Rash continues

McDowell junior high building closed indefinitely

by Frank Clark
Staff Writer

Following the renewed outbreak Monday of a strange rash which has disrupted McDowell Elementary School since March 13, Floyd County School Superintendent Ron Hager announced that the junior high building will be closed indefinitely, requiring 240 sixth, seventh, and eighth grade students to be relocated until the source of the rash can be determined.

Hager said the decision to close only the junior high building was made Tuesday because of the low occurrence of the rash in students attending classes in the other two buildings of the elementary school. "About 95 percent of the cases have come from this building," said Hager. "We're making preparations right now to house junior high students elsewhere on campus."

Following the closing of both the elementary and high schools on March 27 because of low attendance due to the rash outbreak, two days before the official start of spring break, intensive cleaning efforts and testing of the school environment have been conducted.

Air tests performed by AMI Co. of Lexington revealed slightly elevated bacteria and fungus levels last Friday, said Hager, prompting a week-end-long cleaning of the elementary school facilities, including the removal of insulation possibly affected by last year's flooding, steam cleaning, and the spraying of Clorox throughout most of the school.

Ned Bush, health coordinator for the Floyd County School District, estimated that roughly $5,000 was spent in the cleaning effort performed in the school buildings. He noted that 14 workers, some of whom put in more than 13 hours of cleaning a day, worked over the weekend to prepare for the students' return Monday.

Despite the effort, the rash returned in full force Monday.

"We literally took this place apart," said Bush. "There was no reaction among any of us while we were cleaning. I'll tell you, it's like fighting a ghost in the dark."

County and school board health workers were on hand Monday to monitor the students' return to

Autopsy ordered

A Toler Creek man was discovered unconscious in his home Friday and was pronounced dead on arrival at Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

Glendale Rogers, 32, was found in his home at about 12:25 p.m. Friday by a brother, said Pike County Coroner Charles Morris. No cause of death has been established, and Morris and Kentucky State Police are awaiting the results of an autopsy performed Sunday in Louisville.

No foul play is suspected in the case, according to state police reports. The case remains under the investigation of KSP Trooper Jim Stevens and the Pike County coroner.

Grasping at straws

In a frustrated search to discover the cause of McDowell Elementary School's month-long rash outbreak, children were tested for an allergic reaction to paper used in the school, by having a small piece taped to their arms. State health officials requested the test, but all children and adults tested had no reaction to the paper. Superintendent Ron Hager said that tests would continue in the closed junior high building until the source of the outbreak is discovered. (A Clark photo)

Man arrested for DUI while driving county car

by Frank Clark
Staff Writer

A Martin man was arrested Friday night for driving under the influence of alcohol while operating a vehicle registered by Floyd County for the designated use of the Floyd County Sheriff's Department.

Bill Dingus, 56, had just pulled onto KY 1428 in Martin at about 11:30 p.m. Friday night, when he was stopped by a Kentucky State Police trooper for allegedly driving in the wrong lane and for not having his headlights turned on.

According to the police report, Dingus had a strong odor of alcohol on his person and failed to perform three tests requested by the trooper to determine his capacity to drive. A subsequent breathalyzer test allegedly revealed a blood alcohol content of .13. A blood alcohol reading higher than .10 is considered to indicate alcohol impairment.

A police check of the vehicle's registration revealed that the Ford car Dingus was driving was owned by Floyd County and was designated for use by the Sheriff's Department.

Dingus, an employee of the Floyd County Board of Education, stated that he was not and had never been an employee of the Sheriff's Department.

According to Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson, the vehicle Dingus was driving at the time of his arrest was one of three junked vehicles, registered to the Sheriff's Department, but no longer serviceable for police activity.

"This was a junked vehicle that had been sitting up on the lot and was supposed to be towed off," said Thompson. "Bill Dingus is a friend of mine. These cars were just sitting up there, not running. He didn't have a car and I told him if he wanted to fix it up, he could."

Thompson noted that Dingus invested between $1500 to $2000 in the unmarked police vehicle to make it road worthy. Two, marked, unused police cars were also parked in the courthouse lot, apparently waiting to be removed to the junkyard. Thompson acknowledged that the car given to Dingus was still registered to the county.

"This car was fixed at his (Dingus's) own expense," said the Sheriff. "If he hadn't spent the money to fix it up, it would still be sitting there."

A check on county insurance files showed no record of the vehicle being insured by the county. Dolores Dinn

City tourism budget is revisited at Prestonsburg Council meeting

Archer Park streets named

An issue left unsettled at the last meeting — the city park budget — was rehashed at Monday night's Prestonsburg City Council meeting.

Park Board chairman Randy Polk again expressed the board's opposition to taking money for a proposed tourism director's office "off the top" of revenue collected through the city's restaurant and motel tax. "We're not opposed to what the (Tourism) Commission wants to do, but we are opposed to the way it's being done," said Polk.

He added that if money originally earmarked for the park was to be used for hiring a director and staffing an office, the park board wants to be sure that one of the duties of the position is to "promote the park."

"I know this person would do a great deal of park promotion," said Mayor Ann Latta. "I know that is the commission's intent."

Councilman Mike Vance, who also voiced reservations about targeted park funds being used to fund the position, said he would like "to see a commitment that the park be assisted, with maybe 25 percent of the person's time devoted to park activities."

City Administrator Fred James informed council that the job description for the proposed position includes a provision that "one-third of the duties will be in recreation."

On a motion by Jerry Fannin, seconded by Bill R. Collins, council approved the Tourism Commission budget. Vance introduced a proposed ordinance for first reading that names

Garbage mars area treasure

by Frank Clark
Staff Writer

For many residents of Floyd County, Dewey Lake, located in Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, is a place of great natural beauty and recreational fun, providing a convenient spot for year-round boating and fishing, and a shoreline custom-designed for long, leisurely hikes.

Unfortunately, Dewey Lake is being threatened daily by a manmade menace that could choke the life out of the vulnerable Floyd County lake. That menace is garbage.

Last year's series of floods, which washed thousands of pounds of trash from illegal dump sites into the lake, combined with the daily indifference of some area residents who consider all of nature to be their personal trash can, have cluttered many sections of shoreline around Dewey Lake with refuse, potentially damaging to wildlife both in and out of the water.

At the same time, the floating and washed-up trash seriously mars the scenic beauty of the lake, which draws visitors and tourist dollars to the county.

"This is one of the biggest problems we face here at the park, a never-ending battle," said Leon Russell, manager of the state park.

Russell noted that about $40,000 a year is budgeted to deal with all trash cleanup in the park, a large portion of which is designated for lake and shoreline cleanup. A small team is assigned exclusively to clean the shoreline between the German Bridge Camping area and Dewey Dam, a stretch of about 14 miles.

Despite the effort, the flow of trash into the lake continues relatively unabated.

"In 1986, the trash problem was the worst it's been," said Russell. "Crews picked up 192 tons of trash in the park. Since then, it's gotten progressively better."

"Last year, though, we had three periods of high water, and we overspent on cleanup. Fifty percent of the money allocated to the maintenance department has to go for trash pickup."

Particular garbage problem areas include the section of shoreline running from the park boat dock area and extending down the lake behind the May Lodge and park cottages.

A recent walk along this section of shoreline revealed a 10-yard strip of washed-up trash, providing an ugly collar to the tree-lined lake. Currents flowing toward the dam bring in trash, seriously detracting from the hiking trails which loop through this section of the park.

Responding to the problem, the park and the US Army Corps of Engineers have decided to sponsor a Driver gets 13 years for Martin woman's death

An Indiana man was sentenced to 13 years in prison Monday in a Perry County court for a 1988 drunk-driving accident that claimed the life of a Floyd County woman.

David L. Turner, 22, of Indianapolis was found guilty of driving on the wrong side of the Daniel Boone Parkway and having a blood-alcohol content of .24 when his vehicle collided head-on with a car driven by John Maddox of Martin who was injured in the accident.

Maddox's wife, Charlene Maddox, a passenger in the vehicle, was killed.

Turner received 10 years in prison for the manslaughter charge and three years for the wanton endangerment. Perry Circuit Judge Calvin Manis noted in an interview with the Louisville Courier-Journal that the sentence handed down was almost as severe as the 16-year sentence given Larry Mahoney, the driver convicted in the 1988 bus crash that killed 27 people near Carrollton.

Manis said this sentencing highlighted the need for legislation setting uniform sentencing guidelines for fatal drunken-driving accidents.

Said John Maddox, a Martin city council member and a teacher at Betsy Layne Elementary School, following the sentencing, "I'm glad the sentence wasn't reduced. This accident was totally the boy's fault."

The case was prosecuted by Floyd County Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney John D. Caudill.

P'burg police report 8 accidents

Judging from the Prestonsburg City Police reports, people need to pay more attention when driving. Since last Wednesday, eight separate "fender bender" accidents have been reported. One was a hit and run involving a parked vehicle, two were parking lot related accidents and the rest were rear-enders.

The reports follow:
On April 4 at 9 a.m., Kevin Williamson, 20, of West Prestonsburg and Flaura D. Jervis, 18, of Endicott were both rounding a corner in the Prestonsburg Community College parking lot and collided, reported Sgt. Sue Blackburn.
On April 5 at 1:15 p.m., Elizabeth

King, 24, of McDowell and Larry Ratliff, 31, of East Point were both traveling north on KY 1428. Ratliff was stopped in traffic and was struck in the rear end by King, according to Sgt. Jim Mullins.

Also on Thursday, Fred Johnson, 39, of Prestonsburg and Tersia Joseph, 32, of Hendricks were both traveling south on US 23 when Joseph started to slow down due to traffic stopped ahead. Johnson hit her in the rear. He said his gas feed got stuck and he couldn't stop in time. Johnson was cited for improper registration plate and no insurance by Officer R. Frasure.

A bit warmer

Wednesday will be mostly cloudy and cold with highs in the upper 40s. This evening will see decreasing cloudiness with lows in the upper 20s.

But Thursday will be sunny with highs ranging from 45 to 50 degrees. The evening hours will be mostly clear and even warmer with temperatures reaching the lower 50s.

Alas, the rain will be back Friday with increasing cloudiness, but the temperature will continue to climb, with highs in the 60s.

Give a little to the league

The uniformed troops at Prestonsburg intersections on Saturday will be raising money for Little League baseball. Approved Monday by Prestonsburg City Council, the fundraising will involve coaches and older players.

It's NOT Knott

Solicitors claiming to represent the Knott County Rescue Squad are not what they seem. Apparently, persons saying they are raising funds for the rescue squad have been attempting to collect money from residents in the Right Beaver area of Floyd County. "The Knott County Rescue Squad is not soliciting any money in Floyd County or anywhere. Please warn the public," advised Arnold Combs of the neighboring county's organization.

Adopt a highway

Prestonsburg organizations are invited to Adopt-A-Highway — in this case, a city street.

Civic-minded groups with an interest in taking responsibility for keeping a section of the city clean should contact City Administrator Fred James at 886-2335.

James is to meet this week with representatives of the state Department of Transportation to set up plans for groups to "adopt" public thoroughfares. The department provides signs recognizing groups for their clean up work.

Ground broken for new plant

HELECHAWA — Ground was broken recently for a new 100,000 square foot manufacturing plant that is expected to add 200 jobs for Morgan, Magoffin and Wolfe counties. With site development by the Mountain Parkway Economic Development Corp., the plant is being built by Whiting Manufacturing of Cincinnati and will manufacture bedding materials. The location is said to be within 20 minutes driving distance from the county seats of each of the three counties. (The Licking Valley Courier)

Bus driver charged with AI

ELLIOTT COUNTY — An Elliott County school bus driver was charged with alcohol intoxication March 30, just moments before he would have driven about 50 students home from high school. Willie Turner, 52, was arrested by Kentucky State Trooper Dave Sizemore around 3 p.m. at Elliott County High School. A member of Turner's family reportedly called the sheriff to inform of the bus driver's intoxication. (The Morehead News)

Who's in the middle?

SALYERSVILLE — The continuing confrontation between Magoffin County School Superintendent Carter Whitaker and principal Diral Adkins resulted last week in Whitaker's recommendation to the school board to demote the principal to classroom teacher. Whitaker reportedly tried to demote Adkins last year, but a deadlocked board vote allowed the principal to keep his job. Adkins has said he will again contest the demotion. (The Salyersville Independent)

Collision kills Johnson woman

JOHNSON COUNTY — A Johnson County woman died yesterday afternoon, when her vehicle was hit by a pickup truck that crossed into the northbound lane on Van Lear Road, striking her car. Patricia Ann Witten, 33, of Van Lear was pronounced dead on arrival at the Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center by Johnson County Coroner J.R. Frisby.

Brenda Fay Crum, 30, of Davella in Martin County, the driver of the pickup, was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center where she was listed in fair condition.

No charges were filed in the incident, according to Kentucky State Police reports.

PVA pleads not guilty

JACKSON — Breathitt County's property valuation administrator Barbara Maloney pleaded not guilty Friday to theft charges involving the disposition of $2,700.

Prosecutors say she allegedly used the county funds to pay her son's college tuition and personal telephone bills. Maloney was indicted by the county grand jury on four felony counts of theft by failure to make required disposition of property. If convicted, she could face one to five years in prison for each count. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Garbage

Dewey Lake Trash Bash on Saturday, April 21, between noon and 3 p.m., in conjunction with Earth Day activities nationwide.

Everyone interested in helping in the lakeshore pickup effort is asked to register at the Jenny Wiley Marina, where they can receive garbage bags and directions to problem areas. A 3 p.m. cookout will follow the cleanup effort at Dewey Lake Downstream Recreation Area.

"On Earth Day, we'll make a coordinated effort to go beyond our normal cleanup efforts and take care of some of our biggest trash problem areas," said Russell. "In the long term, though, the only answer to this problem is to educate people about waste disposal and the problems garbage can cause."

Car Accidents

On April 6 at 1:40 p.m., David Spencer, 32, of Happy and Jay Salisbury, 25, of Wyandoite, Mich., were both traveling north on KY 114. Salisbury was stopped in traffic and was struck by Spencer. Spencer stated a vehicle cut in front of his and the road was wet and slippery and he could not stop in time, reported Sgt. Mullins.

Later that same day at 9:50 p.m., Larry Lyons, 40, of Prestonsburg was stopped at the traffic light at the intersection of KY 1428 and US 23 when north-traveling Bernice Hall, 37, of East Point struck him in the rear. Hall also stated the road was slick and when she applied her brakes she slid into Lyons, reported Officer Frasure. Hall was cited for no insurance.

A hit and run occurred this day as well. Arnold Moore of Auxier had his vehicle parked on Webb Lane and he discovered at 6:20 p.m. that someone had hit the left door. This also was reported by Officer Frasure.

Two more accidents happened on Saturday, April 7. In the first at 10:50 a.m., Will Amburgey, 67, of Auxier crossed the center line at the intersection of US 23 and KY 114 and struck Dennis Ousley, 53, of Martin in the side. Report was taken by Officer M. Conn.

The second was covered by Officer Anthony Castle and took place at 8:15 p.m. John Meade, 19, of Hi Hat was attempting to drive onto US 23 from Wendy's parking lot and pulled into the path of northbound Scott Rush, 54, of Pikeville. Rush was unable to avoid the collision, according to Castle's report.

We Promised Changes. Now, Those Changes Are Being Made.

Steve Bow, President, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky

People tend to be kind of skeptical when you tell them you're going to change. So when Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky announced we were making changes, some of you folded your arms across your chests and waited for the proof.

Since making those promises, we've taken positive, concrete steps toward fulfilling them. Toward making our company more customer-driven. Toward anticipating your needs — instead of reacting to them.

We're streamlining our entire organization as part of a concentrated effort to cut administrative costs.

We hired bright new people to stimulate fresh, proactive ways of thinking about health insurance.

Their input led to the creation of a consumer advocate position to champion positive, customer-centered changes within Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky. A product development unit was also established to design unique new health plans that better meet your needs.

A renewed spirit of customer service is energizing the employees of Blue

Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky. Now, we're returning to our roots of caring for the customer, of believing the customer is important. We're adding changes that will make Kentucky's most recognized healthcare card even more valuable.

We have not reached all our goals. But we hope everyone — including the skeptics — can see we're moving forward. Choose us again or for the first time.

removed from the junior high building and quickly recovered.

Students affected by the rash were moved into the school's cafeteria and gymnasium, where most of the effects of the rash quickly dissipated. Several children and adults were rubbed with paper which is used in the school, at the request of state health officials, to determine if the paper could be causing an allergic reaction. All who were tested had no reaction to the paper.

According to Hager, 48 students were sent home Monday because of the rash. Following up on the school board's promise to close the school if the rash reappeared, board officials agreed to close the junior high building, with plans of relocating the 240 students to different facilities.

"We hope to house these students somewhere on the McDowell campus," said Hager. "It is possible that a local church may also accommodate some of them. It was determined that double sessions would cause serious problems, and this is a last choice because of the conflicts it would cause. Some students might not graduate on time if we went to double sessions."

Hager said plans would be submitted Wednesday to state fire marshals to hold classes in the high school auditorium, where it may be possible to create four classrooms. Other locations are being considered, both on campus and at a nearby church.

Once the relocation proposal is cleared by state fire marshals, the new class locations must also be approved by the local health department and state school administrators. Hager noted that a return to classes by elementary school children was possible as early as Friday, but he realistically expected the approval process to take longer.

Hager said that testing of the junior high building would continue until a determination of the cause of the rash could be made. Air tests to reexamine bacteria levels will be performed, and new chemical and insecticide checks will be made.

"This is a strange and very difficult situation," said Hager. "We'll continue to test and sample everything until we find an answer."

Initial reaction by parents to the decision to relocate junior high students appeared generally favorable Tuesday. Many remained worried by the disruption which the rash outbreak and resulting student relocation will cause for their children's education.

"If they call off school and relocate students, I guess that's all the school board can do," said Brenda Cook, a parent of three children who attend McDowell. "I was just hoping that when I called the school Monday that Mr. Pack (the elementary school principal) would say everything was fine. But it wasn't."

Classes for both McDowell Elementary and High schools will remain canceled until approval of the relocation plans is given and construction work to prepare the new, temporary classrooms in the high school is completed.

and dedicates three streets in Archer Park. At Mayor Latta's suggestions, the street names in the ordinance will be Creekside Drive, Diamond Drive and Memorial Circle.

In the visitors' segments of the meeting, Roger Meece of Children's Care Inc. asked council members to attend hearings in Frankfort on Thursday that will address the need for a proposed children's psychiatric hospital in the area. Specifically, he asked that they speak on behalf of the hospital, which he said is greatly needed in this region.

Headed that such a facility would be a boost to the local economy, employing 136 persons and expending some $5.7 million a year in operating costs. He said the 60-bed child and adolescent psychiatric hospital would have construction and start up expenditures totaling around $9.5 million.

Fannin moved that the council pass a resolution in support of the facility for Latta to take to the Frankfort meeting. On a second by Collins, council approved the motion.

Also appearing before council was Thomas Hereford of the Prestonsburg office of state Employment Services to express concern over hazardous traffic conditions in front of his office on North Lake Drive. He said that three persons have been struck by cars within the last year or so.

Hereford said he has petitioned the state Transportation Cabinet, to no avail. A proposed overwalk for the site would cost some $400,000, he said he was told.

Administrator James said he believed the traffic light that is to be put up at Patton Street and North Lake Drive would help to slow traffic on the dangerous stretch.

On the issue of revising the city's parking fine structure, which was opened at the last meeting, Latta asked the council's Traffic Committee to review current provisions and make recommendations at the next meeting.

Latta also said that dates for public hearings on the city's cable television franchise will soon be set and announced. She suggested two hearings, one at night and one during the day.

The mayor also reported that "public sentiment" expressed at a recent hearing on the proposal to open Arnold Avenue to two-way traffic was not positive to the proposal and suggested a decision be put off "for the time being."

Superintendent of Public Works Mike Meade informed council that new street signs should be in place in Goble-Roberts addition by Tuesday.

Councilman Charles Hale expressed an interest in planting pine trees alongside US 23 from Combs Bridge to the entrance to Archer Park. "They would trap some of the coal truck noise (for West Prestonsburg residents) and make the road look better," he said.

Vance reported a complaint from a resident of Highland Avenue concerning the number of cats in the neighborhood. Attorney Larry Brown said he did not believe the city has an ordinance on cat control, and James agreed to look into the matter.

Absent from Monday's meeting were council members Dr. Gary Brown, William O. Goebel and William Callihan. The next regularly scheduled meeting is set for April 23 at 7 p.m. at the Municipal Building.

gus, assistant to Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, noted that vehicles no longer used by the county are periodically removed from county insurance policies.

County Attorney Jim Hammond said that normal procedure for disposing of county vehicles required that an advertisement for the vehicle be placed and an auction be held to sell the vehicle to the highest bidder.

However, Hammond did not know if this procedure applied to this particular case and said that, following a request from Judge Stumbo, further investigation into the matter would be conducted.

The Floyd County Times

Even if you're on the right track, you'll get run over if you just sit there.
--Will Rogers

Wednesday, April 11, 1990 A 4

Barbs & Bouquets

By Marty Backus

The mystery that is causing the rash of rashes at McDowell Elementary has now forced closing of that Floyd County school.

Students will, for now, attend classes elsewhere. How long this will go on is anyone's guess as county and state officials still have yet to come up with an answer.

What is so strange about this whole case is the origin of the ailment. Only at McDowell Elementary — no where else in Kentucky — and only at two schools in West Virginia.

Could it be McDowell Elementary is housed in a sick building? One that causes symptoms that no one can find a reason for?

If you're taking a trip that brings you through Louisa, please be careful on the new bypass on US 23.

Since the opening of the road that swings around Louisa, at least eight people have died in accidents. The latest were three people from Martin County, who perished in a spectacular fiery crash when their vehicle collided with a coal truck.

Hope the engineers building the section of 23 from Prestonsburg to Paintsville have different plans.

A source indicated to me, however, that the same type of grades will be used at the 460 and 23 intersection at Paintsville. This will be a heavy traffic location.

Engineers are said to be cutting right of way for the proposed bridge at the on again, off again Pikeville Mall, located about five miles from the Floyd County line.

Motorists traveling in that area can see operations that are clearing a section of the riverbank.

Although such a mall would be much more appreciated here, it's going to be just down the road and should benefit the whole area. That is, if it happens.

I'm sure this is one subject that doesn't dominate the top half of important things, but have you ever wondered what happens to those thousands of plastic milk jugs floating down the river.

You know, the gallon-size white jugs that wind up on creek banks after their contents have been emptied. They may lie there until the rainy season, and then it's off to the river.

Do you think a typical jug will wind down the Big Sandy, then on down to Ashland where it drains into the Ohio River? Could it be our Floyd County jug that would then be joined by other jugs from the Tug, Guyandotte and other smaller rivers, to begin their trek toward bigger things?

Our jug could float all the way to the Gulf of Mexico. But after it launches itself from fresh to salt water, what happens then? Does it just bob around in one place, or is there some type of wind that blows it elsewhere?

I'm just wondering. What do you think?

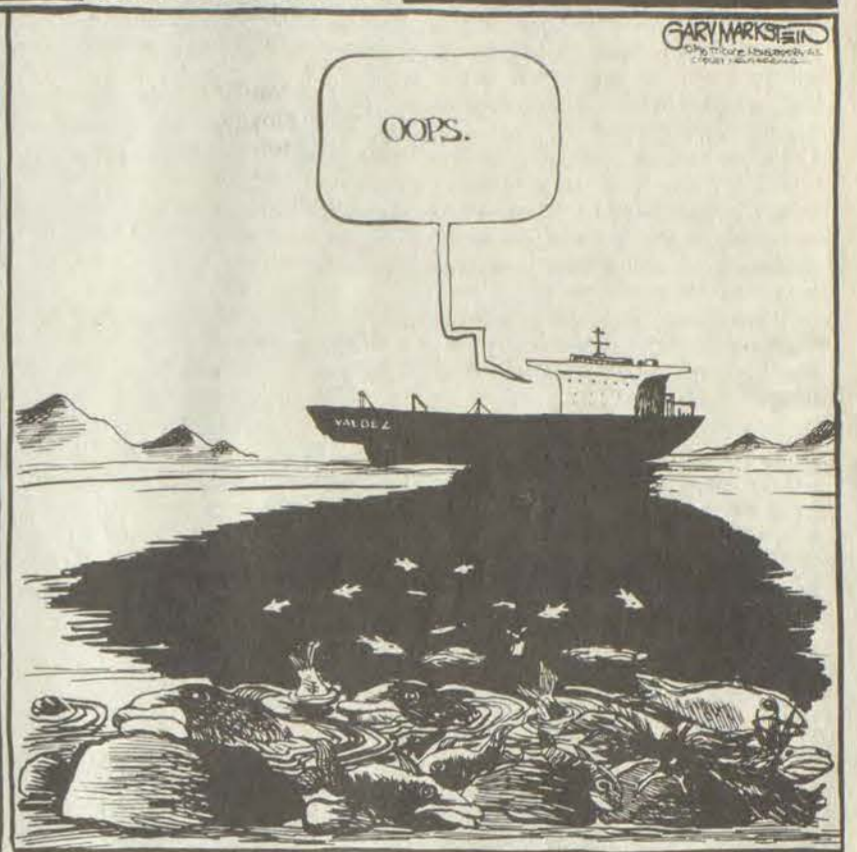

Just a couple of notes before wrapping things up.

Number one, where did the tradition begin with the Easter egg trees? You can't miss them. They're usually small trees on someone's property, and plastic Easter eggs are hanging on strings from the branches.

I first saw the trees in southern West Virginia, then here in Eastern Kentucky. I've checked around to find out where the practice began, and although I haven't located where it started, I've been told this practice is also popular in Pennsylvania. Any-one out there know the answer?

Finally, I'd like to thank the Prestonsburg Presbyterian men for their invitation to the 10th annual Palm Sunday breakfast. It was last Sunday at the Holiday Inn. Saw a great many friends from both Prestonsburg and Pikeville, and the food was great.

MISDEMEANORS

Legislative Prospective

By Rep. Greg Stumbo

All that remains of the 1990 session of the Kentucky General Assembly is the two-day veto session dedicated solely to deciding the prudence of overriding any bills the governor may have vetoed.

During the 58 days we already have met in Frankfort, the Senate passed 98 bills, 14 concurrent resolutions and five joint resolutions. In the House, we approved 167 bills, 11 concurrent resolutions and four joint resolutions.

Four constitutional amendments will be on the ballot in November for voter consideration. If Kentuckians agree, House Bill 13 will allow the General Assembly to call itself into session without gubernatorial approval. The amendment would permit two-thirds of the legislature to petition leadership of both houses for a special session to consider specified issues.

House Bill 16 gives members of the General Assembly the authority to reject or approve administrative regulations between sessions of the legislature.

One of two amendments chosen by the Senate to be placed before voters provides for a tax exemption for all real property and all tangible and intangible property of religious organizations within the Commonwealth.

The final amendment to be offered for public approval is Senate Bill 209, which sets up specific operational guidelines for city governments within Kentucky. It protects "home rule" for municipalities. It maintains the General Assembly's authority to provide for city elections and regulate local debt capacities and sets the maximum ad valorem tax rates for local governments.

While the Education Reform Act and its funding mechanism has been touted as the most important piece of legislation passed by the General Assembly this century, we did manage to address a number of other issues as well.

Humana of Louisville was granted its request to be exempted from the Certificate of Need and Licensure Board's review process otherwise required by Kentucky hospitals to expand facilities and services.

Several environmental issues were addressed. House Bill 31 prohibits the issuance of permits for incinerating solid waste until regulations to safeguard the environment are in place.

Lawn care providers will be required to give 24 hours notice before applying chemicals to consumers' lawns and to post notices advising the public of the nature of any chemicals used.

House Bill 32 requires $1 be assessed for every new tire sold to fund a pool for proper disposal of used tires — one of the most troublesome litter problems in our state.

Beginning in July, Kentuckians will have the legal right to document their desire not to be kept alive through artificial means once they have been declared terminally ill and are incapable of expressing those desires. Kentucky is now among a growing number of states to enact Living Will legislation.

The 1990 session of the General Assembly was extraordinary, rife with intense issues, emotional debate and, in the final assessment, political risks took a back seat to providing new hope for Kentucky's children and the economic well-being of the Commonwealth.

Although the General Assembly will not meet in regular session for two years, new and urgent issues are already before us. Kentuckians in all parts of the Commonwealth will continue to seek and to deserve better places to live, better jobs, improved retirement benefits, a clean environment in which to raise a family, adequate health care and a quality of life on par with the rest of the nation. As lawmakers, it continues to be our responsibility and our honor, even during the interim, to do our best to provide those basic needs.

YOU KIDS DON'T EVEN HAVE SENSE ENOUGH TO COME IN OUT OF THE SUNSHINE!

Report to Kentucky

By Sen. Wendell Ford

TAX PLAN IS THE WRONG ANSWER TO OUR AVIATION PROBLEMS

As chairman of our Senate Aviation Subcommittee, I have taken a hard look at the Administration's new tax-the-traveler plan for the future of aviation in Kentucky and the nation.

It hasn't taken me long to conclude that I could not even consider supporting this plan in its present form.

The new plan reflects a misguided effort to shift the burden of staggering federal budget deficits to state and local governments, the traveling public and other victims of the borrow-and-spend policies of recent years.

This five-year plan would add billions of dollars to the cost of air travel by increasing the tax on airline tickets from the current 8 percent to 10 percent of the ticket price. And it would set the stage for even greater costs by permitting airports to levy additional taxes on airline customers.

In trying to place these crippling tax burdens on aviation users, the Administration is ignoring the fact that communities across Kentucky and the nation receive great benefits in the form of economic growth from Federal support of badly needed airport-improvement projects.

I see no justification for these additional taxes when our federal government is failing to make the best use of revenues from the existing airline-ticket tax.

These revenues go into our Aviation Trust Fund, which currently has a surplus of $7.6 billion. It is no secret that this huge surplus is being used to help mask the true size of the federal deficit. The same is true of even larger surpluses in our Social Security, Highway and other trust funds.

We have an obligation to use existing aviation taxes for their legally intended purpose of supporting critical aviation and air-safety improvements across this nation.

I have long maintained that these taxes should be reduced if they are not going to benefit Kentuckians and other Americans who pay them every time they use our aviation system. And I certainly have no intention of supporting a plan to raise these same taxes at a time when the surplus in our Aviation Trust fund is larger than ever before.

The Administration deserves some credit for efforts to address the long-neglected needs of aviation and other elements of our deteriorating transportation system.

But I don't believe that its current plan is the right answer to our aviation problems. Nor do I believe that highway problems can be solved by shifting more and more of the costs to motorists and hard-pressed state and local governments, as the Administration proposes in another part of its larger transportation plan.

Potential problems already have been illustrated by reports that the Transit Authority of Northern Kentucky next year could lose $900,000 under the Administration's misguided proposal to ignore a federal responsibility for much needed mass transit.

It is up to the Congress to reject the Administration's most objectionable proposals. It is up to Congress and the Administration to start working together in earnest to solve our budget problems in a way that is fair to all Americans. We have delayed too long, and the time for action is now.

The jumping off place?

Past, present towns covered in Floyd county history

by Dan Lyons
Feature Contributor

By 1992, 18 months of meticulous preparations toward a recaptured Floyd County in book form should be completed.

The end result will be a comprehensive volume, complete with historical facts of all types and hundreds, perhaps even thousands, of heirloom pictures. The book will be made available in a hardbound edition with the old Floyd County courthouse, erected in 1818, on the cover.

Carolyn Traum, a Prestonsburg businesswoman, author and educator is chairing the Bicentennial Book Committee. "This effort will most likely produce a book of over 1000 pages of community histories, along with family histories and a cross-reference, school history and church history," she said.

Efforts of this type in Floyd County are in conjunction with Kentucky's Bicentennial celebration in 1992. The local book effort will reflect Floyd County history from 1800 to 1992.

"This will be an excellent vehicle for people of today to leave behind a thumbprint where people 50 years from now can look back and see what life was like from 1800 up to 1992," Traum said.

James O. VanHoose is chairman of the main Floyd County Bicentennial Committee, and another special project underway in connection with the observance is restoration of the old May House on North Lake Drive in Prestonsburg.

The Bicentennial Book Committee is also comprised of Phyllis Honshell, Sandra Robertson, Mary Rose Martin and Imogene Caldwell.

In May, the committee plans a mass mailing to almost every Floyd County detailing what the project will consist of.

"There'll be an explanatory letter and also samples of early works that have already been completed for the book," Traum said. "Three sample biographies of specific Floyd County families will be included. Also, a listing of contact people in local communities through which information can be channeled will be provided."

Sixty-five communities have been identified in the county, from which as much historical data as possible will be sought. The 150-year research completed in the 1940s will be a source of much material. All historical documents, military records and other related materials will be in great demand.

When the book is completed, it will be available for public viewing at the Prestonsburg Community College library and at various Floyd County post offices. It will be printed on acid free paper and durable enough to last 50 to 60 years with no problems, Traum said.

"Old storefront pictures from various towns will be featured," Traum said. "Defunct communities like Jump (Left Beaver), Eureka (Lancer) and Justelle (Betsy Layne area) will receive their just coverage."

For instance, Eureka, once the name of the riverside area in Lancer behind Riverview Manor Nursing Home, was the site of a huge mining operation. This business of the 1920s era boasted what many residents were sure was the tallest smokestack in Kentucky. The only remnant of the vast industry is the massive concrete supports for the beltline near the riverbank.

Then there was Jump, reportedly so named because the train didn't make a stop there, and all the men traveling home from work had to resort to jumping on and off the train.

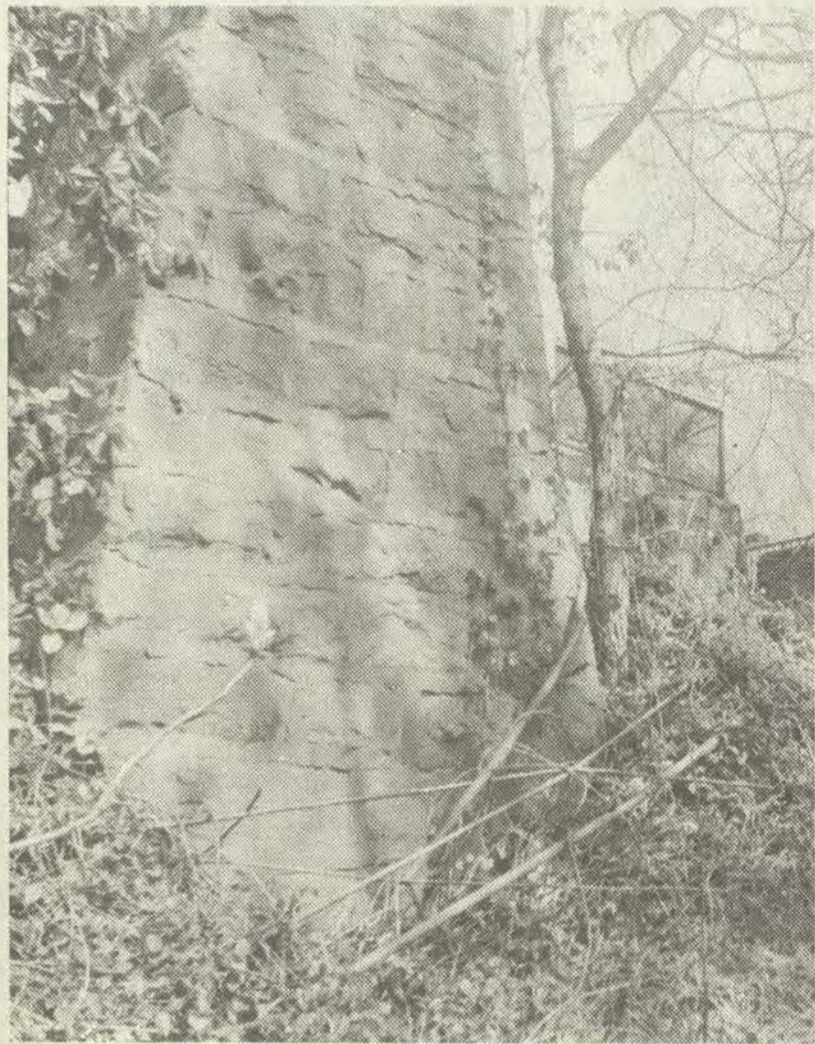

Another piece of Floyd County history that will be included in the book is a report on the Patsy Teenagers, a choral group that received national exposure and traveled across the country when the town of David was a model coal camp.

"A lot of coal camps had their own athletic programs, especially baseball teams," Traum said. "I'm sure we'll devote a lot of space to this period of our history."

Traum said she looks forward to the project eagerly. She has a copy of a similar book that was done on a Central Kentucky county on display at her store, the Bookworm on Court Street in Prestonsburg.

"No doubt, this Floyd County history will be something people will treasure and look at for many years to come," she said.

WXXZ Radio, 105.5, will feature an interview with Traum on the Bicentennial Book Committee's project today (Wednesday) at 11:20 a.m. and again Thursday at 7:20 a.m.

Massive reminders

Looming like the remains of an ancient civilization, these concrete supports were once familiar to residents of the area known as Eureka. The mining community, no longer existing, is one of many to be covered in new Floyd County history book. (Lyons photo)

The Crisis That Brings You To Your Knees Could Be Your Salvation.

It hurts to lose a job. Go broke. See a family break up. Or have to fight off a disease. It's tough, but it's not the end of the world.

In fact, it could be a new beginning. Because in the midst of a crisis, God could be reaching out to you. To fill you with love, hope and compassion. Things that will give you the strength to make it through your struggles.

That's why we're inviting you to visit our services. To experience firsthand the love of Christ and the reality of the salvation He offers.

Things may be bad right now. But no matter how bad they get, there's always hope. Because Jesus cares for you.

Here's Hope.

Two homes, school damaged by fires

by Tess A. Whitmer
Assistant Editor

This was the week for fires. In addition to the two fires pictured elsewhere in this paper, blazes were reported in Betsy Layne, Left Beaver and David.

Bobby Hamilton's home at the head of the Pike-Floyd Hollow in Betsy Layne was engulfed in flames when the fire department arrived Saturday about 6:20 a.m. Although the department arrived 6-7 minutes after the call was received, according to Assistant Chief Edward Clark, there was nothing they could do to save the structure.

"The floor had already burned through when we arrived," stated Clark. "So, we just concentrated on holding it to that one spot." The home was unoccupied at the time and apparently a passerby had awakened the neighbors and told them to phone the fire department. Sixteen volunteer firefighters worked the scene.

Also Saturday, David firefighters handled a structure fire. A home owned by Henry Owens, 94, of Buckeye was completely ablaze when nine firefighters came to extinguish the flames, according to Larry Adams, David Volunteer firefighter. Owens was the only person at home at the time and escaped uninjured but lost all of his belongings, as did his son James Roy Owens who was away at the time. The fire started in the bedroom, and although the cause is unknown, Adams said there is no reason to suspect it was anything but accidental.

The firefighters were able to save a back room of the house due to a closed door and quick action, but even it sustained heavy smoke damage. Water to extinguish the flames was extracted from a nearby stream. The firefighters damaged two hoses in the attempt to save the residence due to nails in the floor. Adams noted that continued support was definitely needed for the David Fire Department and he urged citizens to donate that support.

The other fire was fought by the Left Beaver Department on Monday, April 9. The call was received at 12:46 p.m. and nine firefighters with two pumper trucks and an ambulance arrived at the Drift Headstart School at 1 p.m.

According to Fire Chief Derek Thacker, the fire was contained to the storage room where it was started by the hot water heater blowing out and igniting paper supplies, a Christmas tree, mops and brooms. The faculty was alerted by the activation of the smoke detector and the children were evacuated without injuries.

Thacker noted that the maintenance man had emptied three fire extinguishers onto the blaze and had it almost out when the fire department arrived, completely dousing the flames in less than 15 minutes. Only minor damages were sustained but the school will be closed until a re-inspection and repairs can be done.

Good work, good people

Volunteering their time and services to the benefit of Floyd County, members of a Georgia church group worked over a recent Friday and Saturday to construct a prefabricated home for a Muddy Gut family. Through long hours and hard work, the 11 volunteers and several Christian Appalachian Project workers completed the house by noon Saturday. (CAP photo)

New alarm system for Prestonsburg closer to reality

A standardized alarm system for businesses in the Prestonsburg area moved closer to becoming a reality when city council Monday night authorized City Administrator Fred James to advertise for equipment bids.

Under the present system, businesses have purchased differing systems with hook ups to the city's police and fire departments. A new system, James said, would cut down on confusion created by the present system.

James said most businesses have agreed to the proposed system which would standardize individual alarms. The new system would have a single response panel in the dispatcher's office.

The administrator proposed that the city purchase all the necessary equipment, sell alarms to the businesses and charge a monthly maintenance fee. He estimated the cost to the city, much of which would be recoverable, at between $8000 and $12,000.

Here's One Big Reason Why You Should Be In Church Next Week.

Your children. Whatever their ages, there's so much they can learn in church. Principles that will serve them well throughout life. And help them to be better human beings. Because our church is a place where positive life values find expression. Where the enduring love of God is taught. Where the nature of life and the meaning of happiness are conveyed through simple yet profound Bible stories.

That's why we're inviting you to join us in worship. So that your children can experience the love that only God can give. So please come.

Whatever your age, there's hope that you might learn something too, because Jesus cares for you.

Here's Hope.
A message of life from Southern Baptists.

Legal professionals honored at dinner

The board of directors of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund hosted an awards dinner March 24 at the Western Steer in Richmond to honor staff members who have served with the legal services program for more than five years.

The dinner was also to honor Court of Appeals Judge Janet Stumbo who had served on the board from April 1983 until December 1989 and was its chairperson from January 1984 until she became Court of Appeals Judge in last December.

The new board chairperson is Somerset attorney Jane Stephens, who practices with the firm of Adams and Adams. Floyd County Attorney John W. Mann replaced Judge Stumbo as the representative of the Floyd County Bar Association.

For honorable service

John Rosenberg, left, director of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund of Kentucky in Prestonsburg, presented Court of Appeals Judge Janet Stumbo with plaque, in appreciation for her chairing the board of the Defense Fund for the past six years. The awards dinner was held in Richmond last week. Also honored were Defense Fund staff members Karen Alfano, Judith Amburgey, Donna Blackburn, Lisa Burchett, Brenda Campbell, Diana Fish, Carol Napier, John Rosenberg, Stephen Sanders and Reva Trusty.

Child Abuse Council begins ribbon campaign

Many Floyd Countians will be sporting baby blue ribbons on their car antennas or on their clothes as part of the Kentucky Council on Child Abuse's Blue Ribbon Campaign to create awareness of the issue of child abuse.

Janie Hall, coordinator of the council's local office, is distributing the ribbons to parents at Head Start units around the county this week and to civic organizations.

Friday, April 14, has been designated Blue Ribbon Day across the state by Gov. Wallace Wilkinson.

Hall said the idea of using the ribbons to call attention to child abuse prevention came from a Virginia grandmother, Bonnie Finney, who launched a campaign to combat child abuse after the death of her grandson in 1989.

In his resolution, calling for Blue Ribbon Day, Gov. Wilkinson said, "Child abuse is a very serious problem, and it is estimated that reported cases of child abuse neglect (including physical, sexual and emotional abuse) involved approximately 44,170 children in Kentucky during the 1989 fiscal year alone."

He also said that the number of unreported cases is estimated to be three or four times that figure.

The resolution also recognizes the more than 2000 volunteers who donate more than 17,000 hours annually across the state to prevent child abuse.

Also scheduled this month to create awareness of child abuse prevention is the annual Stop The Hurt Day at Wayland Elementary School on April 28 from 1-5 p.m.

Coal Institute set for JWSRP

The 13th annual Coal Mining Seminar is scheduled for April 19-20 Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, sponsored by the Big Sandy Coal Mining Institute.

George E. Evans Jr. of the Governor's Office on Coal and Energy Policy will be the keynote speaker at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

David Gooch, director of the Coal Operators Association in Pikeville, will present an afternoon session on "The Formation of the Alliance to Kentucky Coal and Recent Developments in Environmental Regulations." Also slated for the afternoon are talks by Ron Wooten, vice president, safety, Consolidation Coal Co. in Pittsburgh, "What Makes an Effective Safety Program," and J.P. Apel, vice president, Governmental Affairs America for American Electric Power Service of Lancaster, Ohio.

At an evening banquet, Robert L. Vines, vice president for Coal Mine Health and Safety, BCOA, will be the speaker.

Friday morning's session will feature Robert Peters, research psychologist with the US Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh, "Management Practices Affecting Coal Mine Safety," Frank Williams, manager of safety for Island Creek Coal Co., "Miners' Responsibilities," Dr. Stanley C. Subolecki of Penn State University, "Estimating the Impact of Technological Advances on Productivity in the Coal Industry," and Tom Duncan, president of the Kentucky Coal Association in Lexington.

Theme of this year's seminar is "Where Do We Go From Here."

Small business workshop at MSU

For those who own their own business — or plan to start one in the future — the "Inventory Control Teleconference" at Morehead State University on Tuesday, April 17, may provide some useful information.

The session is sponsored by the School of Business and Economics Small Business Development Center at MSU, Morehead/Rowan County Chamber of Commerce, Mt. Sterling Chamber of Commerce, Buffalo Trace Area Development District and Gateway Area Development District.

"Knowing When and How Much to Buy" is the theme of the program which will begin at 7 p.m. in the Riggle Room, Adron Doran University Center. Its objective is to provide an overview of the planning necessary to be prepared for market trips and/or "in store" purchases.

The program leaders on the MSU campus will include John Graham III, assistant professor of accounting, and Ernest Begley II, general management consultant and director of the Morehead area center.

A teleconference will begin at 8 p.m. and feature faculty members from Oklahoma State University.

The deadline for registration is April 13. A $15 registration fee is required and may be mailed to MSU's Small Business Development Center, Butler Hall #24, Morehead, KY 40351-1689. Telephone: (606) 783-2077.

The Kentucky Small Business Development Center is partially funded by the US Small Business Administration. Special arrangements for the handicapped will be made if requested in advance.

Conservation District to meet

The Floyd County Conservation District will meet Tuesday, April 17 at 3:15 p.m. in the district office at 37 South Lake Dr., Prestonsburg. All interested persons are invited to attend.

MSU workshop is for health workers

Physical assessment of the cardiac and respiratory systems is the topic of a workshop to be held on the Morehead State University campus on Wednesday, April 18.

The one-day session will be sponsored by Morehead State University's continuing education program for nursing and allied health professionals. It will cover various problems involving the heart and lungs and includes dealing with the family of a patient with coronary heart disease.

Serving as the faculty will be Karen Christiansen of the Critical Care Nursing Network at St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. with class to start at 9 a.m. The cost is $36 which includes handout materials and refreshment breaks.

Nurses attending the session will receive contact hours as approved by the Kentucky Board of Nursing.

Additional information is available through MSU's department of nursing and allied health sciences at 783-2632.

May 1 is deadline for IOLTA Grant applications

The deadline is May 1 for grant applications for projects to provide legal services to the poor and to promote the administration of justice, according to Barbara Hadley Smith of the Kentucky Bar Center.

The Interest on Lawyers' Trust Account Fund (IOLTA) has awarded almost $300,000 during the past two years to organizations across Kentucky which have developed law-related public service projects, Smith noted.

Past grant recipients include pro bono programs that recruit and train private lawyers to provide legal services to the poor, programs which disseminate information on legal rights and responsibilities to the public, and voluntary efforts to assist children who are in the court system because of abuse, neglect or abandonment, she explained.

Grant applications may be obtained from the IOLTA office, Kentucky Bar Center, West Main at Kentucky River, Frankfort, KY 40601. The phone number is (502) 564-3795.

The IOLTA Fund is supported by the participation of almost 1700 Kentucky lawyers. The Fund was established by the Kentucky Bar Foundation and approved by the Kentucky Supreme Court.

Gas company lowers rates

The Public Service Commission has granted Equitable Gas Company a purchased gas adjustment to reflect a $344,864 decrease in wholesale costs from its supplier, Kentucky /West Virginia Gas.

This means the residential customer will see an average annual decrease of $73.72, retroactive to Feb. 1. The order was entered March 30.

Equitable Gas Company is the fourth gas company supplied by Ky./W.Va. to decrease its prices within the past month. It serves Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Perry and Pike counties.

Appointments made

Four persons were appointed or reappointed to Prestonsburg city boards at Monday night's city council meeting.

Approved by the council were recommendations to reappoint Frank Heinze to the Housing Authority Commission and Frank Fitzpatrick to the Planning and Zoning Commission. Both are present commission members whose terms have expired.

Mayor Ann Latta informed council of her appointment of Dr. Rob Herrick to replace Jim Sparks on the Park Board. Sparks has moved out of the city, she said.

Latta also reappointed Dr. David White to the Prestonsburg/Paintsville Airport Board.

Leveled by fire

When the Wayland firefighters arrived on the scene of this early Saturday morning fire on Steel's Creek, the house was totally engulfed in flames, according to Mack Stewart, fire fighter. The 15 men with one fire truck fought back the flames with water from the nearby pool and managed to contain the fire to that structure alone. The owners Craig and Loretta Collins were not at home at the time and a neighbor reported the blaze. The cause of the fire is unknown. (A Clark photo)

Up in smoke

The home of Kenneth Roberts at Stone Coal caught fire Thursday, April 5, while he was away on a fishing trip in Alabama. The Garrett Volunteer Fire Department was called at 3:38 a.m. and arrived on the scene five minutes later to find the structure totally involved, according to Rodney Robinson, assistant chief. Ten members and one pumper vehicle remained on the scene for four hours but the fire gutted the structure. The cause of the blaze is still under investigation. (Terry Tripplett photo)

Tax extension available

Have you suddenly realized that April 16 is just around the corner and you still have a lot of tax records to round up before filing your federal tax return?

The Internal Revenue Service says there is hope. By filing Form 4868, "Application for Automatic Extension of Time to File US Individual Income Tax Return," you will have another four months to get your tax form filed. However, that extension request must be filed by April 16 and it must include the payment of any owed tax.

If you underestimate the amount of tax you owe, you will be charged interest on the unpaid taxes from the April 16 due date.

If you don't have enough money to fully pay your tax bill by the due date, the IRS says go ahead and send what you can with either your completed tax form or your completed extension request form. In this way you can avoid a failure-to-file penalty. You will be billed for the taxes you still owe, plus interest.

More information on extensions of time to file your federal income tax return is covered in free IRS Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax," available by calling 1-800-424-3676.

Easter gas prices higher this year

Easter travelers will pay at least 3.8 cents more for gasoline this spring than they did last year, AAA reported today.

AAA's first Fuel Gauge Report for 1990 shows the average price of gasoline is $1.18 per gallon, compared to $1.08 last Easter. The national average includes self-serve and full-serve prices of regular leaded, unleaded and premium unleaded gasoline.

Self-serve gasoline averages $1.026 per gallon for unleaded, $1.044 for regular and $1.198 for premium unleaded. Full-serve prices average $1.283 per gallon for unleaded, $1.225 for regular and $1.426 for premium unleaded.

For the state of Kentucky, the average price of gasoline is $1.085 a gallon, down nearly a nickel from the average at Christmas of $1.13 a gallon.

The Fuel Gauge Report is conducted for AAA by Computer Petroleum Corporation which monitors wholesale and retail oil and gasoline prices throughout the United States.

Living Clocks KET subject

Tick, Tick, Tick. Our daily schedules are dictated by a clock on the wall, but how much is known about the more important timepieces inside us that silently guides our lives?

Chronobiology, the study of living clocks, is one of the world's newest sciences. Recent research indicates that biological clocks not only affect our emotional and physical health but also all other life on Earth.

The science adventure series The Infinite Voyage explores the striking and sometimes awesome effects of internal clocks in "The Living Clock," airing on KET at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 11.

Twenty years ago, it was discovered that time is encoded in our genes, and that genetic mutations affect our biological clocks. As a result, new tools have been developed to help our internal clocks fight maladies from insomnia to cancer.

"The Living Clock" shows how early experiments with flowers, insects, and light-emitting algae pointed scientists toward the discovery of biological clocks. Internal timetables helped unravel the causes and effects of "jet lag," first documented in 1931, before the concept of jet airplanes had been developed.

Women's biological clocks may be the key to successful breast surgery, which can mean the difference between life and death. In addition to new clock-based therapies for insomnia and winter depression, "The Living Clock" shows links between cancer chemotherapy and a patient's internal clock.

Scientists are moving rapidly toward understanding the powerful force of the internal clock that mysteriously controls so much of what happens to every living thing on Earth.

The Infinite Voyage is produced by WQED/Pittsburgh in association with the National Academy of the Sciences.

Spurlock sparks Rebels to 8-5 win over Jenkins

The Allen Central Rebels got back into baseball action with the return of the seniors from their senior trip. The Rebels came into the game with Jenkins Monday evening with a 1-1 record having not played in more than a week.

The lay off didn't seem to affect coach Anthony Moore's team as the Rebels scored four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to defeat the visiting Jenkins team, 8-5.

Senior Kevin Spurlock had the big hit for the Rebels in the four-run sixth with a bases loaded double to left center that drove home two runs. Chris Kidd and Mickey Parsons also had RBIs in the inning.

Jenkins jumped out in front 2-0 in the first inning on Chuck Lafferty, who was making his first start of the season for Moore's Rebels. With one out, Shane Dixon singled to left. Lafferty was called for a balk and Dixon moved to second where he then stole third.

David Helton drew a base on balls, putting runners on first and third with one out. Helton stole second and catcher Mike Cassell stroked a single to center to score Dixon and Helton.

Allen Central scored once on the bottom of the first without the benefit of a base hit. B.J. Aldrich walked, leading off the first, and was forced at second base when Parsons grounded weakly to the pitcher. Parsons stole second and moved to third on a wild pitch and came home on another wild pitch.

Lafferty settled down after a rough start and held Jenkins at bay over the second and third innings. The big righthander then gave a lead off home run to Mike Johnson. Johnson hit the first pitch of the inning over the fence.

The Rebels tied the game with two of their own in the fourth. Lafferty walked and went to second on a pick off attempt that went astray. After John Martin struck out, Steve Robinson lined a single to score Lafferty, and Robinson reached second on a passed ball. Chris Kidd doubled down the left field line to score Robinson and tie the game.

In the Jenkins' half of the fifth inning, Aldrich could not handle Mike Cassell's ground ball for an error on the throw allowing Cassell to advance

Justice powers ALC to win over Cumberland

It was the "Todd Justice" show at Allen Park Monday afternoon as the former Blackcat powered the Alice Lloyd College Eagles to a 14-11 second game victory over Cumberland. The game was a rescheduled rain-out game.

"Todd has been hitting the ball good all season for us," said Eagles mentor John Mills. "He sure had a good game for us today."

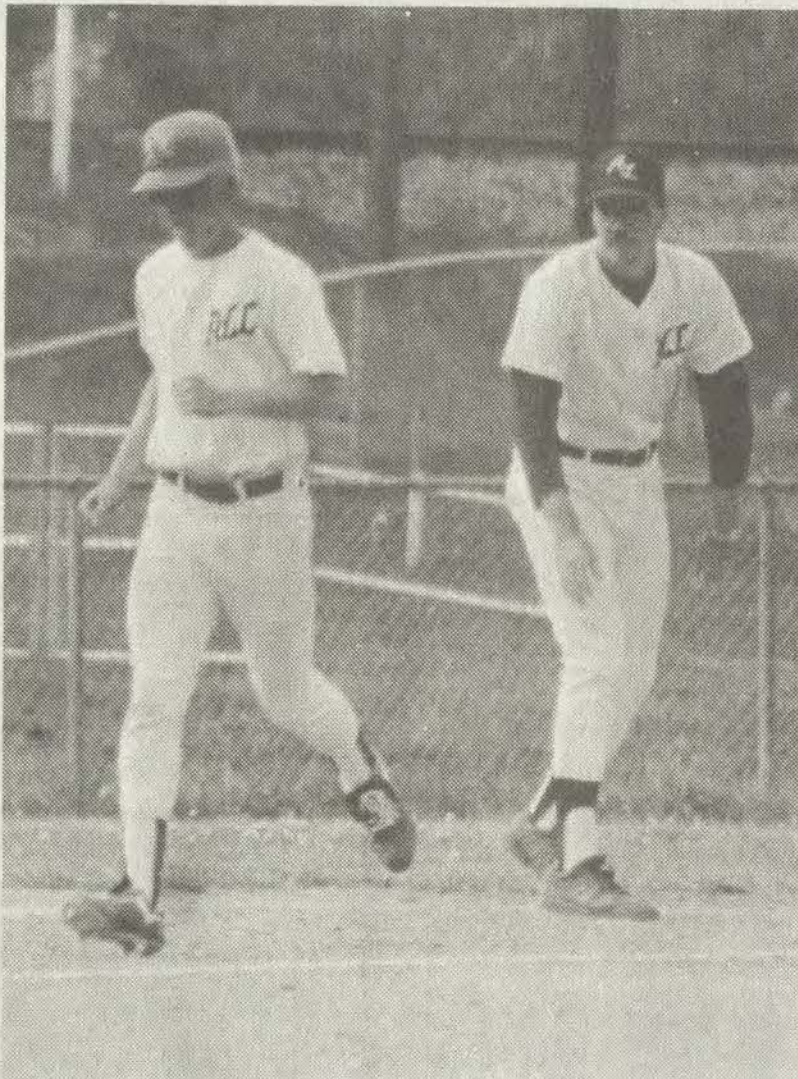

Justice came into the contest hitting at a .362 clip. All the lefthander did was drive in two runs in the first inning with a double and hit two three-run home runs in driving in eight runs. Another former Blackcat, Tim Trusty had a solo shot for the Eagles in the third inning.

Both Justice and Trusty are freshmen at Alice Lloyd College.

"The win was a big one for us," said Mills of the win. "This win puts us in good shape in the District 32 standings. We have the tougher part

Bobcats fall to Eagles in extra innings, 7-6

The Johnson Central Eagles plated a run in the bottom of the eighth inning to hand the Betsy Layne Bobcats a 7-6 loss in high school baseball Friday afternoon at Johnson Central field.

The Bobcats had established a 5-0 lead after three innings of play. Betsy Layne pushed across three runs in the first inning. Craig Hunter drew a base on balls leading off the game. Chris Bias then singled up the middle to score Hunter, who had stolen second base.

After Adam Gearheart popped to short, Darren Gearheart unloaded a blast over the left field fence to make it 3-0 after one inning.

Betsy Layne went on top 5-0 in the third inning with two more runs. Adam Gearheart singled to lead off the inning. With one out, Chris Newsome's ground ball was mis-played by the Eagles' shortstop Collins for an error. Keith Hall's base hit brought home Gearheart, and Newsome scored on Todd Akers' RBI double.

Johnson Central came back in its

Hood added to All-Star team

Wheelwright Trojans senior guard Bobby Hood has been named to the 15th Region All-Star team to take the place of Feds Creek's Jody Thompson who chose not to take part in the all-star series.

Hood has been a three-time starter for coach Monroe Jones at Wheelwright. Hood got to play in his first district tournament this past season. Hood has missed the past two because of injury.

However, Hood did suffer an injury early in the basketball season and had to sit out the first part. Hood came back from the adversity and performed very well for the Trojans.

Hood is known for his quickness and jumping ability. He has good range from outside, especially the three-point line. The senior all-star will give coach Gordon Parido an extra guard and for sure one who can play defense and run the floor.

The All-Star series begins this Friday night at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse against the 16th Region All-Stars and will continue on Saturday night at Ashland.

The Floyd County Times is having a sports contest where you can win free tickets to the Mountain Shootout. Entry forms are in the sports section of today's Times.

Pitching inexperience concerns Prestonsburg's Shepherd

The Prestonsburg Blackcats are the defending 58th District baseball champions. Last year the Blackcats had what it takes to have a championship team — speed, hitting, power and pitching.

Pitching? Gone from a strong staff of last season are Todd Justice, Thomas Nairn and Tim Trusty. All three have gone to Alice Lloyd College, leaving this year's team with an inexperienced pitching staff.

"We are going to be young on the mound," says head baseball coach Russell Shepherd. "We will have to go with some inexperienced players on the mound."

Shepherd will be looking to Tim Watkins, John Clark, Jason Storey and Jody Wallen as his starting rotation. Only Clark has any experience from last season as he pitched over 20 innings.

The rest of the essentials should be there for Shepherd's ball club. The hitting is certainly a big plus on this year's Blackcat team. Chris Slone, Ray Collins, Clark, Stuart Robinson, Watkins and Storey will be hard to contain at the plate. Shepherd's teams have always been good hitting teams and this one will be no exception.

Power on the Blackcat team will come from Robinson, who showed last year that he could crank the long ball out of the park. Robinson spent most of last season as the designated hitter as well as catcher. This year Robinson will see considerable action at third base.

Slone also can hit the long ball with authority and is a good RBI man. Hitting with consistency will be a challenge to the senior outfielder. Leadership must come from him and Robinson.

The steady play of Ray Collins at shortstop and with the bat makes the Blackcats that much more of a threat of repeating as district winners. Collins has good range at the shortstop spot and can handle the bat.

Watkins probably will be behind the plate this year, when he is not pitching. Watkins brings another long ball threat to the Blackcat line up. He should be a good .300-plus hitter and will help shore up the runs-batted-in department.

Clark has always been a steady performer whether in the field or at the plate. He will probably be the number one starting pitcher for Shepherd's squad and can play the field (baseball) as well as anyone. He is a good contact hitter, rarely striking out. He has good speed on the bases and good field sense.

Returning from last year's squad will be junior Jason Storey. Storey saw a lot of playing time last season as well as being on the mound. Storey will more than likely be at first base for Shepherd's "spikers", as well as pitch. He's a good contact hitter but needs to be more consistent at the plate.

The Blackcats should be solid on defense and have the speed needed on the base paths.

Shepherd has proven to be a winning coach and has displayed that consistency through the years. He knows the ingredients needed for a good baseball team and is very knowledgeable of the game.

John Mills, Alice Lloyd College baseball coach, indirectly paid Shepherd a high compliment when he told the Prestonsburg mentor "to keep turning out those good players" after signing Justice and Nairn to scholarships last year. Shepherd will have some more good ones this year.

But when you measure championships you have to measure from the pitcher's mound where the Blackcats are going to be young and inexperienced. If some of the younger pitchers come through and prove out, it could be a big year for Prestonsburg.

of our schedule over and we are in good shape."

The Eagles fell behind in the first inning when Cumberland scored without a hit in the first inning. The Eagles then plated six of their own in the bottom of the inning to take a 6-1 lead. The big blow was a bases loaded double by Justice. Trusty also had a base hit in the inning to drive in a run for the Eagles.

The long ball played havoc on the Eagles' pitching in the second inning when both Chris Stattworth and Charles Green hit two run home runs for Cumberland to make it 6-5.

Trusty picked up his second RBI of the game with a long belt over the left center field fence in the Eagles' third inning.

Cumberland cut the lead to 7-6 with lone run in its half of the fourth inning when Bach led off with a double and came home on a base hit.

In the Eagles' fifth, Justice blasted a shot deep over the right field fence with two runners on base for a three-run homer, as the Eagles scored five runs in the frame and took what seemed like a comfortable 12-6 lead. But as Eagles' coach John Mills says, "On a day like this, no lead is safe."

Cumberland did not quit, coming back with four in the sixth on a three-run home run by Franklin. Cumberland pushed across two more runs to close to one, 12-11.

Justice struck again in the bottom of the seventh. Mark Cavins walked and Eric Ratliff doubled, putting runners on second and third. Justice then came to bat and pulled the ball down the right field line, 330 feet away, for his second three-run home run of the game, giving the Eagles a 14-11 win.

The win gave the Eagles a 15-11 record on the season. Alice Lloyd lost the first game to Cumberland 5-2.

"Well, where's my hat and glove"

Jeff Lovely of Alice Lloyd College looks for his hat and glove after being thrown out at first base against Cumberland in college baseball action at the Allen Park Monday afternoon. Lovely is a freshman at the Knott County school and plays first base for the Eagles. The Eagles split a double-header with Cumberland, losing the first game, 5-2, and taking the night cap, 14-11. to second. Johnson hit a Texas Leaguer for a single, scoring Cassell. Johnson came home on a single by Scott Johnson to make it 5-3.

The Rebels weren't through as Kevin Spurlock sent a fast ball over the left field fence 340 feet from home plate for a home run.

Parsons came on in the top of the sixth inning for the Rebels in relief of Lafferty, who had a good first outing. The big righthander handcuffed the Jenkins team who went out quietly in the sixth.

In the bottom of the inning, the Rebels scored four runs on four hits to win 8-5 and run their record to 2-1 on the season. Parsons was throwing nothing but "smoke" as he set down Jenkins in order in the bottom of the seventh.

Parsons got the win in relief to give him a 2-0 record for the season. The righthander struck out three. Lafferty fanned five in the five innings he pitched, and Dixon for Jenkins had nine strike outs.

Sneak up on those trout

America Outdoors
Stream trout see well, especially during clear, low water conditions of summer. The following tips provide a stealthy approach to clear water trout fishing and run a beginner to expert overnight.

— Wear polarized glasses. These reduce glare and help locate trout in their hiding and feeding places. They'll help spot underwater hazards and deep holes which cause problems when wading.

— Use trees, bushes and other cover to conceal your approach. When no natural cover exists, approach slowly in crouched manner. Avoid quick movements. In small streams, crawl to the edge of the bank and slowly rise to a kneeling position before casting.

— Felt-soled waders reduce noise.

Felt also offers better traction than traditional rubber soles. This helps a fisherman walk more quietly. Clattering rocks and crunching gravel alert trout to your presence.

— When possible, approach fish by wading in areas of wildly turbulent waters. This hides a wader's noise and reduces a fish's vision. Use care to avoid taking a dangerous spill.

— Fish and wade upstream. Trout face into the current, so you approach them from behind. Wading upstream also helps better foot balance and sends dirt and debris downstream.

Trout stay elusive and wary. A stealthy approach improves success on any small stream outing.

Bobcat mentors

Junior Newsome, left, and Keith Henry begin a new season at the helm of the Betsy Layne Bobcats. The duo has had many good teams in the past years and will be talent heavy this baseball season. The team will be young but will not lack for experience. (A Taylor photo)

WMDJ to air Reds games; plans baseball excursions

With the start of baseball season already two days old, many Cincinnati Reds fans will be gluing their ears to the radios to pick up the play-by-play of long-time favorite announcers Marty Brennan and the old lefthander, Joe Nuxhall.

According to WMDJ station owner/manager, Dale McKinney, his station will be the only station in the area carrying the popular Reds on the air.

"The station in Pike County, WDHR, and one in Knott County have dropped the Reds this season," says McKinney. "The original deal was that to carry the Reds games, you had to purchase a special antenna that costs $10,000. That was all that was required. Now they have come along and added additional charges and so the stations dropped them. If anyone listens to the Reds, it will be over our station which covers both areas that will not be covered."

Every Reds game can be heard over the Allen-Martin based station on its FM side.

The station is also planning to have the popular Baseball Excursions this year, although the games haven't been selected as of yet.

"The walk-out in spring training has created a delay in our excursion schedule," explained McKinney. "We will have them. When, we just don't know right now."

McKinney, a long time opponent of the Rose dynasty, sees the Reds improving in the standings this year, but not as division winners.

"They will be a better ball club," the station owner said. "They will not win their division, but with the cloud of the Pete Rose stench gone, it will give them more time to concentrate on the game."

Did the Rose situation hurt the Reds last year? "It most certainly did."

In an earlier interview, McKinney said the Reds would make a deal with the Pirates for Billy Hatcher (which has now been completed). He sees Rolanda Roomes being expendable for the Reds and this is a must season for former Rookie Of The Year Chris Sabo.

McKinney says the Reds would like to unload one Danny Jackson. A strong pitching corps will be a big asset to the Reds this season, according to the Reds fan.

"Everybody likes the Cincinnati Reds," he said. "It doesn't matter if they are playing good or not, they listen."

The Cincinnati Reds can be heard during the entire schedule on the local station, WMDJ-FM, 105.5.

Burchett, Smith win in Red Man Mt. Qualifier

Some people just dream of winning the big fishing tournaments, such as the Bass Masters and such. Well, two Floyd Countians did not win the Bass Masters, but they did take home some "big bucks" from the Red Man Mountain Qualifier in Danville on April 1.

Jeff Burchett of Prestonsburg took fourth place at the Red Man Mountain Division Qualifier on Lake Herrington at Chimney Rock. Burchett's single catch, weighing seven pounds and one ounce, entitled him to $453 for fourth place. Burchett also won an additional $1,000, a Browning/Lew's reel and a one week vacation. Burchett flipped 3/8 Springer jigs in Cane Creek.

David Smith of Langley placed in the 10th position. Smith had one bass weighing five pounds and seven ounces. The catch was good for $116.50. Smith is a University of Kentucky student, majoring in engineering.

The next stop for these two local anglers along the Red Man Tournament trail for Mountain Division will be May 6 on Green River at the State Dock.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Fishing activity over the April 7-8 weekend was moderate on most of the major lakes. Water temperatures ranged from 48-57 degrees. Crappie and largemouth bass were the most consistently active species. The lake-by-lake report:

DEWEY LAKE

Crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 10-15 feet deep over brush piles and submerged trees; catfish were hitting nightcrawlers 10-15 feet deep over creek channels; clean to murky, rising, at summer pool and 52 degrees.

PAINTSVILLE LAKE

UPPER CUMBERLAND

Crappie were taking minnows and jigs near the surface over submerged trees; largemouth, smallmouth and Kentucky bass were active on crankbaits, spinnerbaits and jig and pig combinations 1-10 feet deep along the shoreline; clear to murky, falling, two feet below summer pool and 55 degrees.

LOWER CUMBERLAND (Above Dam)

Striped bass were hitting jigs and shad 15-20 feet deep in open water; largemouth and smallmouth bass were hitting crankbaits, spinnerbaits and minnows 1-5 feet deep along the shoreline stump rows and over brush piles and submerged trees; bluegill were active on nightcrawlers, wax worms and meal worms 1-5 feet deep along the shoreline over submerged trees; clear, falling, two feet below summer pool and 53 degrees.

GREEN RIVER

Crappie were hitting minnows 10-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; largemouth, smallmouth and Kentucky bass were hitting crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep over stump rows and off rocky points; clear, rising, one foot below summer pool and 52 degrees.

HERRINGTON

Largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits and jig and pig combinations 5-10 feet deep along the shoreline; crappie were taking minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; murky, rising, five feet below summer pool and 52 degrees. For the next several months water elevation will be maintained at 725 feet due to dam repair.

TAYLORSVILLE

Crappie were active on minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits, spinnerbaits, plastic worms and jig and pig combinations 1-5 feet deep along the shoreline; clear to murky, stable, at summer pool and 54 degrees.

Fishathon needs volunteers

The Prestonsburg Tourism, Recreation and Convention Commission has a call out for people to help make this year's Fishathon a success.

If you are interested in helping with the event that will take place in May and desire more information on the matter, you are invited to attend a meeting on April 18 at the city council room at the Municipal Building at 6 p.m.

According to director Jim Sparks, businesses are needed for sponsorship and are also invited to attend the meeting.

"We really need all the help we can get to get this off the ground," said Sparks. "The Fishathon is designed to bring more business into the area through tourism. Fish will be tagged and prizes will be awarded for certain fish that are caught out of our rivers and lake."

Many positions need to be filled in this endeavor and all who want to help are urged to be at the meeting.

Bobcats

half of the fourth with three runs. With one out, Williams singled to left and then stole second, third, and home on the Bobcats. Sublett then fanned for the second out. Collins and Bryant drew back-to-back walks and moved up on a wild pitch. Tim Pelphrey laced a single to center to score both Collins and Bryant to make it 5-3.

It was 6-3, Betsy Layne, in the fifth inning when Newsome singled leading off. Hall popped to second, and Danny Paige struck out. Akers was hit by the pitch, and Collins walked to load the bases. Hunter was plumped with the pitch to force Newsome home with the run.

Johnson Central pushed across three runs in the sixth with two out to tie the game at 6-6. Collins got a free pass to first on a walk and was balked to second. Bryant and Pelphrey both struck out.

Darren Stambaugh roped a base hit to score Collins. Mitchell Johnson and Derrick Preston received walks to load the bases. Jeff Williams picked up three RBIs with a base loaded double that cleared the bases and tied the game.

Betsy Layne went down quietly in the seventh and eighth innings. In the bottom of the eighth, Stambaugh reached first on a base hit and Johnson followed with single up the middle, moving Stambaugh to third. Preston then ended the game with a fly ball to left that scored Stambaugh from third base.

The loss took Betsy Layne's record to 2-3, and the Bobcats will be back in action tomorrow (Thursday) against 58th District champion, Prestonsburg.

Catch your calls wherever you are.

Even when you're out catching a little relaxation.

Call Forwarding lets you transfer your calls to any other number you choose. So you don't have to stay by the phone waiting for important calls. And when you're not at home, you don't have to worry about an unanswered phone telling strangers you're away.

There are other services that make your life easier, too.

Call Waiting lets you call home, even when your talkative teenager is on the telephone. Because Call Waiting will sound a tone to let your teenager know there's another call. And if you're using your phone, you won't have to worry about missing emergency or important calls.

Speed Calling 8 lets you reach any of eight selected numbers by dialing only one digit. It's great for children and helpful in an emergency.

Three-way Calling is great for telephone reunions and for planning meetings. It lets you talk to two different people in two different locations—at the same time—even if the calls are long distance. (Long distance rates may apply.)

Plus these services are affordable. Just $2.75 a month for any one service. Additional services are $1.75. Or, order all four for just $8 a month. And if you order before May 31, you can save the $15.50 connection charge. To order, just call 1557-6400, toll-free. Or to order any time, day or night, from a Touch-Tone phone, use convenient RightTouch® service. See your latest phone bill for information on how to use it.

Save the $15.50 connection charge if you order before May 31.

Lettie Johnson of Wheelwright, currently a student at the Carl D. Perkins Comprehensive Rehabilitation Center, was a member of the center's women's basketball team that won first place in the Kentucky Special Olympics State Basketball Tournament in Lexington on March 9-11. The Rehab Center defeated Frankfort's Stewart Home School and Louisville's Ursuline-Pitt School to win the tournament. Team members are, front: Holly Ferguson, Shelia Thompson, Kelley Davis, Stacey Massey; back: Verssie Hoskins (manager), Gayle Peyton, Deborah Reed, Evonya Baskin, Lettie Johnson, Charlene Byard, Mike Orem (coach).

KENTUCKY SPORTS ROUNDUP

BASKETBALL CAMP AT TRANSY

Young basketball players from across the state — and from other states — will sharpen their basketball skills at Don Lane's 1990 Transylvania University Basketball Camp this summer on the university's campus in Lexington.

The camp offers seven sessions for boys and girls between the ages of seven and 18. Lane, head coach at Transy for 15 years, and his staff of high school and college coaches provide individual attention to the campers, who are grouped according to age, size and experience. High school teams may attend the camp as a group.

Tuition is $190 for resident campers, $165 for commuters, and $75 for 7 to 10-year-olds who attend a special half-day camp.

Following are the 1990 camp dates: June 11-15, Boys, 10-14; June 18-22, Girls, 13-18; June 25-29, Boys, 14-18; July 2-3, 5-6, Boys and Girls, 7-12; July 9-13, Boys 14-18; July 16-20, Boys, 10-14; July 23-27, Girls, 10-18. For more information, contact Coach Lane, Transylvania University in Lexington or call 606-233-8270.

MORE PROBLEMS FOR FUGATE AND THE NAVAHOS

With the suspension of the M.C. Napier Navaho's basketball program back in February for playing too many preseason games and the use of an ineligible player, the Navaho basketball program and bewildered coach Danny Fugate must now face another charge that has surfaced this past week: taking part in an independent basketball league last season. The Kentucky High School Association prohibits high school players participating in independent leagues during a school year.

The Navahos are accused of playing an 11-game schedule with teams from Perry, Breathitt, Knott and Leslie counties. The team also participated in a season ending tournament.

Fugate is not sure that he will be rehired when superintendent Kenneth Colwell presents a list of teachers and coaches to be hired for the coming school year. Fugate thinks there is a conspiracy to get him out of coaching at the Napier school.

APPLAUSE DEPARTMENT

The University of Kentucky is considering dropping its annual holiday tournament, the UKIT, because of the difficulties of fielding a strong team. The university is to be applauded for shelving the tournament. The move would be a good one. The tournament only served the purpose of allowing UK to get two wins. The field was always a weak field and did not really provide the kind of competition that UK likes to play.

Athletic Director C.M. Newton

cited the problems of getting quality teams to take part. Quality teams are what the university needs to play in its rebuilding years. With the cancellation of the tournament, the Wildcats now can focus on scheduling teams that are more admirable opponents.

APPLAUSE DEPARTMENT II

The decision of new Cincinnati Reds manager Lou Piniella to replace Ron Oester at second base with Mario Duncan. Duncan, obtained last year from the Dodgers for Kal Daniels, filled in for the injured Barry Larkin last season and showed a lot of promise. He can field and hit for power. Oester on the other hand is a good glove man but weak with the bat. He also has an attitude problem. He now says that he will retire after this season if he doesn't play regularly.

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT OF THE REDS

Danny Jackson is not really showing any hopes of a good year by the kind of spring training he is having. Look for the Reds to try and unload the lefthander who has only had one good season in his career.

However, I look for the Reds to be a much improved ball club with Piniella at the helm. The former Yankee manager has seen how fundamentally weak the Reds were and the need for improvement in those areas. With the shortening of the spring training season and the lack of time to work on these areas, the new manager will have the Reds playing solid baseball as the season progresses.

The addition of Billy Hatcher will be a big boost to the Reds offense. The trade with Pittsburgh is probably one of the best the Reds have made in a long time. Jeff Richardson has some promise of a good second baseman and Mike Roseller has a good arm that also shows a lot of promise. The Pirates were in need of pitching and the deal was good for both teams. With Hatcher, Eric Davis and Paul O'Neil in the Reds outfield, you have three good bats in the lineup. Of course, highly regarded Hal Morris could challenge the outfield spots also.

KENTUCKY MOUNTAIN SHOOTOUT

Coach Gordon Parido, along with girl's coach Bridget Clay, will lead the 15th Region boys and girls All-Stars against the 16th Region All-Stars this Friday night at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse. The two teams then will match up again Saturday night in Ashland.

Let's all go out and support the 15th Region All-Star teams, in which we will have seven, four boys and three girls, from the 58th District playing. Tickets may be purchased at the local schools.

ALTMAN BUSY WITH OUTDOOR MAGAZINES

Good to hear that popular outdoors writer Chris Altman (whose columns appear in the Floyd County Times) has been busy these days writing fishing and outdoor articles. "I'm staying real busy," he said, "writing for three different magazines. I'm doing a lot of writing now for Field and Stream, Outdoor South and BASS Master magazine."

Altman says that he is helping write chapters for other books and recently had to turn down writing his own book. "I'm just too busy right now."

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

OF IMMEASURABLE VALUE

Consumers should pay attention to other factors than just the bottom line when selecting a pharmacy. For example, how much is trust in the pharmacist worth? A knowledge of drug interactions, the ability to explain, and a willingness to knowledgeably answer questions may prove invaluable in a customer's time of need. Also of great value are such services as home delivery, personal charge accounts, and providing end-of-year statements for tax records. Finally, consumers should look for a pharmacy that routinely stocks items and medications of which they frequently have a need. Saving money on medications is one thing, but providing service and peace of mind to customers gives value that cannot always be measured in dollars.

Here at COOLEY APOTHECARY, we aim to offer you the finest professional service available anywhere. We're in the business of helping you and your family stay healthy and are always available to answer any of your questions about your over the counter remedies or prescription medications. We look forward to being of service to you in the near future at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. MasterCard and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3.

HINT: Keep the pharmacy's emergency phone number on the list of other emergency numbers.

Former WW basketball player to be inducted into Hall of Fame

Jim Rose, head basketball coach for the Knott County Central Patriots, will be inducted into the Georgia Southern College Hall of Fame on May 4 at 7 p.m. on the Georgia Southern Campus in Statesboro.

"This will be a day for me to remember -- to be inducted on the same day as my two former coaches."

Jim Rose
GA Southern inductee

Coach Rose attended Georgia Southern in 1965-67. He was named to the first team NAIA All-American Team three consecutive years while playing for the school's basketball team.

In 1965, Rose was selected to be a member of the USA Ambassador team to represent the United States in the Far East. The team traveled for 48 days playing basketball games and promoting goodwill throughout the countries in the Far East.

Rose was informed of this special award by Georgia Southern Athletic Director Dr. David Wagner. Wagner told Rose that at the opening of each basketball season he heard of Rose's outstanding contributions to the Georgia Southern basketball program.

"This is a great honor for me," the Knott County Central coach said. "It really tickled me to death. I didn't know it was coming and to be named into the same Hall of Fame as pro golfer Jody Mudd and former US Olympic coach Pat Yeager is an honor."

Being inducted on the same day will be two of Rose's former coaches. Don Wallen, who has made his mark in the coaching ranks not only in Kentucky but also in Florida, will be inducted also. Rose played for Wallen at Wheelwright in 1961-62. Rose's former college coach, J.B. Scerce, will receive the same honor on this special day.

"This will be a day for me to remember," said Rose, "to be inducted on the same day as my two former coaches."

Rose, upon graduating from

Wheelwright, went on to play on the University of Kentucky freshmen team that included the likes of Larry Conley and Tommy Kron and others. After his freshman year, Rose transferred to Georgia Southern where he made NAIA All-American.

JIM ROSE

In high school Rose was named to the All-Conference, All-District and All-Regional team in 1961, the year that the Trojans went to the state tournament.

"We had several players off the Wheelwright team that went on to college," the former Trojan star related. "Bruce Belcher went to Marshall, as did Forrest Newsome."

Rose averaged 26.5 points a game as a senior in high school and averaged pulling down 16 rebounds.

Rose says he has lots of memories of the United States Ambassador team he played on in 1965.

"One of the things I remember most about that trip," he said, "was the poverty that was there. We went to West Pakistan (Bangladesh), India, Singapore, Hong Kong and Japan."

Rose said that in the mornings the team would hold basketball clinics for the kids and then play basketball in the evenings.

"We had to play basketball in the evenings because of the heat," he explained. "We would play that country's national team."

"Ninety percent of the games we played were played on dirt courts," Rose explained. "Before we went on the tour, we spent four days in Washington, DC, where they explained what we were to do. At that time the Viet Nam war was going on and we were scheduled to play there and they canceled it."

"The next year, I got a strange feeling when I would pick up the papers and read of where our country was having trouble in those countries we visited."

"We were even told that we couldn't beat a team bad, no dribbling behind the back, no stuffing the basketball, things like that," he remarked. "And at other places we were told to play straight basketball because the fans loved it."

Rose said that Knott County will have a fair basketball team next season with several young players coming into the program.

"We had a freshmen team that went 15-1 last year and our junior varsity was 18-5. So we have several promising young players to help out next year."

The Knott County Central coach says that his future goals are to tie together the elementary school's program with the high school program and develop a program at Knott County Central that will be strong every year and "not just every other year."

"The key to our high school program is a good feeder system," explained Rose. "I think the elementary program is too competitive. When we received a gold basketball for making the All-District team, it meant something to us. Now, a kid in grade school gets trophies over six feet high and when he gets into high school a little gold basketball doesn't mean much."

Rose says there is too much emphasis placed on winning on the elementary level. "We need to get our people to thinking that all the kids on the grade school teams should play. Every kid should play. Today only a few get to play all the time. Winning shouldn't be the strong emphasis, but developing players should be."

Rose served as county clerk and also a term as state representative. "But I'm back into basketball now and I love it," said Rose, who is at home recuperating from surgery. "Hopefully by Monday (April 16) I will be able to get back to work."

The honor of being named to the Georgia Southern Hall of Fame is the highest bestowed upon those associated with Georgia Southern Athletics.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS OF KENTUCKY SPRING

It's official; spring is here! (I checked the calendar to make sure while hanging up my winter coat with its zip outlining that never gets zipped out.)

Why not ignore old man winter who keeps trying to dust us with that white fluffy stuff? Let's take a walk through the sights and sounds of a Kentucky spring. There's much more here than you might imagine.

During March, garter snakes emerge from secluded sleeping places to catch some rays, while chorus frogs call from wet meadows on warm afternoons and groundhogs graze along grassy roadsides. Rabbits reach the peak of their breeding season, and the first litters of fox and gray squirrels are born. Wood ducks are busy nesting while Canada geese and ospreys are just beginning to build their nests.

Woodlands are alive with blossoming red maples and crocuses in vibrant gowns of yellow, deep pink and royal purple. In the Bluegrass, snow trillium raises its dainty, hoary head as if listening to spring peepers whistling their high-pitched sounds.

Young male turkeys begin sprouting beards, and while large winter flocks separate into small groups, the patriachs try out their most irresistible gobbles. A few lucky folks may hear the woodcock's song or the strange drumming of ruffed grouse wings.

Fish, too, instinctively respond to nature's cycle by quickly moving to spawning areas. White bass, walleye and sauger runs begin while warm days provide good fishing opportunities for slab crappie, big bass and muskie.

Near month's end as buckeye buds start opening, Eastern Kentucky's bear cubs emerge from cozy dens. April brings spring peepers' voices to their zenith accompanied by a resounding mixed chorus of pickerel frogs and American toads. Luna moths appear, as turkey gobbling peaks and serious egg laying gets underway. Wood ducks are hatching in tree cavities and carefully placed nesting boxes; morel mushrooms begin fruiting in woodlands, and the eerie calling of whippoorwills can be heard along roadsides.

Rich, wooded slopes dotted with large-flower trillium in full bloom accent the rosy glow of redbud and dogwood blossoms. But watch your step while filling your eyes with the glorious wonder lest you stumble over a whitetail's discarded antlers.

Around mid-month, most of the state's spring wildflowers are in full bloom, covering woodland floors. Chimney swifts begin arriving in towns and cities.

As April fades and water temperatures warm, wet a line for smallmouth bass on the banks of Dale Hollow Lake or try spinners for bass in small lakes and farm ponds. Listen as rooster quail call hens to their territorial stake.

Muskrat, bobcat and coyote offspring are born late in the month, followed in early May by the arrival of furry black and white striped skunks. Early May is also the time snake mating peaks.

May plays host to blooming autumn olive and pink and yellow lady slippers while soft breezes sway Eastern Kentucky's spring wildflowers dressed in all their finery. Spring warblers migrate, and Kentucky darters reach their best breeding color in clean, rocky streams.

Around Memorial Day, turkey chicks are ready to break through their tough, calcium encasements and the first quail hatches begin to appear. Gray bats give birth and begin nursing their young in remote Kentucky caves.

Simply taking a walk in the spring woods is refreshing, but when we know what to look and listen for, earth's reawakening can be an enriching experience.

City and state parks as well as wildlife management areas offer excellent opportunities to quietly and unobtrusively observe wildlife in natural settings. Please remember you are a guest in wildlife's domain — Enjoy!

It's not leap frog — it's baseball!

Bassin' with the Pros

FISHING THE TINY TWO-HOOK WORM

At first glance, it looks like a toy, a child's lure to be used for tiny sunfish in a friend's farm pond.

What it really is, however, is one of the most effective lures ever developed for bass.

The four-inch, two-hook "do-nothing" plastic worm.

"These little worms, about half the size of a pencil, have been around since the early 1950s," says Johnson Outboards Pro Staff angler Jerry Rhyne, "and I've caught thousands of pounds of bass with them."

"They were first developed near my home in Denver, N. C., so I've used them since I was a youngster. They're pre-rigged with two little hooks that don't look large enough to hold a bass, but I've caught fish over nine pounds with these worms."

The tiny hooks, says Rhyne, are like razor blades. They cut instantly into the roof of a fish's mouth and will hold as long as the angler keeps a tight line.

"I like to use these worms with a 7-1/2' baitcasting rod and 14 to 17-pound test line," explains the Johnson pro. "The way to rig them is Carolina-style, which involves the use of an egg sinker and a barrel swivel."

"Slip a 3/4-ounce sinker on your line, then tie on the swivel," explains Rhyne. "Next, tie on a three-foot leader of 10-pound test line, and tie on the worm."

"You use a lighter leader because the hooks are exposed and you're going to snag a few on the bottom. The lighter leader will break and save you the swivel and sinker."

Rhyne prefers to fish the worm in 12 to 14-foot of water over ridges and humps where there is a fairly hard gravel or shell bottom. All he does is anchor in deep water and cast across the structure, then simply wind the worm across the bottom.

While the heavy sinker crawls and bounces along the bottom, the little worm floats up and behind it. Bass don't strike it the way they do a regular worm; they simply begin moving away with it.

"You don't really have to set the hook, either," Rhyne adds. "The bass will hook itself if you just make a slight jerk and then keep the line tight."

"Jack Chancellor, another member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff, won the BASS Masters Classic world championship fishing these little worms, so you know they'll catch fish. Nothing could be easier, either, than simply casting and then reeling the lure back to you."

Dugout Dope

By Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

Well, the 1990 Major League baseball season finally got started on Monday evening. I had a chance to watch the Cincinnati Reds on television Monday night because they were playing in Houston and the game started an hour later. I caught (not behind the plate) from the second inning on.

I don't know about you but the game was not all that exciting. I know they just started. I know that they have not had much spring training. But, these are million dollar players and they should stay in shape.

Joe Oliver looks like he will fill the spot behind the plate for the Reds this season. He can hit, has a good arm to throw out runners. I like the newcomer Hal Morris. Morris had a good spring and came off the bench to get a pinch hit single. The bullpen for the Reds, Norm Charlton, Rod Dibble and outlandish Randy Myers, who says that he can live on $15,000 a year, that baseball is not that important to him, will make a solid pen for the Reds. If new manager Lou Piniella will not put up with any foolishness with this year's club, they might surprise some of the predictors who are giving the Atlanta Braves the divisional title.

$19 MILLION CONTRACT
Dave Mattingly has done it, after all. After saying his heart was not in San Francisco, but in New York, the Yankee first baseman became the highest paid player in the history of Major League baseball signing a contract for $19 million dollars for five years. That's almost $4 million a year. Mattingly, like he was going to do the Yankees a favor, promised to play hard the next six years. Six years! The contract is only good for five. Says Mattingly, "I will not negotiate another long term contract. Only one year contracts after this."

Well, Mattingly is the highest paid major leaguer, as of now. Wait until next year. At this rate, the minimum salary will be one million per player in the future.

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL CROWDS ARE LARGER

Boy, it is good to see the good turnout of fans at the high school baseball games this year. The attendance has been much better than last season. One coach attributes the attendance to the increase of newspaper exposure. Maybe. Who knows? But it sure is good to see the fans come out and support their teams.

It always helps a high school player to perform better if the crowds are there and supporting his team. Let's keep it up all the way through the regional tournament and hopefully the state.

LITTLE LEAGUE SEASON GETS UNDERWAY

Getting an early start on the rest of the pack, the Harold-Allen-Prater Little League team started the season yesterday (Tuesday) and will now begin the quest for a championship. The rest of the Little League teams will not start before May although many of the leagues are conducting sign up days. Counting Little Leagues, Pee Wee Leagues, Farm Leagues, Babe Ruth Leagues, we had last season a total of 72 teams in the county, and I understand that some of the leagues are expanding this year. You can count the number of ball fields we have on both hands. I would like to see Floyd County take an interest in our young ball players like Johnson, Pike, Hazard and Martin counties have done. They have spared no expense in providing their young people a place to play baseball. There is a definite shortage of fields in Floyd County. Allen Park is home to the Allen Central, Betsy Layne, McDowell and Alice Lloyd College home games. The Floyd County Babe Ruth League has to wait until the season is over for the high school teams before they can have a field to practice on, then they can only play a 10-game schedule. We need more fields in our county!! Let's put some of our county money to work for our kids.

NON-BASEBALL ITEM

I hope everyone will go out and support the 15th Region All-Stars this Friday night at the Prestonsburg gym. I was there Monday night at practice to take a group picture (which will appear in Friday's paper) and I was awed at the talent on this team.

I can't wait for the games to begin. I still love basketball, even though it is baseball time. The two teams will play again Saturday night at Ashland.

More basketball could be on the way in late May, as plans are being made for Eddie Ford to bring his National All-Star team to the Johnson Central gym for a game against the 15th Region All-Stars. The game hasn't been finalized as of yet, according to Johnson Central coach Alvin Ratliff. I would like to see it become a reality because I think it would be good for the exposure of our young players to college coaches.

Watch Mick!

SPORTS CONTEST

The Floyd County Times has 10 tickets to give away to the 15th Regional and 16th Regional All-Star basketball game to be played this Friday night at 6:30 p.m. in the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse. We will award two tickets to the first five winners in our contest. Just answer the questions in the Sports Quiz and bring your entry to the Floyd County Times office on Central Avenue in Prestonsburg. Entries must be received by Friday, April 13.

West to Eastern, Part 4

Early industry, recreation highlighted by Barbara P. Martin

Contributing Writer

Timber played an important part in the economy of Eastern in its early days, until the supply dwindled. The effect of the Industrial Revolution penetrated into this tiny mountain community and made itself known. Coal mines opened about 1917. There were no unions and wages were puny. The land remained the great supplier until about the 1950s.

The Eastern Carbon Black Company used the abundance of natural gas in the area to produce soot for out of state manufacturing plants. The company's methods resulted in great waste since nothing was produced but soot.

Today, about one mile from the old site stands Kentucky Hydrocarbon. All the products of the burning of natural gas are saved; very little is lost in producing the carbon.

The old "soot factory" did bring with it city-type living: impoundment of water for running water in company houses, electric lights generated from the company's own dynamos. Employees were provided town-type houses, with sidewalks made from wooden boards. Many years afterwards, the subdivision was called "Fairview," and some described it as "over on the hill."

Sports were introduced among the workers, and a Sunday afternoon ball team, with its spectators, is shown in an old photograph I have. The white shirt and tie of my father, Thomas Howard Acree, and his friend depict the pride of the settlement, as does the dress of the ladies. The picture was made in the early 1920s.

In the picture, Ida Rebecca Martin, who became my mother, is relaxing with her hands on Belva Martin's head.

The spot where I now live, on the bank of Right Beaver Creek, was used for baseball, softball and other sports.

The mothers, in my day, also used it for games for their children. The youngsters played Around Town, Red Rover, Pretty Girl Station, Drop Hankie, Rolly Holey, Roll A Tire, etc.

My brother and his friends were taught how to work a bull calf at a very early age. The calf became a constant companion until it became too huge for them to handle. I have a picture of the calf with Sam Oney, son of Will and Elsa Horn Oney; Rhomie Gene Osborne, son of Rhomer and Ada Stephens Osborne, and Lafon Acree, my brother.

In the spring, we hunted for "hump back minnows" and climbed on the giant steam rollers parked after hours where old Highway 80 was being made, about 1935. Horseshoes was also a popular game here. The soil has such a sandy composition that it very well could have once been the bottom of a beaver pond.

Two "knobs" indicate that ancient beaver inhabitants might have had their lodges here since the beginning of time. The knoll on which the home of Mrs. Artie Gayheart sits is made of sandstone. The other one is created by the Bailey Osborne Cemetery, but it is soft sand.

Another knob at the mouth of Goose Creek was bisected by the Highway 80 operations. We had always called it Bunker's Knob. It was here that I found artifacts indicative of primitive or ice age times. Upon close inspection of the cutaway, it appeared to be an ancient house, as soot blackened the sandy walls of a sand-filled cave-like dome. The orange-yellow soft sand indicated tremendous heat had been present. A funnel-shaped space filled with charcoal chips might have caught rain and filtered it into the cave. I have read that Stone Age Man was very intelligent, that he warmed nurseries for his young. But I'll take that up another time.

Martin News

by Nancy Taylor

John Paul Reffett, son of Ellis Raymond Reffett, celebrated his 13th birthday in March.

Ellis Eugene Griffith, son of Wayne C. and Irene Griffith, observed his 28th birthday also in March.

Also celebrating a birthday in March, was Ellis Raymond Reffett, who was 37 years old.

A special belated birthday wish to Rosie Reffett of Martin. Rosie celebrated her 65th on March 19 and received many nice gifts, hugs and kisses from her family and friends.

Brittiana Ann Bates received a trophy for "Best Performance" for a cheerleader's mascot for the Prestonsburg Junior Pro Hawks basketball team. She is the daughter of Kenneth and Phyllis Reffett of Martin. Also winning an award for cheerleading Coach of the Year was Rhonda Bates Chaffins of Martin.

Prestonsburg standout freshman, Carolyn Lynn Reffett, received the "All-Around Conventional" trophy for the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats. She is the daughter of Kenneth and Phyllis Reffett of Martin.

Sympathy is extended to Rosie Reffett and her family over the loss of her husband, Ellis Reffett, March 19. The Reffett family would like to thank everyone "who sent flowers, food or who had a word of kindness to say during the time of sorrow." The thoughtfulness was very much appreciated by the family.

Lori Risner of Martin celebrated her birthday recently. Lori cooked a big supper and invited her family and friends over. She received many nice gifts and it is reported the supper was delicious.

Sympathies are extended to the Wayne C. (Bud) Griffith family over the loss of his brother, Dewey Griffith of Lima, Ohio. Dewey was formerly of Garrett and passed away March 20.

A very happy birthday to Marcella Ward of Martin. Marcella celebrated her birthday on April 3.

Ed and I recently spent the weekend in Richmond where he was covering the Junior Pro State Basketball tournament. We enjoyed visiting the Madison Baptist Church while we were there. We made several new friends there.

Tammy Seal of David celebrated her birthday in March. Her husband, Randy and children, took her shopping and bought her a new outfit. We understand Tammy will be having surgery soon and wish her well and a belated happy birthday.

James Justice and son Jason are spending the week with his mother Polly Justice of Martin. Justice is from Warsaw, Ind., and formerly of Martin.

Returning home from Germany is Chris Allen of Martin. Allen is on leave visiting with his mother, Barbara Allen. He will be going to San Antonio, Texas.

For all your Martin and David news, call me at 886-1237.

Coming of Spring

Just look around — God is everywhere.
As you watch the beautiful trees swaying in the breeze.
As the dew drops sparkle on the leaves.
As the rays of the sun shine through.
When the sun peeps over the hill, the green grass all covered with dew-drops shining so bright.
Everything seems so wonderful and new after the quiet night.
Also see the beautiful flowers just coming through.
After the long winter's sleep to bloom in many colors as they always do.
Then we know, why God sent many showers in April and warm sun in May.
To make the world so beautiful for me and you on this Spring day.
As the small stream of water makes its way,
as you watch it moving along over the rocks
it seems to say:
Be Happy, for all the blessings God has sent on this day.
Remember to thank God when you pray
—Myrtle Berry

Live as Christ Lived

The children that live in a Christ-like home, all through life are mostly likely to never roam.
And if some how, they slip away, they will return with a repented heart in the latter day.

So parents, remember, your children are watching you day by day.
The way you live speaks louder than any world you could ever say.
— Ruby Skeans

Our Morning and Evening Prayer

Dear God, please bless our many friends,
From early morn 'til late at night.
Please keep them in Thy tender care.

Please bless them on life's journey
Until His face they see,
Who gave His life to save the world on DARK MOUNT CALVARY'S TREE.

Please lead them on THE KING'S HIGHWAY
With gladness in their heart
Until they reach that Glory Land
Where loved ones never part.

Please help us as we travel on
To win lost souls to thee,
From Satan's power to praise Thy name
Through all eternity.

And when we reach that Golden Strand
With all our friends to stay,
We'll sing and praise THY HOLY NAME
Forever and for Aye.

Dear God, Please answer thy servant's
Prayer, for Jesus sake.

The Word

I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live:
And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believeth thou this? John:
11; 25, 26

Jesus saith unto her, Woman why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She supposing him to be the gardener, saith unto him, Sir, if thou have borne him hence, tell me where thou has laid him, and I will take him away.
Jesus saith unto her, Mary. She turned herself, and saith unto him, Rabboni; which is to say, Master.

Jesus saith unto her, Touch me not; for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but go to my brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto my Father, and your Father; and to my God, and your God. John: 20; 15-17.

Farewell Dear Friends

Farewell Dear Friends, I must go
My passing has come "Oh So Slow."
I hate to leave this world you know
Even though my life is full of woe.
My life has been full of strife
But for the love of my dear wife
Who has been the joy of my natural life.

Dear Lord at the dawn of another day
I am prompted to try to sing and pray.
Thought the frost is frozen white and hard
Thy Spirit warms my troubled heart.
The house is oh so quiet and still Thy presence here is never Nile.

My purpose here on earth must be
To do the will of him that sent me.
The greatest joy I have ever found
Is to be standing on thy Holy Ground.
To feel thy strong and surging love
Lifting my spirit to Heaven above.

Yet enemy and friends I yet must love
If I'm ever to reach that land above.
I still do pray both night and day
That ye will move my troubles away.
Yes my children so sweet and kind
Them I too must leave behind.

Special Friend

Everyone needs a special friend on whom they can rely
To share their trials and troubles with when they feel the need to cry

Jesus is that special friend
He'll go with you all the way
If you'll only give your heart to Him
He'll be back for you someday

He'll dry the teardrops from your eyes
He'll mend your broken heart
If you'll give your heart to Him today you can make a brand new start

What Does Easter Mean To You?

What does Easter mean to you?
Some colored eggs? A dress that's new?
A leading place in the style parade?
With an Easter suit of the latest shade?
The day for the bunny's little stunt?
The day for the children's Easter Hunt?

But do they know the Easter story?
How Christ arose in all His glory,
And that He died for you and me
And shed His blood to make us free,
That we indeed might live anew?
I hope that Easter means this to you.

I hope you've taught your child with care
The love of God and how to share.
A creature lost and poor you are,
And from God's love have wandered far,
If colored eggs or something new
Is all that Easter means to you!

Beauty

The world is full of beauty
That we can't always see
It may be just a babbling brook or an ordinary tree

It may be just a wild flower or the humming of a bee
It may be just a pretty rock or the waves upon the sea

It may be just a humming bird perched upon a vine
Or it could be a bald eagle sitting in a pine

It could even be the willow tree swaying in the wind
This world is such a pretty place
Its beauty never ends.

Christians' Address

Over 1900 YEARS AGO, Our Father sent forth to this earth
His Son.
Born of the Virgin Mary, conceived of the Holy Spirit, dedicated for the plan of redemption.

Now we are engaged in a war against sin, testing whether the people of this world will serve God or Satan.

We are gathered here in behalf of the Son of God.
Who gave His life that we may have life eternal.
It is altogether fitting and proper that we should love Him who gave His life for us.

In a larger sense, we can not dedicate, we can not concentrate, we can not hallow His name
Until we are born again. It is not in our power to add or detract from the Word of God.

The world will little note or long remember what we say or do here. But it will never forget what Christ did here. It is for us the living to be dedicated to the finished work of Christ.

We should be dedicated to the great task remaining before us, of spreading the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

He gave to the world a full measure of devotion.
We should also give a full measure of devotion to the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost.

Christ has not died in vain.
We should resolve that this nation under God shall be a Christian nation. The government is upon God's shoulders and His name shall not perish from the earth.

ATTEND STATE MEETING
Among those attending the annual state meeting of the Kentucky Retired Teachers Association at the Executive Inn West in Louisville, April 3-4, were Ruby Akers, president of the Floyd County Retired Teachers Association; Virginia S. Goble, first vice president of FCRT and member of the KRTA executive council; Imogene Caldwell, secretary of FCRT, and Danese Amburgey, past president.

A full report of this meeting will be given during the Big Sandy Retired Teachers luncheon meeting at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, on April 11 (today) and at the FCRT luncheon meeting at Stumbo Park, Allen, on June 14.

REBEKAHS HOST FRIENDSHIP NIGHT
Members of Miriam Rebekah Lodge #31 met Tuesday, April 3, with Beverly Hackworth, noble grand, presiding. The regular routine of business was conducted.

The noble grand reminded members that initiation will be May 1, and the Re-Obligation ceremony would take place on this same date. She also told members there would be a rummage sale on May 1-4 in the upper portion of the Hobb's building, next to C & R Office Supply, and asked them to bring items for this event to the next meeting.

The altar was draped in memory of Brother Wilson D. Berkey, sovereign grand master, IOOF, who passed away on March 3.

A report on the recent trip to the Louisa Lodge was given by Roberta Sloan.

The noble grand reported on the Rebekah Lamp Lighters' trip to Mountain Manor Nursing Home here on April 1. She said that after the group participated in singing, she presented Ethel A. Hall, a resident there and a member of this lodge, with her 50-year jewel.

Donna Thomas read an article on the life of Schuyler Colfax, founder of the Rebekah degree.

This being Friendship Night, guests from the Paintsville Lodge were present, and the noble grand presented a program of their behalf and gave each of them a flower. Taking part were Mary Ann Prater, Paulena Owens, Margaret Baldrige, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Debbie Johns and Mamam Leslie.

A covered dish dinner was enjoyed.

The next regular meeting will be Tuesday, April 17, at 7 p.m. at the IOOF Hall.

LAMPLIGHTERS MEET HERE
Attending the Lamplighters' weekly meeting at the First Baptist Tuesday afternoon, April 3, were: Mildred Whitaker, Myrtle Allen, Ada Meade, Thomas Foy, Helen Music, Ora Bussey, Lucy Regan, Alka Burchett, Dixie Webb, Maman Leslie and Patsy Evans.

The meeting was opened by prayer by Evans. After preparing "Here's Hope, Jesus Cares for You" stickers, advertising the revival from July 13-18, to be placed on residential doors, they practiced for the Cantata, which was presented on Palm Sunday.

FETED AT LUNCH
Mamam Leslie observed her birthday on Tuesday, April 3. She was entertained to lunch at May Lodge on that day by two of her longtime friends, Helen Clark and Julia Curtis.

WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS PROGRAM ON LITERACY
Members of the executive board of GFWC/KFWC, Prestonsburg Woman's Club met Thursday, April 5 at 7 p.m. at the club's Arts and Crafts House at Archer Park. President Phyllis Herrick presided. Other members present were Orella McGuire, Linda McGuire, Lee Boswell, Lida M. Howard, Elizabeth Ramey, Dorothy Harris and Docia B. Woods.

Matters to be brought before the club at its 7:30 meeting were discussed.

President Herrick also presided at the regular meeting, welcomed members and guests and led in the Pledge of Allegiance to the American flag.

Lida M. Howard presented the devotions, giving a reading from an item written by Alice G. Buchanan, formerly of Prestonsburg, presently of Lexington, and her aunt, the late Mary Lou Wayne of Prestonsburg, which she had found at the home of her late grandmother, Lida D. Spradlin. Then Mrs. Howard led the group in the Lord's Prayer.

Orella McGuire, first vice president, introduced Ann Greene, coordinator of the Floyd County Adult Literacy Council. She spoke on the subject "Characteristics of Literacy and How We Can Help."

The speaker said that 75 percent of the unemployed in the United States have difficulty with reading and writing; persons with less than a sixth grade education are more likely to be on welfare, and that 60 percent of prisoners in the US are functionally illiterate.

She displayed various kinds of groceries found in local stores and explained that many adults who shop for groceries require assistance in reading labels. The speaker showed special concern for parents who cannot read to their children or help them with homework.

Some of the way she said persons could help the literacy program were: tutoring and teaching, passing out flyers describing the work being done, making donations to the "pennycans" found in local restaurants and other places of business and by "passing along the word" about this program.

On behalf of the club, Orella McGuire presented Greene with a gift.

Following the program, the president called on Lida Howard, who read the minutes; Dorothy Harris, who gave the treasurer's report, and Elizabeth Ramey, who read a note from the Children's Miracle Network Telethon for pediatric services at the University of Kentucky Medical Center, scheduled for June 2-3, stating they would let members know how they might help when the program is finalized.

Ramey also read a note from Judy Burchett, thanking the club for the support given the Touchdown program at Prestonsburg High School.

Lee Boswell, third vice president, reported on the success of the recent rummage sale, held at the Arts and Crafts House, which netted about $384. She thanked those who helped with the endeavor and the Floyd County Times for its valuable publicity.

Eileen Burchett, chairperson of Arts and Crafts, reported on the ceramics items that had been made by members, many of whom had donated their finished creations to the club for sale to the public. She listed as making these donations: Roberta Sloan, Maxine Bierman, Herrick, Beverly and Ishmael Hackworth, Turp Combs, Mabel Brown, Howard, Drema Miller, Harris and Burchett.

Work on ceramics items is done at the Arts and Crafts House each Tuesday, beginning at 10 a.m.

The president announced that these donations had been made recently to the clubhouse by these members: Ramey, air conditioner; Harris, linen table cloth, and Brown, punch bowl and vacuum cleaner.

A second reading of the proposed change in the club's by laws was given by Herrick and approved.

It was decided that a food booth would not be held by the club for the forthcoming Festival of Faces, but that one would possibly be held during the Jenny Wiley Festival this fall.

The president announced that "Club women from all over the country will be celebrating the 100th anniversary of the GFWC's founding on July 2-5, 1990, in New York City. Kentucky Gov. Wallace Wilkinson has proclaimed April 24 as Federation Day in Kentucky and the proclamation will appear in newspapers across the state."

She added that the president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Club, Mrs. Charles Gevedon, "calls all members to send delegates and visitors to the GFWC/KFWC 95th annual convention to be held at the Radisson Plaza, Lexington, April 18-21." The convention theme is "A Celebration of Success."

Lida M. Howard, chairperson of the nominating committee, presented the names of these officers and committee chairpersons selected for the club year, 1990-91, who will constitute the executive board: Linda McGuire, president; Kathy Lowe, first vice president; Sandy Burchett, second vice president; Earlene Nelson, third vice president; Sue Martin, recording secretary; Elizabeth Ramey, corresponding secretary; Dorothy Harris, treasurer; Nan Arnett, membership chairperson, and Docia B. Woods, publicity chairperson.

Hostesses for this event were chairperson Barbara Dawson and Bonnie Spencer, Myrtle Allen, Sharon Sparr, Earlene Daniels and Kathy Lowe.

From a table covered with the white cloth, donated by Harris, and decorated with ceramics pieces donated by club members, cake, Easter candy, soft drinks and coffee were enjoyed by guests Greene and Joy R. Harris, and Herrick, O. McGuire, L. McGuire, Boswell, Howard, Ramey, Harris, Woods, Lowe, S. Burchett, and Mrs. Stuart Stephens and son Ray and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wells attended the horse show at Morehead State University during the past weekend.

RECUOPERATING

HOLY WEEK SERVICES CONTINUE

The Holy Week services are in progress at the First United Methodist Church here. The event is sponsored by the Floyd County Ministerial Association with the Rev. Wayne Burch, pastor of Little Paint Church of God as president, and is in cooperation with the Local Church Women, whose president is Otela Smiley.

Pastors for the remainder of the week and the churches they represent will be: Wednesday, April 11 (today), the Rev. Steve Hopkins, First Baptist Church; Thursday, April 12, the Rev. Timothy Jessen, First Presbyterian; and Good Friday, April 13, the Rev. Wayne Burch, Little Paint Church of God.

Surprise services will be on Easter morning at 7 a.m. at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, with the Rev. French Harmon, new pastor of Allen Baptist Church, bringing the message. Elizabeth Brazier and members of the Prestonsburg High School Honor Choir will present the music.

Meetings from Wednesday through Friday will be at 12 noon, with women of the churches whose pastors are speaking bringing the food, for light snacks to be served by women of the host church.

NAME ADDED

The name of Ruby Akers should be added to the list of Floyd Countians who attended the Kentucky Agricultural Soil Conservation Services' statewide seminar at the Galt House, Louisville, March 26-28. Akers is vice chairperson of this group.

SPRADLIN IMPROVING

The many friends and relatives of Jody Spradlin will be glad to know that she continues to show marked improvement, after having been hospitalized in Lexington earlier in the year for a heart condition.

HAYWOODS HOST GUEST

Jacquelyn Haywood of Belfry visited for a few days recently with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Haywood here.

TEACHERS' REMINDER

Norma S. Stepp, liaison person for the Big Sandy Retired Teachers Association, reminds retired teachers throughout the area of the luncheon meeting to be held Wednesday, April 11 (today) beginning at 9:30 a.m. at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. Imogene Salyer, president of this group, joins Stepp in urging members them to attend.

EASTER CANTATA PRESENTED SUNDAY

The adult choir is composed of Shirlee Branham, Chris Carter, Estill Lee Carter, Lisa Carter, Missy Carter, Peggy Carter, Judy Curnutte, Andy Elliott, Vivian Fraley, Betty Francis, Judy Hookin, Tommy Lafferty, Susan Martin, Charlene Nunn, John Sparr, Denise Stewart, Gerry Vickers, Helen Ann Vickers and John Vickers, Sue Wells and Susie Wells.

Lamplighters are Myrtle Allen, Alka Burchett, Ora Bussey, Johnny Evans, Patsy Adams, Vivian Fraley, Maman Leslie, Eva Meade, Helen Music, Lucy Regan and Dixie Webb.

John Evans portrayed the blind man to whom Jesus restored sight. A large crowd was in attendance. The Rev. Steve Hopkins is pastor.

VISITED SOUTH CAROLINA

Brenda Fish, her daughter Raquel and son Robbie have returned from Myrtle beach, S.C., where they spent a week during the children's spring break.

UMW MEET

The United Methodist Women of the First United Methodist Church here met at the church Monday, April 2.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. It was announced that a bake sale is to be planned for the arts and crafts fairs to be held on June 23 on the church parking lot.

The Cedarmore retreat at Bagdad, Ky., was announced for April 19-21, with the Rev. J. Jeannette Cooper, speaker; Marsha Berry, pianist, and Irene L. Hatton, song leader.

Ladies Day Out will be on Tuesday, April 17. Participants will leave the church parking lot for Paris, Ky., at 7 a.m. on that date.

Donations for tablecloths for the tables were made.

Charlotte McFall, program leader, had as her topic, "Advantages of Recycling, Landfills in Eastern Kentucky and Protection of the Environment." She referred the group to Psalms 21.

Hostesses Help Written and Mabel Jean LeMaster served refreshments to members Gladys Blackburn, Josephine Fields, Clara Bradbury, Edna Carol Greenward, Charlotte McFall, Phyllis Stanley, Geneva Carter, Elizabeth Ramey, Gene Glenn, Alice Harris, Fannie Runnels and Dorothy Wells and to guests Mabel Glenn and Mary Jo Cain.

ANNIE ALLEN CIRCLE VIEWS TAPE

The Annie Allen Circle, WMU, of First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) met Monday, April 2 at 7 p.m. at the home of Roberta Sloan on South Arnold Avenue. President Lucy Regan presided, and Faye Patton opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes were read, and Rebecca Rasnick gave the financial report.

Holy Week services, scheduled for April 9-13, at First United Methodist Church were discussed.

Faye Patton presented Sarah Laven, who played a tape titled "An Alphabet Adventure" in which Laven took both parts of the conversation concerning the Southern Baptist Convention. Following the presentation, she talked of "growth in giving."

Names for a card to be sent to Ruby Garrett were signed.

The permanent watchword, "Laborers together with God," was given. Names of Baptist missionaries observing birthdays during April were read by Eva Collins, and prayer for them was offered by Patsy Evans.

Sarah Laven gave the blessing, after which delicious refreshments of chicken salad, homemade rolls, pie and soft drinks and coffee were served at the dining room table, which was covered with a white linen cloth and held a centerpiece of spring flowers, grown and arranged by the hostess.

Enjoying her hospitality were Regan, Rasnick, Ada Meade, Myrtle Allen, Maman Leslie, Dacia Woods, Julia Curtis, Collins, Patton, Laven, Evans and her grandson Zachary Stanfield.

The next meeting will be Monday evening, May 7, with the location to be announced at a later date.

"A smile can be affordable."

Easter is the most important holiday in the Christian religion and calls for rejoicing, celebrating and feasting. It celebrates the rebirth of Christ and the renewal of nature.

Lamb is often served on the feast of Easter. The lamb offering symbolizes Christ as the lamb of God.

Whole roast lamb or sheep is still prepared in villages in the Holy Land on special ceremonial occasions and family festivities. The outdoor barbecue spit is set up in the garden or rigged up on the beach.

However, a leg of lamb is much easier to prepare than a whole, stuffed lamb and will easily fit in the oven. In The Garden of Eden Cookbook (Harper & Row), Devorah Emmet Wigoder shares a recipe for oven-roasted Leg of Lamb with Herb Paste that will serve 10 to 12 people on Easter Sunday.

OVEN-ROASTED LEG OF LAMB WITH HERB PASTE

- 1 leg of lamb, 4 to 5 lbs.
- Parsley, for garnish
- Herb Paste
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 1 tsp ground rosemary
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 jigger brandy or sherry
- Juice of 1 lemon
- 1 cup chopped fresh mint

In a small bowl, mix all the ingredients for the herb paste. Remove any excess fat from the leg of lamb, and discard. Rub the lamb all over with the herb paste. If possible, wrap it in a plastic bag and leave it in the refrigerator for a few hours.

Preheat the oven to 450 degrees. Roast the lamb for about 2 hours. Turn off the heat, and let the roast rest for 15 minutes. This allows the juices to congeal, and make carving easier.

Slice the lamb and serve with pan juices as a gravy. Or, thicken gravy with cornstarch and water mixed into a paste, or with a prepared gravy mix. Garnish with parsley.

Mint is traditionally served with lamb. If you want extra mint flavor added to the taste of the mint, this recipe for Fresh Mint Cress Chutney from Jeffrey Sapp Brooks' cookbook, The Art of Accompaniment (North Point Press), allows guest to add the desired amount of mint to their lamb to satisfy their own palates.

FRESH MINT CRESS CHUTNEY

- 2 cups chopped fresh mint leaves
- 3/4 cup chopped watercress leaves
- 1/2 cup minced onion
- 1 Tbsp minced gingerroot
- 1 Tbsp fresh lemon juice
- 2 tsps minced lemon zest
- 1/2 tsp minced jalapeno chile pepper
- 1/2 tsp sugar
- 1/4 tsp minced fresh garlic

Combine all ingredients in a medium sized bowl. Serve immediately or refrigerate, covered, for a few hours until ready to use. Will keep several days refrigerated.

Easter weekend also includes egg decorating, egg rolling and Easter egg hunts. Adults who want brightly colored eggs for Easter don't have to dye them or buy foil-wrapped eggs left by chocolate bunnies.

Nature produces the brightest eggs of all, "caviar," with the help of the most ancient symbol of fertility—the fish.

Celebrates 1st birthday

AARON HUBERT DUFF

Aaron Hubert Duff celebrated his first birthday Wednesday, Feb. 28. A party was given on Saturday, March 3, at his home. The theme for the party was the Care Bears.

In attendance were: Teresa and Jada Stanfield, Judy, Dustin and Megan Thornsberry, Rhonda, Mark and Josh Cook, Sheila and J.R. Martin, Sheila, Geoff, Kara and Kedric Stanfield, Heather Newsome, Joyce Hall, Gary Mullins, Karina Combs, Travis Thornsberry, Ruby Stanfield and Greg Stanfield.

The birthday boy is the son of John and Vickie Duff of Dry Creek. His grandparents are Harold Duff of Portsmouth, Ohio, Aileen Duff of Willard, Ohio, and Harvey and Renia Stanfield of Mulberry, Fla., formerly of Dry Creek.

Grethel Homemakers elect officers

The latest meeting of the Grethel Homemakers was Tuesday, April 3, at the Grethel Baptist Church at 6:30 p.m. The meeting was called to order by the president, Arietta Hall.

The devotional, "Words" based on James 3:2, was led by Glenna Evans. The lesson, "Selection of Household Equipment," was taught by Floyd County Extension Agent Frances Pitts. Brochures concerning the lesson were distributed to the group.

An election was held, and the new officers are Arietta Hall, president; Barbara C. Newsome, vice-president; Eileen Martin, secretary; and Shirley Hamilton, treasurer.

Food in Good Season (Alfred A. Knopf), to bring joy to adult palates while kids are hunting for those chocolate and brightly dyed eggs.

EASTER EGG SURPRISE

- 4 white hen's eggs
- 4 Tbsps black, red or golden "caviar" Pepper to taste
- 4 egg cups

Hard-cook the eggs by covering them with cold water and bringing them slowly to a simmer. Remove from heat, cover, and let sit 20 minutes. Drain and cover with cold water until the shells are cool.

With a sharp knife slice off the pointed end of each egg far enough up to remove the contents and yet retain most of the shell. Finely chop together white and yolk and season with pepper. Pack each with a Tbsp of "caviar," then the chopped egg. Reverse the shells into egg cups. Set each place with a sharp knife to crack the shell and a small spoon to remove contents.

Giving up meat for Lent is good for both physical and spiritual well-being. Many people find out how easy it is to abstain from meat during this period and extend their abstinence for months or even years. Others discover they can no longer digest meat and don't feel well after eating it.

And, with media reports of illegal levels of harmful chemicals found in meats becoming commonplace, meat is seen increasingly as an unhealthy food.

If you are a meat abstainer and you wish to continue your healthy ways, here's a suggestion for a delicious Easter lunch. It has all the qualities of the traditional meal — heartiness, fresh spring produce — without the traditional fat and cholesterol.

First, set the table to suit the mood. Meatless cuisine is elegant, colorful and sophisticated. It is not fatty and does not sit heavily and greasily on the plate. So, arrange a table with long white candles, a centerpiece made of spring flowers, and your fanciest spring china.

CREPES IN THE PROCESSOR

From Cooking with Antoine at the Peridord, by Antoine Bouterin (Putnam)

- 1-1/2 cup flour
- 1 Tbsp oil
- 1 egg

- 1-1/2 cups milk
- Salt
- Oil or butter

Mix the flour, oil and egg in the processor briefly, pulsing it on and off. Pour in the milk, add a pinch of salt and blend well. Let the batter rest in the refrigerator for 30 minutes. Heat 2-3 Tbsps oil or butter in a 6-7-inch pan. Pour in 1-1/2 generous Tbsps of batter and let it run to the edges of the pan. Cook over medium-high heat until crepes are lightly browned on each side, about 1 minute a side. Repeat until all the batter is used. Crepes will keep up to 2-3 days in the refrigerator, stacked on a plate and covered with plastic wrap, or longer in the freezer. Reheat them in a 350 degree oven.

For the ratatouille:

- 3 Tbsps olive oil
- 1 clove garlic
- 1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms
- 5 small zucchini, sliced into 1/4 inch thick pieces

- any inexpensive white wine
- 1 1/2 oz. can crushed tomatoes
- Black pepper
- Basil
- Oregano
- Grated mozzarella cheese

Fry the garlic in the olive oil in a large skillet. Add the mushroom and the zucchini. Pour in 1/2 cup white wine and simmer until the mushrooms give up their liquid. Add the tomatoes and spices and simmer for another 15-20 minutes. (The consistency must not be too watery or it will make for soggy crepes.)

Put a few spoonfuls of ratatouille in the center of the crepe and sprinkle some mozzarella cheese on top. Either fold the crepe as you would an omelet or roll it up. Warm in a 300 degree oven for 10 minutes. Serve.

CHILLED STEAMED ASPARAGUS WITH CHERVIL DRESSING

From Special Occasions by John

- Hadamsucin (Harmony Books)
- Juice of 2 lemons
- 2 Tbsps chopped chervil
- 1 large egg yolk
- 2/3 cup olive oil
- 2 lbs. tender young asparagus

Serves 8
Whisk together the lemon juice, chervil and egg yolk in a small bowl. Gradually whisk in the oil until the mixture is creamy and smooth. Cover and chill. Whisk for a minute or so just before serving.

Trim the asparagus of any fibrous ends and steam it in a vegetable steamer over simmering water until it is crisp-tender and turns a bright emerald green no more than 5 minutes. Remove to a colander and place under cold running water until it is cool. Drain the asparagus and chill it until serving time.

To serve, arrange asparagus spears on a salad plate and drizzle a small amount of dressing over them.

Quotes and Quibbles

Coordinated by Sandra Robertson, PCC Director of Library Services

People and Pets by T. Mark Miller PCC Sociologist

Everyday I am awakened by this cold, wet nose. My alarm clock has yet to go off, but somebody's bladder alarm has gone off, and that somebody wants to go out into the backyard and do some business.

She barks all the time, not to say a burglar is trying to break-in, but she just to announce the wind is blowing. She eats like a horse, and she likes expensive dog food. She runs up vet bills.

When she's in the mood, she can chew through my finest pair of shoes in no time. Why do I put up with this "Hound from Hell?" Why would anyone?

The facts are that over half of all the households in the US have some kind of pet. Even more interesting, some studies suggest that over half of all dog and cat owners allow their pets to sleep in the bed with them. My dog, Trixie, has an interesting approach to this phenomenon. She allows me to turn in for the night, while she acts like she is faithfully guarding the floor underneath the bed.

After I fall asleep, she steals up upon the bed and slowly bulldozes me out of the soft warm spot under the covers. By morning, I am contorted up into a little ball on the corner of the bed she has graciously allowed me to retain. Why do I put up with this? Why would anyone?

Whatever the reason, humans have had pets for a long time. The domestication of animals by humans has been going on for over 30,000 years. How could our early ancestors have known that a pet conspiracy was in the works? How could they have known that one day pets would rule men and make them their servants?

In all seriousness, what is it about pets that humans love so much? Do pets teach us about ourselves as humans? Do they act human? Or do we personify pets and project ourselves upon them, giving them human traits which they really do not possess?

I would argue that it does not matter, because whatever the case, pets provide important benefits for humans. The benefits of pet ownership are physiological, psychological and social. These benefits of pet ownership greatly outweigh the cost. This is why I put up with my dog, and I think that this is why most people put up with their pets.

The three-fold benefits of pet ownership are closely related. First and most interesting is the research which suggests that pet owners live longer than non-pet owners. Research has shown that a pet has a very calming effect upon humans. Pets reduce stress and they lower blood pressure. Pets also give us emotional releases. There is a psychological benefit in holding a soft, fuzzy, warm thing. It is pleasing. It makes us happy. We talk to our pets. We tell them our troubles. They give us emotional security and they make us laugh.

Bruce Fogle, in his book Pets and Their People, makes the case that laughter is one of the most important benefits of pet ownership. When we do stupid things, pets do stupid things. Pets allow us to laugh at them and ourselves.

Pets also provide social benefits. If it is true that humans are social animals, and I strongly believe this, pets provide an opportunity for affection, when it is otherwise not available. If everyone needs to be wanted at sometime or another, pets can always provide that affection.

For example, no matter how bad my day has gone, whether I'm richer or poorer, my dog still gives me unremitting affection when I get home. When the rest of the world is down on me, I can always count on a wagging tail from my dog. Pets can also provide an important role in child rearing.

Older children can play safely with kids and take some of the burden off tired parents. A pet can also be an important step in a child's progression toward social maturity. We start our kids off with stuffed animals. Later, almost all children yearn for a real animal. A child can learn a great deal about simple relationships with pets that can be beneficial in later social relationships.

Another important role that pets may play is in linking us to a more natural world. In this high technology, hustle-bustle world, animals remind us of simpler truths that are sometimes lost in our everyday lives. The need to be reminded of simple natural things may be especially important for city dwellers, but it can be important to all humans.

A few months back, I experienced a situation that brought me back to a simpler truth. I was driving a curvy two-lane road going toward the Kentucky-Virginia state line. I had a late start and I was in a big hurry. Today, I cannot even remember why I was in such a mood. I am sure I was upset about how certain people had made me late. I was mad at the state for not building and maintaining better roads. I hated the drivers in front of me for not driving faster. I hated the coal trucks and the drivers for tearing up the roads. I did not have a kind word for any human being alive. Then something happened.

I hit a long, clear, uphill stretch. About halfway up the hill, I saw something in the road. I could not make it out. As I got closer, I saw that it was two dogs lying in the middle of the road. "What kind of stupid dogs would lie in the middle of the road," I thought. I started to beep my horn and as I got closer one of the dogs stood up and looked at me, but held its ground.

As I slowed and pulled into the passing lane I noticed that the one dog had been hit by a car and was dead. I found it so amazing that the other dog seemed determined to stand fast by the fallen body of another dog. As I went further up the hill, I saw in the rearview mirror, the standing dog lay back down by its lost friend and continue its vigil. I remember thinking to myself, "If only humans had such dedication to their fellow man."

Here I was, all caught up in my own little frustration with everyone and everything, when in reality, I had no just cause. I shed a tear for those two dogs and I learned a lesson in social bonding as well. Never again can I be in a huff, mad at the world, and not thinking about those two dogs lying in the road together.

I cannot remember a time when my family did not have pets and I hope I never go without. Animals help humans in many ways. They are good for lowering blood pressure. They reduce stress. They make us laugh. They provide emotional security. They teach us temperance and humility. And sometimes, they show us the path back to our own hearts. I think that the many benefits of pets to humans was best said by the poet, Ogden Nash:

I marvel that such Small ribs as these Can cage such vast Desire to please.

Happy Birthday, Seniors

He is a 1983 graduate of Prestonsburg High School.

Mini Miss Pike County

Wendy Leigh Watson, 4-year-old daughter of Larry and Stella Watson of Harold, won the title of Mini Miss Pike County on Saturday, March 31, at the Pikeville Elementary School. She also won Miss Sophisticate in the 4-5 year old division. She is the granddaughter of Lizzie Rose and Jimmy Rose of Betsy Layne and Melvina and the late Wilburn Watson of Dana.

Nat'l Guard to collect for Easter Seals

Volunteers from the National Guard post in Prestonsburg will collect contributions for Easter Seals on April 14 during their annual "Bucket Brigade" at traffic points throughout the area.

The Kentucky Army National Guard has set a goal of $200,000 for combined collections by guard members, assisted by state workers, during the statewide collection campaign.

Since 1971, the state National Guard has collected more than $1 million for Easter Seals.

The funds support the statewide direct service programs of the Kentucky Easter Seal Society to persons with disabling conditions. Each year, the society serves more than 23,000 disabled people.

Tall Tale Campers start season

The Tall Tale Campers made their first trip for the 1990 camping season by traveling to Franklin, Ohio, the last weekend in March. They made a surprise visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aldo "Red" Miller, surprising Mr. Miller for his birthday.

The members taking part in this surprise were George and Laura Vaughan; Don and Maxine Goble; Dallas and Ruby Sammons; Tom and Mary Nell Bingham, and Erica McKinney. All had a delightful time camping in the back yard only to wake up the next morning to a 4-5 inch snow.

Gobles visit

Dr. and Mrs. Ronnie Goble of Huntington, W. Va., spent the weekend here visiting their parents, Don and Maxine Goble and David and Peggy Hereford, and other relatives.

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT

89-CI-695

The First Guaranty National Bank, Plaintiff

VS: NOTICE OF SALE

Sam Hall, Eva Hall, his wife and Floyd County, Ky., Defendants

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the March 12 term, 1990, in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 13 day of April, 1990, at 10:00 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of three (3) months, the following described property, to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land, lying and being on the waters of Bill Hall Branch of Frasure Creek in Floyd County, Ky., being the same property conveyed Sam Hall and Eva Hall, his wife, by deed from Leonard Hall and Tessie Hall, his wife dated February 1974, recorded in Deed Book 215, page 469, Floyd County Clerk's Office, containing six (6) acres, more or less, and being more particularly described as follows, viz:

Beginning at an iron pipe at the Bill Hall Branch and running straight across the bottom to a pine tree; thence running straight up the hill to a beech tree; thence running straight up the hill to an oak; thence running straight to the Ep Brown line to a maple tree; thence with the Ep Brown line back to the beginning.

That certain tract or parcel of land, lying and being on the waters of Bill Hall Branch of Frasure Creek in Floyd County, Ky., being the same property conveyed Sam Hall and Eva Hall, his wife, by deed from Leonard Hall and Tessie Hall, his wife, dated June 24, 1976, recorded in deed book 225, page 551, Floyd County Clerk's Office, containing three (3) acres, more or less, and being more particularly described as follows, viz:

Beginning at an iron stake at the mouth of the Slick Rock Hollow and running with said Hollow to the top of the point at Epp Brown's line; thence with said Brown's line down the point to Sam Hall's line; thence from Sam Hall's line to the creek; thence with said creek back to the beginning.

These tracts will be sold together as a whole. The purchaser will be required to pay all property taxes due Floyd County, Ky.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $18,339.65, accrued interest of $2,180.74 and with interest thereon at 12% annually from the 12 day of March, 1990 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 26 day of March, 1990.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING

The Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet is initiating an investigation of the impacts of pre-1977 mining on ground water quantity and quality in the Weeksbury-Jacks Creek area of southern Floyd County. Beyond the communities of Weeksbury, Melvin and Bevinville (Jacks Creek), investigation of ground water (i.e., well water) contamination problems along all of Jacks Creek, the headwaters of the Left Fork of Beaver and Abner Fork, as well as in the various hollows in this area, will be included in the study.

The Cabinet's Division of Abandoned Lands, in conjunction with the Office of the Floyd County Judge/Executive, has scheduled a public meeting for Thursday, April 12, 1990, at 6:00 p.m. at the Melvin Elementary School.

The purpose of this meeting will be to explain the scope and schedule of the ground water investigation, and to solicit input from affected citizens. The results of the investigation will be used to determine if monies from the Abandoned Mine Land (AML) Reclamation Fund can be used to abate any identified problems.

All interested persons are encouraged to attend and participate in this meeting. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Division of Abandoned Lands, 618 Teton Trail, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, (502) 564-2141.
