Fire chief seeks council involvement :

Disaster looms as spat smoulders

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

Deep-rooted problems in the city's fire department are edging Prestonsburg to the brink of disaster, fire chief Tom Blackburn warned Monday, and city council involvement is necessary to quell the threat.

A city firefighter said Tuesday, however, that problems can be resolved through "civilized" discussion.

Blackburn's plea for council input came after the chief advised the panel that paid duty men in the fire department were not "turning out" for alarms after their shifts end. Blackburn said a "pattern" of no-shows on fire calls was becoming "really serious" and could lead to disaster in the event of a major fire.

Prestonsburg has 13 fulltime, paid firefighters complemented by 30 volunteers and Blackburn said most alarms during June had been answered by three paid officers and volunteers.

"Our paid people are not coming out," the chief said.

Duty man Kevin Hedrick said Tuesday that he agrees with the fire chief's warning of pending disaster, but he felt problems between the city administration and members of the fire department stemmed from the formation last year of a firefighters' union.

Hedrick said nine of the city's 13 firefighters had voted to join the International Association of Firefighters 16 months ago, adding that communications problems with the city began about that time.

The city does not officially recognize the union local as bargaining unit for Prestonsburg firefighters and is not required to by law.

Mayor Ann Latta noted that paid firefighters are required to respond to "all calls" in the city, but Blackburn said that some are avoiding that requirement by "checking out of town" when their duty shifts end and they are not checking back into town until their next shift is scheduled to begin.

"We've been awful lucky," Blackburn said. "If a major fire broke out, we're in real trouble."

The chief singled out no one as contributing to the problem but suggested that the situation was rooted in pay scales and morale.

"This is a problem we've had for a while," he said. "Some of it is with money, some of it with working conditions. You (council members) need to make a decision. I don't know what else to do."

Hedrick said Tuesday the basic problem was a lack of manpower in the city fire department, though he admitted pay was an issue. He added that firefighters no longer were required to log out after their shifts, but he accused the mayor of "trying to restrict our off-duty time."

Mayor Latta said Monday that she had sent out a memo to firefighters this week, but she did not elaborate on its contents. She did say, however, that "if money is all they're interested in, I think they have the wrong attitude."

State commission to review ideas :

City target for tune-up

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

An ambitious plan to rejuvenate downtown Prestonsburg got the stamp of approval Monday from city council, but a state commission will have the final word on the project.

Anchoring the revitalization proposal will be a $250,000 grant awarded by the Kentucky Heritage Commission and continuing development of a city civic center to house the young, but growing Kentucky Opry.

Outlining the plan during Monday's regular meeting of city council, Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta said the project would involve five priorities for the use of grant funds.

Tops on the list would be the creation of a revolving loan fund, using $170,000 of grant monies to offer low interest, or possibly no-interest, funding to businesses for repairs and restoration of building facades and signage in the downtown area.

Mayor Latta said she would approach local banks to poll their interest in providing matching funds to the project, suggesting that such a plan would provide more funds and effectively reduce interest rates for borrowers.

The second priority under the proposal calls for creation of a Main Street office, staffed by a fulltime director who would oversee development and promotion of the downtown district. The cost of that office was set at $40,000, with $30,000 coming from the Heritage Commission grant and another $10,000 from an Appalachian Regional Commission grant.

Priority number three involves an allocation of $25,000 to underwrite planning for the Kentucky Opry center, proposed for construction on the city's mid-town parking lot. The Opry project would include a 1,000 seat theater, classrooms, a museum and an arts and crafts outlet. Architects will be interviewed this month to determine final plans for the center, which could be constructed with low interest loans and grant funds.

Fourth on the priority list is a plan to develop a "living museum" in the downtown area. The project involves the location of art works, historical exhibits, native gardens and heritage events throughout Prestonsburg. A

No injuries

Two killed in separate accidents

Two Floyd County men were killed in separate mishaps within the past week, one in Knott County, the other in Pike.

Lawrence Newsome, 30, of Melvin was pronounced dead at the scene by Knott County Coroner Ken Gayheart. Newsome was driving South on KY 899 near Mallie when his vehicle was struck head-on by a vehicle driven by Terry Gibson, 32, of Estill, said a Kentucky State Police dispatcher at Post 13 in Hazard. The accident occurred at 5 a.m. Gibson suffered minor injuries in the crash.

The accident is under investigation by trooper Barry Engle.

In a separate accident, an Ivel man was killed Thursday in Pike County after the vehicle he was driving collided head-on with a coal truck.

James B. Pruitt, 18, was traveling on KY 1499 at Feds Creek when he lost control of his 1983 Camaro, crossed the center line and struck a coal truck driven by Darrell Lester, 32, of Big Rock, Virginia, said Kentucky State Police reports.

Pruitt was pronounced dead at the scene by Pike County Coroner Charles Morris. Lester was not injured in the accident, police said.

No seat belts were worn and the accident is under investigation by Kentucky State Police trooper Van Wright.

Boyd judge to hear case in Johnson County :

Murder trial is moved

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A change of venue has been approved and a special judge has been appointed in a 12 year old Floyd County murder case after a round of legal battles since April by the suspect's attorney, Daniel Taylor III of Louisville.

Chief Regional Judge Stephen "Nick" Frazier ruled Friday that

"pretrial publicity" has "raised sufficient and substantial doubt" if Wendell Ray Newman, 37, of Jack's Creek can receive a fair trial in Floyd County.

Newman was indicted by a Floyd County Grand Jury last month on a murder charge in the 1978 shooting death of Walter Hall of Letcher County.

Judge Frazier ruled that the case be moved to Johnson County Circuit Court and that Kelly Asbury, a Boyd County Circuit Judge, preside over the trial.

Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley disqualified himself from the case after Newman filed a $64,000 wrongful imprisonment lawsuit against Conley June 18.

Frazier's order also lowered Newman's bond from $100,000 cash to a $200,000 property bond. Newman was released from the Floyd County Jail Friday.

Bond reduction is denied

Floyd County District Judge Harold Stumbo overruled a motion Monday to lower the bond of a Pike County man charged with murder in the July 2 death of a Dana woman.

Stumbo instead set a $100,000 property bond for Michael Johnson, 37, of Virgie. Johnson is being held on the murder charge after the coal truck he was driving allegedly ran a red light and struck a pickup truck driven by Glenda L. Akers, 40, of Dana. Akers was killed instantly in the collision.

Johnson's attorney, Kelsey E. Friend Jr., of Pikeville, filed a motion to reduce Johnson's bond to $50,000, 10 percent cash. Friend's motion said Johnson could not meet the conditions of the $100,000 full cash bond previously set by the court.

Assistant County Attorney Robert Bishop signed the motion for the bond reduction Monday, but Stumbo overruled the issue. No reason was given for his decision.

In cheerleader controversy :

Board decision upheld

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County Circuit Judge Hollie Conley ruled last Wednesday that the Floyd County Board of Education acted correctly in declaring a candidate for cheerleader ineligible.

The ruling dismissed a lawsuit filed by Judy Hall Flannery on behalf of her daughter, Krissy Hall, a former cheerleader at Prestonsburg High School. Flannery claimed her daughter had already been punished for an incident that school officials said prohibited her from being named to the squad.

Hall had a due process hearing at the June 24 special board meeting and members voted that board policy had been followed by cheerleading sponsor Lois Marshall and principal Robert May. May informed Hall earlier this year that she would not be eligible for the squad because of an altercation between Hall and another cheerleader at Allen Central High School during the district tournament.

A board policy dealing with cheerleading says any cheerleader who has been on the squad for three years will automatically be named to the squad in their senior year, said Flannery's attorney, Gerald DeRossett. The basis of Flannery's lawsuit was that Hall should have been automatically placed on the squad.

Conley ruled, after reviewing a

No quorum cancels meet

The lack of a quorum forced the cancellation of the Floyd County Board of Education's regularly scheduled meeting Tuesday night.

Chairman Ray "Shag" Campbell and members Tommy Boyd and Eddie Billips did not attend last night's meeting.

Superintendent Ron Hager announced to the crowd that he was not informed the three members would not be at the meeting. He said the meeting would be rescheduled. Hager waited approximately 30 minutes after the meeting was scheduled to begin before calling the meeting off.

Under state law, a quorum of a public agency must be in attendance before an agency can conduct its business session.

About 70 people attended Tuesday's meeting.

Manslaughter :

Youth is cited in mishap

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A 16-year-old Prestonsburg youth, who police declined to identify, has been charged with involuntary manslaughter in connection with a car accident Friday in Virginia that killed an 18-year-old Floyd County man.

Keith Douglas Kidd, 18, of Prestonsburg, died Friday near Richlands, Virginia, after he was ejected from a vehicle driven by the juvenile, said Virginia State Police sergeant R.W. Walker. A criminal charge of involuntary manslaughter was brought against the juvenile, who is hospitalized at Humana Hospital in Richlands, Walker said. The juvenile's injuries were not severe and he is expected to be released later this week.

The accident occurred when the 1990 Toyota pickup truck struck the guardrail twice before flipping over, Walker said.

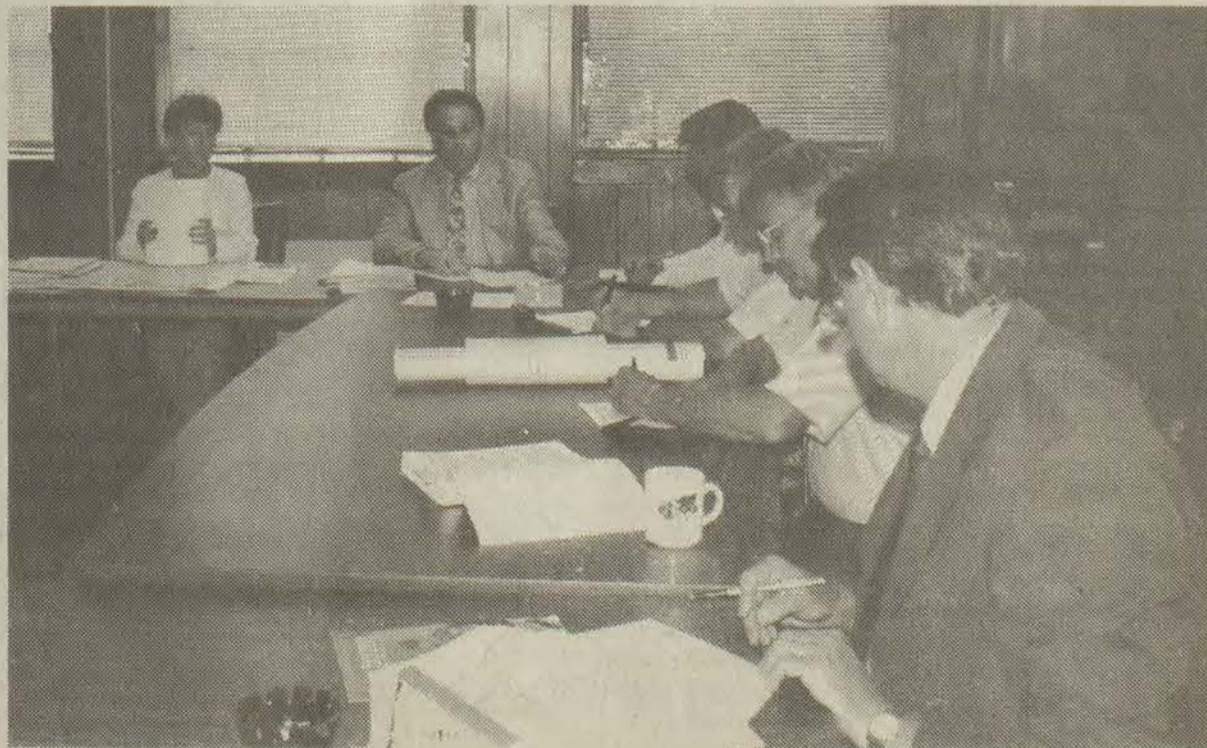

Walker said the roadway was wet and the pickup was traveling down the winding mountain road on U.S. 460 at approximately 70 miles per hour. The juvenile apparently lost control of the vehicle, he said. The truck is registered to Janet R. Smith of Allen, Walker said.

Alcohol was also a factor in the accident, along with the speed the vehicle was traveling, Walker said. Kidd was killed instantly and a third occupant in the vehicle, who was not identified, was also injured in the mishap. No one was wearing seat belts, police said.

The truck was pulling a small trailer loaded with canoes and Walker said the youths were traveling to New River located near the Pulaski/Montgomery county line in Virginia.

The juvenile could be arraigned later this week in Tazewell County Virginia, Walker said. The juvenile remained hospitalized Tuesday.

The accident was investigated by Virginia State trooper G.O. Radcliff.

Site bids opened

Bids were opened at 4 p.m. Tuesday by Floyd County school officials for site preparation for the new Prestonsburg High School. Those in attendance, from left, were: Beth Rowe, Martin Engineering, construction manager for the project; John Carmen, John Carmen and Associates of Lexington; Alan Stumbo, Martin Engineering; Randall Burchett, architect; Sam Martin, Martin Engineering; and Ron Hager, superintendent Floyd County schools. Campsite visit Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson visited with nine Floyd County boys who attended the Kentucky Sheriffs' Boys Ranch June 23-28 in Gilbertsville. Thompson spent two days with the youths, who enjoyed swimming, camping and other outdoor activities. Floyd County girls, ages 9-13, will be attending camp July 14-19. For information about camp applications contact the Floyd County Sheriff's Department at 886-6711.

Hedrick said the memo referred to a city policy which limits city employees' abilities to seek "second" jobs, adding that the union was considering a lawsuit to challenge that policy.

"We have to have our own lives," Hedrick added. "No other city employee is required to account for their every move."

Part of the money dispute apparently concerns a difference in wages between equal ranks in the city's fire and police departments.

Beginning officers in both departments earn an equal annual salary of $12,140, but firefighters' hourly wages are considerably lower. That balance in yearly pay comes through built-in overtime. Duty firemen work 48-hour pay periods while police officers work 42 hours.

Councilman Billy Ray Collins said the difference in wage rates had created "feelings of resentment" among some firefighters, who believed the city did not feel they were "as valuable" as police officers.

"If the pay isn't balanced out," Collins said, "we're not going to change attitudes."

Councilman Michael Vance said firemen should be aware that council is "working on the problem, but we expect any city employees to do their jobs. We don't want to hear a city employee say he's not going to do the job."

Mayor Latta said council had worked diligently to close the salary gaps between departments, adding the problem was a "complicated matter."

"They're (pay rates) as close as they've ever been," the Mayor added. "The question is, are they (firefighters) being paid adequately for the job they're doing?"

Councilman William Goebel, visibly upset over the debate, said the city's fire department had been "given every new piece of equipment they've ever asked for" and that training for firefighters had "cost the city a hell of a lot of money."

"There are several ways to cure attitude problems," Goebel added. He did not elaborate on those "cures."

"We've got the best equipment, given the best training, but we have no morale," fire chief Tom Blackburn said. "I'm unable to solve the problem."

Hedrick said the answer to the problem was for the city and the firefighters to "sit down, civilized, without them looking down their noses at us."

Council agreed Monday to have members of the panel's personnel committee review the issue further.

Members of the National Auctioneers Association (NAA), including Bill Gibson of Action Auction & Realty, will gather in Omaha from Monday, July 15, through Saturday, July 20, for their annual convention. Workshops and seminars will be conducted on bid-calling, business management, environmental concerns, appraising, and much more.

DUI charged in accident

A two-vehicle accident Monday afternoon led to the arrest of one of the drivers for DUI.

According to Prestonsburg Police officer Darrell Conley, Charles Bentley of Neon had stopped his flatbed truck at the West Prestonsburg redlight when he was struck from behind by John A. Weddington.

Weddington, 37, of Martin, complained of head and neck injuries and was transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center where he was treated and released. Conley said Weddington was then taken to the Floyd County jail and charged with DUI, second offense, driving on a suspended operator's license and failure to obey a traffic control device.

According to Conley, Weddington refused the breathalyzer test and was not wearing a seatbelt.

DeRossett could not be reached Tuesday to determine if an appeal would be filed.

$15,000 fund would be established to match potential endowment funds, to provide supplies for art projects, for signage, historical markers and interpretive displays for a downtown archaeological dig. Potential projects include murals on downtown buildings depicting area history.

Last on the priority list is development of a one-time grant program which could provide direct grants for small projects that would beautify or improve the downtown business district. The program would be funded with $10,000.

City council gave unanimous approval Monday to the proposal, authorizing that it be forwarded to the Kentucky Heritage Commission for final review.

In other business during the regular July session, council:

-authorized a plan to join with the Prestonsburg Utility Commission to study and seek funding for the improvement of the city's storm drainage system;

-rejected low bids from Burchett and Bottoms and Teadora I. Evangelista, for auditing services, accepting the third highest bid from Jones, Pack and Associates. Councilman William Goebel said the reason for rejecting the lower offers was because the city had "taken a lot of low bids and had not gotten the quality of work expected. Council split on the vote, with councilmen William Callihan and Charles Hale voting "no" on Jones, Pack and Associates;

-tabled action on bids for the removal and replacement of a bridge at Archer Park, deciding instead to have the offers reviewed by council and

Martiki project draws praise, award

by Tess A. Whitmer
Assistant Editor

Martiki Coal Corporation has proved that mountaintop development can be a viable option for the economic future in Eastern Kentucky. The lack of flat land has always hindered the mountainous region in attracting industry to the area, but with a little work and investment, mined land can once again become productive and offer an ideal area for business.

Martiki was presented one of the nation's top reclamation awards Monday by Manuel Lujan, Jr., U.S. Secretary of Interior, for their project in Martin County.

In a unique cooperative partnership, Morehead State University personnel provided the management and research expertise to turn the reclaimed land into verdant pasture and crop land. MAPCO Coal, the parent company of Martiki, and Pocahontas Development Corporation, a subsidiary of Norfolk Southern Corporation, provided the funding for the project begun in 1982.

Lujan presented the Excellence in Surface Coal Mining and Reclamation Award to Martiki for the company's "exemplary performance" and for the uniqueness of the three-way partnership. This is only the second time a Kentucky reclamation project has received a top award in national reclamation competition.

The Mountaintop Agricultural Complex, an 800-acre farm on reclaimed portions of Martiki's mining operations which lies about 15-miles south of Inez, was the brainchild of MSU officials.

The secret to making the sandstone and shale wasteland productive again was the livestock. Manure was gathered from 4,000 swine and 82,000 chickens housed on the complex, mixed with water and sprayed on the fields treated with potash, phosphorous and nitrates.

The farm grows alfalfa, orchard grass, clover and fescue — pastures for about 140 head of cattle. In addition to the hogs, hens and cows, several sheep have been added to the project and orchards have been planted.

All the funds made from the sale of pigs, calves, non-laying chicks, eggs (about 79,000 are produced a day) and bales of hay, go back into the project, which is still running in the red.

Martiki and Pocahontas each contributed $1 million to start the project between 1982 and 1983. Since then, the companies have contributed a combined $300,000 extra.

Charles Derrickson, dean of MSU's College of Applied Science and Technology, stressed to the group gathered for the awards ceremony Monday, that the farm complex is a research demonstration, not an attempt to establish a profitable farm.

Martiki leased approximately 18,000 acres of land in the area in the early 1970s. Under a mountaintop-removal permit, the company has now mined and reclaimed about 5,000 acres of that land, removing about two million tons of coal each year.

Bids opened for site work

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County school officials opened bids Tuesday for site preparation at the new Prestonsburg High School at the Middle Creek site.

Project architect Randall Burchett announced Tuesday that the low bidder for the project was C & W Equipment of Manchester, the only bidder when the project was bid last December.

Burchett said three bids were received out of 15 sets of plans that were distributed to contractors since bids first were advertised.

The bids were to be presented to the board of education at Tuesday's meeting.

Those submitting bids were:

- Battle Ridge Company of Betsy Layne, base bid $2,295,000, with a $288,000 alternate addition;
- D.L. Ruth Contracting Company of Ashland, base bid $2,398,948, with a $403,239 alternate addition; and

- C & W Equipment of Manchester, base bid $1,450,000, with a $735,000 alternate addition.

C & W had bid $1.3 million when the site preparation contract was first awarded.

New bids were sought after state Director of Buildings and Grounds Mike Luscher recommended that competitive offers be solicited.

Squads halt search, clues missing too

The search for a missing Magoffin County woman has been put on hold and officials have no clues in the woman's disappearance.

Magoffin County Rescue Squad captain Carter Conley said Tuesday that rescue efforts have been suspended in the search for Irene Baises, 41, who disappeared June 29. Conley said the squad is waiting until more information becomes available.

Conley said that family members and neighbors continue to comb the area looking for Baises. He said there has been no evidence of foul play in the case.

Baises was last seen June 29 when she stopped at the home of Matthew Bailey at Salt Lick in Floyd County, where she asked for directions and water. She reportedly left her home at Puncheon Creek in Magoffin County Friday, June 28, after a family disagreement, officials said last week.

Baises is described as being 5'7", 130 pounds with shoulder-length dark brown hair. She was last seen wearing a flowered pull-over top, gray tinted blue jeans and green shoes.

Anyone with information about Baises' disappearance is urged to contact the Magoffin County Rescue Squad at 349-5500, or the Kentucky State Police at 437-7311.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

The top political story for 1991, outside the governor's race, of course, appears to be which incumbent will be affected the worst by the necessary realignment of Kentucky's congressional districts.

One thing is certain. The state is going to lose one of its seven seats in the U.S. House of Representatives as the result of a declining population.

Another thing is certain. Politicians will be responsible for deciding how the state will be carved up into districts.

From what we've seen and heard so far, the emphasis on redistricting runs parallel to the interests of incumbent Congressmen.

Nowhere have we heard the interests of state residents brought into the arguments.

Democrats want to dilute the influence of Republicans.

Republicans want to hang on to what little influence they have.

When the smoke clears, there will be one final certainty.

Kentucky will have one less player in the screwball comedy we call our federal government.

Maybe this is one of those times when less is more.

The Texas Bar Association has struck upon a novel idea.

Lone Star state lawyers think legal documents ought to be written in plain English.

Hooray for them.

A Kentucky statute, the state Legislative Research Commission writes, requires that state laws be written "in nontechnical language and in a clear and coherent manner" but another law notes that "enactment of a bill... shall be a conclusive presumption that such bill conforms" to the easy-to-read requirements.

That means, we assume, that a bill written in Chinese would be considered "coherent" if the General Assembly chose to enact it.

Perhaps it would be wiser to require first that legislators be "coherent" and then worry about the language of their laws.

Capiche?

A bill pre-filed for deliberation in the 1992 session of Kentucky's General Assembly would open the books on juveniles accused of violent crimes.

Under current law, criminal records of youths under the age of 18 are closed to the public, allowing, at least theoretically, a violent offender to go unnoticed outside the courts. And, because the law treats juveniles with less severity, punishment does not often serve as a deterrent.

The public has a right to know who threatens its tranquility regardless of the age of the perpetrator and public scrutiny of those who commit violent crimes is just.

In today's drug infested society, violence is a way of life and the criminals are getting younger and younger.

Exposing these young criminals to the public may not solve the problem, but it could at least lift part of the cloak of legally imposed secrecy under which they travel.

Kids will be kids, that's true.

When kids become rapists, killers and muggers, though, we have a right to know who they are.

State road chief Milo Bryant has said the state is determined to reconstruct a scenic two-lane road that connects Lexington with Paris.

The 18-mile four-laning project, Bryant noted, is a priority of Governor Wallace Wilkinson.

So, what's unusual about this promise of a new road? Road construction projects are, after all, the butter for every Kentucky politician's bread.

The difference between this and any other project, it seems, is that while the state is determined to build the road, a sizable number of people are just as determined to stop it.

There's a new twist.

Usually it takes years of crying, whining and begging to get a road project okayed by the state and most still end up in the no-can-do pile.

But here we have people who don't want a road and the state road commissioner saying "I'm doing everything I possibly can" to see that it is built.

Maybe we're taking the wrong approach here in the land of pot-holes.

Maybe we ought to dare the state to complete the four-laning of Route 23 to the Virginia line and to reconstruct the two-lane section of the Mountain Parkway.

Hey, Milo. You listening? Touch those projects and we'll sue the pants off'n ya. (tee hee)

Come on. Make our day.

Editor,

I would first of all like to congratulate you on a job well done in covering the happenings in Floyd County. Having been away for 30-some odd years, I must confess that I have always, and shall continue, to call Floyd County home. After reading the letter from the gentleman from Ohio, I would like to offer a few observations of my own.

Your coverage of the educational fiasco in Floyd County was certainly award winning. I have observed that superintendents, board members, board chairmen and principals may come and go — but teachers stay, stay and stay some more. I say this only because board members must realize that their first duty is to the children.

The trust a community puts in their board member is sacred and must never be violated. Five years ago our school district voted to increase taxes (just as Kentucky and Floyd County have done). We felt a job well done was deserving of a modest raise. Our students rank among the top in the state. Sadly, in Floyd County the same can't be said.

Floyd County students rank among the lowest in the state — this is verifiable by all data. This condition is worsened when one realizes that Kentucky ranks among the lowest in the nation. One can easily see that Floyd County students may be in a dead-heat with Mississippi and Arkansas for the worst education in the nation.

I am, frankly, appalled that Kentucky citizens felt such honors merited any raise at all, especially 25-percent (1/4) their yearly salary. This hyper-increase in salary is unheard of in most quarters. I wonder how many laid-off miners, truckers, merchants and retired citizens are now buckling under the heavy burden of increased taxes — an increase which, if memory serves, will be bone jarring in 1992.

I fear many families will suffer needlessly to justify a 25-percent increase in pay for a job that requires six hours a day, nine months a year with two weeks off for Christmas.

According to the February issue of U.S. News and World Report, Kentucky holds the dubious honor of ranking eighth in the nation in the percentage of taxes paid at all levels. These high taxes are being paid in a state that ranks 43rd in income per capita. I wonder how many young adults can be offered a starting salary of nearly $20,000 with no experience.

If space permits, I would like to applaud your coverage of board members. I believe you quoted one member a few months back as saying, "teachers need all they can get, and I'm for them." I must admit, I was taken aback by this statement. His duty is to the children, not KEA, NEA or any other union activists. Shame upon any person or union that would exploit children for the sake of filthy lucre.

Luckily your board members have belatedly found the courage to stand up for the children. They now say they will condone no more picket lines. As summer ends, they face, once again, the union activists with their never-ending demand for more money. I encourage them to do as men of old, and lift up their eyes until the hills from which cometh their strength. I pray they can look them squarely in the eyes and with the courage of a Samson, order them back in the classroom and off the picket lines.

I encourage board members everywhere to stand with the children, the alternative is to put a plaque over each classroom door with the words from Dante's Inferno "Abandon hope, all ye who enter here!"

Board members must remember the oft-quoted words of Mark Twain, "those who can do — those who can't, teach." The words should be the opening passage at every board meeting across our land and country. Board members everywhere must stand united against any unionism of the public sector.

I ask them to call to remembrance the words of Justice Harold Keeton, who in 1986, in the face of blatant rape of the public coffers, stood like a rock and said, "those who would violate the public trust by seeking to feed long and hard at the public trough, are like hogs — one must take a stick and hit them squarely on the snout."

Do not allow yourselves to be held hostage by anyone but the children.

To the working people of Floyd County, let me first of all encourage you to hold on, for this too will pass. One day your children will look back through the portals of time and remember your long days at labor, eight to 10 hours a day, six days a week, 52 weeks a year in sunshine as well as snow and ice. They will remember it was not you who closed their sacred institutions. In their moments of quiet reflection, they will surely rise up and call you blessed.

If I may be permitted, I would like to let the Times know how much I appreciate their paper. The ink gets mighty thin by the time I get it. My daughter and son-in-law get it first; my wife "steals" it from them; by the time I get home, I'm lucky if I can find it all up. Best of luck in the future and continue to call 'em as you see 'em.

I am tracing my family ancestors on the Hites and Strattons. I am a descendant of these two.
My great-grandfather was Lemuel

Strather Hite, born May 22, 1829 at Guyandotte, Virginia, died February 8, 1910 at Catlettsburg, Kentucky. He married Hanna Jane Haggerty, born December 21, 1826 at Butler County, Pennsylvania. She died October 27, 1922, at Catlettsburg, Kentucky.

They had four children, two girls and two boys. One son's name was Eugene Jacob Hite. My grandfather who married Lula Stratton, born at Paintsville, Kentucky, November 17, 1872 and died March 24, 1953 at Catlettsburg, Kentucky. Her parents were Thomas J. Stratton and Mary Jane Roberts Stratton.

Their son Lemuel Eguene Hite was my father, born April 29, 1903 at Catlettsburg and died September 9, 1970, buried at Catlettsburg, Kentucky. My mother was Myrtle Collins Hite, born June 22, 1905. I'm not sure where she lived at that time. She was the daughter of John Wylie Collins, born March 12, 1884 at Boyd County, died March 20, 1978 at Wellston, Ohio and Alice Belle Martin Collins, born November 29, 1883 at Boyd County, Kentucky, died March 10, 1962 at Wellston, Ohio. Both are buried at Wellston, Ohio. Great-grandparents were George Martin and Susie Dalton Martin.

I don't know where Thomas J. Stratton and his wife, Mary Jane Roberts Stratton, are buried, though. Any information you can send me will help. Hope to hear from someone.

Report to Kentucky

Senator Wendell Ford

July 4th was for "the beautiful Americans"

Independence Day is always a day for the celebration of the American spirit, but this Fourth of July had a special meaning for all Kentuckians and all Americans this year.

This was a time to celebrate a great renewal of our national spirit—a renewal that must not be allowed to begin and end in the Persian Gulf.

Our brave servicemen and women are being celebrated around the world not only for their Persian Gulf victory but also for their continuing service to humanity.

Through their service to the victims of repression in the Middle East and to thousands of victims of natural disasters in other parts of the world, our troops have become known as "the Beautiful Americans."

They have reminded us that we live not only in the freest and strongest nation but also the nation with the biggest heart on this earth.

Our troops have also reminded us that freedom is not free—that it must be won and won again by each new generation of Americans. Some have joined the legions of American heroes, including more than 13,000 Kentuckians, who have paid for that freedom with their lives over the course of our history.

This Independence Day was a time to honor all of the heroes who helped to defend our precious freedom and democracy. It is a time to express our enduring gratitude to all who have served in Operation Desert Shield and Desert Storm and all who are still waiting to come home from the Persian Gulf.

I believe that we can best express our gratitude by building on the new spirit of strength, optimism and humanitarian service that these courageous men and women have created for us.

We can express our support, our pride and our gratitude by joining them in applying this same "can-do" spirit to the many serious problems facing us right here at home.

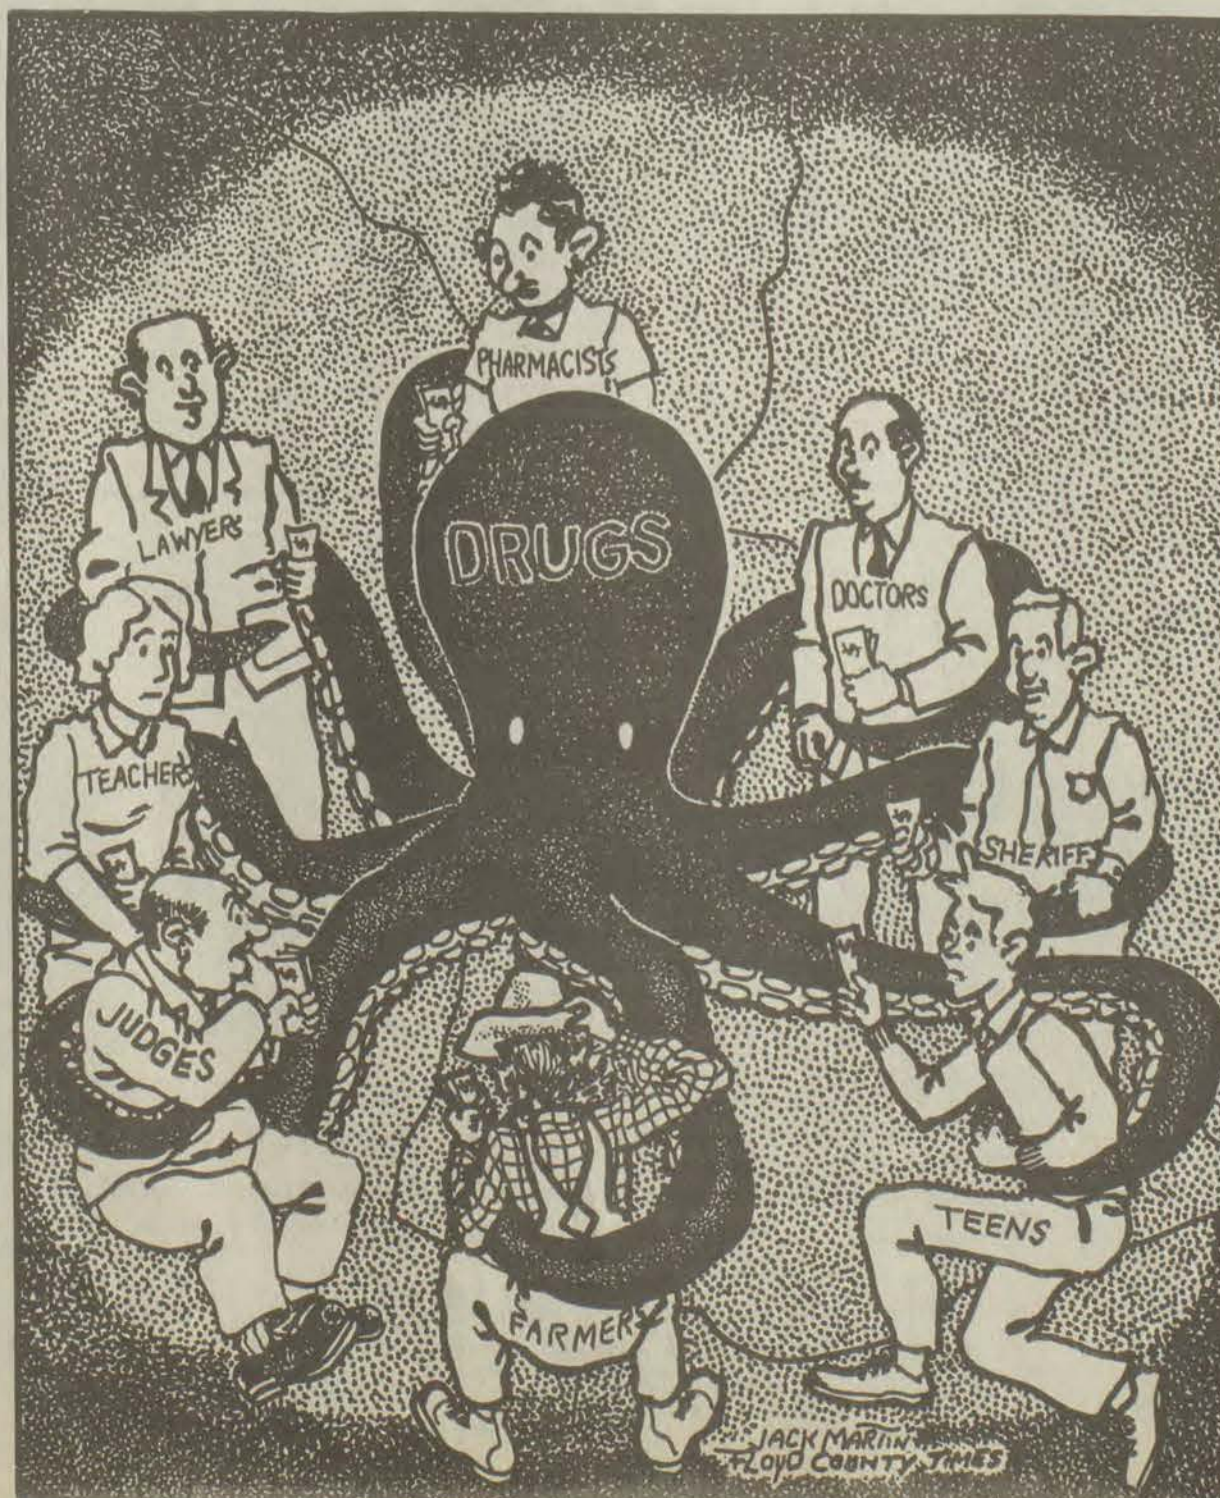

Our returning servicemen and women deserve challenging job opportunities. They deserve the best educational opportunities, the best housing opportunities and the very best health care that a great nation has to offer.

They deserve a strong economy, no longer threatened by a costly dependence on imported oil—an intolerable dependence that could lead us into future wars. They have won a victory on foreign shores, and they should be returning to a nation that is winning the war on crime and drugs in their own communities.

We have yet to achieve all of these great goals for many Americans. But our troops have showed us that we can meet any challenge and solve any problem confronting this nation.

Our greatest challenge is to follow their example. There can be no better time than Independence Day each year to remind ourselves that we owe it to them, to our children and to future generations of Americans to do just that.

New poverty guidelines may add more WIC recipients

More low-income Kentuckians may qualify for a maternal and child nutrition program because of annual federal government revisions in poverty levels.

On July 1, the revisions brought about a four to five percent increase in the annual income limits for families applying for WIC, formally known as the Special Supplemental Food Program, for Women, Infants and Children.

For example, the annual maximum income for a family of four increased from $23,495 to $24,790.

The increases may help families with incomes near the current maximums to become eligible for WIC, according to state WIC Director Peggy Kidd.

"Families who have incomes bordering on the maximum limits and who have been turned down in the past should check with their local health department to see if they now qualify," Kidd said.

Approximately 94,000 Kentuckians currently receive WIC benefits monthly, Kidd said, compared to 93,000 in June 1990.

WIC provides nutrition education and specific foods high in protein, iron and vitamins A and C to low-income pregnant women, new mothers, infants and children up to five years of age who have health problems that can be improved through better nutrition.

The goal of WIC, which is funded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is to improve the health of children through proper nutrition.

For more information on WIC eligibility, Kentuckians can contact their local health department.

In Memoriam of Our Loving Son JIMMY PENIX

who passed away July 19, 1984

God saw you getting weary, He did what he knew best, He put his arms around you, And took you home to rest.

The flowers we place upon your grave will only wilt away, But our love for you will never fade away.

Looking back with memories along the road we trod, We bless the years we had you and leave the rest to God.

Our thoughts are always with you and only God knows how we hurt,

Pike County chamber honors area leaders

More than 400 Pike countians recently gathered together to applaud the accomplishments of the Pike County Chamber of Commerce.

During the annual celebration, awards were presented to those whose efforts have made a significant and positive difference in the community and to the chamber.

Among the winners for outstanding work in tourism development were Roger Copley and Elkhorn City Festivals, Inc.; Pike County Extension Office; and Ann Charles and the Pikeville-Pike County Tourism Commission.

For outstanding work in cleanup and beautification, Judge Paul Patton, the Pike County Fiscal Court and the Pike County Solid Waste Department; and Mayor Walter May, and the City of Pikeville were presented awards.

The Chamber Enhancement Award for outstanding work on behalf of the Pike County Chamber was presented to four organizations: James A. Ellis and Associates; Darrell Maynard and Eastern Telephone; the Elliott Companies; and Pikeville College.

Norma Baker was honored as the chamber's volunteer of the year and Sidney Coal was distinguished as the Pike County business of the year for outstanding leadership in the Pike County School-business partnership program.

The first junior Williamson Memorial Award was given to Gerri Kinder, for her effectiveness as an ambassador for Pike County and the Chamber.

Pike County Chamber president Bill Owens passed the gavel to new president John Hiers, who then inducted 29 business and community leaders as the chamber's 1991-1992 board of directors.

The featured guest speaker for the chamber celebration was University of Kentucky basketball coach Rick Pitino whose remarks focused on the teamwork of a successful organization and the motivation behind that success.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Kentucky Opry.

Floyd County Chamber of Commerce

The Floyd County Chamber of Commerce wants to recognize the following individuals for their recent promotions, awards and appointments: Steve Pack, CPA, who was named president of the Eastern Kentucky Chapter of the Kentucky Society of CPAs; Thomas N. Hall, with Hall Funeral Home in Martin, who was named the district director of Eastern Kentucky, and Jim Carter, with Carter Funeral Home in Prestonsburg, who received the Golden Service Certificate during the Funeral Directors Association of Kentucky convention.

A warm Floyd County welcome goes out to Drs. Mark and Kimberly Nordin of Nordin Eye Center in Prestonsburg. The Chamber also welcomes East Kentucky Explosives to their new location on Lancer-Watergap Road.

The Floyd County Chamber of Commerce encourages everyone to come out to the Jenny Wiley Amphitheater and enjoy Broadway productions by the Jenny Wiley Theatre

Tuesday - Sunday and the Kentucky Opry on Monday nights. For ticket information call 886-9274. July 25 is Floyd County night at the theatre — let's pack the place.

On July 12, the Chamber will meet with the Kentucky State Chamber Executive Board at noon at the Jenny Wiley Lodge. Those who plan to attend this meeting, please call the Chamber office at 886-1431.

Diabetic support group at Our Lady of the Way

The newly formed diabetic support group will host its second meeting on July 22 from 1 p.m.-2 p.m. in the Seton Complex Building.

Anyone with diabetes, their spouses, family member, or friends are invited to attend; group participation is free of charge.

Babies abound at Our Lady of the Way

Last year, 334 babies were born at Our Lady of the Way, which averages approximately 28 births per month. In the past month alone, however, 39 babies were born; two were sets of twins.

Obstetricians/gynecologists at the hospital delivering this unprecedented record of offsprings are Dr. Chandra Varia and Dr. Krish Potnis. Dr. Chandra came to Martin in 1979 and has had an office practice in Martin since her arrival. During this time, she has served on the medical staff of Our Lady of the Way and has served other clinics in the area as well.

In 1987, Dr. Potnis came to Martin and opened his OB/GYN practice. Since his arrival, he has served on the Our Lady of the Way medical staff and has served numerous other clinics in the area.

In addition to pre and postnatal care received in the office setting of Dr. Chandra and Dr. Potnis, Our Lady of the Way Community Education Department offers birthing classes in which the mother-to-be and her support person can participate.

Our Lady of the Way's Community Education Department offers both adult and teen childbirth classes. Over the last year, these classes have served over 200 mothers, babies, and support persons.

On June 16, 1991, the teen childbirth program, "I Love My Baby", celebrated its first year anniversary with a reunion/reception for those who had participated in the teen classes over the past year. Those attending the reunion received complimentary gifts and education materials.

The teens not only receive childbirth instructions during the classes. Each learns to explore parenting, educational, and job skill options that are available to teens. They also receive information concerning social services and community assistance agencies.

After delivery at Our Lady of the Way, both adult and teen parents receive complimentary gifts from OLW, the Christian Appalachian Project, and the Martin Foodland. As a special service to the new parents, Our Lady of the Way Dietary helps the parents celebrate by providing them with a complimentary steak dinner at the hospital.

Viewing solar eclipse may cause serious eye damage

This Thursday, July 11, people across the country will be able to view the what has been called the "Eclipse of the Century". An eclipse of this length will not be seen again until 2009. Here in Kentucky the solar eclipse will cover about 40% and will be visible in the afternoon.

Many people mistakenly think they can watch the eclipse safely. They are very wrong. If they look directly at the sun, even during a total eclipse, invisible rays can painfully burn the retina of their eyes (this is called solar retinopathy) and possibly cause irreversible retinal scarring. The retina is the inner lining of the back of the eyes (like the film in a camera). It contains the receptor nerve cells that give the eyes their sensitivity to light and in turn send the optical visual images to the brain. So, any burning or scarring to the retina can result in permanent loss of vision, even blindness.

Such damage can happen quickly, even without noticing it as symptoms often do not appear for hours after viewing the eclipse.

So how can one safely look at an eclipse of the sun?

Never view an eclipse directly unless under the direction of an astronomer at a public eclipse viewing session. It's much safer to watch it on TV or indirectly through a sunscope box.

What are some UNSAFE ways to view an eclipse?

Do not try to view an eclipse of sun through smoked glass, sunglasses, photographic film (color or black and white), welder's goggles or photographic filters. All of these are unsafe. Viewing an eclipse directly through binoculars or a telescope is even worse, as they magnify and intensify the sun's rays.

Remember, looking directly at the sun by any means, whether during an eclipse or not can cause permanent vision loss.

For further information, contact, the Kentucky Optometric Foundation, (502) 875-3516.

The first labor day parade was held in New York City in 1882 under the auspices of the Central Labor Union of September 5. This initiates the practice of celebrating a "labor day," according to "Labor Firsts in America," a publication by the U.S. Labor Department.

The third annual Robinson-Brown reunion will be held beginning July 19 with a swimming pool party, from 6 until 10 p.m., at Archer Park. There will also be Pizza available and lots of camaraderie for those who don't want to tread the water.

The reunion continues on Saturday at Archer Park with a big picnic at noon. Hot dogs and hamburgers will be furnished, but each family should bring a large covered dish and a 2-liter bottle of soft drink.

There will be games for both children and adults. Trophies will be awarded for special categories.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend this heart-warming event. For more information, call Charlotte Crum, 886-2242; Bonnie Dotson, 886-8258; Peggy Prater, 886-2733; Barbara Dotson, 886-6765; Eliza Dotson, 886-3318.

FCEA picnic

The FCEA will hold its annual picnic Sunday, July 14, 2-6 p.m. at Allen Park. All parents, teachers, students, citizens — anyone who is interested in improving education — are invited to attend. Parents for Better Schools will be honored by FCEA for their contribution to improving education in Floyd County. Please bring a covered dish.

FCEA to hold regional meets

The Executive Committee of the FCEA and its members will hold regional, information meetings on the following dates:

• July 16 at Betsy Layne Elementary School, beginning at 6 p.m., teachers from Stumbo, Harold, Prater, and Betsy Layne elementaries and from Betsy Layne High School.

• July 17 at Allen Elementary, beginning at 6 p.m., teachers from Martin, Duff, Allen Central, Prestonsburg, Clark, Adams, Allen, and Auxier.

• July 18 at McDowell High School cafeteria, beginning at 6 p.m., teachers from Wheelwright, Melvin, Osborne and McDowell.

Bradley reunion

The family of the late Joe and Pearl Bradley will hold their seventh annual reunion Saturday, July 13, at Shelter No. 2 in the Downstream Recreation area at Dewey Lake Dam. All family members and friends are urged to attend. For more information, call Bonnie Bradley at 886-8310.

Moore reunion

The family of the late Mart and Mandy Collins will hold their sixth annual reunion Saturday, July 13, in Marion, Ohio at Sawyer Ludwig Park, Moose Hall. For more information, call Millie M. Reynolds, 400 Delaware Avenue, Apt. 815, Marion, Ohio 43302, or call Virgie Moore, 1-614-383-3498 or Sterling Moore, 1-614-279-7454.

Newsome reunion

There will be a Newsome reunion for all Newsomes Saturday, July 20, at the Virgie Athletic Center. Bring a covered dish as lunch will be served in the cafeteria. Everyone is welcome.

Risner reunion

The Risner reunion will be held at the Salyers Elementary School on Sunday, July 21, beginning at 10 a.m. Dinner will be potluck. A covered dish will be appreciated. All Risners and friends are urged to attend. For more information call Jewell Lovely, 884-6964.

Meade Memorial School to hold second reunion

A planning group met recently in Paintsville to plan for a second annual reunion of all former students of the old Meade Memorial High School.

The reunion will be Saturday, October 5, (Apple Day), starting at six in the evening at Mayo School auditorium on Third Street in Paintsville.

A person from each class will be contacting fellow classmates to ask them to bring memorabilia to display that evening.

Volunteers need to train for area firefighter units

The Floyd County Firefighter's Association is looking for a few good men. Openings are available at once for volunteers who are mature, healthy, conscientious persons who can carry out orders and train for leadership. Applications may be picked up from the Chief, Officers, or Firefighters.

The volunteer firefighter works unlimited hours, 24 hours a day/7 days a week under daredevil, death-defying conditions. Free professional training, with lots of "On the Job" experience. The association supplies the most modern gear. This is a no pay position, but occasionally firefighters are rewarded with a donut, pat on the back and a free chewing out.

Now is the chance for those who have always wanted to drive a fire truck, ring the bell, blow the sirens, toot the horn, climb a ladder, squirt the hose. Now all these things can come true.

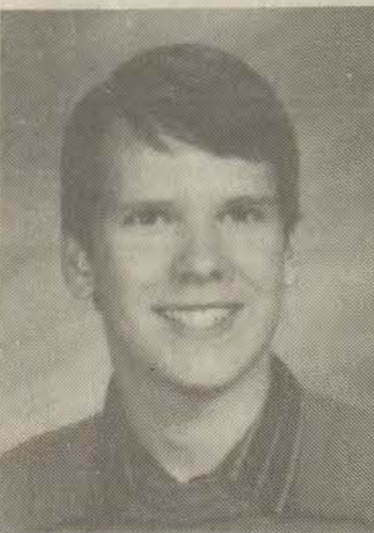

This is a job that will make a man out of you, or kill you trying, besides giving you free coffee and donuts while on the job. The pay is cheap, but the self-esteem is great, now you can be a hero and help someone in need.

Salyersville resident honored at luncheon

A Salyersville resident was among the 16 employees who have been named Outstanding Employees of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet as part of the cabinet's Employee Recognition Program.

Kevin L. Howard of Salyersville was honored during a luncheon at the Governor's Mansion in Frankfort June 27 for his outstanding job performance and dedicated service to the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

After the luncheon, the honorees participated in a roundtable discussion with cabinet officials to talk about ways to improve cabinet programs and procedures. One hundred cabinet employees were nominated by their coworkers for the honor.

Who's who

Michael Maynard, a Prestonsburg High School Junior, has been nominated for Who's Who Among American High School Students. He is the son of John C. and Shirley Maynard and his biography will appear in the 1991 annual for Who's Who.

New protection against misleading ads

by Jim Kelly
Social Security
District Director

A new law to combat mail scams is expected to provide much needed protection to Social Security beneficiaries besieged by various solicitations under the cover of official-looking envelopes. Called the Deceptive Mailings Prevention Act, the new law gives the United States Postal Service specific power to stop delivery of mail that gives the impression it is connected with the government.

The law says that any envelope (or the face of any postcard) that includes a name, seal, insignia, term, or symbol that could reasonably cause it to be mistaken for a mailing from the government will not be delivered unless there is also a prominent "disclaimer." The disclaimer must appear on the envelope (or face of the postcard), and must clearly state that the mailing is not made or endorsed by the government.

Many companies use "Social Security" or "Medicare" as a "come-on" to get people to read their advertisements. Even worse, some of these ads appear to deliberately try to mislead people into thinking they have to respond or they might lose Social Security or Medicare benefits.

Here are the steps you should take if you receive mail you think violates this new law. First, you can go to your local post office, explain why you're concerned about the mailing, and ask the people there to forward the mailing to the Postal Inspector's office.

Second, if you prefer, you can send in a complaint directly to the Chief Postal Inspector, at this address:

Chief Postal Inspector, United States Postal Service, 475 L'Enfant Plaza, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20260-2100.

Be sure to give the post office everything you received, including any envelope or wrapper. Also, be sure to include your name and address, the nature of your concern, and the date you got it in the mail. All that information will help the Postal Inspector take any necessary action.

Current booklets on Social Security are available free to the public at your local Social Security Office. Don't let mail order offers take your money for these free services.

For more information, contact the Social Security Office on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. If you prefer to handle your Social Security matters by telephone you can call 886-8525, Monday through Friday.

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

PAINTSVILLE TO BE PROUD OF FACILITY...

After driving to Paintsville Monday evening in what was supposed to have been the start of the District 7, Area 2 Little League tournament, I was standing in the press box and admiring the great facility the folks at Paintsville have put together for Little League baseball. The fans, parents and players in the Paintsville area have every reason to be proud of what they have for their kids to play Little League baseball on.

Even while the rains fell, ground crews were trying to keep the field ready in case the rains let up. However, the first night was washed out.

A well trimmed infield, two nice press boxes, a concession stand in the center of the whole complex, a running/walking track plus two extra fields, a well trained umpire crew — Folks, you are very fortunate!

JENNY WILEY WAVES ARE BACK IN THE WATER...

If you like a switch from all the baseball in the area, try going out and supporting the Jenny Wiley Waves, a summer swimming team and defending champions of last year. It is great fun and the competition is furious. I'll guarantee you will love it. The Waves will make waves at the Jenny Wiley pool next Tuesday at 6 p.m.

ALL-STAR CLASSIC HAS BECOME A JOKE...

It is nothing like the old days. I'm talking about the Major League All-Star charades. It has become a joke as far as putting the best talent on the field. Can you believe some of these jokers that made the team and, worse yet, some that did not even get picked by the managers.

National League manager Lou Piniella has pulled one big boner — the snub of Fred McGriff, first baseman for the San Diego Padres. McGriff ought to call McGruff (that's the crime prevention dog) and complain about the neighborhood crime. McGriff has only hit 15 home runs and driven in 50 runs, yet, not only was he not voted on by the fans, but wasn't even chosen by Piniella for the reserve team.

The fans voted Chris Sabo as the National League's starting third baseman. Sabo is batting a hefty .282 and has hammered 12 home runs while driving in 37 runs. There is a third baseman in New York by the name of Howard Johnson who is leading the major leagues with 60 runs batted in and 19 home runs. Why, fans, did you do it? All-Stars are supposed to be the league's elite, the best, the top of the line. This year's National League squad is far from that.

Last year's All-Star hero, Julio Franco (you remember, the one who reached Reds ace reliever Rob Dibble for a two-run double) was not voted to start but, was picked on the reserve list. Instead, Toronto's Roberto Alomar will be starting. Alomar is hitting a robust .281, while Franco is at .321. It doesn't make sense. Get this, Mark McGwire is hitting an exciting .191 while last year's home-run king, Cecil Fielder (19 homers and 62 RBIs this year), sits on the bench. However, a break may have come for Fielder because of McGwire not being able to play in the mid-season classic.

Oh well, that's the difference between today's ball players and those of yesteryear. They have the big bucks and have no incentives to play harder.

SICK LIST.....

Doesn't the actions of Mel Hall of the New York Yankees this past week make you sick?

QUOTE OF THE WEEK....

Mark Hall, playing in the Fourth of July softball tournament at Archer Park, commenting on the remarks of the similarities between him and Eric Davis in the outfield.

"There's one difference, he won't play hurt."

Enough said!

Until Friday, good sports everyone!

Fick, Hamilton In Prestonsburg Promoting Morehead Eagles

New Morehead State University (MSU) head basketball coach Dick Fick and Athletic Director Steve Hamilton were in Prestonsburg Tuesday to promote Morehead State. Fick became the Eagles new head coach on May 23, replacing Tommy Gaithers who resigned earlier.

The 38-year-old native of Joliet, Illinois, came to MSU after serving six years as an assistant coach at Creighton University.

During his tenure on the staff of Coach Tony Barone at Creighton, the Bluejays record included three straight 20-win seasons, two trips to the NCAA Tournament and a trip to the NIT.

Fick was in charge of Creighton's recruiting, scheduling travel and scouting, as well as on floor preparation.

"I love coaching," said Fick at Attorney Robert Rowe's office, "but if there is one phase of college coaching I don't like it would be the scheduling of games. It used to be a lot simpler than it is now. We would play a team like Maryland when Lefty Driesell was coaching there and it would be simply, 'let's play each other.' Now it's 'what can I get out of it?' Teams do not want to play in areas they do not recruit in this day and time."

Fick said that recruiting was never a problem with him, although it does bother a lot of college coaches. "I enjoy recruiting," he explained. "I travel a lot of miles and see a lot of basketball games and players. I love doing it. I get to do something I enjoy and get paid for it."

Prior to joining Creighton's program, Fick spent six seasons at Valparaiso, one season as a graduate assistant and five seasons as an assistant basketball coach. There Fick handled recruiting, scouting and various coaching and administrative duties as Valparaiso entered NCAA Division I.

Fick spent one season as head basketball coach at Joliet West High School. At Aurora Central Catholic High School, Fick spent one season and led his team to the Illinois state championship finals and the school's first-ever sectional and super sectional championships. He also was Aurora Centrals assistant coach for two seasons.

Fick says that he is anticipating the upcoming basketball season as Morehead's head coach.

"I am extremely excited about it," he said of his move to MSU, "and I am very optimistic of the program there. Morehead is rich in basketball tradition and we want to continue that tradition."

"We have a tough schedule coming up this year that will include the likes of Kentucky, Louisville, Clemson and Oklahoma. We will also be concentrating on recruiting in Kentucky and especially here in Eastern Kentucky. We will also work in Indiana and the state of Ohio."

"We will play a tough schedule because that is what the kids want to play. I feel the time is right for me to make a move to head coaching and to be able to work with a person of Steve Hamilton's quality."

Hamilton is the school's Athletic Director and is better known for his 11 years of major league baseball experience. Hamilton pitched for the Cleveland Indians, Washington Senators, New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox, San Francisco Giants and the Chicago Cubs. Hamilton is the originator of the "Folly Floater," and he pitched in two World Series with the Yankees.

Fick says that when a player receives a scholarship at MSU, it does not guarantee him a uniform on the basketball team.

"All it guarantees him is entrance into the school, not a uniform. Each player must earn a uniform. That takes desire and determination."

"If a player comes here and works hard he will get a uniform and play on the basketball team. If he does not want to work hard and learn the team's concept of things then we tell him he should go to another school and to have a good season."

Feds Creek standout and former University of Kentucky recruit, Jody Thompson will become eligible to play for the Eagles in December.

Coach Fick said that this year's Eagles team would be an up tempo type team and that the fans would enjoy watching them play.

"That's the way I like to play basketball, that's the way the players want to play and that's the way the fans want us to play," explained Fick. "It makes for exciting college basketball and we want to give the players and fans what they want."

"We will find out which players want to play our style. I like shooters and players that have desire and determination. We want to get up and down the floor and we want to average a 100 points a game."

Fick said that in order for his team to average 100 points a game, they must play defense.

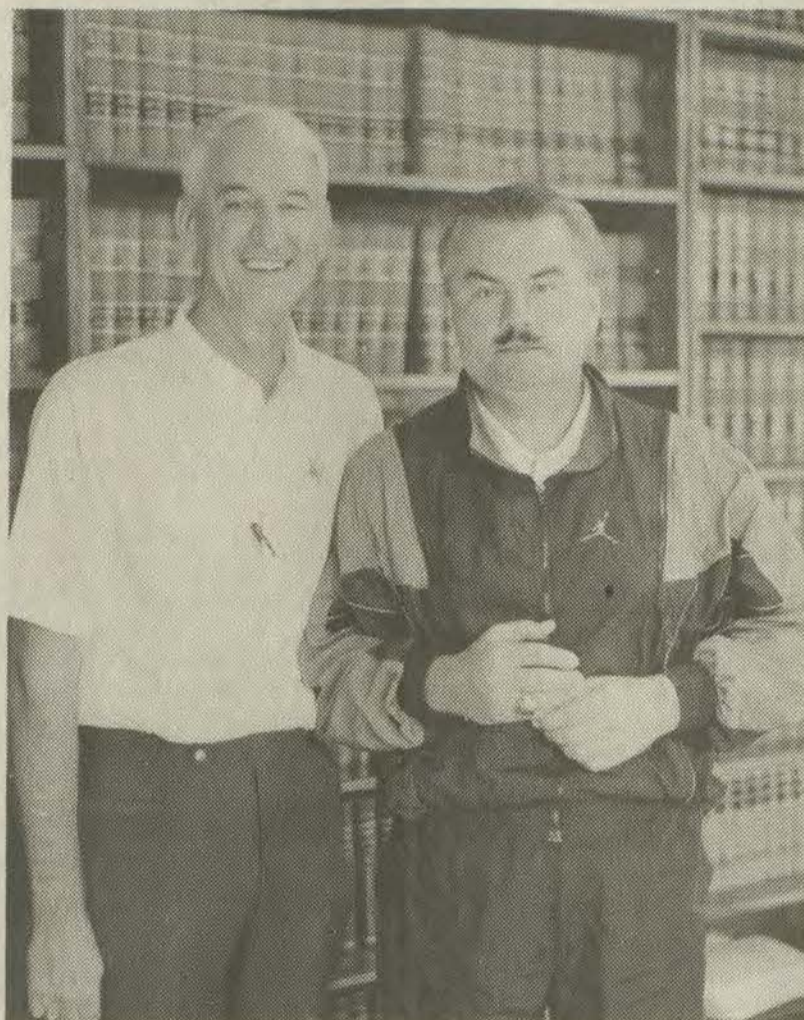

Pride in the university is on the high priority list for Coach Fick. "We want five to six players to buy into what we want this year. We want them to buy into how hard it is going to be," said Fick.

Fick said that he is currently looking at three players from Eastern Kentucky as well as in the Somerset area. "We are looking for kids that want to come to Morehead," he said.

Fick said that in the following weeks he will be traveling extensively and will see around 6,000 players in different camps and tournaments around the country between July 5 and 31. "I will start with a look at players at Somerset and then on to Indianapolis, Pittsburgh, Louisville, Lexington, Chicago, Los Vegas, Los Angeles, back to Chicago and Cincinnati."

15th Region Football Officials Meeting Set For July 14 At Pikeville High School

Interested in calling high school football this season? Are you planning on calling high school football this season? If so, then it is a must that you be one of the several 15th Region football officials in attendance at the organizational meeting scheduled for this Sunday at the Pikeville High School. The meeting is set to start at 2 p.m. According to Andrew Joyce, the meeting is for beginners as well as experienced officials. Remember, if you plan to call football games this season this meeting is a must.

For more information contact Andrew Joyce at 437-9519 after 5 p.m.

Jenny Wiley Waves Are Back As New Season Begins

It is that time of year again when the Swim League begins a new season. Last year's season was a big success as the Waves were the season champions. Now it is time to begin defense of last year's title and it all begins in July. The Waves will be having a swim meet on Tuesday, July 16, at 6:30 p.m. at the Jenny Wiley Pool. The swimmers range in age from seven to 17. The meet will be against Martin County.

Concessions will be available with hot dogs and snacks. Please come out and support the young Waves from Floyd County.

In an advance meet, the Waves will travel to Magoffin County on July 23.

Big catch!

Former Martin resident Ed Howell, now residing in Detroit, Michigan, proudly displayed this catch of walleyes that he hooked in Lake Erie. The catch weighed in at 35 pounds. Howell is retired from Cadillac and spends all the hours he can fishing.

Ken's Sport Shop Captures Archer Park Fourth of July Tournament Over J & K

Coming out of the loser's bracket of the Archer Park 26th Annual Fourth of July Softball Tournament, Ken's Sports Shop defeated J & K twice, 8-7 and 6-4 to claim the championship of the local tournament.

The park was looking its best as Fourth of July banners circled the outfield fence and banners wrapped the existing trees. Seventeen teams signed up for the three day tournament that saw some very exciting games with some very exciting teams.

Ken's Sport Shop had fallen to the J & K team 7-2 in a battle of the two unbeaten teams. In the second game between the two power houses, Bruce Shelton scored what proved the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning when he came home on Jimmy Blakenship's second hit of the game. Shelton had lead off the inning with a base hit and moved up on John Kurkowski's single.

Ken's Sport Shop trailed 7-4 and faced elimination until they knotted the score with three runs in the bottom of the fifth. J & K put two runners on in the sixth but left them stranded.

J & K jumped out to a 2-0 lead with a two-run first inning. Donnie Williams reached on an error at shortstop but was erased when he tried to go to third on a base hit by John Goble. Williams was nailed on a peg from the short fielder. Kenny Belcher then accounted for the two runs with a long home run.

Ken's went ahead 4-2 with four runs in the bottom of the first. Shelton singled leading off and, after John Kurkowski fanned (in slow pitch softball), Jimmy Blakenship singled and Shelton scored on Bobby King's base hit. Greg Shepherd reached on a base hit, scoring Blakenship. King and Shepherd scored on Ronnie Little's single.

J & K came back to claim the lead 5-4 with three runs in the second. Chris Smith singled and Jamie Adkins duplicated the feat. Smith scored on a base hit by Bud Newsome and Bobby Bowersock singled, scoring Adkins. Newsome eventually scored on a sacrifice fly.

A two-run third gave J & K a 7-4 lead. Junior Gamble doubled and scored on Smith's double. Smith came in to score on Newsome's second hit of the game.

Because of the double elimination format, Ken's Sport Shop had to defeat J & K twice. So a second game was necessary. Ken's held off a late charge by J & K and edged the challengers 5-4 in the championship game.

Ken's had retired the first nine batters for J & K as they built a 4-0 lead with a three-run third.

Whitt broke the string with a base hit leading off the fourth for J & K.

John Goble singled and Whitt scored on Kenny Belcher's single. Goble scored the second run when Randy Cline collected a base hit to make it a 4-2 game.

Ken's scored their three runs on a base hit by Tim Rice and Jeff Cole's base on balls. Shelton reached on an error at second base allowing Rice to score. Kurkowski scored Cole, and

Archer Park 4th of July Softball Tournament

GATEWAY VS KENS SPORTS SHOP

Ken's Sports Shop scored five runs in the top of the seventh inning to erase a 1-0 deficit and went on to post a 5-1 win over Gateway in the opening game of the 26th Annual Archer Park Fourth of July Softball Tournament played over the holiday weekend.

Both teams had problems scoring until Gateway pushed across a run in the bottom of the sixth inning to take a 1-0 lead. The run scored with two out on a base hit by D. Quillen.

Ronnie Little led off the seventh for Ken's with a base hit, but was erased on a fielder's choice play off the bat of Jerry Fultz. Fultz scored on a base hit by Jeff Cole after Tim Rice had singled. Rice scored on John Kurkowski's base hit. Kane Hale walked and Jimmy Blakenship followed with a double driving in two runs. Blankenship scored on Mike Howard's single.

Ken's had a first inning threat underway on a one-out double by Hale and Blankenship's base hit. But King and Howard went out to end the inning.

VILLAGE VS COAL-MAC

Coal-Mac scored seven times in the fourth inning as 11 batters went to the plate and scored a 13-1 win over Village in the second game of the tournament. With one out, Newsome walked and Hale followed with a base hit. Rose then lifted a fly ball to left field that was deep enough to score Newsome. Base hits by Bryan and Melvin scored two more runs. Conley and Hammond picked back-to-back base hits. Coal-Mac scored three unearned runs in the inning.

Village scored their lone run in the third inning as Isaac scored on an error at shortstop.

Coal-Mac had taken a 3-0 lead with a three-run first. They made it 5-0 with two in the second before Village scored.

GOBLE SIGNS VS WMDJ

A three-run third inning gave Goble Signs a 5-3 lead and they never looked back enroute to a 9-4 win over WMDJ. The radio crew lead 3-2 going into the bottom of the third.

In the three-run third with two out, four straight singles produced the three runs. Cavin singled; Maynard followed suit. Cavin scored on L.

Maynard's base hit, and two runs crossed the plate on a base hit by Hieneman.

WMDJ took their brief 3-2 lead with three runs in the top of the inning. Webb singled; after Salten went out to centerfield, Castle got a base hit; Webb scored on Miller's single. Castle came across the plate on a sacrifice fly by Howard, and Miller scored on Dale McKinney's second hit of the game. The AM/FM boys scored their final run in the sixth inning on a base hit by Howard and West's run-producing triple.

Goble Signs scored two runs in the fourth and single runs in the fifth and sixth.

BIG SANDY VS HALLS

Big Sandy Insurance scored six times in the second inning and added seven runs in the third to easily hand Halls a 16-3 loss. The game was called after five innings because of the mercy rule.

Big Sandy collected five consecutive hits in the second inning as they scored six times. Chafin, Conn, Green, Wallace and Hamilton reached base on hits. After two were out, Hunt and Hall singled.

Tucker, Chaffin and Conn singled before Green doubled in the third as seven runs scored. Conn had three hits in the game as did Green. Chaffin collected three hits with a double.

J & K VS VIERS COAL

J & K scored all the runs they needed in the first inning as they defeated Viers Coal 5-2 in softball play.

Donnie Williams led off the first with a base hit and, with one out, Kenny Belcher singled. Both runners scored on Jamie Adkins' double. Adkins came around to score on Bud Newsome's base hit. Chris Smith and John Goble followed with base hits, scoring the five runs.

Viers Coal scored single runs in the first and second innings.

ROWE CONSTRUCTION VS MCDOWELL SOX

Rowe's Construction held off the McDowell Sox and edged the McDowell team 7-5 in tournament action.

Four runs in the first inning and two in the second were all the runs Rowe's needed. They pushed across an insurance run in the fourth inning.

McDowell scored twice in the first and again in the sixth inning.

LIGHTING VS BARKERS

Lighting scored five times in the second inning and went on to post an 8-4 win over Barkers Mobile Homes as the tournament continued.

Ferlin Pruitt got the Lighting team started with a base hit in the five run second. With one out, Jeff Bentley singled, scoring Pruitt. Tom Newsome singled to load the bases, and Keith Tackett followed with a bases clearing triple. Tackett picked his second triple of the game in the third inning when Lighting scored three times.

Barkers held a short lived 1-0 lead in the first inning when Runyon scored on a fielder's choice play. Barkers added another run in the fourth and pushed across two in the fifth. Franklin tripled in the fourth inning for Barkers.

HEINISCH PHARMACY VS ADDINGTON

Heinisch Pharmacy had no problem with Addington as they recorded a 12-2 mercy win over Addington in five innings.

Arthur Fannin had three hits in the game for Heinisch. Stevie Ward collected two hits, including a double. In the third inning for Heinisch Pharmacy when they scored seven times, Rick Caudill led off with a base hit. Two outs later, Brian Turner homered. Fannin singled, and Ward followed suit. Two errors on Addington opened the door as Heinisch scored seven times in the inning.

Addington scored single runs in the third and fifth inning.

WAL-MART VS KENS SPORTS SHOP

Ken's Sport Shop won their second game of the tournament with a 15-1, five inning win over Wal-Marts.

Ken's scored five runs in the first and pushed across three in each of the third, fourth and fifth innings. John Kurkowski collected three hits for Ken's, including a fifth inning triple. Kane Hale had two three-baggers for Ken's. Jimmy Blakenship also tripled in the first inning.

Wal-Mart avoided a shut out by scoring their only run in the bottom of the fifth inning. The run was an unearned run. Wheeler and Pierce had base hits in the inning for Wal-Mart.

GATEWAY VS VILLAGE

Gateway eliminated Village in the double elimination tournament by handing them a 12-4 loss. Gateway scored four times in the second and six runs in the third to break open a 1-1 game.

Village had taken a 1-0 lead in the first before Gateway tied the game with a run in the bottom of the inning. Village scored two times in the fourth inning and posted their final run in the sixth.

took a one-run lead in the top of the ninth inning with a run, only to see Viers come back and tie the game, setting up the winning run in the top of the tenth inning.

VIERS COAL VS HALLS AUTO

In a marathon game, Hall's Auto posted a 10 inning 10-9 win over Viers Coal. Hall's scored in the bottom of the tenth inning to claim the long game. With two out, Ebo walked and scored on a base hit for the winning run. Viers Coal put the tying and winning run on base in the bottom of the tenth inning, but was unable to push the runs across.

Neither team scored in the first inning, but Hall's Auto took a 7-0 lead with a seven-run second. Viers Coal tied the game at 7-7 with seven runs in the fifth inning. Hall's went back on top 8-7 in the bottom of the frame and in the seventh, Viers Coal tied the game again at 8-8. Hall's

WMDJ VS GATEWAY

WMDJ fell from the tournament after dropping a five inning 12-2 loss to Gateway in an afternoon session on Friday evening.

Gateway pushed across seven runs in the second inning and plated four in the fourth to win. WMDJ scored their only two runs in the first inning when they held their only lead. Miller, Ratliff, Hall and Burchett had base hits for WMDJ in the inning.

Kevin Spurlock had a second inning double for WMDJ leading off, but was left stranded.

KEN'S SPORT SHOP VS COAL-MAC

Ken's Sports Shop was an easy winner over Coal-Mac, 16-5. The loss eliminated Coal-Mac from the tournament.

Kane Hale had a home run for Ken's in the third inning. Jimmy Blankenship had three hits with two doubles. Bobby King doubled in the third, and Tim Rice had a two-bagger in the third. Jeff Cole collected three hits in the game.

E. Rose collected two hits for Coal-Mac. Rose singled in the second and fifth. D. Kidd had a third inning triple.

GOBLE'S VS BIG SANDY INSURANCE

Goble's won over Big Sandy Insurance in five innings 12-1. Big Sandy avoided a shut out with a single run in the fourth inning. Goble's scored five times in the fifth inning to win by the mercy rule.

G. Cavins collected four hits for Goble's. L. Maynard added three. Big Sandy managed only three hits in the game.

J & K VS

ROWE'S CONSTRUCTION

J & K shut out Rowe's Construction 8-0 and dropped Rowe's to the losers bracket in the Fourth of July tournament.

Randy Cline doubled in the seventh inning for J & K. Junior Gamble tripled in the first frame.

LIGHTING VS HEINISCH PHARMACY

Lighting scored two runs in top of the sixth inning to record a 3-2 win over Heinisch Pharmacy. Heinisch led 2-1 going into the inning. An error, two walks and a base hit accounted for the two runs.

Lighting took a 1-0 lead with a run in the third inning. A one-out single by Newsome and Layne's double accounted for the run. Heinisch came back and tied the game at 1-1 in the bottom of the inning when Rick Caudill scored on a base hit by Fraley. Heinisch went ahead 2-1 with a run in the bottom of the fourth. Steve Ward singled his second hit of the game and scored on J. Tackett's single.

BARKERS VS COAL-MAC

Barkers defeated Coal-Mac 16-10 in the afternoon games Saturday. Seven runs in the second and six in the fifth provided the margin of victory for Barkers.

Coal-Mac led 3-0 in the first, until Barkers scored seven times in the second. Coal-Mac regained the lead with a six run fourth to make it 9-8. It was 11-8 with two runs in the fifth inning. Barkers exploded for six runs in the fifth to take the lead, 14-9, for good. They added their final two runs in the seventh inning.

BIG SANDY VS MCDOWELL SOX

The Big Sandy Insurance spotted the McDowell Sox three runs in the first inning and then went on to post a 10-3 win over McDowell.

Big Sandy scored six runs in the second inning for a 6-3 lead and plated two in each of the fourth and fifth innings.

McDowell was unable to generate any offense, and some poor base running took them out of potential scoring innings.

ROWE CONSTRUCTION VS HALL'S AUTO

Rowe Construction scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning and defeated Hall's Auto 4-2 in a come from behind effort.

Rowe's had taken a 1-0 lead in the third and held Hall's Auto scoreless through the first five innings with some excellent defense. Rowe's made it 2-0 when a run crossed the plate in the fifth. Hall's made it a 2-1 game with a single run in the sixth.

Hall's came back in their half of the seventh and pushed across two runs to take a 3-2 lead.

In the bottom of the seventh, Kevin Hall singled to lead off the inning. Anthony Howell then went in to pinch run for Hall. Rocky doubled home Howell on a close play at the plate, and Jason Story's base hit drove in Rocky with the winning run.

GATEWAY VS HEINISCH PHARMACY

Heinisch Pharmacy seemed to have things going their way against a good Gateway team — until the sixth. In the sixth, Gateway scored five runs to take a 6-5 win over the pharmacy team.

Heinisch had led 4-1 up to the sixth inning. After tying the game at 1-1, Heinisch scored two runs in the third for a 3-1 game and pushed across another run in the fourth for a 4-1 score to make it 5-1 in the sixth before Gateway finally got their bats out of the bag.

Stevie Ward collected three hits for Heinisch Pharmacy. Ward had a double in the sixth inning. Arthur Fannin, Rick Caudill, and Tackett had two hits each.

GOBLE SIGNS VS KENS SPORT SHOP

John Kurkowski and Jerry Fultz collected three hits to lead Ken's Sport Shop to a 10-4 win over a good Goble Signs team. Ken's scored six times in the fifth inning to open the game up. Ken's held a slim 4-3 lead until the fifth.

Ken's took a 3-0 lead in the third inning only to have Goble Signs tie the game with three in the fourth.

Fultz led off the third for Ken's with a base hit. Bruce Shelton followed with a single and Fultz scored on Tim Rice's base hit. Jeff Cole and Kurkowski singled, scoring Shelton and Rice.

BARKER VS BIG SANDY INSURANCE

Barker's Mobile Homes fell to the Big Sandy Insurance 10 by the score of 16-6 in five innings of play. The second and third innings were big ones for Big Sandy as they pushed across four in the second and five runs in the third.

Todd Tucker was three for four in the game for Big Sandy Insurance driving in two runs. Hurt had a third inning triple and Wallace tripled in the second.

ROWE'S CONSTRUCTION VS GOBLE SIGNS

Goble Signs scored four runs in the sixth inning and defeated Rowe's Construction 7-1 in the quarterfinals of the tournament.

Rowe Construction scored their only run in the fifth inning when Kevin Hall crossed home plate. Aaron Tucker had two hits in the game for Rowe's. Dicky Webb and Randy Fyffe had two hits each for Goble Signs.

LIGHTING VS BIG SANDY INSURANCE

Big Sandy Insurance dropped from tournament competition when they fell to Lighting 4-2 in eight innings. Lighting scored two runs in the top of the eighth inning for the win. Lighting took a 1-0 lead in the first. Big Sandy came back to go ahead 2-1 with two in the sixth. Lighting tied the score in the sixth before winning it in the eighth.

In Lighting's eighth inning, R. Newsome got a one-out base hit and G. Newsome singled behind him. Newsome scored on a base hit by Staggs and G. Newsome came in on K. Tackett's RBI double.

J & K VS

KEN'S SPORT SHOP

J & K surprised Ken's Sport's

Shop in the semifinals of the tournament by claiming a 7-2 game. The game between the two teams was in the finals of the winners bracket. The loss dropped Ken's to the losers bracket of the tournament.

A big five-run second gave J & K a 6-1 lead, a lead they never relinquished. The blow for J & K in the second was a two-run triple by "Chopper" Gamble. Gamble's three-bagger scored Goble and Newsome. Gamble scored on a base hit by Donnie Williams.

Jimmy Blankenship had a fourth inning home run for Ken's. Ken's scored their first run in the second inning when Mike Howard singled and scored on a base hit by Ronnie Little.

LIGHTING VS GOBLE SIGNS

Goble Signs eliminated Lighting 6-5 in a close one that went eight innings. Goble scored the winning run in the bottom of the eighth inning when Nichols scored on Horn's base hit.

Lighting had scored all five of their runs in the fourth inning to take a 5-2 lead. Goble then pushed across runs in the sixth and a single run in the seventh to tie the game and send it into extra innings.

KEN'S SPORT SHOP VS GOBLE SIGNS

Ken's Sport Shop, looking to get out of the losers bracket and getting another shot at J & K, sent 13 batters to the plate in scoring nine, fifth inning runs to defeat Goble Signs 13-3 in a five inning affair.

Goble Signs held a 2-1 lead after two innings of play; Ken's tied the game at 2-2 with a run in the third and took a 4-2 lead with two in the fourth. Goble Signs scored a run in the fifth to make it a 4-3 game.

Bruce Shelton had three hits for Ken's. Kane Hale collected three base hits including two doubles.

the NBA Fick says that a players "work ethic" was very important.

"In the NBA everyone is equal," he explained. "Those that stick around are those that have good work ethics. A player must play the best and hardest he can in college to make it to the NBA. In college is where players develop good "work ethics."

In recruiting a player, Coach Fick looks for competitiveness. "I then look to see how he passes the ball, catches the ball, handles the ball and how he shoots the ball. I don't worry about if he can rebound or play defense or not. Those are things that you can teach them."

Bassin' with the Pros

FOLLOW THESE TIPS TO FIND BASS FAST

Catching bass isn't the problem. First you have to find them, and that is the problem. At least for most fishermen.

Tom Mann, Jr., a former fishing guide and now a well known tournament angler on the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff, offers these quick tips on locating bass on your next fishing trip:

"First," says Mann, "don't be intimidated by the size of the lake. You're not going to be able to fish all of it, and you don't have to."

"Instead, look at a map and choose one major tributary feeding that lake. You want a large tributary, especially now in the summer, because it will probably have some flowing water and also because it will offer more fishing options in the way of cover and structure."

The next step, says Mann, is to simply begin fishing on that tributary's primary point where it enters the main lake. Work it carefully, and if you don't find bass, move up the tributary to the next prominent point, known as a secondary point.

"If you don't find fish on this secondary point, continue to gradually work your way back into the creek. You can move to the third point if the creek has prominent points, or begin to work the shoreline, especially if heavy cover is available."

"Normally, somewhere in that creek before you move very far back into it, you'll locate bass. These are resident fish that probably don't move very far during the year, and they're the easiest and quickest to find."

When he begins fishing the primary points of the tributary, the Evinrude pro likes to use a Carolina-rig worm or lizard, especially if he's working water eight to 12 feet deep. This lure can be worked quickly to cover a lot of water, and fish hit it readily.

"All you have to do is fan-cast it around the point and hop it back to you," Mann explains. "You can start at about the 10 foot depth range and gradually work deeper around the point."

"When you begin fishing water more shallow, I suggest changing to a spinnerbait. This, too, is a lure you can use to cover a lot of water quickly, and bass will hit it all year."

The same lures should be used on the secondary points, Mann continues, but once you begin fishing along the shoreline, the spinnerbait or even a shallow diving crankbait may be used.

"This is the technique I use to find bass during tournaments," explains Mann, "and it has worked for me throughout the country."

Samons: "We Should Make A Strong Showing"

When you talk to Wilburn Samons, manager of the Harold-Allen-Prater Little League All-Stars, you can hear a lot of optimism in his voice as he talks of this year's team.

"We are coming together real good," said the enthusiastic manager, as he over saw a recent practice session. "We are hitting the ball real well and our pitching is real good. We should make a strong showing in the tournament this year."

Samons has several reasons for being optimistic. Fourteen of them to be exact. You only have to start with a fire ball pitcher of the caliber of Brandon Castle and Samons is ready to talk of the hard throwing pitcher off of the Allen Astros team.

"Brandon has an excellent arm," said Samons, who will be coaching the All-Stars for the second consecutive year. "He no doubt is our ace pitcher and he can hit the ball with a lot of power." Castle banged out 11 home runs this season and they were power hits.

Adding to the power line up of the HAP All-Stars is a very impressive catcher by the name of Sammy Nelson. An owner of seven round trippers himself, he is a very consistent hitter and a hard out.

"Sammy is a Pete Rose type of ball player," said Samons of his All-Star catcher. "He gives you a 110 percent anytime he takes to the field. He is an excellent hitter and makes good contact."

One pitcher that Samons is glad to have on his All-Star team this year is Lance Jones of the Mud Creek Cubs. Jones is the only pitcher in the league to beat Samons' team during the regular season. Jones is a hard thrower. A big kid with a lot of power in his bat. Jones jacked out four home runs this past season and is dread to pitchers when he walks to the plate. "Lance is an excellent contact hitter," said his All-Star coach. "He handles the bat real well at the plate and had good bat speed."

Samons said that Jones would probably be his number two pitcher. "He has an excellent arm."

Brad Bailey will be the teams back up catcher. Bailey is no automatic out at the plate with very good bat control. He seems to see the ball very well and makes contact. He rarely strikes out. "Brad is a very good hitter and we will probably use him as our back up catcher," said Samons.

A player with a lot of speed on the base paths will be John Ortega. Ortega is a .600-plus hitter and an excellent defensive player.

"John is an excellent runner on the bases," Samons stated. "He has excellent speed and plays the outfield very well. He had several stolen bases this past season."

Samons likes the looks of Brent Tackett on the field. "Brent is a good contact hitter and, for his size, has very good speed," explained Samons. "He makes good contact and is a good defensive player."

Every team needs a player that is willing to sacrifice himself to move a runner up. Such a person on this year's HAP team is Matt Kidd. Good bat control highlights this young mans ability.

"Matt is an excellent bunter. Plays the outfield very well and has excellent speed," said Samons of Kidd. "A gutty type of player."

While he hit two out of the park, Wesley Collins is more of a singles hitter. He makes good contact with the ball and will see a lot of time in the outfield for the All-Stars. "Wesley will be our back up first baseman as well as playing a new position in the outfield."

The third pitcher on the HAP All-Star squad will be Craig Johnson. "Craig is a good contact hitter also and he hit two home runs during the season, so he can hit the long ball." The right side of the infield will be anchored down by Wesley Samons at first base. Samons is a hard nose player that likes to win. "Wesley is an

Rosenberg's Rosy Roundball Ruminations And Reflections Redux

Ho hum. These two words sum up the 1991 NBA draft.

Anyone remember when Akeem Olajuwon and Michael Jordan were drafted back-to-back? A draft like that doesn't come along often, and this year is no exception. This year's overall talent pool is thinner than Manute Bol. After the first eight or so picks, the talent level dropped off considerably, but there were still good potential supporting players and some teams managed to put together decent drafts. Only a couple totally bombed.

The closest thing this draft has to a franchise player is Larry Johnson, chosen number one by Charlotte. Kenny Anderson is a good player and will sell bunches of tickets in the empty halls of New Jersey, but the Nets need a ton more help. Billy Owens thinks he's Magic Johnson, but Sacramento needs the real thing.

As usual, a couple of good players were not drafted, notably Reggie Hanson of Kentucky and Anderson Hunt of UNLV (the only member of Vegas 1991 starting lineup not drafted), but free agency and the CBA still beckon.

So, without further ado, here's a team-by-team rundown of the draft, with a few comments thrown in for good measure, and a grade for each team.

ATLANTA HAWKS

Stacey Augmon, 6' 6" F, UNLV; Anthony Avent, 6' 10" F, Seton Hall; Rodney Monroe, 6' 2" G, North Carolina State. The Hawks have an abundance of small forwards, so Augmon is trade bait, probably to Charlotte for Dell Curry and Kenny Gattison. They needed a power forward, and Avent is solid. After trading Doc Rivers, they needed backcourt scoring, and Monroe is born to score. Grade: B+.

BOSTON CELTICS

Rick Fox, 6' 7" F/G, North Carolina. Solid but unspectacular—much like the Celtics. Should fit in well. Also, this writer's least favorite player in the draft. Grade: B.

CHARLOTTE HORNETS

Larry Johnson, 6' 5" F, UNLV; Kevin Lynch, 6' 5" G, Minnesota. Charlotte finally got an inside threat to take some pressure off their guards. Some people say Johnson's too short to play power forward in the NBA, but then, so was Charles Barkley. Lynch is another low-percentage shooting guard, so he'll be one of the crowd with the Hornets. Grade: A (not counting Lynch).

CHICAGO BULLS

Mark Randall, 6' 9" F, Kansas. Some will say Randall is too slow to play competitively, but he always finds a way to win. The all-time Big Eight field goal percentage leader, he'll make a fine addition to the Jordan show. Grade: B+.

CLEVELAND CAVALIERS

Terrell Brandon, 5' 11" G, Oregon. Jimmy Oliver, 6' 5" G, Purdue. Brandon was the second-best point guard in the draft, a good scorer, and should be a solid backup to Mark Price. Oliver will either hit (during tryouts) or miss (the NBA). Grade: B.

DALLAS MAVERICKS

Doug Smith, 6' 10" F, Missouri; Mike Luzzolino, 5' 10" G, St. Francis (Pa.). The Mavericks needed fresh blood up front and got it. Smith is a proven player. Anyone remember Roger Harden? This kid from St. Francis is the Italian version, except he can score, too. Grade: B+.

DENVER NUGGETS

Dikembe Mutombo, 7' 2" C, Georgetown; Mark Macon, 6' 5" G, Temple. Defense. The Nuggets need defense worse than anyone except Iraq. Mutombo is a force in the lane, but needs to work on his offensive skills. Macon has always been known as a scorer, but he's one of the best one-on-one defenders in the college ranks. Grade: A-.

DETROIT PISTONS

Doug Overton, 6' 2" G, LaSalle. The steal of the draft at number 40. The Pistons have an aging corps of guards and Overton, who was overshadowed by Lionel Simmons throughout his career, came into his own as a scorer this year. Excellent ballhandler and exceptional range on the jump shot. Grade: A-.

GOLDEN STATE WARRIORS

Chris Gatling, 6' 10" F, Old Dominion; Victor Alexander, 6' 9" F, Iowa State; Shaun Vandiver, 6' 10" C, Colorado; LaMont Strothers, 6' 4" G, Christopher Newport. With "Run-TMC" in place, the Warriors went big, real big. The combined weight of the three forwards is upward of 750 pounds. Throw in Strothers, the Division III Player of the Year, and Don Nelson could surprise. Grade: B+.

HOUSTON ROCKETS

John Turner, 6' 9" F, Phillips (Okla.); Keith Hughes, 6' 6" F, Rutgers; Zan Tabak, 6' 11" C, Yugoslavia. Phillips is a widebody from the NAIA. Hughes is a decent player, and Tabak, with nowhere near the talent of Vlade Divac, will be bust. Grade: C-.

INDIANA PACERS

Dale Davis, 6' 11" C, Clemson; Sean Green, 6' 5" G, Iona. With all the Pacers great shooters, they needed a rebounder. They got one, with a vengeance. Davis is frightening to watch on the boards, although his offense is limited. Green was a star at Iona, but he probably won't make the jump to the next level. Grade: B.

L.A. CLIPPERS

LeRon Ellis, 6' 10" C, Syracuse; Elliot Perry, 6' 0" G, Memphis State; Joe Wylie, 6' 9" F, Miami (Fla.). With three picks, the Clippers did several things. They got a head case in Ellis to keep Danny Manning company; they got a waterbug in Perry who can score, but he's just as likely to get squashed and they got Wylie. Wylie's big, but so is a big piece of granite. You'd get more offense out of the granite. The Clippers did pick up Doc Rivers in a trade, so the draft is saved from becoming a total waste. Grade: D+.

L. A. LAKERS

Anthony Jones, 6' 7" F, Oral Roberts. He'll need to say his prayers to make the Lakers with Elden Campbell and Sam Perkins in front of him. At least he won't shut himself in a tower if he doesn't make the squad. Grade: C-.

MIAMI HEAT

Steve Smith, 6' 7" G, Michigan State; George Ackles, 6' 9" F/C, UNLV. The Heat have a prolific stable of shooting guards, so Smith's going to be traded, most likely. The only reason Ackles was drafted was the fact that he played for Vegas. I'd be very surprised if he makes the NBA, but then, this is Miami we're talking about. Grade: C.

MILWAUKEE BUCKS

Kevin Brooks, 6' 8" F, SW Louisiana; Bobby Phillips, 6' 5" G, Southern. Brooks is a classic Bucks swingman. Solid, all around player. However, minutes after drafting him, the Bucks' management said he was going to be traded. Oh, well. Phillips can fill it up, but I'd rather have a matador play defense for me. Grade: C-.

MINNESOTA

TIMBER WOLVES

Luc Longley, 7' 2" C, New Mexico; Myron Brown, 6' 3" G, Slippery Rock. Longley is probably the tallest Australian in history, and he's got decent offensive and defensive skills. Brown could be a sleeper. Grade: B+.

NEW JERSEY NETS

Kenny Anderson, 6' 2" G, Georgia Tech; Von McDade, 6' 4" G, Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Anderson's a little thin now, but give him a year or two to fill out. He's tough. Offense is not a problem. McDade is another sleeper, but can he play against quality opposition? Grade: A-.

NEW YORK KNICKS

Greg Anthony, 6' 2" G, UNLV. Mark Jackson will not be happy with this pick. Anthony is an excellent push-it-up point guard with solid offensive skills. With Pat Riley in as coach, don't be surprised to see this one as a starter the second half of the year. Grade: A-.

ORLANDO MAGIC

Brian Williams, 6' 11" F, Arizona; Stanley Roberts, 7' 0" C, Real Madrid, Spain; Chris Corchiani, 5' 11" G, North Carolina State. Did I say big before? I take it back. Roberts tips the scale at 300+ and Williams is a brick. A big brick. If these guys can keep their heads in the game instead of in front of the dinner table, the Magic will do alright. Corchiani is a steal, a fierce competitor, and a perfect backup for Scott Skiles. Grade: A- if Roberts loses weight, B otherwise.

PHILADELPHIA 76ERS

Alvaro Teheran, 7' 1" C, Houston. The Sixers took two gambles. They traded their first round pick for Manute Bol. No good. The pick this year has signed to play in Spain for a year. If he were NBA caliber, why would he go? Grade: F.

PHOENIX SUNS

Chad Gallagher, 6' 10" C, Creighton; Richard Dumas, 6' 6" F, Israel; Joey Wright, 6' 3" G, Texas. Gallagher is an underrated big man with good offensive skills. Dumas is a swingman that lights up the Israeli league, but what does that count for? Wright was pick number 50 and still has a shot to make the team. Grade: B.

PORTLAND TRAILBLAZERS

Marcus Kennedy, 6' 6" F, Eastern Michigan. The Blazers hope for another second-round steal with this Jerome Kersey clone. Grade: B-.

SACRAMENTO KINGS

Billy Owens, 6' 7" F/G, Syracuse; Pete Chilcutt, 6' 10" F/C, North Carolina; Randy Brown, 6' 0" G, New Mexico State; Steve Hood, 6' 5" G, James Madison. Owens really wanted to join Derrick Coleman in New Jersey, so one must wonder whether his heart will be in Sacramento. Chilcutt shoots layups very well. He does nothing else. Brown is explosive and Hood is a sleeper with a 40 inch vertical leap. Grade: A if Owens plays to potential, B- otherwise.

SAN ANTONIO SPURS

Greg Sutton, 6' 0" G, Oral Roberts. Oral Roberts had two players in the draft. Why did this team only win six games? Grade: D.

SEATTLE SUPERSONICS

Rich King, 7' 2" C, Nebraska. King is a diamond—a rough diamond. He has all the talent in the world, but just hasn't put it all together. We'll see what K.C. Jones can do. Grade: B.

UTAH JAZZ

Eric Murdock, 6' 2" G, Providence; Isaac Austin, 6' 10" C, Arizona State. Murdock is the all-time NCAA steals leader and should fit in well. Austin is a raw widebody with decent talent. Grade: B.

WASHINGTON BULLETS

LaBradford Smith, 6' 3" G, Louisville. Washington's needs: leadership, discipline, backcourt scoring. Smith provides only the last, and inconsistently, at best. Grade: D.

Carl D. Perkins Softball League

RUDY'S VS HAPPY'S

Happy's trailed 3-0 going into the bottom of the third inning when they scored 11 times enroute to a 14-4 win over Rudy's in the Carl D. Perkins Softball League.

Danny Kenster was the winning pitcher for Happy's and Dwayne Dawson suffered the loss.

Happy Rowland and Keith Rowland collected four hits in the game for Happy's. Happy Rowland had a third inning double for the winners while Keith Rowland tripled in the third. Moocher Kazee also tripled in the third inning for Happy's. Happy Rowland had six runs batted in for the winners.

David Pennington hit a second inning home run for Rudy's collecting three RBIs. Scottie Branham was perfect at the plate with three hits for Rudy's that included a sixth inning double. He had four runs batted in.

CASTLES VS HAPPY'S

On Thursday, Happy's had to go to extra innings before subduing a determined Castles team. Happy's scored five times in the bottom of the eighth inning to pull out a 21-20 win. Both teams combined for 62 hits in the game.

Danny Kenster was the winning pitcher while Rodney Castle took the loss for Castles'.

Paris McCarthy and George Clifton had home runs in the game for Castles. McCarthy came in the sixth and Clifton hit his in the seventh.

Castles held a 4-0 lead through four innings when Happy's pushed across two runs in the bottom of the fourth. Castles made it 8-2 with a four run fifth only to see Happy's dent the plate 10 times for a 12-8 lead. After Castles scored a single sixth inning run, Happy's plated two in the bottom of the inning for a 14-9 count. Castles came back and went on top 16-14 with seven runs in the top of the seventh inning. Happy's tied the game at 16-16 with two runs in the seventh. Castles forged ahead with four in the top of the eighth to take a 20-16 advantage.

Castles collected 32 hits to Happy's 30.

Keith Rowland and Bill Micheal had four hits for the winners and Moocher Kazee added three.

Calvin Napier, George Clifton, Jerry Williams and John Dawson had four each for Castles.

CARL D. PERKINS VS FIELDS

In another close one, Carl D. Perkins Center scored four times in the bottom of the seventh inning to pull out a 22-21 win over Fields. Arthur Fannin picked up the win for CDP and Jim Lee was the losing pitcher.

Denton Wynters and Reco Gates each pounded out five hits in a 26 hit attack from CDP. Antonio Hollis picked up four hits. Wynters collected seven runs batted in and Gates had six. Wynters doubled in the fourth. Dean Poe had two two-baggers — in the second and sixth innings. Michael Simmons doubled in the third.

Brett Huff carried the hot bat for Fields who managed 18 hits in the game. Huff homered three times — in the first, third and fifth innings. He also collected two triples in a five hit outing.

Fields took a 21-18 lead when they scored three runs in the top of the seventh inning to snap a 18-18 tie.

MARTIN VS HAPPY'S

Happy's had an easy time with the Martin team as they scored in every inning for a 19-4 win. Darrell Sparks and Jeff Cochran hit out home runs for the winners. Keith Rowland had a first inning triple for Happy's. Rowland and Cochran had three and four hits respectively for Happy's. Cochran had six runs batted in.

Caner Hall had two doubles for Martin. Hall doubled in the first and second inning.

CASTLES VS

CARL D. PERKINS CENTER

The long ball proved too much for CDP as Castles hit three out and posted a 21-11 win over the host team. Rodney Castle belted a fifth inning home run while George Clifton and Barry Estes had round trippers in the seventh. Calvin Napier had a second inning triple. Castle collected two doubles while Clifton added one. John Dawson also doubled in the seventh.

Reco Gates and Dean Poe had two-baggers for CDP. Gates picked up five runs batted in for CDP with three hits. Antonio Hollis and Fannin each had three hits.

Rodney Castle was a perfect six-for-six with eight RBIs. Dawson and McCarty had four hits.

Rodney Castle was the winning pitcher and Michael Stanley was the loser.

RUDY'S VS FIELDS

Brett Huff blasted a seventh inning home to help send Fields to a 8-7 win over Rudy's. Rudy's held a 7-4 lead going into the bottom of the seventh inning. Field's scored four times to take the win.

Butch Conn had a first inning double for Fields while Jim Lee picked up the win. Dwayne Dawson was the losing pitcher for Rudy's.

Scottie Branham had three hits and two runs batted in for Rudy's. Rick Blevins had a third inning double.

FIELDS VS CASTLES

Castles scored eight runs in the bottom of the fourth inning to mercy the Fields team 13-3. Rodney Castle was the winning pitcher and Jim Lee suffered the loss.

Calvin Napier was perfect at the plate with three hits. Napier homered for Castles in the third inning and doubled in the first. Jeff Butcher also had three hits in the game. George Clifton had a fourth inning double.

Brett Huff had a home run for Field's in the first inning and Butch Conn doubled in the second.

MARTIN VS RUDYS

Martin scored two runs in the top of the seventh inning and held Rudy's in the bottom of the inning to post a 18-17 win in the CDP League. Rudy's collected 24 hits in the game as Martin tallied 20.

Harry Conn hit a grand slam home run for Martin in the second inning. Calvin Crum had a seventh triple as did Canner Hall. David Hall tripled in the Martin sixth. Canner Hall had a double in the second with David Hall also hitting a two-bagger.

Rudy's collected three doubles — all coming in the second inning. Joe Harmon, Rick Bevins and Woody Jarrell had doubles.

Tommy Hall was the winning pitcher with Dwayne Dawson getting the loss.

Harmon and Bevins each collected four hits in the game and Dawson had three.

Canner Hall, David Hall and Bill Hall each had three hits for Rudy's.

CARL D. PERKINS VS FIELDS

Carl D. Perkins Center seventh inning rally fell short by one run as Fields recorded a 15-14 win over the host team.

CDP trailed by six runs going into the top of the seventh inning. They pushed across five of the six runs but the rally fell short. CDP trailed 11-5 going into the sixth inning when they scored four times to make it a 11-9 game. Fields then pushed across four runs in the bottom of the sixth for a 15-9 lead.

Reco Gates had a third inning home run for CDP. Gates was a perfect four-for-four in the game with five runs batted in. Charles Mobley had three hits and four RBIs. Terry Fields and Jessie Goble had three hits each for Fields. Terry Fields had a third inning triple and Rodney Campbell tripled in the fourth. Fields had two doubles in the contest. Mike Simmons had a double in the seventh for CDP and Charles Mobley had two two-baggers.

Jesse Goble was the winning pitcher and Arthur Fannin suffered the setback.

Ken

Shelton came in on a sacrifice fly.

Ken's scored the potential winning run in the bottom of the fourth on Greg Shepherd's one-out base hit. With two out, Jerry Fultz singled scoring Shepherd.

J & K edged closer with a run in the sixth inning. A one-out double by Whitt and Gamble's single coupled with an error allowed Whitt to score to make it a 5-3 game. J & K tried to rally in the sixth being down two runs. Belcher went out to left and Cline flied to center. Smith reached on an error and Conley was safe on an error at second base. Adkins singled home Smith with the final run as the threat ended.

J & K were the runners-up in the tournament with Goble Signs finishing third and Lighting coming in fourth. Trophies were presented to the top four teams.

Connie Conn is a pretty little housewife who lives at Dana. She has an attractive smile and about the softest voice you ever heard. Any time you talk with her you become aware of the kindness she feels toward other people.

Connie has a job with the State Highway Department during the summer months. When road construction crews are building or repairing out state roads, she dons a hard-hat and comfortable shoes to flag traffic.

Even the people who are stopped and have to wait in line become aware of her kind and gentle nature. It all started when a woman who had to wait right beside where Connie stood commented that she was on her way to the doctor. When she was finally waved to move on, Connie wished her well with her treatment.

Soon drivers who struck up a conversation with her were reluctant to move, even when they could. Her foreman reminded her that she shouldn't get so involved with the travelers, that their job was to move the traffic as quickly and smoothly as possible.

Some friends were teasing her recently that it was so hard for her to say, "I don't have time talk."

"Well, it really is hard," she answered. "Not long ago a lady was telling me some of her problems and she had to move before she was finished."

"And what did she do?"
"She just went down the road and turned—got in line again and came back."

GETTING THERE

My pastor, Lewis Walter, isn't a giant, but it would take more than one puff of wind to blow him away.

His wife, Pat, was working in the kitchen a few days ago when he called out, "Honey, have you seen my belt around the house?"

"No, she answered. "Will it go around the house now?"

STORY TIME

Ron Smith of Paintsville is a guy who wears many hats. He is both a sales rep and a disc jockey for WSIP Radio, and when he isn't working at one of those things, he's doing radio and TV commercials for various clients.

And when he isn't doing that, he's swapping stories with whoever will listen. This is one of his latest:

A frog hopped into a bank and asked to see the loan manager. He was directed to the desk of a lady whose name was Patty Black. "I've come to apply for a loan," he croaked.

"I've never granted a loan to a frog before," she said. "Do you have any collateral?"

"I have this," he told her as he gave her an object; but she had no idea what it was.

She went to the president's office and said, "I have a frog out front who wants to apply for a loan, and when I asked for collateral he gave me this object. Do you have any idea what it is?"

"Sure," said the president. "It's a knick-knack, Patty Black. Give the frog a loan."

(It's probably a good thing Ron and I both have things to do other than telling stories.)

Kim's Korner

Weekend at the Funny Farm

Cow Tippin', Frog Shootin' and Snipe Huntin' were the main attractions Friday night on the Father-in-law's farm.

by Kim Frasure

Yes, it was time once again for all in-laws and outlaws to gather and celebrate the marriage of our brother-in-law, Allan, to our new sister-in-law, Stacey.

One night at "The Farm" the day before the "big day" should have been enough to prove if Stacey was going to fit in with this brood of outlaws. Well, I have to tell ya', she passed with flying colors. Us women folk were told we could not participate in the frog shootin' escapade because it was a "man thing." This did not sit well at all with my youngest daughter the tomboy.

She threw her usual fit and so did I, so along she went, down to the pond for her very first lesson in frog shootin'.

Evidently she did extremely well, for she got one on her first try. Uncle Allan held her ears while her daddy helped with the pistol and, BANG, ol' Tiff had popped her first frog. Boy was she excited.

Meanwhile, back at the farm trailer (hey this is the '90s) us women folk were contemplating on cow tippin'.

"What is cow tippin'?" one sister-in-law asked.

Another sister-in-law explained, "You see, you wait till the cows are asleep, then you very quietly sneak up on them, tip them over and run like crazy 'cause they will chase the livin' day-lights right out of you."

"Alright!" one sister-in-law yelled. "Let's go!"

"Girls," Dixie said, "We don't own cows that sleep standing up."

"WHAT!" we yelled.

"I'm sure they do, what kind of cows are they to not sleep standing up?" someone asked.

"I don't know," Dixie replied, "but they sleep lying down."

"Well, I guess this ground is pretty bumpy out here and if they did sleep standing up they'd probably fall over without any help from us," I answered.

"Well I suppose that shoots our cow tippin' in the head," Deanna said.

"Shoots, did someone say 'shoot'?" Stacey asked. "I want to shoot somethin'."

"Want a steak?" Deanna asked.

"Go ahead girls, go ahead, shoot one of Dad's cows," Shari scolded. "We'll be less three outlaws when you do."

We all laughed and decided we'd eat a turkey sandwich instead.

With the men frog shootin' and all the cows lying down, all that left was snipe huntin'. What can I say, if you're a member of the Frasure Clan for any amount of time at all snipe huntin' just don't get it.

None of us were willing to travel down the hill in the pitch black of the night, hold this stupid bag open and wait for the others to run the snipes toward us. Nope we're Frasures, too smart for that one.

We all sat on the porch and just decided to enjoy each other's company. As the men and Tiffany came into sight I could hear Tiff crying (a mother's ears, you know). The closer they came, the more she cried.

"Mommie, I'm bleeding," she sobbed.

"Oh my, what has happened to my baby?" I thought, as my heart fell to my feet.

"Papaw stuck me in barbed wire," she cried. "Look at my leg."

"He WHAT?" I screamed.

"Wait a minute," Papaw said.

"I never stuck you in barbed wire."

"Yes you did," she continued to cry.

He really didn't, all he'd done was try to lift her over the fence, she squirmed at the wrong time and her leg got stuck. Poor Papaw got abused all weekend too, in more ways than one, I might add.

Now, the man has three daughters-in-law and one son-in-law.

Oh the life of an out-law — it can be fun!

Till next week...Congratulations Allan and Stacey, and welcome to the family.

A senior luau

The senior citizens from the Prestonsburg center held their monthly luncheon, a Hawaiian Luau, on Wednesday, July 3, at the Holiday Inn, Prestonsburg. The banquet room was decorated with ferns and flowers and featured a tropic punch fountain. The seniors, dressed in colorful outfits and wearing flower leis dined on pineapple glazed ham and other appropriate cuisine. (photo by Tess Whitmer)

Prestonsburg Seniors dine Hawaiian style

Seniors go Hawaiian

Mrs. Patsy Evans, director, and members of the Archer Senior Citizen's Center held their monthly luncheon meeting at the Holiday Inn on Wednesday, July 3, at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Evans and Tim Collins, D.J., welcomed those in attendance. Leis to compliment the Hawaiian theme and attire were distributed by the director.

With Ralph Compton in charge of decorations, a large white trellis, with white netting and lace and adorned with bamboo torches and peach-colored liliPods added a touch of the tropics to the dining room. Inside the trellis was a table, holding a container of flowing punch, surrounded by greenery and flowers. The round dining tables were covered with gold-colored linens, accented with yellow, red, and gold napkins. Each table held a centerpiece of Rose of Sharon flowers, floating in crystal containers, and surrounded with flowers and greenery matching those used with the trellis. Glass cups for selfhelp service at the punch fountain were found besides the plates.

The Hawaiian menu, served by Linda Martin, Sharon Isaac, and Ralph Compton, consisted of pineapple-glazed ham, candied yams, green beans, homemade rolls, banana cream pie, coffee and tea.

Following the meal, Mrs. Evans and Tim Collins conducted a brief program, during which time, Mr. Collins, Ora Reynolds, and Beatrice Patton related short stories. Deward Stephens, displaying talent that musicians from well-known places like the Grand Ole Opry would probably find difficult to surpass, played "The Fast Train and the Model T Ford," "Movin' On," "The Fox Chase," and "Pretty Wildwood Flower," on his harmonica. Mrs. Stephens led some of the members of the group in dancing the Hokie-Pokie.

With a background of Hawaiian music, several enjoyed exercises which they had been practicing at the Senior Citizen's Center.

Mrs. Evans announced that July 20 will be observed as George P. Archer Day at the park. She explained there would be free activities there on that day and that an open house with light refreshments will be available at the center during that time.

Attending Wednesday's event were the following members: Patsy Evans, John Evans, Lillia Mae Price, Beatrice Patton, Thelma Wallen, Victoria Lafferty, Burieta Gearhart, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Vivian Fraley, Roberta Sloan, Pearl Robertson, Delia Nolan, William Nolan, Ora Bussey, Orelia Smiley, Ora Reynolds, Loretta Stephens, Deward Stephens, Alta Hayes, Ada Meade, Evonne Roe, William Wilson, Irma McKenzie, Duke McKenzie, Bimie Branham, Lucy McGuire, Nola Stepp, and Docia Woods.

Persons who are interested in attending next month's luncheon meeting at this same location should call Mrs. Evans at the center.

Dr. Martin attends mid-summer family physicians' session

Dr. Lowell D. Martin of Martin attended the Mid-Summer Family Practice Digest sponsored by the North Carolina Academy of Family Physicians in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, July 1-6. Approximately 200 family physicians, from several surrounding states attended the six-day, 30-hour meeting. The participants had the opportunity to earn 30 hours of CME credit.

One hundred fifty hours of CME credit is required for continued membership in the academy. In addition, board certified family physicians must acquire a total of 300 hours of education credit and take an exam for board recertification every seven years. Family medicine was the first specialty that required board recertification.

The North Carolina Academy of Family Physicians is a state chapter of the 73,000 member American Academy of Family Physicians.

ON PUMP ROCKS AND RIDDLES

During the 1940s, the drinking water for Society Row came from two pumps — one located in the upper end of the community, the other the lower. Each pump served a dozen or so families and came equipped with a long handle and a spout on which we could hang our water buckets. The pumps sat on large concrete slabs about five feet square, which came to be known as the "pump rocks."

The pump rocks were more than just a place to set the pumps, however. They also became a place of rendezvous for us kids, as well as an ever-flowing fountain of information for the adults — especially the older girls and women.

Now, I'm not saying there was anything wrong with that. As a matter of fact, I suspect it was all quite natural. After all, the telephone hadn't come into its own yet, what with the closest one being at the company store. These ladies didn't have those inquiring-minds tabloids available, either. They did have the Grit, but the news in that was at least a week old. All they had, really, was Gabriel Heater and his radio broadcasts, and while his news was most always optimistic, it was not the least bit juicy.

So, pump rock gossip thus became a source of news and entertainment. During those sessions at the pump rock, no words were ever spoken louder than a whisper — or was necessary to be heard over the metal squeak of the pump handle — as the ladies of Society Row filled their buckets with water and their heads with all the latest news. It was nearly as if the pump rock had become a sacred place — almost church-like — and the soft whispers of conversation came to resemble some sort of religious ritual.

*****

Pump rock gossip is gone now, but it wasn't the only form of entertainment that was made extinct by progress. I was made keenly aware of that the other day when a friend of mine loaned me a copy of I Bought Me a Dog.

This collection of folk tales by Leonard Roberts was published back in 1954, but for some reason, I hadn't seen it. Anyway, what made me realize just how much things have changed was a list of riddles in the book that have survived the centuries and were undoubtedly passed down by word of mouth by our old country ancestors.

When I was a kid, I was entertained for hours at a time trying to guess riddles posed by old folks. Ask a kid a riddle now, and he looks at you like you're stupid or something. I mean, it's like if it's not related somehow to Ninji Turtles or to Game Boy, he's just not interested.

Consequently, I'm afraid that the art of the riddle has gone the way of pump rock gossip — except for those of us who care to conjure up a memory or two from time to time.

Here are a few from the book that I can remember my grandfather, Liss Baldrige, asking me when I was four or five years old. See if these sound familiar to you, too. (In case you've forgotten them, I'll give you the answers at the end of the column.)

(A) Crooked as a rainbow, teeth like a cat, guess all your lifetime and you can't guess that.

(B) Round as a ring, deep as a spring, takes the death of many a party thing.

(C) Round as a biscuit, busy as a bee, purtiest little thing you ever did see.

Oh, well! That was then and this is now. I'm smart enough to know that we can't go back to those days of pump rock gossip and riddles, and wouldn't if we could. Still, sometimes, it's fun to just remember.

(Answers to the riddles: (A) a saw briar; (B) a shotgun; (C) a pocket watch.

Mr. and Mrs. Goble attend wedding in Louisville

James E. and Marie Goble were in Louisville over the weekend where they attended the wedding of Kim Slaughter and Jim Klump at the Harvey Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was performed Saturday at 6:30 p.m. with Tom Bloxam, uncle of the bride, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Goble also attended the reception held in the Emerald Room of Green Spring Country Club.

Mrs. Klump is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gene Slaughter of Crestwood. Mr. Klump is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Klump of Fort Wayne, Indiana.

While there, Mr. and Mrs. Goble visited with Lana and Joe Slaughter, brother of the bride. The Gobles returned home Sunday afternoon.

July birthdays listed at Methodist Church

Among the members of the First United Methodist Church who are observing birthdays during the month of July are Mary Sue Moore, Marshall Davidson, Barkley Sturgill, George D. Brown, Ellis Buchanan, Madelyn Cottrell, Eleanor Horn, Thelma Spencer, Courtney Collins, Derek Hicks, Diana Turner, Roberta Davidson, Elsie Stephens, Scott Walker, Sloane Onkst, Billie Goble, Mary C. Hereford, and Edna Nolan.

Couples observing wedding anniversaries there during this month include Rob and Pam Herrick, Tom and Mary Jo Hereford, Kevin and Ronna Yeager, Walter and Ruth Bevins, Philip and Linda Haywood, James and Geneva Carter, Gary and Dawn Brown, and H.D. and Martha Jane Fitzpatrick.

The Rev. Wayne Sparks is pastor of this church.

Jarrells attend PHS Grand Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wheeler Jarrell of Louisa were here recently to attend the Prestonsburg High School class reunion for 1918-1933 at May Lodge and to visit relatives and friends.

Navy buddy visits local resident

Stuart F. Jasper of Camrello, California was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Porter last week. Porter and Jasper served on the USS Cyrene, a PT boat tender, assigned to the Philippines during World War II.

The comrades said it was a pleasure to reminisce about the days of their friendship, even though it was a time of conflict when the USA was at war with Japan.

Jasper, who has attended many of the Navy reunions held annually, left Kentucky for Mississippi and then Florida where he will visit relatives.

Patriotic cookout honors Davidson

Attorney Marshall Davidson was honored on his birthday July 4 with a cookout at his home in Prestonsburg. Patriotic colors and the American Flag were used in the decorations.

Davidson received many gifts and greetings in commemoration of this occasion. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Davidson; their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Derek Hicks; the Hick's daughters Jessica and Greta Hicks; and Mr. and Mrs. Davidson's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Watson. Following the meal, decorated birthday cake and refreshments were served.

Miss Wallen visits mother

Miss Joyce Wallen of Lexington was here this past week for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Thelma S. Wallen, and other relatives and friends.

Rebekah Lodge meets

Members of Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 met in regular session July 2 with past Noble Grand Beverly Hackworth conducting the meeting. Those on the sick list were recorded and cards were signed which will be mailed to them.

Several areas of business were discussed including a meeting Saturday at Inez. The assembly president will make her official visit at this meeting. The club received an invitation to attend a reception in Lexington in July at which time Major General Gayle Snowden, second vice president of the General Military Council Patriarch Militant, I.O.O.F. will be honored.

Other business included a reminder to members about visitation day Sunday, July 7, at the Mountain Manor Nursing Home, and the reading of the semi-annual report by Mabel Jean LeMaster, secretary.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Hackworth thanked all members for attending. The group gathered around the altar and sang, "Bless Be the Tie That binds."

Attending this meeting were Beverly Hackworth, Hope Whitten, Paulena Owens, Lorena Wallen, Claudine Johns, and Mabel Jean LeMaster.

The next meeting will be held July 16, at 7 p.m. in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

VBS in progress at First Baptist

Vacation Bible School is in progress at the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) and will continue through Friday. The school, which is being held from 6-8:30 p.m., is directed by Cara Hall. Also helping in this endeavor are Jean Bracken and Barry Bryant, Baptist missionaries, who are spending the summer working with the Baptist Enterprise Association.

Kiwaniannes' history at Founders' Day

During a recent luncheon meeting of the Prestonsburg Kiwaniannes at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, Founders' Day was observed. Mrs. Gamett Fairchild, a member and officer of this club, presented to the group a summary of the first 25 years of this organization.

The following excerpts gleaned from this presentation cover the first 10 years:

The Prestonsburg Kiwaniannes Club was founded on March 23, 1950 at the old Brown Hotel in Prestonsburg, following a meeting of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club held at that location. The motto of this newly-formed club was "We Help Build."

Two of the main purposes of this organization were:

1) To aid the Kiwanis Club members in any of its projects and to work with them in any way that may be needed; and

2) to provide a practical means of forming enduring friendships and to build a better community.

The following officers were elected: Una Smith, president; Marie Burns, vice president; Mildred (Turp) Combs, secretary; and Flora Spotte, treasurer. Named to the board of directors were Judy Clark, Jean Francis, Peg Crawford, and Norcie Burchett.

Other charter members included Ola Anderson, Nancy Camicia, Verne Clark, Maisie Crace, Betty Fiedler, Marjorie Francis, Kathryn Frazier, Sarah Goble, Sally Goebel, Edna Carol Greenwade, Geneva Harmon, Gladys Hughes, Alta Leslie, Jessie Mahan, Ruth Moore, Florence Music, Lucy Regan, Stella Spurlock, Carmen Strahan, and Gladys White.

Long-time friends

was to participate in the Floyd County Sesqui-Centennial in July. During this club year, Una Smith moved from this county and Marie Burns completed her term as president. A Christmas party was held at the home of Judy Clark with Turp Combs playing Santa Claus.

Peg Crawford was installed as president. Laura Ley and Digna Mandt were welcomed as new members. Mrs. Mandt led the blood drive and many Kiwanian members volunteered for this program. The Christmas party was held at the home of Tot Allen at the Victoria House, formerly the home of her aunt and uncle, the late E.P. Arnold, Prestonsburg Mayor for a number of years, and Mrs. Arnold.

1952:

Florence Music was elected president. The group assisted the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club in the March of Dimes Fund.

1953:

Betty Wellman succeeded Florence Music as president. A new gavel was presented to the club by Mrs. Music, who, reportedly, was "weary of the glass and spoon method" of calling meetings to order.

1954:

Mildred (Turp) Combs was installed as president. The Kiwanians donated $50 to the Girl Scouts' program, and attended the dedication of the new Girl Scout Camp. The Christmas party was held at the home of Margaret Archer.

1955:

Emma May became the club's new president during a traumatic year in the region. The main project was helping the Polio Clinic in its efforts to give preventative polio shots to grade school children and expectant mothers in this county. Founders' Day was celebrated; Attorney Fred Francis served as the featured speaker at this event.

1956:

Jane Combs was installed as president. The Kiwanians assisted with the opening ceremonies for the youth center at the Prestonsburg Municipal Building. The Kiwanian Constitution was amended to include the wives of all Kiwanis members "in good standing."

1957:

The gavel was passed to Patsy Wright. A Valentine's party for the local youth was sponsored. An outdoor picnic, at the home of Florence Music, was held in August, and a Christmas party was given by the club's president, Mrs. Wright, at her home.

1958:

Nancy Camicia became the new president. Meetings were changed from bimonthly on Fridays to once-a-month on Thursdays. One program presented that year informed members about the newly organized Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad. The summer picnic was held at the home of Ruby Music; the Christmas party was held at Mrs. Camicia's home.

1959:

Margaret Archer was installed as president. Changes in rules and by-laws of the club were made. Membership was opened to women other than to the wives of Kiwanis members. The club adopted a resolution supporting a low-rent housing project for the city. The Christmas party was held at Mrs. Archer's home.

1960:

The Prestonsburg Kiwanians entered their tenth year, with Marjorie Francis as president. A resolution for the approval of the plan for development of Jenny Wiley State Park was made. Meetings were being held in the homes of members. The tenth anniversary luncheon was at Wise's Cafeteria in Prestonsburg with Kathryn Frazier and Margaret Archer presenting the program.

These gleanings are merely the "tip of the iceberg" of the many activities by members of the Prestonsburg Kiwanians' Club in their efforts to improve their community. Some of their community activities between the years 1961-91 will be presented at various times in the near future.

PHS class of 1918-33 holds grand reunion

The reunion of the classes of 1918 through 1933 of Prestonsburg High School was held June 15 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. Registration began at 4 p.m., and dinner was served at 5 p.m.

The meeting was called to order about 6:30 by James B. Goble, chairman of the Planning Committee, and master of ceremonies. Eck Branham led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag, and the invocation was given by Joe Arnett. Carlos H. Haywood, a member of the 1933 class, welcomed those in attendance and introduced the special entertainment group, including her daughter, Rebecca Haywood, who teaches choral music at Falmouth Elementary School; Elizabeth Frazier, music teacher at Prestonsburg High School; and David B. Leslie, a teacher of piano. All three of these musicians are alumni of Prestonsburg High School, and are active in music at their respective churches, as well as in civic organizations.

The group sang and played a medley of songs, bringing back memories of music of the 1920's-1930's. Hands clapped, and feet tapped while many joined in the singing of those lovely melodies. Everyone enjoyed the entertainment of this special group of musicians so much that they received a standing ovation, and were invited to participate in the group's next grand reunion.

A memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Ruth Worland, and was concluded with a moment of silent prayer by the group, in memory of those who were no longer with them.

A historical sketch of Prestonsburg High School, which was written by the late Mrs. Minnie Grace (Harris) Sutherland, an alumnus, and former teacher at P.H.S., was read by Mrs. Carlos H. Haywood.

James B. Goble read letters from classmates who were unable to attend this grand reunion, and asked those present to answer the roll-call, tell something about themselves, and introduce their guests. The Planning Committee, consisting of James B. Goble, Carlos H. Haywood, Anna G. Alley, Minerva H. Cooley, Ruth O. Worland, Thomas Hereford, and Dora G. Osborne, was introduced at this time. The committee gave special thanks to Tom Price, who used a 1933 Prestonsburg High School class ring to make the design for the program for this event. The group thanked Virginia S. Goble and Sarah M. Laven for serving as registrars.

Those signing the register, and the year in which each graduated from Prestonsburg High School were: Fannie Rannels, 1918; John M. Burchett, 1923; Alice Annie Harris, 1925; Margaret Collins, 1928; Edna Saunders, 1929; Mildred Salisbury, 1930; Pauline A. Burchett, 1930; Beecher Scutchfield, 1930; Susan C. Garrett, 1931; Mary Ellis Branham, 1931; Delmas Saunders, 1931; Joe Wheeler Jarrell, 1932; Opal Branham, 1932; Frank "Red" Branham, 1932; Dora G. Osborne, 1932; Thomas Hereford, 1932; Oval B. Hall, 1932; Jerry F. Howell, 1932; Rebecca Arnett, 1932; Anna G. Alley, 1933; Eck Branham, 1933; Millie Prater, 1933; James B. Goble, 1933; Russell Laven, 1933; Minerva Cooley, 1933; Carlos Haywood, 1933; Graham McGuire, 1933; Inez Hereford, 1933; Ruth O. Worland, 1933; Joe H. Arnett, 1933, and Josephine Auxier, 1933.

Also attending this event were the following guests: William Salisbury, Debbie Bailey, Arthur Garrett, Ray Collins, Joe Hopson, Diane Hopson, Ellen Hopson, Alma Jarrell, Carol Branham, Sharon Howard, Russell Prater, Olma H. Burchett, Virginia S. Goble, Sarah Laven, Gertrude Branham, Ernest "Red" Osborne, Arthur Haywood, Evelyn Warrix, Jeanette M. Bowles, Elsie Mae Stephens, Linda Stephens, Mabel W. Allen, Rebecca Haywood, Elizabeth Frazier, Lisa Leslie, David B. Leslie, Phyllis Ranier, Pauline Edmund, William Rannels, Maman Leslie, Buena Howell and Lorena Horne.

Grand reunion committee plan 60th reunion

The 1933 Prestonsburg High School reunion committee held its wrap-up meeting on Friday, June 28, at the Floyd County Library. Because of the success of the reunion of this group recently held at May Lodge, it was tentatively decided to hold the 60th year reunion in 1993. Committee members present were James B. Goble, Carlos Haywood, Ruth Worland, Dora Osborne, Ann Allen, Russell Laven and Thomas and Ina May Hereford.

Local residents return from vacation

Splash into reading

Pat Dempsey explains to the children in the 7-12 year olds summer reading program the way to fill out their book recorder. The children are asked to read at least 40 books, 30-pages long, within five weeks. At the end of the program, those who successfully complete the assignment will be entered into a drawing for several prizes and all will be awarded a certificate. Approximately 35 children were present Wednesday at the afternoon session and about 50 are signed up. (photo by Tess Whitmer)

Alumni reunion held at Alice Lloyd College

Forty-four Alice Lloyd College alumni from the classes of 1930s, 1940s and 1950s returned on Saturday, June 15 for a reunion. Some of the returning graduates had not seen fellow classmates since they graduated from Cancy College (as it was named then).

The reunion began at 11 a.m. with registration and a time to meet yesterday friends. A display of old pictures and magazine articles were of interest to the group.

Lunch was served at 12:45 p.m. Dr. Wallace Campbell, dean of the college, presented an up-date of the development of the College. The group was enthusiastic about Dean Campbell's report concerning the purpose and mission of the school, and pledged to become more involved in the future.

Adrian Hall spoke of his role on the staff of the college and as a member of the Board of Trustees. As one who has witnessed the growth and development of Alice Lloyd College, Hall's comments were overwhelmingly optimistic concerning its future.

Robin Moler, director of Alumni Affairs and organizer of the reunion, was pleased with the response. "Everyone had a great time. When we have these events, it is reassuring to know that the memories of the past can be rekindled by bringing old friend back together again," she said.

Alumni and guests attending the event were: Adrian Hall, Marie and Edwin Everidge, Edna Davis, Nadine Hicks, Arnold and Alma Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Saunders, Ruby Akers and Dennis and Jo Ann Adams, all of Floyd County; Howard and Rosalyn Stewart, Otha Hopkins, Will and Edith Hayes, Donna Renfrow and her daughter, Edgar and Hazel Moles, and Mary Frances and Jim Ross, all of Lexington; Emma Lois Pigman, Carol Jean Adams, Anna Johnson Frazier, James Gayheart, Bethel and Roy Ritchie, Lawrence Baldrige, Wallace Campbell, Robin Moler, Nora S. Meade and Kathy Addis Wallingford of Knott County; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Thacker of Nicholasville; Ralph Campbell of Pikeville; Labe Cooper of California; Mary Coyer of Chesapeake, Ohio; and Wayne and Mabra Johnson of Lady Lake, Florida.

In home day care requires license

In Kentucky, anyone providing full or part-time day care, day or night, for at least four children not related to the provider by blood, marriage or adoption on more than one day in any week or more than 10 hours per week must be licensed by the Cabinet for Human Resources under Kentucky law.

If care is provided for four to twelve children, it is referred to as a day care home or Type II facility. Type II facilities are licensed and monitored by the Cabinet for Human Resources, Division of Licensing and Regulations.

Certification is voluntary and no fee is required.

For more information on becoming a certified Small Family Day Care provider, please call Marjorie Sheets at 1-800-421-1903.

Pvt. Goble completes Marine's basic training

Marine Pvt. Johnnie R. Goble, son of Lynda S. Hughes of Martin, has completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, South Carolina.

During the 13-week training cycle, Goble was taught the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

A 1990 graduate of James A. Cawood High School, he joined the Marine Corps in January 1991.

Every season brings change to Hillenmeyer Nurseries. But since 1954, their health insurance has been firmly rooted with Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

Truly one of Lexington's garden spots, Hillenmeyer Nurseries has been on the same 275-acre spread since 1841. Five generations of Hillenmeyers have planted, pruned and nurtured the trees, shrubs and evergreens they sell across the country.

At Hillenmeyer's, something new is always sprouting up. Except when you talk to Louis, Chris and Stephen Hillenmeyer about their health insurance. For the past 37 years, just one health insurance company has tended to their needs - Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky.

Innovative thinking and a wide range of quality health plans have enabled Blue Cross and Blue Shield to meet the Hillenmeyers' ever-changing needs.

While some companies change insurers like the seasons, the Hillenmeyers have opted for the strength, stability and resources of Kentucky's most popular health insurance company.

If you want your health plan to come up roses, contact Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky.

County Kettle

By M. L. Harmon

I have seen recipes — and I have seen recipes — but never have I seen one like the following. By the time I finished reading all the instructions, I had almost decided to not try it but? I did! And it is good. It is well worth all the reading. I wonder if I couldn't shorten it. Guess I better not try because I could mess it up. So here goes:

MARVELOUS MUD CAKE

Advance preparation: When wrapped in plastic wrap and stored in an airtight container, this cake keeps very well at room temperature for up to a week. It may also be frozen.

Special equipment: 9-inch (10 cup capacity) bundt, kugelhupf, or tube pan, double boiler, 2-cup glass measuring cup, sifter, flat paddle foe electric mixer, if available.

Baking time: 65 to 70 minutes at 325° (165°C)

Quantity: about 7 cups batter, one 9-inch tube cake (serves 18 to 20).

Pan preparation: Generously spread solid shortening inside pan, taking care to cover all indentations. Dust inside of pan with unsweetened cocoa or flour, or dry unflavored bread crumbs; tap out excess.

- 5 oz. unsweetened chocolate
- 2 c. sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 c. powdered instant coffee
- 2 tbsp. boiling water
- 1 c. plus 2 tbsp. cold water
- 1/2 c. bourbon or rum
- 1 c. unsalted butter, at room temperature
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 2 c. sugar
- 3 large eggs, plus 1 yolk
- 4 tbsp. buttermilk

Prepare pan as directed. Position rack in center of oven. Preheat oven to 325°.

Melt chocolate in top of double-boiler set over hot, not boiling water. Remove chocolate before it is completely melted and stir until smooth. Set aside — off heat.

Sift together flour, soda and salt. Set aside. In a 2-cup glass measure, dissolve the instant coffee in the boiling water. Stir in the cold water and bourbon and set mixture aside.

In a large bowl cream, using a mixer fitted with a paddle-type beater (if available), the butter with vanilla and sugar until well blended and smooth. Beat in eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition; beat in extra egg yolk and buttermilk. Scrape down the bowl and batter. Add melted and slightly cooled chocolate and beat alternately. Stir in the flour mixture and the coffee-bourbon liquid. Beat until batter is smooth; it will be quite thin, and look somewhat curdled. Pour batter into the prepared pan. Bake in the center of the preheated oven 65 to 70 minutes, until cake will spring up after touching in center and looks slightly cracked.

DO NOT over bake, or the cake will dry out. Cool the cake on a rack for 15 minutes, then top with another rack or plate and invert. Lift off pan. Cool cake completely.

DEVILED CHICKEN

- 1 fryer, quartered
  - 1/4 c. butter, softened
  - 1/4 tsp. each, prepared mustard and vinegar
  - 1/2 tsp. each salt and paprika
  - 1 c. fresh bread crumbs
- Dry chicken with paper towel. Mix butter, mustard, vinegar, salt and paprika well. Rub mixture on skin of chicken. Place skin side up in a shallow roasting pan. Sprinkle evenly with bread crumbs. Bake in preheated 375° oven 40 to 50 minutes or until meat thermometer registers 170° in breast meat, 185° in dark meat.

MARINATED VEGGIES

- 1 (12-oz.) bag fresh baby carrots, scraped
- 1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, quartered
- 1 c. pitted ripe olives
- 1 c. sliced celery
- 1 (14-oz.) can artichoke hearts, drained and cut in half
- 1 (2-oz.) jar diced pimento, drained
- 2/3 c. olive oil
- 1/3 c. red wine vinegar
- 1/4 c. diced onion
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 tsp. dried whole basil
- 1 tsp. dried whole oregano
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- lettuce (optional)

Cook carrots in boiling water to cover for 5 minutes, until crisp-tender. Drain and let cool. Combine carrots and next 5 ingredients in a shallow pan, set aside. Combine olive oil and remaining ingredients, except lettuce, in a jar, cover tightly, and shake vigorously. Pour marinade over vegetables; toss gently. Cover and chill. Drain and serve in a lettuce lined bowl (10 to 12).

PORK CHOPS EN CASSEROLE

submitted by Betty Hatfield

- 4 pork chops
- 4 potatoes
- 4 onions
- 4 cored apples
- 1/4 c. raisins
- 1 tbsp. sugar
- 1 can consommé

Brown chops in roasting pan in hot oven, 500°, 15 minutes. Arrange potatoes and onions around chops. Stuff apples with raisins, sprinkle lightly with sugar and place an apple on top of each chop. Pour over consommé, cover and roast 1 1/4 hours in a moderate oven, 375°. Season to taste.

BEEF WITH RED WINE MARINADE

- 1 (1 1/2 lb.) top round or flank steak
- 1 c. red wine
- 1/4 c. soy sauce
- 1/4 c. oil
- 1 tsp. seasoned salt
- 1 tsp. pepper
- 1 tsp. whole dried oregano
- 1 tsp. garlic juice

Place steak in a shallow dish or a zip-top heavy duty plastic bag. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over steak. Cover and seal, chill 8 hours, turning occasionally.

Remove steak from marinade; grill over medium (300° to 400°) coals 7 to 9 minutes on each side, to desired degree of doneness. To serve, slice steak, across grain into thin slices. Yield 6 servings.

PEANUT BUTTER CANDY OVALS

- 1 1/2 c. margarine, melted
- 3/4 c. crunchy peanut butter
- 1 1/2 tsp. light corn syrup
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- 2 pound powdered sugar, sifted
- 1/2 (24 oz.) pkg. almond bark decorator frosting (optional)

Combine margarine, peanut butter, corn syrup, and vanilla. Mix at low speed until smooth and well blended. Gradually add powdered sugar until mixture is no longer sticky and can be handled by hand, divide into six large (egg size) or 18 small ovals, shape each with a flat bottom, place on paper towels. Cover loosely and let sit at room temperature 12 hours.

Place almond bark in top of a double boiler, bring water to a boil. Reduce heat to low and simmer until almond bark melts. Carefully dip bottom of each oval in almond bark, and place on wax paper. Spoon almond bark over ovals, letting excess drip on wax paper. Excess almond bark can be used by melting over simmering water. Place ovals in refrigerator about 15 minutes or until firm. Decorate, if you desire.

DECORATOR FROSTING

- 1/4 c. shortening
  - 2 c. sifted powdered sugar
  - 3 tsp. milk
  - paste food coloring optional
- Cream shortening in a mixing bowl; gradually add powdered sugar alternately with milk until desired consistency. Color portions of food color, if desired.

Pack is named new branch manager

LINDA PACK

Burl Spurlock, president of First Commonwealth Bank, announces Linda Pack has been named manager of the Martin Branch. Pack joined the bank in 1971 as a bookkeeper. Subsequent duties have included services as a teller and over 10 years as a customer service representative, the last six of which have been at the Martin Branch. The Martin Branch was established in 1961 and expanded to twice its original size in 1981 and is a multi-service banking center providing a wide range of services including loans. Pack is only the second manager of the branch, following Patricia Salisbury who retired last fall. A 1987 graduate of the Kentucky School of Banking, Pack, an Auxier Native, lives near Hippo with her family. thanks to all the parents, teachers and principals that worked with us. We are so proud of these students and I do count it a real privilege to be out there searching for this talent. Hope to see you on Monday night at the amphitheater.

By Neil Harmon

Just recently a good friend told me it was time to settle down and write some gardening columns. Ok, I am glad my friend feels safe to mention it.

July is the time the mulching program swings into high gear, particularly when, like us, you've had very little snow over the winter and with March and April quite wet. Now the heat is simmering up in waves from our garden, which means our crops will be putting forth sustained growth.

Recently, I read a three page article by one of the better known experts. Yes, I was hoping I would get some ideas. The above paragraph is all three pages of his article condensed. I can't write like that — all words. Now, I hope you don't get me wrong. Without the experts, none of us would get very much grown in our gardens. I know I do more things wrong than ten people, but I do not let that keep me from trying.

Generally, the following year I do not make the same mistakes, but I will make them in other areas. Take this column this week—and I wish you would. I have several things I want to write about, but the words will not come out, nor get lined up. So—

In walking around in my "postage stamp" garden today, I did notice there is getting to be good ground coverage with purslane. This plant is not a weed. Purslane is an old, pot herb gone wild. It can, and will, be found in any good garden or farm crop soil. Purslane is rich in vitamins A and C, plus has a higher iron content than any other known plant. The thick fleshy leaves are good in salads and soups. It was used in earlier days to help alleviate scurvy and also to treat bruises and gout. We don't need it today for those purposes because our diet is better.

The entire purslane plant can be eaten. Flower buds, leaves, and stems are the most commonly used, but even the tiny seeds can be ground into meal and used in bread making to give you more food value. This plant can be eaten raw or cooked. When cooked, it tends to be similar to glue, like okra, and can be used as an okra substitute in fish, chicken, beef, shrimp and crab gumbos.

Purslane: don't weed it, eat it. Each spring or late winter many of us still watch for the first sign of wild greens. Some go in a group: some go alone. Generally, we only go once or twice and then all the wild greens are forgotten for another year. Yet, we have edible wild greens growing in our yards and gardens until the killing frost strikes. Dandelions and violets are only two of the many lawn weeds. Both are high in several, if not all, vitamins. I would not think about green hunting in grown up fields, or along streams, due to the danger of snakes in warm weather. When they are in your lawn and garden, just for the taking, let's take them.

Maybe, if more people would use purslane, it would become as well known and used here as it is in England and France.

Census Bureau to collect data

The US Census Bureau will collect data on employment and unemployment from area residents the week of July 14-20, according to William F. Hill, director of the bureau's Charlotte regional office.

The local labor force data will contribute to the national employment and unemployment picture to be released August 2 by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Puppetry Caravan to perform in Hindman

Berea College's Puppetry Caravan, now making its 21st summer tour, will perform at the Hindman Settlement School at 7 p.m. on July 15.

Caravan shows, directed by art professor Neil DiTeresa, feature 30 different handmade puppets including Italian stick puppets, life-sized Japanese bunraku figures and the traditional Punch and Judy from England.

This year, DiTeresa and his student puppeteers are performing in 18 cities and towns in Kentucky, Alabama, Florida, West Virginia and Tennessee. Their audiences will meet Poppytree, a stick puppet based on a southern European puppet of the 17th Century; life-sized Kentucky mountaineers Reuben and Matilda Bledsoe, and Dottie March, a "Lady" with peculiar eating habits. And children attending performances will be asked to help assemble the 10-foot-tall character Poogey Wilcox.

DiTeresa believes the shows give many youngsters "an ingredient they don't have in their lives, a sense of magic and wonder."

The New York native created the Puppetry Caravan for Berea College in 1970 as a way of preserving and extending traditional mountain culture. It began as a marionette show, but DiTeresa later changed the performance format to promote audience participation and lessen strictly-defined distances between the puppets, puppeteers and the audience.

Original funding for the Puppetry Caravan was provided by the Rockefeller Foundation and additional support has come from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Kentucky Arts Commission and Humanities Council and the E.O. Robinson Fund.

In recent years, travel expenses have been financed by sponsoring libraries, festivals, arts councils and children's centers.

In addition to performances, DiTeresa and his students conduct workshops, teaching others how to make and use puppets.

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT 81-CI-325

The Bank Josephine, Plaintiff
VS: NOTICE OF SALE
Sterling Hamilton and Olga Hamilton, and Sterling Hamilton, DBA Sterling Hamilton Coal Company, Defendants

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the January 17 term, 1983, in the above styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 19 day of July, 1991, at 10:00 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of thirty (30) days, with 10% of the bid paid in cash, the following described property, to-wit: All of the undivided interests of the Defendants only, in the following described property:

All of the mineral interests in and to that certain tract of land, lying and being on the waters of Tackett Fork of Big Mud Creek in Floyd County, Kentucky, that was conveyed the heirs of Joe M. Hall by and through the late Willie K. Hall, as trustee, on July 1, 1954, from Charles Little, et al, as recorded in Deed Book 157, page 83 on July 2, 1954, as recorded in the records of the Floyd County Clerk, and described more particularly as follows:

Beginning at a beech on the hill above the road a corner to Emma Tackett, thence to the creek, and up the creek with Ella Hall's line to the Emma Tackett line, thence up the hill to W.K.

Elliott line, thence up the hill with his line to the main ridge, so as to include the W.K. Elliott tract, thence up the ridge to the Grenville Tackett line, thence down the hill with his line, and crossing the creek, and up the hill to the top, thence down the hill with Emma Tackett line to the beginning, so as to include all the minerals that Joe M. Hall owned at his death, and the right of way to market same, embracing 167.8 acres, more or less. This tract is subject to an oil and gas lease of January 11, 1927, recorded in Deed Book 74, page 231 in said office, presently held by the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company as lease #95, on which there are two producing wells, #455 and #986.

The interests of the Defendants to be sold in the above described mineral tract were conveyed Defendants by Deed of May 18, 1971 from Virgie Elliott, widow, as recorded in Deed Book 208, page 106 in records of Floyd County Clerk's Office, and by other Deeds to this tract by certain heirs of Joe M. Hall, as recorded in Deed Book 223, pages 519-26 on January 2, 1976 in said office.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $608,783.71, accrued interest of $423,998.96, with interest thereon at 12% annually from the 1 day of May, 1991, until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT 90-CI-401

The Bank Josephine, Plaintiff
VS: NOTICE OF SALE
Bradrick Walls, Marcia Branham Walls, United Federal Savings Bank and Floyd County Ky, Defendants

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the October 5 and November 12, terms, 1990, and the June 27 term, 1991, in the above styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 19th day of July, 1991, at 10:30 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or 10% of the bid price down in cash at the time of sale and the balance upon a credit of thirty (30) days. In the event that the successful bidder is the Plaintiff, The Bank Josephine, or the Defendant, United Federal Savings Bank, then and in that event, said party shall not be required to make any cash deposit or bond.

The property being sold is more particularly described as follows:

A certain tract or parcel of land, lying in Floyd County, Kentucky, on the waters of the Big Sandy River at Dwale, Kentucky, being the same land conveyed to Bradrick Walls and Marcia Branham Walls by deed from Opal Branham, widow, dated October 16, 1985, recorded in Deed Book 295, page 439, Floyd County Clerk's Office, being more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at the drainage ditch and right-of-way of U.S. 23 up the hill in a northerly direction and adjoining the land of Curtis and Minnie Warrick at the top of the old Bull Creek hill approximately 400 feet; thence running along old Route 1428 in a southerly direction and adjoining the land of Ron Wright approximately 400 feet; thence in a southwesterly direction down the hill and adjoining the land of Opal Branham approximately 400 feet; thence running with U.S. 23 right-of-way in a northerly direction back to the point of beginning. This tract of land contains approximately 2 acres, more or less.

The purchaser shall be required to assume and pay all real property taxes assessed for the tax year 1990 and all subsequent years.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $32,830.08, with interest thereon @ 12% per annum from the 6th day of September until satisfied, and the principal sum of $1,491.46, with interest thereon @ 17% annually from the 22nd day of May, 1990, until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Low rates increase home sales, open up market to first-time buyers

Affordable mortgage rates continued to bring home buyers into the market in May, particularly first-time home buyers, increasing the sales pace of previously owned homes to the highest level in nearly a year and a half, according to the National Association of Realtors.

The association recorded a seasonally adjusted annual sales rate* of 3.51 million existing single-family homes last month, 6.0 percent above the April rate of 3.31 million units.

NAR President Harley E. Rouda said the increase in sales during May marks the fourth straight monthly improvement. "We are very encouraged by last month's home sales activity. Low mortgage rates and increased consumer confidence are fueling momentum in the housing market and allowing entry-level buyers to finally get up the courage to dive into the market."

"Moreover, because housing is a major economic force, it is likely that improvements in the housing market will stimulate the rest of the economy," Rouda added.

The majority of buyers are choosing fixed-rate mortgages, which continue to be in the single-digit range, to finance their purchases, Rouda noted. The Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. (Freddie Mac) reported that the national average commitment rate for 30-year, conventional, fixed-rate mortgages was 9.47 percent in May, down nearly one percentage point from one year earlier.

The May median price of $99,700 rose 4.7 percent from the May 1990 price of $95,200, and declined 0.6 percent from the April price of $100,300. The median is a midpoint—half the homes sell for more, half for less. The decline in the national median sales price is indicative of the greater quantity of homes sold in the lower price ranges in May, by entry-level buyers, Rouda noted.

All the regions except the Northeast recorded resale pace increases between April and May. However, the Northeast posted only a slight decline. There, sales of existing homes dropped 1.9 percent to a rate of 530,000 units last month. The Northeast's median price of $143,600 rose 1.9 percent from one year earlier, and declined 0.8 percent from April.

"Home sales in the Northeast are beginning to taper off following a strong increase in April," NAR Chief Economist John A. Tuccillo said. "Even so, sales are running 1.9 percent above a year ago. Affordable interest rates should help to sustain the market at healthier levels in the months ahead," he said.

In the West, the May resale of 610,000 units rose 7.0 percent from the April rate of 570,000 units. It is the second consecutive monthly increase the West has posted, with sales 5.1 percent above one year ago. The median existing-home price there was $140,100, down 1.2 percent from May 1990, and is 7.2 percent below April. Tuccillo said favorable financing has brought more first-time buyers into the market, as evidenced by a drop in the median home price in this region last month.

The South posted a resale rate of 1.39 million units, up 6.9 percent from April and up 3.7 percent from a year ago. The South's median price was $89,400 in May, up 5.2 percent from one year earlier, and up 1.6 percent from April.

In the Midwest, the rate of existing-home sales rose 7.7 percent to 980,000 units in May, and are 7.7 percent above a year ago. The median price there was $77,100, up 5.9 percent from one year earlier, but down 1.0 percent from April.

Mortgage rates are expected to stay low the rest of the year, despite a temporary inching up over the next couple of months, Tuccillo said. "And, as the economic recovery takes hold, overall sales activity should be healthy for the remainder of 1991 and robust in 1992," he noted. Sales presently are at a higher level than expected, and NAR forecasts sales of existing single-family homes to total 3.30 million units in 1991. Interest rates for fixed-rate, 30-year, mortgages are expected to average 9.3 percent for the year.

There were 2.66 million homes available for sale nationwide in May, representing a 9.1-month supply at last month's resale rate.

The National Association of Realtors, "The Voice for Real Estate," is the nation's largest trade association, representing nearly 800,000 members involved in all aspects of the real estate industry.

*The annual rate for a particular month represents what the total number of actual sales for a year would be if the relative resale pace for that month were maintained for 12 consecutive months.

Seasonally adjusted annual rates are used in reporting monthly data to factor out seasonal variations in resale activity. For example, home sales volume normally is higher in the summer and relatively light in the winter months, primarily because of differences in the weather.

Wetlands Bill gives environment and property rights equal weight

Many owners of wetlands properties have had their land "taken," in effect, when denied a permit to develop it as they see fit. For this reason, the National Association of Realtors supports legislation that would compensate these property owners, clearly define a "wetland," and streamline the permit process for those sites that can be developed.

NAR issued a call-to-action to its members today urging them to write their congressmen to co-sponsor H.R. 1330, "The Comprehensive Wetlands Conservation and Management Act of 1991," introduced by Reps. Jimmy Hayes, D-La., and Tom Ridge, R-Pa.

NAR strongly supports the preservation of legitimate wetlands but under current federal policies, private property owners have their property rights and values diminished without just compensation in so-called wetlands areas, some of which have little or no ecological value.

Under the "Clean Water Act," which governs the use of wetlands, a property owner may be denied a permit to develop, build on, or farm a piece of land that has been classified as a wetland. However, the Fifth Amendment of the United States Constitution states that private property cannot be taken for public use without just compensation.

NAR President Harley E. Rouda said the Hayes-Ridge bill, which NAR strongly endorses, would not only remedy the problem of just compensation, but help to balance the environmental concerns our members share with the rights of private property owners nationwide.

"Passage of this bill is necessary to resolve many of the hardships suffered by wetlands-affected property owners all over the country," he said.

Rouda said the bill would establish a clear definition of a wetland, which is long overdue, and, set up a classification system that would prioritize wetlands by function and value.

The legislation also calls for setting up a "one-stop-shopping" permit system, which would considerably cut through layers of bureaucratic red tape by allowing a property owner to go to just one federal agency to obtain a permit to develop their land.

In addition, the bill allows for "mitigation banking," which gives the property owner increased flexibility in developing their wetlands property in exchange for an agreement where the owner must make certain concessions. Another aspect of the bill provides for public comment and notification to affected wetlands property owners.

Rouda said NAR favors this bill because it successfully achieves the delicate balance between protecting private property rights and preserving our nation's valued wetlands.

The National Association of Realtors, "The Voice for Real Estate," is the nation's largest trade association, representing nearly 800,000 members involved in all aspects of the real estate industry.

Real estate roundtable Kentucky real estate commission

Q. We have talked to a real estate agent about selling our home and he suggested that we may want to purchase a "buyer protection plan". He also stated that this could speed up the sale. Can you tell me a little more about these plans?

A. A "buyer protection plan" may be paid for by the buyer or the seller. The typical plan covers the seller for the period the home is on the market and then covers the buyer for a specific period of time after closing.

Be sure to read the various plans carefully and compare them before signing to insure that items such as the heating, air conditioning, electrical and plumbing systems are included. Some plans may also include any appliances that will remain with the property. There may also be a deductible required in the event replacement of one of the systems must occur within the specified time.

A "buyer protection plan" may be an added selling point for your home, but you will need to evaluate whether you think it is worth the money you spend to purchase the plan. The existence of such a plan may, indeed, influence a buyer in his decision to purchase that home over another one.

Another alternative to purchasing a "buyer protection plan" might be to have a home inspector, licensed electrician, plumber, or other professional to inspect the systems to insure that they are in good working order.

Whatever the decision, be sure to know what you are purchasing and remember to read the information carefully before signing.

If you have other real estate questions, please write the Kentucky Real Estate Commission, 10200 Linn Station road, Suite 201, Louisville, Kentucky 40223.
