Shots fired at deputies

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Shots were fired at two Floyd County deputies Sunday night at David while officers were answering complaints of gunfire in that area.

Deputy Lloyd Powers and auxiliary deputy Roger Slone were shot at approximately six times by Lanie Shepherd, an elderly resident of David, said Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson. The deputies were not injured.

Osborne is a finalist for award

A Floyd County woman has been chosen as a finalist for the Kentucky/Southern Illinois Entrepreneur of the Year awards.

Billie Jean Osborne is one of 28 finalists selected from 113 nominations. Her work with the Kentucky Opry qualified her as one of three finalists up for the "Socially Responsible" award category.

"I'm flattered by the nomination, but I'm worried that people might get tired of hearing about the Kentucky Opry," Osborne said about receiving her nomination. "I don't want to burn people out on the Kentucky Opry, but, as it was put to me, this will be good advertising for it."

Osborne was nominated, along with several other Floyd Countians, by Keith Akers, executive director for the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce. The 28 finalists in eight award categories will be honored and Entrepreneur of the Year award recipients will be announced at a banquet at the Hyatt Regency in Louisville on Wednesday, June 19 at 6 p.m.

Osborne

Thompson said officers were investigating a report of shots being fired in the area when approximately six shots were fired in their direction. The shots came from the area of two homes in the vicinity and a neighbor that was questioned that night, claims sheriff's deputies harassed him.

Columbus Brown, a neighbor to Shepherd, was contacted by phone by dispatcher Chrystal Chaffins and asked to step outside onto the roadway to answer questions about the incident. Brown said he was told he had shot two deputies.

Chaffins said she told Brown to step outside to answer questions about the shots that had been fired. Chaffins said she told Brown he was not being accused of anything.

Brown said he refused to walk to the road, but said he would come out on the porch.

Brown said Sheriff Thompson and deputy Linzie Hunt approached him after he came out and he was handcuffed while he was questioned.

Hunt and Thompson said Brown was handcuffed because of circumstances surrounding the incident and that he had at one point refused to come out of his home.

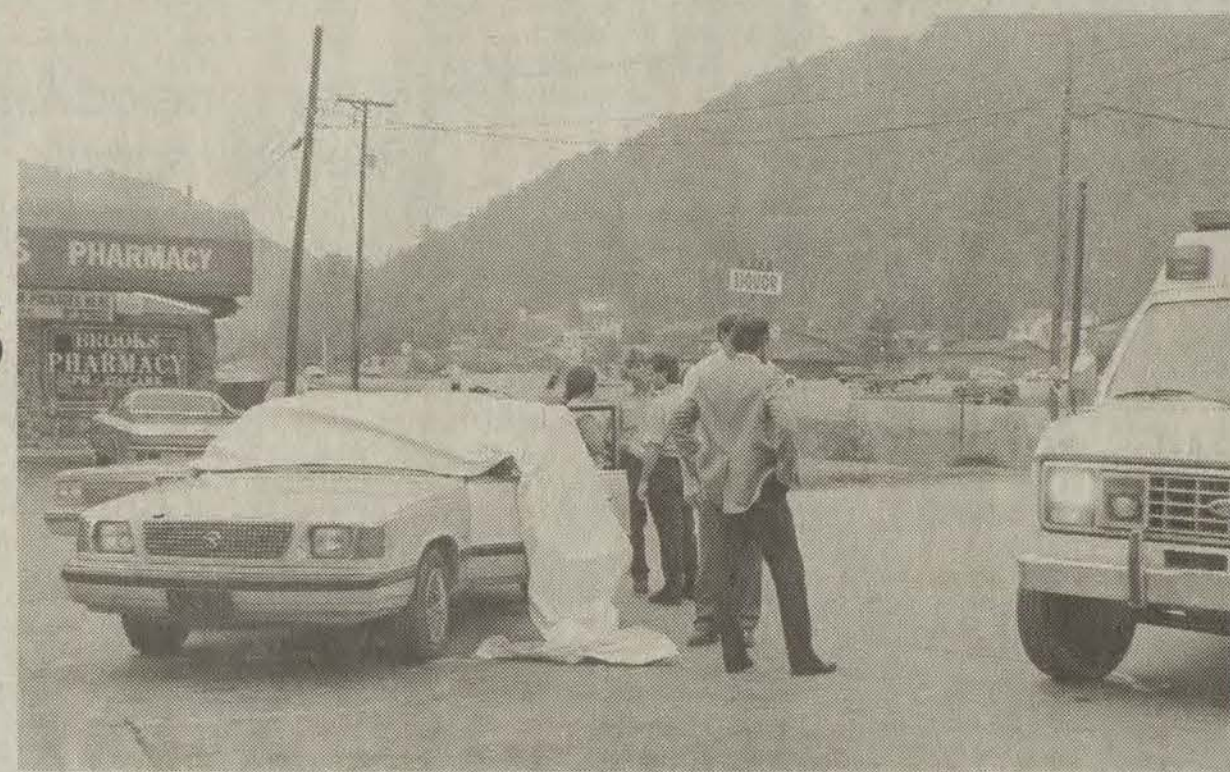

Brown said he was later released and police officials called Shepherd from Brown's home and Shepherd admitted to firing the shots.

Brown had earlier walked down the railroad track that separate the two residences to untie his dog. Brown said he had put the beagle near his garden to chase away rabbits and he was afraid his dog would drown after the heavy rain Sunday evening. He said when he returned home his wife told him two shots had been fired while he was gone.

"I didn't hear any shots," Brown said Monday. "I went on to bed and the next thing I know my wife said the sheriff's department was on the phone. The girl told me to come out of the house because I had shot two deputies. I didn't know what was going on."

Deputy Hunt said Brown was told to come outside to talk about shots

Under investigation

Classes could begin in August :

Campus extension is 'go'

by Tess A. Whitmer
Assistant Editor

The prospect of having a Morehead State University Extended Campus in Prestonsburg is quickly becoming a reality. The lease has been signed and the interim director has been appointed. If all goes well, classes will begin August 19.

Representatives from MSU have been looking into locating the higher education facility in the old Hecks building at Highlands Plaza for some time now. Monday, the lease for the building was signed and it was determined that it would take approximately 60 days to prepare the building for classes, according to Porter Dailey, vice president at MSU.

Prestonsburg is one of two sites approved by the Council of Higher Education to operate an extended campus for Morehead; the second is in Ashland. The funding for the operation was approved by the 1990 General Assembly at $132,000 per year.

MSU was able to rent the 14,250 square footage of property for $9 per square foot, for a total of $128,250 per year. Dailey has estimated the first-year costs at $225,000, not including equipment and furnishings or teaching costs. He said that MSU has budgeted the difference in state funding and the operation costs, but he is asking the community to help with the one time cost of equipping and furnishing the building.

"We see this as an investment into the community, just like any other business," Dailey told Floyd County Chamber of Commerce board members at an impromptu meeting Monday. "It will bring students from the entire region into the county, many of whom will stay here. It is an infusion of money into the region as well as jobs."

The Chamber has agreed to meet with Dailey at a later date to discuss plans to help raise money to get the extended campus project funded. Dailey estimated the one-time cost to run approximately $80,000.

MSU began offering upper-division courses during the evening hours at Prestonsburg Community College in 1986. The courses corresponded with those offered at the community college level, and aided students in progress towards a four-year degree without the commute to Morehead.

The new facility will offer 34 upper-division undergraduate and graduate level courses, enabling those

Former Floyd mail carrier gets six months for thefts

A 30-year-old Floyd County man was sentenced Thursday, May 30 in Federal District Court in Pikeville by Judge Joseph M. Hood on a charge of mail theft.

Franklin Delano Hagans received a sentence of six months incarceration, to be satisfied by serving three months in prison and three months in a halfway house, according to Assistant United States Attorney Kenneth R. Taylor, who prosecuted the case.

The sentence resulted from Hagans guilty plea to a charge that, while working for the postal service as a rural mail carrier, he kept for his personal use merchandise which was being mailed to persons on his route.

Man found dead :

Cause of death is unknown

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A preliminary autopsy Monday proved inconclusive in determining the cause of death of a 31-year-old Tram man found in his car Monday evening.

Clay Webster Charles was found dead sitting in a 1987 Plymouth station wagon in the parking lot at Velocity Market at Betsy Layne, said Kentucky State Police.

Police officials were notified at 3:56 p.m. about a man sitting slumped over in a vehicle. Coroner Roger Nelson was called by KSP and pronounced Charles dead at the scene.

The coroner's office said the cause of death would not be known for several weeks.

Charles was observed sitting in the car with his head slumped back. An unidentified person notified police officials after about 25 minutes.

"A shopper noticed him sitting in his car when she entered the store," Nelson said Tuesday. "She noticed he hadn't moved when she came out and she then notified store personnel."

The body was sent to Frankfort for an autopsy by Dr. George Nichols. The death is still under investigation by KSP detective Joel Newsome.

Charles was the son of Helen Wissman Thacker of Pikeville and the late Harris Charles. He was employed as a carpenter.

Recanvass is set for Forgy, Lackey

The Floyd County Board of Elections will begin a recanvass of voting machine totals on Wednesday, June 5, beginning at 6 p.m. at the storage building on the West Mountain Parkway.

Larry Forgy, Republican candidate for governor, and John Lackey, Democratic candidate for attorney general, filed a request to recanvass all voting machines and absentee ballots. Forgy lost the Republican gubernatorial bid by a slim margin to Congressman Larry Hopkins, and Lackey lost the Democratic attorney general's race by 1,471 votes to Chris Gorman.

Presenting the diplomas at the commencement exercise will be Adrian Bentley, principal, and Tommy Boyd, board member.

No injuries

The driver of this GMC pickup truck escaped serious injury Friday morning after the vehicle flipped on its top. No details about the accident were available, but a witness at the scene who did not want to be identified said the driver only received a scratch on his finger. The driver of the vehicle declined to comment on the accident. (photo by Susan Allen)

EKU student indicted in death of newborn

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A 19-year-old woman was indicted Monday by a Madison County grand jury in connection with the death of her newborn daughter in April.

Pamela Michelle Harris, formerly of Melvin and a student at Eastern Kentucky University at Richmond, was indicted on charges of concealing the birth of an infant and abuse of a corpse. Charges were reduced from second-degree manslaughter, a felony, to the two misdemeanor charges. The jury's report said not enough evidence existed to indicate Harris "intentionally, wantonly or recklessly caused the death of her child."

Harris was charged by EKV's Division of Public Safety after the body of a newborn baby girl was found April 11 by a custodian outside of Burnam Hall, a residential hall on campus.

Ron Harrell, director of public information at EKV, said in April that the baby was born at "full or near" term and it was born alive. Harrell said the body was found a garbage bag and placed in a first floor restroom of Burnam Hall.

Madison County deputy coroner

Charles Stiles said in April that Harris initially reported she was from Floyd County, but reported to campus police that she was from Lenoir, North Carolina.

Campus police conducted a search of the residence hall after the body was discovered to see if any student was in need of medical attention.

Harris later approached university officials asking for medical assistance and she was taken to Pattie A. Clay Medical Center in Richmond where she was treated and released.

An autopsy performed by the state Medical Examiner's office said the newborn died of exposure.

Are you eligible for Social Security income?

by Jim Kelly
Social Security District Director

In some way, at some point in life, everybody needs help. For more than 4 million people, that help comes in the form of monthly Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits. If you have limited income and resources and are age 65 or older, or blind, or have a disability, or if you know someone who is, SSI can help.

SSI is a federal program administered by the Social Security Administration. It pays monthly checks to people with limited income and resources who are age 65 or have a disability at any age. And being eligible for SSI means more than just receiving monthly checks. SSI recipients may be eligible for other benefits and services provided by the Bureau of Social Insurance and Bureau of Social Services offices.

In 1991, the basic monthly Federal SSI payment is $407 for an eligible person and $610 for an eligible couple. Not everyone gets these amounts, however. Some people get more because they live in a state that adds money to the Federal payment; some get less because they have other income.

SSI isn't just for adults either. It's for children too—those with limited income and resources who are blind or disabled. Parent's income and resources count as belonging to the child in making determinations for infants and children.

People don't have to be completely destitute to get SSI. For example, they can own the home where they live and all the land it sits on. Within certain limits and under certain conditions, people can own a car, insurance policies, burial funds, and personal or household goods. People also can have some other income—a Social Security check or other income—and still get SSI. The amount of this other income or Social Security will determine if you are eligible for SSI.

If you think you might be eligible for SSI, it's easy to apply. Just call or visit our office. The Big Sandy Area Social Security office is located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville.

If you prefer to handle your Social Security matters by telephone you can call 886-8525, Monday through Friday.

majoring in business, education or nursing to obtain approximately 75 percent of their four-year degree while remaining in Prestonsburg.

"We are working in close cooperation with PCC," Dailey said. "In no way are we in competition with them but, rather, in compliment."

Dailey noted that the Floyd County enrollment at MSU has grown faster than any other just in anticipation of the idea that the extended campus is coming to Prestonsburg.

The new facility will contain 10 classrooms, including two computer labs (one of which will be mostly equipped by the fall semester), a reception and lobby area, five offices and a lounge. Staffing will proceed as the enrollment needs progress, eventually amounting to some resident faculty in the business, education and nursing fields.

Dr. Roland Burns, a professor of geography at MSU, has been appointed as interim director for the extended campus. A native of Ashland, Dr. Burns has been with MSU since 1969, and is known for his work in fish and wildlife conservation. He earned his doctorate from the University of Southern Mississippi and his appointment will be effective August 1.

James Ratcliff of Prestonsburg Community College will continue as site coordinator, a function he has performed for MSU since they began offering courses at PCC.

Future plans for the extended campus are to offer enough courses to enable students to complete a four-year degree, in cooperation with PCC, in the three major courses of study now offered there.

being fired and that police officials wanted to talk to him. Hunt said Brown was told he would not be hurt.

Police officials talked to Shepherd after Brown was released. Thompson said the elderly woman was frightened and did not realize she had shot at the deputies. Thompson said Shepherd was later taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center because she was suffering chest pains.

Thompson said Shepherd told him that numerous items had been stolen from her home in the past and since the electricity was off in the area she was scared.

"Due to her age, the circumstances and her eyesight, she will not be charged with attempted murder," Thompson said. "But, some charges will be filed against her."

Officers from the Kentucky State Police, the Prestonsburg Police Department, David Volunteer Fire Department and the sheriff's department responded to the scene. The incident remains under investigation by the sheriff's department.

Obscene caller not the sheriff

The Floyd County Sheriff's office has received reports of person(s) making abusive phone calls to county residents and posing as Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson.

Deputy Linzie Hunt said Monday that the phone calls were first reported last week and the callers used vulgar and abusive language.

Hunt said reports were received from several elderly residents Monday night and callers informed him the persons identified themselves as Sheriff Thompson. Hunt said Thompson was out of town Monday night.

Hunt said he informed Thompson about the incident Monday night.

Anyone receiving obscene or abusive calls from someone identifying themselves as Sheriff Thompson is urged to report it to the sheriff's office at (606) 886-6711.

NOTICE TO DELINQUENT FLOYD COUNTY TAXPAYERS

Kentucky Law requires the County Attorney to notify taxpayers that delinquent taxes have not been paid so that they may have an opportunity to pay the taxes before a lawsuit is filed against them. In that event, delinquent taxpayers could also be assessed additional costs, including court costs resulting from the lawsuit required to collect the taxes owed.

The Tax Collection Division of the Office of the Floyd County Attorney has been advised by the Floyd County Sheriff and Floyd County Clerk that certain taxpayers have failed to pay their property taxes and are now delinquent.

A letter of notification of delinquent taxes has been sent to the taxpayers who have failed to pay their taxes, giving them notice of this delinquency.

If the taxpayer thinks that he or she does not owe the bill, or if the property had been sold prior to the year(s) of tax liability, or if he or she feels that the property bill is incorrect, he or she should immediately contact the Property Valuation Administrator (Tax Commissioner) and get the bill(s) corrected.

The delinquent taxpayers are urged to immediately take the notice letter to the Floyd County Clerk's Office and make arrangements to pay the delinquent taxes, if owed.

Please take notice that the amount stated in the notice letter does not include interest and/or penalties owed by reason of the nonpayment of the taxes. However, the delinquent taxpayer may call the Floyd County Clerk's Office, (606 886-3816), and get the exact amount that is due upon receipt of payment. Payment can then be made to the County Clerk either in person or by mailing the payment in check or money order form.

The longer the property tax bill remains unpaid, the more interest and/or penalties will be added, so it is important that the delinquent tax bill is settled immediately.

A message of gratitude from

Judge John A. Gardner,

candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals from the 7th District

Thank you for your support, your encouragement and your votes in the recent primary election. The results, which must now be tested in the general election in November, provided once again that voters do listen and do respect a sincere, honest, hard working candidate.

I will need your continued support, encouragement and votes in the fall. In return, I pledge an aggressive, forthright campaign and an honest, fair and impartial term as your Judge of the Kentucky Court of Appeals from the 7th District.

Thank you.

Judge John A. Gardner

Protect self, pets against rabies

As Kentucky enters its peak animal rabies season, the Floyd County Health Department is reminding Floyd Countians to make sure their dogs and cats are vaccinated and to take precautions around wild animals.

Earl Compton, administrator of the Floyd County Health Department, says that although rabies in humans is rare, Kentuckians reported 3,442 animal bites last year, putting these people at risk.

"Humans can catch rabies if bitten or scratched by a rabid animal," Compton said. "That's why it's extremely important that all dogs and cats have the proper shots and that people avoid contact with wild animals."

In 1990, the state Department for Health Services laboratory reported that 56 animals tested positive for rabies. Skunks accounted for 63 percent of the positives. Other animals testing positive were nine dogs, four foxes, four bats, three cows and a cat. The requested tests performed by the state detect only a fraction of actual cases statewide.

Compton offers the following guidelines for protecting your family and yourself from potential rabies:

* Avoid contact with wild animals, especially skunks, foxes, bats and raccoons. Wild animals such as raccoons and ferrets should not be kept as pets.

* Vaccinate your dogs and cats against rabies.

* Avoid contact with obviously ill animals and report such animals to animal control officials. The signs of a rabid animal are nervousness, aggressiveness, excessive drooling or salivation and abnormal behavior, such as a wild animal's lack of fear of humans or a nighttime active animal out during the day. However, an animal can appear perfectly normal and still have rabies.

* Report stray animals to animal control officials.

Compton says that if a person is bitten or scratched by any animal — domestic or wild — that certain actions are imperative.

"First, wash the wound thoroughly with soap and water as soon as possible," he said. "Then, contact your physician immediately."

"All animal bites should be reported to the health department so that the animal can be quarantined or submitted for testing," Compton said.

"The physician then can make the determination about whether the bite victim should undergo treatment for rabies. Treatment usually involves five inoculations in the upper arm and one in the buttocks."

For more information about rabies prevention or to report an animal bite, contact the Floyd County Health Department at 886-2788.

Rowe, Vanover are "Spirit of Service"

The "Spirit of Service" award winners at Pikeville Methodist Hospital have been named for April and May. Anna Marie Rowe is April's award winner and Robin Vanover is the recipient for May.

The Spirit of Service award is presented by ARA, which provides nutritional services to Methodist Hospital. The employee is selected on enthusiasm towards the job, ability to work well with others and positive work performance.

Anna Marie Rowe, April's winner, has been an employee of Methodist Hospital Cafeteria for 11 years. Before her association with the hospital, she worked in retail and other restaurants, including her own. Anna says that she loves her job at Methodist and loves working with the staff.

Robin Vanover, May's winner, has been with Methodist for one year. Her main responsibility is delivering trays to the patients. Robin enjoys meeting with the patients and is very enthusiastic about her work at Methodist. A 1978 graduate of Virgie High School, she is married with two daughters, Sara Beth and Kenni-Brooke.

Job Corps gym funded

It was announced Monday the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center has received approval for funding of a gymnasium at the center.

The U.S. Department of Labor has awarded a $514,469 contract to Cravens Construction Company, Inc., of Ashland, according to Senator Mitch McConnell. Cravens Construction was awarded the contract over two years ago when bids for the gym were accepted. Plans for the gym began over three years ago, according to Edna Higginbotham, center director.

"We are hoping to start (on the gym) right away because we have wanted it forever," Higginbotham said. The gym construction project will be funded for nine months from the date of notice to completion.

The gymnasium will be located on the center's parking lot between the male dormitory and the basketball court, Higginbotham said.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Now that the election is over, the political emphasis is shifting from the candidates to the voters or, to be more specific, the non-voters.

An interesting article in Sunday's Courier-Journal shed some new light on an old topic...why people hate to vote. According to the author of the piece, voters are shunning the polls because politicians are building their platforms out of tired old planks and they are avoiding the issues that really concern the public.

The death penalty, for instance, crops up in just about every major state or national campaign when crime is an issue. Invariably, candidates will ignore the real concerns about crime...like the growing incidents involving youths and the increasing numbers of violent crime...and turn debates into a referendum on the death penalty.

We believe, as the C-J article appropriately pointed out, that voters in Floyd County, Kentucky, and the country want candidates who propose real solutions to real problems. They're tired of choosing their leaders on the basis of who will and who won't pee in a jar; who will or who won't tell all about their tax returns; or who will or who won't throw the switch on the electric chair when the need arises.

When candidates begin to talk about what is important and what they intend to do about it, the voters will listen. More importantly, they'll vote.

Next Friday, June 14, is Flag Day.

No doubt the day will be celebrated far and wide as the first "official" tribute to the soldiers of Desert Storm.

Few Americans died during the Persian Gulf War and for that we are thankful. Statistics indicate, in fact, that more coalition soldiers were killed in accidents during the conflict than were killed in combat.

Next Friday, as we salute our victorious troops, let us also remember the 58,000 American soldiers who died in Viet Nam and those who continue to fall victim to that war.

Seventeen years after the fall of Saigon, statistics would indicate that nearly three times the number of soldiers killed in Viet Nam have died...from suicide.

Let's open our eyes, our arms and our hearts to our forgotten heroes and help end their war once and for all.

While we're raining on parades, let's salute the soon-to-be graduates of Floyd County high schools and note that about 40 percent of them will likely have no chance at a career in their home county.

According to a report issued by the Appalachian Civic Leadership Project, "true" unemployment rates in the region are much higher than "official" state counts because state numbers do not include those people who are no longer actively seeking jobs.

In Floyd County, "real" unemployment was estimated at 40.2 percent for 1989 and about four and a half times higher than the state's 8.7 percent figure.

That's disturbing, but not really surprising. The state, after all, only counts those who file for unemployment and does not take into account those whose benefits have expired.

If you translate "real" unemployment into the chance new entries into the workforce have at landing a career opportunity at home, the odds are that four in ten will have to look elsewhere.

Opportunity isn't knocking in Appalachia, it's calling long distance.

The silver lining.

While many young people are forced to leave home to find work, soon fewer will have to leave home to achieve a college degree.

Morehead State University officials announced this week that their plans to develop an extended campus in Prestonsburg were go, and the first students could be enrolled by August.

The extended campus will offer third and fourth-year courses to college students and pick up where PCC leaves off in selected fields...like business administration and elementary education.

The MSU extended campus should be a double dose of good news.

First it will allow area students the opportunity to complete their college educations at home and, secondly, it should attract a number of students to Prestonsburg where their dollars will help boost the local economy.

Maybe some of these bright college grads will bring with them some bright ideas for creating new jobs.

Stay tuned.

What do we have to do here at the David School to stop being called the stereotyped names given in the article in the recent Floyd County Times? I have worked here for eight years and find it hard to deal with those names year after year. Yes, we are like all schools with some students far behind in academics, but we and the students know that we all work hard to overcome this deficiency. We set a standard this year that each of our students must be reading at least at eighth grade level before they could graduate and they all succeeded. The standard will be higher next year. There is no way a person can succeed comfortably in the modern world without being able to read well.

Yes, we are like all schools with a few students who use drugs, and we face the problem. No, we are not like other schools with troublemakers. We have not had a fight on school grounds for years. What school can say that? We stress that we are special and we respect each other as a person and as someone with rights. If you cannot do that, you are asked to leave.

No, we are not like other schools with state and federal funds to pay our teachers a comfortable salary and to equip our school with the latest equipment. We are hopeful that the request of the Floyd County parent group will be heeded and the David School can receive ADA funding like all other schools in Floyd County. We would like to open our advertising for teachers to anyone, but we have to rely on volunteers from all over the United States until we can get some reliable funding.

I am very proud of the students and faculty at the David School. They accomplish so much with so very little. I am proud to be associated with these wonderful people.

We are now accepting applications for students who wish to attend classes at the David School. If you have dropped out of school; if you are behind in academics or if you feel that no matter how hard you try, you can't succeed, please call us and put your name on the list. We will try to give you a second chance if you really want it. If you do not want to try, do not bother applying — we are not miracle workers.

Just having read the Friday edition of your newspaper with its lengthy supplement entitled "Floyd County: Portrait of Home," I am stunned by the very obvious lack of coverage of one of Floyd County's greatest assets, the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre! I scanned the pages first for pictures of past performances, then for a story describing the Theatre's proud traditions. Finding neither, I then read the article about Jenny Wiley State Park and was shocked to discover that Jenny Wiley Theatre, one of the main attractions in that park for 27 years, was not mentioned.

For your information, Jenny Wiley Theatre has been a major factor contributing to the quality of life and economic development of Eastern Kentucky for more than a quarter of a century. In recent years, some 20,000 people per year have attended performances; approximately half were tourists from nearly every county in Kentucky, 35 other states and five foreign countries. Tour buses are a common sight in the Theatre's parking lot; as many groups and organizations make Jenny Wiley Theatre a part of their itineraries. The thousands of dollars spent by individuals traveling to the Theatre either for employment or for entertainment turn over many times in our communities, thus adding to our area's economic growth.

Jenny Wiley Theatre has the distinction of being one of the only outdoor amphitheaters in the country to present Broadway musicals in rotation throughout the summer, enabling both tourists and area residents to see up to four shows within a given week. In addition, the heritage of our area has been dramatized many times at the Theatre with musical productions of The Jenny Wiley Story. In the past few years, Jenny Wiley Theatre has received a number of honors, including the East Kentucky Leadership Conference's Arts Award for 1991; Eastern Kentucky's #1 Tourist Attraction by the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce and the Governor's Arts Award presented to WYMT-TV in 1990 for producing a documentary on the Theatre. The Theatre has received extensive press coverage throughout the years from many other television stations and newspapers, most notably with feature articles in the Lexington Herald-Leader, the Louisville Courier-Journal and even the New York Times.

Of the many talented actors, musicians, singers, dancers, technicians and staff members hired annually through an audition and interview process, a large number are area residents. In 1991, nearly 30 members of the company and crew, about half the total number, will be local. Throughout the 27 years of Jenny Wiley Theatre's existence, hundreds of Eastern Kentucky residents have participated in our Theatre, either on stage or off, and we are now seeing a second generation continuing the tradition. There are also a sizable number of "alumni" of the Theatre who have attained success on Broadway, in movies and on television.

Jenny Wiley Theatre will operate on an annual budget of $340,000 for 1991, of which 42 percent will come from box office receipts, 36 percent from tax-deductible gifts and 22 percent from state and local grants. Gifts to the Theatre are received from many Kentucky counties and other states, from numerous individuals, organizations, businesses and corporations who realize its vital importance to life in Eastern Kentucky. The very competent members of the Board of Trustees representing Floyd and all surrounding counties, donate countless hours and dollars to the Theatre they love!

Yes, we Floyd Countians are proud of our heritage, our progress and "the unique partnerships that make Floyd County a very special place." Let us recognize and applaud recent advancements in cultural and economic development, but not overlook the other assets that have served us so well for so long! Jenny Wiley Theatre is one of those assets!

I'm writing in response to the "David School" article in the recent Weekend Edition of the Floyd County Times. The article communicated a very limited and misleading perspective of what the school is all about and the type of people our students are. As the article pointed out, our students have been and continue to be referred to as "troublemakers, druggies, dummies, retards and delinquents" and sadly enough, our students will continue to be confronted with these stereotypes. However, we, the students and staff, refuse to accept these stereotypes as true.

Yes, as in all schools, we have some students who are disruptive and are not committed, students who are suffering with difficult stressful problems and students who have difficulties in academic skills. This is not uncommon to any school. The uniqueness of this school is found in the desire of the vast majority of our students to do whatever it takes to improve themselves and a dedicated staff to get the job done.

The 10 percent of our students who may behave in a manner that lives up to these stereotypes clouds the 90 percent of our student body who averages 2-3 grade levels of improvement on basic skills in a year's time or who, for the past four years, have been restoring parks, visiting nursing homes and working with children as an act of service for their community. So often, the students have been portrayed as helpless rejects and the school as the "saintly savior." How misleading and tragic! The only helplessness our students feel is in what way they can rid themselves of these stereotypes.

The article is quoted as saying that the school "retrieves" these kids — that is not correct. The school tries to renew hope and it is the students who retrieve a committed desire to better themselves.

My thanks to the people of Floyd County for their strong support in the election.

It is an honor to be the Democratic nominee for secretary of state, just as it has been a privilege to serve as state auditor.

The low turnout confirms the need for new ideas to get voters registered and participating. Motor voter would allow citizens to register to vote when they get their drivers' licenses.

I will work to form a nonprofit, nonpartisan foundation to fund voter education and increase turnout statewide. Ideas from concerned citizens are needed.

As I am reflecting on the past 17 months of my life, I see the faces of the Kentuckians I had the pleasure to meet and work with during my campaign for governor. We all became a family, shared a dream for a better Kentucky and worked long and hard to make it a reality.

I have never worked in a campaign with finer people.

All I can say now is thank you. As inadequate as that sounds, I am truly and eternally grateful to the people who opened their hearts to myself, my wife Margie and my family.

I know that I could travel to any corner of the state and be treated with kindness — just as any of the "Poore family" would be treated if they came to northern Kentucky.

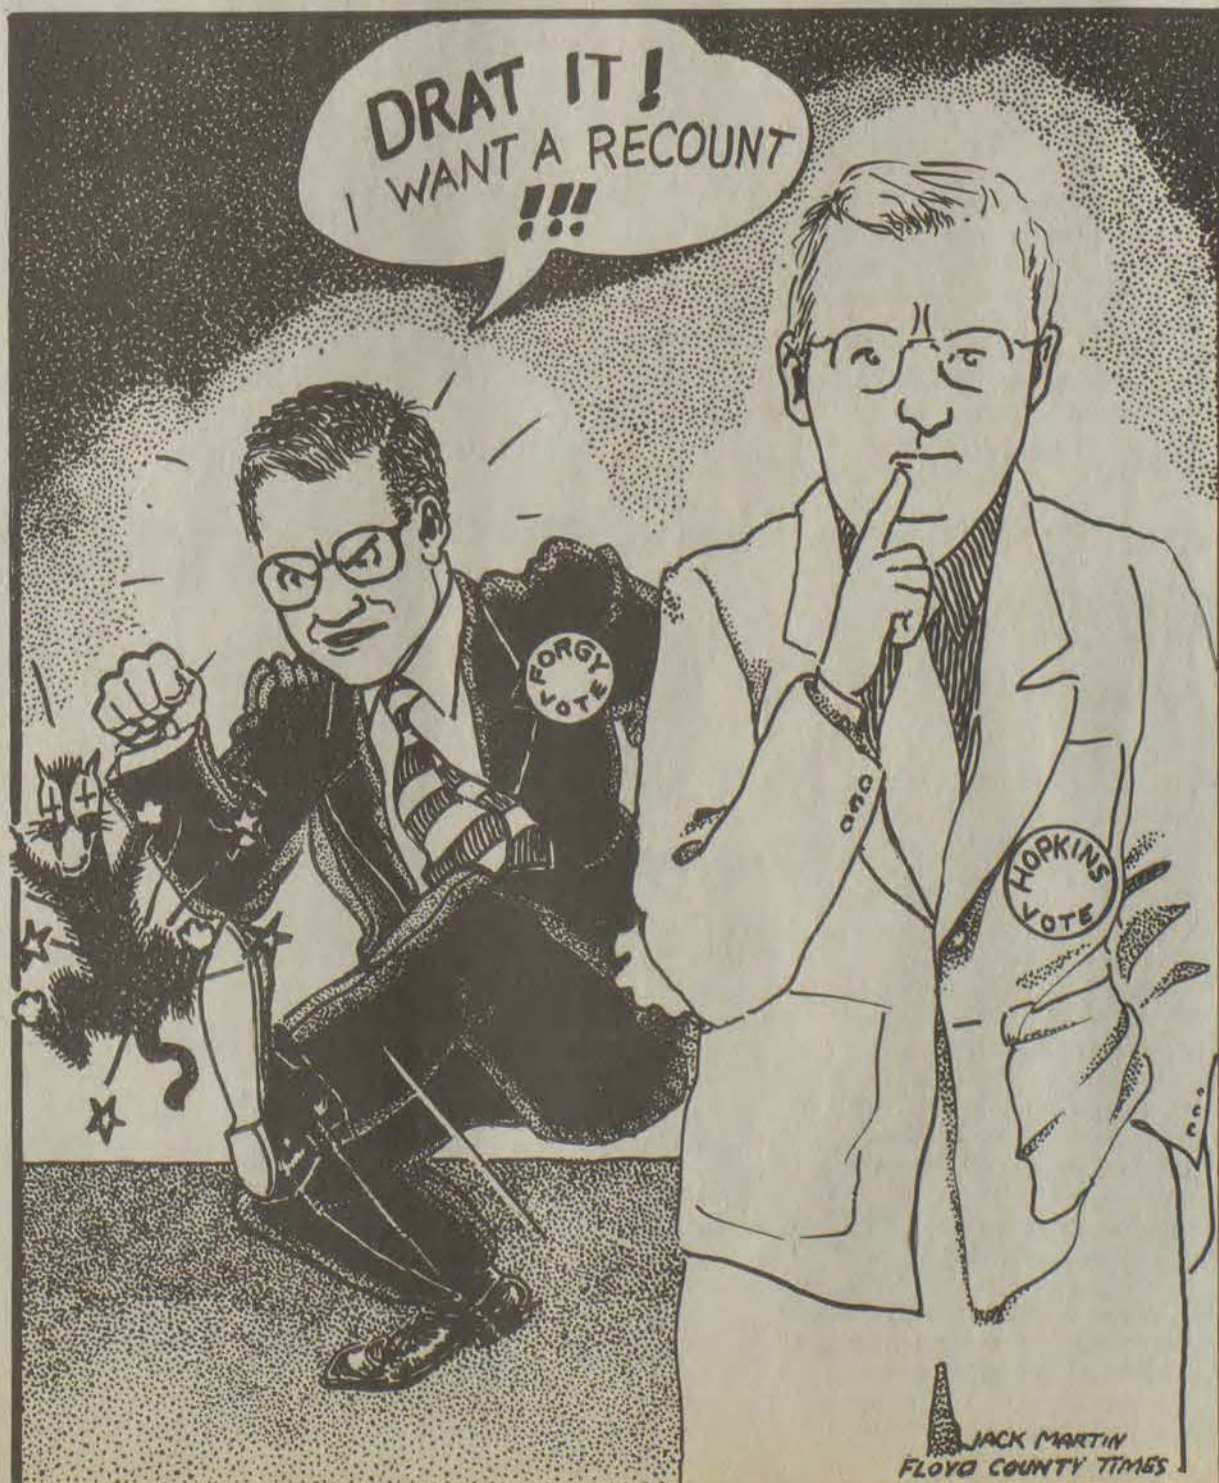

All I ask now is that we stay together and keep our hope.

We all should become aware that each ton of materials recycled prolongs the life of the county landfill. Since landfill sites are scarce in most counties, recycling should be an incentive. Prestonsburg's mayor, Ann Latta, had indicated that the city has, for some time, been in favor of a recycling program. If our county judge-executive, John M. Stumbo, will support this project, then the program can soon become a reality. Let's all become involved.

MCCC celebrates 10th anniversary of support for Jenny Wiley Theatre

Raymond Bradbury, president of Martin County Coal Corporation, Inez, celebrated the 10th anniversary of their significant corporate support of Jenny Wiley Theatre, Prestonsburg, by presenting a check for $10,000 to board member, Nancy Sturgill; Bill Francis, president, board of trustees; and Tedi Vaughan, general manager, of the theatre.

Raymond Bradbury, president, said "Martin County Coal Corporation feels Jenny Wiley Theatre is a great cultural asset to the area and certainly a very great attraction, not only to tourists but to the citizens of the area, and something we should all feel good about."

Martin County Coal Corporation's support of Jenny Wiley Theatre began in 1981 with a gift of $750. In 1982, the movie, "Kentucky Woman," starring Cheryl Ladd was filmed on Martin County Coal's property. The film company appreciated the support and cooperation of Martin County Coal so much, they increased the amount paid for using the movie site from $5,000 to $7,500. Martin County Coal gave the $7,500 to Jenny Wiley Theatre. Bradbury stated the gift this year called special attention to the 10th anniversary of their significant support for the theatre.

Tedi Vaughan, general manager, Jenny Wiley Theatre, said "The continued support of Martin County Coal Corporation has been vital to the existence of the theatre. The arts in America today are kept alive by private support from corporations, businesses and individuals. We are proud our longstanding and generous supporter, Martin County Coal Corporation, is right here in Eastern Kentucky and represents an industry which is the backbone of our economy here. Many thanks to Mr. Bradbury and everyone at MCCC for caring and for their generosity to us."

Long-term care is available in Floyd, Magoffin counties

Long-Term Care Case Management is being offered by the Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources in Floyd and Magoffin Counties. Sponsored by Sen. Benny Ray Bailey (D-Hindman) and enacted by the Kentucky General Assembly, a portion of the Health Care Reform Act of 1990 requires the Cabinet for Human Resources to provide single-entry point, comprehensive case management for long-term care clients receiving Cabinet services.

This service is available to persons living in the community and in nursing homes, regardless of age. The two-year pilot project will help a person who needs long-term care stay at home and live independently as long as possible. The program will also help those who need nursing home services apply for nursing home admission. The program will also help the person return home after a nursing home stay and arrange for the services he or she needs at home.

To be qualified for the program, a person must live in Floyd or Magoffin county, be receiving or applying for a long-term care service provided by the Cabinet and need services for 6 months or longer due to a functional impairment. Functional impairments include, but are not limited to, reduced ability to eat, bathe, dress, keep house, cook, shop and do laundry.

Case managers will help eligible clients apply for the service they need to stay at home or help them enter the long-term care system and obtain the services they need.

More information about the program can be received by calling Mrs. Marcy Martin with the Big Sandy Area Development District office at 886-2375 or toll free 1-800-866-1086.

Two Prestonsburg students awarded scholarships to UK

William Bradford Barker

Two students from Prestonsburg Community College, William Bradford Barker and Ibourahima Fofana, have been awarded academic achievement scholarships to attend the University of Kentucky.

Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Barker, Stanville, is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School. He received a Community College/Transfer scholarship, a one-year award valued at $1,000.

Ibourahima Fofana

Fofana, of Prestonsburg, received a Distinguished Community College scholarship, a two-year award for in-state tuition costs (about $1,850 per year).

"UK now awards more than $2 million a year in scholarships based on merit," said UK President Charles T. Wethington, Jr.

"This year's scholarship winners were selected from almost 750 of the best students applying for scholarships this fall," he said.

Nurses begin orientation at Paul B. Hall

Eight newly graduated nurses began their careers and their orientation this week at Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center, Paintsville.

The freshly capped RNA's (Registered Nurse Applicants) are Debra Burchett, a graduate of Johnson Central High School and a Dean's List student at Prestonsburg Community College; Kathy Belhasen, a Virgie High School graduate who received her Associate Degree at PCC with High Honors; Sharon Endicott of Inez, a graduate of Sheldon Clark

High School; Rhonda Patrick, Paintsville High School graduate nominated for recognition in Who's Who in American Junior Colleges; Teresia Marcum, a Sheldon Clark graduate and Who's Who; Johnson Central graduate Elisha Taylor, who received her degree at PCC with High Distinction, on the Dean's List and Who's Who; Lisa Jervis, a Prestonsburg High School graduate and Traci Little, another Who's Who nominee from Knott County Central High.

Belhasen, Marcum and Endicott have been assigned to the Medical-Surgical Department; Burchett and Little will begin their employment in Critical Care; Jervis and Patrick are starting in Obstetrics/Gynecology and Elisha Taylor will be in the Emergency Room. Each began regular shift work following a week's orientation at Paul B. Hall.

Area residents receive UK medical degrees

Several local residents were among the degree recipients at the University of Kentucky Medical School commencement exercises on May 5.

Rhonda S. Adams Conn and Linda Wells, both of Prestonsburg, received BSN degrees from the UK College of Nursing. The two were among 116 members of the 30th graduating class.

Conn was a member of the Sigma Theta Tau national nursing honor society and is the daughter of Ronald and Jean Adams of Prestonsburg.

Wells is the daughter of Eugene and Ollie Wells of Prestonsburg. She plans to begin working in the coronary care unit at UK Hospital.

Three local members of the 121st graduating class of the UK College of Pharmacy, Steven G. Dawson of Hi Hat, Kim M. Rowe of Shelbiana and Brigitte Music of East Point, all received bachelor of science degrees.

Dawson is the son of Danny R. and Glenda Gaye Dawson of Hi Hat. He will begin work for Lackey Pharmacy.

Rowe is the daughter of Lloyd Johnson of Prestonsburg and Jo C. Comer of East Sodus, New York. She is the wife of Billy Rowe. She will begin work at Kroger Pharmacy.

Music is the daughter of Bob and Greta Music of East Point. She was on the Dean's List.

HRMC is clinical practice site

During the 1990-91 school year, Highlands pharmacy department became involved with the University of Kentucky's College of Pharmacy and the Southeast Kentucky Area Health Education Center in Hazard to develop the Floyd, Pike and Johnson county areas as clinical practice sites for pharmacy students. For many years, the area had been excluded from externships because there was no voluntary faculty member available to supervise and schedule their rotations. Tom McIntire, Director of Pharmacy at Highlands, agreed in October 1989 to assume the position of field professor for the three-county area and establish sites and preceptors to help with the clinical training of extern pharmacy students. Nine sites in the area were approached and certified as practice locations for the 1990-91 school year involving eleven area pharmacists.

The pharmacists and pharmacies placing students this year were Lee Carter, Highlands Regional Medical Center; Steve Cummings, Highlands Regional Medical Center; Harold Cooley, Cooley's Apothecary; Eric Herrin, Rite Aid of Prestonsburg; Mike Lusk, Betsy Layne Pharmacy and Teresa Leslie, Archer Clinic Pharmacy.

Other approved sites to be utilized in the future include Lackey Pharmacy, Wheelwright Clinic Pharmacy, Rite Aid of Martin, Our Lady of the Way Hospital, and Cooley's Apothecary Nursing Home Division.

Unemployment Statistics Steady

According to the Cabinet for Human Resources, unemployment remained steady in Eastern Kentucky, as well as throughout the state in the month of March.

In March, the state unemployment rate remained the same as in February at 7.5 percent. In Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin Counties, the four counties served by the Prestonsburg Local Office of the Cabinet For Human Resources, the unemployment rate declined slightly from 9.9 to 9.8 percent.

In individual county statistics, the rate dropped in Johnson County from 9.8 to 9.4 percent and in Martin County from 8.0 to 7.6 percent. The rate remained constant in Floyd County at 8.6 percent and rose slightly in Magoffin from 17.1 to 17.2 percent.

A MESSAGE FROM JUDGE HARRIS S. HOWARD

To The People of Floyd County:

I want to express my sincere thanks to all of my supporters for their help in the May 28, 1991, primary. It is very gratifying that the people in my home county who know me best gave me such a great margin of victory over my opponent.

The Seventh Judicial District takes in twenty-one (21) counties from Harlan to Greenup to Montgomery and, as a result, I have not been able to meet with each of you personally. However, I deeply appreciate your efforts. For those of you who could not support me in the primary, I hope that you will take another look at my record and experience and reconsider for the November election.

Kindest regards.

Harris S. Howard

Commodities to be distributed

The Big Sandy Area Community Action Program Inc. will begin distributing USDA Commodities on Thursday, June 6, from 8 a.m.-4 p.m., or until all commodities are gone. Distribution will continue the following day at the Community Action Office during the same hours or until the supply is gone.

Thursday's distribution locations are the Senior Citizens' Center, Wheelwright; Mud Creek Clinic, Grethel and the Swimming Pool Building, Convention Center, at Allen Park.

Commodities to be issued are applesauce, V. beans, cheese, cornmeal, flour, honey and pork.

Persons will be limited to picking up commodities for themselves and two other households. All persons picking up commodities for another household must have the following information before commodities will be released to them: the Social Security Card, driver's license or a Medicare card for the person the commodities are being picked up for and a signed, dated note from the person giving permission for you to pick up their commodities. This note must also include the number in the household, total household income for the previous month and complete address. There will be no exceptions.

It would be helpful to bring a paper bag or some other container to carry the commodities.

Francis, Greer to head consumer services

Larry E. Francis

Gary E. Greer

R.T. Daniel, president of Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, recently announced changes in the company's Field Services Division.

Larry E. Francis has been named manager of Field Services and will have responsibility for the company's field accounting division including the 4300 residential customers of Equitable Gas. Gary E. Greer has been named Supervisor-Field Services and Corrosion. He will have responsibility in the area of consumer affairs and Public Service Commission and Federal Energy Regulatory Commission matters in addition to overseeing the corrosion prevention and design of the Company's pipeline system.

Francis began working with the company in 1973 and held various positions within the Production Department before being named administrator of Personnel Services in 1982. He is a member of the National Management Association and James W. Alley Lodge No. 869

F&AM. He served with the U.S. Army in Germany and holds a MBA from Morehead State University. Francis and his wife Neva reside at Garrett with their two sons, Travis and Austin.

Greer began his career in Kentucky West's Geology Department in 1967. Since 1970 he has been involved with the company's corrosion-prevention program. He is a member of the Kentucky Gas Association Education and Public Pipeline Committees, the Kentucky Society of Petroleum Engineers, and the National Management Association. Greer is also a member of the East Point Development Club. He and his wife Judy reside at East Point and are the parents of two daughters.

Kentucky West Virginia Gas is an interstate natural gas pipeline company founded in 1926. In addition to its interstate customers, Kentucky West sells and transports natural gas to various towns, local distribution companies, and residential consumers in Eastern Kentucky.

"Fun and Games" to sign off

"Fun and Games," the Kentucky Lottery's award-winning half-hour game show, will sign off the air June 30 following a successful run on regional television.

Kentucky Lottery Corporation President Jim Hosker says the "difficult" decision not to renew the game show's TV contract was "in keeping with our long term marketing objectives. In the lottery business, no game lasts forever. We are constantly retiring games and introducing others. 'Fun and Games' has done wonders to enhance the image of the lottery statewide. This is a marketing decision; not an economic one."

In just under a year and a half, "Fun and Games" has given away more than $2.1 million in cash and prizes to Kentucky Lottery players and retailers. The show has received critical praise and has been honored as an award winner by the lottery industry. It is also among the highest rated lottery programs in the nation.

"Fun and Games" is produced in Louisville before a live studio audience by WHAS-TV. The program airs statewide on ten television stations each weekend.

Hindman Settlement School to expand dyslexia program

Hindman Settlement School has been awarded a $15,000 grant to expand its scholarship program for area students with dyslexia. The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC), an economic development agency for Appalachian areas, approved the school's application and arranged for the grant, said Congressman Chris Perkins.

The $15,000 grant will allow the school to offer about 20 scholarships to eligible students, Perkins said.

"Dyslexia is perhaps the least understood of learning disabilities affecting young children today. But the good news is that with proper help, it can be corrected. That's why what the Hindman Settlement School does to help these children deserves our admiration and our praise. They're in the business of putting these chil-

Roofless winds

Weekend storm damage was light compared to the high winds which ripped through Floyd County in April, but some residents experienced more destruction this time. After the storm Sunday night, this barn on Cliff Road owned by Lida George was minus a roof and her garden had gained some aluminum sheets. Some of the roof pieces were blown as far as 100 yards away missing George's house by about 30 feet. (photo by Tess Whitmer)

National Hospice organization president addresses annual Hospice meeting

Jay Mahoney, president of the National Hospice Organization, addressed representatives of hospices throughout the state of Kentucky at the annual spring meeting of the Kentucky Association of Hospices Friday, May 10, at the Radisson Hotel in Lexington.

Mahoney, focused on issues of particular interest to Kentucky programs. As hospice care for terminally ill patients and their families becomes more accepted and widely used, as it has in the twelve years of hospice in Kentucky, hospice programs must remain committed to their first mission, Mahoney said. This mission, as Mahoney noted, is to continue to be recognized as the experts in the field of quality care for the dying and their families. The NHO president pointed out that rural care issues, those which most affect Kentucky programs, are being studied by an NHO task force. Mahoney said he hoped the task force report will focus on such issues as recognizing the fact that rural programs, such as Hospice of Big Sandy, offer exactly the same level of service offered by urban programs, such as Hospice of Louisville, but under much greater difficulties. Issues such as nursing staff, social services personnel and difficulty in reaching many of the terminally ill who need hospice should be part of the NHO task force report.

In his closing remarks, Mahoney took time to note that Kentucky hospices are making a name for themselves on the national hospice scene. The Kentucky Association of Hospices has been recognized at the national level for being a state organization with the unique perspective of keeping all Kentucky hospices united toward the same goal. Kentucky is the only state with 100% of its hospice programs either already certified as Medicare providers or working toward that goal.

According to Mahoney, that dedication and commitment are working. Recently a delegation from the Kansas Hospice Association visited the Hospice of Hope in Maysville to spend two days learning how Kentucky makes its programs work. Included on the panel of Kentucky directors answering the Kansans questions was Chris Conley, executive director of Hospice of Big Sandy. In her remarks, Conley told this group that if programs like hers, which are in the most rural part of eastern Kentucky, can continue to provide care to the terminally ill in all parts of four counties despite concerns of access and finance, then the Kansans could do the same.

Mayo student among state vocational tech finalists

A student from Mayo State Vocational School is among the finalists for outstanding teacher and student who will be honored at the Kentucky Vocational Technical Education Tenth Annual Awards and Recognition Program. The ceremony will begin at 1 p.m. in the Farnham Dugden Civic Center in Frankfort.

Jimmy Lee Bevins, a student at Mayo, is a finalist in the Civil and Highway Technology category. Twelve finalists were selected for the Outstanding Student honor.

Also honored at the ceremony will be Mary Ellen Webb who represent Mayo as a state finalist in the category of Methods of Instruction (computer literacy); Donna C. Casady, Martin County Area Vocational Educational Center, a finalist for Outstanding teacher; and W. Walton Hitch, manager of employee development at Wayne Supply Company for the company's donations to Mayo.

Those being honored at the awards ceremony were formally nominated in their vocational technical region. Regional nominations, accompanied by supporting materials and endorsements were screened at state level.

Outstanding students to be honored were selected from approximately 15,000 students in 17 state vocational technical schools, five health facilities and one advanced technology center. The outstanding teacher and outstanding staff were chosen from among the nearly 4,000 employees of the Kentucky TECH System.

Martin artist in national show

May has been a busy month for Iris Caudill, Martin artist. Her watercolor painting, Bonnie Blue Flag, was juried into the NPVAG National Juried Exhibit in Schottsbluff, Nebraska. Poppy Patch, an oil monotype, and Alpha-Omega, a paper relief, were juried into the Cardinal Valley Show in Ashland. Six of her works were included in the Artists Who Survived The Paintsville Art League in the Prestonsburg Community College Gallery. She received two first place ribbons, one second place, two third places and one honorable mention at the Anna Robinson Memorial Exhibit in Grayson for her watercolor and oil pictures.

Mrs. Caudill is affiliated with the Kentucky Watercolor Society, the Georgia Watercolor Society as an exhibiting member, the Lexington Art League and the Paintsville Art League. She is locally represented by Hall of Frames in Prestonsburg.

Prestonsburg sailor serving with pride, the world wide

by Rick Collins
Contributing Writer

After spending more than 10 months at sea participating in Operation Desert Shield and Desert Storm, the USS Okinawa arrived home on April 17. The amphibious assault ship was part of the largest amphibious force assembled since Korea.

Mark A. McKenzie, the 28 year-old son of Byrdus and Ann McKenzie of Prestonsburg, was one of more than 1,800 sailors and Marines embarked aboard the Okinawa who received a hero's welcome by thousands of family, friends and jubilant San Diegans.

The role Okinawa played in the Gulf war had many facets, according to its crew. "The Okinawa's mission included conducting island raids with the Marines, helping to evacuate P.O.W.'s, and conducting minesweeping operations in the Gulf," said McKenzie, a 1981 graduate of Prestonsburg High School.

"As a radioman, I deal with the ship's communications. I take in all incoming and outgoing electronic messages and process them to the correct people," said McKenzie, a petty officer second class.

The Okinawa left San Diego June 20, 1990, with Amphibious Ready Group Alpha. The crew expected to be away for a routine six-month Western Pacific deployment, with port calls in the Philippines, Japan, Australia and Korea.

But, the Iraqi dictator Saddam Hussein, along with his then-powerful military machine, stepped in and invaded his tiny southern neighbor, Kuwait, on August 2.

After entering the region on September 5, the Okinawa was involved in three major amphibious exercises on the Saudi Arabian peninsula. They also supported the interception of three Iraqi merchant ships trying to breach the United Nations-imposed economic blockade of Iraq.

Shortly after November 10, the President ordered the Okinawa to proceed to Subic Bay in the Philippines. After sailing for 92 days, the Okinawa arrived there for a short upkeep period and awaited further orders.

With economic sanctions in place and the U.N. deadline for use of force drawing near, Okinawa was ordered to redeploy to the Gulf. The air war began on January 16.

"Standing watches for 12 hours on and 12 hours off really wears you down. It was very challenging," McKenzie said.

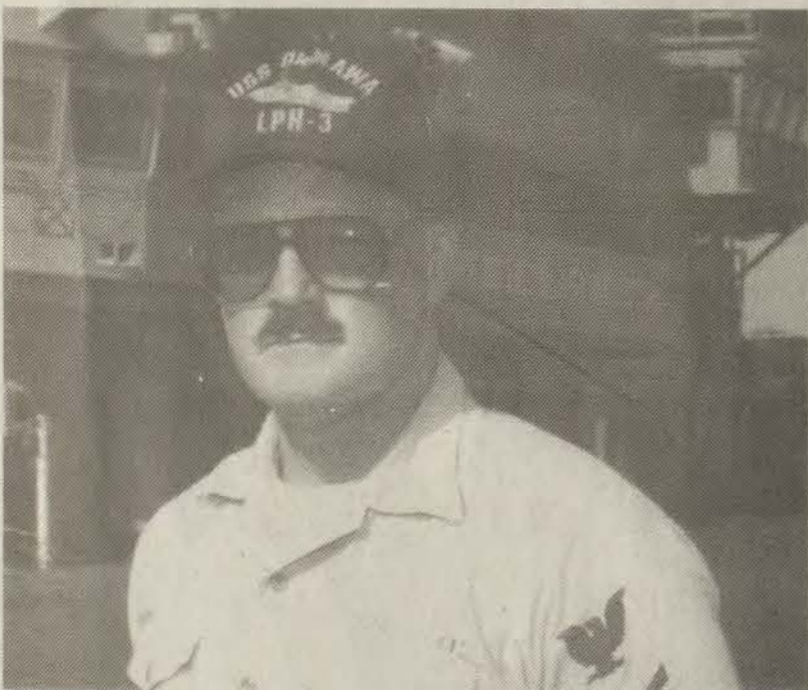

Okinawa's first war mission was to reclaim several small Kuwaiti islands. They accomplished it with little resistance from Iraqi occupiers on January 29, marking the first Kuwaiti soil liberated by allied forces.

In February, the ground war commenced and the Okinawa was part of what became one of the most elaborate deception campaigns in modern military history. Okinawa's mission, along with various other allied amphibious warships, was to tie down up to 11 Iraqi divisions deployed on Kuwait's coastline.

The Okinawa group conducted a series of "feint" assault maneuvers to keep the enemy on the beaches as the main allied forces pushed into Iraq and Kuwait.

Finally, while Iraqi troops were surrendering in droves, Okinawa was directed to reclaim Faylaka Island, the last Iraqi stronghold offshore. After sailing through a narrow mine-swept channel, the Okinawa's Marines accepted an Iraqi surrender and took 1,400 prisoners of war.

After arriving home, all the crewmembers said that they were glad to be back. "The Floyd County Times and the people back home really showed me a lot of support. I heard from family and friends, former school teachers, girlfriends and people I didn't really know. I take my hat off to all and say thanks and God bless," said McKenzie.

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

SCHOOL'S ALMOST OUT AND ALL-STAR TIME'S APPROACHING

Nine more days and school will be out for the summer and it will be time to pick the All-Star teams in our summer leagues around the county. The Little League, Senior League and Babe Ruth League will all have All-Star teams that will compete in tournaments around the state.

It is always a fun time for some of the teams as they go to different parts of the state to face other teams. The Beaver Creek, Harold-Allen-Prater and Prestonsburg Little Leagues will have All-Star teams. My understanding is that the tournament will be held at Archer Park this year with teams from other counties coming to compete.

The Floyd County Babe Ruth League will have three All-Star teams — 15, 14, and 13 year olds. The 13 year old tournament will be held at the Allen Park.

Prestonsburg Senior League will field a All-Star team this season and will once again go to Paintsville to compete.

It is a hard thing for directors and coaches to pick the players that make up the all-star teams. Sometimes players are left off that may deserve to be on the team. Feelings are hurt and parents get upset. The blame goes to the coaches and they are put on the spot. It's not an easy thing to do! Each league wants to field the best team possible and go as far as they can in the tournament.

I would like to see all the Little Leagues, and we have three leagues in the county, get together and have one super All-Star team. The players could be selected on a try-out basis and not popularity. If the best 15 players in the county were taken, think of what a team could be assembled.

A team of this sort would have an excellent chance of advancing in competition. Now, I have mentioned this to others and the reaction was "the three leagues couldn't agree on things and the parents wouldn't approve of it." That's a shame that coaches and parents from each league cannot work together for the betterment of the kids. The players are the ones that matter. The game is for them, not the parents or coaches.

After one super all-star team has been formed with the best 15 players in the county, other teams could be organized from the other players. Paintsville, Martin County and Morgan County do this. They each have one team and it's usually a very competitive one.

The Floyd County Babe Ruth League operates differently because of the three different age groups. The league fields a 13 year old team, 14 year old team and a 15 year old team. That way, they compete against their age groups. The Prestonsburg Senior League operates much the same way in breaking down the age groups.

One other league, the American Amateur League, which is a form of Little League but with different rules, has an All-Star team of the smaller and younger players that compete in All-Star tournaments. Wayland has such a team and is doing very well in the Hindman League. The Pee Wee Leagues around the county do not have All-Star teams that play elsewhere. Pee Wee Leagues in Harold, Mud Creek, McDowell, Martin and Prestonsburg could have their own All-Star team (chosen from their own league) and hold a tournament between the five teams to determine a county champion. It would be fun and very exciting for the kids as well as for mom and dad.

Well, when it all takes place I will be there somewhere. Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports — it fits well.

Drops 4-2 decision..

Bellemy Looks Sharp, But Pirates Tumble To Martin Braves, Jenkins

Tim Bellemy experienced only one rough inning and it cost him. He gave up a triple to Travis Johnson with runners on the corners and dropped a 4-2 decision to the Martin Braves in a well-played Little League game at Martin.

Bellemy surrendered a single run to the Braves in the first inning to fall behind 1-0. He allowed the Braves but three hits before he left in the fourth inning for Gary Hunter.

Thomas Jenkins came away the winner as he fanned nine Pirate batters in picking up the win. Jenkins experienced some control difficulties — walking eight batters. The pitcher's best friend — a double play — ended the game in the sixth when Garrett had scored one run and had a runner on first base with one out.

Martin pushed across the two runs on a one out walk to Desmond Spencer. Spencer advanced to second on a wild pitch by Bellemy and Braves lead off batter Phillip Holbrook worked Bellemy for a walk. Johnson then lined a shot to center-field that eluded the centerfielder and rolled to the fence for a triple. On the play on Johnson at third base, the ball was overthrown and Johnson trotted home with the third run of the inning and a 4-1 Braves lead.

Martin scored in the first inning when Holbrook lead off the game with a double. He scored on Beau Tackett's ground out to second base.

Garrett had a first inning threat, but Jenkins bowed his neck and fanned the side. With one out, Hunter singled and Kyle Turner walked with both runners moving up on a wild pitch. However, Jenkins struck out Alan Hicks and Michael Park to end the inning.

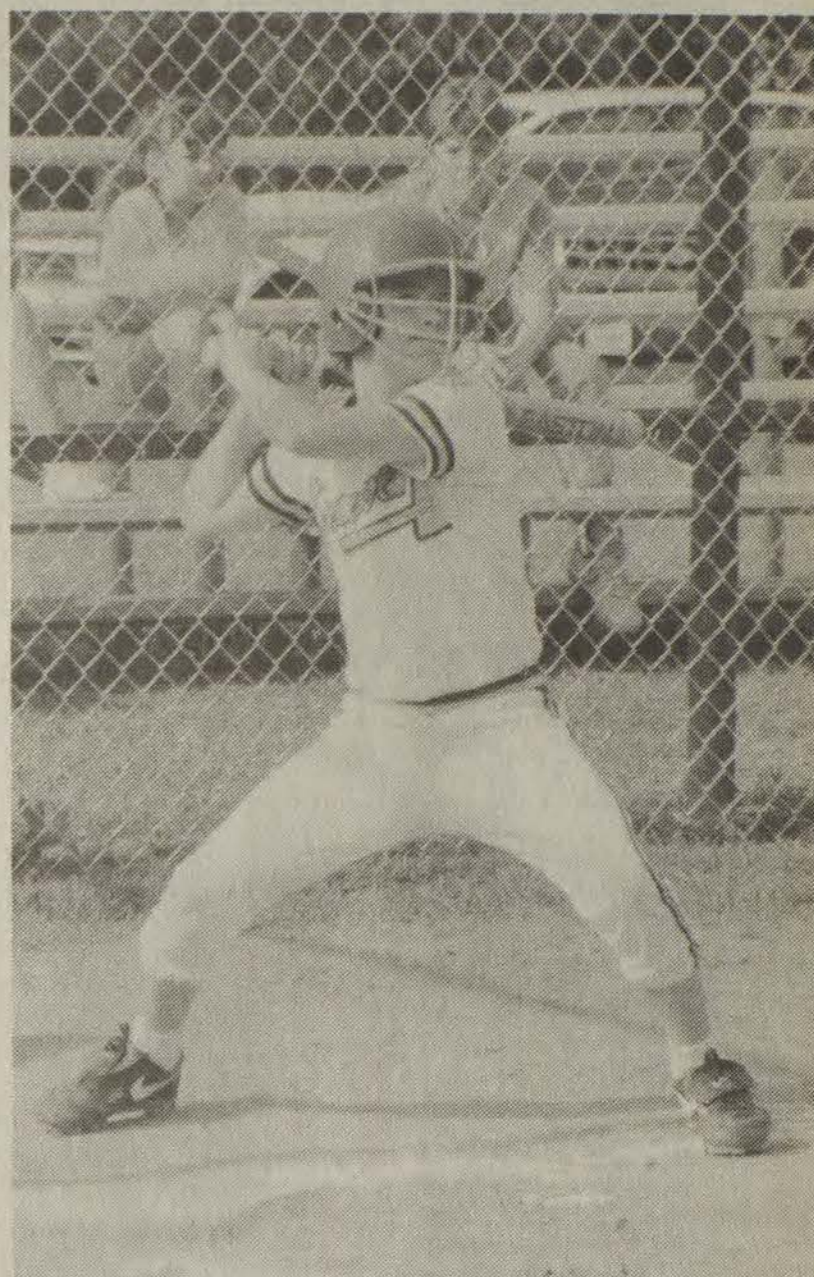

Garrett scored their first run in the fourth inning. Hicks walked but was cut down at second base by Holbrook in a steal attempt. Parks popped out to Tackett at shortstop. With two out, Jenkins issued back-to-back walks to Bellemy and Donnie Owens. Bellemy stole second, third and, eventually, home against a sleeping Braves infield.

The Braves put their lead off man, Chris Cornette, on base when he singled. Cornette moved to second on a wild pitch and advanced to third on a passed ball. Bellemy got tough and struck out the next three Braves batters to end the Braves threat.

In the Pirates sixth, Turner singled up the middle to lead off the inning. He stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Parks singled to right center to score Turner. Bellemy then grounded into a 4-6-3 double play to end the game.

Jenkins, in picking up the win, gave up two runs (both earned) on three hits. He struck out nine batters and walked eight.

Bellemy picked up the loss in working three innings. He had five strikeouts and issued three walks. He yielded four runs on just three hits. Hunter came on in relief and went the final three innings. Hunter had five strike outs and he walked no one. He gave up no runs on just one hit and he issued no walks.

Johnson was credited with the game winning RBI.

Martin left only two men on base and Garrett stranded seven. Both teams played errorless baseball.

Martin will face the Garrett Cubs Monday at Garrett at 5:30 p.m. The Pirates will face the Cubs this Friday at Garrett at 5:30 p.m.

Kenny Crum Places Seventh In State In Shot Put Action

One of the bright spots and pleasant surprises for the Allen Central track and field team was the showing by junior Kenny Crum during the season. Crum has steadily improved in the shot put in each meet he has thrown in.

At the regional meet, Crum placed second and in sectional competition, he also placed second, earning him the opportunity to advance to the state finals.

In Lexington, Crum placed seventh overall with a toss of over 41 feet. That is quite an accomplishment for the first-year shot put thrower.

Crum will be returning next season to the Rebels' track and field program and there are many who think that he will be one of the top contenders next season.

While the Rebels lost a lot of talent from this year's team, there will still be a lot of young talent returning next season, and Crum is one of them. Coach Dewey Jamerson feels that now Crum has a year of competition under his belt that he will know more of what to expect next year, and by working out this summer, when the program resumes next spring, Crum will be very competitive.

"Kenny could go a long way next season for us," said Forrest Hughes, who assists Coach Jamerson with the program. "He certainly had a good first year, and next year should be even better for him."

"Kenny has worked hard all year to get where he is now," said Coach Jamerson. "He has a desire to do good and it shows in his competitive ability."

Crum, a quiet competitor, has the ability to be a shot put contender, not just on the local and regional level, but state competition as well. While seventh in the state is not first, with Kenny Crum it is just a start.

Hackworth K's 16 As Rangers Defeat A's 7-1: Totals 74

Jason Hackworth continues to throw hard and cause problems for some batters in the Prestonsburg Little League. Hackworth struck out 16 batters as the Rangers posted a 7-1 victory over the Athletics at Archer

Park on Friday evening. The 16 K's give Hackworth 74 in 30 innings of work this season. Hackworth faced only three batters over the minimum

Newsome Tosses Three-Hitter In 10-0 Shutout Of Maytown

Derrick Newsome was a hard out at the plate for Maytown, but he was even harder on the mound as he limited Maytown to just three hits enroute to a 10-0 whitewashing in the Floyd County Babe Ruth Parent League. Newsome had two hits in the game, driving in two runs.

Betsy Layne scored six runs in the fourth inning for the 10-0 lead. The game was called because of the mercy rule in Babe Ruth baseball.

Toby Newsome got the Betsy Layne fourth underway with a ringing double. Greg Hunter scored Newsome with an RBI single. Derrick Newsome kept the hit parade going with his second hit of the game and a run batted in. Chris Potter, who was perfect at the plate in three at bats, doubled home Hunter and Barry Collins walked to load the bases. Shannon Newsome quickly unloaded them with a line drive base hit scoring Newsome and Potter. After Barry Clark flied to left for the first out, Mark Reed doubled home a run.

Derrick Newsome scored a run for Betsy Layne in the first for a 1-0 lead. Newsome singled and scored on Potter's base hit. Betsy Layne scored again in the second inning. With one out, Brian Hunter tripled and scored on an error at shortstop off of the bat of Greg Hunter.

The score was 4-0 after the third inning when Betsy Layne scored twice. Potter tripled leading off and scored on a two-out triple by Clark. Clark scored on Reed's first of two doubles.

Maytown put two runners on in the first inning when they collected two of their three hits. Risner and Blackburn got back-to-back singles against Newsome before Halbert grounded to second to end the inning. Maytown's only other hit came in the fourth when when Martin singled with two out.

Newsome never retired the side in order as he allowed a base runner in each of the five innings he pitched. He fanned six batters while issuing three walks in picking up the win.

Martin suffered the loss for Maytown striking out one and walking two. Martin gave up 10 runs on 14 hits. Betsy Layne stranded six runners while Maytown left three on base.

Betsy Layne will face Wayland at 5:30 p.m. tonight and Maytown will play McDowell Friday at 5:30 p.m.

The school's football, basketball and baseball players will be recognized at the banquet. The festivities get underway at 5 p.m. with dinner. The awards presentations will begin at 7 p.m.

Speaker at this years banquet will be former Allen Central student Kenny Rice. Rice is Sports Director for WTQ-TV, Channel 36, in Lexington. He has also done work for ESPN and other sports affiliates.

BL Blue Jays Sweep Two; Defeat Maytown and McDowell, 13-8, 15-2

Safe or out?

The Betsy Layne Blue Jays had a good afternoon Sunday as they swept a doubleheader from Maytown and McDowell in the Floyd County Babe Ruth Prep League. The Blue Jays handled Maytown 13-8 in the first game and rolled past McDowell 15-2 in the nightcap.

In the first game, Betsy Layne scored five times in the seventh inning to break open an otherwise close game. The Blue Jays held a slim 8-7 lead going into the inning. Shana Clark lead off with a single and scored on Jonathan Scarberry's triple. After Brian Pugh fanned, Phillip Reed doubled home Scarberry. Willie Meade walked and Mark Tackett struck out. Nick Newsome then lined a double that scored Meade and Tackett. Newsome came around to score on Marcus Hamilton's triple to give Betsy Layne a 13-7 lead.

Maytown scored their final run in the bottom of the seventh. With one out, Charles Twiss walked and scored on Osborne's base hit.

Betsy Layne took an early 2-0 lead in the first inning on an error at second base and Mark Tackett's double. Tackett scored on a wild pitch.

Maytown came back in their half of the first to tie the game at 2-2. Twiss singled leading off the inning and Charles Maggard drew a one-out walk. After Osborne fanned, Hunter reached on an error to load the bases. Nick Halbert and R.C. Duff drew back-to-back two-out walks off Betsy Layne starter Jonathan Scarberry, forcing home the two runs.

Betsy Layne took a 3-2 and 4-2 lead with single runs in the second and third innings. In the second, Pugh was hit by a pitch after two were out. Reed reached on an error at second and Pugh scored on Meade's base hit. Betsy Layne scored an unearned run in the third inning when Tackett crossed the plate after reaching on Hunter's miscue at first base.

A three-run fourth made it a 7-2 game, the big blow being Meade's two run triple scoring Pugh and Reed. Meade scored on a ground out to short.

Maytown made it 7-5 with three of their own in the Maytown fifth. Maggard reached on an error, Hunter drew a one-out walk and Halbert singled home Maggard. Scarberry plunked Duff with a pitch and after Caudill flied out to left, Martin singled home two runs.

After Betsy Layne made it 8-5 with a run in the top of the sixth, Maytown scored two more times in the bottom of the sixth for a 8-7 game. Maggard had a lead off single and Halbert drew a two-out walk. Both runners scored on an error at shortstop when the ball eluded the outfield and both runners were able to score.

Scarberry was the winning pitcher in game one. Scarberry had seven strike outs and walked eight. He went the distance allowing all eight runs on seven hits.

Martin suffered the loss for Maytown, working four innings. Martin struck out one batter and walked two.

Against McDowell, Rocky Newsome went the distance for the Blue Jays as Betsy Layne posted a 15-2 win and handed McDowell their first loss of the season in the Prep League. Betsy Layne scored six times in the third inning and five runs in the fourth to mercy the McDowell club.

Marcus Hamilton carried a big bat for the Blue Jays with two hits and four runs batted in. Hamilton had two RBIs in both the third and fourth innings. Willie Meade collected two hits and picked up two RBIs in the game. Meade singled in the second and third innings.

Wes Frasure doubled in the fourth inning scoring Shawn Rose and Newsome. Frasure singled home a run in the Blue Jays four-run second.

Roberts Wins Festival Of FACES 5K Run; Places 13th In Roadrace

Paintsville's Rick Roberts won last weekend's Festival of FACES 5K run in Prestonsburg with a time of 16:45 and Debbie Biddle won the women's division with a 18:39. Biddle, a three-time winner of the race, placed fifth overall in the run.

Ken Catron of Winchester was second overall with a 17:00 and Rick Cope of Cumberland came in third at 17:17. Estill's Fred Ridener was a close fourth at 18:33. Ridener placed first in the 20-24 age group.

Kathleen Martin of Leburn finished second in the women's division with a 22:02 and finished 18th overall. She was first in the women's 20-24 age group. Jamie Ratcliff, an eighth grader at Betsy Layne Elementary, was third with a 23:47. Ratcliff placed first in her age group of 14 and under. She was 29th overall in the race.

Marvin McFaddin of Paintsville, placed first in the 56 and over group with a time of 18:58. Joe McGuire of Mud Creek came in with a time of 20:24 to take first place for the 15-19 year olds.

Other first place finisher's include Charlotte Frazier of Salyersville in the 35-39 age group at 25:40; Mary Cawood of East Point, 30-34 age group at 26:43.

David Wright of Paintsville finished seventh overall with a time of 19:11. The time was good for second place in the 35-39 age group. Tim Shepherd of Auxier ran a 21:49 for 17th position and Don Howard of East Point came in 19th at 22:02. Anthony Mounts and Rob Schissler, both of Prestonsburg, crossed the finish line at 22:51. Mounts placed third in the 30-34 group, while Schissler was second in the 40-44 group.

Mark Tuttle of West Van Lear was one second faster than Lynn Partington of Prestonsburg. Tuttle placed 25th overall with a recorded time of 23:24, and Partington crossed the line at 23:25. Both finished third in their age groups.

Kim Hopkins of Prestonsburg finished second to Ratcliff in the 14 and under group with a posted time of 31:42. Kalani Cawood of East Point was also timed at 31:42. Two other runners posted the same time, Debbie Hopkins of Prestonsburg and Green B. Cawood of East Point.

Roberts took part in the Hardee's Richmond Roadrace 5K run at Richmond on May 27. He finished 13th out of the 222 racers who entered the race. Roberts finished with a time of 18:04, 10 seconds short of an award's time.

Matt Zwisky, 40, won the hilly event with 9 a.m. temperatures in the low 80s range and high humidity. Lance Daniels of Van Lear finished 43rd overall in 23:04—his first road race. Wendy Saterlee won the women's title in 18:34.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Fishing activity over the June 1-2 weekend was moderate to heavy on most of the major lakes. Water temperatures ranged from 78-85 degrees. Largemouth bass, crappie and bluegill were the most consistently active species. The lake-by-lake report:

DEWEY LAKE

Largemouth bass were taking crankbaits and spinnerbaits from 5-10 feet deep over shoreline cover; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, stable at summer pool and 82 degrees.

PAINTSVILLE LAKE

Largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep along the shoreline; bluegill were active on wax worms and red worms 5-10 feet deep over brush piles; clear, stable at summer pool and 81 degrees.

FISH TRAP

Largemouth bass were active on crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep over drop offs; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, stable at summer pool and 80 degrees.

CAVE RUN

Bluegill were active on red worms and meal worms 5-10 feet deep along the shoreline; crappie were hitting minnows 5-10 feet deep over drop offs; clear, stable at summer pool and 82 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW

Largemouth bass were hitting spinnerbaits and plastic worms 15-20 feet deep over drop offs and along creek channels; bluegill were active on nightcrawlers and crickets 10-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, falling, one foot below summer pool and 82 degrees.

GRAYSON

Largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep over shoreline cover; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over shoreline cover; clear, stable at summer pool and 82 degrees.

LAUREL

Largemouth bass were taking crankbaits and spinnerbaits from 5-10 feet deep over shoreline cover; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, stable at summer pool and 82 degrees.

BUCKHORN

Trout were active on corn and cheese baits 5-10 feet deep in open water; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 10-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, stable, at summer pool and 78 degrees.

UPPER CUMBERLAND

Largemouth and smallmouth bass were hitting buzzbaits, crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep over shoreline cover; bluegill were taking red worms and crickets and crappie were taking minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, falling, one foot below summer pool and 83 degrees.

KENTUCKY LAKE

Largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits and plastic worms 5-10 feet deep over drop offs; white bass were active on slab spoons 10-15 feet deep over creek channels; clear, falling, at summer pool and 79 degrees.

BARKLEY

Largemouth bass were active on crankbaits, spinnerbaits and plastic worms 5-10 feet deep over drop offs and shoreline cover; white bass were hitting crankbaits and spoons 5-10 feet deep in open water; clear, falling, at summer pool and 78 degrees.

BARREN

Largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits, spinnerbaits and plastic worms 5-10 feet deep over drop offs and off rocky points; bluegill were hitting red worms and crickets 1-5 feet deep along the shoreline; clear, stable at summer pool and 82 degrees.

NOLIN

Largemouth bass were taking crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep over shoreline cover; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, stable at summer pool and 81 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER

Largemouth bass were taking crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep along the shoreline; crappie were active on minnows and jigs 10-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; clear, falling, one foot above summer pool and 82 degrees.

TAYLORSVILLE

Crappie were active on minnows and jigs 5-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush piles; largemouth bass were hitting spinnerbaits and jig and pig combinations 1-10 feet deep over heavy shoreline cover; murky, stable, at summer pool and 85 degrees.

LOWER CUMBERLAND

(dam end)

Striped bass were hitting doll fly jigs and shad 15-20 feet deep in open water; largemouth and smallmouth bass were hitting crankbaits, spinnerbaits, plastic worms and jig and pig combinations 1-5 feet deep over shoreline cover; clear, falling, one foot below summer pool and 82 degrees.

of 18 in the six innings. Hackworth issued three walks. He got the other two outs on a bouncer back to the mound and a ground ball to short.

Robert Dotson suffered the loss for the A's. Dotson went the first three innings and was relieved by Joshua Lowe in the fourth. Dotson struck out four batters while walking four. Lowe fanned five and issued eight bases on balls.

Hackworth also starred at the plate for the Rangers with a three hit night. Hackworth had a triple and two singles in the contest. Jeremy Shepherd also carried a hot bat for the winners, picking up three singles. Mike Harris had two hits. Sean Ousley, Brooks Stumbo, Drew Brown, Kay Lynn Harris and Eric Kelly all had base hits.

Trail Farler had the only extra base hit for the A's — a double.

The Rangers will face the Mets Friday night at Archer Park in a 5:30 p.m. start. The A's will play the Cubs at 7 p.m. Friday.

"I can't get up, mom"

The perils of the catchers role — on hot summer days a fellow has to put on all that equipment. "Please, coach, couldn't someone else catch the next inning?" seems to be the cry. They're starting them young these days! (Photo by Ed Taylor)

Chris Altman's Wild Side

NEW TRENDS IN SKIRTED LURES

Although the rubber skirt has been a vital component in many of our baits through the years, it is quite possible that this old standby is on its last legs. In this high-tech, plasticized society, new synthetics are being created by the thousands, many of which eventually make their way into secondary markets where new, often offbeat uses are discovered for them.

Such is the case with Danny Joe Humphrey's new Ultra Luma skirt material. Humphrey, an innovative tournament angler, bass tournament director and tackle entrepreneur from Kinston, North Carolina, discovered the material several years ago. Since then, he has been working with the synthetic to create an all-new skirt design. Now, after more than two years of field testing, Humphrey is releasing his Ultra Luma Skirt to the angling public, a move that many bass anglers will undoubtedly welcome. Producers of rubber skirts, however, may not be too thrilled with the development.

As a tournament angler, Humphrey is something of a radical. While most of his competitors stick to the tried-and-true bass baits, he is continually experimenting with new designs. "I always like to use something new, maybe even something radically different, when I am fishing competitively," Humphrey says. "Throwing something that the bass haven't seen every day of their lives really gives me a psychological edge — kind of a confidence boost — that keeps me fired up throughout a tournament."

Humphrey won the 1988 Southern Divisional B.A.S.S. tournament and then the first B.A.S.S. National Federation Championship that same year, a win that earned him a coveted spot in the B.A.S.S. Masters Classic. To win those prestigious tournaments, Humphrey tossed a floating worm, a lure few anglers ever throw, much less stake a tournament on. Humphrey's bird-dog search for something new led him to this innovative skirt material, a discovery that may very well change the face of skirted baits in years to come.

The Ultra Luma Skirt is a synthetic polymer that has an iridescent sheen, and it was this unusual brilliance that first attracted Humphrey to the material. Although the Ultra Luma Skirt is attractive in the sunlight, its lustrous, rainbow like colors really shine in the water. "This material's natural radiance looks just like a shad or a minnow in the water," Humphrey states, "and it imitates a baitfish far better than traditional rubber skirts." This new material also is much more buoyant than rubber, a property that causes the skirts to billow and undulate upon retrieve with more innate action than standard jig and spinnerbait dressings.

After two years of on-the-water testing and evaluation, Humphrey discovered that his Ultra Luma Skirt is far more durable than its rubber counterpart. "This stuff is not af-fectured by sunlight nor the degree of heat typically found in boats and tackleboxes left in the sun. (Like rubber, however, it will melt if exposed to a direct heat source.) Conservatively, I'd say that an Ultra Luma Skirt is 10 times more durable than a rubber skirt," Humphrey notes. "In fact, all of my field testers reported that the rubber band holding the skirt onto the spinnerbait would dry rot and break long before the skirt itself showed any type of deterioration." (Humphrey now ties the skirts with a strand of the same material to eliminate that problem.)

Will these skirts catch fish? Humphrey answers: "We found that bass most often hit these baits with more vigor than they will a rubber-skirted lure. I don't know why, but the bass seem more intent on killing this lure. Our catches so far have been, quite literally, phenomenal."

Woo Daves, an eight time B.A.S.S. Masters Classic qualifier and renowned spinnerbait angler from Chester, Virginia, has been using this skirt for just over a year. "This material has just about replaced all of my rubber skirts," Daves says. "I've found that it is much more durable than rubber, but the best thing about it is that it never sticks together and spoils the action of the bait like rubber skirts will. I use Fish Formula SparklScales on all of my skirted baits, and Danny Joe's Ultra Luma Skirt material is not adversely affected by the Fish Formula like rubber is — it doesn't gum up like rubber. Too, it has a great breathing action in the water that is more wavy and more life-like than any other material that I've used. And the colors are simply amazing. My success with these skirts has been so great that I now retie all of my Mepps spinnerbaits with it and use exclusively on all of my jigs."

The only negative aspect of the Ultra Luma Skirt is that it is a bit more expensive than traditional living rubber skirts. "This material must be dyed by hand and tied by hand," Humphrey says, "and those labor intensive tasks add to the cost." At Humphrey's own bait company, Carolina Fish and Fur, rubber skirts sell for forty to sixty cents each while the Ultra Luma Skirts retail for approximately 89 cents. Spinnerbaits equipped with the new skirts retail for roughly three dollars.

Because this material must be hand dyed, the Ultra Luma Skirts are available in a virtually unlimited number of colors and combinations.

Although no major spinnerbait manufacturers have yet added the Ultra Luma Skirts to their product lines, a number of smaller companies have already done so. Loose skirts or complete jigs, spinnerbaits and buzzbaits — all equipped with the new Ultra Luma Skirts — are available through Humphrey's Carolina Fish and Fur tackle company.

Swing level at the ball!

"Always take a level swing if you are going to hit the baseball." So says the teaching of batting instructors around Floyd County. AARON AT BAT

LEARNING TO PLAY

Nowadays, kids have plenty of opportunities to learn to play baseball. As soon as a child is old enough to swing a bat, there's a "tee-ball" league nearby where he can play. That wasn't the case when I was growing up. In Mobile, Alabama, in the 1930s and 1940s, there were not that many places for a young black kid to play the game.

An uncle taught me to throw the ball and to catch. I called him Uncle Bubba, and he was a very good baseball player. And then there was my daddy. He ran a tavern that sponsored a baseball team for a while — not that I got to play on it. I'd go out with him on the weekends and help sell soda pop. But it did allow me to watch a lot of baseball games.

I loved baseball from the beginning. When I couldn't find someone to throw with, I pretended someone was there. I'd throw the ball onto the roof of the house and then catch it as it rolled off. Our house had a tin roof, and that ball made a lot of noise. My mother was all over me. "Get on around from there, boy!" she would yell. "Stop throwing that on the house!"

When I say I was playing "ball," I don't mean I was playing with a true baseball. We made our own balls like we did our other toys. There wasn't the money in those days for store-bought toys.

A friend and I used to play "baseball" using broomsticks as bats and bottle tops as balls. I think it taught me to keep my eye on the ball. Playing with a bottle top, you couldn't take your eye off it for a second because of the way it sailed in all different directions.

Even though my high school didn't even field a baseball team, I managed to find enough playing opportunities to learn the game. When I was a teenager, I heard Jackie Robinson give a talk, and right then I knew what I wanted to be when I grew up. Jackie's breaking the color line with the Brooklyn Dodgers provided inspiration for so many people, myself included.

Looking back on those days, it was tough, but I think it helped me more than it hurt. I believe I learned a great deal about overcoming the odds, that helped me later in life.

FISHING IN THE RAIN OFTEN BETTER THAN IN THE SUNSHINE

You can sing in the rain, but can you catch bass in the rain?

"Yes, I think you can," says well-known tournament angler Guy Eaker, who actually prefers wet, gloomy skies to bright sunshine.

"For anyone who likes to fish shallow water lures, particularly spinnerbaits, like I do," continues the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff angler, "fishing in the rain can be very productive. The bass move shallow because of the overcast skies, and don't seem to be as spooky."

"It's an excellent time to fish shallow water. I think most anglers see a clear, bright day and think it's a great time to be fishing, but I always do better when it's gray and raining." Eaker believes thunder and lightning, however, have a reverse effect on the bass.

"I don't know exactly what the bass do when thunder is rolling and lightning is flashing," he says, "but I do know they seem to stop biting, especially during and right after a big storm passes."

"You can catch fish just before a big storm hits, and the action can be fast, but then it stops just as quickly, as if a switch is turned off. Many fishermen believe this is a reaction to changing barometric pressure, but we don't know for certain."

Wind often accompanies such storms, and it, too, can cause fishing problems, explains the Evinrude pro.

"High winds make casting and boat control difficult," Eaker says, "and this affects your lure presentation. The rain itself is no problem because you can protect yourself with a rain suit, but you can't always find good, unprotected water."

Eaker is always cautious during storms, particularly when lightning and thunder are present, and he seeks shelter when lightning starts flashing nearby.

"Our graphite rods can actually attract lightning," he says, "and if you're in open water where you're the tallest thing around, you're really asking for trouble."

"If conditions get too bad, don't hesitate to pull to the shore or tie up to someone's boathouse and get under cover."

Several times this season, apply a thin but complete coating of OMC Triple Guard grease on the steering cable ram of your outboard after thoroughly cleaning the ram. The grease will help the steering work smoothly, easily and keep it from seizing, according to the service experts at OMC.

WHAT'S IT LIKE TO FISH WITH THE PRESIDENT?

"I was in awe of it all."

That's how top professional bass angler Larry Nixon described fishing in a bass tournament with President George Bush, and specifically, spending five hours in the same boat with General Brent Scowcroft, the President's National Security Advisor.

Nixon and 19 other bass anglers competed, along with the President and General Scowcroft, in a charity bass tournament held on a private lake owned by Ray Scott, founder of the Bass Anglers Sportsmen Society.

Several members of the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff competed. In addition to Nixon they included Guy Eaker, Ken Cook and Denny Brauer. Jack Chancellor, a member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff, also participated.

"I believe what impressed me most was how both the President and General Scowcroft acted," continued Nixon. "They were anxious to go fishing, just like we were. We were able to shake hands and greet the President, but then we went right down to the lake."

Nixon was paired in the contest with his close friend and fellow tournament pro Tommy Martin, and together the two of them coached General Scowcroft in the techniques of fishing a plastic lizard.

"The General is not an experienced bass fisherman," said Nixon, "but he did a great job. He caught eight or 10 bass during the tournament, including a seven-pound, four-ounce giant and another of about five pounds, both of which we used in our total catch."

"Thanks to those two bass we finished in third place."

"He was really excited, and so were we," laughed the Evinrude pro. "He was interested in fishing and that's what we talked about. We didn't discuss business or politics at all."

Giants Score 16 In Fifth To Rout Martin Blue Jays, 27-6

The Drift Giants exploded for 16 runs in the fifth inning in setting back the Martin Blue Jays at Martin 27-6. Drift collected 19 hits in the game while winner Justin Hopkins scattered four Blue Jays hits.

Hopkins struck out eight in the game and gave up eight walks. J. Barker took the loss for Martin while fanning four.

In the drift fifth, Chris Moore continued to sting the ball with two doubles in the inning, driving in five runs. Moore had a total of six RBIs in the game.

Jason Woods enjoyed a good outing against the Blue Jays, getting four hits in four trips to the plate. Woods had a triple in the game and collected six RBIs.

Brandon Howell became the third player to drive in six runs when he had a fifth inning double and drove in four runs for Drift. Howell had four hits in his five appearances at the plate.

Hopkins helped his own cause with a base hit in the second inning when Nixon admits he kept an eye on the General throughout the day and saw Scowcroft's line twitch when the five-pounder hit.

"I said, 'General, I believe something just hit your lizard,'" Nixon laughed, "and then I just told him to set the hook. He did, and his rod bent double with the fish. It was great to see such an important man in world affairs enjoy our sport of fishing."

Minutes before the tournament began, Nixon and Martin briefed the General on their fishing strategy for the day, but when Nixon handed him one of his own baitcasting rods, he could tell General Scowcroft had only limited experience using one.

"We showed him the mechanics of casting it, and once he learned that he started working on his accuracy, and by the end of the day he was doing an excellent job," said Nixon.

"He never stopped to eat, and when it started raining he didn't even bother to put on a jacket. He just kept fishing."

the Giants scored four times. Hopkins had a two-run single in the inning. Howell also had an RBI in the second.

Jeremy Huff tripled home two runs in the fourth for Drift in a three-for-five outing. Chris Branham drove home two runs in the fifth with a double.

Martin scored three times in the bottom of the third on base hits by Melissa Mullins and R. Jarvis. Hopkins experienced some wildness in the inning as he walked four batters.

A tough game awaits the front running Drift Giants as they face a good Martin Cardinals team Thursday at the Minnie Park at 5:30 p.m. The Blue Jays will host Wayland Friday at 5:30 p.m.

At Martin Park
Drift 3 4 1 3 16 0 - 27 19
Martin 10 30 11 - 6 4

Officials Camp To Get Underway For Experienced and New Refs

If you are a person that has been thinking about joining the ranks of the present officials in the 15th Region, then you need to know about the upcoming Second Annual Basketball Officials' Camp scheduled for June 17-21 at the Belfry High School.

Each official will work a minimum of two games each night under the close supervision of experienced officials. Each referee will be critiqued after each session he or she officiates. An experienced instructor will be videotaping each official. Each official will be able to sit down, view the tape and listen to the comments of the instructor.

According to Teddy Hall, camp instructor, the 15th Region is in need of new officials and welcomes anyone who has never called a game before. The camp will be held in conjunction with the Belfry High School Team Camp in which each official will work. Each official should have a black and white official's shirt, black and white or navy shorts, black referee shoes and a whistle.

The new Kentucky High School Athletic Association Commissioner, Billy Wise, will be one of the guest speakers at the camp.

Fee for the week of camp at Belfry is $30 per official.
For more information contact Paul Dotson at Box 491, Belfry, Kentucky 41514.

HUNTER EDUCATION CARD REQUIRED FOR HUNTING

If you want to hunt in Kentucky this year and were born on or before January 1, 1975, completion of a state-approved hunter education course is required. The requirement applies to residents and nonresidents.

There seems to be some confusion over exactly what the requirement means.

Some folks have been led to believe they must complete the hunter education course before purchasing their hunting license.

Not so. The law simply says hunters "shall, WHILE HUNTING, carry a valid course completion card in addition to the appropriate Kentucky hunting license." (301 KAR 2:185) The key words here are "while hunting."

Simply put, a hunter education course completion card must be in the hunter's possession while hunting. Hunting licenses may be purchased anytime, whether or not the buyer has completed the hunter education requirement. But, if the hunter's birthday falls on or after January 1, 1975, that person needs to earn a course completion card before going afield.

Children under 10 may hunt without a course completion card, provided they are accompanied by an adult in a position to take immediate control of the child's firearm or bow. Also, persons not required to have a hunting license are exempt from the hunter education requirement.

Hunters who need to complete the hunter education program are advised to do so as soon as possible. The free courses are being offered throughout the summer months at locations around the state. Officials anticipate a "rush" on classes this fall, just ahead of the deer season.

Remember, after successfully completing the course, it takes approximately two weeks for the required card to arrive in the mail. So don't wait until the week before deer season to take the course.

For more information or to find out when a hunter education course will be given in your area, contact the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Information and Education, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601; phone (502)564-4762.

LEAVE YOUNG WILDLIFE ALONE

Many wild animals are cute and cuddly when they're young, but as the animals grow older they often become obnoxious — even dangerous — and quite difficult to handle. That's when they're brought to facilities such as the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' Game Farm in Frankfort.

"People often try to keep raccoons, for example, and it's easy to do — when they're small," according to Game Farm Manager Danny Watson. "But as the animals mature, they can become really contrary, especially the males."

Once mature, most wildlife raised in captivity are too wild to be kept as pets and too domesticated to be released.

Some well-meaning people even believe themselves to be doing a kind and wonderful deed when they bring home what mistakenly appears to be an "abandoned" young animal. This often happens with fawns.

"A doe will hide her fawn while she goes to look for food, and folks, thinking the young animal has been abandoned, will pack it home," said Watson. "They shouldn't do that. Even a two-month old fawn is capable of taking care of itself, if indeed something has happened to the mother."

The ideal thing to do if you find a young, seemingly abandoned animal in the wild is to leave the area immediately.

Another aspect of this scenario also has to be considered. In most cases, in the absence of difficult-to-obtain licenses and permits, keeping wildlife is illegal and can result in fines or imprisonment!

What's the best advice for people considering taking a wild animal as a pet? Don't!

ART AND WILDLIFE EXHIBIT

The "Art and Wildlife in Kentucky Exhibit" opens September 5, at the Soaper Arts Center in Henderson.

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is joined by first time co-sponsor, the Henderson Arts Council, in presenting the popular wildlife art show. Artists from Kentucky and bordering states are being invited to participate.

Works will include any and all media of undomesticated wildlife (no dogs or cats, please) including wild mammals, birds, fish and other aquatic life, reptiles, amphibians and scenes depicting hunting and fishing activities. Submitted art must be relevant to the states represented — an African safari scene would be unacceptable, for example.

The biannual exhibition, which runs through October 18, is funded in part by grants from the Kentucky Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts.

For more information contact the Henderson Arts Council, P.O. Box 234, Henderson, KY 42420; or the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Attn: Art and Wildlife, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601.

Water Safety Tips

The U.S. Corps of Engineers, in conjunction with the Paintsville Lake Water Safety Council, has provided the following water safety tips for all water sports enthusiasts visiting Paintsville Lake.

— Respect the water. Enjoy its pleasures, but don't underestimate its dangers and become a drowning statistic.

— Learn to swim. If you can't swim, keep a life jacket on. Always utilize the buddy system and never swim alone.

— Watch small children. They may only be out of your sight for a moment, but could wander off or fall into the lake.

— Dangerous areas. There are no designated swimming areas at Paintsville Lake. Swimmers swim at their own risk, unless the area has been designated as an authorized area. Swimming in off-limits and unauthorized areas leads to drowning because of unmarked holes, currents, pollution, undertows, cold water, the illegal attachment of rope swings to trees, and the lack of life guards. Obey off-limits or unauthorized area signs and directives. Obey safety rules. Before wading, swimming, or diving in an unfamiliar area, find out the depth, temperature and whether there are hidden rocks, strong currents or sudden drop offs.

— Cold water. Any water below 70 degrees Fahrenheit hampers a swimmer's capabilities and endurance. It may even cause instant body reactions that lead to drowning. Water in lakes, gravel pits, and quarries may be below 70 degrees even during the summer. Swim where you can use the buddy system but don't become over confident. Your buddy may be having as much fun as you are and look the other way just when you need help.

— Horseplay. Don't! It can often lead to accidents.

— Obey all park rules and regulations. These regulations are posted on outdoor bulletin boards located at the Paintsville Lake Marina, Paintsville Dam Overlook, Paintsville Lake downstream area and breeze-way bulletin board at the Corps of Engineers office on top of the dam.

— Buoys. These are floating stationary regulatory water markers placed at specific points on the lake. Know what they mean before you go boating and obey them because they are for your personal safety.

— Alcohol and water. Don't! Alcohol affects your judgment. It makes you think you can function better than when you are sober. But, in fact, alcohol slows your reaction time considerably.

— Remember the life you save may be your own.

REBELS ATHLETIC/ACADEMIC BANQUET

Allen Central's Athletic/Academic Banquet will be held this Saturday at the high school cafeteria beginning at 5 p.m. with dinner. The awards will be presented at 7 p.m. Kenny Rice will be the guest speaker.

Expect Something Fishy On This Tour

If you've caught a muskie or a striped bass in Kentucky waters, chances are it was produced at the Minor E. Clark Fish Hatchery in Morehead. Named after Kentucky's first fishery biologist and former commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, this is one of the largest state-owned, warm water hatcheries in the United States.

The 300 acre hatchery contains 111 rearing and brood ponds—more than 122 acres of water. Nearby Cave Run Lake supplies the man-made ponds with water through a gravity flow pipe. As much as 8,000 gallons of water each minute can be taken from the lake. Because the water can be drawn from three different lake levels, partial control of the temperature and the amount of dissolved oxygen present in the water is possible.

The hatchery produces seven varieties of sport fish: largemouth and smallmouth bass, rockfish hybrids and muskellunge. Goldfish and fat-head minnows are also raised to provide forage fish for black bass and muskellunge culture.

The hatchery is open weekdays from 7 a.m. - 3 p.m., but visitors can tour the outside facilities daily. Special tours for groups can be arranged with advance notice. For more information call 784-6872.

MUD CREEK PEE WEE LEAGUE MUD CREEK TIGERS VS MUD CREEK PIRATES

A big five-run third helped the Mud Creek Tigers break open a close game and post a 12-4 win over the Mud Creek Pirates in the Mud Creek Pee Wee League at the Stumbo school on Wednesday.

The Tigers pushed across their five runs when Shawn Hamilton collected a one-out single. Matthew Slone singled behind Hamilton.

Hamilton scored on a base hit by Sheena Akers to make it a 5-2 game. Holly Hamilton and Sabrina Bentley drew back-to-back walks, forcing Slone home. Dustin Rogers singled, scoring both Hamilton and Akers. After T.J. Hamilton walked, Bentley scored the final run of the inning on a base hit by Josh Hamilton.

The Pirates had taken a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Craig Hall singled with one out and Carlos McGill followed with a base hit. With two out, Derek Akers got a base hit to load the bases. Hall came in to score the first run on an RBI single by Brent Newsome. McGill made it a 2-0 game when he came around to score on Logan Tucker's base hit.

The Tigers made it 4-2 with four runs in the second inning. Sheena Akers had a base hit and Dustin Rogers drove in two runs with a single. Leslie Hamilton picked up an RBI with a single.

Christy Johnson was the winning pitcher for the Tigers and Craig Hall was the losing pitcher.

MUD CREEK REDS VS MUD CREEK SMURFS

The Mud Creek Reds kept their season record unblemished when they scored three times in the fourth inning to erase a 2-0 Smurfs' lead and win for the seventh time this season.

Robbie Johnson doubled and scored on Ryan Hall's triple. Derrick Martin then hammered a home run to score Hall and give the Reds their 3-2 win.

The Smurfs scored twice in the bottom of the second inning to take their 2-0 lead. Shannon Williams tripled to lead off the inning and scored when Shawn Little grounded out. Jonathan Tackett reached first on a base hit and eventually scored the second run on Brandon Hall's double.

Derrick Martin was the winning pitcher and Shannon Williams suffered the setback.

HAP FARM LEAGUE DODGERS VS ASTROS

Seth Crisp slammed three home runs in going four-for-four at the plate to lead the Allen Astros minor league club past the Mud Creek Dodgers 17-10. Crisp picked up the win for the Allen club in striking out seven batters.

Josh Barmette enjoyed a perfect outing also for the Astros with four hits in as many plate appearances.

Barnette had three singles and a double. Scott Walls picked up two doubles in the game and collected a single. Nathan Leslie and Jason Keathley had two hits in the contest. Leslie had a triple for the Astros and both of Keathley's hits were singles. Dusty Stephens, Brandon Jarrell and Josh Roberts each collected a hit.

M. Gross suffered the loss for the Dodgers but did manage to collect two doubles in the game for the Dodgers. J. Bartley had a triple for Mike Potter's club and managed a single also. D. Kidd and J. Salisbury had base hits.

INDIANS VS ASTROS

Against the Prater Creek Indians, Seth Crisp pounded out three hits — a home run, double and single — to help the Astros post a 16-4 three inning win. Scott Walls also homered for the Astros. Josh Barnett had a triple for his only hit of the night.

Jessie Isaac homered for the Astros also. Nathan Leslie, who got the win, chipped in with two base hits. Leslie struck out six batters. Mark Branham had a couple of singles for the Allen Club. Neil Rice and Dusty Stephens each had base hits.

Allen Akers and Danny Akers had doubles for the Indians. Ken Webb suffered the loss for the Indians.

MARTIN PEE WEE LEAGUE RANGERS VS TIGERS

The Martin Tigers collected 27 hits as they posted a 17-7 win over the Martin Rangers in Pee Wee action at the Martin Park Friday afternoon. The Tigers scored 13 runs in the first two innings — seven in the first and six in the second — to take a 13-4 lead.

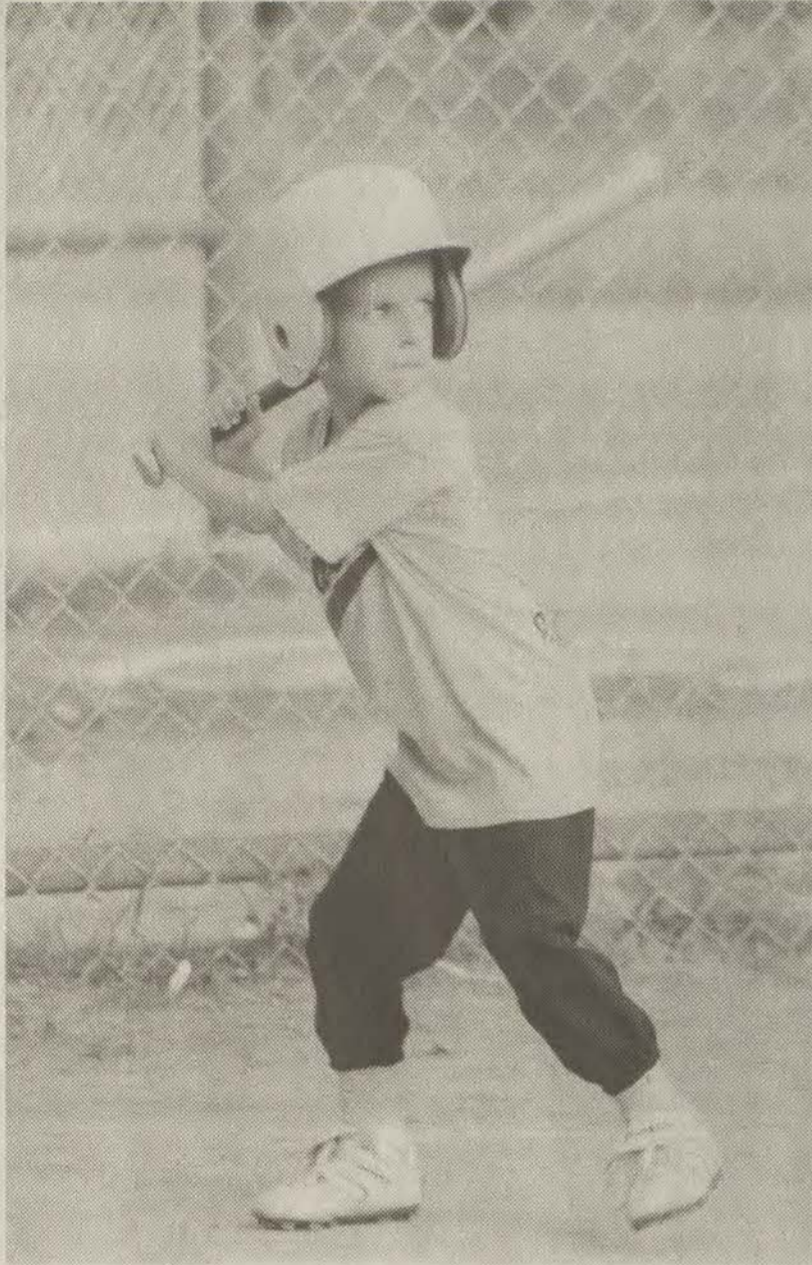

The only home run in the game went to the Rangers Stacia Lance in the fifth inning. Jeremy Turner and Edward Lafferty had first inning doubles for the Rangers. George Thornsberry doubled in the third and teammate Ross Pavolko had a fourth inning double.

For the victorious Tigers, Shannon Sizemore and Ann Hall had second inning triples as the Tigers scored six times. Brandon Sizemore had a third inning triple. Brandon Sizemore also had two doubles in the game.

Josh Yates doubled in the second as did Alex Patton and Deanna Mullins. George Hall collected two two-baggers in the second and fifth innings.

Bulls, Lakers Square Off To Determine NBA's Best

by Mike Rosenberg

(Note: This article was written Friday, after the Lakers won their series. Game one of the series was played Sunday at Chicago, with the Lakers winning 93-91. Game two will be Wednesday night.)

After what seems like a month and a half of playoffs (well, it was), the National Basketball Association has whittled itself down to two teams vying for the title of World Champions, held for the last two years by the Detroit Pistons.

The Chicago Bulls denied the Pistons their "threepeat." The Bulls had no problems in sweeping by the defending champions in convincing fashion. Led by Michael Jordan's 30+ per game and the continually improving Scottie Pippen, the Bulls have had few problems in the playoffs thus far.

The Lakers, considered by many as an also-ran in the playoffs this year, returned to their play of a few years ago in methodically moving through the playoffs — completing their run to the finals with a 4-2 series victory over the Portland Trailblazers, the team favored to win it all.

The Bulls-Lakers series will be exceptional. The series pits two of the best, Jordan and Magic, against each other in a run for the gold. There are other matchups in this series, though. Here's my rundown of the keys in the series:

Point Guard: Lakers, Magic Johnson; Bulls, John Paxson. Paxson is a good ballhandler and stand-up shooter, but there's really no comparison. Edge: Lakers.

Off Guard: Lakers, Byron Scott; Bulls, Michael Jordan. Scott has come on to play arguably his best ball of the season. However...Edge: Bulls.

Center: Lakers, Vlade Divac; Bulls, Bill Cartwright. Offense v. Defense. Divac can be dominant defensively, but he hasn't played against a center of Cartwright's savvy and offensive ability. Cartwright doesn't make many mistakes. Edge: Bulls.

Small Forward: Lakers, James Worthy; Bulls, Scottie Pippen. This series matches a rising star against a cagey veteran. Worthy is still one of the best finishers in the game with outstanding athletic ability. Pippen will be a superstar. Right now, these players are on equal footing, as long as Worthy doesn't injure himself again. Edge: None.

Power Forward: Lakers, Sam Perkins; Bulls, Horace Grant. The Lakers' offseason acquisition is one of the main reasons that they are where they are. Grant is young and improving, but still inconsistent. Edge: Lakers.

Coach: Lakers: Mike Dunleavy; Bulls: Phil Jackson. Dunleavy, the league's youngest coach, did a remarkable job with the Lakers this year. Jackson is an old veteran of the hardwood wars and knows all the tricks. Go with experience over exuberance. Edge: Bulls.

Defense: The Lakers did an excellent job holding the Blazers' running game in check during their series and in slowing the pace. The Bulls have allowed their opponents to score over 100 points only once in 13 games.

The edge is slight, but I'll go with Chicago. Edge: Bulls.

Key Reserves: Lakers: A.C. Green, Mychal Thompson, Terry Teagle, Larry Drew and Elden Campbell. Bulls: Will Perdue, B.J. Armstrong, Cliff Levingston, Craig Hodges, Scott Williams. A.C. Green lit a fire under the Lakers in their series with the Blazers. Otherwise, the Lakers' bench is unspectacular. The Bulls' oft-maligned bench is playing the best reserve role of any team in the playoffs. Edge: Bulls.

If the Bulls win the series, their reserves and their defense will carry them through — coupled with the fact that Jordan really wants this title. In a hotly contested series — Bulls in six.

NBA Draft note: Expect the Charlotte Hornets to select Larry Johnson of UNLV with their #1 pick. Also, don't be surprised to see the Hornets trade J.R. Reid and Dell Curry or Rex Chapman for a true center. Frank Brickowski of Milwaukee, John Salley of Detroit and Kevin Willis of Atlanta are strong possibilities for a trade.

KNOTT COUNTY CENTRAL BIDS FOR STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

The Knott County Central Patriots will face Shelby County in the first round of the state high school baseball finals at Kentucky Wesleyan College Thursday. The Patriots defeated Raceland and Pikeville to win the Sectional at Boyd County last week. The Patriots (30-12) are a very young baseball team with loads of talent. Only two seniors are in the Patriots' line up along with seven sophomore starters. The future for Knott County baseball looks bright. The Patriots will be trying to avoid the jinx of losing to eventual state runners-up or state champions. The last two years, the Patriots lost to Paintsville twice in sectional play. The first year, the Tigers were state runners-up and last year they won it all.

BASEBALL MANAGERS SEEM TO BE "DIME A DOZEN"

With the firing of Buck Rodgers of the Montreal Expos, the number of fired managers reached five so far this season. Rodgers was released by the Expos and replaced by Tom Runnells. Rodgers was the latest victim of a trend that seems to be taking its toll on managers whose ball clubs are lodged in the basement of their respective divisions.

Baseball managers are as good as the talent they are able to put on the field. However, an owner can't fire an entire ball club and keep the manager. So, the manager is the first to go, with hope that someone with new ideas can revive an otherwise dead club.

Good hitting and pitching are very important ingredients that must jell in order for any ball club to make a run at a divisional title, pennant and world championship.

Rodgers club lacked both, especially pitching. Rodgers joins Nick Leyva of Philadelphia, Chicago Cubs manager Don Zimmer, Frank Robinson of Baltimore and John Wathan of Kansas City on the casualties list.

GIANTS ON MOVE

The San Francisco Giants have been in the basement of the National League West most of the young season. At one time, it looked as if Giants manager Roger Craig might be one of the first manager casualties.

However, the mild-mannered Giants manager seems to have weathered the storms in the Bay area and his Giants are starting to make some noise in the Western Division. If Kevin Mitchell gets back and the pitching staff regroups, it seems the Giants will make a second-half drive to capture the Western Division title. Houston and Cincinnati are not playing all that well (neither is anybody else in the National League West) and the Giants are not that far behind these two clubs or third-place San Diego.

Atlanta seems to be a team for real, as experts keep waiting for the Braves to fold. The Braves seem to be getting better instead of folding. Tom Glavine, Dave Justice and company have the Braves on the right track and have manager Bobby Cox looking like a genius.

A ball club has to make some moves to improve their chances of winning their division. The Braves did just that. The Giants, however, lost Brett Butler to the Los Angeles Dodgers. That was a lot of leadership they needed and that they are not getting from the likes of Will Clark and Mitchell.

UK'S HARRIS MAKES BREWERS DRAFT LIST

The hot-hitting Mike Harris of the University of Kentucky was drafted by the Milwaukee Brewers in the baseball draft which is currently still underway. Harris was a standout for the Bat Cats this year at first base. Harris led Kentucky in seven different offensive stats this past season.

Kentucky Afield to air on KET

Before you travel to the Land Between the Lakes to catch "the big one" tune in to Kentucky Afield on KET as it explores fishing in Western Kentucky at 8 p.m., Thursday, June 6.

Kentucky Afield's Western Kentucky fishing adventure at Kentucky Lake pairs host Dave Shuffett with Wildlife Commissioner Mike Boatright and Norm Minch of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. Together they explore crappie fishing and prove that catching crappie involves more than (as local fishermen say) "holding your mouth right."

Nature enthusiasts of all ages can find answers to all kinds of questions about Kentucky wildlife when Shuffett and other guests conduct a special call in show on August 8.

"The diversity of Kentucky's watchable wildlife is simply unbelievable," says Shuffett. "If you want to know more about watchable non game wildlife, you don't want to miss this show." During the live one hour special, viewers may call and ask questions to the host and a panel of experts for discussion. Possible topics for conversation include wildlife habitat, endangered species protection and habitat enhancement issues, Shuffett said.

Kentucky Afield offers shows later this summer the entire family may find exciting including a feature about the black bears of Eastern Kentucky. "The bears are calling Kentucky 'home' again after being away for nearly a hundred years," says Shuffett. Other features will take you smallmouth bass fishing on the Tug River in Pike County, where the Hatfield/McCoy feud occurred. "It's more than just a beautiful place to fish, it's historic," says the host.

Kentucky Afield also features an ongoing profile of the approximately 70 specialized areas of wildlife management in Kentucky. While the nature areas are not parks, they are inexpensive ways to enjoy Kentucky's watchable wildlife. Join backpackers, canoeers, and photographers as they explore Kentucky's wildlife sanctuaries.

Ortega Misses Cycle :

Castle and Kidd's Bats Boom As Astros Handle Indians 21-4

Brandon Castle and Ronnie Kidd collected six hits between them to lead the Allen Astros to an easy 21-4 win over the Prater Creek Indians in the Harold-Allen-Prater Little League at Allen. Castle had a home run and two doubles for the winning Astros. Kidd collected a triple and two singles.

Wesley Sammons received credit for the win in the route-going performance. Sammons fanned six batters while walking three.

Chris Holbrook had three hits in the game. John Ortega just missed hitting for the cycle as he belted a home run, triple and double. All Ortega needed was a single to complete the coveted cycle.

Sammons helped his own cause with three hits, including a triple. Sammy Nelson was perfect at the plate with a home run and single in two official at bats. Jason Roberts had two singles for the Astros and both Austin Lumpkins and Jarrod Hall had one hit with an RBI.

Allen scored all the runs they needed in the first inning as eight runners crossed home plate. The Astros pushed across seven more in the top of the fourth to make it 21-0. Prater Creek scored all four of their runs in the bottom of the fourth inning. Eric Cecil was the losing pitcher. Cecil drove in two of his team's four runs with a base hit in the fourth inning. Wesley Collins had two doubles and picked up two RBIs on his run producing double in the fourth.

June Is Proclaimed Kentucky Rivers Month

Kentuckians are invited to "celebrate the rivers of the Commonwealth" during June, which has been proclaimed Kentucky Rivers Month by Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson.

The month-long recognition is intended to give Kentuckians an opportunity to celebrate their rich river heritage, to recognize how much the state's rivers and streams add to the overall quality of life, to pledge renewed respect and appreciation for the many beautiful rivers and streams, and to direct community efforts toward protecting the scenic, environmental, recreational and cultural values of the Commonwealth's river resources.

Across the state, people will be gathering "down by the river" for a variety of events, such as nature walks, environmental demonstrations, canoe trips, regattas and races, arts and crafts festivals, and river bank cleanups, including the Ohio River Sweep on June 15.

Activities will be held from the Licking and Kentucky Rivers to the Ohio River to the Land Between the Lakes Recreation Area where the Four Rivers Folk Festival will take place on June 8 and 9. Other highlights include special canoe floats for Father's Day, June 16, on both Elkhorn Creek and the Licking River; both sunrise and moonlight canoe floats on the Licking River, the Kentucky River and North Fork of Elkhorn Creek; an interpretive cruise on the Dixie Belle Riverboat on the Kentucky River and interpretive canoe trips on Tygarts Creek; and the Sternwheel Regatta and Arts and Crafts Market to be held on and next to the Ohio River at Augusta (Bracken County) June 28-30.

A favorite pet

Did you ever know of a dog who named himself?

Among the animals that have come and gone with our family were two beagle pups. They were very young when we got them—barely old enough to separate from their mother—but they were cute and robust little fellows.

They were always playful in the morning, and soon they were climbing on the back steps and making some effort to bark.

Side by side they sat. One was doing pretty well with the usual, "Yip, Yip," you'd expect from a pup. But the other would throw his head back and go, "Ooh, ooh, ooh."

Daughter Nancy found them in a practice session one morning and became fascinated. After watching for a while she came into the house and said, "Daddy, do you know one of our pups is trying to crow? He must think he's a rooster."

Pretty soon the children in the neighborhood were saying, "Did you know the Halls have a dog named Rooster?" Even after he learned to bark the name stuck.

The other got an ordinary canine name—Moxi, I believe—and he was a fine dog, but it was Rooster who did such delightful antics that he made the children squeal.

Through the years the two were followed by many pets of different species. The family has forgotten some of the names—and some we forgot altogether—but no one yet has forgotten Rooster.

He was just a pup, but he put a little "color" into his life. That's a trait we can enjoy and appreciate, whether it be in a friend or a pet. And that, after all, is something worth remembering.

The main directions

Kenya Russell is the pretty young teacher of a third grade class at Parker Elementary School in Piketon, Ohio.

"The first week of school," says Kenya, "we go over classroom rules a great deal."

"Soon we also begin a social studies unit which contains maps, graphs, charts and the directions—North, South, East and West."

In her first social studies test, Kenya had asked, "What are the four main directions?"

A very energetic and bright little girl showed the four directions she remembered best as she listed: "Sit down, be quiet, pay attention and do your work."

Story time

Dolores Knausz of Harold says she enjoys the stories about children, so here's another for her.

Having the grandchildren stay overnight at our house has usually meant a frolic of some sort. And almost always there has had to be a bedtime story.

I've read about the three little pigs, the gingerbread man and the little red hen until the ink has worn dim on the pages.

Candice was three and here she came again with her pajamas in a bag. I gave her a hug and asked, "What shall we read tonight?"

Her eyes danced and her nose wrinkled to indicate the wheels of her mind were turning—so fast, in fact, that her titles ran together.

"How about," she suggested, "The Three Little Hens?"

Floyd County hairstylists became scissor happy and raised $670 for the American Cancer Society during a Cut-a-Thon on May 19.

The fundraising event was held at the Hair Loft in Highlands Plaza at Prestonsburg, and hairstylists from the Hair Loft, the Ultimate Wave, Mane Attraction, Headquarters, Hair by Holly, and Lori's Shear Design participated in the Cut-a-Thon. Randy Trimble, owner of Hair Loft, served as chairman of the Cut-a-Thon committee, and also conceived the idea—the first in Kentucky.

Trimble said he participated in the Jail and Bail fundraiser one year, and wanted to do something for the Cancer Society.

"Why do I give blood?" said Trimble, who is a regular donor. "I don't enjoy that, but it's for a good cause."

Trimble said he and the other stylists enjoyed the Cut-a-Thon, which gave them an opportunity to work together as a team. Trimble also explained that the event "was a little rough," this year, but next year's will be better since the committee "now knows how to do the thing."

"People were standing in line," explained Pamela Burbach-Compton, Eastern District representative for the American Cancer Society. Burbach-Compton expressed enthusiasm for the event which drew a large crowd.

"Good community spirit is the backbone of any fundraiser," she said. Ms. Burbach-Compton.

Funds for the event will be utilized by the cancer society for research, to provide supplies to cancer patients, and for the various programs available through the society. The American Cancer Society's Service and Rehabilitation Program offers assistance to Eastern Kentuckians with cancer and their families by providing transportation to treatment facilities, lodging, and loan and gift services. Rehabilitation programs include Reach to Recovery, Cansurmount, I Can Cope, and the support of the International Association of Laryngotomies and the United Ostomy Association visitor programs.

The cancer society provides education and training to families, community groups, doctors, dentists, and others in the health field.

"Cancer is likely to affect one in ten families," said Ms. Burbach-Compton. "Early detection, changing lifestyles, giving up smoking—there are many obvious things we can do."

Floyd County hairstylists are helping get that message across, and are eagerly anticipating next year's Cut-a-Thon. Hairstylists participating in the event were Holly Walters, Yelonda Edmonds, Julia Maggard, Mary (Tootie) Music, Randy Trimble, Terry Trimble, Mona Collinsworth, Deidre (Dee Dee) Wells, Becky Rice, Betty Skeans, Bobbi Jo Wright, Renee Gross, Dana Preston, Paul David Wells, Lori Slone, Alicia Setser, and Crispy Jarrell.

Sponsors of the event were Food Lyon, McDonalds, P & B Liquors, Abacus Computers, D & L Beauty Supplies, and Dutchus Beauty Supply.

The door prize, a free makeover, was won by Diane Prater, of Prestonsburg. Radio coverage was provided by WKKZ.

Ms. Burbach-Compton expressed her appreciation to those who make the Cut-a-Thon a success. The American Cancer Society has several events planned this year, including a smoke-out in November, and MS. Burbach-Compton urges Floyd County residents to participate.

And What is So Rare?

Anyway, when I was a kid growing up in Eastern Kentucky, I looked forward to June because that was the first full month of our summer vacation from school.

It was generally near the end of May when those freckle-faced, pig-tailed girls and the rag-tag, tow-headed boys from Muddy Branch would pour out the front door of the H.S. Howes Community School and scatter like so many glass marbles hit by a steely law.

They'd head across the hill to Rock House or up the railroad tracks to Number Three or Silk Stocking Row or cut down the bank and short cut across the school-house bottom, then up the town to Greentown.

Regardless of the direction they'd be taken, though, they'd all be yelling like wild Indians, "School's out! School's out! Teacher's wore her bloomers out!"

Historically, June has been an important month for all of us. It was on June 1, 1792, that Kentucky became the nation's 15th state. (I have a sneaky feeling that by this time next year, we'll all be more than aware of that.)

Mostly, though, as least as far as I'm concerned, June is appreciated for its good stuff—like vacations, the first day of summer, pretty flowers and, of course, the June bride.

More folks supposedly get married in June than any other month, and the month itself, according to some sources, was named for Juno, the Roman patron goddess of marriage.

Speaking of marriage, even I was a June groom as Wilma and I celebrated over our 28th year on the road to forever last Saturday, June 1.

I realize that 28 years is not a record or anything, but it'll likely beat the couple I read about a couple of weeks ago.

According to the article, Minnie Munro and Dudley Reid of Gosford, Australia, are getting hitched.

"He's been waiting for me a long time," Minnie said. "So, I decided to say yes."

Dudley promised to care for Minnie for the rest of his life.

Isn't love grand? I mean, even the fact the Minnie's 18 years older than Dudley just doesn't matter. She's 102 and he's only 84.

Along these lines, a cute joke appeared in this month's Reader's Digest:

An 85-year-old widow went on a blind date with a 90-year-old man. When she returned to her daughter's house later that night, she seemed upset. "What happened, Mother?" the daughter asked.

"I had to slap him three times!"

"You mean he got fresh?"

"No," she answered, "I thought he was dead."

No wonder, then, that June's so special. Not only does it bring out those long-awaited school vacations, fruit blossoms and the first day of summer, it also seems to bring out little Cupid and his bow.

I suppose the best news about June, though, is that it's free. Poet James Russell Lowell said it best, "No price is set on the lavish summer; June may be had by the poorest comer."

Here's hoping you're enjoying yours.

ONE PERSON'S OPINION

For those of you who are avid column readers, you may know by reading "Solitaire" that there's a difference of opinion rising in the office.

I've been forewarned not to begin a battle of the columns. Mike Rosenberg, the author of "Solitaire" who works here at the Times during his summer break, has informed me he is an English major at Duke University and I dare not test the water.

Now being the curious person I am, I can't help but wonder what he meant when he said I "did not even want to start a battle in print" because of his major at Duke.

Do you think, maybe, he feels as though this ol' Left Beaver Creeker can't keep up with a Duke University Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity member? Or, maybe, that my education at Wheelwright High School and Prestonsburg Community College cannot begin to compare to his at Duke?

I don't know, but Roserberg's statement in an earlier column wasn't one that set well with my department. He has, however, stated in last week's column that he meant no ill will but, it was his opinion and intended to get a laugh, therefore he would not apologize.

First of all, let me state, this is not a "battle in print." Not because I'm backing down, Mike, I think as far as battles go I can hold my own, but my column is not the space nor the place.

However, being the advertising manager I feel the need to defend the department against attack, therefore I will use this space to inform those who are unaware just what my department faces on a daily basis.

Advertising revenue is the key to every single Times' employee's job, be it full-time, part-time or "summer-time."

Keeping this in mind, the four people in the advertising department work long and hard to make sure the newspaper can support its staff. There are budgets to be met, goals to be set, phones to answer and customers to please. The pressures and responsibilities are tremendous.

We constantly strive to ensure the goals are met and attempt to exceed the budget whenever possible.

There is not one of us in advertising who wants our co-workers to think of us as though we have an attitude. An attitude in which we think we alone are the "heart and soul of this paper."

We are well aware of the fact that it takes us all, as a team, to produce an award winning newspaper. Without Scott's guidance, patience and exceptional knowledge of a newspaper, the editorial staff producing the excellent articles they work so long and hard to write, the composing staff typing their fingers to the bone, Mike spending countless hours in the dark-room, Susie, Celeste and Kari performing exceptionally in the front office, Ed covering sports like no other, Jodi and her circulation crew working through the night with Johnny and the press room staff, there would be no paper.

We are a team. It takes us all and we do it with pride, loyalty and friendship. So, Rosenberg, you see, no battle, just hard work.

Until next week...How 'bout them Cats.

FISH TALES!

Sunday evening the spouse and his friend, Randy, headed out fishing. Now don't worry, these two were prepared with license and all.

The spouse thought they were going close to home and therefore was surprised to find himself at a pond in Flat Gap.

Before I continue I must tell you that I've never actually seen any of the fish my dear husband has supposedly caught in our 11 years of marriage. However, he's always found "is underwear in the tacklebox and he brings home some award winning fish tales.

The story goes, there is supposed to be this huge Kentucky bass lurking in the pond where the two men were fishing. I hear this big bass is smarter than the average bear. This bass has been known to swim right up to the bank, stare you right in the eye as if to say "No way, Big Daddy, you're not taking me home for supper," and dart away.

Deedra (Randy's wife) and I had figured that one of the two would have caught this big Kentucky bass, but somehow it would have gotten away.

Well, to our surprise, the fishermen had indeed caught two dandy sized fish and put them on a stringer. However, when Randy went to retrieve the fish before leaving, all he found were two heads dangling from the end of the hooks.

Yes, my friends, our husbands had caught dinner, but a snappin' turtle got to eat before we did. A snappin' turtle? I don't know, sounds fishy to me.

Till next week...

Allen, Martin to wed

Miss Rachel E. Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Allen of Prestonsburg, will marry Mr. Philip Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Martin of Bowling Green, on Saturday, June 8, at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole) in Prestonsburg.

The gracious custom of open church will be observed. A reception will be held immediately following the ceremony at the Allen home, 119 Central Avenue. Everyone is invited to attend. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Burchett and Mr. and Mrs. John Allen.

Art award winner at Paintsville

Summer Charles, six-year-old daughter of Larry and Lona Charles of Prestonsburg, won the art award at Paintsville Elementary School recently. She received a first place ribbon for her entry in this art show.

Shower honors Miss Herrin

Miss Kristi Herrin, bride-elect of Mr. James Tracy Bates, was honored with a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening, May 31, at 7 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial).

The color scheme of peach and white was carried out. The serving table was covered with a peach-colored cloth, with an overlay of white lace, and had for its centerpiece, a bouquet of mixed summer flowers, intertwined with greenery. Silver candelabra, holding tall, lighted peach candles, completed this decoration.

Other tables throughout the room were covered with white cloths, and held displays of silverware, crystal, china, linens, and other miscellaneous items brought by relatives and friends who called throughout the evening, bringing gifts and best wishes. Several who could not attend sent gifts and greetings. Delicious refreshments of decorated cake, homemade mints, nuts, and punch were served to those in attendance.

Hostesses for this event were Julia Curtis, Joyce Ramey, Eva Collins, Judy Burchett, Barbara Wright, Wanda Caldwell, Ruthie Roberts, Mel Wright, Charlene Nunn, Betty Green, Ruth Hall, Shirlee Branham, Carletta Caldwell, Judy Curmutte, Nell Lawson, and Peggy Carter.

May visits

Mrs. Honey May, formerly of Prestonsburg, who presently resides in Snellville, Georgia (near Atlanta), has been here for a visit with relatives and friends. She was the houseguest of Mrs. Jean Burke and was entertained extensively while here. On Sunday, she attended services at the First Presbyterian Church in Prestonsburg and joined the festivities in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of the present location of this church.

Masters visits

Miss Candice Masters of Lexington was here during the weekend for a visit with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Ron Masters, and also spent some time visiting with friends.

Homemakers meeting

The South Prestonsburg Homemakers held their May meeting at the home of Mrs. Carlos Haywood. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Drema Miller, president. Mrs. Joyce Allen gave the devotions. In answer to roll call, members told the names of their mothers and made comments about them in recognition of Mother's Day. Officers for 1990-91 were reelected for 1991-92. Following the business session, Mrs. Frances Pitts, Floyd County Home Economist, presented a lesson on "The Selection of Outdoor Furnishings." Mrs. Haywood served a dessert to Mesdames Ora Bussey, Vernie Tackett, Joyce Allen, Theckley Short, Lois Ball, Drema Miller and Frances Pitts. This was the last meeting of this group until September.

Hunters visit

Jim and Mary Sue Hunter of Lexington were here during Memorial Day weekend for a visit with relatives and friends. They were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jody Spradlin. Mrs. Hunter was formerly Miss Mary Sue Porter, daughter of the late Graham and Lydia Porter.

Leake's guests

Memorial weekend guests of Mrs. T.J. Leake at her home near East Point were her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spradlin of Versailles, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Hackworth of Ada, Ohio. While here, they spent time with other relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Hackworth attended services at the Bonanza United Baptist Church.

visiting with other relatives and friends and went to Paintsville, where they visited with their aunt, Mrs. Ethel Cross, and their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Astor Meade.

Senior Sunday arrives

Sunday, June 9, is Senior Sunday at the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole) of Prestonsburg. The church's pastor, the Rev. Michael Taylor, has announced that all graduating seniors who are enrolled in Sunday School at this church will be recognized during morning services. Rev. Taylor adds, "If you know of someone who graduates this spring, please contact the church office before June 5." The office number is 886-8681.

Goes to graduation

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Haywood and David Meade, all of Prestonsburg, attended the Belfry High School commencement exercises on Friday evening, May 24, where Miss Melissa Susan Haywood, the Haywood's granddaughter, was a member of the graduating class. Other family members attending included Miss Rebecca Haywood of Falmouth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nalley of Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Thomas and children Jennifer and Jeffrey, of Middletown and Melissa's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Haywood and daughter Jacquelyn of Belfry.

Laven honored

Mrs. Sarah Laven was honored with a birthday breakfast by relatives and neighbors at May Lodge recently. Enjoying this event with the guest of honor were Mesdames Tula Turner, Elizabeth Bailey, Bernice Porter, Dorcus Music, Amanda Music, Goldia Williams, Bonita Porter and Belle Conn. A period of reminiscing was enjoyed.

Retired Teacher luncheon

Floyd County Retired Teachers will have a good opportunity to use their "Favorite Recipe" Cookbook this week for the covered-dish luncheon meeting to be held at Stumbo Park at Allen. Registration will start at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, June 6. Entertainment will be furnished by the Allen Grade School Square Dance group, under the direction of Mesdames Glenda Blackburn and Florene Harris, teachers. Lunch and a business meeting will follow. President

Ruby Akers and other officers of this organization urge all members, and others who should be members, to attend.

Stephens returns

Mrs. Isabelle Stephens has returned from a two-week visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Lt. Col. and Mrs. James H. Hale and their son, James H. Hale Jr., in Apple Valley, California. During that time, they visited the Big Sur Coast Line, several old missions and other points of interest. She made the trip by plane.

Meador is here

Mrs. Anna B. Meador, of Naches, Washington, is here for a visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Seldon Horn, her granddaughter, Miss Kim Horn, her brothers and sisters, and other relatives and friends.

Evans entertain visitors

Mr. and Mrs. John Evans had with them during the Memorial Day weekend, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Evans and their daughters Bethany and Emily, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Stanfield and their sons, Zachary and Brandon, all of Lexington.

Flowers

Flowers on the altar of the First United Methodist Church during services there last Sunday morning were for Randall Newsome on his birthday, from Donna, Jessica and Roger.

ALC Reunion

Members of the Floyd County Alice Lloyd Alumni Association are asked to remember the "get together" on the ALC campus on Saturday, June 15, and are cordially invited to attend the event. Mesdames Robin Branham Moler, Director of Alumni Affairs at ALC; Alma Reffett Lowe and Otha Howard Hopkins, who are in charge of this event, are working hard to make this a "never-to-be-forgotten" day.

EKU Alumni Meeting

Invitations to the Triple-P Area Chapter Meeting of the Eastern Kentucky University National Alumni Association to be held at Jenny Wiley State Park on Saturday, June 22, are being received by EKU alumni members and former teachers at this college who reside in Floyd County. A picnic will be held at the Sky Lift Picnic Pavilion at 5:30 p.m. and attendance at the presentation of the musical comedy "Gypsy" at nearby Jenny Wiley Theater is scheduled to follow. Guests from the EKU campus will include President and Mrs. Funderburk; Larry W. Bailey, director of Alumni Affairs and Lally Jennings, assistant director. Every season brings change to Hillenmeyer Nurseries. But since 1954, their health insurance has been firmly rooted with Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

Truly one of Lexington's garden spots, Hillenmeyer Nurseries has been on the same 275-acre spread since 1841. Five generations of Hillenmeyers have planted, pruned and nurtured the trees, shrubs and evergreens they sell across the country.

At Hillenmeyer's, something new is always sprouting up. Except when you talk to Louis, Chris and Stephen Hillenmeyer about their health insurance. For the past 37 years, just one health insurance company has tended to their needs - Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky.

Innovative thinking and a wide range of quality health plans have enabled Blue Cross and Blue Shield to meet the Hillenmeyers' ever-changing needs.

While some companies change insurers like the seasons, the Hillenmeyers have opted for the strength, stability and resources of Kentucky's most popular health insurance company.

If you want your health plan to come up roses, contact Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky.

County Kettle

By M. L. Harmon

There are more and more recipes finding their way outside to the grill. The first six in this week's edition are all great. If you haven't dusted off the grill yet, now is a good time to start thinking about it.

Meat is often seared in a skillet over high heat to seal in juices, but you can do it on the grill. Place the meat 2 or 3 inches above the coals for the first three minutes, then raise the rack to 4 or 5 inches above the coals. Thicker cuts of meat should be cooked farther from the heat so they will cook more thoroughly. Turn meats only once and use tongs rather than a fork to prevent piercing the meat and losing flavorful juices.

If the grill is too hot, raise the rack and move coals to the side, of the meat. To increase the temperature lower the rack and move the coals closer to the meat.

To test temperature of grill, place open palm over the grill at cooking level. If you can hold it there 2 seconds the grill is hot; three seconds, grill is medium-hot; 4 seconds, grill is medium and 5 seconds, low. By the time you have tested your temperature you could have a well-cooked palm.

TERIYAKI LAMB CHOPS

6 (1-inch thick) lamb chops
1/2 c. finely chopped onions
1/4 c. soy sauce
1/4 c. cider vinegar
2 cloves garlic, sliced
2 tbsp. honey
2 tsp. ginger
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. pepper

Trim excess fat from lamb chops. Place meat in a shallow dish. Combine remaining ingredients, mixing well. Pour over lamb and refrigerate 8 hours.

Grill chops over medium coals 8 to 10 minutes on each side or to desired degree of doneness, basting frequently with marinade.

SMOKY OYSTERS SUPREME

24 oysters in shell
3 tbsp. chopped onions
1/3 c. butter or margarine, melted
2 tbsp. chopped pimento
1 tbsp. chopped parsley
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. hot pepper sauce
1/4 tsp. worcestershire sauce

Shuck and drain oysters. Place oysters in deep halves of shells. Set aside. Saute' onions in butter or margarine until tender; add remaining ingredients, mixing well. Spoon mixture evenly over oysters.

Arrange oyster shells evenly on grill rack; grill over medium coals 20 minutes or until edges of oysters begin to curl. Serve immediately.

For added flavor; place a few chips of green wood on the coals. If wood is too dry, soak in water for 30 minutes before using.

TEXAS-STYLE GAME HENS

4 cornish hens
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. garlic powder
1/2 tsp. chili powder
1/2 c. catsup
1 tbsp. vinegar
1/2 tsp. chili powder
1/2 c. apple jelly
Rinse hens with cold water and pat dry. Split Cornish hens in half. Combine salt, garlic powder and 1/2 teaspoon chili powder; sprinkle on both sides of halves with seasonings. Grill hens over medium coals 45 minutes, turning occasionally. Combine apple jelly, catsup, vinegar and 1/2 teaspoon chili powder in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until jelly melts. Brush hens with sauce and grill an additional 15 minutes, turning and basting frequently with the sauce.

Chicken has a tendency to burn on the grill. If it does begin to burn, place a disposable aluminum pan directly under the chicken to catch drippings and move coals to sides of pan.

TOURNEDOS DIABLES

1 (5 to 7 pound) beef tender loin, trimmed coarsely ground pepper garlic salt

1 (6 oz.) pkg. long grain and wild rice
2 c. beef bouillon
1/3 c. sherry
1/4 c. cognac
2 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. plus 1 tsp. dijon mustard
1 tbsp. tomato paste
1 tsp. worcestershire sauce
1/2 tsp. vinegar
1/2 tsp. garlic powder
1 c. sliced, fresh mushrooms
1 c. chopped green onions

Sprinkle tenderloin with pepper and garlic salt. Grill over medium coals 15 minutes on each side or until degree of doneness.

PREPARE RICE ACCORDING TO PACKAGE DIRECTIONS:

Set aside and keep warm. Bring bouillon to a boil in a heavy saucepan; reduce heat and simmer. Heat sherry and cognac in a small saucepan just until hot (do not boil); remove from heat, ignite, and pour over the bouillon. When flames die down, add remaining ingredients, except mushrooms and onions. Cook over low heat 15 minutes. Stir in mushrooms and onions, simmer 5 minutes.

Cut meat into 1/2 inch slices. Place rice on a serving platter; then arrange meat over rice. Top with sauce. Yield 8 to 10 servings.

MARINATED CHICKEN

1/4 c. oil
1/4 c. white wine
2 tbsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. dried whole rosemary
1/2 tsp. parsley flakes dash of garlic powder
1 (3 pound) fryer, cut up

Combine all ingredients, except chicken, mix well. Place chicken in a 13x9x2 inch dish. Pour marinade over chicken. Cover and refrigerate 4 hours. Remove chicken from marinade, reserving marinade. Place chicken on grill over medium heat, baste with reserved marinade. Grill chicken 55 to 60 minutes, until done, turning chicken and basting every 10 minutes. Yield 4 servings.

FLANK STEAK AND MUSHROOMS

1 1/2 c. red wine
1/2 c. soy sauce
1/4 c. plus 2 tbsp. worcestershire sauce
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 1/2 tsp. ginger
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 (1 1/2 pound) flank steak
1 (8 oz.) pkg. fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 tbsp. butter, melted

Combine first 6 ingredients in shallow dish, mixing well. Place steak in dish, cover and refrigerate 8 to 12 hours, turning steak occasionally. Remove steak from marinade, reserving marinade. Grill steak 4 inches from coals 5 to 7 minutes on each side or until desired degree of doneness, basting occasionally with reserved marinade.

Saute' mushrooms in butter in a skillet 5 minutes; add 1 cup reserved marinade. Bring to a boil; reduce heat, and simmer 5 minutes. Drain. Thinly slice steak diagonally across grain. Spoon mushrooms over steak. Serves 3 to 4.

OKLAHOMA SUNRISE

1 (12-oz.) can frozen orange juice thawed and undiluted
1 (12-oz.) can apricot nectar, chilled
1 1/2 pts. strawberry sherbet, softened
3 c. water
1 (25.4-oz.) bottle champagne, chilled
3 c. crushed ice whole strawberries (optional)

Combine first 4 ingredients in a large container, stir until blended. Chill. To serve, pour mixture into a punch bowl; add champagne and ice and stir gently to blend. Serve in stemmed glasses, and garnish with strawberries, if desired. Yield; 1 gallon.

CRUSTLESS SAUSAGE-APPLE QUICHE

1/2 lb. bulk pork sausage
1 1/2 c. finely chopped apples
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1 c. shredded sharp cheddar cheese
4 eggs beaten
1 c. half and half
1/2 c. biscuit mix

Cook sausage until brown, stirring to crumble; drain well. Set aside. Combine apples, cinnamon, nutmeg, cheese and sausage in a mixing bowl. Spoon into a 9-inch quiche dish or deep dish pieplate. Combine eggs, half and half, and biscuit mix, mix well. Pour over apple mixture. Bake at 375° for 40 minutes, until set.

DRESSED OYSTERS ON THE HALF SHELL (MICROWAVE)

3 slices bacon
1/2 c. round buttery cracker crumbs
1/4 c. mayonnaise
1 tbsp. minced green onion
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. hot sauce
1/2 tsp. worcestershire sauce
1/4 tsp. dijon mustard
1 dozen medium oysters

Place bacon on a rack in a 12x8x2 inch baking dish; cover with paper towels. Microwave at HIGH 3 to 4 minutes or until bacon is crisp. Drain. Crumble bacon and set aside. Combine next 7 ingredients and set aside.

Wash and rinse oysters thoroughly in cold water. To shuck oysters, place them on a large round plate with hinges toward inside. Microwave on warm 2 to 3 minutes or until shells open slightly, turning the plate once. Shuck oysters, reserving deep half of shell. Place oysters in colander to drain. Place oysters in half shells. Spread 1 1/2 teaspoons mayonnaise mixture over each oyster; top with bacon. Microwave at HIGH for 1 1/2 to 2 minutes, or until oysters curl, turning once.

CHEESE BISCUITS

Submitted by Pearl Smith
1 c. all-purpose flour
1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
2 1/2 tbsp. shortening
1/4 c. shredded cheddar cheese
1/3 c. milk

Combine first three ingredients; cut in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Stir in cheese and milk, and mix until blended.

Turn dough on to lightly floured board; knead lightly 4 or 5 times. Roll dough to 1/2 inch thickness; cut 12 biscuits with a 2 1/2 inch biscuit cutter. Bake until golden in a 400° oven, about 25 minutes.

ASPARAGUS IN SQUASH RINGS

3 lbs. asparagus spears, fresh
4 to 5 small squash, cut in 1/2 in. slices
1/2 c. butter or margarine
1/4 c. lemon juice
1 tsp. fine herbs

Snap off tough ends of asparagus. Remove scales from stalks with knife, or vegetable peeler, if desired. Cook covered in boiling water 6 to 8 minutes, until crisp-tender; drain. Place squash in a vegetable steamer over boiling water. Cover and steam 3 minutes, until tender. Remove centers of squash slices, leaving 1/4 inch flesh with skin. Insert 3 to 4 asparagus spears in center of each squash ring; place on a serving platter and set aside. Combine remaining ingredients in a saucepan, heat until butter melts. Pour over asparagus and serve.

GINGER GLAZED CARROTS

3 lb. carrots, scraped and sliced
3/4 c. minced onion
1 tsp. ginger
1/4 c. melted butter
1/4 c. firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 c. honey
1/4 c. orange juice concentrate, thawed
1/4 c. orange flavored liqueur
1 1/2 tsp. minced fresh thyme fresh thyme sprig (optional)

Place carrots in a vegetable steamer over boiling water. Cover and steam 8 to 10 minutes. Spoon into serving dish and set aside. Saute' onion and ginger in butter in a heavy saucepan until tender. Add remaining ingredients, except thyme sprig, cook until thick and bubbly. Pour over carrots, tossing gently to coat. Garnish with fresh sprig of thyme, if desired.

PRALINE FLAVORED COFFEE

1 1/4 c. coffee beans
2 tbsp. ground coffee
2/3 c. chopped pecans
15 c. cold water
1 c. praline flavored liqueur half and half (optional)
sugar (optional)

Combine 1/2 cup coffee beans and pecans in a shallow pan. Bake at 350° for 12 minutes. Cool. Combine baked mixture and remaining coffee beans in a grinder and grind to desired coarseness. Put water and liqueur into percolator. Place pecan mixture and ground coffee in basket. Cover and follow manufacturer's directions. Serve with half-and-half and sugar. Yield 16 cups.

COUNTY FAIR EGG BREAD

1 pkg. dry yeast
1/4 c. warm water
1/4 c. sugar
1/4 c. shortening
2 tsp. salt
1 c. milk, scalded
1/4 c. water
2 eggs, beaten
4 to 5 c. all-purpose flour, divided butter or margarine, melted

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Combine sugar, shortening, salt and milk in a large bowl, stir until shortening melts. Add water; let mixture cool. Add yeast mixture, eggs and 2 cups flour, beat at low speed until mixture is smooth. Stir in enough of remaining flour to make a soft dough. Place dough in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover and let rise in a warm place free from drafts. Until double in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Punch dough down. Cover and let rise for 30 minutes.

Divide dough into thirds. Shape each into a 12 to 14 inch rope. Place ropes on a greased baking sheet. Pinch ropes together at one end to seal. Braid ropes. Pinch ends to seal. Tuck ends under, and spread braids apart in center to form an oval shape. Cover and let rise until double, about 45 minutes.

Bake at 375° for 20 to 25 minutes, until golden brown, brush with butter. Yield 1 loaf.

CINNAMON-PECAN COFFEE CAKE

2 pkgs. dry yeast
2 1/2 c. warm water
3/4 c. sugar
3/4 c. oil
2 1/2 tsp. salt
7 1/2 c. all-purpose flour, divided
2 c. sugar
2 tsp. cinnamon
1 c. butter, melted
2 c. chopped pecans
topping glaze

Dissolve yeast in warm water, set aside. Combine sugar, oil, eggs, salt and yeast mixture in a large bowl. Beat at medium speed 1 minute. Add 4 cups of flour, beating at low speed, scraping bowl occasionally, until mixture is smooth and elastic. Stir in remaining flour to make a soft dough. Place dough in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover and let rise in a draft free, warm place 1 hour until double in bulk. Combine sugar, and cinnamon in a small bowl, set aside. Punch dough down. Shape into 1 inch balls. Dip balls in melted butter, then in cinnamon mixture. Lay half of balls in a well greased 10 inch bundt pan, sprinkling with pecans after each layer. Repeat procedure with another pan until all the dough is used. Cover and chill 8 hours. Pour glaze over dough and bake at 325° for 40 minutes. Invert onto serving platter, drizzle with glaze left in pan. Yield 2 (10 inch) coffee cakes.

GLAZE

1 c. whipping cream
1 c. brown sugar, firmly packed

2 tsp. cinnamon
Beat whipping cream until consistency of a thick milk shake. Stir in brown sugar and cinnamon. Yields glaze for two (10-in) coffee cakes.

LEMON-RAISIN SCONES

4 1/2 c. biscuit mix
1/4 c. brown sugar, firmly packed
1 c. golden raisins
1 tbsp. grated lemon rind
1 egg, beaten
1 c. milk
1 egg white
1 tsp. water
raw sugar

Combine biscuit mix and brown sugar. Stir in raisins and lemon rind. Combine egg and milk; add to flour mixture, stirring until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn dough out onto a lightly floured board. Pat into 1/2 inch thickness; cut with a 2 1/2 inch biscuit cutter. Place scones on a greased baking sheet. Combine egg white and water. Brush tops of scones. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake at 400° for 10 to 12 minutes, or until golden brown. Yield 2 dozen.

SHRIMP TART

pastry for 11-inch pie
4 c. water
1 1/4 lbs. unpeeled fresh shrimp
6 oz. shredded cheddar cheese
1/3 c. sliced green onions
4 eggs beaten
1 1/2 c. half and half
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. paprika
1/8 tsp. red pepper
1/2 c. coarsely chopped pecans

Line a 11-inch tart pan or quiche dish with pastry; trim off excess pastry around edges. Prick bottom and sides with a fork. Bake at 400° for 3 minutes, remove from oven and gently prick with a fork. Bake 5 minutes more. Cool. Bring water to boil, add shrimp, and cook 3 to 5 minutes. Drain well; rinse with cold water. Chill. Peel and devein shrimp, set aside 8 shrimp for garnish. Chop remaining shrimp. Layer chopped shrimp, cheese and green onions in tart pan. Combine eggs, half and half, salt, paprika, red pepper and pecans in a small bowl; pour over shrimp mixture. Bake at 325° for 50 minutes. Garnish with reserved shrimp in circle in center.

The three following recipes can be used to use up the left over meats we always end up with.

MEAT-AND-CHEESE CASSEROLE

8 oz. seashell macaroni
1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
1/4 c. chopped onion
1/4 c. butter or margarine, melted
1/4 c. all-purpose flour
2 c. chicken broth
1 1/4 c. half and half
1 c. shredded cheddar cheese
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/8 tsp. pepper
3 c. diced cooked ham, turkey or beef roast
1/4 c. Parmesan cheese

Cook seashell macaroni according to package directions, omitting salt. Drain and set aside. Saute' mushrooms and onions in butter in a large skillet. Add flour, stirring until smooth. Cook 1 minute, stirring constantly. Gradually add chicken broth and half and half; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and bubbly. Add cheese, lemon juice and pepper; stir until cheese melts. Reduce heat and simmer uncovered 10 minutes. Add macaroni and ham, turkey or beef roast. Spoon into a greased 2 1/2 quart casserole. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake uncovered at 350° for 30 minutes or until bubbly. Serve with a tossed garden salad. Yield 6 to 8 servings.

MEAT-RICE-TOMATO BAKE

2 c. cooked diced left over meat
1 c. cooked rice
1/2 c. chopped onion
1/4 c. chopped green pepper
1 4 oz. can mushroom stems and pieces, drained
1 (16 oz.) can tomatoes, chopped

(undrained)
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 c. soft bread crumbs
1/4 c. melted margarine

Combine first 8 ingredients, mix well. Spoon into a greased 2 quart casserole. Combine breadcrumbs and margarine, toss to mix well. Sprinkle on top of casserole. Bake, uncovered, at 350° for 30 minutes. Yield 4 servings.

LEFTOVER CASSEROLE Submitted by Helen Dill

1 can whole mushrooms
2 c. cubed cooked ham or turkey
1/4 c. chopped peppers
1/4 c. chopped onion
2 tbsp. margarine, melted
1/8 tsp. pepper
dash of paprika
1 tsp. worcestershire sauce
1 c. water
4 oz. uncooked egg noodles
1 c. commercial sour cream
Drain mushrooms, reserving 1/4 cup liquid. Set aside. Saute' ham or turkey, green peppers, and onions in margarine in a large skillet. Stir in pepper, paprika and worcestershire sauce. Add water, reserved mushroom liquid and noodles; bring to a boil. Cover and reduce heat, simmer 20 minutes adding mushrooms the last 5 minutes. Stir in sour cream. Cook until thoroughly heated. DO NOT boil. Yield 4 to 5 servings.

WHITE CAKE WITH STRAWBERRY AND CHOCOLATE GLAZE

Vegetable cooking spray
3/4 c. plus 2 tbsp. cake flour
1/2 c. superfine sugar
1 tsp. baking powder
1/4 c. oil
1/4 c. water
1 tsp. vanilla
3 egg whites
1/2 tsp. cream of tartar
1 c. sliced small strawberries
1/4 c. sweet chocolate morsels
1 whole strawberry

Coat a 10-inch flan pan with cooking spray. Set aside. Combine sugar, flour, and baking powder in a medium bowl; make a well in center of mixture. Combine oil water and vanilla; add to dry ingredients, stirring well. Set aside. Beat egg whites, at room temperature at high speed until frothy; add cream of tartar and beat until stiff peaks form. Fold egg white mixture into flour mixture. Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake at 350° for 18 to 20 minutes, or until wooden toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 10 minutes; remove from pan; cool completely on a wire rack. Arrange strawberries over cake and set aside.

Place chocolate morsels in a heavy-duty zip-top plastic bag; seal bag. Submerge bag in boiling water until morsels melt. Snip a tiny hole in top of bag, using scissors. Drizzle chocolate over strawberries. Garnish with whole strawberry.

GROUND MEAT MIX

3 lbs. ground turkey or beef
2 1/2 c. chopped onion
1 c. chopped green peppers
2 cloves garlic, minced
3 (15-oz.) cans tomato sauce
1/4 tsp. pepper

Combine first 4 ingredients in a Dutch oven, cook until meat is browned, stirring to crumble. Drain. Add remaining ingredients; simmer, uncovered, 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool. Put 3 cups mix each into 3 freezer containers, leaving 1/2 inch of headspace; freeze. Yield 9 cups.

SLOPPY JOES: Thaw 3 cups (1 package) ground meat mix, and heat thoroughly. Serve on buns. Yield 6 servings.

CHILI: Thaw 3 cups of meat mix; add 1 (15-oz.) can Mexican-style beans, undrained, and 2 tablespoons chili powder. Simmer 10 minutes.

SPAGHETTI: Thaw 3 cups meat mix, add 1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce, 1/2 teaspoon dried whole oregano, and 1/2 teaspoon dried whole basil. Simmer 10 minutes. Serve over hot spaghetti. Yield 4 servings.

College. He is presently employed as a firefighter for the Prestonsburg Fire Department. The wedding will take place at noon, Saturday, June 8, at the Pentecostal Church of God at Salyersville.

Music will be presented by Ward and Nancy Hale of Harold. There will be a reception at the Middlecreek Fire Department immediately following the ceremony. The couple will travel to Virginia Beach for their honeymoon, after which they will reside at Banner. The custom of an open church wedding will be observed.

Government in action

Mrs. Glensie Stumbo's fourth grade class at Prestonsburg Elementary got a glimpse of the legal aspect of government when Representative Greg Stumbo demonstrated (using students from the class) how laws are made at the state level of government. The students expressed their thanks to Rep. Stumbo.

Specialized services available at Wayland Senior Citizens Center

The Wayland Senior Citizens' Center recently announced the services which it offers to all Wayland area senior citizens. The center is located in the brick building next door to the post office.

*Transportation: Transportation is available for area shopping, doctor visits and the like. Call 358-4161 before 9 a.m. for pick up. The van schedule is also listed in the Floyd County Times.

*Meals: Meals at the center with other seniors and delivered meals for the homebound are available five days per week. Donations are accepted but not required.

*Visits: Friendly visits from a professional or volunteer for homebound persons are available.

*Health: Blood pressure checks and other minor medical work are available at the center.

*Recreation: Activities are scheduled regularly including crafts and out-of-town chartered bus trips to interesting places.

*Homecare: The Homecare program is available for those at least 60 years of age at risk of institutional placement or persons in an institution who could return home if the needed assistance were available. The benefits of the Homecare program include assessment for determining needs; case management planning to assure care; chores, yard work, heavy housework or minor repairs; home delivered meals; home health aide services through a licensed home health agency, housework, laundry, shopping, cooking and bathing services; home repair and improvement to make the home safer and respite care when the usual companion needs to be away.

The Homecare program is funded by a combination of federal, state and local money. A fee for service may be charged depending on income. Any extraordinary expenses may reduce or eliminate the fee. Most people who receive Homecare services are not billed, but many make voluntary donations.

If you need any of these services, more information or just some company, call the center at 358-4161.

Rick Keathley prepares to launch his model rocket on the football field at Betsy Layne High School.

Betsy Layne students launch science projects

by Sygonda Boyd
Betsy Layne High School students design, build, and launch them. Not Dr. Seuss' "wockets," but rockets — model rockets. The earth science students at Betsy Layne High School, as a class project, must each design, build, and "fly" a model rocket.

With more than 150 successful flights — and a few trips back to the laboratory to repair, redesign, or correct minor problems — these students have been gaining first-hand experience about aerodynamics and space science.

"I want these students to use the information and skills they have learned this year," said Terry Stewart, the earth-science teacher at Betsy Layne High School.

"The hands-on experience of this class make it practical and a lot of fun," said Derek Hale, a junior at the school. Hale feels that Mr. Stewart uses the technology of the day to enhance his classes.

"I just wish I had more equipment to expose these students to," said Stewart, "although it is a little difficult, they love to learn and grow mentally using the electronic equipment."

If you look up and see an object streaking across the sky, it may be a model rocket launched by Mr. Stewart's class. Oh, if you do see one, be sure to wave. It might be taking your picture.

Home again

Delores Conley has returned to her home in Prestonsburg after spending the winter months in Florida. She is shown enjoying the Floyd County Times at her home in Port Richie, Florida.

Learning independence

Bob Meyer, of Big Sandy Area, demonstrates basic electrical skills during the conference for the single parent held recently at Jenny Wiley State Park.

Single parents and homemakers' conference gets it all together

Carrying new tool boxes and wearing T-shirts emblazoned on the back with "I Got It All Together May 8, 1991", some 75 participants left the Getting It All Together Conference with new attitudes and awareness.

The event, subtitled "Survival Skills for the Single Parent in 1991," focused on helping the participants — primarily women — develop independence while exposing them to possible new career choices.

The conference, held at Jenny Wiley State Park, was initiated by the Kentucky Work Force Cabinet through the Single Parent and Homemaker Program at Prestonsburg Community College, according to Jean Rosenberg, Director of the program. The days events were planned and coordinated by a joint effort of the Single Parent/Homemaker Program, Big Sandy Area Development District JOBS program and Mountain Comprehensive Care. Also participating in the planning were Kentucky Department of Vocational Rehabilitation and Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program. Participants represented the BSADD; Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike. Rosenberg said, "The success of this day — and it has been tremendous — is due to the collaborative input of all involved. I'm extremely grateful."

Although the morning sessions dealt with such non-traditional topics for women as Auto Mechanics, Plumbing, Electricity and Home

Repair, the afternoon workshops were more typical offerings — Body Image, Wardrobe, Self-Defense and Physical Improvement. "Our goal was symbolized by the design on the front of the T-shirt — a rose with the stem entwining and encircling a hammer," explained Eileen Recktenwald from MCC. "We wanted to let the participants know they can be independent and still maintain their feminine identity. We made an effort to have people present the programs who would see the potential of all involved."

Workshop presentations were given by personnel from sponsoring agencies who had particular expertise. In addition were representatives from Appalachian Services Project, Christian Appalachian Project, Floyd County Health Department, Kentucky State Police, Mary Kay Cosmetics, Mayo Vocational School, Sears and Watson's.

"The support the conference received from the community was tremendous," Rosenberg said. "All those giving presentations did so gratis and they were excellent. The tool boxes were made possible through Christian Appalachian Project. They will serve to remind, 'I can make a difference in my life' as well as being a means to that end. Self-esteem is so important. Self-esteem and exposure — finding out, with instruction, what had previously seemed impossible isn't at all."

Violetta Adams of Pikeville summed up the day by saying, "I learned a lot and had fun, too." That's what "Getting It All Together" was about.

Birth announced

Jerry and Martha Justice, of Abbott Creek, announce the birth of their first grandson, James Wesley Jarrell, who was born Wednesday, May 8, at Our Lady of the Way Hospital. He weighed 7 pounds and 10 ounces, and was 20 inches long. The infant is the son of Brian and Cheryl Jarrell, of Prestonsburg. His maternal grandmother is Josie Wallace, of Alexandria, Virginia; maternal grandfather is John Yates of Douglasville, Georgia. Paternal great-grandparents are Ruby Woods, of Cow Creek, and the late Ike Woods. He is the step great-grandson of Gracie Lee Justice, of Allen. He is also the grandson of the late James Wesley Jarrell.

Cabbage Patch

By Nell Harmon

I think this, the first week in June, would be a good time for a checklist of things to do this month. I will not be doing anything, myself, except watching the weeds take over the few things I did finish early. If I'm lucky, some of the onions and potatoes will make it before the weeds smother them.

It is very important to keep your garden and flowers weed free as they compete for water, nutrients and light. A small hoe works great for removing weeds between rows, but those growing near or between the vegetable plants must be pulled out by hand. Water the ground well to prevent damage to the vegetable plants, or, if you were one of the smart ones, you have mulched around your plants and they are mainly weed free. A few weeds will make it through the mulch but, as their root systems are shallow and usually damp, they are easy to pull out. The sooner a weed is pulled up, the less chance of it going to seed and reseeding the area.

It is berry picking time again. Always allow your dewberry, blackberry and raspberry fruits to ripen on the plant. Berries will not ripen after they are picked off the vines. A ripe berry will easily separate from the vine, an unripe one will cling to the plant. When all the berries have been harvested, cut the vine back to the ground since next year's berries will be on new stems. The old berry vines will not produce fruit next year and will make the plant thicker and the picking harder. (more briars too).

When you snip chives for a recipe, always snip plenty of extra ones. Place the excess in a plastic bag and store in the freezer. By the time your chives have died in late autumn, you should have enough stored in your freezer to last the winter. Use the frozen ones as you would fresh.

When you scalp your lawn, as you mow it, you will not prevent the grass from growing any faster. All you will do is create open spots for weeds, insects and diseases. Never mow the lawn closer than two inches. This will cause the root system to spread, making the grass healthier and greener. Your lawn will look like velvet instead of a dog-eared, spotty mess.

Having just received this information, I find this the best time and place to pass it on to all my gardening friends.

SEED SAVERS EXCHANGE, a non-profit organization dedicated to preserving heirloom seeds, is looking for gardeners who have seed of vegetables that have been passed down for years and cannot be bought commercially. They are also interested in the traditional crops of the Indians, Mennonites and the Amish, along with selections that are extremely tolerant of cold, drought, diseases or insects. To be a member, you must be willing to exchange some of your seed for others you wish. Each year, the exchange publishes a yearbook listing members and the seeds they have to offer. For a free brochure, send a large self addressed stamped envelope to Seed Savers Exchange, R.R. 3 Box 239, Decorah, Iowa 52101.

If you buy, and you should, from a nursery that guarantees its trees and shrubs, here is a good way to keep your proof-of-purchase. Seal the receipt in a plastic sandwich bag, and place it in the hole. If the plant dies, you can dig it up with the receipt.

LIONS CLUB FISH FRY

The McDowell Lions will have their Sixth Annual Fish Fry on June 8 at the Minnie Park from 11 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Cost of the fish fry is $3 per plate. Also the organization will be selling chances on camping equipment that will be given away. Chances are $1 and may be purchased from any member of the McDowell Lions Club.

William Loftus, East Point, KY
Assistant Professor of Psychology
Prestonsburg Community College

For Bill Loftus, It Was A Better Way To Get Home Sooner.

Bill was lucky. He walked away from his car wreck last September. His seat belt probably saved his life, but it left him with a nagging pain in his lower abdomen. He toughed it out for two months before seeing his family physician, Dr. Blake Burchett. It was a hernia, needing surgical repair.

Bill did some homework on the hospital, a surgeon and even an anesthesiologist. He checked costs and reputations, looking for the right balance between economy and quality care. He needed to be in and out of surgery fast, and back home as soon as he could. The answer was Same Day Surgery at Highlands.

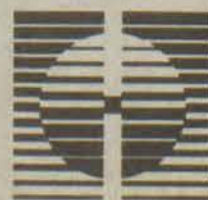

Bill is one of a growing number of smart healthcare consumers who ask for information and prices these days. With the help of his family doctor, his surgeon, Dr. William Cook, and the surgical and nursing staff at Highlands, he learned what he needed to know.

"We went into all the little details...how long it would take...what we were going to do...what recovery time would be like. I wanted to get in, I wanted to get it done and I wanted to get out. Everything went like a well-oiled machine...the people were wonderful, the care and concern that I experienced was wonderful."

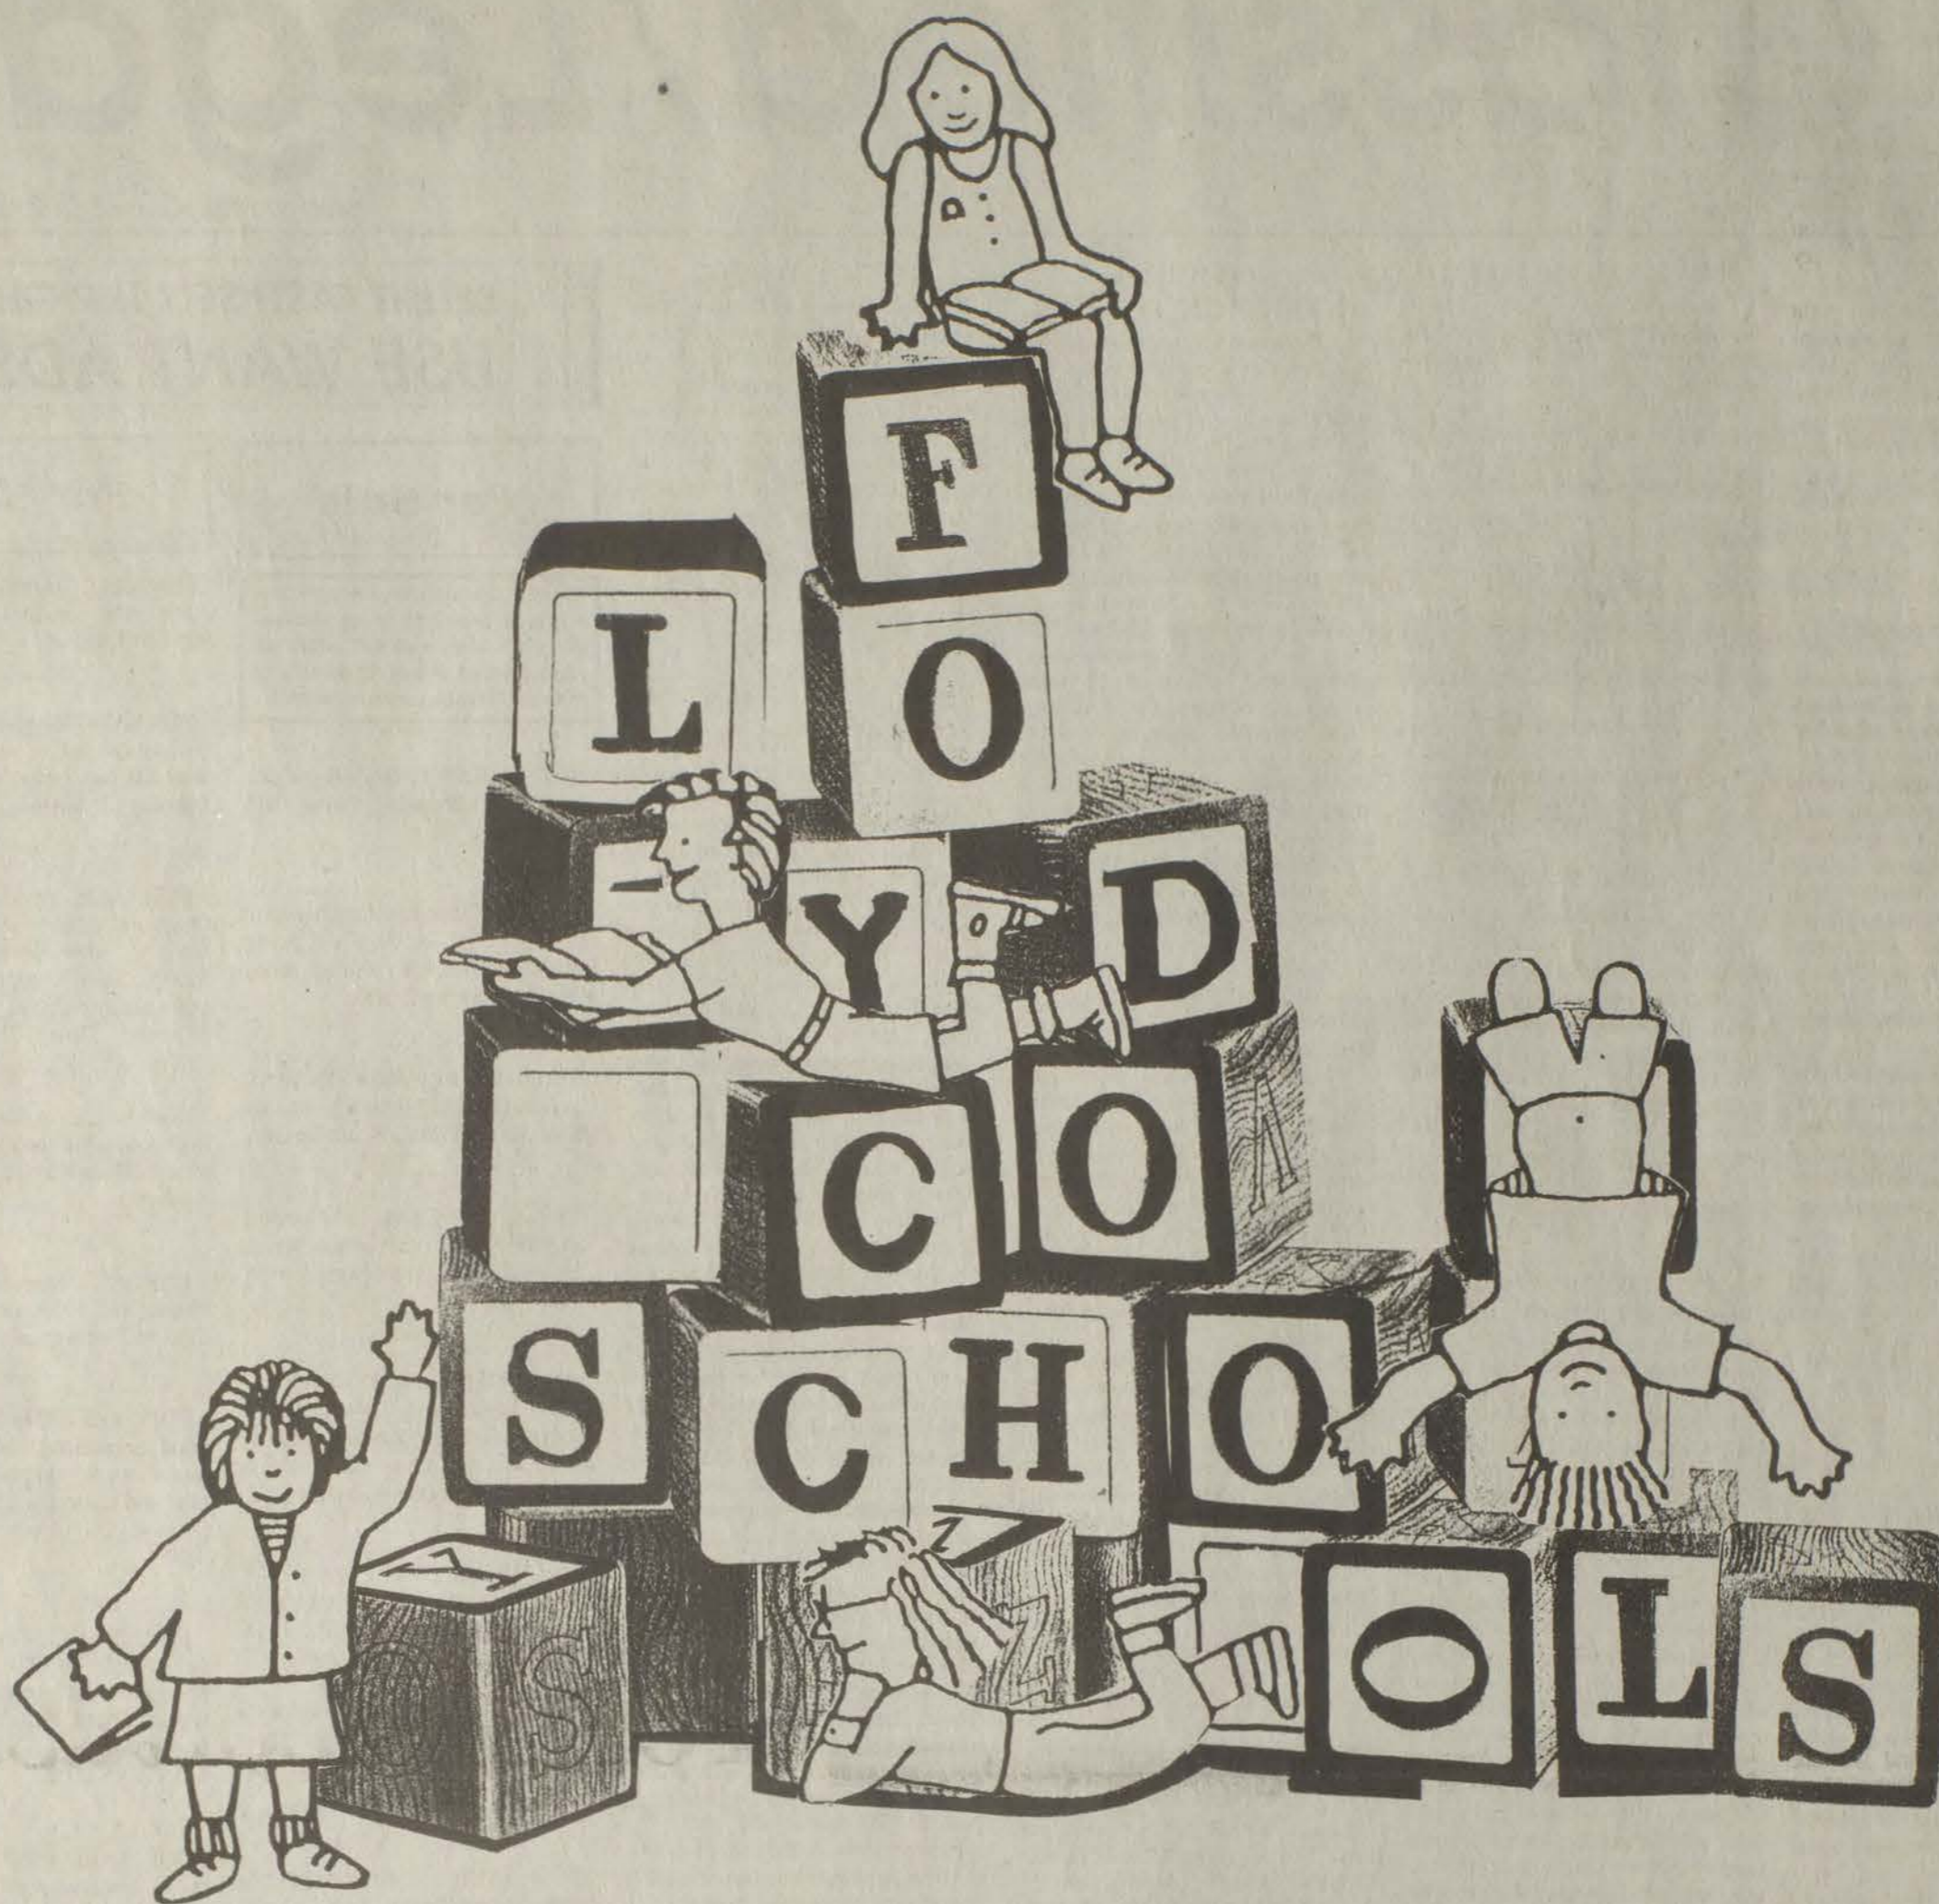

To learn more about Same Day Surgery, ask your family doctor or call Ann Martin at Highlands, toll free 1-800-533-HRMC or locally, 886-8511.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant To Application
Number 836-0117 Am. #4

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Coal Mac, Inc., P.O. Box 3428, Pikeville, Kentucky 41502, has filed an application for an amendment to an existing surface coal mining and reclamation operation. The amendment proposes to add an additional 62.0 acres of surface disturbance acres and will underlie an additional 2.3 acres for a total proposed permit acreage of 683.7 acres located 2.5 miles north of Galveston in Floyd County.

The proposed amendment is approximately 3.5 miles south from KY 979's junction with Branham Creek Road and located 0.1 miles east of Branham Creek. The latitude is 37° 27' 15". The longitude is 82° 37' 33". The surface area to be disturbed is owned by K.C. Rogers, R.B. Stevens, Ronnie Stevens, Kennis Tackett, Baird Justice, Randell Lawson, G.C. Stevens, and will overlie surface owned by Randell Lawson, K.C. Rogers, and R.B. Stevens.

The proposed amendment is located on the McDowell and Pikeville U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle maps. The operation will use the contour strip, area mining, auger and deep mining method of mining.

The amendment proposes to add 62.0 acres of mining and associated structures and 2.3 acres of augering on the Fireclay, and Elkhorn No. 3 coal seams.

The amendment application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. Good conditions keep NAR'S housing affordability index healthy

The National Association of Realtors' Housing Affordability Index declined slightly in March due to an increase in the median home price, but it still remained at an excellent level—115.3—as the average mortgage interest rate declined and the median family income rose.

The index, which measures the ability of a typical family to purchase a median-priced resale home was down just barely, 0.2 of a percentage point, from the revised February index of 115.5.

NAR President Harley E. Rouda said despite the rise in the median home price, which is a natural occurrence during the spring season, buyers are continuing to come out into the market because they recognize good conditions when they see them.

"Buyers are realizing the financial significance of interest rates in the nine percent range, and because of this they are no longer postponing their home purchases," he said.

"The good news is that favorable affordability conditions are bringing more and more first-time homebuyers into the market. Moreover, in the past the housing industry has been a strong contributor to economic growth and a precursor for economic recovery," he noted.

Rouda predicted that an expanding economy and attractive interest rates in 1992 should put home sales activity at its highest pace since 1988.

The March index shows that a family earning the national median income of $35,938 in March had 115.3 percent of the income needed to qualify for conventional financing covering 80 percent of a home priced at $96,500, the median existing-home price for that month.

Half the existing single-family homes sold in March for more than the median price of $96,500 and half sold for less. Similarly, half the families in the United States earn more than the median income of $35,938 and half earn less.

The interest rate used to compute NAR's Housing Affordability Index is a composite of closing rates for both fixed-rate mortgages and adjustable rate mortgages on existing homes, as reported by the Federal Housing Finance Board. It dropped from 9.75 percent in February to 9.50 percent in March.

When calculated with the board's effective fixed-rate mortgage interest rate of 9.65 percent for March, the index was 113.9. When calculated with the effective adjustable-rate mortgage interest rate of 8.74 percent for March the index was 123.4.

The median home price increased from $94,000 to $96,500, between February and March, the median family income rose $119, from $35,819 to $35,938 and the income needed to qualify for a loan covering 80 percent of the typical home increased from $31,012 to $31,159.

NAR Chief Economist John A. Tuccillo said the underlying economic indicators suggest the recession is nearing the end of its run. "I would be surprised if the economy is still sliding come mid-summer. Instead, I predict solid growth in the third quarter of this year," he said.

When NAR's affordability index measures 100.0, the median family income equals exactly the amount needed to purchase a median-priced home, using conventional financing and making a 20 percent down payment. The index has been above the 100 mark since March 1986. Because the national median income in March exceeded the qualifying income, a family earning the median income could purchase a home priced at $111,300, $14,800 higher than the median price for March.

Under March's affordability conditions, a family earning $20,000 would have sufficient income to qualify for a $62,000 home using a $49,600 loan. A family earning $30,000 would qualify for an $93,000 home with a $74,400 loan. A family earning $40,000 would have sufficient income to qualify for a $124,000 home with a $99,200 loan; and a family with a $50,000 income would qualify for a $155,000 home using a $124,000 loan.
