Fatal mishap investigated

Investigators are conducting a probe into a fatal car crash Sunday involving a Kentucky State Police trooper. The accident killed a 54-year-old Prestonsburg woman and

Police nab five on pot charges

Five people were arrested Sunday after an anonymous tip led to the discovery of five pounds of marijuana in a vehicle.

Shirley Webb, 40, of Eccles, West Virginia; Amos Dotson, 36, of Columbus, Ohio; Aaron Tackett, 45, Eurie Tackett, 47, and Scheryl Tackett, 32, all of Beaver were arrested at 1:30 p.m. Sunday after officers stopped a 1986 Toyota, driven by Scheryl Tackett, at Ivel. A search of the vehicle produced five pounds of marijuana.

All five suspects were arrested and charged with trafficking in marijuana. They were taken to the Floyd County Jail.

The five were released at approximately 9 p.m. Sunday after each posted $5,000 surety bonds.

The incident is under investigation by KSP trooper Johnny Reynolds and detective Lee Weddington.

seriously injured her father.

Ruby Baisden Lafferty was pronounced dead on arrival at Highlands Regional Medical Center after the car she was a passenger in was struck at the intersection of KY 3 and KY 1428 at Lancer by a Kentucky State Police cruiser driven by trooper John Blanton, who was in pursuit of a red Chevy S-10 pickup, KSP officials said.

Lafferty's father, 84-year-old Lee Roy Baisden was taken to Highlands and later transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center in critical condition with multiple fractures.

There appears to be some confusion as to whether trooper Blanton was conducting a routine roadblock prior to the accident.

State police said Blanton was conducting a routine traffic check roadblock with Prestonsburg police sergeant Gerald Clark when he observed a pickup truck making a U-turn, apparently trying to avoid the traffic stop.

Prestonsburg Police chief Greg Hall said Tuesday, however, that Clark's report did not indicate he was conducting the roadblock with Blanton.

"My report says that the two officers were parked beside the road talking and Blanton walked out into the road and stopped a car," Hall said. "Then, Blanton saw the truck turn and he went after it. I'm not aware of a joint roadblock."

Sergeant Todd Henson said Tuesday that Clark told him the two were just beginning to conduct the roadblock before the accident happened.

"I spoke to several witnesses who said trooper Blanton had just checked them," Henson said. "I don't know how long they had been there (checking motorists) before it happened. But, Gerald said they both were conducting the roadblock."

Witnesses at the scene said Monday that Blanton's cruiser was traveling at a high rate of speed and could not stop at the 4-way intersection.

"I saw a little red truck turn around and then the cruiser go after it," said Reanita Robinson of Goble Roberts, who was on her way home when the accident occurred. "My husband pulled our car over to let the police car go by and I saw it (the cruiser) going toward the little red car (in the intersection). I'd say he was going about 60-65 miles per hour. He had his siren and lights on."

Bucky Collins of Prestonsburg said he saw Blanton's cruiser hit Baisden's vehicle.

"The state trooper was going down the wrong side of road, trying to get back into the right lane of traffic," Collins said. "He then slid sideways into the intersection. I'd say he was

Transfers to be contested

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Two Floyd County school teachers who have been transferred to teach at other schools in the district have vowed to file lawsuits against the Floyd County Board of Education.

Gwendolyn Hammonds and Sharon Sammons said Tuesday that they intend to file suit against the board for "punitive transfers."

Hammonds was an eighth grade teacher at Adams Middle School and Sammons a physical education teacher at Prestonsburg High School. Both were notified of the transfers by superintendent Ron Hager last week.

Hammonds received a letter from Hager saying she would be teaching at Martin Elementary and Sammons was notified of her transfer to Betsy Layne Elementary.

In a July 10 letter from Floyd County Education Association president Carol Stumbo to Hager and the board, Stumbo protested Hager's actions.

"In your (July 2) letter, you cited several factors that are involved in the placement of teachers: declining school enrollment, student course selection at a secondary level, and a consideration of the total needs of the district," Stumbo's letter said. "Gwen Hammonds was a team leader at Adams Middle School last year. She received training in the middle school concept and has valuable knowledge and experience. Her transfer to Martin Elementary, of course, will not permit her to use those skills."

The letter said projected enrollment for Adams Middle School would increase by 29 students for the 1991-92 school year. It also said 13 teachers with less experience than Hammonds had been placed at the school.

"Gwen Hammonds has had 18 years of teaching experience and has an elementary major which means that she can teach at all levels in an elementary school," the letter said. "We have found no compelling reason why this teacher was moved."

As for Sammons, the letter said she was the most experienced teacher teaching health and physical education at Prestonsburg High School.

"In Sharon Sammons' case, she was the head of her department at Prestonsburg High School. Although

Ribbon-cutting is scheduled for regional veterans' center

The Eastern Kentucky Veteran's Outreach Clinic will open July 22 and will serve veterans from seven Eastern Kentucky counties.

A ribbon cutting ceremony will be held Sunday, July 21 at 2 p.m. at the clinic, located in the Riverview building on U.S. 23 in Prestonsburg, below Highlands Regional Medical Center.

The clinic will provide non-emergency general medical services which include general physical exams; limited on-site diagnostic testing; pre- and post-hospitalization treatment and care; and care that prevents the need for inpatient admissions.

The clinic will also offer preventive medical care, such as hypertension screening and monitoring; eye screening; diabetic screenings; social work counseling; and patient education. Highly specialized diagnostic exams such as intensive treatments; lab tests; routine X-rays; speciality clinic consultations; and admissions will be referred to the VA Medical Center in Huntington, West Virginia. Emergency cases will be referred to local hospitals.

The clinic expects over 5,000 outpatient visits per year while serving veterans from Floyd, Magoffin, Johnson, Martin, Pike, Letcher and Knott counties. The clinic will be staffed by a full-time physician, full-time physician assistant, supported by a full-time administrative officer, licensed practical nurse and a half-time social worker. There will also be a driver for a 17-passenger bus to provide transportation to the clinic.

Supervision of the outpatient clinic will be administered by the Huntington VA Medical Center Management.

Bingo probe active

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A criminal investigation into the bingo games at Prestonsburg High School is continuing and any evidence of wrongdoing will be presented to a Floyd County Grand Jury.

Kentucky State Police detective Johnnie Ray said Tuesday that the investigation is in its preliminary stages and a completion date could not be set.

"The length of time of the investigation will be dictated by the investigation itself," Ray told the Times. "It will depend on what we learn as we go along."

Ray is a detective with the Kentucky State Police's special investigations unit out of Lexington.

Floyd County Commonwealth Attorney Jerry Patton said Tuesday that he hopes the investigation can be complete by September.

"I am hopeful it can be completed by September so if there is any evidence discovered it can be presented to the grand jury at that time."

The grand jury is scheduled to be session on September 9-11.

The Floyd County Board of Education requested a probe by Patton in April after an investigation by the Floyd County Times into the Prestonsburg Academic Athletic Association (PAAA), which operated a weekly bingo game at Prestonsburg High School.

The Times' investigation revealed that the organization failed to meet many of the state law requirements for authority to conduct bingo games and that some of the bingo revenues appeared to have been used for purposes other than educational or charitable needs.

It was also revealed that the PAAA had neither an Internal Revenue Service nor the Kentucky Secretary of State's tax exempt status, which is required to operate a charitable

Building collapse kills Harold man

State police are investigating the death of a 38-year-old Harold man who died Saturday at a construction site in Teaberry.

Jay L. Tackett was killed at 12:10 p.m. Saturday when the block walls of the building he was helping construct collapsed, sending the roof trusses down on top of him, police officials said. Tackett was pronounced dead at the scene by deputy coroner Glenn Frazier.

The accident is under investigation by trooper Mike Thorpe.

Fire razes Blue River home

by Janice Shepherd
Staff Writer

A Tuesday morning fire destroyed the home of Mrs. Shirley Fay Slone of Buckeye at Blue River. The blaze, fed by oxygen from open windows in the house, consumed the home within 35 minutes, according to Larry Adams, training officer for the David Volunteer Fire Department, which responded to the scene.

Mrs. Slone's neighbor and relative, Roger Slone, who is a member of the fire department, recognized the odor of a house fire around 10 a.m. that morning. The house was empty. Slone discovered the blaze and reported the fire over his radio which speeded the response, Adams said.

When firefighters arrived at the scene, it was too late to save the house, so they concentrated their efforts on a trailer situated near the home. The trailer was also vacant because its owner Allie Combs was vacationing in Florida.

"The white trailer was steaming. The heat was sufficient to crack the windows," Adams said. Firefighters were able to prevent the trailer fire by keeping it hosed down, said Adams. Prestonsburg firefighters were also called to mutual aid in case the adjoining homes were threatened.

"The fire had such a good start," said Adams. "Older homes go pretty quickly." The house was about 75 years old and was built of pine, according to Mrs. Slone.

"I lost everything, including mementos of my husband," said Mrs. Slone, whose husband Richard died four years ago. Organizations or individuals wishing to donate clothing, women's pants size 36; blouse size 40, may do so by contacting Roger Slone at the David Volunteer Fire Department.

Wilkinson names Danny Greene to college's advisory board

David School director Danny Greene was named as a member of the Prestonsburg Community College Advisory Board Tuesday by Governor Wallace Wilkinson.

Greene will serve in that position until June 30, 1995. He will replace Robert Conley of Paintsville, whose term expired.

The governor also reappointed O.T. Dorton, president of Citizens National Bank of Paintsville, to another four-year term that expires June 30, 1995.

Lost cause
David area volunteer firefighters worked in sweltering heat Monday to keep the smoldering ruins of Shirley Fay Slone's Blue River home from spreading to a mobile home near the fire. Slone said firefighters thought the fire began in the kitchen area of her home, though cause of the blaze had not been determined Tuesday. No one was at home at the time of the fire. No injuries were reported. (photo by Janice Shepherd)

Teacher picnic

The Floyd County Education Association (FCEA) held its annual picnic Sunday at Stumbo Park in Allen. President Carol Stumbo spoke to the teachers telling them that progress had been made in the educational system in Floyd County. The group also honored individuals for their work toward improving education in the system. Those honored were: Dolores Smith; Rev. Tim Jessen; Debbie Hayes, Floyd County Parents for Better Schools; and Susan Allen, The Floyd County Times. (photo by Susan Allen)

Jesus Christ Superstar premieres July 18 at Jenny Wiley theatre

The final show to premiere at Jenny Wiley Theatre this summer season is Jesus Christ Superstar.

Superstar, performed for the first time here, is the Andrew Lloyd Webber, Tim Rice musical based on the popular 1960's rock album. It was Webber and Rice's second collaboration after Joseph & The Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat. Other popular Webber and Rice works include Evita and Cats.

The Jenny Wiley production of Superstar will be, according to its director, Richard Oberacker, a reverent view of the last seven days of the life of Christ.

Oberacker talked about the show with a great deal of pride and enthusiasm as he said, "This is a new production; a new, reverent look at a 20 year-old work. We have one of the most talented crews ever to perform at this theatre."

Oberacker said the dance numbers in Superstar are some of the most demanding numbers you'll see anywhere.

We have a phenomenal choreographer, Dee Anne Brylle, who has put together very challenging and entertaining dance numbers."

Oberacker said Superstar is accented by the fabulous new sound system, installed just prior to this season, and that the show features wonderful music.

It's sung by an incredible cast whose voices are just gold," he said. "And the orchestra is simply outstanding."

As for the work itself, Oberacker said this production depicts Christ in a very reverent manner.

Often, the cast leaves the rehearsals in tears," said Oberacker. "It's such a demanding experience and, to many of them, it is a very religious experience. It's a very positive work and a very positive work experience for the cast."

Many local clergy agree with Oberacker in his view of the total work.

"I think it's a very powerful presentation of the last week of Jesus' life with emphasis on his humanity and it also reflects his divinity as well," said Rev. Tim Jessen, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Prestonsburg. "I think the story itself is very dramatic including the triumphant entry of Jesus and then his betrayal and the events that lead up to the crucifixion."

Father David Powers of The Pi-arist Fathers in Martin agrees as well.

"The story is moving and immediate. Told entirely through song, Superstar effectively purveys a seminal message of Christ's gospel stripped of doctrinology," said Powers.

"Webber's score is vibrant, rich and vivid, and Rice's lyrics are persuasive, contemporary and reverent. At least four songs from the production: "Everything's Alright," "I Don't Know How To Love Him," "Superstar," and "Hosanna" have assured places in the roster of twentieth-century religious music," added Powers.

The Jenny Wiley production features Van Tracy as Christ, Steve Ewing as Judas, Jennifer Lampert as Mary Magdalene, and Robert Smith as Peter.

Superstar debuts Thursday, July 18, at 8:00 p.m. For ticket information, phone (606) 886-9274.

A ride in the cart

Falls from shopping carts are among the leading causes of head injuries to young children treated in hospital emergency rooms. The U.S. Consumer Products Safety Commission estimates that there are 12,000 children, under the age of five, treated every year for head injuries resulting from falls from carts. About 33 percent of these head injuries are concussions, fractures or internal injuries.

Shopping carts are now being used in hardware stores, drugstores and toy stores, as well as grocery stores. As usage increases, so too does the number of injuries.

The National Safety Council reminds parents to keep the child seated in the cart and to keep a close eye on your child at all times.

gaming activity.

Records show that in November, 1988, Prestonsburg High School principal Robert May, an apparent leader in the PAAA, purchased a 1989 Chevrolet S-10 pickup truck for $7,196.40. The vehicle is registered to Prestonsburg Athletic & Academic Association or Robert May.

Persons associated with the organization, including May, have apparently received "reimbursements" from the group's account.

May said in an April 26 edition of the Times that all funds raised through the bingo games at the school had been spent for school-related expenses and PAAA records would confirm that claim.

May said news reports on the organization's activities wrongly "inferred" that the association was involved in criminal activities. He said none of the members of the association had profited from the weekly bingo games.

When May was asked about reimbursements made to association members, he said those reimbursements were not improper and represented repayment to members who had spent their own money on school-related activities.

May said the pickup truck bought by the association was "over here to be used by the school."

May admitted that his organization had failed to adhere to state laws concerning the operation of bingo games, but he said the group was unaware of the legal requirements. He said he was also unaware of a law that requires charitable gaming operations to obtain a federal tax exemption.

going 70-75 miles an hour. There was no way he could make a turn in that intersection, he was running too fast.

"He just locked it up and scooted through it."

Police investigators were back at the scene Monday and Tuesday trying to reconstruct the accident. A survey team with the state Highway Department was taking measurements of the intersection for police so a scale map could be drawn to determine how the accident happened.

The investigation is expected to take several weeks to complete.

Trooper Blanton is still on active duty, trooper Prater said Tuesday.

Baisden remained at the University of Kentucky Medical Center in serious condition Tuesday afternoon.

Police said no one in the Baisden vehicle was wearing a seat belt. Blanton was taken to Highlands where he was treated and released.

The accident remains under investigation by KSP sergeant Todd Henson and trooper Mike Crawford.

Members of the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad removed Lafferty and her father from their vehicle using the Jaws of Life. Members of the Prestonsburg Police Department, Floyd County Sheriff's Department, P & B Ambulance and Respond Ambulance service responded to the scene.

there may be a decline in the enrollment at Prestonsburg High School next year, it seems unlikely that it could be so great that it would mean the loss of a full-time physical education teacher."

Hammonds and Sammons both have filed grievances against the principals at their schools this year. Hammonds also filed a criminal complaint against middle school principal Thomas Tackett alleging abuse of a teacher, terroristic threatening and harassment. That case is scheduled to be tried in Floyd County District Court Thursday at 10 a.m.

Sammons filed a harassment grievance against Prestonsburg principal Robert May earlier this year. A board hearing on the issue is scheduled for July 24.

Hammonds and Sammons said Tuesday they intend to file suit against the board of education as a result of the transfers. They are being represented by Kentucky Education Association attorney Al Brooks.

Superintendent Hager was out of town Tuesday and could not be reached for comment.

USDA announces 11th conservation reserve program signup provisions

Provisions for the eleventh Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) signup, July 8-19, were announced by Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan.

Madigan reminded producers the July CRP signup will be their only opportunity to offer bids that will be applicable to the 1992 crop year and that acreage accepted based upon these bids will be limited to approximately 1.1 million acres.

Acreage offered for enrollment must be land-planted or considered planted to produce an agricultural commodity in two of the five crop years from 1986 through 1990. The cropping-history requirement may be considered met, under certain circumstances, with cropland planted to alfalfa and other multi-year grasses and legumes grown in rotation and also in connection with acreage designated either as Acreage Conservation Reserve or Conservation Use for Pay during those five years.

Many provisions which applied to the 10th CRP signup hold this spring are applicable to the July signup, Madigan said.

"Under the CRP, the estimated environmental benefits obtained per dollar of cost to the Commodity Credit Corporation are evaluated when bids are considered," Madigan said.

"Therefore, producers should not rely on bid amounts which have been accepted in previous sign-ups since each producer's bid is compared to the productivity capability of the acres offered," he said. "Producers who wish to enroll acreage in the CRP should be aware that there is increased competition."

The provisions of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 have expanded land eligibility requirements from past years to include not only highly erodible land, but also other cropland acreage which reduces the impairment of water quality or improves public wellhead protection. Special consideration will be given to designated hydrologic unit areas, which are determined to be a source of water quality problems, and designated conservation priority areas.

In addition to increasing water quality benefits under CRP, practices requiring useful-life easements of 15 or 30 years such as filterstrips, sod waterways, shelterbelts and contour grass strips also are given special consideration in the bid evaluation process.

"The 1990 Act establishes a Wetland Reserve Program (WRP) under which wetlands may be enrolled in the program. Details of this program will be announced if appropriations to carry out the program become available," Madigan said. "Because wetlands will be eligible for inclusion in the WRP, certain wetlands will not be eligible for enrollment into the CRP during the 11th signup."

CRP bids submitted in connection with the July sign-up will be accepted only for 1992 contracts. Bid acceptance determinations will be made after a nationwide review and evaluation. A bid is not binding on either the producer or CCC until the contract is signed by both parties.

Fifty percent cost-share assistance will continue to be available to establish approved permanent vegetative cover, including trees, on the accepted acreage. Annual rental payments for 10-15 years, depending upon the cover established, will be paid to CRP participants based upon accepted bid amounts.

Further details are available to producers at the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices, 886-2668.

Approximately 34.5 million acres of eligible land have been accepted into the CRP through the 10th sign-up.

Kentucky's share of federal homeless aid nearly doubles; $720,000 in grants

Community-based services to Kentucky's homeless population will benefit from a 91 percent increase in the state's share of federal funds for clothing, food, job training and temporary housing.

Twenty-two regional agencies, including the Big Sandy Community Action Program at Paintsville, providing emergency and transitional aid to homeless individuals and families will receive $719,838 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 under the federal Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act. The Paintsville office will receive $23,470.

Cabinet for Human Resources Secretary Harry J. Cowherd, M.D., whose agency administers the federal program in Kentucky, said the funding level marks a dramatic increase in support for the five-year-old program.

"This support should help these community assistance programs extend their services such as rent assistance, food, clothing and shelter operating expenses for Kentuckians living with no viable options to improve their lives."

Cowherd noted that, although Kentucky's largest homeless concentrations are located in urban communities, the funds are spread across the state.

"In Kentucky, inadequate or non-existent living quarters know no boundary to city or town. Rural homelessness is often shifted to urban communities because rural communities don't have the basic services to help a family or an individual," he said.

"These grants can make a small, but meaningful difference in that area."

Agency applications are funded based upon the scope of services proposed and the identified homeless population in the agency's service region.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Dr. Thomas Boysen is no doubt being described with some colorful adjectives this week after suggesting that Kentucky students aren't doing enough homework.

Boysen has proposed that the homework level be tripled to average a minimum of 15 hours per week.

If we've done our homework correctly, Boysen's idea comes to three hours of homework each day for five days each week.

Sounds reasonable enough for those of us who don't have to do it.

But, in rural parts of Kentucky, many students spend nearly as much time getting to and from school as they spend in the classroom.

A child who spends three hours a day on buses and six hours a day in the classroom has put in a long day, particularly if the student is in the lower elementary grades. It's not inconceivable for an eight-year-old to clock in a 45-hour "work" week.

Boysen's suggestion would make that 60 hours a week.

The good doctor is correct in his assumption that Kentucky students need to work harder and longer if they are to catch up and compete with their peers in other countries.

Before we ask them to add another three hours to their days, though, Kentucky must address the inadequacies of its student transportation systems.

Our state cannot afford to allow its young people to miss the bus in education. We can't ask them to ride it all day, either.

Hats off to Congressman Chris Perkins for successfully lobbying for the final federal dollars needed to complete the Prestonsburg-Pointsville link of Route 23.

The dollars aren't guaranteed yet, but it would seem only reasonable that Washington would okay the final allocation—if for nothing else than to get Perkins off their doorsteps for a while.

The Route 23 reconstruction project, already well underway in Floyd County, has been a mission for Perkins for years. His persistence has paid off with something we can see and touch, and soon with something we can drive across.

Take a bow, Congressman.

We make every attempt to avoid rash judgments, but we are at a loss when it comes to efforts to understand how a U-turn justifies the events that led to the death of a Prestonsburg woman Sunday night.

Forget, for now, the rules and regulations that apply to who has what rights at intersections or stop lights when an emergency vehicle is responding to an emergency.

The real question here is what constitutes an emergency?

A U-turn?

A Prestonsburg woman is dead and investigators are busy attempting to reconstruct the accident scene, apparently to determine which driver was responsible for the mishap.

The answers won't be found in measurements of skid marks or the positioning of vehicles, but in the hearts and minds of those involved.

You have to like the idea of creating a living museum out of downtown Prestonsburg.

We can imagine all sorts of historical attractions representing the city's and the Big Sandy region's past that could be strategically located throughout Prestonsburg to develop a walking tour down memory lane.

A scaled-down replica of a riverboat to remind us of the days when the river was a vital artery for transportation; a pair of sculptured mules from the days when those animals were integral "equipment" for coal mining; maybe even an old steam locomotive could be found.

We doing our part by hunting for an old linotype to set up outside our offices as a reminder of the days when "hot lead" didn't just come out of the end of a gun.

This ought to be fun.

Educational, too.

Editor:

Editor's Note: This letter was written to the Cow Creek Volunteer Fire Department. The author has asked that it be published as a letter to the editor.

As a concerned citizen of Cow Creek, I for one would like to thank you (members of the Cow Creek Volunteer Fire Department) for responding to a housefire on Slick Rock on Wednesday night, July 10.

As I stood and watched my cousin's home burn, I felt so helpless, because there was nothing I could do. By the time the fire department got there, the house was so far gone, there was no way it could be saved—but you tried. After hearing some of the comments some of the grownups and even the younger children were saying, I wonder where you get the courage to go on. At times, I feel ashamed to tell anyone where I live. But then again, I understand that each person must answer for their own words and actions.

To the residents of Slick Rock and other communications that belittle their VOLUNTEER fire departments, ask yourselves these questions:

1. Was the fire department responsible for setting the fire—if not, don't blame them.

2. Did someone call and ask these people to give up their own time and risk their lives for people they don't even know? Chances are, someone on the hollow did.

3. Don't you think these people would rather spend their leisure time doing something with their families and loved ones or even just resting, because most all of them WORK to support their families?

4. How many of you support the fire department in any way?

Again, my thanks to all the volunteer fire fighters. With what you have to work with, I think you do a terrific job.

Editor:

I would appreciate finding out how we in eastern Kentucky are the chosen few. The few that are paying about 8 cents a gallon more for regular unleaded gasolines than the people in Lexington. Is this because we're stupid or does it take that much more to deliver gasolines to Lexington than it does to deliver same to Prestonsburg and other towns on the Big Sandy river.

As I understand the geographics most gasolines are delivered in this region from the Ashland Oil Company in Ashland, Kentucky. Trade offs for gasolines to other companies elsewhere. Even if the gas is not delivered from the Ashland Oil Company, why should we have to pay this difference.

In Lexington, Kentucky this past week all stations except a few had $1.07 per gallon. In eastern Kentucky the price per gallon is $1.159 and some station had $1.169 per gallon. Are we just stupid or are we being took? As many people say the dumb hillbillies.

Editor:

On June 12 you published my concerns about education there in your excellent "viewpoint" section. Thank you for that consideration, though in retrospect it may have not been prudent for an outsider to express a view point. Further proof that fools do rush in.

Now I note in your June 19 "viewpoint" where Ms. Carol Stumbo of McDowell has laid out in some detail how rational for the current school problems in the county. Also a subsequent letter from Mr. Thomas of Xenia Ohio, expressing some of my concerns has been published.

If you will bear with me one more time, my interest in effective education has not waned. Ms. Stumbo is an obvious effective spokesperson for many of the teachers in the county, but in my view, not all of them. Respect and caution are in order as I have not walked a mile in her shoes.

But what is she really telling the citizens of Floyd County, and what hope does she project for better education? Not a great deal of hope. The fiscal integrity of the local government is brought into question. The school administrator is said to be corrupt and even tyrannical. Of course, if that exists is unacceptable and the citizens should rise up in arms. Ms. Stumbo promises only confrontation on the part of teachers. No suggestion of compromise, no hint of reconciliation. She is about the airing of grievances, a whole catalog of them.

When all the smoke is lifted, it is clear that money is behind the discord. Ms. Stumbo admits at least three times that money is still the primary grievance. I have more to say about money later, but I found what Mr. Thomas said about respect throughout the hierarchy to be most interesting. That is a necessary ingredient and more money will surely not instill it.

Now as to money, I stated in my initial letter that more money did not accrue to better education. That is proving to be ever true across this land. My studies here in Georgia convincingly show that there is absolutely no correlation between effective education or scholastic achievement and the wealth of a school district. The Chichamauga City school district here was ranked—among the five poorest of the 190 districts in 1989, yet they were number one in 8th grade CRT scores and the percentage of high school graduates going to college.

In ending my comments, I do trust that my humble opinions will not be a hindrance to improved cooperation, communication and unity among the educators. For in a very short time, the flags will be hoisted and the school bells will ring again. Let us fervently pray that there will be dedicated and inspiring teachers available to greet the aspiring young minds.

Throw out the solid waste myths

by Jerry Taylor

America's premier "garbologist," archaeologist William Rathje of the University of Arizona, argues that we have more accurate information about the surface of Neptune than we have about municipal solid waste. Consequently, we continue to make important political decisions on the basis of myths and the policy equivalent of "old wives' tales."

Myth #1. "Our 'throw-away society' is the root cause of the solid waste crisis." Actually, the intensity of waste generation, a function of the gross national product and population growth, has not changed since 1970, according to figures based on data from the U.S. Census Bureau. Moreover, packaging's contribution to the waste stream has been declining every year since 1972. Today, packaging comprises only about 30 percent of our nation's municipal garbage.

The truth of the matter is that packaging eliminates more solid waste than it produces. Professor Rathje has studied households in both Mexico and the United States and found that, although Americans discard twice as much packaging as Mexicans, Mexicans discard three times as much food waste as their American counterparts due to spoilage of bulk purchases and discards of inedible portions of food. The net results is that Mexican households generate one-third more garbage a day than American households. Says Rathje, "The relatively favorable U.S. showing is largely due to packaging—which is to say, modernity."

Myth #2. "Landfills pose a serious threat to groundwater resources." A few do, but most don't. According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's worst-case scenarios, 83 percent of all municipal solid waste landfills pose less than a one-in-one-million lifetime health risk. To put this in perspective, you are 42 times more likely to die from a lightning strike than from leaking landfills.

Moreover, the EPA concludes that 60 percent of all landfills pose less than a one-in-10 billion lifetime health risk under the same worst-case scenario. To put this risk in perspective, you are 170,000 times more likely to die from insect stings.

Myth #3. "Waste incinerators are a dangerous source of toxic air pollution and generate hazardous ash residues which are difficult to dispose of safely." Again, the EPA's own data fail to support the hysteria surrounding the incinerator issue. Modern incinerators pose less than a one-in-one-million health risk under worst-case scenarios.

Regarding the ash issue, the EPA and the U.S. Conference of Mayors recently completed the most comprehensive study ever undertaken to examine the leachate from incinerator ash for hazardous residues. Their conclusion? "Leachates were close to meeting drinking water standards."

Myth #4. "Recycling can solve our solid waste crisis." Frankly, this myth is based upon wishful thinking and misleading data. First of all, collection rates for materials are misrepresented as actual recycling. Since approximately 50 percent of all recyclable material collected is too contaminated for reuse, much less is actually getting recycled than we are led to believe. Moreover, the collection rates themselves often are based on definitions of the waste stream that are used to artificially inflate the "recycling" total.

If we collected every material for which recycling is economically feasible and for which there are markets, we would collect only 31 percent of the waste stream. Even during World War II, a period of national mobilization, we only were able to recycle half the waste stream.

The fundamental reason that we have a solid waste "crisis" is because landfills, which are the ultimate disposal site for approximately 75 percent of our garbage, are filling up and not being replaced. Why? Because the NIMBY (not-in-my-back-yard) syndrome has paralyzed the siting process and created a waste disposal gridlock. Until we squarely address the siting problem and purge these four myths from the policy debate, the garbage "crisis" will be with us for some time to come.

Kentucky vocational schools get $100 million

A $100 million provision for vocational education improvements introduced last summer by Congressman Chris Perkins has been approved by a key House spending committee. The funds will be used to buy or lease badly needed new equipment and repair vocational schools most of which were built in the 1930's.

"What I see when I visit vocational schools in Eastern Kentucky and elsewhere are schools that are about falling down and using equipment that's out-of-date. I don't believe this is the kind of learning environment that we should be providing our students," said Perkins.

The first-time program is identical to the concentration grants formula authored by Perkins in 1988 in that it targets funds to school districts in economically depressed areas. Perkins said he phrased the measure that way to ensure vocational schools in East Kentucky would receive a substantial chunk of the available funds. He said a report completed in 1989 by the National Assessment of Vocational Education underscored his desire to funnel money to needy areas. The report concluded that schools in economically depressed areas should get top priority for new equipment and upgraded facilities.

The House Appropriations committee approved Perkins' funding request during its markup of the education, Labor Department, and Health and Human Services appropriations bill, one of 13 spending measures considered annually by Congress. The program was authorized last year by the committee and signed into law by the president. It received full funding this year despite the fact the president made no formal funding request. It now goes to the House for consideration.

In Loving Memory of FENEY HAMILTON STORY

July 18, 1990 - May 3, 1991

GRANDMA STORY

By: Garnet Hamilton

Her face was filled with wrinkles, And her hair was almost white. She never failed to steer us, To the path that was always right. She seemed a fountain of knowledge. There was wisdom in her eyes. And when we needed a helping hand. On her we could rely. If ever we had a problem. She was always there for us. She listened in her understanding way. In her we all could trust. No matter where life leads us. We know that she'll be there. In thoughts and memories always. With all her love and prayers. She had a heart filled with kindness. A soul that loved the Lord above. And so the Saviour did look down. To watch and keep her with his love. She was such a special woman. Who had her own category. It meant the world to us. To have had our Grandma Story.

Kentucky food stamp program marks thirtieth year of assistance in county

On June 1, 1961, 75 Floyd County families became among the first in the nation to enroll in a program enabling low-income families to put more nutritious food on the dinner table.

Thirty years later, the federal food stamp program in Kentucky reaches more than 188,000 families, or approximately 511,000 Kentuckians, who are in temporary need of assistance. For the fiscal year that ended June 30, that - translated into food stamps to Kentucky families valued at $33 million.

"The original idea on food stamps was as a means to provide families, especially children, with a healthy diet," said Commissioner Mike Robinson, whose Department for Social Insurance administers the program in Kentucky.

"In the early '60s, Kentucky's children suffered from illnesses that were caused by a lack of proper nutrition.

"Then as today, when children don't get the right things to eat, they often develop problems in other areas, such as in their school work," he said, adding that 45 percent of Kentucky's current food stamp recipients are under 20 years of age.

According to Robinson, the food stamp program evolved throughout most of its 30-year history with only a couple of publicly noticeable changes.

For the first 16 1/2 years, clients purchased the coupons. For example, for $5, a client could buy $20 worth of food stamps.

Since 1979, however, individuals and families have been given a predetermined amount of coupons each month.

Another major change in the food stamp program occurred with the 1987 implementation of the Food Stamp Employment and Training Program.

"Under this welfare-reform concept, recipients in 28 counties must prove a continuing effort of job hunting or enrollment in an instructional program such as adult basic education, literacy, GED training or a community college in order to be eligible for food coupons," he said.

"Today, we aren't only concerned with providing a way to aid families in purchasing food, but also in getting them back on their feet so government assistance is not needed.

"That's historically significant in light of the fact that assistance programs are meant to be a temporary crutch, not a permanent one," said Robinson. "It's almost as if we've come full circle, back to the original intent of the program."

The caseload of the food stamp program has steadily increased since its inception. In mid-1961, the number of participating Kentucky households reached 1,000. By 1971, just over 57,000 families were receiving food stamps and in 1981, that number increased to about 170,200 Kentucky families.

To qualify for food stamps, applicants must meet certain technical and financial guidelines. The amount of food stamps received depends on the household size, the federal government's Thrifty Food Plan, which is an estimate of how much it costs to provide inexpensive but nutritious meals, and the amount of monthly income left after deductions.

"The food stamp program has proved invaluable during its 30 years and it will continue to be so. Many Kentucky families have been helped through some difficult times with the program," said Robinson.

To apply for food stamps, contact the local office of the Department for Social Insurance.

Highlands offers summer tutorial nursing program

Pick up any newspaper in the country and chance are you will read headlines that indicate a nursing shortage in our country. This shortage is due to many factors, but certainly a primary one is the increased demands placed on nursing students in the form of stricter, tougher education requirements. In an effort to meet these demands and insure that the area has an abundant supply of nurses to meet the healthcare needs of the community, Highlands Regional Medical Center for the first time is offering a free summer tutorial program for nursing students.

Students in the summer program are divided into two groups. Group I is composed of students who will be beginning their nursing classes in the fall. Students in Group II have completed at least one year of their nursing curriculum. The program is designed to give students an appropriate level of didactic (textbook and lecture component) and clinical instruction. Each group receives 2 1/2 hours of classroom instruction and 5 1/2 hours of clinical practice daily.

"When these students return to school in the fall, the instruction received in the summer program should enhance concepts and practice," states Pat Willis RN, Program Coordinator. Currently, there are 20 students participating in the summer program. However, the program is on-going. Any nursing student enrolled in area colleges, can contact Highlands Regional Medical Center and receive free tutorial assistance throughout their course of study.

For more information about the summer tutorial program contact the office of Nursing Education at Highlands Regional at 1-800-533-4762 or 886-8511 extension 525.

In addition, they may experience physical hardships such as immobility or imbalance. ## Kentucky land values are in downward swing

Kentucky land value dropped two percent last year after three consecutive years of increases, according to a survey released by the USDA.

The value of farm land and buildings dropped $19 an acre from an average of $981 to $962 an acre.

The drop came as a surprise because of the 12 percent increase in land value last year, said Craig Infanger, extension agricultural economist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"We've been climbing up, so this little drop may indicate a new trend here," Infanger said. "This is a statewide estimate, so various counties may have experienced land value gains or drops."

The drop in land values reverses a three-year trend of increasing land values after they bottomed out in 1987.

"There is no question that land values reflect the economic state of agriculture," Infanger said. "If this recession is starting to affect the economy then its going to be taking some of the steam out of the ag economy."

The price may have also decreased due to a change in the USDA land value estimating procedures. Land values are bench marked according to the 1987 agriculture census. This year the USDA changed the estimation procedure to better account for the role of the value of buildings. While doing so, the importance of the value of land was revised downwards, he said.

"As we look at the situation, there's probably no single factor that can explain the change in the trend," Infanger said. "Historically, Kentucky land values have lagged behind corn belt values by about a year. Last year most of those states had very slight changes in land values. So now we are following that lag trend."

Governor's marijuana strike force results in two arrests in county

The destruction of Kentucky's illegal marijuana crop continues at full speed, thanks in large part to the efforts of the Governor's Marijuana Strike Force. As of July 10, 1991, the 13 participating agencies have reported 125,781 marijuana plants destroyed in Kentucky since January 1. Sixty-one growers have been arrested.

In the Big Sandy Area Development District, which encompasses Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties, 3,811 plants were destroyed and five arrests were made. Two hundred seventy-five of those plants were destroyed in Floyd County and two arrests were made.

Governor Wilkinson created the Strike Force by Executive Order in July, 1990. The program combines the personnel, resources, and funding of thirteen participating agencies into one joint effort. An operations director coordinates the eradication activities of seven integrated, multi-agency eradication teams. In addition, the participation of state and federal prosecutors emphasizes the conviction of growers and the confiscation of their assets.

Participating agencies include: Civil Air Patrol; Federal Bureau of Investigation; Governor's Office For A Drug-Free Kentucky; Kentucky Attorney General's Office; Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources; Kentucky Division of Water Patrol; Kentucky National Guard; Kentucky Sheriff's Association; Kentucky State Police; U.S. Attorney's Office, Eastern and Western Districts of Kentucky; U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration; and U.S. Forest Service.

Certification is plus for small day care providers

Good things come in small packages — things such as the personalized service that comes from a small day care provider. However, those small, private day care homes have an asset available that most don't utilize, or just don't know about.

By becoming state regulated, which is a requirement for those providing day care for at least four children not related to the provider by blood, marriage or adoption, the day care provider may participate in the Federal Child Care Food Program and receive partial payment for snacks and meals which are served. Under the guidelines, the Department for Social Services may help pay the cost for eligible children.

Regulated providers receive a child care newsletter as well as other mailings on training opportunities. Contacts with child care specialists may be used as a resource. These specialists are available for consultation on specific problems and concerns which the provider may have in any area of child care or child development. A regulated provider may also advertise.

These benefits will help the child care home business be recognized as a responsible service to the community. For more information on becoming a certified Small Family Day Care provider, call Marjorie Sheets at 1-800-421-1903.

Federal grant enables Morehead to establish Floyd County center

Disadvantaged adults in Floyd County wishing to attain post-secondary education will receive help this fall thanks to a three-year federal grant totaling more than three quarters of a million dollars.

The $782,950 grant awarded to Morehead State University from U.S. Department of Education will enable the university to establish and staff four Educational Opportunity Centers to be located in Floyd, Boyd, Morgan and Rowan counties.

With first year funding of $242,947, the program will be launched in early fall and will serve 20 Eastern Kentucky counties, according to Dr. Dan Connell, director of MSU's Academic Services Center and project administrator.

"Our objective is two-fold," Connell said. "We will identify adults interested in furthering their education and assist them in obtaining those goals--whether they be a community college degree, a university degree, vocational-technical training or a specific college course."

The program is designed to assist adults who have graduated from high school or attained a GED and those adults with some college work but who did not complete their degree for one reason or another.

"Not everyone will be interested in a four-year degree, so our aim will be to assist in finding the program that meets the specific need," Connell said.

"This is a cooperative effort in that MSU will be working with community colleges, vocational-technical schools, human services agencies and other governmental agencies," Connell said. "In fact, representatives from these groups helped design our proposal."

Each Educational Opportunity

Center will have a full-time counselor and various part-time tutors. "These are one-stop information centers where people can come to find out what educational programs are available and what financial aid opportunities might be open to them. We'll also help them fill out the applications," Connell said.

For those without specific career goals, MSU's centers also will provide career counseling and vocational assessment. Once they are enrolled in a program, tutoring support will be made available.

Local medical student to begin clinical rotations

James Campbell of Prestonsburg, a third year student at the West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine, has finished two years of basic science and clinical science studies at the Lewisburg Medical School.

Campbell will now begin two years of clinical rotations in hospitals, clinics, private offices and nursing homes to master clinical skills and knowledge.

At the end of his medical school training, Campbell will be required to complete a one year rotating internship before starting private practice or continuing post-graduate training in a residency program.

WVSOM emphasizes primary care and preventive medicine in its fully accredited, four-year osteopathic medical education program.

Campbell will be awarded his Doctor of Osteopathy (D.O.) degree in 1993 upon successful completion of the WVSOM educational program.

Health Departments recognized for quiet, yet vital, work

A little noticed, often misunderstood, yet vitally important segment of Kentucky's health care system will be in the spotlight in all 120 counties during the week of July 21-27.

Gov. Wallace G. Wilkins on has proclaimed this week as "Local Health Department Recognition Week" to commend the state's public health workers for their day-to-day efforts in protecting the health of Kentuckians.

Kentucky Health Services Commissioner Carlos Hernandez, M.D., says that public health work is often unnoticed because the job is 80 well done.

"If there's not a measles epidemic, if restaurants and motels are clean, if sewage is properly disposed of, if consumers are protected from unsafe products," he said, "then no one thinks about the fact that local health departments are working to make sure that the public health is protected."

"But Kentucky's health departments deserve credit for ensuring that, for example, children have access to vaccines and the public can count on having sanitary food and facilities and a selection of safe consumer goods."

Hernandez says that a common misconception about health departments is that you have to actually visit the agency to benefit from its work.

"All Kentuckians gain from the work of the public health system even if they never set foot inside a local health department," he said.

For example, Hernandez points out, on an average day Kentucky health departments inspect 27 restaurants, 15 grocery stores, two motels or hotels, six mobile home parks, 121 new sewer systems, four schools, 14 milk producers and two food manufacturers and provide 726 fluoride mouthrinses, 353 Pap tests and 564 home health visits.

"I feel confident that at some time during the course of their lives, all Kentuckians benefit from at least one of these services," he said. "This is why we believe it's important to set aside a week each year to let the general public know how important health departments are."

In addition to these services for the larger general population, health departments also offer preventive health services and medical care to low-income Kentuckians who might otherwise go without needed services.

Among other health department services are:

- **cancer detection and prevention services, primarily for cervical, breast and lung cancer, including both Pap tests and mammography screening;

- **high blood pressure screening, education and counseling;

- **diabetes counseling and education for people with diabetes and their families as well as training for diabetes educators;

- **sexually-transmitted disease screening and treatment for syphilis and gonorrhea;

- **AIDS screening, counseling, service referral and education;

- **prenatal care and family planning services;

- **the loan of infant safety seats and education about their use;

- **WIC-- a program that provides foods and nutrition education to pregnant, breastfeeding and new mothers as well as to their infants and young children;

- **well child care for early detection and prevention of health problems in young children;

- **lead poisoning screening to detect, treat and prevent health problems;

- **radon testing and removal consultation; and

- **Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) counseling for families who have lost a child to SIDS, also known as crib death.

Kentuckians interested in finding out about availability of services and eligibility should contact their local health department.

Paintsville Hands HAP All-Stars First Loss In 14-10 Slugfest

out base hit, and Vukmanic followed with a single. McKenzie blooped a base hit to load the bases and set the stage for Tackett's drive.

HAP had taken a 2-0 first inning lead when they "manufactured" two runs. John Ortega lead off with a base hit and stole second, something the HAP All-Stars do very well. Wesley Samons reached on an infield hit, moving Ortega to third base. Samons stole second with the throw getting through, allowing Ortega to score. Samons eventually scored on Lance Jones' grounder to second.

After the Paintsville nine-run second, HAP came back with two runs in the bottom of the inning. A lead-off walk to Brent Tackett and two wild pitches by Walters moved Tackett to third base. With one out, Craig Johnson walked and Chad Case had a bunt single to load the bases. Tackett scored when Ortega's bouncer went for a fielder's choice. Wes Samons then grounded to shortstop, who elected to go to third for the force on Ortega with Johnson scoring.

Harold-Allen-Prater pushed across six runs in the inning to put the HAP All-stars back into the game. The big blow was a grand slam home run by Wesley Collins as he demonstrated some power of his own. With one out in the inning, Ortega singled but was erased on a force play at second base from Samons. Castle walked and Lance Jones roped a double over the centerfielder's head, scoring Samons. Brad Bailey, pinch hitting for Nelson, walked to load the base for Collins. Collins then parked the ball well over the right field fence for his grand slam home run to pull the HAP All-Stars to within three runs of Paintsville, 13-10.

Vanhoose's solo shot in the sixth inning made the final score at 14-10.

Castle was the losing pitcher while Walters got the win. Castle was relieved by Craig Johnson in the top of the third inning. Johnson pitched well in his three and a third innings of work. He gave up the home run to Vanhoose in the sixth inning while shutting out the Paintsville team. He allowed only two hits in his stint.

Castle had only three strike outs in his time on the mound. He issued two walks and hit one batter.

Walters fanned nine batters and walked six. Walters allowed 11 hits. Paintsville stranded four runners while HAP left seven men on base.

Poston Collars Morgan County 4-0 In Tournament Play

It was nothing but "goose eggs" for the Morgan County All-Stars against Jake Poston and the Prestonsburg All-Stars Monday night at the Paul B. Hall Little League complex in Paintsville. Poston was sharp on the mound for the Prestonsburg team as he posted a 4-0 whitewash of the Morgan County team. In fact, both pitchers were having things pretty much their way in the one-hour and eight-minute game.

Poston went the distance for Prestonsburg, retiring the first 14 batters he faced. Poston only gave up two hits in the game in shutting out Morgan County. He fanned 10 batters while only walking two. Pin point accuracy with his pitches kept the opponents off the bases.

Poston had some excellent defense behind him, also. In the second inning, after Wes Collett's fly ball was misjudged in centerfield, Matt Holbrook hit a bouncer back to the mound. Poston fired to first to nail Holbrook, and first baseman Jason Hackworth made a perfect throw to second to get Collett pulling off the double play the hard way.

Poston broke his consecutive streak when he issued a two-out walk to Holbrook in the fifth inning.

Neither team could dent the plate at home through the first three innings until Prestonsburg took a 1-0 lead in the fourth. Jason Osborne drew a lead-off walk and moved to second on Mike Castle's line drive to left field. Osborne stole third. After James Taylor popped out to second, Adam Baldrige laid down a good bunt, but Osborne seemed nailed to third base and didn't score. However, he did score when Poston's pop to first was dropped by the first baseman Wes Collett.

The Floyd County team made it 4-0 with three runs in the fifth inning. Jason Blackburn walked, leading off, and moved to second on a wild pitch. Jeremy Osborne then drew a walk on four pitches. That was all for Morgan County starter Tim Ferguson. Jamie Ferguson came on in relief of Tim Ferguson with no one out. He was immediately greeted by Jason Hackworth's base hit that loaded the bases. John Morris hit a hard liner that second baseman Chris Jones made a diving grab for and doubled Hackworth off first base. Jason Osborne was safe on an error at short with Blackburn scoring and Jeremy Osborne moving to third. Jason Osborne headed for second and on the throw to second, Jeremy Osborne scored from third to make it a 3-0 game. Jason Osborne also scored from third base on a throw to second in trying to nail Mike Castle, who had walked.

Morgan County put two runners on base in the top of the sixth inning when pinch hitter Darren Smith walked with one out. Poston fanned pinch hitter Adam Vest. Jamie Ferguson got the second of the game for Morgan County but Poston played pinch hitter Travis Stacy on strikes to end the game.

Tim Ferguson was the losing pitcher for Morgan County. Ferguson had two strike outs and walked four batters in a strong outing. Jamie Ferguson, in relief, walked three batters and had no strike outs. He gave up one run on no hits.

Poston fanned the side in the third inning and struck out the side again in the sixth.

Morgan County stranded the three runners they put on base, while

Two costly errors led to the downfall of the Harold-Allen-Prater (HAP) All-Stars as they faced the Paintsville All-Stars in the finals of the winners' bracket Monday night at Paintsville. Paintsville scored nine times in the second inning and then held off the HAP All-Stars for a 14-10 victory.

It was "The Todd Tackett Show" for the Paintsville All-Stars as the hot hitting shortstop blasted two home runs while driving in seven runs. Tackett homered in the second inning — a three run blast — and then clubbed a grand slam home run in the third inning. J.R. Vanhoose added a solo shot in the Paintsville sixth.

HAP went with their best on the mound as Brandon Castle was called on to put the brakes on a hot hitting team. Castle won the first game of the tournament for HAP and fanned 16 batters in the outing. In the first inning against Paintsville, Castle looked like his old self as he nailed the first three batters, striking out the last two.

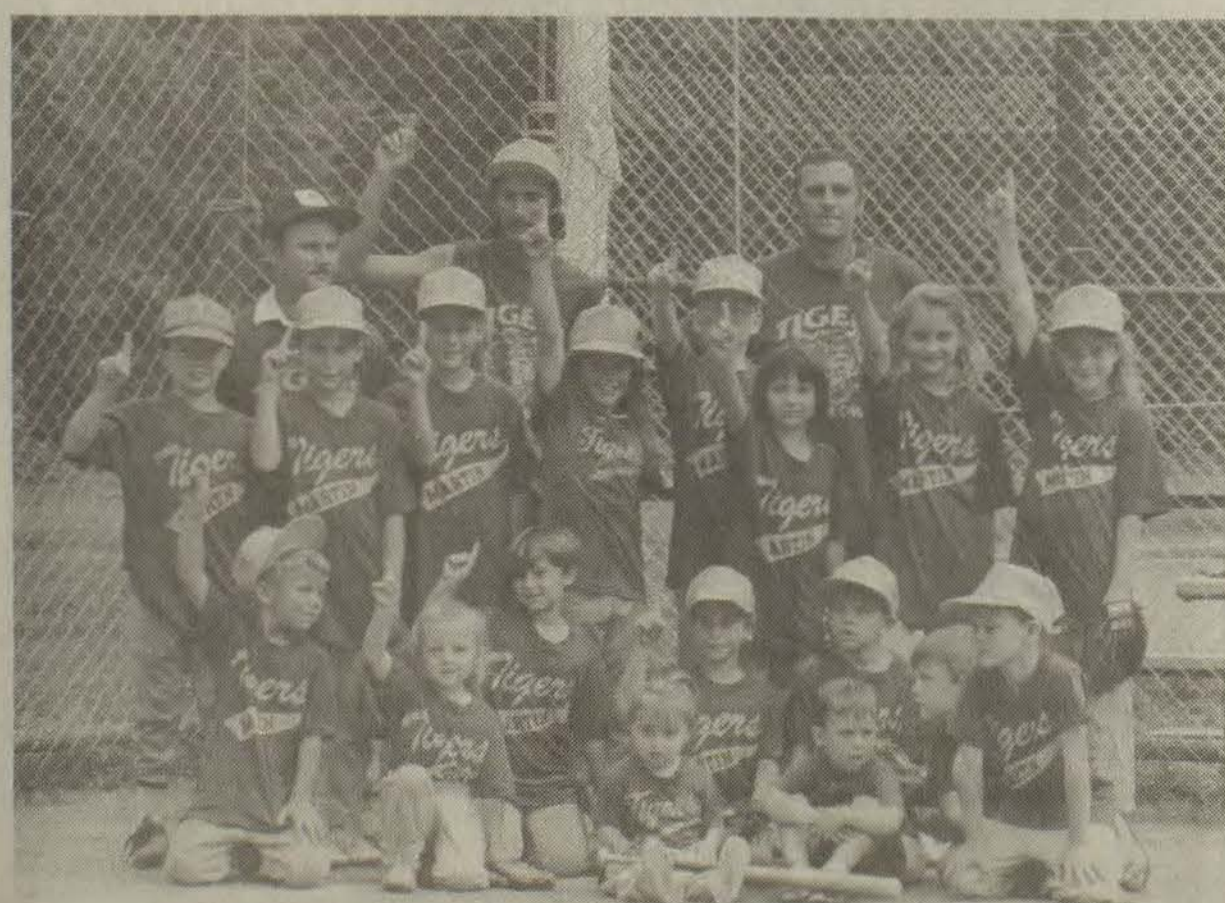

However, in the second, Paintsville was setting back waiting on the right hander's fast ball and hit it hard in scoring nine times. It was two errors that really led to the onslaught of runs. J.R. Vanhoose led off the inning by grounding to first base where Wesley Samons was unable to field the ball cleanly. Then Scott Fairchild bounced back to Castle who misplayed the ball. Both runners came all the way around to score on Alfie Reed's double.

Josh Greiner walked, and Castle got Brent Walters on strikes in what would have been the third out. He then hit Eric Vukmanic to load the bases. Brandon McKenzie, who is a hard out, singled home Reed and Greiner for a 4-2 Paintsville lead. Then it was Tackett's turn as he belted the Castle fast ball deep over the billboards in left centerfield and it was 7-2.

Paintsville wasn't through as Mark Hayslett walked, stole second, then third and scored on a wild pitch. Vanhoose, batting for the second time in the inning, singled and Fairchild reached on a fielder's choice as the HAP infield looked confused. Fairchild tried to steal second, but HAP catcher Sammy Nelson gunned him down for the second out. Vanhoose scored on the throw.

In the Paintsville third, four runs crossed the plate on Tackett's grand slam home run. Walters had a one-

Martin Tigers Edge Martin Royals 10-9 For Tourney Championship

The Martin Tigers won the Martin Pee Wee tournament championship with a close 10-9 victory over the Martin Royals this past weekend at the Martin Park.

The Tigers scored three runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to come from behind and win the covenant title. Trailing 9-7, entering the last frame, Deanna Mullins struck out, leading off the inning. Adam Hutchinson was safe at first base on an error. Shannon Sizemore was safe on a fielder's choice play, but was later tagged out for the second out. George Hall then singled home Hutchinson to make it 9-8. Brandon Sizemore got a base hit, putting runners on first and second base. Ann Sizemore strolled to the plate and hit a ground ball to second base that was bobbled and both runners scored giving the Tigers the tournament title, 10-9. The Tigers were also the league champions this year.

The Royals had taken a 9-7 lead with four runs in the fourth inning and two in the fifth. In the Royals' fourth, Keith Crum collected a one-out single and Shawn Newsome followed with a base hit. Crum scored on Jason Holbrook's base hit to make it a 7-4 game in favor of the Tigers. Newsome and Holbrook scored when Chad Samons reached on an error at third base to make it a 7-6 game. Samons then was forced at second on Amelia Conley's ground ball. Conley scored the tying run on a double by Joshua Conley.

Beaver Creek South Sixth Inning Rally Falls Short In 12-11 Loss

The Beaver Creek South All-Stars left the tying and winning runs on base in the bottom of the sixth inning as they came one run short and fell to the Magoffin County All-Stars 12-11 at the Paul B. Hall Little League complex at Paintsville.

Magoffin County took a 12-3 lead into the bottom of the sixth inning only to see the South team almost pull out the win. The Beaver South sixth inning unfolded with Gordon Maynard leading off with a walk.

Magoffin County's starting pitcher Joey Jayne walked the next two batters — Phillip Holbrook and Steve Hamilton — to load the bases with no one out. Darrell Shepherd drove in a run with a base hit and Brandon Hicks singled home a run.

Jason Tackett struck out and Brandon Howell popped out to the pitcher. Jayne then walked seven consecutive batters to make the score 12-11. With runners in scoring position, Brandon Hicks ended the game by grounding out to second base.

Magoffin County took a 3-0 lead with three runs in the first inning. All three runs scored with two outs. Scotty Whitaker singled home one run and two crossed home plate on Steve Risner's double.

Magoffin County made it 8-0 with five runs in the third inning on six hits. Joe Mills singled and scored on a double by Whitaker. Beaver South starter B.J. Moore walked the next two batters to load the bases and Dale Taulbee picked up two runs batted in with a base hit.

Jayne got the win for Magoffin County while Moore suffered the loss. Moore recorded eight strike outs in the game. He issued seven walks. Jayne had three strike outs and walked 16.

Jones, Castle Lead HAP Past Magoffin County 23-0

Timely hitting, good pitching and solid defense. When all totaled up, you come out with a 23-0 victory. So it was for the Harold-Allen-Prater (HAP) Little League team in the first round of the District 7, Area 2 Little League tournament played at the Paul B. Hall Field in Paintsville.

Brandon Castle went the distance for the HAP squad, recording 16 strikeouts. Lance Jones provided the power with a fourth inning grand slam home run.

Castle was sharp on the hill for HAP as the big right hander limited Magoffin County to just one hit — a third inning single by Steve Risner. Castle fanned the last seven batters he faced in the game. Castle got himself in trouble only once when he loaded the bases in the bottom of the fourth. Joe Mills reached on an error at third base; Travis Allen walked. Castle then got Pete Salyers and Wesley Whitaker on strikes before he walked Joey Jayne to fill the bases. However, Castle struck out Chris Russell to end the inning and begin a streak of seven consecutive strike outs.

Jones accounted for all the runs for HAP in the fourth inning with his bases-loaded home run. John Ortega singled, leading off the inning, and Wesley Samons drew a walk. Castle was hit by a pitch to load the bases for Jones. Jones then caught hold of a 2-1 pitch and drilled a towering drive over the left centerfield fence.

HAP put the game in the "W" column when they pushed across nine runs in their half of the second inning to take a 13-0 lead. Brent Tackett lined a one out, bases-loaded single to score two runs. Craig Johnson followed Tackett and singled, driving in two runs. Chad Case and Ortega walked to load the bases again only to see Castle line a bases-clearing triple to right center.

Some indecisive fielding by Magoffin County in the top of the first inning led to a four-run first for his throw to second was too late for a force and the fourth run crossed the plate for HAP.

In the sixth for HAP, Derrick Stanley singled with the bases loaded to drive in two of the six runs that HAP scored in the inning. Hamilton picked up two RBIs with a bases-loaded single. Samons then doubled, scoring two runs.

Castle got the win with 16 strike outs. He issued three walks and hit one batter.

Dale Taulbee suffered the loss for Magoffin County. Taulbee was relieved by Joe Mills in the sixth inning. Taulbee had five strike outs but he gave up 10 walks and hit two batters. Mills issued three walks and hit one batter in the one inning he worked.

HAP manager Wilburn Samons said that he was "very pleased with the way we played tonight."

Ortega had two hits in the game for HAP. Castle had a triple for the winners and he was hit by the pitch twice. Jones had a sixth inning double to go along with his home run. Jones finished the game with six runs batted in.

HAP committed only one error in the game and left seven runners stranded. Magoffin County left three runners on base.

Beau Tackett took to the hill for the Beaver Creek North All-Star team and came away with an impressive two-hit 8-2 win over Magoffin County at Paintsville's Paul B. Hall Little League complex Saturday afternoon.

Tackett gave up singles to Scott Whitaker in the first inning and a sixth inning double to Brian Helton. Tackett went the distance for the winners and fanned six batters. He issued only three walks in the contest.

North scored six runs in the fourth inning to add to an already 2-0 lead. With one out, Kyle Turner walked and Shannon Stone was safe on a fielder's choice play on Turner who was also safe. Tackett popped out to third for the second out of the inning. Kevin Robinson walked to load the bases for the North team. Taulbee walked Phillip Robinson to force home Turner. Chris Moore singled home two runs with a base hit to left field. Four consecutive walks from Taulbee gave North a 8-2 lead. In the third inning for the North team, Thomas Jenkins drove home two runs with a double to left center field. The two runs gave North a 2-0 lead.

Magoffin County scored their two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning. Both runs came with two out. A walk to Steve Risner and Helton's double accounted for one run. Helton scored on a wild pitch and passed ball.

Beaver North only collected three hits in the game. They left eight men on base and committed two errors. Magoffin County had four errors in the game while stranding five runners.

Paintsville Subdues Beaver North 15-13, But Not Without A Scare

According to Beaver North manager Lonnie Robinson, his squad should have been the one that came away with a victory Saturday afternoon instead of Paintsville.

"We made some costly mistakes in the fifth inning and we should have been out of the inning with only two runs scored against us," said Robinson.

Instead, Paintsville scored 10 times in the fifth to pull out a 15-13 win over a very talented North squad.

"We had them down 11-2 at one time and went into the fifth inning with a 11-5 lead," explained Robinson. "We had an error on each of the corners and that really hurt us."

Paintsville, last year's defending champions, came into the tournament as heavy favorites to repeat. The North squad tried to dampen that enthusiasm some.

Brandon McKenzie started on the hill for Paintsville but was hit hard in the second inning and relieved by Josh Greiner. Greiner later gave way to Todd Tackett in the sixth inning.

Paintsville looked like the tournament's favorite in the fifth when they got their bats out of the bag. North held a 11-5 lead going into the fifth when Brandon McKenzie drilled a lead off double and scored on Tackett's home run to make it an 11-7 game. Mark Hayslett grounded out too short for the first out, and J.R. Vanhose laced a single to center. Craig Lyons was safe on an error at first base and North third baseman Jason Shannon mishandled Jeff Fairchild's ground ball to load the bases. Alfie Reed singled home, scoring Vanhose to make it an 11-8 game.

Chris Moore came on to relieve Kevin Robinson and faced Greiner with one out. Greiner reached on a base hit off Moore, scoring Lyons, as the hit parade continued. Moore then walked Bo Bocook to once again load the bases. Moore got McKenzie to pop to third for the second out. Tackett then lined a two-run double, chasing Fairchild and Reed home with the tying run. Paintsville took their first lead at 12-11 when Greiner scored. Bocook, Tackett and Hayslett scored for a 15-11 lead.

Beaver Creek North mounted a comeback in the sixth inning but the rally stalled out. Chris Moore led off the inning with a home run over the left centerfield fence. After Marty Hall and Jason Shannon went down on strikes, Greiner issued a walk to Tim Bellamy and Eric Cook was safe on an error at third base. Todd Tackett then came on in relief of Greiner and Justin Hopkins singled home Bellamy, leaving the bases loaded with Kevin Robinson coming to the plate. Robinson, the number three hitter in the North line up, ended the game by popping out to Tackett on the mound.

Beaver Creek North went out in front 2-0 with two runs in the first inning. Beau Tackett collected a one out, singled, stole second base and scored on a wild pitch. Robinson walked and stole second and scored on a passed ball.

Paintsville tied the game at 2-2 on Vanhose's long two-run home run in the bottom of the inning.

The Floyd County team then plated eight runs in the top of the second inning to command a 10-2 game. After two were out, Bellamy walked and stole second. Eric Cook's base hit scored Bellamy. Shannon Slone walked and loaded the bases for Beau Tackett's two-run double. Two runs scored on Kevin Robinson's base hit. Robinson later stole home on a sleeping Paintsville defense. Phillip Robinson walked and Chris Moore reached on an error at shortstop. Thomas Jenkins then unloaded a three-run home run for the North team.

It was 11-2 after three innings with Beaver North scoring a single run in the third frame. A walk to Bellamy set up an RBI single by Justin Hopkins.

Paintsville scored two runs in the bottom of the third inning for an 11-4 game. Errors opened the door for the host team as McKenzie and Tackett scored. Tackett had doubled home McKenzie and scored on Vanhose's base hit.

Greiner was the winning pitcher for Paintsville in relief. Todd Tackett got the save. McKenzie worked an inning and two-thirds with five strike outs while issuing two walks. Greiner went four and two-thirds for the win. He fanned 10 batters and walked five.

Moore suffered the loss for the North squad in relief of Robinson. Moore gave up six runs in the fatal fifth. Moore yielded four hits and struck out one with no walks.

Beaver Creek North left 10 runners stranded on base and committed seven errors. Paintsville had five runners left on base and were guilty of five errors.

Walters tosses one-hitter...

Paintsville Masters Prestonsburg 9-3 In District 7, Area 2 LL Play

Last year's district finalist met in the first round of District 7, Area 2 Little League play as Paintsville (defending champion) and Prestonsburg (runners-up) met at the Paul B. Hall Little League complex in Paintsville. The two teams met last year at Inez. The result was the same as Paintsville came away with a 9-3 win over Prestonsburg behind Brent Walters' one-hitter. The only hit Prestonsburg could manage was a second inning single by John Morris.

The host team scored seven times in the second inning and never looked back as they posted their opening game win. Prestonsburg had taken a 1-0 lead in the top of the second inning, but the lead was short lived. Jeremy Osborne, who was on the mound for Prestonsburg, ran into some wildness in the second as he walked three batters in succession after striking out the lead off man. Prestonsburg manager Rodney Osborne elected to bring in Jason Hackworth to face Todd Tackett. Tackett greeted Hackworth with a solid base hit, sending two runners home. J.R. Vanhose doubled home another run. Two errors proceeded Vanhose's double and two unearned runs crossed the plate. Hackworth got the side out by striking out Brent Walters and Josh Ratliff.

Osborne ran into trouble in the first inning when he walked the bases loaded. He righted himself and then fanned the next three batters to hold off Paintsville.

Paintsville scored again in the bottom of the third inning when Josh Greiner lead off with a base hit and scored on Tackett's single. Paintsville added their final run in the fifth on a one out base hit by Brandon McKenzie and Tackett's RBI single.

Prestonsburg took a 1-0 second inning lead when Jason Taylor lead off the inning with a walk. Mike Castle then walked, and both runners moved up on a wild pitch. Taylor came in to score on John Morris's base hit. Prestonsburg left the bases loaded in the second inning.

Castle and Morris scored for Prestonsburg in the fourth inning to make it a 8-3 ball game. Taylor struck out and Castle walked and moved all the way to third base on two wild pitches. Morris drew a walk and then stole second. Castle scored on an error at shortstop and Morris scored on a wild pitch.

Jeremy Osborne was hit by the first pitch thrown in the game and then was later thrown out, attempting to steal second.

Osborne suffered the loss for Prestonsburg, working just one and a third innings. Osborne had four strike outs but walked six. He did not allow a hit. Hackworth went three and two-thirds of an inning giving up six runs on nine hits. He did not walk anyone and was the victim of some shaky fielding.

Brent Walters picked up the win in going the distance for Paintsville. Walters fanned eight batters and walked seven while hitting one batter. Walters gave up the three Prestonsburg runs on one-hit. One run was unearned.

Prestonsburg left four runners on base while Paintsville stranded eight. Prestonsburg had three errors and Paintsville two.

Friendly Competition

Baseball has given me many things, but none do I value more than the warm friendships formed during my playing years. The world seemed just a bit smaller back then and moved at a slower pace. When I broke into the majors, teams were still traveling by train, and that meant hours of swapping stories, trading tips on how to bat against the next opposing pitcher and general kidding around.

The baseball world certainly was smaller. Unlike today, where each league is divided into divisions, there were fewer teams and everyone played each other the same number of times. The results were far greater opportunities to get to know players on opposing teams. As hard as we'd play against each other during the game, there was no barrier to solid friendships. If the Braves were headed into Chicago, I could look forward to seeing friends like Ernie Banks or Billy Williams.

One of the sad results of our current era of jet travel, multimillion-dollar salaries and free agency will be fewer friendships. Let's face it, the chances of two good players teaming together for five, 10 or 15 years are very slim. It used to be that a team would never trade a star, except perhaps at the very end of his career. Eddie Mathews and I played together for 13 years. We broke the record set by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig for most home runs hit by teammates.

What are the chances that an Aaron-Mathews or Gehrig-Ruth combo would last today, season after season? Very slim. If the team resisted the temptation to trade, the chances are excellent that the players themselves would go for free agency and sign a contract with the highest bidder.

No matter how much you guard against it, the "here today, gone tomorrow" aspect of today's baseball has to put a damper on friendships. And when teams are flying across the country to get from a night game in Houston to a day game in Chicago, there isn't much energy left over for chatter and horseplay.

With the multimillion-dollar salaries being paid today, a player is more likely to become buddies with his agent or his investment counselor than the guy playing second base. ll

Four Great Driving Vacations

My racing career has taken me all over the world, and I've found there are beautiful and interesting things to see just about everywhere.

There's no question that the United States has as much or more to see than any other country. Here are a few suggestions for driving trips, all within easy driving distance of tracks at which I race in the Indy-car series.

Michigan International Speedway is located in the small town of Brooklyn, Mich., home of the Marlboro 500, about 90 miles southwest of the Detroit metropolitan area. Brooklyn is in the midst of a lush summer resort area known as the Irish Hills.

Among the attractions is a series of lakes, all offering boating, fishing and other water sports. There also are state parks, wildlife areas, golf courses and plenty of amusement areas.

A scenic five-hour drive north, through the rolling hills and woodlands, is the Straits of Mackinac, the dividing line between Lake Michigan and Lake Huron and the entrance to Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Spend some time in the middle of the straits on Mackinac Island, which boasts a famous old hotel, lots of restaurants and shops, and plenty of pretty scenery — but no cars. Transportation on the island is by foot, bicycle or horse-drawn wagon.

We also race at Pennsylvania International Raceway in Nazareth, Pa., a great jumping-off point for all kinds of fun.

Nazareth is just 90 miles west of New York City; 100 miles northwest of the New Jersey shore, along the Atlantic Ocean; 130 miles northwest of the gambling tables and big-time entertainment of Atlantic City; and 30 miles south of the resort areas of the Pocono Mountains.

In California, near where we race at Laguna Seca, is Monterey. The town is best known for its Cannery Row made famous by author William Faulkner and is now the home of beautiful hotels, interesting shops and marvelous restaurants.

The 17-mile drive winds around the picturesque peninsula, past the Pebble Beach golf course and dozens of homes worth well over $1 million.

Take your pick from any of these spots. They're all winners. M

Three million and growing...

In-line skating sweeping America—'rules of the road'

A computer technician for an auto manufacturer uses in-line skates to commute to and from work.

The U.S. Olympic ski team, as well as members of the speed skating team, use in-line skates for off-season training and conditioning.

The National Sporting Goods Association estimates there are now more than three million in-line skate enthusiasts and the number grows larger daily.

In-line skating has become so popular that IISA, the International In-line Skate Association based in Minneapolis—has undertaken a "SkateSmart" campaign. The purpose of the campaign is to help inform and educate both skaters and the public about this new sport.

In case you don't yet know what in-line skates are, they are skates with a single row of "in-line" wheels.

As far as is known, the concept for in-line skates was first created almost three centuries ago when a Dutchman tried to simulate ice skating in the summer by nailing wooden spools to strips of wood and attaching them to his shoes.

Joe Janasz, national director of IISA, agrees that there is a tremendous growth in the popularity of in-line skating. This has brought an abundance of newcomers to the sport who are hungry for information on how to get started and what to do with their new skates.

Says Janasz, "While in-line skating is easy to learn and exciting, we want skaters to take the time to learn to use the skates properly and safely."

Janasz recommends that skaters follow a few simple rules, respect the rights of others and use common sense. IISA has developed the following ten rules of the road for in-line skaters.

- Wear protective gear such as a helmet, knee and elbow pads and wrist guards.
- Achieve a basic skating skill level before taking to the road.
- Stay alert and be courteous at all times.
- Always skate under control.

- Skate on the right side of paths, trails and sidewalks.
- Overtake pedestrians, cyclists and other skaters on the left.
- Stay away from water, oil and debris on the trail. Stay clear of uneven or broken pavement.

- Observe all traffic regulations.
- Avoid areas with heavy automobile traffic.
- Always yield to pedestrians.

The IISA director also offers a few more tips specifically aimed at beginner skaters:

Before novice skaters venture out on long-distance runs. They should learn balance and control on a quiet grassy area such as the back yard, a quiet park or even on a thick carpet at home.

Next, go to a parking lot, empty tennis court or large unused hard surface to practice skate strokes, turns and techniques for stopping.

Skaters should always check their equipment before use to make sure hardware is secure. As with automobile tires, skate wheels should be rotated periodically to avoid uneven wear and the skate's brake pad should be replaced when it becomes worn.

Hicks One-Hits Wheelwright In 16-0 Beaver South Shut Out

Brandon Hicks carried a no-hitter into the top of the sixth inning only to see it go by the boards when Blaine Akers lined a one-out base hit to left field to ruin Hicks' bid for a no-hitter. However, Beaver Creek South did post an easy 16-0 win over the Left Beaver team in the District 7, Area 2 Little League All-Star tournament at Paintsville.

Hicks fanned 10 batters in the win and gave up five base on balls. At one time, he had retired 10 consecutive batters before he walked Mike Akers in the fourth inning. In the Wheelwright first, Hicks fanned the side after the first two batters reached base.

Beaver South scored nine runs in the fourth inning to break the game wide open. Darrell Shepherd had a lead off double for South, and he scored on an odd sacrifice fly. B.J. Moore lofted a pop up to first base. After the catch, Shepherd scored from third base. Brandon Howell drew a walk, and Hicks doubled behind him. Chris Branham, Clabe Hall and Gordon Maynard had RBI singles in the inning. Shepherd came up the second time in the inning and had a run producing double — his second. Moore followed with an RBI single, as did Howell.

Maynard's triple scored Branham with the lone run in the fifth inning for South.

Coby Little was the losing pitcher for Wheelwright. Little had six strike outs, and he walked only two batters.

Clabe Hall, who had three runs batted in for the game as well as three hits, singled home a run in the first inning when South scored four times. Howell and Hicks also had first inning base hits. Hicks collected three hits in the game in helping his own cause on the mound.

Howell and Branham collected two hits each. Shepherd had two hits — two doubles.

Wheelwright left seven runners stranded on base. South had five runners left on base. Wheelwright committed three errors and South played errorless baseball.

Jenkins Scatters Five Hits In 11-4 Beaver North Win

Kevin Robinson hammered a first inning home run and Thomas Jenkins scattered five Martin County hits as the Beaver North All-Stars defeated Martin County 11-4 in Little League baseball action at the Paul B. Hall Little League Field in Paintsville.

A five-run fourth inning erased a 4-1 Martin County lead as the Beaver team fought back in subduing the Inez team.

The North squad had taken a 1-0 first inning lead when Robinson drilled a 2-2 pitch well over the left field fence.

Martin County came back and scored two runs in their half of the first inning. A one-out error at third base put Mike Crum on second. Chad Crum followed with a base hit, scoring Crum. Chad Crum stole second and scored on Nathan Coleman's base hit for a 2-1 game.

Martin County starting pitcher Brandon Lafferty fanned the side in the second inning and Martin County used the long ball to make a 4-1 game of it. Coleman and John Durham hit back-to-back, one-out home runs for the three run cushion.

After Tivis Hinkle singled in the third inning, Jenkins did not allow a base hit the rest of the way. He struck out the side in the fourth inning as only two runners reached the remainder of the contest — both on walks in the fifth.

North went on top to stay with five runs in the top of the fourth inning. After Lafferty had retired seven straight batters, Phillip Robinson reached on an error at second base and Chris Moore lined a rope to centerfield for a double, scoring Robinson. Jenkins took centerfielder Chad Crum to the fence for the second out. Lafferty then walked Jason Shannon and Eric Cook to load the bases. He issued his third consecutive base on balls to Tim Bellamy forcing home Moore. Shannon Stone lined a base hit to left with Shannon and Cook scoring. Bellamy scored on a base hit by Beau Tackett.

Phillip Robinson opened the North fifth with a lead off double and scored on a Cook's grounder to second base.

Four runs scored in the top of the sixth as Chris Comette was plunked with a pitch and Tackett walked. Kevin Robinson singled to load the bases. Nathan Coleman, who relieved Lafferty in the fifth inning, walked Phillip Robinson to force home a run, and Moore picked up the final run with a sacrifice fly deep to center-field.

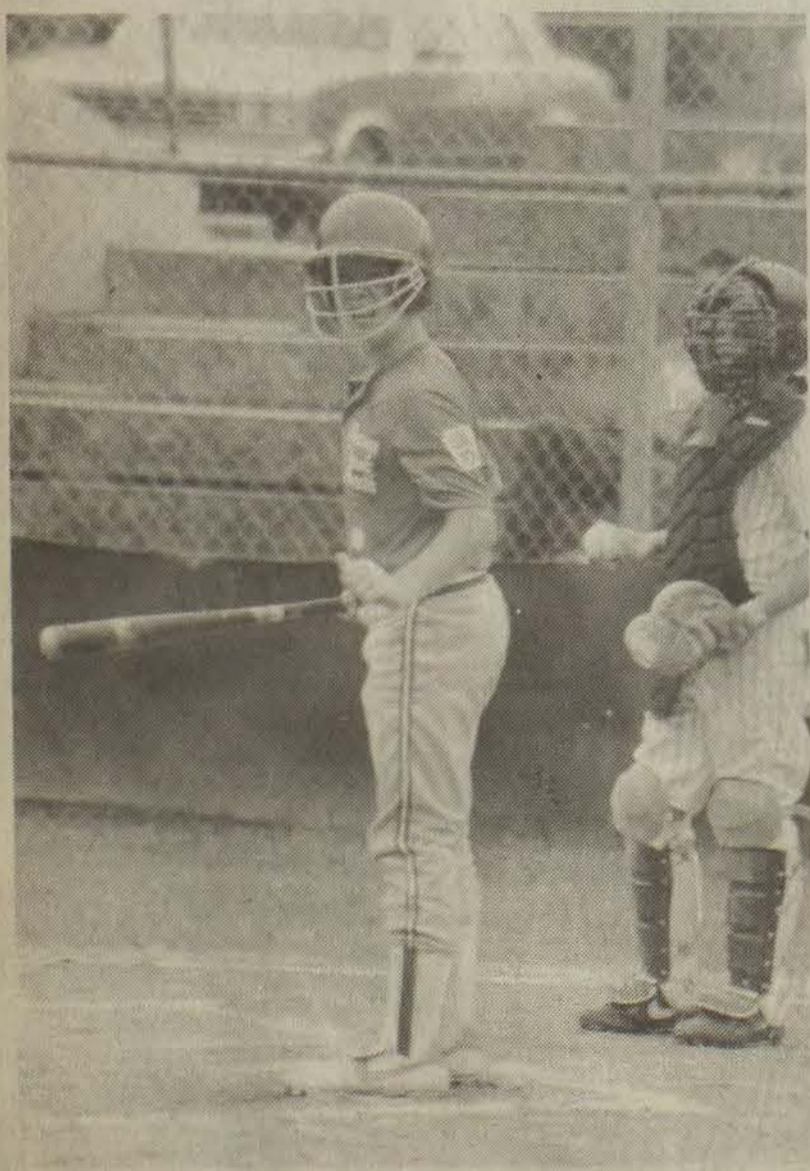

Jenkins, in securing the win, fanned nine batters while walking four. He went the distance for the North squad.

Lafferty was the losing pitcher for Martin County. Lafferty allowed six runs on five hits. He struck out seven batters and walked five. Coleman allowed four runs on one hit in his inning and a third of work. He struck out two and walked two.

North stranded five base runners and committed two errors. Martin County left five runners on base and were guilty of three errors.

HIBDON ENJOYS SECOND ANGLER-OF-THE-YEAR TITLE

There is good news and bad news for professional bass anglers who may want to de-throne 1991 B.A.S.S. Angler-of-the-Year winner Guido Hibdon.

The good news is that Hibdon never sets goals like winning titles or tournaments at season's start. He just "goes fishing."

The bad news is that after winning professional fishing's top honor for consistency two consecutive years, he likes the feeling and says he wouldn't mind a third straight title.

"It feels good," smiles the highly-respected Johnson Outboards Pro Staff angler. "It seemed like I kept letting this one get away from me. I lost a lot of fish during the last three tournaments, and the more I tried to correct things, the worse it became. "Finally, I just decided to 'go fishing,' and let things happen as they may."

What did happen is that Hibdon finished the 10-event tournament season with a total of 353-pounds, 15-ounces of bass, nearly 20 pounds more than his nearest competitor. Only one other angler, Roland Martin, has ever won consecutive B.A.S.S. Angler-of-the-Year titles.

The title is considered among the most prestigious in bass fishing because of the year-long consistency required to win it, but ironically, Hibdon doesn't feel he had a consistent year. In fact, he actually won one tournament in which he says he didn't fish well at all.

"We fished the St. John's River in Florida in February," remembers the Johnson pro, "and for the first two days of practice I couldn't catch anything. Finally, about noon on the first competition day, things slowly began to turn around and I eventually won. I was simply very fortunate."

Since entering professional B.A.S.S. competition in 1980, Hibdon has won six events, including the very first pro tournament he fished. In 1988 he won the B.A.S.S. Masters Classic world championship.

Hibdon emphasizes that winning tournaments, however, is not the key to winning Angler-of-the-Year. Instead, simply coming to the scales each day with some fish -- consistency -- is what will pay dividends. Last year he won the top angler title with nearly the same weight as this year, 362-pounds, 11-ounces.

"I don't ever set goals," Hibdon says. "Instead, I know if I fish consistently every day, I have as good a chance as anyone to win. But now that I've won Angler-of-the-Year twice, a third time really does sound good."

THE INJURY

Dr. Max Jones practiced medicine in Pikeville for several years before he retired and moved to beautiful St. Simons Island, Georgia. He still has friends and relatives in the area and returns for visits.

Each time I see him again I remember our last doctor/patient visit in his office.

I had taken a fall in daughter Rhonda's kitchen and we called him to say I thought I'd broken my wrist. He told me to go directly to the X-ray lab, then on to his office.

Rhonda drove me to the lab and, when we walked into the waiting room, we saw there were about a dozen people there. Some were patients and some were waiting with patients, but we became aware of several little conversations going.

They talked about the weather, their families and local news — but they all talked.

I got in line to register and soon the receptionist was ready for me. "What's your name?"

I told her my name.

"What's your age?"

Suddenly all conversation stopped. When I told her my age I heard a woman in back of the room comment, "She doesn't look that old, does she?"

Dr. Jones came down to the lab to read the X-ray, and from there we went to his office. The wrist was broken all right.

By now my other daughter, Nancy, had heard about the accident and had come from Prestonsburg. While Dr. Jones was encasing my arm in a splint, we could hear the girls talking in his outer office.

Nancy asked, "How in the world did she fall?"

Rhonda said, "Well, I was in the living room when she came in. She decided to make a call and headed for the kitchen phone by way of the family room. Her shoe soles were slick from having walked across wet grass, and I had just mopped the kitchen linoleum. Anyway, there was an awful sound like maybe a truck had crashed through the wall."

"I peeped around the door and saw her head was in the family room but her body was under the kitchen table. Her left shoulder was by the stove and her right foot was against the refrigerator."

Dr. Jones just looked at me and asked, "Are you sure this wrist is all that's broken?"

***** COMMENTARY

My mother-in-law, Era Ratliff, has a great way of expressing herself and could do a running commentary on almost any situation.

She and I had agreed in a telephone conversation that we'd like to go shopping in Prestonsburg, and she volunteered to drive by and pick me up.

When I'd seated myself on the passenger side of her car, she proceeded to back up and turn. In so doing, she thumped my husband's boat that had been parked out from the driveway.

She turned to me with a bewildered look and muttered, "I'm getting so I despise reverse!"

Kim's Korner

A friend and I were discussing our children the other night and came to the realization that our own kids were not in a class all by themselves. As a matter of fact, the stage they are going through can hardly be called unique.

What I am referring to is the "I'm bored" syndrome that strikes throughout the day and night at any hour, without warning.

With a pool in the backyard, Nintendo, bicycles, VCR's and movies galore, books on top of books, boom boxes, "skip-its", skateboards, bicycles, animals, etc., our children have nothing to do.

Of course, when we as mothers make suggestions in reference to any of these items previously mentioned, we get looks as if we'd said nasty, ugly things to our children.

The younger ones are not so bored yet and can still take a few suggestions from good, ol' Mom, but our older children... Sometimes I can really blow a gasket after I make a comment of "do this" or "do that" and get in return the oh, so famous roll of the eyes, or "Shew, Mom, get real."

The one I really hate is, "I swear Mom, you know I don't want to swim now, it's boring."

Was I dreaming when we were trying to get the pool ready for swimming? Is this the same child that drove us nuts wanting to go swimming when the water was only ankle deep?

This is the child that wanted a bicycle for Easter but, now, riding bikes is also boring. When does it end? If 10 is boring what is 13 going to bring?

What happened to Barbie? What happened to playing outdoors? The '90s sure are a heck of a lot different than the '70s. I suppose we were boring children.

Play your heart out and try not to be bored.

Saturday morning turned out to be one of those days. You know—the kind, when everything goes wrong.

To start the day out, my father-in-law, the farmer, had me bring my husband to the mouth of Middlecreek at 7:30 a.m. on a Saturday (I've forgiven him by the way.) So, on the way, my spouse was telling me step-by-step procedures to get our pool back to blue instead of frog green.

Sleepy-headed, I was dragging myself up the steps of the pool, searching for the pole with the net at the end. Not only did we have green water, but leaves and limbs from every tree in the neighborhood had landed in this pool.

Finally, I found the pole, but the spouse had some kind of long blue tube taped to the pole which took me what seemed like an hour to get loose. Once I had that off and got the net on, I decided I'd better put the chemicals in.

In went the chlorine, PH plus, PH minus, algicide, and now I was ready to rid the pool of leaves and limbs.

I reached as far as I could to get the glob in the middle of the pool. Off came the net and down to the bottom it went.

If my spouse could've heard the names I called him, there was no one in sight and I felt like a fool standing on the deck gripping my spouse to the hill, when he was in Winchester on a tractor.

"If he thinks I'm getting in this green water and fishing out that net, he's crazy," I ranted.

Down the ladder I stomped. One stomp too many, I missed the third step completely and landed face down in mud. Boy, did my spouse catch it then. The bad thing was, he knew nothing. Till now anyway. Oh, well the pool's blue, till next week.

Mrs. Mattie Crisp chosen "Mother of the Year"

by Patricia Watson

Mrs. Mattie Conley Crisp, age 94, of Bucks Branch, near Martin, was named "Mother of the Year" at the annual Mother-Daughter and Friends banquet hosted by the Independent Christian Women's Fellowship recently at the Jenny Wiley Convention Center at Prestonsburg.

Having lived almost a century, Mrs. Crisp has witnessed many changes in her lifetime. She recalls moving to Eastern Kentucky from Lee City, Kentucky as a small child while riding atop wooden boxes piled on a horse drawn wagon. Along the way, the family hoped to lodge for the night with an accommodating host. And after several attempts, her father did find a family who was willing to take them in for the night. Her travels have taken her across the Ohio River on a ferry boat before there was a bridge. Then, too, she often traveled by train. On one occasion while traveling by train with her brothers, a young man (after eying Mattie) struck up a conversation which went as follows.

The young man asked: "Is she your sister?"

"Yes!" her brothers replied.

"Is she married?" came his next question.

"No, but she wants to be!" was the response of her brothers who were thoroughly enjoying themselves.

However, Mattie countered that she could have "rung their necks" for that particular reply.

Some years later, Mattie married Ed Crisp whom she had helped to nurse through an influenza epidemic. The couple had seven children and knew the challenges of being parents which brought many heartaches and many rewards. Their only daughter, Imogene, died of kidney failure at age 13. Their son Herbert, a radio operator and a gunner on a B24 liberator bomber for the US Air Force, was shot down in the South Pacific. Carl, the second son, died at the age of 26 after returning from the Philippines where he served in the US Army. Bill, the third son, attended Martin High School, and he later joined the war effort and worked in Maine. Randolph, has served as pastor of churches in Kentucky, as well as in Michigan, in West Virginia, and in Ohio. He is now interim pastor at Viper, Kentucky, and he has a Sunday program on local radio, WMDJ. Also, he is the director of senior citizens at Martin. Another son, Don, also is a pastor. He has served as pastor of churches in Kentucky and in Ohio. While in Toledo, he helped to build the church where he served. Presently, he is assistant pastor of Faith Bible Church in Martin. The youngest son, David, graduated from Martin High School, and he attended Campbellsville College and Caney College. In addition to their children, the couple have eight grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren.

Altogether, Mattie and Ed Crisp were married 60 years. At the age of 80, Ed, suffering from Black Lung, became bedfast, yet Mattie continued to take care of him until his death in 1980.

Now, at age 94, she takes frequent trips to Ohio as well as to Lee City and to Hazel Green to visit relatives. She loves to shop, and to eat out. Her favorite food is pizza. She is an avid reader, even with her failing eyesight. She keeps up with the news and sometimes reads a Christian novel. She continues to attend Faith Bible Church at Martin every Sunday.

Having been chosen "Mother of the Year", Mrs. Crisp was presented a framed certificate and a double pink carnation corsage from the Independent Christian Women's Fellowship. She, also, received a dozen red roses from her family.

Other events of the evening included recognition of previous "Mother of the Year" honorees who were present. These women included: Mrs. Eva Furman of Betsy Layne, Mrs. Gertie Watson of Risner, Mrs. Orbie Vaughan of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Lizzie Shepherd of David. At the banquet, a toast was exchanged to mothers and to daughters by mother and daughter, Mrs. Eva Furman and Miss Elizabeth Furman, respectfully, both from Betsy Layne. Music was presented and playing of musical glasses was a special feature by Dick and Leah Bowers from Knot County. Mrs. Sarah Mason, from Grayson, was the speaker with a message which encouraged women to be altogether lovely in every way of their daily lives. Photographer for the evening was Lois Holmquist, and video-photographer was Dani Smith.

This year's banquet theme was "Altogether Lovely." Decorations included white table linens with dusty rose napkins. Glass mirrored tiles trimmed with pink ribbon and globes draped with pink ribbon and strands of pearls with long pink ribbon streamers trailing the length of the table were an elegant display. The decorating committee was headed by Joyce Ousley, Barbara Wynsma, and Lois Holmquist.

Others taking part in the program were: Patricia Watson, club president; Alice Skeans, club vice-president; Kathy Keithman, club secretary; Fay Crum, tribute to "Mother of the Year"; Patricia Lafferty with a tribute to club president; Barbara Wynsma, toastmistress; and Sarah Helmantoler, with invitation time.

The Mother-Daughter and Friends banquet is an annual event sponsored by the Independent Christian Women's Fellowship of Floyd County. Next year's banquet is scheduled for May 16, 1992, at the Jenny Wiley Convention Center at Prestonsburg with a featured musical team, Robin and Sharon, from Fort Wayne, Indiana.

"Birthday party"

Savannah Campbell, Jordan Youmans, and Trista Huff recently had a birthday party at Mountain Christian Academy Preschool. Campbell is the daughter of Sharon and Eddie Campbell of Prestonsburg; Youmans is the son of Brenda and Wayne Youmans of Minnie; and Huff is the daughter of Alisha and Jim Huff of Beaver.

Highlands to host major conference for women

On Saturday, September 21, Highlands will play host to an all-day conference entitled, "For Women—A Conference on Health and Happiness", to take place at the Convention Center in Jenny Wiley State Park.

Although participation is open to everyone, the program is designed to appeal to the special interests of women. The purpose is to provide women of all ages and lifestyles a variety of insights and ideas that can enhance their self-image and their quality of life.

Other than an occasional new outfit or trip to the hairdresser, the average woman rarely caters to her own personal wants and needs. Usually too busy serving the needs of others—family, a job and a household—she has little time or energy for herself and for opportunities to learn about ways to enhance her personal and family wellbeing, outside what is offered by shopping malls or the magazines in the checkout lanes.

The conference will feature presentations on such timely topics as grooming and cosmetics, options in plastic surgery, techniques for stress management, family health and the little-known science of "body mechanics", or how to perform routine physical tasks without pulled muscles or ligaments.

The conference format will enable attendees to interact in the programs by participating in demonstrations and workshops, by asking questions of experts in a variety of fields, and discussing issues among their peers. Featured speakers will include Ms. Kathy Nielson, of Chicago, a recognized expert and trainer in stress management, and Henry G. Wells, Jr., M.D., noted plastic surgeon from the South Hill Clinic in Lexington.

The conference will run from 9 a.m. to approximately 4 p.m. and the $20 fee will include refreshments and lunch. It is sponsored by Consolidated Health Systems in cooperation with Highlands Regional Medical Center.

To register or to obtain additional information, call Ann Martin, (606) 886-8511.

We Could All Be Rich

I've said it once and I'll say it again: Eastern Kentucky is letting a gold mine slip right through its fingers.

All in the world we have to do to make this area the financial capital of the universe is to simply promote what we already have.

The solution to all our money woes is simple: PROMOTE OUR YARD SALES!

Place billboards on I-64 to the west and I-75 to the north and south. Run ads in all the major newspapers and bombard the Lexington and Huntington TV stations. Or, to cut down on advertising expenses, we could just tell every woman we know not to say anything about it.

We could all be rich. Why, I wouldn't be surprised if we don't stage more yard sales per square inch than any other place on earth.

Just get in your car on any weekend, drive in any direction and follow the signs. Most of them are lettered with a ball-point pen on a piece of pasteboard. Sometimes, though, the sign painter will invest in a real 59¢ poster board, use a real nail, and then wrap the poster neatly around the post. This makes it a little difficult to read and what you might see is "RD SAL," but if you can tell in which direction the arrow is pointing, you're in business.

The site of the sale is easily detected. Just follow the crowd. Someone will be holding aloft a pair of faded jeans—$2. Someone else will be searching through a large box marked "Baby Clothes." At least two cars will be running, pointed out of the neighborhood, poised like Bonnie and Clyde's get-away car—their drivers waiting impatiently the return of their wives so they can hit the big "three-family sale" just down the road.

What bargains!

Where else, for example, could you find two 75/R-14 snow tires, in excellent condition

(according to the note on the envelope stuck neatly to one of them with duct tape...) used one winter only $15 each?

Wow!

And look! A box of George Jones and Hank Williams jr. 8 track tapes for a quarter each.

Cowboy boots, size 13, $8; old Mason jars, $1 each; neckties for a dime; a hat rack (I think) $2; a "Jay-pan" fan; a table fan and a window fan (make me an offer). The list goes on: paperback books, whatnots, appliances, radios, toys, a baby stroller.

The best part is, the merchandise never runs out. It's like perpetual motion. This week's great buys become next week's great buys in another sale just down the road.

Not only is there a fortune to be made at the sales themselves, look at the possibility of related industries. A fellow could make $100 a day just standing long side the road selling "maps to the yard sales."

What about a concession stand? Baby eats a sno-cone while mother shops. And Tee shirts! Who wouldn't enjoy a T-shirt reading, "Somebody Went to the Eastern Kentucky Yard Sales and All I Got Was Lousy T-shirt?"

Then, top off a highly successful selling season by passing an ordinance demanding 100 percent participation) whereby all yardsales move there wares into Paintsville on Apple Day weekend. Allow outsiders to set up. No more junk, chalk dogs, 3-D Jesus pictures or velvet Elvises. Just real honest to goodness useful...stuff.

Granted, requiring 100 percent participation will require lots of space and would likely force cancellation of the parade, antique car show and the carnival. Who cares, though, right? I mean couldn't we afford to sacrifice a few marching bands, ferris wheel and model-T's for a lifetime of financial security?

Feeding the hungry

When Joe Bolton (on left) heard that the senior citizen's homebound meal service was desperately in need of funds and that their requests for assistance was being turned down by area organizations, he did not hesitate. Bolton, who owns Kentuckiana Election Services, donated $200 to the service, which will provide meals for the 20-25 homebound seniors for 2 1/2 months. It costs the food program about $80 per month just to provide one hot meal per day for these individuals, according to Bolton. "There's not enough money available. Unless we get local help, we can't feed these people," said director Patsy Evans. Pictured receiving the check with Evans is board member Vivian Fraley. ## Cabbage Patch

By Nell Hormon

Well, at last the gardens are beginning to come in—in full force. If you noticed I did NOT say my garden. I do have onions that are mature and ready to pull up and cure out for winter use — if they last till winter.

Dora Bell Nelson brought me a large "mess" of green beans, along with a beautiful zucchini and some cucumbers. Now, when you get it picked and carried to you, you've got it made. She and Willie have a pretty, productive and early garden. They usually do have the earliest gardens in our small community.

A couple days later, I visited the Rev. Buster Hayden family on upper Little Paint Creek for another purpose. I came home with a large bag of zucchinis and cucumbers. Their beans and tomatoes will be in about two weeks, and since I have been invited, I will not forget this invitation. I thought I raised a large garden until I saw Gustavia and Marcella Haydens. They have a garden together, divided right down the middle. If I ever saw two gardens side by side before, I don't remember it. Both gardens had some of the largest cabbage heads around anywhere. I hope I don't throw a monkey wrench into the works, but I must say one garden was weed free and the other couldn't find her onions. Now one thing I will not say is which, the mother-in-law or the daughter-in-law, had the cleaner garden patch.

Right now is a good time to select and order iris. Also, it is almost time for your neighbors to dig up and divide their old 4 and 5-year-old clumps. Too often, when I think of iris, I seem to remember the old plain purple flower of years ago. Iris, like the glads, have come a long way in the last 50 years. Today, we have about every color in the rainbow plus my favorites, the two-tone and bicolors.

Iris is a sturdy flower that adapts to a wide range of climate conditions, are easy to grow and to care for. They are free with both their flowers and their offsprings, as they are a very rapid multiplier. Iris will fit into your garden, be it formal or informal. The one thing I have found is that rabbits and other varmints do not add them to their menu. I have one old turkey hen that will not eat anything except flowers: she leaves the iris alone. I do have a gander that likes to pull them up. He would pull up every tree on the place if he could. Small seedlings he has already gotten.

There are, at this time, over 200 iris species, from some as low as 2 inches high to the big bold tall ones. Some are, so I hear, fragrant. We, as iris lovers, have a good choice in size and color.

A well-drained location with full sun is a choice area for this queenly flower. If you are planting on a slope or a steep hill always aim the leafy end uphill, so they will stand upright and not slant with the ground. Water well after planting and for about two weeks if the weather is dry. During the hot summer months they will need two or three deep-waterings. Iris are not heavy feeds and really need no fertilizer unless your soil is dirt poor.

Why not get reacquainted with an old favorite that can now bring a bright carefree slice of the rainbow into your yard. If you know them, you will grow them!!!

County Kettle

By M. L. Harmon

So many people who are placed on a salt-free diet are pickle lovers. The salt in the pickled food they have eaten over the past years had, no doubt, added to their problem.

Though salt is the main ingredient in making pickles crisp, there have been other methods found to work as well — or better. Crispness depends mostly on freshness. Remove the blossom ends and scrub the vegetables with a brush thoroughly to remove any bacteria that could destroy firmness.

ICICLE PICKLES

- 20 cucumbers about 4 in. long
- 6 small onions quartered
- 6 small stalks of celery
- 1 qt. apple cider vinegar
- 1 c. water
- 1 1/4 c. light honey
- 1 tbsp. mustard seed

Soak cucumbers in ice water at least 8 hours. Drain and cut lengthwise into quarters. Begin to heat the jars in your canner. When the water is boiling remove the jars and pack each one with a piece of celery, one onion and the spears. Bring the vinegar, water and honey to boil with the mustard seed. Pour over the pickles filling jars to 1/4 inch from the top. Adjust caps and process in boiling water for 10 minutes. Remove immediately and cool.

GREEN TOMATO RELISH

- 7 lbs. green tomatoes
- 6 medium onions
- 1 tbsp. each of allspice, whole cloves, mustard seed, black pepper corns, celery seed
- 5 lemons sliced
- 2 sweet red peppers
- 1 c. light honey
- 3 c. apple cider vinegar

Wash and trim tomatoes and peppers. Slice about 1/4 inch thick. Peel onions and slice the same way. Place on top of ice in a bowl and leave several hours in the refrigerator, covered with plastic. Tie the spices in a cheesecloth bag and place in a kettle with vinegar and honey. Bring to a boil, add the lemon and the vegetables. Simmer about 5 minutes. Be very careful to not overcook. Remove the spice bag and pack into hot pint jars, cover with liquid, leaving a 1/2 inch head space. Seal and process in a boiling water bath for 10 minutes. Remove and cool. Yield 6 to 8 pints.

SPICY DELI DILLS

- 20 to 25 medium cucumbers

Place in ice water in the refrigerator for 12 hours. Drain and cut into spears. Put 8 sterilized quart jars in your water bath canner to heat while you prepare the vinegar.

- 16 cloves of garlic, peeled
- 8 heads of fresh dill
- 2 dry red hot peppers
- 8 grape leaves (for crispness) optional
- 8 slices horseradish root, peeled (optional) for crispness
- 2 qts. vinegar
- 2 qts. water

Bring the above ingredients to a boil while you pack the cucumbers into the jars. Pour the mixture over them, making sure the liquid covers them completely. Cap jars and place in boiling water to cover. Process from the moment they were placed in boiling water for 10 minutes. Remove promptly and cool.

DILLED FRESH ZUCCHINI

- 6 lbs. young firm zucchini
- 2 c. thinly sliced celery
- 2 c. chopped onion
- 1/2 c. light honey
- 4 tbsp. dill seed
- 4 c. apple cider vinegar
- 6 cloves garlic scalded

Peel, seed and slice zucchini lengthwise into strips about 4 inches long and 1/4 inch thick. Mix all vegetables together in a large bowl and cover with ice cubes. Let stand at room temperature for three hours. Drain. Start heating the water in your canner. Combine dill seed, vinegar and honey, in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Add the vegetables and bring to a boil. Pack into hot pint jars, adding one clove garlic per jar. Adjust caps and process 15 minutes in a boiling-water bath. Remove immediately and cool.

You can easily adapt your own favorite fresh-pack pickles or relish recipes by simply omitting the salt and using spices assertively. They will be perfectly safe if no preliminary long brining or fermenting is indicated. Instead of salt, use ice and follow the methods outlined above carefully. Low-sodium meals can have a new dimension without adding a grain of salt.

Having had several request for any and all recipes I have for Zucchini as they do keep you on your toes, trying to use them. I will do all I can to help. When that fails, start giving every one you see a large bag of them.

ZUCCHINI PINEAPPLE BREAD

- 3 eggs
- 1 c. oil
- 2 c. sugar
- 2 tsp. vanilla
- 2 c. shredded zucchini
- 1 c. crushed pineapple, drained
- 3 c. flour
- 2 tsp. soda
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 3/4 tsp. nutmeg

HUNGRY JACK CASSEROLE

- 1 c. nuts, finely chopped
  - 1 c. raisins
- Beat eggs, oil, sugar and vanilla until thick and foamy. Add zucchini and pineapple. Combine remaining ingredients and stir into first mixture just until blended. Pour into greased and floured loaf pans. Bake at 350° for 1 hour or until tooth pick inserted into center comes out clean. Yield 2 loaves.

- 1 16-oz. can pork and beans
  - 3/4 c. barbecue sauce concentrate
  - 2 tbsp. brown sugar
  - 1 tbsp. minced green onions
  - 1 tube refrigerated biscuits
  - grated cheddar cheese
- Brown ground beef and onions in a skillet. Add brown sugar, minced green onions, barbecue sauce and pork and beans. Simmer 10 minutes. Top with biscuits, sliced in half. Bake at 350° for 25 to 30 minutes. Sprinkle immediately with cheddar cheese and serve.

Volunteers, funds need for Leukemia prevention campaign

Floyd Countians are urged to open their hearts and their pocketbooks this summer when representatives of the Leukemia Society of America knock on their doors.

Yes, it is that time again. The Leukemia Society of America, Kentucky Chapter, is kicking off its residential drive this month and will extend it through the month of September.

Area volunteers will be collecting door to door to benefit the Kentucky Chapter's five major programs of research, patient aid, public and professional education, and community service. The Leukemia Society's logo states, "Where there's help, there's hope." So dig real deep because it's each individual's help that will make a difference.

For more information, or to volunteer, call (502) 584-8490.

Quotes and quibbles

By: Martha Reed Perry and Melissa Forsyth, Librarians, Prestonsburg Community College
 Prague, 1968: As the Russian tanks converged around us, I wondered if I would ever see the United States again.

Prague, 1991: As I stepped out of the taxi, the first thing I heard was the music of the Beatles.

Quite a difference, you have to admit. These are examples of the vastly different experiences we had on our separate trips to Czechoslovakia, some 23 years apart.

Melissa, 1968: My parents and I arrived in Prague by car the same evening the Soviet soldiers arrived by tanks, planes and helicopters. People crowded the streets in a flurry of fear as the Soviet tanks ran over anything that was in their way—cars, bicycles, street signs, whatever.

Crowds began mobbing little markets and forming long lines to buy whatever they could, in fear of a food shortage. Students were protesting in the streets. One student was killed as a result, and we saw the students continue marching with a flag they had drenched in the blood of their fallen comrade. Alexander Dubcek was captured down the street from our hotel on the first day we spent in the city.

On our first attempt to escape from the city, we were turned back by tanks barricading the highway. An Austrian in the car ahead of us was stopped by a gun-waving soldier who forced him back into his car. On the second night, we heard gunfire and hit the floor of our hotel room. My father looked out the window to see a body being thrown onto a flatbed truck.

By the third day, our hotel was running out of food. We knew we had to get out of the country as soon as possible. Two Swedish men we had met on our first day in Prague told us about a convoy of their fellow countrymen who were planning to rendezvous at a point near Plzen, in western Czechoslovakia. They told us we were welcome to join them. We gratefully accepted their offer.

We left shortly after lunch. Gasoline was being rationed, so we could only buy what amounted to about three gallons of fuel for our car. We had just enough gas to make it to the German border. We were stopped three times by German-speaking Soviet soldiers who wanted to check our passports. As we drove into Germany, we were met at the border by United States soldiers. What a welcome—the sound of American voices!

Martha, 1991: When we stepped from the taxi into the cool spring evening, the first thing we heard was music by the Beatles. It seemed rather odd, yet it somehow felt "right." A band, "The Flowers," was playing to a crowd of about 100 people at the foot of Wenceslas Square. Old people, young adults and children were all dancing and singing along with them.

As we walked through the narrow, winding streets of the picturesque city, we came across many entertainers—tap dancers, violin players, a crowd singing old Lou Reed songs along with a guy playing a guitar and even a Dixieland jazz combo. Groups of people lounged at the sidewalk cafes, sipping beer and wine and relaxing in the cool of the evening. People throughout the town were chatting and laughing, a stark contrast to the situation Melissa had described to me prior to my visit.

The following days held something to see and smile about at nearly every corner. The street artists were selling their drawings and paintings, musicians were performing and the street peddlers were hawking everything from bratwurst to Soviet uniforms. We came across a crowd of hundreds of people gathered in the square and squeezed through it, curious to see what all the excitement was about. To our surprise and pleasure, we arrived just in time to see a parade being held to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the death of Mozart, complete with music, floats and free beer! Again, the excitement was shared by all, from little tiny babies to little old ladies. The Czechs seemed more than happy to interrupt their day for any pleasant excuse.

Prague was not yet spoiled by the "ways of the West." There weren't a lot of trendy clothes on display in the shop windows. There wasn't a McDonald's or a Burger King on every block, the way it is now in Berlin or most other large cities. People weren't in a hurry all the time, rushing past and looking cranky. Prague, in my experience, was wonderful.

It's rather odd that we both visited Czechoslovakia and under such very difficult conditions. We had one thing in common with both trips, however: we both had experiences we'll never forget!

You can help make it even safer by promptly notifying MIKE LITTLE GAS COMPANY of any suspected gas leaks or construction activities on or near any of its facilities.

If you plan to do any work requiring digging near a company pipeline or, if you observe any type of construction or excavation, please contact us so that we can send qualified personnel to locate and properly mark our underground piping.

Although natural gas pipelines have the best safety record in the transportation industry—gas leaks do occur. You can help us by reporting any of the following occurrences:

- (1) A strange or unusual odor in the vicinity of a gas pipeline.
  - (2) A hissing or roaring sound (caused by the escaping of natural gas)
  - (3) Flames originating from an opening in the ground.
  - (4) Dead or discolored vegetation in the vicinity of a gas pipeline.
- If you encounter a pipeline leak, leave the area immediately. Avoid creating sparks and sources of heat which would cause the gas to ignite or burn. DO NOT light a match, operate an electrical switch or start an engine. Go to a telephone away from the leak area and call the gas company.

If you do not know who the gas line belongs to, call the local fire, police, or sheriff's department or the state police and advise them of the nature and location of the emergency.

Real Estate

Take positive steps when selling your home

Ignore the news about a "depressed" housing market. There's hope...a vast majority of homes DO sell. Maybe not as quickly, but most of today's sellers will be figuring real estate profits come tax time.

It takes patience and marketing savvy to sell a house today in many markets. Century 21 Real Estate Corporation suggests some positive steps a seller can take to realize the fastest sale and maximum return.

- SELECT A REAL ESTATE AGENT WITH CARE...one with a successful track record in your neighborhood, backed by resources that extend into outside housing markets. The name of the game is exposure, lots of it, plus the smarts and professionalism of a real estate practitioner whose livelihood is dependent on self-initiative and results.
- PRICE IS RIGHT! Accept the realities of the marketplace if you're serious about selling. Look at comparable sales in your neighborhood. Which properties did not sell and are still on the market? Consult your broker. The notion of starting high and coming down in price later doesn't work today. Buyers have many other choices so a realistic asking price is a necessity.
- MAKE THE LISTING STAND OUT! In addition to advertising with high quality photos, an alternative is to promote the property in a different way, such as having it pre-inspected and certified or by offering generous financing terms.
- TAKE CARE OF THE LITTLE THINGS. Mow the grass, repaint exterior trim, fix broken locks, etc. Your real estate professional will give you guidance in these areas. Handyman specials may not be the bargain they used to be when so many "fixed up" homes are on the market.
- OFFER INCENTIVES. This might include leaving some of the "goodies" you planned to take with you, such as appliances or drapes. Giving a little now could save you money and time in the long run.

EQUAL HOUSING OPPORTUNITY
All real estate advertising in this newspaper is subject to the Federal Fair Housing Act of 1988, which makes it illegal to advertise any preference, limitation or discrimination because of race, color, religion, sex, handicap, familial status or national origin, or make any such preference, limitation or discrimination.
We will not knowingly accept any advertising for real estate which is in violation of the law. All persons are hereby informed that all dwellings advertised are available on an equal opportunity basis.
