In 1989 death :

Civil suit charges negligence

A civil suit has been filed in Floyd Circuit Court on behalf of Tonya Bailey, widow of James E. Bailey, who died from injuries received in an accident on an icy road on December 19, 1989. The suit alleges that Koch Carbon, Inc., through negligent maintenance of its private road on Bill Hall Branch at McDowell, caused Bailey's death.

The litigation, filed October 1 by Mrs. Bailey's attorney Chad Perry, says that Koch Carbon, Inc. failed to warn James E. Bailey of the alleged hazardous condition of the road, that the company allegedly took no measures to make the haul road safe, and that company officials allegedly insisted on immediate delivery over an allegedly dangerous roadway.

Bailey, an employee of United Supply Company, was killed while delivering supplies to Koch Carbon, Inc. at its United Mines site near McDowell. Bailey was driving a flatbed truck on an icy road on Bill Hall Branch Mountain, when his vehicle began sliding backward. Bailey reportedly jumped from the moving vehicle and was trapped under a front wheel.

Hall said the rescue squad had trouble getting back off the hill due to the icy condition of the road. "We used 100 pounds of salt just to get down," he said.

Bailey, 24, had been married only a few weeks prior to the accident. He was the son of Charles and Hilda Fay Bailey of Langley.

Chad Perry, attorney for the plaintiff, and a representative for Koch Carbon, Inc., were both unavailable for comment.

A complaint in a civil suit lists only the plaintiffs' cause of action.

Cause of death remains uncertain

Officials are still waiting for a positive identification of a body found Wednesday at Jenny Wiley State Park but Coroner Roger Nelson is "90 percent sure" the body is that of a Huntington, West Virginia man.

The skeletal and dental X-rays of Robert Stephens, 57, of Huntington, matched on five different points, which Nelson said is very unlikely unless it is indeed Stephens.

"When there are five points that match, the odds are astronomical that someone else would match on that many points," Nelson said.

Investigators contacted Stephens' (See Death cause, page two)

Litter task force to target "eyesores" :

County trash attack is on

Education is the long-range answer to solving Floyd County's litter woes, but members of the Floyd County Litter Task Force don't intend to wait that long to attack the problem.

In a meeting Monday at May Lodge, County Judge John M. Stumbo, co-chairman of the litter task force, solicited the support of Floyd County volunteer firefighters in an effort to create a new "awareness" of the county's litter problems and in plans to take affirmative action to correct those problems.

A public relations campaign, directed by task force members Dolores Smith and Gorman Collins Jr., will take aim at changing public attitudes on littering and will publicize the results of that effort. The task force will also offer information on "options and alternatives" to littering.

One alternative offered Monday evening came from Mansbach Metal, at Allen, which offers cash for junk metal. Mansbach representative Rick Hughes told task force members Monday that his company buys junked autos, appliances and other metal products, adding that Mansbach "hauls from every part of the county." "I see my job security everywhere," Hughes joked in reference to the numbers of junked cars and appliances scattered along roadsides and creeks in the county.

Hughes said countians could obtain a list of the metal products his company does and doesn't buy, and the prices paid for those items, by calling 874-9657.

Floyd County ecology officer Cleveland Tackett also advised the group Monday that he was surveying the county in search of illegal dumps, abandoned buildings and "eyesores," adding that he would catalog those identified and steps would be taken to "clean them up." Property owners will be contacted, he added, to resolve trash problems on privately owned land and community support will be sought to help clean up public properties.

In conjunction with the task force's public relations campaign, an educational effort will be promoted in county schools to inform youngsters of the hardships littering creates, and a bumper sticker with the message "Keep Our Hills Green And Our Rivers Clean" will be distributed.

The task force will also promote a state Adopt-A-Highway program which seeks community involvement in roadside cleanups.

BOO!

Floyd County children looking forward to becoming ghosts and goblins for trick or treat night should start preparing for the traditional door to door activity early on Tuesday, October 30, for trick or treat night in both Floyd County and Prestonsburg.

Trick or treating activities are scheduled for six to eight p.m. on Tuesday in both Prestonsburg and in the county.

The Prestonsburg Rotary Club and the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn will also be conducting a "Safe Trick or Treat Night", on Sunday, October 28 from five to eight p.m.

The "Safe Trick or Treat Night" will be partially sponsored by area businesses who will set up trick or treat stations in conjunction with Holiday Inn and Rotary Club officials.

Prestonsburg man shot during walk

A Prestonsburg man who was walking along Route 3 at Jenny Wiley State Park was shot in the neck Thursday by an unidentified assailant.

Police reports indicate that Rasser Martin, 32, of Prestonsburg, was shot once in the neck with an unknown caliber weapon.

Martin was initially transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center, and was later transferred to Cabell Huntington Hospital where he was listed in stable condition Tuesday afternoon.

An investigation to find Martin's assailant is being conducted by Trooper Les Stapleton of the Kentucky State Police and Floyd County Chief Deputy Linzie Hunt.

Police have declined to speculate on a motive for the shooting.

Juvenile charged with assault in Middle Creek stabbing

A Prestonsburg woman was in serious condition Tuesday after being stabbed five times Monday night during an argument with a 15-year-old juvenile from Middle Creek.

According to police reports, Kim

Gilbert, 33, of Prestonsburg was stabbed five times when she went to the Middle Creek home of a 15-year-old female, Gilbert and the juvenile, whom police did not identify, reportedly left the residence of the juvenile at approximately 9 p.m. and continued to fight in the middle of Middle Creek Road. It was during the fight in the road that Gilbert was stabbed, police said.

The female juvenile was arrested by police and lodged in the Floyd County Juvenile Detention Center where she was charged with first degree assault.

Kim Gilbert was transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center, where she remained in serious condition Tuesday.

The altercation is under investigation by Trooper Mike Thorpe of the Kentucky State Police.

Elswick to replace Conley during leave of absence

Judge Richard Elswick of Pike County has been appointed by the Administrative Office of the Courts to serve as substitute judge for Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley.

Judge Conley cited "personal reasons" for the leave of absence, which began Monday, October 15. He is expected to resume his duties shortly after January 15, 1991.

Police capture Floyd escapee

by Tim B. Preston and Susan Allen
Staff Writers

A Floyd County Jail prisoner who escaped from custody Tuesday afternoon was recaptured late Tuesday evening and was taken to the Pike County Jail where he was booked on charges of alcohol intoxication, resisting arrest and attempting to elude police. It was noted on the citation that he had escaped from Floyd County and he was booked by Kentucky State Police Trooper Phil Bowersock.

Michael "Joe" Burchett, 27, of Banner, escaped from the Floyd County Sheriff's Office when officers reportedly left him unattended near the front of the office while he was waiting to be transferred to the Johnson County Regional Detention Center to begin serving a jail sentence for an arson and theft.

Details of Burchett's capture were unavailable at presstime, but his escape led local law enforcement authorities on a manhunt Tuesday evening that included searches in the vicinity of Prater Creek near Banner.

At one point in the search, officers considered calling for the services of Dingo, the sheriff department's drug detecting dog.

Burchett eluded capture for several hours Tuesday before his arrest in Pike County by Kentucky State Police officers.

Early reports of the capture indicated Burchett may have been accompanied by others at the time of his arrest, but those reports were not confirmed Tuesday evening.

Burchett was convicted last month of arson and theft in connection with fires which destroyed three trailers at Prater Creek last September. Burchett reportedly removed aluminum siding from mobile homes before Michael "Joe" Burchett set fire to the structures. The aluminum siding was reportedly sold to a recycling plant.

Burchett faces a total of 21 years in prison for the arson and theft conviction. Charges of escape are likely to be filed by local authorities.

Councilman's quick action saves toddler

by Susan Allen

As Prestonsburg City Councilman Jerry Fannin watched the Jenny Wiley Parade Saturday in Prestonsburg, he had no idea that only moments later he would save the life of a child.

Fannin was standing on the sidewalk near the Hall and Clark Insurance office and was turning to walk away after the parade ended.

"This lady jumped out of her car and said, 'My baby's not breathing.' She handed me the child and I just squeezed and out popped a piece of hard candy," Fannin said. "The child was a little boy, I believe, about a year old. His face was red, I guess where he wasn't breathing."

Fannin said he had received first aid training at various companies he had worked for.

"It's the first time I had the opportunity to use it and I'm glad I knew what to do," he said. "I felt kind of good about myself, afterward. It was a strange feeling. I'm just glad every-

Sam Campbell to take over as Prestonsburg administrator

Mayor Ann Latta announced this week that Big Sandy Area Development District Public Administration Specialist Sam Campbell has been named as the new city administrator for Prestonsburg.

Campbell replaces former administrator Fred James, who has accepted a position as director of tourism and economic development for the area. Campbell said Monday that he plans to continue many of the programs initiated by James, while working toward new programs with city officials.

Campbell, a member of the Kentucky Chapter of the International City Managers' Association, has served as planning administrator in Paris, Kentucky and Bourbon County.

He will assume official duties with the city on November 1.

Roger Recktenwald, executive director of the Big Sandy Area Development District at Prestonsburg, joins State Senator Benny Ray Bailey (D-Hindman) during a recent news conference at the Capitol on a state program to provide low-cost health insurance to uninsured workers. The insurance program is designed to offer minimum coverage policies to companies employing less than 50 people. The cost to the typical family would be less than $100 per month. Bailey sponsored legislation during the last session establishing the program, which is administered by the state's Area Development Districts.

After school, summer programs eyed

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Students lagging behind in their studies in the Floyd County School system could see chances to improve their grades in an after school tutoring program and summer school.

The Floyd County Board of Education last week approved applications for over a half of million dollars in grants, including $359,574.10 for extended school services. The program would offer an hour of tutoring after school in an 18-week program during the school year and six weeks of instruction during the summer. The grant would provide for 50 teachers and 150 student tutors during the summer.

Superintendent Ron Hager told board members the program would serve 1,100 students and it is expected to begin the second semester of this school year.

Other grant monies would give $82,211 to the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act of 1986; $46,000 to Eastern Kentucky C.E.P. Inc., for Job Training Partnership Act's in school youth program; and $22,500 for dropout prevention.

The superintendent was given permission to implement a pilot program for after school care centers in accordance with state provisions. The program would provide after school day care services for students in kindergarten and first grade. Hager said the program would be expensive, but it would help stop problems associated with latch key students. He said possible grant funds could be available for the program.

Bids were received Wednesday for a $10,000 term life insurance policy for teachers, which was part of an agreement to end the August teacher's strike in Floyd County. Assistant Superintendent of Finance Russell Frazier reported 10 bids had been received and those bids would be tabulated and brought before the board to be awarded at the November meeting.

The school day will be cut by half an hour when Eastern Standard Time goes into effect at the end of this month. In his recommendation, Hager said in the interest of safety to the students the school day should be reduced to six hours of instruction. The measure passed unanimously.

In other business, the board voted to:

- develop a process to waive fees for pupils who qualify for free and reduced lunches;

- pay for flood insurance coverage through Big Sandy Insurance Agency which would cancel the current $250,000 deductible;

- seat Patricia Barnette and Linda Gearheart on the Evaluation Appeals Panel for the Certified Personnel Evaluation Policy and Procedures Manual. Ronnie Patton will serve as an alternate;

- develop bid specifications for the purchase of two vans and one pick-up truck for the maintenance department;

- establish pay periods for certified and classified/non-certified personnel;

- set a 25 cent fee for each page copied for use by individuals other than school and school board purposes; and

- submit a BG-1 application and budget to renovate the existing auditorium at Martin Elementary and convert it into three classrooms.

Out of town move opposed :

Reactions to new school are similar

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

The Floyd County Board of Education's decision to purchase land outside the city limits for the new Prestonsburg High School has not met the favor of the city council or citizens of Prestonsburg.

In a random telephone survey Tuesday of Prestonsburg residents and city councilmen by The Times, all of those asked about the site felt the school should remain in the city. Several were concerned the name of the school could be changed.

"I don't think they should build it outside the city," said Rose Ferguson of Prestonsburg. "It would be more convenient on students living in town to keep the school here. Personally, I don't see anything wrong with that one (the present high school)."

"It's better if a child can walk to school instead of being bused somewhere else," said Lou Bradley. "They'd just as well keep it inside the city. I think kids would be more likely to go to school if it was within walking distance."

Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta was disappointed with the board's decision but said annexation of the site would be a topic of discussion with the council.

"I don't like the high school moving out of the city," Latta said. "I feel when a school moves out of a city it loses all its identity."

Councilman William O. Goebel feels the board's decision was a process of elimination due to the lack of suitable building sites within the city, but he was not pleased that it would be built outside the city limits.

"It's like a 'Catch 22' situation between the school board and council," Goebel said. "I do agree they need a new school and I wish we had some property in town that would accommodate such a facility. I hate to see it built outside the city but it (the site) can probably be annexed into the city. It would help us grow geographically and growth is needed. But I feel it can be a workable situation."

According to Goebel several sites within the city were considered by the board of education but were either found to be in the 100 year floodplain or not large enough to accommodate a school that size.

Councilman Jerry Fannin said he was against the plan unless the property could be incorporated. "I'm not saying they don't need a new school but I think before we run utilities to the site it should be agreed it come into the city limits," Fannin said.

"As long as we get it in the city and it stays Prestonsburg High School, not change the name or anything, I wouldn't be bothered," Fannin said.

Councilmen Danny Hamilton and Billy Ray Collins wouldn't offer any comment on the situation but Hamilton did say he hated to see it moved.

Councilman Michael Vance also disagreed with the decision and said he would hesitate to commit any city funds for sewer or water installation unless the site was in the city limits.

"I don't like the city or the school losing its identity," Vance said. "It seems the county has already been divided up into North Floyd County and South Floyd County. The school could also be named something else. Don't get me wrong, we're all for having the best education facilities we can, but we (the council) were never approached about this decision. I feel it was a lack of consideration."

Dolores Smith, president of the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, said the issue had not been discussed by the members. She said, however, that she didn't personally agree with the decision, given the fact no discussion took place with citizens of Prestonsburg about the location of the new school.

"I object to the decision because no opinion was actively solicited from members of the community concerning such an important decision," Smith said. "Anytime you move a school out of a community it is an emotional situation and citizens needed to have some input in the decision."

The proposed site of the new high school is located about four miles west of Prestonsburg on Route 114. The county board approved the purchase of approximately 100 acres at a price of $400,000 for the school.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Kentucky housewives appear to be pooling their butter 'n egg money in efforts to take their favorite candidate to the gubernatorial market.

First Housefrau Martha Wilkinson, for example, reported some $110,000 in contributions from various Kentucky housewives in her latest campaign report while Lt. Guv Brereton Jones cashed checks from the cookie jars totalling some 40 grand.

Many of these campaign contributions came in at $2,000 to $4,000 a shot, leading us to speculate that homemaking in Kentucky is either more lucrative than we have ever imagined or working husbands have not been checking their pockets for change before the pants go to the wash.

In any event, these campaign contributions signal the arrival on the Kentucky political scene of powerful and obviously well-funded new lobby group whose objectives are unclear.

We've always believed that there is a woman behind every great man. Could it be, now, with this increasing involvement by housewives in politics, that we're witnessing a move to bypass the middlemen?

Just kidding.

As a working husband whose wife gave up the nine to five routine to become a "homemaker," we know full well how tough a job house-wifing can be. And, because she worked 14 years before making that move, we also know how difficult it is for women to juggle careers with the responsibilities of managing a home.

It's a tough job, and nobody does it better.

So, if women want to take a shot at straightening out our political messes, it's reasonable to assume they can do it. It's also reasonable to assume that they will do it.

Anyone who can successfully keep a three-year-old in tow should have no problem managing Frankfort's mentality.

The beat goes on.

While Congress debates on how to trim $500 billion from the federal deficit and the October 19 deadline for finding an answer draws near, few members of Congress are using the occasion to lead by example.

So far, plans for reducing the deficit center on raising taxes, while little has been said about cutting expenses.

We've yet to hear a Congressman suggest saving a few million a year by eliminating members' free mailing privileges nor have we seen any recommendations for slicing foreign aid to countries which wouldn't spit on us if we were on fire. The Defense Department is still spending thousands of dollars for screwdrivers, billions on equipment that doesn't work and millions for consultants whose reports are good for nothing but gathering dust on library shelves.

You'd think that a group so adept at raising money for their own political campaigns would have enough sense to solve the nation's fiscal woes.

On second thought, maybe the solution to the hows is changing the whos.

Changing the whos won't be an easy task for Kentucky's GOP as long as state Republicans follow the lead of party chairman Robert Gable.

In an urgent message to Republican candidates, Gable proclaimed that the GOP's advertising budget was committed to radio, noting that radio ads were the most effective way to reach voters.

No wonder Kentucky is a one-party state.

A media survey conducted in 1987 placed radio dead last in the race to reach Kentucky consumers. Newspapers were the best choice.

One doesn't have to take a survey to determine how many Republicans hold top government offices in Kentucky.

With Gable's leadership, don't count on a big WGOP win come November.

Coffee drinkers rejoice.

The latest study (government funded no doubt) reveals new evidence that caffeine isn't so bad for you after all.

One problem, though. Your electric coffee pot may give you cancer.

If it ain't one thing, it's another.

Soap Box

by Tess Whitmer

Editor's note: Times' assistant editor Tess Whitmer is serving with the U.S. Army Reserves at Fort Meade, Maryland. She will ship out to the Middle East next month.

Getting ready to go to war doesn't mean I don't have time to write. Although it's late at night before it gets the chance to have some time to myself, I feel the urge to communicate through the written word. I sure do miss my computer though.

For those of you who wonder exactly what I'm doing... I could tell you, but then I'd have to kill you. Just a little Army humor.

They get us up at 5 a.m. (a truly ungodly hour) and then make us run. How cruel. Nothing like trying to do pushups, situps, jumping jacks and jogging while you are still sleeping. After a quick shower and a swipe over the boots, we get breakfast.

Really cholesterol-laden cuisine, so I try to stick to the cornflakes and banana. Not being a milk lover, I certainly have developed a craving for it lately. After breakfast we go straight to training, learning common Army tasks (which we hopefully will never need to employ) or qualifying with weapons.

Then we go to lunch and try to identify the food (another common Army task). More cholesterol and calories. Oh, well, I guess I'll have the salad, please. After lunch, more training, more training. Most of the time I get stuck in the office trying to work out things for the next day. Being an officer can be a real brain strain. Almost as frustrating as assistant editor (not quite).

Throughout the day we attempt to consume as much water as possible to get our bodies prepared for the desert. Two quarts a day is not too bad, as long as there is a bathroom nearby (sometimes you just have to suffer). Now that we are up to four quarts a day, I feel like a walking water balloon—does anyone have a pin?

Our commander assures us our kidneys will adjust. Right! The really funny part is having to walk around with a two quart canteen on one hip and a protective mask on the other. I keep miscalculating and knocking things over. It also makes sitting in a chair with arms rather difficult. I feel like I have the biggest hips in the world. Although they were rather ample to begin with they are slowly disappearing. Join the Army, lose weight and get paid for it. We like to say, "no pain, no loss."

Then comes dinner, which usually marks the end of the work day in civilian life (except if you work at a newspaper), but we soldiers drive right on. Let's see, mystery meat, some kind of pasta... no, wait, what's that? It still has some feathers on it, must be chicken. Pardon me... could you please pass the Grey Poupon?

More training after dinner. Maybe a run or ruck march, pretty much your section leader's choice.

At about 2030 hours (that's 8:30 p.m. for you civilians) we "stand down."

Time to do laundry, clean your room, shine your boots, answer letters and if you're lucky and have the taste and funds, you can even enjoy a beer on the stoop (my choice is wine coolers). Not too much though, you have to be up in a few hours.

The head hits the pillow at around 2230 or 2300 (10 or 11 p.m.) and you drift off to disturbing sleep... or pass out... one of the two.

All in all, it's not too bad, but, I sure would rather be back in my comfortable apartment, sleeping until 8 a.m., going to my nice "relaxed," friendly office and sit behind my computer. I miss going out to lunch with the gang and eating cholesterol-laden food of my choice and getting fat and lazy.

I swear, I won't recognize myself when I get home if I keep this up. That's a big "if."

I miss you Floyd County, see you in a few months. I'll write again and tell you what the motions are like.

Notices

Has Bush's dance with the media become a minute waltz?

If history will remember Ronald Reagan as the "Great Communicator," then George Bush will certainly be recognized as "The Media President." Bush's use of the media is now legendary.

The media that Bush used to get elected also creates public opinion — those popularity ratings we all hear so much about. Popularity is the key. Bush craves it, and he dare not make a move that would be "unpopular" in the eyes of American voters.

The media might also be Bush's undoing. Lately, Bush has made two smug comments to reporters — comments that can tell the American people more about Bush's position on the economy and other domestic problems.

The most famous quote, "Read my lips." This was Bush's response to reporters who asked the President what it would take to complete a successful federal budget. Other editorial essayists, including Paul Harvey and other conservative supporters, have already pounced on this one. I echo their question, "Just what does READ MY LIPS mean?"

On the surface, it could just be a bad joke. More likely, it is a jest that reveals Bush's ignorance of domestic problems and his cavalier attitude toward an unhealthy economy suffering from a prolonged case of "voodoo economics." The truth is, the American voters deserve more respect.

The second comment has attracted less attention. The President told reporters he wished he could concentrate on the problems in the Persian Gulf and not be bothered by questions about the economy. To point out, as did Paul Harvey, that Bush is the President of the United States and, therefore, it logically follows that the U.S. economy should be high on his agenda only scratches the surface. The possibility of war with Iraq gives Bush an excuse to sidestep domestic crises that will surely plunge this country into a crushing recession.

Even sadder is the reality that a president who could make these statements is not, and cannot be, in control of domestic matters. Bush was elected President of the United States, not mediator of the world. Rather than creating a war in the Persian Gulf, maybe he should wage a war on the real threat to democracy — the S&L thieves and an economy that taxes the working class to allow the wealthy to make more money. Maybe it's time for the American people to be just as smug — how about READ MY VOTE?

Other Voices...

A community responds

by Rev. Timothy Jessen

When a transient family arrived in Prestonsburg on September 30, little did the community, or the family, know how much their crisis would inspire and galvanize this community into action.

As previously reported in the Times, the Clemmons family arrived with three small preschool children and one on the way, hoping to make their home here. The Floyd County Ministerial Association volunteered to pay their night's motel bill at the Blue Sky Motel, as it does for many in similar circumstances through its Cooperative Christian Ministries program. Even though the funds to pay for such housing were exhausted for the year, the pastors knew that our community responds to needs and that some source of help would be found.

But, the next developments could not be anticipated. In the middle of the night, Sandra Clemmons went into labor. Without money to enter a hospital or to pay bills, Mr. Clemmons delivered the baby himself — fortunately, he had training as a lay midwife and had delivered twelve babies previously.

Like the baby Jesus, the newborn's entrance into the world was in unusual circumstances, but not unannounced or unknown to those who had ears to hear. A Baptist laywoman from Louisiana in an adjoining room sought help for the couple, and help was swift in coming.

Floyd County has no emergency network (at least for this type of emergency), but it has a marvelous informal network of caring, helping persons and agencies who somehow manage to get the job done when someone is in need.

A call to Catholic Social Service brought clothing from the Catholic parish. A Presbyterian Christian Service worker at Drift sent food. Community Action Program sent in a worker who surveyed the situation, and did what she could. As always, Social Services was present, assessing needs and determining proper strategies to meet them.

In the next 24 hours, an amazing number of people and agencies came together to help the family. Without a great deal of complicated organization, needs were met and help was offered, from a free doctor's checkup by a pediatrician in Martin, to clothing, and to people to pay for housing. A Christian shelter in Martin County offered to keep the family.

Then, the marvelous outpouring of help faced another possible setback when it was revealed that the father had to be extradited to North Carolina to face possible criminal charges. Instead of judgment, there was increased compassion. People rallied around the young mother to help get her to North Carolina to be with her husband. A service station operation provided goodies to go with the family on another arduous trip.

And, now, the story has taken another turn requiring the assistance of Floyd County neighbors. Sandra Clemmons and her young family are back in Floyd County, seeking to find a place to live and to provide a home here.

Will the community provide help once again? We are confident that they will. Anyone wishing to help in this situation is asked to contact Rev. Timothy Jessen at 886-2214.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER DISTRICT #1

DON'T BE FOOLED

My opponent, James D. Adams, is currently running a political ad, most of which is a promise of what he will do if he is elected to another four-year term as District No. 1 School Board Member. Being that my opponent has had an opportunity for the last twenty years to do these same things, I have taken the time to review his past re-election promises as they are recorded in the Floyd County Times.

WHEN JAMES D. ADAMS SOUGHT RE-ELECTION IN 1982, he made this campaign promise in the Floyd County Times:

"To improve busing by increasing salaries of bus drivers"

My opponent has not since repeated this political promise. After being re-elected, he voted to raise the salaries of certain administrators by $10,000.00 a year, while at the same time cutting bus drivers' salaries by $10.00 a day.

WHEN JAMES D. ADAMS SOUGHT RE-ELECTION IN 1986, he again made promises through advertising in the Floyd County Times. As you review the old newspapers, you will find in his own words the following promises of what he would do if re-elected:

A. "To maintain the neighborhood school concept" whereby he specifically indicates that he favors community schools for Auxler, Bonanza, Clark, and Prestonsburg.

Since his re-election, and in spite of his express promises, my opponent has closed the neighborhood school at Bonanza, and is in the process of closing Prestonsburg High School, and making the same into an office complex for the School Board Central Office employees and administrators. He plans to build a new high school on Middle Creek, far outside the neighborhood and community of Prestonsburg. WHY DO THIS WHEN HE PLEDGED NOT TO?

WHEN JAMES D. ADAMS SOUGHT RE-ELECTION IN 1986, he expressly promised in the Floyd County Times:

"To consider teachers as professionals and to treat them accordingly"

After he was re-elected, my opponent developed and fought to maintain a budget process that excluded the teachers from any and all input in salaries, academic programs, and the distribution of money throughout the system. He willingly fought to keep Floyd County teachers among the lowest paid in the state of Kentucky, and plunged Floyd County into the second longest teachers' strike in the history of the Commonwealth. The strike did not end until other Board members took a stand opposing James D. Adams. The Kentucky Education Association has recognized this by endorsing me in my attempts to unseat James D. Adams for his District No. 1 Board seat.

WHEN JAMES D. ADAMS SOUGHT RE-ELECTION IN 1986, he expressly promised in the Floyd County Times:

"To remove political pressure from all school employees"

After James D. Adams was re-elected, he has routinely involved the school system in local and state politics. In a recent trial in U.S. District Court in Pikeville, Kentucky, when Eddie Patton brought suit against the Floyd County Board of Education, one witness testified under oath that he was called the night before the School Board election of Ray "Shag" Campbell, and was directed by my opponent, and current Superintendent, Ron Hager, to go to election grounds and fight to defeat Ray "Shag" Campbell from re-election. Shortly after this testimony was offered in open court, the Floyd County Board of Education decided to settle this case for $75,000.00, paid to Eddie Patton. This was to settle a claim brought by a School Board employee, that the Floyd County School board had violated his civil rights. This is a matter of public record, and has been reported in the Floyd County Times.

NOW, JAMES D. ADAMS IS SEEKING RE-ELECTION IN 1990, AND IS PUTTING FORTH PROMISES IN THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES AGAIN, SAYING:

"We will have it."

If my opponent is re-elected, will we?

I believe that a person's deeds should match their words, and when they do not, that person should be accountable to the public. What I tell you I will do, I will do. Further, I will do it in the light of day so that each and every taxpayer, parent, and student can be knowledgeable about the business and policies of our school system.

And finally have the opportunity to be involved.
House Bill 940 is not for "I" but for "We", all of us.

Bormes completes engineer course

Army National Guard Private Christopher D. Bormes has completed a combat engineer course at the U.S. Army Training Center at Fort Leonard Wood, MO.

During the course, students were trained in the techniques of road and bridge building, camouflage and demolition. They also received instruction in combat squad tactics as well as in the use of infantry weapons.

Bormes is the son of Thomas J. and Nancy Bormes of Printer.

Branham serving in Saudi Arabia

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Stephen E. Branham, son of Steve Branham Sr. of Betsy Layne is currently deployed to the Middle East in support of Operation Desert Shield while serving aboard the battleship USS Wisconsin, homeported in Norfolk, Virginia.

Operation Desert Shield is the largest deployment of United States military forces since Vietnam. The operation is in response to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and threat to Saudi Arabia.

A 1987 graduate of Betsy Layne High School, he joined the Navy in September 1987.

Spiggle completes Repairman course

Private George A. Spiggle Jr., has completed a track-vehicle repairer course at Aberdeen Proving Ground, MD.

Students were taught to troubleshoot, repair and maintain mechanical, electrical, air and hydraulic systems on tracked-vehicles.

Spiggle is the son of George A. and Nancy Spiggle of Prestonsburg. He is a 1986 graduate of Prestonsburg High School.

Profitt enlists in Air Force

Dennis Neil Profitt of Salyersville, recently enlisted into the Air Force's delayed enlistment program, said SSGT Huff, the local Air Force recruiter.

Profitt, attending Magoffin County High School, is scheduled for enlistment into the regular Air Force in July 1991. Upon graduation from the Air Force's six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, near San Antonio, Texas, he will receive technical training in his designated career area.

Profitt will earn credits toward an associate degree in applied sciences through the community college of the Air Force while attending basic and technical training school.

Patton joins Air Force

Danny J. Patton of Estill has enlisted in the United States Air Force, according to SSGT Huff, local recruiter.

Upon successfully completing the Air Force's six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, near San Antonio, Texas, he will receive technical training in his designated career field.

Patton, a 1986 graduate of Allen Central High School, will earn credits toward an associate degree in applied sciences through the community college of the Air Force while attending basic and technical training school.

Barnette returns from Saudi Arabia

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Gregory A. Barnett, a graduate of Allen Central High School recently returned from deployment to the Mediterranean Sea while serving aboard the destroyer tender USS Sierra, homeported in Charleston, South Carolina.

During the six-month deployment, Barnett participated in various exercises and operations including Operation Desert Shield. At the start of Operation Desert Shield, Eisenhower's battle group was directed to the Red Sea where they conducted maritime interception operations and coordinated with air, ground and Naval components of the multinational force in the region.

In the Mediterranean, the battle group continued its support of Operation Desert Shield. The return of the battle group demonstrates the flexibility of our Navy and its ability to provide and sustain the Naval presence required by operational commanders.

Barnett joined the Navy in July 1985.

TO MY COLLEAGUES, OLD FRIENDS AND FELLOW BOARD MEMBERS

FIRST—Mr. Tommy Boyd - Prior to the construction of the new Betsy Layne High School, I traveled to Frankfort, Kentucky with Mr. John Stumbo, Mr. Ray "Shag" Campbell, Mr. Bill Reynolds, and Mr. Pete Grigsby, Jr., to help negotiate with State Officials to purchase the school site where Betsy Layne High School is presently located. No land was available in the Betsy Layne community area. Therefore, the Floyd County Board of Education chose to purchase the existing site for $55,000, even though it is several miles from the community of Betsy Layne and the present High School Fieldhouse. It was my opinion that the new high school program would improve the educational opportunities for the youth of the River and Mud Creek area and if you'll check the board minutes, YOU WILL FIND THAT I VOTED FOR IT.

SECONDLY—Mr. Ray "Shag" Campbell - The first phase of the new Allen Elementary School is located in the Emma, Kentucky neighborhood—not in the city of Allen. The New Prestonsburg High School Program serves the North end of the county which includes Cow Creek, Sugarloaf, Emma, Allen, Bull Creek, Buffalo, Dwale, Left Middle Creek, and all of the Educational Division No. 1. As a Board Member representing several of the above communities, it is my opinion that you have neglected your duties by VOTING NO for a program which will enhance the educational opportunities of the youth living in your educational division. Do you remember "Shag" I voted for the new Allen School?

THIRDLY—A special thanks to Dr. Mary Hall and Mr. James A. Duff. Dr. Hall—I will continue to vote, as I have in the past, for any program that you, as representative of Educational Division No. 4, consider being conducive to the improvement of the educational process of the youth residing there.

Mr. Duff—Thanks to you for your affirmative vote. Personally I think you were concerned about the educational needs of those students living in David, Blue River, Bull Creek, Dwale, Caney Creek, and Pyramid. These are communities within the bounds of Educational Division No. 5 whose youth normally attend Prestonsburg High School. I promise to continue to support Division No. 5, and will vote with you, as their representative, to provide for their educational needs.

Fellow Board Members, Let's stop the so-called Five Islands in the Sea and become a United Board and quit playing PETTY POLITICS with our educational program which is so vital to not only our youth—but the entire county.

YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT FOR JAMES "DOC" ADAMS. FOR BOARD MEMBER, EDUCATIONAL DIVISION NO. 1, WILL BE APPRECIATED

Paid for by the candidate
Steve Allen, CPA, treasurer

In Loving Memory of HEATH ENDICOTT
Oct. 21, 1970-May 13, 1990

TO ALL PARENTS:
I'll lend you, for a little while, a child of mine, He said. For you to love while he lives, and mourn when he is dead. It may be six or seven years, or twenty-two or -three, But will you, 'til I call him back, take of him for me?
He'll bring his charms to gladden you, and shall his stay be brief, You'll have his lovely memories as solace for your grief. I cannot promise he will stay, as all from Earth return, But there are lessons taught down there I want this child to learn.
I've looked the wide world over in my search for teachers true, And from the throngs that crowd life's lanes, I have selected you. Now will you give him all your love—not think the labor vain, Nor hate me when I come to call him back again.
I fancied that I heard them say, 'Dear Lord, thy will be done.' For all the joy this child shall bring, the risk of grief we'll run. We'll shower him with tenderness and love him while we may, And for the happiness we've known, forever grateful stay. And should the angels call for him much sooner than we planned, We'll brave the bitter grief that comes and try to understand.

Breast Cancer Awareness program on Thursday

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. According to the Breast Center at Highlands Regional Medical Center, during 1990 one in ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer, now the most common form of cancer in American women. It is estimated that 44,000 females and 300 males will die of breast cancer in 1990 and it is the leading cause of death in women between the ages of 40 and 44. As frightening as this statistic appears, considerable progress has been made in the diagnosis and treatment of this disease.

Prestonsburg Community College and The Prestonsburg Woman's Club is sponsoring a Breast Cancer Awareness Program designed to increase public knowledge concerning the second-leading cancer-killer among women in the United States today.

Denise Queen, Director of the Breast Center at Highlands will address the issue of breast cancer and what women should be doing to protect themselves from this killer.

There will be 142,900 new cases of breast cancer this year resulting in 43,000 deaths. But the good news is that early detection significantly increases the survival rate. Though the fear of cancer often inhibits women in seeking immediate medical attention, it is important to remember that three out of four breast lumps are non-cancerous. Although breast cancer cannot be prevented, a regular program of mammograms, breast self-exams and physical exams can detect and treat breast cancer more effectively. In fact, according to Queen, 96 percent of breast cancer cases can be detected when all three methods, Mammography, Clinical Breast Exam and Self-Breast Exam, are used together in a planned program.

"This contrasts," stated Queen, "with just several years ago, when the prognosis for breast cancer patients was not encouraging. But today's early detection measures have dramatically increased life expecttancy. The main difference is that more women have become educated to the facts concerning this disease. But we need to let more people know how easy it is to learn these good health habits."

Queen explained, "You begin with a baseline mammogram as a permanent record to compare future x-rays. This is recommended for women between the ages of 35 and 40. For women age 40 to 49, a mammogram is recommended every one to two years. And, because the incidence of breast cancer is higher in women over 50, yearly mammograms for this age group are strongly suggested."

"Preventative measures are not expensive," Queen continued. "For about the same price you would pay for dinner out and a trip to the movie, a mammogram could provide emotional satisfaction for those concerned about their health or the health of a loved one."

The Breast Center at Highlands Regional Medical Center offers the most advanced technology in detection, diagnosis, treatment, and support services of breast cancer in the area. Through the use of mammography (low dose x-ray) and the help of trained technologists, the Breast Center also assists patients by providing information and encouraging questions about the procedures. They lend assurance to the patients that the best possible care is being made available to them. "And," Queen points out, "the Breast Center is the only mammography unit in the region that is accredited by the American College of Radiology."

She offers a single reminder: "One telephone call could save your life, so do yourself and your family a favor by making an appointment for a mammogram or by requesting a packet of free information from the Breast Center at Highlands this month. Just call (606)886-8511 and ask for Denise, at extension 160, or call toll free 1-800-533-HRMC.

Welcome sign greets Maytown homecoming

What seemed like months of planning became a reality for the Langley League. Maytown's welcome sign was erected on the second day of their Homecoming weekend this summer. Tommy Ray Flannery, John Flannery and Keith Hayes, and Darlene Howard were aided by Ricky Scott, Terry Howard, Wesley Halbert and T. Allen Combs (pictured left to right) in positioning the sign. Not only a welcome to the community, the sign is the result of a joint effort. Bill Robinson designed and cut the sign from plywood donated by Libby Flannery. Duna Combs, of the Langley League, painted it. Maytown was founded in 1775.

Tidbits

Brain Power

After a 20 year absence from the academic world, I have enrolled in an English 101 class at PCC. My instructor, Mrs. Sanoma Goodwill, has cleared a few of the cobwebs from my brain with her use of precision sentences. Mrs. Goodwill seems to want her students to enjoy the learning process, and we do!

Recently, Mrs. Goodwill presented her students with a handout containing proverbs that have been rewritten. A proverb is an adage, a popular saying. The rewritten proverbs are listed below. For those members of the younger generation who say they haven't heard these "old" sayings, the first answer is given. The answers will appear in Friday's edition.

1. If initially you experience failure, persist and persevere repeatedly in your efforts. (Answer: If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.)
2. A coin of small denomination put aside is the equivalent of another such coin received as salary.
3. The writing instrument that holds the ink is more powerful than a weapon used by knights.
4. If you are unable to tolerate the high temperature, remove yourself from the cooking room.
5. A stupid man and his currency are separated in very little time.
6. Everything that sparkles is not necessarily a precious metal of yellow-orange color.
7. The feathered creature that is up at dawn secures the crawling invertebrate.
8. A rotating rock does not accumulate green vegetation.
9. You are unable to keep your layered dessert and consume it also. 10. Going to sleep early and awakening ahead of time makes a person robust, rich, and intelligent.

The Floyd County Times invites readers to submit puzzles, jokes, or interesting stories for publication in the Tidbits column.

Color Fall Forecast

If you're heading to the mountains of Kentucky to get a glimpse of fall color, it may be wise to heed the words of Robert Frost and take the road less traveled. A patchwork of autumn colors is emerging in the region, with some observers predicting peak viewing conditions by this weekend. Coloration now varies widely from 25 to 50 percent, so some areas may wait a week to ten days for the best in fall hues.

A'S POWER TO BATTLE REDS DEFENSE AND PITCHING

Much has been said of the awesome power of the Oakland A's... Jose Canseco, Mark McGuire and Ricky Henderson. A lot of hullabaloo has been written over the pitching of the Athletics. There can be no denying the fact that Dave Stewart and Bob Welch are bonafide big league pitchers. Each were 20-plus winners this past season. And the A's ran the Boston Red Sox completely out of the playoffs. On paper this makes the Oakland A's look awesome. It would almost come to the point of scaring the Cincinnati Reds, the worthy opponents of the A's in the 1990 World Series.

However, I don't think the A's would have been so awesome looking if they were a National League team. I believe there are better quality pitchers in the senior league as compared to the American League. There may not be as many 20 game winners in the National compared to the American League. That brings up the age old argument, the pitching is so good that it stops the hitters. How about the hitters being so bad it makes the pitchers look good?

The Reds are a balanced ballclub. I for one will admit I had my doubts they could pull out the National League pennant over the hard hitting Pirates (Bobby Bonds, Bobby Bonilla, Jeff King and company). However, after seeing the Reds come through with a 4-2 record, I think they will win the series in six games.

The defense of the Reds is the best in Major League baseball, bar none. The only ones you might call "stars" are Eric Davis and Barry Larkin. Stars are made by the news media. The ones who get the most positive press are the stars. And many times the little guys go unnoticed until they pull you out of a big game (reference the sixth game of the playoffs). Ron Oester, a forgotten man during the regular season for the Reds, is now a hero, a star. Why? Because the press has made him one and rightly so. I feel that Oester got a rotten deal with the Reds this past summer and now that he has shown that he can still play, they want him to come back as a utility player. Oester is a free agent after the World Series.

Jose Rijo, Danny Jackson had good playoff games. So did Tom Browning, to an extent. He was the most inconsistent of the three starters that Lou Piniella used. Browning will be easy picking for the A's unless he can get his screwball over with some consistency and keep the A's off stride. If he is not able to perform well it could be a long day for the Reds.

I see a real need for Eric Davis to regain the form he had during the month of September. I know that he is hurt, but sometimes with just seven games left in the year, it is time to reach back and give a little extra. I believe Davis will respond. Chris Sabo needs to take a few pitches at the plate. He needs to be more patient. Larkin is still Larkin and that's good.

For the A's its just another World Series (third) and to the Reds its a new season that brings a new desire, new enthusiasm.

It will be a good series, with the Reds coming out World Champions in six games. Why? I don't believe all the hype about the A's and besides that I think the National League game for game is a better league. The A's have to prove they are all that the press says they are, but the Reds are not supposed to be there, which will take away a lot of the pressure.

Until Friday, for my 58th District Girls and 15th Regional boys picks, good sports and always be good sports!

Blackcats Win Homecoming Game Over Sheldon Clark

Posters highlighted the Prestonsburg football field Friday evening on Homecoming Night for the Prestonsburg Blackcats (5-3) as the Sheldon Clark Cardinals (4-2) were in town to provide the opposition for Coach Bill Letton's chargers. Signs such as "PHS is 'Letton' loose" or "fly home Cards," graced the field as alums from the '20s, '30s, '40s and '50s were recognized at halftime of the game. Guest of honor at the homecoming game, that saw the Blackcats claw the Cards 14-8, was one time Blackcat mentor "Doc" Farrell. Farrell coached at the Prestonsburg High School for six years, posting a 48-18 record with the Blackcats. Farrell played for the University of Kentucky Wildcats for four years. The homecoming festivities were placed into the capable hands of Freddie James, who did an outstanding job of gathering a little nostalgia of past Blackcat football teams.

It was also a big night for the lovely ladies who were contending for the title of "Miss Homecoming Queen, 1990", a title that was won by Missy Caudill.

The returning former coach had a chance to watch the modern day version of the Blackcats win their second straight game as they have set their eyes on a playoff berth this season. The win was the Cats fifth against only three losses.

Although the Blackcat offense was not as sharp as a week ago against Leslie County, the defense was much improved in limiting the Cardinals to only 149 total offense yardage. Sheldon Clark took the opening kickoff and had little trouble in moving the football as they picked up four first downs on their first possession. However, the Cardinal drive ended when Scott Dale fumbled the ball on the Blackcats 46 yard line.

Prestonsburg went on top 7-0 on a touchdown drive that was set up by a Worthie McGuire interception. The Cardinals were faced with a second and nine situation when sophomore Greg Crum, filling for the injured Jesse Watts, tossed long, only to have McGuire pick off the pass on the Sheldon Clark 27 yard line. A clipping penalty on the Blackcats moved the ball back to the Cardinals 42.

Aaron Tucker picked up 9 yards on a carry and carries by Todd Goodman and John Goble placed the ball on the 25 yard line of Sheldon Clark. Blackcat quarterback John Clark then hit wide receiver Worthie McGuire with a 25 yard pass for a touchdown with 6:15 remaining. Jason "Golden Toe" Storey split the uprights for the extra point. The scoring drive took seven plays covering 42 yards.

In the opening of the third quarter, the Blackcats in control on their 31 yard line, confusion between referees occurred. On a second and six play, Goble fumbled the football and one official called it the Cardinals' ball. However, after a discussion between officials, control of the ball remained with the Blackcats on the Cards' 30 yard line. Goble picked up 12 yards on the play. Prestonsburg moved the ball to the Cardinal 3 where Todd Goodman crossed the goal line to paydirt. Storey kicked the extra point for a 14-0 Blackcat lead.

On the ensuing kickoff, the Cardinals quarterback Greg Crum had a completion on a pitch out to the side where James Derossett made a good tackle to stop the play from developing into long yardage. On a second and 9 situation, Crum had his second pass intercepted by McGuire. The Blackcat defense picked off their third pass of the game when Robbie Watson intercepted a Crum pass deep into Blackcat territory. Sheldon Clark had moved to the Prestonsburg 20 yard line on a drive that began at the Cardinal 20. On third and five, Mike Ramadan caught Crum 10 yards

Rebels Eyes Are On Winning Season After Win Over Fairview

It was homecoming night at the Don Daniels Athletic Complex Thursday night where the Allen Central Rebels defeated the Eagles of Fairview 29-0 in high school football action. The win gives the Rebels a 3-5 record and hopes of a winning season, the school's first.

"We definitely believe we can have a winning season this year," said Dewey Jamerson, Rebel coach. "We have a good shot at going 6-5 if we can just take the remaining games."

While Tiffany Click was being crowned "Homecoming Queen 1990" Thursday night, the Rebels served notice they are on a roll, winning for the second time in the last two games. The Rebels had won previous games against Jenkins and KSD.

The show belonged to Tommy Gibson Thursday night, as the senior fullback ran for 183 yards on 18 carries; scored three touchdowns and was a stalwart on defense for the high-flying Rebels.

If momentum was to play a part in this game, the Eagles of Fairview lost it on their first possession of the game. The Eagles took the opening kick and moved the ball inside the Rebel 10 yard line. It looked as if it could be a long night for the Rebels. However, the Rebels held the Eagles and took over the ball on their own 10. The Eagles drive began on their own 40 and, behind the running of freshman Nathan Holbrook, they moved the ball at will. Holbrook carried the ball eight times in the drive picking up 35 of his game total 61 yards. Eagle quarterback Chancie Roy hit split end Matt Vanderpool with a 27 yard pass in the drive also. However, the Rebels held when the ball reached the 7 yard line. On a pitch out by Roy on a third and goal, the ball was fumbled on the Rebels 10 yard line with Fairview recovering. On fourth down Roy tried to hit Bruce Morrison in the endzone, but the pass was incomplete and the Rebels took over on downs at their own 10. Not only did the Eagles turn the ball over to the Rebels but they lost the momentum as well.

Allen Central took the ball 90 yards for a touchdown where Gibson scored his first TD on a 18 yard run. Todd Lucas scored the conversion and it was Allen Central up 8-0. The drive took 15 plays to cover the 90 yards. In the drive, the Rebels were faced with a fourth and two, when an illegal motion call went against the Eagles giving the Rebels a first down.

The Rebels made it 16-0 in marching 62 yards for a TD when Gibson ran across from 13 yards out. Quarterback B. J. Aldrich ran the two-point conversion for the Rebels. Aldrich picked up 19 yards on a run on the first play of the series. down, his third of the game. Lucas scored the two point conversion and it was 26-0, Rebels.

The final scoring came in the

"Better team than expected"

Bobcats Woes Continues As Morgan County Wins 22-0; Fourth Shutout

The Betsy Layne Bobcats' football season continues to fall on hard times as they are still looking for that first win of the 1990 season. The Bobcats fell for the ninth time this season as the Pirates of Morgan County claimed a 22-0 shutout victory over the winless Bobcats.

"Betsy Layne was a better team than I expected," said Morgan County head coach Bruce Herdman. "I was surprised at the talent that is on that team. Defensively, Betsy Layne played us as well as we have been played this season."

The shutout was the fourth in a row for the Bobcats (Leslie County, Elkhorn City, Whitesburg). The last time the Bobcats were able to score was against Sheldon Clark on September 14. The shutout totaled seven for the season.

The Pirates got on the scoreboard early in the first quarter on a 35 yard pass play from Pirates quarterback Chalmer Adams to Royce Collett. Derrick Finch ran the two point conversion for a fast 8-0 lead.

Morgan County went to the locker room at halftime with a 16-0 advantage when Finch scored from two yards out in the second period. Finch again scored the two point conversion.

Finch added his second touchdown in the third quarter on a 1 yard run. The conversion attempt failed.

"If we had been unable to pass the ball in the game with Betsy Layne we would have been in trouble," said Coach Herdman. "If we would have had to run the ball up the field, I doubt we would have been able to score against them."

"I can see why they had expected to have a good season this year with the talent they have on that team. Defensively they are tough. It is hard to tell what has happen to them offensively."

In the passing department for Morgan County, Adams was eight for 14 for 150 yards. The Pirates managed 160 yards on the ground for a total of 310 yards offense, led by

Coaches, Athletic Directors Named By School Board

In last Wednesday night's Floyd County School Board Meeting, the Board of Education took steps to officially hire coaches and athletic directors at the county schools.

One position yet to be filled is the girls' basketball coach at Betsy Layne High School. The position was created when Gary Hopkins decided not to return to fill the position from last year. Hopkins held the job at the local high school in the absence of Karen Henry, who took a leave of absence from coaching last year and elected not to return this year.

According to Betsy Layne High School Athletic Director Junior Newsome, the Board of Education is required by state law to advertise bids for the opening for 30 days. Newsome says that the position should be filled by the first of November. In the meantime, Bill Newsome is conducting practices for the Betsy Layne girls' team until a new coach is named.

Seniors Win "Powder Puff" Bowl

What will the folks at the Prestonsburg High School come up with next? Just when you think you have heard of all the games, along comes another one — Powder Puff Football. Who plays the game? Girls! So was the case last week when the girls of the freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior classes got together for the first annual Powder Puff Bowl.

It was the senior class, coached by Chuck Rowe, defensive coach and Robert Hammond, offensive coach, who came away with the first title in the Powder Puff Bowl.

It was a team effort all the way, coach Hammond stated of his offensive team. All the way behind Kathy Slone. Slone scored all three touchdowns for the senior class in her team's 20-6 victory over the junior class in first round play on Tuesday night. Robyn Allen ran the two-point conversion. Coach Rowe had praises for his defensive squad, particularly an interception by Belinda Collins. Slone rushed for over 200 yards for the senior class. She can do more than score baskets. In the championship round, a 6-0 victory over the sophomore class, it was Slone again scoring the game's only touchdown. The big defensive play came on an interception by Nikki Flannery who returned the ball 25 yards before being stopped.

Robyn Allen, the outstanding wide receiver, caught a pass good for 30 yards from Slone, the team's quarterback. Jeri Kinzer also had a 12 yard reception for the victorious seniors.

Senior squad members were: Mamata Majmundar, Tabitha Simpkins, Linda Music, Christel Blackburn, Robyn Allen, Amy Osborne, Angela Sinters, Rachael Allen, Crystal Osborne, Stephanie Allen, Melanie Minix, Teresa Banks, Kim Poe, Tiffany Bailey, Susan Elkins, Stacey Calhoun, Nikki Flannery, Kathy Slone. Sponsors for the senior team were Mrs. Stout and Miss Sammons.

The Powder Puff Bowl will become an annual event at the local high school to be held around the Jenny Wiley Festival.

Rebels

The momentum the Eagles enjoyed earlier had completely left them when Brad Scott intercepted an errant Roy pass on the Rebel 31 yard line.

In the Rebels next two possessions, Brian Wallen attempted two field goals with both coming up short.

In the third period, the Eagles seemed to get some momentum back as they started on the Eagles' 20 yard line and, on a first down play, Jamie Slone stepped in front of a would-be Eagle receiver and intercepted Roy's pass. The Rebels returned the favor on the possession when Aldrich went deep, on a second and 17 play, for Brett Meadows, only to have Holbrook intercept the pass.

The Rebels scored their next two points without having to run or pass the ball. A bad snap from center in a punting situation sailed over the head of Holbrook and into the Eagles endzone for a safety. Three plays after Fairview kicked off to Allen Central, Gibson broke two tackles and romped 40 yards for a touch-fourth period on a 26-yard field goal by Brian Wallace, his third attempt on the night. The three-points made it 29-0.

Allen Central had their best offensive outing of the season in totaling 341 yards. Gibson ran for 183 yards on 18 carries to lead the ground attack of the Rebels, who totaled 333 yards in rushing. Lucas had 61 yards on 17 carries. Aldrich may not have had many completions, but the senior quarterback totaled 45 yards rushing. Aldrich had only one completion for 8 yards.

Allen Central picked up 16 first downs compared to Fairview's 10.

Blackcats

behind the line of scrimmage for a loss. On fourth and 15 from the Blackcats 30, Watson intercepted Crum's pass to end the drive.

Sheldon Clark got on the scoreboard with 1:33 remaining in the game when the Cards, on the Prestonsburg 40 yard line, handed off to Kraig Grayson who carried 39 yards before he was pulled down by Robby Watson on the Blackcat 1 yard line. Coach Matney put Chris Goss in at the quarterback spot for one play, and that was a 1 yard plunge for a touchdown. Crum then hit Grayson with a pass for the two point conversion. Sheldon Clark tried an onside kick in hopes the Blackcats would fumble the football. The Cats took control with 1:00 showing and elected to run out the clock.

Prestonsburg had a total of 235 offensive yardage with 119 rushing and 116 passing. Goble had 68 yards on 20 carries and Todd Goodman piled up 43 yards on 12 carries. Clark had five completions for 116 yards. McGuire had four receptions for 73 yards. Aaron Tucker had two receptions for 43 yards. The Blackcats were penalized 35 yards on five penalties. They had no turnovers.

Sheldon Clark's leading rusher was Chris Goss with 52 yards on 13 carries. Grayson carried two times for 50 yards. Crum had four completions for 21 yards. The Cardinals had a total of 128 yards on the ground in 25 carries.

PRO OUTLOOK

MIAMI 31 VS NEW ENGLAND 10
(Thursday Night)

In season opener Dolphins beat Pats 27-24, but tried to give game away. Quarterback Dan Marino threw three interceptions and New England led early 21-6. Miami scored winning TD in last two minutes.

leans led 49ers until last nine seconds.

L.A. RAIDERS 28 VS SAN DIEGO 10

Teams split in meetings in '89, Raiders destroying Chargers in season opener 40-14. San Diego upset L.A. with second half rally 14-12 after Raiders had taken 12-0 lead.

SEATTLE 30 VS KANSAS CITY 23

Last season was first year Chiefs swept series with Seahawks since 1981, beating them 20-16, 20-10. Chief running back Christian Okoye led Kansas City attack, rushing for total of 282 yards.

BUFFALO 27 VS NEW YORK JETS 20

Bills rolled over Jets in recent Monday night game 30-7, with running back Thurman Thomas rambling for 214 yards in 18 carries, second highest total in Monday night history. Bills again!

L.A. RAMS 31 VS ATLANTA 30

Rams looking for sixth straight win over Falcons, beating them twice last season 31-21, 26-14. L.A. quarterback Jim Everett threw for total of three TDs in both games. Rams, close!

TAMPA BAY 21 VS DALLAS 20

In Dallas two weeks ago, Bucs tried for first win in their history over Cowboys, but Dallas came back from 10-7 deficit to win 14-10 for seventh straight victory over Tampa Bay.

DENVER 20 VS INDIANAPOLIS 17

First of three road games for Broncos. Colts shut down by Denver in match up last fall with running back Eric Dickerson being held to 35 yards in 13 carries, Broncos winning 14-3. Denver!

NEW YORK GIANTS 30 VS PHOENIX 10

Giants have won eight of last 10 vs Cards, including decisive 35-7 win in '89 with New York defense coming up with five sacks, four interceptions, two fumble recoveries. New York won second game 20-13.

WASHINGTON 27 VS PHILADELPHIA 17

These bitter rivals played two opposite type games last fall, Eagles beating Redskins in shoot out 42-37, Philly scoring three fourth quarter TDs. Washington won second 10-3.

HOUSTON 24 VS NEW ORLEANS 23

Saints have won last three games with Oilers, '81, '84, '87, lead series 3-2, neither setting NFL on fire, though in season opener. New Or-

SAN FRANCISCO 28 VS PITTSBURGH 17

Steelers have won five of last six meetings vs 49ers. Pitt no longer punchless, scoring 36 points against Chargers two weeks ago. San Francisco hasn't shown '89 brilliance, but enough to win.

Monday Night CINCINNATI 33 VS CLEVELAND 23

Bengal quarterback Boomer Esiason threw three TD passes in 21-14 win over Browns in Monday night game last season, then threw for two more in second, a 21-0 whitewashing. Cincy wins again.

COLLEGE HIGHLIGHTS

In 1987, the undefeated national champion Miami Hurricanes rolled over all opponents, scoring 392 points. Notre Dame contributed to that total as they were zipped by the 'Canes 24-0. In 1988, the Irish hosted the defending champions and handed Miami its only loss of the season in a thriller, 31-30, Notre Dame going on to become Miami's successor as national champion. Last year, the Hurricanes, at home, whipped the Irish convincingly 27-10, regaining the national title. It was Notre Dame's only loss. Saturday's battle in South Bend may not be for the national title this season.

Miami was upset by Brigham Young in its opener while the Irish had close calls with Michigan and Michigan State before being shocked by Stanford two weeks ago. O.K., so all the trivia aside, who should win? Miami!

Illinois and Michigan State meet in a Big Ten match up in Champaign. Both teams had eyes on the conference title, and Illinois' 31-20 win over Ohio State two weeks ago put a huge spark in their hopes. Their confrontation last season was defensive all the way, the Illini winning 14-10. The winner this year, Illinois.

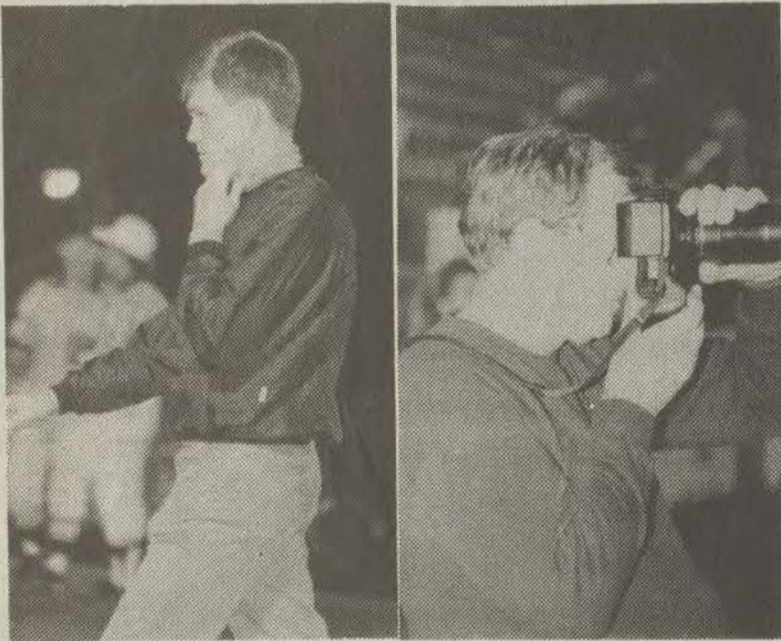

Texas fans weren't thrilled with last year's 5-6 longhorn record, though it was a slight improvement over their four wins, seven losses in 1988. However, on back-to-back Saturdays last season, Texas pulled a couple of major surprises. First, the Horns upset Oklahoma 28-24, then they handed conference champion Arkansas its only loss of the season, a 24-20 shocker. Texas is the host this week against the bitter rival Razorbacks and Arkansas could be in trouble again. They were surprised earlier by Mississippi and TCU. We're picking the Horns.

Rams Tune Up For Hazard Spells Defeat For Wheelwright, 49-6

Were the Raceland Rams looking past Wheelwright to this Friday's encounter with co-district leader Hazard in Thursday night's high school football game with the Trojans? Raceland, coming off a loss to Lawrence County the previous week, knows the importance of the upcoming game with the Bulldogs.

"Our players know that this week is it and if I read this team right, they will be ready to play," said Rams coach Bill Tom Ross. "We had better be blocking next week (Friday)."

The Trojan defense, like it has been all year, was tough on the power running Rams. Wheelwright held the highly favored Raceland team to one first quarter touchdown before they exploded in the second quarter for 22 points.

The Rams scored first on a 27-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Jesse Justice to wide receiver Shannon McCoy. The extra point attempt failed and the Rams led 6-0 after one period.

In the second quarter, Raceland used the ground game as well as the airways to score in the period. Justice hit Shane Davidson with a 15-yard pass for a touchdown early in the period. Davidson also ran the two-point conversion for a 14-0 lead.

After Wheelwright was forced to give up the football, Raceland's Mike Stewart raced 14 yards for a touchdown and Robert McDaniel kicked the extra point to make it 21-0.

Raceland added to the lead when a screen pass to Brian Fletcher resulted in a 42-yard touchdown for the Rams. McDaniel added the extra point and the Rams raced to the lockerroom with a 28-0 halftime lead.

Passing was the big weapon for the Rams against the Trojans. Justice's strong arm was good for 99 yards passing on five-of-eight attempts.

Raceland returned to the field after halftime and McCoy broke tackle and raced 33 yards for a TD as the Rams kept piling up the points. Daniel kicked his third extra point after McCoy's scoring run.

The reserves got in on the scoring act as sophomore Shane Bishop was called on to carry the ball. And he did on a 1-yard run for a TD.

Wheelwright finally broke into the scoring column when Mike Justice took the football across the goal line from 6 yards out in the fourth period. The conversion run failed as the Trojans trailed 43-6.

Mark Seshier completed the scoring for Raceland with a 5 yard run to make it 49-6.

The Rams piled up 276 yards on the ground on 40 carries. McCoy and Stewart each finished with 62 yards on just six carries. Mike Thompson had 53 yards in carrying nine times.

Raceland picked up 10 first downs and was penalized four times for 50 yards. The big difference offensively in the game was in the passing department, where Raceland had 103 yards through the air to Wheelwright's 45. Justice was six for 10 in passing with one interception. Top receiver for the Rams was Brian Fletcher with one reception for 42 yards.

Wheelwright totaled 227 yards on offense, with 182 coming on the ground on 30 attempts. Trojan quarterback Steven Johnson threw the ball 15 times with five completions and he was intercepted three times. Wheelwright also turned the ball over twice on fumbles for five turnovers in the game. Wheelwright was penalized three times for 25 yards.

Ryan Johnson was the top rusher for the Trojans with 98 yards on 14 carries. Arnold Adams had 39 yards on five attempts. In the receiving department Brian Rhea had two receptions for 25 yards; Justice had two for 17 yards and Robbie Wright had one for three yards.

The loss drops the Trojans to 1-7 and their seventh straight loss after a season opening win over Betsy Layne. The Trojans go to 0-3 in the district. Raceland improves to 7-2 and 3-0 in the district. Wheelwright will host Allen Central Friday night in their homecoming game. Raceland travels to Hazard.

P-burg Jr League To Conduct Sign Ups Oct. 21, 28

According to Prestonsburg Junior Pro Basketball League President Dickie Hall, the junior pro league will conduct registration on October 21 and 28, from 1 to 5 p.m. each day. The sign ups will take place at the Prestonsburg gym.

Hall said that all new players that will be signing up, and all players that will be moving up to a higher level, will be required to run, dribble and shoot the basketball. "This is not a try out for players," the league president said, "just a little drill for them to go through."

The sign up days are for players from the ages of seven to fourteen kids are welcome, regardless of how good or inexperienced they are.

years of age (those who turned 14 after September 1). Hall said that all

"We are here to teach good fundamentals of basketball, to teach the kids how to be a good sport and play team ball," he explained. "We are also here to teach them how to say no to drugs."

Each player will play one full quarter in each ball game stated Hall.

For more information on sign up day, contact Dickie Hall at the Ed Walters used car lot, 886-0033 or at his home, 874-2015.

Deer Hunt Plans Finalized At Fort Knox Military Reservation

Post officials have finalized plans for this year's deer hunt on the Fort Knox military reservation and have added an additional weekend to allow hunters to get that prize buck they all seek.

Bow season has already opened and will last through November 18; dates for the 1990 gun deer hunt are November 24-25, December 1-2, December 8-9, December 15-16. Post officials said those selected for gun hunting permits from the more than 5,000 applications received this year will be notified by mail in early to mid-November.

A total of 92 hunting areas on Fort Knox have been opened to hunters this year, a decrease of 13 from previous years due to increased sightings of unexploded ammunition from adjacent firing ranges. More than 87,000 acres on the post will be opened to hunters, officials said.

Outdoor Smells Bring Back Memories

by Lowell Branham
It has been said that smell is the most evocative of all the senses. I believe it. Sight, sound, taste and touch all occasionally tickle the brain cells and stir up mild recollections, but there is nothing like smell to resurrect old memories and bring them rushing back through a tunnel of years to flood the brain in full blown technicolor.
Folks with a strong outdoor bent are probably more attuned to smells than most, the outdoors being creation's premier repository of delectable odors. Compared to the olfactory delights of nature, the finest Paris perfumes are pretty weak stuff.
Of course, to enjoy some of nature's smells may require some acclimation. Take one of my favorites, for instance, which is skunk. Not many city slickers could ever cotton to the smell of skunk, no matter how much acclimating they did.
But plenty of us folks who grew up in the country are genuinely pleased whenever a distant polecat decides to make the night fragrant. The key word here is distant. At close range and in full strength, I am as averse to skunk as the rankest city slicker.
The mountains where I grew up were blessed with a bountiful skunk supply, and judging by the frequency with which they fired their potent guns, most of them must have had hair trigger tempers.
It's been over thirty years since the need to earn a living took me out of the mountains and plunked me down in the city, but even now the smell of skunk transports me back to days of boyhood.

Game fish are pleasing, but only a buzzard or a starving alley cat could like the reek of gars and grindle and carp.
Like different species of fish, it seems that rivers, too, have their own distinctive odors. It is a difference the nose can readily detect, but far too subtle for the brain put into words.
River smells are usually pleasant but not always. In the low country, where currents are so faint as to be barely distinguishable and where summer heat brings forth heavy algae blooms, river smells can turn downright rank.
The woods are host to a thousand-and-one different odors. One of my favorites is that of new fallen leaves, when they first cover the ground in the fall. They have a tannic astringency that seems to almost bite the nostrils.
The deep hollows where laurel and hemlock grow, and where ruffed grouse like to hang out, have an odor all their own — a dark and brooding smell, full of mystery and wildness.
The woods seem to reach their absolute peak of redolence just before a snowfall. Apparently the approach of a snowstorm generates an atmospheric aberration that accentuates every smell by a magnitude of ten and turns the air into a kaleidoscope of scent that vanishes as mysteriously as it materialized once the flakes begin to fall.
Of the many odors one encounters in the great outdoors, the one that to me is most evocative of all is woodsmoke. I seem to have spent a fair-sized chunk of my life either cooking on a campfire or hunkering in front of one, but if I have any regrets, it is not that I have spent too much time around campfires but rather, not enough.

Whenever I smell the sharp tang of woodsmoke drifting on the air, it doesn't evoke any single remembrance but rather a rich montage of old times and old faces with whom I have shared the glowing warmth of many ancient campfires. The sad part of it is that the years roll by, the only place where a growing number of those faces still exist in memory.

TROJAN HOMECOMING FRIDAY NIGHT AT BRACKETT FIELD
The Wheelwright Trojans will be holding their homecoming this Friday at Brackett Field in Wheelwright. The Allen Central Rebels will provide the opposition for the Trojans. It will also be senior night as the departing seniors will be recognized.

Other odors that evoke vivid images of growing up in the country include new mown hay, horses in a heavy sweat and the first raindrops of a summer thunder storm splashing on hot dust. A smell that has become almost extinct.
At mid-century, most country roads were dirt, and they abounded with dust in the summer — and with bottomless mud in the winter. But nowadays even the byways are covered with asphalt, and raindrops on hot asphalt just don't smell the same.
Lots of folks wrinkle up their noses at the smell of fish, but I have always thought fish smell good when they're first pulled from the water. Of course, it does depend on the kind of fish.

100,000 Collegiate Athletic Scholarships Available

According to the National Sports Foundation, over 100,000 collegiate athletic scholarships are available each year to male and female high school and junior college student athletes.
Contrary to popular belief, students don't have to be All-State to qualify. Much of this money goes unused.
A new publication with forms, sample letters and tables of factual information is available for student athletes. It takes them step by step through the important process of getting an athletic scholarship and includes college and conference listings.
For details on how to get a collegiate athletic scholarship, send a large self addressed, stamped envelope to the National Sports "Foundation, 612A Willow Drive, P.O. Box 940, Oakhurst, New Jersey 07755.

Players from the past

Players from the Prestonsburg football teams of the '20s, '30s, '40s and '50s were recognized at the Prestonsburg Homecoming Friday night. D.T. "Doc" Ferrell was the honored coach at the events. The program will become an annual part of the homecoming festivities at the local high school. Next year promises to be bigger and better. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

Former PHS Coach, "Doc" Ferrell, Returns For Homecoming Festivities

The 1990 Prestonsburg High School Homecoming Queen was crowned, and the Prestonsburg Blackcats defeated the Sheldon Clark Cardinals 14-8 last Friday night. Something else highlighted the evening for the Blackcat fans. It was the return of D.T. "Doc" Ferrell to the place where he coached high school football for six years, establishing a 48-18 record.

Ferrell, along with his wife Nell, was honored at halftime of the homecoming game. Dr. Rob Herrick, president of the Prestonsburg Athletic Club, presented Ferrell and his wife with a plaque at halftime for "all his dedication and support of Prestonsburg High School football."

Ferrell, who recently retired from the Gulf Corporation, coached at the local high school from 1949 until 1954. The popular coach coached four Big Sandy Valley championship teams; four post-season bowl games and was named Coach of the Year in the state of Kentucky in 1950 while at the Prestonsburg school.

Four players who played for Ferrell at Prestonsburg eventually returned to coach at their old alma mater: John Gordon Goble, Bill Gobel, Jr., Burt Dixon and Bob Crager.

Ferrell coached also at Owensboro, and Lafayette in Lexington before retiring from the Gulf Corporation.

Ferrell was born at Richmond where he later graduated from Madison Model High School. After graduation, Ferrell spent two years in the United States Navy. Returning in 1946, he went to the University of Kentucky, where he played football for four years on the Wildcat team. His 1954 Blackcat team was 10-0.

According to Freddie James, director of the homecoming events, next year the Prestonsburg Athletic Club will be recognizing players from the '60s, '70s and '80s. All players from those years are invited and urged to take part with plans of the events being bigger and better.

THE YOUNG AND THE OLD

Fall is a time for reflecting on the baseball season, and in a curious way, it is also a time for looking into the future. Every team is allowed to expand its roster on September 1. So, through the years, many ballplayers have gotten their first major-league experience in September.

Whether or not to bring a rookie up for a few weeks of major league experience is a decision each team handles differently. There has to be a balance between rushing a youngster and letting him gain the valuable experience that comes from just associating with big league ball players.

Judging the future of rookies is very difficult. Even the best player personnel experts get gray hair trying to predict the future of promising youngsters. I can remember some players in the past I recognized immediately as all-stars. I knew Tom Seaver was somebody special the first time I faced him. Nolan Ryan was another pitcher who seemed destined for greatness.

Yet, there are many rookies who never match the record of their first year in the big leagues. Some "Rookies of the Year" are never heard of again.

The key difference between the perennial all-star and the flash in the pan is adjustment. Baseball is a game of adjustments. A rookie must remember that just because he had a great month or a great year does not mean things will never change. Pitchers are certain to adjust their delivery until they discover how to get him out. If the batter does not adjust, too, his batting average will suffer.

There are no secrets in the major leagues. You cannot hide anything. If a player cannot hit a curve ball, pretty soon every team in the league is going to know it. The truth is, you are going to be short lived in the major leagues if you are not able to adapt to pitchers.

This is as true for veterans as it is for rookies. Just because a player has been in the big leagues for ten years does not mean he no longer has to adapt to new conditions.

Thinking about young players and looking back on the 1990 season, I'm sure the father-son teaming of Ken Griffey Sr. and Jr. in Seattle will be one of baseball's lasting memories. The elder Griffey had to be one of the proudest parents in the world. And you know he has still got a lot of baseball left in him. I just hope Papa's success doesn't put too much pressure on son, who is going have to hustle to keep with his old man.

Ky. Fishing Report

Fishing activity over the October 13-14 weekend was moderate to heavy on most of the major lakes. Water temperatures ranged from 65-74 degrees. Largemouth bass, crappie and bluegill were the most consistently active species. The lake-by-lake report:

DEWEY LAKE

Crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 10-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; catfish and bluegill were hitting cut bait, nightcrawlers and red worms 5-15 feet deep over drop offs and along creek channels; clear, falling, two feet below summer pool and 70 degrees.

PAINTSVILLE LAKE

Largemouth bass were taking crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep along the shoreline; crappie were taking minnows and jigs 15-25 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, falling, one foot below summer pool and 69 degrees.

FISHTRAP DAM

Largemouth bass were active on crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-15 feet deep near the shoreline; crappie were hitting minnows 10-15 feet deep over brush piles and stump rows; clear, falling, one foot below summer pool and 70 degrees.

GRAYSON

Largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits, spinnerbaits and plastic worms 5-15 feet deep near the shoreline; catfish were taking cut bait 5-10 feet along the shoreline; clear, falling, two feet below summer pool and 69 degrees.

LAUREL

Largemouth and Kentucky bass were active on crankbaits, spinnerbaits and plastic worms 10-15 feet deep over brush piles; bluegill were active on red worms and meat worms 15-20 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, stable, six feet below summer pool and 74 degrees.

BUCKHORN

Largemouth bass were hitting spinnerbaits and buzzbaits 1-10 feet deep along the shoreline and over drop offs; muskie were hitting crankbaits and minnows 20-25 feet deep in open water; clear, falling two feet below summer pool and 68 degrees.

KENTUCKY LAKE

Crappie were active on minnows 10-15 feet deep over stump rows, submerged trees and brush piles; largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits and buzzbaits 1-10 feet deep around stump rows and along creek channels; clear, falling, three feet below summer pool and 65 degrees.

BARKLEY

Largemouth bass were hitting spinnerbaits and jig and pig combinations 5-10 feet deep around stump rows and over creek channels; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 10-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, falling, two and one half feet below summer pool and 69 degrees.

NOLIN

Largemouth bass were active on crankbaits and spinnerbaits 1-5 feet deep along the shoreline and off rocky points; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 10-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, falling, two feet below summer pool and 68 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER

Crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 1-5 feet deep over submerged trees; largemouth bass were active on crankbaits and plastic worms 1-5 feet deep in open water; clear, falling, two feet below summer pool and 66 degrees.

TAYLORSVILLE

Largemouth bass were hitting buzzbaits and spinnerbaits near the surface to 10 feet deep around stump rows; crappie were active on minnows 15-20 feet deep over stump rows and brush piles; murky, stable, four feet below summer pool and 69 degrees. (Anglers Take Note: A 15 inch minimum size limit applies to hybrid striped bass.)

HERRINGTON

Bluegill were hitting wax worms and crickets 20-25 feet deep over brush piles; largemouth bass were hitting plastic worms 15-20 feet deep around submerged trees and brush piles; clear, rising, five feet below summer pool and 72 degrees.

GREEN RIVER

Largemouth and Kentucky bass were hitting plastic worms, crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep around stump rows and submerged trees; crappie were hitting minnows 10-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, falling, two feet below summer pool and 68 degrees.

LOWER CUMBERLAND (above dam)

Striped bass were active on shad and jigs 30 feet deep in open water; largemouth, smallmouth and Kentucky bass were hitting minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over creek channels and off rocky points; crappie and bluegill were hitting minnows, red worms and wax worms 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and brush; clear, falling, 23 feet below summer pool and 71 degrees.

UPPER CUMBERLAND

Largemouth and Kentucky bass were active on spinnerbaits and plastic worms 5-15 feet deep off rocky points and over drop offs; crappie were taking minnows and jigs 10-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush; clear to murky, falling, 23 feet below summer pool and 70 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW

Largemouth and Kentucky bass were hitting nightcrawlers and spinnerbaits 1-5 feet deep over stump row, submerged trees and brush piles; bluegill were hitting nightcrawlers and crickets 15-20 feet deep over drop offs and around submerged trees and brush; murky, stable, 11 feet below summer pool and 69 degrees.

CAVE RUN

Muskie were active on crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep in heavy timber; crappie were taking minnows 10-15 feet deep over drop offs and brush piles; clear to murky, falling, one foot below summer pool and 67 degrees.

Preparing Boat For Winter Can Save Spring Problems

When that first warm, spring day beckons you to the water as a sure cure for cabin fever, will your boat and motor be as eager to go fishing? Not if you don't take time this fall to prepare it for the coming winter.

A lot can happen to the boat, motor and trailer that sits idle over the winter, especially if moisture settles in delicate areas.

The simplest solution is to take the rig to your local marine dealer for a thorough winterization, or you can do it yourself. In either case, you're protecting a major investment and ensuring a trouble free spring when the weather breaks.

Lakeland Marina service expert Tim Slone recommends you follow these guidelines to protect your rig until the weather breaks:

— Spray the motor with a fogging oil. This helps prevent rust during extended storage.

— Run a lubricant through the carburetor completely flooding the engine with oil. Engine will shut down.

— Fill gas tank with a fuel conditioner such as 2 + 4. This prevents oxidation in the carburetor and fuel system for a year.

— Put new plugs in motor and flush with a non toxic antifreeze.

— Outside of the boats hull should be waxed with a good cleaner.

— Boat should be covered with a quality cover.

— When storing on a trailer, keep trailers nose pointed up and throw in some moth balls for the time of storage.

Slone says the best thing to do is take your rig to a dealer, however, each person can winterize his own boat.

Another point in boat storage passed along was to make sure that batteries have a full charge and store with fish finders in a dry area. Slone recommends even putting a coat of wax on your trailer before storage.

Well, you can take a little time and prepare your rig for storage over a hard winter or you can neglect it and face the problems this coming spring.

With the investment in a rig, I think preparation is the best. Have a good winter!

PERMISSION TO HUNT

Deer hunters are required by law to have written permission from the landowner before hunting on private property.

Although 90 percent of all hunting takes place on private property, regrettably more and more private lands are being posted. Trespassing and hunter/landowner conflicts are growing concerns.

In a recent study supported by Whitetails Unlimited, Inc., trespassing was cited as the number one reason for posting properties. The study further indicated that landowners do not mind hunting on their property so much as they resent loss of control over who uses their land. Perfectly understandable.

As a part of its Project POLITE (Permission Of Landowners In order To Enter) Whitetails Unlimited, Inc., with the assistance of Federal Cartridge Company, has produced and is distributing free of charge hunter/landowner identification (ID) cards. The program was created to promote good hunter/landowner relations. In most cases, proper identification on the hunter's part makes private landowners more receptive to allowing respectful sportsmen to hunt on their land.

When a sportsman selects a location where he would like to hunt, he should approach the landowner to ask for permission. After properly introducing himself, and asking for permission to hunt, the sportsman can present the landowner with a completed ID card. When permission is granted, the landowners sign the ID card and is given the portion of the card which bears the hunter's name, address, phone number, vehicle make and license number. Both parties then have a written "record" of the agreement.

Free hunter/landowner identification cards can be obtained by writing Whitetails Unlimited, Inc., Attn: Project POLITE, P.O. Box 422, Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin 54235. Be sure to include a self addressed, stamped envelope. Whitetails Unlimited, Inc., is a national nonprofit organization dedicated to sound deer herd management.

Some Kentucky hunters are finding it difficult to obtain written permission from landowners — even in cases where verbal permission is given freely. In many of these cases, the landowners seem to have a general reluctance to "sign anything." Fear of liability may be a source of their unwillingness. Their apprehension, though quite understandable, is unjustified.

Kentucky law affords protection from liability to the landowner who grants permission for sportsmen to use his property. By granting permission to hunt (or trap or fish or camp or hike, for that matter) the landowner does not extend to the user any assurances that the property is safe for the user's intended purpose (KRS 150.645). The statute further states that the owner giving permission "shall not be liable for any injury to any person or property" caused by the negligent acts of that user.

In other words, should a hunter step in a groundhog hole and break his ankle while hunting on private property, he would have no cause for legal action against the landowner. The landowner is afforded that protection under the law.

Another example might be the hunter who falls and breaks his favorite rifle while crossing a fence. This hunter is "on his own" and has no claims against the landowner.

The landowner must make the potential user aware of any "known or obvious" dangers on the property. For instance, if there is quicksand on a piece of property, and the owner is aware of it, he must advise the user of this possibly dangerous area. Another example might be the landowner who knows of an abandoned mine shaft on his property — he must make the user aware of that potential hazard.

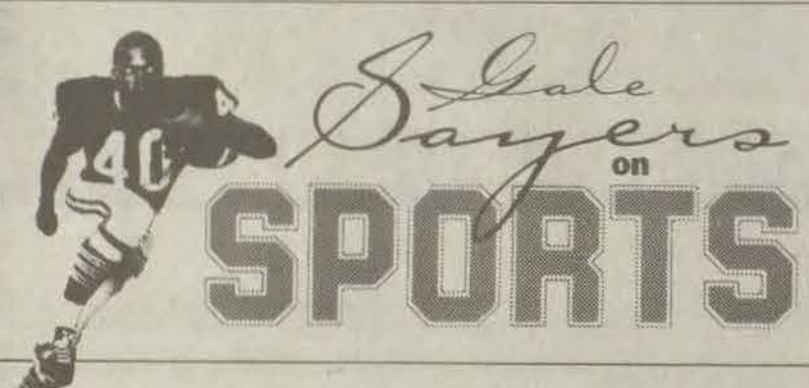

Under KRS 150.645, the landowner who leases property for hunting or fishing purposes — in exchange for cash or other material consideration — may have a greater risk of liability than the landowner who simply "allows" his property to be used. This same statute which protects the landowner who freely permits the use of his property for hunting or fishing, places added responsibility on the owner who assesses a fee — such as the landowner who charges $100 for hunting rights to a particular tract, or the "pay lake" operator who charges a fee for the opportunity to fish in his pond.

The private landowner holds the key to the future of all sport hunting. Hunters must strive to leave the land on which they hunt in even better condition they found it. Property damage and litter are common reasons for "posting" land. The hunter who takes a few extra seconds to pick up a discarded can or a piece of trash — regardless of who left it — will likely be welcome to return.

COACHING IN THE NFL

Who are the best head coaches in the NFL? It's a question that football fans love to debate and, honestly, it's one they don't know exactly how to answer.

People often judge coaches by Super Bowl and playoff appearances, and the number of games they have won over the course of their coaching careers. I prefer to look at specific seasons, and circumstances, where I think a coach has done, or is doing, a great job.

Right now, the most innovative coach in the NFL is Sam Wyche of the Cincinnati Bengals. Not that he has a sharper mind than anyone else; but he seems to have thought of innovative ways to play the game. Wyche took everyone by surprise when he came out with the no-huddle offense. As far as I can see, if you have the players to run it, it's an outstanding offense that is exciting to watch.

The Detroit Lions' Wayne Fontes is another coach who is doing a great job, but his great talent, so far, has been hiring gifted assistant coaches. The Lions are now real threat with their potent run and shoot offense, which was engineered by his assistant Mouse Davis. Fontes is a good example of the kind of coach who lets his assistants do about 85 percent of the work. The assistant coaches are the ones down in the trenches, so they are the ones who design the most effective game plans. Fontes sees his job as that of a motivator as well as an overseer of the assistant coaches; but it's because he is a good manager that Fontes is developing a reputation as a talented coach.

There are several coaches still active in the NFL who are sure to be remembered as some of the game's greatest ever. Chuck Noll led the Pittsburgh Steelers to four Super Bowl victories in the 1970s. The had a lot of great players on those '70s teams, but what is more impressive is the way Noll got his team into the playoffs last year, with much less talent to work with. He showed everyone that he still has what it takes.

In Miami, Don Shula keeps the Dolphins going after years of success. At the start of this season, although the last few seasons have been mediocre for the Dolphins, Shula was just 41 wins away from being the winningest coach in NFL history. I'm sure he wants to break my old coach George Halas' record of 325 wins. Shula's big problem now is lack of quality players. Not to put down Minnesota's Jerry Burns, but if Shula had the players that the Vikings do, he'd be back in the Super Bowl in no time.

Out in San Francisco where George Seifert stepped right into Bill Walsh's shoes last year and guided the 49ers to another NFL Championship. Is Seifert a great coach? I'm not sure yet, because when you think of San Francisco, you think of Montana, Rice and Craig — not the coach. Great players have made all the difference there.

Not to be hard on Seifert, coaches never come into the game and make a great tackle or throw a long touchdown pass. In my eyes, it's the personnel on the field who are going to make the difference in the final score.

CHOOSING NEW FISHING TACKLE REQUIRES CONSIDERATION

With hundreds of new bass fishing tackle items due on store shelves within the next few weeks, anglers should study their own fishing styles and needs carefully before making purchases.

That's the advice of Evinrude Pro Staff angler Denny Brauer, who recently returned from the annual meeting of the American Fishing Tackle Manufacturers Association in New Orleans where he had the opportunity to see much of the latest equipment on display.

"For the past several years, fishing equipment has become more and more specialized," explains Brauer. "There are rods, reels, lines, lures and even tackle boxes designed specifically for a certain fishing technique or condition."

"Before purchasing anything, I suggest a fisherman carefully analyze his own fishing style, the type of water he fishes most, and his own preferences."

"Specialized equipment can make anyone a better bass angler, but it may have limited applications that don't really suit a fisherman."

The most obvious specialization has been with rods, explains the Evinrude pro, and because they are often quite expensive, it is important for an angler to study how he might use a particular rod. Many rods can be used for several different types of fishing techniques.

Brauer also suggests anglers pay particular attention to light-line spinning equipment, even if they prefer heavier baitcasting outfits.

"Today I probably catch more than 30 percent of my tournament bass on spinning tackle with six and eight-pound test line," he notes. "On more and more lakes, the heavy fishing pressure is causing bass to become more wary of lures."

"Bass fishermen will see a lot of new spinning rods and reels in the tackle stores next year, and I strongly suggest they study them carefully."

When looking at the many new lures that will become available, Brauer recommends trying one and experimenting to see how well it works before purchasing more of them.

"A lot of fishermen, myself included, will buy four or five of the same lure just because we think it will catch bass," he laughs. "It makes much more sense to purchase one and try it first."

"Remember, new lures are not going to obsolete older lures. If you have developed confidence in one particular lure, you'll catch bass on that lure no matter how old it is."

BASS ARE SMART BUT THEY'RE NOT HUMAN

The next time you're bass fishing and can't get a strike, don't think the fish are smarter than your are.

Instead, look at the conditions around you and try to imagine how a bass would react to them. Then, adjust your fishing accordingly.

That's the advice from Ken Cook, a member of the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff and a former fisheries biologist who now ranks as one of America's top professional tournament anglers.

"Many fishermen tend to give bass human characteristics," explains Cook, "and this can actually hurt their fishing. Bass don't think like people. They probably don't 'think' at all."

"Instead, they react to their environment, especially to changing water conditions. They have a strong instinct to survive, but fish don't think or reason and make choices."

What happens when anglers give bass human characteristics, the popular Evinrude pro notes, is that they're thinking of how they themselves are reacting to the conditions. This prevents them from accurately focusing in on why they're not getting any strikes.

"Bass have very good vision, an excellent sense of hearing, and a relatively good sense of smell," says Cook. "The fish see, hear, or smell things that repel them, but this is pure instinct, not any ability of the fish to reason."

"How many times have you caught two bass on the same lure at the same time? If the second bass could reason, it would certainly realize the first one was in trouble and swim away, but instead, it runs in and strikes the same lure and makes the same mistake."

Cook advises anglers to learn as much about bass biology as possible if they want to improve their fishing. This way, they can better figure out what bass are likely to be doing before they even start fishing.

"As an example," Cook points out, "remember that bass do have good color vision, so keep in mind what colors bass can see best in the water depth you're fishing. I like to use natural shad type colors in clear water, blues and purples in shade, and brighter fluorescent colors in muddy water."

Bass have two separate hearing systems, adds Cook, which act independently of each other and provide a defense mechanism as well as a sense of hearing. Anything that sends sound waves through the water, such as a dropped tackle box or a noisy trolling motor, can frighten bass.

"Noises that originate in the air, such as two fishermen talking, don't penetrate the water that well, says Cook, "but anything actually connected with the water can certainly spook fish."

"That's why we use flipping and pitching lure presentations, or why slow, quiet, finesse fishing works well. They don't have such a negative effect."

There are also definite chemical odors that repel bass, says Cook, and the older and larger a bass becomes, the more important the olfactory sense becomes. Washing your hands after you put on suntan lotion, mix oil or gasoline, or even after touching another fish, isn't a bad idea.

"What's important to remember," explains the OMC angler, "is to realize there is probably a very logical reason why bass are not hitting your lures."

"It may have something to do with what the fish are seeing, hearing or smelling, but it doesn't have anything to do with how bass are thinking."

The average time lapse between a mosquito bite and mosquito itch is about three minutes.

Jerusalem artichokes offer large amounts of calcium, sodium, phosphorus, sulfur, iron, chlorine and magnesium.

New Dance Step

John Goble (44) seems to be doing a new dance step as he goes out of bounds in last Friday night's game against the Sheldon Clark Cardinals. Goble ran for 68 yards on 20 carries to help the Blackcats to a 14-8 homecoming victory. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

After years of research,
we've developed something to help
you keep your eye on the ball.

With a Mitsubishi big screen TV, you don't ever have to worry about missing the ball. Because all our models feature the clarity of our Diamond Vision II technology, which produces one of the brightest pictures available. And since there's a 120° horizontal viewing angle, you don't have to be right in front of the set to see what's going on. All of which helps make it a remarkable surface for playing sports.

Bad News

Boy, Life can sure play hardball at times.

Just when you think everything is going your way, "BAM" — you're hit right between the eyes with Bad News.

Although one miracle came to our family, our niece, Rachel, 1989 was not a year of wonderful memories for me. Now, 1990 is well into half over and turning into a repeat of 1989.

I know with age comes gray hair, and sometimes glasses (even bifocals!); but so does Arthur — not a relative, arthritis. This is a mean, old, aching character who has crept into my mother's bones. Then there is the nasty disease of diabetes, diagnosed for my father about this time last year. I know everything annoys him; the shots, the very strict diet, the medicine.

What next? Never, never ask. Now, news of cancer has struck my family and turned my world upside down.

I have a beautiful grandmother, Virginia Caldwell, a lady who is 69 this year but looks and acts like she was in her early 40s. This lady could run circles around many younger women. She keeps fit by doing her housework, taking two

by Kim Frasure

mile walks and staying active with her church group. You know — the easy stuff. I've never known of Mamaw ever being sick; not so much as the flu or a cold. Now, after two major surgeries, she's still fighting the battle. It just seems so unfair. What do you do — pray? What do you say — "Keep fighting"? How do you hold back the tears? — you don't.

You just have to hang in there. No matter how corny it sounds, that's just what you do. You worry. You wonder. You wish. Most of all, you pray.

I've lost a grandfather to cancer; a grandmother died of a stroke. I have two left, and I want to keep them. However selfish that may be, I want them here with me.

So fight, Mamaw, with all you've got and I'll continue to pray and to love you with all I've got.

Big Sandy Support Group

The Big Sandy Support Group meets on the third Thursday of every month at 7 p.m. at Highlands Regional Medical Center, Prestonsburg. The meetings are open to anyone concerned about, or caring for, a person with memory loss or Alzheimer's Disease.

Alzheimer's is an incurable brain disease which causes progressive loss of memory. It primarily affects people over 65 years of age and is the fourth leading cause of death among adults.

Families care for about two-thirds of all Alzheimer's patients at home, which is a difficult and stressful experience. Elizabeth Bishop, a social worker at Highlands Regional Medical Center will be discussing area resources at this month's meeting on Thursday, Oct. 18, at 7 p.m. A time for answering questions is always provided.

For more information about Alzheimer's Disease or the Big Sandy Support Group, contact Glenda Hughes at 886-1330.

TRIMMING THE FAT

Many of us have become more health conscious in our diets, cutting back on fat, cholesterol and calories. But that doesn't mean that red meat has to be eliminated from our diets just to reach a healthier goal.

Good nutrition and good health can be easy to reach without making radical dietary changes. Just a little knowledge and some common sense, in combination with the improved food products now available, can mean still enjoying meat meals and healthier eating.

Today's beef, port and lamb, for example, are much leaner than the meat that was reaching your supermarket or butcher of even five or ten years ago. To reduce fat content even more, choose the leaner cuts available: in beef that means flank, round, and loin cuts; in pork the tenderloin, loin chops or leg (fresh ham); in lamb the leg, shank or loin chops; in veal just about any cut is relatively low in fat. In ground meat, always pick the leanest variety available.

You can also lower fat content by trimming all visible fat before cooking. Choose a cooking method that helps eliminate fat. By using a meat rack in your pan, fat can drain off the meat as it cooks. For soups, stews or boiled meats, skim off fat (or refrigerate and then remove the hardened fat) before serving. Using non-stick pans and low to moderate heats will allow browning without adding fat.

One of the best suggestions to allow you to enjoy meat while still lowering fat, cholesterol and calories is to keep serving sizes small. The American Institute for Cancer Research favors the recommendations of dietitians who advise limiting daily consumption of meat, fish or poultry to six or seven ounces. A three-ounce serving of beef, for example, can be surprisingly low in fat and calories.

The secret to success with smaller serving sizes is to not make the meat the main focus of the meal. Serve an extra vegetable selection rather than a larger meat portion. Or select recipes where the meat portion is extended by combining it with other foods, especially healthful vegetables and whole grains.

GINGER-ORANGE BEEF

- 1 lb. beef top round steak
- 1 to 1-1/2 tsp. soy sauce
- 3 tsp. orange juice
- 1-1/2 tsp. cornstarch
- 2 tsp. grated orange peel
- 1 tsp. freshly grated ginger or 1-1/2 tsp. ground ginger
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 3 tsp. vegetable oil
- 4 to 5 cups sliced vegetables (any favorites, including carrots, green or red bell peppers, snow peas, water chestnuts, broccoli, celery)
- 3 cups shredded cabbage, lettuce or spinach

Trim the visible fat from the beef and slice into thin strips. Mix the soy sauce, orange juice, cornstarch, orange peel, ginger and cinnamon. Pour this mixture over the sliced steak, stir lightly and allow to stand while you slice the vegetables.

Heat 2 teaspoons of the oil in a large skillet or wok, until hot. Add the beef mixture and cook over high heat, stirring constantly, until browned (about 3 minutes).

Remove the beef to a plate. Add the remaining teaspoon of oil to the skillet or wok and add the vegetables. Cook, stirring constantly, for three to four minutes, or until the vegetables are still crisp-tender. Return the beef to the skillet and mix in well.

This will produce about four servings, each with nine grams of fat and only 275 calories. It can be served plain, or over rice.

HEALTHY-HEARTY IRISH STEW

It has been said that there are almost as many variations of Irish stew as there are Irish cooks. Its reputation on the Emerald Isle lies not in a gourmet appeal but in its familiarity as a classic country dish — hearty, filling and one that takes advantage of the plentiful potato. This meal-in-a-pot recipe can warm any chilly autumn afternoon with plenty of savory flavor without an excess of fat and salt. This microwave recipe can cut preparation time in half.

HEARTY IRISH STEW

- 2 lb. boneless lamb (neck or shoulder)
- 3 medium onions, sliced
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. minced garlic
- 1 cup water
- 2 lbs. potatoes (about 6 medium), pared, cut into small chunks
- 1/2 lb. parsnips or carrots, pared, thinly sliced
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 cups hot, low-salt beef broth

or water

snipped fresh parsley
Cut lamb into 1/2-inch cubes, trimming off excess fat. Combine with onions, salt, garlic and water in 3-quart glass casserole. Cover. Microwave at HIGH (100%) for 8 minutes or until simmering. Stir. Microwave, covered, at MEDIUM (50%) for 15 minutes. Drain.

In same casserole dish, combine meat mixture with potatoes, parsnips, pepper, bay leaf and beef broth. Cover and cook at HIGH (100%) for 15 minutes or until vegetables and meat are tender. Serve in bowls, garnished with parsley. Makes six servings.

THE FIGHT AGAINST FAT

Cutting the amount of fat in your diet is one of the most important steps to take to improve your health. Higher risk for many serious diseases, particularly cancer and heart disease, have been linked to high fat diets. Recommendations from national health groups, such as the American Institute for Cancer Research, are to reduce dietary fat to thirty percent or less of total calories, and to limit saturated fats to ten percent or less.

Limiting the serious fat sources — such as potato chips, sour cream, sausage, butter and margarine — is a good start. But fat in your diet isn't always so easy to find and avoid. That's why your kitchen arsenal should be equipped with the right "weapons" in your battle to maintain a low fat diet.

Food Steamers — Whether special cookware, designed for steaming, or a simple steam basket in any cooking pot, steaming allows you to prepare vegetables that maintain their highest degree of color, taste and nutrition — without a bit of fat.

Roasting Racks — Cooking meat or poultry on a rack allows fat to drip off into the pan below, so the food does not sit in the fat as it cooks.

Pressure Cookers — Prepare low fat, high-fiber legumes in a fraction of the time required by other methods. Lean meats come out tender and juicy; vegetable soups can be made from scratch in minutes.

No-stick Cookware — Whether coated or cast-iron, no-stick pans allow you to cook with little or no added fat.

Food Processor — Slicing, dicing, pureeing or blending, this equipment vastly broadens your horizons for preparing creative fruit and vegetable dishes and beverages while slicing preparation time as well.

Microwave ovens — These wonderful convenience tools can also help promote healthful eating. Many recipes can be prepared without the nutrient loss of slower cooking methods and without added cooking fat. The easy chicken dinner described below can be prepared in either a conventional or microwave oven. Serve it over some brown rice or pasta (preferably whole-grain) to soak up the tasty sauce.

EASY CHICKEN DINNER

- 2 chicken breast halves, skin removed
- 1 cup low-sodium vegetable juice (e.g. V-8)
- 1-1/2 tsp. chili powder
- 1/4 tsp. garlic powder
- 1 cup corn, frozen thawed
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 16 oz. can whole tomatoes,

undrained (or 2 large fresh tomatoes, quartered).

Place all the ingredients in a baking dish. Bake, covered, at 375 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes, or until done (the juices from the chicken should be clear when pierced deeply with a fork.)

If cooking in a microwave, simply place all the ingredients in a microwave-safe dish, covering the chicken with the vegetables. Cover and cook on medium-high for 15 minutes; spoon the sauce over the chicken, and cook again, covered for 6 to 11 minutes additional, or until done.

This recipe produces two servings each with 300 calories and 4 grams of fat.

... and with rice
Any meal, served with rice, can be an occasion. Rice can add color and variety to any diet.

MILDLY CURRIED RICE

- 1-1/2 tsp. butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion, coarsely chopped
- 1/4 cup currants or chopped raisins
- 1 cup uncooked long-grain rice
- 1/4 tsp. curry powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- pinch of ground black pepper
- 2 cups chicken stock
- Melt butter in saucepan. Sauté the onion and currants until tender. Stir in rice, curry powder, salt and pepper. Continue cooking until the rice is golden. Add chicken stock, heat to boiling, reduce heat to simmer and cover the pan. Simmer for about 14 minutes. Remove from heat and let stand a few minutes. Toss lightly with a fork before serving.

Poison Oak.....

By Clyde Pack
FROM GIZZARDS
TO GINSENG

In case you missed it, there was quite an extensive article about medicine in the September 24 issue of NEWSWEEK.

What made it so fascinating is that some of the practices and cures listed as still being used in various parts of the world today, would make many of the old-time remedies that we sometimes run in our "Poison Oak" cartoon appear to be 20th Century miracles.

Of course, you need to realize that our approach to what we publish is to present these old remedies as curiosities, something generally from the past—before hospitals and blacktop roads. In no way do we recommend their use.

However, since many of the ideas sent to us have been passed down from generation to generation, the folks who submit them swear by them. For whatever reason, some of these old cures do actually work. Folks at one time really did cure warts by rubbing them with the lining of a chicken gizzard, and Little Bo Peep ammonia apparently is indeed good for beesstings.

Anyway, the part of the NEWSWEEK story, entitled "The Power to Heal", that I thought so interesting was a couple of pages—complete with wonderful color photos—explaining how people on the other side of the world still doctor.

Did you know, for instance, that it's traditional in central Africa to use soldier ants to stitch a cut? What they do is hold the wound together with their fingers and place four or five of these big ants (I guess it'd depend on how big the wound was) on the cut place. The ants instinctively bite down on the cut, locking their jaws and forming a sort of living suture. Not living for long, though, because as soon as their jaws are set and the cut is closed, the doctor lops off the rest of the ant's body, leaving the head to hold the wound until it heals. I mean, that makes drinking ginseng mixed with whiskey to cure rheumatism, pretty tame stuff.

In all fairness, the article did point out that this method of healing is slowly disappearing, what with more and more hospitals and clinics being built.

However, in Brazil, at the Instituto Butantan, doctors milk scorpions to make anti-venom for snake bite. In South and Central America, the sweat from poison frogs (wonder how you make a frog sweat?) that are native to the rain forests, is being used to create pain-killing drugs.

"So what?" you may ask. "That's all going on in far-off countries where they're behind in medicine and stuff."

Wrong! What about leeches? They're apparently making a big comeback—even here in America. According to the article, they're being "used to drain excess blood after microsurgical procedures."

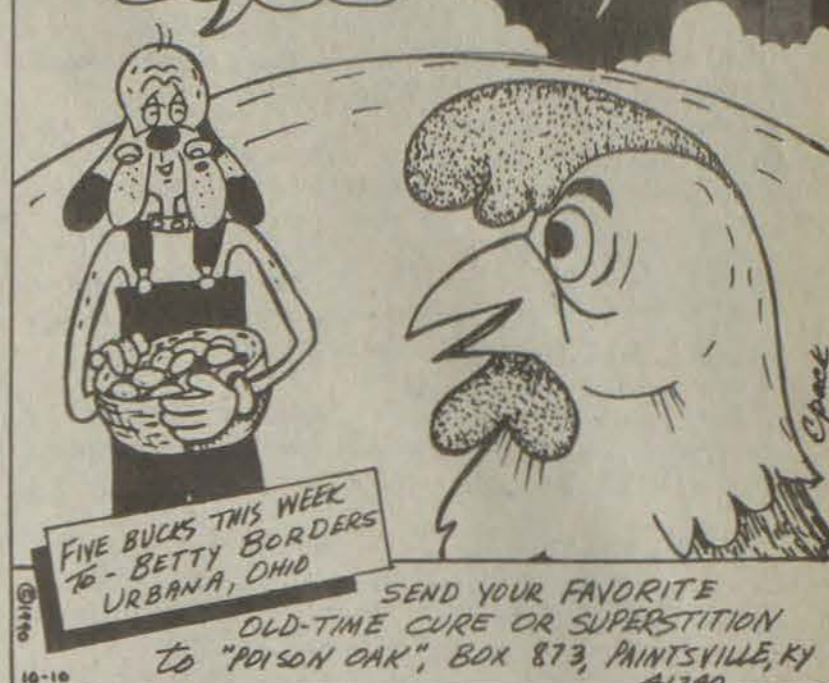

I guess what it boils down to is, if it cures, it cures. Perhaps some of these old home remedies, like applying a poultice made from ground-up poke roots to the bottom of your feet to draw out pain from anywhere in your body, or wearing a potato on a string around your neck to cure arthritis, just may not be as far-fetched as they first appeared to be.

Our old countryfied, hill-billy ancestors just may deserve more credit than most folks have given them.

Couple united in holy matrimony

On August 4, 1990 Susan Kimiko Tanouye, daughter of Raymond and Ann Tanouye of Hilo, Hawaii, married Jeff Cowan, son of Glen and Tevis Cowan of Prestonsburg, Ky., at the Plymouth Congregational Church in Coconut Grove, Fla. A reception immediately followed at the Rusty Pelican on Key Biscayne.

Susan is a graduate of the University of Puget Sound in Tacoma, Washington, with a B.S. Degree in Business Administration. She is presently employed with Condor Farms, Inc. as an Assistant Sales Manager.

Jeff is a graduate of the University of Kentucky with a B.S. Degree in Mining Engineering. He is presently employed with the Dade County Department of Environmental Resources Management as an Environmental Engineer.

After a honeymoon in Cancun, Mexico the couple are residing in Miami, Fla.

Larimore Elected As Director

Elroy Larimore of Horse Cave, Ky. was recently elected as executive director of the National Rural Water Association (NRWA) at its Fifteenth Annual Technical Conference held September 24-26 in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Larimore has served as Kentucky's NRWA director and as a board member of the state's Rural Water Association for the past twelve years. He is the immediate past president of NRWA. He has also served as senior vice president and vice president of NRWA.

Larimore has also been active on numerous NRWA committees, including: Planning and Development, Convention, Legislative, Program Review, Site Location, and Budget committees. He also serves on the board of Rural/Municipal Services, Inc. He is currently manager of Green River Valley Water District.

NRWA is a non-profit organization that assists small and rural water and waste utilities with political representation and programs in operation, maintenance, finances, funding and management. Membership in NRWA is restricted to participating state associations. Each state association has one member on the NRWA board of directors.

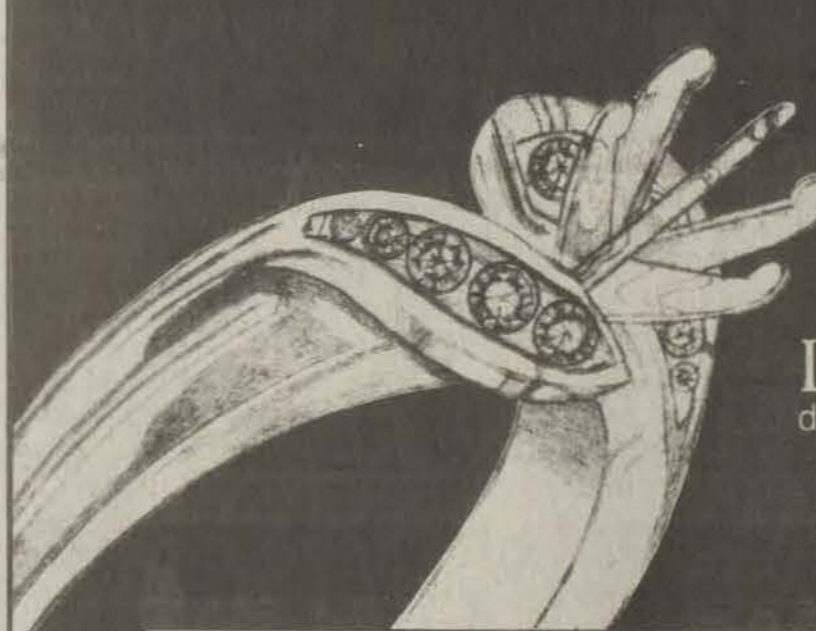

The volunteer efforts and dedication of directors such as Elroy Larimore enable NRWA to fulfill its mission to improve the quality of life in the rural and small municipal areas of our nation.

Couple united in holy matrimony

Lee Ann Bottoms, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. William E. Bottoms of Prestonsburg, and Randall Kevin Mitchell, son of Rev. and Mrs. Bruce Mitchell of Leesville, La., were married June 23 at the First Baptist Church in Prestonsburg. Rev. Stephen Hopkins, pastor of the church performed the ceremony.

Miss Bottoms is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meece of Prestonsburg and Mrs. Bertie Huddleston of Lexington.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was escorted to the altar by her father. The Maid of Honor was Miss Cindy Bell of Irvington, Ky. Bridesmaids were Teresa Daniel, Irvine; Rhonda Sheean, Shelbyville; Wendy Lynn and Cara Meece, cousins of the bride, Prestonsburg. Flower girls were Rachel and Charissa Hopkins, Prestonsburg and Lesley Fish of Pikeville.

The Best Man was Dennis Mitchell, brother of the groom, of Leesville, La. Groomsmen included Darrin Mitchell, brother of the groom, Leesville, La.; Bill Bottoms, brother of the bride, Prestonsburg; James Michael Meece, cousin of the bride, Prestonsburg; and Rick Fory, Lebanon Junction, Ky.

Music was provided by Missy Carter, organist, and Lisa Carter, pianist. As a part of the ceremony, Missy Carter sang "The Lord's Prayer." At the conclusion of the ceremony the groom sang to the bride.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. Assisting with the reception were Jewel Bays, Regena Lafferty, Tevis Cowan and Kathy Goble of Prestonsburg, Marie Vance, great aunt of the bride, West Prestonsburg, and Doris Jean Meece, cousin of the bride of Blanchester, Ohio.

Miss Bottoms is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School where she was Valedictorian of the Senior Class and the 1986 Kentucky DAR Recipient. She is a graduate of Georgetown College and a member of Phi Mu. She is presently employed by Taylor Drug Co., Louisville, Ky. Mr. Mitchell is a graduate of Leesville High School, Leesville, La. and Northeastern Louisiana University. He is presently studying music at the Southern Baptist theological Seminary and is Minister of Music at Lebanon Junction First Baptist Church and is employed by Walmart.

YOUR FOOD CITY RECEIPTS ARE AS GOOD AS

GOLD TO LOCAL SCHOOLS.

When you shop at Food City, be sure to hold on to your gold receipt. It's worth a lot to our schools because it can be redeemed for free Apple Computers. It's the Apples for the Students Program.

All you have to do is drop off your gold receipts at the school of your choice. Get your parent groups and civic organizations involved, too, because the more receipts you collect, the better! It means more Apple Computer equipment for the students.

Don't miss this golden opportunity to help our schools. Get all the details on the Apples for the Students Program today at your nearby Food City or call Pam Murray toll-free at 1-800-826-8451.

Music Receives Performance Award

Teddy Clayton (T. C.) Music, Maintenance Mechanic Leader for the Corps of Engineers at Dewey Lake, received a Performance Award for his exceptional performance of duties during the past rating period.

From June through September of 1989, he acted in the capacity of Project Manager in the absence of a full-time Manager.

Music has also done a remarkable job in the planning, scheduling and overseeing of all aspects of the construction of the new public restroom in the Downstream Recreation Area of Dewey Lake. From the initial site determination of the restroom to the installation of the sewer line, Music has exhibited admirable foresight and innovation; the restroom was completed July 4 of this year.

Music has proven himself to be a model employee of the Corps. He is deeply respected and admired by his fellow employees. Music lives in Meally with his wife, Sandy, and three sons, Joshua, Nicholas, and Sean.

Open burning can "leaf" you breathless

Leaf smoke contains high concentrations of pollutants and is particularly dangerous for people with breathing problems. The smoke remains close to the ground and is often inhaled before it disperses. Even healthy people can experience nose, eye and throat irritations when exposed to leaf smoke.

During fire hazard season, October 1 through December 15, all burning is illegal within 150 feet of a wooded area during most of the day. Burning is only allowed from 4:30 p.m. until midnight. Even after 4:30 p.m., no one should burn anything unless the air is calm and there is enough moisture in the air to control the fire.

Compost those fall leaves or bag them for collection. Don't burn them. That's the advice of the state's Division for Air Quality.

Also, in some areas that have not attained compliance with national air standards, burning leaves and household rubbish (waste material and trash excluding animal and vegetable matter) is forbidden by state air quality regulations. Some communities have ordinances banning leaf burning.

Other restrictions may apply in your area, so it would be wise to check with local authorities or with a Division for Air Quality regional office before attempting any open burning. Air Quality regional offices are located in Frankfort, Ashland, and Hazard.

The Goodin Brothers of Lebanon Oak Flooring Co. are accustomed to standing on solid ground. That's why they've kept Blue Cross and Blue Shield since 1953.

A lumber company has stood on this site since the 1890s. Lebanon Oak Flooring Co. itself has been in business since 1919. Today, Charles and Robert Goodin still turn Kentucky Oak into nationally renowned hardwood floors. And they still keep the health insurance company they've kept for 37 years—Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky.

"We take a paternalistic outlook toward our people. We want to take care of them. We want the best."

Sure, the Goodins have talked to other insurers in the past. Some companies have offered them lower rates than Blue Cross and Blue Shield. But Lebanon Oak Flooring keeps coming back.

"You can take your Blue Cross card and go to any doctor you want, anywhere you want."

At one time, there were 13 companies producing hardwood floors in Kentucky. Today, there are only two. Lebanon Oak survived by offering the highest quality products at fair prices.

The same is true for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky. Health companies have come and gone. But year in, year out, none have been able to match the quality, accessibility and service offered by Blue Cross and Blue Shield for over 50 years.

We're honored to have been the Lebanon Oak Flooring Company's health insurance company for 37 years. We'd be honored to work with your company for the next 37. For more information, call us or your local Blue Cross and Blue Shield representative.

We'll put you on the ground floor of Kentucky's most popular health insurance company.

Good isn't good enough anymore.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the July 31 term, 1986, in the above styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Louisa, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 1 day of November, 1990, at 10:30 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of three (3) months, the following described property, to-wit: (This property is located on the 5 Forks-Fullers Road, 3 Miles NW of Louisa via Kentucky Route 3).

That certain tract of land, lying and being in Lawrence County, Kentucky, that was conveyed C. "Ollie" Robinson, on May 27, 1982 by Edward R. and Violet M. Ward, by deed recorded May 25, 1990 in Deed Book 205, page 597 in records of the Lawrence County Clerk's Office described more particularly as follows:

Lots 12, 13, 14, 15 and 61 of the Oak Ridge Subdivision, as shown on plat of said subdivision, recorded in Plat Book 7, page 58 in the said office, based on a survey of Edward R. Ward.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall include the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 11 day of October, 1990.

Real Estate

Housing activity expected to remain stable

Overall housing activity likely will remain stable for the rest of the year, according to the latest monthly "Outlook for the Economy and Real Estate" from the National Association of Realtors.

The outlook predicts an easing of monetary policy by the Federal Reserve Board, resulting in a downward pattern for mortgage interest rates. This will stimulate sales of new and existing homes in the months ahead, the outlook says. However, activity in both sectors, particularly that for new homes, is predicted to remain below that for last year.

Housing starts likely will continue to be curbed, due to credit tightening in the construction industry, the report says. The credit crunch is due to a provision in last year's savings and loan reform law, which severely cut the maximum loan that a thrift can make to a single borrower.

A copy of the outlook, published by NAR's forecasting and policy analysis division, is enclosed. It contains an economic commentary by NAR Chief Economist John A. Tuccillo, as well as a section discussing legislative proposals to change the Federal Housing Administration's mortgage insurance program. The FHA discussion focuses on a proposal by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, which would substantially raise costs for borrowers using FHA. NAR supports an alternative measure that does not impair the accessibility of the program.

The outlook contains the following predictions for the real estate industry and economy in general for 1990:

- Sales of existing single-family homes are expected to total 3,386 million units, falling 1.6 percent above sales for 1989.
- Sales of new single-family homes are expected to total 558,000 units, dropping 14.1 percent from 1989.
- Sales of new single-family homes are expected to total 558,000 units, dropping 14.1 percent from 1989.
- Housing starts are expected to total 1,295 million units, dropping 6.5 percent from a year ago. A total of 962,000 starts for single-family units is expected, dropping 4.8 percent from 1989. Starts for buildings with two-to-four units are expected to total 38,000 units, falling 30.0 percent from 1989; and starts for buildings with five or more units are expected to total 333,000 units, falling 7.8 percent from 1989.

• The national median existing-home price is expected to reach $96,000, rising 3.2 percent from last year. The national median new-home price is expected to reach $125,300, rising 4.4 percent from 1989.

• Interest rates for fixed-rate, 30-year mortgages are expected to average 10.1 percent, down from 10.3 percent in 1989. Interest rates for one-year, adjustable rate mortgages are expected to average 8.5 percent, falling from an average of 9.3 percent last year.

• The gross national product (the total value of the nation's goods and services) is expected to rise by an average rate of 1.8 percent, compared to 3.0 percent in 1989.

• Consumer price inflation is expected to reach a rate of 4.9 percent, compared to 4.8 percent in 1989.

• The civilian unemployment rate is expected to be 5.4 percent, up from 5.3 percent last year.

The National Association of Realtors, the nation's largest trade association, is the voice for real estate, representing nearly 800,000 members involved in all aspects of the real estate industry.

RATLIFF & LENOX REAL ESTATE

ALUM LICK

Really pleasant country setting in a good neighborhood with approximately 5 acres. Three bedroom, two bath home, needs some repair but great for handyman.

WAYLAND

Great space for your dollars, good neighbors, big family kitchen, three bedrooms and space downstairs to suit your needs. Also needs a handyman, good buy because of that.

PRESTONSBURG

This really needs to be seen to realize the possibilities. Unique one story, use for home or office, or both, or remove for great lot and location. Reasonable price.

MARTIN

Downtown, great location, right on Main Street. Huge space, use all or lease part. This building needs to be put to use. Call for details.

PRESTONSBURG

You can't beat the location, across from Hardee's. 100 front feet, plenty of parking area or room for expansion. Look this over with your plans in mind.

Ky. real estate appraisers board to host seminar October 22

A real estate appraisal seminar entitled "The Appraisal Certification—Questions & Answers" will be hosted by the Kentucky Real Estate Appraisers Board on October 22, 1990 from 7:00-9:00 p.m. in Room 103, Magoffin Center at Prestonsburg Community College and on October 23, 1990 from 10:00 a.m.-12:00 noon at the Ramada Inn in London.

The programs will outline the statutory requirements for education and experience necessary to qualify for the certificate. In addition, a large portion of the program will be devoted to a review of the examination content outline for both the residential and general certification exams. Ample time will be provided for questions concerning the requirements.

This seminar is free and open to all interested parties. In order to have adequate seating and handout materials, the board asks all interested parties to send in their registration no later than 5 days prior to the program they wish to attend. For further details and registration information, contact the Kentucky Real Estate Appraisers Board, 10200 Linn Station Road, Suite 201, Louisville, Kentucky 40223 (502) 425-4273.
