New school will be built out of town :

Board okays site purchase

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Prestonsburg High School will no longer be located in downtown Prestonsburg as the Floyd County Board of Education voted Wednesday night to purchase land located near Clark Elementary to build a new high school.

The board agreed to pay David May $400,000 for 100 acres of land located on Highway 404, outside the city limits of Prestonsburg. By a 3-2 margin, the board approved the site and planned to acquire the deed Thursday.

The site should produce 20-25 acres of usable land, according to Dixon Nunnery, who prepared an appraisal and acreage estimate for the board of education. Board members Tommy Boyd and Ray "Shag" Campbell voted against the measure because it would take the high school outside of the city.

"I'm not against you having a new school Doc," Boyd told Board Chairman James D. Adams. "I'm glad for you. But, I'm voting against it because it'll take it out of Prestonsburg."

Cocaine, pot are taken in drug arrests

Members of the Floyd County Sheriff's Department arrested a Wheelwright man last week and charged him with possession of both cocaine and marijuana.

Deputies arrested Bobby Terry of Wheelwright on charges of criminal mischief regarding destruction of property in Wheelwright. During the arrest procedure officers confiscated two separate bags of cocaine, size and weight undetermined, and a small bag of marijuana.

Terry was charged with possession of the drugs, along with five counts of possession of drug paraphernalia and the original charge of criminal mischief. Terry was lodged in the Floyd County Jail.

Deputies arrested a second subject three days later and charged him with possession and trafficking in marijuana.

During the execution of a search warrant in cooperation with Kentucky State Police officers, officers arrested Junior Hall, of Toler's Creek.

Officers confiscated five bags of marijuana at the home.

Hall was charged with possession and trafficking in marijuana (less than eight ounces). Hall was lodged in the Floyd County Jail.

AIDS rumors are untrue, owner says

Rumors that an employee or employees at a Prestonsburg restaurant are infected with the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) are "absolutely untrue" an owner said this week, and an investigation into the source of the reports is expected.

Bob Hutchison, an owner of the Prestonsburg McDonalds, said Wednesday that no employees at the Prestonsburg restaurant or at any other restaurant operated by his family were infected with the AIDS virus, adding that any reports to the contrary were "false."

"How that rumor got started, or why it got started, is beyond me," Hutchison said. "There is no truth to it."

Hutchison said the AIDS rumors were not confined to the local restaurant, adding that similar tales were beginning to surface in Paintsville. Several weeks ago the same rumors were circulating about the McDonalds restaurant in Williamson, West Virginia.

I think it ought to be in Prestonsburg."

Board Superintendent Ron Hager said May had agreed to "come down" to the appraisal price of $400,000 to acquire the site. In an unusual move, the decision was made in open meeting. Real estate transactions are usually discussed in executive session.

The board approved to purchase the land at its May 9 meeting and asked Nunnery to do an appraisal.

When the location of the new high school was announced earlier this year, the Prestonsburg City Council voted to send a letter to the board asking it not to move the school from the downtown area. Annexation of the property was also discussed by the city council.

Adams said an agreement between the state Department of Buildings and Grounds and the city of Prestonsburg for 2.5 miles of new sewer lines could be negotiated for the school. He said the new sewer lines would also serve residents in the Old Middle Creek Road area.

The board also approved the addition of a physical education facility and four classrooms at the James A. Duff Elementary school and construction to increase the water supply at the school. A fire truck from the Garrett Volunteer Fire Department and a volunteer fireman have been stationed at the school since it opened because the water pressure is not adequate to activate the sprinkler system in case of fire.

The board also voted to raise the price of copies obtained from the central office to 25 cents per page for all non-school personnel. Hager said the increase was needed to cover the cost of paper and lease payments on office machinery.

Floyd County Education Association President Bud Reynolds addressed board members and asked that board policy pertaining to election activities be honored. Reynolds asked that no board employees threaten or intimidate teachers or students in regards to the upcoming school board election.

"I hope no student or teacher is taken away from class for the election," Reynolds said.

Reynolds also thanked the board for its cooperation in implementing the agreement reached between teachers and the administration during the teacher's strike in August.

A representative from Floyd County Parents for Better Education asked the board about school supplies and spending per pupil and wanted first aid kits at every school. Hager said the board hopes to be spending $30 per student this school year.

Other actions taken by the board will appear in Wednesday's edition of The Times.

Decomposed body found near Dewey Lake

Remains thought to be those of West Virginia man :

Autopsy to decide death cause

A Floyd County Sheriff's Deputy, scouring a hillside Wednesday afternoon for marijuana plants, discovered instead the badly decomposed remains of a human body near the golf course at Jenny Wiley State Park.

Floyd County Coroner Roger Nelson said that the remains of an approximately 57-year-old caucasian male were discovered about 100 feet from the top of a hill near the golf course at Jenny Wiley State Park. Nelson estimated that the body had been in the hills for approximately two months.

The coroner's office is using the body and dental X-rays of Robert Stephens, 57, of Huntington, in connection with the investigation, according to Nelson. The X-rays were obtained Thursday and will be sent with the body to the state medical examiner's office in Frankfort for identification, Nelson said.

The identity has not been confirmed. A positive identification could come within the next few days, Nelson said. A missing persons report on Stephens had not been filed, Nelson added.

The body found matched a description of a man seen around the area in June or July that park rangers received complaints about wandering around the lake and in the camping area, Nelson said. The body was found lying in a heavily wooded area near the Pro Shop.

The clothed body, which was "mostly skeletal remains" bore no immediate signs of foul play but "all avenues are open" as to determining cause of death, Nelson said.

A wallet found near the body contained a driver's license of a man from Huntington. Items found near the scene indicated the man may have been camping.

Members of the Floyd County Rescue Squad, Kentucky State Police, Floyd County Sheriff's Office and Floyd County Coroner's Office removed the body from the wooded hillside at approximately 1:00 p.m. Wednesday afternoon.

The case is under investigation by Kentucky State Police detective Keith Scott, the Floyd County Sheriff's Office and the Floyd County Coroner's Office.

Wife, children acquitted of complicity :

Crum found guilty of extortion

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

An Eastern man on trial with his wife, two sons and daughter was convicted Thursday of theft by extortion and the rest of his family was acquitted of complicity in Floyd Circuit Court.

Ballard Crum was found guilty of extorting $25,000 from Martin Pharmacist Ronald Reid in February 1989. The jury recommended Crum serve one year in prison and he was released on a $10,000 surety bond with the provision he post a $10,000 property bond by 4 p.m. today.

Crum, his wife, Maudie, sons, Jackie and Tony and daughter, Kathy Jacobs were indicted by a Floyd County Grand Jury in December 1989 for allegedly aiding Ballard Crum in extorting the money from Reid. The indictment said Ballard Crum obtained the money from Reid by threatening him with bodily harm.

Special Judge Richard Elswick of Pike County presided and Special Prosecutor Rick Bartley of the Pike County Commonwealth Attorney's office presented the case on behalf of the state.

The case apparently stemmed from a business deal that fell through when Reid signed an option to buy Colonial Chevrolet, a car dealership at Eastern the Crums owned. The dealership was heavily in debt, according to the testimony, and Reid was trying to purchase the business from the family.

An option was previously granted to Ed Walters to buy the franchise and Walters had paid $25,000 to secure that option.

The Crums began negotiating with Reid and Walters agreed to cancel the option if he received the $25,000 back, according to the testimony.

Reid signed two contracts with

Big Sandy committee awarded state grant

The Big Sandy Area Labor-Management Committee will soon be cashing a $10,056 check, compliments of Governor Wallace G. Wilkinson and the 1990 General Assembly.

The committee was one of only eleven across Kentucky to qualify under the guidelines of House Bill 311 which was signed into law March 9 by Gov. Wilkinson, creating the Kentucky Labor-Management Matching Grant Program.

The governor appropriated $280,000 over the next two years for the program which is available to area, in-plant, industry-wide, public sector and institution of higher learning-based labor-management organizations. It is intended to assist the labor-management community on a statewide basis in improving overall labor-management relationships or improving communications with respect to subjects of mutual interest or concern to labor and management.

Committee member Don Daniels accepted the award from Gov. Wilkinson during a ceremonial presentation at last week's 14th annual Kentucky Labor-Management Conference at Kentucky Dam Village.

Housing funds are awarded to Floyd

The Floyd County Housing Authority received nearly $350,000 for two housing certificate programs on October 10 from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Combined, the program will provide assistance for 85 families in Floyd County.

The first award furnished $149,688 in housing certificates which will be distributed to 35 families. The second award furnished $196,200 which will assist another 50 families.

the Crums, one dated December 13 and the other December 22. Reid said after he signed the December 13 contract, a separate contract was produced which called for a $75,000 cash payment and that that agreement be burned after the payment. Reid said he negotiated another contract which called for a $1,000 to be deposited to secure the option.

The commonwealth's only witness in the case, Reid, testified to the events surrounding the incident.

Reid had signed an option to buy the Chevrolet dealership from Tony and Maudie Crum. The agreement hinged on Reid obtaining the proper financing and approval from General Motors of the sale. A time frame of six months was in the agreement.

Reid testified he was asked by Maudie Crum to come to her home on Sunday, February 5 to drop off some business papers in order for her to give them to an accountant. Reid said he parked his jeep in the driveway, left the vehicle running and took the papers to the door. Mrs. Crum asked Reid to come into the house because her husband, Ballard, needed to speak to him, Reid said.

The trio proceeded into the kitchen, where Reid said Ballard Crum told him he needed $25,000.

"I told him I didn't have that kind of money," Reid testified. "I got up to leave and Ballard Crum grabbed my arm and I felt something in my back and he said, 'You're not going anywhere.'"

Reid said he then saw Crum had a .38 pistol and he offered to write Crum a $25,000 check.

"Maudie said, 'He's gonna write us a check. That's good enough.' Ballard then said, 'That would be stupid. He can just stop payment on it.'" Reid testified.

Reid said Ballard Crum's son, Tony, then came home and asked his father what was going on and told him not to hurt Reid. Reid, Tony Crum and Jackie Crum then drove to Reid Pharmacy to get $10,000 in cash with the understanding Reid would give them an additional $15,000 the next day.

"At that point, I would have given them anything," Reid testified. "I was just glad to get out of there alive." A receipt, signed by both gentlemen, was given to Reid, he said, at his request.

Kathy Jacobs picked up a cashier's check for $15,000 from Reid the next morning and had it cashed at the First Commonwealth Bank in Martin, Reid said. However, only $7,500 was paid out and a separate check for $7,500 was issued to Jacobs, according to testimony.

Negotiations to purchase the dealership continued until February 15 when Reid called Tony Crum on the phone and tape recorded the conversation. On the tape, played for the jury, Reid told Tony Crum: "It's a good thing you came in when you did or Ballard might have killed me." Crum replied, "Yeah, that's true."

Tony Crum told Reid in the phone call that if he would go to a meeting in Cincinnati at the Chevrolet dealership in order to get approval to buy the franchise, his father would sign papers pertaining to collateral.

Reid said the collateral pertained to the repayment of the $25,000 the Crums "had taken" from him, according to his testimony.

Reid said he informed his attorney, Danny Caudill, who was an assistant commonwealth attorney at the time, the next day of the incident and Caudill said he would tell Commonwealth Attorney Jerry Patton about what had happened. He said Caudill told him "I don't blame you" in reference to giving the Crums the money.

The Crums, each testifying in their own defense, told a different version and denied most of Reid's testimony.

Maudie Crum said Reid was paying a $10,000 deposit on a separate tract of land adjacent to the dealership. She testified Reid and his attorney assured them they would pay back the $25,000 owed to Ed Walters. However, that stipulation was not in the contract signed by Reid and the Crums and Walters has never been repaid the money, according to Mrs. Crum.

She said Reid had asked her sons to accompany him to the pharmacy on February 5 to collect the money. Mrs. Crum said her husband did not have a gun and Reid went willingly to get the money.

Ricky Crum, who was home at the time Reid arrived on February 5, said he did not see his father with a gun or hear any threats made. He said his mother called to him and said Reid wanted him to go with him to get the money. Crum said he was putting on his jacket to leave with Reid when his brother came to the door.

"Mom said he was going to pay a deposit on some property," Crum said.

Prosecutor Bartley asked Crum about an agreement with his signature on it and notarized by his sister, Kathy Jacobs, pertaining to the Paradise Lounge, which was part of the property agreement.

After looking at the document, Crum replied, "That's not my signature."

"Are you saying someone forged your name on this and your sister notarized it?" Bartley asked.

"I guess," Crum responded. Ballard Crum testified his wife Maudie and Reid did most of the talking that Sunday night and he and Reid only talked about five minutes. "I had nothing to do with it (the $10,000 deposit)," Crum said.

Crum had obtained a warrant for Reid on April 5 claiming Reid had threatened him on February 5. The warrant said Reid told Crum "I've got enough money to destroy you and your family." Crum said Reid told him that on February 5 after returning with the money.

Tony Crum testified he went with Reid to the pharmacy that night and Reid counted out $10,000 in cash from a brown paper bag he produced from the office safe.

Reid testified he had that much money on hand because of business generated by it being the first of the month and he had not been able to make it to the bank to deposit the receipts.

Tony Crum said he did not take part in the negotiations between his parents and Reid and only assisted in trying to obtain approval from General Motors for the sale. He said the business was in bad financial shape at the time.

In closing, Bartley told the jury Ballard Crum had "snapped" under the financial pressure of being heavily in debt and became desperate for the deal to go through. He said Ed Walters was "leaning" on Maudie Crum for the return of the $25,000. He said family members were surprised at how far things had gone that night but decided to go along with it.

Crum later had to file bankruptcy and the building housing the dealership burned about a month later.

The jury deliberated for about two hours before returning the verdict. Final sentencing had not been set at presstime.

Tuition hikes? Hearings scheduled

One of the responsibilities of the Council of Higher Education that has the greatest impact on Kentucky's citizens is the determining of tuition levels for the state's public colleges and universities. This year the Council is reviewing its tuition setting policy, which has been used for most of the 1980s. Because tuition rates can, and do, have such an impact on who can afford higher education, what quality of programs the institutions can offer, and many other issues, the opinions and suggestions of the people in this area are important. To consider the opinions of all Kentuckians, the Council's Task Group on Tuition Policy Level Review will hold public hearings at:

Louisville, on October 15 at 10 a.m. at the University of Louisville New Student Activity Center, Belknap Campus;

Morehead, on October 17 at 10 a.m. at the Morehead State University Adron Doran Center.

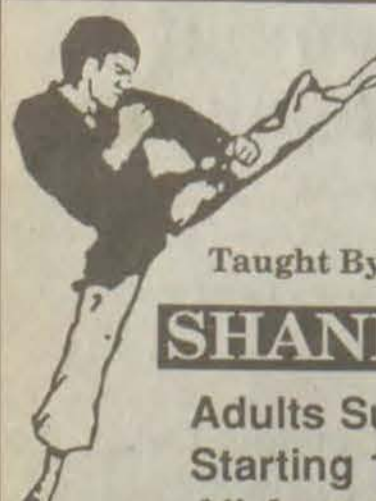

For more information or correspondence, contact the Council on Higher Education, 1050 U.S. 127 South, Suite 101, Frankfort, Ky., 40601-4395, or phone (502) 564-3553 or FAX to (502) 564-2063.

VOTE FOR and ELECT FRANKLIN DELANO MAY FOR SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER EDUCATIONAL DIVISION #2

TO THE VOTERS OF EDUCATIONAL DIV. #2. YOU NEED TO KNOW WHERE AND WHAT DELANO MAY STANDS FOR.

1. I stand for EQUALITY for all.
How can we provide for some and slight others?
We are talking about the most important aspect in a persons life, that is to be educated.
2. I stand for closing the communication gap between Administrators, Teachers, and students. You cannot solve any problems if you cannot reason together for the Betterment of our schools.
TALK ---- PLAN ---- PRODUCE
3. I stand for placing the blame squarely on the shoulders of the Board. Parents, Teachers, and Students, should not have to clean, repair, or improve restrooms facilities, (MARTIN) or anything relating to manual labor. We do have a Maintenance Department. "Don't We"??
4. I pledge myself to be a working, on the job Board Member, that will inspect, communicate with, and oversee the need to make Educational Div. #2 proud to call me their Representative.
5. I assure you, the people of Prater Creek, that I will vote to keep Prater Creek School on Prater Creek and no where else.

By Clyde Pack
THE CHRISTIAN THING TO DO

This column is printed by request and is dedicated to the woman in the silky-satin dress.

If we're to believe what my older relatives say, my younger brother Joe and I were pure imps when we were little. There was one place, however, where we knew better than to misbehave, and that was in church. Now, we may have gotten by with getting in a wrestling match and turning over the churn, or maybe having a mud fight using Mom's freshly washed bedspread that was hanging on the clothesline as a shield, but we just plain knew that we'd get a good dose of willow tea if we acted up during church services.

Mostly, my memories about the old Thealka Freewill Baptist Church in the 1940s are good ones. The sweet smell of Juicy Fruit mixed with furniture polish and just a dab of Evening in Paris still lingers in the back of my mind, as does the good old-fashioned congregational singing and the mass baptizings held every so often in the creek that ran in front of the building.

However, there was one incident that occurred when I was about seven or eight that brought Mom's wrath down on me in such force that I'll remember it forever. And wouldn't you know, I was completely innocent.

We were having our summer revival with a "big preacher from away from here." I think his name was Ted Green. Anyway, it was awfully hot and we didn't have air-conditioning in those days. As a matter of fact, we didn't even have fans, except the funeral-home kind with the little wooden handles. It must have been 120 degrees in the building that night.

Every pew was packed, but people, for the most part, didn't seem to mind the heat. Joe and I had made it fine as we sat — like little angels — with Mom between us. (Dad, being a deacon, usually sat up on the pulpit with the preachers.)

There were always lots of visitors who'd come to our revivals to hear these "big preachers," and the lady who occupied the pew in front of us must have been one of them, because I had never seen her before — and come to think of it, I haven't seen her since, either.

This lady was also very — well, let's just say she was "heavy set."

(Maybe 300 pounds worth of "heavy set.") I had sat and watched the beads of sweat run down the back of her neck all night, and when it came time for the altar call, we all stood to sing.

When I stood, my eyes just came to the top of the back of this woman's pew, and I found myself staring (through no fault of my own, mind you) directly at her backside.

I'll never forget it. She was wearing a purple, silky-satin kind of dress with big red flowers on it. As I said, it was awfully hot, and she, being "heavy set" and all, was sweating so profusely that her dress, where she'd been sitting, was — kind of gathered up and stuck — kinda to her.

She looked very uncomfortable, so I, wanting to do the Christian thing, reached over the back of the pew and gently pulled her sweaty dress from her sticky backside.

It's still a mystery to me how such an act of kindness could otherwise be mistaken for anything else, but just as I began to pat myself on the back for a job well done, my mother's hand closed like a vise on my shoulder, and I looked up into the eyes of a woman who had once been my sweet, loving mother. She said not a word, but I knew that she meant to do me bodily harm.

With "Ye who are weary, come home" ringing in my ears and "I'll kill you when we get home" coming from my mother's eyes, I panicked. But wait! Bill Pack didn't raise any fools. What was it the preacher had said not ten minutes ago?

"If you sin, you must repent!"

Repent I did. I simply reached over the pew again and stuffed that sweaty, silky-satin dress back where it'd been.

Needless to say, all my memories of the Thealka Freewill Baptist Church aren't pleasant ones.

Happy Birthday!

What single issue is most often on people's minds in Uncle Sam's neighborhood these days?

Can you say taxes?
We thought you could.

We're indebted to Mary June Allen for sending us the following, which sums up pretty well what many of us are beginning to feel...

Taxes! Taxes!

Tax his cow, tax his goat tax his pants, tax his coat tax his work, tax his dirt.

Tax his chew, tax his smoke teach him taxes are no joke.
Tax his car, tax his gas tax the roads he must pass.

Tax his land, tax his wage tax the bed in which he lays.
Tax his tractor, tax his mule tax the books used in school.

Tax him good and let him know that after taxes he has no dough.
If he hollers, tax him more tax him 'til he's good and sore.

Tax his coffin, tax his grave tax the sod in which he lays.
Put these words upon his tomb,
"Taxes drove me to my doom."

And when he's gone they won't relax they'll still be after...
Inheritance Tax!

Strange Enough

One serious case of auto lust

I've checked my budget and I've weighed the options and it would seem that despite an incredibly overpowering case of auto lust I am going to be driving a '77 Chevy for the rest of my natural life.

For the last week I have been drooling every time a new car passes me on the highway. I lay awake nights dreaming of that new car smell. All I seem to think about is a new convertible/minivan/towncar/two seater.

In spite of this I know that there isn't a single penny in my limited budget to spare toward a new car. Or a new used car. Or a new abused car.

Oh, the pain of it all.

Actually I'm convinced that there is someone out there plotting against me in an effort to make me dive headlong into another bank loan.

It is conceivable that I could get another bank loan, all I would need would be a set of credentials including a fake I.D. and someone else's credit rating.

The last time I applied for a loan in person I knew I was in trouble when I saw a picture of me handing a loan officer the application for my last loan tacked on the back of a door with the caption "Need a good laugh?"

After this past weekend it seemed that the new car hunger had passed. I was eating breakfast and not even thinking about how badly I hated my car when I stumbled onto that little magazine type thing that they stick in there with the comics. On the cover were many of the choicest new cars on the market, inside were details about those cars.

By the time I put the thing down I was convinced that I simply could not function and live without a new Porsche, or at least the limited edition 10 cylinder Viper which Chrysler will soon be marketing.

Monday morning realities hit hard though, and I drove the old Chevy to work. During the drive I tried to convince myself that the old gold bomb wasn't such a bad car, even going so far as to con myself into thinking that it was a good car that loves me and is concerned for my welfare.

The car decided to welcome me to the real world by stalling and dying three times before finally giving out for good as I pulled into the parking lot.

Anybody have a Yugo I can borrow?

Notes

Lost in the crowd?

Perhaps it is time we declare October "Awareness Awareness" Month. Lately awareness campaigns have been flooding the media. By my count, October has been designated an "Awareness" month for fourteen different special interests. Just about everyone seems to be getting into the act of awareness.

Many of these campaigns represent problem-areas in our society that warrant our attention. Face it, we all need to be more informed about infertility, sudden infant death, mental health, and fire protection — even consumer information. Education in each of these fields can lead to our greater understanding of the world around us.

For example, many couples experience infertility. Knowing the causes of infertility and seeking help can resolve the problem quickly.

An even larger number of people experience, or know someone who experiences, mental illness at some time in their lives. Again, understanding the causes and the treatments can help us be compassionate rather than fearful. Our perceptions of mental illness have changed, thanks to awareness programs. The mental health field has also expanded into new areas. Many mental health centers have developed programs that address the stresses and teach us to cope with the pressures of living in today's world.

Unfortunately, "Awareness" campaigns have their commercial side, too. Yes, it seems that worthy causes are being trampled by a stampede of fortune hunters and money hounds. A list of some of the offenders: National Roller Skating Month, National Beer Month, National Pizza Month, National Clock Month, National Kitchen and Bath Month, National Chili Month, National Cosmetology Month, and National Car Care Month. Ok, my adoration of pizza leads me to believe there might be some socially redeeming value in National Pizza Month. Granted, everyone can learn to take better care of their cars during National Car Care Month. But National Kitchen and Bath Month? — sounds like pure opportunism.

These "gimmick awareness" campaigns may seem harmless, but they cloud the field and diminish the status of more important causes. Yes, it seems that "Awareness" programs will suffer the same fate as national holidays; too many, means too much. Does anyone remember what happened on Memorial Day before Richard Nixon made it a vacation opportunity? What about Arbor Day and Columbus Day? Don't forget that many schools used to suspend classes to allow students time with their families during the solemn Holy Week activities in preparation for Easter (as well as other religious holidays) — that holiday is now Spring Break.

The victims of this overkill nightmare are programs that benefit society through public education. Remember what the world was like before programs that educated us on issues like Drunk Driving, Pollution, and Seat Belts? Now we hold people who drink and drive responsible for their actions. Now we try to recycle our refuse and preserve our environment. Now we have reduced the number of people who might die needlessly in traffic accidents by encouraging friends and loved ones to buckle up.

This week's challenge: carefully examine the next "Awareness" campaign you see advertised. If it sounds like something that could benefit your family or enrich your life, pursue it and learn something new. But, if it sounds like something that could help empty your wallet and fatten someone else's purse, ignore it. Let's strike a blow at commercial opportunism by turning away from campaigns that cheapen our lives.

Dear Editor:

National Newspaper Week gives me an opportunity to express my sincere appreciation and respect for America's newspaper industry.

We here at the VA Regional Office are not only responsible for administering the benefits to our veterans, we also have the obligation of reaching out and informing them of those benefits. Each month we mail you our Question and Answer series which informs veterans of their benefits. We appreciate your willingness to print this in your paper providing a much needed service to our veterans in Kentucky.

Thank you for helping inform our veterans of the benefits they so richly deserve.

Dear Editor:

On July 4, 1990, at about 1:30 a.m., my son, Jeffrey Hall, had a car accident on Route 1428 near Emma. I have been very neglectful in not publicly expressing my thanks to those family, friends, neighbors and others who provided so much to us in our time of need. It is impossible to individually name each person who helped, but it is equally impossible to mention a few specific individuals who saved his life. To those we owe our undying gratitude: the woman who heard the crash and cared enough to call the State Police; to Trooper Hazelett who searched the weeds with a flash-

Welcome to the 9th Annual Jenny Wiley Festival

October 8 thru October 13, 1990

Welcome

Welcome to the Jenny Wiley Festival. It is my great honor to introduce you to the spirit of Jenny Wiley. I proudly present a festival dedicated to remembering a person that with which each of us can identify. A person that has had a recorded experience, which can be related to our existence in the mountains and I treasure the memories they have created. I long to have each of you remember with me, "Who is Jenny Wiley?"

The question, although not correct in grammar, is correct in mountain philosophy. It is true Jenny Wiley is no longer with us in the sensory realm, but she still lives in history. She represents the will and fortitude that all mountain women possess. A woman that history recounts as enduring great hardships and not realizing the greatness of her accomplishments. She epitomizes the women that helped settle, conquer and continues to conquer the mountains. The mountains are serene and unforgiving, they exhalt the spirit and render harsh reality common place. A blinding love for and a humble respect for the mountains keeps the people enthralled by, enthused by and sometimes engulfed by the mountains

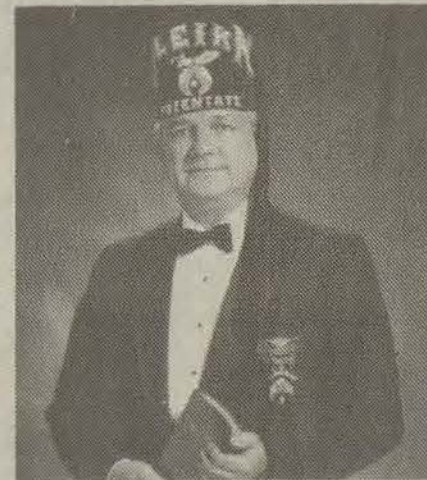

We should take solitude in the fact that Jenny Wiley is an example of our own heritage that we sometimes take for granted. She is a part of us that takes us through the coal mine disasters, the floods and the economic hard time. She is part of us that enjoys the fog capped mountains, springs, the lush green summers, the blazen colors of fall and the harsh drabness of winter that is only God's contrast to remind us we are vulnerable.

Jenny Wiley is a part of each of us. She exemplifies the mountain spirit and the grindstone attitude that we are here to stay.

Jenny Wiley Festivals Past

Jenny Wiley Festival : A History of Mountain Heritage

The Jenny Wiley Festival was first celebrated in the City of Prestonsburg in 1982. The brainchild Edward L. and Maxine Bierman, the festival was developed to promote tourism and Prestonsburg's local history.

Arville Wheeler, author of both White Squaw and The Jenny Wiley Story, was the Grand Marshall of the Jenny Wiley Festival Parade that first year. Alicia Setser was crowned the first Miss Jenny Wiley.

The Bierman's concentrated on spotlighting those who had contributed to the growth of these mountains. That tradition has continued in the selection of each year's Parade Grand Marshall. Many prominent East Kentuckians have graced our parade routes. Former Kentucky Governor Bert T. Combs was Grand Marshall of the parade in 1983. Other former Grand Marshalls include Mary Elizabeth Quint (1984), Past President of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs; June Buchanan (1985), co-founder of Alice Lloyd College; Robin Stone (1986), International Order of Rainbow for Girls; Barbara Gullet (1987), Order of the Eastern Star; William "Bosh" Petrey (1988), Grand Master of Masons; and Gordon Ray Parido (1989), Kentucky High School Coach of the Year.

Those who have worn the crown of Miss Jenny Wiley include Theresa Campbell (1983), Kimberly Rae Akers (1984), Paula Spencer (1985), Kathy Janelle Horn (1986), Erica Turner (1987), Kathy Jo Harmon (1988), and Geena Bailey (1988).

The growing tradition of the Jenny Wiley Festival continues in 1990 with the selection of Jane Osborne Short as Miss Jenny Wiley. Grand Marshall of the Parade will be Kelly Moore.

The Prestonsburg Tourism, Recreation and Convention Commission Welcomes you to Prestonsburg's 9th Annual Jenny Wiley Festival. We hope you enjoy the various special activities and fine lodging and dining in town.

"This is my heritage," said Carol Likens as she watched workers methodically disassembling the log home of her ancestors. "I feel good about what they are doing though, because I know that they are going to rebuild it in original or better condition."

The home which was built by the Beaux Burnett family around 1834, is located on Route 122 at Minnie, and was the spot where the Turner family originally settled in Floyd County.

The home was reportedly purchased in the late 1800's by Floyd County settler John "Bull" Turner and family, who passed the estate on to W.J. Turner and family. Ray Turner later bought the property and leased the home to lifelong resident Bee "Bird" Turner, who was the last person known to live in the house. Raymond Turner left the property to his daughter June Likens, who in turn left the homestead to her daughter Carol.

Seven children were born in the home to John "Bull" and wife Jemima "Swit" Turner. Dolly Turner (who later married D.B. Gibson), Mary Turner, W.J. Turner (who married Cicely Robinette of Drift), Charlie Turner (who married Hattie Martin), Bee Bird Turner, Lizzie Turner (who was first married to

Moving to Pikeville

This 1834 log home at Minnie will soon be moved to Pike County by new owners Paul and Edda Chaney. Each log taken from the house was marked and the Chaney's hope to someday make the home a museum.

William Turner and later married Edward Hall) and Lee Turner were all born in the old log home. Two of the children, Mary and Lee, later died in the home, as did their father John "Bull" Turner.

"I've found out a lot about the old log home since they've started taking it apart," said Carol Likens. "The logs used in the home were grown in the bottom across the road from the house, and the way the logs are notched allows the logs to tighten down as the wind blows harder. The weather boards were put on the house by Jeff and Ted Shannon approximately 33 years ago to protect the big logs. Ted told me that the weather boards came from old camp houses that were torn down at Star Bottom.

Likens rests assured that the dignity of the old log home will be preserved by the new owners of the structure, Paul and Edda Chaney of Pike County. The Chaney's spent considerable time marking and numbering every major log and plank in the home before starting the laborious task of disassembling the home. "They plan to make this place as close to original as possible," said Likens. "When they are done this home should look just as it has for years. He is really into genealogy and said that he would like to eventually make the place a museum."

Programs provided in honor of Family Health Month

Prestonsburg Community College and The Floyd County Health Department will be offering programs in honor of Family Health Month and National Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

The Floyd County Health Department will provide services at both the Jenny Wiley Festival in Prestonsburg and the Red, White & Blue Festival in Martin.

On Saturday, Oct. 13, the Health Department will check cholesterol levels at the Jenny Wiley Festival. They will be stationed in front of Rose's Fountain on Court Street. On Saturday, Oct. 20, they will check cholesterol levels at the Red, White & Blue Festival. They will be stationed at the IGA Store. These cholesterol checks are provided free to the public.

The American Academy of Family Physicians designated October "Family Health Month" to stress the importance of forming a partnership for health with your family physician.

Everyone is urged to take a close look at their health habits during the month of October. A personal inventory includes an examination of eating habits, physical fitness, mental health, tobacco and alcohol abuse and health hazards in the home.

October is also National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. About one out of ten women alive today will develop breast cancer at some point in her life. It is estimated that 44,000 females and 300 males will die of breast cancer in 1990 and it is the leading cause of death in women between the ages of 40 and 44.

Prestonsburg Community College and The Prestonsburg Woman's Club is sponsoring a Breast Cancer Awareness Program designed to increase public knowledge concerning the second-leading cancer-killer among women in the United States today.

Denise Queen, Director of the Breast Center at Highlands Regional Medical center will address the issue of breast cancer and what women should be doing to protect themselves from this killer.

The program will be held at the First Presbyterian Church in Prestonsburg on Thursday, Oct. 18, at 7 p.m. Refreshments will be served, everyone is welcome to attend.

Aloe Vera!

An Aloe Vera plant growing on a windowsill is a delight to the eyes of house plant lovers. It holds a good first-aid cream in its leaves. Most everyone knows its value in the healing of burns, some call it the "Burn Plant" for this reason. The jelly-like substance in the leaves relieves the pain of burns, sunburns, bee stings, diaper rash, mosquito bites and many other little itches and aches that come along.

Aloe Vera is a member of the lily family. There are many common varieties. Some have sharp spines, but not with spines sharp enough to really hurt or puncture the skin. Aloes have been used for years and are even mentioned in the Bible. When Nicodemus came to help bury the body of Christ he brought a mixture of Myrrh and Aloe.

Aloe Vera is a sun-loving succulent and tolerates a wide range of temperature changes. It will bear a light frost if left outside too long, yet it thrives in the dry heat of the house in winter. What seems to bother this plant is sudden moves from one extreme to another and over watering. When you do water it, soak it thoroughly until water comes out the drainage holes in the bottom of the pot.

light until he found Jeff and as wise enough not to move him and to keep him talking until the ambulance arrived; to the Respond Ambulance crew who prevented further injury by seeing that he was properly transported; to the Highlands Regional Emergency Room, Staff, Sandy Combs, R. N., Dr. Mendoza, Dr. Basha, and all the rest who kept him alive until the helicopter arrived; and to the staff of Cabell-Huntington Hospital for their expert care.

I could never have survived emotionally without the love, support, and prayers of my co-workers at Highlands Regional. They are special people. We are indebted to those friends who sponsored the bowling tournament to help pay for the extensive (and expensive) modifications to make our home wheelchair accessible. We will never be able to forget the prayers and financial support from our church (Mormon) at Martin. There are so many more who need to know how much we appreciate their help and I think they know who they are, but I do wish I had space to list them individually.

We have all learned how precious life is and how suddenly your whole perception of what is important can change. Jeff is home and doing well. We do not know what the future holds, but we now are sure that, with the help of our Heavenly Father, we can face what ever comes our way. Again, thanks to all of you who helped in any way. You will never be forgotten.

Veterans Parade
Jefferson County Judge/Executive Dave Armstrong recently announced plans for the largest Veterans Day Parade held in Louisville in the past three decades.

As the centerpiece of Armstrong's two-day "Jefferson County Regional Veterans Day Celebration," the multi-unit entourage will begin at 10 a.m., Saturday, Nov. 10, at Dixie Highway and Greenwood Road and run south nearly two miles to Johnstown Road.

"With so many of our men and women answering the call to duty in the Middle East, this is an especially appropriate time to express our gratitude and patriotism," Armstrong said.

The celebration includes rededication of the World War II Memorial on the Jefferson County Courthouse lawn on November 9 at noon. During the ceremony a symbolic wreath will be placed at the base of the memorial.

Following the November 10 parade, Armstrong will lead a contingent of military and other dignitaries in a ceremony to rededicate Kentucky's first Vietnam Memorial, which has found a permanent home at the Southwest Government Centers, 7219 Dixie Highway.

The parade will include marching units from all branches of the service, a World War II Sherman tank, a half-track from the Patton Museum, color guards, the 113th Army and Army National Guard bands, high school marching bands, a Phalanx missile launcher and floats.

All events are free and open to the public.

Reunions

The Stumbo family held its reunion on September 1 at the Civic Center in Stumbo Memorial Park in Allen, Ky.

Family members from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stumbo of Plano, Ill., Gerry Hall Fulton of Louisville, Michelle Keathley of Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Stumbo and family of Columbus, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hosford and grandson of Tiger, Ga., Dennis and Eileen Cable of Evansville, Ind., Irene Brown of Ashland, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Hall of New London, Ohio, Barbara (Stumbo) Simpson and daughters of Flat River, Mo., Claudette (Stumbo) Reaume of Ypsilanti, Mich., Andrea Stumbo Blevins of Rey, Ohio, and Jared Blevins of Rey, Ohio.

Everyone enjoyed seeing each other and sharing good food. The gathering attracted 74 family members and the Stumbo family hopes more will attend in 1991. The reunion is scheduled for the last Saturday in July next year, so mark those calendars!

Friday, October 12
 285th Day, 80 Remaining
Columbus Day (Traditional):
 Public holiday in most countries in the Americas and in most Spanish-speaking countries. Observed under different names and on different dates (most often, as in US, on the second Monday in Oct.) This date marks the anniversary of Christopher Columbus's arrival in 1492, after a dangerous voyage across "shoreless Seas," at the Bahamian Island of Guanahani, which he renamed El Salvador and claimed in the name of the Spanish crown. In his Journal, he wrote: "As I saw that they (the natives) were friendly to us, and perceived that they could be much more easily converted to our holy faith by gentle means than by force, I presented them with some red caps, and strings of beads to wear upon the neck, and many other trifles of small value, wherewith they were much delighted, and became wonderfully attached to us."

Haunted Train: Authentic railroad cars filled with ghouls, ghosts and ghoulish goblins are available for tour in Indianapolis, Ind through October 31. For more information, contact: Union Station Assn, PR Dept. 39 W. Jackson, Indianapolis, IN 46225. Proceeds go to the American Heart Association.

National Bookkeeper's Day: Held annually to acknowledge the importance of bookkeepers in every organization. Held the second Friday in October and the last day of National Bookkeeper's Week. Sponsored by Cynthia Ann Holcomb, CH Business Acct. Agency, 700 E. Lake Dr. Ste 122, Orange, CA 92666.

Notable Births: Susan Anton, singer, actress, born at Yucaipa, CA, 1950; Kirk Cameron, actor, born at Panorama City, CA, 1970; Jean Nidetch, founder of Weight Watchers, born at Brooklyn, NY, 1923.

Alaska Day Celebration:
 Celebration of the transfer ceremony in which the Russian flag was lowered and the Stars and Stripes raised, formally transferring the ownership of Alaska to the United States. For more information contact: Sitka Visitors Bureau, Box 1226, Sitka, AK 99835.

Navy Birthday: On this day in 1775 legislation was passed by Second Continental Congress authorizing the acquisition of ships and establishment of a navy.

Molly Pitcher Birth Anniversary: Molly Pitcher, heroine of the American Revolution, was a water carrier at the Battle of Monmouth (Sunday, June 28, 1778) where she distinguished herself by loading and firing a cannon after her husband, John Hays, was wounded. Affectionately known as "Sergeant Molly" after General Washington issued her a warrant as a noncommissioned officer. Her real name was Mary Hays McCauley (nee Ludwig). Born near Trenton, NJ, on this day in 1754, she died at Carlisle, PA on Jan. 22, 1832.

The White House Birthday: The presidential residence at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Northwest, in Washington, D.C., designed by James Hoban (q.v.) observes its birthday. The cornerstone was laid on this day in 1792, and the first presidential family to occupy it was that of John Adams, in Nov. 1800. With three stories and more than 100 rooms, the White House is the oldest building in Washington, DC. First described as the "presidential palace," it acquired the name "White House" about 10 years after construction was completed. Burned by British troops in 1814, it was reconstructed, refurbished and reoccupied by 1817.

Notable Births: Arthur Garfunkel, singer, actor, born at Forest Hills, NY, 1942; Marie Osmond, actress, singer, born at Ogden, UT, 1959; Margaret Hilda Roberts Thatcher, Prime Minister of England, born at Grantham, England, 1925.

Quotes and Quibbles

 Associate Professor, PCC

Going to college for the first time or returning after a number of years away from a formal educational setting can be a forbidding experience for any adult. I often hear returning students say, "I'm scared to death! I don't know what to expect, and I don't know if I can do it." To begin, if they didn't think they could do it, they probably would not, in all likelihood, be here, so surely their fear comes from the unknown — what to expect.

I find that the most frequent fear of returning adult students is the fear of being different because they are older. However, the median age of college students is on the rise. Whether a career change or required continuing education is the reason, most adults, at some point, find themselves returning to the classroom. Be assured, you will not stand out, and you will not be alone.

The next most common fear is not knowing what to expect in the classroom. Although you will encounter various teaching styles and techniques, the most common ones are outlined in Michael W. Galbraith's latest book, "Adult Learning Methods" (1990). Although each teacher will come into the classroom with his/her own philosophical orientation and teaching style, you can probably expect to encounter one or more of the following teaching techniques.

The lecture is probably one technique the returning student most often anticipates. According to Galbraith, when the primary goal of the class is informative, this is still a common and effective teaching method. The college student can expect, however, that the lecturer will be well informed on the subject matter and will present the material in a clear, precise, and orderly manner. Most teachers encourage a verbal dialogue with the students during the lecture or immediately after the lecture by allowing time for questions. The learner's responsibility is to come to the class prepared and ready to learn, to listen well, and to engage in critical thinking on the subject. Since most lecturers narrow their topic to three or four essential concepts, note-taking should not be a problem if the student is truly engaged in the learning process.

Class discussion is another common teaching technique outlined by Galbraith. Although discussion themes may be pre-set, this is a very flexible setting where the unanticipated response is welcomed. That is not to say that students can say just anything; discussion requires the student to think through responses carefully, to present ideas clearly, to anticipate other students' responses, and to interpret other students' ideas. As Galbraith points out, discussion requires collaborative efforts by both the teacher and the students. In concluding his thoughts on discussion, Galbraith notes that participation "in the sprawling, wayward, emotional charged activity we know as discussion represents for many adult learners the quintessential adult educational experience."

My favorite learning, and teaching, technique is the mentorship. The mentorship philosophy lends itself to effective instruction in the developmental classroom, my teaching territory. Galbraith writes, "The aim of effective mentorship... is to promote the development of the learner." This teaching technique requires a balance between challenge and support. Galbraith notes that challenge with too little support can discourage a learner; therefore, the wise mentor recognizes when a student "needs to be held, when even a little challenge can be too much." Yet, the mentor provides structure, expectations, and guidance, all in due time. Mentors have to learn to "read their students." In college, a mentor can serve as a "transitional figure" to a successful college career. If you are returning to school, seek out a mentor. At PCC, you can find many.

Computer-enriched instruction is a relatively new teaching technique, and like mentorship, it is often encountered in the developmental classroom. Galbraith cites a 1987 study by Kulik and Kulik that, in general, states students learned more — in less time — and enjoyed learning more when they reached computer assistance in an educational setting. In my experience, there is little doubt that computers can facilitate learning, but I also know they have their limitations; they cannot replace teachers. Plus, obtaining educational software for the mature learner is often a problem, and computers can be frightening to a computer shy adult. But once a student becomes computer-wise, self-esteem seems to grow, enabling the student to take the necessary risks to learn. Besides computer technology is a reality of our world, and the sooner you are comfortable at a computer, the better.

Although these are just a sampling of Galbraith's adult learning methods, they represent a little of the old, a little of the new, and a little of what you can expect if you come back to school.

In conclusion, I think most college educators will agree with Galbraith, "Helping adults learn is an exciting, challenging, exhilarating, and rewarding process." If this is so for the educators, then it is surely so for the students.

Assessment Workshop to be held Oct. 17

A free workshop called "Assessing Psychosocial and Material Needs" will be given at St. Martha Catholic Church, Route 3, Prestonsburg, on Wednesday, Oct. 17, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The workshop is being sponsored by the Catholic Social Service Bureau and its' outreach offices.

"We expect this program to be of interest to professional social workers, church workers, and the paid and volunteer staff people of helping agencies," said Gwen Hall, counselor for CSSB's outreach office in Prestonsburg. "It is an opportunity to learn or review skills which help us accurately size up clients' situations and problems." Good assessments help us respond appropriately to needs by providing services or referring to the agency or person who can."

Workshop presenters are Barb Mulligan, MSW, CCSB Counselor, Lexington, and Ginny Lunsford, BSW, CCSB Emergency Services Coordinator, Lexington. Both presenters received their social work degrees from the University of Kentucky.

Participants do not need to preregister. Registration will take place at 9:30 a.m. October 17 in the church hall.

Participants are encouraged to bring a sack lunch. Soft drinks will be provided.

For more information, contact Gwen Hall at 874-9170 or Sister Nancy Casey at 573-2329.

Ministers to meet at McDowell Appalachian

The McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital will host a meeting of area ministers on Tuesday, Oct. 16, starting at 4:30 p.m. and concluding at 8 p.m. The goal of the program is to assist ministers to become better acquainted in the hospital and to make their ministry to patients and family more effective.

The programs will be presented by Ed Collins, Administrator of the McDowell Hospital, and by Rev. Charles N. Wilcox of Hazard, Ky., an A.R.H. Chaplaincy Program Consultant.

Those attending the events will be the guest of the hospital for the evening meal. Following the meal, a concluding program will be presented by Rev. T. W. Schuler, of Williamson, West Virginia, an A.R.H. Chaplaincy Program Consultant.

All area ministers are invited to attend the program, which has become an annual event for the McDowell Hospital. Reservations to attend are not required, but a reservation for the meal is requested. Please call the hospital at (606)377-3401, to request a reservation for the evening meal. There will be no charge for the program or meal.

A.R.H. is a not-for-profit health care system with over 26 years of service to central Appalachia. A.R.H. operates hospitals, ambulatory clinics, pharmacies, and home health services in Hazard, Harlan, Whitesburg, Middlesboro, West Liberty, McDowell, and South Williamson in Kentucky, Man, Beckley and Grafton in West Virginia; and in Wise, Virginia.

Gospel Quartet Convention

With only the flames of candles illuminating Renfro Village, a prayer for peace will be offered Saturday night, October 20, during Renfro Valley's Quartet Convention Weekend. Renfro Village is located in Renfro Valley at Exit 62 of I-75 in Southeast Kentucky.

"This is a time when we need to join in prayer for our country and the brave men who have committed to fight for our freedom," says Teresa Renner, Renfro Valley's Gospel Events Coordinator. The prayer will be offered during "Candles at Midnight," a free candlelight outdoor sing-a-long which is part of the annual Quartet Convention in Renfro Valley. Everyone is encouraged to bring a candle or purchase a commemorative candle from the candle shop in Renfro Village.

Renfro Valley's annual Quartet Convention will kick off on Saturday, Oct. 20, at 10 a.m. with a Talent Search. Groups and soloists will perform before Renfro Valley talent scouts as well as representatives from recording companies and radio stations. The winner will perform on the Mountain Gospel Jubilee, Renfro Valley's weekly gospel program that begins at 4 p.m. in the Old Barn. Tickets for the Talent Search are $3 and $8 for the Mountain Gospel Jubilee. Children twelve and under are half-price.

Saturday at 1 p.m., between the Talent Search and the Mountain Gospel Jubilee, a concert featuring

The Renners and The Isaacs will take place in Renfro Valley's New Barn. These are both family groups who are known nationally for their musical talents. Both gospel groups will perform original songs as well as familiar hymns in styles ranging from bluegrass to light contemporary. Tickets for this concert are $8 for adults and half-price for children twelve and under.

The Kingsmen will be in concert

Sunday, Oct. 21, at 3 p.m. in the New Barn as part of Renfro Valley's Quartet Convention Weekend. This popular gospel quartet draws thousands of people to their concerts across the nation. The Kingsmen have won numerous awards and are known for exciting and enjoyable performances. Tickets for this concert are $10 for adults and half-price for children twelve and under.

A pass for Saturday's Quartet Convention events is $17 for adults, a weekend pass including all events related to Renfro Valley's Quartet Convention is $25 for adults. Children twelve and under are half-price.

Call 1-800-765-SING to reserve tickets.

Floyd County 4-H Champions

Floyd County is proud of Ben Moore, Jeff Moore and Frank Martin who each earned the title of Kentucky 4-H Champion at the 1990 State Fair. In doing so, the three continue a longstanding Floyd County 4-H tradition.

The Allen Central High School students competed in the 4-H Poultry Judging Competition where members classify the quality of eggs and meats and judge the egg production of hens. To do well in the competition, a successful competitor must have a sharp eye, exhibit basic knowledge of chickens and turkeys and maintain poise in explaining reasons for grading and placement.

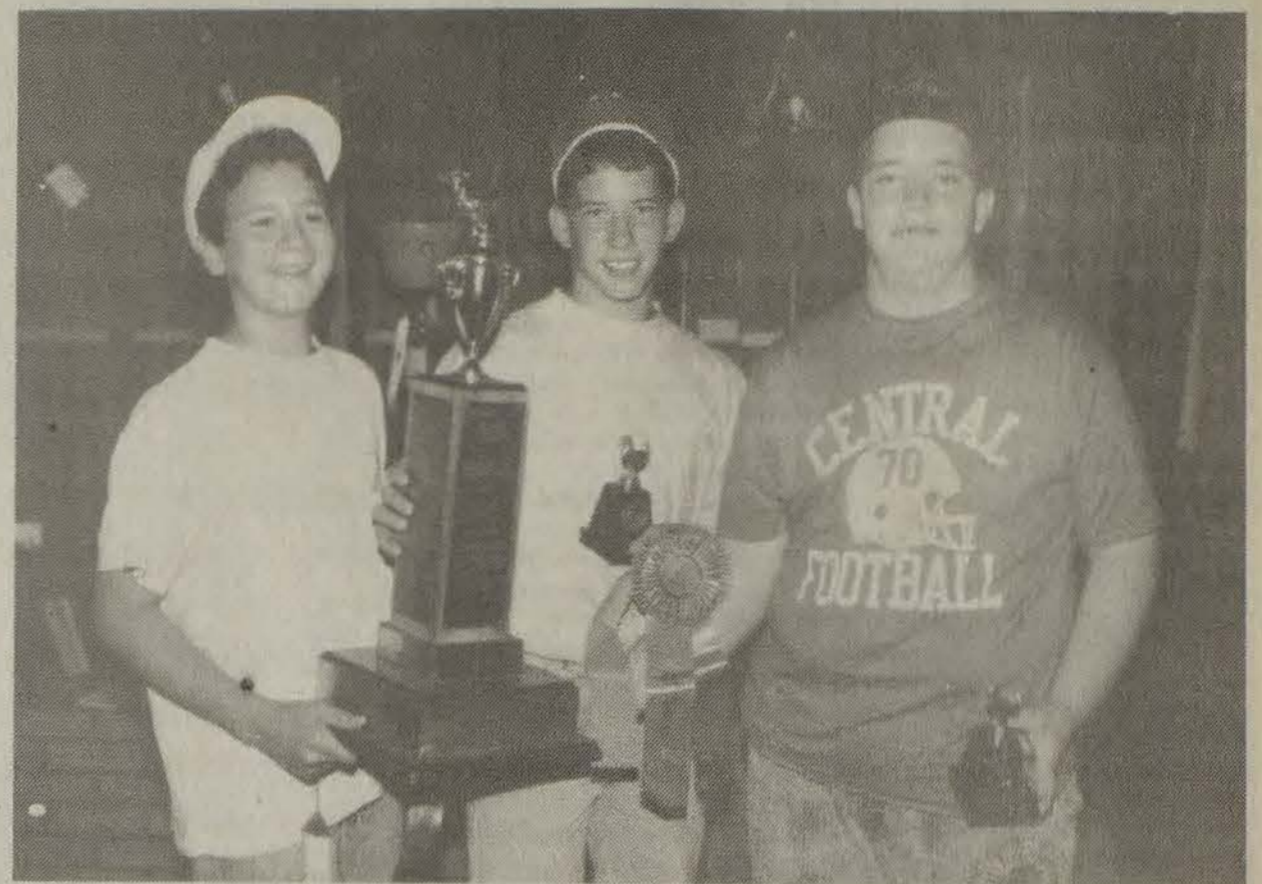

Participants earning the top four scores during the competition are declared state champions and will represent Kentucky in the national finals to be held November 14 through 16 in Louisville. Ben Moore finished first with the highest overall score. Wendy Berry of Lawrence County finished second, Jeff Moore ranked third and Frank Martin grabbed the fourth and final slot to place as a champion.

Each 4-H Champion in this competition received a Rosette ribbon and a trophy. For accumulating the top team score Floyd County received a trophy, which was sponsored by the Kentucky Poultry Improvement Association. The trophy is engraved with the names of the state champions and is held by the county that wins it until next year's competition.

Floyd County was also represented by a Junior Team which included Todd Howard, Chad Martin and Ethan Martin, all of whom attend Maytown Elementary School. The state fair is the final level of competition for this team because there is not a junior age division at the national competition. Each member of this team received a Red Ribbon for their efforts.

Floyd county 4-H/Youth Development Agent Willard Knipp expressed his appreciation to the parents and schools who supplied moral support to those participating in the competition. He also expressed thanks to J. J. and Edith Martin and Jerry and Judy Howard who served as chaperones on the trip.

Floyd County Champions

Floyd County 4-H members hold the trophy they won at the Kentucky State Fair for the 4-H Poultry Judging Competition. Champions Ben Moore, Frank Martin and Jeff Moore will represent Kentucky at the national competition.

PHS Academic Team sizzles for sixth season

The Prestonsburg High School Academic Team is on top of the Jenny Wiley Academic Conference ratings after the first week of competition. The 1990-91 season opened on Saturday, Sept. 29, for Prestonsburg High School's Academic Team who competed with the Shelby Valley High School team. A total of 33 students participated in both written assessment examinations and quick recall matches.

PHS Coach John Patton was proud of his team's performance. Mike Partington earned third place in science and fourth place in math. Mark Blackburn earned fourth place in social studies.

Other students showed a great deal of promise. Carter Hamilton earned sixth place in science. In humanities, Jody Wallen finished in ninth place and Emily Damron took twelfth place.

PHS squared off against the "buzzernauts" of Sheldon Clark High School, one of the finest quick recall teams in Eastern Kentucky, in the opening round of quick recall matches. The "academic cats" of PHS got back on track with successive victories over school teams from Millard, Belfry and Phelps. On Thursday, Oct. 4, PHS stretched their winning streak to five games with back-to-back wins over June Buchanan High School.

This year's members of the acaademic team are Mike Partington, Mark Blackburn, Mamata Majmudar, Jody Wallen, Carter Hamilton, Adam Recktenwald, Randall Colvin, Mike Bakay, Latesha Shepherd, Tonya Hale, Chris McKinney, Mike Maynard, Philipp Caudill, Rick Nunnery, Emily Damron, Kevin Farthing, Chris Bailey, B. J. Tussey, Jessica Ray, and Tonia Vance.

Any parent or citizen interested in officiating at quick recall competitions at the Prestonsburg High School during the Jenny Wiley Academic Conference meets on Saturday, Oct. 13, may contact either Brenda Fish or John Neal Patton at 886-2252. Your support is much needed and would be sincerely appreciated.

Next Week is Education week

Several agencies have set aside October 14 through 20 to focus awareness on different aspects of education. Next week is designated as School Lunch Week, School Bus Safety Week and Higher Education Week.

Healthy Choices!

Governor Wallace G. Wilkinson has proclaimed October 14 through 20 School Lunch Week. In celebration of this event, parents are encouraged to join their children for lunch at their school.

The theme of this celebration is "School Lunch—Healthy Choices." Many healthy food choices are offered in school cafeterias. The school lunch program must offer a meat dish (beef, pork, chicken, fish or other protein item) for building muscle; two or more servings of vegetables or fruit to provide Vitamins A and C; one or two servings of bread or pasta which provide complex carbohydrates for energy; and milk for calcium to build bones. These programs provide about one-third of the nutrients children need to grow.

In the Floyd County school system an estimated 6,500 school lunches are served each day. The program is dedicated to the health and well-being of Floyd County's children. In Kentucky, three out of four children eat school lunches.

Safety Choices!

During School Bus Safety Week the National Safety Council urges school officials and parents to teach children the proper ways to approach and leave a bus stop, how to board and exit a bus, and pedestrian safety.

This year, 22 million students will be transported by a school vehicle. In the 1988-1989 school year, school bus transportation accidents killed an estimated 35 pupils. More than half of these accidents resulted while the student was boarding or leaving the bus.

Loading the bus

Parents and teachers should accept the responsibility of teaching young children how to properly enter and exit a school bus. The following are safety tips that all children should practice:

— Allow enough time in the morning to get to the bus without hurrying.

— At the bus stop, wait a safe distance from the roadway. Don't "horse" around and refrain from going into the street, alleys or private property.

— When boarding the bus, wait for the vehicle to come to a complete stop before boarding. Then, using the handrails, enter the bus and find a seat quickly.

— When exiting the bus, wait for it to stop completely before getting up from your seat. Walk to the front door and exit using the handrails. If you have to cross in front of the bus, walk ten feet ahead of the bus along the side of the road, until you can turn around and see the driver. Stop and wait for the driver's signal to cross the street. Continue to look left, right, left. Stay clear of the bus's rear wheels at all times!

Pedestrian Safety!

School bus safety does not end once a child has left the bus. Since most of the school bus accidents occur outside the bus, having a child understand pedestrian safety is key to avoiding an accident. According to the Council, most pedestrian accidents are the fault of the walker, not the driver. Teach children these critical safety tips:

— When crossing a street, stop at the curb or the side of the road and look left, right, left. If the road is clear of oncoming vehicles, cross the road and continue to look left, right, left.

— If your view of traffic is blocked by parked cars or other obstacles, move out to where drivers can see you and you can see the vehicles.

— Walk directly across the streets. Walking diagonally increases the time you are exposed to cars.

— At intersections, be sure to look over your shoulder for turning vehicles.

— Never assume you have the right-of-way. Drivers may ignore traffic signs and signals, and sometimes even strike pedestrians in marked crosswalks.

— When there are no sidewalks, walk facing traffic and keep as far to the left of the road as possible.

— In bad weather, don't let your umbrella or jacket hood block your view of approaching cars. Allow extra time for vehicles to stop.

Make this school year safer by making sure your child knows the proper way to ride the bus to and from school.

College Choices!

Higher Education Week will also be celebrated October 14 through 20. It is sponsored nationally by the Washington-based Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) and by the Kentucky Council on Higher Education. The theme, "Generating Greatness in Every Generation," will emphasize the services of higher education to citizens of all generations, not just the "traditional" 18 to 24 year-old college student.

The Single Parent and Homemaker Program at Prestonsburg Community College is designed to meet the needs of these "non-traditional" students. In operation for nearly four years, the goal of the program is to promote economic independence in the lives of single parents and homemakers who are developing new career skills or furthering their education.

Activities in this program build self-confidence, counsel for career options, teach stress management methods, and establish group support. After participating in the program, many continue with developmental studies at PCC. Students who have been away from the classroom for a few years receive help in polishing their academic skills in English, reading and mathematics.

Once a program participant has made the decision to return to school, their tremendous willingness to succeed emerges. In Spring 1990, 93 percent of the enrolled participants completed the semester, a success rate that has remained consistent since the program's beginnings.

More than 300 individuals have taken advantage of this PCC program, increasing their knowledge of themselves and their resources as they move toward economic independence. For more information, contact Jean Rosenberg, program director, at 886-3863.

Pikeville College

A new exhibit opened recently at the Pikeville College Weber Art Gallery, featuring watercolors by Werner Mertz.

Mertz, who was born in Denmark, came to the United States as an acrobat in 1954. He graduated from Southern Illinois University in 1970, and has made his living as an artist since that time. He received a master's degree in fine arts from Radford University in 1988 and is currently an assistant professor of art at Clinch Valley College in Wise, Virginia.

His work will be on display at the Weber Art Gallery through October 28. Groups and individuals are welcome to tour the exhibit, which is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The Weber Art Gallery is located in the Armington Science-Learning Center. For more information, contact Gallery Director Janice Ford at (606)432-9316.

Appalfolks announce writing contest

Appalfolks of America Association, a non-profit corporation that promotes drug-free creativity in the literary and performing arts, is sponsoring five writing contests. The deadline for entries is November 1.

Based in Clifton Forge, Virginia, Appalfolks of America Association was founded by M. Ray Allen, a poet and journalist, in 1985. The newest of the creative writing contests is the Kate M. Reis Rhyming Poetry Contest which was founded this year in honor of Kate M. Reis, a 92 year-old poet from Vanceburg, Kentucky. This contest is open to all poets; however, entries must be original, unpublished poems.

The Jim Wayne Miller Poetry Contest has categories for both rhyming and free verse poetry. This contest is also open to all poets and entries must be original, unpublished poems.

The Albert F. Stewart High School Poetry Contest is open only to high school students, including graduating seniors, who are enrolled in school in 1990. Names of the writers of the three best poems in this contest will be engraved on a perpetual plaque located in Albert F. Stewart's split-log home on Yellow Mountain near Hindman, Ky.

In addition to the poetry contests, there are two other contests. The Elizabeth H. Corron Historical Essay Contest invites entries of essays on American heritage. Essays should be limited to 2,000 words.

The Milford Hall Sr. Christian Songwriting Contest is open to all songwriters whose works express Christian values. Entrants should send their song, recorded on a cassette tape (that will not be returned), that should be two and one-half to three and one-half minutes in duration.

Compete entry rules, awards and other contest information may be obtained by contacting Appalfolks of America Association, P.O. Box 613, Clifton Forge, Virginia, 24422.

Lees College Alumni Day

"A Celebration of Fall" is the theme selected for Lees College Alumni Day '90 to be held on Saturday, Oct. 20, from noon to 8:30 p.m. on the college's campus. The day's events will include an opening barbecue, horse-drawn wagon rides, student skits and an evening banquet featuring comedian Carl Hurley. Lees alumni and their families are invited.

Partington receives commendation

Robert May, principal of Prestonsburg High School, announced recently that Mike Partington has been named a Commended Student in the National Merit Scholarship Program. A Letter of Commendation from the school and National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the program, has been presented to this outstanding senior.

About 35,000 Commended Students nationwide are being honored for their outstanding performance on the 1989 PSAT/NMSQT, which places them in the top five percent of more than one million students who entered the 1991 Merit Program by taking the qualifying test. Commended Students scored slightly below the level required to continue in the 1991 competition for Merit Scholarships, but they have shown exceptional academic promise.

An official of the Merit Program stated, "Being named a Commended Student in this extremely competitive program is a credit to these young people and their schools. Commended Students were offered an opportunity to be referred by the Merit Program to two colleges or universities of their choice. We hope the referral service and the recognition Commended Students have earned will enhance their higher education opportunities and increase their motivation to use their abilities to the fullest. These young men and women represent an important intellectual resource which our nation needs."

Katie Harmon, PCC Princess

Katie Harmon, daughter of Paula and Kevin Shannon of Prestonsburg and Randy Harmon of Findlay, Ohio, has been crowned the Prestonsburg Community College Princess. She will represent PCC as a Princess on the UK Homecoming Queen Court. A sophomore performing arts major, Harmon would like to open her own dance studio and possibly become an actress. In 1988 Harmon was crowned Miss Jenny Wiley.

Fourth Grade Teacher
Auxier Grade School

Davida Bickford's fourth grade students at Auxier Grade School made volcanoes for a science project. Their recent study of volcanoes included viewing a factual video on the subject. Their interest heightened by the video, the students decided to make their own. They designed various exhibit forms and ideas for their volcanoes. After participating in a presentation that explained in detail how real volcanoes form and the stages of eruption, students "erupted" their own volcanoes using vinegar and baking soda. These fourth grade students did an excellent job on their project and in the meantime they learned many facts about volcanoes.

McDowell High named KET
School of the Day

McDowell High School has been selected as School of the Day for Thursday, Oct. 18, in KET's "Star Channels" interactive learning course German I.

One of the thirty Kentucky schools receiving the satellite-delivered, live high school course, McDowell will be featured during its 9 a.m. broadcast. Students enrolled are Beth Jones, Todd, Caldwell, Matt Mosley, Gwen Stumbo, Roger Martin, Kristi Pack, Shawn Salyer, Annette Hall, Carolee Hobson, Chris Sizemore, Franklin Stumbo, and Lisa Henry. The on-site classroom facilitator is Willie Elliott.

School of the Day is a special feature of all KET's interactive learning classrooms. Since it is taught by satellite across the state, spotlighting a school allows students in the far-flung classrooms to get to know one another and share in the instruction, said German I instructor Ruth Styles.

"Since learning a foreign language is about communication, we use 'School of the Day' as a communication tool," Styles said. Each featured school has the opportunity to use German with their fellow classmates across the state.

"It's an integral part of the class routine and the class instruction," she added. "I feel that it's really important students see that the language is something we use to communicate, not just something we learn about."

Tapp Award promotes KY History

Teachers across Kentucky are encouraged to submit entries for the sixth annual Hambleton Tapp Award. Sponsored by the Kentucky Historical Society, the award provides $1,000 to a teacher to develop a Kentucky history project for the classroom. Winners of the award in previous years have utilized oral history, photography, theater, music, and classroom exchange programs to teach students about Kentucky's history.

Teachers may enter by submitting a proposal outlining the educational goals, student involvement, schedule of activities, and estimated budget to the Kentucky Historical Society. The application deadline is December 15, 1990, and the winner will be named on March 15, 1991. Entries are judged by an independent panel of educators. Presentation of the award will be at the Society's Boone Day Celebration, June 7, 1991.

The competition honors Dr. Hambleton Tapp, teacher, author, and state historian emeritus of Kentucky. Information about the Tapp Award is available from the Educational Services Division, Kentucky Historical Society, P.O. Box H, Frankfort, Ky., 40602-2108; or by calling (502) 564-2662.

Editor's Note: The Times appreciates these contributions to our Academic section. We encourage students from all Floyd County schools to write articles about their classes, or about their schools, for publication in our newspaper. Your voice should be heard!

MSU

World Food Day

MSU will be the host site for the seventh annual World Food Day teleconference which will be aired from noon until 3 p.m. in the Eagle Dining Room, Adron Doran University Center. "Food for the Future: Science Policy and Ethics" will be the theme for the teleconference. Reservations can be made by calling Personnel Services at (606) 783-2097.

Technology Days

More than 2,000 high school students from Eastern Kentucky and surrounding areas are expected to visit MSU for World of Technology Days on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24 through 25. This annual event is designed to provide students an opportunity to learn about various aspects of technology. It is sponsored by MSU's College of Applied Sciences and Technology. Additional information is available from the College of Appliances and Technology at (606) 783-2023, or phone (606) 783-2417.

Public and Non-Profit Marketing

The Department of Management and Marketing will sponsor a conference on Tuesday, Oct. 16, from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Adron Doran University Center. The program, "Public and Non-Profit Marketing," is designed to inform the conference participants of the many organizations involved in a non-profit marketplace. Additional information is available from the Department of Management and Marketing at (606) 783-2164.

Nursing program

MSU's Continuing Education Program for nursing and allied health professionals will sponsor a "Geriatric Update" for registered and licensed practical nurses on Tuesday, Oct. 23, at Highlands Regional Medical Center in Prestonsburg. The workshop is designed for those who care for the elderly patient. Additional information is available from the Department of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences at (606) 783-2632.

Learning on the road

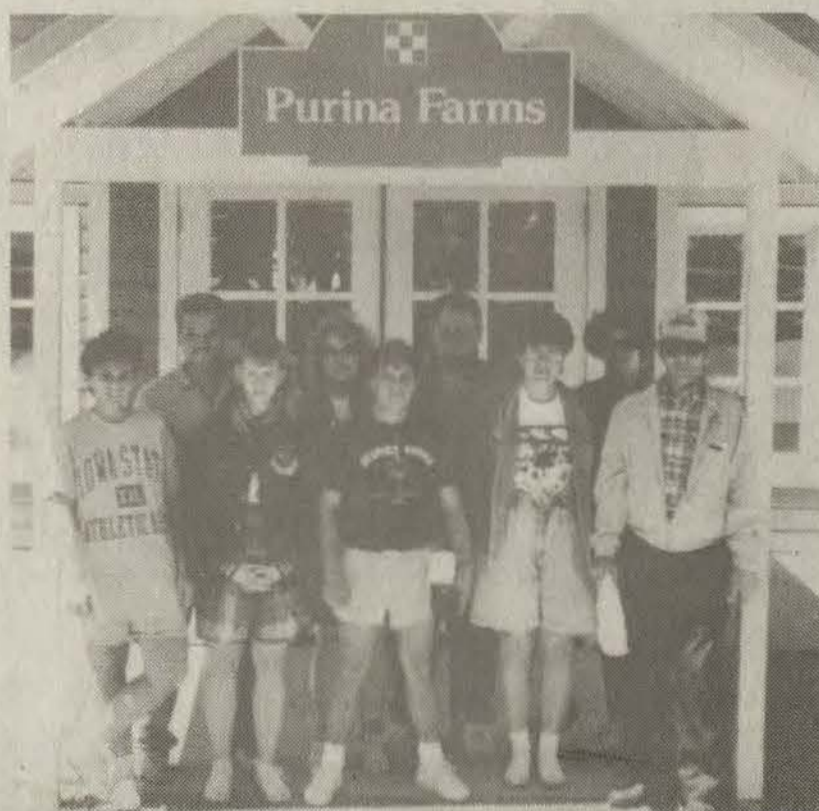

Keith Hackworth, of Prestonsburg, is participating in a unique program at the Morehead State University School of Agriculture. Hackworth and his fellow students recently got a chance to apply what they learn in the classroom as they traveled throughout the Midwest touring research farms and facilities.

Students in this mobile classroom, led by Dr. Joe Bendixen, professor of agriculture, studied various aspects of agriculture as they made an eight-day trip to twelve farms and companies that produce agricultural products. Among the places they visited were the John Deere tractor works at Waterloo, Iowa; Purina Mills research farms at Gray Summit, Mo.; the Botanical Gardens in St. Louis, and the Living History Farms in Des Moines, Iowa.

The purpose of the course was to teach the students to "appreciate agriculture in a broader scope," according to Bendixen. They learned that agriculture is more than just farming by getting the "opportunity to compare a contrast the agriculture industry in our country."

In spite of the long hours that they put in, the group had fun learning. Hackworth and his fellow students agreed that they gained "hands-on experience" through their "classroom on wheels" program that they would not have gained in the classroom alone.

Traveling classroom

Keith Hackworth (back row, second from right), of Prestonsburg, joined his fellow Morehead State University agriculture students as they took part in a special classroom-on-wheels program, where they applied what they had learned in their agriculture classes.

EDDIE BILLIPS

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER
DISTRICT #1

On October 1, 1990 I spoke of the need of improved morale in the Floyd County School System. I still feel that morale is a chief ingredient for improving our schools. This can be accomplished by involving the communities with the teachers and students. All working together for the common benefit of our children. We need organized PTA groups, volunteer groups to serve as teacher aides, and open meetings to discuss the additional needs and suggestions for our schools. It is a proven fact that by this means schools have been improved very dramatically. We must be involved and need to be involved to make a difference. We have been given a wonderful opportunity to change our schools and make this the best system in the nation. More tax money and buildings alone will not make the difference, only you can make that difference. By meeting together we will be able to discuss such things as:

- 1—Bus schedules and the need for more busses or different routing.
- 2—Your child's class schedule and what their classes will be. How much time they will have in actual classroom studies.
- 3—Facility needs and improvements.
- 4—Budgets and available programs for students.
- 5—Test scores and how we can improve.

At a time when the Owsley County Board of Education has received a $150,000 federal grant to finance a program that encourages parents to get involved in their local schools ask yourself how much you have been encouraged and how you have been treated when you tried. Recently the vice-president of the United States said, "Schools must dismantle a Berlin wall of rules that allow them to operate like a communist, state-run monopoly." It's time for us to make a change in the Floyd County School System.

Blackcats To Host Cardinals In Homecoming Game Tonight

When the Sheldon Clark Cardinals fly into Prestonsburg tonight to face a fired up Blackcat squad, you might notice that one wing could be drooping. The Cardinals could be without their starting (and a good one) quarterback Jesse Watts. Watts is doubtful starter for the homecoming game tonight but another Cardinal great, Mike Cooper, will definitely be out. Cooper suffered a shoulder injury and will be lost to the Cardinal attack. The 5-10, 195 junior will be missed in the Cardinal attack, but coach Jim Matney will still have the services of Chris Goss, 6-0, 175, running back. The Cardinals, 5-2, could replace Cooper with sophomore Greg Crum, 5-8, 140, in the backfield.

The Cardinals did, however, get some good news concerning wide receiver Jeff Blackburn. Blackburn was injured (neck) in a game against Phelps when a Phelps defender caught him by the face mask and turned his head severely. With three injured, one will return, one is doubtful and the other is definitely out.

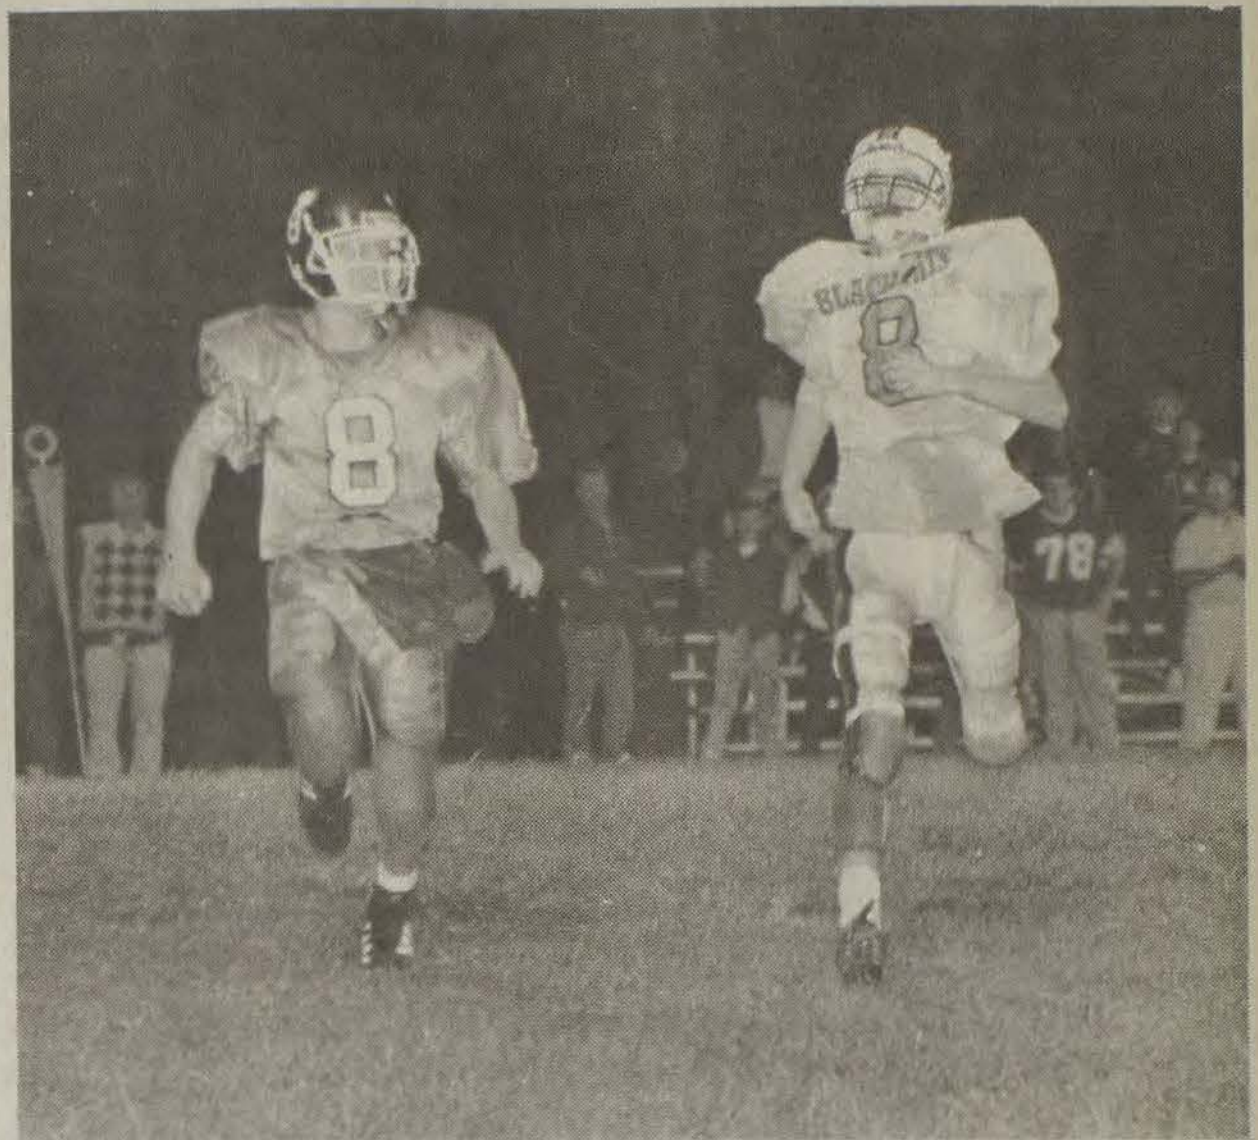

The Cardinals have been a high scoring team this year and have surprised many people, except Coach Matney who expected his ball club to perform well.

Prestonsburg will not only be sky high for the homecoming events, but the Cats are still basking in the 24-14 win over Leslie County last Friday night at Hyden. The Blackcats played one of their better games at the home of the Eagles. The hope here is that the good play will continue as Prestonsburg will use the Sheldon Clark game to keep the offense sharp as district games with Morgan County and M. C. Napier remain.

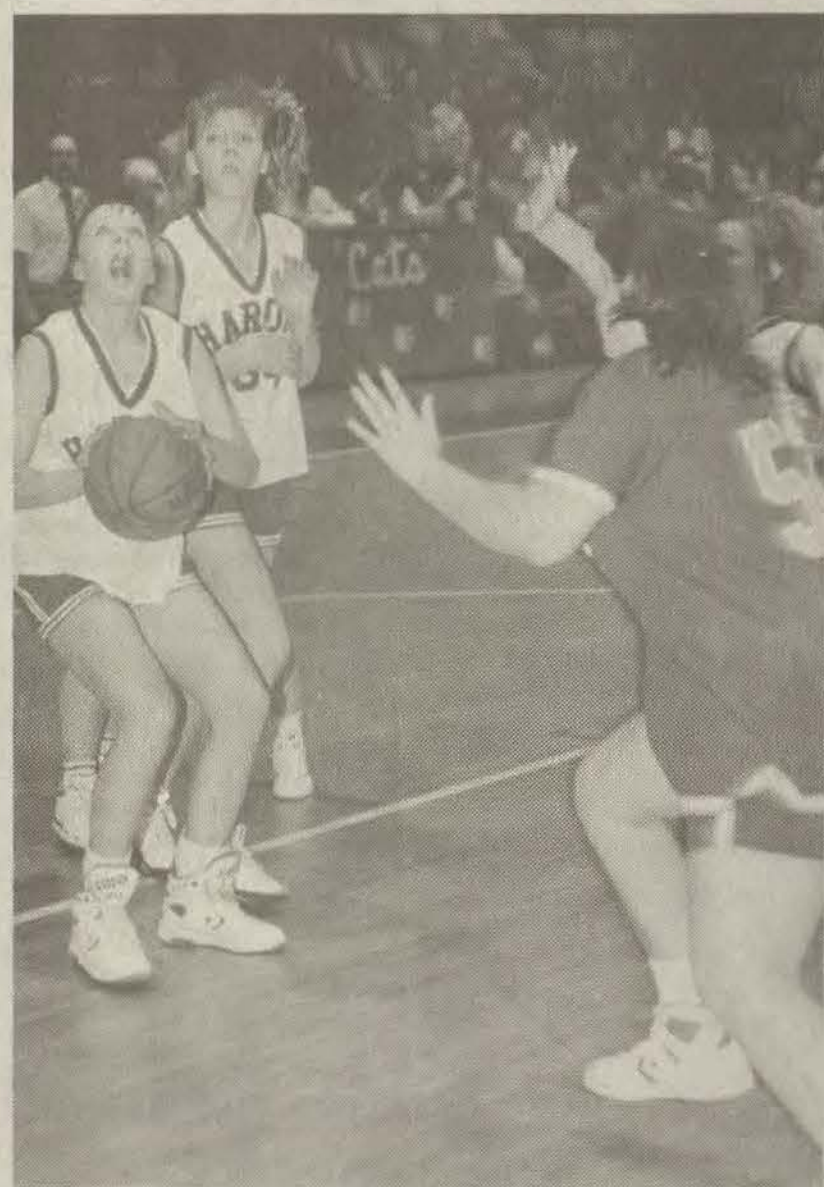

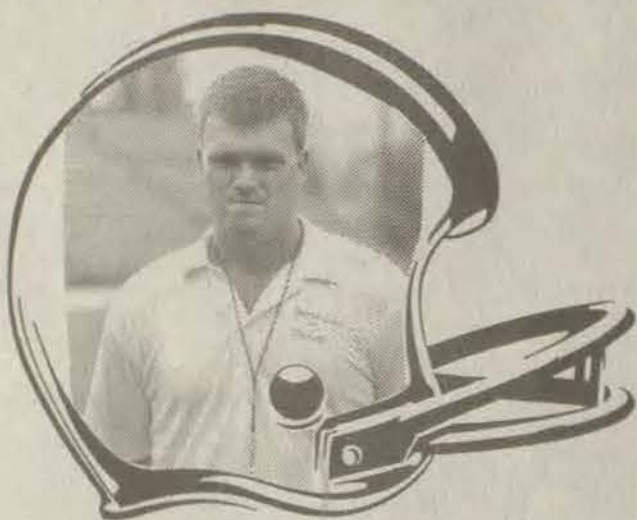

Injuries haven't been avoiding the Blackcats this season as halfback Allen James (injured at Belfry) will be out. Ronnie Goodman and Aaron Tucker have missed the past two games. Tucker, Prestonsburg starting quarterback, has suffered an injury to his ankle. But, according to Blackcat coach Bill Letton, Tucker is ready to go. Mike Hopson (5-11, 205) junior fullback, who played briefly in the Leslie County game, will definitely not play against the Cardinals. Hopson is suffering from a knee injury. Josh Hyden (6-0, 154) junior end, is another Blackcat who will not see ac-

Slone Tosses In 20 In Martin's 62-32 Win Over Harold

Chad Slone led a 24-1 run by the Martin Purple Flash in the third quarter to break open an otherwise close game enroute to a 62-32 victory over the Harold Red Devils at Betsy Layne Tuesday night. Slone scored 10 points in the run and finished the game with a high of 20 points.

Harold looked like a much improved team than what played Martin in the Right Beaver Classic earlier. Coach Eddie Rose's squad has shown more prowess on defense and it is moving better without the basketball.

The win was Martin's fifth without a defeat this season. The Purple Flash held an 11-point lead at the half. At one point they were up 17-10 when the Red Devils cut the lead to three, 17-14, on two freethrows by J.P. Skeans and a basket by Willie Meade. Martin then put together a 10-1 run to lead 28-15.

Martin took the opening tipoff and Toby Robinson broke free for a layup to put the Purple Flash ahead 2-0. Brad Kidd tied the game at 2-2 with a basket, then Martin went on a 9-2 run for a 11-4 lead. Two buckets by Meade cut it to three, 11-8, and then Robinson hit two jumpers to give Martin a 15-8 first quarter lead.

Martin emptied the bench in the later part of the third period and all of the fourth quarter as the "B" team got in some playing time. C.K. Dingus came off the bench for Martin to play a good game, scoring four points. Thomas Jenkins, Beau Tackett, Adam Coleman and Shane Blackburn each tossed in two points.

In the fourth quarter, Harold scored five unanswered points on a basket by Kevin Keathley and a three point play by Jackie Bush. The Flashes then outscored Harold 8-0 to open up a 62-27 lead. In the run Dingus scored his four points. Martin was without the services of Jason Bevins and Brian Conn for the game.

For Martin, Slone's 20 points led the Purple Flash. Robinson tossed in 12 points and Byron Gearheart added 11. Kevin Stumbo netted six points in the contest.

Meade was tops for Harold with 10 points. Bush, Keathley and Skeans each finished with four points. Dwayne Akers and Shawn Rose had two points.

Martin (62): Toby Robinson, 6 0-0 12; Kevin Stumbo, 3 1-0 6; Chad Slone, 9 4-2 20; Byron Gearheart, 5 3-1 11; C.K. Dingus, 2 0-0 4; Thomas Jenkins, 1 0-0 2; Kevin Robinson, 0 2-1 1; Beau Tackett, 1

Floyd, McKinney Lead Martin Over Harold Lady Red Devils

Veronica McKinney and Krystal Floyd combined for 24 points to lead the Martin Lady Flashes to a surprising 37-28 win over the Lady Devils of Harold. Surprising, because the last time these two teams met it was barnburner with Martin coming out with a three-point win. McKinney and Floyd each tossed in 12 points in their fifth win of the season.

Harold, the taller of the two teams, got two and three shots at the basket as they hit the offensive boards. The Lady Devil's attack was led by Jessica Hamilton, who tossed in eight points in the first quarter to give Harold a one-point advantage, 10-9. Hamilton had no problem controlling the boards. Martin held a 7-4 first period lead until the Lady Devils ran off six unanswered points to go up 10-7. Kathy Conn's basket just before the buzzer cut it to one.

The Lady Flashes were clinging to a two point lead, 23-21 at the end of the third period and Harold, on a bucket by Kelly Stanley tied the game 23-23 at the start of the fourth. Martin went to a 1-2-2 defense and caused Harold to force some of their shots. The Lady Flashes put together their running game and raced out to a 34-23 lead before the smoke had cleared. Conn led the Martin charge with six points. Harold cut the lead to six, 34-28, and that was the closest they could get as two free throws by Floyd and one by Conn set the final margin. Martin went to a stall with 1:42 remaining in the game after the Lady Devils cut the lead back to eight.

Conn finished the game with six points and she had nine rebounds. McKinney had 18 boards for Martin, 12 defensive and six offensive. McKinney played her usual game, picking

Newsome's 39 Points Helps Hand Martin First Defeat

It was a rematch game. They first met in the finals of the Right Beaver Classic at Martin. This time, Martin and John M. Stumbo met for the second time this season at the home of the Mustangs Wednesday night. A large crowd filled the small Stumbo gym to watch two of the county's finest grade school teams play once more. Eighth grader Derrick Newsome hit 19 of 24 freethrow attempts in scoring 39 points to lead the Mustangs of Stumbo to a 79-54 win over previously unbeaten Martin.

Martin, having to play without starter Jason Bevins, found the Stumbo press too much as they were guilty of turning the ball over several times.

"Our press was very effective against Martin," said Mustang coach Paul David Tackett. "We gave up several layups to them, but our press caused them to turn the ball over and it evened itself out."

"We played good team ball tonight and the players performed well," continued Tackett. "Derrick and Stevie played an excellent game. Rocky (Newsome), although he did not score much, played a solid floor game for us."

"I had one starter foul out," said Martin coach Jimmy Hopkins, who was having to play without starting center Jason Bevins who has been sick. "We got down by 18 points and came back and even took a three-point lead in the third quarter. Then they ran off 10 unanswered points on us plus we turned the ball over a couple of times during the run. Mark (Hall) got a technical called on him for walking down to the end of the bench to get a drink of water and we just got beat."

Stumbo led 25-14 at the first stop and went to the dressing room with a

MANAGER'S MISTAKE COST REDS FOURTH GAME OF PLAYOFFS

What was Lou Piniella wrong move in the eighth inning when he brought in Scott Scudder and Jeff Reed? Why didn't the Cincinnati Reds manager place Scudder in the number seven spot in the batting order, and Reed to bat ninth? As things turned out, Reed came to bat in the ninth inning with the bases loaded with only one out in a 3-2 game. Pirates manager Jack Leyland then brought in left-hand pitcher Bob Patterson to face the left handed hitting Reed. Reed grounded into a game-ending double play.

The problem was that Piniella could have pinched hit for Scudder, but not for Reed. Reason. No more catchers. Joe Oliver started the game, and the Reds third catcher (if needed) would have been Luis Quinones who had already pinch hit. Glenn Braggs or Billy Hatcher were available for pinch hitting duty.

To win playoff games, managers need to look ahead, anticipating their every moves. Evidently Lou forgot, or maybe one other reason existed — he thought the Reds were out of it anyway.

MIDNIGHT MADNESS ON TAP OCTOBER 14(?) 15 AT UK

At the stroke of midnight on October 14 (or is it October 15?), whichever, the Kentucky Wildcats will take to the floor for their annual Midnight Madness practice. Midnight Madness officially opens the college basketball practice season for the Wildcats, who will begin a strenuous conditioning program as they ready themselves for the upcoming season.

Speaking for myself and many others I have talked to, I am ready for the Cats on TV. The long absence (a year) has made all of us hungry for some good basketball. The Cats should be a better team than last season's surprising 14-14 finish. New recruits like Gino Martinez, Jamal Mashburn and Carlos Toomer will join the other returning players, led by veteran Reggie Hanson onto the hardwood. Coach Rick Pitino says that Kentucky fans are going to like, and enjoy, watching Mashburn play. The first-year Wildcat is expected to play at the power forward spot.

The big question in the UK recruiting this year — can they land Cherokee Parks from UCLA and other schools? The 6' 11" center has the Wildcats high on his list of schools. He is looking particularly for a school he can be comfortable in. He says that basketball is not all of the decision. Well, good luck Cherokee in finding your school.

DO I REALLY SEE THE DISTRICT AS I FORECASTED LAST WEDNESDAY?

That was the question many asked of me today (Thursday). The question stems from the last paragraph of my column on Wednesday where I laid out for all to see how I feel the 58th District preseason ratings should be. I listed my picks in this order: Betsy Layne was my number one choice, McDowell number two, Wheelwright number three, Prestonsburg number four and Allen Central number five. Now, that is just for the preseason. There are some good ball players on each team and each team has very competent coaches. However, one has to look at who is gone from last year and who is returning. Again, the progress each team makes during the practice time, and as the season wears on, will determine who will be the district champions. Coach Johnny Martin at Allen Central always has his team ready at tournament time despite getting off to a slow start. McDowell's Johnny Ray Turner, had a horrible beginning last season (losing the first eight and 1-11). However, he went to the semifinals of the regional tournament. Betsy Layne returns experienced players from last year, and they have to be considered the logical choice. Prestonsburg, a young team, will jell come January. Wheelwright will surprise a lot of people. So the next time you see me at a ball game don't throw rocks. Just write on a piece of paper how you think the season will go and give it to me. I promise you, I will print it. Until Wednesday, good sports — and remember, be good sports!

Bulldogs Puts Bite To Wildcats, 55-48

Jeremy Hall and Donnie Combs combined for 27 points to lead the Duff Bulldogs to a close 55-48 victory over the determined Maytown Wildcats at the Maytown gym Wednesday night. While Hall and Combs led the Bulldogs in scoring, they also led in personal fouls as both players saw limited action because of foul trouble. A third Bulldog, Matt Crawford, who tossed in 11 points, also was relegated to the bench because of excessive fouling. Hall picked up his third personal early in the game and had to set out most of the first half.

"I tell you that Hagans (Nick) killed us," said Bulldog mentor Ronnie Patton. "He hit everything he threw up there." Hagans finished the game with 26 points.

The score was tied at halftime, 23-23, as neither team could settle the game in the first two quarters.

Hall returned to the Bulldogs lineup at the start of the second half and immediately was whistled for his fourth personal foul and had to return to the bench.

"I looked around in the first half and Jeremy had three quick fouls before I knew it," said Patton of his standout player. "Donnie (Combs) got into foul trouble and both had to set out the third quarter."

Crawford and the Osborne twins, Jeremy and Jason, picked up the slack for the Bulldogs.

"Jason and Jeremy are just sixth graders, but they are going to be two good ball players," said Patton.

Duff came out in the third period and outscored the Wildcats 18-14 to take a four-point lead, 41-37. Duff extended the lead in the fourth period with Hall and Combs returning to the lineup and held on for the lead.

The victory improved the Bulldogs' record to 4-1 and Maytown drops below the .500 mark at 1-2.

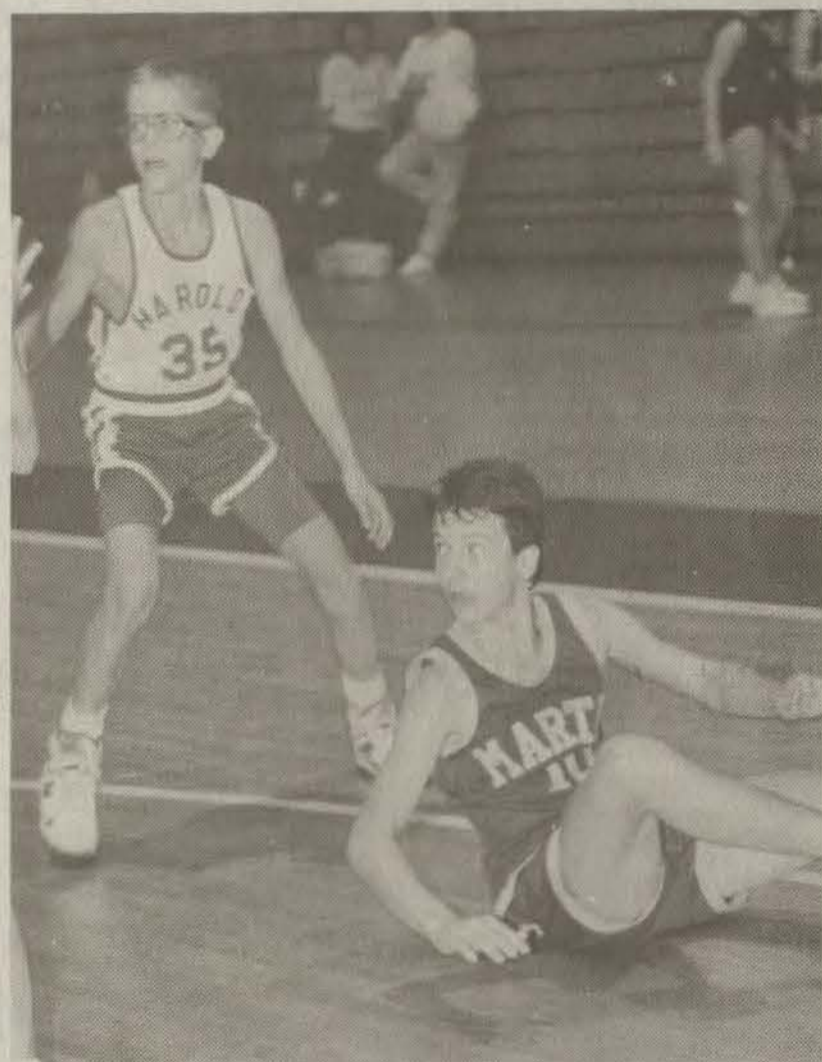

Jason Osborne had eight points for Duff and brother Jeremy added six. Byron Ring, who had an off night, scored three.

Besides Hagans' 26, Chris Martin had eight points and Ethan Stumbo scored six.

DUFF (55): Jeremy Hall, 15; Donnie Combs, 12; Matt Crawford, 11; Jason Osborne, 8; Jeremy Osborne, 6; Byron Ring, 3.

Clark's 17 Points Pushes Bobcats Past Prater, 40-12

The Betsy Layne Elementary Lady Bobcats ran past the Prater Lady Cougars 40-12 in grade school basketball Wednesday night at the Betsy Layne gym. Christy Clark tossed in 17 points to lead the Lady Bobcats to their fifth victory of the season against one defeat.

The Lady Bobcats scored the first 18 points of the game before Carrie Music's two free throws broke the drought with 29 seconds remaining in the first half.

Betsy Layne continues to play good basketball under second-year coach Shelia Ortega.

Besides Clark's 17 points, Jamie Ratcliff tossed in seven points for the Lady Cats. Misty Reynolds added eight.

Christine Boyd led Prater with five points and Heather Nelson scored four in the loss.

FOOTBALL REVIEW

The Prestonsburg Blackcats noted for being the weak sister of the Big Sandy in the past, crashed and slammed through the toughest schedule ever attempted by the school to win 9 games and lose 1. The Blackcats not only won the Big Sandy Conference with a smashing 47-6 victory over Paintsville, but also annihilated Raceland, the winners of the Eastern Kentucky Conference 26-0, and snap the hopes of Pineville, the Cumberland Valley Champs by trouncing them 28-21 in the inauguration of the Flood Bowl. The "T" minded Cats under Coach John R. Eibner settled many a past defeat by lacing their would be conquerors by undisputed scores. Standouts for the past season were Captain "Set" Branham who raced for 16 touchdowns; Co-Captain Charles Porter who handled the intricate "T" formation; Howard Burchett a rough end; Mike Horn a brusing guard; Bill Goble, halfback; and Paul Harmon, tackle.

Lady Bulldogs Rolls Past Lady Wildcats 26-12

One thing the Lady Bulldogs of Duff need to practice on is shooting layups, according to Coach Ronnie Patton. "We must have missed twenty layups against Maytown," said Patton. "I had them shooting layups in practice but tonight (Wednesday) they just didn't seem to be able to make them."

The Lady Bulldogs did, however, even their record to 2-2 with a 26-12 win over the Lady Wildcats of Maytown.

Duff got off to a good start by running out to a 12-4 first quarter lead. After that the Lady Bulldogs went cold and missed several easy shots.

L. Francis led the Lady Bulldogs in scoring with seven points. Jamie Webb, Tiffany Francis and Crisp each tossed in three points. Lisa Stumbo led the Lady Wildcats with six points. Pam Goble added four.

Jackie did it, Jackie did it! She took over first place from a slumping Mike Burke. But knowing "Fearless" Burke he will return. He's on vacation you know! It is hard for Kim to get any rest worrying about returning to the basement. Not to worry comforts Tim Preston. The Kentucky Wildcats return as one of the favorites of the Times prognosticators, as they try and be an encouragement to the struggling Cats. Eastern Ky the new number one Division 1-AA team also is a favorite. On the local scene, it looks like Prestonsburg as winners over Sheldon Clark on homecoming night. On the professional front, the Bengals and Browns have gotten our forecasters looking forward to two big wins.

Martin Goes To 6-0 With 50-23 Win Over Stumbo

Three players hit in double figures for the Martin Lady Flashes as they kept their record unblemished, 6-0, with a 50-23 win over the Lady Mustangs of John M. Stumbo. Martin ran off the first 12 points of the game and never looked back in coasting to the win.

Veronica McKinney, a stellar performer, scored 17 points to lead the Lady Flashes in that department. Kathy Conn had a good game for the winners with 15 points and Krystal Floyd, the "Floyd Flash" used her quickness to toss in 11 points. Floyd is an excellent shooter from the outside.

McKinney continued to dominate the boards, as she has in previous games, by pulling down 12 boards. Conn had 11 and Floyd gathered in seven while Kathy Hall gathered in five caroms.

Amanda Hall and Ashley Tackett led the Lady Mustangs in scoring with eight points. Penny Tackett tossed in five points.

Ashley Tackett had five rebounds and Hall had three. Martin out-rebounded the Lady Mustangs 41-22.

up six assists. McKinney is a very unselfish player, but still seems to get her share of points. As a team, the Lady Flashes pulled down 44 rebounds, 35 defensive and nine offensive.

Hamilton led the Lady Devils in scoring with nine points. Hamilton had eight first half points, but could only manage one in the second half as the Martin defense fronted her. Hamilton, using her height, hauled down 21 rebounds in the game. Stanley had seven points in the contest and Melena Gearheart tossed in six. Gearheart also had a good night on the boards pulling down 12. Harold as a team had 41 boards.

Big Bass honors to McDonald

McDonald Places 2nd, Watkins 9th In Red Man Mountain Qualifier

It was a good showing for one Tim McDonald of Hager Hill in the Red Man Mountain Division Qualifier recently. McDonald finished second in the tournament with a catch of six bass weighing in at eleven pounds and eleven ounces. McDonald also took home the "Big Bass" award when one of his catches weighed in at six pounds and one ounce. McDonald fished secondary points in the main lake (Tennessee River) using a six inch Carolina-rigged Zoom worms and a one half ounce chrome Rat-L-Trap. McDonald received $780 for second place plus an additional $1,000, a Browning/Lew's reel and a one week vacation for his Big Bass.

Locally, Tee Watkins, East Point, placed ninth in the qualifier with six bass weighing in at seven pounds and two ounces. The catch was good for $136.50.

A field of 93 anglers competed in the event for a cash purse totaling $4,766.50.

The tournament's winner, Doug Plemons of Kingston, Tennessee, collected $1,260. Plemons boated a limit of six bass weighing twelve pounds and thirteen ounces. Plemons fished the Tennessee River near Kingston. He caught his fish on a Pop-R and a Carolina-rig.

At the completion of the six Red Man qualifying events, the top thirty fishermen, determined on a basis of pounds and points, will move on to Regional Classic Competition. There they will compete against 120 other fishermen from four other divisions. The ten highest finishers from each Regional advance to the $150,000 Red Man All-American. The winner will receive $100,000. All Red Man tournaments are catch and release events.

Betsy Layne Escapes Prater 43-40 Behind Wallen's 20

The Betsy Layne Bobcats got a scare from the Prater Cougars Wednesday night at the Betsy Layne gym when they had to rally from a two-point deficit to edge the determined Cougars, 43-40.

Randy Wallen fired in twenty points to lead the Bobcats in scoring. Ryan Newsome added ten points in the win.

The game was tied nine times before Betsy Layne took the lead for good. Two breakaway baskets by Newsome broke a 36-36 tie as the Bobcats held on to win. Wallen's freethrows with six seconds left clinched the Bobcat victory. The margin of victory was determined at the freethrow line as both teams had eighteen field goals in the game. However, Betsy Layne was seven of thirteen charity tosses compared to Prater Creek's four of six.

Brent Akers scored nineteen points to lead the Cougars in scoring. Ronnie Hamilton had a good game with seventeen points.

Hartel Captures McCauley Memorial 5K Classic at JW

As was predicted, Erwin "Swag" Hartel won the Third Annual Joe McCauley Memorial Fall Classic, with a time of 16:06 to outdistance Kenny Copley of Chesapeake, Ohio who finished with a 16:18. Price's Dave McGuire came in seventh overall with a time of 17:25.

The course had to be changed at the last minute that resulted in a mile of hills from the start to the midway point of the race. The change in course resulted in the slower times that were recorded. According to race director Rick Roberts, there was communication gap between the park superintendent and his rangers with both rangers being on vacation at the time of the race. Roberts said that he just could not put the runners on the road endangering their lives, so the course was changed.

A strong field was assembled by Roberts for the race, with not only the presence of Hartel and Copley, who was the 1988 winner with a 16:00 on the old course, but also the former All-American runner from Marshall University, Bill Hill, took part in the race. Also entered into the run was Joe Barker, who won the Apple Day run last week at Paintsville. Barker finished third in the McCauley run. Last year's winner of the McCauley Memorial, Martin Bess, Morehead, placed fourth this year.

Copley gave Hartel a good run until the halfway point when "Swag" took the lead for good.

Other runners were: Joe McGuire, third in 15-19 year old age group. Fred Ridener of Prestonsburg finished second in the 20-24 year old age group. Tony McGuire, Viper, was second in 25-29 age group.

Dave McGuire's 17:25 was good for third in the 30-34 year old group and Rick Roberts finished second with a 18:31 in the 35-39 age group.

Marvin McFaddin, Paintsville, was first in the 55 and over group with a 20:05

Debbie Biddle, Cynthiana, took first place overall in the women's 5K run with a time of 19:42. Mary Cawood, East Point, was second in the 30-34 age group for women with a time of 26:38.

HOROSCOPE

October 14 through October 20

By C.C. Clark

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)

Manage your funds wisely this week. It is a good time to take a hard look at finances and begin planning for the future. Travel can give you a new outlook on life.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)

Your job sector is experiencing a strong trend toward organization. Take a chance and talk with that person you have been dying to meet. Great things can happen.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)

Relationships are strong for you this week. The best way to spend your time is with those you love and to share in their happiness. Don't be judgmental.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)

Your creative powers will surprise even you this week. A specific situation will make you incredibly angry, but a great good comes from your anger.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)

Seek a quiet, comfortable place to find inner peace this week. Your life isn't quite what you would like it to be, and often that is because of your selfishness.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)

A new person in your life will send you in search of better horizons. Spending time with young adults and children can be very rewarding this week.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

Home and family will provide a great comfort to you this week. Visiting friends or family will help your spirits rise. Watch your finances closely.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

It will seem that your emotions are taking a roller coaster ride this week. Talking out your frustrations with someone close will help ease the problem and the tensions.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

You will accomplish much more than usual this week. You must be diligent where finances are concerned and pay off debts as quickly as possible.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

It is time to straighten out problems between you and a mate or close friend. Most of the arguments you've been involved in are caused by miscommunication.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)

Now is a good time to take risks and look toward new horizons. This is a very successful cycle for you if you apply yourself and go after the things you want.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)

It is important that you show patience toward loved ones. While you may think you are going through a lucky phase, you need to remember that you make your own luck.

TIME OUT

NFL teams have high 1990 hopes

By Steve Paschal

The 86th World Series may be the most precious jewel in the CBS sports crown this week, but the network isn't about to forget its legions of football fans.

On Sunday, Oct. 14, NFL Today kicks off a full day of football featuring a doubleheader of regional telecasts. First, viewers will see either Detroit at Kansas City, Green Bay at Tampa Bay or San Francisco at Atlanta. Then, the majority of the country will see the New York Giants clash with the Washington Redskins while the rest will see the Dallas Cowboys take on the Phoenix Cardinals.

The fans have their hopes high in Kansas City, where the Chiefs showed glimpses of playoff potential last year and finished the season winning five of their last eight and battling the AFC Central champion Cleveland Browns to a 10-10 stalemate. What makes that record even more impressive is the fact that one of their two losses was a tough 13-10 defeat at the hands of the Super Bowl-bound Denver Broncos. Detroit, although off to another slow start this year, has the fans buzzing after rebounding from an 0-5 start in 1989 to win seven of their last 11 games.

The battle in the NFC East lead between the Redskins and Giants is even more significant because both teams have something to prove. The Giants nosed out Philadelphia for the conference title with a 12-4 record last year, but suffered a frustrating 19-13 overtime loss to the Los Angeles Rams in their first playoff game. Washington struggled to a mediocre 5-5 record through the first two-thirds of their NFL schedule but caught fire to win their last five.

TV PIPELINE

Bill Kirchenbauer not stopped by demise of 'Just Ten of Us'

By Polly Vonetes

Q: I am a huge fan of Just the Ten of Us. My best friend told me that the show is going off the air. Please tell me this isn't true. —S. Willmon, Carlsbad, N.M.

A: I hate to be the one to have to tell you, but yes, Just the Ten of Us has been canceled. However, Bill Kirchenbauer, who starred as Coach Lubbock, has been named host of Fox's Totally Hidden Video.

Q: Would it be possible for you to send me the address of Art Linkletter? I went to school with him in San Diego, Calif., in the years 1921-1923. I would like to let him know there is one more still "hanging on." I am 77. —Velma Shade, Plano, TX.

A: I am sure he will be happy to hear from you. Write to: Art Linkletter, 1100 Belair Rd., Los Angeles, CA 90077.

Q: Whatever happened to the TV shows Mannix and Kojak? Are these shows still shown? Also, is the series Dallas coming back on the air? —Charles and Linda Bulla, Big Ben City, Calif.

A: Mannix, starring Mike Connors, aired on CBS from September 1967 to August 1975. Kojak, starring Telly Savalas, also aired on CBS. It aired from October 1973 until April 1978. Last year it was recast with Savalas in the lead and aired on ABC as part of the network's Saturday Mystery Movie wheel. Both series are in syndication. Check with one of your local channels as to the availability in your viewing area. Dallas will begin its 13th year on CBS with a season premiere episode on Nov. 2.

Q: I live in Anchorage, Alaska and I just happened to read an article about the British actress Diana Rigg, who played Emma Peel on The Avengers. It was my favorite show, and she was my favorite actress. Could you tell me where I could write her? It would be wonderful to actually talk with such a talented and beautiful lady. —Warren Kruger, Anchorage, Alaska

A: The address I have for Diana Rigg is in England. Write to her: c/o London Mgmt., 235 Regent St., London W1, England.

Q: We are all fans of Pernell Roberts and Robert Blake. Are they going to be doing anything in the future? I read somewhere Robert was born 9-18-33. That's my birthday too, but not the year. —M.M., Anchorage, Alaska

A: Pernell Roberts appears frequently on television as a guest star on series and movies. Robert Blake, unfortunately, has earned the reputation with producers and directors of being difficult to work with, resulting in his unemployment. He is still available and, who knows, there may come a role that only he can play and he will be given another chance.

Helen Hayes completes new syndicated series

Helen Hayes

Helen Hayes, who celebrates her 90th birthday this year, has just completed taping 26 shows for a new syndicated series, Canterbury Cinema Classics, produced by White Mountain Entertainment. Each of the two-hour programs features a film classic from the 1930s, '40s or '50s.

The Hallmark Hall of Fame movie Caroline? which was broadcast April 29 on CBS, has been named winner of the National Rehabilitation Week Arts/Entertainment Award. The drama, which featured a performance by Jenny Jacobs, the 1982 Cerebral Palsy Poster Child, was cited for having "helped convey the notion that people with disabilities can and do lead active and productive lives." James S. Brady, former White House press secretary, was head of the selection committee.

You can look for ABC's long, long, long-running Scooby Doo series to soon come to the end of its line. After 20 years, TV's longest-running cartoon show is about to bite the dust.

The ABC late night entertainment series Into the Night starring Rick Dees has been renewed for an additional 13 weeks. In making the announcement, Michael Brockman, President, Daytime, Children's and Late Night Entertainment, ABC Network Group, said, "We're extremely pleased with the creative growth of the program during its first seven weeks on the air. We're hopeful that viewership will continue to grow in the ensuing months as we carve out our niche in this very competitive daypart."

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 836-0082, Revision #6 In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Coal Mac, Inc., P.O. Box 3428, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501 has filed an application for a major revision to an existing surface coal mining and reclamation operation. This major revision proposes to add an additional 4.5 acres of surface disturbance 2 miles west of Galveston in Floyd County.

The proposed major revision is approximately 3 miles southeast from Ky. 979's junction with Red Morg Branch Road and located 3 miles southeast of Teaberry. The latitude is 37° 25' 30". The longitude is 82° 37' 28".

The proposed major revision is located on the McDowell/Pikeville U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area to be affected by this major revision is owned by Dorothy Blanton and Everett Blanton, John Jack Adkins, Coal Mac, Inc., Homer Lee Hall, Claude Hall, Ellis Keathley Heirs, Bruce Hall Estate, Hobert Hall, Jonathan D. (Buck) Rogers, et al., Arvel Hall, Frank & Beatrice Hall, Turner Elkhorn Coal Company, Coal Mac, Inc. & Barry Tackett Heirs, Casey Newsome Heirs, Sterling Hamilton & Barry Tackett Heirs. The application also includes a proposed land use change from the forestry pre-mining land use to a wildlife habitat post-mining land use.

This major revision proposes to add (5) five slide areas; delete on bench structures 9, 10, 11, 17, 20, 21, 23, 24, 25, 26. Delete 97.5 acres of underground mining limits in the Fireclay seam; delete 7.75 acres of contour mining in the Amburgy seam and 3.3 acres in the Fireclay seam; and delete Hollow Fill No. 2 - 13.5 acres. The revision also proposed a land use change from the forest pre-mining land use to a wildlife habitat post mining land use.

The major revision application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow Complex, #2 Hudson Hollow, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. 9-21-4tF.
