Cleanup at Abbott Creek

The Abbott Creek area residents will be having a roadside cleanup on Saturday, May 19 from 8-11 a.m. Area residents are asked to participate. According to coordinator, Charlotte McFall, persons interested in joining the group in its efforts should be on the road during these hours and find the closest group to get garbage bags. Several units will be spread out along the route at this time. There will be a meeting at the Bonanza Annex building to discuss the results of the cleanup. Motorists using this road during these hours are asked to drive carefully and be alert for pedestrians

Crum, 35, of Arkansas Creek drowned sometime around 4 p.m. after the boat he was traveling in hit a rock or sandbar near the German Bridge area and tipped over.

The boat righted itself, but two other passengers were injured. Allen Crum, 24, of Martin received a cut on his leg. He and a minor Crum family member were transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center. Both were reported in satisfactory condition.

It was about one and a half hours after the accident before the rescue crews were notified Thompson said. About 12 members of the local rescue squad continued dragging efforts in search of the deceased for about two and a half hours.

The area where the boat capsized contained shallow water. Two Rescue Squad members were able two wade out to about waist deep 50 feet from the shore. In addition to the sheriff, park rangers and members of the Kentucky Water Patrol were on the scene.

The driver of the boat was Scottie Crum, 42, of Martin. The other pas-sengers were Elizabeth Crum, 25, Susan Crum, 23, Terry Crum, 17, and three minors ages 2-5. Although quite shaken, the others were uninjured, Thompson said.

County crews clean up countryside

by Tess A. Whitmer

Assistant Editor The concerns of the people of Floyd County have been heard and the county government is doing something about it. For years the countryside has been plagued by illegal road and creek side dumps that spoil the esthetic value of Floyd County and are unsafe and unhealthy.

Beginning Monday morning, county trucks started the county wide large garbage pickup from area residents. Simultaneously another crew was working on an illegal dump near Prater Creek P'burg Council Ups fines, restricts trucks Special meeting set Prestonsburg City Council passed, on second reading, two ordinances affecting traffic fines and restricting through trucks on residential streets and heard first reading of the 1990-91 budget totaling more than $2.4 mil-lion, during Monday night's regular meeting.

The dirt road that runs between Shortwood and Prater Creek seemed to be a popular area for motorists to haul trash to, considering it took two days and 50 dump truckloads to clear

"Now that the area is cleared of trash, and the ground is fresh, we will be reseeding it and in about one month to six weeks it should look pretty good," said Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo. "That is, if they (illegal dumpers) don't come back again. That's what we need to stop. "The area will be watched much

County Sheriff's office conducted a drug raid Tuesday afternoon at a residence on Stratton Branch on the Dewey Lake Road.

Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson said the raid came as the result of several months of surveillance, with two officers, Lloyd Parsons and Dwayne Jarrell, spending two days in the hills above the home with high-powered telescopes and other surveillance equipment.

Arrested at the scene were Paul Crider and Sammy Crider. They were charged with trafficking in marijuana and were lodged in the Floyd County jail. Bond has not been set.

Sheriff Thompson indicated that there would be more arrests in connection with the drug raid. He said

Ordinance 4-90, which increases nearly all city parking fines, supercedes 3-90, passed in 1984. Before passage, the new ordinance was amended to increase the fee for illegal parking at a fire plug to $25, the same as parking in a fire lane.

Most dramatic of the fine increases was the one for illegal parking in a handicapped zone. Effective with publication of the ordinance, the fine will be $50 for a first offense and $100 for the second.

No out-of-state garbage for Floyd

by Tess A. Whitmer Assistant Editor

Creating a hostile climate for private landfills was the idea behind the Floyd County Solid Waste Commission passing a resolution to ban outof-state garbage from, entering the Garth Landfill this past Friday. "Everyone had talked about it but no one had formally passed a resolu-tion," said Robert McAninch, Solid Waste chairperson. "We want people to know up front what our feelings areabout out-of-state garbage, instead of reacting to it after it already comes McAninch pointed out that if there was a hostile attitude in the local government toward such transactions, no private company would want to invest in the venture.

"Other states are always exploring options to dispose of their garbage - why not tell them up front that we don't want it and that we can't be conned into taking it," McAninch said.

Grand jury indicts two on sex charges

PIKEVILLE — Pikeville attorney John Cline III, 54, and Jerri Justice Akers, 29, were indicted last week by a Pike County grand jury and charged with two counts of first degree sodomy, three counts of first degree unlawful transaction with a minor, third degree unlawful trans-action and four counts of indecent exposure. The two were arrested in April on warrants obtained from a man who claimed they had involved his children in the criminal acts. The grand jury set bond at $100,000. (The Applachian News Express)

Trial of Magoffin men postponed STANTON — Four men charged with sexually abusing children and set to go on trial Monday in Powell County, have had their court date postponed until June because of witness scheduling problems. Charged with sodomy and sexual abuse in a 1986 indictment in Magoffin County, along with 23 others, were Raymond Gipson Sr., 63, of Salyersville and his three sons, Raymond Jr., 34, Darvin, 41, and Russell, 32, all now living in Ohio. Motorcyclist killed in Pike collision

ZEBULON - A Pikeville man was killed Sunday night when his motorcycle was struck by a car. Michael Barry Ray, 28, the son of a prominent Pikeville businessman, was northbound on KY 1441 near Zebulon when he collided with a southbound car driven by Angela Muncy of Raccoon. Ray was dead on arrival at Pikeville Methodist Hospital. Muncy was charged with drunken driving in the incident and released on $2000 cash bond. Ray was the husband of Mary Ann Varney Ray and the son of Harold Ray, owner of an electronics store, furniture store and video store. The accident is still under investigation by Kentucky State Police. (The Lexington Herald-Leader)

Gas prices up again

Following suit with the other local gas companies receiving their supplies from Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, Mike Little Gas Company has also raised its rates.

The Public Service Commission granted Mike Little Gas Company a purchased gas adjustment to reflect a $43,958 increase in wholesale costs. The average annual increase per residential customer is $101.86 retroactive to May 1. This increase is subject to refund due to Ky-West's rates being subject to refund at the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. The Public Service Commission also fined East Kentucky Utilities $750 for obtaining financing without commission approval in violation of KRS 278.300. The fine happened because East Kentucky Utilities got a loan for $292,221 to form the Depart-Restoration Project without commission approval.

The company alleges that the loan was recommended by the commission and under its full knowledge. The Public Service Commission notes that the company did not have formal approval prior to the obtainment of the loan and went on the assumption they had tacit approval. According to KR$278.300(1), "No utility shall issue any securities or evidences of indebtedness...until it has been authorized to do so by order of the commission."

The order can be appealed but so far it has not been, according to Mary Mulloy of the Public Service Commission.

Several members of the sheriff's department returned to the scene Monday afternoon and did discover what was believed to be one of the missing man's shoes. Capt. Lloyd Huntof the sheriff's department said the unidentified man left a visible trail down the riverbank into the water, suggesting that the man either rolled or slid into the river.

Dragging operations will resume today (Wednesday), with Johnson county units dragging the river from John's Creek to Paintsville, and Floyd County rescue workers combing the area between Auxier and John's Creek. Sheriff's deputies noted that they have no clues as to the identity of the man or why he fled when approached by officers.

ferring to the possibility of another county which already hauls to the Floyd County landfill setting up a transfer station and accepting out of state garbage and then bringing it to this county. He noted that transfer stations were not regulated by the state, but the county landfills are required to know where the garbage is coming from just before it arrives at the landfill. The last phase of the transportation.

He said that if a transfer station was set up in one of the surrounding counties, it would be investigated by Floyd County Ecology Officer Cleveland Tackett, to assure that no out-of-state trash was being transported there. If that was assessed as true, that county would not be permitted to haul to Floyd County. "We wanted Floyd County to set loan for $292,221 to form the Depart-ment of Local Government's Gas other counties to follow suit and set up similar regulations on out-of-state garbage," McAninch said. "If the state isn't going to do anything then the local governments need to set up the control.

"There have been proposals in the past, and they have met with hostility or just ignored by Fiscal Court. The people of Floyd County don't want to be everyone else's dumping ground," said McAninch.

Presently there are no privately owned transfer stations, although Pike County maintains its own station. The Garth Landfill accepts garbage from parts of Pike and Martin counties and from Knott, Johnson and Floyd counties.

Vote on May 29 O RE-E

REPRESENTATIVE Gregory D. Stumbo

For the past 10 years Representative Gregory D. Stumbo has fought in Frankfort to improve the quality of life for the people in his district. He asks us to re-elect him because his qualifications and convictions enable him to adequately protect our interests.

As an attorney he is able to understand the laws that he is asked to vote on. His record of leadership is clear. He believes that public officials should be for new ideas and concepts and not seek office just to be against things.

President Lyndon Johnson once said, Any damn fool mule can kick a barn door down, but you'll never see one who can hold a hammer. That's Representative Stumbo's philosophy.

In 1985, Greg Stumbo proved to us that his ideas work. He became the Majority Floor Leader of the House of Representatives, the highest ranking Eastern Kentuckian to hold an elected office in Frankfort since Governor Bert Combs.

If you don't believe that Leadership makes a difference, just look around and see the progress.

A Dream + A Plan = A RoadRep. Stumbo to Sec. Milo Bryant at John M. Stumbo School

ROADS

In 1986, Representative Stumbo sponsored legislation that more than doubled the amount of money spent to repair, maintain and upgrade our state and county roads. The construction of U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville will begin this year, and the first leg of the Garrett to Harold road is funded in Representative Stumbo's bill at a cost of 11 million dollars.

Resurfacing has already begun and passing lanes for 979 are in the works. Dangerous curves on Route 122 are being removed due to Representative Stumbo's efforts.

For over 40 years the people on Left Beaver and Mud Creek have not had anything done to improve their roads. I'm going to build a road from Garrett to Harold. We've paid enough in severence taxes to pave it in gold, he told Speaker Blandford.

In 1990 the state budget has 11 million dollars , allocated for the first leg of that road.

Our children are entitled to an equal education. Rep. Greg Stumbo Floor Speech March 29, 1990

EDUCATION

Representative Stumbo truly believes that our children are the future. His record on Education has earned him state and national recognition. He sponsored, in 1985, the reform act that increased teachers' salaries, reduced classroom size and built our new schools.

I believe every child in Floyd County should go to class in a well lit, well ventilated classroom with modern instructional material, he told his collegues in Frankfort. They listened.

But the culmination of his dreams occurred with the passage of the Education Reform Act which he sponsored in the 1990 General Assembly. That legislation ensures that every child in Kentucky receives an equal educational opportunity. Greg Stumbo led the battle for children in rural Kentucky and the victory is that there will be more new schools built, more equal opportunities, and modern technology available for every child in Kentucky.

The East Kentucky Jobs Creation Authority sponsored by Rep. Greg Stumbo will be the salvation of the mountains. Speaker Don Blanford

JOBS

In 1988, Representative Stumbo supported the Economic Development Relief Act which has led to the establishment of over 300 new jobs in our area. In 1990, he sponsored the East Kentucky Jobs Creation Authority which is designed to use state and private money to diversify our economy.

"Every Floyd Countian deserves a decent job at decent wages," he said. He has been a friend to the working people of his district and endorsed UMWA * AFL-CIO by:

KEA * TEAMSTERS * FIREFIGHTERS FRATERNAL ORDER OF POLICE

On May 29, you will have the opportunity to grade this record. If you believe that roads, education and jobs, as outlined here, are important, and that Representative Greg Stumbo has done a good job, then cast your vote to reelect him. He'd rather hold a hammer than kick a door.

OUR CHILDREN NEED HIS LEADERSHIP IN FRANKE

By Marty Backus

Living with a saint is more grueling than being one. -Robert Neville

Wednesday, May 16, 1990 A 4

It seems one week we're writing good things about Floyd County, and the next it's knock Floyd County. Well, this week, let's put a few barbs into ourselves.

Last week while returning from a meeting in Morehead, I learned some very disturbing news. We're missing the boat when it comes to attracting new industry - and keeping what we have.

The reason for my concern came after listening to a member of the Pike County Industrial Development Authority discuss how that organization has gone about attracting new business. And from everything I see and hear, they are attracting new industry to their county. For instance, a cookie factory will eventually employ between 500 and 600 people. Another is a T-shirt factory, plus other companies have inquired.

How are they doing it? It all boils down to everyone working together to help their county and not themselves

For instance, I'm told that industrial sites have been located and developed before efforts are made by Pike County to attract a certain industry. Secondly, business leaders have worked together in presenting a positive side of why the prospective industry should locate in Pike County. Thirdly, travel is made to the home base of the companies being courted, with each local bank (3) sending representatives along with other business leaders to woo them.

Barbs & Bouquets

Is this taking place in Floyd County? Not if you talk to the busi-ness folks I've talked to. They claim there are too many factions in the county with too many special interests to allow for outside industry to locate. If this is true, then we need to get folks who have the power and really care about what happens to Floyd County on down the road.

The first moves should start with the local government. More industry in Floyd County means more tax dollars, besides more people work-ing. Let's look up river to Pike County and ask them to give us some lessons on how it's done. Because of the lack of movement in getting new business in the area, we apparently don't know too much

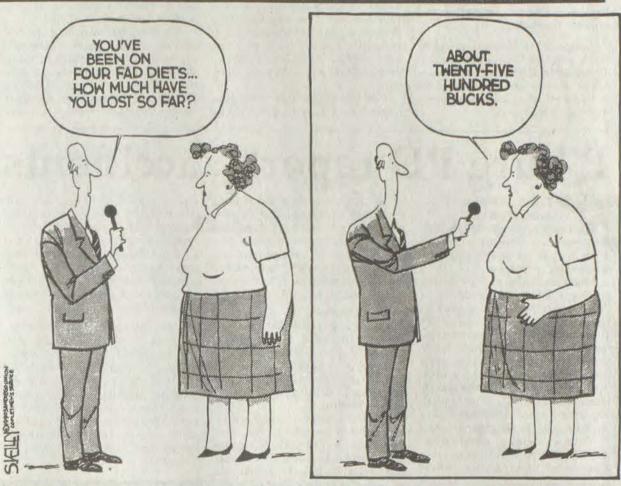

From the same travel that night last week, I have learned, and it has been confirmed, we just might be losing one of our major industries.

R & S Trucking at Allen, reportedly, has been looking for a larger plot to expand. What I've been told about the perception of Floyd County's attitude is, "Floyd County could care less if R & S moves or not."

I have been told by someone at the Allen business that they are indeed in need of a location to expand, and they indeed have not been able to find a suitable location in Floyd County.

Who is responsible for keeping a strong independent industry in Floyd County? If you know, give them a swift kick to wake them up and get the job done, or let's get someone else who can.

I do know that Martin County has approached R & S, and Pike County says the door is always open for new business. Let's open our eyes and see what the folks up the river have that we don't, and then ask WHY??????

Allen clean up Dear Editor, Saturday, May 19, we plan to meet to pick up litter in old Allen.

If you want to help contact Cindy

Parsons or Margarett Marcum. We will meet around 9 o'clock in front of City Hall.

If you can't help us then, please clean around your own area. Also, we urge all businesses in old Allen to clean around their shops.

Let us work together to make old Allen a clean little place to live again. -Cindy Parsons Allen

AG office again to monitor election

Dear Editor, The upcoming May 29 primary election is an event Kentuckians been convicted on vote fraud charges, and others are awaiting trial.

There are persons intent on breaking the law who thought that targeting vote fraud was a one or two-short thing; that it would all blow over. Well, it hasn't and it won't. Vote fraud is a serious crime; one that hurts all of us. Buying or selling a vote is a felony offense, punishable by time in prison and/or a fine.

On May 29, the Attorney General's Office will again monitor polling places throughout the state to help ensure that Kentucky's election laws are obeyed. Also, the toll-free Election Fraud Hotline (1-800-328-VOTE) will be available for Kentuckians to report suspected vote fraud.

Honest elections are crucial to Kentucky's future and so is voter participation. I urge you to go to the polls on May 29 and exercise your right to vote.

Kentucky Nursing Home Week. This year's theme, "Pride in Caring," re-flects the attitudes of not only nursing home nurses, but nurse aides, dietitians, activity directors, medical records personnel, housekeepers, other personnel and family members as well.

These professionals are committed to providing quality care to over 30,000 indigent, frail and sick elderly and at the same time striving to maintain the professional standards of the long term care profession.

As the president of the Kentucky Association of Health Care Facilities, the trade association which represents 258 nursing homes in the Commonwealth, I am pleased to take the opportunity to not only commend these professionals for their outstanding achievements but also their special place in caring for others.

Take the nurse aide for example. Many of these trained professionals because of government policy are paid about the same as a person who hands fast food burgers out a drive through window. These very same nurse aides are entrusted with the care needs of our elderly mothers and fathers, helping them to function in nearly every way including finding their rooms at night or paying extra attention to them when they are somewhat disoriented and scared of facing the inevitably harsh realities of aging. The hug and the pat on the hand are their trademarks.

In addition, the average licensed practical nurse (LPN) and registered nurse (RN) employed in a nursing home makes close to 35 percent less than her hospital counterparts and we are all aware of the direct hands on care they provide our nursing home patients.

Most alarmingly, the nursing home nurse is providing care to pa-tients who are much sicker than they were in the past. For instance, the average nursing home patient is an 81-year-old female who suffers from at least two chronic nealth carecond tions, is mentally impaired to some degree and requires assistance with five of the six activities of daily living (dressing, eating, continence, toileting, bathing and transferring). Obviously, nursing homes can't afford to compete with hospitals. This coupled with the federally mandated regulations of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987 which requires additional nurse staffing will leave nursing homes across the state tragically searching for nursing personnel. Currently, there are 500 vacancies for nursing positions in Kentucky's nursing homes. This is alarming when you consider Kentucky will need twice as many RNs by the year 2000, a short 10 years away. Kentucky's nursing home industry is an integral part of the health care delivery system. The number of our elderly needing nursing home care is increasing; Kentucky will see an additional need for 12,000 more nursing home beds by the year 2000. So the problem of finding a bed will grow. We must educate our lawmakers, government officials, educators, media and health care providers and encourage them to jointly address the above areas to protect our state from further consequences of a severe nurse shortage Whether then strive for wage parity, reimbursement rates need to increase in order to decrease the wage gap which is so prevalent in the hospital setting versus the nursing home setting. In addition, dollars must be found to fund scholarships for individuals interested in pursuing RN/ LPN training.

Will there be calm after this storm? Only if Kentucky acknowledges the need to address these issues and only then will "Pride in Caring" continue to flourish in Kentucky's nursing homes

It is also an opportunity to gauge Kentucky's progressineliminating the vote fraud and corruption that has plagued our state's elections for far too many years. Without a doubt, the election reform laws passed by the 1988 General Assembly, coupled with a new emphasis on enforcement, have made a difference. Kentucky's elections are getting cleaner. The conspicuous buying and selling of votes has been virtually absent from Kentucky polling places the past several elections. Just recently, several individuals have has fostered a dramatically different set of economic circumstances from those the world has encountered in the past. However, the methods of the past are still the preferred means of addressing the changing world economic climate. Outdated and inadequate analyses and solutions cannot meet the needs of a rapidly evolving world economy. At home, the unmet needs of American workers and their families present an enormous challenge to a federal government which has stripped itself of vast resources through mismanagement and unwise fiscal practices. Tax giveaways to the wealthy have robbed federal coffers, but the government is committed to a political agreement which eliminates government options to reduce debts and justify spending.

According to the most recent pol-icy report issued by the national Executive Council of the AFL-CIO, the majority of Americans have not benefited proportionately to the national economic recovery of the late 1990s

Our drift away from the status of a world-class industrial leader and toward a low-wage service economy has resulted in ever-increasing numbers of jobless, underemployed and dislocated workers.

The economic expansion of the past seven years has lifted living standards of those already at the top of the income ladder. Middle America has seen little or no improvement; and those at the bottom of the ladder are worse off now than in 1979.

The bulk of working people are losing in the struggle to get ahead. Jobs are less secure. Inadequate education, training and retraining and severe problems in the agriculture and domestic oil and gas industries all contribute to the population of newly unemployed and dislocated workers.

Mismanagement offederal spending and revenue generating methods foster chronic neglect of essential national social programs, increase the national debt and feed the budget deficit.

After more than a decade of neglect, the federal-state unemployment compensation system is so tattered that it cannot be considered a safety net for America's jobless work force.

The buying power of the minimum wage for the lowest income groups of working poor has eroded significantly in the past two years. In order to restore the minimum wage to its prevailing value in 1978, the rate would have to rise to $5.18 per hour. 1988 compared with $356 for nonunion workers-a 35 percent difference.

In response to the economic crises which have beset the working class as the result of unrealistic and ineffective national policies, the unions of the AFL-CIO call for economic policies which promote social progress and material well-being, policies that achieve a reasonable balance between future needs and current demand

We call for programs to enable all willing and able Americans to have jobs at decent wages. We call for fair compensation, real wage increases, a fair share of the fruits of higher productivity and restoration of the minimum wage to its traditional level of half the nation's average hourly earn-

These policies must be supported by social programs to address specific needs and gaps such as education, training, anti-discrimination, family leave, child care, affordable, quality health care and workplace health and safety.

The federal budget crisis must be addressed at one. Dependence on reserves set aside for Social Security obligations must be eliminated.

Unfair and unwise tax cuts have led to current shortfalls. The President and Congress must act to close tax loopholes which exempt capital gains and otherwise cater to the demands of the wealthiest sector of the population. The income tax must be altered to make it more progressive-in short, to distribute the federal tax burden more fairly and ease the lion's share of the tax burden which currently rests squarely on the backs of the working class.

We must all do our part to encourage needed reforms in national economic policies. We must speak out with a collective voice to get the attention of our elected officials in Washington.

Our votes continue to be among our strongest methods of persuasion. Our senators and representatives must be encouraged to lend their support to economic reforms to address the inequities confronting the working class sector of the population.

In the meantime, American trade unions will continue to support programs and candidates who show real progress toward economic opportunity and equality. We will continue to support legislation and political action designed to advance the interests of the working people.

especially Henry Mayo, owner of Rebel Lanes, who allowed us to hold our bowling tournament without charge.

I would also like to invite everyone to come out and support us at the state games June 1-3 at the University of Kentucky!

Offended by word in article

Dear Editor,

I am appalled that you have chosen to print an obscenity on the front page of your newspaper, in the Coal Camp Kids article. Did Paul Jordan, who edited the article, really think that altering the spelling would make the word any less obnoxious?

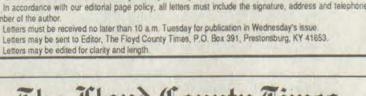

I do not believe that the majority of your readers approve of using God's name in vain, whether orally or in print, and I am extremely disappointed to see our local newspaper lower itself and its standards in this way. There is an overabundance of filth in print already, and we don't need more from you in the guise of human interest.

Please clean up your act!

- Sincerely, -Julianne Rider

Council members acknowledged that normal delivery and supply trucks are exempted, as long as the drivers have business on those streets and are not using the residential streets as shortcuts or throughways around high traffic areas.

The record budget, more than $300,000 above the 1989-90 figure, includes a proposed three percent salary increase for city employees, effective next January.

Because the next regularly scheduled council meeting falls on May 28, Memorial Day, a special meeting date had to be set to review the budget a second time before its required passage date of May 31.

Official assures of US 23 work

Kentucky Secretary of Transportation Milo Bryant visited Floyd County Tuesday to reaffirm that work on US23 and several secondary roads is being pursued from the state level.

Bryant reiterated to an audience of mostly political officials and media representatives that funds had been committed for US 23 from Prestonsburg to Hager Hill in Johnson County and that properties were being acquired for the US 23 bypass of Paintsville.

Secretary Bryant, along with State Rep. Greg Stumbo, also announced that work would be done on state routes 122, 979, and 850. The Transportation Secretary said that at least two passing lanes would be installed on KY 979 at Mud Creek.

One of Bryant's primary points madeduring his address was that the funds for the road work were being allocated by Gov. Wallace Wilkinson. "Gov. Wilkinson is the most dedicated leader for Eastern Kentucky since Burt Combs." Bryant said.

Before leaving, Rep. Stumbo thanked the Transportation Secretary for his commitment to the area.

On a motion by Mike Vance, seconded by Collins and Hale, council voted to call a special meeting for Tuesday, May 22 at 6 p.m., an hour earlier than the regular meeting time.

A motion by Vance, seconded by William Callihan, to have only one meeting per month during June, July and August resulted in a tie vote and died. Voting for the traditional change in number of meetings during the summer were Vance, Callihan and Danny Hamilton. Voting against it were Collins, Hale and Jerry Fannin.

Mayor Ann Latta refused to break the tie, preferring to wait until the two absent councilmembers, William O. Goebel and Dr. Gary Brown, are present to vote.

Fire Chief Thomas Blackburn introduced a revised fire department policy manual for council review. The chief said the revision, the first in 10 years, includes new hazardous materials policies and new state guidelines

Council unanimously approved a resolution endorsing recently announced plans for a golf course link-ing the city to Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. The resolution also "authorizes the mayor to enter into nego-tiations with the Kentucky Tourism Cabinet, Department of Parks, to determine the feasibility of a joint city/state venture and to explore costs, land acquisitions, and related topics...

The resolution also expresses the city's willingness to commit funds to the project.

Council, on a motion by Vance, seconded by Callihan, authorized City Administrator Fred James to employ temporary summer workers to help with clean up and maintenance.

Two Allen residents injured in accident

An automobile accident Monday morning on KY 1428 near Goble Roberts addition in Prestonsburg left two persons injured, according to Kentucky State Police Trooper Steve Auvenshine.

The accident occurred shortly before 7 a.m. Monday when 25-yearold Victor Robinson of Allen apparently fell asleep while driving and Vance brought up the issue of requiring residents and businesses to clean up their property. "Is there not something we can do?" he asked, in reference to sections of the city where metal and other trash fill business lots and yards and spill over into city streets.

"The ones we're talking about are eyesores," Vance said. "There's no way to sugar coat it. You can call it a business, you can call it a hobby, but

Youth injured in shooting

An 11-year-old Wheelwright boy was injured Monday evening when he was accidentally shot with a rifle.

Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson said Terry Miller received a gunshot wound to the lower abdomen when a 30.30 caliber rifle discharged accidentally.

The boy was taken to McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital by members of the Left Beaver Rescue Squad and later flown to the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington. Miller's condition was critical upon arrival, but after emergency surgery to stop internal bleeding, his condition was upgraded to satisfactory.

"He was a tough little boy," Thompson said."He never did cry. He talked with police the whole time and simply toughed it out."

The shooting occurred while Miller was visiting at the home of his uncle Kenny Younce of Melvin. The sheriff would not specify how the accident occurred or who was involved

A spokesperson for the UK Medical Center said that Miller would be released after a three-to four-week stay in the hospital.

Latta said the city can send a letter to owners of such lots asking them to clean up. She also asked Police Chief Greg Hall to have officers cite establishments where "junk" has been left

Chief Hall said his officers have been watching for trucks that drive through traffic lights at excessive speeds and have been taking offending drivers to jail.

James opened bids from two companies for a new telephone system for the city and referred them to the council's buildings and equipment committee for review.

Recognized at the meeting was James Hager, a new employee of the fire department. Collins also commended Archer Park director Ralph Little for the cleanliness of the park. "It has never looked better," he said.

The mayor notified council that she had declared this week as Tourism Week in the city.

According to one of the road crew workers, the road is only used by coal haulers when the bridge is out, since the Allen route has a 10-ton weight limit.

Once the countywide cleanup is completed, Stumbo said he hoped to have one truck in each district working on the illegal dumps.

"We hoped to do this same thing last year, but with all the floods we were kept busy and couldn't get to it," Stumbo said.

Other dumps on the county list are at Banner, near Hunter Bridge, Stumbo Hollow, behind Allen Elementary School, West Prestonsburg Road, Glo Bottom, Tram road, John Hall Branch and Sizemore (on the Wayland side of the hill).

"We plan to get to them as fast as we can - maybe not in that order since we are trying to hit the ones closest to the Garth Landfill first. And after those are cleaned up, we'll get any others we can," Stumbo said.

Along that same note, the countywide community cleanup programs are continuing. Abbott Creek will be conducting one this Saturday, led by Charlotte McFall. Anyone interested in organizing a cleanup in their area can contact McFall at 886-3359 or Tess Whitmer or Marty Backus at The Floyd County Times, 886-8506.

City officials hear of League services

More than 50 municipal officials, about a third of them from Floyd County, heard Louisville Mayor Jerry Abramson explain the advantages of membership in the Kentucky League of Cities at a Monday evening dinner at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park.

Abramson, who has been presi-dent of the League for a year and a half, stopped here on a kind of whistle stop tour of Area Development Districts in Eastern Kentucky. He and KLC staff members had come from a KLC staff members had come from a the tour was not related to his pos-midday meeting in Hazard and were sible candidacy. "We started doing to swing into districts in the southern part of the state on Tuesday.

The League president told area officials of the organization's ex-panded services, including provision of low interest loans and special in-of low interest loans and special insurance rates for municipalities.

With two attorneys on its 15-member staff, the organization can offer assistance in drafting city ordinances and with legal issues facing city governments, he said.

The League, headquartered in Lexington, also serves as a "clearinghouse for sharing ideas that work," Abramson added.

The Big Sandy Area Development District was the 11th such district the League team has visited in about a year. Since the meetings began, Abramson said the central office is now receiving between 400 and 600 telephone calls a month from munici-pal officials seeking information or advice.

Responding to rumors that he is considering joining the race for governor of Kentucky, Abramson said this more than a year ago, long before any thought of my running for gover-banks in the United States.

A five-star rating, for the safest banks in the country, indicates that the bank's tangible capital exceeds 9 percent of tangible assets, that there are no excessive delinquencies or repossessed assets and that the bank is profitable.

"Historically", notes Paul A. Bauer, president of Bauer Financial Reports, "the five-star rating has been awarded to traditional banks, institutions that serve the local community and watch their bottom line."

The Bank of Hindman has been in operation since 1903 and has recently undergone a complete renovation of its main offices in downtown Hindman. The president and CEO of the Bank of Hindman, Billy M. Smith, says the bank was very pleased with the five-star rating.

The repeating of last year's tournament has already begun as the Blackcats defeated the Bobcats in the opening game, 7-5, with a big fourrun fourth inning.

In last year's tournament, the two teams met in the opening game and the Blackcats came away with a close 3-2 victory. So everything is on course of repeating itself this year. With the game tied at 2-2 going into the bottom of the fourth inning, the Blackcats exploded for four runs to open up a four-run lead at 6-2, in what up to that point was a pitcher's duel between senior lefthander Keith Hall of the Bobcats, and sophomore John Clark of Prestonsburg.

Stuart Robinson got the inning underway for Coach Russell Shepherd's Blackcats with a double down the right field line. Kevin Hall then drew a base on balls. Wallen laid down a bunt moving the runners up to second and third where Robinson came in to score on a wild pitch by Hall over and forget the game. The Bob-cats came back in their half of the sixth inning and plated three runs to close to within one, 6-5.

Aaron Tucker walked as Hall began to experience some wildness. Ray Collins then lifted a fly ball to left field, where Craig Hunter held the ball, and Hall came home to score on the sacrifice fly. Collins received an RBI for the out.

Chris Bias received a lead off walk. Danny Paige followed with a single to center field putting runners on first and second with no outs. Both runners moved up a base on a Clark wild pitch. Craig Hunter's fly ball to left scored Bias from third.

Keith Hall then lined a base hit to right center and stole second base. With runners at second and third, Adam Gearheart lined a base hit, scoring Paige.

Impossible, you say! Not for Chris Potter and Barry Clark of Harold. The two Betsy Layne High School players had that happen to them last fall and did not discover it until last week.

The story goes like this. In August of 1989, both Potter and Clark went to Riverfront Stadium, not to see the Reds, but to see Potter's favorite major league baseball player, Ryne Sandberg, second baseman for the Chicago Cubs. While Sandberg was posing for the Fleer photographer, Potter and Clark were included in the picture, appearing in the stands just over the right shoulder of the Cubs second baseman.

The two never realized they were on a baseball card, let alone one with their favorite player, until last week. Potter was sitting in the car waiting for his mother, Mrs. Mike Potter, to come out of a store. He got some baseball cards out of the glove com-

The Potters then went out and purchased other packages of Fleer cards and did find one Ryne Sandberg, Fleer 10th Anniversary Players of the Decade, card. To date the family has collected a total of around 40 cards

The big event came this past Sunday when Potter, Clark and family made a journey to Riverfront Stadium to once again see the Cubs play the Reds and, of course, to see Sandberg in action.

Brookover calls on tennis players

Sandy Brookover, who was the women's tennis coachat Prestonsburg this year, sees the future of tennis at the local high school as being in trouble.

So the enthusiastic instructor is sending out a call to all interested tennishopefulsin Floyd County who would like to play high school tennis next season with the Prestonsburg tennis team.

"As long as they are in the Floyd County school system they can play tennis for Prestonsburg," she stated. "Anyone interested, grade school or high school, can play.

Prestonsburg is the only school that has fielded a tennis team the past years; the other schools have elected not to pursue a squad. So, the Prestonsburg team is accessible to all those in Floyd County who wish to participate on next season's team.

"There will be a tennis camp this summer at UK for those interested in attending," Brookoversaid. "The cost for the camp is $295 for a whole week."

Brookover is concerned about the program and is trying to keep it alive at the local school

"Bobby Hamilton, the men's coach, said that he doesn't think he will be able to coach next year and we want him to stay. If he does teach somewhere else next year, he can still coach tennis here."

If any student in the Floyd County school system wishes to get started in the great game of tennis and wants to play next season, contact Bobby Hamilton at 886-2252 or Sandy Brookover at 874-9390.

Johnson Central High, May 30

Just when you thought the basket-ball season was finally over, along comes yet another game. This one promises to feature some of the top junior players in the state, including future Univerity of Kentucky Wildcat Chris Harrison of Tollesboro High School.

Harrison has already made a verbal commitment to UK and will be showcased in this game for the fans in Eastern Kentucky. Harrison led the state in scoring last year with a 32 points per game average. The junior all-star is also noted for the assists he dishes out.

The Kentucky junior all-stars will face another group of all-stars in the 15th Regional team. The 15th Region All-Stars will be the same team that played a two game series against the 6th Region in the Mountain Classic.

On the local level, a top junior in the 15th Region, Jody Salisbury, will not be on the 15th Regional All-Star team, but will be teamed with the Kentucky All-Stars. Salisbury a 6'9" center on the Golden Eagles team last year, will be returning to the Johnson County school for his senior year and makes them, along with Belfry, a strong contender for the regional crown next year.

Lexington Bryan Station's Robert Hammonds will also be featured with

Thompson, Webb advance in tennis

David Thompson and Johnny Webb will advance to the quarter finals of the regional tennis meet by virtue of two wins Saturday at Boyd County in doubles competition.

The "dynamic duo" have been doubles partners all season for the Prestonsburg men's tennis team and will play this Friday in the quarter finals against Ashland Paul Blazer High School's Jay Cleveland and Bruce Hereford.

The twosome advanced by de-feating Lawrence County's Patrick Preston and Ben Maynard, 6-1, 6-3. Webb and Thompson then won over Morgan County's Matt Laughter and Jason Hoskins, 6-1, 6-4.

If Webb and Thompson win in Friday's match, the two will play on Saturday in the semifinals at 2 p.m.

In the men and women singles matches, the Blackcats and Lady Blackcats were unable to advance. (Scores were not available).

"Brian had to let off on the weight program," said his mother Mary Wallen. "He began to bulk up too much and it affected his throwing. Now he is doing good and we are hoping for a good finish at Clay County in the sectionals."

Wallen will be competing against Lexington Catholic's Scott Fister, last year's champion. Fister had the second longest throw of 143.10 feet.

"Fister will be the one I will be throwing against and have to beat at Lexington if I make it there," said Wallen, who won the regional last year at Pikeville with a throw of 143.6 feet

The Allen Central junior is a good bet to bring home the first place medal in the discus throw.

Another Allen Central thrower, Tim Slone, placed sixth in the meet, however, only the top four advance. This is Slone's first year of competition and Wallen has taken him under his wing to instruct him in the art of throwing.

"'The Ryne Sandberg that plays for the Chicago Cubs,' I asked. He said 'yes, it is.' I started to tell him who I was and that I had something to tell him that I knew he would be interested in, but he said that he was just on his way out. So I began to talk real fast and explain the situation to him. So he said that he would meet us at the stadium before the game."

We watched him take batting practice and when he finished I started hollering at him, and, of course, he recognized my voice with its hillbilly accent and said to us 'one minute'. He went to the dugout and came back with a new baseball that he autographed for Chris."

To many young baseball fans, just getting to meet your favorite baseball player is a thrill, but to get to be on a baseball card with them is something else. Way to go Chris and Barry!

Advanced Seating Systems For Today's Angler

Bass boats have evolved quite rapidly through the past 20 years, and the sleek crafts of today bear little resemblance to those of the late 1960s.

Today's topwater bullets are fast and, because of their innovative stepped-pad and deep-V hull designs, they are quite comfortable when rocketing over a calm surface at speeds in excess of 60 miles an hour.

But add a gusting wind, a 3-foot chop, and a comfortable jaunt across the water turns into a back-breaking, kidney-pounding, spine-jarring nightmare of a boat ride.

kidney-pounding, spine-jarring nightmare of a boat ride. Even though today's longer and wonderfully designed hulls provide a superb ride, the best of bass boat hulls cannot compensate for truly rough water. Unlike an automobile, a boat has no suspension to absorb the jolts imparted by striking a small wall of water at 60 miles an hour.

In essence, because the seat/floor/ hull combination is a fixed and stationary unit, every jolt and jar imparted to the hull is transferred directly through the seat to the driver and passenger. And any angler who has made a high-speed run over a wind-blown lake is painfully aware of just how agonizing the experience can be, both during the ride — and for several days afterwards.

A remedy to this back-breaking dilemma has finally been achieved by America's largest supplier of airride seats for the trucking industry. National Seating, Vonore, Tenn., which began 35 years ago as a supplier of seats for intercity buses, soon expanded its operations to include air-suspension seats for large trucks. Utilizing a variation of this same air is as comfortable as cruising in my truck."

Guy Eaker Jr., a 29-year-old tournament angler from Belmont, N.C., tells a similar story. "I couldn't be fishing competitively without my Aqua-Aire seats." Eaker ruptured a disk in his spine, an injury which called for surgery in 1988, and feared his days of tournament fishing were over.

"I knew what riding in rough water can do to your back," he says, "and I also knew that I just couldn't cope with that punishment on a regular basis. It was a very depressing point in my life."

Eaker soon had a pair of the seats installed in his Javelin 396, and the air-cushioned ride amazed him. "Literally, it was like riding on air. When I hit a giant wave, the seat gives to absorb the shock."

Eaker, the son of well known BASS pro, Guy Eaker Sr., is following in his father's footsteps. Due in large part to the Aqua-Aire seats, Eaker has graduated from local and regional tournament trails and is now fishing the BASS circuit on a full time basis.

CONSTRUCTION AND OPERATION

After 35 years of seating technology and innovation, National Seating knows how to build a seat. The design of the Aqua-Aire system borrowed largely from National's top selling truck air seat, the Cush-A-Aire.

Joe Hess, Product Manager for National's Marine Division, says, "We varied the design to better meet the needs of the boater. The base of this unit is stainless steel and aluminum to prevent corrosion."

The two primary functioning components are the shock absorber and the air spring. According to Hess, the shock absorber was stiffened to compensate for the extreme jolts to which bass boats are subjected. Pondering the seat's design might make you think that it would be too bouncy, or spring forward as a recoil after the boat strikes a large wave. Fortunately, that is not true, for the recoil of the seat is dampened greatly by the hydraulics of the shock absorber and amounts to no more than a few minor bounces.

Two versions of the seat are available. The more basic one incorporates a hand pump to control the air spring. By pumping the handle up and down several times, air is directed into the spring, and this also raises the seat to your desired height.

The tension in the air spring and the seat height — is infinitely variable. The seats are available with the pump unit on either side of the base to meet the variety of boat configurations.

The Aqua-Aire seat is also available with an electric air compressor which takes the place of the hand pump. A push/pull knob controls the influx of air into the spring. The waterproof compressor unit, which is separate from the seat base and powered by the boat's 12-volt electrical system, is most often mounted in the boat's bilge. One compressor can simultaneously operate up to four seats.

Accessories for the seats include a molded shroud which covers the base and a slide track unit which allows the seat to be adjusted horizontally forwards and backwards like a car seat, a great feature for boats used by a variety of drivers or for anglers who are "not tall".

The Aqua-Aire seating system may be used with virtually any boat seat since it serves only as the seat's base. And while it can be fitted to virtually any boat with a little work, several companies have modified their designs to accommodate the units as a factory option. Javelin,

WHAT IS LEADERSHIP?

- 1. Is it leadership to prevent the legislature from voting on a bill that could have kept Floyd County from being a dumping ground for everyone else's garbage?
- 2. Is it leadership to prevent the legislature from voting on a stronger drunk driving bill?
- 3. Is it leadership to get an exemption to help make Floyd County the incinerator capital of Kentucky?
- 4. Is it leadership to sponsor a tax increase aimed at the working people?
- 5. Is it leadership to get 2 1/2 million for a golf course when people in this county don't have safe drinking water?
- 6. Is it leadership to allow our coal truck drivers to be taxed out of business?

suspension seating technology, National Seating developed the Aqua-Aire seating system for the boating industry in 1986.

Basically, the Aqua-Aire system utilizes a pneumatic cylinder, or "air spring" (much like an air bag) and a shock absorber to float the boat driver on a cushion of air. Jolts and jars are, in effect, absorbed by the seating system, providing a comfortable, shock free ride in even the roughest waters.

"In my honest opinion, the Aqua-Aire seat is the best thing that you can add to your boat, especially if you use it often," says Paul Elias, Laurel, Miss., angler and consistently a top contender on the BASS tournament trail.

"Tournament angling is physically demanding in and of itself, but the beating you take on a long boat ride over rough water is infinitely more punishing. Your back takes most of the torture, and it can become so severe as to be physically debilitating. A good example is Denny Brauer, who recently underwent extensive back surgery. Personally, I was in pain for several days after every tournament and most often had to visit a chiropractor."

Elias had a pair of National's Aqua-Aire seats installed in his Cajun "Elias Fishin' Edition" rig two years ago. "Now," he says, "my back troubles have been virtually eliminated and riding in my boat, even in a gale, Trucks tend to vibrate the driver, whereas boats tend to pound them.

The heart of the Aqua-Aire seat is the air spring. "While the frame of the unit is quite rugged, it is simply a base to hold the seat and its components," Hess reports. "The person in the seat is supported by the air spring."

Stratos, Bassmaster, and FiberKing will offer the Aqua-Aire seats as factory option in some 1990 models. In recent years, the availability of the Aqua-Aire seats has been limited. They are now, however, readily available from dealers or the manuavailable from dealers or the manufacturer. For more information, see your boating dealer, or contact: National Seating, 200 National Drive, Vonore, TN 37885-9631.

The Floyd County Times

WINSARCHERPARKTIT F Statewide Recovery plated five runs in the fifth inning, led by J.C. Blanton and Mo Hall home runs, to overcome a five-run deficit, defeat the Pikeville Cavaliers, 11-7, and win the Archer Park Invitational Softball tourney Saturday afternoon.

The Cavaliers scored three times in the second inning and four runs in the third to take a 7-2 lead. Two runs in the third came as a result of a home run for the Cavaliers. The Pikeville team had three home runs in the third inning, in scoring four times.

Statewide scored single runs in the first and third inning. Eric Franklin doubled with two outs in the first inning and scored on a base hit by Scott Cornette. J.C. Blanton homered for the Recovery team's only run in the third.

In the five-run fifth, when Statewide tied the game at 7-7, Donnie Williams opened the inning with a base hit. After Jeff Delong flied to left, Franklin followed with a base hit. Blanton then hammered his second home run of the game over the fence for a three-run shot. Cornette tripled and came home on a sacrifice fly to left by Dennis King. Mo Hall tied the game with a home run in the fifth.

With one out in the top of the six, Greg King tripled for Statewide and scored on a base hit by Delong. Statewide broke the game open with three in the top of the seventh on a Cornette triple; a two out single by Hall scored Cornette. Darrell Sparkman then doubled and came around on a base hit by Randy King.

The Cavaliers went out quietly in the sixth and seventh innings. The Cavaliers came out of the losers' bracket into the championship round and had to defeat the Recovery team twice in order to win the double elimination tournament. Statewide lost the first game to the Pikeville team, 17-12 forcing a second and deciding game.

Statewide will play in the Moun-tain Laurel Festival Softball Tournament this coming Saturday and Sunday. The win recorded the Recovery team's second tournament of the young season and improved the record to 13-4.

In other games played during last week's double elimination tournament: Ames vs Hornets

The Hornets scored six runs in the first inning and four in the fifth en-route to a 13-0 whitewashing of Ames in game one. Ames managed only two hits in the game while the Hor-nets pounded out 15, collecting seven in the first inning. There were no extra base hits in the game.

WMDJ vs Collins

WMDJ scored a run in the seventh inning to break a 4-4 tie in defeating Collins, 5-4, in game two of the tournament. The run scored when Pete Castle hit a grounder to second with Allen on second base. The ball was misplayed allowing the winning run to score. The Radio boys tied the game with a run in the bottom of the fifth inning. WMDJ pounded out 13 hits in the game while Collins had eight.

Greg's Sporting vs Gunners

Greg's Sporting scored seven times in the sixth inning to defeat the Gunners, 12-8, in the Archer Park Invita-tional Softball Tournament. The Gunners held a 7-3 lead going into the inning. Greg's sent 11 batters to the plate in the inning.

Johnson Motors vs Hornets

Johnson Motors stung the Hornets, 16-6, handing the Hornets their first loss of the tournament. Johnson Motors scored five times in the seventh inning and four times in the fifth to break open a 6-6 tie. Johnson Motors scored double runs in each of the first, third and fourth innings

The Hornets scored three times in the first and third. Tuttle, Turner and Tackett had back to back triples in the game for the Hornets in their three run third.

Ken's Sports Shop vs WMDJ A seven-run fifth gave Ken's Sports Shop a 16-6 victory over WMDJ in softball action at Archer Park. Ken's Sports Shop also scored six runs in the third inning to erase a 5-3 WMDJ lead. Howard, Greg Shepherd and Tim Rice homered for Ken's.

Gunners vs WMDJ

The Gunners scored four times in the fourth inning to defeat WMDJ, eliminating the radio boys, 5-2, from further tournament action. Errorshurt WMDJ players as they were guilty of three miscues in the Gunners' four run fourth. WMDJ scored single runs in the first and sixth. Pete Castle had two hits for WMDJ, including a double, and scored the two runs.

Greg's Sporting Goods vs Statewide

Statewide scored 16 runs in the first inning and went on to blitz Greg's Sporting Goods, 28-3. Eric Franklin had a home run for Statewide in the second inning, J.C. Blanton also had a second inning home run. Statewide collected 17 hits, the first 11 batters getting hits, in the first inning alone, in scoring 16 times. Franklin went four for five in the contest with a first inning double. Dennis King tripled in the first for Statewide.

Ken's Sports Shop vs Johnson Motors

The tournament favorite, Kens Sports Shop, fell to Johnson Motors in a close one, 12-11, and dropped to the losers' bracket. Jimmy Blankenship homered for Ken's in the second inning when the sports shop crew scored eight times to take an 8-6 lead. Greg Shepherd also had a round tripper in the second inning. Shepherd homered again in the sixth. Mike McQuate doubled and tripled in the game of the local team.

Johnson Motors scored four times in the second and fourth innings and plated two in the first. With the score tied 11-11, Johnson Motors pushed across a run in the bottom of the top of the seventh to win. Ken's Sports went out in order in the bottom of the inning. ****

Cavaliers vs Statewide

Statewide Recovery remained undefeated in the winners bracket with a 6-2 win over the Pikeville Cavaliers. The game was closer than the final score indicates. Statewide scored five runs in the sixth inning to break a 1-1 tie. Statewide's only run up to that point was a home run by J.C. Blanton. The Cavaliers scored both their runs by the home run route.

Greg's Sporting Goods vs Collins

Collins spotted Greg's Sporting Goods three first inning runs and then threw goose eggs at them the rest of the way in eliminating the Sporting Goods place, 14-3, in the Archer Park Softball tournament.

Collins scored five times in the fifth inning on five hits and plated

Hornets vs Gunners

The Hornets gunned down the Gunners 13-6 in eight innings, in the Archer Park softball tournament and eliminated the Gunners from further competition. Meade had two doubles for the Hornets. James Tackett tripled in the eighth inning

The Hornets scored seven times in the top of the inning to break a 6-6 tie. The Gunners had tied the game with two runs in the bottom of the sixth to send the game to extra innings.

Collins Carpet vs Ames

Collins scored three runs in the first and three in the third to defeat Ames, 10-4. Stephens had a triple for the winners in going three for three. J. Griffith also doubled in the game. R. Shepherd also had a triple for the winning team.

Cavaliers vs Hornets

The Pikeville Cavaliers scored five runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to come from behind to defeat the Hornets, 10-6. The Hornets held a 6-5 lead going into the inning. The Cavs collected five hits in the inning scoring five runs.

Meade had a triple for the Hornets. J. Tackett had three hits for the Hornets including a double.

Collins Carpet , vs Ken's Sports Shop

Mercy rule ruled in this game as Ken's Sports Shop tallied seven third inning runs to "mercy" Collins Car-pet, 13-1. Collins scored a single run in the first inning and looked at 0's the rest of the way. Blankenship singled and tripled in the game for the winners. Mike McQuate had a second inning triple and third inning double.

Johnson Motors vs Statewide A big six-run sixth for Statewide Recovery defeated a good Johnson Motors team, 11-9, in the quarterfinals of the Archer Park Softball Tournament Saturday. Johnson Motors mounted a comeback in the bottom of the seventh inning, scoring three times, but came up short in the loss.

Statewide jumped out to a 5-1 lead after two innings when Johnson Motors made it 5-4 with one in the third and two in the fourth. Delong doubled for Statewide in going three for three.

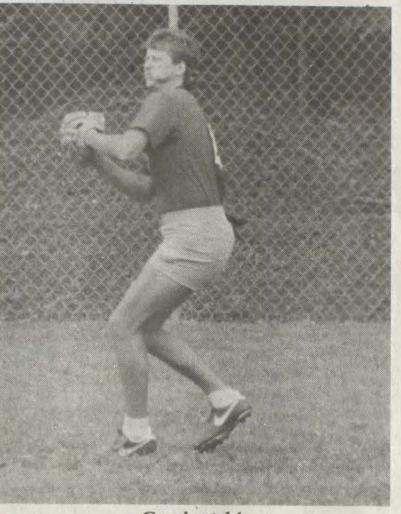

Jimmy Blankenship had two home run for Ken's, one in the fourth and one in the seventh. Hale homered in the sixth with one on. Greg Shepherd had two round trippers in the contest in a three for three outing.

seven runs in the first inning to take a winning run scored on a two-run 7-1 lead and added two in the second home run by Ronnie Little with two to go up 9-1.

HAIRLESS RACCOON UPDATE

Thallium poisoning is the most likely cause of fur loss in three "hairless" raccoons captured near Ashland in the spring of 1989.

The critters were transported to another location by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and held for observation. Last summer the raccoons' fur began growing, but by late fall all were completely "hairless" again. When one of the racwinter, body tissues studied by the Southeastern Cooperative Wildlife Disease Study (University of Georgia) showed significant amounts of gate thallium in skeletal muscle, brain, skin and fat.

Thallium, a heavy metal, is extremely toxic to all animals (and humans) even when ingested in small amounts. Though no longer in use, thallium had various medicinal applications and was commonly used for rodent control during the 1960s.

The surviving raccoons remain in captivity for continued observation.

WATERFOWLHUNTERS TAKE NOTE Bracken and Oldham counties and the eastern half of Henderson County will be added to Kentucky's steel shot zone this year if a proposal by the US Fish and Wildlife Service passes

Lead shot is toxic to waterfowl, and the move to require more areas to use steel shot for waterfowl hunting reflects a national effort to curb unwanted deaths from lead poisoning. This year, as many as 23 states ill require nontoxic shot statewide.

Since 1986, steel shot has been coonssuccumbed to hypothermia this * required for waterfowl hunting in portions of Western Kentucky and for doves on some wildlife managementareas where waterfowl congre-

Dugout Dope

Major League baseball is big business! There is no doubting that. It takes big bucks to run a major league club. The owners have invested in their respective ball clubs several million dollars. And now the ball players want to run the business.

Dave Winfield of the New York Yankees signed a $10 million contract to play baseball with the Yankees or whatever ball club that the Yankees may exchange that contract for. Winfield even had the perogative to designate in his contract, if and when he was traded, whom he would be willing to be traded to.

Now the Yankees, no longer in need of his services have traded the "cry baby" outfielder to the California Angels, one of the teams in his contract that he would play for. However, he now refuses to go to California or put on another Yankee uniform.

Most, and I said most, major league ball players are on an ego trip. They are collecting the "big bucks" and think that major league baseball owes them more. Why can't they just be thankful they have a "job" playing baseball and making millions?

Winfield should move on to the West Coast and play baseball. He should be man enough to accept the trade and go on. He and Yankee owner George Steinbrenner (that's another subject) have been at odds for a long time now.

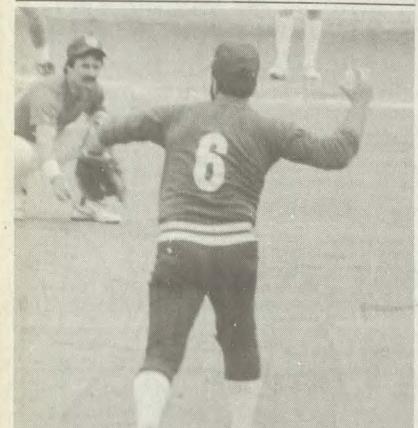

Has Chris Sabo, third baseman for the Cincinnati Reds, tarnished his imaged by reneging on an agreement to sign baseballs and cards to be resold? According to published reports, Sabo has verbally entered into an agreement with Homeplate Promotions to do just that. Now he has been sued for not fulfilling that promise in spite of being given $200 to do so. Perhaps the shy third baseman isn't so shy after all. But he is having a great season at the old ball park!

I believe one of the hottest issues in major league baseball in this decade is expansion in the Major Leagues. There are several cities in the country vying for the sport to locate in their fair city. Baseball seems to be at an all time high in popularity despite the lockout in spring training. Expansion will be good for major league baseball. Besides, the American League has two more teams than the National League and that's not fair. It should be even.

When choosing a city to locate in, the first consideration has to be fan support. Are there enough fans there to support a major league team? Television rights and availability also have to be taken into consideration. Look for the National League to expand in the next two years.

With the regular high school baseball season over and the district tournament now underway, I want to thank all the baseball fans who came out to support their teams this season. I heard more than one coach say this is the most fans they have had for their games. It sure helps the players perform better when they can play before others.

Now, a reminder. Wednesday night, May 16, the Floyd County Babe Ruth season gets underway at Allen Park. So, just because high school baseball is coming to an end, the baseball season is not over. Hey, have fun at the old ball park and cater the concession stands of those who are trying to raise money for the kids.

We still need the Little League schedule for the Wheelwright Little League. Also needed is a schedule of the Mud Creek Pee Wee League.

Well, this Saturday (May 19) will be the last day to register with the local merchants who have sponsored the "Cincinnati Reds Ticket Give-A-Way". So if you want a chance to win four tickets to see the Reds and the San Francisco Giants go at it on Aug. 11, you have until Saturday to get your coupons from the May 4 edition of the Floyd County Times in. If you do not have a May 4 paper, you may come to the Floyd County Times and receive one.

Just fill out the coupons and drop them in the boxes at one of these fine businesses: Abacus Computer Store, The Cobbler Shop, Ed Walters Motors, B.F. Casual Shop, The Floyd County Times, The Bookworm, Cooley Apothecary, Statewide Press, Castle's Jewelry, The Coachman, Lloyd's Hardware, Sherry's, Pat's Paint and Wallpaper, Trends and Traditions, Ray Howard Furniture and Arrowood Hardware. Remember this. If you don't register you can not win! You may register as often as you wish.

Golf Tour Card now available Golfers can look forward to another exciting season of playing on golf courses throughout the state with a small green card purchased from the American Lung Association of Kentucky.

"With 54 participating golf courses, a fee of $25 represents the best golfing buy in Kentucky," according to Buddy Demling, the project's honorary chairman.

The Kentucky Golf Tour Card, now in its seventh year, is a major fundraiser for the American Lung Association, Demling said. Last year nearly $34,000 was raised to fightlung diseases in Kentucky.

With the purchase of the green card, golfers can play a round of 18 holes at any or all of the 54 participating courses in the state. "I know of no other golfing program that equals this as far as a bargain goes," Demling added.

Reitz' 4 hits lead Brewers past Cubs

Cory Reitz of the Brewers Senior League baseball team pounded out four hits recently to lead his team to a surprising 13-9 win over the Cubs of coach Cecil Lester. The Brewers are coached by Ashland Gearheart.

Jimmy Stratton picked up the win in relief of starter Kevin Crum who went four innings. Stratton came on in the fifth inning. Jason Keathley went the distance for the Cubs in absorbing the loss.

The Brewers collected 16 hits in the game and the Cubs had 10. "We're a young ball club," said

Gearheart of his team's first win, "and we weren't suppose to be to strong this year. So we'll celebrate on any win we can get."

The win gave the Brewers a 1-0 record for the young season. The Cubs are 0-2 on the season.

David Gearheart, Stratton and Brian Allen each picked up three hits in the game for the winners. James Joseph and Robbie Risner picked up two hits each.

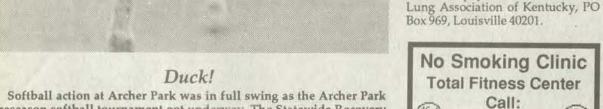

McGuire, Jason Keathley and David Chaffins had two hits apiece for the Cubs.

Water Patrol to look for green boat decal

Even though Memorial Day week-end is the official beginning of the boating season in Kentucky, state Water Patrol officers have started their summer schedule of longer hours spent patrolling the Commonwealth's rivers, lakes and waterways.

As the officers protect the safety of the boating public, they will be en-forcing three boating laws — boat registration, proper equipment and responsible behavior. "This year, our officers will be looking for the green decal that shows a boat has been properly registered for 1990," said Charles Browning, director of the Division of Water Patrol. "Kentucky boat registrations

Rick Roberts, Paintsville, kept his winning streak alive as he won his fourth race in a row in the Buchanan General Hospital 4th Annual Health Run, a 3.3 mile race at Grundy, Va.

Roberts was trailing Price's Dave McGuire until the two-mile mark where the local runner passed McGuire for good, to finish first with a time of 17:50. McGuire was second with a 18:01, placing first in his age group of 20-24.

Marvin McFaddin finished fifth overall at 20:04 winning the 40 and

Pharmacy

Footnotes

In order for a generic drug to gain FDA approval, it must demonstrate "bioequivalency" with its brand-name counterpart. That is, the generic must get into the bloodstream in the same amount, and at the same rate, as the brand-name version. According to the FDA's own test, the average variation in bioequivalency between approved generic and brand-name drugs is 3.5 percent. However, there are some generic drugs on the market which do not pass the FDA bioequivalency tests. Such drugs may not be unsafe, but they may have an effect on a patient who switches to one from another version. In light of this fact, consumers should ask the pharmacist for "A-rated" generics, as denoted by the FDA's "Orange Book" listing.

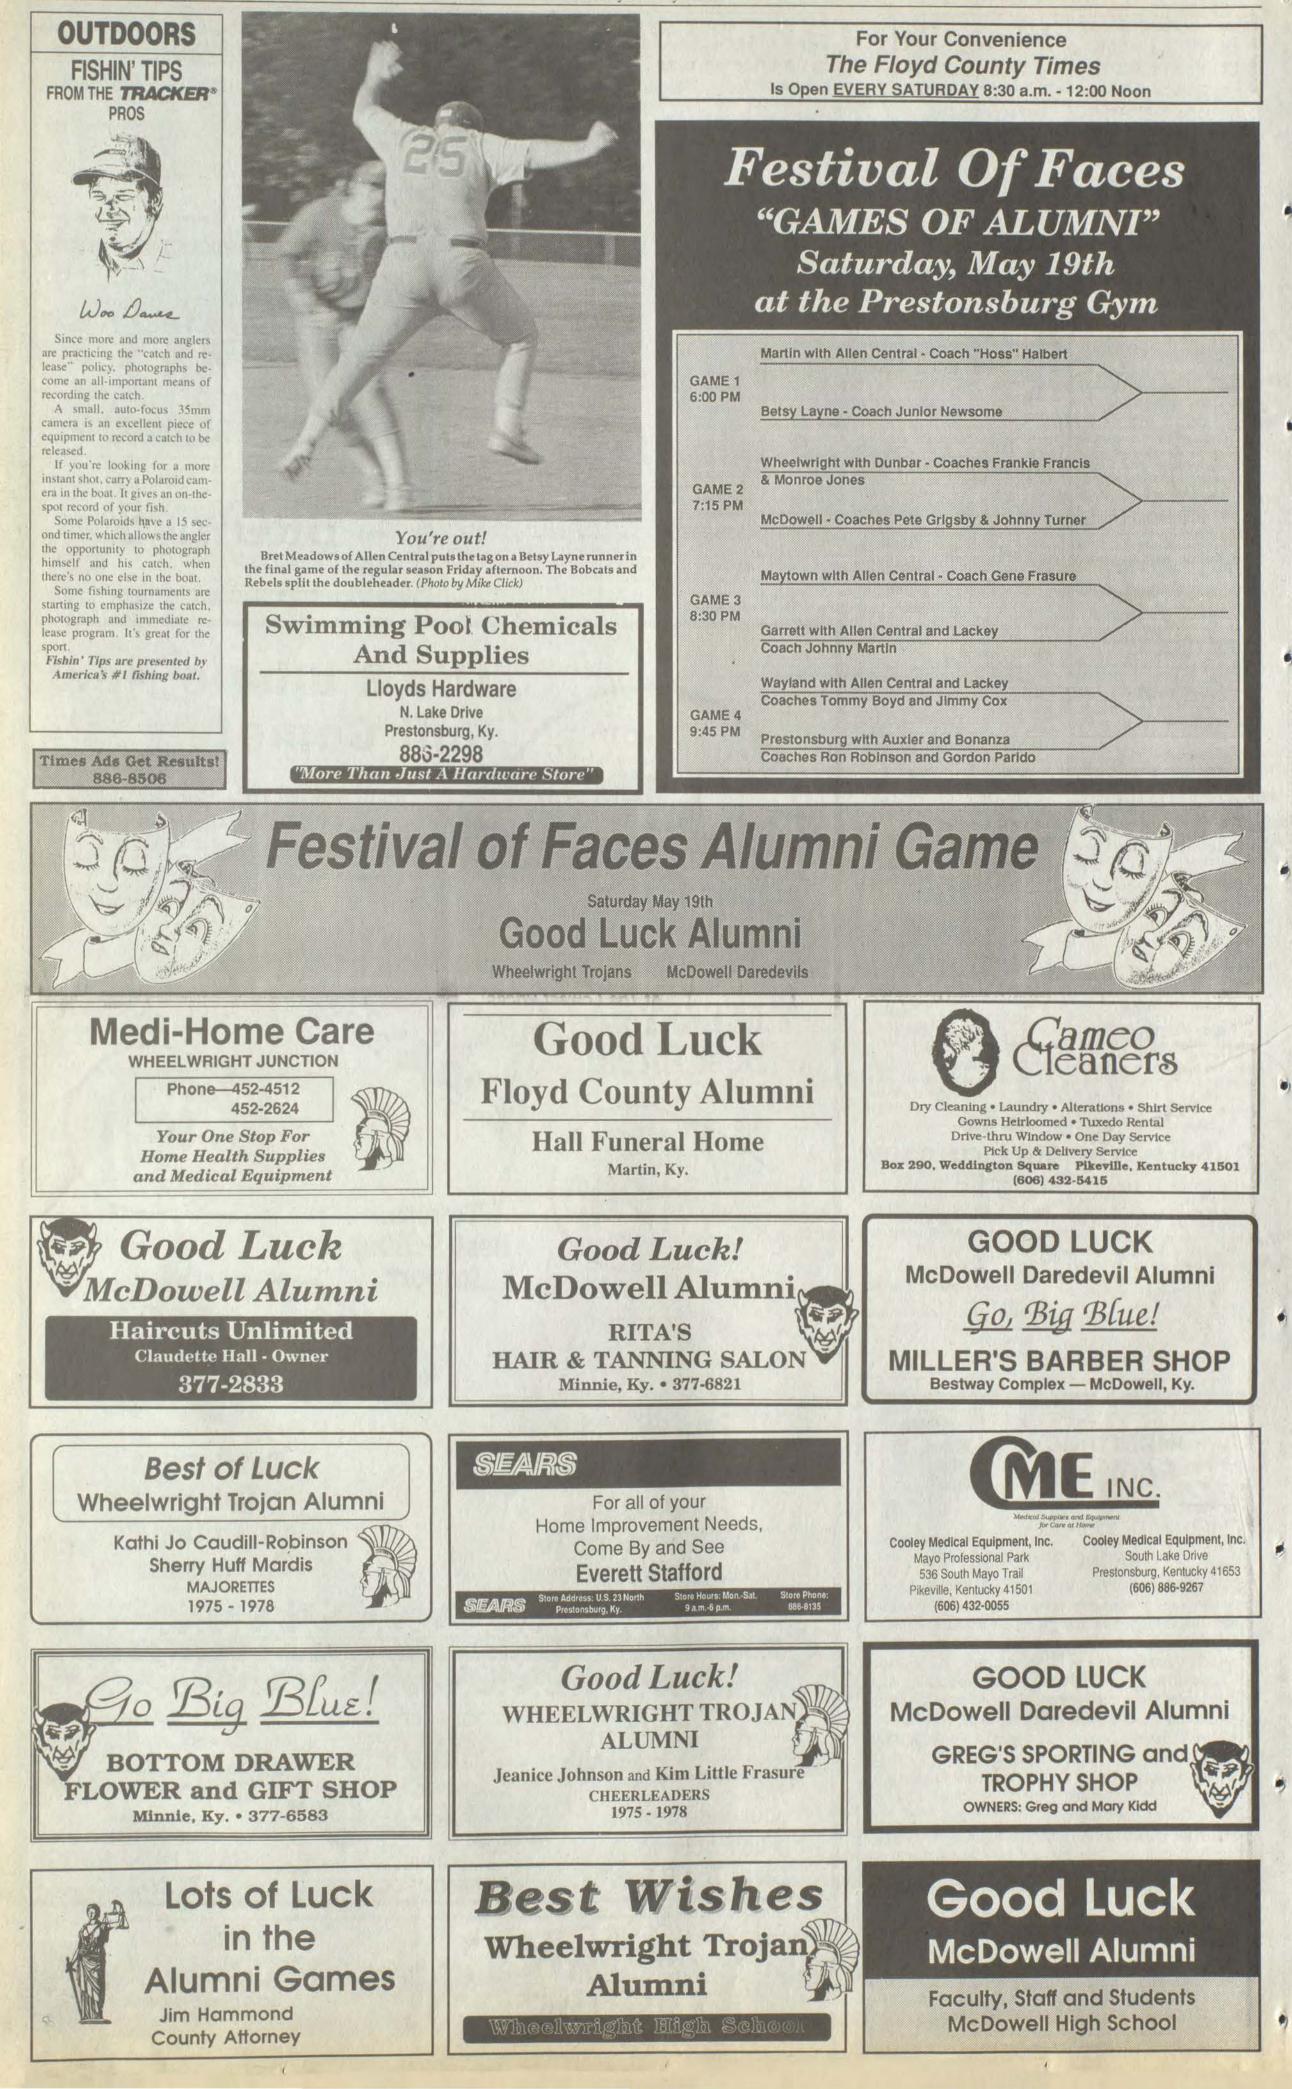

COOLEY APOTHECARY meets the highest level of professionalism in our business and would be honored to become your pharmacy. If you have any questions about a particular medication, generic or brand name, or about possible drug interactions, don't hesitate to ask. We are located at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Card and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3.

HINT: According to the FDA, the only substantiated problems with generic drugs stem from the substitution of non-equivalent drugs.

Why stretching is important know when to stretch or how it can benefit them. Many adhere to the myth that stretching is the best way to begin a workout.

"That is absolutely incorrect," said Steve Zelicoff, an exercise physiologist and director of the Center for Health Promotion in Pittsburgh. "Muscles warm up better when they are warmed up themselves."

He recommends warming up for five minutes by jogging or by partici-pating in a sport at a lower intensity level.

If you're a cyclist, for example, pedal at a relaxed pace at first. Then if you feel like stretching, go ahead.

For sports such as running or cycling, stretching isn't essential, but it could enhance performance in tennis, football, racquetball, golf or other activities involving specific motor skills.

"Stretching increases your range of motion," Zelicoff said.

"You take a look at a golf swing. It's one of the most aggressive swings in all of sports. It's obvious why so many golfers have back problems. They don't stretch.

by Dana Scarton Again, it's not essential. But Most recreational athletes don't stretching for five or 10 minutes can reduce the chances of experiencing unpleasantries, including buildup of lactic acids.

> The accumulation of lactic acids changes the chemistry of muscles. And that can cause fatigue and sore-

> Lactic acids are by-products of energy that fuels exercise. They accumulate in muscles when exercising is stopped suddenly. By cooling down gradually and stretching, the heart is allowed to pump lactic acids through the bloodstream to the liver and kidneys, which are able to process the acids.

The best type of stretching is static stretching. It involves holding a particular position for 15 seconds.

Not recommended is stretching that involves bouncing.

You try to touch you toes, but you can't reach, so you bounce a couple of times, thinking this will bring you closer

This is ballistic stretching. "Stretch to just before the point where the muscles are quivering," Zelicoff said.

'If you do experience quivering, "Very few people who play rec- your body is telling you that you are" reational sports warm up or stretch over-stretching. It's a protection mechanism. "Stretching is just really used to elongate muscles after a workout that may contract muscles."

METRO CONFERENCE TALKS OF EXPANSION OR SURVIVAL

Louisville - The Metro Conference will holding its annual conference meeting later this month in Florida. It will be more than just a time to mingle and play golf together. The league will discuss expansion of the conference or the survival of the conference. All of the present teams that make up the Metro Conference have had talk lately of journeying outside the conference making it a matter of survival.

Louisville is being courted to pull and and take part in a "super conference" with the likes of Depaul, Memphis State and Cincinnati. Florida State, South Carolina and Virginia Tech have been in discussions about an Eastern Seaboard Conference.

Expansion or survival? To survive, they figure you must expand.

Fishing is good for you suspected all along: Fishing is good for you.

Ćiting skull research performed by Dr. Dana Ackley, a St. Louis psychologist, the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency has proclaimed that fishing is the prefect therapy for frazzled nerves

According to the TWRA, here is what Dr. Ackley discovered in his examinations of patients' cranial circuitry: "People in high pressure businesses often don't realize when they need a break. They become irritable and their creative wells begin to run dry. Fishing can release the tension, because it relaxes and helps to 'distress' you."

Many of us already knew that, of course. It is common knowledge that the pedestal seat of a bass boat absorbs more heebie-jeebies than a shrink's couch.

But Dr. Ackley's findings make it official. This could be a major break through in the treatment of nervous disorders. It could make tranquilizers obsolete.

Job pressures piling up? Are your stress gauges red lined? Reach for the phone, call the boss and say, "I won't beat work today on account of I gotta go fishing. Doctor's orders. I'm about to rupture a brain gasket, and the doc says I got two choices: I can either blow my cork or float one. My psychologist advises me to choose the latter

The TWRA itself endorses Dr. Ackley's conclusion that "nothing soothes the soul like fresh air and serene surroundings.

To enhance fishing's therapeutic value, the TWRA offers these suggestions to people eager to take the doctor's advice and soak jangled nerves in the nearest fishing hole.

Dress comfortable --- "You're not. out there to impress anyone. Comfortable jeans, a light jacket, a sweatshirt or whatever are more practical than the latest fad in casual wear."

Don't think about future chores -"If you do, you will feel rushed and that can do more harm than good. Just enjoy — a minute at a time."

Tune in your surroundings by Al Dunning "When was the last time you admired Wildlife authorities have confirmed what outdoorsy citizens have water splashing over rocks? Felt the soft wind in your face? Appreciated the scenery around you with all your senses; you'll find the everyday pressures of life quietly fading away." Takea friend along — "Share your break and enjoyment of the outdoors. Fishing trips offer great opportunities for real conversation and communications. Use the time to reestablish lines of communications with a loved one or a friend, or to get to know someone better."

Sounds like good advice to me. It's a cinch that wrestling a catfish on the end of a line beats grappling with monsters of the mind. If some poor uptight wretch is on the brink of coming unglued, dipping minnows in a crappie honeyhole is bound to be more fun than a frontal lobotomy.

I mean, one quick trip to the local fishing hole may not be enough to rescue a real basket case from a mental meltdown. Achieving total tranquility could take months. Even years. Maybe a lifetime.

That's O.K. with me.

AREVE

If I have to be a fishing hole outpa-tient from now until George Bush becomes a broccoli addict, I guess I'll just have to live with it. If ongoing reatments on the river banks are what it's going to take to keep me from blowing a fuse, hey, I don't have any choice. I'm just taking good, sound medical advice.

Woman's Club holds statewide convention

Members of the GFWC/KFWC7th District Woman's Clubs were among the nearly 500 women from across the common wealth who attended the 95th annual Convention of Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs.

The theme of the convention, held at the Radison Plaza in Lexington on April 18-21, was "A Celebration of Success.

> "It's often been said of me that I'd drive 100 miles to give a speech and then pay them for the privilege," Burchett said.

> Clearly, he is a humorist and an astute observer of what's "goin' down." He has made many accurate political predictions since the first Kiwanis Club meeting that spawned his soothsaying tendencies.

> That was in the late 1940s when the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club was having its last meeting of the year. "We met at the old Wise Steak House, and myself and Ed and Marvin Music were the nucleus of the club at that time, but we didn't have a program for that night," Burchett recalled with a hearty laugh.

PBH staff launch beautification plan

Employees of Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center in Paintsville have joined in the effort to beautify and maintain the hospital grounds.

The beautification program began recently as various departments volunteered to assume responsibility for the appearance of certain areas of the grounds, including parking islands and building perimeters.

Departments involved are physical therapy, central supply, radiol-ogy, medical records, business office, administration, dietary, nursing, laboratory, pharmacy, respiratory therapy, emergency room, maintenance and housekeeping.

Alice Frazier of central supply and Tom Copley of maintenance are cochairpersons of the activity.

a scheduled program, I'd be allowed to blow. They even opened the doors of the meeting room so the rest of the restaurant could hear."

Then, he was scheduled next year, and it kept growing from there. Now he frequents Kiwanis circles in Paintsville, Ashland, Lexington and elsewhere, giving his annual predictions for the coming year. Lexington newspaper columnists regularly mention Burchett's predictions.

A recent sample of his political sense, mixed with a bit of wry savvy, goes like this: "Harvey Sloane would probably be defeated in his run for the US Senate if he had no opposition. However, with the filing of John Brock, he will probably win instead." Or: "The Lord leads me, and the government feeds me."

In a more recent revelation, he predicted: "On Dec. 7, 1990, the Japanese will buy Pearl Harbor!"

Measuring his success by a more serious criterion, it is noteworthy that Burchett predicted the education reform in Kentucky.

He wrote, before the General Assembly session began, "Wallace Thursday at 7:20 a.m.

"It was bad night, a big snow on. Wilkinson has in his hands the ability Marvin decided since we didn't have to make of himself a great governor to make of himself a great governor and Kentucky a leader in education. In case he doesn't, the legislature will do it over his head!"

> The "Sage" has a leather satchel with his yearly predictions all the way back to the 1940s. He has batted well over .500 or higher. And most of the predictions carry a distinctly humorous twist. Many civic club members and others who have been fortunate enough to have heard one of his presentations will readily attest.

> For instance, his prediction regarding the equine industry. "In 1990, not even an Arab will pay more than $10 million for a horse that won't breed or run."

> Where does Burchett get his material? He just keeps aware of what's going on. "You could learn more sit-ting with the whittlers on the corner of Court and Lake Drive than you could in two weeks at Harvard School of Diplomacy," he reasons.

An interview with Burchett, the Sage of Cow Creek, can be heard on WPRT radio today at 12:20 p.m. and again on Although stir-frying is a cooking method generally associated with oriental cuisine, inventive chefs are finding more and more ways to prepare traditionally Western foods using this healthful technique. What are the advantages?

-Stir-frying uses very little oil sharply reducing unwanted fat in the cooking process.

 High heat used in stir-frying seals in natural juices and nutrients. Vegetables are cooked only until tender-crisp, maintaining vitamins, flavor and attractive appearance.

- Stir-frying is fast — producing delicious meals and more leisure time to enjoy them.

If you thought that stir-fry ingredients were limited to foods such as bamboo shoots, bean sprouts and bok choy, you've been missing half the fun. Stir-frying is a great way to use the plentiful supply of zucchini, green beans, broccoli and other vegetables.

A good stir-fry cookbook will give you recipes for international dishes such as beef Burgundy, fish Florentine, Creole mixed vegetables - a host of delicious ideas that originate far from the Far East. Or, you can create your stir-fry originals, using the following techniques. INTERNATIONAL STIR-FRYING

- Chop vegetables or meat into very thin or small pieces to speed cooking.

Slice meat across the grain for added tenderness.

- Some slower cooking vegetables (such as carrots or broccoli) may need to be steamed briefly before stir-frying.

The following recipe provides an interesting stir-frying change. Although it uses traditional stir-frying techniques, the seasonings and final flavors are very much Italian. Serve shells. over noodles or rice.

ITALIAN CHICKEN STIR-FRY 4 chicken breast halves, skinned and boned 2 Tbsps peanut or vegetable oil 1-1/2 cups broccoli, in small pieces 1 large green pepper, cut into 1-inch squares 1/4-1/2 tsp garlic powder 1 tsp basil

3 medium tomatoes, chopped

Cut the chicken into 1-inch cubes. Heat a wok or skillet over high heat for about 30 seconds. Add the oil and swirl to cover the pan bottom. Reduce the heat to medium and add the chicken. Fry the chicken rapidly, stirring and tossing to cook evenly.

Cook the chicken for one minute, then add the broccoli, green pepper, garlic powder and herbs. Cook, stirring continuously, until the vegetables are almost tender-crisp. Add the tomatoes and stir until heated through and well mixed.

This will yield 4 servings, each with 255 calories and about 10 grams of fat.

Mexican beef stir fry is one flavorful example of unlimited combinations. It uses thin slices of lean flank steak which are cooked in oil seasoned with cumin, garlic salt and oregano. Then add favorite Mexican vegetables like peppers and onions. For added south-of-the-border flair serve this stir-fried meal over a lettuce raft, in taco shells or on tostada

MEXICAN BEEF STIR FRY

Preparation time: 15 minutes Cooking time: 8 to 10 minutes 1 lb beef flank steak 2 Tbsps vegetable oil 1 tsp each ground cumin and dried oreg ano leaves 1 clove garlic, minced 1 red bell pepper, cut into thin strips 1 medium onion, cut into thin wedges 1 to 2 jalapeno peppers*, cut into slivers 3 cups sliced romaine lettuce, cut 1/4 inch

Cut beef flank steak into 1/8 inch thick strips. Combine oil, cumin, oregano and garlic; reserve half. Heat half the seasoned oil in large nonstick frying pan over medium-high heat until hot. Add red pepper, onion and jalapeno pepper; stir-fry 2 to 3 minutes or until crisp-tender. Remove and reserve. In same pan stir-fry beef strips (1/2 at a time) in reserved oil 1 to 2 minutes. Return vegetables to pan and heat through. Serve beef mixture over lettuce. Yields 4 servings at 277 calories each. *Remove interior ribs and seeds if a milder flavor is desired.

Today's beef is leaner and healthier than ever before. And it's being prepared in a number of simple yet elegant ways that take advantage of its versatility and abundance of essential nutrients. Try the following Easy Beef and Broccoli Stir-Fry recipe for a family dinner or when entertaining guests.

EAST BEEF AND BROCCOLI

STIR-FRY 1/2 lb beef tip or top round or sirloin steak 3 Tbsps soy sauce 3 Tbsps dry sherry (or water) 2 tsps sugar 1 clove garlic, minced 1/8 tsp crushed red pepper pods 1 Tbsp vegetable oil cups broccoli flowerettes, blanched tsps cornstarch 3 scallions, chopped 1/4 cup unsalted peanuts (optional) Hot cooked rice

Slice beef into thin, bite-size pieces (partially freeze for easier slicing). Combine soy sauce, sherry, sugar, garlic and red pepper. Place beef strips in plastic bag or dish. Pour marinade over beef strips, stirring to coat. Tie bag or cover dish and marinate in refrigerator for 30 minutes.

Drain beef strips; reserve marinade. Stir-fry beef in hot oil in wok or large non-stick skillet for 2 minutes; add broccoli and continue cooking another 2 minutes. Combine cornstarch and reserved marinade; add to beef mixture and cook, stirring until sauce thickens. Add scallions and peanuts and stir-fry an additional minute or so. Serve over hot rice. Serves 2.

You'll save more time by stirring up a batch of this all-purpose stir-fry sauce flavored with sherry, garlic and ginger. It will keep three weeks in the refrigerator. One recipe for the sauce is enough to make four different stirfrys

Serve a stir-fry with bowls of white or brown rice, a bottomless pot of steaming tea. Have fresh fruit, such as pineapple, for dessert, followed by fortune cookies for fun.

STIR-FRY SAUCE

Preparation time: 15 minutes Yield: 4 cups 2-1/2 cups chicken broth 1/2 cup of each cornstarch, soy sauce, light corn syrup and dry sherry 1/4 cup cider vinegar 2 garlic cloves, minced 2 tsps grated fresh ginger 1/4 tsp ground red pepper

Combine all ingredients in a 1-1/ 2 quart jar with tight-fitting lid. Shake well. May be stored up to three weeks in refrigerator. Shake well before using.

MICRO-VEGETABLEMEDLEY Preparation time: 30 minutes

3 medium carrots, thinly sliced 2 cups cauliflowerets 1 large onion, coarsely chopped 1 Tbsp oil

2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms 1 green bell pepper, cut into 1/2 inch strips

6 to 8 ears of baby corn, drained 1 cup all-purpose stir-fry sauce, accord ing to recipe In 3 quart microwave-safe dish, combine carrots, cauliflower, onion and oil. Cover; microwave on high 3 minutes. Stir in mushrooms, green pepper and stir-fry sauce. Microwave, uncovered, stirring twice, 10 minutes or until sauce boils and thickens. Stir in baby corn. Serves 4.

ENCHANTED CHICKEN Prep time: 20 minutes

1 lb boneless, skinless chicken breasts, cut into strips

- 2 large green pepper, cut into 1-inch squares
- 2 medium onions, cut into 1/2 inchwedges

2 Tbsps oil 1 cup stir-fry sauce

- 1 cup sliced nappa cabbage (thin cres
- cents from near root end)
- 1/4 cup chili sauce
- cup pineapple tidbits, drained
- 1/3 cup sliced almonds, toasted

Add chicken, green-pepper squares and onions to hot oil in wok or skillet over high heat. Cook and stir just until chicken turns white. Whisk stir-fry sauce and pour over ingredients in wok or skillet. Add chili sauce and nappa cabbage; cook and stir until sauce bubbles an thickens. Stir in pineapple and sprinkle finished dish with toasted almonds. Serves 4.

You Better.

ast year, over 45,000 people sought treatment at Highlands, more than double the number of 10 years ago.

Many received the more sophisticated kinds of care that simply weren't offered here in 1979, for heart disease, cancer, lung disease and sleep disorders, to name just a few.

We keep getting better at diagnosing-finding out what's wrong-with advanced technologies like mammography, ultrasound, computerized pulmonary diagnostics, C.A.T. Scan, echocardiography, special chemistry diagnostics and pathology services. There's also cardiac catheterization and phacoemulsification (a new procedure for cataracts).

Because we can now detect and identify your problems sooner, we have a better chance of solving them sooner. But that's only one of the reasons we're getting better at treatment, too.

It's the world-class professionals at Highlands, the employees and physicians who make the difference. It's our skills that make the technology work. It's our dedication that serves you 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

It's our commitment to growth that makes us keep getting better at everything we do. Early detection combined with more advanced

Kentucky's retail food prices moved three-tenths of one percent lower during March, as cheaper milk and vegetables offset higher priced poultry and eggs, according to Ken-tucky Farm Bureau's marketbasket survey. The statewide index — the average cost of 40 selected food items in grocery stores across the state-stood at$71.17 in March, compared to $71.37 in February

Beef and pork prices were slightly lower in March, despite tight supplies and lower production of red meat in Kentucky. Dairy product prices fell 1.2 percent and fruits/ vegetables, affected by a dollar a pound drop in the price of tomatoes, came down 5.7 percent.

Poultry and eggs, boosted by pre-Easter demand, jumped nearly 14 percent in price. Large eggs averaged $1.02 a dozen, compared to just 83 cents in February. Boneless chicken breasts vaulted back over the $2 mark for the first time since November, veraging $2.13 a pound.

Grain-based foods showed a smaller increase of 1.9 percent, fueled by higher tabs on bread, flour and cooking oil. Fresh tomatoes sold for their lowest cost since December, averaging $1.29 a pound. Cucumbers and bell peppersalso moved back in line price-

Milk, cottage cheese and butter prices were lower in March. At the meat counter, bacon, ground beef and T-bone steaks were cheaper, but analysts say that any renewal of consumers' red meat purchases could cause supplies to tighten and force prices higher by early summer.

Records personnel are recognized

Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center in Paintsville is recognizing its medical records personnel this week during National Medical Tran-scriptionist Week.

Évelyn Roberts, director of medical records for the hospital, said that the theme of the American Association for Medical Transcription for 1990 is "Pride."

"Medical transcriptionists must be proficient in medical language, have commitment to confidentiality, investigative minds and a dedication to professionalism," Roberts said.

"Physicians and nurses know that without the accurate and timely medical reports provided by our medical transcriptionists, patient care could be compromised and our entire health care system adversely af-fected," said hospital administrator Debbie Trimble Meadows.

Arts, heritage focus in Lexington

"Art can make a difference in your Horse Park. life," claims Isabel Yates. The arts have certainly made a difference to her, and through her work as chairperson for the second annual Lexington Arts and Heritage Festival, she wants to share that difference.

The festival, May 17-27, offers a variety of activities including concerts, plays, exhibits, heritage homes and horse farm tours.

Many of Lexington's historic homes have waived admission on May 20. The Hunt-Morgan House, the Mary Todd Lincoln House, Ash-land and the Bodley Bullock House have planned special receptions.

the Kentucky Horse Park, will visit Gainesway Farm, Three Chimney Farm, Spendthrift Farm, the Red Mile Race Track and Keeneland. The $3 fee

Yates was inspired to develop a plan for the festival through research for her business, Merit Tours. While seeking information about Kentucky to entertain clients, she fell in love with Lexington's history.

She also realized that Lexington has a growing arts community. Hoping to make Lexington more aware of local opportunities, Yates decided that heritage and arts would make a wonderful festival theme. "I wanted to concentrate on our strengths," she said. The festival has been condensed from two weeks and three weekends Horse farm tours, originating from in 1989 to one week and two weekends this year. But the arts offerings are still top rate.

Actors' Guild of Lexington will host the fifth annual New Theatre includes all-day admission to the Festival at Arts Place in coordination with the Arts and Heritage Festival. Lee Luvisi, an internationally known concert pianist will perform at the University of Kentucky Singletary Center for the Arts on May 22. "La Cenerentola," an operatic perform-ance of "Cinderella," will be staged at the Opera House May 25-27.

"Fairy Tales and Fantasies," an exhibit to compliment the operatic production, will be in the Opera House Gallery. The Headley-Whitney Museum will feature "Equestrian Art: Three Views," an exhibit of equine art by three well-known artists, John Ashley, Fay Moore and Edwin Bugucki. Many other exhibits are also part of the festival.

Downtown Arts Day is a familyoriented day with the arts. Join demonstrating artists or visit exhibits, shop at an artwork boutique or watch performances in Central Park. Children's workshops will also be offered.

"There is something for everyone at the festival," Yates said, "because whether we realize it or not, arts are a part of everyone's life.'

Information and a schedule for Lexington's second annual Arts and Heritage Festival are available at (606)255-1951. For more information about other festivals and special events around Kentucky, call 1-800-255-TRIP.

NOTICE OF BLASTING SCHEDULE Permit Number 836-5238

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 405 KAR 16:120, Section 3, Consolidation Coal Company of Kentucky, Star Rt. 3, Lambric, Kentucky 41340, telephone (606) 884-2114 proposed the following blasting schedule:

The blasting site consists of approximately 2.82 acres located 0.9 miles Northeast of Handshoe in Floyd County, Kentucky. This area is located 0.2 miles West of Kentucky Route 2029's junction with Kentucky Route 1280 at latitude 37º 28' 47" and longitude 82º 53' 38". Detonations of explosives are proposed to occur from sunrise to sunset.

Control of the blasting area will be maintained by blocking access roads to the blasting area ten (10) minutes prior to the blast. Post detonation access to the blasting area will be allowed only after an inspection and determination that no hazards exist.

A predetonation warning, consisting of three (3) long blasts of air horn/siren will be given. After personnel are cleared from the area, two (2) additional long blasts will be given two (2) minutes before detonation of explosives. Just prior to detonation, one (1) additional long blast of siren/horn will be sounded. Personnel are to remain in clear area until a satisfactory postdetonation inspection of the blasting area has been made. A postdetonation all clear signal, consisting of a series of short blasts on the air horn/siren will be given. These signals will be audible over a minimum distance of one half (1/2) mile. Events which could lead to blasting at times other than scheduled include but are not limited to rain, lightning, or other atmospheric conditions which involve personnel, operational or public safety. If conditions occur that require blasting at times other than normally scheduled blasting hours, the audible signals described above will be used to warn the public of blasting activity. 5-2-4tW.

Ask Shelly

Question 1: When we sell our home should we paint and recarpet?

Answer 1:Generally speaking, if the color scheme of the house is neutral and there are no problems with the walls or ceilings, it isn't necessary to re-paint. If the walls are dirty or dark colors are present, I would advise you to repaint using light colors.

Similarly, if the carpeting is stained, worn or the colors are dark I would advise you to re-carpet in a light or neutral shade. Often times a home which will be vacant and has had the furniture removed will show traffic areas. Different shades which the furniture covered will show. Carpeting which looks fine in an occupied home may not look acceptable in a vacant home.

Question 2: The kitchen in our home needs to be updated and we are wondering if our investment in a new kitchen will be returned when we sell?

Answer: 2: The kitchen of a home can be the most expensive room to remodel. The investment in a new kitchen will not be returned dollar for dollar during resale. Even if the remodeling is well done with quality cabinets, new flooring and appliances, the return still would not equal the cost.

So often, the kitchen is the room which will "sell" a home and may sometimes compensate for other deficiencies in the home. If you in-tend, however, to live in the home after your kitchen is remodeled, the comfort and desirability of the new room will enhance your home until you decide to sell.

EQUAL HOUSING

Question 3: I am buying a home directly from the seller and there is no real estate agent representing the property being sold. Are there any areas I should specifically be concerned about?

Answer3: When purchasinga "For Sale by Owner" property, I would advise you to employ a real estate professional. A housing inspector can inform you of problems with the structure and possible remedies. An real estate appraiser determine the market value of the home/property.

Problems uncovered by the inspector may be treated as a reduction in property value by the appraiser, rather than as a repair by the seller. Question 4: We have been looking at older homes and have found several we like. How can we be sure the home is up to code?

Answer4: A Housing Inspector or City Code Inspector can often determine the adequacy and compliance of various components with existing codes. In older homes it's helpful to check building permits for remodeling updates in compliance with city codes and the change was completed by a licensed contractor.
