the funeral home that is in charge of arrangements in the other state or county calls us with the funeral notice, at the request of the deceased's family. Quite often, that funeral home does not have the specific town or community in Floyd County where the deceased is from. Sometimes the representative will try to find out and let us know, but not always. We have to remember, too, that the funeral home has to rely on the family for information, and family members, in their grief, sometimes forget some pieces of information that would be of interest to people here. And sometimes, the deceased left here so long ago that his or her survivors know very little about the area and cannot provide specifics. The Times will continue to print the name of the community of birth of the deceased whenever we can find it out.)

McDowell school awaits results of air tests

Parents, health officials, and school administrators continue to wait for the return of results from air tests conducted in McDowell Elementary School on Friday and Saturday of last week.

Floyd County School Superintendent Ron Hager said air sampling was completed Saturday and results are expected later this week, as the search continues to identify the source of a rash which plagues the elementary and high school in McDowell. The situation forced the two schools to close two days prematurely prior to the start of spring break last week.

Hager said that desks in the elementary school were steam cleaned Tuesday as a precaution against possible contaminants in the school. He also said that nurses and health officials will be present at next Monday's reopening of the school.

If children continue to experience the rash, plans have been made to relocate classes to a local church building or to Osborne Elementary School until the source of the rash is discovered.

Hager also noted that no results from a state survey that was conducted at the school nine days ago have been released officially to school officials.

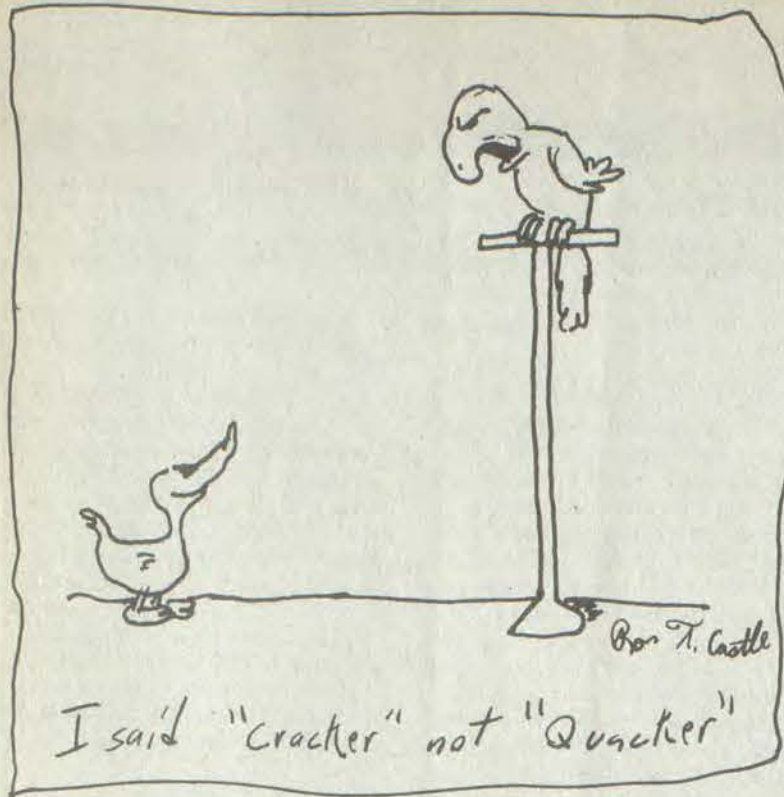

"I've had no contact with Dr. Finger (director of the Kentucky Dept. for Health Service's Division of Epidemiology)," said Hager. "I was told I'd see the report at the end of last week, but it hasn't arrived as of today (Tuesday)."

Portions of that report were released to The Floyd County Times Thursday by Finger. No conclusive findings were indicated, though there was indication that a possible link between school meals and the rash outbreak was possible.

Finger said last Thursday that a check into suppliers of food for the school may be warranted. He could not be reached Tuesday for further comment.

Patton seeks Stumbo's state House seat

ED PATTON

by Frank Clark
Staff Writer

Ed Patton knows he's got a battle on his hands, trying to unseat incumbent 95th District legislator and House Majority Leader Greg Stumbo in the upcoming May 29 Democratic primary.

Despite the perceived difficulties, Patton believes a win is possible if he can get his grassroots, anti-school board, anti-special interest platform across to Floyd voters.

"I'm running because I don't feel the county is making the progress it should be," said Patton, 47, a lifetime McDowell resident who graduated from Eastern Kentucky University with a degree in education. After teaching in the county school system for five years following graduation, Patton said he started a career in finance and banking.

"I switched to finance because the wage paid to teachers wasn't adequate to support a family," said Patton. "It's a shame, but teachers aren't paid or respected nearly enough."

Patton began work in 1984 as transportation director for the Floyd County School Board. In July of 1989, amid much publicity, Patton was not rehired by the school board. He filed suit against the board, Superintendent Ron Hager, and the state school board, alleging that he was not rehired because of his political support in a school board election for candidates who opposed existing board members.

The suits pending in federal court in Pikeville and is scheduled to come to trial this summer. This experience with the school system, he said, has compelled him to declare himself an anti-school board candidate.

In an interview Tuesday, Patton noted three key concerns facing county residents: economic development, access to safe water, and roads.

"If an industry came into our area now, what could we show them for an industrial site?" asked Patton. "What we need is to inventory old strip mine sites in the county, and develop some of them into industrial sites."

"More important is the need for safe water around the county," he continued. "We need water lines linked throughout the county, bringing safe water to the public. People have the right to drinkable, safe water."

Patton reserved special concern for the county road system and the proposed state project to build a Garrett-McDowell connector.

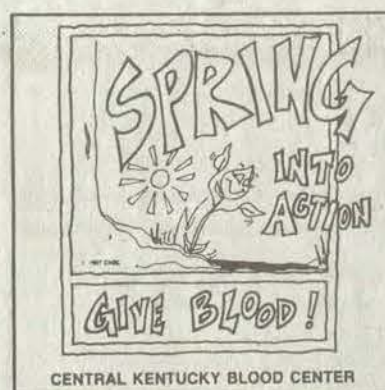

"I'm as tired as everyone with dodging potholes, particularly on KY 122 and US 23," noted Patton. "We're not getting the service we should be for our tax dollars. I also think the Minnie to Garrett road is a waste of money. I think the people in Left Beaver are against it and I think it'll be bad for business in Martin and Wheelwright. People want work to be done on KY 122, adding passing lanes and making it safer around the new high school (Left Beaver high school). I don't know anyone for this (Garrett-McDowell) project, except for property owners and Greg Stumbo."

Patton strongly believes that public officials, including state representatives, need to return to a philosophy of public service expressed by early leaders of the United States, setting higher ethical standards while addressing the needs of the people they represent.

"I see this position I'm running for should be more of a volunteer position, to work for people in the district," said Patton. "If the public perceives that a representative is being handled by special interest groups, something's wrong. This 'Greed' Bill (a bill introduced in the 1990 legislative session to provide a pension to retired legislators) is also wrong. Stumbo voted to increase this pension plan. I'm against it and plan to work as a legislator to stop it."

Patton says he is currently working to raise funds to develop a television advertising campaign and has been campaigning door to door, trying to raise support for the May election.

"The way I'll win is by going out and talking to the good, common, everyday people out there," said Patton. "They're the ones who are going to choose."

Kentucky Lotto begins 2nd weekly drawing

Newspapers throughout the state were even more read than usual during the past week, as coupons for free Lotto Kentucky tickets were printed in many of them.

"We expected the coupon to be very popular," said Melanie Bridgemon. "But some newspaper execs have told us that, even with printing additional papers, they still sold out."

Bridgemon said that the coupon will appear throughout April in 52 papers across the state. "It appears on Wednesday in daily papers and on Wednesday or Thursdays in the weeklies," she said. "The coupons offer two free plays of Lotto for the new Wednesday drawings during April with the purchase of a $1 ticket."

The first Wednesday drawing will be April 4, the first anniversary date for the lottery.

The second Lotto drawing offers a guaranteed minimum jackpot of $1 million. If no one correctly matches all six numbers drawn during the televised drawing, the jackpot will build for the Saturday drawing. Beyond the $1 million minimum, the amount of jackpots are dependent upon sales.

A proud tradition

Our funeral home has been responding to the needs of the community for many years. To continue this proud tradition of helping families in their time of need, we now offer the Sunset SecuritySM Plan.

Sunset SecuritySM offered by us as a member of the Kentucky Funeral Directors Burial Association, is a plan that lets you reduce the stress your loved ones will experience at the time of a funeral.

Through Sunset SecuritySM, you can pre-arrange a funeral now. The plan offers an inflation-proof feature that lets you save money by freezing the cost of a funeral at today's prices. And it provides special tax-saving advantages. We'd like to give you a "Personal Record Guide" and tell you about the Sunset SecuritySM Plan. Just complete the coupon below and send it to us.

Presbyterians plan Palm Sunday program

Palm Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church will be highlighted by a choir concert at 7:30 p.m. Directed by James Ratcliff, the concert will feature selections by Mozart and Schubert, as well as several spirituals.

The annual Palm Sunday Men's Breakfast is set for April 8 at 7:30 a.m. at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn. Featured speaker will be the Rev. Vernon Luchies of Martin County.

During the morning worship service, both the Children and Adult Choirs will participate in a joint "Palm Sunday Processional," remembering the Triumphal Entry of Christ into Jerusalem.

The public is invited to share in these special events. The Rev. Timothy Jessen is pastor of the church.

Church schedules dinner for Friday

A chicken and dumpling dinner, sponsored by Martin Freewill Baptist Church, is slated for Friday, April 6.

Meals will be served from 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. for $3.50 per plate. For delivery, call 358-2542 or 358-4300.

Now That You've Got Your Body In Shape, How About Giving Your Spirit A Lift.

Physical fitness is a wonderful thing. But you've got more than a body to work on. You've got a spirit too.

And that's the part of you that has a desire to know God. Until you get in touch with your spirit, you'll never be fully developed.

That's why we're inviting you to come and join us in worship. To get to know God. To experience His love firsthand through Jesus Christ.

And give your spirit a lift. Regardless of your relationship with God right now, there's hope that it can be richer because Jesus cares for you.

Here's Hope.

On the job

"Bobby" is flanked by "the best bosses" Marge and Jim Sparks at his job at Lee's Famous Recipe Fried Chicken, where with the help of Mountain Comprehensive Care the young man is learning to live on his own.

Employer cited for giving man a chance

"We needed someone to do the job" is Jim Sparks' simple response to the question of why he hired a person who is mentally handicapped.

Sparks, who manages Lee's Famous Recipe Fried Chicken in Prestonsburg, was among the first area employers to participate in Project TIME, a program to place persons with mental illnesses or retardation in regular jobs.

Since December, "Bobby" has been one of Sparks' best workers. The young man's mild retardation has not kept him from learning a job and taking on the responsibility of a busy workplace.

Always on the job when he's supposed to be, Bobby takes care of much of the restaurant's maintenance chores. He explains that he washes the walls, cleans the parking lot and tends to the outside greenery. He has also helped out, on occasion, in the kitchen.

The job is not the only difference in Bobby's life. Through the Mountain Comprehensive Care program, Bobby is learning how to live on his own. "Our people have been teaching him to handle his money, cook and clean for himself — to be self-sufficient," says program coordinator Tony Bentley, who has placed 13 mentally handicapped persons in jobs in the five-county area.

"I appreciate people like Jim (Sparks)," says Bentley, who has designated the restaurant manager as the program's Employer of the Month. "He makes things happen. He has given Bobby the opportunity to prove himself."

"Bobby gets no special treatment," says Sparks, "and he appreciates that. He's grown a lot since he's been here. He's learned a lot about dealing with life."

"I enjoy every bit of it," says Bobby, who lives on his own within walking distance of his job. "I do whatever they tell me to do. I have better bosses than anybody ever had!"

Bobby's confidence received an extra boost when he was able to get new glasses, new hearing aids and a new set of teeth. He smiles almost constantly to show off his straight, solid teeth — and out of obvious joy.

Sparks says having Bobby on the staff also boosts the morale of the restaurant's other employees. "Everybody takes an interest in him. Everybody helps. I'm just tickled to death with him," says the boss, who recently took the young man on a fishing trip to Cumberland Lake. (He adds that the trip does not amount to special treatment since he's gone fishing with many other employees.)

Sparks does advise that an employer "needs to have a little patience and take a little time" with Project TIME employees. But he readily admits that the same is true of most new employees.

Obviously pleased with the program, Sparks recently took on another project employee at his Pikeville restaurant.

(Bentley requested that only the young man's first name be used.)

State Government News Summary

Out of work ... Kentucky's jobless rate rose to 7.5 in February, attributed to soggy farmland and slumping retail sales. Meantime, the national rate was 5.8 for the same month.

Fewer commodities ... Kentucky's initial allocation of federal surplus commodity foods for April through June will be down from the amount received for the previous three months, but state officials expect additional shipments to raise the final tally. The US Department of Agriculture has notified the state Department for Social Insurance that Kentucky will receive about 1.7 million pounds of surplus food for this quarter. Commodities to be distributed are corn meal, flour, honey, peanut butter, pork and raisins.

Substance abuse policies ... The development and implementation of a substance abuse policy on the job is the goal of a two-day seminar at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington, April 9-10. The seminar is for businesspersons who want to devise their own drug policies in compliance with requirements of the 1988 Drug Free Workplace Act. The conference is hosted by the Department for Mental Health and Mental Retardation's Division of Substance Abuse, Women's Center of Central Kentucky and United Way of the Bluegrass. For information, contact Dionna Burchett at 502/564-2880 or Ricki Clark, 502/564-6786.

Victorian Easter ... The Kentucky Historical Society will sponsor "Victorian Easter" from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. on April 7 at the Old Capitol in Frankfort. Participants will make Easter crafts from turn-of-the-century sources — greeting cards based on traditional Easter symbols and handmade candy containers. For information, call 502-564-2662.

Meetings ... The following Cabinet for Human Resources advisory groups are scheduled to meet during April. All will be in the Human Resources and Health Services buildings, 275 E. Main St., Frankfort, unless otherwise noted. April 10, Kentucky Heritage Council, 12:30 p.m., Vest-Lindsey House, 401 Wapping St.; April 12, Registered Sanitarian Examining Committee, 8 a.m.; April 18, Commission for Health Economics, 9:30 a.m., and Council for Health Services, 9 a.m.; April 20, Council for Social Services, 9:30 a.m.; April 24, Emergency Medical Services Advisory Subcommittee, 10 a.m.; April 25, Institute for Aging, 1 p.m. (Park Inn Midtown, Bowling Green), and KenPAC Advisory Subcommittee, 11 a.m.; April 27, Public Assistance Appeal Board, 8:30 a.m.;

We Promised Changes. Now, Those Changes Are Being Made.

Steve Bow, President, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky

People tend to be kind of skeptical when you tell them you're going to change. So when Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky announced we were making changes, some of you folded your arms across your chests and waited for the proof.

Since making those promises, we've taken positive, concrete steps toward fulfilling them. Toward making our company more customer-driven. Toward anticipating your needs — instead of reacting to them.

We're streamlining our entire organization as part of a concentrated effort to cut administrative costs.

We hired bright new people to stimulate fresh, proactive ways of thinking about health insurance.

Their input led to the creation of a consumer-advocate position to champion positive, customer-centered changes within Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky. A product development unit was also established to design unique new health plans that better meet your needs.

A renewed spirit of customer service is energizing the employees of Blue

Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky. Now, we're returning to our roots of caring for the customer, of believing the customer is important. We're adding changes that will make Kentucky's most recognized healthcare card even more valuable.

We have not reached all our goals. But we hope everyone — including the skeptics — can see we're moving forward. Choose us again or for the first time.

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month

In 1989, child protection workers with the Floyd County office of the Kentucky Department for Social Services investigated 270 cases of reported abuse and/or neglect of children — an increase from the 248 reports filed in the county in 1988.

Of those 1989 Floyd County cases, investigators substantiated more than 125 incidents of child abuse or neglect.

G'town to host Pastor seminar

"The Pastor and the Baptist Heritage" will be the subject for the semi-annual Baptist Pastors Fellowship series at Georgetown College on April 17.

Resource leader for the one-day conference will be Dr. W. Morgan Patterson, Georgetown president and Southern Baptist Convention Church Historian.

Patterson will present three lectures, including "Did I Learn in Seminary All I Need to Know about Baptists?", "What Are Basic Baptist Distinctives?" and "Helpful Homiletical Hints from our Baptist Heritage."

He has taught church history at Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Golden Gate Seminary and New Orleans Seminary and has headed Georgetown College since 1984.

Gospel sing at Town Branch

There will be a gospel sing Saturday, April 7, at 6:30 p.m. at the Town Branch Church. The evening will feature the Journeymen from Inez, the Fields Family, Family Aires, Gospel Believers and the Powers Family. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Correction

There were several errors in the article about the science fair at Garrett Elementary School in last Friday's paper: One of the fifth grade poster contest winners was Kelly Martin (not Allison Conley); one of the winners in the second grade was Nicole Hall (not Akers); and in a picture featuring the seventh grade winners, Donnie Wallen was misidentified as Anthony Castle.

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month in Kentucky, and Social Services staff in Floyd County hope to use the occasion to accomplish two tasks: first, to keep the public aware of the importance of assistance to an abusive or neglectful home, and second, to better inform Floyd Countians on the types of help the department is able to provide in the community.

"When we become involved with a child abuse or neglect situation, our first efforts are to protect the child and, if possible, to do so while maintaining the family in tact," said Martha Hicks, family services office supervisor.

"Our 'family-based services' approach allows removal of the child if that is necessary," Hicks said. "However, we also have at our disposal other services, such as protective day care, parent education, counseling and referral to other agencies with very specific family assistance services.

"Not every situation can be resolved with the child remaining in the home," she said, "but we know that if the help can involve the whole family working together on the problem, it is usually less traumatic than removing the child from his or her natural surroundings and other family members."

Social Services Commissioner Larry Michalczyk said, "With 24-hour days and intensive child-client needs often facing our social workers, the assistance of the public is critical. People make a positive difference by reporting suspected child abuse and enabling a family in trouble to get help."

Wayland town board warns dog owners

Veterinarian Dr. Carol Howard will set up a rabies vaccination clinic for Wayland dog owners Thursday between 10-11 a.m. across from the town post office.

Wayland residents who have not had their animals vaccinated are urged to have it done then before the town takes action against those who have not purchased dog licenses.

Clerk Carol Stapleton told town board members Monday night that very few residents have licensed their dogs as required by a recently passed ordinance. The one-hour clinic will give residents the opportunity to have the dogs vaccinated, a requirement for licensing.

Also at Monday's meeting, Police Chief Mack Stewart informed the board that he had "obtained confessions" from three juveniles who reportedly admitted they vandalized a vacant house, owned by Apollo Coal Co. two weeks ago.

Stewart, who estimated damage to the house at between $7000 and $10,000, said he was turning the youths over to county authorities. All of the youths, he said, are from the Wayland area.

A motion by Robert Stewart to have town board meetings twice a month, instead of once, died for lack of a second.

In other action, board member Jerry Fultz moved to have the clerk draft an attachment to the town hall deed, stating that the building will revert to the local fire department in the event that the town corporation is dissolved.

"We don't foresee that happening (dissolution of incorporation), but the fire department has asked us to do this," said Mayor Hobert Webb.

On a second by Gene Mullins, the motion passed.

Several residents raised concern about the need to clean out Steele Creek, which is full of runoff from slate dumps. The situation causes water to back up on residential property during rains.

Mullins informed residents that reclamation work on the town slate dumps should include cleaning the creek. Mullins said he believes a contract has been let to reclaim the former Elkhorn Mining site which has created a history of problems for the town environment.

"There's no use to clean out the creek until the gob piles are cleared out," said Webb.

Board member Tommy Robinson was absent from the meeting. The next regular meeting is set for Monday, May 7 at 7 p.m. at the town hall.

Floyd All-Stars place fourth in Jr. Pro State Tournament

The Floyd County Junior Pro All-Stars finished fourth in the state basketball tournament played at Clark-Moore's Junior High in Richmond over the weekend.

BEAT HOPKINS

A large crowd followed the Floyd County team to Richmond as the Purple and Gold got 14 points from Jason Martin (Wayland school) to defeat South Hopkins in game one of the state meet, 67-51.

Floyd jumped out quickly in the first quarter, taking a 10-2 lead. South Hopkins cut the lead to four, 12-8, then Floyd outscored the opponents 10-2 to take a 22-10 first quarter lead. Martin scored eight points in the first period on some nice turnaround jumpers. David Gibson tossed in six points in the stanza.

After Ronnie Samons (Martin) hit two free throws, opening the second period, South Hopkins scored six unanswered points to move within eight points, 24-16. The Floyd team had trouble in holding onto the ball and was guilty of fumbling it out of bounds. A 7-4 run gave the Floyd County team a 35-21 half-time lead.

With Floyd County ahead, 37-21, in the third period, the South Hopkins bench was hit with two technical fouls. Derrick Newsome (Stumbo School) connected on three of the four for a 40-21 lead. Floyd then outscored the South Hopkins team, 13-7, to lead at the end of the first quarter, 53-28.

South Hopkins made a run at the Floyd County team in the fourth stanza. With Floyd County on top 58-30, the Hopkins team outscored Floyd, 12-1, to cut the lead to 17 points, 59-42. Jamie Hicks led the South Hopkins charge with 10 straight points. Hicks had 16 points in the last quarter and finished with 18 for the game.

Gibson had 12 points for Floyd County. Chad Slone (Osborne) had eight points. Derrick Newsome and Kenny Scarberry (Martin) each added seven points each.

Floyd Co. (67) David Gibson, 12; Jason Martin, 14; Byron Gearheart, 6; Johns Hall, 2; Chad Slone, 8; Shannon Newsome, 3; Derrick Newsome, 7; Chris Hamilton, 4; Kenny Scarberry, 7; Ronnie Samons, 2; Alan Moore, 2; Glenn Floyd, 4.

FALL TO SE LEXINGTON

In the second game for the Floyd

County All-Stars, Dan Felton scored 24 points for South East Lexington as the local team fell to a good Lexington team, 65-51.

Felton scored 10 first quarter points in igniting a 12-3 run late in the first period to put South East up 21-9 at the first stop. South East press caused the Floyd County team to mishandle the basketball for turnovers.

In the second stanza, Floyd County continued to look intimidated by the Lexington team. Passing was weak and not sharp as in game one. Chad Slone scored six points in the second period for Floyd County as South East Lexington led at the half, 33-21.

In the third period, Floyd began to close the gap on South East. David Gibson hit for a 10-footer to make it 33-23. After a basket by Steve Greer, Floyd County went on a 16-6 run to cut the score to two points, 39-37. In the run, John Hall (Osborne) led the charge for the local team.

South East Lexington then righted itself and ran off 14 unanswered points to pull back out to a 15-point lead with 3:23 to go in the game. Floyd could get no closer than the final 14-point margin.

Hall led Floyd County in scoring with 14 points. Chad Slone added eight points and David Gibson finished with six.

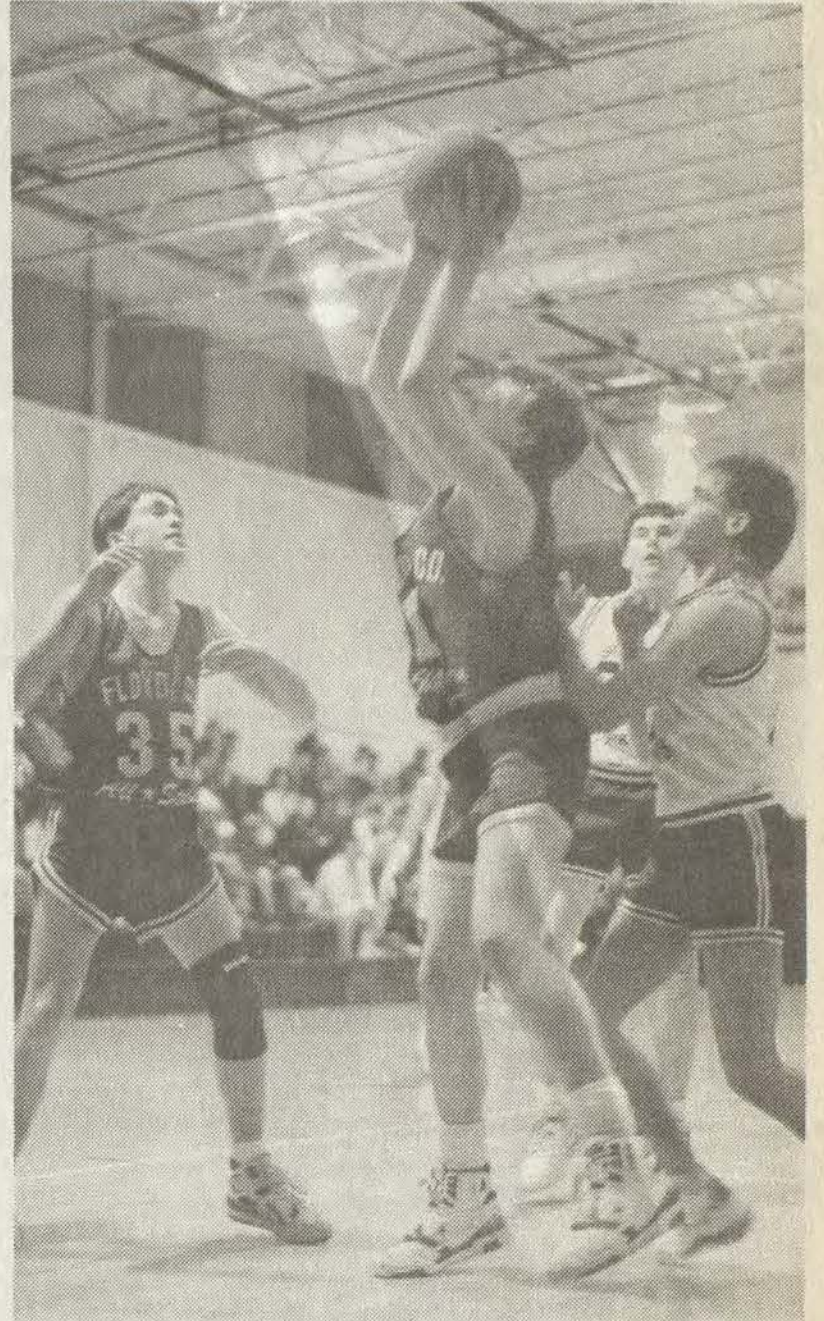

VICTOR OVER SE LEX.

In the third game of the tournament, Floyd County defeated South East Lexington #2, 60-47, behind the 10-point performance of Alan Moore (McDowell). Floyd County held a 33-19 half-time lead, behind the scoring of Byron Gearheart (Martin) and Moore. Floyd County built up a 20 point advantage, 51-31, early in the fourth period with 5:25 remaining. South East went on a 9-2 run to cut the lead to 13, 53-40.

Baskets by Gearheart, Strawberry and Ronnie Samons extended the lead back to 18 points, 59-41.

Besides Moore's 10 points, Chad Slone and Gearheart had seven. Gibson had six.

Samons scores

Ronnie Samons of Martin All-Stars gets ready to score two points against South Hopkins in the third round of the state tournament at Richmond over the weekend. The Martin All-Star won.

Finishes fifth

Maytown's Clarke sets record

2 wins, 2 losses

The Maytown Wildcats Junior Pro Varsity basketball team, coached by Rick Hancock and Lowell Martin, finished fifth in the junior pro state tournament at Richmond over the past weekend. The Wildcats finished with 2 wins against 2 losses.

OVER WEST HOPKINS

Maytown was pitted against West Hopkins in the second game of the opening round Friday night at the Clark-Moore's Junior High gym. Jeremy Clarke scored 26 points to lead the Wildcats to a 54-52 victory over West Hopkins.

Maytown found itself down to West Hopkins 49-46 with 3:00 showing on the clock. Two baskets by Clarke gave Maytown a one-point 50-49 lead with 2:11 remaining. Clarke was fouled and connected on one of his two shots for a 51-49 advantage. Brown hit a free throw to give Maytown a three-point lead. Jake Slone's two-pointer made it 52-51 and a free throw by Brad Peyton tied the game at 52-52.

Peyton missed the second charity toss. Clarke grabbed the rebound and was fouled with six seconds to go. Clarke tossed both free throws to give the Wildcats a 54-52 win over West Hopkins.

The Wildcats trailed after one quarter 10-8 and held a slim 24-23 half-time lead. Clarke hit seven straight free throws in the second quarter and had 11 points in the second stanza. Clarke had 12 of 14 free throws in the game.

Clarke had, unofficially, 12 rebounds in the game.

Chris Halbert added nine points for Maytown in the win. Kevin Martin, Eric Cathers and Nick Hagans tossed in four points.

Jamie Sloan led West Hopkins with 14 points. Nathan Boles added 11.

MARY TODD FORFEITS

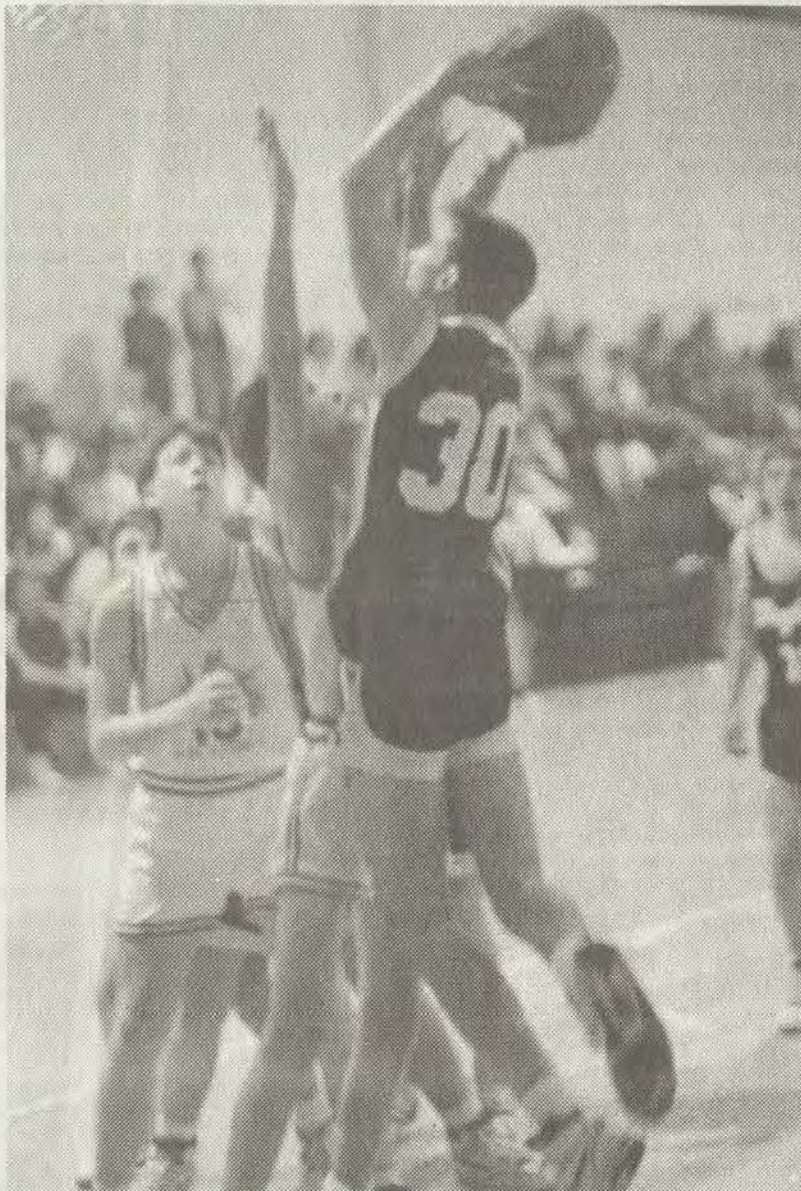

Maytown advanced in the winners bracket to play top-rated Mary

Todd. However, a protest to the fact that four of Mary Todd's players played varsity basketball caused the tournament officials to honor the protest and Mary Todd had to forfeit the game to the Wildcats.

Bobcats' 5-run 7th subdues SCHS

The Betsy Layne Bobcats found themselves in a deep hole last week in high school baseball action at Allen Park under cloudy skies and cool weather.

The Bobcats trailed the Sheldon Clark Cardinals, 7-3, going into the bottom of the seventh inning. However, the Junior Newsome's Bobcats scored five runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to scratch out a 8-7 come-from-behind victory over the visitors.

Barry Collins got things started for Betsy Layne in the seventh inning when he reached on an error by right-fielder Emory Horn. Collins was hitting for Jackie Jarrell who started in right field. Craig Hunter lined a single to left, putting runners on first and second. Chris Bias then came to the plate and hammered a drive over the left center field fence to bring in Collins and Hunter ahead of him, making the score 7-6.

"He gave me a low inside fast ball, just what I was looking for, and I made good contact and knocked it out of the park," said Bias.

Adam Gearheart, who homered earlier in the fourth inning, kept things going for Betsy Layne with a base hit. Todd Akers, who came on in relief in the sixth, grounded to short for the first out. Chris Newsome reached on an error by the first baseman Scott Kirk.

Keith Hall then reached when the second baseman failed to handle his grounder, with Gearheart scoring the fourth run of the inning to tie the game at 7-7. Darren Gearheart hit a sharp single that got past the second baseman, and Newsome came around to score the game winning run.

Floyd Flash strikes again

The Floyd County "Flash" was back in action again after the basketball tournaments were all over. Joe Back was on the mound to throw out the first pitch to open the high school baseball season. The Flash's "drop ball" dropped because of lack of speed.

Martin JV wins in OT; falls to Mary Todd in state meet

The Martin Junior Varsity junior pro basketball team won one and lost two in state tournament competition over the weekend at Richmond. The Martin team won the Eastern Regional played two weeks earlier at Richmond.

WIN OVER UNION CO.

In the team's only win, Beau Tackett hit two free throws in overtime with 1:39 remaining to give the Martin team a 51-50 lead to defeat the Union County junior pro team, 55-54, behind the 27-point performance of Rocky Newsome.

The Martin team had a chance to win the game in regulation play when, with three seconds to go in the game, Jason Bevins missed two free throws. A last shot attempt by Union County fell short.

Martin struggled throughout the game, unable to get any rebounds. Also cold free throw shooting was a problem for the Eastern Regional winners.

Baskets by Terrance Mullins and Bevins gave Martin an early 4-2 lead. Matt Arnett tied the game with a head of the key jumper. Mullins scored again from the corner and Arnett followed with another of his own. Mike Stephens made it 8-6, Martin, and Tim Byars tied the game just before the horn, 8-8.

Thomas Jenkins put Martin on top, 10-8, in the opening seconds of the second quarter. Martin fell behind 17-13 with less than two minutes to play in the period. The Purple and Gold had a hard time at the foul line and the Martin team was getting beaten on the boards.

Two buckets by Newsome tied the game at 17-17. Brian Hancock then followed on a third attempt to give Union County a 19-19 lead. Again it was Newsome tying the score with an eight-footer. Hawk went in for an uncontested layup for a 21-19 Union County half-time lead.

Union County hit the first two buckets for a 25-19 lead. The free throw shooting of Newsome in the third period kept Martin in the game as field goal shooting deserted the local team. Newsome hit six of eight attempts in the period as Union County held on to a five-point lead at 33-28.

Newsome's basket coupled with Stephens' free throw made it 33-31 as Martin tried to mount a comeback in the final period. James Toraih hit for a six-footer and Jerry Day followed with a missed shot rebound to give Union County a 37-31 advantage. Two baskets by Newsome and Tackett's two free throws tied the game at 37-37. Bevins' two charity tosses gave Martin the lead, 39-37 with 2:07 to go.

Day tied the game 39-39, and 10 seconds later he fouled out with 16 points. Day also established a new junior pro record by hauling down 19 rebounds in the game. Newsome and Bevins both missed the front ends of bonuses that would have put Martin back out in front.

Hawk hit on a lay up to give Union County a 41-39 lead. Two free throws by Eric Dalton made it 43-39 after a Martin turnover. On the next possession Martin turned the ball over again, players getting ready to come out and play," said Wildcat coach Rick Hancock. "Someone from the tournament committee came in and told me that we won by forfeit. I guess they thought I was the one who protested."

Mary Todd had so long to satisfy the tournament committee on the players' eligibility. The Lexington team was able to do so; however, the protest and forfeit stood. The forfeit allowed Maytown to advance to the next round against Henderson County.

HENDERSON WINS

In the game with Henderson County, Jeremy Clarke set a new state tournament record for the most points in a single game with 41. The previous record was by Michael Fralix of South Hopkins in 1987. (See related story.)

However, the 41-point output was not sufficient as Henderson County won over the Wildcats, 78-61.

Maytown got off to a horrible beginning by scoring only one point in the first quarter, falling behind, 22-1. Clarke entered the game in the second quarter and tossed in 13 points to pull the Wildcats to within nine points of Henderson, 39-30 at the half.

It was all Clarke in the third period as the lanky forward hit the nets for 18 third stanza points. Clark had to work hard for his shots as the opposing team was double and tripling team him. Many of his points came on second and third efforts. Except for a 9-0 run middle ways of the third period, Maytown stayed close. The run however, created a 20-point difference, 56-36, as the Wildcats were never able to catch up.

"I sure am tired," said Clarke following the game. "Look at the bruises on my arm."

Clark missed 14 free throws in the game, seven being front ends of bonuses.

Besides Clark's 41 points, Kevin Martin added seven and Chris Halbert tossed in five.

LOSS TO ALL-STARS

Maytown fell out of the tournament in losing big to the Floyd County All-Stars 67-26. The Wildcats again were only able to score one first period point and had only eight at the half, with Clark getting seven in the second quarter.

Maytown was not able to mount any kind of attack against the Purple and Gold in dropping its second game of the tournament.

Clarke led all Maytown scorers with 14 points. Kevin Martin had four points and Chris Halbert added three.

son, Shannon Newsome, Chris Hamilton and Samons finished with six points each.

HOMEBOYS MATCH UP

In a game that both teams had to travel all the way to Richmond to play, the Maytown All-Stars and Floyd County All-Stars hooked up with 2-1 records. Floyd County got a combined total of 25 points from Jason Martin and John Hall to lead the Floyd County All-Stars to a 67-26 victory over their county counterparts. Martin had 13 points in the game and Hall tossed in 12.

Floyd County's defense went to work early in the game as holding the Wildcats to just one first quarter point, scoring 18. John Hall had eight first period points for Floyd.

Things didn't get much better for Maytown in the second quarter as Floyd County All-Stars outscored Maytown, 13-7, to take a 31-8 half time lead. Jeremy Clark (Maytown) scored all seven Maytown points in the period.

Leading 39-18, Floyd County ran off 18 unanswered points for a 57-18 lead and went on to win the inter-county game, 67-26.

Derrick Newsome added eight points for Floyd and Chad Slone tossed in seven.

Jeremy Clark led Maytown with 14 points. Kevin Martin (Maytown) added four.

team out of Lexington and surrounded by so much controversy, got 22 points from Ben Lewis to defeat the Floyd County All-Stars, 72-62, in a game that was much closer than the final score shows.

Mary Todd, a heavy favorite to capture the tournament, was hit with a forfeit in its first game of the tournament because of a protest and had to overcome some good play by the Floyd County All-Stars.

Floyd County had just finished playing Maytown and then had to play Mary Todd after a brief rest period. The Floyd County players showed that they were not intimidated by the size and jumping ability of the Lexington-based team.

Two baskets by Chris Hamilton and a bucket and free throw by Jason Martin gave the Purple and Gold a quick 7-2 lead. David Gibson showed his quickness in the game by hitting three quick baskets and Shannon Newsome (McDowell) got into the offense with two buckets. Floyd County led, 17-12.

Mary Todd took its first lead on a stuff by Lewis late in the first period. After Shannon Newsome canned two free throws, two free throws by Jeff Baker and Buck Clay made it 22-19 at the first stop.

Floyd County stayed close to Mary Todd on the play of John Hall. Hall scored 10 second quarter points. Chad Slone pitched in with four points in the period. Mary Todd went to the locker room with a 35-33 half-time lead.

After Ronnie Samons tied the game at 35-35, Mary Todd ran off eight straight points to take its biggest lead at 43-35. Floyd County couldn't get the rebounds and Mary Todd was getting three and four shots at the basket. Floyd County pulled back to within four, 47-43, on baskets by Gearheart and Samons. Mary Todd then went on a scoring spree of 12-0 to put the game away.

Gibson and Hall led the Floyd County scorers with 16 points each. Shannon Newsome tossed in six points.

The loss eliminated the Floyd County team from the double elimination tournament in finishing fourth overall.

Remembering the good old days: playing marbles

Some of the younger people today probably are wondering what marbles are. Are they something that someone loses? As in "I believe he has lost his marbles." No, the old timers respond, that's not it!

Marbles is a game that children play, or used to play, a game that seems to have been a forgotten game among most young people. It's played with little glass balls of many colors — no electronic gadgets, pure thumb power.

Egyptian and Roman children played with marbles before Christ was born. In the United States the neighborhood marble games were a sign of spring.

"Kids today would be much better off if they went back to playing marbles like we used to as kids," says Bill Wells, a Big Sandy RECC director. "It would keep them off drugs."

The game used to be so popular that many cities in the United States would hold marble tournaments. I remember those days well during my growing up around Martin back in the late '40s and early '50s. Before school started we would play a game of marbles. Recess time came, it was another game of marbles. After school and time to run home and then back to the school yard for another game — that's right — of marbles.

My two cousins, Steve and Jesse Hampton and some of the others around the neighborhood would always get into some good marble games. Sometimes the tempers would get a little out of hand.

Perhaps the most popular game of marbles we played was a game called "ringer". When two or more players entered, each would put in an equal number of marbles. Then each player would see who got to shoot first by "lagging".

Now lagging was when each player would toss his "shooters" near the outer part of a 10" circle drawn on the ground where the marbles were placed. The player whose marble came the closest to the circle or "lag line" would go first. Then the order depended on who came the closest after that. The one who knocked the most marbles out of the circle was the winner.

Every player had his or her favorite "shooter" and had to be very careful that someone else didn't get too attracted to it. Another name we always had for our favorite shooter was "a taw". Sometimes a player's favorite taw was a "steelie". A steelie was a big or little steel bearing that someone got for you from the mines. My uncle Tom Hampton would bring us our steelies from where he worked.

Another one who remembers his younger days of playing marbles is Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo.

"I remember when I played marbles, that was all there was to do," he said. "We didn't have anything else to do. Back then, even men would play marbles."

"We played a game called 'rollie hole,'" the judge stated. "We would have three holes straight up and down and one off each side. When a player went from each hole and back he became 'poison'. Then when his 'taw' hit another player's, the player he hit was out of the game."

 "...each kid had one pocket full of marbles, a slingshot in the other and a knife..."
 Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo

 Stumbo remembers wearing his knuckles out from playing. "My knuckles would bleed," he said. "Back then when we would kill mutton, we would take a patch of the wool and tie a string to it and wrap that around our knuckles to keep them from bleeding."

"Regular dress for a kid back then was a pair of blue jeans (not like today) that tied in the back. We'd have on an old blue shirt and each kid had one pocket full of marbles, a sling shot in the other and a knife — everyone carried a knife."

The term "Gray Mule" came up and that needed some explanation, even to one who has played a lot of marbles.

"Gray muling was when those who would stand around you and watch the game would run up to the ring and grab the marbles and run off with them," explained Wells.

In the game of marbles, all shots except the lag are made in a position called "knuckling down." One knuckle of the hand must touch the ground until the shooter marble has left the hand. "Histing", (raising the hand from the ground) and "hunching" (moving the hand forward) were not allowed.

The game of "keeps" would often cause the best of friends to fall out (until the next time to play). No one liked to lose his or her marbles. In the game of keeps, the shooter got to keep what marbles he or she knocked out of the ring.

There was also the game of "funsies" where players played just for fun, each keeping his or her marbles.

"Marbles was a big part of our lives in growing up," says County Attorney Jim Hammond. "We would always play at recess at school and after school. I think that is one of the reasons the game of marbles is not played as much any more. There are no more recesses and a short lunch time."

"We used to have to choose our 'shooter' before we started playing," the County Attorney explained. "You also had to be careful to watch for the 'gray horses' also. They will take your marbles and run."

Roger Howdyshell, president of Marble King in Paden City, W. Va., says his company produces 200 million marbles a day. Not so much for playing the game of marbles, although that is still a lot of it, but for decorations and other uses.

"Our production used to be at 300 million a day," he remarked recently. "But with the foreign market coming into the United States, our production has dropped because of the prices. We here at Marble King can't compete with them. I wish we could."

Although the production level is down, volume sales on marbles is up Howdyshell said. "Marble playing itself is still popular in certain parts of the United States," he went on to say. "In the northern states and in southern West Virginia they still have the tournaments. We will be holding the National Marbles Tournament in Wildwood, N. J., on June 17-21. The tournament is open to both boys and girls. As a matter of a fact, we have more girls in the tournament than boys."

When you begin to talk with some of the "old timers" about the game of marbles, you can see their eyes light up with remembrance.

"I haven't thought about the game of marbles for a long time," Hammond said. "We used to have some rough times over a game of marbles. We would all get mad at one another, but the next day it was all forgotten."

Marble playing appears to be a part of American history. Talk to the youth of today and they don't know how to play the games of marbles. "Oh, I remember dad talking about playing marbles," they will say. For some of you old timers who read this article, wouldn't you like to play marbles again?

West(ern) style

Ben West (32) shows how to get free for a shot against Floyd County All-Stars last weekend at Richmond. Watching are Jason Martin (25), Shannon Newsome and Byron Gearheart. West had 24 points in the game.

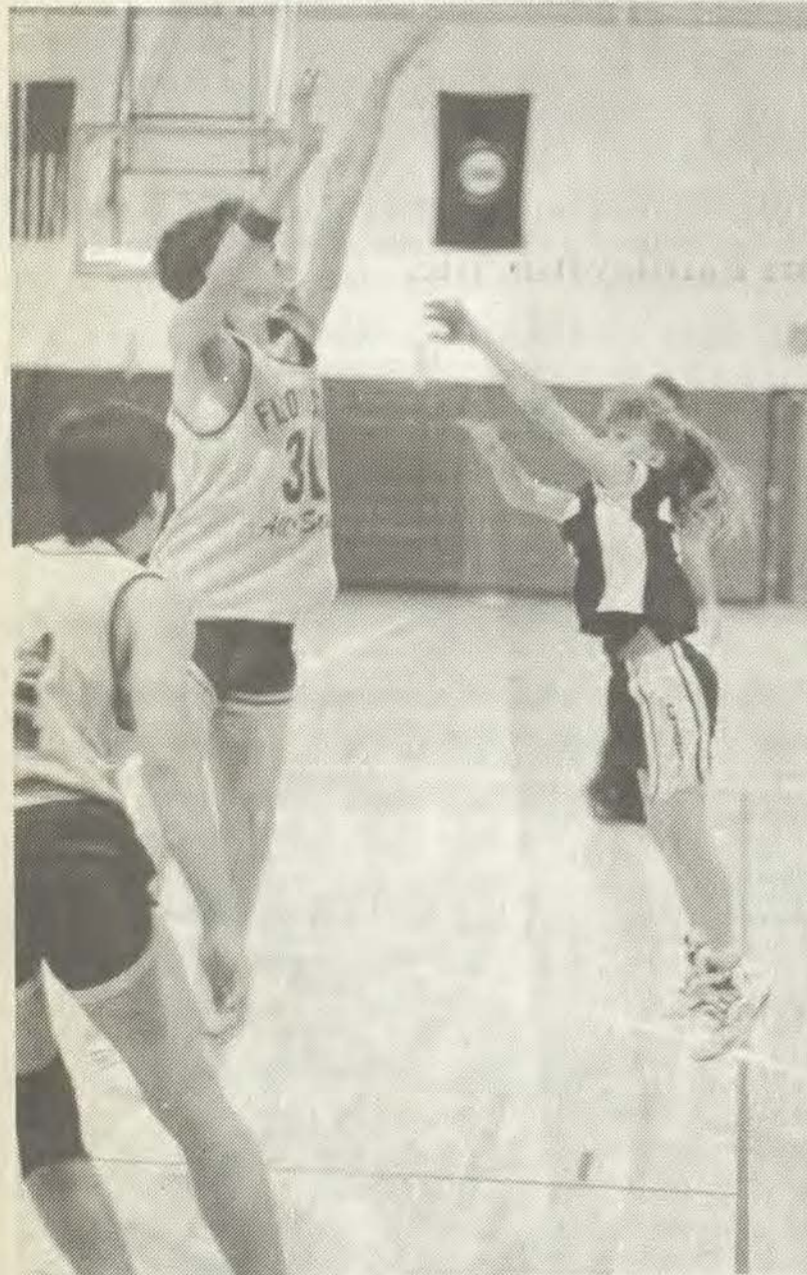

New dance step?

Terrance Mullins (4) of Martin Junior Varsity puts up a shot over two South East Lexington defenders. Martin had to go to overtime to defeat the Lexington team, 55-54.

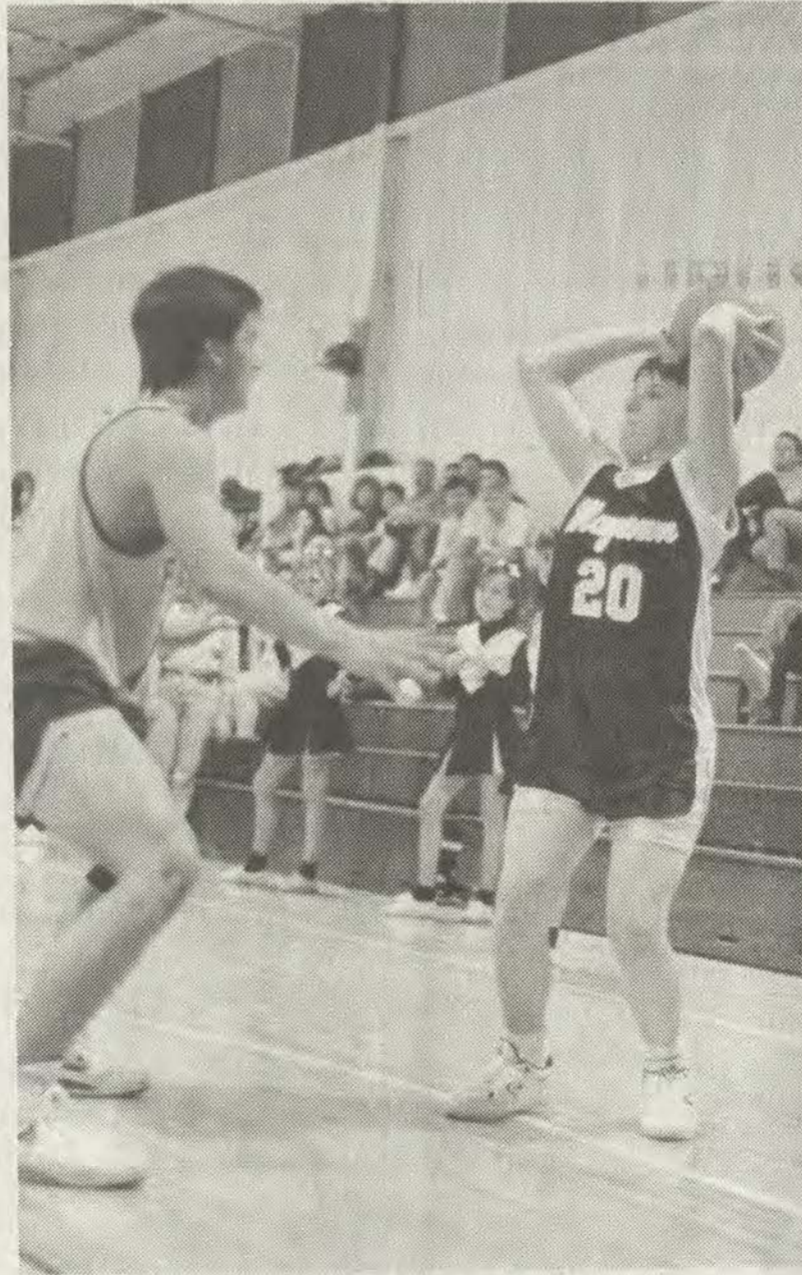

Marsha looks bigger

Marsha Brown holds the ball over her head as she looks for someone to pass to in the state tournament at Richmond. Brown was the only girl to take part in the state tournament.

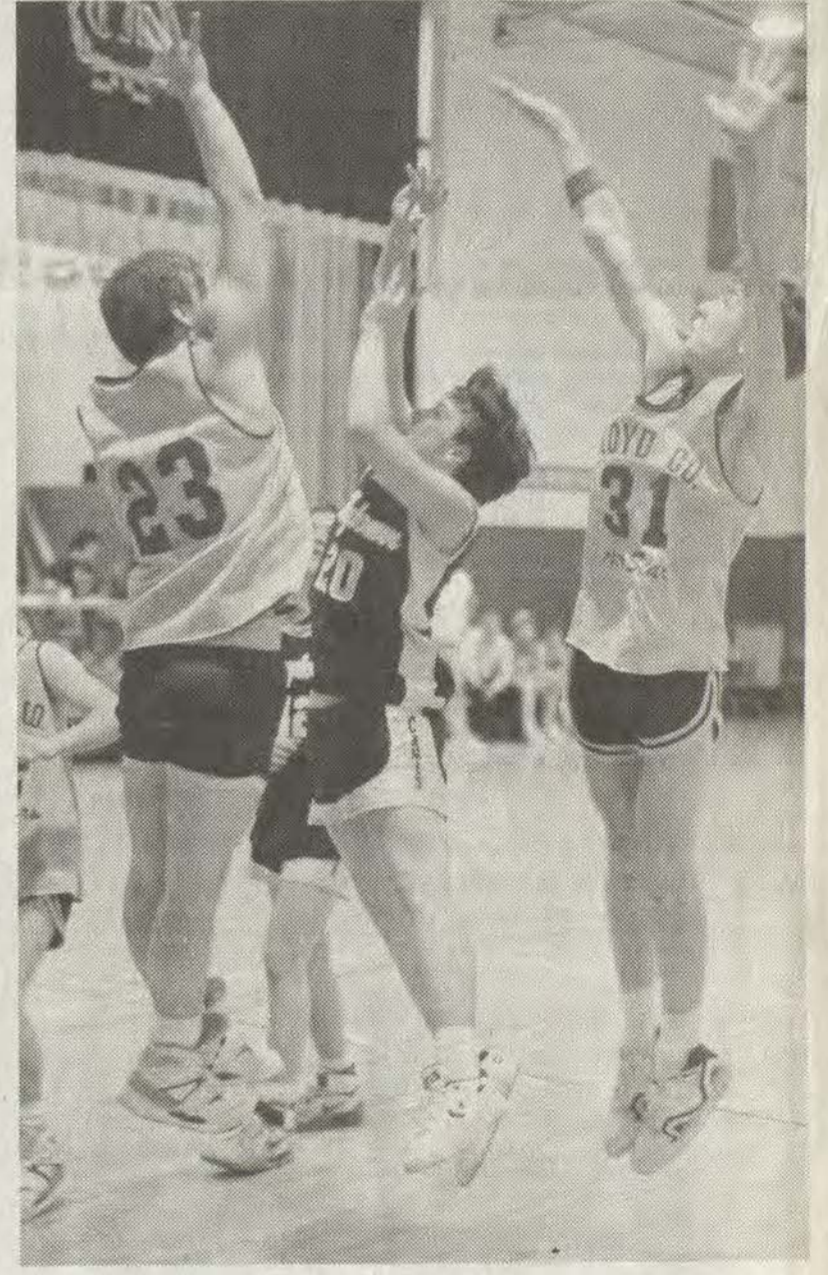

Mutt and Jeff

David Gibson (31) of the Floyd County All-Stars tries to block the shot of Marsha Brown in tournament action at Richmond over the weekend. Brown was the only girl in the state tournament and did a great job for Maytown.

Don't hold your breath!

John Hall of the Floyd County All-Stars keeps a watchful eye on Billy Reed of Maytown as the two Floyd County teams meet in the state tournament at Richmond last weekend. Floyd County All-Stars defeated Maytown, 67-26.

Jumping jacks

Billy Reed (20) of Maytown is caught between David Gibson (31) and Shannon Newsome (23) of the Floyd County All-Stars. The Floyd All-Stars team won over Maytown, 67-26.

Maytown Cheerleaders

Greta Halbert, Angie Castle, Misty Jackson and Angel Meade went to Richmond to cheer for the Maytown Varsity All-Stars. The girls were in top form as they led the Maytown fans in yelling for the team.

Martin supporters

The Martin faithful turned out to support the Martin Junior Varsity in the state tournament at Richmond over the past weekend. Martin, which won the Eastern Regional, fell to Mary Todd in the tournament.

Ky. Fishing Report

Fishing activity over the March 31-April 1 weekend was moderate to heavy on most of the major lakes. Water temperatures ranged from 50-58 degrees. Largemouth bass and crappie were the most consistently active species. The lake-by-lake report:

and Toraih hit for a 45-39 lead.

With :50 seconds to go, the sleeping giant woke up and Bevins grabbed an offensive rebound and stuck it back in for a 45-41 score. Union County turned the ball over off the stall. Bevins again went high to tip in a missed shot and the score was 45-43.

Union County tried to take the ball to the hole and Bevins was there to block the shot. Newsome came up with the loose ball and was fouled. The "ice water" forward hit both free throws with six seconds to go to tie the game.

Union County attempted a long run out on an out of bounds play following time out. Bevins intercepted the ball and was fouled. with three seconds.

Bevins had 11 points in the game for Martin. Mullins finished with six and Stephens added five.

Martin shot 37 free throws in the game and connected on 19.

LEX. DELIVERS LOSS

Martin lost a heartbreaker to South East Lexington #1, 43-42. Again it was the inability of the Martin team to block off the boards in the early going, and a lack of early game defense hurt the Martin team.

South East went out quickly 10-0 and 12-2. Martin made a 7-0 run on a three-point play by Bevins and buckets by Mullins and Bevins to cut the lead to 12-9. South East scored just before the horn for a 14-9 first quarter lead.

Thomas Jenkins and Newsome scored to open the second period and cut the lead to two, 14-12. South East kept the lead at four through the second period and led by eight at the half, 23-18.

Martin came out in the third period ice cold, as South East ran off an 8-2 spurt for a 31-20 lead. Mullins' eight-footer: 31-22; Newsome technical foul free throw: 31-23; off a steal, Newsome's basket: 31-25; Bevins on a basket underneath: 31-27; Bevins two charity tosses: 31-29. Finally South East hit and Newsome answered for a 33-31 third period score.

Fourth quarter, Martin went cold again. South East hit for a 35-31 lead. Bevins underneath canned a turnaround for a 35-33 game. South East went to the stall and Martin was forced to put the opponents on the foul line. Four consecutive free tosses made it 39-33. Jenkins' basket with 1:27 to go cut it to four, 39-35. Two more free throws and it was 41-35 South East.

Five straight points by Martin cut it to one, 41-40. Again Martin was forced to foul with six seconds remaining. Again South East hit both shots. Newsome scored the last two points for Martin, falling in a hard one, 43-42.

Newsome led Martin in scoring with 18 points. Bevins added 17 points in the loss. Mullins and Jenkins each finished with four points.

DOWN TO MARY TODD

In the third game for Martin, Mary Todd blitzed the Purple and Gold 67-39 in a lopsided game. Martin looked good in the opening quarter as holding a 15-9 lead. In the second period the Martin team was able to score only two points as Mary Todd tossed in 19 to take a 28-17 lead to the dressing room.

Martin could not get into the flow of the game. Mary Todd ran at will in the second half continuing to pull away from the Martin team.

Bevins had 11 points for Martin and Newsome finished with five. Michael Stephens tossed in six points. Byron Smith and Derrick Combs each had 24 points for Mary Todd.

Hayes wins no-tap bowling tourney

Teresa Hayes won the No-Tap Bowling Tournament over the weekend at Rebel Lanes with a score of 772. Proceeds from the tournament went to the Homer Wells fund.

Wells, who was manager of the local cable system, was seriously injured in an accident while working on a cable line. He is recovering at a rehabilitation center in Tennessee, and the funds will go toward the expenses incurred by his family for visitation and other personal needs, says Rebel Lanes owner Henry Mayo.

Donald Chapman finished second in tourney with a 749 and Betty Mullins placed third with 734.

Other 700 finishers were Howard Rice with 713; Ava Mitchell, 712 and Howard Rice at 706.

Other 600 bowlers and the order they finished in: Brenda Hunt, Bobby Griffith, Peggy Stephens, Shirley Dingus, Ruby Ousley, Donnie Goble, Veda Smith, Neil Wicker, Henry Mayo, James Robinson, Bob Meadows, Rhonda West, Dean Bays, Rocky Rowe, Arlene Patton, Don Shepherd, Ted Wilson, Bud Shepherd, John Tackett, Charlotte Joseph, Don Rattliff, Beverly Chapman, John D. Hurd, Dana Preston.

ADDED INFORMATION

Patients who receive prescriptions from their doctors may want to inquire about the availability of a Patient Medication Instruction (PMI) sheet for that medication. PMI's are meant to supplement the information that a patient receives about a medication. They are part of a drug information program launched by the American Medical Association. Each PMI contains information about a particular drug's use, how it should be taken, associated precautions, possible side effects, and information on discontinuing its use. While PMI's are not available for all prescription drugs, those that are in use will be periodically updated. The more that patients know about the prescription drugs they are taking, the less chance there is for misguided use.

If your physician prescribes medication for you or a member of your family, keep in mind that COOLEY APOTHECARY maintains the highest standards of the pharmaceutical profession. Learn for yourself why your friends and neighbors already rely on us. Complete patient profiles are available to aid us in checking for possible drug interactions. It also allows us to quickly give you any information you need for income tax and insurance purposes. We are located at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3.

HINT: Eventually, PMI sheets will be available for about 100 classes of drugs.

Millard uses long ball to scratch Bobcats, 10-8

The Millard Mustangs and Betsy Layne Bobcats got together for a rain soaked evening of high school baseball Friday at Millard. The game was called in the sixth inning with Millard registering a 10-8 victory over Betsy Layne.

It didn't take the Mustangs long to get on the scoreboard as they used the "long ball" to plate three first inning runs. Brian Meade led off the game with a sharp single to center and immediately stole second. Terry Thompson popped to third. David Little drew the one out walk, and both Meade and Thompson came home on a long home run by Sean Deskins to give Millard a 3-0 lead.

Betsy Layne's Todd Akers singled to lead off the Bobcats' third inning, but was left stranded at second base when Barry Collins flied to right, Craig Hunter popped to second and Chris Bias struck out.

Millard plated another run in its half of the third to make it 4-0 when Little reached on a shortstop's error and stole second. Little reached third on a wild pitch and came around to score when Reed Adkins grounded to second.

Betsy Layne made it 4-3 with three runs of its own in the fourth inning. Adam Gearheart got a base hit and stole second. Gearheart advanced to third on a wild pitch. Darren Gear-heart and Chris Newsome proceeded to load the bases with no outs. Keith Hall then lined a rope to shortstop that resulted in a double play, putting runners at first and third with two out.

Danny Page then hit a change up for a double, scoring Gearheart and Newsome. Millard made a pitching change bringing Kerrin Justice from third to pitch, and Todd Akers greeted him with a base hit that scored Page with the third run of the inning. Bias ended the inning by grounding back to the pitcher with the bases loaded.

With two out in the bottom of the fourth inning, Millard scored two more runs to make it 6-3. Meade and Little scored on a shortstop error and errors on the pitcher and centerfielder.

In a rain-soaked fifth inning, Betsy Layne tied the game at 6-6 after Gearheart reached on an error on the third baseman. Darren Gearheart then doubled, putting runners on second and third. Gearheart scored when Chris Newsome reached on an error on the shortstop.

After Keith Hall struck out, Jeff Mitchell followed with a run-scoring single that brought Darren Gearheart home. Newsome scored on a ground out by Todd Akers.

Millard picked up four unearned runs in light of five Bobcat errors in the fifth inning. Deskins reached on an error on second baseman Mike Cecil. He went to third on a wild pitch and scored on an error on Newsome at third on John Adkins' grounder. Akers mishandled Jamie Damron's flyball in left field and Adkins scored on the error. Damron came around to score on an error again at third on Justice's ground ball. Brian Meade's base hit scored Justice with the fourth run in the inning.

Darren Gearheart's second double of the game brought home Bias and Adam Gearheart with two runs in the top of the sixth to make it 10-8 before the game was called off after just six innings.

Jamie Daniels (2-0) picked up the win and Chris Newsome (0-1) got the loss.

The loss dropped the Bobcats to 1-2 on the season.

Junior Pro State Tournament Showcases Future Stars

The 1990 Kentucky Junior Pro basketball tournament has come to a close. The winners and runners-up will now advance to the Nationals to be played in Knoxville, April 13-14.

The Floyd County All-Stars, Maytown All-Stars and Martin Junior Varsity teams represented our area very well in the state tournament at Richmond last weekend.

Although neither team came out in first place, they were all winners with those who were there to cheer them on and even those who could not make the trip. I want to thank these young people for the entertainment they provided for all of us. They played hard, never quitting. They wanted to bring home a championship team. That was what they had worked so hard for.

We had excellent coaches at the helm of each team. Barry Hopkins and Steve Jenkins should be given a big "thank you" from the fans for the outstanding job of coaching the Martin Junior Varsity team. They are still the Eastern Regional champions. The time these two have given to the success of this team is unbelievable.

Jimmy Hopkins and Gary Hopkins did a superb job of rounding out the Floyd County All-Stars. Good defense and good court sense was evident when you watch these young men play basketball. It was good to see them go up against the bigger area teams and win or make a good showing.

As for the Maytown All-Stars, Rick Hancock and Lowell Martin had them ready. They did an excellent job of handling this team. Knowing who to start in the first quarter and who to come back with in the second is very important. Hancock and Martin did a great job there.

One individual Floyd County player who excelled personally in the state tournament was Jeremy Clarke of Maytown All-Stars. Jeremy would not come into the game until the second quarter. This young man set some new state tournament records this time around. Clarke broke the all-time single game scoring mark of 27 points, set by Michael Fralix of South Hopkins in 1987, by scoring 41 points against Henderson in the second game of the tournament.

Clarke also set a new record with most field goals in a single game, 16. The old record was 11 by Robbie Little of McDowell in 1987. Clarke established a new free throw record of most free throws made in the tournament with 22. The old record: 14 by Adam Gearheart, Floyd County, in 1987.

Gearheart has the record for most free throws made in a single game, 10, also in 1987.

Here's another little tidbit from tournament records. Harold Johnson Jr. of Wheelwright still holds the most assists in the junior varsity tournament with 13. Way to go, Harold!

In 1984 the Martin Training league won the Sportsmanship award. McDowell Training league won the same title in 1986.

Speaking of sportsmanship, all three of our teams and their fans displayed some very good sportsmanship at the tournament. Unlike some of the other teams, where parents had to have police escort out of the gym because they could not control their anger. Unlike fans between two teams who came to blows in front of the kids because they could not agree on an official's call.

"This tournament is for the kids, not the fans," explained Butch Kirby, tournament director. "Our officials have been instructed that fan misbehavior will not be tolerated."

Several times the referees had to point a finger at some fan and warn them to keep their mouth shut. It is a shame for grown men and women to display such behavior in front of kids for whom they are an example.

But despite all the fan behavior, the tournament was a great success. Kirby and his fine staff are to be congratulated for the fine job they did in hosting the Kentucky Junior Pro State Tournament.

Kirby also stated that "it was good to see a local newspaper come so far to cover its area's junior pro teams."

Putting together a sports section
 "That doesn't seem to hard to do," someone may say about putting together a sports section for a newspaper. "Anybody can do that." Don't let anyone kid you, it takes more than just a sports editor. There are those behind the scenes folks who never have their names on a "by-line." They are never are told, "Boy, that was a great sports section you helped put out."

I've been wanting to do this little article for a long time: giving credit where the credit belongs. Yes, I go to the games and take the notes, the pictures and get the interviews. I go to my little office I share with Frank Clark (mild mannered reporter), and turn my Apple computer on and patiently wait for it to tell me it's all right to type now. On the computer goes the story, the cut lines. That's just my part. Once the story is finished it must be edited. We have the best for that: Pam Shingler. It does matter to her where you place your commas, periods and use of proper grammar. See, she's our editor. Once Pam edits the story or stories, she then turns to her Macintosh's Page Maker and puts the story in column form (which can be aggravating sometimes). She never complains, 'Ed do this or do that'.

When the story comes out on the paper's Laser printer, it goes to our composition people who are the best in the art (that's OK, I can say that if I want to). Peggy Marsillett, our layout person, then begins the process of putting the sports section together on lay out sheets. When you look at the sports section and say, "that's a good looking sports section," the credit goes to Peggy. She takes a lot of pride in putting out a good section.

When I need a tournament drawing made up, a baseball diamond or anything special, there is always Willie Conley and Tim Burke to handle that special request on their trusty little computers.

Need special art; just tell Jackie Lafferty, Linda Bradley or Ralph Compton, they know where to look.

What about the pictures? I probably take more pictures than any of the editorial staff, therefore, I would have the most to be printed. I just hand them to our darkroom man, Mike Burke, and he takes from processing the film to making the PMTs. This is a big load on Mike and it isn't the most pleasant of jobs. I reckon he wakes up on Tuesday mornings (the day he prints my negatives) and prays, "Lord, give me grace to handle the negatives I am about to face".

Once the pages are laid out, they are taken to the press room to be photographed and printed by Johnny and sorted and bundled by Jodi Blackburn and her great staff.

Of course, it all begins with our publisher, Marty Backus, who must make up the "dummy" (now watch what you're thinking). Marty's been great. Need a picture page, just ask Marty for it. "A picture page," he would reply, "boy you give an inch they want a mile (as he cradles his head in both hands). These sports editors, boy." Then the next thing you know he has given you a picture page. So, the next time you enjoy a picture page in the sports section, thank Marty.

So you see it takes more than a sports editor. It is a group of people behind the scenes who never get the thank you's they rightly deserve. To such a fine staff of people — Thank You!

3 girls, 4 boys

Seven from 58th to play in shootout

The 58th District had seven players named to play in the Kentucky Mountain Shootout on April 13 at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse and again on April 14 at Summit Junior High School in Ashland.

This will be the Second Annual Mountain Shootout, with the boys teams composed of 12 players and the girls, 11. The game involves players from the 15th 16th Regions.

BOYS

The 16th Region boys will be coached by Tom Moore, head coach at Rowan County High School. Coach Gordon Parido of Prestonsburg will head up the 15th Regional boys. McDowell's Johnny Ray Turner and Wheelwright's Monroe Jones will assist Parido.

Named from the 58th District were Sam Stewart of Betsy Layne; Keith Shelton, McDowell; Chris Slone, Prestonsburg; Rick Smith, Allen Central.

Stewart, a 6'5" center, averaged 17 points per game and is being recruited by Transylvania and Shawnee. Stewart was a three-year starter for coach Junior Newsome's Bobcat team.

Shelton, also at 6'5", was a big part of the Daredevil offense this season. A four-year starter, averaging 15 points per game and hauling down an average of 8 rebounds a game, Shelton had a game high of 40 points against Greenup County.

Slone, at 6'1", averaged 20 points per game for Coach Parido's Blackcats. The senior number two guard was the mainstay of the Blackcat offense and got his share in the assist department also.

Smith, 6'5" center for coach Johnny Martin Rebels, was instrumental in leading the Rebels to the semifinals of the regional tournament this year. Smith averaged 18 points per game and pulled down an average of eight rebounds a game.

GIRLS

The girls teams will be coached by Russell's Mary Robinson for the 16th Region. Prestonsburg's Bridgett Clay will be at the helm for the 15th Region girls. Sheldon Clark's Robin Harmon will assist Clay on the bench.

Eleven players will comprise the 15th Regional girls team, including three from Floyd County: Jedon Hood of Wheelwright; Jo Ann Conn of Allen Central and Brenda Hamilton of Betsy Layne.

Hood, was at the center post for Donnie Daniels' Lady Trojans. Hood averaged close to 14 points a game and pulled down seven rebounds. She was deadly once she got the ball underneath the basket.

Conn, the Lady Rebels' leading scorer at 18 per game, has been a four-year starter. Conn averaged nine rebounds a game and handed out four assists per contest.

Hamilton is known for her speed and agility. The quick forward was hitting the nets at an average of 22 points per game. She had an average of four assists a game and pulled down six rebounds a game.

Pikeville landed three players to the coveted team: Brian Wilson, Johnny Hale and Steve Bailey. Jody Thompson, future UK Wildcat, was also named. Rounding out the team are Kermit Belcher, Elkhorn City; Barry Hopkins, Millard; Donald Helton; Magoffin County; Rick Conley, Johnson Central.

Two players from the 15th Regional girls champions, Elkhorn City, were named to the team: Kari Belcher and Stacey Spake. Terri Harmon of Sheldon Clark, Susan Kelly of Mullins, Candis Tackett of Pikeville, Melissa Butcher of Johnson Central and Krystal Dotson of Phelps round out the region girls team.

The teams were selected by votes from each region's coaches and media.

New "Grass" Lures For the 90s

Each year, a variety of new lures is introduced by tackle manufacturers across the country. Some are new products designed to catch fish, while others are little more than gimmicks designed to catch anglers. Though I have not had the opportunity to test each of the following new lures, I believe these bass baits have the potential to play a big part in your bass fishing strategies through the 1990s.

The latter part of the 1980s saw many anglers learning the value of fishing aquatic weeds and grasses. What is more, these weeds spread like wildfire through many of our Southern impoundments, and lakes such as Guntersville, Kentucky Lake, and Watts Bar are vastly improved as a result. Wherever aquatic vegetation flourishes, so do the bass! With this in mind, many of the tackle companies spent their research dollars developing new grass lures, and anglers across the country will reap the benefits of these improved grass baits.

BAGLEY'S GRASS RAT, for example, is a wooden bait designed to glide over the top of matted vegetation. At 9/16 of an ounce, the bait is heavy enough to cast a great distance, or much farther than the traditional, hollow-bodied, soft-plastic grass baits. An exposed hook means increased hook-ups, yet the lure's spoon-like design keeps the hook riding up out of the water and thus virtually snag free. And if you are wondering, the Grass Rat reportedly lands right-side-up on every cast, so you shouldn't have to worry about snags.

Interestingly enough, the Grass Rat is the first topwater grass bait to feature built-in action. By twitching the lure, an angler can easily make the lure bob and hop over the grass, and since the lure floats at rest, it can be paused over holes in the grass to entice the bucketmouths underneath.

STRIKE KING'S GRASS FROG is a foam-bodied topwater grass bait complete with dancing rubber legs. The lure's design actually utilizes the bait's foam body to act as a weed guard, but when a fish strikes the body moves out of the way to expose the hook. Tommy Akin, one of the finest anglers at Kentucky Lake, told me that the lure is as weedless as any he has ever fished, yet it will hook virtually any fish which gulps this frog.

One of the greatest downfalls of many grass lures, especially those along the lines of the traditional "rat", is that, because of the designs which make them weedless, it is quite difficult to hook a fish with them. Fortunately, tackle companies are compensating for this propensity and are now producing weedless grass baits which offer a high strike to hooked fish ratio. STRIKE KING'S GRASS FROG and BAGLEY'S GRASS RAT are prime examples of improved grass lures.

BURKE LURE'S new SPRING FROG is a tiny 1/8 ounce frog imitation designed for use with light tackle. A single, upturned hook cradles the frog's crotch and is quite weedless. Most weed-bed baits are rather large, but Burke's Spring Frog is unique in that it is small enough to be used by light tackle enthusiasts. Personally, I have had trouble sticking bass which strike this lure, but toying around bass-filled weedbeds with an ultra light rod is exciting enough to make up for the occasional missed strike.

SNAG PROOF INC., maker of the well known Snag Proof Frog, has introduced two grass baits this year. The MOSS MASTER BUZZBAIT features a soft, collapsible body (much like their frog) which is fitted with a triple-blade buzzer. With a fast retrieve, this bait sprays water like a typical buzzbait, yet it floats at rest, providing anglers the opportunity to pause the bait over holes in the grass, something not possible with a traditional buzzbait.

MANN'S BAIT COMPANY introduced a new plastic worm called (unimaginatively enough) THE TOPWATER WORM. I really like this bait because unlike traditional pencil-thin floating worms, this one is a hefty, snaky-looking thing which seems much larger than its seven-inch length. Designed by noted lure designer, Jack Davis, the Topwater Worm features a body shaped like boat hull which keeps the lure riding hook-up through the slop. A giant egg sack provides ample space for the insertion of rattles, and a reversed foot on the worm's tail enhances the bait's swimming action.

I believe this lure will be not only a wonderful topwater grass lure, but a phenomenal big bass worm as well. Rigged Carolina-style so that it floats over a one ounce sinker, it should be a deadly structure lure. Too, its large size makes it ideal for flipping and night fishing.

LITTLE LEAGUE SIGN UPS AND TRY OUTS

The Prestonsburg Youth League will hold Little League sign ups and tryouts this Saturday at the Prestonsburg Elementary school. Sign up hours are from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. Tryouts are slated for 1 p.m. All players, regardless of whether they played last season, must sign up on this date, according to Dickie Jarvis, league director.

The ages are for players in the T-Ball League, Farm League, Little League and Senior League.

WHEELWRIGHT LITTLE LEAGUE MEETING

The Wheelwright Little League will hold a meeting with parents of all the players who will be playing this year. The meeting is scheduled for Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Weeksbury Community Center. Sign ups for the Little League season will be from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. on Saturday, according to league director James Woods. Woods urges all parents to be in attendance.

MCDOWELL INVITATIONAL SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT

The McDowell Lady Daredevils will host an invitational softball tournament on April 13, 14, 15 at the Minnie ball park. Trophies will be awarded during the tournament. The proceeds go to the McDowell High School girls' softball team. Entry fee is $75 per team and deadline for registering is April 12. For more information, call Gary Mullins at 377-6981 or Arthur Fannin at 377-6148.

TALKING TURKEY DOWN ON THE FARM

While most people associate turkeys with Thanksgiving, the Bob Evans Farm in Rio Grande, Ohio, is "talking turkey" Saturday, April 14, at the annual Wild Turkey Seminar. Held at the Shelterhouse on the farm at 1 p.m., admission to the seminar is free.

This year's emphasis is on hunting safety. Representatives of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Wildlife, will discuss hunting safety practices, as well as laws governing the sport and concerns of hunters and wildlife specialists.

Other seminars will cover the history of the turkey, various calls and calling techniques, bow hunting, and tips for the beginning hunter.

Getting down to serious business, a Wild Turkey Calling Contest will be held, with competition in both youth and adult categories. First-timers and pros are all invited to enter and "strut their stuff" for prizes.

The Bob Evans Farm is open daily from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and offers horseback riding, buggy rides, canoeing and weekend wagon tours that leave hourly from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For more information on the Wild Turkey Seminar or the Farm, write: The Bob Evans Farm, Route 35, P.O. Box 330, Rio Grande, Ohio 45674 or call 614-245-5305.

A CANOEIST'S DELIGHT

April Showers not only bring May flowers, they bring life back to the rivers and offer a chance to enjoy spring along the waterways. To celebrate, the Bob Evans Farm in Rio Grande, Ohio is holding its annual Canoe Cruise April 28 and 29.

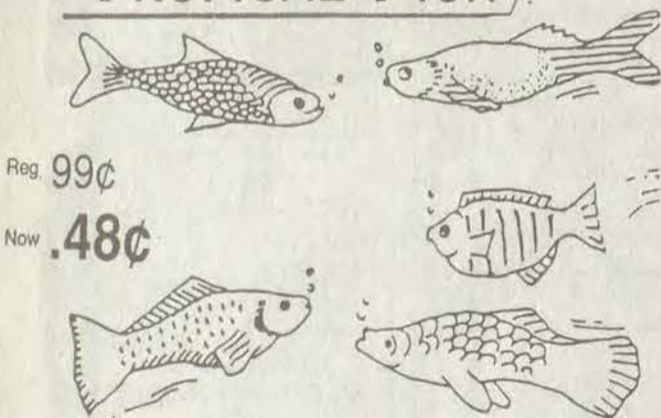

Fees for the trip are determined by canoe rental and association membership. Rental canoes are available from the Bob Evans Farm with advanced registration.

Saturday's 12-mile cruise begins at 9 a.m. at the Bob Evans Farm Canoe Livery. Canoeists pass historic southeastern Ohio sites such as the Woods Mill, the Harrisburg covered bridge and the Daniel Boone cave. Saturday evening the Farm hosts a potluck dinner at the Shelterhouse.

Sunday, canoeists depart from the canoe livery at 9:30 a.m. for an 11-mile trip past the Garner's Ford Bridge, the Cora Mill and dam and Raccoon Creek Park.

the park," said Gearheart of his home run. "They got us down early but we fought back. We made some errors in the infield, but that's because we haven't had much infield practice this year."

Gearheart's coach agreed with his assessment of the game. "The errors hurt us in the third and fifth innings. But this is only the second or third time we have been on the field this year. I believe we are in good shape and we just need to play a few more games."

Sheldon Clark scored three runs in the top of the third inning off starting pitcher Chad Hamilton. Jesse Watts hit a chopper to shortstop Gearheart who made a wild throw to first, advancing Watts to second. Jimmy Hinkle blooped a double over Gearheart's head to score Watts. Hinkle went all the way to third on a pick off play. Steve Bowen then hit a fly ball to the outfield that was caught and Hinkle, tagging up, scored.

Craig Grayson drew a walk from Hamilton and as the ball got by Darren Gearheart, Grayson advanced to second base. However, Hamilton picked Grayson off second base making two outs. Roger Maynard accounted for the third run with a blast over the fence for a home run.

Betsy Layne tied the game in its half of the fourth inning by picking up a run on Gearheart's homer. Hamilton then walked, and Newsome elected to bring in Mike Cecil to run for Hamilton. Brad Tiller came on in relief for Watts in the inning with no outs.

Newsome hit a sharp grounder that the second baseman could not handle, putting runners at first and second base. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch and Cecil scored on Hall's sacrifice fly to the outfield to tie the game at 3-3.

The Cardinals scored an unearned run in the top of the fourth inning with two outs when Bowen reached first on an error by third baseman Chris Newsome. Bowen stole second and advanced to third on a wild pitch. After Grayson popped to short, Maynard's grounder was misplayed by Newsome at short, allowing Bowen to come home with Sheldon Clark's fourth run and a 4-3 lead.

Betsy Layne went out quietly in its half of the fifth inning.

The Cardinals struck for four more runs in the top of the sixth inning with two outs — two coming on a two-run shot by relief pitcher Brad Tiller.

Guy Horn had reached first on an error by Gearheart and was balked to second base. Kirk flied out to center and Tiller hit the two-run homer.

Hinkle singled to left and continued on to second when the leftfielder mishandled the ball.

Bowen then hit a triple to center, scoring Hinkle, and Bowen trotted home on a fielding error of Grayson's fly ball. The four runs gave the Cardinals a 7-3 lead.

Todd Akers (1-0) was the winning pitcher in relief of Hamilton. Craig Grayson (0-1) suffered the loss. Betsy Layne is 1-1 on the season.

In an earlier game between the two teams, Sheldon Clark handed the Bobcats a 5-3 setback at Sheldon Clark.

Gearheart and Danny Page each had doubles for Betsy Layne. Keith Hall got the loss while the winning pitcher was Rodney Fletcher. Hall had nine strikeouts in the game and Todd Akers, who came on in relief in the fifth inning, struck out four.

Craig Hunter and Gearheart each had two hits in the game for the Bobcats, with Hunter picking up two RBIs.

Driver's tests sometimes test the testers

By Dan Lyons
Feature Contributor

Ethel Sammons and Sheila Lee sometimes wonder why they don't qualify for Kentucky State Police hazardous duty status.

Sammons of Prestonsburg has been driver's license examiner since 1964, and Lee of Martin, since 1980. The two — perhaps the gutsiest women in Floyd County — administer road tests for persons applying for a motor vehicle operator's license, most everyone's ticket to ride.

The two are responsible for testing applicants in Floyd and Johnson counties. They work in Paintsville on Mondays and Tuesdays and in Prestonsburg Wednesday through Friday.

Lee said that, on average, they can expect about five accidents a month while they evaluate new drivers' skills behind the wheel.

Sammons explained that most applicants are so nervous during the testing process that she's never sure if the car is going to go forward or backward.

"I sometimes wish the car had an 'S' for sideways," she laughed. "I've had whiplash on more than one occasion. I remember once starting a test and I fully expected to go forward, but instead we shot backward into a telephone pole.

"You get used to those knocks and bangs after a while," she said.

Sometimes when Sammons closes her eyes at night after "one of those days," she admits thinking about what might have been.

"I think about that fence post that was beside the window right next to my eye," she said. "I realize that it could have punctured my eye. Or I think about crawling out of the driver's side door because mine is jammed or against the ground."

It's not every time, of course, that someone being tested is at fault in an accident. "An examiner downstate not very long ago was injured when another motorist ran a red light," Sammons reported.

A lot of strange vehicles have been used for driver's tests, such as a jeep with no roll bars and a "bigfoot" truck

Requirements for a testing vehicle are that it have proper insurance and be in proper working condition. If something doesn't work, such as a horn, the individual cannot take the test in that vehicle.

Except maybe once. Lee recalled the time a young boy just had to have his license that day.

"As I routinely checked his vehicle, I found that the car had an inoperative horn," Lee reminisced. "I explained to him that it would have to be fixed and in working order if he was to take the test that day as he wanted to do."

The young man was gone for about an hour, she said, before he came back with a report that a garage wanted almost $50 to repair the horn. Lee explained to him that the law was the law, so he left again and was gone another hour.

"I was sitting on the bench there in front of the courthouse where all the road tests begin and was finishing some paperwork when he drove up," she said. "I said, 'Blow that horn,' and he let out the awfulest strange noise."

"He had gone to Heck's and bought a bicycle horn and was squeezing it inside the car."

With a stroke of creative reasoning, the young man maintained to Lee that all she said was that he had to have a working horn.

"He told me, 'This horn — it blows.'"

So, not knowing whether to throw the book at him or give him a break,

"To tell you the truth, there have been days when I've felt like kissing the ground..."

Sheila Lee
Driver's examiner

Lee decided to let him take the test, and he passed.

The examiner made one other stipulation: that he surrender the horn. "I've got that horn to this day," Lee said with a smile.

Failures on the test, Sammons believes, are generally due to nerves.

"It's that word 'test,'" she said. "We know that most people are good at driving until they come face to face with the actual test."

Often an applicant will get right to the end of the test and then blow it.

"They always tell me after running a stop sign or after making a left turn in the face of oncoming traffic, 'I saw it, but I was just so nervous,'" Sammons said.

Lee and Sammons agree that a applicant is a must. Borrowing a strange car most of the time will mean trouble. Also, parents are encouraged to see that the young applicants actually spend sufficient time preparing for all aspects of the test.

"Nobody can just drop a kid off to take the test. It requires the right preparations," Lee added.

Sammons recalled how a woman once forgot to straighten her wheels after properly parking on a hill. When she started to pull out, the car plunged over a steep bank, requiring a wrecker to pull it out.

"I told her to pull out when it was safe to do so, but instead, we went over the hill and tore out a fence," Sammons said.

Walking back to the courthouse, Sammons said the woman kept asking, "Does that fail me, does that fail me? Please, that doesn't fail me does it?"

Lee and Sammons have seen babies nearly born during driver's tests, but current testing schedules for expectant women have been curtailed greatly, they said.

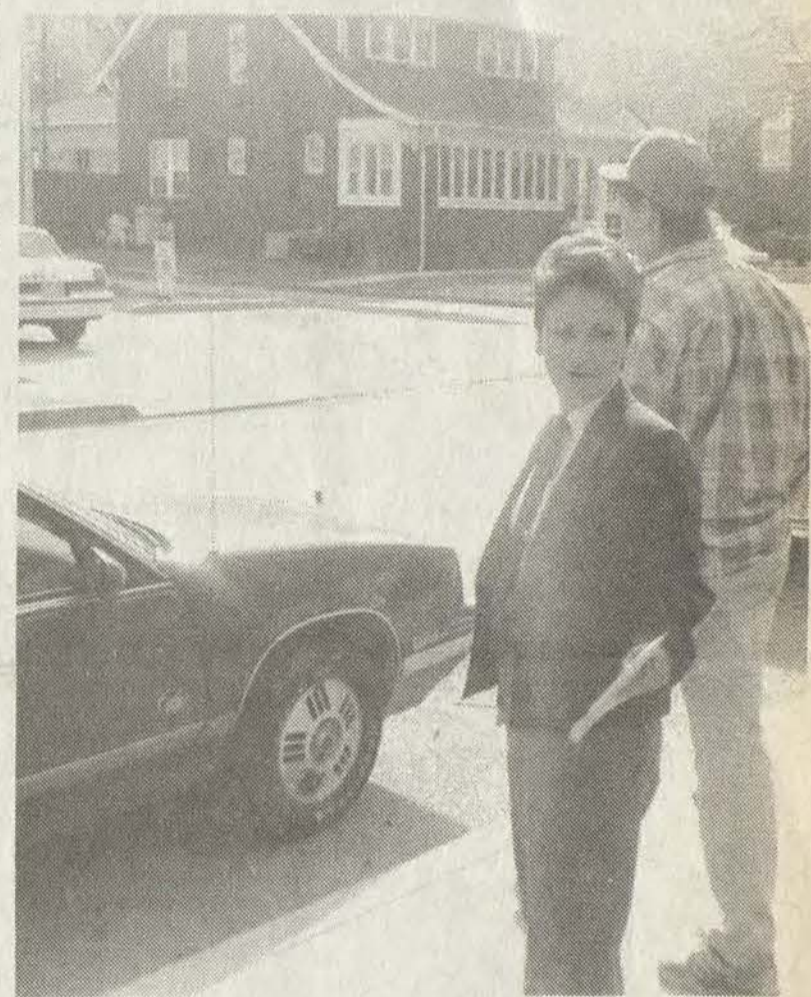

Because of the number of hits and near hits, the examiners' workplace has been given the label "Ulcer City." They recount how Officer Phillip Tucker, who occasionally helps with testing, was involved recently in a chain reaction crash at the end of a test right in front of the courthouse.

Lee has the best summary of how she feels on "one of those days."

"To tell you the truth, there have been days when I've felt like kissing the ground when I came back in."

West to Eastern, Part 3

Did George Washington sleep here?

by Barbara P. Martin

The community of Eastern lies in a basin type setting. Hunters came into our area early in American settlement. Some made friends with the Indians and may have enjoyed masquerading as members of the tribes. Sign language would have made it possible to communicate until the hunters mastered the Indian languages.

From our Indian ancestors we have been given many things that have been accepted into mountain tradition. Dried beans — shucky beans or leather breeches — came from the Indians, who called them A-Ni-Ka-Yl-Sv-Hi-Tsu-Ya. Other gifts from the Indians to our generations are hominy corn drink (Gv-No-He-Nv), mushrooms (Slick-Go-Downs, Co-Ni-Lo-Que), and corn bread.

Among Indian dishes that did not stick in our culture are yellowjacket soup (S-Ka-V OO-Ga-Ma) and a recipe for frogs (Wi-Lo-Si). This recipe says to catch toads, twist off their heads, pulling off the skin while holding the critter under running water to keep the meat from becoming bitter. Parboil, then cook as any other meat.

Besides food, the Indians gave us furs, pottery making, basket weaving, woven materials and garden implements. An early hoe was made from the face bone of a deer attached to a piece of wood for a handle. Found in our area have been stone implements for farming that date back, it is believed, to the ice age.

I have found shards, pieces of broken pottery, that had feathers in them. They crumble easily, but the feathers inside are quite distinct. An arrow head, which a grandchild removed from the premises, had the earmarks of that period. Many other old items have been lost, due to the fact that we did not recognize them as part of our history.

An official map of Virginia 1796 does not show Beaver Creek, which was named for the many numbers of that animal that lived here. The many dams and unfriendly human residents may have discouraged the entrance of map makers.

George Washington, himself, may have been assigned to survey this area as the Big Sandy River was part of his assignment. A local genealogist has information concerning his lineage, and Washington dates back in the James Martin family of that time.

The river and streams either had no names or Indian names at that time. A trek from the James River to the Ohio, with an Indian guide, would

County Kettle

County Kettle

One of the most significant trends of the late '80s and early '90s is actually something of an anti-trend: The renewed emphasis on tradition, family and home.

Hand in hand with this return to traditional values is a renewed interest in religion among people under 40. As the Baby Boom generation produces its own Baby Boomlet, members of this generation are returning to the religions in which they were raised, hoping to instill in their own children an appreciation for their heritage.

For Jewish families, the celebration of Passover, or Pesach (its Hebrew name) is an opportunity to instruct children in some of the history and rituals of the Jewish faith.

This year, Passover begins on April 10. The holiday lasts for eight days, and commemorates the Jewish Exodus from slavery in Egypt.

Food plays a very important part in this holiday. In fact, another name for Passover is Hag Hamtzo, which means the festival of unleavened bread. Unleavened bread (matzah) is eaten during Passover, because this is what the Jews took with them on their flight from Egypt. (They were in too much of a hurry to wait for the bread to rise).

Foods eaten during Passover must be "kosher for Passover," which means that they must contain absolutely no leaven. Leaven is defined as anything made with yeast or anything that could easily ferment, such as flour.

The main event of Passover is the Seder, which is both a religious service and a feast. The Seder is held at home, rather than in a synagogue, and is led by the head of the household, with the other family members also taking part. It takes place on the first, and sometimes also on the second, night of Passover.

The Seder proceeds in a certain order, which is defined by a book called the Haggadah. During the ceremony, historical narratives are read, hymns are sung, questions are asked and answered, and symbolic foods are eaten. The symbolic meanings of these special foods are explained in the Haggadah.

Besides matzah, these foods are: karpas, a green vegetable such as parsley or celery, which is dipped in salt, water or vinegar; maror, a bitter herb, often horseradish; roasted egg; meat bone (or a poultry neck or wing); and haroset, a sweet mixture, often of grated apples, ground walnuts and red wine.

Besides these foods, there is no prescribed menu for the Seder meal, as long as all the foods served are kosher for Passover. Menus vary, depending on the family's ethnic background and to which they belong (Reform, Orthodox, Sephardic, etc.). For those who do not have a collection of family recipes, the ones that follow will be a good starting point in building a group of cherished recipes to pass on to children, grandchildren and other family members.

Parents who wish to deepen their children's understanding of Passover and the other Jewish traditions will find some valuable ideas in The Complete Family Guide to Jewish Holidays (Adama Books), by Dalia Hardof Renberg. Along with information about the holidays and their rituals and traditions, this volume also includes suggestions for arts and crafts, songs and prayers for children.

From The Jewish Holiday Kitchen (Schocken Books), by Joan Nathan come the recipes below, for Ashkenazic Apple-Nut Haroset, to be spread on matzah (or eaten by itself), and a main dish, Joyce Goldstein's Cornish Hens with Apricot, Tomatoes and Spices.

ASHKENAZIC APPLE-NUT HAROSET

Makes about 3 cups
6 apples, peeled and coarsely chopped (2 pounds)
1/3 cup chopped almonds
3 Tbsps sugar or to taste
1/2 tsp cinnamon
Grated rind of 1 lemon
4 Tbsps sweet red wine

Combine all ingredients, mixing together thoroughly. Add a little more wine as needed.

Blend (you can use a food processor) until you reach the desired consistency. Chill.

JOYCE GOLDSTEIN'S CORNISH HENS WITH APRICOTS, TOMATOES AND SPICES

Makes 12 servings
12 Tbsps schmaltz (rendered chicken fat) or peanut oil
6 Cornish (game) hens, halved, or 2 large cut-up chickens

Salt to taste
Freshly ground pepper to taste
4 tpsps cinnamon
4 cups chopped yellow onions
1 tsp cloves
3 cups canned plum tomatoes, diced, with juices reserved
3-1/2 cups diced apricots, soaked in hot water for 1 hour and drained
2 cups chicken stock or water
1/3 cup brown sugar

Heat 6 Tbsps chicken fat or peanut oil in a large saucepan. Sprinkle the hens or chicken parts with salt, pepper, and 1 tsp cinnamon and brown.

In another saucepan heat the remaining chicken fat or peanut oil, add the onions, and cook over low heat 5 minutes, or until the onions are transparent. Add the remaining 3 tpsps cinnamon and cloves and cook for about 3 minutes more, stirring occasionally. Add about 1/2 cup reserved tomato liquid.

Puree half the soaked apricots in a food processor or blender, and coarsely chop the rest. Add the pureed apricots, the diced tomatoes, and 1 cup chicken stock to the onion mixture. Simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes.

Puree 2 cups of the onion mixture. Return to the pan, add the remaining apricots, brown sugar, and chicken stock, and add enough liquid to make a medium-thick sauce.

In a large casserole place half the sauce. Add hens or chicken parts and cover with the remaining sauce. Bake the poultry, covered, in a 350 degree oven until done, about 30-40 minutes.

Potato knishes and cheese blintzes are Passover favorites — and children love them. The following recipes are taken from The Complete American-Jewish Cookbook (Harper & Row), by Anne London and Bertha Kahn Bishov, a compilation of more than 3500 recipes, which was recently re-issued in paperback.

POTATO KNISHES

4-1/2 cups mashed potatoes
3 eggs
1/2 cup matzo meal
1/4 tsp pepper
3 tpsps salt
3 large onions
4 Tbsp cooking fat

Mix potatoes, beaten eggs, meal, pepper and 2 tpsps salt. Brown onions in hot fat, and add 1 tsp salt. Flatten small pancakes of the potato mixture in the hand. Cover with brown onions. Press another pancake on top. Roll in matzo meal. Fry in hot fat or bake in hot oven (400 degrees)

Serves 6 to 8.
Variations: Meat or liver mixture can be used instead of onions.

PASSOVER CHEESE BLINTZES

3 eggs
1/2 tsp salt
3/4 matzo cake flour
1-1/2 cups water (about)

Beat eggs and add salt, flour, and water alternately to make a thin batter. Put 3 Tbsps of batter in a hot greased skillet, spreading out as thin as possible. Fry brown on one side. Turn out on a towel browned side up. Cool and spread with filling. Fold sides in and roll up. Fry again, turning once to brown both sides. Serve with sour cream or plain.

Yield: 6 blintzes.
Cheese Filling: Mix 1 lb cottage cheese with 1 egg, 1/2 tsp salt, 1/2 tsp sugar and 1 Tbsp thick sour cream.

Blintzes with preserves: Spread a thin layer of preserves over each pancake. Roll and brown lightly.

Meat blintzes: Fry pancakes in chicken fat. Fill with any seasoned cooked, chopped meat, or chicken moistened with beaten egg.

Prune blintzes: Spread a Tbsp of chopped raw prunes, sweetened to taste, on each pancake.

Borscht is a traditional beet soup of Eastern European origin. There are probably as many different recipes for it as there are cooks who make it. The recipe reproduced below is taken from Jewish Cooking From Around the World (Barron's), by Josephine Levy Bacon.

HOT BORSCHT

Serves 8

2 lbs. beef brisket
2 lbs. beef marrow bones
3 qts. water
6 young beets, with tops
1 tsp salt
1/2 tsp black pepper
1 bay leaf
2 onions, quartered
1 clove garlic
4 Tbsps brown sugar
1/2 cup red wine vinegar
2 eggs, lightly beaten

Place the meat and bones in a large soup pot along with the water. Bring to a boil over high heat, skimming the foam. While the water is heating, cut

US Food & Drug Administration

It's spring, but for 25 to 30 million of us, it's hard to think of anything beyond our noses, because we are hay fever victims.

When our particular nemesis is in the air, we're apt to be preoccupied by our struggle against runny nose, runny eyes, sneezing and itching.

If tree pollen is the culprit, this all out barrage against the nose and its neighbors usually strikes in early spring. Grass pollen tends to be troublesome in late spring and summer, and the deservedly notorious ragweed pollen is most abundant in the fall.

Paul C. Turkeltaub, MD, of the Food and Drug Administration is among researchers who examined information on allergen skin testing collected in the Second National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey. Among more than 16,000 people aged 6 to 74, about one in five had skin reactions to at least one allergen.

Ryegrass and ragweed pollen each produced reactions in more than 10 percent of the people tested, 6.2 were sensitive to house dust, and 2.3 percent showed a reaction to cats.

More than twice as many people reacted to allergens found outdoors than those found indoors.

Antihistamines, available both over the counter and by prescription, remain the most widely used agents to treat hay fever symptoms. They can be highly effective in controlling itching and sneezing, but do less well in clearing nasal congestion. Antihistamines are most effective when used regularly rather than sporadically.

Their chief undesirable side effects are drowsiness and excessive drying of tissues. Newer antihistamines, such as the prescription medication Seldane (terfenadine), are less apt to cause these side effects.

Langley League to lead clean up

by Duna Combs

Brother Savage, pastor of May Memorial Methodist Church, opened the March meeting of the Langley League with a prayer for guidance in the group's undertakings. President Bill Robinson called for reports on the Welcome sign, the status of leftover debris from the burned out building on Main Street and the extent of vandalism on the old Stewart Mercantile building near the Maytown bridge.

The group who volunteered to plant dogwood trees at the entrance to Maytown confirmed that it has planted two trees and picked up litter from the banks of KY 77.

Jackie Edford Owens, magistrate and guest speaker for the meeting, spoke about the kinds of county equipment available for the handling of discarded appliances and other junk items which are to be picked up. He asked that debris be set alongside the road in front of houses. Those persons unable to lift heavy items should ask for assistance provided the items are either in the garage, basement or house. Large items from abandoned fields and lots and from creekbanks would have to be gathered up by community residents, he said.

The Langley League members were pleased to hear that their clean up efforts were being appreciated and that help will be available to them. Owens pledged his help in sprucing up the community.

New projects for the League centered on ways each person can help to spruce up Maytown. It was suggested to get young people involved, to ask politicians to take down their signs no later than two weeks after each election and moved that an all out day of clean up be announced the day before the county clean up heavy equipment comes to Maytown. Everyone agreed that an all out effort is needed to get the trash in bags and by the side of the road so that it can be picked up.

Pres. Robinson closed the meeting with a prayer of thanks for the opportunity to come together to continue the work of building community. The next meeting of the Langley League will be April 8 at 8 p.m. in the basement of Maytown Baptist Church. All residents of Maytown and former residents are welcome to attend.

Completes Army basic

David W. Nelson of Allen recently completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. During the 13-week training, Nelson received combat readiness training, specializing in combat engineering and demolition and bridge building. While in training he received a sharpshooter badge in rifles and an expert badge in grenades. He is currently active at the Pikeville Army Reserve Unit.

Lawson, Smallwood unite in marriage

Mureen Leca Lawson, daughter of Roy and Mary Lawson of Harold, and John K. Smallwood, son of John C. and Betty Smallwood of Millard, were married Saturday, March 10, at 1 p.m. at the Pikeville College Christmas Auditorium with Rodney Pitts officiating the ceremony.

The matron of honor was Jill Lawson, sister of the bride, of Harold. The bridesmaids were Pam Coleman, Amanda Lawson and Stacey Spurlock, and the flowergirl was Abigail Brashear.

Serving as best man was George Marcum of Chole Creek. The ushers were Kenny Smallwood, Jamie Morgan and Neil Morgan.

The reception was held at Pikeville College Christmas Auditorium lobby.

The bride is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School and is enrolled at Morehead State University.

The groom is a graduate of Millard High School and will graduate from the University of Kentucky in May.

After a wedding trip to Lexington and Mammoth Cave, the couple will live in Millard.

LEWIS-RATLIFF

Katrina R. Lewis, daughter of Forrest D. Lewis and Mildred R. Compton of Prestonsburg, and James R. Ratliff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ratliff of Manton, announce their forthcoming marriage.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and Morehead State University where she received her bachelor of arts in psychology. She is employed by MSU as a graduate assistant and is pursuing her master's degree in clinical psychology.

The prospective groom is a graduate of PHS and the University of Kentucky where he received his bachelor of science in accounting and his master's degree in business administration. He is currently employed by the Commonwealth of Kentucky as an auditor of public accounts.

The wedding will take place at the First United Methodist Church at 60 South Arnold Ave. in Prestonsburg. The ceremony will begin at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 26, and a cake and ice cream reception will follow at the church.

An informal reception/cookout will be held at the home of Terry and Deborah Ratliff at 5 p.m. The custom of an open wedding will be observed.

Recognized for superior service

Edward D. Priselac, son-in-law of Irene Crider of Endicott, was recently recognized by Department of the Air Force for superior performance as Launch Weather Officer for NASA Space Shuttle missions.

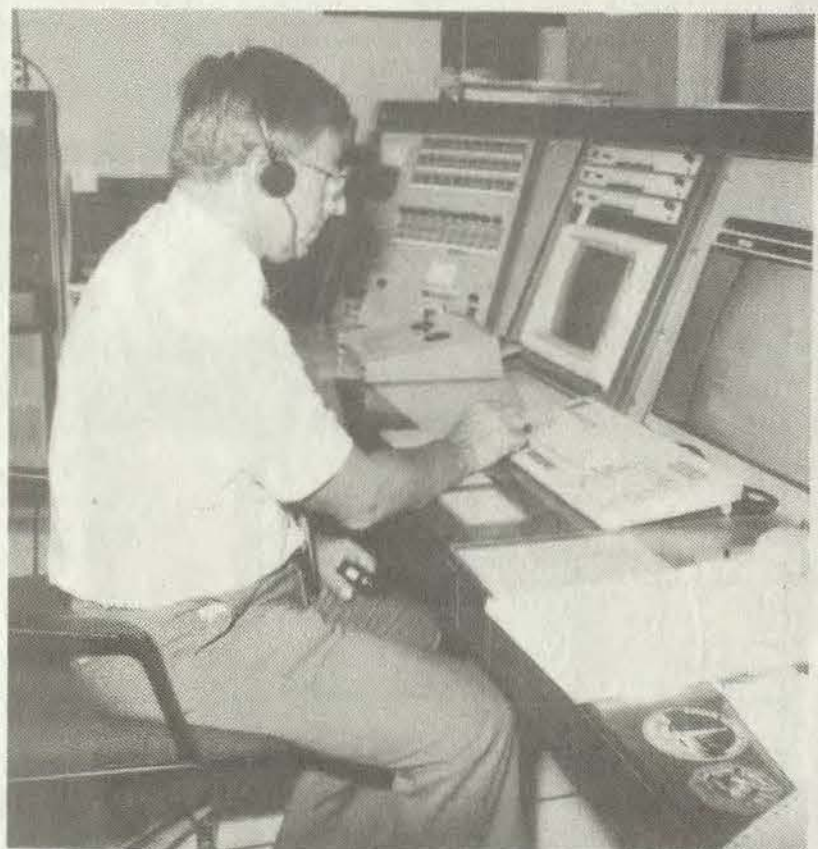

He has provided weather forecasts for all Shuttle launches since return to flight following the Challenger disaster. In addition, Priselac handles weather forecasts for rollout of Shuttles to the launch pad. For rollouts, NASA requires almost 100 percent certainty of no lightning with 20 miles of the Kennedy Space Center for at least 12 hours. A lightning strike to the Shuttle during rollout would have serious and far-reaching consequences.

Another major support function is forecasting weather for ferrying Space Shuttles back to the Kennedy Space Center from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. These are normally two-day missions, with extremely stringent weather requirements. NASA wants to avoid flying through any moisture, including clouds or precipitation, to avoid damage to the Shuttles' tiles. In addition, NASA wants no rain on the Orbiter while it is on the ground because the moisture can leak inside.

Because of his expert handling of all these situations, Priselac was also honored by NASA last year during the Manned Flight Awareness program which recognizes individuals who have provided exceptional support to NASA's manned spaceflight program.

Priselac is married to Sidney Crider, formerly of Endicott. They currently reside in Merritt Island, Fla. Priselac has been with the space program just over two years.

ED PRISELAC

Birth announced

Jesse and Susie Collins of Prestonsburg announce the birth of their third child, a daughter, Britany Ann Nicole Collins. She was born Thursday, Jan. 18, at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, and weighed 8 pounds, 12 ounces and measured 20-3/4 inches long. The Collins have two other children, twin daughters, Jeanie and Jennifer. The grandparents are the late Huey and Ora Mae Collins of Endicott, and Laudie Prater and the late Herbert Prater of Middle Creek Road.

WAYLAND AREA SENIOR CITIZENS

zens Center was a busy place March 26 when the Wayland Area Homemakers met at 10:30 for their third meeting since being organized three months ago. Francis Pitts, director of Floyd County Homemaker clubs, demonstrated how to apply the finishing glaze to the petal porcelain flowers on the plates decorated at previous meetings. She also displayed many interesting items that the members will be working on in the near future.

These sessions have been growing in enrollment with 12 at the last one. So, ladies, if you like crafts and working together with others of the same interest, no matter your age, the Homemakers Club is for you. The next meeting will be at the center on April 23 at 10:30 a.m. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Seniors attending the Wayland Area Center are growing in number and interests as the various projects and trips become known. There were 42 for lunch on March 28, an increase of five over the week before. Among those present were house guests of Elmer and Florence Morrison of Wayland. Elmer is on the board of the Wayland Center.

A nurse from Christian Appalachian Project was present to check blood pressures. A nurse is here every other Wednesday. The center's van goes to Bentley's Market at Topmost each Friday at 9:30 a.m. to pick up seniors who wish to come to the center.

Calling all senior citizens in the Wayland area! Mildred Halbert, director of the center, advises that if anyone in the area is interested in taking part in the Senior Olympics on May 18 at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, to please come in and register at the center. The registration charge is only $2 if you plan to enter any of the contests. This small charge is to cover the expense of the gold, silver and bronze medals which will be awarded for the first, second and third place winners in each category of competition. The contests will include horse shoes, basketball free throw, soft ball toss, football toss, and one-mile walk. There will also be free tee shirts for those who register to enter and compete in the contests. So, come on in seniors and put your name in the pot, as well as your $2 fee. Remember, the tee shirts have to be ordered and if you plan to compete, you surely want to have a tee shirt.

Happy birthday, seniors

start early white men on a broad waterway downstream to the Big Sandy where they could travel upstream quite easily.

Having brought no white women with them to Jamestown, some early settlers took Indian women for wives.

The need for civilized wives was so strong that one cargo shipped from England to the early Virginia settlements was full of young English maids. The settler paid for the wife he selected, or who selected him, with tobacco. The price was fixed at 120 pounds of that plant, amounting to about $80.

The provision of wives changed the course of the early colony, as the home ties produced an orderly, well settled society. Isolation in these hills most likely led to even stronger families.

Kentucky was made a state in 1792, with settlement still sparse in the mountains. The 1850 census of Floyd County, taken by David Cooley, was the first census to record complete family information. It listed the full names of all family members, their ages, the value of their real estate, their occupations and the place of their birth. Does the censustaker's name sound familiar? Right on down through our history comes the name Cooley, making a distinctive mark in courthouse records.

In the earliest days of settlement, wildlife abounded in the "Dark and Bloody Ground" of the Indians, which is now Kentucky. The saga of the beavers lasted by word of mouth to the present generations of the community of Eastern.

The area that is now Highway 80 used to be swampy, according to my great aunt Jay Osborne Moore. Her father changed the course of Beaver Creek from the present Allen Central High School side of town to its present site. The Kentucky Highway Department added to the change by straightening and reinforcing the waterway.

The early Osbornes changed the course of the stream to increase the size of their fields without having to cross the creek to reach the fields from the house. And they drained the fields to make the soil more tillable.

Before Eastern became a town, the neighboring farms worked as independent units. Farmers raised everything required for their livelihood. As neighbors became closer, they exchanged surplus goods for needed commodities. Soon each became known as a supplier of specific wares. Small country stores appeared on the traversed ways, with Callettsburg and Cincinnati as the primary suppliers of the manufactured needs of the local people.

David Easter Egg Hunt slated

The First United Methodist Church of Prestonsburg will sponsor the annual Easter Egg Hunt at David with the assistance of The David School. The hunt will take place Saturday, April 7, at noon on the school grounds. All children 12 and under are welcome to attend. In the event of rain, the hunt will be moved inside the school building. Eggs, prizes and light refreshments will be provided.

The Color of Rainbows

by Charles Robertson

Professor of Physics, PCC

Have you ever looked at the beauty of a rainbow and wondered about what causes this lovely phenomenon? Such a sight may seem difficult to understand, but it really isn't.

The colors we see in a rainbow come about because of a property of light called refraction. This is the bending of light as it passes from one transparent material to another, such as from air to water.

To demonstrate refraction, place a spoon in a glass of water. The spoon appears to be broken where its handle comes out of the water. This is because the light coming from the part of the spoon that is under the water bends as it comes out into the air. So the eye perceives it to be in a different place from where it really is. For the same reason, an object on the bottom of a swimming pool is deeper than it appears to be.

How does this relate to a rainbow? Remember that we only see a rainbow when we have rain falling and reasonably bright sunshine at the same time. The sunlight will enter the raindrops high in the sky and will bend as it does so. Sunlight contains all the colors mixed together, and each color bends by a slightly different amount.

So different colors travel slightly different paths through the raindrop.

These rays of light reflect from the back of the raindrop, then come out the front. As the light comes out into the air, refraction occurs just as it did when the light entered the raindrop. This causes additional separation of the colors.

The result of this process of refraction occurring in millions of raindrops is the rainbow. It is the reflection in this process that causes the rainbow to be seen in the part of the sky opposite the sun. You won't see a rainbow when you look toward the sun.

Sun and rain at the same time is a fairly rare occurrence, so we don't see rainbows very often. But you can make your own rainbow on any sunny day. Just turn on a garden hose and set the nozzle to spray a fine mist. Stand with your back to the sun and look for the rainbow in the mist.

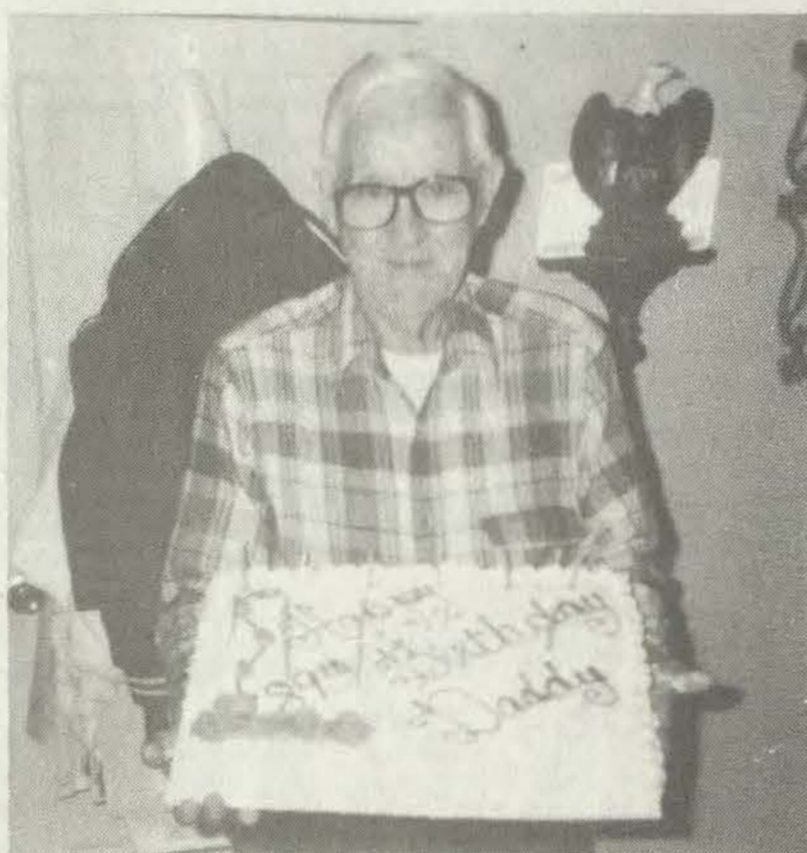

Now that you know how it happens, you should be able to enjoy its beauty even more.

Golden Anniversary

Wadyslaw and Tennessee Burke Plattkus celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary March 4. They were married on March 2, 1940, in Ligon. They then moved to Detroit, where they have lived for the past 30 years. Attending were their daughters and sons-in-law, Sue and Glenn Osborne of Flat Rock, Mich., Henrietta and Taney Shemwell of Southgate, Mich., and Beatrice Favot of Melvindale, Mich., plus six of their grandchildren.

BROWN SAMONS

A former Weeksbury resident, Brown Samons of Wabash, Ind., will celebrate his 90th birthday on April 8.

A miner for more than 40 years, Samons has lived in Wabash since 1977. According to his daughter, Ruby Bayliss, he still drives, fox hunts and walks up to five miles a day. He is also active in the Wabash Freewill Baptist Church and "watches for the mail every day" for letters and cards from Floyd County.

Samons and his late wife Dora had 10 children, nine of whom are living, 34 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren. His children are Mary Ann Adkins of Savannah, Tenn.; Carolyn Sue Sanders of Gas City, Ind.; Opal Mollette and Pauline Fraley of Tomahawk; Douglas Samons, Woodbridge, Va.; George Samons, Johnny Samons, Leona Campbell, and Bayliss, all of Wabash.

Bayliss said her father would welcome greetings from his friends and relatives in Kentucky. His address is RR5, Wabash, Ind. 46992.

MU hosts recital

Marshall University students and community musicians will join together to present a chamber music recital Sunday, April 8, at 8 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall on the campus.

The recital is a culmination of a semester's work for students enrolled in a chamber music class. The groups include music majors, nonmajors and community members.

For information, contact the MU music department at 304/696-3117.

Enlists in AF

Charles A. Amurgey of Prestonsburg recently enlisted in the Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program.

Amurgey, a 1988 graduate of Paintsville High School, is scheduled for enlistment into the regular Air Force in April. Upon graduation from the Air Force's six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, he will receive technical training at one of the Air Force's six technical schools.

Amurgey will earn credits toward an associate degree in applied sciences through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and technical training schools.

Consisting of a triangular-shaped tract of land containing two (2) acres, more or less.

2) Being the same property conveyed to Jackie Crum, single, by deed dated the 24th day of August, 1988, from Ballard Crum and Maudie Crum, his wife, which is recorded in Deed Book 321, page 343, in the Floyd County Clerk's Office, described more particularly as follows:

Beginning at a point at the intersection of new Kentucky Highway 80 and C.E. Allen's line; thence running along C.E. Allen's line to Arnold Hall's line; thence running along Arnold Hall's line to Gosling Fork; thence running along Gosling Fork to Goose Creek; thence running along Goose Creek to Kentucky Highway 80; thence running along Kentucky Highway 80 to the beginning.

3) Being the same property conveyed to Ricky Crum, single, by deed dated the 24th day of August, 1988 from Ballard Crum and Maudie Crum, which is recorded in Deed Book 321, page 349, in the Floyd County Clerk's Office, described more particularly as follows:

Beginning at the line of Ballard and Maudie Crum with Arnold Hall's line; thence running along Arnold Hall's line in a northerly direction to Gosling Fork, thence running along Gosling Fork in a westerly direction to Goose Creek Branch; thence running along Goose Creek Branch in a southerly direction to C.E. Allen's line; thence running in an easterly direction along C.E. Allen's line to the point of beginning.

There is to be excepted from this sale and not hereby conveyed a certain tract or parcel of land, lying in Floyd County, Ky., on Goose Creek of Right Beaver Creek and being the same property conveyed Tony Crum and Shelia Crum, his wife, by deed from Ricky Crum and Susan Crum, his wife, dated February 13, 1990, recorded in Deed Book 334, page 585, Floyd County Clerk's Office, being more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at an iron stake located at the intersection of Goose Creek Branch and Gosling Fork of Goose Creek which is in the northwest corner of this lot; thence south in a straight line a distance of 150 feet to an iron stake; thence east a distance of 150 feet to an iron stake; thence north 150 feet to an iron stake; thence west 150 feet to an iron stake marking the point of beginning.

Parties of the second part, Tony Crum and Shelia Crum, are further granted a right-of-way for ingress and egress to the property herein conveyed through the exception from this conveyance for a roadway twelve (12) feet in width. Said right-of-way shall extend from the property of Tony Crum and Shelia Crum, as conveyed herein, along the existing road to Kentucky Highway Route 80.

Being a part of the same property conveyed to Ricky Crum from Ballard Crum and Maudie Crum, his wife, by deed dated the 24th day of August, 1988, and recorded in Deed Book 321, page 349, records of the Floyd County Clerk's Office.

These tracts are to be sold first separately and then together as a whole for an amount in excess of the amount of these aggregate bids.

The purchaser or purchasers shall be required to pay ad valorem taxes due Floyd County, Ky.

The amounts of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $330,000.07 with interest at prime, plus 2% per annum from October 22, 1988 until satisfied, and the principal sum of $117,440.70, with interest thereon at 12.5% annually from November 14, 1988 until satisfied, and the sum of $75,000.00 with interest of prime, plus 2% per annum from October 22, 1988 until satisfied, and the sum of $39,114.50 with interest at 14.25% per annum from July 7, 1988 until satisfied, and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 2 day of April, 1990.

MARSHALL DAVIDSON
Master Commissioner
Floyd Circuit Court

Words can hit a child as hard as a fist.

What you say to children can determine how they feel about themselves. And how they feel about you. When you're upset, get hold of yourself. Stop and think about what you're saying. Stop using words that hurt. Start using words that help.

Become A Member of Our Team Today!

Apply at our Pikeville or Prestonsburg locations. E.E.O.M.F.H.

Do you consider yourself a leader? Will other people follow you and listen to what you have to say? If so, then you are the type of person the Litter Task Force is looking for.

JOIN THE "CROWD THAT'S Got it Together!"

Several people have already volunteered to kick off the campaign in their neighborhood. The community of Wheelwright is being headed by Wheelwright High School student Haley Caudill. Wayland has a leader in Jerry Fultz and the Lancer community will be spearheaded by the Rev. Timothy Jessen.

Other persons who have volunteered their efforts are Charles Parsons of Betsy Layne, Becky Scholtz and Jane Bond of Prestonsburg, Phyllis Grigsby of Minnie, Katherine Tackett of Beaver, Brenda Wilson and the Girl Scouts for the Dewey Dam area, Delores Smith of Allen and Katherine Tackett of Beaver.

If you know these people and would like to participate give them a call.

Presently the group is looking for individuals in each community to represent that area of the county.

The community leader would be responsible for recruiting other residents of that area to get out and clean up the road sides and creek banks

This leader would also have the task of taking back any information from the Task Force to the people of the area.

Your help is needed and will not go unrewarded. The condition of Floyd County is the responsibility of everyone who lives within its boundaries.

If you would like to head a group in your area call one of the following people:

Charlotte McFall
886-3359;
Delores Smith
874-2894 or 874-2151;
