Dr. Henry Campbell :

PCC's first and only president prepares to travel a new road

by Janice Shepherd
Staff Writer

Dr. Henry A. Campbell Jr., a mountain educator whose wit and wisdom have earned him the respect and love of his faculty and students at Prestonsburg Community College, will deliver his last Commencement Address as PCC president Sunday, May 5, at 2 p.m. at Jenny Wiley State Park's Amphitheater.

Campbell will retire from his presidential post on June 30 at the mandatory retirement age of 65.

A 1943 graduate of Wheelwright High School, Campbell spent his early years in the coal mining areas of Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

Campbell began his career in education after a tour of duty in the Army. He began his brief military career as a cadet in the Army Special Reserve Program on August 3, 1943, while he was an engineering student at the University of Kentucky. He was in the reserve for one quarter, before going to Ft. Benning, Georgia, and later to Ft. Jackson South Carolina, for training. Campbell joined the 87th infantry and served in where he graduated with a major in Math.

Campbell coached and taught for six years at schools in Lancaster, Cumberland, and Benham. He traveled to Alamo Garde, New Mexico where he lived for eight years. In

On August 20, 1963, he accepted a post as first president of Crowder College, a two-county junior college, in Neosho, Missouri.

He has written two monographs in conjunction with Dr. Clyde Blocker at the University of Texas, and has also published several magazine articles on science, mathematics, and astronomy.

While Campbell's career was climbing, tragedy struck. On September 29, 1963, his wife died in childbirth. His son lived only 30 hours. His life was shattered and Campbell said he returned home to Kentucky to recuperate, "just like any animal who receives a serious blow and returns home."

Alice Lloyd College offered him the position of Dean, and he had just decided to accept when former superintendent of Floyd County Schools Europe with the 3rd Army under General George Patton. He was wounded and sent back to Camp Carson, Colorado and was discharged on July 7, 1945.

Campbell went back to Seattle, Washington, where he was born and enrolled in a university there. After two years, transferred back to UK 1957, a community college was established in the area and Campbell became its first director. He also obtained his Master's Degree in 1957, and an Education Specialist degree in 1961 from New Mexico State University.

Campbell then went to Texas where he received his Ph.D. in 1963.

Education's champion

Board gets close-up of needs in four of county school facilities

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A tour of several Floyd County schools by board of education members Thursday proved enlightening and gave members a close-up look at problems in schools.

The tour began at 10 a.m. at Betsy Layne Elementary gym with board member Tommy Boyd voicing his concern about lack of maintenance at the gym and the schools. Boyd pointed out that the gym's ceiling was covered with dirt because filters in the filtering system had not been changed regularly. Boyd also pointed out weeds growing on the campus and the need for a fence behind the school since it is so close to the Big Sandy River.

"You know who little children are, they could easily go over the bank to the river," Boyd said.

Frankie Francis, director of buildings and grounds, said the board did not own weed eaters and that was why tall weeds were growing in some areas of the school. Other board members agreed with Boyd that a fence was needed behind the school.

The location, not the condition, of Harold Elementary was a major concern for the board. The school,

Lack of competitiveness "a big problem" :

Project review proposes changes to procedures

by Scott Perry

A week-long review of school construction projects in Floyd and Pike counties in February and March by a team of state auditors has resulted in a 36-page report and a list of 16 recommendations for changing the ways schools are built in Kentucky.

State Auditor Bob Babbage presented the report Wednesday to members of the state's Special Legislative Subcommittee on Education Accountability. Babbage told the Times Wednesday that the review uncovered "no evidence of criminal wrongdoing," but added that the state's Office of Education Accountability "will pursue other aspects of our reports and make recommendations to the Legislature."

Babbage said auditors had discovered "a big problem" in the lack of competitiveness for the use of professional services on school construction projects, specifically mentioning Floyd County.

"They (the Floyd County Board of Education) see the first (architect) as the last one," Babbage said. "They make no attempt to negotiate (for those services)." Babbage also said there were "decisions being made in Floyd County about site selection entirely in private. That's not good. If you can place more competition in that system, you can lessen public concern."

Babbage highlighted the report Wednesday at a meeting of the state's Special Legislative Subcommittee on Education Accountability, noting that problems uncovered during the project reviews were similar across the state and not unique to Floyd and

State offers solution to school sign-off debate

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

State officials have sent a proposal to the Floyd County Board of Education that they hope will end the controversy about certification of work on school construction projects in the county.

Mike Luscher, director of buildings and grounds for the Department of Education, said Wednesday that he mailed a proposal to the board of education which should be agreeable to the architect and construction manager on the Left Beaver High School project.

The board called a special meeting last Thursday to try to resolve the issue of certification of work to architect Jim Ellis by construction manager Sam Martin. Both sides agreed last Thursday to sign a joint certification form.

Luscher said amended G-702 and requisition for funds forms is fair and equitable to both parties and should resolve the issue.

The amended G-702 form, the form used to determine the amount of work done by a contractor, would require the signatures of the architect

Six Floyd students are Governor's Scholars

Six Floyd County high school juniors have been selected to participate in the 1991 Governor's Scholars Program this summer. Named as Governor's Scholars were Stephenie Biliter, Steve Clark, Brian Jones, Anthony Little, Brian Newman, and David Pigman.

Biliter, Clark, Jones and Newman are students at Betsy Layne High School. Stephenie Biliter, 16, is the daughter of Steve and Gail Biliter of Grethel. Steve Clark, also 16, is the son of Leonard and Carolyn Clark of Honaker. Brian Jones is the 16-year-old son of Lester and Beth Jones of Banner. Brian Newman, also 16, is the son of Hillard and Sylvania Newman of Grethel.

Prestonsburg and Wheelwright high schools will send one representative each to the program. Prestonsburg junior David Pigman, 18, is the son of Audrey Pigman of Prestonsburg. Anthony Little, a 17-year-old junior at Wheelwright, is the son of Frank and Jean Little of Melvin.

To be eligible for the Governor's Scholars Program, students must meet standards established by the program, ranging from test scores and grades to such qualities as ability to grasp abstract concepts and concern for others. They must also write and be judged on two essays.

Scholars are in residence on the campus to which they are assigned, either Kentucky State University or Centre College, for five weeks during June and July. Each scholar chooses one of 16 major courses of study, ranging from biology to philosophy.

Another Floyd Countian, Paraag G. Maddiwar of Martin, was also named to the program. He is a student at Paintsville High School.

Campbell

Charles Clark suggested he check with Dr. Oswald at PCC. He did; three days later he was hired; and the rest is recorded in the annals of Eastern Kentucky history.

At that time, said Campbell, a very basic education was offered at the college, a general arts curriculum. A majority of the 325 students enrolled that year, which began September 1, 1964, were part-time students.

Rose Price, assistant director of human development with the Christian Appalachian Project, was a student during the school's second year of operation. She also served as a switchboard operator for Dr. Campbell.

Price said Campbell made the students feel welcome at the school. "Everyone was equal in his eyes. He knew every student by name. He didn't care about what was outside, but what was inside," she explained. She also remembered that Campbell felt the same way about his appearance. "One of the things I remember," she said, "was that he would come to school with a suit with its seams ripped."

Campbell's camaraderie with his students is legendary. His door was always open, and students did not need an appointment to discuss their problems with him. His insight offered many solutions, Price said.

She also remembered an adventure that depicts Campbell's mountain humor. While Price was out with her friends before her wedding day, she met Dr. Campbell. He wished her hearty congratulations, and proclaimed she was having a bachelorette party. He conceived the idea to turn it into a swimming party and herded the gang to Jenny Wiley Lodge's pool, which was only open to guests of the lodge. The whole group, including Dr. Campbell, crashed the private party going on at the pool and jumped into water, "clothes and all," said Price.

Chalmer Frazier, a member of the original advisory board, also praised Campbell's humor, saying Campbell has a natural knack and technique with managing people. "When things get sticky, he tells a joke," Frazier said.

Campbell is also a community leader and a fundraiser, said Frazier.

Campbell plans to continue in that capacity, and to help the college in any way he can. He told of future plans for the college which include offering a wide range of two-year degree programs, including physical therapy, X-ray technology, dental hygiene, possibly some of the mining technology programs, and building an additional science building when space is available.

"The part of life that is most rewarding is looking around in the Big Sandy and the state and seeing thousands of young people who are working at respected jobs in every walk of life — and it started right here. Had the college not been here, they would not have had this opportunity to pursue those careers," he said.

Though he has slight vision in one eye, he is legally blind. His dimming eyesight is bringing to a close one chapter in his life, but another chapter is just beginning, and Campbell is entering it with the confidence he will succeed.

Campbell said he must now learn to cope with the changes in his life. "I've got to learn to redo my whole life," Campbell said.

Since Campbell loves to cook, he will devise a system with everything in its place. He said it is the simple things that are frustrating, such as telling which can of fruit is fruit cocktail, or which spice is being put into the pot.

"It would be very easy to give up and feel sorry for yourself. It can get frustrating, and you can get to brooding," said Campbell, who said his wife Nancy, the former Nancy Belevu of Corbin, has been very supportive. Campbell, with an optimistic outlook, expressed hope that "one of these days, they'll discover a microchip to replace the retina."

"That's not as far-fetched as it sounds," said Campbell. "They're having modest success with this program now."

Campbell has a whirlwind of activity scheduled for this summer. He and his wife plan to travel to the Grand Canyon, then on to Yellowstone, and on into Spokane, Washington, where he plans to visit his relatives. Campbell was born August 27, 1925 in Kosmos, Washington.

The couple will travel along the coastline, stopping to visit friends along the route, and then visit their children: daughter Jan, her husband and their five children who live in Garden Grove, California; and daughter Robin, who also lives in Garden Grove. The Campbell's daughter Micca lives in Beckley.

Dr. and Mrs. Campbell will visit the places of his past, including Alamo Garde, New Mexico and Westlaco, Texas, before returning home in the fall.

Currently PCC's search committee for a new president has narrowed their search to seven candidates. Five have been interviewed. The last two candidates, Dr. Deborah Floyd and Dr. Paul Tambrino, will be interviewed by May 17, said Robert McAninch, chairman of the committee.

Dr. Floyd is vice president of Student Development at County Community College in Plano, Texas. Dr. Tambrino is dean of College at Warren Community College in Washington, New Jersey.

The committee will submit the names of three candidates to Dr. Ben Carr, Chancellor of the community colleges, who will make the final decision.

"Dr. Campbell can't be replaced," said McAninch. "He's going out a winner and we're all going to miss him."

Chalmer Frazier, a former teacher whom Dr. Campbell claims once paddled him, said that Campbell was "one of the bright and shining stars" in his classroom. Campbell's star may be retiring, but it is still shining bright for the future of Eastern Kentucky education.

Pike counties. He offered 16 recommendations, which included:

- Elimination of "open-ended" contracts for construction managers on school projects and to require payments on a percentage of completion basis.
- Revision of state laws to allow refunds for sales taxes paid for purchases made in connection with school construction projects utilizing the general contractor approach.
- Revision of standard contract forms for required use by local school boards.
- Prohibiting project construction managers from bidding on any part of the project the company manages.
- Requiring bidders on school construction projects to disclose company ownership to avoid conflicts of interest.
- School boards should require more competition for construction projects.
- Bid procedures should be properly reviewed and approved.
- Adequate time should be given bidders to respond to advertised needs.

- Local boards should use requests for proposal (bids) when selecting construction managers.
- Architectural services should be obtained through bids.
- The Department of Education should develop historical data to project the costs of school construction within certain regions of the state.
- Architect's fee payments should be limited to state regulated amounts.
- A fee structure for architect's services separate from fees for construction should be developed.

- Any contract which is altered for unusual situations should comply with state laws and regulations.
- Standard plans should be developed for school construction projects to reduce design costs.
- Discussions of potential school sites should be held during meetings open to the public.

The report and its recommendations were the results of a comprehensive audit of school building projects planned or underway in Floyd and Pike counties, conducted in February and March by nine members of Babbage's Public Integrity Unit.

The review came soon after The Floyd County Times and Pikeville's Appalachian New-Express published articles detailing questions about the policies and procedures employed by local school boards and construction officials on building projects underway in Floyd and Pike counties.

Most recommendations offered by Babbage in his report to the special legislative subcommittee addressed issues first raised in those area news accounts.

Editor's Note: The full text of Babbage's 36-page report will be published in the May 8 edition of The Floyd County Times.

Animal science major receives degree

Jeffrey Shannon Miller of Mena, Arkansas, formerly of Drift will be awarded the Doctor of Philosophy degree with a major in Animal Science during the May 11 general commencement exercises of the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville.

Miller served on the staff of the University of Arkansas from 1984 to 1989 as the manager of the University Physiology-Parasitology farm. Miller, a Floyd County native, graduated from Berea College in 1980 with a major in Agriculture. He also holds a Master of Science degree in Animal Science from the University of Tennessee.

Miller's research during his tenure at the University of Arkansas was in the area of reproductive physiology of beef cattle with special emphasis on the interaction of nutritional status with reproductive performance. He has presented several research papers at various scientific meetings throughout the southern parts of the country as well as informal presentations at various field days and open houses in Arkansas. In February, Miller with his wife, Debra, were selected to attend the Third Annual Arkansas Young Farm Couples Conference in Hot Springs, Ark.

Miller, his wife, the former Debra Smith, and their daughter, Kathryn, moved to Mena to begin full time farming in 1989. They own and operate a 300 sow swine operation east of Mena. Miller's main interest has always been in production agriculture. He currently serves on the Polk County Fair Board and on the Farm Bureau Board of Directors.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo E. Miller of Drift, and is a 1976 graduate of McDowell High School.

located approximately 40 feet from U.S. 23, was viewed as an emergency situation by Boyd, who said a major catastrophe could happen at any time.

"Do you realize that over 200,000 gallons of gasoline are hauled on this road daily," Boyd said. "If a truck wrecked in front of the school and spilled gasoline all over the road, we could lose all these kids? We need to close this school."

Boyd suggested the board begin planning and building a middle school in the Betsy Layne area. He later showed board members approximately 30 acres of land in a nearby location and recommended the board build a new Betsy Layne High School there and use the current building for a middle school.

Board members Mary Hall and James Duff agreed with Boyd that the Harold school was in a dangerous location. Assistant superintendent Gary Frazier recommended that the board use the Harold school building as a maintenance facility or sell it because it is a piece of prime commercial property.

The board's tour of the schools was an extension of last Thursday's special meeting. The board recessed Thursday's meeting and reconvened to conduct the tour. No decisions were made during the tour.

and construction manager certifying that the work cited had been performed.

The requisition for funds form, which was developed by Henry Reed, bond counsel for the School Facilities Construction Commission, requires both signatures but contains a clause relating to the construction manager.

The clause reads: "The undersigned construction manager certifies that to the best of the construction manager's knowledge, information, and belief; work covered by this Project Application for Payment has been completed in accordance with the Contract Documents, and that current payment shown herein is now due."

"The above statement allows both professional offices to sign off for their own required services and provides no hint of indemnification on the part of either party to the other," Luscher's said. "This will comply with each's contract requirements, and I would utilize these immediately."

Ellis and Martin have been at odds over the certification issue since January. Ellis would not sign the requisition for funds because Martin would not certify to him materials or equipment used on the site had been used. Martin maintained his contract did not require certification to the architect, only to the board of education. Ellis claimed if he certified the work without Martin's certification he could not accurately certify the work had been done.

The board passed an amendment to Martin's contract in February that "bypassed" certification to the architect, according to Cliff Latta, attorney for the board. Latta said at last Thursday's meeting that the amendment was considered "invalid" by Luscher because Luscher had not approved it.

Luscher said Wednesday that was accurate.

"I've never saw an amendment to the contract," Luscher said. "The board can't change the contract if I didn't know anything about it. I approved the construction manager's contract in the first place and I see no reason to change it."

Reality of abuse to be discussed at workshop

The Catholic Social Service Bureau Outreach Offices with the assistance of Mountain Comprehensive Care, the Kentucky Council on Child Abuse, Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Big Sandy Family Abuse Center, the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, the Department for Social Services, and Parents Anonymous will present a workshop, Abuse: the realities, the law, the resources, Wednesday, May 15, from 9:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. at St. Martha Catholic Church on Rt. 3, Prestonsburg.

This workshop is designed to give an overview of the reality of abuse in the community; legal lessons about protection and the liability to report suspected abuse; and familiarity with the people and agencies working to stop abuse and heal its effects. It is designed with the general public in mind — whether the individual is a helping professional, a caring friend, an interested student, a concerned cleric, an aching family member, a victim, or an abuser.

"Bring your questions! We've allotted time for them and we're committed to finding the answers we don't have," said Gwen Hall, who is helping coordinate the workshop.

Coffee and soft drinks will be provided. There is no need to preregister.

Editorial:

The winds of change

by Scott Perry

The ultimate impact of a state review of school construction policies and procedures, released in a report this week, won't be felt until 1992.

That's when Kentucky's General Assembly will or won't enact legislation recommended by State Auditor Bob Babbage.

On Wednesday, Babbage told members of the legislative Subcommittee for Education Accountability that Kentucky needs to change the way it builds schools. Most of the evidence to support that stance was developed here, in Eastern Kentucky, the same breeding ground, you may recall, for what eventually became landmark education reform legislation.

Resistance to change is as inevitable as change itself.

In Eastern Kentucky, where school systems are more often than not the largest employers, change comes hard, one battle at a time.

We should all remember, though, that this battle is not one for power or glory but for the future of our children and their children.

There are many inequities in this land of equality, but there is one heirloom that every parent, rich or poor, black, white, red or yellow, should be able to pass on to their children...An equal opportunity to learn.

We don't offer that opportunity today because there are too many "I's" and too few "we's."

Someday, Eastern Kentucky will be looked upon as an example of what is right instead of what's wrong with the way we operate our schools.

Before we can be examples, we must set examples.

Shall we begin?

Letters

Editor:

I have been watching the upcoming May 28th primary very closely, especially the Commissioner of Agriculture Race. I was pleased to find out Kentucky's agriculture community has an individual to represent us, the consuming public of the Commonwealth. This individual is Harry W. Hieneman a farmer who raises tobacco, vegetables and also operates a dairy farm. Mr. Hieneman derives 100 percent of his income from farming. He has been a farmer for over 25 years.

Mr. Hieneman knows first hand about the problems facing Kentucky farmers. I support him totally on his stand against the use of hormones to increase milk production. We certainly do not need to interfere with the natural milk producing capabilities of one of God's creatures, the dairy cow. Not to mention the effects hormonal milk could have on people.

Of great concern to me and many of my friends across the state is the infestation of the multi-flora rose. Mr. Hieneman shares this concern; he has addressed this issue boldly. He suggests working together with universities, farmers, property owners, state Ag. dept. and USDA to arrive at a safe and effective approach to the total eradication of this awful pest, multi-flora rose.

In Wednesday's "Letters to the Editor" a thank you was printed to Mrs. Carolyn Traum for her sponsorship of the Carson-Dellosa Workshop for teachers in our county. I fully support that "thank you", although I was unaware that the sentence "It's nice to know someone listens to the needs of educators" would be included. This infers, to me, that Mrs. Traum is the only person who recognizes the needs of educators.

We thank Mrs. Deborah Walker (who composed the letter which many of us signed) for issuing that expression of gratitude in Wednesday's paper, but some of us just want to clarify that we do not consider Mrs. Traum to be our sole supporter, although a much appreciated one!

Sincerely,
Betty L. Schuster

Editor:

I am writing to voice my support for a new Prestonsburg High School being built on the site already purchased for that express purpose on Route 114, Middle Creek Road. After attending the recent school board meeting, I believe, more strongly than ever, that this would be the correct thing to do.

First, I would like to see a new school for our children, not one that has been renovated. When I attended high school at Prestonsburg during the early seventies, the school needed extensive work, the least being the removal of asbestos throughout the building. Why should our children have to settle for a "new" school in an old shell?

Secondly, I listened with interest to Mr. Billips' proposal for an alternate site. However, I felt there were several points not taken into consideration; one of the most important being that even if there is a renovated "new" school built on that location, it will still be in the flood plain. Why should millions of dollars be expended for a project that is located on such a site?

Thirdly, the land located on Route 114 has already received the approval of the state and as such, has been purchased by the Floyd County Board of Education. If this property is not utilized as a building site for the high school, the Floyd County Board of Education will be responsible for monies expended thus far on the project. This money would have to come from the Board's general fund. Is there an extra $510,000 available to throw away? I think not. However, if the Board becomes responsible for this debt, then money being thrown away will be the case.

Lastly, I have been perplexed about the figure being thrown about for site preparation of the Middle Creek site. This seems to be a big issue for those opposed to the project, as it should be. However, I have yet to determine from where the quoted 4.3 or 4.8 million dollar figure came. The property purchased was 110 acres. For 18 level acres, 1.3 million was the bid received from the construction company. Core drilling and other such expenses took the total cost of site preparation to 1.9 million, not 4.8 million.

In conclusion, I believe that when the facts are placed on the table, the logical choice is that the best decision for the people of Floyd County is to build a new high school on the property located on Route 114.

McConnell's Comments

Sen. Mitch McConnell

Fighting to protect Social Security

This week the Senate debated a proposal that would affect seniors and every working American. It was a proposal that would allow the weakening of the Social Security system, one that might be a major step back toward instability and insolvency. This proposal could even bankrupt the Social Security system as early as 2005.

I voted not to weaken the Social Security system. According to a Congressional Budget Office (CBO) study, the proposed payroll tax cut would slow economic growth, increase interest rates, and lower the savings rate. The payroll cut would also reduce the accumulation of reserve funds that cushion the program from an economic setback, subjecting the program to unneeded potential financial risk. With an ever-increasing deficit and a growing population of senior citizens, no one needs such a burden on the economy.

For Kentucky seniors, the proposal was a threat to the stability of the system. Seniors should not have to worry that the funds they worked so hard for might be threatened by those who want to tamper with a now-secure program. I do not intend to stand by and watch that happen.

For working Kentuckians, the proposal would be a major tax hike. By 2020, the tax burden for the average worker would be more than $1300 higher than under current law. This is no time to increase the burden on working families — you want to know that the system will be secure by the time you need it, too.

The Social Security system now provides a stable, secure income for workers and their families who have contributed for many years. Kentuckians and all Americans want Social Security to remain safe. The strength of the program is its future — Social Security must be solvent by the time today's workers retire.

Report to Kentucky

Senator Wendell Ford

Bringing more clean coal to our energy future

I am pleased to report that our Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources has approved a series of clean-coal proposals, which I recently offered as amendments to far-reaching national energy legislation.

This legislation, now including these critical amendments, can help to lead Kentucky and the nation to a brighter energy future. I am absolutely convinced that it should be the top priority of the 102nd Congress.

Our bill—the National Energy Security Act of 1991—is expected to reach the Senate floor in relatively short order. I have every hope that we can get Senate action this year and congressional approval of major energy legislation before this Congress adjourns at the end of 1992.

Kentuckians and others have worked for many years to encourage national energy policies to reduce our crippling dependence on foreign oil. Now, as we seek ways to ensure that the Persian Gulf conflict will never be repeated, the need for such policies is greater than ever before.

This short-sighted approach is highly damaging to Kentucky and other coal-producing states—and even more damaging to the long-term energy security of this nation.

By contrast, our National Energy Security Act calls for the development of advanced clean-coal technologies along with many other energy-efficiency and conservation programs.

I am very pleased that the committee has adopted my amendments to strengthen crucial coal provisions of this bill. I am convinced that the resulting bill deserves the support of all Kentuckians. My amendments will:

- * Encourage additional rounds in the clean-coal technology program.

- * Direct the Secretary of Energy to undertake joint ventures to develop commercial-scale demonstrations of innovative coal-refining processes such as liquefaction. This will allow us to focus more on cleaning up our coal before—rather than after—it is burned.

- * Include coal refining in our proposed research and development program for non-fuel uses of coal.

- * Encourage states to provide regulatory incentives to utilities investing in clean-coal technologies, and require the Secretary to issue progress reports.

- * Also direct the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to conduct a rulemaking to establish a 5-year demonstration program of regulatory incentives for clean-coal technologies.

- * Eliminate a disincentive to the acceptance of clean-coal projects by ensuring that electricity rates are not based on avoided-cost calculations that could artificially drive up rates.

- * Require the Secretary to make a report to Congress on the utilization of coal-combustion byproducts, such as ash, slag and flue-gas desulfurization materials.

The Hazard office consists of three attorneys, two paralegals, and two secretaries. It serves Letcher, Leslie and Knott counties.

Dewey Lake News

Volunteering keeps Kentucky beautiful

by John Uppole

When tourists think about traveling to the "Bluegrass State" they think of rolling hills, elaborate horse farms and the Kentucky Derby. All of these are consistent with the central and western sections of our state. However, Eastern Kentucky has attractions equal to those located in other portions of the state. One of our most famous and beautiful attractions is located here in Floyd County. Dewey Lake is surrounded by pristine wildlands, breathtaking vistas and offers a wide range of recreation opportunities for ourselves and visitors to our area.

We are proud of Eastern Kentucky and we want the rest of the country to know it. The best way we can show our pride, is to keep Eastern Kentucky beautiful. If you can spare a few hours a week as a volunteer, you can make a difference and feel good about doing your part for Eastern Kentucky.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Dewey Lake has several ongoing projects that could use your help, expertise and dedication to complete. One such project is our flower planting program. As a volunteer, you will work side by side with professionals in various fields including other federal and state agencies.

If you can spare the time and would like to do your part for Eastern Kentucky, please contact Ranger Bonnie Maki at the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Dewey Lake Project Office, 606-886-6709.

Kentucky was one of 20 states which recorded a lower annual unemployment rate in 1990 than in 1989, according to the U.S. Department of Labor. Kentucky's rate fell from 6.2 percent in 1989 to 5.8 percent in 1990.

Office automation show promises easier way

The East Kentucky Office Automation Show is set for Wednesday and Thursday, August 21-22, at the Pikeville College Gymnasium.

Co-sponsored by the Pike County Chamber of Commerce, the event promises a showcase of business products and services.

Leon Huffman and Darrell Maynard, co-chairs of the show, urge employers in the region and their office staff to put the dates on their company calendar so that they can plan for all their staff to attend. Show hours will be from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. each day.

To obtain admission tickets in advance, contact the Pike County Chamber of Commerce office at 452-5504 in Pikeville. All exhibitors will have complementary tickets to distribute to their clients and potential customers. An admission fee will be charged.

Products and services that will be included in the show range from office supplies and furnishings to the latest in computer software, security systems, and auto phones.

A retired miner, he was a member of the UMWA at Martin. He was also a member of the Faith Bible Church at Martin.

Survivors include four sons, Jerry R. Butler of Gahanna, Ohio, Robert G. Butler of Allen, George R. (Dickie) Butler of Columbus, Ohio, and Phillip (Sonny) Butler of Printer; three daughters, Louise Spradlin of Prestonsburg, Peggy L. Martin of Columbus, Ohio, and Barbara Bevins of Printer; six brothers, Grover Butler of Hiller, Ky., Gerald Butler of Elkhorn City, David Butler Jr., of Scioto, Ohio, Jake and Lonnie Butler, both of Ironton, Ohio, and James Butler of Drift; three sisters, Carman Sanders, Dixie Davis, and Grace Damron, all of Ironton, Ohio; 15 grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday, May 2, at 1 p.m. at the Hall Funeral Home Chapel. Burial will be made in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel with the Hall Funeral Home caring for those arrangements.

Pallbearers were Randy Hunter, Norman Hunter, Gregory Martin, Freer Martin, Bill Bevins, Bill Gearheart, Don Speirt and Jason Bevins.

Joint commission awards Highlands accreditation

Highlands Regional Medical Center has again achieved maximum 3-year accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO) as a result of its compliance with the organization's nationally recognized healthcare standards.

The Joint Commission is a professional nonprofit organization which serves as a national forum setting the standards for providing and improving the quality of care and services in particular health care settings such as hospitals. Joint Commission's standards reflect the highest quality in healthcare.

Outstanding student

Katie Hatfield, daughter of Curtis and Joan Hatfield, of Ulysses, formerly of Floyd County, has achieved a 4.0 standing for the first semester of her sophomore year at Pikeville College. Miss Hatfield is majoring in Education. She is the granddaughter of the late Jordan and Martha Hatfield and the late Charlie and Katie Hammonds, all of Water Gap, Ky.

Miss Eastern Ky.

In a pageant held April 28, at the Holiday Inn, Prestonsburg, Miss Heather Johnson, 7-year-old daughter of Roy and Brenda Johnson of Teaberry, was crowned Miss Eastern Kentucky in the six to eight year old age group. She won titles in three categories: personality, modeling and beauty. She received a trophy and crown for each category. She is a second grade student at Stumbo Elementary.

Critical care nurses

Highlands nurses Cheryl Hansford of Eastern and Bessie Minix of Salyersville have been certified by the American Association of Critical Care Nurses.

HRMC nurses receive critical care certification

Highlands Regional Medical Center announced that Cheryl Hansford, RN, and Bessie Minix, RN, recently received their critical care certification. The certification is awarded only to those nurses who have worked several years in critical care and have successfully passed a comprehensive exam given by the American Association of Critical Care Nurses.

Sharon Dingus, RN, BSN, CCRN, clinical manager of Critical Care, states, "I am very proud of the extra effort Bessie and Cheryl have made to accomplish their CCRN status. At the present, 90% of the critical care nurses at Highlands Regional Medical Center are certified by the American Association of Critical Care Nurses. Certification by the AACN validates the knowledge level of the critical care nurse and assures prospective employees and the public that the nurse has achieved a level of excellence in nursing as recognized by the AACN."

National Nursing Home Week to be observed May 12-18

During National Nursing Home week, May 12-18, the Big Sandy Area Development District Ombudsman Program encourages area residents to visit the local Nursing Home Facilities in the Martin, Johnson, Magoffin, Floyd and Pike County areas. At present there are 10 facilities serving approximately 950 residents.

Those facilities include: Jenny Wiley Health Care Center at Hager Hill, Mountain Manor Nursing Home at Pikeville, Mountain Manor Nursing Home, at Prestonsburg, Mountain Valley Rest Home at Salyersville, Mountain View Health Care Center at Elkhorn City, Paintsville Health Care Center at Paintsville, Parkview Manor Nursing Home at Pikeville, Phelps Community Medical Center at Phelps, Riverview Manor at Prestonsburg and Salyersville Health Care Center at Salyersville.

Through a cooperative effort, the nursing facilities and the Ombudsman Program work to increase the quality of care and quality of life improvement for each resident in the Big Sandy Area. The goal of the ombudsman Program is to ensure the rights of all nursing home residents. It is a voice for those residents who are unable to speak for themselves.

Anyone who has concerns regarding nursing care facilities may contact: Mary Anne Hall, Big Sandy Ombudsman Program, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, or call 886-2375 or 1-800-866-1086.

Alcohol and drug program poster contest

The Substance Abuse Prevention Program with the Floyd County School System sponsored a Poster/Billboard Contest as part of its Alcohol and Drug Awareness Month.

This contest was one way of getting prevention messages to the community, since every student had to enter this contest. The theme for the contest was "It's Great Being Me! (I'm Drug-Free)."

The contest had four categories: headstart and preschool; kindergarten through fourth grade; fifth grade through eighth grade; ninth through twelfth grade.

After the winners were chosen, the first place winners will have their poster transferred to a billboard for a month. The winners are:

First category (Headstart and Preschool): First place—Betsy Layne Preschool.

Second category (Kindergarten through fourth grade): First place—Matt Howard, third grade, James A. Duff Elementary School; second place—Stephanie Sexton, third grade, James A. Duff Elementary School; third place—Sarah Nichols, third grade, James A. Duff Elementary School; fourth place—McKenzie Banner, fourth grade, Charles Clark Elementary.

Third category (Fifth through eighth grades): First place—Jessica Jarrell, eighth grade, James D. Adams Elementary School; second place—Nick Sammons, Martin Elementary; third place—Nanna Allen, eighth grade, James D. Adams Middle School; and fourth place—Scott Watson and Joey Meade, eighth grade, Betsy Layne Elementary.

Fourth category: First place—Heath Wiley, Allen Central High

Reid is winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Stephanie Erin Reid has been named a United States National Award winner in Art.

Miss Reid, who attends McDowell High School, was nominated for this national award by John Stumbo, an art teacher at the school.

She is the daughter of Ms. Ramona S. Reid and granddaughter of Chester Shelton of Drift.

Life saving mammography services offered in ninety-seven Kentucky counties

Low-income women in 97 Kentucky counties now have access to mammography (breast cancer) screening services through local health departments.

State Health Services Commissioner Carlos Hernandez, M.D., says that the new service, eventually to be offered by health departments statewide, provides a more comprehensive cancer check-up for Kentucky women.

"Health departments have traditionally provided Pap tests to catch cervical cancer early, taught women how to examine their own breasts for lumps and counseled smokers about the risks of lung cancer," Hernandez said.

"With the addition of mammography screening to health department services, low-income women will be offered a chance to detect breast cancer in its earliest, most treatable stages."

The American Cancer Society estimates that in 1991, 2,300 Kentucky women will be diagnosed with breast cancer and that 600 Kentucky women will die of the disease. Mammography screening can detect breast cancer in its early stages thereby greatly improving survival rates.

The mammography services will benefit Kentucky women who until now have not had access to this potentially life-saving medical service. "For the most part, the women who will receive mammograms through health departments do not have private medical insurance and are ineligible for Medicaid," Hernandez said. "With this new program, these women will be able to have this valuable screening."

Low-income women over age 45 are eligible for the health department services. Women age 35 through 44 who have a family history of breast cancer and meet the income criteria are also eligible.

Hernandez says that women at the highest risk for breast cancer are being targeted for the screenings.

"We know that women over age 45 are at more risk of getting breast cancer than younger women," he said. "That's why the screening program, in accordance with established medical guidelines, will emphasize women of this age."

The new service is being added across the state as a result of a $1.3 million appropriation by the legislature in its 1990 session. Health departments are contracting with local and mobile mammography providers for the service.

Women who want more information about the availability of mammography screening in their area should contact the Floyd County Health Department.

Snoring can indicate serious medical problem

Snoring — it often results in jabs in the side at night and lots of bad jokes. But, to the medical community, snoring is not a joke. As a matter of fact, loud, habitual snoring can be an indication of a potentially life-threatening disorder, obstructive sleep apnea.

Snoring may indicate a problem with breathing during sleep such as the airway not being fully open. The noise comes from efforts to force air through the narrowed airway.

The typical individual with sleep apnea is a middle-aged male who is overweight. He may awaken frequently during the night gasping and thrashing about. Morning headaches, trouble concentrating, difficulty staying awake while driving, or sitting still to watch television are all symptoms of sleep apnea. The individual may also be unusually irritable, anxious, or depressed. Since these symptoms tend to manifest themselves over a period of years, the person tends to minimize their effects. Often family members recognize the changes in mood and behaviors and urge the individual to seek help.

Anyone who suffers from these symptoms needs to discuss the problem with his or her physician. Individuals with suspected sleep apnea should avoid drinking alcohol within four hours of bedtime and/or the use of sleeping pills. Both alcohol and sleeping pills cause breathing to be more depressed and increase the frequency and severity of the apnea.

Most people who have sleep apnea find they feel better when sleeping in a recliner or with three or four pillows beneath them. This tends to take some of the pressure off the narrowed airway that is worse when they are totally flat in bed and sleeping on their back.

The most common treatment for sleep apnea is called continuous positive airway pressure. With this treatment a mask is worn over the nose during sleep and it directs air under pressure through the nose and into the airway to prevent the airway from collapsing, hence keeping the airway open during sleep. With this treatment the individual usually maintains normal breathing during sleep.

For more information, contact the Sleep Disorders Center at Highlands Regional Medical Center at 886-8511, extension 555.

Ten small ways to stop one big problem.

The next time everyday pressures build up to the point where you feel like lashing out—STOP! Here's what to do instead:

1. Take a deep breath. And another. Then remember you are the adult...
2. Close your eyes and imagine you're hearing what your child is about to hear.
3. Press your lips together and count to 10. Or, better yet, to 20.
4. Put your child in a time-out chair. (Remember the rule: one time-out minute for each year of age.)
5. Phone a friend.
6. If someone can watch the children, go outside and take a walk.
7. Take a hot bath or splash cold water on your face.
8. Turn on some music. Maybe even sing along.
9. Pick up a pencil and write down as many helpful words as you can think of. Save the list.
10. Write for parenting information: Parenting, P.O. Box 2866, Chicago, IL 60690

Take Time Out. Don't Take It Out On Your Child.

Cabbage Patch

By Marie Harmon

Here it is Spring and time to start doing some serious thinking of gardening. I have thought of little else all winter. If my garden would dry up, I plan to start my onion beds very soon.

Some people plant their onion sets 2 or 3 inches apart in rows, so they can pull fresh green onions for table use by pulling every other onion out. I have done that.

I later learned that when you pull every other one out, you will slightly disturb the ones on each side of the pulled onion, causing the onion to mature before reaching maximum size. To avoid this, it is better to set out some sets in a special bed. Set your main bed out with 5 or 6 inches clearance in rows at least a foot apart and 3 to 5 rows in a bed. This spacing makes it easier to cultivate around each plant and gives them plenty of room to grow.

Lack of water will also check the growth of your onions. Onions should get an average of one inch of water each week. If your soil is sandy and quick draining, they will need two inches. A nitrogen-loving plant will grow more vigorously with a steady watering of manure tea or other water-soluble fertilizer. An onion growing myth is they need no fertilizer or feeding.

I ran across a good idea (I think) to help grow your onions. Cut cardboard panels the size of your onion beds from large boxes, such as refrigerator cartons. Using an electric drill equipped with a hole cutting saw, drill rows of one inch holes on six inch centers into the panels. Lay the panels on the onion bed, anchor the edges with soil and place a few rocks down the middle to keep the cardboard flat. Plant your onion sets in the holes, then sprinkle wood ashes on the cardboard to repel onion flies.

Using this method, the only weeding you will have to do is in the holes until the onion bulb grows large enough to smother the weeds. You will be spacing and mulching your onion beds at the same time. Along with holding the moisture in the bed, because the sun won't draw it out, this method requires less watering in hot dry spells.

Costume designer

A fourth grade student at McDowell Elementary School has a keen fascination with events in the Persian Gulf—so much so that he came to school recently in a Middle East costume! Billy Tackett, a student in Kitty Frazier's room, surprised his teacher and classmates with a spontaneous "dress-up" day. According to Mrs. Frazier, "Billy is very good in geography and social studies and has shown a great deal of interest in lessons relating to the Gulf; with Billy, you never know what he will do next." He is the son of Bill and Loretta Tackett of Sizemore. His hobbies are studying maps, collecting baseball cards, watching girls, and collecting old money. He wants to be president of the United States of America when he grows up!

Local artist to exhibit work at MSU gallery

A Prestonsburg artist will exhibit works in the "Senior Show," May 1-18, at Morehead State University in the gallery.

The artist, who is candidate for a May or August graduation, is David Wallen of Prestonsburg.

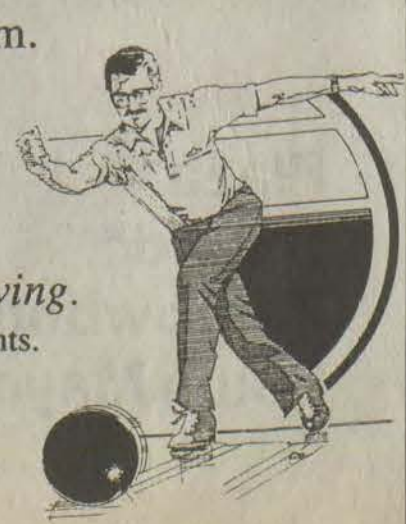

The gallery is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m.-4 p.m., and on Saturday, 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

The show will include works by thirteen MSU seniors and will feature a variety of media-graphic design, paintings, intaglio prints, ceramics and sculpture. Some of the works may be purchased.

Mountain Voices — by Willie Elliott

Shopping with my wife

I went shopping with my wife last week. Whenever I go shopping with her, I always end up in the book section of the store. I have done some of my most serious reading in department stores. I have been known to read complete novels while I wait for her to finish her shopping. If these places would only carry the complete works of William Shakespeare, I could finish Two Gentlemen of Verona. I feel bad about lying to my college instructor about reading it. The truth is I haven't read a line of it. Well, anyway, I was reading away on Lewis Grizzard's Chili Dawgs Always Bark at Night. Grizzard writes a column for the Atlanta Journal-

Constitution and his columns are hilarious. A reader can get a good laugh by reading only the title. One of my favorite titles is Elvis is Dead and I Don't Feel So Good Myself.

I was reading away on the introduction and ignoring anyone who looked questioningly at me propped up in the lawn furniture section. I was almost finished with the introduction and ready to sample some of those witty columns when Grizzard had the nerve to include the following sentence in his book: "And if you have read this far, go on up to the counter and pay for it." Well, I had been caught red handed. I felt so guilty that I did in fact buy the book even though I had planned to read part of it this shopping trip and finish it next time.

Since I felt too cheap to read anymore, I decided I would try to find Linda something for her birthday. I felt a little guilty because I had gotten her a weed eater and bathroom scales for her birthday gift, but I swear that is what she said she wanted. While I was browsing, I found a little plaque entitled "Rules for a Happy Marriage." All the rules are just common sense, but as some wise person once said, "The only trouble with common sense is that it is not too common." Since I paid six dollars for this thing, I think I have a right to tell you those rules. Here they are free of charge.

- # Never be angry at the same time.
- # Never yell at each other unless the house is on fire.

If one of you has to win an argument, let it be the other one.

If you have to criticize, do it lovingly.

Never bring up mistakes of the past.

Neglect the whole world rather than each other.

Never go to sleep with an argument unsettled. (Linda already had this rule in effect. I guess it is a good rule, but it interferes seriously with my pouting.)

At least once every day, try to say one kind or complimentary thing to your partner. (Okay, why did Linda stare at me so when I told her she looked good carrying that weed eater around?)

When you have done something wrong, be ready to admit it and ask for forgiveness. (I have promised Linda that in the unlikely event that I do something wrong, I will admit it.)

It takes two to make a quarrel, and the one in the wrong is usually the one who does the most talking.

We read the rules and agreed they were good sound guide posts for getting along. We had a good day. We came back home and I wrote this column and Linda used her weed eater.

Now, I want to ask if anyone would like to buy a slightly used copy of Chili Dawgs Always Bark at Night. You can have it for half price and as a bonus I will let you look at my "Rules for a Happy Marriage" when you come to pick up the book.

Soapbox

I've been back to work more than a week now and it almost seems as if I'd never left. Except when I have to question where things are kept and how things are being done now. The desert almost seems like another lifetime.

Yet, I am still running into people I haven't seen since I've been back and inevitably the first question out of their mouths is "how was it over there?" or "did you have a good time?" Both questions are rather ambiguous. If you think about it you can understand why. Imagine someone asking you how the past six months of your life was. Can you give them a definite answer? And like your life, the past six months of my life were a mixture of some good and some bad.

Now the second question is a little easier to answer, but my answer always shocks the asker. Yes, I had a good time, for the most part. It was a good time in that it was a great experience and I learned a lot about myself. I was given the opportunity to discover my capabilities and to improve on my weaknesses before I came back to my people.

I learned a lot about Tess Whitmer during the second half of my 25th year. I'd list those lessons but, in doing so, I'd tell you what my weaknesses were and I'm not crazy about doing that since I've worked so hard to eliminate them. Those of you who know me know what they were.

I must say though, by far, the most interesting, challenging and emotionally stimulating time was when a portion of my unit was sent out to the middle of the desert to process prisoners of war. The factor which made that time so great for me was that I was in charge. As much as it may seem, that was not an egotistical statement.

Being in charge is not always an enviable position. Many days I wished I was just a troop and didn't have to make the decisions and didn't have to order my friends to do something that needed done. But, it sure tested my mettle. It made me think things out and weigh the pros and cons of any given situation. It forced me to build confidence because who wants to follow someone wishy-washy? It also helped me to become open-minded and more patient (slightly). Lack of patience has always been one of my biggest faults (guess I spilled the beans anyway, didn't I?).

My commander called it "leadership under fire." Previous to the desert, I had two captains, a major and a lieutenant colonel above me making all the decisions. I basically did what they told me to do. When my unit was split up, I was put in charge of 25 troops and sent to the middle of nowhere to do a mission we knew practically nothing about.

Not only did I have to ensure the mission was performed properly, everyone had all the supplies they needed and were following the Geneva Convention pertaining to the treatment of prisoners, but I also had to make sure my people stayed healthy, had food and water, a place to live with all the proper facilities, transportation, mail and time off. I had to wear so many different hats it is almost inconceivable. It certainly wasn't easy, but it was challenging.

Consequently, what I gained most during my adventure is maturity. My friends and family can tell you that I am now more outspoken and more outgoing (if that's possible). Also, I'm not intimidated as easily, yet I listen and put credence into other people's opinions.

Well, I told you it wasn't an easy question to answer, but I hope this has helped explain how many of your people may be feeling and how they may have changed when they come home. No, it was not a typical war, but I believe the things I gained while serving are the same, or at least similar, to the things other veterans gained during their tours.

ACHS student accepted in Governor's School for the Arts

In the area of Visual Arts, Chuck Compton will attend the Governor's School for the Arts this summer.

This school is open only to outstanding sophomores and juniors who have passed through three levels of competition before they are allowed to attend this program held at Belknap College in Louisville. It is sponsored through the Kentucky Center for the Arts.

Criteria for judging these student portfolios include the creativity and originality (the idea or concept) displayed by the works and the use of materials (the execution of the idea, the craft and technique displayed by the student). All students must participate in a workshop at the Kentucky Center for the Arts also to be eligible for consideration and be interviewed by a panel of judges.

Compton is a sophomore at Allen Central High School where he is enrolled in Special Art under Mrs. Caralita O'Quinn. He is the son of Fred and Joyce Post of Hager Hill.

Chuck Compton

Regional runner-up

Penny Pajel, a seventh grade student from McDowell Elementary School, represented Floyd County in the Eastern Kentucky Education Association Spelling Bee (EKEA) on April 13. Nineteen schools participated in the competition with each representative receiving a certificate and an ounce of silver. Pajel finished second, losing in the championship round to Charles Truesdell of Lewis County. In the event Truesdell is unable to attend, Pajel will represent Eastern Kentucky at the State Spelling Bee in Lexington. The EKEA Spelling Bee was held at Summit Junior High School in Ashland. Pajel is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Percival Pajel of McDowell.

Eight from Duff named to all-county band

Duff Elementary band director Mike Cooley announced that eight members of the school's band have been selected to the all-county band in Floyd County.

The all-county band will perform at a concert in the festival of FACES to be held May 16-19 in Prestonsburg.

Those selected: Brady Scott, Daryl Shepherd, Mitch Sheperd, Allison Conley, Tara Shepherd, Ethram O'Quinn, Melony Conn and Regina Collett. Daryl Shepherd and Regina Collett were also selected to the all-district band.

Smile Awhile — by Sarah Hopson

Old cousins never die, they just go someplace more relative

Last week was a nightmare. Among family sicknesses, friends' illnesses, and the death of a loved one, it was a trying and sad time at the Hopson household.

With God's help, we weathered the sickness and illnesses, but the death of one of my dearest and sweetest cousin's, Mark Trimble, was an obstacle that proved to be almost emotionally insurmountable.

Mark was only 41-years old. The last time I spoke to him in person, he had just learned of his illness and was preparing to face his adversity with optimism. That was typical because optimistically was the only way Mark dealt with anything.

I was always Mark's "Cuz". That was his nickname for me, but I wasn't singled out for this distinction. Mark had a nickname for everyone. This was simply one element of his natural magnetism that made people gravitate toward him. And aside from being cousins, Mark and I were friends. We grew up together, attended the same church, dated each other's best friends and generally caused a commotion whenever we were together.

One night when Mark and his girlfriend, and my boyfriend and I were "courting" in the basement of my house, we decided to turn off the lights for privacy. After about 15 minutes, I felt someone fondling my leg. "Stop that!" I commanded. Mark never missed a beat as he replied, "Cuz, I'm sure glad that's your leg. I had an itch and for a minute there, I thought my leg was paralyzed."

Since church played a major role in our growing up process, we spent a lot of time "parked" in the back pews where we scribbled notes to each other and whispered throughout the services. A lot of our best conversations took place between the Offertory and the Benediction. Sometimes we were even "nerdy" enough to listen to the preacher's sermon, and the way Mark lived his life is proof that he got the gist of the messages.

During one of our last conversations, Mark told me about telling his niece, Caroline (his nickname for Mary Elizabeth) about where unborn babies went after they left their mommies' bellies.

"I heard her asking the housekeeper where those babies went," Mark laughed. "The woman really didn't know what to say, so I called to her and told her 'those babies' went to the Breaks of the Mountains and had picnics." He then cackled that laugh which could evoke laughter from a mute.

Mark had a "way" with children. My own son was one of the lucky ones who had the opportunity to have been coached by him in basketball. Since my son was the oldest child on Mark's novice team, he gave him a free-hand at delegating plays to the younger ones. "Get in there, 'J. R. Ewing,'" Mark would say to him.

"And don't be discouraged because we're only 38 points behind. We're playing a good team with a good coach, but we've got a better coach. Get a bunch of baskets and pass it off to Tommy if you get a chance." J. R. adored him, as did all the kids he ever coached.

At one time, my husband and Mark were in business together. The stories Jimmie can tell about their episodes can't be repeated here, but I can assure you, hearing them would double you over with laughter. The unique part of this is that there are hundreds of others who could cite similar incidents.

There isn't a time I can recall not feeling better after a conversation with Mark. The minute we were together, we started laughing. And because we shared so many secrets, "graveyard talk" you could say, we never tired of things to discuss. Even Mark's undeserved front-page coverage in the Lexington Herald Leader about taxes was a source of fun between us.

"Mark," I asked when I called him after reading the article. "Why in the world did you consent to an interview?"

"Cuz, that was an awful picture of me, wasn't it? I wanted to give them my best side, but they wouldn't let me pose."

It would have taken more pages than the Congressional Record to print Mark's good side because that's the only side he had.

One of my favorite sayings of Mark's had to do with paying bills. On one occasion, my job required that I call Mark and ask about an overdue payment. "Cuz, I didn't know they wanted it all at one time," he cackled.

The last time I saw Mark, he was smiling and laughing. And wherever he is, there are no doubts in this "Cuz's" mind, (nor in anyone else's who was fortunate enough to know him), that someone is smiling and laughing now.

Anatomy and physiology field trip

by Christopher Stevens
On April 9, 1991, Betsy Layne High School teacher Janet Akers accompanied her 27 anatomy and physiology students to U.K. Medical Center for an orientation session in medicine lead by Dr. Gary Ginn. This program was offered to teachers who attended last year's summer anatomy workshop. The purpose of this field trip was to introduce potential health care professionals to the field of medicine.

The session was opened by a general introduction to human anatomy that focussed on the skeletal system. X-ray charts were viewed, discussed, and interpreted. The session progressed into a cadaver observation that showed the separate anatomical parts of the human body.

Questions and explanations were given throughout the session. At the closing, bumper stickers were given to the group by the university.

Afterwards, they visited Fayette Mall for lunch and returned home with a real-life concept of the field of medicine.

Eye opener

Betsy Layne High School anatomy teacher Janet Akers, a nominee for the Ashland Oil Teacher Achievement Award, opened her student's eyes to the reality of medicine on a recent field trip to the UK Medical Center in Lexington recently.

Silver is Kentucky Tonight

Silver is the sky tonight,
With the moon and her shadows on the land.
Rolling hills, silver hills tonight—
Images on the back of God's hand;
Images on the mind of every man.

Silver is the sky tonight,
And its stars that fade with silver hew.
Glimpse of life in Kentucky tonight—
Silver Kentucky in which I grew,
Silver Kentucky I thought I knew.

Silver is the sky tonight,
Sounds of night that I may hear.
Sounds of life in silver tonight—
Sounds that seem to disappear;
Sounds so far, but yet so near;
Sounds that are Kentucky tonight.

Silver is the sky tonight,
Silver wind through silver trees.
Silver in the trees tonight—
Silver streams to silver seas,
Silver hearts that believe in me.

Silver is the sky tonight,
My Kentucky I once knew.
Silver is Kentucky tonight—
Land of lands in a world untrue;
Silver is Kentucky tonight;
Until the next night, I'll dream of you...

Monroe Jones Leaves Wheelwright For Powell County

Wheelwright head basketball coach Monroe Jones will be leaving the Left Beaver school to become the new head basketball coach at Powell County High School in Stanton. Jones has been at the helm of the Trojans' program for the past five years. Coach Jones was chosen from several applicants for the job and says that he will have complete control of the Powell County program from first grade through 12.

"They have given me complete control of the program," he stated. "They want a strong program built at the school and I will have complete input into the grade and middle school programs."

Powell County has three grades and one middle school that feeds into the high school program. Jones said that they were looking at a long term program. "They have expressed to me that they want a first class program with the proper discipline," Jones explained. "They have some talented kids at Powell County, and they have had their ups and downs lately — more downs than up."

Jones' wife Sherry will also be teaching in the Powell County school system.

Jones said it is always hard to leave a program like Wheelwright.

"I have mixed feelings about leaving," he said. "We will be leaving friends, family, students and players. That is hard to do. However, I am looking forward to the challenge of a new program and I am excited about going."

Jones has been at Wheelwright for the last five years, a school where he graduated in 1980. Jones started for the Trojans during his four years as a Trojan player, going on to the University of Georgia to play college basketball. Jones best season as head coach of the Trojans was in 1989 when he went 15-12.

Powell County plays in the 14th Region and is part of the 56th District with Lee, Menifee, Owsley and Wolfe counties. Powell County has one state tournament appearance back in the '70s.

While Jones will be packing his bags to head to the Powell County school, he will not leave without being missed, according to Wheelwright

Principal Lonnie Stone. "Monroe Jones is a fine basketball coach," said the Wheelwright principal. "He has been very supportive of everything we have done here at Wheelwright. He will be missed and I don't think people realize how much he will be missed."

"I think our size here at Wheelwright and the fact of consolidation helped Coach Jones make up his mind to accept the position. He is a very capable coach and we will miss him here at the school."

"The kids were very fond of him and he was good for the kids. Monroe is an all around good person, works hard and is an excellent classroom teacher."

Jones has worked with the Wheelwright baseball team in years past as well as assisted with the football program at the school.

"I'm eager to get started," said Jones. "I see it as a better opportunity for me and my family. I want to leave on good terms. They told me when I took the job that it would be for two years and that a new school was coming. Well, I have been here for five years and they are telling me it will be another two years. You just can't let every opportunity pass by while you are waiting. It will be good for my family. I wish the school and the players well next year."

"Next year Wheelwright will have, perhaps, the best team they've had in the past years. Harold Johnson has to be rated second or third best player in the region next season."

Jones said that he accepted the Powell County job this past Monday after some time of thinking it over.

"I went for three interviews," he explained, "and I decided to take the position. Powell County has around 630 students enrolled and that will give me more to choose from in building a program."

Former McDowell alumni, Ricky Hall, will become the school's athletic director next season.

The process of replacing Jones will fall into the hands of the Floyd County School Board according to Stone.

"They (Powell County) answered all the right questions that I had," said Jones, "and I accepted the position."

While no one wants to see the popular Wheelwright coach move, everyone should be happy for him in this opportunity. He will be missed!

Retires 10 straight...

Vance Hurls And Bats McDowell Past Prestonsburg 11-6

McDowell's Toby Vance looked awesome after the first inning as he gave the Prestonsburg Blackcats just three hits and two runs over the final six innings enroute to a 11-6 win over the Prestonsburg squad. Vance did not allow a base runner after Sean Damron's single in the second inning until Chris Cavins singled in the fifth inning. Vance retired 10 batters in a row.

Not only did Vance have a strong outing on the hill, but he collected two hits and drove in two runs for the Daredevils. The big right-hander struck out four batters while giving up four walks.

Jason Crisp, the first of three Blackcat pitchers, suffered the setback for Prestonsburg. Crisp was followed by Scott Stephens and C. D. Poston to the mound. Crisp could not retire a batter in the first inning as Stephens came in to replace him. Poston relieved Stephens in the fourth.

McDowell scored four runs in the fourth inning to take an 8-5 lead after trailing 5-4. Nine batters paraded to the plate for the Daredevils against Stephens. Shannon Price's single got the inning started for McDowell, and Matt Rose followed with a solid single to left. Both runners moved up on a wild pitch by Stephens. With one out, Vance drove in Price and Rose with a liner to right center. Barry Hall walked and Prestonsburg coach Russell Shepherd elected to lift Stephens and bring on Poston to face Bud Kidd. Poston got Kidd to pop out to short and Earl Cook greeted Poston with a triple to right center that rolled to the fence, scoring Vance and Hall.

The Daredevils added another three more runs in their half of the sixth inning. Vance and Hall picked up back to back singles to start the inning and then both pulled off a double steal. Vance scored when Cook reached on an error at shortstop. Hall and Cook then came around on Randy Brown's RBI single.

Prestonsburg was up 4-0 after the first half inning of play. The Blackcats game out with their bats out of the bag in the first frame. Clark singled, Damron doubled him home, Cavins walked, and Aaron Tucker's two-out triple scored both runners. Tucker trotted home on Anthony Howell's double.

McDowell made it 4-3 with three in their half of the first. Shawn Ousley walked, stole second and third, and came in on a wild pitch from Crisp. Crisp issued back-to-back walks to Vance and Hall. Vance moved up on a wild pitch. Bud Kidd grounded to second to force Hall, with Vance

Paige's Hot Bat Helps Bobcats Post Win Over Prestonsburg

Betsy Layne (16-6) scored three runs in the sixth inning to erase an 8-6 Prestonsburg (17-8) lead and post a 9-8 come-from-behind win over the Blackcats Tuesday night at the Allen Park.

Chris Potter's base hit sent Keith Hall home with the go ahead run; however, it was the hot bat of Danny Paige that kept the Bobcats close. Paige was perfect at the plate with three hits that included a two-run home run in the first inning. Paige doubled in the fourth and picked up a run-producing single in the fifth. Paige not only had the hot bat, but picked up the win in relief of Adam Gearheart. Paige came on in the top of the sixth inning with one out and runners at first and third. Paige shut the door on the Blackcats without any damage. Paige struck no one out, and he walked one batter. Gearheart reentered the game on the hill, as he relieved Paige in the top of the seventh inning when the Blackcats loaded the bases against Paige. Gearheart, who started, got credit for the save. Explain that one. Paige, who relieved, got the win.

Ronnie Goodman started for Prestonsburg and went the distance to take the loss. Goodman looked sharp until the fatal sixth when he gave up the three runs. Goodman had two strike outs in the game and he issued three bases on balls.

With one out in the Bobcats sixth, Barry Collins drew a one-out walk. On a hit and run play, Derrick Newsome laid down a bunt for a base hit with Collins going all the way to third. Newsome stole second, putting runners on second and third with just one out. Chris Newsome, who has been fighting a bad slump of late, popped out to first base. Goodman then threw one in the dirt that eluded the catcher and Collins scored. Hall scored Newsome with a solid base hit. The ball was kicked around in centerfield, and Hall journeyed all the way to third where he scored the go-ahead run on Potter's game-winning RBI.

Prestonsburg scored one run in the top of the seventh before Gearheart came in and put out the fire.

Prestonsburg broke on top 2-0 with two runs in the first. John Clark, who has been on a tear of late, tripled to open the game, and came home on Chris Cavins' two-out single. Worth McGuire followed Cavins with a base hit, and Cavins scored on an error at third base.

Betsy Layne captured the lead with three in their half of the first inning.

Tucker Tosses 3-Hitter In Shutting Out Cards, 11-0

Prestonsburg right hander Aaron Tucker fired a three-hitter in shutting down the Sheldon Clark Cardinals 11-0 Wednesday in high school baseball action. The win was the second of the season over the Martin County team. They lost to the Cardinals once.

Tucker, at one point, retired nine in a row before Cooper reached him for a double leading off the fifth inning. Tucker fanned just two batters but issued no walks.

Jason Watts was the loser in the contest with Jennings coming on in relief in the sixth inning when Prestonsburg scored six times to make a "mercy" game.

Tucker reached on an error at second base to get the Blackcats' fifth inning underway. Jason Crisp sacrificed him to second, and Ronnie Goodman walked. With two out, John Clark scored Tucker with a base hit. After Sean Damron walked, Scott Stephens, who has been swinging a hot bat lately, singled home Clark. Designated hitter Chris Cavins collected his third hit of the game with an RBI single. Both runners moved up on a passed ball and came around to score on a base hit by Worth McGuire making it a 10 run "mercy rule" in the fifth inning.

Prestonsburg score twice in the first inning to take a 2-0 lead. With one out, Damron singled and Stephens reached on a base hit to center, sending Damron to third. Stephens went to third on a passed ball and both scored on Cavin's two-run double.

In the Blackcats' second, eight batters marched to the plate as three runners crossed home plate. Crisp and Goodman collected back-to-back base hits to begin the inning. With one out, Clark walked to load the bases. Damron's grounder to short was too late to get Clark at second base with Crisp coming in to score. Stephens got his second hit, as did Cavins, to score Goodman and Clark.

Prestonsburg pulled off an unusual double play in the first inning when Grayson walked to lead off the game. Watts lofted a fly ball to leftfield that Goodman made a good play on and fired the ball back to first base to double up an errant running Grayson.

Dalton got Sheldon Clark's first base hit in the second inning but Tucker retired the next three batters without any trouble. Tucker then preceded to retire the next six batters he faced for nine in a row. The Cards collected two hits in the top of the fifth.

Both Cavins and Stephens had three hits for the Blackcats. The win snapped a modest two game losing streak for Prestonsburg.

Rebels get 1 hit...

Sexton "Shoots" Down Patriots 3-2 In Nine Strong Innings

In Saudi Arabia the Patriot missiles did the shooting down of the SCUDs. Tuesday afternoon the Allen Central Rebels gunned down the Patriots. Allen Central right-hander Robbie Sexton continued his mastery of opponents as he fired a three-hitter against one of the state's top ranked baseball teams — Knott County Central. The Patriots have been ranked in the upper echelon of the state rankings all season. However, that did not bother the Rebels as they handed the Knott County team a 3-2 nine inning setback. It wasn't an easy win for Allen Central as they collected only one hit in the game — a seventh inning double by Frank Martin.

Sexton struck out eight Patriot batters while issuing only three walks.

Neither team could mount any kind of offense as both teams threw their best at each other. Kevin Couch, rated as the Patriot's best, was on the mound for Knott County Central. Couch suffered his first loss of the 1991 campaign in striking out eight Rebel batters. Couch had some control problems as he issued five walks and hit three Rebel batsmen. He allowed three runs, in which two were earned.

Allen Central scored an unearned run in the bottom of the ninth inning to pull out the 3-2 win. Senior B.J. Aldrich drew a lead off walk from Couch in the ninth. Patriot catcher Jason Couch threw a strike to second base to cut down Aldrich in a steal attempt. Frank Martin then worked Couch for a base on balls. Martin also tried for a steal off second base. This time, however, Couch threw the ball into centerfield and Martin, after picking himself up, journeyed on to third. An errant throw to third to try to get Martin eluded the third baseman, and Martin trotted home with the winning run.

Allen Central tied the score in the bottom of the seventh frame to send the game into extra innings. Stevie Robinson received a lead off walk from Couch. Robinson stole second.

Aldrich was safe at first base on his grounder to shortstop as a play was made on Robinson. However, all hands were safe. Frank Martin then collected the only hit the Rebels got — a two-run double that scored Aldrich and Robinson to tie the game at 2-2.

Knott County scored first in the third inning to take a 1-0 lead. Mike Smith walked, opening the third frame. Brian Sumner singled Smith to third where he scored on a sacrifice fly off the bat of Craft.

The Patriots made it 2-0 with another run in the sixth inning. Craft lead off the inning with a single and stole second base. He was wild pitched to third where he came home on a grounder to first from Couch.

The win evened the Rebels record at 6-6 on the season. Paintsville will visit the Don Daniels' Athletic Complex today to take on Anthony Moore's Rebels. Game time will be at 5 p.m.

Mud Creek Cubs Hand Astros First Loss In 7-6 Win

The Mud Creek Cubs handed the Allen Astros their first loss of the season in the Harold-Allen-Prater Little League Tuesday night. The Cubs scored seven times in the fifth inning to come from six runs down and defeat the Astros 7-6.

The win ties the Cubs and the Astros for first place in the league. Craig Johnson got the win for the Cubs in relief. Johnson fanned five batters while giving up two walks. Lance Jones started on the mound for the winners but did not figure in the win. Jones struck out six Astro batters while walking four.

Brandon Castle suffered the setback, also in relief. John Ortega started for the Allen team and struck out nine batters. Ortega issued one walk.

Allen scored two runs in each of the first three innings to take their 6-0 lead into the final frame. Jarrod Newsome, Brian Tackett and Andy Martin had doubles for the Cubs in their seven run fifth.

Castle had a home run in the first inning for the Astros. Ortega had two hits with an RBI for the Astros. Derrick Stanley picked up two hits for the Cubs.

Each team collected five hits in the contest and the Cubs had one error. Both teams stand at 4-1 in the year.

The Cubs will play the Reds tomorrow (Saturday) at 11 a.m. and the Astros will match up against the Dodgers in the second game.

A TRIBUTE TO MONROE JONES...

As many basketball fans already know, Wheelwright basketball coach Monroe Jones will not be back next year as head coach of the Trojans (see story this section). Jones has accepted a position with Powell County High School as the school's head ball coach.

Jones will be sorely missed at the Wheelwright school and especially during the basketball season. I have gotten to know Monroe over the past three years that I have been covering sports for the Times. He has always been cooperative and courteous to me. I have enjoyed my association with him and I personally wish him and his family the best at Powell County. He will be an asset to the program at Stanton, and I am sure he will be successful there. Good luck coach!

NEEDED...CONFERENCE BASEBALL GAMES

County baseball games in Floyd County are just that — baseball games! They don't have that special meaning like county basketball games do. If each time two county schools played each other would be counted as a conference game, it would take on a special emphasis. The way it is now, the game don't have that special meaning.

The reason (I am given) for non-conference games in baseball is that schools can't seem to get their games in against each other. I don't understand that. Why not schedule them early in the season and leave time and open dates to make them up if canceled?

Games between two county schools will make it more of a battle. All five teams would be trying for a conference championship with every county game counting. It would also allow the team with the best conference record to have the advantage in the district tournament. It can be done in baseball the same as it is done in basketball. All each team would have to do is leave some open dates.

It would also force some county teams to throw their best pitcher instead of waiting until district tournament time to see them. It would make the baseball season a lot more interesting from a fan's point of view. Each county game would take on a whole new meaning.

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT...

I would like to see the high school basketball conference games played earlier in the year and scheduled to be over with by the first week in February so as to not have a repeat of last year's not knowing the conference standings until the last day of the regular season.

TILES AT ALLEN PARK POSE DANGER..

I have noticed the rough looking drainage tiles at the Allen Park next to the baseball fields. The tiles have been there for some time, and the broken edges pose a danger. A kid could get hurt while climbing around on them. I noticed several kids playing on and around the tiles, and one was coming close to losing her balance while walking on them. The tiles should be moved before someone does get hurt.

ANOTHER GREAT MOVE BY PINIELLA....

Enter Ted Powers in relief of Jose Rijo, who looked impressive, against the Pittsburg Pirates Wednesday night. Powers struck out two of the three he faced and has been very effective out of the bull pen for the Reds. Piniella decides to bring his ace lefthander (who hasn't been an ace of late) to save the game. He ended up allowing the Pirates three runs and a 6-4 win. Lou, you goofed again!

HERSCHEL CONN SEZ...

"I think we have the talent in Floyd County for some of our kids to be good enough to play Division I basketball and baseball," said the ever popular Conn, who frequently can be seen at the county baseball, football and basketball games. "I just don't know what the problem is that they can't get into Division I."

I agree with Herschel! Until Wednesday, Good Sports every one!

Martin Reds Outslug Cards 12-11

It was wild and woolly at the Martin Little League Park Monday afternoon as the Beaver Creek Little League got underway.

The Martin Reds scored four times in the fifth inning and once in the sixth to defeat a very good Martin Cardinal team 12-11. The winning run was scored on Jason Tackett's sacrifice fly in the sixth inning that scored Rusty Young from third base. Young had singled, leading off the inning. Nick Sammons, the losing pitcher, walked B.J. Caudill and Kevin Robinson to load the bases, setting up Tackett's sacrifice.

Jason Shannon recorded the win for the Martin team, fanning 10 batters. Gary Scarberry started for the Cardinals and worked four innings before being relieved by Sammons. Scarberry had nine strike outs. Scarberry, who was breezing along with a 11-7 lead, ran into some trouble in the top of the fifth inning.

Shannon Slone led off the frame with a double and Ethan Martin drew a walk. Shannon scorched a double to center field allowing Slone and Martin to score. Shannon eventually scored on a wild pitch to tie the game at 11-11.

The Reds scored five times in the first inning in going on top 5-0. The Cardinals came back with four in the bottom of the inning as the slugfest began. The Reds plated a single run in the second inning when Shannon drove in a run for a 6-4 lead. The Martin Cards went ahead for the first time with three runs in the bottom of the second to take a 7-6 lead. Wade Damron had an RBI double in the inning for the Cards. The Reds tied the game at 7-all with a single run in the top of the third.

Jeff Sammons team went back on top 8-7, scoring in the bottom of the third. Scarberry set the Reds down in order in the top of the fourth and his team pushed across three big runs in the bottom of the inning to take an 11-7 advantage. Nick Sammons had a double for the Cards in the inning as did Brad Dashner. Dashner had two doubles in the game, getting one in the first.

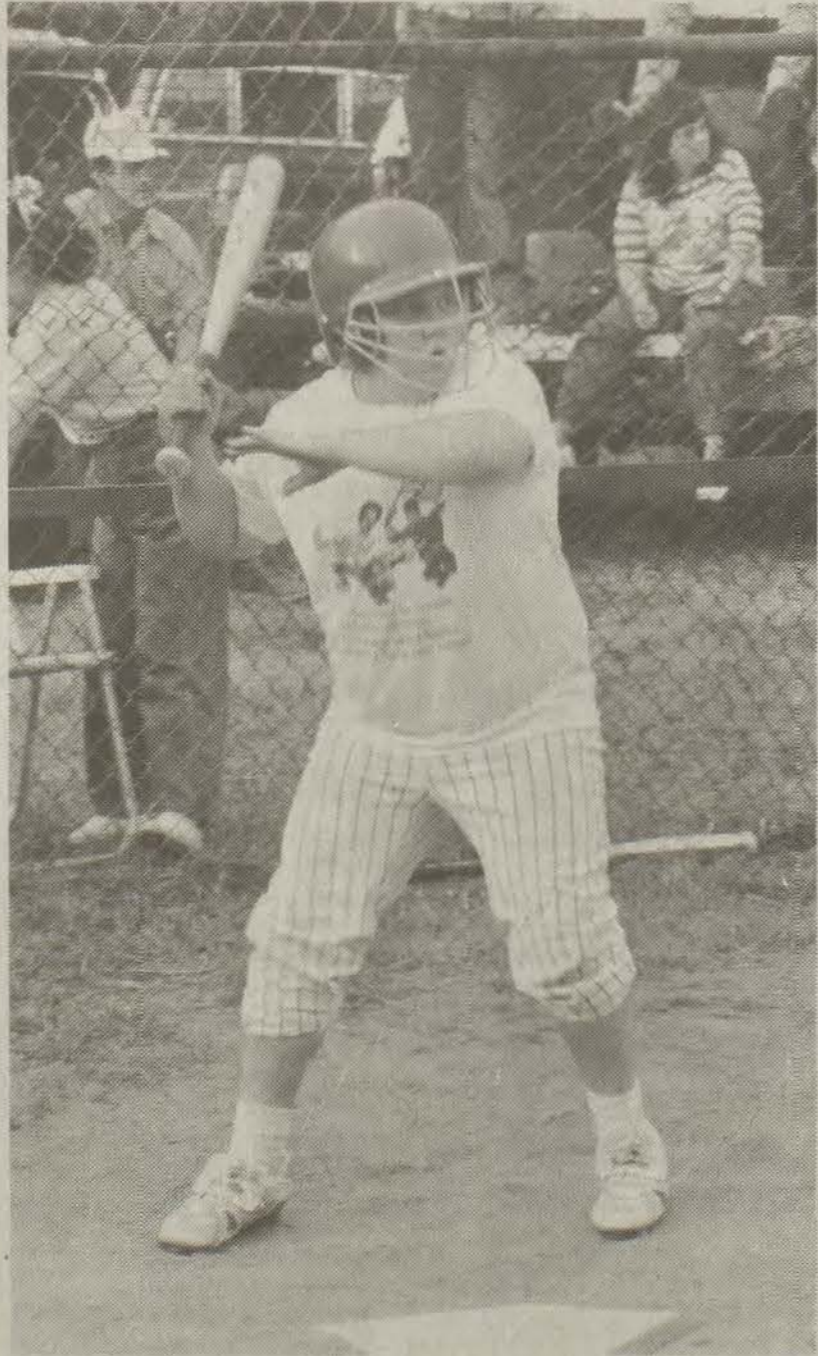

Jason Shannon had four RBIs in the game with two doubles — one in the first and fifth innings. Shannon had three hits total in the game in helping his own cause.

Phillip Robinson and Sam Howell each doubled for the Reds. Howell had two RBIs in the game.

Todie Yates came up with two hits, getting the last hit in the sixth inning when Shannon struck out the side. Damron finished with two hits. Rusty Young and Shannon Slone each collected two Reds' hits.

The Reds (1-0) will face the Garrett Cubs on Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. at Martin. The Cardinals play the Martin Blue Jays today at 5:30 at Martin Park.

Bobcats

With two out, Adam Gearheart doubled and Darren Gearheart reached on an error at third base, which allowed Gearheart to score. Paige then unloaded a two-run shot that put the Bobcats up 3-2.

The Blackcats reclaimed the lead with two in the top of the third inning — one run being unearned. Jason Storey doubled for Prestonsburg, leading off. With one out, Newsome's throw from third base off the bat of McGuire sailed over the head of first baseman Keith Hall. After Jason Crisp struck out, Sean Damron drove both runners with a solid double to right center.

Betsy Layne went out in order in their half of the third, and Prestonsburg pushed across two more runs for a 6-3 lead in the top of the fourth. Scott Stephens got the inning started with a rope to left field for a base hit. Neil Slone grounded to short where the play went to second, but Stephens, who was off running, beat the throw to second and all hands were safe. Clark's grounder forced Slone at second, and Aaron Tucker drilled a base hit to right center that scored both Stephens and Clark.

The Bobcats clawed their way back into the game with two in the bottom of the fourth. Bobcat catcher Darren Gearheart lead off the inning with a thunderous home run over the left centerfield fence. Paige then doubled and scored on a base hit by Barry Collins to make it a 6-5 game. Prestonsburg extended the lead back to two runs with a single run in the top of the fifth inning on a RBI double by Slone. Damron collected a one-out single and scored on Slone's hit. Slone, who slid into second base, was called out when the base came loose, and he walked over to place it back in position. When he walked away from the bag, he was tagged and called out by umpire Tim Rice.

It was 7-6 after the Bobcats batted in the home half of the fifth inning. Keith Hall, who had singled, scored on a two-out base hit by Paige.

Prestonsburg collected 12 hits in the game and Betsy Layne reached Prestonsburg, pitching for 11. The Blackcats left 10 runners stranded and the Bobcats left five.

Cavins, McGuire, Damron and Stephens each had two hits for Prestonsburg. Tucker picked up three RBIs. Damron collected two.

Betsy Layne will be at M. C. Napier tonight for a doubleheader. Prestonsburg will entertain Millard at Archer Park at 5 p.m.

Cubs Stay Perfect With 4-0 Win Over Carr Creek Indians

The Wayland Cubs kept their unblemished record perfect at 4-0 with a close 4-3 win over the Carr Creek Indians.

The Cubs had to hold off the Indians after taking a 4-1 lead going into the top of the fifth inning when the Indians scored twice to cut the lead to 4-3.

Byron Patton swung a big bat for the Cubs driving in three runs with two hits. Nicolas King also had two hits for the victorious Cubs. Other Cub players with hits include: Eric Casebolt, Brian Crawford, Corbett Howell, Brandon Merrill, Jay Arnett and Tim Moore. Casebolt had the other Cub RBI.

The two teams used pitchers in the final two innings, as Casebolt was on the mound for the Cubs. Casebolt fanned two Indian batters and walked one. The game was played in less than an hour.

The Cubs will be back in action tomorrow (Saturday) at 5 p.m. against Dilce Combs.

Hicks Hits Grandslam :

Garrett Cubs Win Over McDowell 9-7

Brandon Hicks hurled and batted the Garrett Cubs to a 9-7 win over the McDowell Stars in the Beaver Creek Little League Monday afternoon at the Minnie Park.

Hicks struck out 13 batters and walk four in the route-going performance. Hicks hit a grand slam home run in the fifth inning to help the Cubs come back from a 6-4 deficit.

McDowell took a 2-0 lead in the first inning with two runs. The Cubs came back to tie the game at 2-2 and then went on top 3-2 with a single run in the third inning.

McDowell then pushed across four runs in the third to assume their 6-3 lead. Garrett plated one run in the top of the fifth and held the Stars scoreless in the inning to set up Hicks' slam in the sixth. McDowell scored one run in the bottom of the sixth on a home run.

Matthew Moore has a second inning triple for the winners. Jeremy Moore had a double in the second frame driving in one run. Daryl Shepherd had two hits for Garrett.

Garrett scored nine runs on eight hits and committed two errors. McDowell got their seven runs on seven hits and the made three errors.

Reitz Bats, Pitches Brewers To 6-3 Win Over P-burg Reds

Lefthander Cory Reitz pitched seven strong innings, striking out eight batters while walking just one, to lead the Prestonsburg Brewers to a 6-3 win over the Prestonsburg Reds Tuesday evening. The win ran the Brewers' record to 4-0 on the season.

Reitz was not only outstanding on the mound, but at the plate also. The southpaw had three hits in four plate appearances, including a second inning triple that scored two runs.

The Brewers dented the plate in the first inning for four runs and pushed across two in the second.

Jason Spencer, who was the losing pitcher, held the Brewers at bay over the last four innings as his team chipped away at the lead by scoring single runs in the sixth and seventh innings. Spencer had one strike out and walked three.

David Gearheart had two hits for the winning Brewers as did Bryan Allen, who is swinging a strong bat for Ashland Gearheart's team. Greg Jones collected two singles. Robbie Risner, Kevin Crum and Tony Bays each had one hit.

Spencer collected three hits for the losers in four at bats. Spencer had a seventh inning double. Neil Wicker had a double in the sixth frame, and Jeff Hicks added a fourth inning two-bagger. Hicks had two hits in the game. Shannon Poe was two for three at the plate and Clint Shutts, Tommy Wallen and Brandon Kinzer each had one hit each.

The Reds will face the Cubs this Saturday at 1 p.m.

WILD THINGS, WILD PLACES

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources owns or manages over 60 wildlife management areas (WMAs) and, according to Happy Hunting Ground Magazine writer Carolyn Lynn, these areas provide exceptional opportunities to observe and photograph wildlife.

Lynn's feature article "Wild Things In Wild Places" in the May-June issue of HHG offers readers a look at several of these WMAs and provides some ideas on how to best enjoy these "wild" places.

Also in the current edition, you'll find tips for taking better outdoor pictures from noted wildlife photographer Garry Walter, an article on smallmouth bassin' in Kentucky streams, the 1991 outdoor photo contest calendar edition winners and much, much more.

Remember too, the upcoming July-August issue of HHG is the 1991-91 outdoor calendar edition and it'll be available before you know it. The annual calendar issue has become enormously popular and last year's supply was depleted in record time. However, there is a way to guarantee you will get one — subscribe before May 10 and you'll receive the beautiful, full color calendar as your first issue of the bi-monthly publication.

An HHG subscription is really easy on the pocketbook, too. A one-year subscription is just five dollars and a two year subscription is only nine dollars.

For more information on subscribing to Happy Hunting Ground, contact the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Information and Education, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601.

It's A Dirty Sale But Somebody's Got To Have It.

Save Up To $100

If you're a serious gardener or in love with fine machinery, here's a real clod buster. A BCS tiller. It's the latest selling tiller in America. And no matter which of our models you choose, you'll find features that set it apart from all others.

Like electronic ignition. And rear mounted tines that turn almost 300 times a minute. And all-gear transmissions, not belts and chains. And with attachments our tiller can become a chipper, shredder, a cutter bar mower for weeds and brush, a snow blower, and much more.

Right now you can save up to $100 depending on which model tiller you choose. Plus a free tiller/furrower with the purchase of a BCS tractor and tiller. But the sale ends June 30th. So hurry. Because once people get the dirt on this sale, they're going to clean us out.

coming in, to score. Clark's error at short allowed Kidd to score later.

Sean Damron scored Neil Slone, who had walked, with a base hit in the second inning to give Prestonsburg a 5-3 lead. After the Damron hit, Vance began to get stronger and retired the next 10 batters he faced.

McDowell made it 5-4 with a run of their own in the bottom of the third. Barry Hall doubled and scored on Bud Kidd's base hit.

The loss ran Prestonsburg's record to 17-9 while McDowell evened theirs at 6-6. It was the third straight win for Greg Johnson's club over the Blackcats. McDowell swept a doubleheader earlier.

Crisp yielded two runs on no hits while walking two. He struck out no one and left with two men on base. Stephens worked three innings and fanned two batters but gave up four walks and six hits. Stephens allowed six runs. Poston, who looked good, allowed three runs on four hits. He fanned one and walked one.

Prestonsburg will host the Millard Mustangs today at 5 p.m. McDowell plays at Menifee County tomorrow (Saturday) at 1 p.m.

Five Runs In Sixth Sends Brewers Past Expos 13-10

The Prestonsburg Brewers rallied for five runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to defeat the Prestonsburg Expos 13-10 in the Prestonsburg Senior League Monday at Archer Park.

Kevin Crum got the win for the Brewers, who are 3-0 on the season. Crum had three strike outs, and he walked two. Robin Risner came in and got the save for the winners. Risner fanned four batters while walking just two.

Thomas Ratliff suffered the loss getting six strike outs. Ratliff experienced some wildness walking 11 batters.

The Expos took a 4-0 lead with four in the very first inning. The Brewers countered with six in their half of the first frame. Bryan Allen and Risner led the hit parade for the Brewers with three hits each. Allen had two doubles in the game — one each in the first and third innings. Kevin Crum chipped in with two hits. Cory Reitz, Greg Jones and David Turner each had base hits.

Seth Hyden and Merlin Osborne banged out triples for the Expos, both coming in the four run first. Ratliff, despite suffering the loss, went four for four at the plate for the Expos. Tony Craft and Matt Crum collected two hits apiece. Ervin Osborne, Hyden, Osborne, John Stout and Freddie Collins each had hits for the Expos.

The Expos will battle the Tigers on Saturday morning at 11 p.m. The Brewers play the Cubs on Tuesday, May 7.

Rick Scruggs To Become New Head Basketball Coach At Pikeville College

Rick Scruggs, athletic director and head basketball coach at Belmont Abbey College in Belmont, North Carolina, will come to Pikeville College in June to assume the head basketball coaching position there.

Scruggs will succeed former head coach Marc Comstock, who left Pikeville in April to become head coach at Lincoln Memorial University, an NCAA Division II school in Harrogate, Tennessee.

"I like for my basketball teams to play a very fast paced, passing game. I give the players plenty of freedom to shoot the three-pointer. The team I coached last year attempted 613 three-point shots and connected on 303 of them," said Scruggs.

The 35-year-old former college basketball player holds a master's degree in sports coaching from the United States Sports Academy in Daphne, Alabama.

He began his coaching career in 1980 at Fayette County High School in Fayetteville, Georgia, where he also served as a physical education teacher.

In 1983, he was a graduate assistant coach at Winthrop College in Rock Hill, South Carolina. He was assistant basketball coach at Francis Marion College in Florence, South Carolina, from 1984 until 1986, when he was named head men's basketball coach and assistant athletic director at North Greenville College in Tiger-ville, South Carolina.

While at North Greenville, he was named Region X Coach of the Year and Conference Coach of the Year from 1988-89. His team's total of 30 wins that season was a school record, and they went on to win the Region X and Carolina Junior College Conference championships that year.

Scruggs has been athletic and head men's basketball coach at Belmont Abbey College since 1989. In his five years as a head coach of college basketball, he has garnered a record of 106 wins and 50 losses. His 1990-91 team was ranked in the national Top 10 for three-point shooting percentage.

"I am pleased with the quality of candidates that applied for the men's coaching position at Pikeville College. The selection committee did a tremendous job and I thank them. Rick Scruggs brings with him the coaching experience, academic credentials and character that will serve the College and the community in a manner in which we can all be proud," said William H. Owens, Pikeville College president.

Scruggs will be joined by his wife, Deanie.

HOROSCOPE

May 5 through May 11

By C.C. Clark

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

It is important you follow most of the advice offered by older and wiser people this week. You must use your own wisdom to decide which advice to follow.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

Things on the domestic front may start out a little on the rough side this week, but everything will work out for the best. Home security could become a major issue.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

This is a great week for travel. Try to get away for some peace and quiet. Business matters should not be taken so seriously; just make sure you do the job right.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)

Family members can absolutely drive you insane, especially if you let them. Just tune them out for a while and don't let them know they have gotten to you.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)

Your creative powers will be in full force this week and will bring you great advantages in the workplace. Make sure any formal plans you present are well researched.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)

Love and romance are in the air. Make sure you make time to enjoy life and live it the way you want to. Many will be drawn to your magnetic personality this week.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)

Keep that wicked temper in check or face the consequences. By handling specific situations with the utmost tact, you will come out a real winner in everyone's eyes.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)

A member of the opposite sex is making demands of you. If you aren't in the mood, tell them and don't hold back. Don't do anything that doesn't feel right.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)

Don't hang around people who take life too seriously. It's time for you to take it easy, and these people will only try to make you feel guilty about enjoying the good life.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)

A young person could be a great inspiration to you this week; they might even give you the opportunity to relive the good old days and share in another's good will.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)

It is important you remember your views and values really do count and should be respected. A loved one may ask too much of you this week. Be honest with them and yourself.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

This is a time for taking care of real estate, money and business matters. By quickly tending to these details, your life will actually become simplified.

TV PIPELINE

Jane Seymour still active in television projects

By Polly Vonetes

Q: Jane Seymour is the best actress in modern-day time as far as I am concerned. I would like to know all about her. Is she still married? Is she planning on being in any new miniseries this summer? And what was the first movie that she starred in? Where can I write her? —Michael Marit, Fort Madison, Iowa

A: Jane Seymour was born Joyce Penelope Wilhelmina Frankenberg on Feb. 15, 1951. She grew up in London and, as a child, danced with the London Festival Ballet. She changed her name to Jane Seymour while still in ballet school. She made her film debut in 1969's Oh, What a Lovely War, which was directed by Richard Attenborough. She married Attenborough's son, Michael, and was divorced in 1973, the same year she starred in Live and Let Die. Her second marriage, to Geep Planer, ended in 1976. Since 1973, she's appeared in a few feature films (Lassiter, Somewhere in Time), but concentrated mostly on television. Her first film for television was East of Eden, followed by The Woman He Loved, Onassis: The Richest Man in the World, The Sun Also Rises, War and Remembrance and Jack the Ripper. Jane has just divorced her third husband, David Flynn. They have two children and own a 15th-century estate in Bath, England. You can write to her c/o Creative Artists Agency, 1888 Century Park East, Los Angeles, CA 90067.

Q: I am a child psychologist who works with several young male clients (ages 7-10) who regard MacGyver (Richard Dean Anderson) with reverence akin to awe. I shamelessly exploit this by stressing MacGyver's excellent skills for coping with both physical and emotional crises, his resiliency, and his "normal person" emotions. Could you give me an address for him that could be shared with my clients? —Betty Robertson, Greenville, N.C.

A: Richard Dean Anderson, even in real life, is a model for youngsters to copy. Have your students write: Richard Dean Anderson, c/o MacGyver, Paramount Television, 5555 Melrose Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90038.

Q: Please answer my question! Is Eddy Arnold still living? I need to get in touch with someone in his family. I have a handmade musical instrument that was made for the Arnold family during World War II. It was made by Charlie Edwards from South River, N.C. Charlie was working for the shipyards in Norfolk, Va., at the time. He is now 86 years old. —Mrs. Iver Foster, Morehead City, N.C.

A: I am sure the Arnold family would love to hear from you. Write to: Eddy Arnold, P.O. Box 97, Brentwood, TN 37027.

Please send your questions about television past and present to: Polly Vonetes, TV Pipeline, P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas 76161-1009. Because of the volume of mail, only questions of general interest can be answered.

VIDEO BIJOU

Stephen King's 'Dead Zone' works well on small screen

By Steven Alan McGaw
 Are you out there? If so, write and tell me of your guilty pleasure videos. Address these informative epistles to Steven Alan McGaw, Video Bijou, P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas, 76161-1009.
The Dead Zone (1983)
 Some people think The Shining is the best film thus far of a Stephen King work; others, I'm sure, would argue for Misery. For my money, this under-appreciated gem by director David Cronenberg takes the honors. Yes, the film is low-key and meandering, but that adds to the mystique.
 Christopher Walken is the sensitive young man who, following a near-fatal accident, emerges with a startling ability. All he has to do is touch a person to know their fate. The haunted look in Walken's expressive eyes soon tells us this unnerving prescience is much more a curse than a gift. Clearly, Walken doesn't want to learn the things he does, especially when he shakes the hand of an icy political candidate played by Martin Sheen.

 Sheen is just one of the many actors who contribute fine supporting performances. Brooke Adams, Tom Skerritt, Anthony Zerbe and the great Colleen Dewhurst all add texture to this film. Besides Walken, however, the real star here is Cronenberg's masterful direction. This is one not to be missed and works very well on the home screen.
