Guilty plea entered in drug case

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A 37-year-old Prestonsburg man entered a guilty plea in Floyd County Circuit Court last month on charges of trafficking and possession of cocaine and trafficking in marijuana.

James Dale Mosley entered the plea and it was recommended he receive a three-year sentence. Formal sentencing has been set for September.

Mosley was arrested by Prestonsburg police last November after he allegedly sold cocaine and marijuana to a police informant. After a search of his business, Dale's Citgo on North Lake Drive, police confiscated $5,300 worth of cocaine and found three bags of marijuana in a pickup truck on the premises. He was indicted by a Floyd County grand jury in March 1991.

In other police activity, the Floyd County Sheriff's office arrested Phoebe Dawn Caudill, 40, of Harold Tuesday after finding a stolen Quasar television at her home, said deputy Ricky Thornberry.

Singles tickets for each performance are as follows: Adults, $10; Seniors (55+), $9; and students (17 and under), $5. Opening night tickets are $35, $35 and $25 respectively. The celebration includes a reception, the premier of Gypsy and prizes such as a cruise.

New this year is the dinner theatre package. The evening begins at 6:30 p.m. with a chef's choice buffet and is followed at 8 p.m. by a performance of "Is There Life After High School?" — a warm and nostalgic walk down those high school hallways, filled with memories of schoolyard fights and first dates, prom night and final exams.

Both dinner and the show will be held indoors at the new Jenny Wiley State Resort Park Convention Center, located adjacent to Jenny Wiley Theatre. Performances are for three nights only, Saturday, June 29, Friday, July 12 and Sunday, August 11. Tickets for adults are $21, for seniors $20 and for students $14.

In the event of rain, the theatre will move indoors to the Convention Center where "...Life After High School?" will be seen instead of the regularly scheduled production.

Kentuckians across the state will be featured in the theatre's 27th season. Members of the acting company include Pikeville's Misty Daniels. Daniels is a veteran of the Jenny Wiley Theatre as she returns for her 9th season. Daniels is currently a sophomore English major at the University of Kentucky and is a featured performer with the Kentucky Opry. She will be joined in the acting company by Marty Childers of Pikeville. Childers comes to Jenny Wiley from Childers and Venters in Pikeville where he is a finance manager. This is his third season.

Robert Smith, a native of Hazard, will be returning for his second season. He is currently a senior musical theatre major at Northern Kentucky University.

Also a theatre major at NKU is Eric Ratcliff. A native of Prestonsburg, Ratcliff returns to the

Judge finds teacher and family guilty on pot growing charges

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A federal jury in Pikeville convicted a Knott County elementary school teacher, her husband and son Tuesday on eight charges relating to a drug conspiracy and growing 4,590 marijuana plants.

Donna Gaye Brenner Hall, 57, of Kite was convicted on four charges and Claude Hall Sr., 64, and Claude David Hall Jr., 37, of Kite were convicted on eight charges.

Sandra Hall, wife of Claude Hall Jr., was found not guilty on the eight counts.

Donna Hall, Claude Hall Sr. and Claude Hall Jr. were convicted of producing and growing marijuana; possession of 4,590 marijuana plants with the intention of distributing marijuana; violation of the federal drug conspiracy statute; and possessing, with the intent to distribute, three pounds of processed marijuana.

Claude Hall Claude Hall Sr. and Claude Hall Jr. were also convicted of possessing three destructive devices and using the booby-traps to protect 14 marijuana patches.

According to Louis DeFalaise, United States Attorney for the Eastern District, each of the booby-traps utilized blasting caps and dynamite devised to detonate by using trip wires concealed in the undergrowth.

One of the booby-traps was accidentally detonated by a Kentucky State Police officer, but he was not injured. The remaining two devices were disarmed by the Hazardous Devices Unit of the KSP.

The plants were discovered by the Governor's Marijuana Strike Force on September 11, 1990 near the Hall's residence at Kite. Kentucky State Police obtained a search warrant and conducted the raid on the Hall home, said John M. Compton, assistant United States Attorney.

The trial began May 28 and concluded with the jury's verdict Tuesday. Compton said police officials testified they found plants 12-15 feet high.

"We believe this verdict was consistent with the evidence presented," Compton said Thursday.

Bond has been set at $400,000 for Claude Hall Sr.; Donna Hall at $100,000; and Claude Hall Jr. is in federal custody awaiting sentencing for this conviction and a previous drug conviction.

Sentencing is set for August 8 before Federal Judge Joseph M. Hood in Pikeville.

Stand-in for judge awaited

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Chief Regional District Judge Edwin Rice is expected to name a temporary district judge in Floyd County to take over duties for Judge Harold Stumbo who is hospitalized in Lexington.

A spokesperson for Saint Joseph's Hospital said Judge Stumbo was admitted June 2, but would not disclose the nature of his illness. The spokesperson said Thursday that Stumbo's family said he was "doing fine."

Rita Cobb, personnel director for the state's Administrative Office of the Courts, said a request has been made from Floyd County for a temporary district judge. Cobb said Judge Rice would find a replacement for Judge Stumbo until he returns to work. Cobb said she was unaware of Stumbo's illness.

Judge Rice could not be reached for comment Thursday.

Arson investigation underway

A house fire at Stone Coal near Garrett Wednesday morning is being investigated by the Kentucky State Police's arson investigator Barry McKenzie. ## Stone Coal home lost, arson cited

Arson has been cited as the cause for a fire that destroyed a home at Stone Coal early Wednesday morning.

Kentucky State Police arson investigator Barry McKenzie said Wednesday that a fire at the same home last week was an apparent arson and, since the structure burned Wednesday, it would be further investigated by the KSP.

The Garrett Fire Department responded to Wednesday night's fire that destroyed the home of Kenneth Roberts. The one-story dwelling was fully engulfed in flames when firemen arrived at 3 a.m., said fireman Danny Francis. He said no one was at home at the time of the fire.

Francis said fireman responded to a fire at the home earlier in the week and they were able to extinguish the blaze.

The Hazards of Betting

Thomas Tackett, principal of Adams Middle School, read a book in the blazing sun on Tuesday. Tackett lost a bet with the sixth grade "Pacesetters" team. The Pacesetters bet Tackett that they could read 300 books in under four weeks. Under the conditions of the bet, if the books were read, then Tackett would have to sit under the school's flagpole, read a book and give a report. Tackett selected Louis L'Amour's acclaimed adventure novel "Last of the Breed" for his report. Tackett said he was "interested in motivating the students to read since everything in the school is so computerized." Tackett reportedly suffered no ill effects from his stay in the sun. MSU participates in drug program

Morehead State University is participating in an innovative state-wide program aimed at combating drug abuse among Kentucky's young people.

This summer, the University will offer a 10-day Institute for Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention as part of a federally-funded program known as Safeguarding Kentucky Youth or SKY.

The institute is designed for public school teachers, guidance counselors, administrators, librarians, coaches and parent volunteers.

Institute sessions will be conducted June 11-14, June 24-27 and July 2-3 in Laughlin Health Building from 10:10 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. each day. Among the topics to be covered are current trends in prevention, effective models for reducing drug problems, identifying and intervening with high risk youth, teaching life skills and evaluating school drug education programs.

A number of specialists in substance abuse prevention will speak at the sessions, including representatives from the state Department of Education Drug Abuse Prevention Program and the state's Substance Abuse Prevention and Intervention Program; two authors of nationally recognized drug abuse and prevention curriculums and representatives from the Southeast Regional Center for Drug Free Schools.

The Institute will be free to participants, but it also can serve as part of a three-hour graduate course. Those wishing credit will need to register and pay tuition fees. Enrollment in the institute may be accomplished by calling Dr. Oaks at 986-7878 and leaving a request on the answering machine.

Overload

NOTICE TO DELINQUENT FLOYD COUNTY TAXPAYERS

Kentucky Law requires the County Attorney to notify taxpayers that delinquent taxes have not been paid so that they may have an opportunity to pay the taxes before a lawsuit is filed against them. In that event, delinquent taxpayers could also be assessed additional costs, including court costs resulting from the lawsuit required to collect the taxes owed.

The Tax Collection Division of the Office of the Floyd County Attorney has been advised by the Floyd County Sheriff and Floyd County Clerk that certain taxpayers have failed to pay their property taxes and are now delinquent.

A letter of notification of delinquent taxes has been sent to the taxpayers who have failed to pay their taxes, giving them notice of this delinquency.

If the taxpayer thinks that he or she does not owe the bill, or if the property had been sold prior to the year(s) of tax liability, or if he or she feels that the property bill is incorrect, he or she should immediately contact the Property Valuation Administrator (Tax Commissioner) and get the bill(s) corrected.

The delinquent taxpayers are urged to immediately take the notice letter to the Floyd County Clerk's Office and make arrangements to pay the delinquent taxes, if owed.

Please take notice that the amount stated in the notice letter does not include interest and/or penalties owed by reason of the nonpayment of the taxes. However, the delinquent taxpayer may call the Floyd County Clerk's Office, (606 886-3816), and get the exact amount that is due upon receipt of payment. Payment can then be made to the County Clerk either in person or by mailing the payment in check or money order form.

The longer the property tax bill remains unpaid, the more interest and/or penalties will be added, so it is important that the delinquent tax bill is settled immediately.

Deputies obtained a search warrant and found the television at her residence in a closet, Thornsberry said. The television was covered by a bag of shoes and a blanket, the deputy said.

Caudill was charged with receiving stolen property valued over $100, a class D felony. She was taken to the Floyd County Jail and later released on bond.

In another incident, a 26-year-old West Prestonsburg man was charged with first degree assault after allegedly shooting his brother in the foot with a .22 caliber rifle.

Harry Litteral was arrested by Kentucky State Police trooper Mike Thorpe last Wednesday. The warrant said Harry Litteral shot Benjamin Little in the foot at Stumbo Hollow near McDowell.

Preventing Summertime Foodborne Illness

Washing your hands before dinner is more important than you may think.

Approximately 7 million Americans will have a foodborne illness this year. 85 percent of those illnesses will be due to improper handling of food. However, families can decrease the number of foodborne illnesses by following these tips:

- * Wash your hands before handling food and after handling raw poultry and meat, which may carry bacteria.
- * Keep foods properly refrigerated. A refrigerator temperature of 40 degrees Fahrenheit and a freezer temperature of zero degrees Fahrenheit prevents most bacteria growth. Leftover foods should be placed in small containers and refrigerated immediately.

* Perishable foods should never be left out for more than two hours. Foodborne bacteria can double in number every 20 minutes if they have moisture, warmth and nutrients. Bacteria do not usually multiply to dangerously high levels within two hours.

* Thaw food in the refrigerator, not on the counter. Surface bacteria can multiply to dangerous levels before the food is completely thawed.

* Cook food at proper temperatures. Most meat and fish should be cooked to an internal temperature of 160 degrees Fahrenheit. Pork should be cooked to 170 degrees and poultry should be cooked to 180 degrees. Hot cooking temperatures kill most bacteria in raw food.

Editor's Note: The following was a letter written to Mr. Frank Bennett of Prestonsburg. We run it here for informational purposes. ASP III

Your recent letter to the Transportation Cabinet has been forwarded to my office for response. You are correct that in 1984, the General Assembly considered requiring headlights to be used during daylight hours if it were raining hard enough to require the use of windshield wipers. However, the bill did not pass. Therefore, there are no requirements in Kentucky relating to the use of headlights except after dark.

Your second question was regarding the use of turn signals. KRS 189.380 requires that no person shall turn a vehicle or move right or left upon a roadway until such movement can be made with reasonable safety, nor without giving an appropriate signal. It further requires that a signal indicating the intention to turn right or left shall be given continuously for not less than 100 feet traveled by the vehicle before the turn and that all signals required shall be given by signal lamps or mechanical signal devices. The penalty imposed for conviction of violating this statute is a fine between $20-$100. Enforcement of this statute must be accomplished by law enforcement officers. If you have found the non-use of turn signals to be a particular problem in your area, I suggest that you contact the State Police Post in your area, as well as your local law enforcement agencies and ask them to consider a higher priority for enforcement of KRS 189.380.

I trust this answers your questions. If there is anything else we can do, please feel free to contact us.

All teachers are truly appreciated at Osborne Elementary School. On May 29, parents of the Osborne PTO demonstrated by serving coffee, juice, donuts and cookies at morning break and veggies, chips, dip and cake at lunch. The entire day was used to thank the teachers for the great job they do.

The PTO would also like to thank Hall's Market and Slones' Market for donating items for the event.

The PTO also wishes a special goodbye and good luck to our principal, Bobby Jones, who is retiring this year and to Sherri Jones, our first grade teacher, who is moving away this summer. Our love and prayers go with you both.

One of the first items that people look forward to in each issue of the paper is the column entitled "A Look at Sports" by Ed Taylor.

I look for Ed to come under the category of the Whitfields, Clemons and Strawberries.

Really, in Floyd County, his column is well-appreciated.

This letter is in response to your editorial cartoon concerning homicide rates and the relative position of Detroit, Michigan as shown in your May 29 issue. While I do not have your cited source material anymore, I believe your depiction of Detroit to be inaccurate. While I am not sure what is meant by "average comparative," my recollection is that Detroit ranked behind Washington, D.C. on a per capita basis as well as two other cities, including Atlanta, Georgia, which was not shown in the cartoon. As a matter of fact, Detroit ranked behind Atlanta in all of the 25 major crime categories except one, which I believe was aggravated assault.

My Pike County-born wife spent the last five years of her life enjoying Detroit after living in Chicago, Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. Crime in Detroit is no worse than anywhere else. The national media slammed Detroit with the story of the Persian Gulf veteran who was killed shortly after returning home, but the follow-up story that the murder was actually a setup by his wife and that he was killed by her brother did not create comparable headlines.

Detroit has provided significant economic opportunity in the past and we are attempting to return our city to economic and social prosperity. All cities, including Detroit, have significant problems to overcome of which we are very aware, and the cartoon shows that several Kentucky counties also have crime problems. Media bashing of this nature serves no useful purpose to anyone.

I am trying to put together the Preflatish family history. I would like any dates, such as births, deaths, marriages, military services etc.; places of these events and any stories you may have about members of the Preflatish family.

At this time I am in need of information about the following relatives: George Preflatish, Mary Welch-Preflatish, Martin "Pre" Preflatish (married to Betty Hill-Preflatish and Mary Preflatish (Martin's sister). Also, from the family of Betty Hill-Preflatish: Felix Frank Hill, Elizabeth "Lizzie" B. Webb-Hill, Catherine Hill, Lenora Hill-Hayes, William "Hoss" Hill, Della Hill-Jackson, Sarah Jane Hill-Himes and "Talt" or "Tou" Webb.

No information is too trivial. Please do not assume that I have most (or even some) of the facts I am requesting. I am missing quite a bit of the information I need.

Also, if you are in possession of any old photos, newspaper clippings or documents you think might be helpful, please send copies. All information is important. My address is Rt. 1 Box 168-A, Depauw, Indiana 47115.

Thanks in advance to everyone who will take the time to help me. I look forward to hearing from you.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

We've searched voraciously this week for something in which to sink our editorial teeth but our attention keeps turning toward the windows where Mother Nature beckons and summertime looms.

Darn it, it's just too nice to be nasty and, thanks to the chiropractor, our back feels too good for us to go jumping on someone else's.

That sigh of relief you just heard comes from members of the Times' staff.

As you may have noticed, our staff columnists have directed much of their attention lately to the behind-the-scenes goings-on here at the Times office. From their writings we have been able to glean the following conclusions:

(A.) Members of the editorial staff should be very careful in their choice of words when referring, in print, to members of the advertising department.

(B.) Members of the advertising department should use caution when referring, in print, to members of the editorial staff.

(C.) Separate entrances come in handy.

(D.) Barbed wire is an effective deterrent.

(E.) Wabbit season!

(F.) Duck season!

(G.) Wabbit season!

(H.) Duck season!

(I.) Wabbit season!

(J.) Duck season!

(K.) AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!

Meanwhile, back at the ranch....

The reptile ranch, that is.

Our son, Allan, aged four, collects things.

Live things.

There's a variety of beetles and bugs, most of which have at some time or another been on the menu for the prized possessions...lizards.

There are two things every person should know about lizards:

(1.) They are very quick on their feet.

(2.) They know who the anti-lizard people are in every household.

Mothers and sisters are usually anti-lizard, and our house is no exception.

There are two things every person should know about anti-lizard people:

(1.) They are very quick on their feet.

(2.) Especially when a lizard is on the loose.

A few days ago, Allan's lizard, a blue-tailed skink named "Spike," made a break for it during a bug-feeding session.

As chance would have it, both the anti-lizard people in our household were on the scene which, with Spike's escape, immediately transformed into a scene from a Three Stooges clip as lizard and anti-lizard forces came face to face.

As the anti-lizard pair of mother and daughter attempted to make exits in walls where none had existed before, Spike made a dash for the door which, fortunately for all concerned, had been left open.

The Great Getaway left the four-year-old lizard owner in tears (of sorrow), the anti-lizard owners in tears (of joy); and this observer in tears (of laughter).

Where's the video camera when you really need it?

Working to make health care affordable

Thirty-seven million Americans do not have access to adequate health care. Yet, $600 billion is annually spent on health care in this country. Billions of those dollars are lost in malpractice lawsuits and medical procedures to guard against such suits.

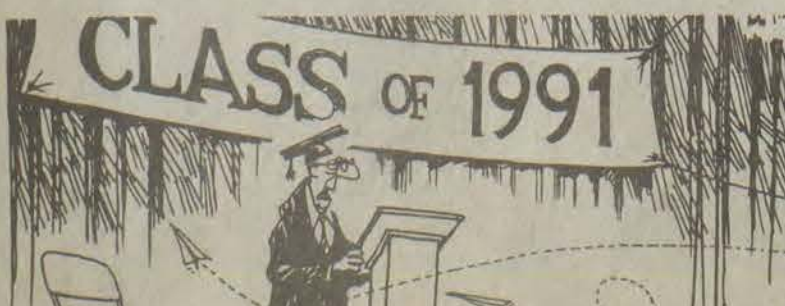

Earlier this month, President Bush sent a proposal to Congress to help combat this widespread problem. The proposal would limit medical malpractice lawsuits—a plan endorsed by the American Medical Association (AMA) for the past five years.

The plan emphasizes reduction of insurance premiums, lowering the number of defensive medical measures and increasing public access to health care. It is estimated that malpractice lawsuits add $5.6 billion a year to insurance premiums. Defensive medicine adds another $15 billion to $40 billion annually to the cost of health care. Total medical liability premiums tripled from 1982-1988.

The high price of malpractice insurance affects not only the cost, but also the availability of health care. Many doctors choose to give up high-risk specialties such as obstetrics in order to avoid malpractice suits and high insurance rates.

Medical malpractice is an issue which must be addressed to make health care more affordable and accessible to all Americans. We must balance the rights of patients to fair compensation with the rights of all Americans to affordable health care.

Writing workshop examines holistic scoring

by Thelma Spears

Recently, a Writing Workshop, designed as a follow-up to a previous workshop, was held at Osborne Elementary for the Osborne and Melvin teachers. The presenters were Willie Elliott, English and journalism teacher from McDowell High School, and Sherry Tackett, first grade teacher from Prater Elementary. Patricia Watson, chairperson or subject advisor for English/Language Arts and Thelma Spears, coordinator of writing projects were also on hand for a question and answer session. Those who participated in the workshop included the following: Geneve Stone, Peggy Bradford, Amber Anderson, Linda Holbrook, Sandra Newsome, Colleen Johnson, Jan Akers, Carlotta Jones, Sherry Tackett, Willie Elliott, Patricia Watson, and Thelma Spears.

The objectives of the workshop were to share ways/means of utilizing the writing process, to acquaint the workshop participants with holistic scoring, to practice holistic scoring, and to encourage professional skills exchange among teachers.

In the first presentation, Willie Elliott explained that holistic scoring is based on the theory that the whole is more than the sum of its parts and that the most valid assessment of writing will consider how all components of writing—organization, voice, mechanics, and so forth—work in harmony to achieve an overall effect. He also pointed out that in scoring writing papers holistically, the following traits should be considered: quality and completeness of ideas, development of ideas, organization, voice, word choice, sentence structure and fluency, and conventions. He then gave writing handouts to teachers to read and score holistically. Afterwards, teachers shared their scores and were pleased to learn that their evaluations were much alike. Everyone agreed that holistic scoring was a time-saving method of paper grading.

After the session on holistic scoring, teachers from Melvin and Osborne Elementaries shared their own experiences with using the writing process and with trying various types of writing projects.

Then Sherry Tackett, first grade teacher from Prater Elementary, did a presentation on classroom writing projects. She showed models of individual students' books, a class book, and a class designed television box containing a rolling "scroll-screen" of students' stories. She also talked about inventive spellings and ways that students could keep tabs on learning new words and increasing their vocabulary.

Following these presentations and a sharing of ideas, the teachers did a written evaluation of the Writing Workshop.

Recreation season begins at Dewey Lake

The Corps of Engineers at Dewey Lake are gearing up for the 1991 summer season, opening up their recreation areas. "With the beautiful weather we've been having lately, the Downstream Recreation Area has already experienced heavy visitation on weekends" says Corps of Engineers Resource Manager Patti Williams.

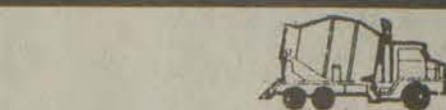

All Corps operated recreation areas, (the Damsite, Picnic Hollow, the Downstream Recreation Area and the Shoreline Campgrounds and Picnic Areas) opened on May 1, except for German, which opened May 24.

According to Manager Williams, many improvements have been made in the recreation areas in preparation for this year's summer season. An additional restroom was constructed in the Downstream Recreation Area near the playground. "The facility, sided in red cedar, should adequately handle the large crowds at the playground and the fishermen". A split rail fence has been installed around the men's and women's horseshoe pits at the shelter overlooking the playground. Williams hopes this will deter children from running through the area when people are pitching horseshoes. A pay phone has also been installed behind the restroom near the ballfield and additional security lighting has been installed near the Spillway for night fishing.

Of the 35 lakes in the Corps Huntington District, (covering parts of Kentucky, West Virginia, Ohio, Virginia and North Carolina), Dewey Lake's Downstream Recreation Area receives the highest visitation. For this reason, safety is a critical consideration in preparation for the summer season. All playground equipment has been made safer by the addition of impact sites below all of the equipment. According to Manager Williams, "We impact under each piece of equipment with a combination of sand and pine bark mulch. This combination provides a very effective shock absorber." Some of the old and worn playground equipment is being replaced with new items.

Future improvements planned include: additional security lighting in the Downstream for walkers, additional parking, and handicapped accessibility to the Picnic Hollow restroom.

"Kill the Wabbit!"

You never know what kind of stories you'll hear while waiting in line. It seems that when your feet are doing nothing, your ears pick up the slack.

A couple of weeks ago, I traveled to Louisville with my friend Dusty Weathers to see Queensryche in concert (which was a fantastic show, by the way). Since the concert was general admission, we got there about four hours early to get good seats. While sitting in line, we overheard the following story, which allegedly really happened, somewhere near Bowling Green...

Two families had adjoining backyards. One family had an excitable dog, the other had a rabbit, which was kept in a cage.

Now, the dog didn't like the rabbit much and would bark at it continuously, making the rabbit very upset and giving it mild heart attacks from time to time. (I'm really not making this up.)

One day, the dog's owner walked into his backyard to find his dog throwing the rabbit, which had somehow escaped its cage, around the backyard. In horror, the man tried to rescue the rabbit, but when he got the little creature away from the dog, it was already dead.

The dog hadn't mauled the animal, so it looked like it had died of natural causes. To avoid blame, the man went over to his neighbor's yard while no one was looking and slipped the rabbit back into its cage.

The next day, the man saw his neighbor's five year-old daughter, who had dearly loved the rabbit. She looked distraught. The man walked up and said, "Hello. How's your rabbit?"

Her eyes grew wide with fear. "We're not allowed to talk about the rabbit," she said quietly, almost in a whisper.

"What do you mean, you're not allowed to talk about the rabbit?" he responded.

"I told you, we're not allowed to talk about the rabbit."

"Please tell me."

"Alright," she answered, "a few days ago, Daddy found the rabbit dead in its cage. He buried it in the backyard, next to that tree between our houses. The next day, the rabbit was back in its cage again."

Ah, those Western Kentucky people and their dogs that can't figure out when not to dig.

Trotters in the trough

This week marks the fourth anniversary of the Prestonsburg High School post-Graduation Practice Pizza Eating contest at Mr. Gatti's in Paintsville. On that fateful day in 1987, R.B. Davis, Tony Skeans, Dave Stanford and I endeavored to put away more pizza than humanly possible.

Exact details of that day are difficult to find, except that our table looked like a military offensive had taken place. Between the four of us, we put away somewhere in the neighborhood of 160 slices of Gatti's pizza. After that, everything got kind of hazy. Ah, memories. I wonder what it says about me that I still remember that. Any amateur psychoanalysts out there? Anyway, have a good week. Later days.

Message to the grads

Have you noticed how everyone is giving messages for the graduating classes? It happens every spring. Everybody, but especially politicians, gives messages that are supposed to carry the graduates through life. The fact that some of them have no talents or ambitions has little or nothing to do with it. So what message would I give if I were asked (which I won't be)?

I would tell them nothing. I've been telling them for four years and they have paid little or no attention. So I would be a little naive to think that they would start listening at this stage. I remember the speaker at my commencement exercise talking about "hitching your wagon to a star."

That would have been good advice, but since I didn't have a wagon, I soon lost interest in his speech and thought about more pressing matters such as: how am I going to college when I don't have one red cent?

I don't mean I wouldn't talk to them. I would tell them a few jokes or tell them about a quaint custom we had when I went to college. We called it going to class every day. I would try to tell them what college life is like. It would be totally wrong, but maybe they could get a laugh or two from some of the bizarre things we used to do. I know they would get a hoot hearing how we went to the library on Wednesday nights on a regular basis to study. I know they would find it downright primitive that some of us did not have a car to drive to college. We had to wait until we made some money before we could buy one. I would refrain from mentioning the fact that my generation has cheated like the dickens on our student loans. They wouldn't understand that concept anyway. Now everything is an out-and-out scholarship or grant.

I would try to guide them in their decision in choosing a college, but they seem to have that down to a science. It goes something like this: I will go to the school that offers the most grants and scholarships. Come to think of it, that's not bad reasoning.

By this time the teacher would come out in me. Despite the heavy odds against their listening, I would remind them that money isn't everything. (That's easy for me to say since I don't have any.) I would remind them of all the opportunities out there. Since I am always stealing lines and ideas, I would lay the old "Do what you love, the money will follow" line on them. Then they would get the old standard, "Remember who you are and be proud of it. You put your pants on just like the other guy (or gal?). Above all, when you get to be a state legislator, vote for teacher raises." Then I would tell them how we love them and how important it is for them to be happy in life. I would end the little talk with this disclaimer: That will be fifty cents payable immediately, please.

The John R. Bryden Scholarship Fund was established by Transylvania in 1984 and is directed toward promising students from the Appalachian region. The program is sponsored by a grant from a charitable foundation.

Transylvania president Charles L. Shearer said that the scholarship program was established with the hope that students will return to Appalachia upon completion of their studies and contribute to the future of the region.

The killing fields

If you're an eastern Kentuckian who subscribes to a daily central Kentucky newspaper, you've probably been reading a lot about how we mountain folk are killing off our inhabitants like pigs to the slaughter.

It doesn't bother me that the entire world perceives us all as stereo-typed "Lil Abner's and Daisy Mae's," but it does anger me to think that people from our own state actually hold the same theory.

"You mean you really live in Eastern Kentucky?" asked a woman who was seated next to me in a central Kentucky doctor's office. "Aren't you afraid?"

"Of what?" I asked.

"Being killed," she whispered.

"Who's going to kill me?" I shouted.

"I just thought if you lived in the mountains, you might be in danger, that's all. Where's your gun?"

"What gun?"

"You mean you don't carry a gun?"

I thought everyone there carried a gun.

"I don't even own one," I answered.

The woman gasped, eying me as if I was the sole survivor of the Titanic. "How have you managed to stay alive so long?" she queried.

"Oh, I don't know. I wear my seat belt, try to exercise a little, and wash my hands before meals. It's a simple regimen."

She must not have understood my answer because the next thing I knew she was calling for her daughter to come over and gawk at me.

"You aren't going to believe this," the woman said to her off-spring, "but this woman actually lives in Eastern Kentucky!"

"You're lying!" the daughter screamed. "Have you asked to see her scars?"

"What scars?" I asked in alarm.

"Stab wounds, or maybe you just have a bullet wound or two. Are there other survivors?"

"I'd hope so. I'd planned on returning to my family."

The intercom paged the woman giving me a reprieve from fielding more questions from a person who was obviously on leave from a mental institution. As she left, I breathed a sign of relief and reached for a magazine just as a flashbulb exploded in my face.

"What are you doing?" I asked a man as I watched him focus the lens on his camera in anticipation of another picture.

"I just overheard your conversation, and I wanted your photo for my wife and kids. They'll never believe I saw one."

"One what?"

"An Eastern Kentuckian," he nervously grinned. "From what we hear, you people are getting about as rare as hen's teeth."

"That's an odd expression coming from such a, ahem, cultured person," I remarked, smugly. "You wouldn't have relatives from the mountains, would you?"

"My grandmother. She lived in the mountains, but, of course, she's dead now."

"Of course," I said, dryly.

"Twenty-gauge?"

"Oh, no. She died a natural death."

"Over dosed on hooch, heh?" I laughed.

"I don't think that's funny. She was a Christian woman."

"Christian, hhm," I said with a hint of annoyance in my voice, as I reached for my purse. "Not your usual mountain name. Are you sure she wasn't a Hatfield or McCoy?"

"Don't get your gun out! I didn't mean to upset you. It's just that my wife has never seen an Eastern Kentuckian before. Here," he said, slinging the camera onto my lap. "You can have the film. Just don't shoot!"

His words came too late as I watched him throw up his hands in defense before aiming and shooting his head off. The picture's hanging on our living room wall.

And people wonder why we're hostile.

Soapbox

The other day I had the opportunity to travel with the sheriff and one of his deputies to deliver shirts to the kids who graduated from the D.A.R.E. program.

by Tess Whitmer

For those of you who don't know, D.A.R.E. stands for Drug Abuse Resistance Education. It is a program targeted primarily towards elementary school kids with the goal of educating the young about the dangers of drugs before they have a chance to be exposed to them.

A good philosophy. Now, when, or if, these children are ever faced with the decision of whether or not to experiment with drugs (or alcohol) they will be able to make an educated choice.

I don't remember a whole lot of drug education when I was in school. Lord knows it was needed. Just looking at what education has done to curb cigarette smoking shows what a powerful tool it is.

When I was in school it was cool to smoke. If you didn't smoke everyone thought you were a nerd. (Do they still use the word nerd these days?) Nowadays, if a person lights up they are more than likely the oddball in the room. It attracts uncomfortable stares and makes a person feel awkward.

I guess you could term this peer pressure in the reverse of the norm. Peers usually pressure you to do something, not to do something. Today, fewer and fewer people are lighting up, all because it has been ingrained that picking up the habit is a stupid thing to do.

I'm really pleased to see this kind of valuable lesson being taught in our schools. I remember when it was a major debate about whether to allow sex education in schools.

The argument was, if a kid is going to do it, telling them not to is not going to stop them. This may be true, but who says you have to tell them not to? The key is to give them the facts and allow them to make their own decisions. You'll receive a much better response and the children will feel as if they are respected for their ability to tell right from wrong.

Add to this a subtle "atta boy" for making the right choice for their health and welfare, and you have less than will stick. One thing a person must always remember, however, is that children learn mostly by watching others, including adults. So, if you are doing something you don't wish your child to do, don't hide it or admonish your child for asking about it, just calmly explain to them your reason. Children want to know why, if you can tell them that, you are miles ahead.

The other day seven-year-old Tiffany came into my office and said "if I can only get my mommy to quit smoking..." I don't know why she was on this subject, but I tried to explain to her that it wasn't because her mother didn't want to quit but, rather, that she couldn't — easily.

I then proceeded to explain to her what an addiction was. I tried. I couldn't think of one thing in a seven-year-old's life that would compare to an addiction to nicotine. I couldn't think of a thing that a child that age could be addicted to.

I tried to explain first what a habit was. She understood that. Then I equated an addiction to a habit that you can't quit because of the chemical change your body goes through when you do. She listened intently to everything I was saying, but her face said she didn't quite understand.

I began to realize what a difficult task the D.A.R.E. instructors must have teaching children about something for which they have no basis of comparison. I tested my teaching skills and asked Tiffany if she had any addictions. She began to shake her head no and then nodded firmly and said "Pepsi."

I think she got it.

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor—Sports Editor

BLUEGRASS GAMES IN JULY

From July 26-28 the Kentucky Bluegrass Games will get underway in Lexington as over 15,000 athletes are expected to gather at Commonwealth Stadium for the opening ceremonies.

Last year I had the opportunity to cover the games for the first time. While I must confess that finding all the locations in Lexington where different games were being held was difficult, I still enjoyed being there. It was good to see all those from Floyd County that took part in the different games and how well they did. I hope that this year we will have even more taking part in the different games. Three-no-three basketball should be very popular for many here in the county. Johnny Mayo, Kokie Dingus and Delbert Hall came home with a medal in their age group in the event. It was something to see about 12 games of basketball going on at one time. I watch the wheelchair basketball games and it was really amazing how well they could maneuver those chairs, pass the ball and shoot the basketball.

For many of our folks going to the Bluegrass Games this season, some will be going for the first time and others will be making a repeat trip. We had the Brew Crew in girl's softball and of course Ken's Sport Shop in men's softball as well as other teams. Kenny tells me that his team has already been accepted in the game this year and they are ready to win it all.

If you are planning on entering the games in Lexington this year, notify me by a phone call and I will list it in the sports section as well as cover your event while I am in Lexington that weekend covering the games. I don't know if you don't let me know.

Speaking of softball, the Archer Park Fourth Of July Softball Tournament is scheduled to begin on July 4th at Archer Park. If you want to enter a team in the affair contact Kenny Conley at Ken's Sport Shop or you can catch him at Archer Park in the evenings up to about 9 p.m. Kenny tells me that he makes his own hot dog sauce they sell in the concession stand at Archer Park. If that is true, and I don't doubt him, he will have to win our "Best Hot Dog Award" for the best "dogs" in sport concession stands in Floyd County. They are delicious!

WHO WILL COACH BASKETBALL AT WHEELWRIGHT? WHAT ABOUT FOOTBALL?

Still undecided is the coaching position at Wheelwright High School. Actually two openings exist at the Left Beaver School. The head football coaching position became vacant when Roger Johnson resigned the position last winter. According to Floyd County Athletic Director Frankie Francis, the Board of Education has just advertised the opening for a football and basketball coach at Wheelwright and must advertise it for 20 days according to state law. Of course as everyone knows Monroe Jones stepped down as head basketball coach at Wheelwright to accept a similar position at Powell County this fall. So, I am asked daily, "who will be the new basketball coach at Wheelwright?" Nobody asks "who will be the football coach?" Donnie Daniels, who coached football at Allen Central, is at the school.

Question! When the head basketball coaching position is filled, will it be just until consolidation takes place. Then will the process of hiring another coach or rehiring the same coach for the new Left Beaver High School have to be advertised all over again? Who will be the new head basketball coach at the Left Beaver High School? The new coach at Wheelwright, whoever he may be, or Johnny Ray Turner of McDowell? Will the new coach at Wheelwright settle for a one or two year deal? Or will he expect to be considered for the new school job?

Coach Turner certainly has proven himself to be one of the top coaches, not only in the 58th District, but also in the 15th Region. Said one anonymous Pike County spokesman, "we'll take Johnny Ray Turner anytime." Coach Turner certainly has to be the lead candidate for the new school job now that Coach Jones is leaving.

Now, can we find someone to take the job at Wheelwright without the promise of the coaching job at the new school? We'll just have to wait and see how the drama all turns out.

APPRECIATE COMMENTS!

I have appreciated all the phone calls here at the office, comments around the ball parks and the many positive comments we have heard on the sports section in the Times. But it is more than just me. There are a lot of people behind the scenes that you never see their byline in the paper. They are the real staff at the Times. We have a great group of people here that does a real professional job of putting out a paper. It all starts with our Publisher Scott Perry who supports us in all that we do. When you see him, tell him how much you enjoy the sports section.

TEE WATKINS: FISHERMAN

Tee will be fishing for the big bucks this month in the Red Man Bass Tournament at Buffalo, New York on June 21-22. Tee is from East Point and says that he is getting excited about the upcoming tournament. He will leave for New York on June 17 and have three days of practice before fishing for real on June 21-22.

Watkins is a family man, with no aspirations of turning pro. We wish Tee Watkins the best in the tournament.

Chris Altman, outdoor sports writer for many magazines around the country and who's articles appear here in our sports section, will be doing a feature story on Tee Watkins. Look for it in the Times. You'll enjoy reading about a great fisherman and a great person — Tee Watkins.

LITTLE LEAGUE PITCHERS MAKING A NAME

We have several Little League pitchers that are having just outstanding seasons thus far. In the Prestonsburg Little League, Jason Hackworth has struck out 74 batters in 30 innings of pitching for the Rangers. Kevin Robinson, Martin Reds, has fanned 70 in 28 and a third innings. Chris Moore of the Drift Giants has over 60 Ks in 22 innings of pitching. All three pitchers have strong throwing arms and it would be something to see them on the same All-Star teams.

The Osborne twins — Jeremy and Jason — of the Prestonsburg Cubs have had outstanding seasons as well as Brandon Castle of the Allen Astros. The future looks good for some strong high school pitching in the years ahead.

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone. I appreciate all you sport fans out there. You're great!

Shepherd's Fifth Inning Two-Run Double Sends Braves Past Rangers 10-8

Like father like son!

It was destined to be a run away game after the first two innings when the Prestonsburg Braves took an early 5-0 lead over the Prestonsburg Rangers in the Prestonsburg Little League Tuesday night. But it took a fifth inning two-run double by Zeth Shepherd to lead the Braves to their 10-8 win.

The two-run double proved significant because the Rangers plated four runs in the bottom of the fifth inning and scored again in their half of the fifth.

Kris Lawson was the winning pitcher, going the first three innings. Lawson recorded five strike outs while walking six. His only hit allowed was a third inning single by Jason Hackworth. He gave up three runs, one unearned.

The losing pitcher was Jeremy Shepherd, who went the first three innings for the Rangers. Shepherd walked six and struck out four. He allowed five runs on just one hit.

Both pitchers experienced control problems in the early innings as each team collected only one hit in the first three.

The Braves took a 2-0 lead in the first on two walks and three wild pitches. Troy Mount led off with a walk, and Zeth Shepherd followed with a base on balls. Both runners scored on wild pitches by Jeremy Shepherd. Lawson hit the ball off the fence for a base hit but was nailed at second base on a throw from right fielder Drew Brown.

The Rangers tied the game at two-all without the benefit of a base hit. Jon May fanned to start the game for the Rangers, and Jeremy Shepherd walked and stole second. Braves' catcher, Gavin Hale's throw to second went into the outfield and Shepherd advanced to third where he came home on a wild pitch by Lawson. Lawson walked Shawn Ousley, who later scored on Hackworth's grounder to second.

Shepherd ran into some control problems in the second inning when he walked four batters and uncorked three wild pitches that allowed the Braves to score three times for a 5-2 game. All of the Braves scoring came after the first two men were retired. All three runs were scored as a result of three wild pitches.

Hackworth collected a one-out base hit and scored all the way on two errors by the Braves to make it a 5-3 ball game.

The Braves scored twice in their half of the fourth to take a 7-3 lead. Luke Luster, leading off, was hit by a pitch. Jeff Martin struck out. Luster was the second out in the inning when a throw to second caught Luster leaning off the bag. Josh Luster singled and went to third on an error at third base.

Shawn Ousley, who relieved Shepherd in the fourth, walked Jeremy Watkins and J. B. Hall to load the bases. Mounts walked to force home Luster and Shepherd then unloaded his two-run double to give the Braves a 10-3 lead.

The Rangers' bats came alive in the bottom of the fifth when, with one out, Ousley singled and went to second when Martin bobbled the ball in left field. Hackworth picked up the RBI with a double to left center scoring Ousley. Eric Kelly reached on a fielders choice and both runners scored on Kalin Harris two-run single. Harris came in to score when Zeth

Osborne, Castle Combine For One-Hitter As Prestonsburg Cubs Subdue Giants 20-0

Jason Osborne and Grant Castle combined for a no-hitter as the Prestonsburg Cubs remained undefeated in the Prestonsburg Little League with a perfect 11-0 record. The Cubs held off the Giants 20-0 Tuesday night at Archer Park.

Jeremy Osborne was perfect himself. Perfect at the plate that is collecting five hits and three runs batted in. Jason Osborne could not quite match his brother at the plate but did have a good outing at the plate with four hits and five RBIs.

Jeremy Osborne worked the first two innings getting five strike outs and walking two batters. He gave up no runs on no-hits. Castle came on in the third and worked the last two frames in the mercy rule game. Castle gave up the only hit the Giants collected — a fourth inning double by John Arnett.

The Cubs scored 11 times in the third inning as 16 batters paraded to the plate. Both Osborne players had two hits each in the third inning as did Mike Castle. The big blow was a bases loaded triple by Andy Jarvis that drove in two runs. Jarvis had two hits in the game picking up three runs batted in. He had a first inning single and RBI. Jeana Fannin, the only girl player in the league, walked and singled for the Cubs. She scored two runs in the contest. The Cubs took a 4-0 lead in the first as Jeremy Osborne and Brian Fitzpatrick had first inning doubles. Fitzpatrick had an RBI on his two-

Officials Camp To Get Underway For Experienced and New Refs

If you are a person that has been thinking about joining the ranks of the present officials in the 15th Region, then you need to know about the upcoming Second Annual Basketball Officials' Camp scheduled for June 17-21 at the Belfry High School. Each official will work a minimum of two games each night under the close supervision of experienced officials. Each referee will be critiqued after each session he or she officiates. An experienced instructor will be videotaping each official. Each official will be able to sit down, view the tape and listen to the comments of the instructor. According to Teddy Hall, camp instructor, the 15th Region is in need of new officials and welcomes anyone who has never called a game before. The camp will be held in conjunction with the Belfry High School Team Camp in which each official will work. Each official should have a black and white official's shirt, black and white or navy shorts, black referee shoes and a whistle. The new Kentucky High School Athletic Association Commissioner, Billy Wise, will be one of the guest speakers at the camp.

Robinson Strikes Out 16 As Reds Tighten Hold On First Place

It has been a duel all season for first place between the Martin Reds and Garrett Pirates in the South Division of the Beaver Creek Little League. The Pirate team is the only team to hand the Reds their only defeat. However, the Reds avenged the earlier defeat with a 5-1 win over Garrett at Garrett, Wednesday night.

Flame throwing Kevin Robinson struck out 16 batters to add to his total of Ks this season and has now fanned 70 batters in 28 and a third innings pitched.

"It was a game we needed," said Reds' coach Lonnie Robinson. "We have two tough games coming up next week (Martin Cards and Drift Giants) and we needed to win this one."

The win puts the Reds at 8-1 on the season while the Pirates fell to 5-3.

Neither team could collect a hit through the first three innings as Timmy Bellemey and Robinson hooked up in an old-fashioned pitchers' duel. Martin pushed home two runs in the fourth inning when Jason Shannon collected the first hit of the game. Phillip Robinson was hit by a pitch from Bellemey and Rusty Young made it 2-0 with a triple, scoring Shannon and Robinson.

It was a 5-0 game after the Martin fifth when the Reds plated three more runs. Shannon Slone singled, Ethan Martin walked and then Kevin Robinson helped his own cause with a two-run double, scoring Slone and Martin. Robinson came into score later on Phillip Robinson's ground out to second base. Robinson picked up the RBI.

"We're hitting the ball better than we were earlier," said Robinson about his team.

The Pirates collected their first hit and averted a shut out in the sixth inning when Owens laid down a bunt that went for a base hit. Scott had walked before Owens hit. Robinson walked Conley to load the bases and issued an RBI walk to Kyle Turner before retiring the side and ending the threat. The last out came when the Pirates still had the bases loaded after scoring one run and Bellemey hit a hard liner too short to quench the rally.

"If the ball goes through, it means two or three runs for Garrett," said Robinson, "and it could have been a different game."

Bellemey was the losing pitcher fanning eight batters and walking eight.

Both teams played errorless baseball. Martin collected seven hits in the game and the Pirates had one.

Garrett Pirates will face the Garrett Cubs tonight at 5:30 p.m. at the Garrett field. Martin takes on the hot hitting Drift Giants Tuesday at Martin at 5:50.

Twelve men went to the plate in the first inning for Coal Mac in collecting seven hits.
WMDJ scored four times in the top of the first inning to take a 4-0 lead. Miller singled, leading off, and after Spurlock went out to short field, Narin doubled home Miller. West then blasted a home run scoring Nairn ahead of him. Burchett singled and scored on a base hit by McKinney.

WMDJ tied the game with three more runs in the third inning. With one out, West doubled and scored on Burchett's home run. Smith got a two-out single and came around to score on Stapleton's triple.
Coal Mac took the lead for good with four runs of their own in the third. Six straight base hits by Coal Mac after one out pushed across the four runs and gave Coal Mac an 11-7 lead. Coal Mac then scored three times in the fourth and fifth inning for a 17-10 game.
The loss evened WMDJ's record at 4-4 on the season while Coal Mac won for only the second time this season against eight losses.

Hall Hurls One-Hitter As Astros Defeat Blue Jays

For Drift Astros coach Clinis Hall, one of the problems his team has experienced this Little League season has been the inconsistency of his pitching staff.
"We're not getting any good pitching this year," said Hall of his team's 3-5 record. "Our pitching just hasn't come through for us."
Because of the inconsistent staff, Hall decided to use an untested arm, after all what can you lose. So the call went to Josh Hall. Hall responded with a route going one-hitter against the Martin Blue Jays and a 13-3 Astro win.
"Josh pitched a real game for us," said Coach Hall of his son's first outing. It was the first time on the hill for the young Hall as he carried a no-hitter into the top of the sixth inning. The no-hitter was spoiled by Jay Belcher in the sixth.
"We have been getting pretty good hitting and our defense has been good," explained Hall, "but it seems our pitching just can't hold a lead."
B.J. Moore had two hits in the game that included a first inning two-run home run. Moore also doubled in the second. Ricky Ward had three hits in four plate appearances and drove in two runs.

Drift scored five runs in the first inning to take a 5-1 lead after the Blue Jays scored an unearned run in the first. Three more runs in the second put the Astros out in front 8-1. Martin scored two more runs in the third and sixth inning — both runs were unearned.
Hall, in picking up the win, fanned seven batters and equaled that with seven walks. Bentley was the losing pitcher striking out 11 batters, and he walked 12 in experiencing some control problems.
The Astros will host the Garrett Pirates Monday at 5:30 p.m. The Blue Jays will entertain Wayland at Martin tonight at 5:30 p.m.

Bluegrass State Games Kicks Off With Opening Ceremonies July 26

It's that time of year again with the start of the Seventh Annual Bluegrass State Games set for July 26. The three day event will officially get underway with all the participating athletes gathering at Commonwealth Stadium on the campus of the University of Kentucky for the opening ceremonies.

The Torch Lighting ceremonies will take place in Frankfort as part of the Governor's Pacesetters Walk at 11:30 a.m. that day. Senior Citizens Centers from the state of Kentucky will take part in the Governor's Walk.

The torch that will be carried by runners from Frankfort to Commonwealth Stadium will officially be lit at that time and the journey to Lexington will begin.

Participant check in time will be from 2 p.m. on the 26th until 7 p.m. that evening. From 4 p.m. until 7 p.m., a picnic will be held for all the athletes and their families around Commonwealth Stadium.

Entertainment will highlight the hour from 4 p.m. until 8 p.m. At 7:30 p.m. all athletes will begin lining up for the march into Commonwealth Stadium. The opening ceremonies are scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. with all its guest speakers, Oath of Athletes, Bluegrass State Grass torch lighting. Also a celebrity athlete will make a special appearance at the ceremonies again this year. Last year, Atlanta Hawks Dominique Wilkins was the guest speaker.

Some games will begin that evening in different parts of the city. However, most of the games are held on Saturday and are concluded on Sunday.

Events such as three-on-three basketball (a popular event), soccer (most participants), tennis, volleyball, track and field, archery, swimming, bowling, horseshoes, golf, softball, wrestling, fencing, canoeing, chess, croquet, cycling, diving, equestrian, gymnastics, shooting, and table tennis, will involve over 15,000 athletes.

Every athlete who enters the games will receive a commemorative certificate. Finalists will receive a T-shirt. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be presented to the top three winners in each event.

Athletes with disabilities are encouraged to participate in any of the events. They can participate with non-disabled athletes with similar disabilities.

In upcoming sports' sections, the Floyd County Times will run a brief description on some events that are of interest to athletes here in the county. If you are going to take part in the Bluegrass State Games this year, call the Floyd County Times so that we can keep a record of who is going and report it in our sports' section.

McDowell Posts 16-5 Win Over Astros In Battle Of "Youngsters" At Minnie

Two of the youngest teams in the Beaver Creek Little League got together at the Minnie Park Wednesday night for a battle of the "youngsters." The McDowell Stars posted a 16-5 win over the Drift Astros Wednesday night to improve to 2-7 on the season. The Astros fell to 3-6 on the season. Both teams are made up of last year's Pee Wee League as is the case with Clinis Hall's Astros. "We'll both take our knocks this year, but we will have three years left, and we both will be good ball clubs," said Stars' coach Carlos Elswick. "We are a young team, but a good team. And, we try and play all of our players. We started the season with 15 players and lost one. Every player is at every game, and we play every player every game."

The Stars scored six times in the fourth inning to break a 4-4 tie. Two runs scored on Rusty Hall's two-run home run in the sixth inning. Two more crossed the plate when Nick Compton tripled in two runs for the McDowell team.

Josh Hall had a solo home run in the second inning for the Astros.

The Stars had taken a 4-0 lead with a four run first inning. The Astros scored once in the bottom of the first, two in the second and tied the game with runs in the third inning.

Brent Ousley had a two-run triple in the sixth inning for the Stars as they scored four times. Ousley had a two-run double in the Stars' fifth inning as he totaled four runs batted in.

John Page doubled in the sixth for the Astros when they scored their final run.

Darren Newsome, for whom Coach Elswick has high hopes, had two hits for the Stars as did Rusty Hall. Brent Ousley went three-for-four in the game with a triple, double and a single.

The Stars collected nine hits in the contest while the Astros managed only two.

Scott Johnson was the winning pitcher in the route-going outing. Johnson struck out 10 batters while walking six. B.J. Moore was the losing pitcher with eight strike outs and three walks.

"Every game for this young ball club is a learning game," said Elswick. McDowell plays the Martin Blue Jays next Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. at Minnie. The Astros will host the Garrett Pirates Monday at 5:30 p.m.

KCL 26th Annual Open Jr Tennis Classic To Be Held Week Of July 29

This year's Kentucky Central Life Open Junior Tennis Classic should have another fine turnout, according to tournament director Brent Clay of Lexington.

"There were 250 entries last year," Clay said, "and we expect many returnees, plus an influx of new players."

The tournament is open to boys and girls 18 years old and under, and will be played the week of July 29 at the University of Kentucky courts in Lexington. The tournament has been held for 26 years, making it one of the oldest tennis events in Kentucky.

According to Clay, one reason for the tournament's popularity is the good mix of players at all skill levels. "Regardless of a player's abilities, he or she can compete and have fun," Clay added.

He gives much credit for the tournament's success to Erwin Jones of Lexington, who, as referee, controls play. Jones, who officiates nationally, brings in qualified umpires to work the tournament's semifinal and final matches, which is not the case with most local tournaments.

Prizes and T-shirts are presented by Kentucky Central Life Insurance Company, a co-sponsor of the Bluegrass Tennis Association. Points are awarded for ranking purposes with a sanction from the U.S. Tennis Association.

There is a consolation for the 14, 16 and 18 year old brackets, allowing everyone to play at least two singles matches, with doubles as an option. Under a recent rule change, 12 year olds now compete on a round-robin basis.

The deadline for entering is July

15. Entry forms are available at most local tennis clubs, or by writing PR Department, Kentucky Central Life Insurance Company, Kincaid Towers, Lexington, KY 40507.

Shepherd—

Shepherd mishandled a grounder off the bat of Brown to cut the lead to three, 10-7.

The Rangers scored their final run in the bottom of the sixth after holding the Braves scoreless. Jeremy Shepherd singled and scored on Kelly's two-out single. Kelly, in some unwise base running, was nailed at third for the final out. The Braves were guilty of six errors in the game, and the Rangers made four miscues. Each team left six runners stranded. The Rangers collected six hits in the losing effort and the Braves had four.

In relief, Luster worked the final three innings for the Braves giving up five runs on five hits. He fanned one batter while walking none. Ousley hurled the final three for the Rangers allowing five runs and three hits. Ousley walked six batters and hit two.

The Rangers face the Mets tonight in a 5:30 p.m. start. The Braves will face the winless Giants on Monday at 5:30 p.m.

FISHIN' TIPS FROM THE TRACKER PROS

Randy Burman

Modern space-age materials have certainly done a lot to improve the quality of fishing tackle, especially rods. Graphite, graphite composites, boron and kevlar are all materials that have given rods more strength, balance and sensitivity.

Today there are specialty rods designed for nearly every type of fishing. There are casting, spinning, flippin', pitchin', jigging, cranking, and wormin'. Rods come in every length and action from ultra-light to heavy. How do you choose a good all-around rod?

Determine your application, then pick a rod that matches the reel you prefer. Mount the reel to the rod and check for feel and balance. If the rod feels a bit heavy, back down to a lighter model. A firm butt section, with a good tip can serve an all-around purpose.

It's a hit!

This Cub batter singles on this time at bat as the Cubs mercied the Prestonsburg Giants 20-0 in Little League action at Archer Park Tuesday night. The win ran the Cubs record to 11-0 on the year. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

VIDEO BIJOU

Dietrich double feature worthy of two good looks

By Steven Alan McGaw

Folks, remember to send in those additions to the "Guilty Pleasures" video list, recognizing those works on videocassette you're just a tad bit embarrassed to rent. The address is P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, TX, 76161-1009.

Destry Rides Again (1939)
 Sure, casting Dietrich as a dance-hall girl in the Old West was a little crazy, but also brilliant. James Stewart is the soft-spoken but volatile sheriff who resolves to tame his rowdy town without the use of a gun. Taming the tempestuous Dietrich proves to be even more of a job. Brian Donlevy, Una Merkel and Jack Carson contribute fine supporting performances.

Marlene (1984)

Actor/director Maximilian Schell set out to make a documentary on the legendary actress. Then she refused to let their talks be filmed! Undaunted, Schell turns this liability into a startling attribute, running the tapes of their several conversations behind scenes from Dietrich's many unforgettable screen performances. What emerges is an innovative, provocative documentary with the legend narrating her career as we watch it unfold. And despite all (she refuses to answer the most standard of interview-type questions), Dietrich reveals quite a bit about herself. This is a must-see.

Erin Moran feels lucky to have two happy families

By Polly Vonetes

Q: My sister and I have often wondered what has happened to the girl who starred as Joanie on Happy Days. Is she still acting? Is she married? —Jeanie Turner, Clifton, N.J.

A: Erin Moran played Joanie Cunningham on the family comedy Happy Days and later Joanie Loves Chachi. Her real-life family was always supportive of her acting efforts. "Not everyone has the good fortune of growing up with two loving, caring families," said Moran. "I'm glad I did." Married to musician Rocky Ferguson, the couple has been collaborating on musical projects for well over a year. Last season she made a rare television appearance.

Q: I am a big fan of Mario Van Peebles. Could you please tell me a little about him? Age, married, single, credits, etc. —Liz Santos, Kihei, Maui, Hawaii

A: Thirty-six-year-old Mario Van Peebles has known good times and bad times. He was born in Mexico City, the son of renowned filmmaker Melvin Van Peebles. He did a lot of traveling in Europe with his family as a child. "In those days we were always broke," he says. "My room was usually a hotel closet." When his parents divorced, Mario and his sister, Megan, lived with their mother in San Francisco. Van Peebles earned an economics degree in 1978 from Columbia University. After graduation he served as a budget analyst for New York City Mayor Edward Koch and later worked as an Elite model. He's appeared on Broadway, off-Broadway and in numerous films including The Cotton Club, Heartbreak Ridge and most recently starred in and directed New Jack City. He lives alone in a Hollywood condo and does not have, nor, he says, has he ever had a serious romantic relationship.

Q: Whatever became of the children who played on Bewitched? I remember the girl was Tabatha. What was the boy's name? —C. Wilson, Buffalo, Mo.

A: Samantha's first child, Tabitha, was born on the Jan 13, 1966 telecast. The newborn infant was played briefly by identical twins Heidi and Laura Gentry and then by Tamar and Julie Young. In the fall of 1966, the 2-year-old fraternal twins Erin and Diane Murphy assumed the role. A son, Adam, played by twins David and Greg Lawrence, was born into the family on the night of Oct. 16, 1969. Tabitha, Erin Murphy, was the most popular of the children. She is now the divorced mother of two sons and lives in Venice Beach, Calif. She is seriously thinking of going back into acting. "Financially I can't not work," she says, "so I've decided to begin again."
