Savage storm rips through area

by Janice Shepherd
Staff Writer

The beauty in the stillness was the first thing Danny Green noticed around 5:30 Tuesday evening as he sat with his 3-year-old daughter nestled in his lap. Then the clouds started moving; the skies became dark; the wind became a vibrant roar. "It was the loudest sound ever heard in the mountains," said Green as he described the storm that ripped down the hillside and buffeted his home at David. He saw the wind coming by the debris it flung along its path.

He ran into the house with his daughter Alanna and took his wife and infant daughter into the basement. The wind rocked his home, causing ripped siding to smash against his windows.

A few miles down the road, near

Johnson Fork of Caney, at the home of Dennis Ousley, the wind tore into his barn, ripping off the roof and smashing it to splinters. At his neighbor's home, the wind picked up a metal storage building, but left its contents intact.

Raymond Reffett was plowing a field behind the home of Ousley when he saw the storm approach. He and his son jumped into his pickup, but the wind picked it up "about four feet," Ousley said. As soon as the truck wheels hit the ground, Reffett and his son jumped into a deep ravine beside the vehicle.

Ousley's son Shawn was outside repairing a motorcycle when the wind flung him against concrete. His wife, Juanita, said she watched the storm approach. Treetops touched the ground, she said. The wind pushed her against the wall and she had to fight her way inside her home. Sand assailed her, cutting her face and her legs.

Sharon Wright had just returned to her home on Blue River and was enjoying the stillness surrounding her. She heard a roaring noise, like a train, and then the tree splitting apart in her front yard.

"The tree was cracking, like a shot; it was real quick instead of a rumbling sound," said Wright, whose teenage daughter, Mashawna, was asleep in the front living room of the house. Mother and daughter rushed into a corner of the bedroom away from the windows. The roof stopped the fall of the 70-foot tree. About 15 minutes after the passing of the storm, Wright said the air pressure caused her van windows to explode.

In Prestonsburg, Pat Dillion and her daughter, Melissa, had parked

Bingo probe sought

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

The Floyd County Board of Education will ask the Commonwealth Attorney to launch an investigation into the "alleged illegal" use of school facilities at Allen Central, Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg high schools.

Superintendent Ron Hager recommended Tuesday to the board that Commonwealth Attorney Jerry Patton be asked to investigate the use of school facilities after reports of illegal bingo games at Prestonsburg was reported last week.

The Prestonsburg Academic Athletic Association has been operating bingo games on Monday nights at Prestonsburg High School for several years. The association has failed to meet state law criteria to operate the game as a charitable gaming activity.

All board members gave their consent to the investigation after a lengthy closed session at Tuesday's board of education meeting.

Prestonsburg principal Robert May was in attendance at the board meeting but was not asked to address the bingo issue. May reportedly gave Hager some of the group's financial records Tuesday afternoon.

In a special meeting of the board last Friday, the board ordered the games to cease as of Friday. The board also asked that a preliminary report on the activities be made at Tuesday's regular meeting.

The board asked Friday that the legality of the game and a full accounting of those funds be made to the board.

"I want it stopped," chairman Ray "Shag" Campbell said Friday. "I want some answers from him (May). If it's a school activity, it should be audited."

Superintendent Hager explained Friday that the bingo games began three to four years ago at Betsy Layne, Allen Central and Prestonsburg high schools. Hager said he thought the games at Betsy Layne and Allen Central "folded" a short time after they began. He said he was unaware the games were not in compliance with state laws.

Kuwaiti jobs topic of federal hearing here

by Janice Shepherd
Staff Writer

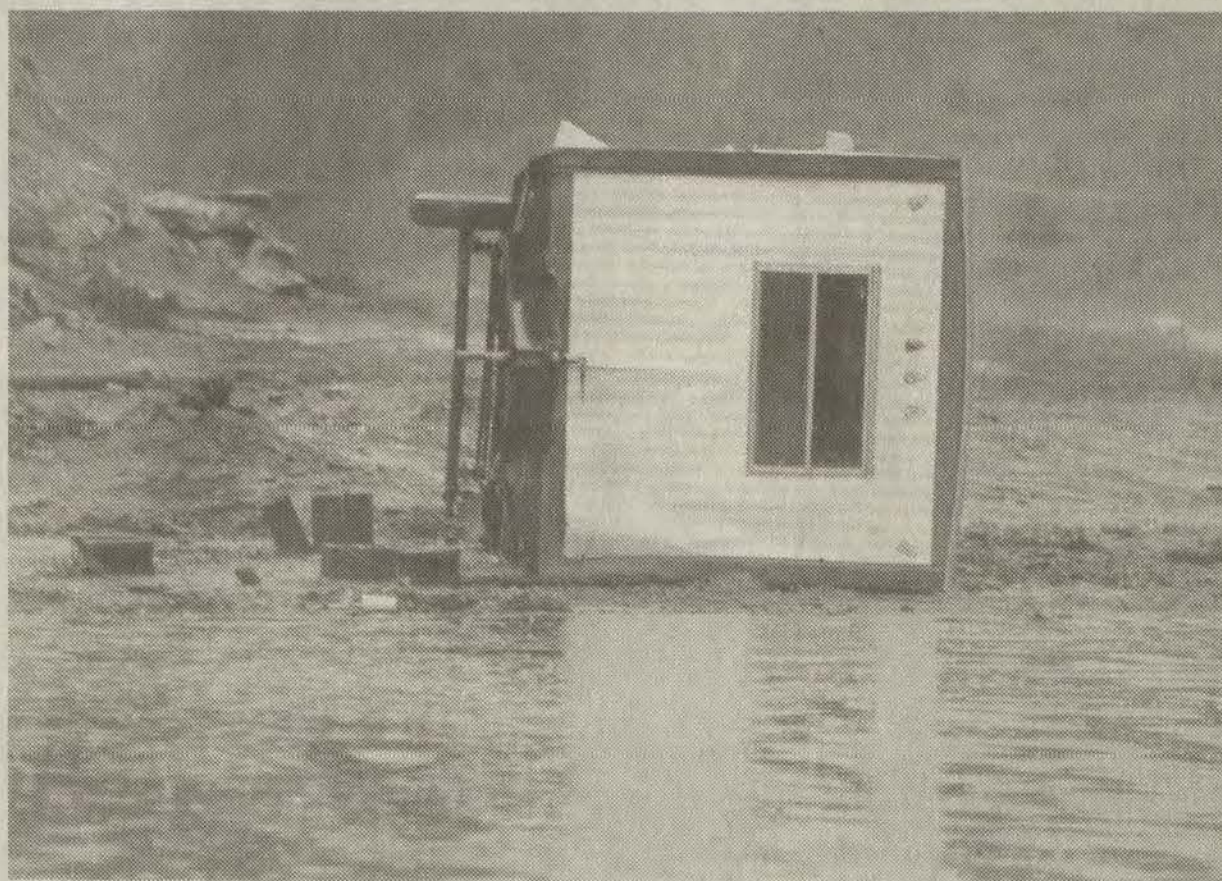

Eastern Kentuckians packed the cafeteria of the Adams Middle School Friday hoping to learn about job opportunities in Kuwait during a congressional hearing conducted by Congressman Chris Perkins, chairman of the Education and Labor Employment Opportunities Subcommittee, and Representative Robert Andrews of New Jersey.

In order to determine if Eastern Kentuckians were getting a "fair shake" for jobs in Kuwait, Perkins and Andrews listened to testimony from members of three panels: Michael W. Owen, representing the Army Corps of Engineers Washington, D.C.; Darwin Allen, commissioner for the Kentucky Department of Human Resources; Scott Distler, general manager of Stewart Services Inc. of Louisville; Roger Gribble, regional administrator of the Small Business Administration; William R. Robinson III, vice chairman Kentucky Chamber of Commerce; and Jeffrey Noel, Executive Director Management and Operations, Kentucky Cabinet of Economic Development.

When the bureaucratic hoopla faded, two things were apparent to those attending the hearing: individuals seeking Kuwaiti jobs should apply to the Human Resources Department for Employment Services; companies which want to help rebuild

Two schools for the price of one, Billips says :

Three options offered for in-city high school

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

School board member Eddie Billips was expected to ask Tuesday that the Floyd County Board of Education consider alternatives to a proposed new Prestonsburg High School at Middle Creek.

With the assistance of Lexington architect Bryan Romanowitz, Billips prepared three options for building a new high school and a new or renovated elementary school which would incorporate existing structures with new construction.

Billips said Monday his proposals could save construction money, get "two schools for the price of one," and keep the high school inside the city limits. He added that he thought the idea was feasible, and stressed that he had personally paid for preliminary plans drawn up by Romanowitz.

The first of Billips' proposals calls for the construction of a new, 800-student high school on property adjacent to the existing school, including the property now used as a football field. A new field would be built behind the new school, parking would be provided along the bank of the Big Sandy River, and the existing Prestonsburg High School gymnasium would be renovated. Billips estimated that option one could be built for $2.4 million less than the Middle Creek proposal.

Billips said the second option, which he favored, would expand on the first by completely renovating the existing high school to serve as an elementary school. The proposal includes a new 800-student high school, a new football field, parking along the river, and renovations to the old high school that include a multi-purpose elementary physical education addition, an academic addition and a library. The plan would expand elementary classroom sizes to the state required 720 square feet.

Billips said he estimated the cost of option two at $3.7 million, noting that the funds could be found by redirecting approximately $1.2 million already proposed for renovating the existing Prestonsburg Elementary School and in $1.3 million proposed for use in remodeling Prestonsburg High as central offices.

Option three, Billips said, would involve razing of the existing Prestonsburg High and constructing a new elementary school on the site. He priced that proposal at $4.1 million.

Other options could be incorporated into any of the proposals, Billips said, including the construction of a new middle school or the development of a baseball field and track.

For commercial garbage services :

City okays rate hike

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

Many Prestonsburg businesses face significant increases in their costs for having garbage removed, but the full effect of rate increases adopted Monday by city council won't be felt for at least a year.

After an extended debate, council voted Monday to adopt an amended ordinance establishing new rates for commercial garbage pick up and setting new regulations for all residents who use city sanitation services. Residential fees of $8 per month were unchanged by the new ordinance.

Commercial rates will be based on a charge of $3 per cubic yard and will be assessed on a basis of dumpster size and the number of times per week garbage is picked up. A business which uses a four cubic yard dumpster, for example, will pay $12 each time the dumpster is emptied. The minimum number of pick ups established by the ordinance is once per week.

New garbage rates will be phased in over a period of one year, with the first increase, a 33.3 percent hike, to take effect July 1. The rates will increase to 66.6 percent of the total effective hike on January 1, 1992, and full implementation of the increase will take effect June 1, 1992.

To determine the effect of the increase, business owners should compare their current monthly charges, which are included on city utility bills, to the total they will pay under new rates. For example:

-A business which uses a four-yard dumpster and has its garbage collected twice a week will pay $24 a week or $96 per month under new rates.

If that business pays only $50 per month under existing rates, the total increase will be $46 per month. One-third of that $46, or roughly $15, will be added to monthly bills on July 1. Another $15 will be added on January 1, 1992, and the final third will be added June 1, 1992.

The larger the dumpster and the more often garbage is collected, the greater the dollar amount of the rate increase.

Another provision of the new garbage ordinance requires users of the city service to dispose of their trash in proper, covered containers—garbage cans or dumpsters—and it prohibits placing trash contained only in garbage bags on curbsides.

Residential and commercial customers may rent containers from the city or provide their own. Rates for residential containers will be $2 per month. Commercial rentals vary depending on the size of the container. Commercial customers will be required under the ordinance to phase out the use of privately owned dumpsters and replace them eventually with city rentals.

Appeal is denied in shooting

The Kentucky Court of Appeals has affirmed the 1989 first-degree manslaughter conviction of a Prestonsburg woman in connection with the November 1988 shooting death of James Ronald Hudson, 39, of Prestonsburg.

Karon Couch, 31, was tried and convicted on August 7, 1989 in Floyd Circuit Court. Couch maintained she shot Hudson in self-defense because he was allegedly beating her and her 13-year old son.

The Court of Appeals held that the Floyd County Court acted properly when it did not issue a directed verdict in the case; that there was no justification in Couch using deadly force; and that the jury should not have been given an instruction on a reckless homicide charge.

Couch was indicted for shooting and killing Ronald Hudson on November 16, 1988 after the two argued.

The appeal stated that Hudson was in a drunken rage and Couch shot him to protect herself and her 13-year old son.

Couch testified at her trial that Hudson had been drinking the night

Dive squad aids Greenup search

Six members of the Prestonsburg Fire Department's diving team were in South Shore Monday and Tuesday assisting police officials in the search for a possible drowning victim.

Ashland Kentucky State Police dispatcher Dwight Clark said rescuers are looking for Floyd Tackett, 55, of South Shore in Greenup County, who they believe may have drowned after falling into the East Tigert Creek at approximately 1 p.m. Sunday.

Clark said Tackett's wife, Carolyn, said her husband had been clearing brush from the creek bank while aboard a Jon boat when she saw her husband fall into the creek. His wife said he surfaced three times after falling into the creek, but he was unable to recover, Clark said.

Members of Prestonsburg's diving team were called in for assistance Monday and returned to the scene Tuesday, said Major Mike Wells with the fire department.

Sunday haul

The Floyd County Sheriff's department and the county's Alcohol Beverage Control agent conducted a raid at a McDowell bar Sunday after the owner allegedly sold an informant a case of beer for $16. Sheriff's deputy Linzie Hunt displayed the contraband confiscated at the bar. The department netted 12-15 cases of beer; a .25 caliber automatic handgun; cash and food stamps; and a police scanner. # Garbage — (Continued from page one)

Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta said Monday that residents and businesses should not be alarmed by the new garbage rates.

"We're going to work with people," Latta said. "We sure don't want to put anybody out of business by doubling or tripling garbage rates."

City councilman William O. Goebel added that the new ordinance would "make our city so much cleaner," noting that the requirement for use of covered containers would prevent garbage from being spread by stray animals.

The new garbage ordinance was adopted by council on a 5-1 vote, with councilman Jerry Fannin voting "no" and councilman Danny Hamilton abstaining. It will take effect after required publication in The Floyd County Times.

In other business at Monday's regular meeting, council:

-Gave final approval to an ordinance increasing the salary of Mayor Latta by 6.1 percent, to $7,200; and upping the monthly salaries of city council members from $15 to $100. The salary hike passed on a 6-1 vote, with councilman Jerry Fannin voting "no."

-Gave final approval to an ordinance creating an employee "leave bank," which allows city employees to contribute vacation time for use by other employees who miss work for extended periods due to sickness or injury.

-Approved a request from the First Baptist Church to operate a "pop-stop stand" in the municipal parking lot during the summer.

-Authorized Mayor Latta to advertise for bids for professional services and a feasibility study for a city civic center proposed to house the Kentucky Opry.

-Authorized advertisement for bids for bracing a bridge at Archer park.

-Adopted a proclamation declaring the weeks of April 16-29 "Spring Clean-up" in Prestonsburg.

-Adopted a proclamation declaring the week of May 15 "Students Against Drunk Driving Week."

Council also agreed Monday to study a request from a number of city youths which seeks the development of a skate-boarding facility. Group spokesman Matt Kelly presented council a petition bearing 236 names and said his group would be willing to help design, build and maintain a skate-boarding facility.

Council members agreed to review the proposal and possibilities that such a facility could be developed at Archer Park. The issue will be discussed again at council's April 22 meeting.

Mayor Ann Latta also announced Monday that city administrator Sam Campbell had resigned that post "for personal reasons." She offered no further details.

All members but councilman Gary Brown were present for the April 8 session.

Campaign stop

Lieutenant Governor and gubernatorial candidate Brereton Jones made a whirlwind campaign stop in Floyd County Tuesday morning. Jones visited Prestonsburg Community College and Highlands Regional Medical Center, stopping to talk to HRMC patient Audrey Scott. # Shooting — of the shooting and after she finished doing laundry she went upstairs to the bedroom where Hudson was and found the door locked. She said she fell asleep on the couch and was awakened by Hudson telling her to leave the house.

Couch testified Hudson began beating her in the head and the two fought for some time on the floor. She said Hudson began dragging her toward the front door.

According to court records, the ruckus apparently woke her son who tried to intervene in the fight and Hudson then turned on him. Couch testified that Hudson pinned her son down and she then got a pistol out of her purse and shot him in the chest.

The Court of Appeals ruled that no evidence had been presented at the trial to justify Couch's use of deadly force to defend herself and her son.

The appeal also contended the court had erred because the indictment was defective because it did not specify under which subsection of the law Couch was being charged.

The court ruled that an argument for any defect in an indictment must be raised in a pre-trial motion.

Couch is serving a 10-year jail term on the conviction.

Storm — (Continued from page one)

their car near their home on Highland Avenue when a tree was yanked from its roots and thrown onto their home. Mrs. Dillion said the wind picked up the back of the car, and was rocking it from side to side.

At Prestonsburg Village, a construction trailer near Super 8 Motel was overturned. A falling power line made contact with the highway and sent a fireball skipping over the roadway. The windows of approximately 10 cars in the Village parking lot exploded from the wind, said Assistant Prestonsburg Fire Chief Mike Wells.

Roofs were torn from homes around the Water Gap-Hueysville areas; power outages were experienced in Prestonsburg, Auxier, Maytown, Price, McDowell and Wayland. In Salyersville a woman rushing to her cellar for shelter was picked up by the wind and thrown down the cellar steps. She was treated at Highlands Regional Medical Center for a fractured arm.

Emergency personnel were extended beyond their limits, but they answered every call, said Wells.

"We took the life-threatening calls first. We hit them as we could get them."

Wells also praised his firefighters, "Without the help of the excellent people on the scene, we couldn't have done any better."

Wells said the power was out in Auxier due to a high tension line, which the wind just "snapped in two."

Floyd County DES Director Robert Carpenter declared Floyd County to be in a state of emergency. Carpenter said several Eastern Kentucky counties had suffered the storm. Several reports of tornado sightings went unconfirmed late Tuesday night.

The path of the storm could be traced along mountains, down valleys in zig zag patterns. It's path of destruction was as wide as a four-lane highway. It's pattern was hit and miss, and mainly it missed the people, but it left its mark throughout the region.

Heavy storm damage was reported Tuesday evening in Louisa, and in downtown Paintsville winds ripped away part of the roof of the post office and damaged other buildings.

At Little Lick Fork, near Jenny's Creek in Johnson County, a mobile home was blown from its foundation and into a creek. The owners weren't home at the time and were later provided shelter by the Salvation Army.

Dozens of reports of storm damage filtered in Tuesday night from Lawrence County to Pikeville.

In downtown Prestonsburg, power was restored at 10:58 p.m., ending a five-hour blackout in parts of the city.

Early reports indicated that six people had been treated at Highlands Regional Medical Center for injuries suffered during the storm.

Testifying at the congressional hearing held Friday at Adams Middle School, Roger W. Gribble (second from left), acting regional administrator of Region IV of the Small Business Administration, responded to questions asked by Congressman Chris Perkins and New Jersey Representative Robert Andrews. Gribble told the congressmen that it was no favor to the small businesses to put them in an area (International arena) where they will fail. Also pictured are Scott Distler (second from right), general manager of Stewart Services, Inc., Roy Burger (right), employee relations manager with Link-Belt Construction; and Gribble's associate (far left) (photo by Janice Shepherd)

Kuwait

Kuwait should contact the Army Corps of Engineers in Huntington, West Virginia.

Commissioner Allen brought good news to the gathering. The Department of Employment Services in Prestonsburg has received the first Kuwaiti job order in Kentucky, offering around 174 job opportunities for highly skilled workers. Allen pointed out that these individuals will come from a job bank listing, and anyone who is interested in working in Kuwait must first add their name to this national listing. He stressed it is not a matter of first come, first serve, but a matter of qualifications.

Deputy Assistant Owen explained that businesses need to register with its data base network and to subscribe to the Commerce Business Daily, because it is the "daily bible for businesses." When international job vacancies are available, said Owen, the Corps advertises in the daily. To register with the Corps' data base, companies need to contact the Huntington office, Owen said.

A Kentucky company has received an order for equipment from Kuwait, but it has not been through the efforts of the American government, testified Roy Burger, employee relations manager with Link-Belt Construction in Lexington. Burger said Link-Belt is internationally known and has dealt with Kuwait before. Link-Belt gambled, Burger said, and stockpiled equipment that it thought would be essential for rebuilding Kuwait, such as hydraulic equipment and all-terrain cranes. That gamble paid off when the order came in, said Burger.

A Louisville firm that also wants to provide assistance to Kuwait is finding communication a major barrier in its pursuit of the "fair shake." Scott Distler, general manager for Stewart Services, Inc. said he had difficulty making contact with the proper government agencies in getting information on export procedures, tax structures, and Kuwaiti customs.

Distler echoed the frustration of his fellow Kentuckians. "Where do you go to get information for overseas work?" he asked.

William Robinson, with the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, informed the committee that the most important step it could take would be to organize and develop an effective communication system. Robinson volunteered the services of the Kentucky Chamber. Robinson also lamented the lack of financing available to Kentucky businesses.

In an effort to overcome these barriers, the Kentucky Chamber will provide a Matchmaker Program. On May 15 and 17 in Lexington, the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, the Kentucky World Trade Center and the United States Small Business Administration will bring together over 80 Kentucky manufacturers interested in exporting their goods to foreign markets. Among the products represented will be medical supplies, hardwood products, concrete batching equipment, hydraulic systems, personal computers and a variety of other manufacturing related equipment, Robinson explained.

The Kentucky Cabinet of Economic Development is also becoming organized in its effort to provide centralized information centers. The department offers an information packet to those individuals and businesses interested in the Kuwaiti job market, Jeffery Noel reported to the congressional committee. The department lists a toll-free number (1-800-626-2250) for centralized information. An automated voice will answer but, Noel said, to talk with a "real live human" voice, stay on the line and someone from the department will answer.

Noel stressed the importance of Kentucky businesses in organizing a joint venture to enter the international trade show scheduled in Bahrain this November.

"It's an excellent way for companies to experience first-hand what opportunities exist in the rebuilding effort," Noel said.

The Small Business Administration also offers an information packet and a toll-free number, 1-800-U-ASK-SBA, but SBA Administrator Roger Gribble cautioned small business about entering the Kuwait venture.

"Kuwait is not for the novice business. It's best to do subcontracting," Gribbler said.

Both Gribbler and Allen warned businesses and individuals about utilizing job procurement services which charge a fee. "There's a lot of rip-off (going on). If people say we'll get you a contract, steer clear," Gribbler said.

Perkins said he held the hearing to try to inform Kentuckians what services are available to help those who are interested in working in Kuwait, to look at what the federal agencies have to offer and make it more accessible and to try to get House Bill 110 passed "fast." House Bill 110 requests that Kuwait give preference to United States suppliers in rebuilding Kuwait.

Perkins said his committee will review the testimony and look at ways to improve information distribution process.

Johnson man charged Friday in PCC rape

A 58-year old Johnson County man was arrested Friday and charged in connection with the sexual assault of a Prestonsburg Community College student Thursday night on the college campus.

Romie Adams of East Point was charged with first degree rape for allegedly sexually assaulting a 35-year old Johnson County woman, who was found Thursday on the north end of the campus bound and gagged, said Prestonsburg Police detective sergeant Jeff Stumbo. The incident occurred at approximately 9 p.m. Thursday.

Prestonsburg patrolman Ricky Conn was at the school on a routine patrol and investigating a stolen purse complaint when he spotted a car with the keys hanging in the door and books strewn around the vehicle, Stumbo said. Conn investigated the scene and was alerted that a woman had been found at the north end of the Johnson Building bound and gagged. Stumbo said it was a poorly lit area on the campus.

Conn radioed for an ambulance and assistance.

Adams was arrested and placed under a $50,000, ten percent cash bond at the Floyd County Jail. He was released Monday after posting a $5,000 cash bond.

The incident was investigated by Stumbo and the Prestonsburg Police Department.

Prestonsburg utility company is recognized

Prestonsburg City Utilities' water treatment facility won an award for outstanding water treatment plant operation for 1990.

The award was announced at the 34th annual Water and Waste Water Operators' conference held at the Hyatt Regency in Lexington March 17-21. Accepting the award were Russell Music Jr., Donald Ray Compton, Seldon Horn, and Bill H. Howard, superintendent of Prestonsburg Utilities.

Howard said the water treatment facilities were judged by the number of licensed operators, by compliance with all state requirements, cleanliness and appearance of the treatment plant. The Prestonsburg plant met all state requirements, Howard said.

The competition is part of a training program and is on a voluntary basis. Honors are awarded in two categories of four divisions. Prestonsburg participated in the eastern division and won the award for water treatment plant. Morehead was awarded outstanding in the waste water treatment category.

Mountain skills to be celebrated at Morehead

Appalachian skills and traditions will be celebrated once again during Morehead State University's 15th annual Appalachian Celebration, scheduled June 23-29.

The Celebration, sponsored by MSU's Regional Development Services, pays tribute to Appalachia's rich mountain heritage, its ever changing present and its promising future, according to Donna Reynolds Spangler, Celebration coordinator.

"The Appalachian experience comes through a combination of programs designed for all ages and interests," said Spangler. The weeklong event includes workshops, exhibits, demonstrations, music and crafts, all focusing on the life and times of the people of Appalachia.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Over the past few months our pages have carried numerous stories concerning financial problems at this school and that school. Those problems have centered on the lack of funds to pay such things as phone bills or to purchase everyday school supplies like copier paper.

To resolve these financial crises, we've heard school officials suggest students sell candy bars, heard teachers complain that they must ante up out of their own pockets, and listened to parents who allege booster club funds are being confiscated to pay for supplies.

Somewhat stop the bleeding. Students pay field trip fees to go on field trips.

Booster club members raise funds to boost school clubs.

Teachers should be required only to teach and should be adequately supplied to do just that. There is nothing wrong with organizing fund-raisers to help pay for extras. That's what fund-raisers are for.

There is plenty wrong with asking students, teachers and parents to cough up cash for phone bills and copier paper. There's plenty wrong with taking booster club or field trip funds to pay for anything other than their designated purpose.

The greatest wrong, though, is to ignore what is right.

"reimbursements."

It would appear that bingo provides a lucrative means of raising much-needed revenues. If the school and its students are the beneficiaries and the legal requirements for operating the game are met, we're all for it.

If the numbers don't add up, the folks doing the counting need to explain why.

It is our usual policy to steer clear of pointless political bickering, but the case of Tim Sizemore vs. Eddie Billips begs our attention.

Sizemore, a former newspaperman and an obvious anti-Billipsman, has alleged that The Floyd County Times provided free advertising to Billips during last fall's school board race.

Billips has acknowledged that he made some mistakes in the paperwork required to be filed in election campaigns and he has publically vowed to step down as a board member if Education Commissioner Thomas Boysen deems the errors to be of sufficient cause.

We doubt that will be the case. As to the accusation that the Times gave free space to Billips in the campaign...forget it.

All was paid and accounted for.

The response to our story last week concerning a bingo game at Prestonsburg High is running about five to one in support of the question: where does the money go?

The lone objection to the article came from an anonymous caller who vilified the story, the newspaper, and ourselves, personally, for casting stones at a worthwhile project.

Worthwhile to whom?

Worthwhile to those few lucky winners? To the organization which reaps the proceeds?

Or worthwhile to the students at Prestonsburg High?

So far we have seen no documentation of the benefits weekly bingo games provide the school.

We have, however, seen documentation that the organization which sponsors the game has spent thousands of dollars for a pickup truck and evidence that members of the organization have received thousands of dollars in

Few will deny that the first year of life is difficult, for both the new baby and the new parents.

That's why the first birthday is often among the most celebrated.

Tuesday, the baby turned one and, like most new moms and dads, the parents still aren't quite sure what to do with it.

The celebrated guest of honor, of course, is Kentucky's Education Reform Act, which commemorated its first anniversary on April 9.

The parents?

About 3.7 million of us.

While education reform may still be an infant in conventional terms, it's fast becoming an old soldier.

But not one that is likely to fade away.

No doubt, many of us having found our new baby difficult to manage and even more difficult to understand.

Nobody said parenting would be easy.

Many happy returns.

Letters

Editor:

For the past few weeks I have read different letters to you regarding the book entitled "Coal Camp Kids." There seems to be a question as to whether or not this book will actually be published? I can only relate my own personal experience regarding the book "Coal Camp Kids."

Recently my grandfather, who is seventy-eight years of age, became seriously ill and was hospitalized. His prognosis for recovery was not good. My wish for him was to see this beautiful book with his quotes and picture, and for him to know that someone cared enough about his life growing up in a coal camp to include his memories in this book. For you see, he is often quoted in the book.

I called Mr. Coalson of Father & Son Publishing, Inc., and explained the situation of my grandfather and the earnestness of "Coal Camp Kids." I asked if it was at all possible for him to send me a copy? Mr. Coalson was very professional and explained to me that the book had been bound but the cover had not been completed—if I received it, it would be without a cover. By the next week, March 14, 1991, I had received "Coal Camp Kids" to give to my grandfather for him to read and experience his words in immortalization.

I'm not sure of the medical value of the book, but I am sure that my grandfather enjoyed reading every word contained in "Coal Camp Kids". For you see, I would have walked to Father & Son Publishing, Inc. in Florida for a copy of that book to give my grandfather.

I was so impressed by "Coal Camp Kids", I mailed my check in for a copy; although I have to wait like everyone else for the final completion, I know I will receive it.

I certainly want to thank Mr. Coalson for his immediate response to my request in the time of what I sensed as an emergency. The book is a reality; it is a beautiful hard back cover full of wonderful stories and photos of the people known as the Coal Camp Kids. I also want to thank Mr. Coalson for his wonderful words of scripture during that time and for making my grandfather happy.

Dear Editor:

The wars over. What's done is done. For all the wonderful mail I received from home from your readers, several unsigned letters, sort of "hate mail," came from people in the area who were opposed to the war, and the reasons for which we were at war. Maybe this will enlighten them.

My reasons became clear to me as my unit 1/41 infantry spearheaded for "Task Force Iran" through South-Central Iraq and into Northern Kuwait. As I write this, I can see 31 separate oil wells on fire, pouring thick clouds of black smoke into the air. The smoke is so thick that the sun can barely break through. It's 11:34 a.m. now and if I didn't have a watch, I would think it was dusk. This pollution will not just affect Kuwait, but a large portion of the world. That's one reason I fought here.

But the biggest reason came to me on the 2nd of March, as we were clearing Iraqi troops from their bunkers and dug-in positions in Northern Kuwait.

There were three of us and we had just captured 19 of the so called "elite" Iraqi Republican guardsmen. As we marched them down a Kuwaiti highway to the P.O.W. compound, I saw a little blue stroller sitting on the shoulder. I moved to inspect it because I feared a child might have been abandoned. As I moved closer, I saw the infant, all tucked in with blood soaked blankets, bullet wounds all over it's body, left to rot on the desert highway.

So, to you people who protested this action; walk a few miles with an infantryman on the front lines and you'll see everybody praying for peace, while realizing the necessity for war. I lost a couple of good friends here, but they were here for the same reasons I was here; for that baby boy and dozens more like him throughout Kuwait. Think about that the next time you want to send "hate mail" to a soldier who's just doing his job.

Editor:

I'm still wondering why the gas rates went up; its not a shortage on gas. I had to fix my gas regulator, and when I went by the meter house, it sounded like a blowing viper. It was a gas leak.

The guys who read the meters go by there all the time. They could have heard it, too. Oh well, I guess it's the fat cats that needs a raise — and like it's always been, they rob the poor to get it.

I can show you some more leaks if you want to know. Seems like all the fat cats are interested in is a raise in rates. It is very disgusting for the poor people to be treated this way.

In Floyd County, if you're in the high class range, the county is always ready to help; and the poor taxpayer has to suffer. You can see our taxes working for the ones who can afford to have it done themselves. The state finally did something—they stopped-up a few holes. Thanks!

When election time comes around again, let's stop, look and listen before we vote and not be bought.

In the beginning, I was opposed to our involvement in the Persian Gulf war. I couldn't see reason enough for our being there. We drove Saddam out of Kuwait. But are they any better off? We shot down airplanes and said we would do it again if Saddam put them in the air. Then we quit. Our president urged the people to rise up against the evil ruler in Baghdad. They did. But look at it now, just look at it now.

Hundreds of thousands of innocent people are dead and left to lie in the streets while dogs eat their bodies. Are we not all God's children? I am very ashamed of what we have done in the Persian Gulf to date. I will never say my country is great if we don't move. We say we did only what the UN resolutions required. That's all of our responsibility. Elephant crap! Why doesn't Bush send a pickup truck back to the UN and get a truck load of UN resolutions and then finish what we started? All the UN has is resolutions.

The four or five trillion dollars we're going to have to cut from aid to dependent children and medicare to pay for this unholy war seems very unimportant now. We've got to finish what we started. Where's all those parking lot preachers now?

A question to Prestonsburg — are we progressive?

by Rev. Tim Jessen

Progressive: adj., making use of or interested in new ideas, findings, or opportunities; moving forward or onward.

Progressive: n., one believing in moderate political change and esp. social improvement by governmental action.

According to Webster's dictionary, that is how "progressive" is defined. So, I ask the question, "Is Prestonsburg a progressive community; are its people progressives?" There are some signs of progress, even in difficult economic times. A new four-lane road plunges through the mountains north of town. A facility for four-year college courses is in the works, and rapid changes are taking place at the Community College. There are lofty hopes for the construction of a home for the Kentucky Opry. Downtown stores are being renovated for new uses, and community pride is high—evidenced by responses to the recent Gulf conflict, efforts at community cleanup, and new tourist and economic expansion initiatives.

But, is Prestonsburg truly a progressive community? Prestonsburg has three public schools—one each for elementary, middle, and secondary grades. Recently, each had an opportunity to vote for site-based decision making, one of the exciting aspects of Kentucky's Educational Reform Act, now just one year old. Though for different reasons and in different circumstances, in each case the "progressive" approach was rejected, or denied.

Prestonsburg offers the only college courses in the county. It has the public library, cultural arts activities, the main shopping districts, an active Chamber of Commerce, an overwhelming percentage of the county's professional people such as attorneys and physicians, and yet in this area, we are not progressive at all. While the county seat likes to pride itself on being "progressive," here, the county outshines us altogether: schools in Allen, Betsy Layne, Melvin, and McDowell "out in the county" have voted for the progressive way, while our three schools—for fear of the unknown and to preserve entrenched power—are on record as being against change and for "things as they are."

Regardless of the resolution of the new Prestonsburg High School site, should not school-based decision making be an important, and vital part of any new school? Shouldn't we in the county seat be setting the pace, rather than falling farther behind in school reform?

Recently, someone considering a move to the Big Sandy area from Lexington asked me about schools here: "Prestonsburg has a progressive school system, like Paintsville and Pikeville, doesn't it?" How would you have answered that question?

Today, one year after the school reform act was signed, under the leadership of our own state representative, I would have to say, "No, we do not." We're lagging behind, not advancing, and that's not being progressive.

That attitude can be changed, but it's up to us Prestonsburgers—and to no one else—to change it.

Helping children get enough to eat

In our society the obvious is all too often understated. Our nation's leading economic indicators show an alarming slip in industrial and technological superiority. This is quickly rationalized as either an economic cycle or an educational problem—let the economists and the teachers fix it.

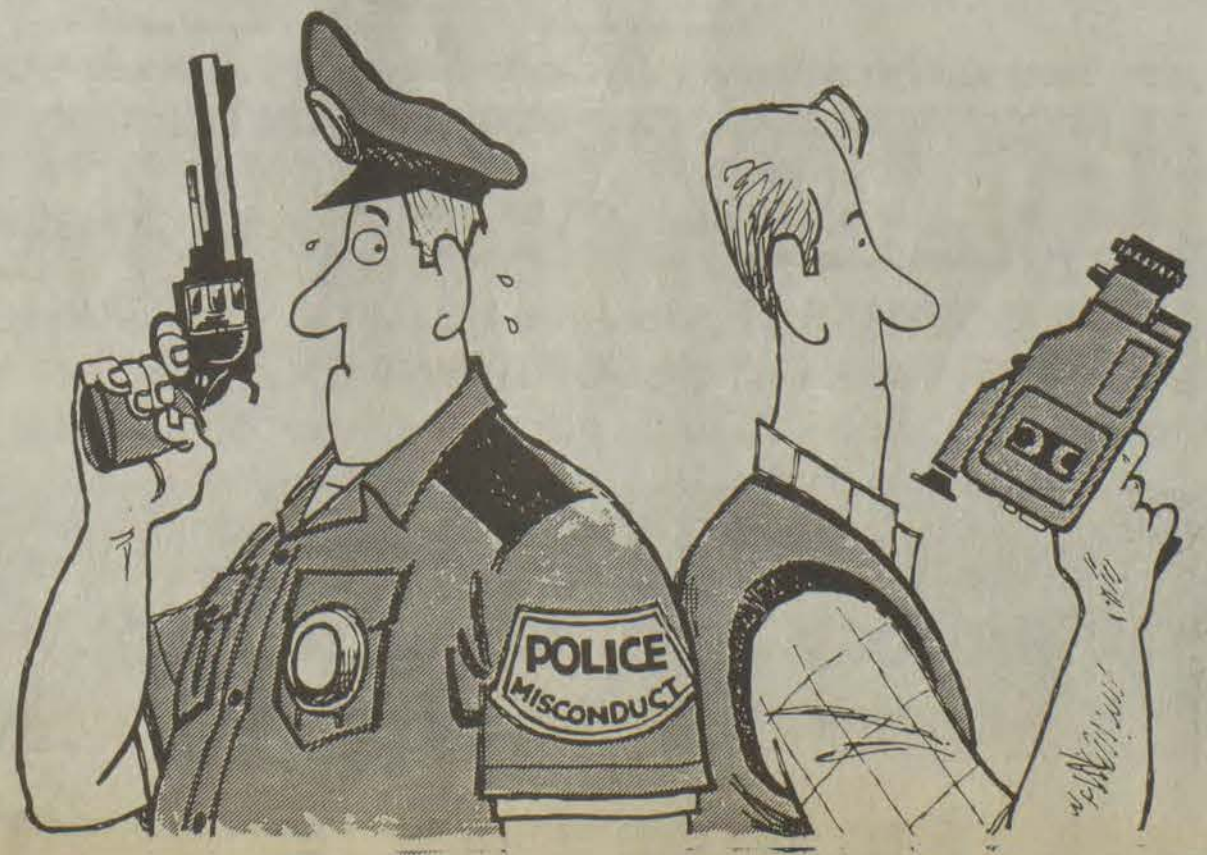

However, the problem rests with society's inability to properly acknowledge its responsibility. Far too many children go without adequate food on a daily basis.

Last year, I attempted to address this national problem with a bill considered during the reauthorization process, but rejected because there were insufficient funds available for this type of project. However, a two-state pilot project was approved. This pilot project extends the eligibility of child care food program benefits to child care centers based on the number of children who qualify for free or reduced-price meals in the National School Lunch Act. Presently, participation is based on the number of Title 20 funds available for child care. Kentucky and Iowa are the states participating in this pilot project, and early figures show that the number of children receiving benefits under new eligibility requirements is rising.

This past week I visited the Southside Christian Child Care Center in Louisville. The center is one of many statewide that are enjoying the benefits brought about by this program. The children were happy, healthy and enthusiastic. All of these are factors that contribute to a successful educational experience.

The link between sound diet and learning ability is clear. The best education programs we can devise will have little effect if our children are simply too hungry to concentrate properly. Eventually, a better educated labor pool will help this country regain the sound economy that it is accustomed to holding. Swift enactment of S. 224 will give more children the hope and opportunity that they so rightly deserve by alleviating the despair of hunger.

BEULAH MARTIN

Mom, it's almost Birthday time again for you. And that is the time we really miss you. You always wanted your family to get together and enjoy your birthday cake. But we know where you are, every day is birthday time for you. We know you were the sweetest and best Mom on earth. Your favorite songs—"Mother's Not Dead, She's Only Sleeping" and "Where We'll Never Grow Old" has become a reality to you.

Tribute Program Videotape

We at Hall Funeral Home are excited about a new optional service we can offer you. "Tribute Programs" is a tasteful and wonderful way to add new meaning to the funeral or memorial service. The six-minute video tape is a tribute to a LIFE carefully prepared from pictures of the person.

Yes, a tribute program may also be pre-arranged and completed. Selections of pictures, a musical theme from a long list of hymns or other music, and favorite scripture passages are all part of this unique service. All these elements are combined with sophisticated video technology and a sensitive production approach provided by National Music Service. Eastern Ky. families have expected Hall Funeral Home to provide leadership. This new feature is expanding nationally, and we are proud to be the first in the state to offer it to the people we serve.

About self-esteem

Self-esteem is a much-used term in the mental health field and has also made its way into the self-help jargon of the magazines and other pop psychology media. It is so frequently used and so rarely explained that I sometimes wonder if any two clinicians, much less Jane and John Q. Public, have the same definition in mind.

I do think the concept of self-esteem is a useful one, however, and I'd like to dispel at least one myth which I've encountered. That is, the notion that self-esteem is a positive feeling about oneself that comes from recognition and frequent compliments. If that were true, then the rich and famous would all be ecstatically happy. Though we might hate to see tarnish on our idols we know that's not the case. Think of how many of our stars and heroes have had drug problems, messy divorces, legal problems and even depression and suicide that public adulation couldn't prevent.

Self-esteem comes from within. It is our own positive self-regard and belief in our capabilities and worthiness. Educators and child guidance experts are concerned about low self-esteem being passed from one generation to the next, though self-esteem is a quality less inherited than learned, less biological than it is environmental. Thus children acquire low or high self-esteem from us because we teach it to them. Most often the process is so subtle and occurs at such an unconscious level that we are surprised by the outcome. However, the acquisition of self-esteem is an understandable process and it can be brought to conscious awareness. So it's important not only for our own happiness and well-being but that of our kids that we develop this attribute in ourselves. The following are habits you can practice to build your self-esteem and teach your children to build theirs:

Learn to be alone both physically and emotionally. Everyone needs "quiet time", preferably daily, to think and examine thoughts and feelings without distraction. Getting to know and like yourself is the basic for change. Feeling in control and independent of others is vital to a sense of well-being.

Appraise yourself realistically and look at your behavior as objectively as you can. Learn to recognize your self as separate from your behavior. Stop criticizing yourself. When you criticize yourself (or your children) change becomes negative. When you approve of yourself, (or the kids) change becomes positive. Be careful not to set overly high expectations which can block achievements.

Build your self-confidence through risk-taking. If you don't try, you may not fail but neither will you achieve anything. Confidence grows from meeting challenges and overcoming obstacles.

Make your own decisions remembering that decisions can always be changed. Not making your own decisions gives others control over you and significantly decreases the chance of getting what you want. By the same token, you must learn to admit your mistakes and objectively examine them for ways to improve. Successful people accept mistakes as a condition of being human and use them to grow.

Learn to be assertive. Develop the ability to be open about your feelings and needs. Learn to confront others when they infringe upon your rights. Don't confuse assertiveness with aggressiveness. Being assertive reduces conflict and improves relationships while increasing the possibility of getting your needs met. Non-assertive behavior generates resentments, erodes self-respect and sets you up to be victimized.

Discover the ability to praise yourself. Criticism breaks down the inner spirit, praise builds it up. Modify your self-talk to tell yourself often how well you are doing.

High self-esteem can be developed through the practice of these widely recognized habits in thinking and self-talk. We can control our thoughts and the kinds of messages we give ourselves about ourselves. We can also recognize and overcome self-defeating behaviors and gradually allow our self-esteem to be supported by knowledge and experiences that we are able to find the resources to meet challenges and overcome problems.

Mine Association's allegations gives black eye to coal operators

by Terry Spears
Appalachian News-Express

The executive director of a Pikeville-based coal association said Friday that the Mine Safety and Health Administration's allegations of industry-wide tampering with coal dust samples has given a black eye to a lot of responsible operators.

"They (MSHA and the Labor Department) have staged a media event at which basically the entire coal industry was given a black eye. They have tried and found guilty the whole industry prior to the citations even being issued, much less being adjudicated through due process," said David Gooch, executive director of Coal Operators and Associates, a 145-company coal association based in Pikeville.

Secretary of Labor Lynn Martin announced Thursday that the Department of Labor has cited more than 500 coal mining firms for tampering with dust samples submitted to MSHA. Martin said that the companies, including 301 in Kentucky, will be fined a total of nearly $5 million.

In all, MSHA said it has issued a total of 4,710 citations to the operators of 847 mines. The agency intends to propose a penalty of $1,000 for each violation cited, and is pursuing criminal investigations.

Gooch said Friday, however, that he hasn't talked to an operator yet who has actually received the citations.

"Normally in an enforcement venture you issue the paperwork and then the press release," Gooch said, a former state enforcement official.

Gooch said he has several questions in his mind about the crackdown. First is the fact that the press release came before the actual enforcement. Also, he said that many of the companies cited were cited for having one sample allegedly tampered with.

"Under the law, having one sample out of compliance does not put a company in all that bad a situation," Gooch said. "But, when it is a case of one, two or three isolated cases, it doesn't make sense to a logical person that somebody would alter one sample. . . One or two samples a pattern does not make. They need to prove the intent to submit fraudulent samples to cover up non-compliance with the law. One or two doesn't prove that kind of pattern."

Federal officials admitted that, in some instances, the companies charged were probably in compliance with the law, and had no reason to submit altered samples. Gooch said that it doesn't make sense that a company in compliance would risk being caught cheating.

Gooch didn't deny that, perhaps, some fraud does go on in the submission of samples.

"If there is a problem in the industry, and if someone is doing this with the intent to evade the law, I don't think that any responsible person in the industry would object to enforcement. . . But, this is wholesale witch-hunt, where a lot of people not guilty are getting caught in the middle. . . Once it is evaluated and looked at objectively, there may be a lot of them thrown out."

At any rate, the COA director predicted that, "there will probably be a considerable amount of litigation."

Gooch said that MSHA will not tell industry officials what "their definition of an abnormal sample is. . . How they determine if a sample has been tampered with, we're not real sure. The National Coal Association has been asked that an independent investigation be conducted in this matter." Gooch said that, "The sad thing is, you are looking at a situation where men have been personally accused of what, if true, is a grievous violation of the law. But, at this point in time, there is no proof of guilt, yet there is a wholesale presumption of guilt by MSHA. They go on a big sweep, lay down the violations, and everybody concludes guilt."

"These people's personal reputations are on the line, and many of them don't even do the tests themselves. Many times it is done by a consultant," Gooch said.

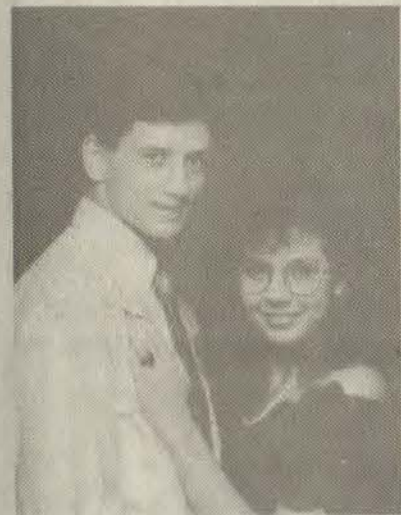

Gooch said that the samples represent "less than three percent" of the total samples submitted industry-wide.

"I think the agency must look to Congress and say, 'Look what we've done here,' so they can ask for more money," said Gooch.

Music, Rice

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Sublett of Paintsville announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Deanna Music, to Barry Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Rice of Prestonsburg. After Friday's congressional hearing at Adams Middle School, Ben Ross (left), executive director of the East Kentucky Corporation, said the way to help Kentuckians seeking international jobs is "simply provide immediate funding to the U.S. Foreign Trade office in Kentucky..." Ross also reminded Congressman Chris Perkins (right) about the U.S. and Foreign Commerce Service offices that are already established in Kuwait, which assists the Federal Trade Administration in stimulating U.S. goods. At Kiwanis meeting:

Bradbury predicts hard year ahead for coal industry

Raymond Bradbury, president of Martin County Coal Corporation addressed the regular weekly meeting of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club on Thursday, April 4, in the wake of that company's recent layoffs.

Bradbury told Kiwanians that these layoffs were in fact permanent and cited several causes, the first of which is the spot market for coal sales, Bradbury said the market is non-existent at this time. In February the spot market disappeared because power plants had accumulated stockpiles of coal due to a milder than usual winter. He also said that the problem actually began last summer when Kentucky had very few periods of extreme heat, therefore cutting down dramatically on the use of coal to generate electricity for cooling.

Bradbury also predicted, along with many recent headlines, that 1991 would be a hard year for coal. Martin County Coal's primary coal purchaser has evoked its right of force majeure which, in effect, states that when their stockpiles reach a certain level they have the right to request Martin County Coal to suspend further shipments until their stockpiles are diminished. As a matter of fact, he stated that that coal purchaser's stockpiles have reached well above their maximum levels.

The efficiency with which coal is produced was also given as another reason for the cutback on manpower. He stated that during the 80's more men were used to produce less coal; however, with today's mining technology, coal company's can produce at much higher levels, with fewer employees.

The speaker also covered the areas of coal mining related to the government's new Clean Air Act. Bradbury said he expected that this would help Eastern Kentucky's coal industry more than hurt it. Also entering into the discussion was the recent interest in Wyoming coal, which has a much lower sulphur content than does any other American coal. It is yet to be seen if companies will be willing to buy coal that has to be shipped over 1000 miles for use, Bradbury said.

Kiwanians also learned that another major problem looming in the future for the coal industry is "global warming." Bradbury stated that the jury is still out on this but if it is found that global warming is a reality, the coal industry could be adversely affected.

The general outlook for coal is that the market is flat for the time being; however, he expects it to improve sometime during 1992 or 1993. This will affect coal sales, not necessarily employment for our area.

On April 11, 1991, the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club will have as its guest speaker, Mr. Ted Osborn, a native of West Prestonsburg, who is a past president of Kiwanis International. Mr. Osborn will be in Prestonsburg to make a presentation to Mrs. Marvin Music, Sr. to honor her late husband for his work as a Kiwanian. All Kiwanians and former Kiwanians are urged to attend.

PCC president to retire

After serving as the first and only president of Prestonsburg Community College for 27 years, Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr. has announced his retirement effective June 30. On June 12, 1964, Dr. Campbell was appointed the first director (the title was later changed to president) of Prestonsburg Community College by the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees.

The college has grown under Dr. Campbell's leadership. The first students were admitted for the semester which began September 1, 1964. A total of 322 students enrolled that semester. By the fall semester of 1990, the student enrollment had grown to more than 2,500. Dr. Campbell was also instrumental in the establishment of the community college at Hazard prior to the appointment of that school's first director.

A search committee to find a new president has been appointed by Dr. Ben Carr, chancellor of the University of Kentucky Community College System. The members of the committee are: Robert McAninch, chairman, John Austin, Jenny Bottoms, William G. Francis, Chalmer Frazier, Sandra Robertson, and Laura Weddle. The Search Committee has reviewed the credentials of the candidates. At the present time, four of the candidates have been invited to visit the campus and meet with community leaders, faculty and students.

The first of the candidates to be on campus is Dr. Alvin J. Marrow. He is presently the Dean of Academic Affairs at Hazard Community College and will visit P.C.C. on April 7-8. He is followed on April 11-12 by Dr. Joseph E. Suppiger, who is presently the Vice-President of Instruction and Student Services at Del Mar College in Corpus Christi, Texas. Dr. Billy J. Vice, Dean of Academic Affairs at Ashland Community College, will visit campus on April 15-17. The last candidate scheduled to visit the campus at this time is Dr. John F. Cooper on April 16-17. He is presently Vice President for Instruction at Texas Southmost College at

During the visit of each of the candidates, opportunities will be provided for the faculty, students, Advisory Board, Foundation Board and community leaders to meet with the individuals. The Search Committee wants to receive input from as many segments of the campus and the service area as possible.

The first wage payment law was passed in 1879 in Massachusetts, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication. The law required that "cities shall, at intervals not exceeding seven days, pay all laborers who are employed by them...if such payment is demanded."

Licking river clear water relay underway

The Licking River Clear Water Relay will kicked off on April 6 with a variety of activities at Salyersville in Magoffin County, where the river has its source.

From now until mid-May, teams of volunteer canoe, boat and river craft pilots will be relaying a bottle of spring water from the source down the 303-mile length of the river to the Ohio River at Covington.

People carrying the clear water will be stopping at locations along the way to share the message of the importance of the Licking River. Its course has played a major role in the history of the northern Kentucky area, establishing early trade routes and determining the location of communities. The river's scenery and wildlife provide opportunities for boating, swimming, fishing, and other recreational activities. It provides drinking water as well as water for commerce and agriculture. Its strength provides resources for transportation, tourism and industry.

Open for business

Floyd County's latest motel officially opened for business Monday. ## Lotto Kentucky jackpot hits record-tying $5 million

Kentucky Lottery players are getting a birthday present from the Lottery Corporation. Just in time for the second birthday of the Lottery; the Lotto Kentucky jackpot is rolling over to an estimated $5 Million dollars. No one matched all six winning numbers in Wednesday's drawing. That means, when Lotto Kentucky numbers are drawn again on Saturday; players will be competing for a record-tying jackpot. Only twice before has the Lotto Kentucky jackpot reached the $5 Million dollar high—in November and May of 1990.

Kentucky's other lotto drawing, Lotto America, is also rolling over. For Saturday's drawing, the Lotto America jackpot will be $12 Million dollars. That amount is a Lotto America record for the period of time in which Kentucky has been a member state.

That means Kentucky Lottery players are now playing for a combined total of $17 Million dollars in lotto prize money.

Lotto fever appears to have swept the region. According to Larry Sipes, Executive Vice President of the Kentucky Lottery Corporation, "jackpots in neighboring states have been helping to drive lotto sales here in the Commonwealth. In the last week, our ticket sales have jumped substantially. Lottery publicity of any kind is good for all lotteries in all states."

The Kentucky Lottery Corporation opened for business two years ago. Since April 4, 1989; $470 Million dollars worth of lottery tickets have been sold in the Commonwealth. 35 percent of that amount has or will be turned over to the state's General Fund for the benefit of all Kentuckians.

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

CARDS VS DODGERS FIRST MAJOR LEAGUE GAME

While sitting here listening to the Cincinnati Reds and Houston Astros in the opening of the Major League baseball season (Monday), I couldn't help remember of the first major league baseball game I saw in person. I was visiting my bother who lived in the St. Louis area in 1961. He got three tickets to the St. Louis versus Los Angeles Dodgers doubleheader. Boy, I was excited. Having followed the Reds since high school days, I still was looking forward to seeing my first major league baseball game regardless who was playing.

In the first game, a foul ball came our way and a first happened, also. No, I didn't get the baseball, but a cup of a spectator's beer on my leg. The Dodgers turned a bottom of the first double play. They made it look so easy.

To say the least, the biggest thrill was getting to see Stan "The Man" Musial play the great game of baseball. That familiar stance he had when coming to the plate set him apart from other players. He was a great one.

I recalled going to Wrigley Field and watching the Reds and Chicago Cubs play in the middle of July. Honest! The middle of July and I almost froze to death. Who would have thought about taking a jacket in July? The locals knew better and looking at the fans you would thought it was a football game. Wrapped in blankets and with ear muffs on, it was a strange sight, but it sure was cold. Heading inside to the concession stand I momentarily forgot the cold when I spied a rat bigger than my dog at home. They can talk about "beautiful" Wrigley Field all they want to, but to me it was a dump.

One year, while working with the Little League in Warsaw, Indiana, we got free tickets (anything to get a crowd) to see the Chicago White Sox's and New York Yankees play at old Comiskey Park. It was a very old park, but it seem to have a lot of baseball nostalgia about it. I got to see Mickey Mantle, Whitey Ford, Roger Maris and a host of real Yankees play baseball. Since they have started tearing down the old park, I am glad I can say I saw a baseball game there.

My favorite park of all that I have been at since the first time I saw my first game, was old Crosley Field. Boy that was a small park compared to what we have today. I used to make three trips a year to Cincinnati to Crosley Field to see the likes of Frank Robinson, Vada Pinson, Johnny Edwards and others. Riverfront Stadium is not my favorite. The park is to large, and if you are unlucky enough to get stuck up in the red seats in centerfield you are out of luck in seeing all of the field.

Major League baseball. You have to love it! It truly is the national past time.

JENNY BACK FROM ALABAMA

Jenny Ousley, composing room worker, spent a long weekend with her husband Randall in Alabama last weekend. Jenny said that they had a good time and enjoyed some fine weather while fishing. Randall, we are told, had to clean the fish. We're glad both had a good time.

HOSS DESERVES HALL OF FAME

In a discussion of the old days at Martin High School and the great basketball teams we had there, I got to thinking that Hoss Halbert needs to be placed in the Kentucky Hall of Fame. I would like to see this happen. I think that Coach Halbert is very deserving of the honor. The alumni of Martin High School should pursue this and see what we can do to get it done.

Floyd County needs it's own Hall of Fame. Think of all the football, basketball and other sports that could be placed in the Hall of Fame in Floyd County. We need one! Just something for everyone to think about.

Until Friday, good sports everyone!

Johnson homers :

Allen Central scores six in 4th to hand Trojans 9-3 loss

Playing for the first time on the new baseball field at Allen Central, coach Anthony Moore's batsmen got off to a good start in posting a 9-3 victory over visiting Wheelwright Monday evening. Thanks to a six run fourth inning, the Rebels were able to subdue a good Wheelwright ball club. A bad hop drive off of the bat of

Chuck Laferty, with the bases loaded, over the head of right fielder Matt Johnson opened the gates for three runners to circle the bases and come home. The six run inning broke a tie game at 2-2.

Chad Allen, who suffered the loss for Wheelwright, experienced some wildness in the frame as he issued a lead off walk to Jason Martin. Robbie Sexton, who started on the hill for Allen Central, singled with Martin going to third. Allen loaded the bases when he hit Brad Scott with a pitch.

Phillip Ritchie, who entered the game for Hubert Lykens, struck out, swinging for the first out. Stewart Hall drew a bases loaded walk and picked up an RBI to force home Sexton. After Stevie Robinson skied to first base for the second out, Laferty cleared the bases with a solid base hit to right field that took a wild hop over Johnson's head. John Martin ended the inning by bouncing back to Allen.

Wheelwright had taken a 1-0 lead in the first inning. With one out Layne Bailey roped a single to center field and moved on to second base on a balk call against Sexton. Jimmy Helton laid down a bunt and Bailey came around to score on the put out at first base.

The Trojans made it 2-0 in the second inning when with one out, Kevin Johnson hit a single between first and second. Mike Justice followed with a solid rope to left center. Johnson headed for third base on a steal attempt and the throw from Brad Scott sailed over the head of third baseman B. J. Aldrich allowing Johnson to score.

Allen Central took a 3-2 lead in the bottom of the second inning when John Martin drew a lead off walk from Allen. Jason Martin laid down a sacrifice bunt. Allen fielded the ball and elected to go to second for the force on John Martin only to make an errant throw. Sexton singled home both Allen Central runners to tie the game at 2-2, and moved to third when the right fielder missed played the ball. Scott fanned for the first out, and Lykens grounder to first scored Sexton.

Wheelwright scored their third run in the fifth inning when with two out, Charles Johnson drove the ball over the left centerfield fence for the games only home run.

Allen Central added an unearned run in the top of the sixth inning. Fran Martin swung at a third strike that Mickey Johnson could not handle behind the plate. Johnson recovered the ball and threw wild to first base. The wild throw allowed Martin to go all the way to third base. Martin scored on Stewart Hall's grounder to third base.

Sexton picked up the win. Sexton allowed the three runs on five hits. He right hander struck out five batters while walking none. He was called for one walk.

Jason Martin relieved Sexton in the top of the fifth inning and Martin gave up one run, the home run to Johnson, while fanning three. Martin gave up two hits in his three innings of pitching. He walked two batters in the seventh inning.

Allen Central committed just two errors in the game while Wheelwright misplayed the ball six times. Allen Central goes to 1-2 on the season and Wheelwright falls to 1-3.

Sexton was two-for-two in the game for Allen Central. Laferty had three RBIs and Hall batted in two for the Rebels.

Layne Bailey had two hits for Wheelwright and the only stolen base for the Trojans. Johnson, Justice and Charles Johnson had the other three hits for Wheelwright.

Wheelwright will be at Jenkins tonight while Allen Central will play Betsy Layne at the Allen Park at 5 p.m.

Damron missed cycle

Prestonsburg Rolls Past Magoffin County 13-7 With 14 Hit Attack

The Prestonsburg Blackcats baseball team had a chance to play a home game under the lights as they moved to Allen Park to face a young Magoffin County Hornet team. The Blackcats came away with an impressive 13-7 win with Sean Damron leading the Blackcats hit parade with a single, double and triple. All Damron needed to hit for the cycle was a home run.

John Clark picked up the win improving his individual record to 3-0 on the season. Clark pitched the first three innings with Ronnie Goodman coming in relief.

Bryan Conley suffered the setback for Magoffin County.

Prestonsburg jumped on Conley early in the first inning when Damron led off the game with a base hit. Clark followed up with a single of his own. Jason Crisp grounded short to first scoring Damron. Jason Storey popped to the catcher for the second out with a runner on base. Worth McGuire walked, putting runners on first and third. Aaron Tucker scored both with a base hit. Tucker came around to score in a double by Neil Slone.

Prestonsburg went on top 6-1 in the second inning when they scored twice on three hits. Damron doubled with one out and scored on a base hit by Crisp. Crisp eventually scored on a single by McGuire.

Magoffin County plated a run in the top of the inning when Gullette scored on a single by Combs.

Slone got the Blackcats third started with a base hit. Then with two out, Damron got his third consecutive hit — a triple — that scored Slone to give Prestonsburg a 7-1 advantage.

The Hornets put together a rally of their own in the third inning when they sent nine batters to the plate in scoring three times. Clark was relieved in the inning by Ronnie Goodman as experiencing some tightness in his arm. Reed and Halbert drew one out walks off of Clark. Reed scored both runners with a double to right center. Taylor, the designated hitter, singled home Reed.

Prestonsburg pushed across three in their half of the fourth inning. Storey started the frame with a lead off walk and scored on McGuire's long drive to center field. McGuire ended up at third base. Tucker doubled sending McGuire home with the second run of the inning. Tucker later scored the Blackcats third run.

Storey doubled in the fifth scoring Damron, who had walked. Storey scored on a base hit by McGuire.

Prestonsburg finished their scoring with two runs in the sixth on a single by Goodman and Stephens' triple. Stephens came home on a two out single by Clark.

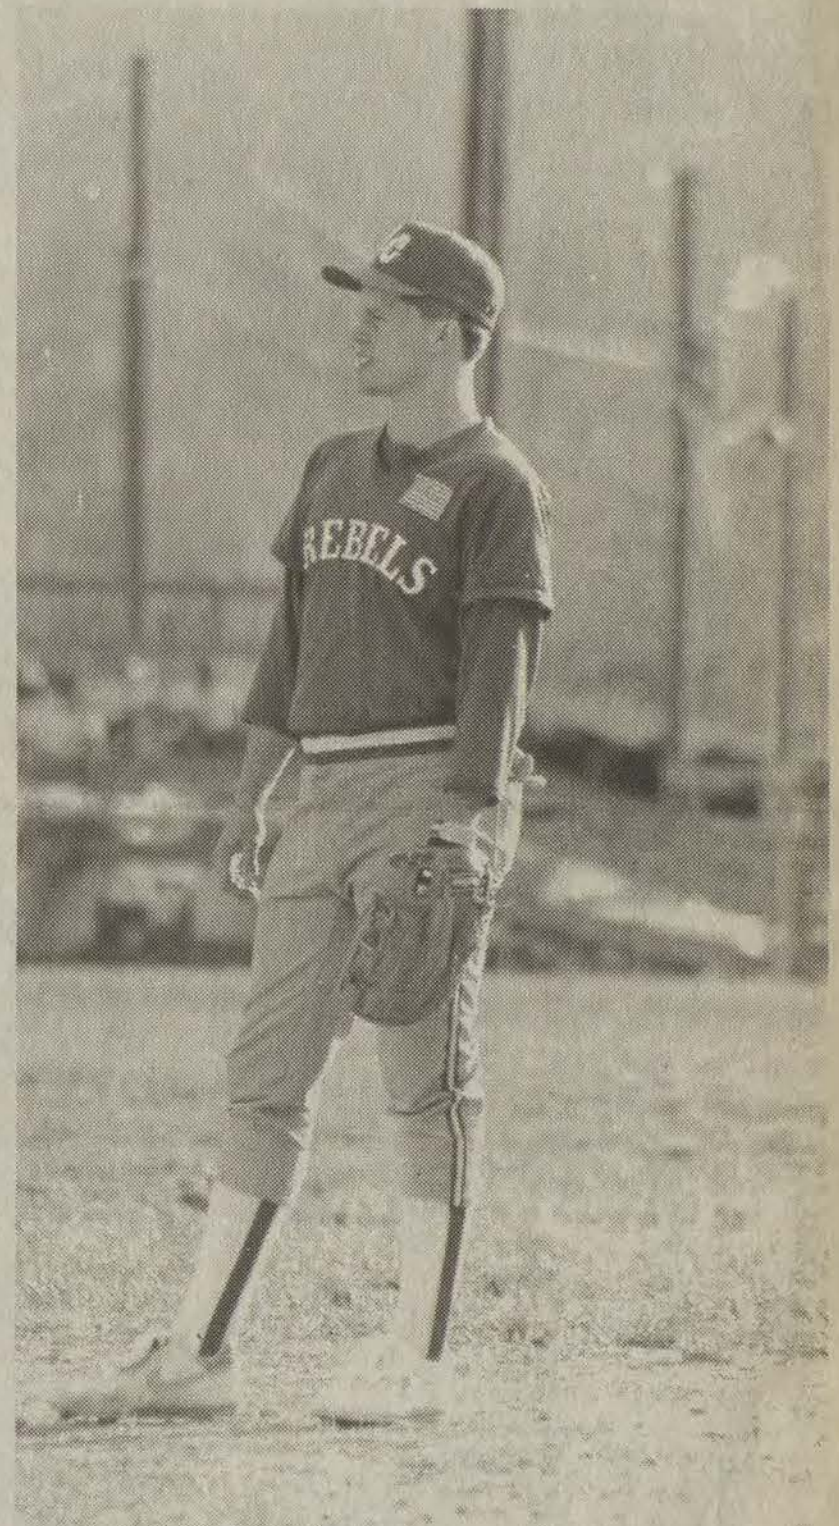

Magoffin sent eight batters to the plate in the seventh inning as they tried to rally back. The Hornets pushed across three runs in the frame on a single by Taylor and Conley's double. Goodman walked two batters in the inning. He struck out the side in completing the game.

Clark pitched two and two-thirds of an inning for Prestonsburg giving up but two hits. The right hander fanned just three batters while walking three. Goodman went four and a third getting five strike outs and walking two and hitting one batter.

Damron had three hits in the contest while McGuire, Tucker and Slone each had two hits. Slone, Damron and Storey each doubled for Prestonsburg. Stephens, McGuire and Damron had triples.

Those lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer!

It's baseball time and Allen Central's Chuck Laferty looks like he is ready for the season. Laferty doubled with the bases loaded to drive in three runs in his teams 10-3 win over Wheelwright Monday evening. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

Beaver Creek Little League; Babe Ruth League To Meet Over Weekend

Jad Deaton is a busy fellow these days. Deaton is the newly-elected president of the Beaver Creek Little League and vice-president of the Floyd County Babe Ruth League.

Deaton said a meeting of all coaches in the Beaver Creek Little League will be held Sunday at 6 p.m. at the Minnie Park. Deaton also explained that at the meeting all insurance money for the upcoming season needs to be tuned in.

On Saturday, at the Stumbo Park Recreational Center, the Floyd County Babe Ruth League will hold their final meeting of the season to finalize the upcoming season's schedule.

"I have two schedules made up," said Deaton. "One, if Wheelwright brings a team into our league and another if they don't. We'll just have to wait and see if they show up at the meeting or not."

The meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m. and all Babe Ruth coaches are urged to be in attendance. If Wheelwright enters the schedule, the league will consist of seven Parent teams and three Prep teams. The Senior League (ages 16-18) is still in the planning process. Players are need for the new league and the league officials have taken to the schools to look for players.

"I have sent a letter to the principals of all our high schools asking them to use their PA system to announce a sign-up list is posted on the school's bulletin board for all interested players," explained the Babe Ruth's vice-president. "We did have some players sign up for the new league but we still need more."

Deaton also stated that Floyd County Babe Ruth Boosters Club is being formed in support of the league.

"Maybe not this year, but next year and in the future, we want to incorporate some other activities with the Babe Ruth season," said Deaton. "Like a home run derby and other things like that. I think it will be fun and make the season interesting."

Deaton is one from Floyd County who found baseball as a way to improve his education by receiving a scholarship from his baseball days. Deaton said that he wants every kid in Floyd County to have the same chance that he had and that can be accomplished with a solid youth league in Floyd County.

"I know that baseball in Floyd County will never be as big as basketball," he explained. "But I think it can help some of our baseball players to prepare themselves that they can get a scholarship at a good NAIA college."

The league is expected to go to the newly-formed Umpires Conference to get quality officials this season.

"It's a new umpire's association in Pikeville, started by Andrew Joyce," stated Deaton. "They will furnish umpires for high school, Babe Ruth and other leagues. All we have to do is submit our schedule and they will assign the officials. They handle approved, certified and registered umpires."

About 40 umpires make up the association.

Because Wheelwright does not have a Little League program this year, thoughts have been expressed about adding a team or two from last year's Little League. Deaton said if they can get the approval of the

James Allen Has Second Thoughts; Look For Reds To Finish Second

Monday afternoon at Riverfront Stadium, the Cincinnati Reds and Houston Astros kicked off the 1991 Major League baseball season. The Reds opened defending their World Series Championship in a bid to repeat. Local sportscaster James Allen, WQHY, took time from his busy schedule to share his look at the Reds this season and their chances for repeating as world champions.

Allen, who is a staunch Reds fan, saw the Reds repeating, but began to have second thoughts once spring training got underway.

"Before spring training, I thought they had a real shot at repeating," said Allen, "but once spring training got underway and the way they have played, I don't know. They are having problems, particularly in the pitching department. Their pitching is not what it should be."

The Reds have stated that they are interested in picking up free agent Don Carman, who was released by the Houston Astros earlier, but Allen doesn't see Carman being much of a help to this year's club.

"I don't know why they want Carman for," stated the popular sportscaster for WQHY. "He can't be much of a help to them. I would have like to see them pick up (Fernando) Valenzuela and give him a shot at making the club." Valenzuela was released by the Los Angeles Dodgers. The Reds did sign Carman for the upcoming season Sunday.

Allen thinks the Reds will be a strong defensive team this season.

"I like the depth the Reds have on the bench this year. I like their overall defense. They will have the strongest infields in the major leagues. Outside of their pitching, they will definitely be a strong contender."

"In spring training the veterans sort of lay back a bit, so, they may play better than did in spring training," Allen said.

On manager Lou Piniella, Allen sees the Reds skipper "knowing his players better this time around."

"He will have an advantage going into this year's season because he will definitely know his players better. He did a great job of handling them last year and everything just fell into place for him."

"The Reds need to run more as a ballclub because of the speed they have. Last year they jumped out and ran early but seemed to quit running." Allen feels that there are a lot of dissension on the Reds team. "I thought they would try and unload (Todd) Benzing this past winter. He's not happy not playing everyday. I look for him and (Hal) Morris to platoon at first base. Lou is going to have a problem playing a lot of his players. (Bill) Doran and (Marano) Duncan definitely has to play, both had great spring trainings."

Allen feels that not just any manager could have won with last year's Reds.

"Piniella had that laid back approach. He was cool, calm and collected. He also let it be known who was running the ballclub," said Allen.

Allen doesn't feel that Pete Rose could have won with last year's ballclub.

"You know, I loved Rose when he was a ballplayer. He played hard and there was just something about him. But I don't think he could have won with last year's ballclub."

Allen thinks that Tom Browning should be a solid 15 game winner for Cincinnati this season and that Jose Rijo is capable of posting 16 or 17 victories.

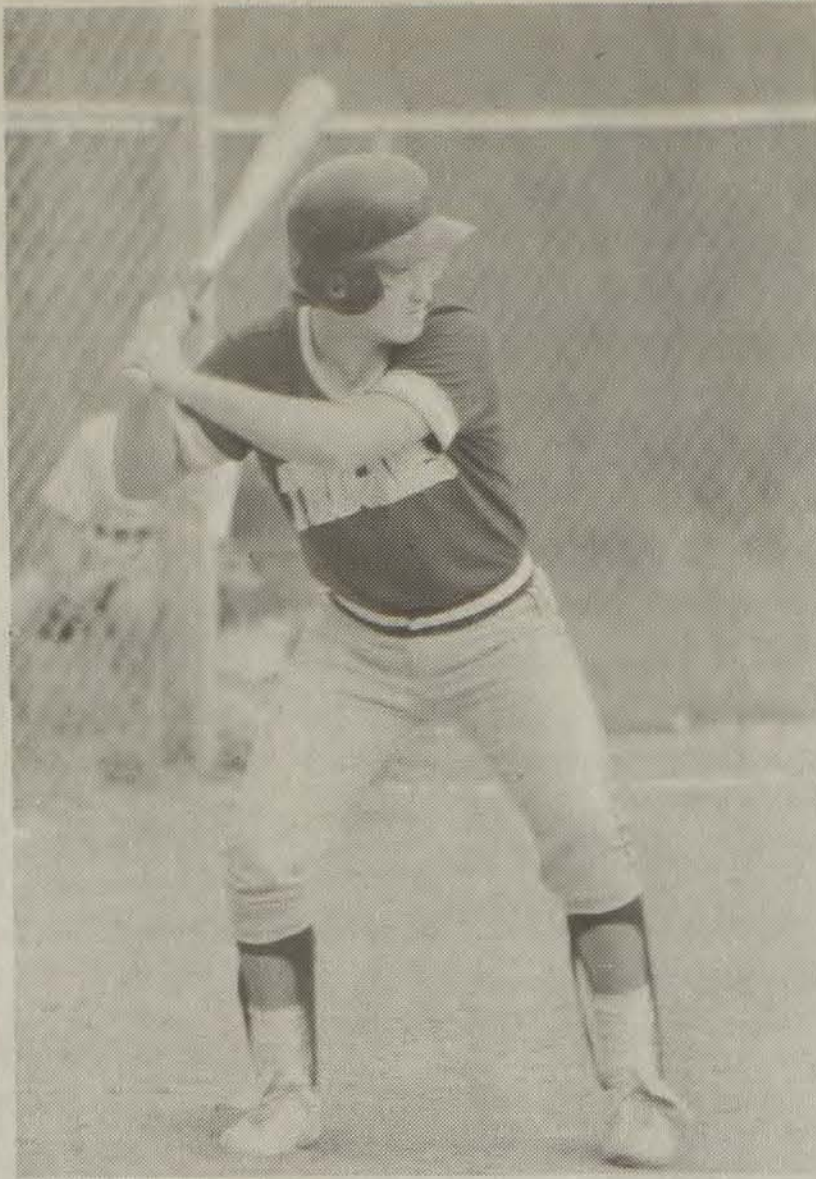

"I am really disappointed with Armstrong," said Allen. "His attitude was very disappointing to me. I feel that he hurt himself with his own personal walkout in spring training."

Allen still rates the Reds two stoppers in the bullpen—Randy Myers and Rob Dibble—as baseball's best.

Allen sees the Dodgers winning the National League West Division this season and the Reds coming in second. The Braves will take third place in the NL West, according to Allen, followed by the Padres and Giants. The Astros will finish last.

"The Giants could easily be a third or fourth place team," conceded Allen. "I just feel the Dodgers and Reds are a notch ahead of them."

In the National East, look for the Pirates to repeat despite the problems they are having with Bobby Bonilla and Barry Bonds. Allen looks for the Cubs to take the number two spot and the Mets placing third. Fourth place goes to the last year's last place Cardinals. The Expos will finish ahead of the Phillies who will hold up the rest of the league.

1991 Rolex Kentucky Three Day Event Has Many Facets

The 1991 Rolex Kentucky Three-Day Event, along with its Open Intermediate Horse Trials division, will present several important opportunities for the 1991 competition season. Scheduled for April 26-28 at the Kentucky Horse Park near Lexington, the Advanced (CCI**) Three Day Event division serves as the U.S. Equestrian Team's Spring Three-Day Event Championship and also as a qualifying competition for the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona, Spain.

Many Open Intermediate (OI) competitors are using Kentucky to obtain the necessary qualifications for consideration for the Pan Am Championship Three-Day Event in Georgia in November and as a preparatory competition for the Essex (NJ) Three-Day Event in May or the Bromont (Canada) Three-Day Event in June. Consequently, many of the better known international competitors also have horses entered in the OI division as well as the advanced division.

Among the entrants are Bruce Davidson, winner of the Bronze Medal at the 1990 World Championships; J. Michael Plumb, a six time Olympian; Olympian Karen Lende, who will also be retiring 1986 Kentucky winner, the Optimist, at this year's event; Denny Emerson, a member of the 1974 Gold Medal World Championship team; 1985 Kentucky winner Derek diGrazia, who competed successfully in Europe in 1990, and Phyllis Dawson, a member of the 1988 Olympic Team who finished 10th in Seoul.

Special Olympics Names Kyle Macy Chairman

Former Kentucky Wildcat standout, Kyle Macy, has been named Honorary Chairman of the 1991 Kentucky Special Olympics Summer Games to be held May 31 thru June 2 at the University of Kentucky. As a starting guard on Kentucky's 1978 National Championship team, the 1979 Pan American Gold Medal team and during his ten year professional career, Kyle Macy was synonymous with leadership.

Macy will continue providing leadership as the spokesperson for the summer games. He said, "Athletic's can play such an important role in a person's development and I have been fortunate in my life. Individuals who are mentally disabled need and deserve these same opportunities."

The 1991 Kentucky Special Olympics Summer Games are the culmination of a year round training and competition program for 12,000 Kentucky children and adults who are mentally disabled.

Over 2,000 athletes will earn the right to compete in Lexington in over 100 different events in seven sports. Kentucky's banking industry has been the Premier Sponsor of the Summer Games since 1987. Kentucky's banks also provide many volunteers for the games.

"You know me, I wouldn't stand in the way of any kid playing baseball," said Deaton. "We just need to get a release signed by the president of the Wheelwright Little League from last year or the coaches."

Little League play is expected to begin around the first of May with the Babe Ruth season having to be put on hold until the high school season is over.

1991 WHEELWRIGHT TROJANS

Trojans To Be More Competitive Despite a Smaller Turnout

For coach Merdith Slone, head baseball coach of the Wheelwright Trojans, turnout for this year's team was light, but the team has a winning attitude and is playing good baseball despite opening the season with a 1-3 record.

The Trojans are a young squad this season, but the players come in with a lot of experience from their Babe Ruth play.

Returning for his third year with the Trojans is Jimmy Helton who plays shortstop for the Trojans when he is not on the mound pitching. Helton has good range and possesses a strong throwing arm at the short-stop spot.

Chad Allen, a left hander, also will see a lot of time on the mound for Wheelwright. The southpaw is a hard thrower who likes to mix up his pitches.

Mickey Johnson, behind the plate, is the receiver for Wheelwright. Johnson may still be learning the catcher's spot, but he possesses a strong throwing arm. Mike Justice holds down the left side of the infield at third base. The stocky built Justice handles the "hot" corner like a veteran and swings a strong bat for the Trojans.

Layne Bailey, a good defensive second baseman, has good speed on the base paths and shows a lot of consistency at the plate. A solid line drive hitter, Bailey lead a solid Wheelwright infield.

Kevin Johnson, another good hitter for Coach Slone, plays the first base side of the infield. Johnson fields the position adequately for the young Trojan team.

Charles Johnson has demonstrated some power for Wheelwright this season, hitting a home run against Allen Central. If he has one problem at the plate, it is his tendency to over swing.

Brian Rhea and Matt Johnson round out the outfield for Wheelwright. The Trojan bench is not all that deep with only 15 players on the team. Robbie Wright will see a lot of playing time for the Trojans.

The Trojans will play a 20 game schedule this season. Coach Slone's team will take part in the EKMC tournament at Jenkins on May 6 through 11.

According to Coach Slone, a lot of work has gone into getting Brackett

Field in shape for the present season. Sand was hauled in and, according to reports, the field is looking the best it has looked in past seasons. Inmates from the county jail were used to clear away brush and trees in cleaning up the park.

"They did a lot of work for us up there," said assistant coach Homer Johnson. "The field looks good."

The Trojans also received some new uniforms this season as the high school and two coaches went to the well to get the funds. "We also had some private donations also," said Coach Slone.

The Trojans may be short on man power, but they do not lack enthusiasm. It could be a surprising season for the Trojans this year. A pleasant surprising team.

Blackcat JV's shut out Hornets 6-0

Aaron Tucker tossed a one hit shutout for the Prestonsburg Blackcats junior varsity baseball team in a 6-0 whitewash of the younger Hornets.

The only hit Magoffin County collected was a lead off single by John Hoskins in the first inning. Blanton followed with a walk off Tucker. The big right hander settled down and got the side out on strike outs.

Prestonsburg scored six of their runs in the second inning. Ben Johnson collected a one out hit. With two out, Mark Bentley doubled home

Johnson and Bentley scored on a double by Shawn Poe. Jerry Davis singled between first and second scoring Poe. After Anthony Howell was hit with a pitch, Davis and Howell scored on a double off the bat of Brandon Lowe.

Tucker struck out five batters in the abbreviated game while issuing three walks. The junior Blackcats played errorless baseball.

Tucker, Lowe, Bentley and Poe each had doubles for the Blackcats. It was the first JV game of the season for Prestonsburg.

Grass Volleyball Classic Scheduled For May 25-26

Louisville's Bowman Field (Cannon's Lane and Dutchman's Lane) will be the site of the Kentucky Outdoor Volleyball Association's first major event of the summer, May 25 and 26. Sponsored by Cowger & Miller Mortgage Company, the WHAS Crusade for Children Grass Volleyball Classic, a two day grass tournament, will hold friendly competition in multiple divisions for teams of six players including a bracket for junior men and women. Play begins at 9 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

The net proceeds from the weekend volleyball fun will benefit the WHAS Crusade for Children, which, for more than 30 years, has provided funding for numerous child-related agencies in Kentucky and southern Indiana.

Hosted by 84WHAS and WHAS-TV, the event is designed to appeal to top level amateurs, mid range and novice players of all ages ranging from A divisions to recreational opportunities with friends and neighbors. Prize monies will be awarded in the A divisions.

The junior division, sponsored by Storer Cable and the Family Channel, is a new area of competition for the Kentucky Outdoor Volleyball Association.

All tournament players will receive an official T-shirt. There is no admission for spectators who are encouraged to bring blankets and lawn chairs. Concessions will be available on the site although no alcoholic beverages may be brought on to the tournament grounds.

Can Reds Pitching Bring Another Championship ?

Depth. The Cincinnati Reds have it. Defense. Should be the best in baseball. Offense. If Eric Davis stays healthy, the Reds should have no problems scoring runs. Speed. Should steal 200 bases this season. Pitching. Suspect! Outside of the two flame throwers in the bullpen, the starting rotation of the Reds will be very unpredictable. So hinges the 1991 Major League baseball season for the Cincinnati Reds. If they have a suspect area it has to be in the starting rotation.

DEPTH
The Reds bench will be second to none in baseball. Who else can have a Bill Doran or Marano Duncan (depending on who is on the field) sitting on their bench? How about a Todd Benzinger or Hal Morris (again depending on who is on the bench)? Or dependable Luis Quinones and steady Herm Winningham? The Reds bench strength allows the coaching staff to rest key players in pressure situations without losing a lot of playing quality. Doran and Duncan will share duties at second base and Duncan may even see some playing time in the outfield. Both players had outstanding spring training reports.

Morris and Benzinger will share the right corner of the infield, first base, and will be platooned. Morris has difficulty hitting off the left handers, while Benzinger is a switch hitter.

OFFENSE
Even with the off year for Eric Davis, the Reds still packed a potent offense. Davis finished with a subpar year for the superstar, 24 homeruns, 86 RBIs and a .260 batting average.

If Davis can avoid missing very many games, (35 last year), the Reds centerfielder should club 36 homeruns while driving in 100 plus runs. Davis certainly came on strong in September and October for the Reds, when they needed him after a mediocre second half last year. A quick start for the fleet-footed centerfielder is vital for the Reds to make a good start, although that wasn't necessarily true last season when they won their first nine games of the season (three straight in the Astrodome starting the season last year).

Back from a good season will be third baseman Chris Sabo, who seems to get side-stepped when talking about the Reds offense. Sabo cleared the fences 26 times last season and held a .282 batting average. Sabo is just starting to mature as the hitter they hoped he would be. Look for another good year for the Reds third sacker.

Barry Larkin, Paul O'Neil, Billy Hatcher, Marano Duncan and Bill Doran also will be an influence in the Reds batting order. All had good seasons last year and should improve greatly this time around.

DEFENSE
No problem here. The Reds infield should be baseball's best. A very strong infield headed up by baseball's best shortstop, Barry Larkin. Larkin had his problem in past seasons, but has improved greatly in the field. Third base will be anchored down by Sabo, who plays the "hot corner" about as well as anyone. Being on the receiving end of the throws to first base will be Hal Morris, who showed he was a good glove man. Todd Benzinger can field the throws and grounders as well.

Bill Doran gives the Reds a very strong second baseman on the field. Doran has very good range for a second baseman and Doran plays hard. Duncan, a shortstop by trade, has no problems fielding the grounders at second.

The outfield for the Reds will probably have to be ranked second best to the Los Angeles Dodgers outfield of Daryl Strawberry and Kal Daniels. Billy Hatcher, Eric Davis and Paul O'Neil will roam the outfield for the Reds. All three are excellent defensive players. Glen Braggs will platoon with O'Neil in right field.

SPEED
The Reds will have speed, speed and more speed. But whether they use it or not will be the question. One of the things that got them off to such a good start during the months of April and May last season was their speed on the base paths. But come June and, especially after the All-Star game, the Reds quit running.

Duncan, Larkin, Hatcher, Davis,

Sabo, Doran are all threats to steal once they get on. It is a way to keep the opposing pitcher honest. The Reds stole 166 bases last season and are capable of going over 200 this season. The Reds will definitely need to be more aggressive on the base paths this year.

PITCHING
Very suspect! Gone is Danny Jackson, who really was not that much of a help to the Reds last year. A dissatisfied pitcher at Cincinnati and he was not worth the megabucks that he would have demanded. The load will fall on the hub of the pitching staff, namely Tom Browning and Jose Rijo. Browning struggled just before the playoffs and found himself to pitch well in the playoffs and the series.

Rijo came on strong winning 14 games last year and taking home Most Valuable Player honors for the World Series. However, both Browning and Rijo cannot rest on last year's laurels. They must establish a goal for themselves first and strive to accomplish that.

Question marks for this year's team is the ability for Jack Armstrong to duplicate his great start of last season and then avoid the second half slump that embarrassed him. A starter for the National League with a good 11-3 record in the All-Star classic seemed to have went to the head of the hard throwing right hander. Armstrong won only one game the rest of the season in a terrible second half. Armstrong will have to pitch consistently for the Reds to repeat, because there is no one else.

Scott Scudder is another Reds question mark. Scudder had a horrible spring but there are hopes that once the real season gets underway the real Scudder will show up.

Relief for the Reds will be no problem, except for middle innings, as the Reds still have their two flamethrowers in the pen. Rob Dibble, who has made it clear he is not happy at Cincinnati, will once again be the set-up man for ace Randy Myers in the late innings. Long relief or middle relief will fall on young Chris Hammond and Tim Layana. Newly acquired Don Carman is a "wait and see" pitcher. Carman was signed as a free agent by the Reds over the weekend after being released by Houston.

SUCCESS
The Reds sure know about success. Especially after contract negotiations this past winter. They are the World Champions until someone dethrones them. The prognosticators have the Reds headed for a second or third place finish behind the Dodgers or Giants.

All the ingredients are in place. The question marks need to be settled. Look for some trades if the Reds falter to much out of the gate.

Reds should finish on top of the National League West with the Giants taking second place. Tommy Lasorda's Dodgers will place third and the Atlanta Braves look to finish fourth escaping the basement for the first time in a long time. San Diego will stay out of the cellar only because the Houston Astros will be there.

Players Needed For Floyd County Senior League

If you are between the ages of 16 and 18 years old, love baseball, need a team to play on this summer and have a desire to play, then you qualify to play in the Floyd County Senior League that is now forming.

According to Jerry Helton of Wheelwright, more players are needed if the county is to field a league this season. While some players have signed up for the new league, a total of 48 players must register in order to have a league.

The league is to benefit those players who are too old to play in the Floyd County Babe Ruth league. The league hopes to field a team this season and when a required number of players are registered, coaches will be needed to handle the team.

"If we get the players we can get the coaches," said Helton. Helton has been trying since last year to get the league started, especially a team in the Wheelwright area.

"We will have a team here at Wheelwright if the rest of the county does or not," he said. "We would like to see a lot of the kids come out and sign up for the new league."

In Floyd County, according to league president Harold Case, the league will field eight Parent League teams and three Prep League teams. Case said that the chances of having a Senior League this year looks slim unless more players register.

Any player that meets the qualifications (16-18 years old) may contact Jerry Helton, Harold Case or Jad Deaton to register.

Ky. Fishing Report

Fishing activity over the April 6-7 weekend was moderate to heavy on most of the major lakes. Water temperatures ranged from 54-62 degrees. Crappie and largemouth bass were the most consistently active species. The lake-by-lake report:

DEWEY LAKE

Crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over brush piles and submerged trees; catfish were hitting nightcrawlers 10-15 feet deep over creek channels; murky, stable, four feet below summer pool and 56 degrees.

PAINTSVILLE LAKE

Largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits 1-10 feet deep along the shoreline; bluegill were active on wax worms and red worms 5-10 feet deep around brush piles; murky, stable, two feet above summer pool and 56 degrees.

FISH TRAP

Largemouth bass were active on crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep over drop offs; crappie were hitting minnows 5-10 feet deep over brush piles and stump rows; murky, stable, 28 feet below summer pool and 57 degrees.

CAVE RUN

Largemouth bass were active on jig and pig combinations 5-10 feet deep along creek channels; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over shoreline cover; murky, falling, two feet above summer pool and 54 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW

Largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep over stump rows and brush piles; bluegill were hitting wax worms and crickets 1-5 feet deep over submerged trees and along creek channels; murky, falling, at summer pool and 62 degrees.

GRAYSON

Largemouth bass were hitting jug and pig combinations 1-10 feet deep along the shoreline; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 1-10 feet deep over shoreline cover; murky to muddy, rising, one foot below summer pool and 57 degrees.

LAUREL

Kentucky bass were taking plastic worms 1-5 feet deep over submerged trees; crappie were active on minnows 10-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, rising, one foot below summer pool and 54 degrees.

UPPER CUMBERLAND

Crappie were taking minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and stump rows; largemouth bass were hitting spinnerbaits near the surface around shoreline cover, smallmouth bass were active on minnows and jigs 1-5 feet deep off rocky points and over stump rows; murky, falling, at summer pool and 62 degrees.

LOWER CUMBERLAND (above dam)

Striped bass were hitting minnows and doll fly jigs 25-30 feet deep in open water and early and late near the surface; largemouth and smallmouth bass were hitting minnows and jigs 1-5 feet deep over shoreline cover; clear to murky, falling, seven feet above summer pool and 54 degrees.

GREEN RIVER

Crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 10-15 feet deep over brush piles and stump rows; white bass were hitting jigs and crankbaits 1-5 feet deep over creek channels; murky, stable, three feet below summer pool and 59 degrees.

KENTUCKY

Crappie were active on minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over stump rows and brush piles; largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep over grass beds and around brush piles; clear, falling, one foot below summer pool and 62 degrees.

BARKLEY

Crappie were taking minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over brush piles, stump rows and submerged trees, largemouth bass were active on crankbaits and jig and pig combinations 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and brush and off rocky points; clear, falling, one foot below summer pool and 63 degrees.

BARREN

Largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits, spinnerbaits and buzzbaits 1-5 feet deep along the shoreline; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, falling, one foot above summer pool and 62 degrees.

NOLIN

Largemouth bass were taking crankbaits 5-10 feet deep over shoreline cover and off rocky points; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; murky, rising, five feet below summer pool and 61 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER

FISHIN' TIPS FROM THE TRACKER PROS

When a fisherman loses a fish because the line breaks, it is seldom the fault of the line. Most of the time it is a mistake that the angler makes and not a weak spot in the line.

Very light line can handle a very large fish if there is no underwater structure to interfere and provided the angler has properly set the drag adjustment on the reel.

The drag will allow a fish to strip line off the reel while still providing tension.

Baitcasting, spinning and spin cast reels all have drag adjustments. This should be set well below the breaking strength of the line.

The action of the rod plays a major roll in preventing line breakage. A rod with a firm butt section and fairly limber tip works best.

Fishin' Tips are presented by America's #1 Fishing Boats.

Small World

by Aileen Hall

Exotic foods

About five years ago my husband and I attended a convention in Lafayette, Louisiana, that was an experience in more ways than one.

They had a big outdoor feast on our first evening there called a crayfish boil. (Back home, we called them craw-dads.) Many of the 500 guests wore bib-overalls with a red bandana around the neck. We didn't have overalls but we came up with something that would blend in.

I wasn't overexcited about eating crayfish but they made quite a hoopla about the delicacy and there was an apparent implication that you hadn't lived until you enjoyed this particular feast.

A crayfish boil was exactly what they meant—there was no other choice of an entree. It was accompanied by small boiled potatoes, cole slaw and some kind of bread, so you did have some alternative. But you didn't dare turn your nose up at what these Louisiana friends perceived to be royal fare.

You were expected to enjoy—even to be excited about it. It wasn't bad but I would take a small bite of crayfish and a big bite of potatoes.

The convention lasted four days and ended with a grand banquet where the food was more standard fare. But we went one evening with a group of eight other people to one of the best local restaurants.

The specialty of the restaurant was seafood, and I could get excited about that, so we welcomed this dining-out opportunity. But one of our host-friends wanted us to sample some real Louisiana fare and so he ordered an appetizer platter that included some regional delicacies—including alligator.

"You ought to try it," Walter urged, and of course he relished anything he'd never eaten before. I was a little more apprehensive.

It was attractively prepared and I decided I've never be offered this back in Kentucky. If I didn't eat it here, I likely never would; so with a bit of curiosity—and an extra measure of courage—I took a bite of alligator.

It was as good as many other things we eat, but I guess it was just the idea of it that made one bite enough.

The Lexington Herald-Leader ran an item in a recent issue of its paper that reminded me of these exotic foods. It was a quote by Judith Newman, in an Adweek report on what's hot and what's not.

Said Newman: "Alligator (no longer endangered) is the ultimate no-guilt food. Not only is it tasty and non-fattening, but you have the satisfaction of knowing it would gladly have eaten you if you hadn't eaten it first."

Prestonsburg Senior Citizens gather for Spring Fling

The Archer Senior Citizens and their director, Mrs. Patsy Evans, held their regular monthly luncheon-meeting at Holiday Inn here, on Wednesday, April 3, at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Evans and Tim Collins, a member of the staff there, who acted as master-of-ceremonies for this event, welcomed those in attendance.

Guests were seated at round tables, covered with gold cloths, which held centerpieces of Spring flowers from which floated an array of rainbow colored balloons. With a background of appropriate "piped-in" music, a menu of chicken breasts, rice, vegetables, salad, and cobbler were served with rolls, coffee and ice-tea.

Tim Collins awarded prizes to Maman Leslie, who was observing her birthday; to Loretta and Deward Stephens, who were observing a wedding anniversary; and to Joyce Allen and Eleanor Robinson for "drawing lucky numbers."

Fannie Runnels recited two poems, entitled "I Met the Master Face to Face" and "I'm Awfully Well for the Shape I'm In." Brief stories were told by Tim Collins and Orville Cooley.

Some of the guests joined in a combination of exercise and dance.

Tim Collins introduced Linda Martin, who he said "put the program together," and Ralph, Cathy, and Sharon, who served the food.

Patsy Evans announced that the next luncheon-meeting there would be in the early part of May. She added that this event would have a Spanish theme, and asked that those who attend please wear Spanish attire.

Those attending included: Patsy Evans, John Evans, Lillia Mae Price, Eleanor Robinson, Janice Shepherd, Julia Stephens, Evonne Roe, Orville Ousley, Emma Jean Pelphrey, Vivian Fraley, Pearl Robertson, Eileen Baldrige, Arthur Sturgill, William Wilson, Victoria Lafferty, Thelma S. Wallen, Fannie Runnels, Annabelle Maggard, Ada Meade, Alice Harris, Nola Stepp, Ora Bussey, Gladys Cooley, Orville Cooley, Toots Parsley, Myrtle Chaffins, Phyllis Joseph, Loretta Stephens, Deward Stephens, Ruby Lamping, Goldia Williams, Kaye Akers, Lucy McGuire, Burieta Gearhart, Joyce Allen, Julia Curtis, Minerva Cooley, Maman Leslie, Matilda Johnson, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Katherine Stratton, Carl Adkins and Wilma Roff.

Floyd County Extension Service News

Bleaches and detergents cause most cleaning product poisonings. Watch out. A killer may be lurking under your sink.

"Bleaches and detergents poison more young people than any other common household cleaning products. Since people often are not aware of their danger, these products are usually stored low or under the sink and within reach of toddlers and young children," said Frances Pitts, extension home economist specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

A recent report from the American Association of Poison Control Centers indicates that nationally nearly 170,000 people were exposed to some type of poisoning substance in 1989, Pitts said. The largest category of exposure was to cleaning products.

Bleaches and detergents accounted for the largest number of cleaning substances exposures. More than 33,000 people swallowed bleaches and 3,100 consumed some type of detergent, including fabric softeners. Other cleaning substances poisonings included disinfectants, tile cleaners and toilet bowl and over cleaners, Pitts said.

"Detergents often smell fragrant and that entices children to consume them. However, they also contain toxic and caustic ingredients that cause vomiting and diarrhea," she said.

Although there is no quick antidote for such poisonings, drinking adequate amounts of water or isotonic beverages helps replace fluids lost. Medical attention is needed in severe cases, Pitts said.

Proper use, storage and disposal of household products are very important. Read labels carefully to learn of any dangers. Use the least hazardous product available, and limit what you buy by choosing one multi-purpose cleaner instead of several.

Manufacturers are not required by law to list ingredients for many of these products. So, if you have a question about the safety of a product, simply choose an alternative one that you feel more comfortable with.

"Whatever product you use, be sure to read and follow label instructions and store the products out of reach of young children," she said.

Miss Carr is initiated into MSU honor society

Tracey L. Carr of Martin was recently initiated into Morehead State University's Kappa Omicron Nu home economics honor society.

Carr is the daughter of Floyd Carr. She is a junior hotel, restaurant and institutional management major.

To be eligible for membership into Kappa Omicron Nu, a student must maintain a 3.0 overall grade point average and be enrolled in the home economics program.

Poison Oak

by Clyde Pack

Naturally, I can't remember; I'm so relieved.

I mean, there for a while, I was really beginning to worry. The problem is that no matter what my wife Wilma and I argue about, she wins. It doesn't matter what the subject is, either. Whether it's something about which men are just naturally supposed to know more about than women, or if it's something that women are expected to know more about than men, the results are always the same, I lose, she wins.

I expect that'll never really change, but the reason for my being relieved about it all is that now I know it's natural. You see, scientists (bless 'em) have discovered that men, as they age, lose their ability to talk, faster than women lose theirs.

Now, don't misunderstand, I'm not even remotely suggesting that men could ever talk faster than women. Even in the Garden of Eden, before Adam could say, "Don't pick the fruit," Eve was saying, "mmmm...this tastes like a Rome Beauty."

What I'm saying is that as we get older, we men become even more disadvantaged than we were when we were younger.

You see, the left side of the brain controls language and verbal abilities, and the left side of a man's brain deteriorates two or three times faster than a woman's. (No doubt, this is all a part of God's master plan because he knows just how much they really do enjoy their verbal exercises.)

Of course, this doesn't affect the right side of my brain which controls my power to reason. In other words, I can still out think her, but I can't out speak her. It's sort of like an old cowboy movie I saw once where this guy was a dead shot but was so slow on the draw, he was dead before he could shoot.

My sudden enlightenment about all this is the result of something I read in the paper last week about the findings of a group of researchers from the University of Pennsylvania who, using a technique called MRI (which really means "magnetic resonance imaging", but as far as I'm concerned should mean "my reasoning's intact") discovered that the reason women's brains aren't affected by aging like men's brains are has something to do with their female sex hormones. To me, that simply translates as, "I'd rather be manly than win a dumb ole argument anyway."

Although the study didn't state it, all this MRI stuff may also provide a clue as to why I buy a dozen eggs, a six-pack of pop and a package of toilet tissue at the grocery store instead of the 60 watt light bulbs I went to the store to buy in the first place. It might also explain why sometimes when we're watching TV, I get up, walk into the kitchen, look around for a few seconds and yell back to her, "Honey, why'd I come in here?"

The good news about all this is now that I've had a scientific explanation, I don't feel like such a loser when I lose. Furthermore, I have a legitimate excuse for forgetting birthdays and anniversaries and all those other little things about which women seem to make such a big deal.

From now on, when she starts, I'm just going to say, "Now hold on. Have you forgotten that scientific MRI stuff? You're just picking on me because you're less vulnerable to age-related changes in mental abilities, while I'm particularly susceptible to aging effects on my left hemispheric functions."

That's what I'm going to do, all right. So, if sometime you see me and I'm sort of banged up and bruised about my face and head, and if you happen to ask me what happened, just accept as natural my answer of "I can't remember."

A fact of home

Readers often ask me if the things they read in this column really happen. To date, believe it or

by Kim Frasure

not, all the columns are factual and even parts of the one written for April Fool's Day were true.

One of the facts I have been wanting to write about is the date that Tess will be home. Everyone has been asking. But the truth of the matter is, I couldn't get a specific date until this past week.

Susan, Jeff, and I spoke with Tess Friday night. She is in Maryland and will leave there for West Virginia on Sunday, traveling by bus. You can rest assured, it will be a long haul. At any rate.... TODAY.... Wednesday, Tess will be home. Hurray!

Babysitting?

Mothers, have you ever wondered why it is that when our spouses go fishing, golfing, etc. on the weekends, they never say that mom is home babysitting when they're asked where are the kids.

Think about it a minute.

I'm guilty of using the words, "their daddy's babysitting them today," when I'm out shopping with friends on Saturday.

A couple of Saturday's ago, it hit me. Wait a minute, Kim, I said to myself. Are you actually going to pay the girls' father to stay home with them.

Well, of course I answered myself quickly, "Hah, no way!"

Then I wondered why did I just say he was babysitting. They are his kids too and, let's face it, I've so-called babysat on Saturday and Sunday their entire lives free, not giving it a second thought.

I know our Eastern Kentucky heritage has bred in our minds that man is the king of his throne, the first served at dinner and the overall bread winner, but the nineties have surfaced in good ol' eastern Kentucky.

Contrary to what some choose to believe, the majority of households have both parents in the workforce and sharing responsibilities. That's how it should be.

Weekend golf days, fishing, and shopping should be rotated, too. So, here goes.

Guess what spouse? I'm going shopping this weekend so, you get to babysit. Oops! Old habits are hard to break, aren't they?

Let's try this again.

Spouse, if you'll stay home Saturday with the girls, I'll stay home Sunday, better? Till next week, let's shop.

Estill and Peggy Carter

A dinner was held in the home of Estill and Peggy Carter on Easter Sunday. A cake was presented to them in honor of their 30th wedding anniversary.

In attendance were: the Rev. and Mrs. Jesse Buell, and their grandson, B.J., Mrs. Ruby Lamping, Erma Laferty, JoAnn and Michael Lequet, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foy and Bobbie, Mrs. Margie Foy, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Carter and Joshua.

Their many relatives, fellow-churchmembers, and other friends wish for them the very best.

John Graham Chapter receives silver star

The Ninety-Fifth Annual State Conference of the Kentucky Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held at Marriott's Griffin Gate Resort, Lexington, March 19-21. KSDAR State Registrar Mrs. Ray Brackett and the past organizing secretary, Mrs. James B. Goble, accompanied by Mrs. Samuel Gearhart, Hindman, attended the conference from John Graham Chapter.

State Regent, Mrs. L. Duncan Stokes, Louisville, presided, and national guests were Mrs. Raymond F. Fleck, honorary president general and Centennial Jubilee NSDAR chairman, Massachusetts; Mrs. Donald S. Blair, first vice president general, NSDAR, Ohio; Mrs. Wilfred A. Lorio, Jr., Louisiana state regent; Mrs. Hamlet J. Wade, Missouri; Mrs. Jack R. Adams, West Virginia state regent, and Mrs. Martin F. Thompson, vice president general, Kentucky.

Mrs. Brackett and Mrs. Charles F. Gibson, state chaplain, Georgetown, conducted the memorial service for 115 deceased members, with Mrs. Goble giving the eulogy for the late Miss Lena T. Porter of the Pikeville D.A.R. Chapter. Mrs. Brackett led the American's Creed, at the state banquet, in centennial costume, served as hostess at the Centennial Tra, at Duncan Tavern, Paris; served as house-hostess to the West Virginia state regent; was elected director of the Kentucky State officers club; was appointed to the nominating committee for the Kentucky Regents' Club of which she is past president, and served with Mrs. Goble on the conference program committee. Mrs. Goble served as meal ticket reservation chairman for the approximately 300 DAR's who attended the conference.

The John Graham Chapter received the Silver Star Certificate, the state's second highest award, and the chapter with the most publicity.

Mrs. Frances Brackett and Mrs. Virginia S. Goble represented the John Graham Chapter DAR at the Centennial Tea, given during the recent Ninety-Fifth Annual State Conference, held at Duncan Tavern, Paris, Kentucky.

First Baptist will hold Taylor pounding

On Sunday, April 14, members of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) will welcome their new pastor, the Rev. Mike Taylor, his wife, Michelle, and their two children, Elizabeth and Jonathan.

Rev. Taylor has served for the past two years as pastor of the Pleasant Run Baptist Church in Manchester.

Following services on Sunday evening, members of the Annie Allen Circle W.M.U. of the local church, will sponsor a pounding for the Taylor family, in the Church's Fellowship Hall. Members are asked to bring to the pounding items beginning with the same letter as the beginning of their last names. For instance, a person with the last name of Foy may wish to bring such items as flour or fruit, while someone with the last name of Smith may choose to bring items like soap or sausage.

All members of the church family are cordially invited to attend.

Attention Caney Boys, Caney girls, mark calendar

Mrs. Arnold (Alma Reffitt) Lowe, and Mrs. Eugene (Orpha Howard) Hopkins, who are co-sponsoring a Floyd County Alice Lloyd College alumni "get-together," announce that this event will take place on Saturday, June 15, at the college.

Registration will begin at 10:30 a.m. Activities will include the showing of films, the viewing of albums, and visiting with old friends.

Mrs. Robin Branham Mohler, a Floyd County native who is director of Alumni Affairs at A.L.C., says that Alumni members needing overnight lodging should contact her at the college.

Mesdames Mohler Lowe, and Hopkins ask that Floyd County's "Caney Girls" and "Caney Boys" please mark June 15 on their calendars.

Flowers on sanctuary

Flowers in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church for services there on Sunday morning, April 7, were "in loving memory" of George T. and Lack D. Roberts, from Laura Virginia, Bob, and Judy Collins.

Unintentionally omitted from the list of lilies placed there on Easter Sunday were those "in loving memory" of Nancy Holler, from Lee, Shelia, Brian and Christa, and as "a special thank-you to the church family for their prayers and understanding," from the House of Flowers.

Rev. Hopkins conducts revival in Paintsville

The Rev. and Mrs. Steve Hopkins and daughters, Charissa and Rachel, of Columbus, Ohio, were here during the past weekend. Rev. Hopkins, who was pastor for several years of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) until he was called last fall to pastor a church in Columbus, Ohio, performed the wedding ceremony of Miss Leslie Morgan and Mr. Craig Bays, at the local church, on Saturday, April 6.

From here, he went to Paintsville, where he is, this week, conducting revival services at the First Baptist Church.

On Sunday, April 7, the Rev. Bill Jagers, who pastored the First Baptist Church here prior to Rev. Hopkins' tenure, brought the message at this church during its morning and evening services.

On Sunday, April 14, the church's new pastor, the Rev. Mike Taylor, Mrs. Taylor and family will be welcomed to this church.

Mrs. Leftwich visits relatives in Prestonsburg

Mrs. Jean Leftwich and her daughter, Miss Brenda Leftwich, of Charlottesville, Virginia, were here during the Easter weekend visiting with Mrs. Fannie Runnels and Miss Alice Harris. Mrs. Leftwich is the only living first cousin (on his father's side), of the late Dr. John William Sutherland, III, who was the nephew (on his mothers' side) of Miss Harris and Mrs. Runnels.

Family members visit Mrs. Leslie

Mrs. Maman Leslie had members of her family with her during the holidays, including: a grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Phillips, of Goodlettsville, Tenn.; her granddaughters, Marla and Hailey Shelton, of Hendersonville, Tenn., Mrs. Terri Wilson, Christopher and Jennifer, of Richmond, Ky., and Miss Cathie Leslie, of Lexington.

Harris visits relatives

Mr. Frank Harris, of Lexington, was here this past week for a visit with his grandmother, Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, and his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pettrey, Mr. Harris is employed by the Ashland Oil Company, in Lexington.

History of women's club available for purchase

A booklet entitled "a History of the Prestonsburg Women's Club" has been compiled by Mrs. Phyllis Herrick, a member and past president of this organization. Persons wishing to obtain this publication should contact Mrs. Fred (Dorothy) Harris, the club's treasurer.

Mrs. Leslie visits family members

Mrs. Edward B. (Alta) Leslie, of Prestonsburg and Lexington has been here for a visit with her sons, Drs. Keith, Larry, and Ronald Leslie, their wives and families, and with friends. On Sunday, she attended services at the First Baptist Church.

Prestonsburg club is named 100 percent club

Members of the executive board of the G.F.W.C./K.F.W.C.

Prestonsburg Woman's Club held their regular monthly meeting at the Club's Arts and Crafts House, at Archer Park, Thursday evening, April 4, at 7. Mrs. Linda McGuire, president, presided.

Matters to be brought before the members at the regular meeting, which followed, were discussed. These included the pricing of the booklet entitled, "A History of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club," by Phyllis Herrick, the announcement by the president of the state meeting to be held at the Galt House, in Louisville, April 21-24, and the appointment by Mrs. McGuire, of the following committee to work on a float for the forthcoming Festival of Faces parade: Lillian Baldrige, chairman, and Betty Porter, Sue Martin, Phyllis Herrick, Garnett Fairchild, Earlene Nelson, Deborah Clatworthy and Boots Adams.

Present were: Linda McGuire, Kathy Lowe, Earlene Nelson, Sue Martin, Elizabeth Ramey, Dorothy Harris, and Docia Woods.

The regular meeting followed with President McGuire in charge, and leading the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag. Lida Howard read the club collect, and announced that a special program would follow.

The minutes of the March meeting were read by Sue Goble, recording secretary and Dorothy Harris, treasurer, gave the financial report. Elizabeth Ramey, corresponding secretary, read letters from Hospice of Big Sandy and the Jenny Wiley Theatre thanking the club for donations made.

Earlene Nelson, chairman of the Finance Committee, reported that the rummage sale held recently at the Club's Arts and Crafts House netted $150. She expressed her thanks to club members who participated in this endeavor.

Judy Burchett, chairman of the Education Committee, read an essay by Jennifer Christine Howell, and expressed her gratitude for the club's support of the "Touch Down" program, at Prestonsburg High School, the purpose of which is to lessen the number of high school dropouts.

Eileen Burchett, chairman of Community Improvements, discussed with the group, ways to control the litter problem.

Mable Brown, chairman of the Arts and Crafts House, told the group she would donate a large handmade basket to be used in decorating the club, and asked that anyone having a homemade quilt to be donated and used to complete the decoration, please contact her.

Docia Woods, publicity chairman, said that a summary of club news for 1990-91 had been submitted to the "Kentucky Club Woman Magazine," and that this would (hopefully) be used in the magazine's next publication.

The possible purchase of an American Flag for the Arts and Crafts House, and the request for items to be placed in the forthcoming History Museum to be established here, were discussed.

The president said that the G.F.W.C./K.F.W.C. Prestonsburg Woman's Club would be honored during the K.F.W.C. State Convention as a 100 percent club.

Mable Brown, chairman of the Nominating Committee, announced this list of officers for the club year, 1991-92:

President (office not filled); 1st vice president, Judy Burchett; 2nd vice president, Earlene Nelson; 3rd vice president, Elizabeth Ramey; recording Secretary, Sue Martin; corresponding secretary, Debra Clatworthy; and treasurer, Helen Wells.

Carters host birthday event

Mrs. Susan Roberts, of Lexington, was here recently for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Carter, and other relatives and friends. While here, she and her mother were honored with a birthday dinner at the Carter home in commemoration of their birthdays. Enjoying this event were the two honorees: Mrs. James Carter, Sr., and Mrs. Susan Roberts, and James Carter, Sr., Jack Carter, James Carter II and family, Jim III, Susan Raye, and Rebecca.

Mrs. Roberts, who has taught for several years at the Cardinal Valley Elementary School, in Lexington, and more recently served as counselor, there, was recently nominated as Fayette School Counselor of the Year, for which she received a certificate.

Annie Allen Circle encourages membership

The Annie Allen Circle, W.M.U., of the First Baptist Church met Monday evening, April 1, in Fellowship Hall of the Church. Patsy Evans, president, presided and opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes were read, and the Treasurer's report was made.

The president reported that the annual Kentucky W.M.U. Conference would be held in Williamsburg, Ky., April 19-20. She asked that "each member bring a new member" to the next meeting of the W.M.U.

Vivian Fraley read a list of Baptist Missionaries observing birthdays during April, and Faye Patton offered prayer for them. Mrs. Patton presented a program on "Different, but the Same." She was assisted by Ruby Lamping, Annabelle Maggard, Ora Bussey, Maman Leslie, Patsy Evans and Vivian Fraley. Mrs. Patton suggested that individual prayers be offered for persons about whose spiritual welfare they are especially concerned.

Patsy Evans served a desert course to: Ada Meade, Annabelle Maggard, Lillia Mae Price, Ruby Lamping, Faye Patton, Patsy Evans, Maman Leslie, Vivian Fraley, Ora Bussey, and Docia Woods.

The next meeting will be Monday evening, May 6, at 7 o'clock at the home of Eva Collins.

Return to Ohio

During the week prior to Easter, Mrs. Edwin Wingham and son Matthew Thomas, of Tipp City, Ohio, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. LeMaster, and other relatives and friends here. They returned to their home on the day before Easter.

AARP to meet

Mrs. Sina Blanton, president of the Jenny Wiley A.A.R.P., announces that the next dinner meeting of this group will be Friday, May 19, at 6:30 p.m., in the dining room at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

The speaker will be Freddy Goble, president of the Mended Hearts Club, and music will be furnished by Mr. Goble and members of his family.

She urges all senior citizens to attend.

Rebekah Lodge holds lemon squeeze

The regular meeting of Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 was held April 2. Due to the absence of the noble grand, Jean Hickman, Mrs. Hope Whitten presided. The sick were noted and cards were signed for them.

A lemon squeeze and a weigh-in were held, raising money for the Arthritis Foundation.

Members were reminded again of the visit on May 7 of the Assembly President, Mrs. Wilma C. Storey of Paintsville. All officers are asked to come out on April 16, the next meeting, for a practice session prior to Mrs. Storey's visit.

Birthday greetings were extended to Maman Leslie.

Those present enjoyed cookies and lemonade at the close of the meeting. Present were: Hope Whitten, Claudine Johns, Loretta Akers, Paulena Owens, Maman Leslie and Mabel Jean LeMaster.

100 years young

Minnie Lee DeRossett will celebrate her 100th birthday this month. She was born April 18, 1891 at Water Gap. Her children will host a birthday celebration for her on April 14 at her homeplace on Little Paint Creek of East Point. She is the daughter of the late Thomas Jefferson and Martha Goble Sizemore. She attended school at Water Gap and later married Christopher C. (Lum) DeRossett. Mr. and Mrs. DeRossett moved to East Point in 1927 where they raised their thirteen children: Fred, Joe (who is deceased), T.J. Alkie (York), Victoria (Meade), Ruth (Newton), Chris, twins Velva (Compton) and Theodore, Hillard, Virginia (Whitt), and two children who died in infancy. Mrs. DeRossett also has several grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren, and she still entertains them with stories and singing. She is a member of the Regular Baptist Church at Water Gap and attributes her long life to clean and simple living and faith in God.

Burchetts entertain family dinner guests

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Burchett entertained members of their family to a family dinner, at their home on Easter Sunday. Enjoying this family "get-together" were: Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Burchett and family, Carlye, Adam, Chase, and Mary, of Winchester; Dr. and Mrs. Blake Burchett and children, Andrew and Molly, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Burchett and sons, John and Mark, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Burchett, all of Prestonsburg.

Lamplighters view film

The Lamplighters of the First Baptist Church met Tuesday afternoon, April 2, at Fellowship of the Church. Patsy Evans, president, conducted the meeting which Thomas Foy opened with prayer. Mrs. Foy led in the singing of hymns with Lisa Carter at the piano. A film about the Shriners' circus was shown.

Present were: Ruby Lamping, Ora

They serve 2-, 3-, 4- and 5-ways at Dixie Chili. But since 1947, their health insurance decision has gone just 1-way.

Variety is the spice of life at Dixie Chili. Except when you talk to Dixie Chili owners, the Sarakatsannis brothers, about their health insurance. Only one company has been good enough for the last 43 years - Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky.

The family business has grown since the Sarakatsannis' father opened Dixie Chili in an eight-foot-wide storefront. There are four more restaurants. Seventy more employees. A retail and mail order business.

As this Northern Kentucky based business has grown, Blue Cross and Blue Shield has been able to supply the people and the products necessary to adapt to the Sarakatsannis family's changing health insurance needs.

Today, as in 1947, Dixie Chili employees still have the best choice of doctors and hospitals around. And they still have the most recognized health care card in Kentucky.

If you're interested in choosing Blue Cross and Blue Shield for your company, call us. We'll serve up a generous portion of Kentucky's most popular health plan.

County Kettle

By Marie Harmon

Since I still have several recipes left that Thelma Spencer sent me, I will continue them on into this week's Kettle. If by chance I still have more after this, I will keep going until they are all used.

Recently my husband ran across an ad for a cake recipe for sale by the name of "Better than Loving cake." I wonder if!!!! With that thought in mind I might as well start out with a great sounding cake recipe. Thanks Thelma for all your help, consideration and your recipes.

RAINBOW CITRUS CAKE

3 1/2 c. sifted all purpose flour
2 1/4 c. sugar
5 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
3/4 c. vegetable shortening
1 1/2 c. milk
4 eggs
2 tsp. vanilla

2 tsp. each lemon, orange, and lime rind yellow, red and green food coloring

Orange cream frosting
orange sections
pecans
lime slices

Grease and flour three 9 inch layer-cake pans, tapping out excess flour. Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into bowl of an electric beater. Add shortening, milk, eggs, and vanilla. Beat at low speed 1 minute, increase speed to high. Beat 3 minutes longer, scraping down side of bowl several times with rubber scraper.

Divide batter among three bowls, add lemon rind and yellow food coloring to one bowl. Stir just to blend. Pour into a prepared pan. Add orange rind and yellow and red food coloring to second bowl. Stir just to blend. Pour into second pan. Add lime rind and green food coloring to third bowl. Stir just to blend and pour into third pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 30 minutes or until top springs back when lightly touched with fingertips. Cool in pans on wire rack for 5 minutes. Loosen cake around edges with spatula. Invert onto wire rack and let cool completely.

Put layers together with lemon filling. Frost top and sides with orange cream frosting. Fill a pastry bag with remaining frosting and insert a No.16 star tip. Pipe top and bottom border edges. Arrange orange sections in a swirling pattern on top; insert a pecan between orange sections and place lime slices in center. REFRIGERATE UNTIL SERVING TIME.

LEMON FILLING

Combine 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 cup cornstarch and 1/4 teaspoon salt in a large saucepan. Beat in two eggs, yolks and 3/4 cup water with a wire whip until smooth. Cook stirring constantly with a wooden spoon until mixture thickens and bubbles 1 minute. Remove saucepan from heat, stir in 1/3 cup lemon juice and 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine. Pour into a glass bowl; cover top with plastic wrap and cool completely.

ORANGE CREAM FROSTING

Beat 1/2 cup (one stick) butter or margarine until soft in a small bowl of electric mixer at medium speed. Beat in one pound (1 pkg.) sifted 10X sugar (confectioners powdered) and a dash of salt until all the sugar has been added. Beat in 2 tablespoons orange juice, 2 tablespoons corn syrup and 2 tablespoons vanilla, until spreadable. Tint a rich orange with yellow and red food coloring.

ROMAN COUNTRY BEEF DINNER

1 1/2 lbs. stew beef, cut in 1 inch pieces
2 tbs. oil
1 can (29 oz.) whole tomatoes
1 can tomato sauce (8 oz.)
3 c. water
1 large onion chopped
2 tsp. dried oregano leaves
1/2 tsp. dried thyme leaves
4 oz. uncooked large macaroni
1 pkg. frozen cut green beans
grated parmesan cheese
Brown stew meat in oil in dutch oven. Drain. Stir in tomatoes (with liquid), tomato sauce, water, onion, salt, oregano and thyme. Heat to boiling, reduce heat. Cover and simmer until beef is tender, 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Stir in macaroni. Heat to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, until macaroni is almost tender, about 20 minutes. Rinse frozen beans in cold running water to separate. Stir beans into beef mixture. Cook uncovered until beans are tender, 15 to 20 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese. 6 servings.

MILKY WAY CAKE

6 milky way candy bars
1/2 cup butter or margarine. Melt or low heat.
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
2 1/2 cups self-rising flour
1 1/4 cups buttermilk
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup chopped nuts
Preheat oven 350 degrees. Grease and flour tube pan.
Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flour and soda alternately with buttermilk, stirring until smooth. Add melted candy mixture and mix well. Stir in vanilla and nuts. Pour into pan and bake 1 hour and 20 minutes or until done.

BANANA WALNUT CAKE

1/2 c. soft butter or margarine
1 tsp. vanilla
1 1/2 c. packed light brown sugar
3 eggs
2 1/4 c. sifted all purpose flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/3 c. mashed ripe bananas
1/4 c. milk
1 c. chopped walnuts
In a large mixing bowl, cream butter, vanilla and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs. Sift together flour, soda, salt and baking powder. Mix bananas and milk. Blend dry ingredients into batter alternately with banana mixture. Stir in walnuts. Turn into two greased and floured 2 inch deep, 8 inch cake pans. Bake in 350° oven 30 to 40 minutes, until cake tester inserted into cake comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes, turn out onto racks and cool completely. Frost with cream cheese frosting.

CREAM CHEESE FROSTING

2 pkgs. (3 oz. each) cream cheese
3 c. unsifted confectioners sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
In large mixing bowl cream cheese until smooth. Gradually beat in confectioners' sugar and vanilla. Beat until smooth.

BLUEBERRY OATMEAL COOKIES

1 pkg. wild blueberry muffin mix
3/4 c. quick cooking oats
1/4 c. brown sugar
1/3 c. cooking oil
1 tbs. milk
1 egg
Preheat oven to 375°. Wash blueberries and drain on paper towel. In a medium mixing bowl combine all but the blueberries. Mix well. Drop from a teaspoon onto an ungreased cookie sheet. Make a deep depression in the center of each cookie and fill with 7 to 8 well drained blueberries. Push dough from the sides and cover the blueberries and pat down.

BEEF STROGANOFF

2 lbs. sirloin tip of beef, cut in strips about 1/2 inch thick and 1/2 inch wide
2 tbs. butter
1/2 c. finely chopped onions
1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced thin
2 tbs. flour
1 1/2 c. beef broth
2 tbs. tomato paste
1 1/2 tsp. salt
several grindings black pepper
1/4 tsp. crushed marjoram
1/4 tsp. crushed coriander
1/4 c. dry sherry

1/2 c. sour cream

In a dutch oven saute beef strips in butter, remove and add onions and mushrooms slices. Saute until onion is transparent. Add flour and stir until mixed (add butter if necessary). With whisk stir while adding broth at once. Stir until smooth. Add tomato paste, salt, pepper, marjoram, coriander, sherry and return sauteed beef strips to the skillet. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes, or until beef is tender. Fold in sour cream and continue cooking only until mixture is heated through. Serve over cooked noodles or rice. 6 servings.

Cassandra Keathley
Ronnie Akers

Garland and Nancy Keathley announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Cassandra, to Ronnie Akers, son of Charles and Sola Akers of Grethel.

Miss Keathley is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School and Alice Lloyd College and is currently employed by the Floyd County Board of Education. Mr. Akers is also a graduate of Betsy Layne High School and is currently employed by the Floyd County Road Department.

The couple will be united in marriage on Saturday, April 20, at 2:30 at the Harold Church of Christ with the Rev. Doyle Meade presiding. Reception will follow immediately at the church. The custom of open ceremony will be observed with all family and friends invited to attend.

Cabbage Patch

By Marie Harmon

Garlic is one of the easiest of all vegetables to grow. It can do well in any ground that onions will grow in. It is propagated by bulb division called cloves or sets. The garlic cloves sold in any supermarket are good seed — saves money too.

Plant the garlic cloves in early spring, in rows one foot apart, one or two inches deep and six inches apart in the row. The crop will mature in August. Harvest it like you do your onion crop. Garlic grows to about two feet and has beautiful pinkish flowers. I have seen little hummingbirds swarming around these fragrant flower heads.

The crops are harvested by pulling them up after the leaves have turned yellow — in May or June, depending on the date they were planted. The bulbs should be thoroughly dried and cleaned by removing the outer loose parts of the sheath and trimming the roots close to the base. They may then be stored loose like onions, tied in bunches, or plaited into strings such as sometimes seen in the grocery stores.

Better still, do as I do — leave them in the ground! If you plant your garlic in rows along the outer edge of your garden where they are out of the way, they can be left in the garden. Less work for you, and the plants will do better each year. They will also have more and more tiny bulbets forming to become adult plants in two or three years. Don't set them out and forget them. The plant clumps or clusters will have to be dug up and divided every five or six years.

If more people ate more garlic there would be fewer strokes, heart attacks and high blood pressure. Garlic is known to reduce high blood pressure, heal TB, pneumonia, and clear the lungs of other problems. I could go into several other things it does but, as I don't care to be arrested for practicing medicine without a license, I will leave well enough alone.

Birthday pair

Twins Jeremy Carson and Sasha Nicole Osborne, children of Carson and Brenda Osborne of Teaberry, celebrated their first birthday Friday, March 15, at McDonalds. They are the grandchildren of Buster and Mildred Osborne of Beaver and Nellie Newsome of Galveston. Guests attending were their sister, Lisa Osborne, and friends, Leslie Newsome, Brent Newsome, Amanda Osborne, Victoria Osborne, Shelle Hamilton and Kristie Stratton.

Miss America preliminary set

The Elkhorn City area will soon be hosting its first annual Miss America preliminary pageant. "Miss Gateway to the Breaks" will be crowned on Sunday evening, May 5, at the Elkhorn City High School. The young lady winning the coveted title will advance to the Miss Kentucky pageant in July as well as winning scholarship money for college. Contestants will be judged on swimsuit, evening gown, talent and interview competitions. Single women between the ages of 17 and 25 are eligible to participate. For those interested in competing or donating to the scholarship fund, please contact Darin Blackburn, UPO Box 405, Morehead State University, Morehead, Kentucky 40251 or call 606-784-3235 or Tammy Casebolt at 437-9481. Deadline for entering is April 24.

Mama always said, "Howard, you can't have your cake and eat it, too."

But I can with Call Waiting, because it lets me talk on the phone and still get Mama's calls, too. Who says Mama's always right?

CALL WAITING lets you talk on the phone and still get important calls, for $2.75 a month. Plus, when you're out and want to call home, you can always get through. Order by May 31 and save the $15.50 connection charge. Call 557-6400.

Number 836-5258

In accordance with the provision of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Maple Ridge Mining Corporation, P.O. Box 27, Honaker, Kentucky, 41639, has filed an application for a permit for an underground coal mining and reclamation operation.
This proposed operation will affect a surface disturbance of 4.30 acres and will underlie an additional 145.00 acres located 0.60 miles northwest of Teaberry in Floyd County, Kentucky.

The proposed operation is approximately 0.50 miles south from Dry
Branch Road's junction with KY Route
979 and located on Dry Branch of Mud Creek. The latitude is 37° 25' 52".
The longitude is 82° 39' 08".

The proposed operation is located on the McDowell USGS 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area to be disturbed is owned by Newsome Heirs and Carmel Clark. The operation will underlie land owned by Walker Tackett, Fred Newsome,
Newsome Heirs, and Carmel Clark.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 South Lake Drive,
Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must have attached a copy of the newspaper clipping and must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits,

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Land Management
(ES 970-01-4120-14-241A; KYES
42948/KYES 43034)

Competitive Coal Lease Offering by Sealed Bid; Pike and Henderson
Counties, Kentucky

AGENCY: Bureau of Land Management, Interior.

ACTION: Competitive coal lease offerings by sealed bid.

SUMMARY: Notice is hereby given that as a result of applications filed by the Summit Engineering Company (KYES 42948) in Pike County, Kentucky and Peabody Coal Company (KYES 43034) in Henderson County, Kentucky, coal resources will be offered for competitive leasing by sealed bid in accordance with the provisions of the Mineral Leasing Act of 1947 (61 Stat. 913, 30 U.S.C. 351-359), as amended. The applicants have satisfactorily demonstrated under the emergency leasing regulation, 43 CFR 3425.1-4, that if the coal deposits are not leased, they will be bypassed in the reasonably foreseeable future. The applications are described as follows:

Pike County, Kentucky
The Fishtrap Lake, Grapevine Tract
(KYES 42948)

Tract Nos. 723, 725 and 732
Containing approximately 99 acres.

AND
Henderson County, Kentucky
The Camp Tract (KYES 43034)

Tract No. 7A more particularly described as:

Lying west of Whitelock Road and between John Tapp Road and Highland Creek and being the south east portion of Tract 7-A. Beginning at an iron pin (set) in the centerline of John Tapp Road, the original point called
"X" on Camp Breckinridge Surface
Tract No. 9 and Mineral Tract No. 7-
A, with map coordinates of N 487, 474.570 - E 1,427,801.820; thence leaving John Tapp Road with the mineral division line of Tract No. 7-A and Tract No. 8 south 2,414.53 feet to an iron pin (set), the original mineral corner called "0"; thence continuing with Tracts No. 7-A and No. 8 west (passing an iron pin set on the east bank of Highland Creek at 3,907.44 feet) 3,962.44 feet to a point in Highland Creek in the Union and Henderson County Line; thence leaving Highland Creek N 44 degrees 25' 24"
E (passing an iron pin set on the east bank of Highland Creek at 55.00 feet) 4,337.94 feet to an iron pin (set) in the centerline of John Tapp Road; thence with the centerline of John Tapp Road and the northern boundary of Mineral Tract No. 7-A S 53 degrees 34' 04"
E 1,151.05 feet to the point of beginning.

Containing approximately 167 acres.

These tracts will be leased to the qualified bidders of the highest cash amount provided that the high bid for the tract equals or exceeds the fair market value (FMV) of the tract as determined by the officer after the sale. The Department has established a minimum bid of $100 per acre for the tract. The minimum bid is not to be considered as representing the amount for which the tract may actually be leased, since FMV will be determined in a separate postsale analysis. If identical high sealed bids are received, the tying high bidders will be asked to submit follow up sealed bids until a high bid is received. All tie breaking bids must be submitted within 15 minutes following the authorized officers' announcement at the sale that identical high bids have been received.

DATE: The sale will be held at 10:00 a.m., Friday, May 3, 1991 in the Eastern States Office Public Room. All bids must be submitted to the Bureau of Land Management, Eastern States
Office, 350 South Pickett Street, Alexandria, Virginia 22304. Each bid must be clearly identified by the tract name or the serial number on the outside of the sealed envelope containing the bid. The bids should be sent by certified mail, return receipt or be hand delivered on or before 5:00 p.m., Thursday, May 2, 1991. Any bids received after 5:00 p.m. May 2, 1991 will not be considered.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMA-TION: The coal resources being offered are to be mined underground.
The range quality of the coal within the proposed leases is as follows:

Landowners association formed to help protect property owners

KLA, officially known as Kentucky Landowners Association, was formed in January 1991. The association was formed to serve as a voice for its landowner members regarding legislation and government regulations, as well as proposals by other groups of individuals, that restrict land use or otherwise infringes on the rights of private property owners.

There are instances where land use restrictions are promoted either by public opinion or by law. Definitions of some laws, particularly those dealing with environmental issues such as wetlands, endangered species and conservation easements, is unclear. These laws are often interpreted without consideration of the hardship placed on the property owner.

In the case of wetlands, of the 90 million acres identified by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service as wetlands, 74 percent are owned by private citizens. Kentucky Landowners Association also supports the necessity to respect and protect all species in our ecosystem. However, in protecting these species and wetlands, as well as developing other environmental programs, the rights of the individual property owner must be taken into consideration.

Such legislation harms not only the private landowner who has land use restrictions placed upon him but also the community as a whole. In many instances, the affected property is the most productive farmland in the agricultural community or the most valuable for development. This not only leads to lower production of agricultural commodities or retards development and growth, but also creates an adverse economic impact on the community. The landowner's investment value and income decreases as does his spending in the community. Threat of reductions in the local tax base forcing tax increases upon other landowners is also present.

Kentucky Landowners Association is an active participant in both the state and national policy debate on environmental and landowner rights issues. Kentucky Landowners Association's purpose is to keep landowners informed of legislation regarding land use restrictions and other issues concerning the rights of private property owners. With active participation, we can have an influence in new legislative policy as well as in changing existing policy. By combining individual efforts through Kentucky Landowners Association, our organization will make the difference by creating a voice that will be heard by legislators and the general public.

Kentucky Landowners Association was chartered in the State of Kentucky as a not-for-profit corporation. An application for a tax exempt status determination by the Internal Revenue Service is pending.

If any landowner has had problems regarding any of the concerns mentioned or other issues that restrict the use of private property or if anyone would like more information about the Kentucky Landowners Association or would like to assist in setting up a meeting in your area, please contact KLA at P.O. Box 425, Beaver Dam, Ky. 42320 or call Paul Sandefur at (502) 274-4044 or Mike Walker at (502) 835-2426.
