Call for Thursday session not yet "official" :

Hot potatoes may be on board's plate

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

The Floyd County Board of Education is reportedly considering a call for a special meeting Thursday to review a host of controversial issues confronting the board.

Among topics proposed for discussion are issues concerning purported restrictions on booster clubs at Prestonsburg High School; school activity fund finances at Martin Elementary; and the position of board secretary.

School board chairman Ray

"Shag" Campbell said Tuesday the call for a special meeting was not yet "official." Campbell said he hoped to finalize plans for the special meeting Wednesday morning.

The booster club issue stems from a letter allegedly sent to Prestonsburg High School booster clubs from principal Robert May asking the organizations to cease their fund raising efforts. May's letter said that all booster clubs were part of a current Kentucky State Police investigation into weekly bingo games at the school conducted by the Prestonsburg Academic Athletic Association (PAAA).

State Department of Education attorney Steve Yater said last week that May's letter was "disgusting" and that there was a big difference between gambling and gaming and bake sales and car washes.

The school board asked for a probe into the PAAA's bingo games after a Times investigation showed that the organization did not meet state law criteria to operate as a charitable gaming activity.

The issue at Martin Elementary deals with the school's activity accounts, which ended with a deficit balance at the end of the 1989-90 school year.

An audit of the school's account last year showed that the school ended the year with a $14,121 deficit in the general fund. Ron Moubray, state associate superintendent of finance for the state Department of Education, instructed superintendent Ron Hager last year to direct Martin principal Bill Hughes to submit a plan to reduce the deficit by the end of the 1990-91 school year.

Under state law, a school cannot end the year with a deficit.

The third issue deals with the position of secretary to the board of education. The board voted at its July meeting to appoint assistant superintendent Gary Frazier as secretary to the board, replacing superintendent Hager.

After the July meeting, Hager said that he had a four-year contract to serve as secretary until July 1992.

At the meeting, Hager said he wanted to remain as secretary, but would do as the board directed. He did not mention the contract at that meeting.

Hager said Monday that he had not relinquished his duties as secretary. When asked why the issue was put on July's agenda, Hager replied, "It's on there every year in case the board wants to make a change."

Hager said he did not mention his contract at the meeting because "three of the board members who gave me the contract were present."

Reportedly two other topics will be discussed at the meeting, but it could not be confirmed Tuesday by the Times.

The special meeting Thursday is expected to begin at 6 p.m. and will be held at the central office. The meeting is open to the public.

Federal judge rules :

Pact will stand in lawsuit

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A federal judge denied a motion August 1 on behalf of a Floyd County teachers' aide to set aside a settlement in a civil rights case against the Floyd County Board of Education.

Judge Joseph Hood ruled Thursday that a settlement on behalf of Karon Robinson would stand as submitted to the court by her attorney, John David Preston of Paintsville.

According to court records, Robinson said she did not agree to the terms of the settlement which provided she would receive $15,000 and be re-employed for the 1991-92 school year.

The board voted on November 7, 1990 to accept Robinson's settlement, which said the board admitted no fault or improper action, but agreed to pay Robinson $15,000 and hire her for the coming school year.

In Robinson's suit, filed February 12, 1990 in the Eastern District at Pikeville, Robinson claimed she was not re-hired as a teacher's aide in the 1989-90 school year because she would not support a particular candidate for county attorney. She filed suit against the board of education; and assistant superintendent Pete Grigsby Jr., superintendent Ron Hager and former board chairman James D. Adams, individually.

In a letter to her attorney dated January 1, 1991, Robinson said that a $15,000 payment was a "ridiculously insufficient amount" considering that "four parties (were) named in the complaint."

"I will not accept it nor do I instruct you to answer affirmatively for me," Robinson letter said. "If the court should affirm this agreement without my signed release, I will fight it."

Robinson hired Prestonsburg attorney Phillip Damron on April 26 to represent her in trying to get that settlement set aside.

F.C. Bryan, an attorney for Bryan, Fogle and Chenoweth representing the board of education, filed a motion on June 20 asking the court to enforce the settlement.

Damron's reply to that motion said

No contamination is found in Dewey

Water samples taken from the area where medical waste was discovered in Dewey Lake on Friday, July 21 have been tested and the results returned on Tuesday, according to David Chaffins, Area 9 Disaster and Emergency Services representative.

The results, provided from the Floyd County Health Department, showed no type of contamination, according to Chaffins. The Kentucky State Police are still investigating the incident and further information about the contents of a medical dispenser bottle found on the scene were unavailable.

No injuries reported in Tuesday derailment

Jumped the tracks

Two cars were derailed from a CSX train Tuesday morning, falling over and spilling their cargo of plastic beads on the embankment next to the tracks near Allen Elementary School. Two other train cars and an engine were also derailed in the mishap but remained upright. CSX officials are investigating the cause of the derailment. The track will remain closed until the damaged cars can be removed and a portion of rails replaced. (photo by Tess Whitmer)

Investigators probe mishap

by Tess A. Whitmer

An investigation is underway into the cause of a train derailment Tuesday morning near Allen Elementary School.

At approximately 9 a.m. on August 6, a CSX train rounded a curve and two of the cars tipped off the rails and landed on the side embankment. The derailed cars had been ripped from their axles and they spilled a portion of their cargo, which was plastic beads.

An engine and two other cars were also derailed in the incident but remained upright.

Several CSX officials were on the scene conducting an investigation Tuesday morning, the results of which will not be determined for about a week. Those investigating the accident refused to speculate on the cause of the derailment.

Glen Gillespie, a carman for CSX, said that a crane would be brought down from Barboursville to clear the cars from the area. He estimated it would take until Wednesday morning at the earliest to complete that work. Gillespie also noted that a portion of the track, which was mangled in the mishap, would need to be replaced before the tracks could be reopened.

Bikers find help after trip takes wrong turn

by Mike Rosenberg
Editorial Assistant

The riders were lost in a foreign country where they barely spoke the language. They had been bicycling all day and had reached a small town where they knew no one. From out of nowhere, a kindly pastor appeared and offered them the use of the local church for the night.

Sound like a movie? That's exactly what happened to Christian Malkmus, 19, of Partenstein, Germany, and Jürgen Kußberger (pronounced Koos-burger), 20, of Tuerth, Germany. Both young men are from the Bavarian region of Germany. The two came to America slightly less than two weeks ago for a vacation. The Germans were planning to bicycle the United States from coast to coast, beginning in New York and completing their ride in San Francisco.

"We got the idea about half a year ago," said Malkmus, "while we were sitting in a pub. We wanted to do something after we finished school." After finishing school, all German men are required to perform one year of military or community service.

"We wanted to take a long bicycle tour. We thought about Scandinavia and Southern Europe, but we thought the United States would be more interesting," said Kußberger.

The Germans have passed through New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and now Kentucky. "We normally stay in campgrounds," said Kußberger, "but once, in Amish country, a family let us sleep in their garden."

The young men stopped in Prestonsburg almost by accident. Monday, the cyclists were in West Virginia. "We wanted to go to Huntington or Charleston, but we had already ridden 145 kilometers (about

Treasurer's report :

Financial activity detailed

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

A detailed account of the Floyd County Fiscal Court's financial activity for the 1990-91 fiscal year, which ended June 30, was released this week by county treasurer David D. Allen. The treasurer's report is published in its entirety in this issue of the Times.

As required by state law, the report offers a breakdown of receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year, including figures for the county's general fund, road fund, jail fund, and Local Government Economic Assistance fund (LGEA). County payroll expenses are included in lump-sum amounts.

Here are summaries of each financial category:

General Fund

The county's general fund opened the 1990-91 fiscal year with a bank balance of $1,518,117.41, adding $1,859,512.87 in revenues during the course of the year. Major factors contributing to general fund receipts included $893,119.69 from property taxes and $234,805.09 from motor vehicle taxes. The county earned $58,540.94 in interest during the year.

Total receipts plus the beginning-year bank balance came to $3,377,630.28 for the general fund.

On the expense side of the general fund ledger, the county spent $2,485,882.55 during the year. That figure included transfers to other funds totaling $585,558.47. General fund disbursements exceeded the year's receipts by approximately $600,000, reducing the prior year's $1.5 million bank balance to

Cecil to take another shot at Perkins' seat

Morgan County native, Jerry Cecil, has announced his intention to seek the Democratic nomination for the 7th District seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Cecil, 48, finished a distant second to incumbent Congressman Chris Perkins in the 1990 primary.

A farmer and an Army Reserve colonel, Cecil currently resides in Winchester. His entrance into the congressional race brings the list of candidates in the Democratic primary to three. Perkins and Carol Hubbard have also announced their candidacies.

In the 1990 Democratic Primary, Cecil received 32 percent of the vote, spending just $20,000 in the 23-county race.

After winning the Democratic nomination in 1990, Perkins narrowly defeated Republican challenger Will T. Scott of Pikeville in the general election.

Governor's program to replace a total of 542 bridges statewide

Governor Wallace G. Wilkinson and Transportation Secretary Milo D. Bryant last week unveiled Phase II of the Cooperative Bridge Replacement Program.

Wilkinson made his announcement at the 1991 Kentucky County Judge Executive and Kentucky Magistrates Association Convention in Louisville. Phase II of the program will replace 430 county bridges greater than 50 feet and less than 225 feet and 112 state bridges greater than 20 feet and less than 225 feet — for a total of 542 bridges. The majority of these bridges are on farm to market roads which are critical elements to the transportation network of rural Kentucky.

As part of Phase I of the program, Floyd County will have three bridges completed this weekend, according to Judge Executive John M. Stumbo. The bridges are on the Left Fork of Abbot, Clark Branch on Buffalo and near Mills Branch in Wayland. The fourth bridge the county qualified for was at Little Paint, but was taken by the construction of new Route 23, according to Stumbo. The list of bridges for Phase II has not yet been announced but Stumbo is hoping to at least get the bridge at Rough and Tough replaced.

"Two years ago I announced Phase I of the Cooperative Bridge Replacement Program to replace 1,031 local bridges 20 to 50 feet in length which couldn't hold the weight of a loaded school bus," Wilkinson said. "As you know, this five year program has already successfully addressed over 400 of these bridges. Our goal should be to eliminate every single deficient bridge vital to the every day life of all Kentuckians."

Wilkinson added that "Phase II of the Bridge Replacement Program will tackle another generation of bridges not previously addressed in the Phase I program that also cannot accommodate loaded school buses."

The Transportation Cabinet will administer the program in cooperation with the specific city or county jurisdiction. The Phase II program will be initiated with the replacement of one bridge per 12 highway districts at a cost of $2,575,000.

Robinson "obviously" did not agree to the settlement terms and that no settlement agreement was executed by Robinson and her attorney.

"Written settlement agreement furnished to the plaintiff's attorney two months after the offer of settlement did not comport to the offer made September 25, 1990," the reply said, "to wit: there is no mention in the offer of allowing the defendants to deny liability."

The only issue in the case, according to the reply, was that whether or not Robinson was bound by the acts of her attorney.

"Whether to allow the plaintiff to go forward with her case or to declare the matter settled is within the sound discretion of the court," the motion said. "It is respectfully submitted that this lady is entitled to her day in court."

Damron said Friday that federal law states that a client is bound by the actions of their attorney.

Finances

$891,747.73 to start the 1991-92 fiscal year.

Road Fund

The county's road fund ended the 1989-90 fiscal year with a bank balance of $228,795.77 and received during the 1990-91 year a total of $1,576,766.62 from various sources. Top contributors to the fund's receipts were $782,194 from the state and $400,000 transferred from the county's general fund.

Disbursements from the road fund came to $1,523,982.78, leaving a year-end bank balance of $281,579.61.

Jail Fund

Opening the fiscal year with a slim, $725.08 bank balance, the jail fund added receipts totaling $284,718.32 from a number of sources. A little less than half of the total jail receipts, $126,143.04, came from the state. Another $85,558.47 was transferred from the county's general fund.

Jail fund disbursements for the fiscal year totaled $261,035.50, leaving a bank balance at the close of the year of $24,407.81.

LGEA Fund

The county's Local Government Economic Assistance fund began the 1990-91 fiscal year with a bank balance of $113,335.47, adding $1,804,993.39 from state sources during the year. The majority of those receipts were from coal and mineral severance taxes.

Disbursements from the fund came to $1,747,429.50 during the year, leaving a year-end bank balance of $170,899.36.

A complete version of the treasurer's report is published in section C of this issue of the Times.

90 miles) that day and we were very tired," Malkmus explained. "A big man with a big grey beard and a beer in his hand stopped and offered us a ride to a campground. We took the ride, but instead of going west towards Huntington, he went south."

They were able to find a campground near Williamson, West Virginia.

After riding from Williamson, they were passing through Prestonsburg when they met Rev. Tim Jessen, the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. "We asked him how to get to a campground and he told us we could sleep in the church," Kußberger said.

Jessen said he saw them "sitting on the side of the road at the top of my street in Lancer talking to someone who was looking for a map. I knew they weren't local bikers so I offered them a map of Kentucky." Jessen took the two to breakfast Tuesday morning, after which the two set off from Prestonsburg.

The Germans have been very impressed with America in their trip so far. "The people here are so friendly. You can meet someone while cycling and they will talk to you like you've known them for half a year. The people we've met have been wonderful," said Malkmus. He jokingly added, "I just wish they'd keep their dogs on leashes."

The young men said that they are using the trip to think about their future plans. Malkmus said that he wants to return home and study forestry. Kußberger said that he is using the trip to help him decide what he wants to do. "Traveling helps me think," he said.

The two have changed their travel plans slightly. From Prestonsburg, they are planning to ride through Lexington and Louisville to St. Louis and rent a car there. "We don't think riding through mile after mile of cornfields would be all that interesting," said Malkmus. They are planning to drive from St. Louis to Denver and then ride across the Rockies to San Francisco.

When asked why they are undertaking this 3,000-plus mile trip, Malkmus said, "We can say that we did something that not many people have done. More people should get on their bikes and ride. It's much more interesting than doing it by car. Plus, it really has a touch of adventure."

Director says:

Big River is show for the whole family

Michael King sat in the air conditioned offices of Jenny Wiley Theatre minutes before his hit show, Big River, was to begin before yet another sold-out crowd.

Confident and proud, King, an assistant professor of theatre at Northern Kentucky University for the past five years, spoke humbly about the show most people feel is the centerpiece of this year's season.

"I think it's popular for a variety of reasons," says King. "The story itself is a classic Mark Twain piece that is a part of our cultural heritage. Many people already know a little about what they are going to see."

He continued, "The story is a country music score and that has been very popular because it's what people want to hear."

"The play itself is a good balance of comedy and drama so there are lots of things to laugh about and at the same time it's really a moving story that people can relate to," he added. "And we have a really talented cast which is true of all the shows this summer."

King spoke of the shows wonderful music written by country music legend and Tony award winner, Roger Miller.

"There are quite a few songs," he said. "There are duets from Huck (played by Whitney Wilcoxson) and Jim (Ken Early) especially Muddy Water and River in the Rain."

"Mary Jane's (played by Misty Daniels) country ballads in the second act are extremely popular. And then there's Alice's (played by Meshelle Murphy) number, the Crossing, and Alice's daughter (played by Sonya Leslie) who sings How Blessed We Are. Those numbers are extremely well-liked."

King said the recent release of Big River and the outdoor setting of the theatre also contribute to the show's popularity.

"It's perfect for this theatre," he said. "With the trees and the crickets under the stars, it's just the perfect environment."

He also said he enjoyed directing the show because it challenges the performers in many areas.

"It's a real actors piece as well as a piece for singers," said King. "This makes great entertainment."

When asked why someone should see Big River, King replied, "For one thing, they'll be entertained. They will laugh and hear wonderful music and they'll really enjoy themselves."

"You can see it with the whole family and it's not just fluff. It has really powerful messages about prejudice, bigotry and also, greed."

King says he hopes crowds will gather for all this season's shows.

"Each one is different and they all really showcase the talents of our wonderful company," he said. "It would be a shame to miss any of them."

King also plays Pap Finn (Huck's father) and has a delightful number called "Guv'ment" which is crowd-pleaser.

King could only spend a few moments talking about the show before he had to go and dress for his part.

But King has a success — a big success called Big River.

Big River set the single night attendance record for the theatre this summer with over 700 people in attendance.

While most shows are sold out, there are still good seats available for the remaining performances through August 17.

For information about tickets, call the box office at 886-9274.

State cancer director visits Highlands

Dr. Gilbert H. Friedell, co-director for the Kentucky Cancer Program and director for cancer control in Kentucky, visited Highlands Regional Medical Center on June 24 and 25.

Angel Rubio, acting director for community programs, and Doug Wagner, supervisor for the cancer information service accompanied Dr. Friedell. The visit was made to explore further ways the Kentucky Cancer Program and Highlands could work together to provide additional quality cancer screening and treatment services for patients in Eastern Kentucky.

After touring Highlands' breast center Dr. Friedell stated, "I am impressed with the operations and management of the breast center. This is a comprehensive program providing mammography and breast cancer education and could be used as a model for other facilities throughout the state." Dr. Friedell also invited representatives from Highlands to participate in a statewide conference on community cancer control in Lexington on October 26, 1991.

Since the breast center opened in 1987, Highlands has diagnosed and treated 132 patients with breast cancer. Currently an average of 300 women are seen monthly in the breast center.

This year, Highlands' Cancer Program became the first in Eastern Kentucky to be approved by the American College of Surgeons' Commission on Cancer. Highlands and its surgical facilities are accredited by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO).

Dr. Gilbert Friedell, director of cancer control in Kentucky, and Denise Queen RN, breast center nurse educator, discuss education techniques.

New EKU Scholarship to aid Eastern Kentuckians

Melisa Ann Noe of Sassafras in Knott County is the first recipient of a new Eastern Kentucky University scholarship designed to assist students from six eastern Kentucky counties.

Students from Knott, Letcher, Floyd, Pike, Perry, and Harlan counties who demonstrate financial need and who enroll in a human service field of study at EKU are eligible to receive the Bentley Endowed Scholarship.

The new scholarship was established by Michael and Barbara Bentley of Richmond to honor Bentley's mother, Lela Bentley of Millstone in Letcher County.

Income from the trust fund will be used to provide an annual scholarship at EKU which may be equal to the cost of in-state tuition and fees.

"Mother has dedicated her life to helping others," said Michael Bentley. "As a school teacher in Letcher County, she encouraged young people to stay in school and to continue their education in college."

"This scholarship fund recognizes and honors her efforts to help her family and others in our region," he said.

Noe, a Knott County High School graduate, was a member of the National Honor Society and the recipient of a Presidential Academic Fitness Award and a KCHS Health Award.

She plans to study occupational therapy at EKU this fall.

Noe is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Noe.

Friday searches fruitful for sheriff, deputies

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

Acting on an anonymous tip, the Floyd County Sheriff's Department conducted a late night raid Friday and found several marijuana plants growing in planters in a garden near Prestonsburg.

Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson and three deputies searched a residence near Prestonsburg at approximately 11 p.m. Friday night and found a set of fluorescent lights in the attic, apparently used to grow marijuana plants indoors. Officers declined to identify the property owners pending further information.

A search of the premises produced six marijuana plants growing in planters scattered throughout the property. The marijuana plants were located in several areas hidden in tall weeds. The sheriff and deputies searched the area for approximately an hour.

Sheriff Thompson and deputies Linzie Hunt, Don Johnson and Homer Neeley conducted the search.

No arrests were made and the case is under investigation by the department.

In other activity, deputies Denver Spurlock and Larry Newsome found six marijuana plants growing in a field at Branhams Creek near Mud Creek Friday. Spurlock and Newsome discovered the plants that were approximately 6-feet in height. The incident is under investigation.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

Coffee Break

by Scoti Perry

Immersed ourselves into a deeply philosophical discussion over the weekend on the plight of our area's young people when it comes to finding career opportunities at home.

In the middle of the debate, which offered the conclusion that there are very limited choices for obtaining satisfying careers in the mountains, our four-year-old son wandered by, oblivious to the concerns for his future and unperturbed by our obvious depression over the state of things to come.

Expecting to use his response as fuel for our dour discussions on the lack of career choices at home in the hills, the lad was asked the age-old question...

"What do you want to be when you grow up?"

There was no hesitation in his reply.

"A teen-ager," he said.

Uh, what was it we were worrying about?

"Tobacco chewing might be risky," the headline said.
No kiddin'.

Our two encounters with the stuff are proof enough.

The first time we tried chewing tobacco came during that time in all boys' lives when taking dares is a sacred rite of passage into manhood.

We passed breakfast, lunch and dinner in a most unmanly fashion while kneeling before that sacred porcelain altar.

Our second encounter came several years after the memory of the first had faded, during one of our numerous (and unsuccessful) attempts to kick the cigarette habit.

"Cigarettes may be hazardous to your health," our young bride advised at the time, "but if you put another wad of that nasty stuff in your mouth, death is a certainty."

Don't know how many federal tax dollars went into this latest study on chewing tobacco, but we could have given researchers all the data they needed for the price of a phone call.

Ptoote.

"Hillbilly" is in.

That's the word from the fashion world, which advises this week that the latest dress fad includes overalls.

"The kid who wears them is pretty advanced in trendy wear," notes merchandise manager Rob Gruen of Minneapolis.

After suffering years of Dogpatch-style stereotyping, we find the typecast "uniform" is now a trendsetter.

Is that with or without shoes?

August.

Reputed to be the only month in the year without a national holiday.

We know a few mothers who would disagree that August has no call for celebration and, in fact, they have the memorable dates circled on calendars from coast to coast.

Back To School Day.

The party starts as soon as the school bus is out of sight.

Let's throw some fat on the fire and examine the never-ending debate over athletics vs. academics in Kentucky high schools.

To be eligible to participate in high school sports, a student must meet certain academic requirements posed by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association.

The minimum eligibility requirements are passing grades in four subjects.

Theoretically, a "student" could have D-minuses in four courses to qualify for good standing. That doesn't seem quite right, for a variety of reasons, the most obvious being a signal that it's okay to just get by.

Unfortunately, just getting by just doesn't get it anymore.

Some schools are recognizing that and they are applying stricter academic eligibility requirements for student athletes.

Students who measure up to those tougher standards no doubt will be better prepared to compete in the real world.

Editor:

I read with vested interest the letter from last week's paper about the incinerator operating adjacent to HRMC. My husband and I concur wholeheartedly with the statements in Jeanie Wells' letter. Both he and I have had health problems which I truly believe can be attributed to said institution. For several years, I have had high readings on liver profile tests and Harlie has had trouble with his breathing. The fumes from the incinerator are drawn into our home by the furnace in the winter and the air conditioning in the summer. We have found birds dying in our yard gasping for breath. Are we in Eastern Kentucky going to sit idly by and continue to see our health and well being jeopardized?

I feel it's high time to do whatever we can as a community to stop this before it is too late. If it is too late for us older residents, what about our children? Go to some of our meetings and then see how real the danger is.

Mr. Baggett, a renowned chemist from St. Louis, met with our group and stated emphatically that he would not eat vegetables grown in our area. What does that tell us? Are we so naive to believe the corporate heads say that we are safe? That they are not polluting the very air we breathe? What about our water supply? Check for yourselves. Form your own opinions. Then, and only then, let your conscience dictate your actions. Come out to the meetings at Horn Chapel the first Monday of each month. Hear the truth about the matter. As a group working together, we can accomplish a lot.

I would hate to leave my home of 34 years, our beautiful mountains of Eastern Kentucky. Wake up, Floyd County, and smell the roses — if there are any roses left to smell. Please listen and act.

Common sense. Violent crime is appalling and we need to do something about it. Drugs, knives, illegal guns and gangs each play a considerable role in rising crime rates. It's not just the big cities suffering the impacts of violent crime, but also our suburbs and even our rural neighborhoods. I believe the U.S. Congress has an opportunity right now to do something to improve our community safety by protecting the rights of honest Americans beset by violent rampages from career felons.

There's a proposal under consideration right now which claims to address how to keep criminals from purchasing handguns from licensed firearms dealers. Provisions in S.1241, the Biden Crime bill, would require a 5-day waiting period prior to the purchaser taking possession of a handgun. That 5-day waiting period is rich in symbolism and poor in substance and should be defeated.

Everyone agrees felons shouldn't be able to possess guns. But experience proves that schemes like waiting periods and bans have little impact on violent criminals. The U.S. Attorney General has confirmed that the vast majority of criminals get their guns on the black market.

That's why waiting periods and semi-automatic rifle bans fail to reduce violent crime. California, Washington, D.C., New York, Connecticut, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, and New Jersey have harsh gun laws, yet in each area the violent crime rates have failed to be reduced and, in fact, these rates have actually increased...sometimes faster than the national average.

But, if a criminal is desperate enough to try and purchase a handgun through a legitimate dealer, waiting periods will likely fail to catch him. According to the U.S. Attorney General, a waiting period—even with a background check—has only a 50-50 chance of accurately screening out felons. Waiting periods will do more to deny honest Americans access to a potential self-defense handgun. Waiting periods have virtually nothing to do with deterring felons from committing horrible and violent crimes.

The Daviess County Fish & Game Association Inc. believes there is a better way. The Instant Check system, like the one working in Virginia, Florida and Delaware, makes checks mandatory, quick and fair. It also updates our country's criminal history files making them accurate and computerized and bringing the records into the 21st century.

More needs to be done about protecting our neighborhoods, stopping illegal drug smuggling, cutting out easy prison parole and ending courtroom injustice if we want to reduce violent crime. But S.1241, with its waiting period and other restrictive gun provisions, is a sham—it addresses none of the complex questions on how to restrict criminal access of firearms by convicted felons. Only the Instant Check system, currently working in several states, effectively screens out convicted felons from purchasing handguns from legitimate dealers while protecting the rights of honest Americans purchasing handguns for protection, recreation or hunting.

In May and December 1990 and March of 1991, the Kentucky EPA analyzed the bottom ash from Medisin's incinerators located at the Highlands Regional Medical Center. The Kentucky EPA concluded that the samples were hazardous, and therefore had to be shipped out of state to a hazardous waste landfill. This was the ash that was formally going to our Floyd County Landfill. This hazardous ash had been stored for quite some time in an uncovered trash dumpster. All the time, it was washing into our ground and the creek that flows into the Big Sandy River, Medisin started covering the dumpsters when the Kentucky EPA instructed them to.

In March 1991, the Kentucky EPA took soil samples in the vicinity of Medisin's incinerators. The results show contamination in the vicinity of the hospital and the adjacent neighborhood. This is contaminated soil that will stay contaminated from the poisons that these incinerators have been burning. The only way the people in the vicinity of the incinerators and surrounding neighborhoods can safely raise vegetable gardens is for Medisin to clean up the contamination they have caused.

Is the Highlands Regional Medical Center going to build apartments for older citizens on this contaminated ground? Without any regard for the neighborhood, Highlands Regional burned medical waste on open burners for twenty years and Medisin has been burning from several counties and out of state medical waste. The hospital and Medisin Inc. has shortened the lives of all persons that has been breathing their fumes. Everyone near these incinerators is ill. They suffer from irregular heart-beat, pulmonary edema, gastrointestinal problems and rashes that is hard to cover up with even make-up. These people should be compensated for this burning of hazardous waste and the contamination of their property. These people, by all means, must be compensated for all of the years they have lived in this contaminated neighborhood. But how do you compensate a person for all of the years they have lost and their quality of life at zero?

The citizens of Floyd County and the patients at Highlands Regional Medical Center should make their doctors aware of these doctors' findings from the Kentucky EPA.

McConnell's Comments

SELL YOUR VOTE—GO TO PRISON

Recently the Senate unanimously accepted an amendment of mine to the 1991 crime bill. It signals: "If you're going to do the crime, you're going to do the time."

Just last week the Senate unanimously accepted an amendment of mine to the 1991 crime bill. It signals: "If you're going to do the crime, you're going to do the time."

I worked with the U.S. Department of Justice and the Senate Judiciary Committee to introduce the "Anti-Corruption Act of 1991"—a comprehensive law enforcement response to the problems of election fraud and public corruption.

Election fraud remains a persistent problem in Kentucky. The only way to clean up election fraud is to let the federal government intercede and give it the authority to prosecute offenders under federal law, in federal court. Federal prosecutors ought to have every available resource to stop public corruption.

This legislation will make every act of election fraud—at every level of government—a federal offense. It raises the maximum penalty for both election fraud and public corruption to 10 years in the federal penitentiary and a $10,000 fine.

This amendment simply gets back to the basics of a clean election process and a government free of corruption. It assures that anyone caught in election-day shenanigans will be facing a federal grand jury and a ticket to federal prison.

World War II veterans meet in Indiana

Forty-six years ago this summer, the soldiers of World War II in Europe were involved in occupation duty and thinking about coming home. In Inchenhofen, Germany, a small town located in the Bavarian area of Germany, men of Company I of the 39th Infantry, 9th Division had already said good-bye to some of their older buddies who were headed for home.

On July 30, 31 and August 1, a group of these veterans met at McCormick's Creek State Park, Spencer, Ind. to renew old friendships and talk about their experiences in North Africa, Sicily, England, the Cherbourg Peninsula, St. Lo, the Hurtgen Forest, the Battle of the Bulge, crossing the Rhine on the Remagen Bridge and meeting the Russians on the Elba River. There were men from thirteen different states, two were from Kentucky and one, Ralph Elkins of Allen, was from Floyd County. Messages from several more that could not attend were read and a phone call from Colonel Kent (Retired) Battalion Commander was received and several men talked to him.

For some, it was the first time they had seen their old comrades since Germany 46 years ago. A small number had met in 1988 and two of them had died since then. These old soldiers talked about their good time together and of the bad times when they lost close friends in battle. They compared their war experience with the recent war in the Gulf and how much improvement has been made in the weapons for the foot soldier.

These men remembered the logo AAA-O which was on the side of all their helmets and the bumpers of all the vehicles. The AAA-O meant Anything-Anywhere-Anytime-Bar nothing. This motto was given to the 39th Infantry, 9th Division by Colonel Harry "Patty" Flint. Colonel Flint was killed by a sniper's bullet while he was leading his men in the battle for St. Lo, France.

The thirteen men that met in Indiana plan to meet again next year and hope to add some more buddies to the next reunion. A surprising number of them looked much like they did 46 years ago except for a little less hair, a little more weight and the need for eye glasses. I guess this tells us that they are becoming the Old Soldiers that Gen. MacArthur talked about.

Kentuckians Lobby in Washington for Water Protection Act

A dozen members of Kentuckians For The Commonwealth (KFTC) joined other coalfield citizens from across the country to press the need for protection of water resources from coal mining operations in mid-July during a week of intense lobbying in Washington D.C.

The citizens asked their elected representatives to support the Coal Field Water Protection and Enforcement Act, which would require restoration or replacement of all water resources damaged by mining. It would amend the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act (SMCRA) of 1977, which coalfield residents have discovered is not strong enough to protect water supplies from coal operators.

"There are two parts (to the legislation) I think are really important: including underground mining in the regulations and stronger enforcement," said KFTC vice-chairperson Linda Brock of Knox County. "All the regulations in the world won't do us any good if there isn't any enforcement."

According to the U.S. Office of Surface Mining, state inspectors did not take enforcement action on more than 60 percent of the violations committed by coal operators in 1990. More than 40 percent of these involved water problems.

The legislation calls for coal operators who damage or destroy water resources to replace them. It places the burden of proof on mine operators so citizens would not have to pursue coal companies in lengthy and expensive court battles, as many must do now.

The bill also provides for stricter enforcement of the law, including penalties for mine inspectors who fail to carry out their duties.

"Water is a life-sustaining resource that should be protected, and the users of water should be protected," said KFTC Chairperson Daymon Morgan of Leslie County. "Water should have priority over coal or anything else that pollutes it."

"Rivers and creeks have turned orange, brown and black, stopped flowing and become so heavily polluted with invisible chemicals they are unsafe for humans and animals," said Harlan County KFTC member Hazel King.

Many of the citizen lobbyists brought "props" to show legislators how the water problems were affecting them personally. Brock brought a jar of water from a new well her family paid $3,000 for after their first well was ruined by mining. Despite having been filtered, the water was unfit for drinking, bathing or laundry.

King brought heating elements from her hot water heater that had been corroded by the water. Evelyn Williams of Knott County brought laundry turned orange by her water. She's had to buy four washing machines since 1980.

"They say, 'What you don't know, don't hurt you.' I say, 'What you don't know kills you,'" Williams said.

The KFTC members joined citizens from 11 states and the Navajo Nation during the Lobby Week, which was sponsored by the Citizens Coal Council, a coalition of grassroots organizations around the country, including KFTC. The citizen lobbyists were well-received by the legislators and congressional staff they visited.

"We had a much more positive response than I'd anticipated. We've got really solid groundwork laid," said Aloma Burke of Pike County.

"Some legislators were shocked by the pictures and samples people showed them," KFTC student intern Sherry Hall of Knott County said. "I don't know if that will override the political alliances, but I think they were really affected by people's stories and realized that some practices were unjust."

The KFTC lobbyists met with Representative William Natcher and staff members of the rest of the Kentucky Congressional delegation. None gave any commitment to the bill, and the lobbyists will follow up with phone calls and letters.

One benefit of the Lobby Week was that people got a chance to hear about the water problems in other areas of the country. Many of the problems are the same, which is one reason to push for federal legislation that will apply to everyone.

Some areas, however, have problems different from those in Kentucky. In Montana, for example, where land is used primarily for ranching and rainfall totals only 10 to 18 inches a year, "water is the limiting resource," said Paul Reichert of Montana. If water sources are destroyed, ranchers can't afford to bring in bottled water for their cattle.

The KFTC members who lobbied in Washington thought the lobby week was a good start towards passing the Coal Field Water Protection and Enforcement Act.

"I'm pleased to see this number of people gathered to work on this bill," said Brock.

"I think we definitely got their attention," added Morgan. "We should continue to put pressure on."

Information about the Coal Field Water Protection and Enforcement Act is available from Kentuckians For The Commonwealth, P.O. Box 864, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

State Fair promises summer fun

Kentuckians have a chance to participate in an ancient tradition this August - the Kentucky State Fair. Although the commonwealth's tradition originated in 1816 and wasn't the same sort of fair we know today until 1902, fairs have been around since history was first recorded.

Many ancient fairs began as religious festivals. Later there were harvest celebrations that eventually evolved into trade fairs.

In Kentucky, fairs have traditionally been associated with livestock. Local fairs began as cooperative sheep-shearings where farmers gathered to collect wool.

The first statewide fair in Kentucky was organized by Colonel Lewis Sanders in 1816. He offered eight silver cup prizes for livestock and one cup for the best piece of cloth.

Eventually fairs began to be sponsored by organizations rather than individuals. In 1853 the Southwestern Agricultural and Mechanical Association sponsored a statewide fair in Louisville's Crescent Hill area.

In 1856, the state began to appropriate funds for a statewide fair, but success was sporadic. The Civil War further suspended fair activities. It wasn't until the turn of the century that local events began to thrive and a lobby was made to initiate a new statewide event.

In 1902, the first official state fair as we know it today was held at Churchill Downs in Louisville. But even since then, there have been plenty of changes.

Baby contests began as "baby health" contests. Babies were passed down a line of doctors and nurses for complete physical examinations and tested for alertness and response.

Points scored in each test were totaled to determine the winners.

Other attractions weren't as wholesome - at one fair the apple-cider man was asked to leave the midway because his cider had turned. Another act, the "Wild Girl," was also asked to leave.

Perhaps the biggest reform was when professional gamblers were banned from the fair in 1948. Chicago gamblers threatened fair manager J.O. Matlick and the FBI was notified. Another gambler went to Matlick's office to offer him a bribe and was chased out of the building with a chair.

Gov. Earl C. Clements sent in a special detail of state policemen to take care of the gamblers and threatened to cancel the fair.

The state police have never been able to take care of the weather, however. In 1913, a severe drought threatened to cancel the fair. But, in fact, it rained every day of the fair.

This year's fair promises to be memorable, too, with events like the World Championship Horse Show and stars like the Oak Ridge Boys, Hank Williams, Jr., Randy Travis, George Strait and Sheena Easton. With family fun at Kentucky Kingdom Amusement Park, the 1991 Kentucky State Fair has something to offer everyone. To find out more about the Kentucky State Fair call (502) 366-9592.

Billions available for home repair grants, loans

Most homeowners are unaware that regardless of their income there are federal, state and local programs that will help them repair and remodel their homes.

Government at all levels recognizes that neighborhoods are the basis of life in our country. When a neighborhood deteriorates, many things happen both physically and socially. Homes that are shabby seem to make a neighborhood more attractive to crime and criminals. An area in decline is like a spreading cancer. As homes become rundown and in need of maintenance, the residents lose their desire to keep up the neighborhood. Streets become receptacles for trash, schools lower their standards and, very quickly, the selling price of homes in the area drops sharply. This accelerates the cycle of degeneration.

In order to keep and maintain the nation's housing and neighborhoods, government at all levels have programs to give homeowners money that does not have to be repaid for repairs or to lend them money at below market levels or at no interest. In many areas, utility companies will do energy conservation work free or at low cost and in other places will lend homeowners money at no interest to pay the contractor of their choice for the necessary work. In addition there are tax incentives to promote efficient energy use.

These programs are not restricted to low-income people, slum areas or urban neighborhoods. Owners of single or multi-family dwellings are eligible for some programs regardless of income. Most of the loans offer long terms and low payments.

Some of the other home improvements covered under these programs are: attic and wall insulation, new windows, outerwall siding, security doors and locks, window guards, sidewalks and masonry work, bathrooms and kitchens, electrical and plumbing work, new roofs, gutters or downspouts.

Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group, has just published Consumer's Guide to Home Repair Grants and Subsidized Loans, a 208-page book which lists over 8,500 sources of loan and grant programs offered by all levels of government, utility companies and others, typical programs offered and eligibility requirements. Form letters for inquiries to these loan and grant sources are included as well as detailed instructions on determining your debt-to-income ratio for eligibility. The book can be obtained for $1.95 plus $2 shipping and handling from CERC Grants, 350 Scotland Road, Orange, NJ 07050 or by calling 1-800-USA-0121 for credit card orders.

Since it is important that the work be done properly, the book also describes in detail how to pick a reputable contractor, negotiate a contract and insure that work is done properly and for a fair price.

Pot strike force reports success

Thousands of marijuana plants are falling daily across the Commonwealth, thanks to the eradication efforts of the Governor's Marijuana Strike Force. As of July 26, 311,752 marijuana plants have been reported destroyed in Kentucky since January 1, and 118 alleged growers have been arrested. Those figures represent an increase of 185,971 plants destroyed and 57 alleged growers arrested in the past two weeks.

The strike force has been very successful locally as well. Since the beginning of the year, the Strike Force has destroyed 67,536 plants and made seven arrests in the Big Sandy area, which includes Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties. In Floyd County alone, 61,535 plants have been destroyed and two arrests have been made.

"There are several reasons for this dramatic rise," said Gary Faulkner, Chairman of the Governor's Marijuana Strike Force Committee. "I think the time invested in preparing for this year's eradication season last fall, winter, and spring is paying off now. The cooperation shown daily by personnel from all 15 participating agencies is an another important factor." Faulkner said he expects tips to the newly-installed Strike Force citizen's hotline, 1-800-DOPE-TIP, to help continue the success.

"We're keeping the pressure on the people who insist on breaking the law and growing marijuana, and we will continue to do so as long as marijuana is found in Kentucky," Faulkner added.

Participating Strike Force agencies include: Civil Air Patrol; Federal Bureau of Investigation; Governor's Office For A Drug-Free Kentucky; Kentucky Association of Chief's of Police; Kentucky Attorney General's Office; Kentucky Division of Water Patrol; Kentucky National Guard; Kentucky Sheriff's Association; Kentucky State Police; National Park Service; U.S. Attorney's Office, Eastern and Western Districts of Kentucky; U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration and the U.S. Forestry Service.

Easter Seals workers are acting locally

Local residents will be conducting their annual door-to-door collection drive on behalf of the Kentucky Easter Seal Society now through August 31. The funds collected by these volunteers support the many direct service facilities which the Easter Seal Society operates throughout the state for people with many types of disabilities.

For five of the last six consecutive years, the Kentucky Easter Seal Society has been ranked as one of the top Easter Seal affiliates nationwide. This honor is based on scope of services to the disabled, administrative excellence, and low fund raising costs. According to the Society, fund raising costs are low due to the efforts of dedicated volunteers such as the door-to-door collectors. The Society is hopeful that area residents will generously support these local volunteers when they call at their homes.

Residents of this area can receive Easter Seal services at any of the six Easter Seal centers located throughout the state. The Society's rehabilitation services help children and adults overcome their physical disabilities resulting from birth defects, traumatic accidents and debilitating diseases.

The first federal legislation to provide unemployment insurance and old-age benefits was the federal Social Security Act passed in 1935, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Extension Service News

LATE SUMMER IS TIME TO ADD BEARDED IRIS TO YOUR GARDEN

Prepare now for a rainbow of blossoms next spring by planting bearded iris.

"July and August are the months in which you can plant — or divide — bearded irises," said Mary Witt, Extension horticulturist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Bearded irises need plenty of sun and a well drained soil to make them successful.

"If your soil is poorly drained or very rich, you might want to try Siberian, butterfly iris or yellow flag since each of these varieties can do better under such conditions than bearded iris," she said.

In preparing beds for bearded iris, work the soil fairly deep with a fertilizer low in nitrogen, such as 5-10-10. Well decomposed cow manure incorporated into the soil will increase the fertility of the soil and its tilth.

When you are ready to plant, dig two shallow holes, leaving a dividing ridge in the center; place the rhizome directly over the center of the ridge and spread the roots to each side. Cover with soil, but be sure the rhizome is within reach of the sun's rays. The rhizome should be placed just below the soil surface so the top 5 to 10 percent is exposed to the sun. Firm the soil around each rhizome and water to settle the soil. Refirm if necessary after the soil has settled.

"Applying mulches such as straw, leaves or pine needles is a good practice. They discourage weed growth and help prevent compaction of the soil by rain," shed.

She cautioned that a heavy mulch may be detrimental in rainy weather or over poorly drained soils since it may help favor soft rot diseases of the rhizomes.

Come next spring, remove all dead leaves and apply a handful of fertilizer over each clump. And after bloom, remove spent bloomstalks to the ground to give more space for younger fans. An extra feeding and watering until midsummer will help maintain irises in good growing conditions.

Global Warming:

Analyzing the controversy

by Robert Perry
Assistant Professor of English
Prestonsburg Community College

How seriously should we take the threat of global warming? By this time, most of us have read the dire predictions and shivered through—or rather, sweated through—the scare scenarios. Now it's time for a cool assessment of the facts. In this essay I would like to review the evidence for global warming in a calm and objective manner.

In a world of specialists, the generalist is always suspect. Therefore, let me say at the outset that the facts in this essay are taken from Bill McKibben's "The End of Nature" (Random House, 1989); Michael Oppenheimer's and Robert Boyle's "Dead Heat: The Race Against the Greenhouse Effect" (Basic Books, Inc., 1990); Gary McCuen's "Ending War Against the Earth" (Gem Publications Inc. 1991); Christopher Flavin's "Slowing Global Warming: A Worldwide Strategy" (Worldwatch Institute 1989), Constance Mungall's and Digby McLaren's "Planet Under Stress" (Oxford University Press, 1990); and Charles Bazerman's "The Informed Reader" (Houghton Mifflin 1989). The titles themselves tell the story.

Facts are powerful persuaders. Sometimes a well-placed fact, delivered with a minimum of fanfare, can penetrate the mind's defenses and cause it to revise its operating premises. Here's a fact which startled me during my research for this essay. According to William S. Fyfe, professor of geology at the University of Western Ontario, "new data from the Arctic shows that the sea ice near the pole is thinning rapidly, as much as forty percent since 1976" (Mungall & McLaren 17).

Let's start at the beginning. What is the global warming hypothesis? To put it in layman's terms, it is the theory that pollution from automobiles, power plants, refineries, feed lots and other man-made sources is causing the Earth's climate to get warmer. To put it more scientifically, the hypothesis proposes that "greenhouse gases"—water vapor, carbon dioxide, methane, nitrous oxide and chlorofluorocarbon—are trapping the sun's heat in the Earth's atmosphere in the same way that glass traps solar radiation inside a greenhouse. However, as any student of logic will tell you, all analogies are false, and the greenhouse metaphor is a crude simplification of the actual physical processes involved.

The hypothesis was first proposed by Svante Arrhenius in 1896. Knowing that carbon dioxide molecules absorb solar radiation that would otherwise be reflected back into space, he calculated that a doubling of carbon dioxide concentrations from their preindustrial levels would raise the average global temperature by 4° Celsius, or nine degrees Fahrenheit.

Four greenhouse gases—water vapor, carbon dioxide, methane, and nitrous oxide—have always been present in the atmosphere, because they are part of the metabolic cycle that sustains all life. The fifth gas, chlorofluorocarbon, is a man-made gas which is used as a refrigerant, solvent and blowing agent for foam plastics. Scientists estimate that one molecule of chlorofluorocarbon can absorb solar radiation 15,000 times as efficiently as carbon dioxide (Flavin 13). Furthermore, CFCs can survive in the atmosphere for as long as a century.

Since water molecules absorb heat, water vapor is considered a greenhouse gas. Furthermore, the amount of water vapor (clouds) in the Earth's atmosphere is thirty times that of carbon dioxide (Oppenheimer & Boyle 26).

Collectively, these gases act as an insulating blanket around the planet. Except for chlorofluorocarbon, which destroys stratospheric ozone, they are beneficial to life as long as they remain at low levels of concentration. In fact, scientists estimate that if our atmosphere contained no greenhouse gases whatsoever, the Earth's surface would be more than 30 degrees colder (Mungall & McLaren 51). Moreover, carbon dioxide is essential for life, because it is an important nutrient for plants.

The trouble starts when levels of concentration begin rising. One group of facts supporting the global warming theory has to do with the changing composition of the Earth's atmosphere. Scientists know from their measurements that over the past 150 years, a period during which industrialization and deforestation changed the face of the planet, the Earth's atmosphere underwent a substantial change. While nitrogen and oxygen are still the main constituents, other gases have been building steadily. Carbon dioxide, produced by the burning of fossil fuels, wood and other materials, has risen 25 percent; nitrous oxide, produced by applying ammonium or nitrate fertilizer to soil, has risen 19 percent; chlorofluorocarbon, which was invented by chemist Thomas Midgley in the early 1930s, is rising at an annual rate of 5 percent (Flavin 6, 13).

Since 1958, Charles Keeling has been measuring carbon dioxide levels in the atmosphere at his measuring station on the Hawaiian volcano of Mauna Loa. In the period between 1958 and 1989, carbon dioxide concentrations at this site rose at a steady rate—from 315 parts per million to 351 (Flavin 11).

One of the most fascinating areas of research in recent years has been the study of ice core samples from the Arctic and Antarctic ice caps. On these caps, ice has been building up steadily over thousands of years. When snow falls on them, air is trapped between the flakes, and when the flakes are compacted into ice, this air is preserved in bubbles (Oppenheimer & Boyle 26). By drilling core samples of this ice and measuring the chemical composition of the air trapped inside its bubbles, scientists have determined that in preindustrial times the level of carbon dioxide concentration in the Earth's atmosphere was 280 parts per million or less. When we combine this finding with Charles Keeling's measurements, we can calculate that since the dawn of the industrial age—about 1800 A.D.—carbon dioxide levels have increased from 280 parts per million to 351, an increase of 25 percent.

Several years ago, a 2,083 meter-long ice core was taken from the Antarctic ice cap at the Soviet station of Vostok in East Antarctica. A team of French and Soviet scientists recently completed an analysis of this core. The information in it extends back 160,000 years, through the last ice age and the warm period which preceded it, to a previous ice age before that. The core revealed that over this vast period of time, carbon dioxide levels fluctuated between 175 parts per million and 280 parts per million. Levels were highest during warm periods and lowest during cold periods. Temperature levels during the last 160,000 years fluctuated between 2° Celsius warmer than today's climate and 10°C colder. In other words, during the peak of the last interglacial period, about 125,000 years ago, the Earth was two degrees warmer than it is today (Mungall & McLaren 112).

The first supplementary unemployment benefits were gained in 1955 by the United Auto Workers, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Treatment rids legs of unsightly "spider" veins

Varicose and "spider" veins have plagued and embarrassed women for years and only surgery could cure the problem.

However, a simple treatment used at the University of Louisville is helping women get rid of the unsightly purple Service lines and bulges. Dermatologist Carol Kulp-Shorten injects a chemical into the veins that makes them collapse and disappear.

The treatment, called sclerotherapy, is less expensive. It also allows women to resume normal activity by wearing elastic bandages and support hose following each half-hour session.

BIG SANDY SWIM MEET DESERVES OUR APPLAUSE

Steve Cummings, founder and director of the Big Sandy Swimmers Association, along with all the volunteers that helped out this year deserves the applause of all Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin countians. What a tremendous job they did in handling the recent championship swim meet at the Paintsville pool Saturday. Everything went so smooth and there were the minimum delays.

Cummings founded the league that got started last year. Since then it has grown immensely this year. Plans are being made for further growth next season when two other counties could possibly join in.

It was exciting to watch the swimmers from eight-years old up to 18 compete. It is to bad we don't have high school swim teams in Floyd County for these young and upcoming swim stars to take part in. The indoor pool at Allen Central could be used to hold meets in and would be just like track and field — an individual sport.

The swimmers really give all they have and they want to win so bad for their team. Some very good swimmers are among the many in the league. Colleen Murphy of Paintsville could use her swimming ability to go to some college later once she is out of school. Eight-year old Ashleigh Greene and Amy Tackett of Floyd County have a good future in the water sport as has many others.

I was surprised — and I don't know why I should have been — by the huge turnout for such a short time sport. The season needs to be longer, but I guess that has to do with when school is out and starts back.

The Jenny Wiley Waves were the regular season champions going undefeated until Paintsville won the championship meet.

PETE GREENE HEADS FOR MAGOFFIN COUNTY

It has been reported that former Prestonsburg, Union College stand-out Pete Greene will assume head football coaching duties at Magoffin County High School this coming football season, which is less than a month away. Greene takes over the reins of Chuke Williams who will just teach this year.

Greene, although new to the coaching ranks, will bring a lot of playing experience to the Magoffin County school. We wish Coach Greene the best at the Salyersville school.

BETSY LAYNE FOOTBALL COACH TO BE SELECTED BY SITE BASE DECISION MAKING COUNCIL

While everyone is waiting for the school board to name a new head football coach for Betsy Layne High School, the school board is waiting on the Site Base Decision Making Council to make their decision on who the new coach will be. This, according to Floyd County School Superintendent Ron Hager. Hager said that once the decision is made it is passed on to him for hiring.

JASON BLANTON IN JAIL!

I got a phone call from Jason Blanton, Sports Director for WSIP radio in Paintsville, and he was about to go to jail if he did not raise $300. So, Jason was calling all his sports connections for a donation to help keep him out of jail. We, did commit to give but we don't if the "nervous" Jason stayed out or not.

Blanton, who had family members pass away with cancer, was taking part in helping raise money for the American Cancer Association. "I always try to help out all that I can to raise money for the association," he said, "and I try and go over to WMYT-TV and help with their telethon also."

I think Rick Bentley and Norm Marcum wanted to donate so they would keep him. Nah, not those two!

CARD FROM THE "FLASH"
I got a nice card from Joe Back, the once popular everything in Floyd County. The "Flash" misses the Floyd County area. I for one would sure like to see Back flash back to Floyd County where he belongs. Joe, basketball season is not that far away so you had better hustle on back.

Until Friday, good sports everyone!

Singing Copperheads, Rattlesnakes All in A Row

"If you go to the lake area, and you are around some rocky places, you had better be careful, you just might encounter some cooperheads and rattle snakes," said Ronnie Halbert who works for Columbia Gas. Halbert and Don Bays were in the lake area cutting a right of way when Halbert noticed something by a rock.

"I looked and there a copperhead had his head sticking out," explained Halbert. "We'd kill one and then there would be another one. So, we took the winch we had on our truck and hooked a cable around it and pulled (the rock) up enough so that we could see under the rock and there was a bunch of them underneath it."

What Halbert and Bays did not expect to see was the presence of rattlesnakes also — five of them to be exact. When the final kill was made, it totaled four copperheads and five rattlesnakes. The largest rattlesnake measured 43-inches long.

"We killed them up around Arrow Point," said Halbert who said that fear never entered in. "I just wanted to kill every one of them because of the danger they present. One copperhead did get away from us though."

Snakes alive - no, dead!

Rattlers and copperheads mixed! Ronnie Halbert and Don Bays photographed these creatures after they spent over an hour killing them. Five rattlers and four copperheads were found under one rock in the lake area.

Paintsville/JC Piranhas Win Big Sandy Swim Meet By Edging JW Waves' team

"Pull, pull, pull." "Keep your head back, pull, pull." "Open your eyes, open them now." What has all this got to do with swimming?

Plenty if you were at the Big Sandy Swimming Association Championship Swim Meet last Saturday at the Paintsville pool. Numerous swimmers, representing four teams, were being encouraged on by coaches, family, friends and just interested fans as the Magoffin County Sharks, Paintsville/Johnson County Piranhas, Jenny Wiley Waves and Martin County Stingrays came together to top off the regular season with a championship meet. A crowd estimated between 350 and 400 looked on under the bright skies and sweltering heat.

It was the Piranhas of Paintsville/Johnson County edging the Jenny Wiley Waves by a very close score of 495 to 481.5. It was the first meet the Waves have lost this season.

There were 62 events in the meet that took over six hours to complete. It was excitement all the way as the score stayed close between the two power houses of the Big Sandy Association. After the first 12 events Paintsville/Johnson County held a 22 point bulge at 76-54. The margin came when the Piranhas outscored the Waves 13-6 in the eight and under boys medley relays.

The Piranhas slowly extended their advantage by 49 points (176-127) after the completion of the individual freestyle. Magoffin County, a first year team, led Martin County for third place at 75-64 after the first 22 events. After the disqualification adjustments, Paintsville/Johnson County held a 182-138 lead.

The next event was the individual backstroke and it was here that Jenny Wiley began to make their move and close the gap. After the backstroke competition, the Waves trailed the Piranhas 265 to 235.5. The Sharks were still leading the Stingrays 131 to 102.5.

The meet began to tighten up even more following the competition in the individual breaststroke as Jenny Wiley outscored Paintsville/Johnson County 89-74 in the event to pull to within 339 to 324.5.

Jenny Wiley came back and outswam the Piranhas in the individual butterfly to cut the advantage to 427.5 to 421 for Paintsville/Johnson County. Jenny Wiley outscored the Piranhas 14-0 in the 10 and under girls individual butterfly. Amy Tackett outdistanced all swimmers with a time of :27.12 for first place. Ashleigh Green was second at :28.19. Emily Salyers of Paintsville/Johnson County too third at :31.88.

Another event that the Waves picked up ground was in the 14 and under boys individual butterfly. The race covered a distance of 50 yards

Before the four teams took a 10 minute break, swim director Steve Cummings announced the standings and reminded the two teams battling for the number one spot that the winner of the next event (freestyle relay) would be the winner of the meet.

Paintsville/Johnson County won five of the 10 final events to take the meet's championship. Jenny Wiley won three of the final ten, with Martin County winning once and Magoffin County taking first in the 18 and under boys freestyle relay.

"I was real happy with the way things went this year," said Cummings of the championship meet. "It really is the first true championship meet we have had."

Cummings pointed out that the league could expand to six teams by next year. "We looking for Lawrence County and possibly Pike County joining us next year," he said. "A

Worldwide Appreciation Days:

UK's Coach Bill Curry Gains Worldwide Attention

After talking with UK's coach Bill Curry Saturday at Worldwide Equipment's second annual Customer Appreciation Days, Floyd County sports watchers are expecting great things from the University of Kentucky's football program.

Described as a strong family man (Coach Curry and his wife will soon be celebrating their 29th wedding anniversary), Coach Curry's goal is to fill UK slots with as many Kentucky players as he can recruit. Curry said he wants home-grown players to fill the ranks of UK football. He expressed optimism about the university's upcoming season, and told UK fans to expect to see freshmen playing an important role on the turf.

Worldwide Equipment's vice president, Ron Hooker, described Curry as a "class act." Hooker said Curry is a "quality person who will want quality people around him."

Hooker said Curry was excited about the opportunity to travel through Kentucky and meet with the fans one on one. "He responded real strong to customers and talked to each one, asking their names and expressing interest in them," Hooker said.

Terry Dotson, president of Worldwide, agreed, saying he is a big fan of Coach Curry. "Kentucky has made great strides under Clayborne; Curry will expound on that," Dotson said.

"Curry has his priorities in order. He realizes very few people make the NFL. He will help these young men grow to take a part in society," he said. "His purpose is to develop young boys into young men to give something back to the community."

"He's a uniquely caring individual," Dotson said.

The large crowd of approximately 3,000 people could not help but respond to Curry's firm handshake and heartwarming smile. Curry autographed footballs and photographs. Someone even showed up with a football card depicting Curry's days with the Green Bay Packers which he signed.

The event drew people from all walks of life — one of the purposes of the appreciation day. Independent truckers, coal company owners, customers with large fleets of trucks, UK fans and moms and dads with their children in tow were able to attend, said Hooker. The event also brought in many local and state officials including Congressman Chris Perkins, Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta and Pikeville Mayor Walter May.

Dotson said Worldwide held the event each year to put something back into an area that has given a lot to the company. "We get the pleasure of seeing young people meeting some football coaches. A lot of people don't know we're here. We want people in the community to know we appreciate the people here," Dotson said. Worldwide, which estimates its sales at $80-100 million, is based in Floyd County.

representative from Lawrence County was at Paintsville to take a look-see at our meet. There is a lot of interest in Pike County about next season."

This was the first year for Magoffin County and coach Becky Lyons. The Sharks finished a surprising third in the meet and a lot has been contributed to the expertise offered by Lyons.

"She swam for the University of Kentucky swim team," said Cummings, "and has added a lot to the first year program."

Over 230 swimmers were involved in the Big Sandy Swim Association's season and according to Cummings, it just now beginning to be recognized as a sport.

"When the it was announced that the Piranhas had beaten the Jenny Wiley Waves, they cheered," he explained, "they are realizing that it is a sport." Cummings says that next year will be an even bigger year for the swim league with more coaches coming in to teach the swimmers how to compete.

"Each team will become more competitive and will train harder and have more workouts. It is better when you compete against tough competition."

An All-Star team was selected after the swim meet with the top three finishers in each event being named.

Named to the team were: Ashley Greene and Amy Tackett, Jenny Wiley Waves, Emily Salyer, P/JC; Stokes Lyon, Magoffin County; Chuck Hicks and Michael Stafford, P/JC; Rebekah Frazier, Magoffin County; Meredith Jarvis, Jenny Wiley; Ashley Patrick, Magoffin County.

Travis Allen, Magoffin County; Stephen Jurich and Robbie Holbrook, Jenny Wiley; Alice Cook, Nicole Nelson, P/JC; Kelli Newsome, Jenny Wiley; Robbie Abrams, P/JC; Shawn Allen and David Ward, Magoffin County.

The Big Sandy Swimming Association All-Stars will travel to Ashland on August 13 for a meet against the Ashland Aquabears. The meet will be held at the Paul Blazer High School pool and will begin at 6:30 p.m.

"With the kids traveling to Ashland for the All-Star meet, it will give them a chance to see a "hand touch" timing system, something we hope to use next year," said Cummings.

about the people and the beauty of Eastern Kentucky."

After a drive through Jenny Wiley State Park, Curry said the area reminded him of places he had visited in Scotland.

Curry plans to put down roots in Kentucky, telling Dotson this was "the finest place he'd ever lived because the people here had made in feel very much at home." Unless something unforeseen happens, Curry said this was his last move. He has found his niche on the gridiron of Kentucky's football future.

"We live here, buy here, sell here and do business here," Dotson said.

The company is 100 percent owned and operated by its employees. Hooker expressed his appreciation of the approximately 50 employees who volunteered their time to flip hamburgers, work booths, pick up the trash, greet customers and build parts at display booths.

Roberts Places 2nd In Martin Co. Fair 5K Run; 4th In Moonlight

Rick Roberts had a busy weekend as he ran two races on back to back days. Roberts placed fourth in the Moonlight Two-Mile Road Race in Corbin this past Friday with a time of 10:50. Roberts placed fourth behind Jeff Tipton of Gray who posted a 9:56. Second place finisher Joe Barker held Terry Lee and Roberts at bay with a 10:30 finish as Lee recorded a 10:41. Roberts was second in his age group of 35-39 years old.

Of the 182 entrants, West Van Lear's Mark Tuttle finished in 14:03, good for 68th overall. His brother Marvin finished 69th in 14:03 also. Both brothers won awards in their age groups. Trudy Tuttle finished in 19:36, 144th overall.

In the seventh annual Martin County Fair 5K Run at Inez on Saturday, Martin Bess of Maysville pulled away from an injured Roberts to post a 16:40 victory against Roberts' second place time of 18:25. Ironically, Roberts holds the third best time on the course with a 16:04 in his 1984 second place finish. Charlene Endicott won the women's title in 36:42.

Think heart disease only affects the elderly? Think again. Each year about 175,000 Americans under age 65 die of cardiovascular diseases, according to the American Heart Association.

WMDJ VS BIG SANDY INSURANCE

Big Sandy Insurance scored two runs in the second inning and held off the WMDJ radio team 2-1 in softball tournament action at Archer Park last week. Both runs scored with one out in the inning.

WMDJ avoided the shut out with their only run in the fourth inning. WMDJ had two runners on base in the bottom of the seventh inning with two outs, but failed to rally for the win. In the second, with two runners on base and just one out, WMDJ was unable to capitalize.

HEINISCH PHARMACY VS PIKE CO. COAL

Heinisch Pharmacy scored three runs in the third inning and pushed across two in the fifth to hold off Pike County Coal and record a 9-7 victory in the Class C & D softball tournament at Archer Park.

With the scored tied at 1-1, Heinisch Pharmacy took a 2-1 lead with a run in the top of the second inning. Pike County Coal struck for three in their half of the inning for a 4-2 game. The three runs came after the first two batters were retired. Six consecutive hits accounted for the three runs.

Heinisch Pharmacy took a 5-4 lead with three runs in the third inning. Dicky Stumbo, Brian Turner and Terry Tuttle dented the plate in the inning for Heinisch.

Pike County Coal tied the score in the bottom of the fourth on a double by M. Blevins and a single by D. Coleman.

Heinisch took the lead for good with a two run fifth and seventh as Pike County Coal scored their final two runs in the bottom of the fifth on a two-run triple by P. Bentley.

BIG SANDY INSURANCE VS PRUITT TRUCKING

With one strike against them without having played a game, Pruitt Trucking kept their playoff hopes alive with a 13-8 win over Big Sandy Insurance. Pruitt, because of a time mix up, was forced to forfeit their first game of the tournament last week and that dropped them into the loser's bracket.

Pruitt scored four runs in the seventh inning to break open a close game. Leading 9-8 going into the seventh, three straight singles accounted for one run and with two out, Pruitt scored twice on a two-run double.

Big Sandy did all their scoring in the second and fifth innings when they scored four times in each. Nine batters went to the plate in the second inning for Big Sandy Insurance. Wallace, Greene, Vicars and Risner all reached base and scored before the first out was recorded. Again in the fifth, four runs crossed the plate with two men out.

AA&W VS LOWES

Lowe's got no mercy from AA&W in a 22-6 blowout in softball action at Archer Park. AA&W scored seven times in the sixth inning enroute to the lopsided win. J. Little had a sixth inning two-run home run. Pigg, Bentley and Bowling had doubles in the frame.

AA&W scored six runs in the second inning to take a 6-2 lead after Lowe's led briefly at 2-0. AA&W scored six more in the third inning as Lowe's struggled to reach base.

Lowe's scored two runs in each of the first, third and fifth innings. B. Bentley had a double for the losers.

WMDJ VS PRUITT TRUCKING

WMDJ eliminated Pruitt Trucking from further competition as they posted a 6-4 win over the once beaten trucking team.

Pruitt Trucking scored all four of their runs in the fourth inning to tie the game at 4-4. WMDJ reclaimed the lead with a run in the fourth inning and added an insurance run in the sixth.

With one out in the first for WMDJ,

Howard singled and scored on Ratliff's double. Ratliff came across the plate on West's two-bagger.

In the third, Ratliff was safe on an error and West singled with both runners coming around on a triple by Hall.

Dale McKinney scored the go ahead run in the fifth for WMDJ on a base hit and a single by Miller.

REBELS VS PIKE COUNTY COAL

The Rebels let out a Rebel "yell" when they scored a run in the bottom of the seventh inning to defeat Pike County Coal 3-2 in a close one at Archer Park.

The Rebels loaded the bases in the bottom of the frame on a base hit, double and a walk. A ground ball to second forced the runner coming in from third for the first out. The next batter then lined a base hit to send the winning run home for the Rebels.

Pike County Coal had tied the score at 2-2 in the bottom of the sixth inning after trailing 2-0 for most of the game. A walk and three base hits in the inning gave Pike County Coal the two runs.

The Rebels jumped out in front 2-0 with two runs in the third inning. Two errors opened the door for the two unearned runs.

LOWES VS WMDJ

WMDJ held off Lowe's and edged the lumber boys 8-7 in the double elimination tournament at Archer Park. WMDJ held a 8-3 lead going into the top of the seventh. Singles by Dean Jones and Jeff Rowe put two runners on with no one out. B.J. Belcher grounded out to second and Brian Bentley singled home Jones, and Rowe scored on Joey Lawson's base hit. Greg Newsome singled home Bentley, and Lawson crossed the plate on an error at first base. The rally fell short as WMDJ held on.

HEINISCH PHARMACY VS NASTY BOYS

The Nasty Boys weren't so nasty as they dropped a 13-0 mercy game to Heinisch Pharmacy at Archer Park last week. Heinisch scored nine times in the second inning for a 10-0 lead. Dicky Stumbo had a three hit night for Heinisch. Rick Caudill picked up two hits for Heinisch as did Stevie Ward and Thomas Meade. Ward had a double and triple for the winners. Meade collected two triples.

Actually, Heinisch scored all the runs they needed in the first inning when Robbie Fraley homered for a 1-0 lead.

Heinisch retired the first 11 batters they faced until John Mills singled in the fourth.

CENTRAL FINANCE VS BIG SANDY PEST CONTROL

Big Sandy Pest Control took care of the pesky Central Finance softball team 3-2 in tournament action at Archer Park last week. Big Sandy scored three runs in the first inning and made it stand up in their one-run victory. Central Finance scored a single run in the fourth inning and their second run in the fifth. Central put two runners on in the seventh but was unable to score.

GOBLE SIGNS VS AA&W REBELS

The AA&W Rebels went down to defeat 7-5 at the hands of Goble Signs, as the winning team scored five runs in the fourth inning on four base hits and an error and posted the win.

Webb tripled for Goble Signs in their five-run fourth. Goble had two hits in the game including a third-inning double.

The Rebels scored three runs in the sixth in a come back bid to make it a 6-5 game.

REGINA MINE SUPPLY VS KERR'S HEATING

A eight run second was all that Regina Mine Supply needed as they had an easy time with Kerr's Heating in a 11-4 win in softball play last week.

Kerr's Heating scored three runs in the first inning for a 3-0 lead, but the lead was short lived after the eight-run second.

PIKE COUNTY COAL VS GREG SPORT

Pike County Coal posted a 10-2 win over Greg Sport last week at Archer Park. Pike County Coal scored five runs in the third and three in the fifth to seal the victory.

Greg Sport scored their two runs in the fourth inning as they only collected three hits for the contest.

PRUITT TRUCKING VS B & B CUSTOMS

In no contest, Pruitt Trucking ran over B & B Customs 29-1. Pruitt Trucking scored eight runs in the second inning and six in each of the first and third innings as they mercied B & B Customs.

BAD BOYS VS KERNS HEATING

Kerns scored seven runs in the fifth inning to erase a 3-1 Bad Boys lead and posted a 10-3 win in tournament play.

The Bad Boys held a 3-2 lead through four innings. Ten batters went to the plate for Kerns in the fifth inning.

PRUITT TRUCKING VS SARTIN COAL

Pruitt Trucking had an easy time with Sartin Coal in a 10-1 win in tournament play at Archer Park last week. A six-run fourth, added to a 4-0 lead, gave Pruitt Trucking its lead. Sartin Coal scored their only run in the fourth inning.

BOB'S SPORTS VS GREG'S SPORTS

Bob's Sports won the battle of sport shops as they posted a 12-2 win over Greg's Sports at Archer Park. An eight-run third for Bob's was all they needed to put the victory in the win column.

WMDJ VS REGINA MINE

In extra innings, WMDJ defeated Regina Mine 7-6 to move on in softball tournament play last week. WMDJ scored a run in the bottom of the ninth inning to snap a 6-6 tie and give Regina Mines the loss. Miller scored the winning run for WMDJ after leading off the inning with a base hit. Singles by Howard and West scored Miller.

WMDJ had taken a 6-4 lead by scoring four runs in the sixth inning. Regina Mine tied the game at 6-6 with two in the seventh. WMDJ put a runner on in the bottom of the seventh but couldn't bring him around as the game went to extra innings.

HEINISCH PHARMACY VS GOBLE'S SIGNS

Heinisch Pharmacy defeated Goble Signs 9-4 as they moved closer to the finals of the Class C & D softball tournament at Archer Park. Heinisch scored four times in the fourth inning and added three runs in the bottom of the sixth to claim their fifth win in the double elimination tournament.

Goble Signs scored single runs in each of the first, fourth, fifth and seventh innings.

Gene Tackett had three hits for Heinisch. Dicky Stumbo, Brian Turner, Stevie Ward and Thomas Meade all collected two hits each. Robbie Fraley had a fourth inning two-run triple.

BIG SANDY VS GOBLE SIGNS

Goble Signs pulled off an inning ending double play and went on to post a 14-13 win over the Big Sandy Insurance Company in the losers bracket of the Class C & D softball tournament last week.

In the high scoring affair, Johnson reached first for Big Sandy on a one out single. Horn followed with a base hit putting runners on first and second. Franklin then rapped into a 5-4-3 double play to take them out of the inning.

In the bottom of the seventh, with Big Sandy in control 13-11, Goble's scored three times on four straight base hits for the one run victory.

Big Sandy led all through the game getting three in the first and second to build a 6-2 lead through two. A six run burst in the fourth made it a 12-4 game in favor of Big Sandy Insurance. Then in Goble's fifth, the bats came alive as seven runs crossed the plate for a 12-11 game. Big Sandy added a run in the top of the fifth for a two run cushion of 13-11.

KODIAK BEARS VS WMDJ

The Bears clawed WMDJ 6-2 to advance on in tournament play at Archer Park. Two runs in the first, and three in the third, were all the runs Kodiak needed as they handed WMDJ their second loss of the tournament and eliminated them from further competition.

Kodiak retired 11 of the first 12 batters that WMDJ sent to the plate. Ratliff reached on a walk in the second and he singled and scored in the fifth to snap a streak of seven consecutive batters retired. WMDJ added their final run in the sixth inning when Henry Webb scored on Hall's base hit.

GATEWAY VS GOBLE SIGNS

(semifinal game)
Gary Kirk blasted a seventh inning lead off home run to snap a 6-6 tie and give Gateway a 7-6 win over Goble Signs in softball action at Archer Park.

Gobel Signs had scored three times in the top of the sixth inning to tie the game at 6-6.

In the top of the seventh for Gobel Signs, Eddy Brewster tripled to lead off the inning, but was left stranded as the next three batters rolled out. That opened the gate for Kirk's game winning home run.

Gateway had taken a 4-0 lead with a four run first. It was 5-2 after two innings. Each team scored a single run in the fifth for a 6-3 game.

PIKE CO. COAL VS OUTLAWS

Pike County Coal spotted the Outlaws a 3-0 lead and then held them scoreless the rest of the way in posting a 8-3 win and advanced on tournament play.

The Outlaws plated two runs in the first inning and pushed across the third in the second before Pike County Coal took a 4-3 lead with four runs in the bottom of the third. Pike County added a single run in the fourth and three more in the sixth. The Outlaws went out in order in the top of the seventh.

Robert Staggs had two hits in the game for Pike County Coal including a third inning, run-scoring triple.

To play in Frankfort... Heinisch Pharmacy Wins Class C Softball Title With Dual Win Over Gateway

Twenty-nine teams began play when the Class C softball tournament got underway at Archer Park last week. Only one stands at the top as the Class C Tournament champion — Heinisch Pharmacy of McDowell. Heinisch defeated Gateway 10-4 in the championship game after falling 9-6 in the previous game of the double elimination tournament.

Heinisch scored four runs in the top of the fifth inning to erase a one run deficit, 4-3, and then pushed across two in the sixth and one in the seventh as Gateway failed to score over the last six innings.

Rick Caudill got the Heinisch team started in the fifth with a base hit. One out later, Jimmy Tackett reached, scoring Caudill. Gene Tackett was safe on an error and Dick Stumbo's single scored both Jimmy and Gene Tackett.

Art Fannin's one-out single in the sixth led to two runs for Heinisch as Robby Fraley singled home Fannin and he eventually came around to score to make it a 9-4 game.

Heinisch scored their final run in the sixth when Jimmy Tackett reached on an error and scored on Terry Tuttle's two-out single.

Gateway look as if they were ready to take the championship game when they plated four runs in the first inning. A one out base hit by Jerry Quillen and Gary Kirk's two out single set up a two run double by Rick Stumbo. Stumbo scored on Marcum's two-base hit. Ricky Spradlin's double made it a 4-2 ball game.

After the first inning, Gateway could find no way to score as they had difficulty putting runners on base. When they did manage to get on it was always with two outs or the Heinisch defense would arise to the occasion. Gateway left the bases loaded in the second inning. They went out in order in the third, fourth and placed two runners on base with two outs in the fifth and failed to score.

The last six batters went out in order in the sixth and seventh innings.

Heinisch Pharmacy took an early 2-0 lead with two runs in the first inning. Gene Tackett and Dick Stumbo reached as the first two batters up in the game for Heinisch. Both runners scored to give the Floyd County team a 2-0 lead.

Gateway came out of the losers' bracket and handed Heinisch Pharmacy their only defeat by the score of 9-6 after eliminating Goble Signs of Inez 7-6 in the losers' bracket.

In the 9-6 win over Heinisch, Gateway scored two insurance runs in the seventh inning and then retired Heinisch in order to take the win. Heinisch came back to within one run, 7-6, after falling behind 7-1 after four innings.

Gateway had taken a 2-0 first inning lead with Heinisch coming back with a run in the bottom of the first inning to make it a 2-1 game. Eugene Wallen singled to start the game and scored on Gary Kirk's two out, two-run home run.

Gene Tackett scored for Heinisch in the bottom of the inning on a base hit by Dicky Stumbo.

Gateway made it a 5-1 game with three runs in the top of the second. D. Marcum reached on an error and Ricky Spradlin singled. Sid Maynard drove in Marcum with a base hit. He and Spradlin scored on a double off of the bat of Terry Quillen.

Heinisch could not mount any offense in the second, third and fourth inning. In the fifth, a two-run fifth by Gateway made it a 7-1 game. Quillen and Bob Hodge came in to score for Gateway on a double by Marcum.

Heinisch seemed to have gotten the bats "out of the bag" in the bottom of the fifth when they scored five times on five hits.

Thomas Meade was safe at first and Rick Caudill reached on a one out base hit. Meade scored to make it a 7-2 game on Jimmy Tackett's single. Base hits by Gene Tackett and Dicky Stumbo scored Caudill and Jimmy Tackett for a 7-4 score. Stevie Ward and Brian Turner collected back to back singles bringing in Tackett and Stumbo. The tying and go ahead run was left stranded as Terry Tuttle made the third out.

Heinisch put a runner on second with one out in the sixth inning, but failed to get him home. They went out in order in the seventh.

Heinisch Pharmacy will now travel to the state's capitol, Frankfort, to play in the Class C state tournament on August 16-18. Gateway will go as the runner-up team.

Goble Signs, who lost to Gateway, was the tournament's third place team and along with the Kodiak Bears, who placed fourth, will advance to Florence for the Class D state tournament.

Other tournament games are listed on a separate sports page.

Greg Maynard had a triple for the Outdaws in the second inning and Preece tripled in the fifth.

FEDS CREEK VS SARTIN COAL

Feds Creek scored a run in the first inning, and it held up until the top of the fourth inning when Sartin Coal pushed across three runs to take a 3-1 lead. Three more runs in the top of the sixth gave Sartin Coal a 6-1 win over Feds Creek.

Curg Martin tripled home Greg May who had singled with the tying run and Martin scored on Edwin May's base hit to give Sartin Coal the lead. May scored on Reco Preece's RBI double.

In the sixth, Greg May walked, Tiny Messer got a one out base hit and Edwin May tripled both runners home. May scored on a sacrifice fly.

Coleman led off the game with a double for Feds Creek and scored on a base hit by Griffie.

WKU Announces Athletic Promotions

Western Kentucky University Athletics Director Dr. Louis Marciani has announced some exciting changes to his staff with the promotions of Pam Herriford and Jeff Hulsmeier.

Herriford, who has been a member of the Hilltopper athletic staff since 1982, was promoted from Assistant Athletics Director to Associate Athletics Director. Hulsmeier was promoted from part-time volleyball coach to full-time status.

"One of the first things I wanted to focus on when I came on board was the infrastructure of the athletic department," commented Marciani, who took over for the retired Jimmy Feix in July. "I felt it was critical to first strengthen Pam Herriford's role, expand her responsibilities and take advantage of her extensive experience in intercollegiate athletics."

Herriford, a native of nearby Franklin, Ky., served as WKU's Coordinator of Women's Athletics from 1982-87, when she was named Assistant Athletics Director. However, her ties to Western athletics began in 1973, when she lettered in both tennis and track. She later served an assistant with the Hilltopper training staff for three years prior to moving over to administration.

In addition to her expanded responsibilities at Western, Herriford is currently serving on the NCAA Research Committee.

Hulsmeier earned Sun Belt Conference Coach-of-the-Year honors last season in his first year as head coach, leading Western to a best-ever 32-9 record and a runner-up finish in the league.

The water felt good!

It was a hot day at the Paintsville pool as the temperatures hovered in the mid 90's, but this Jenny Willey swimmer found the water very cooling as the Big Sandy Swimming Association held it's season closing championship meet this past Saturday. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Fort Knox Deer Hunt Applications Now Accepted

Applications will be accepted August 18-31 for the post deer hunt, which annually draws hunters from across Kentucky and surrounding states.

This year, 66 areas on post are potentially available for hunting. For the safety of hunters and guides, 26 areas open last year have been closed to hunting under a new Army regulation prohibiting recreational use of impact areas, which contain unexploded ammunition from adjacent ranges. Almost 60,000 acres can still be used for hunting, depending on training requirements in the hunt season.

Two deer per hunter may be taken. This year, one with bow and one with gun. The bow hunt period is October 5 - November 17. Gun hunt weekends are November 23-24, November 30 - December 1 and December 14 - 15. Applicants selected by random computer drawing will be notified about two weeks before the specific hunt dates they have been assigned.

The "military" hunter category comprises active duty and retired military, Reserve Component members, all Fort Knox civilians (including retirees), and family members of those groups. All others are nonmilitary.

Military hunters may apply in person at the post Hunt Control Office or by mail with a copy of valid military identification card. Nonmilitary hunters may apply by mail only. Military hunting with nonmilitary must apply by mail and follow the same rules and procedures as nonmilitary.

Separate applications and permits for gun and bow hunting are necessary. The standard application form ATZK-EHE 3605 may be picked up at post Hunt Control, Building 11) or requested in writing, with a stamped self-addressed envelope, mailed to: Hunt Control, DEH Fish and Wildlife Section, ATTN: ATZK-EHE, Fort Knox, Kentucky 40121-5000. For hunt information by phone, call (502) 624-7311 or 2712 (collect calls cannot be accepted).

Applications must clearly indicate 'gun' or 'bow' hunt. Applications containing the names of more than five persons, and individuals whose names appear on more than one application, will be disqualified for the drawing.

Fees must be included with each application, by money order, certified check, or cashier's check payable to "U.S. Treasury." The fee for active-duty military in ranks private through staff sergeant is $13; active-duty sergeant first class through sergeant major, $14.50; and for all other applicants, $15. Kentucky residents 65 and older may hunt free with a county-issued Lifetime Hunting and Fishing Card.

Fees are refunded to applicants not selected in the random draw, but no refunds will be made to hunters who fail to show on their assigned dates.

During the bow hunt period, weekday hunting on a space available basis is permitted for individuals selected to bow hunt. No "standby" bow hunting will be allowed on weekends. For the gun hunt, nonmilitary hunters are assigned two days, with no choice of dates or areas. Military are assigned to hunt either the first and second or first and third weekends. Military may State ten area preferences, to be assigned by random draw. If preference areas are filled, military hunters will be placed in open areas starting with the lowest numbered hunting area.

Gun hunters may use only 12, 16, and 20 gauge shotguns with slugs or single barrel muzzleloading rifles, percussion, or flintlock .38 to .58 caliber. Magazine shotguns must be plugged to hold one shot in the chamber and two in the magazine.

During the gun hunt, blaze orange hat and vest, jacket and coveralls are required. Camouflage orange clothing and clothing with orange flaps only is unacceptable. Only portable tree stands are allowed for deer hunting.

If hunt areas are released for recreational use, scouting will be allowed before each specific hunt. Scouting clearance must be obtained through Hunt Control.

All hunter must have a social security number, a Kentucky hunting license and a deer tag. Anyone age 40 or under must have a hunter education card, also required for all active-duty military hunters regardless of age.

5-K Run Is Part Of Army Celebration

The walk will begin at 8 a.m., followed by the run at 8:30. There will also be accommodations for a wheelchair race for handicapped individuals.

Registration fee is $8 for advanced registration or $10 on August 11. Individuals can register at John's Running Shop, 321 Ashland Avenue, Lexington, or by contacting the Depot Sports Office at 293-3133.

SCATTERED READERS

Even though I know the circulation of this newspaper is at least 10,000, I usually am surprised to hear that anyone except my family and a small circle of friends actually read this column. It pleases me, of course, especially to hear that someone relates to some of the topics I've written about.

Scott Perry tells me that about 2,000 copies of each issue are sent outside the county, and I've learned that many of those get passed around.

While visiting with Audrey Garrett and her family recently at Hall Funeral Home, after she'd lost her son Donald, I decided to introduce myself to some out-of-state relatives. Before I could tell my name, one of them said, "We know who you are.

We read you every week in the Floyd County Times."

I learned that Bill Buchanan of South Lyon, Michigan, is the subscriber, and he said, "Before I can finish reading the paper, my mother—Ivory Mae Buchanan—comes to get it; and after she's read it, she passes it on to her sister, Opal Bailey." Opal and Ivory Mae are sisters of Audrey Garrett, and they've lived in Michigan for at least forty years.

Another example of how the paper is shared includes the issue that goes to my aunt, Lillie Hamilton, in Felsmere, Florida. She has lived most of her 91 years in Banner, and is much more Floyd Countian than Floridian and so the Times is her "home paper."

Her copies also get passed around—to her daughter and son-in-law, Evelyn and Lew Parker—and to some nieces and nephews that live near her. These include Buddy Akers, Ersie Hall, Frank Hall, Katherine Bowens and Shirley Akers. They all have roots or connections in Floyd County.

When I was growing up on Prater Creek, we had good friends and neighbors in the Elmer Rice family. Their daughter, Catherine, was a special friend to me, but after going away to school she met and fell in love with a young man named Bill Sanderson. They were married and have made their home in Louisville. She never came back except for visits, and I would miss her even then.

Catherine's mother, Nicey Rice, passed away some weeks ago and we finally got together after such a long time. The years and miles have made a difference in both of us and I wasn't sure we'd know each other, but she said, "I have an advantage. I recognized you right away because I see you each week in the Floyd County Times."

When I asked, "Do you still take the paper?" she said, "No, but Susan and Aaron Akers live near me. They take the paper and always save your column for me."

I had another pleasant encounter recently when I ran into Jerry Fonce Howell who now lives in Jackson. It was like finding a page out of my past for he, too, at one time lived on Prater Creek—and I've always regretted that Floyd County lost him and his wife Beuna to Breathitt County.

When I was a high school freshman, Jerry was a state representative. I was invited to go with a small group to Frankfort and, as we explored the Capitol, we ran into Jerry Fonce. He got me excused from the group for a while and took me to sit by him while the House of Representatives was in session. He was very kind to a wide-eyed little girl who just happened to be "from home."

Anyway, Jerry tells me he also gets the paper—and I'm pleased to use this means to tell him he's still one of the nicest, most handsome men I know.

I've mentioned only a few of our long-distance subscribers, and I know there are many others who, by circumstance or choice, now live in some other part of the world.

If you'd care to let us know where you are, and how things are with you, we'd be pleased to hear. My address is P. O. Box 188, Betsy Layne, Kentucky 41605.

MOTHERS AND NEWBORNS

Friday night we were awakened by our cat, Percy, beating her head against the kitchen window and making an excruciating noise.

I went to the door knowing something was wrong, I opened it and found two newborn, solid black kittens lying on the porch.

It was then I heard a tomcat around back of the house and figured that Percy was scared for her babies. So, I brought the babies in and got a towel to lay them on, but Percy was still going wild.

I woke the girls and they knew she'd had five kittens and exactly where they were. With flashlight in hand they found the other three and we brought them in, too.

Percy began to shake all over and scared me half to death. Okay, calm down, I was saying to myself. What could be wrong with this cat? The kittens began to cry and I took Percy over to the towel and laid her down; her kittens were starving.

Percy seemed to be extremely nervous, so I continued to rub her head while she nursed her kittens. All the while I was thinking, could motherhood not be coming naturally to Percy? Then I thought, she's so young, and so was I with my first child. This is Percy's first litter. Thank goodness I only had one, poor Percy had five.

Then I remembered giving my first newborn a bath in the kitchen sink. The phone was on the wall nearby and when it rang I reached to answer it. As I did so, I accidentally lowered my baby's head right smack-dab under the running faucet.

When I looked down at her tiny, BLUE face, I lost it.

"OH MY GOSH," I screamed, "I've drowned my baby."

Thank goodness it was my mother-in-law on the phone and she was there to the rescue in no time. I was so scared I was sick, but Ashleigh was fine.

Young mothers must learn, so why should Percy be any different, I thought.

She seemed to calm down and both mother and kittens were now doing fine, so the girls and I headed for bed.

"Counting sheep is just not getting it, Mom," Ashleigh said. "I can't go back to sleep. What kind of operation did Mamaw Pat have?"

Where did that question come from?

"A hysterectomy," I said, groggy and tired.

"What's that?" Tiff asked.

"Well, Tiffany, it just means she won't have any more P.M.S.," Ashleigh answered.

"I think the next time you take me to see Dr. Larry, Mom, I'm gonna ask him to give me one of those operations and then I'll never have to worry about P.M.S.," Ash announced.

I nearly fell out of bed. And then I thought, hmm, maybe the kid just might have the right idea. Till next week...

Senior celebration

Last Friday, some of the members of the Wayland Area Senior Citizens' Center gathered for a covered dish dinner. Forty-seven seniors attended the dinner and enjoyed various foods, including chicken and dumplings, baked ham, spaghetti, deviled eggs and assorted beverages. The dinner was a birthday party in honor of the seniors born in June, July, August and September. The dinners are held three times per year. Also attending the dinner was County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, who presented a check for $1,250 to Mildred Halbert, center director. There are many exciting events planned for the near future at the center. Seniors living in the Wayland area are encouraged to participate. For more information, contact the center director at 358-4161. (photos by Mike Rosenberg)

Business and child care providers to hold meeting

What are the costs of child care? "The costs are greater than most of us think", says Don Combs of the Big Sandy Area Labor-Management Committee. "The biggest costs are when child care isn't available or isn't what the person really needs. When this happens, businesses pay through higher absenteeism and depressed or preoccupied employees." On average working parents miss seven days of work each year because of inadequate child care.

In an effort to discover the impact of child care in the region, several local businesses have given questionnaires about child care problems and their effect on employees. With over 400 responses in, it is clear that some child care problems are common to many employees. Not having a reliable child care provider, having no one to provide after-school child care, and not being able to leave children with a provider when a child is sick are most often cited a problems.

Workers with child care problems say they often have to miss work, give up lunch hours, or call in sick when their child is in need. Even when they are able to stay at work, many confess that they are often distracted with worry over their child's welfare.

Nationally, employers have responded to this problem by establishing in-house child care centers, sponsoring existing centers, and by simply educating their workforce about how to solve their own problems. There is now a way for employers to give their employees money for child care that is tax free.

"We need to think of adequate child care as a community resource, the same as good roads and affordable housing, if we want new businesses to come into the area and develop existing businesses" said Roger Recktenwald of the Big Sandy Area Development District. "This is no longer a 'convenience' but a necessity that has drastic effects on job turnover and lost time at work. Child care has an enormous impact on a local economy."

The Labor-Management Committee is not only discovering what needs the workforce has, but is sitting down with businesses and their employees and helping them come up with viable solutions. Combs believes that "Just talking about the problem is a step in the right direction. From there a business has a range of options to consider - some of which cost very little especially when compared to the benefits."

As part of their efforts at educating the public, the Big Sandy Area Labor-Management Committee is sponsoring a luncheon entitled "All About Business and Child Care", at the Jenny Wiley State Park on August 27. The luncheon, which is free to the public, will feature Paul Patton, Pike County Judge Executive and Nicki Rathsbun, a child care consultant and President of Unlimited Potential, Inc. Reservations for the luncheon will be required.

"The luncheon is an opportunity for child care providers and businesses to meet informally, listen to general information on the problem, and hopefully raise some common issues and concerns" said Carol Lewendowski of the Area Development District. "Most everyone attending knows what the problems are, what they want to hear are solutions. Solutions are what this luncheon is all about."

For reservations and more information on the luncheon call Carol Lewendowski at 886-2374.

ABOUT DOOGIE AND GILLIGAN AND HOSS

Oh, for the good old days. Days like when I was growing up in Muddy Branch and knew this fellow whose sole greeting was, "Where ya goin', buddy?" Never ever did he just say, "Hello" or "Good Morning" or even "How's it going?" It was always "Where ya goin', buddy?"

You didn't have to be going anywhere, either. I mean, you could be lying in your front-porch swing reading a funny book, and he'd walk by and say it. He'd even say it if he passed you as he was coming out as you were going in church.

I got so I'd answer, "Crazy. Wanna go?"

Anyway, that fellow's little rhetorical question popped into my head as I was reading the paper the other day. The headline read "TV's teens go all the way."

As I read about Doogie Howser and Roseanne's kids and the teenagers on Beverly Hills 90210 losing their virginity on prime-time TV, I couldn't help but ask myself, "Where we goin', buddy?"

What's happening to TV? Indeed, what's happening to our society? Is TV a mirror that merely reflects the way we live? Or, do we frantically attempt to imitate what we see on TV?

Regardless of which way it is, though, we shouldn't be too surprised at what's happening. No matter when or to what channel you turn, you're bound to see beautiful young women wearing outfits you could put in your shirt pocket. And that's only the commercials. It only makes sense, then, that now we read that Doogie and Wanda will "take their relationship to a new level" this fall.

TV executives are attempting to defend it all by arguing "it's more honest to admit that real-life teens are sexually active."

Baloney. That's the same type of answer we got a couple of years ago when they said it was O.K. for Bart Simpson to call his father stupid. "That's the way kids are nowadays."

Double baloney. If Bill Pack were Bart Simpson's father, not only would ol' Bart look funny, he'd walk a little funny, too.

Of course, that would likely prompt another Geraldo special on child abuse.

It may come as a surprise to some, but sex was not discovered last week. Does anybody remember Adam and Eve? Parental disrespect isn't exactly new, either. Ever hear of Lizzie Borden?

So why, all of a sudden, are we faced with all this "realism?" Of course the answer is ratings and big ratings means big money. In affect then, we're simply selling our moral values.

Oh well, I guess we're lucky in a way. At least it happen twenty-five years ago. Can you imagine what Gilligan's Island would have been like? Remember how every body always wondered where Ginger and Mary Ann kept getting all those fancy clothes? By today's standards, they'd be taking them off instead of putting them on.

And how about those Cartwright boys? Wouldn't today's TV find it a little weird with all these grown men living on this big ranch with a Chinese cook?

I'm afraid that if the old fellow from 40 years ago were still with us, he'd never again ask "Where ya goin', buddy?" It would even be obvious to him that we've already gone...down the tube.

Community representatives for Floyd County History Book

Among the many dedicated groups who found it a "labor of love" to help in the gathering of materials for the forthcoming Floyd County History Book, it seems fitting that the community representatives and the neighborhoods about which they wrote be listed here.

Under the guidance of Sandra Robertson, Phyllis Honshell, Carolyn Traub, and Imogene Caldwell, these were: Alonzo, Buffalo, Alvin, Cow Creek, Emma and Woods by James B. Goble; Allen, Delores Smith; Auxier, Eula Ferguson and Bob Castle; Betsy Layne, Joe Hinchman and Tom Hardwick;

Bonanza, Mrs. Carl Woods; Brandy Keg, Anna Mae Garrett; Bypro, Jack's Creek and Bevinville, Virginia Jamerson; Cliff, Frankie Best; David, Goodloe and Pyramid, Floyd Davis; Dwale, Jack Howard; Dotson, Everett Dotson; Drift, McDowell, Jump Station, and Star Bottom, Sally Miller;

East Point, Leatha Kendrick; Eureka, Wanda Hunt Lafferty; Garrett, Mrs. Hollie Conley; Harold and Tram, Joe Hinchman; Hi Hat (Clear Creek), Delphia Newman; Hippo, Monroe Vanderpool; Hunter, Gloria Jean Salisbury; John's Creek, Norma S. Stepp, Virginia S. Goble, Mae S. Kendrick and Opal S. May (the Spears Sisters); Justell, Tom Hardwick; Lackey and Maytown, Mrs. Thurmal Click; Ligon, Draxie Newsome; Mare Creek (Stanville), Mrs. Leonard Roberts; Martin, Marge Sammons; Melvin and Weeksburg, Mabel Burger; Middle Creek, Lorna Honeycutt and Everett Dotson; Minnie, Edith Hopkins; Orkney, Anna Sue Stumbo; Prestonsburg, Pauline Burchett; Printer, (Salisbury Station), John Spurlock; Wayland, Mrs. Otto Martin, Mrs. S. M. Martin, and Rexine Campbell; and Wheelwright, Carol Stumbo.

A small portion of the report on the community of Bonanza reads: (Paraphrased)

The oldest church in Bonanza is the United Baptist, which was organized November 7, 1867, with these charter members: David Ward, moderator; Jessie Hicks, clerk, and Nimrod Hall, James M. Hall, Charlie Hicks, Josephine Hall, Gracie Puckett, Allie Hall, Ellen Short, Phoebe Patton, Dorcus Hackworth and Marilda Slone.

Some of the moderators there (other than David Ward) have been Elders Hargus Conley, Florida Lyons and John R. Pelphrey; some of the assistant moderators have been: Elders James Yates, Joel Henry Conley, Cleveland Adams, Hammie May, John R. Pelphrey and Donald Baldwin.

Elder Lemuel Williams is the present moderator; Chester Green is the clerk and the deacons and deaconesses are Elbert and Goldia Snipes, and James and Mary Hall. Curtis Hackworth was a deacon and his wife Oma a deaconess until his recent death.

Borrowing a little term from the Bonanza United Baptists, among the early members who "kept the faith," were: Henry and Lou Whitaker Baldridge; Frank and Laura Fairchild Spradlin; Joe and Cora Spradlin Snipes; Tommie and Libbie Leake Snipes, Jack and Lee Snipes Shell; Garfield and Sarah Caudill Music; Wes and Mahala Stanley Music; Greeley and Lizzie Caudill Hackworth, and Bud and Laura Spradlin.

According to Mommie, the United Baptists "ruled by Saturdays," so the meetings were held "on the Sunday following the third Saturday of each month." By far the most popular of these was the "footwashin' meetin', held in July, for 'twas then that most people who had lived in Bonanza, and moved away, tried to return—to see old, familiar faces, mix and mingle in the activities connected with this event and to revive memories of relatives and friends no longer there.

Although persons have "scattered" so much that not as many return to this event as in days of yore, the meeting is still held—and may there never be a time when it will no longer be there.

About 1930, the Rev. Joel Henry Conley, a carpenter by trade, went from-door-to-door of the homes of members of this church and announced that he would replace the aging building and that all he would charge would be "two hens apiece from each of the good sisters of the church." I never knew how much the Conleys' flock of poultry increased during that period, but this building, still in seemingly excellent condition, bears testimony to a cooperative effort on the part of many faithful souls there.

F.C.R.T. Cookbook

Among the many reasons we should purchase Floyd County Retired Teachers' Cookbooks are: They contain favorite recipes of "home-folks," and proceeds from these are used to support many worthy causes in our area. They may be purchased from any member of the F.C.R.T.

Swimming Party

A swimming party, sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Prestonsburg will be held at Archer Park on Thursday, August 8, from 8-10 p.m. Youth of the church are cordially invited to attend.

Newsletter Given New Name

It was considerate and appropriate that the title of the publication once called "The Caney Creek Community Center Newsletter" was recently changed to "Pippa's Song," A Newsletter of Alice Lloyd College and the June Buchanan School, and that underneath this new title are these words from Robert Browning:

"The year's at the spring,
"And day's at the morn;
"Morning's at seven;
"The hill-side's dew-pearled;
"The lark's on the wing;
"The snail's on the thorn;
"God's in His Heaven—
"All's right with the world!"

Robert Browning was one of Alice Lloyd and June Buchanan's favorite poets, and from his works, they got the inspiration to name the post office at this unique school, Pippa Passes.

The first issue of "Pippa's Song" carries the message that a new student center is being erected "on the site of the old Elizabeth Barrett Library, adjacent to the founder's shack."

A symbol for the new student center, designed by artist Samuel McKeney, will stand in the central entrance way. Etched in a bronze open book on top of the stand will be the Browning Philosophy, by Elizabeth Barrett Browning:

"A poor man served by thee shall make thee rich
"A sick man helped by thee shall make thee strong;
"Thou shalt be served thyself by every sense
"Of service which thou renderest."

The names of those who contribute $100 or more toward this building are to be engraved on brass plates attached to the center panels of the four sides of the podium. The fundraising deadline is September 1, 1991.

Toddler struggles against cancer

Sara Caitlin Nicole Haley

Sara Caitlin Nicole Haley, daughter of Roy and Mallie Haley of Eastern, celebrated her first birthday on June 1 without the fanfare of a big party usually associated with first birthdays. The toddler suffers from a rare form of muscle cancer and must avoid contact with large crowds of children.

"She can't play with kids who haven't had chicken pox, or who have been around someone ill," said her mother. "The flu can put her in the hospital for 2-3 weeks."

After a brief excursion to town, Mrs. Haley must shower and change clothes before she can hold her daughter.

Doctors discovered the infant had cancer on May 9, and Caitlin has been undergoing chemotherapy treatment since that time. Three tumors were discovered in her right lung. She wears a catheter in her chest which allows the treatment to enter her lung. Injections into the tubing are a daily event.

Every 2 1/2 weeks, the child must be hospitalized for one week for further chemotherapy treatment. In about six weeks, her treatments will be given once a week. Chemotherapy has caused sores in her mouth, and she must use an oral mouth rinse to combat them. She also takes medication to prevent infections which could prove fatal to her.

The toddler is fighting the cancer and her doctors say she's doing better than expected, according to her mom. "She hasn't had any setbacks and she's maintaining her weight."

"After two sessions of chemotherapy at 50 percent dosage, her tumors have decreased by 50 percent," she said.

Much of her treatment is experimental and expensive, said her mother. Although the family's insurance company will partially reimburse them for some of the treatment, it will not pay for the experimental treatment such as CAT scans, Mrs. Bailey said. The family is feeling the financial crunch incurred by the treatment.

To help offset these expenses, her friends have established an account for the baby at the Bank Josephine. Anyone wishing to contribute to may make a deposit in her name at any Bank Josephine branch. For more information, or to offer words of encouragement to the family, call 358-3468.

The toddler is the granddaughter of Luther and Vonda Vanderpool of Hueysville and Delbert and Katherine Haley of Wheelwright.

Cabbage Patch

By Nell Harmon

Just recently a friend asked me to write an article on the fast disappearance of some of our local wildflowers. I am afraid that were I to do it, we would lose more and more of them. As we all know, some people do not want something until they are told it is scarce. To dig or pull up a flower growing out in the woods or along the road side and transplanting it in a flower bed kills it in more ways than one. They are not nearly as pretty in a flower bed. Leave them where they are so more of us can enjoy them as we pass by.

What has happened to the old fashioned flowers that were once found around every farmyard? How many of you still have a yucca plant in your yard? It is sometimes called the Century plant, Candles of Heaven or Adams needle. While doing a little research, I find this plant to be a native of the Southeast and not of the West as we are led to believe. This plant is so hardy that when taken West by the early settlers, it took root and grew as if it were a native. Now the Westerners claim it. The female pronuba moth collects pollen from one blossom and carefully rolls it into a small pellet which she stuffs into another blossom. She then lays her eggs in the blossom. The emerging worms feed on some of the seed. Without the help of the moth, the yucca would not set seed and she would have no place to lay her eggs.

Another fast fading plant is the tiger lily. Most every garden or yard had a row of these beauties across the front. These plants grow about three feet tall and are topped with a mass of orange blooms speckled with black. It is a hardy plant also and seems to have no disease or insect enemies. About the only place you will find them now is around some old abandoned farm house. The tiger lily buds multiply very rapidly, and it sets seeds that can be planted to start more plants and they can be started by the age old method of propagation.

The old day lily can still be found in almost any locale. The seed catalogs still sell them, but in so many more different colors than you used to see.

The mallow, now called hibiscus, is another old hand-me-down plant. They too are now in four basic colors: white, white with a red center, pink and red.

The above flowers are only a few of the hundreds that are disappearing in our local area and it will be our loss. I, at one time, had all of the above mentioned. They did a quick bye-bye act the couple times I moved away from home for a while. As hard as it is to kill these plants, they will not always survive if dug or pulled up and hauled in the trunk of a car on a hot day for some time, then left out in the sun for several hours or even days before replanting.

The only old plant I now have in my yard is an old Sweet William plant from the yard of my late mother-in-law. It is tall and covered with blooms this year, and is too thick. I will have to transplant it either this fall or no later than next spring. am slow in digging it up as I am afraid I might lose it for some reason.

Each local area has its own plants that do better than they do anywhere else. Lets try to keep them and share with your neighbors if and when you do separate the old clumps. The new plants we get from nurseries and seed companies are beautiful, but not as beautiful as our old natives.

I started to write this column last night, but before I even got the paper in the typewriter I was hungry. I still don't know why I get so hungry just writing recipes. Well, anyway, I stopped and made me a big bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwich on toast. I wonder what happened to those main sandwiches in any diner. I sometimes wonder what you would get were you to go into a restaurant and order a BLT on toast, besides a shocked stupid look from the waitress, unless she were an older woman.

Water conservation suggested for hot summer months

Concern about water supplies mounts as the intense heat of summer and sparse rainfall continue.

Only one percent of the earth's water is available for drinking. Most adults need 2-1/2 quarts of water per day to maintain health, but Kentuckians use an average 62 gallons or more. Water use is higher in summer as people move many of their interests and activities outdoors.

Although there are presently no indications of severe drought conditions for the Commonwealth, water conservation measures are always in order, especially during hot, dry summer months.

The Kentucky Division of Water suggests the following water conservation measures for outdoors:

*Mow your lawn with water retention in mind. Set mower blades on a high setting (2 to 3-inch grass length as opposed to golf-course short) to provide natural ground shade and promote water retention by the soil.

*Water lawn and garden in the cool of the morning to minimize evaporation. Avoid peak consumption hours (4 - 9 p.m.).

*Water slowly to prevent runoff. Direct the water where plants need it, at the roots.

*Water thoroughly, but no more than one inch per week. If you use a sprinkler, place cans or pans to measure amount of water used. Watch wind shifts, or better yet, don't sprinkle on windy days.

*Water infrequently, no more than every third day.

*Mulch plants to prevent evaporation loss.

*Think toward the future. If you will be adding or replacing plants, plan to use native or other low water use plants.

*Sweep down decks, porches, sidewalks, and driveways instead of hosing them down.

*When washing the car, use soap and water from a bucket and use a hose with a shut-off nozzle for a quick final rinse.

*Wash the car near hedges or shrubs so they can get a "free drink."

*Keep drinking water in a container in the refrigerator to avoid wasting water by running the tap waiting for cold water.

Real Estate

Real estate roundtable Kentucky real estate commission

Q. Please explain the term "contingency" and it's affect on a contract to purchase property.

A. In John Reilly's book, The Language of Real Estate, a contingency is defined as, "a provision placed in a contract that requires the completion of a certain act or the happening of a particular event before that contract is binding".

All contingencies must be very specific and have a definite cutoff date that outlines when the terms of the contingency must be met. If the contingency does not have an expiration date, the property could be tied up for an indefinite period of time while the prospective purchaser attempts to meet the contingencies.

The most common contingency found in a real estate purchase contract is one for financing. Kentucky regulations require that all contracts for the purchase of real estate must specifically set forth the exact manner in which the property is to be financed.

Other contingencies could include the performance and receipt of a clearance letter from a termite company, an inspection of the electrical, plumbing and heating systems performed by a qualified individual, or the completion of any repairs by the seller that were agreed to as a condition of the sale.

The fulfillment of any contingency requires a diligent and good faith effort by the parties involved to complete the terms of the contract.

As with any contract, be sure you understand all of the provisions and contingencies thoroughly before signing the document.

If you have other real estate questions, please write the Kentucky Real Estate Commission, 10200 Linn Station Road, Suite 201, Louisville, Kentucky 40223.
