Thursday, mostly sunny and pleasant, high around 75. Thursday night, increasing cloudiness, low around 60.

At a specially called meeting last Friday evening, the Wayland Town Board voted to hire Terry Hill as interim policeman while a search is conducted for a perma-nent replacement for Mack Stewart, who resigned to join the Prestonsburg Police Department. Mayor Hobert Webb said ap-

The Prestonsburg High School Class of 1965 will have its 25-year class reunion Saturday, May 26 at 6:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn and on Sunday, May 27 at Archer Park. All grads are invited to attend and the Reunion Committee assures them a good time.

Art exhibit Friday

The Christian Appalachian Project Youth Center at Martin will have an art exhibit of the class's original works on Friday. The age range is 7-14 and the judging will be outside from 5-8 p.m. Refreshments will be served and the exhibit is open to the public.

Out for blood

The battle continues to rage be tween the Prestonsburg Rotary and Jaycees clubs. The battle is, of course, the annual "Battle for Blood" in which each group attempts to draw the most donors within a three day period. As of close of business Tuesday at the Central Kentucky Blood Center, the score was tied. Although attendance was a little low, following on the heels of several other blood drives, the two clubs are confident that the numbers will increase over the next two days. The center is located on the second floor of the Municipal Building and will be open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday as the battle continues.

Hunter Bridge is coming up; 911 steps taken

by Tess A. Whitmer Assistant Editor

Should all the bids that were recently let by the Fiscal Court come under budget, the residents at Hunter will be getting their much sought after bridge replacement.

Construction for the Hunter Bridge is to be advertised soon, according to a resolution passed by the Floyd Fiscal Court last Friday.

Fiscal Court members also passed a resolution to ask the US Postal Service to assist in the mapping process for the 911 emergency system.

The system will be run by a board of directors consisting of representatives from all emergency personnel, who will be answering zoning and responding questions as well as dealing with dispatching disputes.

County Attorney Jim Hammond said the implementation of such a system would hopefully solve the problems residents may be having as to who should respond to a fire at their home. Judge-Executive John M. citizen.

Stumbo estimated that 70 percent of the county is in a fire district, and with the 911 system, 100 percent should be covered for emergency

Among citizen's grievances brought before the court was one by Scott Frazier and other residents of Abbott. Frazier said the Left Fork of Abbott Road needs to be widened and a culvert needs to be installed to prevent flooding. District 1 Magistrate Gerald DeRossett said the county had plans to install a tanker which should alleviate the need for a culvert, and he agreed the road was dangerously

Judge Stumbo noted that the county could not do any blasting and has had trouble with rights of way from the residents. "Everyone wants the problem solved, but they want the work done to their neighbor's yard not theirs," he said.

He did agree to look into widening some of the more hazardous curves that do not require blasting and to fix the pavement and shoulders in other spots.

"We have got a good bridge, now Hammond said he had met with we need a road to get to it," said one the family and they confirmed that if

Hammond recommended that the Fiscal Court stay out of the dispute over a road at Dickey Town until litigation is resolved.

Atty. Tim Parker appeared on behalf of his clients Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kestner, requesting that the county take the road leading to their house into the county road system. The Kestners were under the impression that since the road had been maintained by the county for 10 years this would be no problem.

Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens reminded them that it only took one complaint to stop said process. Apparently the Kestners have been in Circuit Court with their neighbors attempting to determine placement of the road

Hammond said if the Circuit Court ruled in the Kestners' favor, the neighbors could be held in contempt of court if they continued to block access. Until such time as that ruling is established the Fiscal Courtagreed to stay any actions.

Gene DeCoursey of Wayland received good news when he came to the court inquiring about the state of bleachers at the Minnie Park. Judge Stumbo said the bleachers were on order and should arrive within 3 to 4

DeCoursey also requested that something be done about the pop machine at the park, which is under the control of the Lions Club. Apparently the machine is still in operation, but contains no sodas and people are losing money. Magistrate Betty Caudill said she would speak to the Lions Club about his concern.

One complaint, received minutes before the court meeting ended, concerned the closing of Crum Branch Road on Arkansas Creek. Kirk Layne phoned to say that closing of the road would disallow his family access to a family graveyard in that area.

Coal Mac completed the job of re-moving and reestablishing graves in another area, there would be no more problem in closing the road. The court agreed on no action until such work

The Court also moved to enter into a partnership with the City of Wheelwright to apply for state grants for a sewage treatment plant to be located out of the city limits.

David Cooley of the Floyd County Solid Waste and Cleveland Tackett, ecology officer, reported that the countywide cleanup program was doing well.

Although the county truck was lagging three to four days behind the garbage truck the work was being continued, they said. The reason for such a delay, according to Cooley, is because so many people are participating and throwing away everything from stumps to appliances and furni-

Tackett and Hammond clarified a matter of illegal littering in the county. Hammond said that if a name or some other matter of identification is found in a roadside dump, it is the ecology officer's job to investigate said person. If Tackett then still believes that person was the culprit and has probable cause, Hammond will prosecute.

Owens commended Tackett for his efforts in District 2, stating he "really had them on their toes up there and was doing a good job."

Response system updated by Middle Creek firefighters

by Tess A. Whitmer Assistant Editor

The Middle Creek Volunteer Fire Department has established a new emergency system to better serve the residents within its area. By calling 886-9290 after hours, callers will get a recording, slowly instructing them what to do.

The recording tells the caller to phone 886-4950 which will activate the paging system of 12 firefighters. The caller must then slowly and clearly tell the firefighters where the emergency is. Toward the end of the recording there is also a non-emergency number, 886-9097, for other business. The recording also takes Firefighter Glen Vaughn said this is the first system within the county for volunteer departments that is 911 compatible. The system is referred to as the 24-hour emergency dispatch.

It costs the department $1800, which Vaughn said was a "good deal." The continuing cost will be $10

Along with the pager/recording apparatus, the department also purchased a computer system to increase response time. Similar to the 911 main dispatch unit, this computer tells the exact location of a home within the district by punching in either a social security number, phone number or

"It tells us exactly where the location is within our fire district - but doesn't tell whether they've paid their subscription or not," Vaughn joked. The Middle Creek Fire Department does not charge a subscription.

Presently the firefighters are conducting a canvas of area residents asking for vital information for the computer and also giving them a chance to meet their neighbors. Again, the number a person calls is still the same, 886-9290. The caller will hear a recording instructing what needs to be done next.

day being immediately followed by the election, several area agencies will be closed both days while others will only shut their doors on Monday. The County Court Clerk's office will be closed on Monday and will be open as the Board of Elections on Tuesday. The County Judge's Office will also be closed on Monday and Tuesday as will all the county schools.

Those closed on Monday only will be the City Offices, the Employment Office, the area banks and post offices, the District and Circuit Court offices and the Health Department.

Prestonsburg Community College will also be closed on Monday. The office of Floyd County Solid Waste will be closed, but the garbage trucks will run their usual routes.

The office of The Floyd County Times will be open as usual on Monday and Tuesday.

A knife-welding man reportedly threatened a Prestonsburg police officer with bodily harm late Thursday night and ended up in jail.

Officer John P. Hunt said he was entering the back entrance of the Municipal Building about 11:50 p.m. on May 17 when he encountered Ronald R. Burchett, 53, of Prestonsburg. Upon seeing Hunt, Burchett said he'd "been looking for" him - meaninga police officer, according to Hunt. Huntasked what he could do for him and Burchett stated he (Burchett) was drunk. When Hunt tried to enter the doorway, Burchett blocked it, he said.

Hunt said he could tell the man was drunk and attempted to arrest him. Burchett had put his hands in his pocket and when asked to remove them withdrew a knife with an 8-inch blade and reportedly said "H_ with that, I'm going to kill you."

'He refused to drop the weapon or cooperate in anyway, saying he would kill or have to be killed," said Hunt. "I hollered for assistance and proceeded to disarm him before the assistance arrived.

Hunt noted that the only way to get the weapon away from Burchett was with the use of his riot baton.

Burchett suffered bruises to his right hand and wrist and was treated and released from Highlands Regional Medical Center. He was then taken to the jail where he is awaiting evaluation. The case is under investigation by Detective Jeff Stumbo. Auxilliary Officer Herman Mor-

Seeing is believing

A lot of folks in the Wayland area have been known to say they'd "believe it when I see it" after years of waiting for reclamation work on the slate dumps and creeks. Now, they can believe. Work has begun by Walker Construction Co. on cleaning up the long abandoned slate dumps, many of which have been smoldering for years, and clearing silt from Steele's Creek. Workmen are shoring up the sides of the creek behind Ed Caudill's house, just east of Wayland, with baskets filled with large rocks. The work will be continued at other sites along the creek with the intent to stop the erosion which has dangerously eaten away at banks of the creek because of runoff from the slate dumps. Two silt ponds have also been built at the dump in #28 Hollow. A multi-million dollar allocation from the Abandoned Mine Lands fund is footing the bill for the clean up. The slate piles were left by Elkhorn Coal Co. which mined the area for several decades. (Photo by Tim Preston)

Home destroyed in Allen area fire

A fire destroyed the home of Leonard Hall Jr. Sunday evening. The trailer, owned by Louanne Hall, was located at the mouth of Arkansas Creek on KY 1428.

According to Allen firefighter Craig Harmon, the fire department responded within 10 minutes with 12 members and two vehicles, but were unable to save the residence. They remained on the scene for about two hours.

In an attempt to determine occupancy of the household, a neighbor, Joey Crum, injured his right arm, requiring nine stitches. Apparently Crum had broken a window, thinking someone might have been at home. He was treated and released from Our Lady of the Way Hospital that same evening, according to Harmon.

Harmon said that when the firefighters arrived flames were coming out of one end and the main part of the trailer. All they could do at that point was assure that no neighbor homes were in danger, while dousing the fire. The home was a total loss.

The cause of the fire is still under vestigation.

Abandoned rail lines may revert to original owner

Railroad companies that abandon rail lines, in many cases, have absolutely no ownership rights to that property, according to Attorney General Fred Cowan.

An opinion issued by Cowan says a right-of-way obtained by a railroad reverts back to owners of the original property if the railroad abandons its use of the land.

The opinion was issued in response to questions regarding a rail-road line between Lebanon and Corbin that has been abandoned by CSX Transportation. CSX has been attempting to sell the land on which the railroad line had been operated.

Some property owners have complained to the Attorney General's Office that CSX may be attempting to sell land it does not own. The com-plaints are currently under review by the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office.

Cowan has asked CSX Transportation to produce real estate records and other materials relevant to the review. Cowan is also asking CSX to justify its policies relating to the dis-

However, if you're younger, you may be able to reduce your future chances of cataracts by taking a good look at the new labels on sunglasses.

Cataract information is a condition in which the normally clear, aspirin-sized lens of the eye grows cloudy, impairing the vision. This normally transparent structure behind the iris (the color membrane surrounding the pupil) focuses light on the retina, the light-sensitive membrane surrounding the pupil.

Clouding of the lens is much like smearing grease over the lens of a camera. Cataracts can develop at any age, but most often appears in people older than 42. Precisely why cataracts occur with age is unknown. Ultravio-let radiation (particularly from the sun) plays a major role in creating the chemical change in the lens responsible for most cataracts.

Cataract development can be noticed by symptoms of double or blurred vision and of sensitivity to light and glare, making driving diffi-cult. Everything you look at has a yellowish tint.

About 1.2 million Americans were diagnosed as having cataracts last year. This used to mean thick, heavy glasses after the clouded lens was removed but surgeons usually now replace the clouded lens with a clear, hard plastic disc called an intraocular

TB, not a disease of the past

Most people think of Tuberculosis (TB) as a disease of the past. But according to Peggy Gibson, TB Coordinator of the Floyd County Health Department, there are still people

"While it is true there are not as many people with TB as there were 50 years ago, it is not a disease which has been completely eradicated."
Anti-TB drugs were developed in the 1940s, but prior to that time, the only treatment for TB was rest, good diet, fresh air and surgery. Many TB patients built screened rooms in their houses so they could receive plenty of fresh air.

Also most TB patients were sent to TB hospitals throughout the state to recover from TB, but all of these hospitals are now closed.

The Prestonsburg Police Department report three vehicle accidents this past week within the city limits. No injuries were suffered.

A Sunday, May 20, accident was listed as a hit and run by Officer R. Frasure. Reportedly, Rebecca Bentley, 30, of Prestonsburg was stopped at a traffic light at the intersection of Prestonsburg Village and US 23, when Elmer Crum of Martin made a left turn off US 23 and struck Bentley's

Both drivers went to the steak house to call the police but Crum had left the scene, heading south on US 23 before the police arrived.

Also on Sunday, Officer Frasure reports an accident at the intersection of Friend Street and KY 1428. Apparently James Carter III, 21, of Prestonsburg was pulling out of Friend Street when Thomas Thornsberry, 18, of Prestonsburg struck him.

Thornsberry stated he could not stop due to his tires being bad and his brakes locking. He was cited for failure to transfer and no insurance. Carter's vehicle had to be towed away.

The other accident occurred on Wednesday, May 18, and involved William Watkins, 42, of London and Terry Hamilton of Melvin. According to Sgt. Tim Mullins, Hamilton's vehicle was parked and unoccupied beside the road at KY 114, when Watkins apparently hit a large pothole and lost control of his vehicle sideswiping Hamilton's car, which was towed away.

ment Tuberculosis Control Program treats actual cases of TB and screens others to see it they have been exposed to TB.

The screening procedure is a simple TB skin test, where a small amount of purified protein derivative (PPD) is injected under the skin, then in 48-72 hours the site is inspected to see if it is negative or positive for exposure to TB.

Gibson states that just because a person has a positive skin test does not always mean he or she has TB. Further tests such as chest X-rays and sputum cultures are used to diagnose actual cases of TB.

The Floyd County Board of Health requires that all persons who handle food in Floyd County must have a TB skin test yearly. The Floyd County Health Department and the State Department for Health Services strongly recommend that everyone be skin tested yearly.

According to Gibson, those persons who have had a positive skin test should not take another one, since it will always be positive, but that these people would want to have regular chest X-rays as recommended by their physician.

By Marty Backus

Well, we're heading into what is generally called the first holiday of the summer season, Memorial Day weekend.

A lot of families will be making their annual trek to that favorite lake or picnic spot to soak in some sun.

When it's all over, we'll return to whatever we've been doing, maybe with a sunburn, but it will have been

However, let's take a little break to remember the loved ones who have passed on. That's what the real purpose of Memorial Day is.

Speaking of remembering, I'll always remember a neighbor of The Floyd County Times.

Mary Jane Brown died Sunday after battling cancer for some time. She and her husband George lived right next door to The Times. The founders of Brown Food Service were good neighbors indeed. Often, Mrs. Brown would surprise the staff here by bringing over a tray of fresh, homemade brownies.

But the things I think I'll miss the most about Mrs. Brown are her very friendly way and her very beautiful flowers, growing each summer next to our newspaper.

In less than a week a few citizens will be using a right which most people of the world don't have and that's voting. I use the term " a few citizens" because it seems most could not care less about casting their vote, especially in an off-year election.

According to the prediction of County Clerk Carla Bolton, about 40 percent of the 27,151 registered voters in Floyd County will exercise this great gift. Broken down, this means about 16,200 of our registered voters will be sitting on their duffs and doing

It's really frightening when you think of it. Makes you wonder if we've got the right to gripe about those news reports that make us look bad, when most of us do nothing to make

So let's get out and vote this Tuesday, whether you're one of the 1,889 Republicans or 25,102 Democrats in Floyd County. If you don't ever vote, there should be some way to take the right away from you. And that's the way I feel about that!

Looking for excitement in this primary is like looking for good news on CBS' "48 Hours." It's rather (not Dan) drab except for a couple of races.

First, I want to see Greg Stumbo hold onto his seat as state representative in the 95th district. Stumbo has the experience and, added to that, the influence in Frankfort to get the job done for us.

Elsewhere, US Senator Chris Perkins has turned his back on Democrats in his area as far as campaigning is concerned. He's done none! But, according to many, he'll get the goahead over opponent Jerry Cecil because of the many people remembering his dad, Carl Perkins.

On the Republican side of the same race, both candidates appear to be conserving their strength to take on Perkins in the general election. And from what Will Scott's efforts were the last time around, the Republicans will be coming out of the corral with both guns a-blazing, and one of these days someone is going to beat him.

Now, which one of the Republicans do I think will be in the face off against Chris? Although I'm nota fan of Scott's, it sure looks like the better known Pikeville attorney will win over Prestonsburg physician Larry Leslie. Of course, all this is just my

Teachers don't just sit

Dear Editor,

Jerrome Walton (reported in the Lexington Herald-Leader) said something to the effect that teachers just wake up and sit in a classroom all day. I don't know where Mr. Walton went to school, but I look forward to some of those days. However, it will have to be another year. I don't have time to finish the projects that I have started this year.

We mortals have to learn a way to make a living. So we try to teach our kids about computers, writing (yes, someone has to know how to write to glorify Mr. Walton's exploits), and other skills that will help our students make it in this world. We even teach a few the skills of baseball, but we know the odds are against one of our students making a living in this manner. When all is said and done, Jerome Walton is playing a game. The rest of us have to play that old dull game of life.

If Jerome Walton thinks teachers just sit, he should have been at McDowell last week. He would have seen two teachers who started at 8 a.m. and finished sometime after 10 p.m. Sally Miller and Bobbi Lynn Moore could tell him a few things about sitting. There was no one there to applaud their efforts either, but there should have been because what they were doing was much more noble than hitting a baseball for a million dollars a year. They didn't even get a bonus, but they will get some thanks because I say, "Thank you two for caring enough to give the boys and girls a special prom."

Jerome Walton, I hope you expect more of teachers when your children go to school. I know I expect more from the teachers who teach my child, and I expect more from myself. One of these days I hope someone comes up with the idea of cards for teachers. I would be satisfied if the back of mine read: "He cared enough to do

I wish I could sit around and type more, but I have work to do (or maybe I will sit around and dream of retire-

I don't blame players for taking the big money. If I could get $100,000 for teaching five classes a day, I would jump at the chance. In fact, we think it is a big deal because, after more than morning and . . . sit in the classroom.") 20 years of teaching, we will make a princely sum of $30,000 next year. I don't think the board assumes that I can just sit in the classroom to earn that money, or, if they do, I KNOW I

more than just sit."

Since the Festival of FACES this past Saturday, rumors have been circulating as to the reason for the nonappearance of Michelangelothe Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtle.

Here are the top ten reasons, so far heard for his absence:

9) He was caught up in a shell game at the Chicago Airport. 8) He was having his hair done right after his tanning bed appoint-

7) He was playing golf with Chris Perkins at the Jenny Wiley Golf Tour-

6) He was afraid of being misquoted by the Herald-Leader. 5) He didn't want to miss the last episode of the Bob Newhart Show, 4) His costume was at the cleaners. 3) He was tied up in a dispute over his garbage bill with Bob McAninch. 2) He heard they were serving soup (turtle that is).

1) He was afraid of being mistaken for County Attorney Jim Hammond. Ah, how the rumor mill does turn. However, this reporter was given a chance to conduct an exclusive interview with the elusive superhero. Although much of what he said was off the record and classified information (after all he does work as a secret agent for the CIA, along with Secret Agent Maxwell Smart, a little known fact), he was recorded as saying

"Cow-A-Bonga, Dudes, Likel was out on a secret mission with the rest of the gang, Donatello, Rafael and Leonardo, fighting our arch-enemies Rocksteady, Shredder and Beebop.

"I really wanted to come because I heard Floyd County was like, a real hip place to be. I did watch the '48 Hours' special but I don't believe any of that bunk, Dudes. Stay Cool and I'll try to get down at a later date."

Things happen I guess, and sometimes the people you want to see most aren't able to clear the schedule, but at least he tried.

Allen parents grateful

Dear Editor,

Our children are our Keys to the Future and in this area in which we live, we have long since been neected. But now with education as his top priority, we have a person on whom we can rely: Rep. Greg Stumbo.

I speak only through experience. In the fall of 1989, the Allen Elementary School went through a trying period of problems, leaving the parents with questions unanswered. At that time, I contacted Greg Stumbo for some advice on the situation. Greg did not hesitate to give the matter his complete attention. Not only did Greg attend a special called meeting with state officials, but he was kind enough to be our spokesperson for our meeting. With emotions running high, Greg Stumbo was instrumental in our effort to diffuse a situation filled with such unanswered questions.

With this in mind, I would like to take this opportunity to say, "Thank you, Greg." I'm sure I speak not only for myself, but for many appreciative parents of the Allen Elementary School.

Thanks to seniors

Prestonsburg Elementary fifth grade DARE classes and Sgt. Sue Blackburn, instructor, would like to thank the seven recent participants in the DARE program. Chris Slone, Kim Horn, Ernest S. Croot III, Wendy Reed, Timothy Blankenship, Beverly Osborneand Tommy Lowe came into the classrooms May 15 and 16 to talk to the DARE students about staying drug free. These Prestonsburg High School seniors answered questions and discussed how important it is to stay drug free to accomplish all you want in life.

Thanks again to these role models for giving the time to come to our classroom. (DARE stands for Drug Abuse Resistance Education.)

A clean Abbott merits praise

Dear Editor, I would like to take this opportunity to extend my sincerest appreciation to the volunteers who donated their time and effort to the May 19 Abbott Creek Cleanup.

About 45 volunteers divided up the Abbott Road into five, one-mile sections and completed the job in 1 hour and 45 minutes. The combined efforts resulted in the collection of some 200 bags of road side trash.

With the help and cooperation of the Floyd County Solid Waste, Floyd County Ecology Officer, Floyd County Sheriff's department, Kentucky Highway Department, Ray's TV and the use of the Bonanza Freewill Baptist Church annex building, the cleanup was a great success!

I want to commend each and every one involved for taking pride not only in their community but Floyd County and the great state of Kentucky! If anyone is interested in or-ganizing a cleanup for their community, please contact the Litter Task Force members at 886-8506 or 886-

Urges looking at priorities

Dear editor,
MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER, powerful, mover and shaker, position with clout, elbow-rubber with state government's mighty, maybe the second most powerful position in Frankfort given that this person is in a position to bargain with legislatures from all districts of the commonwealth as well as the governor. Isn't it fortunate for us that this most powerful position is held by a Floyd Countian...or is it? When we consider the millions of dollars generated by our coal interest and the tremendous amount of taxes paid by this interest, it would seem logical that some of this tax money could be returned to maintain the mountain roads that are the life-blood of our mountain folks. If we can't maintain the mountain coal-haul roads, then our only economic base is gone. We have severed the arteries that supply our life-blood.

The Mud Creek area and the Left Beaver area are in dire need of good roads to transport the one and only resource that feeds our blessed mountain families. When the roads are gone, (and they are nearly gone), so goes the coal; then the banks and schools go. To make it simple: when the roads go, we are gone.

Weight distance tax, gasoline tax, and transport permits paid by our truck drivers...severance tax paid by operators (in which there is very little return to the mountains) ... sales tax in the millions paid by all of us... the lottery (a cruel joke) paid by all who participate (and God only knows where these proceeds go)... tax, tax,

It has been estimated that nearly three (3) billion dollars has been generated by coal from Left Beaver and Mud Creek in the past 10 years. That is three thousand (3,000) million. If we could get just one percent of this money returned to our people over the next 10 years period, we could have the best roads and schools in Kentucky right here in Floyd

A friend of the family visited us from Prestonsburg last week. He was totally shocked by the decrepit state of Route 122 up Left Beaver. His comments were as follows:

"No one could have made me believe that the road up Left Beaver was in such sorry shape. Looks to me like instead of building a thirty million dollar road from Minnie to Garrett, they would build the people up Left Beaver a better road. Thirty million dollars would build a much needed road for Left Beaver as well as a means to transport coal out of this creek. That's the thing that would benefit you all." My comment was, "Yes that or a 'monorail'," but instead of a monorail our representative supports a "money trail" from Minnie to Garrett. To coin an old phrase... people on Left Beaver "have bought the farm"

if this "money trail" is completed. Well, the legislative session is now history and guess what? More taxes. Much, much more taxes. Again we get a promise of much needed better schools, but judging from the past history of higher taxes and better schools, we seem to get only the higher taxes... promise of better roads we get a little "scab" of black top just before election time... promise of new in-dustry... Pike County gets that... promise of new schools... we can't seem to get one started at Allen, but Prestonsburg's is complete... new roads one from Minnie to Garrett that benefits a select few with two hills to cross while Mud Creek and Left Beaver Creek sees their roads quickly falling apart... new taxes... we get plenty of them to pay... You can't believe how much more we will be paying. Isn't it time that people of Floyd County held their representatives accountable for our sorry state of affairs? Looks as if the Majority Floor Leader could have a more positive impact on our quality of life when considering this most powerful position in Frankfort. People of Left Beaver: Do you know that the Minnie-Garrett road will by-pass approximately twentytwo (22) small business between Minnie and Martin; yet, our representatives constantly clamoras to how small businesses are the future economic salvation of our county? Talk about contradiction. This is the epitome of contradiction.

Stumbo

"Leadership... the choice is clear"

A Personal Message from Gregory D. Stumbo

Friends

In the past we have seen candidates for public office who have resorted to "mudslinging" and "lies" in the closing days of elections. These candidates are usually desperate and their campaigns lack vision and support.

This election is no different. I have traveled throughout the 95th District since my return from Frankfort and I cannot begin to tell you how much I appreciate the support you have shown. In 1979, I asked you to elect me to represent you in Frankfort. I made no wild promises - only that I would do the best job I could with the talent God had granted me, and that I would never lie to you nor abuse your trust.

My first battle in Frankfort was to end the abuses of the "Broadform" deed, a plague upon our region for nearly 100 years. The victory in that fight was that the people of Kentucky overwhelmingly adopted a Constitutional Amendment that puts this issue to rest.

In 1985, my colleagues honored me by electing me Majority Floor Leader in the Kentucky House of Representatives, the youngest so elected in the nation and the highest ranking Eastern Kentuckian since Governor Bert Combs. We immediately set in motion a comprehensive plan to:

1) Improve our Roads

2) Bring Equity to our Educational System

3) Create New Jobs

I am proud to report that the plan is working. The dreams of new roads to open all areas of our county are now a reality. U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville will begin this summer and the first leg of the Garrett to Harold road is funded in this year.

In 1986, I sponsored a bill that has doubled the amount of maintenance money for our State and County Roads. For over 50 years our roads have been neglected, but now we have a renovation and rehabilitation plan in place. Route 979 (Mud Creek) and KY 122 (Left Beaver) are not only being resurfaced, but passing lanes are to be added and dangerous curves removed. I initiated that plan and I intend to see it expanded to cover all our roads, particularly Prater Creek, Little Mud, and Spurlock.

"We have paid enough in severance tax to pave our roads in gold," I told Speaker Blandford. In this year the people of our county will travel over the best road system we've ever had, but in isn't nearly good enough. I want to continue to fight for you in Frankfort to get the money that we deserve to repair, maintain and upgrade our roads.

The 1990 Education Reform Act (which I sponsored) will give to all our children an equal educational opportunity. In 1985, I sponsored legislation that authorized the building of our new schools. If you look around you will see new facilities being constructed in Left Beaver, Allen and Prestonsburg. We will receive more than 30 million dollars for construction including a new grade school for Betsy Layne. New middle schools are authorized for each of our school districts and renovation work for Osborne, Stumbo. and Prestonsburg.

I believe everyone is entitled to a job. That's plain and simple. In 1988 I supported the bill that has led to the creation of over 300 new jobs in our area. In 1990, I sponsored the EAST KENTUCKY JOBS CREATION AUTHORITY ACT which has been called "the salvation of the mountains."

As this campaign comes to an end, I will continue to discuss the issues - roads, education, jobs - and my plans for improvement. I believe that you know me and my family and what we have stood for in public office. We have never betrayed your trust and confidence. We have been your neighbors and friends for many years, helping when you called, responding when you needed us, and doing all that we could to accommodate you.

I am proud of the fact that all our campaigns have been positive and clean. We have never tried to mislead or misrepresent issues in an attempt to get your vote. We respect you more than that!

I don't pretend that all our problems have been solved. If they were, I would not ask you to send me back to Frankfort. You have seen me stand up for you in these past ten years, and now we are winning more battles. I offer you a clear choice: experience, leadership and a proven record of accomplishment.

I sought this office because of a dream that people here in the mountains could have a better quality of life. My opponent criticizes this dream and indicates he is against the plan I have outlined for roads, education and jobs. President Lyndon Johnson once said, "Any fool mule can kick a barn door down, but you'll never see one who can hold a hammer."

When you go to vote on May 29th, I'm asking for your support as evidence of an endorsement that the pan is working. If you believe that my dreams, vision and leadership have made our county a better place to live, then please cast your vote to re-elect me.

If you have trouble recognizing the candidates in this race, remember: I'M THE ONE WITH THE HAMMER! Your vote and support on May 29th will be greatly appreciated.

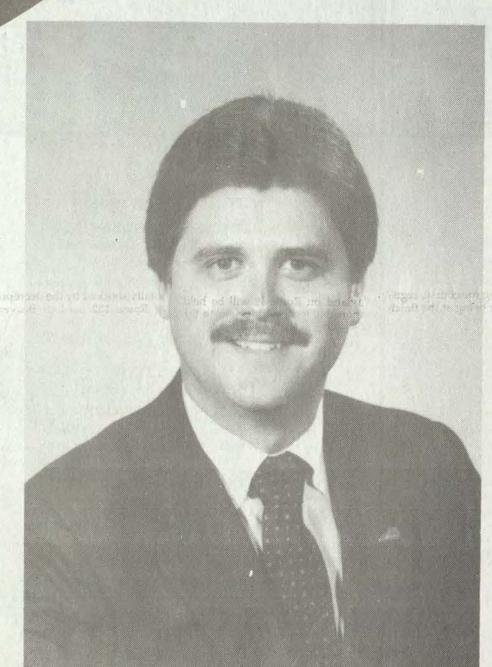

Thanks

Successful campaign

The Abbott Creek Cleanup last Saturday proved very successful in both manpower and amount of garbage collected. Loretta Hackworth and Linda and Susie Frasure (left) were three of about 45 people (below) who pitched in to collect more than 200 bags of trash along the five-mile stretch of road. The group worked from 8-9:45 a.m. and were treated to coffee and doughnuts at the completion of the project. The Floyd County Solid Waste picked up the bags along the roadside for transportation to the Garth Landfill. (Photos by Charlotte McFall)

New federal rule expands hazardous waste program

Benzene, chloroform, trichloroethylene, vinyl chloride and carbon tetrachloride, chemicals commonly used in industrial operations, are among 25 toxic chemicals added to the list of characteristic hazardous wastes that are regulated under the hazardous waste management program.

These chemicals were added to the existing list of eight metals and six pesticides because they are known to have contaminated groundwater at hazardous waste sites

Twelve major industries are affected by the new regulation. These include pulp and paper, petroleum refining, miscellaneous petroleum and coal products, wholesale petroleum marketing, organic chemicals, pharmaceuticals, plastics production and products, rubber and miscellaneous plastics products, synthetic rubber, synthetic fibers, textile mills, lumber and wood products, and pipelines, except those for natural gas.

Many of the pollutants and wastes included in the new regulation are managed in land-based treatment systems to remove toxic containers prior to discharge into surface waters. The new federal regulation will help assure safe management and groundwater protection.

The rule establishes regulatory levels for the new organic chemicals. It also replaces the Extraction Procedure (EP) toxicity leach test with the Toxicity Characteristic Leaching Procedure (TCLP) for determining whether a waste is hazardous by facilities are known to contaminate characteristic.

Under current regulations, the US EPA uses two procedures to define wastes as hazardous: (1) listing and (2) hazardous characteristics. The listing procedure involves identifying industries or processes producing wastes that pose hazards to human health and the environment.

The second procedure involves testing the waste to identify properties or "characteristics" that, if exhibited by any waste, indicate a potential hazard if the waste is not properly controlled. Toxicity is one of four characteristics that must be considered when identifying a waste as hazardous. The others are ignitability-posing a fire hazard; reactivity can explode; and corrosivity - acidic or caustic. the new TCLP test is more comprehensive than the EP toxicity test in determining organic sub-

WHO IT AFFECTS

Many small industries will become first-time generators of hazardous waste. Some small businesses, such as vehicleservice stations and leather processors, also may be affected. Wastewaters and sludges that exhibit a toxicity characteristic under the TCLP test will become classified as a hazardous waste.

EPA believes that surface impoundments will be affected more than other types of regulated units, including tanks and wastepiles. These

Petroleum-contaminated soil from underground storage tanks and used oil that is recycled are temporarily excluded from the regulation. These wastes are undergoing further study

During the next few months industries and businesses should evaluate or reevaluate their wastes using the new TCLP method. This may determine that wastes currently handled as non-hazardous are indeed classified as hazardous wastes under the new rule.

WHEN IT TAKES EFFECT

Hazardous waste generators producing 2,000 lbs. or more per month and treatment, storage and disposal facilities must comply with the new regulation by Sept. 25, 1990. However, these generators and facilities must first notify EPA and the Kentucky Division of Waste Management of their hazardous waste activity by June 27, 1990.

Small quantity hazardous waste generators, those that produce between 220 and 2,200 lbs. per month, must comply with the new requirements by March 29, 1991. Permitted treatment, storage and disposal facilities must submit requests for permit changes to EPA by this date.

To determine the amount generated, all hazardous wastes produced must be considered, not just the newly

regulated waste. WHERE TO GET ASSISTANCE

To receive the applicable forms and for additional information about the TCLP test, write to Mohammad Alauddin, Division of Waste Management, 18 Reilly Rd., Frankfort 40601, or call him at (502) 564-6716.

Information is also available through EPA's waste hotline at 800-424-9346 or 800-382-3000 in Washington, DC. The hotline is open from 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

When I was first introduced to the computer industry, about seven years ago, it was in its infancy, yet growing so quickly that it was impossible to keep up. Each new chip, every new operating system and the language of the month, all required a new level of knowledge on our part.

That break-neck speed of innovation continues, yet we no longer feel compelled to keep up with every aspect of what's going on. Like so much of our society today, the computer business has become specialized, and each of us within the industry has had to pick and choose certain areas in which to concentrate our

It's pretty common place to day for businesses to have computers. Most have automated their accounting, word processing and data base functions, and some have even moved into DeskTop Publishing and Computer Assisted Design. If all of the terms in that last sentence make sense to you, then you're probably in that group of computerized businesses. If all those terms still seem foreign to you, then you are, for whatever reason, still without the benefits of being automated.

House renews Head Start

The House of Representatives last week passed a measure to reauthorize the Head Start Program. Congressman Chris Perkins voted in favor of the bill and participated in the floor

Since its establishment in 1965 as part of the Johnson Administration's War on Poverty, Head Start has provided more than 11 million children from low-income families with a comprehensive range of services designed to help them begin school on an equal basis with children from more advantaged families.

If Head Start receives the $2.4 billion in appropriations authorized in the bill, it will able to serve all eligible pre-school children by FY 1994. In the 1990 allocation, Kentucky received $25 million for Head Start programs within the states. In a speech during floor debate of the reauthorization, Cong. Perkins spoke of the need to preserve the quality aspects of the program. "At present, we are serving approximately twenty percent of the children eligible for this program. Fifty percent of Head Start teachers are paid less than $10,000.

"If we want to maintain the quality of the program and the services while still reaching all the eligible children, we must provide greater funding. And I will push hard for full funding of Head Start."

Perkins also stressed the importance of the Follow-Through program, a project that operates in kindergarten through the third grade and is designed to build on the gains low-income children made in Head

"I have seen the success of Head Start and Follow-Through projects in Eastern Kentucky. The Follow-Through program is extremely important in developing and improving the skills first learned in Head Start," he said.

Also included in the reauthorization were the following programs: Community Services Block Grants, the State Dependent Care Develop-ment Grants, the Community Food and Nutrition Program, Demonstration Partnership Agreements Ad-dressing the Needs of the Poor, and Child Development Associate Scholarship Assistance.

Local schools, hospitals receive energy grants

Three of Floyd County's institutions, the Floyd County Public Schools, Highlands Regional Medical Center and Our Lady of the Way Hospital, will receive Institutional Conservation Program grants from the US Department of Energy for energy-saving projects.

SCHOOLSYSTEM

The Floyd County Board of Education will receive $37,873 for Technical Assistance studies for 36 buildings including Allen Central, McDowell and Prestonsburg high schools, and the elementary school buildings of Auxier, Betsy Layne, C.F. Clark, Harold, John M. Stumbo, McDowell, Maytown, Melvin, Prater, Prestonsburg and W.O. Osborne. The school board will provide a $7,373, bringing the project total to $45,246.

The technical assistance studies, performed by professional engineers, will provide the schools with a detailed cost benefit analysis of potential energy-saving capital investments, as well as low- or no-cost maintenance and operation changes. The heating, cooling and lighting systems, plus the building envelope of each building will be carefully studied to determine the proper methods of reducing the amount of energy used.

The Institutional Conservation Program is administered by the Division of Energy in the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet. Cabinet Secretary Carl Bradley says, "These studies will be an excellent source of information for reducing current and future utility costs."

HIGHLANDS REGIONAL

Highlands Regional Medical Center will receive a $31,225, for a total project cost of $62,450. The cooling system will be adjusted to allow the cooling tower water to be used during the transitional seasons. This change will create an estimated annual savings of $17,723 and payback the hospital's investment in less than two years. Future savings will be available for patient care.

OUR LADY OF THE WAY

Our Lady of the Way Hospital will receive an Institutional Conservation Program grant of $56,174 for energysaving improvements in four of its buildings. The hospital will provide $6,243, for total project cost of $62,417.

The four buildings, Business Office, Seton Complex, Conley Building and Hospital, will have a variety of energy-saving installations. These include lighting improvement, storm windows, roof insulation, air conditioning, boiler controls and a power factor capacitor. It is estimated that these changes will save the hospital $13,792 annually. The hospital's investment will be returned in a little more than five months. In the future, the savings can be used for patient health care.

AG's office will monitor election polls

To discourage and prevent vote fraud, teams from the Attorney General's Office will visit polling places throughout Kentucky during the May 29 primary election the May 29 primary election.

"We believe that the election day monitoring program, combined with the toll-free election fraud hotline, has been effective in fighting election fraud," Attorney General Fred Cowan

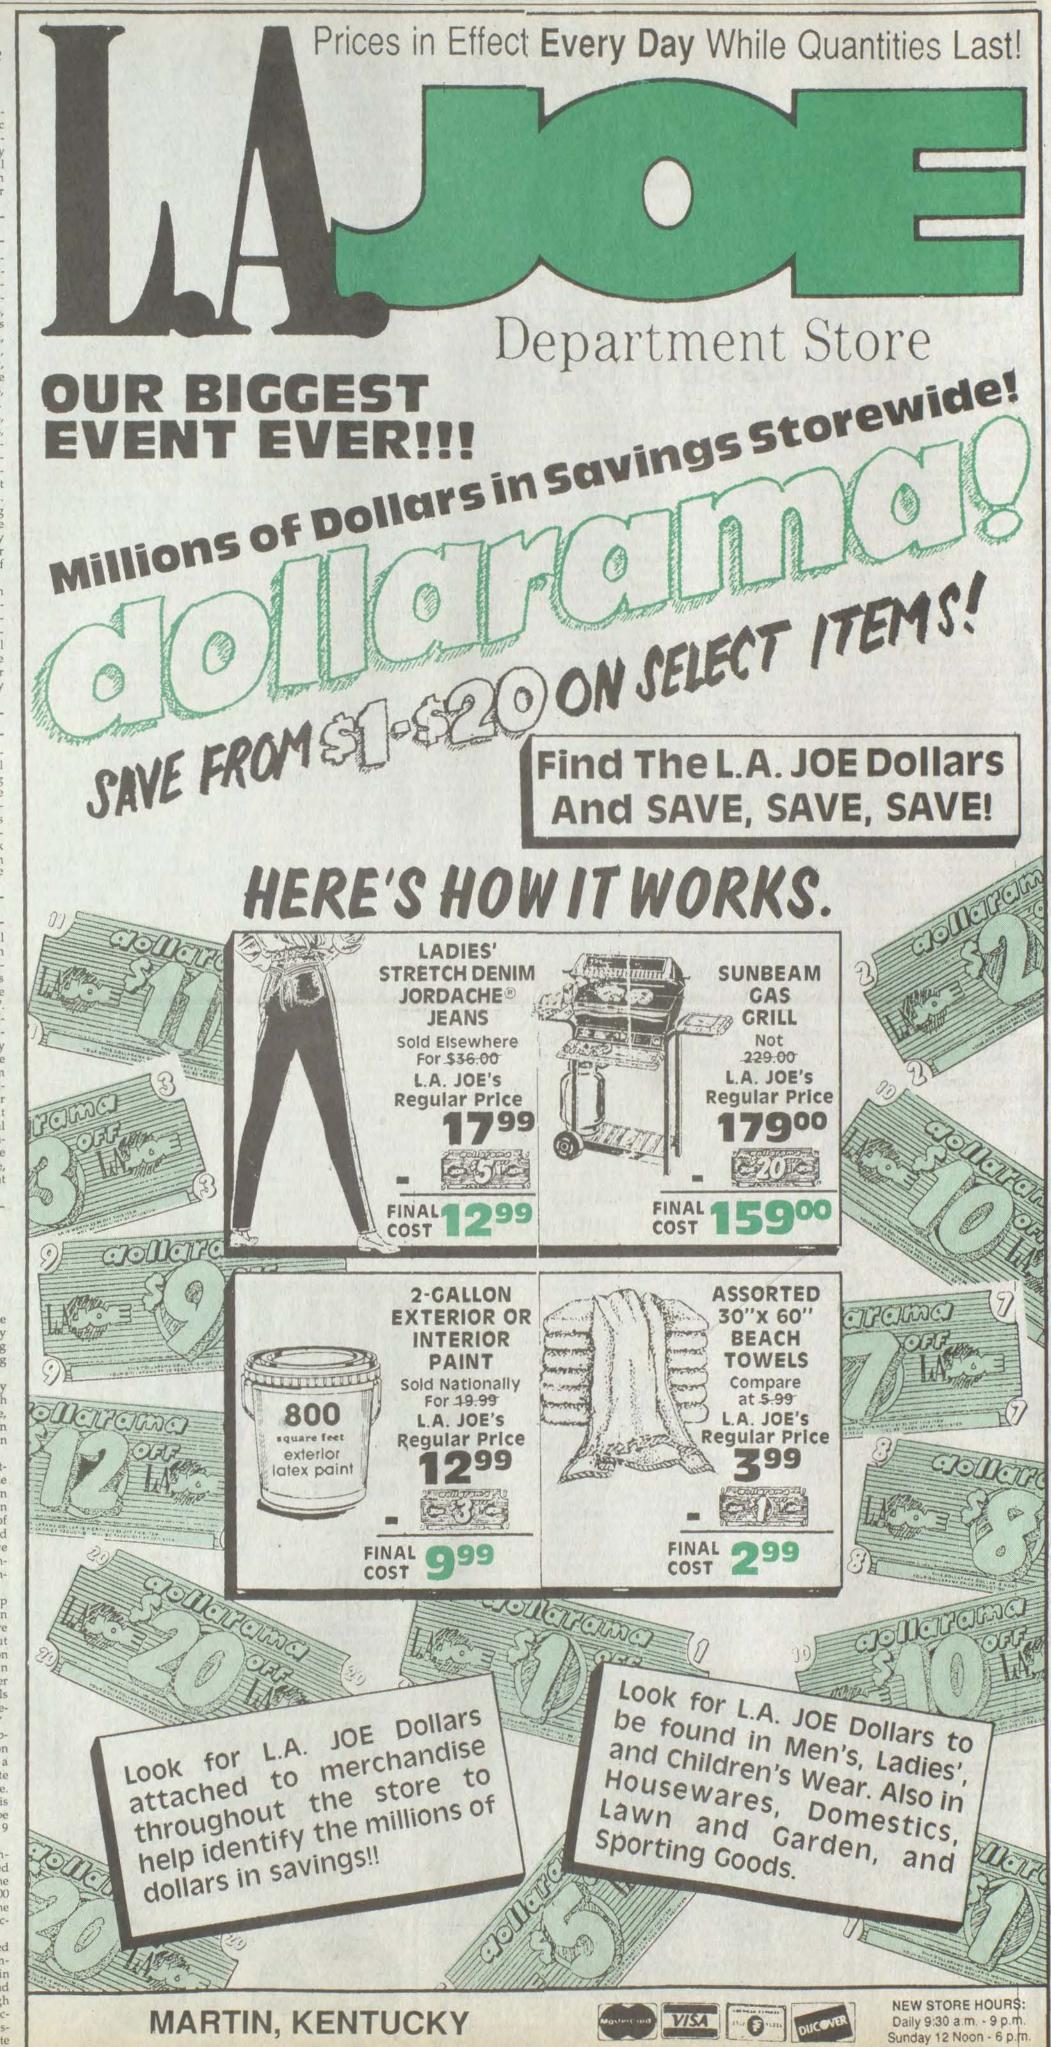

Investigative teams from the Attorney General's Office will make stops at courthouses and precincts in a number of counties statewide. As in the past, Cowan says the identity of the counties the teams will be in and the exact size of the monitoring force will not be publicized to keep potential violators guessing and thus increase the deterrent effect.

Cowan says the weeks leading up to the May 29 primary have been comparatively quiet and there have been fewer calls of concern about possible voting violations on election day. "Hopefully, this is due at least in part to the efforts my office and other law enforcement and public officials have made during the past three statewide elections to deter vote fraud."

The Election Fraud Hotline, established as a result of the 1988 election reform laws, provides Kentuckians a method for reporting suspected vote fraud no matter where they may live. The Hotline (1-800-328-VOTE) is available year-round, but will be staffed longer hours, 5:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., on election day.

Complaints and questions coming into the Hotline may be directed to the appropriate person in the county in question. More than 1,300 calls have come into the Hotline during the past three statewide elec-

Recently, three persons indicted on felony vote fraud charges stemming from the May 1989 primary in Jackson County pleaded guilty and have been sentenced. Although pleased with the vote fraud convictions, Cowan says he remains frustrated by the slow progress of vote fraud cases through the court system.

Alumni Games: Fun, nostalgic, worth repeating

The Festival of FACES Alumni Games are part of history now. But just like a lot things in history that are not soon forgotten, they will be remembered for a long time.

As the evening wore on and the crowd started gathering for the games, the first to arrive early was a small group from Martin. Later, in walked the "Dean of Coaches," Hoss Halbert, to get a good round of applause from the faithful Purple Flash-

Meeting old friends, seeing old coaches and players and just being able to watch and think of the '30s, '40s, '50s, '60s and '70s when Floyd County was the hot bed of a game we call basketball.

It was good to see also the kids of former players watching, perhaps really for the first time, their dads playing basketball. One such kid hollered at his dad, after missing a lay up, "That's not the way you showed me how to do it, dad." For these kids, this also must have been an exciting

On hand for the festivities was former Wayland All-Stater Ed De-coursey, who made all-state for the Wasps in 1947 and who played under "Copper" John at the Right Beaver

"We lost to Owensboro in the state tournament in 1947. We were the first Floyd County team to go to the state tournament. Our average height back when I played ball was around 5'11". If you had anyone over six foot, you had a big man. Nowadays, they play

Decoursey scored 24 points in 20 minutes of the state tournament game, against Cliff Hagan (former UK standout and AD) before he fouled out.

"Back then, 24 points was a lot of points," he said.

R. Ray Fraley, another former Wayland player, says that he wishes they had the three-point system when he played ball. It would have helped build his average.

Fred Fraley, Wayland, 1951, re-calls the great Wayland teams he played on. "I played on the Wayland state tournament team in 1951. We gotbeatby Louisville Manual." Fraley notes that Wayland had beaten the Manual team earlier in the Louisville Invitational.

Fraley says the players of today are bigger and quicker than when he played at Wayland. "Our average McKinney hit a turnaround jumper height was around 5' 10"."
Getting people back into the community, Fraley says, is the purpose of something like the Alumni games. "I would like to see it expanded to three days. It is a great thing. I don't know who thought it up, but itis just won-derful to have. (Prestonsburg City Manager Freddy James thought of the concept).

"And I would like to see a Hall of Fame in the Floyd County and preserve our rich heritage in high school basketball.

Fraley played for Furman University where he starred with Frank Selvy, who led the nation in scoring. Fraley is the 20th highest scorer for Furman, where he averaged 17 points per game his junior and senior years.

Here are some of the results of the great games played at the PrestonsburgFieldhouse:

However, things began to fall apart for the Flashes on defense. (Fatigue was a factor although no one would admit it.) The Martin team could not regroup before time ran out in a 40-33 loss to the Bobcats.

Assisting Coach Halbert on the bench was former manager Jackie "the Little O" Osborne.

MCDOWELL VS WHEELWRIGHT

In game two of the evening, the McDowell Daredevils and Wheelwright Trojans came together for a partie of Left beaver teams and renewed an old rivalry of by-gone years.

The Trojans, having a chance to win the game, could not get the last shot off as they fell to the Daredevils, Coach Pete Grigsby Jr. is 1-0 in his return to the coaching ranks. Opposing him on the Wheelwright bench was Frankie "Frantic" Francis.

Returning to lead the Daredevils to victory was David "Firebug" Turner. The former McDowell great displayed the style that made him a household name in Floyd County homes. The slender and trim Turner fired in two three-pointers and announced to the press that he wasn't through yet.

The game was close throughout, as the Trojans with a supporting cast of Jeff Riley, All-Stater, Jim Rose, All-Stater, and present coach Monroe Jones leading the way. It was the enthusiastic play of Gary Dale Johnson that kept the Trojans in the Wheelwright held a 11-7 lead after the first quarter. Coach Grigsby, not liking what he was witnessing, went to the bench in the second period and brought in some young legs in Dickie Hall. The moved resulted in an 18-17 lead by the Daredevils.

However, the inspired play of Coach Jones and Riley reclaimed the lead for the Trojans at 25-20.

With McDowell down by five, 27-22, "Firebug" Turner hit a threepointer to make it 27-25. To show the crowd it was no fluke, he hit another one to give the Daredevils a 28-27 lead.

McDowell held a 43-38 advantage just before half time, when Jones converted a three point play and Cook's basket tied the game at half time 43-43.

GARRETT VS MAYTOWN

Garrett and Maytown matched up against one another in a renewed old rivalry between the two Right Beaver schools. When the dust had all settled the Black Devils came away with a close 36-35 win over the Wildcats of Maytown. Answering the call of his former school, Birchell "the Beast" Duff took to the floor to save his team from the determined Wildcats of coach Gene Frasure. Present Allen Central coach Johnny Martin had to guide the Garrett team.

It was fast paced action as the game got underway with Garrett establishing the earlier dominance. The score was tied at the end of the first quarter 16-16 behind the three-point shooting of guard John Conley.

Former Allen Central Rebel, Todd Duff, came on in the second quarter to hit two buckets to put the Black Devils up at half time, 23-17.

Halbert and Jimbo Bailey went to work for the Wildcats in the third

WAYLAND VS PRESTONSBURG

Without the service of "King" Kelly Coleman, the Wayland Wasp comeback fell short in a 42-37 loss to the Prestonsbur game of the Festival of FACES Alumni Games.

Senior (Citizen) Barkley Sturgill inspired the Blackcats as the big center canned a free throw in the first quarter. Early in the first quarter, referee Birchell Duff slapped a technical foul on Wayland' coach Tommy Boyd. A sight that was familiar with many basketball fans.

Not to be outdone, the other refe-ree, Dickie Hall, called three technicals on Danny Hamilton Sr., and asked over the PA system for some assistance from the deputies for an escort of Hamilton off the court. However, a change of heart on the part of Hall permitted Hamilton to return to the game.

The Blackcats were on top, 11-7, at the first stop. A bucket by Shad Stumboand a three-pointer from Don Hansford tied the game at 12-12. Jerry Fult hit a three-pointer to give Wayland a 16-14 lead and a Prestonsburg bucket tied it again at

With the basketball season all over, it is the coaches' turn to get out and compete in the game of golf. That is what McDowell Daredevils coach Johnny Ray Turner and Prestonsburg mentor Gordon Parido did this past weekend.

The two coaches won both of their divisions in the Festival of FACES Golf Tournament at the Jenny Wiley Golf Course and the John M. Stumbo Beaver Valley Golf Course

Turner was the winner of Division A competition, shooting a 69 at the Allen Course and scoring a 63 at Jenny Wiley. For winning the Division A, Turner received a set of irons. Tony Branham was runner-up to Turner and received a set of woods.

Blackcats to try comeback in regional tournament

The Prestonsburg Blackcats (22-11) and coach Russell Shepherd will be trying to come back, after losing to Allen Central in the finals of the 58th District Friday evening, in the 15th Regional high school baseball tournament tonight at Pikeville. They go up against the Belfry Pirates (11-11), runners-up in the 57th District.

The Blackcats will be looking to try not to repeat last year's regional tournament when they lost in the first

This year's drawing was a good one for the runner-up Blackcats as they will be in the lower bracket play with Pikeville (22-15), whom they defeated two weeks ago, 11-1, Ma-

Shepherd will more than likely go with his ace starter, John Clark, who suffered the loss against Allen Central in the district finals. Clark is a finesse pitcher who combines his fast ball with some off speed stuff.

NEW LAWS AFFECT FREE FISHING WEEKEND

Kentucky Afield

FISH 8 WILDLIFE

Several bills passed by the 1990 Kentucky General Assembly directly affect the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and outdoor sports lover. The laws become effective July 13.

With an "intent to poach" clause added to the proposed "no shine" bill (SB190), spotlighting will again be illegal in Kentucky. Spotlighting means shining artificial light into the eyes of animals, temporarily blinding and disorienting them. The technique is commonly used by deer poachers to take animals at night.

Free hunting and fishing licenses will be available to any Kentucky resident verified as totally and permanently disabled by the Social Security Administration or the Worker's Compensation Board (HB289).

In addition, resident servicemen on furlough will no longer need to purchase a state hunting or fishing license to pursue either sport outside their home county. Those taking advantage of the new privilegeshould carry proof of furlough status while afield (HB239).

By removing the process to fund the heritage land conservation bill (HB65), the General Assembly has effectively placed the purchase/protection of natural areas for public wildlife-related recreation on hold. The final version of this bill only establishes a board to identify lands to be purchased.

music teachers in Floyd County do a great job of singing the National Anthem? They should have been permitted to sing another song or wo. Great job!

On hand also was a part of past Blackcat bands, who once again struck up their version of "Loyal and True" I'm sure that brought back a lot of memories for all schools involved.

Rose (no last name) was there to lead the Blackcat faithful in cheers as a former Blackcat cheerleader.

It was good to see Hoss Halbert, someone whom I have admired for many years, sitting on the bench coaching his former players. Boy, what years were represented there.

It would have been a classic to have seen "King" Kelly Coleman, Grady Wallace, Larry Hall, the Talent boys, Pat, Mike, Bob and Bill and others who have made Floyd County basketball a respected sport all over Kentucky and the nation.

There are many former players who, no doubt, did not get the word, who would have enjoyed being here. Maybe next year, with more time to promote the games, others will join those who were here this year for a great time.

I would like to see the former cheerleaders take a more active part in the festivities. That was suppose to happen, however, it didn't. Maybe someone needs to take charge of just seeing the cheerleaders from each school are involved.

getting this going on such a short time. Everyone I talked to said, "Hey, this could become a big thing in Floyd County and it will get bigger."

Freddy, you did a wonderful job of getting it all together. And I believe can speak for all the other alumni, we thank you for the effort and appreciate all that you did and look forward to next year for yet a bigger alumni night.

While on the subject of the games, some folks would like to see them become a two or three day tournament between former teams. There's

Our congratulations to the Allen Central Rebels on capturing the 58th District tournament this past week Coach Anthony Mooredid a good job of guiding the Rebels in his first year.

Iam anxious to see Chris Harrison of Tollesboro, Kentucky's leading scorer in basketball this year, come to Johnson Central and play against the 15th Region All-Stars. Those who have seen him play say that he is for real. That will be on May 30 at 7:30 p.m. Harrison, as everyone knows, will be a future UK Wildcat.

For the folks in charge of Allen Park. The high school baseball diamond is in the best shape it has been in for years. You have done a great job of getting it in a playable condition. Now, with such a nice field, covered bleachers behind the backstop, with some comfortable seats, will help draw more fans to the park to watch the ball games. Something on the order of Pikeville's field. Then put grass on the infield and we will have something we can point to with pride.

The 58th District Tournament has been just great! A lot of fans have come out to support the participating teams and everyone seems to be enjoying themselves. Coach Donnie Daniels and the Wheelwright staff are doing an excellent job of hosting the local event. This year they were trying to charge admission to the tournament; however, with the open- League. According to Helton, such a ness of the ball park, this became a chore. I think they should charge admission. The host school has to pay the umpires for each game, as well as to provide new baseballs and revenue for this has to be generated from somewhere. Concession sales help off set the cost to an extent.

What seems to have become a permanent fixture at the Allen ball park is umpire Dale Conn. Conn is one of the two umpires for the 58th District tournament this year, along with Virgie's David Maynard. Maynard has been the center of some controversial calls in this year's district play. He was quick to give Greg Kidd an early exit in the McDowell - Allen Central game. Maynard called Bud Kidd out at home plate and from my point of view, the player was safe. However, I am not the umpire, and I think that umpiring baseball is just as bad as refereeing basketball. Both are "thankless" jobs. A second "however" is that most umpires and referees get themselves in trouble with the fans and coaches when they are out of position to make a call, such as Maynard seemed to be. An umpire or referee should know their positions and be there to make the correct call.

It is good to see Larry Hall of Betsy Layne without the crutches. As everyone knows Hall hurt the knee in basketball practice this past season and had to have surgery. Hall says that if he stands on it very long it starts to bother him and he has to rest.

I am expecting to see a big crowd at the Alumni Games tomorrow night (Saturday). A large crowd is expected and everyone will find this to their liking. Freddy James and crew have done an excellent job of putting this together. First game begins at 6 p.m. and on through the evening.

Scientists made the discovery while searching for a formula to lower choles-terol. In a controlled study of a test group of people, cholesterol levels remained unchanged but the doctors were astounded to find that every patient who used the formula lost weight. The published report of this study stated, "A highly significant decrease in body weight was seen" in patients who received the formula.

The formula was then tested at another prestigious European university hospital. Again, all patients lost weight even though they did not change their cating habits. The report detailing this study, published in the British Journal of Nutrition, stated: "Body weight was sig-nificantly reduced even though the pa-tients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits". One patient in this study lost more than 30 pounds.

According to one informed source, the active ingredient comes from a 100% natural botanical source and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before mealtime it bonds with the food you eat and "ties up" calories, especially those from fats, suppressing their absorption. A significant portion of the calories ingested therefore pass through the di-gestive system unabsorbed. The body has to get energy to replace the lost calories, so it starts to burn stored fat, which can result in rapid body weight loss. Clinical testing has verified the safety of this formula for long-term use.

The formula is marketed in capsule form in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida, has exclusive North American distribution rights. A review of the customer files of this company revealed the names of hundreds of people who have lost as much as 20, 40 or 80 or more pounds overall with Cal-Ban 3000. This appears to be a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional methods.

Cal-Ban 3000 is reasonably priced at $19.95 for a 3-week supply and $38.95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. VISA, M/C, AMEX and COD orders are accepted. To order call TOLL-FREE 1-800-537-3723 or purchased locally at Brooks Pharmacy, 222 Church 1, Botte Lines V. Church St., Betsy Layne, Ky. or Korner

Drug, 2 Court St., Prestonsburg, Ky.
Call today to begin the pleasant transformation from fat and flab to the slender firm body you want! If you fail to achieve a major weight loss you may return the empty bottle within 30 days for a 100% refund.

5-Year-Old Kentuckian Writes Life Story

I his story has many happy endings.

That's because 5-year-olds are writing all kinds of stories in Kentucky classrooms where teachers are teaching with IBM's Writing to Read programs.

It's a self-paced interactive program that teaches kindergarteners and first graders how to write anything they can say and read anything they can write.

And once students learn to write, IBM's Primary Editor Plus program gives them a simple and fun way to actually learn the fundamentals of word processing. So the skills they use to write and edit their own life stories at five will be with them at 25.

1733 Harrodsburg Road Lexington, Ky. 40504 (606) 278-9331

Writing to Read and Primary Editor Plus are just two of the many high-quality programs created by IBM's Educational System division. Many Kentucky schools are teaching English, math, physics, chemistry, foreign languages and much more with IBM Educational Courseware. And with good reason. Our courseware has been developed with the help of over 200 active teachers nationwide. IBM makes courseware programs for students from kindergarten through high school. In Kentucky, and the nation, we're working to help teachers teach and students learn.

Fisherman has 'humbling' experience in Fishathon

The Festival of FACES was a good at the lake. Humble felt a tug on the time for the fishermen in and around line, and then the next thing the old Floyd County as well as all the folks who enjoyed the crafts, car shows the boat and just a good slice of barbecued

However, the absence of a $5 tag cost one fisherman $1000. Seems that taking part in the fishing tournament prize of $1000.

fish knew he was being hauled aboard

Humble noticed that the fish was tagged with a number and realized it was from the Tourist Committee's Fishathon. When the fish was brought Keith Humble of Salyersville was on to the weighing station, the number Dewey Lake with a fishing buddy on the fish was matched to a cash

However, because Humble did not through Oct. 7 of this year. The take time to buy a $5 tag authorizing Fishathon is sponsored by the him to fish the Fishathon, the fish was Prestonsburg Recreation and Tourreleased and is still in the waters for the next fisherman to catch.

A $5 investment could net you is the chairman of the committee. some nice prize money. So, don't be so proud, "humble" yourselfand buy

Such was the excitement of the first day of the Fishathon that will run

Activities were plenty as things got underway. The parking lot in the city was a busy place with a boat show, a live fish tank display of wall-

For the youngsters, the big attraction was 12' by 3' swimming pool loaded with over 1200 rainbow trout which the committee allowed to be fished out free by children 12 and under. The committee was confident that many homes had trout for supper over the weekend as more than 1000 trout were caught out of the

Also in the pool were tagged fish that represented various prizes do-nated by the Pepsi Cola Company. One prize given away was the pool itself and that tagged fish was caught by three-year old Shawn Perry of Van excited about catching the fish than winning the pool.

The Fishathon is now underway and in full swing with tagged fish in the lake and rivers representing more than $32,000 in cash and prizes. From a new bass boat, $1000 in cash, $500 in

Bassin' with the Pros

Watching Aquarium Bass May Help Your Fishing

Watching bass in an aquarium may improve your fishing success.

That's the opinion of Evinrude Outboards ProStaff angler Ken Cook, who, as a former biologist, has studied his share of fish in tanks, as well as in lakes and rivers.

Even today, as a successful tournament professional, he often watches the fish swimming in the creek near his Oklahoma home.

"Watching how bass act and react to different conditions can definitely help you understand why you may or may not get a bite," Cook says. "You can also learn how to fish your lures under certain conditions.'

For example, says the Evinrude pro, inactive fish seem to go through a very deliberate "stretch and yawn" exercise before they begin feeding. Other smaller fish recognize this and swim for safety when they see it.

"I've seen this numerous times in aquariums," Cook adds, "most recently with a 14-pound largemouth. Smaller baitfish in the same aguarium never paid any attention to the big bass until it yawned. Then they headed for cover.

"Once, we clipped the fin of a small baitfish and dropped it into an aquarium where it swam erratically. There was a larger bass present that had been totally inactive up to that point, but when the injured bait swam by the bass nabbed it immediately.

The fish didn't bother to go through its stretching and yawning," Cook continues. "What we saw was a strike out of pure reflex because the fish somehow recognized an opportune meal."

How will this help you become a better fisherman on the lake?

"I believe we're fishing for inactive bass the majority of the time we're fishing," Cook points out, "so what we have to try for are these reflex-type strikes. An erratic lure retrieve with a lot of stop-and-go, rise-and-fall action often triggers these strikes more often than a steady speed retrieve does."

At times, noise may provide the stimulus to provoke a strike, too. Cook has watched how bass react in a clear water creek after he has purposefully spooked them.

"When I frighten them, the fish scoot to overhanging rocks or deep into the shade of bushes and trees," he says. "I can often trigger a strike by casting a small jig or plastic grub beyond the hiding place, easing the lure up in front of the fish, and shak-ing my rod tip slightly so the lure scratches along the bottom. "The lure doesn't move, but inDON'T GET EATEN BY THE SHARKS stead, stays in the same place. I believe the noise of the leadhead scraping around the rocks brings the bass back out. They'll just ease out and suck the lure in."

The lesson here for fisherman? "Switch to a smaller lure," says the Evinrude angler, "and work it very slowly and deliberately around the cover. Try to add noise to the lure so it appeals to more than just the fish's sense of sight."

"Give a hungry man a fish and you have fed him for one day; teach a hungry man to fish and you have fed him for the rest of his life." So goes the old proverb.

The local Job Corps has been teaching young men to fish; that is, to face life's challenges with skill and confidence. And now young women will have the same opportunity as a new dormitory for female students nears completion.

We expect to have the keys by May 31," said Edna Higginbotham as she began a tour of the new facility for members of the Advisory Council, staff and student leaders. A dedication ceremony and open house are planned when the dormitory is complete at the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center in Prestonsburg, but a date has not yet been scheduled.

Advisory Council representative Jim Reed expressed the mood of the evening: "Everyone is really im-pressed. We have some really good

Looking around, James Van Hoose, also a council member, said, ""Looks like it will be very nice when the dormitory gets finished."

The 80-bed residence hall for women will expand the center's educational and vocational programs to include coeducational job training. As Placement Director Len Grant explained, "The Job Corps gives kids analternative education. It takes them out of the home and gives them a new environment."

Until now, women have been enrolled in the program only on a non-resident status, which, according to Grant, limits the effectiveness of the curriculum. With the opening of the new dormitory, the non-resident status will be discontinued, Grant said.

"We are very enthusiastic about the expansion of the program to include young women," said Arthur Williams, student government repprototype for other new dormitory facilities in the region," Higginbotham said.

The facility breaks with the traditional, and somewhat sterile, institutional design of rooms opening into a long hallway.

We feel we have developed a dormitory that will become a living community," she said.

The dormitory, housing four women per room, is divided into two sections with a central receiving area and offices in the center. In each half, 10 rooms spiral off a smaller recreational lounge.

Two laundry rooms will provide four washers and four dryers each for student use. Folding tables will be built-in, and cabinet-style ironing boards that fold out of the wall will be installed with other finishing touches.

One of the dormitory rooms is especially designed to be accessible to handicapped. The room features widedoorways, sufficient passage for a wheelchair, and the bathroom is equipped with special railings.

The flurry of recent repair and construction on the facility represents an investment of $2.75 million, more than two-thirds of which has been locally contracted.

In addition to the dormitory, a new roof has been placed on the former US Shoe Company building that Job Corps adapted to its needs. The budget also includes funds for upgrading of existing showers in the men's dorm and new air condition-

Construction of a new gymnasium will begin in August, which will make room for more offices, classrooms, study rooms and recreation areas.

The center currently provides instruction in the building trades: plumbing, electricity, carpentry, brick and stone masonry, and buildings and grounds maintenance. With the admittance of women to the residence program, the center proposes to add instruction in data

Grant said of the success of the center: "Sometimes when these kids get a second chance, they cash in on it like it is their last chance."

The local community gains also from the expansion. Bill Howard, an Advisory Council member, indicated that the expansion "will be a good asset to the community. Job Corps has spent a lot of money on these improvements and the community stands to gain from this expansion."

For instance, Job Corps students receive an annual clothing allow-ance which the administration makes certain is spent locally. "This center will return to the community economy nearly $25,000 this year in clothing allowance alone," said

Career Development Systems representative Bill Brown.

The expansion of the center to a coed resident facility will also generate an additional 20 to 25 jobs, he

Training manager Roy Penix added, "More students mean more teachers, staff and administrators.

In medium saucepan, mix unflavored gelatine with 1/4 cup sugar; blend in egg yolks beaten with milk. Let stand 1 minute. Stir over low heat until gelatin is completely dissolved, about 5 minutes. Stir in pureed papaya and rum. Pour into large bowl and chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon.

In large bowl, beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually add remaining sugar and beat until stiff. Fold egg whites, then whipped cream, sliced strawberries, remaining chopped papaya and cake into gelatine mixture.

Turn into 9-inch springform pan; chill until set. Garnish with reserved papaya slices and, if desired, additional whipped cream. Makes about 12 servings.

FAMILIES ARE FOREVER

And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever tho shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven. (Metthew 16:19)

When the poet sang of a love to last "until stars grow old and the sun grows cold," he expressed the hope of many men and women that family love and family life God's plan not just for this life only, but for could continue forever beyond the grave. Family relationships should last forever instead of just "until death do you part."

Latter-day Saints believe that such eternal family relationships are possible. Families may be bound together under all eternity.

PLEASE COME

FAMILY UNITY: With the coming of children to husband and wife, family groups may, through upright living and obedience to divine law, enjoy the high state of happiness which follows a sacred assurance that family unity can continue beyond the grave.

REMOVING THE STROKE PENALTY

An updated report on the beneficial effect that aspirin has in reducing the risk of heart attack in men over 50 downplays any risk of stroke. The preliminary study followed 22,000 physicians over the age of 50 who took an aspirin every other day. The dramatic finding of the original study was that 44 percent of the aspirin-takers had fewer first heart attacks than their placebo-taking counterparts. However, the original study tempered these findings with the warning that increased aspirin use may well elevate the chance for stroke. Now, new analysis shows that the stroke risk is insignificant when compared to the benefits of aspirin in reducing first heart attacks. Men under age 50 experienced no benefit from increased

GOOD AND BAD SNAKES KNOW THE DIFFERENCE by Dr. Roger Goodwill Assistant Professor of Biology

That time of year has arrived when the flowers bloom, leaves appear on the trees and animals of all sorts are seen crossing the roads. It's also that time of year when gardens are being planted, yards are being mowed and children are out playing.

It's that time of year when people bump into the creepy-crawly things that occupy the same living space as they do. It's, therefore, that time of year when my phone rings and excited callers want some mystifying creature identified.

Of all the unwanted critters that come visiting, the ones that generate the most fear, awe, attention and phone calls are the snakes. Eastern Kentucky has about 18 different varieties of snakes, each with its own set of preferences as where to live. Some come out during the day, some at night, some can be found in wooded areas, others in open fields, some prefer dry ground, others the wetness of marshes, streams and lakes, some climb into bushes while others stay on the ground.

It seems that there's a snake for every possible type of living space. We tend to find them when we least expectit. We find them crossing roads, within wood piles, under houses, under logs and rocks, by streams, when we are walking in the woods, mowing the grass, planting the gar-den and plowing. We find them at night and during the day. Whenever and wherever we find them, we're sure they're Copperheads.

Eastern Kentucky has only two poisonous snakes — Copperheads and Timber Rattlesnakes. Copperheads (Agkistrodon controtrix) usually breed in the early spring, but can be found mating throughout the summer and early fall. The female doesn't lay eggs, but will bear from 1-14 live young from August to early

They prefer wooded hills with rocky outcrops overlooking streams, ponds or marshes. They bask in the sun in the spring and fall, but favor the dark hours during the heat of the summer. In late fall they return to a communal den somewhere around a rocky outcrop that usually has a southern or eastern exposure.

Food consists of frogs, young birds and rodents. Their bite, though poisonous and painful, seldom results in death, but should, nevertheless, be treated by a physician.

Timber Rattlesnakes (Drotalus horridus) mate in the spring right after hibernation and in the fall. The females give birth every two years to 5-17 live young from late August to early October. They prefer remote wooded hills with rocky outcrops.

Like Copperheads, they are active during the day in the spring and fall but become creatures of the night during the summer. During the fall they also return to communal dens stationed with the US Navy. Both are with Copperheads. They feed on mice, squirrels, chipmunks and small birds. Many people believe that the age of rattlesnakes can be determined by counting the number of rattles on its tail. Though this makes a nice story, in fact, the number of rattles has nothing to do with the age of the snake. A new rattle is formed every time the snake sheds its skin, which it will do several times a year. Rattles also break off and older snakes might well be missing several. Although the rattle is used to warn of danger, it's a mistake to believe that they always rattle before striking.

The Timber Rattlesnake, though considered the most mild-tempered of the rattlesnakes, is, nevertheless, dangerous and fatalities have resulted from their bite.

Care must be taken even after a rattlesnake or Copperhead has been killed by decapitation. The striking behavior is almost reflex in nature, especially if the animal is being handled. This means that, although dead, a freshly killed snake might bite through the reflex action of muscles and nerves in much the same way a decapitated chicken will run

Two holes referred to as pits can be found on the head between the eyes and nostril of these snakes. The pits are heat sensing structures. Even if blind, these snakes know where you are by the heat your body gives off. The pits aren't there to vex you, but to help the pit vipers (as these snakes are collectively called) locate their food.

Both of our poisonous snakes can be identified by their large triangular head, which ends abruptly at the base of the triangle before beginning the

Hospital Day set by Shriners

International Shrine Hospital Day will be observed Sunday, May 27 at the Shriner's new Lexington Hospital for Crippled Children. The program, celebrating 68 years of helping needy crippled children, starts at 1:30

The public can see this work firsthand by visiting the open house at the Shriner's Lexington Hospital, 1900 Richmond Rd., between the hours of 1:30 and 4:30 p.m.

Celebration of Hospital Day will commence with a band concert followed by a parade of units outfitted in colorful regalia. Gene Bracewell, formerly Imperial Potentate, The Shrine of North America, who is now chairperson, board of trustees, Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children, will lead shriners from five states in

The Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children at Lexington is one of 22 hospitals located throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico, operated by the Shrine of North America. These hospitals offer orthopedic care and burn treatment to children up to their 18th birthday free neck. Our non-poisonous snakes can easily be distinguished from them by a head that blends into the neck very smoothly and evenly, not abruptly as in poisonous snakes. The head may vary from egg shaped to being completely in line with the neck, but never

Shriners Hospitals are open to all children regardless of their race, religion or relationship to a Shriner. Patients at the Lexington facility are received primarily from five states, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Indiana and Ohio.

When danger threatens, some harmless snakes will attempt to imitate poisonous ones in hopes of fright-ening off offenders. Some will flatten their heads to try and make them appear triangular and some will coil and shake their tail in dead leaves trying to imitate the sound of a rattle with the rustle of the dry leaves. Many snakes are very good at these imitations and the tactics frequently work, but often result in the snake being mis-identified and then killed.

An argument might be made for the killing of poisonous snakes, espe-cially around one's home, but certainly there is no good argument for the killing of harmless snakes which are actually beneficial. Green snakes, for example, feed on insects, red-bellied snakes feed on slugs, and several different kinds of snakes, referred to locally as black snakes, feed on rodents. Now who needs more bugs, slugs, mice, gophers and moles

Lower the good snake population around your house or farm and watch the increase in unwanted creatures. I have known farmers to threaten people who were threatening the resident black snake. A wise farmer protects his black snakes.

It is in our best interest to learn to distinguish the good from the bad. May I suggest that you obtain from the local bookstore or library a copy of "The Audubon Society Field Guide to North American Reptiles & Amphibians." The book is loaded with pictures, distribution maps and lots of information on each animal. This book will help you become more knowledgeable and comfortable with these other "residents" of Eastern Kentucky.

5-Year-Old Kentuckian Writes Life Story

I his story has many happy endings.

That's because 5-year-olds are writing all kinds of stories in Kentucky classrooms where teachers are teaching with IBM's Writing to Read programs.

It's a self-paced interactive program that teaches kindergarteners and first graders how to write anything they can say and read anything they can

And once students learn to write, IBM's Primary Editor Plus program gives them a simple and fun way to actually learn the fundamentals of word processing. So the skills they use to write and edit their own life stories at five will be with them at 25.

Writing to Read and Primary Editor Plus are just two of the many high-quality programs created by IBM's Educational System division. Many Kentucky schools are teaching English, > math, physics, chemistry, foreign languages and much more with IBM Educational Courseware. And with good reason. Our courseware has been developed with the help of over 200 active teachers nationwide. IBM makes courseware programs for students from kindergarten through high school. In Kentucky, and the nation, we're working to help teachers teach and students learn.

Expectant mothers cautioned on alcohol/drug usage link

"Know when to say when" is a nationally every year. popular phrase encouraging people to realize and to stop when they have had too much to drink.

For a pregnant woman, "when" is immediately.

Fetal Alcohol Syndrome (FAS) is a condition resulting when alcohol or other drugs are carried from the expectant mother's bloodstream into that of her unborn child. It is also one of the country's three leading known causes of birth defects with accompanying mental retardation.

Annually, FAS affects as many as 5,000 babies, or one in every 750 newborns, including 60 born in Kentucky. Infants born with mild FAS signs, known as Fetal Alcohol Effects, account for another 36,000 births

Those are just some of the reasons why Kentucky has joined other states to observe "Alcohol and Other Drug-Related Birth Defects Awareness Week," May 13-19.

"Mental retardation, low birth weight, heart defects, facial deformities and behavioral problems are all symptoms of FAS," said Michelle Metts, community prevention spe-cialist with the state Department for Mental Health and Mental Retarda-

How to shop at a clearance sale by Jill Johnson Piper Scripps Howard News Service Do the words "reduced for clearance" make your pulse quicken?

Do your nostrils flare at a price that ends in ".99?"

If you're the type to risk life and

If you're the type to risk life and limb for a "doorbuster," clearance sales are right up your alley. But before you hit the ground charging, experts recommend forming a shopping strategy.

It may help to understand how a clearance sale works. At its most basic, the purpose of a clearance sale is to clear the floor for new spring goods, said Craig Weichmann, a managing director at Moran Keegan brokerage house.

If an item is 50 percent off its original price, you can pretty much figure you're getting it at cost. Weichmann said most retailers double the cost of the time to arrive at the full markup. Some retailers will mark down merchandise as much as 75 percent.

"The customer who waited got a good deal, but he also didn't get the benefit of wearing that item the whole season," he said. "Sometimes it pays to be patient."

June wedding set

KELLI WRIGHT FORD
Mr. and Mrs. Winston Ford Jr. of Prestonsburg announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Kelli Wright Ford, to Stephen Thace Allen, son of Mrs. Mary June Allen of Martin and the late Randall Lee Allen.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and has completed one year at Prestonsburg Community College.

The prospective-groom is a graduate of Allen Central High School and has completed two years at PCC. He is employed by the Floyd County Board of Education.

The wedding will be solemnized at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, June 10, in the First United Methodist Church of Prestonsburg. The gracious custom of open church will be observed with the reception immediately following in the Family Life Center of the church.

Poems wanted

Poems are now being accepted for entry in Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum's new "Awards of Poetic Excellence" poetry contest. Cash prizes totaling $1000 will be awarded, including a $500 grand prize. The contest is free to enter.

Poets may enter one poem only, 20 lines or less, on any subject, in any style. Contest closes July 31, but poets are encouraged to send their work as soon as possible, since poems entered in the contest also will be considered for publication in the Spring 1991 edition of "Poetic Voices of America," a hardcover anthology.

No fee or purchase is required to enter or win the contest. To ensure publication of non-winning entries, however, anthology purchase is required. Prize winners will be notified by Sept. 30, 1990.

"If you are a new or emerging poet, we especially want to see your work," says William H. Trent, editor. "We are looking for sincerity and originality in a wide variety of styles and themes."

Poems should be sent to Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum, Inc., Dept. G, 203 Diamond St., Sisterville, WV 26175.

HOLLY PARK HOME SALES It always pays to have a strategy, said Bonnie McNeese, a Memphis wardrobe consultant. If you shop carefully, it's possible to buy end-of-season items that will still look stylish in the fall.

"The wise shopper has goals in mind, sets a budget, has sales resistance, is not swayed by huge markdowns and looks for specifics that are missing in her existing wardrobe," McNeese said.

"Stick with shops and department stores and sales people you usually deal with," she advised. "Don't sale-hop. Look at newer merchandise and compare styles with what the retailers are trying to get rid of. If all the stuff on the sales rack is oversized and their new items are close-fitting, that's a big clue there. Most, if not all, clearance items carry the heavy burden of 'no return'."

Chronic bargain hunters must practice restraint, restraint, restraint during the temptations of midwinter clearance sales, says wardrobe consultant McNeese.

"I've observed that there are great amounts of junk out there, and generally, the greater the markdown, the junkier the item."

Here's her list of so-called end-ofseason "bargains" not to purchase at any price, "not even if...they give it to you."

— Anything glitzy or neon for day: "I'm talking about sweaters with beads, feathers, pearls, zircons, leather jackets with studs and fake jewels. This is out.... Also stay away from neon makeup. Save it for Halloween."

 Oversized: "Stay away from items described as oversized or baggy. Silhouettes are getting closer, drapier."

— Statement-makers: "Clothes with messages written on them in glitter paint. They bark as you pass by."

— Football shoulders: "Avoid the mega-shoulder pad look. Even if you're thinking you'll take the pads out, be sure and look at it without them. The sleeves may be longer, and the shoulders droopy. It can look as if you did your shopping at the line-backer lost and found."

— Holiday merchandise: "Holiday wear is the trendiest group of merchandise. If it's still on the rack now and wasn't purchased, you won't like it next year either."

 Anything you tell yourself you'll lose 10 pounds to wear.

— Anything with Batman on it. Her final word of advice without a plan and wardrobe check: "If you just must buy something on sale, make it underwear and it will remain your
