According to court records, Rowland, 50, of Prestonsburg was arrested March 28 at Watergap by Kentucky State Police after he failed three sobriety tests.

Rowland pleaded guilty to first offense DUI and was sentenced to two days public service at the Presbyterian Church; enter into an alcohol or substance abuse education and treatment program within 10 days; enter an alcohol driver education program; and fined was $375.50. Rowland signed an agreed order to the sentence on March 29.

According to a published report, Rowland said the charge would not affect his position as asssistant county attorney. "It's a traffic offense for which I have pled guilty," Rowland said.

County Attorney Jim Hammond said Thursday that Rowland had admitted to the charge and it was "unfortunate" the incident happened.

"It's an incident that should not have happened, but it did happen," Hammond said. "Mr. Rowland regrets it and has taken the consequences of his actions.

"He is an excellent and competent attorney and I'm glad to have him on my staff," Hammond said. "The incident happened before he became assistant county attorney. Mr. Rowland received a more severe sentence than most people convicted of a first offense DUI."

Rowland was sworn into office Monday by Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo. Rowland was selected as an assistant by County Attorney Jim Hammond.

Baseball in Floyd County, Kentucky

"Play ball!" Those words set the scene for many exciting afternoons of baseball, in Floyd County, during the 1930's, 1940's, and early 1950's. At that time, baseball was the "king of sports" in Eastern Kentucky. Baseball clubs in the area formed several leagues—Big Sandy League, Elkhorn League, Eastern Kentucky Baseball League, and the Mountaineer League.

Big coal companies sponsored many teams in these leagues. They provided baseball facilities for the teams and employment for the players. A few companies recruited players from other states like North and South Carolina and Tennessee. After the decline of baseball in Eastern Kentucky, many players stayed with their jobs and retired in Floyd County.

During the 1930's and early 1940's, several baseball players in the area were Jess Ratliff, Sr., Pappy Imes, Bill Malone, Red Crum, and Charles "Red" Burnett. Player/manager, left-handed Burnett, pitched for Elkhorn Coal Corporation's team at Wayland.

The Elkhorn League, the strongest of all, continued until the end of the 1951 season. The league teams in Floyd County were Wheelwright. Wayland, Weeksbury, and Drift. Two teams-Pikeville, managed by William B. Stone and Elkhorn City, managed by catcher/manager Jim Vance-were in Pike County. The league schedule called for three games per week which could be played day or night since many clubs had lights for night games.

The Wheelwright club was sponsored by Inland Steel Company and promoted by E. R. "Jack" Price, manager of Inland's Wheelwright operation. Steve Benedict was the manager of the baseball team.

Elkhorn Coal Corp. supported the baseball team at Wayland. W. E. Parker was business manager and many team players were employees of Elkhorn Coal.

The Weeksbury club was sponsored by Koppers Coal Co. Danny Butcher, first baseman, was manager and Paul Bickford was business

At Drift, the Reed family promoted baseball. Ward Reed was director of the Elkhorn League and Alvin Reed was park manager. Players were offered jobs with Turner Elkhorn Coal Co. which sponsored the ball club. The Drift team was managed by Paul Butcher.

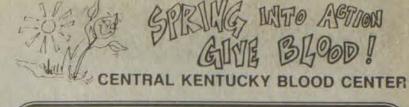

Many teams in the Elkhorn league had lighted parks for night-time baseball. The park and lighting facilities at Wheelwright cost over $25,000. The Weeksbury park was equipped with excellent lighting on a modern field. In 1949, the Reeds at Drift, spent over $10,000 for improvements on their ball park. The Lions Club and citizens of Wayland built a park with lighting facilities costing $20,000. A. B. "Happy" Chandler, baseball commissioner and former governor of Kentucky, helped dedicate the park by throwing out the first

For Elkhorn League players, 1949 was probably the most memorable year. Wheelwright won the pennant, but faced second place Drift in the playoffs. The series was tied at three wins each. The seventh game, played at Wheelwright with the score tied at six all in the seventh inning, was won when Joe Hinchman lined a sharp single to center field, driving in two runs, making the final score Drift 8-Wheelwright 6.

A long, winding road

by Scott Perry

It is a sad coincidence that news of job losses in the coalfields should come so near the time many young people are preparing to graduate from high school and go out into the world on their own.

For these newcomers to the job market, the chances of finding a job at home are becoming increasingly slim. Finding a job anywhere will be difficult for those who end their educations with a high school diploma.

Business leaders have stressed for sometime the need for Kentucians to prepare themselves to compete in a global marketplace. Education reform has unlocked the door to progress, but there are still many steps to climb before Kentucky reaches the level it must to be a player in the global game.

In Eastern Kentucky, we have not yet achieved the same level opportunity that other Kentuckians take for granted. Our climb will be longer and harder.

To reach the top, our young people will travel a rocky road that will require their enthusiasm, persistence and unyielding commitment to traverse.

As parents and educators, our jobs are to provide the support and encouragement it takes to send our future generations on their way to success. Someday, perhaps, their trips won't be so troublesome or so far from home.

Pitch in . . .

County officials and the Chamber of Commerce are to be commended for spearheading an Adopt-A-Road program that will target trash on county roads.

The idea is fashioned after the state's Adopt-A-Highway project which has accomplished a good deal toward cleaning up littered roadsides.

Volunteers are needed. There is no pay except for the satisfaction that comes from the sight of a cleaner country-

Neighborhood Watch

Middle Creek residents have decided to take steps to see that their property and personal belongings are less likely to fall into the possession of thieves by organizing a neighborhood watch program.

The program will help community residents keep an eye out for suspicious characters lurking in their neighborhoods and show them how to notify authorities in case of trouble.

The area has been the victim of many thefts lately and this move could help the community become a safer place. Maybe other communities should follow their lead.

Neighbors helping neighbors.

Join the Band-Wagon

In the past several years, the lack of high school marching bands has become very obvious in Floyd County, especially around festival time. At one time, it was a thrill for area bands to compete against each other and members actually enjoyed those 1-2 mile marches.

A lack of financial support from the Floyd County Board of Education has been cited by some to be a major reason for the fall of high school bands.

The Prestonsburg High School Band, the last marching band in the county, may well be on its way to extinction since a major fund-raiser for band camp had to be canceled. No camp, no marching.

The band had to pay its own expenses to attend the District Tournament at Allen Central last month, FORM! by Susan Allen which included $30 to pay for a bus to take band members to the game. Parents have had to take on the extra financial burden to transport students and equipment to band competitions in order to keep enough money in the band's account to send its members

Doesn't seem to add up.

Band is a high school course good for one credit per year toward graduation, unlike basketball or football.

So why then, do band classes have to pay their own way to participate in area and state competitions, or high school sporting events right in their own county, where their appearance is expected?

I want my grandchildren to be able to swim in that creek. If one kid gets sick from swimming in that creek 20 years from now because of something I didn't do, that would be ter-

Last year, Kentuckians across the state raised their voices in protest over what they foresaw for the future: poisoned drinking water, a landscape riddled with dumps, and a poorly regulated waste industry. In response to what many have perceived as the largest groundswell of environmental awakening in Kentucky's history, the legislature enacted a solid waste bill in the 1991 special session. Most citizens involved in the process agree that the legislation did not go far enough. However, the requirement for local solid waste management plans provides the opportunity for citizen involvement in determining how garbage is managed in their communi-

The legislation allows the state to issue landfill permits only if they are consistent with the local solid waste citizens acting through waste management districts (which may be individual counties) to determine how Philip Black of Pendleton County many landfills will be able to locate says he became actively involved in in their area, and therefore how much solid waste issues in his community land will be dedicated to that use. In because of concerns about the water order to impose such limits, areas in the creek running by the landfill. In have to demonstrate they have provided (through arrangements with landfills either in or out of their area) capacity for the disposal of their own garbage. They can also determine how much of their waste will be recycled, how toxic material in the garbage will be handled, and ultimately help preserve the quality of the lakes, steams and groundwater in the vicinity of landfills.

By June 1, 1991 each county must decide whether to plan alone or join into multicounty solid waste management districts. By October 1, 1991 the first phase of the solid waste plan for each solid waste management district is due. Who is going to do that plan? The law provides for the creation of a governing body (it does not require citizen members) to be formed to carry out the plan. However, the law curiously does not require the governing body to be established until the second (and last) phase of the plan is submitted, which is not due until January 1, 1993. That means that the governing body of the solid waste management district could be different from the group that devises the district's plan. A lot of very important decisions will be made in the planning process. The public will be as involved in the planning as they demand to be.

It seems most sensible to establish the governing body in the beginning, put citizens on it and let that governing body develop the plan. That is one way to vest the governing body in the plan they will have to implement. It may also give citizens an increased sense of confidence and trust in the body that will be enforcing their local rights under the plan.

The new solid waste law is filled with opportunity and responsibility. There are boards to be appointed, recycling and composting to be accomplished, tax incentives for private investment in recycling, background checks on landfill owners and operators and a major local plan to be

Solid waste reform like school reform is about getting everyone involved. It's about the recognition that people who are connected to the land, the past and the future, must be at the decision making table of their communities. Good decisions about solid waste involve values as well as

"About suicide"

Suicide is the deliberate ending of one's own life. In this country, each year, about 30,000 deaths are attributed to suicide. This figure does not include the many thousands who cause their own deaths without making a conscious decision to commit suicide by driving recklessly, abusing alcohol or other drugs or by ignoring serious illnesses. Although these are often declared accidental deaths, people who do so have the same feelings as those who consciously commit suicide.

Why write about such a "morbid" topic? Because you may be in a position to help stop a person who is considering suicide if you are aware of the facts and know what to do. In over 90 percent of the suicides attempted or completed, the person told someone they were thinking about it. If someone told you, would you know what to do? People commit suicide because their problems seem overwhelming. Most suicides and suicide attempts are reactions to intense feelings of helplessness, worthlessness, depression, loneliness, etc. People who threaten suicide or attempt it are often trying to express these feelings and their behavior should be seen as a cry for help.

In general, more women than men attempt suicide although more men than women actually kill themselves. Women are more likely to overdose or use ingestion of lethal substances to kill themselves, whereas men are more likely to use quick and violent means such as a gun or hanging. The statistical risk of suicide increases as people get older and the elderly in our society now constitute a high risk group. At high risk also nowadays, tragically, are children. Even young people age 5 to 14 are victims of suicide. Commonly, they have lost a loved one or are subject to stress such as abuse and can't ask for or get adequate emotional support.

There are special types of stressful situations which often factor in a decision to commit suicide. Depression, whether caused by personal loss, heredity or body chemistry, is a leading cause of suicide. People who are depressed often feel overwhelmed and hopeless and may become dangerously withdrawn from others. A crisis such as the loss of a job or an important person or a heated quarrel can sometimes lead people to attempt suicide before they have given themselves a chance to think things over. Related to the latter is the abuse of ing prospects of pain and suffering, loss of independence, income and a reasonable alternative.

Suicide is a human behavior surrounded by misconception. There is for example, the common myth that people who talk about suicide don't do it. As I have already pointed out, the vast majority do tell someone they are thinking about it. The problem here may be that people may put it in an angry manipulative way that leads others to take it seriously. Another myth is that talking frankly and openly about suicide may give a person the idea. Suicidal people already have the idea but talking frankly about it may help to prevent them from acting on it. Still another is that all suicidal persons are mentally ill. Some may be, but most are simply extremely unhappy or upset and for a few critical moments just can't find any other alternative. Perhaps the most dangerous myth is the belief that once someone is suicidal, they are beyond help. Most people commit suicide in the throes of a crisis. By their very nature and definition, crisis are time-limited and usually of fairly short duration. Therefore, if we can help a person get through the crisis, suicide can be prevented.

Most people who are considering suicide give clues to their intentions. The following are some of the considerations which mental health professionals use to assess the risk of suicide in individuals. Previous suicide attempts may mean that a person is a high risk to try again. The presence of a clinical depression which includes the symptoms of sleep and appetite disturbances; the loss of pleasure and interest in things; and a tendency to withdraw from others, is a cause for serious concern. If a person makes preparations for death such as making a will; giving away personal possessions; or acquiring the means for suicide such as a gun, it may mean that a decision has been made. Likewise, when we notice a sudden lifting of spirits or a sense of focus and purposeful attitude in a person who has been extremely depressed, we become concerned that this means the person has made their decision to commit suicide and is experiencing relief that their "troubles will soon be over." Finally, if a person is making threats that they intend to kill themselves, no matter how manipulative we may feel these are, we take them very seriously.

If you or someone you know is thinking about suicide or giving the kinds of signals described, please seek help from a mental health professional. If you feel uncomfortable with alcohol or other drugs which impair that, talk to your family physician or judgment and weaken the self-con- clergyman. Above all, don't ignore trol of destructive impulses. Finally, the problem. It doesn't go away, ofdisease and old age with the frighten- ten gets worse, does kill people, and more often than not can be prevented. Conducted by Harvard School of Public Health reheavy alcohol use is a feature of freshman life, despite a connection between "binge" drinking and violent faced on campuses that can spill over behavior, such as date rape.

The study, "Alcohol and the College Freshman: 'Binge' Drinking and Associated Problems", surveyed 1,669 first-year students at 14 Massachusetts colleges. Current student attitudes and behaviors were compared to those of the 1977 freshmen at the same schools as part of the study, including a high rate of drinking and driving, and concern about alcohol and violence. Nearly half of the men surveyed and 14 percent of the women reported driving after three or more drinks. Up to 18 percent of the men and 13 percent of women said they drank while in a car during the past year. College administrators at 73 Massachusetts schools stressed that drunkenness was a major problem for their campuses. Problems associated with heavy drinking included date rape, problems with police, and vandalism, stated half of the administrators.

Beer remains the alcoholic beverage of choice for the group, and many freshmen reported drinking in a bar despite being underage. Other choice

"This report shows a problem and affect an entire community. For example, the numbers showing a high percentage of students had driven after drinking illustrates how highway safety is affected by alcohol attitudes on campus," said Lilla Mason, Executive Secretary, Blue Grass AAA Foundation for Safety.

 Most experts agree that children should be allowed—but not forced to participate in the funeral. Obviously, this is a personal decision for the family to make, but mourning rituals serve children in the same way they serve adults: to say good-bye to the deceased and to underscore the finality of the death. Since this area is dependent on the coal production, a person can get an education in the trials and tribulations of mining. I can get a much better indication of how the economy is doing by listening to a conversation on the state of coal industry, as told by Brenda's customers than I can by looking at the chart of the five leading indicators of the economy. The leading indicators are just numbers-the stories I hear at Brenda's deal with real live people that I know and care about. And on a practical level it is important for me that they do well. If they don't, they leave and take their children with them. We teachers need someone to teach if we are to hold our jobs.

Slone is named All-American Scholar

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Tim Slone has been named an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the Academic disciplines. The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average. Only scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor, or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the USAA.

Tim Slone, who attends Allen Central High School, was nominated for this award by Coach Jamerson. Tim Slone will appear in the All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally.

The Academy selects All-American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendations of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors. Once awarded, the students may be recognized by the USAA for other

The other boys reported the fire while Larry went back to his room and started gathering his books and coat. When the teacher told him to sit down, he told her, "no," that the school was on fire and he was getting out. He went out of the building, up the hill and thought the other students I told her that I wasn't going to school were following him. From what I can remember, my brother Larry was the only student that got his coat and books, only because he refused to listen to the teacher and sit down.

I remember the bell ringing, the students getting quietly to their feet and marching out the door. Suddenly the room was filled with black smoke. The teacher quickly closed the door and marched to the windows. By this time there were people outside the building helping the students out of the windows. I can't remember if she broke the windows or if they could be raised, but soon she was helping students over the window sills and across that black, bottomless pit.

Well, one day we were playing and the child in front of me got scared and let go of her triangle piece of metal. It swung back and hit me in the head. I was carried to the church and laid on a bench. They called the doctor or someone drove me to his office because I was unconscious and they couldn't wake me. My mother was told that if it had been one quarter inch lower that I would never have awakened. I carry that scar today, not on the outside but on the inside. # MSU establishes new tuition plan

Morehead State University has established a new program to make students and their parents.

An installment payment plan is now available allowing payment of major college expenses for the coming year to be spread over 10 monthly

The program consists of several basic plans which may include tuition, room, fees, and even an allowance for books, for both undergraduate and graduate students. Also, individual plans can be created to incorporate food plans and other assistance such as financial aid or scholar-

Payments begin April 1 and end Jan. 1 to insure that there will be sufficient funds to cover both fall and spring semester expenses.

There is a $50 non-refundable fee to enroll in the plan, but if all payments are made according to the individual's plan, the student will receive a $50 credit to be spent in the University Bookstore.

The program was begun during the 1990 spring semester and has proven to be quite successful this year, Fluty said. More than 100 students signed up for it and approximately 85 completed the 10-month

What used to be acres of brush and trees has taken on a new look this past week as workers began clean up operations in preparation of fixing back the old Drift baseball park at Drift. The new park will be available to high school and Babe Ruth League teams from around the county. The property was leased by the county for $600 a year and is a much-needed facility at Left Beaver. The Floyd County Fiscal Court is undertaking the task of putting the field back in playing condition. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

Old Drift Ball Park, Once Dormant, To Come Alive

It used to be the home of countless baseball games. The old Elkhorn League and Big Sandy League used to display their talents at the old Drift Ball Park. The 58th District high school baseball tournament was held at the frequently attended park. Scores of Little League and Babe Ruth games were played on the old diamond. The old Drift Park was the home of a lot of memories for a lot of Floyd Countians.

"That was all there was to do back then," said Ed Caudill, former player in the old Elkhorn League, Sundays, after church, Drift ball park was the place everyone went to watch some good semipro hardball.

Then it happened. In the early '50's the leagues folded and in the coming years the old park slowly deteriorated and finally was scrapped as a place to play baseball. Weeds would eventually cover the field where many baseball hopefuls played baseball. It soon became just another empty lot. The grandstand that once was a landmark was torn down. All that was left of the old field to many people was just memories and old

Last week, Norman Osborne and his wife Glo, owners of the property where the old park set, offered the site to the county to be restored for youngsters once more to play baseball. According to District 3 Magistrate, Betty Caudill, it has been something they have tried to achieve for the past year.

We had been talking about it for a long time," Caudill stated. "Then last week Mr. Osborne called Judge (John M.) Stumbo and said that he would lease the property to the county for $600 a year. So, at our Fiscal Court meeting I made the motion to lease the property, and it was approved by the court."

Caudill said that all the magistrates were good about voting for the lease and were happy that a ball park is being put back at the old site.

explained Caudill. "In fact the high remarked Caudill. "Ed, who is very school (McDowell) needs it- and interested in getting the field back in not for practices. When the high shape, is doing the work on the field.

Caudill said a baseball complex Caudill. will not be built on the site, just a single field for the high school and other teams.

Jeff Meek Sees No Problem For Cincinnati To Repeat In NL West

Monday, April 8, at approximately tros. 2:15 p.m. the 1991 Major League baseball season will officially get underway. The traditional season

In this series of articles on the upcoming baseball season local sportscasters will offer their view of opener will be held at Cincinnati's the upcoming season. In this edition, Riverfront Stadium where last year's Jeff Meek, owner of radio station World Series champions, the Cincin- WXKZ/WPRT here in Prestonsburg, nati Reds, will open defense of their will give his analysis of the upcomcrown by hosting the surprise team of ing season. Meek is a former anspring training - the Houston As- nouncer for the old Pikeville Cubs minor league team that played in Pikeville. He is a veteran announcer, covering the Prestonsburg Blackcats in football and basketball.

In his commentary, Meek expressed his allegiance to the Reds making no secret of being a big Reds

"I think the Reds will win it again," the soft spoken sportscaster related, "at least the National League Westem Division. And I will say this, that whoever wins the National League West will win the pennant."

Meek sees the addition of Daryl Strawberry to this year's Los Angeles Dodger team as being an impact player for Tom Lasorda's ball club.

"But can Strawberry make them a winner?" said Meek. "Can he do anymore than what Curt Gibson did when he was with them? The Dodger pitching staff is suspect. Oral Hershiser is a question mark. Rookie Ramon Martinez will have to prove that he can pitch with some consistency even though he had a good rookie season. He is going to have to be in it for awhile to prove he can pitch year in and year out. And the Dodger defense has been pitiful this spring."

Meek actually sees the Dodgers as a third place team and the San Francisco Giants as the number two club.

The Giants will do better," said Meek. "They have made some adjustments and added some new people. But can they stay healthy."

Even though the San Diego Patres added first baseman Fred McGriff and shortstop Tony Fernandez, Meek feels that is not enough to help a fourth place finish for the Padres.

"Oh, they will make an impact on the Padres team, but they are not going to be able to make them win-

McDowell Keeps Record Perfect With 8-0 Whitewash of Trojans

ell Daredevil's kept their record perfect at 3-0 with an 8-0 blanking of the Wheelwright Trojans Wednesday night at Wheelwright's Brackett

Toby Vance (2-0) went the distance for McDowell shutting out the Trojans on just one hit - a fifth inning single by Jimmy Helton. Vance had retired the first 12 batters he faced until Helton's base hit leading off the fifth inning. The hard throwing right hander fanned eight batters while giving up on one walk.

The game was called during the sixth inning because of darkness with McDowell leading 12-0. However, because it was called the game reverted back to the last full inning which was the fifth - and the final

McDowell scored all the runs they needed in the first inning, six, when they sent 11 batters to the plate against losing pitcher Jimmy Helton. Scott Ousley drew a lead off walk and immediately stole second. Bud Kidd singled moving Ousley to third. Kidd stole second putting runners on second and third. Barry Hall collected two RBIs when he singled home Ousley and Kidd. Shawn Newsome singled home Hall who had advanced to second on an overthrow. Newsome stole second and scored when Vance Coach Greg Johnson's McDow- Cook drew a walk. Vance scored on and picking up trash. They really a base hit by Mike Duddleson and Cook came around when Ousley's ground ball was mishandled at third base. When the dust had settled, the Daredevils held a 6-0 lead.

McDowell went out in order against Helton in the second, third and fourth innings. In the top of the fifth, McDowell pushed across two more runs. Barry Hall led the inning off with a double and scored on Newsome's RBI single. Newsome later scored on a one out base hit by Earl Cook.

Wheelwright could never mount an attack as they went down in order the first four innings. Helton was the only base runner for Wheelwright and got as far as third base.

Coach Meredith Slone's batsmen are now 1-2 on the season. The Trojans defeated Fleming-Neon 8-4 earlier in the season and lost their first game 5-2 to M. C. Napier.

Coach Slone lauded praise upon his players and coaches at Wheelwright for their contribution to getting the Brackett Field in shape.

The coaches and players hauled in seven loads of sand to help improve the field here at Wheelwright," said Slone. "We also got some help from the inmates in Floyd County. Once again, the defense was good for the Daredevils as they played errorless baseball. Defense has been a strong part of McDowell's game: Wheelwright committed three mis-

Helton was the losing pitcher for Wheelwright. Helton had two strike outs and walked three batters.

McDowell will return to the baseball diamond when they travel to Shelby Valley for a stiff test against the Wildcats Thursday, April 11. McDowell then will visit Allen Central on Thursday, April 12. On Saturday, April 13, Allen Central will combine with McDowell to host a one-day tournament involving Belfry and Mullins. McDowell will face the Mullins Tigers in the first game at 10 a.m. Allen Central, then will play the Tigers in a 12:30 game. At 4:30 p.m. McDowell will face Belfry and Moore's Rebels will face the Pirates

A TIP OF THE HAT .....

Goes to the Floyd County Fiscal Court and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Osborne for their contributions in providing a baseball field for the youngsters up Left Beaver. The Fiscal Court has men and equipment at the old Drift Ball Park site cutting brush and trees as well as hauling dirt. The Osbornes were kind enough to offer the property for a ball park that has been needed for a long time.

Also the Fiscal Court lent a helping hand to the good folks at Wheelwright in getting the high school baseball field ready for the season. A tip of the hat to all involved at the Fiscal Court.

AND NOW THE OOPS' DEPARTMENT .....

Wheelwright was not the last Floyd County school to reach the semifinals of the Kentucky State tournament as the KHSAA hand book reported and we reported last week. Thanks to Tom Stewart, former Maytown Wildcat, it is a known fact that Maytown advanced to the semifinals in 1969 when they lost to Louisville Central 86-

INJURED LIST ....

Cincinnati Reds shortstop Barry Larkin will be out for a couple of days because of a sprained back, but vows to be ready by opening day on Monday. The Astros will be in town to help the Reds open the 1991 Major League baseball season. Tom Browning has been given the assignment of getting the Reds off to the kind of start of last season when they won their first nine games and never looked back. Can the Reds repeat? That depends on how the starting pitchers come through. Personally, I don't think they have the caliber of pitching it will take to win it this year.

SPRING BREAK.....

Spring break for local schools has brought a lull to the baseball games this week. With all the nice weather we have been experiencing, it has been ideal baseball weather. Betsy Layne's squad spent the week in Florida. I thought I should go and cover their excursion in the southland — but!

However, all the teams will be in full swing next week with a full slate of games. Girls softball will return also next week. The Harold-Allen-Prater LIttle League is scheduled to start later in April, getting a jump on the other leagues. I can't wait! I love it.

HUGE PICNIC SHELTER COMING TO ALLEN PARK.....

According to Floyd County Judge Executive John M. Stumbo, the Stumbo Park in Allen will be getting a new 68x24 picnic shelter this spring. The package has been delivered and will be assembled soon. Many other activities are scheduled for the park this summer including asphalt for the walking track. Don't you just love the outdoors in the spring! Enjoy yourself this summer. The golf course has been extra busy lately.

NOTICE TO ALL LITTLE LEAGUE, BABE RUTH DI-RECTORS....

We would like to have a schedule of all the Little League, Babe Ruth and Farm Leagues as soon as you have them completed. Don't with until the season is half over!

should have it ready to play on in abut two weeks, but a lot will depend on the weather. We will not be able to put up bleachers and dugouts right away, but all that will come later. We want to get it ready for this season and as quickly as we can."

Stumbo said that bases and other items had been ordered for the field and that clay from the Allen Park would be hauled to the site and put on the infield.

The old pitching mound is still evident at the old park site. In centerfield, fragments of the old scoreboard are visible with vines wrapping around the other part. The original foul poles still stand.

"We are doing all we can right now to get it ready for this summer," remarked Ed Caudill. "We will put up a backstop and haul some dirt from the Allen Park here, and it will in the area," continued Stumbo. "We make a real nice infield. We want to slope the infield so that it will drain good."

- (Continued from B 3)

Caudill echoed the same feelings as Judge Stumbo regarding how the weather goes, which will determine how soon the field is completed. "We work on the field when we can get to it," said Caudill.

The old lights which used to illuminate the field during night games were taken down and sold to the Whitesburg High School, and the same lights light up the Yellowjackets football field today. There are no immediate plans to put lights on the field being built.

A grand old ball park, once dormant, will come alive, and the cry of "play ball" will again be heard.

The old grand stand and other parts of the old Drift Ball Park will have to remain just what they are memories.

Jeff Meek-

"What the Reds need is a good left handed reliever that can come on in the middle innings and work," explain Meek. "If they can fill that position they will be hard to beat."

Meek questions the starting rotation of the Reds pitching corp. "If we have any quarrel with the Reds pitching it would be with the starters. Tom at the major league level. Armstrong Browning should win 15 games for the Reds this season and if (Jose) Rijo can stay healthy there is no reason why he can't win 20 games. Armstrong has been pitiful in his appearances this spring and I blame on his early walkout in spring training.

the Dodgers, he comes in and has a good first full year, wins 11 games and starts the All-Star game and then only wins once the rest of the season and feels the club should pass out the big money the others are making."

Eric Davis, who the Reds count on for run production, draws this analysis from Meek.

"Fans really get onto Davis,' said the radio station owner. "Mainly because he will not play hurt. But the way Davis plays he is going to get hurt and he will miss games. He plays somewhere between 125 to 130 games per season. I personally don't know if he will ever be able to do what they first expected of him and that is hit the home runs. I believe he is capable of hitting 30 a season, but I doubt he will ever be able to do it."

Meek feels that Davis should be taken out of the number four spot and moved lower in the lineup to take off the pressure.

"(Lou) Piniella will never have a upon park property and all watercraft constant batting order," explained Meek. He will platoon the players

Meek says he thinks that pitchers ent his picks on how the season will go. Cincinnati will win the National League West with the Giants coming in second. Los Angles is his third place pick with San Diego being fourth. Atlanta moves up to the five spot while Houston will hold up the rest of the league.

In the National League East, the Chicago Cubs will rule the roost with New York coming in second. Montreal takes the third spot and the Phillies should improve enough to finish fourth. The Pirates will be the fifth place team; the St. Louis Cardinals will be the cellar dwellers.

KDFWR To Cancel Ky/Tenn. Reciprocal License Agreement

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR) has begun the process to dissolve the reciprocal license agreement existing between Kentucky and Tennessee for sport fishing and waterfowl hunting on bordering sections of Kentucky Lake.

According to Don R. McCormick, KDFWR commissioner, the agreement will expire April 17 of this year.

McCormick cited the difference in Kentucky's and Tennessee's regulations for this portion of the lake as regulations. basis for dissolving the agreement.

"The department and Kentucky maintaining quality fishing opportunities in this portion of Kentucky Lake," said McCormick.

"Since there is such a difference in Kentucky's and Tennessee's management objectives and the corresponding laws needed to achieve those objectives, the only feasible choice is to dissolve the agreement," McCormick added.

McCormick further stated that abolishing the agreement ensures that Kentucky regulations will be followed in the Kentucky portion of Kentucky Lake.

"This will allow the KDFWR to meet its obligation to Kentucky anglers by increasing the effectiveness of fisheries management on Kentucky Lake," said McCormick.

Approximately 22,000 of the 30,000 acres within the reciprocal zone area actually lie in Kentucky. This portion will not be strictly governed under Kentucky's size and creel limit laws.

The area formerly in reciprocal zone on Kentucky Lake included the waters between the Highway 68/80 bridge (Eggner Ferry) in Kentucky and the Highway 79 bridge (Paris Landing) in Tennessee.

Dissolution of the reciprocal agreement means state boundaries and markers will be established for Kentucky Lake waters near the Kentucky/Tennessee state line, Anglers must be licensed in the state where they fish, and follow the appropriate

The cancellation of the agreement with Tennessee for Kentucky Lake anglers are very concerned about also includes the abolishment of the reciprocal zone on Dale Hollow Lake under the same terms. The agreement between the two states establishing reciprocal waters included both Kentucky and Dale Hollow Lakes.

HOROSCOPE

April 7 through April 13

By C.C. Clark

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

A problem with a loved one may take you away from something you enjoy this week. Plan a special dinner or activity for family members.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

Good news is on the way for you and a friend. You will have a busy week, but a profitable one. Make sure you are clear in your communication with loved ones.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

Don't let your understanding nature get you in trouble this week. Others may try to take advantage of you if you don't stand up for yourself.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

This is a good week for communications. Time will pass slowly, but, although it drives you crazy, you actually need this time to get things straightened out.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)

Get yourself back on track with a loved one. Too many things have been left unsaid, and it is now time to clear the air and get on with your relationship.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)
It may be time to ask yourself if the effort you have been putting into a certain situation has been worth it. You may discover that indeed it has.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)

You will have to expect the unexpected this week, especially from those close to you. This is a good time to travel, even if you simply take a short trip.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)

Prepare yourself for an important change, one that could quite possibly affect the rest of your life. Keep an open mind and recognize opportunities when they are offered.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)

Try not to start any new projects this week, as you are not up to handling the minute details of such a task. Take some time off to relax, if possible.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)

If everyone is driving you crazy, get away for a while to pull yourself together. You may be experiencing a health problem without realizing what is wrong.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)

A new friend could bring much excitement into your life this week. It is important you contact loved ones who live far away. They need to know you care.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)

This is a great week for a party. No need for elaborate plans; your friends will be happy just hanging out with you. You should anticipate big changes in the weeks ahead.

TV PIPELINE

Chandler just a character name for actress Jeanne Cooper

By Polly Vonetes

O: When I was acting in pictures back in the '40s and '50s, there was an actress at Warner Bros. named Marjorie Henshaw. I was at Paramount, but I met her a couple of times. She married a young up-and-coming actor by the name of Jeff Chandler. Unfortunately, he died during an operation. There is an actress on a daytime drama (can't remember her name) who plays "Mrs. Chandler" by the name of Jeanne Cooper. She is also the mother of Corbin Bernsea. I have a pretty good memory for faces, so would you please try to find out if Jeanne Cooper was formerly the contract player I knew as Marjorie Henshaw? -Nan Swann, Kihei, Maui, Ha-

A: In checking back on Jeff Chandler, I find he was married to a Marjorie Hoshelle in 1946. They had two sons, but were divorced in 1954. In checking Jeanne Cooper's biography, I find she was born in Taft, Calif., to Sildeth and A.T. Cooper Sr. and has been using her maiden name professionally. She married producer Harry Bernsen in 1953; they have since divorced. She began her career under contract to Universal. Perhaps you would like to write Jeanne Cooper for more information c/o The Young and the Restless, Columbia Pictures TV, The Burbank Studios, 4000 Warner Blvd., Burbank, CA 91522

Q: Is there any way you can send me Woody Allen's address? I know this may not be a question of general interest, but you are my only source of information. would forever be grateful. If you can't answer, call me collect. I will pray for an -Joe Griffis, answer. Orange, Calif.

A: I never thought I would

be the answer to someone's prayers. Write to: Woody Allen, 130 W. 57th St., New York, NY 10019. Good

O: I read your column in our local paper, The Maui News. For years I've admired the movies and the job Jerry Lewis does with the yearly telethon. Could you please give me an address where I could write to him? -Bobbie Rocha, Lahaina, Hawaii

A: Everyone loves to receive a pat on the back for the job they do. Write to: Jerry Lewis, 3305 W. Spring Mountain Rd. No. 1, Las Vegas, NV 89102.

Virgie Connal in Ontario, Calif., this is for you. In the Feb. 23 issue of TV Pipeline, I asked for information on Alien Nation for you. I told you our readers were great, and, as expected, I heard from one, Kerry Lindemann-Schaefer, Rt. 4, Box 134C, Morehead City, N.C., who is also an avid Star Trek fan.
