Flu Epidemic Hits County, Spurs School Shutdown

by Tess A. Whitmer
Staff Writer

The flu epidemic that has been traveling throughout the state, prompting school closings in at least 19 school districts, has finally hit Floyd County. All schools in the county will be closed for the remainder of the week, according to Superintendent Ronald Hager.

"Hopefully this will give the children that are sick a chance to recover without infecting others," Hager said.

He noted that students are not the only ones affected by the virus. Several teachers and bus drivers have called off sick and substitutes are getting hard to find. Tuesday, the board reported an 88.6 percent attendance rate, the lowest at Allen Central, 81.2, and the highest at Harold Elementary, 96.9.

The attendance rate has been on a steady decline since Tuesday, Jan. 16, Hager noted, and has now dropped below state mandated levels, prompting the school closings. This shutdown will extend the county release date to Monday, June 11, Hager commented, and makes the 15th day this year the schools have had to close.

Area hospitals and clinics have reported about 300 cases of persons with the flu or flu-like symptoms in their emergency rooms. Only a small number of those have actually been admitted to the hospital.

According to Debbie Bentley, executive secretary at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, several children have been referred by area physicians for admittance with pneumonia, starting from the flu. Highlands Regional Medical Center and McDowell Appalachian Health Center report similar findings.

Dr. Blake Burchett of Prestonsburg said that the high risk groups are the elderly and those with other health problems, such as diabetes, lung disease (emphysema) and heart disease. Although he noted that a large number of young children have been seen with symptoms, he attributed this to the number of contacts the children have with other students at the schools. According to Burchett, the time flu is most contagious is while the patient has the fever.

The contagious aspect is a number one concern with the school board, but also of note is the amount of money the school system may lose if classes continue with a high absentee rate.

Thomas Tackett, principal at Prestonsburg Elementary, reported 135 children out of school Tuesday and noted that he had sent another 10 to 12 students home that morning with the symptoms.

"My rough calculations show that at 86 percent attendance (at PES), the county loses $780 which it'll never see again," Tackett said. "In my opinion it couldn't be any worse if we had eight inches of snow outside. The children with the illness look quit peaked and they are vomiting."

Tackett noted that children who are out of school typically remain absent for an average of three to five days. Burchett said he has had one patient who had the symptoms for as long as 10 days.

He explained that some of the symptoms are a high fever, coupled with muscle aches, sore throat, upset stomach, diarrhea and a cough. He recommends that people with such troubles avoid aspirin, especially children, and take something like Tylenol. Also, they should drink a lot of liquids and get plenty of rest.

One of the secondary complications of the flu is dehydration, which requires a hospital stay to cure. Also a danger is the possibility of pneumonia and bronchitis.

There is a medication that can help those with true flu to prevent the onset of symptoms or to relieve them once they've begun, Burchett noted. This medication is Amantidine and must be started within the first 24 to 48 hours of the onset of the fever, otherwise it is of no use. "Antibiotics will not help with the flu, but may help with the secondary infection such as bronchitis and throat infections," Burchett said.

Amantidine, a prescription drug, runs about $5.70 for the generic adult dose for five days and $8.80 for the brand name Symmetrel, according to the pharmacist at Rite Aide.

Increased Return on Coal Severance Tax Possible

by Frank Clark
Staff Writer

What would a $70 million per year increase in coal severance tax revenue do for the economic and infrastructural development of Eastern Kentucky?

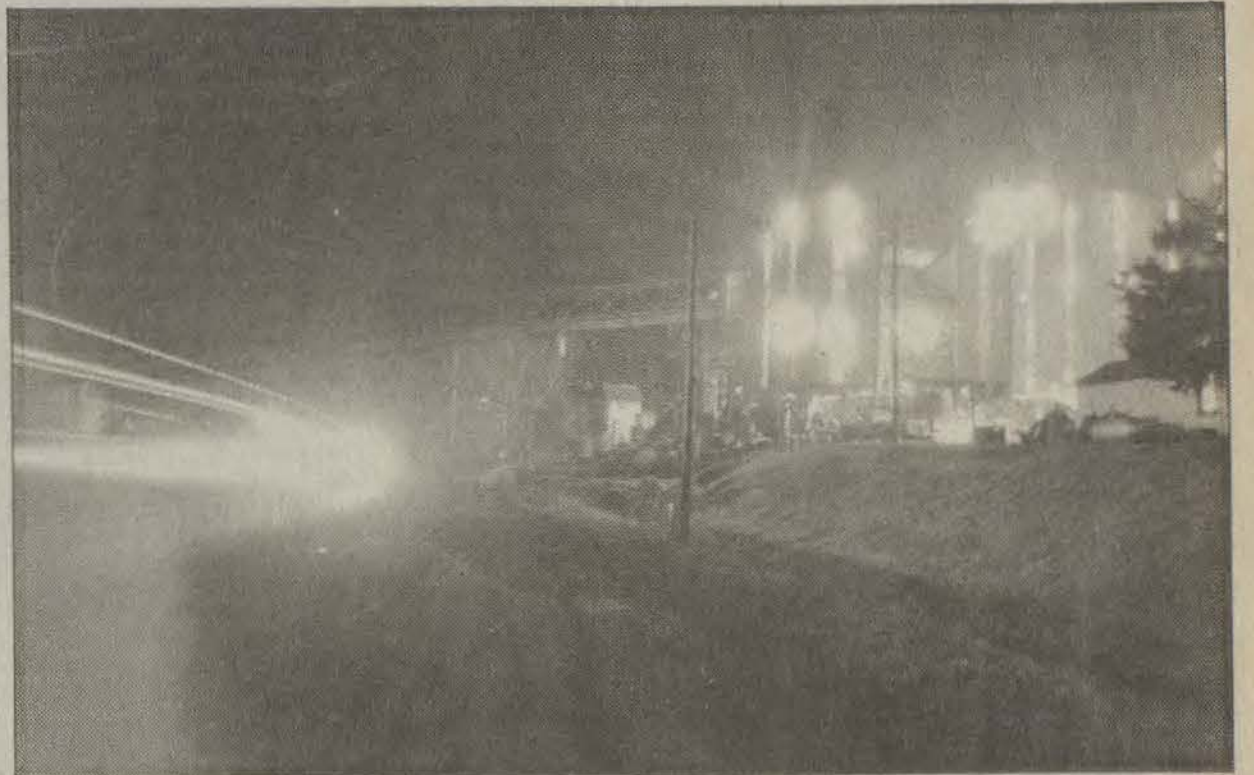

Area legislators are hoping to find out, as they prepare to file a bill which will request a 38 percent increase in the amount of severance taxes returned to the 44 coal-producing counties of Eastern Kentucky.

The coal severance tax has long been a point of controversy between mountain legislators and state representatives from central and western Kentucky. Many in Kentucky's Appalachian region believe that a greater tax return from coal production is both warranted and needed to meet basic water, sewage, and other infrastructural needs of area residents.

"I believe that this tax should be returning to our area a greater portion of the value of the coal which is being removed," said State Rep. Greg Stumbo. "We (area representatives) have always pushed for a greater

Source Of Wealth, But Whose?

This coal tippie at David, brightly lit for late night processing, is just one of hundreds of coal production facilities in Eastern Kentucky. Last year, about $181 million in coal severance taxes were collected by the state from the mining industry, but only $22 million, or 12 percent of the total, was returned to the region. Area legislators think this is inadequate and plan to introduce a bill designed to increase the tax return to the region.

Times Wins KPA Awards

The Floyd County Times brought home three awards, including two first place prizes, from the Kentucky Press Association winter convention last week in Louisville.

The Times won first place for a general news story, written by former editor Anne Chaney, and first place for an investigative/analytical story, written by present editor Pam Shingler. A spot news picture by Chaney took second place in that category.

The Times' awards were in the Weekly Class III division, for larger circulation weeklies. Judging covered articles and photographs published between Jan. 1 and June 30, 1989.

"We are very proud of the KPA recognition," said Times' publisher Marty Backus, who accepted the awards at the convention on behalf of the newspaper staff. "We're proud of every aspect of the paper and we intend to continue to strive for all around excellence, not just to win awards but to better serve the people of Floyd County.

"Our goal is to have one of the best local newspapers in Kentucky, one that our readers not only need to read, but also want to read," Backus said.

Other area papers winning awards from KPA were Troublesome Creek Times in Hindman and Appalachian News Express in Pikeville.

The Hindman paper, in the category of Weekly Class II, won first place, investigative/analytical story; second place, column-variety of subjects; third place, sports column, and honorable mention, sports story and general news picture.

The three-times weekly News Express, in the category of multi-weekly, took second place, sports column and sports feature; third place, sports story and general news picture, and honorable mention, general news story and spot news picture.

Council Looks at Sidewalks, Gives Incentive Pay to EMTs

Sidewalks, personnel matters and citizen concerns filled the Prestonsburg City Council agenda at its Monday night meeting.

Spurred by a request from Floyd County School Superintendent Ronald Hager for the city to construct sidewalks in the area of the new middle school, council members also discussed the need for sidewalks on University Drive from Prestonsburg High School to Prestonsburg Community College and on US 23 from Combs bridge to Archer Park.

"A kid on a bicycle can't get from here (the Municipal Building) to Archer Park," said Councilman Bill Collins, referring to the need for a walking area along that stretch of highway. Council members agreed on the need for sidewalks in the three areas, but because each proposed site is along a state-regulated highway, they voted to set a meeting with state highway officials to discuss the sidewalk construction.

Council heard first reading of a proposed ordinance that would revise class titles, grades and numbers of authorized city positions. The revision calls for the addition of a city revenue officer, two police officers, two firefighters and a part-time dispatcher.

In some positions, the proposal calls for combining job grades and See COUNCIL, Page 8

Pharmacist Free On $50,000 Bond

by Frank Clark
Staff Writer

Martin Pharmacist Ronald Lee Reid was released on a $50,000 secured bond in Lexington Friday, following his arrest Thursday, along with former Floyd County doctor George Sullivan.

The arrests followed a two-year investigation by federal Drug Enforcement Administration agents into an alleged conspiracy to illegally distribute prescription drugs in Floyd and Perry County, involving Sullivan, his wife, Linda Bates Sullivan, Reid, and three health care workers.

As reported in the Friday edition of the Floyd County Times, five persons were taken into custody by DEA agents, on 546 separate counts related to illegal prescription drug distribution.

A sixth person, Woodrow W. Phillips, Jr., 34, of Seco agreed to turn himself in Monday on charges of conspiracy to distribute narcotics. Phillips, a police officer in Fleming-Neon in Letcher County and a former health care worker, faces the possibility of five years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

The DEA became involved in the case two years ago, shortly after Sullivan, 51, purchased the Beaver Valley Medical Clinic in Martin in October of 1987, with partner Douglas Fleming of Van Lear. According to DEA Diversion Investigator Leah Sells, Sullivan applied for a DEA registration number at that time, in order to dispense prescription drugs. However, because of a prior felony drug conviction, involving the illegal distribution of prescription drugs in Tennessee in 1981, Sullivan was not eligible to receive authorization to dispense the drugs. Apparently, this didn't prevent Sullivan from writing prescriptions, some of which were allegedly filled by Reid at his Martin pharmacy.

"We had a search warrant issued in August of 1988 for the Beaver Valley Clinic and for the Vicco Clinic in Perry County that Sullivan also operated," said Sells. "Our purpose was to insure that no controlled substances were present in the clinics. We also seized records at that time. At that point, we knew that controlled substances were being prescribed."

Sells clearly stated the DEA's position on Reid's alleged illegal actions.

"Reid has been indicted for conspiracy to distribute prescription drugs illegally," said Sells. "The indictment states that he did this knowingly."

The Martin clinic was closed by Sullivan and Fleming in November. See PHARMACIST, Page 2

Grethel Man Found Shot

A Grethel man was found dead Friday in his home, killed, according to Floyd County Deputy Coroner Glen Frazier, by two close range shotgun blasts to the stomach.

R.S. Newsome Jr., 56, was discovered about 10 a.m. Friday by his brother-in-law Orville Frasure. State police report that Newsome had been dead about 36 hours, prior to being found.

Floyd County Deputy Danny Gerald was first on the scene, securing the house for state police investigators. Frazier, who was also involved in the investigation, stated that the case was being investigated as a homicide. He also noted that the weapon that killed Newsome was probably in contact with the deceased's body when the shots were fired.

"There wasn't much external damage to the victim," said Frazier. "I'd suggest, from my observations, that the death was quick. He would have become unconscious very quickly from the shock of the wounds."

Reportedly, Newsome also had two knife wounds on his upper body. Both Frazier and Deputy Gerald noted that robbery did not appear to be a motive for the killing. Gerald said that nothing seemed to be missing from Newsome's residence.

An autopsy was conducted on Saturday but results haven't been released as of Tuesday. The death is currently under investigation by the state police. KSP investigators have not reported the death as a homicide.

Rising from the Earth

Construction is progressing rapidly on the new 500-seat convention center at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, despite some minor delays due to bad weather. Park representatives say the center should be completed and ready for service by early autumn. It reportedly will be the largest convention in Eastern Kentucky.

Splash-Splash!

Rain is coming again to our region during this wet January.

Wednesday will be partly cloudy, with highs in the mid-50s. Rain will move into the area Wednesday evening, with mostly cloudy skies and a 60 percent chance of the wet stuff.

Thursday will see a continuation of rain and a high of 50 degrees.

Job Authority Selects P-Burg For Conference

A Sunday meeting of the Eastern Kentucky Job Creation Authority at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park resulted in a tentative decision to hold an industrial support conference next summer in Prestonsburg.

According to Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, the purpose of the conference will be to promote industrial involvement and support for the newly created authority. The authority seeks to encourage the diversification of Eastern Kentucky's economy.

Gov. Wallace Wilkinson has allocated $250,000 for the project, if the job authority can raise matching funds.

Lees May Become Four Year College

JACKSON—Lees College received approval from its Board of Trustees last week to examine the possibility of becoming a four-year institution. Projections on enrollment, the need for a four-year private liberal arts college in the Jackson area, potential economic benefits, and a poor outlook for the survival of private two-year colleges were among the major reasons cited, which prompted board members to approve the investigation. According to school officials, becoming a four-year school would allow the college to retain more students from its current market and attract students from a new market share. The community, it is believed, will benefit from new jobs and from revenue generated by additional students.

Pike Man Dies In Fall From Bridge

MINGO COUNTY, W. Va.—A Belfry man died last week in a fall from a bridge, following an auto accident. Howard Scott, 31, was found by state police beneath a 100-foot high bridge near the Logan/Mingo border. He apparently was traveling north on Corridor G near Holden, when his vehicle crossed the four lane and crashed into the side of the concrete bridge. The vehicle did not go over the side, but Scott left the vehicle and apparently fell. Alcohol use is being considered as a possible factor in the mishap, according to West Virginia State Police. (Appalachian News-Express)

Johnson Woman Killed In Car Wreck

JOHNSON COUNTY—A Staffordville woman was killed early Friday morning in a single car accident near Paintsville. Mahala J. Crabtree, 27, was traveling south on KY 2039, four miles west of Paintsville at about 12:35 a.m., when she lost control of her 1980 Oldsmobile. She crossed the northbound lane and ran into a ditch. The vehicle then crossed back onto the highway and went over an embankment on the other side of the road. The vehicle overturned and partially ejected Crabtree. Johnson County Coroner J.R. Frisby pronounced Crabtree dead at the scene. State police report that no seatbelt was worn during the accident.

"Project Grab" To Stop Underage Alcohol Purchase

EASTERN KENTUCKY—A drive by the state Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) to prevent the selling of alcohol to underage drinkers began operations last weekend in Pike and Floyd County. ABC agents operated out of J & J Liquors in Betsy Layne and Town Mountain Liquors in Pikeville Friday night, checking for underage purchasers, and issuing citations to offenders. The project is designed to address four specific problems. It tries to stop minors from attempting to buy alcohol, to prevent "turkers" from buying for minors, and to prevent intoxicated persons or impaired drivers from purchasing alcohol. ### Slides, Derailments and Cave-Ins

This railroad tunnel, which runs under KY 550 near Hueysville, proved to be an unlucky spot for CSX Railroad last Friday. A rockslide occurred near the tunnel as a train was passing through. The loaded train derailed on the debris, causing the collapse of a portion of the tunnel. The section of KY 550 above the tunnel has been closed to traffic until the situation can be assessed. An estimated $100,000 in damages was suffered by CSX during the incident.

return from the severance tax, but the coal-producing counties just didn't have the numbers to get it passed." Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo agrees that a greater tax return is needed. "There's no question that we need more returned to the area," said Stumbo. "Coal money comes out of our area. At least half of it should come back. We badly need funds to improve our waterplant capabilities." The coal tax, presently set at 4.5 percent of the price of all processed coal, yielded about $180.6 million in fiscal 1989, according to state Revenue Cabinet figures. About $21.7 million of that, or 12 percent, was returned to the 44 Eastern Kentucky counties. The remaining $159 million was placed in the state General Fund.

Under a new bill which should be introduced this week in Frankfort, a 50 percent return from the coal tax will be requested for coal counties. These new funds would be targeted specifically for improving water and sewage facilities, and other tangible infrastructure projects in the area.

Because the coal-producing region hasn't been assigned any significant bond-funded construction projects in the state's 1991-92 budget, area legislators feel that the bill might receive the support of legislators outside the region.

"This is a good time to try and change the severance tax," said State Rep. Russell Bentley. "There's been a number of other bond issues proposed for other parts of the state. If legislators need votes for their bond issues, we have some leverage on this bill."

Greg Stumbo agrees. "Basically, we can support these other projects (a world trade center in Lexington, an airport expansion in Louisville) if we're supported on the severance tax," said Stumbo.

Aside from improving infrastructural services, Stumbo believes a portion of the severance tax return could be combined with federal funds to develop a clean coal technology center to deal with the problem of coal pollution. Stumbo suggested that such a center should be located within Eastern Kentucky, where the coal is produced.

Both Bentley and Stumbo noted the need for some of the tax funds to be diverted into an economic development fund.

"If coal is going to run out in our area in the next 30 to 50 years, as some experts suggest," said Bentley, "...we need to diversify economically so as to be ready for it."

Judge-Executive Stumbo estimates that Floyd County currently receives about $800,000-$1 million per year in severance tax and mineral tax returns.

of 1988. The Vicco Clinic continued to operate until Nov. 28, 1989, when it was destroyed by a fire under allegedly suspicious circumstances, prior to a records check by authorities.

Sullivan practiced medicine briefly in past weeks, following a December reinstatement of his medical license, with a Mountain Comprehensive Health Corporation clinic near Whitesburg, prior to his arrest last week.

Sullivan is being held in the Fayette County Detention Center, after stating that he was unable to make a $10,000 cash bond. Reid was released Friday on a $50,000 secured bond. Fleming and Linda Bates Sullivan were both released on $2,500 secured bonds. James C. Taylor of Paintsville was released on bond Monday.

According to a report in the Louisville Courier-Journal, Richard Ross, executive director of the Kentucky Pharmacy Board, noted that the board will review Reid's pharmacy license in light of the recent federal indictment. Reid's 1989 license has expired, said Ross, but may be renewed up until Feb. 1.

Flu Epidemic

member and has had an onrush of more people requesting the shots since the spread of the epidemic, according to Joy Moore, RN, nurse supervisor at the health department.

Moore recommends that those who have not contracted the flu yet should get the shot.

To qualify, a person must be 60 or older or have a note from their doctor. The shot costs $3, but no one will be turned away if they cannot afford it, Moore noted. The shot may produce side effects with flu-like symptoms, Moore continued, but many people won't experience these.

Although it is reported to affect the elderly the most, only the River-view Manor Nursing Home cites an outbreak of the disease. Mountain Manor Nursing Home personnel said that they haven't been hit yet, and all the Senior Citizens Centers in the area, except Martin, reported no major drop in attendance.

"We try to keep our seniors healthy with exercise and proper diet, and should anyone come in with the symptoms, we recommend they stay at home so as not to infect the rest of the members," Patsy Evans, Prestonsburg center director, said. She also noted that she has been trying to keep the seniors updated on the epidemic and its symptoms and precautionary measures.

Lois Curry, Wheelwright center director, said "We are so far out here that things like the flu don't get to us, as a matter of fact our attendance has picked up in the past few weeks."

Local Accident Injures Pike Woman

A Pike County woman was critically injured Friday, when the pickup she was driving collided with a tractor trailer in Prestonsburg.

Debbie B. Collins, 36, of Rockhouse, was waiting for the spotlight at the intersection of US 23 and KY 114, at about 7:40 p.m. According to witnesses, the light allowing for north-south traffic to proceed turned green. Collins apparently thought this allowed her to turn left onto KY 114.

As she made the turn, a tractor trailer driven by Ira Cody of Garrard and owned by Howard and Sons Trucking entered the intersection. The truck struck Collins' vehicle on the driver's door, spinning it around 360 degrees. The pickup then struck the tractor trailer in the rear, where it came to rest.

According to Prestonsburg Police Officer R.J. Conn, smoke was pouring from the pickup truck's engine when he arrived on the scene. The accelerator was damaged, causing the engine to rev and spinning the back tire of the vehicle. The Prestonsburg Fire Department arrived on the scene and doused the engine and rear tire with water and chemical foam, preventing danger of fire.

Collins was removed from the vehicle using the Jaws of Life. She was transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center and then taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Huntington, W. Va.

Collins was reported in critical condition with a fractured skull, fractured shoulder, four broken ribs, and a severe laceration on her head.

Prestonsburg Fire Chief Tom Blackburn noted that Friday's Jaws of Life rescue was the city's first use of the rescue equipment, which was purchased about six months ago.

Fires Reported In Three Areas Of County

This past week saw three fires causing extensive damages to the homes in Martin, Auxier and Dwale. Martin area firefighter Herschel Lester reported a trailer fire near the Beaver Valley Clinic. The home owned by Darrell Little was unoccupied at the time, and the blaze was reported by a neighbor at around 4 p.m. on Thursday. By the time the fire truck arrived 15 minutes later the dwelling was completely gone, according to Lester. The cause of the fire is unknown and there were no injuries.

Howard Ferguson noted that Auxier and Prestonsburg firefighters responded to a fire at Spradlin Branch Tuesday morning around 11:45 a.m. The home ablaze belonged to Thomas Spradlin, and Ferguson said the flames were through the roof when the firefighters arrived. Apparently the home sustained extensive damages.

A third fire happened in Dwale early Tuesday morning and injuries were reported. Raymond Mitchell's home was unoccupied when flames started in the upstairs area, according to reports from the Allen Fire Department. Firefighters received the call at 1:37 a.m. and responded with 13 personnel and two trucks.

One of the men who came to fight the fire, Billy Jarvis, was injured when he fell on the debris-strewn stairs. He was taken to Our Lady of the Way Hospital where he was treated.

Water Concerns Over Drilling Addressed by W'wright Board

Concerns over the danger of water contamination to Wheelwright's water supply, posed by a proposed natural gas drilling project, focused attention at last Thursday night's Wheelwright Town Council meeting.

Fred Salisbury, chief engineer for Wheelwright Mining Inc. and a Wheelwright resident, explained the potential threat to council members and citizens.

Apparently, Equitable Resources Exploration, based in Kingsport, Tenn., has proposed three local natural gas drilling locations which, according to Salisbury, could contaminate the 500-acre underground, worked-out mine from which the city draws water. The underground reservoir is located south of Wheelwright, in the direction of Weeksburg.

In response to the proposed drilling, the council and Salisbury sent letters to Equitable Resources Friday, explaining the potential danger. Dave Owen, a company representative, during a telephone interview Tuesday, noted that he had received the letters and planned to discuss the problem with Salisbury.

"I plan to discuss the possibility of drilling in new locations, which won't threaten Wheelwright's water supply," said Owen. "If we don't find alternate locations, we will probably not do any drilling. Our company has no desire to damage Wheelwright's water source. We also welcome Wheelwright's input on this situation."

In other action, council agreed to pass a proposal declaring Feb. 9 as Garnis Martin Day. Martin, a former football coach at Wheelwright, is known by many as the "Winningest Coach in Kentucky."

Amy Allen and Brad Compton appeared before council, requesting that the city donate its library books to local schools because the books were not being used at the old Wheelwright library. Council agreed to the proposal. The books will be distributed to Wheelwright High School and Osborne and Melvin elementary schools.

A first reading was conducted to set the third Thursday of each month as the date for council meetings. A final reading will be held at the next meeting on Feb. 15.

Present at Thursday's meeting was Mayor Kenneth Johnson and council members Dennis Holbrook, Larry Mullins, David Samons, and Jerry Tackett.

Human Resources Employees Raise Money For United Way

For the fifth consecutive year, state employees who provide government services to low-income Kentuckians have raised more than $100,000 to support the private services that help "fill the gaps."

Employees of the Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources contributed a total of $133,000 to the 1989-90 United Way of Kentucky campaign. CHR employees have topped the $100,000 mark in each of the past five United Way campaigns.

Human Resources Secretary Harry J. Cowherd, MD, said cabinet employees work hard for the United Way because they see United Way agencies as partners in the work to aid less fortunate Kentuckians.

"Our clients are Kentuckians living below the poverty level, those who can't afford medical care and those who can't protect themselves from mistreatment by others," Cowherd said.

"It's only natural, therefore, that our staff are ready to give and to raise money for the United Way, because those agencies make a difference in the lives of the very same people the cabinet is dedicated to help."

Remembering The Promise
by T. Mark Miller

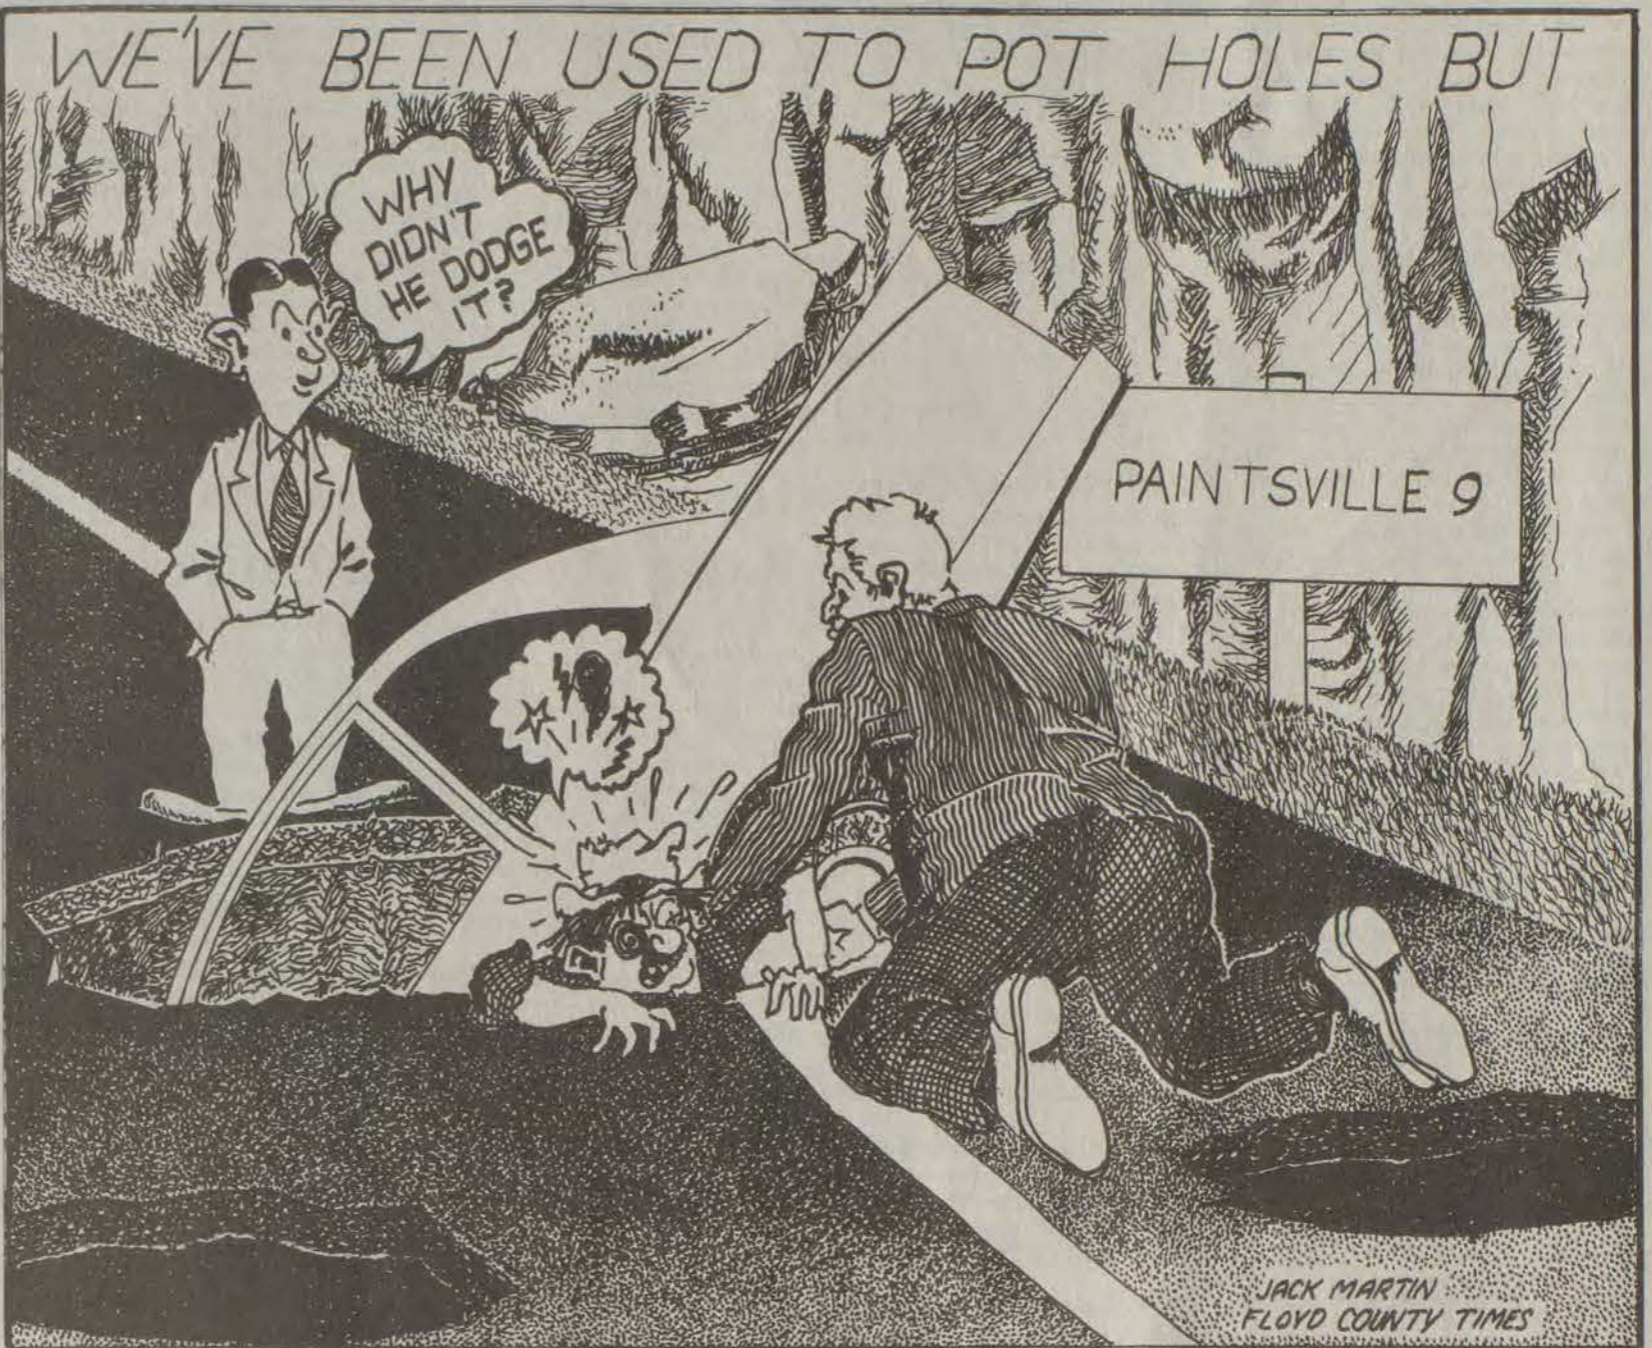

On Monday, Jan. 15, many Americans, both black and white, celebrated the birth of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. On this occasion, I happened to be at our state capital in Frankfort. As I stood on the floor of the House of Representatives, I heard many speakers exalt the deeds and greatness of King. The governor was even there and he promised to sign into law the bill declaring King's birthday a state holiday. The state House of Representatives had already passed the bill and on Thursday, the 18th of January, the state Senate passed the bill. It seems that next year and henceforth, the third Monday of January will be a state holiday.

On the way home from Frankfort, I began to think about what the King holiday was or what it should mean to me and other East Kentuckians. On the Mountain Parkway, just outside of Salyersville, I began to feel very removed from the emotion that I had witnessed earlier in the day. I began to wonder if I could capture the spirit again next year, or even whether I should. Will the holiday simply be just another great excuse for canceling school and closing the courthouse? Will it be another inconvenient holiday when the mail won't come? Or, will it just be another excuse to get drunk on a Sunday night?

Why is King important to me, a teacher in Prestonsburg? How is the holiday relevant to a miner who spends long hours at the mine in Price? What does the day mean to the residents of Mud Creek, Cow Creek or Auxier? To answer this question, I went back to King's most famous speech, delivered Aug. 23, 1963, at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, DC. This speech has touched millions of Americans, and I think it embodies the reason for which we all need to remember King. King told us that he had a dream. He said that because of his blackness, he felt like an exile in his own land. This is much like how poverty makes one feel in this land of plenty. King reminded us that the foundation of this country promised all men the unalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, but that this guarantee, this promise, had been defaulted.

Somewhere between 1776 and 1963 and even 1990, the dream that all people were created equal has been set aside. King told us that he had a dream that one day children "will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character." We in Eastern Kentucky can share the dream that our children will someday not be judged by the money in their pockets or the shoes on their feet or the location of their homes (be it Muddy Gut Hollow or wherever). Most Eastern Kentuckians are white, but the ideas of a southern black preacher still have great relevance.

King reminded us about a broken promise. He reminded us that we are owed a birthright which has not yet been given. The people of Eastern Kentucky can only achieve King's promise and make true the dream if we demand it. But how can we do this? If it is true that God helps those that help themselves, Eastern Kentucky must begin by picking itself up by the bootstraps. We must begin caring about ourselves, or others never will. If we don't like what others say about us, let's do something about it. Just complaining is not enough. We have to protect our environment and take pride in our communities. Responsible leaders must be elected to office, not just those who will continue to deny our children education for their own personal gain. Let each day remind us of the promise of a better tomorrow, not just the third Monday of January. Let each day bring a new opportunity to better ourselves and our community. If Eastern Kentucky is to reap the whirlwind, we must begin by sowing the wind.

Soap Box

By Tess Whitmer

Recently I have been hearing a lot about whether women should be allowed into combat or not. This is not a new issue and is not one that has a black and white answer. I understand that early last week the First Lady of our country stated that she believed women should be permitted in combat; she later retracted these words stating this is not what she meant. Something leads me to believe that Mrs. Bush got some gruff for her statement and opinion.

There is no cut and dry reasoning either for the pro or the con of the issue, but everyone has an opinion. Being a female in the Army Reserves, I, too, have some thoughts I'd like to share. And since I am using the forum of the editorial page and be it a written idea, you have the right not to continue reading this column if you so choose.

I was in Huntington this month for a course on chemical defense, that is how the US Army plans to defend itself once hit with the inevitable chemical attack. While at lunch, I picked up a copy of the local paper and began reading the editorial page — I always like to hear other's opinions. Unfortunately, I read a letter that got me quite steamed.

The author of said letter purported that women did not belong in combat because they are physically incapable of handling the workload. And to top it off, this was a man holding the rank of sergeant in the Army. I'm sure we have all met women who are perfectly capable of besting many men. And there are men, I'm confident, who are unable to perform to the standards required of the Infantry. Where this sergeant gets off stereotyping women, I fear I do not know.

I have done business with many such men and it still amazes me the ignorance they choose to broadcast in public. It really makes me wonder about these males' spouses, or better halves. But with such proclaimed chauvinists, it is hard to get them to see the light, so I have quit trying. I count myself lucky to belong to a unit that does not have a heavy number of this type, but has men who respect a woman officer for what she has to offer in the form of knowledge and skills.

I am not one of the women who are pushing to be in combat. I don't wish to go to war; most soldiers I know don't. But I believe that a strong military force is essential as a deterrent. I do support those women who are capable and wish to be part of the front line fighting force. There are such things as physical requirements to belong to the Army, and if a person, be they male or female, can't cut the mustard they are placed elsewhere or removed entirely from the service.

Having women in combat could present some problems, granted. Such obstacles as field hygiene and the "protect our women" syndrome could hinder their success. I define the "protect our women" syndrome as the characteristic that blinds some men to common sense and causes them to act in a manner dangerous to themselves. They could quite possibly make errors in judgment in order to protect a female comrade that they would not make for a fellow male soldier. This is a theory, which to my knowledge, has yet to be proven.

Other than the two reasons cited above, I do not see a problem in admitting women into combat. As a matter of fact, some positive results come to mind. It has been proven that women are calmer during threatening situations, enabling them to think out solutions rather than acting strictly on instincts. This phenomenon results from a woman not being as aggressive and also not relying as heavily on physical strength as males to produce desired outcomes. Many women and, I'm sure, many man, also have the God-given gift of persuasiveness and the ability to get people to cooperate with them. I don't think there is any need to explain the benefits of this attribute in combat.

There are many varied characteristics and personalities among the gentler sex which, when counted individual, are innumerable. If women wish to be in the combat arms, let them, but consider each case individually and use the same measures as for the males in comparable positions.

There is a secondary complication in allowing the feminine gender into the field of Infantry, artillery, armor, whatever. That situation stems from the men already in these branches who will still possess the old opinions. Dealing with such men could be quite hazardous to a woman's career progression. The men from the "old school" will test you at every turn and try their best to trip you up. But if you can succeed past these obstacles, wouldn't that make you all the better? Think of how strong a person it would require to belong to an organization consisting mostly of people who are trying to get them out. Said person would not only need a strong moral constitution but also possess a vast amount of knowledge, patience and determination — all traits highly valued by the military.

So I say to all those who still question the issue of women in combat, judge not lest ye be judged also.

Letters To The Editor

CBS Responds

(The following is a response from the executive producer of "48 Hours" to a letter written by Catherine Tackett of Beaver.)

Dear Ms. Tackett,

Thank you for your letter to Laurence Tisch about our program of Dec. 14.

While I respect your strongly held opinions about the broadcast, I must disagree with your conclusion that the program reflected negatively on Eastern Kentucky. It was the story of a group of people struggling against economic adversity with pride and grit. As I said in a letter to your Governor, it was as much a story about family and tradition and the human spirit as it was about poverty.

I am sorry you object to what I consider a fair and honest piece of reporting, but please be assured that no one at 48 HOURS intended to insult your beautiful state or the people who live there. Quite the opposite. Incidentally, the reaction from the families featured in the program has been extremely positive.

I appreciate your taking the time to share your views, and I hope you'll give 48 HOURS another chance.

Blood Drive Successful

Dear Editor,

I want to extend my appreciation to you and the staff of the Floyd County Times for your continued excellent publicity for Central Kentucky Blood Center's 9th annual Donorama, Dec. 26-29, 1989. The week long emphasis to attract blood donors during a traditionally difficult period proved successful as 161 from Floyd and surrounding counties took time to give the gift of life. Considering the cold and snowy weather the first two days of the Donorama, I was very pleased with this turnout.

The Prestonsburg Donor Center relies heavily on local media coverage and the Floyd County Times' unwavering commitment to spread the message of the great need to give blood is deeply appreciated. The Donor Center's main goal and reason for existence is to help meet the various blood needs of Eastern Kentucky. I believe you are a vital partner in our efforts to accomplish our objectives.

I anticipate an excellent year ahead for the Prestonsburg Donor Center and very much look forward to working with you and the Times.

Thanks For Work

Dear Editor,

Thanks goes out to the Floyd County Highway Department. I would like to take this opportunity to thank you all for fixing the water problem at Lambert. After talking to Mr. Roberts on the phone and explaining the icy condition, he said he would take care of it the next morning, and he did. It was a very bad problem for our school buses.

I just want to say, I sure do thank you very much.

Thanks

"No true Freedom"

Dear Editor,

America's Demon-O-Crazy: There is no true freedom for the individual left in this country, nor in my home of Eastern Kentucky. I'm voting for justice, not a buck.

Our adult population caters to their peer's approval, as if their self-esteem can buy them that next porterhouse steak faster. But separated from each other, like so many scared chickens, they only cause social unrest and economic confusion, here. Full of self-centered habitual judgments, our political and administrative leaders suppress the cultural and productive capacity or our peace-loving people. And to top it off, the children of Eastern Kentucky are the scapegoats of all the worst that we have to show for ourselves.

The confidence of Floyd, Martin, Magoffin, Johnson, Pike and all the other counties of this so-called Commonwealth is shaken. Even the art of the citizens tells of the bondage we have to that almighty dollar that this Godless nation bows down to each waking moment. Mighty Mouse of the fifties, the coal-fields have been pillaged by carpetbagging foreigners, claiming to be our true providers while raping our land. Quite natural; no molested woman has much confidence, let alone one who's been repeatedly abused.

Now, we see a Mickey Mouse, full of fun and frolic, as in the cockfighting Caesar's Palace with a guest-list of persons from ten states!!!

Our mountain artisans seem to be the last vestige of American honesty, and they could use a way to sell their arts and crafts to the greedy outsiders that have presumed themselves upon this region. We can use the gritting board of the past to crush the very spirit of this people, or we can use the Walt Disney cheese graders of the past to blindly step into tomorrow with shame, but we must step into tomorrow.

—James Edward Hill

Legislative Prospective

By Rep. Greg Stumbo

In bits and pieces, press conference by press conference, the Governor revealed his proposed state budget. The road of sneak previews led to the Governor's Budget Address delivered to a joint session of the Legislature.

In a reversal of his original "no new taxes" policy, the Governor called for nearly one-half billion additional dollars per year be raised for school reform, prisons, and human services programs.

The Governor has proposed new or expanded programs including:

*A 25 percent increase in public school financing in the next biennium with two-thirds of the $780 million increase targeted to correct certain unconstitutional parts of the current system. Much of the remainder would go for an increase in teachers' salaries.

*An additional $20 million would be appropriated into the establishment and expansion of the KET Star Channel program to enable all Kentucky students to receive a comparable, quality academic menu of classes.

*Approximately $398 million more dollars for early childhood development and programs for the aging: $31 million for new facilities and to meet federally mandated welfare reform and Medicaid programs.

That would add almost 32,000 welfare recipients and give medical coverage to an additional 7,600 children under age one and pregnant women.

*About $89.2 for a new 550 bed medium-security prison.

*More inspectors, improved water testing and air quality monitoring programs would be among the additions proposed for a $36 million increase in the Natural Resources budget. The Governor would also create a waste management authority to pay for landfill improvements needed for proposed statewide garbage collection.

*A $29 million increase in the Economic Development budget would allow for more job training and $250,000 would be committed each year of the biennium to match funds with the new Eastern Kentucky Job Creation Authority. These funds will help local governments in the mountains to build their own capacity to develop their region.

To generate revenue for his proposals, the Governor's plan suggests:

*Conforming to the federal income tax code.

*Eliminating the deductions for payment of federal taxes from state income-tax liability.

*The current five percent sales tax would extend to services such as legal, engineering, architectural, surveying, accounting, auditing, management and consulting, computer processing, detective, janitorial, advertising, taxi and limousine, brokering of securities and commodities, temporary help, towel and linen, bill collecting and cable television.

*Increasing the cigarette tax from 3 cents to 10 cents a pack.

*Increasing the corporate income tax rate by 1 percent.

This revenue proposal would raise a total of $482.6 million in 1991 and $550.1 million in 1992. It is a comprehensive package spread over a large number of areas, therefore, not directly affecting any specific group dramatically, according to the Governor.

This is not the final word on revenue-raising measures. Before the final state budget is voted on, Kentuckians can be sure that other options proposed by Appropriations and Revenue chairmen and House and Senate leadership will be carefully considered.

Revenue measures of the caliber being suggested by the Governor have a major impact no matter what the source. Legislators will look long and hard at momentous decisions such as these that will affect Kentuckians for a long time to come.

I welcome any comments on the revenue issues discussed. Contact me by writing in care of the Legislative Offices, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Kentucky, 40601 or by calling the toll-free message hotline, 1-800-372-7181.

House Week In Review

By Rep. Russell Bentley

With Rep. Russell Bentley
The hazy 1990-92 budget picture began to come into focus last week, although a great deal of fine-tuning remains.

The third week of the 1990 session was short, but action was intense as the governor finally released details of his budget for secondary and primary education, as well as his plans for paying for generous increases in several other areas, including higher education, transportation, natural resources and human services.

All told, when the governor addressed members of the General Assembly in joint session at the end of the week, we heard that the executive budget contained over $1 billion in new spending. In addition to the natural growth which occurs in state revenues from year to year, Gov. Wilkinson is planning to raise about $483 million new dollars in 1990-91 and $550 million in 1991-92.

How will that money be raised? The governor's suggestions include the elimination of the federal deduction on state income tax forms and conforming our state tax requirements with those mandated by the federal government. That move would result in removing low-income Kentuckians from the state tax rolls.

The governor also suggested eliminating the five percent sales-tax exemption on some services and proposed a controversial increase in the state cigarette tax, an idea certain to generate significant debate in the General Assembly.

I want to emphasize that these proposals are just that: preliminary suggestions made by the governor to the General Assembly. There is still a long way to go before the budget becomes final and we adjourn in mid April.

In the House, where all revenue measures must originate, our budget review committees will soon begin the process of breaking the plan down piece by piece. There will be much discussion and debate and many revisions will be made before a spending and revenue plan emerges sometime in March.

The really good news from the budget is the spending proposed for primary and secondary education. As you know, we are under a Supreme Court order to revamp our public education system to make it equitable and accessible.

The budget proposes a $780 million increase in spending for education. The details of where that money will go will be worked out when the Education Reform Task Force completes its exhaustive study and develops a comprehensive plan. I expect that will take place over the next two months.

There was plenty of other action in the House, in addition to the budget. We began the week observing the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Previously, the House passed a bill to make the slain civil rights leader's birthday an official state holiday. That measure now moves on to the Senate, where approval is expected.

The Health and Welfare Committee gave its approval to House Bill 113, commonly referred to as the "living-will" bill. This proposal would permit terminally ill patients to decline extraordinary medical treatment.

This would be accomplished by a document signed by two disinterested witnesses—that is, people who neither work for the hospital or who would receive benefits due to the death of the patient. Two physicians would also have to certify that the person's condition was terminal.

As we continue through the 1990 session, please keep me informed as to your views on this or other legislation. To get a message to me in Frankfort, you can call me toll-free 1-800-372-7181.

So What Else Is New Department

December Power Bills Higher

The second coldest December on record coupled with the holiday season likely resulted in higher than normal energy use by area residents.

According to the National Weather Service office at Huntington's Tri-State Airport, 27 out of 31 days in December were below freezing and six days the temperature dropped below zero. In fact, at Farmers, Ky., the mercury plunged to 24 degrees below zero, setting a new state record for the coldest day in any December.

"These sustained cold temperatures, added to shorter daylight hours and the holiday season, resulted in higher electrical usage and therefore higher electric bills in many cases," said W.W. Zoellers, division manager of Kentucky Power Co.

Zoellers stated that it is hard to estimate an average increase since every customer's usage and living habits are different. "One thing is for certain: using supplemental heaters and/or turning up the thermostat on one's furnace, in an effort to stay warm and comfortable during bitter cold weather, will result in increased usage of energy."

Zoellers said power company customer service representatives are available to answer questions and explain programs the company has to help customers.

The Equal Payment Plan, for example, allows customers to pay the same amount every month, thus lessening the impact of a high winter heating or summer cooling bill. In some cases, the company will also set up payment arrangements for individuals who have temporary difficulty in paying winter heating bills, Zoellers said.

Customers who purchase service from Kentucky Power Co. and who are having problems with their bills should contact the company's nearest office, he added.

Discipline

10 Practical Ways You Can Improve Discipline At Home & School

Parents and teachers agree that discipline is important for learning. When teachers spend time correcting behavior, they have less time to teach. Good behavior begins at home. Here are 10 ways you can help improve discipline:

1. Know and support the school's rules.
2. Show your child you are interested in what he/she does in school. Ask about class activities and after-school interests.
3. Talk to teachers about your child's behavior in school.
4. Stress the importance of good discipline with your child.
5. Be a good role model for your children.
6. Show your children you respect them. Encourage them to respect others.
7. Give your kids a chance to take part in making decisions about things that affect them.
8. Be sure your child eats properly. Poor nutrition can lead to discipline problems.
9. Watch your child's behavior at home.
10. If discipline problems occur, talk with your child. Ask why he/she is misbehaving. And then listen to the answer.

Leaking Tanks: How Serious a Problem?

During the last two years, more than 800 underground storage tanks containing petroleum products have been investigated for leaks by the Division of Waste Management. This is a fraction of the 3,000 tanks estimated to be leaking in Kentucky.

Leaks can cause explosions and fires when trapped in enclosed areas such as basements and sewer lines. They can also contaminate underground drinking water supplies with benzene, a known carcinogen.

"Groundwater contamination is a major concern in Kentucky since about one-third of the total population and 90 percent of the rural population relies on groundwater as their primary drinking water source," said

Waste Management Division Director Susan Bush.

"Numerous incidences of contaminated drinking water supplies from petroleum products have been investigated. These include several private wells and more than 10 public water supplies," she said.

Nearly 95 percent of the 800 leaking tanks investigated in Kentucky have been cleaned up voluntarily by the owners or operators. However, when the owner fails to correct a problem that presents an immediate threat to public health or the environment, the Waste Management Division handles the cleanup and pays for it through a special federal trust fund. The division then seeks to reimburse the fund by recovering the cost from the owner, Bush said.

According to a Division of Waste Management survey, the average cost to clean up a site with contaminated soil is about $25,000 per tank. However, when groundwater is contaminated the cleanup costs are considerably higher.

In December 1988, EPA passed new rules requiring technical standards for tanks, clean up of contaminated sites and financial responsibility for tank owners.

The purpose of the technical requirements is to upgrade all existing tanks by 1998. This will significantly reduce the health and safety hazards presented by leaking tanks, Bush said.

Several options are available for leak detection including annual tank testing and daily monitoring, groundwater or vapor monitoring.

Tank owners who do not intend to upgrade their tanks must properly close or remove the tanks. The new EPA rules require that all tank owners must assess their sites for contamination when tanks are taken out of service.

"The new rules also outline the actions that must be taken when a tank is known or suspected of causing contamination," Bush said. "In many situations, a site investigation will be necessary to determine the extent of contamination and potential effects to the surrounding community. Appropriate corrective action must then be undertaken to clean up the contamination."

In addition to the new technical and corrective action requirements, owners are required to demonstrate financial responsibility. The purpose of this rule is to ensure that funds are available for cleanup of leaking underground storage tank sites and to provide an incentive for owners to upgrade their tank systems.

Legislation (HB 194), sponsored by the regulated community, has been introduced to the Kentucky General Assembly. This legislation will establish an environmental assurance trust fund that would assist owners or operators of underground storage tanks in meeting the $1 million financial responsibility requirement.

The phasing-in of the new requirements allows owners to evaluate their situation, choose the best option and plan ahead for the cost of complying.

Challenges Perkins

JERRY CECIL

A Morgan County man has announced his Democratic candidacy for the 7th District Congressional seat now held by Cong. C. Chris Perkins of Hindman.

A graduate of Hazel Green Academy and United States Military Academy at West Point and Duke University, Cecil operates a farm in Hazel Green and manages a greenhouse in Winchester. He was an infantry officer in the US Army from 1966 to 1984 and is a Colonel in the Army Reserve, according to his announcement.

The candidate served as chairman of the Kentucky Agriculture Development Foundation which chartered the Lieutenant Governor's Commission on the Future of Agriculture. A decorated Vietnam veteran, he is also active in veteran affairs and says he served on the "initial group that undertook the construction of the veteran's memorial in Frankfort."

"The United States Representative from the 7th District has never been challenged by another Democrat in the primary election," Cecil contended in his announcement. "In a district with over 200,000 registered Democrats, is there not a single person who has the experience, commitment and right to challenge the incumbent?"

Education Group Gives Ideas

The Education Coalition, a group of 10 diverse organizations, recently released its recommendations on Curriculum and Governance to the state's Task Force on Education Reform. The recommendations go much further than those contained in the Coalition's earlier report, Kentucky's System of Education, issued in February 1989.

The recommendations result from a dozen meetings of Coalition members since June, when the Supreme Court ruled Kentucky's system of education unconstitutional. Members of the Coalition considered all aspects of the education system in their deliberations in those meetings.

The new recommendations demonstrate, as did the group's earlier report, that the education community can build an extensive and meaningful consensus on reform measures. Members of the group believe the extent of agreement on divisive matters is evidence of new possibilities for real reform.

The report includes recommendations on:

- Creating a performance based system;
- Strengthening the hand of the state in dealing with failures of performance at the local level and in dealing with political abuse;
- Creating an independent education agency for monitoring and assessing performance;

- Employing a Commissioner of Education to manage the Department of Education;
- Supporting efforts to increase site-based decision making;
- Developing regional professional service and development centers.

The groups represented in the Education Coalition are Catholic Conference of Kentucky, Kentucky Association of School Administrators, Kentucky Association of School Superintendents, Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, Kentucky Department of Education, Kentucky Education Association, Kentucky Educational Foundation, Kentucky School Boards Association, and Prichard Committee for Academic Excellence.

James L. McEneaney, 71, of Grove City, Ohio, died Sunday at his home following an extended illness.

Born Jan. 21, 1919, in Ohio, he was the son of the late John W. and Pearl Lynam McEneaney. He was a retired steel worker for Buckeye Steel Casting Company of Columbus, Ohio.

Survivors include his wife Aiwese Smith McEneaney, formerly of Bull Creek, Floyd County; two sons, Sean Lee McEneaney of Alaska and James Blaise of Columbus; three daughters, Siobhan Kathleen McEneaney at home and Sharon Pearl Sigman and Sandra Carol Angel, both of Ohio; one sister, Alice Marie Tabery of Ohio; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Graveside services were Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 10 a.m. at the Estill Smith Cemetery at Leburn, with the Minister Coy Combs officiating, under the direction of the Hindman Funeral Services.

R.S. Newsom Jr.

R.S. Newsom Jr., 56, of Grethel died Friday, Jan. 19, at his residence following injuries he received from a gunshot wound.

Born Dec. 10, 1933, at Grethel, he was the son of the late R.S. and Effie Hall Newsom Sr. He was a disabled farmer.

Survivors include six brothers, Morris Newsom and Rofolo Newsom, both of Harold, Icess Newsom, Allred Newsom, Greeley Newsom and Lennis Newsom, all of Grethel; and four sisters, Josephine Frasure, Joyce Gail Hix and Linda Kay Hamilton, all of Grethel, and Genevieve Ball of Lorain, Ohio.

Funeral services were Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 11 a.m. in the Pilgrim Home Regular Baptist Church on Mud Creek with Regular Baptist ministers officiating. Burial followed in the Newsom Family Cemetery at Grethel with Hall Funeral Home, Martin, caring for arrangements.

Council

setting caps on the number of persons in certain grade levels.

The new policy would also raise firefighter grade levels to make them comparable to police officer grades and would hold the number of police captains to one with four persons at the police sergeant level.

After presenting the revision, William O. Goebel, speaking for the council's personnel committee, moved that firefighters with Emergency Medical Technician training receive a one percent incentive pay raise. Latta noted that the firefighters pay for their own EMT training. Council approved the motion.

Council also heard the first reading of an amendment of correction to Ordinance 4-88 which established the city's Recreation, Tourist and Convention Commission. Mayor Ann Latta said she had discovered a typographical error in the original ordinance concerning the length of commission members' terms.

The amendment calls for staggered terms of one, two and three years, rather than one, three and four as stated in the original ordinance.

Noting that two members' terms will be up in March, Latta reappointed Dr. Blake Burchett to the commission. The term of Bill Gordon Francis, appointed by the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, also expires soon, and Latta has asked the chamber to recommend reappointment or a replacement.

For the commission vacancy left by the election of Collins to the city council, Latta recommended Jim Sparks.

City Administrator Fred James

informed council that the city's lease on telephone equipment is ending. Members of the buildings and equipment committee were asked to examine options for telephone service.

Collins raised concern about the safety of empty buildings in Prestonsburg's downtown. "It is important that unrented structures be brought up to code for the protection of buildings on each side," Collins said.

Latta recommended that city fire inspector Larry Adams come to the next council meeting to report on when empty buildings were last inspected. "We might prod owners into getting buildings into shape to rent them," Collins said.

Collins also reported he has heard complaints about video gambling machines in the city. Police Chief Greg Hall said the key to regulating such machines lies in whether actual gambling is going on since the machines are generally labeled as only for amusement purposes.

Latta asked the police department to check on the machines and issue warnings to businesspersons who have the machines on their premises.

Councilman Bill Callihan announced plans of the buildings and equipment committee to renovate the first floor of the Municipal Building. He said city workers can provide labor and that the city's direct expenses will be for carpet, window blinds and some paneling. Council accepted the committee report, on a motion by Mike Vance.

Councilman Jerry Fannin expressed concern over litter on city streets. Mike Meade, superintendent of public works, illustrated the seriousness of the problem by informing council that his staff picked up more than 65 bags of litter that was strewn between Friday and Monday.

Goebel said the city needs to encourage civic groups to join the state's Adopt A Highway program to keep neighborhoods free of litter.

Vance raised citizens' concerns over the condition of the road going by the Perkins Job Corps Center. Latta asked James to meet with magistrate Gerald DeRossett to determine who is responsible for the road.

All council members were in attendance. The next regular meeting is Monday, Feb. 5, at 7 p.m.

HRMC Announces Start For Diabetes Program

Nearly one in 16 people in Eastern Kentucky suffer from diabetes, a hereditary glandular disorder with symptoms that range from mild inconvenience to severe and life-threatening.

The cause of diabetes is unknown and a cure does not exist, although substantial research has been underway for some time. It is a disease, however, which can be "managed" and the treatment of its symptoms continues to progress to the point that many of the most severe complications can be successfully controlled.

While the need for hospitalization is rare, scores of Eastern Kentucky diabetics must seek in-patient treatment every year and are often referred to medical centers in Lexington or other distant locations. Now, with the addition of a staff endocrinologist (a specialist in glandular disorders), Gordon P. Guthrie Jr., MD, Highlands Regional Medical Center can provide a comprehensive diagnostic and treatment program for diabetic patients.

Dr. Guthrie will see physician-referred patients in the Outpatient Clinic and be available for physician consultation when a patient requires hospitalized care.

Diabetic patients who require in-patient care will be admitted to Highlands' recently opened diabetic unit. The unit is supported by family practitioners who are assisted by a team of specialists in internal medicine, surgery, podiatry and ophthalmology. Nursing care is provided by a staff with special training in nursing the diabetic patient.

The coordinator of patient care will be a registered nurse who works with the physician to provide access to services in both the in- and out-patient setting. Dietary guidance is provided by the hospital dietetic and nutrition department and an in-depth patient teaching program is offered by a registered nurse who specializes in diabetic teaching.

In addition to providing extended services for patients, Highlands will further assist family practitioners by establishing a "network" of information. The network will be supported by fax machines—machines capable of sending written material over telephone lines—to assure that patient information can be communicated quickly and in detail between the hospital and doctor's office.

More information concerning the program is available by calling 1-800-533-HRMC, ext. 286.

State Government News Summary

Fee Waived ... The Department for Social Insurance is waiving the $25 fee it had been charging to persons seeking to have tax refunds intercepted in cases of delinquent child support collections. Non-AFDC families had previously had to pay the fee when formally requesting state intervention to collect back child support. Officials believe that suspending the fee will increase collections. The tax intercept program allows both the Internal Revenue Service and the state Revenue Cabinet to redirect income tax refunds from delinquent parents to the child support program. For more information, call the child support hotline, 1-800-248-1163, or contact the county attorney.

Calls ... The Legislative Research Commission's toll-free message line generated almost 10,000 calls in the first two weeks of the 1990 session of the General Assembly. The busiest day for the message line was Jan. 11 when 1865 calls were received. The message line—1-800-372-7181—is intended for Kentuckians who wish to leave a message for an individual legislator.

Fund Growing ... State general fund receipts grew at a 5.7 percent rate during the first half of the 1990 fiscal year. Finance secretary L. Roger Wells Jr. said revenue projections for this fiscal year estimate a 5.5 percent growth rate. Regular sales and use tax receipts increased by 1.4 percent and property tax receipts grew by 27.7 percent. Regular coal severance receipts declined by 11.8 percent, corporate tax dropped by 10.3 percent and individual income tax was down by 1.9 percent as compared to the previous December.

Elected ... Letcher County businessman Joe Walters has been elected chairman of the state School Facilities Construction Commission. He is a member of the Jenkins Independent Board of Education. Jim Potts, Powell County School Superintendent, was elected vice chairman.

Meetings ... The Kentucky Historic Preservation Review Board will meet Jan. 25 at 10 a.m. in the State Board of Education Conference Room on the first floor of the Capital Plaza Tower in Frankfort. The Review Board will consider 14 National Register nominations... The Kentucky Housing Corporation Board of Directors will meet Jan. 25 at 1:30 p.m. in the board room of the corporation offices, 1231 Louisville Rd., Frankfort.

Winter Home Heating Aid Gets $1.5 Million Infusion

Gov. Wallace Wilkinson Friday authorized the release of an additional $1.5 million in state funds to this winter's Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) for families facing a heating emergency.

The governor's action means the HEAP crisis segment that opened Jan. 15 will have about $6.3 million to assist low income families without heat or facing the shutdown of their home heating system within five days, according to a Cabinet for Human Resources spokesperson.

Limited funding has been a problem for Kentucky's 1989-90 heating aid program. First, the state was forced to increase its contribution to offset the impact of an anticipated $300,000 reduction in federal funds.

Then, a federal court directed the state to operate $5 million assistance segments, instead of the planned $5 million period open to households with elderly and disabled family members followed by an $11 million families-in-crisis phase.

Finally, an extended stretch of bitterly cold weather in December forced the early release of $1 million in crisis segment funds to aid families being forced to leave their homes because they had no heat in the house.

The additional money comes from the state's Energy Assistance Trust Fund, established to disburse court-ordered oil overcharge settlements. Kentucky had already contributed $3.4 million in trust fund monies to this year's total HEAP benefit budget of $16.2 million.

Applications for the HEAP crisis segment continue in all 120 counties through the local offices of the state's 23 community action agencies.

Ag Official Discusses Marketing With Mexicans

Kentucky Agriculture Commissioner Ward Burnette said his recent meeting with Mexican agriculture officials should lead to increased sales of Kentucky commodities to Mexico. Burnette and Deputy Commissioner Roy A. Massey met with a group of Mexican agriculture officials on Dec. 11 in Mexico City to discuss potential marketing opportunities.

"We felt this was a very positive meeting," Burnette said. "Our primary purpose was to establish relations and promote Kentucky agricultural products. Based on our discussion, I feel confident that Mexico will purchase a significant volume of our commodities next year."

Burnette said the new leadership in Mexico has expressed great interest in buying American goods.

"Kentucky needs to be more aggressive in international marketing, particularly with nations like Mexico. International marketing is a high priority of our department," the commissioner said. "We will continue to seek new markets for Kentucky products."

Magoffin Gets New FM Station

WRLV-FM in Magoffin County should be broadcasting into Floyd and surrounding counties soon, according to station manager Jim Bradley.

The station, said Bradley, signed on for program testing on Dec. 22, but has not broadcast full force because of delays in the installing of telephone lines to the transmitter site. Until the lines are complete, the station is airing the same broadcasts as its sister station WRLV-AM.

The FM station will assume the former format—country music—of the AM station which is switching to all gospel, Bradley said. The FM will be an affiliate of Kentucky Network and American Broadcasting System and will carry live coverage of Magoffin County High School sports, he added.

Hair Stylist Honored

Competing with 30 candidates from four states in a three-day competition/training session in Nashville, Tenn., Goble was awarded one of the five new associates positions.

Goble's educational territory includes Nashville, Memphis and all the area between the two cities. He will be providing continuing education and in-salon training in all phases of the hairstyling industry. Advanced cutting and sculpting classes, instruction in the use of John Paul Mitchell Systems method of hair styling, and an updated series of seminars designed to help stylists become more professional are part of his new duties. Goble is attending a regional conference/training session in Atlanta this last week of January, where he is receiving instruction from some of the top names in the industry.

Accidental Discovery May End Obesity

Suppresses calorie absorption
SWEDEN—Medical researchers at the University of Kuopio, in Finland, have discovered (accidentally) a new weight-loss formula. The new discovery appears to enable an overweight individual to lose pounds and fatty tissue without conventional dieting or exercise.

Scientists made the discovery while searching for a formula to lower cholesterol. In a controlled study of a test group of people, cholesterol levels remained unchanged but the doctors were astounded to find that every patient who used the formula lost weight. The published report of this study stated, "A highly significant decrease in body weight was seen" in patients who received the formula.

The formula was then tested at another prestigious European university hospital. Again, all patients lost weight even though they did not change their eating habits. The report detailing this study, published in the British Journal of Nutrition, stated: "Body weight was significantly reduced even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits". One patient in this study lost more than 30 pounds.

According to one informed source, the active ingredient comes from a 100% natural botanical source and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before mealtime it bonds with the food you eat and "ties up" calories, especially those from fats, suppressing their absorption.

A significant portion of the calories ingested therefore pass through the digestive system unabsorbed. The body has to get energy to replace the lost calories, so it starts to burn stored fat, which can result in rapid body weight loss. Clinical testing has verified the safety of this formula for long-term use.

The formula is marketed in capsule form in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida, has exclusive North American distribution rights. A review of the customer files of this company revealed the names of hundreds of people who have lost as much as 20, 40 or 80 or more pounds overall with Cal-Ban 3000. This appears to be a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional methods.

Cal-Ban 3000 is reasonably priced at $19.95 for a 3-week supply and $38.95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. VISA, M/C, AMEX and COD orders are accepted. To order call TOLL-FREE 1-800-537-3723 or purchase locally at Brooks Pharmacy, 222 Church St., Betsy Lane, Ky.

Call today to begin the pleasant transformation from fat and flab to the slender firm body you want! If you fail to achieve a major weight loss you may return the empty bottle within 30 days for a 100% refund.

Free Taxpayer Help Offered By Mail, Phone and Foot

Taxpayers who want free help completing their federal tax returns have a variety of choices available to them, the Internal Revenue Service says.

One of the best tax aids is the tax form instructions mailed to over 100 million taxpayers each year. The IRS asks taxpayers to read these instructions carefully, even if they have someone else complete their tax returns.

Kentucky taxpayers who prefer to listen to any of 140 recorded IRS tax messages can call TELE-TAX, day or night, at 1-800-554-4477. Beginning March 1, individuals can also call that number to check on the status of their refunds. If it is necessary to call back, taxpayers are asked to wait seven days before calling TELE-TAX again about their refunds. Complete instructions for using TELE-TAX are contained in the tax packages.

Hearing-impaired taxpayers who have access to TV/Telephone-TTY equipment can get tax help by calling, toll-free, 1-800-428-4732.

Also, taxpayers can phone 1-800-424-1040 during normal business hours to obtain tax help. Those wanting any of the 100-plus tax publications or federal tax forms, can use the order blank in their tax packages or call, toll-free, 1-800-424-3676.

Taxpayers who need group tax help may call the IRS and ask for the Taxpayer Education Coordinator. Taxpayers who would like individual, in person help may call the IRS for the location and hours of operation of the nearest Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) site.

VITA volunteers assist individuals for whom paid assistance may be out of reach and others with special needs, such as the handicapped, those who do not speak English and the elderly. Another volunteer program for older taxpayers is Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE). TCE counselors provide tax help at sites convenient to seniors and they frequently travel to locations where older individuals reside.

Taxpayers can get tax publications and forms at many libraries, banks and post offices across the country. For a detailed list of IRS services and publications available, taxpayers may request free IRS Publication 910, "Guide to Free Tax Services," by calling 1-800-424-3676.

Business, Industry To Recruit For Water Protection Programs

Clean water and its importance to Kentucky have led business and industry representatives to recruit participation in two water programs as part of their Earth Day 1990 activities.

At its Jan. 4 meeting in Frankfort, the business and industry committee for Earth Day 1990 in Kentucky made plans for April 22, the 20th anniversary of the first Earth Day celebration.

Using the theme, "Turning Concern into Commitment," the group will work with the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and other state organizations to help businesses and industry turn their concern for the environment into specific plans of action that will reduce environmental impacts.

During this year's Earth Day weekend, committee members will recruit volunteers for the Kentucky Water Watch program and the Ohio River Sweep.

The river sweep is a June 16 shoreline cleanup through the six states that border the Ohio River. Kentucky has 25 counties bordering the Ohio River and 664 riverbank miles, more counties and miles than any other state.

The committee also plans to encourage groups from industry and business to become Water Watchers in their communities to help in the protection and wise management of water resources, including streams, lakes, wetlands and groundwater.

Another Earth Day project the committee will coordinate is a speakers' program where environmental officials from industry visit schools and speak to students about environmental awareness and concerns.

All persons attending the Jan. 4 meeting are to call 10 businesses in their respective areas and encourage their participation in Earth Day activities. For additional information on business and industry activities for Earth Day, call committee coordinator Lynda LeVan at (606) 272-6618.

Earth Day activities in Kentucky are being coordinated by Ken Cooke and Julie Brumback Smither, employees of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet in Frankfort. Smither's phone number is (502) 564-3350, and Cooke's number is (502) 564-3410.

Allen Eagles: Grade School Tournament Champions

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

After a month and a half delay, the finals of the Floyd County grade school basketball tournament became a reality with the Allen Eagles of coaches David Mosley and Steve Halbert winning over defending champion Martin, 53-33, at the Betsy Layne gym on Friday night to take home the winner's trophy.

The Purple Flash, 18-2, were looking for their second consecutive championship in the tournament. Martin has been one of the most successful programs in the county in recent years.

The Eagles, who got a late start on the season and who encountered some cancellations because of the furnace explosion at the local school, had to wait until mid-season before starting to gel as a team. With early losses to Harold and Prestonsburg, Mosley's team righted itself and began to play up to expectations.

"We lost our first two games of the season, Prestonsburg and Harold, after only four days of practice," Eagles co-coach David Mosley stated. "We then won two games and the furnace explosion took us out of play for a week and a half."

"After we lost to Harold in the semifinals of the Mountain Christian Invitational, we lost then to Prestonsburg in the consolation game, and the kids decided they did not want to play like that again and began to turn things around and we won our last 12 games to go 18-4 on the season."

Cory Reitz led the Eagles in scoring with 20 points, followed by Phillip "Snake" Patton with 17 points.

"I was nervous before the game ever started, Reitz said of having to face the defending grade school champions. "In the second half, I wasn't as nervous."

Reitz said he and his team knew that they could win the game before they took to the floor.

"Cory had to realize that he had to go out there and show some team leadership," Mosley said. "When he realized that it helped the team."

"I guess so," Reitz said when asked if the rest of the team looked to him for that leadership. "I just want to get them pumped up for the game."

Reitz credited the coaching staff at Allen for working hard with the team and being patient as the keys to success for this year's team.

"One of the things that helped turn this team around is the improvement in Phillip (Patton)," said Mosley. "Coach Parido (Prestonsburg High School coach) worked with him and showed him some pivot moves. That pleased Phillip that Coach Parido took an interest in him and he wanted to do his best."

"I love it," said Patton of the championship win. "I was nervous before the game started."

If the big center was nervous, it didn't show as he hauled down 15 rebounds against Martin to go with his 17 points.

"We couldn't contain Patton on the inside," Martin coach Jimmy Hopkins stated about the play of the 6'1" Patton. "Reitz got some easy baskets on us by dropping back and getting lay ups."

Allen led at the half 18-16 after trailing at the first stop, 10-6. The game remained close through the third stanza with the Eagles still holding to a five-point advantage, 31-26. The Eagles outscored the Purple Flash, 22-7, in the final period to go on to a 53-33 win.

"We were going to take the kids to the Pizza Hut for pizza but the kids said 'coach, this wasn't a pizza win but a steak win'."

David Mosley,
Allen Coach

"The game was closer than the 20-point spread might indicate," said Mosley. "We only led by eight with two minutes to go. We got a couple of run outs on them in the final minute of the game, but it was really close. Some people questioned why I did not put my bench in, but we were only ahead by 12 points and we are not that strong on the bench and we have lost some leads before. We were afraid to substitute."

Joe Howell added so much to this team," Mosley stated. "When he came here from Colorado, he had never picked up a basketball. He didn't even know what a three-second call was."

Matt (Porter) came a long ways this year. Jamie Blackburn is our best defensive player. He was good role player. He didn't shoot the ball unless he had to. He was a very capable scorer. Scotty Williams, another eighth grader, didn't play that much but was a real sportsman. He stayed right with it and only missed one practice. Jason Spurlock filled in for Joe at the forward position when Joe got in foul trouble," said Mosley in describing the contributions of his eighth grade players.

"The parents of the players this year were just wonderful," the Eagles mentor continued. "They would bring their kids to practice and stay right with them. Enough cannot be said of the contribution of Stevie Halbert. He taught the offensive and defensive end of the game and I just made sure the kids did it."

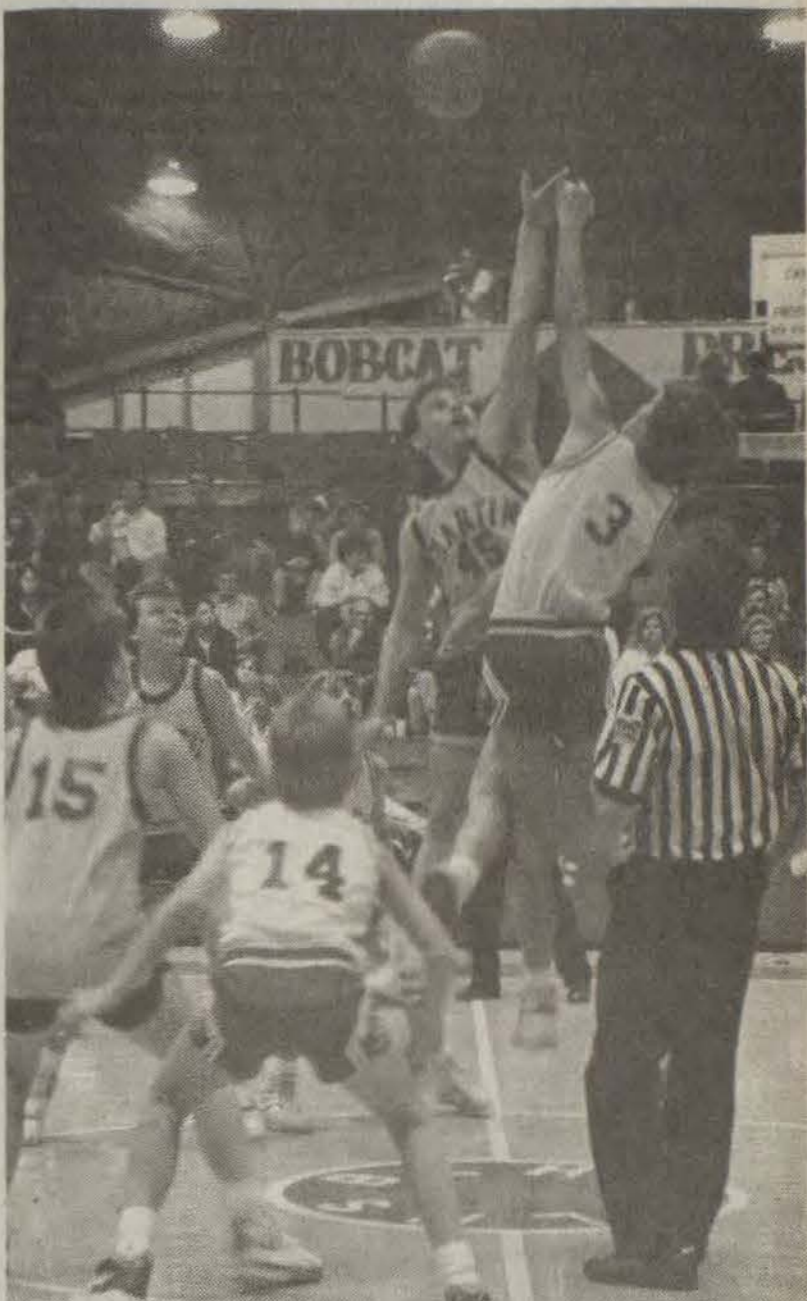

The team was treated to a parade Sunday that took them through Martin, Wayland, Maytown and Prestonsburg and then to the Western Steer in Pikeville for a steak dinner, Mosley revealed. "The biggest thrill was when they went through Prestonsburg."

"We wanted to take them to the Pizza Hut, but the players said coach this was not a pizza victory but a steak victory," he said.

Besides Patton's 15 rebounds, Howell pulled down 11. Reitz had six assists in the game and Porter had four.

Byron Gearheart led all Martin scorers with 12 points, and Hubert Likens added 11. Martin, having to play without Kelly Stephens who fractured his hand in an earlier game, had trouble rebounding with the Eagles.

Johnson's 26 points push Trojans over Cardinals, 86-66

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Howard Johnson had only three points against the McDowell Daredevils in last Tuesday night. But the junior forward made amends against the Sheldon Clark Cardinals with a 26-point performance to lead the upsurging Trojans of Wheelwright to a 86-66 victory in regional play at the Wheelwright gym Saturday night.

The Trojans opened with a hot hand in the first period and held a 15-point advantage after one quarter of play, 26-11, over the young Cardinals. The Cardinals are in a rebuilding year under new coach Roger Harless. The Cards graduated their top eight players from last year's team.

By half time the Trojans took a 20-point lead to the locker room, 45-25. Wheelwright, which is showing signs of coming around to preseason expectations, won for the second time in its last three games to improve the record to 4-6.

Besides Johnson's 26, senior Brad Compton tossed in 15 points and Jimmy Helton added 13 in the win. Helton has come a long ways since the first of the year for the Trojans to give them some needed offense to coach Monroe Jones' team.

Wheelwright had nine players to score in the game as all got to see action. Layne Bailey had nine points in the game of the Trojans.

Freshman Shawn Hale was top scorer for the Cardinals with 19 points. Hale is one of the fine freshmen the Cardinals have to build a team around. C. Shannon added 17 points in the Cardinal loss.

In a game played Friday night at Elkhorn City, the Trojans fell to the Cougars, 97-70. The Cougars scored 36 points in the fourth quarter to break open the game. The Cougars led at the half by 13 points. Wheelwright came back in the third quarter and cut the lead to nine, 61-52, going into the final period.

Kevin Belcher led the Cougars with 21 points. Harold Johnson scored 18 points to lead the Trojans in scoring. A trio of players had 13 points for Wheelwright: Brad Compton, Steve Johnson and Jimmy Helton.

P'burg 'Cats claw ACHS Rebels, 57-48

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Blackcats, defending 15th Regional champions, may not be the strong and powerful team of last year, but they are playing with more finesse this time around.

"No, we're not the physical team of last year," Blackcat coach Gordon Parido stated after his team defeated a strong Allen Central team, 57-48, Friday night at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse. "We have to play with more finesse this year."

Chris Slone, who has been the silver lining of this year's Blackcat team, netted 20 points to lead the home standing Blackcats to victory.

After both teams had played to a 11-11 first quarter tie, Slone hit a three-pointer to put the Blackcats up 14-11, and the Blackcats never trailed again. The last time the score was tied was at 14-14 on a basket by Rick Smith. With 3:09 remaining in the second quarter, the Blackcats ran off nine unanswered points, including another three-pointer by Slone, to go on top 29-18.

The Rebels really struggled in the third period, scoring only eight points as the Blackcats opened up a 14-point advantage, 44-30, behind the scoring of Kevin Adams and Jeff Sloan.

"We basically made some adjustments at half time," said Parido. "We sealed off the baseline on them and put more defensive pressure there and try and keep the ball out of Smith's (Rick) hands."

Allen Central looked like the team many expected this year in the fourth quarter. After Adams hit a free throw to give the Blackcats their biggest lead at 45-30, the Rebels mounted a charge of their own by scoring seven straight points to cut the lead to eight, 45-37.

Joey Conn led the Rebel charge by scoring underneath and picking up the foul for a three-point play. The big forward then scored on a nice drive to the basket, followed by a basket by Ronnie Sammons.

"We stop attacking the Allen Central defense in that stretch," said Coach Parido of the Rebel drive. "Our kids probably started thinking losing

Brown leads Lady Wildcats To 'promised land', 48-38

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

"And a child shall lead them." This could be a good description of Marsha Brown, 4'7" basketball player for the Maytown Lady Wildcats.

Brown, standing among the taller players in the county, looks like a child. But when she puts on the basketball shoes and takes to the floor, she takes on a whole new look. Brown led her team to an upset victory over previously undefeated John M. Stumbo, 48-38, Friday night at Betsy Layne in the championship of the Floyd County grade school tournament.

Brown, having to face double, triple, and sometime quadruple teaming, scored 30 points to lead her team to a "promised victory."

"Marsha Brown is something," said Maytown Principal Lorena "Sis" Chaffins. "They put three and four players on her and she would drive through them and score like it was nothing."

"It makes me want to play harder when they double team me," Brown said of the defense she is constantly seeing. "It sure feels great to win a championship."

Brown is quick to give praise to her teammate Michelle Castle who scored 16 points in the contest. "Michelle is a good player and we look to her to lead us," Brown said. According to other sources, Brown is also looked on as a team leader.

Brown, who said she has been dribbling a basketball since she was three years old, gives credit to her cousin Tammy "Tojo" Martin for her success as a basketball player. Martin was a quality player in her own right at Allen Central.

Brown said that the undefeated record of the Stumbo girls did not intimidate her team.

"We went out on the floor with the attitude to do the best that we could," says the mighty 4'7" player. "They are a good basketball team and they played good defense against us. The game was close all the way and had their shots fallen in they could have won."

Brown said they played a 2-3 zone defense against the taller Lady Mustangs and had to go to a man to man in the second half.

"This is probably the hardest working team we've had here at John M.," Paul David Tackett, Lady Mustang coach, said. "All of our starters are straight 'A' students. We've had an excellent season. A 15-1 record is nothing to be ashamed of."

"The little Brown girl played an excellent game against us," he continued. "She gave 110 percent like she should do. Our smaller girls learned a lot by watching her play. They see they can play like that."

"We missed some easy shots in the game down the stretch," Tackett stated. "We had a seven-point lead in the second quarter and they came back to take a two-point lead at the half. We just couldn't get to the Brown girl. She was hitting everything she put up. She shot one time falling down and made it. When you are having a game like that, there's not much you can do defensively. We put a chaser on her and double teamed her but we could not stop her."

Early foul trouble for Amanda Hayes hurt the board work of the Lady Mustangs.

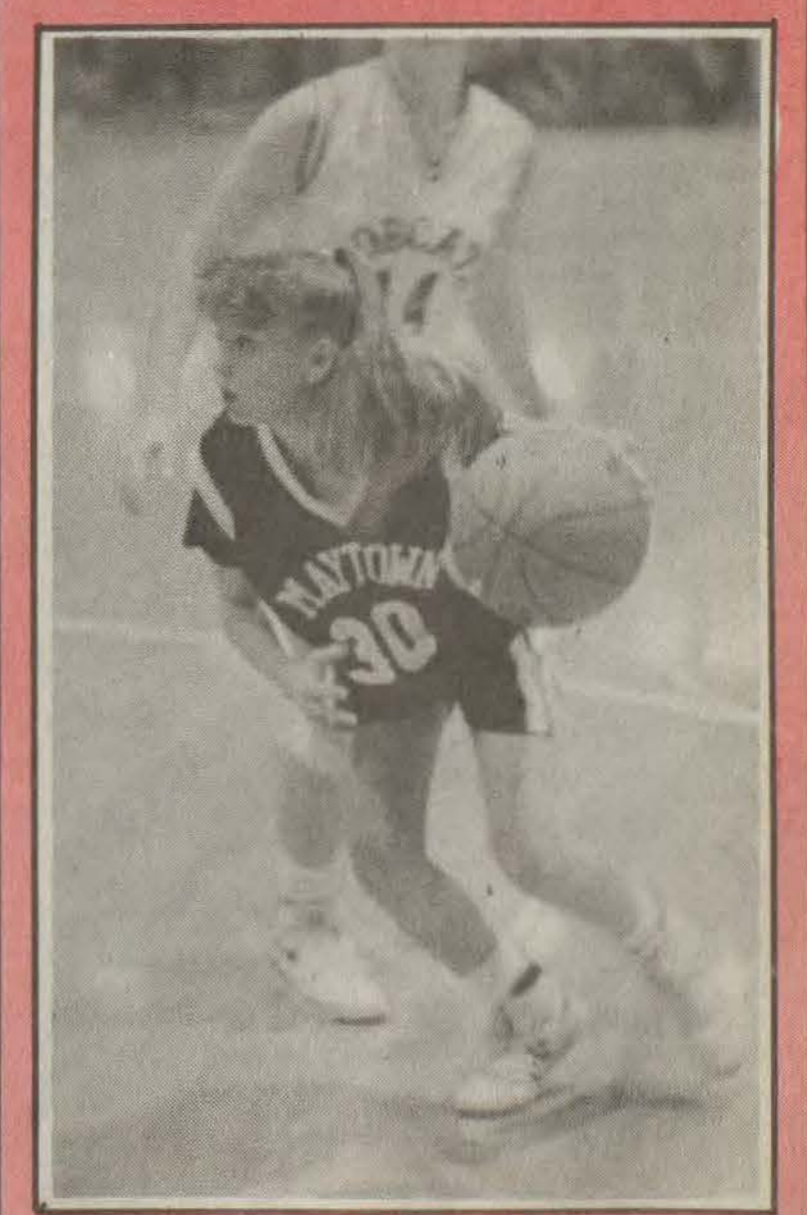

"Yeah, Amanda got into foul trouble and had to come out," Tackett said. "She has been getting a lot of rebounds all season for us. Amanda and Misty (Johnson) are good rebounders."

Lady Bobcats post Third win over Pike

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The old saying "third time's a charm," has no bearing with the Lady Bobcats of Betsy Layne when it comes to playing the Lady Panthers of Pikeville. The Lady Bobcats won over the Lady Panthers for the third time this season, 62-60, in the consolation game of the Pikeville Invitational Tournament Saturday night.

Betsy Layne won over the Lady Panthers in early December with a 52-50 decision in a regularly scheduled game. The Lady Bobcats won again by two points, 66-64, on Brianna Boyd's last second shot at Pikeville on Jan 15.

Saturday night was the third two point victory for Betsy Layne as the Lady Bobcats followed the 15-point performances of Jamie Smith and Brenda Hamilton to victory.

Pikeville held an eight-point advantage at 15-7 at the end of the first period and trailed 27-20 going to the locker room at the half.

Betsy Layne doubled the score on the Lady Panthers in the third period, 28-14, to take a 48-41 lead at the third stop. Pikeville mounted a comeback in the final stanza but fell short in losing for the ninth time this year. The Lady Cats go to 12-5 on the season and will travel to Paintsville Monday night.

In a game played on Thursday night, the Lady Bobcats handled the Mullins Lady Tigers for the second time this season with a 51-35 victory. Jamie Smith was the Lady Cats leading scorer with 19 points. Susan Kelly was high scorer for Mullins with 20 points. Mullins led at the half 26-24. However, the Lady Tigers only scored nine points in the second half, getting just two in the third period, while the visitors netted 27.

Leedy Under Goes Surgery

Reds Sign Jackson To $1.15 Million Contract

Used to be when you had a good season in professional baseball you received a raise. But now have one good season and it could put spectacular bucks in your jeans. Such is the case with Danny Jackson who just signed a $1.15 million contract with the Cincinnati Reds last week. Jackson, 23-8 in 1988, has had that one good year. Last season the lefthander developed a sore arm and surgery was required for the 8-13 pitcher. Now he is back with a one-year contract. "I don't want a long term contract with the Reds until they prove they are willing to do what they can to put together a winning team," Jackson is reported to have said.

Brown and Bengal Fans Say 'Wait Until Next Year'

When the 49'ers and the Broncos are playing before a sellout crowd in the Super Bowl, Bengals and Browns fans will be able to say once again "Wait until next year." (What would we do without that phrase?) The Browns lost a hard one to Denver, 37-21, scoring all 21 points in the third quarter. The '49'ers and Broncos game should be a great one.

Hood To Be Out Two More Weeks

Bobby Hood, starting guard for the Wheelwright Trojans, will be out for at least two more weeks because of a stress fracture. Monroe Jones says Hood will be watched to see how he responds.

Football Trojans Working Out In Weight Room

Coach Roger Johnson of the Wheelwright Trojans says that he has 27 players working out in the weight room at Wheelwright. The team will be working out during the summer in anticipation of next season's schedule.

Lady Colonels Take First Place In OVC

Coach Larry Inman's Eastern Kentucky University Lady Colonels took over first place in the Ohio Valley Conference with a couple of heart stopping road victories over Austin Peay and Murray State. The two wins improve EKV's conference record to 3-0 and run the season record to 7-4.

Spring Training Or No Spring Training

Here we go again! The owners are planning a lockout of teams at spring training next month. Then when the players' union needs a new working contract we'll strike. So it goes! The Red-Yanks, I mean Reds, are looking to contend this season. They should. They have the talent to win it all. Question: Can Pinellia bring it out of the season-long slump. Answer: Not if there is a late spring training.

Brown's six free throws Sink Lady Cats, 42-35

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

She's only 4' 7" tall. She is quick and not afraid to mix it up with the big girls. She hit six straight free throws to seal the Maytown Lady Wildcats 42-35 victory over the Lady Cats of Betsy Layne Elementary. The two teams met in the semifinals of the Floyd County grade school basketball tournament.

She, of course, is Marsha Brown! The semifinal game between the section one runner up and section four runner up was close all the way until the fourth quarter. With Maytown leading 27-25, Betsy Layne had a chance to open up a lead, but missed four straight free throws, two of them being one and ones.

Maytown then went out to a 34-27 lead behind the scoring of Brown who had 21 points in the game. Misty Clark of Betsy Layne then took over and led the Lady Cats back to within one, 34-33.

Betsy Layne then began to double and triple Brown and the petite basketball player sank six straight free throws.

Besides Brown's 21 points, Michelle Castle added 17. Castle suffered some sickness after the game.

Misty Clark had a good game and finished the game with 23 points. Jamie Ratcliff, the Lady Cats' other leading scorer had only three points in the contest.

"I think that Jamie played a good game under the circumstances," Betsy Layne coach Shelia Ortega said. "We didn't get very many calls tonight. We missed some shots at the end there also."

It was then on to the finals for the Lady Wildcats.

Betsy Layne wins two, Loses one in shootout

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Betsy Layne Bobcats finished in a tie for their pool in the Famous Recipe Shootout but did not get to advance on to the finals of the tournament because Campbell County won more quarters than the Bobcats.

Betsy Layne won over Madison Central in the opening round of the tournament. Then on Thursday night the Bobcats defeated the host school, Connors High School, 70-67, in overtime. Adam Gearheart led the Bobcats with 20 points. Senior center Sam Stewart tossed in 18 points.

Connors led at the half 37-34. Connors held a one-point advantage, 47-46, at the third stop and the score was tied at 61-61 at the end of regulation play.

Chris Newsome had 15 points for the victorious Bobcats and Phillip King tossed in eight.

In Friday night's contest against Campbell County, the Bobcats got into foul trouble as they dropped a 63-51 game.

"The game was closer than the final score would indicate," said Betsy Layne coach Junior Newsome. "We ran into some foul problems against Campbell County."

Adam Gearheart and Sam Stewart led the Bobcats in scoring with 13 points each. The Bobcats are 8-5 on the season and will face Owsley County on Thursday night in the second round of the WYMT-TV Mountain Classic at Knott County Central.

"We played some good basketball. It was good experience for the players against good teams," said Newsome. "I feel we represented our region well in the tournament."

Lady Daredevils Fall At Phelps, 63-42

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Lady Daredevils of McDowell, looking for some leadership on the floor, may have found it in freshman Christy Mullins who has emerged as the Lady Devils' floor general.

"She has really come for us of late and took control and showed the leadership this team needs. She can see things on the court that the team is doing wrong and tells them about it. They listen to her too," explained McDowell coach Cassandra Keathley. Lack of leadership on the older players' part has necessitated the new role for the freshman player.

Even the new look in leadership wasn't enough to help the 3-8 Lady Daredevils. McDowell fell behind early in the first quarter and had to play catch up the rest of the way. McDowell trailed by 10, 26-16, at the half.

Krystal Dotson scored 19 points to lead the Lady Hornets in scoring. Beth Allen tossed in 15 for the defending 15th Regional champions. Nicole Wolford added 11.

McDowell was able to cut the Phelps' lead to six in the third quarter, but the Lady Hornets then rallied to move out to a 20-point spread, 43-23.

"We had some good shots at the basket, but our shots were not falling for us," explained Keathley. "We had six air balls all because we were rushing our shots."

"Our defense was good," said Keathley, "and we had a lot of steals in the game off of it. Phelps was having problems in shooting the ball early but started hitting in the second half on us."

Lori Bryant scored 13 points in leading the Lady Daredevils in that department. Bryant also had 11 rebounds in the game. Priscilla Crawford added 12 points in the game and pulled down six rebounds. Michelle Hall and Kristy Pack also had six boards in scoring six points. Shelby Howell tossed in seven.

When weighing precious stones, there are about 142 carats in one ounce.

McDowell shot just 23 percent in the game in falling to 3-8 on the season. The Lady Daredevils will face Jenkins tonight at Jenkins.

Bassin' With The Pros How The Professionals Practice

Most of today's major bass competitions provide a special one, two or three-day practice period immediately preceding the tournament itself—valuable time the pros use to locate fish and establish actual fishing patterns.

In recent years, a new trend known as "pre-practice" has started and many consider it more valuable than the actual tournament practice.

"Pre-practice is making a trip to a lake just before it goes off-limits for the tournament," explains Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff member Ken Cook. "The purpose of this trip is simply to gain knowledge about the lake itself, such as the color of the water, the location of cover, or even how to navigate it."

"Sometimes, very little of this time is actually spent fishing. We just go boat riding, going into every major tributary creek and looking at the conditions."

Pre-practice trips can last from one to as many as five days, Cook explains, and have become necessary because of the intense competition now in major professional tournaments. Without pre-practice time on the water, an angler would have to spend his official tournament practice time simply learning the water, rather than finding the fish.

"Even though water conditions can change in the two or three week off-limits period between pre-practice and the tournament," explains the Evinrude pro, "the time still is not wasted."

"During pre-practice I carry a tape recorder with me in the boat and note the different things I'm looking for, such as muddy water, weedlines, or rocky ledges."

"Then, when I get back to my room that night, I play the tape back and mark these things on my map. That gives me a permanent record to study no matter what the conditions are during the tournament."

the spring and fall he spends less time fishing because the patterns often do change during the off-limits period.

"Many times, we actually decide where we're going to fish during the tournament when we're pre-practicing," says Cook. "then when the official practice begins, we go right to that spot and begin working out a pattern."

to expand its coverage of high school basketball in the county in the near future. Plans are being made to carry the district tournament games live this season. Also football and baseball are in the plans of WPRG-TV for the coming seasons.

According to WPRG-TV sports director B.J. Newsome, the local station wanted to provide those not able to come to the games with the opportunity of seeing the local schools in action. "We did it for the fans," Newsome said. "We know there are some out there who are not able to get to the games, so we figured this was a good way to show some live games." # Reitz leads Allen Over Osborne, 44-36

Sports Editor

For the second straight tournament game, the Allen Eagles had to overcome a half-time deficit to win in the semifinals of the Floyd County Elementary tournament at Betsy Layne on Thursday night.

The Eagles followed the 14-point performance of Cory Reitz to a 44-36 victory over the previously unbeaten Osborne Eagles. Osborne came into the game with an unblemished 12-0 record — the only undefeated boys team in the county and a favorite to capture the tournament.

"Charles Johnson is as good a center as I have seen in the county this year," Allen co-coach David Mosley said. "They have a guard that can penetrate and shoot from the outside."

The Allen Eagles were quick out of the gate with six straight points before Osborne could put any points on the board. Charles Johnson made it 6-3 on a three-point play. Both teams traded baskets the remainder of the first period with Allen holding a 12-9 edge.

With Allen leading 14-13 early in the second stanza, Osborne took a 20-14 lead by running off seven unanswered points. Johnson again scored on a three-point play, and baskets by Mike Crager and Hall added to the Osborne run. Osborne held on to lead at the half, 22-18.

"One of the things we will need to do to win is play good defense and double up on Osborne's big boy underneath," Mosley said. The Allen Eagles accomplished that by limiting standout center Johnson to just 10 points. Mosley said that controlling the Osborne Eagles fastbreak was a must.

"They like to throw the ball long a lot on the break," he said, "and we will need to keep somebody back on defense." The Allen Eagles did stop the Osborne break, although they did get a couple of nice run outs.

Osborne maintained a six-point advantage in the third period as the team played good defensive basketball and hit the boards well. With Osborne up 30-24, Allen made a run as the Eagles defense tightened up. A basket by Reitz and Matt Porter made it 30-27. After a Hall basket for Osborne, Allen scored eight straight points to take a 35-32 third quarter lead.

Joe Howell opened the scoring for Allen in the opening seconds of the final period to give Allen a five-point advantage at 37-32. Johnson then scored four points on two free throws and a basket to pull to within one, 37-36. Spurlock's bucket made it 39-36, and two field goals from long range by Reitz moved Allen to a seven-point lead at 43-36.

The Osborne Eagles could not find the basket in the final minute and a half as the Eagles, with 52 seconds to go, spread their offense and stalled the game which forced Osborne to put them on the foul line. Allen missed six straight charity tosses before Phillip Patton finally connected to give the final score of 44-36.

Co-coach Stevie Halbert said, "It was just another tough game."

Charles Johnson (23) of Osborne rebounds over Joe Howell (43) of Allen at the Betsy Layne gym. Allen defeated an excellent Osborne team and went on to win the Floyd County grade school tournament.

again. We have a losing record, although we have lost to some good teams. But they righted themselves and pulled it back out.

"Allen Central did a good job of isolating Conn and getting the ball to him," said the Blackcat coach. "We knew we would have trouble with Allen Central."

The Blackcats bowed their necks and toughened up their defense and pulled back out to a 10-point lead, 53-43. The Rebels scored on two baskets by Conn and a free throw by Cotton Parsons to pull within five, 53-48. Prestonsburg hit four free throws at the end to give the final margin of 57-48.

"I was concerned about our defense after the Johnson Central game," Coach Parido said. "I thought we didn't put enough pressure on the ball. In this game we played good defense and pressured the ball well."

Adams had 17 points in the game for Prestonsburg. Smith and Parsons each tossed in 10 points.

The Blackcats improved their record to 5-7 and goes to 2-1 in the conference. Allen Central falls to 5-8 and 2-2 in the conference.

Prestonsburg will travel to Belfry Tuesday night and Allen Central will host the McDowell Daredevils Friday night and Virgie Saturday night.

Shelton scores

Keith Shelton (44) scores two of his game high 26 points against Greenup County Saturday night at McDowell. The Daredevils went on to defeat the Musketeers 59-56 to avenge an earlier loss.

McDowell bests Greenup County Behind senior Shelton's 26 points

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Johnny Ray Turner's McDowell Daredevils revenged an earlier loss at the hands of the Musketeers of Greenup County, by defeating the visitors, 59-56, Saturday night at McDowell. The Daredevils lost to the Greenup County school, 66-59, on Dec. 1.

Senior center, 6' 5" Keith Shelton was almost unstoppable for the Daredevils as he scored 26 points at will on some good offensive play. More important was the ability of the Daredevils to get the ball inside to Shelton. But Shelton's scoring was not limited inside the paint, as he hit from the 12-foot range also.

The Daredevils jumped to a 4-0 lead on baskets by the Hall boys, Stacy and Marc. Two long range three-pointers by Kelly Ward made it 6-4. Shelton tied the game with a 10-footer at 6-6. The Musketeers held a three-point lead, 17-14, at the end of the first quarter. Shelton had eight points in the first stanza.

Trailing 27-23 in the second, the Daredevils outscored the visitors, 8-0, to take a 31-27 lead to the locker room. The comeback was led by Marc Hall and Shelton.

Greenup County came back in the third period and took a 34-33 lead. Shelton opened the third for McDowell with a turnaround jumper to give the Daredevils a 33-27 lead. The Musketeers ran off seven straight points to take back the lead.

Doug Hopkins then led a Daredevil charge that regained the lead for them at 40-34. Hopkins scored five of the seven Daredevils points, three coming on a three-point play off an offensive putback.

Leading 50-46 in the fourth, McDowell went cold from the field and in handling the basketball. However, the Musketeers were cold at the free throw line as they missed six of seven attempts that allowed McDowell to go up by seven, 53-46.

Where Greenup County was cold at the free throw line, McDowell kept the lead from the charity stripe. Stacy Hall hit six of six in the closing seconds of the game to preserve the 59-56 win.

Stacy Hall added 16 points for the Daredevils. Marc Hall scored 12 points. Tracy Claxton led the Musketeers in scoring with 17 points. Ward finished with 13, including three three-pointers.

Besides scoring 26 points, Shelton also hauled down 13 rebounds. McDowell won its third game of the season in putting together two good halves. The Daredevils have lost 13 times.

"We played a team game," said Stacy Hall. "We played together tonight and that is what won it for us."

Lady Rebs survive Blackcat scare, 64-55

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

With the Floyd County Conference race winding down and as teams jockey for the best position in the conference standings, two teams that figure to be in the thick of things met on the basketball court Friday night at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse.

When the smoke had all cleared the scoreboard read: Allen Central 64, Prestonsburg 55. The win did not come as easily as might had been expected as the Lady Blackcats gave the Lady Rebels a scare before falling to the second place Lady Rebs.

Senior Jo Ann Conn scored 29 points to lead the Lady Rebels to victory. Conn had 12 field goals and connected on five of seven free throws. Teresa Gibson added 16 points. Gibson kept the middle open for Conn with her long range shooting.

Kathy Slone, who led the Lady Blackcats in scoring with 18 points, was slow coming out of the gate for the home team as the Cats trailed by seven at the first stop, 13-6.

"We wanted to keep Slone from getting the ball," Conn said of her team's 2-3 zone defense in the game. "In the second half we just wanted to slow the ball down and work inside because we were playing out of control in the first half."

One area of improvement in the Lady Rebels' game was at the free throw line. According to Conn, that has been stressed in practices.

"That is one area we have really worked on in practices since the Betsy Layne game," she said.

Allen Central rolled out to a 10-point advantage, 16-6, early in the second stanza when Slone caught fire and scored six unanswered points to bring Prestonsburg to within four, 16-12. The Lady Rebs moved back out by seven, 27-20, and Prestonsburg made another run at them to close to within three, 29-26, just before the half.

Prestonsburg opened the third quarter with a three-point play by Edwina Hale to tie the score at 29-all. Slone then picked up her third personal foul with 7:41 remaining in the third and had to depart for the bench.

The Lady Blackcats went ahead for the first time, 32-31, on a three-point play by Slone with 6:39 to go in the third stanza and built the lead to five on buckets by Amy Reed and Carolyn Reffitt. With 2:41 to go the Lady Blackcats led 44-37 and seemed in control. Allen Central then scored the last nine points of the third quarter to take a 46-44 lead behind the scoring of Conn and Gibson.

"I was surprised that Prestonsburg let me shoot the ball. I thought they would play me and not let me have the shot," number two guard Teresa Gibson said. "I was surprised. We knew that it would be a hard game for us."

Stephanie Music picked up the scoring for the Lady Blackcats to help keep Prestonsburg in the game while Slone was sitting out. Music finished the game with 10 points.

The Lady Rebs moved out by nine, 55-46, with 5:28 to play and trailed 61-50 with 2:04 to go. Slone missed four free throws down the stretch, two of those being one and ones. Slone, normally a good free throw shooter, suffered at the charity stripe, missing 11 times while making six. The Lady Rebs connected on five of seven in the final seconds of the game to secure the conference win.

Allen Central coach Bonita Compton said that Darnella Bradley, who did not start the game, was the key in the second half.

"Darnella was sick with the flu," Compton stated. "However, she was the key in the second half on the boards and a key basket."

"I was really surprised that Gibson was so free to take the shot from outside. I figure they would have practiced to contain her and Conn, but they never."

"At half time we told them to go back to their game and go back inside to Conn. They couldn't stop Conn on the inside because they did not have the big man."

Compton said that she feels like this is Conn's best conference game and that she saw no favoring of the injured knee.

Prestonsburg placed three players in double figures. Besides Slone's 18 points, Carolyn Reffitt had 11 points and Music 10 points. Hale finished with seven. Prestonsburg missed a total of 18 foul shots in the game.

WYMT Mountain Classic Features region's best

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

What is fast becoming one of Kentucky's best seasonal tournaments, the WYMT-TV Mountain Classic will feature eight of the top teams out of the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th regions, beginning Monday night at the Knott County Central High School gymnasium.

The tournament gets underway tonight (Wednesday) with defending champion Clay County taking on Feds Creek. Clay County will be Farmer-less tonight as Bobby Keith's team is still one of the state's premier teams. Gone are the Richie and Russ Farmers, but returning for the Clay County team will be 6'5" All-District, All-Regional selection Terry Gray. Among other returnees will be point guard Lloyd Collins.

Feds Creek is led by All-State candidate Jody Thompson, ninth leading scorer in the state with a 27.4 per game average. Joining the Vikings center will be Rodney Fuller and Shannon Keene, the feisty little point guard. Coach Ralph Good's son, Matt, rounds out a formidable group of players.

Fourteenth Regional contender Hazard will square off against Bell County out of the 13th Region in the second game Wednesday night at 8 p.m.

Hazard is this year's choice to take the 14th Region championship while Bell County isn't expected to contend in the region. David Alexander, 15 points per game and seven rebounds per game, will lead the Bulldogs' offensive attack this season. Anthony Sharpey, trading his football jersey for a basketball one, will bring a 12-points per game average for the Bulldogs.

Bell County out of the 51st District will have four starters returning from a team that won 24 ball games last season. The Bobcats are the defending 51st District champions. Leading the Bobcats this season will be 5'11" senior Donald Elliott, an All-District and All-Regional selection last year while averaging 19.8 points per game.

In the lower bracket play, mighty M.C. Napier will take on mightier Corbin in the first round on Thursday night at 6:30 p.m. Napier, another 14th Region team out of the 54th District, will be led by 10th year coach Denny Fugate, a veteran of the basketball wars. When you talk of Navajo basketball, you have to talk about Shannon Hoskins, a 6'1" sophomore who as a freshman averaged 25 points per game. Many opposing coaches already rank him as the top player in the 14th Region.

Corbin, the 13th Region's preseason pick to capture the top spot and earn a trip to the "sweetsixteen", will have a tough time in the 50th District. The Redhounds are favored to unseat the Clay County Tigers this season. Eleven lettermen return for the 1989-90 Redhounds led by 6'3" senior Tommy Stewart and second leading scorer and rebounder, 6'5" Bo Roaden. Stewart was named to the KY junior All-Stars and Roaden was tabbed to the KY Sophomore All-Star squad.

McDowell JV's fall To Greenup, 42-39

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Jason Blevins of Greenup County scored 14 points to help the Musketeers Junior Varsity defeat McDowell 42-39 in JV action Saturday night at McDowell. Brad Stokes tossed in 10 points for the winners.

Barry Hall led McDowell in scoring with 16 points and teammate Dale Hinkle added 11. Hall had three three-pointers in the game also.

McDowell JV's had a 7-3 lead in the first period until the Musketeers ran off 11 straight points before the quarter ended. Hall opened the game for McDowell with a three-pointer and followed with a bucket to make it 5-3. Hinkle's basket gave the McDowell players their seventh point in the first.

The younger Daredevils pulled to within one point of the visitors, 13-12, on a basket by Hinkle and a three-point play by the big center. Both teams exchanged baskets in the second half, with Greenup County going to the locker room at half time with a 19-16 lead.

The Musketeers busted things opened in the third period by scoring 12 quick points to take a 31-16 lead.

McDowell started getting back into the ball game in the fourth quarter after Greenup outscored them 6-2 at the start. A 13-4 run by the Daredevils cut the lead to six, 42-36. A three-pointer just before the final horn gave the final score of 42-39.

Matt Johnson and Bret Morgan each had four points in the game for McDowell. Chris Hopkins and Dan Combs chipped in with two each.

Lady Daredevils Squeeze Past Johns Creek, 43-39

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Cassandra Keathley's Lady Daredevils played almost a perfect first quarter against the Lady Bearcats of Johns Creek Monday night at Johns Creek.

"We played excellent basketball the first quarter," Keathley said of her team's play. "We played good defense and our offense was good."

The Lady Devils scored 14 points in the first period while their defense held the Lady Bearcats to only three first quarter points.

"After the first quarter we went back to normal," said Keathley. "We did execute on offense in the second quarter and we let down on defense."

McDowell held a 19-15 half time lead over Johns Creek and held a slim three point advantage, 32-29, at the third stop.

The Lady Bearcats pulled to within one point of the visiting team when Priscilla Crawford was fouled. Crawford converted both charity tosses to put the Lady Devils on top by three. On the Lady Bearcats' next possession, McDowell stole the ball and Lori Bryant was fouled. Bryant hit one of the free tosses to take a four-point lead, the margin of victory.

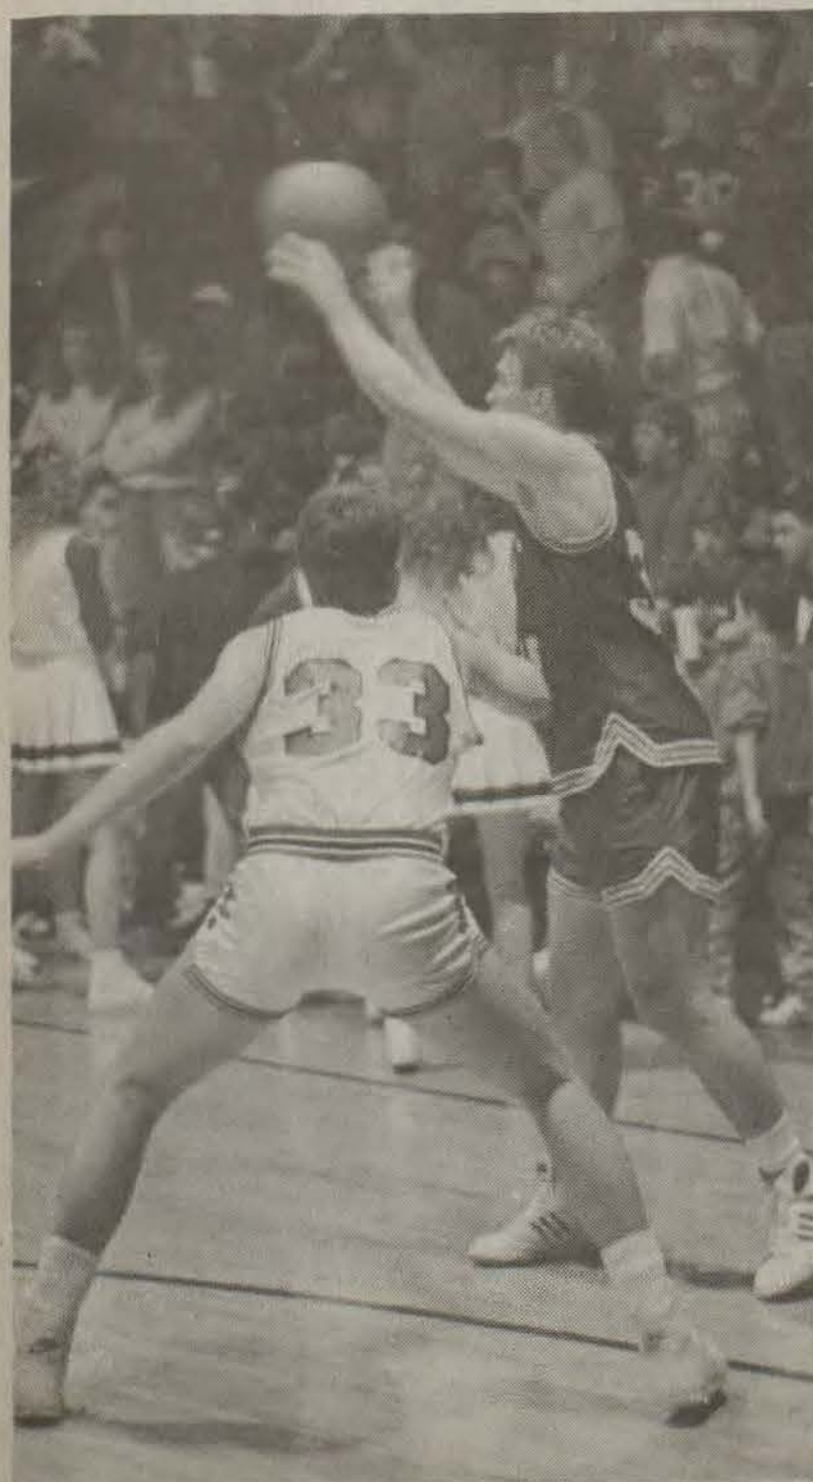

Jenny Slone led the Lady Daredevils in scoring with 15 points. Crawford finished with 13 points while Bryant netted 11. Kristy Pack pulled down 13 rebounds for McDowell while scoring four points. Bryant had nine rebounds in the contest.

Jonda Collins led the Lady Bearcats with 22 points as the only double figure scorer.

Poet's Corner

The Dusk

The dusk across the fields is creeping,
And all the pretty flowers seem sleeping.
Far on yon distant hill I see
The vanishing of each tree.

Farther on and out of sight,
There seems to be no beams of light.
All is silent except some insects and birds,
Whose chirps and songs, all night are heard.

The voice of the cricket, so firm and shrill,
Then the melody of the Whippoorwill.
Filling the air and filling the dell,
Telling each heart that all is well.

Then in the silence so deep and still,
The broad faced moon peeps over the hill.
Lighting the valley, so serene and still,
At peace with man, just doing "God's Will."

As I behold the wonders of night,
The moon and stars that shine so bright.
The wonderful gleam of Heaven's light,
I wonder why nations would want to fight.

Love thy neighbor is "God's Command,"
Help lead him on that he might stand.
Then take up your cross and follow me,
That you may dwell in eternity.

While sitting on the porch at night,
I watch the last faint beams of light.
Then late at night a sleepy head,
I retire and go to bed.

—John B. Conley
Chillicothe, Ohio

A Sight To See

A joyous sight I could ever see having a small one to look like me but never a smile on her pretty face
This loving child God saved by Grace.
Her eyes are empty and will never see but ever so special she will always be.
If only I could call back time and change my ways before she was mine
So she could laugh and talk to me
Instead of the way she will always be.
No feeling, no emotion, no laughter, or pain, her mom can never be the same.
It's all my fault she will always say to cause my baby to be born this way.
So all you girls that live out there and never worry or give a care please think of little ones that will some day be out in a world unable to see.

—Jackie Hall
Hollybush

A Mountain To Climb

Lord, we know the little things we do day by day
That will help us to find our way — but —
We cannot shun the things that need to be done
And still expect to meet you someday.

We cannot turn our backs on ones less fortunate than we,
Go on our way and pretend we do not see,
For Jesus, while here on earth, planted the seed
That we should help our friends and neighbors who are in need.

He knows all things in our hearts and sees all the things we do,
Always watching from above, knows if our thoughts and deeds are true.
He places the mountains here on this earth for me and you —
Not all big things, lots of small ones too.

We must give not only food to eat
But also kindness, strength and love, not unheeded
Also give them faith and belief in God.
To help them through — when needed.

Sometimes this special nourishment
we forget to give
To the most needed to help us to live.

To climb our mountain we have to begin with the little things
And face each problem before us —
Whether it bring joy or pain —
Hold fast to all that's good in God's great plan
According to all "Gospel principles"
God has laid out for man.

—Myrtle Berry
Martin

Always

Always try to find a smile
So good memories will stay awhile.
Learn to love the summer
sunshine
So life won't treat you unkind.

—Tom DeRossett

Hold Her Hand

Mommie, Mommie, wait for me
Was the last words that she said.
She crossed the street but didn't see
The car that struck her head.

A crowd of people gathered round
While the little girl lay dying.
And everyone could hear the sound
Of the mother softly crying.

"I should have held her little hand
And let her walk beside me,
Oh, God, I just don't understand
How you could take her from me.

How many times had she been told
That this could happen somehow,
In heaven she'll cross streets of gold
And God will hold her hand now.

So mommy hold her little hand
And don't walk off and leave her
Cause she's too young to understand
That a driver may not see her.

—Brenda Stricklin
Paintsville

In Memoriam

Two sons and wives unto the end
Of sacrifice and service given,
The Master's Hand, prithe extend,
And gently lift her soul to Heaven.

No dimming lights with pathways darkened
To slow her steps along the way;
No more the voice shall go unheeded
Of pleading calls for help each day.

Ageless time will never send her
In search of "love" from door to door;
No cruel denials can now offend her—
All silenced now forevermore.

How painful must have been the moments
When turned away from door to door!
All silenced now, harsh words are dormant,
Since Mother's face will show no more.

Gone forever are cruel rejections
Of Mother's quest in search of care;
The hands of Fate have soothed objections
Since Mother is no more to share.

Four score and ten upon this earth
Of love and labor given;
Rejection was beneath her worth—
"My children! Oh, my children!"

Unto each life a day of Judgment
With measured "justice" its way will find;
When lips are sealed and life is spent
All earthly cares are left behind.

Well it's almost Super Bowl time. After this weekend the armchair quarterback will be giving up his recliner and probably moving to the couch for the remainder of basketball season. Chances are, the football fans will have over a group of cohorts this weekend for the big game.

Entertaining, no matter what the occasion, lends itself to having a healthy supply of food on hand. Why not have a tailgate party in front of the television and treat the guest to a variety of foods?

For the person not really interested in the game, or for those who have time to plan ahead, the County Kettle offers a variety of recipes to serve as a halftime meal or a pregame lunch. For those who would rather just whip something together, a good suggestion is Manwiches with the meat and bean mixture (requires a pound of ground beef) can be found in your local supermarket.

8 flour tortillas

Wash and drain lentils. Place in a medium saucepan with broth. Heat to boiling, cover and simmer 20 minutes or so, until lentils are just tender, yet holding their shape. Drain if necessary.

In small pan, heat olive oil over medium heat and sauté onions, garlic, zucchini and bell pepper. When crisp-tender, stir in lentils, cumin hot sauce and taco sauce.

Taste and adjust salt. Stir in cheese. Spoon about 1/2 cup mixture down center of each tortilla. Roll up. Can be assembled ahead; reheat by rolling each burrito in a dampened paper towel and microwaving for a minute. If eating them cold, roll a bit of diced avocado and sour cream into each burrito.

Makes 4 to 6 servings, prep time, 30 minutes.

International fair features Kentucky craftspeople

Kentucky will continue its high profile tradition with a unified presentation of the state's handicrafts at the New York International Gift Fair, Jan. 28-Feb. 1.

All of the work shown in the Kentucky section is made by juried participants in the state's Craft Marketing Program. To be accepted into this program, a craftsman's work is reviewed by a panel of noted craft professionals. All work from Kentucky's Craft Marketing Program participants bears "Kentucky Crafted" logo tags, a marketing tool for retailers.

Kentucky's booth will feature the work of some of the new craftspeople recently approved by the program's jurors. Stone vessels by young craftsman Don Lawler, contemporary ceramics by Laura Ross, Meriweiler McClorey and John Martin, and banded clothing by Gail Cohen will be among the new items Kentucky is offering. Returning as main attractions to buyers are Audrey Schultz' soft sculptured horses and Linda Bailey's painted fiber creatures.

"Kentucky's craftspeople bring together the unique combination of creativity and entrepreneurial skills in small business development efforts," said Arts Commissioner Lanette Thurman.

Jewelry, baskets, woven clothing and rugs, quilts, willow furniture and wood accessories will again be offered by the 10 Kentucky craft businesses representing their own work. A display featuring work from 14 additional juried participants will exemplify the work of the program's 280 participants. Contact information for these Kentucky craftspeople will be available in the Kentucky booth.

Buyers can also receive information about the Kentucky Craft Market, to be held in Louisville, Feb. 2-3. Now in its ninth year, the Kentucky Craft Market assembles over 100 of the state's "Kentucky Crafted" producers for buyers' convenience.

When taking a child's temperature, remember that body temperature in a normal child can vary 1.5 degrees F. during the course of a day. In general, a child's temperature will be lowest in the morning. When a child is running a fever, it is most likely caused by an infection. While a high fever is not necessarily a danger sign, there are certain guidelines. If a child less than three months old experiences a fever in excess of 101 degrees F., the pediatrician should be called. The doctor should also be alerted when a child between the ages of seven and 24-months has a fever greater than 103 degrees F. So, too, should a parent call the doctor when a child of any age has a fever greater than 103 degrees F., or when the fever persists for more than five days. Any of these cases could indicate a serious underlying infection.

Careers in the '90s

Geography Career Will Get You 'Someplace'

by Ed Deitz
UK News Service

"Without Geography You Are Nowhere," reads a bumper sticker in the office of University of Kentucky geography professor Stanley D. Brunn.

It is a symbol, he says, of a growing interest in the study of places and people.

"I think educators have awakened in the past several years upon reading about surveys that showed a large number of high school students couldn't even locate the United States on a global map," Brunn says.

Such an awakening, he is convinced, will translate into an increased emphasis on geography in elementary schools, and that, in turn, will mean more university students will choose geography as their major course of study and their career.

Figures in UK's geography department are already reflecting that awakening, as Brunn puts it.

Ten years ago, 30 UK undergraduate students were enrolled in the geography program. Today, 75 are majoring in the field that Brunn says "has almost unlimited job potential."

The federal government hires the largest number of geography graduates, with the Department of Defense employing most of those.

The military, he says, has always needed people who can interpret and analyze raw information from maps. The need will be even stronger in the future as the military increases its reliance on information beamed to earth from orbiting satellites.

Linda Ekers, a geography senior from Ashland, says she hopes to use her degree to land a job with the defense mapping agency, where other UK geography graduates have found work.

"I picked geography because it was fun," she says. "And I'm glad because it looks like there's plenty of opportunity in the field."

Entry level employees at the Department of Defense, such as Ekers hopes to become this summer, can expect to earn starting salaries of $14,000 to $21,000, says UK geography professor Gyula Pauer. With five years of experience, that can increase to as much as $30,000 a year, he says.

The Central Intelligence Agency is another major employer of geographers, Pauer says, and salaries there are comparable to what the military pays.

Pauer says he is sure that geographers at the CIA "definitely helped prepare the kind of information that was made available to the military and the White House prior to the (December) invasion of Panama (by US forces)."

Other geographers will find work with local or state planning agencies, in the marketing and development departments of major retailers and in computer technology companies.

"It's a very saleable discipline," Brunn observes. "Our people have gone on to study everything from pollution in the Mediterranean Sea to how and where to locate the next Holiday Inn or fast food restaurant."

There are a couple of reasons why a UK geography major is so saleable, Brunn and Pauer say.

First, UK offers geography courses that require students to familiarize themselves with such relatively new technological tools as:

—Computer programs that broaden the information base for geographers by allowing them to superimpose an unlimited number of social, political and economic variables onto maps.

—Electronic transmissions from orbiting satellites that beam down amazing amounts of information previously unavailable to geographers.

Second, and maybe more importantly, Brunn and Pauer point out, geography graduates are sought by employers because of what Brunn calls "the broadening aspect" of their studies.

"It's a synthesizing discipline," Brunn says, "because students here must have knowledge in many areas: the environment, ecology and geology; politics, economics, cultural characteristics and social concerns; the whole range.

"The study of geography is a holistic view of looking at things, and we think that's helpful not only in turning out a good geographer, but also a good citizen."

Spelling Champs Buzz To County Competition

Ten students vied for honors in the 1989-90 Martin Elementary Spelling Bee recently. Students in grades four through eight displayed exceptional skills as they competed for the honor of representing the school in the county match on Feb. 9.

Veronica Flannery, daughter of William and Latrilla Flannery, emerged the winner by correctly spelling "escalator" and "bravery." She is a fifth grade student of Carolyn Layne. Runner up is Kevin Whittaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Miller. He is a student of Susan Compton.

Other participants, misspelled words and the order of elimination are: (1) Stephen Reynolds, fourth grade, "narrow," (2) Renee Flannery, fourth grade, "sitting," (3) Mikia Robinson, fifth grade, "stretcher," (4) Kevin Stumbo, seventh grade, "instance," (5) Christal Samons, eighth grade, "bureau," (6) Beau Tackett, fifth grade, "obedient," (7) Jennifer Wade, seventh grade, "embarrassing," and (8) Mike Salyer, sixth grade, "missile."

The spelling match was conducted by the Martin Elementary reading teachers, under the direction of Principal William R. Hughes.

Calling All Adopted Canines, Poster Contest on the Way

Adopted canines from across the country are wagging their tails for the fifth annual Adopt-a-Dog Poster Dog Contest. Meaty Bone Dog Biscuits and Jerky Treats Dog Snacks sponsor the annual contest to find a newly adopted dog to represent the 13 million homeless canines that end up in America's animal shelters each year.

Fame, fortune and bones await the 1990 Poster Dog and its owner who will be shown on a poster that will grace the walls of more than 1200 animal shelters during Adopt-a-Dog Month next October. The pick of the litter also will receive $5000 in cash plus a year's supply of Meaty Bone Dog Biscuits and Jerky Treats Dog Snacks.

Additionally, three finalists will win a year's supply of Meaty Bone Dog Biscuits and Jerky Treats Dog Snacks, with $1000 in cash going to the first runner-up, and $500 going to the second and third place runners-up. The shelters from which these dog stars came will also receive matching cash grants.

All adopted dogs will be "barking up the right tree" as they enter this top dog contest. Entries should include a photograph of the dog and owner together as well as a description, in 100 words or less, of why the canine should be chosen to represent America's homeless dogs.

The deadline to request entries is Feb. 15. Owners may call the Poster Dog Hotline at (312) 280-7000, or write to Meaty Bone/Jerky Treats, 211 East Ontario, Suite 1300, Chicago, IL 60611 to receive an entry form.

Stevens Accepted To Dental School

Rodney Stevens of Garrett, a senior at Transylvania University, has been accepted into the University of Louisville School of Dentistry for the 1990-91 academic year.

Stevens attended Allen Central High School and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Stevens of Garrett.

On MSU Dean's List

Denise Caudill, daughter of Willard and Glenna Caudill of Marion, Ohio, has been named to the dean's list for the fall semester at Morehead State University.

A freshman majoring in math and computer programming, she is the granddaughter of Effie Howard of Garrett.

Osborne Nominated For Education Award

Doris Osborne of Wheelwright High School has been nominated for the Reader's Digest 1990 American Heroes in Education Awards, a national program honoring educators who are making a difference in US schools.

Winning educators from 10 schools will share a $150,000 award. Individual teacher and principals, or teams of up to six educators will receive $5000, with an additional $10,000 going to their schools to support the activities that earned them national honors.

Osborne was selected for nomination by fellow teachers, principals and administrators at WHS. Throughout her 22 years in teaching, Osborne has dedicated herself to expanding the studies of her students. Using alumni resources, grants and funds earned by presenting outside programs, she has added to the materials available to her students.

Weekend study projects are a part of the regular curriculum in her course of studies. Student presentations then become a part of an ever growing resource center for students.

The awards program is jointly sponsored by the Reader's Digest Association Inc., National Association of Secondary School Principals, National Education Association, National Association of Elementary School Principals and American Federation of Teachers.

In kicking off the second year of the three-year program, George V. Crune, Reader's Digest chairperson and chief executive officer, said, "We know there are many 'unsung heroes' successfully battling the problems in our schools."

P'nut Butter Maker Offers Fundraising For PTO Groups

Parent-teacher organizations at elementary schools have a chance to raise money for their groups through a program offered by Jif Peanut Butter and Jif Children's Education Fund.

The company has committed to putting 10 cents in the education fund for every pound of its peanut butter sold in the United States between Feb. 1 and April 30. A spokesperson for the fund said the company is projecting a $4 million contribution to the fund, which will be given to parent-teacher associations across the country.

Information has been sent to elementary school principals, according to the company. Gary Frazier, assistant superintendent of the Floyd County School System, is also encouraging organizations to look into the company's offer.

Members of PTOs may get more information about the Jif offer by calling Sara Schindler of the education fund at 513/562-2298.

Johnson Named To NKU Dean's List

Clyde F. Johnson, second-year law student at Salmon P. Chase College of Law, Northern Kentucky University, has been named to the dean's list for the 1989 fall semester.

During the summer months Johnson is employed as law clerk by the firm of Boehl, Stopher, Graves and Deindoerfer in Prestonsburg. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnson of Abbott Creek.

EKU Phonathon Reaches Floyd

Beginning Feb. 4, Eastern Kentucky University students will call many of the 316 EKU alumni living in Floyd County.

The calls are part of a five-week effort by 400 student volunteers to raise $80,000 for scholarships and other university programs. The students will call more than 24,000 EKU graduates nationwide during the Phonathon '90, the university's fifth annual telephone campaign, which will run through March 11.

Phi Beta Lambdas Gather Gifts

The Upsilon Gamma Chapter of Phi Beta Lambda at Mayo State Vocational Technical School recently collected toys for needy children for K-Mart's Christmas gift drive. Six children's names were chosen and gifts were provided for them and for others. Phi Beta Lambda, a branch of Future Business Leaders of America, is a national organization for business students in postsecondary schools who are preparing for careers in business and in business education. Chris Caudill of Magoffin County was chosen December member of the month. The 1989-90 officers, from left, are: (front) Anna May, Teresa Mollette, Desara Puckett, (back) Marcelli Trimble, Johnny Fraley, Chris Caudill and Tammy Moore.

Signing Up

Floyd County students were among those returning to Morehead State University for the spring semester. Here, Ken Epperson, a senior psychology major, confers with Dr. Charles Morgan, MSU psychology professor, as he completes the registration process, while Tillie Branham and William Hinchman prepare to pay tuition fees. Branham is a junior accounting major, and Hinchman is a junior paralegal major. MSU's spring semester continues through May 11.

Hughes Brothers In Spotlight At MSU

Two Floyd County brothers currently enrolled at Morehead State University are preparing themselves for success with every intention of leaving their mark on the world. Steven and Jeff Hughes, alumni of Allen Central High School, will graduate from MSU in December 1990 and May 1992, respectively. The young men, both Dean's List students, came to Morehead State each for his own reasons. "I came to MSU because I wanted to further my education and have the chance to meet different people," said

Jeff, a sophomore workstudy student in the music library. According to Steven, financial assistance in the form of a Regents Scholarship and Residence Hall Award played a major role in his selection of MSU over the University of Kentucky. Although both are members of Delta Tau Delta fraternity and have many similar interests, the Hughes brothers still have very different ideas of what they want to do with their lives. "My goal is to take the Certified Public Accountant (CPA) exam the November prior to my graduation and join those MSU graduates who passed it on the first try," Steven said. A second semester junior, he also plans to tackle the Real Estate Broker exam in order to have a side business. Outside the classroom Steven enjoys basketball, swimming and football. Adding to his busy schedule are such activities as involvement in the Destination Graduation project as a tutor, serving as academic affairs director for his fraternity, membership in the Accounting Club and serving as a resident adviser in Waterfield Hall. Jeff, who is studying to be a practicing psychologist, has another goal beyond that of a vocation. "My main goal is to leave my mark on the world," he said. Active in his fraternity, Jeff's extracurricular activities also include fishing, hunting and drawing. With grade point averages of 3.4 and 3.2, respectively, Steven and Jeff are no strangers to hard work. The young men, sons of Curtis Hughes of Martin and Brenda Bishop of Corbin, have some words of advice for those coming along behind them. "To overcome the problems of life, all you have to be is the best that you can possibly be," is Steven's creed. "All you have to do to make it, is just get your ducks in a row," is Jeff's philosophy.

Essays on Voting Sought by State

Secretary of State Bremer Ehrler has announced the second annual statewide Slogan and Essay contest for Kentucky students in grades 9-12. The two contests on the subject of "Voting and Registration to Vote" were mandated by the 1988 General Assembly in HB 347 and will have a closing date of Feb. 15. Awards will be made by the end of the school year, Ehrler said. A $100 US Savings bond will be given to a winner in each grade in the essay contest. The slogan contest carries three prizes: $1000 for first place; $500, second, and $250, third. Corporate sponsors for the prizes are Huntington Bank in Burlington, Fifth Third Bank in Florence, Hebron Deposit Bank and Florence Deposit Bank. Announcements of the two contests have been distributed to each school superintendent, Ehrler said.

PCC Club Prepares Program for Teachers

The Phi Beta Lambda chapter at Prestonsburg Community College has prepared a computer foreign language package to be used with IBM compatible equipment. The project was planned and developed to benefit teachers in the five county area who teach a foreign language, but who have limited access to tutorial software. The program uses vocabulary from the student's textbook and is totally self-paced. No knowledge of the computer is required other than the ability to turn it on, according to a news release from the college. For more information on the program, call 886-3863, ext. 249.

Kentuckians Want To Keep Local Control, Survey Says

Kentuckians want to continue local control of public schools according to a statewide telephone poll conducted by the University of Kentucky Survey Research Center last fall and released recently. A majority of respondents (73.5%) favor keeping locally elected school boards over direction from a central governmental agency in Frankfort. Kentuckians favor by a 74.6% majority continuing local elections of school boards over having state appointed school board members. More than 67 percent also favor having local school boards rather than having regional boards as has been proposed recently. Support for local control ranged from three to four times the support expressed for state or regional control," according to the survey center. The statewide survey was conducted by trained, supervised interviewers at the U.K. Survey Research Center. Interviews were conducted between Nov. 6 and Dec. 1, 1989. Households were selected using random-digit dialing. The Kentucky School Boards Association participated in the survey by preparing three questions relating to governance of public schools. KSBA paid a fee for these questions to be included on the survey.

Deadline Announced For Scholarships

High school students who are interested in applying for $1000 college scholarships should request applications by March 16 from Educational Communications Scholarship Foundation, 721 N. McKinley Rd., Lake Forest, IL 60045. To receive an application, students should send a note stating their name, address, city, state and zip code, approximate grade point average and year of graduation. Sixty-five winners will be selected on the basis of academic performance, involvement in extracurricular activities and need for financial aid, according to Paul C. Krouse, president.

First Lady, Country Star To Promote GED On KET

Kentucky First Lady Martha Wilkinson and country music star Waylon Jennings are to hold a press conference Jan. 29 in the Capitol building in Frankfort to promote "GED Call In '90," aimed at enrolling persons without a high school diploma in GED programs.

The press conference, set for 3 p.m. in the State Reception Room, will include the announcement of Jennings' passing of the GED examination and the availability of 1,000 free enrollments in GED programs. The free enrollment offer, amounting to $19,000, is funded by Martha's GED Army and will go to those who call during the "call in" program that day at 8 p.m. on Kentucky Educational Television (KET). Jennings, Wilkinson, radio personality Ralph Hacker and volunteers will answer telephone calls.

Jennings, who participated in a fundraising concert last year for Martha's GED Army, did not earn a high school diploma. Since helping with the project, the country music star has studied GED On TV books and tapes and passed the GED exam.

During the call in program, calls will be accepted from persons interested in earning GED certificates for themselves or in encouraging others to enroll in GED programs. Information and materials will be sent to groups who want to promote GED in their communities.

"GED Call In '90" will include prerecorded segments featuring Jennings studying for the GED on his tour bus and employees of Gainsborough Farm and an auto plant who are working on their GED.

The First Lady and her guests will also talk about KET's GED ON TV project, which allows adults to prepare for the GED exam at home. Students who enroll receive workbooks and tutoring assistance from the KET staff, while watching a series of 43 television programs. New sessions begin each February, April and October.

Area Water Pollution Is Major Problem

by Haley Caudill, WHS Student Writer

In a recent telephone interview, Rep. Gregory Stumbo spoke about strip mining, the environment, and the Lake Cumberland ordeal. Rep. Stumbo talked about basic strip mining laws and the new Greenup County landfill, which will be in operation soon.

Strip mining has several laws, but one law stands out from the others. According to Stumbo, the 1978 Surface Mining Act gave each state the right to adopt its own reclamation laws, but those laws had to be consistent with those of the federal government. This right is known as primacy.

The reason most states like Kentucky choose primacy is because there is a large pool of money in Washington which supplies reclamation money for land that has been mined. This large pool of money comes from coal operators who pay into the fund so that the money is there when it is needed.

Presently, landowners all across the state of Kentucky have no say-so in how their land is reclaimed. Should the landowner have a say in what happens to his land? Rep. Stumbo feels that the landowner should have his say in the matter. Would a law allowing the owner to help in the decision making really work?

Although this money is usually used for rebuilding land, state officials in Kentucky want to use it to pay for the construction of water lines in areas where the water has been damaged because of strip mining. Abner, Caleb, and Weeksbury communities located on Left Beaver Creek are now in this situation.

Although Rep. Stumbo feels that reclamation of land is important, the number one environmental problem is water pollution.

"Everyone should be entitled to clean water," said Stumbo.

Although strip mining is damaging water resources in Kentucky, industry also plays a role. Union Underwear Company is dumping salt laden waste water directly into Lake Cumberland everyday, while Jamestown, a city nearby, is dumping its treated sewage there also. Although this sewage is treated, it's not being treated enough, according to a group of concerned people.

This group, made up of sports enthusiasts, environmentalists, and lake residents have appealed the law allowing the dumping. Will there have to be further treatment, or will the dumping be stopped? No one knows of the court's decision as of now. Hopefully, there will be something done to prevent our lakes from being contaminated.

The building of landfills in Kentucky is another major issue at this time. Kentucky is wanting to take in garbage from not only this area, but other states as well. This garbage, unless treated thoroughly, will contaminate our environment.

PCC Professor Recognized

Etta Cantrell, associate professor of developmental reading and writing at Prestonsburg Community College, was recognized as one of the top three developmental educators in Kentucky at the recent Kentucky Association of Developmental Educators Conference in Bowling Green.

"I am very honored that I was one of the three chosen from among so many of my colleagues for recognition in the state," she said.

Cantrell teaches developmental courses, conducts study/test-taking skills workshops, directs the PCC art gallery and coordinates the federal grant, Destination Graduation, a high school tutorial program that trains and sponsors PCC students to tutor in math and English at three area schools.

She is also the PCC representative to the University of Kentucky Senate Rules Committee and was elected to represent Region II in the Kentucky Association of Vocational Educational Special Needs Personnel. Recently she was elected to serve as the executive secretary of the Eastern Kentucky Council of Teachers of English.

Developmental educators throughout the state are nominated by a colleague who writes a letter outlining reasons why the nominee should be honored as the outstanding educator. Based on her 11 years of work in the field of developmental education at PCC, Cantrell was recognized as one of the state's top educators.

Cost Is Below National Average For Housing In 'Boom Towns'

Recent stories in US News and World Report and USA Today named 22 boom towns for the 1990s. Although the news weekly attributes advanced communication technology as the primary impetus, Century 21 Real Estate Corp. says the cost of commercial and residential real estate plays a major role in the potential growth of these communities.

"The economic booms forecast for the cities featured in the stories are the result of many factors: new industries, strong municipal leadership and enlightened business people," says Martin Rueter, senior vice president of regional development for Century 21. "What is often overlooked is the impact real estate prices have in accelerating these changes and making them more feasible."

The cost of the average existing home was below the national average in 16 of the 22 towns and cities cited in the stories. For example, in Des Moines, Iowa, the average price of an existing home is $60,000 compared with $182,000 for one in Manhattan.

The national average home price was $96,000 for December 1990, according to the real estate company.

"Affordable housing makes recruitment and relocation of employees much more palatable," Rueter noted. "Responsible taxing policies and lease incentives do the rest in attracting new employers."

US News and World Report cites the example of Exxon deserting Manhattan for new headquarters near Dallas — a move that could reduce the company's rent from $50 per square foot to as little as $10 for prime downtown office space.

A list of boom towns and average home prices includes: Seattle, $109,000; Salt Lake City, $80,000;

Omaha, $65,000; Wichita, $68,000; Des Moines, $60,000; Minneapolis, $88,000; Peoria, $50,000; Memphis, $80,000; Indianapolis, $75,000; Louisville, $62,000; Columbus, $78,000; Charlotte, $95,000; Wilmington (DE), $135,000; Portland (ME), $125,000; Manchester (NH), $125,000; and Orlando, $90,000.
